Early Cease-Fire Has Major Priority In S. Vietnam Plans

By LEWIS GULICK Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — A top South Vietnamese spokesman said today an early cease-fire is a major priority in his government's peace plan, being prepared for presentation at the expanded talks here.

Nguyen Van An, the deputy chief of Saigon's observer mission in Paris, said South Vietnam also will demand "strong and effective international guarantees" in any final settlement.

The North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front have said a cease-fire is unlikely to be discussed until later in the negotiating process. They have said such discussion must be preceded by the withdrawal of American and other foreign troops from South Vietnam.

Van An spoke in an interview as Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, chief of the U.S. delegation, prepared to head home Sunday for a brief Washington visit.

Vietnam consultations were not listed as the main reason for his return, but Harriman was expected to confer with Pentagon officials on the forthcoming conference in which Saigon will participate.

The expanded parley now is expected to get going in the second week in December. The Saigon delegation, whose absence held up the meeting for a month, is due in Paris next week.

Hanoi's insistence that it will only talk to the United States and the refusal of South Vietnam and the NLF to recognize each other will make four-way conversation difficult when the expanded talks begin.

U.S. diplomats prefer to consider the conference makeup two-sided — "our side your side" — with American and Saigon negotiators on one side and Hanoi and the NLF on the other.

Saigon also considers the talks two-sided. South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu said Wednesday his delegation will address all its remarks to Hanoi, apparently ignoring the NLF. It considers the latter an outlaw tool of Hanoi.

North Vietnam and the NLF claim the talks will be "four-sided" with Hanoi and the Viet Cong each having separate negotiating status.

But at the same time, both announced Thursday they would not recognize the Saigon delegation and would address all their remarks to the United States only — thus envisioning a three-sided affair.

The Communists claim the Saigon regime is a "U.S. puppet" and does not represent the people of South Vietnam.

The U.S. delegation headed by Ambassador Averell Harriman has not said it will not talk to anybody, so it might become a "relay" for comments traded by the other groups.

Jenkins Frowns On Super Agency

President Leo W. Jenkins of East Carolina University said today that educators must be "extremely wary of the idea of a super board" of education in North Carolina.

Dr. Jenkins was responding to a report of the Higher Board of Education in which power to control budgeting of all state institutions be granted the board, or a succeeding agency, by the Legislature.

"I do not subscribe to the notion that all has been chaos in higher education in North Carolina or that our present system of checks and balances has been ineffective or that our Legislature and Advisory Budget Commission have been unable to perform their duties effectively," Jenkins said.

"It is my belief, and I think it is shared by my colleagues, that the General Assembly should not relinquish policy-making in North Carolina."

Jenkins pointed out that since the Executive Budget Act was passed in 1925 colleges have made progress. "We have had diversification and there has been no serious evidence of waste."

The long-range report, released last week, also recommended expansions of East Carolina's and other regional universities' libraries; but indicated the disapproval of the board of any attempt to develop doctorate programs in the regional universities.

"Very serious study must be given to the manner in which the Board of Higher Education represents the structure of higher education in North Carolina as a pyramid which would give unequal support to the various institutions for identical programs," Jenkins said.

He continued: "Every North Carolinian ought to be guaranteed an equal opportunity to a quality education on all levels in all institutions, and the concept of a pyramidal structure prohibits this.

"I further believe that the people of both the east and the west are not going to accept without challenge, their exclusion from an opportunity to develop first-rate universities. No vital and vigorous institution should by law be relegated to second-class status."

The East Carolina President tempered his statement with praise for portions of the Higher Board's report: "It is very gratifying to see in this report recommendations made for many of the improvements in higher education that we have sought over the past several years.

"I am referring, of course, to such things as reduced teaching loads, increases salaries, better libraries, and money for interviewing prospective faculty members."

Dr. Jenkins said he felt certain that questions raised by the report "will be discussed as they should be in many forums over the next few months."

Christmas Season Here

NEW LOOK . . . New decorations for downtown Greenville have been put up and will be lighted for the annual Christmas parade on December 3. The new trimmings will be turned on each night at 4:30 and will stay on until 10:00. When all of the lights are burning the current they draw is about the same as ten houses, which is about 60 kilowatts. The city rents the decoration for three years. 16th Explosion At Mine Today

By JOE KROVISKY MANNINGTON, W.Va. (AP)

— Another "major explosion" ripped through No. 9 today, spewing smoke and flame from the mine's Llewellyn portal near the area where 78 men have been trapped nine days.

The early-morning blast, the 16th since the initial explosion Nov. 20, sent flames and a column of white smoke spiraling above the entrance.

Officials directing efforts to rescue the entombed miners promised a "very, very comprehensive evaluation" of the situation within the sprawling mine today.

Drillings made by boring through to the deep caverns below produced air samples showing high concentrations of deadly carbon monoxide and dangerous methane gas.

Peter P. Ferretti, a vice president of Consolidation Coal Co., said the latest testings Thursday night were taken from an area where the men had been trained to go in case of disaster.

He described the testing area as a "very critical place." The carbon monoxide level was 50 times human capability while the methane concentration was 26.4 per cent. He said there is danger of explosion when methane reaches a level of between 5 and 15 per cent.

Ferretti said "we will make some decision" after the evaluation today.

Ferretti, asked Thursday night if the drill sites showed the same deadly air samples would mean sealing the mine, replied: "I can't comment on that. This, of course, is a possibility. All the information at this time doesn't look good. It doesn't look encouraging."

Nixon To Send Scranton On Fact-Finding Trip

By FRANK CORMIER Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon will send former Gov. William S. Scranton of Pennsylvania to Israel and neighboring Arab nations next week to bring himself up to the minute on the potentially explosive Mideast situation.

It was learned late Thursday that Nixon will send Scranton on the trip to gather information Nixon will need as chief executive. Among the Arab countries that are expected to be on the itinerary are the United Arab Republic, Jordan, Lebanon, Saudi Arabia and Iran.

The fact that this was Nixon's second overseas assignment for Scranton since the beginning of the presidential campaign added new impetus to speculation that Scranton might be tapped for either secretary of state or U.S. ambassador to the United Nations in the new administration.

Scranton, after returning from a European fact-finding mission for Nixon, said he had no further aspirations for official positions. But he steered clear of declaring he would not accept a high post were one offered.

In 1964, Scranton made an unsuccessful effort to wrest the GOP presidential nomination from Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

Aides said Nixon is meeting today with staff advisers—not callers from outside the inner circle. Next week the flow of appointments with outsiders will resume—before the president-elect takes off Thursday for a few days in California that will encompass a address before the Republican Governors Association meeting at Palm Springs.

The Nixon family made a flying visit to Washington Thursday to share Thanksgiving with ailing former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and his family.

Nixon later reported he spent about 45 minutes with Eisenhower, recuperating from a series of heart attacks at Walter Reed Army Medical Center. He said they discussed "staffing of the new administration" and that Eisenhower gave him "some good advice and counsel."

The President-elect expressed hope he could meet again with the former chief executive before completing his selections for top federal positions.

As for Eisenhower's condition, Nixon said, "I thought that he looked at least 50 per cent better today than he did the time I saw him three weeks ago." He said the man he served for eight years as vice president was in good spirits.

But Eisenhower was not well enough to join the others as they dined on an Army-prepared Thanksgiving dinner in a small ward dining room. So members of the two families took turns joining Eisenhower for a course served in his sick room.

Wanted Man Turns Self In

MAYESVILLE, Ky. — Marvin Smith, 20-year-old Negro wanted by the Greenville, N. C., police department in connection with a supermarket robbery here last Friday, surrendered to police here yesterday.

Greenville police chief H. F. Lawson said two officers left for Kentucky today to return Smith to Greenville.

Smith is one of four Negroes charged with highway robbery and assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill in connection with the theft of more than $6,000 from supermarket owner Carlton Cozart a week ago.

Mayesville officers said Smith turned himself in and said he would waive extradition to North Carolina.

Two other men are being hunted in connection with the stickup while a third man was taken into custody by Greenville Police Wednesday.

Already in custody is Charlie Wooten, 20 of Route 1, Greenville.

Still being sought by officers is Donnell Carter, 18 of Goldsboro and Aubrey Williams, no address given.

Bodies Found Entombed In Boat

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — The bodies of seven men were found entombed Thursday in the work boat Triple Crown on the floor of the Pacific Ocean. Two others were sought.

The men still missing, unlike the others, were on the deck working when the vessel suddenly capsized and sank Monday.

Six deep sea divers, making five trips, recovered the seven bodies from inside the sunken hull of the 174-foot boat resting in 250 feet of Santa Barbara channel water.

ANTWERP, Belgium (AP) — A 10-year-old girl today gave birth to a child by caesarian operation, reliable sources reported.

Police are investigating to determine who is the father.

Peanut Referendum Set; Ballots Are Due Dec. 2-6

Peanut growers for the first time will vote by mail in the marketing quota referendum for the 1969, 1970 and 1971 crops, W. F. Tyson, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (Pitt County) Committee, said today. The referendum will be held December 2 through December 6.

Ballots should be returned to the ASCS county office by mail or in person during the period Dec. 2-6.

"Beginning with the referendum on marketing quotas for the 1949 crop, growers have approved quotas for each year's peanut crop," Tyson stated. "We hope that the balloting by mail will increase the number of growers voting."

According to Tyson, a grower will be eligible to vote in the referendum if he is entitled to share in the 1968-crop peanuts on a farm on which the acreage produced for peanuts exceeds one acre. A landlord of a standing rent, cash rent or fixed rent is not eligible to vote.

If at least two-thirds of the growers voting in the referendum approve the quotas, they will be effective. Whether or not quotas are approved, the 1969-crop peanut acreage allotments will remain in effect as a means of determining eligibility for the available price support.

Tyson explained that the issues in the peanut quota referendum are similar to those in quota votes for some other basic crops. If the quotas are approved by growers, the quotas — with marketing penalties on excess peanuts — will be in effect in each of the three years, and growers who do not exceed their allotments will be eligible for price support at the full announced rate.

If quotas are not approved by the growers, the quotas and penalties will not be in effect for the 1969-crop peanuts, and price support to growers who keep within their acreage allotments will drop to 50 per cent of parity. In this case, Tyson said, another referendum would be held in 1969 for the following three crops.

"These are the same dates as for the cotton referendum," the chairman said, "and those producers who have both peanut and cotton allotments will get ballots for voting in each of the referendums."

Producers are reminded to be sure to place the ballots in the proper envelopes when returning them to the ASCS county office.

Court Era Ends In Pitt County With A Final Session At Farmville Sat.

By CAROL TYER

With the adjournment of a special session of the Farmville Recorder's Court Saturday morning, an era of the county's judicial history will be brought to an end—the local court system will cease to exist.

The jurisdiction of the new district court will become effective Monday, December 2, at Farmville.

Farmville Clerk of Court, W. A. (Andy) Martin reports that a special court session will be held Saturday morning to take care of any cases which might have arisen between Monday and Saturday, so that no cases, except possibly a few which cannot be dispensed with at those sessions, will be held over for the new District Court. Judge W. E. Joyner has been Recorder's Court judge during the entire time there has been such a court in Farmville. The Recorder's Court was established four years ago to replace the Mayor's Court, which held Recorder's Court jurisdiction.

Joyner will be a part-time magistrate under the new court system. The District Court will convene in Farmville for the first time Thursday, December 12, at 9:30 a.m.

Grifton Recorder's Court session was held last Thursday, November 21. Current offenders in the Grifton area are being assigned to District Courts in Ayden, Greenville or Kinston.

An ordinance of the Grifton Board of Commissioners established the Recorder's Court there July 1, 1955. Robert B. McCotter was appointed judge until a permanent judge could be elected at the next municipal election. George Sauls was the first elected judge. His unexpired term was filled by Archie Rogers. Tom Owens was chosen at the next election and at his death, Archie Rogers was again appointed judge. H. H. Adams, elected in 1967, was the last person to sit on the Grifton Recorder's Court bench. Adams will serve as a part-time magistrate, beginning December 2.

Ayden Judge Larry Davis of the Ayden Recorder's Court adressed that court at its closing session Monday, November 8. He recognized all the persons who have contributed to the workings of the court, including Solicitor Robert Booth, court clerk, Mrs. Peggy Booth, Mayor Ross Persinger and other members of the city government; Chief James Ross and other police officers; probation officers; officials and policemen of Winterville; the North Carolina Highway Patrol; the Pitt County Sheriff Department; and lawyers who have practiced in Ayden. He gave a short history of the Ayden Court, called attention to the courtroom renovation program now in progress and offered congratulations and best wishes to all the new district judges and law enforcement officers who will be responsible for the successful operation of the new court.

The Ayden Recorder's Court was created by a vote of the people December 7, 1935, and has been used continuously since that time. Judges have been J. B. Eure, Sam J. Worthington, Clarence V. Cannon, and Leon L. Kittrell.

The completely self-sustaining Ayden Court has contributed funds to the Town of Ayden, the rescue squad, the fire department, and the police department by suspending sentences upon condition that defendants pay stipulated amounts for the benefit of these departments, rather than assigning fines that would have left the community. Money from the court has also been channeled into the City Courtroom Fund, and into buying a breathalyzer machine and a towaway radio for use by the police and fire departments and the local rescue squad.

Tentative Schedule Criminal court will be held in Greenville Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of each week in Farmville Thursday mornings, and in Ayden, Thursday afternoons. Civil cases domestic relations cases, and juvenile cases will be tried one or more days of the week. Most of these trials will be non-jury, although juries will be provided periodically for cases which demand these. Judge J. W. H. Roberts em-

Heavy Damage In Two Wrecks
 Police reported more than $600 damage resulted from two traffic accidents investigated here yesterday.

Heaviest damage resulted from a 10:35 a.m. collision on First Street, 58 feet West of the Harding Street intersection. Drivers involved in that collision were identified as Vernice Howard Edwards of Kinston and Jack Sherwood Gaskill Jr., 22 of Elizabeth City.

Both drivers were charged with failing to see their intended movements could be made in safety. Damage to the Edwards auto was set at $150 while damage to the Gaskill car was estimated to be $190.

Edith Willette Tripp, 19 of Route 1, Greenville was charged with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 3 p.m. mishap on Cotanche Street, 75 feet east of the Fifth Street intersection.

Investigators said the Tripp car collided with a car driven by Sylvia Domarats Briley, 21 of 521 North Main St., Farmville causing an estimated $100 damage to the Tripp vehicle and about $200 damage to the Briley car.

No injuries were reported in either of the mishaps.

