Probers Look For Links Between Sirhan, Namers

NEW YORK (AP) — A 43-year-old Arab immigrant and his two sons are being held in $100,000 bail each in connection with an alleged plot to assassinate President-elect Richard M. Nixon.

The three, who were arrested in Brooklyn Saturday night, were arraigned Sunday on charges of conspiracy to commit murder, possession of deadly weapons and criminal solicitation.

They are Ahmed Ragueh Namer, a naturalized American citizen who came to this country from Yemen 13 years ago, and his sons, Hussein, 20, and Abdo, 18.

Police gave no details of the alleged plot.

Investigators were checking whether the three might have had any association with Sirhan B. Sirhan, the Jordanian immigrant who goes on trial in Los Angeles Dec. 9 on charges of assassinating Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Three Storm Systems Churn

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Three storm systems churned across the Northern states to day dumping traffic-snarling snowfall on New England and the Midwest and pushing freezing temperatures and the threat of snow into the Deep South.

The most intense storm piled up to 11 inches of snow in six hours on top of earlier accumulations that temporarily stranded thousands of motorists in parts of New England Sunday.

Millinocket, in central Maine, measured 19 inches of snow by early today while nearby Greenville huddled under 16 inches.

State police in southern Vermont and New Hampshire reported thousands of motorists temporarily stalled Sunday on secondary roads when up to 10 inches of slushy snow caught them without snow tires or chains.

Some early season skiers in the Mt. Snow, Vt., area took refuge in ski lodges and inns that were preparing for a Thanksgiving opening.

The snow was driven by gale-force winds along the New England coast.

No motive for the alleged plot had been revealed but Nixon, like Kennedy, has said the United States is committed to maintain Israel's military superiority over its Arab foes.

Nixon was in Key Biscayne, Fla. He was scheduled to return to New York, where he has an apartment, Monday night.

A Nixon aide, informed of the arrests, said Nixon "has no concern over it." He added, "Any idea of a major plot is overexaggerated."

The Namers reportedly took several trips to the West Coast and other parts of the country. Police sources said the men gave no satisfactory explanation on how they could afford to travel so much on their modest salaries. All three worked as shipping clerks.

In Washington however, the Secret Service said any attempt to link the alleged plot with the Kennedy assassination was "pure speculation at the moment."

Mohsin Alani, Yemen's ambassador to the United Nations, said Sunday night his consulate had no record of the three men. He also urged caution in prejudging the case and said, "What I think is maybe someone who has differences with these people did call and accuse them of something. The other thing is that in Yemen everyone has arms. It is permitted."

The Cairo newspaper Al Ahram said the whole story was a fabrication designed to turn Nixon against the Arabs. The paper called New York City "a den of Zionism in America." It also said Yemen was not directly involved in the Israeli dispute.

Police and Secret Service agents who burst into the Namer apartment Saturday found two rifles, two switchblade knives and a quantity of ammunition.

The arrests came after police received an anonymous telephone call from a man who said the Namers had tried to recruit him because he is an expert marksman.

Police traced the call seized the man and questioned him for several hours until finally they apparently became convinced he was telling the truth. The informant, said to be a 36-year-old man with an Arab name, is in protective custody.

Nixon Meets LBJ Today On Problems

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon and President Johnson meet today in a White House conference that may determine whether the President-elect takes an active role before his inauguration in the search for a Vietnam peace.

President and Mrs. Johnson are hosts to president-elect and Mrs. Nixon at a luncheon. Later the men are to discuss problems of government while the women talk about keeping house in the executive mansion.

Nixon told newsmen Saturday he might send personal representatives abroad—presumably to the Paris peace talks or to Saigon—if Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk think such a move would be helpful in the peace quest.

Special Programs Being Held

Tar Heels Join In Honoring Veterans And U.S. War Dead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Residents of North Carolina joined other Americans today in honoring the nation's war dead.

Veteran's Day observances included various programs, but most communities held parades and paid verbal tribute during addresses by military officers and veterans groups.

State and federal offices in Raleigh and elsewhere in the state were closed for the day.

Maj. Gen. John R. Deane Jr., commander of the 82nd Airborne Division at Ft. Bragg, spoke during the morning at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Fayetteville.

CWO R. W. Rohrbough, band director of the 82nd Division, presented musical selections. A color guard of the 82nd posted the colors with a 7th Special Forces firing squad.

The presidents of veterans groups spoke in the morning at Jefferson Square in Greensboro. A parade followed.

Amos Banks, 98, Greensboro's oldest known veteran, was honored by introduction at the parade ceremonies. Banks, who is blind, was a member of an Army band in the Spanish American War.

Five or six area bands participated in the afternoon parade in Rockingham. About 10

Veterans of Foreign Wars posts participated in the annual observance, during which the Gold Star Mothers were introduced and wreaths were placed at a war monument on the square.

A parade, two beauty contests, a carnival and a dance were held over the weekend at Warsaw, the North Carolina town which usually has the biggest Veterans Day observance.

Lt. Gen. John J. Tolson, commander of the 18th Airborne Corps at Ft. Bragg and a native of New Bern, was the main speaker at ceremonies at New Bern.

Special guests included Congressman Walter B. Jones, from the First District; Miss Annita Johnson, the current Miss North Carolina and resident of New Bern; Major Gen. and Mrs. Marion E. Carl and Brig. Gen. and Mrs. R. F. Conley, all of Cherry Point.

A parade followed the talks and a barbecue dinner at Kafer Park.

A 32-unit parade, composed of bands or marching units from several branches of the Armed services the East Carolina University ROTC marching units and various floats, marched down the streets of Goldsboro.

Col. H. H. Houston, past national commander of veterans of World War I was the main speaker at ceremonies at the monument on Courthouse Square. Brodie West, Wayne County's most decorated hero of World War I, placed the wreath by the monument.

Robeson County residents observed the day by attending a gathering at Pembroke State College quadrangle. Capt. G. E. Locke, of the U.S. Navy, a native of Pembroke, was the main speaker.

A parade followed Locke's address.

A morning Veteran's Day parade in Asheville featured 40 units and was sponsored by Asheville Jaycees.

A fly-over by four military jet signaled the start of the parade.

Gunners Inside DMZ Pound Marine Positions

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese gunners fired artillery and rockets from inside the demilitarized zone at U.S. Marine positions Sunday, a military spokesman said today. It was the first enemy attack from within the buffer zone since President Johnson halted the bombing of North Vietnam and indicated he expected a reciprocal suspension of attacks from the DMZ.

The spokesman said at least four Leathernecks were killed and 41 were wounded in five attacks on three Marine positions just south of the DMZ. Marine planes and artillery struck back. Marine headquarters said aerial observers and ground troops spotted two of the North Vietnamese gun emplacements, both of them in the southern half of the DMZ.

Marine aircraft and artillery destroyed one firing position and 10 bunkers three miles west of Con Thien and half a mile north of the southern boundary of the zone, a spokesman said. Heavy artillery fired on the other position, five miles west of Con Thien and one mile inside the DMZ, but it was not known if it was destroyed, said the spokesman.

One of the enemy attacks was against the Con Thien outpost, three hit a Marine unit four miles southwest of Con Thien, and one was against another Leatherneck unit four miles southeast of the outpost. The enemy used 75mm artillery and 122mm rockets, the spokesman said.

When President Johnson halted the bombing on Nov. 1 to get the peace talks in Paris moving, he warned: "We cannot have productive talks in an atmosphere where the cities are being shelled and the demilitarized zone is being abused."

Although the Viet Cong have shelled a number of South Vietnamese cities since the bombing halt went into effect, one of Johnson's chief war policy advisers, Walt W. Rostow, on Sunday, minimized these because they have been far smaller than previous shelling of Saigon.

"We have not made an agreement to have a cease-fire," he said. "We are not asking the other side totally to stand down."

Rostow was interviewed on the ABC radio-television program "Issues and Answers."

Besides the attacks on the Marine posts, military spokesmen reported four South Vietnamese towns and three other military installations shelled Sunday with four civilians killed and 18 persons wounded.

Only light ground fighting was reported, but U.S. B52 bombers struck on three sides of Saigon late Sunday and early today in the campaign to ward off another offensive against the capital. Crewmen reported seeing eight secondary explosions, indicating hits on munitions dumps.

The U.S. Command reported a new outbreak of fighting today 75 miles north of Saigon.

A spokesman said tanks and armored personnel carriers of the U.S. 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment encountered heavy enemy fire while sleeping nine miles from the Cambodian border. Helicopter gunships and dive-bombers were called in to support the armored column.

Fighting was reported continuing with 28 enemy killed so far. American casualties were light, the spokesman said.

NATO Meeting Told Should Warn Soviet

BRUSSELS (AP) — The North Atlantic alliance, opening a week of high-level meetings, today heard an appeal to let the Soviet Union know that after its invasion of Czechoslovakia the West will "face any new development with appropriate firmness."

The appeal came from Manlio Brosio, secretary-general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, who told the Atlantic Assembly the invasion has brought "instability mainly in the Soviet Union and in the Communist community, uncertainty in the Western world faced with the possibility of disquieting developments."

He said a repressive Soviet action might go into Yugoslavia or Albania and "the Soviets would be then beyond the limits of the Warsaw Pact and right to the shores of the Mediterranean."

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—President-elect Richard M. Nixon, soon to become commander-in-chief of the U.S. armed forces, was chatting with Coast Guard Capt. John Thompson this weekend, while in Florida for a rest. Nixon noted he has real estate interests in the Bahamas Islands and said, "Maybe one of these days, captain, I can hitch a ride over on one of your planes."

Thompson, commander of the Coast Guard's 7th District here, nodded briskly and replied: "Any time, sir. You just say the word."

Thompson told a newsmen later he was thinking, "Mr. Nixon, all you have to do is wag your little finger and you can have the whole blasted fleet."

Soviet naval activity in the Mediterranean, he continued, had been viewed by some optimists as largely a matter of prestige and influence.

"Now," he went on, "The Soviet Mediterranean deployment deserves new consideration and creates new uneasiness, viewed in connection with possible pressures on the Socialist states of southeastern Europe."

