

Cost Of Living Saw Sharp Rise During October

By NEIL GILBRIDE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs jumped six-tenths of one per cent in October for the biggest monthly rise in eight years and increasing 1968's sharpest rate of price hikes in 17 years, the government said today.

Clothing and transportation costs were up nine-tenths of one per cent each, food and housing up four-tenths each and medical care rose seven-tenths, said the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Clothing and transportation costs were up nine-tenths of one per cent each, food and housing up four-tenths each and medical care rose seven-tenths, said the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Asst. Commissioner Arnold Chase of the bureau said the over-all rise in living costs in 1968 "could very well be around 4.5 per cent for the year," highest since the 5.9 per cent rise in 1951 before Korean War price-wage controls were imposed. But Chase said the rate of increase is expected to taper off and that the government sees no need for similar controls now.

The October increase brought the consumer price index to 122.9. This means it cost $12.29 last month for every $10 worth of typical family purchases in the 1957-59 period on which the index is based.

The bureau also reported that the sharp rise in prices combined with a small reduction in the average work week, reduced the average purchasing power of the nation's approximately 45 million rank and file workers.

The average gross paycheck last month was $110.67, down 20 cents from September. After taxes, purchasing power of the average paycheck was about the same as a year ago for single workers, and about 1.2 per cent higher for workers with three dependents.

N.C. Told New Death Penalty Laws Required

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals has ruled that if North Carolina wishes to retain the death penalty it must pass new legislation, because present statutes are unconstitutional.

A member of the North Carolina attorney general's staff said the state probably would appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court the Circuit Court decision handed down Tuesday.

At present a defendant in North Carolina charged with a capital crime can avoid the death penalty by pleading guilty and getting a life sentence.

The Circuit Court, in a 2-1 decision, held that this violates his constitutional right to a jury trial because to get such a trial "he is faced with the awful dilemma of risking the death penalty."

The court said it was this reasoning which the U. S. Supreme Court employed recently in invalidating the Federal Kidnapping Act, popularly known as the Lindbergh Law, because it had a "chilling effect" on the right to a jury trial and the right "not to plead guilty."

The Circuit Court made its ruling on North Carolina's statute in reversing the second-degree murder conviction of Henry Alford, 50, of Winston-Salem. The court said his plea of guilty was "demonstrably coerced."

It stayed the effect of its ruling "for a reasonable period" to give North Carolina the opportunity to re-try Alford.

Alford's petition had challenged the validity of his 30-year sentence.

"I think you can assume those in the same position as Alford will be rejoining and will ask new trials if they can," said the member of the attorney general's staff in Raleigh, who asked that his name not be used. An estimated 300 persons are serving prison terms in North Carolina for various degrees of murder.

The Circuit Court's majority opinion was written by Judge Harrison L. Winter and concurred in by Judge Albert V. Bryan. Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. dissented.

Judge Winter wrote that "a defendant who has pleaded guilty when charged with a capital offense in North Carolina is not necessarily entitled to post-conviction relief as a matter of law."

"A person is entitled to relief if he can demonstrate . . . that his principle motivation to plead guilty or to forego a jury trial was to avoid the death penalty. (In Alford's case) no court has ever found that he pleaded guilty other than to avoid possible imposition of the death penalty."

Madison County Is Commended

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Board of Elections had words of praise Tuesday for Madison County, scene of many election scandals in the past.

The state board adopted a resolution commending Madison election officials for conducting "an efficient and impartial election on Nov. 5."

The state board stationed four State Bureau of Investigation agents in the county as observers of the Nov. 5 voting.

Ky Will Lead S. Vietnam Delegation

By DAVID MASON
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu said today a South Vietnamese delegation will go to the Paris talks within the next 10 days but he cautioned his nation not to expect peace to come soon. The enemy will fight while he talks, Thieu declared.

He said he will announce the makeup of the delegation in the next few days.

Thieu said that Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky will go to Paris as over-all coordinator of the Saigon delegation, although he will not actually sit in on the negotiating sessions.

Thieu said that Ky "is the man I rely on to lead the delegation to Paris, but he is not the chief of the delegation. His role will be to coordinate and advise the delegation itself."

Thieu, appearing on television and nationwide radio 12 hours after his government announced it had lifted its boycott of the Paris talks, declared: "Talks with the Communists do not mean peace will be restored soon. They will fight while they are talking and talk while they are fighting."

Thieu said South Vietnam, however, will show to its allies and the enemy "that we have plenty of good will."

He asserted that whether "aggression" ends "depends on Hanoi and their tool"—an obvious reference to the rebel National Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong.

Display Tons Of Red Propaganda

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Attorney General's office displayed more than 100 tons of Communist propaganda Tuesday from the Soviet Union, Red China and Cuba that was seized by Mexican customs men in recent weeks.

Some of it was designed to promote widespread student unrest in the Southern Hemisphere.

N. C. Democrats Organize For Assembly's Opening

RALEIGH (AP) — Democrats in the North Carolina General Assembly held their caucuses Tuesday and chose Rep. Earl Vaughn of Rockingham as House speaker and Sen. Hector McGeachy Jr. of Cumberland as Senate president pro tem.

They will be formally elected when the General Assembly convenes on Jan. 15 since the Democrats hold a substantial majority over Republicans in both legislative chambers.

The only surprise produced by the two caucuses was the nomination of Mrs. JoAnn Smith of Raleigh as House principal clerk. Mrs. Smith defeated Mrs. Annie E. Cooper of Raleigh who has held the post for many years. The vote was 43-42.

Mrs. Smith, 39, has served on the General Assembly staff several sessions. In the recent campaign, she was office manager in the Wake County headquarters of Gov. - elect Bob Scott.

Vaughn was elected speaker at the end of the 1967 session when David Britt stepped down to become an Appeals Court judge.

Former Rep. Sam Burrow of Asheboro was renominated House reading clerk, and Archie Lane, a former House member was renominated sergeant-at-arms.

McGeachy will succeed Sen. Herman Moore of Mecklenburg as Senate president pro tem. The president pro tem presides over the Senate in the absence of the lieutenant governor and is chairman of the Senate Rules Committee.

Former Sen. Roy Rowe of Pender was nominated as Senate principal clerk. He succeeds Ray Byerly of Sanford who died shortly after the end of the 1967 session after serving as principal clerk for three decades.

Gene Simmons of Tarboro was renominated Senate reading clerk and Brooks Poole of Raleigh, Senate sergeant-at-arms.

Next State Fair To Run Longer

RALEIGH (AP) — The 1969 State Fair will be three days longer and free passes will be hard to find.

Extension of the fair by three days and a policy that all fairgoers over 12 years old pay $1 to get in were approved Tuesday by the North Carolina Board of Agriculture. This year's fair was for one week.

Fair profits in the past have been cut sharply by reduced ticket for students and thousands of passes which were distributed.

HOTEL BURNS

DARLINGTON, S.C. (AP) — A fire which destroyed the three-story Park Terrace Hotel early today claimed at least one life and five other guests were still unaccounted for at mid-morning.

Municipal Court Is Closed, After 30 Years Of Operation

Judge Charles H. Whedbee yesterday closed the Greenville Municipal Recorders Court, in effect ending a forum that began 30 years ago.

That tribunal is not scheduled to meet again before December 1, when the District Court, established by the State Legislature several years ago, will begin operation, taking jurisdiction over cases now handled by the present system of inferior courts.

Whedbee has served as judge of the municipal court since July 1951.

Judge William Alvin Darden heard the first case in the city court April 18, 1938. Judge Louis Skinner succeeded Darden while Skinner was followed on the bench by J.W.H. Roberts. Both Roberts and Whedbee were named to district judgeship posts in the November 5 election, and Roberts was designated Chief Judge for this district, which includes, Pitt, Craven, Carteret and Pamlico counties.

The closing of the Greenville court also brings to an end the careers of two court officials with long records of service.

