First Attack In Two Months

Rockets Smash Into Saigon; Other Areas Hit

By GEORGE ESPER Associated Press Writer SAIGON (AP) — Enemy rockets smashed into the center of Saigon for the first time in two months today and mortars hit more than a dozen other cities and allied installations in a fifth straight day of widespread enemy attacks.

Heavy ground fighting also was reported at half a dozen points. Military communiques reported 45 Vietnamese civilians were killed and 117 wounded in the rain of more than 500 rockets and mortars that hit Saigon and cities to the northwest and south. A Japanese news correspondent, Tatsuo Sakai, 33, also was killed in the Saigon attack, becoming the 19th correspondent to die in the war. Only five American soldiers were reported wounded in the widespread shelling. An American soldier was fatally shot in the back while cycling in downtown Saigon. The shooting touched off a running motorcycle gun battle that left a South Vietnamese soldier and one of the three Vietnamese assailants wounded. The wounded assailant was later captured.

The two other men escaped. The intensified pace of the war included shelling and ground attacks against at least six allied bases blocking invasion routes into Saigon and a fifth straight day of heavy fighting for control of a road 40 miles northwest of Saigon. The road is a vital supply route for American forces astride a key Viet Cong infiltration corridor leading from Cambodia.

A senior U.S. officer said the stepped up fighting across the country—with more than 1,400 enemy troops reported killed since last Sunday—could be the start of the long-awaited third Viet Cong offensive. But he qualified this by adding that "It's too early to make an assessment."

The officer conceded that it is "always possible" the latest attacks, mainly those on allied bases, may have been a diversionary move to distract allied forces while enemy troops maneuvered into position for a subsequent ground attack on Saigon.

"They've done this in the past," he noted. Gen. Creighton W. Abrams' headquarters termed the renewed shelling of Saigon "indiscriminate harassing rocket attacks."

Abrams, riding in a military jeep, toured some of the areas in Saigon that were hit by the 20-round barrage of 100-pound Russian-made rockets. Viet Cong gunners also fired rockets on a U.S. Navy ammunition ship and three merchant ships, including the British tanker Calter Newcastle, in the Long Tau channel, to Saigon. Headquarters said two of the ships received minor damage.

Press For Candidates To Address Convention

By JACK BELL and CARL P. LEUBSDORF Associated Press Writers CHICAGO (AP) — Supporters of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy pressed today to have Democratic presidential candidates address next week's national party convention after plans for a face-to-face debate between candidates collapsed.

Stephen A. Mitchell, McCarthy's convention manager, said he would demand the needed rules change at today's Rules Committee session. A debate between McCarthy and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, leading contenders for the party's presidential nomination, has been part of the Minnesota senator's strategy to help him win the bid to lead the Democratic slate.

The rules group was also to consider recommendations by both the McCarthy and Humphrey camps for abolition of the unit rule binding an entire state's delegation to the candidate favored by the majority.

20,000 Shake Fists At Russian Occupiers

By PETER REHAK Associated Press Writer PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovaks massed today on Vaclavske Namesti, Prague's main square, in a violent demonstration against the Soviet-led occupation and the arrest of their reform-minded Communist chief, Alexander Dubcek.

Ignoring requests by the clandestine Prague radio to maintain calm to avoid giving the foreign soldiers an excuse for further violence, a crowd of about 20,000 shook their fist at the Russians and shouted: "Russian murderers go home!" They called for Dubcek's release.

This was a last-ditch attempt to force the troops to leave through political pressure. Shots were heard from the square. It could not be determined immediately whether the soldiers were aiming at demonstrators or loosing warning shots into the air.

Soviet tank troops, who had been covering all approaches to the square since their arrival Wednesday, immediately closed all bridges across the Vltava River, which divides the city. The move came as Czechoslovak Communists, reacting to the occupation by 200,000 Russian and Kremlin-line satellite convene an extraordinary party congress that its liberal leadership had originally scheduled to open Sept. 9.

The seven Central Committee members who have declared loyalty to the Soviet-led occupation troops, tried to shift today's meeting to the party-owned Praha Hotel.

Soviet tanks and armored cars guarded the approaches to the hotel. Several black limousines were parked outside. The proliferation station broadcast warnings to congress delegates not to go to the hotel, which it said was a trap.

Control Of Arms Efforts Continue

By LEWIS GULICK WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration intends to press for arms control and other East-West accords despite the millstone the Russian invasion of Czechoslovakia has hung on U.S.-Soviet relations.

The prospect of far-reaching talks between the United States and Russia on nuclear missile and antimissile curbs are still alive, authoritative U.S. sources said Wednesday.

President Johnson has not canceled the newly inaugurated New York-Moscow air service, clamped down on trade with Russia or suspended U.S.-Soviet cultural exchanges although such options remained open.

A U.S. military response was ruled out from the beginning. The immediate U.S. strategy has been to try for some relief of Czechoslovakian liberals by joining in the outcry of world public opinion against the Russian move.

Johnson publicly denounced the Soviet action Wednesday. Ambassador George W. Ball protested at the U.N. Security Council and the government's Voice of America radio tripled its Russian-language broadcasts.

"It is never too late for reason to prevail," Johnson said in appealing for urgent United Nations action. The President called the Soviet Union claim that Czech leaders had asked for military aid in preserving communism in their country "patently contrived."

"The Czechoslovakian government did not request its allies to interfere in its internal affairs," Johnson said. "No external aggression threatened Czechoslovakia."

On Capitol Hill, both Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford agreed there is little the United States can do except to take the matter to the United Nations.

The radio also called on the army to protect President Ludvik Svoboda and not to take orders from anyone except from the legal government. Czechoslovak secret police, who have kept in the background since Dubcek took power in January, were arresting prominent writers and journalists.

Ohio Pen Rebellion Crushed With Blast

COLUMBUS Ohio (AP) — A rebellion by Ohio Penitentiary inmates was crushed Wednesday by police and National Guardsmen, who blasted through prison walls to rescue nine penitentiary guards held hostage for nearly 30 hours.

That ultimatum, delivered at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday, gave the inmates 15 minutes to surrender and release the guards. The fifteen minutes passed, the hostages were not freed and two dynamite blasts were set off seconds apart. One shattered the outside wall of cells where the prisoners were the other ripped the roof off the cell block.

Columbus policemen state highway patrolmen and National Guardsmen streamed through the hole in the wall and down ropes from the roof. Staccato bursts of automatic rifle fire and the roar of shotguns was heard seconds later.

State Corrections chief Maury C. Koblenz said the inmates "overplayed their hand and lost." The inmates had threatened to kill the hostages if certain demands weren't met or if a rescue by force was attempted.

"They had won two big items but lost everything when they ignored our ultimatum," Koblenz said. The nine hostages were freed a few minutes later. The rebellion by about 300 of the 2,500 prison inmates was over.

Computers Will Tackle Problem

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Computers will be called on to help determine how phosphate mining in eastern North Carolina may affect the region's ground water supplies.

The University of North Carolina School of Public Health reported today that the office of water resources research, U.S. Department of Interior, has approved a matching grant of $26,800 in federal funds for a two-year computer study of the problem.

Another Recess

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says Congress probably will have to take another recess in October and return after the Nov. 5 elections to complete its 1968 business.

Doesn't Seem To Mind When She Talks Back

By VERA GLASER
WASHINGTON (WNS) — A petite brunette who once auditioned as a torch singer has made it big in the tough game of presidential politics. Sometimes she even talks back to the Vice President of the United States.

Geri Joseph sits in Hubert Humphrey's inner strategy councils and if Humphrey and his top aides are to be believed, her views are given equal weight with those of men like Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma and William Connell, the Vice President's long-time trusted aide.

Humphrey himself, aware that the fierce battle of the sexes has crushed many a talented lady politician, claims some kind of "first" for the responsibility and respect he accords Mrs. Joseph. She holds the title of Vice Chairman of United Democrats for Humphrey.

"Geri's no neophyte," he brags. "She came to politics about ten years ago with a great deal of knowledge about education, mental health and social problems.

Before that she was an able journalist. Yes, she does talk back, but they all do. I wish I had one yes-man or yes-woman around here!"

Connell said Mrs. Joseph participates in Humphrey's scheduling and delegate search. "She has sound judgment. We consult her not just on women, but on what Humphrey should be doing," he said.

Feminine

The lady in question is disarmingly feminine with blue-green eyes, hair done in a soft bob, and impeccable taste in clothes.

But her platform presence and straight-from-the-shoulder candor are even more disarming.

She is not a bit coy about Humphrey's chances for winning the Democratic nomination. Like her boss, she predicts he'll take the prize on the first ballot.

"Since when is there something wrong about having the votes?" She queries. "The majority of the delegates happen to be for Humphrey."

So confident is Mrs. Joseph that her man will be the nominee that she is devoting much of her planning to the election itself.

Using her downtown headquarters as a base, she will take to the road to help build "Women for Humphrey" groups. Already some are functioning in California, Minnesota, Ohio, Florida, Pennsylvania and New York.

TV Forums

She is mapping activities on registration, community improvement, letters to the editor and building files on the issues. A major project will be a series of televised suburban forums in which Humphrey will discuss issues with women.

Mrs. Joseph frankly envies the new GOP convention reforms which limit demonstrations to delegates on the floor. She is concerned that McCarthy supporters may create disturbances in Chicago and expressed relief that only 2,000 convention tickets will be available after allotments to party officials.

"We had nothing to do with the limitation, but I'm relieved about it," she said.

Geri Joseph, like Humphrey, is a University of Minnesota graduate. After taking a degree in political science, she became an award-winning reporter. Her family was disturbed when she became politically active.

"My father telephoned late one night to say ladies just don't do things like that," she recalled with a smile. He also quashed her teen-age ambition to be a torch singer after her first tryout.

'Volunteer'

She always refers to herself as a "volunteer" and believes the political experience has been good for her and her family, although "I never thought I'd get this deeply involved."

If Humphrey makes it to the White House, Mrs. Joseph would of course be in line for a top job but she flatly denies any interest in that. Twice before she has turned down high federal posts and only accepted her present assignment at her family's urging.

She is married to Burton Joseph, a well-to-do Minneapolis grain and feed dealer and is the mother of three. Her family life now is telescoped into week ends, and her favorite sports — swimming, tennis, golf and biking — have been chalked off "for the duration."

As of now, her post-campaign plan is to become President of the National Association for Mental Health. But what if Humphrey really twists her arm to join him in the White House?

Do Not Bug Western-Style Boots If You Want 'Podner'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Please notice that this letter is from ELIZABETH, NEW JERSEY. There is a man I go with and like very much, but he is a nut about one thing. He wears TEXAS-type cowboy boots all the time! He wears regular clothes like every other well-dressed man in Elizabeth, but he will not wear anything else but these western style boots. I once asked him if he's from Texas, but he said no. He had once visited in Fort Worth and had become addicted to cowboy boots — and found them to be so comfortable that he now won't wear anything else.

Don't you think they are out of place here? How can I get him to chuck these boots and be more normal?

INTERESTED IN HIM

DEAR INTERESTED: Let him wear what he wants, and don't criticize him. And if you are truly "interested in him," keep him foot happy. No man ever proposed to a woman when his feet hurt.

DEAR ABBY: Our son recently was divorced and married again. His second wife (also divorced) worked for him and there was a lot of talk about these two. Many said it was she who broke up his home.

We tried to be friendly and invited them to our home for supper many times. They came only once, and after that they were always "busy." Our son drops in to see us often, without her. We have never been invited to their home. One Sunday, when our son was here, his wife phoned for him and I answered. She said, "I hope you don't feel hurt that I don't see more of you, but I would rather associate with other people. I don't want to get too attached to you for the simple reason that when you PASS AWAY I won't miss you so much."

Needless to say, I was dumbfounded. What do you make of this? We're not going to force ourselves on her. But isn't there something wrong with her thinking? What would you do in our place?

HURT

DEAR HURT: I would steer clear of her. And tell your son to save his money. He may need it for psychiatric help. She sounds sick.

DEAR ABBY: I need some advice, and quick! My husband is leaving for Viet Nam in 3 weeks. He wants me to live with HIS parents while he's gone. I want to go home and live with MY OWN parents. We've been married for 14 months and have a small baby.

So far, all we've done is argue about this. I'm sure I'm not the only young wife with this problem. What do other wives do?

HIS OR MINE

DEAR HIS: I don't know what it's like at YOUR home, and what it's like at HIS home, how you feel about his family, etc. But a woman who is old enough to be a wife and mother should be mature enough to make her own decision. I say, in your husband's absence go where you feel more at home.

Soviet Actions Louder Than Words

Use of Soviet military power for crushing Czechoslovakia's trend toward liberalizing its communist government speaks much louder than any Moscow words about the freedom of communist "peoples' democracies."

The surprise invasion of Czechoslovakia by Soviet troops and token forces of other communist hard-line nations points up vividly the fact that the Kremlin is determined to use force anywhere it is necessary to perpetuate communist doctrines and communist rule.

In Czechoslovakia individual freedom had begun to raise its head under the liberal communist government. Reforms had been instituted. The leadership of Czechoslovakia had begun to allow such things as freedom of speech, freedom of the press and other individual freedoms. It had shown its disregard for the hard-line communist doctrines which keep the individual tightly under the thumb of the bureaucratic communist ruling clique.

It was more than Moscow could stand. The meeting between Soviet and Czechoslovak leaders a couple of weeks ago obviously had not brought about results satisfactory to the Kremlin. Rather than risk another nation slipping from under the communist grasp through self-determination, Moscow moved its troop into Czechoslovakia under the cover of darkness.

The move leaves no doubt that the Soviet Union does not believe in honoring the sovereignty of any nation within its orbit. It reaffirms the Kremlin dedication to keeping the people of communist nations enslaved, subject to the traditional, brutal rule of communism.

The invasion of Czechoslovakia by Russia was accompanied by the usual Moscow propaganda line about her troops being "invited" into the tiny country by its leaders. But it was also accompanied by the usual communist procedure of holding in captivity those leaders of Czechoslovakia who headed the liberal movement the military invasion is intended to crush.

Though the liberal movement may have been crushed in the Czechoslovakia government, there can be no doubt that the desire for liberty and freedom still burns in the hearts of many citizens of that country.

Old Mullet Line Is A Big Asset

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES RALIEGH — The Old Mullet Line has become an economic asset far in excess of $2 per share annual stock dividends and finally is attaining the goal its builders envisioned more than a century ago.

tried to interest private railroads in the line and finally, in 1939, an independent operating company — Atlantic and East Carolina Railroad (A&EC) was set up under Norfolk Southern sponsorship. It tried to make a go of it.

