'New Approach' To Public Education Proposed

By NOEL YANCEY

RALEIGH (AP) — A new approach to public school education, including kindergartens, more emphasis on vocational education and upgrading of the teaching profession with pay equal to the national average was proposed for North Carolina today.

The Governors Study Commission on the Public School System said its proposals would cost $300 million during the next two fiscal years and would cost much more in later years.

The recommendation to boost teachers' salaries to the national average would mean an increase in the average from $6,219 to $7,297 at a cost of $174.5 million during the next biennium.

The commission also called for a reorganization of the school administrative structure at both the state and local level. Locally, it said, there should be more mergers of city and county school units with the county considered as the basic unit.

On the state level, the report proposed the state superintendent be administrative head of a reorganized state Department of Public Instruction and appointed by the state Board of Education instead of elected by the people.

Saying that "more money must be made available to the schools," the commission called on both the state and the local units to increase their contributions. Additional funds also would be expected from the federal government.

Other commission recommendations included:

—School bus transportation of city children on the same basis as rural children who ride buses if they live as much as a mile and a half from school.

—More state assistance in school lunch programs with the state to pay half the costs of initial equipment purchases and "provide some help for rising labor costs.

—The adoption of several basal textbooks so that local units will have a selection from which to adopt their texts.

The long-awaited report, authorized by the 1967 General Assembly at the request of Gov. Dan Moore, was unveiled today to an audience of educators, legislators, and interested citizens at Raleigh's Memorial Auditorium.

The study took more than a year, involved the efforts of more than 50,000 persons, cost more than $200,000, and resulted in 17 recommendations. Dr. James H. Hilton of Winston-Salem headed the commission and Dr. Neill A. Rosser served as director.

Gov. Dan Moore hailed the report as "a blueprint for further sound development of the public schools."

The commission recognized the shortages of teachers, classroom space and money as it proposed that kindergartens be instituted on a gradual basis over a period of six to eight years.

In connection with the kindergarten proposal, the commission called for:

—A more comprehensive health program to detect as early as infancy problems which may later cause children learning difficulties.

—Reorganization of the program from kindergartens through the third grade into a single primary grade in which children could advance "at their own individual rates."

State Sen. Martha Evans, D-Mecklenburg, a member of the commission, predicted that the "kindergarten program will be enacted into law" as she presented that portion of the commission's findings today.

She said the commission felt a pupil "may survive poor instruction toward the top of the educational ladder, but if he is stunted during the early years the damage is rarely remedied."

The upgraded elementary school, she said, would recognize that children grow gradually and at different rates."

The commission said, "Much greater emphasis (should) be placed on occupation education, including specific training in vocational subjects at the junior and senior high school levels. Special emphasis should be given industrial and service related skill training."

In its recommendations on school personnel, the commission recommended that thousands of additional persons be brought into the school system as teacher aides to relieve teachers of routine chores. Those aides would include housewives, retired persons and even high school pupils.

The commission asserted that "the role of the teacher must be redefined" as it called for a restructing of school classroom personnel.

Socialist Raps Fleet Maneuvers

TOKYO (AP) —The Japan Socialist party today denounced maneuvers being carried out by U.S. 7th Fleet warships including the 33,099-ton aircraft carrier Hancock off Korea.

Tomomi Narita, the party chairman, declared the maneuvers create the "danger of a flareup of another Korean conflict similar to the war in Vietnam."

Nixon Chooses Science Adviser

By FRANK CORMIER

NEW YORK (AP) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon announced today his appointment of physicist Lee A. DuBridge, president of the California Institute of Technology, to his policymaking science adviser.

Nixon told reporters that he believed a number of scientists and intellectuals "take a rather dim view of the political operator" and expressed hope that the 67-year-old DuBridge would help bridge that gap.

DuBridge, who had planned to resign his university post soon —he has been president of Cal Tech since 1946—said, for his own part, that he would try to encourage and increase federally sponsored basic research, which he saud is in a down trend.

The president-elect said DuBridge, whom he has known for 22 years, has been able to advance his retirement date and will bgin immediately working full time for the incoming administration.

He said his new science adviser would go to Washington almost at once to confer with Dr. Donald F. Hornig, who holds the advisory post in the Johnson administration.

DuBridge told newsmen that "certainly my first interest" would be in expanding basic science, which, he noted, lays the foundation for application in every day life.

He also expressed misgivings about any move to sharply cut back on the space program.

"I think it's important for the United States to meet its commitments" in space, that "science and technology cannot be turned off and on like a faucet," DuBridge said.

Nixon also announced the formation of two task forces that will report to him with policy recommendations by inauguration day. A task force on science will be headed by Dr. H. Guyford, Stever, president of Carnegie-Mellon University, Pittsburgh. A space task force will be directed by Dr. Charles Townes, a Nobel Prize winner in physics, from the University of California at Berkeley.

3-Point Peace Plan By Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam's delegation to the Paris peace talks will take along a three-point plan, informed government sources said today.

"That's ridiculous, very ridiculous," said a spokesman in Paris for the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front when told the plan's third point called for the NLF and the Viet Cong to rally to the Saigon government.

The other points are:

1. A de-escalation of the fighting, particularly reduction of attacks on South Vietnam's cities and a halt to incidents in the demilitorized zone.

. A "controlled and guaranteed" withdrawal of North Vietnamese forces, accompanied by a phased cutback in American strength.

"You know very well the position of our delegation," said the NLF spokesman in Paris. "The puppet administration of Saigon represents no one. It is the creation of the United States. The National Liberation Front is the legitimate representative of the South Vietnamese people who are rallying to us at this moment. I find these proposals scarcely realistic."

Meanwhile, an advance party for South Vietnamese President Nguyen Cao Ky began arriving in Paris as U.S. and North Vietnamese negotiators inched toward the opening of the expanded conference.

'Aquanauts' Pass Tests In Depth Chamber

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Five aquanauts simulating a record 1,000-foot dive into the ocean's depths underwent psychological tests today and passed with flying colors.

"Things are going very well indeed," said Dr. Herbert A. Saltzman, director of Duke University's hyperbaric chamber in which the men are being subjected to pressures equal to those under the sea.

Scientists recited numbers over a speaker system into the chamber and measured how quickly each man could answer "odd" or "even."

The test was carried out as the aquanauts completed their first night of the dive by napping fitfully, joking and occasionally strumming a guitar.

SMOKE TESTS . . . Greenville Utilities director Charles Horne (right) talks with assistant fire chief Jenness Allen and utilities employee Billy Weston as smoke is being pumped into a manhol to check for leaks in a sanitary sewer on West Fourth Street this morning.

Smoking Sewers Are Likely Evidence Somebody Is Testing

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Don't be surprised if you see smoke coming from the streets or from sewer system vent pipes on top of your house this winter. Chances are it will be the work of Greenville Utilities Commission crews checking for leaks.

According to utilities commission director Charles Horne, workers, beginning today, will be forcing smoke into the city's sanitary sewer lines and seeing where it goes.

The project, ultimately, will cover the entire city, Horne explained.

Workers with blowers force smoke into one manhole, and hopefully, the smoke will come out only at other man holes and through vent pipes on roofs of houses nearby.

Smoke coming from storm drains, and other locations, is an indication of trouble, Horne said.

One of the main problems, the director explained, is water from storm drains entering sanitary sewer lines and ultimately causing the city's sewage treatment facility to handle a large quantity of water that it should not handle.

Problems with household sewage lines can also be pinpointed with the smoke test, Horne noted. Improperly vented fixtures will result in the smoke entering the house. Also, the utilities director explained, cracked sewage lines and other pipe faults can be detected when smoke rises from the problem area.

Horne emphasized that the smoke being used in the tests is a harmless, non-toxic smoke generated by smoke grenades.

The Greenville Fire Department, Horne pointed out, is cooperating with the sewer system test program and will be kept abreast of the location of the test teams at all times so they will be on the lookout for calls from area residents regarding smoke citings.

During a brief test period this morning, two storm sewer leaks and a broken sewer line from a private dwelling were detected, Horne noted.

Workers will be conducting the tests each day that weather permits, Horne explained, until the project is completed.

No tests will be made in the downtown Greenville area until after the Christmas holiday period rush, Horne added.

Progress Note

Cameron Dudley of Dudley and Shoe, Architects, reported to the Housing Authority last night that the contractor is ahead of schedule in readying Moyewood housing project units for occupancy.

The 40 units in one section are expected to be completed by the first of the year and the 200 units in the other section should be ready for occupancy by late spring, according to Dudley.

Mrs. Sally Streeter reported that all units in Kearney Park and Meadowbrook are occupied and that there are some 535 families on the waiting list.

The newspaper said the official announcement will be made "within a few days."

Barry Lockie Volpe's press secretary, said "We absolutely have no comment on the story whatsoever."

Jordan Says Israeli Took Heavy Toll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jordan charged today that Israeli planes and artillery killed at least 13 Jordanian civilians and wounded 17 in a heavy attack on Northern Jordan early Tuesday.

It was the second successive night of heavy fighting across the Israeli-Jordanian cease-fire line, and the Jordanian casualties were the largest reported on that front in some months.

Israel charged that Jordanian guns began firing first on agricultural settlements in the Beisan Valley. The Israelis said eight settlements came under fire during an exchange that lasted nearly five hours. A spokesma said the Jordanian barrages caused some damage ut no casualties.

Israel confirmed that its air force had gone into action again, as it did during a similar duel Sunday night across the cease-fire line.

Dr. Swalin Recipient Of Award

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — Dr. Benjamin Franklin Swalin, director of the North Carolina Symphony, today was named winner of the 1968 Morrison Award for outstanding achievement and contributions in the performing arts in North Carolina.

The announcement was made at the annual luncheon meeting of the Roanoke Island Historical Association, the first event of this year's North Carolina "Culture Week."

The annual event is being held in Charlotte in connection with the city's 200th birthday celebration.

Paul Green, the Pulitzer Prize - winning playwright of Colony" drama, was given the first Morrison Award in 1967.

Both Dr. Swalin and Green will receive medallions being designed as a token of the award, to be presented on stage of the Waterside Theatre at Maneto during the early part of the 1969 season of "The Lost Colony."

Swalin, a native of Minnesota, received the bachelor of science and master of arts degrees from Columbia University. In 1932, he was awarded the degree of doctor of philosophy by the University of Vienna.

Also at today's meeting of the Roanoke Island Historial Association, John Fox, general manager of "The Lost Colony" drama, reported that its 50 performances last summer attracted 64,682 paying patrons, an average of 1,198 — both records.

Total season sales of $136,549 and the nightly average of $2,529 also were records.

But, Fox said, the production still wound up $12,478 in the red because of increased production and operating costs. The drama has been presented annually since 1937.

He added that reserved and adult admission prices will be increased 50 cents each next summer in an effort to break even.

Winchester Eyes New Role After Retiring

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Sam C. Winchester, Pitt County agricultural extension service chairman who announced yesterday that he will retire at the end of December, will manage a commercial hog and table egg operation.