Faircloth To Be Scott Highway Chairman Choice

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov.-elect Bob Scott announced today he will appoint Duncan McLauch, in (Lauch) Faircloth of Clinton as chairman of the North Carolina Highway Commission.

Faircloth, 40, who has extensive business and farming interests, will succeed Joe Hunt Jr. The new chairman was a member of the highway commission from 1961 to 1965 under former Gov. Terry Sanford.

Faircloth, a strong supporter of Scott during the recent campaign, was active in the 1948 gubernatorial campaign of Scott's father, the late Gov. W. Kerr Scott, even though he was too young to vote.

He was also involved in the elder Scott's successful campaign for the U.S. senate in 1954 and took part in Sanford's gubernatorial campaign in 1960.

Faircloth is a major stockholder in several corporations, including automobile dealership, construction, real estate and investment firms. He also owns and directs one of the largest farming operations in Sampson County.

Faircloth, a graduate of Roseboro High School in 1945, began farming on a small scale at the age of 17. He expanded his farming operations through the years and began adding other interests.

Sanford once said of him, "He's the only man I know who chews tobacco and wears Brooks Brothers clothes."

During his campaign last spring, Scott charged that "for several years, the highway department has been controlled and supervised in a cloak of scholarly secrecy—open only to a chosen few."

Hunt, a former House speaker, challenged Scott "to pinpoint" publicly "any irregularities which have occurred in the highway department during the past several years."

"If he knows of any decisions made in private by the highway commission, he should call song and verse," Hunt said in a prepared statement last April.

Scott said in a talk at Washington, N.C., "I don't believe the situation will really get any better until we shake up the top echelon in the highway department."

Hunt was quoted recently as saying, "I have no intention of resigning, unless for some reason I'm asked to step down before my term runs out" next June 30.

Viet Cong In Saigon Are Rounded Up

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese police have arrested 85 Viet Cong political workers in Saigon during a two-week-old roundup to crush an emerging Communist political apparatus in the capital, a highly placed police source said today.

The source said 15 of the 85 "communist cadre" were women and that all of those arrested had criminal or pro-Communist records. Most of them were longtime residents of Saigon, he added.

The roundup began Nov. 11 and is still going on. The source said it began with the arrest of a senior Communist lieutenant who tipped off police to 16 Viet Cong cells within the city.

The citywide hunt also has netted 14 Chinese pistols, a number of mines, grenades and plastic explosives, the source reported.

The South Vietnamese arm of North Vietnam's Communist party is known to be creating a grass-roots government across South Vietnam, apparently in anticipation of an end to the Vietnam war. American intelligence confirms the quasigovernment already exists throughout five provinces and in more than 1,000 villages and hamlets. Communist documents claim the existence of "liberation councils" in two of Saigon's nine precincts, but U.S. officials say the councils exist only on paper.

Only scattered ground fighting was reported in South Vietnam today.

Higher Board Of Education's Report Represents A Sugar-Coated Pill

By ALVIN TAYLOR
Reflector Managing Editor

The Higher Board of Education's long-range report is a sugar-coated pill insofar as East Carolina University and some other state institutions are concerned.

On the one hand the board suggests greater freedom for university administrations in allocating budgeted funds; on the other the board asks for power to control the budgeting of all state institutions of higher learning.

On one hand the reports recommends big increases in faculty salaries for East Carolina and other institutions; on the other it recommends a "locking in" of the regional universities a step below the Greater University of North Carolina. The report recommends expansions of East Carolina's and other regional universities' libraries but indicates the Higher Board would disapprove any movement to allow the universities to grant doctorate degrees.

The Higher Board bases this on the Greater University's contention that it can provide the PhDs needed in most fields over the next decade. The university, however, proposes a number of new doctoral degrees from 1969 to 1975 and does not limit itself from expanding the doctoral programs to any or all of its campuses.

So far as faculty is concerned the Higher Board wants salaries brought up to the top quartile of the national average by 1972 and the averages maintained in that area in the future.

However the recommendation is that comparable salary averages be established for institutions with comparable functions.

Faculty salaries at Elizabeth City State College, Fayetteville State, Pembroke and Winston-Salem would be upgraded to those at other four-year public colleges. N.C. A&T and NCC would be made comparable to those at the other five-year public institutions.

Then all institutions within a given category would be brought up to the desired averages. The report shows that North Carolina's public senior institutions averaged $10,430 in 1967-68 compared with a national average of $11,033.

The board found that in 1967 the average salary at Chapel Hill was above the national average of universities granting more than 100 doctor's degrees annually, but that N.C. State was below.

The board recommends that Chapel Hill be brought up to the top quartile in the 1969-71 biennium; N.C. State be brought up to average in 1969-71 and to the top quartile in 1971-73. It recommends that faculty salaries at all other public senior institutions be increased to the national average "in their respective categories" during the 1969-71 biennium and to the top quartile in the 1973-75 biennium.

Also recommended are improvements in the retirement plan for faculty; plans for sabbatical leaves be formulated and that uniform sick leave policy be developed.

The board recommends the following minimums for faculty rank:

—instructor, master's degree or the equivalent.

—assistant professor, master's, plus an additional year of study toward higher degree and two years teaching experience, or a doctorate.

—associate professor, doctorate and at least five years of professional experience.

—professor, doctorate and eight years of professional experience.

—It is also recommended that the General Assembly provide funds to establish distinguished professorships in the public senior colleges and regional universities similar to the 15 "university professors" now funded by the state at $25,000 annual salaries on campuses of the University of North Carolina.

For all institutions the board recommends a student-faculty ratio of 15 to 1 for undergraduate work, 12 to 1 for master's level and 6 to 1 at the doctoral level.

The teaching load should be 12 semester or quarter hours per term with no more than six separate course preparations per year. For graduate teaching the load should be nine semester or quarter hours per term. For teaching and research the load should be six semester or quarter hours per term.

The board calls for a single agency to review budgets and prepare a single budget request for higher education. Budget requests are now made to the Advisory Budget Commission.

However the board calls for study of the present "line item" system of budgeting which closely ties down expenditures of operating funds. It suggests a system which emphasizes program costs. This would give "greatly increased flexibility" to trustees as to how funds might be used.

Two recommendations made in the report should considerably improve East Carolina's programs. One is for the state to finance non-contract, off-campus instruction for college credit on the same basis as on campus instruction for college credit, beginning with the 1969-71 biennium. East Carolina carries on a large off-campus program which should benefit from this recommendation.

Another recommendation is that appropriations for summer enrollment should be provided on the same per capita basis as (Continued On Page 8)

Visiting Parents Get 'Bad Deal'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: When we go to visit the son and his wife, they are always playing cards. No matter what time of day or evening, it's cards, cards, cards. "Pull up a chair and watch," they say. Now Abby, I don't go to anybody's house to watch them play cards. I feel insulted. I say they should play out their hands and quit, as we stay only half an hour. My husband says they should go on playing. What do you say?

PUZZLED
DEAR PUZZLED: If you stay only half an hour, I would say your card-crazy son and his wife are rude. Perhaps your son should have been introduced to a different kind of "hand" when he was younger.

DEAR ABBY: I have what most women think they want—a husband who does everything for me. He decides on where we should go and what we should do. He and a decorator did our house. He and his secretary pick out any gifts we have to send. They even select our Christmas cards. (He has yet to ask me how I like them.)

He disciplines the children, and tells them what HE thinks. He never asks what THEY think. They love him, but they rebel in their own way by taking it out on me and the whole neighborhood.

When I tell my husband our children have no friends, he says, "Nobody needs friends. They just have to be rich to get along in this world."

Well, at least the children have a way of releasing their feelings, but as for me, I feel absolutely—

USELESS
DEAR USELESS: You don't say how long this has been going on, but I would guess it started the day you said, "I do." You only complain—you don't ask for a solution, which would indicate that you are resigned to your unhappy, "useless" life. I'm sorry for you, but sorrier for your children. They cannot "love" this tyrant, but only fear him. And kids who fear their fathers make miserable fathers themselves.