Southern Railway's Lease
It was in 1957, about the time that former Gov. Luther Hodges and other leaders decided to push for North Carolina ports expansion and development, that Southern Railway acquired the operating company (A&EC) by stock purchase. Southern also wanted the government-owned Camp Lejeune railroad but this was denied.

With a few years, Southern invested more than $2 million in improvements along the A&NC route and now plans to extend its lease through 1994.

Ports volume at Morehead City has increased steadily and both the port, the state and the operating railroad have benefited.

Problems Cited
Port development and growth of business are continuing. A grain elevator is scheduled to be built adjacent to the Morehead City line soon.

But there are additional problems such as maintenance, improvements and relocating of the track bed in order to serve additional facilities in the port complex. Also, Robert Darden of New Bern, industrial consultant for the railroad, said the state port at Morehead is "starving for space" because of a former Highway Commission decision to locate a new Newport River bridge so near. Darden said this cut off further port expansion to the north.

Council of State
As honorary guests, a number of members of the Council of State, Secretary of State, Thad Eure, Agriculture Commissioner Jim Graham, State Auditor Henry Bridges, Labor Commissioner Frank Crane and Atty. Gen. T. Wade Bruton attended the railroad stockholders' meeting. Eure said he has attended "almost every" A&NC stockholders meeting since Hoye's days and that today's situation is "quite different" from that of the lean years.

In the past, he said, it was a constant worry of the Council of State in trying to find a way "to keep the railroad alive."

Pitt Highway Toll Tragic Commentary

Pitt County so far this year has counted 19 dead in traffic accidents on its streets and highways, three of them this week and six during the month of August.

It is a tragic commentary on highway safety in a county which has no superhighways, no metropolitan area and no real extenuating circumstances to which to attribute the high number of traffic fatalities. With almost a half year yet to go in 1968, Pitt already has counted twice the number of traffic deaths recorded here during all of last year when a total of nine people lost their lives in highway accidents.

What will the toll be during the remainder of this year?

To a large degree the answer will depend upon the attitude of drivers of this county when they get behind the wheel of their automobiles. Any effort made by the Highway Patrol or other law enforcement agency to curtail the number of accidents in this county will be only secondary in importance to the effort toward the same end made by individual drivers.

The unusually large number of highway fatalities so far this year should cause each driver to exercise more than the usual amount of caution on the roads of this county. It should cause each driver to pay more careful attention to his own driving and to the driving of the other fellow as well.

THAT OLD, FAMILIAR TRAIL!

Vitamin Case Endless

Slightly more than a century ago, Charles Dickens created the legendary Jarndyce case. In the opening chapter of "Bleak House," it is made clear that the case has been going on for years and years—the Lord High Chancellor cannot remember how many years. The case is destined to go on and on, until the Jarndyce estate is exhausted in fees and costs, and nothing remains for distribution.

The observer who wanders into Room 5131 of the Health and Welfare Department may be forgiven if he hears the ghost of Mr. Dickens snickering in the wings. A hearing examiner for the Food and Drug Administration is taking testimony in the matter of regulations dealing with vitamins and mineral supplements. It is the Jarndyce case compounded.

Even in this Disneyland, you would not believe the vitamin hearings. The case began — who really can say when the case began? — Some six years ago, when the FDA issued a proposal to revise its regulations dealing with special dietary foods. Four years elapsed; then came an FDA order promulgating certain regulations. In December of 1966, that order was amended. In April of 1968, notice finally was given of public hearings on adoption of regulations.

On June 24, the sessions at last began, with a Lord High Chancellor — that is to say, a hearing examiner — by the name of David H. Harris on the wits. It is a part of the mystery to understand how Mr. Harris got there. Apparently he was hired by the Food and Drug Administration especially to hear this protracted case, though he was not a hearing examiner at the time and has no firm idea of his duties.

In the past seven weeks, the government has produced precisely seven witnesses in support of the pending regulations. Sixty-three other witnesses are to follow. At the going pace, it will be Christmas of 1969 before the government has completed its case. Then the objectors and intervenors — there are 104 of them — will have turn; they have indicated that perhaps 250 witnesses will be called in their behalf.

The presence of so many objectors, most of them represented by eminent counsel, has led to a marvelously lucid procedure in the hearing room. At every critical point, when a motion is made or a key document offered in evidence, it becomes necessary for the examiner to call the roll of objectors. He proceeds alphabetically, commencing with Abbott Laboratories, and continuing on through the National Association of Chewing Gum Manufacturers, the National Bakers Services, the National Biscuit Company, and so on. Carnation Milk, which comes early in the alphabet, has been known to yield to Pet Milk for a statement. The hearings are conducted three days a week, roughly from 10 to 5 o'clock.

Ordinarily one finds from 30 to 35 attorneys constantly on hand, but the number falls and rises. The principal objectors are Miles Laboratories, Mead-Johnson, and Hoffman-La Roche, all of whom manufacture vitamin or mineral supplements, but dozens of other companies, trade associations, health faddists, and the bottlers of mineral water have been drawn to the scene.

The costs are staggering. The stenographic record is accumulating at 600 pages a week, or 70 cents per page. The government pays its expert witnesses $100 a day to testify, and $50 a day to consult, plus travel and living expenses. Attorney's fees for the objectors are calculated at $900 to $1,500 per week for each attorney. One conservative estimate places total costs at three to five million dollars before the hearings are concluded some time in the 1970s. Court review will follow.

Resume Cold War

By WILLIAM L. RYAN AP Special Correspondent

In one swift stroke, the Russians have reimposed the cold war, altered the course of politics around the globe and possibly even ignited the long fuse of a major crisis in world communism.

The sudden invasion of Czechoslovakia makes it abundantly clear that Moscow's hawks prevailed over its doves in the Soviet Politburo. This in itself has the elements of a future internal Soviet political crisis.

But much more than that has happened overnight.

Moscow has served notice on Communist nations that none can ever hope to escape from the Soviet grip. An official statement said "the fraternal parties" — meaning the Kremlin — "will never allow anyone to drive a wedge between Socialist states, to undermine the foundations of the Socialist system."

The statement is likely to cause some alarm in Romania, whose Communist regime, while adhering to strict party rule internally, has tended to go its own way in foreign and trade affairs. It can even cause some alarm in Yugoslavia whose leaders, along with the Romanians, supported Czechoslovak liberation.

The invasion has severely set back, if not destroyed, hopes in the near future of East-West accord to remove world tensions or to scale down the nuclear weapons race.

It is bound to place American troops on the alert in Korea and elsewhere.

It throws into doubt soviet plans for an international Communist conference in Moscow in November, where the Russians had hoped to plug up some of the gaping holes in the fabric of what once was considered a monolithic world movement.

It probably will have a heavy impact on the U. S. political campaign. Displays of Soviet military might tend to unify Americans, just as they tend to frighten and unify the allies of the United States.

Moscow has taken what many around the world had discounted as an unthinkable rash step. Various analysts had expected that the Soviet Union would apply all manner of pressure against the reform regime of the Czechoslovak Communist party to halt moves toward liberalization. But invasion had been ruled out as something which would cost the Kremlin far more than it might gain.

Once again, the Kremlin has delivered a severe jolt to Communists outside its orbit. This was a move feared by parties such as those in France and Italy. For them it represents deep crisis. They had been making headway by representing themselves as advocates of legal progress to power the shock of the Soviet move can be costly to them.

Communist parties have been severely set back in the past by Soviet actions such as the invasion of Finland before World War II, the Nazi-Soviet pact which opened the floodgates of war, the crushing of the Hungarian revolution in 1956. Each time the recovery process for Communist parties is longer and more difficult.

Local Legion Planning For Armistice Day

Arrangements were practically complete for the celebration of Armistice Day celebration in the city, November 11th, at the regular monthly session of the Pitt County post of the American Legion held at the Rotary building last night. . . . It was brought out that the sermon for the occasion will be delivered by Dr. B. R. Lacy Jr. of Richmond, Va. . . . It was stated by Commander J. B. Kittrell, who presided over the session last night, that Dr. Lacy was one of the most forceful and convincing speakers of the Presbyterian denomination and that he would have a great message for the numbers of former veterans of the War to attend the exercises. . . .

Opinions In Brief

Senator McCarthy's choice of able individuals does help to keep national sights high. He might not achieve "all one happy family" with his rugged individualists, a few of them Republicans. Most candidates would play it more cautiously, or responsibly, consulting the prospects before making up the list. But the senator from Minnesota has played nothing orthodox this year, and look where it's got him. — Christian Science Monitor.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS convictions

On my eightieth birthday I am filled with three strong convictions.

The first is that as a matter of fact we know very little about the world and the universe in which we live. We live in a three-dimensional environment. There may be areas in the universe which have twice that many dimensions. Since the number of heavenly bodies is practically innumerable, there may be things going on out there that would utterly overwhelm us if we got even a brief glimpse of their significance.

My second conviction on this occasion is that we face between now and the year 2,000 one of the most challenging eras in world history. Geological changes may take place which will alter the life of the whole planet. Communist infiltration, the growth of Red China, and the thrusting of its power into world affairs, the growth of race riots and violence in general — all this is appalling. It would be wonderful if we could look into a future suffused with light and characterized by the assurance of peace and progress. But events of the present time do not seem to indicate that such a future is before us.

My third conviction is that Jesus Christ has the answer to all life's problems—and I mean not just most of life's problems, but all of them. The growing unity among Christian believers is thrilling. That Man from whose birth time is dated dominates the situation and fills us with hope and courage.

(Washington N. C. Daily News)

"Are you not over protecting and over defending school boards today?"

That question has been asked of us several times in recent weeks and months. And it has come from people on all sides of the controversies involved. On the one side, we hear that school boards have not made much of a fight to maintain the status quo in our school administrations. On the other hand, we hear that school boards have not been very cooperative with the courts in offering plans to meet the Supreme court decision and in meeting the HEW guide lines.

The very fact that school boards find themselves so often today in a cross fire from both sides indicates to us that there is no "right" way to deal with them: Regardless of what they do, one segment of the population is going to condemn them. Regardless of which way they turn, they face troubles.

To our way of thinking, it is not a matter of defending or protecting on the one hand or condemning or fighting school boards and school administrators on the other hand. It is a matter of trying to understand the problems they have and the difficulties they face.

Generally, it is not doing right which is hard; rather it is knowing right. We feel that serving in the public interest today insofar as school boards and administrators are concerned impels us to give them the benefit of the doubt when we cannot pinpoint the answers.

They do have difficult roles to play. There are no easy answers. They know so well that they are not engaged in any popularity contests. They deserve the best understanding we as a people can give them — and from all sides.

And we long for the day when school boards and school officials can once more turn their thoughts and their efforts to the challenges of improving education and educational opportunities.

Hiring Dropouts No Solution

By ELMER ROESSNER

Hiring high school dropouts is not a solution to any problem. Rather, it is only the beginning of a vastly complicated problem, according to a report on the Equitable Life Assurance Society's experiences in the National Industrial Conference Board's monthly Record.

Late in 1962, Equitable decided to hire high school dropouts and upgrade them. They were largely Negroes, Puerto Ricans and Mexican-Americans. "We have learned a lot," said James F. Oates Jr., Equitable chairman and chief executive officer.

When the first group of 20 were hired, supervisors were instructed to show them no special consideration. Within six months, 45 per cent had dropped out and by the end of a year, 67 per cent had quit. With one or two exceptions, work was generally rated as marginal.

Program Altered

Equitable made several changes in the program. The dropouts were not charged against their supervisor's budget; the initiation period was extended from six months to a year, and a full-time counselor was added to help. By the end of 1967, 123 hard-core dropouts had been hired and the turnover rate had dropped from 75 per cent to under 60 per cent.

Other things Equitable found out were: The main reason dropouts fail is that they don't see much point in succeeding. Dropouts rarely quit or were dismissed because they couldn't do the work.

Boredom was the biggest block. Dropouts couldn't stand boredom. "Their life was centered on the here and now." Many could not see much point in planning for the future. "Many viewed their lives as one long bad luck story."

Outside Guidance Lacking
Family and friends usually with them and Negro counselors have been hired.

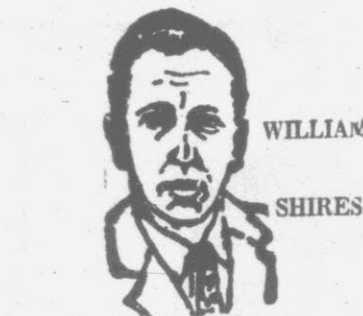

Girls have been a special problem. Supervisors have learned to accept a more "colorful" vocabulary from them. What would be regarded as insubordinate behavior in the rest of the work force has come to be regarded as playfulness.

While Allen R. Janger, who wrote the report, did not state that the problem was as much emotional as economic, the inference is clear. However, there were other factors. Ghetto living conditions contributed to poor diets, illness in winter and difficulty in "merely getting to sleep early or waking up and getting ready for work" in overcrowded homes.

And then there was one youth who explaining why he could not get to work one morning, said, "I was stabbed."

WILLIAM A. SHIRES

It still isn't realizing a great deal of profit nor making its stockholders rich. But that wasn't the idea when the state of North Carolina laid the 95 miles of track from Goldsboro to Beaufort, and christened it the Atlantic and North Carolina (A&NC) railroad 114 years ago.

At least instead of a liability — so bankrupt that the late Gov. Clyde R. Hoey tried to give it away — it is in the black, with a balance sheet of $2.9 million and a six months net income of $18,460.25 on 17,972 shares of stock. The state still owns 73 per cent of the stock.

Stockholders held their ceremonial, somewhat nostalgic, annual meeting at Morehead City last week both to remember the past and think about the future.

Role of Transportation
The balance sheet was encouraging. It marked the 10th year that the Old Mullet Line, under a lease agreement, has paid dividends, usually $35,000 or more per year.

More importantly, perhaps, there was the thought expressed that transportation — rail, air and highway — supplies the lifeblood of North Carolina's economy, and must be properly developed, maintained and operated.

The history of the Old Mullet Line itself offers a graphic example. Forty or more years ago, its stock was worthless — so worthless that many original stock certificates are lost, possible forever. In the depression years, Governor Hoey wanted to divest the state of its interest and indebtedness by giving the line away. Its rails were rusting, its trestles and cross-ties rotting. U.S. Seventh Army Strength In West Europe At Low Point

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet troop movement into Czechoslovakia comes at a time when the U.S. 7th Army, backbone of West Europe's defense, is at its lowest strength in years.

