Court Orders Steps For 1968-69 Term

Major School Integration Order For Pitt

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

A federal court has ordered sweepnig integration of Pitt County schools for the 1968-69 term.

The order, signed by Judge J.W. Larkins Jr., Eastern District of North Carolina, was dated Aug. 2 and forwarded to Pitt County Schools Supt. Arthur Alford, who received it Sunday.

The order was presented at a special session of members of the Pitt County Schools Advisory Committee and school principals after the regular board of education meeting last night.

A summary of the items which orders changes in the Pitt County School pupil placement are:

—Transfer 125 G.R. Whitfield students who live in the Chicod attendance area to Chicod High School.

—Assign all incoming first graders in the Bethel area to Bethel Elementary School.

—Transfer the eighth graders from Bethel Union School to Bethel High School.

—Assign all incoming first graders in the Ayden attendance area to Ayden Elementary School.

—Transfer the eighth graders from the South Ayden School to Ayden High School.

—Assign all incoming first graders in the Winterville attendance area to Winterville High School.

—Assign all incoming first graders in the Grimesland attendance area to Grimesland Elementary School.

—Assign the ninth graders from North Fountain Elementary School and Bruce-Falkland Elementary School to Farmville High School.

—Assign all incoming first graders in the Sam D. Bundy attendance area to the Sam D. Bundy School.

—Close down Grifton Elementary School and assign all students grades 1-8 to Grifton High School.

—Transfer 60 G.R. Whitfield elementary students who live within the Pactolus attendance area to Pactolus Elementary School.

—Reorganize Sallie Branch and Belvoir-Falkland schools so that Sallie Branch serves grades 1-5 and Belvoir-Falkland serves grades 6-12 for all students in grades 1-8, in the Belvoir attendance area.

—Reorganize Stokes Elementary and Stokes-Pactolus schools so that Stokes serves grades 1-5 and Stokes-Pactolus serves grades 6-12 for all students, in grades 1-8, in the Stokes attendance area.

—Reorganize Falkland Elementary and Bruce-Falkland schools so that Falkland serves grades 1-3 and Bruce-Falkland serves grades 4-8 for all students in the Falkland attendance area.

—The board shall assign all students not affected by the court order to the school of their choice under the freedom of choice plan for the 1968-69 school year.

The remaining items deal with general orders pertinent to the location and use of new schools to be erected, providing of transportation, integration of athletic activities, assignment of teachers and similar operational policy matters.

The court also directed that within 20 days after the beginning of school, the defendant (Pitt County Board of Education) furnish the court with a tabulation showing enrollment and assignment, by race, for students and teachers, in all Pitt County schools.

The first official reaction to the order was voiced by Alford when he told the group in the courthouse Tuesday night: "We are going to make it work in Pitt County. It is going to take cooperation on the part of parents. It will require a change of attitude on the part of teachers . . . but it will work."

Chairman T. G. Worthington said of the court order.

"We have received orders which will control the operations of schools next year. For the last three years we have operated Pitt County Schools under a Federal Court order, based on a freedom of choice plan for pupil placement. Several hearings have been held, but there has not been enough freedom of choice made to satisfy the Civil Rights Committee. Now we have a court order containing plans, in specific details, for the operation of Pitt County Schools."

After the items had been read by Alford, members and principals were asked for comments and suggestions. Most of the discussion which followed concerned the effects of the court order on the grouping of pupils, both within grades and within subjects.

Alford commented, "We will make every effort to continue

Board Approves Land Purchase For New School

Purchase of 39.47 acres of land on which a new consolidated high school will be built to serve the Farmville, Fountain and Bell Arthur area was approved last night by the county board of education.

The land, located a fourth mile from the Farmville city limits on U. S. 264, is owned by Mrs. G. W. Davis. The purchase price was revealed to be $99,432.50.

The Farmville Board of Commissioners has offered to install the sewer and water facilities, reducing by $30,000 the total investment by the Board of Education.

Architects Dudley and Shoe have been asked to submit designs for the projected school. A request totaling $1,058,920 for Title I funds has been submitted to the Department of Instruction, Title I Division. All county schools will be involved in some ways in Title I programs. Some schools will be involved to a greater extent than others.

The outstanding items requested were $563,000 for instructional staff, supervisory personnel and instructional supplies; $85,000 for social security liability, fixed items insurance, retirement plans and similar items. Other requests included $69,320 for the health program, $57,438 for social services, $23,150 for the five activity buses, and $21,000 for special care items, such as glasses, shoes and other items for needy children.

A request was also made for $101,000 to furnish free and low cost lunches to school children.

The Planning Program for Title I funds involves a concept of usage on two levels: One will concentrate on improving communications skills, including language coordination. This level will be directed to grades 1 through 8. The second level, a job placement program, will deal with vocational guidance and job placement procedures for high school students.

It was noted that a worksnop for principals is now underway for projects involving Title 1 funds. This is being conducted at the W. H. Robinson School in Winterville.

In other actions, it was announced that Title I funds for Pitt County Schools will be handled by Wachovia Bank and Trust Company. The selection of Wachovia is in accordance with customary procedure to bank funds with a bank which has not previously handled Title I funds.

A motion was approved to look into the rising utilities expenditures for the county schools, to include studying and analyzing all school bills for the past three years. Alford noted that in the past four years there has been an increase of approximately 120 per cent, from about $15,000 to about $37,000.

Alford read a letter from Greenville City Schools Superintendent Dr. C. C. Cleetwood requesting an additional $745 in funds to supplement the current $2,000 furnished by Pitt County to Greenville for the Special Training School. A motion was made to pay the additional amount, but to wait until later to do this in order to see how the budget stands.

The Board passed a resolution recognizing the services of the late William F. Stokes. It was decreed that copies of the resolution of respect be sent to immediate members of his family.

J. B. Congleton was named to fill the vacancy on the board created by the death of William F. Stokes. Congleton's term will expire on the first Monday of next April.

Other matters discussed included a study of the possibili-

Scott Tells Of 'Incitement To Violence'

Reports Poverty Fund 'Kickback'

By NOEL YANCEY
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP) — Lt. Gov. Bob Scott said today he has received verified reports that youngsters in a Wake County anti-poverty program "are being asked to kick back some of their salary for purchasing weapons."

Scott said he also is "concerned at reports of so-called black culture classes being turned into meetings for inciting youngsters to violence."

At a news conference, the Democratic nominee for governor said in a statement that he feels "much good comes from many of the poverty programs," although "many of our citizens believe that every dollar spent for any anti-poverty work is being poured down the drain."

He said that in recent weeks several citizens "have called to my attention what appears to be a serious misdirection of certain projects within the jurisdiction of Wake Opportunities, Inc., a federally financed poverty project in Wake County."

He said he has asked members of his staff and others to help "investigate these complaints."

Scott said meetings of the Wake County youth group are being called without the knowledge of center directors and that "those attending these meetings are sworn to secrecy."

Scott said he is turning the information he nas uncovered over to the Office of Economic Opportunity in Washington, D. C., to Gov. Dan Moore, to the FBI, to Congressional committees and to the North Carolina attorney general's office.

Scott said he had no intention of making a thorough investigation of the reports. He said he has verified to his own satisfaction reports that youths were asked to kick back funds for the purchase of weapons, "that these meetings are being used for the incitement of violence" and that the meetings have been secret.

Scott also said he was "concerned with reports of poverty funds being spent unnecessarily in payment of 'consultant fees' and expense paid trips to New York to purchase Malcolm X scrolls, African jewelry, incense and incense holders—items which could be ordered by mail and which in my opinion do nothing to relieve poverty or provide better opportunities for youth."

Expect Record Dollar Day Crowds Thursday

The semi-annual Dollar Day Promotion sales being held Thursday in Greenville is expected to draw unprecedented crowds of shoppers into Greenville.

Maurice Brody, chairman of the Retail Trade Promotion Committee for Greenville, stated, "The reason for the great popularity of this program is that the participating merchants give real dollar value." He explained that over the years this event has drawn large numbers of people from as far away as Elizabeth City and Wilmington.

"This year's program includes the largest number of merchants ever participating," Brody commented. "The semi-annual Dollar Day has become something of an institution and gains in reputation each year."

He stated that the Retail Trade Promotion Committee had advertised this event widely throughout eastern North Carolina. Since it is a one-day only affair, many stores will open a little earlier and close a little later than their normal hours.

It is a city wide affair, and includes merchants in the suburban shopping districts as well as those downtown.

Brody was not certain of the number of years the Dollar Day has been held, but he believed it is now in about its 30th year. "It was already in effect when I came here in 1940," he explained.

The Annual Dollar Day is sponsored by the Greenville Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants Association, which in Greenville is a joint association. In its early days, it was sponsored by the old Greenville Chamber of Commerce.

CHEAPER, TOO

AUBURN, N.Y. (AP) — Members of the school board and school administrators, feeling that $6,000 was too much to pay for landscaping, did the work themselves. They completed the five-acre site at Cayuga Central Junior-Senior High School at a cost of $500.

Rockefeller Pushes Can't-Win Theme

Nixon Confident As Nomination Race Moves Into Its Final Hours

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon headed down the stretch today in his quest for the Republican presidential nomination, by all indications a good bet to take the prize on the first ballot.

His chief challenger, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, sought to block the former vice president's path with the No. 1 argument of anti-Nixon forces—that Nixon couldn't win in November.

"To pick a man who can't win would be a tragedy for the country," Rockefeller told newsmen after opening his 11th hour drive with an appeal to 120 delegates and alternates from 13 western states.

The Associated Press, in a nose count some 12 hours before tonight's fateful balloting, found Nixon with 615 first-round votes, Rockefeller with 270, and the third man in the race, Gov. Ronald Reagan of California with 177.

Another 195 delegates were lined up behind favorite sons, 75 were uncommitted and one stood alone for New York City's Mayor John V. Lindsay. Needed for victory: 667.

Nixon exuded confidence cheerily on the eve of the balloting. Charts posted by his aides in a hotel headquarters flashed the same optimism. "More than 700 votes," they read.

Rockefeller saw in all this enthusiasm 'evidence of cold war strategy." The Nixon people, he said, were trying to give delegates the impression Nixon has the nomination in the bag.

"It just is not true," the governor declared.

Reagan, meanwhile, pushed ahead with a campaign that put the accent on salesmanship and good cheer. He was being low key.

Asked how many votes he had, the onetime actor replied: "I'd love to find out." Asked if hew ould really like to be President, he replied with more emphasis: "You bet I'd like it."

Though there have been reports Reagan has been gathering strength, particularly among more conservative delegates, his aides pegged the governor's delegate strength at about 200—a figure they gave a week ago.

To win, the Rockefeller and Reagan people have to keep the flags of favorite sons flying high, especially on the first ballot.

Nixon's chances for a first-ballot victory could hinge on whatever switches might take place if he closed in on 667 as the clerk completed the state-by-state tally.

Greenville Youth Dies In Wreck

BAILEY — One 16-year-old Greenville boy was killed and another injured in an auto accident near here on U. S. 264, early this morning.

Highway Patrolman L. E. Raynor of Spring Hope identified the dead youth as Reginald Wayne Sumrell of 208 Fern Dr., Greenville.

Sumrell was identified by Trooper Raynor as the driver of the car.

According to the officer, the Sumrell vehicle was traveling east on U.S. 264 about two and one-half miles west of Bailey when the vehicle ran off the right shoulder of the road. The vehicle then went out of control, crossed to the left side of the roadway and crashed head-on into a pine tree.

The force of the impact demolished the car and pinned Sumrell in the wreckage, trapping him between the seat and dash board. The Wilson Rescue Squad removed him from the wreckage and he was pronounced dead on arrival at Wilson Memorial Hospital.

Injured in the wreck, Trooper Raynor reported, was Richard Exum, 968 Greenville Blvd. Exum, asleep in the back seat of the 1962 model car when the fatal crash occurred, suffered a broken left arm and bruises, Ptl. Raynor said.

Sumrell, the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Sumrell, would have been a junior at Rose High School this fall.

Apex Suffering Water Shortage

APEX, N.C. (AP) — Apex Mayor Bob Barker has declared a state of emergency because of a water shortage.

The town board Tuesday night adopted an ordinance making it illegal to wash cars or other vehicles, water lawns and flowers, wash sidewalks or use water in air conditioning systems that cannot reuse it.

The ordinance also forbids operation of swimming pools that cannot reuse water.

To Set Date

Directors of the East Carolina Warehousemen's Association will meet here at 10 a.m. Thursday to set the final opening date for tobacco markets on the Eastern Belt.

Pitt Tobacco Crop 'Generally Good', Reports Winchester

By RONALD GOLLOBIN
Reflector Staff Writer

"The tobacco crop in Pitt County is good, generally speaking," according to Sam Winchester, Agricultural Extension Agent. "There is good growth, good spread, and the crop is ripening satisfactorily, and coming out of the curing barns with good color and texture."

Winchester said that in a few sections, excess moisture resulted in a limited amount of drowning. However, most of the county's tobacco crop experienced some lack of moisture during June and July. This lack of moisture was only of temporary concern, Winchester said.

Winchester stated that Granville Wilt and Mosaic had been in greater evidence this year than normal, but Black Shank and Stem Rot was less than normal this year.

"The corn crop is shaping up to be an excellent crop," Winchester stated, "and we are anticipating an average yield in the county of 70 bushels per acre."

Winchester sounded a warning note to corn farmers, that, "Corn prices are tumbling." He went on to explain that corn prices are at the point this year where they were last year at harvest time. Winchester placed the blame for falling prices on the oversupply of corn throughout the country.

"These low prices point up the need for farmers to store their corn and take the support loan in the fall," Winchester said.

Support loans were set last year at $1.24 per bushel. Corn prices are now between $1.04 and $1.08 per bushel and falling, Winchester said. "As we move further into the harvest, corn could conceivably drop as low as 90 cents per bushel."

As far as the actual growing of corn, Winchester stated, the biggest problem in Pitt County is the lack of lime in the soil. "Too many farmers are attempting to grow corn in an acid soil."

