Soviet Troops March Into Czechoslovakia

By PETER REHAK
Associated Press Writer
PRAGUE (AP) — The Soviet Union, imposing its will on Czechoslovakia, sent tanks and troops into Prague today in an occupation designed to thwart the small nation's moves toward a liberalized brand of communism. The lightning invasion began Tuesday night, and Moscow announced it involved forces of East Germany, Poland, Bulgaria and Hungary as well as those of the Soviet Union. Moscow said it was coming in to "render necessary help to the fraternal Czechoslovak people." Moscow said it acted on an invitation from "party and government leaders" in Prague to put down a threat of counterrevolution imperiling the structure of communist. No such invitation was announced here. Some shooting was heard in Prague today, but a statement over Prague radio said Czechoslovak forces, tiny in comparison with the might of the Soviet Union and the combined arms of four other Communist states, had received no orders to defend the country. Prague radio appealed for restraint.

Available information indicated the occupation had come off with little resistance although the CTK news agency said several persons were killed and 25 wounded as occupying troops entered the building housing Prague radio.

Within hours Soviet paratroopers had surrounded Communist party headquarters in Prague, virtually imprisoning nine of the 11 presidium members and threatening to bring the eight-month-old liberal Czechoslovak regime under the Soviet thumb.

Czechoslovak leaders appealed to the nation to remain calm and not to resist the advancing troops. But fighting was reported in several places in Prague and automatic weapons fire was heard for several minutes outside the U.S. Embassy. That shooting gradually subsided. No one in the embassy could see who was firing.

Prague Radio reported that "citizens are trying to stop with their bodies the advancing Soviet tanks which are heading for the Czechoslovak radio building."

Other Czechoslovaks reported for work in some offices this morning. Many had tears in their eyes.

Government leaders throughout the world called emergency meetings to assess communism's most explosive crisis since Soviet tanks crushed the Hungarian uprising 12 years ago.

The Soviet tanks and troops presumably were airlifted into Prague airport for the attempt to crush Czechoslovakia's liberalization drive.

Prague Radio, which broadcast intermittently throughout the morning, said clashes had taken place between the occupying troops and citizens who built barricades.

An official Soviet statement issued in Moscow said that Soviet, Bulgarian, Polish, East German and Hungarian troops had moved into Czechoslovakia to save that country from the enemies of communism.

Unconfirmed reports in Moscow said a coup in Prague Tuesday deposed Czechoslovak party chief Alexander Dubcek and replaced his liberal regime with leaders who invited the Soviet troops.

But Dubeck and his colleagues were reported meeting in the party's Central Committee headquarters, the building surrounded by Soviet paratroopers and tanks marked with white crosses.

Czechoslovak President Ludvik Svoboda was reported in his office at Prague Castle, which was surrounded by other troops.

In Bratislava, troops of five Warsaw Pact countries were said to be holding key positions on main roads, the airport, the Danube Bridge and the radio station.

A crowd of many thousands gathered in the main square in the center of the city to demonstrate peacefully and express their support for Dubeck and the party leadership.

Radio stations controlled by the liberal government were forced off the air. Only Vltava, described by Prague Radio as an illegal station of the occupying armies, remained on the air. It broadcast appeals to the Czechoslovak military to support the invaders.

There were unconfirmed reports that two Czechs were killed in a clash in Prague. A car was seen squashed by a tank, but it was not known how the incident occurred.

Prague Radio at one point said shooting outside the radio building was gaining in intensity and that "cannon firing" could be heard.

It broadcast an unconfirmed report that Cestmir Cisar, chairman of the Czechoslovak National Council "has been deported by three unknown men to an unknown destination."

The Czechoslovak news agency CTK said "sounds of shooting were heard in the building of CTK. . . It seems to come from automatic rifles."

Patrolman Witnesses Crash That Took Physician's Life

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

You have investigated many accidents. . . many fatal ones.

You know their causes and how they could have been prevented. Yet, when you see the car ahead turning into the path of the truck — and know from that experience that the two will collide—you can do nothing. And that fact makes you think and think hard.

Dr. Ella Louise Payne became Pitt County's 19th traffic fatality of the year last night and Highway Patrolman George B. Russ could not stop her from dying.

Trooper Russ saw her start to turn.

"I knew that was it...there was not a thing I could do."

The officer had been following the truck, driven by Ernest

Lee Jones, 32-year-old Negro of Norfolk, Va., northward along N. C. 11-U. S. 13 from the Tar River fill.

As the vehicles neared the Greenfield Boulevard intersection, the officer saw a car stopped in the left-hand lane, waiting to make a left turn. The truck and following patrol car were in the right lane, traveling 45 miles per hour. Ptl. Russ knew the speed because he had been checking the truck.

The south - bound Payne car "did not slow down."

"She just turned right across the road in front of the stopped car and the moving truck."

Jones "hit his brakes. . . stood it (the truck) on end. . . and hit her. There was nothing I could do. . . what could I have done?"

Ptl. Russ was calling for the rescue squad before his patrol car came to a stop.

"I went to her, got her out, then went to the car for a blanket. When I got back she was dead."

"She did have her seat belt fastened," the officer said. "I know. I undid it."

Greenville police, who made no charges following their investigation, set damages at $1,000 to the Payne car—a small foreign made vehicle—and $200 to the truck driven by Jones.

Pitt County Coroner E. W.

Harvey ruled the death accidental and said no inquest will be held. The cause of death, he said, was severe head injuries. Other injuries, including two broken legs and a chest injury, contributed.

Dr. Payne, a medical doctor, was an anesthesiologist at Pitt Memorial Hospital for about a year before accepting employment at the East Carolina University library about 3 years ago.

The 50 - year - old accident victim lived at 703 East Fifth St.

Rev. Robert Crawford Accepts New Pastorate

Rev. Robert B. Crawford, pastor of Trinity FWB Church, will assume duties of a new pastorate in Chipley, Fla. Sept. 2. Rev. Crawford, minister in the Greenville area for a total of 17 years, will leave for his new pastorate, the Chipley First FWB Church, Aug. 27.

Former Executive Secretary of the National Association of Free Will Baptists at the headquarters in Nashville, Tenn., Rev. Crawford first came to Greenville in 1948 to serve as pastor of the Greenville FWB Church. Except for a span of 33 months when he was pastor of the Brian FWB Church in Brian, Tex., Rev. Crawford was pastor of the Greenville church until June of 1964, when he accepted the pastorate position of Trinity FWB Church.

Ike's Physicians Are Encouraged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army doctors reported today that they were encouraged by a certain aspect of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's condition but they "still view the general's condition as critical."

In a medical bulletin released at 11:05 a.m. EDT, doctors of Walter Reed Army Hospital said:

"Gen. Eisenhower spent a very comfortable night and his spirits remain excellent. The trend towards a decrease of the frequency of cardiac irregularities and episodes of rapid heart action indicated in last night's bulletin has continued throughout the night. While the physicians believe this is an encouraging sign, they still view the general's condition as critical."

The matter of cardiac irregularities and episodes of rapid heart action have all along been the major cause of concern in connection with Eisenhower's latest heart attack, his seventh since 1955.

There was a report, meanwhile, by the Washington Post that a new experimental drug was being used on the five-star Army general and that it could be contributing to a decrease over the past few days in the periods of irregular heart beat. The Post said the drug was bretylium tsylate.

Informed By Soviet Ambassador Johnson Consults On Czech Crisis

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, denouncing the invasion of Czechoslovakia as tragic and contrived, appealed today to the Soviet Union and other intervening nations to withdraw their troops.

"It is never too late for reason to prevail," Johnson said in a statement he read before newsreel cameras and radio-television microphones.

The chief executive termed the invasion a "flat violation" of the United Nations charter and said the United States was "consulting urgently" with other nations in an effort to "insist upon the charter rights of Czechoslovakia and its people."

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson consulted with key advisers well into the morning hours today after he was told in a secret meeting by Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin that the Soviet Union was invading Czechoslovakia. Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey were closeted together in the White House until after 3 a.m. That was long after the President met in emergency session with the National Security Council, which advises him on crucial military and foreign policy matters.

As Johnson and Humphrey went into their postmidnight conference, both smiled readily at newsmen in the big lobby near the presidential office. Earlier, after the 55-minute NSC meeting, Johnson was grim and unsmiling.

Smiles or not, official Washington was viewing with deep concern the unfolding military drama in Czechoslovakia.

But, at least in the initial phases, very little was being said officially and publicly.

Dobrynin, it was learned, called the White House Tuesday evening to seek an unusual after hours appointment with Johnson.

When the request was granted, he showed up in the presidential office bearing an official notification that troops of the Soviet Union, Poland and East Germany were entering Czechoslovakia.

This was at about the same time that the White House was receiving an Associated Press bulletin quoting Prague Radio as announcing that troops from the neighboring Communist states were crossing the Czech frontier.

Press Secretary George Christian said Johnson acted quickly to convene the NSC on the basis of information supplied by Dobrynin.

He declined to go into details, though, on the content of the envoy's message.

When the security council met, Christian said, Johnson and his advisers—including top military, diplomatic and intelligence officials—reviewed available information.

Johnson then directed Secretary of State Dean Rusk to summon Dobrynin to a late-night meeting at the State Department "to discuss the matter further."

Rusk and the ambassador subsequently met for about 10 minutes. No account of the meeting was given. Also present were George W. Ball, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, and John Leddy, assistant secretary of state for European affairs.

In addition to his early hours meeting with Humphrey, Johnson kept in close contact with other key officials.

Humphrey postponed indefinitely a four-day vacation trip to Miami Beach, Fla., because of the events in Czechoslovakia.

The move against the Czechs by hard-line Communists fearful of the reform regime in Prague caught the Pentagon by surprise. Officials said they knew of no special alert for the U.S. 7th Army in West Germany, 200,000 strong, but noted part of that army is always in a state of readiness.

Christian declined to say whether any alert had been issued.

Pitt Board Of Education Sets Sept. 3 As Opening Date For Schools

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

The Pitt County Board of Education Tuesday night set the opening date for County Schools for September 3. This is a change from the earlier scheduled date of August 30. Schools will be held on a half-day basis September 3 and 4, with September 5 as the first full day of school.

This action was taken to give school administrators and officials more time to revise and replan bus routes and other matters for which the recent court order necessitates last minute changes.

J. B. Congleton, Jr., of Stokes, was sworn in as a new member of the Board of Education. He fills the vacancy created by the death of W. M. Stokes.

The board considered the possibility of making an appeal on the recent court ruling which directs a one - third integration of Pitt County Schools for this school year. County Attorney W. W. Speight, who attended the meeting at the request of the board, explained, and what he felt the probably results would be. Based on Speight's explanations, the consensus of the board was that it will not appeal the court order. The board felt an appeal at this time would not honestly serve the best interests of the school children of Pitt County, and would likely only serve to create additional problems.

In discussing pupil grouping, based on achievement tests, Superintendent Arthur Alford noted that "based on state law, school principals have the prerogative to grade and place students according to results achieved on tests."

The assignment of teachers within the Pitt County School's has just about been completed. In all categories, there are a total of 158 teachers who will be teaching in desegregated positions in Pitt County this school year.

The board accepted the county budget established by the Pitt County Commissioners. The commissioners have budgeted $966,084 for total current expenditures. This figure represents county, state and federal funds, and includes $191,622 to be transferred to Greenville City Schools on pro rata basis. Capital outlay budget is $294,674, which again is a combination of county, state and federal funds. Of this, $80,000 is for transfer to the Greenville City Schools under the pro rata formula.

Acting on a specific appeal by Larry Sutton to attend Ayden High School, the board ruled that Sutton's first choice of assignment to Grifton School stand unless Sutton can show valid cause for hardship. Sutton first made a choice last spring to attend Grifton School this year. Later, after assignments had been made, Sutton made a request for a change of choice, asking to be assigned to Ayden.

Name changes for some of the county schools were discussed. A decision was made to refer this matter to the local advisory committees for their recommendations for new names. The schools for which new names are sought are: Sallie Branch, Falkland Elementary and Bruce - Falkland Schools. The board suggested the possibility of Belvoir Elementary, Falkland Primary, and Falkland Grammar School as possible new names for the schools.

The principals of the county schools have recommended that a change be made in certain school fee rates. The changes recommended are: Science fees to be $2.00 instead of the old rate of $1.00, and Home Economics to be increased 50 cents from $2.50 to $3.00. The board noted in this matter, that establishing such fees are authorized under state law.

Jack McDavid, of the Farmville Local Advisory Committee, tendered his resignation as an advisory committee member. The board accepted the resignation and ordered that a letter of appreciation be sent to McDavid for his service on the committee.

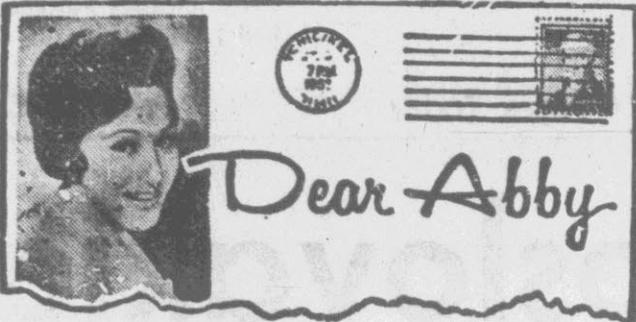

A motion to construct a new lunch room at Stokes this year was approved. It was pointed out that a critical need exists for a new lunchroom facility.

