

Higher Education Board Unveils State Program

By NOEL YANCEY
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Board of Higher Education today unveiled a $300 million proposal aimed at giving the state a higher education system "as good as the best anywhere in the world."

The board set this goal in a 497-page report containing 118 recommendations. The report was presented to about 2,000 educators, legislators and interested citizens assembled in Raleigh.

It is not enough, the board said, "for the educational institutions to raise their sights; the people of the state must raise their expectations of the system of higher education."

Some of the board's major recommendations included: —Raising faculty salaries to national standards with equalization of salaries in Negro institutions, at a cost of $145.4 million over a six-year period. —A vast improvement in traditionally Negro colleges to give them "a form and a spirit quite different from anything they have known in the past."

—Greatly expanded library facilities to bring the Negro colleges up to national standards, at a cost of $19.2 million. —An expanded program of student financial aid, including increased appropriations for scholarships that could total $60 million for the six-year period. —The board's recommendations would cover the period between now and 1975 but some call for action by the 1969 General Assembly. These include the proposed designation of North Carolina College at Durham as a regional university.

The total proposal would call for state expenditures of nearly $300 million above regular budgets over the next six years. In the same period, appropriations to keep the institutions going at present levels are expected to more than double. The board began its study of the state's higher education needs in 1966 at the request of Gov. Dan Moore. Its recommendations were based on 74 special studies together with long-range plans developed by each of the state's 16 senior institutions of higher education.

Among major recommendations, was one that the General Assembly create "a single agency to plan and coordinate higher education, with authority to review budgets and to prepare a single budget request for higher education."

Although this might result in a lessening of an institution's independence, the board said that "only where there is a single agency is there assurance that planning on a statewide basis will be achieved."

Little Room Left For ECU Doctorate Plans

By ALVIN TAYLOR
Reflector Managing Editor
RALEIGH — The State Board of Higher Education's long range report released today left little room for East Carolina University's aspirations toward doctoral programs, even though ECU is presently working toward this goal.

The report points out that East Carolina has plans for adding 14 bachelor's programs between 1969 and 1975 and 26 master's programs during the same period.

"The University of North Carolina, with statutory responsibility to provide doctoral programs in the state's system of higher education, expects to add over 30 new doctoral programs by 1975 but has not indicated the specific campuses on which these programs will be offered," the report stated.

The report cited the long-range plan of the University of North Carolina which stated that the need for graduates of professional or doctoral programs in the state during the next decade will probably be met and exceeded in the following fields: fine arts, forestry, public health, pharmacy, home economics, journalism, English, foreign language and literature, law, mathematical subjects, psychology, city and regional planning and the social sciences.

Some of these fields are those in which East Carolina is presently laying the groundwork for future doctoral programs. Offering the doctorate, however, will require further action by the General Assembly since the regional universities are not presently empowered to offer degrees beyond the masters.

Among the new bachelor's degree programs proposed by ECU and listed in the report are: anthropology, architecture, child development and family relations, clothing and textiles, dance, foods and nutrition and institutional management, health, housing and management, physical therapy, recreation, rehabilitation therapy, and science and mathematics for junior high school teachers.

New masters degree programs proposed are: anthropology, child development and family relations, clothing and textiles, drama, elementary science education, food and nutrition and institutional management, French, geology, German, health, housing and related arts, industry, information science, library science, nursing, philosophy, physical education, physics, recreation, sixth year science teaching program, sixth year program in educational supervision, sociology, Spanish, speech, teaching of geology and teaching of physics.

The report emphasized that it is the Higher Board's duty under the law to consider new degree programs at the state's institutions. So far as master's work is concerned, the report said, "it should be state policy for different institutions to emphasize different disciplines or different specialties within disciplines in order to provide the necessary range of programs with minimum application, maximum economy, and the highest possible quality."

New Courts System Jurisdiction Outlined By Chief Judge Roberts

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer
Judge J. W. H. Roberts, chief judge of the new District Court which will take jurisdiction from the present court system December 1 today outlined cases for which court appearance may be waived and offenses for which court appearance will be mandatory.

The new District Court system, including the District Court itself and salaried magistrates working under the direction of the court, will replace the system of inferior courts now in effect, ranging from justices of the Peace to Recorders Courts.

Magistrates under the system, Judge Roberts explained, will be allowed to accept pleas of guilty and collect fines in such criminal cases as directed by the chief judge.

Cases according to Judge Roberts that magistrates will be allowed to accept guilty pleas for include, generally, any first offense criminal case in which the fine (not including court costs) is $50 or less.

Speeding violations (first offense in 12 months) to which guilty pleas will be accepted, include speeding up to 15 miles per hour over the applicable speed limit. Fines include a graduated scale of up to $15 for speeding 15 miles over the limit.

Other violations set to be handled by magistrates on pleas of guilty include driving without or with an expired, operators license (not including revoked or suspended license) and driving the wrong way on a dual lane highway ($25 and costs); improper passing, driving too slowly, failure to dim lights and litterbugging ($10 and costs); parking violations, violation of vehicle inspection law, exceeding a safe speed, following too closely, failure to stop for a red light or stop sign, failure to yield right of way, improper equipment and any other traffic violation for which court appearance is not mandatory (costs).

Traffic offenses for which court appearance is mandatory include all pleas of not guilty, all felonies and all cases involving a second moving traffic violation within 12 months.

In addition, cases involving personal injury accidents or collisions resulting in total property damage exceeding $100, violations resulting in total property damage under the influence cases, careless and reckless driving and exceeding the applicable speed limit by over 15 miles per hour or exceeding 75 miles per hour, must be heard by the District Court and cannot be disposed of by a magistrate.

Cozart's Bandit Is Identified

A Goldsboro man is being hunted by Greenville police for the armed robbery at a supermarket here Friday afternoon. A warrant charging Donnell L. Carter, Negro, of Goldsboro, with highway robbery was issued yesterday afternoon by Greenville police, according to Chief H.F. Lawson. Carter has DONNELL L. CARTER also been charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill. Lawson said Carter has been identified as the man who took $6,134 from Carlton Cozart, co-owner of Cozart's Supermarket at the intersection of Dickinson Avenue and Hooker Road about 5:55 p.m. Friday.

Austerity Plan Being Readied For France

PARIS (AP) — France's 1969 atomic test program in the South Pacific will be canceled and credits will be reduced for the supersonic transport plane Concorde as part of the French austerity program to save the franc, Premier Maurice Couve de Murville announced today. Couve de Murville gave the National Assembly the news on civilian and military projects that will suffer in a cutback of the 1969 budget deficit from 11.7 billion francs—$2.34 billion—to 6.354 billion francs—$1.7 billion.

President Charles de Gaulle announced the deficit cut Sunday night in a radio address, but left it up to the premier to spell out the details. Couve de Murville said the military budget will be trimmed by 400 million francs—$80 million—and that the 1969 atomic test program cannot be held. During this year's test series, France's first hydrogen devices were exploded.

The Concorde supersonic transport project is a joint venture with Great Britain. Its costs have ballooned from an estimated $448 million in 1966 to about $2 billion. The cut announced by Couve de Murville will be $12 million in the French contribution for 1969. It was not known how much delay this might cause in the program. The first prototype is scheduled to fly late in December. The premier said that a 4.25 per cent payroll tax will be canceled, and adjustments made in the added value tax to compensate for the loss in revenue. This is intended as an aid to exporters. The added value tax does not apply to exports. The elimination of the payroll tax will apply to all employers.

DMZ Invaded By Allied Infantry

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese infantrymen invaded the demilitarized zone today for the first time since President Johnson called the bombing halt Nov. 1. American infantrymen, planes and artillery were reported fighting an enemy force 500 yards inside the southern half of the zone just above Con Thien. The South Vietnamese reported at least three North Vietnamese killed in a brief clash seven miles to the east, about a mile inside the DMZ northwest of Gio Linh. By late afternoon there were no reports of any U.S. or government casualties. The U.S. Command said the Marines entered the DMZ because intelligence reports indicated enemy activity creating a possible threat to U.S. forces at Con Thien. A spokesman said about 9:50 a.m. a reconnaissance patrol from the 3rd Marine Division ran into enemy troops that fired assault rifles and .50-caliber machine guns from fortified positions. The patrol returned the fire, and an hour later Marine reinforcements pushed into the DMZ. The spokesman said the fact that the Leathernecks made contact "is a fairly good confirmation" of intelligence reports indicating a threat to Con Thien. South Vietnamese headquarters said it sent a reconnaissance patrol into the southern half of the DMZ "to locate enemy mortar positions that have been firing on South Vietnamese units operating south of the DMZ."

Over $100,000 The United Fund Campaign for Pitt County has passed the $100,000 mark with a total collection of $107,327.80 reported in the most recent tabulations last Friday. This amount represents more than the total of 1967's collection. With favorable reports being received from a number of firms who have yet to finish their campaigns, the chances for reaching the $130,000 goal established for 1968 seem very good, according to Chairman Bill Glidewell. "A sense of urgency among both the contributor and solicitor will give us a victorious campaign," Glidewell commented in expressing confidence that the Pitt County goal will soon be reached.

Saigon Envoy Said In Paris

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON
Associated Press Writer
PARIS (AP) — A mystery envoy from Saigon was reported in Paris today preparing for the arrival soon of Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky. This indicated South Vietnam's boycott of the Paris peace talks is nearing its end. Qualified informants said if all goes well Ky is likely to arrive with a South Vietnamese delegation by next week, clearing the way for the resumption of the negotiations that have been suspended since Nov. 6. An American-South Vietnamese agreement on the terms of Saigon's participation in the conference is imminent, according to reports from both Saigon and Washington. President Nguyen Van Thieu is expected to announce his government's readiness to participate in the Paris talks with the United States, North Vietnam and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front in a few days.

Informants said the mystery man from Saigon arrived during the weekend to arrange the many protocol details connected with the reception and accommodation of the South Vietnamese vice president. He was reported to be a high official in Ky's own office, but the South Vietnamese mission withheld his name "for reasons of security." The official will be returning to Saigon in the next two days or so, sources said. High State Department sources in Washington viewed the situation with "utmost caution" and none would venture a guess whether announcement of a U.S.-South Vietnamese agreement might come in hours or days.

PTI Trustees Reminded Students Grants Need Local Funds

The Board of Trustees of Pitt Technical Institute were told Monday night that student aid and loan programs are benefiting a large number of area students and the prospects for additional funds seems likely. However, George S. McRorie who directs Student financial aid said that with increased grants from various sources they have to be met with local participation funds.

Work Study program and has application for Educational Opportunity Grants. Pitt Tech is one of three schools which have the College Work Study program whereby students needing employment can be used in various capacities at the Institute. Under the student loan program students obtain loans and start repayment nine months after they graduate at an yearly interest rate of three per cent. They have a maximum of ten years to repay the loan.

"I think our College Work Study program must have saved 25-30 students from dropping out of school," McRorie informed the board. Local funds have been solicited from area citizens to help meet the local part of some of the matching federal grants. Based on projected programs, it is anticipated that around $5,000 will be needed in local money to obtain the new and expanded student assistance programs.

It was pointed out that there is a need for local scholarships from within the county which would make it possible for a needy student to continue his or her education after high school. Architect George Shoe reported that the new addition to the Pitt Tech campus is proceeding at "a rapid rate and appears that the construction will stay ahead of schedule." President Bill Fulford reported on a proposed visit by a team from the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools slated next spring to look into accreditation by the Association. The board adopted formally a series of policies and regulations governing employment and admission standards for degree and diploma programs. President Fulford outlined to the trustees several new programs which are on the drawing board and may be announced soon to the public. Dr. Robert Lee Humber, chairman presided at the night session.

Final Returns

RALEIGH (AP) — Final returns certified today by the North Carolina Board of Elections showed that Democrat Bob Scott defeated Republican Jim Gardner for governor by a margin of 84,157 votes. Scott, who will be inaugurated as governor Jan. 3, received 821,232 votes to Gardner's 737,075. The board canvassed and certified the returns from the Nov. 5 election. President-elect Richard Nixon carried the state by a margin of 131,004 over runner-up George Wallace. Nixon received 627,192 votes, Wallace 496,188 and Vice President Humphrey 464,113.

No Room For Self-Expression

MOSCOW (AP) — Conservative Soviet artists were told at the opening of their national congress today that "quests for self expression" have no place in Soviet art. Representatives of the 12,000-member Union of Artists, all practitioners of "Socialist realism," began a three-day meeting in the Hall of Columbus in central Moscow.

WEATHER FORECAST — Showers and thunderstorms are forecast Tuesday night from the Gulf Coast through the Ohio and Tennessee valleys. Rain is predicted in Oregon, there will be showers with some snow in the higher elevations of the southern Plateaus and there will be snow flurries in the northern Rockies. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Men Who Go Down To The Sea Still Pay Big Price

By MARIS ROSS
LONDON (UPI)—The men who go down to the sea in ships are paying a bitter price. Despite modern navigational aids, the number of shipwrecks in the world is going up. Despite radio communications, ships still disappear on the high seas as mysteriously as did the crew of the Marie Celeste, the ghost vessel found in the Mediterranean with sails set and not a soul aboard in 1872.

Last year 337 ships totaling 832,803 tons of the world's merchant fleet foundered, collided, caught fire, ran aground or were otherwise lost. These figures from Lloyd's Register of Shipping in London were the worst recorded in peacetime.

