Aims At 'Extra Dimension'

No Surprises, No Demos In Nixon Cabinet Posts

By FRANK CORMIER Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Nixon has named a no-surprises, no-Democrats cabinet that he says will bring "an extra dimension" to the handling of the nation's problems. "I can assure you these are strong men. They are compassionate men. They are good men," Nixon said in an easygoing, informal manner as he announced the makeup of his official family Wednesday night before a national television-radio audience. Reaching into the ranks of Republican governors, high-powered businessmen and educators, Nixon came up with 12 men, many longtime associates and friends, who generally reflect the internationalist-minded and fiscally conservative attitudes of the president-elect. In his drive for president against Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey, Nixon had said he would seek men of both parties and of differing views for help in achieving his campaign goal of uniting the country. Asked about the absence of a Democrat, Herbert G. Klein, Nixon communications director, quipped the President-elect had appointed "all independents who vote Republican." However, press spokesman Ronald L. Ziegler made a point of telling newsmen that a Democrat will get one top job to be announced in the near future—ambassador to the United Nations. The post has been offered to Sargent Shriver, now ambassador to France. Shriver is a brother-in-law of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., an association by marriage that has prompted some strong private protests from conservative Republicans. Nixon also did not have a Negro on his list. Perhaps to try to offset any adverse comments, he began his broadcast by disclosing that Washington's Democratic Negro mayor, Walter E. Washington has agreed to appointment to a second term when his tenure expires Feb. 1. By the time Nixon spoke without benefit of notes or cue cards, his choices for the Cabinet were hardly a secret. The President-elect had given the names in advance to GOP congressional leaders and from there the roster soon found its way onto the air and into print. They are: Secretary of State—William P. Rogers; secretary of defense—Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis.; secretary of the Treasury—David M. Kennedy; attorney general—John N. Mitchell; postmaster general—Winton M. Blount; secretary of the interior—Gov. Walter J. Hickel of Alaska; secretary of

Complete Official Totals

Nixon Won By Only 499,704 Votes

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Nixon received 499,704 more popular votes than Hubert H. Humphrey in the Nov. 5 presidential election, complete official totals showed Wednesday. Nixon received 31,770,237 votes, Humphrey had 31,270,533 and third-party nominee George C. Wallace had 9,897,141. An assortment of other candidates received 239,910 votes. Nixon got 43.40 per cent of the vote, Humphrey got 42.72 per cent and Wallace 13.53. A record total of 73,177,821 votes were cast, compared with 70,913,673 votes cast in the 1964 presidential election. But it represented only 60.2 per cent of the estimated 121.5 million Americans of voting age. The official totals from all 50 states and the District of Columbia did not change the electoral vote totals, which show Nixon 302, Humphrey 191, Wallace 45. The electors meet in their respective state capitals next Monday to cast their votes, which will be counted officially by a joint session of Congress on Jan. 6. Besides the three major candidates, the official canvasses showed these totals for other candidates: E. Harold Munn Sr., Prohibition party, 14,519; Eldridge Cleaver, Peace and Freedom party, 36,385, most of them from California; Henning Blomen, Socialist-Labor party, 52,588; Fred Halstead, Socialist Worker party, 41,300; Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., 25,858, mostly from California; Dick Gregory New party, 47,097, more than half in New York; and Charlene Mitchell, Communist and Free Ballot parties, 1,075. In addition, 1,480 votes were cast for the antiwar New party in three states where no presidential candidates were listed ad 19,608 votes were cast for an assortment of other candidates, including New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and comedian Pat Paulsen.

Utilities commissioners are taking a long and unhappy look at sludge burning equipment which would reduce the final product of the sewage disposal plant to ashes. Disposing of sludge—what is left after sewage treatment—is a problem. One answer is equipment which will burn the sludge and turn it to an ash that can be dumped in a land fill. However, Director Charles Horne told the commission Tuesday night that such equipment would cost $455,000. The commission already faces the expenditure of $975,000 for doubling the size of the sewage disposal plant. The burning equip-

Baby Girl For Ethel Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ethel Kennedy, widow of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, gave birth today to her 11th child—an eight-pound, four-ounce girl. The child was delivered at Georgetown University Hospital by Caesarean section at 8:40 a.m. Mrs. Kennedy has three other girls and seven boys ranging in age from 18 months to 17 years. Her husband, the junior senator from New York, was assassinated in June in Los Angeles shortly after winning the California Democratic presidential primary. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., his wife and other family friends were at the hospital for the birth. A family spokesman said both mother and child were doing well. This is the fifth child delivered by Caesarean section to Mrs. Kennedy who entered the hospital Wednesday night. She had been confined to bed since suffering false labor pains in October. At that time, she entered the hospital but returned home the following day.

Tallulah Bankhead Dies Following A Brief Illness

NEW YORK (AP) — Tallulah Bankhead, the gravel-voiced Southern belle who became a stage star, movie siren, and eventually one of the nation's leading character actresses—and characters—died today. She was 65. Miss Bankhead had been ill only a few days, a victim of the current outbreak of flu, when pneumonia developed and led to her death, according to her business manager, Ezra Schine. Her sister, Eugenia Bankhead, and nephew, Billy Bankhead, were with her at her death. The flamboyant Tallulah—named for her grandmother, who was named for a waterfall in Georgia which the Indians called "singing water"—gave many of her best performances off stage. A violently partisan fan of the New York Giants, she instructed the players from the stands, and could dominate cocktail party conversations with baseball statistics. Member of an old Alabama family and the daughter of William Brookman Bankhead, a longtime member of Congress and once speaker of the House, Tallulah drew her Deep South and highly cultured accent through innumerable films and plays and received from the American public that final honor—to be known by her first name.

Unhappy Look At Sludge-Burning

Utilities commissioners are taking a long and unhappy look at sludge burning equipment which would reduce the final product of the sewage disposal plant to ashes. Disposing of sludge—what is left after sewage treatment—is a problem. One answer is equipment which will burn the sludge and turn it to an ash that can be dumped in a land fill. However, Director Charles Horne told the commission Tuesday night that such equipment would cost $455,000. The commission already faces the expenditure of $975,000 for doubling the size of the sewage disposal plant. The burning equipment would bring the total expansion cost to approximately $1,500,000. Horne showed photographs of sludge burning equipment which he took on a recent trip where he inspected such facilities. As an alternative to the burning operation, Horne said he was studying a burying operation. He said approximately 80 acres of land would be required to carry on a long-range plan of burying the sludge. The commission approved the purchase of a truck from Billmyer Ford, Inc. whose low bid was $3,283.68.

Hijacked Passengers Well Treated In Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Passengers aboard a hijacked jetliner ate steak in Cuba Wednesday while their calm hijacker and his woman companion waited for 6½ hours in a room at Havana airport. Seven crew members and all but two of the 32 passengers aboard the inaugural flight of a Nashville-to-Miami Trans-World Airlines route returned to Miami Wednesday night aboard separate planes. The hijack couple, both appearing in their 20s, were detained at the airport for 6½ hours before they were taken away by Cuban authorities. Newsmen in Cuba reported the man, who carried a trumpet, and the woman dozed on couches. Usually hijackers are met at the plane by Cuban authorities and whisked away immediately. Two passengers, country singer Tex Ritter and professional golfer Mason Rudolph, said the Cubans fed the stranded travelers grapefruit juice, beer, steaks and sandwiches during their nine-hour stay. "You had the feeling they were milking it for what it was worth," Ritter said after returning to Miami. "At the end of the day you decided they were pretty nice people. I think that's what they had in mind. "It was not bad at all. I think most of the people rather enjoyed it except we had about a 2½ hours bus ride" to Varadero, where the passengers were picked up by a second plane, Ritter said. WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon today called for the drafting of 33,700 men next February—the highest monthly quota in eight months. The figure is up sharply from the 26,800 previously announced for January and more than double the average monthly draft requests during the last seven months of this year. Manpower requests this year ranged as high as 48,000 in April and 45,900 in May. The Pentagon recently said draft calls in 1969 would turn higher by about 3,000 men per month than otherwise would have been expected due to the planned early release of 20,000 Army Reserve and National Guard members who were called earlier this year. Of the February draftees, 32,200 will go to the Army and 1,500 to the Marines. The Marine Corps, traditionally an all-volunteer outfit, already has taken in some 6,000 draftees this year.

Study Team Advises Subcabinets For Future Governors Of N.C.

RALEIGH (AP)—A two-man study team has recommended that future governors of North Carolina set up "subcabinets" to help in coordinating and managing the executive departments. The eight-member Council of State, under the proposed change, would continue to serve in an advisory capacity to the governor but subcabinets would be headed by agency directors "who can speak authoritatively for their particular agency." The two-month study was done by J. Oliver Williams of Raleigh and Thad L. Boyle of Chapel Hill. Williams is an instructor in political science at Meredith College and North Carolina State University. Boyle is an assistant professor of political science at Chapel Hill. Other recommendations in the report include: —Expansion of the governor's staff to include aides who are specialists in the areas to be included in the various subcabinets. —Creation of a department of community affairs to assist local governments in the planning and utilization of federal grants-in-aid. —"More extensive previewing of legislative proposals" before education, health, welfare and corrections, and "Finance and Administration," including revenue, planning, property control, budget, management and personnel. The two-month study was done by J. The report said the governor should establish "the bulk of his office in the administration building, where facilities are more adequate, and reserve the capitol for ceremonial occasions."

'Uncle Sam' Stricken In Rocky Mount

ROCKY MOUNT, N.C. (AP) —Arthur St. Clair Davis, a tall, goateed man who once said his finest moments came as he marched in hundreds of parades costumed as Uncle Sam, died Wednesday night. He was 89. Death for the Rocky Mount resident followed a heart attack in Memorial Hospital in Chapel Hill where he underwent surgery last week. Davis, a favorite of Rocky Mount children, began wearing his Uncle Sam costume in parades 30 years ago when he retired from the Post Office. He had an exact replica made of Uncle Sam's blue coat, red and white striped trousers and tall blue hat and donned the outfit to lead parades from Chicago to New York. He marched in President Truman's 1948 inaugural parade. Davis usually marched at the head of parades, just behind the flag bearers. He also became a familiar figure in many North Carolina cities raising money for an assortment of charities. He most recently raised $1,000 for the N.C. Association for the Blind. A man of unflinching humor, the ruddy-faced Davis recently gave a baby cradle to a 70-year-old relative who had just married.

Approval of the quotas by cotton growers means that quotas with penalties on excess cotton will be in effect for the 1969 crop, and price-support payment — in addition to loans — will be available to growers. Details of the program sign-up will be announced later. Growers who elect not to participate in the program may plant within their farm's effective allotment, forego loans and price-support payments, and not be subject to marketing quotas penalties. Or growers may apply for a share of an export market acreage reserve and grow and export all their cotton without penalties — and without Government assistance — provided the cotton acreage does not exceed the farm allotment plus the export market acreage. The Chairman explained that the program approved by peanut growers is essentially the same as the one now in operation. When marketing quotas are in effect, price-support loans are available at not less than 75 percent of parity as of August 1 — the beginning of the marketing year. Under quotas, too, marketing penalties apply to "excess" peanuts of growers who exceed their acreage-allot-

Nixon said no member of his Cabinet "agrees with me completely on everything that I believe about what ought to be done in this country." Terming them independent thinkers, he said, "I don't want a cabinet of 'yes' men."

The president-elect wound up with good words for everyone—his Cabinet his vice president-elect, Spiro T. Agnew, and even the members of President Johnson's Cabinet.

The appointments generally drew praise.

The selection of Rogers as secretary of state was lauded by Senate Democratic leaders including Vietnam war critics.

J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee called Rogers a "man of unquestioned integrity and ability" and said: "I feel sure that his common sense and good judgement will serve the country well."

"An excellent choice," said Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield. "I am delighted with his appointment and look forward to a continuing good relationship with him."

Here, in brief, is the background of the men Nixon will send to the Senate for confirmation after he takes office Jan. 20.

Rogers, 55, a New York and Washington lawyer, longtime Nixon adviser and attorney general for three years in the Eisenhower administration, to be secretary of state.