Winchester has been agricultural extension chairman in Pitt since 1946. He entered the extension service 32 years ago after graduating from N. C. State University in 1935. Before coming to Pitt as the head of the extension service here, he served as an assistant county agent in Pitt and Johnson Counties and as county agent in Jones County.

In 1964 Winchester was honored by the National Association of County Agricultural Agents when he received that group's Distinguished Service award for his outstanding work.

Winchester is presently secretary-treasurer of Pitt Farm Enterprises, Inc. and will manage that group's commercial hog and table egg operation following his retirement.

The Pitt Farm operation, he noted, is now in operation on a tract of land on the Old River Road and presently has 25,000 laying hens and 72 brood sows.

It is a 10-member corporation, Winchester said. Other offices include B. Alton Gardner, president and Vernon White, vice-president.

Schools Would Take Thousands Of Added Personnel

RALEIGH (AP) — Thousands of added personnel ranging from housewives to retired persons and even including high school students would be brought into North Carolina's classrooms to give teachers more time for teaching under proposals made today.

The governor's Study Commission on the Public School system recommended the proposals in a program to upgrade the schools.

In addition, new techniques such as "team teaching" would be employed and teachers' salaries would be based on considerations of "competence, responsibilities and duties performed." The commission said this could be done "without merit rating procedures."

The commission's recommendations were unveiled to a group of educators, legislators and interested citizens today.

The commission recommended that teacher salaries be brought up to the national average which would mean an increase in the average from $6,219 to $7,297 a year at a cost of $174.5 million during the next bieunnium.

Mrs. Mary Nesbitt of Raleigh, a commission member and president of the North Carolina Classroom Teachers Association who presented the portion of the reported dealing with school personnel, said the commission felt steps should be taken to insure:

"That teachers and other school personnel are guaranteed comfortable living standards; that school personnel must be assigned to jobs for which they are trained, leaving other school tasks to those more qualified to accomplish them; and that excellent teachers should be rewarded for their competence."

"We believe that the state cannot and should not go on attempting to reduce class size and at the same time to staff every classroom with a fully certified, qualified teacher," the report said.

The commission called for redefining the role of teacher. It said some learning can be done by the pupil individually, some with the teacher tutoring the pupil, some can be taught in small groups and some courses can be taught "just as well with 100 pupils as with 25." For that reason the report called for use of the "concept of team teaching."

School personnel, the commission said, should be divided into: (1) aides; educational technologists who would have "refresher training beyond that of aides"; () teacher interns—undergraduates in teacher eduers, those with college degrees but who lack the full requirements for certification; (4 provisional teachers—new graduates of teacher training programs; (5) professional teachers—those who have completed a trial period and meet all requirements for certification; (6) senior professional teachers, those who now would be classified as graduate certificate teachers; and at the top (7) instructional specialists.

Serviceman Suggests Cheerful Letters

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: You are usually very fair to service men, so I hope you'll print this.

Some girl wrote in saying her brother, who was in the service in Viet Nam, hardly ever wrote home, and their mother went around worried to death all the time.

Well, I'm also a service man away from home, but I write home often altho I sure have to think hard to write a decent letter.

The letters I get from my mother go like this:

"So and so is very sick and isn't expected to live thru the week. So and so died from cancer last Friday. She suffered something awful. She went from 140 to 88 pounds. Grandpa isn't feeling good at all, and he looks bad, and I don't like the way your father looks either. This country is in a mess and it looks like things are going to get worse. Sometimes I wish I could just close my eyes and never wake up. Well, George, write when you get a chance. Love, Mother."

Don't use my name, Abby, but maybe if mothers realized that if they wrote more cheerful letters to their sons in the service, they might hear from them more often. incerely.

G. I. GEORGE

DEAR ABBY: I am 30, my wife is 23, and her mother is 39. My mother-in-law is a divorcee and lives with us. My wife works days and I work nights, and my mother-in-law stays home and looks after our two small children. Well, my wife is P. G. again, and so is her mother. I am responsible for both, but my wife doesn't know about her mother's condition. My mother - in - law plans to leave town pretty soon and keep this whole situation quiet. She has a sister she can live with in west Texas.

Do you know where I can get a nice, respectable middle-aged woman who will live in and take care of our kiddies?

GOLDEN VALLEY

DEAR GOLDEN: Try the want ads of this newspaper. Also the employment agencies. As a matter of policy I rarely offer advice beyond what is asked for, but boy, do I have some advice for you!

DEAR ABBY: My husband's family always come by for Thanksgiving dinner because I have the biggest house. I don't need any donations, but everybody brings something toward the meal.

Well, turkey and dressing have always been my speciality, but this year my sister-in-law begged me to let her bring the turkey, so like a fool I let her. She is a big show off and just wanted the relatives to know that SHE could make good turkey and dressing, too. Well, hers wasn't as good as mine, but here is my complaint.

When she went home, she took every scrap of left - over turkey and dressing with her! The next day, my family gave me a hard time because we didn't have any left - overs. My question: Just because she brought the bird, do you think she was within her rights to take what was left over home with her?

MAD

DEAR MAD: No. She should have left another kind of bone for your family to pick with you. Next time, fix your own bird, or be prepared to cook your own goose.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SOUGHT AFTER SEYMOUR" IN S. F.: Avoid her if she persists. (Oh wad some power the giftie gie us to see some people before they see us.)

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A Lesson For Every Community

While the report on violence in Chicago last August places most of the blame on "police riot", it should not be construed as a blanket condemnation of all police in Chicago or elsewhere.

The report leaves no stone unturned to present a factual and accurate account of what happened in the streets and parks of Chicago during the hectic days of the Democratic national convention. It presents an amply clear picture of what it calls "unrestrained and indiscriminate police violence" in response to the taunting and provocation of the demonstrators who participated by the thousands in the protests in Chicago.

It is evident from the report that many of those who felt the violent blows of the police were innocent citizens who suddenly became victims of the outburst of swinging clubs and uncontrolled fury of individual police officers.

There appears little reason to doubt the report's asserton that little or no disciplinary action has been taken against those policemen who acted irresponsibly to produce the "police riot" in Chicago's streets. It is to be hoped that the additional light shed by the report on those tragic August nights in Chicago will lead to appropriate action against those irresponsible officers.

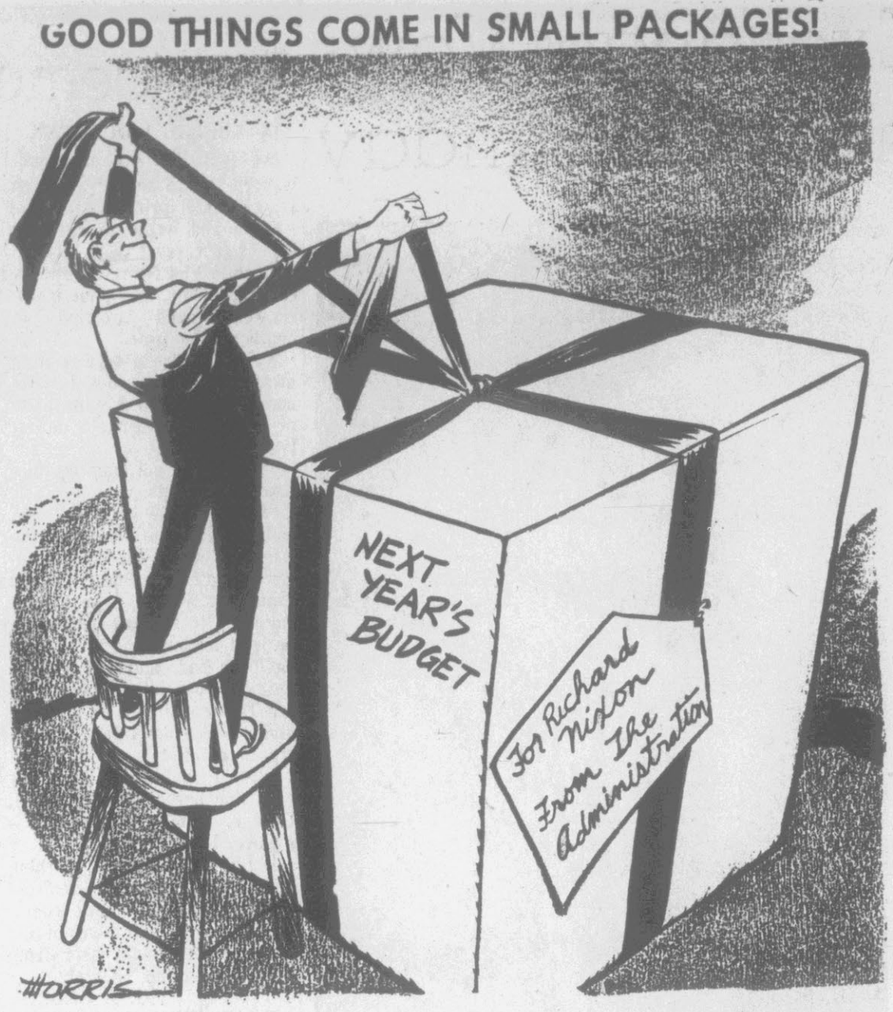
At the same time the American people should not lose sight of the equally clear assertion by the presidential commission that the police who were involved in and responsible for the violence were a minority of the 12,000-man Chicago police force. The vast majority, the report said, acted responsibly in the fact of the difficult situation.

Obviously Chicago, no less than any other city in the nation, cannot afford to turn its street over to mobs. For the protection of life and property of life and propery of its citizens, it must and should maintain order through the action of its law enforcement officers. At the same time officials in Chicago and elsewhere must see to it that those same law enforcement officers act responsibly in carrying out their duties.

Although the task force which made the exhaustive study of the incidents made no recommendations, it ponted out: "Surely this is not the last time that a violent dissenting group will clash head-on with those whose duty it is to enforce the law. And the next time the whole world will still be watching."

The next time it happens, whether in a large city or a small town, those responsible for law enforcement should have taken careful note of this report on the Chicago incidents. Police and other law enforcement personnel who will be called on to maintain order — or restore it if necessary — should be better prepared and under better control than that minority of police in Chicago who "lost control of themselves."

The report on the Chicago violence has in it important lessons for the law enforcement agencies of every community, just as it has important lessons for every law abidng citizen.



Policy Backs Juntas

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — On Oct. 17, three days after the adjournment of Congress and a week before full resumption of U.S. military aid to Greece, a middle echelon Pentagon civilian put on paper the hitherto unwritten doctrine of Washington's permissive attitude toward right-wing military dictatorships.

The doctrine was laid down by Harry H. Schwartz, fromer policy planner at the State Department and now a deputy assistant secretary for international affairs in the Defense Department. Implicitly, it equated the repressions by the military dictatorship in Greece with actions by U.S. authorities to quell civil disorders. By this logic, Washington has no more business poking into the death of Greek democracy than the Athens colonels have in telling Washington how to handle black rioters.

