Couple Exchanges Vows Sunday

FARMVILLE—Miss Nancy Lou Hobgood became the bride of J. A. Hudson on Sunday at 2:00 p.m. at the Marlboro Free Will Baptist Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hobgood of Farmville and Fred Hudson of Greenville and the late Mrs. Hudson.

The Rev. Bruce Barrow officiated at the ceremony. A program of nuptial music was presented by Randy Buck, organist, and Dana Paul Oakley, soloist.

The church was decorated with a basket of white gladioli and two candelabra holding tapers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin gown appliqued with lace on the bodice and on the skirt. She wore a veil of illusion attached to a crown of seed pearls and carried a white Bible centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Reece Kennedy of Farmville was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Patricia Hobgood and Miss Debra Hobgood of Farmville, sisters of the bride, Miss Joan Baker of Fountain and Miss Brenda Hobgood of Chapel Hill, cousin of the bride.

Miss Amy Hobgood of Farmville, cousin of the bride, was flower girl.

The bridegroom's father served as best man. Ushers were David, Bruce and Robert Hudson, brothers of the bridegroom, and A. L. Harrington of Greenville, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony, the couple greeted guests in the vestibule of the church.

Mrs. Olive L. Gay of Farmville directed the wedding.

After the rehearsal Saturday night, the bride's parents entertained at an after-rehearsal party in the church education building.

The bride's table was centered with a candelabra holding flowers. Assisting in serving were the bride's mother and the sister-in-law of the bridegroom.

Luncheon Given Club Members

Decorating for Christmas was the theme Tuesday as Mrs. Bill Holding was hostess to the Carpe Diem Book Club.

She showed nut wreaths, madonnas, and ornaments for the tree and explained the various processes for making them.

Lunch was served by the hostess. A brief business meeting was held at which Mrs. George Fuller presided.

Tea Honors Miss Eakes On Sunday Afternoon

Miss Norma Constance Eakes was honored Sunday afternoon at a tea given in observance of her birthday. Hostesses were Mrs. Claude Christopher and Mrs. D. D. Gross, who entertained at the Gross home.

Principals Had Same Interests

FONTAINEBLEAU, France (WNS) — Michel Charretier, 21, who had bought the wedding ring and arranged for the ceremony, told police that his 16-year-old fiancée had disappeared. Police found the girl, who explained that she did not want to marry a thief who steals gas from parked cars. Charretier admitted his misdeeds but insisted that the girl had taught him the trade. He led police to her room and its store of stolen shoes, including wedding pumps. The marriage is off, and the courts are prosecuting both principals.

The honoree, who wore a beige wool dress with an orchid corsage presented to her by the hostesses, was assisted by Mrs. Christopher in receiving guests.

The two-tiered birthday cake, a gift of Mrs. Alvah Salisbury, was placed on the refreshment table. The table was also graced with an arrangement of autumn flowers and burnt orange tapers in crystal holders.

Serving cake was Miss Norma Constance Richardson, niece of the honoree, and Miss Pamela Daniel of Waynesville and East Carolina University.

Also assisting were Miss Gwendolyn Coghill, who presided at the guest register, and Mrs. Dorothy Garcia.

Approximately 60 guests called during the afternoon. Special guests included Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Warren of Goldsboro and Mr. and Mrs. Chandler Eakes of Sanford, cousins of the honoree, Mr. Wayne Amick and Miss Denise Amick of Knightdale and John Gross of UNC-Chapel Hill.

Miss Eakes is the daughter of Ottis W. Eakes of Greenville and the late Mrs. Bessie Chandler Eakes. She is a member of the Memorial Baptist Church, where she is a member of the Torchbearers Sunday School Class.

Miss Eakes celebrated her birthday on Nov. 12. She resides on Jarvis St.

Mrs. Tucker Is Speaker At Meet Of Churchwomen

Mrs. Ethel Tucker presented the program at the meeting of the Christian Women's Fellowship of the First Christian Church held on Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Tucker, a member of the First Christian Church, spoke on "Witnessing by Tithing."

She stated that tithing is a very important part of witnessing to one's church and one's God. Tithing is the regular habit of Christian people to set aside 10 per cent of their income for the church and in this way God's gifts and blessings are recognized and acknowledged.

While there are many ways to witness, such as giving of one's time and efforts, tithing is another way of sharing one's blessings with God. For those who share, horizons are lifted, faiths are deepened and there is a more poignant reminder of God's ever presence in life she added.

Mrs. Tucker stated that tithing helps to relieve the tension of money by the knowledge that God will bless those who tithed. Since stewardship has to do with life, time, and material possessions, tithing is an acknowledgment of stewardship.

Mrs. Walter Perkins, Chairman of Circle No. 6, introduced the speaker. Members of Circle No. 6 were in charge of the meeting.

Mrs. J. D. Wilson, president of the Christian Women's Fellowship, presided at the business session of the meeting.

She announced a bake sale to be held on Saturday, Nov. 16, at Spain's Foodland. Baked goods will be prepared by church women with proceeds to go to the kitchen fund.

Following a worship program by Mrs. Bill Brewer, the meeting was adjourned by the benediction.

Annual Doll Show To Be Held In Early December

The annual Doll Show, sponsored by the Salvation Army Auxiliary, will be held at the Salvation Army Citadel on Dec. 5-6 from 10 a.m. until 8 p.m.

Plans for the show were announced at the meeting of the auxiliary held Friday. The meeting was opened with a devotional by Mrs. Wayne McHargue.

Mrs. W. M. Smith Jr., president, thanked the group for its assistance with the recent District Rally and the United Fund.

The auxiliary voted to contribute to the welfare of a Greenville cadet in the Salvation Army Training School and to remember her at Christmas. They also voted to contribute the doll show offering toward the initial expense of the dolls purchased by the Salvation Army.

Volunteers were secured for the following Christmas projects: Girl Guard party; doll show decorations and hostesses; street kettles; gift wrapping; and toy shop.

Mrs. Owen Marshburn submitted the following slate of officers for 1969: Mrs. Lindsay Savage, president; Mrs. B. D. Johnston, vice president; Mrs. Bo Farley, secretary; and Mrs. Smith, treasurer.

Clio Club Met On Tuesday

Mrs. Dink James was hostess to the Clio Book Club at her home on Tuesday. Mrs. Jack Spain and Mrs. J. C. Lanier Sr. were guests for the afternoon.

Mrs. Rose Fairbrough, club president, presided over the business session, at which time it was announced that the club Christmas party will be held on Friday, Dec. 20, at the Greenville Golf and Country Club. Letters from the club's foster child in Hong Kong were read.

The hostess introduced Mrs. Lanier, who read her essay "The Doctor's Office" for which she won the non-fiction award in The Fine Arts Festival last spring.

Mrs. Agnes Fullilove assisted her sister, Mrs. James, in serving a salad course.

Gold Star Mothers To Be Entertained

Welcome Change For School Board

Greenville's Board of Education has taken another forward step in letting contracts for a new elementary school in the eastern section of the city.

Favorable bids received last week for the half-million dollar structure were a welcome change from recent experiences in which boards of education have found proposed school buildings attracting bids considerably above what was anticipated.

By letting contracts for the new school, the Board of Education has taken another important step in implementing the long-range program it has carefully developed in the past couple of years. The new school will meet the need for additional elementary classrooms in the area of the school district where those classrooms are most acutely needed. The 16 new classrooms in the new school will relieve the pressure in some other elementary schools and alleviate some of the overcrowding which now exists.

In the past two years Greenville has made significant strides with its school construction program. One elementary school has been completed, additions made to other schools, a new junior high is well along in construction, and now bids have been let on another new elementary school. There are still needs which must be met and construction projects yet to be undertaken. But with the priority system set by the Board of Education in its long-range planning, the greatest needs are being met first.

Although progress may at times seem slow in meeting the needs of our schools, significant strides are being made in the city's school administrative unit.

Swanquarter Keynotes A Void In Leadership

It is regrettable that, with the school boycott at Swanquarter developing into a serious situation, both Gov. Dan Moore and Lt. Gov. (and Gov.-Elect) Bob Scott have been out of the state.

To make matters worse the death of D. S. Coltrane, who had done such outstanding work as head of North Carolina's Good Neighbor Council, left that organization without a chairman.

North Carolina has had a splendid record of handling difficult matters during recent turbulent years. This has been because the state's highest officials have watched sensitive situations constantly and acted swiftly to settle them fairly.

As the Swanquarter problems grew to ominous proportions, however, there seemed to be a void in the leadership that had previously come from Raleigh.

There is not much doubt that the absence of the governor and the lieutenant governor and the Good Neighbor vacancy had much to do with this.

Fortunately Dr. James T. Taylor was appointed yesterday as acting chairman of the Good Neighbor Council. This should help the state work toward a solution. It should also help for the governor to return to Raleigh for a close assessment of the situation.

Gov. Moore has a good record of handling racial matters. He should not allow this most recent occurrence to blot his record so near the end of his term.

Old Generation Always Critical

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone comments of a Pavement Plato:

What is a teen-ager? Is he merely today's demon? Is he tomorrow's savior? Is it possible that he is both?

Condemning the younger generation has been a popular sport among mankind probably ever since Adam and Eve were served their eviction notice in the Garden of Eden.

History holds many surprises but it has yet to produce an older generation that praisbetter and last longer than it did when all these dark prophecies of disaster first began to be voiced.

The teen-agers we confront today across our generation gap are regarded as particularly appalling. They enjoy the worst press since Gutenberg came up with movable type.

And I think "enjoy" is the right word. In our adult hysteria we have mesmerized ourselves into believing we have spawned a new race of monsters, a youth that has lost all idealism and lives only for its own kicks and selfish thrills.

Recognizing this hysteria and amused by it, the kids enjoy scaring the daylight out of their parents by pretending to live up to this caricature.

Many a grownup now sees the typical teen-ager as if he were viewing him in a Coney Island amusement park distorting mirror. He sees an unwashed, disheveled, mop-headed youngster with a marijuana cigarette dangling from his lips.

And I think "enjoy" is the right word. In our adult hysteria we have mesmerized ourselves into believing we have spawned a new race of monsters, a youth that has lost all idealism and lives only for its own kicks and selfish thrills.

Dick Pitts, director of civic affairs for the Motor Club, said that there are more than 5,000 drunken driving cases pending in the courts of North Carolina and South Carolina at this time. Some of them, he noted, are as much as 18 months old, during which time the drivers are still drinking.

Under an implied consent law, a suspect who refused to take a test for intoxication would have this license suspended automatically. That would keep him off the road until his case was tried.