"The soybean crop is looking good at this point," Winchester pointed out," but farmers need to be on the lookout for a build-up of insects such as Mexican bean beetles, bean - leaf beetles, and others." If insects are observed, Winchester said, treatment should be started to prevent a re-occurence of what happened last year. "Last year, late season build - ups of insects cost soybean producers 15 to 20 per cent of their potential yield in the county."

Peanuts throughout the county are looking very good, the extension chairman reported, and cotton — what there is of it— is generally looking good.

Eisenhower's Heart Attack Said Severe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army doctors said today the heart attack suffered by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower Tuesday was a major one equal in severity to Eisenhower's earlier major attacks. They said the outlook was "guarded," or unpredictable.

Doctors of Walter Reed Army Hospital said so in answer to questions submitted by newsmen.

But in a formal medical bulletin they said they were 'satisfied with his current progress," and that he had spent a comfortable night.

In answer to questions, they said Eisenhower is receiving oxygen continuously as a treatment.

The doctors had been asked this question:

"How does the general's present heart attack compared in severity with his previous ones, especially the attack of June 15?"

The answer was: "Equal severity."

Eisenhower has suffered five earlier heart attacks, several of them including the last previous one on June 15 rated as major.

The doctors replied "negative" and "not pertinent" to questions whether they had considered a heart transplant for Eisenhower, and whether a person with his history of heart trouble would be an eligible canddate for a new heart.

As to the outlook in Eisenhower's case, the doctors' reply was: 'The prognosis in the early days following any myocardal infarction is 'guarded.' The word 'guarded' means that in this early period after any heart attack, the outcome is unpredictable."

Disappointed, She Has Dogs For Grandchildren

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My only son has been married for nearly 5 years, and so far all he and his wife have been able to raise are dogs! All my friends have lovely grandchildren to talk about, and I have nothing. It is breaking my heart. My son and daughter - in - law appear to be very happy and there is never any mention of 'hoped for" children. Is this normal? They have two poodles who are treated like babies.

Since I think my daughter-in-law is the one who wears the pants in the family, should I ask her if dogs are the best she can do?

DISAPPOINTED IN FLUSHING

DEAR DISAPPOINTED: No. And don't ask your son either. They are apt to tell you it's none of your doggone business.

DEAR ABBY: Some neighbors who have children about the ages of ours were suddenly called out of town for a family funeral, and they asked us if we would chaperon a teen - age party at their home. We said we'd be glad to and asked them for instructions concerning our responsibilities. We were told, "You don't have to do anything."

I'd like to know what good chaperons are if they "keep out of sight?"

My husband and I sat upstairs in the sewing room the whole time and watched television, and when everything was quiet downstairs and all the kids were gone, we came down and went home.

Is this the way people are supposed to "chaperon" a party?

BEWILDERED

DEAR BEWILDERED: No. A chaperon should have an understanding with the young people as to when the party should end, and a few other specifics, such as where in the house they should be, and the rules of conduct, leaving the premises, etc. Chaperons need not be present constantly, but they should make it clear that they could pop in at any moment.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think I should let my hair grow?

SONNY

DEAR SONNY: I don't know how you can stop it.

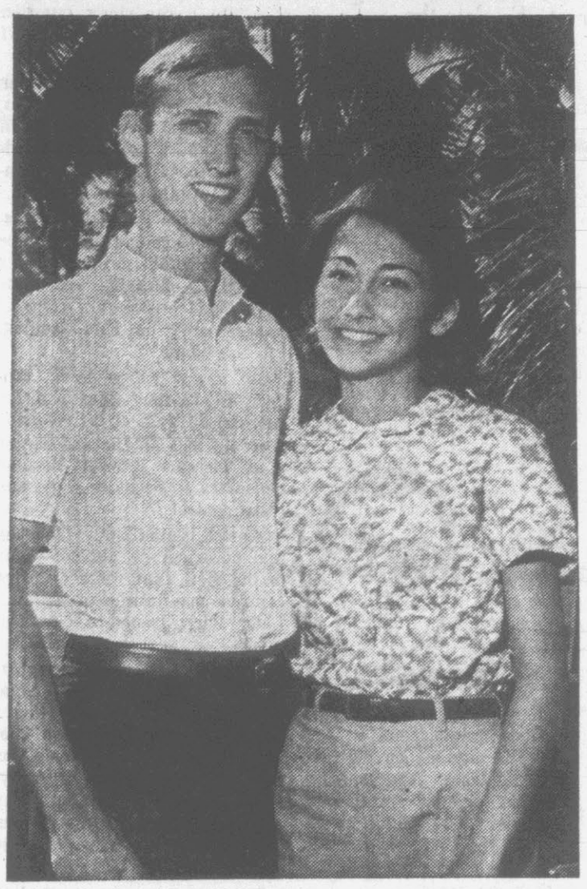

DEAR ABBY: I usually agree with your advice, but not this time. You seemed to be very sympathetic to the 36-year-old wife and mother who had been corresponding with that young 20 - year - old soldier in Viet Nam. Her husband objected when she invited him to visit them when he got out because he was jealous. You said the husband had an evil - mind, was sick, immature, and half a dozen other things.

Well, I wonder how that wife would feel if her husband had started to correspond with a 20-year -old army nurse, and invited HER to come to visit them?

But Was The Audience Thinking?

One of the few unexpected joys of the past few weeks: no responsible voice has seriously suggested the cause of the liberty-conscious Czech Communists should be supported by Uncle Sam.

It must have been difficult for our politicians to avoid preaching a plain obligation on our part to get involved on the side of liberty. Strange too, the sober columnists and analysts refrained from exhortation in behalf of the Czechs.

The White House said nothing, the candidates are discreetly quiet.

Of course, that's as it should be. We couldn't help the Czechs no matter how sympathetic sentiment may be. By remaining aloof the United States quite probably contributed more to a happy and peaceful settlement than otherwise.

Czechoslovakia is too vulnerable. American intervention would inevitably draw swift and overpowering reaction . . . a sort of "Cuba missile crisis" in reverse, with Washington on the side of judicious retreat.

There was one voice raised contrary to this farsighted approach last Monday evening. Former Senator Barry Goldwater proclaimed that if we had a Republican Administration there would be no sitting-on-hands, but applause for the liberal Czech regime; and Washington would ask "what can we do to help?"

The speaker drew resounding cheers etc . . .

But was his audience listening and thinking?

Total Fisheries Study Planned

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH — A joint state-federal study of commercial trawling in North Carolina coastal waters and its effect upon the total fisheries resource is scheduled to begin this Fall.

WILLIAM SHIRES

The need for such a major scientific study has been apparent for some years during which the Fall and winter trawl fishery has increased steadily. There is an "intense public interest," says Dr. David A. Adams, state fisheries commissioner.

Now, with completion of the state's new $400,000, 85 foot research vessel, the R-V Dan Moore, and agreement by federal agencies to participate the effort to collect up-to date information and find answers will be made.

Adams told the Commercial and Sports Fisheries committee that biologists using the R-V Dan Moore and vessels of the U. S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries and Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife will join in the study.

Exploratory Work

Details have yet to be worked out, but Adams says the scientists will attempt to establish distribution of the various species of fish involved, distribution and intensity of the fishing effort and the type of gear most effective in minimizing the amount of undersized food fish taken.

This has been a sore point between trawlers and sports fishermen, still without settlement because of a lack of information and scientific evidence.

Adams reported $8,000 in federal funds on a 50 per cent matching basis was made available for equipping the R-V Dan Moore to increase its research capability.

Seven Cruises

Already, Adams said, the vessel has completed seven exploratory cruises and operated various gear at 243 locations.

Some of the findings to date include tagging of a sturgeon near Cape Hatteras which was recaptured 65 days later in Long Island Sound, heavy shark damage inflicted on some ocean gill nets and the catching of several commercially important species of tuna and mackeral.

Deep water trawling along the continental slope between Cape Hatteras and False Cape yeilded good numbers of northern lobsters, Adams said.

Other Activities

As reported at the Spring C&D board meeting, the state's fisheries inspectors have been issued firearms.

In addition, the law enforcement section has now obtained "Mace", the chemical which has been used by police and others in quelling riots. During the last quarter, the division purchased 10 cans and a trailer, 12 handguns, 12 sets of handguns and 24 units of "Mace." Of 90 arrests by fisheries inspectors, 80 were found guilty.

The division licensed 2,388 boats during the period, bringing the licensed (commercial) fishing boat total to 6,711.

Bond Financing

The fears of state C&D officials that North Carolina might be unable to compete with states offering revenue bond financing for industrial projects apparently have not materialized.

Officials told the C&D board however, that there was increased difficulty in obtaining "reasonably priced" financing for industry. Ten financing packages for prospects and existing industry were arranged through C&D's financial consultant during the quarter, and most of 52 other pending projects involve finding sources of capital.

"Industrial revenue bond financing is still an active question," the report said. North Carolina's bond financing legislation enacted in 1967 was thrown out by the State Supreme Court within a few months. But Congress acted recently to permit issues of up to $1 million.

Hospital Expansion Needs Show Growth

The constand demand for increased and better medical facilities is demonstrated by the fact that Pitt County has begun planning another addition to Pitt Memorial Hospital.

The county commissioners authorized an architectural firm to begin preliminary planning for a possible 100-room addition to the hospital. The new wing would include all single room accomodations and would cost in the neighborhood of $3 million. It is expected that the county's portion of the cost would have to be provided through a bond issue.

With the increased use of hospital facilities because of Medicare and other programs, there can be little doubt that the need for the addition is not too far off.

Pitt County, which has developed as an eastern medical center, should not hesitate to make the improvements to its hospital as they are needed. Good medical care is to everyone's benefit. Even though the cost of expanding hospital facilities is high, it is imperative that this be done when necessary.

Mondays Bore, Also Dangerous

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Mondays are not only a bore —they're also dangerous. An insurance company has found that more accidents on the job occur on Monday than any other day. The second most dangerous work day is Friday.

To cut down on the cost of cowboys, Japanese ranchers in mountainous areas are experimenting with sound waves to control their cattle herds. So far the high frequency sounds, which to the human ear resemble the echo of church bells, have been used to lure the cattle to feeding stations. But if they don't get fed, the cattle quit responding to the sounds.

Are you over 40, overweight and related to a diabetic? Then perhaps you should follow medical urging and take a simple test or diabetes yourself. It is estimated that some 1.6 million Americans probably are suffering from undiagnosed diabetes and by going without treatment may shorten their lives or risk

The boom in women's wigs has been followed by a boom in the men's hairpiece industry. Last year 100,000 balding U. S. men bought toupees or other forms of hirsute cranial adornment, and some 125,000 are expected to follow suit this year.

ART BUCHWALD

A President For World

WASHINGTON — Everywhere I went in Europe this summer they asked the same question: "Who's going to be the next President of the United States?" Americans don't realize it, but Europeans feel they have as much stake in the outcome of our presidential elections as we do, and the results are watched with as much trepidation in Rome, Italy, as they are in Rome, New York.

This worldwide concern over who the next United States President will be has reached such enormous proportions that I believe there is only one solution to the problem, and that is that it's time America opened up the presidential elections to everyone.

Any citizen of any country, who is over 21 years of age, should be permitted to vote for the President of the United States. In this way the next President would be chosen on the basis of his popularity throughout the world, instead of just the 50 states.

The advantages of holding such an election would far outweigh the costs of installing voting booths in such far-off places as Sierra Leone and Borneo. For one thing, if the President of the United States is elected globally he would have a worldwide mandate from the people and no one could complain that the President of the United States is just representing the interests of his own country.

Since everyone would have a say about the next U. S. President, the people of other nations would be obligated to support him, and back him in the great decisions that affect them. It is my belief that if we open up the elections to everyone on the globe, the attacks on the dollar will cease, the demonstrations against American embassies will come to a halt and the U. S. Sixth Fleet will be welcome in every port in the world.

I know there are nit pickers who will say the idea is impracticable. They'll point out that it will be very costly for presidential candidates to campaign in every part of the world, and there is always the language barrier that has to be considered when you open American elections to outside countries.

But this is not a serious objection. For four years now Richard Nixon has been traveling all over the world running for President of the United States and it hasn't hurt him. With satellite-television, the other candidates could get over their message with subtitles. There would be no difficulty for an American political campaign to be adapted to a global affair.

The critics will say that people in many parts of the world are not sufficiently informed to vote for an American President, but this, of course, is a canard.

Wage, Price Reins?

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Repeated references to mandatory wage-price controls by the Johnson administration have reminded business that while the prospects are played down the thinking about them has been almost constant.

The prospect of statutory controls is unlikely, for many months at least, and both industry and labor know it. The administration's repeated references, therefore, demonstrate more than anything its frustrations in dealing with inflation, its lack of a vehicle for holding down wage-price increases.

This week Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz again returned to the subject, expressing his "very real" concern over inflation, insinuating that mandatory controls are a possibility, but adding, "I don't think the situation is out of hand."

This has been a recurring theme. Washington's statements sometimes have been enigmatic enough to cast doubt on what is meant. But one meaning for sure is that the idea of mandatory controls has been explored, very likely with a negative conclusion.

Last November, for example, the secretary answered "poppycock" to a reporter's question regarding the probability of stiff controls. Clear enough.

A few weeks later, in answer to another reporter's question, Wirtz stated: "We're not even in the ballpark as far as considerations of controls is concerned." Again clear.

At about the same time, President Johnson introduced the subject in a talk to the Business Council. Voluntary restraints have made involuntary controls unnecessary, he said, adding, "to this point."

But a few weeks later, contrary to previous assertions, the secretary stated on a television program that 'in the absence of a tar increase it would become necessary to consider wage and price controls."

Almost immediately, Johnson told newsmen he did not "hold to the view that wage or price controls are imminent at all." Later Wirtz issued a clarification.

These repeated references, even though sometimes negative and in answer to questions, seem to indicate that the subject of mandatory controls has been considered quite seriously. But it was felt also that they were simply part of the maneuverings considered necessary to get a tar bill passed.

