

Drastic Tax Hikes Proposed For Highway Plan

By NOEL YANCEY
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — A study group reported today that North Carolina's unmet highway needs will cost $4.7 by 1969, and proposed drastic tax increases to pay the bill.

The major needs would be improving 4,680 miles of the state's arterial highways, including dual laning of .940 miles at a total cost of $2.3 billion, and improving 2,313 miles on the urban feeder system at $1 billion.

The commission said the work on the arterial system would in 1990 "give the people of North Carolina an adequate highway system."

The tax increases would include:

—Three cents a gallon on gasoline, to 10 1/4 cents a gallon.

—$15 a year for auto license plates, to a $25 average.

—$50 a year for truck and bus license plates to an average of $105.

—$5 increase on auto driver licenses which now cost $3.25 for four years.

—Increase sales tax on motor vehicles from 1 1/2 to 3 per cent with all the revenue going to the Highway Fund instead of the General Fund as at present.

"This is a bold approach," said Micou Brown of Raleigh, chairman of the Governor's Highway Study Commission, as he briefed newsmen on the commission's report which was made public today.

The commission said that "unless a positive program is immediately undertaken" to meet the needs, the state will (1) not have sufficient funds by 1974 to match federal aid appropriations, and (2) have no funds for highway construction beginning in 1978.

"It's a tragic situation," commented Brown, a Raleigh insurance executive.

The commission did not propose bond issues to meet highway construction needs but recommended that North Carolina "adopt a pay as you go approach." Brown pointed out the interest cost on a $300 million bond issue is $100 million.

In addition to the tax increases, the commission recommended:

—That cost of operating the North Carolina Highway Patrol, now $14 million a year, be taken from the General Fund instead of the Highway Fund.

—That the General Fund instead of the Highway Fund bear the deficit in the driver training program which now amounts to about $1.5 million a year.

—That all highway related tax receipts be deposited in a special highway fund and earmarked for highway use exclusively.

The commission estimated its recommendations would raise $2.22 billion during the first 10 years of the period covered by its study.

"It sounds like a lot of money, but it will only be $2 per week per vehicle," commented Brown. If the program is approved, he said, North Carolina's highway taxes would be "much higher" than other states. He pointed out that other states "are in the same fix we are in" and will be confronted with the necessity of increasing taxes.

Brown said that when a motorist gets an automobile with automatic transmission he adds the equivalent of 7 cents a gallon to the cost of his gasoline and when he gets air conditioning he adds another 8 cents a gallon.

Nello L. Teer Jr., a member of the study commission, said the group considered the possibility of the state building toll roads to help meet highway needs but found that at present "no toll roads would be economically feasible in North Carolina."

The commission added that failure to take immediate steps to boost revenues for highway construction would hurt the state's economy and seriously impair the state's "ability to attract new industry."

It noted that North Carolina's gasoline tax has risen only one cent per gallon since 1940 but the cost of highway construction has increased by more than 275 per cent.

Jordanian Front Generally Quiet

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Israeli-Jordanian front was reported quiet today after massive Israeli air strikes against Iraqi forces stationed in Jordan.

The war planes flew 50 miles inside Jordan Wednesday to attack Iraqi artillery emplacements, troops and ammunition dumps. It was the third Israeli air attack in Jordan this week.

One Israeli plane, a French-made Super Mystere fighter-bomber did not return, the Israeli army said.

A spokesman said the 22-year-old pilot died in a helicopter that lifted him from Jordanian territory after he had bailed out and then was shot.

Unconfirmed press reports in Jordan's capital, Amman, said the flier was killed in a gun battle with a Jordanian shepherd.

Radio Amman said six soldiers were killed and 14 wounded in the raid on the Irbid sector, which is 20 miles east of the Jordan River, and on the city of Al Marfaq, the site of an air base farther east.

Radio Baghdad quoted a claim by the Iraqi commander that seven Israeli planes were shot down.

Israeli sources believed the attack dealt a serious blow to the Iraqi military presence in Jordan, which is believed to have been strengthened recently by new armor and new artillery. The Israelis said Iraq has about 12,000 troops in Jordan.

An Israeli Foreign Ministry spokesman charged the Iraqis "are the main sources of aid to the Palestine terrorists with money, vehicles, weapons, training and manpower."

Egyptian president Gamal Abdel Nasser rejected a reported American seven-point plan for peace between Israel and Egypt. Nasser told the Egyptian National Congress: "We refuse a plan designed to find settlement with each Arab country separately. The honorable solution in my viewpoint is that Israel should not take a single inch from Arab territory."

The existence of such a plan was denied by the U.S. State Department, which said "it would be misleading to believe" the United States has any new form plan for peace beyond its often-stated views.

Harriman Expects Nixon Send Observer To Paris

NEW YORK (AP) — W. Averell Harriman said today, after conferring with President-elect Richard M. Nixon, that he is confident Nixon will send a personal observer to the Paris talks and will replace the two principal American negotiators soon after taking office.

Nixon, who had tentatively decided against sending an observer to the peace talks before inauguration day, was said to be shifting his attitude at the urging of Harriman, who said that he and deputy negotiator Cyrus R. Vance felt such a move would be "a very excellent way to insure continuity."

Talking to newsmen after meeting with Nixon for more than an hour, Harriman made it clear he and Vance will turn over their tasks to Nixon's team on or about Jan. 20.

Although there had been much speculation that the president-elect would retain either Harriman or Vance in the interest of continuity, Harriman said he planned to return to Washington come Jan. 20 and reported that Vance might remain in Paris—but "only for a few days."

The veteran diplomat said he thought Nixon would send an observer to Paris later this month but said, "I do not know who he will be or when he will come."

Harriman said he got no impression in his talk with Nixon that the incoming administration would basically change the negotiating approach of the United States. And he said he didn't think the Communist side would pay a great deal of attention to the shift of power in Washington—that they see little difference between Democrats and Republicans but regard the negotiating approach of the United States. And he said he didn't think the Communist side would pay a great deal of attention to the shift of power in Washington—that they see little difference between Democrats and Republicans but regard both groups as "imperialist capitalists."

Two other destroyers which had escorted the carrier, the Rupertus and Mahan, were reported headed for the U.S. Navy's other base in Japan, Yokosuka, southwest of Tokyo. There was no indication whether the task force would be replaced in Korean waters.

Lynda Robb To Visit Far East

HONOLULU (AP) — Lynda Robb, President Johnson's elder daughter, spent Wednesday night here enroute to a Far East reunion with her husband, Marine Maj. Charles S. Robb.

Mrs. Robb, 24, arranged to leave today for either Hong Kong or Bangkok.

She declined to say exactly where or when she will meet Robb, who has been in Vietnam since March 30, because she wants this visit to be "as private as possible."

Mrs. Robb did not bring the couple's five-week-old daughter, Lucinda Desha. Robb has never seen the child. The doctor advised against bringing the baby, she said.

Annual Christmas Parade In Farmville Drew Large Crowd

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

FARMVILLE — Crowds as jovial as Santa's chuckle, with hearts as warm as their cheeks were cold, lined the streets of Farmville yesterday afternoon for the town's annual Christmas parade.

Children were pushed to the front of the crowd or hoisted to the shoulders of adults as the caravan of some 20 floats; two cars, one carrying Mayor Frank Allen and Chamber of Commerce president Floyd Messer; the town rescue truck; several marching units; and five bands rounded the corner of Main Street and Horne Avenue and made its way through the downtown area.

Pretty girls, many of them bare-shouldered, shivered as they stood atop the floats waiting for the parade to begin.

However, once it was underway they seemingly forgot the cold wind that whipped about them as they smiled and waved to their rapt audience. Children on the floats, dressed somewhat more appropriately for the near-freezing weather, stole the show as they called greetings to their parents and other persons they recognized.

The high school bands, those of Farmville, H. B. Sugg, Tarboro, Bethel Union, and Greene Central, set the tempo of the parade, with the rousing strains of "Jolly Old Saint Nicholas" and other seasonal songs and carols. The Color Guard which led the procession added to the pagentry.

Some of the marching Girl and Boy Scouts were observably out of step, especially toward the end of the parade, but no one seemed to care—after all, they had walked nearly two miles.

Ponies and their riders brought up the rear of the parade, but their appearance was a little anticlimactic, as who had gone immediately before them but Santa Claus? Children went wild as he showed his favor by tossing candy and gum into the crowds. Parents who had heretofore worked hard to keep their youngsters in tow and the policemen who had kept the crowds back very well until then temporarily ignored the melee. Only the very small youngsters failed to notice the goodies Santa threw—they were too enthralled with the sight of Santa himself.

South Vietnam Delegation Reaching Paris On Sunday

PARIS (AP) — South Vietnamese officials said today they expect their peace conference delegation including Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky will arrive in Paris Sunday.

Officials of South Vietnam's diplomatic mission prepared a big-scale reception for Ky and his team at Orly Airport. The French government prepared massive security precautions.

Ky's decision to accompany Ambassador Ppam Dang Lam, who will head the delegation at the conference table, was a sudden change of plans. He had intended following Lam by about one week.

The arrival of South Vietnam's team will clear the way for the start of the expanded peace parley. But it is expected to bog down in procedural disputes as soon as it starts.

Ky will be South Vietnam's chief strategist for the conference. Officially he is being described as an adviser, but in fact he will carry the authority of the Saigon government to mastermind the presentation of his country's case.

Soon after he and Lam get to Paris they are expected to meet with Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and Cyrus R. Vance, who lead the U.S. delegation. The Americans are to consult with the South Vietnamese on arrangements under discussion for the formal talks in which North Vietnam and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front will join. Vance already has met twice this week with the deputy chief of North Vietnam's delegation, Col. Ha Van Lau, to discuss arrangements for getting the peace talks rolling.

South Vietnamese authorities meanwhile rallied local sympathizers in the hope of staging a spectacular reception for the price.

The pro-Saigon Vietnamese prepared their banners and flags today. Stacks of them were in the consulate, hailing the arrival of the delegates and exhorting them to banish all thoughts of "peace at any price."

Disruptions On Some Campuses

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Protests by small bands of militant students struck two universities in New York City Wednesday while demonstrations continued at San Francisco State College.

Although 1,000 persons—the largest group of demonstrators yet—disrupted San Francisco State classes with chants of "Pigs off Campus! Shut it down!" there was little violence. Police herded them away.

In New York a group of 20 Negro students on the Bronx campus of Fordham University seized a dean's office temporarily and won a promise that no action would be taken which would result in the loss of federal aid to Negro students for nonviolent dissent.

A predominantly white group of sleep-ins at the Jequit institution today demanded that 20 per cent of future freshman classes be enrolled from the Negro and Puerto Rican community.

About one per cent of the school's present enrollment of 6,000 are Negro.

At New York University talks by a South Vietnamese diplomat and the executive editor of the New York Times were prevented Wednesday night by a group of 60 obscenity shouting demonstrators. Many thousands of Vietnamese live in Paris, and 200 of them showed up to cheer last month when the team's NLF leader, Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh arrived.

The pro-Saigon Vietnamese prepared their banners and flags today. Stacks of them were in the consulate, hailing the arrival of the delegates and exhorting them to banish all thoughts of "peace at any price."

James Reston, executive editor of the Times, was speaking in another auditorium when the youths burst in a side door, dismantled the loudspeaker system and shouted epithets. They were booed by the audience.

Accused Spies Again Sentenced

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Two South Korean university professors being retried on charges of participating in a North Korean spy ring in East Berlin today were again sentenced to death.

The verdicts against Chung Kyoo-myung, 40, a physics researcher at Frankfurt University, and Chung Ha-yong, 35, a Seoul college professor who studied in West Germany, are subject to review by the nation's highest court.

Schools Report Draws Approval

RALEIGH (AP) — A study commission report on North Carolina's public schools brought generally favorable comment from educators and legislators in the state.

Dr. Craig Phillips, superintendent-elect of public instruction, said Wednesday the report is "the basic blueprint for educational improvement both immediately and on a long-range basis."

Phillips served on the commission which proposed spending $300 million over the next two years to improve teacher salaries, set up a kindergarten system and make other school innovations.

Rep. Donald Stanford, D-Orange, predicted the 1969 General Assembly will definitely implement some of the proposals recommended by the study commission.

Rep. Graham Tart, D-Sampson, a teacher who served on the commission, said, "I hope we can implement as much of it as possible, and I intend to spend all of my influence in that direction."

Dr. Amos Abrams, executive director of the North Carolina Education Association, said "the report will do much to shape education programs in the legislatures of 1969, '71, '73 and beyond that."

One note of discord came from E. B. Palmer, executive director of the North Carolina Teachers Association, a predominantly Negro organization of school personnel. He expressed disappointment over some things the study commission report didn't say.

"I am concerned," he said, "that out of 172 recommendations, no mention was made of school desegregation and the problems inherent in it. There was no recommendation as to how localities can effectively deal with problems such as we have now in Hyde County and Williamston."

Negroes are unhappy with school desegregation plans in Hyde County and Williamston.

City Council Meet Set For Tonight

The Greenville City Council will meet tonight at 8 p.m. in the Council Room of City Hall. Old business to be considered includes certain appointments to boards and commissions; whether Evans Street Cemetery should be restored; and an amendment to the ordinance which regulates the construction of multi-family dwellings.

Public hearings will be held on the annexation of the Clarence A. Bradley property and the John H. High property. Both hearings have been advertised previously.

New business concerns a request to rezone property owned by Jesse A. Johnson from residential to business usage, a request to annex property owned by Dr. Steven M. White, a petition for street closure, a resolution to accept high bid on Parcel No. 3 in the Shore Drive project, the payment of ineligible costs in the Shore Drive project, an assessment trol of five street improvement projects, and the refund of a bail bondsman privilege license.

Launch Month Of Denunciation

HONG KONG (AP) — An intensive month-long campaign to denounce President Liu Shao-chi has been ordered by Peking, Chinese arriving from Communist China reported today.

The travelers said all revolutionary committees were ordered to mobilize the masses for a series of denunciation rallies throughout December.

In their drive to root out all traces of Liu's influence, the followers of Chairman Mao Tse-tung are also embarking on an intensive hunt for Liu's followers throughout the country, these sources said

Mrs. Moye Dail Gives Program

Mrs. Moye Dail presented the program at the meeting of the Clio Book Club held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. S. Ficklen.

