In Command All The Way

Humphrey Wins Nomination Of Deeply Divided Demos

CHICAGO (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey won the Democratic presidential nomination Wednesday night in a violence-threatened party convention deeply divided on Vietnam war policy and uncertain of its ticket's fate in November.

The vice president's methodically obtained victory was greeted with mixed enthusiasm and apprehension by security-harrassed delegates to this most guarded and restricted of all national conventions.

The selection of Humphrey promised to lay before the nation's voters a choice between President Johnson's domestic and foreign policies—which the vice president has backed solidly as a member of the administration team—and a proposed Nixon program that varies more in details than essentials.

McCarthy as a possible running-mate despite the Minnesota senator's rejection of such suggestions. Most speculation focused on either Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine or Sargent Shriver, ambassador to France.

ment released at his Texas ranch, was that the party had nominated "an excellent and an especially well-qualified candidate." He expressed hope that all Democrats would "unite behind him and move forward to victory in the election."

Business District Street Pattern Plans Approved

By JERRY RAYNOR, Reflector Staff Writer

A street pattern concept for the Greenville Central Business District Project, developed by the City Planning and Architectural Associates, was approved by the Planning and Zoning Commission at its meeting Wednesday night in City Hall.

through Tenth Street with sufficient right of way to accommodate appropriate width sidewalks on each."

Opposition to the motion was voiced by three of the members present. Louis Singleton asked, "Why should Cotanche Street be widened when Reade Street, First Street and Washington Street have been, or are being, designed to take care of the by-pass traffic for the downtown area?"

Jerry Sutherland wanted to know, "What is the purpose of having four lanes of traffic lead into a planned mall on Evans Street?" Percy Cox voiced an opinion that "this concept seems to encourage additional vehicular traffic in the downtown area. It has been my belief that more pedestrian traffic and less vehicular traffic is desirable for the downtown district."

After an intensive discussion which lasted more than an hour, the motion was approved by a vote of four to three. Chairman Frank Little, Hagerty, City Engineer Charlie Holiday, and H. T. Chapin, Jr. voted for the motion. Singleton, Sutherland and Cox opposed the motion.

Hagerty explained that the action of the board constituted "substantial guidance to the Redevelopment Commission", in reply to a question concerning to what extent the board's action influenced final action which might be taken.

He further stated that "the City Council has final authority. Later, overall plans will come back to this board. There will be public hearings before final action is considered." Hagerty pointed out that "this plan we have been considering is for street plans only, and does not include plans for parking lots and other downtown area developments."

In a proposal to rezone a portion of the L. S. Hardee property at the intersection of 14th Street and U. S. 264 By-Pass, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Starling, and an adjoining lot owned by Louis W. Reel, the board deferred action. Mr. and Mrs. Starling were asked to present a complete plan for the entire property to preclude rezoning considerations having to be considered "piecemeal." Several objectors to rezoning the property to business usage from its present residential usage were present. A petition has been received from the Jenkins, Tripp, Tyson, Harrington, Tyndall, Lewis,

West, Langdale and Kelly families requesting that the property in question remain residential. Chairman Little, in directing that a complete plan for the area be submitted, stated "by looking at the property as a whole, including plans for a school, recreation area, residential and business considerations, this board can act on rezoning proposals more intelligently."

In other actions, a motion was approved to redesignate Boyd Avenue and the portion of Tyson Street south of Fifth Street as 14th Avenue. It was explained that such action would simplify the present confusion existing by 14th Street becoming Boyd Avenue when the railroad is crossed, then becoming Tyson when Fleming Street is crossed. The motion was approved, with a stipulation that a public hearing be held before adoption.

Other street name motions included approving Radio Road as a name for the short road on which Radio Station WPXY is located. In response to a request from the Housing Site, a motion was made to name the streets concerned Conley Street, Howard Circle, Cox Lane, and Page Street.

Petitions to consider rezoning property to business usage were considered in the case of Woodrow W. Haddock for the southwest quadrant formed at the intersection of Evans Street extended and U. S. 264 By-Pass; and for Leon L. Moore for property also on Evans extended and U. S. 264 By-Pass. A letter is being sent by the board to Haddock asking he make a request to have the property annexed by the city before further action. (Continued on page 20)

Gov. Moore Kept 12 Of His Delegation Votes

CHICAGO (AP)—North Carolina cast 44 1/2 votes for Democratic presidential nominee Hubert Humphrey on the first ballot Wednesday night as Gov. Dan Moore released the state's delegation from its commitment to him.

Twelve North Carolina delegates still voted for Moore, the first North Carolina favorite son candidate for president. By the end of the balloting Moore also had three Virginia votes, two from Georgia and one half from Alabama.

Moore's name had been placed in nomination first. Alabama yielded to North Carolina at the start of the nominating roll call to allow former State Democrat-

Chairman I. T. Valentine Jr. to make the nominating speech. When the roll call of the states for the first ballot reached North Carolina, it was announced that Moore had decided to permit the state's delegates to "vote the wishes of their consciences."

The North Carolina vote was 44 1/2 for Humphrey, 12 for Moore, two for Sen. Eugene McCarthy and one-half for Sen. George McGovern.

The heavy North Carolina vote for Humphrey had been expected.

Former Gov. Terry Sanford, a North Carolina delegate, had given a seconding speech for Humphrey and has been considered a possible vice presidential nominee on a Humphrey-led ticket.

Before the convention recessed for dinner Wednesday night, North Carolina's delegation had voted 50-1 against the so-called "peace plank" proposed as a minority report to the Democratic platform. The convention voted down the report.

Tobacco Prices Move Up On Greenville Mart

Prices advanced yesterday on all leaf tobacco as demand continued to strengthen, Sales Supervisor W.L. Whedbee reported. The market sold 1,861,094 pounds for $1,253,851.40 with an average of $67.37.

Whedbee said that the character of tobacco on warehouse floors changed slightly. There were more scaled and burned tip; among the offerings.

The sales supervisor reported the highest sale he saw yesterday was 77 cents. Lowest was 27 cents for cigar type tobacco. Whedbee stated, a full sale was in progress today.

Assassins Slay U.S. Ambassador

GUATEMALA (AP) — Guatemalan authorities pressed the hunt today for the killers of U.S. Ambassador John Gordon Mein, but there was no word of progress.

The assassins machine-gunned Mein Wednesday afternoon after boxing in his limousine on a main street of Guatemala City. The 54-year-old career diplomat was cut down as he tried to escape.

In Washington, a State Department spokesman said President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk were "shocked and grieved" by the slaying believed to be the first assassination of a U.S. ambassador. Washington asked Guatemala for a full investigation.

President Julio Cesar Mendez Montenegro declared a 30-day state of siege and proclaimed three days of mourning. His decree expressed the "deep condolences of the government and people of Guatemala to the government and people of the United States."

Mendez in a statement to newsmen described the ambassador as a "sincere friend of Guatemala."

It was assumed that Mein was the victim of one of the extremist factions who have been warring in Guatemala for months.

But there was no indication whether his assassins were from the ultraright or the ultraleft.

Embassy press attache Richard Knowles of Waterloo, Iowa, gave this account of the assassination:

Mein and his Guatemalan chauffeur were en route from the envoy's residence to the embassy when a car pulled in front of the limousine and a truck pulled up behind, preventing the ambassador's automobile from moving either way. Two men forced the chauffeur out of the limousine. Mein tried to flee, but a burst of machine-gun fire brought him down.

Women's Role In Campaign Stressed By Speaker At Rally

By RUTH GWYNN, Reflector Staff Writer

A nationally prominent Republican woman emphasized the role of women in Reece B. Gardner's congressional campaign here last night.

Mrs. Mary Ellen Miller, assistant chairman of the National Republican Congressional Committee, spoke at an organizational district rally for Gardner, candidate for the First district. Mrs. Miller, now an Oklahoma resident, was long active in the politics of Alabama.

Experienced in politics from the precinct to the national level, Mrs. Miller stressed the importance of following through on each campaign detail.

She noted the two-pronged aspect of this year's congressional races. "First, it is essential to the welfare and future of this nation for us to control the House of Representatives. To do this, we must retain all the seats we now hold and pick up an additional 30.

"Next, we must remember that the presidency itself could be decided by the new House of Representatives. It is conceivable that we could lose because of one congressional seat."

Mrs. Miller supplied the women with other campaign strategy, including the need for a winning attitude and a professional approach.

Dr. Sam Thompson, Gardner's district campaign manager, said that his own private poll indicated Gardner presently running even with the Democratic incumbent, Walter Jones. "The next two months will be the critical period," he said.

Gardner himself spoke briefly, noting, "It is a national disgrace for the Democratic delegates to be protected by 5,000 National Guardsmen. Of all the people in convention hall, 25 per cent are security guards."

Henry Flake, Gardner's Pitt County campaign manager, summed up the theme of the evening when he mentioned the Pitt County slogan. "It's called the six W's of politics—We won't win without working women."

Child Abducted

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—A man posing as an electrician kidnaped the 4-year-old son of a Beverly Hills banker, and police searching for the boy said today there are similarities to an unsolved abduction one year ago.

"I'll contact your husband later. I want $250,000 in $20 bills," the mother of Stanley Stalford Jr. quoted his abductor as saying.

The man, wearing a hard hat and blue work clothes, fled in the family's new auto. Police said they found the abandoned auto seven hours later but would give no details.

$69.04 Average Yesterday For Farmville Mart

FARMVILLE — Volume of sales was heavy and all firms were blocked yesterday on the Farmville Tobacco Market, Sales Supervisor Louis Williams reported.

The market yesterday sold 767,931 pounds for $530,210.27 to average $69.04.

The season's figures after three selling days are 2,297,534 pounds for $1,588,066 to average $69.04.

Stabilization receipts yesterday were 6.2 per cent of the total sales.

Offerings yesterday consisted of primings, lugs, nondescript and leaf grades. Volume of leaf grades continued to increase. Williams said today's appearance to be a full sale.