Because of the balance of payments problem, U.S. Army forces in West Germany have been cut to about 200,000 men and are due to drop even further by Sept. 30.

By contrast, the U.S. Army had about 273,000 soldiers arrayed along the Iron Curtain during the Berlin crisis of 1961. U.S. tactical air strength also has been cut to ease the gold dollar drain and to beef up U.S. air power elsewhere. The Air Force's tactical fighter strength in West Germany is down to five squadrons.

Because of this—and even more because the United States has about 543,000 men pinned down in the Vietnam war—the last problem U.S. military leaders wish to face at this time is crisis in Europe.

The attitude of U.S. military men throughout the period of Russian threats against Czechoslovakia this summer could be summed up in this sentence: "Leave us out; we have enough problems of our own."

The United States has no military commitment to Czechoslovakia, nor does it have even an implied moral commitment to that Communist country which in the past has been as hostile to the United States as any other East European Communist state.

American officers who have assessed the relative military strength of Czechoslovakia and its Communist neighbors have felt it would be suicide for the Czechs to resist if invaded by Russia and other Warsaw Pact armies.

This realization also may have prompted the Czech leadership to caution its people against resisting.

According to recent estimates, a Czech army of some 175,000 men in 14 divisions faces overwhelming Russian, East German, Polish and other Communist force.

The Russian army has some 20 divisions in East Germany, plus four in Hungary and two in Poland. The Russians have based about 900 tactical planes in East Germany alone.

The East German army numbers some 85,000 men in six divisions, the Polish army some 185,000 men in 16 divisions.

In all, Czechoslovakia could send aloft only about 600 fighter planes, most of them old model

Russian-built MIGs.

Developments in Czechoslovakia may blunt efforts of some key U.S. senators to reduce U.S. forces in Germany even further.

Although the U.S. military chiefs have no wish to get into the Communist wrangle, they also have no wish to reduce U.S. strength in Germany.

A year ago, Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, told Congress that he and his colleagues felt "there is no military justification for reduction of military forces in Central Europe."

Mexico To Build Two New Resorts

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two new areas on Mexico's Pacific coast will be developed into extensive resorts, says the Mexican National Tourist Council.

An $8 million resort will rise on a 275-acre site at Papanoa, 100 miles north of Acapulco. It will include a 512-room hotel, apartments, swimming pool, tennis courts, golf course, marina and beach. At Puerto Penasco, 100 miles south of the Arizona border and the closest beach to Phoenix, Tucson, Las Vegas and other Western U.S. cities, a development program will include motels, hotels, a tennis club and golf course.

The reduction involves about 28,000 army men and about 5,000 Air Force troops.

Technically, these units are tethered to U.S. forces in Europe—that is, they are supposed to remain committed to the North Atlantic Alliance and "in a high degree of readiness" to return to Europe if needed.

There was no immediate sign that the reduction would be reversed in the light of the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Prague Square Protest Held

PRAGUE (AP) — A crowd of about 20,000 Czechoslovaks demonstrated today on Vaclavske Namesti, Prague's main square, shaking fists at Soviet soldiers and shouting "Russian murderer go home!"

The masses filled the square from end to end. They also demanded freedom for Alexander Dubcek, the reform-minded Communist party chief, who is under arrest by the Russians.

Soviet troops in tanks immediately closed all bridges across the Vitava River that divides the city.

They have been covering the approaches to the square since their arrival.

Shots were heard from the square but it could not be determined immediately whether the soldiers were firing into the air.

Florida Corners Citrus Producing

LAKELAND, Fla. (UPI)—Florida produces four times as many oranges and three times as many grapefruit as all other states combined, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).

Opened Window And Walked In

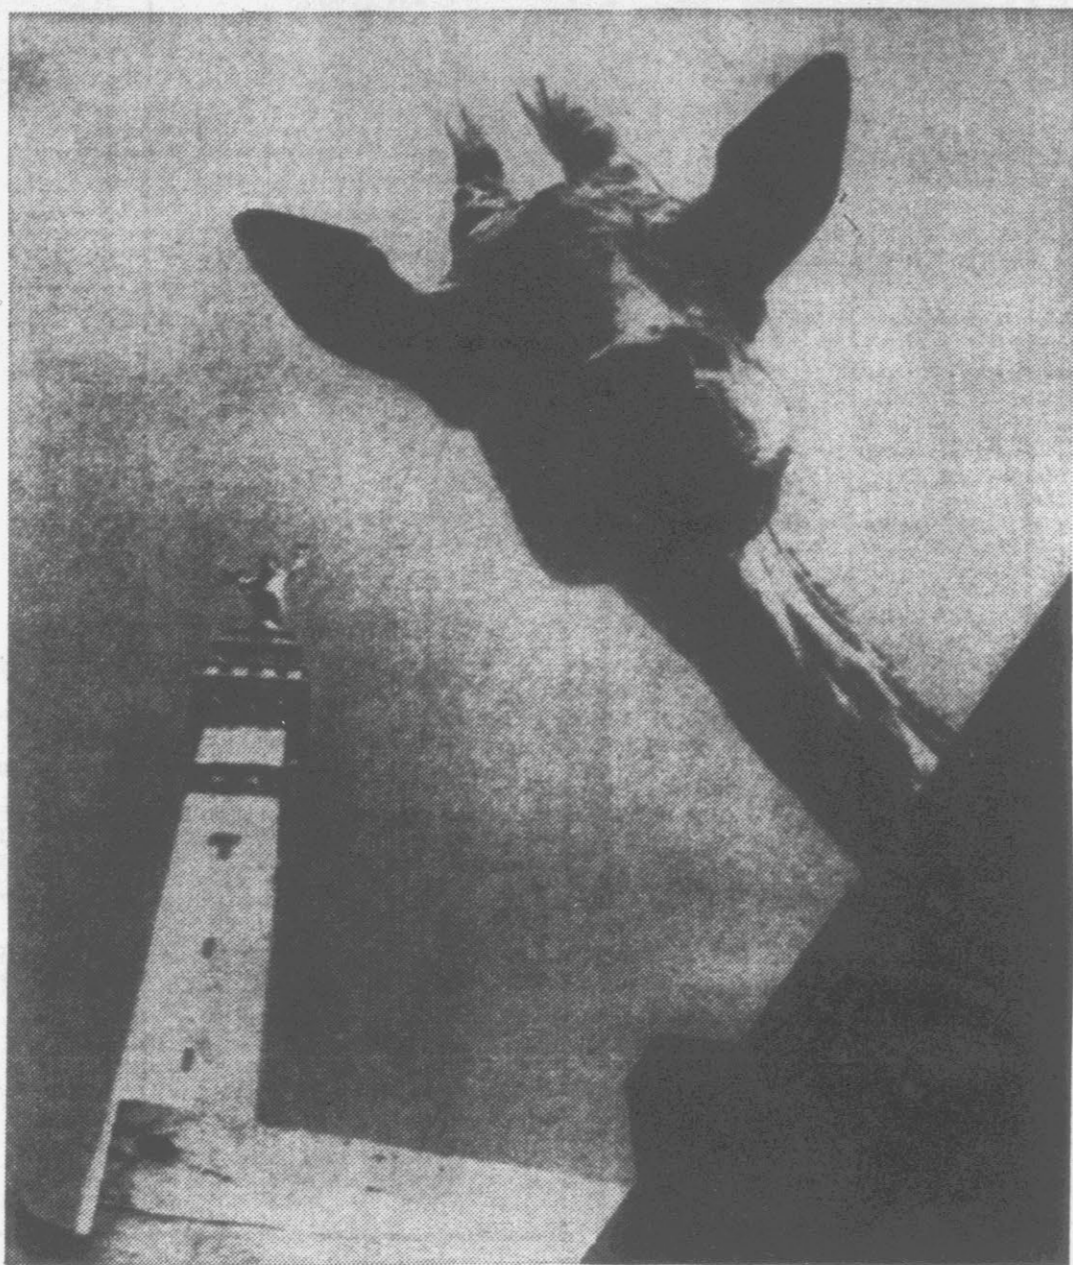

BRADFORD, Pa. (AP) — A police chief says burglars "just opened a kitchen window and walked right on in" to steal 16 art objects valued by the owner at $1,394,000.

Paintings by such reknown artists Picasso, Cezanne, LaTour, Degas, Goya and Modigliani and two cast bronze statues by Rodin were stolen, police said.

They were part of a collection of about 1,000 art pieces collected by Dr. T. Edward Hanley during the course of 45 years.

Thieves broke into the Hanley house Wednesday morning and made off with the art objects, all on the first floor, while the 75-year-old Hanley and his sister-in-law were sleeping in two upstairs bedrooms.

Police Chief Earl Bridge of Foster Township said the thieves walked up a short stairway on a back porch and slit the screen on a kitchen window.

Castro Says U.S. Economic Blockade Damaging

By FENTON WHEELER
Associated Press Writer

HAVANA (AP) — How effective is the U.S. economic blockade of Cuba in terms of dollars and cents?

Prime Minister Fidel Castro says it is damaging and has cost his country "hundreds of millions of pesos" because of transportation charges and buying under difficult conditions. At the official exchange rate of $1 per peso this means hundreds of millions of dollars.

At the same time the Cuban leader manages to bring hundreds of millions of dollars worth of products to this island every year. Last year his trade with Western countries amounted to about $320 million, or between 20-25 per cent of all Cuba's foreign trade.

Only a shortage of hard currency due to a drought-wracked sugar crop is slowing him down this year. Sugar normally earns four-fifths of Cuba's foreign exchange, and the shelves bare of meat, tobacco, fruit and coffee this year indicate the government is sending as many of these products abroad as it can to take up the sugar slack.

Of the Communist bloc, Russia is far and away the biggest trading partner at about $930 million annually. Soviet trade with Cuba continues at a deficit—more exports than imports. This accounts in part for the $1 million a day in nonmilitary aid Moscow is reported to send to this island.

For some time anti-Communist Spain has been out-trading such Communist nations as East Germany, Bulgaria, North Korea, Hungary, Poland, Romania, Yugoslavia and, at times, Czechoslovakia. Spanish trade often has approached that of Cuba's No. 2 trader, Red China.

The West's new leader this past year was France, which more than tripled its trade of 1966 and is doing almost nine times the business it did here in the 10 years before Castro came to power.

Figures available here show this lineup for the major Western traders in 1967 in millions of dollars: France 70, Spain 65.6, Canada 48.6, Britain 36.6, Japan 33.5, Italy 24.7, Holland 15, West Germany 9.2, Sweden 6.2, Switzerland 5.6, Belgium 2.8 and Denmark 1.

The figures indicate Castro can buy and bring through the blockade most of the things he needs if he has the hard currency to pay for it.

There has been evidence lately that he also can do it on credit. Romania is giving Cuba $30 million worth of oil drilling equipment on eight years' credit. East Germany has agreed to supply $25 million worth of heavy construction and hydraulic equipment, also on credit. Near Cienfuegos on Cuba's south coast a big fertilizer plant supplied by Simon Carves, Ltd., of Britain is going up. The plant's price is $44 million, backed by a guarantee of the British government. Cuba has five years to pay for this.

Against this background, there are no outward signs here that Castro is interested in resuming diplomatic relations with the United States, even if an offer came from Washington. "Castro is really hung up on Vietnam," says one who has heard the prime minister's recent views on the United States. "He believes the Vietnamese are fighting a battle for all the oppressed people of the world. As such, he feels closely allied to them. The fact the enemy is the United States makes his position even more firm."

Two Pilots Eject Safely From Disabled Fighter

SEBRING, Fla. (AP) — Two Air Force pilots ejected safely from their disabled F100F supersonic jet fighter-bomber near Sebring Wednesday night.

The plane crashed into a swampy area about a mile northeast of the Sebring public airport.

The pilots were identified as Maj. Donald L. Gold and Maj. Wardell K. Dalton. They are members of the 113th Tactical Fighter Wing from Myrtle Beach Air Force Base, S.C., temporarily stationed at Homestead AFB in South Florida.

A rescue helicopter transported the pair to a hospital for examination, but a spokesman said neither man was hurt.

An Air Force spokesman said the plane crashed while on a practice gunnery mission.

A board of officers is to be convened to determine the cause of the crash.

Owens Small Power Company In Pinetops Area

By GERALD THOMAS
The Wilson Daily Times.
Written For Associated Press
PINETOPS, N.C. (AP) — The year was 1934. It was in the Depression. Over half the rural residents in the area surrounding Pinetops were without electricity.

William Davenport, 23, a Tarboro electrician with a fifth grade education, decided to do something about the lack of electric lines.

With a small amount of savings, he started the Davenport Power & Light Co. Today it is still one of the smallest private power companies in the state and the only one owned totally by one individual.

Davenport's makeshift plant supplied electricity to only two or three homes in the beginning. But he has been adding customers ever since and now has about 600 customers in Wilson and Edgecombe counties.

Davenport, a large, robust man who seldom wears business clothes, said his biggest difficulty in setting up his company was the lack of financial backing.

The federal government was lending money to the larger power companies, both private and public, but passed him up because his was such a small firm.

"I made several trips to Washington to try to get money. They were loaning money to anyone who would build utility lines, except me," he said.

Using copper wire and bolts that a local telephone company threw away, Davenport frequently tacked his lines to trees. Farmers sometimes paid for their electric service with chickens, corn, hogs and other farm products.

Today, still a family business, the Davenport Power & Light Co. is seeing brighter times.

Davenport's wife reads the meters and collects the bills. Davenport serves as manager and lineman. He has two men to help him. He mans the poles alone. A rural resident may hold a flashlight in the darkness while he makes repairs.

During a major ice storm last winter, Davenport's son, Glenn, a seminary student in Louisville, Ky., came home to help repair the lines broken by falling tree limbs.

Davenport's other son, Bruce, is in the Marine Corps.

Davenport purchases his electricity from the Town of Maccelfield, which in turn buys from the City of Wilson, buys from Carolina Power & Light Co. Now, Davenport says, he is considering purchasing power direct from Carolina Power & Light Co. or Virginia Electric & Power Co. to cut down on some of the "middleman profits."

In the 1940s, he considered manufacturing his own power. He said he even purchased a diesel engine and generator which would have furnished power for his small company at the time. At the last minute, however, he decided it was cheaper to purchase power through Carolina Power & Light Co.

He keeps the generator today under a shed at his warehouse in Pinetops.

"People are always asking me what college did you go to. I tell them I only got out of the fifth grade," he said.

Davenport said any man in any business can make money if he "forgets the hours and works."

