The four District Judges of North Carolina's Third Judicial District, the Chief District Prosecutor, the magistrates appointed for the district and county officials were sworn into office at an installation ceremony held today at the Pitt Courthouse.

Superior Court Judge William J. Bundy, assisted by Superior Court Judge Albert W. Cowper of New Bern, and Emergency Judge Chester Morris, administered the oaths to the incoming officials.

Fred Mattox, president of the Pitt Bar Association, presented the elected officials to the presiding judges.

The four District Judges taking the oath were: Chief Judge J.W.H. Roberts, Judges Hubert Phillips, Robert Wheeler and Charles Whedbee. Judge Eli Bloom was sworn in as chief district prosecutor, and Judge Lambert R. Morris as his assistant.

Magistrates of Pitt County sworn in were: Luther D. Moore, W.E. Whitehurst, A.L. Whitley, W.E. Joyner, Fountain Harrington, Stanley David, H.H. Adams, and Jack R. Edwards. Some magistrates from Craven, Carteret and Pamlico counties were also sworn in along with the Pitt County magistrates.

Other Pitt County officials taking the oath of office in the ceremony were:

—Clerk of Court, H.L. Lewis Jr.; Assistant Clerks of Court, J.D. Adams, Miss Eleanor Hughes, Mrs. Frances Joyner; Deputy Clerks of Court, Mrs. Edna B. Tetterton, Mrs. Sarah S.

Dixon, and Mrs. Marjorie Grizard.

—Register of Deeds, Mrs. Elvira Allred; Assistant Register of Deeds, Mrs. Dorothy T. Knowles; Deputy Registers of Deeds, Mrs. Marguerite Evans and Miss Dianne Taylor.

—County Commissioners, R. L. Martin, chairman, and Bruce Strickland. Commissioner Charles Gaskins was absent.

—District Court Reporter, Mrs. Jean Allen.

Mattox noted that in the early part of the century, two Superior Court Judges, G.V. Cowper of Kinston and Harry W. Whedbee of Greenville were close friends. Today their sons, Superior Court Judge Albert W. Cowper and District Judge Charles W. Whedbee, were together for this ceremony. To mark the occasion, Judge Cowper administered the oath of office to Judge Whedbee.

A brief ceremony was held in which a certificate of appreciation and gratitude was read honoring Judge Dink James for his long service from January 1933 through November 1968. The certificate was accepted for Judge James by Kenneth Hite. After the administering of oaths, Judge Bundy spoke briefly of the new system: "Before, we had no district courts, no magistrates. The new district court is intended to relieve the Superior Court of congestion due to an ever increasing population, and perhaps to an increasing tendency in crimes."

"All civil matters of five thousand dollars down, and all domestic matters, thank the Lord, will be handled by the District Court. This new court will be close to the people it is intended to serve. It is my hope that this court may help justice to become a by-word in this land."

Immediately following the swearing in of officials, the Chief District Judge, J.W.H. Roberts, convened the first District Court held in the Third Judicial District.

Judge Roberts formally made a brief report of the swearing in action which had just preceded, and then closed the first session of the District Court.

Recommending Merger Into Consolidated U.

RALEIGH (AP) — A special study committee recommended today that Asheville - Biltmore College and Wilmington College be made campuses of the Consolidated University of North Carolina.

The recommendation was made in a report to the university board of trustees.

"A merger would be in the best interest of each of the following: higher education in North Carolina, the areas in which the two colleges are located, the colleges themselves and the university," the committee concluded.

The report said sufficient facilities for advanced graduate and professional programs either are provided on existing campuses or are scheduled in the next decade.

But the report said, "There is a serious shortage of graduates of superior undergraduate institutions in North Carolina. A solution to this would be facilitated by the proposed merger."

"Such a merger would extend the resources of the university to cities in which there is a potential for campuses that would be attractive to students from all parts of the state."

"These would appeal to students who prefer institutions of moderate size and with a less traditional and more experimental approach to education."

The report concluded that Asheville and Wilmington would be "appropriate" places for new undergraduate campuses and each college would be a "satisfactory" nucleus around which to organize "superior undergraduate colleges."

The committee also noted that neither institution has "strong traditions or long-standing practices that would make a merger difficult."

Winchester Announces Retirement

Pitt Preparing Switch Into Food Stamp Plan

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

The Pitt County Commissioners this morning approved a move from the commodities program, now in use, to the food stamp program to aid low-income families in receiving more adequate meals and accepted the resignation of S. C. Winchester as County Extension Chairman.

Commissioners said the present commodity program, where qualified families receive surplus food at no charge, will be phased out in March or April.

Under the food stamp program, low income families purchase food stamps which will in some cases more than double the buying power of the stamp purchase price.

The family then may use the stamps just as they would money, at local stores, to purchase their food.

Winchester told commissioners this morning that he will retire at the end of December, after 32 years with the Agricultural Extension Service.

The county extension chairman said he has accepted a new position as manager and operator of Pitt Farm Enterprises, Inc., organized to produce hogs and table eggs.

A Guilford County native, Winchester graduated from N. C. State University in 1935 and served as assistant extension agent in Johnston and Pitt Counties, then as county agent in Jones County before coming to Pitt in 1946 as head of the extension service here.

Dr. W. G. Andrews, district extension service chairman told the commissioners this morning that a successor to Winchester would be recommended in a few weeks.

Dr. George Hyatt Jr., director of the agricultural extension service at N. C. State said Winchester "has been one of those extension chairmen we would like to have more of," and called him "a leader in every respect."

Winchester was honored by the National Association of County Agricultural Agents in 1964 when he received that group's Distinguished Service award for his "outstanding" work.

Commissioners R. L. Martin and Bruce Strickland received the oath of office at services prior to the commissioners meeting this morning. Both men were re-elected to seats on the board in the November general election.

Commissioner Charles Gaskins is a patient in Pitt Memorial Hospital and was unable to attend the swearing-in ceremony. He too, won election to the board in November.

In other business this morning, the board heard reports from the county Welfare Department and the county farm agents office.

Commissioners, this afternoon, were scheduled to elect a chairman and vice-chairman for the coming year, appoint county officials for the coming year, and reorganize various committees within the board.

Negotiators Air Their Complaints

By LEWIS GULICK

PARIS (AP) — U.S. and North Vietnamese negotiators met privately today on arrangements for starting the expanded Vietnam peace parley.

No date was set for the opening of these new talks, but they are expected to get under way soon after the arrival late this week of a delegation from Saigon.

At this morning's session, U.S. and North Vietnamese delegates were also said to have traded complaints involving alleged departures from the understanding under which President Johnson halted the bombing of North Vietnam.

Hanoi delegate Ha Van Lau was said to have protested that U.S. planes last Wednesday staged bombing attacks deep inside North Vietnamese territory.

The Americans, led by Ambassador Cyrus R. Vance, were understood to have warned against North Vietnamese attacks on U.S. reconnaissance planes which are continuing to fly over the North. The United States has been concerned also about alleged Communist abuse of the demilitarized zone between the two Vietnams.

Hurricane Season Sees Quiet Close

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — After howling up seven storms that left 11 persons dead and caused millions in property damage, the 1968 hurricane season slid into the record books Sunday with nary a huff nor puff.

As the National Hurricane Center at Miami declared an official end to the storm season, temperatures over the areas where the tropical tempests are spawned were in the 80s and only breezes were recorded.

However, on the first day of the season, June 1, Hurricane Abby formed off Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula and roared across western Cuba. The storm, whose winds never exceeded 75 miles per hour, sloshed ashore near Punta Gorda, Fla., and crossed Florida near Cape Kennedy, causing minor damage.

In Cuba it left six dead and caused damage estimated at $450,000.

Brenda formed June 21 some 300 miles east of Jacksonville in the Atlantic and headed toward the Northeast, away from the U.S. mainland.

Two days after Brenda was born, Candy came to life in the Gulf of Mexico and whirled into Texas, causing damage of $273,000.

Dolly, Edna and Frances, formed between Aug. 12 and Sept. 26, never reached land.

Hurricane Gladys, a killer like Dolly, formed Oct. 15 about 450 miles south of Miami between Swan Island and the Isle of Pines south of Cuba.

Gladys hit the Tampa Bay area Oct. 18 and swirled across the state toward St. Augustine. It left five dead and damage estimated at $6,700,000. It also hit North Carolina's Outer Banks, but caused no injuries and little damage.

The announcement was made by the office of President Nguyen Van Thieu.

The truce will run from 5 p.m. —Saigon time—Dec. 24 to 5 p.m. Dec. 25.

The announcement was made on South Vietnamese radio and television. The truce will be observed for "humanitarian reasons," the statement said.

'Earthy' Report On Chicago Violence Characterizes It As Police Riot

By JAMES R. POLK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley praises the bulk of a presidential commission staff report on violent demonstrations at the Democratic convention, but expresses "some reservations" about a section characterizing the violence as a "police riot."

"My only basic criticism is the summary, which, if used alone would mislead the public and be a disservice to those who prepared the report," said Daley Sunday.

"The report accused officers of 'unrestrained and indiscriminate police violence' by responding in kind to obscene and physical harassment by antiwar protestors. The report was so earthy and explicit that the Government Printing Office refused to print it because an obscene four-letter word appears 82 times.

"Overall it is an excellent study," said Daley.

David Dellinger, a leader of the antiwar protests, said the study had "some gratifying aspects."

Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., said the events in Chicago "made a mockery of an orderly, lawful and just society." He said the prime function of the report would be to prevent such incidents from occurring again.

Daley said the bulk of the Chicago police force reacted with responsibility during the five August nights of disorder in darkened parks and downtown streets. He said some policemen have been suspended for their part in the violence and still others face dismissal.

A special task force compiled the report—an almost blow-by-blow account of the ferocity of the battles and the fever of the protests—for the President's commission on violence, which made it public without comment.

The White House was silent on its reaction to the report.

The task force said some police struck down innocent bystanders and peaceful protesters as well as taunting antiwar antagonists.

"To be sure, demonstrators threw things at policemen and at police cars," the report said, "but the weight of violence was overwhelming on the side of the police."

More than 10,000 demonstrators—actually outnumbered by the police force and National Guardsmen—converged on Chicago for the week of wild demonstrations that erupted, ironically, out of a protest for peace.

The report said the demonstrators showered police with obscenity, with beer cans, with chunks of concrete and ping pong balls studded with nails.

One policeman was offered a sandwich filled with excrement, others were targets for sacks of human waste, the report said.

The response, said the report

"was unrestrained and indiscriminate police violence."

"That violence," it said, "was made all the more shocking by the fact that it was often inflicted upon persons who had broken no law, disobeyed no order, made no threat."

Newsman were singled out by cursing policemen and clubbed to the ground, the report charged. Casual onlookers and innocent residents were caught in the orgy of anger, it said.

The violence began as police evicted demonstrators from a lakeside park on the first nights of the convention and chased them with clubs through the streets of a night club area in what the report said "can only be called a police riot."

Dellinger is among five top figures in the Chicago disorders under subpoena to testify as a House Un-American Activities subcommittee resumes its hearings today on the convention clashes.

Rep. Richard Ichord, D-Mo., subcommittee chairman, said earlier hearings uncovered a number of known Communists involved in the protests. But the task force report said that while Communists were present at almost all stages, "none of them ever had much direct influence" on the planning or the actual clashes.

The report concludes the police involved in the violence were a minority of Chicago's 12,000-man force, but it says the

Sixty Years Old Reluctant Father Is

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband is 60 years old and I am 40. The doctor just told me that I am going to have a baby and my husband is absolutely furious! He says a man HIS age can't father children, and he has accused me of having relations with another man. I swear to God this not true.

Abby, will you please tell my husband that a man his age CAN father a child. He won't listen to my doctor.