With Congress in recess, the Schwartz doctrine has not received much attention on Capitol Hill. But those Congressional liberals who have read Schwartz's words regard them as the first articulation of what is now U.S. policy and therefore a matter of profound importance.

Indeed, some students of foreign policy view the Schwartz doctrine as a corollary of the doctrine laid down in Warsaw by Soviet party chief Leonid Brezhnev. Just as the Brezhev doctrine asserts Moscow's authodity to intervene in the internal affairs of what the Kremlin grandly calls the socialist commonwealth, the Schwartz doctrine makes clear the U.S. will not interfere with extra-constitutional, totalitarian rule by Western governments. Combined, the two doctrines paint the picture of a grim new world of Stalinist tyranny in the East and military dictatorship in the West.

The Schwartz doctrine was unleashed through a press conference in Washington Sept. 28 by Elias Demetracopoulos, an exiled Greek journalist and severe critic of the ruling military junta. Correctly predicting the resumption of heavy U.S. arms shipments to Greece Demetracopoulos, attacked the sham plebiscite scheduled the next day on the junta's' draft constitution.

Rep. Donald Fraser of Minnesota, a liberal critic of the Johnson administration's foreign policy, immediately fired off letters to Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford asking for comment on the Demetracopoulos charges. A routine, non-responsive reply came back from the State Department; what illuminated U. S. policy, not only in Greece but worldwide, was the Pentagon reply to Fraser by Schwartz.

While assuring Fraser that "we have repeatedly urged the early return of the Greek government to a constitutional system and democratic processes," Schwartz wrote that the Soviet-bloc invasion of Czechoslovakia "made clearer our priorities for mutual security." He added that "NATO is once again closing ranks to maintain the collective security of all," then came up with this eye-opener:

"We respect the efforts of

The Transition Is Much Easier

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH — Gov.-elect Robert W. (Bob) Scott is finding the transition to the governor's office much less difficult and also much less expensive—than did the present governor, Dan Moore.

Scott, who will take office Jan 3, presently occupies spacious offices in a state-owned building. There also is space for his staff and facilities are furnished for all. This contrasts with the situation Moore faced four years ago, cramped in a rented hotel room, elbow to elbow with aides and waiting for the day he would move to the offices at the head of Fayetteville Street.

The next legislature changed this unfortunate way of doing things and provided both money and space for any incoming governor.

Scott is the first incoming governor to rave these advantages. Moore, in his way, did not complain. He worked—as an incoming governor must—in inadequate quarters which had to be paid for from his limited campaign funds prior to taking the oath of office.

Arrangements Changed

Now the arrangements have been changed. Scott occupies "transition" offices in the splendid new Administration Building. His staff has adjacent offices.

With a turn from his desk, Scott may look out upon the site being prepared for still another huge state office building, formerly a parking lot. This is just across the street from the $7 million State Legislative Building and only a block and a half from the Capitol itself.

Scott's administrative assistant, Ben Roney, has an office nearby. So do other aides already named — all close to Scott's political campaign.

Some will move with Scott to the Capitol on Jan. 3. Some will remain in the Administration Building. One at least will take up offices in the Legislative Building as Scott's legislative counsel when the General Assembly convenes in mid-January.

Surprising Start

Scott has surprised many veteran political observers by early announcement of major appointments—more of which are coming.

This, of course, is evidence of Scott's determination to get his administration organized and doing as quickly as possible. This also contrasts with Moore's administration, probably because Moore's was not as well organized. Moore waited months after taking office before choosing the men he wanted for particular offices. Scott, undoubtedly, has had choices in mind and is wasting no time making the appointments.

DuPont Expansion

Announcement out of Wilmington, Del., that one of the nation's largest industrial complexes, E.I. DuPont de Nemours and Co., Inc., plans further expansion in North Carolina indicates additional evidence for big company recognition of North Carolina potential.

DuPont will build facilities on 2,650 acres of land along the Cape Fear River 13 miles from Fayetteville, probably for manufacturing of plastics. It has not announced precisely what it will make nor the total industrial investment ti will make. But it will be considerable, and it will draw a labor supply from towns in Cumberland, Bladen and Robeson counties.

A Phobia Adds Social Status

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — What are you afraid of?

Not long ago we listed here a number of phobias that might add to your social status. A number of prestige seekers, seeking to be afflicted with even rarer panics unknown to their neighbors, asked if there were any more on the list.

HAL BOYLE

Indeed there are. Mankind will never run out of phobias; if he cures an old one, he is bound to find a new one.

Here are a possibilities that may be of interest:

If you dislike animals generally, you are suffering from simple zoophobia. However, if you can't stand touching their fur, you are a dorophobe, and if you are frightened by the teeth of animals you are an odontophobe.

Worried pedestrians can be put into two classes. Are they afraid of automobiles approaching from the left side? They are levophobes. Are they afraid of auptomobiles coming from the right side? They are dextrophobes.

Many college girls don't like to make a date for the prom too far ahead because they are hopeful some guy they like better will ask them later. This is perhaps the most common ailment of coeds and is scientifically known as meriinthophobia, the fear of being bound or tied up.

If a friend tells you something you don't believe and you reply, "I can't swallow that," you are unconsciously perhaps exhibiting a touch of pnigophobia, the fear of choking.

Want a few more panics to pick from? Well, try these on for size:

A henpecked husband who refuses to argue with his wife could be classified as an amychophobe, because he evidences a secret fear of being clawed.

Hate to go out on the streets at night because of the possibility you'll be mugged? That could well mean that you are a harpaxophobic, achluophobic amychophobe. Translated, it says you have a healthy fear of being robbed in the dark and suffering lacerations.

Do you fret because your girl friend is giving you a frigid stare and turned an icy shoulder to you? Poor unhappy lad, you've got cheimaprobia, the fear of cold.

Some bashful men hate to see topless waitresses or girls who wear miniskirts too short. They are incipient victims of gymnophobia. They dread seeing naked bodies.

Are you afraid that people will laugh if you sit down at a piano. Put yourself down as a catagelophobe, one who dreads ridicule.

Do all these fears seem dull to you? Do you want to come up with a new and interesting fear that will impress everyone in your block? Well, why not succumb to auroraphobia?

This is the fear of the northern lights—so rare it will even impress your psychiatrist.

ART BUCHWALD

The Herblock Gallery

As everyone knows, I am the first one to speak out for the right to dissent, but I think the line has to be drawn somewhere, and I believe Herbert Block has finally drawn the line in his new book, "The Herblock Gallery."

Block has no respect for the things that most of us hold dear, such as the President, the Congress of the United States, the Supreme Court, the armed services and the FBI.

With his pen he exaggerates all the foibles of this country and he expects us to accept his characterizations of our institutions as truth.

But his cartoons are lies, all lies. His portrayals of special interest groups that influence Congress are not only libels against our hard-working legislators but an affront to our nation's lobbyists, who serve not only the great free enterprise system but their country as well.

One blatant example of Block's inability to draw the truth is his section on the

ART BUCHWALD

National Rifle Association. Block portrays the leaders of the NRA as gangsters and fat, money-grubbing merchants of death, who would go to any limit to prevent decent gun-control legislation. This, of course, is unfair because we all know the NRA is made up of fun-loving sportsmen who would never interfere in gun control or take a stand against the best interests of the country. Does Block show the good side of the NRA? Of course not. All we get from him is the evil side of the gun lobby; and I say if you can't present both sides of a question, then you shouldn't draw a political cartoon.

Another section of the book to which I took strong exception was Block's portrayal of the hydrogen bomb. He tries to scare us by indicating that atomic weapons are threatening us and that we might all be blown to bits. I don't think it's a political cartoonist's role to remind us of such things as the threat of nuclear war, and I honestly feel that if Block doesn't have something nice to say about the H-bomb, he shouldn't say anything at all.

In his book he also deals with international affairs. Here again Block exaggerates the world's leaders, giving President De Gaulle a much longer nose than he really has, making Mao Tse-tung look like a pig, draw-

Other Editors Say
The Unscheduled Flights

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

Hijacking of U.S. commercial airliners has almost become a way of life nowadays. Everybody wants to know why something isn't done to prevent this aerial piracy. But almost nobody offers any sound suggestions as to how this can be done.

The airliners, the federal government, aircraft crews and others all say they are trying to do something about it, but they also admit that there seems to be no real answer to this growing problem. To point up the situation, one cartoon shows some law-abiding passengers pointing a gun at the pilot and saying: "We demand that you take us where our tickets say, not to Cuba!"

The problem is frustrating because the criminals involved in most airplane hijackings go to Cuba where they are beyond the reach of U.S. law. Too, the nature of their crime is so dangerous as to discourage resistance. The airlines have told their crews that it is better and wiser to obey the hijacker's demands than to risk gunplay that might inflict death, injury or start a fire, cripple a plane or cause high-altitude decompression of the aircraft which could be fatal to everyone on board.

Efforts are continuing toward a solution. The Federal Aviation Administration has discussed the matter with a number of agencies, including the State Department and the FBI. Nothing has been resolved. Even Congress has been involved. The House Commerce subcommittee on aviation has been checking the hijack phenomenon ever since it wrote the 1961 law making aircraft piracy a crime punishable by death. But many members of that committee feel the 1961 law is about as complete a legislative remedy as Congress can write.

Some steps have been taken to try to make it easier for aliens who want to go to Cuba, even to the point of providing them with transportation. But Cuba would have to be included in such an arrangement and to date Cuba hasn't even responded to State Department overtures.

There have been over 30 hijackers who diverted commercial airliners to Cuba this year alone. The new crime of air piracy, felt forth in the 1961 hijacking law as the forcible seizure of an airplane, can be punished with death, or with imprisonment for 20 years to life. But thus far all the hijackers have remained in Cuba, safe from U.S. prosecution.

New electronic detection devices have been suggested as a means of revealing weapons on persons boarding an airliner. But this may not always be feasible or foolproof. Searching luggage can be time-consuming and highly unpopular. Right now it looks as if the airliners and the victims involved will have to continue putting up with these unscheduled flights to Cuba.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

LAST WORDS OF THE GREAT

Last words are always significant. The words of great men upon their death beds give us not only an insight into their lives but insight into the meaning of life in general.

Here are a few of the utterances which certain of the great are said to have mad as they confronted death Said Dwight L. Moody, "Earth is receding; heaven is approaching; God is calling me." Sir Walter Scott said, "I feel as if I were to be myself again." Charles Wesley, who wrote six thousands hymns, said with his last breath, "I shall be satisfied with Thy likeness — satisfied, satisfied." His brother, John, one of the most useful men of his century, of of any century for that matter, made this last statement: "The best of all is, God is with us." Father Damien, the leper priest of Molokai, said, "My work, with all its faults and failures, is in His hand," Goethe, the German poet, ordered his attendants to "open the shutters and let in more light." Phillips Brooks, prince of American preachers, declared in the last moment, "There is no other life but the eternal." Susanna Wesley, mother of one of the most famous families in history, gave this injunction to loved ones as her life slipped away: "When I am gone, sing to God a hymn of praise."