Protestors Talk New March Try

CHICAGO (AP)—Weary demonstrators, munching into a makeshift breakfast of baloney sandwiches and watermelon slices, attempted to regroup today for another try at marching to the International Amphitheatre, headquarters of the Democratic National Convention.

About 175 demonstrators were across the street from the heavily guarded Conrad Hilton Hotel, convention headquarters and site of a Wednesday night Michigan Ave. battle between some 3,000 demonstrators and Chicago police.

National Guardsmen trooped in columns across a bridge in Grant Park facing the hotel. The guardsmen were replacements for the tired troops and police who maintained a night-long vigil.

Police said there were no immediate plans to clear the area although hundreds of demonstrators were sleeping deeper in the park and out of sight of Michigan Ave. morning rush hour traffic.

Despite the relative calmness of the situation, Don Rose, information director for the National Mobilization Committee, a blanket organization for hippies, Yippies and other demonstrators, said there will be another rally across the street from the Hilton at 2 p.m., CDT.

"It'll be largely up to the group to decide then what will be done," said Rose. "As of now, it's a good bet the people will try again" to march to the Amphitheatre.

The demonstration Wednesday night hit a peak as Hubert H. Humphrey was receiving the presidential nomination at the amphitheatre, about five miles from the Hilton-Grant Park area.

Ennis-Pollard Vows Exchanged On Sunday

MRS. JOHN EDWARD ENNIS

Miss Bonnie Kay Pollard became the bride of John Edward Ennis on Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Winterville Free Will Baptist Church with the Rev. James Lupton officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Floyd P. Tolar of Greenville and Mr. and Mrs. William E. Ennis of Winterville.

Mrs. George Harrington, Jr., of Ayden, was organist and played traditional wedding music, ending with the "Wedding Prayer."

The church was decorated on each side with nine branch brass candelabra which had giant white mums and greenery mixed at the base of the candles. At the back of the church was a fifteen candle brass candelabra with greenery mixed at the base. The couple used the double ring ceremony and knelt at a profile prie dieu for prayer.

William Ennis was best man for his son. The couple entered the church together. The bride wore a street length dress which featured an Empire waist and A-line skirt. The bodice of the dress and the bell-shaped sleeves were lace and the back of the dress had a scalloped lace train to the hemline. The skirt was peau de soie overlaid with organza. Her three-tiered shoulder length veil of illusion was attached to a pearl crown.

The bride carried a lace covered prayer book with two orchids centered on top and white satin streamers cascaded from the prayer book.

The bride's mother wore a sheath dress of turquoise organza which was embroidered with white flowers and had a matching sheer coat. Her accessories were turquoise and she wore an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Ennis, wore a semi-fitted dress of blue crepe which had a high neckline and short sleeves. She used black patent accessories and an orchid corsage.

For a wedding trip to the coast, the bride wore an olive green military-style dress with brass buttons. She used white accessories with brass accents and wore the orchids lifted from her prayer book.

The bride will be a senior at Winterville High School this year. The groom is a graduate of Winterville High School and is now serving with the U. S. Army. He will leave in September for an 18-month tour of duty in Germany.

The couple greeted guests in the vestibule of the church after the ceremony.

No Images Enhanced By Convention

There probably have been few national political conventions which have done less to enhance the image of the party or its nominees than the present Democratic Convention in Chicago.

Obviously under the tight-fisted control of Mayor Daley's officers on the convention floor and elsewhere in Chicago, the convention has done more to intensify discord than to promote harmony within the party. Vice President Humphrey, whose forces have been in firm control of the Chicago machinery, rightly or wrongly has been the focal point of much of the blame for what has gone on in Chicago this week inside and outside the convention.

Although law and order must be preserved, there has arisen the serious question of whether Chicago police used considerably more force than necessary on demonstrators and other protestors. It has been apparent throughout the week that great efforts have been made by police and others to prevent news media from giving the public a close-up and complete coverage of what is going on in Chicago's streets as well as at Convention Hall. Mayor Daley's effort to place a curtain around his city so far as unfavorable publicity is concerned has in itself brought adverse reaction among delegates in Chicago as well as in other parts of the nation.

There have been no walk-outs of significance at the convention. There have been few real surprises in the course of the convention's business. At the same time, there has been a notable lack of enthusiasm for some of the final decisions made by this Democratic convention. In many instances even the effort at superficial harmony has been abandoned.

The image of Vice President Humphrey has not been enhanced by the convention which has chosen him as the standard bearer of the Democratic party. If anything, he has gained additional political liabilities which may be difficult to shake off during the campaign months ahead.

Sharp Contrast To A Past Year Of Chaos

Whatever the reason or reasons, the orderly marketing of tobacco on auction markets of the huge Eastern Belt this season is in sharp contrast to the chaos which prevailed a year ago.

Last year this time trucks loaded with tobacco were parked for blocks around every warehouse. Many of them waited in lines for several days to get their loads on the warehouse floors. Tempers ran high, facilities were over taxed and in general marketing conditions were as bad or worse than in any tobacco auction season in history.

This year it is an entirely different story. Perhaps the most important change is that farmers do not feel compelled to sell all their tobacco in the shortest possible time in order to take advantage of selling untied leaf. A more reasonable sales schedule has been in effect on the markets, and processing plants have had an additional year in which to adjust to the handling of greater quantities of untied tobacco.

In spite of the moments of unrest and disagreement among some segments of the tobacco industry this year, it is evident the various parts of the industry have cooperated much more closely this year than last. The more orderly selling season is the result of better planning and better cooperation.

Revenues From Eure's Office

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau
RALEIGH — The non-revenue producing office of the Secretary of State nevertheless is collecting nearly half a million dollars a year more than it costs to operate the office.

"This probably won't mean very much when we go before the Advisory Budget Commission," says Secretary of State Thad Eure ruefully.

venues from filing fees and other sources amounted to $82,330.

Audit Report
Overall, according to an audit by State Auditor Henry Bridges, net revenue collections by the office of Secretary of State increased by $142,874 from fiscal 1967 to fiscal 1968.

In 1967, net collections were $488,718 and in 1968, $631,692. Expenditures for the office were $164,825 in 1967 and $176,557 in 1968.

The difference in expenditures and revenue is nearly half a million dollars for the past fiscal year. It marked the first time that net revenue collections for such an office — charged with collection of certain special taxes, fees, charges for sea's, reports, registrations and the like, had exceeded half a million dollars. It went over by $142,874 which almost equaled the entire expenditure for just a year ago.

Collections Made
By and large, collections by the Secretary of State's Office are in small amounts, dribbles. For example, the minimum amount levied on corporations applying for charters is $40, at a rate of 40 cents per $1,000 on authorized capital stock.

This limit apparently is why most new corporations begin with a capitalization of $100,000 — they pay the $40 minimum stock tax.

Nevertheless, this single tax levied only one time on new corporations yielded $396,817 during the past fiscal year.

Other relatively small taxes and fees are imposed on securities, on dealers in securities, filings and registrations in the Secretary of State's Office.

Actor Relishes Success Aura

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Alan Arkin is an inwardly haunted man living in a golden shower.

Critics acclaim him as the best young acting talent of the decade, producers stand in line to offer him fat roles, at fat prices. He can practically name it and it's his.

To the brooding, dark-haired actor his success while still on the sunny side of 35 is wildly marvelous and paradoxically comical, as he feels life itself is. "I love it," he said frankly. "Mostly because it gives me a wider choice of things to pick from."

"The disadvantage of success is that it robs you of illusions — the usual illusions about how wonderful everything would be if you were only successful."

"You discover that there is no peaches-and-cream fulfillment in the money itself. You find out that what Freud said is true — fulfillment lies in a man's being able to work and love."

Acting became Alan's career goal at the age of five. Today it stands for more than either fame or bread to him. It's also both an escape and a discovery.

"It's like eating with me. The same way some people have to eat, I have to act. It's an additional basic necessity to me."

"Acting has a reward beyond the performance. It stretches me emotionally. I like the feeling it gives of reaching areas of myself that I would ordinarily have trouble reaching. And whatever I find belongs to me. I don't lose it."

Sensitive, courteous, compassionate toward others, Arkin is driven by an interior quest for artistic perfection that makes him the sterner.

Appomattox In Chicago

CHICAGO — When a definitive history of the Democratic party is written, some latter-day Gibbon may mark the convention of 1968 as a sort of watershed point in the decline and fall of the Southern empire. For the old-line Dixie delegations, the last week of August is turning into the year of Appomattox.

It was not always thus. Over a span of three-quarters of a century, following the Civil War, the very basis of the Democratic party rested in the solid South. Year after year, in season and out, the Southern states rolled up their massive Democratic records. Southern statesmen, breathing fire and bourbon, dominated the quadrennial conventions — Oscar Underwood and the Bankheads of Alabama, Alben Barkley and Champ Clark of Kentucky, John Garner and Sam Rayburn of Texas, Russell of Georgia, Byrd and Glass of Virginia. Nineteen of 32 temporary and permanent convention chairmen from 1900 to 1964 called the roll with Southern accents.

Gone now; all gone. With the solitary exception of Governor John Connally of Texas, the Southerners were out of it this year. Even Connally, last of the respected old guard, could not block a move within the convention to discard the unit rule. Otherwise, the Dixie delegates might as well have walked around carrying signs reading, "Kick Me."

Mississippi's delegation never even made it to the stockyards. Alabama, North Carolina, Tennessee and Texas were involved in unseemly credentials disputes. At the relentless demand of the convention's special equal rights committee, old customs ended abruptly: four years ago, the 11 Southern states sent only seven Negroes to Atlantic City. They sent an even 100 to Chicago this time.

A Virginia delegate, a lump in his again throat, recalled the grand days of 1952. The convention had threatened even then to bar delegations from Louisiana, South Carolina and Virginia. The issue involved a loyalty oath. In the end, a Southerner's word of honor was warmly held to be enough. This year brings another loyalty oath; Alabama's delegates were told coldly to sign on the dotted line or catch the next train home. No one raised an objecting voice.