The board approved paying the operating costs of four new air conditioning units which the citizens of Bethel have installed in the Bethel Elementary and Bethel High School.

As a final matter, the board heard a letter read by Congleton dealing with an August 19 meeting held in Stokes by about 100 residents of the Carolina Township. This dealt with the possibility of founding a private school by Dr. Charles Pace. Tuition fees for such a school would be $500 per student per school year. This matter was heard by the board as a matter of record, and no comment expressed or action taken.

Abby Gets Caught In Middle

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Why do you always stick up for the men? You are a traitor to your own sex. A man has to practically beat his wife to death before you will condemn him. A while back, a woman wrote in asking if it was "stealing" to pick her husband's pockets, while he was sleeping, and you said it was! Now how stupid can you be?

According to the law, that which a man earns is community property between husband and wife, to be shared equally, so I ask you, how can a wife "steal" a portion of what is hers in the first place? Just because the husband happens to get his hands on it first is no reason for him to steal HER share.

I notice you said nothing about the stinginess of a husband who would force his wife to pick his pockets while he slept in order to make ends meet.

If you don't start giving us women a fair shake, I am going to call up and cancel the paper.

You said, "You married a Mamma's girl. . . learn to live with it." Why didn't you tell him to give his wife a good swift kick in the behind and tell her to grow up and act like a wife and if that didn't straighten her out to send her back to her mother?

I am not kidding, and I hope in the future you will give men

EDDY IN ALBUQUERQUE

DEAR ABBY: I have a husband with whom I cannot discuss anything on an intelligent rational basis.

If I say anything about the children, he says, "You raised them wrong." He refuses to discuss his business with me because he says I "jinz" every deal he tells me about. We can't discuss me "Pinko" because I'm a liberal Democrat.

We can't agree on entertainment, either. Everything I like on TV is stupid.

What does a wife do in this kind of situation. Shup up entirely and have a silent marriage. Or should I speak up and get a tongue lashing from a narrow-minded, ill-tempered man who will open up his big mouth to me. He reads your column each day and laughs at the other person's woes. I wonder what his reaction will be when he reads your answer to ours.

SILENT PARTNER

DEAR SILENT: What did you two talk about BEFORE you were married? Where there is no "communication" there is no hope for an improved relationship.

If you are serious about wanting to solve your woes, I hope you and your husband can agree on a marriage counselor, because you certainly need one.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WANTS YOUR OPINION"

Couple Said Vows Sunday

Mrs. James W. Poole

Miss Sylvia Gail Griffin became the bride of James Woodrow Poole in a candlelight ceremony Sunday afternoon, August 11, in the First Free Will Baptist Church.

The Rev. Floyd B. Cherry, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Martin V. Griffin of Greenville and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Poole of Durham.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Ruth Taylor, organist, and Gil Moody, soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white re-embroidered chantilly lace and peau de soie. Her elbow length veil of illusion was attached to a crown of lace petals and she carried a Bible centered with a cascade of carnations, tulie and white streamers.

Miss Doris Bryan of Farmville was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Martha Jean Moore and Miss Bebie Hester, both of Greenville.

Gene Poole, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Gerald Wayne Griffin, brother of the bride, and Billy Wayne Poole, cousin of the bridegroom.

After a wedding trip to the mountains of North Carolina, the couple will reside in Durham.

Knowles-Thompson Vows Exchanged

GASTONIA — The marriage of Miss Charlotte Kile Thompson and William Rodney Knowles was solemnized in a ceremony Saturday, August 10, in the First Methodist Church here.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Thompson of Mt. Holly. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Dorothy Knowles of Greenville and Russell Knowles of Roxboro.

A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Charles Kirby.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Ellie Frost of Panama City, Fla., was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Barbara McAdams of Charlotte, Miss Catherine Sellers and Miss Millie Thompson, both of Mt. Holly. Miss Susie Thompson of Mt. Holly was flower girl.

Russell Knowles served his son as best man. Ushers were Tommy Thompson and David Thompson, both of Mt. Holly.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. John Donnell Tyler of Robersonville announce the engagement of their daughter, Alida Elizabeth, to William Gary Blalock of Concord, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Richard Blalock of Kannapolis. The wedding will take place September 14.

Dr. Pace Led Full Life Of Service

Dr. Karl B. Pace served the people of Greenville and Pitt County long and well in both his chosen profession and as a public spirited citizen who always found time to carry more than his personal share of civic responsibility.

He was also the kind of person who always found time to comfort those in need, offer a helping hand and to give of himself personally as well as professionally to others.

His death leaves a deep feeling of loss in the hearts of many people in all walks of life throughout this county. His life, his medical practice, his interest in people and in civic and public affairs touched the lives of countless Pitt Countians over a long period of years.

To attempt to trace his involvement in the life of this community and county would be to trace its development over the past half century. During that time Dr. Pace witnessed many changes in Pitt County, not just in medicine, but in every facet of the lives of its people. In most of those changes he was involved in a position of leadership.

He was one of four doctors who 45 years ago mortgaged everything they had to build the first hospital in Pitt County in order to provide better medical service for its people. That hospital, built only after repeated efforts to gain public support for a county-owned hospital had failed, served the people of Pitt until the opening of the present Pitt Memorial 17 years ago.

Over the years many honors came to Dr. Pace, including his selection by the American Medical Association as "General Practitioner of the Year," a distinction which had been awarded by the A.M.A. to only seven other physicians in the nation prior to its bestowing it upon Dr. Pace in 1954.

But for all the recognitions and awards that came his way, for all the civic and community efforts in which he was involved, Dr. Pace was first and foremost a family doctor in the genuine sense of the word. During those more than 50 years he practiced medicine here, he went into countless homes, became a sort of ex-official member of literally hundreds of families whose joys and sorrows, good times and hardships, burnings and dyings he shared, not from afar, but as a member of the family circle.

His was a rich, full life of love and service to others which left this community a much better place than he found it.

Firemen Ruling Is Discussed

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
RALEIGH — The state court of appeals, in what may be regarded as a test case, has upheld the right of a city to order firemen to perform "public duties" other than fire fighting and fire prevention.

bordination. After a hearing, the Charlotte Civil Service Board found Page guilty of willful disobedience of a lawful order issued by a superior officer in violation of fire department rules and regulations and also of gross insubordination. Page was fired.

Appeals Court Ruling
After the Superior Court upheld the firing, the case was appealed.

The Appeals Court brushed aside his claim of not having been given a fair hearing, saying the record showed that the constitutional requirement of due process was met by notice of suspension, notice of hearing, explanation of charges against him "with sufficient clarity" for defense.

Then Mallard added that there was "ample evidence" that an order was given, and that respondent willfully disobeyed the order.

Cites Authority
Fire Chief Black, Mallard said, testified that the fire department had authority to send firemen to the park to set up tents . . . "this had been the custom for several years."

"The burden was on the respondent to show, if he could, that this order was unlawful. This he failed to do."

Then Mallard added: "Respondent cited no authority, and we have found none, holding that a municipality cannot require firemen and fire employees to perform public duties other than those relating to the fighting or prevention of fires."

Fire Insurance
The appeals court ruling coincided, without direct connection of course, with demands for clarification of fire and extended coverage insurance regulations because of riot threats.

It has been apparent since widespread rioting in the Watts and Detroit tragedies three years ago and subsequently that a crisis in fire insurance in such high risk urban areas would develop. Already there have been reports of cancellation of policies in so-called "high risk" areas in the Carolinas. State Insurance Commissioner Edwin S. Lanier has called for a hearing in Raleigh on Sept. 17.

Lanier indicated he wants further information from the industry on whether it feels a proposed federal plan for pooling insurance in these areas, with possible state and federal backing, would be feasible.

WILLIAM A. SHIRES

This could prove to be quite interesting and relevant in the context of today's conditions.

"It is common knowledge," says Chief Judge Raymond Mallard, "that municipal fire departments are sometimes called on to perform public duties unrelated to the fighting or prevention of fires."

"For instance," Mallard continues, "firemen are frequently called upon to help quell riots."

Riot Duty
Mallard's observation stirs recollections of heavy duty, high pressure and velocity fire hoses having been turned on street brawlers and mobs in days past.

Apparently it was an effective technique. But use of fire hoses appears to have been abandoned in these days of civil disorder, sniping, burning and looting. It does not appear to be an approved method in riot training courses and riot control procedures anymore, and no one seems to know exactly why. In any case, the court decision dealt not with quelling riots but with quelling riots by pitching tents.

Refuses Order
A fire alarm dispatcher in Charlotte, Richard S. Page, was called out one morning about a year ago to help put up tents for a city-sponsored festival in Charlotte's Freedom Park. He refused to go.

His superior, C. W. Robinson, said he had given Page an order. Page denied it, and later contended that in any case Robinson did not have the authority to order him to go out and set up tents. According to fire chief Walter J. Black Page later told him he felt his work in the dispatcher room "was more important, and he didn't intend to go" to Freedom Park. Black promptly suspended Page for insubordination.

Interest Situation May Be Improving

The Federal Reserve Board's cutback in the discount rate by a quarter percent isn't much, but at least it is some slight relief from the ever increasing interest rates.

The drop was termed primarily technical by the board.

Since the discount rate is the rate of Federal Reserve banks charge for loans to their member banks, the cutback will ultimately mean a slight drop in interest for we, the public.

While the quarter percent will not mean a great deal to most of us, it does indicate that there is a new confidence in the American dollar, something that was lacking when the rate was boosted from five to five and a half percent last April.

It could mean that the recent tax increase and other moves are decreasing the danger of inflation somewhat and thus the Federal Reserve Board can loosen the reins on interest.

Hopefully as conditions improve the discount rate will be further reduced, but regardless this slightly reduced rate is a sign that inflationary trends may be coming under control.

Strength For Today

HOW WE DEVELOP ORIGINALITY

Robert Louis Stevenson is said to have developed his remarkable literary style by copying the style of scores of distinguished authors. For some weeks he would try assiduously every day to put what he had to say into the form used, perhaps, by Cicero or Spencer. Then again of the literary men of his own day and try to write in such fashion that a critic would not distinguish between his writings and the writings of these, his contemporaries.

Raphael did the same thing in art. He never saw anything in the technique of any artist that he did not try to copy the technique absolutely. The result both in the case of Raphael and Stevenson was not that they became mere copiers of others. Out of their slavish attempt to incorporate into their own work the best they found in the work of others there emerged for each in his field a technique amazingly original. No one has ever painted just like Raphael, and no one has ever had literary style just like Stevenson. Yet the art of these men was the result of diligent attempts to copy the best they encountered in men everywhere.

If we are not afraid to learn, the whole world will come forth gladly and lay its treasures at our feet. Everyone has something to teach us, and the man with the sharpest ears and eyes develops the most pronounced originality.

BUT DIFFICULT TO BURY!

By JAMES KILPATRICK

Leave Some Victoria

Today's ruminations actually have very little to do with New York. They result from a long walk on an idle afternoon the other day, when a visitor strolled from 57th Street down to the Village and back again, reflecting anew upon the architectural death-wish that festers deep in the soul of this restless city.

There is something in New York that hates the old. Let a building acquire a few wrinkles and a touch of grey; let it attain the least bit of dignity that goes with age — and down with it! One may walk block after block in New York, along side streets and great avenues, and look almost in vain for a structure built prior to 1900.

This is, of course, no novel observation. Richard Whalen brooded upon the same themes a few years ago in his polemical book, "A City Destroying Itself." That perceptive Briton, James Morris, found "something eerie to the pace and frequency with which the New Yorkers tear their city down and build it up again." Morris put the phenomenon down to "some unbearable frustration, some unrevealed disappointment." He wondered how a great city could demolish its past with such an absolute lack of ritual or superstition.

The more one travels about the United States — and a roving correspondent sees a great deal of his country every year — the more one is dismayed by the spreading virus of Manhattan. Everywhere the same tendency may be observed. We move from the age of the cabinet maker to the age of the wrecking ball.

A couple of weeks ago, in Toronto, a visitor expressed his delight in two architectural gems — the city's new City Hall, and its old one. The new buildings — two curved towers and a circular Council Chamber — were erected just five years ago; one hesitates to risk a superlative, but the structures probably rank as the most beautiful public buildings of this century on this continent. A part of their dramatic impact results, oddly enough, from the old Victorian City Hall nearby. This is a great pile of grimy stone, granite gingerbread, a massive tower soaring over the busy streets with a fairy-tale irrelevance. Toronto is thinking of tearing it down.

Why is this? Is the venerable building unusable? No; the Toronto police department is using it now. Then why not preserve it? Well, said a young guide uncertainly, "it's awfully old, you know." That seemed to suffice.

A similar debate is going on in Montpelier, Vermont. Close by the classic state-house stands the old Pavilion Hotel. It was built in 1875, which makes it awfully old, you know. The Vermont Historical Society is struggling to save this charming survivor of a tranquil past, but the forces of modernization are pressing hard: A legislative study committee has voted 10-6 to tear it down, the better to build a pedestrian office building on the site.