Kennedy, 63, board chairman of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Co., and veteran of 16 years with the staff of the Federal Reserve Board, to be secretary of the treasury.

who was a Democrat until 1962, to be postmaster general.

Carpe Diem Book Club Holds Meet

Members of the Carpe Diem Book Club met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. C. C. Cleetwood. Mrs. Joe Goodson presided at the business meeting. It was announced that the club's Christmas party will be held Saturday, Dec. 21, at the Candlewick Inn. After refreshments were served by the hostess, members worked on Christmas decorations.

Luncheon Given Cosmos Members

Mrs. S. W. Dunn and Mrs. R. M. Garrett Jr. were hostesses at a Christmas luncheon for the Cosmos Book Club at the home of Mrs. Dunn. The table was decorated with a Christmas wreath and candles. Angels marked each member's place as favors. Mrs. Garrett and Mrs. J. B. Kitrell Jr. received a poinsettia and Christmas decoration given by Mrs. K. B. Pace.

'Burnt' almonds aren't really burnt — they're "caramelized" with sugar. To make enough for one freezer tray of vanilla ice cream, slowly melt 2-3 cup of sugar in heavy skillet on low heat, stirring constantly, until light caramel brown. Add ½ cup of chopped almonds and continue stirring until nuts are evenly glazed.

Mrs. Davenport Gives Program

"Keeping Christmas Tradition" was the program topic for the meeting of the Entire Nouns Book Club held Tuesday night.

Mrs. Moye Dail was hostess for the meeting with Mrs. Ruland Davenport as assisting hostess.

Mrs. Davenport, who gave the program, told of the meaning of decorating homes with mistletoe, holly, Christmas trees, candles, bells, wreaths and Aven wreaths. She stated that the one real way of observing the Advent season is by the use of the Advent wreath. This is a custom we obtained from Germany.

Candles are lighted consecutively each week by all during Advent to symbolize the increasing brilliance of the prophecies regarding the Saviour's birth, the growing light of faith and the multiplying signs of the return of Christ.

Mrs. Sam Weeks, president, conducted a short business session. She welcomed Mrs. Floyd Hendrix and Mrs. E. H. Willford as guests.

Special Holiday Party Planned By Sorority

Plans were completed for the Christmas party to be given clients of the Eastern North Carolina Sheltered Workshop at the meeting of Alpha Omega Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha.

The party will be held on Dec. 19 at the boys dormitory. Refreshments, gifts and entertainment will be furnished.

Preliminary plans were discussed concerning the annual bridge benefit to be held in the spring. This is the major project of the chapter and all profits go to the Sheltered Workshop.

Mrs. Shirley Pace was elected treasurer replacing Mrs. Carol Stevens, who transferred.

A program was given by Mrs. Mary Lou Hardee on "The True Meaning of Christmas."

The sorority Christmas party for members and their husbands will be held Dec. 16 at the Candlewick Inn.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Lucille Moore.

Loaded Widow Toys With Trump Card,

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow, age 68. I have a pen pal, Oliver, who lives in another country. He is about any age or a little younger. We have met several times and have found each other compatible in every way. I am very well fixed financially, but Oliver doesn't know how well. All he knows is that I own my own home, do not have to work, and can travel as much as I wish.

Oliver is an educated man, but considers himself "poor" and inferior because he doesn't earn a lot of money. His financial status doesn't matter to me. All I want is a loving man, and he is certainly that.

Oliver says he's not interested in marriage. He wants to remain just friends. I would like marriage. Should I tell him how well off I am financially! I don't want to buy his love. Please advise.

NO NAME, PLS.

DEAR NO NAME: Why tell him how well - fixed you are financially? It might tip the scales in your favor, which would be more or less "buying" his love. And you say you don't want that. (Or do you?)

DEAR ABBY: I would like your opinion of an incident: A sister who has not spoken to me in nearly 2 years recently sent me a copy of an insurance policy she took out before she took an airplane trip, naming me as the beneficiary.

Do you think she is trying to tell me something?

SURPRISED

DEAR SURPRISED: Yes. She still lacks the courage to start talking to you, but in the event of her death, she would like her money to talk for her. In other words, she's not as mad at you as she used to be.

DEAR ABBY: I am shook. I just encountered something so incredible I can neither grasp nor believe it.

I drive my neighbor lady to the dentist because she gets so panicky she can't drive herself there or back.

Today I took her for some extractions. She was cool as a cucumber on the way there, and she sat like a lump on the way back after having three teeth pulled! We stopped for tea on the way home.

I asked her what she took, and she said, "Nothing." Then she explained that according to KARMA, she must have injured someone in the mouth in a previous life, and now she is "paying her debt."

Abby, have you ever heard anything like it? I just can't get over it. But if this kind of philosophy can turn a hysterical woman into one who is calmly "paying her debt," there must be something to it.

I called her dentist to be sure he didn't give her something and he said he didn't. (He thought I was crazy for sure.) Can there be something to this? FLOORED BUT INTERESTED

DEAR FLOORED: "Karma" is, briefly, a "religion" or a way of life, based on the philosophy that whatever happens is "destiny." And one who is able to accept his "fate" with calm resignation can endure almost anything.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WEIGHT WATCHER": Good! But it won't help unless you also become a "MOUTH-WATCHER."

Everybody has a problem.

What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Revenue Needs Pose Hard Decision

The 1969 General Assembly is not likely to jump into the controversial matter of increasing state or local taxes with any degree of enthusiasm. An election year in which voters indicated more than the usual amount of conservatism will be fresh in the minds of those who sit in the legislature. A national government in which the administration may be more inclined to reduce spending—if not taxes—will not help the atmosphere in which the North Carolina General Assembly must consider whether to raise taxes, and if so, where the levies should come to rest.

Yet North Carolina's Tax Study Commission has said in no uncertain terms that the state and local governments are going to need additional sources of tax revenue in the years immediately ahead if they are to do what is expected of them. It has set forth clearly suggestions as to where these additional tax revenues may come from and what courses should be followed to produce these revenues. It has also left the clear impression that the matter should not be put off by the 1969 legislature.

Even though many North Carolinians have grave misgivings about the recommendations of the Tax Study Commission, few argue seriously that the state or local level can be expected to produce sufficient revenues. On top of that, there are few who will argue that the present tax structure at either the state or local level can be expected to produce sufficient revenues in the years ahead to meet those needs.

The alternatives are just what they always are: either levy new taxes to provide additional revenues; or hold to the present structure and see urgent needs continue to go unmet.

Those alternatives will face the 1969 General Assembly. The decisions will not be as clearly defined or as uncomplicated as those alternatives seem to imply, but in the final analysis, the choice must be made between those two. And whatever the basic choice, there will be subsequent equal choices to be made either concerning what new tax sources to tap, or what needs to neglect in appropriating the inadequate amount of tax dollars that are available.

Benefit From

Agnew's Lesson

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH — Spiro T. Agnew suffered a political setback some months ago in Maryland when voters rejected an entirely rewritten state constitution.

Agnew, governor of Maryland, learned a political lesson. "It was too much at one time," he said. "The fact is that the proposition was so sweeping that the voters could not identify the issues, nor fully understand all that was involved. The North Carolina Constitutional Study Commission, which submitted its reports last weekend, took due note of the Maryland experience.

At the same time, however, the North Carolina commission submitted 10 major recommendations for revision of the state's century-old charter and there are some who feel this also may be too much for the electorate to swallow and digest at one time.

Will Ask Why
To begin with, the study commission itself must be prepared to answer why it made such recommendations.

Is it because most other states have such constitutional procedures? If so, why are they better than North Carolina's? It is simply to put North Carolina in step with other states? What is wrong with the present system in North Carolina?

More answers are needed, and will be called for. The question will be placed first by the legislature.

Many Questions
The study commission headed by former Supreme Court Chief Justice Emory Denny of State L. P. McLendon recommended the veto power for North Carolina governor. Legislators will ask why. Has the General Assembly enacted irresponsible or frivolous legislation during the years that the governor has lacked veto power? Why, under the principle of separation of powers, should the governor have final say-so over what has been done by 170 men elected by the people? That other states grant this power to the governor will not be a sufficient answer.

Secondly, should a governor succeed himself? This may be more easily justified in the forthcoming arguments.

Governors have begun programs during a relatively brief four year term which, under the present constitution they have been unable to carry on and develop a full fruit. Former Gov. Terry Sanford's long-looking programs and experiments are a prime example, and Sanford said that this greatest wish was to have been able to carry them on through a few more years. The present Governor, Dan K. Moore, feels his greatest accomplishment has been studying and planning for the future but he has no chance of implementing or carrying out the things these studies point to for future action.

Council of State
Another proposed constitutional amendment would strip Council of States status from the Secretary of State, Superintendent of public instruction and the commissioners of agriculture, insurance and labor and make all of these offices except public instruction appointive instead of elective.

This conflicts with the recent public education study reports which recommends that the superintendent of public instruction also be appointed — by the Board of Education.

In any case there will be resistance here too. The principal argument is that aside from those officials who handle funds and render legal advice and opinions, the top officials of the executive branch should be subservient to the governor, thus strengthening the governor's power. They would serve at the pleasure of a governor.

Young People Should Give Their Own Views

The Recreation Commission is working on plans for creating more interest among teenagers in using the Teen-Age Club and we applaud the commission's efforts.

At a meeting this week the commission was told that a color television set has been purchased for use by the teen-agers. Plans are being made also to add a pool table, ping-pong tables and other items which will provide the teen-agers with recreation at Elm Street gym. A portion of the gym will also be set aside for this age group's use at times.

These are all constructive efforts, but perhaps the teen-agers themselves might have ideas on how the club can be made to best serve their interests.

So how about it young people? Why not express your ideas on what a good Teen-Age Club should offer? The Daily Reflector will be happy to print good, constructive letters from the teen-agers offering suggestions.

Office Memo Is Carrying Ball

By JIM NICHOLS

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The interoffice memo has become the principal weapon in a skirt skirmish raging in Michigan's Capitol.

It started when one disapproving committee clerk circulated a memo among her fellow female legislative employees which said:

"How short is too short?"

"The right length is dictated by your size, age and intelligence. It is measured by good taste, the proper place and occasion. Honestly now, are your legs and knees so truly fetching that they must be exposed to everyone, at all times, anywhere?"

The memo added: "Your skirt is too short if: when you sit there is nothing to tug down... turning around in your chair pulls it thigh high... someone else has to do your filing for you."

The other side was soon heard from. A less disapproving secretary parodied the first memo with a memo of her own.

"The right length," she asserted, "is dictated by your nationality, religion and the shape of your head."

"Your skirt is too long," she added, "if: when sitting you look as though you're still standing... when turning in your chair it gets wound up in the swivel."

A male then jumped into the fray with a memo inquiring: "Honestly now, is your face so truly fetching that it must see the only thing exposed to everyone, at all times, anywhere?"

In response, probably, to male meddling in this clearly feminine debate, another secretary switched the discussion to beads.

"How long," her memo inquired, "is too long?"

"The right length of beard," she said, "is dictated by your age, intelligence, and what your face looks like when clean shaven. It is measured by good taste, the color of your hair, and what time your five o'clock shadow appears.

"Honestly now," she asked Capitol males, "is your face so truly homely that it must be exposed to no one, at no time, nowhere?"

"Your beard is too long," the memo added, "if: little children cry with fear when they look at you... you use a hairdryer to dry your face... the Capitol pigeons seek you out during nesting season."

Opinions In Brief

At the University of California, an anthropologist studied monkey tribes in India. She discovered that if infant monkeys deviated even slightly from the pattern that adult monkeys prefer, they are punished without fail and at once by being struck or bitten. The young monkeys soon learn to avoid annoying adults. Maybe those monkeys are really smarter than we are. — St. Albans (Vt.) Messenger.

"Job-holders who complain about hard work must envy the unemployed. They get every day off." — Charleston (S. C.) News and Courier.