But now, even though the tax issue has been settled with a 10 per cent surcharge on corporate and personal income taxes, the secretary has spoken again.

There are, he said, three ways to control inflation: Wage-price controls, unspecified steps that woud cause higher unemployment, and third, the use of voluntary restraints.

More unemployment obviously is unacceptable as a permanent solution, although many jobs will indeed be lost through the recent income tax increase. Private restraints as a means of control, it was insinuated, could be failing.

This leaves the use of mandatory controls as the only certain method of the three in preventing inflationary wage-price increases.

However, despite threats, warnings or suggestions, this course is hardly open to the administration. Before the President can act he must obtain legislation from Congress, and such a request is unlikely, barring unforeseen turns.

Unfinished Business

Congress is on vacation until Sept. 4. And the members will be coming home, so have your questions ready and be certain to tell your representatives how you feel on certain bills.

All bills die at the end of the session which is now figured at between Oct. 15-31. So you are asking what are the prospects on pending bills. According to the political prognosticators, the gun controls will pass, calling for the banning of mail order sales of long guns except among dealers and makers. Pistols by mail already are banned in the earlier law. But registration of guns or the licensing of owners will not be required.

There will be more money or higher education, but college loans may be delayed this fall because Congress waited too long on the bill. There will be more money for vocational schools.

We are glad to read that the bill for the bigger and heavier trucks on the interstate highways probably won't pass. We would like to leave out the word probable, for once the trucks are allowed to increase the length and width and carrying capacity, there is pressure on the states for the same privilege. The twin trailer issue was killed at the last general assembly by a small vote. The federal bill calls for a tremendous increase in the size, weight, carrying capacity and width of the trucks.

Other bills that are not likely to pass are proposed federal safety standards in factories, higher quotas on imports, five per cent tax on overseas flights. We are only mentioning a few of the bills that will die a natural death because there will not be the time to consider them.

NEWNESS OF LIFE

All of nature has a way of taking on newness at certain times of the year. The stark and bare trees burst into foliage. The countryside becomes green. The sear fields are covered with stalks of waving grain.

This comeback is part of the way the Creator made things in the beginning. He looked upon his creation and was pleased with it. "And God saw every thing that He had made, and behold, it was very good" (Genesis 1:31). Christ indeed makes all things new.

One of the most exciting experiences in life is to make a new start. The services ending the completion of school and college work are fittingly referred to as "Commencement." It is not the end of anything but the beginning (commencing) of many new and exciting experiences.

Saul of Tarsus was a persecutor of the Christian faith. After his experience with Christ on the road to Damascus he became indeed a new man. Thirteen of his epistles constitute the most extensive writing by any one author in the entire New Testament.

Zacchaeus, the publican, found new life after he had spent a luncheon hour with Jesus. The apostle Peter, after denial of his Lord, rose up to be the head of the apostolic church. Billy Graham today and Billy Sunday fifty years ago invited multitudes to enter into newness of life and had the privilege of seeing them do so.

We get tired of hearing about things that are just around the corner —but newness of life is certainly that near for anyone who wants it and seeks after it.

Business Notes And Comments

By ELMER ROESSNER

Here are some business developments along with some comments, often impudent, snide and nasty:

The Transportation Department has adopted a new auto safety standard: All cars built after Dec. 31 for sale in the United States must have permanent identification numbers attached to the interior but readable from the outside of the car by "a person standing near the left windshield pillar." The object is to spot stolen cars, which have a high accident ratio.

Comment: What cars really need are permanent identification numbers 12 inches high on a panel across the back high enough to escape obscuring by road oil and dirt.

Good Idea That Needs Tinkering

Representative Richard L. Ottinger, D-N.Y., has said he would support farm legislation if ceilings were placed on payments to individual farmers. He declared that 2 per cent of the farmers with incomes over $100,000 receive 20 per cent of the farm subsidies, and that farms under 140 acres, which constitute more than half the farms in the country, get only 25 per cent.

Comment: This is a good idea only if amended to prevent big holdings from being split up among multiple corporations to evade the limitation.

That Leather Look For Fall

Home Furnishings Daily reports that the leather look is "big, big, big" for fall, and that High Point, N. C., furniture manufacturers are enjoying a boom in furniture upholstered in leather, with black dominating, but "dirty" taupes and chocolate browns gaining in popularity.

Comment: Leather is a handsome material and some of the new finishes make it almost as good looking as plastics.

West Germany Breweries To Go Modern

Bonn reporter Omer Anderson writes that because Czechoslovakia's plans to step up exports of beer is causing the West German government to pressure its 2,000 breweries to modernize plants, some of which are 50 years behind the times, with consolidations to strengthen competitive positions.

Comment: With a little luck, German beer can be made to taste as insipid and undistinctive as American beers.

The Shorter Week Marches On

The Wall Street Journal telephoned nearly 100 corporations at 4:15 p.m. one Friday and discovered that half of chief executives weren't there. They were on vacation, off on long weekends, or "out of the office," "away on business" or "in conference."

Comment: Lucky the WSJ didn't call before 3:45. The absent chief executives' secretaries wouldn't have been back from lunch.

N.C. GOP Delegation Is About Evenly Divided

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Unless there are some changes during the day, North Carolina's delegation will be about evenly divided when voting begins tonight on a Republican presidential nominee.

An informal straw vote, taken by secret ballot Tuesday, indicated that former Vice President Richard Nixon would get 11 votes, California Gov. Ronald Reagan 11, New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller two, with the two remaining delegates uncommitted.

North Carolina does not operate under the unit rule.

If there are any changes in this pattern, evidence of it should come at another caucus which Rep. Jim Gardner, the GOP candidate for governor and delegation chairman, says will be held after the group reaches the convention floor for tonight's session.

Gardner put his backing solidly behind Reagan at a caucus Tuesday, saying the Californian 'is 'the best answer for the Republican party throughout the nation. He is the best man. He's a winner."

Garner said Reagan had asked him to make a seconding speech after the California governor's name is placed in nomination. Gardner said he would decide during the day whether to accept.

Meanwhile, Gardner told the delegates he will support Nixon if the former vice president gets the nomination but would "have a hard time" backing Rockefeller if he is the party's choice for the November election.

After Tuesday's caucus, Gardner predicted Reagan will get 13 of the state's 26 votes, with 11 going to Nixon and one to Rockefeller.

Another delegation leader, state party chairman Jim Holshouser, a Nixon supporter, admitted the situation was flexible. "It is so fluid I have stopped counting," Holshouser commented after the Tuesday caucus.

Most of the delegates attended a meeting with Nixon during the afternoon Tuesday, along with groups from South Carolina Tennessee and Virginia.

Also during the day, some of the delegates met with Evangelist Billy Graham who is in Miami Beach for the GOP convention but not as a delegate. Graham who makes his home in Montreat, is to deliver the closing prayer at the convention Thursday night.

It Costs Money To Raise Funds

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — It takes money to make money, reads an old saw, and officials at Gompers Rehabilitation Center here say the same reasoning apparently applies to obtaining contributions.

The cost of manufactured coin containers is so high, they say, that for a fund drive the center decided to use empty one-pound coffee cans with plastic lids.

U.S. Tells North Vietnam 14 Prisoners To Be Freed

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

PARIS (AP) — The United States told North Vietnam at the Paris peace talks today that 14 captured North Vietnamese seamen will be released. Last week three U.S. fliers, released by the North Vietnamese, came out of Hanoi.

The North Vietnamese handled their release of the airmen mainly through the peace talks and the United States responded using the same channel with an obvious interest in tying the goodwill gestures into the search for peace.

The peace probes themselves were conducted in today's meeting— the 16th session.

Ambassador Ha Van Lau of North Vietnam spurned a recent demand by Secretary of State Dean Rusk for some authoritative word from Hanoi on how North Vietnam would respond to a total halt in the U.S. bombing.

Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, going into the conference, said North Vietnam had infiltrated 30,000 troops into the South in July and failed to show any of the restraint asked by Pesident Johnson.

Ambassador Xuan Thuy was absent. Aides said he had been ordered by his doctors to rest. He has been absent from some previous sessions because of a persistent cold.

Harriman announced the release of North Vietnamese held by the United States. He told newsmen after the meeting he gave the names of 1 seamen to the North Vietnamese delegation.

Harriman said the release of the seamen was a gesture of goodwill and not an act of reciprocity for the freeing of the pilots. He did not explain why he sought to separate the two actions when an American response had been expected since North Vietnam announced the fliers would be freed.

The 14 North Vietnamese have been held captive since 1966. Harriman said they had been captured when attempting to attack U.S. naval vessels. The group originally totaled 19 but 5 were released previously.

Harriman told Lau the United States had been ready for months to stop all bombing of the North "but you tried to portray us as unwilling to discuss cessations of bombing ... as changing our postion."

"The answer to the President's appeal which we have heard thus far in Paris," Harriman said, 'and the signs we have seen on the ground in Vietnam—have given the President no basis to take the additional risk that a complete bombing cessation would entail."

N.C. Delegation Making Trip To South America

WRIGHTSVILLE BEACH, N. C. (AP) — A North Carolina delegation, headed by Gov. Dan Moore and his wife, will make a 15-day travel promotion trip to South America in early November.

Tentative plans for the trip were approved Tuesday by the state Board of Conservation and Development at its closing session of a three-day meeting

The tour will be sponsored by the C&D Department and will include stops at Caracas, Rio de Janeiro, Sao Paulo, Buenos Aries, Santiago (Chile) and Lima.

Between 35 and 40 persons are expected to go in the trip to promote interest in travel and trade in North Carolina.

The governor and his wife are scheduled to leave Raleigh Nov. 9 and return Nov. 23.

In other action, the board accepted plans to turn over the Ft. Macon site to the state Department of Archives and History. The state Parks Division will continue to operate the recreation facilities at Ft. Macon State Park.

The Archives and History Department will give to the Parks Division land adjacent to the Ft. Fisher site in New Hanover County to be used as a recreation area. Archives and History will continue to operate the Ft. Fisher site.

The board also approved a proposal to convert 300,000 acres of forest land into tree-planting plantations over a four-year period at a cost of $1.7 million. The project is aimed at assuring a continuing supply of hardwood for the Tar Heel furniture manufacturing industry.

Tobacco Prices Show Slow Upward Trend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With prices showing a slow but gradual upward trend, flue-cured tobacco auctions reached the midweek point on the South Carolina -Border North Carolina belt today with no sign of marketing troubles that beset the industry last year.

Most markets are continuing to receive more leaf than they can handle, and a few reported they are booked to capacity until Labor Day.

Meanwhile, prices by grades remained firm on the eight North Carolina Border and 11 South Carolina auction centers Tuesday — continuing a trend that saw a record high average of $69.72 per hundred pounds paid for 19,168,276 pounds sold Monday.

Quality declined somewhat, but principal offerings were made up of low and fair primings, fair lugs, fair leaf and nondescript — all of which normally bring to prices. Companies were bidding as high as $77 per hundred for fair and low lemon cutters.

Deliveries to the Stabilization Corp. under the government loan program continued to be light — also continuing a trend established on the first day of sales last Thursday.

Two Jets From Cherry Point In Aerial Collision

CHERRY POINT, N.C. (AP) — Tow Marine S4B Phantom Jet planes based at Cherry Point Marine Air Station collided in flight Tuesday over the ocean near Marathon, Fla., but all four crewmen escaped injury.

The Cherry Point information office said one plane crashed in the sea after its occupants ejected and the other landed at the Naval Air Station at Key West, Fla.

The information office identified crewmen in the downed plane as Lt. Thomas H. Tanguay, 25, of Hallandale, Fla., and Lt. Russell J. Therriault, 29, of Lowell, Mass., and those in the other jet as Maj. Richard C. Conway, 34, of Harrisburg, Pa., and CWO Rush Morgan, 39, of Hemphill, Tex.

The Marine Corps said the two downed crewmen were rescued by a civilian fishing craft.

Plenty To See In Final Weeks

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Little Buddy Labrozzi, facing blindnss at 7, is winding up a Western trip that included major tourist stops "in a state of excitement."

"He was excited the whole time," Rosanna Labrozzi said Tuesday of her son. Since Saturday "he's had the time of his life," she said.

The youngster and his mother fly home to Eastlake, Ohio, today to begin treatments for peripheral uveits, an inflammation of the inner eye. His doctors say he will become totally blind soon.

When the people of Eastlake heard of it, they donated money for Buddy's trip.

Snow Hill Board OKs Annexation

SNOW HILL — The Snow Hill town board last night gave their approval to one section of a new subdivision and authorized steps to be taken to annex the area.

The subdivision, Lake View Estates, is located on U. S. 13 West of the city and adjoins the property of West Greene School. Section one of the subdivision received the board's approval last night.

Considered and taken under advisement by the board last night was a request for a change in zoning of an area on the N. C. 58 bypass from residential to business. The zoning change was requested in order that a funeral home may locate a building there.

In other action the two board authorized the installation of a street light on Woodside Circle, and authorized the trading of the town's present police car for a new model.

First Defeat At Polls Since 1913

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Michael Kinney suffered his first defeat at the polls Tuesday since he first won election to the Missouri Senate in 1913.

The 94-year-old legislator lost in his bid for renomination on the Democratic ticket in the 5th senatorial district which includes downtown St. Louis.

He was defeated in the primary contest, 3,611 to 2,974, by Raymond Howard, 33, a Negro state representative serving his second term in the state house. The district is now predominantly Negro.

As the vote tabulations rolled in, Kinney said of Howard: "It's hard to keep up with him, he's got a sports car."

VC Lose Heavily In Raid On Their Supply Depot

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S.-South Vietnamese task force invaded a major Viet Cong supply depot and killed 219 enemy soldiers in a week of clashes that took American infantrymen deeper into the Mekong Delta than ever before, military spokesmen announced today.

