Astronauts Get December Moon Mission

WASHINGTON (AP) — The space agency said today the Apollo 8 mission will attempt an orbital flight around the moon, probably during the Christmas holidays.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the launching from Cape Kennedy, Fla., for what a few years ago would have been pure science fiction, will occur no earlier than Dec. 21.

This would mean the three Apollo 8 astronauts would spend Christmas Eve and part of Christmas day making the lunar orbits.

NASA officials announced at a news conference the Apollo mission would be "open-ended" — that is, conducted in steps referred to as plateaus or "commit points."

"Each plateau includes a thorough system check of crew, system and equipment operations," officials said.

"Only when all conditions are satisfactory will the decision be made to commit to the next plateau."

NASA said this type of operation allows for various alternate missions, including a low, earth-orbit flight, a flight to a distance of as much as 60,000 miles, or a flight around the moon.

"Conducting the mission in this manner provides both maximum crew safety and maximum benefits through alternate flight mission selection as the flight proceeds," the announcement said.

The announcement was made by Dr. Thomas O. Paine, NASA acting administrator; Lt. Gen. Samuel Phililips, Apollo program manager, and William Schneider, Apollo 8 mission director.

The decision to conduct a lunar orbit mission followed an intensive review under way since mid-August when NASA announced the lunar module would be flown on Apollo 9 rather than Apollo 8.

"After a careful and thorough examination of all systems and the risks and benefits involved in each of the mission alternatives, we have concluded that we are ready to fly this advanced mission around the moon," Paine said.

"Frank Borman and his crew ae eager to proceed, our engineers unanimously recommend this mission, and without being overconfident, we believe that we understand the hazards involved and are now ready to take this next step forward in the nation's space program.

The astronauts will make at least two orbits of the earth to check out their spacecraft before starting the actual 250,000-mile trek to the moon.

Once there, the craft is to make 10 orbits about 70 miles from the surface during a 20-hour photography mission scheduled to begin Christmas Eve.

A Pacific Ocean splashdown will end the mission Dec. 28 after the spacecraft barrels through the earth's atmosphere at 25,000 miles per hour—twice the speed of earlier re-entries.

Apollo 8 will carry two 40-year-old men who have already orbited the earth—Air Force Col. Frank Borman and Navy Capt. James A. Lovell, plus Air Force Maj. William A. Anders, 35, making his first space flight.

The near-perfect performance of the 11-day Apollo 7 mission made possible the scheduling of a moon-orbit flight.

This will be the first use of the huge Saturn 5 moon rocket on a manned spacecraft. The Apollo 7 astronauts—Walter M. Schirra, Jr., Donn F. Eisele and Walter Cunningham—were launched last Oct. 11 by a Saturn 1B rocket, in the first such use of the smaller version of the Saturn series.

The Apollo 8 astronauts must fire braking rockets near the moon to reduce their velocity to lunar-orbit speed.

Christmas morning the astronauts will re-start their rocket engines to accelerate an break free of lunar gravity.

Most Of Crew Plucked From Battered Vessel

OCRACOKE, N.C. (AP) — Coast Guard and Marine Corps helicopters plucked 13 crewmen from the 150-foot trawler Napeague in high seas off Ocracoke Tuesday, but the master and three of his crewmen elected to stay aboard.

The Napeague traveled to within two miles of shore, but was unable to reach land because of the rough waters in the inlets.

The master, Capt. Arnold Ripley of Beaufort, N.C., radioed the Coast Guard that he would attempt to hold off the shore until the winds and seas subsided.

Winds were gusting to 65 miles per hour when Ripley reported distress about 6 a.m. today several miles northeast of Ocracoke Inlet.

The Elizabeth City Coast Guard Air Station located the Napeague with an amphibious plane and a helicopter. She appeared to be in no immediate danger. The two Coast Guard airships circled as she headed shoreward.

Then Ripley's heavy cargo of menhaden fish shifted with the seas and the Napeague took a roll, taking on water. Ripley requested assistance in evacuating his crewmen.

The Marine Corps sent in two helicopters from the Cherry Point Marine Air Station and with the Coast Guard helicopter they removed all crewmen who wanted to evacuate.

They were taken to the Coast Guard station at Cape Hatteras. A spokesman for the Coast Guard said they apparently were in good health.

The Coast Guard dispatched two of its ships toward the Napeague, the cutter Cherokee out of Norfolk, Va., and the Jonquil, a boey tender from Morehead City. Both were expected to reach the Napeague this afternoon.

Coast Guard aircraft continued to hover over the vessel.

The Napeague is owned by the Smith Fish Meal Co. of Beaufort.

East Coast Whipped By Wintry Gale

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A pre-winter storm lashed the Atlantic Seaboard with snow, rain, flood tides and vicious gale force winds which raked the New York City area today.

The storm stretched from the Carolinas to New England. Heavy rains and winds beat the coastline and deep snows fell in the interior mountain areas.

Winds closed at 70 miles an hour ripped through Atlantic City, N.J., and Salisbury, Md. The strong gusts caused tide warnings to be issued for the Chespeake and Delaware bays where waters were expected to rise 5 feet above normal today.

Snow and driving warnings were issued for 14 states from Maine to the Carolinas.

The storm's high winds scared several motorists in New York City's Bronx-Whitestone Bridge.

Find Scores Of Drugs Ineffective

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — A panel of 200 scientists has found scores of drugs tested in a study for the federal Food and Drug Administration "totally ineffective."

The panel called for relabeling of more than 2,000 drugs—two-thirds of those tested so far in the study.

Dr. Robert K. Cannan of the National Academy of Sciences told a group of science writers Monday that revision is necessary because "the labels were misleading and devious."

"They left the impression that a drug could do what it cannot do," he said "To put it bluntly, there was not a fair representation of the drug in question."

Dr. Cannan reported on a two-year study of drugs placed on the market between 1938 and 1962. The study now is about 87 per cent complete, and there is no reason to suspect that the two-thirds figure will change when the study of 3,600 formulations is finished, he said.

Only a small fraction of the drugs covered in the study can be bought over the counter, Dr. Cannan said. The rest are prescription items.

ASSASSINATED

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Former Foreign Minister Nasser el Hani of Iraq was assassinated in Baghdad Monday night, Baghdad radio reported today.

Overruled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arkansas' anti-evolution law, a vestige of the fundamentalist religious fervor of the 1920s, was declared unconstitutional today by the Supreme Court.

"The law must be stricken because of its conflict with the constitutional prohibition of state laws respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof," said Justice Abe Fortas.

Speaking for a court that disagreed only on certain aspects of the case, he said: "The state's undoubted right to prescribe the curriculum for its public schools does not carry with it the right to prohibit, on pain of criminal penalty, the teaching of a scientific theory or doctrine where the prohibition is based upon reasons that violate the First Amendment."

Enemy Met Only Defeat, Says Abrams

SAIGON (AP) — The commander of U.S. forces in South Vietnam says the Communist side's major units have suffered massive losses and a large proportion of them have retreated to border areas or out of the country.

"The enemy has met with nothing but defeat throughout South Vietnam," said Gen. Creighton W. Abrams in a Veterans' Day message to his command, made available to newsmen today.

"The military successes and demonstrated effectiveness of Vietnamese and allied forces, together with our own, have brought us to a do inant position of strength and of confidence for the future," Abrams eclared.

The general's headquarters said intelligence information indicates between 80,000 and 90,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops are now in the South, and another 30,000 to 40,000 have withdrawn to Laos, Cambodia or North Vietnam

The U.S. Command says at least 168,015 Communist troops have been killed this year and at least 411,358 since Jan. 1 1961.

"With the continuing defeat of the enemy's main forces," Abrams said, "the opportunity now opens wider to destroy his local forces, guerrillas and infrastructure and progressively eliminate his remaining capability to threaten the security of South Vietnam."

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. Army's chief of staff and Abrams's predecessor in Vietnam, echoed Abrams' report in a Veterans' Day speech in Columbia, S.C.

Says Johnson Speaking For Next Administration

Nixon Pledges Continuance Of LBJ Policies

NEW YORK (AP) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon, while pledging that President Lyndon B. Johnson speaks for him on Vietnam and other crucial foreign policy matters, has left a big question mark about his own possible preinaugural role as a peace-seeking diplomat overseas.

Nixon flew here Monday night for a stay of several days following a lengthy meeting with Johnson at the White House.

Before meeting the chief executive he will succeed on January 20, Nixon had talked about possible personal missions to Saigon or the Paris peace talks should Johnson deem them helful. He also suggested he might send emissaries abroad—presumably to Saigon or Paris—if Johnson agreed.

But after their White House talks, neither Nixon nor Johnson said a word—or even hinted at—preinaugural foreign travel by the President-elect or the dispatching of representatives from the incoming administration.

Johnson. however, did indicate he might be having more conferences with Nixon before January 20.

"It was a very pleasant and cooperative meeting," Johnson told newsmen, "as we expect all these meetings in the days ahead to be."

Nixon, appearing jointly with the President, talked about such foreign policy problems as Vietnam, a possible new Mideast crisis and the ever-present question of American-Soviet relations.

"If progress is to be made in any of these fields," Nixon said, "It can be made only if the parties on the other side realize that the current administration is setting forth policies that will be carried foreward by the next administration. . . I gave assurance in each instance to the secretary of state and, of course, the President, that they could speak not just for this administration but for the nation and that meant for the next administration as well."

Nixon expressed hope that as a result of what he described as "completely candid discussions" with Johnson and key administration advisers, "rather than having the lapse of a lame duck presidiency, in effect, we might have some very significant action, progress toward peace" before inauguration day."

Saigon, Hanoi Unyielding On Start Of Peace Talks

PARIS (AP) — U.S. diplomats held out hope today that the Vietnam peace talks will resume soon but Saigon and Hanoi were publicly unyielding.

One U.S. source said the expanded parley, postponed from Nov. 6, might begin within two weeks. But he added there are differing views among U.S. delegation members about how long it will take to work out an agreement with South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu.

President-elect Richard M. Nixon's statement that the Johnson administration speaks for him on foreign affairs until he takes office Jan. 20 gave important backing to the efforts of U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and his team.

The U.S. delegation has not heard yet whether Nixon will send an advance man to observe the talks. Henry Cabot Lodge U.S. ambassador at Bonn, has been mentioned as a possibility. Lodge was twice ambassador to Saigon, and Nixon's running mate in the 1960 presidential race.

The Paris talks are stalled by Thieu's refusal to attend any conference at which the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front does not have diplomatic status inferior to that of Thieu's government. U.S. negotiators began consultations Monday with South Vietnam's observer in Paris, Pham Dang Lam, looking for a basis for compromise. But in Saigon, a spokesman for Thieu repeated the president's demands and said South Vietnam "will never give equal status at the peace talks to the Hanoi-dominated NLF."

Information Minister Ton That Thien said recognition of the NLF would amount to recognition of three Vietnams instead of the present two.

"We will never accept a vague understanding," he declared. "We want specific guarantees that the NLF will not be seated as a separate delegation."

The Communists held a mass rally in Paris at which they blamed the United States for the breakdown in negotiations.

Hanoi's chief delegate to the talks, Xuan Thuy, declared "a war-mongering American faction" was encouraging Thieu to balk at joining the talks because it wanted to stall the peacemaking process.

Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binn, the chief NLF delegate, made similar charges. She shared the speakers' platform with Thuy under a large portrait of North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh.

Up To 10-Inch Snow For N.C. Mountains

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hundreds of travelers stranded in mountainous sections of North Carolina by heavy snows took refuge in small towns for the night.

The snowstorm, that brought up to 10 inches of new snow to mountain areas, began to taper off this morning with mostly snow flurries in the western and Piedmont sections of the state.

At least one death was attributed to the weather. Mrs. Betty Justice Sanford of Rutherford County was killed near Bat Cave in Henderson County when her car ran off a slick highway, over a 150-foot embankment and into a river about 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Snow mixed with rain was reported as far east as Fayetteville at daybreak.

Schools were closed for the day in some areas because of treacherous road conditions.

The North Carolina Highway Patrol said many rural mountain roads were closed but most main thoroughfares were open although chains were recommended.

Temperatures dipped only to the 32-degree mark of freezing or a little lower so road conditions were not as bad as had there been a hard freeze following the snowfall.

Some 300 stranded motorists were reported in the Hendersonville-Saluda area near the North Carolina-South Carolina border. Two large trucks jacknifed on U.S. 177 because of the slippery road conditions, officials reported, stacking up traffic for miles.

Passengers on two buses as well as stranded motorists were taken to Hendersonville to spend the night.

Douglas Airport in Charlotte was closed to all flights after an Eastern Air Lines plane from Newark, N.J., skidded off a runway. None of the 85 passengers or crew aboard were injured.