At this convention, the one Southerner in the public eye is Lester Maddox of Georgia. The governor holed up last week in somber headquarters on the 16th floor of the Hilton Hotel: No bands, no buttons, no miniskirted girls. Even Pepsi Cola, which flows in veritable Niagaras, passed.

Other Editors Say Turning A Deaf Ear

(Henderson Dispatch)

Reports from around the world are virtually unanimous, except for Red China, in condemning Russia's brutal invasion of Czechoslovakia. The very act of moving in troops and heavy armor to subjugate a small, unarmed, defenseless nation is of itself condemnation of the Soviet behemoth.

World opinion as a whole is definitely against Moscow in this dastardly move. But what effect will this have on the Kremlin? Most likely exactly nothing. Soviet rulers are oblivious to everything and every one other than their own selfish purposes.

There could be no greater evidence of the cruelty, the injustice and the discredited ideology of communism. Those know best who have been subjected to this tyranny what life is like behind the Iron Curtain. Moscow has nothing to offer the world when it has to use force and build a stone wall to imprison those who are the suffering victims of its ruthless cruelty and who even risk their lives to escape it.

Tanks, guns, planes and soldiers are sent in to force these victims into submission when there is the slightest gesture toward freedom on their part. Even leaders of the movement are seized and hurried off to unannounced destinations in captivity in creating an example of what awaits others who are bold enough to desire and attempt a measure of liberty for themselves. Reports were circulating in some European quarters that Alexander Dubcek, who headed the freedom movement and was hustled away to secret imprisonment, is dead, and if so a martyr in the name of freedom.

Small nations that have been overrun have to be held in leash by the communists by involving force. There is nothing to commend this mighty and sadistic power. Yet there are those in free America who would impose such a system upon this country. They ought to be sent behind the Iron Curtain for a first hand experience of what it is like. It might cure them of their stupidity, and bring them to their senses if they have anything left that could be impressed.

Forty Years Ago

By FOY H. DUNCAN

"I never saw a whiskey still attract as much attention as the one displayed on the court house lawn late yesterday afternoon," declared a member of the sheriff's department today. "The minute the deputy drove up with the still tied to the side of the car, a great crowd of court attendants began flocking around until standing space could not be had several yards from where the car was parked. This goes to show that stills are as much of a curiosity today as ever, probably more so because of the danger incurred in their manufacture and operation."

Shower In Honor Of Miss Jackson

A delightful miscellaneous shower was given Miss Janie Jackson at her home on Eight Street Monday afternoon from four to six. The guests were met by Mrs. W. H. Whitehurst, sister of Miss Jackson, and shown to their respective tables, where games of heart were played. Miss Margaret Merritt received a dainty box of handkerchiefs for high score. After this a delicious ice course was served by Mrs. L. C. Evans and Mrs. W. F. Jackson. Amid the enjoyment of the guests little Paul A. Scott arrived with a wagon decorated with yellow and filled with lovely gifts.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
THE REAL BUSINESS OF LIFE

It is amazing, the number of people who go through life without any apparent purpose. Sometimes they drop out of school early. Other such persons get fine educations but to the end of their days they never appears to be any pattern to the way they operate. Sometimes, of course, evil people have firm purpose in life. Hitler was one of the most purposeful individuals in history and probably the most evil being ever to make his appearance among men.

Very few people have a purpose which leads them to say that at a certain time they will study law, or medicine, or engineering and will listen to no other suggestion. The one overarching purpose which we should all have is the purpose to do the best we can every day, take advantage of our opportunities as they arise, never injure anyone, live up to the highest one knows. With a general purpose like this one pushes on probably to material success and at least to the satisfaction of knowing that he has done the right thing all along the line.

The boy Jesus declared when he was twelve years old that he must be about his Father's business. How dim the prospect of greatness must have appeared to the humble carpenter as he labored at his bench in Nazareth. Yet the life he lived was the most purposeful and significant that anyone has lived in all history.

He believed in a heavenly Father and dedicated himself to his Father's "business."

Making Sure All 'Get The Word'

By ELMER ROESSNER
There's an old Army phrase: "Pass the word down the line." There is an equally old Army adage to the effect that there's always some poor slob down the line who doesn't get the word.

Business appears to have dedicated itself to making sure each and every slob down the line gets every word. Perhaps this mania results from oversell by the communications industry or a subconscious effort by management to spread the risk of being blamed for something.

Or it could be a corollary to Parkinson's law: paperwork expands to fill the baskets and files available for it.

Business's obsession is reflected in multiplying house organs, ubiquitous bulletin boards and the ever increasing dominance of the mail room over other departments.

Take, for example, one highly respected international organization which uses a master inter-office routing slip listing a dozen or so departments. As each department receives such tagged material, it attaches its own internal routing slip with as many as 20 names on it.

Tortured Course
Thus, a given piece of routed material takes between a week and a month to run the route. The load is so heavy that if everyone read every scrap of material that dropped in the "in" basket, there would be no time left to fill out routing slips.

Yet the staff gets its regular work done. Being a bit smarter than the system, staff members simply don't read most of the trash that comes across their desks, just pass it along.

The institution cited here is not unique. It isn't even unusual. Most large corporations are just as bad. Government agencies and departments are worse.

Let this be considered an exaggeration, consider Xerox Corporation. It, and its now many competitors, gather in dollars like confetti. A ton of paper, at 5 to 15 cents a sheet, can add up to a lot of money.

Nor is "ton" an overstatement. One large oil firm used to receive two tons of communications a day at its head office until kindly outside management consultants sheared it to one ton a day.

Other indications of the madness are the many firms and variety of equipment engaged in destroying company correspondence and records; the private trash firms making a haul; and attempts to shrink the problem by microfilming.

Speed reading, highly touted as the executive's answer to his paper accelerated indefinitely. The outpouring of duplicating machines can be a false assumption: that everyone needs and wants to know. The old Army adage has been misread to mean a systems failure. No such thing, it is simply an expression of sympathy for that one guy down the line.

'Draft' Threat Existed

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

CHICAGO — The presence here of Stephen Smith, the Kennedy family's shrewd political manager and brother-in-law of Sen. Edward M. (Teddy) Kennedy, is the most solid evidence to date that a Kennedy Presidential draft had to be regarded with some seriousness.

Smith slipped unobtrusively into town Sunday with a couple of close friends and a comfortable downtown suite. He has been taking his meals in his room. Only the telephone connects him with the seething outside world of politics.

But Smith's arrival coincided with other significant developments that conceivably could transform this Democratic convention into the most memorable in modern times. The lingering tragedy of Robert Kennedy's assassination and the failure of Vice President Hubert Humphrey to satisfy the delegates made a Kennedy draft a long-shot possibility.

Just how much of a long-shot depends largely on Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago. His decision not to endorse Humphrey yet is tied directly to Kennedy's chances. When Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, a Presidential candidate himself but really a Kennedy booster, chaired privately with Daley Saturday, Daley made no effort to conceal his interest in a Kennedy draft.

Daley told McGovern the Illinois ticket could go down to disaster with Humphrey on top. Consequently, Daley continued, he would wait until the last minute before endorsing Humphrey if, indeed, he endorses him at all.

Daley, this convention's kingmaker, is interested in Kennedy's voter appeal. When he asked John J. Gilligan, Senatorial nominee in Ohio, about a draft movement for President Johnson, Gilligan shot back: "That ace can be trumped — by Teddy Kennedy." Daley thereupon opened a discussion of Kennedy's popularity in Ohio and Illinois.

More important, Daley asked Kennedy intimates whether Ted Kennedy would accept the nomination (a question nobody here, including Smith, could then answer), sitting beside the powerful Chicago Mayor during his private weekend talks with Humphrey and Sen. Eugene McCarthy (whose drive to the nomination has stalled) was Mayor Joe Barr of Pittsburgh, a top leader in Pennsylvania. Though an early Humphrey supporter, Barr is no less disturbed than Daley about the weakness of a Humphrey ticket.

Because of the Kennedy boomlet, the anti-Humphrey rumbles that have been coming from the South are quieter. President Johnson is so deeply worried about Kennedy that he has passed the word to Gov. John Connally of Texas to go easier on Humphrey. The continual downgrading of Humphrey by Southern Democrats is helping to build up the anti-Humphrey mood and hence the groundswell for Kennedy.

Connally and Lawrence F. O'Brien, Humphrey's political manager, exchanged heated words Friday evening over the Humphrey decision to go along with repeal of the traditional unit rule. Deeper than that, Connally has been

Eisenhower Is Taken Off The Critical List

WASHINGTON (AP) — Doctors have taken Dwight D. Eisenhower off the critical list but still describe the outlook for full recovery from repeated heart attacks as uncertain.

The former president and World War II commander had been listed as critical since suffering his seventh heart attack

Aug. 16.

Doctors, reporting Eisenhower has gone four days without major heart irritability, said Wednesday "we no longer view the immediate situation as critical but still view the over-all disease as serious."

But doctors say they can't tell yet whether Eisenhower, 77, will be able to return to his normal active life.

He had returned from a round of golf in Palm Springs, Calif., April 29 when he suffered the first of the four heart attacks which have kept him virtually bedridden for four months.

"Because of the extent of Gen. Eisenhower's underlying coronary artery disease, his present condition must still be considered serious, albeit not necessarily critical at this time," said the afternoon medical bulletin from Walter Reed Army Hospital.

"The long range outlook is still guarded and the potential for sudden reversal of the current favorable trend is ever present," it added.

The general's latest trouble stemmed from spurts of ineffectual heart fluttering called ventricular fibrillation, interspersed with irregular spasms called heart irritability.

The doctors said Wednesday he showed "some further decrease" in the irritability. The day before doctors had expressed "cautious optimism" over Eisenhower's condition.

