Speculation On Nixon Policy Shoots Gold Prices Up

By LOUIS NEVIN Associated Press Writer LONDON (AP) — The price of gold shot up to a six-month peak on European bullion markets today on the basis of speculation that President-elect Nixon's administration may raise the official price for the metal.

and television links, is scheduled to ride into space atop a three-stage Delta rocket at 7:32 p.m. It is to be placed in stationary orbit 22,300 miles above the Atlantic Ocean off the coast of Brazil.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration is launching the satellite for the 63-nation telecommunications satellite consortium for a fee of $4.7 million.

The Apollo 8 astronauts, Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders, climbed into a spacecraft simulator this morning, adding to the more than 250 hours each has logged in the training device.

Later, they planned to meet with Launch Director Rocco A. Petrone and astronaut Michael Collins, who will be the chief ground communicator with Apollo 8. Collins, an Air Force lieutenant colonel, originally was to have flown the mission but was replaced by Lovell after he underwent spinal surgery last summer.

NASA reported weather conditions for Saturday's launching were predicted to be satisfactory, with considerable cloudiness, temperature in the 60s and moderate winds. The forecast also called for good conditions in the major recovery areas.

The lengthy countdown, which started Sunday night continued to proceed flawlessly toward the scheduled launch time of 7:51 a.m. EST Saturday.

Attention was focused on checking systems of the giant 36-story-tall Saturn 5 rocket which is to boost the astronauts on their quarter-million-mile trip to the moon. The first three days of the countdown concentrated on spacecraft systems.

Borman, Lovell and Anders are to orbit the moon for 20 hours on Christmas Eve and early Christmas Day, hoping to pave the way for other astronauts to land on the lunar surface next year.

Urge Upgrading, More Funds For Vocational Rehabilitation

RALEIGH (AP) — Increased state appropriations and upgrading of the North Carolina Division of Vocational Rehabilitation was urged today by the governor's Study Commission on Vocational Rehabilitation.

Mrs. Semans pointed out that for an additional state appropriation of $3.2 million North Carolina could receive a total of $21 million in federal funds for rehabilitation programs with the physically or mentally handicapped.

The additional funds, the Vocational Rehabilitation Division could employ 66 more counselors and open 24 new offices to serve larger numbers of handicapped people.

In discussing the number of persons with physical or mental disabilities, Mrs. Semans said the study group undertook detailed surveys in Durham, Pitt and Transylvania counties and found "some disability in 22 per cent of the population."

visual handicaps, 36,286 with hearing impairments, 89,071 with mental disorders, 175,328 with cardiac or respiratory disorders, and 29,909 with respiratory diseases such as emphysema.

Higher Milk Prices For N.C. Are Set Up By Commissions Action

RALEIGH (AP) — The price paid to dairy farmers for Class I and Class II milk will increase in North Carolina Feb. 1, and is expected to raise the retail price two cents per quart.

The state Milk Commission voted Tuesday to boost the price for Class I milk by 45 cents a hundred pounds, from $6.95 to $7.40. Class I milk is used for bottling and other purposes.

The commission, which sets producer prices but not retail prices, hiked the Class II price from $3.95 a hundred pounds to a minimum of $4.20. Class II is used in the manufacture of ice cream and cottage cheese.

The commission will take another look at the situation in six months. Farm spokesmen had asked for a boost of 60 cents a hundred in the Class I price to producers, as well as an increase in the Class II price to bring it more nearly in line with price support levels in Federal Market Order areas.

Mrs. Semans stressed the state's need for "comprehensive training centers" to "rehabilitate the seriously and multiply handicapped physically disabled."

These recommendations included: —That the state initiate preschool and school programs to minimize the developmental effects of disability.

—That mobile screening units be purchased for the early detection of both visual and hearing impairments.

—That emergency beds be provided in local hospitals to allow for the care and rehabilitation of alcoholics.

—That community sheltered workshops in the state be encouraged to expand their orientation so that they can provide meaningful an effective services to disabled groups other than the mentally retarded.

—That the vocational rehabilitation division expands its services for the aged, specifically in the areas of vocational training, vocational rehabilitation, counseling, vocational evaluation, sheltered workshop placement and selective job placement.

—That provision be made for permanent sheltered living facilities in the communities which have sheltered workshops which can employ persons who may need such accommodations.

—That whenever vacant beds occur in the state's tuberculosis hospitals that centers be established for the treatment, conditioning and rehabilitation of persons with other pulmonary conditions.

—That the state Commission for the Blind initiate steps for the development of additional industries for the blind in the portions of the state now without such industries.

—That the vocational rehabilitation division develop more fully its guidance and counseling function and become more aggressive in the areas of case finding, job development, placement and follow-up.

Saigon Ready To Talk Two Holiday Truces

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government said today it is ready to talk with North Vietnam about truces for New Year's Day and Tet, the lunar new year festival.

This would bring the question of further holiday cease-fires back to its present status, since Saigon refuses to recognize the NLF and to negotiate with it.

The Communists' good faith when they announced a three-day truce." The communique cited "the treacherous violations by Hanoi and its auxiliary forces during the Tet truce" last February, when the Viet Cong launched its biggest offensive of the war, and "assassinations, kidnappings, shelling and terrorist attacks that occurred in the previous truces proposed by the Communist themselves."

Hanoi was expected either to ignore the invitation or tell the Saigon regime to talk to the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front, in line with the Communist contention that the Viet Cong and not the North Vietnamese are fighting the war in South Vietnam.

The Viet Cong has already announced unilateral three-day cease-fires for Christmas, New Year and Tet, which next year comes on Feb. 17. The South Vietnamese government has announced only a 24-hour cease-fire for Christmas, and the U.S. Command says it will observe this truce period also.

"It is still too early," the communique said, "to make any decision concerning a possible stand down in military operations for New Year's Day and Tet. In case Hanoi wishes to seek a truce arrangement for New Year's Day and Tet, the government of the Republic of Vietnam will be ready to discuss the matter with the representatives of North Vietnam."

Licensing Of Bicycles Is Paying Off

The emphasis on licensing of bicycles to comply with the Greenville city ordinance is paying off according to Greenville Police.

Eleven bicycles were sold at auction here this morning, according to Police Chief H. F. Lawson. This compares, he illustrated, with 20 sold a year ago and 40 in December, 1966.

He explained that all unlicensed bicycles are sold at the end of each year and the proceeds from the sale turned over to the School Fund.

This year, the 11 bicycles were sold for a total of $93. Chief Lawson explained that properly licensed bicycles can be returned to the owner if lost or stolen and recovered by the Police Department. Even in many cases where the thief removed a license plate, the vehicle can be identified through its serial number and description on the registration records maintained at Police headquarters.

The city code makes it illegal to operate a bicycle within the city limits unless it is properly licensed. Bicycle registration plates are available at the police department.

Dedicate First Rent-Subsidized Housing Project

SALISBURY, N. C. (AP) — North Carolina's first rent-subsidized housing project was dedicated Tuesday.

It is the 44-unit Lincoln Park Apartments in a predominantly Negro Salisbury neighborhood.

The Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Co. provided an FHA-insured mortgage of $479,000 as part of the insurance industry's planned billion-dollar investment in housing for the underprivileged. Salisbury businessmen provided the remaining $21,000 cost.

Tenants will pay 25 per cent of their income toward rent; the federal government will pay the rest.

A one-bedroom apartment will rent for $105 a month, two bedrooms $120, and three bedrooms $140.

There were 125 applicants, all Negroes, for the units.

Street Improvements To Be Started 'Soon'

Street improvement work will be begun soon on parts of Lincoln Drive and Greenfield Terrace, according to Col. Harry Hagerty, Greenville city manager.

Harris Street intersection, and the projects is awaiting pavers. This project's cost is estimated at $12,000.

Both of these areas will be provided curb and gutter. Hagerty said the installation of curb and gutter has been completed at the entrance to Brookgreen and preparations are being made for paving.

Improvement work on Farmville Boulevard from U.S. 11 to Raleigh Avenue is complete, but paving will not be done until spring. Some $15,000 is the estimated cost of this project, not including storm drainage work which cost an estimated $5,000.

All work has been done in the Riverview section except paving on one street. The total estimated cost of this project will be some $30,000.

Paving and putting curb and gutter in on Conley Street in the Moyewood section will cost the city about $3,700, half of the estimated total cost, since this is a boundary street.

Friends Won't Ask For Details Of Marriage

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: A few weeks ago, our under-age daughter ran off and got married. She realized it was a terrible mistake and came home to us. Her father succeeded in having the marriage annulled. We are trying to live down this terrible nightmare, and don't wish to discuss it with anyone. When people ask us for the "details," what should we say?

SMALL TOWN, U. S. A.
DEAR SMALL TOWN: Don't tell them anything. Your friends won't ask. And your enemies won't believe you anyway.