One of the pleasant aspects of Richmond, Virginia, is that the city has — or at least, it has had — a lively sense of the necessity for preserving the best of the past. Yet here, too, the impatient levellers of a new generation have not abandoned their ugly dream of demolishing the City Hall of 1895. The building is pure Victorian, marked by a childlike innocence: four useless towers, one at each corner, and none of them matching. Why tear it down? The answer is, well, that the old pile of stone is not efficient; it is hard to keep clean; it is, you know, obsolete.

"We may live without architecture," John Ruskin said in a famous passage. "We may worship without her, but we cannot remember without her."

Is this at the root of the bulldozer syndrome — that Americans, by and large, do not wish to remember? If so, it is a shameful indictment of a rootless people. We do a terrible disservice to ourselves, and to posterity, to slip so casually — and so arrogantly — into the willful destruction of our architectural heritage. The time will come, if only we have the good sense to let it come, when the

Demo Policy Fight

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — While officially taking a hands-off stance, the Johnson administration is working furiously backstage to vindicate its war policy in the Democratic party platform — thereby increasing the agony of Vice President Hubert Humphrey's moment of truth on Vietnam.

That Humphrey would face a difficult choice at the Chicago convention has been obvious all along. If he does not break with President Johnson on Vietnam, he risks a bitter floor fight over the platform and a divisive launching of his campaign. Accordingly, Humphrey recently showed signs of backing a compromise peace plank. Those signs provoked the LBJ reaction.

To sanitize the Vietnam plank from dovish contamination, President Johnson has called on a skilled and experienced trouble-shooter: Charles Murphy, an advisor to the last three Democratic Presidents. Murphy, who last March resigned as chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board, has quietly moved into the White House with the title of "counselor" and the duties of shaping the platform to LBJ specifications.

Coinciding with Murphy's efforts has been a barrage of private hints dropped around Washington by high officials in the State and Defense Departments that a dovish plank at Chicago would destroy chances for Communist concessions in the Paris negotiations.

What makes such Administration pressure particularly telling on Humphrey is the divided state of his own camp regarding Vietnam. While the Vice President and his veteran staffers are reluctant to split too far from the President, his newer political advisors are bolder.

The two young co-chairmen of Humphrey's campaign — Sens. Walter (Fritz) Mondale of Minnesota and Fred Harris of Oklahoma — are doves who want their chief to bend on Vietnam. An added dovish influence is Lawrence D. O'Brien, the political pro who joined Humphrey after Robert F. Kennedy's murder.

O'Brien is best known as a political technician but long has harbored strong views on Vietnam. While scrupulously loyal to Mr. Johnson's war policy as Postmaster General, O'Brien privately sent the White House memos advocating deescalation. Inside the proposes that Humphrey, in effect, let the McCarthy forces write the Vietnam plank — avoiding a floor fight and beckoning to anti-Vietnam dissenters for post-convention support.

But O'Brien's strategy is not universally accepted in the Humphrey campaign. The influence on Humphrey of his superhawkish administrative assistant, William Connell, is not as pervasive as before the advent of Mondale and Harris but is still considerable. Moreover, some Humphreyite doves are a bit suspicious of David Ginsburg, the suave Washington lawyer who with Harris is handling the platform for Humphrey. Ginsburg, handpicked last year by President Johnson to run his riot commission, is as much a Johnson man as a Humphrey man and has no visible record of dissent on Vietnam.

Other Editors Say Tax Not Temporary

(Kinston Daily Free Press)

Chairman Wilbur Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee says the 10 per cent surcharge on incomes is not likely to be temporary, as the statute implies, unless the Vietnam War is brought to an early end.

Rep. Mills, Arkansas Democrat, predicted that part or all of the surcharge may be extended through fiscal 1970, which starts next July 1, unless the war is promptly terminated.

Well, whoever heard of a temporary tax? Even the wartime excise taxes on telephone calls and other items, while removed for a few months some time ago, were re-imposed at the first opportunity. Congress' apparent reluctance to impose the surcharge earlier this year could have been tied to the knowledge of its members that there is no such animal as a temporary tax.

North Carolinians know full well that taxes are not temporary. The most vivid reminder in this sphere is the sales tax imposed in 1933 to save the public school system. It achieved its purpose and it has been helping with educational causes ever since.

As far as Ways and Means Chairman Mills is concerned, he has reminded the people that even a temporary surcharge may be anything but temporary. The surest means to get it removed from the taxpayers' backs is to get the Vietnam War terminated on some honorable basis as soon as possible. But even then we would not be surprised if a public campaign would not be required to get Congress to act to remove the tax.

U.S. Inflation Said To Be Less

By ELMER ROESSNER

The government of the United States has been robbing its people much less than the governments of most other countries. This robbery is done by inflation, by watering the value of the currency in terms of what it will buy.

In olden times, monarchs often clipped coins or reduced their gold or silver content. With paper money, kings and other rulers printed more than they had backing for in precious metals. In modern times, governments are a little smoother. They remove all backing and they borrow vast amounts.

This technique doubly robs the people. First, it cuts the value of the currency in terms of purchasing power and, second, it loads the cost of interest on the people. Total state and federal obligations are now about $400 billion and the interest at 4 1/2 per cent would be about $18 billion a year, or about $80 for every man, woman and child. It's as if a householder who is robbed is required by police to pay for the burglar's tools.

The purchasing value of the currency of the other 40 nations all shrank more. Some from 6 to 15 per cent.

We're Well Off
But Americans are a lot better off than residents of other countries. Well, we're not better off than the residents of Guatemala, El Salvador, Venezuela and Thailand.

First National City Bank, in its monthly economic letter, reports on the value of 45 important currencies in 1957, 1962, and 1967. The bank's figures show that the Guatemalan currency has declined only one per cent since 1957. The U. S. dollar has declined 16 per cent, while El Salvador, Venezuela and Thailand declined from 6 to 15 per cent.

The rate of decline in the value of money last year exceeded the 10-year average in 27 of the 45 countries surveyed," the bank added.

The median rate of depreciation last year was 3.8 per cent, compared with 3.3 per cent a year for the decade.

"More recently, inflationary tendencies have become more evident in the U. S. while abating in many other industrial countries," it said. "The buying power of the U. S. dollar suffered a rate of shrinkage of 2.7 per cent in 1967, compared with the average rate of shrinkage of 1.7 per cent a year over the past decade."

India 46
Vietnam 69
Chile 89
Argentina 94
Brazil finished last, its currency down 98 per cent.

Decline Speeds Up
"The rate of decline in the value of money last year exceeded the 10-year average in 27 of the 45 countries surveyed," the bank added. The median rate of depreciation last year was 3.8 per cent, compared with 3.3 per cent a year for the decade.

In 1959 Hawaii Became 50th State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Aug. 21, the 234th day of 1968. There are 132 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1959, Hawaii became the 50th state.

On this date: In 1858, the Lincoln-Douglas debates began between the political contenders Abraham Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas.

In 1860, a force under the Italian patriot Giuseppe Garibaldi captured Reggio, Italy.

In 1918, during World War I, the second Battle of the Somme River began in France.

In 1943, it was disclosed that Japan had evacuated its last North American foothold in the Pacific war—the island of Kiska in the Aleutians.

In 1951, the United States ordered construction of the world's first atomic submarine.

Ten years ago: Western and Communist scientific delegations ended a conference in Geneva by stating it would be possible to detect violations of a ban against nuclear testing.

Five years ago: The U.S. Command in Vietnam said two American planes which strayed over Communist China during a raid against North Vietnam probably were shot down.

Five years ago: South Vietnam ordered martial law after troops and police attacked Buddhist pagodas and made hundreds of arrests.

One year ago: The U.S. command in Vietnam said two American planes which strayed over Communist China during a raid against North Vietnam probably were shot down.

Benefits Include Psychiatric Help

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A leading business consultant predicts fringe benefits common in the 1970s may include a company psychiatrist to help employees with emotional problems.

Donald R. Simpson of Edward N. Hay and Associates also predicted employees' legal matters may be turned over to a lawyer retained at the company's expense as a fringe benefit. Other fringe benefits may include college courses for the company's executives.

rey himself. His late and much lamented speech to the Catholic war veterans, a hawkish pronouncement eradicating weeks of quiet movement leftward, is explained by his supporters as a case of the Vice President's spontaneously getting carried away by his audience.

Humphrey also makes clear he would have trouble swallowing a platform recommending an unconditional bombing halt. But that would not be enough. Doves on the Platform Committee insist that the plank make continued U. S. support of the Saigon regime conditional on taking Communists into the government. No matter how euphemistically this may be phrased, it would involve considerable back-peddling by Humphrey.

However, Humphrey's difficulty in compromising basically may be less a question of substance than of his personal loyalty, often bordering on subservience, to the President. For example, although recent private polls show Humphrey's identification with Mr. Johnson might defeat him in November, the Vice President went to great lengths in public statements last week to claim great personal popularity for the President.

Such incidents show that Humphrey's moment of truth on the platform transcends Vietnam, vital though that issue is. Whether he compromises in the face of the Administration's pressure will test whether he can really drop his role, deeply ingrained these past four years, of being Lyndon Johnson's cheerleader. On that question may rest Humphrey's prospect of being elected President.

By PETER ARNETT

LANDING ZONE STUD, Vietnam (AP) — The hulking CH46 helicopter seemed to sniff suspiciously at the towering ridge-line, like a blowfly hovering over carrion.

Then it belled in through the broken trees, disgorging a score of sweating Marines into a storm of red dust. The blackened ridgeline beneath them, torn and twisted by bombing and artillery barrages, stretched north into the blue haze of the demilitarized zone that divides the two Vietnams.

Valleys on both sides were pockmarked with craters. Huge trees torn apart by years of war were whitening in the sun.

"Man," one Marine muttered, pushing his helmet off his sweating forehead, "It looks like war was born here."

A shouted order cut off further comment. The new arrivals moved up to join a forward company. They were getting their first taste of the most consistently bloody battleground in all Vietnam.

The logic of war makes the DMZ and the adjacent territory to its south a primary fighting place. North Vietnam has an extensive road and rail system running through the 17th parallel into the northern portion of the zone. The heavily forested mountains split with jungle valleys provide an access into the South that has been impossible to block.

The sanctuary of Laos lies to the west of the 40-mile-long zone, enabling the enemy to place heavy artillery both north and west of allied positions. This combination made untenable the U.S. Marine combat base of Khe Sanh.

U.S. commanders see the DMZ an echo of more conventional wars when there were a front line, artillery duels and set-piece battles. The first U.S. advisers to the Vietnamese army saw the DMZ as the logical setting for the future war which they thought would be fought in the style of the Korean conflict.

The Vietnamese army, built to stop a conventional thrust across the DMZ, and as late as 1963 senior American and Vietnamese officers believed that the real threat remained there and not in the Mekong Delta and the populous coast where guerrillas were becoming active.

Events proved that the Communist command was more interested in a "people's war" than in a conventional one, and by 1965 the Vietnamese army was almost beaten and there hadn't been a shot fired at the DMZ.

In late 1965 the long-awaited "invasion" seemed to be coming, and U.S. Marine units were deployed to hold it back.

The enemy seemed more interested, however, in inflicting American casualties and sucking U.S. forces away from the populated areas than in storming across the DMZ as the Chinese did in Korea.

Utilities Suspends Increase

RALEIGH (AP) — Carolina Power & Light Co. will be required to make a thorough disclosure of its financial condition before the North Carolina Utilities Commission decides whether a requested rate increase is justified.

The commission handed down an order Tuesday suspending CP&L's request for a 2.7 per cent rate hike pending hearings and investigation to determine "the justness and reasonableness of such rates."

CP&L had asked for the increase in an effort to recover from its customers the cost of the recently enacted 10 per cent federal income tax surcharge.

The Utilities Commission is of the opinion, "the order stated, 'that the said proposed change of rates will affect the public interest and should be investigated to determine if such increase is just and reasonable.'"

The regulatory agency scheduled a public hearing on the issue for Oct. 22 and invited "protestants and other parties having an interest in said investigation" to file their protests of petition for intervention.

The commission's ruling that the request constitutes a "general rate case" indicates CP&L will be subjected to a full scale rate-of-return hearing—the first in the company's history.

CP&L originally asked for the rate hike to be effective July 1 and include both retail and wholesale customers. The initial increase would have been 5.2 per cent, dropping to 2.7 per cent on Jan. 1, 1969, and remaining at that level until the federal surtax is withdrawn.

The commission did not act on the request, however, and the firm amended its filing to exempt wholesale customers and request the 2.7 per cent increase effective Aug. 1.

Long Ill, Now Rear Admiral

PEARL HARBOR (AP) — The Navy has promoted Edwin M. Rosenberg, who had stomach cancer three times, to rear admiral.

Rosenberg, 49, a plans officer with the Pacific Fleet at Pearl Harbor, was first stricken with cancer in the stomach and intestines in 1946 and was retired the following year by a Navy board.