Even before Eisenhower was taken off the critical list his son, John, and family returned to their home in Phoenixville, Pa. John Eisenhower and the former president's wife, Mamie, were at his side frequently during the critical period.

"Mrs. Eisenhower continues to visit the general for short periods frequently," said the doctors.

"Gen. Eisenhower's spirits remain good and he has been enjoying light background music at intervals through the last 24 hours," said Wednesday's bulletin.

In the old days, the Southern sachs held court in the finest suites. Limousines swept them to and from the sweating halls in cool and regal glory. They are larding the earth these days like fallen Falstaffs. Their buses wind up in the farthest lots. Their air conditioning won't work; their feet hurt; room service won't even deliver ice. No one seems to care.

The hot eyes of the TV boys look to other realms. The convention is overrun with leggy blondes, bearded boys, and afghan demonstrators whose gender is unknown. Their necklaces ring like cowbells. The corridors are crowded with black characters, some of them in amulets and fez. Wherever the Southerners look, their gaze is affronted by Gene McCarthy and for peace in Vietnam.

The saddest aspect of all, in the view of the old-line Southerners, is that the future holds no prospect for restoration of their vanished puissance. With every convention that passes, their proportional voting strength declines. They are asked to make domestic alliances that fairly make them cringe. They have pinned on Humphrey buttons, but they bleed from an aching heart.

Increase Noted

An increase in the corporation filings in the office indicates more business, commercial and industrial activity across the state.

There was a slight drop in 1967 but a healthy increase during the past year. Eure's records show that for the first six months of each respective year, there were 1,696 domestic and 225 foreign corporations filing in 1965. The first six months of this year showed 2,012 domestic and 315 foreign filings.

In June alone there were 316 new businesses incorporated in the state compared to 237 in the same month a year ago.

A childhood on the edge of poverty and a dozen scrabbling years of acting apprenticeship have left Alan with a deep feeling of kinship for the hurt, dislocated dreamers of this world.

"I did all the things most young actors do," he recalled. "I repaired vacuum cleaners, cleaned up offices, taught the guitar."

Percy Flowers Is Cleared Of Bribery Charge

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C. (AP) — Johnston County merchant-farmer J. Percy Flowers was freed by a jury in Eastern District Federal Court Wednesday of a bribery charge.

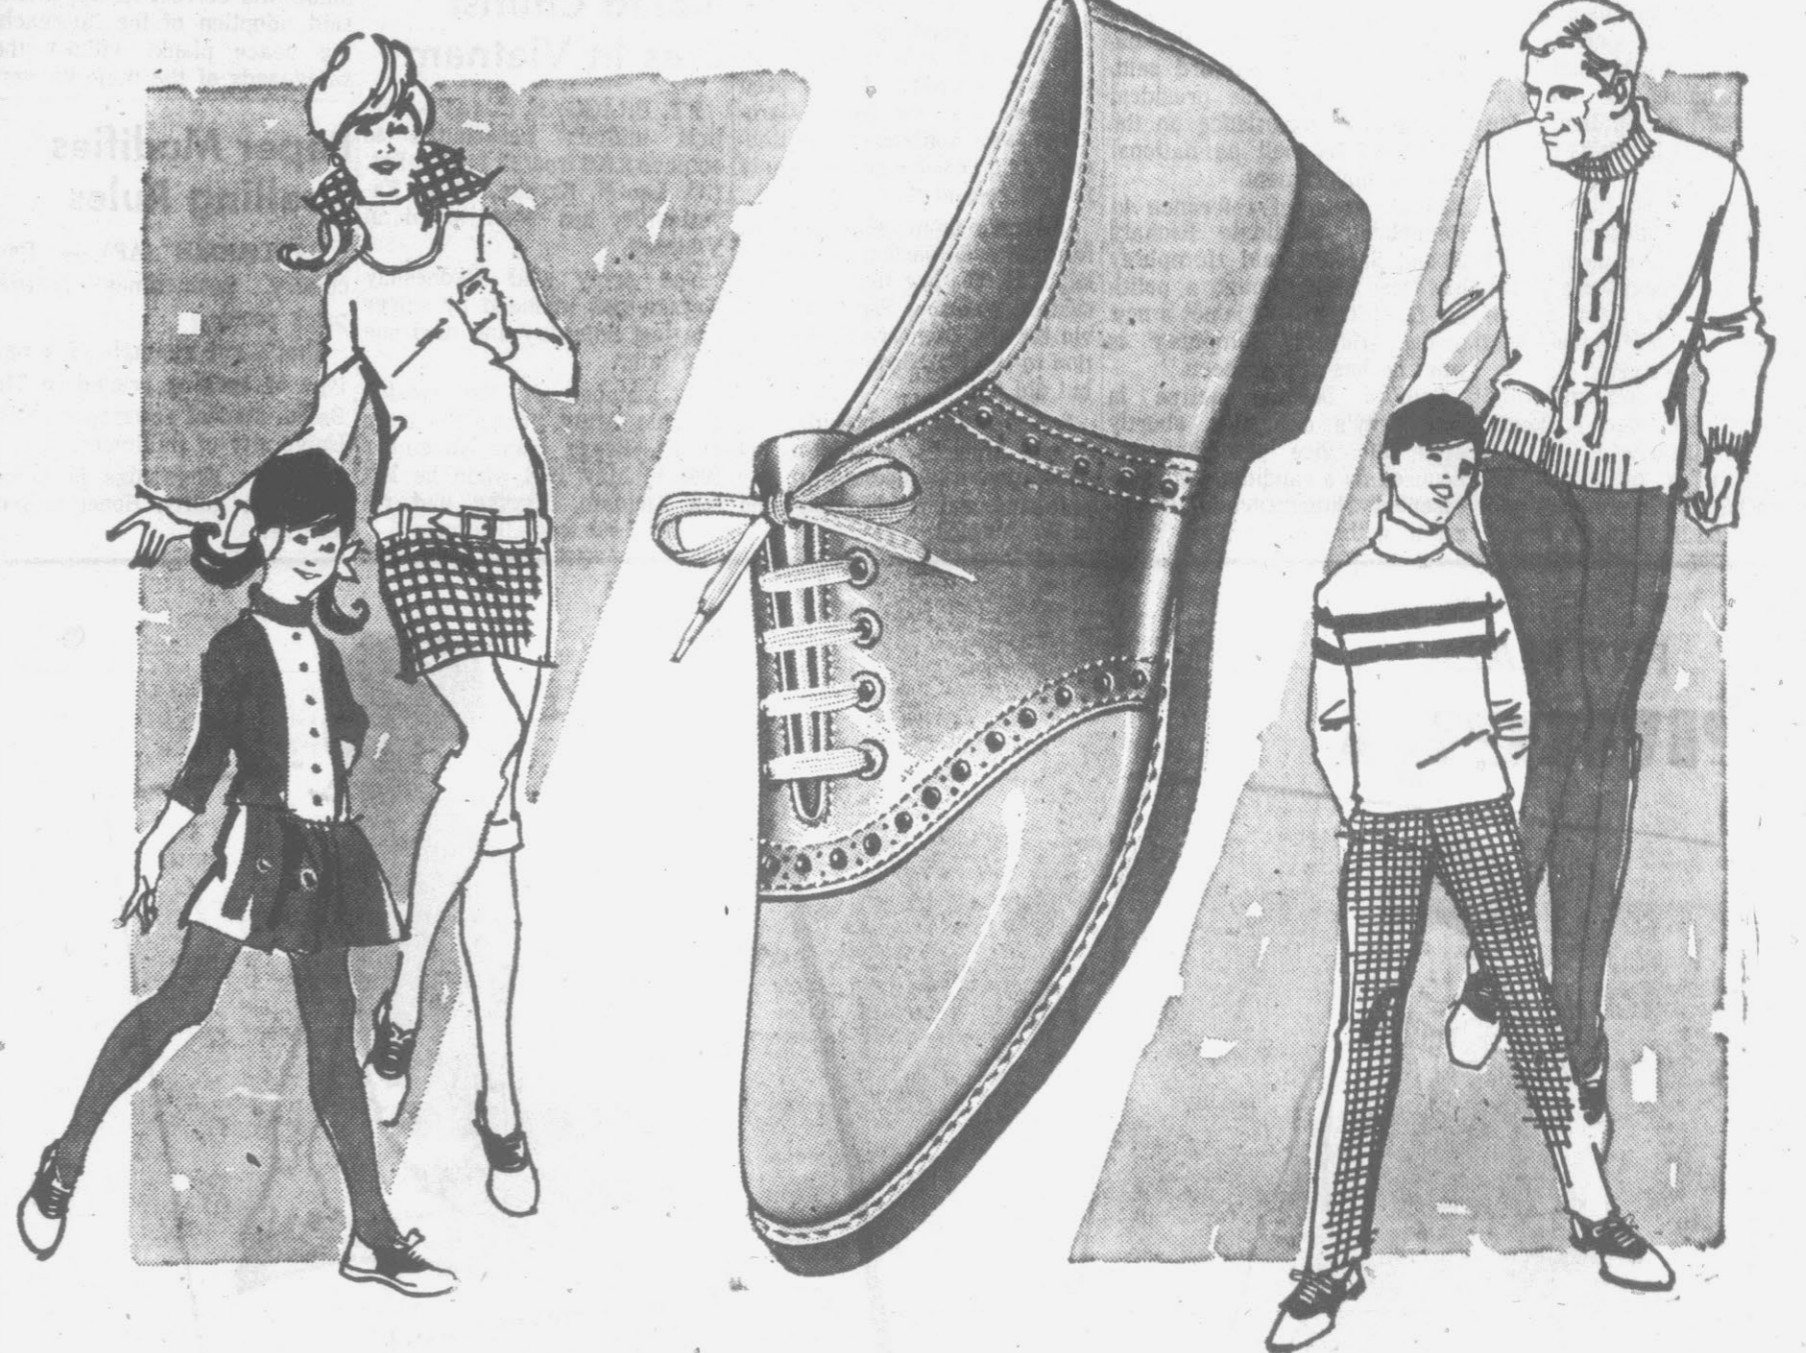

The jury returned its verdict acquitting Flowers after deliberating a little over two hours.