Strength For Today

HOPE AND COURAGE

Many people have been overwhelmed by the fact that with all the attempts that have been made during the past century to avert war we are still confronted — perhaps to an unprecedented degree — with the possibility of war. We have the power, and so do the communist nations, to blast one another off the planet, or perhaps to blast everyone off the planet.

The League of Nations could not stop this. The United Nations cannot stop this. What we have to do is to live with a continual menace and take one step at a time. We should not despair. A third world war is a possibility but certainly not something inevitable. Our sophisticated generation trembles with fears that should long since have been banished. But they are not banished.

One step at a time. Faith in God. Devotion to sound government. These are certainly factors, and helpful factors, as we confront an alarming future. We need to confront the fact that it will be the hands of concerned individuals which will sweep the clouds away and keep criminally-minded men and nations within certain bounds.

If we are looking for complete security, we are not going to get it. This world, in which we live is a dangerous world, and we live under the cloud of danger most of the time. But our condition is not hopeless. Far from that — it is full of hope and challenge. —By Earl L. Douglass

FIRST ORDER OF BUSINESS!

ART BUCHWALD

Nixon, Rogers Close

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—President-elect Richard M. Nixon's choice of William P. Rogers as his secretary of state can make foreign policy makers in other countries only assume that their thoughts on diplomatic affairs must run parallel.

Basing this assumption on the long and close personal relationship between Nixon and Rogers, they can expect the former attorney general to have a relatively easy time in establishing a program based on the president-elect's announced world goals.

These goals include negotiating peace or de-Americanizing the war in Vietnam, seeking a peaceful settlement of the inflamed Israeli-Arab conflict, strengthening the Atlantic Alliance, opening summit negotiations with the Soviet Union on nuclear missile limitation and other issues, and reshaping the foreign aid program.

Until his choice of Rogers became known Tuesday, speculation here had centered on various men with some experience in diplomacy, particularly former Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon, who had also served as an ambassador and under-secretary of state.

The reaction now among diplomatic officials is that Rogers will have a lot to learn in a short time but that he will have the advantage of looking at problems and policies with a fresh mind and against the background of extensive experience in government.

Because of his intimate association with Nixon, Rogers will be in a far stronger position in taking over the State Department than was Dean Rusk, the retiring foreign policy chief, when he moved into the job at the outset of the Kennedy administration.

Rusk had never met President Kennedy until a few days before he was asked to accept the cabinet position. He was never a member of Kennedy's exuberant and intimate inner circle at the White House and during his first year in office was subject to criticism and opposition from some of those who were.

The friendship between Nixon and Rogers goes back to their World War II days in the Navy and continued through their years in the Eisenhower administration.

When president Dwight D. Eisenhower suffered a heart attack in Denver in September, 1955, and questions of succession arose, it was primarily Rogers to whom vice president Nixon turned first for advice.

Apart from whatever role he played in policy decisions in the Eisenhower cabinet, Rogers's one active assignment in foreign affairs was given him by President Johnson in 1965 when he served for three months as a U. S. delegate to the 20th session of the U. N. General Assembly.

At that time he criticized alleged anti-Semitism in the Soviet Union. He attacked apartheid in South Africa. And he called for active participation by all U. N. members to eliminate want and ignorance in underdeveloped countries.

But his lawyer's task as U. S. member of the legal committee of the General Assembly did not require him to formulate advice of expound views on other issues.

Demos Back To Chicago

WASHINGTON — It may be a little early, but a new organization has just been formed to bring the Democratic convention back to Chicago in 1972.

The chairman of the group, Upton Mace, told me that he hoped to get Vice President Hubert Humphrey to serve as honorary chairman.

"After all that Chicago did for him," Mace said, "that's the least the Vice President could do for Chicago."

"But there are some who feel that Mayor Daley may have cost Humphrey the election."

"Nonsense. If it wasn't for Chicago, the Vice President might have got off to a very slow start in his campaign," Mace said. "As it was, Chicago fired up the party and they all left determined to make Hubert a winner."

"They did?"

"Of course. Everyone was talking about Chicago after the conventions. As a matter of fact, they still are."

"I know the Democrats are talking about Chicago, but I'm not sure they're talking about it in the same terms that you are," I said.

"Nonsense," Mace said. "I don't think there's one member of the Democratic Party, or for that matter the press, who wouldn't come back to Chicago next week for a political convention if we asked them to. After all, we have everything here: beautiful parks, wonderful hotels and excellent hospital facilities. Where else could you be clubbed in a police riot and be in an ambulance in five minutes?"

"Nowhere," I had to admit. "By the way, about the clubbing of people. There are some people in the Democratic Party — I'm not saying many — who aren't certain that clubbing people over the head is a good thing for the party's image."

"You'll always have malcontents in any party," Mace said. "The important thing is that the Democrats must hold

ART BUCHWALD

Other Editors Say Reducing The Tax Load

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

When President Johnson pressured Congress to approve a 10 per cent income surtax he gave the impression that it was to be only a temporary levy to help meet the costs of the war in Vietnam. Most people of course viewed the promise with some misgiving, since taxes have a way of becoming terribly permanent.

However, the measure is supposed to expire next June. Whether it will depend upon how much the government can tighten its spending. Richard Nixon is on record as favoring an end to the 10 per cent surtax. But it ought to be noted that the Johnson administration's last budget may be bigger than the $185 billion anticipated for this year.

In such a case, the fault won't lie with Nixon since he has nothing to do with the present administration does in shaping the size of the new budget. Thus, it could be a whole year before any effects of a Nixon economizing move (if there is one) would be felt.

In the meantime, Nixon is obliged to place top priority on ending the war in Vietnam. That was one of his primary campaign promises. So in order to get rid of the unpopular surtax, he will have to bring the war in Vietnam to a conclusion.

Nobody is expecting him to perform miracles. Everybody is expecting him to make a vigorous, determined effort to place the nation's fiscal business in order, clean up the mess in Vietnam and return some sanity to our foreign and domestic policies — policies which have cost us billions upon billions of dollars.

If Nixon thinks this is an impossible task, if Congress tries to throw roadblocks in his path, then all he has to do is remember that the American public will give him its wholehearted support in returning the nation to a sane course. We doubt if any member of Congress will stand in the way of that, particularly if he knows he will have to answer to a fed-up constituency two years hence.

their convention in a major city where the mayor has enough power to deliver the state. Chicago fills that bill."

"But Mayor Daley didn't deliver Illinois to the Democrats this year."

"That wasn't his fault," Mace said. "The only reason Illinois did not go to Humphrey was that Nixon got more votes."

"What's a point I hadn't thought of?"

"Look, I don't have to sell Chicago to you," Mace said. "You were there this summer. Don't we have one of the finest police forces in the country?"

"The finest," I said. "They left their mark on a lot of people who were there this August."

"Of course they did," Mace said. "And do you know why? Because they're used to dealing with any kind of person that shows up at a political convention. Our cops are kind, courteous and noted for keeping their cool. Do you know they gave out less traffic tickets during August while the convention was on than during any week of the year?"

"Everyone I've spoken to," I said, "says Chicago policemen have big hearts. But this report by the committee on violence..."

Stock Market To Churn More

By ELMER ROESSNER

The churning stock market will be churned even further by year-end tax buying and selling. Thousands of speculators and investors will be acting to realize profits this year or to push them into 1969.

This year the churning will be worse than ever because of the surtax. The 10 per cent surcharge isn't a flat 10 per cent. Because it was effective April 1 this year's surtax amounts to 7 1/2 per cent. And because it is scheduled to expire on June 30 next year, it will be only 5 per cent in 1969.

But the fact that it may be extended for all of 1969 — and for all eternity as far as anyone can tell — makes gamblers of everyone who has postponable taxable income.

Tax End Uncertain
President - to be Nixon (he won't be President - elect until Dec. 15 when the Electoral College formally votes) and Congressman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, at their meeting last week agreed to try to avoid extending the tax.

However, while Mr. Nixon has promised economy in government, some of his campaign promises will be added spending if carried out. Furthermore, the Democrats are in control of Congress and Democrats, as appropriations over the last administration show, love to spend money.

So those who think the surtax will end next year can put their money where there conclusions are and postpone profits until 1969 and those who want to bet the surtax will be extended will grab them this month, paying 7 1/2 per cent in our taxes instead of 10 per cent.

All situations aren't as simple in the game of tax roulette. For instance, many speculators have made a bundle of money this year on upsurges in stock prices. They can bet they won't make so much next year by postponing realization until 1969 or they can gamble they will make more by taking profits now, thereby equalizing net profits.

Others will have made gains in business, real estate and other off-market ventures and will want to realize losses on their stock that has declined to offset other taxable gains. Tax roulette can be played in other ways. Corporations can pay bonuses either this year or next, depending on their estimates of profits in both years and of bets on the surtax. And the recipients, in many instances, can persuade employers to advance or delay payments.

Addenda
Note: My bet, if I owned any stock, would be to realize gains this year. I expect the surtax will be extended (1) to meet higher costs of government caused by jogging inflation and racing do-goodism and (2) to brake, however ineffectively, the continuing inflation.

Note: There are many ways to advance or delay the taxing of stock profits. Your income tax accountant knows them.

Note: Income tax for next year will be red, white and blue.

The Worry Clinic A 'Mental Tool Kit' Fine For Growing-Up

Lorna will profit far more by gifts that help fill her "mental tool kit" than by candy, clothing and other tangible gadgets. For a cultured mind must be nurtured on print materials! So scrapbook this case for use when shopping for presents!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE H-556: Lorna T., aged 16, is having a birthday.

"Dr. Crane," her daddy began, "what should I give her for a present?"

"Her mother will buy plenty of clothes for her and other members of the family will shower her with perfume, candy and innumerable gadgets. "But I'd like to be different. "What can I give her that will make a lasting impression?"

In such cases, heed Benjamin Franklin!

"An investment in knowledge," he said, "always pays the best dividends."

As our 5 Crane children were growing up, Mrs. Crane subscribed to that inspiring little monthly magazine of Dr. Peale's, headed, GUIDEPOSTS.

It is interfaith, stressing dramatic, uplifting stories of Hebrew, Catholic and Protestant flavor.

It is strictly non-profit and costs only $2 per year.

Mrs. Crane sends a dozen or more each Christmas as ideal gifts.

For our children read GUIDEPOSTS avidly and admitted in later years that it was the most inspiring and morally valuable magazine they ever read.

Incidentally, it also offers just as uplifting a tonic for the souls of our cynical adults. It is published at Carmel, New York.

Another superb gift for men and women who make speeches or write or teach Sunday-School or are active in clubs, is the monthly magazine called QUOTE, published at 309 South Main Street, Anderson, South Carolina, 29621, and priced at $9.50 per year.

QUOTE contains current snappy quotations from world leaders on every conceivable topic.

It also has several pages of topnotch humor, to help speakers entertain their audiences.

Both of those magazines are purely cultural, with no advertising or commercial flavor.

And for kiddies, you can't go wrong on Hurlbut's book of Bible stories, nor on the unique little Christmas volume titled SANDY SLEIGHFOOT.

The latter buoys up the morale of handicapped youngsters and also restores Christ to Christmas, so it yields a doubt-Buchwald . .

(Continued From Page 4) written without the permission of Mayor Daley. If you really want to find out the truth about what happened in Chicago, you should read Mayor Daley's report. That was made with the co-operation of the Chicago police department, so it has some truth to it. You get private citizens writing about the police and you get a very distorted picture.

"Well, Mr. Mace, you've convinced me Chicago should be the site for the 1972 convention. Now all you have to do is convince the Democratic Party."

"Don't worry. We'll convince them. They'd be crazy, after what happened there this summer, to mess with a successful formula."

And neatly typed school themes also are likely to rate an entire letter grade higher, for a scrawly "C" paper gets a "B" when typed!

Add a Bible, a dictionary and certainly an encyclopedia, for these are essentials in your "mental tool kit!" They will also insure your children against school dropouts and the modern illiteracy so typical of many city high school graduates who are now promoted on the basis of age instead of attainment!

Let the other relatives indulge your children with athletic equipment, but you cultured folks should stress items for that mental tool kit.

ly uplifting influence on youngsters.