In 1948, Rosenberg wrote to the Navy: "I'm well and wouldn't you like to employ me and get full value for your money instead of paying me and not getting anything."

It took a private bill in Congress to get him rehired. Four years later, while commanding the destroyer escort Blackwood, Rosenberg came down with cancer again. An operation and X-ray treatment followed, but he stayed in the Navy.

Several years later he was hospitalized again for cancer but returned to duty after three months.

May Britt Sues For A Divorce

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Bionde Swedish actress May Britt, after nearly eight years of marriage, is suing Sammy Davis Jr. for divorce.

A suit filed Tuesday in Santa Monica Superior Court said Davis "inflicted great anguish and mental suffering" upon her, causing illness and unhappiness.

The action came four days after Frank Sinatra, a close friend of Davis, was divorced by Mia Farrow at Juarez, Mexico. The Sinatras separated last October—two days before Davis, a Negro, and Miss Britt announced a parting of ways.

Miss Britt, who has lived in the couple's $320,000 Bel Air home since the separation, asked for division of the community property in "a just manner" and custody of their three children.

Their children are Tracey, a 7-year-old daughter, and two adopted sons, Mark, 3, and Jeff, 3.

Neither Miss Britt, 33, nor Davis, 42, in London with the stage company of "Golden Boy," commented publicly about her divorce action.

Mich., was there, and so was the grenadier, Pfc. Steve Farnsworth of Wilburne, Ore.

It was a get-together for Charlie Company, 1st Battalion, 505th Airborne Infantry, of the 82nd Airborne Division, working with the 101st Air Cavalry Division. Everyone agreed it was a swell party and it could not help whacking home the contrasts of the war.

At 8:30 a.m. the company—in the field, the mud, the jungle, the heat, the danger, since June 10—was at a place called fire-base Panther II, five miles west of Hue.

At 9 a.m. huge Chinook helicopters plucked the 130 men for a day at the beach, a slight but welcome break from combat.

From the chopper pad the men marched by platoons down the dusty road and onto the South China Sea beach. They were full gear and brought along every pistol, grenade, machine gun and mortar they owned.

The men trailed into an untidy formation and assumed non-committal expressions as they were greeted by their baleful first sergeant, William F. Jones, Newark, N.J. He began the classic, two-prong Army lecture:

"Welcome to Colco Beach. You are going to have a good time here.

"You will not leave trash behind. The way the beach looks now is the way it will look when you leave.

"You are welcome to swim. The platoon sergeants will draw your bathing suits.

"We don't want any casualties on Colco Beach. When you are swimming look out for the man on your left and the man on your right. They may not be able to swim as well as you.

"We have a big bag of mail. Chow is at 11:00. There is another unit here from the 101st and it's got some legs in it (non-paratroopers).

"However, we know how we get along with the 101st, and we don't want any fights. Are there any questions?"

No questions. Men like the "top" take care of them, they say. Gear was stacked neatly in favor of swim suits.

Twelve cases of frosty beer and 42 cases of soda pop were quickly flanked and overrun. About a platoon took to the surf.

A touch football game started on the sand.

Several of the guys organized a game of thumper where everyone hits the picnic table in rhythm, flashing each man's personal signal, like a tug on the ear. If a man missed his signal that day he had to down the whole can of beer.

As the game progressed, signals were missed, and the beers went down. Pfc. Michael Powell of Flint, Mich., lobbed can after empty can into a trash barrel.

He also did a completely convincing imitation of a rifleman falling off a bench into the sand.

At 11 a.m. Sgt. Jones presided over the barbecue—steak, fried chicken, ham, rolls and potato salad. It all disappeared.

Pfc. John MacNeil, 24, of Boston, a squad leader, turned philosophical. "Only 127 more days and all this will be over." That's when he's going home.

Lt. Vic Weisman of Wheeling, W. Va., back from a Stateside leave, recalled: "Back there you drive down the road without a weapon. Takes some getting used to. The bridges don't have any bunkers on the ends either."

N.C. Constitution Is 100 Years Old

By Christopher Crittenden
N. C. Department of
Archives and History
Written for Associated Press

RALEIGH (AP) — The year 1968 marks the centennial of our North Carolina state constitution. That document was adopted 100 years ago, during the Reconstruction period following the Civil War.

Today a state Constitution Study Commission is investigating possible revision of the century-old document. This is not a statutory commission. Rather, it is a private group appointed by a steering committee of the North Carolina State Bar and the North Carolina Bar Association.

The steering committee was appointed as a result of a suggestion made by Gov. Dan Moore to the state bar in October, 1967. The governor secured a $25,000 foundation grant to finance the commission's work.

The chairman of the commission is Emory B. Denny, former chief justice of North Carolina; the vice chairman is Archie K. Davis, chairman of the board of Wachovia Bank & Trust Co.; and there are 23 other members, both lawyers and laymen. The commission has secured the services of the Institute of Government.

The commission has divided itself into four committees, as follows, with the chairman listed in each case: 1, structure, organization and powers of state government, L. P. McLendon Greensboro; 2, structure, organization and powers of local government and government finance, Archie K. Davis, Winston-Salem; 3, education, welfare and criminal justice, Irving E. Carlyle, Winston-Salem; and 4, declarations of principles and policies and miscellaneous, William Britt, Smithfield.

The constitution of 1868 was drafted by a special convention dominated by Republicans, with Calvin J. Cowles as presiding officer. Carbetbagger Albion W. Tourgee of Ohio was probably the most influential member.

As University of North Carolina historian Hugh T. Lefler has stated: "Some of the provisions (of the 1868 constitution) were copied from the Ohio Constitution while others were in line with progressive legislation in Northern states. Many of the changes were quite democratic."

Some of the most important provisions were "the abolition of slavery, removal of religious tests for office-holding, popular election of all state and county officials, abolition of county court system . . . and provision for 'a general and uniform system of public schools.' " It has been suggested that the study commission report by December, 1968.

Five states: Illinois, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and California manufacture approximately 40 per cent of the weight of all candy made in the United States.

TROOPS IN PRAGUE . . . Soviet occupation troops and tanks were in the streets of Prague today.

The Crisis In Czechoslovakia Makes Dove's Task Difficult

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — At a sensitive moment in American politics, the Soviet Union's troop thrust into Czechoslovakia is likely to harden the foreign affairs posture of Democrats convening in Chicago and of the Republican party as well.

Among Democrats, the crisis in eastern Europe probably will assist Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who already is the commanding leader for the presidential nomination to be awarded at the party's national convention next week.

His chief rival, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, is banking heavily on a convention battle over Vietnam war policy to bolster his bid to overtake Humphrey.

But echoes of the European crisis undoubtedly will make the task of Democratic doves far more difficult. For the convention is not likely to adopt a conciliatory plank on dealing with the Communists in Vietnam while Communist troops in Europe are on the march.

The movement by Soviet, Polish, East German, Hungarian and Bulgarian troops came after weeks of tension over internal liberalization of the Czech Communist regime. The trend represented a break with old-line communism.

The Soviet government said its troops moved at the request of Czechoslovakia to meet a threat to the Socialist system.

While the situation was not clear, its impact on the Democratic platform hearings under way in Washington could only be one of stiffening attitudes toward the Communist world.

President Johnson summoned the National Security Council into crisis session—and candidate Humphrey is a member of that panel.

If the crisis persists, the political drawbacks of identification with President Johnson's administration—and its Vietnam policy—may be offset for Humphrey by the tendency toward national unity behind the government, which normally occurs in times of international tension.

In fact, there has been the expected flurry of gossip that in this time of crisis there might be a late-starting movement to draft Johnson himself for the nomination—though he has said he would not accept renomination.

For the Republicans and their presidential nominee, Richard M. Nixon, there was a tinge of irony in the European developments.

Two weeks ago, Nixon accepted his nomination with a speech in which he held out hope for a time of negotiations with the Communist world.

"After an era of confrontation," he said, "the time has come for an era of negotiations. Where the world's super powers are concerned, there is no acceptable alternative to peaceful negotiations."

But the ever-cautious Nixon added that "we shall restore the strength of America so that we shall always negotiate from strength and never from weakness."

In view of European developments, the latter phase of his remarks is likely now to take precedence.

A similar trend can be expected among many Democrats.

This was evident even in the swift adoption of a new strategy by Democratic promoters of a platform plank dedicated to ending the Vietnam war. Their argument: the heavy commitment of U.S. forces in Southeast Asia hampers the American ability to react to crisis elsewhere.

But the symbolism of a conciliatory Vietnam plank is not likely to prove attractive to the party's convention while a Democratic President seeks to deal with new trouble in Europe.

Romanians Call Special Session

VIENNA (AP) — The Romanian Communist party's central committee was called into special session today to discuss "the situation created by the fact of the penetration by foreign armies on the territory of the Socialist Republic of Czechoslovakia," a communique of the Romanian news agency Agerpres said.

The government of Romania has also been called in for special session. The communique contained no other details.

Within Communist Eastern Europe, Romania and Yugoslavia have been outspoken defenders of Czechoslovakia's right to choose its own course.

Baby Of Year Named At Church

Tarna Brown was crowned the Baby of the Year at the annual baby contest at Mt. Calvary F.W.B. Church Sunday. Miss Brown was crowned by the president of the Ever Ready Club, Mrs. Rosa Harris, and given a $50 gift certificate and a piggy bank, with beginning savings in it.

Other winners and their awards were: first runner-up, Sharon Daniels, gift certificate and piggy bank; second runner-up, Robert Little, gift certificate and piggy bank.

Other participating babies who received piggy banks were: Dwayne Devonne Dixon, Benny Clifton Vines, Shelton Taylor, Vandella Edwards and Melody Levonne Cole.

The Ever Ready Club of Mt. Calvary sponsored the contest.

STILL AT LARGE

ANDERSON, S. C. (AP) — Five Anderson County prisoners who escaped Tuesday from a stockade bunkhouse were still at large today.

Bob Scott Again Refuses To Endorse VP Candidate

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Lt. Gov. Bob Scott refused again Tuesday to give a direct endorsement to any of the Democratic presidential candidates or to the movement to gain the vice presidential nomination for former Gov. Terry Sanford.

Scott, at a Charlotte news conference, said his primary concern now "is my race for governor here in North Carolina. The state and national tickets are separate, as indeed they should be." When asked about the move in some quarters to push Sanford for the vice presidential post, Scott said, "The people would be pleased to have anyone from the state on the national ticket."

Scott indicated, as he has in the past, that he might continue to vote for Gov. Dan Moore as the state's favorite son candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination even after the Tar Heel delegation is released.

"A lot of people think it is of the utmost importance for candidates to be on the bandwagon," he said. "It is nice to be on the winning side, but it is nice to know the world won't come to an end if you aren't."

As a North Carolina delegate to the convention in Chicago, Scott said he will go with only one firm idea in mind—"I don't believe I'll support Lester Maddox (Georgia governor who announced recently)."

On the subject of law and order, Scott said he opposes federal programs in which money for law enforcement training comes to local governments directly from the federal agencies.

"You see what is happening to our school system when the federal government deals directly with the local agency," Scott said.

"I don't want our local law enforcement agencies to be placed in a position where they can be dictated to by the federal government," he said, adding:

"I will support the right of local police authority and will oppose any state or federal government attempt to take away that local authority."

Meanwhile, Scott's campaign headquarters released a letter Tuesday which the Democratic gubernatorial nominee had sent to U.S. Transportation Secretary Alan Boyd urging more federal funds for interstate highway construction.

Congress recently authorized construction of an additional 1,500 miles of Interstate highways to fill gaps in the previously approved 41,000-mile system.

Scott's letter read: "North Carolina has received substantially less mileage in the Interstate system, as now designated, than other Southern states with similar characteristics."

"North Carolina has the lowest rate of return in the nation on federal highway funds collected in the state. We do not feel that North Carolina received a realistic share of the Interstate system in the initial allocation in 1956 and believe this has cost the state over a half billion dollars in highway funds."

N.C. Manager Sees Nixon-Wallace Race

CHARLOTTE (AP) — The North Carolina campaign manager for Republican Richard M. Nixon believes the presidential race in the Tar Heel State will narrow down to a contest between the GOP nominee and third party candidate George Wallace.

Charles R. Jonas Jr., 27-year-old Charlotte stock broker who was named Monday to head Nixon's Tar Heel forces, said: "At this point, I should imagine that most polls would reflect a situation showing Mr. Nixon and Mr. Wallace far out in front of Hubert Humphrey."

Jonas said Wallace has considerable strength in the state, but not enough to carry North Carolina against Nixon.

Nixon won the Republican presidential nomination two weeks ago in Miami Beach, Fla. Vice President Humphrey is expected to get the Democratic nomination in Chicago next week. And Wallace, the former governor of Alabama, has qualified his American Party for the Tar Heel ballot this fall.

Jonas said he believes Nixon's chances of carrying North Carolina will be enhanced by "statements from both the new and outgoing chairmen of the North Carolina Democratic Party that they will disassociate themselves from the national Democratic ticket."

"From these statements," he added, "we expect a minimum effort in North Carolina on behalf of Humphrey."

Jonas said the Republicans will attempt "to convince those people who seek a change in policy and leadership in this country that the only vehicle for that change is the candidacy of Richard Nixon."