Mrs. Dail spoke on old legends and stories surrounding "The Birth of Christ."

The holly tree is as much a part of our Christmas as Santa Claus and fruit cake. This tree is symbolic of the crown of thorns, and its red berries, of the blood of Christ. The ivy denotes goodwill, the pine tells of a love that will never die and mistletoe stands for romance and love said the speaker.

Mrs. Rose Fambrough, president, presided at a short business session.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Reader Asks: Why Isn't There A Law Against Wife Stealing?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: How come there are laws against stealing chickens, horses, and automobiles, but there aren't any laws against stealing a man's most precious possession — his wife. I'll bet if there were a penalty of 10 years in the penitentiary for wife stealing, there wouldn't be so many divorces, and poor little innocent children the victims of broken homes.

DENISON, TEX. DEAR DENISON: Chickens, horses, and automobiles, the possession of which is protected by chattel law, can neither give nor withhold consent to be stolen, right?

A wife? She could be "kidnaped," but if she goes willingly, she's not stolen. Besides, she's no chattel.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is 17½ and she's in her last year of high school. She has fallen in love with a 50-year-old man, and Abby, we are about out of our minds.

They want to marry when she is 18. They claim they are "in love" and are miserable when they're apart.

This man has plenty of money, drives a big Cadillac, and he's a snappy dresser. He doesn't look his age. He's very peppy and a wonderful dancer.

(So is she.) He's promised her a Hawaiian honeymoon and a whole new dream world. Our daughter says it's not the money. She'd love him if he were poor. Can this be?

Should we try to break them up? What do you say, Abby? Do you think they could be happy together?

HER MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Those May-December marriages are usually wildly happy as long as they last, but they seldom last long.

If you try to break them up, you might hasten the marriage. Try to persuade your daughter to wait a while. If you fail, she'll be stuck with a man who can give her everything she wants now, but she'll have to take her chances on what's in store later.

DEAR ABBY: I passed a Jewish cemetery recently and noticed that the tombstones were very tall and close together. A friend of mine told me that it's an old custom of the Jewish people to bury their dead with caskets upright. Was my friend right? No offense, dear.

S.A.S. IN CLEVELAND

DEAR S. A. S.: No. The Jewish people bury their dead horizontally, same as Christians.

DEAR ABBY: In reply to the girl who thinks "It is the dumbest thing she ever heard" that a girl at school doesn't attend the dances because it is against her religion, I would like to quote some men of widely different faiths who have spoken out on this subject.

A Jewish rabbi writes, "Modern dancing is popular, not because of its grace, but because of its appeal to our lower nature."

A Presbyterian preacher says, "Dancing, ball, and partying lead to forgetfulness of God."

Clovis Chappel, noted Methodist evangelist, states, "60,000 girls enter the underworld every year, and three-fourths of them by the dance floor."

A Roman Catholic confession-al reveals that 19 out of every 20 young women who go wrong attribute it to the dance.

There are only a few of many examples. By the way, I am not a member of any of the above-mentioned religious organizations. I am a 16-year-old Christian boy who prefers not to add to the strifes of life by partaking in the dance. I don't think it is "dumb" and I don't think I've missed a thing. Actually, I think I've gained a lot by not dancing.

Governor-Elect Wasting No Time

The manner in which governor-elect Bob Scott is moving ahead with the organization of his new administration indicates the kind of decisive and progressive leadership which will stand North Carolina in good stead in the next four years.

There have been too many instances in the past in which incoming governors delayed in putting together their new administrations. The transition to a new administration was more gradual than apparently will be the case in the Scott administration, but it was obviously less decisive at the outset of assuming responsibility for the state government.

That does not appear to be the case with the Scott administration. Already the governor-elect has filled a number of key spots in his administration. There can be no doubt that other top appointments will be made long before he officially takes office next month.

Chairmanship of the powerful, politically influential and controversial Highway Commission already has been designated by Scott. So has the man who will head up the powerful Conservation and Development department of the state. Scott has named his legislative liaison man as his administrative assistant and several other key people who will be his assistants in the day-to-day operation of the state government.

Based on the decisiveness and swiftness with which Scott has moved since the election last month, it is a good guess that his administration will be as close to a fully operating organization when it takes office as any in North Carolina in recent history. It is also a good guess that governor-elect Scott will have already made many of those sought-after appointments which all-too-often become stumbling blocks as a new administration tries to decide how to please some of its most ardent supporters without offending others.

If the Scott administration can get this difficult chore behind it before it assumes the responsibility for guiding a legislative program through the General Assembly, it will have made significant progress. It must be expected, however, that political considerations will not allow the filling of all the choice spots before the 1969 General Assembly adjourns. There will be terms which do not expire until mid-year, and there will be choice plums which must remain in the administration longer to be passed out at the end of the legislative session.

Even so, the Scott administration is off and running even before it assumes office; and that in itself is a good sign for North Carolina.

Money Alone Is Not Answer

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH — The massive report of the state's study commission on the public schools stresses not so much the need for more teachers but rather for better teachers cast in a redefined role.

Of course the commission recognizes that competition for qualified teachers is keener than ever before and the low salaries and often poor working conditions discourage many from entering, or remaining in, the profession.

And even while recommending $197 million to secure and hold qualified teachers and $20 million for teacher aides, all in new money, it said "certain realities" must be considered in facing the overall problem. Money alone is not the answer.

It said the state cannot and should not go on attempting to reduce class size and at the same time staff every classroom with a fully certified teacher.

New Concept

The commission calls for differential classroom staffing — and for considering competence, responsibilities performance as well as training and experience in setting salary scales.

In order to utilize teacher talent effectively and reward them according, it said the role of the teacher must be redefined.

"The egg - crate concept of one teacher in front of one class in all grades in all subjects is an obsolete idea," it said.

In some types of teaching and learning, as much can be accomplished in a class of 100 pupils as with only 25, it said. It urges the concept of "teamteaching" at all levels.

Teacher Aides

To implement "team teaching," the commission recommends several categories of additional personnel — aides educational, technologists, teacher interns, full time teachers on "trail" periods of from three years, senior professional teachers and instructional specialists at the top.

Such categories, it said, would open the way for many qualified people to serve educational functions in schools and provide for teaching to become a profession "in the truest sense."

Restructuring System

Dr. A. Craig Phillips, who succeeds Dr. Charles F. Carroll next month, may be the last elected Superintendent of Public Instruction — if the study commission recommendations are followed.

The commission calls for firmly establishing the State Board of Education as the single policy formation agency for public education, eliminating certain "confusing and overlapping" administrative functions. And it recommends that the Superintendent of Public Instruction be appointed by and responsible to the Board, serving it as executive officer and administrative head of the department.

At present, the Superintendent is a constitutional, elected official and both a member of the Council of State and ex-officio member of the Board of Education.

Under the study commission's plan — which would require a constitutional amendment — he would develop recommendations for the Board and be responsible for executing its policy.

Then the commission also recommends reorganizing all executive divisions of the Department of Public Instruction into a single agency for administration.

Sound Management In Schools Also Needed

In this day of unprecedented affluence and seemingly unlimited government spending, it seems incredible that a city would be faced with closing its schools for a month for lack of funds.

Yet that is what apparently is happening in Youngstown, Ohio where some 28,000 school youngsters have been told not to return from their Thanksgiving holiday until after the first of the year. The problem is that the Youngstown schools already have had to borrow $1.5 million from banks since August and the banks aren't extending more credit until January. By then the schools hope to reopen on money they will borrow against taxes to be collected in the new year.

There is hardly a school system anywhere in the nation that is not finding it difficult to make ends meet on the budgets they have to operate on. Local and state officials responsible for school operation have to watch their pennies even though they are spending literally millions on the education of young Americans. Even so, there is something drastically wrong when a school system is faced with the problem that apparently exists in Youngstown. It points up the fact that in schools as in other government operations sound business management is just as important as whatever other primary function is assigned to that particular agency.

Walker Report By 'Volunteers'

By MICHAEL ROBINSON
CHICAGO (AP)—The Walker report, which termed street violence during the Democratic National Convention "a police riot," was turned out in 53 days and nights of interviewing and writing by a staff of 212 persons, mostly volunteers.

Daniel Walker, an attorney for Montgomery Ward & Co. and head of the Chicago Crime Commission, was named on Sept. 26 to form a committee to investigate. His selection was announced by Dr. Milton Eisenhower, chairman of the National Commission on Causes and Prevention of Violence.

The following day Walker began selecting his team. The staff members were personally selected by him, he said.

"The real leaders" of the staff, Walker stated in a preface to the report, were the assistant directors and team directors.

To those posts he appointed a foundation director, a professional crime investigator, a freelance writer, four bank executives, five lawyers and one corporation executive.

Almost immediately the staff moved into an office suite in Chicago's federal building. A large central room in the suite was subdivided into cubicles for interviews. Each cubicle was equipped with a desk, telephone, and a tape recorder. Off-duty policemen, hippies with beards and sandals, members of the National Guard, and news reporters gathered at the white entrance, waiting to give statements and be questioned.

Interviews were conducted not only in the offices of the committee but also in district police stations, in news rooms, and elsewhere.

In a preface, Walker says that his staff took 1,410 statements from witnesses, had taken by the FBI, reviewed 20,000 pages of witness statements, screened 180 hours of television films, and examined 12,000 still photographs.

The reference rooms of newspapers were combed for pictures and stories, but no news account was accepted unless confirmed by several witnesses, Walker said.

Chicago's police chief and Mayor Richard J. Daley defended each other Tuesday against accusations contained in the report.

For Daley, it was a slight switch from a position he took Sunday when the report was released.

Police Supt. James B. Conlisk issued a written statement—his first comment on the report—and defended his men and "the policies of the city of Chicago."

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
GOOD BUILDING GOES DEEP

Jesus was very much interested in foundations. In fact the figure of a solid foundation under life so appealed to him that he ended his Sermon on the Mount with a description of a wise man who built his house upon a rock and a foolish man who built his house upon sand.

He was interested in foundations because he was always going down beneath the superficial religion of his day and probing about to see what kind of a base people's religion rested upon. The people of Jesus' day were interested in superstructures and paid little attention to foundations. If a man's religion looked good, they held that was enough. In fact they had so fallen into the habit of judging a man's religion by its appearance that they had lost all sense of the necessity of its resting upon something that was firm in the verities of God. Jesus annoyed them fearfully by his quiet insistence upon solid foundations. He was always going back to fundamentals. He would get behind a man's words to his motives, behind his acts to his impulses. It was not enough that men do certain things; they must do them out of an honest heart. It was not enough that men adhere to certain religious practices; these practices must express a devout loyalty to God.

Jesus was the relentless enemy of superficial religion,

Maddox Has The Answer

WASHINGTON — I know you're not going to believe this, but Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia told a news conference the other day, in answer to criticism about Georgia prison reform, that "We're doing the best we can, and before we do much better, we're going to have to get a better grade of prisoner."

Once again, Gov. Maddox hit the ax handle on the head. While penologist, sociologist, parole officers and prison commissions all have been at odds as to how to rehabilitate prisoners, Maddox has come up with the simplest and, without doubt, most sensible solution.

It has been known for years that prisons have been accepting a very low-class type of inmate, some without any education, others who are unstable and some who are just plain antisocial.

No effort has been made to attract a better grade of prisoner who would not only improve the caliber of our rehabilitation programs, but would also make society treat prisoners with the respect they deserve. For too long now we've been taking our prisoners for granted, and the standard for convicted felons has declined to a point where almost anyone can get into prison without his qualifications being questioned.

This trend must be reversed if we ever hope to rehabilitate our prisoners. The first thing to do would be to set up a recruiting drive in high schools and colleges to get a better class of inmate. This would have to be coupled with higher pay for prisoners, so being behind bars would be

Other Editors Say Nielson's Budget Ideas

(Wilson Times)

At long last the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture has decided there is no need for the proposed federal marketing agreement and order to regulate the flow of blue-cured tobacco to market. So the department has announced it has dropped the plans. Two hearings were held and at both it was evident the farmers did not favor further control over the marketing of tobacco.

To go back to 1967, this was a bad marketing year. There were several holidays, the farmers had to wait days to sell their tobacco, tobacco had to be tied except for the first few days of sale when looseleaf was sold.

But the federal government can do no more for the farmers and the industry than they can do for themselves. And this is just about what the farmers, the warehousemen and the processors decided. So the Blue-Cured Marketing Committee was organized, and the warehousemen and the farmers got together and mapped their own plans. These included support for loose-leaf for the entire season, which the government went along on.

Marketing was on an orderly basis last season. The crop was short and the processors were able to handle the crop without a holiday. This demonstrated conclusively that the farmers did not need further regulations. So the federal government, after two hearings where the federal officials got very little encouragement, dropped the idea.

But there remain lessons to be learned. For if a situation arise as occurred in 1967, the federal agents will be back and hold further hearings and the sentiment may change. So it is important that a constant vigil be kept on the tobacco industry, from the farmers to the processors.

There isn't any need for further regulations and controls by the federal government over the golden weed. It is not held in favor in the nation's capital and further federal control could prove disastrous. For, as of now, every pack of cigarettes carries a health warning and efforts are underway toward further restrictions to cut down on the consumption of cigarettes.

So, as of the present, the threat of the federal government marketing order is behind us. What we must do is to be certain it never becomes necessary to think in terms of the federal regulations. For the industry has so successfully proven it can solve its marketing and processing problems.

Nixon Wants 'Hawk'

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The question of whether Henry M. (Scoop) Jackson, the hawkish Democrat from Washington, will be the next Secretary of Defense hinges mainly on whether he gets a mandate over defense policies and programs from President-elect Nixon.

There is no question that Nixon wants Jackson in the Pentagon. Jackson has been sounded out by one of Mr. Nixon's top talent scouts in a long-distance telephone call.

No flat offer was made but Jackson left the distinct impression that he was interested in giving up his Congressional sanctuary as a critic of defense policies to actually run the show. However, to forego 16 years of Senate seniority, high posts on both the Armed Services and Atomic Energy committees and chairmanship of the Interior committee, Jackson also made clear that he had to be his own man in the Pentagon with real—not just symbolic—power.