Hold 3 Youths For Kidnapping
SMITHFIELD, N. C. (AP) — Three Johnston County youths were held in jail today on charges of kidnaping, robbing and assaulting a Raleigh man who operates a beauty parlor.

Deputy Sheriff Charlie Lewis identified the three as Dennis Grice, 20, and his brother, Steve, 18, both of Smithfield, and Ray Moore, 21, of Selma.

Lewis said the three were arrested within two hours on descriptions furnished by the Robert Huffstetter, who a deputy said was "badly beaten" but treated at a hospital and released.

Police Probe Four Break-Ins

Greenville detectives today are investigating four break-ins which, they say, may have been the work of the same person.

Officers said glass doors at the Carolina Grill, Collins Pridmore Department Store, Winn-Dixie and Harper's Grocery were broken out.

Although no report of what was taken from the stores was available Chief H. F. Lawson said a quantity of clothing was removed from Collins-Pridmore.

Officers were able to trail the person who entered that department store at the intersection of Dickinson Avenue and Greene Streets, to an area of 14th Street.

According to the chief, the thief left a trail of clothing and hangers as he fled.

The chief noted that the thief failed to enter the Harper's grocery building. Lawson theorized that a German Sheppard dog inside the building frightened the violator away, there.

Miss Carole Roberts Weds

In a candlelight ceremony Thursday at 2:00 p.m., Miss Carole Jane Roberts became the bride of Jake Allan Moretz in the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church.

The Rev. Conrad Glass of Raleigh and Dr. Joyce Early of Greenville officiated at the ceremony.

A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Paul Toll, organist, and James Rodney Roberts, brother of the bride, and Mrs. G. C. Allen, cousin of the bride, were soloists.

The chapel was decorated with a seventeen candle arch in the center with two seventeen branch candelabra interspersed with white flowers and greenery. The pews were flanked with Hogarth curves of white flowers and greenery. Pews were marked with white satin bows and white bridal flowers.

Parents of the couple are Judge and Mrs. James William Holmes Roberts of Greenville and Mr. and Mrs. Jake Arthur Moretz of Boone.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of delustré satin and Venice lace. The bodice was styled with a mini yoke and elbow length sleeves of lace. The A-line skirt was designed with a watteau detachable chapel train of Venice lace.

Her bouffant veil of French silk illusion was attached to petals of illusion and lace trimmed with pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white butterfly roses centered with a white orchid.

Miss Anna Ballard of Wilmington, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a formal gown of pale pink chiffon over pink taffeta. The gown was trimmed in pink satin ribbon around the empire waistline. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink Briarcliff roses tied with pink bridal satin.

The bridegroom's father serves as best man. Ushers were Wallace L. Hill II, of Boone, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Robert P. Roberts of Greenville, brother of the bride.

The bride's mother selected a three-piece silk suit complemented by gold-edge rhinestone buttons and matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother chose a blue silk A-line ensemble with blue and white accessories.

For a wedding trip to the coast and western North Carolina, the bride changed into a classic three-piece suit with a three-quarter length coat in navy and green plaid and beige accessories.

The couple will reside at 311½ E. King St., Apt. 1, Boone.

The bride is a sophomore at Appalachian State University. The bridegroom is a senior at Appalachian State University and is employed at Appalachian Varsity Men's Wear, Inc.

Mrs. Jake Allan Moretz

Floating Shower Honors Couple

BETHEL — Mr. and Mrs. James Ronald Copeland, a recent bridal couple, were honored at a floating miscellaneous shower on Saturday night at the Woodman Hall.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. C. X. James, Mrs. Glenn Copeland and Mrs. Doris Sutton.

The couple along with their mothers, greeted guests at the door. Mrs. Edith Sutton, aunt of the bride, presided at the guest book.

A motif of pink and white was used throughout the hall with lighted candles. The serving table was overlaid in white scalloped with pink. The centerpiece was a floral arrangement of pink and white carnations flanked by lighted candles.

Mrs. Peggy James served cake and Mrs. Sutton poured punch.

Special guests included: the bride's mother, Mrs. Maggie Tyson of Robersonville; her aunts, Mrs. Edith Sutton and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Bridgers from Wilson; Copeland's parents; Mr. and Mrs. James Earl Copeland; his grandmother, Mrs. Glenn Copeland; and his great grandmother, Mrs. Addie Cherry.

The bride was presented a pink carnation corsage.

With the current popularity of Apache ties, some manufacturers are now packaging one of these casual ties with a matching sport shirt.

Tell Daughter-In-Law How You Feel

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My daughter-in-law calls me "Grandmaw" and I don't like it one bit. Before her baby came she didn't call me anything. Just nothing at all. When she wanted my attention she would say, "Hey!"

When my grandson calls me "Grandmaw," I love it. I'm only 43, but it's one thing to have your own grandchild who is 3 years old call you "Grandmaw" and something else to be called that by a 25-year-old girl. How can I let her know that I am not HER Grandmaw and I wish she would quite calling me that?

MOTHER-IN-LAW: How about just telling her?

DEAR ABBY: I am not a mixed-up teen-ager, I am 24 years old, and I have been around the track a few times. When I was 18 I got involved with a married man and ended up with a baby and no husband. After that, whenever I dated a guy he took it for granted that I was easy, and I had a fight on my hands.

Men think that because a girl made one mistake she has nothing to lose. When I make it plain that I intend to behave myself, they think I am putting on an act. How is a girl who has learned her lesson and reformed supposed to act on a date?

GIRL WITH A PAST: DEAR GIRL: She is supposed to act like a lady, and after she has acted that way consistently, she will convince one man and all that she is sincere. And if she loses the man, she can consider herself lucky because she'll know he wasn't looking for a respectable girl. And by the way, it's easier to live down a "past" if you change pastures.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is so hard to get up in the morning, I just don't know what to do. Once he's up, he's truly ambitious and hard-working but it's getting him out of bed that's a chore. If I call him more than once, I'm "nagging" him, and I don't like to start the day off with a fight.

If I call him only once, he turns over and goes back to sleep. He's constantly late for work, which looks bad on his record. His mother said she had the same trouble with him before he was married. We've been married for 3 years and I do love him. How can I make him realize that the early bird gets the worm? BEAT IN BALTIMORE: DEAR BEAT: Maybe he's not crazy about worms, but if he likes butter on his bread, he'd better wake up (literally, that is). If he continues to be late for work, better get yourself a job. You'll need it. CONFIDENTIAL TO R. E. F. IN YONKERS, N. Y.: A thousand apologies. You are right and am wrong. I had it turned around! It is possible for two brown-eyed parents to produce a blue-eyed child, but the reverse is NOT true. Everybody has a problem. What's yours? Mrs. Carson Is Girl Scout Council Speaker

JACKSONVILLE—Mrs. Russell B. Carson was speaker at the annual meeting of the Girl Scout Council of Coastal Carolina held here last week. Mrs. Carson of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., is chairman of Region III, Girl Scouts of U. S. A. and is a member of the national board of directors of Girl Scouts.

A highlight of the meeting was the presentation of the Thanks Badge, highest award in Girl Scouting, to Mrs. Carl Hammer of Fayetteville.

The badge was given for her years of devoted and outstanding service to Girl Scouting and the Council while living in Goldsboro. Presentation was made by Mrs. Gail Jones of Greenville.

Elected to the board of directors were members-at-large including: Mrs. Lillia G. Taylor, Greenville; and Mrs. Joseph Thigpen, Williamston. Elected for unexpired terms, John B. Casey, Greenville.

Approximately 133 members and guests attended. Greenville, Farmville, Gritton and Williamston were represented. S.J. Waters S.J. Waters, Jr.

Portions Of Report Commendable

(First Of Two Parts)

There is much to be commended in the N. C. Board of Higher Education's "Planning for Higher Education in North Carolina" special report.

We consider the board's strong stand for improvement of faculty salaries and working conditions to be the most commendable of all.

The Higher Board recommended that faculty salaries at Chapel Hill, be increased in 1969-71 to the top quartile of salaries at comparable universities. N. C. State's would be brought to average in 1969-71 and the top quartile in 1971-73.

Senior public institutions, including the regional universities, would be brought to the national averages in 1969-71 and to the top quartile in 1973-75.

The board also proposed a 15 to 1 student ratio for undergraduate teaching, 12 to 1 for master's level work and 6 to 1 for doctorate work.

There were other recommendations to establish minimum education and experience for faculty ranks; improving retirement programs and establishing leaves of absences and sabbatical leaves.

The board has also taken the wise course in recommending that faculty salaries at Negro institutions, which have traditionally lagged behind, be equalized with those of other institutions having comparable functions.

A good study of North Carolina's higher education institution's libraries has been done and the Higher Board has made some recommendations for bringing a state of order out of the hodge podge.

The library holdings this year range from a low of 43,435 at Pembroke to 1,541,315 at UNC-Chapel Hill. As usual Negro colleges were shown to be suffering from previous lack of funding. N. C. A&T had 271,944 volumes, and N. C. College 171,754, Elizabeth City 59,105.

Western Carolina was book poor with only 83,263 volumes.

N. C. State had only 426,304 and East Carolina had 328,552.

There was also a considerable deficiency found in reader space in the library buildings at the various institutions. East Carolina was among the worst with a 58 percent deficiency. N. C. State had a 61 percent deficiency and Western Carolina had a 57 percent deficiency. A&T and NCC each had a 29 percent deficiency. Chapel Hill, Charlotte, Asheville-Biltmore, Elizabeth City, Wilmington and Winston-Salem all had adequate space. The board recommended expediting library building programs to correct these deficiencies.

As a general rule the board recommended seating space for 25 percent of the enrollment and library expenditures of $100 per student or five percent of the total general budget, whichever is greater.

There were recommendations concerning improving student financial aid, which should make North Carolina's higher education open to all young people. As the report says, higher education should not be "a class, racial, or economic privilege."

The board's recommendations that summer programs be supported on the same basis as regular terms should be expedited, as should the recommendation that instructional buildings and some dormitories be air conditioned.

We are in agreement with the Higher Board that extension and continuing education programs should be supported on the same basis as on-campus instruction.

We agree with the Higher Board that there should be more cooperation between higher education institutions, both public and private. Most particularly is this true in relation to stronger state institutions cooperating with Negro schools in their efforts to upgrade.

In many ways the Higher Board has done its job as it was envisioned by the State Legislature which founded the board.

Alas, the board's recommendations also call for changes in higher education administration which would usurp the authority of the governor, Advisory Budget Commission, Legislature and boards of trustees. These recommendations would turn the Higher Board, or some succeeding agency, into a super board of trustees for all colleges and universities. Sunday we will discuss these.

All-N.C. Menu Thanksgiving

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH — For those who planned an all-North Carolina menu for Thanksgiving dinner there probably was plenty of reason to be thankful.

There would — or could — have been turkey and chicken, ham and roast beef, salads, pickles and vegetables and such desserts as blueberry cobbler, sweet potato pie and perhaps even persimmon pie. Baked apples, sliced tomatoes, carrot sticks, potatoes, beans, lettuce and cabbage, cheeses, peanuts — even peanuts pie — apple and tomato juice, jellies and preserves and varieties of sauces, all North Carolina products were available.

And, of course, seafood — fish, oysters, shrimp and crabmeat, clams and scallops, fresh and with all the trimmings such as slaw and hushpuppies made with North Carolina ground corn meal.

All this and more was on the festive board at the annual North Carolina foods and food processing dinner the other night. Producers and processors pointed proudly to their specific products. Gov. Dan K. Moore noted that North Carolina's food production and processing capacity is increasing rapidly and finding wide acceptance.

Wide Variety
There were strawberries and shortcakes, peaches pickled or in pie. There were eggs and chips and smoked products.

The annual affair had its beginning six years ago when then Gov. Terry Sanford predicted progress in the related field of food production and processing.

This year's dinner coincided with the formal dedication of new, multi-million dollar food science laboratory and pilot plant facilities at North Carolina State University.

Officials who are experts in the field said there are signs of phenomenal progress in the field, and they recalled Sanford's words that North Carolina holds the potential to become one of the "food baskets" of the nation.

Scott's Interest
The food production and processing industry will be a major concern of the new state administration of Robert W. (Bob) Scott who happens to be a farmer.

Scott expresses considerable concern about the state's agricultural economy and believes the answer to many of the rural problems lies in producing more of what can be readily processed and marketed.

Additional Tax
In the background of discussion about possible new taxes on the state level is the possibility of a one cent per gallon additional gasoline tax.

It was predicted four or five years ago that such a step was on the distant political horizon. Since then, a $300 million highway bond issue has been approved — and mostly spent — and an extra cent per gallon tax levied during the late W. Kerr Scott's administration has been extended.

Now there is speculation whether the new governor, Kerr Scott's son, may recommend an extra penny per gallon for highway purposes. Certain sources say it is possible.

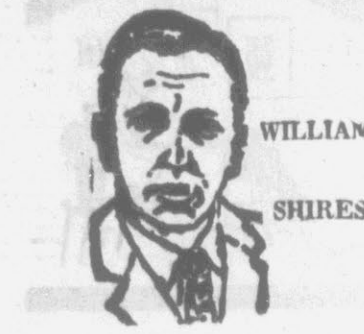

Highway Financing
Highway and other public transportation financing is proving a problem of staggering proportions in other states.

According to a survey by the National Highway Users Conference, Nebraska has voted for issuance of bonds for highways when approved by three-fifths of the legislature.

Louisiana voters accepted a proposal to exclude high-board of highways as a budget unit and require it to submit an annual budget for review by the legislature.

Mississippi voters rejected a proposal to exclude highway bonds from a state bonded debt ceiling.

In Oregon, voters rejected an amendment to permit a one cent gasoline tax increase for four years to finance a $30 million beach roads project.

Turkey Raffles Mean Big Birds

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the ordeals of life is the problem of getting rid of the remains of a turkey you win in the annual office Thanksgiving raffle.

For some reason unknown to man the prizes in these affairs are never reasonable-sized birds — say 10 to 12-pounders.

No, indeed. They all suffer from gigantism, one of the curses of a myopic civilization which tends mistakenly to equate mere bulk with true quality. They weigh from 20 pounds on up, and are built like hulking feathered apes.

A man ceases to be a hero in his wife's eyes any day he lugs home a vast rubbery turkey he has won at the office. As he opens the door, full of pride but faint with exhaustion, she takes one look at the turkey slung over his bent back and yelps:

"What do you expect me to do with that—cook it or preserve it for the Smithsonian Institution?"

"Now what are you hollering about?" he says. "aren't you glad I won us a tree Thanksgiving dinner?"