Quality Is Down On Border Belt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A decline in the general quality of flue-cured tobacco offered for sale Wednesday was reported on the South Carolina-Border North Carolina Belt although price variations were about evenly divided between gains and losses.

The Federal - State Market News Service said prices varied from $1 to $3 per hundred pounds.

Most declines were centered on leaf grades, which made up nearly half of the sales.

The news service said there also was a large increase in the percentage of primings and non-descript offered, causing the decline in the general quality.

Sales Tuesday totaled 9,861,025 pounds and averaged $69.24 per hundred, down $1.18 from Monday's high. Season sales rose to 129,380,036 pounds at an average of $68.89.

Tuesday's deliveries to the Stabilization Corp. under the government price support program amounted to 7.7 per cent of sales.

Early Sign-Up Is Recommended

"In applying for disability, retirement, or Medicare benefits, signing up early is a real advantage," says Jack Tatem, District Manager of the Greenville Social Security Office of the U.S. Health, Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Tatem points out that applicants for disability benefits must have been disabled for a minimum of six months before benefits can be paid.

For Medicare, the applicant must sign up three months prior to their 65th birthday in order to begin received protection on their 65th birthday.

"Many people delay signing up for Medicare because they think they have to stop work to get Medicare. This is not true," Tatem said. "A person can have Medicare protection even if they are still working."

University Bows To Bikini Power

HONOLULU (AP) — The University of Hawaii has bowed to a new student movement—bikini power. The school dropped a ban on bikinis in the university's swimming pool during recreational hours.

The issue arose last month when two bikini-clad instructors were refused admission to the pool. This led to a demonstration and circulation of petitions. The brief swim suits were banned after several girls lost them while diving.

Disappointed At Suspension

RALEIGH (AP) — A Carolina Power & Light Co. spokesman says he is "disappointed" because the North Carolina Utilities Commission suspended the firm's request for a 2.7 per cent rate hike, pending an investigation.

W. Reid Thompson, executive vice president of CP&L, said Wednesday: "We fully expected that the commission would hold a hearing on our proposed rate increase. However, we are disappointed that the commission did not see fit to allow us to put the increase into effect on Sept. 1 with provision for refund pending the outcome of the hearing."

The Utilities Commission had been asked to approve the rate hike to permit CP&L to recover from its customers the cost of the federal income tax surcharge passed by Congress.

The commission, however, handed down an order Tuesday suspending the request pending a thorough investigation of the power company's financial condition. A hearing on the proposal is scheduled Oct. 22.

"We are confident," Thompson said, "that the facts developed at the hearing will show that the increase which we have requested is justified."

Meanwhile in Athens, Ga., CP&L was presented a merit award Wednesday night by the Soil Conservation Society of America for the wise use of natural resources.

Dr. Robert Lee Humber, chairman of the board of trustees, will present the diplomas and certificates. William E. Fulford Jr., president of the institute, will introduce the candidates.

Czech Invasion Is Setback To Trade Efforts

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—The invasion of Czechoslovakia is a serious setback to efforts at improving trade relations between the United States and the Eastern European nations on the rim of the Soviet Union.

For various reasons a breakthrough in trade profitable to both East and West had seemed imminent. But these hopes were based on the belief that the economic liberalization of the East would continue rather than be thwarted, and that East-West tensions would relax.

It was against this very economic liberalism and the political threat it involved, represented in recent weeks especially by the Czechoslovakians, Roanians and Yugoslavians, that Russia and its allies applied their military might.

From the Communist side the intervention may signal a return to less trade contact with the West. As for American businessmen, it is bound to cause at least a long pause in their plans to invest in and trade with the growing economies of Eastern Europe. Such hopes had caught fire in the past couple of years. Direct commercial flight between Moscow and New York was just one of the more obvious evidences of this. Far grander but less publicized preparations were being made for direct investments in hotels and even manufacturing plants.

As the stigma of trading with the East diminished, such people as the Rockefeller brothers, who control International Basic Economy Corp., and Cyrus Eaton Jr. revealed plans to invest in Communist nations. Eaton has already done so.

From Minneapolis last year a group sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and including men from several nationally known firms, left on a private trade mission to Russia. They were backed by the U.S. government.

Time Magazine two years ago led a tour by 24 of the highest ranking executives and financiers in America to five East European nations for the purpose of investigating trade opportunities. Almost every company involved could be classified as a blue chip.

Aiding this new spirit was the belief among many Americans that the Communists were beginning to show a better understanding of capitalist economies and their methods of operation.

At least, some businessmen thought, the Communists are now emphasizing consumer goods, instituting profit incentives, lessening their reliance on dictatorial marketing and following instead the laws of supply and demand.

The biggest support for this new spirit—perhaps even the initiator spirit—was the Johnson administration, which believed that trade bridges not only would aid the economies of both East and West but promote peace as well. Trade, it is said, has its political ends.

Typical of the statements supporting East-West trade was one earlier this year to a congressional committee by Robert Roosa, partner in the investment banking firm of Brown Brothers Harriman and Company.

"Those of us from the United States who have traveled in Eastern Europe, almost to a man," he said, "return with the conviction that the countries represent the most exciting market of potential trade...anywhere in the world."

The possibilities of this big new market were belatedly appreciated by Americans. Other Western nations years earlier had shed their reluctance to trade with the East Europeans.

During 1965, Western Europe and Japan sold $3.8 billion of goods to the East Europeans, excluding Yugoslavia, and imported close to $1.5 billion from them.

The United States, though, sold only $139 million worth of goods to these countries and imported $138 million. These figures haven't grown substantially since then. They were, however, forecast to swell. The market was there.

The Comecon market, includes nations with 330 million people, much more than the combined population on the European economic community and the European Free Trade Association.

These Comecon economies naturally are not as highly developed as nations to the west, but some of them have been growing faster than even the United States. Potentially they are huge markets.

The question now is how badly these markets have been damaged.

Here Is What Was Said By Political Figures

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Here's what the candidates and other political figures are saying:

"There is little the United States could have done (about the invasion of Czechoslovakia) . . . We certainly could not use force in view of President Johnson's recent statement on the bombing of North Vietnam."—Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, Democratic presidential contender.

"The force of nationalism has asserted itself in Communist Czechoslovakia as it has elsewhere in the world and, in the long run, it will doubtless prevail."—Sen. George S. McGovern, Democratic presidential contender.

"You see today a new example of those fuzzy heads who have been telling you you can deal with the Communists."—Third party presidential candidate George C. Wallace referring to Czechoslovakian invasion.

"An end to the killing in Vietnam can never be negotiated as long as the bombing of North Vietnam continues."—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, in first speech since the funeral of his brother, Robert.

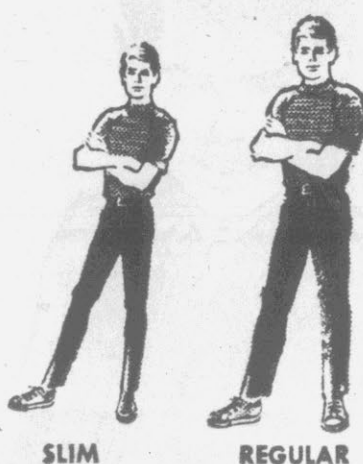

"We recognize that our views of national policy are not entirely in accord . . . But the mayor believes that only a new administration, led by Richard Nixon and committed to fresh and progressive approaches can bring the change which our nation seeks."—Joint statement in which New York City Mayor John V. Lindsay pledged to actively campaign for GOP presidential candidate Nixon.

"There's nothing compatible between civil rights and civil disorders."—GOP vice presidential nominee Spiro T. Agnew.

"Otherwise (without North Vietnam sincerity in peace negotiations) we would be forced to enlarge and expand our military efforts and be forced to withdraw from futile talks."—Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox, Democratic presidential contender.

Strategy The Same In McCarthy, Humphrey Duel

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — The city is different, the party is different, but the strategy is much the same as Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy strives to upset Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and capture the Democratic presidential nomination. It is almost as though the McCarthy forces were working from campaign manuals drawn up for the Republican presidential bid of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

There are differences, but there are more parallels, in the Chicago campaign for McCarthy and in the Miami Beach convention strategy by Rockefeller three weeks ago.

The Rockefeller effort, of course, failed. Richard M. Nixon, who went to the GOP convention the leader, emerged as the Republican presidential nominee.

The McCarthy camp openly acknowledges the similarity between its campaign and that waged by Rockefeller.

The heart of the strategy amounts to a challenge of the convention system itself, an argument that the party professionals who wield power in a convention hall are not really responsive to what the people want.

The remedy chosen by both candidates: a public campaign designed to convince the delegates that if they really want victory in November, they should turn away from the front-runners.

McCarthy's forces underscored the similarity with full-page newspaper advertisements which began:

"On Aug. 7, 1968, a good man was sandbagged in Miami. Nelson Rockefeller lost the Republican nomination to Dick Nixon and Co.

"On Aug. 26th in Chicago, Hubert Humphrey intends to make Miami's power politics look like the Amateur Hour. He fully intends, at the Democratic convention, to obliterate Gene McCarthy."

McCarthy himself has said that he can overtake Humphrey only if the delegates become convinced he is the only candidate who can win in November.

His camp acknowledges that delegates generally would be more comfortable with Humphrey than with the man who cracked the facade of Democratic unity with his primary election challenges to President Johnson.

So the McCarthy emphasis in the convention buildup has been on an argument that if the politicians want Humphrey, the voters would rally to a McCarthy ticket.

Just as Rockefeller argued that Nixon could not win in November, McCarthy spokesmen say that Humphrey is not electable.

As the Republican governor stressed public opinion polls to counter Nixon delegate strength, the McCarthy organization contends the polls prove their man's strength.

Often, even the words are the same. "Erosion" is one of them.

McCarthy's convention manager, Stephen A. Mitchell, contends that is what is happening to Humphrey's delegate lead. It echoes the Rockefeller claims at Miami Beach.

The chief difference between the two strategies is unfolding in pre-convention hearings on issues and delegate seating. The McCarthy organization is supporting an array of delegate challenges unprecedented in party history.

In that, Humphrey's organization perceives the outline of

Ask That N. C. Back Humphrey

CHAPEL HILL (AP) — Gov. Dan Moore was asked Wednesday to direct the North Carolina delegation to the Democratic National Convention to support Vice President Hubert Humphrey for the presidential nomination.

Robert Pace, chairman of the recently organized North Carolina Citizens for Humphrey Committee, made the request Wednesday.

Moore is chairman of the state's delegation and its favorite son candidate for president.

what its men charge will be a propaganda effort to challenge the fairness of the way nominating delegates were chosen.

In addition, McCarthy and his men intend to wage a major platform battle before the convention and the television cameras, seeking to enhance their nominating strength during a contest over Vietnam war policy.

The Rockefeller forces in Miami Beach chose to avoid such a fight, saving all their ammunition for the ultimate showdown on the nomination itself.

Vietnam Deaths Reflect War Lull

SAIGON (AP) — American battle deaths last week numbered 159 killed, the second lowest figure this year, U.S. headquarters announced today.

The weekly casualty report reflected the lull in the war which was then in progress. The lull ended with heavy fighting last Sunday and the next casualty report is certain to be higher.

For the week ending Aug. 17, headquarters listed 1,393 enemy killed by allied forces.

American losses were 150 killed, 609 wounded and hospitalized and 575 wounded and treated in the field.

This brought the war's total U.S. death toll to 26,793 as opposed to 379,564 enemy killed.

The death toll was the lowest since mid-July when 157 Americans were killed at the beginning of the period marking the fall in combat activity. That was the lowest week this year and among the lowest in almost two years.

The figures listed 1,193 U.S. servicemen as missing or captured, a drop of 15 during the week due to missing Americans being reclassified from missing to dead.

The U.S. Command also gave an increased figure for the enemy dead in the previous weekly report which ended Aug. 10. The previous figure was 1,642 enemy killed but the command said re-evaluation fixed enemy losses at 2,102 for the week.

The weekly report totaled 88,525 Americans wounded and hospitalized since the war began with another 79,627 wounded and treated in the field.

Require Regular School Attendance

All children between the ages of 7 and 16 must enroll and attend school regularly, according to North Carolina law.

D. H. Conley, attendance counselor for Pitt County Schools, stated that regular attendance is the keynote to the success of any school system. He urged parents to do everything possible to keep children in attendance as many days as possible each school year.

Some of the major factors which he lists for irregular attendance are: truancy, unstable home conditions, homes where both parents work, poverty and tardiness in being ready for school busses.

When a child must be absent for a valid reason, parents are required to send a written note stating the reason for the absence.

Prices Steady On Ga.-Fla. Belt

VALDOSTA, Ga. (AP) — Quality continued to decline but prices changed very little on Georgia-Florida flue-cured tobacco markets Wednesday.

Compared with previous day's sales, the Federal-State Market News Service reported, a few grade averages varied mainly $1 per hundred pounds with gains offsetting losses.

Tuesday's sales established the lowest daily average of the season, a drop of $3.08 below returns of Monday. A total of 9-620,306 pounds sold for $65.28 per hundred, and sales for the season reached 138,008,601 pounds averaging $69.76.

Stabilization Corp. receipts Tuesday amounted to 10.7 per cent of gross sales, the largest of the year. Season receipts totaled 6.3 per cent.

The High Springs, Fla., market closed Wednesday. Other closing dates are Hahira and Swainsboro, Ga., today; Alma and Blackshear, Ga., Aug. 27, and Thomasville, Ga., Aug. 28.

Teenagers Named Christ's Envoys

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UPI)—Michael Cunningham, of Tucson, Ariz., and Janet Goodrich, of Dallas, Tex., both 18, have been named Mr. and Miss Christ's Ambassador-U.S.A. by the Assemblies of God. Each will receive a $300 scholarship to Evangel College, Springfield, Mo.

The scholarships are awarded for academic achievement, character and participation in school, youth, Sunday school and church activities. Chapel Hill Preparing To Train More Doctors

CHAPEL HILL (AP) — The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is preparing to turn out more doctors and other health personnel.

Dr. C. Arden Miller, vice chancellor for health affairs at the university, said Wednesday a "basic decision" has been reached to increase enrollment in the schools of medicine, dentistry, nursing, pharmacy and public health.

Miller noted that in recent years numerous studies on ways of improving health service have shown a need for more health personnel.

He pointed out that the first-year class in the UNC Medical School already is scheduled to increase from 75 to 100 students in the fall of 1970.

"Now," he said, "we are examining ways by which enrollments at the Medical School can increase shortly about 1970 to as many as 200 students in each class."