Fifteen of these ships simply vanished—not just small ones like the 650-ton West German trawler Johannes Kruss, last reported in the North Atlantic fishing grounds near Greenland, but big freighters like the 8,338-ton Sante Fe of Chile, traveling down the Pacific seaboard with a cargo of iron ore. Nobody knows for sure what happened to them but they probably sank in bad weather. Altogether more than 1,300 ships have died alone this century. Among the worst tragedies was the 10,000-ton liner Waratah, which disappeared off the South African coast in 1909 with 400 passengers and crew, never to be seen again.

Shipping experts say it is difficult to pin a general cause to the increasing number of casualties, but nearly half are due to stranding on rocks, sand banks or sunken wrecks.

Hit Standards

They feel the figures show some countries, including those operating flags of convenience, should raise their standards of maintenance, crew training and navigation.

Nations with the biggest fleets, Japan, Britain and the United States, have a low rate of loss. The countries with much smaller fleets, Lebanon, Hong Kong, Panama, Greece, Italy, Liberia and Brazil, lost the most ships last year.

One British shipping expert said: "If we regard our own standards as among the best, clearly others are second best or third best."

"Generally one can say that two elements are involved: personnel—that is the masters and officers—and equipment."

"One could probably take the general view that equipment is not always up to standard. But if personnel have got indifferent equipment, then they should know its limitations and take account of it."

"Basically there is never any excuse for going aground if the ship has power and can impell itself."

"Navigation is essentially, like democracy, a matter for eternal vigilance. It's hard rule to follow but one must always be intensely careful."

The Inter-Governmental Maritime Consultative Organization (IMCO) is looking into these questions of equipment, crew training and supervision. It is up to individual governments and ship owners to take action on them.

Last year the biggest casualty was the 61,263-ton Liberian tanker Torrey Canyon which went aground off Land's End, the southwestern tip of England, and leaked thousands of tons of oil polluting beaches for miles around. The Royal Air Force bombed the wreck to try to set the oil alight.

A British parliamentary committee on oil pollution has just recommended that IMCO ask member countries to start courses for tanker officers on safety and navigation, with minimum standards enforced by an international inspectorate.

British Debating Race Relations

By LYNN HEINERLING
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — Britain's new race relations act went into effect Monday amid a stormy public debate over the proper way to approach the nation's growing race problem.

The act empowers the Race Relations Board to investigate and seek compliance with the law over a wide field of alleged acts of discrimination against Britain's 1 million colored people—3 per cent of the population.

Up to now, the board was limited to investigating complaints of discrimination in certain public places. This resulted largely in efforts to conciliate between Asian, West Indian and African immigrants and pub owners who refused to serve them drinks.

Now the board's investigative powers have been broadened to acts of discrimination in the provision of any goods, facilities or services. This includes housing, hotels, educational institutions, banking, insurance, entertainment, travel and the service of any business, profession, trade or public authority.

Ten days ago, Enoch Powell, a rebellious Conservative foe of colored immigration, proposed in a speech that Britain rigidly limit the flow of immigrants and set up a government ministry to assist the repatriation of those already here.

He predicted there would be 4.5 million colored people in Britain by the end of the century, with whole communities becoming predominantly or exclusively Afro-Asian. There would be, he said, "Several Washingtons in England," unless this was done.

"The people of England will not endure it," Powell said. "I do not believe it is in human nature that a country should passively watch the transformation of whole areas which lie at the heart of it into alien territory."

Powell's speech triggered a public outcry, but the attorney general declined to take action under a law prohibiting public acts likely to stir up racial hatred.

Mark Bonham Carter, chairman of the Race Relations Board, said at a news conference Monday race relations in Britain "are much better than you would conclude they were if you only heard the speeches of some politicians." But he said the new act does not allow the board to proceed against politicians or others discussing racial questions because this is in the attorney general's jurisdiction.

Gadget Signals Car Receivers

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — To keep from going out to a cold car on winter mornings, Carl Chada has developed an electronic gadget that will start his car, the heater and the defroster while he remains in the house. The gadget sends a radio signal to a small receiver in his car's ash tray. The receiver is hooked up to the car's electrical system.

Chada said he has turned his patents disclosures over to his employer, Westinghouse Electric Co.

Avers 'Real Prison Brutality' Is Idleness

By MIKE FEINSILVER

WASHINGTON (UPI)—By 11 a.m. of an ordinary working day in a granite government building, Myrl Alexander was ruffled. His white shirt and white hair awry, he yanked open his brown necktie and freed his throat.

From it poured an astonishing mimicry of the dialogue he had heard in hundreds of jails between the prisoners on one side of the bars and their captors on the other side. A poison stream of sexual epithets, curses and underworld slang sprouted from him.

His words put his visitor in jail. He spoke softly, but the visitor could hear and clang of prison life.

"Brutality!" he exploded, halting the monologue. "The real brutality in prison is idleness."

Chief Jailor

As director of the Federal Bureau of Prisons, Alexander, 58, is the nation's chief jailer and the foremost overseer of a system he charges with failure.

Of the 200,000 persons in prison in America on any given day, 96 per cent eventually will be released—and two-thirds will be jailed for new offenses.

This, contends Alexander, is the real "law and order" issue in America—barely mentioned in the political campaign—the ineffectiveness of the entire apparatus—police, prosecutors, courts and corrections systems—"to intervene in a criminal career."

"We all recognize," he said, somewhat wearily, "that the traditional institutions of the past haven't produced the desired results."

"Simply removing an offender to an institution as punishment often only compounds the problem of reintegrating him into the community as a law abiding citizen. All too frequently it costs him his job, severs his family ties and pins on him a label that makes all of his problems more difficult to overcome."

"So as a means of punishment and as an instrument with which to change criminal behavior, imprisonment is still a failure."

"It must be acknowledged that even among the best correctional institutions at least 30 per cent of the inmates become repeaters. Why is this so?" he asked.

"Is it because prisons as devices for the treatment and control of offenders have never been fully tested?"

Through reform, he would like to test them.

Four Changes

Starting his career as a prison caseworker at the Federal Penitentiary in Atlanta in 1931, and later warden at Danbury, Conn., before becoming director of the Center for the Study of Crime, Delinquency and Corrections at Southern Illinois University and then federal prisons director, Alexander makes four major charges against the nation's system of arresting, sentencing and imprisoning lawbreakers:

1. Sentences are handed down for the offense, not for the offender.
2. Prisons fail to offer their inhabitants an alternative way of life by training them for a noncriminal career.
3. Police, courts and prisons often act at odds with one another.

4. Despite almost universal condemnation of the practice, even by the public, ill-matched prisoners are still thrown together—the young car thief penalized for his first offense with the hardened criminal who knows no livelihood outside of lawlessness.

What Alexander urges, above all else, is a system that would reform the offender rather than merely punish the offense—to change the prison population, not merely keep it away from society.

But first society would have to accept the idea that the denial of freedom is sufficient punishment, that vengeance is not the prison's purpose.

The tool of reform on which Alexander puts first priority is the indeterminate sentence. It would allow experts to study the "deficiencies" of persons convicted of crime and to retain the prisoner long enough to correct the deficiencies—educational, occupational, attitudinal or psychological.

Piecemeal Freedom

Release, when it came, would not simply put the convict on the street with a few dollars and a bus ticket. Freedom would come piecemeal, with the inmate learning to live with it, through work-release programs, weekend leaves, outside classes, halfway houses and similar programs, all of which are just starting to be used.

The authorities at the Federal Penitentiary at Atlanta remember the outrage that was expressed by the inmates when it was decided to allow the prisoners to determine what they would do on Sunday mornings. They were free to decide whether to attend religious services, go to the library, engage in athletics or simply spend the time in their cells.

The prisoners were outraged by the necessity of making a choice. They had been so well trained for prison life and its regimentation that they could no longer cope with freedom. They had become professional prisoners.

Don't Wait On Mighty Oaks

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The old saying "mighty oaks from little acorns grow" is still true but the U.S. Forest Service advises would-be oak lovers not to wait for it to happen.

The Forest Service says if a person pushed an acorn about an inch into the ground this fall he'll have an oakling next spring. But that's where the speed stops.

It will take between 30 and 40 years before the oak is tall enough to sit under and enjoy.

Abernathy Due In Hyde County

SWAN QUARTER, N.C. (AP) — The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, is to visit tonight and Wednesday in Hyde County, where for weeks Negroes have been protesting school desegregation policies.

He plans to tour the north-eastern North Carolina county and confer with Negro leaders.

There are only three schools in the agricultural and fishing county where Negroes outnumber whites. Two of the schools are predominantly Negro and the other predominantly white.

The county board of education has submitted a plan, approved by federal officials, under which, over the next three years, the two Negro schools would be closed and all the county's 1,400 pupils would be in the white school. Negroes want all three schools to remain open on an integrated basis.

Quick Heat From Two Burners

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—One of the two giant burners at a local steel mill consumes as much natural gas in an hour as the average family needs to heat a home, heat water, burn refuse, dry clothes—as well as do the cooking—for more than two years.

The burners, designed by the Natural Cylinder Gas division of Chemetron Corporation, are used to increase the scrap content in steel made in the mill's basic oxygen furnaces. The behemoths can heat more than 80 tons of scrap from room temperature to 1,200 degrees F. in less than 15 minutes.

One Family Is Used To Salute

GRANITE CITY, Ill. (UPI)—The Charles N. Clark family is used to saluting. Son John Clark, 19, is the latest to be inducted into the army.

Young Clark's father is a retired army major. Clark's two other sons, Charles L. Clark, 27, and Richard J. Clark, 21, are serving in Vietnam. A fourth son, Paul T. Clark, was in the service until 1964. Clark's daughter, Penny, 26, is a former member of the Women's Army Corps.

Contraceptive Nut Is Hunted

LIMA, Peru (UPI)—A joint Peruvian-Italian team of scientists has begun a study of all the varieties of beans grown in Peru in a search for one type that secretes a chemical that can be used for contraceptive vaccinations.

Alfredo Brazzoduro, an Italian chemist, said the vaccination could be applied to men and be effective as long as a year.

Postal Holiday

Postmaster Joseph C. Dudley reminded today the Greenville Post Office and the East Carolina University Station will close Nov. 28 (Thanksgiving Day).

The following services will be provided: Special delivery within the city; holiday schedules for the collection of mail will be observed; a city-wide collection will be made from street letter boxes, beginning at 5 p.m., and all outgoing mail will receive normal dispatch.

There will be no delivery of mail by city or rural carriers; however, regular lock-box service will be provided. There will be no window service.

Charge Driver In Monday Wreck

Bennie Roy Dail, 63 of 806 Ward St. was charged with operating under the influence yesterday following investigation of a 4:51 p.m. collision on Fifth Street, 25 feet West of the Hill-top Street intersection.

Officers reported the Dail car collided with a vehicle driven by Alice Allgood Clark of 2405 East Fourth St.

Damage to the two cars was set at $250 each.

Police reported a passenger in the Clark car was injured in the collision.

You Have To Control Personal Involvement

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — Gloria C. Matthews is a cheerful woman, but her eyes have looked upon more tragedy, squalor and hopelessness than kindly sentimentalists could bear.

"You have to overcome personal involvement," she says, knowing even as she says it that personal involvement is always there just below the layer of impartial practicality that people in her business have to cultivate if they're to be of any help at all.

She is executive director of Foster Parents Plan, Inc., a non-profit, non-sectarian, non-political organization that provides for needy children and their families.

She joined the organization 27 years ago and, "My first field trip was to postwar Europe and it really staggered me," she recalls.

Actually, she's still staggered "as I go around year after year and it seems there are more and more families in need all the time."

"It can be discouraging. But I know there has been success, too."

So far the PLAN has helped rehabilitate 110,000 children of 30 nationalities. Right now it is caring for more than 50,000 children in the countries where it is operating—Greece, Hong Kong, Korea, the Philippines, Vietnam, Brazil, Columbia, Ecuador and Peru.

"The children are either going to elementary school or are graduates, and they're healthy, and that's a small dent. A small dent!" she says with pride.

Miss Matthews, back from a six-week tour of four South American offices, sits in her office at the PLAN's international headquarters in New York and through the glass partition she can look out into the warehouse where the last of thousands of packages for Foster Parents are being processed for shipment to children for Christmas.

In Brazil, where the PLAN started operating in September, 1967, the plight of women in the very poor areas is sad indeed. The average woman, from her 14th year to about her 35th, "will have 10 live births, 10 abortions, and after all this she will lose five of her living babies," says Miss Matthews.

In South America, most of the PLAN families live in the areas of cities that the government is refilling—over swamps, garbage dumps. There are no playgrounds or even streets to play ball in; there is usually no electricity and water is brought once a day by a truck that dumps it into big troughs.

Says Miss Matthews: "The PLAN says every child aged 6 to 12 goes to school, but it's easier said than done. Primary school is free, but the child needs uniforms and shoes for school.

"Say, there are three youngsters in a family that needs help. As the oldest gets to be 10 or 12, his parents say he's old enough to go out to work. The social worker then has to talk his parents into letting him stay in school. It means fighting tradition."

"The kids don't have decent places to study. A family will eat, sleep, do everything, in one room. And who can help them study? The mother has had one year of primary school, the father maybe two."

"When the family comes to our office the mother rarely can write, but she stands proudly while little Juan painstakingly signs."

The toughest part of her job, she says, is turning families down. "There are so many that meet our criteria. In each country there are more than a thousand families' applications pending. When we get to that point we close applications. It's worse to give mothers hope when there isn't any."