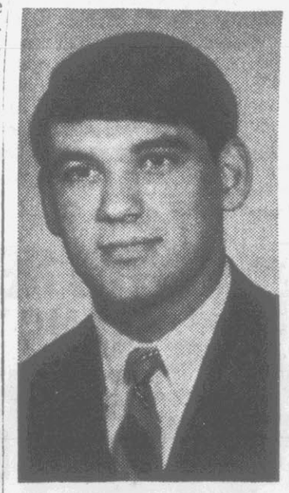

The heavy snows knocked down power lines in some areas. Blackouts—temporary or lasting most of the night—were reported in Greensboro, Winston-Salem, Charlotte and other cities.

Power failure or transmitter tower troubles caused all four Charlotte television stations to go off the air for brief periods Monday night. Lightning hit the WBTV transmitter on Spencer Mountain about 10 p.m.

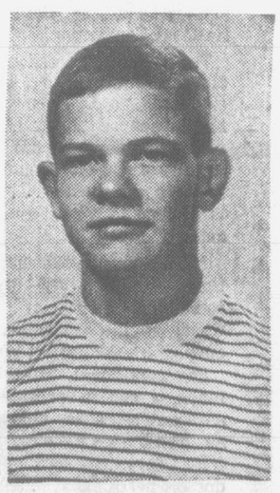

Thirty-five cars of a Clinchfield Railway freight train en route from Spartanburg, S.C., to Ervin, Tenn., derailed at Spruce Pine in mountainous Mitchell County. There were no injuries and the train crew said the snow apparently did not cause the derailment.

Gale warnings were in effect along the North Carolina coast from Hatteras northward with small craft warnings to the south.

Two Nominees From Pitt For Scholars Prize

H. D. JEFFERSON, JR.

GARY F. IRONS

Two seniors from Pitt County were chosen Monday as nominees for the 1968 Morehead Scholarship program of the University of North Carolina.

Gary Frederick Irons of Rose High School and Henry Dawson Jefferson, Jr., of Farmville High School, were selected by the Pitt County Morehead Scholarship Selection Committee from 16 candidates from schools in Pitt County.

"All the young men nominated had excellent records in high school and demonstrated they had had good family backgrounds in Christian homes. Each boy had such good records of achievement and possessed such fine record of character, that it was extremely difficult for the committee to select just two of the total of 16," stated W. W. Speight, chairman of the committee.

The two young men will appear later before a District Committee in competition with nominees from 18 other northeastern North Carolina counties which comprise District I.

If they are selected by the District Committee, they will afterwards appear before the Central Selection Committee which makes the final determination on nominees who are to be recipients of the Morehead Scholarships.

Selection as a recipient for the Morehead Scholarship carries a stipend annually for a period of four years. This is designed to finance the recipient through a program leading to the Ph.D., J.D., or M.D. degree. The recent annual stipend has been $2,000 for such recipients.

Chairman Speight, Louis W. Gaylord, Jr., and Howard L. Hodges are the members of the Pitt County Selection Committee this year. The three members interviewed each of the 16 nominees and considered the record furnished by the school in making their choice for nomination.

Each candidate for nomination is judged on evidence of moral force of character, scholastic ability and attainments, motivation toward the chosen field of study, and promise of distinction in that field.

Fred Irons, son of Dr. C. Fred Irons and Dr. Malone Irons of Greenville, is engaged in a number of projects at Rose High School. He is a member of the Science Club, the National Honor Society, a member of the Student Council, and is on the high school swimming team. Fred is active in local scouting, is a member of the Methodist Youth Fellowship and the United Christian Youth. This past summer, he was Greenville's Community Ambassador to Japan, where he lived for several weeks with a Japanese family. Fred has hopes of becoming a medical missionary.

Henry Jefferson, a senior at Farmville High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dawson Jefferson, Sr., of Farmville. Henry is an outstanding student, maintaining a high scholastic record. He is a member of the Key Club and other honor organizations. Henry is

Lemnitzer Sees Higher Risks To West From Soviet

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, supreme allied commander in Europe, said today risks to the West remain "markedly higher" because of the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia, despite publicized withdrawals.

"The Warsaw Pact capability for moving forward has been enhanced," he said. "The military balance in central Europe has been significantly altered to the disadvantage of the West."

Lemnitzer's remarks were made in a speech prepared for delivery to the North Atlantic Assembly, a gathering of members of the U.S. Congress and from the parliaments of the other 14 addies in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Lemnitzer took issue with those who say the Soviet position has been more than counterbalanced by the loss of support from the Czechoslovak army, or by other possible defections in Eastern Europe. He said such people are trying to "wish away" the proven readiness and capability of Soviet forces.

He made five points:

—The Soviet Union now has in central Eruope its larges and most readily usable force since World War II

—The Soviets and their allies have carried out a classical pattern of military deployment in Czechoslovakia.

—Men, communications and transport have been extensively mobilized to support forward forces.

—A large and immediately usable Soviet force has been placed farther west than at any time in the recent past.

—Despite reports of movement out of Czechoslovakia, the Soviets are there in strength, as they have not been since 1945.

He urged that NATO planning be based on Soviet potential, not on assessment of Soviet intentions.

On Monday, NATO Secretary-General Manlio Brosio of Italy told the assembly that the invasion of Czechoslovakia did not constitute a direct threat to NATO in itself. But he added: "The combined result of Soviet action in Czechoslovakia and of the Soviet doctrine of a Socialist community is a state of instability and deep uncertainty."

Lemnitzer warned that NATO cannot base its plans just on tht assumption that there will always be the necessary warning before an attack.

"Warning did not exist prior to the occupation of Czechoslovakia," he said.

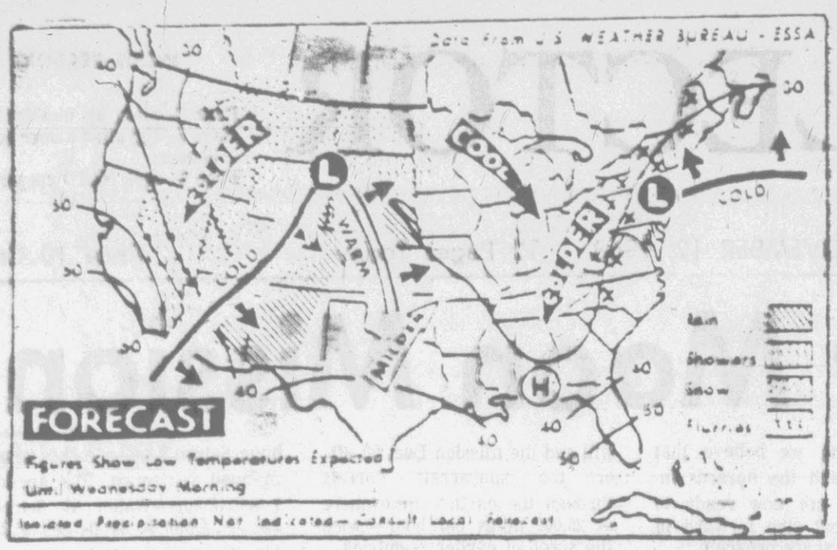

That meant, he went on, that forces immediately available must be able to cope with sudden attacks.

In a report to the assembly's military committee, Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., presented U.S. Defense Department figures that showed superiority of NATO ready forces over Warsaw Pact forces in everything but numbers of tanks and planes. A Defense Department evaulation, Cooper addid, claimed qualitative superiority in those weapons too.

Lemnitzer also urged improvement in mobilization plans.

Earlier Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., told the NATO allies there is widespread feeling in the United States that Europeans are not doing as much as they should in NATO.

Americans agree on the need for the alliance, he said, but added that there has been a problem in maintaining an effective American force in Europe.

SNOW SHOWERS are forecast Tuesday night from the Appalachians to the lower Great Lakes and snow is predicted for the northern Plateaus and central Rockies. Rain and snow are expected in portions of the Great Basin, the southern Rockies and the northern and Central Plains. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Ray's Lawyer Asking Delay

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP — James Earl Ray's new lawyer, towering Texan Percy Foreman, asks postponement today of Ray's trial in the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Despite the lateness of the scaped convict's switch of a lawyer, Judge W. Preston Battle is expected to go along with the motion to put the trial off, probably until after the first of the year.

Foreman, loquacious, colorful, 6-foot-4 criminal attorney of international reputation, replaced Arthur Hanes, dapper former mayor of Birmingham, Ala., whom Ray fired abruptly Sunday night.

Ray, 40, was to go on trial today in Shelby County criminal court on charges that he killed King with a rifle shot last April 4 when King was here to aid the city's striking garbage collectors.

In the current issue of Look magazine, published Monday, Ray is quoted as saying he unknowingly became involved in "some sort of plot to kill King" eight months before the slaying.

Foreman, 66, was unusually reticent Monday night when he talked with newsmen, declining to say how long a period he would ask to familiarize himself with the case.

Nor would Foreman discuss the circumstances under which he entered the case just 36 hours before the scheduled trial.

Hanes, 51, said he would be in court but would not contest his sudden replacement as defense chief—a post he had held since last June when he flew to London following Ray's seizure there.

Ray's capture June 8 climaxed a record FBI manhunt that began when King, Nobel Peace Prize winner and leading proponent if nonviolence in the civil rights struggle, was shot to death on the balcony of the Lorraine Motel in downtown Memphis.

The FBI claimed the fatal bullet was fired by Ray from a cheap lodging house about 200 feet away. Ray denied the slaying.

In the Look article, author William Bradford Huie says Ray wrote from his Memphis jail cell: "I suppose I became involved in some sort of plot to kill King when I first took those packages into the United States from Canada. . .but nobody told me anything about any planned murder of King or anyone else."

The article quotes Ray as writing that he met a man named Raoul while a fugitive in Canada in August 1967. Ray, Huie wrote, said Raoul offered him money, a car and "travel papers" if he would establish himself in Birmingham and make himself "available."

Before leaving for Birmingham, Ray made two auto trips across the border at Detroit with "packages" Raoul had concealed in his old car, Huie wrote. Ray then went to Birmingham and made other trips for Raoul, including the Mexican border, the article said.

Ray wrote that Raoul told him, "We had one more job to do and we'e do it in about two or three months." Ray said he was promised "travel papers" and $12,000. When he asked what the job was, Ray said he was told "not to worry about it and not to ask questions."

Ray was in Los Angeles, Huie wrote, when he "received by mail on March 15 the directive he had been expecting. He was wanted in Selma and Birmingham, Ala., where King was recruiting support for his Poor People's march on Washington."

Huie said Ray registered in a motel in Selma on March 22 and went to Atlanta the next day. He quoted a news dispatch that said King had gone to Atlanta on March 21 after a swing through Alabama. King was slain in Memphis two weeks later.

Dissident Priests Stage Sit-In As Bishops Ponder

By JAMES R. POLK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A band of dissident priests have beseiged the nation's Roman Catholic bishops with a sit-in at a plush hotel amid signs that the church leaders may soften the interpretation of Pope Paul VI's ban on artificial birth controls.

A proposed pastoral letter ending before the National Conference of Catholic Bishops moves tentatively toward making birth control a question of conscience for each married couple—a stance that could cushion Pope Paul VI's controversial ban on all contraceptives.

But the bishops said they had no power to intervene in the dispute swirling around 40 Washington priests penalized by Patrick Cardinal O'Boyle after they dissented against his rulings that the Pope's edict prohibited any use of contraceptives.

About 200 priests, singing "The Impossible Dream," marrhed into the bishops' hotel at nightfall Monday to show support for the 40.

They sat-in for three hours before Archbishop John F. Dearden of Detroit, head of the conference, finally met with them and received an appeal asking the conference to require mediation of their dispote with the cardinal.

The contraceptive issue is dominating the bishops' five-day fall session which began Monday. A final stand on the controversy is expected to be shaped in secret debate starting Wednesday.

The proposed version of the pastoral letter already handed out to the bishops also probes the morality of the Vietnam war and takes a stance in favor of selective conscientous objection to a specific war. But the bishops refused to spell out any details in advance of their vote.

About 220 bishops and five cardinals are attending the conference only a week after the French Assembly of Bishops left the question of birth control up to personal conscience.

A civil engineer picketed the hotel Monday with a sign showing red flames and the inscription: "To Hell with Dissenting French Bishops — Obey the Pope."

About 300 priests from as far away as San Antonio and Seattle met during the day Monday to ask the U.S. bishops to step in the punishment dispute. Many of them, led by clergymen east out from their rectories by Cardinal O'Boyle, marched a mile to the hotel to deliver the appeal.

The priests prayed in the lobby, sang hymns and ate sandwiches until Archbishop Dearden appeared before them to accept their appeal. The Rev Thomas Reese of Wilmington, Del., a spokesman for the priests, said afterwards, "It's a calculated risk—it may do more harm than good. But we're hopeful."

Series Of 3 Traffic Accidents Monday

An estimated $1,450 property damage resulted from a series of three traffic collisions investigated by Greenville Police here yesterday.

Heaviest damage resulted from a 12:55 p.m. collision on Fourth Street, 50 feet East of the Lewis Street intersection and involved cars driven by Reta Jane Eemonds, 19 of Knightdale and Ellen Worthinton Vernelson, 23, of Route 1, Winterville.