Everyone enters life the same way — with a wail upon his lips; but aftert he turmoil of living is past, men give up their earthly stewardship in a variety of moods.

'Consumerism' Tide To Roll On

By ELMER ROESSNER

The ascendency of Richard Milhous Nixon to the presidency will not slow down the drive for what is now called "consumerism" in Congress. In fact, it may even speed it along.

Business, of course, has been counting on the new administration to slow down big brotherism in Washington. Some of the extremes may be braked and some of the we-know-best bureaucrats may find their positions abolished, but generally there will be no pernaent slowing down of the campaign for more legislation to protect consumers.

In the first place, the Nixon administration will, like King Canute, be unable to turn back the tide.

Both the Senate and the House are in control of Democrats. And while a coalition of conservative Southern Democrats and Northern Republicans may be able to block some legislation, liberal Republicans and Democrats appear to have greater strength on consumer issues.

Consumers Vote

It is significant that, with one or two exceptions, those Representatives and Senators who have been fighting for consumer protection were returned to Congress in the November election.

Therefore, if Mr. Nixon should attempt to halt or slow down the progress of legislation intended to protect consumers, he will be blocked by Congress.

And, being the shrewd politician he proved himself to be last month, Mr. Nixon will probably assume the leadership in a fight for more consumer legislation.

Shortly after President Eisenhower assumed office, I spent some time in Washington talking to friends in the new administration. I mulled over what I had learned for several days, and then wrote a series of six columns declaring that instead of slowing down welfare, the big issue then, the Eisenhower administration would try to top the Truman administration.

Doubters Roared

There were screams from some of my editors. Such action was impossible and the whole idea preposterous, they added. I stood firm.

And you know what happened. The Eisenhower administration increased Social Security and other welfare programs, perhaps not as much as Adlai Stevenson's administration might have, but vigorously so.

And you may recall who President Eisenhower's Vice President was.

And, once the new Congress shows its temper, that man as President may deliver a special message to Congress outlining a program of consumer protection.

There will be strong sentiment in Congress for tighter regulation of credit cards, for more restrictions on cigarette advertising, for tighter controls on mail-order schemes, for regulation of trading stamps, for strengthening auto safety, for tightening regulations governing meat and other foods, the use of adulterants and for sanitation. Who knows? By 1970 you may get your cocktail in a glass that not only as no lipstick on it but that has been sterilized as well!

Some Steps Offered On Helping The Mail

With Christmas approaching and the volume of mail increasing daily, Greenville Postmaster Joe Dudley today outlined a few steps postal patrons should follow to insure prompt delivery of letters, cards and packages before Christmas.

Dudley said cooperation from postal patrons is essential if the local postal facilities are to handle the more than eight to 10 per cent increase in volume expected this year and to insure delivery in time for Yule season.

Of prime importance, Dudley said, is the Dec. 11 air mail deadline for packages going overseas to military personnel in Viet Nam and other points with APO addresses.

He explained that the deadlines outlined are not the last day items can be mailed but the last date they can be mailed with guaranteed delivery before Christmas.

The deadline for mailing packages to distant states is Dec. 5 while the deadline for mailing packages locally has been set for Dec. 14.

All packages, Dudley explained, should be well packed in a sturdy box, with heavy paper wrapping and tied securely to prevent possible damage in shipment.

Addresses on packages, as well as cards and letters, should contain the name of the person to whom the package is going, the street address and house number, and the town and zip code.

The deadline for mailing cards to distant states is Dec. 11, Dudley said, while for nearing states and locally the deadline is December 16.

The postal official suggested that all cards be sent first class, using a six-cent stamp and including a return address on the envelope. He said third class mail will also require a six-cent stamp and will not be returned if undeliverable. Undeliverable. first-class mail will be returned to the sender and wil lreceive quicker delivery.

Cards and letters should be separated into bundles for local and out-of-town delivery.

Packages and cards should be mailed early in the day in order to give postal workers ample time to sort and handle the items for out-going shipment.

Dudley added that a listing of ZIP codes for all points in the United States is available in the post office lobby.

Southern Bell Asks Relief

RALEIGH (AP) — Southern Bell Telephone Co. wants to increase by 50 cents its monthly services charges for one-party residential telephones in North Carolina.

The proposal was one of a series of "rate adjustments" requested by Southern Bell in a petition filed Monday with the state Utilities Commission.

The company also requested: A $2 increase in installation and change of residence fees, and rate reductions up to $3.50 a month for rural customers who pay mileage or zone charges on either business or residential phones.

Southern Bell wants the changes to go into effect Jan. 1.

John J. Ryan, vice president and general manager for Southern Bell in North Carolina, said in a statement the rate changes are necessary to implement a $74 million construction and service extension budget for 1969.

He said the company also plans to employ an additional 500 persons in North Carolina to carry out the proposed changes.

Edward B. Hipp, attorney for the Utilities Commission, said the commission had not decided whether to call a public hearing on the filing. If no action is taken by the commission within 30 days the company's rate changes will automatically go into effect Jan. 1.

Cotton, Peanut Referendums On Same Dates

Farmers with both peanut and cotton allotments have two ballots to mark and mail during the marketing quota referendums being held December 2 through December 6, according to Stacy Evans, office manager for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service in Pitt County.

During the week-long mail referendum, farmers will approve or reject marketing quotas for upland cotton and peanuts.

"I just want to remind growers who have both cotton and peanut allotments to be sure to mail—or return in person—all ballots to their county ASCS office in the proper envelopes," Evans said.

Ballots must be postmarked by midnight December 6.

individual members of NATO to solve their domestic difficulties just as they respect our efforts to solve our own internal problems. Addressing each point in Mr. Demetracopoulos's statement would not serve that purpose."

These words were no slip of the tongue. High government officials have asured us that the Schwartz doctrine of noninterference with military dictatorships represents official policy, exemplified by the quick embrace of the new military juntas in Peru and Panama and resumption of arms aid to Athens shortly after litary dictatorships such as

In fact, working-level officials in the State Department and U.S. embassies long have maintained fondness for military dictatroships such as the Athens regime—a telltake sign of which recently appeared in an article by ex-diplomat David G. Nes.

Writing in the Baltimore Sun of Nov. 10, Nes disclosed that the Johnson administration has been "quietly assisting" the Greek military ogevrnment even though it "has publicly remained somewhat aloof." What makes this revelation important is that Nes, an admirer of the Athens colonels, was reading the diplomatic cable at the time of the 1967 Greenk military coup.

Those few high-level officials in the government disturbed by the course of events in Greece privately admit there is little chance of Greece returning to democracy under the junta. With antijunta feelings in Greece manifested recently by the mass outpouring into the streets for the funeral of ex-Premier George Papandreous, Washington is in effect relying on the ability of the colonels—remarkably efficient so far — to muffle public dissent.

Williamston Santa Parade On Dec. 10

WILLIAMSTON—"Our Christmas Parade will be a big, colorful one with a total of about 450 units taking part," says Jim Roberson, Manager of Williamston's Chamber of Commerce.

The Christmas Parade, scheduled for 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, December 10, will be headed by Miss North Carolina, Miss Anita Johnson, and continue on through a variety of floats and performs to be climaxed by the appearance of Santa Claus.

"We are going to have an old-fashioned Santa, not one of the new Hippie varieites. Ours will have a long white beard and a red suit," Roberson noted.

Five high school bands, two from Williamston, two from Robersonville, and one from Ahoskie, will furnish music. Seniors from the Williamston schools, and visiting students from Robersonville schools will wear elaborate papier-mache heads designed by Cain's Clowns.

Ten professional floats will be featured in the parade, with several locally prepared floats sponsored by a number of churches in the Ministerial Association and by local business firms, civic and social clubs.

One of the highlights will be the appearance of the full teams, in uniform, of the football teams of both high schools. The E. J. Hayes High School team is the State Champion Team in the 3A Class, and the Williamston High School Team is co-champion in the 2A Class.

Miss Mary Anna Rogerson, the new Miss Martin county, will appear with Miss North Carolina. Accompanying them will be the reigning princess from the ten schools in Martin County.

"We expect a large turn-out for this parade," Roberson stated, "as it is one of the largest we have ever planned."

Award Given Scout For Conservation

Fred W. Derrick, an Eagle Scout of Greenville, has been awarded the Hornaday Award for distinguished service to conservation activities.

Derrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Derrick, received the award, which is given by the New York Zoological Society, in a ceremony Sunday at the Immanuel Baptist Church in Greenville.

This is the first time in 15 years the Hornaday Award has been received by a citizen of Pitt County. Basis for the distinguished award was Derrick's participation in conservation work of the Student Conservation Program in cooperation with the National Park Service, and his research project "Height Growth Analysis Between the Red Pine and the White Spruce." Study for the research project was made at Merck Forest, Vermont.

Derrick is attending North Carolina State University, majoring in applied mathematics. He is a member of the honors program in mathematics.

At Rose High School, where he graduated in the spring of 1968, Derrick was a member of the National Honor Society and the Monogram Club. He was captain of the tennis team and manager of the track team. He won letters in tennis, swimming and track.

Derrick is a member of Troop 9, sponsored by Immanuel Baptist Church. He served as assistant scout master and has been active in all phases of Scout work.

Derrick has participated regularly in youth work of the Immanuel Baptist Church and is active in W.C.Y.M.

Board Updates Zoning Laws

WILLIAMSTON — The Williamston Town Board adopted the zoning ordinances presented by the Town Planning Board at its meeting Monday night.

"This is really an updating of the old zoning laws, and makes it possible for home owners and business men to protect their property," stated J. B. Godwin, town clerk for Willilamston.

The establishment of an Urban Renewal Committee progressed a step further with the appointment of two members from the Williamston Woman's Club, Mrs. John Boykin and Mrs. Frankie Brown, as committee members. The Town Board will consider the appointment of three additional Urban Renewal Committee members at their next regular meeting.

Danning Manning was appointed town attorney, replacing Charles Manning, who earlier resigned due to pressure of other business.

The Williamston Chamber of Commerce, in a letter to the town board, complimented the members for their work in improving back lots between Smithwick and Horton Streets, where parking areas have been established.

Attentive Group For Phone Call

LOUISVILLE (AP) — The beauty shop was full when one of the employes, Mrs. Robert Hazlett, received a short wave radio call from her husband in Vietnam.

The call was being relayed by a ham operator and in order not to interfere with the reception, the shop manager pulled the switch on all equipment in the shop.

ing Greek generals to look like Greek generals and making Nasser look like a bewildered loser. What good does this do, except to cause ill feeling in other parts of the world? I think Block would be better serving the cause of peace if he drew the world's leaders a little more flatteringly and didn't always indicate what fools they were.