FRANTIC

DEAR FRANTIC: Maybe he won't listen to me either, but tell him that I said men have been known to father children at age 60, 70, and even older. And you can also tell him that most men who become fathers at age 60 are pretty proud fathers, so he ought to be ashamed of himself for his ugly accusations.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old girl and my problem is my mother. She's the world's biggest snoop. No matter where I hide my diary, she finds it. I think I should be able to have some privacy, but I don't have any. I guess my mother doesn't trust me. It doesn't do any good to keep a diary if you can't put down the true facts, but now I'm afraid to. I don't DO anything I'm ashamed of, but I also put down some of my "thoughts" which might upset my mother.

Please put your advice in the paper. If a letter ever came to this house, my mother would "accidentally" open it.

NO PRIVACY

DEAR NO: Many mothers "snoop" out of curiosity. Some feel they can be better mothers if they know everything there is to know about their children. I'm for 100 per cent privacy. You and your mother need to have a better understanding. Give her a chance to be a friend by telling her more. And maybe she'll snoop less.

DEAR ABBY: This is for the 46-year-old woman with the 52-year-old friend who won't tell her he "loves" her:

I could shed gobs of tears for her. I have been married for 38 years, and my wife has never once told me in so many words that she loved me. But she has cooked my meals and

Public Must Face Tax Decisions

Rank and file citizens of North Carolina should follow the lead of state officials and begin to face up to some of the hard decisions that will have to be made next year concerning spending and taxes.

As the new administration and new members of the General Assembly move closer to the day when the responsibility for North Carolina's government falls on their shoulders, they are coming to grips with hard decisions that will have to be made.

North Carolina has many needs that are unmet. Demands for state expenditures during the next two years will be far above that which can be provided out of present revenues. The new administration and the next General Assembly will have to decide at what point additions to the tax structure will have to be made in order to meet as many needs as possible.

There has been talk of a tax on tobacco products to bring several million additional dollars into state coffers. There has been talk of a crown tax on soft drinks and increasing the tax on liquor in North Carolina. It is almost certain that some provision will be made whereby local government may add a special sales tax to boost their own revenues. Many other straws are in the wind which could result in new sources of revenue or higher revenue from the sources the state is already tapping with its existing tax structure.

It will not be an easy matter for the new administration or the new legislature to move headlong to increase taxes in North Carolina. There is generally a more conservative attitude in the state today than has been the case in recent years. The public is much more conscious of taxes and government spending, although there is likewise growing concern about the needs which are going unmet.

Sooner or later the administration, the legislature and the people of the state are going to have to face squarely the fact they can't have their cake and eat it too. If the state is going to meet those most pressing needs which should be met during the biennium, additional revenue must come from some tax sources. If the tax structure is not altered, North Carolina cannot hope to have sufficient revenue to meet all those needs it faces.

The people of the state and their officials should begin now to give serious consideration to the difficult choices that will have to be made in the next six months. Fundamentally, the alternatives will be higher taxes, or letting urgent needs go unmet for additional years.

Rapidly Naming State's Leaders Classic's First Year To Determine Future

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
RALEIGH — No sooner had the prediction been made that it would be someone else, Gov.-elect Bob Scott chose Lauch Faircloth of Clinton as his State Highway Commission chairman.

This further startled Raleigh observers who already are amazed at the rapidity with which Scott is making top appointments. Yesterday it was Roy Sowers of Sanford to become the $21,000 a year director of the Department of Conservation and Development. Today it is a $22,000 a year appointment for Faircloth.

WILLIAM A. SHIRES

It is true that Faircloth has qualifications both of experience and political allegiance. He served on the Highway Commission during the Sanford administration, 1961-1965. And he was a pusher for better highways in areas of the state he felt had been neglected, such as his district in Southeastern North Carolina. He was quoted frequently about his references to "plank roads" between Raleigh and Clinton, and Fayetteville and Wilmington.

Others Considered
Certain other staunch Scott supporters were believed under consideration — Carl Renfro of Wilson and Cliff Benson of Raleigh, also members of previous Highway Commissions. Renfro presently is a commissioner. Benson served during the Sanford administration as did Faircloth.

Reasons behind Faircloth's selection and the early announcement are not clear. Faircloth, 40, will be among the youngest Highway Commission chairman ever appointed. He was only 20 years old when the governor-elect's father, Kerr Scott, ran for governor but he campaigned vigorously on his behalf. Faircloth also was a strong supporter of former Gov. Terry Sanford and was rewarded with a Highway Commission post. A bypass on U. S. 421 was built around Clinton and there were other improvements in his district. This year, Faircloth became a leading Scott campaigner.

Adding to the surprise about Scott's early appointment of Faircloth was statement by the present Highway Chairman, Joseph M. Hunt Jr., that he did not intend to submit an early resignation. Hunt's term lasts until next June. However, the fact is that both chairman and commissioners really serve at the pleasure of the governor. The new governor, Scott, takes office January 3 and apparently, like his father did, is ready to make a clean sweep.

Sowers Appointment
Sowers' appointment as C&D director was also a surprise since the present director, Dan E. Stewart, had made no announcement of plans to resign.

Again, this is a position which is filled at the wish of the governor. Previous C&D directors have been fired summarily. Sowers will take office sometime after Jan. 3 in an orderly rather than an abrupt transition of duties.

Sowers is a vice president of Roberts Co. in Sanford and has been active in state politics for a number of years. He served as Scott's campaign coordinator and a key adviser this year.

His appointment follows an early Scott administration policy of placing his key campaign workers in administration positions. It is expected that C. T. West of Raleigh will get the post of Scott's press secretary replacing Governor Moore's man Jerry Elliott.

result in new sources of revenue or higher revenue from the sources the state is already tapping with its existing tax structure.

It will not be an easy matter for the new administration or the new legislature to move headlong to increase taxes in North Carolina. There is generally a more conservative attitude in the state today than has been the case in recent years. The public is much more conscious of taxes and government spending, although there is likewise growing concern about the needs which are going unmet.

The people of the state and their officials should begin now to give serious consideration to the difficult choices that will have to be made in the next six months. Fundamentally, the alternatives will be higher taxes, or letting urgent needs go unmet for additional years.

Greenville has an opportunity later this month to help another East Carolina University undertaking make the successful transition from idea to reality.

Between Christmas and New Year's the first annual Holiday Classic will be underway in Minges Coliseum, bringing together outstanding collegiate basketball teams from this and other parts of the nation. It affords for Greenville as well as for ECU the opportunity to establish an annual event which will bring many advantages to each.

The famous Dixie Classic which was held in Raleigh for a number of years was most successful from the standpoint of providing a spectacular show for sports enthusiasts, and from the standpoint of providing an economic boost for the city in which it was held. Literally thousands of people flocked to Raleigh each year for the Classic.

It should not be expected that the Holiday Classic here in Greenville will instantly achieve the degree of success which the Dixie Classic enjoyed at its demise. With proper support from Greenville and surrounding area, however, there is no reason the Holiday Classic cannot become one of the outstanding collegiate basketball events in this part of the nation.

The undertaking is one which already has the endorsement of local businessmen and other citizens. It is one which should receive in the weeks immediately ahead strong and enthusiastic support from local citizens. How well this new Holiday Classic does in its first year will be important in building its successful future.

Regular Snoring Affects Millions

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK AP — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail: Some 25 million Americans snore regularly. That means one out of eight of us is giving insomnia to the others.

Teenagers are among the more affluent members of our affluent society. A recent study found that 50 per cent of them had more than $10 a week to spend.

Ever wonder why the floors of a building are called "stories"? It is because early European builders used to paint picture stories on the sides of their home, one for each level.

It pays off statistically for a woman to watch her health. Research figures indicate that if a woman ceases to smoke excessively her risk of lung cancer is reduced by 50 per cent. And if she takes a "Pap" test regularly, her risk from cervical cancer is cut from 181 out of 100,000 down to 11.

Strength For Today United States Will Get Blame

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
ALL MIXED UP
The word "contemporary" means "existing at the same period of time." It is a word we hear mentioned a great deal in these days and certainly the characteristic thing about our contemporary life is its jumbled and badly mixed-up state.

In the most sophisticated and well-educated period in world history we have been killing more people in war than during the entire length of world history. Our educational system is superb, yet we find students rushing into the office of college presidents pounding the desk and making demands. There has never been a time when public figures were more anxious to be considered on the side of religion than right now, yet we are experiencing a moral let-down that is shocking.

Let us face these facts rather than try to find a reason for them. If we spend our time trying to figure out the whys and wherefores, we may end up even more confused of mind than we are now. Many factors of modern life simply don't make sense.

Probably the best way to approach this problem is to face it, ponder its significance, and then try to see if we are a part of some factor which may make a helpful contribution to peace and concord. As citizens, we are all interested in education. As patriots, we are all interested in the security of our native land. As Christians, we are certain that the principles of Christ must eventually prevail.

Confrontation and thought need to be associated with the word "contemporary."

The United States will be blamed for the financial mess in Europe which still threatens the value of the franc, produced new high axes in England, upset the Belgians, questioned the value of the mark and temporarily closed banks in France, England, Belgium and Germany.

Note that trouble arose shortly after two developments unfavorable to foreign traders and bankers:

The U. S. Congress cut foreign aid to the lowest sum since the war. The four countries in the financial soup do not receive foreign aid, of course, but industries in those countries indirectly benefit from U. S. gifts to other nations.

LBJ May Summon Senate

There is speculation here that President Johnson may summon the Senate back to session in December with a renewed request for ratification of the pending treaty on the non-proliferation of nuclear weapons. The Senators would be better advised to stay home.

On the surface, the treaty has much appeal. After all, its lofty motive is to deter the proliferation of the most awful weapons of destruction ever devised. Who could oppose such an aim?

The quick and easy answer is that no rational man could oppose such an aim. But we ought to go beyond the quick and easy answer in considering a treaty that would become part of the supreme law of the land. With deter-ence to the dedicated and well-meaning advocates of this solemn compact, it has to be said that the treaty is at best a popover treaty — crisp and brown and buttery on the outside, but mostly hot air within.

That is to say that in the best possible light, ratification of the treaty would be a gesture, a gesture of hope, humanitarianism, good will. This is not to discount the importance of gestures in the execution of foreign policy. Indeed, an arguable case can be made that the very essence of diplomacy is the timely gesture — the cup of tea, the friendly loan, the show of force, the order that brings the ambassador home. The literacy of a diplomat must always be judged by his skill in reading between the lines.

In this narrow and pragmatic view, the terms of the treaty are not so important. The question is whether it is in the best interests of the United States to make this particular gesture at this particular time. More narrowly still: Would ratification be likely to induce the Kremlin to employ its muscle in promoting a not unacceptable end to the war in Vietnam? Such a possibility underlies the renewed speculation. If we knew what Premier Kosygin said to Robert McNamara in their conversation of November 11, we might have a better idea of how the question ought to be answered.

Yes it would be profoundly unwise to look upon this treaty merely as a gesture of tactical reappraisal with the Soviet Union. The terms cannot be discarded. The popular assumption, here and around the world, is that the treaty will in fact accomplish its desirable aim — in brief, that it will halt the proliferation of nuclear weapons. The refused to join the club. The treaty will do no such thing.

France and, more ominously, Red China have no thought of signing this pact. India and West Germany are on the brink of developing nuclear weapons; they too have refused to join the club. The most probable sources of proliferation are thus beyond the treaty's reach.

Under Article IV of the treaty, the United States would be obligated to share its "peaceful" technology with non-nuclear co-signers. The provision is illusory. The ability to make peaceful devices involves the ability to make warlike devices; one area of technology flows inescapably into another.

Other Editors Say Sinclair The Crusader

(Christian Science Monitor)
The socialist politics Upton Sinclair believed in — the takeover of big business by the government — was rejected by America. Instead, the capitalist system has remained intact. But it has had to yield before many of the charges Sinclair laid against it.

The first Sinclair victory came in the form of passage of the pure food act, after his 1906 book "The Jungle" exposed the unwholesome conditions of the meatpacking industry. By the time of his passing earlier this week he had written 89 books in all, fighting with the word for the rights of the havenots against self-seeking haves.

