SCOTT WINS RACE FOR GOVERNOR

NEXT N.C. GOVERNOR Bob Scott and his wife Jessie Rae wave to their people at Scott campaign headquarters. The Democrat defeated GOP candidate James Gardner. (AP Wirephoto)

RALEIGH (AP) — Democrat Lt. Gov. Bob Scott, given a cushion of votes from the coastal plains and the populous counties of the Piedmont, survived a heavy anti-Humphrey vote Tuesday and was elected governor of North Carolina.
The 39-year-old dairy farmer from Haw River, whose father won the governor's office 20 years ago, withstood a vigorous challenge from Republican Congressman Jim Gardner, who was attempting to become the first GOP governor in 68 years. He came close.

The latest returns compiled by The Associated Press from 2,152 of the state's 2,198 precincts gave Scott 790,528 votes and Gardner 716,005.
In the presidential race, Vice President Hubert Humphrey ran last, trailing winner Republican Richard Nixon and third party candidate George Wallace. A breakdown in computer programming showed Gardner running much closer during the late night and early morning hours than he actually was.

This system failure had the 35-year-old Rocky Mount businessman inching to within less than 7,000 votes of Scott. The margin was much larger.
Two decades ago, salty Kerr Scott won the governorship and later went to the U.S. Senate. It was in the eastern section where he built voting strength with his so-called "branchhead boys," who now are older and slower but who worked and won for the son of the man "who took us out of the mud."

It was the industrial Piedmont, where Scott survived a Republican trend, that gave Nixon the state's 13 presidential votes and the GOP a gain of one in the U.S. House.
The presidential campaign played an integral part in the outcome as Gardner's attempt to weld a coalition of Nixon and Wallace support fell apart at the seams.

He had said during the campaign he found nothing to criticize in what third party presidential candidate George Wallace had to say. Although Wallace ran strong in the east, he didn't carry Gardner along.
Gardner also apparently was hurt in the Piedmont by his stand on Wallace and his break with Nixon at the Republican National Convention.

NIXON WINS

By JACK BELL and BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Richard M. Nixon was elected 37th President of the United States today, bursting by Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey with narrow windup victories in California, Illinois and Ohio.

The 55-year-old former vice president went over the top at 11:35 a.m. EST by capturing Illinois' 26 electoral votes for a total of 287 votes in the Electoral College.
Earlier, he closed in on the White House by taking his native California with 40 electoral votes and Ohio with its 26 votes.

With four states still in doubt — Alaska, Maryland, Missouri and Washington — Nixon had put together a dramatic victory over Humphrey with 30 states in his electoral column.
The popular-vote race was a virtual deadlock and the final result was delayed for hours after the polls had closed.
In New York, Nixon stopped short of claiming victory. He apparently was awaiting a statement of concession from Humphrey.
George C. Wallace of the American Independent party stated statement of concession from Humphrey.
George C. Wallace of the American Independent party was a distant third.
Shortly after 10 a.m. Humphrey placed a telephone call to his Republican rival for the presidency.

Now, six years later, he has won the White House with 17 more electoral votes than needed. The incomplete votes from the other four states could add to his total.
Humphrey had been given almost no chance until a few days ago of beating Nixon.
In the end, he almost matched the Republican in votes, but he trailed by more than 100 votes in the Electoral College.
At 11:43 a.m. EST the popular vote stood: Nixon, 29,161,040, or 43 per cent; Humphrey, 28,925,270, also 43 per cent, and Wallace 9,068,846, or 13 per cent.
The electoral vote at that time was Nixon 287, Humphrey 172 and Wallace 45. Four states with 34 votes remained undecided.
The Republican President will have to work with a Democratic Congress.

In the Senate, Republicans picked up a net gain of four seats but fell short of taking control. With a tight race in Oregon still undecided, the lineup was 58 Democrats and 41 Republicans.
In the House, Republicans scaled down by five seats a commanding Democratic edge. The final result was expected to be 243 Democrats and 192 Republicans.

Scott And Wallace Shared Top Votes In Pitt Turnout

By STUART SAVAGE Reflector Staff Writer
American Independence Party presidential candidate George C. Wallace led other presidential hopefuls in Pitt County yesterday as usually-Democratic voters here gave Wallace 9,243 votes.

Even though Wallace led the presidential race in the county, democratic party nominees came out on top in contests with Republican opponents, in state races.
In the balloting for the president, Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey was in second place with 7,695 votes while Republican Richard Nixon took third spot on the ticket with 5,744 votes.
Wallace took 19 of the counties 26 precincts — most of them in rural areas surrounding the City of Greenville. He managed to top the two major party candidates in only two Greenville boxes, precincts one and five.
Democrat Humphrey took three Greenville precincts, numbers three (Third St. School), four (West End Fire Station), and six (Fifth St. Fire Station), with his largest lead coming in Greenville 3 where he received 567 votes as compared to Nixon's 57 and 60 for Wallace.
Nixon, took the remaining

County Shatters Past Records In Voter Turnout

Pitt County's turn out of voters yesterday was astounding as compared with previous elections.
Based on unofficial tabulations compiled by The Daily Reflector 22,601 persons cast ballots in the presidential campaign yesterday. There are 26,076 registered voters in the county and this would indicate that 86 percent of those registered voted.
The number voting is far ahead of the turnout in the spring primaries and in the general election of 1964.
The combined total for all Democratic and Republican gubernatorial candidates in the spring was 16,836.
In the 1964 election when Lyndon Johnson and Barry Goldwater were running their combined total was 16,455.

The heavy turnout of voters seemed to be consistent in all precincts yesterday, rural and urban. Pactolus, which had a combined gubernatorial vote of 423 in the spring primary, had 775 votes for the presidential candidates yesterday.
Winterville had 1,130 in the spring and 1,603 yesterday. Farmville with 1,860 in the spring had 2,267 yesterday. Grimesland 2 with 397 in the spring showed 532 yesterday. Ayden with 1,508 in the spring had 2,073 yesterday.
Greenville 7 (Elm St. Gym) had 1,311 in the spring and 1,753 yesterday. Greenville 9 (Gardner Fire Station) had 1,148 in the spring and 1,511 yesterday.

He turned to friends in his Minneapolis hotel suite and said: "I don't want any sympathy from any of you."
Nixon's victory reversed, in a sense, his razor-thin loss to John F. Kennedy in the 1960 presidential race.
It also completed a remarkable political comeback.
After losing to Kennedy, Nixon was beaten by Edmund G. (Pat) Brown for the governorship of California. Nixon moved to New York City and became a MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, his voice choking with emotion, conceded the presidential election today to Richard M. Nixon, saying "I've done my best. I've lost. Mr. Nixon has won. The democratic process has worked its will so let's get on with the urgent task of uniting this country."

Wreck Kills Four

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C. (AP) — Four persons were killed Tuesday when a car running from police at speeds of more than 100 miles per hour hit another vehicle broadside, Police Chief L. F. Worrell said.
Two of the victims were killed outright while the other two died later in hospital.
Killed were Furman Emsis, 52, of Fayetteville and his wife, 50-year-old Lola; Wallace Oakman, 20, a member of the 47th Engineering Battalion; and William H. Coleman, 20, also a Ft. Bragg soldier.
Two other GI's were injured in the wreck. They were identified as Jerome Paschal, said by police to have been the driver of one of the cars; and Lewis Browder, 25.

Election Watch Staged In Paris

PARIS (AP) — Munching hot dogs and watching dancing girls, thousands of expatriate Americans and their French friends held an all-night election watch at four throbbing centers in Paris.
Special police squads directed auto and foot traffic as streams of night owls jammed the Hilton Hotel, the Pan American office, a U.S. Embassy annex and Harry's New York Bar to keep up with the returns.
The most elaborate election party was at the Hilton, where Radio Station Europe No. 1 laid on a spread of spare ribs and trimmings in a Wild West atmosphere spiced with dancing girls. A papier mache Statue of Liberty was erected outside the hotel.
The school board, the agreement continued, will consider areas outside the city limits for annexation by the city administrative unit but very likely will not approve such requests, Alford said.
The deadline for petitioning for annexation, according to the policy, is Nov. 15, although an extension until

N.C. Again In GOP Column

RALEIGH (AP) — Despite a Democratic sweep of state offices, North Carolina deserted the Democratic presidential column for the first time in 40 years Tuesday to give its 13 electoral votes to Republican Richard Nixon.
Following a pattern that had been expected, Nixon swept the West, ran strong in the Piedmont and conceded the East to American Independent Party candidate George Wallace.
As Nixon had predicted publicly in campaign visits, Wallace ran him a strong race. But the bid, built on early returns from the East, eased as the night wore on and Nixon widened his margin.
Democratic standard bearer Hubert Humphrey wound up third.
With 2,158—86 per cent—of the state's 2,198 precincts reported, Nixon had 612,882 votes Wallace 486,635 and Humphrey 454,060.
Not since 1928, the year of the Hoover-Smith campaign, had North Carolina failed to give a majority of its presidential votes to the Democrats.

The state's turning away from the Democrats on the national level while remaining loyal on the state level was seen as a result of widespread disaffection for the Johnson administration.
It was this disaffection which both Nixon and Wallace made prominent parts of their campaigns here, as elsewhere.
Wallace bid hardest for the state's votes, visiting North Carolina three times.
Nixon came twice and Humphrey once.
Nixon could do little in the traditionally Democratic East, but neither could Humphrey. It was almost solid Wallace country, with the third party candidate winning in most of the counties and running strong in most of those he didn't win.
But once out of the East, it was strictly Nixon, and the count got more strongly GOP as it went west.
The three-way race had produced off alliances and had left political pundits calling the out-

Jones Returned To House Seat

Voters in the First Congressional District yesterday sent incumbent Representative Walter B. Jones of Farmville back to Washington to represent them in Congress.
Jones took 70,522 votes in the 19-county district, while his Republican opponent Reece B. Gardner of Kinston received 37,162.
In the balloting Rep. Jones took every county, including Gardner's home county of Lenoir. In Lenoir, the representative received 7,724 votes as compared with Gardner's 7,425.
Jones' biggest leads came in Pitt, Martin and Hertford counties. Pitt voters cast over 9,400 more votes for Jones than they did Gardner (15,669 Jones, 6,236 Gardner) while Martin gave Jones 4,023 more votes as voters in that county cast 5,917 votes for the congressman and gave Gardner 1,891 ballots. In Hertford County, Jones led Gardner by 3,139 votes as voters there cast 4,021 ballots for Jones and only 882 for the Kinston businessman.
This morning Rep. Jones expressed his gratitude to the voters of the First District. "I certainly am grateful for the vote of confidence... accorded me yesterday," he said. "I'd like to thank the many friends who worked so hard in our behalf," Jones commented, "and assure all voters my office is available to them at any time for service or to listen to their expressions regarding congressional matters..."

He emphasized, "I will continue to vote what I believe to be the wishes of the people of this district so long as I am privileged to represent them in the U.S. Congress."

School Boards Agree On New Procedures For Annexing New Areas

By BLANCHE HARDEE Reflector Staff Writer
The Pitt County Board of Education yesterday approved a new agreement with the Greenville Board of Education outlining procedures for annexation of areas by the two school boards and decided to retain possession of the Haddock School property which had been offered for sale.
The annexation policy approved yesterday was the result of a joint meeting of committees of the City and County School boards and representatives of the Board of County Commissioners Oct. 28, according to County School Superintendent Arthur S. Alford.

The agreement calls for approval for annexation of areas within the city limits to the City School District upon proper petition.

The school board, the agreement continued, will consider areas outside the city limits for annexation by the city administrative unit but very likely will not approve such requests, Alford said.
The deadline for petitioning for annexation, according to the policy, is Nov. 15, although an extension until

Dec. 15 was approved for this year.
The mid-November deadline, Alford said, will give ample time for action and allow the Pitt County Tax Department to get their tax books in order if an area is annexed.
The Haddock School site, including 3.03 acres of land with a wood-frame building, located about four miles southeast of Winterville, has been advertised for sale for several months now. The County Board decided to retain possession of the property after they felt the high bid of $3750 was inadequate.

Mrs. Kathryn Lewis, director of Guidance Services for the Pitt County Schools, appeared before the board yesterday and explained the duties and responsibilities of the 13 guidance counselors employed by the Pitt County Schools system.

"Although counseling is the prime area of responsibility for the school counselors," Mrs. Lewis said, "they also work in public relations, job placement and guidance."
Mrs. Lewis continued, "Counseling sessions may evolve from such areas as personal problems, teacher-parent-principal referrals, educational and vocational planning, educational deficiency, as well as drop-ins or community sources."