Drunken driving is a major hazard on the highways, and is one of the hardest things for the State to combat. The arresting officer can only testify that, in his opinion, the defendant was too drunk to drive. In so many cases, the defendant is able to produce witnesses who swear that he wasn't too drunk to drive. Where does that leave the judge or the jury who must decide which testimony is correct?

A chemical test would do away with the necessity for such opinion testimony. The test would protect the innocent driver as well as help convict the guilty one. The driver whose test showed that he wasn't too drunk to drive wouldn't even be charged with drunken driving. Under the opinion testimony situation, he might be charged — and might even be convicted.

Sharkey waved his finger. "You are not going to trick me with that innocent routine, Rump. I've waited eight years for this moment."

Rumpelmeier said, "Good heavens, Sharkey. You're not going to tell me Nixon won the election?"

Sharkey yelled, "You're darn tootin' he won and you're eating your heart out."

Rumpelmeier turned to me. "Is it true?"

"I'm afraid it is," I said. "Everyone's conceded it but Mayor Daley."

"Well," said Rumpelmeier, "this calls for a celebration."

"I'll do the celebrating," Sharkey yelled. "I rooted for him. You didn't."

"I think that's rather selfish of you, Sharkey. After all, Nixon is my President, too. I believe we should drink to him."

Sharkey was getting so mad he gripped the table. "Don't patronize me, Rump. I didn't come here to listen to you and might even be convicted."

Sanford Stock Given A Boost

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES

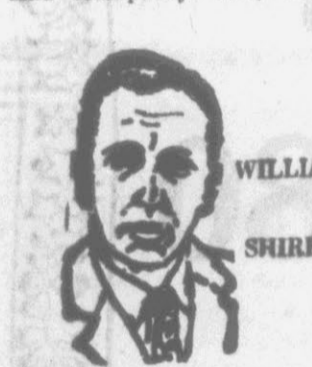

Reflector Raleigh Bureau
RALEIGH — Political notebook:

Among those who enhanced their political stock and stature this year, according to old Raleigh hands, was former Gov. Terry Sanford.

Sanford, they say, almost certainly made a wise decision when he chose to oppose veteran Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. in the primaries last Spring and consequently it appears that he was right again when he accepted the dismaying task of heading the National Citizens for Humphrey-Muskie committee at a time when the Humphrey chances to win the presidency appeared almost nil.

Now, however, Sanford is credited with playing a large part in dismelling the gloom and engineering Humphrey's dramatic political comeback in the final weeks and days of the campaign.

Wins Gratitude
Had Humphrey won, San-

ford might have been rewarded with a cabinet post. As it is, he won the gratitude and admiration of national Democratic party leaders and notice that he is himself one of the party's younger leaders and a comer.

Of course, the vice presidential nominee, Sen. Ed Muskie, is another—Muskie is fully aware of Sanford's role in the 1968 Fall campaign, and of his organizing ability and know-how.

Thus there are predictions of bigger things in store for Terry Sanford — four years from now or sooner.

National Chairman?

The Greensboro Record predicted over last weekend that Sanford would be offered chairmanship of the National Democratic committee.

But according to sources close to Sanford, from which the newspaper obtained the story, Sanford was not likely to accept. The story added that Sanford's close political associate, Bert Bennett of Winston-Salem, also figures heavily in speculation about a successor to Postmaster General Lawrence O'Brien. Bennett worked with Sanford in the Humphrey-Muskie citizens' movement.

Senate Ambitions

Sanford made no secret of the fact that he held—and possibly still holds—ambitions of serving in the U. S. Senate. He went so far as to appoint an informal "advisory committee" and began mapping campaign strategy last winter. Later he announced his decision that it was not the proper time to challenge Ervin.

He recognized that running against an incumbent, established and widely known as "much more difficult" than campaigning for an office which was open.

Meanwhile, however, it is not beyond the realm of possibility that Sanford would be considered for appointment if a vacancy should occur in either of North Carolina's two Senate seats during the next four years, or that if someone else is appointed he would oppose that choice at the next election.

Managed Scott Campaign

In the event of a vacancy, the appointment would be made by the next governor, Bob Scott. It will be remembered that Sanford, then a 36 year old senator from Fayetteville, managed the campaign of Scott's father, W. Kerr Scott, for the U. S. Senate 14 years ago. Scott won the seat to which Alton A. Lennon had been appointed, by defeating Lennon in a primary election.

HAL BOYLE

ed its successor generation as one more promising and more fit to hold the reins of power. No, the general attitude has always been pessimistic.

Each generation has assured itself, with upraised hands of rejection and an air of profound melancholy, that the younger generation is the worst on record and is surely going to Hades in a hand basket. This holier-than-thou attitude has gone on through countless generations and centuries.

If this parade of pessimism were true, surely the human race would have perished of malnutrition long since. Yet, somehow, the earth still circles the sun as before, and holds more people who live

Strength For Today

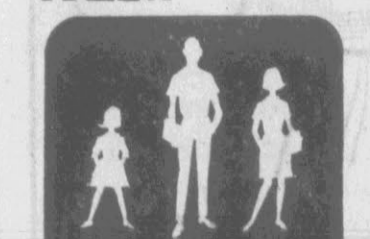

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

TOO BUSY

There is an interesting story told in the twentieth chapter of the first Book of Kings of a man who was set to watch a prisoner and who through neglect allowed him to escape. Some soldier of Israel had dragged a captive out of the turmoil of battle and instructed a certain non-combatant to watch him carefully. Instead of watching the prisoner, the guard busied himself with a number of things and the prisoner escaped. These were the words with which the man who had given this grave responsibility described how it all happened: "While thy servant was busy here and there, lo, he was gone."

These words have a modern

ring to them—"Thy servant was busy." So busy in fact that he neglected a grave responsibility for little incidental matters that were not to be compared in importance with the task he was set to perform. Here was a man who failed to see the difference between matters of primary and secondary importance—who allowed the incidentals of life to distract his attention from a thing of overwhelming importance.

The story scarcely needs to be applied. "Here and there things so often take up our time that the real things of life are forgotten; and the excuse we offer is the same as that offered by this ancient Israelite: "While thy servant was busy here and there, lo, he was gone."

The Gloating Republican

WASHINGTON — The next few weeks are going to be very tough for those people who were rooting for Vice President Humphrey to win the election. After gloating at the Republicans for eight years, the Democrats are getting some of their own medicine back and it's not easy for the Dems to accept the loss with good grace.

The only Democrat I know who has been able to handle it is my friend Rumpelmeier. I bumped into him at lunch the other day and he said,

"Sharkey's joining me in a few minutes, and he's going to be impossible over the Nixon win. He specifically invited me to lunch so I would eat crow."

"Why did you accept?"

"I thought I'd have some fun. Hang around and see what happens."

I took a seat and a few minutes later Sharkey came in bubbling and bouncing, hardly able to contain himself.

"Well, Rum," he said after he ordered a drink. "What did you think of the elections?"

"Who won?" Rumpelmeier said. "I've been out of town for a week and haven't seen a paper."

Sharkey flushed. "Don't give me that, Rumpelmeier. You know damn well who won."

"No, I really don't, Sharkey. The last I heard was that Agnew called the New York Times a fat Jap."

Other Editors Say An Implied Consent Law

(The Raleigh Times)

The directors of the Carolina Motor Club are on the right road to safer highways in supporting an "implied consent" law to help combat drunken driving. Under such a law, the issuance of a driving license means that the driver agrees to take a test if he is suspected of drunken driving.

North Carolina now has a law providing such a test, but it is not mandatory that suspects take it. If they refuse, that refusal can be brought out in testimony, but the court still doesn't have the benefit of a chemical test to determine whether the suspect was too drunk to drive, or was sober enough to drive.

Dick Pitts, director of civic affairs for the Motor Club, said that there are more than 5,000 drunken driving cases pending in the courts of North Carolina and South Carolina at this time. Some of them, he noted, are as much as 18 months old, during which time the drivers are still drinking.

Not Much Reducing Relief Rolls

By ELMER ROESSNER

All of those candidates — there were three, I think — who promised to "take 'em off the relief rolls and put 'em on the payrolls" were kidding the public if not themselves, judging from the remarks of Joseph L. Block, chairman of the executive committee of Inland Steel and chairman of the Advisory Committee of the Cook County (Chicago) Department of Public Aid.

In a talk prepared before the election but delivered afterward, Block declared in a University of Chicago lecture series that only 4 per cent of the 300,000 on Cook County relief rolls might qualify for jobs today, "and of these, a sizeable number are unavailable because of lack of child care."

In Chicago, 5 per cent of the population is on public assistance. New York has 11 per cent, possibly because it pays better

Slim Pool Of Workers

Of Chicago's 300,000, he said, 190,000 are children under 18, mostly without fathers able to support them. There are 19,000 aged, 1,000 blind, 22,000 totally disabled and 8,000 with physical and mental handicaps.

Of the remaining 60,000, 58,000 are women. Of these, 70 per cent have visible physical limitations or have had no recent work experience. Of the 23,000 capable, 11,000 are in training programs or working at jobs that do not pay enough to leave the welfare rolls.

The balance of 12,000 might qualify for jobs but many can't leave their children.

Block said studies show that the number of poor had declined more than nine million since 1959. But despite political promises, relatively few welfare recipients could be put to work.

What Can Be Done

The Inland Steel chairman

cited four new approaches being considered:

1. The negative income tax, which, he warned, required much more study.
2. Elimination of detailed investigation of welfare applicants, taking simple affidavits instead. "While some cheats might get by, it should enhance self-respect and lower administrative costs."
3. Aged, blind and disabled could be transferred to Social Security, "although savings would be slight."
4. Allowing welfare recipients to take jobs and keep part of their earnings as an incentive to seek work, now being tested under federal legislation.

As Moses said almost 3,000 years before Block, "For the poor shall never cease out of the land; therefore I command thee, saying, thou shalt open thy hand wide unto thy brother, to the poor, and to thy needy, in thy land."

Short Significant Business News Items

The U. S. Independent Telephone Association boasts that members' trend is toward installing more facilities underground.

The American Dairy Association has found that best results are obtained in spending slightly above 17 cents per capita to promote the sale of milk.

An Owens-Corning survey shows that singles, once often barred from garden apartments because of a tendency to partying, are now generally welcome. They are easier to please than families.

Teacher Corps On Job

By JAMES BOW

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — "You gave up. You must never give up," a Negro teacher told a fifth grade Negro girl, defeated by an arithmetic problem.

At the same time, another teacher, a black girl from Newark, N.J., was pointing: "Head, shoulders, knees and toes." Two Mexican American girls, second and fourth graders, listened and copied. They were learning English.