She's Still Waiting To Hear Bells Ring At The Age Of 50

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Is it possible for a 50-year-old woman to still hear "bells" ring when she meets the right man? I have a friend who has had many opportunities to marry, but she has held off because she was waiting to hear "bells" ring. Should she wait any longer? Or should she settle for less?

CONSTANT READER
DEAR READER: Those "bells" don't ring out the same message to everyone. To some it signals "the last call for supper" while to others, it's a prelude to a heavenly romance. Some bells are cracked, and some listeners have a hearing loss, so tell your friend not to wait too long or she's apt to wind up with the Good Humor Man.

DEAR ABBY: To my great disappointment, I find that my wife's obstetrician does not permit the husband to be present in the delivery room to witness his wife giving birth. I would like to know from whom these OB doctors expect to get paid for their services.

RESENTFUL
DEAR RESENTFUL: The husband usually pays, I'm sure. But he pays for the services the doctor performs—NOT for

Garden Club Met Thursday Night

Members of the Home Pride Garden Club brought handmade Christmas decorations to their meeting Thursday night and exchanged ideas and shared methods.

Mrs. Ledyard Ross, president, presided over the business session. Plans were completed for the annual Christmas party which will be held Dec. 19 at the Fiddlers III.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Jack Weeden, and co-hostess Mrs. Robert Saeed.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. John Jett of Fort Belvoir, Va., are visiting friends and relatives in Greenville.

Jack Hardee has returned home from Park View Hospital, Rocky Mount.

Mrs. Lela Carson has returned home from Pitt Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Roy Davenport of Winterville and Ashley C. Speir of Tarboro have returned from Sumter, S. C., where they attended the funeral of Mrs. Roy Hardee Tucker, the former Roland Jenkins of Greenville.

Miss Mary E. Bell is in Orangeburg, S. C., due to the death of her brother, John Lawton Bell, who died Sunday.

a front row seat to the "performance."

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are in our forties and this is the second marriage for both of us. We were recently blessed with a beautiful baby girl who was born 5 months early. (She is now 8 months old.) My husband's whole family, including his ex-wife and teen-aged children, know nothing about our marriage and baby. He says he prefers to keep it that way for the time being as they may be bitter or angry with him.

This is so hard for me, Abby. I should think his family would be happy to know that he is not alone, but happily married and the father of a beautiful baby girl.

Should I take it upon myself to send them pictures of me and the baby? Or should I wait until he is ready, which could be in a year or more?

DEAR BEWILDERED: DON'T send any pictures of yourself and the baby. I think your husband is being childish to "hide" the truth from his family, but if that's the way he wants it, let it lay.

DEAR ABBY: I offered to give a bride-to-be a bridal shower, and I asked her for a list of guests she wanted me to include.

On her list were two ladies who are bitter enemies. (This is no secret.)

I told the bride-to-be that I couldn't invite those two ladies to the same party, and suggested that one of them be put on another list.

The bride's mother then informed me that SHE was responsible for the guest list, and that I had no authority to take anyone off that list. She said she had never heard about the "feud" between these two women, which seems impossible to me.

What does one do in such an awkward position?

More To Be Done About Marijuana

It is with a sense of appreciation and satisfaction that we have noted in the past couple of months an increased activity on the part of the state bureau of investigation in cracking down on marijuana in North Carolina.

During the past week-end SBI agents joined with local police in Salisbury and Rocky Mount in raids which netted several caches of the illegal drug and brought the arrests of fourteen people, most of them college students.

The growing threat of marijuana to North Carolinians of college age and younger is generally recognized by the people of this state. Although the increased efforts of law enforcement agencies to cope with this menace have been slow in coming, present signs point to a new recognition of the problem. More than that, they point to a new resolve on the part of officials responsible for law enforcement that forceful action will be taken.

Attorney General elect Robert Morgan recently pointed to the need for an expanded force of SBI agents to deal with the marijuana traffic in North Carolina. Obviously if the state is to cope effectively with the traffic in this drug, it must take preventive measures at the local law enforcement level as well as at the state level.

The presence of marijuana has been most in evidence in the locales of military bases and college communities. Greenville already has been the scene of several arrests in connection with marijuana. Unless we are to close our eyes to reality, this community must recognize that the quantities of marijuana which have come to public view in Greenville is just a minute fraction of traffic in the drug in this community.

More needs to be done on the state level to halt the marijuana traffic, and certainly more needs to be done on the local level here to cope with that traffic which tends to find brisk business in college communities.

Can Any Driver Make Less Of An Effort?

Highway Patrolmen all over the state will be making a special effort during the four-day Thanksgiving holiday week-end to prevent accidents and deaths.

Can the drivers of North Carolina afford to make any less effort to save their own lives?

The irony of most holidays in the United States is that those responsible for highway safety put forth their greatest effort while far too many drivers leave it to these officers to make the highways safe.

No matter how great the effort of the officers, the traffic toll taken between now and Sunday is going to depend largely upon the care exercised by individual drivers. If the patrolmen could make the highways safe during the holiday, they would. Unfortunately, they can make the highways only as safe as the other motorists will allow.

Man Is Changed By Marriage

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — There is no institution that changes a man more than marriage. And, alas, not always for the better. Isn't that true, ladies? As a matter of fact, one of the big surprises of the long matrimonial journey to most women is how their husbands slowly but almost inevitably transform themselves from Dr. Jekylls to Mr. Hydes.

HAL BOYLE

And the trend seems to be irreversible in most cases. There is usually no turning back for a husband once he's passed the point of no return on his road to monstrosity. The wife is stuck with a surly brute forever.

Just how does marriage actually change a man? Well, of course, there are as many endless variations to the common pattern as there are husbands, but here are a few familiar examples:

He used to hang on her every word. Now days go by and he never listens to a thing she says. He can't even hear her when the water isn't running.

There was a time when he vowed he'd swim the deepest sea or climb the highest mountain for her. Today if she asks him to bring something up from the basement he whimpers, "What, and risk spending two weeks in the hospital with a hernia?"

Fondly she remembers the dear dead past when they thought nothing of dancing the night away together. Now, if she can even get him out on the dance floor at all, he gives her the old once around the floor Mama and let's go back to the table my feet hurt routine.

During the courtship he loved to light her cigarettes for her and have her blow out the match. But what is his present attitude? He is trying to get her to give up smoking altogether — not for her health, but simply so he'll be able to afford more expensive cigars.

Before the wedding he told her, "Don't worry, baby, I'm not marrying you for your cooking." After the wedding he tells her glumly, "How come I got the only girl in all the 50 states who can manage to burn Jello?"

Occasionally, a wife pensively wonders what she could possibly have done to turn her husband from the nicest young fellow in the neighborhood into a gruff, surly old meanie.

But all she did was what he asked her to — she married him. He did all the rest.

Quotes

"Peace, above all things, is to be desired; but blood must sometimes be spilled to obtain it on equable and lasting terms." — Andrew Jackson.

"Isn't life that matters! It's the other courage you bring to it." — Sir Hugh Walpole.

"Instead of worrying about how to suppress the youth revolution, we of the older generation should be worrying about how to sustain it." — John D. Rockefeller III.

SUPPORT YOUR FIFTY-FIRST STATE UNITED FUND

NOT THE WAY HE PLANNED IT!

By JAMES KILPATRICK

The Fifty-First State?

SAN JUAN — Is Puerto Rico likely to become the fifty-first State in the American Union? The question runs through every conversation in the coffee houses and bars of this restless, active island. Even Spiro Agnew, vacationing here a few days ago, hopped foot-in-mouth into the boiling discussion.

Just a year and a half ago, in a referendum on the issue, Puerto Ricans voted decisively to retain their unique Commonwealth status. Most observers thought the statehood movement had subsided. But on November 5, to the astonishment of practically everyone, the New Progressive Party won a decisive victory with millionaire Luis Ferre as its candidate for Governor.

Ferre is 100 per cent for statehood. So is Jorge Luis Cordova Diaz, who will go to Washington as the island's new resident commissioner. So, alas, was Mr. Agnew.

On the surface, it might appear that Ferre's election should be interpreted as a rousing reversal of the 1967 plebiscite. Observers here do not see it quite that way. The victory scarcely had been proclaimed before Cordova Diaz himself was watering down the statehood fires. It could well be 25 years, he cautioned his beaming constituents, before Puerto Rico gets a star in the flag. Meanwhile, he preferred to read the returns chiefly as a mandate for internal reform.

My own conversations with Puerto Ricans tend to confirm that view. While statehood surely figured in the election, a far greater factor was the oldest political factor of all — an overpowering desire for change. For the past 28 years, Puerto Rico has prospered under the benevolent authority of Luis Munoz Marin. He came to power as leader of the Senate in 1940, became the island's first elected Governor in 1948, held the office for 16 productive years, and then hand-picked his successor in 1964. He was, in effect, the Bolivar of twentieth century Puerto Rico, a poet, an administrator, a builder.

Now, though he will continue to serve as president of the Senate, Munoz is effectively out of power. One is reminded of Churchill's defeat after the triumphs of World War II. How sharper than a serpent's tooth it is, to have a thankless child!

Surely Puerto Ricans have much for which to thank Munoz. The island still is pitifully poor, but gains, over the past 28 years have been prodigious. Illiteracy swiftly becomes a thing of the past. If about 12 per cent — the problem is largely a problem of retraining and upgrading. Thousands of skilled and semi-skilled jobs, especially in construction and tourist services, are waiting for men to fill them.

The peasant in the interior has benefited from new roads, new schools, new markets. Power lines stride across the mountains. The urban slum dweller has seen public housing offer avenues for escape. These people were the source of Munoz's strength — but this autumn, the slums were a forest of blue palm tree flags, proclaiming a new allegiance to a different party.

Perhaps Munoz taught the lessons of freedom, opportunity and democracy better than he knew. His government became an extension of one-man rule. Puerto Rico has a single police force for the entire island, a single fire department, a single water and sewerage authority. The government owns the only power system, controls TV and radio, runs all the schools through a single gubernatorial appointee. The government is the largest grower of cattle and cane, the only grower of pineapples; its own vast tracts of land for undefined

O'Brien Is The Buffer

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Chances are now better than even that Lawrence F. O'Brien will finally agree to stay on as Democratic National Chairman, ending any chance of a bruising battle for control of the defeated Democratic party machinery.

Vice President Hubert Humphrey probably could dictate selection of a new chairman in any event, but internal pressures on him are growing from different factions, each with a claim on Humphrey's loyalty.

If O'Brien agreed to stay, that would end the matter. Just back from a vacation trip to Ireland, O'Brien had all but decided to get out of politics and into a lucrative private job.

Among Humphrey men who want the party chairmanship are William Connell, his long-time administrative assistant; Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma, his pre-convention chairman; and Robert Short, chief campaign fund raiser. Another claimant is Missouri State Chairman Delton Houtchens, promised the post by Humphrey in return for the support of Missouri's convention delegation.

But Houtchens, although contributing some $10,000 of his own money to Humphrey's campaign, infuriated the Humphrey camp by taking a soft line on George Wallace and failing to work hard for Humphrey.

Other Democrats with some support include former Gov. Terry Sanford of North Carolina, who headed Humphrey's citizens' committee, and Ohio's defeated senatorial nominee, John J. Gilligan, who was privately sounded out last week by California National Committeeman Steve Rinehardt.

Although a few party pros were critical of O'Brien's performance early in the campaign, it is inconceivable, if Humphrey can persuade him to stay on, that there would be any resistance.

Nixon Housecleaning
A major patronage housecleaning of perhaps 2,000 top-grade Federal jobs, exempted from the usual civil service safeguards, is high on President-elect Nixon's priority list of ways to rebuild the Republican party.

Oddly enough, some Democratic professionals are not unhappy about Mr. Nixon's plan. These party men are still sulking over the fact that neither President Kennedy nor President Johnson took full advantage of civil service loopholes. They want Mr. Nixon to reestablish an old principle — to the party belong the spoils.

But it won't happen overnight. A sudden housecleaning of sub-Cabinet officials could bring the government almost to a standstill.

This caveat won't change the underlying policy now being drafted by Nixon aides who are scouring the country for Nixon-style Republicans to feed into the Federal bureaucracy, particularly in jobs outside Washington. An executive order expanding the list of exempted Schedule C jobs (now about 1,200) and the top-level non-career job list (now about 500) is a strong possibility to open up more field jobs, particularly regional and branch chiefs.

RALEIGH — Change is the essence of politics. And, this having been a political year, changes are in the making in Raleigh.

A new administration is taking over the executive branch of state government and new administrators are being named to replace many of those now in office. The process, which occurs every four years, is called "changing of the guard."

Among officials already resigned are two in departments in which a newly-elected official will take office in January. These are Myron McBryde, director of the State Bureau of Investigation (SBI), over which Attorney-General elect Robert Morgan will have authority, and O. Lee Searing, chief of state school food services in the Department of Public Instruction. Dr. A. Craig Phillips won election as new superintendent of public instruction.

Asked To Resign
Both men say either they were asked to resign or told they would not be retained.

Phillips denied that he demanded Searing's resignation but Searing said he was told he could expect to be replaced. Phillips said he had suggested it might be best for Searing to find another position.

In McBryde's case, it was widely known that Morgan was not satisfied with the performance nor the public image of the SBI and intended to reshape it. He made this clear repeatedly during his primary campaign against incumbent T. Bruton and afterward.

MyBryde, 44, a former FBI agent and an attorney, was appointed by Bruton in 1967 to replace SBI chief Walter Anderson who was fired.

York Leaving
Another top Moore administration official, Conservation and Development Board chairman J. W. (Willie) York is resigning his non-salaried post well in advance of expiration of his term.