Counselors also assist students in choosing the subjects needed to attain their goals, whether their future may include a college education, technical institute training, or a position in the world of business, explained the guidance director.
Board members praised the rural fire departments for their response and work in controlling the fire at Belvoir Elementary School Saturday morning.
Trucks from the Belvoir Volunteer Fire Department, Station House, Bethel and Falkland Fire Departments responded to the fire.

Fruits And Vegetables Now Join The Jet Set

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Food Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Fresh asparagus, strawberries, cherries, grapes, lettuce and even cauliflower have joined the jet set.

Fresh produce grown in California reaches East Coast markets these days a few hours after it's picked, and Europe in only 12 hours, says Alan Rains, executive vice president of the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association. California produces 45 per cent of all fruits and tree nuts in the United States and one third of the vegetables.

Rains said air transportation of fresh fruit and vegetables increased about 80 per cent last year over 1966.

Its effect on the family budget is hardly noticeable, according to the industry spokesman. He said a pint of strawberries may cost about a nickel more at the consumer level than it would if shipped by rail instead of jet freighter.

"Fantastic" To Rains, air freighting of fresh produce is "a fantastic story. We thought the pioneers were off their rocker, even 10 years ago, at about take-off time."

Seasoned travelers who praise the high quality of fresh fruits and vegetables in Europe may think the shipment of U.S. produce there unnecessary, if not incongruous. But to U.S. growers, it's a matter of economics. Europe hasn't the land space to grow iceberg lettuce, for instance.

"It costs more to fly anything that it does to put it in a rail car," said Rains. "Except for these imponderables: 'We don't know the condition of the food on arrival by surface. It takes seven or eight days from California (to the East Coast). Even in a controlled atmosphere, there's some deterioration.'"

Rains said a downward trend has prevailed in fresh fruit and vegetable consumption in recent years, largely because of the growth of the frozen food industry. But he expects the trend to level.

"One of our big problems is fighting the inconvenience of home preparation of fresh produce," he said.

"We're doing a better job all the time, from improved strains to improved harvesting techniques, such as quick cooling in the field and controlled atmosphere in transit. One big problem involves handling fruits and vegetables handling they're out of commercial hands at the retail level."

Rains said white potatoes are the only vegetable exceptions to the leveling off process:

"A tremendous amount of the potato crop is processed—frozen or dehydrated."

The industry spokesman would like to see Americans eat more fresh white potatoes.

"With the exception of the sweet potato, it's the nearest all around food," he said.

"I don't know the origin of the myth that potatoes are fattening. An average potato has only 85 to 90 calories."

Rains' Potato Scallop
Alan Rains, who cooks as a hobby, says his scalloped potato recipe is a family favorite.

Pare and thinly slice 6 cups (about 2½ pounds) potatoes. Arrange approximately ¼ of potatoes in 2-quart casserole which has been generously buttered on bottom. Sprinkle lightly with salt, pepper and part of 1 cup of chopped fresh onions. Repeat layers ending with potatoes. Pour enough boiling water into casserole to reach 1-3 up side of casserole. Sprinkle one cup of grated cheddar cheese on potatoes. Cover and bake in 375-degree oven about one hour or until potatoes are tender. Uncover and bake about 10 minutes more or until cheese is lightly browned. Makes about 6 servings.

President Of Church Women United

Mrs. C. L. Lupton, the former Mavis Parker of Pitt County, is the new president of Church Women United (CWU). She was installed during the recent World Community Day service held in the Immanuel Baptist Church.

Mrs. Lupton succeeds Mrs. Thomas M. Davis, CWU president since 1966, who presided over the World Community Day service.

Installed to serve with Mrs. Lupton were: Mrs. Sam K. Price, vice president; Mrs. James L. Hobbs, secretary; Mrs. H. Franklin Steinbeck, treasurer; and Mrs. Dink James, historian.

New committee members installed were Mrs. Ralph Verastro, publicity; Mrs. Harold Forbes, migrant worker; Mrs. James Patty, clothing; Mrs.

John W. Shannonhouse, chairman; Mrs. William K. Quick, Capt. Wayne McHargue and Mrs. Van C. Fleming Jr., Christian World Missions (World Day of Prayer); Mrs. Jack W. Wilkerson, chairman, and Mrs. Harry Allen, Christian Social Relations (May Fellowship); and Mrs. Leon Moore Jr., chairman; Mrs. Tom J. Haigwood, and Mrs. Dixie E. Greene, Christian World Relations (World Community Day).

The new CWU president is the wife of Carlyle L. Lupton and the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Parker of Pitt County. The Luptons have two sons—Carl L. Jr., 14-years-old and Leon Parker, 12-years-old. In Greenville, they make their home at 1800 E. Fifth st.

Mrs. Lupton holds the AB and BA degrees from East Carolina University. She is a former teacher in the Pitt County schools. She is a member of the Immanuel Baptist Church, the Service League, and the N. C. State Board for the American Cancer Society. She is also chairman of the Women Golfers of the Greenville Golf and Country Club.

Fruits to be frozen? Wash in cold water to help keep them firm. Then drain, peel, trim and cut up to pack in the freezer containers. Plastic bags, wax coated boxes, or plastic containers work very well for fruits.

Miss Brenda Evans Weds In Ceremony On Friday

Miss Brenda Ann Evans became the bride of James Ray Stancill Jr. on Friday at 8:00 p.m. in a ceremony held at the home of the bridegroom.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Evans of Rt. 5, Greenville, and Mr. and Mrs. James Ray Stancill Sr. of Rt. 4, Greenville.

The Rev. Gerald Owens officiated at the ceremony.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Dot Windham and Miss Nell Dickerson, soloist. The mantle was decorated with white mums and bridal palms flanked by small candelabra.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street length dress of lace over tulle. The dress was designed with a scalloped neckline and long sleeves ending in calla points over her hands.

Her elbow length illusion veil was attached to a crown of pearls and iridescents. She carried a lace covered prayer book centered with a white orchid, tied with satin streamers.

Miss Darlene Sutton was maid of honor. She wore a street length lavender dress and carried a bouquet of green mums with satin streamers. Bridesmaids were Debra Stancill, sister of the bridegroom, who wore a yellow dress and carried yellow mums and Miss Nancy Evans, who wore a pink dress and carried pink mums.

Miss Sandra Stancill, sister of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She wore a blue dress and carried a basket filled with rose petals. The bridegroom's father served as best man.

The mother of the bride wore a navy dress with navy accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother selected a yellow dress with matching accessories and wore a corsage of yellow mums.

For a wedding trip to western North Carolina, the bride changed into a pink suit with blue accessories and wore the orchid lifted from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will reside at Stancill's Trailer Court.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bridegroom.

The bride's table was covered with a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of red roses.

Mrs. Louvenia Stancill and Mrs. Darah Sutton assisted in serving.

KEEP NUTS FRESH AND HANDY — FREEZE THEM! More cookies, cakes, salads and sweet potatoes come to the table with nuts in them when the nuts are handy. Nuts are handy to use if they are clean, shelled, packaged and in the freezer.

Handle nuts you freeze so that the nut meats will be as clean as its possible for you to have them. Freezing neither kills bacteria nor removes dirt. If nuts go into the freezer dirty, they will come out dirty.

Wash nuts quickly a few at a time and drain. When dry burst the shells and remove the nut meat. Use clean, dry hands, clean nut picks and pans. Look the nut meat over carefully and remove all bits of shell.

Pack tight into good frozen food containers. If you use polyethylene bags be sure they are no thinner than 1 1/2 mils. All nuts contain fat. They keep longer and better in the freezer if you protect them from air (actually, oxygen that's in the air). You do this with the package.

If nuts are free from old flavor when they go into the freezer, packaged well and held at 0 degrees F. storage, you can enjoy them for a year without noticeable change.

PECANS — These native American nuts belong to the Hickory Nut family. Crack the large paper shelled ones with care (and a little trial and error) and you can get the "goodies" out in halves.

Prepare: Wash, drain and burst nuts. Remove nut meats. Soak nuts overnight or throw into boiling water for a few minutes to make shelling easier. Carefully discard bits or shell and poor meats. Pack good frozen food containers tight and full. Label and freeze.

If for convenience you want to freeze roasted, buttered, or salted pecans to use within a week or two, do so. They do not keep well long.

Two and one-half pound of pecans in the shell make about one pound (3/4 cups) of shelled kernels of most varieties.

PEANUTS — These "nuts" are really legumes. They belong to the pea-and-bean family. We think of them as nuts, and they too freeze well.

Raw (cured): One and one half pounds of unshelled peanuts yield about a pound of nut meats. Wash thoroughly but quickly and let drain. Work with clean hands and clean utensils. Sort nut meats as you shell them, and drop the good ones into a frozen container. Pack the container tight and full. Label and freeze. Cooked (shelled green): Sort peanuts and wash them well.

Peanuts cooked with dirt or dirty water clinging to them have a muddy flavor. Peanut shells are porous - and sometimes they crack - else the salt you add to the water would not penetrate. Cook your favorite way. Here is one way: Cover washed peanuts with cold salt water. 1/2 c. salt to each quart of water.

When the water boils, cook 45 minutes longer. Taste a peanut out, taste it. If it is not tender, cook 15 minutes longer and taste another one. Chances are they will be done when you taste the first one. When the peanuts are tender, if they have enough salt, take them out of the water. If they do not have enough salt, let them stand in the hot salt water for ten minutes.

Cool, shell and pack in good frozen food containers. Pack firmly but leave a small amount of space between the top of the peanuts and the top of the container for expansion. These nuts will have a little more moisture than the raw nuts, especially if you boil the fresh, succulent ones.

If you can get some boil-in bag pouches, put your boiled peanuts in them. Press the air out, seal the bag and freeze. Take from freezer and drop into boiling water and you have hot boiled peanuts in a few minutes just like in season.

Cooked (shelled cured): Steam or cook in small amount of boiling water until tender. Cool. Pack and freeze. Use as a vegetable.

BLACK WALNUTS — The rich meat stored in crevices of the thick shelly of black walnuts is treasure as a favorite by many people. You can enjoy that distinctive flavor year round. Freeze the nuts after they "cure" but before they have time to grow stale. Follow directions for freezing pecans.

Pretender Of 11-Years-Old Ponders Career As Actress

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 11 years old and I want to become a famous actress. I think I would be very good at it because ever since I was a little girl I have been very good at "pretending" and that is what acting is, isn't it? Do I have to finish high school to be an actress?

LISA

DEAR LISA: Finish high school. And college, too, if you have a chance. Being good at "pretending" might help a lot because there may be times when you have to "pretend" that you are eating.

DEAR ABBY: About 2 years ago my husband announced that he wanted no part of our marriage or any of its responsibilities. He turned to alcohol, "go go" girls, sports cars and everything he once considered immoral, irresponsible and extravagant.

We are now having a lot of problems with our children. They are doing poor work in school and are hard to handle at home. The school counselor called me to inquire into our "home situation."

My husband insists it is none of their business, and how our kids do at school has nothing to do with the way we live at home. He has pointed out other families in which the home life is a mess, but the kids seem to come out all right. Is he right, or am I just nit-picking?

CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: When home is a battleground, the casualties are usually the children. Some do survive in spite of the odds, but show me a rebellious, troubled child, and I will show you a home situation riddled with discord.

DEAR ABBY: About the cross-eyed woman who chewed out her daughter's boyfriend because she offered him a cup of coffee and he said, "I did-not answer you right away because I never realized before that you cross-eyed and I didn't know you were talking to me.

My sympathy is with the boy. When I was in school, I had a Spanish teacher who was very cross-eyed. She would ask a general question and three people would answer her from different parts of the room. Naturally, this caused a lot of embarrassment.

If this cross-eyed woman is sensitive about her eyes, she should not leave herself wide open for such embarrassment to herself and others. I also learned from my mother that it is proper and courteous to address a person by his name.

CROSS ABOUT IT DEAR ABBY: I am writing to ask if you have ever heard of a "moon healer." There used to be one in Sioux City, Ia. I suffered with a pain in my side for a long time. The doctor told me I should have an operation, but I didn't want that. So I went to this moon healer and she said to just let it go until I had one more attack and after that it wouldn't bother me anymore. Well, it's been 50 years, and I am 72 years old and I'm still here.

I now have another pain. This one is in my head and I sure wish I could find another moon healer someplace. Can you help me locate one?

HEADACHE DEAR HEADACHE: Sorry but I know of no "moon healer." But in the meantime, I would recommend a doctor.

Which one?