DEAR ABBY: Just what are the responsibilities when one's name is used for a "character reference"? Some friends of ours have decided to adopt a child, and they have given our name as a reference. These people pay their bills, the husband doesn't beat his wife or anything like that, but in our opinion they would make poor parents. Without going into detail, they both drink a little too much. He strays from the straight and narrow path occasionally, and it wouldn't surprise us if she fooled around, too.

We have children of our own and take our parental responsibilities very seriously, so what do you suggest we do? Naturally, we don't want to lose their friendship.

ON THE SPOT
DEAR ON: When asked for a character reference, respond honestly. Your remarks will be kept confidential. (If your friends read the same newspaper you do, they may see this, in which case the jig is up.)

DEAR ABBY: My wife, who works for a large insurance company, has just informed me that they are having an office Christmas party, and this year they took a secret vote and it was decided that husbands and wives will not be invited. I just informed HER that I didn't care what they voted, SHE was not going to any party without me. We had a few words about it and now she's not speaking to me.

I'd like your opinion, Abby. How do you feel about company parties that specialize in drinking and dancing, but exclude the spouses?

CURIOS
DEAR CURIOS: I'm four-square against anything that breeds jealousy, misunderstanding, and hostility between husband and wife. And company parties which exclude spouses lead the list.

DEAR ABBY: In answer to "UNHAPPY IN CAL." I can tell this lady that I have lived under worse conditions than she has. For 46 years I have been married to the stingiest man God ever created, but when I said, "I take this man for better or worse until death do us part," I meant every word of it.

It's been rough at times, but Jesus is my personal savior and He never gives us a heavier load than we can carry, so all I ask is strength to bear my cross until He sees fit to change things according to His will.

I just got out of the hospital with my fourth nervous breakdown. I had shingles in my mouth so bad I still can't wear my dentures, but God knows what is best for me and I have placed myself in His hands. People with problems can do the same.

HAS FAITH IN WINDBER, PA.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a person I reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Miss Judith Corbin Weds Lt. Upchurch Saturday

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.—Miss Judith Kay Corbin of West Palm Beach became the bride of Lt. Joseph Burtis Upchurch, U.S. Navy Reserve, of Palm Springs, on Saturday at the Palm Springs Baptist Church. The Rev. Louis B. Fisher Jr. officiated at the ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Lt. Col. (Ret) and Mrs. Vance R. Corbin of Ft. Pierce, Fla. The bridegroom is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Percy Bryant Upchurch of Greenville, N. C. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length gown of peau de soie fashioned along empire lines. The gown featured a full length train which fell from the shoulders.

Her bouffant veil of illusion fell from a petal crown embroidered with seed pearls.

Miss Terry Lynn Corbin, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a red velvet gown styled similar to the bride's gown with seed pearl trim at the empire waistline.

Miss Julie Kuhn of Port Huron, Mich., was bridesmaid. She was attired in a gown styled identical to that of the honor attendant.

Yule Cards' Peace Theme Is Apropos

NEW YORK (AP) — The Christmas card with the quiet though significant words "Peace on Earth" might be classified as a card of conscience. It is a sad reminder that all is not well on earth as could and should be.

Peace has generally meant freedom from warfare. We now admit that even as civilians, in a highly developed country such as ours, we are confronted with a day to day battle for survival. We are reacting to symptoms of battle fatigue and reveal invisible scars that damage the spirit — just as laboratory animals too long exposed to unpleasant conditions.

This ubiquitous social warfare has given us a hard time. There are so many rips in our social structure we hardly know where to begin to patch them up.

The iron-clad institutions of religion and law are no longer considered sacrosanct. Social problems multiplied as society slipped further away from their firm grip. Young marriages increased with little thought of the responsibility involved — so did divorces. Children ran away from home to live as flower children. Public servants such as schoolteachers, transit workers and garbage collectors struck against the public — policemen and firemen threatened. The nation was draped in mourning following the assassination of outstanding leaders. Campaigning politicians were unnecessarily attacked by a jeering public. Even entertainers had to run for their lives from their loving and admiring fans. The sharp rise in crime, especially violence, has left us suspicious and fearful — afraid to travel after dark — frightened of being visited by intruders in our own homes.

Many people have lost faith in their leaders who appear more concerned with political power than the needs of their people. Humanity has been overruled. When will they make room for mankind? The National Association of Greeting Card Publishers heard this cry of despair and selected "peace" as the theme for Christmas cards, 1968. The artistry and words of their cards reflect the mood of modern times.

Theme cards are distinguished by the Dove of Peace often sketched on a globe signifying world peace. Some cards have the word "peace" beautifully engraved in gold or silver on a satin-type finish against a dark colored background. These cards express the message but have no religious boundaries. For those who stick to the religious, there is the nativity scene, pictorially reflecting the age-old Christmas story — the word "peace" is on the envelope. Some of these cards are sketched in gold against a white background.

A more peaceful life might be a distance away, but for the price of a beautiful Christmas card, we can circulate the lovely thought.

Rise In Crime Threatens Liberties

The FBI's report of crime increase in North Carolina's major cities is sad to behold. The crime report showed a marked increase in the crime rates of Charlotte, Greensboro, Raleigh and Winston-Salem.

Forcible rapes in Charlotte were up from 34 to 66, in Greensboro crimes in this category were up from 13 to 19; they were up from nine to 11 in Raleigh and 10 to 23 in Winston-Salem.

Robberies went from 190 to 278 in Charlotte, 64 to 84 in Greensboro, 58 to 70 in Raleigh and dropped from 76 to 57 in Winston-Salem.

Burglaries increased from 2,386 to 2,929 in Charlotte, 754 to 796 in Greensboro, 1,047 to 1,419 in Winston-Salem, but dropped from 601 to 577 in Raleigh.

The statistics covered the first nine months of this year compared with the same period last year. They also showed that the increase in crime for the period amounted to 19 per cent nationally.

Recent events have shown that the public is acutely aware that their liberties are threatened by the steadily increasing crime rate. Efforts seem to be already underway to stem this rising tide which threatens to engulf our society. Like anything worthwhile, reducing crime is going to take training for our law enforcement people, the will to be tough enough to tackle problems connected with enforcing the law, at times compassion for misguided people and always more money to carry out improved enforcement programs.

All these things will be forthcoming, however, if the public is fully aware of the necessity for them.

Assembly Seats Are Designated

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH — Seating arrangements for the 1969 session of the General Assembly have been completed and seat No. 1 on the Senate side will belong to veteran Sen. Julian Allsbrook of Halifax.

Allsbrook got his bid in early for the seat vacated by retiring Sen. Thomas J. White of Lenoir and according to the row a special prestige this time. Eure customarily reserves back row seats for Republicans both in the Senate and in the House.

Not surprisingly, he has done so again.

GOP Is Grouped

There are 12 Republicans among 50 members of the Senate and with few exceptions they will be seated shoulder to shoulder across the back row.

One, Sen. Odell Sapp of Rowan, has moved up to the second row.

There will be many new faces in both the Senate and House, but some of these are familiar. Sen. W. D. (Bill) James of Richmond County has served before. So has Sen. Russell Kirby of Wilson. Stewart B. Warren of Sampson, Herman West of Cherokee, W. W. Staton of Lee and Saunders of Moore have served previously but were not in the 1967 legislature.

Rural Domination

On the House side, rural Democrats predominate. Rep. James Speed of Franklin County, a farmer and warehouseman has Seat No. 1. John Church of Vance County has No. 2 and Arthur Williamson of Columbus County No. 3.

Julian B. Fenner of Nash County has Seat No. 4 and Seat No. 5 is that of Rep. Allen Barbee, also of Nash. No. 6 belongs to Rep. Joe Eagles of Edgecombe County.

And Seat No. 7 is the only one on the front row assigned to someone west of Raleigh to Rep. Dwight Quinn of Kanawha.

Rep. Phil Godwin of Gates County has his usual No. 8 and the four other front row seats are assigned to the Wake County delegation. All of the front row are Democrats and again Eure has assigned Republicans to seats in the back of the chamber.

Far Back

For example, Roby Garner of Randolph County, one of the senior GOP members, has seat No. 102. Joe H. Hege Jr. of Davidson has 105. Republican Jimmy Johnson of Cabarrus County has 115. Austin A. Mitchell of Rowan is 117.

Rep. James Holshouer of Watauga, the state Republican chairman, has seat No. 103 which is his old seat, on the second row from the back aisle.

But when the financial reports of several major Nixon fund-raising committees were filed after the legal deadline just before the election, Mr. Nixon was furious. Newspaper exposés on the tardy filings, and hints that the Justice Department would take a close look at the whole Nixon fund-raising operation as a result, made Mr. Nixon look bad. The candidate who preached law-and-order was in the position of flouting the law.

His reaction was anger to the point of denying Stans the Commerce Department job. Thus, ten days ago, John Mar-

The approach to Briley went so far that Briley was instructed to "clear his skirts" — that is, see if there were any objections — with ranking Republicans on the Senate Commerce Committee. He did so, and there were no objections at all.