Free? Getting a supposedly free turkey at Thanksgiving is like being given a sacred white elephant in Thailand. The initial cost is nothing. But the upkeep is everything.

By the time you surround the turkey with proper fixings

Only God And His Power

We could learn a great many lessons about the power and providence of God if we took the time to examine the essential nature of certain modern inventions.

Radio and TV transmission speak volumes on the power of the unseen. No one would suspect did he not actually know from experience that the atmosphere round about him is charged with messages, speeches, and all varieties of musical programs. As soon as we buy a receiving set, attach it and turn the dial, we suddenly become aware of the conditions in the unseen world about us which we never suspected.

Also, we can take the microscope and looking at the smallest bodies in the created universe see there a pattern which bespeaks a Creator. We turn from the microscope to the telescope, and as we look out over the majestic heavens we see the hand of God keeping the planets on their orbits. The psalmist said that the heavens declare the glory of God and the firmament showeth his handiwork. If this same psalmist were living today, he would have much to say about the mystery of the radio and TV and about the power of God being shown forth in the marvelous advances man is making in science.

There is no such thing as Nature. If we really have religious faith let us recognize Nature as God's way of working in the physical universe. There is no other power but God Himself.

JOHN CUNIFF

1906 Book Was Shocker

NEW YORK (AP) — The consumer protection movement may be traced into biblical times but in the United States one of its most enduring milposts was driven into the American consciousness in 1906 with publication of "The Jungle."

That book, which described the shockingly filthy conditions in Chicago slaughterhouses and the human debasement they brought with them, was written by Upton Sinclair, for whom funeral services will be held Saturday in New Jersey.

It is easy to believe that a 90-year-old man could have had little to do with what today is thought to be a very modern issue, the protection of consumers in the market place. But it would be incorrect.

Although relatively inactive in his later years, Sinclair had much to do with the resent Federal Trade Commission hearings and truth in packaging and truth in lending and new and better Better Business Bureaus.

In 1906 there was considerable agitation but not as much action toward resolving some of the social and economic problems that had grown astride the burgeoning industrial economy. "The Jungle's" prose brought horror, then action.

"There would be meat stored in great piles in the rooms," Sinclair wrote, "and the water from leaky roofs would drip over it, and thousands of rats would race about on it."

Relentlessly, Sinclair added detail to his case. "It was too dark in these storage places to see well, but a man could run his hand over these piles of meat and sweep off handfuls of the dried dung of rats."

He continued: "These rats were nuisances, and the packers would put poisoned bread out for them; they would die, and then rats, bread and meat would go into the hoppers together."

Such revelations were too much for the American mind and stomach, and soon President Theodore Roosevelt was receiving scores of letters a day demanding federal action to raise standards in the meat industry.

"The Jungle" became sort of an early "Unsafe At Any Speed," the book written a few years ago by Ralph Nader which aroused Congress to study and take action against factors making automobile travel riskier than necessary.

Roosevelt invited Sinclair to the White House and soon the consumer cause. It led to the famous Food and Drug Act of 1906, the first federal pure food law.

Moreover, the act put the federal government firmly into the consumer protection business for good. And it helped establish the high levels of cleanliness that generally prevail today in the American food industry.

As the American economy progressed, becoming more technologically complex each year, business also became far more active in the consumer protection area. Better Business Bureaus, established in the 1920s, have grown steadily since then. An office was opened recently, for example, in the Harlem section of New York.

Private groups also entered the picture, especially as the consumer needed assistance not simply because of the deception of businessmen but because of the complexity and vast array of products that crowded the market place.

Other Editors Say Needed: Some Ideas

(Goldsboro News-Argus)

Wayne County farmers lost an estimated 973,320 to tobacco barn fires this past summer.

They lost $92,450 to the same problem the previous year.

We have what probably is the finest network of rural volunteer firemen in the nation. We have an outstanding fire marshal in Jerry Grimmes.

But once a tobacco barn catches fire, great damage has been done before even the quickest and most efficient fire department can be brought into play.

Barring development of new processes, there is little likelihood that we ever will eliminate tobacco barn fires.

But there must be some preventive measures some added degree of protection that can be employed.

Some brain-storming on the part of our rural fire departments and members of our farm organizations — or even some brain-storming around the pot-bellied stoves in the country stores — might come up with a solution.

When losses exceed $70,000 a year and $90,000 a year, it is something worth thinking about.

Who has an idea? We'll print it.

Strength For Today Books Sell Well At Christmas

By ELMER ROESSNER

The Christmas season is book publishers' best time of the year, and some publishers make 40 per cent or more of their sales during the holiday season.

The Government Printing Office is trying to get into the act.

A flyer from the GOP offers 30 books ranging in price from $2 ("The Rum War at Sea" and "Cincinnati Locomotive Builders, 1845-1868") to $15.50 ("The Constitution of the United States of America, Analysis and Interpretation").

They are all paperback books, no pamphlets or booklets. And while there are no pop-by-liners on the list, there are four books of the "Reports of General MacArthur" at $4.25 for the set. Some of the other authors are government savants and scientists who have written anonymously.

"That Rum War at Sea" is an account of the Coast Guard's attempt to enforce prohibition, including battles at sea. The Cincinnati Locomotive book consists of 167 pages, illustrated, about the building of 500 locomotives that helped win the West before the Civil War.

Picture Books, Too
Several of the books consist largely of pictures. "Earth Photographs from Gemini III, IV and V" contains many pictures, some in color, and some so detailed as to show small roads and streams. It's 266 pages, $7. "Exploring Space with a Camera," 214 pages, $4.25, is a collection of photos taken in the first decade of space exploration.

"This New Ocean, a History of Project Mercury," 681 pages, $5.50, is also rich in photos. There are 400 illustrations in "Compilation of the Works of Art and Other Objects in the United States Capitol," 452 pages, $4.30.

Snakes And Formulae
There is something for everybody in the GOP list. "Poisonous Snakes of the World," 212 pages, illustrated, $3.25, which includes bite treatments, might be just the thing for the Boy Scout or hiker in the family.

Your precinct captain might find inspiration in "Biographical Directory of the American Congress, 1774-1961," a whopping 1,863-page, $11.75. And a college freshman might find many short cuts in "Handbook of Mathematical Functions, with Formulas, Graphs and Mathematical Tables," 1,046 pages, $6.50.

"Waterfowl Tomorrow," 78 pages with 150 illustrations $4, tells the story of North American migratory fowl and is declared to answer such questions as: Do Eskimos take large numbers of ducks and geese for food are the nesting places of waterfowl in serious jeopardy?

Plans To Seek Post

By JACK KNEECE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nebraska's Roman L. Hruska plans a hard campaign for the post of assistant Republican leader, or party whip, in the Senate, but says he doesn't want "a bloody field with bodies lying around."

"I am not standing idly by. I am seeking the post," Hruska, just back from a trip abroad, told an interviewer.

The whip job was opened up by the primary defeat of California's Thomas H. Kuchel, a liberal-moderate Republican. The only other announced candidate for the job is Pennsylvania's Hugh Scott, also a liberal-moderate.

Scott notified his colleagues by letter that he wants the job, but other than that his campaigning has been behind the scenes.

While Hruska was in Europe last week his supporters said they already had commitments from 23 of the 42 Republican senators in the new Congress — more than enough to insure his election.

Scott's backers disagree, saying the contest is still wide open.

"We're certainly not going to leave a bloody field with bodies lying around," Hruska said in discussing the contest. "But I have made it known to my colleagues that I aspire to it and that I hope they feel I could make the judgments the post of whip requires."

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen has indicated he would like to avoid a party-splitting fight by a compromise under which Hruska would be the assistant leader and Scott would be chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, a position that will offer little more than a platform for dissent.

The policy committee post is due to the retirement of Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa.

The two jobs will be filled when Republican senators caucus at the opening of the new congressional session in January.

Scott backed Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York in his unsuccessful bid for the Republican presidential nomination this year while Hruska was an early and vocal supporter of President-elect Richard M. Nixon.

Scott's backers say they have been assured that Nixon will stay out of the fight.

Other Republican senators mentioned as possibilities for the two vacant leadership positions include Karl E. Mundt of South Dakota, Robert P. Griffin of Michigan and James B. Pearson of Kansas.

Hruska, 64, served one term in the House before being elected to the Senate in 1954 to fill an unexpired term. He was re-elected in 1958 and 1964, and comes up for re-election in 1970. He is on the influential Appropriations and Judiciary Committees.

South was unable to capitalize on a favorable distributional feature which nature had provided for him, when East devised a highly imaginative discard in defending against the former's three no trump contract.
West opened the six of hearts which was perhaps not the soundest choice. Holding a weak hand with no visible side entry, it is usually advisable to make a play for partner who is marked with the missing high card strength, and is therefore more apt to profitably develop his own suit.
In the present case, if West had chosen to lead the nine of spades for example, he would have reaped a rich bounty. South's ace is disclosed immediately, and now he must let the opponents in again with a diamond trick. West has a sure card of reentry in the ace of hearts and another spade lead thru dummy's queen allows the defenders to win four tricks in that suit which together with two hearts and one diamond adds up to a tidy 150 point profit.

With the heart lead, a nimble performance was required of East. The latter put the king up and continued the suit. West played the ace and another heart to drive out declarer's stopper.
East realized that West could cash his established hearts only if he had an entry in the diamond suit. East's king of diamonds was of no use to him, located as it was in front of declarer's holding; therefore, in an attempt to get out of his partner's way, East discarded the king on the third round of hearts.
South was unable to establish his diamond suit without letting West in with the jack, and the latter cashed out his hearts to defeat the contract. If East retains the king of diamonds, he will be permitted to hold the trick when that suit is led from dummy.
When declarer regains the lead, his ace and queen of diamonds will drop West's jack and South is able to run nine tricks.

Never Fly Group Plans Meeting

RALEIGH (AP) — The Man Will Never Fly Society will have its 10th annual meeting at Kill Devil Hills the day before what the group calls the "annual observe of the Wright Brothers' alleged first flight" on Dec. 17. Jack Aulis, the society's Thinker No. 1, said the group would announce its annual anti-aviation awards sometime between the pre-dinner cocktail party and the after dinner party.
"Some of the major recipients in the past," Aulis said, "have included John Glenn, for giving up a lifetime aviation career after attending one of our meetings; Robert McNamara, for ordering nearly 100 military air facilities closed, and Snoopy, for crashing more Sopwith Camels than ever were built."
Aulis said the society has called off temporarily its crusade against commercial airlines and will concentrate its efforts on military and private aviation.
"The reason is obvious," Aulis said. "By the end of the year, all U.S. commercial airliners will be in Cuba."

Historic Sites Head Resigns

RALEIGH (AP)—William S. "Sam" Tarlton has resigned as administrator of the Historic Sites Division of the North Carolina Department of Archives and History.
Dr. H. G. Jones, director of the department, said Thursday that after Tarlton leaves Dec. 6, Dr. Christopher Crittenden, former director of the department and now assistant director, will serve as acting administrator of the Historic Sites Division in addition to his other duties.

The next morning when you take a bleary look at the turkey it hardly seem dented. How can you get rid of it?
There are 1,012 recipes for serving leftover turkey, but what stomach can face turkey, in any of its disguises, for 1,012 consecutive days?
You can't feed it to the cat, because the cat couldn't consume it in all her nine lifetimes. You can't give it to a poor relative, because no relative is so poor that he will accept a hand-me-down turkey.
You can't bundle it up and send it to Britain, because the British are still angry at us for palming off on them all the mountains of powdered eggs we had left after World War II.
Of course, you could dig a hole in the back yard big enough to bury it in, but a hole that large would take three days of steady digging.
The best way, however, to get rid of a leftover turkey is to avoid having it in the first place. When the announce at the office you have won a turkey, you say:
"No, thank you. Fear up my ticket. I almost lost my happy home once by bringing home an office Thanksgiving turkey. Never again!"

Singer Turning To Drama Career

LONDON (AP) — Pop singer Adam Faith said Thursday he is giving up the lucrative pop scene for a serious acting career.
The singer, 27, is to star in a new London production of a play about Elizabethan playwright Christopher Marlowe being specially written for him by author Anthony Burgess.
Faith, who earns the pound equivalent of $120,000 a year as a singer, said he will appear in Shakespeare's "Macbeth" while the Marlowe play is being prepared.

Central American Faith Feeds On Miracles

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ
Associated Press Writer

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — "You're going to die and will go straight to heaven," Sister Maria Rosa told Claudia, a frail orphan of 13. "And when you get there, please tell Jesus we need His help."

Claudia died peacefully of one of the many ailments that had enfeebled her. The day after the funeral, a prosperous landowner, Alonso Valenzuela, a Honduran born in Detroit, Mich., donated 125 acres of land in Claudia's name to the children's aid society that Sister Maria Rosa founded and directs.

To those around Sister Maria Rosa, the significance of the gift was unmistakable: Claudia had delivered the message.

Among the little folks of Honduras and Central America, faith seems to nourish more readily on small "miracles" than on formal religion. Still, there are some sharp contradictions to a widely held supposition about the depth of religiousness in this part of the world. Uppermost among these is indifference toward the value of human life, as evidenced by the high rate of homicides and illegitimacy.

Several years ago, on a visit to the filthy, overcrowded Central Penitentiary, Sister Maria Rosa came upon a large number of children—Claudia among them—living inside the prison with parents serving long terms. The nun talked the imprisoned parents and the prison director into letting her take many of the children out to her home.

The prison director had permitted the children to join their parents in the penitentiary, to share the same bleak sleeping and sanitary facilities and meager diet of beans and rice while being exposed to countless temptations in an institution where men and women inmates mingled freely.

"One 5-year-old boy we brought out knows more about life than most adults," said Sister Maria Rosa.

Children can end up in prison with their parents, she said, because of the lack of child-care institutions and a paucity of community interest in a problem that's no secret in town.

"In almost all cases," she explained, "the father has committed a crime and is sent to jail. The mother, usually a common-law partner, turns the children over to the man, saying she has no way to support them and that in prison at least they'll have shelter and food."

Sister Maria Rosa, an orphan who never knew her father, was born 40 years ago on Honduras' Atlantic Coast. She cares for some 145 parentless children, ranging in age from diaper to early teens. Her Children's Friends Society has received help from such diverse sources as the U.S. Aid program, the Peace Corps, Catholic Relief groups, the SOS Kinderdorf of Austria, visiting Americans and the Honduran government.

Trained at St. Joseph's in Milwaukee, Wis., she speaks cheerfully of her frustrations—and dreams. She is happy about her Peace Corps assistant, Norman W. Powell, of Somerset, N.J.