Brosio said there is no question of large increases in numbers of units and weapons for NATO members.

"However," he added, "we must for the time being refrain from any reduction of forces, bring the existing forces to their full required levels of manning, training and equipment, ensure fast arrival and reception of necessary reinforcements, improve the quality, training and equipment of reserves, develop the means for rapid and extensive mobilization, adopt, within the limits of tolerable national efforts, all the financial measures necessary to support those military requirements."

The Atlantic Assembly brings together some 200 members of the U.S. Congress and of the parliaments of the 14 other NATO members. The assembly can only make studies, debate them and issue reports.

McNamara Makes Visit To Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — Robert S. McNamara, president of the World Bank and former U.S. secretary of defense, is visiting Moscow as a tourist, the U.S. Embassy said today.

A spokesman said McNamara arrived Sunday and will leave Tuesday for Kabul, Afghanistan, where he will conduct official business for the World Bank.

McNamara, accompanied by his wife, is staying at the official residence of U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson.

To Introduce Liquor By The Drink Bill

RALEIGH (AP) — A liquor-by-the-drink bill will be introduced in the 1969 General Assembly but though going is predicted for it.

Rep. James Vogler, D-Mecklenburg, said in an interview published today that the Mecklenburg delegation will present a measure providing local option on the issue.

Rep. Jack Euliss, D - Alamance, who was chairman of the committee which handled the last session's liquor bills, predicted it won't have much of a chance.

"Without the endorsement of the governor, I think it'll be rough in the House," Euliss said. Gov.-elect Bob Scott is on record as saying he is personally against liquor-by-the-drink but that he would not try to block a local option bill.

The issue might fare better in the Senate than the House.

"It ought to pass this time in the Senate," said Sen. Herman Moore, D - Mecklenburg, who pressed for passage of a similar measure in the last General Assembly.

Lt. Gov. - elect Pat Taylor, who as the Senate's presiding officer wields considerable influence on legislation, said he will see that a local option bill would get "a full, fair hearing before an impartial committee."

Groups favoring local option already are at work.

Russians Launch New Moon Probe

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has launched another unmanned space ship, Zond 6, toward the moon but has not disclosed the exact purpose of the flight.

An official announcement said the spaceship was launched Sunday "to conduct scientific explorations along the route of the flight and in near-lunar space" and to test "systems and units" aboard the craft.

The launching came seven weeks after an unmanned Soviet Zond 5 made history's first flight around the moon and back to earth, and followed by two weeks cosmonaut Georgy Beregovoy's earth orbit flight in a Soyuz spacecraft.

This activity seems to indicate an intensification of the Soviet effort to send a man to the moon.

The brief official announcement did not indicate whether Zond 6 would attempt to retrace the route of Zond 5 but the Bochum Observatory in West Germany said the present trajectory of Zond 6 indicated it would.

Confident Over Red China Vote

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Nationalist China's supporters at the United Nations predicted today that the annual resolution to seat Red China will suffer its worst defeat in four years.

They estimated that the vote against it would be 60-44 compared to last year's 58-45. The proposal has lost strength annually since 1965, when it eked out a 47-47 tie. Even its strongest supporters privately conceded it could not pass this year.

Gasoline Blast Killed Nineteen

MANILA (AP) — Nineteen persons, most of them children, have died from burns suffered in a gasoline tank explosion Sunday in a central Philippine village 200 miles south of Manila. Officials said many of the 48 injured are in critical condition.

The observatory calculated the space ship would circle the moon on Tuesday and Wednesday and would land in the Indian Ocean east of Madagascar on Nov. 16. That was the area in which Zond 5 landed.

The Jodrell Bank radio telescope station in Britain calculated that Zond 6 would make its approach to the moon Wednesday night.

The Soviet announcement said equipment aboard the space craft was functioning normally. It said Zond 6 first went into a parking orbit around the earth Sunday, then blasted off for the moon.

Poverty Said To Pose Big Peace Threat

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) I Paul G. Hoffman, administrator of the U.N. Development Program, said today poverty and lack of opportunity generated "grave threats to peace" in the world.

The American ex-motor magnate and former Marshall Plan head told the U.N. General Assembly's Economic Committee that because of recent foundation-building, "we are now in a position to make major and relatively rapid progress against hunger, disease, ignorance, unemployment and many other specific causes of human frustration."

But, he declared, there is an "imperative need to make every moment count" in doing this.

"Since the opportunity to build a decent life could soon be made available to all men," Hoffman said, "all men will soon regard that opportunity as an inalienable right. It is perfectly just that they should do so."

"But, as history shows, if the achievement of inalienable rights is too long deferred, men will eventually strive to seize them by whatever means are available, including violent means. Herein lie great dangers—to all people, to all nations, and to the very structure of civilized society."

American Veterans Of All Wars Are Honored

Half a century has passed since the Armistice for World War I was declared on November 11, 1918. To commemorate the day observances will be held throughout the nation, beginning with special ceremonies at Arlington National Cemetery.

In 1954 the 83rd Congress redesignated Armistice Day as Veterans Day. By setting aside November 11 as Veterans Day, Congress proclaimed this day as a time of honoring all American veterans of all wars.

Locally, the observance is headed by Pitt County Post No. 39 of the American Legion. William H. Moore, Commander of Post No. 39, urged "that every effort be made to turn this holiday in Greenville into a dynamic demonstration of patriotism."

Moore observed that Mayor S. Eugene West has called upon all citizens and business firms to display the flag "as a reaffirmation of our national unity and a rededication of our support to our nation in her defense of the cause of freedom."

Mayor West has issued a proclamation to the citizens of Greenville asking them to contribute to the observance of Armistice Day. Some highlights of this proclamation are:

"—the gallant Americans serving in today's armed forces continue to demonstrate the unselfish willingness of our nation to meet the challenge of those forces seeking world domination through armed conflict;
"—the nation and the free world are eternally grateful for the contributions of American veterans to the advancement of the cause of an honorable world peace; and

"—I call upon all citizens to observe Monday, November 11, 1968, as Veterans Day, and ask that the day be observed with appropriate ceremonies in honor of those who have borne the burden in defense of our freedom."

Working Mothers Give Time Management Tips

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI)—Most mothers who work outside the home are studies in perpetual motion.

Wearing the tri-cornered hat of wife, mother and career woman makes this breed of female expert at time management. Those who can't juggle the chores and hours hang by the fingernails until they drop out of the triple-headed race.

What's therapeutic in cases where all seems lost gathering time-management tips from other working mothers not bowled over by the triple roles.

This wife, mother, career woman—with such an aim in mind—picked the brains of working mothers attending a women's news seminar at the American Press Institute, at Columbia University.

For those of you out there howling for help, here are some of their time-management tips:

—“Get a good housekeeper; have a sense of humor; resign yourself to four hours sleep a night.”

—“Finish one project at a time; pick up after yourself. Spend 30 minutes each morning organizing yourself. Write it down.”

—“Just grin and bear it—and roll with the punches. Count yourself lucky not to be bored.”

—“I wash, iron, bake every night so it doesn't pile up. I do not make a fetish out of a clean house. With a genuinely happy family, you can't.”

—“Ship out your laundry; cook only when you're inspired.”

—“Disciplined, compassionate kids trained early to handle chores help.”

—“Teach the children to work as soon as they can walk. By the time they are teen-agers, they'll love you for it. Mine feel superior to those helpless kids who can't run the appliances, fry an egg, or oil the lawnmower.”

—“Find a cleaning woman who works best alone and cherish and overpay her. She's the only time-management tip I know.”

—“Reduce time lost in transit by making home near office. May save 520 hours a year or more.”

—“Get good help. Train children and, if possible, husband to take over certain responsibilities at home. Don't have pets if you can help it. We do.”

—“Plan today what has to be done tomorrow. Do with cooking and write your overall schedule. Keep on top of things.”

—“Cleaning woman.”

—“Simplify. Plan meals a week ahead, pre-cook meals and freeze. Shop once a week, buy no-iron clothes for kids.”

—“Plan.”

—“Cook in quantity and freeze.”

—“Make out grocery list in order of store layout. Do first things first.”

—“Forget work completely when at home or out with husband and family.”

Among those answering were mothers of from two to five children. Some of the editors of women's pages polled have been working mothers for more than a decade.

A few said they have had to run up a white flag in the time-management arena. One of these commented:

“I'm completely disorganized. I just do the most urgent thing first. No time-management tips possible.”

The only male in the group also wears a tri-cornered hat: husband, father, career man. His best time management tip:

“Stay single.”

Do you suppose many “working fathers” feel that way?

Friendship Will Cool If You Assume Possessive Attitude

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I do a lot of entertaining in my home. I recently invited a very attractive couple over for dinner, and they became acquainted with another nice couple with whom my husband and I have been friendly for some years.

These two couples now go out together in the evenings, and my husband and I are not included. I understand that these two women have been meeting frequently for lunch, also.

Should I cool my relationship with these people? I don't feel nearly as warmly toward them now that I know they have been meeting behind my back.

NO NAME, PLEASE
DEAR NO NAME: If you assume a possessive attitude about your friends, you will find them “cooling” the relationship before you do. Face it, you brought two couples together who apparently have more in common with each other than with you.

DEAR ABBY: I'm sure you have been reading about the “floor show” on Wall Street which has been attracting such large crowds, mostly men.

Abby, what on earth has happened to the great old-fashioned virtue called “modesty”? If one of those big-bosomed exhibitionists were to be attacked by some sex-crazed man, who would bear the blame?

I am not writing this out of jealousy, because I happen to be . . .

DEAR “39”: I, too, dis-prove of such exhibitionism, but I would hope that under the circumstances, the milk of human kindness would prevail.

DEAR ABBY: We have a daughter who is away at college. We send her an allowance to cover smaller items, but she sends us all her larger bills and her father pays them.

She is very prompt about sending us her bills. She puts them into an envelope and mails them without one personal word. It would mean so much if she would scribble “Love,” and sign her name.

Our daughter was not reared in a home with cold, unfeeling parents. I suppose this seems like a little thing, but we are deeply hurt.