Jonas said he expects to establish Nixon state headquarters in Raleigh and Charlotte, with 12 sub-headquarters scattered about the state. He said there will be two full-time Nixon field men to coordinate the work of volunteers.

Jonas, the son of Rep. Charles Raper Jonas, R-N.C., said he will take a leave of absence from his brokerage job to devote full time to the Nixon campaign.

14th St. Closed

State Highway Commissions officials announced today that 14th Street, from Charles to West Rock Springs Drive, will be closed to traffic Thursday and Friday.

Officials said the closing of that section of 14th Street is necessary to allow Norfolk and Southern Railroad crews to raise the track at the 14th Street crossing.

Traffic eastbound on 14th Street will be detoured at the Charles Street intersection to 10th Street and Rock Springs Drive, back to 14th. West bound traffic will be detoured down East Rock Springs Drive to 10th Street and on to 14th Street by way of Charles Street.

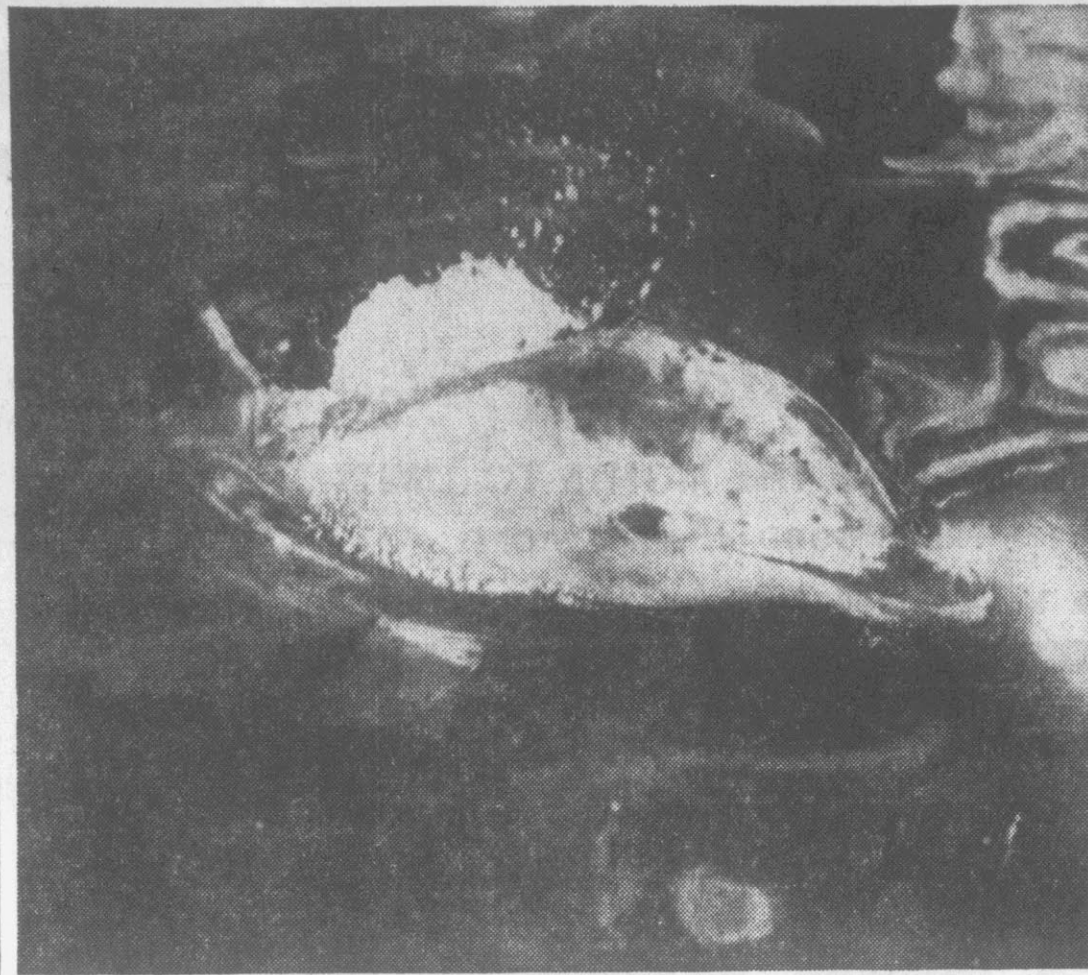

Traffic will be closed on the crossing section of 14th Street beginning early Thursday morning and the street will be reopened to traffic again late Friday.

Rectory Cost Set As Parish Average

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI)—A church rectory must not exceed in cost the price of an average house of the parish, says Bishop Fulton J. Sheen, in a set of guidelines issued for the Roman Catholic Diocese of Rochester.

Other rules laid down by Bishop Sheen are: The type of church building to be erected will never depend on the financial ability of any parish to pay for it; the church buildings will be erected "not just for Sunday-Catholics or as a place of worship generally one day a week, but as a place for service, mission, and caring for everyone who looks to the church to prolong the role of Christ the Shepherd"; the right of the poor to have a decent home, "enjoys priority over our right to erect a tax-exempt structure which exceeds the bare minimum."

Gov. Dan Moore To Ask For Funds

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Dan Moore was expected to sign an application today asking for $109,186 in federal riot control funds.

Charles Clement, executive director of the Governor's Law and Order Committee, said Tuesday the application had been prepared in order to meet U.S. Justice Department approval by an Aug. 26 deadline.

The funds are available under the Safe Streets and Crime Control Act passed by Congress shortly after the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Clement said the application "is couched in general terms," but he expects the committee to distribute the funds to local law enforcement agencies for purchase of riot control equipment and communication devices.

Clement said the state expects to receive an additional $300,000 to $400,000 under the federal act later this year to finance development of a "comprehensive plan for law enforcement and administration of justice."

One Drawback In Long Trade Pact

NEW DELHI (AP) — East Germany is willing to sign a long-term trade pact with India lasting until 1980, Heinrich Meier, deputy chairman of the East German state planning commission, told a news conference.

But the establishment of normal diplomatic relations between the two countries is an essential prerequisite, he added. India has relations only with West Germany.

Local Center Key To Health Hopes

NEW YORK (UPI)—Development of the neighborhood health center is providing a vastly expanded opportunity for service to the disadvantaged and offers hope for a healthier America, according to Monsignor James H. Fitzpatrick, director of the Catholic Medical Center of Brooklyn and Queens.

"Today," says Monsignor Fitzpatrick, "the role of the church in service to the community becomes increasingly important in the care of the medically disadvantaged. As an example of our recognition of the importance of physical as well as spiritual service to our citizens, we are establishing the Charles R. Drew, M.D., neighborhood health center at a cost of well over a million dollars to care for approximately 50,000 adults and children annually on a family plan of total medical services."

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When he was 18, Jim Webb flunked a college music course, broke up with his girl, got on an airplane and wrote "By the Time I Get to Phoenix."

At 19 he rode skyward in a balloon for a publicity stunt and wrote "Up, Up and Away."

Now 21, the composer prodigy of pop music needs no balloons or airplane. His "MacArthur Park" is at the top of the charts and Jim Webb's career is soaring.

He has been signed to write the score for the film musical of "Peter Pan." Nearly completed is a second album of songs for actor Richard Harris whose first Webb album, "A Tramp Shining," was a runaway success. Frank Sinatra, among others, has asked for some Webb songs. Taping has begun on a television special, "Jim Webb and His Friends." And on his latest single record, "One of the Nicer Things," Jim Webb—composer and lyricist—makes his singing debut.

It's been a fast and dizzying ascent for the kid who came out of Oklahoma in 1964 knowing he had to write songs: "There was a time in my life when, as a matter of body chemistry, I wrote three songs a week."

Jim came to San Bernardino, a desert town 60 miles from Hollywood, when his father, a Baptist minister, was assigned to a parish there. Then Jim's mother died, and his father decided to go back to Oklahoma. Jim, then 18 and enrolled in college, remained.

Things did not go well. His grades were poor, and the academic regimen appeared to be hindering rather than helping him. A professor suggested that Jim take his talent to Hollywood.

He broke up with his girl made a brief visit to Oklahoma, and on that auspicious flight home wrote the song that catapulted him to success.

At first he lived in a bare Hollywood apartment, sleeping on a blanket on the floor. Then "By the Time I Get to Phoenix" was recorded. It did well, but not as well as the song that followed: "Up, Up and Away." An airline eventually bought the song of a commercial. Jim Webb started making money.

He leased a huge, tree-shaded old house just off Hollywood Boulevard where he lives with an entourage of friends, musicians and his business manager.

Articulate and soft-spoken, still with an Oklahoma drawl, Webb seems the calm center of this whirlwind success.

"I try to keep my mind on my work and write like I always wrote."

He sits in an upstairs room surrounded by electronic equipment—tape recorders, an organ, playback machines, an electric typewriter.