It isn't food. Everybody knows what's happened to the cost of food. Clothing costs are also up. And houses and apartments cost more than ever before. Electricity costs less than it used to. Veeco has reduced residential rates three times in the last five years. As a matter of fact, electricity is one thing that actually costs less than it did in 1941. (That's when sirloin steak sold for 19c a pound.) Electricity is such a bargain today and there are so many useful appliances, that the average family uses about five times as much as it did in 1941. So, if your electric bill is a little higher, you are using a lot more electricity. Because it costs a lot less.

Election Interest Showed At Polls

Those citizens who went to the polls yesterday in Pitt County have the satisfaction of knowing they participated with other Americans in the record vote across the country.

For Pitt County it was also another record which saw more than 22,000 voters go to the polls in the county's 26 precincts. There were lines at times at some voting places, and waiting to cast a ballot took more time than many citizens would have liked. It is a tribute to those voters, however, that they were willing to take the time and suffer the inconvenience in order to have their vote counted in the election.

In the primaries last spring and again in the general election yesterday, voters of Pitt County have responded admirably to the appeal to participate in government at the grass roots level by helping to elect officials. Even those who voted for candidates who were not winners when the final votes were tallied have helped strengthen the government by the very fact that they expressed their opinion which dissented from that of the majority.

There have been times in the past in Ritt County and in North Carolina when the turnout of voters was disappointingly light. There have been times when voting across the nation attracted fewer people to the polls than most expected. Yesterday, fortunately, was not one of those days.

In Pitt County, the new registration was a factor in the high percentage of registered voters going to the polls. More than that, however, was the high interest in political and governmental affairs which has been indicated throughout this year on the part of local citizens.

The election is over and most of the issues have been decided at the ballot boxes. But there remains the need for continued high interest in political and governmental affairs as we move into new administrations both on the state and federal levels. If the interest which was shown in the election yesterday is continued through the next four years, it cannot help but make for better government on both the federal and state levels.

Individualists In Public Life

(Editor's note: The following dispatch was written and distributed prior to the outcome of Tuesday's general elections.)

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES

RALEIGH — Political campaign notebook:

Robert Walter Scott of Haw River proved himself during the long political campaign of 1968 to be his own man, an individualist, in public life.

And in a somewhat different way, so did Scott's Re-positions in detail during the seven month campaign, and they sparred at each other —hoping to land a telling blow.

Here too there were similarities. Gardner sought to portray Scott as part of a "machine" political organization — the "Raleigh machine." He meant, apparently, the state's Democratic party which usually suffers from more splinters than Gardner's Republicans. Scott forces retaliated by charging Gardner with starting a "fat at" club which would have special access to the governor's office through $1,000 or more political contributions.

Charges Flung

Gardner came back with charges that the "machine" was raising money for the Scott campaign at dinners at the governor's mansion, and that state employees were being coerced into making political contributions.

The Republican candidate hit hard on the theme of "time for a change." He cited statistics showing low-ranking in per pupil school expenditures, per capita income, crime rates. Scott promised a program to "assure progress" and said he would not make promises he could not reasonably expect to fulfill. Scott said Gardner would be both inexperienced and ineffective. Scott pointed at Gardner's record of absenteeism from Congress since his election in 1966.

National Tickets

Gardner jabbed at Scott for refusing to be closely identified with or to campaign for the Democratic presidential nominee, Hubert Humphrey. Scott forces pointed to Gardner's own switching around before, during and after the Republican convention in Miami Beach.

It was clear that both gubernatorial candidates felt it might be damaging to become glued to their party's presidential tickets in such an uncertain situation. The uncertainty in North Carolina was heightened by the indication of dissatisfaction with both Humphrey and Nixon, and a strong leaning toward George C. Wallace.

WILLIAM A. SHIRES

publican opponent for the governorship, James C. (Jim) Gardner of Rocky Mount.

Despite charges and counter-charges, criticism, dismay and pressures from within and without, these two young men—relatively newcomers to the political scene—conducted separate, individually-oriented campaigns. They paid less attention to party label, party affiliation and party ticket than many old-line politicians liked. But they did so without bolting or deserting either their national, state or local party ticket nor offending other of their party candidates.

It boiled down simply, in North Carolina, to a head-on struggle and everyone else had to hang on.

Contrasts Drawn

Contrasts between the principals, Scott and Gardner, were drawn as the campaign progressed and they came more and more under public scrutiny.

If anything, Scott is known among close associates for firmness, toughness and square-jawed determination. Gardner is known of his flair, quickness to grasp issues and his competitive spirit.

Both of course presented wide-ranging programs and proposals and stated their

The Most Elaborate, Expensive Campaign

While many questions may be raised about the 1968 political campaign, few will question the fact it was the most elaborate and most expensive in history.

This was true on the national level, and there can be no doubt it was true so far as North Carolina's gubernatorial campaign was concerned.

Although there are federal regulations supposedly putting a ceiling on campaign expenses, and similar regulations in many states, these mean nothing when the heat of the campaign rises. There is a real question of whether such regulations mean anything even in the pre-campaign planning when budgets are being prepared.

It is a good guess that in every hard-fought political contest in the country both the winners and the losers in yesterday's election find their campaign budgets in the red today. It is also a good guess that with few exceptions the hard-fought campaigns far exceeded in expenses the limits set by federal or state laws.

Little is likely to be done to correct the situation simply because too few candidates consider it more important to abide by the campaign expense laws than to win the offices they're running for.

A GROWING MENACE

Regardless of the attitude one may take toward drinking everyone is ready to admit that the drinking problem has become a serious one for our country. The overwhelming majority of our people drink, and while most drinking is moderate, there is a sufficient amount of immoderate drinking to create the problem of alcoholism and so-called problem drinking. When we realize that practically a hundred and fifty are killed on our highways every day and that in the case of one half of these liquor is believed in some way to enter in, the problem assumes gigantic proportions.

To say that in fifty per cent of the highway fatalities drinking in some way enters in does not mean that fifty per cent of the people killed on any one day were killed by drunken drivers. Maybe the person who was killed had been drinking and met the fatal accident through his inability to get out of the way. Maybe the revelry on the back seat distracted the driver's attention. There is plenty of drunken driving, but it is not true that all of the highway fatalities in which liquor is involved are the result of drunken driving. Liquor appears to be a factor — in some form or other — but not the only cause of highway deaths. But it is a serious factor indeed.

Every person has to decide for himself or herself whether or not drinking is wrong. No one can decide that for another person. Without passing judgment on others, a considerable number of us, however, believe that the best way to handle the drinking problem is to let the stuff alone.

The Public's Business

WASHINGTON — Of all the events of 1968, none has had more of an effect on the American people than the marriage of Jackie Kennedy to Greek zillionaire Aristotle Onassis. People who had no opinion on the Vietnam e s e war, the crisis of the cities or the youth revolution all had something to say about Mrs. Kennedy's nuptials.

It seems to me that what Jackie Kennedy didn't realize was that she was the property of the American people and, therefore, that she had no right to choose a husband on her own. If Mrs. Kennedy wanted to get married again, she should have informed the American public of this, either on the Johnny Carson show or the Bell Telephone Hour, and let the American people choose a husband for her.

Once she made her intentions known, a special Republican and Democratic convention would have been called and candidates would have been nominated for her to marry.

After the nominations, each candidate would have campaigned for Jackie's hand. They would have explained what they would do for Jackie as a husband, where they would live and how they would raise Jackie's children. The candidates would have bought television time to let the public know where they stood, not only on the mar-

ART BUCHWALD

Other Editors Say The Public Excluded

(Kannapolis Independent) After all the ballyhoo in Congress over the years on the subject of closed sessions and the public's right to know what its legislators are doing the 90th Congress just ended chalked up the highest record of closed door sessions in the last 15 years.

Statistics compiled by Congressional Quarterly reveal an amazing lack of concern on the part of members of both House and Senate for the rights of their constituents to know what public business is being transacted and how their representatives are expressing themselves on it.

Forty-three per cent of the 3,800 reported meetings of all committees were held behind closed doors. Actually, the number of secret meetings was even higher. The Senate Select Committee on Standards and Conduct conducted all its meetings behind closed doors, and refused to say how many there were.

Under rules currently in effect, executive or closed door sessions are supposed to be resorted to only when matters of national security are involved. But there is no effective way of enforcing this guideline, except public opinion.

But it certainly is dubious that 53 per cent of the House Agriculture Committee's meetings would have involved discussions of national security or 52 per cent of the Senate Judiciary Committee's. Even for the House Foreign Affairs Committee, which conceivably could touch on security matters occasionally a 58 per cent secrecy record is too much.

Perhaps the most fantastic record of all, however, was achieved by the House Appropriations Committee. Every one of its 322 meetings was closed to the public. It had no difficulties, under those circumstances disposing of $144 billion in public funds.

For all of its breast-beating about public information, the 90th compiled a miserable record. Is it too much to ask the 91st Congress, which convenes in January, to do considerably better?

riage, bit also on the public issues of the day.

They also would have traveled across the nation so that Americans could see them in the flesh and decide for themselves which candidate would be the best mate for the former First Lady.

Not only would the public have listened to the platform of the men it thought were suitable for Jackie's hand, but people would also have decided the complicated questions of religion, age and nationality of the husband - to be.

Since they had so much at stake, the public would have taken far more interest in this campaign than they have in the presidential election.

The climax of the race for Jackie's husband would have been a nationally televised debate between the candidates, so the electorate could see for itself how each man would behave under pressure.

Finally, on Election Day, Americans from all walks of life would have gone to the polls and voted for the person they wanted to stand at Jackie's side.

In case neither candidate got a majority of the electoral votes, then the House of Representatives would have chosen.

Only 80 Complaints Received?

By ELMER ROESSNER
The new National Commission on Product Safety has opened its files and disclosed that since its organization several months ago received only 80 complaints from the 200 million Americans.

At first blush it might seem that American products are almost completely safe and that such organizations as Consumers Union or even the Product Safety Commission itself are a waste of money.

But the real reason is that the commission is working almost in secrecy and that a large part of the government doesn't even know it exists. I telephoned the New York office of the Department of Commerce, which surely should be working closely with the commission, and neither its information office or its secretary's office knew the commission existed. I phoned the general government information of the General Services Administration and was told that no such commission was listed in their 1968-69 directory and that nobody there had ever heard of it. It suggested that I call the Department of Commerce.

Most Kicks Electrical Of those who had complaints and found out where to register them, most concerned electrical hazards. It seems impossible that only so few people have a bad word for dangerous appliances. With a little time, a reporter standing in front of an electrical repair shop ought to find 80 persons who have complaints about shorts, sparks, burns, tingles and other unexpected jolts from electric appliances.

In fact, I think I alone have been zapped by at least 80 different appliances.

Of course, it is also possible that people injured by hazardous products have been advised by attorneys to save this fact for a jury. I'd guess that since the commission was created there have been more than 80 damage suits filed against manufacturers of al-

System Strong Enough

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite the troubles and problems facing this nation, there is reassurance in the projections of experts that enough strength lies inherent in the American economy to make solutions possible.

It is altogether another matter as to whether these resources are used constructively. But they are there, the analysts say, and they do offer hope that jobs can be provided, pollution controlled, and inferior education and such can be improved.

Now, following month on month of pre-election examination of all that is wrong with the nation, days in which the defects were so dramatized that the troubles seemed without end, a little healthy indulgence in hope is permissible.

To give some idea of how the economic projections sound, listen first to this long-range view from a publication of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce:

"Untold wealth will be the rule rather than the exception for tomorrow's families. Families presently earning $8,000 will realize annual paychecks exceeding $25,000 measured in today's dollars by the year 2000."

The important phrase is "measured in today's dollars." As surely as we have inflation today we'll have it from time to time in the next 30 years or so. Taking inflation into consideration, this $25,000 may be even higher.

It is this reshaping of the pyramid that offers so much hope for the disadvantaged. Each year America's middle bulges more; each year more Americans ascend into the relative affluence of the middle class.

This upward mobility is possible primarily because of the energetic growth of the American economy, which now produces about $850 billion worth of goods and services a year, and is growing at better than 4 per cent.

The Joint Economic Committee of Congress foresees a possible Gross National Product of $1.3 trillion by 1975 if unemployment can be brought down to 3 per cent from the present rate of a bit more than 3.5 per cent.

In a study released early last year called "U.S. Economic Growth to 1975: Potential and Problems," the committee staff stated that present growth rates would give the federal government revenues of $277 billion a year, or a 122 per cent increase in 10 years.

