N.C. Economy Continues Its Upward Trend In June

By NOEL YANCEY
RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina's economy continued to move upward during June for the sixth straight month. Business indicators which reflect business activity showing gains, included bank deposits, sales tax collections, new auto registrations and employment. Building permits were down slightly from June of last year but showed a small increase over May. Mortgage lending activity was off slightly as compared with June of last year. Wachovia's North Carolina business index advanced .4 per cent to an all time high of 180.7.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond reported that bank deposits, representing checks drawn on demand deposits, increased in all but two of North Carolina's 10 major reporting centers as compared with June of last year. Gains totaled 6 per cent. New car registrations showed a large gain, reaching a record high of 21,969 in June. This compares with 15,253 in May and 15,505 in June of last year. New car registrations for the first half of 1968 are up substantially from the same period of last year. The state's non-farm employment gained eight-tenths of 1 per cent during June and was 2.5 per cent higher than a year ago. Manufacturing employment was up five-tenths of 1 per cent from May and was up 2.7 per cent from June of last year to a total of 670,400. Textile employment was up strongly while jobs in furniture manufacturing showed only modest gains. Unemployment among insured workers stood at 1.6 per cent in June, the lowest rate for the month since World War II. July sales tax collections which represent June business totaled $19.8 million, an increase of $1.8 million over July of last year. The Federal Home Loan Bank of Greensboro reported that mortgage loans made during June by North Carolina savings and loan associations totaled $37.6 million as compared with $41.4 million in the same month last year. Building permits issued in 18 principal North Carolina cities totaled $34.2 million during June. This was down 1.4 per cent from June of last year but up slightly from May. Building permits issued during the first half of 1968 totaled $200.8 million, up 10.3 per cent from the same period last year.

North Vietnamese Raps Both U.S. Parties, But Has Special Nixon Blast

By HARVEY HUDSON
Associated Press Writer
PARIS (AP) — A North Vietnamese spokesman today blasted both the Republican and Democratic parties of the United States, but saved a special attack for the Republican presidential candidate, Richard M. Nixon.

The way was left open for more specific criticism of the Democratic candidate after that party's convention later this month. Nguyen Thanh Le, spokesman for the North Vietnamese delegation at the Paris peace talks with the United States, went into American politics at a news conference. He said that the Republican platform and Nixon's personal stand could not possibly lead to an end to the Vietnamese war. Le asserted he did not want to interfere with the internal affairs of the United States, but though it was pertinent to give his views on Republican statements concerning Vietnam. He added that he was not referring to any policies of Nixon other than those concerning Vietnam. Le referred to the platform plan on Vietnam adopted by the Republicans at Miami Beach and said "this program does not propose the unconditional halt of bombing and other acts of war against the Peoples Democratic Republic of (North) Vietnam, and does not speak of withdrawing American troops from Vietnam."

These have been two of the principal demands of the North Vietnamese at Paris. Furthermore, Le argued that before the Paris talks opened Nixon had recommended an intensification and extension of the war in Vietnam. He quoted Nixon as saying that he refused to "sell out" South Vietnam. "Nixon has pushed impudence to the limit in considering the southern part of our country as his property," Le said.

Le also said that such an attitude shows that Nixon recommends a perpetuation of the division of the country and a continued policy of neocolonialism in South Vietnam. Le volunteered his comments on the Republican party and Nixon at the news conference. When a reporter asked if he had anything to say about the Democratic party or perhaps Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Le said his government has often condemned the policies of the Democratic administration.

As for the candidates for the Democratic nomination he said "up to now we do not have enough information" to comment. He said the Paris talks "have made no progress and the United States government must bear full responsibility."

When asked about a statement attributed to Humphrey that peace was nearer than at any time, Le said "this declaration is inexact."

Mapping Challenge Of Mississippi Delegates

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A "loyalist" delegation of 22 Negroes and 22 whites has been formed to challenge the seating of Mississippi's regular party delegation to the Democratic National Convention.

The loyalists are certain of the support of the party's three presidential hopefuls, two of whom sent representatives to the convention.

The issue of racial balance was vital in the selection of the members of the delegation, chosen Sunday at a state convention.

The challengers, calling themselves the Loyal Democrats of Mississippi, claim that the regular Democratic delegation denied the state's Negro population a fair representation, and that the regulars plan to reject the Democratic nominee in favor of Alabama's George C. Wallace, running as a third party candidate.

The regular Democrats named three Negroes among its 46 delegates. Two resigned to join the loyalists. Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., representing Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, told 500 convention delegates and 1,000 visitors, "the vice president of the United States has authorized me to tell you this—he supports your challenge."

Mondale said he will convey Humphrey's support of the challenge to the national convention's credential committee. He said the committee will meet next week in Chicago.

Speaking for Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., Percy Sutton, president of New York City's borough of Manhattan, said if the challenge is approved it would inspire the nation.

Depression Intensifies Off Hatteras

CAPE HATTERAS, N. C. (AP) — The weather bureau said Dolly, a weather depression in the Atlantic off Cape Hatteras, intensified this morning into tropical storm status.

It added the storm could become a hurricane later today or tonight should it remain south of a cold front just to its north.

Winds were estimated at 55 miles per hour near the center and gale force winds extended 175 miles in all directions, the weather bureau said. Hurricane force is 74 m.p.h.

At noon Dolly was 360 miles northwest of Bermuda at latitude 35.3 north, longitude 70.0 west. The storm was moving east-northeastward at 20 m.p.h.

East Says Only California Topped N.C. Support

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

"North Carolina gave Governor Reagan a majority of its delegation and more absolute votes than any state outside California," states Dr. John East, Associate Professor of Political Science at East Carolina University and one of the 26 N. C. Republican delegates to the Republican convention in Miami.

East said the North Carolina leaning to Reagan did not reflect any anti-Nixon sentiment. "Our feeling is that Reagan was a stronger candidate, a stronger campaigner than Nixon and would have a better chance. After all, he won the governorship of California against Pat Brown by a majority of a million votes. Nixon, in his unsuccessful campaign for the governorship of California against the same incumbent, Brown, lost by 300,000 votes."

"We felt that Reagan would have given zest and vigor to the Republican Party that is vitally needed to win against the Democratic Party in a presidential campaign," added East.

In referring to the southern delegates, which East states were crucial to the outcome of the convention, he remarked: "I believe Reagan would have gotten the nomination if once a few of the southern states had broken ranks and gone over to Reagan. As it was, the southern bloc was held in line by two southern Republican senators, Strom Thurmond of South Carolina and John Tower of Texas. These two senators had worked hard for Nixon and were heavily committed to him. They managed to keep the delegates in line for Nixon. Goldwater also was firmly committed to Nixon which helped him."

Dr. East noted that the newer Republican strength in the eastern part of North Carolina was more heavily committed to Reagan than the western part of the state. Commenting on this, Dr. East stated "This difference does not reflect any division of the Republican Party within the

Estimated 1,000 Shots Fired At Police Station

Series Of Watts Gun Fights Leaves 3 Dead, 34 Wounded

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A series of heavy gun battles between police and Negroes swept the riot-stricken Watts district Sunday night and early today, leaving 3 dead and 34 wounded or injured on the anniversary of the 1965 riots.

The predominantly Negro area appeared relatively calm as dawn ended a night in which police said they were once almost over-run in an exchange of fire in a park. Later, in a brief siege, police estimated 1,000 shots were fired at a police substation.

The three dead were listed as Negroes.

Six policemen were hurt, including five by gunshot.

The disturbance broke out as a festival commemorating the third anniversary of the 1965 Watts riot in which 34 died—came to a close. Festival sponsors have held the celebration annually since 1966, saying it is proof that something constructive could come from the devastation of 1965. The closing-day of this year's festival featured a three-mile-long daytime parade witnessed by perhaps 25,000.

Police called a tactical alert shortly after midnight Sunday placing 2,000 officers on duty throughout the nation's third largest city.

Some 200 officers were rushed into an area around Will Rogers Park, a few blocks from the area that was scorched by the 1965 rioting that caused $40 million in property damage.

Police Lt. Lew Ritter said the trouble started about 10:30 p.m. when two officers, directing traffic at the Watts Summer Festival, arrested a woman on suspicion of drunkenness.

Bystanders hurled rocks and bottles at the officers, who called for reinforcements. Sixty policemen were sent to the scene and an exchange of gunfire began.