These are the sights and sounds produced by 27 college students—including 11 Negroes, 13 of Mexican ancestry and one Filipina. Most of them are going back to the other side of the tracks to teach in neighborhoods such as the ones they came from.

The National Teachers Corps chose Stockton as the test city for an experiment with two new features for the federal program—the teachers, working as classroom aides, don't yet have their college degrees and most of them come from poor families.

Ennis Ramos, 30, comes from a family of farm workers. In his application for the corps he wrote: "I remember that on several occasions we registered at a school in the morning and checked out of school in the afternoon of the same day, because while we were in school my father had learned that the crops weren't too good."

"I wasn't able to understand English until I was about nine years old," he said.

Mary Trejo, 21, came from Mexico to Stockton in 1957. She believes middle-class teachers don't always understand the problems of poor children.

"You see little boys who don't comb their hair or brush their teeth," Miss Trejo explained. "Maybe they don't have water at home."

Still, a child's school appearance goes on his formal record, blocking his progress later on, she said.

The $275,000 south Stockton project is run by the University of the Pacific in Stockton. The federal government pays 90 per cent and the Stockton School District pays 10 per cent.

Students from the university and from other campuses across the country are volunteering to work in poor neighborhoods. But Stockton, an agricultural center in the San Joaquin Valley, needs more than student volunteers.

A year ago, Stockton's unemployment rate was 8.6 per cent, compared to 3.8 per cent nationally. More than 40 per cent of Stockton's 100,000 residents are Negroes and Mexican-Americans, working or looking for work in the town's canneries and nearby fields.

The Stockton corpsmen, who began this summer, will have two years to turn their enthusiasms and novel ideas into lasting results.

The National Teachers Corps was created by the federal government in 1966 to train college graduates to teach in poor areas, where they're needed. But a corps official in Washington said that up to now, corpsmen were mostly from middle or upper income groups.

Stockton corpsmen have worked their way through two years of college, mostly at junior colleges. They attend the University of the Pacific and are paid $75 a week—with $15 extra for each dependent.

'East Winston', A Showplace Of North Carolina Urban Renovation toast Nixon."

"But Sharkey," Rumpelmeier said, "I don't know why you should be so upset about me wanting to toast Nixon. After all, it's only a presidential election, and if you've seen one President, you've seen them all."

"Yes, Rumpelmeier," Sharkey said, gritting his teeth. "But the difference is that my man won and your man lost, and that means your people are out and my people are in."

"So it does," Rumpelmeier said, "I don't think to that."

"You won't drink to it!" Sharkey said. "I'll drink to it!"

"I don't know what's gotten into you, Sharkey. I'm sure Nixon's happier about all this than you are."

"What do you know about Nixon?" Sharkey cried. "I voted for him."

"Everyone knows about Nixon," Rumpelmeier said. "He'll probably make a fine President."

I thought Sharkey was going to hit him. "Rump, we may not have agreed politically with each other in the past, and we may have had our differences on the future of this country, but I never thought you'd stoop so low as to steal my one moment of triumph, after I waited eight miserable, lonely years."

"You're right, Sharkey. This is your moment, so let me buy you a drink."

Sharkey rose from the table and screamed, "I'll buy my own drinks! Can't you get it through your head? I won!"

He wheeled around and walked out of the restaurant, leaving his coat behind.

Rumpelmeier shrugged his shoulders and said to me: "The Nixon people are certainly taking their win awfully hard."

lem for the first time probably would not notice the difference. But those who are regular visitors do notice it—and they share pride in it.

A whole new city is rising in East Winston, a city that may become one of the showplaces of North Carolina within the next three to five years.

Already East Winston is changing its characteristics from a section filled with deteriorating houses to a section that seems to provide for more leisurely housing, institutional and business buildings.

gling from his lip and holding a hypodermic needle in one hand and a smoking pistol in the other.

What normal, wholesome teenager wouldn't be secretly delighted at this apparition, untrue of himself as he knows it to be? By pretending it is verity, he can capitalize on adult panic. Instead of playing trick - or - trick games with grownups only on Halloween, he can scare them all year long.

The average teenager doesn't take dope, smoke reefer, indulge in sex orgies, carry a pistol, or beat up defenseless old ladies for the change in their purses. The record shows that most teenagers are learning more in school than did any previous youth group and, in their own way, are as dedicated and as idealistic as any that came before them. The big differences seem to be that they are less hypocritical, less deferential to their elders, and since they prefer rock 'n' roll, that they march to the music of a louder drummer.

One fact of the matter is that the older generation today is the most neurotic and terror-stricken in history. Hallucination and aberration have become habitual with us.

Perhaps if we simply quit pushing the panic button in ourselves we wouldn't be so panicky about our offspring.

director of Winston-Salem housing authority and redevelopment commission, estimates that from $25 million to $30 million has been or is being spent on the East Winston transformation. About $13 million of this is now under contract.

To those who have the varied government and private planning programs on their desks, the transformation is sometimes slow and painful. "So slow," said one man, "that we sometimes are discouraged."

But to the bearded man standing at the corner of Ninth Street and Highland Avenue, it has been a "miracle of my lifetime."

His eyes lighted up as he looked at the building going on in the area.

"Man," he said, "ain't this something!"

East Winston was developed between 1880 and 1910 when most of the city's industry sprang up along the railroad tracks that ran between the downtown area and the eastern part of the city.

Workers wanting to be near their jobs built or rented houses in the eastern part of the city.

"It was easy to walk to your job," said an 80-year-old man on East Fifth Street.

The growth was so pronounced that in 1914 the city, feeling that all the eastern part would become a major residential area, built City Memorial Hospital at the end of East Fifth Street.

But after World War I, there was little building in East Winston except in the area around the hospital itself. The older houses closest to downtown began to deteriorate.

In the last 20 years, a string of government projects, coupled with private enterprise, ripped down most of the old houses, displacing their residents, and turned smelly gullies into high ground with greener grass.

"I'm not sure this is progress—I liked my old house," said one old woman. "But old folks is hard to change."

The eyesore view of Winston-Salem that travelers on Interstate 40 used to get is being turned into an industrial complex with R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.'s truck sheds, the Kester Machinery Co. and other structures.

On the eastern side of the North-South Expressway, there is John F. Kennedy Junior High School. . . the welfare-health building. . . the new Kate Biting Reynolds Memorial Hospital. . . the Bethlehem Child Care Center to mention only a few.

There are many new apartments, hundreds of them, in fact. A disgruntled man watching the construction complained, "We'd rather have houses of our own."

Ninth Street, once a crooked little street, has been four-laned and now serves as a major traffic artery through the area.

The Vital Date Is January 20

WASHINGTON (AP) — If Richard M. Nixon should die or become incapacitated before Jan. 20, who would be inaugurated as the next president?

Congressional authorities said today the answer depends on whether death or incapacity occurred before or after the presidential electors meet Dec. 16 to cast their ballots.

If it happened after the electors voted, Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew, Nixon's running mate, would become the next president.

But if Nixon died before Dec. 16, the experts said, the electors would be free to vote for anyone they pleased.

Technically there now is no president-elect or vice president-elect despite Nixon's and Agnew's Nov. 5 victory.

The people voted for electors and the Constitution provides the electors shall meet in their respective state capitals and vote for a president and a vice president.

The only constitutional restriction on the electors is that at least one of the candidates for whom they vote shall not be a resident of the same state as themselves.

Violence Closes San Francisco State College

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Classes have been suspended for an indefinite period for San Francisco State College's 18,000 students after a week of sporadic vandalism and violence stemming from a black student union strike.

President Robert R. Smith ordered the suspension Wednesday night "until we can open and operate in a more rational manner."

Smith acted after about 30 members of the police Tactical squad were summoned to the campus twice within half an hour. They were met with rocks and cans and surrounded by groups of shouting demonstrators, both Negro and white.

In the resulting melee, eight persons were arrested—seven of them charged with felonious assault on an officer and one with assault and battery. There were no reports of serious injuries.

Smith said he felt the Wednesday disturbances showed "we are moving further and further toward physical confrontation between people and this has demonstrated that a minority can close a campus and that we can't keep it open with the assistance of police."

A small group of faculty members supporting the strike interceded between police and the demonstrators Wednesday to restore relative calm.

Smith arranged to meet with his administration and faculty, particularly Negro members, to "define the issues and attempt to provide solutions to them."

One of the main demands made by the black student union has been for reinstatement of a controversial part-time instructor now under 30 day suspension—Black Panther George Mason Murray.

Murray described Wednesday's disruptions as "a very historic moment. It's the first time that barriers have been dissolved between classes—between black, brown, yellow and red people."

Most students at the college are white. One demand of the strikers is admission of more Negroes.

Smith, looking grim and haggard, said he suspended classes after discussing the situation with Glenn Dumke, chancellor of the 19 state colleges. Murray was suspended Nov. 1 on Dumke's orders pending investigation of his fitness as an instructor.

The 1,300 member faculty found itself involved in the controversy.

A series of unusual general meetings brought debates on proposed resolutions calling for censure of Chancellor Dumke, demanding his resignation and Murray's reinstatement.

Gov. Ronald Reagan told newsmen that college faculty members who want to oust Dumke are "carrying the academic freedom to the point of the ridiculous."

Theodore Meriam, chairman of the State College trustees, blamed what he called a "small group of faculty activists" for the attacks on the chancellor.

Contract Method For Use Of Dump Voted By Board

AYDEN — The Board of Commissioners Monday night discussed possible changes in the subdivision ordinance and approved a contract method of payment for certain users of the municipal dump.

Commissioners discussed a possible change in the present subdivision regulations that calls for installation of streets, sewer lines and other improvements in subdivisions by contractors. At present, the ordinance requires that streets and other improvements be financed by contractors, according to Town Clerk Don Russell, who noted this is expensive to small contractors.

The proposed regulation was sent to the Planning Board for study. Commissioners also authorized Mayor Ross Persinger to issue contracts to individuals and private trash collectors who use the municipal dump for a fee agreeable with the board. The commissioners earlier this year set a fee and permit schedule for use of the municipal dump by non-residents.

Mayor Ross Persinger was named by the board as a representative on the Ayden Economic Council.

In other business, Commissioners set a public hearing for rezoning properties Northeast and Southeast of Ayden, for Dec. 2. Residential zoning is being requested for the properties which are now industrial.

Penalized For Causing Trouble

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — After Carl Phillip Kunstorff, 24, was convicted in U.S. District Court last June of refusing to take a Selective Service examination he agreed to take the test. He failed.