Officers placed damage to each of the cars at $300 and charged Miss Edmonds with failing to keep a proper lookout while backing.

Mary Mitchell Hardy, 33, of 1721 Circle Dr. was charged with failing to stop for a stop sign following investigation of a 3:30 p.m. collision at the intersection of Elm and Fourth Streets.

Officers said the Hardy vehicle collided with a car driven by Linda Lovenia Shealy, 20, of 1106 West Wright Rd.

Damage to the Shealy car was estimated to be $250 while damage to the Hardy car was set at $300.

Martha Ellen Campbell, 23 of Rocky Mount was reported injured in a two car collision at 8:38 a.m. at the intersection of First and Holly Streets.

Police said the Campbell car collided with a vehicle parked on First Street and owned by Peter Bernard Brack of Route 1, Castle Hayne.

Damage to the Brack auto was placed at $200 while damage to the Campbell vehicle was set at $100.

Miss Campbell was charged with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety.

Cold And Wet For Pitt People

Rose Kennedy Says Now She's Worried Over Ted

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy says her surviving son, Massachusetts Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, "should go on in politics" although she worries about his safety.

The mother of the late President John F. Kennedy and the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, both slain by assassins, was quoted in an interview in the current Look magazine.

Mrs. Kennedy, 78, said her youngest son "made the right decision, for the obvious reasons," in not allowing his name to be placed in nomination for president at the Democratic National Convention.

The senator's decision to decline nomination, Mrs. Kennedy said, was "a new sensation for him" because "he wants to do what the older boys did."

"He's always been told to get in there and hustle . . . now he is advised to take it easy!" she said.

Mrs. Kennedy said she sometimes wonders "if there is something about my family which invite violence. Is it envy, you ask? I don't know."

She continued: "I've had so much, a son as president, two as senators, a son-in-law who's an ambassador (Sargent Shriver)... perhaps God doesn't permit that much.

"We came from very humble beginnings; why should the Kennedys be so special? Why shouldn't a Nixon or Humphrey have his chance?"

Mrs. Kennedy said she thinks her daughter-in-law, Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, will be "very happy" as the wife of Greek shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis, adding:

"It's been quite a lonely life for her."

Mrs. Kennedy said that she and her husband, the former ambassador to Great Britain, have known Onassis for 15 years and that he dined with them this past summer in the family compound at Hyannis Hort, Mass.

UNC Restriction On Water Lifted

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Snow mixed with rain was falling in Chapel Hill Monday night when residents of the university town were told that restrictions on water useage had been lifted.

A summer drought had prompted the city council to prohibit the washing of cars and watering of lawns. Students at the University of North Carolina ate off paper plates to cut down dishwashing.

No Percussion, Abandon Concert

NORMAN, Okla. ZAP) — The 1968 debut of the University of Oklahoma Chamber Orchestra lasted about 30 minutes Monday night. Three percussionists failed to show up.

The rest of the orchestra tried to carry on, but the main piece, "The Chinese Flute" by Toch, hinged on the percussionists. After about 30 minutes, the orchestra gave up and went home. So did the 200 or so music lovers who came to hear the concert.

Conductor Donn Mills said the percussionists simply "forgot the concert was tonight."

Sees Approach Of Mass Famine

FULTON, Mo. (AP) — Thousands of persons are dying of starvation now and mass famine may pit rich nations against poor nations within 10 years, Lord C. P. Snow said Monday night.

Opening the 1968 John Findley Green lecture at Westminster College, Lord Snow spoke to about 1,400 persons.

The British scientist, novelist, essayist and parliamentarian said people have most confidence and now distrust the whole human race.

Mrs. America Of 1969 Insists That Her Family Comes First

By JEANNETTE P. FISH

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Mrs. America, 1969, Joan Fisher of Salt Lake City, divides her time between her family and making appearances across the country—but she insists her family comes first.

"It's just like I'm leading two lives, explained the 29-year-old mother of three. "I decided if I was going to be gone a lot this year I was going to give up all my other activities to be with my family."

And Mrs. Fisher's "other activities" are impressive. She had been a substitute teacher, a guide for ours through the home of pioneer Mormon leader Brigham Young and a Republican district treasurer.

In addition, she had been the organist in the Sunday School for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, and choir director and teacher in the church's youth auxiliaries.

Her husband, Byron, an attorney and state legislator, remarked with a chuckle, "So many people wonder when we're going to get the divorce."

The children don't mind their mother's absences—at least not yet. "They have been just darling about it," Mrs. Fisher said.

But they have found that Mrs. America's attention may be a little difficult to attract. One night shortly after the coronation in Minneapolis, two-year-old Janea shouted from the bedroom, "Mommy, Mrs. Utah! Mrs. America! Come here."

Joan still bakes cookies and sews for the children. The night she talked to UPI she said she had four skirts to hem for six-year-old Debra Joan before leaving the next morning for The Hemisfair at San Antonio, Tex.

The special effort to maintain family unity may be the reason her life "on the road" seems so much apart.

She explained she finds the official life of Mrs. America very rewarding and fun.

"I'm representing homemakers, but it's a glamorized representation," she said.

Mrs. Fisher added that she has a stiff pace to maintain. "I love to sleep," she said, "but I got used to the rigid schedule at the contest. I make as many commitments as possible without disrupting my whole existence."

The reward is the people, she said—"People go out of their way to be really nice to you."

A Versatile Mom

In hobbies, Joan has demonstrated that she has something to teach all her children, Debra, Janea and four-year-old Michael, too. She is an outstanding skier and also enjoys camping, but around the house she likes cooking best, enjoys doing "creative things" such as making flowers, and playing the piano.

"I love to cook," said Joan, "but I'm not a real gourmet cook. I enjoy trying new things. I'll experiment with new recipes, but I don't usually make up things myself."

She has worked with cuisine from all over the world in her experimentation. When the Fishers have a party, he guests expect her favorite, Mexican food, made with the Fishers' own homemade sauces.

Teen-agers in the neighborhood make a habit of dropping in on Sunday nights after church for Danish pancakes. And at the contest in Minneapolis, an ancient Roman theme "went over well" in the party contest, complete with individual lamb shanks for each guests and "break-off-apiece-for-yourself" Italian bread.

A happy home, centered around a close-knit family, is the goal for 1969's Mrs. America. Her three smiling children and joking husband a test that she may be very close to achieving it.

Addicted Newborns Are More Common Sight In Nurseries

Editor's Note: A small, newborn baby twitches and screams. The cause: the baby is born a drug addict. The mother's taste—her need—for drugs is transferred to the yet unborn child. At birth, the child—just like the mother—has a need for the drug.

By JANET CHUSMIR
Miami Herald Staff Writer

MIAMI (AP) — He is a beautiful baby, dimpled and darling, with a fuzz of dark hair topping his well-shaped head.

But within hours of birth he's screaming and twitching and the anxious nurse is calling the pediatrician.

He is a beautiful baby, dimpled and darling, but now he's fighting for his life. He's experiencing withdrawal symptoms that are possibly every bit as racking as those that would torture his mother or any other drug abuser if they were suddenly deprived of the drug they crave.

He's suffering from neonatal addiction—an inheritance passed on by his mother the same way the vitamins she might take pass through the placenta barrier.

His is a confirmed case: his mother admitted it.

But there are many, many more cases pediatricians can't confirm. There are enough so that at Jackson Hospital here "any baby who presents unusual behavior at birth, at least at this institution, is suspect," says Dr. Doralys Arias, instructor in the department of pediatrics, who also saw 10 confirmed cases there last year—cases so overt it was known in advance the mother was an addict.

They're getting to be a more common sight in the nursery—these babies born with a craving for drugs. They're increasing with the availability of different kinds of drugs and the abuse of them. "Defined broadly," one doctor points out, "a lot of people are taking a lot of things and a lot of them affect their babies."

How it affects them is a variable. Some just don't look well. Some have bad color. Some fail to thrive. Others are irritable, or twitch, or jerk. Or go into convulsions. Or stop breathing.

Their symptoms will vary depending on the drug the mother is taking—whether it's heroin or morphine she's addicted to, or amphetamines, barbiturates, psychotherapeutic drugs or a myriad of combinations she's misusing. It will depend on dosage, frequency of use and the maturity of the infant at birth.

Untreated, they'll die, says Dr. Louis Gluck, professor of pediatrics at the University of Miami's School of Medicine. "Treated most will live, but some will die."

The treatment is other drugs, generally thorazine, one of the tranquilizers used for psychotherapy. It's given to the infant orally, or intravenously if he can't take it by mouth, to relieve the symptoms of withdrawal.

"Sometimes it can take up to six months to withdraw a baby," says Dr. Arias. "The average is three months."

Compounding the problem at times is the difficulty of detecting it in advance. There's hope that someday, in the near future, some procedure will be designed to pick out the expectant mother who is abusing drugs. Even today, certain psychotherapeutic drugs can be detected through chemical urine analysis.

Usually the mother who is using a needle to feed her addiction has the marks to give doctors the clue. "But not always," says Dr. Arias, "they're also remarkably clever about hiding the sites."

Some women don't realize that excesses in various drugs are as serious to the baby they carry within them as heroin or morphine. "But it's excesses, we're speaking of," the doctors point out. "We don't want to panic the woman who is taking drugs under a doctor's care."

It is not these women, but the increasing numbers of others addicted to hard narcotics or habituated to other drugs, who are the increasing concern of those who deal with them and their babies.

Miss Rachel Erwin, director of Social Services for the Dade Public Health Department's Maternal and Infant Care Project, is concerned because, "We used to hear of one or two a year, now we're seeing about one a week—women who are admitting to drugs of all kinds."

Mothers who are mainliners often bring other "gifts" to their unborn babies along with neonatal addiction, she says. "Since they know little about sterile procedures, we see hepatitis and other diseases which have disastrous effects on pregnancies."

Even marijuana, Miss Erwin says, presents problems to the baby. "These kids are more promiscuous: we see more venereal disease among them."

Often they give birth to the "failure-to-thrive" baby. "How do you know how much is due to marijuana," she asks, "or to the girl's neglect of herself during pregnancy, her spending money on pot instead of food?"

Improve Yourself By Being Yourself

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am an 18-year-old boy, and a freshman in a fine college. I'm an honor student, am clean - cut in appearance and have been told that I have a nice personality.

Here's my problem: Girls have been making up excuses so they won't have to go out with me. I finally got a good friend of mine to tell me the reason. He said I make the girls "feel inferior intellectually." They complain about my extensive vocabulary and my forthright and persuasive manner of speaking.

I want to become a lawyer, Abby, and I've been trying to upgrade my vocabulary. I've taken courses in speech and drama, and have developed a very dynamic and impressive way of communicating.

Do you suggest that I abandon my efforts to escalate my intelligence and go back to my old ordinarly way of talking. Or should I continue to improve myself?

FUTURE LAWYER

DEAR LAWYER: I'm all for improving one's self, but when it comes off as superficial, arrogant and phony, it's no improvement. The most "persuasive and effective" speakers use words they are sure are understood by everyone in the company. Improve yourself, Buddy, but be yourself. You'll go over better, and you'll be a better lawyer, too.

DEAR ABBY: Here is the scene. A man goes fishing and brings home a good catch. Everybody in the family loves fish. I say the wife should clean them.

Chuck, my kooky buddy, says I'm crazy — not one wife in a hundred cleans fish anymore. I say he's crazy. So who's crazy?

TOM M.

DEAR TOM: The wife who cleans fish.

DEAR ABBY: I've read you for many years but this is the first time I've written. I've been a social worker for nearly 40 years. Since you first appeared, I've kept tabs on your batting average, and it's better than most trained social workers I know.

I have a gripe, however. When some of your self-righteous women complain of "dirty old men," you seem to accept the terminology. You never mention "dirty young women," however. I am a consultant in a nursing home in which there are many elderly men, and I haven't seen a "dirty" one yet. But I see a lot of "dirty" young women on the streets every day.

By "dirty" the critical women include all older men who have an interest in sex. If "sex" is "dirty" then every normal person must be dirty. For a woman to complain because her husband looks at a waitress and other cute things is laughable. Why shouldn't he look?

Some young women dress to attract the attention of men. This is natural and I don't censure them for it. But modern styles (and cosmetics) provoke sexual thoughts and desires of men of any age. So if this is "dirty," then the sweet young provokers must also be dirty.

I don't think so. I think they are normal, and so are the men who look. The only "dirtiness" is in the nasty minds of some women who can no longer attract attention. 'This is rank hypocrisy.'

AN ASCW

CONFIDENTIAL TO SAM: No, I am not a "nut" on the subject, but I still think that Anyone who smokes is advertising the fact that he has money to burn.

Members will help at the T. B. Association on Wednesday night. A party will be given Nov. 27 for the children of the Trainable School.

Morgan's Experience Should Help

Some of the plans Robert Morgan has for the Attorney General's office he will head beginning in January should excite North Carolinians who for years have seen that office mostly as a source for providing legal opinions to state and local officials.

