

City Recreation Budget Of $135,949 Disclosed

By JERRY RAYNOR, Reflector Staff Writer. A budget totaling $135,949 was revealed at Monday night's meeting of the Recreation Commission...

proved 1967 budget, which totaled $127,560. Operating expenses account for the largest portion of the budget. The four major categories under operating expenses total $109,733...

Capital outlay items total $25,716. This will provide for two new tennis courts at sites not yet determined; for completion of work on the Greensprings Park; for new playground equipment, fences and replacement of lights at Guy Smith Stadium.

Acquisition of additional recreation lands within Greenville was discussed at length by the full-member commission present. Little, in outlining general needs for now and the future, stated "a study conducted by Charles M. Graves in 1962 showed that Greenville needs to acquire 350 acres of land for park and recreation areas by 1975 in order to meet the national criteria for city recreational areas."

required to make provision for recreation areas. With a view toward closer coordination with the Greenville Planning and Zoning Commission, Mrs. L. W. Gaylord proposed that a letter be sent to that commission requesting that Director Little be permitted to serve as a member, with or without vote, on the commission, to represent the Recreation Department in matters of recreational lands and areas. This motion was approved.

Little also pointed out that not only are lands needed for new residential areas being developed, but that there is a critical need to acquire recreational areas for heavily populated areas for which no earlier provisions were made. He stated: "We must look back to areas which have been overlooked in the past."

Members of the board expressed their satisfaction about the success of the 1968 swimming program. The program was held at East Carolina University, which, it was noted, gave Greenville outstanding cooperation in providing facilities for this program.

The university made the pool available two hours daily, even though it meant rescheduling some of their own programs. A motion was made to officially express to Dr. Leo Jenkins and Dr. N. M. Jorgensen the appreciation of the Recreation Department for their making possible the swimming program for the children of Greenville.

Eastern Belt To Open August 22

The directors of the Eastern Carolina Warehouse Association today set August 22 as the date for opening the large Eastern Belt.

A telegram, signed by Lawrence H. Wallace, president of the Eastern Carolina Warehousemen's Association and sent to all buying companies following today's meeting said, "Eastern Carolina Warehouse Association Directors met today and consider it of vital importance to tobacco growers and warehousemen that markets of the Eastern Belt open Thursday, August 22."

Figures of Georgia-Florida sales show they will sell approximately 100 per cent of estimated production by Monday, August 19. Open Eastern Belt August 22, should not cause any hardship on buying companies or Georgia-Florida growers."

The telegram also told the companies it is "urgent that we know your buyers will be present," and requested them to telegraph their intentions.

The warehousemen's group represents warehousemen in 15 towns in Eastern North Carolina in the Eastern Belt market area. Today's action was taken by more than a score of directors of the association who were present.

Today's meeting was recessed and is scheduled to be re-opened Friday, August 16 to review replies from the buying companies, spokesmen said.

Group Challenging N. C. Delegation Appeal To Credentials Committee

RALEIGH (AP) — The Credentials Committee of the Democratic National Convention has been asked to order the substitution of several Negro delegates for white delegates from North Carolina.

A group headed by Negro leader Dr. Reginald Hawkins of Charlotte, an unsuccessful candidate for governor, is challenging the North Carolina delegation as it is presently constituted.

In a legal brief filed with the Credentials Committee, the Hawkins group asks that sufficient Negro delegates be substituted for white delegates to give the Negroes 25 per cent of the delegation's vote.

North Carolina's delegation, which will cast 59 votes, has 131 delegates and alternates, including four Negro delegates and six Negro alternates.

The Hawkins group asserts that the present makeup of the delegation "patently denied black Democratic voters the opportunity to participate fully in party affairs."

The legal brief filed with the Credentials Committee was made public Monday by State Democratic Chairman Jimmy V. Johnson through the party's state headquarters in Raleigh.

Johnson said an answer to the Hawkins group's charges will be prepared and filed with the Credentials Committee. He said he understands that North Carolina's plan for selecting delegates has been cleared by Gov. Richard Hughes of New Jersey, chairman of the Democratic National Committee's Special Committee on Equal Rights.

The delegates were selected in district caucuses without regard to race, state party officials say. The State Democratic Convention then approved the selections.

Charlotte attorney James E. Ferguson II wrote the brief submitted in behalf of the North Carolina Committee for More Representative Political Participation, which is headed by Hawkins.

Bob Scott Will Support Only Moore

RALEIGH (AP) — Lt. Gov. Bob Scott insists he is going to the Democratic National Convention uncommitted to either Vice President Hubert Humphrey or Sen. Eugene McCarthy.

Scott, Democratic candidate for governor, was asked Monday about reports that he would not back either of the major Democratic contenders for the presidential nomination. He answered:

"It is my intention to support Gov. (Dan) Moore at the National Convention—period."

North Carolina's 59-vote delegation is pledged to vote for Moore "until released by him."

The favorite son move was regarded as a holding action for Humphrey. However, sentiment has reportedly developed within the delegation to stick with Moore to the end in an effort to avoid identification with a candidate at the national level.

Scott has stated he will keep his pledge as a candidate to back the Democratic ticket from top to bottom.

However, Scott has made it plain that while supporting the Democratic ticket he will not "tear his shirt" for the presidential nominee but will devote his effort to "my own election as governor of North Carolina."

Meanwhile, sources within the North Carolina delegation told WBTV newsmen in Charlotte that McCarthy may gain five or even 10 votes in the delegation if he shows strength in a presidential preference poll now being conducted among Tar Heel Democrats.

Legal Steps Over Selling Hours Hinted By Royster

CHAPEL HILL (AP) — The head of the Bright Belt Warehouse Association hinted Monday night that legal action might result from the decision of the Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Committee setting a five-hour sales day for the big Eastern Belt while holding other belts to four hours.

Fred S. Royster, managing director of the Bright Belt group, pointed out that the committee action will allow a five-hour sales day for some of his members and a four-hour day for others.

"This," he said, "would be discrimination and untenable from a legal standpoint."

Royster said legal action to get all belts on a five hour basis with the price situation up to this time," Royster said in answer to another question. He noted that prices have been stable up to now and said he has reason to expect them to go up. He reiterated his opposition to North Carolina levying a tax on tobacco and said such action would encourage other states to increase their tobacco taxes. North Carolina is the only state without a state tax on tobacco products.

or to collect damages for those held to four hours was possible. He made the comment Monday night in explaining why he had led Bright Belt representatives out of the marketing committee which regulates flue-cured sales. Royster was interviewed over University of North Carolina educational television. In answer to questions, Royster said quality of the 1968 crop is superior to last year's. "I am not entirely pleased

Six More North Koreans Killed

SEOUL (AP) — Six more North Koreans were killed to day in two clashes with South Korean troops along the central sector of the demilitarized zone, the defense ministry reported.

There were no South Korean casualties, the ministry said. Some North Koreans survived the clashes and fled back North, leaving behind five submachine guns, three antitank grenades, three knapsacks and other equipment, the report said.

Key North Vietnamese Is Back At Peace Talk Site

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER, AP Special Correspondent. PARIS (AP) — Le Duc Tho, a key figure in North Vietnam's peace talks, came back to Paris today after a six-week trip to Hanoi. U.S. officials speculated that his return could open an important new stage in the talks.

On his way back, Tho conferred Monday with Soviet officials in Moscow. He said his trip to Hanoi was part of his "regular duties."

Tho returned to Paris a day after Cyrus R. Vance, deputy chief of the U.S. delegation, returned from the United States. There he not only conferred with President Johnson but also briefed Republican presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon on the Paris talks.

Vance met with Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and other U.S. delegation members today. If he brought new instructions—in line with what appears to be at least a new emphasis on a soft line in Washington—there was no outward indication of it.

But there are signs that the Johnson administration's handling of the talks is undergoing either a policy change or a tactical shift tailored to U.S. domestic politics.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, a contender for the Democratic presidential nomination, told the National Committee for a Political Settlement in Vietnam Monday that he thought all bombing of North Vietnam should be stopped if Hanoi showed "restraint and reasonable response" in return. Humphrey said he was dropping the word "reciprocity" to describe conditions for a halt in the bombing.

His letter is subject to their interpretation that the administration is taking a new look at the lull, now almost two months old, in the fighting in South Vietnam to see whether it might be acceptable as a "sign of restraint" to justify ending the bombing.

Humphrey Wins In Ohio Caucus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was the winner Monday night in a caucus of Ohio delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

Presidential candidate preferences showed 60 votes for Humphrey, three for Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, one for Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, 26½ votes uncommitted, and 22½ votes absent.

Goldsboro Board To Enlarge Police Dept.; Crowd Cheers

GOLDSBORO, N. C. (AP) — Goldsboro aldermen voted unanimously Monday night to expand the Police Department by six men and two patrol cars to help fight lawlessness that has plagued the community for months.

The action was applauded by an overflow crowd of citizens inside and outside the packed Wayne County courtroom where the aldermen met. About 1,000 citizens attended.

Their arguments for law and order were made by Richard Helms, an industrialist representing a group of businessmen; James Coley, a Negro foundry worker, and W. A. Foster, Negro principal of East End School and civic leader.

Coley and Foster coupled their endorsement of added police protection with pleas for community action to alleviate problems of the unemployed.

Helms announced that a group of citizens had pledged $5,000 to pay for the two police cars.