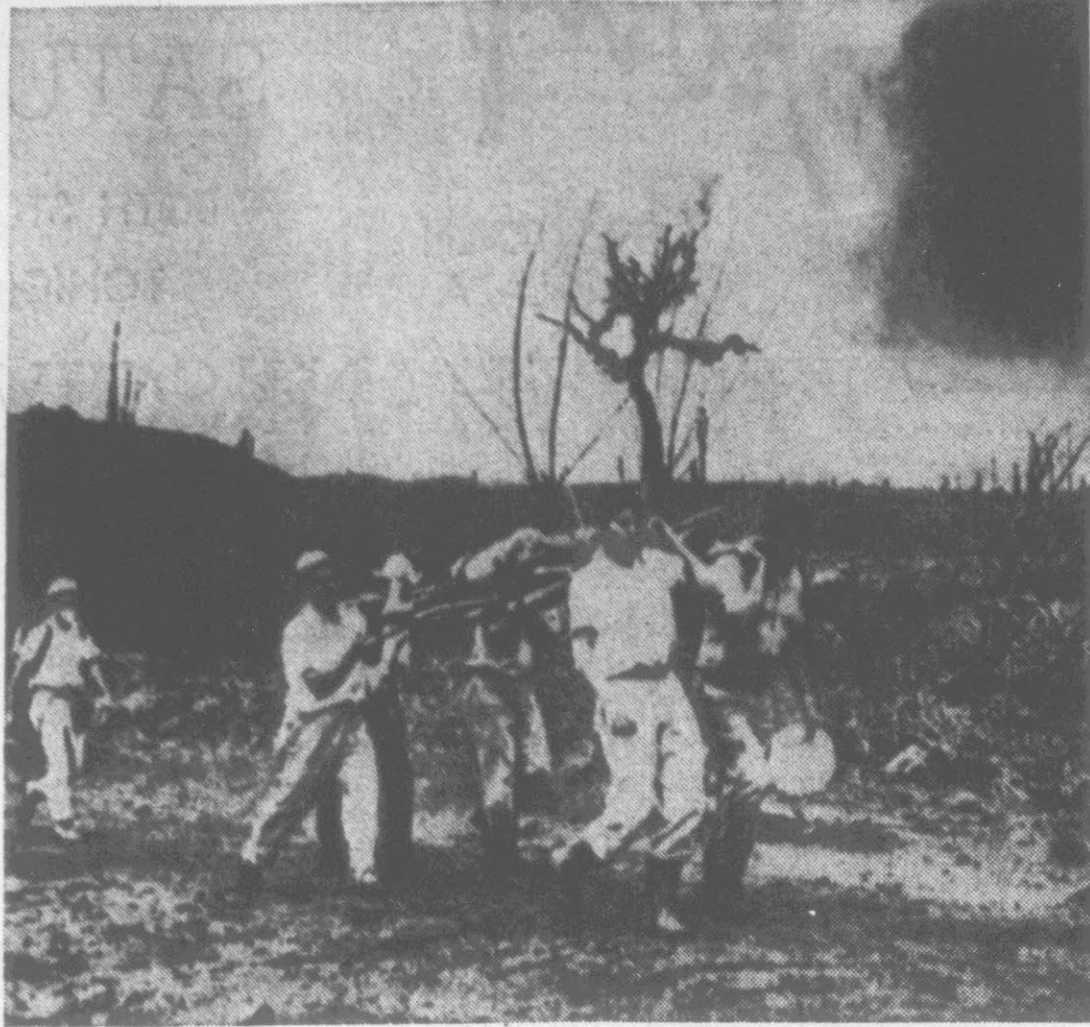

"Norman was working on social welfare for the government," Sister Maria Rosa says, "and he wandered up here one day. Now I won't let him go."

A psychology major at Howard University in Washington, D.C., he is known as "Papa Norman" to the children.

For every orphan under the nun's care, there seem to be at least a dozen homeless waifs who spend the cool Tegucigalpa nights curled up in cardboard boxes or crammed into large doorways. They're up at sunrise, begging, borrowing or selling chewing gum and lottery tickets.

Abandoned children are an acute social problem in Central America because of widespread poverty. They seem to be one aspect of overpopulation but this is a part of the world some sociologists consider underpopulated.

Central America is a narrow strip of land curving southeast from Mexico to Colombia. It includes six republics—Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua, Costa Rica and Panama—and the colony of British Honduras, also known as Belize. Some 14 million people, multiplying at one of the world's fastest rates, live on its 227,000 rugged square miles.

Central Americans actually do not recognize Panama or Belize as part of what they call Central America. Until 1903, Panama was a part of Colombia. Both Guatemala and Mexico still claim Belize as their territory.

Illiteracy in this area ranges upward of 55 per cent. Life expectancy in Guatemala in 1966 was 43.6 years. Some Hondurans wrily refer to their country as "the land of the 70s—70 per cent illiterate, 70 per cent illegitimate and 70 per cent unemployed."

The area has stunning scenic beauty and high fertility. Fence poles invariably grow limbs; round tufts of grass grow on telephone lines. The lushly green, steamy hot coastal lowlands teem with color and bird and plant life. Hibiscus and bougainvillea come in dazzling hues. The ubiquitous poinsettia blooms a fiery scarlet right on, in December. Trees with white, lavender and flaming red blossoms provide romping room for parakeets and parrots of matching plumage. At sundown, the tiny tree frog whistles a melancholy tune.

Poisonous snakes abound and mosquitoes are nearly always a problem. The iguana, a lizard up to 6 feet long, is ugly but its flesh tastes like chicken.

Much of the cooler highlands is raw forest where trees provide the shelter required by coffee, the economic lifeblood of most of the Central American countries. Corn, food staple of the poor, is grown on steep hillsides not much removed from the vertical.

Volcanologists have counted 14 active volcanoes and countless dormant ones. Two eruptions in Costa Rica in the last five years cost more than 90 lives and millions of dollars in damage—but volcanic ash deposited by the eruptions has made the land even more fertile.

Both the U.S. Embassy and the presidential palace in Managua, capital of Nicaragua, are located on the brink of a dead volcanic cone. At the bottom is a deep blue lake where the poor do their washing while the children splash about.

Mutuality of interests and needs is moving the people slowly toward an economic and political federation such as unified them before separation from Spain in 1821.

Descended from the original Indian settlers and their Spanish conquerors, Central Americans vary in ethnic composition. There is more black skin in Belize and Panama than in the other countries. Costa Ricans are predominantly of European stock while more than half the Guatemalans are estimated to be of pure Indian blood—nearly half speak only their Indian dialects.

Christianity has reached the remotest areas but has not entirely replaced pagan gods and faiths.

A rising rural problem is alcoholism, particularly among the younger people. The most trivial festive occasion calls for drunkenness on a collective scale. This is most noticeable on market days when the small rural farmer brings his pumpkin, corn, coffee, vegetables and fruits or woven cloth to the village to barter or sell.

While the women are busy selling and visiting, many of the men gather at a nearby cantina or bar to drink guaro or aguardiente. By sundown roadsides and paths are peopled by staggering men, holding on to each other or to their mules.

The wealthy dead, entombed in massive mausoleums of imported marble or granite, are housed better than the living poor. The wealthy are a minuscule minority who control the national resources. They live as the rich do anywhere in the world, either conservatively or ostentatiously in opulent homes with swimming pools and high walls.

The poor somehow seem poorer than almost anywhere else in this hemisphere except Haiti. Their homes are of tin or wood and their neighborhoods reek with a perfume all of their own: Frying grease, charcoal smoke with strong suggestions of over-ripe oranges and bananas.

El Salvador is one of the more prosperous countries but 75 per cent of the people lack water fit to drink by modern health standards.

In between the very rich and the very poor is a small but steadily growing middle class, a key source of political leadership and popular dissent.

Anemic national economies have stunted the development of this group. Young professionals in substantial number abandon their homelands for better employment and promotion opportunities in other countries.

The "brain drain" has affected national leadership, some believe, because those who stay behind are usually the well-connected or those of lesser ability unable to finance their migration abroad. The privileged classes usually look on politics as beneath them.

With all its problems and backwardness, Central America is far removed from the "banana country" image created abroad by its own turbulent history and myths perpetuated in movies and novels.

The cities offer a surprising modern setting for old and new cultures. Along streets choked with gleaming new cars and mule-drawn carts, miniskirted girls brush elbows with Indian women carrying their children strapped to their backs. First-rate restaurants compete for the late movie crowds with sidewalk cooking stalls featuring corn on the cob, steamed rice or broiled beef skewered on what once were wire coat hangers.

The glitter downtown at night could be that of any medium-sized U.S. city. The curvaceous, dark-eyed, full-lipped senorita of yesteryear has given way to a slenderer, pale-lipped, long-haired girl who counts her calories, shops in Bermuda shorts or slacks in the supermarkets and is addicted to American show music. The steel guitar's soft strains have been drowned out by its electrified cousin. Balconies are for the birds—caged parrots and parakeets—and potted plants.

Duenas, those elderly escorts for young women, have gone the way of the curling iron. Strip shows have not prospered, probably because they could never compete with the ware available in districts where prostitution is legal and under state control.

The image of a slumbering native also is fast disappearing behind the surge of entrepreneurial hustle, especially among the less privileged. From push-carts and crudely built sidewalk stalls they peddle almost everything from curbside shoe repairs to deodorants.

The selling picks up at this time of year. Christmas is the time of grapes and apples. There are claims that American Marines who occupied Nicaragua in the 1920s received shipments of grapes and apples at Christmas time, and this is how the tradition spread among the local people. The imported black slums where tensions had forced out American social workers. Presbyterian leaders were described as confident that "an authentic new style of joint action in mission has been discovered."

This is not the first time for missionaries from the Asian-African "younger churches" to undertake missions to the "older churches" of the West, but it is regarded as the first broad-scale, concerted operation of its kind.

National and overseas mission agencies of the 3.3-million-member denomination launched the program six months ago to help ease problems in "crucial urban areas of the United States."

Brought here for the undertaking were 32 overseas Christian workers, including some veteran American missionaries, with a fresh perspective on the issues from long involvement with dark-skinned peoples, and also national churchmen.

The project has been carried on up to now without publicity, the report noted, so as to avoid jeopardizing it with controversy at the outset, in six presbyteries (city areas) and three synods (state regions).

They are Chicago, New York City, Tulsa, Okla., Washington, D.C., Buffalo, N.Y., and West Florida, and the synods of Arizona, Michigan and Ohio, including work in Detroit, Cleveland and Cincinnati.

Africans Offer U.S. Guidance

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Dark-skinned Africans and Asians, the object of the Western world's predominantly white missionary enterprise for more than 150 years, are returning the favor today and offering some Christian guidance of their own in racially-troubled America.

It's a strange turnabout, precipitated by black-white tensions and disorders in this country, and bringing an unusual case of reversal in the normal church flow of religious-ethical aid and advice.

Instead of getting it in their homelands, a group of overseas Christians are giving it here.

They're doing so in response to a request from the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. for help in "cooling it" in the nation's crisis areas of racial unrest.

Even so, the denomination says, the switch in some instances momentarily upset American churchmen, who have been used to dispatching the Gospel to Asia, Africa and Latin America, but not to getting it from there.

"By what right have you come?" a Philadelphian asked Edgar Moros, a Venezuelan Christian assigned there. "What are your credentials?"

A denominational report said various clergymen and laymen, from New York to California, voiced resentment at the idea that overseas mission churches which the Americans supported would "try to save us."

But except for a few scattered instances, the report said, the overseas churchmen and missionaries brought here have worked effectively in many Demonstrations Continue Thurs.

SWAN QUARTER, N.C. (AP) —No arrests were made Thursday when more than 100 Negroes staged an hour-long demonstration at the Hyde County Courthouse to continue their protest against the county's school desegregation policy.

Sheriff Charlie Cahoon reported that "There was a lot of speech making and singing, but I didn't make any arrests."

The sheriff said that all of the more than 100 demonstrators arrested last week, mainly for blocking traffic, have been released under bond.

The demonstrators Thursday heard speeches by Golden Frinks, state field secretary for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, and James Barrow of Washington, N.C., who declared that, "We're going to keep marching."

Disgruntled Civilians Question Club

By BOB HORTON

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — It had been a hard morning, and the balding, rather paunchy admiral did the shimmy as a vibratory machine churned away at his ample waistline.

A general awaited his turn on the masseur's table.

Several other officers, stripped to the armpits, stroked easily down a 75-foot swimming pool nearby, while up the hall companions bent an elbow to a noontime glass of beer.

This vignette of easy living comes not from a posh executive club or the YMCA but an underground recreation spot just below the front steps of the staid old U.S. Department of Defense.

It's the Pentagon Officers Athletic Center, a heavily subsidized facility that recently has become an object of controversy between the military who run it and a civilian minority that is allowed to use it.

The 350 civilian "guests," along with 500 inactive reservist members, have just been socked with an increase in their yearly dues—from $42 to $200. They claim it is an unabashed effort to drive them out of the club.

By contrast, dues for the 3,930 active duty and retired military officers are going up only to $60 a year.

Some disgruntled civilians, getting nowhere with appeals about the dues increase, have started raising questions about the legality of the whole operation of the club.

Particularly, questions have been posed about the serving of beer on government property (it's prohibited inside the Pentagon), the barring of women officers, and enlisted men, the club's free use of government space, and the thousands of dollars in subsidies the tax-exempt organization has received over the years.

The Army General Counsel's office recently felt obliged to examine the club's operation, but pronounced it legal under regulations covering "officers' open messes."

The matter may or may not end there.

The background of the 4,785-member club is this:

In 1946 then-Chief of Staff of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower decided that officers stationed in the Washington area should have a "physical exercise association" to keep them fit while they held sedentary

Find No Trace Of Cleaver

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police say a widespread hunt has failed to turn up any trace of Black Panther Eldridge Cleaver, missing since Wednesday when he failed to surrender for return to prison charges of parole violation.

The State Department of Corrections said it had received a tip that Cleaver might have been rushed out of the country by an underground organization, but authorities said Thursday there was no evidence to support that theory.

Cleaver, lecturer in a controversial racism course at the University of California, was sentenced to 13 years in prison on a conviction of attempted murder in Los Angeles in 1958 and was paroled in 1966.

He was returned to prison by parole officers last April after a gun battle between several Black Panthers and police in Berkeley.

Cleaver was released in June after a Superior Court Judge in Solano county ruled he was being held for political purposes. This decision was overturned by an appeals court, which was upheld by the State Supreme Court.