Government revenues would, in fact, rise more than the GNP the report noted, because more Americans are expected by 1975 to be in the higher income tax brackets.

The projections also call for an even faster increase in the revenues of local governments which now are hard pressed to find money for the great urban problems of jobs, education, housing, transportation and pollution control.

Assuming 3 per cent unemployment, state and local receipts would rise to $82.7 billion, an increase of 163 per cent in 10 years. Even at 4 per cent unemployment a rise of 134 per cent is possible, the study showed.

Now the problems of America won't be solved by an amount of money, but a good start can be made on the trillion-dollar job of rebuilding cities, the $25-billion job of reducing pollution and the huge job of "eliminating" poverty.

Of the 80 complaints, some were not even addressed to the commission, but were forwarded by Betty Furness, President Johnson's advisor on consumer affairs. Others seemed to be crank or unwarranted complaints. One woman complained of a short circuit after seven years of using an appliance — which may not be so unwarranted after all. Should the public expect to be electrocuted after using a toaster for seven years? Another complained that a pot handle broke off after it was subjected to high heat.

The commission pointed out that none of the complaints had been verified. The basic trouble appears that the commission and consumers are out of touch.

N.C. Republicans Added One Seat In Congress

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Running surprisingly strong races throughout the state, Republicans cut the Democrats' margin of control in North Carolina's delegation to the U. S. House of Representatives to 7-4 by gaining one seat in Tuesday's election.

Rep. James T. Broyhill led the Republican charge by defeating another incumbent, Democrat Basil Whitener. The two were thrown together into the 10th District by redistricting.

The Democrats returned six incumbents to office, two of them unopposed, and elected one new congressman.

The incumbents who turned back Republican opposition were Walter Jones in the First District, David Henderson in the 3rd, Nick Galifianakis in the 4th and Roy Taylor in the 11th. L. H. Fountain in the 2nd District and Alton Lennon in the 7th were unopposed.

The new congressman in the Democratic lineup will be Richardson Preyer, who unsuccessfully sought the Democratic nomination for governor four years ago.

The Broyhill-Whitener battle was the high point of the Congressional contests. With three-fourths of the counties in his old district realigned into the new 10th, the 53-year-old Whitener had somewhat of an advantage, but Broyhill, 41, ran a vigorous race.

Whitener was seeking a seventh term. Broyhill was first elected to Congress in 1962.

Ants are among the most adaptable of nature's creatures. For example, some species develop their own anti-freeze in winter. They generate alcohol which enables their systems to cope with sudden cold waves.

It was Caleb C. Colton who observed, "True contentment does not depend on what we have. A tub was large enough for Diogenes, a world too little for Alexander."

Board Approves Beautification

SNOW HILL — The Snow Hill Town Board last night reviewed and approved a plan offered by the Cardinal Garden Club for the beautification of the Snow Hill Cemetery.

Garden club members told the board of their plans to beautify the entire cemetery, but explained the work would be done in several stages.

Board members passed an ordinance annexing the West Greene School area on Highway 13 into the city limits. A contract was approved for extending water to that area in conjunction with developing the area for residential purposes.

Buchwald . . .

sen the man privileged to be Jackie Kennedy's husband.

Once the majority of the American people had made their decision, we all would have abided by it, with no one complaining that he didn't have a vote in Mrs. Kennedy's marital affairs.

This would have been the American way of doing things. Perhaps Mr. Onassis might have won the election; perhaps he might not. But at least the election would have prevented the confusion and despair now rampant in the United States over the Kennedy-Onassis wedding.

Even those who are on Jackie's side admit that it wasn't whom she married, but the way she did it, that has caused so much concern in this country.

No woman of Mrs. Kennedy's stature has a right to decide affairs of the heart by herself. Her marriage was everybody's business, and the least she could have done was poll the American public before she made a decision that affects the lives and pocketbooks of us all.

Stayed Too Long In Voting Booth

DETROIT (AP) — A man accused of remaining in a voting booth for more than an hour while others waited in line was arrested on a trespassing charge.

Police said Albin Wodzinski, 43, was among the first to enter a booth in his precinct, and that after he'd spent 50 minutes at the machine, election workers requested that he hurry.

A police officer was summoned and read Wodzinski a state law setting two minutes as the time limit for voting, except when election officials allow more time. He was arrested when he did not come out.

An 'Acid Head' Says Plenty Of LSD Available

By PAT REESE
Fayetteville Observer Writer
Written for The AP

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C. (AP) — "Body feelings are about the first thing you notice; I mean, like, almost a compulsion to laugh and it's all inside your chest; — and then your head, you get kind of a numb feeling, I mean, like there's nothing there."

"Then you start noticing these little things going on around you, and it seems like you're kind of super-sensitive; I mean, everything is real tense and a lot of times you get in a kind of a paranoid feeling, that somebody is watching you or something like that."

"That's because, I guess, because of the fact that it's illegal."

These are the words of an 18-year-old youth who is in Cumberland County jail facing trial for possessing LSD for the purpose of sale.

He agreed to a taped interview in the presence of a detective with the Cumberland County sheriff's department, Lt. R. E. Washburn.

The purpose of the interview was to learn more about the hallucinogenic drugs that has been found in large quantities in Fayetteville and Cumberland County recently.

Sheriff W. G. Clark of Cumberland County and Fayetteville Police Chief L. F. Worrell have described the increase in drug abuse here as the most serious problem facing law enforcement today.

Approximately 50 arrests have been made in the past year for narcotics violations in the city and county, more than the total number arrested during the previous six years.

Much of the language of the acidhead (the term used for persons who regularly take LSD) may be strange to the reader. Here is a quick glossary of terms that will be found in the interview.

Grass, pot — marijuana.
Acid — LSD.
Dropping acid — taking LSD.
Joint — marijuana cigarette.
Five cents or ten cents package — Quantities of marijuana or hashish selling for $5 or $10.

Horse — heroin.
Smack — heroin or other addictive narcotic.
Got busted — arrested.

The following is the actual transcript of the interview:

Q. Could you tell us a little bit about yourself?

A. Well, I was born in New Mexico and I have been in Fayetteville — I was out at Ft. Bragg — I have been here since about March and then I was AWOL, and I was up in New York for awhile and came down here and got busted.

Q. When was the first time—well, before we get into that, did you start smoking marijuana before LSD?

A. Yes, I smoked marijuana before I went into LSD.

Q. About how long ago has it been since you smoked your first joint?

A. It's been about two years.

Q. Was that here in Cumberland County or somewhere else?

A. No, this was off in Denver, Colo.

Q. How long ago has it been since you first dropped acid.

A. It was about a year ago.

Q. Can you remember, or is it too much to ask, can you remember the effects of it, the first time you took LSD?

A. Well, the first time I took it, I didn't really notice that I was coming into it for about two hours and I felt, you know, just little feelings inside at first and I suddenly started noticing hallucinations, like things would vibrate and all this — and I went into more detailed things. There was a pool of water around where I was at, and it looked like there was so many things like alive in it — and, I mean, colors you pick up fantastically on it. I mean you can get a color flash sometimes, like a red light will change for a minute and the whole world lights up and seems to be nothing but red.

These last like this, say for about a minute, or a minute and a half, something like that.

Q. Well, could you describe for us, from the time you first take acid, how long it usually takes — that is, before you begin to feel it and how long do you usually stay on it, and maybe some of the first indications that make you realize you are there?

A. Well, like, it usually takes about an hour and a half, actually, before you actually realize that you are coming onto it. Body feelings are about the first thing that you notice; I mean, you feel like there is nothing there, then you will, like I said, you will start noticing these little things going on around you, and it seems like you're kind of, kind of super-sensitive, I mean, everything is real tense and a lot of times you get in a kind of a paranoid feeling, that somebody is watching you or something like that.

That's because, I guess, because of the fact that it's illegal.

Q. How long does this take normally? Is this the peaking period you are talking about now?

A. The peaking period of the trip is usually the first three or four hours on a normal acid thing. Most acid usually lasts from nine hours up to 24.

Q. In what different forms does LSD come, or in what forms can you buy it?

A. Oh, I have seen it on paper. I've seen it on capsules, and in tabs, and in a little pill, like saccharin tablets.

Q. Well, one of the things that we hear about LSD is that it puts you out of things, out of touch, that you can't function as an acidhead, that you are unable to work, or to carry on normally. What has been your experience?

A. Well, I've had quite a bit of experience with this. I have done acid for periods of a week at a time and through this, I mean, you have to pretty well function to live and I mean I have gone through life just ordinarily and have gone as far as to sit down in a park and talk to somebody while I was on acid and they never even realized I was on it until I had told them.

Q. Are you able to remember everything after the trip is over?

A. Yeah, I know exactly what I've done and what I have gone through and seen and experienced, pretty well, but some of it's hard to explain but I know it. Sometimes I wish I could film just what I see and something like this could be shown to somebody so they would know just exactly what an acid trip was like.

Q. There are good trips and bad trips, so we are told. What is a bad trip?

A. Well, really, a bad trip, like it seems to me, a lot of it is caused by these people . . . I mean, acid destroys your ego. I mean it tears it down completely, and somebody who is, like, more or less an egoist or real high with his ego, if he discovers this, I mean, he completely blows his mind and, also, acid brings you under these things where you start thinking a lot and if you have got a lot of problems bothering you, you will go real deep into these things and it will really start worrying you. I mean they will seem bigger than they are.

Q. Have you ever seen anybody who really suffered bad effects from LSD, that had to be hospitalized?

A. I have never seen anybody come to that point. I saw somebody who came close. He went into this one thing, you know where everything seems so unreal and he just got into this thing where he was asking what day it was or what time it was, constantly through most of his trip. But as the acid wore down he slowly came back to his senses. But a lot what helped, it was some of us around and everytime he would ask something, we would reassure him.

Q. How much does LSD sell for?

A. Well, it can range anywhere from a dollar and a quarter up to 10 to 20 dollars, you know. It just depends on, you know, where you are at and how big a quantity there is around.

Q. What would happen if you over-dose?

A. The known "OD" on acid is something like 45,000 clinical mikes, so it would take quite a bit to "OD."

Q. Do most of the people that you know who are acidheads, do they go on to something else? Do they turn to speed, amphetamines, from speed to horse or morphine?

A. Well, most of them that I know mainly, they stick with like LSD or marijuana and they are usually down on speed because, like, I mean you start noticing the speed, just what it is doing to you and speed, I mean, it will destroy you. There's no way out of that and like the smack thing, I mean like heroin, it is usually downed by most of the people that I know.

Q. Now there you are on acid do you still smoke grass?

A. I still smoke grass quite a bit. I mean, this is like when I am not doing acid, I will do grass.

Q. I know a lot of the soldiers here say they first smoked grass in Vietnam and a lot of them are bringing it back from Nam. Now, while you have been here, did you get hold of any Nam grass—or can you tell the difference?

A. I have never, like, had Vietnam grass, so I wouldn't know much about it. Most of what I have had has just been what's in the states. I dig grass quite a bit but I like to get more into the hash thing.

Q. Is it as easy to buy hash as it is marijuana?

A. Yeah, hash, there is such an abundance of it. Hash is more or less the resin off the marijuana plant.

Q. What form does it come in when you buy it?

A. Well, hash is usually in little cubes. It's kind of a sticky cube.

Q. And you usually smoke it with something or put it in a pipe and smoke it or . . .

A. No, they have, like, pipes made especially for hash, and you just break off a little chunk of it and put it in the pipe and smoke it like it is.

Q. Is the effect about the same as marijuana?

A. Well, the effect is similar to marijuana, only it gets you high a lot quicker and seems like with hash there's almost no end to how high you can go. I mean, you just keep smoking and smoking and your head just keeps getting higher.

Business Firms Asked To List Labor Needs

Pitt County business firms are being asked to make known their labor needs to the Pitt County Board of Education's Job Placement office.

Carl B. Toot, job placement director said if business firms will assist the education office by making their needs known, and suggesting and supporting ideas for improvement, and by using this service, the job placement service will be of more help to employers.

The job placement director said, "The County Schools are trying in every way to prepare students for employment and make them aware of the responsibilities and opportunities, and it is hoped business firms will take full advantage of our service and the potential work force we are training."

Toot said cards outlining manpower needs have been sent to business firms throughout the county. "When firms need employees, permanent or part-time, all they need do is fill in the card and mail it to us, or call this office," he said. "We can only be of assistance when we are continuously aware of a firm's need."

Toot said, "As much as possible, we would like to expose students to employment and the industrial and business world in which we live." Firms can assist by using part-time student employees when it can be of benefit to them.