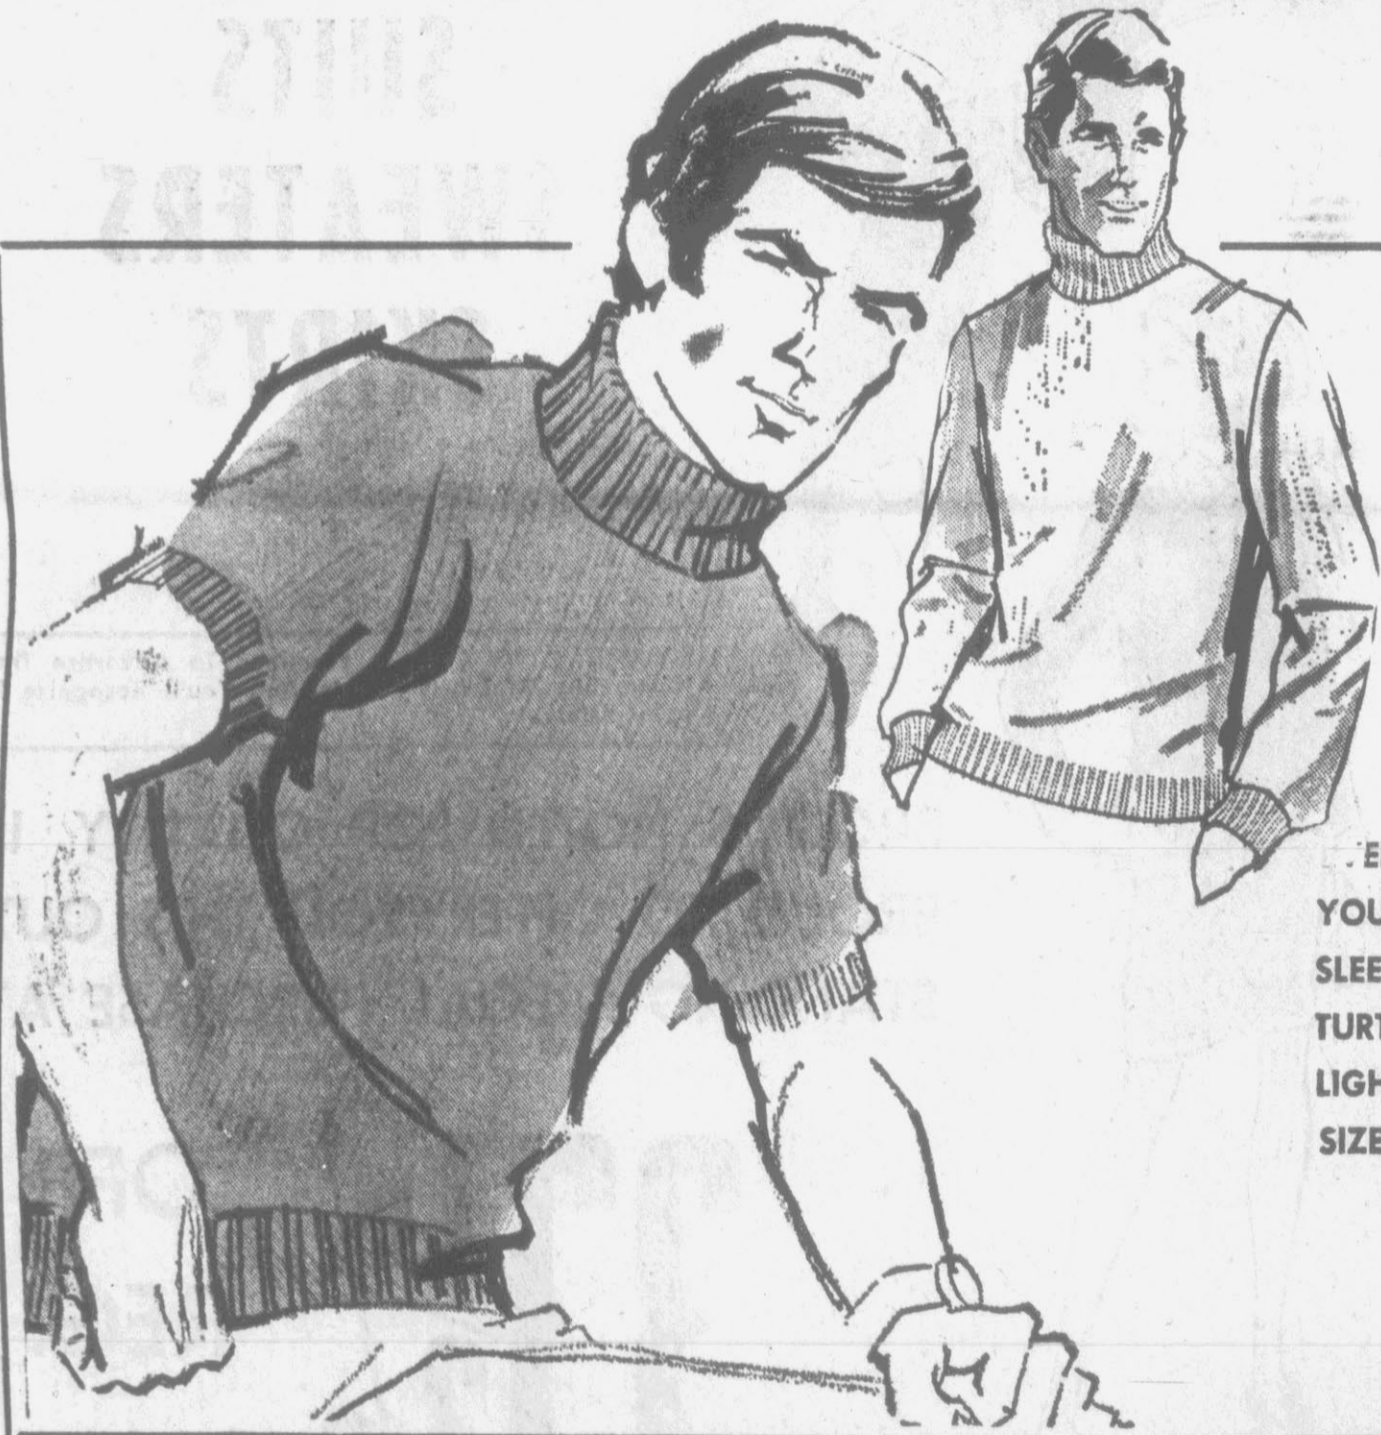

He appeared before Judge Albert C. Wollenberg Wednesday for sentencing for refusing to take the examination originally. The judge fined him $1,000 and placed him on three years probation, indicating the decision was due to the trouble and expense Kunstorff caused the government. Kunstorff was declared 4F because of a smashed finger. He had sought a hardship deferment, saying he supported his parents.

N.C. Baptists Reaffirm Position On Whiskey

RALEIGH (AP)—The North Carolina Baptist State Convention has expressed disapproval of "any type of whiskey by the drink legislation" and decided more study is needed before a policy is adopted on the subject of ministers counseling conscientious objectors.

Before adjourning the 138th annual convention Wednesday, the Baptist messengers also suggested "that it may now be timely to consider a statewide referendum regarding the repeal of existing ABC systems."

The state operates liquor stores, under the Alcoholic Beverage Control system, in counties where voters have approved the stores in referendums. No liquor by the drink sales are permissible in the state although legislation to allow such sales under a local option system is to be introduced in the 1969 General Assembly.

The subject of ministers counselling persons with conscientious objections to fighting in a war was debated for 40 minutes. Messengers then voted 386-258 to turn the issue over to a newly created Council of Christian Life and Public Affairs, which also was sent the liquor resolutions.

During the debate over conscientious objectors, the convention had before it an amended statement from its resolution committee which said: "We recognize the historic practice and support by Baptists of the individual in matters of conscience. . . . We recognize the right of men, because of faith or conscience, cannot accept combatant responsibilities in the military, but who choose, instead, noncombatant duties as prescribed by law."

The Rev. Jack Mansfield of Raeford asserted that if the convention adopted the resolution it would be appealing "to young men who try to escape the draft and to boys on campus burning draft cards."

But the Rev. John Lewis of Raleigh told the convention "For us to give no positive help to our students is for the Baptist State Convention to do what it has done time after time. We have said 'Wait, wait, no, no.'"

The Rev. Francis Whitmire of Morganton said, "I'd have a hard time explaining (this) to a young woman in my church who had just buried her husband."

The Baptists adopted resolutions expressing concern over the practice of voluntary prayers in public schools, calling on the state to provide improved facilities and programs for the mentally handicapped and mentally ill, and for juvenile offenders.

Gov. Dan Moore was commended for his selection of Dr. James Taylor of Durham, a Negro, as acting chairman of the Good Neighbor Council and the appointment of Robert S. Harrell of Cary as acting assistant to the chairman.

The Baptists called on Gov. elect Bob Scott and the 1969 General Assembly to "strengthen and undergird the work of the Good Neighbor Council with a more adequate staff and greater financial support."

One Minor Flaw For Mannequin

HELENA, Mont. (AP)—There was an almost-perfect window display in a Helena women's store—but for one small item.

Today In Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS WASHINGTON (AP)—A U.S. authority on Soviet space shots says Russian cosmonauts may try to beat Americans to a trip around the moon—but apparently are not as ready for a moon landing.

Russia may try a moon shot two weeks before the U.S. Apollo 8 effort scheduled Dec. 21, the U.S. expert said Wednesday. He asked that his name not be used.

But the Russian goal will be to reconnoiter the moon's face while U.S. astronauts will be looking for sites and approing on the moon's face next year, he said. He said this indicates the Russians are not ready for a landing.

Other rocket and spacecraft experts tended to agree with the analysis.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has established diplomatic relations with Panama's month-old military junta but will not immediately resume the $14.2 million aid program to the country.

The United States became the 11th member of the 22-member Organization of American States to establish such ties and did so after extensive consultation with other OAS members, the State Department said Wednesday.

The junta headed by Col. Jose M. Pinilla took power Oct. 11 after ousting President Arnulfo Arias less than two months after his election to a four-year term.

Parents May Join Teachers In Helping Pupils

(This is the first of a series of three articles on the Greenville City School System. Today Mrs. Mildred Oakes West, chairman of the local projects committee of the Classroom Teachers Association, tells how parents and teachers may help their children by mutual respect and cooperation. Tomorrow John T. Jones, principal of Greenville Junior High School, will talk about ability grouping and the Middle School idea, and in the third article Dr. C. C. Cleetwood, superintendent of schools, will discuss a peaceful plan for integration.)