It appeared evident from the outset of the primary campaigns last spring that Robert Morgan intended to make the Attorney General's office in North Carolina more that just a legal department. He intended to make it also a forceful head of the state's law enforcement agencies. If he succeeds in achieving that goal — and we have every confidence he will — it will be a welcome change for North Carolina and one which will stand its citizens in good stead.

At least two things already mentioned by Morgan are beginning to gain wide attention. He said, last week he intends to create a narcotics division to deal with this growing problem in North Carolina. He also said he plans to establish a consumer protection division which would protect consumers of this state against fraud. Although many North Carolinians may have lost sight of the fact, a recent U. S. Senate hearing described North Carolna as a "haven" for consumer fraud.

These things and other changes in the department would include, according to Morgan, doubling the manpower of the State Bureau of Investigation.

While the Attorney General of North Carolina has considerable authority, the legislature still holds the purse strings that determine whether programs make the transition from planning to practice. In many instances, the effectiveness of the head of the department in dealing with the legislature is the determining factor in getting appropriations necessary to do the job.

Although Bob Morgan has not yet outlined a grand plan for reorganizing and revitalizing the operations within the Attorney General's jurisdiction, it is evident even now that such a plan is in the making. Certainly the items he has so far mentioned are clearly needed and urgently so.

The recognition of these needs by many people throughout North Carolina, plus Morgan's personal legislative experience should go a long way toward gaining in the General Assembly necessary appropriations to implement this revitalization program.

Budget-Making By Sen. White

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH — Verteran State Sen. Thomas J. White of Kinston is retiring, at least temporarily, from legislative service. But he will continue to have a key role in budget making by this and the next state administration.

White interruped this legislative career and did not seek re-election this year. But he is chairman of the powerful Advisory Budget

WILLIAM SHIRES

Commission, a post he has held for an unprecedented three terms, and his interest and activity in state government and politics is undiminished.

In addition to budget duties and his own law practice, White worked long and hard on behalf of Lt. Gov. Bob Scott and other Democratic candidates this Fall. He was in Raleigh with his wife, Virginia, on election night to congratulate Scott on winning the governorship.

White is Proud

There is close friendship and rapport between Scott and White. White, the older of the two, served in the legislature before Scott ran for lieutenant governor and already was established as a legislative leader. The two worked well together. Scott frequently sought White's advice and counsel. White responded and decided to work for Scott politically.

"I'm a Democrat," says White. "I always have been. I believe in working in the party." Despite his conservative views, he refused to go to Wallace or Nixon. "I'll stay with my party. It's been good to me and I think it's been good to North Carolina.

"There has been a great deal of criticism, but I believe these critics tend to overlook the progress North Carolina has made, the things that we have accomplished," White says, "we have a great deal to be proud of."

More Work

White estimates that the Advisory Budget Commission will require another month or more of work before it is able to wrap up its 1969-71 budget recommendations. "We will be meeting for several more weeks," says White. His earlier estimates of an overall budget totaling $3.5 billion still hold. "It may be more than that," says White. "This has been a real rough one."

York's Views

Views expressed by resigning Conservation and Development (C&D board chairman J. W. (Willie) York on separation of the C&D department's functions and administration are no real surprise.

York said as early as last May he felt that there was a "great deal of merit" to the idea of possible separation of certain C&D divisions and functions.

Further Erosion

Last week's elections further eroded the base of legislative experience which will be available in the 1969 General Assembly.

At least four incumbent Democrats failed to win re-election to State Senate seats — C. V. Henkel of Iredell, Harry Buchanan of Henderson, Mary Faye Brumby of Cherokee and Joe Byrd of Burke. All four in what could be regarded as political upsets. All were defeated in a series of Republican sweeps of local counties and districts.

The GOP surge was seen elsewhere. In Forsyth County, scene of a Republican sweep two years ago, Republicans Geraldine Nielson and Harry Bagnal prevailed over two very strong Democratic challengers, both with outstanding legislative records, Gordan Hanes and Claude Hamrick.

Business Field Ideas Merging

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Based on performance rather than membership, the tags on the political parties today may be as inappropriate as spinach labels on cans of corn.

This may be temporary, but it will take a couple of years to prove it.

Ingredients of the Republicans, according to the stereotype, include a big slice of business interest. The Democrats based on popular attitudes, seem to be a stew of smaller groups and indivduals.

But in recent years the businessman, the big one especially, has fared better under the Democrats than under the Republicans.

Despite business complacency during the Dwight D. Eisenhower years, the most recent Republican administration, the economy was marked by only a slow increase in profits, a low growth rate and much inflation.

Under John F. Kennedy and into the first part of the Johnson administration, despite much business criticism, the nation had little inflation. And throughout both administrations the growth rate was strong and corporate profits good.

These events might represent only an accident of history, but they could also have caused some businessmen to ponder over their traditional and ideological allegiance to Republicanism.

Hubert H. Humphrey had considerable business support in his presidential effort, and it seemed most noticeable in the campaign's final days. Traditional thinking would have assumed this support belonged to Richard M Nixon.

In the stock market also there was little enthusiasm evident the day after Nixon's victory. Prices declined, in fact, although it was explained by analysts that they had risen earlier in expectation of the news. Wall Street places its bets on the future rather than the present or past.

The merging of Republican-Democrat attitudes regarding the operation of the economy into a great consensus is going to help none in applying the old labels. In basic economic philosophy the differences now are of method rather than goal.

Both parties are committed to full employment and economic expansion, a convergence that political scientists sometimes consider one of the biggest changes in political philosphy in many years.

As recently as the Eisenhower years, for example, it was considered acceptable to risk unemployment as high as 6 per cent in an effort to hold down inflation. Both Nixon and the Democrats now consider 4 per cent the maximum.

In line with this consensus, Nixon must continue to seek the economic stability that the Johnson administration belatedly set in motion. It might be a bit more difficult however, for him to achieve stability than it was for Kennedy and Johnson to produce a boom.

You will. Will he?

Maybe you obey stop signs and signals. Some drivers don't. So protect yourself by driving defensively. Remember, being in the right isn't enough. You could be dead right.

Peace: African Style

It is a reassuring measure of the essential sanity of the American press that the worst lunacies of the United Nations seldom are reported at length. This glassy Tower of Bable is a veritable factory of resolutions, some of them sensible and some of them moonshine. The prudent custom of copy editors is to bury the nonsense in three used car ads.

This was the case a few weeks ago, when the General Assembly's Trusteeship Committee—which is to say, the General Assembly itself—adopted a remarkable resolution having to do with Rhodesia. The story got very little play in the news. This was a pity, for men and organizations are understood not by their wisdom alone, but by their folly as well.

This was a long resolution, composed of a windy preamble and 16 ringing assertions. It begins with an expression of concern for the "dangerous situation" that obtains in Rhodesia, without bothering to explain that the handiwork of power-hungry terrorists.

The authors of the resolution were disappointed that economic sanctions, imposed by the Security Council, had failed to produce the "desired result." They were disappointed that Great Britain, which in their view is for Rhodesia, had failed to put an end to the illegal regime in Rhodesia and to turn the country over to the people of Zimbabwe (as the blacks of Rhodesia would like to be known). Therefore, the committee:

"Affirms the conviction that the only effective way of quelling the rebellion in Southern Rhodesia is through the use of force by the administering power;

"Condemns the failure and the refusal of the government of the United Kingdom . . .to take effective measures to bring down the illegal racist minority regime and to transfer power to the people of Zimbabwe;

"Calls upon the government of the United Kingdom to use force in order to put an immediate end to the illegal regime in Southern Rhodesia, and in this regard notes with appreciation the offers by Zambia and the Democaratic Republic of the Congo to make available their territories and air space for this purpose; (and). . .

"Urges all States, as a matter of urgency, to render all moral and material assistance to the National Liberation Movements of Zimbalance either directly or through the Organization of African Unity."

In other sections, the resolution of October 20 denounces South Africa and Portugal and demands that economic sanctions be imposed upon them as well. As for Rhodesia, the present drastic and punitive measures should be widened to include "all measures laid down in Article 41 of the Charter," which is to say, Rhodesia should be denied any communication whatever with the outside world, by air, by sea, mail, telephone, telegraph, or other means.

Now, this is an astounding resolution for a body presumably dedicated to keeping peace in the world. It is an appeal to arms, made with apparent indifference to the bloody unheaval that would ensue. In one breath, the resolution acknowledges that Rhodesia's independence is the internal business of Great Britain; in the next, the resolution violates the command of the U.N. Charter that the U.N. shall never interfere in domestic responsibilities. The sanctions unavoidably have operated most harshly upon Rhodesia's four million blacks; so the committee would make their troubles worse.

The resolution was adopted 89-9. The United States voted against it, but such good friends as Canada, Italy, France, Japan and Brazil were paralyzed by fear of offending the African bloc: They merely abstained.

They Plan To Be Back

The Jacksonville Daily News

Out of the depths of despair and disappointment over failure to win last Tuesday, Jim Gardner, the Rocky Mount Republican congressman and candidate for governor, promised he would be back. The same theme was voiced by supporters of George Wallace for President. It is all the harder for Gardner, who put everything he had into the long and gruelling campaign. But four years is a long time to wait now to try again for the State's No. 1 office, or for Wallace in a further bid for President.

No one can foresee events a quadrennium away. Both Gardner and Wallace may cool on their ambitions during that time. But Gardner did the Republicans a genuine service in establishing a two-party system in North Carolina. He came nearer the coveted prize than any man has in this century. That of itself is an achievement of consequence. He has laid the foundations for his party's future, and he or some one else will certainly attempt to build upon them.

From Wallace sources have come hints that the former Alabama governor may be planning to establish a third party nationally. There have been vague utterances to that effect also from those who surrounded Senator McCarthy in his bid for the GOP presidential nomination. But neither of them knows now what things will be like by the time of another national election.

The nation has thrived and prospered throughout its long history with two political parties. Splinter movements will not make for more stable government in this country. If dissident elements cannot achieve their goals within the two major parties, they can hardly expect to do it by scattering into small groups.

Predictions about 1972 are but a natural development in the wake of defeat and disappointment, for whatever of comfort they may offer. But four years will roll by rapidly. Always there is another day and another election.

Nixon Joins Johnson

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON—An unprecedented transition partnership between Lyndon Johnson and Richard Nixon is now being formed to bring the Vietnam war to an end, with the outgoing and incoming Presidents acting in unique unison.

Over the protest of some Republican hawks, including a few of his own advisors. Nixon has agreed to accept all major parts of President Johnson's plan to end the war.

Specifically, this may well require a personal Nixon trip to Saigon, not to make any on-the-spot appraisal, as President-elect Dwight Eisenhower did in Korea in 1952, but to warn South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu and Saigon hawks that they cannot get any better deal from Nixon than from Mr. Johnson.

Hawks close to the President-elect, such as Texas Sen. John Tower—chairman of the Nixon "key issues" committee—are deeply suspicious of this highly unusual partnership. But other Nixon advisors including shrewd, tough - minded, Rep. Melvin Laird of Wisconsin, have strongly pushed the idea.

Laird-style pragmatists want to see the war ended, or at least the Paris negotiations making serious progress, before Nixon takes over as President. They are counselling Nixon and the war-hawks to forget all about the bitter campaign-end dispute over whether Mr. Johnson called a bomb halt prematurely to advance Hubert Humphrey's election prospect.

If Nixon enters the White House with the Paris talks tied up in knots as they are today, the war will be on his back and a Nixon-style settlement will risk political divisions at home that might never heal. As for Mr. Johnson, he wants peace as the capstone of his Administration.

Thus, the unique partnership. If it breaks down, in the words of one Nixon intimate, "it'll make the next four years hellish for Nixon."

Nixon Woos HHH

An approach through veiled intermediaries is now being made by Nixon to the man he squeaked by in last Humphrey. Nixon wants Humphrey in some capacity, possibly Ambassador to the United Nations, not just as a token of bipartisanship in foreign policy but to dramatize Nixon's intention to run a coalition government.

Humphrey will undoubtedly say no, but the mere fact Nixon is sounding him out shows the direction of his thinking.

Another turn-down to Nixon is certain to come from Thomas E. Dewey, top choice as of today for Secretary of State. Wall Street lawyer Dewey, out of public life for 20 years, is regarded by Nixon as the most efficient executive in the Republican party, just right to streamline the State Department—a goal that John F. Kennedy also worked hard, but failed, to reach.

A Dewey refusal leaves William W. Scranton, as we have reported, still the best bet for Secretary of State.

But if he name of Dewey on the top of Nixon's Cabinet list is surprising, other names are scarcely less so. Two defeated Democrats—Gov. John King of New Hampshire, who lost his Senate race, and Sen. Mike Monroney of

Strength For Today

PATIENCE IN PRAYER

In one of our hymns occurs the petition, "Give us the patience of unanswered prayer."