Youth Revival Slated Thursday

The Rose High School Council for Christ will sponsor a youth revival Thursday through Saturday nights. The services will be held at Peoples Bible Church on the 264 by-pass.

BOBBY JACKSON

Young people will be bringing special music each night.

Evangelist Bobby Jackson will be speaking nightly at 7:30.

During the past 15 years, Jackson has held approximately 500 evangelistic campaigns and preached over 5,000 times.

His ministry covers 30 states and Canada.

Jackson has just released a stereo record album, "Softly and Tenderly." He is the author of several books, among them "Beyond the Stars," "Awakening in the Wilderness," and "Messages that Matter."

He was graduated summa cum laude from the Free Will Baptist Bible College, Nashville, Tenn. and received his M.A. degree from Bob Jones University, Greenville, S. C.

Toss Speedsters Into A Fountain

JAKARTA (AP) — Indonesian police and troops stripped 50 young speedsters to their underwear, marched them through the streets and threw them into a fountain.

The youngsters, nicknamed "hell drivers" for their flagrant speeding along the city's boulevards, were caught at police roadblocks.

They were released without being charged but their cars and motor bikes were impounded for a day.

'Disadvantaged' Study Computers

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Greater Los Angeles Urban League has opened a new center to teach computer operating to disadvantaged persons and it is operating without government funds.

A 22,000-square foot structure, formerly the computer center for the Bank of America, was renovated and made available to the League at no cost. International Business Machines Co. furnished $500,000 worth of the "most modern" equipment.

New Series Of N.C. Colonial Record Begun

By Christopher Crittenden
N.C. Dept. of Archives and History
Written for The AP
RALEIGH (AP) — "(Curse) King William. I'll drink King James' health, for he is the right king."
So insisted one John Philpot in North Carolina nearly three centuries ago, soon after the "Glorious Revolution" of 1688 in England, when William and Mary succeeded James II on the throne.
The record further indicates Philpot, when admonished by a friend, replied, "Then (curse) him again." He was thereupon convicted of speaking "treasonable words" and sentenced to imprisonment for one year and forfeiture of his goods and chattels.

This is one of thousands of cases recorded in a new volume, North Carolina Higher-Court Records, 1670-1696, edited by Mrs. Mattie Erma Edwards Parker and published by the State Department of Archives and History for $11. The volume is the second in a new series of the Colonial Records of North Carolina.

The new series was begun by the Carolina Charter Tercentenary Commission and has been continued by the Department of Archives and History. The old series of Colonial Records published by the state three-quarters of a century ago, had so many errors of both omission and commission that a new series was needed if the early history of North Carolina was to be fully and accurately recorded.

Local courts existed in the colony from an early date, but this volume contains only records of higher courts. The governor and council seem to have sat as the highest court, which was variously designated as general court, court of chancery, palatine's court, court of grand council, and grand court. It is not always clear which was what.

A number of cases were concerned with "treasonable words" against the king, "abusive words" against the governor, or offenses against private individuals, but most cases involved disputes over debts, contracts, land titles, and such. The volume provides vivid accounts of the early colonists and their concerns.

"It's a far cry from the comparatively informal Tar Heel courts of the early colonial period to the well-ordered system of courts now being put into operation. One can but wonder that, in something approaching a wilderness, the colonists were able to maintain any courts at all.

McLain Unanimously Chosen As AL's Most Valuable Player After 30 Wins

By LARRY PALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer
DETROIT (AP)—Denny McLain has probably said, "This is the greatest thing that ever happened to me," about a half dozen times this year.

But Tuesday, the often brash Tiger pitcher received what is perhaps the ultimate honor in baseball. He was unanimously named Most Valuable Player in the American League.

"This the greatest honor I have ever had bestowed on me," he said. "I seriously didn't think I would get it."

The 24-year-old righthander is still negotiating his 1969 contract with Tiger management and he reportedly is seeking a salary of up to $100,000. How would the MVP award affect his contract talks?

"I don't think it will hurt it," he said with a laugh.

McLain achieved many honors this year. He became the first American League hurler to win 30 games and first Tiger ever to win 30. He finished the season with a 31-6 record.

He led Detroit to its first pennant since 1945 and, although Mickey Lolich became the star pitcher in the World Series, McLain won one game as the Tigers beat the St. Louis Cardinals four games to three.

Last week he was named Cy Young Award winner for being voted the best pitcher in the American League.

McLain is the first AL pitcher to win the MVP Award by a unanimous vote and the first to win it at all since Philadelphia's Bobby Shantz in 1952.

McLain was placed first on every ballot by the 20 members of the voting committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

The only other players in either league to get all the top votes were: Orlando Cepeda, St. Louis, 1967; Frank Robinson, Baltimore, 1966; Mickey Mantle, New York Yankees, 1956; Al Rosen, Cleveland, 1953; and Hank Greenberg, Detroit, 1935.

Catcher Bill Freehan, Denny's battery mate, was runnerup in the balloting with 161 points to McLain's 280. Fourteen points were awarded for first, nine for second and so forth, down to one for 10th.

Others in the top 10 were: Ken Harrelson, Boston, 103; Willie Horton, Detroit, 102; Dave McNally, Baltimore, 78; Louis Tiant, Cleveland, 78; Dick McAuliffe, Detroit, 71; Frank Howard, Washington, 63; Carl Yastrzemski, Boston, 50; and Mel Stottlemyre, New York, 43.

The National League's MVP will be announced next Wednesday.

Crucial Week For ACC Teams

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
This weekend could be one of the most crucial times in Atlantic Coast Conference football this season, because all games will be conference matches.

The importance of Saturday's schedule is magnified by the fact that the games come at the tail of the season when any of four teams could take the crown.

Two of the four leaders, Duke and N.C. State, meet Saturday and a defeat for Duke would put the Blue Devils out of contention.

If State lost the game, Duke as well as Wake Forest and Clemson will still be a battle for the crown, providing they keep winning.

The Tigers play the Maryland Terps this weekend and the Deacs take on South Carolina.

The Baptists are on the road to repeating last year's performance when they won the last four games on their schedule after losing the first five.

North Carolina plays Virginia in the remaining game this week. It will be the next to last conference match for both of them.

None of the teams other than the Tar Heels have been having worries over major injuries possibly cutting their chances this weekend.

Tar Heel end Peter Davis and quarterback Gayle Bonar were injured last week in the game with Air Force. Coaches were awaiting word from doctors as to whether the two stars will be able to play Saturday.

State, Wake, Virginia, Clemson Rate As Choices In ACC Battles

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Any way you look at it, Saturday's clash between unbeaten Penn State and rugged Miami, Fla., boils down to a Ted-to-Ted confrontation.

Ted Kwalick, State's tremendous tight end, will be tangling with Ted Hendricks, the Hurricanes' towering defensive end.

Kwalick, a 6-foot-4, 230-pound blocking and pass-catching marvel, saved the Nittany Lions' No. 4 national ranking last Saturday by scooping up an onside Army kickoff and rambling 53 yards for the deciding touchdown in a 28-24 victory over the Cadets.

Hendricks, a 6-foot-8, 222-pound All-American, sparked a Miami defensive charge that demolished Pitt 48-0 last Friday night.

The hunch is that Kwalick, fleet halfbacks Bob Campbell and Charlie Pittman and the nifty Nittany Lion defensive unit will prevail in a tight squeeze.

We creep into the dog days of a long season with a .716 accuracy mark on 295 correct picks, 103 bloopers and 14 standoffs, with the ties counted against us. Last week's slate was 42-13-2.

Here's the way some of the other top games around the country this weekend look from here:

Alabama over Louisiana State; LSU's Charlie McClendon, a coaching disciple of 'Bama's Bear Bryant, hasn't beaten the Master in four tries.

Purdue over Minnesota: Leroy Keyes & Co. snagged Minnesota's Rose Bowl plans last fall with a 41-12 zinger. They should win again.

Tennessee over Auburn: The Plainsmen will be a high hurdle for unbeaten Tennessee to clear. But the Vols have the perfect answer . . . High hurdler Richard Flowers.

Southern California over California: Orange Juice Simpson, limited to 67 rushing yards by Oregon last week, is due to break free again.

Kansas over Oklahoma: The second "s" in Jayhawk quarterback Bob Douglass' name stands for sensational.

Texas A&M over Southern Methodist: Texas popped the SMU balloon last Saturday.

Georgia over Florida: The Bulldogs held Houston's offensive juggernaut to 10 first quarter points. Gators should be a lark for Bill Stanfill and friends.

East—Army over Boston College; Syracuse over William I. Mary; Harvard over Princeton; Dartmouth over Columbia; Yale over Pennsylvania; Cornell over Brown; Holy Cross over Massachusetts.

South—Georgia Tech over Navy; Kentucky over Vanderbilt; Mississippi over Chattanooga; North Carolina State over Duke; Wake Forest over South Carolina; Virginia over North Carolina; Clemson over Maryland; Houston over Memphis

State; Virginia Tech over Richmond; Florida State over Mississippi State; Tulane over Tulsa; West Virginia over Citadel.

Midwest—Ohio State over Wisconsin; Michigan over Illinois; Michigan State over Indiana; Notre Dame over Pittsburgh; Iowa over Northwestern; Missouri over Iowa State; Nebraska over Kansas State; Colorado over Oklahoma State; Ohio University over Bowling Green; Louisville over Cincinnati; Kent State over Marshall; Miami, Ohio over Dayton.

Southwest—Arkansas over Rice; Texas over Baylor; Texas Tech over Texas Christian; West Texas State over Western Michigan; North Texas State over Texas El Paso.

Far West—Oregon State over UCLA; Air Force over Arizona; Oregon over Washington State; Stanford over Washington; Arizona State over Utah; Utah State over Brigham Young; New Mexico State over Wichita State; San Diego State over Southern Mississippi; Idaho over San Jose State.

Lamonica Gains Weekly Honors

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
NEW YORK (AP) — Daryle Lamonica passed for 352 yards in less than three quarters against Kansas City Sunday, completing 18 of 32 passes, tossed for two touchdowns and ran for another himself before he was forced out of the game by a knee injury.

"I was real disappointed when I had to leave," the Oakland quarterback said. "I had my sights set on a lot more completions."

Still, the Raiders easily whipped the Chiefs 38-21, and for his performance, Lamonica was named the American Football League's offensive player of the week by The Associated Press today.

The victory moved Oakland to within one-half game of the Western Division-leading Chiefs. But the Raiders now are more concerned about Daryle's left knee, which buckled when linebacker Jim Lynch hit him midway through the third quarter.

"It's not as serious as we thought," Lamonica said. "No cartilage or ligaments were torn."

"I feel confident I'll be able to play."

But the Raiders would be a lot happier if they knew Lamonica would be ready for Denver Sunday.

Among the other offensive stars last Sunday were Jim Turner, who kicked six field goals for New York, and three runners—Cincinnati's Paul Robinson, who gained 156 yards in 21 carries; Dick Post of San Diego, 151 in 21, and Denver's Floyd Little, 147 in 30.

AFL Teams Are Running More

NEW YORK (AP) — American Football League teams are running more and passing less, statistics showed today.

While the number of plays by both teams in a game has remained just about the same as last year, 125, the percentage of running plays has gone up from 46.7 to 51.6. In other words, teams generally are using more running than passing plays.

The strongest team against the rush is the New York Jets, who have limited their opponents to 71.8 yards a game. Houston, which plays in New York Sunday, has the stingiest pass defense, allowing 116.2 yards a game.

The Jets have the best defense over-all with 236.2 yards a game.

San Diego, meanwhile, has the best offense, averaging 423.6 yards a game. Kansas City has rushed for the most yardage an average of 173.8, while the Chargers have passed for the most, 277.0.

Reggie Smith of the Boston Red Sox started the 1967 baseball season in grand style. His first time up he hit a 400-foot-plus home run against Whitey Ford in Yankee Stadium.

Best first rounds by 1967 PGA golf tour winners were 655 turned in by Dave Hill in the Memphis Open and Dave Stockton in the Colonial Invitational at Dallas.