"We are convinced the need for physicians in North Carolina is at least great enough to justify such increases," Miller said.

Miller added, however, that before the Medical School can be expanded to such an extent the number of qualified applicants must be increased by improving science instruction at colleges of the state, and the UNC medical faculty and physical plant must be greatly enlarged.

He added that the 1969 General Assembly will be asked to appropriate money for facilities that are "absolutely necessary for correcting the deficit of construction accumulated over a period of many years."

Miller said the School of Dentistry's first-year class will be increased from 55 to 75 students in 1970 and enrollment in other courses in the dental field will be increased accordingly.

He pointed out that the School of Pharmacy expects to graduate 130 undergraduate students in 1970 as compared with 67 this year and the number of graduate students in pharmacy is expected to double. Enrollment in the School of Public Health will be about 350 this fall compared to about 310 last year. Miller said the enrollment in the School of Nursing also will continue to expand.

5-Year Sentence For N. C. Woman

RENO, Nev. (AP)—A Lenoir, N. C., woman was sentenced Wednesday to five years in the Nevada state prison for the slaying of her former husband.

Jackie Pearl Ellsworth Jennings, 31, was sentenced in Washoe District Court after she pleaded guilty to a second degree murder charge in the slaying of Chester K. Sorenson, 36, of Portland, Ore.

Mrs. Jennings had been charged with first degree murder.

A panic in Public School 26, New York City, caused the deaths of 45 pupils Nov. 20, 1851.

Leaf Harvest Near Complete

Approximately 90 to 95 per cent of the tobacco crop in Pitt County has been harvested, according to Sam Weeks, agricultural extension agent here. "We've got a good quality crop this year. That that I've seen looks very good," Weeks said. "By the end of the week, 98 per cent of the crop will have been harvested."

"That this is coming out of the curing barns is certainly of a desirable quality."

Weeks said that the harvesting of the tobacco crop emphasized the need for the R 6 P program which is an annual event. R 6 P stands for Reduce Six Pests, and refers to budworms, horn worms, flea beetles, nematodes, mosaic, and brown spot.

According to Weeks, stalks should be cut as soon as the tobacco is harvested. The next step is to plow the stubbles and let them dry for two weeks. After the two weeks drying time, the field should be disced and seeded for a cover crop.

"By cutting the stalks," Weeks said, "we destroy the feed for horn worms which are starting to appear now."

"By destroying roots, we kill nematodes. By plowing under the plant refuse, we destroy spores that would cause brown spot and that the virus that would cause mosaic in the 1969 crop."

"We would like to get 100 per cent participation in Pitt County in this statewide project of R 6 P," Weeks said.

Destroy Still In Nash County

ROCKY MOUNT, N. C. (AP)—One of the largest stills ever discovered in Nash County, along with 679 gallons of illegal whisky, were destroyed Wednesday near Rocky Mount by state and federal revenue agents.

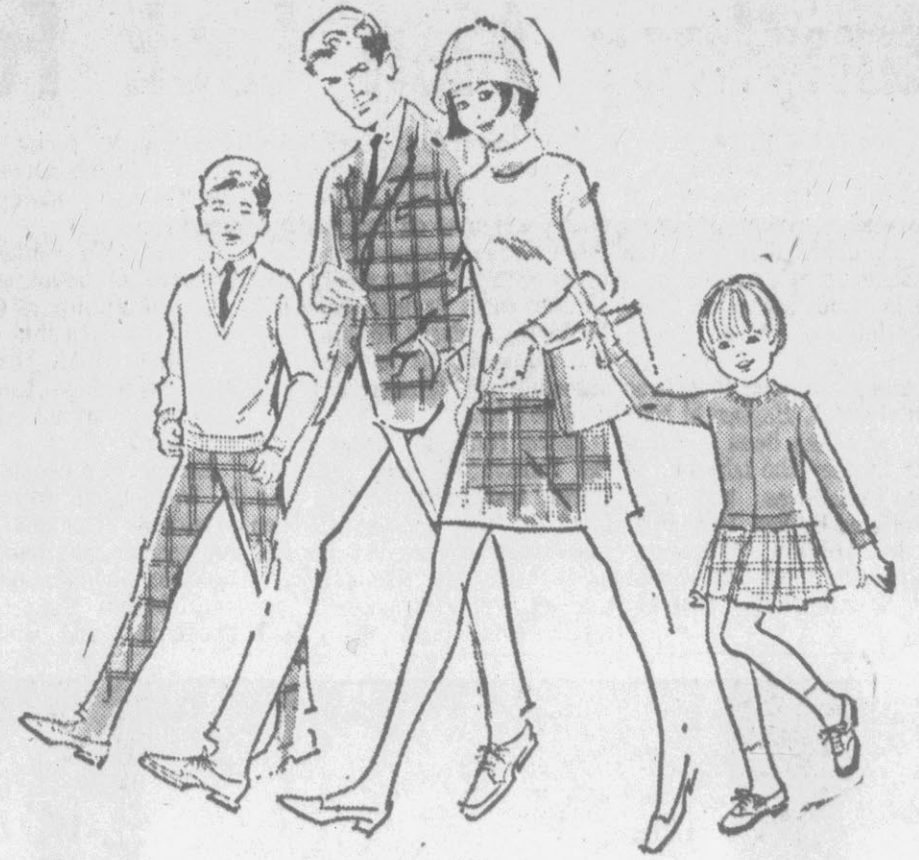

Authorities said a man identified as Wayne Clay Miller, 34, of Rougemont, was arrested and held in jail at Rocky Mount pending a hearing before a U.S. commissioner on charges of liquor law violations.

Officers said the still was capable of producing 850 gallons of liquor a day.

National forests cover one fifth of the state of Colorado, where farms decreased from 30 per cent of the state acreage in 1900 to 10 per cent in 1960.

Humphrey Men Look For Running Mate

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Backers of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, confident they have the Democratic presidential nomination in hand, surveyed today the possibilities for a running mate.

Outstanding among these was Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey, who has been wending his way through the labyrinth of delegate challenges and contests initiated by Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., with what is regarded by most Democratic pros as a remarkably cool approach.

The handsome, dark-haired and youthful appearing governor of New Jersey—becoming a star performer on television in these hectic pre-convention days in sweltering Chicago—is cast as the most logical choice if McCarthy refuses to play second fiddle to his former close associate in Minnesota's strident politics.

There remained no doubt in the Humphrey camp that McCarthy would help the vice president in the general election more than any second man he could pick. But McCarthy remained a political enigma, who might even head off into a fourth party foray if he disagrees with the outcome of next week's party nominating convention.

Humphrey's confidence in the presidential balloting obviously was shaken by a Gallup poll which indicated that GOP nominee Richard M. Nixon held a 45-29 percentage lead over the vice president in popularity at this point.

Humphrey's people contended in Washington, where the vice president remained, that this represented only public reaction to Nixon's nomination at the Miami Beach, Fla., Republican Convention and would change quickly when the Democratic nominee was selected.

There was no doubt that Humphrey would be glad to accept Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., for second place on the ticket if the senator would reconsider his reiterated statement that he would not be a candidate for any office this year.

Kennedy returned to the political scene Wednesday with a speech at Worcester, Mass., in which he called for an unconditional cessation of the bombing of North Vietnam.

But he stopped short of advocating any advance commitment for Communist participation in a new Saigon government, a point McCarthy has urged and Humphrey has opposed.

Despite the claim of former Ambassador John Kenneth Galbraith, a McCarthy strategist, that Kennedy was substantially in accord with McCarthy's views, most Democratic politicians seemed to think that he substantiated—at least in part—Humphrey's claims that the vice president's views were parallel to those of slain Robert Kennedy.

This and other convention maneuverings seemed to leave Humphrey a wide choice of running mates.

He could, for example, take Sargent Shriver, brother-in-law of the Kennedys and current ambassador to France. Shriver, a super-salesman and an attractive operator, has the liability of widespread resentment against the operations of the antipoverty program which he headed after a salutary term as chief of the peace corps.

There was talk about Mayor Joseph L. Alioto of San Francisco, son of an immigrant Italian fisherman, who has been given several publicity breaks by the Vice President. But as Alioto told a visiting newsmen, "who ever heard of me?"

Denies Classes Are Used For Inciting Violence

RALEIGH (AP)—Paul Walker, a Wake County antipoverty program worker, Wednesday strongly denied charges by Lt. Gov. Bob Scott that black culture classes he teaches are used to incite young Negroes to violence.

Walker, an employee of the North Carolina Good Neighbor Council, said no attempt is made in the black culture courses "to avoid any questions raised by my students or any discussion of contemporary events."

"But," he added, "obviously an academic discussion and political advocacy are not synonymous."

Scott criticized Walker by name for taking an expense-paid trip to New York to purchase what the lieutenant governor called "Malcolm X scrolls, African jewelry, incense and incense holders." The trip was financed by Wake Opportunities Inc., an antipoverty organization.

And Scott said black culture classes taught in the organization's youth program were used to teach violence and youngsters participating in the program were asked to kick back part of their salaries to purchase weapons.

Walker, who issued his answer after returning from West Africa where he has been studying, said Scott's charges were based solely on "highly-opinionated, so called evidence" contained in an affidavit signed by a woman who resigned from the antipoverty organization.

Walker said, "I categorically deny the accusations and inferences set forth in the affidavit."

His statement made no reference to Scott's claims of kickbacks for weapons.

Walker also said that most of the items purchased on the New York trip "could not have been ordered by mail, and since funds were limited, and time of the essence, we did not choose to purchase merchandise that had not been observed.

"Naturally," he continued, "it was an expense-paid trip, or did the lieutenant governor think that personal money should have been used to pay for a business trip?"

Walker said if Scott wants to make decisions regarding youth program policies, it would seem "more appropriate for Mr. Scott to submit an application for employment to the youth board rather than run for governor."

Scott is the Democratic nominee for governor.

"It is significant," Walker continued, "that candidate Scott made no mention of our purchase of picture posters of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., a well-known advocate of love and non-violence, and Dr. Ralph Bunche, an advocate of peace among the nations of men. . . . But the gubernatorial candidate chose to gain whatever emotional mileage possible by referring to Malcolm X alone."

Czech Invasion Bothers Olympics

By CHARLES GRFEN
Associated Press Writer

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The invasion of Czechoslovakia by the Soviet Union and four of its allies caused new worries today for an already-upset committee organizing the Mexico Olympic Games.

The games, scheduled for Mexico City Oct. 12-27, have already had their share of international political problems. Now there is a threat some countries will be so upset by the Soviet action that they will refuse to compete against the Russians during the games.

Sweden, Norway and Denmark announced Wednesday in Stockholm they were canceling their participation in various European events scheduled for this month or September in which their athletes were to compete with athletes from the Soviet Union or East Germany. If they carried this boycott to its ultimate they could refuse to compete against the Soviet Union or Germany during the Games.

The Mexican Organizing Committee had nothing to say about whether the Soviet Union could be barred from the Games because of its invasion of Czechoslovakia. Under the rules of the International Olympic Committee, Mexico has invited every country which is a member of the IOC. The Soviet Union is a member.

In Chicago, Avery Brundage, president of the IOC, commented: "I don't know of any regulation that would bar Russia from the Olympics because of the invasion. I anticipate no developments along that line. At least, I hope there are none."

Sleepy Downing Hurls Yankees Past Twins, 2-1

By DICK COUCH
Al Downing hopes Minnesota's Mayo Clinic can do as much for his sleeping habits as Minnesota's Twins have done for his pitching groove.

The little New York left-hander, plagued by chronic arm trouble since spring training, stymied Minnesota hitters for 8 1/3 innings Wednesday night and earned only his second victory of the season as the Yankees edged the Twins 2-1.

Today Downing will reenter the Mayo Clinic, where his pitching arm passed doctors' tests two days ago, for the examination of another problem—his mysterious inclination toward instant daytime slumber. Downing has trouble sleeping at night but can doze off at the drop of a hat in midday. The Mayo specialists have diagnosed his condition as narcolepsy, a controllable ailment remotely akin to sleeping sickness. They suspect there may be some relation between his sleeping pattern and arm miseries.

"They are going to give me sleeping pills before I go to bed at night and pills to keep me awake during the day," said the 27-year-old fastballer who won 14 games for the Yankees last year. "They'll keep me for a day to see how I react. I hope they find the answer."

While Downing bolstered Yankee hopes for a first division finish, Detroit's American League leaders moved a step closer to their first pennant since 1945 by nipping Chicago 3-2 on Jim Price's pinch hit homer in the 10th inning.

Second-place Baltimore nipped California 4-3 in 15 innings and remained seven games off the pace and Cleveland trimmed Boston 8-2 for Horacio Pina's first major league victory in the only other games scheduled.

Pittsburgh blasted Cincinnati 19-1, San Francisco riddled the New York Mets 13-3, St. Louis whipped Philadelphia 8-3, Houston downed Los Angeles 6-1 and the Chicago Cubs swept a doubleheader from Atlanta 5-4 and 13-5 in National League play.

Downing, who spent one month on the disabled list and another in the minors trying to regain his pitching form, held the Twins hitless until the sixth and took a two-hit shutout into the ninth, when Gob Allison's 15th homer brought Lindy McDaniel out of the bullpen to nail down the victory.

Price, a reserve catcher, broke a 2-2 tie at Detroit with his second homer of the year, a one-out shot off Wilbur Wood in the 10th. Mickey Stanley's eighth-inning homer had knotted it for the Tigers.

"I used to catch Wood at Columbus in 1966," said Price. "We were the best of friends. I've pinch hit and tied up the game four or five times this year but this was the greatest."

Boog Powell broke up the Orioles-Angels marathon with a runscore single in the 15th after Mark Belanger walked, stole second and took third on catcher Ed Kirkpatrick's wild throw. Frank Robinson and Don Buford homered for Baltimore, staking Dave McNally to a 3-0 lead, but the Angels tied it in the fifth on a two-out walk, Rick Reichard's triple and Bubba Morton's double.

The Indians supported Pina, a 21-year-old right-hander making his first start, with an eight-run uprising in the fifth that knocked out Boston's Jim Lonborg.

Pina gave up eight hits and struck out seven, but needed last-out relief help from Vicente Romo. Chico Salmon, Dave Nelson and Joe Azcue drove in two runs apiece in the fifth with a homer triple and single, respectively.

Powell Hopes To Start New Career With Vikings

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Thirty-one is a pretty young age to start a comeback. But Art Powell, hoping a game knee that cut short a brilliant American Football League career will hold up, was trying just that today with the Minnesota Vikings.