Police Chief Thomas Reddin said the firing at police was heavier than in the early stages of the 1965 rioting.

"Then we had scattered reports of snipers," he said. "This time there was concentrated firing."

Sgt. David McGill, one of the officers who moved in after the first shooting, said, "We saw a lot of people being hit. They shot into their own crowd."

A police substation in the area was fired at.

Ritter said "the attack on the police station was apparently planned, and the firing in the park was definitely planned. It all began as if there had been a signal sounded."

About 20 blocks of the 98 per cent Negro area were touched by some part of the disturbance during the night. Police cordoned off several blocks.

Several officers reported seeing shops in the area looted. A number of firebombs were hurled from cars but firemen kept the flames under control.

Police Lt. Al Proudfoot said the incident that touched off the violence was the arrest of an unidentified drunken woman at 103rd Street and Central Avenue, in the heart of Watts.

He said the officers "had to wrestle the fighting, screaming woman into the squad car."

A small crowd gathered and started throwing rocks and bottles, he said, and the arresting officers drove away with the woman.

Gunfire broke out when reinforcements arrived at the scene, on the edge of Will Rogers Park, and violence spread through the district.

Low City Hall Bids: $1,148,159

Low bids for a proposed new city hall building received by the city July 25, totaled $1,148,159, according to figures released after noon today.

King-Hunter, Inc. of Greensboro was low bidder for the general construction contract with a bid of $927,512. Other low bidders on the project included: plumbing, Kinston Plumbing and Heating, $35,183; heating and air conditioning, Electricon, Inc. of Kinston, $80,664; electric, Electricon, Inc., $89,200, and elevator, Southern Elevator Co. of Greensboro, $15,600.

Architects for the building project, Smart, Woodall and Associates estimated the cost of the facility, planned for an area at the north end of Evans Street, between First and the Tar River, at $978,800.

Mayor S. Eugene West authorized release of the information on the bids early this afternoon after he learned the information already had been published in the bulletin of the Association of General Contractors.

"We had no intention of trying to keep anyone from finding out . . . what the bids were, Mayor West explained. "We were just trying to handle the city's business to best advantage."

"The council felt it better not to expose these bids until the negotiating was done because that would give the man we are negotiating with the advantage."

The mayor added, "I and the other members of the council are trying to handle the business of the city to the best of our ability. In this case we felt it better not to disclose the bids until negotiations are worked out between the architect and contractors."

"We were gambling," he added, "that it would help the city save some money."

Eight firms entered bids for the general construction contract. The bids ranged from the $927,512 low to a high of $1,060,878.

Three More Die Of Piedmont Airliner Crash

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Three more persons died Sunday, raising to 35 the number killed by the crash of a Piedmont Airlines plane.

Two survivors, Barbara Schiller, 19, and Thomas Voignier, 27, both of Cincinnati, remained in satisfactory condition at Charleston Memorial Hospital.

"I thought it was all a bad dream, just a bad dream," Miss Schiller said. "I wasn't even looking out the window when it happened. I blacked out and when I woke up they were throwing foam all over us."

The twin-engine Fairchild FH227, flight 230 from Louisville, Ky., to Norfolk, Va., was making an instrument landing in fog and smoke when it crashed short of the main runway at Charleston's Kanawha Airport Saturday.

The plane skipped over the top of a 300-foot ravine before the runway and skidded 75 yards down the airstrip as it caught fire.

Security Shapes Up For Demo Convention Site

CHICAGO (AP) — The International Amphitheatre looked increasingly like a fortified compound today as preparations continued for the Democratic National Convention.

Work has been completed on a half-mile fence topped with barbed wire to screen the convention site.

John B. Criswell, convention executive director, said "plans are going along on schedule."

Robert R. Burke, 34, a Secret Service agent, is coordinating all security measures for the convention, which opens Aug. 26.

Convention officials, delegates and others will have to show their credentials at a half-dozen checkpoints before entering the amphitheatre on Chicago's South Side.

About 5,500 Illinois National Guard troops will be stationed in Chicago during the convention.

Brig. Gen. Richard T. Dunn, commander of emergency operations for the Illinois guard, said, "one battalion—about 800 men, including three rifle companies—will be on regular training assembly duties each convention night at a Chicago armory."

Communications for the convention remained a problem. Striking electrical workers have agreed only to install communications equipment in the amphitheatre. Chicago hotels used by convention delegates will have to use their normal telephone systems.

Two threatened strikes also hang over convention planning.

Cab drivers have threatened to strike Aug. 16 against the city's two largest cab companies, Yellow Cab and Checker Cab, unless the companies agree to install bulletproof partitions between the driver and passenger sections. They also want higher commissions.

Drivers of buses, subway and elevated trains have threatened to strike the Chicago Transit Authority the day before the convention opens in a dispute with their parent union.

U. S. Troops Battle Viet Cong At 2 Points

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. troops guarding the southern approaches to Saigon battled the Viet Cong today at two points nine miles apart.

Helicopters landed more than 1,000 men from the 9th Division in rice fields 24 miles south of Saigon in an attempt to encircle an enemy force estimated at more than 100 troops.

Details were sketchy, and no casualty figures were reported as yet. But the fighting was said to be heavy at times.

That fight was just south of Rach Kien, a key district capital. The Americans were sent in after intelligence reports told of the enemy unit, and the GIs landed.

Nine miles farther north and only 15 miles below Saigon, another 300 men from the 9th Division virtually wiped out an enemy platoon of 40 or so men, according to initial field reports. Only three Americans were reported wounded.

In a delayed report, U.S. headquarters said that a Viet Cong force fired with bazooka-type rockets Saturday at the U.S. freighter Southport II as it approached Saigon.

U.S. Navy gunboats, helicopter gunships and Air Force fighter-bombers attacked the enemy positions along the bank and then strafed fleeing groups of Viet Cong. A U.S. spokesman said 20 Viet Cong were killed, there were no U.S. casualties and the ship was not damaged.

In the air war, U.S. Air Force B52s bombed North Vietnam for the first time in nearly a month, while U.S. tactical fighter-bombers flew 110 missions Sunday against enemy supply lines in North Vietnam's southern panhandle. The latter pilots reported destroying or damaging 42 trucks and 17 supply boats.

The B52 strikes along the frontier ranged from inside the northern half of the demilitarized zone about eight miles west-northwest of the Marine base at Con Thien to five miles inside North Vietnam.

Military spokesmen said the bombers attacked North Vietnamese troops believed preparing to infiltrate into South Vietnam's northernmost provinces. They also rained explosives on truck parks and on anti-aircraft and artillery emplacements posing a threat to American fighter-bombers and combat bases just below the demilitarized zone.

One mission struck at suspected enemy troop positions 12 miles west of Da Nang, near the spot where U.S. Marines fought a fierce close-range battle with about 100 North Vietnamese soldiers from dusk Saturday to Sunday morning.

The North Vietnamese broke off contact and withdrew after American artillery and dive bombers pounded their fortified positions. Twenty-two North Vietnamese and eight Americans were killed and 42 Americans were wounded, U.S. headquarters said. Reported killing 22 North Vietnamese, capturing 11 and seizing 11 weapons in a two-day sweep that ended Sunday four miles east of Quang Tri city, below the eastern end of the DMZ.

Brief Visit To Neighbors Is Cure For Missing Shorts

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Today while doing my dishes I just happened to glance out of my kitchen window in time to see my next door neighbor take two pairs of my husband's brand new shorts off my clothesline. Now Abby, I know she couldn't have mistaken them for her own laundry as she had absolutely nothing on her clothesline at the time.

Should I talk to her about this? Or should I ask my husband to speak to her husband about it?

EYE WITNESS

DEAR EYE: Leave her husband (and yours) out of it. Just pay her a visit, tell her you came to collect the two pairs of shorts she lifted off your clothesline, and don't be bashful. If you really want to teach her a lesson, wait a few weeks, and then tell her that you were very much surprised to discover that HER husband was wearing YOUR husband's shorts. (She'll go crazy wondering how you found out.)

DEAR ABBY: My only son is stationed in Viet Nam. He has been there for 3 months. Shortly before he left, he became engaged to a girl he had been going with for 2 years.

Last night he TELEPHONED her, and I am very hurt and upset because he has never telephoned me. He just told her to call his Mom and give her his love. Am I foolish for feeling as I do?