South Vietnamese military headquarters said there were no allied fatalities and only six U.S. infantrymen and three South Vietnamese marines were wounded. A spokesman attributed the unusual kill ratio to American helicopter gunships and artillery, which were credited with killing most of the claimed enemy dead.

The fighting swirled in and out of three provinces centered about 125 miles southwest of Saigon on the fringes of the U Minh forest, a Viet Cong sanctuary virtually untouched by government troops for more than 20 years.

Amored troop carriers from the U.S. Navy's Riverine Force moved up and down the rivers and canals with gunboat escorts, carrying more than 1,000 American infantrymen from the 9th Division and 500 South Vietnamese marines into action.

At the other end of South Vietnam, U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese paratroopers reported killing 75 North Vietnamese troops in clashes Tuesday south of Da Nang, an area of intesified fighting in the past two weeks. Allied losses included one Marine and 10 South Vietnamese killed, 14 South Vietnamese and 22 Marines wounded, and two South Vietnamese missing.

In one clash 10 miles south of Da Nang, U.S. Marines from the 5th Regiment came under heavy machine-gun, mortar and recoilless rifle fire. Supported by fighter-bombers, tanks and artillery, the Leathernecks counterattacked and over-ran the enemy three hours later. Twenty-three of the enemy were reported killed and Marine casualties were one dead and 22 wounded.

Fifty-two enemy were reported killed in a clash with troops of the South Vietnamese 51st Regiment 21 miles south of Da Nang along National Highway 1, Vietnam's main north-south route. South Vietnamese casualties were put at 10 killed, 14 wounded and two missing. They included three dead and seven wounded when a military vehicle hit an enemy mine on the highway.

North Vietnamese troops also attacked the perimeter of a small U.S. Marine unit on Hill 606, near the abandoned Khe Sanh combat base. Four Marines were killed and six wounded, but the Leathernecks repulsed the invaders. Enemy casualties were not known.

East of Khe Sanh, enemy gunners shot down a Marine CH46 helicopter. The crew and passengers were rescued unharmed, headquarters said.

Using an explosive-laden raft, the Viet Cong blew up the Ben Luc pontoon bridge on the main route between Saigon and the Mekong Delta, but South Vietnamese engineers repaired the damaged pontoons by 1 p.m. and reopened the road. The Viet Cong blew up the permanent bridge two months ago, and the pontoon bridge is being used until the other one is repaired.

School Goals A Generation Away

WASHINGTON (AP) — Welfare secretary Wilbur J. Cohen says integration may be a generation away in many northern city school systems and the goal in the meantime should be to improve conditions in black neighborhoods.

"I think we have to be realistic," the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare said. "In a large number of big-city areas we have a lot of neighborhoods that are going to be completely black."

But, he said "if we can have good schools and good police protection (in such areas), maybe that's better than having fear and riots. And maybe another generation will have to deal with integration."

Cohen also said in an interview that busing of students between slum and other neighborhoods is not the answer to desegregating school systems.

"I have never thought that busing was a very large-scale answer to this problem and I don't think most people do," he said. "I don't see it as more than a temporary expedient. Over-all, nationally, it is not the answer."

Asked whether his assessment means that greater emphasis should be placed on making Negro schools better, he said: "Yes, I think so."

Cohen called for expansion of the $1-billion-a-year program of federal education aid to poor youngsters.

The secretary also said that his department plans to "step up very substantially and materially" its program to assure equal educational opportunities for Negro children in Northern schools.

The Northern program, begun early this year, is an extension of HEW's civil ights compliance efforts in Southern school systems.

Cohen acknowledged that expansion of the Northern program would be required under provisions inserted by Southerners in a bill pending before Congress. The provision would require HEW to assign as many school civil rights investigators to the North as it does to the South.

He said, however, that the department planned to expand the northern program anyway.

STICKY STREETS

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) —Workmen making a delivery to a candy store on the boardwalk dropped a drum of corn syrup, spilling 800 pounds. The mess was soaked up with sand but not before tourists tracked it all over town.

UNDERWATER THEFT

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — James D. Carneal reported to police that two men in scuba diving gear made off with his 12-foot canoe. He said the men slipped silently from the James River into his back yard, pulled the boat into the water, submerged it—and swam away.

Joe Hunt To Ask Overdue Roads

RALEIGH (AP) — Chairman Joe Hunt of the state Highway Commission says he will ask federal officials for additions to the interstate system in North Carolina "that should have been put on in 1956."

Hunt said Tuesday he will file the application as soon as federal officials set guidelines on an additional 1,500 miles to be allocated in the nation for the interstate system.

In a letter to Secretary of Transportation Alan S. Boyc, Hunt asked federalofficials to give the state 'special attention" in allocating additional mileage.

Pointing out that North Carolina's needs "are obviously great," Hunt said the state didn't obtain a realistic share in the initial allocations."

"North Carolina receives less than 50 per cent return on the federal funds collected in our state," Hunt wrote. "This is the lowest of any state in the country. We feel this inequity, which began in 1956, has cost the state well over $500 million."

North Carolina has 770 miles of interstate system.

In saying he would apply for certain additions, Hunt did not mention specific routes. But Highway Department sources said recent discussions have centered around three possibilities:

1. A connector from I-85 north of Durham to Raleigh and then to I-95 near Smithfield.

2. A spur from I-95 in the Fayetteville vicinity to the port of Wilmington.

Open Highway Bids On Aug. 26

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Highway Commission plans to open bids Aug. 26 on 39 projects involving 18 miles of road work in 33 counties.

The commission called for the bids Tuesday. One of the projects is for 9.3 miles of grading, paving and structures in the four-laning of U. S. 74 between Peachland and Wadesboro.

Another project involves five miles of grading and structures on Winston - Salem's North South Expressway from U. S. 52 to Diggs Avenue.

Republicans Roar Approval Of 1968 Platform

By LEWIS GULICK
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Republicans roared approval early today of a platform pledging a new national leadership—under the GOP—will push "for a just peace in the world, for dependable progress for all our people, and for a new serenity and unity in this land."

With these words Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, performing as actor, orator and chairman of the platform-writing committee, won a final shout of endorsement after two hours of speeches at the national convention.

The leading presidential candidates—Richard M. Nixon, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Gov. Ronald Reagan—already had bestowed their blessing on the manifesto which calls for peace without surrender and de-Americanization of the war in Vietnam and a crusade against crime and causes of social ills at home.

Michigan's Gov. George Romney took the podium to declare he had wanted a plank against excessive economic power in the hands of business and labor groups. But he then urged adoption without change of this "excellent platform" for the sake of avoiding a floor battle.

Later, just at the end of the night session, a Kinston, N.C., delegate, R. T. Hood Jr., pushed toward the rostrum with an undisclosed amendment. Rep. Gerald Ford of Michigan, the convention chairman, ruled Hood had taken the floor too late to offer his plank. Hood would not tell newsmen what his proposal involved.

Instead of reading through all 13,000 words of the platform drafted by his 102-man committee last week, Dirksen roused the convention hall throng right at the start by throwing on the floor what he indicated were set speeches.

Then the silver-haired senator launched into a 25-minute oration of his own, interrupted by applause more than a dozen times.

The 72-year-old Senate Republican leader lit into the Democratic administration of his sometimes close associate, President Johnson.

"Oh, how cynical, how mocking, that political slogan—'The Great Society,'" Dirksen exclaimed to Republican shouts.

"Never has an administration so disregarded the limits of our resources, our patience, our unwillingness—indeed, our inability—to police and sustain a bellicose and insatiable world. Open-hearted, yes open-handed, we long have been—but my friends, the time to reassess our generosity is now. . . .

'Never has the nation been so mired in debt—never its budget so bloated, the deficit so huge, the spending so unrestrained except in all-out war. Once upon a time people talked of the sky as the limit. Now we've been rocketed to fiscal outer space. . . .

"Must law-abiding citizens don bullet-proof vests safely to take an evening stroll?" Dirksen asked. 'Must we avoid our great cities by night as if they were guerrilla-infested hamlets out in Vietnam?"

"No!" shouted the Republican delegates en masse.

"This ballyhooed 'Great Sociey,'" Dirksen continued, "the brainchild of an English socialist six decades ago—is not a New Deal—no, not even a Fair Deal; it's just a straight-out misdeal. . . ."

As He Suggested, Father Lost A Leg In Vietnam

By BURL OSBORNE
Associated Press Writer

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Six-year-old Lori Ann Lajoie didn't want her father to volunteer for Vietnam.

"You'll get killed," she said.

Not so, said her father, a career Army man since he enlisted in 1949. "The only thing that might happen is maybe I'll lose a leg like Mommy did."

Lori Ann accepted that. Her mother had always had one artificial leg and had gotten along just fine. Lori saw nothing unusual about it.

So, explained Sgt. 1.C. Vital Lajoie, that's how he happened to go off to war. That is, after the Army relented after rejecting his first four attempts to volunteer for combat.

Barely four months later, in the spring of 1967, Lajoie's war was over.

He returned to the United States with the Air Medal, Purple Heart with cluster, two Bronze Star citations and the Silver Star for "an inspiring display of personal bravery" and gallantry in action.

He also brought back fragmentation and bullet wounds from his almost daily encounters with the Viet Cong as a squad leader in Company B, 1st Battalion, 7th Cavalry.

More than a year has passed and Lajoie is pressing ahead despite the loss of the leg and a shattering break that left the other three inches shorter.

He has taken training and civil service examinations for possible post office work. He just enrolled in a mechanic training course while awaiting a medical discharge from the Army.

Neither Lajoie, 36, from Danbury, Conn., nor his wife, who lost her left leg when she was struck by a car as a child of 7, seem to consider an artificial leg a handicap.

"Sometimes I'm concerned that I can't do the things I used to," he said. "But I see the things she can do and I know I'll be all right."

"I've never had any doubt I could do anything I wanted to do if I wanted to do it badly enough," said his wife. And that includes household chores and the care of two growing children, Lori, now 8, and Gilbert, 2.

Artificial legs don't cause much of a stir in the Lajoie household. "It doesn't bother either of the children or either of us," said Mrs. Lajoie, who comes from Sugar Creek, Mo. The family came to Denver to be with their father at the Army's Fitzsimons General Hospital.

A carved wooden ballot was originated by Roman law in 139 B.C.

Reservists Lose Plea To Court

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — A federal judge has denied a petition by 113 Ohio Army Reservists to be released from active duty.

In a 14-page opinion Tuesday, Judge Frank A. Kaufman of U.S. District Court ruled that a law authorizing the President to call reservists was applicable to them even though they enlisted before the law became effective on Oct. 15, 1966.

The Reservists, stationed at nearby Ft. Meade, Md., had challenged the constitutionality of the law and contended Congress could not delegate to the President the power to call them to active duty.

Their attorneys contended the men had a contract with the U.S. government under the law in effect when they joined the reserves, and that it was violated and abridged by the application of the 1966 statute.

Counsel also argued that the 1966 law, as applied to them, constituted a denial of equal protection of the law and violated the separation of powers doctrine.

Judge Kaufman said that under the law in effect when the men enlisted, the President was authorized to call reserves into active duty in time of national emergency "or when otherwise authorized by law."

The reservists were ordered to active duty as a unit last May 13, for two years' service. They had been on inactive duty with the 1002nd Supply and Service Company in Cleveland, Ohio.

Conference On Desegregating Housing Slated

RALEIGH (AP) — "A "grass roots" conference aimed at implementing housing programs that would lead to greater desegregation in North Carolina cities is planned for Raleigh on Aug. 24.

Kelly Alexander, state president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said Tuesday the meeting of about 100 local NAACP leaders will discuss the "whole area of housing."

This includes rural and farm housing, local and federal open housing legislation, self-help housing, loans and grants, housing rehabilitation programs, new directions in low-rent housing, non-profit sponsorship of housing, model cities, urban renewal and code enforcement.

A discussion leader will be William Morris, the NAACP's national housig director. Alexander said a number of government leaders also will attend.

Couple Found Shot To Death

CHARLOTTE (AP) — A man and woman were found shot to death in a Charlotte residence late Tuesday night.

Police were questioning William Alexander, 65, of Rt. 1, Huntersville who was quoted as saying he shot in self defense.

The victims were tentatively identified as Bedella Robinson, 34, of Charlotte and Bobby Owens. Police said the bodies were found in the woman's house with five spent shells from a .32 caliber automatic nearby.

Alexander called police to surrender, they said.

Ask $12,148,000 For UNC-G

GREENSBORO (AP) — The state Budget Advisory Commission was asked Tuesday to recommend a $12,148,000 capital improvements budget for the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

The commission, holding hearings in budget requests for the 1969-71 biennium, was told the UNC-G request included proposals for a $2.4 million library, a $2.4 million men's gymnasium, $3 million for two new buildings and $1 million for land purchase.

Sen. Thomas White of Lenoir County, chairman of the commission, noted that the state will have $110 to $115 million available for capital improvements and already has requests for $400 million from various state agencies.

Textile Mills To End Operations

BESSEMER CITY, N. C. (AP) — "More supply than demand" for unbleached cotton sheeting was given as the reason why two Bessemer City textile mills plan to cease operations, probably in September.

The two mills, employing 210 persons in the town of 4,500 are Fulton Industries mills, formerly known as Gambrill and Melville mills. The mill property is being advertised for sale, officials announced Tuesday in telling of plans to cease operations.

Couple Marked Their 80th Year

Stacy, 104, is a farmer and grocer. His wife doesn't tell her age.

Big Plans Shape Up For Halifax In April, 1976

By Christopher Crittenden
N. C. Department of Archives and History
Written for Associated Press

RALEIGH (AP) — Prepare for April 12, 1976. That's what the Department of Archives and History is asking the Advisory Budget Commission for Historic Halifax. That date will mark the bicentennial of the first official action for independence by any of the 13 colonies.

It was on April 12, 1776, that the North Carolina Provincial Congress, meeting in Halifax, voted to instruct the North Carolina delegates to the Continental Congress, then in session in Philadelphia, to join the delegates of the other colonies "in declaring independency." One month and three days later Virginia took similar action—but North Carolina was first.