If we were to mention this to her, she would, I am sure, scribble a little “duty” note, because it would have been suggested by us it would lose its meaning.

What do you suggest?

HURT

DEAR HURT: I suggest that you develop a tougher “hide.” It takes some children longer to become truly “thoughtful.”

Some never do. You may have reared such a daughter.

DEAR ABBY: Here's a little verse for that Santa Clara lady who criticized “Mother of Seven” for the size of her family:

You, my dear,
May take the pill
As for me—
I'll take Lee, Frank,
Liz, Jeff, Andy, and Bill.

Young Moderns: Isn't He Romantic Anymore?

By VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Some young girls worry that their marriage is foundering because their once-romantic husbands seem bored with the love bit.

Complaints include . . . “He doesn't kiss me anymore when he or we go off to work or to school. . . .” “He doesn't compliment me on my appearance. . . .” “He seems to have something on his mind that he doesn't discuss with me” (another woman?). . . . “He is spending more time with his men friends” . . . “He doesn't suggest that we go out to dinner or go dancing” . . . “He seldom brings home flowers or those little surprise gifts.”

What can a girl do in such a situation?

Well, for one thing, she should keep her cool until she gives some serious thought to the situation. Otherwise he may begin to think her disposition isn't what he bargained for when he married her.

A clean-the-air program is the only one that will give her ready answers, and it should be done in a good-humored way.

“You forgot to kiss me this morning,” may be the simplest approach to resuming that relationship.

“Oh, so you don't like my meat loaf,” may bring out the truth—“Well, if you really want to know, I don't like hardboiled eggs in it.”

“A penny for your thoughts” is far better than the pouting complaint, “Why have you been ignoring me all night?” He may even tell you what's been bothering him.

“Wouldn't it be fun to try this new restaurant,” might reveal that he has been hoping to save a little money by eating at home more often.

(A pocketbook clamp might also reveal why he hasn't brought you those little surprise gifts or flowers lately.)

“Is it fun getting together with the boys?” might bring responses such as “It is a help to my business,” or “It is good to keep up with things” or even that “I need the exercise.”

It has been said that young men mature fast once they begin assuming responsibilities of their own, such as meeting regular monthly bills and planning for job future. Some starry-eyed young girls aren't prepared for the change, but they can begin to think about it.

Queen Elizabeth's Christmas Gift List Numbers 700

LONDON (UPI)—The Christmas gift list of Britain's Queen Elizabeth has 700 names on it. So she has already started shopping for presents.

During her fall vacation at Balmoral Castle in the Scottish Highlands, she looked through catalogues from several London stores and marked her selections for her lady-in-waiting to place orders.

The queen gets gifts for 28 godchildren, friends in scores of countries she has visited during her world tours, and members of all the other European royal families. Most of them are relatives. She shops personally for family presents in December.

Extra early Christmas preparation is so that many of the packages and cards can be posted in November, the month the queen will be away on a state visit to South America.

With her characteristic thoroughness, the queen means to make sure everything is in order before she leaves.

Her presents will be packed at Buckingham Palace with signed greeting cards. Her mail goes out unstamped with a special marking from the private post office inside the palace.

If you want that oven-fried chicken to be on the crisp side, try baking it in a hot—(425 degrees)—oven.

WELCOME SPOT

The fact that kitchens are no longer merely functional work-rooms and off-limit to guests may be hot news to city and suburban families. But to rural folks, the kitchen has always been a family room where they can relax around a dining table, give mother a helping hand, or just talk over the news of the day. What is exciting is the new approach to kitchen decorating. Not that modern equipment is removing the drudgery, greater emphasis is being put on making this room as attractive and beautiful as it is efficient.

Why not relax around a new dining room table. We have a fine selection of sets of many different types. Tommie Willis Interiors, 425 Greenville Blvd., Greenville. 754-1336.

Armistice Of 1918 Ended A Long, Bloody War

By HAL COOPER
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — World War I, once called "The war to end war," ended in an armistice 50 years ago today.

When the shooting stopped there lay dead, by U.S. War Department count, more than 8.5 million soldiers, including 125,000 Americans.

Estimates of the over-all toll of armed men and civilians, either in battle or as a result of it, ranged up to 13 million.

France had lost 1 in 18 of its population, Germany 1 in 32, Britain 1 in 57.

Destroyed were the German, Austro-Hungarian, Russian and Ottoman empires. In Russia, communism had emerged as a force to be reckoned with. And America, long isolated from the international mainstream, had joined the world's great powers.

Until World War II, the conflict was known as "The Great War."

Yet when it began on July 29, 1914, with the Austrian invasion of Serbia, the German-led Central Powers had expected easy victory in a matter of weeks.

Germany's Kaiser Wilhelm assured departing troops in August 1914 that they would be home "before the leaves have fallen."

But it was 4 years, 105 days after the Serbian invasion when Germany, beaten back on Europe's Western Front largely by fresh American troops—and beset by civil revolution and naval mutiny, asked for an armistice.

The armistice was signed at 5 a.m. Nov. 11, 1918, in the private railway car of French Marshal Ferdinand Foch, the allied commander in chief, in the Forest of Compiègne. It was effective on the fighting fronts six hours later.

All told, more than 65 million armed men from some 30 nations had been drawn into the struggle.

The war was a strange combination of old techniques and new.

Horse drawn supply wagons and mobile gus mingled with motorized transport in the fighting areas.

The Germans bombed London and eastern England from Zeppelin dirigibles filled with highly inflammable hydrogen until the British introduced explosive anti-aircraft bullets.

At the outset, the flimsy military planes of the time were used mainly for front-line reconnaissance. Pilots fired at enemy pilots with pistols and rifles. Aerial evolution was quick. The planes were turned into effective warcraft by the installation of machine guns, and the development of bombers, notably the German Gotha, soon followed.

In the September 1914 battle of the Marne, the French rushed 600 troops to the front in Paris taxicabs.

The Germans pioneered the use of poison gas in the second battle of Ypres in April and May 1915.

The British invented tanks, which made a first appearance on the Somme in September 1916.

The Germans built a monstrous gun with a range of 75 miles—eventually nicknamed "Big Bertha" after a Krupp family daughter—and on March 23, 1918, began shelling Paris from afar.

Military commanders clung stubbornly to the tactics of the past.

Elite guard outfits marched into enemy rifle and machine-gun fire in parade ground formation and were mowed down to the last man.

Not until 1918 did commanders finally realize that horse cavalry charges against dug-in machine gunners were suicidal.

By the spring of 1917 the fighting, which for years had surged back and forth in a series of inconclusive offensives and counter offensives, had bogged down in bloody deadlock in the trenches of the Western Front.

Both sides were exhausted. Many of the weary French army units were on the verge of mutiny. Then the United States entered the war.

America already had broken off relations with the German government because of its announcement at the start of 1917 that it would carry out unrestricted submarine warfare.

The snapping point came in March when Washington intercepted a telegram from Arthur Zimmerman, the German foreign secretary, to the Mexican government.

The telegram offered Mexico the states of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico as a bribe to join Germany and Japan in an attack on the United States.

President Woodrow Wilson issued a proclamation of war on April 7, declaring:

"The world must be made safe for democracy."

The first American shell fell on German lines on Oct. 23 in the Lorraine sector. Within three months an all-American force was holding an eight-mile sector near Nancy.

Americans joined the French and British in battles at Cantigny, Chateau Thierry, Belleau Wood, the Marne, the Argonne.

With Allied forces hammering the Germans all along the line, Gen. John J. Pershing, the American commander, opened an assault on a 25-mile front between the Argonne and Moselle rivers on Sept. 26. The Germans collapsed in retreat, and the end of the war was in sight.

Counting wounded, America suffered 303,196 casualties in World War I.

Its money outlay was roughly $30 billion, a tremendous sum by the standards of the day.

Historians estimate the cost to all belligerents was close to $400 billion.

The armistice found a German army corporal named Adolf Hitler serving in the guard at a prisoner of war camp.

Hitler never forgot the humbling of Germany in 1918.

When the beaten French were forced to ask him for an armistice on June 16, 1940, he made them sign it in the very same railway carriage, which had been preserved as a historical memento of World War I.

Eleven Lost Lives In N.C. Weekend Traffic

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A young woman and her 14-month old son killed Sunday in Montgomery County were among 11 persons who lost their lives in North Carolina traffic accidents during the weekend.

The North Carolina Highway Patrol said the fatality toll for the year climbed to 1,574 or 88 more than for the same period last year.

Killed in Montgomery County wreck were Mrs. Mary Helen Pruitt, 29, of Candor, and her 14-month-old son, William Calvin Pruitt.

The patrol said they were passengers in a car that went out of control, ran off a rural paved road five miles south of Candor, back across the road and struck an embankment. Two others in the car were injured.

Another two-death accident was reported near Laurinburg. Killed were Coy Lindsey Buie, 30, of Olivia, and King David Crossland, 31, of Rt. 2, Laurinburg.

Ben Frank Jones, 59, of Red Springs was killed when the bicycle he was riding north of Maxton was struck by a hit-and-run driver, the patrol said.

A 45-year-old Siler City man, John Curtis Sharp, died when his car ran off the road, hit a bridge and overturned into a creek bed near Sanford.

Also killed during the weekend were Ivey I. Hall Jr., 25, of Aberdeen; John Emanuel Shaw, 19, of Durham; James Grant Anderson, 52, Oxford; Johnson Darbridge Turner, 28, of Winston-Salem; Harmon Glen Adams, 58, of Wrightsville Beach.

Raised Sum For Liver Operation

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — Six-month-old Tony Borgia is "ready to go," says his father who has collected $15,300, the cost of a liver transplant operation for the infant.

The father, Robert Borgia, lettered, "Thank you Erie" across one wall of St. Paul's Auditorium Sunday after some 1,200 men paid $2 admission to a stag party he sponsored.

"I can't believe it," said Borgia, working at two jobs to raise money for the operation. Several other fund-raising events have added to his account.

Nine groceries contributed the potato salad and cold cuts for the party and two distributors donated the beer.

Borgia said he received a "go ahead" from Dr. Israel Penn, a surgeon at the University of Colorado, in Denver. He said all Tony needs now is a donor.