NO NAME PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: Yes. You are to be congratulated for having raised a healthy, normal young man who is able to separate romantic love from mother love. The world is full of unhappy wives who would give anything to be married to a man like that. Cheer up, Mom.

DEAR ABBY: I plan to go to Paris to meet my fiancé who is also an American citizen. There is a good chance that we will get married over there, but I would like to know a couple of things first.

Do I have to get a marriage license and blood test here first, or can I do it over there? If I do get married in France, will my marriage be recognized here? We are both over 21, if that makes any difference.

MAKING PLANS

DEAR MAKING: You must live in France for 30 days before you can be married there. You'll need a blood test, but you WILL need a French marriage application, which you should get in France. And yes, your marriage will be recognized here.

DEAR ABBY: This is for the woman who didn't mind that her second husband named three pigs after her three daughters by a former marriage:

After all, she should be most qualified to determine what namesakes are most appropriate for her three daughters.

However, when her husband called, "Rose, Joyce, and Marie," and the daughters AND the pigs came running, could he tell which was which?

Real Service Performed By Scott

Lt. Gov. Robert Scott has performed a distinct service to the people of North Carolina by bringing to light what he termed "verified reports" of gross irregularities in the operation of antipoverty programs in Wake County.

Gov. Moore has taken the positive step called for by ordering an immediate investigation of the antipoverty programs by both federal and state officials.

If antipoverty programs are being improperly operated in any locality of North Carolina, every effort must be made to bring these irregularities to light and to correct them as quickly as possible. In the case of the program of Wake Opportunities, Inc., Lt. Gov. Scott said youngsters in the antipoverty program are "being asked to kick back some of their salary for purchasing weapons." He also asserted that in black culture classes of the antipoverty program children were taught to practice violence.

Such activities would be bad enough in themselves if fostered by some private group or individuals, but for them to have moved in under the auspices of an antipoverty program is intolerable.

Throughout the nation people are taking a careful second look at a number of things going on under the antipoverty programs. Unfortunately there are being uncovered a number of activities which have been deeply disturbing to citizens of both races. Gross misuse of the programs and their funds in instances which come to light have tended to cast an increasingly heavy shadow over all antipoverty programs.

Properly conceived and administered, antipoverty programs could enable the nation to take major strides toward eliminating some of the basic causes of poverty among many of its people. Misuse of the programs, however, even in a relatively few cases, could bring the kind of public reaction which would cause antipoverty efforts to be abandoned altogether. Uncorrected irregularities in the programs in one locality may tend to encourage similar misuses in others.

The sooner corruption can be detected and rooted out of antipoverty programs, the greater possibility there is that the programs will be able to achieve their worthwhile goals in the various communities.

Scott Findings Raise Concern

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau
RALEIGH — Lt. Gov. Bob Scott's investigation of complaints about certain local anti-poverty program activities and his findings give cause for concern far beyond just one county.

Certainly, Scott says, what he learned in a cursory investigation of a Wake County, N. C., program "raises an element of concern" about what is going on in other federally-financed antipoverty programs "elsewhere in North Carolina and indeed the nation."

For example, Scott's investigation turned up the fact that demands for kickbacks each for the Walkers, has been estimated at nearly $700.

Scott questioned whether either the trip or the materials purchased were necessary.

African Items
The items included black racist scrolls, African earrings, bracelets, combs and other ornaments, incense and incense holders and posters.

These items, Scott said, "really, in my opinion, do nothing to relieve poverty or provide better opportunities for youth." Even if they did, he said, they could have been ordered by mail.

The Democratic nominee for governor said these and other findings convinced him that "certain programs" are being conducted in such a manner as to cause tension and unrest in the community involved, and he felt duty-bound to notify proper authorities and inform the public.

"I do think that... some of the programs are misused and misguided," Scott said. "I think I would be derelict in my duties if I did not raise questions about programs which are in doubt."

Investigation Promised
Scott and his aides told newsmen that information they had gathered would be turned over to officials both in Washington and Raleigh.

Some of these promised further investigation into the situation Scott pinpointed in Wake County. Meanwhile, further dissension and disruption occurred in the ranks of the Wake County group.

One community action center director charged that there was a "strong influence of 'black power' and racist policies prevalent" in the program, and asked for an indefinite leave of absence.

In another community action center, four antipoverty workers said they were abused and "treated with disrespect" at a meeting at which program officials were trying to find out how a secrecy oath was leaked to a Raleigh television station.

Scott suggested that anyone having further information about irregularities in antipoverty programs come forward and make it available.

Should Be Room For Private Enterprise

While the City Council should not give the Housing Authority a "blank check" to lease low rent housing, it certainly should consider using private enterprise to build whatever housing is needed, for lease to the Housing Authority.

The council refused to do this at a meeting last week. Required was a resolution which would allow the Housing Authority to accept privately-owned low rent housing on lease basis.

Two councilmen, Percy Cox and Johnnie Edwards, opposed the resolution while Councilman John Howard and Mayor Eugene West favored it. Councilman Cox looked on it as a "blank check" which would allow the Housing Authority to "put up housing all over Greenville."

Housing Director A E Dubber maintained that the resolution was routine. He said that the City Council would have the same control over the leased housing as it now has over government-owned housing.

If this is the case, we can see no reason why the resolution should not have been approved. Certainly the Housing Authority should be able to go on and explore this new approach, which involves private enterprise. It is being used elsewhere and with some success.

There could be problems in the approach that cannot now be foreseen. However, as we understand it, the City Council would have the final approval over any new low rent housing, regardless of whether it was publicly or privately constructed. This should be safeguard enough.

Lindsay Keeps Chances Alive

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)

—New York Mayor John V. Lindsay, by refusing to take part in an abortive rebellion against naming Spiro T. Agnew as Republican vice presidential nominee, has laid the groundwork for a future bid for the GOP presidential nomination.

Despite the views of some who tried to convince Lindsay to be the main challenger in a floor fight Thursday night chances were slim for success against the personal choice of presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon.

One result would have been to sow resentment among party regulars, who played such an important role in assuring Nixon the nomination and in beating down the last-minute uprising against agnew's selection, defeating Michigan Gov. George Romney 1,128 to 178.

Lindsay, who sat out the 1964 presidential campaign rather than support Barry Goldwater, was able by agreeing to give a seconding speech for Agnew to reassert his party regularity.

In doing so, he rejected the path followed by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller four years ago. By failing to give more than token support to Goldwater, the New York governor created wide resentment, and this played an important role in his defeat this year.

Defeat for the Nixon-Agnew ticket this fall would leave the Republican party open for a new face to take over four years hence.

At 46, Lindsay has plenty of time. Even if the Nixon-Agnew ticket were elected this year and re-elected in 1972, Lindsay would still only be 54 in 1976 — one year younger than Nixon is now.

Opinions In Brief

"People want better streets and roads and are quick to express their sentiments on that score. We wonder how many of the complainers are persons guilty of littering and thus draining off money for cleaning up that could be spent for the better purpose of maintenance and construction."—Bedford (Ind.) Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
PREPARE A SCHEDULE

Do you like to travel? If so, get your traveling done while you are still at an age to enjoy it. Many people put off their travel plans until retirement and frequently they are so infirm at this age that every trip they take is a burden and a trial.

Of course, children come in to the picture. On the whole, children are much better right in their homes than they are on any extended tour. People who drag their children over the world usually refer to their projects as "giving the children the best advantages." Kids like the security of home. There is no crowd amid which they are so happy as their own gang. Cathedrals and art galleries do not mean anything to them until they have sufficient educational background to appreciate these real advantages.

The years from forty-five to sixty are more precious and significant than we sometimes realize. This is the era of achievement. It is also the time when children have usually attained a maturity which enables them to enter into adult plans with satisfaction and profit. Dragging a young child through an art gallery is just plain cruelty. When they can stand with you before a great painting, discuss it in the light of certain college courses they have had, then your travel plans have led you to something significant indeed.

Don't put travel off too late, neither start roaming over the world before the children are able to enjoy what they will see.

Too much too early or too much too late is equally unfortunate.

When Congress resumes, industry will step up its campaign for quotas or other limitations on imports of foreign goods, notably steel.

Meanwhile, industrial lobbyists are already campaigning for state laws requiring states and subdivisions to buy only American-made products. These are getting most attention in steel-producing states.

Steel, machinery, textile and other industries want protection from foreign producers because rising American wages make production so much more expensive than it is with cheap labor abroad, and because the surtax will take a bigger bite of corporate profits.