Tuesday, he was denied a stay by U.S. Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall.

desk jobs.

Now housed in a basement warehouse long since declared surplus, the club offers members seven squash courts, six handball courts, three badminton courts, one volleyball court, four bowling lanes, three indoor golf driving "ranges", the 75x21 foot swimming pool, a weight and exercise room plus table tennis tables and shuffleboards.

A health room offers a touch of luxury in the otherwise cramped-up, nondescript center. For $3.50 a general laboring under the stress of world problems can get a sauna bath, hot lamp treatment and the soothing hands of the masseur.

The club estimates 1,300 to 1,400 members come around during the work day, mostly between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. Most officers step in for a little exercise at nighttime, returning to the desk to munch a sandwich.

The cafeteria breaks out an average of 31 kegs—15-gallon half barrels—of beer along with 50 cases of cans each month while serving up 250 pounds of hamburger and other quick dishes.

Under the old membership dues, the club was considered a bargain and civilians lined up on a waiting list to get in—137 by a recent count.

Military officers are able to step right in, although they have to wait a few weeks to get one of the 4,300 lockers at 50 cents a month each.

A couple of months ago, the center's military board of governors decided it was so much of a bargain that civilians ought to pay a bigger share to help offset rising operating costs.

Twenty-five or 30 civilians have written letters protesting the dues hike but the military isn't too sympathetic.

The center operates under some rather favorable conditions.

Although actually an appendage to the Pentagon, whose property is the domain of the General Services Administration, the club holds the designation of an Army installation.

This makes its use of government space cost-free. The Army is quick to point out that other officers and NCO clubs at Army installations elsewhere pay no rent.

The club shares the Pentagon's utilities—water, electricity, heat and air conditioning—for an unspecified quarterly fee.

The club has had other financial aid of a scope probably few other officers' organizations have enjoyed.

To help get it started after Eisenhower's approval, the Army, Navy and Air Force backed the club with $77,000 from their welfare funds.

Between 1956 and 1963 the center also got a $1,000 a month from profits made in various commercial enterprises which are operated in the Pentagon for the convenience of its 27,000 workers.

This aid, provided by the Defense Concession Fund which otherwise dispenses profits to welfare and recreation agencies serving all Pentagon personnel, amounted to $84,000, according to Army figures.

As partial justification of the club operation, the Army says the center is self-sustaining. But a club spokesman estimates it went into the red $3,500 in September.

The high cost of running the club helped force the dues increase. It takes $23,000 a month to keep the place functioning. Wages and salaries account for $5,000 a month.

The Army also defends its no-women, non-enlisted men policy for the center on grounds that: 1. "Locker rooms and sports areas are intermingled and space does not permit redesign of the center to provide separate dressing areas" for women; and 2. "Enlisted men stationed in the Pentagon are provided gymnasium, swimming pool and other athletic facilities and enlisted service clubs at Ft. Myer, Va., and elsewhere in the Washington area without cost."

Americans Appear To Desire Royal Touch In Their Lives

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Americans panic over protocol, stammer over titles, curtsy clumsily, and ridicule royalty as an anachronism.

Yet they appear to yearn for a touch of it in their own democratic lives.

Or so it seems to England's 13th Duke of Bedford, who despite his purple lineage, is so democratic that any man can make the Lord's castle his home for the night—for a fee.

The towering aristocrat and his auburn-haired duchess discovered America's hunger for royal trappings a year ago when they made a three month lecture tour here.

"They are not quite sure how to react, really," her ladyship said, recalling her surprise when a bewildered American gentleman curtsied low in the receiving line.

At any rate the duke and his lively French-born wife recently completed a second go-around of the States, doing their bit to fill the royalty gap.

They were armed with slides of Woburn Abby, the 3000-acre feudal estate which they transformed into a Disneyland of tours, kiddie rides, flea circuses and picnic grounds in an effort to keep up with the taxes. And they are filled with tales of friendly ghosts in residence as well as reminiscences of a noble life, all of which lend spice to their lecture trouts. According to the duke, "Royalty is an escape into fantasy."

Slipping his hornrimmed glasses on over his graying sideburns, he warmed to the subject of how Americans had made their own sort of royalty out of movie stars, and the Kennedy family, and how indeed they had lost themselves from time to time in the imaginative world of Disney in order to exist vicariously a fabled existence.

The duke mused over the similarities between Hollywood royalty and his own kind. "But it all makes a lovely dream and dreams are very nice. Vicarious living doesn't hurt a thing. Royalty is all pretty harmless, really."

At least it is in England where the dukes, and the viscounts and the barons have been able to keep their heads, if not their bank books.

"We've survived," says the duke, more commonly known as John Russell, "because we've been able to change with the times. Nearly every one of us works today."

His work was laid out for him when his father, an eccentric peacenik vaguely related to Bertrand Russell, died leaving him all $14 million in death taxes, a palace needing $3 million in repairs and $400,000 a month for maintenance. Although other bluebloods had paved the way for his new career by requiring a shilling or so from guests examining their lordly estates, the duke and his third wife, Nicole, commercialized theirs with the showmanship of a P. T. Barnum.

Natural Gas Causes Havoc

MARSHALL, Mich. (AP) — Natural gas cracked through the ground, sending thunderous rumblings through Marshall, hurling water 20 feet into the air and forcing about 15 families to flee from their homes in a half-mile-square area early Thanksgiving Day.

Red tags were hung on the homes to show that they were dangerous and the families would not be permitted to return. Authorities said they did not know when the tags would be removed.

The source of the highly volatile gas was unknown but geologists said it almost certainly came from underground pockets. Gas company workers said they could find no leaks in any lines.

Water pressure in wells rose sharply. Swampland bubbled. A 20-foot section of paved street was torn up as a geyser of gaseous water erupted from the middle of the rubble.

It was the second time in a month that mysterious underground gas pressure built up in Lower Michigan. Earlier, a seven-mile square area at Lee Township about 12 miles away in south central Michigan, was punctured by the gas-and-water geysers.

Plane Searched For A Bomb

RALEIGH (AP)—A telephone report that a bomb had been planted aboard an Eastern Air Line plane prompted a search of a New York bound EAL plane at Raleigh-Durham Airport Thursday.

No bomb was found. James W. Goodwin, local manager for Eastern, said "A call came through our reservations center at Charlotte indicating there was a bomb on an Eastern plane."

Goodwin said the plane's flight number was not specified. So, Flight 582, from Atlanta to New York via Charlotte and Raleigh-Durham, was searched at Raleigh-Durham.

Associated Press News Council Meets In Durham

DURHAM (AP) — The North Carolina Associated Press News Council will meet this weekend to discuss news coverage, honor feature writers, elect officers and hear an address by Lt. Gov. elect H. Pat Taylor.

The members, who are news executives on North Carolina newspapers which are members of The Associated Press, will also take a guided tour of the Research Triangle Park.

The winter meeting of the APNC will be held at the Jack Tar Hotel Saturday and Sunday. It will begin with the tour of the Research Triangle area. A full business session will be held later Saturday. Discussion is expected to center around investigative reporting and coverage of state government and the legislature.

Taylor will speak at a banquet session Saturday night.

Another highlight of that session will be the awarding of cash prizes and certificates to member newspaper reporters for outstanding entries in the AP member feature exchange program.

Under that program, one morning newspaper and one afternoon paper submits a feature story to The AP each week for use by other AP newspapers.

The stores were judged by a committee of out-of-state editors. First, second and third prizes are awarded in the morning-newspaper division and in the division for afternoon papers.

Bill East of the Twin Cities Sentinel in Winston-Salem is the outgoing president of the news council.

Higher Board Plan Gets Cautious Look

RALEIGH (AP) — A proposal to create a single agency to coordinate activities and budgets of North Carolina's state supported colleges and universities is receiving cautious comment from college officials.

The proposal was made public early this week in the 497-page report of the Board of Higher Education.

William T. Friday, president of the Consolidated University of North Carolina, said the idea of the single coordinating agency

"raises some serious questions that would have to be considered carefully."

The reaction of Dr. William H. Plemmons, president of Appalachian State University, was that such a body "works well in some states, but not so well in others."

North Carolina State University chancellor Dr. John T. Caldwell said, "There is no doubt that there exists in North Carolina need for more adequate control over the planning and implementation of developments in higher education."

He said such an agency "must have some control in the budget process, but I'm not prepared to say to what extent."

Friday said he would want to know if formation of the new agency would mean the "General Assembly is being asked to give up its present authority to make direct allocations to special programs at specific institutions."

Dr. Albert Whiting, president of North Carolina College in Durham, said he was not ready to comment on the idea of the central agency. But he sharply criticized the report's proposal that the college's law school be phased out.

Bascom Baynes, chairman of the NCC trustees, also objected to the law school proposal, saying "It would cost the state in the long run."

Baynes said he would back the board's proposal that NCC be made a regional university if a name could be worked out.

Identifying Fire Victims

DARLINGTON, S. C. (AP)—Positive identifications were expected to be made today on four charred bodies found in the burned rubble of Darlington's Park Terrace Hotel.

Sam Chapman, acting coroner for Darlington County, Thursday tentatively identified two of the bodies as Keith Windham and Marion C. Butler.

He said the other two are believed to be W. E. Shaw and Mike Jamerson, missing since the pre-dawn fire Wednesday.

All the bodies were taken to the Medical College at Charleston for fingerprinting and other identification tests, Chapman said. All were burned beyond visual recognition.

The search for victims of the fire was discontinued late Thursday after the fourth body was found. Three bodies were discovered in the still-smouldering ruins several hours after the blaze was put out.

One of those who perished, Marion Butler, was the brother of hotel owner Vance Butler, who escaped safely from the fire.

Police Lt. N. G. Dudley said two hotel guests unaccounted for after the blaze were located Thursday. They were George Paulus, found in Winston-Salem, N. C., and Bobby Poston, located in Winter Haven, Fla.

An investigation continued into the cause of the fire. Butler estimated the loss of his four-story building at $125,000 and said only $5,000 was covered by insurance.

He said the Park Terrace Hotel was built between 1912 and 1915 and once was the mecca of Darlington society.

Wins Court Case Concerning Movie

PALERMO, Sicily (AP) — Princess Margaret di Niscemi, American-born, won her case against a movie Thursday when a court ordered that the family name of her late husband be changed in a story about a Mafia plot.

The Princess, nee Hirsch, of Philadelphia, won a ban against the Italian-made movie "Oeglio Vedova" (Better a Widow) on Nov. 18 when a court ordered showings suspended in Sicily "to avoid prejudice to the di Niscemi family."

The final court ruling ordered that the film's "Prince di Niscemi" take the name "Prince Mascani," and said showings could resume when the change was made.

Princess de Niscemi met and married the Sicilian prince in America where he once spent much of his time.

By ELAINE GARNER and MARY BRYAN MATNEY Let's take a trip to Greenville Junior High School to see what's going on.

This year the president of the Pep Club, Lynn Briley and the other officers, vice - president Betsy Gidley, secretary Carla Metcalf, corresponding secretary Wandra Elks, treasurer Ann Brown, historian Nancy Cleewood and photographer Mary Jo Saunders are doing a good job in encouraging school spirit. The Pep Club is now involved with its annual Christmas project, Operation Santa Claus, which consists of collecting gifts for the mentally retarded.

Off to a roving start, the Library Club with president Pat Clark, is holding discussions on books in the library in view of National Book Week.

During this month Mr. Baker's homeroom started a committee project to improve the atmosphere in the lunchroom. Saturday Miss Cregg a n's homeroom painted the entrance to the auditorium in vivid psychodelic patterns.

Friday under the direction of Mary Jo Saunders, the Honorary Advisory Council conducted a dance. Entertainment was provided by the Senators. More than 300 people attended. The party was a tremendous success.

Maurice Sheppard is president of the Honorary Advisory Council this year. Other officers are vice president Pam Messner, secretary Ramona Cannon, and treasurer Lou Shite. Following tradition, the offices of president and secretary were filled by eight graders and seventh graders filled the offices of vice - president and treasurer.

Mrs. Day, a student teacher at Junior High, who will soon become a permanent member of the staff, will direct the work of the school newspaper this year.

The P. T. A. met Thursday night. The topic of discussion at the meeting was sex education in the schools.

Basketball Begins

For the last two weeks Coach Moore, the seventh grade boys' physical education teacher, has been conducting basketball tryouts. Those making the team were: Herb Wilkerson, Ed Holland, Edward Johnson, Stanly Cobb, Luke Collie, Pat Clark, Steve Bostic, Norman Barnhill, J. C. The eighth - grade girls have been involved in a Health project where each girl plans and cooks a meal herself. Because of the tremendous results many of the girls are continuing this project.

The cheerleading squad this year consists of eighth graders Amy Legget, head; Debbie Webb co - head; Peg Corbitt; Wanda Diggs; Linda Williamson; and Charlene Vines. From the seventh grade we have cheerleaders Susan Clark, Annie Paschal, and Kathy Goodson. Elaine Garner is the eighth grade alternate.

Well, my next contribution to the school will be raking leaves. I guess, I guess I'd better get started because the leaves are piling up fast. Goodbye for now. Tune in next week for Greenville Junior High School News.

The holiday weather effects were numerous and widespread: flood-swollen rivers and streams in middle Tennessee, snow-coated landscape and highways intermittently from Missouri to Michigan. Rains measuring more than 6 inches swamped Tennessee from the Mississippi River to the Cumberland Mountains Thursday. After a day of warnings of possibly serious flooding on the Harpeth River near Nashville, the Weather Bureau stopped its flood bulletins late Thursday and indicated the threat had passed.

Heavy rains ranged northward across Illinois and South and West into Mississippi and Arkansas, where some flooding was reported.

Snow mixed with sleet made holiday travel treacherous north of the rain area. Two to 5 inches of snow whitened the area from northeastern Missouri into central Lower Michigan. Up to 8 inches covered some northern Lower Michigan communities.

High winds accompanied the daylong downpours across the Midwest, and into the Northeast today. Gale warnings continued on all the Great Lakes and were extended to include the Northern Atlantic Coast.

The winds tore down part of the steel superstructure for a high school auditorium being built north of Indianapolis. Damage was estimated at nearly a quarter-million dollars.

Eastward in Ohio, the gusts knocked out power in many parts of Cincinnati and smashed numerous store display windows.

Outside the storm area, portions of Colorado and Wyoming received up to 6 inches of snow, and Colorado ski areas reported in unusually large number of skiers for a Thanksgiving.

Philadelphia Wins 1st Game

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Joe Kuharich, perhaps the most troubled man in the ranks of pro football head coaches, finally won one. Which could make him a loser.