At the eleventh hour, however, Nixon advisors prevailed on the President — elect. They convinced him Stans was not responsible for the financial report fiasco. Mr. Nixon had a change of heart and returned to his first choice: Maurice Stans (but then forgot to mention him by name at the televised Cabinet unveiling ceremony Wednesday night).

A footnote: Briley, who was Republican nominee for the Senate against Sen. Frank Lausche of Ohio in 1962, would have been conspicuous as the Nixon Cabinet's only Harvard man.

A Capitol Hill policeman on night duty in the Senate wing of the Capitol flatly refused to unlock the door to Vice President Humphrey's ceremonial office off the Senate floor Dec. 2 despite the insistent demand of the man who will occupy it beginning Jan. 20: Spiro T. Agnew.

Accompanied by his Secret Service detail, Agnew arrived unannounced in the Senate wing around 10 p.m. He wanted to "inspect" his new quarters, the Vice President-elect said.

The guard was adamant. He told Agnew the office belonged to Humphrey and that he had no authority to open it for anyone.

Losing A Citizen That Has Served City Well

In one year's time Dr. Ira Williams has initiated programs in Greenville which have been considered impossible in other communities.

Dr. Williams is neighborhood organizer for the Greenville Redevelopment Commission and it was largely through his efforts that the Greenville Educational Forum was organized. He is also credited with activating the Citizens Advisory Committee which is one of the few such committees in the south-east which is truly functioning.

Now Dr. Williams, who is a minister, is leaving to become pastor of First Baptist Church in Williamsburg, Va., the oldest Negro Baptist church in the United States.

He was honored by his fellow citizens at a meeting at Mount Calvary F.W.B. Church Monday night and he received a plaque presented by Dr. Charles Price, chairman of the Citizens Advisory Committee.

Dr. Williams is the kind of citizen that every community needs and, while we regret that Greenville is losing him, it is clearly an honor that this outstanding Williamsburg church has chosen him as its pastor.

Maurice Stans' Narrow Squeak

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Behind President-elect Nixon's appointment of Maurice Stans, prominent New York investment banker and star political fund-raiser, as Secretary of Commerce is a poignant human drama that almost had a bitter final act for Stans.

No one served Mr. Nixon with greater loyalty than Stans over the years. He was chief fund-raiser for Nixon's run for Governor, helped finance Nixon's 1966 travels, and was in charge of Nixon's monumental funding operation during all of 1967 and 1968.

He did a phenomenal job. As Budget Director in President Eisenhower's administration, Stans had wide financial and political connections. Stans knew where the money sources were and he raised more than $20 million for the Nixon campaign. He was entitled to a Cabinet post, Nixon insiders agreed. Stans wanted to be Secretary of the Treasury but would be content with Secretary of Commerce.

But when the financial reports of several major Nixon fund-raising committees were filed after the legal deadline just before the election, Mr. Nixon was furious. # Strength For Today

By ELMER ROESSNER

It will be no surprise to anyone that the United States had the largest gross national product per capita at the end of 1967, according to the recently published 1968 Pick's Currency Yearbook.

But it may come as a jolt to learn that ranking second was Kuwait.

Kuwait is a Persian Gulf kingdom resting on one of the richest pools of oil in the world. The royal family is shrewd and, by playing one oil company off against another, does pretty well.

The secret of Kuwait's remarkable status is not in the amount of oil it sells, but rather in the amount it gets per capita. And this "per capita" figure is tricky. While some income filters down, most of it clings to members of the royal family.

He was fit to be tied. He pounded the table as he talked — or rather shrieked — and it looked as if it might be necessary to send for the ambulance soon.

Here's what he was saying: "My wife had asked me to stop at the beauty parlor and pick her up and I was there on time. As I walked past the booths I suddenly saw a young guy about twenty years old stretched out on a reclining chair. He was dressed in blue jeans, was in his bare feet and was having his hair curled.

"They call them hippies. I call them dippies. How in heaven's name are we ever to keep our country going on material like that? There are a lot of things in the world more dangerous than the hydrogen bomb. You know what I mean, don't you?"

He's probably still pounding his desk and many of us have considerable sympathy for his viewpoint. Why do things seem to get twisted about so that women want to be like men and men want to be like women? Many men and feminine women are God's best gifts to this mixed-up place of ours. Have you ever considered how strange it is that in this sophisticated age of ours, and in some circles, bare feet, unkempt appearance, unwashed clothing, and a generally repulsive attitude are associated with glamour?

Times change. Customs change, and rightly so. But most of us agree with the guy who pounds the desk and shrieks disapproval. Not the hippies — rather, the dippies.

Nixon's Hopeful Start

Taking one thing with another, it is hard to imagine how Richard Nixon could have gotten off to a better start in naming the team he will put on the field next month. Weak spots may develop, especially in a power struggle for control of urban affairs, but on the whole the prospect will appeal to most of those who share a conservative view.

This is not merely because the Cabinet happily fails to include a single Rockefeller — not even one — though this is cause for jubilation. As Messrs. Nixon and Johnson observed last month, in a different context, the Constitution permits only one President to serve at a time. If Nelson Rockefeller had been given a Cabinet post, we would have had an unselected naturally is directed toward the three Chicagoans named to high office — David M. Kennedy, to Treasury; George P. Shultz, to Labor, and Robert P. Mayo to serve as Director of the Budget. By every local indication, these are superior men whose names will not remain unknown for long.

Kennedy seems especially likely to emerge as one of the really strong men of the Nixon administration. A handsome fellow, looking younger than his 63 years, he is known as a tight-fisted conservative in fiscal measures, but he is also known as a banker with a heart. Almost a year ago, long before a surtax finally was imposed in mid-summer, he was pleading publicly for a tax increase to skim some top cream off the money supply. An authority in international finance, he is a sound-dollar man — and no funny business about it. Yet he has taken a leading role in Chicago in one humanitarian project after another.

In these efforts, Kennedy has had the constant support of his right-hand man, Robert Mayo. As a vice president of Continental Illinois Bank & Trust Company, Mayo has represented his bank in a group effort by Loop banks to encourage small business ventures among Negroes and other minority groups. He told the Sun-Times: "If a hippie wearing his beads and with his forehead painted green comes in, he'll get a hearing as long as he has a small business project."

This unconventional conservatism seems likely to be the common characteristic of the Nixon team. The nominees are not "sof in their ways." Their average age is 53, but this is deceptive, for Red Blount, who gives his age as 47, is a perpetual and ageless 32. William P. Rogers, as secretary of state, is about the only one whom unreconstructed Southerners may view as intolerably liberal — principally because of his coldness to apartheid from Little Rock to Johannesburg — but this antipathy may subside. Nixon will be of your life. So you come back to the cause of the major highway deaths, driving under the influence of alcohol and speed.

And if you talk with the majority of drivers you will be told that the above facts are true, and there is the need for strict enforcement of traffic laws.

Better highways are cutting down on the accident rate. The expanding interstate highway systems are given credit for saving 4,700 lives last year and safety belts may have saved as many as 2,500 lives. The figures are for 1967 when there was a decrease in both the mileage death rate and the registration death rate. This was possible because the increase in traffic deaths was less than one per cent while vehicle mileage and the number of cars on the road increased four per cent each.

So consider the dangers present during this last month of the year. The roads are often wet and icy, you are in a hurry because it gets dark early and you have much to do. But safe driving saves time, lives and property.

Other Editors Say Make December Safest

What will the traffic toll be for this December? It was the leading month with 5,160 fatalities last year. And Saturday was the worst day with an average of 225 deaths.

As you must know, one of the most flagrant violations is driving under the influence of alcoholic beverages. Drinking is said to be a factor in at least half of all fatal motor vehicle accidents each year.

A study one state conducted shows that three-fourths of the drivers killed in single vehicle accidents during a five year period had been drinking.

Excessive speed also takes its toll each year. Three out of 10 of the fatal accidents in 1967 involved vehicles exceeding the speed limit or going too fast for road conditions. And consider how little time you save when you exceed the speed limit. Not more than a half hour can be saved ahead of the driver who stayed within the speed limits and did not take traffic risks. And that is too little time in comparison to the loss of the rest of your life. So you come back to the cause of the major highway deaths, driving under the influence of alcohol and speed.

And if you talk with the majority of drivers you will be told that the above facts are true, and there is the need for strict enforcement of traffic laws.

At Ohio's Kent State University 300 Negro students boycotted classes for four days after a rowdy demonstration against recruiters from the Oakland, Calif., police department. About 60 black students of Akron State University took part in a sympathy strike.

A student group of 300 opposed to campus recruitment by defense industries and government agencies carried out seven weeks of demonstrations at the University of Connecticut. The state police finally read the riot act to the demonstrators and arrested 67.

At Brown University in Rhode Island 40 Negro students stayed away from classes four days, demanding increased financial aid for blacks and a higher enrollment quota. The school agreed to raise the number of student body places reserved for Negro males by 5.6 per cent next year and to set aside 11 percent more places for Negro girls at Pembroke, a sister school.

Three buildings at predominantly Negro Loyola-Owen College in Memphis, Tenn., were seized and held for two days by 50 students and outside militants following a campus membership campaign by black power groups.