Because this is an election year, pressures on both Congress and state legislatures will be unusually strong. Candidates for re-election will

The Horror Of Chicago

MIAMI BEACH — As the sun sinks slowly into the west and the Republicans board their private planes to carry their message back to the American people, all thoughts are now turned toward the Democratic convention which will be held in Chicago on August 26.

For Democratic delegates as well as members of the press, people talk about going to Chicago with the same excitement and enthusiasm as if they were going to Vietnam.

Whether Mayor Daley likes it or not, Chicago as a political convention city is being compared with Rhe Sann and Dien Bien Phu.

A group of battle-hardened correspondents were arguing in a bar here over whether Chicago could become another Dien Bien Phu.

Other Editors Say An Inflation Hedge

(The Wilson Times)

We have heard that Lloyd's of London would insure anything but we did not know anyone could offer a policy against inflation. The Hartford Insurance Company is the one who has come up with the novel and necessary idea.

The premium is costly, as is inflation, about 5 per cent more than the average premium on a standard $25,000 home policy. The policy automatically increases the coverage of home and other property to offset the rising prices.

It is evident Hartford does not consider that the surtax and the cut in federal spending is going to stop inflation. And no one else does, not as long as the government continues its present policy of spending. Just think what it would take to stop inflation, then you will see how difficult it would be. Only a depression could do this and the present fiscal policies of spending ourselves to prosperity are said to prevent a depression.

The government is getting along very slowly with its fight to reduce spending by the required $6 billion. The first agency to feel the blows of the order was the post office and now the employment cut has been rescinded.

Rising taxes — federal, state, city and county — add to the cost of business and living. The only answer to rising costs is increased prices. This only adds steam to the present pressure.

The effect of inflation is felt in every facet of industry from the balance of payments deficit, to increased imports — when we are an exporting nation — to the domestic front. And it has not happened overnight, but is an accumulation over the recent years, and now inflation is increasing at an alarming rate. The recent steel contract signed by the industry and the unions is the latest in the industry to date. As the President points out, it will add to the fires of inflation.

All this has been brought about because of the complete disregard of laws of supply and demand and acceptance of the present spend yourself-to-prosperity theory. And the politicians must bear their part of the blame for the inflation.

There is no substitute for sound fiscal policies. But if the government does not elect to follow such a course, you can now buy a policy against inflation, although you will have to have an inflated purse to afford it. In the long run it could pay for itself.

"It's impossible," said one correspondent. "For one thing, we've got air cover, which they didn't have at Dien Bien Phu. And for another, the roads leading to the stockyards will be mined."

"That's all well and good," a pessimistic RV floor reporter said, "but how is anyone going to get to the convention hall to attend the proceedings?"

"There will be armed convoys leaving every half hour from downtown Chicago and Daley had artillery zeroed in on every highway. Anyone who tries to block the intersections will pay a high price for his aggression."

Asyndicated columnist added, "Since the convention is being held in the stockyards, there is no chance of the starving us out."

"I'm scared," a young reporter blubbered.

Notes In The Mail

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail! Fantasy starts early in human life. Researchers believe that many babies begin to have dreams within five hours after birth.

Does your mate snore? Snoring is so prevalent in Britain that a specialist estimates it threatens the marriages of 1.5 million couples in that country. He believes that about 50 per cent of snorers can be cured of their affliction and another 30 per cent helped by proper treatment.

Uncle Sam picks up the tab for the world's most expensively tailored clothes. They are the individually fitted 21-layer suits which U. S. astronauts will wear on projected flights to the moon. The suits cost about $100,000 apiece, weigh 57 pounds and are designed to protect spacemen from lunar temperatures which range from 250 degrees below zero to 250 degrees above.

Although women generally brush their teeth more often than men, they are more likely than men to lose all their choppers. On the average, U. S. women have two more fillings or missing teeth than men. At any age they are also more likely to need eyeglasses. About 50 per cent of the female population wear them, only 43 per cent of the male population.

Here's why it's a good idea to stand well behind a golfer teeing off: A well-hit golf ball takes off at a speed up to 200 or more miles an hour.

Quotable notables: "When liberty destroys order, the hunger for order will destroy liberty." — Will Durant.

Subsurface diplomacy: Iban tribesmen of Borneo once had a custom of settling arguments that delegates to the United Nations might employ. When two tribesmen disagree violently, they dived together into the water. The one who stayed under the longer was declared winner of the dispute.

Worth remembering: "The trouble with most of us is that we would rather be ruined by praise than saved by criticism."

No magic cure: Science has yet to come up with a wonder drug that will quickly remove the agony of a hangover. "Sobering up is essentially a matter of time," says Leon A. Greenberg of the Rutgers University of alcohol Studies. Neither coffee gulping or work do much, he says, to speed recovery from the results of excessive imbibing.

Prosperity note: Roughly 182,000 individuals are expected to file personal bankruptcy proceedings this year — chiefly because they didn't stick to a family budget, let small debts pile up. Today nine out of ten bankruptcy cases involve ordinary consumers, not businessmen who have failed.

It was Kin Hubbard who observed, "The safest way to double your money is to fold it over once and put it in your pocket."

In 1960 she was made associate professor and associate of the undergraduate library science program. In Sept., 1963, Mrs. Crenshaw was appointed bibliographer and reader's advisor to MEMO, a weekly publication, which purpose was to answer research questions of the faculty and students. The publication ceased on Mrs. Crenshaw retirement.

Prior to her arrival at ECU, Mrs. Crenshaw taught English and social studies in New Jersey and New York; was a counselor of employee relations at Wright Aero Corporation in Paterson, N. N.C. Traffic Counts 20 Dead Over Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

At least 20 persons died on North Carolina streets and highways over the weekend, pushing the year's traffic death toll to 1,703—119 more than for the same period last year. Two persons were killed when their car smashed into a tree at Charlotte. They were identified as Grace Crabbe, 36, of Forest City and Ben McCombs, 37, of Rt. 2, Rutherfordton.

The highway patrol reported also that a car struck and killed Charles Craig Moore, 7, of Kernersville on N.C. 150, about one-half mile north of Kernersville. Mack Prince Jr., 29, of Vicksburg, Miss., was struck and killed by a car on a rural road four miles west of Snow Hill in Pitt County.

Ondray P. Vannoy, 14, of Goldsboro, was killed on a rural paved road five miles south of Goldsboro when a stolen car he was driving overturned pinning him beneath the vehicle, officers said.

Roy Corniels Moore, 38, of Waynesville was killed Saturday when a car being chased by officers struck another vehicle broadside. The wreck occurred on U.S. 276 south of Waynesville.

Grace McCoy Purser, 61, of Grifton, was killed when the car she was driving hit a car parked partially on the U.S. 264 by-pass west of Greenville.

Billy Ray Bishop, 20, of Trinity, was fatally injured when the car in which he was riding ran off U.S. 64 eight miles west of Asheboro and struck several trees.

Charles Love Rogers, 46, of Roseboro was struck and killed by a hit-and-run driver as he walked along a rural paved road in Sampson County near Roseboro.

A head-on collision on N.C. 89 four miles east of Mt. Airy resulted in the death of Alene Hassie Cook, 69, of Mt. Airy.

Other traffic deaths included: Andrew D. Beckner, 19, Jerry W. Oakes, 19, and Robert F. Atkins, 18, all of Martinsville, Va.; James Powell, 17, and James King, 76, both of Durham; Michael Ray Shook, 16, of Jamestown; Herman Jones, 12, of Rt. 2, Whitakers; Allen J. Courtemanche, 18, of Adam, Mass.; and Reginald Doltz Stone, 2, of Fuquay Springs.

Secretly Search For Long-Lost "Monitor"

By BOB MARTIN

The Norfolk Virginian-Pilot

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — While the proud and mighty battleship New Jersey steams through the Pacific, the antecedent of all battleships rests at the bottom of the ocean just off Cape Hatteras, N.C.

But if a group of men, working in secrecy since last April meet with success, that tiny ship, the USS Monitor, will be found, raised, and exhibited to the public.

The 127-foot "cheesebox on a raft" is famous for three achievements: Saving the Union blockade from the ironclad threat of the Confederate ship Merrimac at the battle of Hampton Roads on Mar. 9, 1862; demonstrating the obsolescence of the wooden warship; and making the movable turret a prime feature of most warships.