Powell, a wide receiver signed by the National Football League team Wednesday as a free agent, caught enough passes in eight seasons with the New York Jets, Oakland Raiders and Buffalo Bills to rank second among all-time AFL receivers. But he was curtailed by a knee injury last season and the Bills finally turned him loose.

The 6-foot-2, 212-pounder snared 478 passes for 8,015 yards during his AFL career and his total of 81 touchdown receptions is a league record. He also ranks fourth among all-time AFL scoring leaders with 86 points.

The Vikings also traded a draft choice to Baltimore Wednesday for another wide receiver, Rich O'Hara, the Colts' No. 3 draft pick.

In Florida, things were almost back to normal at the Miami Dolphins' camp, where a slight siege of the flu struck several players earlier in the week.

Coach George Wilson said the entire squad should be at full strength for an exhibition with Boston—one of four preseason games on tap Friday night.

Other activity that evening has San Francisco, NFL, at Denver, AFL; Baltimore, NFL, at Detroit, NFL, and Buffalo, AFL, vs. Houston, AFL, at Tulsa, Okla.

The Dolphins also announced they had traded John Roderick, who appeared in only one game last season after undergoing a back operation, to Oakland for an undisclosed draft choice. Two seasons ago, as a rookie, Roderick caught 11 passes for 154 yards in five games.

In other developments around the training camps, Pittsburgh signed holdout Frank Parker, a defensive tackle. Parker was obtained in a four-man trade with Cleveland but refused to report to the Steelers' camp because, he said, he wasn't offered enough money.

The Boston Patriots placed four players on waivers, including veteran split end Jerry Lamb, who spent three years with Kansas City before being signed by the Pats as a free agent, and rookie linebacker Burl Wood of West Texas State.

Defensive tackle Henry Jordan practiced for the first time since he was injured in the College All-Star Game as the Green Bay Packers worked out for the first time since Monday night's loss to Chicago—second straight exhibition loss for the world champs.

However, it was doubtful that Jordan would be ready in time for the Packers' game at Dallas Saturday night.

Meanwhile, the Bears' defensive tackle, John Johnson, who received the game ball after Chicago's stunner, will be lost for at least two months because of a small bone fracture.

Johnson apparently played part of the game with the Packers with the fracture but it wasn't discovered until two days later.

Unearned Runs Help Salem Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Salem Rebels, leaders of the Carolina League, scored five unearned runs Wednesday night to take a 5-4 decision over Peninsula.

The Grays out-hit the Rebels 11-5 but were unable to follow through and left 11 base runners stranded.

Four of the Rebels' runs came in the fifth inning when Salem had two men on base and two outs. Dave Cash hit a bloop which he stretched into a two-run double when it was dropped by the first baseman, and Charlie Howard hit a home run to score Cash.

Bill Champion pitched a four-hitter and doubled home two runs to give the Portsmouth Tides a 4-1 victory over the Greensboro Patriots. It was Champion's 13th victory in 18 decisions.

Wilson took advantage of five talks, a wild pitch and a double by Danny Monzon to score five runs in the seventh inning and defeat Rocky Mount 9-4.

High Point-Thomasville took an early 3-0 lead over Winston-Salem, but the Red Sox came back to tie the score in the sixth and rallied for a 6-5 victory over the Hi-Toms.

Lynchburg defeated Raleigh-Durham 5-2 as Eddie Smith picked up his third consecutive victory to post a 15-7 record, and Burlington edged Kinston 5-4.

WCL Winds Up League Play

Regular season play ended in the Western Carolinas League Wednesday night and the players celebrated by going on a hitting spree.

There was a total of 64 hits recorded in the three games. That figures out to 21 1/3 hits per game, or 10.6 hits per team.

Scorewise, the night went like this: Greenville 11, Greenwood 5; Gastonia 10, Salisbury 4; Spartanburg 6, Rock Hill 5.

The results didn't mean a thing to the final standings as Greenwood had already wrapped up the second half title in the league's split season.

Greenwood had already wrapped the first half winner, open a best-of-three series for the overall title tonight. The first game is in Spartanburg, then its over to Greenwood, and back to Spartanburg, if necessary.

But back to Wednesday night. Greenville, although out-hit 12-13, exploded for six runs in the ninth inning for its victory over Greenwood. That moved the Red Sox to within 1/2 game of the lead, but it was too little, too late.

In that last inning, Greenville used four hits, two walks, two stolen bases, a hit batsman, and a sacrifice fly to score six times.

Virginia Military Institute May Challenge For SC Title

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
(Second of a series)

"We didn't know what kind of a team we were going to have last year," Virginia Military Institute Coach Vito Ragazzo said. "But things fell into place."
And they fell into the right places, so much so that Ragazzo and his Keydets are rated as a possible title contender this year in the Southern Conference.

"The loss to Georgia (56-6) helped us to come of age," Ragazzo said. "After that we came back to win our last four games, including the first VMI win in history over Boston College." Besides BC, the wins included victories over Virginia, Akron and Virginia Tech, a team that had blistered VMI, 70-12, the previous year.

"We have three of our offensive stars back this year," the coach said. "They are (split end Frank) Easterly, (guard Bob) Biddle, and (running back Bob) Habasevich. On defense, returning are (end Lee) Barnes, and (safety Kerr) Kump. All of these men were All-Conference last season."

Bob Hockley, the offensive center, was an All-Big Five selection and will be one of the oest around the loop this year, according to Ragazzo.

Chuck Marks, the Keydet fullback, "should be outstanding, and he'll handle all of the kicking, too," Ragazzo said.

"We run from the pro set, and Marks will do a lot of blocking, so we know that he must be tough," the coach added.

The biggest question mark in the VMI setup is the quarterback, where Murphy Sprinkle is the top candidate. "He's a sophomore. We lost last year's starter, and we feel that Sprinkle can do at least as well."

Ragazzo took issue with the "sophomore" inexperience. "If a player is good, we'll start him. We're not worried about whether he's a sophomore or not."

Aside from the quarterback, the rest of the team is virtually the same as last season. "We lost only about a half-dozen of the first 22," the coach said.

Joining Easterly at the offensive end position is Bill Stainback, while Fred Smith and Gary Macley are the tackles. Biddle is joined by Mike Sister at guard. Tom Sowers takes the wingback position to round out the backfield.

On defense, Lee Stillwell and Barnes will be the ends, with Hugh Tompkins and Tom Campbell at tackles. Middle guard is Bob Copty. In the backfield are linebackers John Griffin and Steve Harrington, halfbacks Paul Frain and John Ludt and safeties Larry Smith and Kump.

"With Habasevich in the backfield, we have a strong running game," Ragazzo said. Last year the fleet back was an All-Conference selection, and should have little trouble in regaining that position, with All-American honors looming on the horizon. He holds the all-time rushing record at VMI, 663 yards.

Ragazzo said he was all for the round robin proposition in the conference, but is against any limit on scholarships. "If you've got the money—fine."

He pointed out that VMI brings in about 25 players a year on scholarship, but that the school had a low rate of loss, only a couple a year. "Other schools that bring in 35 might lose around 10, so we balance things out."

Perhaps the biggest game on the VMI schedule is one that's not there, with East Carolina. The Pirates of Clarence Stasavich with VMI, Richmond and The Citadel bunched up as the team to take over should ECU fall. VMI plays only four conference games this year, and ECU is not among them. It could have been the game to decide who really is the champ.

Next: The Citadel.

My Charlotte And Carolina Game Fail To Pay Off In Horse Race

By KEN ALYTA
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHARLOTTE (AP) — A vacationing Carolinian who leans toward hunch plays at northern race tracks finds himself in trouble.

For instance, at Atlantic City last week, My Charlotte and Carolina Game (a football fan had to name that horse) were entered in the same race, a seven-furlong sprint. Which one to back? Neither. Tony's India ($17) was the winner. A head back in second was My Charlotte, with Carolina Game third.

Then there was the horse put over by Mickey Walsh of Southern Pines at Saratoga last week in a mile and seventh-eighths hurdles race.

Mister Tahiti, a five-year-old gelding Mickey trains for Katherine R. Somma, led almost every step of the way in winning at 3-1 odds over the favored Scambio.

Walsh's $4,500 charge won the claiming race and took down $2,925 of the $4,500 purse.

Mister Tahiti is no stranger to Carolinians. The horse ran at Tryon, Camden and Ailen in the spring of 1967, winning at Camden. That was one of three victories in seven 1967 starts during which the horse won $8,145. Prior to winning at Saratoga the King had been out of the money in two 1968 starts.

Also noted was a four-year-old colt, foaled in North Carolina and answering to the name of Sweet Molasses that chalked up three successive victories in claiming route races at Rockingham Park in Salem, N.H. The horse, owned by Mrs. Q. A. Shaw McKean finally had the string snapped with a third place finish last week.

But the most astounding horse race story of them all was unfolded several days ago, also at Rockingham Park.

Four years ago Dave Shaer purchased a Royal Coinage colt for $50,000 as a yearling. He named his prize Coin Maker.

The animal never got to the races until Monday of last week, when it made its first start in the opening race of the afternoon at the age of five.

Now a gelding, the untested animal was picked to win his initial start by one of the racing sheet handicappers. And, wonder of wonders, the crowd made him third favorite at 6-1 in a field of 11 in the six-furlong race.

So what happened: So he ran dead last, 30 lengths behind the 10th horse and 45 behind the winner.

Later the trainer said the horse had not raced because of calcium deposits in his legs.

He ran like it was an anvil, not calcium, that slowed him.

Remember York Larese, the deadeye dandy of North Carolina basketball teams and co-captain of Frank McGuire's last Tar Heel team in 1961?

He hasn't lost his skill from long range. Recently signed for another year as player-coach of the Hartford, Conn., Capitols of the Eastern Basketball League, Larese is hoping to duplicate his work of last season.

He led the league with 41 three-point bombs, baskets from far outside that county three points, instead of the normal two.

He's seeking to line up new talent with a tryout camp this weekend at West Hartford.

Charlie Sifford, the former Charlottean, who scored his major PGA tour victory by winning the Insurance City Open last summer at Wethersfield, Conn., will be guest of honor at a banquet during next month's tournament, Saturday Night, Sept. 7, at Hartford.

It would be embarrassing for the cigar-smoking Sifford if he failed to survive Friday night's 36-hole cut and had to hang around for the banquet the next night.

Could happen, too. The Wethersfield course yields dozens of rounds in the 60s each year to the touring stars and par golf might not make the cut if the weather is favorable. Julius Boros, a Connecticut native and pre-tourney favorite there each year, failed to make the cut last year.

Runs And Hits Abound In Six National Loop Games

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The whiff turned into the wham and the basepaths looked like freeways. In the National League Wednesday it was the day of the hitter in this year of the pitcher.

Instead of swinging and missing as so often has been the case this year, the batters seemed to be hitting every ball thrown their way.

The five winning teams banded out 93 hits and scored 64 runs in six games. Even the losing clubs managed 50 hits.

The Chicago Cubs and San Francisco Giants started the barrage in the afternoon. The Cubs whipped Atlanta 5-4 and 13-5 and the Giants trounced the New York Mets 13-3.

Pittsburgh climaxed the assault at night with a 19-1 wallop of Cincinnati. In between, St. Louis topped Philadelphia 8-3 and Houston ripped Los Angeles 6-1.

In the American League, Detroit edged the Chicago White Sox 3-2 in 10 innings, the New York Yankees downed Minnesota 2-1, Cleveland whipped Boston 8-2 and Baltimore nipped California 4-3 in 15 innings.

Oakland and Washington were not scheduled.

Pittsburgh's 19 runs were high for the majors this season. So were the Pirates' 23 hits.

Matty Alou and Gene Alley

both collected four hits and Manny Mota, Roberto Clemente and Bill Mazaroski three apiece for the Pirates.

Donn Clendenon accounted for five Pittsburgh runs with a three-run homer and a double. Alou drove in three and Alou, Jose Pagan, Mota, Mazaroski and Clemente two each. Clemente hit solo homers his first two at-bats.

Billy Williams drove in two runs with a pair of singles in the Cubs' first-game victory and then sent home seven more in the nightcap with a two-run homer, a single, sacrifice fly and a double.

However, Ernie Banks was the big blaster for the Cubs in the opener. The 37-year-old veteran hit a bases-empty homer, his 24th, in the first inning, and, then with the Cubs trailing 4-2, climaxed a three-run seventh with a two-run blast.

In the second game, the Cubs, who had trailed 5-0, went ahead to stay, 7-5, on Williams' two-run single in the sixth.

Wittie Mays highlighted a six-run San Francisco fifth inning with a two-run homer, his 16th of the season and 580th of his career, and Juan Marichal coasted to his 23rd victory of the season.

While the Giants were batting in the sixth, their dugout and that of the Mets and the tarantulin were searched after New York police received two calls that a bomb had been planted. Nothing was found and play continued after a delay of about five minutes.

The crowd of 32,023 was not disturbed during the bomb search.

Phil Gagliano and Tim McCarver both singled in two runs in St. Louis' victory over Philadelphia. The Cardinals took a 4-3 lead in the fifth on run-scoring singles by Gagliano, Bob Tolan and Roger Maris.

Rusty Staub provided the big bat for Houston, whose 10 hits were the lowest total for any winning team. Staub singled home one of two runs in the third and then singled in a pair in the fifth.

Saint Players Talk Of Crown

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — A large number of New Orleans Saints players are boldly talking about a divisional championship in the National Football League this winter—sheer audacity, perhaps even lunacy, for a second-year expansion team.

"I'm glad they feel that way," says Tom Fears, head coach of the Saints, who astonished the gridiron goldmining ranks a year ago.

"I have to be more realistic than optimistic though," adds Fears.

The Saints were switched to the NFL's Century Division this year—joining St. Louis, Cleveland and Pittsburgh.

"We're in this to win the division. That's our aim. We would like to very much. So we'll be preparing with that thought in mind," Fears says. "But I'm not saying we're going to win our division."

A year together and the acquisition of four key players spell improvement for New Orleans. The quarter: Dave Parks, a split end who ranks with the best in the NFL; tight end Monty Stickles, a savage blocker; and pass defenders Rolf Fichtner and Elbert Kimbrough.

The Saints won three games last fall, equaling the mark for any first-year team. At the same time the Saints averaged 77,000-plus per home game, fourth best in NFL history.

Bill Kilmer will quarterback the Saints—holding the key to much of the team's 1968 successes, or failures.

Hawkins Challenges Make-Up Of N.C. Demo Delegation

CHICAGO (AP) — The racial composition of North Carolina's delegation to the Democratic National Convention was the primary issue in a challenge brought to the convention Credentials Committee today.