I can't object too strongly to this book's cartoons of our presidential and vice presidential candidates. Block has no respect for Hubert Humphrey or Richard Nixon or George Wallace or Spiro Agnew or Gen. LeMay, and while their caricatures may be funny to some people, they certainly can only cause distress and unhappiness to the candidates themselves.

I could go on pointing out what's wrong with other parts of Block's book, including his cartoons in favor of civil rights and against air and water pollution and unsafe automobiles. But what's the use? You have the picture.

Block is a troublemaker. He keeps reminding us of our shortcomings. He has no respect for power or the almighty dollar. He doesn't appreciate what the government is doing to the people, or what the people are doing to the government.

In the Soviet Union they'd know what to do with a counterrevolutionary like this But in the United States, because of permissive attitudes that pander to criticism and carping, Block is treated as a hero and his attacks on the "system" are published between hard covers.

What's even worse is that the book will probably sell like mad.

Give someone a nice habit for Christmas.

Kids don't think much about saving money. You have to give them a nudge. And a nice way to give them a nudge is to give them a start.

It doesn't take much. Just a small amount in a savings account can mean a lot to them.

Maybe they'll add to it on their birthday.

And when Uncle Ed gives them a little something, just for being nice.

And when they're rewarded for a good report card.

And so on, until, first thing you know, they've got the habit of saving money.

And a habit like that, at an early age, is about as nice a Christmas gift as we can think of.

Nixon Bent On Insuring Military Superiority

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Indications currently point to a slower-paced military buildup after Richard M. Nixon takes office than was suggested by campaign statements hammering at a "gravely serious security gap."

Nixon associates say the new president plans a deep and detailed study of defense commitments and the nation's strength before deciding how far and how fast to go in spending additional billions of dollars on weaponry.

"He wants to review all of our commitments and translate that into what new hardware is needed," one source said, implying there are some private U.S. commitments which must be taken into account.

The Nixon team is reasonably convinced already that time consuming research and development will require early stimulus.

Nixon charged in the campaign the Johnson administration had permitted a technological "research gap," between the United States and Russia.

"We must not run the risk that a technological breakthrough might overnight alter the balance of power which now maintains the peace," Nixon has said.

Research and development is a slow process, involving much experimentation and trial and error, before new weapons can take shape.

The Defense Department's fiscal 1969 budget carried $8 billion for all kinds of military research and development. The Pentagon claims to have spent some $47 billion on this since 196.

Nixon aides contend there has been a "fair amount of waste" because of what they term "foot-dragging" in some important project areas.

"We think they should be moving faster," a Nixon staff member said but he declined to discuss specific projects.

The president-elect has avoided being nailed down in any specific commitment to buy certain types of weapons.

About the closest he has come in this regard has been to deplore what he called a "freeze on nuclear submarines" and to claim this has led to a "submarine gap" in relation to the Soviet Union.

While he has not hemmed himself in with numbers, Nixon has criticized the Defense Department's action limiting nuclear-powered attack submarines to 69 "despite the Navy request for 109."

He also has come out flatly in support of the controversial F111 fighter plane, or at least the Air Force version of it. The F111, once known as the TFX, has been plagued by a series of crashes and mechanical flaws.

In a statement at Ft. Worth, Tex., where the F111 is manufactured, Nixon pledged that "the F111 will be in a Nixon administration made into one of the foundations of our national security."

Nixon has made a major point of urging a change from the draft to an all-volunteer armed force, but not until "our involvement in the Vietnam war is behind us."

He estimates the cost of higher pay and allowances to attract enough volunteers at $5 billion to $7 billion a year. Democratic officials challenged this during the campaign, mentioning a possible cost of more than $16 billion.

Many senior military men welcome the Nixon presidency because they expect to get more of their weapons requests approved. But they really don't know how much more they can expect.

While Nixon has talked about achieving "clear-cut military superiority," he has stressed he was speaking about "the over-all position of strength of the United States."

Nobody is quite sure what this means, though Nixon has mentioned a rejuvenated merchant marine—only indirectly a military program.

Although he has laid considerable emphasis on relative nuclear weapons power, he has refrained from committing himself to build advanced missile systems, or even to increase the present limit of 1,000 land-based Minutemen set by former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara four years ago.

Some Pentagon professionals think Nixon is inclined to give the Air Force its long sought go-ahead to build a completely new advanced manned bomber. But Nixon aides say he has made no such specific commitment.

By criticizing the McNamara approach to an antimissile defense, Nixon has implied that he might be willing to expand the present limited plan, aimed at protecting the United States from a relatively unsophisticated Red Chinese attack, to a bigger and more complex shield against aheavy Russian attack.

But here, too, there is nothing more than an implication.

At the end of the campaign, some Nixon associates said his defense plans contemplated raising the military budget to about $87 billion by 1973.

This would be some $15 billion about $87 billion by 1973.

This would be some $15 billion more than Congress allotted this year.

The 1973 projection envisions spending some $10 billion to $15 billion on Southeast Asia, even though the Vietnam war hopefully will be over by then.

About $25 billion of this year's defense budget is earmarked for the Vietnam war.

The staggering cost of military hardware—and the prospect that inflation will send these costs upward—must be an inhibiting factor in Nixon administration thinking about any major new buildup.

Pentagon analysts have estimated that a new advanced land-based missile system would cost about $10 billion. Roughly the same figure is projected for an advanced bomber called the AMSA.

If the Nixon administration should decide to go for a Russian-oriented antimissile defense, Pentagon analysts have spoken of a price ranging up to $40 billion compared with the $5.5 billion for the Chinese-oriented system.

Atomic attack submarines cost about $78 million apiece, nuclear-powered naval escorts about $125 million each.

Shareholders' Meeting Slated

A special shareholders' meeting will be held in the main office of First National Bank of Eastern North Carolina in Jacksonville Wednesday at 3 p.m.

The purpose of the meeting is to consider a plan of reorganization under a one-bank holding company, according to W. Carroll Bryan, chairman of the board of directors.

Armed Robbery By Two Women

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Two women, both armed and both about 35, held up a liquor store Monday, took $167 and fled in a pink sedan.

"This is the first time in 27 years as a policeman that I can remember an armed robbery in Memphis in which the robbers were women, said Inspector Ed Huddleston.

The bidding:

Opening lead: Ace of ♣

The sabotage wreaked by East against South's four heart contract was boldly conceived and brilliantly executed. East deserves a full measure of commendation for the courage he displayed in backing up his own judgment.

East chose to preempt his opponent's bidding space by jumping to three spades after North had opened with one club. South was not to be denied an opportunity to speak, however, and he bid four hearts which became the final contract.

West was unable to open his partner's suit, so he led the ace of clubs to inspect the terrain. East was void of clubs and, before playing to the trick, he paused for a moment to study the situation. One question reiterated itself to him. "Why hadn't partner opened a spade?" East could not figure any holding that West might have where the latter would have preferred to lead the ace of the adversely bid suit in preference to the suit in which East had announced strength.

East finally came to the inescapable conclusion that his partner must be void in spades, and with that decision his course became clear. He ruffed his partner's ace and returned the four of spades. West trumped, and even tho he knew that South was now out of clubs, too, he led back a club. [If East by some chance had the ace of diamonds, he would surely have led back a high spade as a suit preference asking for the lower ranking side suit.]

East did not take any chance on the second club, he trumped with the king of hearts which he was certain would hold the trick. South helplessly discarded and now another spade back enabled West to score with the five of hearts to defeat the contract.

Pirate Freshmen Fall To Blue Imps

DURHAM — Duke University pulled away from East Carolina University's freshmen last night to hand the Baby Bucs an 89-69 defeat. It was the opening game for the Pirate freshmen.

East Carolina took the lead early in the game, but Duke came back to move into the lead, but never by much. The two teams stayed fairly close during the first half of action, with Duke coming away with a 37-30 lead at the intermission.

In the second half, East Carolina fought back, pulling to within three points before Duke put on their final surge that carried them to the victory. A lot of the Duke margin came with some East Carolina help as the Bucs found the basket hard to hit. They managed only 25 of 71 shot for a poor 35 per cent.

Ronnie LePors led the Baby Bucs with 17 points, while Jim Fairley and Randy Longworth each hit for 14.

Stuart Yarborough paced the Blue Imps with 29 points, while Don Blackman contributed 18 and Robbie West had 15. Blackman was the game's leading rebounder with 12, while Yarborough had 10.

Fairley had 10 rebounds for the Bucs, whiie LePors had nine. Overall Duke outrebounded the Bucs, 44-43.

The Baby Bucs will meet Chowan Saturday in their home opener.

Frank Jones Honored As Southern Coach Of Year

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Frank Jones, a genial Georgian who in three seasons brought Richmond's Spiders from the Southern Conference football cellar to their first league championship in history, today was named conference coach of the year a second straight time.

Jones received 47 of the 60 votes cast in balloting conducted by the Southern Conference Sportswriters Association. All the remaining 13 went to Jim "Red" Parker of The Citadel, whose Bulldogs overcame a multitude of injuries to finish second in the 1968 SC title race.

Richmond defeated every other football team in the Southern this fall while posting a 6-0 conference record and a 7-3 over-all mark — its first seven-victory season since 1939. By taking the SC championship, the Spiders also earned a berth in the Dec. 27 Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla., their first - ever postseason appearance.

Jones, a native of Macon, Ga., was an assistant coach at Mississippi State when he was chosen to succeed Ed Merrick as head coach at Richmond in February 1966.

He inherited a demoralized team that had lost 14 games in a row, including 10 straight in the fall of 1965. And his appointment came so late he had scarcely any chance to recruit his first year at the helm.

In 1966 his Spiders lost their first five games, running the nation's longest major college losing streak to 19 games, before finally breaking the string. The Spiders ended 2-8.

But in 1967, Richmond began to make its presence felt inside the conference, finishing 5-5 over-all but with a 5-2 showing in the Southern, good for third place.

This season, Jones' first full crop of recruits reached the varsity and, after dropping their first two games at Toledo an West Virginia, the Spiders won seven of their last eight.

After Sept. 21, Richmond's only defeat was to Liberty Bowl-bound Virginia Tech. The Spiders whipped Davidson, The Citadel, Furman, East Carolina, VMI, Southern Mississippi and William and Mary, most by lop-sided margins.

At season's end, no fewer than eight of Jones' players won spots on the All-Southern Conference team.

Jones is a University of North Carolina graduate. Before going to Mississippi State as an offensive backfield coach in 1962, he was head football coach at Presbyterian College in South Carolina from 1957-61, winning the South Carolina coach of the year designation three times.

Parker's team at The Citadel was harassed by injuries all season long, losing several star players for lengthy periods, but challenged Richmond for the SC championship until the final week. The Bulldogs wound up 4-2 in conference play and 5 - 5 over-all.

New Era Means Same Old Thing

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Coach Bucky Waters says 1968-69 marks "a new era" in West Virginia basketball, but for Southern Conference teams who have had an early peep at the Mountaineers, it seems suspiciously like the old one.