It is planned to develop the old town of Halifax in keeping with its importance two centurles ago. The original town was on and near the west bank of the Roanoke River, while the new town has grown up nearly half a mile away. Thus there will be little problem of tearing down later buildings.

The request for 1969-71 is for $100,000 to acquire additional land from St. Davids Street northeast to the river. Already in the historic area certain tracts have been obtained and the place has been designated as Historic Halifax State Historic Site, with an appropriation for maintenance. Harry Reifsnyder is the state employee in charge.

Historic houses already acquired and preserved include the Constitution House, in which the first constitution of the State of North Carolina is said to have been drafted, 1776.

The old goal, replacing an earlier building in which the Tories captured as the battle of Moores Creek were imprisoned, is a century and a third old.

The clerk's office, likewise replacing an earlier structure, was also built in the 1830s. It is now used as a temporary visitor center - museum.

The Dutch Colonial house dates back more than two centuries. It has been restored and furnished in the pre-Revolutionary period.

Royal White Hart Masonic Lodge No. 2, chartered in 1767, still meets in one of the oldest halls in America.

These and other historic places have been or are expected to be restored by 1976, when North Carolina will lead the nation in the bicentennial celebration.

Planning for the restoration and beautification of the entire Halifax community has been developed by the N. C. State University School of Design.

Mail May Move In Canada Again

OTTAWA (AP) — The mail may move again in Canada by the weekend if the striking postmen accept an agreement reached after a marathon bargaining session that lasted nearly 31 hours. But considerable opposition among the strikers was reported.

A union spokesman in Vancouver said the proposed contract was disappointing and might be rejected by postal workers in British Columbia. Another spokesman predicted rejection in Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa and Vancouver, Canada's four biggest cities. But union leaders in Montreal and Halifax said they would recommend approval of the agreement, and ratification appeared certain in London, Ont.

The agreement was announced late Tuesday afternoon following the almost nonstop meeting that began Sunday afternoon between ntgotiators for the government and the 24,000 postal workers who struck 20 days ago.

Terms of the agreement were not announced. But the workers are reportedly being asked to accept a 26-month contract that includes a two-stage wage increase of 39 cents an hour and is retroactive to Aug. 1, 1967. The strikers start voting on the contract today, and the results are expected by Friday. The union originally asked an increase of 75 cents an hour and a contract expiring Oct. 1.

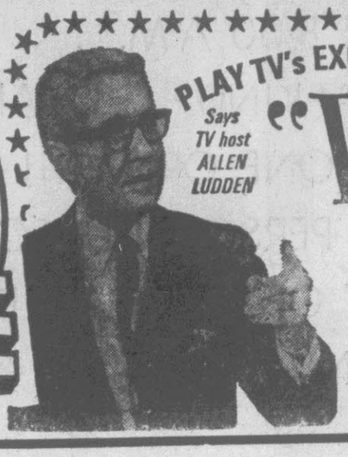

Postal pay now averages $2.75 an hour. The reported increase averages out to 15 per cent, the guideline the federal government has set for negotiations with its employes this year.

Australia, Great Britain, Canada and northern countries of Europe all have a higher level of voting participation than the United States.

Larkin Orders Integration For Greene Schools

SNOW HILL — The Greene County Schools received a court order August 5 from Judge John Larking, Eastern District Judge for the Federal Court, for a one-third integration program for the school year 1968-1969. This order was presented to the members of the Greene County Board of Education and considered at their meeting Monday night.

The court order was a result of a hearing conducted in the presence of Judge Larkin on July 29.

In effect this means that for the coming school year some white students will attend the third, fourth and fifth grades at West Greene School, formerly an all-Negro school. Ninth grade Negro students will be assigned to Greene Central School in Snow Hill. Other schools will be operated on a freedom of choice basis.

It was pointed out that this court order is a continuing action following the original 1963 court order for Greene County schools.

The Old West Greene School is to be advertised for sale on about September 3. The school, consisting of approximately ten rooms, is situated on a plot of three and six-tenths acres. One bid of $4,500 has already been received.

The board of education approved the staff assignment of teachers and other personnel for the county schools.

Teachers aides have also been assigned, in addition to their regular duties, part-time duty as bus monitors in the event disciplinary problems warrant their use for this purpose.

Clovers In The Pasture

Farmers and researchers have noticed that cattle often perform better on grass-clover mixtures than on grann alone. The agreeable taste and increased consumption as well as the extra food values of the legumes may account for this. Also, legumes normally will increase the available nitrogen causing the grass to grow better. Therefore, legumes improve the feeding quality of pastures and hay crops as well as increase the yield, and reduce the fertilizer cost.

Seeding clovers in pasture and hay fields is one thing but keeping them there is another. Clovers may disappear for several reasons but the main ones are:

(A) Need for lime and fertilizers

(B) Improper grazing and clipping management

(C) Drought

(D) Disease and insect damage

Many of the above factors can be controlled through careful management.

The main points are:

(1) Topdress annually with phosphate and potash fertilizers and add lime as indicated by soil test. The testing service provided by the Soil Testing Division of the North Carolina Department of Agricultural is free for the asking.

(3) Clip pastures in May, July, and September to control weeds and other undesirable plants.

(3) Leave 2-3 inches of top-growth at all times — do not overgraze.

(4) Control insects with a spray program which fits your individual needs.

(5) Adapt the other factors of management to favor disease control and to promote the growth of the clover.

Research and Extension personel advise that if all management decisions are made to favor the growth of the clover then the grass will take care of itself. Plans for fall seeding of pastures should be made well in advance to allow for a soil test and the application of adequate lime and fertilizers.

Filming Historic Drama On The 'Molly McGuires'

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP) — The sky was almost as dark as the coal dust that covered the Pennsylvania earth. "Looks bad for shooting today," muttered director Martin Ritt.

He had no real grounds for complaint. In three months of filming "The Molly Maguires" in the tiny mining community of Eckley, Pa., he had managed to shoot at least part of every day. Now, as the company was finishing the location to leave for six weeks of interior filming in Hollywood, the movie was only four days behind schedule.

Soon the summer skies opened up, and the rain made shooting impractical, so the schedule was changed to a night sequence with Richard Harris and Samantha Eggar, who star in "The Molly Maguires" with Sean Connery.

The Paramount production concerns the labor movement and social ills, both of which have been neglected on the screen. In fact, much of American history has been overlooked, except for the overworked saga of the West.

"This is no social document," assured the writer and coproducer, Walter Bernstein. "We're not trying to show the condition of the miners or to make a sociological story. We are telling a strong dramatic story in a historical context."

The Molly Maguires are still remembered in the mining towns of northeastern Pennsylvania. They were Irish immigrants who formed a secret society to combat the miserable conditions in the mines and company-owned towns. The height of their power came with the strike of 1875-76 which was broken with the help of an Irish informer. That is the role that Harris plays.

"The Molly Maguires" stemmed from Bernstein's studies at Dartmouth 27 years ago. He became acquainted with the history of the Irish radicals and wanted to dramatize those violent times. The opportunity came with Ritt, who shared his enthusiasm for the project. They had met on the "You Are There" television series, which dealt with historical events as if they were news stories.

"Ten years ago, I wouldn't have been allowed to make this picture," remarked Ritt. "Well, maybe I could have made it, but I would have had to bring it in at a low cost. But Paramount has gone along with us all the way."

All the way to the tune of $8 million, which is quite a distance. The cost included building a $200,000, 96-foot coal breaker and restoring the company town of Eckley—population 86—to the 1870s. That involved stringing utility lines underground, installing a TV cable to replace housetop antennas, and covering the paved streets with earth and coal dust. Oldtimers say the illusion is startling.

New Distribution Center Planned

GREENSBORO (AP)—A new 200,000-square foot distribution center will be built in Guilford County to handle the production of Lees Carpets, a division of Burlington Industries.

The facility eventually will employ about 150 persons, said Richard C. Emrey, manufacturing vice president for Lees. Completion of the facility is scheduled for early 1969. The cost will be in excess of $2 million Emrey said.

Challenges N.C. Demo Delegation

TRENTON, N. J. (AP) — A preliminary challenge of the North Carolina delegation to the Democratic National Convention has been filed with the convention's Credentials Committee.

Furman Templeton, a lawyer for the committee, said Tuesday the North Carolina challenge is one of four state challenges alleging discrimination against Negroes. The others are from Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee.

Dr. Reginald Hawkins, an unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, and other Negroes had said they would challenge seating of the Tar Heel delegation in Chicago.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department says Cassius Clay told his draft board he was a professional boxer—not a minister—and Supreme Court review of his conviction on refusing military service should be turned down.

The former world heavyweight champion, who prefers to be called Muhammad Ali, has asked the court to overturn the conviction and a five-year prison sentence and $10,000 fine.

Clay seeks a ministerial exemption or conscientious objector status based on his beliefs as a member of the Black Muslim faith. He is free on $5,000 bond.

But the Justice Department, in a brief, said Clay consistently listed his occupation on Selective Service forms and questionnaires with terms such as "professional boxer" and "heavyweight champion of the world."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's staff has packed the last memenotes, decorations and personal files and officially closed the office.

It had been kept open two months after his assassination in Los Angeles, a traditional period on the death of a senator, for remaining staff members to wind up a variety of matters and pack effects.

Kennedy's office, on the third floor of the New Senate office building, was closed Tuesday.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has not named a successor to Kennedy who was shot June 4 shortly after winning the California primary in his bid for the Democratic presidential nomination.

SCORES WINNING RUN — Jim Paige slides home with the winning run in the bottom of the 6th inning yesterday to give Greenville, N.C. a 2-1 victory over Easton, Pa. in a first round game of the 16th annual National VFW Teener Tournament in Easton. Immanuel, St. James Move Into Church Semi-Finals

St. James and Immanuel advanced into tonight's semifinal round of the Church Softball League tournament with victories last night. St. James took Meadowbrook 7-2, and Immanuel inched past Oakmont 3-2.

St. James and Immanuel play in the second game for the right to play in Thursday's championship game. Monday's winners, Presbyterian and Grace, will play in tonight's first game.

In the first game last night, Immanuel took the early lead with one run in the first inning, and came back with another in the second to take a 2-1 lead over Oakmont who managed a run of its own in the bottom of the second.

Oakmont tied in the fourth with another run and kept the game deadlocked until Immanuel inched away to win with another run in the seventh.

Two of Immanuel's runs came from homers, by Howard and Horne.

In the second game, St. James took a 2-1 lead in the first inning as Harris homered for Meadowbrook. The Methodists then broke loose with two runs in the third and three in the fifth to score seven runs for the win. Meadowbrook's other run came in the sixth inning.

Teeners Take Shaky First Round Victory

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

EASTON, PA. — The Greenville Teener League All - Stars found themselves in a very advantageous position after a shaky 2-1 victory over Easton, Pa. here yesterday in the opening round of the National Teener League Tournament.

By virtue of the win, Greenville has only to play one game today while their opponent must play two.

In yesterday's second game, Altoona, Pa., defeated Union, N. J. 3-1. This morning Altoona was to meet defending champion West Allis, Wis., at 10 a.m. The winner of that game plays Greenville at 3 p.m. The loser meets the winner of this morning's other game between Union and Easton. If Greenville should win this afternoon they would need only one victory to win the National Championship.

Yesterday's game got under way at 1 p.m. after being changed twice. The game was originally scheduled for 10 a.m., but was washed out by rain. Tourney officials decided to play at 3 p.m., but after about an hour, moved the game back to 1 p.m.

Greenville coach Johnny Holt said after the game that he felt the frequent time change took a good deal of the edge off his players causing them to play a better game.

Greenville got the lead in the first inning of the game. Stanley Cobb hit back toward first and the first baseman threw wild in trying to make the play. Cobb raced all the way to third, and the Easton players chased the ball in the fenceless field. Russ Smith attempted to squeeze Cobb across and forced another error scoring the runner and reaching safely himself. Jimmy Paige singled to keep the inning alive but the next two batters went down to halt the threat.

After pitching his way out of trouble in the second inning with some fine fielding by third baseman Tommy Durham, Smith found no one to blame but himself when Easton scored in the third. With two outs George Lutz dribbled the ball back to first base. Jimmy Bond scooped the ball up and relayed to Smith who couldn't find the bag and Lutz reached safely. A few minutes later he moved to second on a wild pitch. Bill Zaskowski singled to center field to drive in Lutz and tie it at 1-1.

After walking the first man in the fourth inning, Smith seemed to find his groove and didn't allow another base runner.

Greenville got another good chance in the fifth when Kim Harbin doubled with one out and moved to third on an error. Joe West hit back into the hole but Easton's second baseman Odell Phedford made a fine play to throw him out and end the inning.

But Greenville came back in the sixth to win it. Paige singled with a slow roller to second, then stole second and went to third on a wild pitch. Lewis Gidley drew a walk to set the double steal. Gidley broke for second then stopped to draw the throw. As Paige left third, Phedford threw back to that base but was wide as Paige slid back in. Paige picked himself up and raced home with what proved to be the winning run.

Smith, in pitching his eigth tournament victory, was not at his sharpest despite giving up only one hit. He struck out five and walked three.

"If we win tomorrow," Holt said after the game, "we'll really be in the driver's seat. We wanted to either play in the first game or get the bye, so we're happy."

Holt said he thought the team should have hit better but noted that they were unable to get in batting practice on Monday.

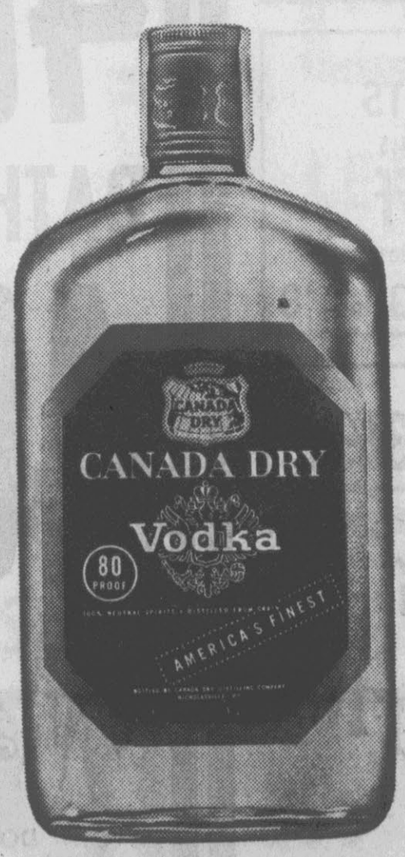

Holt said he would probably pitch Byron Dickens in today's second game.