The school year opened indisputably at the University of Illinois, where 240 students protesting alleged housing discrimination against Negro employees by seizing the Student Union building. Officials estimated damage to the building at $5,000.

Disorder at California's San Fernando State College, where a group of black militants held the president and 34 faculty members hostage on Nov. 4, came to a head a month later when one student was booked on suspicion of arson in the firing of a campus building.

The militants have been demanding an increase of 500 in the number of Negro enrollments next semester. School authorities said budget limitations made this impossible.

Violent School Scenes

NEW YORK (AP) — Student demands for a greater voice in school affairs have led to a rash of U.S. campus disorders during the first quarter of the 1968-69 academic year.

Protests involving violence have been staged against campus recruiting by industry, government agencies and the U.S. armed forces.

Negro students in many schools have clashed with police or college officials in demonstrations for recognition of their rights and a larger share of enrollments.

In New York, grade and high school boys and girls invaded the subway system and damaged equipment because the board of education decreed a longer school day to make up time lost in a teachers strike.

Uniformed ROTC students were formed into guard patrols at Kansas State University after a fire described by the authorities as arson burned down a gymnasium.

At California's College of San Mateo a force of 350 police turned out to keep order in the wake of a rampage by 150 students, most of them Negroes, which left 12 persons injured and $5,000 damage to property.

Officials of San Francisco State College closed down the school early for the Christmas-New Year holidays after days of turmoil involving demands by teachers and students for more autonomy.

Two score Negro students of Washington University in St. Louis held possession of two campus buildings in an eight-day sit-in touched off by a claim that a Negro graduate student was roughed up by four campus police officers.

The per capita income in the U. S. was $3,925; in Kuwait it is the equivalent of $3,567.20.

Swedes Do Well

The only other nation with more than $3,000 per capita in gross national product was Sweden with $3,178.

Eight nations earned two thousand to three thousand dollars per capita. They were: Canada, $2,866.39; Switzerland, $2,564.03; Denmark, $2,519.59; Australia, $2,249.45; France, $2,147.03; Norway, $2,145.30; Iceland, 2,140.70; West Germany, $2,070.40.

Nine other nations reported gross national products per capita from $2,000 to $1,000. In descending amounts, they were Belgium, Netherlands, United Kingdom, Finland, New Zealand, Austria, Israel, Italy and Japan.

All other nations had less, down to $48.40 for Malawi and $42.91 for Nepal. Because of the difficulty in verifying data from the Soviet Union and Red China, they were not given.

The authors commented: "Due to the devaluation of a "European countries again showed their continued economic progress, remaining the world leaders in material per capita product was Turkey being Europe's lowest per capita product was Turkey, which despite considerable paper progress, amounted to about one-tenth of Sweden's."

Man May Find Answers On Moon

EDITOR'S NOTE — Ever since the nation's space program got under way one of its aims was to land men on the moon. The goal is mid-1969. But what is to be gained in going to the moon? That is a question frequently asked by the man in the street. Here are some answers.

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Three American astronauts are about to rocket into space in a momentous journey to orbit the moon.

Why are they going? Why is the United States investing $23 billion to land men on the lunar surface next year?

Why not spend that money on earthly problems such as the plight of the cities or to find a cure for cancer? These questions have been asked by many Americans who want to know why anyone in his right mind would risk a quarter-million-mile trip across hostile territory to land on a bleak, barren globe which has no apparent value.

On Dec. 21 Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders are scheduled to embark on their lunar orbit mission.

They'll be followed next year by other U.S. astronauts—and perhaps Russian cosmonauts—who will land on the moon and begin the exploration of this alien body.

The moon's most immediate resources is scientific knowledge. Many consider it the key to the knowledge of the solar system. On earth, the atmosphere and oceans wear away surface features in 10 to 50 million years. Mountain-building activity turns over large areas in about the same time.

But on the moon there are no oceans or atmosphere to destroy the surface, and there is little, if any, mountain building. Thus, the moon may have retained a record which dates back billions of years to the infancy of the solar system.

During the last five years, the United States and Russia have sent several unmanned spacecraft to study the moon. They have hit it, orbited it, photographed it and soft-landed on it. They provided a treasurehouse of knowledge, brought into doubt centuries-old theories—and raised more questions than they answered. Above all else, they proved the moon is a safe place for man to visit.

But until man has visited the moon and brought back samples of the lunar surface, there will only be conjecture about such things as the moon's origins. There are many theories.

One holds that the moon at one time was part of the earth and that it split away many millions of years ago and became an earth satellite.

Another theory says the moon originated completely independently from the earth and during its travels through space was captured by the earth's gravitational field. Still another theory holds the earth and the moon essentially originated at the same time as "twin planets," perhaps created by the same glass cloud.

Thus a trip to the moon may result in knowledge that can clear up this scientific mystery as well as lead to understanding how the earth itself was formed, why it has oceans and continents and why there are upheavals that create mountains and islands.

Scientists generally agree our solar system, controlled by the sun, was formed more than four billion years ago, possibly by a great gas cloudy spinning out from the sun or by the collision of two massive stars.

By placing huge radio telescopes on the moon, man could peer deep into space, seeking clues to the origin of the universe. Much of the telltale light and radio waves emanating from stars and other distant bodies is blocked from reaching earth by the thick blanket of the earth's atmosphere.

Nevertheless, in recent years the radio whisperings of the universe have hinted at awesome things of violent events taking place within the Milky Way and other galaxies, and of the mammoth quasars, mysterious celestial objects emitting such vast amounts of energy in radio and light waves that they can be observed out to the fringes of the universe.

The moon could become the home of specialized industries. For, as knowledge of chemistry, metallurgy and electronics becomes more advanced, it is likely that many industrial processes might emerge that must be carried out in a pure vacuum. Among the possibilities are perfectly round ball bearings, precision optical lenses and super-strong materials.

Even if the moon is much like the earth in composition as has been conjectured, it may contain a wealth of different materials that could be used in manufacturing.

Because the moon has no atmosphere, its surface materials have not been oxidized like earth rocks. And they have been subjected to intense radiation from the sun and thus might have properties entirely foreign to earth's landscape.

Both Russia and the United States talk of establishing permanent bases on the moon for scientific study, much as is done on Antarctica.

Such colonies might become self-sustaining, if, through chemical synthesis, the explorers could extract from lunar rocks those elements that combine to form organic molecules. The resulting material could be used for construction, life-support systems and could be synthesized into proteins, carbohydrates and fats for food.

To determine if life ever existed on the moon, it is hoped that astronauts can visit permanently shaded areas near the polar regions. Here, micro-organism fossils or microbial forms might have been protected through the centuries from the heat and radiation.

Benefits already are coming from communications, weather and navigation satellites.

Satellites operated by the 3-nation International Telecommunications Satellite Corp. have added tremendously to worldwide traffic capacity, reduced rates considerably and made possible the televising of events from distant lands.

The American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics estimates the business of satellite communications will be grossing $200 million by 1975.

Weather satellites have alerted the world to hurricanes and other major storm systems. Within a few years, it is expected more sophisticated payloads will save at least $2.5 billion a year in crop losses alone in the United States.

Ships from many nations guide themselves accurately by American navigation satellites. Before long, advanced versions will help control air traffic.

On drawing boards in the United States and Russia are Whereupon, Agnew and his Secret Service bodyguard proceeded to the new Senate Office Building, where Humphrey's staff maintains its working suite of offices on Capitol Hill. There they had better luck, gaining entry to five of the Vice President's six work-rooms.

Even there, guards refused to open the sixth — a "security" room full of state secrets. Ironically, those six satellites that could yield the greatest return—the so-called earth resources satellites to make observations in agriculture, geology, geography, hydrology and oceanography. They could locate arable farm land, mineral deposits and good fishing grounds.

It is estimated an earth resources satellite can be activated for between $6 and $7 million and could pay off more than that in a matter of months.

The biggest fallout from the space program to date has been in fields not readily known to the public—in new materials and technology.

Brezhnev Celebrating His 62nd Birthday Thursday; Firm In Seat

MOSCOW (AP) — Leonid I. Brezhnev celebrates his 62nd birthday Thursday with all visible evidence indicating his leading position in the Kremlin is stronger than ever.

His jovial, confident mood in public and the implementation of his known views on Soviet policy give no hint that any serious opposition threatens his power.

The energetic general secretary of the Soviet Communist party also shows every sign of retaining the other two members of his ruling troika — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and President Nikolai V. Podgorny.

Depite recurrent rumors to the contrary, the occupation of Czechoslovakia has not led to any apparent split among the top leaders.

All three sat on public display for two days last week at the Supreme Soviet — parliament-session, ignoring the speakers and chatting animatedly among themselves.

They looked like three old cronies with not care in the world. Brezhnev appeared to be telling a series of funny stories and at one point drew a sketch that had the others shaking with laughter.

Brezhnev seldom relaxes this much in public. His usual pose is one of intense seriousness and self-confidence. He walks and stands with his trim body erect and his chin raised. He is always well tailored and meticulously barbered.