Consumerism and social reform today have taken a somewhat different turn. Instead of the crusading solitary journalist, we are more apt to find young lawyers like Ralph Nader leading the attack. Such books as the latter might write are but one part of the new reformer's weaponry, in which congressional investigations and test cases in the courts are equally vital.

Crusaders win grudging respect. They are seldom loved. The bitterness of those they attack hangs in the air throughout their lifetime.

Yet in what they accomplish is their reward. And Upton Sinclair merited a large share of the credit for the social reform through the first six decades of the 20th century.

France and, more ominously, Red China have no thought of signing this pact. India and West Germany are on the brink of developing nuclear weapons; they too have refused to join the club. The most probable sources of proliferation are thus beyond the treaty's reach.

Under Article IV of the treaty, the United States would be obligated to share its "peaceful" technology with non-nuclear co-signers. The provision is illusory. The ability to make peaceful devices involves the ability to make warlike devices; one area of technology flows inescapably into another.

Moves Past Others

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Chicago banker David Kennedy, a politically inactive Republican deeply concerned with providing private capital for rebuilding the Negro ghettos, has moved past better known names to the top of the list of possibilities for Secretary of the Treasury.

Although no firm decision has been made at President-elect Nixon's headquarters in Manhattan's Hotel Pierre, Kennedy is today the strongest possibility for what may be the most critical post in the Nixon Cabinet. What's more, he has quiet but influential support from Capitol Hill and the financial community.

Kennedy, 63, chief executive officer of Chicago's Continental Illinois National Bank since 1959, is considered a moderate with special interest in low-cost housing and black capitalism. Although his overall economic views are not clearly enunciated, he is by no means one of the banking community's rigid budget balancers and is even a liberal by bankers' standards.

Thus, the mere fact that Kennedy has entered the final days of Nixon's Cabinet considerations may pose deep disappointment for Republican Bourbons who had been hoping for the return of a latter-day Mellon to the Treasury even at the price of recession and unemployment.

On Monday, for instance, a leading right-wing Republican, Rep. John Ashbrook of Ohio, chairman of the American conservative union, suggested Nixon choose from two men for the Treasury post: George Champion, just retired as head of the Chase Manhattan Bank, or financier Maurice Stans, President Eisenhower's last budget director and most tenacious budget balancer. Both practice super-orthodox Republican economics.

In fact, however, neither Champion nor Stans has ever had much chance for the Treasury spot (though Stans' Herculean campaign fundraising efforts for Nixon almost surely will win him some Cabinet post). Nor is Peter Flanagan, New York businessman and veteran Nixon political lieutenant, likely to realize his ambition of becoming Secretary of the Treasury though he may end up as Under Secretary.

Rather, Nixon talent scouts have been looking for a prestige appointment who is liberal enough to satisfy proponents of the New Economics and conservative enough to reassure Wall Street — a description perfectly filled by New York banker David Rockefeller. But because of indications that Rockefeller may not want to leave Chase Manhattan now that he has succeeded Champion as top man there, Nixon is looking elsewhere. Accordingly, David Kennedy has come into the picture.

Although Federal bureaucrats first regarded him with suspicion, they came to respect Kennedy's leadership. Specifically, he was able to win approval of the commission report by commission members ranging from Rep. Frank Bow of Ohio on the right to then Budget Director Charles Schultze on the left. Congressmen were particularly Walter B. Wentz of Claremont Men's College, writing in the Los Angeles Times, has made a further point: Article III of the treaty, the only article dealing with inspection and control, applies to "fissionable" material only. But the day is not far off when nuclear explosions will be achieved by direct fusion, without the preliminary trigger of fissionable uranium or plutonium. In this event, Article III would not apply.

On balance, says Professor Wentz, "the treaty holds no assurance and little reason for hope that the diffusion of atomic weapons will be stopped or even moderated." Congressman Craig Hosmer, writing in the September bulletin of the American Security Council, takes an even more pessimistic view: The failure of the treaty, he says, "is inevitable." Dr. Edward Teller, the nuclear scientist, has warned that the treaty's costs in terms of national security will exceed its benefits. The best the Chief of Staff, Earle G. Wheeler, has said is that the treaty is "not inimical."

All this suggests the need for deliberate debate — debate in which 14 newly-chosen Senators, plus the newly-chosen administration, ought to participate. In the end, either as a calculated gesture or on its own merits, the treaty may warrant ratification. Right now, it merits nothing more than a cool and cautious look.

Every housewife dreads the ordeal of having her home repainted. It is even more of a problem with the U.S. Navy. It takes 50,000 gallons of paint, varnish and lacquer to coat a battleship.

Rusk said he doesn't feel Russia intends to seek a confrontation with NATO.

But "it is clear that things can happen" outside NATO "that can still affect it," he added.

Rusk reiterated earlier statements of U.S. officials that four-party talks in Paris aren't expected to begin before next week.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John C. Stennis says he forsee an acceptable settlement in Vietnam sometime in 1969, even though it will require policing by American troops.

"I believe there is a good chance that during the year 1969 we can get some kind of settlement that we can accept . . . but much hard fighting will be ahead of us yet," said Stennis, D-Miss., who is in line to become chairman of the Senate Armed Forces Committee in January.

But it's "realistic to think of us having to stay there with a military force—like Korea, for example," he added.

arly impressed by Kennedy's toughness in standing up to the Treasury against gimmickry in the reformed budget.

Just how far Kennedy would go in continuing the New Economics policies to avoid business slumps is unknown. One economist acquainted with him believes he might be considered "a shade conservative" by government economists of the Kennedy-Johnson era but would be quite congenial to liberal Republicans.

What is known is his total commitment to siphoning private capital into the center cities. Indeed, Continental Illinois has been a pioneer of the private economy in attacking the nation's top domestic problem.

Accordingly, the appointment of Kennedy to the Treasury — still a long way from being decided upon by Nixon — would be a clear signal reverberating beyond the economic sector. It would not only indicate that the President-elect is by no means the captive of the Republican Bourbons who were so instrumental in his nomination but show a concern by him for the urban crisis that was totally absent from his election campaign.

December Sees Cold, Wet Start

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
December started on a cold, wet note in North Carolina and the possibility of wet weather will continue in the state for the next couple of days.

The rain during the weekend was caused by a weather system that moved this way from the lower Mississippi valley. The rain began in the west and spread eastward, amounting to about a half-inch at most places.

Only four one-hundredths of an inch was reported at Wilmington this morning, but more rain was expected along the coast later today.

A similar storm system was developing in Texas this morning, so rain is expected to spread the state again on Tuesday.

Temperatures were chilly across the state Sunday, but were reasonably warm this morning. At 7 a.m. it was 36 degrees at Asheville, 37 at Greensboro, 38 at Charlotte, 41 at Raleigh and 57 at Wilmington.

Tonight's low temperatures are expected to be 42 to 50 in the west and central portions of North Carolina and in the 50s along the coast. Somewhat warmer weather is expected Tuesday.

Plans Christmas Eve In Steel Mill

VATICAN CITY (AP) —Pope Paul VI will celebrate Christmas Eve Mass at midnight at a steel mill in Taranto, an economically depressed region of southern Italy.

"With my presence I want to convey to the metal workers the brotherly presence of Christ," the pontiff told an audience Sunday in St. Peter's Square.

The pontiff urged Roman Catholics to observe Christmas "not as a day of worldly wastefulness and selfish joy but as an event of common goodness and serene hope."

If the Shoe Fits

BY

Are good shoes better values than cheap shoes per dollar?

There isn't much difference. When we buy something cheap we think (we hope) that we are saving somebody else's profit. Ironically, the best dividend paying stocks of shoe companies on the market are the stocks of companies that make cheap shoes. The factories are not in business for the sole purpose of saving money for the customer. Assuming that profits are necessary for any business, the savings on cheaper shoes must be made on labor or materials. Labor costs are about the same per hour, so any savings must be made by using less time per pair. Workmanship is important in shoemaking.

The leather market is so highly competitive that the only way the factory can save a significant amount on materials is to use inferior leather. There are no secrets in the shoe business. As in every line of merchandise, you get what you pay for.

A Rather Nervous Eye On Christmas Buying

NEW YORK (AP)—While almost everyone was all wrapped up in the elections, the pre-Christmas selling season slipped into town as quietly and unnoticed as Santa Claus bringing his sleigh to rest on a snowy rooftop.

In some areas the black and orange colors and rustic mood of Halloween weren't even dispelled when the red and green trimmings of Christmas went up. Election loudspeakers sometimes vied with carols.

The weather in parts of the country helped set the mood. Three snowfalls in a bit more than a week buried the fall in some Northeastern communities. And heavy snows along the Canadian border came on time.

But in most ways the early onset of the Christmas season was predetermined by merchants hoping to have a big year and feeling they must catch the consumer while he was in a spending mood.

There's a lot of anxiety about this season, even though the popular forecasts call for a seven per cent sales increase over a year ago. Merchants aren't relaxing.

First, there are four fewer shopping days this year between Thanksgiving and Christmas. If buyers aren't motivated to buy early, this shorter season could be reflected in disappointing receipts.

Secondly, there's the usual question this year about the consumer. If he's in a poor mood, as many merchants have learned he has been for the past two Christmas seasons, receipts could fall below estimates.

To compensate, some merchants already are more than three weeks into their own particular selling season. And it's a good bet, based on talks with retailers, that night and Sunday openings will be more common this year.

The problem of consumer behavior is less likely to be solved through any effort of the merchants. It depends instead on how people view the surtax on their incomes, how they feel about the Vietnam war, how worried they are about inflation and so on.

For several months the consumer has maintained his high rate of spending by dipping into his savings. Before the surtax, for instance, he was saving 7.5 per cent of his takehome pay. The rate is now down nearly to 6 per cent and, if past figures are a gauge, won't go much lower.

There is also the question now about how long the consumer will be willing to dip into savings before calling a halt. Sooner or later he is bound to be disturbed by his receding reserves. Meanwhile, so long as he dips into savings the consumer is well supplied with buying power, and he has access to what must be considered an amazing and freely offered supply of credit. The wherewithal is there; whether it is used is quite another matter.

$207,065 Grant To Pre-Schoolers

RALEIGH (AP)—A program of pre-school training at Durham will be financed by a $207,065 grant from the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Gov. Dan Moore announced the grant Saturday and said the Learning Institute of North Carolina will operate the program under which 45 children ages 3, 4 and 5 will be enrolled in a pre-school program and personnel from all over the state will be trained to give instruction to such children.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ
Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠ J 10 7 4 3 ♥ 3 ♦ A 7 6 4 ♣ K Q 2
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
Pass Pass 1 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Four spades. You should be unwilling to play for less than game. A three spade bid would be inadequate, since that is not forcing once you have passed. Partner might say, "We could not possibly have a game, partner, in view of your previous pass," and would bid at liberty to drop the bidding at the part score."

Q. 2—Both vulnerable and as South you hold:
♠ A 4 ♥ A 9 5 ♦ K 10 8 2 ♣ A 3 7 3
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ Pass
2 ♥ Pass 2 ♥ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—What would accept partner's invitation and proceed to game by bidding either three no trump or four hearts, with a slight preference for the latter, in account of the ruffing value in the doubleton spade. Your hand contains 15 points in high cards alone and, since partner has bid twice, he must have better than an average hand. He may, therefore, be counted upon for 11 points and that accounts for the necessary 26 points to warrant a game contract.

Q. 3—Neither vulnerable and as South you hold:
♠ Q J 10 4 ♥ K 4 ♦ Q 5 ♣ A Q J 6 2
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♥ Pass 2 ♣ Pass
2 ♥ Pass 2 ♣ Pass
3 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—While you may have had mild aspirations when your partner opened the bidding, his subsequent calls have been anything but encouraging, and you must be content with a game contract. Bid three no trump.

Q. 4—Neither vulnerable, partner opens with one diamond, you hold:
♠ 7 4 ♥ J 10 6 5 ♦ Q 10 8 5 ♣ K 9 4
What is your response?
A.—There is only one bid that gives an accurate description of your holding and that is a raise to two diamonds. A response of one heart is completely pointless. If this hand belongs in hearts, partner will be able to bid two hearts over your bid of two diamonds should be happy to have a four-card suit and sufficient high card values to warrant making the bid.