DEAR ABBY: If I were to tell you that I am a young, unknown actress who become involved with a movie producer (divorced) it would sound like a made-up letter, but it happens to be the truth.

I am 23 and he is about 50. We've seen a lot of each other since we met 4 months ago, but he never promised marriage.

I just found out I'm pregnant. When I gave my producer friend the news, he said I shouldn't try to hang it on HIM, because 5 years ago he had the operation men have to make themselves sterile, and his doctor will back him up. Abby, it's GOT to be him because I haven't been with anybody else. I need to know this: Does that operation men have ever fail? I KNOW he's the father, but how can I prove it?

How about a blood test?

IN A FIX
DEAR IN: A blood test will only rule out who the father ISN'T. And yes, "that operation" (it's called a "casectomy") CAN fail if it has not been properly done. But if your producer friend wants to know for certain if he is still able to "produce," a return visit to his doctor for a sperm test will provide proof.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FOR ABBY'S NEW BOOK-LET "WHAT TEEN-AGERS WANT TO KNOW" SEND $1.00 TO ABBY, BOX 69700, LOS ANGELES, CAL. 90069.

The New System To Begin December 1

When next week rolls around all of the justice of the peace and recorder's courts as Pitt County has known them for years will have ceased to exist and in their place the new District Court system will be operative.

The change which takes place in this judicial district on December 1 is the same that has already taken place in a number of judicial districts of the state. The old JP courts which have been more a burden to than an instrument of justice in North Carolina for decades will have ceased to exist. So too the local recorder's courts, mayor's courts, police courts and all other courts that previously have operated below the Superior Court level.

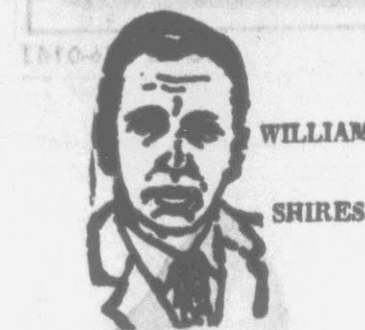

It may take the people of this district a while to become accustomed to the new uniform lower court system. But from the experience of other parts of North Carolina where the new court system has been operating for several years, there is little doubt that the new system will be a great improvement.

Urged To Seek Nat'l Standing

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH — North Carolina is being urged to develop its system of public higher education to one of truly national standing.

A long-range plan for achieving this goal—at an added cost of nearly $300 million over the next six years—was unveiled Tuesday by the State Board of Higher Education.

Key points in the far-reaching plan include:

- Raising faculty salaries to meet national standards in all institutions of higher learning, with equalization for Negro institutions, costing $145.4 million over the six year period.
- Enlarging library holdings to meet national standards, at a cost of some $19.2 million.
- An expanded program of student financial aid including increased appropriations for scholarships, costing approximately $60 million.

Heavy Costs Cited

In the same period, the Board estimated that state funds for ongoing operating expenses are expected to more than double.

Overall, the Board estimated total needs of the state's public senior institutions will increase from $355 million during the present biennium, 1967-69, to $500 million for 1973-75. The cumulative total will be more than $1.3 billion.

It is expected that $300 million, or more than 60 per cent of the increased needs, most come from state sources. This, the Board said, "would require the state to almost double the current per cent of contribution."

At present, the state contributes about 34 per cent of total income of higher education institutions—$151 million for 1967-69—from its General Fund budget. This does not count capital improvements. The Board estimates that by the 1973-75 biennium, this must reach $360 million.

Single Budget Request

The magnitude of the cost projection for higher education led to recommendation that the legislature create a single agency to plan and coordinate higher education, with authority to review budgets and to prepare a single budget request for higher education.

Undoubtedly this will meet strong resistance because, on its face, it would abrogate budget-making powers held by the legislature and change certain budget-making procedures. In a companion recommendation, the Board wants to abolish line-item budgeting.

The Board, in its 4797-page long-range planning report, emphasized that improvement is "desperately needed" in statewide coordination and information for planning.

It conceded that there would be a "certain lessening in the complete independence" on the part of institutions but said "only where there is a single agency is there assurance that planning on a statewide basis will be achieved."

The long-awaited planning report, asked by Gov. Dan K. Moore nearly three years ago, contained 118 specific recommendations. Most of these focus on the 1969-75 period with initiating action requested of the 1969 General Assembly.

Watts Hill Jr. of Durham, chairman of the 20 member Board, said 74 special studies were conducted along with analysis of long-range plans developed by the state's 16 public senior institutions.

Certainly, as Hill says, it is the most comprehensive study of its kind yet conducted in North Carolina and, in fact, possibly the first which sought to pinpoint answers to such questions as "where are we now? Where do we go? How do we get there? How much will it cost?"

In the place of the old JP courts there will be new magistrate courts in which each presiding officer has been appointed by the resident Superior Court Judge. This in itself gives far greater assurance of a qualified magistrate than under the old JP system where about all that was required to hold court was to file for election. In most counties there were so many JPs authorized that anyone who wanted to could become a "judge."

The district courts which will replace the recorder's courts will be presided over in this district by four judges who were recently elected. These judges will hold court throughout the district, providing a more streamlined court system and at the same time a more uniform system. There can be little doubt that this change too gives greater assurance that each person who has to appear in court will have his case heard before a qualified judge.

As we say, the new system may cause some confusion initially. There may be complaints about the change from the old conglomeration of courts to which the area has been accustomed for so long. Given time to get into full operation, however, the new system will prove far superior to the old hodgepodge of lower courts.

One Final Effort And We Go Over The Top

There are a good many people in Pitt County who have not contributed to the 1968 United Fund campaign although that campaign has now recorded more than $107,000 in gifts.

If those people would in the next few days make a contribution to the UF campaign either through the business firm where they work or directly to the United Fund office, Pitt County would see its fund-raising effort reach the $130,000 goal established for this year's campaign.

Pitt County's United Fund should be the concern of every citizen of the county. The United Fund, after all, represents a large number of agencies which carried out a broad variety of programs for the public good. They band together in the United Fund for the purpose of raising funds for their operations through a single campaign and a single gift each year. Without the agencies which are a part of the United Fund, Pitt County would be a poorer place in which to live.

The campaign which began in October should be quickly concluded now. The goal is well within reach. All that is needed is a little extra push from those who have not yet joined in giving the United Way to this year's fund-raising effort.

Magic Power In Recollection

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — There is no renewal like memory. No matter how jaded in spirit we may be with the passing moment, by the magic power of recollection we can refresh ourselves in an instant by a mental journey to a time when our world was younger and perhaps fairer of view.

Our lives are but living museums composed of our memories — room after room after room.

Your own museum is pretty well-stocked if you can look back and remember when —

The first thing you did after alighting from a railroad trip was brush the cinders out of your clothing and wash the soot off your face.

You didn't really need an alarm clock to wake up by, because at least one of your neighbors kept chickens and a crowing rooster in his backyard.

Before the suburbs became popular, only poor people lived on the outskirts of town. If your family had money, you lived where the action was — in town.

Nixon To Lower Boom

WASHINGTON — My friend, Rumpelmeier, the arch-Democrat, called me up the other day with a surprise request. He wanted me to contribute to a "defense fund" for the Republicans who may be prosecuted under the Corrupt Practices Act for failure to meet the deadline on their reports of contributors to the Nixon-Agnew campaign.

"But Rumpelmeier," I said, "why are you getting involved in this?"

"I believe in it," Rumpelmeier said. "Nixon and Agnew ran on a law-and-order platform and they vowed to prosecute anyone who breaks the law. If they follow through on their pledge, then the first thing the new attorney general will have to do is take the people who raised money for Nixon and Agnew to trial."

"But surely, Rumpelmeier," I said, "Nixon wouldn't prosecute his own people for what was probably an administrative oversight. After all, it's just politics."

"That's what you say, but Nixon and Agnew specifically said they would not tolerate any monkeying around with the law. They promised if they were elected that there would no longer be some laws for people to obey, and others that they didn't have to obey. They won't have any choice but to see that the men who failed to file their reports feel the full weight of our judicial system. Now, how much can you pledge to the defense fund?"