His humble origins become obvious only when he speaks. The Russians are amused by the provincial, Ukrainian accent he has kept since boyhood.

Although he is a Russian, he was born in the Ukrainian village of Kamesnkoje, now Dneprodzerzhinsk, and grew up where the Ukrainian and Russian languages are mixed in conversation.

As a result, he pronounces the hard "G" like an "H", and the word "gorod", meaning city, comes out "horod."

After starting life as a metal worker, he began his rise through the ranks of the Communist party. He was brought to Moscow in 1956.

Diplomats who have talked with him are highly impressed by his grasp of world politics. They agree that Brezhnev has some justification for the self-confidence he has developed in four years in power.

His call for a setup in spreading Communist dogma, enunciated at the April meeting of the party's Central Committee, is almost daily echoed by prominent artists and musicians — the latest being composer Dmitri Shostakovich.

Brezhnev's belief that the country's enormous farm problems can be solved by increasing investment in agriculture is being carried out in the state plan for 1969.

At least in public statements, he fully supports the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

But the price he had to pay for that was six months' postponement of the world Communist conference — known to be his pet project for years.

Although there were reports that the tense negotiations with Czechoslovakia last summer gave him a mild heart attack this has never been confirmed and today he appears vigorous.

American Tenor In Italian Debuts

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard Tucker will perform for the first time at La Scala next May in a new production of Verdi's "Luisa Miller."

He will sing Rodolfo, the part which he sang at the Metropolitan Opera last season when "Luisa Miller" was revived after being out of the Met repertoire for 37 years.

Tucker also sings this season in Verdi's "Il Trovatore," opening the season at Florence's Teatro Comunale in December, and in Puccini's "Manon Lescaut" as his debut at the Teatro Dell'Opera in Rome.

Pet Sheep Has Big Sweet Tooth

LUCERNE, Colo. (AP) — Charlie is a yearling sheep that likes to munch oatmeal cookies and drink soft drinks. When his owner, Kenny Carlson of Lucerne, says, "Want to go for a ride, Charlie?" the sheep hops into the back seat of the car.

Carlson says Charlie deserves all the cookies and pop he can drink. Last March, after 400 of Carlson's sheep has been sheared, temperatures dropped below freezing.

Charlie led his fellows into sheds which protected them from the cold. Only 20 were lost, Carlson said.

(Continued From Page 5) not be used for structures a few years ago because it could not be welded and could not support heavy loads.

Designers of the Mercury man-in-space capsule said they needed something like lightweight titanium as a basic metal. So they went to work and developed a titanium alloy that did the job. Now it is being used in building airplanes and other structures.

There is another reason for going into space, perhaps the most important. But the United States does not like to talk about it because of its military overtones.

The fact is that more than half of the satellites launched by the United States have military assignments — reconnaissance, communications, missile detection, navigation and research.

Being developed are satellites that will spot a soldier in underbrush or a missile buried underground; to locate submarines deep beneath the ocean; to enable troops in the field to talk with one another; to seek out, inspect and destroy enemy satellites.

America also is pushing ahead with a military man-in-space program to counter the Soviet cosmonaut program, which is believed aimed at developing a dominant military position in space.

In recent months the Soviet Union has registered many technological breakthroughs

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration hopes the U.S. moon landing will focus attention on the effort and rally the public—now more concerned with domestic problems—behind the space effort.

Air Force Seeks Fit Man To Job

The United States Air Force has gone "all-out" to fit the man to the job, according to S/Sgt. Lar Murray, local Air Force Recruiter.

Under a new plan, recently announced by Headquarters Recruiting Service, college graduates are now being enlisted to fill vacancies for which they are trained.

The new method of enlisting in the USAF is known as the College Graduate Delayed Enlistment Program.

Basically, the College Graduate DEP program, as it is known, is intended to all college graduates who do not meet the criteria for commissioning as pilots or navigators, or who do not have the engineering degrees currently acceptable for the officer training school program, to enlist to fill assignments that coincide with their degrees.

"This program," according to S/Sgt. Murray, "will allow a college graduate to do a meaningful job, commensurate with the training he has received, while still fulfilling his military obligation."

"In short," the sergeant added, "it will allow him to gain further knowledge and experience in his chosen field while serving his country."

For further information on the College Graduate DEP program, Sgt. Murray can be reached at his office in Greenville, or by calling 752-4290.

House Ethics Group Asks New Vote Procedure

By EDMOND LEBRETON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ethics Committee today recommended modernizing House procedures to avoid errors in recording votes.

The committee suggestion in the form of an "interim recommendation" to Speaker John W. McCormack grows out of a continuing investigation ordered after disclosures that one member was recorded on several roll calls in September although he was not in Washington.

The committee, however, said that so far it has been "impossible to reach a final conclusion as to the cause or causes of specific discrepancies."

The suggestion comes as House Clerk Pat Jennings has been gathering information on an electric tallying system to replace the current practice of members calling "aye" or "no" in response to their names.

Unlike the voting machines used in some state legislatures, it would not eliminate the calling of the 435 names by a clerk. This procedure, requiring about half an hour, gives members time to come to the floor from their offices and, on close questions, gives leaders a chance to work on wavering members.

The tallying device would eliminate the present complicated manual tallying and counting of the vote. Moreover, it would flash each member's vote against his name on a visible scoreboard, giving opportunity for immediate correction of any mistakes.

The tallying machine also could be tied into a computer already used by the House for payroll and other records and thus could provide printouts of each roll call as soon as it is completed, plus breakdowns by party and states.

Chairman Melvin Price, D-Ill., wrote to Speaker John McCormack that the study of House voting, still going on, has already "disclosed numerous points at which human error can enter the system."

The investigation so far has included a comparison of every roll call vote in the House for a year with official travel records of members. The data is still being worked over, a spokesman said, and it appears the discrepancies are not of significant number and fall into no particular pattern.

It is certain, he said, that discrepancies did not determine the outcome of any vote on any piece of legislation.

Police Say Baby Sold For 'Cycle

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — A member of a motorcycle club and a teen-aged girl are accused of selling her 4-month-old boy for $700 and using the money to buy a motorcycle.

Dore Anthony Demadona, 29, and Sarah Jane Stewart, 18, both of El Monte, were arraigned Tuesday under a seldom used statute making it illegal to sell or attempt to sell a human being. The maximum sentence is 10 years in prison.

Police said Mrs. Stewart told them the child, Anthony Lee Stewart, is Demadona's. She said she is married to a ice-man but is seeking a divorce.

Police said the case came to their attention Friday when they were summoned to a disturbance at the home of William Daljan, 46. Demadona and Mrs. Stewart, who had sold the baby to Daljan and his wife Oct. 30, had returned to seek more money from the childless couple, police said.

The child is being kept in protective custody at a Los Angeles County children's home. A hearing is set for Friday.

Emmy-Time Near At Hand; Changes Made

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Emmy, Oscar's hard-luck, plain Jane little sister, will be 21 next May — if she makes it.

Already there are angry rumblings and threats that some VIPs may boycott TV's coming-of-age party. The National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences has—again—revised the rules for candidates for its golden statuette. But instead of placating the critics of its awards procedures, the academy finds itself in the center of a new, bitter controversy.

The Emmy awards, EV's way of honoring its own, at least in theory, seems dogged by dissension and disaster. A few seasons back there was a big rebellion when CBS News led a walk-out! Criticism of the two-season in a controversy over judging rules stems from the fact that methods. Eventually this was several programs and performance of smoothed over. Then last spring came that embarrassing, sort of disorganized awards show, but never won the balloting. Now they are automatically out of error and mishaps.

Now the awards committee has made some more changes relating to the qualifications of nominations—notably a rule that bars programs and those associated with programs that have been on the air for two years or more.

While there was a lot of grumbling, the first real action was taken by an ABC vice president who complained that networks win Emmys because they have executives were given no chance to discuss the changes before they were put through.

gories has been chopped down a bit—but it still is more than 30 and is too big for comfort.

One thing is certain: This spring's Emmy awards show will be better than last seasons, or the survival of the awards themselves will be on the line.

ABC has signed Dick Cavett to a five-year contract and will give him a prime-time network show scheduled to start in May on a three-a-week basis.

The Ivy League comedian, whose low-rated ABC morning show will conclude a short run at the end of January, has been fiercely courted by other networks and by independent producers.

Cavett's night-time talk and talent show will continue to follow the familiar format. It will be transferred intact to a mid-evening spot.

Cavett will have at least one thing going strong for him—most of the other TV series will be showing re-runs when his big chance comes along.

Five Divers Coming Up From The Depths

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—Five divers are scheduled to surface tonight from a simulated January 1,000 feet under the sea and the most intense pressure ever experienced by man.

They began the simulated dive Dec. 11 in a blue, cylindrical chamber at Duke University. The hyperbaric—high pressure—cylinder measures 11 by 36 feet.

It took the men 24 hours to reach the 1,000 foot level, approximately one-fifth mile. Three days later they began decompressing in a gradual return to normal pressure.