Q. 5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠ Q 10 4 ♥ 6 5 ♦ 7 6 3 ♣ A K 6 3 2
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South
1 ♠ Pass ?

What action do you take?
A.—Two spades. Your hand contains 10 points in support of spades, which is the top limit for a single raise. If you bid two clubs and partner rebids two spades, you may feel constrained to raise to three, which procedure is overbidding your values by a considerable margin. With this type of hand it is better to get off the spot immediately and describe your hand in one bid.

Q. 6—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠ K 10 4 ♥ A Q 7 2 ♦ Q 5 ♣ A J 7 6
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ Pass
2 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—This is a very strong holding, and it must well produce a slam if partner has the ideal hand. In order to learn more about it you should make a temporary bid of three clubs for, when a major suit has been supported, the mention of some other suit must be treated as a one-round force.

Q. 7—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠ A K 10 9 6 ♦ A J 7 ♣ A 10 5 3 2
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♥ Pass 2 ♣ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—A jump suit to three diamonds is our choice. If the bidding develops favorably we may even reach a grand slam. If you are playing with a partner who is not well adapted to identifying bidding, we would find acceptable a direct jump to six clubs.

Q. 8—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠ 9 7 6 ♥ Q 7 2 ♦ A K 2 ♣ Q 8 4 2
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♦ Pass
2 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—The answer is arrived at on a basis of simple arithmetic. Partner has a maximum of 20 points. You have 11. The partnership, therefore, cannot have more than 31 points in high cards, and with this balanced hand slam is known to be out of reach. The proper bid, therefore, is three no trump.

Jordan Reports Series Of Blows

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Israel pounded Jordan with air strikes, commando raids and artillery barrages Sunday and early today, a Jordanian military spokesman said.

Admitting only a raid by land forces and an artillery exchange, an Israeli army spokesman in Tel Aviv said commandos cut a highway and railroad between Jordan's capital and its only port Sunday by blowing up two bridges 40 miles inside the Arab country.

13-Cent Stamp To Go On Sale

A new 13-cent aerogramme, commemorating Human Rights Year will be placed on sale Tuesday in Washington, D. C.

The letter sheet will go on general sale on Wednesday across the country.

The aerogramme, which is a self-contained sheet serving as both letter and envelope, can be used for world-wide air mail correspondence.

Since 1968 has been designated by the United Nations as Human Rights Year, countries around the world are issuing stamps of some type in honor of the event. The United States issue's design shows three globes behind a flock of doves, with the lettering "Human Rights Year—U. S. Postage—13 cents."

The aerogramme is scheduled to be one of the final issues by the Post Office Department during this year.

also charged that Israeli gunners precipitated a three-hour artillery duel Sunday by shelling the town of Irbid from the occupied Golan Heights in Syria. He said two children and an adult civilian were wounded.

The Israelis said the Jordanians started it by shelling a number of farm settlements in the Beisan Valley, causing slight damage and injuring one person.

Meanwhile Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban prepared to resume talks in Cyprus today with Gunnar V. Jarring of Sweden, the U.N. peace envoy for the Middle East. Jarring then flies to Egypt Wednesday and to Jordan Saturday.

In a television interview Sunday, Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan called for a "more intensive and radical effort toward integrating the West Bank and the Gaza Strip into Israel-economic integration, not political. Not annexation and no conversion of the local inhabitants into Israeli citizens."

Dayan said the only alternative was to let these occupied territories become independent units, "which we do not want."

The Arab land which Israel took over in the 1967 war "must be seen as a part of Israel from the economic point of view and this link must be tied swiftly and immediately," he said.

Political sources said Dayan's remarks were part of his dispute with Industry Minister Pin-chas Sapid, who feels such integration would cause Israel's Jewish image to be lost because of an enlarged Arab population.

At the United Nations, the International League for the Rights of Man asked U.N. Secretary-General U Thant to intercede for Jews in Egypt, Syria and Iraq. It said their human rights were being violated.

Charge Suspect With Series Of Local Break-Ins

James Oscar Wilks, 24-year-old Negro of 507 West 15th Street, has been charged in connection with a series of break-ins here Friday morning.

Wilks, according to Chief H. F. Lawson, allegedly entered the Winn-Dixie Store, the Carolina Grill, and Collins Pridmore Department Store early Friday and removed an estimated $240 worth of clothing and money.

The man also allegedly attempted to break into Harper's Grocery at 208 Grand Ave. but apparently was scared off by a German Sheppard dog inside the store, the chief noted.

Wilks was charged with three counts of breaking, entering and larceny and one count of attempted breaking and entering.

Officers said the violator left a trail of clothes from Collins Pridmore to 14th Street as he fled from that building before day Friday.

Roger N. Baldwin, honorary chairman of the organization, said in a letter to Thant that he should influence the governments "to guarantee them their rights to be free from injury and threat to their person and from arbitrary imprisonment, economic harassment and deprivation of their rights to nationality and to emigrate."

Baldwin enclosed a five-page memorandum that said Jews in the three Arab countries were subject to "increasing infringements" of rights set out in the U.N. General Assembly's 1948

Universal Declaration of Human Rights. He said: "Measures taken against the Jews have been intensified since the June 1967 war."

WORLD FLIGHT

MOSCOW (UPI)—A group of U.S. businessmen flying around the world via the poles took off for London Sunday en route back to the United States. They planned to land in Boston on Tuesday.

Plane Hijacker Was Listening

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The man who hijacked an Eastern Air Lines jet to Cuba over the weekend—the 17th commercial airliner hijacking of the year—may have listened to the performance on a transistor radio held to his ear.

"The man was carrying two pieces of expensive radio equipment," said a passenger, Gene McGill, Alva, Okla., rancher. "One was small with a long antenna and he kept the radio to his ear."

Eastern officials surmised the radio was tuned to the VHF frequency over which the pilot, Capt. R. J. O'Gorman of New York, was talking to Miami and Havana control towers.

The hijacker, listed as "J. Sanchez," stepped from a washroom, pointed a pistol at stewardess Phyllis Howton and romandered the Miami-to-Dallas jet 11 minutes out of Miami Saturday night, the crew said.

O'Gorman said the hijacker was "definite in knowing exactly what he wanted. It was well planned and he seemed to have a knowledge of the cockpit."

Annual Meet For Health Council

DURHAM (AP) — An attendance of about 250 is expected for the 19th annual meeting of the North Carolina Health Council at the Jack Tar Hotel in Durham Tuesday.

The speaker at a luncheon session will be former Arkansas Congressman Brooks Hays, a former president of the Southern Baptist Convention.

Concluding the morning session will be a panel discussion on comprehensive health planning in North Carolina.

Three Dangerous Situations Confronting Nixon

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three dangerous situations threaten President-elect Richard M. Nixon's program for giving the United States new direction in world affairs.

They are the possibility of a fresh outbreak of full-scale war between Israel and the Arab states; a complete breakdown of the Paris talks on ending the Vietnam war; and some new Soviet power play against West Germany.

The Nixon foreign policy program, sketched in only broad outline during the campaign, set forth three early major goals—

Reduction of U.S. involvement in Vietnam; assignment of top priority to European over Asian problems; and creation of a position of strength for summit negotiations with the Soviet Union.

The new president thus will be confronted with the interlocking tasks of striving for achievement of these goals while at the same time trying to avert crises which could block or seriously hamper such achievement.

Senior diplomats rate the danger of a Middle East crisis as the greatest and most urgent situation. Painstaking United Nations peace efforts, under way for more than a year, appear to have collapsed.

However, failure of the Paris peace talks could pose extremely serious issues for Nixon, especially the question of whether to resume bombing North Vietnam.

And yet in the long run the most perilous situation may well involve Germany. The Czech crisis points that way.

Soviet leaders blamed West Germany for making trouble in Communist Czechoslovakia which led to the Soviet invasion in August. Now U.S. authorities foresee more Czech-type cracks in the Soviet political system in Eastern Europe. They expect West Germany to be blamed by the Kremlin and a slow accumulation of tensions to result. The Soviets could, of course, turn the heat on West Berlin at any time as a diversionary tactic. But a more serious assessment in official Washington is for a slow buildup of East-West crisis over Germany during the next three or four years.

Nixon's sense of the urgency of such foreign policy problems in relation to his general foreign and domestic goals is evidently great. He has broken the fundamental tradition of isolation from an outgoing administration to buy extra time for his own peace-making hopes. The unique grant of authority he gave Johnson administration leaders Nov. 11 to speak on foreign affairs for the incoming administration along with the outgoing-presumably was justified in his judgment by the importance of what might be achieved.

Nixon was critical of Johnson foreign policy during his campaign against Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. But he had responded favorably to President Johnson's offer of information on the peace negotiations, the total ban on bombing of North Vietnam, the related agreement to expand the Paris peace talks, and other foreign developments. Thus there was a basis for his decision to endorse Johnson's strategy in critical areas of foreign policy as soon as he was elected.

Meanwhile it seemed to be apparent from the general trend of Nixon's statements during the campaign and his emphasis on restoring national unity after the election that he shares Johnson's view of a vital interplay between foreign issues and domestic attitudes.

It is generally thought here Nixon believes detachment of the United States from Vietnam is an essential step if he is to reduce dissension in the nation and create the unity he has called for. When Johnson ordered the partial halt of the bombing of North Vietnam last March 31 in a bid to start peace talks, he recognized U.S. involvement in the war as a cause of dangerous divisions in the country and said he removed himself as a candidate for reelection to strengthen his hand in peace negotiations.

Nixon has two ways of handling detachment from Vietnam and a third way, beyond his control, could develop.

During the campaign he said that "the national interest, the interest of our fighting men and the interest of peace in the world require that this war be brought to an honorable conclusion as quickly as possible." By such statements he committed himself to a negotiated peace in Vietnam if that is possible. It is thus evidently the preferred way for him to bring about U.S. disengagement.

The second way available to Nixon is to continue the Johnson policy of building up South Vietnamese military forces, now said to number about a million men, and to shift the burden of fighting to them. Nixon himself said during the campaign that as the South Vietnamese become more effective "the de-Americanization of the war can begin."

A third possibility, which some of the best informed U.S. officials foresee, is that the war may simply fade away. The concept that North Vietnamese forces might be pulled out of South Vietnam without fanfare and that the flow of supplies to the Viet Cong guerrillas might quietly dry up is an old one. U.S. officials base it on two assumptions: That Hanoi will never sign agreements committing itself to a truly independent South Vietnam and that Hanoi may realize eventually it is suffering military defeat.

Most of the foreign policy changes which Nixon talked about during the campaign were either expressed in very general terms or represented essentially tactical alterations to promote some of his main objectives.

Thus he called for a shakeup in the State Department to make it more effective. He said foreign aid should be reorganized to reduce commitments to some countries and increase them to others—with an implication that the cost might be less in the long run. He declared the nations of Asia should develop their own all-Asian alliance to give themselves the ability "to make the initial response to any new aggression in their area." Nixon also promised on many occasions that he would give the United States "a new foreign policy." He said it is his goal to prevent war for the rest of this century.

Nixon is not expected to spell out before taking office how he would bring about all the changes in the U.S. world position which he spoke of — no more Vietnams, more cautious intervention, a strengthened alliance in Europe, and the beginning of negotiations with the Russians on a regular basis to reduce the danger of nuclear war and to damp down the Middle East. Nixon's problem after he takes office, like that of any other president, will be to see where his declared aims and the hard realities coincide and where they conflict.

During the campaign Nixon said negotiating with the Russians must be prepared by rebuilding the Atlantic alliance—including closer contacts with French President Charles de Gaulle—and strengthening this country's military power.

Nixon rated the Middle East as a greater danger than Vietnam in terms of its potential for world war, saying that next to Berlin it was a "major flash point."

The Soviet Union, Nixon said, "must be made to understand that a renewed war in the Middle East could lead to a nuclear confrontation which neither side desires."