That's why Eleanor Roosevelt endorsed SANDY SLEIGHFOOT so highly just prior to her death, for she was a great rooter for handicapped and crippled children.

Another helpful gift for all school pupils is a typewriter, even though you buy a used machine that's being traded in by any business firm for its usual $50 allowance on a new one. A typewriter encourages its owner to write much more and thus helps teach spelling, as well as grammar and fluent

Asia Suffers Too Many Grads, Or Not Enough

By ALBERT E. KAFF
 TOKYO (UPI)—It is one of the ironies of life in the developing countries of Asia that they face both a "brain drain" and a "Brain flood." What has happened is that education is often badly channeled. In nations in need of engineers, universities graduate scores of experts on literature and social science, while in countries without research laboratories or modern industry the schools pour out chemists, mathematicians and similar professionals. Across Asia, there are either too many college graduates or not enough. New grains, new fertilizers and new irrigation systems promise an agricultural revolution which would enable Asia to feed, clothe and shelter itself without outside help.

Nations Awaken
 Asian nations are awakening to their own great but untapped resources: Vast mineral deposits locked in the earth, priceless timber, seas rich with fish and almost unlimited supplies of manpower.

But the development of Asia is crippled by educational programs which develop the wrong skills in the wrong regions.

Naval H. Tata, president of the Employers Federation of India, defined part of the problem in a speech before an Asian regional conference of the International Labor Organization (ILO) in Tokyo this fall.

"There are far too many aspirants struggling for far too few jobs which has been the cause of a major tragedy in Asia of the educated unemployed," Tata said.

He said a "bias" should be developed among Asian students for agricultural and blue-collar jobs, by compulsion if necessary.

"Unless such vocational bias is made compulsory, the lure of the white collar jobs will remain the only goal and ambition of millions of students," he said.

A UPI survey in several Asian nations pinpointed some of the problems.

In the Philippines, the country's labor department reports that 65,577 Filipinos are working in foreign countries in Asia, the United States, Canada, Europe and Africa. They include nurses, doctors, teachers, engineers, aircraft mechanics and even seamstresses.

The Philippine Nursing Association estimates that half of the 2,000 nurses graduated annually go either to the United States or Canada, where pay is eight times as high as the $50 monthly starting salary at home.

High Mortality Rate
 About 25,000 Filipino doctors and nurses now are working in the United States, yet infant mortality in some Philippine regions is as high as 50 per cent due to poor or non-existent medical help.

In contrast, the Philippines is overstocked with teachers.

Plan Publishing The Papers Of Governor Jarvis

By Christopher Crittenden
 N.C. Department of Archives and History

Written for the Associated Press
 RALEIGH (AP) — The papers of Thomas Jordan Jarvis, governor of North Carolina from 1879 to 1885, will be published by the North Carolina Department of Archives and History. Now in proof, the first volume is edited by W. B. Years of Wake Forest University.

This publication and many others are listed in the new Archives and History biennial report, 1966-1968, now in press. But don't write yet for any of these volumes, for at present none is ready.

Records of the Moravians in North Carolina, volume XI, edited by Moravian Bishop Kenneth G. Hamilton, is now in the hands of the printer and should be ready later this year.

The diary of Catherine Ann Edmondston, edited by James W. Patton of UNC-CH and Beth Crabtree of the Archives and History Department, will be ready for the printer shortly. This diary covers the Civil War years.

The National Historical Publications Commission has awarded the department a grant of $10,000 to edit the papers of James Iredell Sr., U.S. Supreme Court justice under Washington and Adams. The work is being done by Don Higinbotham of UNC-CH.

George Steppenson of the UNC library is editing the Granville Grant papers, on which much work had been done by the late David Leroy Corbett.

Joseph F. Steelman of East Carolina University is editing the papers of Robert B. Glenn, governor from 1905 to 1909.

William H. Masterson, president of the University of Chattanooga, is editing the John Gray Blount papers, of which two volumes have been previously edited by Alice B. Keith, formerly of Meredith College, and published by the department.

Frontis W. Johnston of Davidson College and John W. Barrett of Virginia Military Institute are editing additional volumes of the papers of Zebulon Baird Vance, Civil War governor and later U.S. senator. The department has already published the first volume, edited by Johnston alone.

The papers of William A. Graham, governor, U.S. senator, and secretary of the navy in the 1840s and 1850s, are being edited by Max R. Williams of Western Carolina University.

Richard W. Iobst of Western Carolina University is editing the papers of Henry T. Clark, another Civil War governor.

A significant short documentary volume, the Wilmington Town Book, 1743-1778, which recently turned up in that port city, is being edited by Donald R. Lennon of East Carolina University.

These and other historical materials are in various stages of preparation and are expected to be published by the department in the years to come.

Seal, Or Not; Still Six Cents

WASHINGTON (UPI) — To seal or not to seal—it makes no difference in cost of sending Christmas cards this year. Just six cents on each one.

Under a little-noticed provision of the new postal rates, costs for the first ounce were made identical to first class rates—six cents per letter.

A year ago, and for many previous Christmases, unsealed greeting cards continuing no personal message beyond the sender's signature might be mailed for a penny less than first class. But cards undeliverable to the given address were neither forwarded nor returned.

For the penny extra this year, you will get one or the other, provided a return address is on the envelope.

Actually, the new provisions only make the third and first class rates equal for the first ounce, a category that includes most holiday greeting cards. A card weighing up to two ounces may be mailed third class for just six cents, but it will not be forwarded or returned if non-deliverable.

About 50,000 teachers graduate in the island republic annually, but only half of them find teaching jobs.

To help absorb 700,000 unemployed (7.2 per cent of the Philippine labor force), the government's education department set up a $6 million fund to develop technical courses and hopes to train 50,000 skilled workers in trades from electronics to cosmetology.

Pakistan is another country that suffers from a lack of trained blue collar workers. Earlier this year, President Ayub Khan said the emphasis in Pakistan's educational establishment on general arts and humanities has produced "useless manpower."

The government is trying to correct the situation. It has undertaken an educational reform program to attract 67,000 students into Pakistani technical and vocational courses a year by 1970. In 1965, Pakistan counted only 13,250 technical students.

In Thailand, which now has 83 per cent of its total population in the agricultural sector and is trying to put more emphasis on industry, the great concern is a shortage of management personnel. The shortage is felt most in the fields of engineering and technical industries.

To meet the problem, the Thai government three years ago organized a National Institute of Development Administration to train administrative personnel, but it was a late start and today the National Economic Development board lists serious shortages in key professions: 10,000 engineering teachers and 10,000 general university teachers needed; 2,000 nurses needed; 1,600 scientific workers needed; 900 doctors needed; 900 forestry and fishery specialists needed.

World Bank Program
 In its first such program, the World Bank has loaned $8 million to establish 18 technical training schools throughout Thailand. Teachers are being trained for these schools, which the government hopes to open in a year or two. Thailand also is negotiating with the international labor organization for programs under which industrial workers would be trained so as to increase their skills.

Taiwan's Nationalist Chinese government has a unique problem—a massive drain of some of its best young minds. More than 7,000 Chinese students who have completed graduate study in the United States remain in America to work rather than return to poorer paying jobs in Taiwan. Many of these students are highly trained in science, and consider opportunities for research work in Taiwan too limited.

In the past five years, about 500 graduates of Taiwan medical colleges went abroad, most of them to the United States. Only 10 of them have returned home. Altogether, about 6.2 per cent of the foreign students studying in the United States are Chinese from Taiwan, ranking in number just behind Canadians and Indians.

Taiwan, like so many other countries of Asia, needs more skilled trade graduates from vocational schools. Government agencies say that industry requires about 52,000 technicians and semi-technicians a year. But only about 11,000 students graduate annually from the island's vocational schools and junior colleges of technology.

Hard Fighting Waged Along DMZ

Gunman Robs Gastonia Bank

GASTONIA, N. C. (AP) — A gunman, apparently aided by a companion on a motorcycle, held up the Northwest branch of Citizens National Bank near Gastonia late Wednesday afternoon and made off with about $3,700.

The robbery occurred about an hour before closing time.

One customer and employees were in the bank when a white man, described as about 40-45 years of age, about 150 pounds and between 5-foot-5 and 5-foot-7, approached a teller and asked her for a roll of quarters.

As she was getting the money, the man flashed a pistol, handed her a paper bag and told her to fill it. He ordered the employees and the customer to lie on the floor.

After the bag was filled, he walked to the door, repeated the order to lie down to one person he saw move, and left.

Manager Robert E. Gault followed him out the door seconds later, but lost him in heavy traffic. He said the man crossed railroad tracks and then Gault said he saw a motorcycle speed away.

Later, at nearby Belmont, a gas station employee told police he waited on two men in a white car in which he saw a box containing money.

The car last as seen heading toward Charlotte on Highway 74.

No Doctorates At New Units

RALEIGH (AP) — President William C. Friday of the Consolidated University of North Carolina says no doctorate degree programs are planned at the proposed new UNC branches at Asheville and Wilmington.

He said Wednesday the two schools "would continue in the foreseeable future as undergraduate institutions should they become members of the university system."

The Consolidated University board of trustees voted Dec. 2 to convert Wilmington College and Asheville - Biltmore College into campuses of the university.

The matter now goes before the State Board of Higher Education and the General Assembly.

About 40 legislators and UNC trustees attended a regional meeting of the legislature and trustees, Friday and chancellors of the four university branches outlined their budgetary requests for the next biennium and discussed long-range plans of the institutions.

Friday said combined enrollments at the four campuses are expected to increase by 4,500 in the next three and one-half years.

Seven Pupils On Principal's List

GRIMESLAND—Seven pupils earned places on the Principal's List during the last marking period at Grimesland School.

They were: Connie Mills and William Lewis (fourth grade); Mary Elizabeth Elks, Mary Ann Seymour and Ray Gladson (sixth grade); June Hodges and Cindy Clark (eighth grade).

To be on the Principal's List, students are required to have no more than 3 B's, with A's in all other instances.

Vote Purchase Knitting Mills

WEST POINT, Ga. (AP) — Directors of West Point-Pepperell Wednesday approved the purchase of Alamac Knitting Mills, Inc., and some of its affiliated corporations.

The proposed purchase price was $15 million in cash. The transaction is expected to be completed promptly.

Alamac, with plants in North Carolina and Massachusetts, produces knitted fabrics principally for the apparel trade.

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Marines and North Vietnamese troops battled for 12 hours Wednesday, and the heavy fighting spilled over into the demilitarized zone, the U.S. command reported.

Twelve Marines and eight North Vietnamese were killed and 30 Marines were wounded, the command said.

Confirming earlier reports, the headquarters also announced that the number of American troops killed in action in the eight years of U.S. involvement in the war had passed the 30,000 mark. The weekly casualty report said 192 Americans died in combat last week, raising the total to 30,057 since Jan. 1, 1961.

In the same period, the U.S. Command said at least 422,979 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese have been killed, including 1,715 last week.

In the fighting along the northern frontier, U.S. fighter-bombers streaked over the southern edge of the demilitarized zone to attack about 200 North Vietnamese troops the U.S. Command said was raining mortars, machine-gun and small arms fire on the Marines. U.S. artillery guns also blasted at the Communist troops, some of whom were well entrenched in heavily fortified bunkers.

Military spokesmen said the

Will Set Tables, But No Eating

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The tables will be set for a banquet. There will be menus, and a bill to pay—but no food or drink.

It's a "nondinner" at Sacramento State College Sunday evening. Sponsored by students, it will raise money to help make Christmas happier for poor families in the Sacramento area.

Leonard Starks, president of the Associated Students of Sacramento State, said they hope at least 600 persons will show up and pay for items ranging from a 10-cent soft drink to $5 for a steak. They'll get nothing of course, except a feeling of helping others.

fighting broke out on the southern edge of the DMZ. About 150 Marines from the 4th Regiment had moved out on patrol from the combat base called The Rockpile and ran into the North Vietnamese six miles to the northeast.