The 11-day simulated ascent was required to avoid the bends, or nitrogen bubbles formed in a divers body when he surfaces too quickly.

One of three Navy divers in the chamber, Murray Calo, reported Monday he had a slight case of the bends — experiencing pain in one of his knee joints. He was stricken at the simulated 150-foot level. The pressure was immediately increased to the 170-foot level, which helped rid his blood of the nitrogen bubbles.

The other Navy divers are F. J. "Sam" Smelko, and Lt. James Kelly, a doctor who conducted medical tests.

Also in the chamber are Francis J. Falejczyk of the Scott Aciation Corp., which helped build the chamber, and Delmar L. Shelton, a technician who is the operator of the Duke hyperbaric chamber.

All five divers were reported in good health.

The test was one of several designed to help man unlock the secrets of the ocean depths.

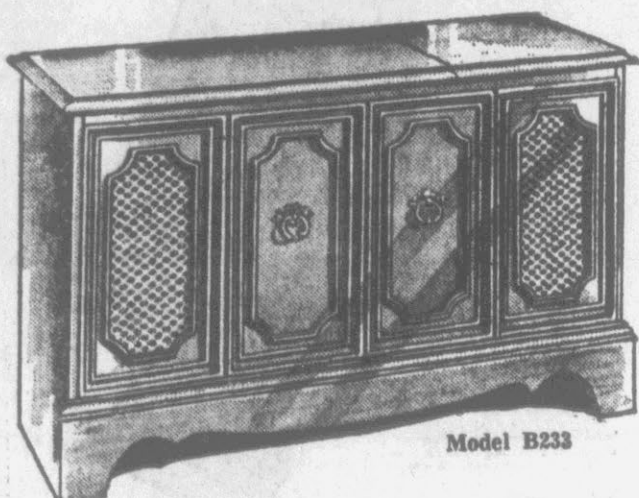

The divers were scheduled to leave the chamber about 7 p.m. today. Once outside they were to undergo intensive physical tests.

The five aquanauts plan to hold a news conference Thursday at 1 p.m.

The Navy announced several days ago the experiment was a success, saying it had paved the way for efforts to reach similar depths in the open sea next year.

New In Eastern North Carolina, Mining Of Lime

COMFORT, N. C. (AP) — On a flat, sprawling, 340-acre farm near Comfort, two businessmen have started an industry new to eastern North Carolina, lime mining.

It could save the region's farmers millions of dollars and turn into a multimillion-dollar operation for the investors. And there is a possibility their good fortune will spread to neighboring farms.

The lime mine is believed to be the first in the eastern part of the state. Its product is vital to those who own and use the fertile lands of the area.

Dr. James Pou of Greenville, an agricultural expert for Wachovia Bank and Trust Co., estimates there are 2 million tons of lime in the deposit. It sells for several dollars a ton.

The owner is Lindsay Maness, a 51-year-old farmer who, a few years ago, wanted to sell the farm for $48,000. His wife dissuaded him. Now the farm is potentially worth millions.

Maness, father of six children ranging in age from three to ten, unearthed the lime deposit while having drainage ditches cut through the farm several weeks ago. He contacted two businessmen, Josh Mills of Washington, N. C., and James Rose of Belhaven.

uct ran the cost to North Carolina farmers up to $10 to $15 per ton. It came mostly from Virginia and Tennessee.

Mills and Rose said they haven't established a firm price for their product, but they believe it will be half that—or less—for farmers driving to comfort to pick it up.

Dr. Ralph J. McCracken, head of the Soil Science Department at North Carolina State University, estimated North Carolina farmers need 2.7 million tons of lime per year to keep acid conditions in their soil at the proper levels.

One geologist said the Comfort mine could supply the state's farmers for "nine to 10 years if all the lime used in this state were produced in this mine alone."

The lime layer, which probably lies under several of Maness' fields, is about 40 feet thick and is covered by an overburden of dirt about six feet thick.

Geologists say it was formed by seashells and marine life millions of years ago.

Maness bought the farm in the 1940s, shortly after he returned from combat duty with the Marine Corps. Until about two years ago, he rented or leased it by the year held down other jobs, such as inspection engineer for a factory in Greensboro, construction contracting and dealing in scrap metal.

Mrs. Maness said, "Things have changed a lot since we found the lime . . . Life is a lot easier."

Maness, meanwhile, continues to farm, working the fields where mining has not yet begun. "He just doesn't want the land to lay idle," said Mrs. Maness.

Mills said geologists told him it is possible that other lime deposits are near the surface under farms within a mile of the Maness property.

Mills and Rose say they'll probably have to run a rail spur to the mine site.

"We're already making deliveries by bulk truck," Mills said. "In addition, we plan to begin shipping by barge to points along the intercoastal waterway."

Comfort is about 50 miles west of New Bern, where the Neuse River widens and flows into the Pamlico Sound.

If land which has been mined is ever to be farmed again, much earth moving will be necessary to fill the big holes. Mrs. Maness said she and her husband probably will just fill them with water and have lakes. "I like to fish," she said.

Good Turn Has Special Reward

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Cabbie Jim Newman's good turn to a stranger has brought him an early Christmas present — $250 which will help him and his family take a holiday trip to California.

Newman was driving Morris Lewis, a grocery store operator from Indianola, Miss., to the airport last week when his passenger suffered a severe nose-bleed.

Newman took him to a doctor, then a clinic and promised to wait for Lewis and take care of his baggage. But Lewis had to stay overnight for treatment of a broken artery.

Lewis gave the receptionist a $20 bill for Newman, and that was a $15.05 tip above the fare. Then came a phone call early this week from Lewis' wife, who thanked him for helping a stranger in trouble, and later a surprise $250 check.

Newman said it was a smart move to get into the cab business a year ago, because, "I used to be a meatcutter, and I never made that kind of tip hacking at a rump roast."

Small Soldier, But 'Dynamite'

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP) — First Lt. Richard Flaherty, 100 pounds and 4-foot-9, has volunteered for Special Forces training at Ft. Bragg, N.C.

Flaherty, 23, who had to gain six pounds and obtain a waiver of the height requirement to get into the Army in the first place, is no stranger to rigorous living.

In 13 months of duty in Vietnam recently he was wounded three times and won the Silver Star and two Bronze Stars.

"I've taken a lot of kidding about my size," he said at his home here. "I just tell them I'm 85 pounds of muscle, 14 pounds of dynamite and one pound of uranium-238, and it gets a lot of laughs."

Rivalries, Jealousies In Bethlehem Christmas

By RODNEY PINDER
Associated Press Writer
BETHLEHEM (AP) — The ghosts of Christmases past haunt the birthplace of Jesus, but the spirit of Christian unity is hardly discernible. Here, where the first cries of a baby born in a stable gave birth to an era, the celebrations of that night emphasize Christian disension.

For a start, there are three Christmases: Dec. 25 for Roman Catholics and Protestants, Jan. 7 for the Greek Orthodox, and Jan. 19 for the Armenians. Bethlehem basks in a month of festive cheer—four weeks of booming souvenir sales, garnishings of holly and, at times, the prickly squabbles of priests.

A rigid status quo—"Each to his own," explained Deputy Mayor George S. Diek—governs celebrations from Christ's birthplace down the fertile valley to the field where the angel appeared to tell the shepherds the news.

The 1,600-year-old Church of the Nativity, a massive, squat basilica of stone, lead and gold, sits over the grotto, the traditional manger.

The Greeks own most of it. The Catholics won a share in 1852, and a southern slice went to the Armenians. All sects can say High Mass somewhere under the sprawling roof.

The biggest celebrations are Dec. 25 when Bethlehem's population of 25,000 is usually doubled by pilgrims. The festivities follow an inflexible script.

The Catholic Church of St. Catherine, built cheek by jowl with the Church of the Nativity, has a High Mass led by the patriarch, Msgr. Alberto Gori of Jerusalem.

A procession winds its way to the grotto below the basilica. The Greeks have given permission—but the Catholics must not stray from their prescribed route.

During Turkish rule, explained the deputy mayor—who once was a tourist guide—priests laid small, round, hard peas on their precincts so that any trespasser would encounter a nasty fall on the cold stone floors.

These days squads of police line the route between the giant pillars of the basilica—below windows which only the Catholics are permitted to clean—to rest, which they own.

The official schedule carries a baleful reminder: "During the Latin (Catholic) services a Greek Orthodox dragoman and sexton stand on the right and the Armenian sexton on the left . . ."

"The police officer in charge watches from immediately behind the Latin representative and a party of police constables stand on the southern end of the staircase . . . immediately behind the police officer in charge."

The police officer in charge, to insure the strictest neutrality, is a Moslem Arab working for the Israelis, who have controlled access to Bethlehem since June 1967.

Out in the cold, literally, are the Protestants—who have only been allowed to take part at all since the British mandate.

They are in a courtyard adjoining the basilica, singing carols and praying under the frosty skies.