"Wait a minute, Rumpelmeier. No court in the land is going to convict men for being tardy in handing in political contribution reports."

"I'd like to think so," Rumpelmeier said. "But both Nixon and Agnew said during their campaigns that one of the big issues in our land was that the courts were too lenient on criminals, and that you don't prevent crime by letting people who break the law get off scot-free. I can't see where Nixon could do anything but lower the boom on his fund-raisers."

"You know, Rumpelmeier," I said, "I'm always willing to give for a good cause, but even if the committee chairmen were tried, what could they get?"

"The law says they could get as much as a $10,000 fine and up to two years in jail," Rumpelmeier said. "Even as a Democrat I don't think a Republican should have to do time for putting Nixon in the White House."

"The law says they could get as much as a $10,000 fine and up to two years in jail," Rumpelmeier said. "Even as a Democrat I don't think a Republican should have to do time for putting Nixon in the White House."

"I believe you're overreacting, Rumpelmeier. This whole thing will probably fade away."

"Not if Nixon gets a new attorney general. Don't you understand? The Nixon Administration is trying to dramatize the issue of law and order. What better way to do it than to have the new attorney general try as his first case 'The People Versus the Nixon-Agnew Fund-Raising Committee'? It would show beyond a shadow of a doubt that the new Administration means business. I figure if we can get the defense fund started now, the poor guys responsible for the reports will have a better chance."

"You've got a good heart, Rumpelmeier," I said. "Who would have ever thought that you would be concerned with Republican fund-raisers going to jail?"

"I wouldn't have gotten involved," Rumpelmeier said, "but I'm concerned with justice, and Agnew refused to talk about justice during the campaign. He said people either have to obey the law or see that it's changed. That doesn't give the fund-raisers any place to go."

"OK, Rumpelmeier. Put me down for $50. If you're man enough to raise money for their defense fund, then I don't see any reason why I shouldn't kick in. By the way, what do you think the defense will be?"

"We're going to claim it was a crime of passion."

To The Editor:

Last Sunday evening (Nov. 24) WNCT-TV (Channel 9) presented the first in a series of televised concerts by the Boston Symphony Orchestra. The series will apparently run for several weeks starting at 11:15 P.M. on Sundays.

I am writing to call the attention of your readers to the fact that this program is an important addition to the cultural life of the area. I hope that, in spite of the rather late hour, a large number of viewers will take advantage of it. The opportunity to view one of the world's great orchestras at work in the intimate way provided by the medium of television does not come along often enough.

May I publicly congratulate and thank WNCT-TV for making this program available.

Sincerely,

To The Editor:

I see in the paper that U.S. 264 should be a four-lane highway. The traffic is heavy and there are too many fatal accidents, one is too many.

There is a good railroad which parallels U.S. 264. The Norfolk and Southern. Don't we all think a lot of the congestion on that highway would be placed on the Norfolk and Southern. The railroad should be handling the U.S. Mail and passengers. If the people who lives along this highway and railroad would just patronize the railroad, it would help all in many ways. The railroad runs from Norfolk to Charlotte. "Let's ride it." The railroads have both comfort and safety to sell cheaply.

Consumer Credit Set To Soar

By ELMER ROESSNER

Consumer credit, which was over $104 billion at the start of October, is likely to soar close to $110 billion in the coming record-setting Christmas shopping season.

Although inflation is a major domestic problem and some day may lead to difficulties in America like England, France and Germany are experiencing today, it is not generally recognized that consumer credit is in itself inflationary.

And where it is recognized, little is said about it in fear of offending manufacturers, merchants and money lenders who profit by it in the billions, or simply in fear of rocking the economic barge. Nobody wants to drown Santa Claus.

Why It's Inflationary

That $100 billion-plus is inflationary because it has added that much to the buying power of Americans. It's as inflationary as if the government printed $100 billion in paper money and spent it.

That the government has recognized that consumer credit is inflationary is shown by the fact that during World War II, when Washington was making a real effort to control inflation, it put controls on credit just as it did on prices.

The growth in consumer credit has been phenomenal. At the end of 1932, there was only $3.5 billion outstanding. By 1940, it was still only $8.2 billion. By 1950, it was $14.7 billion and then it took off. By 1960 it was $56 billion and it passed $100 billion this year.

Consumer credit is inflationary in another way. People who buy on credit get less for their money since they pay from 12 to 24 per cent and even more for credit.

How Dollar Shrinks

A person paying 12 per cent which is close to what banks charge for consumer loans, gets only $88 in goods he is actually paying 18 per cent and gets only $82 for every $100 spent. Or he has to put out $112 for $100 in goods.

The dollar today is worth only 40 cents in terms of 1939 purchasing power. And if only 2 per cent goes for credit costs, it buys only 35.2 cents. How's that for inflation?

Credit is inflationary even when credit card issuers levy little or no charges on the purchaser. Because the seller has to pay a percentage of each credit sale, that cost must be built into the price, whether it is a meal, a pearl necklace or a new car.

The average rate of interest on consumer credit would be almost impossible to determine. But if it is 15 per cent — and it is probably more — consumers are paying $15 billion a year for the inflationary luxury of paying for things on some tomorrow.

Thieu Posing A Risk

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The continuing boycott of the Paris peace talks by President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam has produced a high-level disagreement between the Pentagon and the State Department over what the U.S. should do.

The split boils down to this: Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford wants to start negotiations with North Vietnam right now — with or without Thieu. Secretary of State Dean Rusk wants to give Thieu time to come along and participate in Paris. Although this disagreement has not reached crisis proportions and is limited mainly to the subtle element of timing, it illustrates Thieu's capacity to make serious trouble.

Clifford's role inside the Administration is as master architect of Mr. Johnson's Vietnam policy since the President's limited bombing ban last March. Clifford has made no secret of his anger over Thieu's refusal to go along with the agreement between Washington and Hanoi announced by Mr. Johnson on Oct. 31. The Pentagon's Clifford clique, composed of top civilian officials, is ready to go to Paris at a moment's notice to launch serious military talks with the North Vietnamese.

But Rusk is playing a more cautious game than Clifford. His client in Vietnam is Thieu, and his main interest is the stability and survival of the Thieu government. Accordingly, Rusk and Ellsworth Bunker, U.S. Ambassador in Saigon, are more interested than the Clifford clique in the internal politics of Saigon and an eventual political settlement that safeguards Thieu's government. They want to give Thieu time to go to Paris.

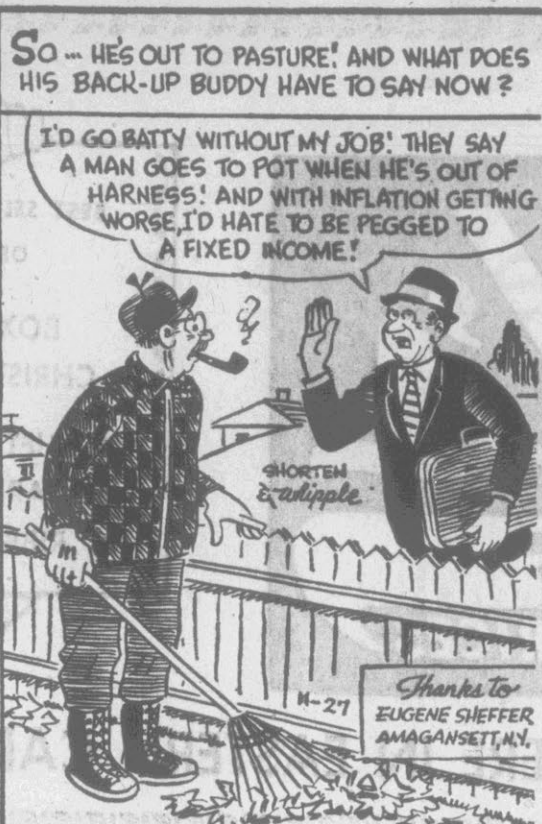

To buttress their position, Rusk and top State Department aides are talking more optimistically, whether they believe it or not, that Thieu will soon agree to send representatives to the now-stalled Paris talks. Channels between Bunker and Thieu, choked off by Thieu's anger in early November, are now open and reasonably harmonious.