A local airlines has offered one of its planes, available on call, to fly the infant to Denver within six hours after a donor is found.

Tony's mother will stay in Denver with the baby for about eight months after the operation, which means additional expenses, added Borgia.

The infant suffers from biliary atresia, a lack of bile ducts, which is fatal within 18 months after birth.

The Borgias plan to use any remaining money to set up a fund for other children who need liver transplant operations.

If the Shoe Fits...

BY
AVERETTE

Why can't I find cheap play shoes that fit as well as good shoes?

There are several good answers to this question, but let first ask a question — why cheap shoes for play?

Many men and women who work in industry have long since given up the practice of buying cheap work shoes. Good work shoes mean more to a person whose work requires standing than a comfortable car means to a travelling man.

We parents hate to see a good pair of shoes made to look old in a few days of hard play but the abuse taken by the shoes should indicate to us that good shoes are much more important for hard play than they are for sitting in school or in front of a television.

(More on the subject next week.)

Put The Humphrey Talents To Use

Sen. Vance Harke, Democrat of Indiana, has predicted that President-elect Richard M. Nixon will offer Vice President Humphrey a post in the new administration and we happen to think this is a fine idea.

Sen. Harke predicted that the post offered would be the ambassadorship to the United Nations. It is possible that such a position may have been discussed when Nixon and Humphrey met Friday, and there may be reasons why, if it is offered, that Humphrey might reject it.

However, we favor the idea, not because Vice President Humphrey needs any sort of consolation prize following his narrow loss, but because the na-

Scott Set Goal Five Years Ago

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH — Five years ago Robert W. (Bob) Scott set his sights on the governorship of North Carolina, which his father had held before him.

Then he chose a springboard from which no man had made it to the executive mansion by popular election in 100 years — an office which some felt was jinxed politically. But Scott made it and broke tradition.

The fact is that few if any former lieutenant governors found enough encouragement or political support to try to win the governorship.

Scott said very frankly that he intended to run for governor someday, and he seriously considered becoming a candidate in 1964. Political life and public service, part of the Scott family tradition, was in his blood and he felt it strongly.

Many felt that Scott, then only 34 years old, was too young and inexperienced. He was advised to wait. By the time he made a final decision, many would be supporters already were committed to other candidates for governor. Sufficient financial support was not available. Many suggested that he wait for four years.

In typically Scott fashion, he decided he would wait — but at the same time, win or lose, get political experience. He announced as a candidate for lieutenant governor. Some of Scott's friends and close supporters were shocked. He was not of the Cloyd Philpott mold. He had no previous legislative experience. He was opposed by a veteran legislator and former House Speaker in the primary, H. Clifton Blue of Aberdeen.

Gains Experience

Scott won his political spurs by defeating Blue in a hard primary campaign. He then moved into the lieutenant governorship to gain practical experience. It was and is a relatively low paying political job which in the past has been devoid of very much political prestige or say — so in the executive branch. The primary duty of the lieutenant governor is the appointment of Senate committees and presiding over the Senate. He is a member of the State Board of Education and has other ex-officio duties. Politically, however, the job as president of the Senate and the power to name committees is paramount.

Question Of Importance

In view of Scott's victory, the question now arises as to whether the lieutenant governorship has assumed increased political importance. Specifically, does H. P. (Pat) Taylor Jr., another former House Speaker and son of a former lieutenant governor, have his eye on the governor's mansion. Some say yes.

Others are looking at the new Attorney General-elect, Robert Morgan, to be a candidate for governor four years from now. There are still others in the background.

WILLIAM A. SHIRES

The record shows that those who did succeed in becoming governor did so without being elected from the No. 2 office. At least three became chief executive when governors died in office. One became governor when Gov. Zeb B. Vance was elected to the U. S. Senate in 1879. Another became governor when Gov. W. W. Holden was impeached, tried and put out of office in 1870.

Earlier History

It is true that O. Max Gardner later became governor by popular election after having served as lieutenant governor 1917-1921. But Gardner was not elected governor until 1928.

Luther H. Hodges was elected for a full term as governor in 1956. But he had succeeded to the office upon the death of Gov. William B. Umstead in 1954.

It was believed and widely accepted in political circles that H. Cloyd Philpott of Lexington would — or could — use the lieutenant governorship as a springboard to the governorship in 1964. But Philpott died in office in 1961.

Scott Decides

Influenced largely by wide acceptance of Philpott's probable accession, Scott made an important decision in 1963. Many advised against it—but he went ahead.

tion needs his services in the highest position possible.

One of the weaknesses in our system of electing presidents is the fact that the loser is left usually without any position in government.

Following years in the Senate, some of them as majority leader, and four years as an active vice president where he was close to the seat of power, Vice President Humphrey was probably the most qualified candidate the Democrats had to offer after President Johnson decided not to seek re-election.

James Reston of the New York Times said of Humphrey following his defeat: "... after a generation of hard fighting on some of the toughest questions of the century, even his critics and opponents came out of the struggle liking and admiring him."

Recognizing this truth it seems important to us that Humphrey's talents be fully utilized in the immediate future. We hardly expect Hubert Humphrey to fade away. He has fought too many battles for that; but there should be some immediate way to give the nation the benefit of his talents.

President-elect Nixon's theme during the campaign has been unity. Most responsible Americans recognize the need for a period of tranquility in domestic relations for the immediate future. Old wounds must heal and the nation must be drawn together.

Considering the narrowness of his victory and the fact that he has a Democratic Congress Nixon may need something of a coalition government if he is to govern effectively.

Both Nixon and Humphrey have an opportunity to rise above partisan roles if the new president offers and the vice president accepts an important position in the government.

And Everybody Hoped Such Plots Were Over

Almost all Americans shared the hope that the series of political assassinations that have so shocked this nation in recent years had run their course.

But now, just a few days after the election, several men are being held in custody on charges of plotting the slaying of the new president-elect.

Whatever their obscure motives might be, however independently they acted, the very fact that even two or three residents of the United States would seek to slay the president-elect is another shock to this nation made up largely of law-abiding citizens. Even before the new administration begins, the incident reiterates the need for continued close security to insure the safety of the President and other top officials.

Move To Left By Nixon Seen

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The best reason for believing that Richard M. Nixon, who owes his election to the South and Border states, may now move to the left is the counsel being given him by Lt. Gov. Robert Finch of California.

Finch, perhaps Nixon's closest confidant, may well resign his California post to come to Washington in the Nixon administration and, in any event, will be here to put the new administration together. In whichever capacity, Finch will provide counsel quite different from the habitual caution of those who managed the Nixon campaign for President.

Thus, Finch is telling close associates as well as Nixon that the 1968 election will be the last to be determined by the un - young, un - black, and un - poor. To keep from being strictly a one - term President, Finch tells Nixon, he must reach out his hand to the left.

Finch is buttressed in this position by several Nixon aides who were frustrated by Nixon's modified Southern strategy during the campaign and who look for a more free-swinging approach now that Nixon has won. Rather than let his debt to the Southern and Border states hedge him in, they now argue, Nixon must stretch his mandate by moving left.

None of this means Nixon will run an Administration radical by or even acceptable to New Left standards, but he may go far leftward by Eisenhower standards. Through such schemes as his black capital ownership plan, Nixon will try to wed Republican free enterprise dogma with New Leftist concepts of decentralization. Whether he is successful in this marriage may be shown quite soon by his Cabinet choices.

Accordingly, there is strong sentiment inside Nixon's inner circle for a legitimate Democrat — not a Southern-fried conservative Democrat of the kind conspicuously favored in the Eisenhower administration. Specifically, Nixon is being advised to offer a top job — a White House spot or possibly Secretary of Urban Affairs — to Daniel P. (Pat) Moynihan, the Harvard urbanologist whose support of decentralization occasionally dovetails with the Republicans.

Nixon aide Leonard Garment, a political liberal in Nixon's law firm, has been exploring the ranks of liberal Democrats and some New Left thinkers to cull ideas and size up personalities. For example, Garment lunched with Richard Goodwin, Ken-

Strength For Today

THE ACCUSING FINGER

Some people seem to be afflicted with the accusing spirit. They can point an accusing finger at all who differ with them in matters of religion, politics, economic systems, musical forms, and literary standards. "If you oppose me you're dead wrong," is the usual judgment such persons pass on those who differ from them.

What a dull world this would be if our three billion inhabitants agreed with one another in every point under discussion. The value of a two-party political system gives an opportunity for more than one point of view to be advanced. Those who advance their views tend to rub the rough edges off the conclusions arrived at by their opponents.

It is only when controversy become a bitter matter of hatred and accusation that it is wrong. No one is perfectly right on every subject. We have to give a little and take a little. The world is wrapped in darkness when all that people do is to accuse one another of mistake and bad faith. The world is full of light when sensible, honest people discuss issues and in all honesty take sides. The old statement that there are two sides to every question needs to be brought out, dusted and given a place of consideration in every realm of theory and practice.

Watch out for that accusing finger. If the world's troubles all arise from the ignorance and evil of others, then you and I are in an uncomfortable position. The angel wings which we think we possess may get to the place where they bruise our backs considerably.

Thoughts Of The Losers

WASHINGTON — In almost every election in the United States (except where someone ran unopposed) there is a winner and a loser, and American tradition demands that the loser show good grace and make a concession speech. But what he says and what he is thinking at the moment is not necessarily the same thing.

Thanks to the exact science of extrasensory perception, I am able to reveal what a candidate was thinking while he was making his concession speech on the networks early Wednesday morning. He began:

"First, I want to thank all the people who worked so hard and so long in my campaign for nothing and who believed in me, and what I stood for."

But he was thinking: "If I had to do it all over again, I would have hired a professional outfit that would have at least known what the hell we were doing."

"I can't praise too highly my campaign manager, Hiram Hathaway, who worked tirelessly on my behalf at great sacrifice to himself and his family."

("All he made me promise him was a federal judgeship, if I won.")

"I would also like to say that I know that although my wife Betty is disappointed, I doubt if I could have got through the past year without her loyalty and love and understanding."