He said the problem of burning and bottle throwing was not a race issue, but one of "hoodlumism" and that citizens of both races were living in fear of their lives and property.

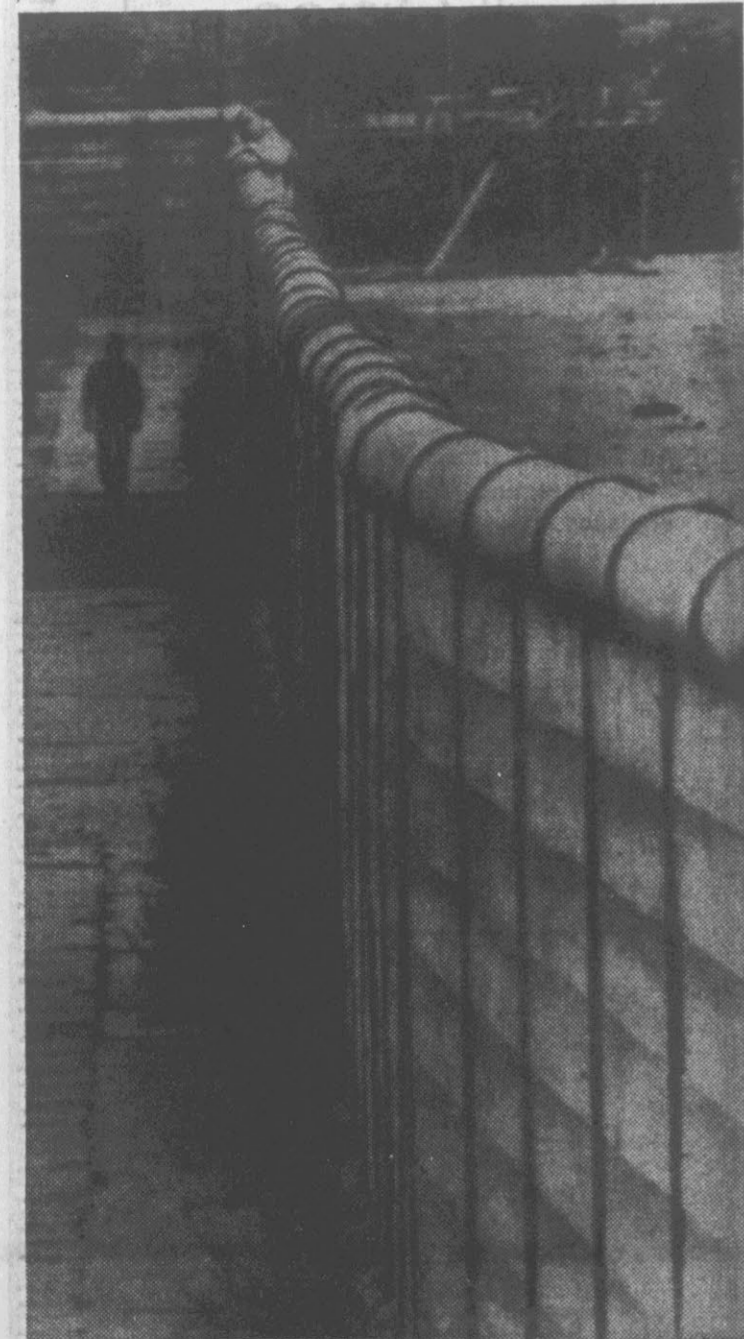

In recent months Goldsboro has been hit by a number of fires, some of them known to have been caused by firebombs.

Motorists traveling some streets in the city have been subjected to bottle and rock throwing.

A group of 11 citizens, mostly businessmen, met last week to study the problem. After conferences with aldermen the city manager, mayor and police officials, they demanded Monday night's special meeting of the board to make their presentation.

Spokesmen for the citizens group said they also were concerned about growing reports that vigilantes were riding at night ready to take the law into their own hands.

Helms said, "It's not going to be done in this way in my town."

Officials Still Hope City Hall Bids Can Be Lowered

Even though bids received for construction of a proposed new city hall were $169,359 more than cost estimates, city officials have hopes the price can be cut through negotiations with the general contractor so the project can proceed as planned.

Architects for the new city hall facility, Smart, Woodall and Associates, estimated the cost of the building at $927,512. Low bids, received July 25 and made public by city officials yesterday, totaled $1,148,159.

The new building, if constructed as planned, will be located at the north end of Evans Street, between First Street and the Tar River.

Planned financing of the construction includes $450,000 in Greenville Utilities Commission funds, and about a quarter of a million dollars from the sale of the present city hall, coupled with federal matching funds.

At the time plans for the new city office building were announced, Mayor S. Eugene West said planning was "predicted on not having a bond election."

West said today that architects and contractors are scheduled to meet this week in an effort to "cut it to a figure we can afford."

"We don't want a hashed up building," West emphasized, however.

"If we can't get the price in line, we will have to re-do the whole thing... plans and all." But, West continued, "we hope that this will not be done, as costs are steadily going up."

Another six months delay "could easily cost us between five and 10 per cent," the mayor commented.

City Manager Harry Hagerly, following instructions, has repeatedly refused to make the bids public. West authorized release of the information yesterday after he learned the bids had already been published in the weekly bulletin of the Carolina Branch of the Association of General Contractors.

The mayor said the bids were not released because, "in this case, we felt it better not to disclose the bids until negotiations were worked out between the architects and contractors."

In all, eight firms bid on the general construction contract, while some 25 sub-contractors submitted proposals under the plumbing, heating and air conditioning, electrical, and elevator installation portions of the bidding.

Included in the list of general construction bidders, in addition to King-Hunter, Inc. of Greensboro who was low at $927,512, were: DWC Contractors, Inc., $930,684; L.B. Gillimore, Inc.,

$955,337; Fred C. Gardner Co., Inc., $997,875; R.N. Rouse and Co., $1,009,210; L.P. Cox Co., $1,012,000; Davidson and Jones, Inc., $1,014,630; and George W. Kane Inc., $1,060,878.

Plumbing contractors included: low bidder Kinston Plumbing and Heating, $25,183; George A. Thompson, $36,333; Smith Plumbing and Heating, $36,400; W.M. Wiggins Co., $36,500; Lenoir Plumbing and Heating, $40,470; and Pemberton, Inc., $43,380.

Heating and Air Conditioning bidders included: low bidder Electricron, Inc. of Kinston, $90,664; White Heating and Sheet Metal, $81,643; Kinston Plumbing and Heating, $84,590; Stahl-Rider, Inc., $86,000; Bolton Air Conditioning and Heating, $89,147; Riddle Brothers, $92,378; Pemberton, Inc., $94,256; Southern Piping Co., $98,800; Holloway Air Conditioning, $106,900; and ABC Air Conditioning, $107,564.

Bids for electrical work were: low bidder Electricron, Inc., $89,200; Watson Electric Construction Co., $94,843; Bryant-Greenville Electric, $99,640; and Howard-Green Electric, $102,499.

Elevator bids included: low, Southern Elevator Co., Greensboro, $15,600; Westbrook Elevator Manufacturing Co., $16,000.

Nixon To Give Crime Top Billing

Israeli Move 2 Syrian MIGs To Secret Base

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israel today shifted the two Syrian air force MIG17 jet fighters which landed at an Israeli airfield Monday to a secret air force base.

The planes were hauled away by trucks during the night. Troops had to uproot road signs and other obstacles along the narrow road leading south from the airfield in northern Israel.

A blackout of the interrogation of the pilots was maintained, and 24 hours after the planes touched down, there was still no official explanation for the sudden arrival of the fighters.

Even the Israeli press, which usually agrees to security restrictions, was indignant that no reason had been offered.

There has been speculation Israel would try to exchange the two planes for the Boeing 707 airliner hijacked from the Israeli airline last month and still held in Algeria.

Some newspapers assumed in their editorials that the two Syrian pilots had defected, because of "the rottenness of the Syrian regime, where one officer undermines another."

Another possibility suggested here was that the pilots had run out of fuel and attempted to land in Lebanon. The Israeli airfield where they landed is only two miles south of the Lebanese-Israeli frontier.

A Syrian military spokesman said the planes were flown by new pilots on a training mission. He indicated they had lost their way in bad weather, run out of fuel and been forced to land.

A top advisor to Republican candidate Richard M. Nixon says crime and civil disorders—issues Nixon aides consider potentially troublesome—will get top billing in the campaign.

Aides said Monday the issues are crucial and a difficulty will be to stress law and order without appearing insensitive to slum problems or overshadowing Nixon's proposals for easing them.

Nixon has said order and civil rights progress must go hand in hand.

The candidate's proposed program of "black capitalism" to offer Negroes "a piece of the action" of American enterprise is attracting interest in the Negro community, said Charles S. Rhyne, chairman of United Citizens for Nixon.

Nixon's running mate, Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew, said in San Francisco, meanwhile, that violence and disorder are not the answer to civil rights problems.

"Those who feel civil rights and lawlessness are compatible must be convinced otherwise," Agnew said.

He spoke of "the many wonderful Negro citizens in this country who are completely disenfranchised" with militants who advocate violence.

A group of 18 Baltimore Negro leaders accused Agnew Monday of "antipathy toward black people" and said they have organized to spread his record of "inadequacies" throughout the nation.

A $5 million Nixon-Agnew effort to win Democratic and independent votes was announced Monday by Rhyne. He said five million workers are to be enlisted and one million already have signed up.