"If it rains heavily," said the deputy mayor, "they are allowed inside the Orthodox chapel. But it is small and only a few can crowd in."

Other Protestants, perhaps for distrust of the good will of the side the YMCA building a few blocks away.

Services are also held in the segregated Field of the Shepherds. As each denomination claims it owns the only true spot where the angel appeared, the field is divided among them.

The mayor's office greets Christmas with open arms. It is big business.

The Church of the Nativity, crowned by crosses studded with colored light bulbs, stands against a street of souvenir shops selling Bethlehem mother of pearl and carved wood. There are 21 souvenir stores in town. Fourteen more will come with the new municipality building planned for one side of the Manger Square.

The square will have a new touch this Christmas.

A giant tree, which graced the town opposite the police station, died two years ago. Last year its dead branches were hung with lights and tinsel.

"This year we shall have a new one," the deputy mayor disclosed with pride.

"The Israelis are growing one for us at Tel Aviv."

The Worry Clinic 'Compliment Club' Is Answer To A Problem

Eileen decided it was an impossibility to follow Christ's suggestion about loving our enemies. She said she had tried without any success. But when she used the "Compliment Club" strategy, see what happened! It really produces magical results!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE H-563: Eileen B., aged 14, is a high schooler.

"Dr. Crane," she asked in the forum period following my address to her Sunday School, "there is a girl in my high school class who is my enemy. She seems to hate me and is always trying to do mean things."

"Yet the Bible says I should love my enemies. But though I have tried, I simply cannot love her! I've prayed and asked my mother for advice, but I just can't love her."

"So how can we follow Christ's command about loving our enemies when they constantly do irritating things to us?"

It is not possible to turn on your emotions just by an act of will power.

For example, though you promise me that tomorrow at this very moment you will be frothing at the mouth in rage or trembling in fear or shedding tears of grief, what will happen?

Well, even though you are reminded tomorrow of your previous promise, you cannot experience these emotions just because of your vow to me.

No, indeed! Emotions must be evoked or resurrected by the situation in which you find yourself on that later date.

So Christ's advice to love our enemies requires psychological strategy.

Start with this axiom, namely, that nobody can think ill of you if you have previously shown that you think well of that other person!

So join my "Compliment Club," for you can praise an enemy in all sincerity if you pick out some objective trait or merit and then force your grudging compliment across clenched teeth!

Maybe your first bit of praise will not change your enemy into a devoted friend.

But it will start the thawing-out process, so keep it up.

Soon your hated enemy will begin to think you have good judgment. Then the enemy may actually pay you a compliment in return.

And this starts the duet of "horn toting," where each of you toots the other person's horn.

All a marriage consists of is an original duet of horn tooters, each of whom tooted the other's horn consistently till a proposal occurred!

And this "Compliment Club"

This Santa Uses Sign Language

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Some children are getting their first chance to pour out their Christmas desires to Santa knowing that he understands them.

Melvin Miller, 19, a toy department clerk, is substituting as Santa. When a small girl sitting on his knee started to speak, stumble and resort to sign language, Santa Claus lifted his hands and replied.

The girl was from the Iowa School for the Deaf in Council Bluffs. Miller's parents are deaf and he has talked to them in sign language since he was a child.

When asked by the deaf children about his ability to talk with signs Miller tells the youngsters who, like all children, ask for trucks and trains and dolls:

"Santa loves all children and I have to learn to talk to them all."

strategy is the ONLY way by which you can produce the effect which Jesus urged when he told us to love our enemies.

Eileen agreed to try and the next day, being Monday, she paid her enemy a compliment on her naturally curly hair.

The girl was too surprised to speak.

Next day Eileen praised her enemy's new frock.

This time she got a "Thank you."

The third day she used the deft indirect method and asked her enemy for some advice.

By the end of two weeks, they were on a conversational basis and at the end of a month, Eileen's former "enemy" had invited her to her home for a birthday party.

Eileen now had no difficulty in loving her enemy! It merely required deliberate conscious control of her vocal cords in the use of a few sincere compliments.

Send for the "Compliment Club" booklet, enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents, and launch upon this most valuable experiment in Applied Psychology.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Gordley's Art In Garden Gallery

A man and wife show by Tran and Marilyn Gordley of the East Carolina University School of Art is now open at the Garden Gallery, located on U.S. Highway 70 between Raleigh and Durham.

The show, open through Jan. 8, includes drawings, watercolors and oil and acrylic paintings by the Gordleys.

Expect Record Traffic Deaths

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Safety Council said today 1968 seems certain to be a record high year for traffic deaths and called for state legislation for "fullest possible compliance" with new federal standards for highway safety.

During the first 10 months of the year 5,000 lives were lost in traffic, 4 per cent more than during the same period of 1967. The total for 1967 was 53,100, a record.

The federal standards call for states to institute modern highway safety programs in many areas, including more realistic driver licensing procedures and refined emergency medical care.

Utilities Advised To Polish Up Public Image

By NOEL YANCEY
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP) — Public utilities had better polish their public images or face the danger of the government taking them over around the turn of the century—or sooner.

That's the view of Thomas R. Eller Jr. who steps down Friday as a member of the North Carolina Utilities Commission after nine years of service during which he came to be regarded as the public's representative on that body.

Eller, a 45-year-old, stout and balding man who puffs away constantly at a pipe, says the only way the utilities, particularly the electric power companies can avoid nationalization "is through the creation of such a friendly reception generally that the public will not seek and will not permit a turning to nationalization."

"The way for the utilities to obtain this public friendship is through excellent service at the lowest reasonable cost," he stated.

As he looks back over his years on the commission, Eller often thinks of the Nantahala Power and Light Co. case. In that case, Eller's dissent to a utilities commission decision was adopted by the North Carolina Supreme Court. The decision won a $2 million refund for Nantahala's customers in the far western corner of the state.

As a result of the court decision, Nantahala gave up its proposal to sell its distribution lines to Duke Power Co. while it retained its vast hydroelectric generating facilities for use

In producing aluminum for its parent company, the Aluminum Co. of America. The sale would

Commissions In USCG Available

The Coast Guard announces that 16 commissions are now available for applicants who hold a baccalaureate degree in certain needed fields.

The commissions, for a three year active duty tour, range in grade from ensign to lieutenant commander in the fields of Administration (Business and Personnel), Advertising, Industrial Relations, Instruction, and Training.

This program is established to offer direct commissions in the Coast Guard reserve to qualified minority group procurement and guidance specialists. Interested personnel should contact the local Coast Guard recruiter for additional details.

FIGURES THE ODD

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government weatherman figures the odds are about 20 to 1 against snow marring Nixon's inauguration day and 6 to 1 against rain.

have meant a 30 per cent rate increase for Nantahala's customers.

Eller, who was often a voice crying in the wilderness during his early days on the commission said that after the Supreme Court adopted his viewpoint, the other commissioners accorded his views greater respect and it was not necessary for him to write as many dissenting opinions as he had written at first.

Eller also looks back with pride to the leading part he played in getting the state's utility law modernized in 193, but he regrets that he failed in his effort to get the state's

Foreign Trend In Christmas Cards

NEW YORK (AP) — What's the trend in Christmas cards this year?

Irving Cohen, president of Fifth Avenue Cards, reports that cards designed especially big-sellers-as are foreign language cards. In fact, Mr. Cohen claims that international themes are taking precedence over provincial American motifs. The theme, "Peace on Earth, Good Will toward Men" and general peace motifs overshadow all other Christmas messages.

utility rate making formula changed "so as to make it understandable and reasonable to the average businessman."

Eller also remembers with pride the commission's drive to get the utilities to put their lines underground, its "unsuccessful fight to save passenger rail service in the state, and I'm proud of the method we developed for settling territorial disputes between REA co-ops and power companies because I think it's a fair solution for all parties."

Asked if he felt the public utilities have a "bad image" among the people of the state, Eller said, "In general, yes, at best their image is only fair." He recalled that a president of the vast American Telephone and Telegraph Co., had once told his subordinates, "We are not really trying to sell telephones. We are really trying to sell love." Other utilities, he said, should try to sell love.

The utilities, he said, "tend to take the short-term rather than the long-term view in terms of their future security."

"For example, in the 30s and early 40s had the utilities take greater risks in serving those at that time without utility service, or if the utilities commission had pressed them to do so, there would not have been the need for and tremendous growth in cooperatives which today seem to be such a competitive problem for the utilities."

Eller said that we stand today in the extension of telephone service in rural areas as we stood in the early 40s in extenion of power service.

"While the people have telephones, the sparse areas must tolerate eight people on the line," he said. "The difference in his and having no phone is just a matter of degree."

He noted that the utilities commission has a drive underway "for a one-party telephone system in the state in the 70s—whereby no one will have to have anyone else on the line with him."

2♠	Pass	2NT	Pass
3♠	Pass	3♠	Pass
4♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Seven of ♣
Failure by South to take charge at the outset contributed to the downfall of his four spade contract.

West opened the seven of clubs, the deuce was played from dummy and East put up the king to win the trick. The switch was to the queen of hearts and North was in with the ace.