Flowers was accused of offering $20,000 to Wayne Grainger Stanley, 32, of Loris, S. C., to testify falsely at a hearing on Murray Bowman Brown's motion for a new trial.

Stanley, who is serving a five-year sentence in federal prison for interstate transportation of stolen money orders, testified that Flowers offered him the money and promised him a job if Stanley would testify that Brown was innocent of the liquor charge for which he was convicted.

Democrats Far From United On Vietnam Policy

By EDMOND LeBRETON
Associated Press Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — In spite of the defeat of a Vietnam plank proposed by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the Democratic party is far from united on its war policy. The vote Wednesday at the Democratic National Convention was 1,567 1/2 to 1,041 1/4 to defeat a minority report from the Platform Committee calling for an immediate halt in bombing of North Vietnam. This constituted a strong margin of victory for the Humphrey-position calling for conditions before halting the bombing or otherwise de-escalating the war. But the vote also demonstrated the large support of the antiwar forces at the convention and presumably in the party. Moreover, the delegates favoring the bombing halt now demonstrated in defeat the emotional charge of their position. Joined by recruits from the galleries, they staged a folk-singing, snake-dancing demonstration on the convention floor. State standards were draped black and one file of demonstrators carried a long crept streamer. Folk singer Theodore Bikel of the New York delegation led a rendition of "We Shall Overcome" and marchers held hands high, giving the victory sign.

One of the few Humphrey delegates who also favored the peace plank, Rep. Donald Fraser of Minnesota, said frankly, "I don't know what we do next." He said Humphrey must make some move to reconcile the peace-now Democrats and added, "His vice presidential choice could be important."

Richard N. Goodwin, an aide to Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy who served as floor manager for the minority plank, told a news conference the statement the majority adopted was "politically disastrous."

He said, however, that he would vote for Humphrey rather than Republican Richard M. Nixon—"not with much enthusiasm, but I would vote for him."

Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota, another contender for the presidential nomination and a strong supporter of the peace movement, also said he does not accept the plank adopted but would campaign for the party nominee.

Sanford Acquires Fresh Awareness Outside South

CHICAGO (AP)—Terry Sanford, whether or not he is chosen by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey as a running mate, has achieved new recognition among Democrats outside the South. Humphrey is expected to announce—sometime today—his choice for the vice presidential nomination from a list of possible nominees that includes the former North Carolina governor.

In answer to newsmen's questions, Sanford repeatedly has said in recent weeks that he is not campaigning for the vice presidential nomination, but would accept it if it was offered to him. Sanford seconded Humphrey's nomination Wednesday night, saying the vice president would conduct a "hard-hitting Harry Truman campaign against smugness and self-satisfaction for America's future."

Addressing the convention and a national television audience, Sanford also said: "There is a difference between what the Republican party offers and in what the Democrats offer. We build on the splendid record of Franklin Roosevelt, Harry Truman, John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson."

Sanford continued saying, "This is no time for going back... appealing to fears and doubts. This is a time for moving forward, a time for faith and a time for perfecting what has already been achieved."

Humphrey favors "a new kind of federalism to solve the nation's problems," Sanford said, noting that the vice president has political experience on the city level as well as national level of government. In an apparent reference to Republican candidate Richard Nixon, Sanford said Humphrey has "not been through a political facelift—he is not a new model. Hubert Humphrey is what he has always been."

Sanford became active in Humphrey's campaign shortly after the vice president announced as a candidate. He represented Humphrey in Democratic gatherings in New York, New Mexico, Kentucky, Georgia and Rhode Island. Vermont Gov. Philip H. Hoff was one of the first to endorse Sanford for the vice presidential nomination. Democratic chairmen from six Southern states also included Sanford on a list of seven Southerners they could support for the vice presidential nomination.

Sanford, an early supporter of John F. Kennedy for president, has retained some associates of the late president. It has been reported that the North Carolinian was considered by Kennedy as a possible running mate for his second term.

Governor from 1961-1965, Sanford now is partner in a Raleigh, N. C., law firm. He considered opposing Sen. Sam Ervin for the Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate this year but did not.

Sanford also is president of Urban America, a private organization that deals with city problems and is headquartered in Washington.

FT. BRAGG, N. C. (AP)—The first military parachutist to achieve 2,000 freefall jumps, Sgt. I.C. Leo N. Kryskye, 36, of Fayetteville, has been killed in Vietnam.

The Army said Wednesday Kryskye was wounded by sniper fire last Saturday and died one day later. A member of the Golden Knights Army parachute team at Ft. Bragg from November 1966 to May 1968 when he left for Vietnam, Kryskye had recorded 2,803 freefall jumps.

Heavy Enemy Attacks In Vietnam Raise Casualties

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command today reported sharp new fighting in Vietnam and said the resumption of heavy enemy attacks last week brought death to more American, South Vietnamese and enemy troops than in any other week this summer.

U. S. headquarters reported 308 Americans killed in action last week, the highest toll since June 15, and said another 1,144 were wounded. The headquarters said 4,755 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese were slain, the biggest weekly total since May 18.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported 495 government troops killed, their heaviest loss since May 11.

Battle reports from American and South Vietnamese headquarters told of a dozen heavy enemy barrages on military posts and towns, new fighting below the demilitarized zone and northwest of Saigon, and three helicopters shot down in combat.

The biggest battle was 32 miles northwest of Saigon, where U.S. jets and artillery rained fire on a North Vietnamese battalion brought to bay by troops of the 101st Air Cavalry Division.

In a running battle through marshes, jungles and flooded rice paddies, the enemy battalion of perhaps 300 men lost 103 killed, 22 captured and one defected. Sixteen Americans were reported killed and 25 wounded.

By noon, the remnants of the enemy force had given up, the uneven fight although jets and helicopter gunships were still drawing some sporadic fire.

Several miles to the north, U.S. infantrymen from the 25th Division reported killing 19 of an estimated 200 enemy soldiers before the latter broke off a three-hour skirmish seven miles southeast of Tay Ninh. Two Americans were reported wounded.

South Vietnamese troops reported killing 82 enemy soldiers Wednesday in two widely separated clashes, one near the recently besieged Duc Lap Special Forces camp, 125 miles northwest of Saigon, and the other four miles southwest of Vinh Long, in the Mekong Delta. A spokesman said 13 government soldiers were killed and 22 wounded.

U.S. headquarters reported more enemy rocket and mortar attacks in South Vietnam's five northernmost provinces.

One target was the 4th Logistics Command base about two miles northwest of Da Nang. First reports said the 10 rockets that hit there caused only light casualties and damage.

The U.S. Command also confirmed that a missile fired by a U.S. Navy F4 Phantom fighter-bomber accidentally shot another Navy Phantom 12 days ago when the planes were chasing three enemy MIG interceptors over North Vietnam. Both crewmen of the downed Phantom are missing.

The loss was not revealed until newsmen heard of it and asked military spokesmen about it.

The command said the missile was aimed at one of the MIGs but homed in on the American plane instead. The incident occurred northwest of Vinh, the North Vietnamese port about 25 miles below the 19th parallel, and the MIGs escaped across that line, the northern limit set by President Johnson for American air raids.

The Worry Clinic Some Clergy Are Shunning Real Work

Do you laymen realize why many Protestant clergymen want to imitate the Catholic priests regarding their ecclesiastic collars? Discuss this case. For laymen launched the Christian church and apparently must salvage it from the moral decay that is threatening organized religion!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE G-563: Recently I was invited to address a state ministerial meeting.

At the dinner, a couple of the clergymen began to discuss the value of wearing the typical priestly garb and white collar versus the usual business suit. "It's smart to wear the ecclesiastical collar," one of them urged the other.

"For then people will defer to you wherever you go and give you extra favors.

"The policemen, too, will think you are a Catholic priest and wave you on, even if you have been guilty of some minor traffic violation.

"But when you wear an ordinary business suit, nobody knows you are a cleric, so you don't get the breaks!"

A little later during the meal, another clergyman was discussing his new parish.

"I had two choices this year," he began, "so my wife and I visited both parsonages.

"One of them was old and not as well equipped with modern conveniences.

"Besides, this one I selected had a color television which was for the preacher's use, since it went with the parsonage.

"So we immediately picked it."

But the early evangelists' symbol was not a cushion but a cross!

A couple of years ago, Bishop Richard C. Raines, who presided over the Methodist Indiana

Conferences, made a startling statement.

"Our Methodist Church," he said, "needs 3,000 new seminary graduates each year. But only 1,000 are available.

"Of these, not one-third (333) ask to take over a parish as a pulpit clergyman."

Then Bishop Raines mentioned that 1,200 Methodist pulpits each year become vacant, either by death or retirement of their pastors.

So those 1,000 seminary graduates, even if all of them wanted to imitate St. Paul and produce new converts to Christianity at the grassroots level, would still leave 200 churches empty.

He said another 1,200 seminarians are also needed to launch the new churches allotted to the Methodist denomination.

And 600 are requested for salaried jobs as chaplains in the Military Service, or at Hospitals, Nursing Homes, etc.

"Dr. Crane," you might ask, "why don't all those 1,000 seminary graduates want to get out upon the real firing line of life and take over their own parishes?"

"What's wrong with the 667 out of the 1,000 who shun such piecemeal labor where they must produce more conversions and greater attendance, or else be demoted?"

Well, most of our college students in other fields also shun taking any risks but prefer easy sinecure jobs.

Even college professors demand "tenure" so they can't be fired except for flagrant moral turpitude.

Perhaps that clergyman's choice of a new parish on the basis of a color television set, suggests the answer!

For when decay starts at the top of a barrel of apples, it soon reaches the bottom.

So send for my booklet "How to Stimulate Bible Reading," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Extra Hour For Hunting Doves

Dove shooters will be able to take to the fields at 12 noon local time Monday to begin a new dove hunting season.