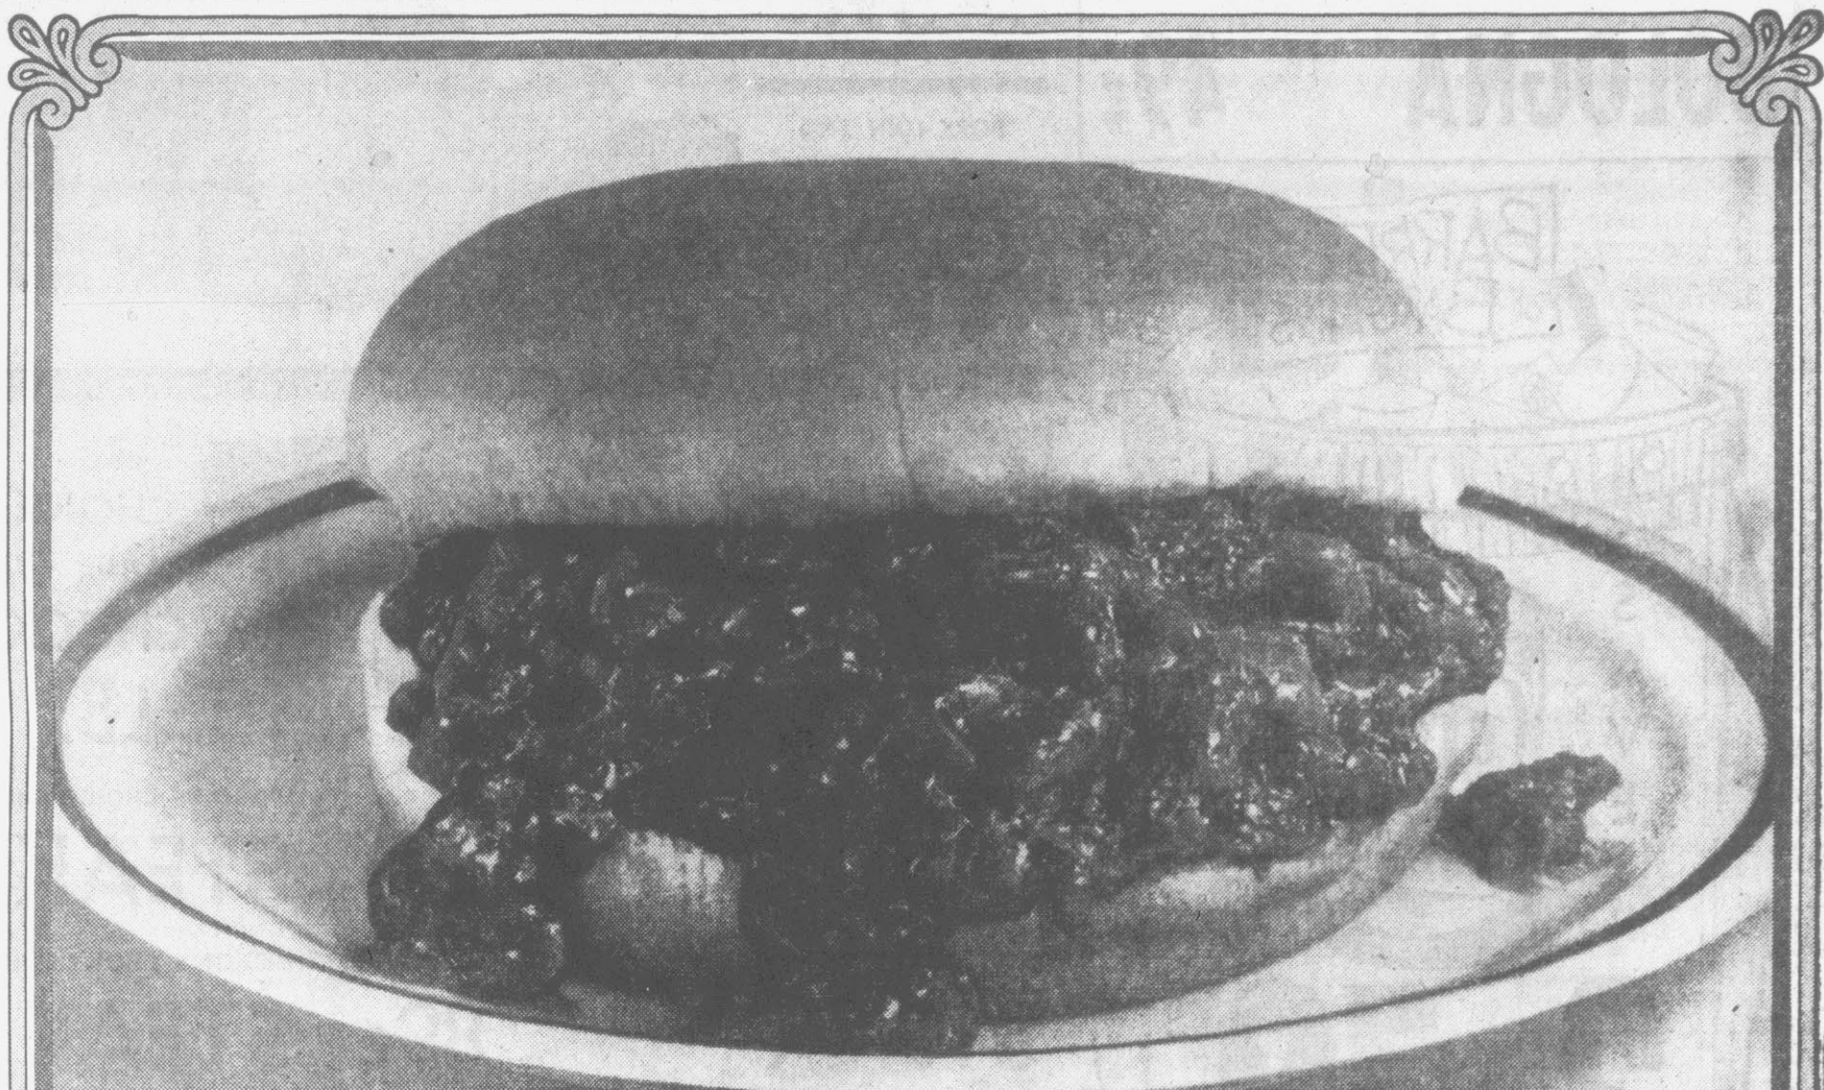

"Sometimes I look at all this equipment and I think of guys like Mozart who had only a quill pen and maybe some rough paper."

Webb, with his musical poems and long, long songs, says: "I've always resented being confined in the 32-bar song—writing something that runs three minutes because someone wants to sell tomato ketchup." His song "MacArthur Park" runs over seven minutes, the longest playing single ever to hit the charts.

"We are trying to go forward musically," he says, "to incorporate the poetic style of the balladeers into a good solid top 40 track sound. 'MacArthur Park' was a start."

His abstract, poetic lyrics, using commonplace images of American life, have signaled a change on the pop scene, part of what he sees as movement toward more meaningful lyrics. "MacArthur Park," with its image of the park as a cake, icing melting down, is "A framework on which everyone could hang their own experience," says Webb.

"I tried to describe my mental impression of a disappearing love affair—melting, disappearing, decaying, and how time has a way of blurring things."

Now a Sloppy Joe that runneth over with good, lean Armour meat.

Chips and putts from area golf courses:

GREENVILLE C.C.

Si Moye, Howard Waldrop and Dr. Ed Carter each picked up birdie fours on the 18th hole at the Greenville Golf and Country Club lately, but it didn't do them much good on their match. They lost the hole to Ford McGowan and Ben Harrison Sr. Harrison dropped in a 100-yard wedge shot on the hole for an eagle-three. The hole is 485-yards long, a par-five.

Graham Jefferson recently picked up his best round, an 58. He was playing with C. L. Lupton, George Shoe and Cameron Dudley.

Signups are now underway for the annual W. S. Moye Memorial Tournament at the club. The tournament will be played August 31-September 2 at the club. The winner receives the W.S. Moye Trophy.

AYDEN COUNTRY CLUB

The Ayden Golf and Country Club will hold its annual Ayden Invitational this weekend, Saturday and Sunday.

There are still a few openings left in the tournament, according to pro Clarence Alexander. Entries will be taken through Friday and up to starting time. The 36-hole tournament will be flighted following Saturday's play.

BROOK VALLEY

A number of golfers have turned in their best round in recent play. Among them are Ollie Bissett with a 73, Dick Douglas, another 73, Dr. Dick Evans, also with a 73.

Among nine-hole scorers, J. C. Proctor Jr. had a 38, and Bill Goodwin had a 36.

Jim Ward and Harold Thomas carded a best ball 65 against Ralph Brown and Ted Pinner.

Swoboda's Bat Paces Victory

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

Dapper Ron Swoboda, the mod Met, had a swinging time against the San Francisco Giants.

Swoboda, who occasionally accentuates his lengthy sideburns with a set of love beads, displayed great affection for Giant pitching Tuesday night, driving in five runs in New York's 8-0 victory over San Francisco.

The splurge included a three run eighth-inning homer—Swoboda's first in almost a month—and helped Tom Seaver win his 11th game.

Elsewhere in the National League Tuesday, Philadelphia bombed St. Louis 8-2, Pittsburgh rapped Cincinnati 8-3, Houston outlasted Los Angeles 8-5 and Chicago took Atlanta 6-5 in 10 innings.

In the American League, New

PGA To Bar APG Members

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Golfers joining the new American Professional Golfers organization will be barred from participation in Professional Golfers' Association tournaments, the president of the PGA warned Tuesday night.

Max Elbin told about 70 pros: "You can't belong to two organizations. You either belong to the PGA or forget it" as far as tournament competition goes.

Elbin made his comments at Whitemarsh Valley Country Club, site of Thursday's $100,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic. However, the ruling will not apply for the Philadelphia tourney.

Later this month, Elbin said, the PGA will issue new entry blanks for tournaments. Those refusing to sign the new blanks, which apparently would include a statement saying the golfer did not belong to any other player's organization, would be banned from PGA play, Elbin said.

Formation of the APG was announced Monday in New York by 13 touring pros who identified themselves as the new group's organizing committee.

One of the 13, Frank Beard, said he signed up 70 of the 100 pros present at a meeting Monday night. He said a continuation of the meeting would be held Wednesday night.

Beard explained that the APG plans to operate largely for young pros who must qualify each week to gain a starting place in tournaments.

York shut out Minnesota, 5-0, California downed Baltimore 7-2, Cleveland edged Boston 2-1, Detroit split a doubleheader with Chicago, winning 7-0 before losing 10-2, and Washington divided a pair with Oakland, winning 7-5 and bowing 4-3.

Swoboda, who had struck out three times in 17 frustrating innings as the Mets lost 1-0 the night before, made up for it Tuesday.

He drove in a run with a fielder's choice grounder in the third inning, singled another across in the fifth and climaxed a four-run Met rally in the eighth with his 11th home run of the year.

It was his first homer since July 23 and only his fourth since the end of April.

Seaver worked six innings, allowing four hits, before wilting in the Shea Stadium heat. Cal Koonce finished up.

Larry Dierker, who hasn't lost a game in two months, ran his record to 12-10 as the Astros hopped on Don Drysdale and defeated the Dodgers.

Rusty Staub drove in three runs with a double and a sacrifice fly and Danny Coombs extinguished a ninth-inning Dodger rally, preserving Dierker's sixth consecutive victory.

Cookie Rojas and Clay Dalrymple hit home runs and the Phillies clawed the Cardinals, ending Nelson Briles' five game winning streak.

Briles retired the first two batters in the first inning and then two walks, four hits and an error cost him four runs. Rich Allen doubled one across and singles by Bill White and Gary Sutherland produced two of the others.

Rojas hit a solo homer in the second and Dalrymple connected with one man on in the third. Matty Alou tagged three hits, drove in two runs and scored a pair as Pittsburgh ended Cincinnati's seven-game winning streak.

Alou's three hits boosted his average to .333, 10 points behind NL leader Pete Rose, who had 1-for-4. Rose's ninth-inning triple extended his batting streak to 10 games.

Bill Mazeroski drove in three Pirate runs with a single and a triple and Tony Perez had a two-run homer for the Reds.

Willie Smith's second home run of the game gave Chicago its 10-inning victory over Atlanta. Smith, who had a three-run shot in the first inning, connected with two out in the 10th after the Cubs had tied the game on a pair of errors and Glenn Beckert's sacrifice fly in the ninth.

Pitcher Phil Niekro had a three-run homer for the Braves and his kid brother, Joe, was Chicago's winning pitcher in relief.

Phantoms At Work

Coach Bud Phillips, right, goes over some points of his backs in a workout this week. The Phantoms are in their first full week of heavy drills, aiming for next Friday night's opening game at Bertie

Packers Seek Answers To 'Big' Loss Streak

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

The world champion Green Bay Packers were looking for the reasons they've lost two consecutive exhibition games after opening the season with a decision over the College All-Stars.

"I don't know what the real answer is, but we have several ideas," rookie coach Phil Bengtson said Tuesday after viewing films of Monday's 10-7 loss to the Chicago Bears.

"We weren't alert," he said.

"So far, we've been lacking that spark."

"Our running game hasn't got going yet."

And while he was going over his problems, the man who replaced Vince Lombardi as coach looked ahead to Saturday, when the Packers travel to Dallas to play the Cowboys.

"Oh, boy!" he said. "I guess they've been waiting for us ever since we beat them in the title game."

In Florida, the Miami Dolphins, several of them on the mend from a mild attack of flu, went back to work today in preparation for Friday's exhibition game with Boston.

Coach George Wilson cut the Dolphins' practice to 50 minutes Tuesday when several players, including flanker Howard Twilley and center Tom Goode, said they weren't feeling well.

Barring further illness, Wilson said 47 players would make the trip to Jacksonville for the game with Boston.

And it might take an epidemic to ruin their chances. Boston, a usual, has yet to win in two exhibition outings and has a total of only six points to show for games against New Orleans and the New York Jets.

In fact, Boston has pro football's over-all worst record in preseason play, with coach Mike Holovak using those games for experiments with personnel.

Wilson said he expected to use quarterback Kim Hammond for three quarters, with Bob Griese working the final period.

Boston, meanwhile, placed veteran receiver Jim Colclough on injured waivers. Colclough, a 10-year veteran, has been hampered by a bad back.

Patriot rookie John Outlaw, a promising speedster who was seeking a berth as either a running back or defensive back, also was placed on injured waivers. He will undergo knee surgery today and will be lost to the team for about eight weeks.

Their game is one of four scheduled Friday. The others include another National American Football League matchup, with San Francisco visiting Denver. Baltimore is at Detroit and Buffalo plays Houston at Tulsa, Okla., in the other.

In other training camp action, Milt Plum, the reserve quarterback acquired by Los Angeles from Detroit, was named to start the Rams' Saturday game in San Diego.

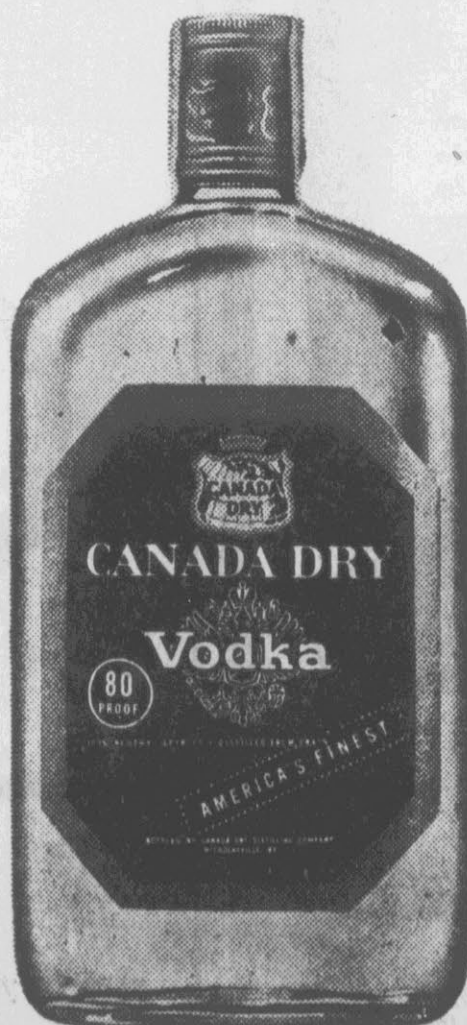

Coach George Allen said Plum will work the first half with regular Roman Gabriel playing the last half.

Phantoms Moving Along In Preparing For Year

With just over a week to go before the opening game of the season, Coach Bud Phillips feels that the Rose High School Phantoms are coming along at a good pace.

"We have to be ready by then, and we're shaping up pretty good," he said. "But we have a lot of work to do on some phases of the game."

Phillips noted that one place where much of the work has to be done is in the line. "We're bigger here, but we have to work on our footwork. We're strong enough, and it's our best size ever."

Phillips said that Mack Farrow, Frank Saunders and Lewis Gidley are the top candidates for the job at center, with Saunders and Gidley also working at guard.

Other candidates for the job as guards are Mike Adams, Steve Williams and Tommy Bland.

At the tackle position, top men are Ralph Vincent, Richard Tucker, Ed Bartlett, Tommy Worsley and Sid Hart.