Northeastern Conference Title To Be Decided During Final Weekend

By JIM WOODS
The final curtain will rise on this Friday night on two football stages to determine the winner of the 1968 Northeastern Conference football drama. On Friday all three contenders won as Tarboro nipped Kinston 9-7, Roanoke Rapids edged past Washington 6-0 and Elizabeth City downed New Bern with an adding machine score of 32-26 so everything is set at Kinston and Tarboro this week. Roanoke Rapids will sit Kinston and Elizabeth City meets Tarboro head-on and on Friday after the whistle blows on Friday will the champ be Kinston 9-7, Roanoke Rapids known.

again last Friday night it turned the tide of victory at Tarboro. Paul Creech, who had been injured since the Rose High game of September 13, kicked a 20-yard field goal for Tarboro in the second quarter which proved to be the margin of victory as the Tigers won 9-7. Randy Hughes gave the Tigers a 9-0 lead in the third quarter with a 12-yard run around right end but Donald Lightfoot offset that six-point lead for the Red Devils with a 2-yard skirt of left end in the final period with Chutz Stadium converting but it wasn't enough for the Devils. Hughes carried the ball 18 times for the winner for 76 yards while Lightfoot carried the ball 14 times for the Devils for 38 yards.

Roanoke Rapids, assured of its best record since 1945 and with a chance at its first Northeastern conference crown, needed a last period 21 yard pass from Quarterback Barry Browning to end Tommy Myrick who made a circus catch for its win over Washington. The touchdown was set up by a blocked punt by tackle Nook Heugepeth and the Jackets took over on the Pack 27 where they drove in for the only score of the game. It was a fine team effort for the winners while Lex Mann, Grover Boyd, Robert Griffin and Dalton Taylor stood out for the Pam Pack.

The Elizabeth City team had to scramble for their 32-26 win over New Bern with Tom Beattie scoring in the first period on a one yard plunge but the Bears tied it up in the same quarter on David Johnson's four yard run. Tony Dickerson again put the Jackets ahead in the second period on a 6 yard burst off tackle as the Jackets led 13-6 at the half. Both teams scored in the third period as the Bears tied it up when Chick White took a punt on his own 2 yard line and rambled 98 yards for the score but the Jackets came right back on Lindsay Riddick's four yard run to make it 19-13 after three periods. Both teams scored twice in the fourth quarter with the Jackets sending Roy Warren in from the 12 and Torr Simpson on a two-yard burst and the Bears scoring on two Chuck Mohn to Chuck Farmer passes good for 10 yards and 12 yards to make the final count 32-26.

The most exciting game of the night probably took place at Morehead City as the Patriots of West Carteret edged past Rose High 34-32 with David Harrington stopped on the one inch line at the gun. Rose opened the scoring in the opening period on Harrington's five-yard run to lead 7-0. Jeff Stamps tied it up for WC taking a 1-yard pass from Bill Jackson to make it 7-7. The Phants came back as Kyle Hodges went 61 yards on a reverse but the extra point failed and it was 13-7 at the half. John Thompson tied it up in the third period on a two-yard run but Harrington again put Rose ahead with a one yard plunge. Following that Jackson passed to Stamps on the Rose 35, he in turn lateralled to Steve McNeil who went the rest of the way and it was 20-19 WC at the end of the third period. Four touchdowns were scored in the last period as Harrington again put Rose on top with a one-yard plunge but once again Stamps scored on a 36 yard pass from Jackson and the Pats led 27-26. Harrison Gaskins then took an 18-yard pass from Joe West for Rose to make 32-27 but Stamps again caught a Jackson pass for 34 yards and 34-32 with 2:0 left in the game. Rose took the next kickoff and rolled down field to the WC 3 with a first down and less than a minute left to play. Harrington tried the middle three times and got to the one yard line with 8 seconds left in the game. On the final play he tried to circle left end but was caught by Stamps on the 1 inch line—and that is not exaggeration—and the game was over amidst Rose protests that the ball was over the goal line. It went for naught and the Patriots took it home 34-32. Denny O'Neal kicked 4 extra points for the winners and Gary Bryant two for Rose.

The other league game saw Havelock win its first game 12-0 over East Carteret.

This week finds two big ones to decide the title as Elizabeth City meets Tarboro head-on at the Tiger field while Roanoke Rapids visits Kinston. Elsewhere it will be New Bern at Rose, West Carteret at Havelock and East Carteret at Washington.

League Standings

Team	Conf.	Overall
Roanoke Rapids	7-1	7-1
Tarboro	7-1	8-1
Elizabeth City	6-1	7-1
Kinston	5-3	5-4
West Carteret	5-3	6-3
Rose High	4-4	5-4
New Bern	3-5	3-6
Washington	1-6-1	2-6-1
Havelock	1-7	1-8
East Carteret	0-8	1-8

NEW YORK (AP) — The kickers finally have taken over the lead in the National Football League scoring race with Mike Clark of Dallas edging fullback Bill Brown of Minnesota, 61 points to 60.

Brown is the only nonkicker among the top 10 scorers in the latest league individual statistics released today.

Don Meredith of Dallas has moved past Bart Starr of Green Bay in the passing statistics, based on Meredith's percentage of completions, 56.9, touchdown passes, 14, percentage of interceptions, 3.6 and average gain, 8.13.

Gale Sayers' tremendous day at Green Bay, 205 yards in 24 carries, boosted the Chicago speedster's rushing total to 824 yards despite Leroy Kelly of Cleveland, who gained 174 yards against San Francisco. Kelly is second with 763 yards.

Clifton McNeil of San Francisco still is way out front in pass receiving with 48 for 676 yards, including five for 92 yards and touchdown against the Browns.

SONS FOLLOWS FATHERS

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — It's like father like son three times at Michigan State this fall.

Senior flanker and defensive back Frank Waters, junior middle guard Jack Zindel and sophomore defensive back Jay Breslin are offsprings of former Spartan gridmen.

Waters' dad, Frank, lettered at fullback 1146-49 and presently is athletic director and football coach at Hillsdale College.

Zindel is the son of Howard Zindel, a 1934-36 lineman who is professor and chairman of MSU's poultry science department.

Breslin's father, Jack, lettered in 1944-45 and is secretary of MSU's Board of Trustees.

The 1969 USGA women's Open golf championship will be played at the Scenic Hills Country Club in Pensacola, Fla.

Baylor Rescues Los Angeles, But Lakers Fail To Gain On Rockets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Elgin Baylor pulled off a last-minute rescue act, but it didn't help his Los Angeles Lakers gain any ground on San Diego in the National Basketball Association's torrid Western Division race.

Baylor whipped in a 10-foot jumper at the gun to tie it, then contributed four points in overtime Tuesday night as the Lakers pulled down the Chicago Bulls 112-109.

Meanwhile, surprising San Diego survived a late New York rally for a 113-109 conquest in the night's only other NBA game.

That left the Rockets on top of the Western Division with a 6-3 mark, just a shade ahead of Los Angeles, 6-4.

Oakland rode a 30-point outburst by Rick Barry to a 135-116 victory over the Dallas Chaparrals in the night's only American Basketball Association match.

Los Angeles led 78-77 after three quarters and increased it to 91-85 with four minutes left before Chicago rallied for a 100-100 tie with 45 seconds to go.

The Bulls' Flynn Robinson scored with just seven seconds left before Baylor's desperation shot sent the game into overtime.

Baylor finished with 33 points, while Jerry Sloan had 25 for Chicago.

New York used a dunk shot by Cazzie Russell with 10 seconds left to trim its deficit to 111-109, but San Diego's Pat Riley countered with a layup with a second to go to secure the Rockets' third straight victory.

Don Kojis led San Diego with 28 and John Block and rookie Elvin Hayes each contributed 25. Russell topped New York with 26.

Oakland, with a commanding lead in the ABA's Western Division, bulled to a 53-42 halftime command and coasted the rest of the way to its sixth triumph in seven games. It was the second straight loss for winless Dallas.

Rookie Warren Armstrong had 22 points for the Oaks, Charles Beasley led Dallas with 17.

Rushers Topping College Grid Stax

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
College football this season is producing some of the highest scoring in years, and the reason is not strictly due to the forward pass.

If anything, the 1968 college campaign probably will go down in the books as the year of the rushers—the fellows who move the ball on the ground.

It's almost certain that at least 16 players—compared with the 1967 record of 10—will finish the season with more than 1,000 yards rushing.

The country's leading ground gainer among major colleges is Gene Morris of West Texas State, f who has piled up 1,199 yards in eight games. His closest challenger is O. J. Simpson of Southern California, who picked up 67 against Oregon last week for a total of 1,047 in six games.

Morris and Simpson also are engaged in a duel for scoring honors, each with 15 touchdowns for 90 points and the lead in this race.

Other top rushers of the year include Roland Moss of Toledo, 933 yards; Bill Enyart of Oregon State, 913; Ron Poe James of New Mexico State, 911; Steve Owens of Oklahoma, 910; Ron Johnson of Michigan, 902, and Paul Gipson of Houston, 861.

Chuck Hixon of Southern Methodist is both the country's leading passer and its total offense pace-setter. He has completed 195 of 341 passes for 2,217 yards and 12 touchdowns. He has lost ground rushing, having a total of 2,128 yards in the air and on the ground, but he has been responsible for 17 touchdowns.

Greg Cook of Cincinnati is second in overall offense, with 1,929 yards and 19 TDs. Terry Hanratty of Notre Dame is third with 1,745 yards and 14 TDs. The best punter is Bill Bell of Kansas, averaging 42.9 yards.

Conigliaro To Start Comeback

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Monday and in a special hour-long drill conducted Tuesday.

The onetime slugging outfielder lined out and walked in two appearances against the Philadelphia Phillies Monday, then smacked drives all over the field and three out of it during the session Tuesday.

The 23-year-old former American League home run champion, who hasn't seen any regular season action since suffering an eye injury in an Aug. 18, 1967 beating, also went through a 45-minute fielding drill.

Chips and putts from area golf courses:

BROOK VALLEY

Eagles and birdies seem to be the fashion in golfing lately at Brook Valley Country Club.

Jim Hackney turned in an eagle, his first, on the par-five 17th hole. He reached the green in two shots, and then one-putted for the score. The eagle enabled him to post his best nine-hole score, a 39.

Tom Smith also picked up an eagle. This one came on the par-five second hole. He also reached in two and one-putted.

Dr. Dick Evans, who won the recent Brook Valley Invitational Golf Tournament, turned in a birdie-birdie-birdie finish during a practice round for the tournament.

Ercell Webb, playing in the tournament on the final day, also put together three birdies, on 15, 16 and 17 to pull into fourth place in the tournament.

ROBERSONVILLE C. C.

The Robersonville Golf and Country Club held its annual banquet to award trophies for the championship golf tournaments held last summer, on Saturday night.

Bobby Mobley was the men's winner this year, while Richard James took the junior championship. Women's champion for 1968 is Marguerette Johnson.

GREENVILLE C.C.

While golf action is slowing for the long winter months, the Greenville Country Club is taking advantage to get in some work.

Pro Boyd Huff reports that the ladies locker room and lounge is being re-done. Work is already underway, and is scheduled to be completed in about a month or six weeks.

The project is being sponsored by the Ladies Golf Association at the club.

Chorale Will Be In Campus Show

The Roger Wagner Chorale will perform at the Wright Auditorium on the campus of East Carolina University Wednesday evening, at 8:15 p.m. Admission is by season ticket only. Some tickets are still available at the Central Ticket office for $10.00.

This internationally known choral group was described by Leopold Stokowski as "second to none in the world." It has appeared in concerts throughout the United States, in North and South America, Europe, the Near East and the Far East.

The Chorale was formed by Roger Wagner twenty years ago. Wagner, a native of Le Puy, France came to the U.S. at the age of seven. His father, organist of the cathedral of Dijon became organist of St. Brendan's Church in Los Angeles. Robert became an organist and often substituted for his father by the time he was fourteen.

In Wednesday's performance the Chorale will perform a variety of music, including sacred music of the Renaissance Period, the Baroque Period, some of Leonard Bernstein's "Chichester Palms", and selections from Johannes Brahms' "Requiem".

RALEIGH (AP) — Although the contests were closer than usual, eight Democrats swept to victory over their Republican opponents in contests Tuesday for top state offices.

The victories will bring two newcomers to state executive posts, youthful-looking Robert Morgan of Lillington as attorney general and Craig Phillips of Greensboro as state superintendent of public instruction.

Veteran Democratic incumbents re-elected include Thad Eure as secretary of state, Henry L. Bridges as state auditor, Edwin Gill as state treasurer, Jim Graham as commissioner of agriculture, Frank Crane as commissioner of labor and Edwin S. Lanier as insurance commissioner.

Morgan, a 43-year-old attorney and state senator, defeated Warren H. Coolidge, a Fayetteville attorney. Earlier Morgan had triumphed over Atty. Gen. Wade Bruton in the Democratic primary last spring.