Kuharich, however, didn't seem concerned with the possibility of losing the first draft pick—probably Heisman Trophy winner O. J. Simpson—after his Philadelphia Eagles snapped an 11-game losing string Thanksgiving Day with a 12-0 victory over Detroit.

"The draft is beyond here," Kuharich said after the longest losing string of the pro season ended in the mud and goo at Detroit.

"We play the season. We're concerned with winning and playing a game and that's all we work towards now."

Dallas, meanwhile, clinched at least a tie for the top spot in the National Football League's Capitol Division with a 29-20 verdict over Washington in the only other NFL game played—a verdict that left Redskins Coach Otto Graham hopping mad.

"I thought the officials stole the game from us," Graham said after the Redskins were assessed 124 yards in penalties, many of them at crucial times.

In the American Football League, Kansas City whipped Houston 24-10, allowing idle New York to clinch the Eastern Division title, and Oakland clipped Buffalo 13-10. That dropped Buffalo's record to 1-11-1 and possibly put the Bills in position to claim the first draft pick.

In the NFL Sunday, Atlanta is at Baltimore, St. Louis at Pittsburgh, Green Bay at San Francisco, Los Angeles at Minnesota, New York at Cleveland and Chicago at New Orleans.

Jim Ninowski, subbing for the ailing Sonny Jurgensen, passed for three touchdowns and a 20-19 Washington lead before Dallas rallied and clinched at least a share of the Capitol title. To gain a tie, second-place New York must win its three remaining games and Dallas must lose its last two.

The Redskins were hurt by penalties, including a pass interference call that set up a Dallas touchdown. And Graham also drew a 15 yard penalty for unsportsmanlike conduct.

"I thought the officials stole the game from us," Graham growled. "I've written the league officials several times complaining about the officiating. But never has it been this bad. I don't mind getting beat, and I can appreciate that the officials have judgment calls to make. But I think it's about time we got some officials who have judgment."

Referee Norm Schacter heads the officials team that included Joe Connell, Burl Toler, Jack Fette, Adrian Burk and George Ellis.

Dallas went ahead, 22-20, on a fourth-quarter field goal by Mike Cole and nailed it down on a pass interception by rookie tackle Larry Cole.

Cowboy tackle Jethro Pugh hit Ninowski just as he was releasing the ball, resulting in a wobbly pass which Cole picked off on the Redskins five and rumbled in for the touchdown that clinched it.

All the Philadelphia scoring came on field goals by Sam Baker, covering 36, 18, 32 and 35 yards. The 12 points put him No. 2 in the NFL's all-time scoring list, a fact he was not aware of.

"This hasn't exactly been a year when we've been running checks on the record books," he said with a wry grin.

Two Bowl Berths Set By Thursday's Results

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

Houston and Florida State play a college football game to-night in the Gator Bowl but their high-powered offenses may turn it into the Scoreboard Bowl.

The game is the only one on tonight's schedule. Four were played Thursday as two bowl berths were settled and 16 more are on tap Saturday as the regular season comes to a close, save for the Dec. 7 meeting in University Park, Pa., between Penn State and Syracuse.

Texas won its way into a Cotton Bowl date against Tennessee by trouncing traditional rival Texas A&M 35-14 Thursday.

The victory gained the Longhorns a share of the Southwest Conference championship with threat.

Navy is guided by a promising sophomore quarterback, Mike McNallen, who has a fine receiver in tight end Mike Clark. Dan Pike and Tom Daley are the Middies' running threats.

All the known factors point to Army's 33d victory against 30 defeats and six ties in the series. It's the unknown elements, however, which disrupt the form in this game and make it unpredictable. Navy will pull all the stops and has the natural incentive of an underdog.

Arkansas but Texas goes to the Cotton Bowl by virtue of a 39-29 win over the Razorbacks. Arkansas settled for the Sugar Bowl against unbeaten Georgia.

Elsewhere, Liberty Bowl-bound Virginia Tech walloped VMI 55-6, Tulsa sent Wichita State to a winless season 23-7 and, in a night game, Louisiana Tech, which is in the Grantland Rice Bowl, knocked off its fourth major opponent 42-24.

Saturday's slate is highlighted by the meeting in Los Angeles between second-ranked Southern California and No. 9 Notre Dame. Other top attractions include Army-Navy, Georgia Tech-Georgia, Tennessee-Vanderbilt, Oklahoma-Oklahoma State, Alabama-Auburn and Arizona State-Arizona.

Tonight's pairing should be a wild one. Houston, ranked 10th, is the top offensive team in the nation with an all-time mark of 5,185 yards. The Cougars also lead in scoring with an average of 45 points a game.

Paul Gipson is fifth in rushing with 1,386 yards and the Ken Bailey-Elmo Wright combination is a passing threat. The Cougars have slaughtered Idaho 77-3 and Tulsa 100-6 in their last two starts. To make matters worse, they rank fifth nationally in total defense.

"We've got a chance against Houston," said Coach Bill Peterson of Florida State, "in spite of the fact they have what may just be the best college football team in America."

The Seminoles have a potent air attack of their own. Flanker Ron Sellers ranks this season in receiving and has gained more career yards than anyone in history, 3,384. Bill Cappleman does the throwing.

Texas raced to a 35-0 halftime lead over the Texas Aggies behind a balanced attack and a defense that intercepted five of Edd Hargett's passes. Chris Gilbert gained 85 yards in 25 carries and finished his regular season career third among all-time runners with 3,231 yards.

Quarterback Wayne Humphries passed for three touchdowns in his first varsity start to lead Virginia Tech over VMI. The defense picked off four passes and recovered two fumbles as the Gobblers made Turkey Day a field day.

Mike Stripling completed 26 of 51 passes for 336 yards and two touchdowns as Tulsa turned back stubborn Wichita State. The Hurricanes led only 3-0 but Stripling threw scoring passes of 16 yards to Harry Wood and seven to Les Bogers in the final period.

George Booth pushed 14 points over the goal line yesterday and it was just enough to give Ayden the Class A High School football title.

A stubborn Red Springs team refused to give up and battled all the way before falling to the Tornadoes, 14-13, in the title game played in East Carolina University's Ficklen Stadium.

Booth scored his touchdowns in the first and third periods, and kicked extra points after each of them. C. G. Arrington pulled in a pass from Anthony Black, Harry McLinnaham raced 62 yards for the two Red Springs scores. Arrington was successful in only one of the two PAT attempts, and that was the margin in the game.

Red Springs threw up a tight defense against the Tornadoes, and effectively held them most of the game. But the Ayden defense proved just as stingy and refused to let Red Springs out of the hole, either.

After failing on their first attempt at the ball Red Springs punted away to Ayden, and the Tornadoes marched 64 yards to their first touchdown, and it looked like it might turn into a rout.

Danny Oakley started things off, getting three yards, but Booth was hauled down on the next play for a two-yard loss. Alan Wilson tossed to Rodney Hill on the next play to make it fourth at two on the Ayden 44.

The Tornadoes then gambled, and Booth made the two yards for the first down. After Jerry Gibson got a couple of yards, Wilson raced outside on the hootleg and carried down to the Red Devil 41. Booth got five yards in two plays, and Wilson went to Hill again at the 30 for another first down.

Booth then broke away down to the nine, setting up the final touchdown drive. Wilson kept twice, and moved to the four. Booth then hit to the one, and went over on fourth down for the score making it 7-0 after his extra point kick.

Ayden got the ball back in Red Springs territory after only two plays, as Booth intercepted a pass at midfield and returned it to the 35, as the first quarter ended.

But the drive stopped dead at the 20, and for most of the second period, neither team was able to get a drive going.

Finally, in the closing minutes, McLinnaham intercepted a Wilson pass at the 39 and brought it back to the 20. The first two plays didn't net a yard, but on the third down, Black found Arrington all alone in the back of the end zone, and fired perfectly to him for the score.

But the kick which would have tied it up was just off to the side and Ayden took a 7-6 lead into halftime.

Following the second half kickoff, the Tornadoes drove for what appeared to be another score. Taking over on their 39, they drove down to the Red Springs 39, where Booth fired to Gibson for a touchdown, only to have it called back by a holding penalty. That forced the Tornadoes to punt, and the kick put Red Springs in a hole at the eight.

But on the second play, Red Springs fumbled, and Bobby Wilson picked off the ball at the 10, setting up the winning touchdown.

Booth carried down to the five, and Oakley added three more yards to the two. Booth then picked up the other two yards in two plays of a yard each, to get the score. His kick made it 14-6, and gave Ayden the score it needed to win.

The big margin didn't last long, however. Red Springs took over on the kickoff at their own 28. McLinnaham carried to the 32, and Alton McCallum made it to the 38. From there, McLinnaham broke into the secondary, and raced all the way, 62 yards, for the score that got Red Springs back into the game, trailing 14-13.

Both teams got off scoring opportunities in the final period of play, but for the most part, it was a few plays and punt. Ayden was in Red Springs territory three times. They drove to the 41, only to be thrown back, and then made it to the 49 before being stopped. And on the final series of the game, they got the ball on the 39 after an interception.

Red Springs made one attempt to score, which put somewhat of a scare into the Tornadoes. From their own 36, Red Springs used the ground route to drive down to the Ayden 41.

In just six plays, they moved the ball 23 yards, and appeared headed for pay dirt. But at that point, the Red Devils changed their tactics and went to the air, completed only one pass in four to fall short of another first down, and lose the ball, and with it the game.

The victory brought Ayden its fourth successive football crown and its first state title. They had won district and regional titles in the past three years, before the state playoff was revived this year for the first time since 1960.

Ayden has won 51 games in the last four years, and lost only two, both this year to 2-A opponents.

Coach Bill Klutz of Ayden admitted that he was nervous about the outcome after McLinnaham's long romp, but had confidence in his players. "I'm glad this is finally over," he said after receiving the state title trophy. "These boys gave a great effort, and had to overcome a lot to do it."

Klutz said he felt that the key plays in the game were probably the two pass interceptions, and the fumble recovery which set up the winning touchdown. "Everybody played a fine game and I'm real proud of them," he said.

Red Springs made one attempt to score, which put somewhat of a scare into the Tornadoes. From their own 36, Red

Army Favored In Yearly Navy Game

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
PHILADELPHIA (AP)

Army is a two-touchdown favorite in Saturday's 69th football meeting with Navy, but the ghosts of upsets past have made the Cadets wary of odds in this annual classic.

Everything points to an easy Army victory before the usual sellout crowd of 100,000 at John F. Kennedy Stadium. Army comes in with a 7-2 record against Navy's 2-7. Against mutual opponents Army won two of three, Navy one of three.

In sizing up the teams, Army has a decided edge in personnel, and has shown to advantage on both offense and defense. Navy has shown little but the typical Navy heart and all out effort against superior foes.

Army therefore should win, but anything could happen. Anyone care to remember 1948? Army arrived in Philadelphia unbeaten with eight straight victories. Navy was winless with eight straight defeats. Navy came up with a 21-21 tie.

Recall 1950? Army brought an 8-0 record into the traditional service game. Navy was 2-6. Again, the game had all the earmarks of a Cadet walkover. Navy won 14-2.

Let's go back to last year. Army was 8-1, the Middies a so-so 4-4-1. The pre-game experting had the Cadets a handy winner. A stirred Navy team, however, latched onto a fumble at the Navy 25 with 4:53 to play and held on to win 19-14.

This season Army has defeated The Citadel, Vanderbilt, California, Rutgers, Duke, Boston College and Pittsburgh. The Cadets lost 7-3 to Missouri and just missed knocking over unbeaten Penn State in a 28-24 thriller.

Navy has been thumped by Penn State, Boston College, Michigan, Air Force, Virginia, Notre Dame and Syracuse. The Middies beat hapless Pitt by a point and surprised Georgia Tech.

Army, directed by quarterback Steve Lindell, operates from a wing and slot T with a split end and has good balance between running and passing. Lindell is accomplished with the rollout and favors tight end Gary Steele when he passes.

Fullback Charlie Jarvis, who has gained 1,022 yards and scored eight touchdowns this year is the Cadets' big running

Basketball Bucs Face Mountaineers

The East Carolina University basketballers will open their season Saturday night in Morgantown, W. Va., against former Southern Conference rival West Virginia.

The Mountaineers were the last opponents faced by the Bucs last year, as they bowed, 76-71, in the Southern Conference Tournament. West Virginia went on to final in the runner-up position to champion Davidson.

The Mountaineers lost three of their top players through graduation but they have some strong ones returning, including high-jumping Carey Bailey.

Bailey, one of the top inside men in the game, reportedly can jump flatfooted and touch the top of the backboard, 13-feet off the floor. Last year against East Carolina, his rebounding and shot blocking were keys to the two West Virginia victories over the Pirates.

Bob Hummel is another veteran returning this year, who should be one of the star performers for the Mountaineers, and Greg Ludwig is another who'll probably draw one of the starting positions or be a stand-out reserve.

West Virginia also has a couple of fine junior college transfers, and a good sophomore, Skip Kinty. The two transfers, Mike Truell, 6-7, and Larry Woods, 6-5, will also be seeing a lot of action. Wayne Grimm, a veteran senior will also probably be in line for a starting role.

East Carolina Coach Tom Quinn feels that Grimm and Hummel will probably draw starting roles against his Pirates, along with Bailey, Truell and Kinty.

"They'll be tough on the boards and will block a lot of inside shots," Quinn said. "And they'll run every opportunity they get."

"We expect to go with a man-for-man defense, and we'll run when we can, too. If not, we'll work the ball in for the good shots. We want to pressure them with a type of defense similar to what we used in Charlotte at the tournament last year. We'll have nearly entirely different personnel for this game as compared to last year, and we'll definitely be the underdog in the game."

Quinn said that his players have been working very hard, and this pleases him. "They are the hardest working group I've had at East Carolina. They have more capacity for work than most groups. They're anxious to get started."

Missing from the Buc lineup this week will be star guard Earl Thompson, who is not eligible for the first game. He'll make his first appearance next week against Atlantic Christian when the Pirates open their home season.

Meanwhile, Quinn said he will probably start sophomore Jim Gregory, junior Jim Modlin and senior Richard Keir in the forefront, with junior Tom Miller and either Bob McKillop or Jim Kiernan, both sophomores, at guard.

"We're going to use all four of our guards at West Virginia," Quinn said. "Richie Williams will get a lot of action in that spot along with the other three. We feel all four are closely hunched, and can do a lot of things well, and each has special talents above that."