If Greenville wins, they will play in the finals Thursday at 3 p.m. and will have two chances to win one ball game for the title. A loss would put them into a 10 a.m. Thursday game and force them to win three straight for the title.

Errors Give Cubs NL Second

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Atlanta Braves fumbled the ball and Don Drysdale couldn't pick it up.

The Braves committed four errors in the first inning Tuesday night on the way to a 4-3 loss to Chicago that gave the Cubs undisputed possession of second place in the National League.

Drysdale bobbled Maury Wills' bases-loaded roller in the ninth inning and the Pittsburgh Pirates added two more runs for a 4-1 victory over the skidding Los Angeles Dodgers' ace.

Cincinnati's Jim Maloney stopped the first-place St. Louis Cardinals 5-0 with a five-hitter; San Francisco trimmed Philadelphia 4-1 behind the hitting of rookie Bobby Bonds and the New York Mets topped Houston 4-1 on rookie Kevin Collins' three-run ninth-inning homer.

In the American League, Detroit beat Cleveland 2-1 in 17 innings and led the Indians 5-2 after eight innings of their doubleheader nightcap when play was suspended because of a curfew; California trounced Washington 10-3 before bowing to the Senators 1-0; Boston drubbed the Chicago White Sox 8-2 and Minnesota nipped Baltimore 5-4.

The Cubs capitalized on two errors by Felipe Alou—on the same play—and one each by Marty Martinez,o2 Felix Millan for a 3-0 first-inning lead at Atlanta.

Fifth-inning doubles by Al Spangler and Randy Hundley sent another Chicago run home and the Cubs weathered a late comeback by the Braves for the seventh victory in eight games.

Hank Aaron and Alou hit bases-empty homers for Atlanta before Phil Regan, the Cubs' relief ace, nailed the victory for starter Joe Niekro.

The Pirates broke a 1-1 tie at Los Angeles on Drysdale's second error in the ninth and Willie Stargell provided insurance with a two-run single.

Bill Mazeroski and Jerry May singled with one out and moved up one base apiece on Drysdale's wild pickoff attempt. First baseman Ron Fairlysthen fielded pinch hitter Manny Jimenez' grounder but failed to make a play after bluffing a throw home.

That filled the bases and set the stage for the decisive misplay by Drysdale, who has lost his last four decisions for a 12-10 season mark.

The Reds nursed a 1-0 lead until the eighth inning at St. Louis, when Leo Cardenas homered and an error by Julian Javier opened the gates for three more runs.

Maloney, 10-7, allowed five singles—three by Dal Maxvill—in boosting his career advantage over the Cardinals to 11-5.

Bonds tripled in the first inning and scored on a passed ball, then cracked a tid-breaking single in the eighth as the Giants struck for three runs.

Pollard's Wins

Pollards upset regular season champ Coke for the Ladies League championship last night, 10-5, even though Coke protested two decisions. The protests were late and the score stands.

The game was even at 0-0 until the third inning when Pollards exploded for nine runs. Pollards scored its final run in the fifth.

Coke attempted a late game rally with one run in the sixth inning and four in the seventh but fell five short of Pollard's victory margin.

Baltimore Finds Wrong Way To Play

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was out and you're on and on and you're out.

Any fan knows that's no way to play baseball. The Baltimore Orioles know it, too.

Tony Oliva led off the sixth inning for Minnesota Tuesday night and struck out. But Oriole catcher Andy Etchebarren failed to handle the third strike and Oliva reached first. One out later, Bob Allison homered and Minnesota had a 5-0 lead.

The Orioles then fought back to trail by only 5-4 with one out in the ninth. Up stepped pinch-hitter Larry Haney, who lashed the ball to right field and ended up on second base. But he failed to touch first and was out.

Ron Perranoski retired the next hitter and the second-place Orioles were beaten 5-4 to fall 6½ games behind the American League-leading Detroit Tigers.

The Tigers edged Cleveland 2-1 in 17 innings on Dick Tracewski's run-scoring single and led 5-2 after eight innings of the nightcap of the twi-night doubleheader when it was suspended by a 1 a.m. EDT, curfew. It will be completed tonight.

In other American League action, Boston trounced the Chicago White Sox 8-2 and California beat Washington 10-3 before losing to the Senators 1-0. The New York Yankees and Oakland were not scheduled.

Cincinnati blanked St. Louis 5-0, the Chicago Cubs nipped Atlanta 4-3, the New York Mets topped Houston 4-1, San Francisco took Philadelphia 4-1 and Pittsburgh defeated Los Angeles 4-1 in the National League.

Cesar Tovar scored the first two Minnesota runs and drove in the third. Frank Robinson and Bob Johnson drove in Baltimore runs in the sixth. The Orioles got another pair in the eighth on Boog Powell's RBI double and an error.

Tracewski's game-winning single was only his second hit in 33 at bats. It scored Willie Horton, who singled and moved to second when Bill Freehan was hit by a pitch.

Cleveland scored in the third inning on Tommy Harper's single, a sacrifice and Jose Cardenal's single. Detroit tied it in the eighth when Don Wert homered off starter Luis Tiant.

The Tigers took a 5-2 lead in the suspended game by scoring four runs in the sixth, two of them coming on Al Kaline's pinch double with the bases loaded.

Lou Klimchock's bases-loaded single brought in Cleveland's two runs. Detroit's other tally came on Norm Cash's 16th homer.

Boston wrapped up its victory over the White Sox with five runs in the fourth. Carl Yastrzemski hit his 14th homer leading off the fourth, then drove in another run in the inning when he walked with the bases loaded. He also batted in a run with a sacrifice fly in the first.

Jim Lonborg, the Red Sox ace who was injured in an off-season skiing accident, boosted his record to 3-3 as the Red Sox won for the sixth time in the last seven games. Lonborg was lifted for a pinch hitter in the eighth, with Boston leading by five runs.

Joe Coleman scattered four singles, struck out eight and got the only run he needed when [illegible] scored on a wild pitch in the fourth inning in Washington's first game victory.

Boundaries Set For Ballot On ASC Committee

W. T. Tyson, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, today designated the boundaries of each community within the county where elections of ASC community committees will be held. The elections will be by mail. Ballots will be mailed September 6 and must be returned to the county office by September 16.

Boundaries of the various communities where elections will be held appear on committee-election posters which are displayed at various public locations throughout the county. A listing of boundaries is also available at the ASCS county office. There has been no boundary changes in the county.

The chairman reminded farmers that the elections will choose three committeemen and two alternates for each community. The chairman, vice-chairman, and third regular member of the elected ASC committee will also serve as delegates to the county convention to be held on September 25, 1968, where farmers will be elected to fill vacancies on the ASC county committee. The alternate committeemen will serve as alternate delegates to the convention.

Farmers eligible to cast ballots in the community committee election will be all those who are eligible to participate in one or more of the national farm programs which the committeemen help to administer locally. The farmer may be an owner, tenant, or sharecropper. Persons not of legal voting age who are in charge of the farming operations on an entire farm are also eligible to vote in the elections. Eligibility to vote—or to hold office as a committeeman—is not restricted by reason of sex, race, color, religion, or national origin.

Election notices have been sent to all eligible voters on record. A list of such voters is available for public inspection in the ASCS county office.

Two Chosen For NSF Institute

Dr. Carnl Hampton, associate professor in science at East Carolina University and Charles Ross, principal of Wahl-Cates Laboratory School at ECU, were two of the 40 participants selected to attend a National Science Foundation Institute in "AAS Science—a Process Approach."

The program has been developed by the Commission on Science Education of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. The five-year effort has been financially supported by the National Science Foundation and has the active participation of more than 100 hundred scientists and educators.

Dr. Hampton and Ross will act as consultants during the coming school year for teachers in this area who will be using this curriculum in their schools.

New Editor For News-Argus

GOLDSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Eugene Price was named today editor of the Goldsboro News-Argus, succeeding Henry Belk, who becomes editor emeritus.

James F. Roe Jr., circulation manager of the paper since 1946, was named business manager, a new position.

The announcements were made today by Hal Tanner, publisher.

Price, 40, has been managing editor of the News-Argus since 1955. He will retain that position in addition to his duties as editor of the editorial page.

As editor emeritus, Belk will continue to write a daily editorial page column and will participate in editorial conferences.

Belk, 70, is one of North Carolina's most widely known journalists. Although almost totally blind for the last few years, he has continued his daily functions as editor of the newspaper and is active in journalistic circles. He also writes a weekly column for The Greensboro Daily News.

A former instructor at Wake Forest University, then Wake Forest College, Belk has been with the News-Argus 39 years. He has been editor since 1950.

Price joined the News-Argus as city editor in 1952. He left in 1954 to become maritime reporter for the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot, and returned to Goldsboro a year later as managing editor.

Price began his career as a sports writer with The Greenville Daily Reflector while he was still a student at East Carolina University.

Maj. L. P. McLendon Succumbs In Hospital

GREENSBORO (AP) — Maj. Lennox Polk McLendon, special counsel to the Senate Rules Committee for its investigation of former Senate aide Robert G. (Bobby) Baker's business interests, died today.

The 78-year - old Greensboro lawyer was a member of the first North Carolina Board of Higher Education.

He died at Greensboro's Moses Cone Hospital.

McLendon's history of political integrity was highlighted in the 1930s when he managed the successful campaign of the late J C.. B. Ehringhaus in a bitter North Carolina gubernatorial campaign.

Gov. Ehringhaus offered McLendon a seat on the North Carolina Supreme Court. McLendon, then in his 40s and politically ambitious, rejected the offer.

McLendon later recalled: "One reason that I gave was that people would accuse me of accepting a pay-off for managing the governor's campaign."

It was typical of a career that saw him mayor of Chapel Hill, a member of the North Carolina General Assembly, a member of several state commissions on public welfare, education and administration of justice, and president of the North Carolina Bar Association.

He was named special counsel for the Baker investigation on Nov. 14, 1963.

In 1960, at an age when many men begin slowing down, the Wadesboro native accepted appointment as chairman of the Board of Higher Education.

Into the Baker hearings he carried more than 50 years of experience as a trial and corporation lawyer.

As a student at North Carolina State College, now university, McLendon dreamed of getting a degree in agriculture and becoming a research scientist. His first love remained agricultural research.

Delegation Asks Mosquito Spray

ROBERSONVILLE — A delegation of citizens appeared before the town commissioners here Monday and asked that the town be sprayed for mosquitos. The delegation also requested that "Caution-Children-At-Play" signs be erected on Railroad Street.

The commissioners listened to the requests and approved them.

In other business, the Robersonville Fire Department requested permission to repair the fire truck. Commissioners granted the permission.

Israeli Airliner Cautious With Two Unknowns

TEL AVIV (AP) — An Israeli airliner turned back to Tel Aviv today when the crew discovered among the passengers two Arabs they hadn't known about, informed sources reported.

The sources said the El Al flight to Istanbul had aboard two Arabs the crew knew abbut, from Jenin, in the West Bank area seized from Jordan in the 1967 war. But after the plane was in the air, two more Arabs were discovered among the passengers, and the pilots returned.

El Al pilots are on edge since three Arab commandos hijacked an El Al jetliner on July 23 and forced it to land in Algiers. Algeria is still holding the plane and 12 Israeli men who were in the crew or among the passengers.

An El Al spokesman, confirming the report, said the four Arabs were rechecked and cleared, and the airliner was permitted to take off again.

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N. C.

Temperatures through Monday will average above normal. Scattered afternoon and evening showers likely becoming more numerous Sunday and Monday.

Ask Farmville For New Board

FARMVILLE — A recommendation was made to the town board here that a housing authority and redevelopment commission be appointed by the board.

The recommendation was made to the town board by Lloyd Englehard, representing the Farmville Economic Council.

Englehard also asked the town board to consider the possibly of changing the present type of city government to a mayor, city manager and city council type of government.

The board turned both matters over to the city attorney for legal advice on procedures.

A tentative annexation of roughly 500 acres was approved last night also, pending approval of the city attorney. The annexation will include parts north, south, east, and west of Farmville. Among the more important sections coming into the city are the Formica plant, the FCX, and the section called Marlboro.

Franco Tightens Basque Curbs

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain (AP) — About 50 Basque nationalists, including priests, lawyers and professional men, have been arrested in the government drive to tighten the lid on Basque separatists here in the northern province of Giupuzcoa.

The police began a roundup following a government decree Monday that declared a state of emergency in the province and suspended such civil rights such as freedom from detention without charges and seachers without warrants.

Integration . . .

to emphasize individualized teaching. Grouping of pupils will be continued in a manner consistent with affording each pupil, white or Negro, with the best opportunity possible. We are going to do all we can to minimize weaknesses and to maximize strengths in each pupil within each grouping."

Alford, prior to discussing the 23 individual items of the court order, gave a brief resume of the action leading to the issuance of Judge Larkins' order.

On July 30, Alford and County Attorney W.W. Speight appeared in New Bern before Judge Larkins. Attorney J. LeVonne Chambers of Charlotte represented the plaintiff, Harry Teel of near Greenville and others.

Judge Larkins explained that under a recent Supreme Court ruling, all counties under his jurisdiction must cease operating under the present freedom of choice plan, and begin school operations under the new court orders being issued to the individual counties. The only deviation to be permitted would be based on valid administrative reasoning.

Alford explained that this meant a desegregation action "for one-third of all Pitt County pupils." He added, "For other counties in the area under the Eastern District Court, it means a desegregation policy which will approximate from 30 to 50 percent."