There is no such thing as unanswered prayer. God always answers our prayers. Sometimes He says Yes, again He says No, and still at other times He says Wait. Frequently it happens that with the passing of time we come to see that God's answer of "No" to our petitions was the best thing that ever happened to us. Also, experience proves that temporary denial followed by the giving at a later date of something God has prepared for us constitutes a great blessing.

But all this tries our patience. We are pretty sure we know what we want, why we want it and when we want it. Yet we can be just as wrong there as in any other area of life. It is when we leave things in God's hands as to what He will give and when and how that we find patience to move along life's daily pathway. We may experience bewilderment. We may be conscious of frustration. We may become angry and wonder why this project has failed or some gift which certainly is a blessing in itself has been withheld. But God has his own schedule and if we try to substitute ours for his, we find ourselves in added dissatisfaction and frequently in unhappiness.

Life is only happy when we leave the issues of life in God's hands. He will say What, When and How and confidence in this fact will alone give us peace.

The Govm't Supermarket Take

By ELMER ROESSNER

Of every dollar taken in by supermarkets in 15 national chains, federal state and local governments take 1.75 cents in license fees and taxes. The supermarket gets only .88 hundreds of a cent.

This id disclosed in the annual survey of supermarket results by Earl Brown and Robert Day of Cornell University. Their report, "Operating Results of Food Chains 1967-68," has just been published by Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., 14850, at $5. Brown is an associate professor of business management; Day is a Research associate. While the 51 chains took less than a cent of profit on every dollar, they took it often enough to earn 9.18 per cent ont heir investment.

Both the net profit and return on investment in the chains' 1967-68 fiscal years were the lowest since Brown and Day began studies in 1961.

Uncle Sam, Partner

ELMER ROESSNER

The report shows that the federal, state and local governments — the big no -risk partners in evey supermarket — took .87 cents in license fees and other taxes except income levies, and .88 cents more in income taxes.

Here's what happened to each supermarket dollar:

Of that buck, 77.77 cents went for the cost of goods, leaving 22.23 cents margin.

Of this, 10.51 cents went to payroll and 1.38 cents for other services purchased. Supplies, utilities communications, travel, donations, insurance, rent, depreciation and amorzitation, repairs and miscellaneous costs took 6.12 cents. Advertising and promotion took 1.35 and interest .74 cents more. With license and non-income taxes, he total expenses came to 20.97.

This left a net operating profit of .49 cents. There was 1.38 cents other revenue, making the net income before taxes 1.87 cents of each $1 taken in.

Profits From Discounts

One of those "other income" items was cash discounts earned, .56 cents. Thus of the .99 cents after-tax profits, .56 cents, or more than half, came from paying suppliers' bills promptly.

The survey showed that gross margin was highest in the West at 22.66 per cent, and lowest in the South, 20.83 per cent. Payrolls were highest in the West, 11.85 per cent, and lowest in the South, 9.45 per cent.

Promotional activities were highest in the South, 1.99 per cent, and lowest in the Midwest, 1.01 per cent. Total net earnings after income taxes were highest in the South, 1.24 per cent, and lowest in the Northeast, .63 per cent. In the West they were 1.01 per cent; in the Midwest 1.19.

Seven Youths Arrested, Two Hurt In Swanquarter 'Demonstrations'

SWANQUARTER, N.C. (AP) — Seven Negro youths were arrested and two teen-age girls fell from the second floor of the Hyde County courthouse Monday during protest demonstrations in this small coastal North Carolina community.

Authorities said the girls either jumped or were pushed from a window of the courthouse after officers tossed a cannister of tear gas into an office to breakup a demonstration.

One of the girls, identified as Mamie Harris, 17, of Fairfield, suffered a pelvic injury and was treated at Beaufort County Hospital.

Sheriff C. J. Cahoon said 25 Negro pupils spent most of Monday in the office of County School Supt. Allen Bucklew and became unruly in the late afternoon, scattering papers and books.

Cahoon said the teen-agers were given two minutes to clear the courthouse office and when they failed to do so, officers tossed in one smoke bomb and one can of tear gas. It was then, he said, that two girls apparently jumped. Other demonstrators left the building by exits.

The sheriff said before coming to the courthouse the demonstrators entered a previously all-Negro school near Swanquarter where "they overturned desks, scattered paper and made a general mess of the place."

Six demonstrators were arrested by North Carolina highway patrolmen for impeding traffic along a major highway and another was picked up for breaking a window in the courthouse, Cahoon said.

James Barrow, a coordinator for the Southern Christian Leadership Council, said the youths were protesting a Welfare Department decision to exclude from welfare checks aid paid to parents with children in school.

The extra aid generally is included in the checks during the school months to help meet school expenses.

However, several hundred Negro pupils have boycotted county schools since Dec. 1 because of what they call "an unequal and unrepresentative plan of school desegregation."

Monday marked the second day of trouble in Swanquarter. Last Friday police used tear gas to break up a demonstration at the county Welfare Department.

Barrow said Monday's demonstrations were nonviolent "and within the teachings and beliefs of the late Dr. Martin Luther King."

Cahoon said his officers at no time used billy clubs or any other weapons to strike or harm the protestors.

The sheriff said about 40 youths marched to the courthouse Monday morning and about 25 of them entered the school superintendent's office.

"They stayed until the office was closed for lunch," Cahoon continued, "but came back at 2 p.m. Supt. Bucklew asked them to leave several times, but they refused. One of my deputies went to the office and asked them to leave. Again, they refused.

"Finally, I went to the office and told them they had two minutes to get out or we would use tear gas.

"That is just what they wanted, because they knew the television camera was there."

After leaving the courthouse, Cahoon said, the demonstrators began walking down a main highway, "holding up traffic until six of them were arrested."

The sheriff said after the arrests, the pupils returned to the courthouse, "where they threatened our officers."

Lightning Twice Hit Agnew Plane

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — Lightning twice struck the "birthday flight" plane carrying Vice President-elect Spiro T. Agnew and his family to Puerto Rico Monday for a vacation. No one was hurt.

Agnew was so busy enjoying an impromptu party on the plane, thrown by family and friends to celebrate his 50th birthday, he said he wasn't aware of what happened until "the pilot told me."

The group included Mrs. Agnew, their four children and their baby granddaughter, several friends and Secret Service men.

The Air Force Convair 580 apparently was undamaged. It landed at 8:35 p.m. EST and Agnew's party immediately boarded three Marine helicopters for the 15-minute flight to the Dorado Beach Hotel, on the island's north coast.

Agnew discussed the flight calmly upon his arrival and casually mentioned the lightning after describing his vacation plans. He indicated the bolts hit after the plane took off from Patrick Air Force Base, in Florida, where it had refueled.

One source at Kennedy Airport in New York said planes in flight are struck by lightning from time to time without untoward effects.

The Rafferty Drag

Politicians of both parties agree that one reason Richard M. Nixon's big lead in California deteriorated so badly was the constant rebetition of a Nixon television spot endorsing right - wing Republican Max Rafferty for the Senate.

Nixon had made the spot, saying he needed Rafferty in the Senate, in early September as part of a private arrangement. In return for Nixon helping Rafferty against Democrat Alan Cranston, Gov. Ronald Reagan would raise money not only for Rafferty but for Nixon. What Nixon never anticipated was that Rafferty, in desperate trouble, would run the Nixon endorsement non-stop and keep off the TV screen himself.

The result was that Rafa big loser, helped drag down Nixon, in the opinion of some of his managers, as much as 300,000 votes.

British Uncover Smuggled Drug

LONDON (AP) — The largest consignment of hashish ever found smuggled into Britain—790 pounds valued at up to $1.2 million—was hidden in tins of pickles and crates of herbs sent from Pakistan, the Old Bailey court was told Monday.

Three Pakistanis were charged with trying to smuggle the drug in last spring aboard a ship from Karachi.

Trophy Goes To Mounted Police

NEW YORK (AP) — Sixteen blue-helmeted mounted policemen put their matched brown horses through a series of intricate drills Monday night at the opening of the National Horse Show.

After the 12-minute exhibition at Madison Square Garden, Police Commissioner Howard R. Leary accepted a trophy from the horse show on behalf of the riders, all members of the Police Department's mounted squad.

On November 11, Rhodesia observed the third anniversary of her Declaration of Independence. While the U.N. blandly recognizes puppet states, despotic regimes, and the denial of "inalienable rights" throughout the Communist world, the peace-loving members of the African bloc would crush Rhodesia by force. Anywhere else, this double standard would be known as hypocrisy or worse. Here at the United Nations, it passes for the solemn wisdom of the world's best hope for peace.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser attended front-line maneuvers in the tense Suez Canal area Monday, while Premier Levi Eshkol indicated Israel won't give up control of the Tiran Strait its outlet to East Africa, Persian Gulf oil and the Far East.

The semioffical Cairo newspaper Al Ahram reported Nasser spent seven hours atop a tank, watching a "massive" maneuver of tanks and armored divisions. It said he was accompanied by Defense Minister Mohammed Fawzy and Iraqi Vice Premier Hamedi Ammash.

Al Ahram also reported wide contacts have been initiated among the Arab capitals to work out a plan of action following the "collapse" of U. N. envoy Gunnar Jarring's peace mission.

There was speculation in Cairo that Egypt and Jordan are again trying to arrange an Arab summit conference, which some Arab countries, particularly Saudi Arabia, oppose.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad returned to Cairo from New York two days ago and said Jarring's attempts to work out something between the Arabs and Israel had been rendered futile by Israel's insistence on face-to-face negotiations with the Arabs, Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban countercharged that Riad had walked out of the talks in New York and "deliberately squandered in cold blood chances for progress.

In Jersualem, Eshkol told the Israeli Parliament: "Free passage for our ships in the Suez Canal and freedom to defend free passage in the Straight of Tiran are conditions for peace."

Egypt's closure of the strait at the Southern end of the Sinai Desert was one of the causes o the Arab-Israeli war in June 1967. The Israelis took the Sinai during the brief war, and observers in Jersualem took Eshkol's remarks to mean that Israel will hold on to the area overlooking the strait.

Diplomatic sources in Jerusalem have reported that Foreign Minister Eban made clear to Jarring Israel's position on the Tiran Strait.

Up to now, the Old City of Jerusalem is the only capturel territory the Israelis have said they will never relinquish.

The 73-year-old premier, recovering from a serious chest infection, said: "We have the strength to meet any trials that may be in store. The fact that we hold secure lines, although it cannot prevent bloodshed, is a barrier against the danger to our very existence."

At U.N. General Assembly in New York, Secretary-General U Thant again appealed to Israel to facilitate the return of Arab refugees to the territory on the west bank of the Jordan River which it seized from Jordan. He told the assembly's special political committee this would relieve the refugees' plight in Jordan and ease an enormous financial burden on the U.N. Relief and Works Agency.

Thant told newsmen that Jarring's peace mission is not ended and thatt he Israeli, Jordanian and Egyptian foreign ministers were prepared for more talks in New York or anywhere else Jarring wants to talk.

"We ought not to bury this mission, it is not yet dead," he said.

But Eban, who was scheduled to leave for home today, told a news conference Riad's statements and actions reflected Nasser's policy of no recognition, reconciliation or negotiations with Israel.

Eban also charged that the Soviet Union's "blind identification with Arab attitudes" had intensified the arms race in the Middle East and weakened any chances for effective peacekeeping by the U.N. Security Council.

British Seek More Cooperation Within NATO

By LOUIS NEVIN
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Three top British ministers are trying in Brussels this week to promote European military and foreign policy cooperation inside the North Atlantic Alliance but outside the Common Market.

Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart, Defense Secretary Denis Healey and Chancellor of the Exchequer Roy Jenkins will be in the Belgian capital Wednesday for a special meeting of ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization on the implications of the Soviet occupation of Czechoslovakia.

Along side that 15-nation gathering, the three British ministers planned an intensive round of talks with their West European colleagues, seeking to promote cooperation in fields outside the scope of the Treaty of Rome, which set up the European Economic Community and its Common Market.

The move reflects the growing conviction in the British government that President Charles de Gaulle will continue to block Britain's entry into the Common Market and that none of the other five members with the possible exception of the Netherlands is prepared to buck the French president.

France's veto last month of a Belgian proposal for cooperation with Britain within the framework of the Western European Union was a bitter disappointment in London. But the reaction was even more bitter to word from Brussels that Belgium was not prepared to stand up to France.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson's ministers are now seeking a wider setting in whicn to press for European unity.

Healey led off the drive last week with a speech urging a "sense of European identity within the (Atlantic) alliance." He called for a "continuous dialogue between Britain and the other members of NATO on questions of defense policy and strategy."

"The existence of a European identity among NATO's members on this side of the Atlantic would make progress towards the reunification of Europe as a whole more easy," he said.

While emphasizing that Britain has no intention of undermining the American commitment to Europe Healey warned of the pressure on the U.S. administration from Congress and the American public to reduce that commitment. He said this makes it urgent for Europeans to draft a collective policy, not only on European issues but on such wider problems as the Vietnam war and the nuclear arms race between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Foreign Secretary Stewart carried the campaign into the purely political field in a speech in The Hague Friday. He announced the British government's endorsement of a proposed conference of any European government heads who wish to discuss cooperation in fields not covered by the Common Market treaty.