Soviet leaders have been building their present strong position in the Middle East since the mid-1950s when they began giving arms to Egypt.

In an effort to maintain some leverage and traditional contact on the Arab side, the United States has sold arms to Jordan. But the major U.S. arms shipments have gone to Israel along with the armaments sold or supplied to Israel by other Western powers. Thus the strategic region, historically a crossroads of the world, has been for more than a decade an arena of competition between the United States and Russia—and the Russians have been increasing their stake and their power.

Too Many Americans Said Endanger Health

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — All too many Americans are endangering their health through dissipation while laboring under the illusion that miracles of medicine alone will keep them well, some leaders of organized medicine report.

The Board of Trustees of the American Medical Association, in a special report to the AMA's 22nd clinical convention Sunday, said:

"Our affluence has reduced physical exertion and increased overeating, excess drinking, smoking, late hours and drug consumption.

"Advice of the physician is too often ignored and slighted.

The sense of well being resulting from our progress leads many people to assume that illness cannot strike them, or that cures are to be taken for granted."

The board made the comments in urging the nation's doctors to "educate the American people to the growing role of the individual in the delivery of health care."

The report added: "While much progress has been made in overcoming many historic plagues of mankind, we find more and more illness due, at least in part, to abuse and neglect by the individual himself."

In a kindred vein, Dr. Dwight L. Wilbur of San Francisco, president of the AMA, declared in his presidential address to the policy-making house of delegates that millions of Americans falsely "assume there are easy ways to stay well and youthful looking."

"The human being," he said, "remains the complex, finely tuned, vulnerable body each of us inherits; but millions resist the arduous and disciplinary requirements of really caring for it."

"Instead, they turn, among other things, to diet fads, patent medicines, a countless variety of pills, tobacco and alcohol, often instant and inadequate exercise and quacks."

On another subject, Wilbur urged physicians to maintain "effective self-discipline" as requirements of really caring for it.

gards fees charged to patients, as one way to help cope with the "rising cost of health care."

He also recommended that doctors "avoid hospitalizing any patient unless it is absolutely necessary" and "reduce the length of stays in hospitals to the essential minimum."

He said one of the major causes for raising health care costs "is the inflation that grips all aspects of our economy."

Among some 50 resolutions presented to the House of Delegates for possible action during the next three days was one from the Michigan delegation urging that the AMA "condemn all cigarette advertising on television."

Fall Problems Seminar Topic

"Problems of the Fall" was the general topic for school administrators from fourteen Eastern North Carolina counties at a recent seminar for educators sponsored by the East Carolina University School of Education.

Some 20 school superintendents and assistant superintendents gathered in the Buccaneer room on the ECU campus last week to discuss school problems and exchange ideas on their solutions.

Discussions of such problems as bus transportation, lunchrooms, general health, faculty placement and court orders highlighted the afternoon session of the one-day seminar.

Morning sessions were devoted to a series of informative addresses by several school officials. Addressing the administrators were superintendents Roy Lowry of Northampton County, George Willard of Wilson, Jasper Lewis of Beaufort County, John Dupree of Bertie County and George Williams of Brunswick County.

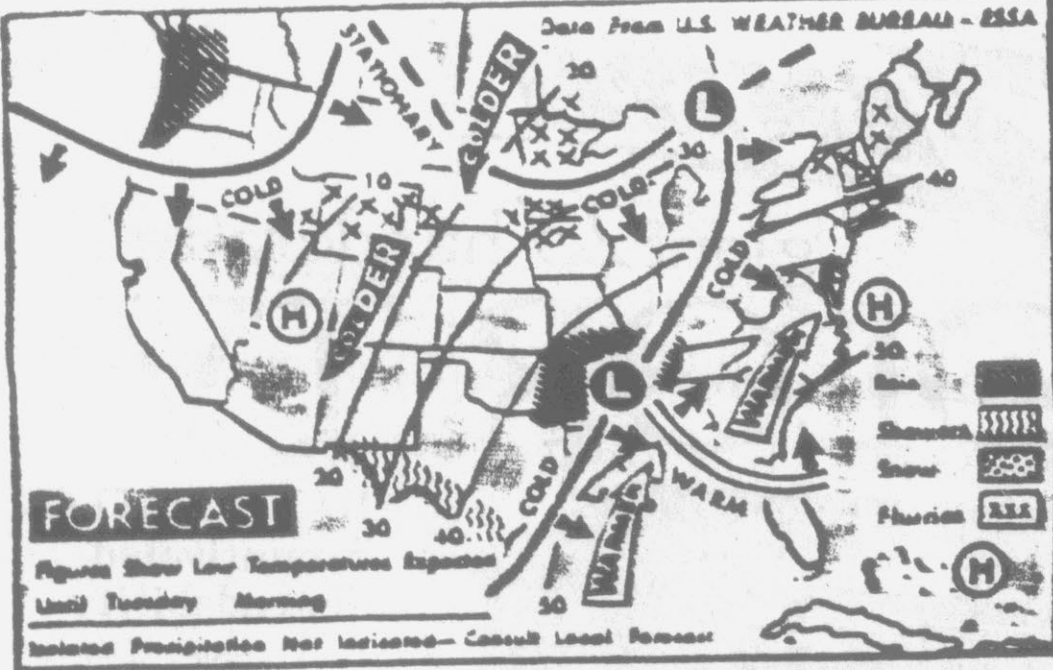

Dr. Ralph Brimley of the ECU education faculty was chairman of the seminar, one of a series conducted for educators in the state by the university.

Memorial Plans Honor Churchill

LONDON (UPI)—The Greater London Council is considering a plan to erect a giant granite monolith as a memorial to Sir Winston Churchill.

The memorial would be placed on the south bank of the Thames where Churchill's body was brought ashore after its funeral voyage upriver in 1965, according to Harold Sebag-Montefiore, chairman of the Council's Arts and Recreation Committee.

The rabbit-like cony of the West harvests hay and stores it for winter.

WEATHER FORECAST — There will be snow flurries Monday night in northern New England, Minnesota and Wyoming. It will rain in Arkansas and the Pacific Northwest and there will be showers in southern Texas. It will be warmer over the western Gulf and the Carolinas and colder in the northern Plains and central and southern Plateaus. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Colts Cautious In Drive For League Honors

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Baltimore Colts, more than anyone, know better than to rest on past accomplishments. And the Green Bay Packers are learning.

Only last year the Colts ran up a 11-0 record only to blow their division title to Los Angeles by losing to the once-beaten Rams in the last game of the season. With that reminder, the Colts remain plenty cautious now with their 11-1 mark and half game lead over the Rams in the Coastal Division of the National Football League, despite a 44-0 rout over Atlanta Sunday for their third shutout in five weeks.

"Nothing we've done so far will mean anything unless we win the last one," was the way defensive tackle Fred Miller put it. That last one is in two weeks against the Rams, who kept pace with an equally impressive 31-3 romp at Minnesota.

The Colts first must take on once powerful Green Bay, which is finding out that two consecutive Super Bowl victories is no assurance that it will get a chance at a third. On the contrary, the Packers have a good chance of not even winning the Central Division after dropping before San Francisco 27-20. Green Bay, at 5-6-1 and Baltimore and Chicago still to play, will need more than reputation to catch the Bears and Minnesota.

Chicago climbed into a tie for the division lead with the Viking at 6-6 with a 23-17 victory over New Orleans. Chicago, also caught in the middle of the Baltimore-Los Angeles squeeze, plays the Rams Sunday, while Minnesota closes with San Francisco and Philadelphia.

Dallas which beat Washington 29-20 last Thursday, clinched the Capitol Division title when Cleveland eliminated the New York Giants 45-12 and at the same time the Browns all but wrapped up the Century Division. With two games left, they hold a 1½ game lead over St. Louis, a 20-10 winner over Pittsburgh.

In Thursday's other game, Philadelphia beat Detroit 12-0 on Sam Baker's four field goals for its first victory.

In the American League Sunday, San Diego halted Denver 47-23, the New York Jets toppled Miami 35-17 and Boston trounced Cincinnati 33-14. On Thursday Oakland edged Buffalo 13-10 and Kansas City beat Houston 24-10.

"We're not worried about how we got here," said Baltimore Coach Don Shula after his club intercepted four passes and recovered two fumbles to befuddle the Falcons. "We're happy to be where we are and are looking forward to the next two weeks."

"Los Angeles keeps winning so we've got to stay right with them," agreed Earl Morrall, who completed 17 of 23 passes for 231 yards and two touchdowns.

"Now it's the last one that counts," added defensive tackle Billy Ray Smith. "The Rams know it and we know it."

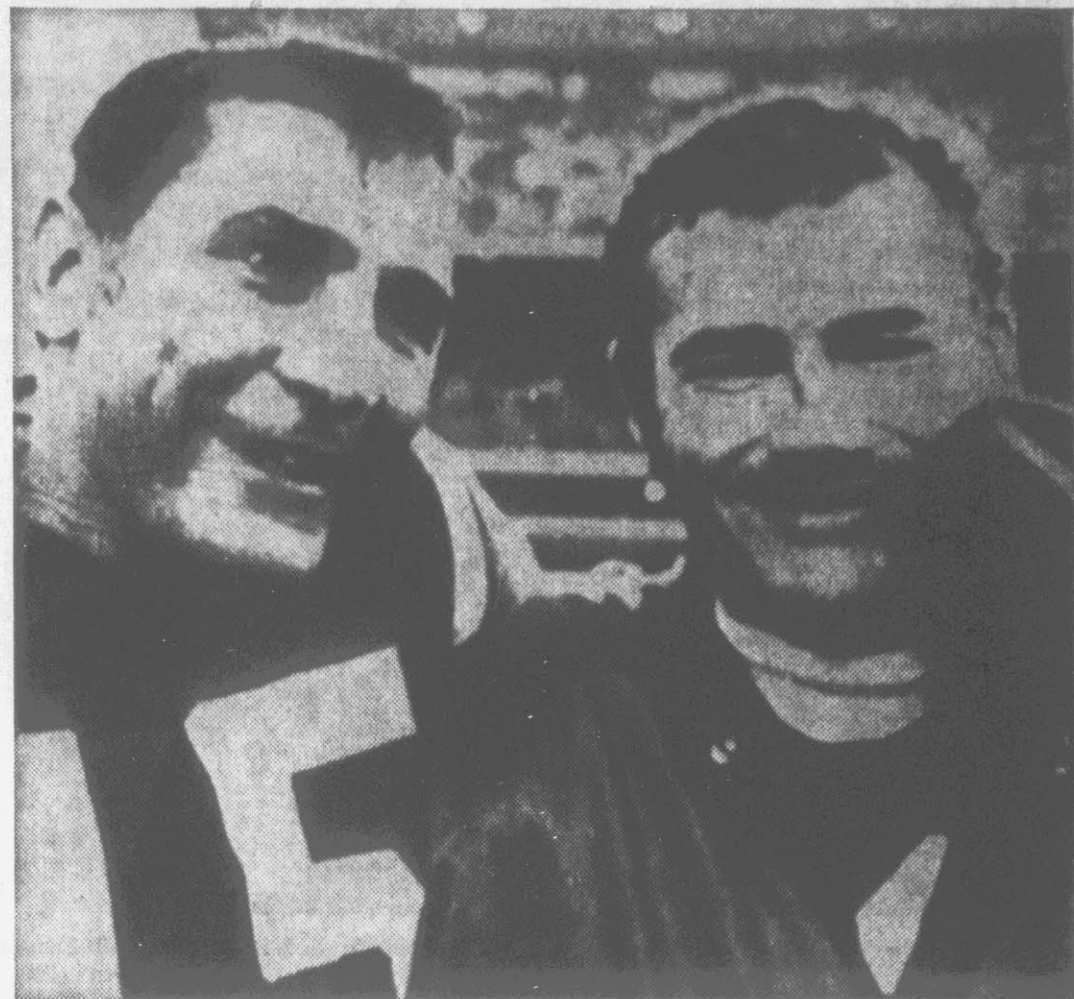

The Rams appear ready after what Coach George Allen called "our best game of the year." They came within 19 seconds of their first shutout in three years while holding the Vikings without a first down for the first 26½ minutes. Roman Gabriel and Wendell Tucker took care of the offense, teaming for three scoring passes.