The original Monitor, built by Swedish-born inventor John Ericson at the Greenpoint Navy Yard, Brooklyn, N.Y., in the first two months of 1862, was not a seaworthy vessel.

In the night of Dec. 30, 1862, she foundered in one of the frequent storms off Cape Hatteras—"graveyard of the Atlantic"—and sank with the loss of 4 officers and 12 men out of her crew of 63.

The location of the "tin can on a shingle" has been a mystery ever since. Accounts of her sinking place her location from 1 to 25 miles offshore.

Robert F. Marx, a professional treasure-diver, claimed to have found the Union ironclad in 1955 while diving in about 50 feet of water a mile offshore, but said he could not locate the ship on subsequent dives due to shifting of the sandy ocean bottom.

The group now exploring off Hatteras is a partnership between the state of North Carolina, which claims ownership under a 1967 law, and the North Carolina Tidewater Services, Inc., a salvage company.

Samuel P. Townsend, supervisor of underwater archaeology for North Carolina's State Department of Archives and History, has granted an exclusive permit to the company, under provisions of the new law, to explore for wrecks in a nine-square-mile area directly offshore and to the northeast of Hatteras point.

Many of the wrecks in the area are probably buried under shifting sand, said Robert L. Simmons, 50, a company director. The water runs to a depth of about 40 feet there.

To locate wrecks, the underwater explorers are using a differential proton magnetometer, which is designed to produce outlines of buried metal hulls.

The instruments show one outline of 160 to 180 feet by 45 to 50 feet. The monitor measured 172 by 41 feet.

Though Simmons denies that the object of his search is the Monitor, everyone else connected with the project contradicts him. Marx said Simmons had written him that he as "positive" that the instrument found was the ironclad, and that it was at the location Marx had previously reported.

Rear Adm. E. M. Eller, director of naval history, said the Navy was not interested in the vessel and would not claim her if raised. Townsend indicated he would probably try to keep the ship in North Carolina hands by paying the company 75 per cent of the vessel's worth under the 1967 law.

No one, however, has any idea how much the Monitor would be worth if raised in good condition.

mm. But you got to look at it this way. If we don't go, the Democrats won't be able to nominate a presidential candidate and that's what the demonstrators are hoping for. We've got to show that we can't be intimidated."

"Gosh," said the kid reporter, "if you're scared, too, then I don't feel so bad. I think I'll write my mother before I go."

"You do that, kid," the grizzled AP man said.

The political analyst for a newsweekly said, "I don't think we can hope for a quick military solution in Chicago. This is going to be a dirty, drawn-out convention and the only way the Democrats can achieve their goals as if they win hearts and minds of the Chicago people."

"That may be true, but Daley says you can't win the hearts and minds of the people unless you're successful militarily. You've got to prove to the militants they can't win at the negotiating table what they haven't been able to win in the field."

One of the reporters who hadn't said anything finally screamed hysterically.

"I say Daley be damned. He'll be holed up in his air-conditioned offices at city hall, but it's us poor suckers who are going to have to do the fighting. I'm too young to go to Chicago."

The grizzled AP man slapped him in the face. "Get a hold of yourself, boy. You're going to Chicago like everybody else. None of us asked for this assignment, but we were given it. President Johnson has decided this is where the Democrats must make their stand, and by heaven, boy, we're not going to let him down."

N.C. Democrats Meet Tuesday To Discuss Tactics

RALEIGH (AP) — County chairmen and vice chairmen of the North Carolina Democratic party will meet in Raleigh Tuesday to elect state campaign committees and discuss general election tactics.

State Democratic Chairman Jimmy V. Johnson, who called the session, will address the group when it assembles at 11 a.m. at the Sheraton Sir Walter Hotel. The meeting will include an open session, lunch and an executive session.

Johnson said the object of the meeting will be to "elect someone who will work actively in behalf of the Democratic ticket and . . . coordinate certain campaign activities within their respective congressional districts."

The first day trek will take the group to Parsonsville in Wilkes County. Thursday, the train will camp in the Idlewild community of Ashe County, before ending the final leg Friday at a camp site near Jefferson. Saturday, the train will parade through Jefferson and West Jefferson. It will break up Sunday morning.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Hewlett, N.Y., man has become the first person to be arrested under the wiretapping and eavesdropping provisions of the 1968 Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act.

Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark announced the FBI arrested David R. Lagnado, 38, at the Minneapolis-St. Paul Metropolitan Airport Sunday morning and charged him with illegal interstate transportation of a device designed for wiretapping or eavesdropping.

The FBI accused Lagnado of carrying such a device, in the form of an attache case containing a recording device, on a flight from Kennedy International Airport in New York City in violation of the law signed by President Johnson June 19.

Lagnado was taken before a U.S. commissioner. The maximum sentence under the provision involved is a $10,000 fine, a five-year prison term or both.

If the Shoe Fits

BY LARRY AVERETTE

Has shoefitting improved over the years?

It may seem incredible but the fitting of children's shoes has improved immeasurably in the last twenty years. Parents are no longer flabbergasted when a shoefitter measures both feet of their child. Twenty years ago you felt fortunate if he measured either foot.

After careful measurement, the modern shoefitter may try three or four shoes in this same size before he is satisfied that he has the correct last for the child's foot. Twenty years ago, if the last of the shoe was wrong the shoe clerk changed the size. Almost all shoe sizes were concealed in code so the customer didn't know the difference.

It is a sad commentary on our nation's interest in foot health that the law requires a manufacturer of clothing to show the percentage of wool, cotton, etc. but the shoe manufacturer is not required to mark shoe sizes so the buyer can read them.

Nicklaus Wins Sudden Death Playoff On 5th

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — When you're in a head-to-head duel with golfer Jack Nicklaus it's tough to come out on top.

Lee Elder, a 33-year-old 10-year pro playing his first season on the tour, will be the first to admit it.

"I gave it all I had but there isn't much you can do when you're up against the world's best," Elder said Sunday.

He made the observation after staging the battle of his life before losing on the fifth hole of a sudden death playoff in the $125,000 American Golf Classic.

The stirring struggle ended when Big Jack rolled in a 10-foot birdie putt to cop the $25,000 jackpot.

Nicklaus, who now has won back-to-back tournaments after a victory drought that lasted 9½ months, looked like he was human after all when he was in the bunker with his second shot on the second hole.

But the blond belter, needing a 30-foot putt after he blasted out to match Elder's par, promptly drilled it home.

Elder, the 1963 Negro golfer of the year from Washington, D.C., could have wrapped it up on the 18th hole of regulation play but he hit into two bunkers and took a bogey five.

Nicklaus, who birdied No. 18 with an eight-footer, had to wait out the finish and said "all I want is a playoff."

Frank Beard joined Nicklaus and Elder in the three-way playoff but dropped out after the first hole when he wasted his first two shots and parred the hole.

All had 72-hole totals of 280, even par for the distance. Nicklaus had a final 69, while Elder and Beard posted 70s.

Third-round leader Don Beis, a part-time tour player from Seattle, and Bert Yancey both missed chances to force a five-way playoff when they bogeyed their final hole.

Beis, who set the course record Saturday with a hot six-under 64, soared to a 75 while Yancey shot a 71. They finished in a four-way tie at 281 with Bob Stanton and PGA champion Julius Boros.

Finishing at 282 were Bob Lunn, George Knudson and Art Wall while Gardner Dickinson, Ray Floyd and Rod Funseth closed at 283.

Arnold Palmer looked like he was ready to make one of his famous charges when he moved within one stroke of the lead with a birdie on No. 11. But the fabled pro bogeyed Nos. 13 and 14 and suffered an embarrassing triple bogey eight on the monster 16th when he put his third shot in the water, overshot the green and needed three to get down.

Palmer's 76 put him in a seven-way knot at 284 while half-way leader Bill Campbell, 1964 U.S. amateur king, skied to a 77 for a 285.

Kuharich Moans 'A Jinxed Coach'

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

A black cloud hovered over the head of Joe Kuharich today and it will be some time before it leaves, but all is sunny for George Wilson, who sees even brighter skies ahead.

"I'm just a jinxed coach," moaned Kuharich, whose Philadelphia Eagles lost a National Football League exhibition to Detroit 20-3 Sunday and their No. 1 quarterback Norm Snead to a broken leg.

"The black clouds are right over the top of us. (But) we can't jeopardize Snead's future. I personally won't push him. . . I'll go for the maximum knitting period."