Dr. Reginald Hawkins, a Negro dentist from Charlotte, N.C., and other Negroes filed the challenge, alleging that the 131-member delegation should have additional Negro representation.

The North Carolina delegation, with 59 votes, has 10 Negroes—four delegates and six alternates.

Slate Sen. Thomas J. White Jr., before leaving for Chicago, said his defense of the delegation would be based essentially on the contention that all Democrats "regardless of race, color, creed or national origin have an opportunity at all times to participate fully in party affairs."

White planned to point out that Hawkins and other Negroes "fully participated in the election of the delegation at the state convention."

The Lenoir County veteran lawmaker also said he believed "any sort of quota system with respect to any group of Democrats would be contrary to the democratic process."

He used the challenge by Mrs. Betty F. Lewis of Greensboro as an example. Her contention, filed too late for consideration, alleged discrimination against women and young Democrats.

White said her challenge illustrated that various groups could present "endless challenges" if the delegation had to be composed on a quota basis. Hawkins and the newly

Education Association For 18-Year-Old Vote

WASHINGTON (UPI)—If you feel old now, better get a firm grip on those sensible shoes and iron pills. The National Education Association (NEA) has joined the voices in support of giving 18-year olds the vote.

Face it, you're outnumbered, anyway, with more than half the population under 25 years of age. The NEA's position is that young people today are far better informed than their fathers were at the same age and far more interested in campus politics, as well.

Others have pointed out that if 18-year-olds can die for their formed group called the North Carolina Committee for More Representative Political participation asked that additional Negro delegates be substituted for white delegates so that Negroes would comprise 25 per cent of the delegation.

The challengers asserted that the delegation as originally constituted "patently denied black Democratic voters the oppor-ty to participate fully in party affairs."

The Hawkins group said Negroes have been afforded little participation in North Carolina government under the Democrats with no black persons appointed to the North Carolina Supreme Court or the various superior courts or the state Board of Elections.

It also was asserted that the convention slate contained "the mere token inclusion of four black delegates with three and one-half votes and six black alternates."

country, they can have some say in who is running that country, too. Some point out that young people even under 18 can drive cars, marry and pay taxes.

Parents Must Learn To Teach Will Power

Jerry already has a defeatism complex, for his mother has failed to teach him "will power." And "will power" can be taught just as readily as piano playing! For it is a result of being a "finisher," first at small tasks and then at major problems. So scrapbook this case and use the booklet named below.

By GEORGE W. CRANE Ph. D., M. D. CASE G-557: Jerry L., aged 11, is a problem.

"Dr. Crane," his mother began, "Jerry has no will power!

"If he starts on a job, he never finishes it. "Even in athletic games with his playmates, he gives up too easily.

"Yet I have heard you say that will power can be taught to a child, so how can a parent do that?"

When our daughter Judy's kiddies come to visit us, they soon want me to go to the basement for a game of pool. For their uncles Daniel and David bought us a pool table a few years ago and now that is a favorite indoor recreation.

doing of chores. Assign your kiddies tasks that can be finished within a reasonable time. Then praise and encourage and urge them along till they finish.

For "finishers" become the hard core of winning teams. They don't quit till the whistle ends the contest. This habit of always finishing your task with a flourish, will thus prepare your children for a victory morel all through life.

"You can't do that," somebody may later taunt them. "The heck, I can't," will then be your child's secret attitude, "for I have always finished everything I have tackled, haven't I?"

The chronic failure simply has a defeatist viewpoint, based on unfinished jobs that go clear back to the nursery where Mamma even failed to see that he put his toys away at bedtime.

Oldest children are also more likely to have that competitive spirit than the second child in the family sequence. For the younger sibling, like the Prodigal Son, tends to shrug off failure and even come back home a loser.

The proud, oldest child, tutored to be a finisher, sethes internally at failure and refuses to accept defeat. He is proud!

"England," said Winston Churchill, "always wins the last battle."

That has usually been true, for the fellow who keeps getting up off the floor will finally wear out his opponent and win! Children who earn their own spending money are thus more likely to be finishers, with that competitive will to win, than are the "allowance" youngsters.

So send for my booklet "20 Ways Children Can Earn Spending Money," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

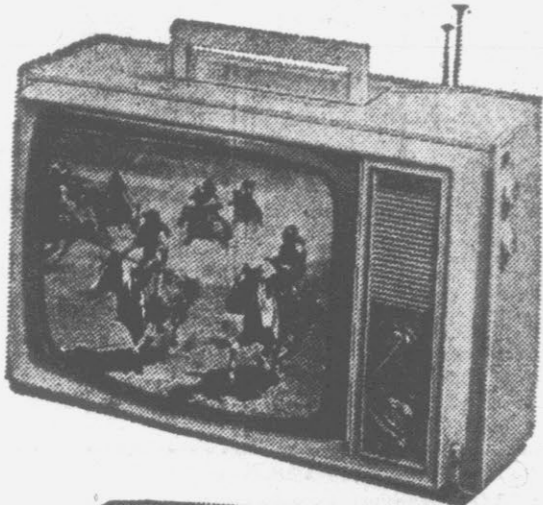

Newspaper carriers and those other youngsters who earn money by their own hard work, seldom become quitters or afflicted with a failure complex!

Scott Says 'No' To Any Debate

GREENSBORO (AP)—Democratic gubernatorial candidate Bob Scott has vetoed any plans for a debate with his Republican opponent—Rep. Jim Gardner. In a Wednesday news conference at Greensboro, Scott said: "The man who is ahead does not debate. I'm certainly not about to give him (Gardner) the opportunity to capitalize on my front position in the form of a debate."

The lieutenant governor also denied he had ever offered Gardner the opportunity of a debate.

Noting that Gardner had announced Tuesday his "acceptance" of a debate offer, Scott said, "It is difficult to accept anything that has not been offered."

When asked about former Alabama Gov. George Wallace's third party presidential campaign, Scott said, "Mr. Wallace has a lot of support in North Carolina . . . and it is all across the state and cuts across economic lines."

Scott also said he opposes the desegregation rulings handed down to Tar Heel schools by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

But, Scott said, "if anybody is in a position to fight the HEW rulings, it is my opponent, who is the only member of Congress from North Carolina on the House Education and Labor Committee and on the special subcommittee on education."

"But he's not doing the job he was elected to do." EXPLOSION

Many Stay Up All Night For Pope Paul IV Visit

By BENNET M. BOLTON
Associated Press Writer
BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Many of Bogota's two million residents stayed up all night to greet Pope Paul VI coming here to honor Latin America and plead for its impoverished millions.

The pontiff's visit to attend the 39th Eucharistic Congress was marred by his concern over the Soviet bloc invasion of Czechoslovakia.

The Pope said as he took off from Rome that he left with "sharp bitterness and great anxiety" over events in the East European nation. He added that he would give up his Latin American journey if it would serve "to avoid the disastrous consequences which, alas, one can with reason foresee" in Czechoslovakia.

In going to Bogota Pope Paul hoped to evoke what he called an intense movement of charity through the Eucharist "that invites the well-off, the developed peoples and economic and political authorities to resolve the too grave situations of fixed privileges on one side and intense misery on the other."

In the last hours before his departure, the Pope was kept informed of developments in Czechoslovakia, which, he told a general audience Wednesday, "is a country we love and appreciate."

Seeming to tie together his hopes for both Czechoslovakia and Latin America, the Pope added that he hoped "conflicts of violence and blood" could be avoided and that "peace can be assured."

The Vatican daily L'Osservatore Romano said the Pope will pray for Czechoslovakia at the Eucharistic Congress. Besides closing the congress, the Pope will open the second conference of Latin American bishops, meet with President Carlos Illeras Restrepo, talk with Colombian campesinos (peasants), and ordain a number of young Latin Americans to the priesthood.

The Pope's three-day schedule here was carefully arranged by Vatican prelates, Colombian church leaders and the country's governing officials to space out a variety of activity with many rest periods in the hope of avoiding overexertion, in the city's rarified atmosphere.

In the last hours before his departure, the Pope was kept informed of developments in Czechoslovakia, which, he told a general audience Wednesday, "is a country we love and appreciate."

ANTIOCH, Ill. (AP)—Former Gov. Terry Sanford of North Carolina said Wednesday the United States has "got to find a political, and not a military, solution" to the Vietnam war.

Sanford, who has been mentioned as a possible vice presidential running mate of Hubert H. Humphrey if Humphrey should get the Democratic presidential nomination, spoke at the annual Lake County Democratic golf outing.

"There is no question that there's a demand that we find a way to get out of Vietnam," Sanford said. "We've got to find a political, not a military, solution—an honorable way of disengaging American troops."

He added: "We have been fighting there long enough. We are going to make it less of an American effort."

Sanford called the Vietnam war the biggest single issue of the presidential campaign.

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—A special police squad, whose members dress like hippies, has done so well since it was formed July 15, that it probably will become a permanent unit.

Lt. Col. Frank Battaglia, chief of patrol for the Baltimore police department, said the 25 patrolmen and two policewomen have made 112 arrests in the past 30 days on a variety of charges.

Added to the 209 students who received degrees at the spring commencement May 12, the summer school graduates increased the class of 1968 to 247. It is the fifth class graduated since Mars Hill became a senior college.

Insects were estimated to have cost Texas cotton growers $90,280,000 in 1967.

Sanford, who has been mentioned as a possible vice presidential running mate of Hubert H. Humphrey if Humphrey should get the Democratic presidential nomination, spoke at the annual Lake County Democratic golf outing.

"There is no question that there's a demand that we find a way to get out of Vietnam," Sanford said. "We've got to find a political, not a military, solution—an honorable way of disengaging American troops."

He added: "We have been fighting there long enough. We are going to make it less of an American effort."

Sanford called the Vietnam war the biggest single issue of the presidential campaign.

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—A special police squad, whose members dress like hippies, has done so well since it was formed July 15, that it probably will become a permanent unit.

Lt. Col. Frank Battaglia, chief of patrol for the Baltimore police department, said the 25 patrolmen and two policewomen have made 112 arrests in the past 30 days on a variety of charges.

Added to the 209 students who received degrees at the spring commencement May 12, the summer school graduates increased the class of 1968 to 247. It is the fifth class graduated since Mars Hill became a senior college.

Insects were estimated to have cost Texas cotton growers $90,280,000 in 1967.

Walk Becomes A 30-Mile Hike

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP) — A couple of scientists started out for a short walk on a mountain trail Tuesday and wound up taking an exhausting 30-mile hike in rugged country near western Washington's 14,410-foot Mt. Rainier.

Dr. Sam Aronoff, 40, research chemist at Moffatt Field, Calif., and Dr. Mary King, Columbia University chemist, finally emerged from the wilds on U.S. Highway 410 near the Chinook Pass summit about noon Wednesday.

The two, object of a widespread search and rescue mission Wednesday, said someone apparently had turned around mountain trail directional signs and they got lost.

Mars Hill Grad Is From Stokes

MARS HILL — Clifford Roy Whichard, of Stokes, was one of 38 students to complete requirements for degrees at Mars Hill College during the summer session which just ended, according to registrar Robert Chapman.

Whichard, who received a BS degree in biology, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Whichard of Stokes.

Added to the 209 students who received degrees at the spring commencement May 12, the summer school graduates increased the class of 1968 to 247. It is the fifth class graduated since Mars Hill became a senior college.

CLOSE BUSINESS
HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — City officials invoked two ordinances in closing the business of David Baker Wednesday, one governing food handling and one requiring that no food or drink be served outside a building.

W. T. Garrison of the Madison County Health Department said 8-year-old David's lemonade stand had been open several weeks.

By CORNELIUS F. HURLEY
Associated Press Writer
WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts returned to political activity Wednesday with a call for an end to the war in Vietnam and a statement that he is not a candidate for any office this year.

Kennedy was stern and serene as he made his first public speech since the assassination of his brother Sen. Robert F. Kennedy June 5.

His audience, 1,200 members and guests of the Worcester Chamber of Commerce, gave him ovations at the opening and end of his speech. There were seven interruptions for rounds of applause.

At one point the speech reminded some of the audience of the inaugural of his late brother, President John F. Kennedy in 1961, when he said: "The torch has been passed to a new generation."

Sen. Kennedy told his audience he had been silent since the assassination of another brother, and said during the 10 weeks since then he had been advised by many to retire from public life, "for safety's sake."

"But there is no safety in hiding," he said. "Not for me, nor for any of us here today; and not for our children who will inherit the world we make for them.

"So today I resume my public responsibilities to the people of Massachusetts.

"Like my three brothers before me, I pick up a fallen standard," he said. "Sustained by the memory of our priceless years together, I shall try to carry forward that special commitment to justice, to excellence, to courage, that distinguished their lives."

In addition to his assassinated brothers, Sen. Kennedy's oldest brother, Joseph P. Kennedy Jr.,

died while in the service of his country, killed in the explosion of a bomb-laden Navy bomber he volunteered to pilot on a World War II mission in Europe.

Kennedy proposed a four-point program for an end to the Vietnam war:

1. To end unconditionally all bombing of North Vietnam;
2. To then negotiate with Hanoi the mutual withdrawal from South Vietnam of all foreign forces, both allied and North Vietnamese;
3. To accompany this withdrawal with whatever help we can give to the South Viet-names in building of a viable political, economic and legal structure that will not collapse upon our departure, and

4. To demonstrate to both Hanoi and Saigon the sincerity of our intentions by significantly decreasing this year the level of our military activity and military personnel in the South.

Kennedy, who last month issued a statement saying he was not available to run for vice president, as many political figures had urged, told his audience that he spoke for no partisan interests, but as "one who will not run for office this year."

Warrant Officer Receives Award

FT. BRAGG—Warrant Officer Douglas L. Raper, an aircraft commander in the 69th Aviation Company, XVIII Airborne Corps, received the Army's sixth highest award, the Distinguished Flying Cross, in ceremonies here last Wednesday. Officer Raper also received the Purple Heart and the Vietnamese Medal of Honor.

Officer Raper is the husband of a Greenville native, the former Angeline Haddock. Mrs. Raper's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Mack Ray Haddock of Rt. 5, Greenville.

WO D. L. RAPER

Presented the medals by Lt. Col. John H. Ogburn, Raper was honored for action which took place Jan. 30, 1968 while he was serving in the 175th Assault Helicopter Company (UH-1) in Vietnam.