Until its withdrawal from the Southern last spring, WVU annually terrorized SC opponents—except, in recent years, potent Davidson. Now, even in a "new era," the Mountaineers find old habits hard to break.

Saturday night, the SC's East Carolina visited West Virginia and was beaten 82-75, though only in the final seconds. Monday night, the SC's William and Mary paid a visit and was trounced soundly, 88-74.

So what else is "new"? Nothing, except that this go - around the defeats won't cost any of the Southern Conference losers their chances for a high place in the league standings.

Waters has a number of new faces on his WVU team, but it has been an old, familiar one that has done the most damage thus far—Bob Hummell. His 25 points and late free - throw accuracy did in East Carolina. And Monday night his 26-point barrage was the key to W&M's downfall.

The game was the season opener for WM, which even in defeat did somewhat better than anticipated. Sophomore Paul King had 19 points and letterman Scott McLennan added 18.

The Indians are not considered likely to challenge in the conference because they lost their three top scorers from last season—Bob Sherwood by illness and Jim Rama and Ron Panneton via graduation.

The Citadel notched its first victory in Monday night's only other game for conference teams by coming from behind to clip VMI 88-70 as Jerry Hirsch bucketed 23 points and Tee Hooper 22. VMI, now a two-time loser, got 17 points from Mike Manis, 16 from Denny Clark and John Mitchell.

Three games are on tap tonight. Davidson, 1-0, entertains Furman in the opener for coach Frank Selvy's Paladins, and Richmond, 0-1, has an SC date with reinvigorated George Washington, 1-0, at Fort Myer, Va.

William and Mary continues its road trip with a nonconference game at Pitt.

Ohio State First; USC Slim Choice For Second

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

That Dream Match—the No. 1 team against the No. 2 outfit in the Rose Bowl—remained a reality today . . . but just barely.

Ohio State solidified its hold on the top spot in The Associated Press' major college football poll, but the Buckeyes' New Year's Day foe, Southern California, had only a precarious hold on second place after last weekend's 21-21 draw with Notre Dame.

The Buckeyes, who wound up their regular season on a 9-0 note Nov. 23, drew 34 of the 39 first place votes in amassing 770 points.

Southern Cal, the No. 1 team for six straight weeks before being displaced by Ohio State a week ago, had 631 points—only 13 more than No. 3 Penn State, 9-0 and Orange Bowl bound.

A week ago, Ohio State held only a 10-point margin over Southern Cal.

Because the race is so tight, the final AP poll of the season won't be released until after the Jan. 1 bowl games.

Georgia, 8-0-2, which polished off arch-rival Georgia Tech 47-8 last weekend, remained fourth, but Texas, 8-1-1, advanced a notch to fifth after routing Texas A&M 35-14 Thanksgiving Day.

Idle Kansas, 9-1, slipped to sixth, while Notre Dame's tie with UCS boosted the Irish, 7-2-1, up two spots to seventh.

Tennessee, 8-1-1, a 10-7 conqueror of stubborn Vanderbilt, was eighth, down one spot; idle Arkansas, 9-1, dropped one place to ninth, and Oklahoma jumped from 11th to 10th on the strength of a 41-7 blasting of Oklahoma State.

Idle Purdue, 8-2, moved from 12th to 11th; Alabama, 8-2, advanced from 15th to 12th following a 24-16 victory over Auburn; idle Michigan, 8-2, remained 13th; idle Oregon State, 7-3, held on to 14th, and surprising Ohio U., 10-0, leaped from 17th to 15th although it did not play.

Rounding out the top 20 were No. 16 Missouri, 7-3; No. 17 Arizona State, 8-2; Houston, down all the way to 18th from 10th after a 40-20 loss to Florida State that lifted the Seminoles from among hte also rans into the No. 19 slot, and No. 20 Southern Methodist, a newcomer which finished with a 7-3 record Nov. 26.

Auburn, 18th last week, dropped from the rankings after the loss to Alabama. Also vanishing was Arizona (19th) after sufferinga 30-7 drubbing by Arizona State.

UCLA, Heels Top First Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

UCLA was the unanimous No. 1 pick in The Associated Press preseason major college basketball poll. The Bruins still are.

UCLA was named first on all 24 ballots cast Monday by a panel of sports writers and broadcasters after opening its season last Saturday by beating Purdue 94-82.

UCLA has 480 points to 344 for second-place North Carolina, which opened its season Monday night by downing Oregon 89-78.

Third with 317 points is Kentucky, which thrashed Xavier, Ohio, 115-77 Saturday and topped Miami, Ohio, 86-77 Monday.

Kansas, 88-65 winner over St. Louis Saturday, moved to fourth and Notre Dame, yet to play, dropped to fifth.

Houston moved into a sixth-lace tie with Davidson, New Mexico moved up to eighth from ninth Cincinnati jumped from 14th to ninth and Villanova advanced from 11th to 10th.

All five teams had easy times in their openers.

Blackburn Gets Coach Honors

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — Virginia Coach George Blackburn, whose football team compiled a 7-3 over-all record this season, has been named Atlantic Coast Conference Coach of the Year.

Blackburn received 39 votes to 33 for Duke Coach Tom Harp in balloting by the Atlantic Coast Sports Writers Association. Earle Edwards of N. C. State, whose team won the ACC championship, was third with 13.

Harp's Duke team had been picked to finish in last place but the Blue Devils compiled a 4-6 record.

Blackburn, 55, was a four-year record of 21 wins and 19 losses. He is the first Virginia coach since 1952 to have a winning season.

The Cavaliers scored a record 328 points and gained 4,394 yards, also a conference record. Their 2,800 yards by rushing also is a conference record.

Blackburn, a native of Columbus, Ohio, formerly was head coach at Miami of Ohio and Cincinnati.

After retiring briefly to enter private business, Blackburn re-entered football coaching as an assistant to Bill Elias at Virginia in 196. The next year he became head coach when Elias went to the Naval Academy.

Scott Leads Carolina Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Charlie Scott, hitting at opportune moments on his way to a 34-point performance, paced second - ranked North Carolina to an 89-78 opening basketball victory over Oregon Monday night.

The Ducks meet the Tar Heels again tonight in the only game for Atlantic Coast Conference teams.

Scott, a member of the U. S. basketball team which won in the Olympics, hit four quick goals to give North Carolina a 50-39 lead at halftime of Monday night's game at Greensboro Coliseum.

In the second half, when Oregon threatened by moving to only a 62-60 deficit, Scott again came back, not only with scoring but with steals and passes to Dick Grubar at the front of the fast break.

North Carolina bottled up Billy Gaskins, who had 23 points in the first half for Oregon, but only four in the second half.

Duke Coach Vic Bubas gained his 200th victory and cleared the bench with five minutes left to play as the Blue Devils, ranked No. 16, outclassed Alabama, 86-48, Monday night in Durham.

Sophomore playmaker Dick DeVenzio, only 5-feet-9, had nine assists, and another Duke soph, Randy Denton, headed Duke's scoring with 17 points. Senior Steve Vandenberg had 15 for the Blue Devils.

North Carolina State fought off a scrappy Atlantic Christian College team to win 82-75, the 25th year in a row that the Wolfpack has opened its basketball season with a victory.

Van Williford had 9 points and 18 rebounds for N. C. State. Ed Carraway had 18 for ACC.

Tonight's North Carolina-Oregon game will be played in Chapel Hill.

Owner Finishes Defense Testimony

By GEORGE W. HACKETT

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Kentucky Racing Commission, given a lieral dose of chemistry for nine days, now switches its attention to the three men who handled Dancer's Image during the week of the Kentucky Derby.

All were summoned as witnesses for the state today to explain what happened to the colt just before he was deprived of his 1968 Derby winnings.

Lou Cavalaris and Robert Barnard, who trained Dancer's Image, face questioning as to his physical condition prior to the May 4 event. The other witness will be Dr. Alex Harthill, the veterinarian.

The state is attempting to prove that Dancer's Image bothered by sore ankles prior to the Derby, made a "miraculous recovery" and went on to win.

His victory was set aside by Churchill Downs stewards after receiving a report there was an illegal medication, phenylbutazone, in the horse's urine.

That decision was appealed by owner Peter Fuller, who brought numerous chemists here to attack the validity of the tests runs by state chemist Kenneth W. Smith.

Fuller's last witness was John McDonald, director of the Illinois Racing Board Police Laboratory.

McDonald testified that he never would have made a positive report to the Churchill Downs stewards on the basis of the five tests made by Smith.

He singled out Smith's color tests for Phenylbutazone as incomplete and looking at the results of one of them, he remarked, "I've never seen a Vitali's test like this in my life."

McDonald said he had run 2,000 such tests but that Smith's did not confirm the presence of the drug.

Under cross-examination, McDonald admitted that his experience with horse urine was less than one year but pointed out he had many years experience in the detection of other drugs.

Maravich Out To Defend Scoring Title As He Drops In 52 Points

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The college basketball season is only two days old, but already the names have a familiar ring —North Carolina, Kentucky, Houston, Pete Maravich, Charlie Scott, Mike Casey, George Thompson, Ken Spain.

North Carolina, which went to the NCAA finals against UCLA last year, did little to damage its No. 2 ranking with a 89-78 victory over visiting Oregon with Scott playing the leading role.

Close behind at No. 3, Kentucky relied on Casey in the final 75 seconds for a 86-77 triumph over host Miami of Ohio. And Houston, tied for the sixth spot despite the absence of Elvin Hayes, made it two straight with a 80-60 rout over Pepperdine with Spain leading the way.

Maravich, the nation's leading scorer with a 48 point a game average last season, gave notice that he is out to defend that title by dropping in 52 points as Louisiana State romped past New Orleans Loyola 109-8.

Thompson, a main reason for Marquette's tie for 20th ranking, notched 18 points in a 68-45 breeze past St. John's of Minnesota.

The other top 20 teams in action also emerged unscathed as Cincinnati, No. 9, beat Kansas State 86-70; Vanderbilt, No. 12, slipped by Southern Methodist 97-94; Duke, No. 16, blasted Alabama 86-48; Western Kentucky, No. 17, crushed Southeast Louisiana 101-6, and California, No. 19, tripped San Francisco 82-71.

Scott, fresh from the Olympics, finished with 34 points, including the important ones that blunted several Oregon rushes at the Tar Heels. His four quick baskets put North Carolina ahead 50-39 at halftime, and when the Ducks pulled within 6-60, he took up the scoring again and also set up baskets with steals.

Oregon had one last shot at 75-72, but the Tar Hells' four corner offense took them out of danger.

Casey, who totaled 20 points, two less than teammate Dan Issel, dropped in two baskets in the last 1:15 after Miami pulled within 78-76. The Wildcats added four free throws to put the game out of reach.