Five holdovers return at the end slots, giving that position plenty of experience. They are Harrison Gaskins, Bill Rivers, Mike Harrington, Lewis Gaylord and Josh Weeks. Gary Bryant and Tony Whitehurst are additional end candidates.

Bryant, also, will handle most of the kicking duties.

In the backfield, there is a little more experience, but the quarterback will be a new one. Top candidates are Tom Jamieson, Bob Boone and Joe West, with Russ Smith working both there and at halfback.

Kyle Hodges returns at left halfback, to give a lot of punch there, while on the right side, Greg Williams, Linwood Ferguson and Fred Jackson are shooting for the slot.

David Harrington is back at fullback, but is being challenged by Walter Gould. Another top candidate, Bubba Raul is out with an injury.

Phillips also pointed out that some of the younger candidates are also looking good. Among them are Don and Ron Taylor, Ed Porter, Cliff Edwards, Steve Cayton and Bill Whiteford at halfbacks, Kevin Price at fullback, Allan Pate, Steve Aldridge at guards, Tim Leith at tackle and Bryant Kittrell at end.

"We scrimmaged a little last Saturday, and we didn't look very good," Phillips said. "Then we worked again on Monday and showed a great deal of improvement. We plan to do a little hitting all along during the week, and then hold a full-scale scrimmage on Saturday."

That workout is planned for around 2 p.m., according to Phillips.

Father-Son Golf Tourney Is Set

The first annual Father-Son Golf Tournament will be held Saturday at the Brook Valley Country Club.

The tournament will be divided into two divisions, one for sons 16 and older, and the other for sons under 16.

A total of eight winners in the two divisions will be awarded prizes, for a total of 16 trophies. The championship trophy will go to the father-son combination with the best low-ball score in each division. A runner-up award will also be made.

Trophies will also be given to the low combination Calloway total and runners-up in each division.

Under the rules of the tournament, the "father" may be a father, grandfather, god-father, or uncle of the person he is playing with.

Tee-off times will run from 11:30 a.m. until 2 p.m. Pro Harold Thomas said that late times would be arranged for those playing in the Ayden Invitational.

Entries close Friday afternoon.

Stanford holds a 31-29 edge in its football series with California. Ten games were ties.

Pitt Program Receives Funds

A $49,000 appropriation to fund a short-term emergency food and medical service program for low-income families in Pitt County has been received by the State Economic Opportunity Office.

Paul Guthrie, assistant coordinator with the State Planning Task Force said the money will be put to work in Pitt as soon as a workable program can be finalized with the Pitt County Welfare Department.

The money, according to Guthrie, "will be used to supplement the commodity program already ongoing in Pitt" and to provide "help, in terms of medical needs" for persons needing medical attention for ailments derived from or connected with malnutrition. Guthrie emphasized the medical funds would not provide general medical treatment, but would provide funds for treatment of ailments "strictly related to malnutrition." According to Guthrie, the 1967 Economic Opportunity Act included provisions for a food and medical program, on a supplemental basis.

Last May, the OEO indicated 25 counties in North Carolina, including Pitt, where such a program could be operated.

Funds for Wilson County ($40,000) and monies for Pitt were funded to the state office, Guthrie explained, because those counties had no local community action agencies funded by the OEO.

"We are in the process now," according to the assistant coordinator, "of trying to work with the Welfare Department on a program that can be operated."

Teletype To Aid Grain Exchange

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—Buying and selling grain is a $2 billion-a-year business that depends on quick exchange of information for investors. To give speculators the edge they need to gain profits and avoid losses, Cargill, Inc. has installed a 54,000-mile teletype communications system here that transmits and receives 7,500 messages a day all over the world.

Messages may involve grain sales to the Soviet Union, buying corn on the Chicago futures market or selling soybeans to customers in Japan or West Germany.

Word Not Dying; Paper Sales Soar

NEENAH, Wis. (UPI)—If the printed word is dead, as media specialist Marshall McLuhan says, the paper industry doesn't know about it.

In fact, says Kimberly-Clark Corporation, paper consumption for newspapers, books, magazines and the like is expected to be up three per cent this year over 1967, to 36.8 million tons.

Taken together, the company says, this "cultural paper" accounts for 35 per cent of the total U.S. consumption of all types of paper and paper board.

NEW DISPLAY SIGN — Students will be greeted at the beginning of the new school year with a newly installed sign on the front lawn of Rose High School. Office workers Linda Ebron (left) and Patricia Moore are shown above placing letters on the sign. The display board was the class gift from the 1967 and 1968 graduating classes. The cost of the sign was approximately $1,000 including installation. (Photo By Lorraine Sullivan)

Studio Tours Bigger Than Ever

By GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Kids used to climb over backlot fences to get into movie studios. Adults rode in on delivery trucks, posed as process servers, or claimed to be actors' relatives.

Four years ago the film companies found a way to cater to this curiosity—for cash, of course—with studio tours. This summer the rich sideline is bigger and busier than ever. About 500 people a day ride sightseeing buses through MGM, visit out-of-use sound stages, etc. On the deluxe $7.50 tour they see film clips in a projection room and lunch with producers and directors on roast beef followed by apple pie made from the recipe of the late headman Louis B. Mayer's mother.

Twentieth Century-Fox limits visitors to 1,000 a day because of "Hello, Dolly" and other production activity crowding the lot. The two-hour waiting tour takes in the "Peyton Place" town square, stunt demonstrations, a comedy scene, etc. Adults 16 and above are $3; juniors $2; children under 11, $1; under 6, free.

Universal has by far the biggest tour operation, receiving about 6,500 sun-drenched visitors a day. That's up 1,000 from a year ago. The crowd total in four years is estimated at 3.5 million.

In slacks, shorts and mini-dresses, riding 93-passenger "glamortrams" and clicking cameras, tourists see such standby attractions as: Lana Turner's dressing room. Backlot sets ranging from jungles to European streets... make-up demonstration... stunt-man show.

Do visitors see stars? Only by chance. John Wayne emerged from a stage one day, shook hands and signed autographs. Tourists, temporarily trapped Raymond "Ironside" Burr for autographs as he was trying to make his way from sound stage to restroom.

To make up for uncertain stargazing, contract actors mingle with the crowds. "Watch for Al Lewis, Grandpa Munster of 'The Munsters'," says a sign. The cigar-puffing Lewis, signing autographs, says his biggest kick is in meeting visitors from foreign lands where the series is still showing.

Probably the still biggest attraction is the stuntman show, where movie good guys and badmen demonstrate fight fakery, bullwhip process, gunplay with .45-caliber blanks and dives off two-story buildings.

A new attraction is closed-circuit television where tour guides invite visitors to try spontaneous acting. A guide sets up the situation depending on available sound-stage scenery: The barroom pickup, irate citizens calling on the mayor, etc.

Reverse History In Court Fight

By ROBERT T. GRAY
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — History is repeating itself today—in reverse—in the fight over President Johnson's two Supreme Court nominations.

He has named Associate Justice Abe Fortas to succeed Chief Justice Earl Warren, and Federal Judge Homer Thornberry as associate justice.

Republicans are fighting the nominations on the ground that this should be the prerogative of the man who is elected president next November. Having said he would not seek re-election, Johnson is a "lame duck."

In 1960, nearing the end of his second term, Dwight D. Eisenhower was in the same position.

In that year, Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson supported a resolution which said in effect that no vacancies in the court should be filled while Congress was in recess. Eisenhower had appointed Warren in 1953 while Congress was out of session.

No vacancies occurred in 1960 but Democrats contended it would be awkward to confirm an appointee who already was sitting on the court.

Republicans argued that the Democrats' true intention in framing the resolution was to leave any seat unfilled, should a vacancy occur, until Eisenhower's successor was inaugurated. They hoped he would be John F. Kennedy.

Democrats denied any such motivation. The resolution was passed, 48 to 37.

The Constitution provides, however, that "The President shall have the power to fill up all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the Senate."

Hence, the resolution was not binding.

It could have served, however, as a signal to the White House that if a vacancy occurred, the nominee might encounter some rough going before being confirmed by the Senate.

Now the shoe is on the other foot.

Democrats cite the provision in the Constitution and say the President had no choice but to fill the vacancy opened by Warren's announcement of his intention to retire.

A bloc of Republican senators contend that Warren's successor should be left to the next president. The selection, they argue, should await a determination of the national mood as demonstrated by the November election.

WEATHER FORECAST — There will be showers and thundershowers Wednesday night for an area extending from the northern plateaus to the central Rockies. Cooler weather is forecast for the central Rockies and the Northeast. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Buy Bonds where you work.

They do.

Why do our servicemen buy U.S. Savings Bonds? Their reasons are the same as yours and mine: saving for the future, supporting freedom. And because they're fighting for freedom, too, maybe servicemen see the need more clearly than many of us. Buy Bonds. In more than one way, it makes you feel good.

NOW—Higher Rates!
Savings Bonds now pay 4.25% when held to maturity—and Freedom Shares (sold in combination with E Bonds) pay a full 5%. The extra interest will be added as a bonus at maturity.

And now you can buy the Bond/Freedom Share combination any time—no monthly commitment necessary. Get the facts where you work or bank.

Analysts Watching New Factors

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market analysts who usually watch the day to day news for tips on which way the market will go are focusing now on two factors that might be of more enduring significance. Both factors should help prop up prices. First, foreign money is now flowing into American stocks. Second, the mutual and pension funds and other institutions are now so large that the demand for stocks appears to be greater than the supply.

The inflow of foreign cash has been going on now for a year, particularly from Europe, but ever since the United States took action to secure the value of the dollar this inflow has become much greater.

This foreign money, incidentally, was one of the major factors in reducing the U.S. balance of payments deficit in June to a relatively small $156 million. On the second quarter $520 million of foreign money was used to buy U.S. corporate stocks, the highest figure in history.

Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler, commenting on the figures, noted also that the inflow was "not just a flash in the pan." Fowler said it reflected "confidence of investors the world over in the prospects of this economy."

It is widely believed now that this inflow will continue so long as the American economy works its way toward financial stability. Putting pressure behind the inflow is a continuing lack of confidence in some European currencies.

U.S. officials and stock exchange representatives have actively campaigned for these investment funds. And the Foreign Investor Tax Act of 1966, which reduced tax liabilities, also may now be having its hoped-for effect.

The net result is that foreign holdings of American corporate stocks are rising. Already this year $800 million has been added to the total. Match this against a three-year period prior to 1967 when the net liquidation totaled more than $1 billion and you can visualize the small but growing prop now being wedged into the price base of stocks.

The second prop is of greater importance. This is the growing size of institutions and their pressing need to invest the money coming into their treasuries. These institutions become a larger factor in the market each day.

This year alone, for example, mutual funds might show net purchases of about $1.5 billion in corporate stocks, pension funds nearly $5 billion and life insurance companies more than $1 billion. Big as these totals are, they are forecast to grow much larger.

The biggest increase in purchases is expected to be by private pension funds. Each pay-day the assets of these funds grow larger, as any worker looking at his paycheck deductions might conclude. This money has to be invested rather than kept in cash.

The same rule applies to mutual funds. Since it is the advertised goal of many of today's mutual funds to maximize profits, they can't very well show a big cash figure in their quarterly reports. They, too, must invest.

This institutionalizing of the market has been growing for more than a decade now, and some economists think the period of growth has a very long way to go.

The size of institutions is in direct proportion to population and affluence, and the bullish economists foresee a continuing growth in each. Therefore, the assets of institutions also are forecast to grow.

These institutions, along with professional traders, already own about 40 per cent of the stock on the New York Stock Exchange, and some forecasters now claim that in the 1970s the figure will approach 70 per cent.

Although not common, that 70 per cent figure already has been reached in some stocks, and the percentage is growing in most others.

The Worry Clinic Claims That Success Is Mostly In The Mind

John Pont, football "coach of the year" last fall, is a great believer in Applied Psychology. And the hypnotic experiment cited below will support his viewpoint. He said former teams were so imbued with defeatism, that he had to start afresh with a new group of sophomore players with the will to win!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE G-556: John Pont, who led the Hoosier football team to the Rose Bowl last year, claims success is largely in one's mind.

He believes that a coach must instill the winning morale before even the best of football talent will become champions.

And that is sound psychology, for we have actually found that you are much stronger when you are confident than when you are fearful.

On P. 373 of my college textbook, "Psychology Applied," I have listed the data from a hypnotic experiment on a group of soldiers.

Before they were hypnotized, they were urged to compete with a handgrip machine, to find which was the strongest.

Their average grip was 101 pounds.

Then they were hypnotized and again told to grip the instrument as tightly as possible.

But they were first instructed that they were weak, sickly, feeble and anemic.

Under this negative or "defeatist" attitude, even though they were then told they were strong, powerful, Herculean, and urged to compete with the handgrip machine.

But before they were awakened from the hypnotic trance, they were then told they were strong, powerful, Herculean, and with the handgrip machine.

Now they averaged 140 pounds and you can see the actual difference in muscular output under a defeatist vs. a victory outlook.

Even in military campaigns, that same principle holds true. Marshal Foch, in World War I, thus stated that, "Morale is more important than materials."

Napoleon's soldiers also rose to abnormal heights of courage and thus success when he was with them.