By JEAN REILLY

CITY SCHOOL

NAME: JOHN POORE (Johnny)
AGE: 10
FATHER'S OCCUPATION: Itinerant TRANSFERRED FROM: _____

The teacher looked at the crisp white card and sighed. Freckled face Johnny had attended four different schools in fewer years. How could she help him before it was time for him to move to another school in another city?

Across the aisle from Johnny sat pert Susie who had lived in Greenville all her life. Hair brushed and gleaming, she could be your child or mine.

Estimates Forty Million Kitties

LOS ALTOS, Calif. (UPI)—About 40 million cats inhabit the United States, according to C. Richard Calore of the National Cat Protection Society.

Only 22 million have homes, and the remaining 18 million fend for themselves in the countryside and back alleys.

Yet though a casual visitor could not tell by looking at them, Susan and Johnny had one thing very much in common—they and 33 others could not receive the individual love and attention this teacher so longed to give them. There were just too many. At the end of the year they would pass to another crowded classroom and another teacher frustrated by sheer numbers, praying that she could fill their needs and send them independently on their way.

Wind And Jazz Ensembles In Recital Tonight

The wind and jazz ensembles of the East Carolina University School of Music performs in a joint program here tonight at 8:15 p.m.

With Herbert L. Carter conducting, the wind ensemble will present works by Isaac Albeniz, Walter S. Hartley, Morton Gould and Kenneth J. Alford.

Joe Hambrick will conduct the jazz ensemble in "Teddy the Toad" and "Cute" by Neal Hefti, "Here's the Band" by Lennie Niehaus, and a medley including "It's De Lovely," "This Can't Be Love" and "Blue Room."

The performance, first of the season by the two groups, will be presented in the recital hall of the School of Music Building on the ECU campus. The program is open to the public.

Clampdown On Aerial Smugglers

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—The Argentine Air Force Command has announced a clampdown on airborne smugglers.

All planes discovered without proper identification or lights will be ordered to land immediately, the Air Force said, and those disobeying will be shot down.

ministration, teachers, and a concerned public. "We have a 25 cent tax ceiling on education locally which has been in effect for many years," Cleetwood pointed out. "All of us know how Greenville has grown and is continuing to grow yet a horse and buggy tax structure is holding back a spage age community. This levy provides for hiring only 11 extra teachers including guidance and special education, whereas communities of comparable size such as Rocky Mount may employ as many as 45. We think people are willing to pay a little more in order to help their children."

Asked to give other reasons for the teacher shortage, Mrs. West mentioned the "mountain of non-professional duties encountered."

"For example," she said, "a trained non-professional could handle bus duty or lunchroom supervision or other time consuming details that arise. This would not only free the teacher to meet the child's needs, it would be more economical than paying a professional for non-professional duties. Besides," she added, "there are many women in Greenville who love children and would make ideal Teacher Aides."

Other reasons included "that old teacher bugaboo, lack of planning time. Most teachers take papers home with them and often it is midnight before they finish grading papers and planning the next day's work."

According to Mrs. West, here are some ways parents can help:

1. See that your child attends school regularly. According to N.C. law the number of teachers allotted a school is based on the average daily attendance. One unnecessarily absent child may subsequently deprive several children of a much needed teacher, contributing to further overcrowding.

2. Consider new innovations such as Teacher Aides for non-teaching chores. These are now being used successfully in large school systems, why not here?

3. Cooperate with your child's teacher in every way you can. Help her understand your child so she may better meet his needs.

4. Inform yourself. Is your child's school room well-lighted and well-ventilated? If you find small needs join with other parents or the PTA to help provide them.

5. Back your teachers in the community so there will be no need to talk of "teacher strikes" here. Teachers are mature individuals who have invested large sums of money and time preparing themselves to teach your children. Respect them for it.

6. Remember your school board represents you. They wish to be kept informed. Help them serve the community as they wish to do.

7. Study political candidates with sound educational plat- forms, vote for them, then see that they implement their promises after they are elected.

8. Remember that even though you may have no school age children, you are still the ultimate beneficiary of a sound educational program. When children are well educated, there is less community need for expensive fire and police protection, fewer parole officers and correctional institutions, but the biggest loss is that of Greenville's best commodity the wasted potential of her children.

When South, the declarer at three no trump, realized that his campaign had been foiled by an astute defender, he was obliged to dig deep into his bag of tricks to uncover an alternative plan.

West opened the queen of diamonds which was taken by declarer's king. South led a low spade, putting in the nine from dummy. East made a very alert play when he followed with the deuce of spades, permitting North to hold the trick. The dummy obviously did not have many entries, and it was East's desire to do everything possible to prevent the profitable development of the spade suit.

South returned to his hand with the ace of clubs to lead another spade. This time

East topped the ten with the queen and declarer realized that he had been made the victim of a very fine play for, if East wins the first spade, South has time to drive out the remaining stopper while North still has the queen of clubs. As matters stood, the ace of spades was still outstanding—and declarer had only the one entry left to dummy.

East returned a diamond and declarer played the ace. Having apparently been restricted to but one spade trick, it appeared that South must pay off to his opponent's alert defense for, even if the heart finesse succeeded, declarer could count only eight tricks.

Presently he spotted an outside chance which hinged on West's being very short in hearts. He led the jack of clubs and overtook with North's queen. The king of spades was played putting East in with the ace as South discarded his king of clubs. By so doing, he converted dummy's ten of clubs into the master card in that suit.

East returned the jack of hearts and South successfully finessed the queen. He cashed the ace next removing West's last heart and then led a diamond. West was able to take two diamond tricks, but having nothing but clubs left, he was forced to surrender the lead to dummy and North took the fulfilling tricks with the ten of clubs and the jack of spades.

Ayden, Robersonville, Farmville In Playoffs

Three area football teams hit the field Friday night in quest of first round victories in the State playoffs. Ayden and Robersonville square off in Ficklen Stadium in the Class A playoffs, while Farmville visits Smithfield in the Class 2-A division.

Ayden won its right to participate in the playoffs, which go all the way to a state title this year, by beating Manteo last week. Manteo captured the Tidewater title, and agreed to play Ayden in the final game of the regular season so that independent Ayden would have a chance at the title.

Ayden lost two games this year, one to Farmville and the other to Pamlico County by a single point. Only six points were scored against the Tornadoes in the Class A contests played by the team.

Robersonville, meanwhile, came on strong after losing two of its first three ball games. They were counted out of the Tobacco Belt Conference race after losing first place to Grifton for their third loss of the year.

But the next week, the Rams came back and stopped tied-for-first Saratoga while Grifton was losing to Belhaven, thus projecting Robersonville back into first place, where they stayed the rest of the year and took the title.

Normally, Robersonville and Ayden meet during the regular season, but for the first time in years, the two teams didn't have a game scheduled this year. Thus, the game takes on added significance.

Ayden will be led by George Booth, their flashy halfback, and sometimes quarterback, and he has proved that he can throw the ball as well as run, and this could cause the Rams some trouble. Aiding him in the backfield is the other halfback Jerry Gibson, who is the favorite passing target of both Booth and quarterback Alan Wilson, who is still recovering from a midseason injury, although back in action.

Robersonville places much of its burden on tailback Blaine Cargile and fullback Joe Pilgreen, who have run roughshod over opponents of late. The single wing attack of Coach Noland Respess has improved with every game, and will be a serious challenge to the talented Ayden defenses.

Five Unbeatens Put Strings On The Line

Five unbeaten basketball teams will put their records on the line Friday night as the first full week of play comes to an end.

After games last Friday and Tuesday, five of seven boys teams in the county have posted only winning records, although only two have played more than one game.

Bethel and Stokes both have won both of their starts, and both by handy margins. Chicod, Winterville and Robinson each have picked up victories in their lone starts.

Bethel and Bethel Union both have 1-1 records thus far.

In the girls standings, only two teams have unblemished records. Winterville and Bethel

The Lady Wolves have a lone win while Bethel has recorded two.

Elsewhere Belvoir and Stokes are both 1-1, while Chicod is winless in its only start.

This Friday night's schedule has Belvoir at North Edgecombe, Bethel at Jamesville, Robinson at Whitfield, Bear Grass at Chicod, South Edgecombe at Winterville, Pinetops at Bethel Union and West Edgecombe at Stokes.

On Tuesday night, the schedule shows West Edgecombe at Belvoir, Pantego at Bethel, Savannah at Robinson, Chicod at Jasper, Oak City at Winterville, Conetoe at Bethel Union and South Edgecombe at Stokes.

Edwards Seeks Ball Control Against FSU

Coach Earle Edwards wants North Carolina State to control the ball in its game against pass-minded Florida State Saturday.

Gal Swimmers Take Victory

East Carolina University's women's swimming team had little trouble in gaining its first victory in its first start yesterday over Old Dominion.

The Buccaneers piled up 52 points to Old Dominion's 25 to win handily. Terry Noffsinger led the team, winning three events, the diving, the 50-yard butterfly and the 50-yard freestyle.

Elsewhere in the Atlantic Coast Conference, Clemson Coach Frank Howard said that star halfback Buddy Gore definitely is out for this week's home game against North Carolina. He was injured in last week's 16-0 victory at Maryland and won't be able to run effectively for another five or six days.

East Carolina won every event except the last one, the 200-yard freestyle relay.

The Buccaneers jumped off to a quick lead by taking the opening relay, and never trailed after that, building up as much as a 52-18 lead prior to the final event.

Virginia tried to find a consistent placekicker who would improve its relatively poor field goal and extra point record. The Cavaliers spent more than an hour on the kicking game in preparation for their game at Tulane.

Summary: 200 medley relay: East Carolina (Deby Parker, Donna Quave, Julia Schilling, Joyce Clark), 2:09.53.

50 freestyle: Terry Noffsinger (EC) :28.70; Mary Walters (OD), Darlene Gove (OD), Bobbie Gill (EC).

The Virginia placekicker might turn out to be defensive halfback Peter Schmidt, who has been handling kickoffs excellently, or Hunter Richards, whose punting has been more than adequate.

100 individual medley: Peggy Hues (EC) 1:11.23; Vicky Quave (EC), Betty Dungan (OD), Donnie Schell (OD). Diving: Terry Noffsinger (EC) 136.45 points; Dottie Schell (OD), Skia Cooper (OD), Diane Foadin (OD).

Coach Tom Harp said that Duke, which plays Wake Forest, again would be the underdog, as it has been in seven of its eight games this season.

50 backstroke: Deby Parker (EC) :33.95; Vickie Padilla (OD), Julie Schilling (EC), Mary Walters (OD).

200 freestyle relay: Old Dominion (Dariene Gore, Mary Walters, Trish Bliley, Vickie Padilla), 2:04.59.