Houston had five players in double figures, led by Spain's 3, as the Cougars built a 41-27 halftime lead at home and coasted. Maravich, the 6-foot-5 son of LSU Coach Press Maravich, clicked on 22 of 31 field goal tries and hit 9 of 10 free throws, along with 11 assists and seven rebounds. By halftime, LSU led 62-34.

Marquette, leading 37-30 at intermission despite hitting only 20 per cent from the field, pulled away in the final half behind Thompson's scoring and rebounding.

Cincinnati won its second in a row on the scoring of Don Ogletree, 28 points, and Rick Robertson's 19 points and 14 rebounds.

Vanderbilt, however, had its troubles, trailing through most of the first half in a game that had 14 lead changes. Rudy Thacker jump shot for a 93-92 lead and then his three-point play with nine seconds left finally clinched the victory.

Tom Hagan of Vanderbilt and Bill Voight of SMU each had 24 points.

Duke breezed to its second triumph and Coach Vic Bubas' 200th with sophomore Randy Denton scoring 17 points and hauling in 14 rebounds.

Landing And Looking

Louisiana State University's Pete Maravich, who led the nation in scoring last year as a sophomore with an average of 43.8 points per game, displayed a look of awe as he landed on the shoulders of Loyola's Bill Waiters (32) and Stephey Johnson (24) in New Orleans last night. Maravich missed this shot but a foul was called and Pete finished up with a hefty 52 points.

Oakland Handed Their Third Loss

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Phoenix Suns, who are used to it, and the Oakland Oaks, who are not, both came out losers Monday night, but in different leagues.

The Dallas Chaparrals nipped Oakland 112-111, handing the Oaks only their third setback in 19 American Basketball Association starts.

Meanwhile, the expansion Suns of the National Basketball Association dropped their 11th in a row, losing to Seattle 118-108, and fell deeper into the NBA's Western Division cellar.

In the night's only other pro basketball action, Miami downed Indiana 109-104 in the ABA.

The Oakland-Dallas game was decided on Cincy Powell's 15-foot jump shot with 15 seconds left. Oakland's Rich Barry led all scorers with 32 and also engaged in a shoving and wrestling match with Spider Bennet of Dallas. Neitha was ejected Ron Boone paced the Chaps with 29 points.

Lennie Wilkens and Bob Rule combined for 64 points to pace Seattle over Phoenix. The SuperSonics trailed through the final period to win going away. Wilkens had 33 points and Rule 31, 2 in the second half.

Miami forged ahead of Indiana early and stayed there behind Skip Thoren's 27 points and 22 rebounds against his former teammates. Les Hunter added 25 for the Floridians.

Top Teams Lead Little All-Stars

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

NEW YORK (AP) — North Dakota State and San Diego State, the top-rated small college teams in the country, have placed two players apiece on The Associated Press' 1968 Little All-America football squad.

Both schools had one man in the offensive backfield and another on the defensive line. They were halfback Paul Hatchett and defensive tackle Jim Ferge from top-ranked North Dakota State and fullback Lloyd Edwards and defensive end Fred Dryer from No. 2 San Diego State. The Aztecs had been No. 1 most of the season.

Named to the select small college eleven for the third straight time were Carl Garrett, New Mexico Highlands halfback, and Dwayne Nix, a split end from Texas A&I.

Rounding out the offensive unit were end Bruce Cerone of Emporia, Kan., State, tackles Denny Nelson of Illinois State and Jim Urczyk of Central Missouri State, guards Dan Klepper of Omaha and Larry Small of Northern Arizona, center Dick Dobbert of Springfield and quarterback Sonny Wade of Emory & Henry.

The other members of the defensive platoon included end Tally Windham of McMurry, tackle Bill Bailey of Lewis & Clark, middle guard Ron Brown of Tampa, linebackers Bill Bergey of Arkansas State, Tim Buchanan of Hawaii and Tom McCall of Fresno State and backs Dan Eckstein of Presbyterian, Jim Marsalis of Tennessee A&I State and Jack O'Brien of Colorado State College.

Quarterback Wade, a 6-foot-3 senior, led Emory & Henry to a 9-1 record by completing 175 of 350 passes for 2,695 yards and 28 touchdowns. He also ran for 259 yards and nine TDs and did the placement kicking.

Halfbacks Hatchett and Garrett rambled for 1,213 and 1,373 yards, respectively, as their teams went through 9-0 regular seasons. The tremendously strong, 245-pound Edwards, also a fine blocker, was San Diego State's top ground-gainer.

Cerone, a junior split end who is eligible for the pro draft this year, shattered three NAIA receving marks—91 catches for 1,479 yards and a per game average of 164.3 yards—and equaled the standard of 15 touchdown catches.

Nix, the other end, was the object of multiple coverage, leaving other receivers open, but still grabbed 33 tosses for 498 yards and helped Texas A&I into the NAIA national championship game Dec. 14.

Illinois State's Nelson, a proven defensive star, switched to fulltime offense and helped his team set a school rushing record. He also played defense when needed. Urczyk, the other tackle, received the highest rating in the Missouri-Kansas area.

DUNKEL COLLEGE FOOTBALL INDEX

EXPLANATION - The Dunkel system provides a continuous index to the relative strength of all teams. It reflects average scoring margin combined with average opposition rating, weighted in favor of recent performance. Example: a 50.0 team has been 10 scoring points stronger, per game, than a 40.0 team against opposition of identical strength. Originated in 1929 by Dick Dunkel.

Moore Sees Fight Ahead Over Name-Change

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Dan Moore envisions a fight in the 1969 General Assembly over name changes for the proposed new campuses of the Consolidated University of North Carolina at Wilmington College and Asheville-Biltmore College.

Trustees of the university voted overwhelmingly Monday to convert the two colleges into branches of the university.

At least 65 of the 72 trustees present approved a report recommending creation of "the University of North Carolina at Asheville" and "the University of North Carolina at Wilmington."

Gov. Moore said the names "Wilmington College of the University of North Carolina' and "Asheville College of the University of North Carolina" will be "more acceptable to the General Assembly."

"But that is merely an expression of my opinion," he added.

Moore, who presided over the trustees meeting, supported a committee report which recommended making the two schools units of the university.

The issue now goes before the state Board of Higher Education and the General Assembly.

Watts Hill Sr. of Durham led an opposition move which had the support of five to seven trustees. Hill offered a substitute motion to admit the two institutions to the university system but with the designation of "college" and without authority to award doctoral degrees.

"Can the state of North Carolina afford to build and maintain six quality units?" Hill asked.

The consolidated university now has four units—at Chapel Hill, at Greensboro, at Charlotte and North Carolina State University at Raleigh.

A trustee committee, headed by Aaron Prevost of Waynesville, concluded that both Wilmington and Asheville-Biltmore "would be a satisfactory nucleus around which to organize an undergraduate camps of the university."

Actor Robert Taylor Said To Have Cancer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Robert Taylor, known for his strikingly good looks and forceful, low-key performance, is suffering from cancer in his right lung, his wife said today.

"He has known of it for some time," added his wife of 14 years, actress Ursula Theiss.

Surgeons discovered the cancer after removing most of Taylor's right lung Oct. 8 because of a fungus infection known as valley fever.

Taylor returned to St. Paul's Hospital Nov. 18 for treatment of an infection that complicated recovery from surgery. Doctors announced only that they had been successful in draining an abscess that formed in the area of surgery.

"It is not a benign cancer, but he is doing well," said Miss Theiss, a German-born beauty who wed Taylor in 1954, three years after his divorce from actress Barbara Stanwyck.

Taylor has not been rehospitalized and remained at his 113-acre ranch home near Hollywood in Mandeville Canyon where he raises quarter horses and black chickens called australorps.

He was not available for comment, his wife said.

Taylor, whose real name is Spangler Arlington Brugh, was born in Filley, Neb. He is 57.

After a year in stock productions, he signed with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer in 1934 at $35 a week. His screen debut was a small part in "Handy Andy," starring the late Will Rogers.

He played leading man to Greta Garbo, Jean Harlow, Ava Gardner, Elizabeth Taylor, Myrna Loy, Irene Dunne, Joan Crawford, Hedy Lamarr, Lana Turner and Katherine Hepburn.

Taylor's pictures included "Broadway Melody," "Quo Vadis," Magnificent Obsession," "A Yank at Oxford," "Tip on a Dead Jockey," and "A House is Not A Home." From 1959-62 he starred in the weekly television series, "The Detective."

Accidental Film Showing Costly

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Showing a racy stag film movie on television cost Robert Allen Veatch, 25, a $500 fine Monday. He was fired as a studio control technician by the TV station.

Veatch, in entering a plea of guilty to violating Federal Communications Commission regulations against transmitting obscene material, said the showing was accidental. The film appeared on KPLM, in the Palm Springs area, last October after the station signed off for the night.

Veatch, of San Bernardino, Calif., told U.S. Dist. Judge Francis C. Whelan he thought all transmission was cut off and the film was only on a studio set for private viewing.

Apollo 8 Crew Immunized Against Hong Kong Flu

By PAUL RECER
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 8 astronauts are receiving inoculations in an effort to keep Hong Kong Flu from becoming a stow-away on the Christmas flight to the moon.

Officials at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the prime, back-up and support crews for both Apollo 8 and 9 received inoculations against the Asian 2, or Hong Kong virus.

A NASA doctor said the Apollo 8 astronauts have also been placed in a program of "limited exposure," but that it's impossible to place them in total isolation before the flight.

Essential ground personnel, such as flight controllers, are also being inoculated against the virus.

The doctor said the supply of flu vaccine available to NASA was "extremely limited." Another NASA official said selection of those to receive the flu shots is based on the effect their absence would have on the mission.

Apollo 8, with Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders aboard, is due to be launched Dec. 21 for a flight around the moon. The crew is scheduled to circle the moon for 20 hours on Christmas Eve and start for home early Christmas Day.

Apollo 9, planned as an earth orbit mission, is scheduled for the first quarter of 1969, possibly in February.

Head colds which were contracted before launch and developed in space were a problem among the crew of Apollo 7, the highly successful 10-day flight in October. All three of the Apollo 7 astronauts developed colds and clogged ear tubes.

Doctors at the time feared they would experience pain during the sudden atmospheric pressure change on their return to earth. Dr. Charles Berry, director of medical research and operations, said he was investigating ways to isolate the crews of future flights to insure their not carrying colds into space with them.

Isolation, however, is impossible because of the crew's need to train at several NASA installations just before the flights. A program of limited exposure was initiated, a doctor said. The program also included what he called "an educational campaign" to keep away from the crew people who are suffering from upper respiratory ailments, or colds.

Dr. Berry said last week medical supplies aboard Apollo 8 have been increased substantially to aid the astronauts in treating themselves should they develop colds in space.

Decongestant pills, which were so limited on Apollo 7 the crew had to hoard them for reentry, have been doubled on Apollo 8.

The Apollo 8 medical kit, for the first time in any American space-flight, will also include sleeping pills. Dr. Berry said last week he may order crews in space to take sleeping pills before each rest period.