York's decision to step aside is based on his wish to allow Gov.-elect Bob Scott choose his successor at the earliest possible date.

Some other officials whose terms do not expire until next June apparently intend to stay on. These include the State Highway chairman, Joseph M. Hunt, and others. Of course they might follow York's lead in stepping aside to facilitate Scott's setting up his own team.

Other changes are in the making. Scott has picked Ben Roney as his administrative assistant and reportedly has chosen a successor to Wayne Corpening as director of administration.

Continuity Preserved
Despite changes which are occurring or are in the making, an amount of continuity will be preserved.

Except for Phillips, the Council of State remains intact. The attorney general technically is not a member of the Council of State but advises it. These officials have the full authority and say-so over their respective departments and since incumbents were re-elected few if any changes are expected.

Strength For Today Lavish Holiday Spending Ahead

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

VIOLENCE
Never has the word "security" been used more often than today. The whole human race seems to long for security, and by a strange coincidence it happens that we probably have less security today than we have had in many centuries.

A thousand years ago there was indeed very little security. Nations were savage. No scientific alleviation of pain had arisen. Ignorance everywhere prevailed. But it is a disconcerting fact that today, with all the wonderful advantages we have, our life is plagued with more alarming insecurity than it has been for centuries.

Today at our home we listened to the wailing of a siren and concluded it was a fire. Some day that siren may sound alerting us to a bombing attack. Crime is increasing almost nine times as fast percentage-wise as the population. Every sixty seconds there is a violent crime committed in the United States. There is a murder every forty-three minutes. There is auto theft every forty-eight seconds. There is burglary every twenty seconds and an aggravated assault every two minutes. There are thousands of people in our large cities who would not think of emerging from their homes after dark.

What is the cause of all this violence? Is it the result of something that has been piling up for years? Cannot good government, education, and the influence of the Church turn this situation about and give us peace again?

We have not confronted a more difficult situation in centuries.

By ELMER ROESSNER

The largest, maddest, most lavish holiday shopping season in history starts this week.

More money will be spent, more gifts will be purchased and the widest and wildest assortment of presents, many of them kooky, will be wrapped.

Here's why: Total personal income is at an all-time high. It was at an annual rate of $702 billion in October and if it rises $15 billion by December, as it did last year, it will be at a rate of $717 billion.

Despite the surtax, unemployment shrank and employment rose moderately in December and is now rising further as holiday hiring increases.

There is a vast spending mood, partly because many people are convinced that more inflation is certain. There will be more flight from the dollar.

More Temptations, Too
There will be more things to buy. Sensing the surge of sales, manufacturers in almost all lines have been devising innovations to attract buyers and, where possible, to make obsolete earlier styles and designs.

They are trying to convince people that men smell evil unless doused with scents; that men's belts are out of date unless they have silver or other metal adornments; that narrow neckties are passe; that men must wear more color; and that every male is half naked unless he is in a fur coat.

Did you see the cover and the color photos in the Nov. 25 Newsweek?

All the to-do in men's fashions is not part of a cosmic trend of men to free themselves from drabness. It's simply the result of efforts by manufacturers to harvest those loose dollars.

And women's fashions! After the girls have been persuaded to display their legs

In toys, the variety is so great that it will make another column, and much of it is in the higher-price brackets. A power bicycle for little Sandra? A snowmobile for Willy? You'll be able to buy them and lots, lots more.

Jewelry offerings are fantastic, and it's not yet after Thanksgiving. These reflect the urge to hedge. Many men believe that the value of a diamond approaching a football in size will increase as the purchasing power of the dollar fritters away. Even in the serious-minded Wall Street Journal jewelry store ads have been gaining on bond houses.

Tucker, Jamieson, Ferguson And Vincent Get Other Grid Honors

David Harrington, fullback for Rose High School, received top honors last night at the annual Touchdown Club Banquet.

Harrington, who led the North-eastern Conference in scoring, and who picked up over 1,100 yards in rushing, was named as the Best Back and the Most Valuable Player.

Other awards went to Tom Jamieson, Richard Tucker, Ralph Vincent and Linwood Ferguson.

Jamieson, a senior who started the year at quarterback, but ended up as a fast-running half-back, was chosen as the Most Improved Player by his teammates.

Tucker, who played the interior line on both offense and defense, picked up the Best Line-man Award, while Vincent, who played beside him, was named as the Best Blocker by the Phantoms.

Linwood Ferguson, who missed the latter part of the season, was honored by his teammates as the Best Defensive Player for the Phants.

In other awards, Bill Eling, it he said. "But they're correct. Let's face it. If you don't have the grades, you won't get in a college."

Harp said that size is not as important in football any more. It used to be a prime factor, but the attitudes are changing, and there is a place for the smaller player.

"A sense of humor helps too. This gets you over the rough places."

But Harp set down as the most important factor pride. "This is the element that makes a boy go beyond his capability. Many say this is born in a player, but I believe it can be developed."

Harp told the seniors to think back to their freshman year, and think of the first time they got into the game. "It was probably pretty bad," he said. "But you promised yourself that next time you'd do better. You were going to work hard and become a good player."

"Well, you're seniors now, and you've accomplished what you set out to do. You've developed pride."

Ohio State Grabs No. 1

By DAVE GOLLUST

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "We deserved it." This was Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes' reaction to news Monday night that his unbeaten Buckeyes had been voted No. 1 in the Associated Press' major college weekly football poll.

Hayes learned of the ranking just before he addressed a crowd of 1,100 persons at OSU's annual football banquet. He made the announcement and set off thunderous applause and cheers for his gridders, who were assembled around him on the speaker's platform.

"Without exception," Hayes said, "every man on the squad did the best job possible. They did 99 per cent of the work."

His Rose Bowl-bound Buckeyes crushed Michigan 50-14 Saturday to clinch the Big Ten title. OSU finished the regular season with a 9-0 record.

"I didn't have much to do with it actually," Hayes said. "I thought I coached better last year. But the boys made the difference."

"Our talent is diversified this season," Hayes said. "If we can't beat you one way, we'll beat you two other ways."

The Buckeyes topped the AP poll in 1954 and won the Rose Bowl that year, 20-7 over Southern California.

This year's Buckeyes also will face Southern Cal, which slipped from No. 1 to No. 2 in this week's poll and closes its regular season Saturday against Notre Dame.

Hayes cautioned his team against overconfidence but said he doubted the top rating would affect his team's attitude in the Rose Bowl.

"We've done a great job so far but we can't get fatheaded or we will blow everything," Hayes said. "This has been a year of great victories but there is one more great victory left to win—in Pasadena."

Hayes said the clash with

Southern California would pit his defense against the "best offensive back in the nation," O. J. Simpson.

"Our defense has to do its best, because we will be facing the best," Hayes said.

The top 20 teams, with first-place votes, records and total points:

1. Ohio State (21½)	9-0	935
2. So. Calif. (24½)	9-0	925
3. Penn State (3)	9-0	773
4. Georgia (1)	7-0-2	597
5. Kansas	9-1	524
6. Texas	7-1-1	494
7. Tennessee	7-1	446
8. Arkansas	9-1	394
9. Notre Dame	7-2	301
10. Houston	6-1-2	234
11. Oklahoma	6-3	213
12. Purdue	8-2	210
13. Michigan	8-2	189
14. Oregon State	7-3	96
15. Alabama	7-2	78
16. Missouri	7-3	66
17. Ohio U.	10-0	58
18. Auburn	6-3	38
19. Arizona	8-1	19
20. Arizona State	7-3	17

Jane Morris Wins Contest

Jane Morris of 508 E. 11th St. is the winner of the final week's Daily Reflector Football Contest. She correctly picked the winners in 25 of the 32 games in the contest.

Second place went to Jay Holmes of 802 Willow St. He picked the winners in 24 of the 32 games. Four other people also picked 24 correctly, but Holmes was nearest the point total with a guess of 96. Houston and Tulsa put together 106 points in their game, as Houston won 100-6.

"We've done a great job so far but we can't get fatheaded or we will blow everything," Hayes said. "This has been a year of great victories but there is one more great victory left to win—in Pasadena."

Davidson Solid Favorite To Take Another Southern Conference Title

By ED YOUNG

Associated Press Writer

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Lefty Driesell pronounces his 1968-69 Davidson basketball team "the best I've ever had," and if that doesn't scare the wits out of everybody else in the Southern Conference, nothing will.

With every starter back from a 1967-68 club that finished 24-5, won the SC's regular season and tournament championships, and ranked No. 8 in the nation, Driesell has every reason to feel bullish.

The only restraint on his optimism stems from a 24-game schedule that Driesell calls the Wildcats' "roughest in history"—one that lists only nine games against Southern Conference rivals.

Now that West Virginia, another perennial basketball power, has withdrawn from the SC, Davidson's conference worries would appear minimal. A chance exists, however, they may not be so minimal after all.

Fast-rising Richmond, with veteran players and some hot-shot newcomers, could cause the Wildcats plenty of concern. So, too, could faster-rising George Washington, which, ironically, was last in the SC in 1967-68.

The Citadel, East Carolina and Furman look like the best of the rest, with VMI and William and Mary probably bringing up the rear.

West Virginia's pullout from the Southern reduced the league to eight members. So, for the first time ever, every SC team will get invited to the championship tournament Feb. 28-March 1 in Charlotte.

Driesell, beginning his ninth season at Davidson, has produced teams with a 149-61 record — and ones that have captured the winner-take-all tournament two of the last three seasons.

All-America candidate Mike Maloy, Dave Moser, Wayne

Huckel, Jerry Kroll and Doug Cook, the five 1967-68 starters, return en masse — along with star benchwarmer Mike O'Neill. There are also the usual outstanding sophomores, but few probably will get a chance to play much this winter.

The Wildcats won 14 games in a row at the close of last season before finally losing to North Carolina in the NCAA tournament quarter-finals. Inside the SC, they lost one of 10 — 89-86 to West Virginia.

Richmond, 12-13 over-all and 8-8 in SC play last winter, has All-Southern Wilton Ford, Ken Foster, Picot Frazier, Frank Owens and ball-hawking Bobby Ukrop returning. The Spiders, much heavier than usual, also have possible stars on the rise in 6-8 Jim Hewitt, 6-7 Stan Ryfinski and 6-6 Ed Sargan, a trio of sophomores.

George Washington, 5-19, 2-1, will bear scant resemblance to the team that missed out on the SC tournament in 1967-68. Bob Tallent, a senior transfer from Kentucky, and his brother Mike, a 29-point scorer up from last winter's 17-freshman team, could be the keys to a resurgence.

Besides the Tallents, the Colonials have a 6-11 center, John Conrad, who should intimidate a great many people, and returning lettermen Roger Strong, Bob Dennis, Steve Loveless and Francis Mooney.

Two fine sophomore prospects, high-scoring Ben Ledbetter and 6-7 Hokie Hill, will bulwark lettermen Tee Hooper, Al Kroboth, Greg Conner, Willie Taylor and Jerry Hirsch at The Citadel, 11-14, 6-5.

East Carolina, 9-16, 6-7, has six lettermen; a sophomore scoring and rebounding demon, 6-7 Jim Gregory, and three junior college transfers to further coach Tom Quinn's rebuilding program. Earl Thompson, who had a 16.8 scoring average last year, and 6-7 Jim Modlin top the returnees.

Intrepid Dick Esleeck, All-Southern last season when he averaged 19.9 points per game, heads six lettermen back at Furman as Frank Selvy starts his third year as coach. Steve McCammon is the other most notable monogram wearer. Hefly Joe Brunson, 6-6, 235-pound junior college transfer, will help the Paladins under the boards. High-scoring Steve Cockrum, 6-5, leads a good-looking sophomore contingent. Furman was 13-14, 6-6 last go-around.

VMI, 9-12, 8-7 and an SC surprise last winter, lost rebounder Steve Pozers via graduation and must find someone to tend the boards. Jim Gillespie, 6-7, and Walt Ivkovich, 6-6, will get the job. John Mitchell is the top-scoring Keydet on a squad that has six lettermen.

William and Mary, 6-18, 4-10, has little hope without All-Southern Bob Sherwood, a 22.7 scorer last season who is out with hepatitis. The Indians must depend on returning 6-8 Dave Daughy and untested sophomores to improve. The Indians, once an SC power, probably will have to struggle to escape the cellar.

Bethel Rolls Past Chicod

CHICOD — The Bethel Indians romped to a stunning 85-38 victory over the Chicod Hornets last night. It was the first defeat for the Hornets this year, and put Bethel into the early lead in the Pitt County Conference with a 1-0 loop mark.

Earlier in the evening the Bethel girls kept their unbeaten streak intact with a 61-29 romp over Chicod. That also gave Bethel the girls lead with a 1-0 conference mark.

Bethel pulled away to an 18-2 lead in the first period, and then pushed that to 32-11 by the half.

In the third period, Bethel outscored Chicod, 15-8, and then coasted through the final period adding four more points to the margin to win handily.

Debbie Purvis led Bethel with 23 points, while Susan James followed with 15 and Carolyn Whichard had 12.

Vicki Hardee led the scoring for Chicod with 16 points, while Judy Boyd had 10.

In the boys game, Bethel let Chicod know who was boss from the beginning. At the end of the first period, Bethel led 15-4. In the second period, they also outscored Chicod, 24-11, making it 39-15 at the half.

In the third period, Bethel maintained their lead, outscoring Chicod 16-10, to run the margin to 55-25. From then on, Bethel poured it on scoring 30 points in the final quarter while Chicod managed only 13.