The Clifford men, however, are not so optimistic. As they see it, Thieu must be reasoning that the longer he can delay the talks, the longer total U.S. commitment to the war is assured and the less chance there is for any curtailment of modern U.S. weapons for Thieu's army. Delay, in other words, is to Thieu's advantage.

With only minor reservations, accordingly, the Clifford clique now believes Thieu might continue his stall for a long while — possibly even to the day in January when Richard M. Nixon becomes President.

They reason that, even though Mr. Nixon has lined up solidly with the President, Thieu believes the new President might take a somewhat different view of the Vietnam puzzle — more favorable to Thieu — when he actually assumes power. Although Nixon intimates say this is out of the question and that Mr. Nixon desires nothing more in the world than success for Mr. Johnson's peace initiative, Thieu can't be sure.

Many other things could happen between now and Jan. 20 to change the negotiations (Continued On Page 5)

Pentagon officials say privately that these violations by Hanoi, including attacks on large towns and shelling from the demilitarized zone (DMZ), have not reached anything like a serious stage. But the longer Thieu delays getting the peace talks started, the more chance there is that an isolated outrage by a North Vietnamese commander will provoke an emotional political reaction in the U. S. and a demand for retaliation.

Priest Sentenced On Tax Count; Psychiatric Check

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Catholic priest who authorities say led a double life has been sentenced to two years in prison for failing to file federal tax returns on more than $111,000 income.

The Rev. Robert Daniel Nikliborc was sentenced Tuesday by U.S. Dist. Judge William P. Gray, but the judge said the sentence might be reduced after the priest undergoes a 90-day psychiatric examination.

Gray also granted the clergyman a stay of execution until Jan. 6 so Father Nikliborc can attend the opening of a new boy's home near Beaumont.

The priest is director of Boys Town of the Desert, an orphanage near Banning, Calif. The government said he also was known as Robert Drew Rand, a rich electronics executive who lived in a $75,000 home in nearby Palm Springs.

The 37-year-old priest pleaded guilty to not filing tax returns in 1963-65, but denied misappropriating any funds connected with the orphanage, where he also is finance director.

Nikliborc said he didn't think he had to file returns for the years in question, but said he now realizes he should have.

U.S. Atty. Matt Byrne said the priest had twice signed deeds as a married man, once for the

Farmville, Ayden Seek Grid Championships

Woody's Ramblin's

By WOODY PEELE

This week's column comes a little early because of the large amount of games being played a little bit early due to Thanksgiving.

Hopefully, by the time this week's picks are over, there'll be something to be thankful for. Last week, the record dropped off just a little, as the predictions came out right in 14 of the 20 games listed.

The high school highlight of the season will be this weekend as two Pitt County teams go after championships. Everyone in Pitt County can be proud of the fact that these two teams have gone as far as they have. Is there another that can claim two finalists?

Ayden will be meeting Red Springs Thursday afternoon in Ficklen Stadium. The Tornadoes will be going for the State title for the first time since back in 1960. Not that Ayden hasn't won everything in sight for the past three years, but this is the first state title since then.

Last week, after calling Weldon, I nearly was run out of town. This week, I'll go back to the old standard . . . Ayden to win.

Farmville will take on Rohanen Friday for the Eastern 2-A title in Fayetteville. This should prove to be an outstanding game. Both teams have fine records and good players. It should be a tough one, but I'll stick with the Red Devils in this one.

Turning to the collegiate scene, East Carolina will close out its season Saturday in Johnson City, Tennessee, against East Tennessee State University.

While the Pirates have come on strong in the late stages of the season, East Tennessee has also, winning their last three. It could be a very tough game, but I'll stick with the Bucs (I can't go wrong, they're both Bucs). So then I guess I'll have to pick East Carolina.

Elsewhere in the Southern Conference, Furman and Wofford will be meeting for the second time. Wofford won the first time, but the Paladins will be the home team this time around. I'll still stick with Wofford.

In the other game, VMI takes on Virginia Tech in their annual Thanksgiving Day ritual. The Keydets are too far down the ladder for this one, so I'll go with Virginia Tech to win.

In other games, it will be Texas over Texas A&M, and Tulsa over Wichita on Thanksgiving Day.

Friday, Houston (100-6!) will take Florida State.

Saturday, it'll be Arizona State over Arizona, Army over Navy, Alabama over Auburn, Baylor over Rice, Boston College over Holy Cross, Brigham Young over San Jose, Georgia over Georgia Tech, Memphis State over Louisville, Miami over Florida, Mississippi over Mississippi State, Oklahoma over Oklahoma State, Notre Dame over Southern Cal, and Tennessee over Vanderbilt.

Season's record: 141 right, 43 wrong, 76.6 per cent.

Battleboro Downs Bethel Union Five

BETHEL — Battleboro's Phillips High School held off a stubborn Bethel Union High School team last night to take a 72-64 victory over the Bulldogs.

Battleboro edged into a slim 16-14 lead in the first period, then built that to 36-30 by the end of the half.

In the third period, the two teams played virtually even, with Battleboro managing to tack another point to its lead, 50-43.

Flowe Captures S.C. Defensive Honors

Last Saturday afternoon Jim Flowe stood near the East end of the football field in Charleston with his father savoring the taste of victory over The Citadel.

"Are you a senior?" some Citadel follower asked.

Flowe replied in the affirmative.

"Well, I'm glad you won't be back next year," came the reply.

Flowe grinned, all the time thinking he almost didn't make it this year and knowing, too, that little more than a month before it appeared he was finished anyway.

"I got in trouble with the books and didn't make spring practice because of that," he said. "Then I spent all summer school to get eligible and when pre-season practice started, I wasn't in shape."

In fact, Flowe practiced with East Carolina's Pirates little more than a week before he opened at defensive end against Parsons.

Last Saturday he played what Coach Clarence Stasavich termed one of the finest performances he has ever witnessed by a defensive end in 22 years of coaching football. For his efforts, Flowe was named defensive player of the week in the Southern Conference.

"Do you get something for being named player of the week?" he asked in the field house after being informed of the honor. "If I do, I think I'll cut it up in about 40 pieces and spread it around. That game belonged to everybody on the team."

But the praise from Coach Stasavich indicated that on this day Flowe did more than is ordinarily expected of one football player.

"He made the difference," Stasavich said. "He rushed their passer and led a fine defensive charge by our line."

Flowe's efforts not only contained the running attack of The Citadel when the Cadets came in his direction, but his rush on the passer was the chief reason the Citadel's Tony Passander was thrown for 97 yards in losses during the game.

Flowe, a 6-0, 220-pounder from Charlotte, started out as a fullback with the cadets and scored six touchdowns from that position as a sophomore. But last year the Pirates came up with George Gay and Butch Colson at fullback and it was decided Flowe was the most likely candidate to be shifted to another position.

A defensive end in high school, he once again returned to that position and he's been there ever since.

"He was the most qualified of the three to move to another position although he had started eight games for us at fullback as a sophomore," Stasavich said.

Although he wasn't in peak condition when the season began, Flowe started at defensive left end against Parsons. He started the next two games, but suffered a torn ligament inside the right knee against Louisiana Tech and it was so severe, the team physician and trainer Terry Willis decided to put it in a cast.

Flowe, when told his leg was going to be immobilized for six weeks, did a powerful piece of convincing people he wasn't hurt all that bad and after prevailing, spent considerable time in the whirlpool and running around the field.

By the time the Richmond game rolled around, he was ready to play again, but it wasn't until Tampa that he really began to terrorize opposing quarterbacks. Against Tampa and Marshall he had particularly outstanding games, but the peak performance was against The Citadel.