Seniors In Final Home Game

Roanoke Rapids, Tarboro Take Northeast Honors

By JIM WOODS
After ten gruelling weeks of football, the Roanoke Rapids Yellow Jackets and the Tarboro Tigers wind up as co-champions of the Northeastern Conference with identical records of 8-1. However, Roanoke Rapids drew the first seed in the state playoffs by virtue of the fact that they downed Tarboro during the regular season. The only Jacket loss was to Elizabeth City midway thru the season and ironically it was Tarboro's win over that same Elizabeth City team 20-13 last Friday that enabled the Tigers to tie the Roanoke Rapids for the championship. Roanoke Rapids nipped Kinston 10-7 to win their share of the title. Other games last Friday saw West Carteret down Havelock 21-6, New Bern nip Rose 20-19 and Washington down East Carteret 21-13.

It was again the talented toe of Ron Sewell that propelled Roanoke Rapids to victory over Kinston 10-7. After a scoreless first half Sewell put Roanoke Rapids on the scoreboard with a 33-yard field goal in the third period. The Jackets upped their lead to 10-0 in the fourth period as Russ McBrayer scored on a five-yard run while the Devils' only score came late in the fourth quarter on an 18-yard pass play from Nate Vause to Rod Duke. Roanoke Rapids put on a strong defense against the single wing of the Devils to hold on to their victory. The Jackets thus wind up with their first Northeastern title and now move into state playoff competition against Roxboro at Roanoke Rapids this Friday.

Danny Worells who went the final 19 yards for the second score. Elizabeth City came to life in the second quarter as half-back Tony Dickerson went 50 yards for a score and the score was 13-6 at the half. The Tigers scored what proved to be the winning score in the third period as Check went in from three yards out to make it 20-6. The Jackets scored in the final quarter on a one yard plunge by Lindsay Riddick. The Tigers now will travel to meet undefeated Northern Durham this Friday in their first hurdle toward the State crown.

The West Carteret Patriots finished up strong in the loop with five wins in their last six games and wound up third in the loop. They downed Havelock 21-6 Friday to finish up at 6-3 and two games out of first place. Ed Frazier scored on an 8-yard pass play in the first quarter to give Havelock the lead 6-0 but it was short lived as the Pats came back in the same quarter on John Rose's first TD of the year on a 3-yard sweep of end. They scored again in the second period on John Thompson's 37-yard burst up the middle and wound it up in the third period as Bill Jackson swept end for three yards. Denny O'Neal kicked all their extra points. Jackson hit on 5 of 10 passes for 89 yards and had 122 yards total offense while Donald Ray Tootle and John Femia were strong on defense for West Carteret.

The New Bern Bears nipped Rose 20-19 at Greenville after leading at the half 20-6. Rose opened up the scoring in the first period on a 43-yard pass from Joe West to Kyle Hodges and it was 6-0. The Bears came back in the same quarter on David Johnson's six-yard run. Collins kicked and it was 7-6. New Bern picked up two scores in the second period on a 4-yard pass from Chuck Mohn to end Brad Sneed and a 3-yard run by Billy Farmer. Collins kicked and it was 20-6 at the half. The Phants scored in the 3rd period on Kyle Hodges' 20-yard run with a Gary Bryant kick to make it 20-13 and then David Harrington scored his 102nd point of the year in the final period to make it 20-19. Bryant kicked good but a penalty nullified it and he missed his second chance at the 18yard line. The Washington Pam Pack broke a five-game losing streak in their finale by downing East Carteret 21-13. Jerry Stalls opened up the Pack scoring in the second period taking a 35 yard pass from Chuck Latham. Lex Mann added another in the third period on a one-yard plunge while Allen Brown scored in the same period on a 3-yard pass from Latham to complete the Pack scoring. Eric Hill scored both Mariner touchdowns on 15-yard run in the third period and a 9-yard run in the final stanza. This was one of the tightest Northeastern conference races in many years with three teams having a shot at the title going into the last game of the season. It will be Roanoke Rapids and Tarboro carrying the colors of the Northeastern conference in their quest for a state title.

Levy Admits W&M Has A Shot At Southern Title

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Marv Levy finally has gotten around to admitting his William and Mary football team has a chance at the Southern Conference championship, so it's official that the 1968 season is near its end.

Just as the first robin is a harbinger of spring, Levy's annually belated confessions of interest in the SC title are near infallible signs that winter's not far off. And now he's ready to make that confession.

"Of course, we're aware of what can happen in the conference," says the man who studiously never counts a chicken until it's safely in the coop. "This week's game is a very, very big one for us."

The "very big one" is against The Citadel at Williamsburg, and it's of equal import to the visiting Bulldogs, who still have visions of tying for the SC crown and somehow squeezing into the Tangerine Bowl Dec. 28.

In the wake of a 31-0 shellacking last weekend at the hands of a Syracuse team Levy called "just too big and strong for us," the W&M team now needs to win its last two games to break even for the season.

"We worry about The Citadel's defense," says Levy. "It looks to us like the best in the conference. We have a running team, and that's just what they're best against."

The Citadel coach Red Parker goes a step farther in evaluating W&M. He calls the Indians "the best team in the conference right now, in my opinion, with positively the best running game."

Injuries will weaken the Bulldogs. Parker once counted the ailing on his fingers, but long ago gave out of fingers for the task.

He ticks off the names of eight players who either certainly or probably will miss the Saturday game — linebackers John Small, Jackie Zorn and Charlie Baker; fullback Ben Chavis; guard Ed Storey; center Phil Hoffman; tackle Marlon Glover, and tailback Jim McMillan, his best runner.

"William and Mary has a lot going for it in the championship race," Parker says ruefully — "mainly because they play us Saturday."

W&M is 2-0 in SC play. The Citadel 3-1. Both trail pace-setting Richmond, 5-0. The joker is that Levy's Indians meet Richmond Nov. 23 and, by winning, could throw the title race into an uproar.

Three possibilities exist. Richmond could claim the title outright — its first in history — by beating W&M and finishing 6-0. W&M could take the championship with a 4-0 record by sweeping The Citadel and Richmond.

But if The Citadel gets by W&M and whips East Carolina Nov. 23, and if W&M downs Richmond, the title will be shared by The Citadel and Richmond with 5-1 conference records.

And what about the Tangerine Bowl, at which powerful, unbeaten Ohio University will lie in wait? The conference has specified only that "the champion" shall go.

No problem will exist if Richmond or W&M finishes unbeaten in the league and takes undisputed possession of the crown. But if The Citadel and Richmond end up in a tie, a special committee will make the choice — and probably will pick Richmond because the Spiders beat The Citadel 21-16.

The Tarboro Tigers opened up strong at home against Elizabeth City by scoring two touchdowns in the opening period and held on to win 20-13. David Check opened up the Tiger scoring by racing 20 yards in the first quarter and later in the same period Marion Kent flipped a pass to Bo Robinson who in turn lateraled to

So You Drop The Bum

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I went with this guy for four years. We sneaked around like a couple of criminals because he was married. He said he loved me, and I believed him. He also said his wife wouldn't give him a divorce, but he was "working on it." He even told me that they were married "in name only."

I turned down a lot of swell guys for this bum. Now get this: He says he can't even mention "divorce" to his wife right now because she's pregnant! Now, how in heck could this have happened if he was telling me the truth?

BEEN HAD
DEAR BEEN: I'd bet against an immaculate conception. Obviously, he wasn't telling you the truth. Lose the bum.

DEAR ABBY: Every day after school a group of us girls have to pass a certain barber shop, which is located in the basement of a building. Well, this particular barber seems to have very little business, because every time we walk by he's got himself parked in a chair right in front so he can look up and see us.

You know that he gets a pretty good view from where he is sitting, and this is very disturbing. We have thought of crossing the street, but shouldn't he have enough sense not to sit there?

DISTURBED
DEAR DISTURBED: If you know he is sitting there because he likes the "view," you should have enough sense to cross the street.

DEAR ABBY: In your column was a letter from a grandmother who bought clothes for three grandsons only to have the boys' mother exchange them all for a larger size to fit the eldest, her favorite. The two younger brothers wore hand-me-downs. You advised as follows: "The next time you buy clothes for your grandsons, tell the merchant that under no circumstances should he allow the mother to exchange them for a larger size."

Now, Mrs. Abby, I am a merchant and I would appreciate it if you wouldn't advise your readers to burden us merchants with their problems. To begin with, that daughter-in-law is evidently no delight to deal with, and I can just imagine what she would say to me if I told her that her mother-in-law instructed me not to exchange the merchandise for her. I'd be lucky to come out with all my limbs intact.

It isn't fair to bring the merchant into family arguments. Right now I have a customer who is teaching his teenage son a lesson by refusing to pay me for a pair of shoes his son charged to him without permission. The son isn't going to pay for the shoes either, so I am stuck for the shoes. Now "ain't" that some lesson he's teaching the kid?

Also, merchants have been stuck when wives run up big clothing bills and their husbands want to teach them a lesson by refusing to pay the bill.

So, Dear Abby, I know you are brilliant and beautiful, so please be merciful.

SMALL TOWN MERCHANT
DEAR ABBY: So you think it's okay for a 65-year-old lady to drive down to Florida with her 70-year-old boyfriend. Ha!

Don't you know that some men in their seventies — and even older — acquire a new "vigor?"

Don't ask doctors whether there is any truth in this. Ask old ladies who have married men age 70 and over.

CPA President Staff Changes Are Named For Church Speaks Tonight

Robert G. Sanford of Charlotte, president of the North Carolina Association of Certified Public Accountants, will be the featured speaker at a joint meeting of area CPA's and members of the Delta Sigma Pi business fraternity of East Carolina University to be held at the Candlewick Inn at 6:30 tonight.

ROBERT G. SANFORD

Sanford, who has headed the 1,400-member CPA organization since last June, will outline some of the past history of the accounting profession and will point up some of today's problems, giving particular emphasis to the importance of education in meeting the growing challenge of the future.

CPA J.D. Woolard of Kinston is president of the Coastal Plains Chapter of the N. C. Association of Certified Public Accountants, hosts for tonight's meeting. Chapter president-elect Latney W. Pittard of Mount Olive is in charge of arrangements. Jack E. Oakes, CPA, of Kinston, is secretary-treasurer of the group.

New staff changes have been announced today by the Rev. William K. Quick, pastor of St. James United Methodist Church.

Additions to the church staff include a new organist, children's choir director and secretary.