("She told me from the start I didn't have a chance, and as far as she was concerned, I was nuts to even get into the race.")

Other Editors Say A Longer School Year?

(Jacksonville Daily News)

Like a lot of other traditional things, the traditional nine-month school year is coming under scrutiny of these fast-changing times.

Eighty or more school districts around the country, 22 of them in New York State alone, are seriously considering moving to a longer school year, reports the National Educational Association.

This is still a tiny number but could be indicative of a trend, for the same factors influencing officials in these districts operate everywhere — the rising cost of building and maintaining school plants, growing enrollments, the demand for better educational opportunities for children and teachers' demands for improved economic and professional status.

The arguments in favor of a full-year school year are numerous and logical. For one thing, it is certainly wasteful for costly facilities and equipment to be locked up during the summer months.

If existing school buildings were fully utilized, fewer new ones would need to be constructed, it is said. And with fewer teachers needed to staff new schools, present teacher salaries could be raised.

Another argument for the longer school year is the need to keep youths busy and off the streets during the summer months.

"The picture of a vacation lad wending his way to the fishing hole no longer portrays life in our urban society," says the NEA. "Today's youth more often faces steaming asphalt streets at worst, or two weeks at summer camp at best. Proponents believe that summer attendance at school would substantially reduce juvenile delinquency."

Allied to this is something called "pupil acceleration," which means graduating students a year earlier than at present—thus making them smarter faster as well as, again, helping the taxpayer get more miles per gallon out of existing schools and teacher talents.

It can't be denied that today's youths need to learn a lot more than their parents had to, yet it is this very argument that may give many parents pause.

Toward what or into what are today's already accelerated children to be accelerated?

"As far as my opponent is concerned, I wish to congratulate him on the victory which he won fairly and squarely."

("In one of the dirtiest campaigns in political history.")

"I know that he will serve his state and country to the best of his ability, and I shall do everything in my power to support him in the great problems he will have to deal with in the perilous times ahead."

("That is, if he isn't indicted in the next year for vote fraud.")

"I would be less than candid if I didn't admit that I was disappointed in the results. But in this great country we can't all be winners and I shall continue to serve the public in any capacity that is demanded of me."

("It's going to be interesting to see who makes up my $1 million campaign deficit.")

"I might mention at this time how grateful I am to the press who treated me

Filling Boom In Jobs

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Most Americans, regardless of political persuasion, no doubt welcomed the news from the National Alliance of Businessmen that 84,000 jobs have been found for hard-core unemployed.

Although nearly 23,000 of these jobs later were lost, the net gain of 61,000 indicates that the alliance is going to reach its goal of 100,000 by next June 30.

The feeling among many people is that here is a program for social good whose development has gone beyond the state of hope and experiment to that of practical results.

The key to the alliances success, small as it is, seems to be training. But even with training, worker and job still might have remained apart unless alliance members had stepped in and turned the key, for jobs and unemployment have a curious relationship.

It has been a continuing mystery to many people, for example, why nearly 2.9 million Americans are jobless while the classified advertising pages of newspapers are filled with appeals for business for help.

Month after month during the greatest economic boom in American history this condition has existed, one of the reasons being that the job requirements and the skills possessed by the job seekers simply do not match.

Other major factors are involved: Many of the best jobs, for instance, are in factories that have deserted the cities, where most of the unemployed Negroes live, and moved to the psychologically distant and nearly all-white suburbs.

Age is a factor, especially when an obsolete skill is also involved. Mobility is a factor also, for many idle workers are unwilling to uproot their families from depressed rural communities.

Racial and age discrimination have played obvious roles, too, but lack of training and a failure to understand the mechanics of job seeking have always been near the top of the list.

Teen-agers entering the work force have been inadequately prepared, and so the teen-age work force has a jobless rate of 12.6 per cent, or nearly eight times that of married men, whose rate is 1.6 per cent.

Among adults, meager skills that once permitted a worker to hold tenuously to a job have become useless in an age of increasing technological complexity and automation. Elevator operators, you have noticed, are a disappearing breed.

Without retraining in a new skill, most of these workers have found themselves with little to sell a potential employer and no knowledge of how to go about changing the situation.

This is the gap into which the alliance stepped as a catalyst. Formed this year, with Henry Ford II as chairman, its immediate results now indicate that a goal of 500,000 jobs by mid-1971 will be achieved.

The importance of such achievements should be measured in terms of the social disorder that clearly has resulted from unemployment—in terms, that is, of the despair and sense of injustice from which violence erupts.

Leo C. Beebe, vice chairman of the alliance, said "Numbers do not tell the whole story. The real potential for success... is visible more importantly in the positive and constructive reaction to the experience by employers and the hard-core alike."

Economic Signals Still Green

By ELMER ROESSNER
Economic signals are still green. There are yet no strong indications of a slowdown in the economy.

The only yellow caution ration, with 83.4 per cent of lights in the last few days have been:

A moderate decline in the plant capacity - production ration, with 83.4 per cent of capacity in use in the third quarter compared with 84.8 per cent a year ago.

The 22 per cent cut in prices of hot - rolled steel sheets. A somewhat slower rise in consumer credit, although it still went up $853 million in September.

A gentler rise in consumer prices, although the index went up 0.2 per cent in September, and indications of little change in October.

The gross national product rose only $18 billion in the third quarter, bringing it up to an annual rate of $722 billion.

Is That Bad?

Those signals mostly concern September and the third quarter, since careful compilations take time. But there have been no red ones in October of the first days of November.

On the other hand: Retail sales continue about 10 per cent above a year ago, although part is due to higher prices.

Auto sales hit a record high in October, assuring a new high for the year.

Spensible earnings, after all taxes and the surtax, rose in September for factory workers. Single workers averaged $3.42 more a week than a year ago and those with threependents $4.80. Corporate profits after taxes ran 12 per cent higher in the third quarter than a year ago.

It still appears that the surtax and the somewhat imaginary cut in government spending has not slowed down the American economy, and it doesn't look as if they will. Other Slimpses Over Horizon Here are more things to expect: Soybean cheese. The Chinese have been making a soybean cheese called sufu for centuries. Now Agriculture Department scientists have found a foolproof way to make a good sufu with no off flavors. It's only a matter of time until it will be on the market.

Beer in paper. A new container being developed for beer and soft drinks is of paper coated with plastic. Watch for it.

Super premium beer. Early next year Schlitz will introduce a super premium beer, now being market - tested in Tucson. If the higher-price d special clicks, watch other brewers try with super premiums and super, super premium brews.

Links Tremor To Mississippi Silt

CHICAGO (AP) — An expert on earthquakes says the cause of Saturday's quake that jarred residents of 22 states may be linked to millions of tons of silt deposited annually by the Mississippi River in the Gulf of Mexico.

The Rev. Donald Roll, director of seismological studies at La Ola University, said Sunday, "It's quite possible that the tons of silt deposited by the great river systems at the mouth of the Mississippi triggered a seismic effect on the vast continental blocks beneath the earth's crust."

"The weight of the silt depressed one end of the block and tipped it up the other," Father Roll said.

However, he said, he doubts that there will be any followup tremors.

"I expect none whatsoever," Father Roll said. "We have nothing to worry about. That was a kind of safety valve. The pressure which had built up has been released."

Saturday's quake, centered in Albia in Southern Illinois, 120 miles east of St. Louis, measured 5.5 on the 10-point Richter Scale, just less than the damage point of 6, according to the National Earthquake Center in Washington.

States that felt the quake were Illinois, Arkansas, Minnesota, Ohio, Tennessee, Missouri, Kansas, Georgia, Kentucky, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Indiana, Nebraska, Iowa, Alabama, Mississippi, Wisconsin, Michigan, South Dakota, Pennsylvania, and Oklahoma.

Shortly after 11 a.m., when the quake struck, hundreds of terrified people began calling police, fire departments, newspapers and radio stations. In some cases people rushed into the streets.

No serious damage or injuries were reported, although the quake swayed numerous buildings.

Two persons were hurt slightly in Southern Illinois. A chimney brick fell on one and a bottle fell off a shelf and hit the other.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A switch in lawyers just two days before James Earl Ray was to stand trial on charges of murdering Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., raised doubts as to whether the trial will be held this year.

Ray took action Sunday to drop Arthur J. Hanes, a former Birmingham, Ala., mayor, as his lawyer and retain famed defense attorney Percy Foreman of Texas.

Foreman, whose clients have included Jack Ruby and heiress Candace Mossler, said he would go before Criminal Court Judge W. Preston Battle at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday—the time Ray's trial is scheduled to begin—and request a continuance.

When told earlier Sunday of rumors of the impending switch, Battle said he would grant a delay "if Ray retains Foreman and if he asks" for a postponement.

It was believed that Foreman would ask for at least 30 days to give him time to become familiar with the case. Hanes, who said the change came as a surprise to him, said he would not object to the motion.

Since the trial is expected to last at least four weeks, a postponement of 30 days would push the start of trial close to the Christmas holidays—with the likely result that Battle would reset it for early next year.

Ray, charged with first-degree murder, is accused of the sniper slaying of King on April 4 while King was in Memphis to support the city's striking garbage collectors.

The surprise switch by Ray was announced in a late night news conference called by Sheriff William N. Morris Jr. The sheriff said Foreman and two of Ray's brothers, John and Jerry Ray, had come to the jail earlier Sunday to see Ray.

"During the course of this visit, certain decisions were made and a letter was written to Mr. Arthur Hanes Sr., attorney, and signed by James Earl Ray," Morris said.

"This letter was presented to me for reading by Mr. Foreman and it declared an intent by James Earl Ray to dispense with the legal services of Mr. Hanes and his son and of an intention to obtain new counsel and a Tennessee lawyer."

Morris also said Foreman had told him he intended to appear before Battle Tuesday morning and request a continuance.

The Tennessee lawyer to be retained by Ray was not named. "The first I knew of this was at 8:20 this evening," Hanes said in a brief news conference of his own.

Foreman, 66, was defense attorney for Ruby but withdrew from the case after four days. He sent a letter to Ruby saying,

"You know I don't let people tell me what to do in a case."