"He has been a good steady defensive player all year," Stasavich said. "When he was physically able, he did a very fine job. He is one of the best people we have rushing the passer."

Rookie Stan Bahnsen of the New York Yankees won 17 games last season. He lost 12 and in pitching 267 innings he compiled a 2.05 earned run average.

Jockey George Cusimano of Washington, D.C., weighs only 93 pounds.

Only Two Pirates Make All-Southern

By ED YOUNG

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — In this incredible Year of the Touchdown in college football, the members of the 1968 All-Southern Conference team would feel right at home.

Passers? The All-Southern has not one, but two, of the very best—Davidson's Gordon Slade and Richmond's Buster O'Brien. Runners? William and Mary's Terry Morton and The Citadel's Jim McMillan ran for 1,200 yards.

The sum of the accomplishments of this backfield is a staggering 5,201 yards and 51 touchdowns, passing and running, plus five conference records — although, ironically, only O'Brien played on a winning team.

The two-platoon All-Southern this year adds up to 26 players because of ties in the voting among sportswriters, radio-TV sportscasters and conference coaches by the SC Sportswriters Association and the news services.

Joining Slade, O'Brien, Morton and McMillan on the offensive unit, which has the regulation 11 players were: Ends Mike Kelly of Davidson and Walker Gillette of Richmond; tackles Wayne Fowler of Richmond and Ralph Beatty of William and Mary; Guards Bob Biddle of VMI and Ben Grieb of East Carolina, and center Bob Herb of W&M.

Making up the defensive backfield are Jim Barton of W&M, Kerr Kump of VMI, Winston Whitehead of Richmond and Joe Isaac of The Citadel.

Ends Mel Medved and Buzz Montsinger of Richmond and Jim Rathbun of The Citadel; tackle Don Tyson of East Carolina and Roddie Watkins of The Citadel; middle guards Burt Waite of W&M and Dick Irvin of Richmond, and linebackers Pat Turchetta of Richmond and Ken Diaz of The Citadel form the rest of the regular defensive unit.

Two specialists were chosen—Furman's Jimmy Jordan, who also is an excellent runner and pass catcher, was picked as punter and The Citadel's Jim Gahagan as placekicker.

Slade alone set four SC records this season—2,131 yards of total offense including 2,109 yards on 190 completions in 322 passes. O'Brien, who led Richmond to a 7-3 record and the conference championship, hit on 21 touchdown passes, a league record, while completing 149 of 255 passes for 1,961 yards. Morton ran for 651 yards, McMillan for 523. Each scored six touchdowns.

For making a passing offense go, the two ends—Kelly and Gillette—are unexcelled. Each is a tremendous receiver and, once the ball is in his possession, a fast and elusive runner.

Kelly led the league in scoring with 66 points, catching 63 passes in all for an SC-record 936 yards and 11 touchdowns. Gillette speared 50 passes for 857 yards and eight TD's.

Although the All-Southern is an oversized squad, only three of its members are repeaters from the 1967 all-star team—Gillette, Biddle and Isaac. All three are seniors, as are 13 others on the two platoons.

Ayden Meets Red Springs; Farmville, Rohanen Mix

The Ayden Tornadoes and the Farmville Red Devils will chase State and Eastern football titles Thursday and Friday, as the high school football season comes to a close.

Ayden plays host to Red Springs Thursday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. in Ficklen Stadium at East Carolina University. Farmville travels to Fayetteville to meet Rohanen at 8 p.m. on Friday.

The Ayden-Red Springs contest will be the first State Class A championship decided since the 1960 season. In that year, Ayden went to the Eastern finals before losing to James Kenan of Duplin County, which went on to win the state title.

The Tornadoes, 10-2, will be out to prove that they are the best Class A football team in the state in the game. For the past four years, they have been ruling the roost, winning three straight regional titles, and going undefeated for three straight years, and running up a 45-game losing streak.

Their only two losses have been to 2-A schools, one of them Farmville.

Red Springs has put together a 10-1 record. Their only loss was a 14-7 defeat at the hands of Littlefield. Littlefield is the only link the two teams have with each other. Littlefield lost to Swansboro, a team which fell to Ayden.

Coach Bill Klutz of Ayden said that Red Springs runs from the I-formation, and prefers to run the ball as much as possible. They can pass the ball when they have to. Overall, the team is small, with only a couple of big tackles.

Ayden, meanwhile, will be missing the services of two starting linemen, Randy Loftin and Charles Smith, both out with injuries. Also out for the game is reserve halfback Vernon Warren.

The Farmville-Rohanen meeting will be for the Eastern 2-A title. There is no state final in the 2-A ranks.

Farmville will put its 11-0-1 record against Rohanen's 11-1. "They are big and strong," Farmville's Coach Elbert Moyer said. "Their line averages from 196 to 205, and they have fast backs, and a real good big fullback."

Rohanen likes to run out of the straight-T, and occasionally will go into the single wing.

"They are strictly a control type of team. They get their hands on the ball and push it down the field. They don't pass much because they don't have to. They just run over you," Moyer said.

The Farmville club will be at its normal strength for the past few weeks. "There are some slight hurts, but nothing that will really bother us," Moyer said.

"We are going to have to keep them honest and keep the ball away from them," Moyer said. He noted that Fairmont led Rohanen 13-7 at the half before losing 25-13 in last week's game. "Rohanen just controlled the ball all during the second half, and Fairmont never got hold of the ball."

Belvoir Rips Bear Grass

BELVOIR — Belvoir-Falkland got back into the winner's column last night with a pair of wins over hapless Bear Grass.

The boys took a 77-35 decision, while the girls won, 49-16.

In the girls game, Belvoir gained an 8-2 lead in the first period and then built that to 18-6 by the half.

In the third period, the Eagles added 10 points to their margin, to lead 33-11, and then outscored Bear Grass, 16-5 in the final period to win easily.

Teresa Harrell led Belvoir with 18 points, while Judy Scott added 11.

In the boys contest, Belvoir shot away to a 15-8 lead in the first period, then outgunned Bear Grass, 19-8, in the second period to push the halftime lead to 34-16.

Belvoir came back in the third period to add eight more points to their lead, and hold a 53-27 advantage going into the final stanza. In the closing act, Belvoir ripped the nets for 24 points while Bear Grass managed only eight.

David Nichols led Belvoir with 16 points, while Joey Moore had 15 and David Mayo had 10.

Alan Ayers led Bear Grass with 16 and Paul Mobley had 11. Belvoir's next varsity encounter will be Thursday, December 5, when they travel to West Edgecombe.

Fear Spies Know U.S. Warhead Stockpiles

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is considering moving its nuclear weapons warheads in Western Europe to new hiding places for fear spies have pinpointed their present location for the Soviet Union.

Officials say they can't be sure how much Russia knows, but they became concerned after a top German officer was found shot to death and a Turkish diplomat was arrested.

It's feared the Soviets may possess technical data on sophisticated nuclear weapons and North Atlantic Treaty Organization war plans.

Interrogation of Nihat Imre, Turkish senior administrative official at supreme headquarters of the allied powers in Brussels, is hoped to reveal how much Russia knows. He is being questioned in Ankara, Turkey.

Imre was arrested Oct. 6 and charged with espionage. Three days later German Rear Adm. Hermann Luedke was found shot to death in a hunting area. He had just retired as NATO deputy chief of logistics and supply planning.

Luedke could have had access to physical inventories, location of bases," said a senior U.S. official.

The United States has about 7,200 tactical nuclear weapons stored in Europe including battlefield missiles, artillery and jet fighter-bomber ammunition. Warheads are stored separated in strategic locations and would be mated with the weapons if and when needed.

Actor Left $2 Million Estate

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Lee Tracy left an estate worth more than $2 million to his wife of 30 years, Helen.

The will of the late actor, who died of cancer last Oct. 18 at age 70, will be filed for probate in Superior Court today Mike Casey, Tracy's personal manager, disclosed the contents of the will Tuesday.