Eddie Stokes led Bethel with 24 points, while Doug Dunning had 22 and Gary James had 17. Bethel hosts Oak City on Wednesday, while Chicod is at home to Jasper.

Stokes Rolls To Big 74-39 Victory

BEAR GRASS — Stokes-Pacifolus won its fifth straight game last night, as the Blue Jays rolled to a 74-39 victory over Bear Grass.

The Stokes girls put together their finest evening of the year to roll to a 41-14 victory over Bear Grass.

In the girls game, Stokes edged out into a 5-2 lead in the first period, then pushed out to an 11-5 lead at the half.

In the third period, Stokes seemed to come of age, dumping in 18 points, while holding Bear Grass to just four. That made it 29-9 at the end of the frame.

Stokes kept it up in the final period, outscoring Bear Grass, 12-5, in the final stages of the game.

Patrice Warren led Stokes with nine points.

In the boys game, there was little chance from the script. Stokes jumped to a 21-6 lead in the first period, and built that to 35-16 by the end of the half.

The Blue Jays continued to pull away in the third period as they outscored Bear Grass, 19-15, to lead, 54-31 as the final period began. In that frame, Stokes again outscored Bear Grass, 20-8, to insure the win.

Jake Gray led Stokes with 17 points, while John Corey had 14 and Hoyt Haddock and Eddie Hudson each had 13.

Charles Mobley had 15 and Alan Ayers had 10 to pace Bear Grass.

Stokes plays host to North Edgecombe on Wednesday.

San Jose Negroes Receive Support

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—San Jose State's seven embattled Negro football players, in danger of losing their scholarships if they boycott Saturday's game with Brigham Young University, have received support from their counterparts in other sports.

Representatives of the basketball and track teams said at a meeting Monday that the Negroes on those teams and in other sports had all voted to turn in their scholarships if the football players lost theirs.

The football players have said they will refuse to play against BYU here because of alleged racial policies of the Mormon Church, which runs the university.

At first, said linebacker Tony Jackson, the Negroes were asured they would not lose their scholarships for refusing to play.

"President (Robert) Clark and (Athletic Director) Clark Bronzan said that if they were black, they'd do the same thing," Jackson said.

But after white athletes threatened not to play Saturday against Arizona State if the Negroes' boycott went unpunished, Jackson said, Clark and Bronzan changed their minds.

As it stands now, the Negroes will lose their athletic scholarships, but other money will be made available.

This, however, did not satisfy the Negro athletes, who noted that NCAA rules would keep them from ever competing in college again if they lost their scholarships.

Simpson Expected To Get Heisman Today

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The year's most kept secret leaps out of the bag Tuesday when Southern California's phenomenal Simpson is formally designated as winner of the Heisman Trophy as the best college football player of the season.

The Down Athletic Club has called a noon (EST) press conference and arranged a long distance interview, obviously from Los Angeles.

With one more game to play before the Rose Bowl—the date in Los Angeles Saturday with Notre Dame—Simpson will delay his personal appearance and receipt of the trophy until next week.

The only unknown factor in this year's voting among a special panel is the vote differential.

Simpson is certain to be close to a unanimous choice, with halfback Leroy Keyes of Purdue the probable runner-up and all-time quarterback Terry Hanratty of Notre Dame likely third in the balloting.

There was strong sentiment last year for Simpson but the honor went to his across-town rival, quarterback Gary Beban of UCLA.

The 6-2, 207-pound Simpson, a superb athlete with the effortless grace of a deer but the shattering power of a bull, cracked collegiate ball-carrying records this year in leading Southern Cal to nine straight victories and the No. 2 national ranking.

He has overshadowed the performances of such all-time great running stars as Red Grange, Tom Harmon, Glenn Davis, Jimmy Brown and Gale Sayers.

He has carried the ball this year 334 times, a record, and piled up 1,654 yards rushing, a new peak in that category. He has scored 21 touchdowns, the most in the nation.

A transfer from City College of San Francisco, Simpson has played only two seasons with USC but in that period has accomplished more than many top-grade athletes are able to gain in three.

His career record shows him with 3,069 yards rushing and 32 touchdowns. No athlete has ever gained more on the ground in two years.

O. J. has a good chance of grabbing two other season marks with a game left against Notre Dame. He needs only 17 points to overtake Jim O'Brien of Cincinnati, who has finished for the scoring lead. He needs to pick up 85 more yards in any fashion—running, pass-catching, kick-returning—to pass Eugene Morris of West Texas State as the nation's No. 1 all-purpose back of 1968. Morris has 1,957 yards, Simpson 1,872.

O.J., called "Orange Juice" by his mates, grew up with a brother and two sisters in a black neighborhood of San Francisco called Portero Hills. They were reared by their mother, a hospital worker.

In high school, he was a 5-10 160-pound Tackle. He frequently was in trouble with juvenile authorities. Later he fell under Washington Community Center, which headed him toward a college pro football draft and O.J. says, "I've always longed for those pro dollars."

Duffy Daugherty, Michigan State's football coach, is on the Board of Directors of the American Football Coaches Association.

Witness Testifies Dancer's Image OK

By GEORGE W. HACKETT
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Kentucky Racing Commission, which spared no expense in preparing for the hearing on Dancer's Image, still got caught short.

It had to borrow a magnifying glass from a spectator Monday in order to make a minute examination of one piece of evidence being challenged by a professor of pharmacology at the University of Louisville.

On the witness stand was Dr. Charles Jarboe who, during five hours of highly technical testimony, reached these conclusions:

State chemist Kenneth W. Smith was in error when he reported phenylbutazone in the urine of Dancer's Image after the colt captured the 1968 Kentucky Derby for Peter Fuller.

Smith's five tests to detect the drug were carried out improperly. The chemist did not keep adequate records while conducting his examination.

Smith's findings are the main issue in the hearing, called after Fuller appealed a decision by Churchill Downs stewards to deny him the winner's purse of $122,600.

Phenylbutazone, an anti-inflammatory agent, is permissible at Kentucky's tracks for treatment, as long as its use is discontinued in time to prevent its detection in a horse at race time.

Jarboe was particularly critical of a series of microcrystal tests made by Smith from one sample of the urine.

While the commission examined a series of photographs which Smith presented to show such crystals, Jarboe argued that the photographs were not consistent with those shown in standard textbooks on this subject.

He also attempted to discredit Smith's interpretation of the readings he obtained on a spectrophotometer. This machine produces a curve which has a high and a low point, but in Smith's tests the low point or minimum curve did not register.

Jarboe told the commission that this could have been caused by two things—either the machine was malfunctioning or there was an error on the part of the operator in preparing the urine sample.

Smith, when he was questioned last week at the hearing, contended that the absence of this minimum curve made no difference in the final outcome of his results.

But he admitted he could have made a mistake, possibly while picking up a wrong bottle of chemical used in diluting the urine.

Jarboe said that in order for Smith to have been absolutely sure the drug was in the urine he should have run at least two more tests in using infra-spectroscopy and a thin layer of chromatography.

Smith said he does not use infrared in his analysis work nor does he have the equipment to make thin layer chromatography.

The hearing is expected to run into next week before the five commissioners begin their deliberations.

Until they reach a decision, the winner's purse plus that of the second, third and fourth horses in the May 4 race, is being held in escrow by Churchill Downs.

Wolman Seeks To Rebuild

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jerry Wolman, owner of the winless Philadelphia Eagles, appears before a federal bankruptcy referee today for hearing on proposals to rebuild his tottering financial empire.

Referee Joseph O. Kaiser seeks agreement between Wolman and his creditors on a two-pronged plan of the 41-year-old sportsman and real estate developer.

Wolman, who needs about $35 million in fresh capital to pay off his unsecured creditors, has proposed selling stock in a holding company. This would include the Yellow Cab companies in Philadelphia and Camden, N.J., the Spectrum sports arena and Connie Mack Stadium in Philadelphia, and income from the National Football League Eagles.

Wolman would have until March 31 to raise needed funds through the stock sale. Meanwhile, he would attempt to sell his stock in the NFL team with the condition that the sale be finalized only if his holding company plan fails.

Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York and the Fidelity Trust Co. of New York, secure creditors, are pressing for disposal of the Eagles' stock to recover about $7.5 million in liens they hold.

During the past summer, Wolman sold buildings and apartments in the Baltimore, Philadelphia and Washington, D.C. areas, an automobile and a 55-foot schooner.

At an earlier hearing, Wolman claimed $74.6 million in assets and $71.9 million in debts.

Sifford Challenges APG To Get Him In Masters

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer
LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Charlie Sifford thinks the prestigious Masters Golf Tourney "has the weakest field on the tour" but the veteran Negro fairways star vows he'll play at Augusta "before I hang up my spikes."

Chiding the Professional Golfers Association for not helping him in his goal to compete in the Masters, Sifford challenged the American Professional Golfers—the organization of touring pros who've rebelled against the PGA—to do something about it.

In an interview over the weekend at the Cajun Classic, final 1968 stop for the golfing tourists, Sifford said he had told Frank Beard and Gardner Dickinson, leaders of the rebel organization.

"Since you have this PAG I want to see what you're going to do with Cliff Roberts," Sifford charged that the golfing organizations "are afraid of that man, and why, I don't know."

Roberts runs the by-invitation-only Masters at Augusta, Ga.

"I think they should put him to the curb," said Sifford. "Hell, they've already pulled the PGA to the curb, who not pull him to the curb if they are so strong," said Sifford of the APG, which he has joined.

"Of all the players in the United States of America, I finished 25th last year and I won a golf tournament and I wasn't invited."

"Now it leads me to believe that it has to be a racial problem, of course. I don't see how in the hell he could pick over me and invite 25 foreign players but not invite me."

Sifford said he didn't want to leave a "bitter taste in no one's mouth" and didn't want to threaten anyone but "I feel awfully bad toward" Roberts "because I don't think it's right."

"And I hold this against the PGA, too. I really do."

He said he has repeatedly asked the PGA to do something. "You don't get an answer. That's Cliff Roberts' tourney, that's what they say."

Sifford said the PGA or the APG "should tell Cliff Roberts that we want the top 30 or the top 45 or the top 50 players to play in the tournament or you won't have a tournament."

"It's the weakest field on the tour," Sifford said. "You've got 10 players to beat, that's all."

Sifford said he once wasn't allowed at any tournament but he has now played at all of them except the Masters. "I'm gonna play in it. You can believe I'm gonna play in it ... Because I know there's some fine golf players in the United States of America and I think if a man, I don't care who he is, finishes in the top 25, he should be able to play in any tournament in America and I don't give a damn what color he is."

Miami, No. 2, Tries Harder

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Miami Floridians tried harder, in fact they tried twice as hard but still remain No. 2 in the Eastern Division of the American Basketball Association.

Miami edged to within one-half game of leader Minnesota but had to go into double overtime Monday night before subduing East cellar-dweller Indiana, 126-121.

In other ABA action, Oakland topped Houston 111-10 and New Orleans tripped Los Angeles 124-115.

In the only National Basketball Association contest, Seattle whipped Milwaukee 123-113 at Vancouver.

Willie Murrell's 30' at he nal buzzer sent the Floridians into the first overtime at 10 and after the second extra stanza ended at 114-all, Murrell and Don Sidle led Miami as they outscored the Pacers 12-7.

Mel Daniels topped Indiana with 31 points while Skip Thoren had 28 for Miami. Murrell added 19.

Oakland, despite being held to its lowest point total of the season, won for the 12th time in 15 outings behind Rick Barry's 25 points. Willie Somerset also had 25 for the Mavericks.

Houston rallied to within 106-100 with a minute remaining to play but the Oaks, who lead the West by five games, converted foul shots to win going away.

At New Orleans, Jimmy Jones paced the Bucs with 32 points and 10 assists and into a second-place tie with the Stars. New Orleans, which never trailed, led 57-52 at halftime. Jay Miller topped Los Angeles with 22 points.

Len Wilkens' 29 points triggered Seattle's NBA conquest of Milwaukee in British Columbia. The sharp-shooting veteran hit for 10 points in the last period as the Sonics broke the game open after entering the fourth quarter ahead by three.

Wilkens clicked for four field goals early in the stanza as Seattle opened a 101-92 bulge. The outcome was never in doubt after that. Rookie Bob Kauffman contributed 22 points for the winners.

The Sonics built a 63-50 half-time advantage before Milwaukee surged back in the third period and outscored Seattle 36-26.

Jon McGlocklin was high for the Bucks with 25 points. Fred Hetzel chipped in with 20.

The largest indoor track meet ever held in the United States will take place in Houston's Astrodome Jan. 24-25.

Sealab 3 Is Off To New Voyage Of Exploring Sea

By RALPH DIGHTON
AP Science Writer

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Sealab 3 is off on a voyage to the bottom of the sea that may open a new world of riches and research to exploration.

The 57-by-12-foot seafloor habitat, which looks like a tank car with observation rooms where the wheels would be, has been carried by barge to a spot near San Clemente Island.

Sometime in the next few days it will be lowered 600 feet by crane to the Pacific Ocean bottom, where it will serve as working and living quarters for two months for five teams of eight to nine men.

The teams will spend 12 days each at such varied tasks as setting up an underwater trolley line, building a dry and lighted hut on the sea floor, starting a lobster farm with succulent transplants from Maine, and training porpoises and sea lions to fetch and carry.

A day or two after Sealab 3 touches bottom, the first team will start descending in diving bells, called personnel transfer capsules, capable of carrying three to four men at a time.