Coach Wilson, on the other hand was beaming after his Miami Dolphins tied Buffalo 28-28 in an American League contest and All-American fullback Larry Csonka climaxed his pro debut by scoring the tying touchdown in the final period.

"He made a few mistakes, but — and that's a big but — wait a few more weeks," Wilson said. "He'll really shake them up."

In Sunday's other pre-season game Mike Clark kicked his third field goal of the game midway through the final period to give the Dallas Cowboys a 16-14 edge over San Francisco in the NFL.

On Saturday night in the NFL, the New York Giants shocked Green Bay 15-14 on Fran Tarkenton's four-yard touchdown pass to Joe Morrison with 14 seconds remaining; Charley Gogolak's 45-yard field goal with 16 seconds left gave Washington a 16-14 decision over Atlanta, and Baltimore blanked Chicago 10-0 on a Johnny Unitas touchdown pass and Lou Michaels' field goal.

In the AFL, Bob Humphreys booted a 33-yard field goal with five seconds left for Denver's 15-13 victory over Cincinnati, and Oakland bombed San Diego 31-7 as Daryle Lamonica hurled two scoring passes.

In interleague play, Bill Kilmer passed New Orleans of the NFL by Boston 19-0, and Kansas City of the AFL stopped Minnesota 13-10 on Jan Stenerud's 15-yard field goal with 47 seconds remaining.

The New York Jets play at Houston in an AFL game tonight.

The Eagles lost Snead on their first play from scrimmage when Izzy Lang's option play pass was intercepted and Snead tried to tackle Lem Barney, the interceptor. He is expected to be out at least 12 weeks.

The Lions turned the interception into a seven-yard scoring run by Mel Farr, later added a 33-yard Jerry DePoyster field goal and finally rookie Greg Barton's 26-yard touchdown pass to Bill Malinchak after another Barney interception.

Veteran King Hill took over for Snead and couldn't move the club, and then castoff John Huarte tried and failed.

The game was scheduled for Mexico City, but a last minute cancellation brought it to Philadelphia.

Csonka, who reported to Miami late because of the College All-Star game, started slow against Buffalo. But with Buffalo leading 28-21, he ran for 17 yards, took a 21-yard pass from Bob Griese, bulled for six more yards and finally grabbed a six-yard toss from Griese for the tying score.

In this age of specialization, Detroit's Gates Brown has found his niche. His specialty is destroying the Boston Red Sox.

Brown did his thing twice Sunday as the Tigers stretched their American League lead to a fat seven games with a 5-4, 6-5 sweep over the Red Sox.

In the first game, Brown tagged a 14th inning pinch homer for the winning run. It was his fourth pinch hitting appearance against Boston this season and his third homer. The other time he only doubled.

In the nightcap, Detroit Manager Mayo Smith played unfairly, inserting Brown in the starting line-up. Sure enough, Gates delivered ninth inning single that climaxed a four-run rally and gave the Tigers the sweep.

For the season, Brown has seven hits in 10 swings against Boston. You might say the Red Sox' book on him is somewhat incomplete.

Elsewhere, Minnesota walked the New York Yankees

11-2, California rocked Baltimore 11-1, Oakland whipped Washington 8-3 and Cleveland swept a doubleheader from the Chicago White Sox 6-1 and 2-1.

In the National League, San Francisco swept a doubleheader from the New York Mets 2-1 and 5-0, the Chicago Cubs dumped Cincinnati 8-5 in 15 innings, Los Angeles blanked Philadelphia 1-0; Atlanta took St. Louis 5-3 and Houston tripped Pittsburgh 5-1.

Brown, who batted only 91 times last season and has been to the plate just 52 times this season, connected against reliever Lee Stange in the first game and made a winner of Mickey Lolich.

It was the second straight relief victory over the Red Sox for Lolich, who worked five scoreless innings.

Before Brown connected, Wayne Comer and Bill Freehan had homered, helping the Tigers wipe out Boston's early bulge.

Joe Foy and Dalton Jones had tagged two-run homers for the Red Sox.

Two Reggie Smith homers had helped Boston to a 5-2 lead in the second game before the Tigers rallied in the ninth. Jim Price walked and moved up on Freehan's single. Then consecutive singles by Dick McAuliffe, Mickey Stanley and Al Kaline tied the score and set the stage

David Pearson Wins His 12th In 250-Lapper

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — David Pearson won his 12th victory of the season Saturday night by charging home as winner in the NASCAR 250-lap Grand National Stock Car race at Memorial Stadium.

Pearson now leads the Grand National point standings by nine points over Bobby Isaac, who finished third in Saturday night's race.

Pearson took advantage of a mid-race spin-out by Richard Petty who started in the pole position and led the first 139 laps.

In the 140th lap Petty ran through an oil slick left on the track from engine failure to Bobby Allison's Chevelle and spun against the guard rail.

Petty held on to second place. James Hylton took fourth place.

Sub-Par Round Wasn't Enough

LEWISTON, N.Y. (AP) — Bob Barborossa of Raleigh, N.C., fired Sunday's only sub-par round in the Porter Cup Amateur Golf Tournament, but ended the tourney in second place.

Barborossa fired a two-under-par 68 over the Niagara Falls Country Club course.

First place went to Randy Wolff of Beaumont, Texas, who carded a one-over-par 71 Sunday to fill out a 72-hole total of 282.

Third was Don Allen of Rochester, N.Y., who ended with a 285 total.

Barborossa's 72-hole tally was 284.

for Brown, who singled the winner across through the drawn in field.

Rick Reichardt drove in six runs with a bases-loaded triple and two singles as the Angels blitzed Baltimore.

Tom Satriano had five hits including a homer and two doubles and Vic Davalillo had four hits for the Angels. Jim McGlothlin rode the heavy support to his seventh victory.

Minnesota's Dean Chance had the same kind of hitting support with the Twins battering four Yankee pitchers for 16 hits. Rod Carew had four singles and Tony Oliva four runs batted in on a single and a three-run homer. Chance pitched a four-hitter for his 11th victory.

Dick Green, Reggie Jackson and Joe Keough all powered two-run homers to ease the Athletics past the Senators. Jim Nash allowed only one hit after the second inning and won his 10th game.

Stan Williams pitched a four-hitter and Russ Snyder's pinch single in the second inning drove in a pair of runs as the Indians took the first game from Chicago.

Cleveland completed the sweep with 6 2-3 innings of two-hit relief by Ed Fisher saving the second game. Fisher rescued Sam McDowell from a bases-loaded one-out jam in the third inning, using just two pitches to retire Ken Berry and Gerry McNertney, and held Chicago the rest of the way.

SINGLES TITLIST

Fumes In Hold Of Fishing Boat Killed Five Men

By S. J. WEEKS
Pvt. County Tobacco Agent

Tobacco insects that could attack the 1969 tobacco crop can be greatly reduced now by cutting your tobacco stalks and plowing out the stubbles immediately after harvest.

By destroying the stalks, you can reduce the food and breeding place for the hornworm and the flea beetles. Over 90 percent of the hornworms that live through the winter are produced after August 1.

Hornworms and budworms in the pupae stage overwinter in the top two inches of soil, and it is believed they overwinter mostly on the row rather than in the middle. Therefore, many of these pupae could be destroyed by thoroughly plowing out the old stubbles.

In addition to helping reduce the population of insects destructive to tobacco, there are three diseases that can also be reduced by destroying the stalks and plowing out the stubbles. These diseases are brown spot, nematodes, and Mosaic.

Several farmers in the county have already completed the harvest of their tobacco crops. Others are completing harvest each day.

If you have finished harvesting your tobacco crop, the time to destroy the tobacco stalks and plow out the stubbles is "right now".

First cut the stalks. See that they are cut in small pieces to speed up decay. Reduction in both brown spot and Mosaic is dependent upon the old crop residue rotting and decaying before the next crop of tobacco. A rotary mower would do an excellent job of cutting the stalks.

Next, the old root system should be completely destroyed for the most effective reduction of nematodes. This can be done effectively with either a bottom plow or a "middle buster".

Each day you delay this practice after the harvest is completed will mean more disease and insects damage to the 1969 crop.

OPERATION R-6-P (Reduce 6 Pests) Campaign is being held again this year. Let's start today and reduce the occurrence of these insects and diseases in our 1969 tobacco crop.

Cemetery Has Expansion Plan

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Jefferson Barracks National Cemetery, with about 45,000 graves, has begun an expansion program "to keep ahead of demands."