It's entirely possible that Nixon will give Jackson what he wants. If so, the appointment would elevate the chairman of the Democratic National Committee during John F. Kennedy's 1960 campaign to a top post in the Cabinet of the man Kennedy defeated.

Mr. Nixon's seriousness about Jackson as Secretary of Defense became clear last week, during his visit with Sen. John Tower of Texas. Nixon's key question to Tower was whether conservative Republicans on the Armed Services committee—specifically including Tower—would feel comfortable with Jackson running the Pentagon. Tower's answer: a resounding yes.

Any lesser response would probably have doomed Jackson, because Nixon is beholden to Tower for his pre-convention activity on behalf of the Nixon candidacy.

Moreover, Nixon's careful survey of conservative Republican opinion has not yet turned up any prospective veto. In the House, the powerful Rep. Melvin Laird of Wisconsin is privately but enthusiastically boosting Jackson.

Accordingly, Jackson must now be regarded as a prohibitive favorite, the obvious answer to Nixon's quest for a Democrat with wide acceptance within his own party to give the Nixon cabinet a bipartisan aura. If Nixon is unwilling to give Jackson a serious mandate in the Pentagon, others now under consideration include right-winger Robert Gavin, chairman of the board of Motorola Corp., and Mayor Eric Jonsson of Dallas, a nominal Republican.

Contrary to speculation, Cyrus Vance, former Deputy Secretary of Defense and now No. 2 man on the U.S. negotiating team in Paris, has never been considered by Nixon. Nor has Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford, who is strongly opposed by Tower, Laird, and other key Republicans because of his inside connection with the last three Democratic Presidents.

The only real obstacle to Jackson had been Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, but Nixon's deft handling of Rockefeller last week removed him from any possibility of becoming Secretary of Defense (the only job he might have accepted) or any job in the Nixon cabinet, with the bonus on Rockefeller.

Many people say that by being selective, we would be making too many demands (Continued On Page 5)

Leasing System Is Not For All

By ELMER ROESSNER
To lease or not to lease continues to remain a business problem.

Leasing of equipment is growing. Leasors are dealing with an ever-increasing line of goodies. Once largely limited to autos, trucks and construction equipment, they now offer almost every kind of business equipment, including ready-to-operate factories.

But a survey by the National Industrial Conference Board shows that while many companies benefit from leasing, some don't. The survey, by Henry G. Hamel, found that "many small, poorly financed firms, lured by leasing's attractive potential, have gone out of business or have been taken over by larger, better-financed agencies."

Many of the widely accepted benefits of leasing, the survey found, are being challenged by financial authorities. The survey examined practices of more than 200 companies that lease equipment and facilities and 100 lessors.

Benefits Of Leasing

There are many advantages to leasing. Some equipment, including some computers, copying devices and other electronic equipment, can be obtained only on lease. The reason usually given is that the machines need frequent attention and adjustment and the lessor cannot assure satisfactory performance unless it has full control. However, there is a suspicion that the lessor profits more on a leasing arrangement than on a sale.

Other benefits of leasing are that companies may avoid maintenance and service problems and reduce the risk of owning equipment with a high rate of obsolescence.

A big advantage, however, is that leasing usually conserves capital. This is one of the big appeals to small companies. Instead of using its limited capital to buy equipment, it may be able to use it for making sales, developing new products, promotion and expansion if it can lease equipment.

Costs High

But in the long run, this may prove expensive. The lessee's rent must include a return on the lessor's capital investment, the maintenance and service costs, insurance and the lessor's profit. In addition, he loses the residual value of the leased equipment.

The lessee gets no deductions for depreciation. The lessor gets that. However, the rentals the lessee pays are fully deductible as a business expense, whereas the capital investment in equipment is not, except as equipment deteriorates.

The NICB survey found there were other problems, such as: Is leasing the equivalent of debt? If so, what kind? When is a lease a lease and when is it actually an installment purchase? How should a lease be reported on financial statements?

Spokesman For Auto Dealers Claims a 'Loss'

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A spokesman for auto dealers said today they are inadequately compensated by the big car makers for warranty repair work and have to try and make up the difference on other parts of their business.

Warren J. McEleney, speaking for the National Automobile Association, said in a prepared statement that the extended warranty introduced in 1962 has forced car sellers to do repair work at a loss.

McEleney, a Clinton, Iowa car dealer, said that the car manufacturers don't repay their franchisees enough on the warranty repairs and sales profits aren't large enough to make up the difference.

He told a Senate antitrust subcommittee that if a businessman feels he must take a loss, he will make every effort to minimize the deficit and to compensate for it by gaining additional revenue from other sources.

"How a dealer will attempt to recoup his warranty losses after absorbing as much as he can afford is difficult to determine," McEleney said. "Such an effort could be reflected in his new or used car sales or in his retail service department."

The subcommittee has been investigating the cost of auto repairs.

In other prepared testimony William W. Wimpfing, general vice president of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, said the warranty system hurts mechanics as well as dealers.

He said that because the factory pays the dealer less for warranty work than the dealer could normally charge the public, the dealer "naturally wants to pay the mechanic less for this type of work."

When manufacturer's attempt to set prices for warranty work — prices lower than those charged other customers — not only violates the spirit of the nation's labor relations policies but the intent of the nation's antitrust laws," Wimpfing said. Wimpfing said manufacturers have tried to maintain tight control over repair procedures and wages through flat rate manuals that establish recommended times to be charged for specific work.

He not only objected to this piecework system for mechanics but he said it has drawbacks for customers, such as not allowing the mechanic time to do any checking or trouble-shooting on the customer's behalf.

Anyone who has ever visited a prison in this country knows that Gov. Maddox is right. For years we have been scraping the bottom of the barrel for inmates, and it's no wonder they don't live up to our expectations.

Bids Received By Williamston On Paving Jobs

WILLIAMSTON — Bids were received Monday by the North Carolina State Highway Commission on street improvements in Williamston.

The apparent low bid for the 1.482 miles of work within the municipality totaled $183,565.70 and was submitted by Barrus Construction Company of Kinston.

The project includes grading, paving and improvements on U. S. 64, N. C. 125 and some city streets in Williamston.

Bids will be reviewed by the commission at their meeting in Raleigh Friday and if approved, contracts for the work should be let in the near future.

Junior Colleges Are Accredited

ATLANTA (AP) — Six North Carolina junior colleges were accredited Wednesday and given membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

They were College of the Albemarle, Elizabeth City; Davidson County Community College, Lexington; Lenoir County Community, Kinston; Rockingham Community, Wentworth; Sandhill Community, Southern Pines; Western Piedmont Community, Morganton.

feller instead of Nixon.

Rockefeller had strongly hinted in October, during the height of the campaign, that he would be interested only in Defense or State. Nixon resented that, viewing it as a Rockefeller effort to put him in a corner. He let Rockefeller know in advance of their conversation last Tuesday that neither job would be available. Thus, there were only the amenities when Rockefeller arrived at Mr. Nixon's Fifth Avenue apartment; a pro forma request by Nixon that the Governor take the United Nations job, and an immediate turn-down by Rockefeller.

But the cancer appears to have disappeared, he added.

Zavaleta said his experiment differs in some respects from similar experiments which are being performed in the United States and elsewhere, with encouraging results.

He said he took specimens of his sister's cancer cells and injected them in his own leg. His system formed antibodies to destroy the foreign cells, the doctor explained, and the antibodies were then transferred to his sister.

Zavaleta said the experiment is similar to the body's natural tendency to form antibodies to resist bacteria or reject transplanted organs.

Dr. Oscar Miro Quesada, an associate of Zavaleta and director of the National Institutes of Health, told The Associated Press: "It is too early to know the results of Dr. Zavaleta's technique. But this is a beginning."

Miro Quesada, who also is president of the Peruvian Society for Immuno-Pathology, added that he has "always felt a cure for cancer would come from a crossfire between chemistry and immunology."

He said he and Zavaleta "have been conducting chemical trials with hopeless cases—people with one foot in the tomb and the other on a banana peel" and have kept them alive for one to 1½ years before their cancer cells became resistant to the chemicals.

The Zavaleta experiment differs from similar cancer experiments in the United States in which pairs of unrelated cancer patients have exchanged cells.

Institute For Co-Ops Slated Here Tomorrow

An Institute for Cooperatives, scheduled to be held here tomorrow, is expected to draw about 100 persons from Northeastern North Carolina affiliated with various cooperative groups such as Farmers Cooperative Exchanges, Rural Electrification Associations, Land Banks and Production Credit Associations.

The one-day institute here is the last of four held this week in the state under sponsorship of the Department of Economics at North Carolina State University in cooperation with the Farmers Cooperative Council of North Carolina.

Similar institutes were conducted in Lenoir Tuesday, and Greensboro yesterday. A program was also held in Fayetteville today.

Chairman of the institute is H. B. Caldwell, executive vice-president of the Farmers Cooperative Council of N.C.

Glenn Heitz, deputy governor of the Farm Credit Administration, Washington, D.C.; Melvin Hearn, state director of the Farmers Home Administration; C. D. Colvard, manager of the N.C. Milk Producers Federation; J. C. Brown, manager of the Tarheel Electric Membership Association, are included in the institute staff of a dozen experts to be on hand.

Theme of the institute is "Toward New Horizons" and included on the program are discussions including cooperative accomplishments and achievements; urban-rural challenges to cooperatives; and cooperatives gearing for tomorrow.

Daley said, despite the report's findings, he would again, unequivocally, "support the policemen . . . in trying circumstances of convention week."

Conlisk said the summary, which severely criticized police, is incomplete and persons should read the entire report before reaching conclusions.

"I reject Mr. Walker's conclusion that the police were the rioters of convention week," Conlisk said.

"To speak of a police riot is to distort the history of those days in August," he added. "The world knows who the rioters were."

Plan Updating Of Ordinances

SNOW HILL — The Town Board of Snow Hill Tuesday night agreed to update the town ordinances.

The board voted to re-write the town ordinances and revise them to meet the needs of the new District Court system which went into effect Dec. 1.

The ordinances as re-written are expected to be more uniform with municipal ordinances in other towns.

In other business, the board members discussed the annual audit report and denied a request for rezoning an area within the town. The rezoning request was made by Joe Randolph and concerned the establishment of a restaurant in a residential area.

The board passed a resolution declaring Dec. 4 as Harry Richards Day in Snow Hill.

Richards, owner and operator of Harry's Cafe in Snow Hill for 33 years, has decided to sell his restaurant and move to Iowa to live with his daughter, Janal Richards.

Arrest Suspect For 5 Break-Ins

Joseph Winston Short, 23-year-old Negro of 804 Vanderbilt Lane has been arrested in connection with five local break-ins.

Chief H. F. Lawson said Short has been charged with breaking, entering and larceny of the Sunset Club, the West End Tea Room, Streeter's Pure Station and on two occasions, the Elke Lodge on Bonner's Lane.

The break-ins, the chief said, occurred over the past several weeks.

Police recovered about $24 reportedly taken in the break-ins.

In 1890, the wealth of the United States was more than $65 billion. About $9 billion of this was invested in railroads.

Missionaries, But Not Trying To 'Convert'

By ROBERT LINDSEY
Associated Press Writer

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) —Four-teen Roman Catholic seminarians and a priest have set up housekeeping in a low-income area of this Mississippi River city in an effort to try to communicate with the neighborhood residents, particularly the children.

"Our whole purpose is to get the kids to look to the church, any church," said the priest, the Rev. Patrick J. Berkery. "We want them to take interest in themselves and develop pride. We're not trying to convert them to the Catholic Church."

"The total idea of our group is communication through singing and writing. Not just to the people of the area. We want to tell other people what is going on in the inner city."

The seminarians use music as a basic tool.

"Popular music is the bible of the younger generation," Father Berkery said. "It has much to say about life and God."

Known now as the Contemporary Mission, the seminarians were originally established as the Montfort Mission. They left the Montfort Missionaries Order and changed their name because of a dispute with the superior of the Montfort facility over how much of their training should take place in low-income neighborhoods.

The Montfort fathers contended that the seminarians should spend most of their time in formal preparation for the priesthood. The seminarians contended that much of their time should be spent as missionaries in the inner city in an effort to get its young people to look to the Church for guidance.

Among the seminarians is a five-member folk-singing group known as "The Mission," the group previously recorded two record albums under the name of "The Montfort Singers" and has performed on national television.

Another member of the mission works as a disc jockey from 5 to 9 a.m. at a suburban radio station, KSHE, which features contemporary rock music. On the air he is known as "Brother Love."

The seminarians and Father Berkery, their leader, live in a two-story red brick flat in an area just north of downtown St. Louis. Residents are largely poor white families who migrated from the mid-South, but Negro families are beginning to move in.

During the day, the seminarians attend St. Louis University Divinity School where they are studying to become priests. At night they study and work with the children in the area and at a community center in a predominantly Negro section nearby.

The seminarians organize sporting events such as baseball and basketball games for the area youth. Father Berkery said they are always in need of sporting equipment, especially baseballs, bats, and gloves. The brothers installed a pool table for the youngsters at the community center.

"We plan to stay in the area," the Brooklyn-born Father Berkery said. "Although we had a dispute, we won't take our marbles and walk away."

"The organized churches, many of them Protestant, have been extremely sympathetic. They like what we are doing."

The group's dispute with the Montfort fathers reached a climax on May 7 when the superior general of the order announced that the seminarians had been separated from that religious congregation and no longer represented them "in any way."

The seminarians later declined to make their annual renewal vows to the order thus finalizing their separation from the Montfort fathers.

Father Berkery said the brothers are seeking standing within the Church as a new religious institute or as members of an established religious community.

Father Berkery said the seminarians always try to be available for youngsters when they are in trouble. "We try to get their trust and you don't, get that by preaching to them," he said.

The priest said all their living expenses, the brothers' tuition, and the money used on youth projects, come from profits made on books they have written and their record albums.

"We sing about starvation, ignorance and poverty," one member said.

Farm Operators Reminded Applications Due Dec. 31

Farm operators in Pitt County were reminded today that applications for the transfer of cotton allotments for the 1969 crop should be filed no later than Dec. 31, 1968.

W. F. Tyson, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, explains that notices of the cotton allotment and the projected yield for individual farms have already been mailed to county farmers, so farm operators now are in position to make their production plans for next season.