Tracy left his entire estate—which includes property, a home, an apartment house, cash and large bundles of stocks—to his wife. Upon her death, the remainder of the estate will go to a number of charities.

Hit Truck, But Missed A Sub

HONOLULU (AP) — A car driven by Hitoshi Mogi, 40, ran into the back of a truck Tuesday evening, but he missed the submarine. The truck was hauling a six-ton, 23-foot long research sub.

Mogi was slightly injured, his car badly smashed and the truck dented, police said.

An Ailing Abernathy Supports Hyde Protests

SWAN QUARTER, N.C. (AP) — The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, drawn and tired and describing himself as suffering from a virus, urged Hyde County Negroes Tuesday night to intensify their protests against a school desegregation plan.

The president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference pledged his organization's full support of continued demonstrations and told his audience of about 500:

"What we have to do is stand up and tell the Pharaohs of North Carolina we are sick and tired of being left out of the mainstream of things and we are not going to take it any longer."

Abernathy, arriving from Atlanta, walked into the meeting slowly with aides supporting him on each side.

He swayed unsteadily during his speech and told a newsman afterward that he was under heavy sedation for a virus infection. He said he had been hospitalized last week.

"I'm sick," he said. "I'm going to see a doctor tomorrow and I may have to go back to the hospital."

He said he had kept the Swan Quarter appointment against his doctor's orders.

Abernathy said he probably would not participate in today's planned demonstrations in the Hyde County town. Negro leaders said they plan to provoke arrests nonviolently in what they call a "jail in."

Golden Frinks, North Carolina

field secretary for the SCLC, said "maybe about 200" persons would provoke arrests by a special detachment of 20 state highway patrolmen who have been on duty since almost daily demonstrations began two weeks ago.

About 120 persons have been arrested thus far, most of them for blocking streets. All have been released on bond.

Abernathy said the past demonstrations have been "just a warmup."

Judgeship For Abner Alexander

WINSTON-SALEM — Abner Alexander, whose wife is the former Wynnette Garner of Greenville, was elected to one of the Forsyth District Judgeships at Winston-Salem in the recent election.

Alexander was appointed Chief Judge last Thursday by Chief Justice R. Hunt Parker of the State Supreme Court. Alexander is a former Assistant U.S. District Attorney, and was for six years a U.S. Commissioner. He is a member of the Forsyth, the N.C. State, and American Bar Associations.

Alexander will be sworn into office on December 2.

Mrs. Alexander's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Glenn Garner, are residents of Greenville.

James Madison was the first president who had previously served as a congressman.

"Before we get through with the school board ... the economic structure ... the police ... the Ku Klux Klan ... they are going to be glad to give us that to which we are constitutionally entitled to," Abernathy said.

The demonstrations have been aimed against a school desegregation plan approved by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The plan calls for phasing out two Negro schools and integrating the third school completely.

Dissidents want the Negro schools to remain open and be integrated. A boycott of schools by Negroes since classes began in September is 95 per cent effective, Abernathy said.

"We want completely integrated schools — students and faculty — and we will settle for nothing less," Abernathy said. Frinks had told the group earlier in the day that "We aren't going to negotiate."

Referring to militant Negro groups, Abernathy said, "We can understand the frustrations" of those who advocate violence, but "We know that burning will not solve the problem."

A column of 322 persons, mostly teen-agers marched to the Hyde County Courthouse Tuesday afternoon in a peaceful demonstration. They were told that Hyde County Negro teachers were pressing for sanctions against the county's schools unless the protestors' demands are met.

What the sanctions would involve was not specified. The term normally means things such as discouraging teachers from accepting jobs in the sanctioned school system.

Milton Fitch, of Wilson, state SCLC coordinator, said all Hyde County members of the predominantly Negro North Carolina Teachers Association had approved a resolution urging consideration of sanctions.

The resolutions said that, "If no action is taken to relieve the school situation in Hyde County the members of the Hyde County unit and the North Carolina Teachers Association will call upon the North Carolina Teachers Association and the National Education Association to announce 'sanctions alert' and to invoke sanctions if necessary upon the Hyde County school system."

for the regular term. This should also benefit ECU's summer program.

To encourage maximum use of facilities, at least some dorms and instructional facilities should be air conditioned, the board recommends. Most of East Carolina's instructional buildings are now air conditioned, but none of the dorms are.

The report gives considerable attention to libraries where wide variations exist. Here again the regional universities were locked in a step below the Greater University.

The following immediate annual appropriations for books, periodicals and bindings are recommended: UNC-Chapel Hill, $1,200,000; NCSU, $1,090,000; UNC-Greensboro, $640,000; UNC-Charlotte, $640,000; East Carolina, $490,000; Western Carolina, $540,000; Appalachian, $450,000; NCC, $360,000 and NCA&T, $200,000. Four-year colleges should have their budgets increased by amounts ranging from $120,000 to $150,000.

The board suggests library budgets of not less than $100 per student, or five percent of the total general educational budget of the institution, whichever is greater.

Some of the budgets for fiscal year ending June 30, 1968: UNC-CH, $810,000; NCSU, $318,000; UNC-G, $128,000; UNC-C, $185,000; East Carolina, $336,000; Western Carolina, $91,000; Appalachian, $139,000; NCC, $75,000; A&T, $94,000; Wilmington, $59,000; Fayetteville, $47,000.

It is suggested that Chapel Hill's library be built to 2,350,000 volumes by 1975 and N.C. State's to 1,150,000 volumes. Greensboro's should be built to 800,000 volumes and Charlotte's to 500,000.

Regional universities should build their libraries to 400,000 volumes as soon as possible "with larger collections as the demands of enrollment and the complexity of academic offerings indicate." ECU's was set at 650,000 volumes by 1975.

Four-year colleges should build to collections of not less than 130,000 volumes by 1975, according to the report.

Also recommended was one professional librarian to every 300 students and library seating for 25 percent of student enrollment.

The report shows East Carolina with a 58 percent deficiency in reader space based for Fall, 1968 enrollment and suggested that a request for library expansion funds be expedited.

Mr. Perfectionist:
The color TV you've held out for is here!

Get the Color TV with the works in a drawer.

The works in a drawer: 10 tubeless solid-state mini-circuits for solid dependability. Quasar is Color TV that stays at home working, not in the repair shop.

The solid-state mini-circuit. It plugs in in your home in minutes.

Have you been a color TV holdout? A little afraid of all the service problems? Hold out no more. Look into Quasar...color TV with the works in a drawer.

Just what is it that's made Quasar worth waiting for? (Other than a beautiful picture, great color and style?) Two important things. The dependability of solid state electronics. And fast, at-home service you can only get when the works are in a drawer.

In Quasar, most components except the rectifier and picture tube are solid-state. They're tubeless mini-circuits...designed to work without burning themselves out. They plug in in minutes, if service is ever needed.

A serviceman simply opens the drawer at the front of the set. Snaps in a replacement circuit. Closes the drawer. And that's it. You might miss the kickoff and part of the first half, but not much more. In most cases service is handled in your home, not the shop.

So, why look for another excuse? Go to your Motorola dealer and look into Quasar instead. We're so impressed with Quasar reliability, we've guaranteed it (everything, picture tube and chassis parts) for two years.

But you'll be impressed, too.

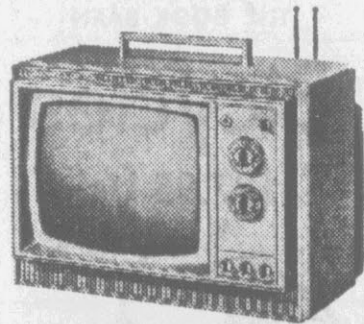

Two Year Registered Guarantee on Picture Tube and All Parts
Original owner guarantee covers free exchange or repair of parts proven defective in normal use. Arranged through selling dealers. Labor and transportation extra. Guarantee not valid unless guarantee card mailed to Motorola within ten days after delivery of set.

EXTRA! New Motorola Electronic Remote Control! Remarkable and unique. Solid state! Solid reliability! Silent color and sound control! See it!