On the Democratic side, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy urged his nondelegate supporters to stay away from the Democratic National Convention, and called Nixon's campaign promises on Vietnam and other issues "irrelevant to the reality of 1968."

"The presence of large numbers of visitors amidst the summer tensions of Chicago," McCarthy said to his supporters, "may well add to the possibility of unintended violence or disorder."

The Democratic presidential contender said Nixon, after urging greater military effort in the Vietnam war, now "tells us he will settle it without saying how."

A McCarthy aide, Norval Reece, meanwhile predicted the Minnesota senator will spend about $4 million in his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Sen. George S. McGovern launched a concerted two-week campaign Monday for the Democratic nomination, calling for an end to the draft system and cuts in spending to the military-industrial complex.

McGovern said the draft should be replaced with a voluntary system that pays well enough to draw adequate numbers of servicemen.

The South Dakota senator said he hopes to line up 200 to 250 delegate votes on the first ballot at the Democratic National Convention starting Aug. 26 in Chicago.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, easing previous wording, said Monday that "restraint and reasonable response" by Hanoi should be the price for a halt to the bombing of North Vietnam.

He said his previous use of the word "reciprocity" as the price had been "misinterpreted as a harsh and rigid word. This certainly was not my intent."

The vice president explained his position in a letter to the National Committee for a Political Settlement in Vietnam, whose eight-point program he had endorsed except for its call for a unilateral halt to the U.S. bombing.

Seven Grain Bins Are Left To Be Auctioned

Seven surplus commodity grain bins remain to be auctioned off, according to Stacy Evans, chairman of the Pitt County Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service.

The bins, owned by the Commodity Credit Corporation, have a capacity of 3280 bushels, and are located on the parking lot across from the fairgrounds.

The auctions are held daily on site, and will continue until all bins are sold, according to Evans. Evans said that the minimum bid price is $482.00 for each bin.

The bins are steel and unassembled, Evans said. The purchaser is responsible for moving the bins, as the terms of the sale are "as is" and "where is." Some 3,300 Commodity Credit Corporation owned grain bins from three midwestern states will add approximately 10.5 million bushels of storage capacity to farms in 15 eastern and southern states this year, according to Evans.

This is the second year of a program in which farmers in storage-short areas in the East and South have been given the opportunity to purchase bins which were then dismantled and shipped to them.

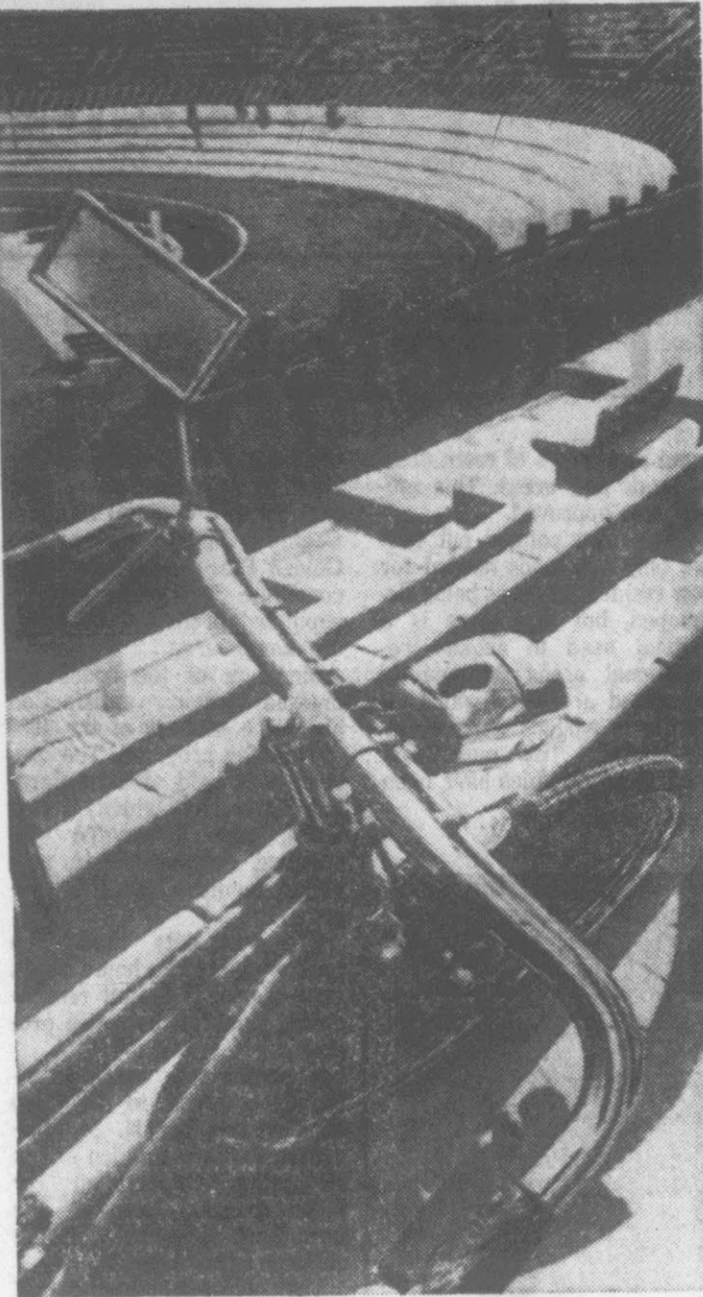

Total storage capacity added to farms in these states through sale of the surplus bins in the two year period is approximately 32.5 million bushels.

This year 300 bins were shipped to North Carolina under the program.

Evans said that purchase of the grain storage structures has substantially helped farmers to market their crops over a much wider period and thus guard against price-depressing effects of temporary excessive market supplies, especially at harvest time.

If any person is interested in one or more of these bins, he is asked to contact the ASCS office here.

Quality Better, Prices Firm On Border Markets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Quality of offerings was better as grade prices held firm with more gains than losses Monday on flue-cured tobacco markets of the South Carolina-Border North Carolina Belt.

The Federal - State Market News Service said fair quality tobacco made up almost or half of the marketings with leaf grades predominated followed by lugs.

Volume of sales was heavy with all markets reported as blocked.

The news service reported sales last week totaled 39,151,505 pounds with an average price of $69.04 per hundred pounds.

Death Valley Recluse Is Dead

After all those lonely years Slim was the last resident of Ballarat, now a ghost town. Welfare records indicated he was born Charles Ferge on Oct. 21, 1881, in Springfield, Ill., but Slim always said, "I got no people... I was born in an orphanage."

The last of Ballarat's seven saloons shut down in 1917, after the gold and silver mines petered out, but Slim stayed.

"I don't get lonely," he explained. "Hell, I'm half coyote and half wild burro."

Last Tuesday Slim was found ailing in his rundown trailer in Ballarat's ruins. He was taken 70 miles to Trona, but he lived only five days.

A simple funeral is planned Saturday in Boot Hill. It will be the first burial in Ballarat in half a century.

Ayden Building Codes Are Revised By Board

AYDEN — Several building codes were revised and one new code added at Monday night's meeting of the Ayden Town Board.

In order to bring their public housing codes up to date in compliance with federal housing acts and requirements, all old building codes in effect were rescinded, the latest codes adopted or re-adopted, and a new code, the Southern Standard Housing Code, adopted.

In addition to the new code, former codes re-adopted include: North Carolina State Building Code, N.C. State Plumbing Code, N. C. State Uniform Residential Code, and the National Electrical Code.

The board authorized Mayor

Ross Persinger to enter into an agreement with McDavid Associates of Farmville for preparation of plans for a new well for the city water supply.

The board also approved the town manager to attend a Municipal Administration course at the Institute of Government in Chapel Hill. This course, 160 hours long, covers a period of about six months, mostly conducted over the weekends.

A request was received for rezoning of Area B2, a business zone, to include one establishment's retailing of farm supplies and fertilizers. This request was referred to the planning board for final action.

John Clark Noble was appointed Building and Plumbing Inspector for the town of Ayden.

'Hidden Dead' Of Vietnam Tagged As Victims Of Nonhostile Causes

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Without the enemy firing a shot, the equivalent of two to three squads of GIs die each week in Vietnam, becoming in effect the hidden dead of the war.

They are the victims of disease or mishap who are lumped toward the end of the casualty reports as simply "dead from nonhostile causes."

Although the rate for Vietnam is lower than in two previous wars, noncombat deaths represent a consistent manpower drain of major cumulative proportions.

Since Jan. 1, 1961, noncombat deaths listed by the Pentagon total at least 4,300—roughly 14 per cent of all American losses in the war.

Military medical men say the noncombat death rate in Vietnam is slightly lower than in World War II or Korea but not enough to boast about.

Because of improved medicines and quicker treatment, U.S. servicemen stricken with disease have a better chance of pulling through in Vietnam than in other wars. But sea and land accidents persist, accounting for large numbers of deaths.

A computerized tabulation made by the Pentagon covering the period Jan. 1, 1961 through May 30, 1968, lists 3,936 "nonhostile" deaths. The total rose to 4,298 as of Aug. 3.

Of the 3,936 deaths checked by computer, 2,229 occurred in aircraft crashes on land and sea, 336 in vehicular accidents, 226 from disease (more than one-fifth from malaria), 123 from heart attack or stroke, 293 from accidental homicide, 779 from various other accidents and the remainder from assorted other causes.