In Pitt County, growers voting in a special referendum (earlier this year) approved transfer of acreage allotment—by sale or lease — out of the county, so the transfer of acreage allotments locally may be made from one farm to another within the State. In no case may allotments be transferred to another farm outside the State.

Transfers of allotments between farms within the county and from a farm owned to a farm operated by the same individual are not subject to approval in a referendum. However, it is necessary that such transfers of allotments be filed with the county ASCS office before the December 31 deadline.

Retain Prisoner Until Competent

YADKINVILLE, N. C. (AP) —Twenty-three years ago Eugene Scales was admitted to a North Carolina mental hospital at Goldsboro after being charged with killing his three daughters.

Wednesday, Judge Robert A. Collier of Statesville ordered Scales held in prison until he is declared mentally competent to be returned to society.

The 60-year-old Negro, formerly of Forbush, has pleaded no contest in Yadkin Superior Court to manslaughter charges. Officials had said Scales threw his daughters into a well at his home on Jan. 27, 1947.

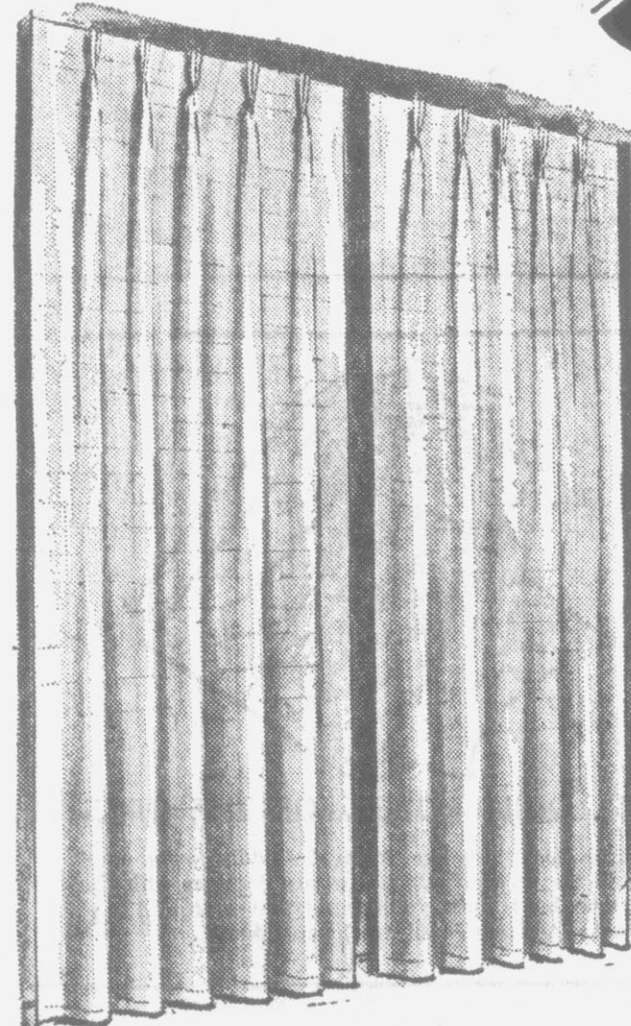

In September—more than two decades after being admitted to the mental hospital—Scales was declared competent to stand trial.

In mid-November he was returned to Yadkin County. He will be held at Central Prison in Raleigh until state correction officials and the medical staff at the Goldsboro hospital determine that he is competent to be released.

In Wednesday's non-jury trial, Collier issued an "indeterminate sentence of not less than 30 days nor more than 20 years" — Scales after hearing testi-

Justice Decries Word-Distortion

CHAPEL HILL (AP) — Associate Justice I. Beverly Lake of the North Carolina Supreme Court says "sloppy thinking has combined with emotionalism and political demagoguery to distort the meaning of a fine word—discrimination."

Lake told law students at Chapel Hill Wednesday that "discrimination — the recognition of differences both of kind and of degree—is essential to justice."

"The insistence," he said, "that differences between people, times and conditions be recognized and taken into account in making and applying rules is another major part of the role of the lawyer in perpetuating a just and orderly government."

In his talk prepared for a meeting of the Student Bar Association at the University of North Carolina, Lake said: "To treat unequals alike is gross injustice, as truly as is treating equals differently. It is also stupid, which is a much more frequent and often a more far reaching fault in government than is injustice."

Plans For Sewer Outfall Adopted By Bethel Board

BETHEL — The Town Board Tuesday night discussed recommendations and plans for a sewer outfall pipeline to be constructed in the future. It was shown that eventually such an outfall would be required to satisfactorily take care of Bethel's sewage disposal problems.

Hilton and Gus Tetterton appeared before the board with a proposal for a new development area west of Bethel, to be named Cherry Land.

Chief of Police and Superintendent of Streets Walter Gray informed the board that the new garbage truck was working satisfactorily and should pay for itself within the next two years.

In final action, the board voted to pay the bills.

Vandiford Is Re-Elected Greene Board Chairman

SNOW HILL — J. Roy Vandiford was re-elected chairman of the Greene County Commissioners Monday, while Claude Wade was re-elected vice-chairman of the county board.

O. P. Miller Jr. and Frank L. Walston Jr. took the oath of office for four-year terms on the board. Miller won re-election to the office in November, while Walston was elected at that time to replace Joe Edmondson, who did not seek re-election.

George L. Mewborn Jr. was re-appointed county accountant and assigned duties as clerk to the board, tax supervisor and treasurer. The board also re-appointed Walter G. Sheppard as county attorney and named tax lists for the 1969 listing period.

The listers approved included Craven Harper for Bull Head Township; Sam B. Tugwell for Carrs Township; T. G. Sutton Jr. for Hookerton Township; Joe E. Jones for Olds Township; J. B. McLawhorn for Ormonds Township; J. A. Smith for Shine Township; Mrs. J. M. Carraway for Snow Hill Township; and Raydock Gay for Speights Bridge Township.

Commissioner Miller was named to represent the board on the political action committee of the North Carolina Association of County Commissioners, while Commissioner Walston was named as the board's representative on the Greene County Fire Commission.

According to Mewborn, the 50 per cent of appraised value ratio will be used to figure taxes in the county for 1969. That is the same ratio that has been used for the past several years, Mewborn noted.

Commissioners heard from a group of women from Hookerton who requested the establishment of a branch of the county library at Hookerton.

The board referred the women to the County Library Board and suggested the proposal be submitted to the group.

At present, the only county library facility is in Snow Hill and is a part of the Neuse Regional Library which includes facilities in Greene, Lenoir and Jones counties.

In other business, commissioners approved a small contribution to the Caswell Center in Kinston for the Christmas fund there, and adopted a resolution recommending to the North Carolina State Highway Commission that U.S. 264 be extended from Zebulon westward through Raleigh, to Durham to connect with Interstate 85.

Such an extension, commissioners said, would make east-bound travel easier for motorists coming from the Raleigh-Durham area and areas of Western North Carolina.

County commissioners also heard routine reports from various county agencies.

White House Residents Influence U.S. Styles

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
NEW YORK (AP) — As the Lyndon Johnsons clear their closets of LBJ hats, Hickey Freeman suits, Mollie Parnis and Adele Simpson dresses, the American fashion industry ponders what new styles will replace them.

It matters to formalwear manufacturers whether the new president elects to be a boiled shirt fan or a black tie and tux man. Not only Washington but the nation will literally follow suit.

It matters to the families of hatmakers whether the top man covers his thinning curls with a topper. And it matters to furriers whether Mrs. Richard M. Nixon abandons her "good Republican cloth coat," as her husband describes it.

It matters to dress designers which of their labels the new First Lady chooses to hang in her wardrobe.

Whether their style is imitated, the fashion choices of the First Family are equivalent in prestige to the British crown's court appointments.

Although the Nixons are not as handicapped in following the Johnsons as the Joanson ladies were in following the elegant Mrs. John F. Kennedy, they will necessarily develop a greater fashion consciousness.

"I've never known a First Lady yet who did not become more aware of clothes," says Mollie Parnis who has known and dressed the ladies of four administrations. "She becomes more conscious of how clothes look in photographs, how they walk or sit down, or wrinkle, or whether the press might be critical of them."

"In the early days of the Johnson administration, the catfish of the fashion press meowed at what it considered the plain, slightly overweight, and dowdy dressed teen-aged girls and their mother. Soon enough they were purring with praise for the suddenly slimmer and prettier trio who had wisely submitted themselves to make up and fashion expertise.

As her husband's political star has risen, Pat Nixon's tastes have evolved from fussy little lace debutante dresses with corsets on the shoulder to simple and sophisticated garments in the $150 to $200 class.

On the whole, the garment district is pleased with the 56-year-old, Size 10 Mrs. Nixon and her Eastern boarding school-type daughters, Julie and Pat.

"Her daughters will keep her on her toes, keep her with it," observed Vince Monte-Sano, president of the New York Couture Group.

The dean of American couturiers, Norman Norell was delighted that Mrs. Nixon has appeared in several photographs wearing the same suit, "a classic little thing with cross tabs on the shoulders."

"That's good," Norell said. "She's putting fashion in its proper perspective. A First Lady should not be so enthralled with fashion that she has to wear something different every day."

Although flowers, veils and straw sailors used to cap the once brown now blonde tresses of Pat Nixon, today she seldom covers her casually curled, sometimes teased coiffures.

"I doubt if she would have much influence on the hat wearing habits of women anyway," mused a spokesman for the Millinery Institute. "You have to have a very strong personality to be a trend-setter."

But as Monte-Sano points out "Jackie had an ethereal quality which was hers alone. The average woman could admire that. Still, they could not really identify with it."

"Mrs. Nixon's good looks are basic. Actually, they are much more attainable than the glamorous Jackie's."

Perhaps the heaviest fashion penalty Mrs. Nixon was said to have paid for her husband's political ambitions, was to give up the public luxury of a fur coat.

As a result of Nixon mentioning her "good Republican cloth coat" in his 1952 television defense of his campaign funds, Mrs. Nixon went without furs—at least publicly—for years. However, she now has an Afghanistan broadtail coat made from pelts obtained during a visit there, and recently she became the owner of a blond mink.

Though President Dwight D. Eisenhower inspired the military jacket, and by example President Harry S. Truman provided the courage to wear gaudily flowered sports shirts, men in public office have not been looked upon as style pacesetters and therefore were fairly free of fashion criticism.

But like his wife, John F. Kennedy cut such a dashing figure that he changed all that. When haters blamed a growing bareheadedness on the Kennedy's disdain for a hat, he obliged by carrying one. On the other hand, he did not give in to the howls of formalwear manufacturers over his refusal to wear white tie and tails.

Johnson's favorite suit was a dark charcoal worsted with a hint of pinstripe. Always a tiny inch-high triangle of a handkerchief peeked out of his breast-pocket. But Johnson has firmly insisted on an elephantine cut of his trousers despite a 15-year trend for slimmer trousers. The next president is not likely to be caught in his shirt sleeves, photographers on his campaign trail discovered. They tried hard to capture Nixon's image "more humanly," as they explained it to his campaign managers. But the subject refused to loose his tie or peel off his jacket.

Like choosing basic solid grays or blues with medium lapels, cuffed trousers, slimmer than Johnson's, Nixon presents as table, upper middle class image, one he has not departed from in his rise in Republican ranks.

"I wish I could say he is with it," sighed a spokesman for the American Institute of Men's and Boyswear. "All I can say is he dresses correctly for statesmanship."

Many leaders in the men's wear industry are hopeful that relaxing in Key Biscayne will thaw out Nixon's inhibitions about sportswear, much as Key West put Truman in the mood for floral sports shirts.

Nevertheless, the fashion industry views the Nixon administration as a return to formality

Hayakawa Pursuing Path Of Negotiation

By JIM CHURCH
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — S. I. Hayakawa, acting president of San Francisco State College, pursued negotiations with campus dissidents today after a period of relative calm.

When Wednesday passed without any serious confrontation, the president said he would ask "higher authorities" for funds to meet some of the Black Student Union's demands which touched off a month of turmoil on the 18,000-student campus.

He refused to elaborate.

About 1,000 persons—the largest group of demonstrators yet—were herded out of the campus quadrangle Wednesday afternoon by 500 policemen.

Unlike the violent outbreak Tuesday, there were no injuries and only three persons—two white students and a Negro identifying himself as a reporter—were arrested on charges of assault and disturbing the peace. That brought the total arrests since Monday to 45. The only student suspensions were five Monday and nine Tuesday.

Hayakawa, who replaced resigning Robert R. Smith Nov. 26, reported classroom attendance as "normal" Wednesday morning, but like the previous two days, it dropped off in the afternoon.

He summoned police after a line of chanting students—8 to 10 abreast—snaked around the quadrangle, disrupting classes. They chanted "Pigs off campus! Shut it down!"

Speaking over an amplifier atop the administration building, Hayakawa warned about 3,000—most of them bystanders—to disperse. Exasperated when some booed him, he said: "All of you are looking for something gruesome to happen. It may happen to you."

Take A Cruise And Avoid The Problems Plaguing Visitors To Other Lands

By MURRAY J. BROWN
UPI Travel Editor
ABOARD THE M.S. EUROPA (UPI) — How can you visit foreign exotic lands without worrying about where to sleep, eat, have fun and some of the other problems which can plague the traveler on the go? It's a cinch. Take a cruise.

We and about 470 other passengers found out how easy island hopping can be aboard North German Lloyd's Luxury liner Europa on a seven-port, 14-day cruise to the Caribbean from New York.

Once we had unpacked our bags and settled down in our cabins, our worries were over. The 21,500-ton liner served as our floating hotel resort throughout, providing top accommodations and meals and a full schedule of entertainment and other activities in port as well as on the sea.

Ports of call included Puerto Rico, St. Croix and St. Thomas in the U.S. Virgin Islands, Guadeloupe in the French West Indies and the British-flavored islands of Grenada, Barbadoes and St. Vincent.

The outbound run from New York to San Juan, and the homeward leg from St. Thomas, took about 3½ days. The Caribbean itinerary was plotted so the Europa could cruise from island to island during the night.

Plenty of Time
We spent about 10 to 18 hours on each of the seven islands, time enough for sightseeing, shopping, swimming and even to drink and dance or watch native entertainment at a local night club or bar. Many of the passengers arranged to return to the Europa for lunch and dinner, thus cutting down on expenses ashore.