Ruby was convicted in Dallas of killing Lee Harvey Oswald, named by the Warren Commission as the assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

Foreman successfully defended Mrs. Mossler and her nephew, Melvin Powers, in Florida where they were charged with slaying her wealthy husband.

Hanes had represented Ray since shortly after Ray was apprehended in London June 8. During a hearing in September on a contempt of court citation against Hanes, for breaking the judge's ban on pretrial statements to news-media, Hanes told the court serious difficulties had arisen between him and Ray over the handling of the case.

Hanes said at that time he might have to withdraw at a later date, but he subsequently told the court the problems had been solved.

His 8-Foot Wide House Is In Trouble

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The house Fred Maffei wants to put up on his lot on Telegraph Hill sounds reasonable enough—concrete, steel, wood, glass, the usual.

But Maffei, a building contractor who bought the lot for $600 at a tax sale in 1965, is running into trouble.

For one thing the lot, 68 feet long, is 8 feet wide.

Maffei says he has spent $4,500 on engineering plans, revisions, drawings and appeals, and that he has four prospective buyers willing to make it worth his while to put up the house at an estimated cost of around $40,000.

He and designer Jun Hatoyama came up with a two-story layout 51 feet long and—yes—8 feet wide.

But the Telegraph Hill Dwellers Association—cited an easement granted for the street—La Ferrara Terrace, which is 16 feet wide. The easement grants passage across Maffei's lot so that neighbors can get into their garages.

So he and Hatoyama drew plans for a one-story house on stilts with an elevator to lift the occupant's car into a second-story garage, so the neighbors could drive under it to get into their own garages.

The neighbors still objected and said so to the city zoning administrator, who denied a building permit last April.

Maffei's appeal will be heard Nov. 18 by the Board of Permit Appeals.

Mrs. Ragaz was elected Saturday to succeed Bob Farrington of Raleigh. Other officers chosen were Dr. Al Hedgepeth of Pinetops, first vice president; second vice president, and J. A. Holloman of Raleigh, third vice president.

Plans were discussed for the annual ceremony in honor of the Wright brothers first flight at Kitty Hawk Dec. 17.

AWOL Soldier Now In Custody

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — A young AWOL soldier who said he sought sanctuary at Massachusetts Institute of Technology to publicize his opposition to the Vietnam war has been taken into custody by military police.

Pvt. Jack M. O'Connor, 19, was at MIT from Oct. 29 until Sunday, when military, local and campus police removed him from the Student Center.

He had been absent without leave from Ft. Bragg, N.C., since Sept. 14, he said.

Baptists Gather In Raleigh Today

RALEIGH (AP) — About 3,500 messengers were expected to gather in Raleigh today for the 138th annual meeting of the North Carolina Baptist State Convention which opens tonight in Memorial Auditorium.

A proposal to elevate Gardner - Webb College at Boiling Springs to senior college status is on the agenda. Other items to be considered include a record $6.7 million budget and creation of a new council on Christian life and public affairs.

The Rev. Claude Bowen, pastor of First Baptist Church in Greensboro, will preside over the sessions which continue through Wednesday.

FLEES EAST

BERLIN (UPI) — A 19-year-old East German soldier fled to West Berlin safely despite fire from his comrades, West Berlin police reported Sunday.

Four Injured In Sunday Wreck

Four persons were injured and an estimated $1,180 property damage reported in a 9:55 a.m. collision at the intersection of Memorial Drive and Fifth Street yesterday.

Police identified the drivers of the three cars involved as Melvin Cooley Jones, 30-year-old Negro of Route 2, Battleboro; Booker T. Dixon Jr., 25-year-old Negro of Route 2, Grifton; and Raleigh Bradford Lee, 70, of Route 1, Greenville.

Damage was placed at $250 to the Jones car, $550 to the Dixon vehicle and $380 to the Lee car.

Dixon and a passenger in his car, and one passenger in the other two vehicles were reported injured in the crash.

Jones was charged with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety.

Firemen Respond To Two Alarms

Greenville firemen yesterday responded to two alarms in just over an hour.

The first of the calls, to Box 72 at the intersection of Boyd and Tyson Streets was listed by officers as false. That call was received at 5:50 p.m.

Officers said the second alarm was from Box 224 at the intersection of 14th and Greene Streets at 7:05 p.m.

That call, firemen reported, was to a fire at 211B West 14th St.

Firefighters said the fire occurred when a kerosene lamp sitting on a stove, overheated, cracked and caught fire.

The blaze was quickly extinguished and only light damage resulted.

Clemson Victory Marred By Gore Injury. Question Is—How Bad?

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

While other Atlantic Coast Conference football teams are studying game films today, the Clemson Tigers will be interested in only one picture—the X-ray of fullback Buddy Gore's knee.

What shows on that film may go a long way in determining the 1968 ACC football champion. Gore, the all-time ground-gainer in the conference, went out of the Maryland game in the first half with an injured knee. The extent of the injury and Gore's status for the remainder of the season will not be known until the X-rays are studied by physicians.

Clemson, now leading the ACC with a 3-0-1 record, needs victories over North Carolina and South Carolina to sew-up its third consecutive title.

Without Gore this may be a problem, although Coach Frank Howard says his team "has finally started blocking and our pass defense looks better."

Clemson clipped Maryland 16-0 Saturday after a scoreless first half.

The Clemson offense woke up in the second half and pushed across two touchdowns. The defense, tough all day, contributed a safety.

What started the Clemson surge was sophomore Ray Yauger, who gained 139 yards on 28 carries. "I'm sure glad," Coach Howard said, "that this boy is gonna be around a couple more years."

North Carolina State, meanwhile, nipped Duke 17-15 and finished its ACC schedule with a 6-1 record. The Wolfpack can do nothing more toward winning the title. They have to count on North Carolina or South Carolina coming with an upset over Clemson.

N. C. State had to stop a determined Duke twice on the one-yard line and then halt three other threats with pass interceptions to pull out its victory.

Coach Earl Edwards, who had praise for his defensive unit, said, "We're lucky to get this one. It was hard work."

For Duke it was another case of might-have-been, and Duke Coach Tom Harp said, "the improvement on our team in the face of the losses we've suffered has to be very gratifying. We'll move the football on anybody."

At Winston-Salem, the Gamecocks of South Carolina wrecked favored Wake Forest 34-2 and prompted Coach Paul Dietzel to say:

"This team is now what I had maintained it was earlier in the season—a real good ball club. We've got athletes, real athletes on this team. We're going to have other days like this one." And that could be bad news

Grid Coach At WCC Resigns

CULLOWHEE, N. C. (AP) — Dan Robinson, the head football coach at Western Carolina University for the past 13 years, has resigned to become a full-time member of the university's health and physical education department.

The resignation is effective at the end of the current season. The 42-year-old Robinson said, "About a year ago, I began to have some doubts as to whether I wanted to continue coaching. It is a very demanding profession . . . you must put it even before your family."

"Western Carolina now is accelerating its football program and I believe I would be less than honest if I attempted to head up the accelerated programs with the feelings I have."

for Clemson in the final game of the season two weeks hence. Gamecock Sophomore Tom Suggs threw four touchdown passes against Wake Forest and sent South Carolina off to a 26-0 lead.

Wake Forest tried to stage a comeback, but it was too little, too late, especially when quarterback Freddie Summers went to the sidelines with bruised ribs. He did gain 45 yards to set a new school record for total offense with 1,657 yards but still is 31 yards short of the ACC mark.

Virginia cut loose once again and buried North Carolina 41-6. This time it was quarterback

Gene Arnette and Frank Quayle leading the way. Arnette passed for one touchdown, ran for another and set up a third.

Quayle scored twice, gained 145 yards on 18 carries and caught two passes for 12 yards. Those pass receptions helped him break a Virginia school record, with 1,051 yards gained receiving during his college career.

This week's schedule has N. C. State at home to Florida State; Clemson at North Carolina; Wake Forest at Duke; Maryland at home to unbeaten Penn State; Virginia at home to Tulane, and Virginia Tech at South Carolina.

Most SC Teams Had Share Of Frustration

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Southern Conference football leader Richmond was down 17-6 to Virginia Tech when quarterback Buster O'Brien did, Tech's Frank Beamer intercepted and ran 50 yards for a touchdown and the Gobblers went onto a 31-18 victory that ended a five-game winning streak for the Spiders.

It was the kind of frustration experienced by every conference team Saturday but one—Virginia Military Institute. The Keydets finally broke into the victory column for the first time in eight starts—21-17 at the expense of lodge brother Davidson on a game-ending pass play.

The rest of the day was all bad news as four other league teams went down to defeat against non-conference opposition—William and Mary 31-0 to Syracuse, The Citadel 17-0 to West Virginia, East Carolina to Tampa and Furman 17-12 to Samford.

Virginia Tech coach Jerry Claiborne called Beamer's interception "the biggest play of the game. It took the pressure off us."

Tailback Terry Smoot scored twice and set up a field goal with a 42-yard run as Tech continued to impress offensively. O'Brien completed 24 of his 39 aerials for 210 yards and all three Richmond touchdowns. Spider end Walker Gillette grabbed seven passes for a career record of 89 receptions.

Despite a conference record 52 carries for 215 yards and two scores by fullback Tom Sowers, VMI trailed Davidson 17-14 when the Keydets got the ball for the last time with 44 seconds left. Sophomore quarterback Murphy Sprinkel hit Bob Havasevich with a 38-yard pass with 18 seconds remaining, then hit tight end Bill Stainback in the end zone with no time showing on the clock. Davidson's Gordon Slade completed 21 of 31 passes for 238 yards and one score.

It was a case of an enemy sophomore and not enough offense for both William and Mary and The Citadel.

Syracuse's John Godbolt score three times, and the Indians were held to 100 yards in total offense as they threatened just twice. The West Virginia defense limited The Citadel to just 29 yards in total offense.

One big splurge was the killer for East Carolina and Furman. Tampa overcame a 21-0 East Carolina lead fashioned on a touchdown pass and two scoring runs by Butch Colson with 28 points in the third quarter. Samford scored 17 points in the second period, then held off Furman whose Jimmy Jordan scored one touchdown and set up the other.