Mrs. Frances Cain has been employed as church organist, succeeding Carl Amt and Tommie Harris, interim organist. Mrs. Cain, wife of the ECU Freshman Football Coach William Cain, is a native of Roanoke Rapids, where she was a member of the Rosemary Methodist Church. She received a B.S. degree in music in 1958 from ECU and served as organist at Suffolk (Va.) Christian Church for five years. She substituted in a number of churches last year in Albemarle and has taught both piano and organ. The Cains are the parents of two boys, Lance and Tracy.

Mrs. Don Fidler has been employed as director of the children's choir. A native of Charlotte, Mrs. Fidler attended the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. She has assisted in the choral program at Mulberry Presbyterian Church in Charlotte.

Mrs. Harry Campbell has begun her duties as secretary to the pastor. Mrs. Campbell is a native of Charleston, West Virginia, and attended Charleston School of Commerce.

Former Judge Handed Sentence

WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP)—W. A. Williams, 57, of Tabor City, former judge of Columbus County Recorder's Court, has been given a suspended sentence of one year for check kiting.

An indictment charged that he wrote checks amounting to $3,285 on nonexistent bank accounts, deposited them to his account and made the checks good when they were returned.

He had been indicted on nine counts. Seven were dismissed, and he was convicted of two counts in federal district court Wednesday.

Chapter president-elect Latney W. Pittard of Mount Olive is in charge of arrangements. Jack E. Oakes, CPA, of Kinston, is secretary-treasurer of the group.

Novarro's Estate Over $500,000

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Silent screen idol Ramon Novarro, beaten to death at his home, left an estate estimated at more than $500,000.

The 69-year-old actor's will, filed for probate in Superior Court Wednesday, left the bulk of the estate in trust for four sisters, three brothers, and his secretary, Edward J. Weber.

The will also provides for small bequests to several Roman Catholic churches and convents in the United States and Mexico.

The actor's personal effects were left to 21 friends, including Alice Terry, a silent film star who had played opposite Novarro.

Novarro was killed Oct. 31 in his Hollywood Hills home. Two men have been arrested in connection with the slaying.

Ex-Mayor Plans Mission To Iran

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Former Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann leaves soon for Iran to act as consultant to the minister of the interior in organizing the municipal administrations of the country's five major cities.

Kaufmann is making the trip for the International Executive Service Corps, a nonprofit, business-supported organization, which supplies specialists to give advice on management and technical problems in underdeveloped countries.

Last year Kaufmann spent six weeks as consultant in San Salvador. He helped reorganize that country's Chamber of Commerce.

Acquire Site, No Building Plans

RALEIGH (AP) — Richardson-Merrell Inc. has acquired a site in the Research Triangle Park but has no present plans to build facilities.

Former Gov. Luther Hodges, chairman of the Research Triangle Foundation, said Wednesday the firm which was organized in North Carolina as Vick Chemical Co., has purchased 20 acres in the park and has taken an option on 17 acres additional.

However, H. Robert Marshall, president of the firm, said it has no present plans to build research facilities in the park.

Hodges noted that a firm must begin construction within three years or the land reverts to the Research Triangle at the original price.

Burma Begins Leprosy Attack

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — The Burmese government has launched a five-year leprosy eradication scheme to combat not only the disease but the prejudice and social stigma attached to it.

Burma has 200,000 known cases of leprosy in a population of 25 million. Only a small fraction of these are receiving modern scientific treatment at a half-dozen leprosaria run by Christian missionaries.

There are thousands of other hidden cases, unreported and untreated. Lepers in Burma are treated worse than criminals, denied family social life, civic rights and medical facilities for treatment of other maladies.

Many Burmese, who are 85 per cent Buddhist, consider leprosy a divine curse. Consequently lepers try to hide their symptoms until the disease shows up in advanced form, when treatment is likely to be prolonged.

To combat this before it becomes a national problem, the Ministry of Health has budgeted considerable funds for its five-year plan.

In the first two years emphasis will be on organizing and training leprosy survey teams, with survey centers to be opened in Rangoon and Mandalay. At the end of the second year, entire villages in infected areas will be examined and statistics compiled.

In the third year about a million suspected lepers will be examined in Central Burma. In the fourth and fifth years, the work will be reassessed, more survey centers will be opened across the country and, hopefully, all lepers will be receiving treatment.

Throughout the five-year period, the government will try to change public opinion about leprosy, stressing that it is only slightly contagious, curable and caused by germs, not heredity or any divine curse.

Grier Speaks At NCEA Chapter Meeting Here

Ed Grier, manager of the State Employees Credit Union, spoke to the Greenville Chapter of the North Carolina Education Association this week.

Grier pointed out the advantage of the state employees participating in the credit union.

Horace Robertson was elected vice-president of the Greenville chapter while Mrs. Dorothy Johnson was named secretary. The two new officers will serve with President Gene Baker and Mrs. Howard Shearin, treasurer, during the 1968-69 school year.

The group voted to support the statewide billboard project as recommended by the public relations committee of the NCEA.

MERIT SCHOLARS ON TV PROGRAM

A number of East Carolina University Merit Scholars will appear on "Hospitality House" (WITN-TV, Channel 7) at 8:00 a.m. Saturday. Merit scholars from all parts of the state will be represented by those who appear on the program.

TO BE SALUTED

Claude J. Goodman, of Greenville, will be saluted on WNCT-TC (Ch. 9) as Today's Outstanding North Carolina Citizen on Nov. 16. Goodman was presented the Distinguished Service Award by the Nat'l Ass'n. of County Agricultural Agents.

Driver Charged In Collision Case

Richard Allen Chadwick, 19, of Greensboro was charged with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 3:30 p.m. collision here yesterday at the intersection of Fourth and Library Streets.

Police said the Chadwick car collided with a vehicle driven by Ember Cooper Wells, 22 of 206C Paris Ave. who was reported injured in the collision.

Damage was placed by officers at $180 to the Wells vehicle and $200 to the Chadwick vehicle.

Tax Institute Is Set Dec. 3, 4

East Carolina University's School of Business and Division of Continuing Education will conduct a tax institute Dec. 3 and 4 on the campus. Sponsors are the North Carolina Department of Revenue, the Social Security Administration, the U. S. Wage and Hour Administration and the N. C. Society of Accountants (NCSA).

The institute is designed primarily for persons who assist business firms or individuals in preparing and filing income tax returns.

According to an ECU spokesman, the complicated nature of tax law, regulations and procedures necessitate a continuing study of all phases of the tax field. He said the instructional program of the upcoming institute is designed to emphasize those areas recommended by accountants in the Eastern and Northeastern Chapters of NCSA. He added that participants will have ample opportunity to ask tax questions. James E. Phelps of Greenville is serving as institute chairman for NCSA.

Sessions will be held in Room 201 of the student union building. Registration begins at 8 a. m. Tuesday, Dec. 3.

Summer Theatre 'Winter Gala' Slated Nov. 22

The East Carolina University Summer Theatre is holding its first "Winter Gala" at the Candlewick Inn near Greenville on Nov. 22 at 9 p.m.

Conceived by Producer Edgar R. Loessin, the evening will be filled with dancing and entertainment and climaxed by a midnight buffet supper.

Loessin says, "I feel this is a wonderful way for our theatre friends to get together in the winter, and the proceeds from the evening will help us to continue to provide quality entertainment for Eastern North Carolina."

Committees in various communities of the area are at work to insure the success of the first "Winter Gala."

Among the committee members are:

In Beaufort, Larry Stutch; in Farmville, William Cabot Monk and B. S. Smith; in Kinston, Dr. and Mrs. H. Fleming Fuller, Daniel Lilley and Hoyt A. Minges; in Maury, Mrs. Lawrence A. Moye Jr.; in Tarboro, Mrs. H. Dail Holderness; in Washington, William R. Roberson Jr. and Dr. Robert E. Sandy Jr.; in Williamston, Mrs. Elbert Peel; and in Wilson, Mr. J. A Social Withdrawal May Begin In Teens

Terry is in a very dangerous situation, for he is beginning to withdraw from life. That usually means external reality seems cold, cruel or forbidding! We do not run away from happiness, jolly friends and daily compliments! Send for the booklet below and keep it on file, for it is easier to prevent nervous breakdowns than to cure them!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE H-534: Terry B., aged 13, is a problem.

"Dr. Crane," his worried mother began, "Terry fails to get along well with children.

"So he is becoming more timid and afraid of social groups.

"His teachers say he is drawing into a shell and thus they think he needs to go to a psychiatrist.

"But the more unhappy Terry is, the more I try to shield him and act as a go-between. Am I doing wrong?"

The most common form of insanity is schizophrenia.

It often starts among brilliant teen-agers who have held up very high goals for themselves. They may be honor students and ultra conscientious about practicing on the piano or violin.

Then they may begin to drop in their grades. Formerly, this would have shocked them into tears, but now they seem emotionally indifferent.

Or they lose their interest in music, and stare or apparently daydream a great deal.

Some doctors feel that this may be a result of a change in their internal chemistry, as by too heavy a drain on the adrenals or thyroid or even the gonads, which are productive of much physical activity.

Other psychiatrists wonder if the lack of ability to get along harmoniously with human beings may not have started this social withdrawal into a wall lower existence.

But there is a cardinal law of psychology that people seldom want to withdraw from pleasant situations or happiness.

The timid wallflower who thus may compensate by excessive study and music practice, might have been salvaged from a mental breakdown by being taught how to carry on gay, carefree conversation via that "H-E-L-P" formula I have often mentioned.

In it, each letter stands for a field of small talk, for the "H" indicates "Hobbies"; the "E" stands for "Entertainment," such as movies, athletic events or dancing; the "L" is the "key" for starting a discussion of "Literature," ranging from highbrow school assignments in English, to comic books and paperback detective mysteries; while the "P" represents "Politics," involving whether 18-year-olds should vote, etc.

Another helpful newspaper "vaccine" to prevent insanity and social withdrawal, is to launch on the 30-day "Compiment Club" project, wherein you pay 3 sincere compliments daily — one each to a different person.

When children are either medical or social cripples, many mothers unintentionally indulge in "smother love."

While this is a very natural error, it is not the wise method to help restore your child to normalcy.

For instance, if he tries to play "Little League" baseball and strikes out at the plate, you should not try to violate the rules of baseball by asking the umpire to let him have 4 or 5 strikes.

There are definite rules of all games, not only on the baseball diamond or gridiron, but also in the game of winning friends and sweethearts.

This column was started to help offer the psychological rules so you and your children can be more successful and far happier in the game of life!

You must thus go through the proper motions in order to feel the corresponding emotions!