Completely air-conditioned, the Europa operates as a one-class ship in cruise service with all passengers, regardless of their accommodations, enjoying the same privileges in the dining room and of all other public facilities. The Europa, which carries up to 786 passengers on trans-Atlantic voyages, restricts cruise passengers to a total of 470 so there is only one sitting for breakfast, lunch and dinner. There is room service, too, for those who prefer to dine alone.

And what meals! The breakfast menu alone lists more than 100 items, including such hearty waker-ups as chicken livers with mushrooms in burgundy, sirloin steak with french fries, and steak tartare. Lunch and dinner are full-course (up to 10) meals of gourmet delights, featuring a choice of entrees a la German, French, American and other cuisines. And there is an excellent wine list with prices you can hardly afford to pass up.

Many Activities
Between meals, there are other things to do. There are more than a score of public rooms aboard the Europa, including three lounges with music and entertainment, a swinging late-late night club, four indoor and outdoor bars, writing, reading and card rooms and a 200-seat theater. Church services are held daily in the theater by a Roman Catholic chaplain and a Protestant minister.

There's a gift shop, beauty salon and barber shop. Do-it-yourself laundry and pressing facilities are available.

The Europa has two pools—one outdoors on the Upper Deck and an indoor one below on A deck complete with suana, massage parlors and a gym.

A printed schedule of the day's events—when cruising or in port—is delivered daily to your cabin along with a resume of world news from United Press International. Activities would include free dancing and German language lessons, calisthenics and golf classes, trap shooting, ping pong and shuffleboard, card games, bingo or horse racing games and a German brass band concert on deck.

The Army post exchange (PX) and Air Force base exchange (BX) comprise the nation's third largest non-food retail empire. The PX and BX rang up profits of $113 million in the fiscal year that ended last Jan. 25 on sales of $2.1 billion.

Phantoms Open Cage Season Friday With Rams

Ayden Beaten In Only Four Left On Unbeaten List; Heavy Slate On Friday

PIKEVILLE — Charles B. Aycock High School handed the Ayden Tornadoes a pair of defeats last night as Ayden opened its 1968-69 basketball season.

The Falcons took a 58-47 decision, while the Aycock girls were winning, 45-37.

In the girls opener, Ayden edged out into a 12-10 lead in the first period, but Aycock came back to gain a 19-19 tie at the half.

In the third period, Ayden again edged ahead, this time to a slim 29-28 lead as the third quarter ended.

But in the final period, Aycock outscored Ayden, 17-8, to move ahead and claim the win.

Kay Kite led Ayden with 10 points, while Linda West and Judy Bradshaw each had 10 to pace Aycock.

The boys game turned out to be much like the girls contest in the opening quarter. Ayden moved out into a slim lead by the buzzer, 13-10. But in the second period, Aycock again rallied, but this time moved ahead, and held a 26-23 edge at the half.

The Falcons continued to move ahead in the third period, and built their lead to 37-30 as the final quarter got underway. In that frame, Aycock poured in 21 points, while Ayden got 17, to insure the Falcon win.

George Booth led Ayden with 15 points, while Andy McLawhorn had 14.

For Aycock, Barnes had 26 and Edgerton had 10. Ayden plays host to Farmville on Friday night.

GIRLS GAME
Ayden: Kite 10, Dail 7, Miller 7, Mumford 2, Stokes 1, J. McLawhorn 3, Claybrook 2, N. McLawhorn, Manning.
Aycock: West 10, Bradshaw 10, Boyette 7, Crawford 6, McClenny, Lancaster 1, Pippins 2, Dubberly 9.

BOYS GAME
Ayden: Booth 7, 11, Newcomb 5, 10, Wilton 2, 3, Jackson 1, 2, 4, Ross 1, 3, Zele 3, 6, Alcorn 0, 6, Aycock 1, 0, 2, Blalock 1, 0, 2, Griffin 3, 0, 6, Davis 1, 0, 2, Eason 0, 1, 1, Hare 0, 1, 1.
Totals: Ayden 19, 9, 47; Aycock 21, 16, 58.

The next week's basketball gets off to a pre-mature start tonight with two games on the schedule. The rest of the area teams join in on Friday night, with a full slate of activity also planned for Tuesday night.

Thursday night, Belvoir travels to West Edgecombe and South Ayden goes to Whitfield.

Only four teams are still posting unbeaten records, while one other is yet to start, Farmville.

Testimony May Wind Up Today

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — With only two witnesses waiting to testify today, the Kentucky Racing Commission could wind up its investigation into the controversy surrounding Dancer's Image.

Chairman George Egger has given no indication where or when the commission will begin reviewing the evidence accumulated during 12 days of hearings often highlighted by heated exchanges between opposing attorneys.

They have been arguing one point: Did Peter Fuller's colt, winner of the Kentucky Derby, have the illegal medication phenylbutazone in his system as indicated by a post-race urinalysis.

The report originated with state chemist Kenneth W. Smith and he returned to the stand Wednesday for the second time to defend it.

Offering to stake his reputation on his accuracy, Smith went over the five tests he had run on the urine, said all of them proved positive for the drug, and then added: "I am 100 per cent sure."

He had made a similar statement to Churchill Downs stewards last May just before they took the $122,600 purse from Dancer's Image and awarded it to Forward Pass, which finished second.

During the afternoon and evening sessions Wednesday, Smith clashed frequently with Fuller's chief counsel, Arthur Grafton, who insisted there were many discrepancies in the chemists testimony.

The first and only $3 million day in Florida horse racing history took place at Hialeah Park on Widener Day in 1965.

The Rocky Mount, N.C., Leafs of the Carolina League again will be connected with the world champion Detroit Tigers in 1969.

Among the unbeaten are the tral.

Bethel girls, 7-0; Stokes-Pactolus, 7-0; and Greene Central and South Ayden, both 1-0.

All four will be trying to extend their streaks during the coming seven days.

Friday's action finds South Edgecombe visiting Grafton, Snow Hill at Robinson, Robersonville at Winterville, Chicod at William Gaston, Saratoga at Greene Central, Bethel Union at Sugg, Bethel at Lee Woodard, Jamesville at Stokes, Farmville at Ayden, and Eppes at Kins-ton.

Tuesday night, it's North Edgecombe at Belvoir, Rocky Mount at Eppes, Grafton at South Edgecombe, Winterville at Robersonville, Ayden at Greene Central, Farmville at Bethel, Robinson at Bethel Union, Chicod at Vanceboro, Stokes at West Edgecombe and South Ayden at Goldsboro Cen-

With all teams joining in now, the scoring race will begin to take on a true picture. This week's totals are not quite realistic since some teams have only one game, while others have as many as seven.

Among those who've played several games, Richard Roberson of Bethel Union is leading the pack with a 20.0 average. He's followed by Hoyt Haddock of Stokes with a 17.6 average. Behind him comes Eddie Stokes of Bethel with a 14.9 mark.

Bunched together are Jeff Jones of Robinson at 14.6, Ronnie Stokes of Winterville at 14.5, and Douglas Dunning of Bethel at 14.4. They are followed by Smith of Robinson at 13.4, William Shivar of Belvoir at 13.3, Bethel, Robinson at Bethel Union, John Corey of Stokes at 12.9 and Garland Warren of Chicod at 12.7.

The top ten among those with just one game are Willie Smith of Eppes with 25, Ronald Bowen of Greene Central with 18, David Mayo of South Ayden with 17, John Roundtree of South Aden with 16, George Booth of Ayden, Charlie Harris of Eppes, Robbie Hill of Greene Central, Alonza McRorie of Robersonville, and Willie Grimmes of South Aden, all with 15. Rounding out the group are David Jones of Greene Central and Andy McLawhorn of Ayden with 14 each.

Only three girls have better than a 10-point average among those with several games. They are Debbie Purvis and Susan James of Bethel, averaging 13.0 and 10.4, respectively. Winterville's Faye Everett has a 12.9 average.

Among girls with just one game, Ayden's Kay Kite has 10 points and Robersonville's Debbie Edmundson has 11.

Rose High School will open its 1968-69 basketball season Friday night, by playing host to the Havelock Rams.

Coach Nelson Best will unveil his charges against the Rams in the Rose gym at 8 p.m. It will be the first game for both teams.

Havelock claims to have no returning starters, however, two of those expected to start against the Phantoms started in the final few games of the season and helped the Rams to victories.

"These two boys are a pair of guards, Glenn Brown and Robert Jenkins," Best said. "Jenkins is probably their best all-around player. Brown, at 6-0, is real quick."

Roland Fisher, at 6-4, is listed as a fine jumper who saw a lot of action last year. He is expected to start at the center position.

At the two forward spots will be Vaughn Strum, 6-3, up from the junior varsity, and Clyde Godwin, also 6-3.

The Phantoms have two starters returning, Billy Taylor and Mike Harrington. Guard Billy Clark also saw a lot of action, and will probably be the quarterback of this year's team.

Joining these veterans will be John Crawley and Ray Peszko.

Overall, the Phantoms will have some of the best height in the conference. They have the experience to give them an upper division finish this year and a good shot at the title.

Taylor and Harrington are questionably, however, due to injuries.

Following Friday's opening game, the Phants will travel to Tarboro on Tuesday for their second dose of action, also in the conference.

The Tigers opened their season Tuesday night against Ahoskie and fell to a 53-45 defeat, but Best feels that they are still somewhat getting over the late football season.

"They can be tough on the boards. They have a man 6-4 and about 215 who is going to be rough underneath. Their height is about equal to ours, and they'll be hard to handle."

Bo Robinson, one of the few returning veterans, should be the team leader both in ball control and in scoring.

Top Scorers Lead In Wins

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Spencer Haywood and Calvin Murphy, who figure to be a couple of hot shots in college basketball this season, each enjoyed 38-point scoring sprees Wednesday night.

Haywood, star of the U.S. Olympic team, led the 15th-ranked Detroit Titans to a 103-48 romp over Windsor, Ont., for their third straight. Murphy paced the Niagara Purple Eagles over Buffalo State 118-97. Both were home court victories.

Haywood, a 6-foot-8 sophomore, now has scored 112 points in three games. Murphy, a 5-10 sharpshooting junior who finished second in last year's national scoring race, has 64 in two games for Niagara.

John Tolmie threw in 33 points to lead Navy over Harvard 70-58 at Annapolis while Aaron Jenkins and Bill Cain combined for 48 points to spearhead Iowa State over 20th ranked Tennessee 72-66 at Knoxville.

Jenkins tallied 25 and Cain 23 as Iowa State handed the Vols their first home court defeat in eight years to a non-SEC Conference foe.

Two quick baskets by Jenkins stifled a Tennessee rally when the Vols had crept to within 48-47.

None of the Top Ten teams in the Associated Press poll saw action. St. Bonaventure, No. 11 opened its season with a 111-70 romp over Detroit College at Olean as Bob Lanier and Jim Satalin each tallied 23 points.

California, No. 19, opened at home by defeating San Jose State 103-98 while Iowa, tied for No. 20 with Tennessee, downed Northern Michigan at home 99-69.

St. Joseph's of Philadelphia went two overtimes to down Bowling Green on the road 90-88. Ed Leonarczyk gave the Hawks a 74-74 tie at the end of regulation time with a basket as the buzzer sounded.

Dick Rudgers scored as the buzzer sounded ending the first OT to give Bowling Green an 82-82 tie. Jim Lynch's layup in the final second of the second extra period finally won for St. Joseph's.

Hank South got 34 points to lead Cornell over Syracuse, 92-81, at Ithaca while Fordham at Ithaca while Fordham whipped Yale 98-85 in New York.

In other home court victories, Alabama trounced Texas 88-62, Dayton downed Gannon 91-71, Chicago Loyola whipped St. John's of Minnesota 90-63, Memphis State thumped UTexas, Arlington, 81-49 and LaSalle inaugurated its Tom Gola coaching regime by swamping Baltimore Univ., 100-57.

Pirate Swimmers Opening On Friday

East Carolina University's freshmen. "We have some pre-swimming team will open its 1968-69 schedule Friday afternoon at 4 p.m. against the University of South Carolina. The meet will be held in the Minges Coliseum Natatorium.

"This is an old grudge match for us," Coach Ray Scharf said of the meeting. Several years ago, East Carolina won a close match over South Carolina, and ever since then the match has been a tough one for both teams.

"They'll be at least as tough as they were last year," Scharf said. "They beat us then as badly as anyone during the year. They didn't lose much, so they should be real strong."

The strong point for the Pirates, however, could be their ty good boys to fill the shoes of those who have graduated, and it will probably be up to them as to how we do. There is some sickness problem which we hope will be overcome by meet time, and this could cause us some problems."

"They'll be up for the meet, and so will we. It could be a real close meet, possibly going into the final relay."

The Pirates take to the road on Monday to meet N. C. State, which Scharf rates as the best team on the Buc schedule this year. "They lost quite a few top people, but they've got some great replacements. They're loaded, and all we can do is our best there."

The Bucs return home next Friday to host Old Dominion.

Strike May Hit Baseball Clubs

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"I don't think the owners think we're serious," said Pittsburgh pitcher Jim Bunning. "We're trying to convince them that we are."

The Major League Players Association dropped a bombshell into the serene midst of the annual winter baseball meetings Wednesday—previously nothing more exciting than the lowering of the pitcher's mound had occurred—when they asked players not to sign their 1969 contracts until the dispute was settled.

In their statement, signed by about 100 players and read to a crowded hallway press conference by Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players Association, the players accused the owners of making various threats to the players to get them to sign their contracts.

"Some of the clubs, but not all," Miller said, "have engaged in a program of pressuring players in an attempt to have them sign contracts."

"Young players have been told to sign now or play in the minor leagues next year. Others . . . have been told that they will never get the necessary five years of service unless they sign."

"Veterans have been told that baseball has a long memory, and if they refuse to sign now, they should forget about staying in baseball after their careers have ended," he said.

Warren Giles, president of the National League, denied threats had been made.

"I can't believe it," he said. "I'm not saying anybody's lying, but I know of no instances of threats being made."

Bunning, player representative of the Pirates, disagreed, saying, "A lot of players who are indebted to their ball clubs have been threatened to sign or else. A lot of players borrowed money to tide them over the winter."