Phillips, a former school superintendent at Charlotte and Winston-Salem, is currently administrative vice president of the Richardson Foundation. After defeating two opponents to win the Democratic nomination last spring, Phillips triumphed over Joe L. Morgan of Marshall in the general election. Phillips entered the race after Dr. Charles F. Carroll announced he would not seek re-election.

Eure, 68, won election to a ninth term as secretary of state by defeating John P. East, an East Carolina University political science professor. Eure, an attorney and former legislator and principal clerk of the House was first elected in 1936.

Bridges, 61, served as an attorney and deputy clerk of court at Greensboro before he was appointed state auditor in 1947. He has been re-elected ever since. This time he defeated Theodore C. (Ted) Conrad, a Charlotte certified public accountant.

Gill, 68, won re-election over Clyde R. Greene, a hardware merchant and former mayor of Boone. Gill, an attorney who formerly served as state parole commissioner and commissioner of revenue, was appointed to the treasury post in 1953.

Graham, 47, defeated Claude L. Greene Jr. of Robersonville, a farmer and former member of the state Agricultural and Conservation Committee. Graham, who owns a livestock farm in Rowan County was appointed agricultural commissioner in 1964.

Crane, 61, has been commissioner of labor since 1954 after serving 13 years as head of the conciliation and arbitration service in the Labor Department. He defeated Ronald K. Ingle of Raleigh, a former legislator from Forsyth County who is currently an electrical engineering specialist at North Carolina State University.

Lanier, 67, defeated Everett L. Peterson, a Clinton insurance agent. A former student aid officer at the University of North Carolina, former legislator, and former state personnel director, Lanier was appointed insurance commissioner in 1962.

In GOP Column

Neither of the gubernatorial candidates of the state's traditional parties—locked in a tight race of their own—actively campaigned for their parties' presidential ticket.

Whether this had much effect on the presidential vote was doubtful.

Although he failed to carry the state—as he and others had predicted he would—Wallace scored one victory. He polled way above the 10 per cent of the total vote which was a minimum requirement for his party to be eligible to retain its political status in North Carolina.

Officials of Wallace's organization in the state have said repeatedly their aim is to make the third party a permanent one which will put up state and local candidates in future elections.

Congratulated Prior To Count

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Former Colorado Gov. Steve McNichols, a Democrat seeking the post held by U.S. Sen. Peter H. Dominick, R-Colo., received a telegram from Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., shortly before noon Tuesday, congratulating him on his victory, aides said.

No votes had been counted at the time.

Bundy To Speak At Convention

Sam D. Bundy, principal of the Sam D. Bundy School, Farmville, will be the keynote speaker at the convention of the North Carolina Association of College and University Registrars and Directors of Admissions tonight in Durham.

Bundy will also speak at the banquet session of the North Carolina Student Council Convention in Jacksonville Monday night.

Billy Daniels Stabbed In Back

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Daniels, the Negro singer who gained fame with his rendition of "That Old Black Magic," was stabbed in the back Tuesday night while performing at the Latin Quarter nightclub.

Police captured a man they identified as the assailant several minutes after the stabbing.

As 75 patrons looked on, police said, the man, also a Negro, rushed up on stage, forced Daniels to the side of the stage and stabbed him twice in the back with a switchblade knife.

Daniels, 62, was reported in satisfactory condition at Roosevelt Hospital where he remained overnight for observation.

Charged in the stabbing is Theodore Harmon, 43, of Manhattan. Police quoted him as saying Daniels "is a friend of mine and owes me money."

Police said that when they arrived at the nightclub several patrons crouched behind their chairs or held their chairs up to protect themselves.

The stabbing was not Daniels' first brush with violence.

In 1957, Daniels lost his New York City cabaret license in the aftermath of a 1955 shooting in a Harlem bottle club.

Heavily Negro Precincts Lean To Scott, HHH

Analysis of three Greenville precincts with heavy Negro registration shows an apparent preference by Negro voters for Hubert Humphrey for president and Bob Scott for governor.

Greenville 3 at Third St. School has 592 Negro voters and 209 registered whites. Humphrey received 567 votes there, Nixon 57 and Wallace 89. Scott took 599 votes in the precinct and Gardner 82.

Greenville 4 has 502 registered whites and 766 Negroes. The vote there was 712 for Humphrey, 131 for Nixon and 349 for Wallace. Scott received 824 and Gardner 329.

Greenville 6 (Fifth St. Fire Station) has 731 whites registered and 355 Negroes. The vote there was 432 for Humphrey, 371 for Nixon and 229 for Wallace. Scott received 624 and Gardner 389.

Camera's Eye Followed Story Of 1968 Elections

GOOD LUCK KISS — Former Alabama Governor George Wallace gives his mother, Mrs. George C. Wallace, a kiss before he voted at the Barbour County Courthouse in Clayton, Ala. (AP Wirephoto)

FAMILIAR ROLE — Former President Harry S. Truman leaves the voting booth after casting his vote in the general election. (AP Wirephoto)

SUSPENSEFUL TIME — This was the scene at Richard M. Nixon's Headquarters in the Waldorf Astoria Hotel in New York City Wednesday morning as Nixon-Agnew supporters spent suspenseful hours keeping track of election results. (AP Wirephoto)

ON THE WAY OUT — Police carry a demonstrator with a flag out of Lafayette Square in breaking up a rally by young people across the street from the White House yesterday. The rally was sponsored by Students for a Democratic Society as part of their attempt to stage a nationwide student strike to protest the presidential election. (AP Wirephoto)

ENTIRE VOTING DISTRICT — Mr. and Mrs. Eugene D. Sheats, Sr., of Bread and Cheese Island near Wilmington, Delaware, are lowered on the hoist of a truck after voting straight GOP. The only voters on the island, a voting machine was brought to their home by truck, and each served as clerks of election for their spouse. (AP Wirephoto)

109-YEAR-OLD VOTES — Alex Turner, a former slave who says he's 109 and had voted for Republicans since he cast his first ballot for James Garfield in 1880, casts his vote for Hubert H.

Humphrey in Salem, N. J. He marked his ballot with an "X" as with an assist from his great grandson, Eugene Lindsey. (AP Wirephoto)

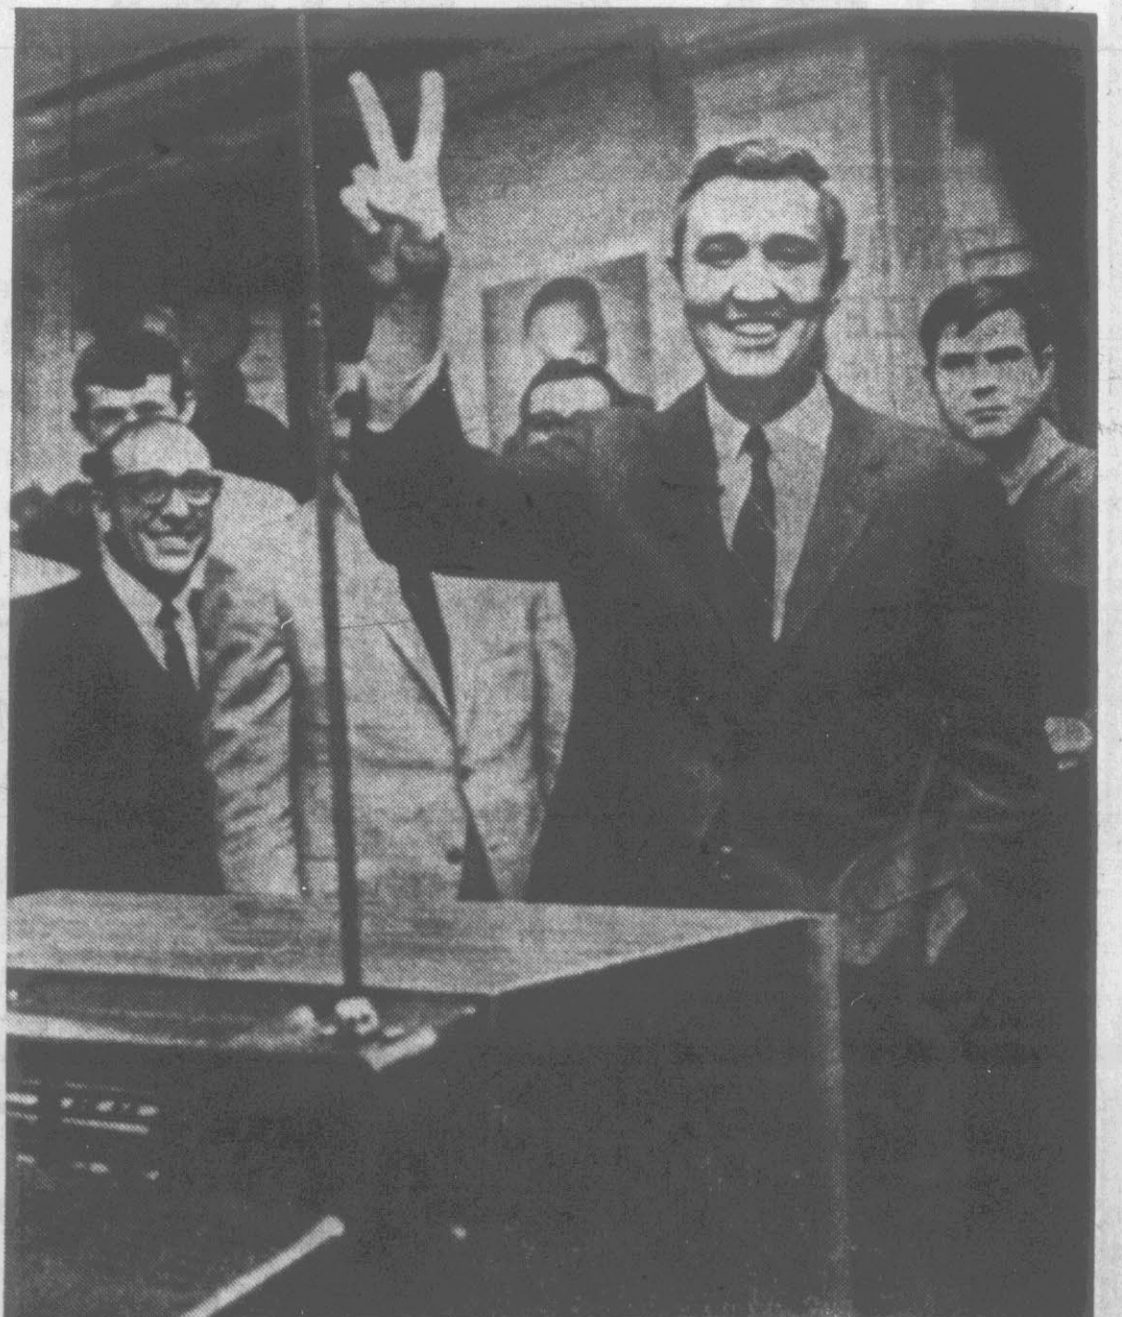

HIS LAST VOTE AS PRESIDENT — Lyndon B. Johnson strides past a distance marker as he arrived at the polls to vote in Tuesday's general election. The President and Mrs. Johnson drove 15 miles from their ranch to vote in Johnson City. (AP Wirephoto)

I WONDER WHO — Two-year-old David Suggs, Jr., of Columbia, S. C., looks as though he may be deciding between which candidate he was to vote for; but, a toy is where you find it, and the handle of the voting board is too much to resist. (AP Wirephoto)

CONFIDENCE—Republican candidate for Governor of North Carolina displayed confidence as he watched early returns in his Raleigh hotel headquarters. Here he flashes the victory sign to photographers. He was defeated. (AP Wirephoto)

Arthritics Said Victimized

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—More than $300 million a year is spent by arthritics on worthless and sometimes harmful treatments, "cures" and devices, says Dr. Wallace Epstein, of the University of California Medical Center. These include such nostrums as filtered sea water, so-called "immune" milk, honey and apple vinegar combinations, alfalfa tablets, glorified aspirin, health spas, magnetic rings and copper jewelry.