Another 150 Leathernecks were rushed up while bombers and artillery pounded the enemy positions. The fighting swirled into the zone itself when the enemy soldiers withdrew about midnight to the north and northeast and the Marines pursued them.

The North Vietnamese mortar positions were said to be a few hundred yards inside the southern half of the DMZ.

A spokesman said a sweep of the southern edge of the zone turned up eight enemy bodies and a quantity of war materials and ammunition.

It was the second time since the halt in the American bombing of North Vietnam on Nov. 1 that allied forces moved into the DMZ. On Nov. 26, U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese infantrymen swept into the zone and clashed with North Vietnamese troops in two battles seven miles apart, but no American casualties were reported.

U.S. headquarters also reported that U.S. Marine artillery fired Wednesday on 10 to 12 North Vietnamese soldiers sighted in fortified positions inside the DMZ about 10 miles east of the enemy fighting. An aerial observer spotted the enemy troops a mile inside the southern half of the zone, a spokesman said, and the Marine artillery destroyed 12 bunkers and triggered three secondary explosions, indicating hits on ammunition stores. The number of North Vietnamese killed, if any, was not known.

PLANNING CHARITY SALE . . . Gene Brown and Mike Folk, co-chairmen of the annual Jaycee-sponsored lightbulb sale look over map of city as they plan how Jaycees will cover the city tonight. The sale will begin at 6:30 and run until 9:30 p.m. The annual project raises money for the Jaycee charity fund, the major portion of which goes to the Salvation Army to help buy Christmas Baskets and toys for needy families at Christmas. The men hope to sell 8,000 bulbs — about $2,000 worth tonight.

Better Business By Lady Santa Helpers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — What's more popular at Christmas than Santa Claus? It's lady Santas. But perhaps it's because they wear red minidresses and tight red leotards.

After 68 years of relying on male Santa Clauses for Christmas season streetcorner collections, the Volunteers of America is experimenting with female collectors, called Santa's Belles. "They're doing two to three times as well as the men have done," said Paul H. Nolte, executive director of the Los Angeles volunteers.

Sneezing Ever Since Nov. 26

MURRAY, Utah (AP) — Jeff Simper, 13, sneezed the morning of Nov. 26. And he's sneezed more than 17,700 times since.

Twice a minute of every waking hour.

His doctors say they have found neither cause nor cure. "The only time he doesn't sneeze is when he's asleep, and the only time he can sleep is when we give him a sedative," said his mother, Mrs. Ralph D. Simper.

GOLDSBORO — Seven Pitt County horse owners and two owners from Martin County were among persons receiving awards at the annual Coastal Plain Horse Show Circuit banquet held here recently.

Josie Forbes of Greenville was given a second place award for her Hillview's Jewel in the three gaited pleasure horse division.

"I had feared that many Roman Catholics would lapse into quiet despair but say nothing and do nothing about it. I couldn't have been more wrong," he said.

CARE Adds To Biafran Relief

ATLANTA — Additional distributions of $181,000 worth of baby cereals and rice, bought in the United States, and $200,000 in locally purchased foods or relief supplies have been authorized by CARE for starvation victims of the Nigeria-Biafra conflict.

The high-protein baby cereals, totalling 50 tons at $25,000, and 500 tons of unpolished rice at $156,000, will be delivered to Biafra through the facilities of the International Committee of the Red Cross, coordinating agency for outstanding relief assistance. Each food represents a combination of proteins and carbohydrates, to meet urgent nutritional requirements reported by relief officials on the scene.

Needed food and relief materials available in Nigeria and neighboring countries will be purchased by William Bault, CARE disaster aid specialist based in Lagos. Working in conjunction with the ICRC, they will be delivered through hospitals, clinics and relief centers serving refugees in areas under Nigerian control.

Suspend Mailman For Long Hair

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Letter carrier William E. Cain, 24, was suspended Wednesday for not cutting his shoulder-length hair.

Cain became the first postman furloughed under an Aug. 1 Post Office rule requiring that hair and beards of postal employees be neatly trimmed.

Cain, who has worked as a mailman the past 11 months, said he planned to file a grievance against the postmaster, an action that could put his case before the postmaster general.

The Phillies set a major league baseball record for most consecutive years leading the major leagues in errors from 1930 through 1936.

Alcock said he expects new defense pleadings which could result in postponement.

Shaw, 55, was arrested March 1, 1967, a few days after Garrison confirmed he was conducting his own investigation of the assassination.

The district attorney contends Shaw conspired with Lee Harvey Oswald and others to kill President Kennedy, who was slain by a sniper in Dallas in 1963.

The Warren Commission said that, based on the best evidence it could find, Oswald acted alone.

There Will Be Christmas For Consol No. 9 Families

By NILES JACKSON
CONSOL No. 9, W Va. (A.P.)
—For the grownups who live around the big coal mine the joy and hope of Christmas lie buried there this year with 78 men. But Christmas is mostly for children, and many of the adults are determined to salvage something of the traditional holiday spirit for the young ones.

days of futile rescue attempts. They left 75 widows and 133 sons and daughters.
Mrs. Bea Martin's miner husband was not among the entombed, but she expressed the general community gloom this way: "We're not going to celebrate Christmas. I don't see how anyone can."
Mrs. Hartzel Mayle, mother of 16 and widow of one of the lost miners, took a brave opposite view.
"He would have wanted us to have a Christmas," Mrs. Mayle said. "That was our big day. My husband would play football in the house with the kids. We'll all try to have a Christmas."

"We have our farm and we're going to get by. I'm planning to buy some cows and we have the corn and hogs and chickens."
"I had a wonderful husband. I know he wouldn't like it if I threw up my hands and said I couldn't make it and suit. We're going to make it."

"I'm going to see the rest of the kids get through school. My husband and I always said even if they had beards and was gray-headed, they were going to finish high school."
Mrs. Mayle knew a coal miner's life well. Her husband had worked in the pits since his teens.

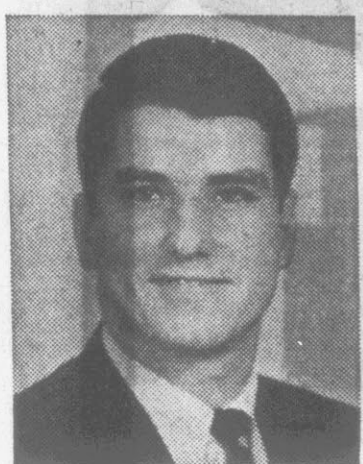

Some were new to it, like Barbara Toler who is still awaiting the birth of her baby. Her 26-year-old husband was among those lost.
Mrs. Emma Opyoke's home is on the rising mountainside near the company store.
"They're going to have a Christmas..." Mrs. Opyoke said of the widows and fatherless children. "They're not going to have much but they're going to have something."

"They're going to force themselves to celebrate, especially when they have little ones who don't understand."
Money, clothes and toys keep coming into Farmington where the No. 9 disaster fund office is located. L. Clyde Riley an official of the United Mine Workers Union, said about $5,200 had been collected and the fund has Nova Scotia, Florida, California only been established a few nia, Mississippi, Wyoming and days. Inquiries have come from elsewhere.

Two Tapped By Phi Beta Kappa

LEE A. WHITEHURST

MRS. WENDA McCALLUM

CHAPEL HILL — Two students from Greenville, attending the University of North Carolina, have been tapped into Phi Beta Kappa, the nation's highest scholastic honorary fraternity.

Mrs. Wenda Trevathan McCallum and Lee Albert White-hurst were among 90 students at UNC to receive their gold keys and certificates in a special ceremony on the campus Tuesday afternoon. The group represented less than one percent of the campus enrollment of 15,500 at UNC.

Kenneth Rufus Gurganus of Williamston was also tapped into the fraternity at the Tuesday program.

Given New Trials In Taxi Murder

RALEIGH (AP) — Two Raleigh men, convicted of murder in Guilford County and sentenced to die, will get a new trial because persons opposed to capital punishment were excluded from the jury.
The State Supreme Court granted the new trial Wednesday to Joseph Eugene Spence and Glenwood O'Neill Williams, accused of slaying Alton A. Maynard, a Durham taxi driver.
In its decision, a divided court upheld the death penalty in North Carolina. Two of the justices, William H. Bobbitt and Susie Sharp, said the death penalty had been abolished under recent federal court decisions, but the other five justices disagreed with them.
Spence and Williams are also under indictment in Granville County in the slaying of two other men while they were escaping from the Dorothea Dix State Mental Hospital in Raleigh.

Whistled Free Long Distance Telephone Calls

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Joe Engressia, the blind student who whistled his way through long distance telephone circuits to place free calls around the nation, will be allowed to remain in school, it was announced Wednesday.
Although the telephone company did not want to prosecute, the 19-year-old Engressia was temporarily suspended from the University of South Florida.
Engressia, blind since birth, appealed, citing his "between an 'A' and 'B' average." He was allowed back but placed on probation until the end of the quarter in March. Also, he was ordered to pay $25 to "a worthy cause." Engressia said he made that much on calls by whistling to dial the numbers wanted.
To make the calls, Engressia whistled the area codes and the numbers—all at 2,600 cycles in perfect pitch.

Money Lost In Christmas Clubs

By ROB WOOD
Associated Press Writer
CHARLOTTE (AP) — When you receive that Christmas Club check from your favorite bank, stop and consider the fact that you've lost money.

The more you've saved, the more you've lost.

How?

Simple. Most Christmas Club funds return zero interest, compared to the 4 per cent or slightly more paid by banks for regular savings accounts.

So you'd be better off saving for a snowy day through a regular savings account. How much better off depends on how much you save. Item:

Save $10 a week for 50 weeks in the Christmas Club fund and at the end of that time you have $500. If the same amount of money had been stashed in a regular savings account, you would have earned $9.05 in interest.

Increase the deposits and, naturally, the interest climbs.

A spokesman for the First Citizens Bank and Trust Co. of Charlotte said that institution pays "no interest at all on Christmas Club savings."

But the bank has use of the money for loans or investments throughout the year.

Also, if an individual wishes to withdraw money from his Christmas Club account before the end of the contract period, he must pay a $1 fine.

Regular savings can be tapped at any time the depositor needs cash — with no extra charge.

When asked why anyone would use the Christmas Club route instead of the regular savings plan, the spokesman said, "They find it a bit easier to put a dollar or two aside each week."

"Can't a dollar or two be put aside in regular savings each week?" the spokesman was asked.

"Certainly, but the customer just finds it easier in the Christmas Club."

The Northwestern Bank of

Charlotte does pay one per cent interest on the Christmas Club savings, still far below what regular savings would earn.

And, that one per cent interest is automatically cancelled if the depositor takes the money prior to the payment date in December.

At Northwestern, an official said there apparently is no advantage in using the Christmas fund except, "Some people say when they have a coupon book it is like a debt and they'll make payments. Otherwise, they might not save."

North Carolina National Bank, one of the state's largest, had 25,125 Christmas Club members this year and issued checks totaling $2,690,556.

Those customers lost thousands of dollars by not having the money in savings accounts.

Lewis A. West, marketing services coordinator for NCNB, said his bank is attempting "to discourage Christmas Club accounts and the only reason we continue to offer these accounts is because some customers insist."

He said NCNB is urging Christmas Club members to open regular savings accounts instead. It even established an interest-paying "Christmas Savings Account" to lead customers into this type of savings while preserving the idea that they are saving for Christmas.

West said at NCNB money can be withdrawn from a savings account up to twice a month without penalty. Take the money out of the Christmas Club and you forfeit $3.

He added that NCNB feels the "administrative costs of a Christmas Club account offset the advantages of the interest-free deposits, especially when you consider that savings accounts are automated and Christmas Club accounts are handled manually."

A Late Starter Finds Success In Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Can a college dean with no previous experience in banking find success and happiness in the intricate world of high finance at the age of 56?

Perhaps he can if he is competitive by nature, feels he has plenty to offer, is willing to take on the double task of learning and performing at the same time, and is ready to admit the task will kill him or stimulate him.