The same was true of Julius Caesar.

And also of both Knute Rockne as well as Ara Parseghian at Notre Dame.

The old New York Yankees, likewise, had that cocky, winning morale.

Vince Lombardi also discounts the effect of weather on a football team by saying "It's all in the mind."

Granted, of course, that superb material must be involved, it is then the mental outlook that tips the scales.

In fact, George Washington's thin clad and poorly equipped troops beat the Hessians and conquered the British because of their mental tenacity (morale).

Last year Miller Anderson was voted into the "Hall of Fame" of all-time swimmers, after gaining 13 national titles and silver medals in the Olympics.

Yet his physicians told him he would never dive again, after his leg was shattered in World War II.

This "will to win" is a first cousin to the "will to live," which often confounds doctors.

Patients often give up and die, without adequate medical cause, yet others who are given only hours or days to live, refuse to die by sheer mental dominance (will power).

Present Award To AF Colonel

MIAMI, Fla. — Col. Marion A. Bradshaw, Director of Materiel, received the Legion of Merit (First Oak Leaf Cluster) at the dining-in of the 453rd Tactical Fighter Wing pilots at the Homestead Air Force Base here Friday. The dining-in was the first formal function of its type to be held by the 453rd Wing since assuming command of Homestead Air Force Base.

Col. Bradshaw is the son of Mrs. Naomi Mayo Bradshaw of 320 E. 10th Street and the late Marion T. Bradshaw, supervisory agent of Northern Southern Railroad for 53 years.

The first to receive his award of 15 other presentations and the only one to be awarded a Legion of Merit at the ceremonies Col. Bradshaw was presented the honor by Maj. Gen. Robert L. Delashaw, Deputy Commander for Materiel at Headquarters, TAC.

Col. Bradshaw received the award for his work with the 354th Tactical Fighter Wing at Myrtle Beach Air Force Base from July 9, 1965 to Feb. 26, 1967. The colonel was cited for his "outstanding leadership, superior ability and extra effort."

During the colonel's tour, the 354th had a difficult mission to accomplish and Col. Bradshaw was credited with being "instrumental in the resolution of many complex materiel problems."

At the dining-in, three Silver Stars and 12 Distinguished Flying Crosses were presented to other pilots of the 453rd Tactical Fighter Wing.

Successful Drive For Heart Fund

Dr. G. C. Ratchford, President of the Coastal Plain Heart Association, announced Monday that 1968 is "the most successful year ever for our five county area." Contributions totaling $38,105.33 were given in the year's Heart Fund Campaign.

Association vice-president and Pitt County Fund Chairman Curtis Hendrix further reported that over $7,000 of the total was raised by volunteers in the following Pitt communities.

Ayden, $497.09; Ballard's Cross roads, $38; Beaver Dam Township, $29.90; Bethel, $822.58; Black Jack $70.35; Falkland, $58; Farmville, $735.52; Fountain, $94.94; Grimesland, $66.50; Grifton, $382.87; Greenville, $4,114.96; Simpson, $9.82; Simpson-Salem, $36.31; Stokes, $140; Sweet Gum Grove, $65.58; and Winterville, $181.

The other four counties in the area reported the following totals. Edgecombe, $3,109.97; Martin, $4,148.44; Halifax, $10,470.19; Nash, $3,649.92, with Rocky Mount contributing $9,217.62. Mailed donation totaled $252.91.

Speaking of this year's campaign, Ratchford said, "The increased donations make us aware that the public has a sincere and growing interest in the Heart Association's continued effort to overcome the threat of heart disease."

Attorneys Are Sought For Three Jailed Men

By RONALD GOLLOBIN
Reflector Staff Writer

WILLIAMSTON — A court-appointed attorney is being sought for the trio of men from the Joyner's Cross Roads area of Pitt County charged with the fatal shooting of Skipper Gene Moore in Robersonville Sunday night.

Willie Battle, 17, James Albert Gray, 21, and James Edward Collins, 21 are being held without bond in the Martin County jail.

Moore was found sprawled face down in front of the Casablanca Club, a Negro nightspot, with eight .22 caliber bullet wounds in him.

Witnesses said that Moore started for the car containing two men and that one of the men in the car threw a pistol to a third man who was nearby in the street.

The third man allegedly opened fire on Moore, a 260 pound bouncer for the Casablanca Club, but Moore managed to throw him to the ground before dying.

Witnesses said that three pistols were wielded by the three men, and that all three joined in shooting at Moore.

After Moore lost consciousness, the trio sped away in a car borrowed from a Farmville auto dealer, hitting a Robersonville Negro with the car. The man hit by the get-away car, Charlie Razor, was treated at the Robersonville Clinic and released.

Sheriff Raymond Rawl, of Martin County led a posse of 35 to 40 deputies from four counties through the night until the trio was apprehended in Beaufort County near the Tranter's Creek Church.

Sheriff Rawl said that bloodhounds were used after the car was found abandoned and burning near the Cross Roads Church. The posse tracked the trio an estimated distance of 18 miles Sunday night until their capture Monday morning.

All three pistols have been recovered.

Sheriff Rawl said that the prisoners said, "There was bad feelings between Moore and Gray," prior to the shooting.

Sheriff Rawl had high praise for "the fine cooperation of all the other law enforcement agencies that joined in the search."

McCarthy Supporters Arm For Attack Today

By JACK BELL

CHICAGO (AP)—Losers in four preliminary challenges, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's supporters armed today for a three-pronged convention floor attack on Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's Democratic presidential nomination strength.

Stephen A. Mitchell, a former national chairman and McCarthy's convention manager, said the smoking issues of a Vietnam war plank, delegate seating and unit-rule voting will be taken to the convention itself in an effort to win support for the Minnesota senator in his uphill battle against the vice president.

In Philadelphia, McCarthy forecast an active floor fight over a Vietnam plank he obviously expected the Platform Committee, meeting in Washington, to fashion on a harder line than he has taken.

"As of now," McCarthy said, "we expect to do better on the floor than in the Platform Committee."

Just how this floor fight might go, however, seemed likely to be influenced by the action of Russia and four other Communist bloc countries in sending troops into Czechoslovakia.

This move against a country trying to loosen Moscow's grip on its affairs seemed likely to some political leaders to increase East-West tensions to the detriment of efforts to negotiate some kind of peace in Vietnam.

Whether this would be reflected in a tougher platform plank than McCarthy wants remained to be seen.

Humphrey, who sat in on a security council meeting called by President Johnson Tuesday night, was generally expected to reflect administration views on this new international crisis.

Without reference to these developments, Mitchell expressed confidence in an interview that coordinated attacks on Vietnam policies, delegate seating and unit rule voting would generate a surge of support toward McCarthy, as the original challenger of Johnson's policies, and away from Humphrey, as a defender of them.

Water Wagon Was Purchased

WINTERVILLE — A used truck, to be used as a water wagon has been purchased for the Winterville Fire Department.

The additional vehicle will give the department two such water-carrying units.

According to town clerk Elwood Nobles, a tank will be installed on the truck in the near future.

He said "this second wagon will make an efficient department much more efficient."

The fire department has two trucks in addition to its present water wagon.

Nixon Counts On Rockefeller

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard M. Nixon is counting on the campaigning help of his defeated rival for the GOP presidential nomination, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

The GOP standardbearer headed into a meeting today with Rockefeller confident the New York governor will become a full-fledged backer of the Republican ticket.

If he does, it would help Nixon win the support of the more liberal Republicans who backed Rockefeller for the presidential nomination.

Speaking from an auto roof in front of his New York apartment Tuesday night, Nixon told boosters welcoming him home from his first national trip: "Tomorrow, I'm going to meet with the leaders of the party in New York and we expect to get their help."

In addition to conferring with Rockefeller in the apartment building where they both live, Nixon also sought to recruit Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y.

And, he scheduled a session with Republican Sens. Edward Brooke of Massachusetts and Howard Baker of Tennessee.

Nixon told supporters that the week and a half of campaigning and private conferences since his nomination has assured him the campaigning help of Govs. Ronald Reagan of California; James A. Rhodes of Ohio and Raymond Shafer of Pennsylvania.

In addition, he said, Sens. Everett M. Dirksen and Charles L. Percy of Illinois are putting their weight behind the Nixon campaign.

"In the past four days, we have made more progress than has ever been made in a political campaign in getting the leaders of the Republican party behind the ticket so we can go after the Democratic vote and the independent vote," Nixon said.

The homecoming wound up a day that began with breakfast at the Ohio State Fair with Rhodes and included a visit to Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, where former President Dwight D. Eisenhower lay gravely ill.

"He has the will to live and it is the will to live that has been factor without which he would not have survived," Nixon said of the man whom he served as vice president for eight years.

Nixon visited with Mrs. Eisenhower but did not go to the general's bedside.

'War And Peace' Is Youth Theme

Theme emphasis for the Wednesday night Youth Activities Week at St. James Methodist Church will be "War and Peace."

A color film, "The Hat," will depict, using animated style, two soldiers guarding a line, each careful not to cross into the other's territory. One soldier drops his hat over the line but is not allowed to retrieve it. The men begin a conversation in which significant questions are raised about war and peace and the petty things which separate men. During the conversation, world history is reviewed, and the two men continue to guard the line.

United Methodist youth of the church will also share in a period of recreation, study and worship. Four areas of study are shared in by the junior and senior highs.

The youth minister of the church, Dick Brunson, reports that approximately 60 youth have already participated in the week's activities which will conclude on Friday night. Activities begin tonight at 7 o'clock at the church.

The Rev. Frank E. Berry, former minister of education of Saint James United Methodist Church, will preach at the Thursday night worship service at St. James, beginning at 8 o'clock.

The Rev. Bill Quick, pastor of the church, will preside, and Lois Jane Hardee will be the organist.

The Thursday night service at St. James is planned primarily for those families who will be on vacation during the weekend and is a duplicate of the Sunday morning service.

Could Have Been Bigger

SUPERMELON . . . Jonas Edwards displays his 135 pound water melon raised near his store at Dupree's Cross Roads. Edwards said that this year he had 21 melons that weighed in at over 100 pounds. "If it hadn't been for the dry spell, they would have been a lot bigger," Edwards said with a straight face. According to Edwards, the large melons were grown from a hybrid seed called Cuban Queen crossed with Garrison's. (Reflector photo by R. W. Gollobin)

Approve Planning For Winterville

WINTERVILLE—The board of aldermen has approved a resolution calling for a community planning project for Winterville.

Under the resolution, passed Monday, the North Carolina Department of Conservation and Development will do the community planning work, and outline a long-range plan of growth for the town. Approximate cost of the planning service by the C and D body, according to town clerk Elwood Nobles, is about $9,000.

Nobles said such a plan is necessary and a part of the town project to supply water and sewer service to Pitt Technical Institute.

The clerk explained that in order for the town to be eligible for federal assistance in extending the utility lines to PTL, such a community plan is necessary.

The planning services to be included in the project are: base mapping, land use survey and analysis, population and economic studies, land development plans, zoning ordinances and subdivision regulations.

Nobles said a request has been made for $6,000 in Federal Urban Planning Assistance funds to aid in defraying the cost of the planning project. If the federal grant is approved, the town of Winterville would have to provide $3,000.

According to Nobles, if the planning grant is refused, the PTL project will be impossible. He added that the town's financial resources are not adequate to finance the "necessary and desirable program of community planning."

Shirley Temple Was In Prague

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — Shirley Temple Black said today: "I was awakened by machine-gun fire from a deep sleep. I thought it was a practice but then someone knocked on my door and told me we were occupied."

Mrs. Black, once America's child movie star, described in an interview how she found out about the occupation of Czechoslovakia by Soviet and other Warsaw Pact troops.

She is here on a visit in connection with her work on multiple sclerosis. She was due to leave for Copenhagen today, but all commercial flights were canceled because of the occupation.

"I plan to leave when flights resume," she said, adding that she was calm and not worried.

On the advice of the U.S. Embassy, Mrs. Black remained at the Alcron Hotel in downtown Prague.

Her main concern was getting a message to her parents, saying "they are old and tend to worry."

Mrs. Black watched developments on Czechoslovak television with hundreds of other American tourists caught here by the occupation.

Robersonville Loan Announced

ROBERSONVILLE, N. C. (AP) — Rep. Walter B. Jones, D-N.C., today announced that a federal loan of $7,500 has been approved for planning a low-rent housing project in Robersonville.

Jones said the funds will enable the Robersonville Housing Authority to start preliminary planning for 50 low-rent units.

Several Markets Will End Sales

VALDOSTA, Ga. (AP) — Several markets announced closing dates Tuesday as prices fell lower on Georgia-Florida fleeced tobacco markets.

Live Oak and Madison in Florida and Sylvester, Ga. announced plans to close Thursday.

Declines were chiefly $2 to $4 per 100 pounds, the Federal-State Market News Service reported, with variegated leaf grades and nondescript suffering the largest losses.

Marketing quantity also dropped as low and poor leaf and nondescript grades made up a larger proportion.

Monday's volume was the heaviest of any day of the season with 11,385,536 pounds selling for $68.35 per hundred. Marketings for the reason rose to 12,388,295 pounds, averaging $70.09.