After the Pirates play their opener Saturday night, they take a week off before hosting Atlantic Christian in Minges Coliseum on Saturday, December 7, in their first home appearance.

Jets Capture Eastern Title While At Lunch

By HAL BOCK Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Jets got a lovely desert with their Thanksgiving turkey—the American Football League's Eastern Division title.

The Jet coaches, players and their families gathered at Shea Stadium for the team's annual turkey dinner Thursday and between forklifts, they watched Kansas City whip Houston 24-10, wiping out the Oilers' last chance to catch New York.

"I feel really great," said Coach Weeb Ewbank after the players doused him in champagne. The Jets cheered each Kansas City score and joined the Chiefs' fans in the countdown of the final seconds before popping the corks.

Meanwhile, the Chiefs remained tied for the Western Division lead with Oakland which just got by Buffalo, 13-10. Both the Raiders and Kansas City are 10-2 with two games remaining. On Sunday, Miami is at New York, Cincinnati at Boston and San Diego at Denver.

In the National League, Philadelphia ended an 11-game losing streak and jeopardized its chances at the No. 1 collegiate draft pick, by shutting out Detroit 12-0, and Dallas tripped Washington 29-0.

Len Dawson could have won an Emmy from the Jets for the way he performed on their television screen against the Oilers. The Kansas City quarterback picked Houston's secondary apart, hurling three long touchdowns and completing 17 of 23 attempts for 253 yards. He hit 10 in a row over one stretch. Dawson found Frank Pitts with TD tosses of 33 and 43 yards and connected with Mike Garrett for a 37-yarder.

Houston's Pete Beathard had a 66-yard TD pass to Jim Beirne but the Oilers never threatened again following that score.

The victory gave the Chiefs about a three-hour solo hold on first place in the West. But the Raiders stayed with them by holding off Buffalo in their West Coast game.

George Atkins, a rookie defensive back, was the hero for the puncheon Raiders. He intercepted two passes setting up 10 quick points in the third period and then jarred Buffalo's Ed Rutkowski into a fumble that Warren Powers recovered on the Raider one-yard line with less than three minutes to play, ending the Bills' last march.

Atkinson's first interception set up George Blanda's second field goal of the game for a 6-3 Oakland lead. Then he raced 33-yards for a TD with another interception, giving the Raiders a 13-3 edge.

Buffalo came back with a fourth quarter score and then marched to the Raider one before Atkinson's tackle shook the ball loose from Rutkowski and Powers recovered. Later Atkinson knocked down two more passes and Buffalo's Bruck Alford missed a 42-yard field goal try.

"We had the feeling this game would be tough," said John Rauch, coach of the Raiders. "Underdogs always have incentive to knock off frontrunners but we are fighting for a championship and lots of money and that's incentive too."

The loss left Buffalo a 1-11 for the season with one game remaining compared to Philadelphia's 1-11 with two to go. The team with the poorest record gets the No. 1 collegiate pick, ostensibly Heisman Trophy winner O. J. Simpson. B. J. Harvey Johnson, coach of the Bills was unconcerned with the Simpson situation.

"We're trying to win football games," said Johnson, "we just can't seem to get over the hump."

State Puts Eight On All-ACC Team

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — Champion North Carolina State claimed eight of the 23 positions on the All-Atlantic Coast Conference football team announced today by the Atlantic Coast Sports Writers Association.

The Wolfpack, which won the title with a 6-1 ACC record, placed four men on the offensive team and four on defense. Clemson the second-place team, won five positions. Virginia, which finished third, got four.

All the players won their positions by comfortable margins, and some were close to being unanimous.

Halfback Frank Quayle of Virginia got 79 votes to lead split end Henley Carter of Duke by one as the top vote getter.

N. C. State's representatives are guard Don Jordan, center Carey Metts, back Bobby Hall, and kicking specialist Gerald Warren on the offensive unit and end Mark Capuano, tackle Ron Carpenter, and backs Jack Whitely and Tay Yount on the defensive team. Warren and Capuano also were on the team in 1967.

Clemson placed tackle Joe Lhotsky and halfback Buddy Gore on the offense and end Ron Ducworth, tackle John Cagle, and linebacker Jimmy Catoe on defense. Gore and Ducworth are repeaters.

Other Virginia players honored are tackle Greg Shelly and Guard Chuck Hammer of the offense, and middle guard Bob Paczkoski. Shelly and Quayle were on the 1967 team.

Leo Hart, Duke's star quarterback, and N. C. State's defensive back Jack Whitely are the only sophomores to make the 23-man squad.

There are 16 seniors and five juniors on the all-ACC team.

The voters had their easiest time selecting the offensive ends with two players who are only 5-foot-10 were close to unanimous choice. Fred Ziegler of South Carolina got 74 votes behind Carter and Quayle as the most popular selections. Carter caught 65 passes, a record, for 892 yards. Ziegler grabbed 59 for 848 yards.

Maryland and North Carolina were the two teams failing to place a man on the All-ACC team. Digit Laughridge, defensive back was Wake Forest's lone representative.

Pirates Seek .500 Year Against East Tennessee

East Carolina University's Football Pirates will close out their 1968 season Saturday afternoon in Johnson City, Tennessee, against the East Tennessee State Buccaneers.

The Pirates are within a victory of salvaging what looked at one point in the year to be one of the most disastrous seasons in years for East Carolina. The Pirates captured their opening game, then suffered through four straight defeats, one a 65-0 mauling by Southern Mississippi, before they managed to find their feet against Furman University.

Since then, the Bucs have won three of their last four, and the only loss was a 28-21 third quarter terror against Tampa.

Now, by beating East Tennessee, the Pirates can close out the year with a 5-5 mark, far short of pre-season predictions, but much better than expected six weeks ago.

East Tennessee, meanwhile, will also be going for a 5-5 record. They, too, have come on strong in the closing weeks of the season, winning their last three in a row. The Bucs captured only one of their first six, and finished with a 4-3 conference record, good enough for fourth in the Ohio Valley loop.

"They play pretty good defense," Coach Clarence Stasavich said of his opponent. "Their record is similar to ours, and there is a lot of similarity between the two teams."

The Bucs have allowed just over 2,200 yards in total offense, while the Pirates have given up 2,800. East Tennessee has rolled up about the same amount of yardage, while the Pirates have about 2,300 yards, too.

"They haven't scored quite as much as we have," Stasavich said, "but they've been scored on less." ETSU has scored about three touchdowns a game, while giving up just over three. East Carolina is allowing four and scoring three.

"They are primarily a passing team," Stasavich said. The Bucs have gone to the air for 1,308 yards this year, while running for 1,020. "They have three backs who run the ball well, Pat Hauser, John Thomas and Mike Young, but Larry Graham, the quarterback, is the big threat."

Graham has thrown 192 passes this year, hitting on 90 of them for 46.9 per cent. He's collected 1,224 yards through the air, and been thrown for only 28 yards in losses. He's picked up eight touchdowns with his aerials, but he's had 13 passes picked off.

Stasavich also notes that East Tennessee has a fine defensive secondary. "They are very quick, and they'll intercept on you. They've picked off 24 passes this year already."

"To counter this, we'll have to try and do a lot of rushing, and avoid the pass," Stasavich said. "They have a real good linebacker and a couple of good sized linemen, but overall, they'll be smaller than us."

"We're going to have to run hard against them, and we'll have to stop their passing if we are going to win," he said. "They can throw the ball short if we rush them, so we'll have to intercept a few to even things out."

The probable starting lineup on offense for the Pirates has Jimmy Adkins and Danny Wilmer at ends, Worth Springs and Phil Bilodeau at tackles, Earl Britton and Ben Grieb at guards, Terry Edmondson at center, Billy Wightman at tailback, Butch Colson at fullback, Dick Corrada at wingback and Dave Brill at blocking back.

On defense, it will be Jim Flowe and Roger Bost at ends, Wayne Lineberry and Don Adams at tackles, Walter Adams and George Wheeler at guards, Paul Weathersbee at middle linebacker, Jeff Dudley at rover, either Mike Mills or George Whitley and Tommy Bullock at halfbacks, and Stu Garrett at safety.

Game time in Johnson City is 2 p.m.

Irish Out To Spoil USC Mark

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Notre Dame and the unbeaten Trojans of Southern California collide on the football field for the 40th time Saturday in their finale of the regular season.

The contest will be televised nationally—ABC at 4:30 p.m., EST—and viewed by some 75,000 fans in Memorial Coliseum.

For the Irish, there is the will to close out the campaign on a winning note. Coach Ara Parseghian's lads, as ex-coach Frank Leahy was fond of calling the players, have won seven games—but they lost two big ones.

Those were to Purdue, 37-33, and Michigan State, 21-17.

Coach John McKay's Trojans are 9-0. They have won 19 of their last 20 games and are Rose Bowl-bound, with O.J. Simpson leading the charge to play Ohio State. If the Trojans needed more incentive, they got it this week when The Associated Press pollsters dropped them from No. 1 to No. 2 behind Ohio State.

"We still think we are No. 1," said Simpson, the Heisman Trophy winner.

Notre Dame has been damaged by injuries to key players. The most serious was the loss of quarterback Terry Hanratty. A sophomore, Joe Theismann, is his replacement. He guided ND past Georgia Tech 34-6 and Pittsburgh 56-7.

"Notre Dame is as good a looking team as I have seen in years," says McKay. "That quarterback Theismann looks like Steve Preece of Oregon State when he runs and like Jim Plunkett of Stanford when he passes."

"Stopping Southern Cal is a big order," counters Parseghian. "First you have to contend with the finest running back in college football."

"Then," Ara goes on, "you take a look at the great offensive line of their's and try to figure out how to stop both."

"The one thing that surprises most of all is that many people have overlooked the great job Steve Sogge has done at quarterback."

"They have lots of weapons and McKay utilizes all of them so well that you can't concentrate on any one person or phase of their offense."

Southern Cal has a few stops to make, also, such as halfback Bob Gadiuex, who has led the Irish rushers with 133 carries for 596 yards and 11 touchdowns.

And there is pass-snagging Jim Seymour—49 for 671 yards and four touchdowns.

Alcindor Better Than Ever Now

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lew Alcindor has been a consensus All-American in his sophomore and junior years. Can anyone expect him to get better?

His coach can. John Wooden says the giant but agile UCLA center, now 21, is better than ever and will enjoy playing basketball more this year.

"The one thing you notice about Lewis this season is that he is more at ease," Wooden said. "He's going to enjoy playing this game a lot more."

"He's a lot stronger and he is more sure of himself now because there isn't quite so much pressure on him. He can't help but be better."

Another reason the 7-foot-1 1/2 superscorer will be better is that he'll have to do less and his defending national champions should still win.

In his two previous seasons at UCLA, during which he led the Bruins to national titles, Alcindor has been UCLA's primary rebounder. On his shoulders fell the task of getting the ball off the boards and starting the Bruin fast break.

Musicians Back On Job; Utility Workers Turn

By BOB MONROE

Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Network television musicians are playing again. Workers at state mental hospitals have returned to the wards, and Long Island Rail Road engineers are back on the track. A labor peace? Not yet—now utility workers are set to walk out.

New Yorkers, who have already weathered police and firemen slowdowns and teachers and sanitationmen's strikes in 1953, braced today for a Sunday walkout by 20,000 workers at the Consolidated Edison Co.

Charles F. Luce, Con Ed board chairman, told 9,000,000 customers Thursday to expect "less than normal service" if the walkout occurs and appealed to the public to limit electrical usage during peak demand hours from 4 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Luce said 4,000 supervisors would attempt to provide "essential" gas and electrical service for an indefinite period. "We are confident we can operate the system," he said, but added, "It will be a challenge."

The workers, members of Local 1-2 of the AFL-CIO Utility Workers of America, surprised their leaders and Con Ed officials by rejecting a proposed two-year contract Wednesday.

Meanwhile, the commuting challenge for 90,000 daily riders on the Long Island Rail Road appeared ended. Line officials said they expected "full service" but warned of possible delays due to new timetables.

Wildcat strikes by trainmen and engineers snarled service for three days beginning Monday this week. Then holiday snafus caused the cancellation of 20 of 270 runs and delays on 70 more Thursday.

A spokesman attributed the new trouble to problems in getting the men and machinery matched up. "We just didn't get all the guys in the same place with all the equipment," he said.

The line now gets its first test of the new timetables—its first major schedule change in 20 years. The changes, which union members said would cost them overtime pay, were blamed for the walkouts.

Nonprofessional workers who struck four state mental hospitals, disrupting the lives of thousands of patients for more than a week, began returning to the wards Thursday.

State officials said they would begin early next week to effect the return of 4,942 patients who had to be transferred to other institutions.

One patient under state care for 56 years at Manhattan State Hospital declared it was "the best Thanksgiving dinner I ever had" after the workers got back in time to prepare the traditional meal.

Several workers at Bronx State Hospital were notified they were suspended pending a police investigation of alleged acts of violence during the strike.

The striking workers, members of Council 50 of the State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO, voted to end the walkout Wednesday after Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller agreed to cease bargaining with the rival Civil Service Employees Association.

The state Public Employment Relations Board, in a ruling backing the strikers' demands, divided state employes into five units and ordered representation elections in each.

Finally, a 28-day strike of musicians against the three major radio and television networks ended Thursday with the announcement that members had voted 270-263 to accept a new two-year contract.

FLYING SCHOOLROOM

A fleet of 94 T-29 "Flying Classrooms" provides flying training. Above is a T-29 C, equipped with the latest navigational aids.

Learning to use the periscopic sextant.

Mather Air Force Base, Calif., is the home of all United States Air Force navigator training, the Air Force's one such navigation school. Here at Mather, Air Training Command's 3535th Navigator Training Wing provides the Air Force with its navigators, navigator-bombardiers and electronic warfare officers.

A formal flying training course in each of these three navigator specialties makes up the "hard core" of the wing's curriculum. Such training is conducted only at Mather AFB—therefore this operation is of unique importance in the structure of the Department of Defense. The school is a keystone in the nation's capability for global military airlift and strategic and tactical air operations.