That, at least, is a partial portrait of the man who is doing it, Ernest Arbuckle, former dean of the Stanford Graduate School of Business and now chairman of Wells Fargo Bank, San Francisco-based but worldwide in influence.

In the job four months now, Arbuckle concedes that it is tough to learn and perform simultaneously but already he has decided that the job will stimulate rather than kill him.

Swapping jobs is nothing new to the former dean, who shifts completely every 10 years.

For 10 years—with time out for combat Navy service in World War II—he was an executive with Standard Oil of California. After that came a decade with W.R. Grace & Co. and then 10 years with Stanford.

"Reporting," said Arbuckle in an interview, "that's how you get a new bloom." But not everyone should try to blossom out anew, he feels.

"It really depends on the individual. I don't believe it is the best thing for your career to change jobs simply for the change."

"You begin with objectives concerning your job and your own self-development, and if another opportunity comes along you don't jump until you've accomplished your goals."

"You also shouldn't stay put for its own sake. You should have a plan of accomplishment and when that is achieved you should be willing to start off again."

In his allotted 10 years at Wells Fargo—he must retire at age 65—Arbuckle hopes to contribute in two main areas: bringing a broad management background to long-range planning and building the bank's principal resources—people.

Since Arbuckle served on corporate boards while at Stanford, he hopes to bring new attitudes and points of view to Wells Fargo, most of whose senior officers have spent most of their life in banking.

This background is expected to be especially valuable during the next few years, when many banks will be diversifying into related fields such as mutual funds and insurance. It should be a growth decade for banks with manpower.

Ruritan Officers Of Winterville Club Installed

WINTERVILLE—A new slate of officers of the Winterville Ruritan Club were installed at ceremonies Tuesday night at 7:00 p.m. Installation ceremonies were conducted by Rev. Willie Wilson.

The new officers, who will serve a one-year period, are: Lec Keeter, president; Jack Thompson, vice-president; Tom Mann, secretary; Sammy Hodges, treasurer; Horace Thompson, chaplain; Ronald Carroll, song leader; Russell Little, sergeant-at-arms; and E. C. Avertette Jr., reporter.

Three new members, Rev. James Layton, Van Jackson and Rev. Horace Thompson were received into the club.

Randolph Harris was elected to the board of directors for a three-year period.

Glasgow Rated As One Of Most Violent Cities

By RONALD THOMSON
Associated Press Writer
GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) — A boy named Alan did a careless thing in Glasgow the other day. He crossed a street. The street took him into the Gorbals district and within minutes he came out unconscious on a stretcher, his face slashed to red ribbons. Alan belongs to the Tongs, so he should have known better than to cross an unmarked frontier in to the territory of the rival Cumbie gang. Surgeons put more than 40 stitches into the wounds that will leave him disfigured for life. At 17, Alan paid the price of breaking gangland rules. Now he's waiting his chance for revenge on a straying Cumbie. So it goes on, the meaningless violence in Britain's toughest city. What happened to Alan—his full name was not disclosed by authorities—is commonplace in the squalid districts where the gangs flourish. The deadliest word in their vocabulary is "chib." Alan, like scores of other youngsters each weekend, was chibbed. It means to be sliced up with a cut-throat razor. Members of Glasgow's 25 to 30 gangs have set a pattern in juvenile terror that causes despair among police and social workers alike. It's the main reason why Glasgow has been rated one of the most unruly cities in the world. In a country where wholesale violence is rare, where murder is uncommon enough to make headlines and where the police don't carry guns, Glasgow stands out like a sore thumb. On average, 250 people, mostly teen-agers, are treated in city hospitals each Friday to Sunday night for wounds suffered in fights and ambushes. The murder rate is up from 10 in 1957 to 24 last year. Serious assaults rose in the same period from 310 to 1,282. It's senseless warfare. The gangs don't operate protection rackets or break into banks or roll drunken sailors. They don't have religious or political differences. The vicious hatreds seem utterly futile. Now the gangs fight it out on a strictly territorial basis. It's one street against another, one district against another. Roman Catholics and Protestants join together in the same bunch, dedicated to vendettas that the outsider can never understand. The names of the gangs often spring from the street where they first emerged. The Drummy was born in Drumlanrig Avenue the Cumbie in Cumberland Street. Interviews with gang members are rare and often dangerous to seek. "This is a city obsessed by fear," says the Rev. Geoffrey Shaw, a Presbyterian minister working in the notorious Gor-bals district, once known as the worst slum in Europe. A vast program of rehousing has removed that shaming label, but the old slum areas still breed the boredom and discontent that produce the gangs. Gorbals is the territory of the Cumbie, Glasgow's oldest gang but no longer its strongest. That honor is claimed by the Tongs, who hold sway over the nearby Carlton district. The Tongs, broken up into junior and senior divisions, have a reputed membership of about 500 teen-agers. At any one time

10 per cent of them can be found in Glasgow's harsh Barlinnie Prison. Signs of progress in dealing with the gangs, however, have been reported by 300 Roman Catholic priests operating what they call a Christian Commando exercise in the slums. Fifty priests came from other parts of Britain to join local clergy in organizing meetings at youth centers and mission halls in Glasgow. Attendances have been running up to 700 a night without any serious disturbances.

Alaska's Senior U.S. Senator Dies In Night

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alaska's senior U.S. senator E. B. "Bob" Bartlett, one time gold miner and newspaperman, considered himself an example of the rugged individualism that marked the tough life in his arctic frontier state.

Bartlett, who died Wednesday night at the age of 64, prided himself on his informal bearing, his goldmining past and the close contact he tried to maintain with the ordinary citizen.

He died of cardiac arrest in a Cleveland, Ohio, clinic where he had been under treatment since a November operation to relieve blockage of an artery.

Gov. Walter J. Hickel, who learned of Bartlett's death as he was being named President-elect Nixon's secretary of interior Wednesday night, declined to comment on appointment of a successor.

The Republican governor praised Bartlett, a Democrat, as a man who had "served Alaska well throughout most of his adult life" and said, "All Alaska has lost a friend."

Bartlett and Ernest Gruening, also a Democrat, were elected Alaska's first senators in 1960 and Bartlett was deemed senior senator by the toss of a coin.

Gruening was defeated in the primary this year by Mike Gravel who went on to win the Senate seat in the general election.

Bartlett had come to Washington in 1933 as secretary to Anthony J. Dimond, the Alaska Territory's nonvoting delegate to Congress. He returned to Alaska in 1935 to operate for three years the small placer gold mine his father had worked near Miller House, Alaska.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt appointed Bartlett secretary of the Alaska Territory in 1939. In 1944, he succeeded Dimond as Alaska's congressional delegate and was re-elected to six two-year terms before becoming a senator.

Before the government service, he had been a Fairbanks News-Miner reporter for six years.

Bartlett was born in Seattle, Wash., April 20, 1904, and was taken by his parents Ed, and Ida Bartlett, to Fairbanks the following year.

Fire Marshal Advises Care

Mike Worthington, Fire Marshal of Pitt County, noting the recent increase of fires in homes and business establishments, warns people it is time to check their heating devices and safety devices carefully.

"With cold weather, home and business fires become a critical factor," Worthington stated. "People should check their furnaces or other heating equipment. Special attention should be paid to flues—to see that they are not rusty, that they are well fitted in the stove and chimney. Chimneys too must be inspected. Often the mortar will loosen and fall out, making it possible for flames to shoot out. Chimneys should be flue-lined."

Worthington says that precautions and a careful check from time to time might mean the difference between being warm or having a costly or even tragic fire.

Church Group Elects Officers

New officers were elected at a meeting of the Mt. Pleasant Churchbuilders Class at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bullock Saturday night.

Those elected were: Doug Parker, president; Howard Bullock, vice-president; Mrs. Howard Bullock, secretary; Mrs. Jane Ross, treasurer; Roger and Bobby Bullock, co-chairmen of the Grounds Committee.

Ruel Stancill, current president of the class conducted the meeting. Howard Bullock read facts about the Bible and interpreted the meaning of Christmas.

The class decided to undertake helping a needy child as a Christmas project. Another project discussed was providing music to the outside of the church by means of an amplifier.

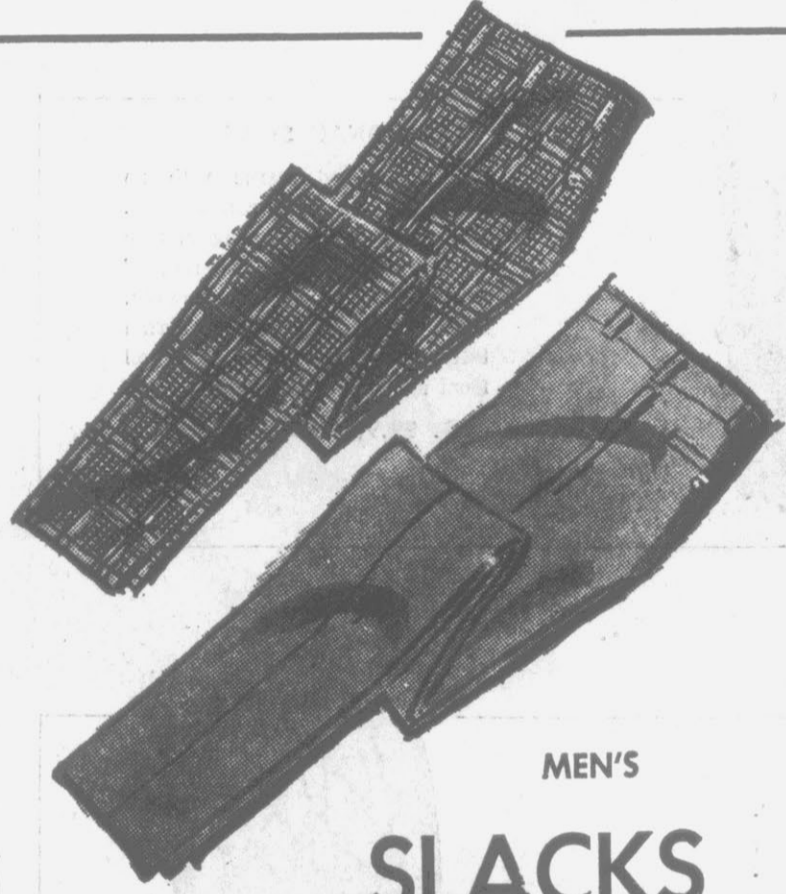

Arizona has produced more copper than any other state in the Union for over 50 years.

Real Test For Laird In Secretary Of Defense Post

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Melvin R. Laird may be tested when he attempts to put into practice as the Nixon administration's defense secretary what he preached as a congressman. The Wisconsin Republican will have to reconcile the need for new strategic weapons to stay ahead of the Soviet Union with the need to keep the defense budget from soaring out of sight.

Laird is unique—he is the first member of Congress to step into the exceedingly tough job of running the gigantic defense establishment and shaping national strategy to deal with changing threats.

As a ranking GOP member of the House Defense Appropriations subcommittee, he has interrogated Pentagon chiefs and challenged their policies. Now he will be on the other side of the committee table.

Though respected by both Democrats and Republicans in Congress, he will be far from immune to criticism. In fact, his reputation as a strong partisan may open him to Democratic attack after the customary period of grace at the start of a new administration. Laird was Nixon's principal defense policy adviser during the recent presidential campaign.

His views show through Nixon's core contention that Democratic administrations allowed a "gravely serious security gap" to open up between the United States and the Soviet Union. Like Nixon, he rejects the idea of nuclear "parity" and favors clear cut U.S. superiority. Like Nixon, he has deplored what he claimed was a lag in new weapons development and military research under the McNamara regime. He supports Air Force aims for a new advanced bomber, but does not go all the way with the Air Force on the dimension of that program. Like Nixon, Laird is an advocate of a stronger Navy. He fought for more nuclear-powered warships at a time when McNamara opted for conventional power because of economy considerations. Like Nixon, Laird has attacked "gradualism" as it was practiced in the U.S. bombing campaign against North Vietnam. At one time, he advocated air strikes at the port of Hal

Way Opened For Docks Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The way has been opened for resumption of a longshoremen's strike when a federal injunction expires Dec. 20.