Members of the first team are Warrant Officer Robert A. Barth, 38, San Diego; Engineer I.C. Richard C. Bird, 31, Newton, N.J.; Aviation Ordnanceman I.C. Richard M. Blackburn, 29, Portland, Ore.; Berry L. Cannon, 33, and George B. Dowling, 42, civilian workers at the Navy Mine Defense Laboratory, Panama City, Fla.; Machinist's Mate I.C. John W. Myers, 4, Buffalo, N.Y.; Photographer's Mate I.C. John P. Reaves, 39, Ventura, Calif.; Lt. Cmdr. James Vorosmarti Jr., 33, Medical Corps, Palmerston, Pa.; and Dr. Richard A. Cooper, 32, bureau of commercial fisheries, Ann Arbor, Mich.

Sealab 3, a $10-million project is the U.S. Navy's most ambitious attempt yet to add the world's submerged continental shelves—which range from a few miles to hundreds of miles in breadth—to its theater of operations.

Such depths are ideal hiding places for submarine refueling stations, missile launching sites and antisubmarine warfare gear. They also hold untold wealth in oil, minerals and scientific lore, exploitable when men learn to live and work for long periods at great depths.

Two earlier Sealab projects gave promise that it can be done. Four men lived 11 days in Sealab 1 at a depth of 193 feet off Bermuda in 1964. A year later, in Sealab 2, three teams of 10 aquanauts spent 15-day periods 205 feet deep off La Jolla, Calif.

Sealab 3, at three times the previous depths, is the final experiment. From it will evolve mobile habitats—vehicles that can move like submarines or crawl along the bottom—carrying skilled technicians for salvage, rescue, construction and research.

Capt. William M. Nicholson, project manager, says, "We are moving into an operational phase, with equipment that will see actual duty with the fleet for the next 20 years."

Over A Million 3-Car Families

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — There are more than a million three-car families in the United States, according to an article in the Alabama Truck Magazine.

The article quotes Lynn Townsend, a vice president of Chrysler Corporation, that nearly 2.4 million new driver licenses are issued every year.

Proxmire Asks Investigation Of Soaring Cost For Air-Lift Plane

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department and the General Accounting Office were asked today to undertake full-scale investigations of why the C5A cargo plane—backbone of airlift planning for the next decade—may cost $1.2 billion more than original estimates.

The demand was made by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of the Senate House Economic Committee that recently heard testimony on contract overruns for the world's largest airplane.

It would be a dereliction of duty, said Proxmire, for Congress to permit payment "of such an exorbitant increase in contract costs without scrutinizing the reasons given for the increase and, indeed, the entire circumstances."

"In view of the testimony we received in our hearings," the senator said, "very serious questions about the cost of the plane have been raised. For example, there is some evidence that poor management on the part of the contractor may be a significant cause of the increase in cost."

Earlier this month the Air Force said the price of the C5A could run $2 billion over original estimates of $3 billion for the first 120 planes. Later, however, "in response to queries," the Air Force put the figure at a more conservative $1.2 billion.

Galbraith To Be Project Advisor

ROBBINS, N. C. (AP) — John Kenneth Galbraith, Harvard economics professor and former adviser to President John F. Kennedy, has become an economic advisor in the restoration of North Carolina's Jugtown Pottery.

The pottery, located seven miles north of Robbins, uses Piedmont North Carolina red clay to turn out pie plates, bowls, pitchers and dishes in orange, brown and other colors. The work is by the old potter's kickwheel or foot treadle, with no power tools used.

The five single-story log buildings of the pottery are being restored by Country Roads, Inc., a nonprofit organization from Cambridge, Mass., that recently purchased it.

Galbraith, former ambassador to India, visited the pottery last week and said he wanted to help raise the money needed to restore Jugtown as an artistic center. One of the courses he teaches is "Economics and the Arts."

"Until recently," Galbraith said, "no one ever thought of examining the economic circumstances of the arts. They don't mind paying $3.25 to see a photographic movie, but they still expect to get into a museum free."

At the same time, the Pentagon said the C5A contract provides safeguards for the government and for Lockheed Aircraft Corp., maker of the frame, and General Electric Co., which makes the engines.

The higher price tag for the four-engine behemoth has been

Demos Organize For Legislature

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina's Democratic legislators gathered in Raleigh today to nominate officers and organize for the 1969 General Assembly which begins Jan. 15.

House members planned to caucus this afternoon while the Senate session is scheduled to begin Jan. 15.

Officers to be nominated include the House speaker, Senate president pro tem, principal clerks reading clerks and sergeants-at-arms in both houses.

Since Democrats control both houses, nomination is tantamount to election. Formal election will come on the opening day of the session.

Democrats hold 91 of the 120 House seats and 38 of the 50 Senate seats.

Rep. Earl Vaughn, D-Rockingham, is certain to be reelected House speaker. Traditionally a speaker serves only one term, but Vaughn did not become speaker until the final day of the 1967 session. He was elected by House members when David Britt stepped down to accept an appointment as a member of the state Court of Appeals.

Sen. Hector McGeachy, D-Cumberland, was expected to be nominated president pro tem of the Senate to succeed Sen. Herman Moore, D-Mecklenburg.

(Continued From Page 4) congressional staffers and middle-level bureaucrats who have done lucrative favors for them and their Congressmen over the years will be a real hazard for the house-cleaning now in prospect.

Finch's Job
Blocked from running for the Senate in 1970, California Lt. Gov. Robert Finch will take a Nixon Cabinet post, most probably the Department of Housing and Urban Development which will get some new functions in the anti-poverty field.

Finch was told last week by Sen. George Murphy that Murphy's health is no bar to a second term and that he will run. A primary race against Murphy is out of the question.

As for Governor, Finch isn't interested. Gov. Ronald Reagan is expected to run for reelection anyway.

attributed to increased costs for labor and materials, introduction of new technology and unexpected technical troubles.

The C5A is designed to carry troops as well as big equipment like tanks and trucks. The first model flew last spring and the Pentagon has maintained the craft will exceed performance guarantees of Lockheed.

Proxmire asked the General Accounting Office, spending watchdog for Congress, to report to him within six weeks.

At the same time, he wrote to Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford urging Clifford to direct personally a study of "the enormous cost overruns."

In his letter to Comptroller General Elmer B. Staats, head of the GAO, the senator said "the option under which the Department of Defense could obligate itself to pay as much as $2 billion in excessive costs is due to be exercised by January 31, 1969."

Arrest Three On Narcotics Count

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C. (AP) — Two soldiers from Ft. Bragg and a housepainter from nearby Hope Mills were arrested Monday on charges of possessing narcotics for purpose of sale.

They were identified as Kenneth C. Carper, 20, the civilian; Alva G. Tate, 22, and Gregory H. Newgard, 19.

Superior Court Judge Harry Kennedy ordered them held in bond of $4,500 each for trial at next month's term of court.

All these circumstances figured significantly in Ferre's election. His New Progressive Party is pledged to land reform, to gradual decentralization of power, and to stern counter-measures against the dope addiction that has become Puerto Rico's most urgent social problem. After that, in the long run, comes the petition for statehood.

1969. "I am formally requesting that you take whatever steps may be necessary to prevent the signing of this option before your report is made to the Congress."

The senator wrote Clifford he hoped "you will instruct the responsible officials in the Department of Defense to give their fullest cooperation with the GAO investigating team, and that your own task force study group will make an objective and comprehensive study as soon as possible."

The undersigned owners will offer for re-sale for cash, or on such terms as may be announced at said re-sale, and subject to the further terms and conditions hereof, the following described tract of land:

The tract of land well known as the J. W. (John Bill) Cannon farm and lands and home place, located at the intersection of N.C. Highway No. 102 and the Tar Road which leads from the Ayden Country Club to Greenville, and lying approximately four-tenths of a mile east of Ayden and 7.7 miles south from Greenville, containing 200 acres, more or less, fronting approximately 1 1/2 miles on N.C. Hwy. No. 102, bounded on the west by the high water mark in Swift Creek, on the East by the R. R. Cannon lands, on the south by N. C. Highway No. 102 (part of distance) and a four acre parcel owned by Earl Stokes, and on the north by the old J. W. Cannon line, with approximately 14 acres of this tract lying on the south side of said highway.

CROP LAND AND CROP ALLOTMENTS: 102.3 acres crop land; 1968 allotments, tobacco 13.11 acres with 23,546 lbs.; 9.8 acres wheat and 47 acres corn.
BUILDINGS: 1 - 2 story main residence, 6 rooms and bath, water and electricity; 1 - 1 story residence, 5 rooms, water and electricity; 1 tenant house on Tar Road, 5 rooms; 5 tobacco barns (no cures); 1 large two-story pack house and shelters; 1 - 1 story pack barn; barns and stables.

The bidding on this farm begins at $89,825.00. The successful bidder will be required to make a deposit of 10% of his bid pending the acceptance or rejection of the bid by the owners. This re-sale will remain open for ten days for the filing of raised bids (10% on the first $1,000.00 of bid and 5% on the balance of bid). If the bid should be raised, said land will be re-advertised for 15 days and offered for sale again. Owners, in making this re-sale, reserve the right to reject any and all bids upon notice to the bidder given within 12 days after the date of said re-sale.

INSPECTION OF THIS TRACT OF LAND IS INVITED.

Controversial Author Upton Sinclair Is Dead

By LEW HEAD
Associated Press Writer
BOUND BROOK, N.J. (AP)—Upton Sinclair, a prolific author who earned the title "King of the Muckrakers" during a 63-year career, is dead at the age of 90.

Sinclair died Monday at the Somerset Valley Nursing Home near here. A memorial service will be held at St. Paul's Episcopal church in Bound Brook at 11 a.m. Saturday.

During what he described as a 63-year battle for social justice, Sinclair wrote 89 full-length books. One of his best known works, "The Jungle," catapulted him to fame at the age of 28 in 1906.

The book exposed filthy conditions in the Chicago meat-packing industry and led to the nation's pure food laws. The book's message went around the world through translation as did most of his subsequent works.

It was one of the major reasons for the title "King of the Muckrakers." Sinclair's dedication to social reform incurred the enmity of powerful personalities and the support of many famous men.

Among his admirers were George Bernard Shaw, who recommended Sinclair for the Nobel Prize, and Albert Einstein, who wrote a poem to him.

Sinclair, a wiry 5-foot-7 man who kept in shape by playing tennis, was known for his energy even in his later years.

He was at the nursing home since December 1967, living within 15 miles of the farm in Princeton where he wrote "The Jungle."

In 1942 he won a Pulitzer Prize for his novel "Dragon's Teeth," a story set in Hitler's Germany where his books had been put on the bonfire a few years earlier.

The intense but cheerful socialist crusader, who lived to see changes that he had sought, had been ailing since July 1967 when he was operated on for an intestinal disorder.

When he was 83 he updated his autobiography and only then did a barrage of books, articles, pamphlets, letters cease—eight tons of them now stored in the Lilly Library at Indiana University. He relaxed, making an occasional appearance on the lecture platform.

Born in Baltimore Sept. 20, 1878, Sinclair began his writing life at 14, spurred greatly by a luckless though instructive childhood with kindly but impoverished Southern Aristocrat parents.

At one of his last lecture appearances, at the University of Buffalo, he got tired in the middle of his talk and sat down. He asked his son David, 67, to carry on.

"I did, but with somewhat less color than father," said David, a quiet speaking physicist who works for the Atomic Energy Commission in New York City. "After five minutes father was on his feet again. He wowed the students and got a big hand."

David, Sinclair's only child, was by a first wife, the former Meta H. Fuller of New York who died five years ago. The 1900 marriage ended in divorce in 1912 and she remarried, as did Sinclair two years later.

He wed Mississippi born Mary Craig Kimbrough, of whom he said after her death in 1961, "I had for half a century the love of one of the kindest, wisest, and dearest souls that ever lived upon this earth."

In 1962, lonesome in a comfortable California home that his writings had earned him, he married the former May Hard, 79, widowed like himself. She died in 1966 in Rockville, Md., where the couple had moved to be near their families.

Urge Higher Education Be Open To All Tar Heels

RALEIGH (AP)—The North Carolina Board of Higher Education proposed today that the state adopt as "public policy" the concept that access to higher education should not be a matter of "class, race or economic privilege."

To achieve this, the board proposed that:

—Student aid programs, including scholarships, be greatly expanded.

—Negro institutions be retained but with "a form and . . . spirit quite different from anything they have known in the past."

—That all institutions "actively recruit" students with educational disadvantages who show ability to do college work and give them remedial programs.

The board said that as a first step the General Assembly should increase appropriations to traditionally Negro colleges so they can "not only reach the level of faculty compensation which comparable white public institutions have reached, but also to reach national averages in appropriate categories."

The board also said the legislature should appropriate funds "for additional administrative staffing, for faculty recruitment, for remedial and compensatory education."

All institutions in the state, the board said, "should actively recruit students, black and white, who have had educational disadvantages, but who appear to have the ability to do college work, and the institutions should provide remedial and compensatory education and special counseling as needed."

The board said present student aid programs fell $22 million short of meeting financial needs of students in public and private institutions this year.

The board also said "a disturbingly low percentage of (North Carolina) youth attend college" and called for "a more inventive system of financing higher education." The General Assembly was urged to set up a commission to study possible creation of a statewide assistance program and make recommendations to the 1971 General Assembly.

Art Center To Mark Holiday

The Greenville Art Center, 802 Evans Street, will close for Thanksgiving on Wednesday, November 27, at five o'clock. It will remain closed on November 28, 29, and 30, and reopen Monday morning, December 2, at nine o'clock for the regular schedule.