Wildlife Protector Sam Wright said today that shooting times during the first half of the split season, September 2 through October 5, will be 12 noon to sunset. Wright said the 12 noon starting time is due to federal uniform time law making it 12 noon by the watch where you live. (By Eastern Standard Time, it would be 11 o'clock).

The effect of the uniform time law, and the 12 noon shooting time, is an extra hour hunting for dove enthusiasts.

Daily bag limit for doves is 12, with a possession limit of 24.

Shooting times as well as bag and possession limits, will remain the same for the second half of the dove season—December 7 through January 11—Wright noted, although standard time will be in effect again and the additional hour's shooting will not be available.

Phantoms Open Season Friday Against Bertie

Meet The Phantoms

Kevin Price, left, and Tim Leith are two members of this year's Rose High School football team. Price, a 5-7, 140-pound junior, is a newcomer, and will probably see action as a reserve defensive halfback. Leith, a 6-4, 210-

...pound sophomore, is a tackle. Young, he may see defensive action in the tackle position. Rose opens its season tomorrow night at Bertie County High School. (Reflector Photo)

Falcons Could Prove To Be One Of Toughest Assignments For Phants

Rose High School's Phantoms open their 1968 football season Friday at 3 p.m. against Bertie County High School at Windsor, and the Phants will have one of their toughest assignments of the year with the Falcons.

"We're as ready as we can expect to be," Coach Bud Phillips said. "We will make mistakes, but we'd had to push and the weather hasn't helped us until this week. We kind of have to wait and see what happens."

One of the big problems the Phants may have will be in their defensive secondary. "Most of the time, we'll be using backs who'll also be running on offense, and when we rest them, we'll have to use untested men, and we could get hurt there," Phillips pointed out.

"The interior line is about in the same situation, but we have a better situation at end, with four that have played right much. We also have a new offensive center and quarterback, so we just have to hope for the best."

Phillips feels that the Phants will put up a pretty balanced attack for the game. "We can throw and run, and I hope we'll be able to do plenty of scoring."

"The defense really doesn't look too bad, and if the secondary can hold up, we could be tough," he said. "It's really a question of getting experience, so we can build up some depth. I expect to play a lot of people."

Bertie will probably be the biggest school on the Phantoms' schedule, with a reported 1,400 in the top three grades. "It's big enough to be in 4-A following some consolidation, but it's still classified as a 2-A school," Phillips said.

Most of the Bertie backfield is back from last year, but some of the linemen were lost. The Falcons also have a new coach. "Because of this," Phillips said, "I really don't know what to expect from them. I don't know how he plays, so we're really going into it blind. We'll have to play it by ear."

Phillips feels that the Phants can expect about anything. The quarterback, Jimmy Scrull, throws the ball well, but the coach expects them to mix their plays up well."

While some players are not slated for starting positions, Phillips said that they would see a lot of action. Included in this group are quarterback Joe West, guards Tommy Bland and Steve Williams, defensive backs Bubba Rawl, Walter Gould, Fred Jackson and Vic Stanfield. Gary Bryant will handle PAT's and kickoffs, with Kyle Hodges handling punts.

Offensive starters include Harrison Gaskins and Mike Harrington at ends, Ralph Vincent and Richard Tucker at tackles, Mike Adams and Frank Saunders at guards, Mack Farrow at center, Tommy Jamieson at quarterback, Hodges and either Linwood Ferguson or Greg Williams at halfback and David Harrington at fullback.

On defense, starters will be Bill Rivers and Louis Gaylord at ends, Vincent and Adams at tackles, Ed Bartlett and Tucker at guards, Lewis Girley at middle linebacker, Ferguson at rover, Hodges and Williams at halfbacks and Russ Smith at safety.

Jets Feel They Will No Longer Be A Bridesmaid; After The Title

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) — The New York Jets fast are becoming the San Francisco Giants of football.

Until the power-laden St. Louis Cardinals came along, the Giants seemed to be given the best chance to win the National League pennant each year. They frequently came close but always managed to find a way to miss out.

For the past couple of seasons, the Jets have been considered the team most likely in the American Football League's Eastern Division, primarily because of Joe Namath. But each time they have failed to wind up on top.

Take 1966, for example. The Jets started out well, winning four and tying one of their first five games. They finished the season 6-6-2.

Last year Weeb Ewbank's forces were 5-1-1, than 7-2-1. Then they lost their next three games, and Houston wound up on top.

The Jets again are considered a leading contender, and they firmly believe the outcome will be different this time.

"A year ago we coaches thought we could do it," Ewbank said, "but convincing young men—that's something else. But when we came so close everyone was kicking themselves. They realized they should've believed it in training camp. I think they're confident now."

They would be more confident, though, if they knew how Emerson Boozer's knee will stand up during the season. Boozer was one of the most brilliant backs in the league for the first eight games in 1967, scoring 13 touchdowns.

Then he tore knee ligaments and still is recovering from an off-season operation. The Jets hoped the halfback would be ready by the start of the season, but a month in the National Guard cost him the first few weeks of training camp.

Now he's working out on the sidelines, and the Jets can only hope he'll be able to play by Sept. 15.

Billy Mathis has been playing in his spot, but Mathis is no Boozer. The Jets are better off at fullback where Matt Snell is attempting a comeback from torn knee cartilage. If Snell doesn't make it, though, the Jets have rookie Lee White of Weber State who has looked good.

The running attack, of course, is what the Jets must come up with if they are to reach the top. In Namath, they have all the passing punch they need.

The long-haired quarterback passed for a pro record 4,007 yards last season, most of them to George Sauer, Don Maynard and Pete Lammons.

Namath has his usual knee problem—his left knee was operated on—but his arm always seems to overcome the adversity.

While worrying about Boozer's and Namath's knees, though, the Jets also must be concerned with their defense, which allowed 329 points last year, only 42 less than the offense scored.

The soundest segment of the defense is the linebacking trio of Larry Grantham, Al Atkinson and Ralph Baker while Gerry Philbin is a top end.

What the Jets need is a major comeback from end Vernon Biggs and a minor one from tackle Paul Rochester plus a strong showing from tackle John Elliott.

The secondary should be improved since Bill Baird, John Sample, Jim Hudson and Randy Beverly had a chance to work together last season.

Gibson Gets Revenge Over Pittsburgh

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bob Gibson is not the type of guy to hold a grudge, but you'd never know it the way he treated the Pittsburgh Pirates only four days after they turned on him.

Pittsburgh, after scoring only one run in two losses to Gibson, ruined his 15-game winning streak last Saturday by scoring two unearned runs in the ninth inning.

The fireballing St. Louis Cardinals right-hander didn't forget that disappointment, about the only one he has had in a sensational season. Wednesday night, he got his revenge.

Gibson made the Pirates his 11th shutout victim this season by cutting them down four hits and striking out 14 as the Cardinals romped to an 8-0 victory.

His latest sparkler, raising his record to 19-6, also put Gibson back on the road toward the Cy Young Award and ended the Cardinals' brief spin en route to their second consecutive pennant.

The Cardinals' distance from the rest of the league stood at 11 games over Cincinnati and San Francisco after the Reds swept the New York Mets 8-3 and 5-2 in a two-night doubleheader and the Giants nudged Houston 4-3 in the afternoon.

Atlanta won a two-nighter from Philadelphia 9-2 and 2-1 and the Chicago Cubs beat Los Angeles 7-4 before losing 8-4 in another two-night twinbill.

In the American League Detroit blasted California 6-1, Washington upended Baltimore 3-2, Oakland tumbled Boston 5-3, Cleveland downed Minnesota 3-2 and the Chicago White Sox stumped the New York Yankees 3-0.

Gibson, so outstanding that he is making his 20- and 21-victory years of 1965 and 1966 look like bad seasons, was the master again as the Pirates bowed to him. They never got a runner past second base. He issued two of his three walks to open the fifth, but then struck out the side.

The shutout gave him the St. Louis club record for shutouts breaking Mort Cooper's mark of 10 in one season.

Gibson also capped a five run fourth inning with a two-run single. Orlando Cepeda hammered his 14th homer for the first three runs off Bob Vealer, 10-13. Cepeda singled in another run in the sixth and Julian Javier stroked his second homer in the eighth as the Cardinals came to life after two straight shut out losses.

Cincinnati moved one percentage point ahead of the Giants as Gerry Arrigo scattered eight hits behind a 15-hit attack in the opener and Gary Nolan cracked a two-run double and teamed with Clay Carroll on a five-hitter in the nightcap.

Don Cardwell had retired the first 13 Reds in the second game and led 1-0 before Nolan capped a three-run uprising in the fifth inning with his double. He gave up only three hits before leaving in the eighth, leaving Carroll to protect his seventh consecutive victory over the Mets.

After Ray Sadecki had given Houston three runs by walking in one run and wild pitching two others home in the fourth, the Astros gave the Giants the winner in the ninth when Jim Hart's infield hit and three walks forced in the run.

Atlanta unloaded 19 hits against the Phillies in their opener, including three each by Felipe Alou and Hank Aaron, a homer and a single by Deron Johnson and winner George Stone's two run-scoring singles.

Aaron, playing first base in the nightcap for the first time in his major league career, hit his 25th homer for a 1-1 tie and then Johnson singled in Alou with the winning run in the eighth inning. Pat Jarvis, 14-9, got the victory with a three-hitter.

Ernie Banks keyed a six-run Cubs' uprising in the first inning of the first game with a two-run single, but the Dodgers scored six runs of their own in the eighth inning of the nightcap to overcome a 4-2 deficit. Ken Boyer struck the big blow, a pinch three-run double for a 6-4 lead.

LUCERNE, Que. (A) — Gordon Taylor of Montreal shot a net 66 Wednesday to win the U.S. Seniors Cup among the 36 competitors, all 55 or older. John Dorwin, Greenwich, Conn., was second with a 68 net.