"We still have about 4,000 grave sites," said William Boyer, superintendent, but burials are running about 1,800 a year.

The cemetery was started in 1837 and became a federal property in 1866.

Insects Hurting Pine Trees

Insects in pine trees are causing considerable concern to timber land owners and to home owners. There are several insects that attack the pine tree. The Southern pine beetle is probably the most damaging one. When this insect attacks a tree the best thing to do is (1) cut the tree, peel the bark and burn bark and tops or (2) cut the tree, spray trunk and limbs with an insecticide. In either case, spray the entire trunk length of adjacent trees every 30 days until frost with an insecticide to protect them from infestation.

Another insect which causes problems to pine, especially pines where the root area is disturbed, such as in disking or building. This insect usually appears in pines soon after home construction is started. The insect is the Turpentine Beetle and can inflict severe damage to pine trees. Its activity is usually confined to the lower 10-12 feet of the trunk. Its activity can be observed by the formation of crystallized gum at the outer openings of the insect burrow. These should be knocked off to expose the opening and an insecticide sprayed on the entire trunk to a height of 12 feet. The spray should be in the form of small droplets (not mist), and should cover the openings made by the beetles. To prevent or control this beetle, pine trees in the same area should also be sprayed.

The recommended insecticide for both the Southern Pine beetle and the Turpentine beetle is Lindane. Use a 20 percent emulsifiable concentrate diluted in No. 2 fuel oil where only the bark or trunk of the pine will be sprayed. If lawn, flowers, or shrubbery will be hit with the spray, dilute the insecticide in water.

For both treatments use one quart of the 20 percent emulsifiable concentrate of Lindane to seven gallons of No. 2 fuel oil or water.

Rap Recruiting In Poverty Areas

CHARLOTTE (AP)—The Defense Department's poverty area military enlistment drive in two Charlotte Negro areas has drawn criticism from 41 white and Negro citizens.

A statement was endorsed Saturday the group attacked "the presence of military recruiters in the black communities of Charlotte."

The drive was criticized as an effort "to recruit bodies, not to offer opportunities to black men."

Charlotte and Nashville, Tenn. were chosen earlier this year for a poverty area enlistment drive beginning Aug. 1.

Concentration would be on low-income areas, both Negro and white, Army officials said.

Leaflets attacking the recruitment drive and offering counseling to draft age men started the criticism early last week. Saturday's statement was issued a day after a city official barred two men from distributing anti-draft literature in the area.

The men ordered away Friday were protesting the presence of a recruiter.

The statement adopted Saturday said its supporters, including a minister and several anti-poverty workers, "reject the supposition that the military is a means of training and education. . . recruiters are in black communities to recruit bodies, not to offer opportunities to black men."

For both treatments use one quart of the 20 percent emulsifiable concentrate of Lindane to seven gallons of No. 2 fuel oil or water.

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Five men unloading a cargo of fish toppled one-by-one Sunday into the hold of their boat where they were found dead.

Lee County sheriff's investigator James Loeffler said, "We don't know what killed them or where it came from. They either got a whiff of a toxic gas or some sort of chemical poison."

Back from a successful trip, the crew of the 125-foot trawler Novelty and dockworkers were preparing to flood the ship's hold to enable huge pumps to pull out both water and fish.

"When the water was turned on," Loeffler said, "the man holding the hose immediately collapsed and fell into the hold."

The first man to react, Francis L. Winter, 53, of Punta Gorda, Fla., jumped through the hatch and reached the body when he, too, keeled over.

As he slumped into the hold, his brother, Joseph, 55, also of Punta Gorda, raced to the hatchway. He got his feet on the ladder and his hand on the rail when the poison hit him and he fell the rest of the way, Loeffler said.

"The other two men never left the deck," the investigator said. "They just looked into the hold and collapsed through the hatch."

He said a sixth man was felled by the incredibly fast-acting poison, but was rescued by the ship's one-armed cook, Clyde Parrish, and dock worker Roy McNeely.

"All of this transpired in less than two minutes," Loeffler said. McNeely descended with a rope while holding his breath and raised the last man to be felled.

"Parrish is the hero if there is one," Loeffler said. Without knowing what had stricken his shipmates and the dock workers, he administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

Loeffler said Lawrence Finley, 33, of North Port Charlotte, began to breathe without aid and was rushed to a nearby hospital where he was reported unconscious and in critical condition.

Meanwhile, William Conrad of the Fort Myers fire department rescue team, went into the smelly hold with ropes and brought up the body of Kenneth Smith, 55, manager of the fish processing plant where the ship was docked.

The fireman repeated his rescue attempt when he saw the body of Stephen Richmond, 18-year-old second engineer on the boat.

The other bodies were brought up by firemen after gas masks arrived at the wharf. Besides the Winter brothers there was Francis Webb, 23, of Peace Dale, R.I., the boat's pilot. Loeffler said the poison and its source remained unknown. "It's unfathomable," he said. "We don't even know if it was gas or liquid. We don't know if it came out of the tank holding the wash water or what."

The deputy said the U.S. Department of Labor ordered the fishery, the Protein Products Co., sealed off and the U.S. Bureau of Fisheries began an investigation.

Officials said they hoped to identify the poison through samples of the water taken from the hold and the plant's tanks and through examination of the body.

Humphrey Expects First Ballot Nomination

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, expressing confidence he'll win the Democratic presidential nomination on the first convention ballot, has pegged his delegate strength at 1,600 votes.

And Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox says he may turn the Democratic race into a four-way battle to show Americans the party "offers more than liberals and socialists."

The Democratic nomination in Chicago in two weeks will require 1,312 votes and Humphrey was asked Sunday if his estimate of delegate strength means he thinks he has the first-ballot nomination sewed up.

"Let me tell you I feel rather relaxed," Humphrey replied. "I feel good. I think we ought to be looking forward to November."

Humphrey also said the Paris peace talks are "at a serious stage" and America's position with Hanoi should not be weakened by loose talk by candidates.

"If I can lend one little note of optimism today," he said, "which I do very carefully and with prudence and caution, I would say that the negotiations, while they have been sticky and they have been slow and they appear many times not to be productive, that those negotiations are at a serious stage."

Humphrey was interviewed on ABC's "Issues and Answers." Sen. George S. McGovern, the newest declared Democratic contender, said a certain "disquietude" he detects among delegates gives him "at least a fighting chance" to beat Humphrey and Sen. Eugene J. McGovern was interviewed on NBC's "Meet the Press."

But an Associated Press survey after McGovern entered the race Saturday showed he drew immediate support from only two delegates, both from Nebraska. The South Dakota senator already had his state's 26 delegate votes.

McCarthy, bidding for support from California's 174 delegates, said in Sacramento Sunday the Democratic party is "an empty shell—without power or vitality or function" and must be revitalized.

National conventions should be held every two years on issues and public policy, not just selection of candidates, McCarthy said. He said party leaders should become the peoples' spokesmen and press for progressive legislation. The California delegation gave McCarthy a warm reception but reaffirmed its intention to remain uncommitted. Newly-nominated Republican candidate Richard M. Nixon and his running mate, Maryland

Gov. Spiro T. Agnew, planned their campaign strategy meanwhile at an ocean resort near San Diego, Calif.

Aides say Nixon has decided to put more emphasis on television appearances than hectic vote-seeking rallies.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., said Sunday he realized 10 days before the nominating at Miami Beach that New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, whom he backed, was not going to win.

It was clear that early, Morton said, that California Gov. Ronald Reagan was not going to be able to siphon off enough of Nixon's southern delegate votes to give Rockefeller his only chance to win.

Morton appeared on CBS' "Face the Nation."

In other political developments: Third party candidate Wallace said he will ask the three major television networks to give his American Independent party's national convention coverage equal to that for the major party conventions. —Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said he wants to support his party's Nixon-Agnew ticket but said he is concerned over what he called the "southern influence" represented by Agnew's selection. "I want to take another breath in view of what I saw in Miami," Javits said. —Jackie Robinson, the first Negro in major league baseball, called the Nixon-Agnew team a "racist ticket" and said he's ready to support the Democratic nominee.

The Worry Clinic Use Some Psychology In Selecting A Name

Heed Lola's wise criticism, for many thoughtless mothers saddle their children with names that make the youngsters actually neurotic. And don't try bizarre spellings or fancy sounding syllables: Instead, select names that inspire the children to emulate those who bore such names in ancient times.