Medical statisticians warn that there are many variables, figure the noncombat fatality rate in Vietnam is 3.5 per-thousand men per-year.

Compared to 3.7 per-thousand per-year in Korea (1950-1952) and 3.9 per-thousand per-year in all overseas theaters of World War II (1942-45). However, the nonhostile rate in the European theater in World War II was only 3.6.

"There is nothing dramatic or astonishing in the Vietnam figure," said one official. "At best it is only an indication that things aren't going to pot."

The question of whether a death is to be categorized "hostile" or "nonhostile" usually is clearcut. But it sometimes enters a gray area where interpretations may be required up to the service headquarters level in the Pentagon.

The basic decision—which may be reversed after review by high echelons—is made in Vietnam, sometimes at battalion and division levels. Interpretations may be simple but occasionally are difficult to the point of controversy, and can vary from service to service.

Example: A jeep runs over a U.S. mine. The ruling in one such case was hostile, because officers held that the mine wouldn't have been along that road were it not for the presence of the enemy.

Example: A man wading across a river during a night patrol drowns. The ruling in this case was to reverse an original "hostile" listing to "nonhostile" on grounds the patrol encountered no enemy resistance.

But, in another case, two B52s collided en route before arriving in Vietnam for a bombing strike. The original ruling was "nonhostile," but officials later changed it on grounds that the bombers wouldn't have been flying in such tight formation except during a bombing mission.

Nonhostile labels often are viewed with indignation by servicemen's widows or other close relatives who sometimes complain that if it wasn't for Vietnam and a hostile enemy their loved one wouldn't have been there to die.

Benefits are the same in hostile or nonhostile deaths except that only those killed in action or dying from hostile wounds get the Purple Heart.

Ferries Taxed In Summer Season

State officials should give serious consideration to increasing the number of daily trips of the vital Ocracoke-Cedar Island ferry to North Carolina's Outer Banks.

There have been this summer an increasing number of complaints from Tar Heels and out-of-staters because of long delays and stranding caused by the heavy demand for the ferries.

The number of automobiles seeking to use the ferries is simple greater than the capacity of the boats in their present daily schedule. The inevitable result is that vacationing families have been stranded for an extra night on the outer banks, or have had to drive an extra couple of hundred miles the long way around to the mainland. Others, planning to visit the famed seashore, have been discouraged by the long line of cars waiting on the mainland side — enough cars to indicate it would be tomorrow rather than today before those already in line would be accommodated.

Some relief could be provided if the state would operate the ferries on more daily round trips during the busy summer season. It would mean operating the ferries after dark, and it probably would also require another crew for each of the ferries; but neither of these problems should be insurmountable. If the number of daily trips were increased, North Carolina would be providing a greater service to its people and to its out-of-state tourists it has spent literally millions to attract.

If North Carolina would make the extra effort during the busy summer season, it could make a good many in-state and out-of-state tourists a lot happier with better ferry service. It would also build considerable good will for its tourist business where it is now sending far too many disappointed and disgruntled tourists back to their homes in this and other states.

interested in framing a constructive budget.

Sen. White also is retiring, in a sense. He was not a candidate for re-election and will bow out of the legislature in 1969. But White also feels keenly a sense of responsibility and duty to shape a sound, practical and progressive budget for the 1969 lawmakers.

In addition, White is advising Lt. Gov. Bob Scott on budget and appropriations matters as an active Scott-for-governor campaigner. At the same time, White has been helping Governor Moore make decisions on some important budget questions.

Politics Mentioned

At least twice on the biennial summer tour of the Advisory Budget Commission, Senator White made pointed political comments.

The locales were Wilmington and Morganton—in New Hanover and Burke Counties both of which, on occasion, have voted Republican.

White mentioned that these two counties have large complexes of state-supported facilities such as sports, colleges, hospitals, new highways, bridges and other things made possible by the state's Democratic administration. He wondered why counties enjoying such advantages would turn against the party which made them possible.

Roadbuilding Record

The State Highway Commission is about to announce a new record for spending on highway construction, bridge-building and road improvements during a single year.

The next letting will put it over the top, exceeding a record established last year. Sources indicate the figure will be nearly $750 million—or three-quarters of a billion dollars.

In addition to the paper announcement of contracts and projects now scheduled, the next few weeks will bring some striking visible results—all of which will be given due notice.

One will be dedication and opening of the new $33 million Pigeon River gorge route of Interstate 40 through the mountains to Tennessee, tentatively scheduled for Oct. 24. Tennessee highway officials have been invited to join in ribbon-cutting ceremonies and speechmaking on the state line.

Neither Wants Ties To Nat'l Candidates

Gov. George Wallace's presidential candidacy is obviously expected to have a significant impact upon North Carolina ballots in the gubernatorial election as well as in the presidential election.

It has become obvious that both Lt. Gov. Robert Scott and Congressman Jim Gardner are positioning themselves to avoid being tied to the presidential candidate of their respective party. At the Republican convention last week Gardner bolted the Nixon group of which earlier he was a part, and became one of the strong supporters of Gov. Reagan. While he has not rejected Nixon as the GOP presidential candidate, he has not tied himself to the GOP presidential nominee so far as the fall campaign is concerned.

On the other side of the political fence, Bob Scott has said he will support Gov. Dan Moore, "period" for the Democratic nomination. By following this course Scott obviously hopes to keep himself and his campaign separated from the presidential campaign efforts of Hubert Humphrey in North Carolina.

Scott views Humphrey as a political liability in North Carolina in November just as Gardner apparently views Nixon the same way. Neither wants to be tied to his party's presidential candidate and neither wants to offend voters who are strong for Alabama's Gov. Wallace on a third party presidential ticket.

Whatever the outcome in November at the national or state level, North Carolina can hardly expect its governor for the next four years to have a very close relationship with the White House. And it may as well make up its mind to doing without some of those political favors from Washington which can only come from the White House.

Conclusions To Be Jumped At

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Jumping to conclusions:

Women and professional athletes fret most about their health. Women often go to doctors chiefly to add a little variety to their lives, but a pro athlete's whole career hangs upon his health, and he can worry himself into ulcers over it. Even a hangnail bothers an athlete more than it does an ordinary person. He feels even the slightest imperfection in his body machinery is a potential threat to his earning power.

The average do in America now eats a more balanced diet than the average teenager. He has fewer dental cavities, too.

Wearing too-tight clothing is one of the main causes of melancholy and bad temper among adults. It is hard to show much loving kindness when your feet hurt and a choking collar is shutting down the blood supply to our brain. We'd have a more friendly and hopeful national mood if Congress simply passed a law forcing every man and woman over 40 to wear shoes a half size larger and men to wear shirts a half size bigger at the neck.

With so many people becoming amateur painters in order to express their inner personality, one of the big problems of modern living is what to do with one of their creations when you politely admire it and they insist on presenting it to you. We hung one on our living room wall recently. Our cat took one look, arched its back in panic.

Tucker Succeeds Sheriff Sellers

L. B. Tucker of Winterville was today appointed deputy sheriff, succeeding Manly Sellers, who resigned the latter part of last week to take over the office of city manager of streets of the City of Greenville. Mr. Tucker is well known throughout the county. He was employed by J. E. Winslow several months ago, but since that time has been connected with Hammer Mills Corporation.

Mary Catherine Woolard Celebrates Birthday

On Friday afternoon Mary Catherine Woolard, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Woolard entertained about fifteen of her little friends at a birthday party. On arrival the guests were served fruit punch after which the little ones enjoyed games on the lawn. Master Chas. Ives of Bethel, a little cousin, was present and his birthday being in the same month, a cake with three candles was fixed for him. The climax was reached when it was announced there was a truck in the back yard to take the crowd for a hay ride. After a ride down town and out in the country, they stopped at a drug store for a final refreshment. Mary received many attractive gifts. One she prized especially is a piano from her daddy.

Misses Eulalie and Mattie Perkins returned today from Morehead.