"We will also continue and accelerate our program to upgrade teacher performance and get the best teachers possible," Alford stated. "We are going to assign better teachers to more critical areas, we must do this to carry out a sound educational program for Pitt County."

Alford recognized the fact that the reassignment of teachers would create some hardships and that there would be objections from both white and Negro teachers. However, he emphasized that "our greatest concern is to get the best posible education to all the children."

He concluded the special meeting by saying, "We can go through this period, we can come out better than before, and we can make it work. I urge everyone to cooperate with us . . . the parents, the pupils, the teachers and all others concerned in this vital matter."

At a later date a list of teacher assignments and reassignments will be issued.

A series of workshop programs are being held and others will be conducted during the month to assist teachers, principals and others in preparing for the changes necessitated by the court order.

The first heart operation is credited to Guido Farina and L. Rehn in 1896.

House Damaged By Flames

BETHEL — The Bethel Fire Department extinguished a house fire near Bethel at 2:00 o'clock Tuesday, confining damage to approximately $1.000.

The six room house, located three and one - half miles north of Bethel on Rural Road 1527, in Edgecombe County, was occupied by Felic Staton. It is on the farm of the W. J. Mayo estate.

The fire, which started from a gas stove in the kitchen, had spread to an adjoining back bedroom and a back porch when the Bethel firemen arrived. About a dozen firemen, using two new one and one-half inch lines, extinguished the blaze in less than an hour. This involved removing items stored in the attic, and taking out matress which were smoldering.

Gunfire Outburst Wounded Seven Policemen

By JOSEPH R. TYBOR
Associated Press Writer

HARVEY, Ill. (AP) — Sporadic gunfire wounded seven policemen and a woman during a disturbance caused by Negro youths, and scores of law enforcement officers moved in early today to secure the troubled area.

State, county and local police officers, helmeted and heavily armed, massed at a food store parking lot waiting for action, but the area was calm hours after the initial outburst late Tuesday night.

Mayor James Haines of Harvey imposed a curfew until dawn in the south suburban Chicago community which has grown increasingly tense since a police officer shot a fleeing Negro youth June 30.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict Tuesday of justifiable homicide in the fatal shooting of the Chicago youth.

Haines, who is white, said five police officers were wounded from a single shotgun blast as they dispersed a crowd of 75 to 100 Negro youths who were throwing rocks at passing cars and shouting expletives.

He blamed the disorder, which started late Tuesday night, on the oppressive heat. "On evenings like this it's more comfortable to stand on a street corner," he said.

The disturbance centered in a four-block-square area near the borderline of Harvey and Dixmoor, suburbs 17 miles south of downtown Chicago with a population of 35,000.

The mayor said the Negro youths massed at a car wash and became abusive. Police moved in and ordered the youths to scatter. They remained in the general area for a time and several shots were fired.

Eight arrests were reported, mostly for disorderly conduct.

A spokesman for Ingalls Hospital said none of the stven policemen—three from Harvey and four from neighboring Dolton—was critically injured. Three officers were admitted for treatment. One officer was shot in the face as he patrolled the area in a squad car.

Three other persons were treated for minor injuries and released, including a Negro woman, who said she was struck by two police bullets while officers were "chasing the rioters and shooting at them." She said the bullets penetrated a wall of her home, striking her in the left arm near the elbow and in the right wrist. She received first aid at Ingalls Hospital.

Tuesday's disorders marked the second straight night of trouble in Harvey. Several hundred Negroes lit a bonfire Monday night and danced around it playing drums and throwing rocks. Police action was limited to cordoning off traffic from the area.

Harvey and Dixmoor were the scene of racial violence four years ago.

Rioting erupted the night of Aug. 16, 1964, after a white liquor store owner in a predominantly Negro Dixmoor neighborhood accused a Negro woman of stealing a bottle of gin.

Eighty persons—43 Negroes and 37 whites—were arrested before peace was restored two days later. More than 50 white persons were injured during the rioting, most of them stoned by Negroes as they drove through the area.

Missouri's Sen. Edw. Long Lost In Primary

By LARRY HALL
Associated Press Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Lt. Gov. Thomas F. Eagleton, 39, of St. Louis, defeated U.S. Sen. Edward V. Long in Missouri's hot contest for the Democratic senatorial nomination Tuesday.

True Davis, wealthy St. Joseph businessman who iu a former ambassador to Switzerland and former assistant secretary of the Treasury ran third.

With the vote in from 4,138 of the state's 4,358 precincts, the count was Eagleton 205,078, Long 186,286 and Davis 162,261.

Life magazine said in May 1967, that Long) isused his Senate subcommittee's investigations of eavesdropping and wiretapping in an effort to help James R. Hoffa, Teamsters Union president, now in prison. The magazine also said Long received $48,000 in legal fees from Morris Shenker, St. Louis lawyer who was Hoffa's attorney.

Long said the fees came from five clients he had referred to Shenker and that Shenker was not Hoffa's attorney in 1963 and 1964 when the $48,000 was paid. He called the charges a "dead issue" and a political smear.

The Senate Ethics Committee, after a four-month investigation, ruled that there was no wrong-doing on Long's part. The committee later reopened its inquiry and has issued no new report.

Long is 60, a lawyer and banker, and formerly was Missouri lieutenant governor and state senator. He has served in the Senate since 1960, when he was appointed to succeed the late Thomas C. Hennings of St. Louis.

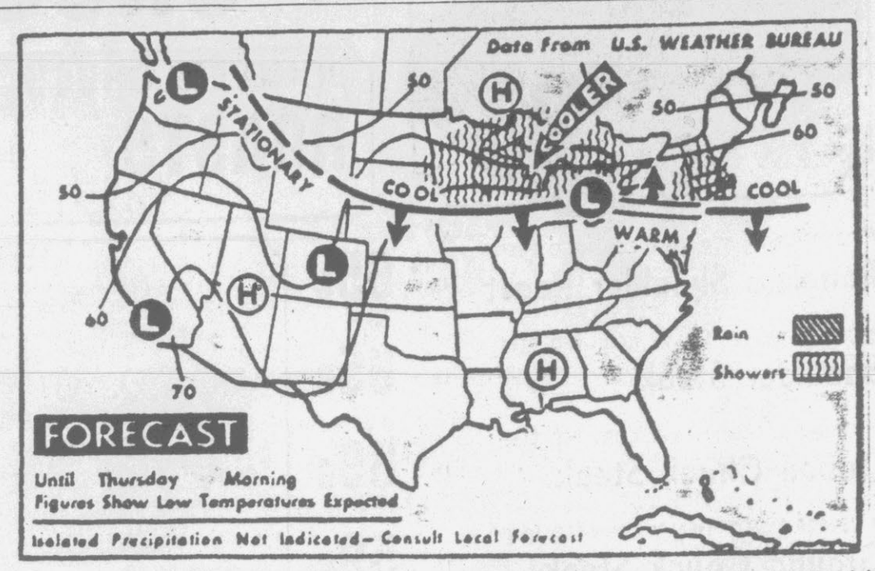

Eagleton, who is finishing his first term as lieutenant governor, formerly was Missouri attorney general and St. Louis circuit attorney.

U.S. Rep. Thomas B. Curtis of Webster Groves nad no serious competition for the Republican senatorial nomination.

There was no contest for the governorship nominations.

Another Symington from Missouri also scored a primary victory. James W. Symington, a son of Missouri's senior U.S. senator, Stuart Symington, won the Democratic nomination in the second congressional district. He will be opposed by Republican Hugh Scott.

The 40-year-old Symington resigned as U.S. chief of protocol to enter the race.

WEATHER FORECAST — Showers and thundershowers will accompany an invasion of cooler air tonight from the Northern Plains through the northern Great Lakes region into the Northeast. Clear to partly cloudy skies will continue across the remainder of the nation. (AP Wirephoto Map)

'Born Racist' Heads The American Nazi Party

WASHINGTON (AP) — One year after the assassination of its founder—George Lincoln Rockwell — The American Nazi party, its name changed, appears outwardly more prosperous, more sophisticated. But its private papers disclose deep splits with several factions competing for a control of the tiny movement.

What apparently is the principal Nazi organization — now known as the National Socialist White Peoples party, NSWPP—has bought a two-story building in a quiet middle-class neighborhood in suburban Arlington, Va.

There, in a second floor office that is carpeted wall-to-wall in deep red, Matthias Koehl Jr., 33, presides as national leader. Seated beneath a four-foot red banner bearing a black swastika—symbol of Adolph Hitler's Third Reich— Koehl rules a tiny band of armed racists and anti-Semites.

"I was born a racist," Koehl told an interviewer. 'I never could see the sense of mixing of blacks and whites. It's highly indecent. I've always believed in the establishment of an all-white America."

Koehl was second in command last Aug. 25 when Rockwell was shot by a sniper in an Arlington shopping center. The sniper, former Nazi party member John Patler, has since been convicted and sentenced to 20 years in prison.

Koehl, a native of Milwaukee, Wis., speaks glibly and without hesitation as he talks of the aims of the Nazis—and of his own predictions for the future of the United States:

"What we know is coming is race war. Race war is just around the corner in historical terms. We expect there will be a serious American defeat in Vietnam because of the administration's no-win policy."

He sees also hard economic times coming "because of dwindling reserves of gold and silver. "There's going to be chaos in America—we will hold out at that time the only alternative."

But Koehl, respected by his pistol-toting comrades in the Arlington estblishment, apparently doesn't command the respect of all Nazis. He lacks something of Rockwell, the former Navy commander and World War II fighter pilot who affected a folksy style as he smoked his corncob pipe and talked hate.

"I'm going to completely separate the black and white races and preserve white Christian domination in this country, and Im going to have the Jew Communists and any other traitors gassed for treason," Rockwell once said.

But while the basic aims of the Nazis haven't changed, their activities have. They've largely stopped their publicity seeking antics such as the demonstration in 1965 when a Rockwell trooper put on black-face minstrel garb, slipped past guards and made a dramatic entrance in the well of the House of Representatives to protest civil rights legislation.

And they've turned to use of the telephone for what Koehl calls the "white power message." One such message, opposing the elevation of Associate Justice Abe Fortas to chief justice called him 'a Red Jew —an utterly despicable one."

And more recently Koehl's recorded voice urged District of Columbia residents to disobey the new district gun registration law, and instead obtain a minimum of 100 rounds of ammunition for each weapon they own. It urged they find secure hiding places for their weapons.

"Everyone who registers his gun with the black government in the district will sooner or later be ordered to give up that gun," Koehl's recorded voice said. "the white minority in Washington will be defenseless and completely at the mercy of the rampaging blacks."

Although Koehl will not disclose the size of his organization or its budget, he said "our income is rising steadily. We have developed new sources of income."

And if the party doesn't seem as prominent it's because it has entered Phase II of its development, as Koehl explains it. Koehl said Rockwell's plan called for three phases in development of the party.

The first, begun with the 1956 founding, was "to make the party known at all costs—to project an image of the party as an all-out enemy of communism, of race mixing, or Jewish treason." This called for picketing and stunts to obtain any publicity possible.

The second phase — which Koehl estimates will take two to five years — calls for building the party internally, forming the mechanism of what Koehl calls the "revolutionary cadre."

The final phase, he said, will be to 'build a grass roots movement in American politics."

Use Large-Size 'Pinch' Of Salt

BUENA PARK, Calif. (AP)—A 1.3-million-pound "pinch" of salt might seem to be a contradiction in terms, but that's how much salt is used each year to season the wide variety of cookies and crackers produced at National Biscuit Co.'s big new bakery here.

The huge bakery, which has three 300-foot-long ovens, produces some 65 million pounds of cookies and crackers annually. In addition to that huge pinch of salt, it uses 47 million pounds of flour and 8 million pounds of sugar a year.

Somebody Forgot To Tell Him

VERSAILLES, Ky. (AP) — Confused by daylight time, Tammy Gormley, 5, objected to going to bed at 8 p.m. when it was still light.

Her mother explained about fast time but, said Tammy, "They didn't tell God about it."

Approve Mental Health Board

WILLIAMSTON— The Martin County Commisioners met Monday in a short session in which they approved the creation of the Martin County Mental Health Board.

The chairman of the commissioners was given the authority to select the members of the board at his discretion.

A request was made to the N.C. Highway Commission to pave the section of rural road No. 1500 to Highway 64.

The final item was the approval of the installation of fire hydrants of N.C. 125.

British Inspired Bill Of Rights

CHICAGO (AP) — The Bill of Rights, especially the much used Fifth Amendment which protects a citizen against self incrimination, had its beginnings in English law.

The 23 basic rights in the first 10 amendments to the Constitution may be found in the ancient phrase, "No man is bound to accuse himself," which developed as a rule of law in England in the 1600s.

The Illinois State Bar Association has summarized the meaning in a special booklet being distributed to the public.

It says the rule appears to have grown up as a reaction to the practices of the ecclesiastical courts and the Court of the Star Chamber, whereby an accused might be put on oath, and then questioned generally about any subject.

Thus the accused might be faced with the choice of perjuring himself or becoming the tool of his own indictment or conviction.

DO-IT-YOURSELF PLAN

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The state finance department is making all 120 agencies buy their own automobiles instead of leasing them yearly from a highway department motor pool. Commissioner Albert Christen says the move will save a considerable amount of money.

That tiny box hanging on the wall is an electric hot water furnace. Think what you could do with the space it saves.

It's hard to believe, but this 99 pound unit will do everything an ordinary boiler will do. Except go out of date. It'll send heat to baseboard units, to standing radiators. To unit heaters. To radiant ceiling or floor tubing, or wall convectors.

And—unlike ordinary boilers—an electric hot water furnace even looks good.

So if your old boiler was giving you trouble last winter, why not save yourself more trouble this year. Call your nearest VEPCO Authorized Comfort Conditioning contractor now.

And try not to be surprised when he arrives with your new furnace under his arm.