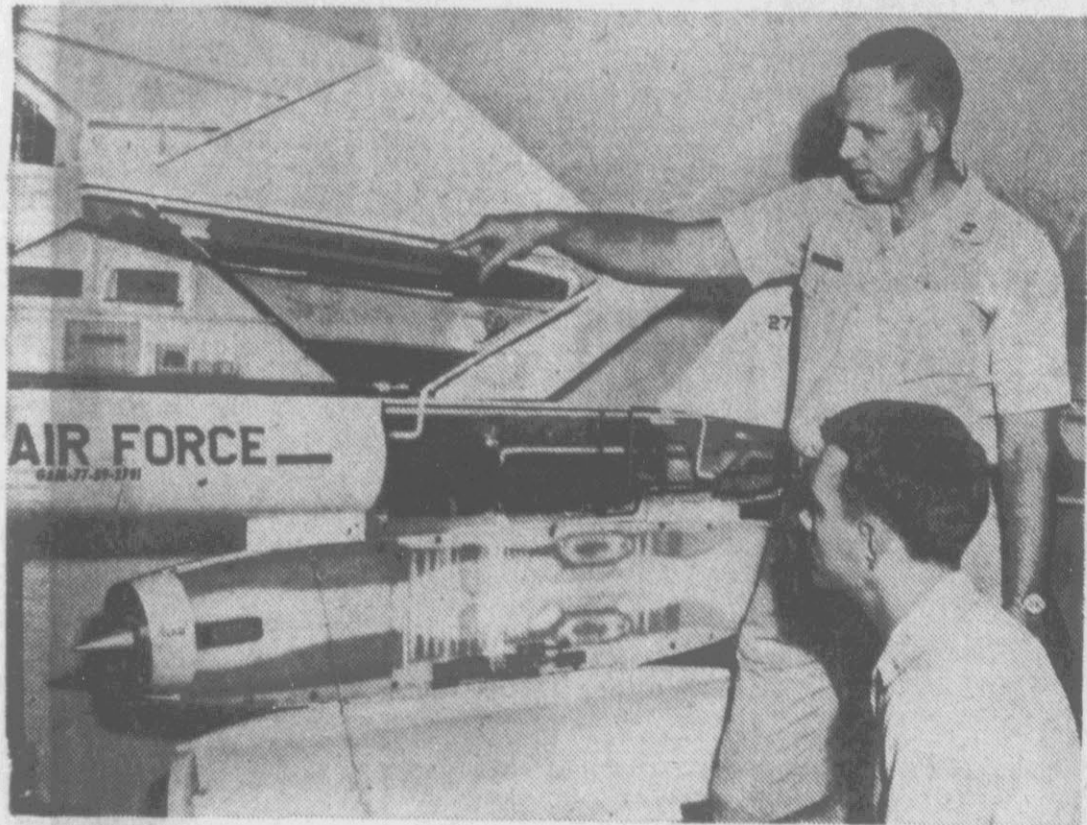

The wing also provides related, specialized academic courses in a number of weapons delivery systems, and electronic reconnaissance and defense systems. Over the past two years the curriculum has been branching out, with innovations which reflect the increasing complexity of weaponry and the development of special tactics for the operations in Southeast Asia.

Total enrollment in the courses is now more than 1,000. Undergraduate Navigator Training is a 38-week course in the fundamentals of navigation. For graduates there is then the 30-week Electronic Warfare Officer Training course, or the 28-week Navigator-Bombardier Training course, as well as other shorter, specialized courses.

Mather Air Force Base was first opened in 1918 as a training school for World War I pilots; it also functioned as a flying school during World War II. In 1947 a specialized program of navigator training was instituted and has led to Mather's becoming the home of all U.S. training in that field.

Pitt Tech Evening Program Registration Will Be Mon.

Registration for the winter quarter evening program at Pitt Technical Institute will be held Monday from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

Requirements for admission to the Evening Program will be the same as those for students who enroll in the Technical and Vocational day programs.

A tuition charge of $2.50 for each credit hour will be charged of students who register for curriculum courses. This will be due on the night of registration.

All courses taken in the Evening program are creditable toward either a certificate, diploma or Associate in Applied Science Degree.

The books and supplies must be purchased by the student. The total cost of these items will depend on the course or courses for which a student has registered.

Curriculum courses to be offered during the winter quarter include:

Architectural drafting; Typing I, II, and III; Shorthand I and II; Office machines; Business law; Report Writing; Accounting; Oral Communication; Maching Shop Theory and Practice; Mechanical Blueprint Reading; Fundamentals of Math.

Registration for the non-curriculum classes may be done by telephoning or visiting Pitt

Technical Institute.

Non-curriculum courses to be available include: Home Sewing I, II and III; Tailoring; Basic Electronic Principles; Transistor Techniques; Mechanical Drafting; SDT-Pre-Super-Vision; SDT-II, Job Relations Training; Hotel, Motel Human Relations; and Adult Basic Education.

Application for several courses are being taken at Pitt

Technical for classes which have not been scheduled at the present time. Applicants will be notified by letter when arrangements for the classes have been made.

The classes include: Blueprint Reading for Building Trades; Brick Masonry I; Basic Welding; Advanced Welding; Small Gasoline Engine Repair-Computer Programming; Key Punch Operation; High School Preparation; Income Tax Reporting, individual; Income Tax Reporting, Farm and Small Business; Stocks and Bonds; Public speaking; knitting; art, sketching, drawing and painting; Interior decorating; Driver training; speed reading; flower arranging; furniture upholstery and refinishing; stenographic; and Emergency Auto Care for Women.

Stockholders Meeting Planned

SNOW HILL — The 35th annual stockholders meeting of the Pitt - Greene Production Credit Association will be held Saturday, December 7 at 10 a.m. at the Greene County Court-house here.

J. C. Moore senior vice president of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Columbia, S. C., the bank which is the association's source of funds to loan to farmers, will be the principal speaker. An election of directors will be held.

4-H and FFA members of the two counties have been invited through their leaders and teachers.

Life Sentence Upheld By Court

RALEIGH — The State Supreme Court upheld the life sentence of Terry Sneed of Raleigh, convicted of raping Mary Jo Welch, of Burlington, an East Carolina University coed, on September 17, 1967.

The Supreme Court, in an opinion written by Associate Justice J. Frank Huskins, found no error in the Wake Superior Court trial in March and upheld both the verdict and conviction.

Miss Welch testified that Sneed a former prison guard, met her at the Raleigh bus station. He offered to drive her to the university campus at Greenville, but instead lured her to a rural cabin near Raleigh and raped her.

Pitt Churches Present A Gift

The Free Will Baptist Churches of Pitt County presented some $9,076.77 in gifts to Mount Olive College at their annual dinner for the college held at the American Legion Building in Greenville Monday evening, November 18.

To the 246 persons attending the dinner, Austin Carter, director of development of Mount Olive, depicted the life of the college and outlined its plans for the future. Miss Carol Lewis, a Pitt County student at the college, spoke on "My Appreciation of Mount Olive College."

Those on the steering committee planning the dinner were R. J. Boswell of Greenville, chairman; H. P. Norman of Farmville; Stephen Walters and the Rev. Jerry Rowe of Greenville; and W. R. Harris of Winterville.

French Senate OKs Austerity

PARIS (AP) — The Senate today approved by 157 votes to 87 President Charles de Gaulle's austerity finance bill designed to stave off devaluation of the franc.

The bill was approved Thursday by the National Assembly.

Senators who voted against the bill included Communists, Socialists and several members of the Democratic Left.

Pastor John T. Woodley

"You Should See The Other Guy!"

As a boy it was so easy to justify a fight. Publicly you gloated over your opponent's bloody nose (and privately you wished that his had been the black eye with its morose-lasting embarrassment). But, somehow, the victory alone excused the battle.

As an adult how do you view the matter? Would the possibility of bloody victory be sufficient justification for attempting to beat the tar out of some irritating neighbor? You might be arrested for disturbing the peace . . . assault and battery!

But that is not the real reason we control brutal impulses. The real reason lies deep in our Christian heritage:
—a sense of human dignity . . .
—respect for fairness and justice regardless of might . . .
—the belief that peace can be a blessing for weak and strong alike . . .
—that patient understanding can enrich life.

Rooted in the same Christian faith are other great principles of life which challenge men's hearts and minds. We seek to understand and apply them as we worship God in our churches. They are essential in a world still threatened with a return to the black eye and bloody nose . . . or something worse.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP) — (USDA) — Wholesale egg offerings adequate. Demand fair today. New York spot quotations: Standards 41-43. Whites: Fancy large (47 lbs. min) 43-45½; Fancy Medium (41 lbs average) 39½-40½; Fancy smalls (36 lbs average) 38-39. Browns: Fancy large (47 lbs. min) 49½-50½.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued its advance in fairly active trading early this afternoon. Gains outnumbered losses by about 370 issues on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 2.1 at 367.3 with industrials up 2.8, rails up 2.1 and utilities unchanged.

Analysts saw the market as a technically strong condition. Further reason for the purchase of stocks as a hedge against inflation was supplied by the October rise in the Consumer Price index at an annual rate of 7.2 per cent, the fastest pace in six years.

A solid advance by steels was accompanied by increasing shipments of steel products.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 4.54 at 980.86. If held to the close, this would be another new high for 1968.

Among the top steelmakers gains of well over a point were scored by U.S. Steel and Republic Steel. Bethlehem and Jones & Laughlin rose about a point each.

A block of 99,500 shares of National Airlines at 43½, off 1½, made that stock the early leader on volume. Right behind it in activity were United Fruit and Boeing, each up about a point, and American Smelting, ahead about 5.

Standard Oil of Indiana rose a shade more than 2 points on news of its plans to acquire Cerro Corp. Cerro was delayed in opening. Teledyne spurted about 3½ in further response to stock split plans. Ling-Temco-Vought rose about 4.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mostly higher in active trading.

Griffton Parade Set For Tues.

GRIFFTON — The annual Christmas Parade for Griffton has been scheduled for Tuesday, at 5 p.m.

Parade participants will include bands, school queens, floats, marching units, and boy and girl scouts.

Bands scheduled to appear in the parade include: North Lenoir High School, Savannah High School and the Grainer High School Band.

The East Carolina University Flight Angel Drill Team, the ECU Men's Drill Team and Color Guard will also appear in the parade.

The parade is scheduled to assemble at the Griffton Consolidated High School and travel west on Queen Street to Hwy. N. C. 11. The parade will travel north on N. C. 11 to McCrae Street then turn on McCrae Street and travel east to the Griffton High School where the parade will disband.

Jewish Group Protests Stamp

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Jewish Congress has protested that the 1968 Christmas stamp issued by the U.S. Post Office violates the First Amendment guarantee of the separation of church and state.

The 6-cent stamp shows a detail from "The Annunciation," a work by the 15th-century Flemish master, Jan van Eyck, depicting the Angel Gabriel telling the Virgin Mary she has been chosen to bear the infant Jesus.

The stamp shows only the angel in a robe of crimson and gold. The AJC said Thursday in a letter to Postmaster General W. Marvin Watson that when Christmas stamps were first issued in 1962 they showed "relatively innocuous" designs such as holly wreaths.

But, the letter declared, the Van Eyck painting celebrates "the dogma of the Virgin birth" and charged: "This amounts to government support of specific religious ideas even when those ideas are antithetical to the religious beliefs of others."

The first public junior college in the United States was opened in 1910 at Fresno, Calif.

Five Are Dead In Sydney Fires

SYDNEY (AP) — Five men are dead, seven are missing and about 200 injured in midsummer bushfires that caused millions of dollars worth of damage within a 50-mile radius of Sydney in the past two days.

The fire danger diminished in Sydney's outer suburbs today as the wind abated and temperatures dropped 20 degrees from Thursday's high of 90.

Isolated fires still burned in the Blue Mountains 50 miles west of Sydney but they were reported under control.

A thousand firefighters including professionals, volunteers and soldiers stood by to prevent a recurrence of Thursday's disaster when flames destroyed 150 houses, shops, churches and other buildings.

NON-ARRESTING

MANILA (UPI)—A reporter for the Manila Evening News complained that Public Service Commission employees may be taking bribes. He reported that in 12 years one inspector had made only two arrests.

The inspectors are employed to insure that taxis, buses and other public vehicles are kept in good repair and that operators comply with the laws.

The District Court has jurisdiction to try all civil actions in which the amount in controversy is not greater than $5,000, all criminal cases below the grade of felony, and to conduct preliminary examinations in all other criminal cases.

It also is the proper court, regardless of the amount in controversy, for trial of civil actions for annulment, divorce, alimony, child support, and child custody. Most litigation which arises in this district will

Helicoptors Chase Enemy

By GEORGE ESPER Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Helicopterborne U.S. Air Cavalrymen leaptfrogged along the Cambodian border today in pursuit of enemy troops fleeing to their sanctuaries after fierce Thanksgiving Day fighting.

U.S. headquarters said 25 enemy soldiers were killed in one battle during which helicopters and Air Force bombers sprayed the area with machine gun fire, rockets, bombs and cannons. No U.S. casualties were reported.

The new action raised to 288 the number of enemy troops killed in the last two days and 46 the number of enemy slain since the first of the week in major fighting along the Cambodian border north of Saigon.

U.S. losses for the same period were 26 killed and 54 wounded. South Vietnam lost 10 dead and 20 wounded.

It was the heaviest fighting in the area since mid-September when a drive by the Communist command against the border provinces was beaten back.

The U.S. Command said constant pressure is being maintained on the 15,000 to 20,000 enemy troops believed deployed along the 100-mile stretch of Cambodian border.

Sparring that is expected to slow progress in the Paris peace talks for the next few weeks continued Thursday when North Vietnam and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front announced they would ignore the South Vietnamese delegation.

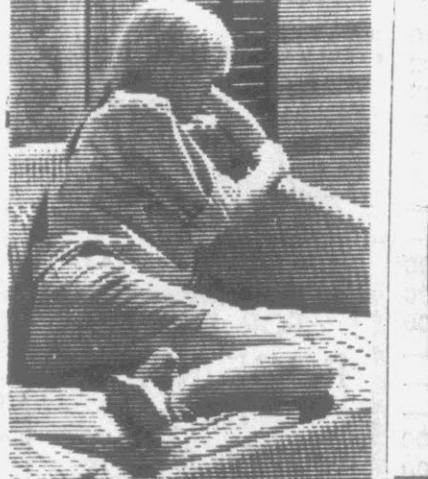

This further complicated the picture. South Vietnam considers the talks two-sided and said Wednesday it would address its remarks to North Vietnam and ignore the NLF.

be handled by the District Court and most cases will begin and end in the District Court.

cans aboard were killed. A U.S. spokesman said that since Jan. 1, 1961, a total of 942 U.S. helicopters have been downed by enemy ground fire in South Vietnam.

For the first time since the Nov. 1 bombing halt of North Vietnam there were no overnight shellings of district towns or provincial capitals, allied headquarters said. The calm in the demilitarized zone continued for the third straight day.

South Vietnamese headquarters said 10 light mortar attacks were made against military installations killing one policeman and wounding 15 soldiers.