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE G-549: Lola G., aged 28, is a school teacher. "Dr. Crane," she protested, "I wish you'd warn young mothers to use better psychology when they name their sons!"

"For example, I had a boy in the 2nd grade whose dotting mamma christened him 'Lena.'"

"Imagine the ridicule and teasing he receives from his classmates!"

"Why don't mothers look ahead and thus give their sons strong, masculine names?" Lola's point should wake up many foolish mammas.

For many boys, slender and not very athletic, already have a tough job trying to make their pals respect them, without being hampered by a sissy name.

Yet I have known men who were christened "Evelyn" and "Phyllis."

In past years, uneducated mothers at our Cook County Hospital here in Chicago would become enamored of fancy medical terms and thus ignorantly name their babies accordingly.

One such mother thus wanted to name her twin daughters "Syphilis" and "Gonorrhea," because those words sounded mysterious and exotic!

Another one heard the attending doctor use the word "Meconium," which refers to the fecal matter discharged by the newborn baby, and thus wished to name her infant daughter "Meconium."

Such medical names probably wouldn't cause too much harassment since many people wouldn't know what they meant, anyway.

But to saddle a boy with such monickers as "Lena" or "Evelyn" or "Phyllis" is sheer cruelty.

Such boys then may try to acquire rough and tough nicknames, such as "Spike" or "Butch" or even "Fatso."

Sometimes they become unduly fat, just due to their frustration!

In 1967, some of our hospitals reported that the most popular names for girl babies were "Lisa" and "Michelle," with "Michael" being the favorite for boys.

Many mothers thus go overboard for fancy sounding names, instead of picking those that many inspire youngsters to live up to the high attainments of great men of the past.

The Biblical names of Philip, Andrew, Peter, Thomas, James and John, Matthew, David, Daniel, Mark and Luke are both inspiring and masculine.

So are Franklin, Anthony, Calvin, William, George, Arthur, Alfred, etc.

Mothers, please don't saddle your children with "lightweight" names and those that you merely spell in bizarre fashion, just to be different!

Many of you parents are more juvenile than your babies in the ignorant way you try to christen your infants!

Consider these girls' names and their meanings:

Abigail - Joy
Agatha - Kind
Alice - Truth
Amy - Beloved
Celeste - Heavenly
Clara - Bright
Cora - Maiden
Deborah - Bee
Diana - Goddess
Flora - Flowers
Florence - Prosperity
Hilary - Merry
Judith - Praised
Martha - Lady
Nadine - Hope

Relief In Surge Of Cooler Air

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A southward surge of cooler air has brought relief to North Carolina after a week of hot temperatures and humid atmosphere.

The cool front which moved across Sunday was accompanied by thundershowers in many sections. The Charlotte Weather Bureau registered gusts up to 49 miles an hour. North and east winds behind the front caused rapid cooling, dense cloudiness and quite a bit of light rain or drizzle.

Hickory with 4-10th inch and Wilmington with 1-3 of an inch had the heaviest official rainfall.

The cool air which now covers all of North Carolina is part of a large mass of polar air which blankets the country east of the Rockies with the exception of the Gulf states.

The weather bureau says the main center will move to New Jersey by tonight, forcing more cool and drier air into North Carolina and causing at least partial clearing over the northern counties.

Tonight's low temperatures are expected to be mostly in the 60s except for 55 to 60 degrees in the mountains following afternoon highs of 75 to 82 in the mountains and along the north coast and in the 80s elsewhere.

Tax Collections Up 6.6 Per Cent

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina's sales and use tax collections last fiscal year rose by 6.6 per cent to more than $222 million, Revenue Commissioner Ivey Clayton reported Saturday. He reported that collections for 1967-68 totaled $222,636,022.23 a gain of $13,829,332.84. The tax was collected on sales totaling $9,780,612,276.

Collections in the state's top 10 counties included: Mecklenburg $26,084,242.75; Guilford $17,439,376.35; Wake $14,460,999.23; Forsyth $11,499,310.62; Buncombe $7,440,705.22; Durham $7,014,172.15; Gaston $5,433,205.01; Catawba $4,902,369.15; and New Hanover $4,743,725.55.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

BY CHARLES H. GOREN

Q. 1—Neither vulnerable, and as South you hold:

♠A43 ♥8652 ♦1094 ♣KQJ

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West

1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass

2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Three spades. Something must be done to compensate for the discouraging nature of your original response. Inasmuch as your high card values fit in so well with partner's hand and he has shown a distributional type of holding, game prospects are bright and a mere return to two spades by you would be inadequate.

Q. 2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠J43 ♥J98765 ♦43 ♣J7

Your partner opens with two hearts. What is your response?

A—Four hearts. The double raise of a demand bid is a specialized response which promises good trump support but no special high card strength. It denies possession of an ace, king, void, or singleton.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, and as South you hold:

♠A6 ♥QJ863 ♦A752 ♣A4

The bidding has proceeded: West North East South

1 ♠ 1 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid?

A—Two diamonds. It is recommended that you make it clear, here and now, that this hand must be played at a game contract. Then will follow the process of determining the best contract. A mere bid of two hearts would not be forcing and a jump shift of three hearts would be placing too much emphasis on the heart suit.

Q. 4—Both sides vulnerable, and as South you hold:

♠107 ♥K106 ♦K754 ♣AJ10

The bidding has proceeded: West North East South

1 ♠ Pass Pass ?

What do you bid?

A—One no trump. You have just enough high card strength to make a reopening take-out double but such action is not recommended in view of partner's expected spade response. A bid of one no trump in this position shows a slightly better than average holding, not 16 to 18 points. With that big a hand, you would double first and rebid no trump subsequently if the opportunity presented itself.

Q. 5—Neither vulnerable, and as South you hold:

♠A75 ♥J95 ♦AK962 ♣4

The bidding has proceeded: East South West North

Pass 1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠

Pass 2 ♠ Pass 2 NT

Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Three spades. While you have the values to raise no trump, it won't do any harm to check up on the possibility that partner might have some four card spade holding he did not consider worth showing.

Q. 6—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠A7 ♥AQ982 ♦7 ♣AQ32

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East

1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass

3 ♠ Pass 4 ♠ Pass

Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Four spades. Despite the meek nature of partner's initial response, prospects for slam are bright since the hands appear to fit well. If he has king of hearts and king of clubs which seem likely from the bidding, all he needs, in addition, is a second spade control which your one bid in the suit should ferret out.

Q. 7—Both vulnerable, and as South you hold:

♠A1072 ♥AKJ4 ♣A98

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East

1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass

2 ♠ Pass 3 NT Pass

Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Pass. Despite the strong nature of the bidding there is no apparent fit present, and no trump appears to be the spot. At no trump your hand is worth 17 points. Since partner has about 13 or 14, slam seems out of the question.

Q. 8—Neither vulnerable, and as South you hold:

♠A7 ♥4 ♦98432 ♣K987

The bidding has proceeded: West North East South

3 ♠ Dble. Pass ?

What do you bid?

A—Pass. While a game is very probably available to your side, it will be difficult at this level to satisfactorily explore for the best in addition, is a second spade control which your one bid in the suit should ferret out.

Tumbling About In 'Wrong Orbit'

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—America's Applications Technology Satellite 4 tumbled around earth in the wrong orbit today as space engineers attempted to salvage what they could from a $28 million mission spoiled by rocket failure.

Officials at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Goddard Space Flight center in Greenbelt, Md., said ATS 4 was cartwheeling at the rate of one revolution every 40 seconds and was still attached to the upper stage of its Atlas-Centaur booster rocket.

The drum-shaped satellite, packing a new weather watching camera built to stalk storms in daylight or darkness, blasted into space Saturday aiming for an orbit that would keep it permanently positioned 22,300 miles over the equator west of South America.

En route, however, the Centaur upper stage of ATS 4's booster ricket failed to re-start a second time as planned and, instead of drilling the satellite toward its lofty 22,300-mile high goal, left it stranded in a low orbit where cameras and communications experiments aboard the craft are useless.

NASA refused to speculate on why the failure occurred. Sources close to the investigation said engineers suspect something went wrong in the propellant system which feeds fuel into the Centaur engines. A pump used to build up pressure in the fuel tanks may have frozen, possibly because of a heater failure, they said. Without proper pressure in the fuel tanks, the engines would not start.