The burden of Jim Dooley's Total Offense concept has shifted . . . most painfully for the Chicago Bears . . . from the flashing feet of Gale Sayers to the hot hands of young Virgil Carter.

No one will replace Sayers, injured during Sunday's 27-19 victory over San Francisco and lost for the rest of the National Football League season, in the Bears' backfield.

But Dooley, the first-year Chicago coach who devised an attack . . . which he called Total Offense . . . to exploit Sayers' versatility at every turn, might take some solace in the presence of Carter.

Total offense always has been the rookie quarterback's bag.

Sayers, the NFL's top ball carrier, suffered torn ligaments in his right knee in the second quarter and underwent surgery Sunday night. But the Bears still rolled to their fourth straight victory . . . and kept a share of the Central Division lead, as Carter scored twice and passed for a third touchdown.

The former Brigham Young ace holds the all-time NCAA career record of 6,354 rushing-passing yards.

Elsewhere Sunday, the New York Giants stunned Dallas' Capitol Division pace-setters 27-21; Baltimore whipped Detroit 27-10; Los Angeles struggled past Atlanta 17-10; Minnesota downed Green Bay 14-10;

Cleveland trounced New Orleans 35-17; Pittsburgh battled St. Louis to a 28-28 stalemate and Washington trimmed Philadelphia 16-10.

In the American Football League, the New York Jets topped Houston 26-7; Oakland mauled Denver 43-7; Kansas City beat Cincinnati 16-9; San Diego flattened Boston 27-17 and Miami bounced Buffalo 21-17.

Sayers picked up 32 rushing yards, pushing his season total to 856, before being cut down on a shoe string tackle by the 49ers' Kermit Alexander.

After operating on the damaged knee, Dr. Theodore Fox, the Bears' team physician, said he expected Sayers to make a complete recovery.

Dr. Fox described the injury as a complete rupture of all ligaments on the inner side of Sayers' right knee, as well as torn cartilage.

"Most of our offense was geared to Gale's talents," Dooley said in the hushed Chicago dressing room after the costly victory. "Now that we no longer have his talents, we have to prepare our game plans to the material we have."

Carter, elevated from the taxi squad last month when an injury shelved first string quarterback Jack Concannon, kept 'the Bears' offense in gear against San Francisco, flipping an 18-yard scoring pass to Bob Wallace after dashing seven yards for one touchdown and sneaking one yard for another.

The Giants, who had lost three of their previous four starts to fall two games behind Dallas in the Capitol race, beat the Cowboys for the first time since 1963.

Two field goals by Pete Gogolak made the difference after Fran Tarkenton raced 22 yards for one touchdown, passed five yards to Joe Morrison for another and hit Homer Jones with a 60-yard scoring bomb.

Preston Pearson zipped 102 yards on a kickoff return, sending Baltimore ahead of Detroit to stay, and Colts quarterback Earl Morrall completed a string of four victories over the four clubs with whom he played before hooking up with the Coastal Division contenders.

The victory, eighth in nine games for the Colts, kept them tied for the Coastal lead with the Rams, who barely got by lowly Atlanta when Roman Gabriel's 10-yard TD strike to Jack Snow snapped a fourth quarter tie.

Minnesota, sparked by the defensive play of tackle Carl Eller and a two-touchdown burst by fullback Bill Brown, held off the slumping Packers to retain a piece of the central lead.

Eller blocked a field goal attempt, threw Green Bay passer Bart Starr three times for losses and jarred the ball loose from Donny Anderson to kill a last-ditch Packer drive on the Vikings' 18 yard line.

Bill Nelsen tossed four touchdown passes—two of them to Leroy Kelly for five and 68 yards—and Kelly rambled for 127 yards and another touchdown as the Browns grabbed first place in the Century Division.

The Cardinals, who fought back from a 21-0 deficit to tie Pittsburgh on Johnny Roland's one-yard TD plunge with 47 seconds to play, slipped one-half game behind Cleveland. Roland scored following Jim Hart's 27-yard pass to Bobby Joe Conrad and a pass interference call in the end zone.

Charlie Gogolak booted three field goals, sending the Redskins past the winless Eagles, whose nine-game losing streak matches the 1940 club record.

Plan For A Modern Tenant House

3-bedroom
TENANT HOUSE

PLAN NO. 7178

Plans for a house that could be used to improve the living conditions of many tenant families in North Carolina and Pitt County are available from the Agricultural Extension Service. The plans call for a house that is neat, modern, economical, and designed to encourage well-trained employees to remain over a number of years. The plan, No. 7178, was prepared by the U. S. Tobacco

Tips

By S. J. WEEKS
Pitt County Tobacco Agent

Sixty-five percent of the tobacco soils in this area, that have been analyzed for lime requirements in recent years, showed a need for additional lime application. Twenty-five on the farm tests have been conducted during the past three years to measure the lime on yield, value, and price of tobacco. Each field selected for the tests had received a recommendation based on a soil analysis for 1000 to 2000 pounds of dolomitic lime per acre. To study the effects of liming, treatments of no lime, 1000, 2000 and 4000 pounds of lime per acre was applied.

The results of these tests showed that when the soil was properly limed (when needed) it improved the value per acre about $27. This $27 may appear to be small; however, in view of costs of applying lime, the net returns will likely give larger improvements in crops grown on investment is more than enough to justify its use. The benefits of lime last over a number of years and this fact makes the return on investment more attractive.

Crop rotation is a more desirable tobacco production practice. The wide use of lime will likely give larger improvements in crops grown in rotation than it will with tobacco. A good practice is to lime tobacco fields during the fall after tobacco has been in the field and another crop will be grown the coming year.

If more than the suggested amount of lime is applied, this may lower the per acre value. Experience and tests have shown the need to guard against over-liming soils used for tobacco. When too much lime is applied, the soil pH is increased to a high level which is favorable for the development of black shank and black root rot diseases. Never lime soil used for tobacco except on suggestions based on soil tests, and then use only the suggested rate. Excessive rates of lime can lower tobacco yields and quality.

Ballot Prepared By Dog Lovers?

NEWBERG, Ore. (AP) — They are planning a new dog control vote in Newberg. The ballot last Tuesday carried this question: "Check one: 'For dogs running at large—Yes.' 'Against dogs running at large—No.'"

The no box was checked by 1211 voters, the yes box by 437. But City Atty. George Layman said: "The votes do not mean a thing. No matter how residents voted, they were in favor of dogs running at large. 'The ballot must have been written by a dog lover.'"

Today In Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Plans to fly some 1,500 Army paratroopers from Fort Bragg, N.C., and drop them into ground war training exercises in South Korea have been called off.

The demonstration of airlift capability, never officially announced, is indefinitely postponed but there were strong indications Sunday it is being cancelled for budgetary reasons. The brigade of paratroopers, two battalions of the 82nd Airborne Division, were to have been flown in 75 planes starting next week.

They were to have been dropped at the end of the 8,500-mile airlift directly into South Korea to join South Korean and U.S. forces already in the country in exercises below the Demilitarized Zone.

The airlift was to have been announced Oct. 28 but Pentagon officials said then the announcement was being delayed apparently to avoid a show of force during delicate Vietnam peace maneuvering.

Reference to budgetary problems Sunday indicated the demonstration was a victim of the congressional mandate to reduce federal spending $6 billion this year.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A public television network of 150 stations is to begin operating on a one-night-a-week basis next month with plans to expand to five nights a week in January.

The interconnection offering greater variety for the stations, which stress informational and cultural programming, was announced Sunday by the Federal Communications Commission.

The FCC said American Telephone & Telegraph Co. will assist the prime-time hookup with a discount rate. The federal Corporation for Public Broadcasting and the Ford Foundation each will put up $250,000 for

Brazilians Here To Learn Farm Credit

A group of Brazilian-bankers and credit officials visited Pitt County Thursday and Friday to meet with farm leaders in an effort to learn more about farm credit. The public television stations—officials are trying to get rid of the educational television designation as sounding too scholarly—carry no advertising.

CPB chairman Frank Pace Jr. called the trial run "only a first and tentative step toward public television's goal of either free interconnection or substantially reduced rates."

The Brazilians are on a 10-week tour of the U. S. on a program to review and analyze the importance of credit in the development of agriculture, with a view toward the expansion and improvement of an agricultural credit system in their country, said Pitt County Extension Chairman San Winchester.

Thursday, the financial leaders visited the County Extension and Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service offices as well as Soil Conservation Service, Farmers Home Administration, Federal Crop Insurance Corporation and Production Credit Association facilities. The group also met with vocational - agricultural education teachers.

Friday the bankers toured the John King Farm near Farmville then met with Dr.

The tour is being sponsored by the Agency for International Development with the cooperation of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and land - grant colleges and universities throughout the country. In North Carolina, the tour is being conducted by N. C. State University at Raleigh with co-

The Worry Clinic Childhood's Belated Protest Over Baths

Harold is typical of beatniks. They are in a belated open revolt against "Mamma," who used to order them to take a bath and illustrate regression to an wash behind their ears! They earlier, irresponsible, age, only slightly above that of the infant who expects mamma to bathe him and change his diaper!

CASE H-531: Harold P., aged 17, is a beatnik.
"Dr. Crane," his horrified mother began, "what is wrong with Harold?"
"We live in a nice suburban neighborhood."
"Our house is spic and span. But Harold now deliberately smears up his skin-tight trousers and wears sloppy shirts that are dirty and unkempt."
"Actually, he seems to delight in looking like a pig in a mudhole."

"So what could possibly make a boy act so irrationally?"
This is just one of the many variations of what we psychologists call the "negative protest."
As a little boy, Harold grumbled and griped about taking a bath when he came in from playing with his pals. Youngsters protest at that time even about washing their hands!

They may, under coercion, slap a few drops of water on their face and then wipe the dirt on the towel.
But when they get to the table, Mamma says:
"Why, you look filthy! And you didn't wash behind your ears!"
"Go right back upstairs to the bathroom and wash properly!"