Ayden Opens Season Friday

AYDEN — The Ayden Tornadoes get the jump on the rest of the area football teams tomorrow night, when they play host to Gaston High School, at 8 p.m. in Ayden.

All of the other area schools, Farmville, Robersonville, Grifton, Sugg, South Ayden and Greene Central, open up next week.

The Tornadoes, the defending Eastern Class A champions, will be seeking to extend their winning streak, currently the longest in the nation. Right now, they have 40 victories in a row behind them, covering three straight undefeated seasons.

A win over Gaston will be the stepping stone to the start of another perfect year, and their 41st in a row.

"I don't know a thing about them," Coach Bill Klutz said. "Since they haven't played, it'll be a shot in the dark."

Klutz said he talked to the coach who last played them in 1967, and understood that the Gaston team had switched from the "T" formation to the single wing midway through the year.

"We don't know what to expect, so we've had to prepare for both types of offense," Klutz said that he feels that his defense is better than last year's since so many starters are back, seven of the 11. "We know what the boys can do this year, whereas we didn't last year at this time."

Offensively, he expects the Tornadoes to be just as good. "We'll have Alan Wilson in at quarterback, with George Booth and Jerry Gibson at halfbacks. I'm undecided about the fullback. It will either be Bill Babbington or Danny Oakley."

Also slated to see action are halfbacks Vernon Warren and Jackie Eason. "We should have a real strong running attack. We won't have the long touchdown pass, but we'll be able to do a lot of running and hit on the short pass," he said.

Spiders Are No Loser Any More

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

(Last of a series)

A few years back, the Richmond Spiders held the longest extant losing streak in the country. After edging East Carolina, 22-20, in 1964, the Spiders lost 19 games before finally beating Davidson, 23-17, in 1966.

Last season, the Spiders were 5-5, beating VMI, Davidson, Furman, The Citadel and William & Mary. And Coach Frank Jones feels that the best is still to come.

However, seniors Joe Kellum and Mike Bixionnes are the prime candidates to do most of the carrying. Sophs Jerry Mauro and Frank Olejack should see a lot of action. All are halfbacks.

At fullback, junior Jim Crenshaw, junior Mike Dussault and sophomore Pat Morris are the primary candidates for the job.

"We have a lot of young players, and this will give us the depth we need," Jones said. "We have 18 lettermen back, but we lost nearly all of our line. I believe we have adequate replacements, however."

Centers include Eddie Barnes, Chuck Hall, Dave Criswell and Steve Milling. Tackles will come from the likes of Bill Fazioli, Wayne Fowler, Brian Britton, Dick Williamson, Bob Szelata, Willard Arthur, Bruce Karsada, John Barelli, and Joe Makosky.

Among the guards are Charles Bova, Steve Whitman, Charles Tysinger, Bob Haggerty, Ronnie Smith, Harry Norris.

"We'll be better," Jones promised. "We will be bigger, faster and quicker. We have tough opponents, and I have to favor East Carolina for the title, but VMI will be a dark horse."

Probably the biggest loss suffered by Richmond is that of kicker Mike Bragg. Drafted by the Washington Redskins, Bragg averaged 41.4 yards per punt last year, and was the second leading scorer on the team with 16 extra points and three field goals for 25 points. "A good kicker means so much to us," Jones said. "He is going to be very hard to replace."

Govm't Taking View Of 'Inside News' Profits

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Recent government moves against the misuse for profit of corporate inside information indicates the government is getting awfully tough to work with or that things are really bad in Wall Street. It could be both.

Inside information, broadly speaking, is private knowledge of corporate affairs that should be public knowledge. Generally it is information which enables a trader to buy or sell in advance of a major change in stock prices.

The classic case involves Texas Gulf Sulphur Co. Knowledge of a big metal ore strike in Ontario, the Securities and Exchange Commission claims, enabled corporate officials and friends to make a stock market killing a few years ago.

But there have been other less publicized charges against insiders and there is little doubt that what reaches the surface is only a part of the picture.

The use of inside information is not an uncommon practice in the securities business. In fact, such information is the goal of securities analysts and the managers of today's big mutual funds, among others.

Now the rules are changing, and the SEC is shouting it out: Corporate information that involves the fortunes of publicly held company should be made available to all shareholders, not to a privileged few.

Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, says the SEC, obtained information through a privileged position with Douglas Aircraft Co. that the firm's earnings were going to be less than had been forecast.

The brokerage house, the SEC said, passed on this information to some of its biggest customers and enabled them to sell before the knowledge became widespread. In addition, it continued to accept orders for the stock from other customers, the SEC said. Merrill Lynch says it is innocent of the charges.

Should these charges be proved by the SEC in a highly publicized case the result could be shattering to the confidence of the nation's 24 million investors. But benefits could accrue also if privilege is eliminated.

Merrill Lynch isn't just another broker. It is everyone's firm and its 1.1 million customers may be found almost everywhere. Its influence is widespread; its reputation shines; its name, in fact, is a household word.

The case is bound to raise doubts about the habits and methods of brokers, for Merrill Lynch has long held a very special position in the investment world. It has a reputation for encouraging and instructing small investors.

This most recent case by the SEC also brings up questions regarding the size, power and influence of institutions such as billion-dollar mutual funds.

In the performance game, which requires that a fund always try to show at any one time better percentage gains than its neighbor, the quest for information, perhaps even inside information, is part of the battle.

It brings up the question also of the close association of corporate executives and large purchasers of the firm's stock. In this day of acquisitions it is necessary to keep high the price of shares, and one way to do this is to court the big funds.

What is it that the corporate executives tell the funds that the fund's shouldn't already know through the regular public information channels?

Johnson Cheers Humphrey Choice

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, applauding the convention that endorsed his Vietnam war policy and nominated his vice president, is thought likely to appear at the convention tonight to anoint the Democratic ticket.

In keeping with Johnson's preference for secrecy, there was no official advance word on any plans to attend the Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

But the President discarded the cloak of impartiality he's worn, sometimes restively, the past few weeks and commended the nomination of Hubert H. Humphrey as the party's standard-bearer.

"Now that the party has nominated an excellent and especially well-qualified candidate for president, President Johnson said that all Democrats will unite behind him and move forward to victory in the election," said press secretary George Christian at the Texas White House.

Christian said Johnson called Humphrey to offer congratulations as soon as the President watched the vice president get the nomination on television.

Johnson's statement noted "all viewpoints have been expressed at the convention."

Johnson didn't refer to the Vietnam platform plank considered a victory for his administration. But on his 60th birthday Tuesday he had said he hoped the positions of the major parties on the war "will not be too divergent."

That way, he explained, the world won't have to wait until November to find out America's course in Vietnam.

Before the nominating speeches began Wednesday in Chicago, delegates heard Johnson's telegram reaffirming he will not run for re-election.

"That decision," said the telegram, "was and is irrevocable."

 2 ♣ Pass 3 NT Pass
 Pass Pass

Opening lead: King of ♠
 The above hand produced a substantial swing in a World's Championship match between the United States and France a few seasons back.

When the Americans were seated North and South, the bidding proceeded as indicated in the diagram. North opened with one heart and South responded with one spade. Over the two-club rebid, South jumped directly to three no trump. Holding 14 high card points, he had ample with which to insist on a game contract—facing an opening bid.

West opened the king of diamonds and, when East signaled vigorously with the eight, West continued with the five. His partner put up the queen which held the trick. East was careful to cash the ace of spades before returning another diamond. The defense took, in all, four diamonds and one spade to register a 100-point profit on the deal.

At the other table, the French player in the South seat adopted a more delicate approach during the auction. The first three calls were exactly the same; however, South was a bit reluctant to make a jump rebid in no trump with only a tenuous stopper in diamonds. He chose to temporize by bidding two diamonds—a one-round force.

Altho the diamond suit is not technically biddable, inasmuch as it is headed merely by the jack, South wished to obtain further information concerning his partner's holding. If, for example, North was able to bid two no trump himself, South would feel more comfortable about accepting that contract.

Over two diamonds, North showed a preference for his partner's first bid by returning to two spades. South dallied no further and proceeded directly to game in spades. The defense was routinely limited to two tricks, one diamond and one spade.

The vulnerable game was worth 650 points to the French (150 for the trick score plus a 500-point bonus), and the 100-point set recorded at the other table swelled their profit on the deal to 750 points.

Not Landlord's, But Tenant Responsibility

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
 DEAR ABBY: We have always owned our own home and have recently started renting, and we have a question to ask. In a rented house, WHO is supposed to pay for putting up and taking down the screens and storm windows? The owner or the tenant?

RENTING
 DEAR RENTING: Unless it is specifically stated in the contract, the tenant usually assumes that responsibility. (If he doesn't he is probably trying to pass the buck — or save one.)

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is 20 years old. She had a mental breakdown 6 months ago and spent 12 weeks in a hospital. She's home now. She's not working, but she dates regularly as she is a very pretty girl. We have not met any of the fellows she has gone out with as she meets them somewhere else. Last night she stayed out all night and we were worried sick.

Our daughter is still in therapy, so I called her psychiatrist asking if we could lay down two rules of dating.
 (1) He dates MUST pick her up at home so we can at least meet them.
 (2) No more staying out all night.

The psychiatrist said, NO. If we were to impose such rules on her she might do something to harm herself. My husband agrees with the psychiatrist. I do not. Where do you stand?

PUBLIC NOTICES
EXECUTRIX NOTICE TO CREDITORS
 Having qualified as Executrix of the Estate of W. Ivey Jenkins, late of Pitt County, North Carolina, this is to notify all persons having claims against the estate of said deceased to exhibit them to the undersigned at Ayrden, North Carolina, or her attorney in Ayrden, North Carolina, on or before the 16th day of February, 1969, or this notice will be pleaded in bar of their recovery. All persons indebted to said estate, please make immediate payment.
 This the 12th day of August, 1968.
 Clara M. Jenkins, Executrix
 Of W. Ivey Jenkins Estate
 Robert Booth, Attorney
 Ayrden, N. C.
 August 15, 22, 29, Sept. 5, 1968

MOTHER
 DEAR MOTHER: I stand with you (and so do three competent psychiatrists with whom I have consulted about your problem). Unless your daughter's psychiatrist has more information about your daughter than you have and is reasonably certain that you have no cause to worry, she may already be doing something to "harm" herself.