Tarawa Revisited On Anniversary

EDITOR'S NOTE: William H. Hipple, now western director of public relations for American Airlines, was The Associated Press war correspondent on the beach at Tarawa atoll in the Western Pacific Ocean when the Marines landed 25 years ago. He returned to Tarawa this week to commemorate the anniversary.

By WILLIAM H. HIPPLE
Written for The Associated Press

TARAWA, Gilbert Islands (AP) — Exactly 25 years later we came ashore to this lonely atoll astride the Equator in the mid-Pacific where 5,800 men had died for their beliefs in four days of vicious fighting. This time we were met by happy, dancing Gilbertese natives in grass skirts and flowered print clothing and piled with freshly cut coconuts filled with sweet cool milk. White clad British officials welcomed us with handshakes and bows. A few of these people were the same. Our party of five, who had been on the original invasion, was led by Gen. David M. Shoup, former commandant of the U.S. Marines and Medal of Honor winner for his heroic leadership on this island.

Gen. Shoup came out of retirement for eight days to represent the United States at formal ceremonies commemorating the 25th anniversary of the assault of Marine and naval forces against this Japanese-held fortress.

The plaque which Gen. Shoup dedicated at the end of the pier on Betio, the tiny one-half square mile island of this atoll where the assault took place, says, "This was the first American assault against a fortified atoll—the testing ground for Marine amphibious doctrine and techniques that paved the way for the island campaigns that followed and saved thousands of American lives along the road to victory in the Pacific."

Of course, it could not tell the full story of the 1,087 U.S. Marines killed and 2,292 wounded, and 4,690 Japanese dead.

British, Australian, New Zealand and Gilbert and Ellice Island officials participated with Gen. Shoup and U.S. Vice Consul Peter Maher from Fiji in the dedication of the monument. Honor guards from the U.S. destroyer escort Mimorris, the native constabulary of the Gilbert Islands and delegations of local Girl and Boy Scouts, schools and native organizations stood at attention. Crowded on the pier were some 5,000 Gilbertese, solemn and colorful in their native dress.

Virtually unnoticed in the crowd was Capt. Unio Suenaga of the Japanese trading ship the "Fiji Maru." By chance the vessel had arrived at Betio the day before—the first Japanese ship to visit here in 25 years. Capt. Suenaga was invited to the ceremony, where he stood, unsmiling and at attention.

The day before held the greatest thrill for those of us who had been there. We flew in over Tarawa from Kwajalein, circled the 30-mile long series of islets twice in our C-130 Hercules turboprop flown by Maj. Marvin Mann of Goshen, Ind.

As we came over little Betio, Gen. Shoup, peering from a porthole, exclaimed, "My God, look at those thousands of palm trees. There were only a couple left intact when we left here."

There is a new pier on Betio now, built close to the one on which or nearby so many Marines died. As we approached by sea, there were three amphibious tractors rusting on the reef. On the other side of the pier, we saw several LVTs—landing vehicle tanks—still resting there. Farther out was the hulk of a Japanese freighter which we remembered so well. Japanese troops had fired from it on the first morning inflicting heavy casualties on boats trying to get over the reef and on men wading ashore.

Our launch crept slowly down the right of the pier on the exact

Opening lead: Ten of $\diamond$
North placed his side's game contract in jeopardy by jumping to four no trump. Altho this response is a raise of partner's opening bid and a direct slam invitation, it should be based on a holding containing 15 or 16 high card points. North was a point shy, but he hoped that his five card suit would provide compensation. South, having a bare minimum of 16 points, passed four no trump.

West opened the ten of diamonds and the jack was played from dummy and overtaken by declarer's queen. A club was led to North's queen. East played the ace of clubs and returned a diamond to clear that suit. South proceeded to run the clubs but, since he had only nine tricks—four clubs, two diamonds, one heart, and two spades, he had to resort at last to the heart finesse. West had discarded one spade, one heart, and two diamonds, retaining three diamonds in his hand. When declarer let the jack of hearts ride around to West's king, the latter cashed out his diamonds to register a two trick setback on the deal.

South's timing was faulty. If he plays the ace of diamonds from dummy on the opening lead in order to take an immediate heart finesse, West will clear the diamond suit. When East gets in with the ace of clubs, however, he is unable to reach his partner—and South is able to run for cover with 10 tricks.

Declarer requires at least two heart tricks in order to bring his total to 10, so that a finesse in that suit must be attempted. Since he must also drive out the ace of clubs, it appears on the surface that success hinges on the favorable location of the king of hearts. Declarer can improve his prospects by taking the heart finesse first—to cover those cases where East holds the ace of clubs and is extremely short in diamonds.

By driving out West's potential entry card first, before the diamonds become established, South gives himself a slightly better chance to eliminate the danger hand from the play.

The Worry Clinic

Lead Temperate Life To Help Your Heart

Marilyn's daddy suffered an early heart attack, due to tension, plus chain smoking. The average (one-pack-per-day) cigarette addict dies from 5 to 7 years earlier than the non-smoker. But tension, obesity, and chain smoking can knock 25 years off your lifespan. So learn how to favor your heart and lower your pulse rate!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE H-543: Marilyn R., aged 19, is a college coed. "Dr. Crane," she began, "Daddy died of a heart attack a month ago."

"But he was only 46 years old!"

"And he seemed in perfect health until that very day when it occurred."

"So what could have caused such an early death?"

Heart and blood vessel damage (apoplexy) cause 1,000,000 deaths each year in the U.S.A.

Yet all types of cancer, combined, kill only 300,000 annually!

At birth, God Almighty figuratively places 2½ billion heart beats in our "cardiac bank account."

If we lead a temperate life, free from unnecessary tension, anxieties, stimulants and obesity, they should last us to the age of 80 years.

But if we "race the motor" and use them faster, we may die at 46, like Marilyn's daddy. To help your heart and thus board those 2½ billion heart beats wisely, sit down when you work, if possible.

And while reading or viewing TV, keep your feet on a hassock!

For when you stand, your heart must pump your blood maybe 6 feet in the vertical and this will require possibly 2 or 3 beats more per minute.

When you sit in a chair, your 6-foot height drops to about 4½ feet.

But with feet on a hassock (or desk or windowsill), it is only 3 feet.

The least strain on the heart is while you are in the horizontal posture, so the main purpose of sleep is thus to rest your heart and salvage about 3,000 heart beats each night.

Obesity will usually zoom your pulse rate and thus consume those 2½ billion beats many years ahead of time.

For it requires 3 miles of newly sprouted blood vessels to service each 5 pounds of extra fat!

So your faithful heart must beat harder and faster to keep up the circulation in those additional miles of "pipes."

Smoking likewise speeds up your pulse rate as much as 20 beats per minute. And this acceleration may last for 20 minutes after you have finished your cigarette!

Tobacco addicts also tend to have hardening of the artery walls, with a reduction in their diameter.

This requires more pressure and a faster pulse rate, so your normal blood pressure of possibly 120-75 may zoom to 200-95.

With this almost doubling of pressure, it is obvious why strokes of apoplexy occur, for an auto tire with double its proper air pressure may blow out when you hit a bump.

Drugs and even sleeping pills can likewise wear out your heart prematurely, for they must be destroyed in the liver and excreted via the kidneys, but the heart must meet this extra prodding.

Caffeine products, like tea and coffee, as well as the cola drinks, also speed up your heart. So does lack of salt via excessive sweating.

And worry, apprehension, fear anger or other emotions will exhaust those 2½ billions heart beats ahead of schedule.

So send for my booklet "How to Break the Tobacco and Liquor Habits," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents, to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

BOISTEROUS BIRD
SOUTH TOLWORTH, England (UPI)—A green parakeet was on the loose here after chewing his way through the stout wire mesh of his cage. "He is fierce and has a nasty bite," said owner Jack Reed.

About two-fifth of the world's population over 15, or 700 million persons, are considered to be illiterate, says Collier's Encyclopedia.