Tobacco Tips

By S. J. WEEKS
Pitt County Tobacco Agent

Nematodes have cost tobacco grower more money than any other tobacco disease. However, much progress has been made in reducing losses caused by nematodes.

The results of experiments and farm demonstrations indicate that certain management practices such as plowing out tobacco stubbles immediately following harvest and the rotation to tobacco with nematode resitant crops will give good nematode control. Immediate control can be ovtained with soil fumigant. It must be remembered that soil fumigation pays only in fields where nematodes are a problem. In fields where the population of nematodes is low and a suitable rotation and cultural practices are being used, the use of soil fumigants might not be profitable. Therefore, it is very important for you to know the level of the nematode population for each field on your farm in which tobacco is grown. Once this information is obtained you can plan the best nematode control program for your farm. If an accurate nematode population is not determined, it is not determined, it is not advisable to take the risk of not fumigating.

The only way to determine the severity of nematode disease is by checking the roots immediately following tobacco harvest. This system has been used for many years in connection with crop rotation, soil fumigation, and fall cultural practices, experiments, and demonstrations. It has been found to be fairly accurate in predicting what will happen the next time the fieldd is planted with tobacco. Once the severity of nematode damage is determined, a control program is planned for the next crop of tobacco, which may be two or three years in the future.

Any farmer making a request will be shown how to make readings of root knot damage in his field. After conpleting the survey for your farm, I will be glad to assist you in preparing a suitable nematode control rotation and will make other control suggestions that will help reduce the nematode population.

It is very important that this task be performed immediately in order to plan a control progam for your farm.

Device Monitors One's Breathing

BALTIMORE (AP) — A small extremely sensitive electrode-operated device which measures the breathing of patients afflicted by a respiratory ailment has been developed by medical researchers working at Johns Hopkins University.

The new instrument, devised after three years of research and experiments by a five-man team at the university's School of Medicine, is expected to be useful in the treatment of emphysema and other lung ailments; hyaline-membrane disease, a respiratory ailment which kills some 20,000 newborn infants annually; heart failures and several injuries to the nervous system which affect a person's breathing.

The monitoring device will spare respiratory patients the pain of frequent blood sampling. The newly developed instrument which measures the small amounts of carbon dioxide which pass through the skin requires no puncturing of the skin or blood vessels.

Students Digging In Indian Ruins

PHOENIX (AP) — Some 60-odd high school students from California are spending the summer excavating ruins of Pueblo Indian farm villages, part of the Bloody Basin Archeological project.

Dr. Charles H. Stephens, project director and archeology teacher in a La Vuente, Calif. high school, said the students raised the $30 per person cost for room and board near the excavation site by such endeavors as pony rides and car washes. The sites were chosen, he said, 'because of their archeological potential and because no real excavation has been done before, although there have been many pot-hunters in the vicinity.'

THERE OUGHT TO BE A LAW!

The Worry Clinic

Our Society Raised All Sorts Of Taboos

Nedra says her professor calls me the "American Dr. Freud." He says both Dr. Freud and I claim that sex is the Number One instinct! That is not true, as you will read below. But sex has more taboos surrounding it so in well fed America, it causes more "complexes," divorces and delinquency!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE G-545: Nedra T. aged 20, is a college senior.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "my mother clips your daily columns and sends them to me, especially when they deal with problems of young people.

"But I notice that you often discuss sex cases and say that divorce usually starts in the bedroom.

"Aren't you stressing sex too much?

"My psychology professor sees 'red' everytime your name is mentioned, for he claims you are just the American Dr. Freud and that both of you say sex is the major motivating force in life.

"Do you agree with his criticism of you and Dr. Freud?"

Jealous critics resented Dr. Freud's tremendous success in launching psychoanalysis.

But they often attack him unfairly (as they do me, too), for neither of us says that sex is the strongest of all human motives.

Self-preservation, including gastric hunger, is the most potent drive in human and infra-human creatures.

For starving animals and hungry men are more concerned with hay or meat than with feminine "cheesecake."

But in bountiful America, few people are starving for dinner table viands.

Moreover, you don't need a chaperone to enter a hamburger joint for coffee and a doughnut.

Nor are there curfew hours that prescribe when and where you may consume your ice cream soda or sandwich and coffee!

But in the erotic realm, all sorts of Emily Post taboos have arisen.

And euphemisms have been added to our vocabulary so that raw sexual terms are taboo in polite society.

As a result, many sexual "complexes" arise and even the word sex has itself been deleted till recent years.

In 1942, for example, the Chicago TRIBUNE, which had earbringing the words "syphilis" lier prided itself on finally bringing the words "syphilis" and "gonorrhea" out into the public view to help us medics check the terrific ravages of venereal disease, suddenly reverted to its previous prudish outlook.

For I had prepared a book of "Horse Sense" questions for the TRIBUNE to use as games during the "blackout" periods during World War II.

And in one of my 4-answer or "multiple choice" games, I had asked which one of the following ailments is positevely not hereditary —Diabetes - Epilepsy - Syphilis - Deafness.

But the TRIBUNE insisted that I change "syphilis" to "veneral."

Remember, this was in 1942, after the TRIBUNE had long boasted about being the pioneer newspaper in dispelling the false sex prudery of the past!

And there are still many older publishers who veto this column because they say "Dr. Crane is too frank for a family newspaper."

So be grateful that you have a progressive editor who realizes that Christ's admonition is true, namely, "The truth shall make you free."

Newspapers are thus PREVENTING divorce, delinquency and school dropouts by their daily "print clinics" on family and sexual dilemmas.

For the newspaper is actually the greatest single educational force in American, even exceeding the entire public school system!

RaleighHearing Testimony On Schools Ended

WASHINGTON (AP) — Testimony has been completed in the government's case to force total integration of the Raleigh, N.C., school system, with school officials insisting their present plan is adequate.

The two-day hearing before Robert C. Boyce Jr., an examiner for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, ended Tuesday. A decision that could determine whether Raleigh will lose about $1 million in federal school aid isn't expected before mid-October.

By that time, however, the new school session will be underway and it likely would be sometime in December before any federal move could be made to withdraw government support.

Attorneys for HEW insisted at the two-day hearing that Raleigh operates a dual school system for its 22,000 pupils in violation of the 1964 Civil Rights Act. They said the city still has eight all-Negro of predominantly Negro schools.

Raleigh school board members and attorneys insisted, in turn, that the city has gone as far as it can in devising a desegregation plan that would not jeopardize the safety of children traveling to and from school via heavily traveled streets.

The case represents the first time the government has brought financial cut-off action against a school district as large as Raleigh's, and through it HEW hopes to show it can force integration in other southern cities.

In final testimony Tuesday, Raleigh School Superintendent Conrad Hooper said the school board has not been able to devise a "reasonable and feasible" plan to remove the racial identity of the eight schools in question.

Hooper said he could not conscientiously recommend that the board adopt a school pairing proposal submitted by HEW, nor could the board come up with a plan that would be better than its present geographic zoning for the assignment of pupils.

He and other Raleigh officials testified that race was not taken into consideration in the drawing up of boundary zones.

Dr. Stuart Thompson, director of pupil personnel services, said at the final hearing that safety, school capacities and natural barriers have to be considered. There are no provisions for busing children to schools outside their areas, he added, and their lives might be in danger if they had to walk long distances.

Dr. Gregory Anrig, director of equal educational opportunities of the Office of Education, testified that "pairing" of schools (one school provides grades one through three and the other four through six) would not present "insurmountable" obstacles, although it would require some administrative or organizational changes.

Raleigh officials had said such "pairing" would increase traffic hazards for children en route to school and would throw the system's ungraded program for elementary students out of balance.

Bruton To Enter Law Practice

RALEIGH (AP) — Atty. Gen. Wade Bruton, unsuccessful in his bid to win renomination in North Carolina's Democratic primary in May, plans to enter private law practice in Raleigh when his term ends next January.

"I've been in politics since the fall of '28, when I ran for the State House of Representatives —so it won't be easy leaving it," Bruton said in an interview Tuesday.

Bruton became a member of the attorey general's staff in 1933 and has remained with the department ever since, rising to his present post in 1960. He was defeated by State Sen. Robert Morgan of Lillington in the May primary.

"Oh, sure, I'll miss it — I've been at it a long time," Bruton said in looking ahead to the end of his term. "My present plans are to remain in Raleigh and enter a private practice of law. I'm well established here."

Bruton is considered to be comfortably fixed, financially, for the future. Among other resources, he has his National Guard retirement and state retirement. He has been a contributing member of the State Retirement System since it was established and could draw up to $8,225 a year in state benefits.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1 ♣	4 ♡
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Four of ♣

A deft bit of card handling by South, the declarer at four hearts, enabled him to make three plays from dummy which apparently had only two entries.

West opened the four of clubs, North played the deuce, and East put in the jack to win the trick. He continued with the king which South ruffed. The latter paused to survey the rather barren landscape presented by the dummy. South was confronted with several potential losers in spades and diamonds, and the only hope for restricting the opposition to their book was to make repeated leads from dummy toward the high cards in his hand.

Inasmuch as the North hand was short of entry cards, it was essential that declarer make the most of his limited resources. A heart was led to the ten and the five of diamonds was returned. South put in the nine from his hand and West won the trick with the king.

A club was returned and South ruffed away East's ace. The king of hearts put North in to lead the jack of diamonds thru. Since East could not gain by covering, he followed with a small diamond and South played the deuce from his hand. When the jack held the trick, dummy switched to a spade. East ducked again and declarer put up the king to score his 10th trick.

In all, South lost one spade, one diamond, and one club. The key play on the deal was dummy's lead of the five of diamonds on the first round of that suit. By getting the nine of diamonds out of his hand, South is able to underplay North's jack of diamonds on the next round of diamonds, and thus retain the lead in dummy for the spade play.

Death Strikes A Second Time

NORTH KINGSTON, R.I. (AP) — After Raymond Dumas lost his first wife, Eileen, in an automoile accident at Clinton, Mass., in 1964, he married her older sister, Josephine. Tuesday, Josephine was killed when her car hit a tree off Route 1 in North Kingston.

Dumas, an aviation storekeeper first class assigned to the aircraft carrier Essex, has nine children aged 4 to 18.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)— North Carolina egg markets steady. Supplies adequate, demand fair. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Calmly Captures A Wheel Thief

BOSTON (AP) — Charles Wong looked out his apartment window and saw a thief taking the wheels off his car.

Wong sent his two sons to block the end of the street, then went to the car, and without saying anything about his ownership, invited the man to wash up in the Wong apartment.

When the man went into the apartment, Wong locked him in a closet and called police.

Sue City Over Aircraft Noise

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Attorneys for some 94.000 residents of suburban Inglewood have filed a $1.4-billion suit against the city of Los Angeles over jet aircraft noise.

The residents, who live near Los Angeles International Airport, said in their suit Tuesday that the noise resulted in "nerve and emotional disturbances of a permanent nature."

The Superior Court suit was filed just two weeks after the Airport Commission won approval to issue $410 million in revenue bonds to finance airport expansion.

ty of a new lunch room for Stokes-Pactolus, which has the most critical lunch room situation at the time. Also considered was the possibility of a lunch room for the Bethel High School. This school does not have a lunch room. It was pointed out that a similar situation exists at the Bruce-Falkland School, where students go through line and return to eat in the class rooms.

Again referring to utility bills, it was noted that if the cost of utilities for lunchrooms, now paid for by the schools, were thrown back to the lunchrooms, this would probably result in an increase in the cost of lunches.

A motion to change the names of several schools was tabled until the next meeting.

New Price Hikes Set By U.S. Steel Corp.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — U.S. Steel Corp., which usually sets the pace for steel prices across the nation, announced more price hikes today on certain products.

The nation's biggest steel producer, which had announced hikes in tin mill products and structural steel items several days ago, posted new prices on four new items.

The announcement came in the face of opposition by President Johnson, who had asked the steel industry to hold the line on price increases. The White House aides has said during the weekend that a standpat position on prices by U.S. Steel was one of the President's big hopes.

In announcing price hikes ranging from $4.50 to $8.00 a ton on carbon and high-strength. low-alloy steels and constructional full alloy steels today, U.S. Steel said:

"To repeat, steel prices are not the cause of inflation. This is now almost, but not quite, universally recognized."

U.S. Steel said the price changes, "if applied industry-wide and taking into account price changes by U.S. Steel since the labor settlement July 30, would mean an aggregate change of about 2½ per cent or $4.30 per ton on all steel sales."

At the same time, the company said it does not intend changing prices on a long list of other products, including such items as semi-finished steel, steel for shells, sheet piling, rails, tubular products including bomb pipe, galvanized and other coated sheets, wires, or stainless steel.

Other big producers followed suit, but some announced only selective increases.

President Johnson sharply attacked the general increases and gradually stepped up government pressure to roll them back. The selective increases, however, have drawn little criticism.

One of the keys the government is watching is the price of hot and cold rolled sheet and strip steel, a big tonnage item which eventually becomes toasters, refrigerators and automobile parts.

Bethlehem raised prices on the items. No. 1-ranked U.S. Steel Corp. didn't.

Government officials concede the Johnson Administration's efforts to trim the broad increase on mill products by Bethlehem and others could be a long battle.

There's little buying going on anyway, since inventories are extremely high due to strike-hedge buying. And steel prices are pegged to the price when delivery is made, not when it's ordered.

"You could say that if they don't move they don't lose anything," said one official. "But on the other hand they're trapped in a pricing box, struggling with a multitier pricing structure. They don't like that game."

The Pentagon and the Department of Housing and Urban Development have directed steel orders be placed where possible with firms which have made the narrowest range of increases. The Pentagon passed the word Tuesday to an artillery-shell maker, Chamberlain Corp. of Scranton, Pa., to "obtain the widest possible competition" when it purchases steel to be used in 1969.

The Federal Trade Commission plans a hearing on steel-pricing practices. The staff of the House Small Business Committee has launched an investigation.

Most headhunters believed that the head was the seat of the soul. Therefore they felt that each head captured served to enlarge their own soul.