The players are demanding a percentage of radio and television receipts. The owners insist that they will pay only a flat fee and will not negotiate the matter of percentages.

Jerold C. Hoffberger, an owner of the Baltimore Orioles and member of the owners' player-relations committee, said, "I don't believe the players should share in the radio-TV money any more than the gate receipts or the sale of peanuts."

He added, "If players want a guarantee on TV income, fine. But I want to know: Will they be willing to accept a decrease if it goes down? There's no guarantee it will stay up there."

Gamecocks Edge By Wake Forest Five

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

For the first time in a dozen years, North Carolina State plays New York University at Madison Square Garden tonight.

The last time the Wolfpack played in the Garden was in March, 1956, when that year's Atlantic Coast Conference champions lost to Canisius in four overtimes, 79-78. That game was in the NCAA tournament.

But State defeated NYU the only previous time the teams have met. That game was in 1947 and the score was 47-43. So far this year, both schools have won one game and lost none. NYU defeated Herbert Lehman 80-58 and State defeated Atlantic Christian 82-75.

There is one other ACC game on tap tonight. Virginia takes on Richmond of the Southern Conference at Richmond.

Two games involving ACC teams were played Wednesday night.

South Carolina won its first league victory of the season, downing Wake Forest 68-63 behind the shooting of guard John Roche, who had 25 points.

In the other game, Maryland lost 86-65 to West Virginia of the Southern Conference.

Grieb And Tyson Given A-A Honorable Mention

NEW YORK (AP) — North Carolina State center Carey Metts today was named to the second team of the All-America college football list selected by The Associated Press.

No other Atlantic Coast Conference or Southern Conference player was named to the All-America first or second teams. Gegg Shelly of Virginia, a tackle, was named to the third team.

Honorable mentions included: Henley Carter, Duke; Fred Ziegler, South Carolina; Mike Kelly, Davidson; Walker Gillette, Richmond; Wayne Fowler, Richmond; Ralph Beatty, William & Mary; Don Jordan, North Carolina State; Chuck Hammer, Virginia; Bob Biddle, Virginia Military; Ben Grich, East Carolina; Bob Herb, William & Mary; Frank Quayle, Virginia; Buddy Gore, Clemson; Jim McMillan, The Citadel; Terry Morton, William & Mary; Bobby Hall, North Carolina State.

Also, Leo Hart, Duke; Buster O'Brien, Richmond; Gordon Sade, Davidson; Fred Summers, Wake Forest; Ron Duncworth, Clemson; Mark Capuano, North Carolina State; Mel Medved, Richmond; Jim Rathbun, The Citadel; Buzz Montsinger, Richmond; Ron Carpenter, North Carolina State.

Also, Eddie Watkins, The Citadel; Don Tyson, East Carolina; Bob Paczkowski, Virginia; Dick Irvin, Richmond; Burt Waite, William & Mary; Dick Biddle, Duke; Jimmy Catoe, Clemson; Pat Turchetta, Richmond; Ken Isaac, The Citadel; Gary Diaz, The Citadel; Jim Barton, Young North Carolina State; Digit Laughridge, Wake Forest; and Wally Oreal, South Carolina.

Cellar Teams In SC Battle

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Furman's Paladins and Virginia Military Institute's Keydets have shared one dubious distinction in the very young Southern Conference basketball season—both opened their seasons in the lair of Davidson's Wildcats.

There was a slight difference. Whereas VMI battled the front-running Wildcats down to the wire before bowing last Saturday night 8-72, the Paladins were all but run out of the gym Tuesday night in a 105-70 defeat.

The two get together tonight at Lexington, Va., with the winner breaking out of a logjam at the bottom of the league standings that also involves Richmond's Spiders, 97-93 losers Tuesday night at George Washington.

Furman has lost just the one game to Davidson. VMI is bringing up the rear with two defeats as a result of an 88-70 licking Monday night at The Citadel.

Three VMI players will carry double-figure scoring averages against Furman, but the Pala-dins have the top scorer of them all—All-Southern Dick Easley, who poured in 31 in the losing stand at Davidson.

The game is one of two tonight involving conference teams. Richmond will try to break its two-game losing streak in the other at Virginia of the Atlantic Coast Conference. It will be the season-opener for the Cavaliers.

All league teams were idle Wednesday night.

O. J. (Who Else?) Leads All-American Selections

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Southern California' O.J. Simpson, the runaway pacemaker in a season dominated by brilliant ball-carriers, heads the array of college football stars named today to The Associated Press 1968 All-America team.

Simpson, the Heisman Trophy winner who lugged the ball more times and gained more yards this fall than anyone ever had in one season, earned All-America honors for the second consecutive year.

Versatile halfback Leroy Keyes of Purdue, pass-catching marvel Ron Sellers of Florida State and towering defensive end Ted Hendricks of Miami, Fla., join the Trojan flash as repeaters from the 1967 All-America squad.

Chris Gilbert, Texas' explosive tailback, moved up from last year's second team to nail a running back spot alongside Simpson and Keyes. Terry Hanratty, who masterminded Notre Dame's awesome attack until he was grounded by a November knee injury edged Kansas ace Bob Douglas for the quarterback post.

Tackle Bill Stanfill and safety Jake Scott, ringleaders of Georgia's mighty defense unit, were solid first team choices. Penn State and Tennessee also landed two players apiece on the 22-man squad, tight end Ted Kwalick and linebacker Dennis Ontkatz representing the unbeaten Nittany Lions; offensive guard Charles Rosenfelder and linebacker Steve Kiner the Vols.

Scott, Ontkatz, Kiner and the third linebacker, Mike Widger of Virginia Tech, were the only underclassmen selected.

Kwalick, a 6-foot-4, 230-pound strongman regarded as the finest college tight end in nearly a decade, mans one flank. Sellers, a slender, 6-foot-4 game-breaker who caught 86 passes to lead the nation and set an all-time career record for yards gained on receptions, holds down the other.

Dave Foley of Ohio State, a 255-pound blockbuster, and 235-pound Mike Montler of Colorado are the offensive tackles. Jarling Jim Barnes of Arkansas is Rosenfelder's running mate at guard and 24-pound John Dillion of Oregon State, a second team pick last year, is the No. 1 center.

Joining Hendricks, Miami's 6-foot-8, 222-pound Mad Stork, and the 6-foot-5, 245-pound Stanfill on the defensive line are end John Zook of Kansas, mammoth tackle Joe Greene of North Texas State and tenacious middle guard Ed White of California.

Greene is the heavyweight at 274 pounds. Zook goes 230 and White 245.

Al Worley, Washington's record-setting pass bandit, and premier punt returner Roger Wehrli of Missouri complete the deep secondary alongside Scott, who excelled in both departments for the bulldogs.

The AP All-America selectors had no trouble filling one running back berth. Simpson, a durable 207-pounder with 9.4 sprinter's speed and uncanny instinct for hitting the holes, was a landslide choice after leading the unbeaten Trojans to their second straight Pacific 8 Conference title.

O.J. rambled through and around opponents' stacked defenses for 1,709 yards, an all-time NCAA record, while averaging 36 carries per game and bolting for 22 touchdowns. Behind the Southern Cal comet, however, there were more than half a dozen magnificent backs with credentials worthy of All-America Stature.

Keyes, although hampered by injuries, rambled for 1,003 rushing yards, caught passes and threw them, scored 15 touchdowns and played some defense for the Boilermakers. The 6-foot-3, 205-pound speedster placed second in the Heisman balloting.

Gilbert, a 180-pound wraith, was the workhorse in Texas' hard-driving full House backfield. He became the first back ever to roll up more than 1,000 yards for three straight years, finishing with 1,132 for a career total of 3,231—third highest in history.

Michigan's Ron Jonsson, whose 347-yard, five-touchdown performance against Wisconsin was the biggest single-game spree ever, also topped the 1,000-yard mark. So did Oklahoma's Steve Owens, Houston's Paul Gipson, Oregon State's Bill "Earthquake" Enyart, Army's Charley Jarvis and West Texas State's Eugene "Mercury" Morris.

Hanratty rewrote the Notre Dame record book, eclipsing George Gipp's career total offense mark along the way, before torn knee ligaments, which required surgery, cut short his senior year at seven games.

Douglass, a slick southpaw passer and roll-out runner, sparked Kansas to a 9-1 regular season finish and an Orange Bowl berth opposite Penn State.

The selectors also were faced with a preponderance of excellent wide receivers. Jerry Levias, the 162-pound Southern Methodist bantam who snared 80 passes, and Jim Seymour, Hanratty's elusive aerial partner at Notre Dame, were just behind the Kwalick-Sellers combination—and just ahead of Stanford's swift Gen Washington and Oklahoma's Eddie Hinton.

Legalized Gambling Has Unexpected Result

LONDON (UPI)—Vicar (to compulsive gambler) — Gamblers never go to heaven. Gambler—Yes they do. Vicar—Two to one they don't. They used to giggle at this sort of joke in the music halls of Britain but it wouldn't raise a wan smile on Prime Minister Harold Wilson these days. For gambling, in the bettingting country in Europe, is no longer a laughing matter and the government is being forced to do something tough about it at last.

Eight years ago, recognizing the national weekends for a wager, the conservative government legalized gambling casinos and betting shops in an effort to control and tax some of the outlay then estimated at $1.8 billion a year.

The government soon discovered it had underestimated the ingenuity and resource of the gambling world. Far from damping down the betting boom, it had the opposite effect and gambling is now running at more than double—an estimated $4.8 billion a year—and even worse it is being accompanied, as Home Secretary James Callaghan informed Parliament, by reports of protection rackets, violence, blackmail and murder.

Drum Ends

The cosy dreams of happy Britons placing an occasional bet faded quickly. What Britain has on its hands now is a thriving gambling industry employing some 100,000 persons directly or in supply businesses. It cities are studded with 1,200 casinos ranging from the converted town mansions of the aristocracy to dingy dens in the shady Soho area of London.

here are thousands of betting shops, often in shopping districts. Housewives dashing out to buy the groceries and to speculate on the horses at the same time are commonplaces of the day.

Even this might have been tolerated if the vast wealth had not attracted gangsters from all over Europe and, reportedly, the Mafia from the United States.

"A number of clubs have become the haunt of criminals," Callaghan said. "Money of dubious origin has been put into the business and the rich pickings to be made—I regret to say—more easily here than anywhere in Europe have attracted unwelcome attention from foreign interests of a wholly undesirable kind."

And with that he ushered through Commons to all-party approval the second reading of a new bill intended to cap the gambling gusher.

The legislation will be administered by a three-man gambling board headed by Sir Stanley Raymond who has already said he will cut the number of gambling casinos by 75 per cent. This means some 900 will go out of business. Those which remain will have to pass stringent examination of the integrity of their financing and personnel.

For this scrutiny another member of the board is Sir Randolph Bacon, who used to be one of the top men at Scotland Yard Raymond is also taking advice from gambling administrators in Nevada and Monte Carlo.

The more lavish clubs, where some of the highest stake gambling in the world goes on have welcomed the new bill. The British Gambling Association, which has several hundred members, believes that properly run British gambling gives the better the best odds in the world.

It alleges the house here doesn't have much of an edge over an intelligent player. As an example it claims an American blackjack expert won $168,000 in London casinos in 1965.

The reputable clubs are delighted with a section of the new law which permits them to sue for payment of checks and the clubs have had no legal recourse. Some of the less scrupulous spots, however, have collected these checks by strongarm methods.

One of the problems facing the board is to regulate the industry without losing the peculiarly British character of gambling in the best run clubs. Some have managed to achieve so homey an atmosphere, despite the opulence of their salons, that some American visitors consider it almost a pleasure to lose money.

For everyone of these elite clubs there are dozens of middle class and working class restaurants and night clubs equipped with roulette wheels, dice tables, blackjack layouts and facilities for chemin-de-fer and baccarat. In these places the most popular chip is two shillings sixpence (30 cents). And the slot machines take sixpences.

Membership Nominal

Membership costs in the small-stake clubs are nominal, but they can be very high in the plus places one of which charges $360 an hour merely for the right to play chemin-de-fer at its tables.

Home Secretary Callaghan once remarked that "chips with everything" used to refer to the British fondness for French fried potatoes at every meal. Nowadays, he said, the appetite involved is gambling.

And he warned against underestimating the cunning of the gamblers who had converted the good intentions of the 1960 Gambling Act—an equal chance for everyone in every gambling game—into a bonanza for themselves.

"I should be surprised," he said, "if the club proprietors did not have other devices already worked out and in reserve and all requiring to be tested by lengthy court proceedings."

"It is like the dance of the seven veils. As each is stripped away the situation certainly becomes more transparent, but it takes an excessively long time to get to the point and when you get there, what is finally revealed is not necessarily beautiful."

India Preparing Nat'l Biographies

NEW DELHI (AP) — Thirteen hundred prominent personalities will be featured in a series of national biographies now under compilation by the Institute of Historical Studies.

The project, first of its kind in India, is based on the model of British national biographies.

The first three volumes, expected to be published by 1970, will cover the period between 1800 and 1947, and will naturally include the whole of the Indian subcontinent.

A post-independence volume will cover national personalities from 1947 until 1970. Supplementary volumes will be brought out at 10-year intervals.

School Building Sale Approved

SNOW HILL — The Greene County Board of Education Monday approved the sale of the old Shine Community School building to the Southern Belle Manufacturing Company.

The building, located on U.S. 13 in Greene County, sold for $5,000.

According to Southern Belle president Joseph Reeves of Rocky Mount, the building will be remodeled for immediate occupancy. He also indicated future plans call for the construction of a new structure on the site.

Manufacturers of medium-priced upholstered furniture, Southern Belle began operations originally in Rocky Mount and established a remnant outlet there and in Goldsboro.

Reeves said the Goldsboro remnant shop will be moved to the Shine Community where it will operate in conjunction with Southern Belle's furniture manufacturing plant there.

Operations in the new location in Greene County are expected to get underway by January.

In other business, the board members heard reports from the various department and program heads about the various programs being conducted in the Greene County schools.

CAN'T ALL AGREE

SRINAGAR, Kashmir (AP) — "God save this country if unanimity has to be achieved at every step and in every respect," said deputy prime minister Morarji Desai during the recent integration council meeting.