In part the citation reads: "For heroism while participating in aerial flight evidenced by voluntary actions above and beyond the call of duty, Warrant Officer Raper distinguished himself while serving as aircraft commander and fire team leader of a UH-1C helicopter light fire team which was scrambled off Vinh Long air field."

"He led his team, flying low-level, to an area of known enemy concentration southwest of the airfield. Upon reaching the target area, his fire team came under intense enemy automatic weapons fire from a convoy of over 100 sampans."

"With calm assurance and total professionalism, he led his fire team time and time again against the enemy. He maneuvered his ship toward the enemy from as many different directions as possible to inflict maximum damage, yet insuring the greatest possible protection for his fire team."

"Because of Warrant Officer Raper's undying devotion to duty, his fire team was credited with 119 sampans destroyed and over 90 enemy killed."

A native of Wendell, Officer Raper has been in the Army eight years.

UP... UP and AWAY!

Though Russia claims Furvin Kryakutskoi trapped foul-smelling smoke in a bag and rose to the height of a birch tree in 1731, historians credit Joseph and Etienne Montgolfier with the invention of the hot-air balloon in 1783. Today this invention is almost unchanged, and hot-air ballooning is again touching the imagination of adventuresome people.

Of the approximately 50 registered hot-air balloons owned in America, two belong to the Stateline, Nev., Quicksilver Productions Corp., of which Deke Sonnichsen is president when not a Lockheed Missiles and Space Company Senior Vehicle Test Coordinator who resides in Menlo Park, Calif.

Deke, co-founder of the Sport Balloon Society of the United States of America, which is affiliated with the Balloon Federation of America, last year filed claim for six new world records to the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, which formulates records and sanctions all air events and rules throughout the world.

But it is not merely for competition that Deke, wife Joanne and son Kirke, use the two flying machines.

On weekends, neighbors are invited over and the smaller balloon, tied to a lengthy tether line, lifts friends and children above the treetops. At other times, Deke helps train future balloonists at the Daedalus School of Free-Ballooning, the first in the country, at the Menlo Oaks Balloon Field in his city, or at nearby Tracy, Calif. Before and during firing up the balloon, he explains its history and workings, then joins the student to rise skyward.

When speaking before flying clubs, aeronautical groups and schools, Deke discusses the relation between ballooning and the mighty rockets for outer space which Lockheed produces.

In the sport of hot-air ballooning, there are two controllable directions: up and down. The winds create lateral movement and any ascension might end miles from take-off.

For Deke, whose brightly-colored aircraft (representing the orange, red and yellow of the heat spectrum's lower end) have replaced his parachuting efforts (he led the U.S. Parachute Team in 1962, 1963 and 1964 to FAI meets), these moments of free-flight have replaced free-fall. He shares the silent ride above the rolling California country with those who seek to be up, up and away in that magnificent flying machine.

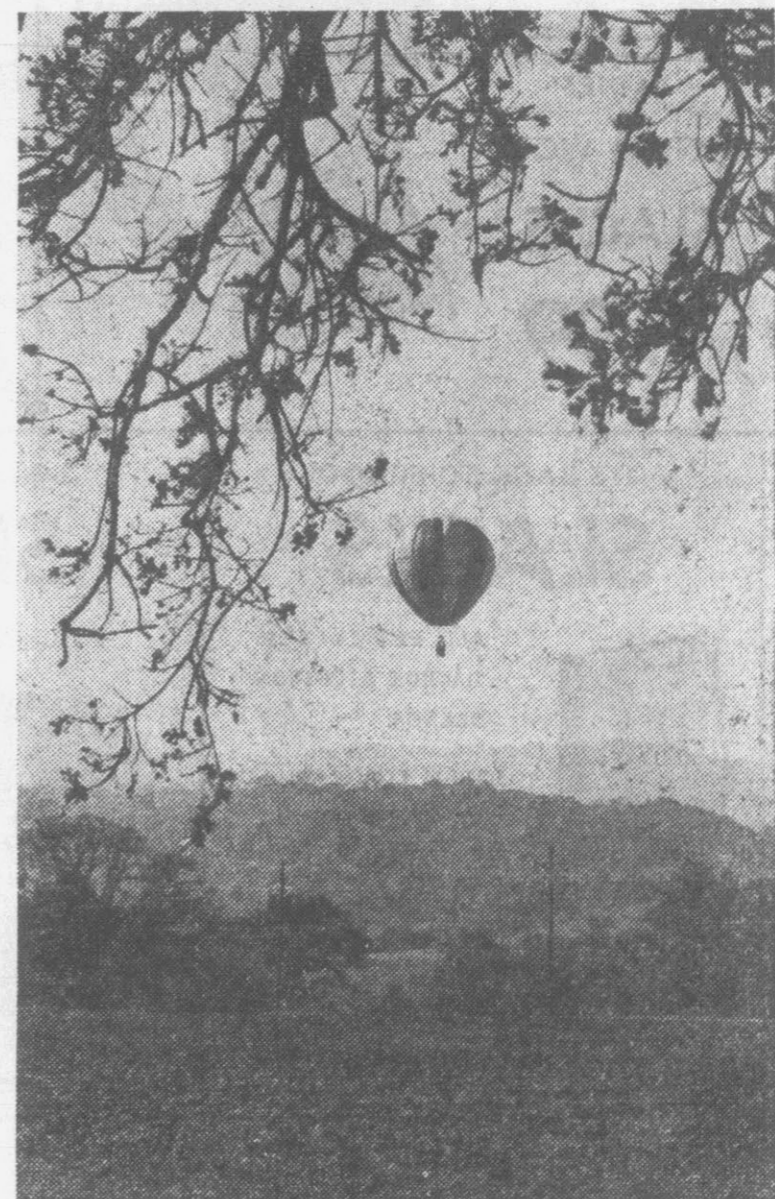

Deke steadies the wicker basket while Stanford art teacher Bob Mullen climbs aboard.

Following pre-flight examination, Deke carefully packs the balloon while Bob Mullen holds the envelope bag.

Wife Joanne guides the lifting balloon as Deke pours in the hot-air.

Off for a day's drifting.

Son Kirke gets a fatherly ride at home.

In a world-record attempt, Deke increases the heat for lift-off.

Back-yard ballooning with friends and children.

Ground Broken For Skyscraper

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Ground was broken in downtown Charlotte Wednesday for a 32-story office building that will be the tallest structure in North Carolina and South Carolina.

The $15 million Jefferson First Union Tower, a joint venture of Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Co. and First Union National Bank, will be completed in about two years.

The 33-foot tall structure will have some 50,000 square feet of rentable space and will tower a dozen stories over the city's currently highest building.

Visiting dignitaries attending ground breaking ceremonies under a blazing sun included Gov. Dan Moore, Lt. Gov. Bob Scott and Rep. Charles R. Jonas, R-N.C.

Moore said facilities "provided by this magnificent structure will guarantee to the individual and corporate citizens of this state the means necessary to grow and prosper." He called the building "a wonderful exhibition of confidence in the future of North Carolina."

Charlotte Mayor Stan Brookshire, noting that George Washington in his diary once referred to Charlotte as "a trifling place" commented:

He called the structure, began during Charlotte's 200th birthday year, a "real thrust into the third century."

The state flower of New York is the rose.

Opening lead: King of ♠
South capitalized on a totally disorganized defense to bring home his small slam contract in diamonds.
South opened the bidding modestly with one diamond. Although there were enough winners present for a demand bid he lacked the required four defensive tricks. Observe that, with a holding containing only 14 high card points, there is no real risk that one diamond will be passed out.
West overcalled with one spade and North made a free bid of one no trump, denoting a balanced hand of about average strength with a stopper in the opponent's suit. South's jump to three diamonds is forcing after partner's free bid. West now showed his second suit and North made a penalty double.
South was not interested in defending against a low level contract. He had visions of reaching a slam and, in order to inform partner of his intentions, he made a cue bid of four hearts—designating first round control of that suit. When North reciprocated by showing the ace of spades, South proceeded directly to six diamonds.

A spade opening would have assured the defense of a profit on the deal; however, West chose to lead the king of hearts despite South's cue bid in that suit. Declarer ruffed and confidently expected to make a claim momentarily—until West showed out on the first round of trumps.
South cashed his second high diamond and then gave East his trump trick. A spade return at this point would still have defeated the contract, for it breaks a vital communications link between the declarer's hand and the dummy. East continued his partner's futile attack, however, by returning the four of hearts.
South ruffed in his hand, cashed three clubs and then proceeded to lead out his remaining trumps. As the last diamond was led, West was down to the king-queen of spades and the ace of hearts, while the dummy retained the ace-jack of spades and the queen of hearts. If West gave up a spade, North would take the last two tricks in that suit. The discard of the ace of hearts is equally fatal, for it establishes dummy's queen.
Despite the fact that West failed to lead a spade originally, East should surely have shifted to that suit when he was in, in order to make a play for his partner. If West does not have good spades, the defense might as well abandon hope, for declarer can always play that suit himself.

RALEIGH (AP) - (NCDA) - North Carolina egg markets steady Wednesday. Supplies adequate, demand fair to good. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Strict middling: 25.75, 28.50, 30.50; middling: 25.25, 27.95, 30.00; strict low middling: 23.10, 26.00, 27.75; low middling: 21.25, 23.15, 24.50.

RALEIGH (AP) - (NCDA) - North Carolina egg markets steady Wednesday. Supplies adequate, demand fair to good. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A large whites: 48 1/2 to 49 1/2; medium, whites: 42 to 43 1/2; small, whites: 30 to 32 1/2.

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market today weathered an anticipated early selloff in reaction to the news from Czechoslovakia and then began a strong comeback early in the afternoon.

Defense stocks were prominent in the recovery trend.

The ratio of losses to gain was cut from 3-to-1 at the start to less than 2 to 1 as the market came back in response to "bargain hunting" by individuals and institutions.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .88 at 889.55, having recovered from an initial decline of 3.29.

Trading was active, but not more than it usually is after a Wednesday closing when orders pile up.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 1.0 at 31.3 with industrials off 1.4, rails unchanged and utilities off 1.4.

Volume for the first two hours was 7.38 million shares, compared with 4.47 million Tuesday.

Turnover was boosted by a hue block of 374,000 shares of Control Data at 140, down 12 points. In later dealings Control Data cut its loss to about 9 points. The company merged recently with Commercial Credit. The block, valued at $52.36 million, was one of the biggest dollar-wise in exchange history.

Raytheon, a leader in the anti-missiles systems program, was up 2 and high on volume. Among other defense-oriented issues, Boeing and United Aircraft advanced more than a point each, McDonnell Douglas, Martin-Marietta and General Dynamics fractions.

Jones & Laughlin spurted 4 points and Homestake about 2.

Ling-Temco-Vought ran up more than 2 in response to its major refinancing plan which apparently would smooth the way for a merger with Jones & Laughlin.

Losses of a point or so were taken by Great Western Financial, Commonwealth Edison, Sears Roebuck, M-G-M, Procter & Gamble, Eastern Air Lines and Johns-Manville.

Prices also snapped back from an early decline on the American Stock Exchange.

Gardner Offers 9-Point Program

RALEIGH (AP) - Jim Gardner, Republican candidate for governor, today proposed a nine-point program "to improve our state law enforcement and maintain law and order."

The program called for upgrading and expanding the state Highway Patrol and state crime laboratories, expanded training for local police officers, making it a felony to attack policemen on duty with arms and a thorough study of state laws in the area of riots.

The proposals were made in a position paper on law and justice.

Gardner also called for competitive salaries for patrolmen, a conference of mayors to discuss crime prevention commission, and the use of latest techniques in communications and statistical analysis.

Moore Calls Off Scheduled Trip

RALEIGH (AP) - A cold forced Gov. Dan Moore today to call off a scheduled trip to Washington and to take to his bed in the executive mansion.

Making the Washington trip without the governor were Highway Commission Chairman Joe Hunt, Director of Administration Wayne Corpening, and the state property officer, Frank Turner.

They were to confer with federal officials regarding federal funds for higher education facilities and more interstate highway mileage for North Carolina.

Moore developed a cold on a recent trip to western North Carolina and went to bed on advice of his doctor.

Nixon Relaxes Following Tour

By MELVIN E. LANG
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) - Richard M. Nixon relaxed at his Florida hideaway today after completing an apparently successful cross country tour to assure support from all elements of the Republican party for his presidential campaign.

Nixon flew to Miami Wednesday night after winning pledges of support from two leaders of the party's liberal segment - Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and New York Mayor John V. Lindsay.

Rockefeller, who lost the GOP nomination to Nixon three weeks ago at Miami Beach, and Lindsay said in separate statements they would stump for the former vice president.

The four-day swing also brought pledges of full support from Govs. James A. Rhodes of Ohio, George Romney of Michigan and Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania.

California Gov. Ronald Reagan, who also challenged Nixon for the nomination, said last week he would appear on national television for the ticket of Nixon and the vice presidential nominee, Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew.

Program Rates Near Perfect

RALEIGH (AP) - The state Board of Health reported today that the North Carolina shellfish sanitation control program has received a near-perfect rating of 97.2 for 1968 from the U.S. Public Health Service.

The board said it was the fifth consecutive year in which the state's rating has improved and compared with a rating of 85.9 in 1963.

The shellfish sanitation program is administered by the Board of Health and the Division of Commercial and Sports Fisheries to protect consumers of oysters, clams and crabs from contamination.

Death Row Holds Many; Two Die

WASHINGTON (AP) - More convicts were on death row in American prisons last year than at any time since 1953, but only two men were executed, the Bureau of Prisons reports.

In its annual report on capital punishment, the bureau said Wednesday 435 persons were under sentence of death during 1967. This was the highest number on record and double the 1960 figure.

Two murderers went to the gas chamber last year - one in California and the other in Colorado.

Terms Invasion Tragic Mistake

VIENNA (AP) - Ceausescu, president and Communist party leader of Romania, told Parliament today that the Soviet bloc invasion of Czechoslovakia was "a tragic mistake which will have serious consequences for the Communist movement."

"There is no basis for any attempt to justify this action," Ceausescu declared.

Parliament adopted a resolution denouncing the Soviet action and calling for a Communist policy of noninterference in the affairs of Socialist countries.

Ceausescu said although Moscow cited an appeal from Czechoslovak officials as the reason for its intervention, this appeal came from "persons who represent nobody."

"It is not too late to return to reason," Ceausescu said, urging that differences of opinion among Communist states be settled by negotiation. The Warsaw Pact, he said, cannot justify intervention in the affairs of other Socialist countries.

restoring law and order during the racial violence. In declaring his support, however, Brooke said: "Ted Agnew is not a racist. He's a progressive."