A majority of 30,000 longshoremen working in east coast and gulf ports voted to reject shippers' contract offers.

The National Labor Relations Board, which supervised the election, said Wednesday the vote last week was 14,379 to 1,112 to reject the offer to boost wages from $3.60 to $4.25 an hour over a three-year period.

An 80-day Taft-Hartley Act "cooling off" period injunction expires Dec. 20. It was invoked by President Johnson to halt the strike.

Under the law, members of the AFL-CIO Longshoremen's Association will be free then to resume the strike.

Government sources reported negotiations were resuming in New York in an attempt to head off the threatened strike.

Longshoremen voted in Morehead City, Southport and Wilmington in North Carolina and Charleston and Georgetown in South Carolina.

Demonstrated Safety Steps If Car Breaks Ice

DEWITT, Mich. (AP) — A car teetered at the edge of a 100-foot ramp, then sped toward the thin ice of Lake Geneva with two men apparently trapped inside.

It was just a demonstration of what to do in case you're trapped in a speeding car headed for water, sponsored by Michigan state police.

The rules are: —Don't panic. Keep your doors closed. Your car will float at least four minutes.

—Wait until the car is settled, the roll down a window and crawl out, which is that Sgt. Larry Miller did.

If the car noses down, smash the back window and climb out onto the trunk, which is what Sgt. William Carter did.

Miller and Carter were pulled to strong ice by four safety experts who spread-eagled themselves across the surface in a human chain.

Found Innocent In Gun Death

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C. (AP) — A Cumberland County Superior Court jury Wednesday found William Henry Monroe, 21, of Fayetteville, innocent of a murder charge in the shooting of his 61-year-old father-in-law, Neil Williams. Williams was shot at his home last Oct. 14.

Paris Viet Peace Talks No Nearer To Start; Saigon Raises Doubts

PARIS (AP) — The Vietnam peace talks appeared no nearer to a start today, and South Vietnam's delegates were reported to have new doubts about their American allies.

Qualified sources said the Saigon government feared U.S. negotiators were anxious to get the talks started before President Johnson leaves the White House, Jan. 20 and might consider procedural concessions that would give the status of a full delegation to the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

American officials sought to minimize the reports of differences between the U.S. and South Vietnamese delegations. They stressed that the United States will make no deal with North Vietnam on conference procedure unless it is acceptable to Saigon.

Preparatory U.S.-North Vietnamese talks to organize the negotiations are deadlocked by the symbolic dispute over the shape of the conference table and the order in which the various delegations will speak at the opening session.

North Vietnam's Col. Ha Van Lau proposed again on Tuesday that the conference should meet at four equidistant tables and draw four lots to decide the speaking order. Both arrangements would make the conference appear to be one of four equal delegations, a status which the Saigon and U.S. governments refuse to concede to the NLF.

But whereas South Vietnam's delegate Pham Dang Lam called both proposals unacceptable, the United States avoided any such categoric rejection. An authorized American source said the United States still preferred a rectangular table and two-way lots, which would symbolize the U.S.-South Vietnamese view of the talks as a two-sided proposition. The United States did not accept Lau's proposals, the source said, but it did not reject them either.

Despite the reports that Saigon felt the United States was still shopping for a compromise, Hanoi's press spokesman in Paris, Nguyen Thanh Le, contended that the United States had turned down the North Vietnamese suggestions because it wanted to prolong the delay in starting the conference.

The NLF meanwhile named the head of its foreign affairs commission, Tran Bui Kiem, a 48-year-old lawyer, to lead its delegation when the talks get under way.

Kiem is a member of the presidium of the central committee of North Vietnam's communist party. An NLF announcement said the present delegation chief, 41-year-old Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh, would be Kiem's deputy. Kiem's arrival date in Paris was not announced.

Phantoms Hosting Camp Lejeune Five

Rose High School's unbeaten cagers open their non-conference schedule Friday night, then get their sternest test of the year on Tuesday night.

The Phants will play host to Camp Lejeune on Friday night, and then travel to meet unbeaten Washington on Tuesday.

Coach Nelson Best said that Camp Lejeune has a real fast team. "They don't have a great deal of height, however, running with a 6-3 and a 6-2 boy."

Fred Ogle is listed as their top player. Working from a forward position, Ogle is rated as a good shooter and is hitting about 20 points per game.

"They play a sticky man-to-man defense, and they like to press," Best said.

In two previous games, Lejeune beat Hobbs, 53-51, and Jones Central, 52-50.

Turning to the Washington cagers, Best could only say, "They're loaded."

"They have their first six players back this year, and I felt last year in the tournament that they had the best team in the conference."

So far this year, they have had little trouble in winning, scoring 96 points in each of their non-conference outings. Tuesday night, they clobbered Havelock, 85-45. Rose also downed Havelock, 55-37, in the first game of the year.

The six returning men include Tom Steward, a pivot man; Edward Latham, a forward; Zeno Edwards, a tough, quick guard; Jim Buchma, an All-Conference forward; Charles Harrington, a 6-6 forward; and Jim Boyer, a guard.

Harrington, incidentally, is the first cousin of Rose's Mike Harrington.

The Rose High Harrington is the team's leading scorer, dropping in 21.5 points per contest. He is closely followed by Ray Peszko who had an 18.5 mark.

Indian Score

Dave Daugherty of William & Mary drives past East Carolina's Richard Keir (35) and Jim Modlin, for a basket in last night's Southern Conference game. Modlin and Keir led the Pirates to a 77-66 win over the Indians for the second straight Buc win. East Carolina is now 2-1. (AP Wirephoto)

WILLIAMSBURG, Va.—Coach Tom Quinn went to his bench early in the second period, and came up with a winning combination as the East Carolina Pirates won their second straight outing, 77-66, over William & Mary last night.

It was the first conference meeting for both teams. East Carolina is now 1-0 in the loop and 2-1 overall. William & Mary is 0-1 and 0-3.

The change came with about 16 minutes left in the game. Quinn was unhappy with the way the original starting five, Richard Keir, Jim Gregory, Tom Miller, Earl Thompson and Rich Collins, were doing, so he turned to his bench.

Onto the floor came Jim Modlin, Bob McKillop, Richie Williams and Mike Dunn to join the lone remaining starter Keir. At the time, the Bucs were down, 35-34.

But the new crew took over and did the job, pulling the Bucs away in the final five minutes of the game, as they built up their 11-point bulge.

William & Mary, which has been strong in the first half in all three of their games this year, led consistently during the first half. Gregory put the Bucs into a 2-0 lead at the start, but William & Mary came back to gain control. The lead never amounted to a great deal, however, and the two usually swapped baskets.

The Indians built up their biggest lead at 17-13 when Scott McLennan hit on a driving lay-up with 9:06 left in the first half.

The Pirates fought back, with Miller and Gregory hitting to pull the score to 30-28 in the final minute of play. Thompson then hit to make it 30-30, but McLennan made good on a foul shot with three seconds left to give William & Mary a 31-30 lead at the half.

Following intermission, the Buc starters showed no improvement, so Quinn made the fateful decision.

During the first five minutes of play, it was nip and tuck with neither team getting anywhere as far as building a lead was concerned. Harry Kent finally put William & Mary out 35-34 with 16:11 left, and that brought about the ECU coach's quick-change act.

And that act was the key to the victory for the Bucs. Dunn came on to hit two straight to give East Carolina a 38-37 lead, and the Bucs were off and running after that, slowly pulling away from the Indians.

By the time there were five minutes left, the Bucs had inched out to a steady five point lead. Then in the closing minutes, Keir hit a jumper, and Modlin dropped in two straight layups with 1:10 and 50 seconds left to make it 73-60 and seal the fates of the Indians.

"It was a fine overall team effort," Quinn said after the victory.

Modlin, who played the best he has this year, had a fine second half, scoring 14 of his 16 points. He also pulled down seven rebounds, as did Keir.

Keir was just a point behind in scoring with 15. Dunn finished with 11, while McKillop, who was a dead-eye on the line, had 10 and Gregory also had 10.

McKillop hit on 10 of 11 free throws in the game, all in the second half, while the team made good on over 85 per cent of its free throws to make the difference.

The Bucs hit on only 36.9 per cent of their field goal attempts, a great deal cooler than the 73 per cent of last Saturday night. William & Mary wasn't much better, however, making just 37.2 per cent, and outscoring the Bucs by four points from the floor.

The line play was the big difference, as East Carolina made good on 29 of 34 charity shots, while the Indians converted only 14 of 26.

For William & Mary, Dave Stout had 16, Dave Daugherty had 12 and Paul King had 10.

In the preliminary, William & Mary's freshmen rolled to a 91-77 victory over the Baby Bucs.

The Papooses took command in the opening minutes of the game and had no trouble in disposing of the cold-shooting

Baby Bucs. William & Mary out-hit the Bucs from the floor by 28 points, and only a 33-19 advantage at the line kept the Pirates as close as they were.

Greg Crouse led the Bucs with 19 points, while Ron LeBors had 16, Jim Farley had 12 and Randy Longworth had 10.

For William & Mary, Ed Downtown had 21, Randy Smith had 20, Sanford Doisseau had 18, Richard Gillespie had 14 and Jerry Fisher had 13.

The Pirates return home on Saturday night to play host to Old Dominion College.

Action Opens In Pitt Loop

Area teams begin playing the games that count Friday night, when conference action gets underway on most fronts.

The big question may be answered on Tuesday, however, when Bethel and Stokes collide in a game that will have a great deal of bearing on the conference championship.

Another big question will also be answered Tuesday: Are the days of the Ayden domination of the Pitt County Conference over? Ayden plays Grifton on Tuesday in their first conference encounter.

Tonight, a couple of teams get the jump on the rest. Unbeaten South Ayden will host Woodington, and will be looking for their fourth win of the young year. H. B. Sugg travels to Conetoe, seeking their second win in as many games.

Friday, Pitt County Conference action gets underway with two loop games. Belvoir will be at Grifton, while Stokes will entertain Winterville. Bethel currently leads in both the boys and girls races with 1-0 records, while Chicod was their victim, posting 0-1 marks in both boys and girls divisions.

The Hornets, meanwhile, will be looking for a win against non-conference Pantego. Bethel will get a home-court test from Robersonville, Bethel Union will be at South Greene, unbeaten Greene Central travels to East Duplin, South Ayden goes to Warsaw Douglas, Ayden is at Farmville, still looking for a win, Eppes is at Rocky Mount, and Whitfield is at Robersonville.

On Tuesday night, there are three conference encounters in the Pitt County race. Besides the Stokes-Bethel encounter, Chicod travels to Belvoir and Grifton is at Ayden.

Elsewhere, Farmville goes to Southern Nash in the first Red Devil conference clash; Winterville is at Oak City, Aurora plays at Robersonville, Whitfield is at Bethel Union, Greene Central goes to Hobbs, Wilson is at Eppes and Conetoe travels to Sugg.

In the scoring race, Rose High School's Mike Harrington jumped into the lead this week. He posts a 21.5 average in leading the Phants to a 2-0 record.

Close behind him is Richard Roberson of Bethel Union with a 21.4 mark. Next comes Charlie Grimes of South Ayden with a 20.3 mark.

In fourth place is Ronald Bowen of Greene Central at 19.3, with George Moore in fifth place with a 19.0 mark. Ray Peszko of Rose is sixth at 18.5, followed by Andy McLawhorn of Ayden at 16.3, and Hoyt Haddock at 16.1. Rounding out the top 10 are John Roundtree of South Ayden at 16.0, and Larry Sutton of Grifton at 15.7.

In the second 10, in order, are: Eddie Stokes, Bethel, 15.6; Jeff Jones, Roberson, 15.0; Douglas Dunning, Bethel, 14.7; William Shivar, Belvoir, 14.4; Willie Smith, Eppes, and Danny Smith, Roberson, both 14.3; Leon May, South Ayden, 13.7; Davy Jones, Greene Central, and Ronnie Stokes, Winterville, both 13.5, and Bill Hall, Farmville, 12.5.