So send for my booklet "How to Prevent Nervous Breakdowns," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Too Prosperous, Police Step In

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (UPI)—Carlos Cantera Artagaveytia, 20, saw $2,000 lying on the car seat of an Argentine tourist and picked it up, envisioning his chance to marry and set up a hairdresser shop with his future bride. Police became suspicious of his sudden prosperity and arrested him only hours before the scheduled wedding.

MORE POLICEMEN

MANILA (UPI)—Concerned about criticisms of the efficiency of Filipino police officers, President Ferdinand E. Marcos has ordered the creation of four training centers throughout the Philippines to turn out 4,000 new policemen a year.

Tanzanians Eye Peking Experts

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanzania (AP)—Tanzanians are beginning to wonder how many Red Chinese "rail experts" it will take to survey the 1,000-mile route for a railroad between this East African republic and neighboring Zambia.

Twice a month the liner Yaohua brings more Chinese, all designated "engineer-surveyor for the Tanzania-Zambia rail link." So far more than 600 have arrived for a preliminary engineering survey.

If they are what they claim to be, each man will have less than two miles to survey—making the Tan-Zam line the most heavily surveyed railroad in the world. Peking has offered to finance and construct it at an estimated cost of $240 million.

Flying red bunting and the thoughts of Mao Tse-tung on large banners, the Yaohua has become a regular caller at Dar es Salaam. Large groups of Chinese shoppers and sightseers are a common sight, but Tanzanian police and the Chinese together discourage approaches by inquisitive locals.

It is not known whether the "engineer-surveyors" have requested isolation, or whether the Tanzanian government wants it that way. But every time the Yaohua docks, Tanzanian police keep newsmen away, whisk the Reds to their assigned quarters and place a heavy guard around the buildings.

One consignment of Chinese was housed at Dar es Salaam University during the college vacation. Police and plainclothes men patrolled the grounds, keeping the Chinese and unauthorized Tanzanians apart.

Painters Picked Wrong Rooms

LUTON, England (UPI)—Mrs. Elizabeth Jones is seeing red—and brilliant blue and pink and lilac. The colors are in her apartment. And she isn't happy.

Next door neighbor Tony Flynn explained:

"I left my key outside for the decorators to paint my flat. The painters came—and picked up the wrong key and painted the lady's place by mistake."

FOR SALE AT AUCTION

Valuable Residential & Farm Land

11:00 O'CLOCK, A.M., FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1968, AT THE MAIN RESIDENCE ON THE J. W. CANNON FARM 1-1/4 MILES EAST OF AYDEN AT THE INTERSECTION OF STATE HIGHWAY NO. 102 AND THE TAR ROAD

The undersigned owners will offer for sale for cash, or on such terms as may be announced at said sale, and subject to the further terms and conditions hereof, the tract of land well known as the J. W. (John Bill) Cannon Home Place, located at the intersection of the Tar Road (leading from Ayden Country Club to Greenville) and State Highway No. 102, and lying approximately 4/10 of a mile from Ayden and 7.7 miles from Greenville, containing 200 acres, more or less. Said land will be first offered in three parcels, and then offered as a whole, as follows:

Tract No. 1. Bounded on west by the high water mark of Swift Creek, on the east by the Cemetery Road, on south by State Highway No. 102 part of distance with a small parcel of this tract lying on the south side of said Highway, and on the north by the old J. W. Cannon line, containing 76.4 acres, more or less, with 25.2 acres crop land. Based on 1958 crop allotments, this tract has 3.15 acres of tobacco (5651 lbs.), 2.3 acres wheat, and corn base 11 acres.

Tract No. 2. Bounded on west by the Tar Road, on east by the R. R. Cannon land, on south by State Highway No. 102 (part of distance) and the 4-acre parcel of Earl Stokes, and on the north by the old J. W. Cannon line, containing 46.6 acres, more or less, with 14.5 acres of crop land. Based on 1968 crop allotments, this tract has 1.81 acres of tobacco (3252 lbs.), 1.4 acres of wheat, and 7 acres of corn base.

Tract No. 3. Bounded on west by the Cemetery Road, on east by the Tar Road, on the south by State Highway No. 102 (fronts about 1/2 mile on Highway No. 102 and about 3/10 of a mile on Tar Road), and on the north by the old J. W. Cannon line, containing 77 acres, more or less, with 65.3 acres crop land (balance of tract in yards at 3 dwellings and road through farm). Based on 1958 crop allotments, this tract has 8.15 acres tobacco allotment (14,643 lbs.), wheat 6.1 acres, and corn base 29 acres.

Tract No. 3 has buildings as follows: 1 - 2 story main residence, 6 rooms and bath, water and electricity; 1 - 1 story residence, 5 rooms, water and electricity; 1 - tenant house, 5 rooms, on Tar Road; 5 - tobacco barns (no curers); 1 - 2 story pack house and shelters; 1 - 1 story pack house; barns and stables.

The successful bidder or bidders will be required to deposit 10% of the amount of the bid or bids pending acceptance or rejection of the said bid or bids by the owners. The sale will remain open for 10 days for filing raised bids (10% on first $1,000.00 and 5% on balance). If the bid of the successful bidder or bidders is raised, the land on which the bid is raised will be readvertised for 15 days and offered again at auction. The owners reserve the right to reject any and all bids upon notice to the bidders given within 12 days after any sale.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—The North Carolina hog market today was mostly steady. Tops of 18.00-18.50 at Rocky Mount; 17.50-18.00 at Siler City and Denton; 17.25-18.00 at Wilson; 16.75-17.75 at Tarboro; 17.00 - 17.50 Bethel and 18.00 Salisbury.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—The North Carolina live poultry market today was steady with at farm prices 12 to 12½, mostly 12 cents per pound.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market's postelection rally seemed to be faltering early this afternoon as it encountered resistance in the sixth straight day.

Gains held a lead of about 125 over losses on the New York Stock Exchange, but indicators of blue chips showed losses.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .3 at 358.7, with industrials off 1.3, rails off .3, and utilities up .7.

The length of the advance, which began after election day and gathered steam gradually, was one reason for profit taking, brokers said. Another was that Thursday is usually the day for preweekend balancing of gains and losses by traders.

Weakness in auto stocks was a discouraging symptom, even as continued strength in utilities reflected the belief that moderate economic policies under the Nixon administration would be accompanied by lower interest rates.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 3.67 at 963.76.

The average balked at making a new recovery high Wednesday, although other indicators were at peaks. Weakness in Chrysler which spoiled the Dow's performance Wednesday continued.

Chrysler dropped 2½ to 63¾ on a block of 104,500 shares, helping make it the most-active stock in early afternoon. It topped the volume leaders Wednesday.

Chrysler trimmed the loss slightly, but Ford slipped 1½. General Motors and American Motors were off nearly a point each. Worry that the high rate of auto sales would be trimmed accompanied the showing.

In a delayed opening of 15,000 shares, Xerox rose 10¼ to 281 in recognition of the news that Xerox and C.I.T. Financial had terminated merger discussions. Xerox trimmed nearly 2 points from the gain later. C.I.T. still had not opened due to an imbalance of orders.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were generally higher.

Chemistry Dept. Seminar Friday

The fourth seminar of the fall quarter of the East Carolina University Chemistry Department will be held Friday at 4 p.m.

Dr. Louis W. Clark, professor of chemistry at Western Carolina University, will speak on "Kinetics of the Decarboxylation of Substituted Malonic Acids in Alcohol."

Dr. Clark, a professor at WCU since 1960, is a Fellow of the American Institute of Chemistry and is listed in Leaders in American Education and American Men of Science.

The lecture will be held in room 237 of the Flanagan Building on the ECU campus. The public is invited.

City Gov't ...

(Continued from Page 1) convene in the Council Room of the City Hall. There they were met by the city official of their respective offices and escorted to the office to which they hold title for the day. Each young official spent approximately two hours in his appointed position, getting an insight into the operations and procedures involved in his work.

About 4:00 p.m., their day's work in running the city of Greenville was to be over. They return to the Council Room and to be given an opportunity to ask questions and discuss what they have learned and observed during their day in office.

The National Youth Appreciation Week is sponsored by the Optimist Clubs of the United States and Canada. All across both nations, activities similar to the one today in Greenville are taking place. Young people are operating city and county governments, and learning something of the problems and rewards of the public life of their senior counterparts.

FIRST FOR 1968 . . . Mrs. David (Becky) Brown pins the first poppy sold in Greenville to purchaser Mayor S. Eugene West.

Poppy Day Sales Here On Friday, Saturday

Sale of traditional red poppies for veterans will take place in Greenville on Friday and Saturday, November 15 and 16.

David C. Brown, Commander of the Greenville Chapter of the Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW), Post 7032, and Mrs. Margie Bailey, President of the Ladies Auxiliary of the VFW, are in charge of the program.

Mrs. David (Becky) Brown is Chairman of the Poppy Sale Campaign for 1968. Mrs. Brown sold the first poppy for 1968 to Mayor S. Eugene West at his office on Wednesday morning.

"I hope you are going to have a fine sale of these poppies this year," Mayor West told Mrs. Brown. A number of organizations are planning to assist in the sale of poppies. The Angel Light of the AFROTC from East Carolina University, members of Cub Scouts, and children of the members of the VFW are among those who will be selling poppies.

Rev. Starnes Named Holy Trinity Pastor

Rev. James A. Starnes has been appointed pastor of Holy Trinity United Methodist Church in Greenville. Starnes has been associate pastor of Saint James Methodist Church in Greenville since June.

He succeeds the Rev. C. M. Smith who has served Holy Trinity since July, 1966. Smith has assumed a job at the Duke Medical Center in Durham.

Accepting Bids . .

(Continued from Page 1) Snell who said no estimate of the cost of the last portion of the project is available, said, "the money for the project will come from primary and urban bond funds."

At Winterville, the by-pass will pass between the town limits and the municipal sewage treatment plant. "Municipal crews there have already lowered the main sewer line leading to the plant to make way for the roadwork," said Snell.

At present, there is only one section of the multi-lane highway in Pitt County. The section of Memorial Drive from the Fifth Street (N. C. 43) intersection southward to the U. S. 264 by-pass intersection has been multi-laned for several years.

Recently, a center left-turn lane was added to the previously four-lane section of Memorial Drive from West End Circle to the U. S. 264 by-pass and two additional traffic lanes were added to the section of Memorial Drive from West End Circle northward to Fifth Street, making that portion of the by-pass six-laned. Both improvements included only repainting of traffic lane marking on the pavement.

Construction is now underway on a project to four-lane U.S. 264 by-pass from the N. C. 11 intersection to Elm Street, and to widen Greene Street from the Tar River Bridge to the Belvoir Road to four lanes.