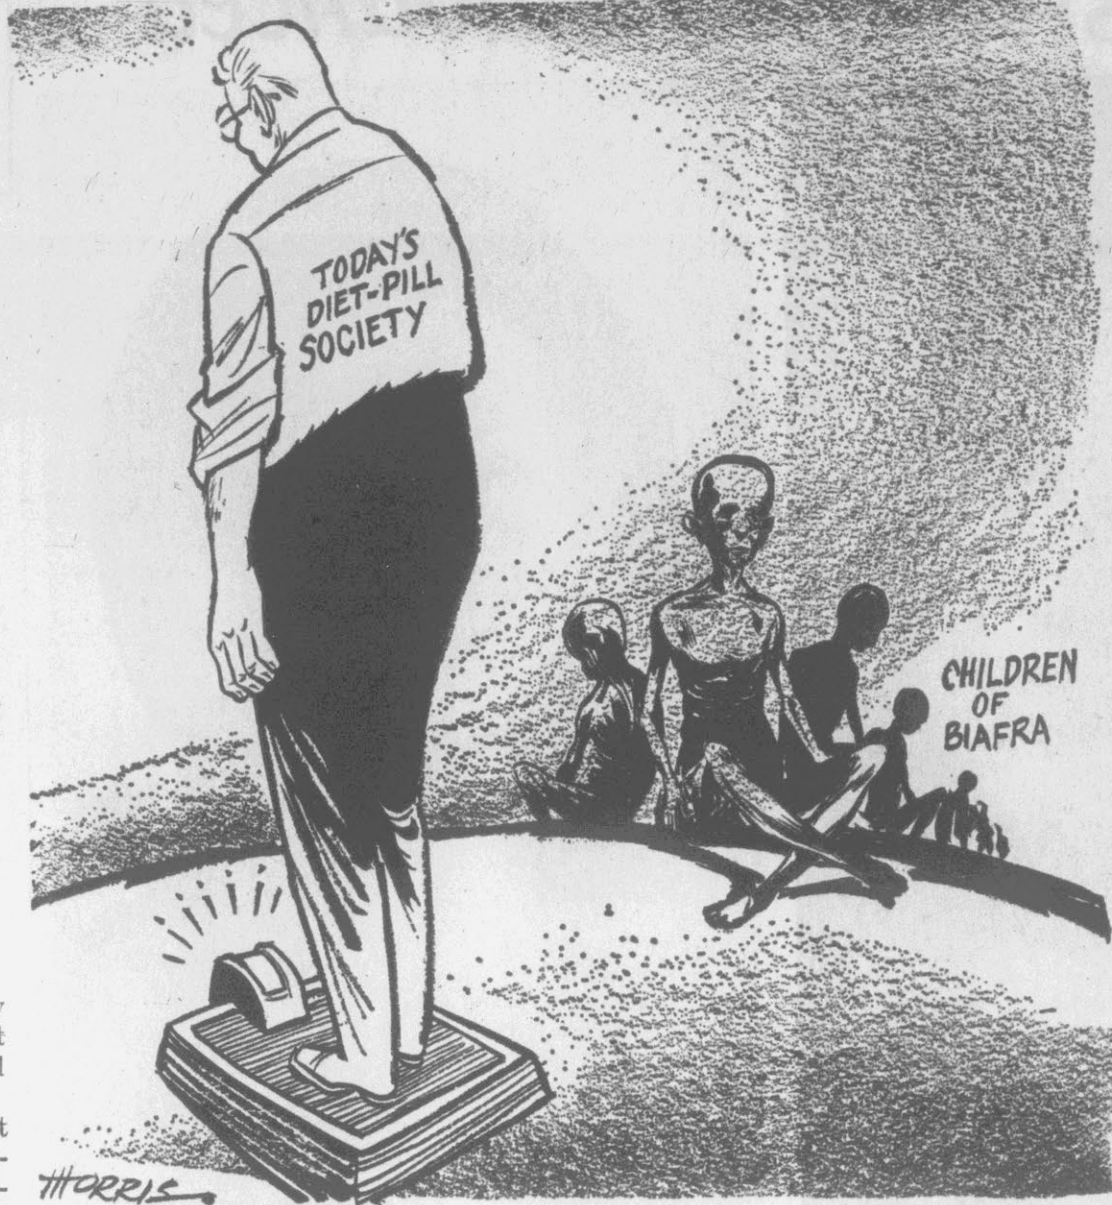

Misses Myrtle and Mary Ida McLawhorn of Winterville was here today.

Miss Mary Warren is visiting her sister, Mrs. George Sharpe in Burlington.

Bruce Tucker left today to join friends who will spend some time in New York.

Miss Virginia Arthur has returned from New York, Washington, D. C. and Winston-Salem.

The Elementary Lunacy

Richard Nixon told his friends, back in January, that Wisconsin was the key. He was talking then about the Wisconsin primary. As it turned out, at 1:47 o'clock Thursday morning, Wisconsin put him over the top.

There will be time enough, later on, to ponder the large question of whether Nixon can win in November. It will depend upon a dozen factors, maybe a hundred factors. Some of these will be under his control; some won't. The magnetic attraction of George Wallace of Alabama remains the greatest impediment.

Meanwhile, something ought to be said, out of the dull gray paralysis of boredom, about the elementary lunacy of the whole convention madness.

Doubtless the Democrats are committed in Chicago to the same juvenile silliness just witnessed at Miami Beach. Doubtless a thousand straw contracts have been signed in Chicago, as they were signed with the innkeepers of Miami; doubtless a thousand straw hats have been ordered, lapel buttons stamped, spontaneous demonstrators just as well rehearsed.

But, Mr. Chairman, let this be the last hurrah. In the name of common sense — in the name of the image of America that is flashed by satellite around the world — let us resolve that 1972 will witness an end to the bogus mardi gras that debases and demeans the serious business of these conventions.

It is getting toward 3 o'clock in the morning as I write, but this conviction has been growing for 20 years. On Wednesday night, the country and the world witnessed a spectacle that has to be regarded as incomprehensible, both at home and abroad.

Hour after hour, the delegates to this convention were subjected to a dreary tattoo of dreary speeches. There was no attention. There was nothing to pay attention to. Nine frivolous candidacies, each of them dully seconded, put half the hall to sleep. If these favorite sons thought they were grabbing political advantage or personal publicity, their efforts proved a dismal failure. The show was a boob.

Why do we submit to these idiotia gambols? The answer is that tradition demands it — and not merely Republican tradition, but Democratic tradition also. The two parties are equally insane. But tradition ought not to be accepted indefinitely or unthinkingly. The time has come to toss this particular tradition overboard.

Therefore, suppose the two major party chairmen meet within the next few months, and enter into a solemn compact: No more stupid demonstrations. No more confetti. No more marching bands. No straw hats permitted in the hall. Let a positive rule be enforced, limiting candidacies to serious candidacies, and abolishing the seconding speeches altogether.

The two parties ought to agree to reforms — Mr. Eisen-

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
TYRANNY OF MOODS

There is probably nothing harder for one to do than to maintain a consistent attitude toward life and its events. Moods get in our way and push us over to the right or left or down into the path of despondency. Happy indeed is that person who can maintain a wholesome attitude of control over moods, events and personal attitudes.

Some people are just blessed with a spirit of equanimity which keeps them on a satisfactory plane of existence most of the time. Others tear their hair and explode or the most minute circumstances. It is a hard thing to face life as it is and to maintain an attitude of quiet and consistent policy, come what may.

If we are afflicted with what is sometimes called a mercurial disposition, we can do something about it by mere exercise of will and commonsense. Most of us need to take ourselves in hand and stop letting life drag us along by the hair of the head. Many people rush to the office of a psychiatrist when they could themselves handle the situation which they are asking someone else to handle for a good-sized fee. The outstanding word for people such as this to ponder is "maintain." They need consistent policy in their everyday handling of affairs. They need to get on top of their emotions instead of allowing their emotions to get on top of them and trample them into the earth.

Maintain, maintain, maintain — it can be done.

Public Forum

To The Editor:

In a recent poll we conducted in Pitt, Johnston, Wilson, Craven, Martin and Beaufort counties to determine how George Wallace supporters would vote for governor. We found the following result.—We questioned only Wallace supporters and out of 287 that we surveyed 225 stated they would vote for Jim Gardner. 39 stated they would vote for Bob Scott and 23 were undecided. It was interesting to see how many cars carried George Wallace and Jim Gardner bumper stickers.

Gardner will get the overwhelming vote of both Richard Nixon and George Wallace supporters. With this combination it is not surprising that Gardner is leading in polls taken throughout the state.

The people in Eastern North Carolina are fed up and want to help bring sanity back to our state and nation. It is too bad that a choice has to be made between Richard Nixon and George Wallace. Both men, along with youthful Jim Gardner, are great leaders and outstanding Americans.

Job Seekers Bear Brunt

Job seekers and job switchers will bear the brunt of the order. For example, on Sunday a week ago the New York Times carried 453 columns of help-wanted advertisements, divided into 282 columns of male opportunities and 171 columns of female. On Sunday, Dec. 1, those seeking a new job will conceivably have to wade through 450 columns of listings.

Furthermore, when they spot a desirable job, they will never know whether their application will be ignored because the employer may feel that only a person of the other sex will do.

The commission does permit separation when it is clear that only persons of one sex can fill a job. For instance, an ad for a brassiere demonstrator could legally be listed under "female help wanted," and an ad for men's room attendant could be listed under "men wanted."

This would lead to three classifications in newspapers: male help wanted; female help wanted and what-have-you? help wanted.

How It Came About

Of course, as women have been demonstrating for some years now, they can handle many jobs once restricted to men. In fact, when a woman is appointed the second vice president of a corporation, she no longer gets her picture and photo on page one. Today she's usually a paragraph on the financial pages.

But the commission ruling won't speed that equality process. The fair-employment legislation in Congress was originally written to prevent job discrimination because of race, religion and ethnic origins. But some Congressmen added "sex" to the bill, not because they were Southern gentlemen but because they wanted to sabotage the law, perhaps hoping that Congress would rather kill the bill than dare women's wrath by removing sex.

Congress didn't eliminate sex, and passed the bill anyhow. Now it looks as if the Cuckoo Commission, which is headed by Stephen N. Shulman of Virginia, is out to make the law ridiculous.

Revolt Against South

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

MIAMI BEACH — The brief but passionate revolt on the Republican convention floor against the nomination of Gov. Spiro Agnew for Vice President was really a symbol of growing protest by industrial-state Republicans over the South's new power in the party.

The revolt was fed by passion far more than generally believed. It might have come fairly close to victory had Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York but winked his consent for a floor fight against Agnew's.

The intensity of the Northern emotion stemmed from a conviction that Richard M. Nixon had endangered good victory prospects by passing over better known, more magnetic Vice Presidential possibilities at the dictates of the South.