John Brodie ruined the Packers with three touchdown passes, two to Bill Tucker in the fourth quarter to make up a 20-7 deficit. Bart Starr had led the Packers to a 10-0 lead before he was injured in the second quarter.

Leroy Kelly, the NFL's leading rusher and scorer, ran for only 56 yards, but scored four touchdowns in Cleveland's seventh straight victory.

Jack Concannon threw twice to Austin Denny for touchdowns and Mac Percival kicked three field goals for a 23-10 Chicago lead before New Orleans scored in the last minute.

St. Louis, behind 10-3 in the final quarter, tied on Jackie Smith's 34-yard end around run, went ahead on Jim Bakken's 16-yard field goal and then added Cid Edwards' one-yard plunge against Pittsburgh.

WINNING COMBINATION — Reserve quarterback Babe Parilli, left, and flanker Don Maynard pose in Shea Stadium as game with Dolphins came to a close. Parilli, playing for regular Jets quarterback Joe Namath in second half, threw two touchdown passes to Maynard, who now holds all-time pro record for pass receiving yardage. He has gained 9,332 yards in his career. (AP Wirephoto)

A Gnashing Of Teeth In Davidson Opener; You'd Think They Had Lost

By ED YOUNG
Associated Press Writer
"We seem to lack the killer instinct," said Wayne Huckel, a senior star of Davidson's basketball team. "We got ahead and then we got lazy. I imagine we'll hear a few things from the coach."

Huckel imagined correctly, only it wasn't "a few things" Lefty Driesell had to say after his Wildcats' Saturday night opener against VMI. It was a lot of things, and every word cut like a lash.

"Our players think they're better than they are," said the coach of the No. 6 team in the national Associated Press preseason poll. "Our shooting was awful. Mostly, we played like a bunch of individuals, not a team."

From all this gnashing of teeth one might have deduced that the Wildcats lost. Actually, they did not. They won, 82-72, for their 45th straight home-court victory — "but we were outshutled," said Driesell.

The triumph enabled Davidson to make a successful start in defense of its Southern Conference championship. The Wildcats, however, were upstaged even inside the league they're supposed to rule with an iron hand.

Baseball Brass Confer Today

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Baseball's general managers met behind closed doors today at one of the first sessions of the annual winter meetings, and it was anticipated that they were looking for a graceful way to cut off the Great Sideburn Debate.

The hairy issue arose a couple of months ago when American League general managers, meeting in Colorado Springs, Colo., included among their recommendations for improving baseball a proposal that would ban players from wearing mustaches, beards and "extreme sideburns."

The big question was the size and texture of the sideburns—or when does a sideburn become a beard.

And that is the crucial issue. There seems little doubt that rules will be passed banning mustaches and beards, which seem to be sprouting among many pro basketball and pro football players. But some yardstick apparently will have to be found to regulate sideburns.

While the general managers were expected to tangle with that problem, they also were expected to propose methods of bringing relief to baseball's hitters in this era of the pitcher. But the first order of business on the day was the annual draft, with such former stars such as Dick Radatz, John Wyatt, Bob Chance and Dave Nicholson among players now in the minors who could be purchased for $25,000 by major league clubs.

Andretti Drives 3 Racers, Not Enough

GURNEY WINS — Dan Gurney of Costa Mesa, Calif., gives the victory sign after winning the Rex Mays 300 at Riverside International Raceway yesterday. Holding the trophy at right is Ozzie Olson, owner of the car. (AP Wirephoto)

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa., carried a comfortable 300-point lead into the Rex Mays 300-mile race for Indianapolis-type cars. But it wasn't enough.

Bobby Unser of Albuquerque, N.M., capping his greatest year after winning the Indianapolis 500 on Memorial Day, overtook Andretti to win the U.S. Auto Club's national driving championship for 1968.

The reason: Andretti, in a style reminiscent of the Pony Express, used three cars and, under USAC rules, his points toward the driving title are based only on the number of laps in which he drove the finishing car.

Andretti, changed cars because of an engine blowup and an accident. He drove his third car 40 laps—good for 168 points but not enough to overcome the 480 points awarded Unser in second place.

The winner of the race was Dan Gurney of Costa Mesa, Calif., who was out of contention for the 1968 title.

Andretti's switching went like this:

His first car's engine blew on the 57th lap and he coasted to the pits. Andretti walked to Parnelli Jones' turbine pit where he took over the controls of a turbine that had been piloted by Joe Leonard.

Andretti's car and the only other turbine in the race collided soon after, taking both out of the race. Neither Andretti nor

We didn't make it any easier to look at. Just easier to drive.

You'd never know it to look at it, but that's a Volkswagen without a clutch pedal.

What it does have is something called an automatic stick shift. "Automatic" because you can drive it up to 55 mph without shifting at all. "Stick shift" because you shift it when you go over 55.

Once. And that's just to help you save gas. (In keeping with a grand old Volkswagen tradition.)

As a matter of fact, this VW still gives you 25 miles to the gallon. It still takes only an occasional can of oil. And it still won't go near water or antifreeze.

If it were anything but a Volkswagen, you'd probably pay dearly for all this luxury.

Instead, a Volkswagen with an automatic stick shift costs a mere $1884.

All of which reinforces what we've been saying for 20 years.

Top Southern Conference Scorer Is Pass Receiver

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Davidson's Mike Kelly set a Southern Conference record for touchdown pass receptions this year, and as a by-product of this feat he won the conference scoring championship.

Kelly, a 6-foot-4 junior from Charlotte, wound up with 66 points while becoming the first end to take the scoring title in the modern history of the league. He scored in seven of the Wildcats' nine games.

Not only did Kelly establish an SC record with his 11 touchdown catches, he also set another with the 936 yards he gained on an SC-leading total of 63 receptions. Tied for second place in the individual scoring race, each with 48 points, were Richmond end Walker Gillette, fullback Butch Colson of East Carolina and flanker back Jimmy Jordan of Furman. Richmond kicking specialist Mike Dussault came next with 42 points, compiled on 27 extra-point kicks and five field goals. William and Mary back Terry Morton had 38 points and Davidson's Ed Terry tallied 37 on 22 extra-point boots and five field goals.

Except for Richmond's Dec. 27 Tangerine Bowl date at Orlando with unbeaten Ohio University, the season ended for conference teams last week—and on a completely downbeat note.

East Carolina's Pirates, with an opportunity to finish all square at 5-5, weren't up to the task in their Saturday final, losing at East Tennessee 17-7 and scoring only in the dying seconds. The Pirates thus closed at 4-6.

Earlier in the week VMI ended

1-9 with a 55-6 loss to Virginia Tech and Furman also closed out with a 1-9 mark in a 21-0 defeat at the hands of Wofford. The Paladins lost their last eight games.

Richmond wound up the SC's only winning team with its 7-3 record. The Citadel was 5-5. The came ECU at 4-6, Davidson 3-6, William and Mary, 3-7, and finally VMI and Furman, each 1-9.

Tar Heels And Wolfpack Set For Cage Opener

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
North Carolina, ranked second in the nation in The Associated Press preseason poll, and always-dangerous North Carolina State open their basketball seasons tonight with hopes of giving the Atlantic Coast Conference a perfect 7-for-7 record.

Five ACC teams went into action Saturday night and all five of them won.
North Carolina, beaten in the NCAA finals last year by UCLA, plays Oregon at Greensboro and N.C. State is at home for Atlantic Christian College.

Duke plays its second game of the season tonight, hosting Alabama.

Virginia swings into action Thursday against Richmond. In the Saturday night games, Duke, Wake Forest, South Carolina, Clemson and Maryland all posted victories.

Duke, ranked No. 17 in The AP poll and expected to be North Carolina's top challenger for conference honors, whipped independent Virginia Tech 87-76.

Dick DeVenzio, a 5-foot-9 sophomore, sparked the Blue Devils with 15 points, a near-flawless defensive game and as the team playmaker.

When things got a bit sticky in the second half, reserve Fred Lind came off the bench to score 20 points and grab 11 rebounds.

Coach Vic Bubas said he was pleased to start the season with a victory, "but we are going to need a lot of work. We have a young team and most of the boys were a little nervous."

Another sophomore — Charles Davis of Wake Forest—poured in 31 points as the Deacons slapped down Florida Southern 88-72.

Wake Forest held a slender 43-42 halftime lead, but broke the game open in the final 10 minutes of play.

South Carolina and Clemson dedicated new coliseums with victories, both of them close.

Clemson held off a late Georgia Tech rally for a 76-72 victory. It was the first game in Clemson's new Littlejohn Coliseum. A crowd of 4,000 saw Butch Zatezalo lead the Tiger scoring with 21 points, followed by sophomore Ted Tomasovich with 20.

South Carolina needed a 20-foot jump shot from sophomore John Roche in the final two seconds of play for a 51-49 decision over Auburn.

A sellout crowd of 12,000 helped the Gamecocks dedicate their new $8 million basketball palace.

Tom Owens topped South Carolina scoring with 16 points.

Maryland, which wasn't expected to cause much trouble in the ACC this season, lifted a few eyebrows with an easy 66-56 victory over Penn State.

The Terps jumped into an 11-0 lead in the first six minutes of play and were never in trouble.

Junior Will Hetzel led the Maryland attack with 27 points, just one shy of his career high. In addition to tonight's games, here is the ACC schedule for the remainder of the week:

Tuesday: Oregon at North Carolina.

Wednesday: Maryland at West Virginia; South Carolina at Wake Forest.

Thursday: North Carolina State vs. New York U. in Madison Square Garden; Virginia at Richmond.

Saturday: LSU at Clemson. Duke at Princeton, Maryland at South Carolina, North Carolina at Kentucky, George Washington at Virginia, Wake Forest at Temple.

LBJ Returns To Washington

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson took off in a gray drizzle today to fly back to Washington, ending a six-day Thanksgiving holiday at his Texas ranch.

The President carried his month-old granddaughter, Lucinda, aboard the big Air Force jet, while an aide held a black umbrella over them.

His wife Lady Bird and the baby's nurse followed.

The big jet plane took off from Randolph Air Force Base here at 9:31 a.m. local time for the 2½-hour flight to Andrews Air Force Base near Washington.

Daughter Luci and grandson Lyn Nugent were remaining at their Austin, Tex., home.

Mrs. Johnson's press secretary, Elizabeth Carpenter, said Lynda Johnson Robb had gone home Sunday afternoon so she could be on hand early to be hostess at the White House today for 150 Texas girls from the Washington area, invited for a 4 p.m. pre-Christmas celebration.

Harvard Prof In Key Nixon Post

NEW YORK (AP) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon announced today he is making Harvard Prof. Henry A. Kissinger his assistant for national security affairs to oversee the foreign defense policy machinery of the White House.

Nixon, at a news conference, said the 45-year-old Kissinger, a native of Germany, will revamp the entire security planning machinery at the White House with an aim to preventing global crises rather than simply dealing with them as they arise.

President-elect said he was concerned that, after inauguration day, he gets a broad spectrum of news on foreign policy problems and is "not presented with a paper that represents a consensus—the least common denominator."

Hundreds Claim Share In Estate

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Mary MacMahon had neither television nor air conditioner, but she has an estate worth more than a million dollars and police are still counting her money, jewels, stocks and bonds.

"It has got to be worth more than a million dollars, easy," said Sgt. Charles Fulton, "maybe a million and a half." Mrs. MacMahon, 67-year-old widow of Thomas F. MacMahon, a New York attorney and investor, died sometime last weekend. The body was discovered Saturday when a maid came to clean Mrs. MacMahon's modest bungalow on Harrison Street.

Inside the bungalow, police found $242,283.87 in cash and stock certificates and dividend checks from numerous corporations including U.S. Steel, Woolworth, Chrysler, United Aircraft, Texaco and RCA.