In the girls scoring race, Faye Everett of Winterville leads with a 14.5 mark, with Debbie Purvis of Bethel next at 13.1. Next comes Marion McLawhorn of Grifton at 12.3.

Susan James of Bethel is fourth at 11.1, while Ayden's Kay Kite has an 11.0 mark. No other girls have broken into double figures.

Named As MVP, Top Player

Billy Wightman was honored last night at the annual East Carolina University Fall Sports Banquet by topping the football awards presentation.

Wightman captured the Outstanding Player Award, and the Most Valuable Player Award. The junior tailback led the team to a late season rally after it had gotten away to a disastrous start.

Other award winners in football included Ben Grieb, George Wheeler, Worth Springs, Jim Flowe and Garland Ballard.

Grieb was named as the winner of the E.E. Rawl Memorial Award, given to the player who shows the top leadership qualities along with scholastic ability.

The Norman Swindell Memorial Award, for team above self, went to Wheeler, a defensive tackle for the Bucs.

Springs, a senior offensive guard, received the Blocking Trophy, while Flowe received the Lamsche Award as the Outstanding Senior.

Ballard was recognized as the Outstanding Freshman. Two other awards were made to track athletes for their cross-country performance. Don Jayroe, who won the state championship, and led the Bucs to a second place finish in both the state and Southern Conference meets, was named as the Most Valuable Athlete.

Neill Ross, a freshman, received the Coach's Award for his work during the past season.

Coach Clarence Stasavich praised the football team for their comeback this year after the bad start. "It's good to start the season expecting to win every game," the coach said. "We thought we could do it and apparently so did some others. But there were also some who didn't think so, and we found that out."

"We made a fine recovery. We had our best offensive effort of the year in the first half against Tampa, and our best defensive effort was the second half against The Citadel. But we just weren't ready to play East Tennessee. We didn't have good workouts all week long because of exams. I think we should have won our last five games."

"The finest victory came over The Citadel. It took a lot of desire to win it and this was the difference."

Stasavich said he is looking forward to next year. "Our record should be better. We have a fine group of returning players, and the freshmen will be bringing up some outstanding players, too."

Actually, the Bucs lost only five starters from this year's team of 22 starters.

Phant Matmen Fall To Quakes

GOLDSBORO — Goldsboro High School's tough wrestling team downed Rose yesterday, 35-15, in the opening match of the season for the Phantoms.

Rose took a brief lead in the match, winning the first two events. But after that, the Earthquakes came on strong, downing the Phants in seven of the remaining 11 matches. And in those other four, the best the Phants could manage were a win and three draws.

The Phants open their home season tonight at 7 p.m., playing host to Kinston in a North-eastern Conference match.

Apollo 8 Crew Too Busy For Yuletide Thoughts

By JIM STROTHMAN
CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — For America's Apollo 8 astronauts, there is little time for thoughts of Christmas as they work to make this nation's biggest bid yet for the moon.

If all goes according to schedule, Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders will be a quarter-million miles away from home, circling the moon, while their families in Houston, Tex., are celebrating the holidays.

"The past 6½ years that I have been in the space program have meant far more separations from the family than I like," said Borman. "And doing this at Christmas is just another one of the burdens of doing what we are doing. Christmas as such, I don't believe, makes a difference in the mental attitude."

For if all is well, this will be the scene during the more than six-day flight of Apollo 8, beginning with Dec. 21, the day their 363-foot-tall Saturn 5 rocket blasts off.

Dressed in glistening white spacesuits, the three astronauts ride an elevator to the spacecraft level of their Saturn 5 rocket—the best booster American technology could produce. They are out to prove the best is good enough.

It is approaching 7:51 a.m., the moment of liftoff.

Inside the roomy Apollo capsule, Borman, Lovell and Ar-ders report to the launch control center three miles away, where hundreds of systems experts monitor flashing lights on consoles that will tell if something is wrong.

They talk of switch positions, of pressures, of power levels. There is no talk of the moon yet. There is much still to be done on earth.

The countdown clock clicks on. Thirty seconds . . . 20 . . . 10 . . . 5 . . . 3, 2, 1, zero, ignition.

Five big engines at the base of the first stage suddenly roar to life. For eight long seconds, the majestic machine remains locked on the pad. Twin fountains of flame gush out two sides of the launch pad until the Saturn 5 develops the 7.5 million pounds of thrust needed for liftoff.

Borman, Lovell and Anders are on their way—the first men ever to ride atop a Saturn 5, the type booster developed for man to the moon missions. There will be no lunar landing on this trip, however. That will await another day, maybe Apollo 10. But they have been given a flight plan that is to take them around the moon 10 times, and for this moment in history, that is the best man has ever done.

Slowly, creating a noise almost unbearable to people be-

There were about 12 million families living in the United States in 1890. About 11 million of those families had annual incomes of about $380.

low, the 36-story booster lumbers skyward and rolls toward a southeast heading over the Atlantic Ocean. At an altitude of about 35 miles, the Saturn 5's first stage completes its job and drops to the sea.

Five more engines on the big rocket's second stage then ignite for a million-pound push that lasts more than six minutes, when the last stage of the rocket takes over to kick it and the Apollo 8 spacecraft into a circular earth orbit 115 miles high.

Less than three hours later, after Apollo 8 has circled earth 1½ times to give the astronauts and tracking stations around the world time to assure all is well, Saturn 5's upper stage is restarted. It burns for a crucial five minutes to push Apollo 8 free of earth's gravity and toward the moon.

It will be nearly three days later, Christmas Eve, when the craft is pulled behind the moon by lunar gravity. At that time, Borman will trigger Apollo 8's main engine as a space brake to slow the moonship down and swing the astronauts into an egg-shaped lunar orbit ranging from 69 to 196 miles high.

After two laps around the moon, another burn of the same engine will shift Apollo 8's path to a more circular orbit 69 miles above the lunar surface.

Traveling at 3,400 miles an hour, the astronauts will require nearly two hours to make each orbit. There is plenty to do, however. They must gather data to answer the many questions that forced the decision to send them moonward in the first place.

Lovell, the guidance and navigation expert, will take sightings of at least one real Apollo landing target zone selected for the lunar landing mission itself, and snake believe other areas are landing sites to see how well an orbiting Apollo ship can locate and track them.

Anders will be a busy cameraman, photographing areas not covered by unmanned shutterbug satellites which orbited the moon previously, and seeing if changing sunlight angles can confuse spacemen by making the same spot on the moon look differently at different times in a lunar day.

The lives of the astronauts are now dependent on the performance of their spaceship engine. If it fails to fire after their lunar orbit mission is completed, the crew will be left stranded circling the moon where they will eventually perish.

"The engine has to work for us to get back out of lunar orbit," Lovell said candidly.

The high-speed trip from lunar orbit back to earth will take 58 hours and should produce some spectacular photographs by the astronauts showing how this planet looks while approaching from the moon.

Re-entry is planned six days and four hours after liftoff, when Apollo 8 parachutes to awaiting recovery ships in the Pacific Ocean 30 minutes before sunrise there.

East's course of action in defending against South's four-heart contract was soundly conceived, but one slight slip along the way enabled the declarer to subvert his opponent's efforts.

West opened the four of spades, declarer played the ten from dummy, and East's jack won the trick. East was looking at two spade tricks and one in hearts, but the appearance of the dummy rendered it unlikely that the defense could do any further damage.

The only possible source for another trick would be a ruff in diamonds, provided, of course, that South had at least two of that suit. East was certain to get in again with the ace of trumps and West is marked with an entry in the form of the king of spades. East accordingly returned the eight of diamonds at trick two.

It was apparent to South that East must have a singleton diamond when he led directly into the dummy's imposing holding in that suit. Inasmuch as declarer could not draw trumps without letting the opposition in, he decided to direct his efforts toward severing the enemy's line of communications.

The ace and king of clubs were cashed on which South discarded a spade. The eight of clubs was played next and, when East played the jack, declarer did not ruff. Instead, he threw his last spade. East could not put West in now for the diamond ruff, and South was able to go about the business of drawing trumps without any further threat.

East could have thwarted declarer's counter-measures by unblocking in the club suit. When South cashes the ace and king of that suit, it should be apparent that he is short in that suit and intends to take a discard. East can, therefore, afford to drop the jack of clubs on the second round. When South leads a third club, East can now play the four—and declarer has no way of keeping West out of the lead. If South ruffs the club, West will get in later with the king of spades to give East the diamond ruff.

Steels, autos, rubbers, aerospace issues and many miscellaneous manufacturers declined.

Out-size gains by specially situated issues enlivened the list. Thursday is usually a day of ragged market performance because of preweekend evening-up operations by traders and, lately, because of expectations of credit tightening moves by the Federal Reserve Board at its Thursday meeting.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon neld a gain of .8 at 367.7 with industrials up 3.4, rails off .9 and utilities up .1.

Volume was heavy, the customary pent-up orders after a Wednesday closing having full effect.

American Smelting gained 6, and Pan American Sulphur was up more than a point. American Smelting confirmed that it had received an acquisition offer from Pan American.

Charge Man On Morals Count

A 22-year-old Negro was charged with indecent exposure here yesterday after allegedly exposing himself in a local drug store.

Chief H. F. Lawson said local officers arrested Leander Barrett Jr. of 1102 Vandyke St. after receiving a 12:31 p.m. report that a man was exposing himself in Hollowell's Drug Store on Dickinson Ave.

The warrant charging Barrett was signed by store officials, Chief Lawson explained.

U.S. Destroyers Suspended Sentences Quit Black Sea For Seven Teenagers

ISTANBUL (AP) — Two American destroyers left the Black Sea today after a three-day cruise that brought protests from Moscow and stirred up controversy in Turkey.

The United States said the brief visit to Russia's southern doorstep by the Dyess and the Turner, tw 3,500-ton members of the U.S. 6th Fleet, was a routine operation. But it was generally assumed that the cruise was prompted by the Soviet naval buildup in the Mediterranean.

The destroyers sailed through the Bosphorus into the Black Sea Monday morning and came back out early this morning. Soviet ships and planes shadowed them during their cruise.

The United States and Turkey rejected the Soviet complaints. But some Turks felt that the cruise would have the harmful effect of increasing Soviet pressure on Turkey.

Turkey's semi-official Anatolia News Agency reported today that since the Arab-Israeli war in June 1967, the Soviet navy had sent 186 ships through the Bosphorus into the Mediterranean.

Anatolia said transports and tankers sometimes passed through the strait at the rate of 10 a day to supply Soviet naval forces based in such Mediterranean ports as Latakia, Syria; Alexandria, Egypt, and Mers el Kebir, Algeria.

SWAN QUARTER, N.C. (AP)—Seven Negro teenagers have been found guilty of charges arising from protests over Hyde County's school desegregation plans and 114 more remember tried in a special session of District Court next Wednesday and Thursday.

Those given separate trials before Judge Hallett Ward Wednesday were found guilty of disrupting school and damaging public property. All were given four-month suspended sentences and fined $100 and costs.

In addition, the judge placed each on probation for two years and ordered them to be at home by 11:30 p.m. daily unless given permission to stay out later by a probation officer.

Each gave notice of appeal to Superior Court. Bond was at $250 each and all returned to jail without posting bond.

The six others facing similar charges are among 114 who will be tried next week. Most of the others face charges of blocking traffic during demonstrations at Swan Quarter.

Flu Fears Bar Hospital Visits

DETROIT (AP) — Most visitors have been barred from six Detroit hospitals for the duration of the outbreak of Hong Kong flu.

It was feared that visitors might pass the flu to patients and workers. Hospital officials said that visitors will be allowed to see patients in especially serious condition.

A board of education plan to close the country's two Negro schools and transfer the students to the previously all-white school has been protested by Negroes. They want all three schools to operate on a mixed basis.

Milton Fitch, state coordinator for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said demonstrations in Swan Quarter would be stepped up "because we can see now there is no relief to be received." Speaking of the new District Court, he said, "North Carolina should be ashamed of itself having subjected its citizens to the heavy expense of instituting a new court system, only to hand out the same old one-sided justice."