He was criticizing the attitude of certain chief ministers of states who said they would not be bound by a majority decision.

Eleven Counties For 'Metrolina'

By ROB WOOD

CHARLOTTE (AP) — If you live in Charlotte or one of the 11 counties surrounding the Queen City, you're now a resident of a place called Metrolina. This was all decided Wednesday afternoon at a news conference in the Charlotte Chamber of Commerce offices.

Today In Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration's last budget, expected to go to Capitol Hill Jan. 13, may be bigger than the $185 billion anticipated spending for this year.

"I wouldn't be a bit surprised" if it is, said Budget Director Charles Zwick.

Zwick commented Wednesday after giving the Cabinet a run-down on transition activities along with Chairman John W. Macy of the Civil Service Commission and White House aide Charles S. Murphy.

Macy said he expected 90 per cent of President Johnson's top appointees to stay on the job right up to the Jan. 20 inauguration.

Murphy, the President's representative overseeing transition operations, said plans for the changeover "seems to be going relatively smoothly."

WASHINGTON (AP) — South Korea is pressing the United States to speed delivery of arms to stem what it calls increased infiltration from the Communist North.

At the same time, South Korean Foreign Minister Choi Kyu-Hah said his government believes "more military assistance from the United States is required."

Choi spoke to newsmen Wednesday after meeting with Secretary of State Dean Rusk during a stopover in the capital. He was enroute to New York where he will head his country's observer mission to the United Nations.

Administration sources indicated they understood South Korea's concern, but said President Johnson can make no aid agreements that would bind the incoming administration.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $5,000 fine has been levied on the airline operating the charter plane that was forced down on Russian territory last June with 214 Vietnam-bound U.S. troops aboard.

The Federal Aviation Agency, announcing the fine against Seaboard World Airlines Wednesday, said some of the plane's radar was not working and the first officer lacked required training.

The FAA said some units of the radar had been checked by a person not authorized to approve its condition.

The jetliner was held for two days on Iturup Island north of Japan after being forced down by Soviet fighter planes.

Metrolina has an estimated population of 1,113,000, a land area of 5,700 square miles, and its own trademark—a capital M with a bar across the top and a plus sign underneath.

Metrolina embraces the market area of Cabarrus, Catawba, Cleveland, Gaston, Iredell, Lincoln, Mecklenburg, Rowan, Stanly and Union counties of North Carolina and Lancaster and York counties of South Carolina.

The new name was picked by an advertising firm after looking over suggestions made by some 450 persons from North Carolina, South Carolina, and states as far away as Illinois and Florida.

Now for the trademark. The M means Metrolina, the bar across the M adds up to the symbol for a million, and the plus obviously indicates there are more than one million persons in the area.

Brodie Griffith, associate publisher of the Charlotte News and Charlotte Observer and a vice president of Knight Publishing Co., made the announcement at the news conference and said:

"Metrolina is more than an arbitrary grouping of 12 counties. It is a cohesive and strongly interrelated region whose people, businesses and institutions share a common heritage and a common economy."

"They share the same recre-

EXCESS POPULATION
HONOLULU (AP) — The Hawaii chapter of the Sierra Club says population growth threatened the natural beauty of Hawaii. A committee is studying the dangers of excess population.

ational, transportation, cultural and educational advantages, and together they face the dilemmas of growing urbanization."

Griffith said Metrolina couldn't qualify yet for a federal designation as a Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area (SMSA).

This SMSA designation was given earlier by the U.S. Bureau of the Budget to North Carolina's Piedmont Triad, with its trade area of Guilford, Forsyth, Randolph, and Yadkin counties.

By getting this SMSA designation, the Triad became the 59th largest marketing area in the nation, and more important, the largest in North Carolina.

This is something Metrolina wants.

"If it should come about, Metrolina would then be the largest marketing area in the Tar Heel State, although there are reports from Winston-Salem that the Triad already is talking about an effort to include additional counties."

The big advantage of being signified an SMSA area is publicity and the fact that industry looks at these figures when it considers opening new plants.

For the record, the largest SMSA area in the nation is New York, followed by Los Angeles, Chicago, San Francisco, and Philadelphia.

If Metrolina were to get such a designation, it would rank 28th, just below Denver, Colo., and just above San Bernardino-Riverside-Ontario, Calif.

Griffith said Metrolina couldn't qualify now because of a lack of enough inter-county commuters and the fact that Kannapolis is not an incorporated city.

The major cities in Metrolina are Charlotte, Albemarle, Concord, Belmont, Gastonia, Hickory, Kannapolis, Kings Mountain, Lincolnton, Monroe, Mooresville, Newton, North Belmont, Salisbury, Shelby, Statesville, West Concord, all in North Carolina, and Lancaster and Rock Hill, S. C.

Sidelined JP Does Not Like The Change

By JOAN GRAVES
Goldboro News-Argus Writer
Written for Associated Press
MOUNT OLIVE, N.C. (AP) — William Martin Howell served the Mount Olive area as a justice of the peace for 52 years. He dispensed "justice according to the evidence" and never "swerved from what I believed," he says.

Now he's out of a job. The new North Carolina court system has abolished the JP court system.

And Howell, who will be 78 years old Jan. 6, doesn't like the change one bit.

"Poor folks aren't going to get the benefits of the money they would have gotten if the justice of the peace stayed in," he said. "They'll pay $25 to get a land deal." He did it for $1 or $1.50, and marriages he performed for nothing for 25 years will cost $20 to $25, he noted.

There was a time, Howell said, when he didn't charge court costs. That was in the 1930s when corn was selling for 25 cents a bushel—and when Howell changed from Republican to Democrat.

Howell didn't try many civil cases, although acting as notary public as well as justice of the peace, he wrote many mortgages and changed many titles. Most of his criminal cases were assault and cursing charges.

And in hot weather, court often was held amid wooden rockers and straight backed chairs on his front porch. In cooler weather, he presided in his kitchen beside a wood stove stocked with timber cut from his own land.

Despite the informal surroundings, Howell said, he never had any trouble maintaining the atmosphere of a court. "I'd say, 'Everybody come to order please,' and I'd get my Bible down."

"I tried to treat them right. They'd say, 'Do I need a lawyer?' and I'd tell them, 'If I can't handle the case, I'll tell you'."

"I never wanted to see money wasted or see a man's wife run over him," Howell said. "The Bible speaks of all things being tame except mankind. The Bible wanted man to be boss over his wife and over his livestock and everything."

Howell quit public school before finishing the seventh grade and obtained his legal training by "staying up all night reading law books."

"There's a lot to be learnt in the magistrate work. I've had a tough time all my life, but there's one thing about it: I didn't ever give up."

ECU Grad Winner Composers' Prize

William E. Duckworth, a graduate of East Carolina University, is first place winner in the non-professional class of the North Carolina Composers' Contest for 1968.

Duckworth, a native of Morganton and currently director of instrumental music and instructor of composition at Atlantic Christian College in Wilson, won both the instrumental and vocal awards in the non-professional category.

His "Unseen Action" for flute, piano and percussion ensemble placed first in the instrumental division. A composition for chorus, narrator and brass quintet "Spring Dreams and Autumn Questions" was winner in the vocal field.

At East Carolina, Duckworth studied with Martin Maitman. Later he received his masters from the University of Illinois, where he is now working on a doctorate in music.

Duckworth was twice winner of the annual composition contest at East Carolina. His works have been performed at many places in the U.S.

In the professional class, Robert M. Morris of Atlantic, N.C. was first place winner with "A Noiseless, Patient Spider." Morris has a private piano studio in New Bern.

Other winners in the annual music contest, sponsored by the North Carolina Federation of Music Clubs include Miss Letitia McGowan of Hertford, Miss Sarah Dittenhofer of Asheville, Mrs. J. Harold Campbell of Asheville, and Mrs. Wilbur N. Cooper of Burlington.

More Efficient Courts Predicted For N.C.

By RAY POWER

DURHAM (AP) — A "much smoother and efficient" court operation is predicted for the 61 North Carolina counties that implemented the new state-operated district court system this week.

Sixty-one counties were brought under the new system of court reform, leaving only 17 counties for the final phase in December, 1970.

The new counties will encounter technical and administrative problems, to be sure, but probably will profit greatly from experiences of Durham and the 21 other pilot counties phased into the system in 1966.

C. E. Hinsdale of the Institute of Government at Chapel Hill sees "a lack of familiarity with the basic statute" authorizing the changeover as the biggest problem for the 61 counties.

"By this I mean reading the law and trying to make it work," said Hinsdale, a court expert and a key figure in North Carolina's court reform.

"The counties that came into the system Monday have had the advantage of more schooling, more advance study and more time to prepare for the changeover," he observed.

"We've had people to come in and spend a day at a time observing," stated Judge E. Lawson Moore, chief district judge in Durham, a pilot county in court reform.

Primary aims of court reform are to achieve uniformity in fee schedules, court costs and courtroom procedure throughout the state, and to ease the heavy caseloads in Superior Court.

The district court system abolishes courts below the Superior Court level, including lower courts in which costs have varied as much as from $5 to $10 to more than $30 in some counties.

Durham has operated under the system for two years—chosen as a pilot county because it's a large town in a one-county area—and its lawyers and court officials have praised it highly.

Moore, one of three judges in the Durham system, foresees the "whole implementation of the magistrate system" as one of the biggest problems facing the 61 new counties.

Qualified magistrates are needed to issue criminal warrants, to assess penalties in certain noncontested misdemeanor cases, and to handle civil actions in which the amount does not exceed $300.

"However, the experiences as H. Lee, another Durham judge, gained (from the pilot counties) should be invaluable in the take-over from the justice of the peace system," Moore said.

One problem the new counties won't face is the unavailability of the necessary forms and papers which the state supplies in the operation of the new system.

When the system went into effect in the pilot counties, "There wasn't even a piece of scratch paper available," one official said. The delay was attributed to the state Purchasing Department having to advertise for bids on the forms.

Under the system, the state pays all salaries and all operating expenses, while the county is charged with providing all facilities and furniture.

One of the biggest gripes among members of the Durham bar has been the complaint of "inferior and outdated physical facilities," particularly the criminal district courtroom.

"One of the best features of the district court system is there's always a judge available to try cases," said Judge Thom-

Tree-Lighting In Winterville Set Next Week

WINTERVILLE—The Winterville Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a Christmas tree lighting ceremony next Wednesday at 5 p.m.

The tree to be lighted is located near the town hall.

Santa Claus will arrive to greet the children about 5:30 p.m. after the tree lights have been turned on.

The tree, donated by Robert Beddard of Winterville, was planted with the hope that it will live and be used by the town year after year.

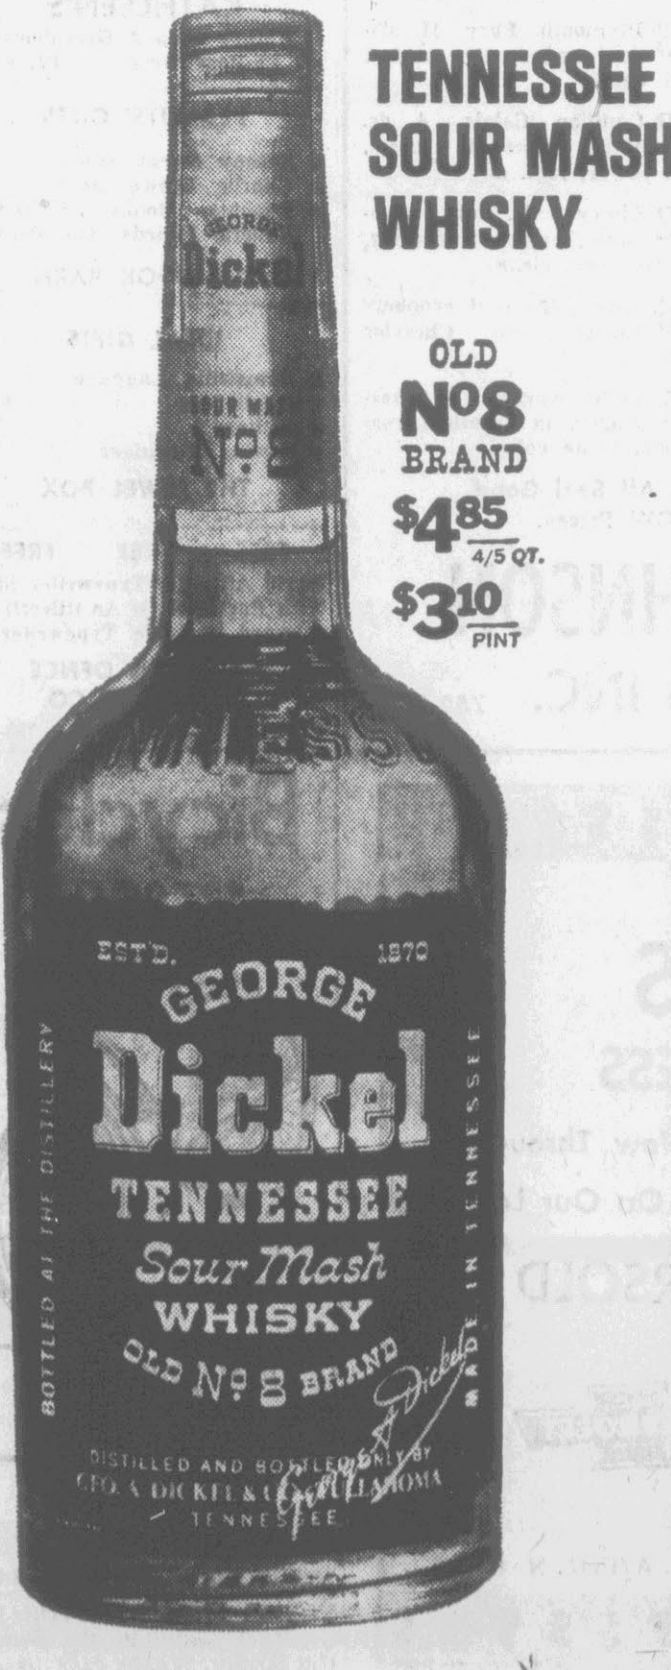

Paul Hunsucker, a member of the Winterville Chamber of Commerce, is in charge of the program.