That exclamation of the typical conscientious mother, needs to be headlined today.
For the beatnik craze is a belated protest by teen-agers who now feel powerful enough to refuse to obey mamma's original bossy behavior regarding soap and water.

Beatniks are thus merely overgrown toddlers who, in struggling to assert their independence of mamma, thus revert to a kindergarten outlook.

This is a form of regression. It is a first cousin to similar regression seen in our mental institutions where deranged adults revert clear back to infancy and neither dress themselves or even take over their own toilet functions.

Beatniks thus are only a few notches above the baby stage change their diapers! Oddly enough, the beatniks seem to think their unconventional behavior now proves that they are adults!

On the contrary, they publicly advertise the fact that they are shunning responsibility, which is a typical infantile role.

Adulthood is synonymous with shouldering obligations and assuming the duties prescribed by the moral and social codes of one's generation.

If juveniles want to prove that they are grown-ups, then they should act like adults instead of toddlers.

But that takes elbow grease, guts and perseverance! Beatniks help comprise a large segment of our population who are both psychically and stamped after their bellwether leaders.

SOLUTION OF SATURDAY'S PUZZLE

But lions don't flock or stampede!

So be glad the great majority of teen-agers still are rugged "lions" who face up to reality with courage.

Beatniks "chicken out" and want the limelight, just like baby in the high chair, who wants to feel important though he is meanwhile totally dependent on papa and mama!

So send for my "Behavior Tests for Teen-Agers," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents. They quickly weed out the juveniles among youth.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠AQJ64 ♥1092 ♦A42 ♣32

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1♥ Pass 1♠ Pass

3♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four diamonds. You have the equivalent of an opening bid facing a partner who has opened and then jumped, so there are slam possibilities present. The recommended bid is to show the ace of diamonds. Any further action will develop upon partner.

Q. 2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠K87 ♥K95 ♠432 ♠872

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

1♥ Dble. 3♥ Pass

Pass 3♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Three no trump. This is a pretty good hand for a partner who has undertaken a nine-trick contract all by himself. The king of spades should solidify that suit but, since the king of hearts represents a potential value only with your hand protected from the opening lead, it might prove easier to try the shorter road to game.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠J1076 ♥KQ10743 ♦6 ♠104

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1♥ 2♠ ?

What do you bid?

A.—Pass. A bid of two hearts would be highly dangerous since it forces partner into the three-level immediately with no sign of a fit. A free bid at the two level in a suit that outranks partner's should represent a hand of virtually opening bid strength.

Q. 4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠65 ♦AK10873 ♠AKJ106

The bidding has proceeded:

East South West North

Pass 1♦ Pass 4♥

Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. Partner has announced possession of a virtually solid heart suit with no outside strength. Your hand will prove quite suitable to him and, since a slam is not even remotely in contemplation, you should pass.

Marty Allen In Serious Role

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Wild-haired comic Marty Allen appears in a different guise on "The Big Valley" tonight, symbolizing his new and solitary career.

It used to be Allen and Rossi, and together the pair enjoyed 10 years of high earnings as a comedy team—as much as $25,000 a week in Las Vegas. Two weeks ago, they bowed out of the stage of the Vegas Hotel Riviera amid tears and cheers; it was their last appearance together.

Explosive Dispute Is Before U.S. Prelates

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's Roman Catholic bishops and cardinals, face today an explosive dispute over the meaning of Pope Paul VI's ban on artificial birth controls.

The issue of whether the ban is binding on all Catholic couples or whether birth control should be left up to personal conscience looms as the largest question before the five-day National Conference of Catholic Bishops, opening today.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., was cheered by a crowd of 3,000 to 5,000 persons Sunday as he backed a band of Washington priests who were punished after they disagreed openly with the Pope's birth control edict.

The French Assembly of Bishops, in the boldest reaction so far, decided last week to leave the choice up to each married couple.

However, the Catholic hierarchy in this country generally voiced support for the Pope when he issued his encyclical last summer continuing the church's traditional ban on all artificial means of birth control. Their formal, written stand is to be hammered out this week.

McCarthy, who once spent a year in a monastery, spoke in support of 40 priests penalized by Patrick Cardinal O'Boyle of Washington after they called for the choice of conscience for married couples, the same stand that has since been taken by France and Canada.

The Rev. John E. Corrigan, leader of the Washington priests, said the bishops should realize that "The only way to control a revolution is to lead it."

The priests are asking the bishops to persuade Cardinal O'Boyle to place their dispute before an arbitration panel.

Published polls have indicated nearly half of the nation's priests and more than half of the Catholic populace disagree with the Pope's ban.

Cardinal O'Boyle will attend the bishops' conference along with almost all of the other five cardinals in the United States. All meetings of the bishops will be closed.

Local Nurse Completes Coronary Care Training

RALEIGH — Mrs. Shellie Hudson of Greenville was one of 29 nurses to complete a four-week Coronary Care unit training course sponsored by the North Carolina Regional Medical Program recently.

The nurses enrolled spent one week in a didactic session at Charlotte Memorial Hospital where Mrs. Hudson was assigned, where they gained clinical experience.

The classroom sessions included a review of normal anatomy and physiology of the cardiopulmonary systems, epidemiology, fluid and electrolytes, pharmacology, philosophy of the coronary care unit and in introduction to electrocardiography.

The clinical experience in working in coronary care units and emergency situations was designed to expand on the didactic material, and included continuing lectures and practical application of the subjects under clinical conditions.

The courses are planned to make available the opportunity for the nurse to improve her knowledge and skills in the specialized techniques required in the Coronary Care Unit.

Mrs. Hudson is employed at Pitt Memorial Hospital.

Reports To List State's Needs

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina's needs in public schools, highways and higher education will be outlined in reports to be presented during the next four weeks.

Gov. Dan Moore's office said the first report, planning for Higher Education in North Carolina, will be presented by the state Board of Higher Education Nov. 28.

The report of the Governor's Study Commission on the Public School System is set for presentation Dec. 3.

A report on the highway needs from 1970 to 1990 will be presented Dec. 5 by the Governor's Highway Study Commission.

Each of the presentations will be made at public meetings at 10 a.m. in Raleigh's Memorial Auditorium.

A statement from the governor said he expected the reports "to provide sound information in areas of major service which will enable future governors and General Assemblies to better plan and better utilize the state's resources."

Paying For Used Campaign Signs

SOUTHERN PINES, N. C. (AP)—Democrat Voit Gilmore, defeated in his bid for a congressional seat from North Carolina's 8th District, is offering a penny for each of his campaign signs taken down from poles, posts and buildings along the highways.

No, Gilmore is not saving them for another campaign. He's just doing his part for highway beautification.

A state senator and former director of the U. S. Travel Agency, Gilmore says, "election clutter is unsightly. Getting rid of the signs will help make North Carolina beautiful."

Actually, Gilmore's bounty to rid the highways of political posters is nothing new to him. In two races for the state Senate, Gilmore offered rewards for his old posters. His unique clean-up campaign drew national attention, not to mention several citations from garden and civic clubs.

"As a former chairman of Keep North Carolina Beautiful," Gilmore said Sunday, "I deplore all man-made litter that clutters our roadsides and this goes particularly for political campaigns."

Gilmore didn't say, however, that he would pay a bounty for any posters put up by his Republican opponent, Earl Ruth.

Czechs Jeer 'Hard Liners'

By FRANK CREPEAU
Associated Press Writer
PRAGUE (AP) — Anti-Soviet Czechoslovaks jeered and jostled hard-line Communists who had to fight their way out of a Soviet friendship rally in Prague Sunday.

Shouting, "traitors," "swine" and, "collaborators," a crowd of more than 1,000 Czechoslovaks massed outside a hall where more than 2,000 pro-Soviet Communists attended a morning rally. Fist fights broke out. Many suffered minor injuries and police took several persons into custody.

About 100 Soviet soldiers who participated in the rally left the hall by a side door. But about 100 Czechs gathered around their buses, shouting "go home" and shaking their fists at the Russians, who waved and smiled.

The meeting was organized by the Czechoslovak-Soviet Friendship Association, a group being used to organize opposition to the reform leadership of Alexander Dubcek, first secretary of the Czechoslovak Communist party.

Dubcek and the old guard are expected to clash Thursday when the party's central committee meets to decide whether reforms begun in January will continue under Soviet occupation.

A woman standing outside the hall whacked Emanuel Famira, former Prague Art School director, across the shoulder with her umbrella. Famira was on the stage at the rally, where the main speakers were Vaclav David, foreign minister during the pre-Dubcek era, and Lt. Gen. Sarkis Matrosian of the Soviet army.

One pro-Soviet woman criticized some boys for jeering at the Russian soldiers. The boys pursued her down the streets shouting, "Shame, traitor," until police took her into a car.

Another man shouted, "You murderers, long live Dubcek!" at the pro-Soviet Czechs.

Yugoslav President Tito, meanwhile, continued his defiance of Soviet domination, telling a crowd of 200,000 Yugoslavs at Osijek, near the Hungarian border: "Our sovereignty and our independence were paid for in blood, once and forever, and we will preserve them with blood if necessary."

"Attempts to isolate Yugoslavia will not succeed because we have many friends in the world," he declared, citing Italy, Austria, Great Britain, Belgium, Holland, the Scandinavian countries and nonaligned countries of Asia and Africa.

Says Marijuana Leads To Heroin

CHARLOTTE (AP) — A federal narcotics agent said Sunday that more than 80 per cent of the nation's heroin addicts started on marijuana.

Donald T. Howard of Greensboro, an agent for the Federal Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, told the congregation of Commonwealth United Methodist Church in Charlotte: "The use of marijuana does, definitely, tend to lead users to heroin."

Howard then added, "the federal narcotics bureau won't lose the battle against the legalization of marijuana, because we are right."

Drug addiction, he said, is not just a habit, like tobacco or alcohol, because in addition to habitual use, it implies dependence and tolerance.

"The addict's body," he said, "has a physical need for the drug the same as it needs food and water. And in the absence of the addicting drug — as without food — illness develops which ultimately may result in death."

Also, Howard added, "the addiction causes an individual to need more and more of the drug to sustain prior normalcy."