He defied De Gaulle, saying that if France continues to keep Britain out of the Common Market, "we must not abandon our efforts to make progress towards European unity in other ways. Together with other European countries we have been seeking ways of building Europe in those fields where no country has the right to veto progress."

Jenkins is in Rome for a talk with Italian Finance Minister Emilio Colombo before going on to Brussels. High on the agenda, informants said, was a proposal for the creation of a European trading currency which would take over the reserve currency role of the pound sterling.

Pilot Delivered On Flying Time

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Marion County Treasurer John Dobkins, defeated for re-election last week, did a bit of post-campaigning Monday.

Before the election a clight plane cirled the ity trailing a banner reading "John Dobkins —42B"—the number of his spot on the voting machines. During the Veterans Day parade the same plane circled overhead with another banner. It read: "Need a job—42B."

Bad weather had kept the pilot from fulfilling his contract during the campaign, so he was deliveringt he last flying time he owed.

ECU Institute For Math Teachers Being Conducted

An in-service institute for secondary school mathematics teachers in Eastern North Carolina, sponsored by a grant from the National Science Foundation, is being conducted at East Carolina University.

The institute will continue throughout the current academic year at ECU with two mathematics courses offered each quarter. Courses under way are "Foundations of Math" and "Modern Geometry for Teachers."

According to Dr. Katye O. Sowell, associate professor of mathematics at ECU, the institute "presents an opportunity for each teacher to receive credit for certificate renewal and/or for graduate work toward a master's degree."

Dr. Sowell said some grants are still available for math teachers for courses to be offered winter quarter at ECU. "Modern Algebra for Secondary Teachers I" and "Elementary Matrix Theory for Teachers" will be offered.

Interested teachers or supervisors may contact Dr. Sowell in care of the ECU Department of Mathematics, Greenville, for further information.

Teaching math courses this quarter are Mrs. Ellen C. Fleming and Dr. William Spickerman of the math department.

Promise Super Airliner 'Soon'

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's supersonic TU144 airliner will "take to the skies very soon," the army newspaper Krasnaya Zvezda—Red Star—said Sunday. But it gave no target date.

The 121-seat jet, designed for speeds of 1,530 miles an hour and a range of 4,000 miles, was to have had its maiden flight last spring. But vague official predictions moved it back to the end of 1968, and the Soviet press has hinted that unexpected problems might have arisen in the final stages of construction.

Indians Edge Bucs For Cross-Country Title

W&M's Davis Is Individual Champ

William & Mary's George Davis took the lead in the first mile of the Southern Conference Cross - Country championship yesterday at East Carolina University, and never lost it, as he led the Indians to their third straight SC title.

William & Mary held off a determined East Carolina team to take the team title by a mere five points. The key to the win for the Indians was Chop Jordan, who finished in fourth place, just beating out two other Pirates. Had he finished behind them, East Carolina would have captured the title.

By finishing second, however, the Bucs proved that they are still improving. They were 14 points behind the Indians in last year's meet.

East Carolina's Don Jayroe finished behind Davis, who set a record pace for the event. Davis finished in 25:52.4, while Jayroe crossed the line at 26:-21, a good deal back. Richmond's' Fred Guest placed third in 26:27, followed by Jordan at 26:38.

East Carolina's Neill Ross was fifth in 26:43, with teammate Ken Voss next at 26:47. Then came the other three pointgetters for William & Mary, Howell Michael, 26:59; Jurvis Luzins, 27:02; and Ted Wood, 27:12.

Rounding out the top ten was Joe Day of East Carolina in 27:-31.

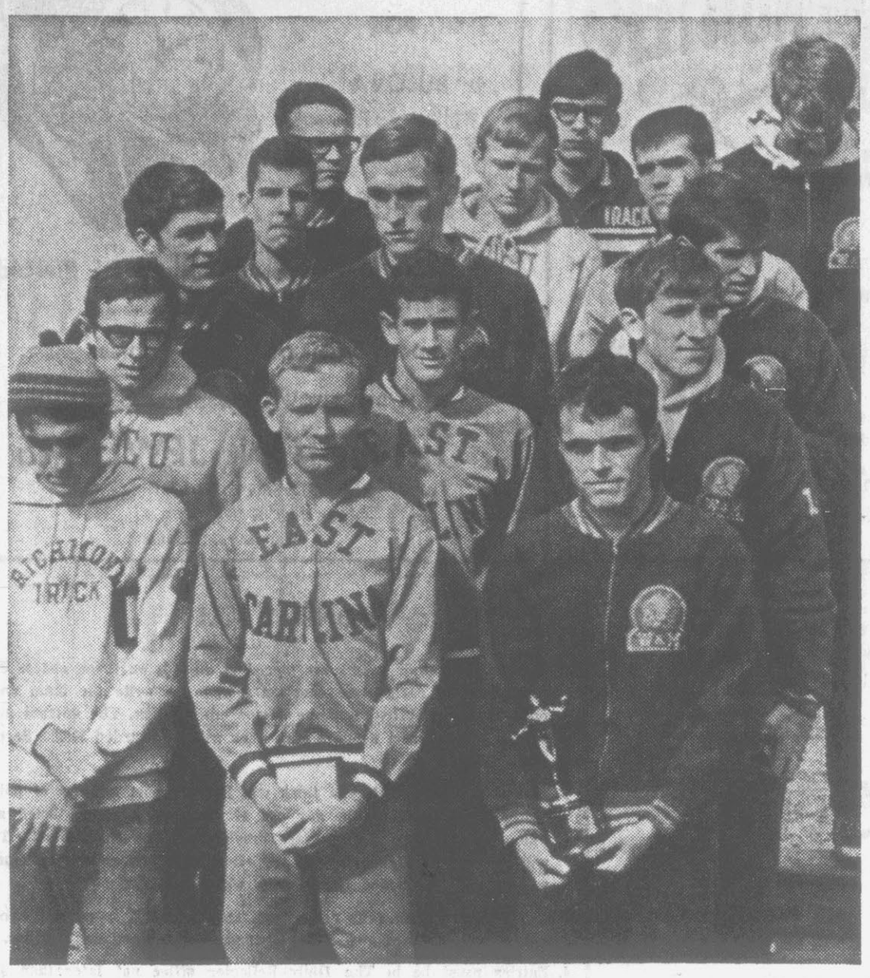

The first eight finishers were named as the All-Conference team.

The race didn't change much after the two-mile post. Davis held the lead then, with Jayroe second and Guest third. There was a small amount of juggling of places in the top ten after that, but the William & Mary team always had five in the top ten to East Carolina's four and that was the story of the meet.

William & Mary only picked up 29 points in the meet to East Carolina's 34. Furman University finished a distance third with 88 points, while Richmond was fourth at 118, VMI next with 126, and Davidson last at 157.

Remaining finishers in the top 20 were, in order; Randy Martin (ECU); Larry Bryant (W & M), Hal Morehead (M & M), Lee Fidler (FU), Jim McDuffie (W & M), Vince Norako (W & M), David Todd (FU), Greg McNerney (ECU), Pete Jones (W & M), John Osborne (ECU).

Over 60 runners competed.

Cross-Country Winners

The top 15 finishers in the Southern Conference Cross-Country championships held yesterday at East Carolina University are, in reverse order of finish, from top row to bottom, left to right: top row, Jim McDuffie (W&M), Lee Fidley (FU), Hal Morehead (W&M); fourth row, Larry Bryant (W&M), Randy Martin (ECU), Joe Day (ECU); third row, Ted Wood (W&M), Jurvis Luzins (W&M), Howell Michael (W&M); second row, Ken Voss (ECU), Neill Ross (ECU), Chop Jordan (W&M; first row, Fred Guest (UR), Don Jayroe (ECU), and George Davis (W&M).

Thumb And Knee Figure In Clemson-UNC Battle

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There are two important things that must be considered now about the Atlantic Coast Conference football game Saturday between Clemson and North Carolina.

One is a thumb and the other is a knee.

The thumb belongs to North Carolina quarterback Gayle Bomar, who has provided the few bright moments the Tar Heels have enjoyed in this rather dull season.

Bomar's thumb was dislocated a couple of weeks ago and he could run only three offensive plays last Saturday against Virginia. It showed up in the score —Virginia 41, North Carolina 6.

Doctors said Monday they would know by mid-week if Bomar will be ready to go Saturday against the conference-leading Tigers of Coach Frank Howard.

The knee belongs to Buddy Gore, Clemson's tailback and the all-time leading ground-gainer in the ACC.

Gore hurt his knee in the first half of last weekend's game. He missed practice Monday and Coach Howard said he is a doubtful starter at this time.

Clemson may need all of its power Saturday if North Carolina has one of its good games, like the victories posted over Vanderbilt and Florida.

Clemson needs to beat both North Carolina and South Carolina to win its third consecutive ACC title. Just one slip, and North Carolina State takes the crown.

Speaking of N. C. State, the Wolfpack took a day off Monday and watched films of their next opponent—tough Florida State.

Injuries were a problem at Virginia with six players on the sidelines.

However, only offensive guards Rick Otulak and Tom Thomas are expected to miss Saturday's nonconference meeting with Tulane.

Otulak and Thomas both are suffering with injured knees.

Wake Forest went through a 90-minute practice Monday in a steady rain. The Deacons play Duke this Saturday.

Wake spent most of the time studying Duke's offensive and defensive formations.

Over in Durham, Duke Coach Tom Harp said this year's team "has improved more from preseason than any I've coached in 18 years."

He said the big job for Saturday was stopping Deacon quarterback Freddie Summers, "who is the most dangerous single threat we've faced all season."

South Carolina's football squad practiced in a cold, steady rain in preparation for Virginia Tech.

Coach Paul Dietzel said sprained ankles suffered in last week's victory over Wake Forest had benched fullback Benny Galloway anl linebacker Benny Padget.

Warren Muir, hurt a month ago, has returned to action and will replace Galloway. Tim Bice, who also has been injured, is back in action and will replace Padgett.

At Maryland, the big news was Coach Bob Ward's suggestion that the ACC be realigned.

Ward said two of the four North Carolina schools should be dropped and replaced with in dependents West Virginia and Virginia Tech.

He didn't specify what two of the Big Four should be cut from the conference. The four are N. C. State, North Carolina, Duk and Wake Forest.

Ayden, Rams To Meet Here Friday

Ayden and Robersonville will collide Friday night at 8 p.m. in Ficklen Stadium in Greenville to determine the second round entry in the State Class A football playoffs.

Ayden gained the berth by beating out Tidewater Conference champion Manteo last week in the last game of the regular season. Robersonville captured its berth by winning the Tobacco Belt Cchampionship.

The Rams will serve as the home team for the game.

The winner of the contest will meet the Weldon-South Granville winner next week in the second round.

Tankers Unveil '69 Buc Teams

East Carolina University's swimming team will unveil its 1969 team here this week with a pair of events.

Wednesday, a new era begins as the Pirates inaugurate its first women's team. The Buccaneets will play host to a team from Old Dominion College in Norfolk for the first meet. Further meets are planned when they can be scheduled. Wednesday's meet is at 4 p.m.

Among those on the team are Peggy Hughes, who won first place in the National Championships in a relay event while swimming with Philadelphia's Vesper Boat Club. Also on the team is Terry Nofsinger, who is the national YWCA one-meter champion in diving, and who finished second in the women's junior nationals in one-meter.

Then on Thursday, the varsity and freshmen will collide in an intersquad meet. That will get underway at 8 p.m.

The Bucs have a challenging schedule this year, including such teams as South Carolina, Maryland, North Carolina, N.C. State, Florida and Florida State.

Southern Cal Strengthens Hold On First In AP Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The pressure will be doubled this weekend for Southern California's top-ranked Trojans. Not only do they face Oregon State, only team to beat them in the last two seasons, but they're still So. 1 in The Associated Press' college football poll.

"That's the biggest pressure," Coach John McKay admitted Monday. "Our opponents come in and that's all they're chanting—Kill No. 1."

The Trojans not only remained No. 1, they strengthened their hold on the top spot with a 35-17 trouncing of California. The defending national champs garnered 32 first-place ballots and 908 points in the voting by 47 sports writers and broadcasters across the nation.

Ohio State was second with 14 first-place votes and 864 points, but the Buckeyes slipped from 13 to 44 points behind despite a 43-8 rout of Wisconsin.

The other first-place ballot went to Penn State, which climbed from fourth to third by trimming Miami, Fla., 22-7. The top three teams all have 7-0 records.

Michigan, Georgia and Missouri all moved up after posting easy victories. Michigan rose from seventh to fourth by trouncing Illinois 36-0, Georgia blasted Florida 51-0 and jumped from ninth to fifth and Missouri was up two places to sixth in the wake of a 42-7 walloping of Iowa State.