The first December exhibit is scheduled to open Sunday afternoon, December 8, with a reception from 3 to 5 o'clock for Robert Pittman, who will exhibit paintings, drawings, and collages.

CITY WITHIN A CITY — Some 55,000 persons will live in this giant housing project in the Bronx Borough of New York City when it is completed in early 1971. Known as Co-op City, housing venture. First residents will start moving into the one building that is finished in two weeks. The project will have 35 high-rise apartment buildings plus 238 three-story town houses. It covers 300 acres. In foreground is the Hutchinson River which flows into Long Island Sound. (AP Wirephoto)

Larger Faculty Salaries Advocated By Higher Board

RALEIGH (AP)—A program of increased faculty salaries at North Carolina's 16 institutions of higher education that would cost $145.4 million by 1975 was advanced today by the North Carolina Board of Higher Education.

"Comparable salary averages, by rank, should be established for institutions with comparable functions," the board said.

"Specifically, faculty salaries at Elizabeth City State College, Fayetteville State College, Pembroke State College, and Winston-Salem State College should be upgraded to those at the other four-year public colleges; and salaries at North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University and North Carolina College at Durham should be made comparable to those at the other five-year public institutions."

This would have the effect of equalizing salaries at white and Negro institutions.

The board said that in the next biennium salaries at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill should be brought up to the top one-fourth of salaries at comparable institutions.

It said salaries at North Carolina State University should be

The Worry Clinic Heart Attacks Call For Extra Know-How

Howard's case should alert everybody to the quick "first aid" methods by which to combat a heart attack. Scrapbook this case for periodic re-reading. You can often survive several heart attacks, if you employ the strategy below. But try to avoid such attacks long in advance!

Have You Missed Your Daily Reflector?

First Call Your Independent Carrier. If You Are Unable To Reach Him Call The Daily Reflector, 752-6166 Between 6:00 And 6:30 P.M. Weekdays And 8:00 'Til 9 A.M. On Sundays.

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE H-544: Howard R., aged 46, died of a sudden coronary attack.

"Dr. Crane," his daughter Marilyn informed me, "Daddy cried out with intense pain in his chest and fell to the floor. He gasped for air and tried to tear his collar open.

"Within 10 minutes, he was unconscious. It was almost an hour before we got him to the hospital where they gave him oxygen.

"But it was too late. He never regained consciousness. "If he had received oxygen at once, could he have survived?"

Marilyn is wise in suggesting the value of immediate oxygen.

For you may tip the scales in favor of life vs. death if you get extra oxygen AT ONCE — not 30 minutes or an hour later at the hospital!

And extra oxygen is available to everybody, if conscious at the time of a heart attack, merely by rapid deep breathing.

For 20 per cent of the air around us is oxygen.

So suck in big breaths and keep it up!

"But, Dr. Crane," many a patient has protested, "I was afraid to move or try to breathe deeply, lest I die.

"For the pain in my chest was like a knife twisting around under my breastbone."

Don't fear to breathe deeply, even despite such a severe pain.

For the act of rapid, deep breathing at such a moment will not harm your heart nor increase the likelihood of death.

On the contrary, it is your main hope of survival.

Grit your teeth, if you need be, but inhale deeply and fast!

For you can pile up a surplus of oxygen in your blood in this manner. Remember, the pain of your heart is due to lack of oxygen!

All we medics do for you is administer oxygen from a bottle or tank, even after we get you to the hospital.

And we administer morphine to dope you up so you are not as fearful or scared, for such emotions place more load on that weakened heart and you need LESS load, not more!

Furthermore, we may administer nitroglycerine or other drugs to make the coronary arteries widen a tiny bit, thus helping them carry more blood to the heart muscle, for the more blood it gets, the more chance of extra oxygen therein.

Since oxygen is the main treatment of heart attacks and oxygen is all around you, then help yourself at once via deep breathing.

Relax, too, by realizing that if you are conscious, then your chances are better, for the attack is not likely to be as severe, and you can meanwhile indulge in deep breathing.

Don't do anything that will place an extra load on your heart!

Which means, lie still or stay in your chair! Don't try to go across the room or upstairs to your bed!

For all walking, climbing and even talking will race your heart.

Like an auto motor with 2 or 3 sparkplugs missing, your heart must not be asked figuratively to climb hills or do extra duty while it is laboring.

Breathe deeply and rapidly; then relax by placing your case in the hands of the Almighty! This very team-work with God will lower the oxygen demands on your weakened heart.

But prior to such attacks, implement your team-work by losing weight and quitting tobacco, so send for my booklet "How to Lose 10 Pounds in 10 Days," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Morgan Heading TV Panel Show

RALEIGH—Attorney General-elect Robert Morgan of Lilling-ton will headline a three-panel of young attorneys who will discuss "Youth and the Law" on a thirty-minute TV production to be aired Thanksgiving Day at 12:30 p.m. on WRAL's Channel 5.

The program is a public service broadcast by the Raleigh television station in cooperation with the Young Lawyers Section of the North Carolina Bar Association. It is designed to boost interest in a statewide project of the Young Lawyers which will take practicing attorneys into public school classrooms throughout the state to discuss laws as they especially pertain to teenagers.

Opening lead: Eight of ♠. Today's hand produced a substantial swing when it was dealt in a recent team-of-four match. The four heart contract was reached by North and South at both tables, but the results were strikingly different, for one declarer succeeded in scoring an over-trick while the other fell one trick short.

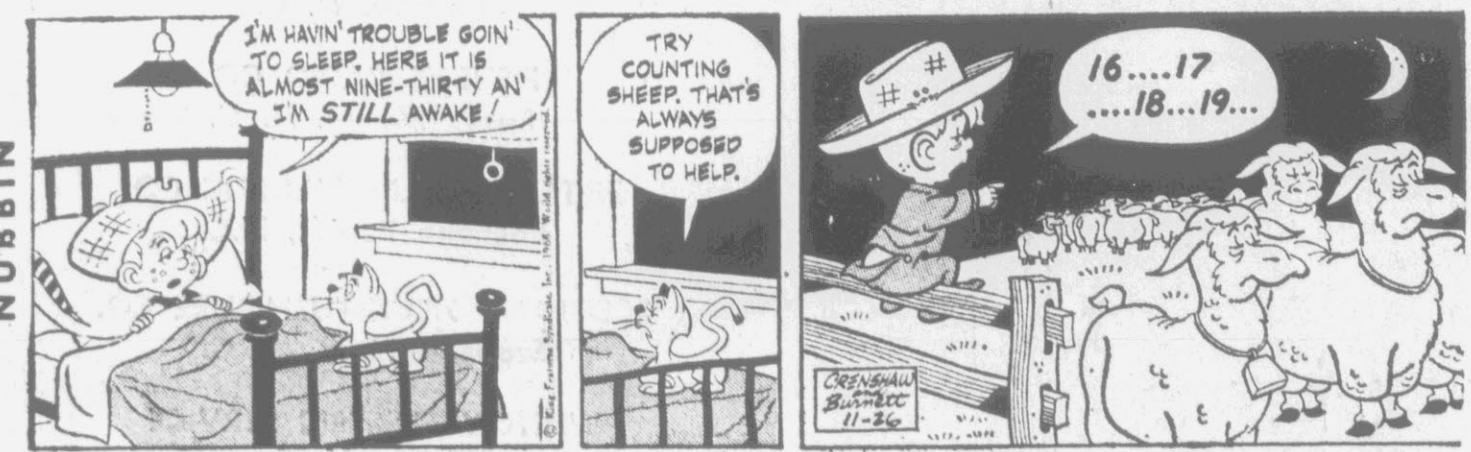

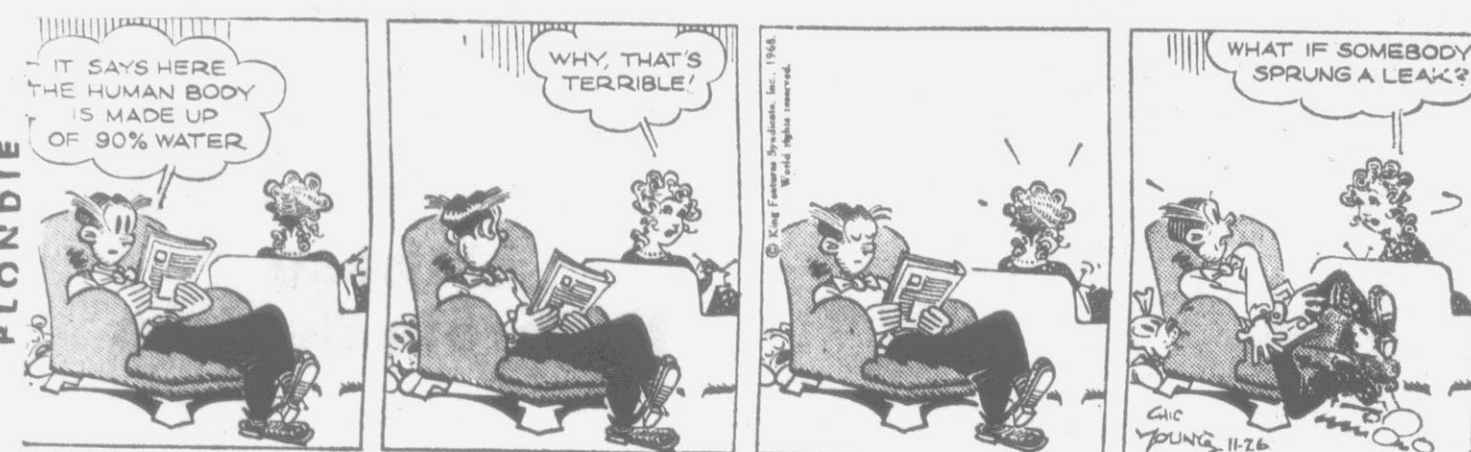

The opening lead by West was the eight of spades at both tables, but the two declarers' respective techniques differed from the outset. One South put up the ten of spades from dummy and, when this was covered by East's queen, he played the ace from his hand.

A diamond was led at trick two and West rose with the ace to return another spade.

East won two tricks in the suit to complete the defensive book and then he led a fourth round of spades. South discarded a club and West ruffed in with the ten of hearts, forcing North to over-ruff with the ace. Try as he might, declarer was unable to avoid losing a trump trick to East subsequently, and he suffered a setback on the deal.

At the other table, when East covered the ten of spades with the queen on the opening lead, declarer permitted him to hold the trick. East could not continue the suit profitably, so he shifted to the ten of diamonds. West played the ace and returned a diamond, taken by North's king—on which South discarded his remaining small spade. A spade was led to the ace, and dummy was re-entered with the king of clubs so that declarer could ruff a spade with the deuce of hearts.

The ace of clubs was played and a small club trumped with the dummy's four of hearts. South ruffed the diamond return as East discarded a spade. The king of trumps was cashed, felling West's lone ten and South trumped his last club with the ace of hearts as East helplessly undertruffed. On the diamond return from dummy, South sat behind East's jack-eight of trumps with the queen-nine. Declarer took the last two tricks to chalk up an overtrick.

Commendation For Recruiters

Members of the Greenville Air Force Recruiting Office are part of the Air Force Recruiting Detachment 307 which has been commended by Governor Dan Moore for two years of accident-free driving.

The Greenville Recruiting Office personnel have driven about 29,000 miles without an accident, making a significant contribution to the safety record of Detachment 307, according to information furnished by Staff Sgt. Larry D. Murray, Greenville recruiter.

Governor Moore noted: "Although the accident statistics in North Carolina continue to be discouraging, there are some bright spots." He called attention to the safety record of the 307th as an example.

The Detachment Commander, Major L.D. Bunn Jr., advises his men to "stay clear of other vehicles. If you stay away from other vehicles, they can't hit you."

Gardner Says Spent $172,608

RALEIGH (AP) — Republican gubernatorial candidate Jim Gardner says he spent $172,608 and received $171,693 in contributions during his unsuccessful general election campaign.

Gardner's final expense report, filed Monday with Secretary of State Thad Eure, showed he outspent Gov.-elect Bob Scott by $7,384.

Scott's final report, filed last week, listed expenditures of $165,224 and contributions totaling $165,447.

Gardner reported he paid $93,332 to the Henderson Advertising Agency of Charlotte for campaign advertising.

Major donations in Gardner's final report included: statewide rally Nov. 2 in Rocky Mount, $7,740; sale of campaign materials, $3,710; John Wilkinson of Washington, N. C., $740; Dean A. Rich of High Point, $400, and F. S. Gardner of Fayetteville, $350.

Meanwhile, reports showed that at least $82,210 was spent in President-elect Richard Nixon's campaign in North Carolina by Tar Heel organizations.

The North Carolina Citizens for Nixon - Agnew reported spending $74,741. The North Carolina Lawyers for Nixon-Agnew listed expenditures of $1,024, and the Wake County Citizens for Nixon reported expenses of $2,875.

The North Carolina Citizens for Nixon - Agnew report said $78,312 was received in contributions but not all of it was spent. John Hanes Lassiter of Charlotte and J. E. Broyhill of Lenoir were listed as contributing $1,000 each.

A final report showed $14,433 was spent in Vice President Hubert Humphrey's presidential campaign in North Carolina.

The North Carolina Citizens for Humphrey - Muskie listed contributions of $12,246. Major contributions included $500 from Lamar Guder of Asheville and $300 from Highway Commissioner Watson Brame of North Wilkesboro.