Five Convicted Of Plotting To Cheat Gamblers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Five men were convicted Monday, after a six-month trial, of a conspiracy to cheat card-playing celebrities in the plush Friars Club. The losses were estimated at $400,000 or more.

A federal court jury of 10 women and 2 men deliberated 24 hours before finding the defendants guilty on all of 49 counts returned by a grand jury a year ago.

Sentencing was set for Jan. 20.

Government witnesses testified that ceiling peepholes were secretly installed at the club in Beverly Hills, along with signal devices at the playing tables. The scheme netted as much as $53,000 a game over four years, they testified.

The defendants were Maurice H. Friedman, 52, a Las Vegas investor; Benjamin Teitelbaum, 53, Hollywood businessman; T. Warner Richardson, 46, a former Las Vegas casino operator; Manuel Jacobs, 48, former owner of a Los Angeles Panguingue Parlor, and Johnny Roselli, 62, who awaits sentence on immigration law violations.

Grant Cooper, Friedman's attorney, said he and the other defense lawyers would seek acquittal, new trials and arrest of judgment on the day of sentencing.

Among Friars Club members who claimed heavy losses were singer Tony Martin, shoe magnate Harry Karl and comedians Phil Silvers and Zeppo Marx.

Maximum prison sentences could run from five years for Richardson to 130 years for Friedman. Teitelbaum could receive up to 83 years, Roselli 43 years and Jacobs 38 years.

Fines of $10,000 on some counts and $5,000 on others could also be imposed.

Annual Salute Required By Law

BOSTON (AP) — Every year a 21-gun salute booms out on Boston Common on the Jan. 8 anniversary of the Battle of New Orleans in the War of 1812. No one knows why, but a special state law requires the annual salute. A bill filed Monday in the legislature would repeal the law. Gen. Joseph M. Ambrose, state adjutant general, said the salutes are costly and ammunition scarce.

The 60th wedding anniversary is traditionally known as the Diamond Anniversary.

The Worry Clinic

Give Your Children Elastic Imaginations

Peter shows a remarkable improvement in stretching his imagination! Parents, it is vital that you teach your kiddies to have an elastic imagination; otherwise, they will be far too materialistic in later life. Offer prizes at the dinner table for the daily "Newspaper Quiz," as shown below.

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE H-549: Peter Ross, aged 7½, is one of our grandsons.

When his class has been asked to write brief compositions, Peter has been very undramatic and matter-of-fact.

But finally he surprised his teacher with this story, which he titled "The Walnut":

"Hello, I am a walnut.

"My name is nut.

"I am very silly. Nobody likes me.

"Oops, somebody is going to buy me.

"Crack. There goes the shell.

"Goodybye. Gulp."

For a former one-track mind student, this brief tale shows that Peter has begun to stretch his imagination.

By empathy, he thus projected himself into the role of the walnut.

And this exercise in stretching one's imagination is very essential in rearing children.

For without a vivid, dramatic and creative imaginat i o n, composers, writers, salesmen, inventors and scientists would atrophy.

Alas, too many parents confine their child rearing to an undue stress on vitamins, plus such physical items as diet and exercise.

But Vitamin "R" ("Religion") is far more important than such medical itms, for what shall it profit you to rear a robust Frankenstein who has no soul or spiritual values?

Our daughter Judy has enriched her children's minds by reading them uplifting stories, including Bible tales.

At present, she has started that old favorite Louisa Alcott's "Little Men."

"Mamma, that is the best book you have read to us," volunteered 9-year-old Matthew.

And at the various holidays of the year, Judy tries to pick out appropriate stories.

Thus, she stresses the popular Christmas tale of the handicapped youngster called "Little Sandy Sleighfoot," for it buoys up the morale not only of some 5 million medically handicapped kiddies, but of the other 10 million who feel they are below par.

It also is unique in putting Christ back into Christmas.

There are at least 10 million grammar and high schoolers who withdraw from social contacts and tend toward wallflowerism just because they imagine they are disliked for their freckles, big ears, thick ankles, bowed legs, crossed eyes, buck teeth, and flat or unduly pendulous breasts.

The essential element in our entire educational machine is the ability to read fluently.

Start the process by reading aloud to your younger kiddies so they will attach delight to the printed page.

Later, encourage them to do their own reading, for television is making too many "ear addicts" out of Americans; yet cultured people MUST be avid readers.

Construct quick tests over the contents of this daily newspaper, using the 4-answer method, where you cover at least 10 various pages or departments, as:

(1) The weatherman said it will be: RAINY — CLEAR — CLOUDY — SNOWY.

(2) The lead editorial today covered: CRIME —WAR — SCHOOLS — SEWERS.

Send for my booklet "How to Raise Your Child's school Marks," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Adjourned To Put Out A Fire

EASTON, Conn. (AP) — The annual meeting of the Easton Volunteer Fire Department adjourned early Monday night when the 45 members rushed out to save the town's combination general store and post office.

The 150-year-old landmark, the oldest business building in town, was the site of the formation of the fire company nearly 150 years ago. Fire Chief William A. Cross said an electrical short circuit started a fire that caused about $4,000 damage.

High Mail Box To Meet Rush

CINCINNATI (AP) — A 14-feet high mailbox has been erected outside the main post office in Cincinnati to handle the Christmas mail rush.

The red-white-blue mailbox has three marked slots: big folks mail, little folks mail, bundles.

Hunting A Tiger That Killed Young Marine

By ROBERT D. OHMAN
Associated Press Writer

QUAN TRI, Vietnam (AP) — A safari of U.S. Marines and a Vietnamese hunter left today for a jungled mountain valley to kill a tiger that killed a young Marine three weeks ago.

"When a Marine is killed, we'll get to the source, even if the source is a tiger," said Brig. Gen. Robert B. Carney Jr., assistant commander of the 3rd Marine Division and the director of the hunt.

Pfc. Francis Baldino of Ashland, Pa., was the tiger's victim while on an ambush patrol Nov. 14 in the northwest corner of South Vietnam.

The patrol leader told investigators he was only three paces in front of Baldino, a radio operator, when he heard a low growl and a scream. When he turned, Baldino had disappeared, he said.

Baldino's body wss found the next morning under some bushes. Other patrols were sent in and saw two tigers but were unable to get a shot at them.

Maj. Gen. Raymond G. Davis, commander of the 3rd Division, ordered Carney to organize a hunt and he called for volunteers who had experience hunting big game.

"We had at least 20 volunteers right away," Carney said, "but none had been on a tiger hunt."

Carney's civil affairs officer found Phan Xuan Sang, a 52-year-old tailor in Quang Tri City and an experienced tiger hunter.

"When they told me about the Marine, I was disturbed," said Sang. "I would like to shoot the tiger that killed him."

He agreed to lead the hunt and refused to accept any pay.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina hog markets today were mostly 25 cents lower, with instances of 50 cents lower. Tops of 18.25-18.75 at Rocky Mount; 17.75-18.25 Bethel. 17.50-18.25 Wilson; 17.50 18.50 Siler City, Denton; 18.50 Greensboro; 18.00 Salisbury.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets slightly weaker. Supplies adequate, demand fair. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A large whites: 49½-50½; medium, whites: 46-47½; small, whites: 43-44.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market continued a mild decline early this afternoon in fairly active trading.

Losses outnumbered gains by nearly 200 issues on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .5 at 368.1 with industrials off .7, rails unchanged and utilities off .6.

The market was still unsettled by the rise in interest rates announced by leading commercial banks Monday, brokers said, and additionally seemed to be in an overbought condition because of its strong four-week advance.

Despite this, the decline stubbornly resisted. Most of the major steelmakers were higher. Autos gave ground grudgingly. Electronics showed mainly fractional losses.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off .56 at 982.78.

Great Western Financial leaped to the top of the most-active list as it traded on a block of 199,900 shares, off 2⅜ at 27½. Later it halved the loss.

In second place on volume was Alberto-Culver which traded on a block of 100,000 shares, off 1¾ at 37, then erased the loss in later dealings and posted a fractional net gain.

Among very active issues, M-G-M rose about 3 points and Transitron 1, while Texas Gulf Sulphur dropped nearly a point of 3-point rise of Monday when it was the most-active stock following news of a favorable court decision regarding its orebody near Timmins, Ontario.

Heavily traded 2-point losers were Rapid American and Spartan Industries.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange held an irregularly higher edge.

ESEA Advisory Group Confers

Greenville City School's ESEA Title I Advisory Committee met Monday night with Charles M. Dickens, director of the project, to discuss the functions and role of the local ESEA office.

The ESEA (Elementary Secondary Education Act) Title I Project is designed primarily to provide essential assistance to school children who are considered in need of proper food and clothing.

Most of the discussion centered on plans and suggestions which would make possible more free lunches for these children. Means of providing needed clothing also were discussed.

Dickens outlined to the committee the various services available under the ESEA project, including instructional and social activities.

Members of the Title I Advisory Committee, who are also representatives of their local PTA, in attendance were: Mrs. Carrie Taylor and Mrs. James Holliday, Sadie Saulter School; Mrs. Geraldine Pearson and Mrs. Billie Savage, South Greenville School; Mrs. Robert Mercer and F. D. Sledge, Third Street School; Wallace Powers, Agnes Fu' love School; Mrs. Lucille Gorham and Rev. Jesse Williams, Eppes High School. Mrs. Isaiah Daniels of the Neighborhood Youth Corps also attended.

Bright Side To Turbulent Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today that the troubles of the United States had this year domestically were "the difficulties of movement, not of stagnation."

Acknowledging that 1968 was a "year of turmoil in the United States," Rusk said that everything that happened proved that "this nation is on the move in the field of human rights."

Rusk made these remarks at a State Department ceremony attended by members of President Johnson's Commission for the Observance of Human Rights Year.

Ambassador Averell Harriman, chief U.S. negotiator at the Paris peace talks and chairman of the commission, opened the session with the remark that this was "probably the last time" that he was speaking at the State Department.

Harriman praised Rusk as a man who, "the longer he serves the more we admire him."

Harriman also paid tribute to President Johnson, who, he said, "did more in the field of human rights in the legislative and practical sense of the word than any of his predecessors."

Frontier Closed By Costa Rica

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — Costa Rica closed its Panamanian frontier Monday night, saying this was necessary because of frontier incidents between guerrilla followers of ousted President Arnulfo Arias of Panama and Panamanian national guardsmen.

A spokesman for the Panamanian national guard denied reports of clashes between Panamanian troops and Arnulfistas who organized on Costa Rican territory after the guard overthrew Arias on Oct. 11.

Ban Sales Of Manchester Book

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — A Munich court has banned sales of the German translation of William Manchester's history of the Krupp industrial dynasty until the American writer deletes several passages the court called "damaging and untruthful."

The publisher of the book, Kindler Verlag of Munich, said it would appeal the court order because the passages to which the court objected amount to only three sentences taken out of context.