Kansas, a 27-23 loser to Oklahoma, fell from the unbeaten ranks and from third to seventh in the poll. Texas ripped Baylor 47-26 and moved from 10th to eighth, Notre Dame climbed from 12th to ninth by wallopiing Pitt 56-7 and Arkansas' 46-21 bombing of Rice sent the Razorbacks from 14th to 10th.

The Second Ten consisted of Tennessee, Auburn, Oregon State, Houston, Purdue, Alabama, Ohio University, California, Indiana and Wyoming. Alabama and Indiana were the only newcomers to the weekly Top Twenty, replacing Michigan State and Louisiana State. Alabama beat LSU 16-7 while Indiana nipped Michigan State 24-22.

Farmville Meets N. Lenoir Tonite

FARMVILLE—The Farmville Red Devils will be apt to protect their unbeaten string tonight against North Lenoir, and at the same time win the Eastern Plains Conference title.

The contest is being played tonight due to an earlier postponement.

North Lenoir must win if they are to take the conference title away from Farmville. The Red Devils, however, need only a win or a tie to wrap up the title.

The winner of the game will advance into the 2-A Eastern Playoffs later this week, meeting the winner of tonight's Smithfield-Millbrook contest.

Md. Coach Asks Realignment

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Coach Bob Wardn who thinks his Maryland football team suffers from discrimination by officials, has called for a realignment of the Atlantic Coast Conference.

"I can't say we should get out," Ward said after the Terps lost 16-0 to Clemson Saturday, "but I don't like the geographical representation — having four teams in North Carolina and two in South Carolina."

Ward suggested dropping two of the four North Carolina teams —North Carolina, Duke, Wake Forest or North Carolina State— and replacing them with indepndents West Virginia and Virginia Tech.

"I definitely think Maryland is being discriminated against in ames with Carolina schools," said Ward, who was penalized for going onto the field on consecutive losses to Wake Forest and Clemson, and previously complained about the officiating in the loss to Duke.

For all true button-down men: the Hathaway oxford

Here is how a collector can tell this classic from all its imitators.

Hathaway's button-down Club collar has just a slight roll to it. Not floppy, not flat, just right.

The cloth is an especially smooth Meadowbrook cotton oxford. It mellows with age.

The taper is gentle, not exaggerated. And the shirt tail is a good bit longer than most. Colors are classic white and blue.

DUNKEL COLLEGE FOOTBALL INDEX

EXPLANATION - The Dunkel system provides a continuous index to the relative strength of all teams. It reflects average scoring margin combined with average opposition rating, weighted in favor of recent performance. Example: a 50.0 team has been 10 scoring points stronger, per game, than a 40.0 team against opposition of identical strength. Originated in 1929 by Dick Dunkel.

The Worry Clinic

Memory Is Strained After So Many Years

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE H-532: Jenny Crane, aged 90, is my mother.

For the past year she has been growing absent-minded.

She often can't bring out a name that is on the tip of her tongue.

And she misplaces money as well as envelopes.

"Dr. Crane," you may ask, "why does this often happen when we grow older?"

Well, there are specific medical reasons.

But most people fail to realize there is also a definite psychological explanation.

For example, a first grader may have only 1,000,000 memory items filed away in its brain.

Its mother, however, may have 10,000,002.

But its grandmother may have 100,000,000.

So when it comes time to jerk an idea out of memory's "library," isn't it obvious why more confusion results when that "library" is crowded with 100 times as many items?

Besides, older folks often develop a much broader perspective and thus ignore minor items.

For when you are living on borrowed time and realize that today might be the last one you will spend in this classroom called Earth, you begin to meditate more on eternal verities!

Which means that items of major importance to the younger generation become dwarfed and trivial to oldsters.

Youth's "mountains" thus become grandma's "molehills."

Obviously, the molehills are then not as easy to spot as are the mountains, so people in the grandparent generation don't direct as much attention to such petty daily happenings.

Yet one of the cardinal laws of learning is the fact that we must pay diligent attention to any item that we wish to recall easily at a later time.

Lack of conscious attention is much like inadequate exposure time when taking a picture.

Too brief an exposure to the camera produces a blurred negative that will not permit a sharply etched printed picture.

Same goes for memory! We can't expect to call forth a clear - cut mental image unless the original idea was etched indelibly in mind.

Medically, too, hardening of arteries and anemia will reduce the nourishment to the brain cells.

Then, even while awake, oldsters react with woozy thinking and become disoriented to place and especially time.

Even normal young folks often experience this name incongruity in their dreams, for portions of our brain are inactive during slumber, thus permitting bizarre ideas to arise.

To stimulate the memory of oldsters, increase the iron content of their red blood cells, as by red meat, plus liver and iron pills and given them vitamins, plus trace chemicals.

Raise their blood pressure, either by thyroid tablets if they are afflicted with low blood pressure.

Or stimulate them by caffeine beverages, as coffee and tea.

Emotional tonics, like the arrival of relatives and childhood neighbors, will likewise get the brain to "hitting on all cylinders."

For an active brain, meaning one that is prodded by excitement, reading, and conversation, is less likely to be foggy and woozy.

Also, make an agenda for your elderly relatives and prod them to follow it, for too much sitting in easy chairs and before TV, will medically age a person prematurely!

Send for my booklet "The Ocean's 44 Trace Chemicals," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Baptists Told Superficial Christianity No Answer

RALEIGH (AP) — Messengers to the 138th annual North Carolina Baptist State Convention were told today that "superficial Christianity will not stand up in our day."

Dr. W. Perry Crouch, general secretary-treasurer of the convention, called for a spiritual renewal among members of the denomination.

"North Carolina Baptists have the churches, the institutions and the money for a great advance for our Lord," Crouch said. "The only question is, 'Do we have the spiritual concern and dedication for such an advance?'"

He told the convention that "if we continue to fight each other over non-essentials, if we continue the lifeless type of religious practice that is prevalent in many of our churches, if we ignore the growing number of young people in our communities, if we continue our lack of concern and compassion for the lost people of our state, then the future could be dark."

Dr. Claud Bowen of Greensboro, convention president, urged a greater commitment to carry the Gospel to the world.

"In this new age in which maps are altered and mental attitudes are being transformed," he said, "we must be on the alert to get the Gospel to people where they are."

He added, "Let us make this convention such a witness for Christ that in a thousand years men will say that it was our finest hour."

Dr. Randall Lolley, pastor of First Baptist Church in Winston-Salem, delivered the sermon at the convention's opening session Monday night. He challenged Baptists to forget their deification of the past and reach out for the only day that really counts—"our one tomorrow."

About 3,50.. messengers are expected to attend the convention which ends Wednesday.

Dr. Bowen was expected to be reelected convention president this afternoon. It is customary for the president to serve two one-year terms.

Items on the agenda include consideration of a record $6.7 million budget and a proposal to elevate Gardner-Webb College at Boiling Springs to senior college status.

Army Prepares For Cutback In Training

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army appears ready to begin scaling down its huge training bases in the United States as the American buildup in Vietnam nears the 549,500-man ceiling.

The Pentagon acknowledges considering cutbacks in some training centers, but says no decision has been reached.

A reduction in training output will be possible as the Army ceases sending new units to Vietnam and concentrates for the most part on providing replacements for men winding up two and three-year tours.

The Vietnam manpower level, now at approximately 535,000 men, is expected to reach President Johnson's announced ceiling of 549,500 around the end of the year.

The Army Times, an unofficial publication aimed at the soldier audience, reports in its Nov. 13 editions that the Army plans to phase out basic combat training at Ft. Bliss, Tex., and advanced individual training at Ft. Dix, N.J.

The newspaper tied the elimination of basic training at Ft. Bliss to Army plans to cut back its weekly training load from 56 to 53 companies. A company is about 200 men.

The Bliss cutback would go into effect late this month. The phase-out of advanced individual training at Ft. Dix, the Times stated, would come in mid-December.

Dix would continue providing advanced training for guided missile men.

As part of the readjustment of the training complex, the Pentagon only a few days ago designated Ft. Polk, La., a permanent installation.

Officials said the move makes Polk, which dates back to World War II, eligible for some badly needed construction funds.

The Army has been operating 15 training centers to help meet Vietnam war needs.

Since mid-1965, when the big Vietnam buildup began in earnest, the Army has added over a half-million men to its ranks. The war effort requires 50,000 replacements per month, and other worldwide commitments demand additional forces.

In addition to Forts Dix, BV and Polk, the U.S. training centers include Ft. Knox and Ft. Campbell, Ky.; Ft. Jackson, S.C.; Ft. Gordon and Ft. Benning, Ga.; Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.; Ft. Ord, Calif.; Ft. Sill, Okla.; Ft. Sam Houston, Tex. (medics); Ft. McClellan, Alabama (WAC's); Ft. Bragg, N.C.; and Ft. Lewis, Wash.

More Than 50 Are Expelled By School

HILLSBOROUGH, N.C. (AP) —Some 50 to 60 Negro pupils were expelled from Orange High School Monday after they staged a walkout to meet with Durham Negro activist Howard Fuller.

Acting principal Fred Claytor said the pupils left the school grounds after he warned them three times to return to classes. Some two hours later the group returned to the school led by Fuller.

Claytor said he told the pupils they were expelled and would be arrested on trespass charges if they did not leave the school.

"I don't know of any school in the world that can run," he said, "if students decide when they are going to stay in school and when they are going to get up and leave."

It was not known what was discussed at the meeting with Fuller.

Orange High has been the scene of recent racial disturbances. A fight started in the hall of the school Nov. 1 between a white and Negro pupil. Other pupils joined in the battle, with two white youths receving minor injuries. Classes were suspended for the remainder of the day and three Negro youths were arrested.

About 40 per cent of the school's pupils are Negroes.

Harry Howard resigned last week as principal of the school in the wake of the incidients. The Orange County Board of Education voted unanimously to give Howard a two-week leave of absence in which to reconsider his resignation.

However, Howard reaffirmed his decision to resign in a letter to the board Monday. He said the basic circumstances that led to his original decision had not changed and that the school would not profit by his remaining as prinicipal.

Gene Barry Has Political Plans

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Gene Barry says he hopes to run in 1970 for the U.S. Senate seat now held by George Murphy, a longtime film star before he was elected to the Senate in 1964 as a Republican. Barry said he would like the Democratic party nomination.

"I've worked on every campaign since John F. Kennedy's in 1960, locally and nationally, "Barry said in an interview Monday. "So far it's just a personal intention. I do not yet ave the sanction of the Democratic party."

Iowan Cowboy Is Rookie Of Year

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Paul Mao, a cowboy from Grinnell, Iowa, is the winner of the Bill Linderman Memorial Award, the Rodeo Cowboys Association announced Monday.

Bowie Wesley of Wildorado, Tex., was named as professional rodeo's Rookie of the Year.

Mayo, the 1966 world bareback, bronco riding champion, has won $28,2680 this year.

Wesley's first professional appearance was at Odessa, Tex., last January. He won $12,640 during the ensuing months.

DROP BEAUTY PLANS

Opening lead: King of ◇

With the aid of some slight defensive lapses, South managed to bring home his aggressive four heart contract.

West opened the king of diamonds and, when the dummy was spread, it became abundantly clear to South that he had overreached himself in trying for a game contract. With his assets so thinly spread, he was even uncertain where best to begin his campaign.

The ace of diamonds was played at trick one and South chose to discard a spade from his band. A club was led next and East put up the king. Altho a spade shift would have been the most effective defense, East returned a diamond in an effort to force declarer's trump holding.

South ruffed in his hand and led the queen of clubs discarding a spade from dummy. East was in again with the ace, and this time he shifted to the king of spades. Declarer played the ace and then cashed the jack of clubs as both hands followed suit. He continued with the ten and West chose to ruff in with the eight of hearts. North overruffed with the queen.

A diamond was trumped by South and, when West's queen appeared on the trick, dummy's ten became established as a potential winner. Declarer cashed the ace of hearts which removed West's last trump—the jack, and then he ruffed a spade in dummy as East followed suit.

The ten of diamonds was led on which declarer shed his last spade and then a fifth round of diamonds was led. While East still retained the king-nine of hearts and South had only a single trump left in each hand, the latter was in full charge. If East ruffed with the king, declarer would discard his remaining club and take the last trick with the ten of hearts. If East ruffed with the nine of hearts, however, South could overruff with the ten. In either case, the defense found themselves restricted to three tricks—the ace, king of clubs and the king of hearts.

Public Notices

DOCKET NO. P-7, SUB 430
NOTICE OF HEARING
BEFORE THE NORTH CAROLINA UTILITIES COMMISSION
In the Matter of

Petition by Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company, United Utilities, Incorporated, and New Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company for authorizations in connection with plan of merger, including issuance of a Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity to New Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company, authorizations for issuance of securities, Assumptions of rights and obligations, and transfer of assets.

Notice to the public is hereby given that Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company (Carolina), an operating telephone utility, with headquarters in Tarboro, North Carolina, United Utilities, Incorporated (United), a holding company with headquarters in Johnson County, Kansas, and New Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company (New Carolina), a newly formed corporation with headquarters in Tarboro, North Carolina, have filed a petition with the North Carolina Utilities Commission, Raleigh, North Carolina, seeking approval of a plan of merger between Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company and United Utilities, Incorporated.