Pride And Love Of Country Isn't EnoughBy JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—If pride, love of country and determination could do it, French President Charles de Gaulle would win his big gamble. That, really, is his arsenal in the battle of the franc.

Realistically, the world's financiers do not respect these attributes. They look instead to the amount of inflation, the balance of payments, the direction of the economy, the soundness of fiscal policy.

These are the things that determine a currency's worth, its strength. As with a corporation so with a nation. Investors avoid owning shares of firms with poor earnings, low worker productivity, mismanagement, bills due.

On the side of the franc is a good deal of willpower, but even De Gaulle cannot stare down an attack on his currency. Those who attack have their fortunes at stake and their sensitivity is to mathematics rather than psychology.

An austerity program, they agree, is the method by which the franc can be returned to full value. But investors and speculators alike note that it was a rebellion against austerity that brought about the present crisis. Why, they ask, should De Gaulle be successful now in selling austerity to his nation when just six months ago he capitulated to their demands for higher wages, to their desire for more material comforts and luxuries?

In striking earlier this year, French workers let known their feelings that they were contributing more than their share to the low cost of French goods in export markets. Their low wages, they argued, were a main reason why France was able to sell abroad. And the workers won their way.

With some wage increases actually topping 20 per cent, the prices of French goods rose sharply. Inflation took hold of the economy, and French goods in foreign markets weren't nearly as competitive as they were just months earlier.

The increase in French prices, said traders, investors and speculators, did not represent true value. The franc really wasn't worth what the French claimed for it. It really did not buy 20 cents worth of workmanship and materials, they said. Perhaps more like 17 cents.

Austerity, in theory, should return value to the franc. But rather than trying to save the par value of the franc, De Gaulle could instead be playing a dangerous game with the exchange rates.

For several years De Gaulle has pointed to weakness in the system, and time after time has advocated change. Now, although the franc is dangerously weak, it might, ironically, have provided De Gaulle with a powerful weapon.

By declining to devalue the franc, De Gaulle has brought instant pressure against the entire system of relative values. His price for devaluation might be his long sought changes. By withholding assent, he perhaps feels he might now have his opportunity for enforcing change.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina hog markets today are steady at 25 cents higher. Tops of 18.00-18.50 at Rocky Mount; 17.75-18.50 at Wilson; 17.50-18.50 at Kinston, New Bern, Benson, Mount Olive, Newton Grove, Albemarle, Lumberton, and Tarboro; 17.75-18.25 at Bethel; 17.50-18.00 at Siler City and Denton; 18.25 at Greensboro and Salisbury; 18.00 at Selma.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets steady Monday. Supplies adequate, demand fair to good. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A large whites: 52½-53½; medium, whites: 48½-50; small, whites: 42-44.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rallied in vigorous trading early this afternoon. Gains outnumbered losses by about 2 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange. Averages made solid gains.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 2.9 to 364.0, with industrials up 4.9, rails up 1.5, and utilities up .7. Prices advanced from the start and improved as the session continued.

Brokers said that renewed confidence arising from the ability of Wall Street to withstand the shock of the latest European monetary crisis was one factor in the rise. Another, they said, was growing confidence in Wall Street that some progress is being made in the Vietnam peace talks.

Blue chips and glamor stocks made headway. The list was spiced with several special situations.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 8.08 at 979.43.

"Automatic Sprinkler," up 2, took the lead as most active stock. Close behind it in activity were Texas Gulf Sulphur and Pan American World Airways, each up a point or better.

American Smelting leaped 9 points, following a report that Pennzoil has proposed to combine with it in a tax-free transaction. Pennzoil rose nearly a point.

Gulf & Western was off a fraction, and Sinclair Oil was up nearly a point as G&W began mailing proxy material to its shareholders covering the exchange offer for Sinclair stock. Miehle-Goss-Dexter was up 1 amid reports it was involved in some kind of merger discussions.

Lorillard jumped 2½, and Loew's Theatres gained a fraction. Lorillard shareholders approved the merger with Loew's and also a 3-for-1 split.

Stocks advanced in lively trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Lost License In Britain, Kansas

GREAT BEND, Kan. (AP)—Sheriff Marion Weese has received notice that a Kansan was convicted Oct. 16 in Dunbar Court, London, on a charge of drunken driving and that the English court suspended his driver's license six months.

"It was the first notice of this type I can remember in which a conviction in one country can be binding in another as a result of a reciprocal agreement," the sheriff said. "This person will not be able to drive in Kansas until the six months is up."

Community Notes

Urges Growing, Package Foods

RALEIGH (AP) — State Sen. Ralph H. Scott, D-Alamance, said today "We can build a stronger North Carolina" by processing and packaging more food grown within the state.

Scott said that "too often" North Carolina vegetables and other commodities are sent to other states where they are processed.

Food processing, he said, could become a $3 billion a year industry in North Carolina in the foreseeable future.

Scott made his remarks in a talk prepared for the dedication of North Carolina State University's new $3.5 million food science building.

He said a stronger food processing industry is needed to alleviate urban blight and rural poverty.

The five-story building will house research, teaching and extension operations of the N. C. State Food Science Department.

Hanoi Protests Retaliatory Blows

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnam has protested what it says are U.S. air and naval attacks against its territory, a spokesman for Hanoi's peace delegation said today.

Nguyen Than Le, the delegation spokesman, said attacks in recent days violated the U.S. bomb-halt commitments.

He said North Vietnam's peace delegation had protested directly to the U.S. peace team in Paris.

Obituaries

Youngblood

Mr. J. Courtney Youngblood, 80, died in a Goldsboro Hospital Monday morning at 9:30. Funeral services will be conducted at the Wilkerson Chapel Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock by the Rev. Percy B. Upchurch, pastor of the Memorial Baptist Church. Burial will be in Cherry Hill Cemetery. He resided at 607 W. 4th Street.

Mr. Youngblood, a native of Alabama had lived in Greenville for the past forty-six years. He was formerly in the coin operated Music and dry cleaning business.

gon to announce in the very near future it will join expanded Paris peace talks, ending a boycott that has stalled negotiations for almost a month.

High State Department sources viewed the situation, however, with "utmost caution" and none would venture a guess on whether an announcement might come in hours or days.

ROK Army On Field Exercises

SEOUL (AP) — The South Korean army, one of the largest in the world, launched a five-day field exercise today just below the demilitarized zone.

Called operation "Flying Tiger," it is the first full army-level exercise to be held along the 151-mile truce zone that divides North and South Korea, an army official said. Previously the army held its annual war games in reserve corps areas far below the DMZ.

The Higher Board's thinking would allow for further expansion in the allied health field at ECU, however. The report calls for General Assembly support for expansion of allied health science facilities at UNC-Chapel Hill and to expand or initiate paramedical programs at several of the other public senior institutions in order to prepare desperately needed personnel in those areas.

The report also makes a bid for the Higher Board or some similar agency to gain control of budget making for the institutions.

"The General Assembly should create a single agency to plan and coordinate higher education, with authority to review budgets and to prepare a single budget request for higher education, and the higher educational planning and coordinating functions of several existing agencies should be transferred to the single agency."

The report indicated that further legislation will be needed to carry out these functions.

"The fact that North Carolina created the Board of Higher Education to plan and coordinate" indicates recognition of the importance of these functions. The agency's history since 1955, however, shows that it cannot effectively perform these functions under the present statutes.

"It is the view of the Board of Higher Education that if the research, planning, coordination, budget review, and administrative functions now spread among many state agencies can better be performed by the creation of the Board of Higher Education and other agencies into an agency which already exists, then that is the course the state should follow. The continuation of the Board of Higher Education as a specific state agency is of no relevance if the necessary function can be better performed elsewhere."

The board recommended that North Carolina College in Durham be made a regional university, joining East Carolina, West Carolina, Appalachian and North Carolina A&T in this status.

Finally the Board asked that it be assigned responsibility for administration of all federal programs in higher education which require administration by a state agency, except those which are required by law to be administered by another state agency.

Informants pointed out that, once before, on Oct. 31, the United States had every reason to believe South Vietnam President Nguyen Van Thieu had agreed to the "package" of halting the bombing of North Vietnam and transforming the bilateral Paris talks into a four-way affair.

Thieu, however, refused to join the talks that were scheduled to start Nov. 6. He objected to the possibility that direct talks with the National Liberation Front—political arm of the Viet Cong guerrillas—would give the appearance of heading

The robbery occurred, as Cozart was returning to his store from a local bank. He told police a Negro approached him and said "This is a stick-up" as he was about to enter his store.

"I didn't pay any attention to him and kept walking. I was going to the door and throw the money in," Cozart explained. As Cozart attempted to throw the money bag into his store, the bandit stock Cozart on the hand, grabbed the bank bag and ran. Cozart was also struck on the head and two stitches were required to close the wound.

Carter, a parolee, has worked in Greenville, according to Lawson. He was employed, the chief said, by a local motel and by a local drive-in restaurant.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Business-led projects to finance Negro enterprises, find jobs or improve living conditions in 12 cities have been honored by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Leaders of the projects, some of which followed rioting, were credited by the chamber at ceremonies Monday with demonstrating what the private sector can do to solve urban problems.

The projects ranged from attacks on such social problems as jobs, housing and law enforcement to air pollution control.

Jimmy Robinson, a young Negro, said one—a Philadelphia Gas Works effort—helped his street gang make a movie called "Jungle" and now "it's no longer a gang—it's a corporation" which plans other enterprises.

The Philadelphia project's main effort is to train and place Negroes with the city-owned utility. Another project, involving the Eastman Kodak Co. in Rochester, N.Y., concentrates on helping Negroes set up businesses.

Other projects honored are in Indianapolis, Boston, Omaha, Hartford, Rochester, Minn., Buffalo, N.Y., Jacksonville, Fla., Detroit, Winston-Salem, N.C., and Dayton, Ohio.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The effective date for a federal guideline against sex discrimination in help-wanted advertisements has been delayed by a federal judge pending resolution of an appeal.

The American Newspaper Publishers Association and the Evening Star Newspaper Co. of Washington filed notice of appeal after the judge denied their request for a preliminary injunction against the guideline until a full hearing, with evidence, could be held.

U.S. district Judge Howard F. Corcoran granted the delay.

Committee. pending outcome of the appeal. Monday, said attorney W. Frank Slickle Jr., who represents the Star and the ANPA.

The guideline, which was to take effect Dec. 1, was issued by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. It says ads cannot indicate a preference for men or women unless sex is a bona fide qualification for the job involved.

the United States on the other.

Thieu objected to considering the talks four sided with the NLF having equal status. The U.S. has considered the proposed talks as two-sided the "our side, your side" principle that avoids an appearance of direct dealings between Saigon and the NLF.

There was also speculation in Saigon and Paris that the South Vietnam government was about to have a change of heart.

NLF negotiators have been in Paris for several weeks and are showing no signs of going home. U.S. sources there also say that the North Vietnamese are showing indications they want the Saigon delegation to arrive and want to get on with the talks.

These sources say the North Vietnamese fully realize that in order to bargain about matters involving South Vietnam they will have to deal with representatives of the Saigon government.

In Saigon, newspapers are reported to be giving favorable play to Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford's news panel comments Sunday about accord-

Wedding Trip Is Not Among Plans

QUEMADO, N.M. (AP) — Fred W. Black and his bride-to-be don't plan a wedding trip after they are married Wednesday. The 92-year-old Black has to get back to the ranch to look after his cattle.

Black and Mrs. Sue Mosely, Quemado high school librarian and teacher, will be married Wednesday in the Quemado Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Mosely, a widow, would not give her age. "I am past 60, but simply don't care to state my exact age."

Mrs. Ellen Carroll Named President Of Pitt Unit

Mrs. Ellen Carroll was named president of the Greenville-Pitt County Unit of Retired Personnel during a luncheon meeting Friday at the Greenville Woman's Club.

Other officers named at the meeting included: Mrs. Myrtle Clark, first vice president; W. W. Howell, second vice president; Miss Agnes Fullilove, secretary.

Nathan Yelton, recently retired head of the State Retirement System, was the featured speaker. He explained the many facts of the system and discussed the need of establishing a cost of living index to meet the inflationary trend.

The speaker also discussed other proposed changes considered by the NCEA Retirement education and special counseling as needed."

It said, "A public policy determination should be made regarding the number of students to be enrolled statewide and by institutions."

In other areas, the board recommended that:

—Training of doctors and dentists continue to be centered at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, at least through 1975 and that plans for expansion of the UNC Medical School be implemented as soon as possible.

—The Law School at North Carolina at Durham be phased out by 1974, provided the UNC Law School trains as many Negro lawyers as are now trained by the Durham institution.

—Tuition for out-of-state students be raised at all institutions to yield an additional $2.65 million annual revenue.

—Study be given the possibility of providing state assistance to private higher educational institutions in North Carolina.

The board found "numerous overlapping functions" in the present system for administering higher education in North Carolina. It said policy is now laid down in part by the individual institutions, by the Board of Higher Education, by other state agencies and by the General Assembly based on recommendations of the Advisory Budget Commission and the Department of Administration.

W. W. Howell, immediate past president of the Northeastern District Division, was placed in nomination as a candidate for state president of the North Carolina Retired Personnel.

It was announced that J. Everette Miller, long-time assistant state superintendent, has been appointed as the head of the Teachers and State Employees Retirement System.

Miss Nettie Brodgon conducted a short business session and Mrs. Ellen Carroll presided at the meeting.

Special guests included David Reid, Horton Rountree, Vernon White, Walter Jones and Dr. J. W. Pou.