Police received hundreds of calls from all over the country Sunday from persons claiming to be relatives of Mrs. MacMahon. The calls were referred to her attorney, Linwood Cabot.

Open Plane Door Causes Accident

LA PLATA, Argentina (UPI) — It always pays to slam the door on an airplane.

A small private plane here reached an altitude of 10,000 feet before the pilot and four passengers realized the fuselage door had swung open. Just before the pilot could land the rocking plane, it slammed into a grove of trees. None aboard was injured seriously.

By S. J. WEEKS
Pitt County Tobacco Agent

The best tobacco is produced when careful attention is given to the plant nutrient requirements. The rate of fertilization has a definite relation to yield, quality, and profit of a tobacco crop. Heavy applications of fertilizer will not necessarily improve the yield and often lowers the quality of cured tobacco. However, rates that are too low are sure to lower both yield and quality. It is very important to use as nearly as possible the exact amount of fertilizer for proper development of the plant. An accurate soil analysis will help determine the correct amount of fertilizer ingredients to use. Nitrogen promotes plant growth; if too much nitrogen is used, delayed ripening, dark color, and heavy body results. Too little nitrogen causes the plant to develop a yellow cast during the early stage of leaf growth. This results in premature firing and starts drying up the leaves. Tobacco should have adequate supplies of nitrogen while growing, but the nitrogen should be almost used up when the crop reaches maturity.

Most fields in Pitt County, on which tobacco is grown, are not deficient in phosphorus. Some readily available phosphorus is essential in the production of tobacco. Tobacco plants get off to an earlier start and develop faster when adequate amounts of phosphorus are available.

Potash improves the quality of tobacco in general. It helps to produce the desired burning quality in the leaf. Adequate potash also increased the resistance to firing in dry weather. Murate of potash should be used as little as possible because too much chlorine will lower the leaf quality.

Other fertilizer ingredients such as magnesium, chlorine and calcium are also important in the tobacco fertilization program. Some fields in Pitt County are deficient in magnesium. When planning your tobacco fertilization program, it is well to know as much as possible about the nutrient level of your soil. A sample of soil, properly taken from each field and tested by the Soil Testing Division of the State Department of Agriculture, will give you this important information. Soil testing supplies may be obtained at the County Agricultural Extension Office in the Tucker Building in Greenville, or other agricultural agencies.

Robert Hause Will Conduct

Robert L. Hause, conductor of the East Carolina Symphony Orchestra and associate professor of music, will conduct the Symphony Orchestra of the 19th annual Georgia high school music festival at the University of Georgia.

The festival, scheduled Dec. 7 in Athens, Ga., will feature Hause conducting a 100-piece symphony orchestra made up of outstanding high school musicians from throughout Georgia. The students are selected and recommended for participation in the festival by many of the state's finest music teachers.

Hause, who is widely known for his work with young musicians, has conducted similar festival with great success. The most recent festival for the conductor was the Georgia All-State Orchestra festival in Atlanta last March.

Last summer Hause's work received praise from Michael Steinberg, music critic of the "Boston Globe," who reviewed Hause's performances in the Eastern Music Festival in Greensboro.

Hause, who is completing his second year as conductor of the ECU Symphony, is a native of Shelby. He is the son of Mrs. Lucille Hause and the late Mr. Hause.

Gastonia Stores Damaged By Fire

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP) — A fire that triggered several sharp explosions caused an estimated $800,000 in damage to a variety store, an office complex and other nearby stores in downtown Gastonia early Sunday.

There were no injuries, although one fireman was overcome by smoke.

A fire department official said the blaze destroyed the L-shaped structure housing the Eagle Variety Store and an office complex on the second floor.

Give someone a nice habit for Christmas.

Kids don't think much about saving money. You have to give them a nudge. And a nice way to give them a nudge is to give them a start.

It doesn't take much. Just a small amount in a savings account can mean a lot to them.

Maybe they'll add to it on their birthday.

And when Uncle Ed gives them a little something just for being nice.

And when they're rewarded for a good report card.

And so on, until, first thing you know, they've got the habit of saving money.

And a habit like that, at an early age, is about as nice a Christmas gift as we can think of.

Appalachia Burial Ground For Nuclear Waste

By CARL L. MILLER
RINGO MILLS, Ky. (UPI)—From Kittery, Me., to Key West, Fla., America's nuclear projects discharge their radioactive waste for burial in isolated terrain in the heart of Appalachia.

Spanning 330 acres atop a high plateau here called "Maxey Flats" is the largest privately operated nuclear graveyard in the nation.

Under Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) regulations, the land was donated to the state of Kentucky by Nuclear Engineering Co., Inc., which, in turn, leased it back for their burial operation.

Be it a contaminated 40-foot railway tank car or a tiny needle used by a hospital for radioactive treatments, it eventually winds up in a final resting place at Maxey Flats. Such a tank car is the largest item buried in this cemetery. It was used to haul radioactive liquid and, according to Bruce Harris, vice president of Nuclear Engineering, it was less expensive to dispose of the gigantic car than to decontaminate it.

At present, more than one million cubic feet of nuclear waste has been interred here. All items are plainly marked with the degree of radioactivity. As can well be imagined, safety is the prime consideration. "It takes precedence over everything else," Harris says, "including profit."

Safety is controlled in four ways—by the AEC, the State Department of Health, the firm itself and by the consignee of nuclear waste to be buried here.

AEC inspects Maxey Flats monthly, as does the State Health Department. Both prepare separate reports on radiation levels which are compared with running reports compiled by Nuclear Engineering.

The firm keeps close tabs on every shipment from the time it is unloaded from the truck to the time it is buried. Each of the company's 17 employees carries two devices for measuring radiation.

The shipper must assume responsibility for the adequate protection of his consignment until it reaches its destination. To be careless in packaging such material would be deadly.

But Harris explains that persons who work in the nuclear field never attempt to cut corners to save time or money. "It's probably the most ethical business in the world."

The area's 50 residents have not really accepted the unusual cemetery which disturbs the serenity of Maxey Flats. Many refer to it as the "nuclear sloopjar of America." Kentucky, always in the market for new industry, decided five years ago to enter the nuclear field. The administration under former Gov. Edward T. Breathitt discovered that more and more of the U.S. government's nuclear waste was being consigned to private industry for burial on state land.

At the same time, authorities in the nuclear field had decided that burial at sea, the common method, was undesirable and dangerous. Nuclear Engineering concurred in that opinion and helped pioneer land burial.

Taking an early initiative, Kentucky entered an agreement with Nuclear Engineering to build this facility. The mountain location was chosen for its ideal environment—the water table runs 300 feet underground, reducing the danger of drainage—and it isolated.

Located about 70 miles northeast of Lexington, Ky., Maxey Flats today is the major atomic burial ground for the eastern half of the nation.

About 50 per cent of the waste comes from the federal government and the other 50 per cent from state, city and privately-owned institutions. Most items shipped here are in special AEC-approved containers and, although they have identifying labels as to radiation level and consignee number, they are not usually marked to describe the contents.

The graves are several hundred feet long, 60 feet wide and 60 feet deep. With shipments arriving at the rate of about four per day, it takes several months to fill one. When the grave is covered, it is marked with a small tombstone showing the date of sealing.

To find an item once the grave is closed, Harris says, is a difficult task. But, it can be done.

By the date on a marker, the firm can tell in which grave an item is buried. But from that point, it is a near guess within 25 feet as to exact location.

Liquid waste disposal presents a special problem as drainage could create a hazard.

The method used here is to mix the liquid with cement, clay soil and shredded newspapers. The result is a hard, paper-mache-like substance which is buried in trenches lined with plastic.

Extremely "hot" articles are sealed in a special 40-foot-deep steel and concrete well measuring about one-yard in diameter.

Highly contaminated items usually are small—rods from atomic reactors and needles used in medical treatments. They are dropped into the well and covered with concrete. When the well is full, it has become an underground pill—capped and locked with steel and concrete braces.

Weekend Traffic In N.C. Saw At Least 29 Dead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A man, his wife and 4-year-old daughter were among the 29 persons killed in traffic accidents in North Carolina during the Thanksgiving weekend period from 6 p.m. Wednesday night through Sunday midnight.

The state's highway death toll for the year climbed to 1,689.

The North Carolina State Motor Club, in a pre-Thanksgiving announcement, had urged motorists to drive carefully and had predicted 29 persons might die in state traffic accidents. Thirty-five were killed over the same weekend last year.

Two cars collided near Bailey in Nash County Sunday night killing Jim Atlas Whitaker, 41; his wife, Lena C. Whitaker, 41; and their daughter, Denise Whitaker, 4, all of Rt. 1, Middlesex. Two other persons were injured seriously.

Jesse Taylor Benton, 34, of Core Peak, N. C., died when his car ran off a road and struck a ditch bank north of Sunbury in Gates County.

A 58-year-old man, Sherrill Aldredge McGee of Rt. 1, Knightdale, was killed when the car in which he was riding was struck by a tractor-trailer about 16 miles north of Benson in Johnston County. The Highway Patrol said the tractor trailer was traveling without lights and struck another vehicle before skidding into the left lane striking the third vehicle in which McGee was riding.

Joseph Colonel Childon, 15, of Rt. 7, Reidsville, was killed when a car in which he was riding was struck head-on by another car which the patrol said was traveling on the wrong side of North Carolina Highway 87 about five miles north of Reidsville.

Police believe the four persons killed in a single Winston-Salem wreck during the weekend were involved in a high-speed race when the two cars sideswiped. Killed were Donald Martin Pettus, 18, Larry McCarrell, Purnell Garrett Dunlap, all of Winston-Salem; and Sandra Patterson whose address was unknown. All four were in one car.

Winston-Salem police said the other speeding vehicle also left the road and hit several utility poles but the driver was able to keep it operating and was not at the scene when police arrived.

Christine Ross, 21, of Rt. 4, Zebulon, a pedestrian, was killed when hit by a vehicle in Wake County at the intersection of U. S. Highway 64 and Rural Road 2329 near Wendell.

David G. Durham, 28, of Rt. 1, Providence, was killed when a car in which he was riding went out of control at high speed in a curve and hit a bridge abutment on a rural road near Yanceyville.

Icy road conditions were blamed for the death Sunday of Willis J. Powell, 58, of Asheville. Powell's car hit a patch of ice on a rural road about 27 miles north of Morganton and flipped over and over down a 500-foot embankment.

Killed in earlier holiday weekend accidents: Charles Lenburg Everett, 35, of Dover, Nobel T. Jernigan, 24, Newton Grove; Barry Charles Harndon, 16, of Kernersville; Edgar Benze, 28, Waterville; Denis Mason, 21, Marion; Lewis Mathews Hancock, 66, Rt. 2, Seagrove.

Also, Harry Louis Henry, 36, Clinton; Mata Stanton, 58, Rt. 1, New Bern; Mitchell Joe Sutton, 26, Bryson City; Benjamin Franklin Wilson, 66, Rt. 2, Mebane; Willie Dodge, 74, Rt. 1, Swan Quarter; Luther Thomas Russell, 18, Rt. 1, Dover; Ronald Earl Willis, 17, Rt. 2, Vanceboro; James Gordon Helland, 35, Cullowhee; M. L. Parker, 49, Graham; Cecil Lail Craig, 21, Rt. 7, Hickory.

ter in television programming in this pre-Christmas period and they will be coming thicker and faster as the holiday approaches.

For openers, there was Sunday night's variety special starring Ann-Margret, followed by Perry Como in his only special program of the year.

Ann-Margret's CBS hour was a visual treat. The very attractive young performer sang, danced and occasionally clowning amid some very exciting sets. She was surrounded in most of the musical numbers by a talented group of male dancers.

The program was based on her nightclub act, but room was made to permit almost cameo appearances by Danny Thomas, who sang a song, and Jack Benny, who had a single gag. Bob Hope did a song and dance number with the star.

The most effective portion of the show was a kidding treatment of the lavish film musical of the depression days.

Less effective were sequences shot in Ann-Margret's native Sweden as she roamed through the countryside singing an old folk song.