Viet Cong Saboteurs Destroy Vital Bridge

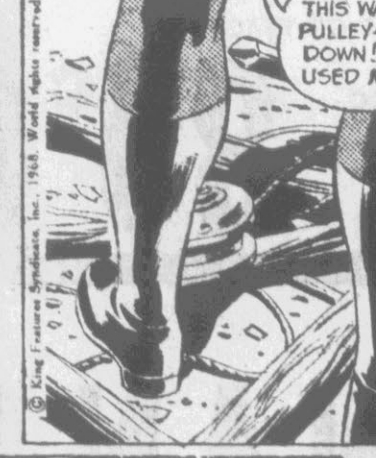

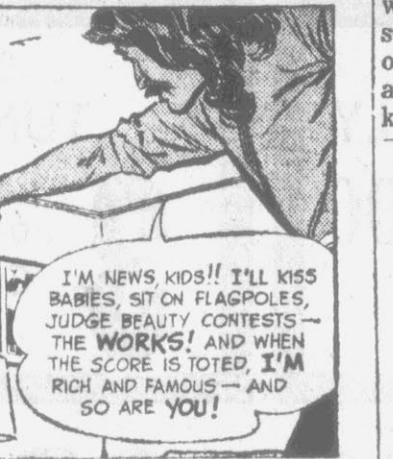

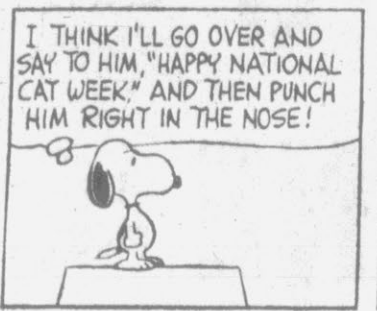

SAIGON (AP) — Viet Cong

saboteurs today blew out the three center spans of the biggest permanent bridge built by U.S. Army engineers in Vietnam, but the American Command said it expected traffic to be moving over a pontoon bridge by Thursday morning. U.S. headquarters also announced the loss of four American helicopters in combat Monday and Tuesday, with one American killed and six wounded. Three of the choppers were shot down by enemy gunners along the jungle invasion routes northwest of Saigon. This raised to 914 the total of U.S. helicopters shot down during the war. A military spokesman said frogmen apparently floated a massive charge beneath the heavily guarded 1,000-foot Phu Cuong Bridge just before dawn. About 180 feet of the bridge was blown out, but there was no report of casualties. The bridge, 18 miles north of Saigon was one of the busiest in the nation, handling supply traffic for two U.S. divisions northwest of the capital. Completed last June, the bridge was the pride of the U.S. Army engineers. It floated on piles driven almost 300 feet into the silt, and special protection against floating mines or frogmen was built around the piles. In the air war, U.S. Air Force and Navy fighter-bombers streaked to within two miles of the Cambodian border and set off a massive chain of explosions in a Communist ammunition dump filled with rockets and mortars, military spokesmen reported today. More than 10 bombers attacked the ammunition dump Tuesday in retaliation for heavy enemy shelling of a U.S. 4th Division base in the central highlands four days ago. Pilots reported at least 37 secondary explosions that touched off two huge fires and sent fireballs 8,000 feet into the air. The strikes were 15 miles west of the town of Dak To. Several ground clashes were reported across the country, but the lull in major sustained fighting continued in its fifth week. In the heaviest fighting reported, South Vietnamese rangers said they killed 79 Viet Cong in a day-long battle Tuesday in the Mekong Delta 64 miles southwest of Saigon. Nine rangers were killed and 30 wounded. The fight erupted when a government battalion made a helicopter assault landing and ran into an enemy force of unknown size. U.S. Marines clashed twice with enemy forces during sweeping operations just south of Da Nang. Eight Marines and at least three of the enemy were killed and 10 Marines were wounded. About 30 miles north of Saigon, soldiers of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division reported killing seven Viet Cong during a reconnaissance mission. No U.S. casualties were reported. The political front was quiet as South Vietnamese and American officials awaited the outcome of the American presidential election. Premier Tran Van Huong told newsmen the Saigon government in a few days would make public a "new formula" for peace negotiations it considers acceptable. Although he gave no details, he said it would not compromise South Vietnam's vital interests. "We will attend peace talks whenever we have in our hands enough sure guarantees," said Huong. So far as could be learned there were no U.S.-Vietnamese conferences seeking to get President Nguyen Van Thieu to send a delegation to the postponed Paris peace talks. There also was no word of any high-level meeting among the South Vietnamese leaders, who apparently were waiting to see if Richard M. Nixon would be elected. The Vietnamese leaders think Nixon would support Thieu's refusal to attend a conference that gives the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front any more status than being part of North Vietnam's delegation. The Paris peace talks had been scheduled to resume today with both the NLF and the Saigon government represented for the first time, but the United States postponed the meeting because of Thieu's refusal to send representatives.

 North's direct raise to two no trump does not get our vote of approval. Holding a five card major suit and a worthless doubleton, he should first explore the possibilities of playing the hand in a heart contract.

North is not in position to bid hearts directly himself, for a jump to three hearts would show 10 points, whereas a bid of two hearts would designate a hand containing less than eight points. The recommended procedure is for North to bid two clubs which in our current methods announces at least eight points and requests the opening bidder to show a four card major suit. The two club bid is, of course, artificial and has nothing to do with the club suit.

If South's rebid is two diamonds, this call is also artificial and denies a biddable major suit. North is now at liberty to bid two hearts himself and await partner's reaction. With the actual holding, South would have shown his heart holding and the major suit game would have been reached routinely. Declarer would have experienced no difficulty in taking 10 tricks.

Although nine top tricks appear to be available in no trump, South found it necessary to engage in some fancy footwork to uncover a roadblock which loomed up momentarily in his long suit.

West opened the six of diamonds, the four was played from dummy, and, when East put in the ten, he was permitted to hold the trick. On the continuation, South was obliged to play the ace. Declarer cashed the queen of hearts and continued with a small heart to the king on which West showed out, discarding a club.

Declarer observed that, if he played North's ace of hearts next to drop East's jack, the following round of the suit would have to be taken in the closed hand, and there would be no way to ever reach the dummy again to cash the fifth heart.

He decided to enlist his opponent's assistance, to unravel the tangle. The jack of diamonds was led from dummy and South discarded the eight of hearts from his hand. West was able to cash out the defensive book in the diamond suit but, when declarer regained the lead, he was in position to overtake the nine of hearts with North's ace and run the rest of the suit.

The Worry Clinic Come To Grief Over Failing To Understand

Janet's case shows why millions of marriages are unhappy. For it is failure to understand the outlook of the opposite sex, which makes men and women quarrel and even falsely accuse each other of marital unfaithfulness. Scrapbook this case, for it is a classic in psychiatry.

By GEORGE W. CRANE Ph. D., M. D.

CASE H-527: Janet J., aged 37, is hysterical. "Dr. Crane," she moaned, "my husband is accusing me of chasing around with other men."

"But it just isn't true! I have been a faithful wife and mother to our 3 children and am PTA president, plus teacher of a Bible Class in Sunday School.

"So what could possibly make him say such things?" "Impotence" is the most likely quick answer a psychiatrist would give Janet.

For when a husband becomes platonic, he goes into a panic lest his wife will lose interest in him and regard him as "no good."

This is the supreme deflation of a husband's ego, so he grows desperate in his attempt to divert her attention from the real problem.

"If I accuse her of sexual affairs," is a common thought that strikes such a male, "then it will keep the focus of attention on her instead of on me. And my anger at her faithlessness will then excuse my failure to become romantic with her!"

This is the technique which I call "beating the wife to the draw," if we may use the Wild West gun slinger's lingo. It is a very common device by which a guilty party can shift the attention from himself to the innocent person and then make the later loko like the sinner.

Even children often hit upon this clever strategy, so they will loudly pass the buck to an innocent brother or sister.

Thus, a child who has waded in the mud with his new shoes, may realize his mother will scold him severely.

So he tries to beat her to the draw by coming home, crying loudly.

"What's the matter, Honey?" his mamma may sympathetically inquire.

"Oh, Billy made me walk in the mud and get my new shoes all dirty!" is the ingenious reply that makes Billy the fall guy.

In Janet's case, when I quizzed her further, she admitted that her marriage had been totally platonic for almost 2 years.

Yet it was in this same 2-year span that her husband had begun to make his wild charges about her unfaithfulness.

A second reason which often leads an impotent man to accuse his or her mate, is the fact that as soon as a married person thinks he is no longer sexually attractive, then he magnifies the erotic appetite of his mate.

Although a husband has known for 20 years that his wife has been relatively indifferent to sex and even frigid, as soon as he himself becomes platonic, then he suddenly thinks his wife is a nymphomaniac and thus seeking sexual affairs elsewhere to dissipate her exaggerated eroticism.

Menopausal wives do the very same thing, for when they think they are on the shelf, they also begin to wildly accuse their mates into protests of affection.

the eyes! But a defeatism complex can make a husband totally platonic in one night, so a smart wife should remove his fears by waxing more aggressive in the boudoir.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing along stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina hog market mostly steady. Tops 18.00-18.50 Rocky Mount; 17.25-18.00 Wilson; 17.00-18.00 Kinston, New Bern, Benson, Mt. Olive, Newton Grove, Albemarle, Lumberton; 17.25-17.75 Bethel; 18.25 Salisbury; 17.75 Greensboro; 17.50 Siler City.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina live poultry steady at 11 1/2 to 12, mostly 11 1/2 cents per pound.

NEW YORK (AP) — Wall Street heaved a sigh of relief, and the stock market rallied sharply early today on news that Richard M. Nixon had been declared the unofficial winner of the presidency.

Although Nixon has been regarded as more bullish for stocks than Vice President Humphrey, the main factor in the market's spurt was relief that a deadlock election had been avoided, analysts said.

Gains outnumbered losses by more than 2 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 2.1 at 352.9, with industries up 4.5, rails up .3, and utilities up .7.

The market rose cautiously on moderately active trading at the start when the outcome of the election remained in doubt. At the end of the first hour, the news that Nixon was the apparent victor had an immediate effect on the market. Prices rose in heavier trading.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 7.40 at 953.63, paring its rise of 8.08 a half hour before.

Gains of fractions to 2 or 3 points were scattered throughout the list.

The trend was higher among motors, rubbers, electronics, oils and building materials. Steels were easy. Tobaccos and drugs were mixed.

Gains of a point or so were scored by Chrysler, General Motors, Commonwealth Edison, American Cyanamid, American Can, General Electric, Westinghouse Electric, Lorillard and Johns-Manville.

Penn Central was down a fraction while Kayser-Roth spurted a couple of points after news that their merger plans were terminated.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange.

And Suddenly, He Is Elected

Just a month ago, David Reid, a Greenville attorney, had no thought of being involved in the 1968 elections—that is, other than a citizen voting for the men of his choice.

DAVID REID

Then, on October 3, the Pitt County Democratic Executive Committee met to choose a candidate for 8th District Representative to the State House of Representatives. A vacancy had been created by the death of James Harvey Ward Jr. The committee chose Reid to fill the vacancy. Now, less than five weeks later, Reid has been elected by Pitt County voters to represent them for the 8th District. The voters gave him a substantial 14,285 votes to 5,641 votes for his opponent.

"I am surprised that the total vote was so large. I feel I benefitted in this election by the large turn-out in Pitt County," Reid stated.

Speaking of the short time he had to prepare and conduct a campaign, Reid observed: "I was very much concerned by the fact that I did not have more time to get out and see more people.

"I am deeply grateful to the people of Pitt County for the confidence they have placed in me as indicated by this large majority. I'm certainly going to do everything in my power to justify their faith. I want to make them proud to have me represent them in Raleigh."

Reid noted his wife has mixed emotions about his success. "I would say she is more delighted than otherwise. It is just that it will mean I'll be away from the children a little more."

He was referring to his twin girls, Rebekah and Jackie, who are two years old today. "I feel my winning this election is a fine birthday present for the twins," Reid remarked.—JERRY RAYNOR

Some In Area Unopposed

Fifteen Democratic candidates for district court judgeships, the North Carolina Senate, the State House of Representatives and various county offices were unopposed in yesterday's general election.

Candidates for judgeships in the Third District Court District who had no opposition included J.W.H. Roberts, Charles H. Whedbee and Robert D. Wheeler of Pitt County and Herbert O. Phillips of Carteret County.

Julian R. Allsbrook of Roanoke Rapids and Vernon E. White of Winterville were named to the State Senate, while H. Horton Rountree of Greenville was elected to Pitt County seat 2 in the N.C. House with no opposition.

County officers who were elected with no opposition include Charles P. Gaskins, R. L. "Bob" Martin and Bruce Strickland to the Board of County Commissioners, H. E. Lewis Jr. as Clerk of Superior Court, Elvira T. Allred as Register of Deeds and J.B. Congleton Jr., Sam E. Nelson and A. D. McLawhorn Jr. to seats on the Pitt County Board of Education.

An additional 15 candidates—all Democrats—ran unopposed on the state ballot and were elected. They were all candidates for judgeships on the N. C. Supreme Court, the Court of Appeals and Superior Courts.