As we have reported from here, Nixon could not have been nominated on the first ballot had not Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina put his massive prestige on the line to stop the drain of Southern delegates to Gov. Ronald Reagan. The certainty that Thurmond would exact a high price for that service became obvious in the early hours of Thursday morning.

Opening at 4 a.m. meeting with key supporters to decide on a running-mate, Nixon asserted that his Vice President would have to be acceptable to all sections—in effect, bestowing veto power on the South.

As the floor was opened for suggestions, Gov. James A. Rhodes pressed Lindsay on Nixon. One moderate Congressman insisted that Nixon should pick either Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois, or Lindsay. Nixon himself disposed of Rockefeller on grounds that he would not accept. But Southerners present, headed by Thurmond, took care of Percy and Lindsay.

The link that joins black militants to both Percy and Lindsay was carefully avoided by the Southerners, who cloaked their real reason for vetoing those two. Instead, objections were voiced to their dovish were also derogatory personal references to Percy by Southerners and Westerners. Nobody could have walked out of those sessions without knowing that both had been eliminated.

They weren't alone. The Southerners next exterminated Sen. Mark Hatfield, again for his dovish views. With one possibility after another eliminated for this or that reason, the once voluminous list finally dwindled down to Agnew and Gov. John Volpe of Massachusetts. Once again, Thurmond's axe moved, this time cutting down Volpe (who had been led to understand he would be the choice right up to 20 minutes before Agnew was announced).

In contrast to Thurmond's intimate contact with the Vice Presidential selection process, the party's Congressional leaders — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen and Rep. Gerald Ford — were not consulted until 9 a.m. Thursday and came away with the impression that Volpe was the choice.

Rockett was never consulted ("He never consulted us about anything," a Nixon man confided) and learned of Agnew's selection over television. (Continued On Page 5)

One does not wish to be a spoil sport. Politics can be fun, and it would be equally absurd to propose that all the hoopla be drained from the campaigns as a whole. Once the candidates are out on the hustings, let them use every technique of crowd appeal that seems to them useful.

But the nomination of candidates for the most powerful office in the world ought to be regarded as a serious business with dignity, with a high sense of decorum, with order and efficiency and quiet. This business of New Year's Eve in the middle of the summer is nonsense, pure and simple. To hell with the trombones and balloons. Let's go to bed.

(Continued From Page 4) vision. When Nixon's TV announcement declared that he had conferred with some 100 party leaders, Rockefeller nudged a friend and said: "I'm the 101st." Party leaders from Michigan, California, and Pennsylvania got the same warm treatment.

Thus, the angry conviction that Nixon had committed an irretrievable blunder to prevent victory in 1960 was now compounded in the North by humiliation at being superseded by Thurmond, soon to complete his fourth anniversary in the party. Accordingly, Lindsay - for - Vice President sentiment, fanned by Rep. Charles Goodell of New York, spread over the unhappy convention floor.

The big Ohio delegation, led by Gov. James A. Rhodes (who was the first to suggest a Nixon-Lindsay ticket), talked about going for Lindsay. Ready to go were New York, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Kansas, Iowa, and good-sized pieces of other delegations. The revolt probably would have fallen well short, but it would have revealed to Nixon the full fury of party leaders over his knuckling under the South.

However, Lindsay, who had flatly refused to make the race during two afternoon conversations with Goodell, said no again under tense and strained circumstances Thursday night. That ended the revolt.

Killer In Florida Phones 'Please Catch Me'

By DENNIS FRIEL Associated Press Writer FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Warning their quarry may kill again, police today hunted for a man who directed them by telephone to the body of a young girl and her wounded mother and then begged: "Please catch me. Please."

Acing on telephone calls from a man who said, "I've murdered three people," police Monday located the body of an 11-year-old girl and her critically wounded mother.

The caller told police if they wanted to find his victims' bodies to "go down to the airport and then there's one in the water and there's one on a side street."

The woman, Mrs. Dorothy A. Clark, 42, of Clarkston, Ga., was found slumped over the wheel of a car parked at the Fort Lauderdale-Hollywood International Airport. She was bleeding from five bullet wounds in her head and neck. She was reported in critical condition.

Motorists discovered the body of her daughter, Marilyn, at the edge of a side road four miles away in Hollywood. The girl, clad in the bottom half of a two-piece bathing suit and a cotton blouse, had been shot twice in the head.

Opine Politics Isn't For Their Corporate Employee

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Can a corporate employee be a good worker and an elected politician at the same time? In many instances he apparently cannot, judging from opinions expressed in a recent survey of 1,033 companies.

The answers have special significance in an election year. But they serve also as a contrast to some widely held corporate views, typical among them:

—“Business must involve itself in the social problems of the community. It must participate. It must fulfill its obligation as a corporate citizen.”

—“No matter what we businessmen do we'll never be able to make politicians understand the requirements of business. They'll always suspect our motives.”

The opposition to political involvement by employees would seem, therefore, to contradict the first attitude and make the second attitude seem fatuous.

The study, by the nonpartisan National Industrial Conference Board, showed that 80 per cent of the companies studied encouraged workers to register and vote.

However, the percentage of support dropped off sharply as the degree of political activity increased. Only 41 per cent said they encouraged contributions to political parties and only 30 per cent encouraged running for office.

The reasons given varied. Many companies said they felt politics was none of their business. Some public utilities noted that government regulations discouraged their participation. A few retail stores feared customer reactions. Some cited labor union opposition.

Few top executives, of course, can forget the experience of New Jersey Bell Telephone Co. last year. The company was proud of its political involvement, reporting in its 1966 annual report that it employed 15 mayors, 58 councilmen, 68 school board members, 11 tax assessors and a state assemblyman.

Within months, one of these employees was accused of making anti-Semitic remarks and New Jersey Bell was in hot water over a matter that had nothing to do with corporate attitudes.

Although only one company in three encouraged political activity, the corporate political activists stated their case firmly. Said the president of a large oil company:

“Whenever a community or nation finds itself in difficulty, there may be, and probably are, dozens of surface reasons. A much more fundamental cause may be discovered, however, in the indifference of its citizens.”

This year business still seems to favor leaving the business of government to the politicians.

New Movie Idol Fears He'll Be Shot

By LINDA DEUTSCH
Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The movies' latest handsome young idol has this fear: “I keep thinking someone's going to try to shoot me,” says Christopher Jones, 26, star of “Wild in the Streets.”

Unusual hangup? Not for a guy who plays the first 25-year-old president of the United States in a film which is bringing in 7,500 fan letters a week and threatening to bulge box office coffers like nothing since “The Sound of Music.”

In the film, Chris is Max Frost, rebellious rock 'n' roll singer who leads 15-year-olds in a move to take over the United States. He joyfully consigns over-35s to concentration camps and poisons Washington's water supply with LSD.

All the while he is softly handsome, appealing, magnetic.

In persons, Christopher Jones has Max Frost's best attributes — handsome, petulant, sexy with deep blue eyes and a crooked smile.

“I ran away from the orphanage when I was 14, and then I wound up where my dad was living. I got him to sign me into the service when I was 16. When I split from the service, I went to the Actors' Studio in New York. I always wanted to be an actor, I guess.”

Jones leaves out parts of his story: The death of his mother when he was four; the years in Memphis, Tenn., before his flight to freedom; the marriage to actress Susan Strasberg; the birth of their now 2-year-old daughter, Jennifer; the divorce; the year of starring as television's Jesse James.

Now there is the phenomenal success of “Wild in the Streets” and the assurance that Chris is going to be rich. He has completed a three-picture contract with American International Pictures and is off to London to star in “The Looking Glass War,” the first of a five-picture deal with Columbia.

The success of “Wild in the Streets” confuses him.

“It was just a picture, you know. Just a job. I saw it in bits and pieces in the cutting room. It wasn't supposed to turn out the way it did. It was supposed to be a spoof.”

Some say the picture, the way it turned out, may have a powerful, if not harmful, effect on the young. Chris doesn't think so.

“The kids will take it as a put-on.”

Of President Max Frost, he says: “I don't like him. I don't like anyone who's that hungry for power.”

And he resents being identified with Frost.

“People in America are so ferent from Europeans. Here they see you as the character you portray. In Europe they see you as a person.”

'Young Things' Are Dispensable

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Network television's new season holds out little promise as a period of stimulating innovation in broadcast entertainment, but it may go down in the books as a time when two minority groups — television minorities, anyway — receive some unusual if overdone attention.

The new interest in casting Negro performers as regular and temporary members of series' casts has been widely publicized. Negroes will star, co-star and be featured cast members in at least one-quarter of next season's shows, not even counting the 13 variety programs and all the movie reruns. Most dramatic series are planning episodes built around Negro guest stars, whether the programs are Westerns or situation comedies.

Less publicized but certainly new is the emergence of women as stars in a medium which over the years has used girls primarily to brighten up the screens, add mild love interest to stale plots and provide an excuse for publicity pictures of a type believed to be favored by magazine and newspaper picture editors.

In the forthcoming season, two women will have their own variety hours—Carol Burnett and Phyllis Diller, both funny but neither the femme fatale type.

Doris Day and Diahann Carroll, two puissant show-business and box-office names, will be starring in new situation comedies. They illustrate TV's new maturity kick since both will be playing widows with children. Lucille Ball, who after 16 years has got to be television's first lady, will also be around as usual, this time frankly over 35 because her own two teen-agers, Lucie and Desi Arnaz, will co-star as her kids.