Then came the Como show—a warm, easy and thoroughly professional hour in which Como wandered around smiling and singing and helping make his guest stars look awfully good.

There was a very funny sketch with Don Adams playing an insanely jealous husband to Carol Burnett's weary housewife—along the lines of the sketches Jackie Gleason and Audrey Meadows used to pull off so well. And there was, of course, a lot of very pleasant singing that ranged from "A Bicycle Built for Two" to "Little Green Apples"—and that's some range.

On the educational television network, "PBL" returned for its season with an annual two-hour documentary treatment about a young couple anticipating the birth of their first child and an introspective report on a middle-aged man with terminal cancer.

The Worry Clinic Dinner Party Is Held For Letter Writers

Martin Gage gave me a fascinating outline of this unique dinner party for the top 75 authors of "Letters to the Editor." A staff member of the newspaper sat at each of the 10 tables to serve as host or hostess. And the winners received official diplomas, signed by the editor. This idea could even be imitated by college and high school newspapers, too!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE H-547: Martin Gage was my dinner companion at a very unusual party under auspices of the Danville COMMERCIAL NEWS.

Mr. Gage is the editor but he informed me that the Master of Ceremonies was Bob Wright who handles the "Letters to the Editor."

"Dr. Crane," Mr. Gage began, "this is our 5th anniversary dinner."

"And the guests, in addition to our newspaper official family, are some 75 authors of the best letters to the newspaper over the past year."

"It is quite a task to pick the winners. They range from high school students to professional men. Some are the main pillars of our city government and industry."

"We have invited Ray Cromley, columnist on Southeast Asian affairs to speak."

"And at each table, we have a host or hostess who is a staff member of the COMMERCIAL NEWS."

"Each winner from the thousands of letter-writers, also receives an official certificate or 'diploma,' for it is quite a distinction to get into this elite group."

"Don't you think this annual award dinner is a splendid innovation?"

Yes, it is not only superb promotion for every livewire newspaper to do this.

But it is also a boon to the morale and ambition of average folks who have a craving to write.

It has been estimated that possibly 10 million Americans have a yen to become authors.

But the markets for books, short stories and other literary output is very restricted.

So this idea of an annual dinner for the 75 top-notch writers of "Letters to the Editor," is a very helpful boost to the aspiring writers of America.

"Dr. Crane," Bob Wright later informed me "it doesn't make any difference whether the writers praise or criticize the newspaper."

"What really counts is their ability to communicate their logical ideas most attractively."

And Bob Wright is correct, for editors welcome helpful comments, both pro and con.

When I am out on lecture tours, many members of the audience will later come forward to shake hands, after my address.

"Dr. Crane," they will smilingly remark, "we read you all the time but we don't always agree with you!"

To which I reply with thanks but remind them that I don't try to produce 100 per cent agreement.

Then I remind them of William Wrigley's famous comment: "When two men in a business always agree — one of them's unnecessary!"

Mini-Farms Are Big Providers

LIMA, Peru (UPI)—Mini-farms in the Andean Peruvian state of Puno pack a big wallop for hundreds of thousands of Indian families, the Ministry of Agriculture reports.

The mini-farms, known as "minifundios," average 12 to 15 acres in size and give subsistence on an average to 300 persons each, the report said.

Argentianians Get Around Law

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Since divorce is illegal in Argentina, estranged couples often marry again in Mexico or Uruguay.

Newspapers often carry lawyers' advertisements reading: "Family Business: Argentine marriages in Mexico, Uruguay."

A superb newspaper thus wakes up readers and produces debate, discussion and reasonable difference of opinion.

Only in that manner can the grains of wheat be sifted from the chaff.

In fact, in threshing machines and modern combines, unless the rollers go in opposite directions, the wheat grains would not be gleaned from the hulls that surround them.

So send for my booklet "How to Write Salable Copy," enclosing a long stamped return envelope plus 20 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Somehow the producer got the participants to ignore, for the most part, the presence of cameras and crews, even during such intimate moments as an examination by a pediatrician. The couple, a painter and his wife of six years, discussed frankly their feeling about having a child—"an extension of our relationship," they said. The sequences showing the mother-to-be in training for natural childbirth were particularly interesting.

It was a very different, sensitive and revealing program.

Saturday night brought the annual Miss Teen-age America Pageant finals, 90 minutes during most of which eight young finalists among the 59 girls went through that demonstration established by the Miss America Pageant that is supposed to show their poise and wit. Finally, a 17-year-old from Pittsburgh, Pa., Melissa Babish, emerged tearfully as the winner.

The young contestants, from 13 to 17 were attractive, but the case of all of these TV beauty pageants, the dialogue given the adult professional entertainers who appeared during the program—in this case Dean Jones, Trini Lopez and Michele Lee—was stilted, humorless and perfunctory.

Appoints Food ServiceDirector

RALEIGH (AP)—Dr. Charles F. Carroll, state superintendent of public instruction, has named Donnie C. Pollard as acting supervisor of school food services to succeed O. Lee Searing.

Searing handed in his resignation recently saying that Dr. Craig Phillips who will succeed Carroll as state superintendent Jan. 3, had advised him that he would not be retained in the post.

Searing said he has accepted appointment as director of school food services for the Broward County schools at Fort Lauderdale, Fla. He said his starting pay will be $20,000 a year compared to the $12,500 he received in Raleigh.

Searing, who joined the state school food service division in 1962, had been director since 1964.

Pollard, a Wake County native who grew up at Coates in Harnett County, has served since 1963 as a systems analyst with the school food services division.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rallied today on its sixth straight session as news of higher interest rates triggered profit taking. Trading was active early in the afternoon.

Gains outnumbered losses by about 175 issues, paring their early advantage, but blue-chip averages were considerably dampened by the news which came shortly after the market opened on an optimistic note.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was down 1.68 to 983.40 after backing away from an early advance of 2.80.

Leading banks boosted their prime lending rate to 6 1/2 per cent from 6 per cent. The news came as a surprise to many both in Wall Street and government.

The stock market did not react immediately, but bond prices were marked down sharply on the news. Later, stock market gains were trimmed and losses began to show up in some previous winners.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was unchanged at 368.8 with industrials off .1, rails up .1 and utilities off .1.

As the week began, the Dow points below their all-time closing high of about 995 posted in February, 1966 and many in Wall Street were anticipating a rush to that point and then to the magic "Dow 1,000."

A highlight was Fiatrol, up 10 1/2 at 52 on a delayed opening block of 22,000 shares on news of an exchange offer from Slick Corp., traded on the American Stock Exchange.

Texas Gulf Sulphur was delayed in opening, swamped with orders on the Big Board, following a favorable court decision on its Timmins, Ontario findings.

Fischbach & Moore spurted 5, and W. R. Grace gained 1 on news of their agreement in principle to merge.

Lockheed and Boeing, both up around a point, responded to plane orders.

U.S. Task Force Now Assigned S. Korea Coast

SEOUL (AP) — The U.S. aircraft carrier Hancock and four destroyers began operating in the Sea of Japan today amid a massive anti guerrilla campaign along South Korea's eastern coast.

Military sources in Seoul said one purpose of the naval task force was to discourage "any further provocative acts" from North Korea. They said the U.S. and South Korean governments had agreed on this and other measures following the landing of more than 60 North Korean guerrillas on the east coast early in November.

The guerrilla landing was the largest Communist infiltration into South Korea since the Korean War. Most of the original landing force have been killed and two have been captured.

"THE BIBLE" STARTS THURSDAY

By GEORGE ESPER Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. planes and artillery attacked a North Vietnamese position in the demilitarized zone Sunday after two U.S. reconnaissance planes were fired on, the U.S. command said today.

It was the first incident of enemy activity reported since last Tuesday in the six-mile-wide zone that separates North and South Vietnam.

The U.S. attacks in the zone destroyed four bunkers and 100 yards of trenches and set off secondary explosion, indicating ammunition stores were hit, a U.S. spokesman said.

In the American view, North Vietnam tacitly acknowledged an understanding to keep the DMZ free of military activity and refrain from indiscriminate attacks on major South Vietnamese cities in return for the bombing halt ordered Nov. 1.

North Vietnam has claimed that the bombing halt was unconditional and that charges is violating the DMZ are a "smoke screen to camouflage the intensification of the American aggressive war in South Vietnam and illegal American reconnaissance flights over North Vietnam."

U.S. headquarters also reported that 717 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops were killed in heavy fighting on three sides of Saigon in the past week. U.S. casualties were put at 37 dead and 142 wounded, while South Vietnamese casualties were described as light.

In the air war, six waves of American B52s dropped more than 1,000 tons of bombs Sunday and today along an arc north of Saigon.

Flying in formations of six planes each, 36 of the big bombers attacked "infiltration routes and bunker complexes" from 36 miles north of Saigon to just over a mile from the Cambodian border.

The allied commands reported at least 92 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed Sunday in three clashes 21 to 31 miles northeast of Saigon. The U.S. Command said two Americans were killed and 39 wounded, while South Vietnamese casualties were said to be light.

The fighting between Saigon and the Cambodian border is the heaviest since enemy offensives were stopped in mid-August and again in mid-September, and there is some speculation that it results from a new offensive to strengthen the enemy's bargaining position at the Paris peace talks.

But senior U.S. officers directing operations along the Cambodian border feel that the enemy troops are instead responding to allied probes of Viet Cong areas that previously have been probed infrequently or not at all.

These officers say much of the fighting has broken out because American units are operating across traditional enemy infiltration routes.

"They just don't like us around here," said one officer. "They are trying to feel us out, and we are trying to do the same."

South Vietnamese headquarters also reported that two provincial capitals in the Mekong Delta—My Tho and Ben Tre—were shelled Sunday night. Eight policemen and three Vietnamese soldiers were reported wounded in Ben Tre, 45 miles southwest of Saigon, and no casualties were reported in My Tho, just west of Ben Tre.

Farther south, in Vinh Long Province, a terrorist threw a grenade into a market place early today, killing nine persons and wounding 20. Vietnam Press, the government news agency, also reported about 50 persons were wounded by an explosion Saturday in a theater in Darlac Province, in the central highlands.

The battleship USS New Jersey steamed to the fringes of the demilitarized zone Sunday for the first time since the bombing and shelling of North Vietnam was halted Nov. 1. The 5,000-ton battleship took station just to the south of the DMZ, ready to turn her giant 16-inch guns on North Vietnamese troops and artillery positions if they fire on the U.S. Marines along the northern frontier. But a U.S. spokesman said there had been no reports of any new significant incidents inside the DMZ.

Meanwhile, the New Jersey's guns struck 15 bunkers Sunday in locations from less than 1,000 yards south of the DMZ to about 29 miles south of the zone.

SAIGON (AP) — Dr. S. I. Hayakawa, acting president of strife-torn San Francisco State College, was shoved and pushed and had his cap ripped from his head by jeering students as the campus reopened this morning under a state of emergency.

Hayakawa waded into a group of some 150 dissident students, mounted a pickup truck of the Students for a Democratic Society and tried repeatedly over a bull horn to urge a return to classes.

One student jumped on the truck and grabbed Hayakawa's arm. He ripped his arm away and continued his efforts to restore calm.

Hayakawa, appointed last Tuesday to succeed Dr. Robert Smith, who resigned, got down from the truck and was immediately surrounded by taunting students. His cap, a green and white knit, was pulled from his head.

The president wore a blue arm band, as did the members of the Committee for an Academic Environment — a student organization urging an orderly return to class by the 18,000 students.

Chicago . . .

taint falls on all. "There has been no public condemnation of these violators of sound police procedures and common decency by either their commanding officers or city officials," the report charged.

"Nor," it added, "has any disciplinary action been taken against most of them. That some policemen lost control of themselves under exceedingly provocative circumstances can perhaps be understood, but not condoned."

The study said if no action is taken against the police, then other officers who did act with responsibility will be discouraged.

It warns, "Although the crowds were finally dispelled on the nights of violence in Chicago, the problems they represent have not