Briefly, the plan of merger is as follows: Prior to the merger, Carolina will transfer all its operating public utility assests to New Carolina in exchange for all the capital stock of New Carolina, the latter to assume all outstanding liabilities and obligations of Carolina. It is proposed that New Carolina be issued a Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity for all territory for which Carolina now holds a Certificate and is serving. As soon as practicable thereafter, Carolina would merge into United, the latter thereafter owning all of the common capital stock in, and controlling New Carolina.

Through the merger, the common capital stock of Carolina would be converted into "Preferred Stock — second series, Convertible" of United. Each converted share would have one vote and could be further converted at any time into one and one-quarter (1¼) shares of common capital stock of United. Each share of Carolina stock converted to United preferred, unless further converted to United common capital stock by the stockholder, would draw a fixed dividend of $1.25 per share to 1970, $1.37½ per share through 1972, and $1.50 per share thereafter. After 1975, United may redeem each such preferred share then outstanding at a price of $50.00 per share. Utilities Commission records show that Carolina earned $.97 per share on its common stock in 1967.

The complete plan of merger and petition is on file with the North Carolina Utilities Commission and is open for public inspection in the offices of its Chief Clerk.

The Commission has the petition and plan under investigation and has scheduled public hearings in its Hearing Room, Raleigh, North Carolina, beginning at 9:30 A.M. on Tuesday, November 26, 1968. At this time the burden of proof will be upon the Petitioners to justify approval of the petition. The Commission will also take evidence from its staff and any other person, firm, or agency having a direct interest in the proceeding, whether such evidence is in support of, or opposition to, the plan. North Carolina law does not permit letters, telegrams, petitions and communications other than personal appearances as evidence in the proceedings.

All persons desiring to present evidence, cross-examine witnesses and otherwise participate fully in the proceedings as a party protestant or intervenor should file with the North Carolina Utilities Commission a written protest or motion to be made a party. Such protest, motion, or petition should clearly state the name and address of the person, firm, or agency making it, should disclose a direct interest in the subject matter of the proceedings, and should state the position which the party intends to support by personal appearance or through counsel at the hearings.

The tests which the Utilities Commission is required to apply in considering the petition are contained in North Carolina General Statutes G. S. 62-110 and 62-111.

This the 16th day of October, 1968.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market posted a fairly sharp gain in active trading early this afternoon.

Advances outnumbered declines by better than 2 to 1.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.8 at 356.4, with industrials up 2.7, rails up .8, and utilities up 1.2.

The market advanced from the start as big blocks were traded in a typical reflection of pent-up demand, following a market closing. Exchanges were closed Monday, Veterans' Day, for the weekly catchup on paper work, although normally exchanges are open on the semiholiday.

Oils, aerospace issues, nonferrous metals and electronics were generally higher. Steels declined despite the continuation of strong demand. Recently announced price cuts in the industry were said to be behind the selloff in steels.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 5.34 at 964.32.

Dan American Sulphur advanced more than a point and Gulf Resources & Chemical made a similar gain, following its offer to merge with Pan American Sulphur.

Safeway Stores was pushed to the top of the most-active list by a block of 188,800 shares, off ½ at 27. It trimmed the loss in later dealings.

Among other very active stocks, Gulf & Western rose about 3, Occidental Petroleum, Spartan Industries, Magnavox and Sperry Rand more than a point each.

Less active, United Aircraft, General Foods and IBM advanced about 3 each, Polaroid and Xerox around 2, Du Pont, Raytheon, Southern California Edison, Union Carbide and Goodrich 1.

M-G-M and Jones & Laughlin dropped about 2 each.

Prices advanced generally on the American Stock Exchange.

Closing Border?

PRAGUE (AP)—Czechoslovakia moved today to close its borders to the free travel of its citizens abroad. This would be one of the sharpest measures taken against the people since the Soviet-led invasion in August.

Premier Oldrich Cernik's Cabinet has discussed "the present situation in passports and visas and adopted some measures concerning the regulation of private journeys of Czechoslovak citizens abroad for employment or long-term visits," the CTK news agency reported.

Tried To Collect Own Ransom'

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — A 14-year-old boy was sent home with his mother Monday night after he was caught collecting his own ransom, police said.

Local and federal investigators began setting a snare for two kidnapers after the mother, whom they did not identify, reported her son was being held hostage. She said the boy called home saying the men would release him after she left a package containing $800 at a church here on Temple Street.

Police inistructed the woman to leave a fake ransom package while they waited in the darknss.

No Injuries In Big Derailment

SPRUCE PINE, N. C. (AP)—Thirty-five of the 108 cars of a Clinchfield Railway freight train derailed Monday night near the center of the mountain community of Spruce Pine.

There were no injuries.

The freight was en route from Spartanburg, S. C., to Erwin, Tenn.

Neither the cause of the derailment nor an estimate of damage were available Monday night. The train crew was quoted as saying heavy snow apparently was not the cause.

North Carolina Highway Patrolman Joseph Stewart said most of the derailed cars "were piled along the track, although a few of them crashed on down into the North Toe River."

Stewart said at least 73 of the freight cars were carrying cargo.

The derailment, Stewart said, started about 20 cars back from the seven diesel engines pulling the freight.

Believed Ready To Curb Imports

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Rep. William Jennings Bryan Dorn, D-S.C., believes when the 91st Congress convenes in January the climate may be right "for passage of legislation to control textile imports from low-wage foreign countries."

Speaking to the Charlotte Textile Club Monday, Dorn said:

"The textile industry, I believe, can draw a few conclusions from the election returns. The climate will be good for the passage of legislation to control textile imports from low-wage foreign countries. Fair and orderly trade in textiles will be of major concern to Congress."

Dorn added, "Nearly every member who sponsored the Mills - Landrum - Dorm bill (a measure to limit textile imports) will be back in January."

The South Carolina congressman said President-elect Richard M. Nixon, during campaign speeches, had committed himself to support of controls of textile imports.

"This is a firm commitment," Dorn said, "and I do not believe we will encounter the degree of opposition we had this past session from the State Department and the President's special representatives. . . ."

Barbers Approve Sideburns, But No Hippie Hair

QUINCY, Mass. (AP) — Sideburns yes; hippie hair, no.

That's the guideline adopted by the Associated Master Barbers of Massachusetts at their annual convention.

If the hair cascades over the collar it's too long, Anthony J. Jannoni of Belmont, the association's new president, said Monday.

Hair that hides the neck "makes barbers sick to the stomach,' he said.

He didn't say whether this happens for esthetic or economic reasons but he did add that because many of the young rebel agains haircuts "a lot of barbers have gone out of business or have had to cut down on their staffs."

Riders Seated 'Like In Church'

LOUISVILLE (AP) — One driver on a Louisville bus has a standing appeal he makes during rush hours when all riders congregate at the front of the bus.

"All right, folks," he calls out "Let's act like we're in church and fill up the rear."

Arrest 11 Youths For Bombings In Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Eleven youths face prison terms of up to 25 years each if convicted on charges connected with eight bombings in the Detroit area in recent months.

The group, including two girls, stood mute at thei rarraignments in Detroit Recorder's Court Monday. The group, ranging in ages from 18 to 24, are charged with conspiracy to place explosives with intent to do damage.

The explosioins all damaged public property in Detroit, Ann Arbor, Roseville and St. Clair Shores and dated back to Aug. 30. No one was injured in the blasts which occurred in the evening or early morning.

Bombings rocked three Detroit police parking lots, a building housing two Roseville draft boards, the South Lake school administration building in St. Clair Shores, a parking lot at an Army recruiting office in Detroit, a CIA office in Ann Arbor and the Institute of Science and Technology building at the University of Michigan.

Police, who had warrants for the arrests of eight others, saidn "Their motivation appears to be antiestablishment." Police said the racially mired group did not appear to be part of an organization.

Despite police characterization of the defendants as "hippie-types," they were for the most part dressed in conventional sports clothes without any hippie trinkets. One young man wore shoulder length hair and another had a wispy goatee.

Arrested were David J. Valler, 24; Ronald Pierce, 18; John Schmittroth, 19; William T. Ladd, 20; James R. Moscara, 18, and Diedra Flowers, 20, all of Detroit. # Two Of Fishing Party Saved

MOREHEAD CITY, N.C. (AP — A member of a four-man fishing party drowned and another was missing today after their 20-foot boat capsized in heavy seas late Monday.

The Ft. Macon Coast Guard Station identified the survivors as Gunnery Sgt. M. B. Allen of the Cherry Point Marine Air Station and Clifford J. Price, a civilian from Cherry Point. Both were reported in good condition, suffering no ill effects effects from exposure.

The body of the drowned man was recovered this morning and a search was in progress for the missing man, another Marine The Coast Guard withheld their names pending notification of next of kin.

The two survivors reported that the boat overturned in heavy seas late Monday after drifting since 4 p.m. Allen and Price swam through the cold water about a mile to Emerald Isle.

The boat, owned by Allen, had left Beaufort Inlet Monday morning in favorable weather, but was overtaken by high seas, wind and intermittent rain later in the day. Waves were 15-20 feet high and the wind was 45-50 knots at times.

Price gained entrance to an unoccupied house on Emerald Isle, from where he telephoned for help.

The Coast Guard received a report that the vessel was overdue at 11 p.m. Monday and dispatched a boat to search for the craft. Helicopters joined the search this morning.

The search for the missing man was over a 20-mile area from Atlantic Beach to Swansbori.

Says Johnson To Blame For Chicago Incidents

DURHAM (AP) — The manager of Sen. Eugene McCarthy's bid for the Democratic presidential nomination said Monday night that President Johnson was to blame for "the brutal beating by Chicago police of innocent people."

Blair Clark, speaking at a Duke University symposium, said the violence during the Democratic National Conventiin in Chicago was "Johnson's serious, deliberate and cynical way" of showing the forces of peace he could control their demonstrations.

The President, Clark continued, used "the person of Mayor Richard Daley" to prove his point.

A former CBS News vice president, Clark said Mayor Daley would not allow the settlement of the Chicago telephone strike in "a deliberate plot to keep people from seeing exactly what happened."

Home From Prison In Red Hungary

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — After nearly two years in Communist prisons on charges of espionage, Andrew Csala, 37, arrived home Monday night from Hungary.

"I don't want to talk right now about what happened to me in prison in Hungary," he told newsmen. "There are 14 other Americans in prison there. I don't want to hurt their chances. I am well and I am very happy."

Oakmont Church Budget Is Adopted

Members of Oakmont Baptist Church have approved a 1969 budget of $53,211. Study and consideration of the budget by the Budget Planning Committee and congregation have taken place during the past several weeks.

The new budget covers appropriations for the work of the local congregation and for the state and worldwide mission programs of North Carolina Baptist and the Southern Baptist Convention.

Approval of the budget marks the beginning of the "Tithe to Tell" emphasis in the church. During the coming weeks, an intensive education effort will inform the membership of the needs to be met by the budget and lead them to give to meet the needs, said Tommy Payne, pastor.

Oakmont is the newest of Greenville's Missionary Baptist churches, being organized in 1964 with 39 charter members. Since April, 1964, 329 members have united with Oakmont.

A fellowship supper and commitment service on Sunday night, Nov. 24, will climax the "Tithe to Tell" emphasis.

Serving as general chairman of the stewardship emphasis is Dr. Joe W. Pou. Others serving as committee chairmen are: Ed Dixon, Mrs. Grover Avera, Mrs. Eleanor Mercer, Mrs. Billy Davis, Mrs. Colleen Allen, Dr. Sheldon Downes, Dee Vinson, Mrs. Barnie Rawl, Harold Moore, and E. R. Carraway.

Extra Security For Safe Driver

CHINOOK, Mont. (AP) — Four nuns were seen driving along in a car near the Canadian border area called the Hi-Lie.

As the vehicle went along its way there could be no finer display of proper driving; it was the epitome of highway safety.

But, almost unnoticed on the rear of the car was a little sign that said, "In God We Trust."

Visitor Remarks Someone Cared

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pat Nixon says a tour of the White House with Lady Bird Johnson revealed that the executive mansion is "a house that shows someone cares."

"I have been here several times, but I have never seen the house as I have today," said Mrs. Nixon Monday after seeing the house with Mrs. Johnson as guide.

Mrs. Nixon, who will become the first lady in January, said the visit gave her a chance to see renovations completed during the Kennedy administration.

The girls came here as tourists, stood in line and went through the house on various occasions," said Mrs. Nixon.

The two wives paid a good deal of attention to the closets, according to Mrs. Johnson's press secretary, Elizabeth Carpenter.

The tour brought out the first word that the White House closets were undergoing complete refurnishing by the New York firm of Hammacher Schlemmer as a gift to the nation.

Mrs.Nixon said afterwards she hadn't seen so much of the White House, even during the Eisenhower administration, when her husband was vice president.