Over the seasons, older women—that means anything over 25 in TV land—have been demonstrating their staying power while the pretty young things have been as dispensable as facial tissues.

Uncounted numbers of girls with names like Laurie, Lynn and Linda have come—and gone—from our screens. One comedy series, specializing in pretty girls, has had almost total overhauls of casting twice—and most of the show's fans never even realized it.

Yet Barbara Stanwyck, 61 and white-haired, just keeps rolling along that “Big Valley.” It was originally intended to have Aunt Bea of “The Andy Griffith Show” return only occasionally to the new “Mayberry R.F.D.” but the fan mail piled up so alarmingly that Frances Bavier, a warm, motherly type, will just transfer from Sheriff Andy's house and continue on, housekeeper as usual, for Ken Berry, star of the new sequel to the old favorite.

Irene Ryan, “Beverly Hills-62” Granny, is hardly a contemporary sex symbol, but she just received a raise and a share of the show's residuals under a new contract. Eve Arden and Kaye Ballard playing “Mothers-in-law” with grown children are returning for a second season in a tough time spot that had spelled disaster for a succession of shows before that.

There are assorted reasons for television's continuing girl problem. One theory is that the audience likes its adventurous heroes to be fancy free, so the women can dream and the men can identify. Besides a steady girl friend is a nuisance in stories where the emphasis is on action.

Women, an important even dominating part of the television audience, are more likely to resent gorgeous young things but feel comfortable and unthreatened by comedienne or motherly types.

A beautiful but fading film star once confessed that if she had had it to do all over again, she would have started out as a character actress, “because it doesn't matter how old or wrinkled you get, you can keep working.”

Watts Now Quiet, Los Angeles Police Depart.

By DON HARRISON
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police packed up their ammunition and abandoned their Watts command post before dawn today at the end of 24 hours of controversial "saturation" patrolling of the Negro district.

juries, but a police spokesman said the only activity Monday night was an increase in minor fires. One fire did $35,000 damage to a quilting plant four miles from the disturbance scene in south-central Los Angeles. The fire's origin was undetermined. Long before sunup, police closed the command post in Al Locke High School from which 2,000 officers had been directed on constant patrol. Rumors of trouble whipped through Watts Monday night; but that's what they turned out to be—rumors. There was little more than normal night activity. All three of the dead Sunday were Negro men. Police said at least two were killed by Negro gunfire, and the third may have been shot by police, who reacted quickly and massively to sniping and looting.

Six of the wounded were policemen. Thirty-six other persons were treated for gun wounds and six for injuries. Two were listed as critical. There were 35 arrests, 28 of them on felony charges. The outburst began with rock throwing, followed by sniper gunfire and looting, when police arrested a drunken woman in Will Rogers Park, scene of the third annual Watts Summer party damage. The area was quickly saturated with 2,000 policemen, who restored quiet before daybreak Monday.

All through the warm Monday and the cool, pleasant night, police maintained their vigil, and Watts remained relatively still. The night was marked by an occasional trash can fire. Along 103rd Street, dubbed "Cha coal Alley" after the 1965 disorder, knots of youngsters yelled epithets at passing patrol cars, but there was no violence.

Groups of Negroes gathered to watch a small fire in a market. Rumors of other fires were unconfirmed. Downtown on Monday afternoon about 85 persons, mostly whites identifying themselves as members of the Peace and Freedom party, paraded outside central police headquarters with signs supporting the militant Black Panther party.

The demonstrators had mimeographed demands that police pull out and "let blacks do their own patrolling and be responsible to a commission elected by the community."

In similar vein, Billy Tidwell, a director of the Watts Summer Festival, called the police mobilization "wholesale unwarranted assault" and accused police of "raiding" the festival headquarters in the park.

He and Tommy Jacquette, another festival leader, said the number of officers in the area should have been reduced immediately. Police Chief Thomas Reddin told a news conference a "massive response" by police put down the disorder and the area remained "saturated."

"The question of whether we have too many or not is certainly difficult to decide," the chief said. "We were not the ones who opened fire," he said. "We were not the ones who looted and burned."

In the looting and firebombings, some 22 buildings were damaged, but none more than an estimated $2,000. Looters took some 150 guns from a pawnshop, and a pharmacy also was looted.

U.S. Said Entering Era Of Smaller Automobiles

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
U.S. automobile manufacturers are reported to be moving into an era of smaller cars.

Other car makers are working to catch up with Ford, the story said, adding in part: The General Motors Corp. is working on a car closer in size to the tiny European imports. The Chrysler Corp. is not now planning to build a smaller, cheaper car.

Chairman Roy D. Chapin Jr. of the American Motors Corp. said in Washington Monday that his firm is prepared to challenge foreign car makers for the affections of America's economy-minded drivers.

Spokesmen Will Attend Sessions
RALEIGH (AP) — Representatives of Vice President Hubert Humphrey and Sen. Eugene McCarthy will speak at a campaign conference to be held in Raleigh Saturday by North Carolina Young Democratic Clubs.

The New York Times said in story from Detroit today that the auto industry is preparing a new class of cars—smaller and cheaper than any built in this country now but still bigger than the tiny imports.

Those attending the sessions also will include National YDC President Spencer Oliver, gubernatorial nominee Bob Scott, State Democratic Chairman Jimmy V. Johnson, and members of the Council of State.

The Times said the first of these new cars is set for production by the Ford Motor Co. as a 1970 model and will go on sale in eight months. Others are in the design or tooling stage, it said.

Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., will speak on behalf of Humphrey and Sen. McCarthy will be represented by Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., or Henry Ruess of Wisconsin.

For Detroit, the Times said these cars represent a major effort by the industry to combat an invasion of foreign products built by low-paid German and Japanese workers.

Chapin declined to expand the statement, but he had said earlier: "I believe that the 900,000 foreign car sales this year will be a high-water mark, and one of the reasons is that we at American Motors are turning more of our efforts toward the growing segment of the U.S. market to which the imports appeal."

Prospects Of Adequate Medicines And Food For Biafra Grow Dimmer

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — Prospects of getting sufficient food and medicine to the starving Biafrans grew dimmer today after the Nigerian government spurned an appeal to stop shooting at Red Cross planes and peace talks in the Ethiopian capital stalled.

he said he had heard larger quantities of arms are being flown to Biafra since President Charles de Gaulle expressed support for the secession.

"The Nigerian reaction is to shoot at any plane," an International Red Cross spokesman reported after the Lagos government rejected its appeal to quit shooting at mercy flights into blockaded secessionist Biafra.

Caritas, the Roman Catholic relief organization, also has been flying supplies to Biafra, using chartered planes that fly over Nigeria at night to evade the Nigerian air force. But all the flights have been able to carry only a fraction of the food needed to ward off mass starvation.

The Red Cross, which had been flying food and medicine into besieged Biafra since November, suspended flights from the Spanish island of Fernando Po, 100 miles off the Nigerian coast, after a DC6 carrying food was fired on over the weekend.

The U.S. State Department announced that Secretary of State Dean Rusk is sending a special emissary to Geneva for "urgent consultations" with Red Cross officials on ways to resume the mercy flights. The emissary, C. Robert Moore, deputy assistant secretary of state for African affairs, is being accompanied by a team of experts on Africa and disaster relief.

Fears that arms are being airlifted into Biafra in large quantities are behind the federal government's action, the Red Cross spokesman said, but he added that negotiations were continuing. He denied that any Red Cross flights carried arms and military supplies, although U.S. officials in Washington also reported that 200 to 400 persons are dying of starvation each day in Nigeria and Biafra as a result of the civil war. The estimate is based on figures compiled by the U.S. Embassy in Lagos, the Red Cross and voluntary agencies.

Officials estimated about 3 million persons behind the rebel lines in Biafra and about 750,000 persons in territory recaptured by federal Nigerian forces are in urgent need of food. All told, the civil war has affected some 13 million persons in what was formerly the Eastern Region of Nigeria. The Red Cross went ahead with plans to transport food by ship from Lagos to Calabar, about 400 miles eastward along the southern coast, where an estimated 280,000 refugees are isolated. Calabar is in federal control.

The German ship, Minna Schupp, was to leave today with 700 tons of food. The Red Cross also is chartering a ship with a 620-ton payload to carry relief supplies.

The Nigerian-Biafran peace talks in Addis Ababa started Aug. 5 under the auspices of the Organization of African Unity (OAU), but pessimism deepened today as the chief Nigerian negotiator went back to Lagos and a spokesman said he did not plan to return, "unless there is going to be something that demands his presence."

San Francisco Plans Registering All Guns

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The big gun hunt is on. Police acting under a new law expect to locate 400,000—enough to arm more than half the people of San Francisco.

Law enforcement officials, the military and people in legitimate firearms sales are exempt from the registration. The fee for others is $1 per weapon. Gun owners don't have to carry their weapons when they register them at any police or fire station.

An ordinance takes effect Friday requiring the registration of all pistols, rifles and shotguns before Oct. 1.

Any sale, gift or transfer of a weapon must be reported to police. The maximum penalty for violation is six months in jail and a $500 fine.

Pressed by Mayor Joseph Alioto after the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy in Los Angeles June 5, the Board of Supervisors approved the law July 1 by a 7-3 vote.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market continued to advance this afternoon but on a much more modest scale than on Monday.