As long as your daughter is under 21, and living at home, she should abide by the rules you set. Yours are certainly not unreasonable.

DEAR ABBY: Here is one for the books. We have wealthy relatives living in a distant city. We rarely see them, but at Christmastime we do exchange greeting cards.

Last Christmas we discovered they used second-hand Christmas cards! Their name and address sticker was used to cover up the other signature. We couldn't believe what we were seeing, as they are in the millionaire class. As for ourselves, we are just moderately fixed.

Now the important question: What would you have done?
Postal Holiday
 Greenville Postmaster Joseph C. Dudley today reminded the Greenville Post Office and ECU Station will be closed Monday (Labor Day).
 Some services will be provided.
 Special Delivery mail will be delivered within the city; all mail for post office boxes will be delivered to the boxes; and a city-wide collection from street letter boxes (beginning at 5:00 p.m. will be made with all outgoing mail making the usual dispatch.
 However, Dudley said there will be no rural or city deliveries Monday, and there will be no window service.

Act To Possibly Curb Water-Use

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Board of Water and Air Resources has taken the first step toward possible restriction on water use by Texas Gulf Sulphur Co. and other industrial firms to prevent salt water contamination of fresh water supplies.

The board set a hearing for Oct. 25 in Washington, N. C., to consider specific water use regulations. If adopted, the regulations would not be effective before April 15.

The board described 5,500 square miles of land in seven eastern counties as a "capacity use area" where total industrial and private use of water is threatening to reach "a degree which requires coordination and regulation."

The area includes all of Beaufort, Pamlico, and Washington counties and portions of Carteret, Craven, Hyde and Tyrrell counties.

Officials said saline water could eventually seep into the fresh water in these counties and render it unfit for human consumption if some restrictions are not imposed.

The board's action to consider restrictions on large-scale water users was based on a 12-month study of the impact phosphate mining operations by Texas Gulf have had on the area's water supply.

FBI Investigating Charge Of Interference With Newsmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI has launched an investigation of what a Democratic congressman labels "unnecessary and violent interference" with reporters at the Democratic National Convention.

Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark ordered the investigation Wednesday and Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., urged the attorney general to send investigators immediately "to fully evaluate the performance of the Chicago Police Department and the Illinois National Guard."

Moss is chairman of the House subcommittee on government information.

More than 24 newsmen said they were roughed up Monday and Tuesday covering demonstrations of the convention. Several incidents were shown on national television. "Indications of serious violations of civil rights guaranteed under both the Constitution and the civil rights acts of the past several years appear rampant in Chicago," said Moss, who saw some of the incidents while watching television at his Washington home.

"Unnecessary and violent interference with the reporting of bonafide news of great national import is particularly disturbing," said Moss.

Chicago Mayor Richard Daley said, "The security is needed to prevent violence. The same forces creating disorder outside the convention hall are creating it inside."

"Who is creating the disorder Mr. Mayor?" asked a newsmen. "You are," replied Daley.

Clark didn't elaborate on his announcement launching the investigation, but it was expected to cover all phases of security arrangements in Chicago—federal, state, local and private.

Tom Corpora of United Press International said he was arrested after demanding the name of a police officer who Corpora said had insulted him. Photographer Jean Vassal of France was thrown into a police van.

Plant Slated At Kings Mountain

KINGS MOUNTAIN, N. C. (AP)—Oxford Industries of Atlanta has announced plans to construct a $2.5 million, 200,000 square foot knit-goods plant at Kings Mountain.

The facility, to be completed by next summer would employ 700 persons, 90 per cent of whom are expected to be women. The firm will manufacture men's and women's knit shirts and sweaters.

MORE MINORITIES
 NEW YORK (AP) — The proportion of Negroes and Puerto Ricans among City University freshmen increases from 12 to 20 per cent this fall term, Chancellor Albert H. Bowker says. He predicts the rise would go to 26 per cent in 1969.

Four Tar Heels Among Casualties

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four North Carolina servicemen were included Wednesday on the Pentagon's latest list of Vietnam war casualties.

Listed as killed in action were: 1st Lt. John A. Connell, son of Suzanne S. Connell of Southport; Cpl. Thomas J. Walker, husband of Rebecca Y. Walker of West Gastonia; and Spec. 4 Lewis Nance, husband of Bellivina C. Nance of Charlotte.

Said to have died of wounds was Pfc. Kinsey A. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. George K. Davis of Dover.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets steady Wednesday. Supplies barely adequate on large and mediums, fully adequate on smalls, demand fair. Price paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A large whites: 51 1/2 to 53; medium, whites: 43 to 45; small, whites: 24 to 26.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—The North Carolina hog market was steady today. Tops of 18.75-19.50 Wilson; 19.75 Greensboro, Salisbury; 19.25-19.75 Bethel, 19.25 Siler City, Denton; 18.75-19.75 Tarboro.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market declined unevenly this afternoon in fairly active trading.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was down .62 at 893.03.

The market remained on a fairly even keel during most of the morning, then scattered weakness tipped the scales to the downside slightly.

Losses outnumbered gains by about 100 issues on the New York Stock Exchange.

It was a cautious market but showed no immediate reaction to the news of fraud charges against the biggest brokerage house, Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith. The market was closed Wednesday for another of its series of recesses to enable brokerage firms to catch up with paper work.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .7 at 332.1 with industrials up .1, rails off 1.5, and utilities unchanged. Control Data, badly battered in several recent sessions, was up more than a point as the most-active stock, justifying the opinion of some market technicians that it would find support around the 125 price level.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were irregularly higher.

Architectural Firm's Proposed New Building Shown

PROPOSED BUILDING . . . An artist's rendering shows the proposed office building planned for the corner of Reade and First Streets to be built by George M. Smart and Charles E. Woodall.

By RONALD GOLLOBIN
Reflector Staff Writer

The partnership of Smart and Woodall was recognized this morning as a qualified bidder by the Redevelopment Commission here.

George M. Smart and Charles E. Woodall showed the commissioners plans for a proposed two-story office building to be built at the corner of Reade and First Streets.

The proposed office building has two pedestrian entrances, one on First Street and one on Reade St. The building would be built of brick and glass for the bottom floor and a curtain wall covering for the top floor. The building is designed to look much the same from all four sides.

Construction would start within 12 to 18 months, if the plans were approved, according to Smart.

Bids on the parcel were opened at 11:00 this morning, and Smart and Woodall were the only bidders on the piece of land. The minimum price was set at $17,394.82. Smart and Woodall's bid was $17,400.

Included in the plans for the proposed building are 28 parking spaces in a lot next to the proposed building.

Architect George M. Smart told the commissioners "We want to make a contribution to Greenville. We chose Greenville because it is the most progressive town in Eastern N. C., and we want to grow up with the town."

According to Smart, the top floor of the building will be used almost entirely by the architectural firm of Smart and Woodall Associates. The ground floor of the proposed building would be used for rental office space.

Street Plans . . .

(Continued From Page 1) tion can be taken. The Moore property has previously been annexed and the motion for business zoning was approved.

Charles Gaskins, in an action requesting business zoning for a 1,000 feet section, 300 feet deep on N. C. 11 at Road 1134, will be asked to request this section be annexed to the city before zoning can be considered.

City Engineer Holiday was directed to take steps to have Greenville city limit signs erected at places where such signs do not exist or do not accurately reflect current city limits.

Dillon Watson presented the preliminary study for the Recommended Zoning Ordinance for the city of Greenville. Board members are to review the preliminary study and will consider changes, recommendations and additions at a later meeting.

The Senior Choir Club of Holly Hill FWB Church will meet the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwards, Born Hill Avenue at 5:30 p.m. Sunday.

Mrs. Mary M. Taft and mother have returned home from Norfolk, Va. after spending several days with relatives and friends.

The St. Rest Holiness Church will observe Pastor Anniversary Sunday night at 8 o'clock with the Rev. Dudley of Goldsboro as guest minister.

Leaving Hospital Soon To Face Multiple Charges

DURHAM — A Winterville man, facing multiple charges brought against him following a lengthy highway chase around Pitt County early Monday, is expected to be released from Duke University Hospital here this week after undergoing an operation to correct head and facial injuries.

Physicians attending Clifton Worthington, 65, of Route 1, Winterville, at Duke Hospital said the man underwent surgery late Wednesday night to correct a skull and facial fractures. Doctors described him as doing "quite well" and said he may leave the hospital "this week."

Worthington was allegedly injured in a fight with highway patrolmen early Monday morning as the officers attempted to stop a car which he was driving.

Charged with hit-and-run driving, assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill, failure to stop for a blue light and siren and resisting arrest, Worthington allegedly forced a Farmville police car off a highway near Joyner's Cross Roads, causing an estimated $100 damage to the car, allegedly failed to stop for highway patrolmen who attempted to force the car to a halt in Edgecombe County after Farmville policemen, using a private car they had commandeered, had chased Worthington from Joyner's Cross Roads to Greenville, then back to Falkland.

Taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital following his arrest, Worthington signed himself out of the Greenville hospital and sought treatment at Duke University Hospital.

SAIGON (AP) — Almost unanimously, top-ranking American staff officers in Vietnam today welcomed the Democratic National Convention's refusal to endorse an unconditional halt in the bombing of North Vietnam.

"You won't find anyone around here who wants to halt the bombing," one officer said. Top South Vietnamese officials also expressed gratification privately. There was no official comment from President Nguyen Pan Thieu.

With the current bombing policy generally endorsed by the platforms of both U.S. parties, soldiers in Vietnam tended to react to the Democratic nomination of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey according to their personal politics.