The Worry Clinic Packaged Merchandise Reaches Customers

Dr. Z. lost money because he failed to "package" his scientific merchandise properly. And this involves inflating the ego of patients or customers by remembering their names! Everybody can astound himself by his zooming memory if he will follow the basic rules below. They are easy too!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE H-551: Dr. Z. was president of his dental society.

He had invited me to Indianapolis for a discussion of "Psychology in Professional Practice."

And Dr. Z. asked me to include some advice on how to remember names and faces.

For he said he had been working hard to get through with his last patient at 4:45 in the afternoon, since he was due to meet Mrs. Z. downstairs at 5 p.m.

He shifted to his suit coat and took the elevator.

Then he walked over to the perfume counter where he had promised to wait for his wife.

An attractive sales girl came over and asked: "Dr. Z., is there anything I can do to help you?"

He shook his head, saying that he was just there to meet his wife.

Then he inquired, "But how did you know my name?"

Eyes widening in shocked surprise, the sales girl protested:

"Why, Doctor, I just got out of your dental chair 5 minutes ago!"

She was that last patient.

"And, Dr. Crane," he lamented, "she had other dental work that needed to be done, yet she has never come back to my office, and it has been over two years!"

So that's why Dr. Z. wanted more stress on remembering names and faces.

Alas, many doctors of medicine and dental surgery may identify their suture marks on an appendectomy scar, or even help the police solve a murder mystery by identifying the teeth in a skeleton, yet those same doctors may not be able of realizing that a doctor treats street!

For in past years we have taught and practiced "organic" medicine and dentistry instead of realizing that ad odor treats the entire human beings.

A doctor never operates on an appendix or a tooth—but always on the 150-pound man or 125-pound woman on the other end of that appendix or tooth! This is the new "organismic" doctrine.

And the best way to win friends is to remember that everybody has this indelible tattoo across his chest, which reads:

"I WANT TO FEEL IMPORTANT."

When a doctor or a salesman or even a good waitress remembers our name, that inflates our ego and makes us feel more important.

So procure a clearcut exposure to every new name at the outset, for memory is much like photography in that you can't get a clear reproduction from a fuzzy original exposure!

Then utter the name, as by saying "Glad to meet you, Mr. Knight."

Quickly repeat the name as by introducing the stranger to somebody else.

Also, make it a rule to state the name aloud at least 3 times at the outset.

Then conjure up visual imagery, as by viewing a plumed knight in full armor, if the stranger is named John S. Knight.

That night, have a contest with your wife to see who can write down the most names of newcomers at the party or

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets steady to one-half cent higher Wednesday. Supplies adequate, demand fair. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A large whites: 50½-51½; mediums, whites: 46-47½; small, whites: 43½-44.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina hog markets today steady to 25 cents higher. Tops of 17.50-18.50 Kinston, New Bern, Benson, Mount Olive, Albemarle, Newton Grove and Lumberton; 17.75-18.25 Rocky Mount, Siler City and Denton; 17.50-18.25 Wilson; 17.50-18.00 Bethel; 18.50 Greensboro; 18.00 Salisbury; 17.75 Selma.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market declined irregularly today with trading heavy early in the afternoon.

Losses outweighed gains by fewer than 100 issues, but declines by pivotal blue chips sent averages down to much steeper losses than the showing of the over-all market warranted.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was down 4.54 at 981.67.

The Wednesday closing due to the paperwork jam had the usual effect of creating pent-up orders. The result was a first hour volume of 6.54 million shares, the fourth largest on record, mistakenly figured earlier as the third largest.

The Wall Street backdrop was more encouraging than otherwise. It included reports of an October rise in new factory orders and substantial increases in November sales by three major retail chains.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 1.4 at 986.5 with industrials off 3.2, rails up .1, and utilities off .8.

Key blue chips losing a point or more included General Motors, Anaconda, Du Pont, Westinghouse Electric, Standard Oil (New Jersey) and Johns-Manville. All these are included in the Dow Jones industrial average.

Federated Department Stores, a fractional gainer, went to the top of the most-active list, followed by Benguet and Transiron, also up fractions. Transiron bobbed into plus territory after sale of a block of 63,300 shares, off ¼ at 14¾.

Sears Roebuck and Woolworth, up fractions, were Dow industrial stocks which cushioned the decline, as was Alcoa, up a full point.

Phelps Dodge gained 2, Illinois Central and American Tobacco (another Dow stock) a point each.

Prices remained generally higher on the American Stock Exchange.

Wayne Morse Out By 3,445 Votes

SALEM, Ore. (AP) — Oregon's secretary of state has certified that Sen. Wayne Morse was defeated for re-election by Republican Robert Packwood by 3,445 votes.

Morse was to make today his formal demand for a recount of the more than 810,000 ballots.

Secretary of State Clay Myers, in announcing Tuesday that Packwood was the official winner, said the recount in the state's 36 counties would start Dec. 13.

Although Myers did not have in hand Morse's request for a recount, he had been told that it was coming.

Bids Received On Highway Project

The North Carolina Highway Commission has announced the apparent low bid for constructing an additional lane on N.C. 11 from the Grifton by-pass to Greenville totaled $2,753,535.73.

Bids were received by the highway commission in Raleigh Monday, and Sherman Simpson, Inc. of Mt. Airy was the apparent low bidder. Bids for the project will be reviewed by the commission at its regular meeting in Raleigh Friday and if satisfactory, contracts for the project will be awarded.

The project includes dual-laning a 9.545 mile portion of N.C. 11 from the Grifton by-pass south of Ayden, to the intersection of N.C. 11-U.S. 264 by-pass inside the Greenville city limits.

Work on the Grifton by-pass project began May 29 and is set for completion November 1, 1969, according to C. W. Snell, district highway engineer.

The Grifton by-pass construction—costing more than $2,281,100, not including right-of-way costs or engineering fees—includes 6.8 miles of four-lane highway from a point north of the E. I. DuPont plant in Lenoir County, northward to about one mile south of Ayden.

The project for which bids were taken Monday will complete the four-laning of N.C. 11 from Kinston to Greenville. Dual-laning of N.C. 11 from Kinston to a point north of the DuPont plant was completed several years ago.

Both the Grifton by-pass and the Ayden-Greenville sections of the highway will include two 24-foot wide traffic lanes with a 4-foot wide median.

Also included on the Ayden-Greenville extension is the installation of more than 12 miles of woven wire fencing.

"Most of the fencing will be done where the road bypasses Ayden and Winterville," Snell explained.

At Winterville, the N.C. 11 project will by-pass the town to the west, coming between the city limits and the municipal sewage treatment plant. The dual lane N.C. 11 will also by-pass Ayden to the west.

If contracts are awarded in the near future on the Ayden-Greenville section, construction should begin about the first of the year, Snell noted.

French Franc Is Strengthening

PARIS (AP) — The Bank of France reported improvement in gold and currency reserves today and a worker protest against Charles de Gaulle's austerity measure came off without incident.

At the same time, gold prices eased back slightly in Paris and other European trading points.

Workers at Renault, the nation's chief automobile manufacturing complex, staged four-hour protest strikes against President de Gaulle's moves to bolster the franc through internal belt-tightening. But police kept their distance and there were no reports of trouble.

The company reported the strikes were only partially effective.

The gold and foreign currencies that flooded out of France in the wave of speculation against the franc last month have begun to trickle back, the Bank of France reported.

For the first time since Sept. 3, the Bank of France's weekly statement showed an increase in the reserves. For the week ending Nov. 28, the holdings of gold and foreign exchange bounced up $46.4 million. It wasn't much but French officials hoped that it signaled a trend.

Gold prices dropped back slightly in Paris, Zurich and London after hitting the highest point in almost five months Wednesday. On the London free market, gold was quoted at the equivalent of $40.45 an ounce. In Zurich the range was $40.35 to $40.55. In both cases the drop was 5 cents an ounce.

In Paris, the price of a one-kilogram, or 2.2 pound, gold ingot was at the rate of $43.50 an ounce, down from $43.91 an ounce Wednesday, which was the highest since July 5.

Charge Driver In Traffic Mishap

Mozelle Johnson Gilbert of Benson was charged with failing to stop for a stop sign following investigation of a 4:05 p.m. collision yesterday at the intersection of Fourth and Elm Streets.

Police said the Gilbert car collided with a vehicle driven by David Grady Nichols Jr., 19, of 801 Forrest Hill Circle and caused an estimated $500 damage to the Nichols car and about $700 damage to the Gilbert vehicle.

Police reported both Mrs. Gilbert and Nichols were injured in the collision.

Still Quicker, In Updated Verse

NEW YORK (AP) — Candy Is Dandy But Liquor Is Quicker Pot is not

So goes humorist Ogden Nash's revised version of his famous 131 quatrain, updated for the psychedelic 60's.

"It's still true that 'liquor is quicker,'" the 63-year-old Nash said in an interview.

"In the days of the Gibson girl, candy was the sure ice-breaker between the sexes. Later it was liquor, which makes its drinkers nicely social. But pot (marijuana) doesn't do that, I hear; it's too individual.

"Besides," he continued, "I'm old-fashioned enough so that I like to think it's still liquor that ripens acquaintance to intimacy."

LBJ Warns Of Social Disaster

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says that any return to high unemployment under the Nixon administration would be "a prescription for social disaster."

"God help us if we find ourselves returning to a period of high unemployment, with the 'haves' fighting off the 'no longer haves' for precious jobs," Johnson told a gathering of the cream of American industry and finance Wednesday night.

Some advisers to President-elect Nixon had said during the presidential campaign that a Republican administration might accept a higher jobs rate to hold down inflationary pressures.

Johnson, in talking to the prestigious Business Council, said he hopes Nixon will use the tools of economic policy forcefully.

"I hope he will insist on using them to guarantee full employment. For without full employment, he cannot succeed in his other urgent objectives."

In another part of his prepared speech the President suggested limited power to raise and lower taxes might help future chief executives.

"I think it would be highly desirable subject to necessary checks by Congress," Johnson said in reviving a proposal advocated strongly by the late John F. Kennedy.

Although Congress has always regarded proposals for discretionary presidential taxing power with coolness, a similar plan was put forth just last week by a top economic adviser to Nixon.

Herbert Stein, chairman of Nixon's fiscal policy task force, suggested a one-year income tax surcharge that could be raised and lowered with the temperature of the economy.

In reviewing efforts to damp down the economy, Johnson said there will be a reduction in the federal deficit of more than $20 billion this fiscal year because of the 10 per cent income surtax and the cutback in federal spending.

2 Policemen Die In Collision At Intersection

RALEIGH (AP) — Two young Raleigh policemen died early today when their police car collided with a teen-ager's car.

James Wade Allen, 24, died about 15 minutes after reaching Rex Hospital, and James Gale Lee, 24, who was driving the police car, died about 1:30 a.m.

Police Capt. Connie Haswell said the accident occurred at a suburban intersection at 12:20 a.m. when the squad car collided with a car driven by Maynard Newton Moseley, 18.

Moseley sustained minor injuries and was treated and released from Rex Hospital.

Haswell said Moseley had the right of way and quoted him as saying he first saw the police car as it was coming into the intersection.

Man Without A Country Appeals His Deportation

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A 24-year-old Greensboro, N.C. Native, accused of fleeing the country to escape the draft, has appealed a government decision ordering him to leave the country within 90 days or be deported.

"His attorney asked for additional time, and we granted it," said R. W. Foley, district director of the U. S. Immigration & Naturalization Service in Atlanta.

Foley said today that the formal notice of appeal for Thomas Glenn Jolley came to his office late Wednesday and that Jolley's attorney has been given until Jan. 16 to file a legal brief. The appeal will go directly to the Board of Immigration Appeals in Washington.

The immigration service last month ordered Jolley out of the country as an "alien," although he was born a U. S. citizen and has never been a citizen of another country.

The government contended that Jolley voluntarily gave up his citizenship in Canada last year to escape the draft, then later returned illegally to the United States.

It is not clear where you would deport an "alien" who has never been a citizen of any country other than the United States. Presumably, federal officials would have to find a country to accept Jolley if he were deported.

Government records show that Jolley signed a formal oath of renunciation of citizenship in May 1967, in Toronto. His draft board records in Bremen, Ga., where he was registered while attending the University of Georgia, include a letter from Jolley from Canada.

The letter said he had renounced U. S. citizenship "thus terminating all obligations to the United States." Jolley now lives in Atlanta.

NAMED ACTING POSTMISTRESS — Mrs. Frank Peaden, assistant postmistress of the Falkland Post Office since 1945, is being sworn in as acting postmistress of Falkland by Paul B. Osgood, postal inspector of the U. S. Post Office Department. Mrs. Peaden replaces Mrs.

Mattie M. Cady, postmistress since April 12, 1943, who retired November 29. Mrs. Peaden, the former Katie Leona Rouse, is a member of the Falkland Presbyterian Church and has lived near Falkland for the past 30 years. The Peadens have four sons.

War On Crime By Businessman

ness executive whose wife was slain last year plans a nationwide war on crime by mobilizing a minimum of 10 million Americans.

H. Bruce Palmer, 60, president of the National Industrial Conference Board, Wednesday announced formation of Citizens for Justice with Order, adding: "It took a personal tragedy in my life to motivate me to try to do something about crime."

Palmer's wife, Dorothy, 57, was stabbed to death Sept. 29, 1967, in their New Vernon, N.J. home. Frederick B. Thompson, 36, who worked as a tree trimmer on the Palmer estate, was arrested in Chicago about a month later. He was convicted of murder last Nov. 21 and sentenced to death.

The new organization hopes to raise $25 million in its first drive, with comedian Bob Hope, honorary national chairman, kicking off the campaign on national television tonight.

Plans of the new group call for improved training programs for convicted criminals and juvenile delinquents, he said, with separate task forces on higher education, the clergy, television, newspapers, youth and minority groups.

The group's prospectus said in part: "It is the intention of Citizens for Justice with Order to remind the people of America of their responsibility for its conduct and to encourage them to actively become involved in assisting law enforcement personnel."

Palmer's wife, Dorothy, 57, was stabbed to death Sept. 29, 1967, in their New Vernon, N.J. home. Frederick B. Thompson, 36, who worked as a tree trimmer on the Palmer estate, was arrested in Chicago about a month later. He was convicted of murder last Nov. 21 and sentenced to death.