Trading was quite active and ahead of Monday's pace. Brokers said the market was being bolstered by reports indicating progress in the Vietnam peace talks in Paris. This sentiment was credited with propelling the market Monday to one of its best gains in months. Loss of most key stocks were fractional with a few going to a point or so.

Mostly higher were motors, rubbers, mail order-retails, farm implements, electronics, utilities, nonferrous metals, rails, oils, airlines and building materials.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was ahead 4.57 at 885.59, its best level of the session.

At noon, the Associated Press 60-stock average had gained 1.1 to 329.8 with industrials up 1.0, rails up 1.3 and utilities up 2.

Advances of individual issues exceeded declines by a better than 2 to 1 margin. Universal Oil Products topped the most-active list after opening on a block of 229,700 shares. The issue showed a gain of about half a point in later trading.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange. Following are selected 11 a. m. stock market quotations as furnished by Interstate Securities Corp.

U.S. Chauffeurs Said Viet Cong

SAIGON (AP) — Two Vietnamese chauffeurs for the U.S. Military Assistance Command's headquarters in Saigon have been arrested as part of a Viet Cong sabotage and assassination squad, the national police announced today.

The U.S. Military Command confirmed that the two men were dispatch drivers at the motor pool next to the command's Pentagon East headquarters at Tan Son Nhut Airport. Their duties included driving for U.S. officers below the rank of general.

The police presented the sabotage squad of six men and a woman at a news conference and said they had been captured on the outskirts of Saigon at the end of July along with nine Chinese pistols and a quantity of explosives.

Col. Tran Van Hai, the director-general of the national police, said the squad was under orders to assassinate U.S. and Vietnamese officials in Saigon and to blow up installations in the city.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has vetoed Congress' bill to curb imports of extra long staple cotton, calling it a "protectionist measure" that would tie his hands in conducting foreign affairs.

Johnson, announcing the veto Monday, said the bill would have deprived him of flexibility in diplomatic and trade relations. He said it would have hurt the textile industry and consumers—and in the long run, U.S. cotton farmers.

"The bill is as unnecessary as it is unwise," Johnson said. "There are far better means to help domestic producers of extra long staple cotton."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon has selected two companies to compete for contract proposals on the VSX jet, a new antisubmarine warfare plane to operate from aircraft carriers.

The new plane will fly twice as fast and far as its 500-mile-an-hour predecessor, the 15-year-old S2 Tracker, the Navy said. It said computers aboard

Field reports said the Americans killed 104 of the enemy in the fight 21 miles southwest of Saigon.

The Americans also captured 13 prisoners and 36 weapons. U.S. casualties were 15 killed and 30 wounded.

Well-Staged Comedy In 'The Odd Couple'

(Editor's note: Mr. Morrison is the entertainment editor of the Raleigh News and Observer and has been widely praised as one of North Carolina's most astute theatre critics. As official critic for "The Odd Couple," Mr. Morrison made his third trip to East Carolina University, having previously reviewed two theatre productions here.)

By BILL MORRISON Neil Simon is the funniest comedy writer in the American theatre and "The Odd Couple" is one of his funniest plays. It's frothy, as substantial as a Chinese dinner and just as tasty.

Like its sister hits — only Simon has had four comedy smashes on Broadway at the same time — the show is a running gag embedded with more jokes than an audience can catch in one sitting.

"Couple" opened here Monday night in McGinnis Auditorium before a painfully small audience (about 250 persons). But this was a hip audience that howled its delight at this story of a bachelor "marriage" before Saturday night's final curtain of the season, the comedy should prove a major hit for the East Carolina University Summer Theatre.

Simon's characters are real people, trapped in ludicrous situations. His jokes — that come as fast as they can be spoken — are superbly woven into the fabric of the dialogue and grow all the more funny because of the cast's serious delivery.

The production under Ed Loessin' well modulated direction opens with a poker game that swirls in round robin style to carry us into the plot and introduce us to the two characters who will provide several dozen belly laughs before the evening is over.

The game is interrupted by a phone call, answered by Oscar, the host. Felix, the missing fifth player, has left his wife and threatened suicide. Murray, the pessimistic cop, loses his head and tells Oscar: "He's going to kill himself."

Rockefeller May Take 2 Weeks

SEAL HARBOR, Maine (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has arrived at his summer estate here for a "quiet rest" that aides said could extend for two weeks.

Rockefeller and his wife, Happy, drove to this coastal community Monday afternoon after flying in from New York.

The New York governor, who lost in his bid to wrest the Republican presidential nomination from Richard M. Nixon last week, planned to boat, swim and relax according to his staff.

Banker David Rockefeller, a brother, also has a resort home here.

Mrs. Agnew Has Returned Home

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mrs. Spiro T. Agnew, wife of the Republican vice presidential nominee, and her three daughters have returned home from Los Angeles.

Agnew remained in San Diego, Calif., to plan campaign strategy with the GOP presidential nominee, Richard M. Nixon, and is due back in Maryland later this week.

Two Secret Service agents traveling with the family took Mrs. Agnew, Kimberly and her sisters, Pamela Lee, 25, and Susan, 20, to their residence in Annapolis.

The Agnew's son, Randy, 19, is serving in Vietnam. There are an estimated 45.5 million Roman Catholics in the United States.

He's going to go right out and kill himself." Where did he go (Oscar)?

"He went out to kill himself." Eventually Felix arrives at the apartment and the friends panic in their attempts to calm him. A nervous Oscar bellows: "Where are you going?"

"To the john," Felix replies. "Alone?" "I always go alone."

"Will you be long?" "As long as it takes." Those exchanges indicate Simon's manner of building his comedy punches while utilizing the "jokes" as conversation. The lines come as regularly as breathing and carry us from one situation into the next with pauses only for breath.

Felix moves in with Oscar and the two come to find their relationship as intolerable as their former marriages. Oscar, the highest paid sports writer on the East Coast, is "divorced, broke and sloppy." Felix's obsession with cleanliness drives the man to fury. "Why should we have a cleaner house than my mother," Oscar asks.

They fight their domestic quarrels. Felix sends his pained eyes heaven ward and pleads: "Oh, God, help me."

"No," Oscar barks. "Don't tell him to help you. Tell him to save the meat." Felix ruins Oscar's carefully planned double date with the wacky Pigeon sisters from upstairs and this leads to the final blow-up. Oscar says "The irony is that unless we can come to some other arrangement I'm going to kill you."

The play stands or falls of course with the actors who portrays the cloddish Oscar and his "Mary Poppins" roommate, Felix. And Loessin has found an excellent Oscar in Hansford Rowe, an actor who conveys his frustration with beautifully timed burns, yet leaps like a ballet dancer at the idea the "ooo ooo" Pigeon sisters are going to visit them. His exasperation is real—like the character he's created—because the touch is never too heavy and many of his lines are thrown away with a nice sense of understatement.

Graham Pollock is less controlled as Felix, tending to exaggerate a part that has all the exaggeration it needs in the lines. The actor is most effective with his fresh sense of movement and expression. Here is a hilarious if sometimes near farcical portrait of the old maid bachelor.

The rest of the cast is as good as the particular lines assigned it. Standout is R. Gregory Zitel's Murray, the cop. Jacqueline Johnson and Suse French bill and coo their way into the funniest segment of the whole show. Here, again, Loessin's restraint in the handling of the double date indicates his real understanding of Simon comedy and the manner in which it should be staged.

H. Michael Byrum's lighting is adequate, although in one scene a window's shadow is reflected on the sky outside. Peter Gould has done an effective job with the set, giving Loessin plenty of working area yet splendidly recreating the calculated clutter that is Oscar's apartment before Felix moves in.

The comedy runs through Saturday night with a 2:15 p.m. matinee scheduled for Wednesday. It's a fine entertainment bet by a number of standards, and it's the last stage event to be found this summer between Charlotte and the coast.

Unhappy Witness Hires 2 Lawyers To Get Freedom

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Charles Quitman Stephens has an air-conditioned private room, three meals a day, a television, radio and telephone and plenty of newspapers, books and magazines to read.

But the 57-year-old World War II veteran says he is unhappy. So unhappy, in fact, that he has fired his public defender and hired two private lawyers in an attempt to gain his release from the Shelby County penal farm.

Stephens was not sent to the penal farm because he committed a crime. He is being held in lieu of $10,000 bond as a material witness in the slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Harvey L. Gibson and Jay Fred Friedman, Stephens' new attorneys, consider themselves bound to silence under a court order issued by Judge Preston Battle, the judge who will preside in the trial of James Earl

Ray. Ray is charged with murder in King's slaying. But a source close to Stephens said Stephens is determined to get, if not complete freedom, "at least some of the amenities other free American citizens are guaranteed by the Constitution."

The district attorney general's office said Stephens was placed in protective custody to insure his safety and to assure his presence when needed to testify.

Stephens was a resident of the rooming house where police say the sniper fired the bullet that killed King April 4. He has told officers he saw a man fleeing the scene.

Await Autopsies On Five Victims

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Results of autopsies still were awaited today to determine what deadly poison killed five men within two minutes Sunday as they prepared to unload a cargo of fish.

The men toppled into the hold of the 125-foot trawler Novelty one-by-one as the deadly, fast-acting poison took effect.

A biologist from the U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries advanced the theory that the men may have inhaled methylene or hydrogen sulfide, gases which could be produced by decaying fish.

The Novelty arrived in port Saturday night with a load of trash fish to be processed into fertilizer.