Declarer cashed the ace and king of diamonds and ruffed a third round with the seven of spades. The king of trumps was played and then a small club was led in an attempt to reenter the closed hand. East ruffed in with the six of spades and led back the jack of hearts, trumped by declarer.

South cashed the ace of spades; however, when West showed out, declarer realized that he would be unable to pick up all of East's trumps. He played the queen of spades and then led the queen of clubs. East ruffed with the jack of spades and returned another heart to force out South's last trump. Declarer was left with the six of diamonds, and he was obliged to surrender the setting trick in that suit to West's jack.

If South had taken time at the opening gun to count winners, he could have added up to 10 tricks in a cross-ruff. If he is able to score the ace of clubs, the ace of hearts and the ace, king of diamonds, there is an opportunity to make at least six and perhaps seven trump tricks, separately.

By putting up the ace of clubs immediately, declarer is actually in a position to win 11 tricks on the deal. The ace of hearts is cashed followed by a heart ruff. Next comes the ace, king of diamonds and a diamond ruff. A heart is ruffed with the four of spades and then the remaining diamond with North's king of spades. If another heart is led from dummy, declarer can overruff East with the ten of trumps. He loses two club tricks at the end.

South could have recovered from his failure to win the first trick, if he had continued with the cross-ruff instead of cashing North's king of spades. By trumping out both of his small diamonds, he can score all seven spades as well as the two high diamonds and the ace of hearts.

The Ayden girls, meanwhile, were coming back from a loss by Farmville last week to take a 41-37 win.

By WOODY PEELE Reflector Sports Editor WASHINGTON — The Washington High School Pam Pack, using deadly outside shooting and a fine zone defense, handed Rose High School its first defeat of the year last night, 83-73.

points enough for the Phants. Zeno Edwards was the hero for the Pack, as he dropped in 27 points, most of them in the first half on long outside shots.

Rose finally got on the board then, and rushed back to tie the game. John Crawley hit a free throw, and Mike Harrington scored on a fast break.

Washington fought back with its tough outside shooting as Buckman and Edwards each hit on jumpers to tie it up at 13-13 with 3:43 showing.

The cold-shooting Phants were never in the game after the opening minutes. Washington shot away to an 18-4 lead in the first period, and built that to a 29-13 half-time advantage.

But the Pack got the shots they needed and pushed back out to a 13-point advantage at 58-45, and the Phants had to settle for a 62-49 deficit at the end of the frame.

Edwards finished the game for Washington with 27 points, while Buckman had 21, Charles Harrington had 18 and Roach had 11.

Washington took advantage of this and dropped in nice points at the line in the final three minutes of play and that was the difference.

Edwards finished the game for Washington with 27 points, while Buckman had 21, Charles Harrington had 18 and Roach had 11.

Rose was led by Mike Harrington, who poured in 26. Clark had his finest night of the year, getting 20, while Talor added 10.

Bethel Edges Stokes In Final Seconds, 57-54

Baby Bucs Edge Past Frederick

East Carolina University's freshmen posted their first road victory last night with a 78-70 win over Frederick.

The Baby Bucs had to struggle back from behind in the first half to claim the win.

Frederick took the lead in the opening minutes of the game, and held it throughout the first half. But the Bucs battled back and finally edged in front just before the buzzer sounded, 33-31.

In the second half, the Bucs, while never leading by more than the final eight-point margin, were in command all the way. Julius Prince paced the step to the front by dumping in 20 points in the second half. Prince finished the evening

Bethel Stops Stokes Win Streak In Final 18 Seconds Of Game

By CARL TYER

BETHEL — The Blue Jays of Stokes had two feathers plucked from their tail last night, as the Bethel Indians added two victories to their bonnet. The girls rolled past the Lady Jays 49-18, while the boys just barely came away with a win in the last 18 seconds of play with a 57-53 mark.

The boys loss was the first for Stokes this season in 11 games, and put Bethel in command in the Pitt Conference.

In the girls game, the first quarter ended with Stokes hanging in there with a one point margin of 9-8 at the end of the frame.

The Squaws picked up 15 points in the third frame to take a 34-13 lead into the final quarter.

The final frame Stokes reached their second largest scoring quarter, as they picked up five points while Bethel was again hitting in the double figures with 14, making it 49-18.

Christa Purvis and Debbie Purvis lead the Bethel scoring with 14 points apiece, while Michael Langley paced the Blue Jays with nine.

The win leaves the Bethel team undefeated this year with an 11-0 mark.

In the boys game it was nip and tuck all the way, as the lead never extended beyond five points either way.

Stokes started the scoring off when Hoyt Haddock hit on a field goal with 6:11 remaining in the first frame. Dunning came back for Bethel to tie it up, then Corey and Gray added a field goal and free throw to give Stokes a three point edge with 5:47 remaining.

Jenkins and James then combined for two apiece for Bethel to pull the Indians out in front for the first time of the evening at 8-5 with 3:23 left in the frame, but Haddock added a free throw to bring it back to two and keep it within reach.

When the frame ended, Stokes had managed to tie it up but a free throw by Don Jenkins for Bethel gave them a one point edge at 14-13 going into the second frame.

It was the same thing in the second frame, as it ended with Bethel holding onto a two point edge that wasn't added until the final seconds. Tom Manning broke away for a lay up with two seconds on the clock and went into the air for the score as the buzzer sounded, making it 30-28 going into the half.

The third frame was a catch up one for Stokes as they went ahead by one at 32-33 with six minutes remaining in the third frame.

Bethel then came back to go ahead by two but Stokes came back to tie it up at 35 all when Corey added a field goal with 4:25 remaining.

Bethel then went down by five at 35-40 but came back fighting again to come within one when Eddie Stokes paced the In-James with 17 and Don Jenkins dians with 18 followed by Gary with 11.

Jenkins Urges New Athletic Plan

Proposes Non-Classroom Activity During Season

COLUMBIA, S. C. — Dr. Leo Jenkins, President of East Carolina University, has called for a new approach to the education of a student-athlete, one which would allow him to do most of his school work in off-season periods.

Jenkins made the unprecedented proposal before the Columbia Tip-Off Club at 1 p.m. today. He was speaking there as a preliminary to tonight's South Carolina-East Carolina basketball game.

"It is not realistic to expect (an athlete) to miss classes while traveling throughout the nation, keeping assignments in basketball or football, and to compete at the same time with the student sitting next to him who does not have this strenuous obligation or enforced absence from classes," Jenkins said.

To solve this, the East Carolina educator proposed a program in which football and basketball players would be excused from attending classes during their season. "Instead," he said, "they would be permitted to enroll in a self-study program in which they could do assigned readings, the writing, or any other assignments at their own convenience. This type of scheduling should permit athletes an opportunity to pursue both their athletic and scholastic programs, doing justice to both."

Jenkins further stated that these athletes would attend summer sessions. "This would mean that approximately one-third to one-half of each athlete's load would be carried during the season of his athletic participation and that we would complete the other part of his work during a summer session. This arrangement should make for a more wholesome and honest situation insofar as the athletic program is concerned."

Jenkins pointed out that since the athlete would not be attending classes, he could put more time into perfecting himself as an athlete. Also, on trips time could be spent, where desirable, for educational sight-seeing, to help broaden the athlete's base of education.

"This program is recommended only for the two major sports—football and basketball—because it is in these two activities that the greatest demands are made upon the athletes. These are the two giants on our campuses."

As to the argument that some athlete who participates in both sports would never attend classes, Jenkins felt that this was not valid. "Such is not the case, for he would attend summer sessions; and furthermore, only very rarely do we find the athlete participating in both these major sports," Jenkins pointed out that some athletes may participate in a spring sport along with one of the other major sports, but that "it is rather rare to find the basketball-football combination. And even should this occur, arrangements can be made for special situations of this type."

"It is unworthy of a college to have an athletic program and then treat the athletes as a mere employee, or as someone who may, accidentally or incidentally obtain a first-rate education. It is unworthy of the education of the athlete. There should be as much concern for the athlete's education as there is for that of the best scholars on any campus."

Jenkins said that some would say he is attempting to pamper athletes, but he struck at this. "Let me hasten to point out that the good athlete today does not ask for special consideration. He can make his own way and he does so in the face of long periods on the road, while other students are back in their dormitories comfortably studying."

Jenkins also put the shoe on the other foot. "Suppose... we were to say to the non-athletic scholar that for health reasons he must spend as much time in exercise as does the football player. Suppose we're to tell him to get out on the field and run or jog or swim for the same number of hours that the basketball player devotes to his sport, so that all the scholar and the athlete can meet together and compete on an equal basis in the classroom. This would... be somewhat foolish, yet are we not requesting the athlete to compete academically with students who have an opportunity to receive all of the given instructions in various courses while denying the same to the athlete?"

The president pointed out that similar programs could be instituted for those other fields which require much extra work and travel, such as touring choirs and bands.

"We have come a long way in protecting the athlete physically. Now we must go one step further and guarantee and insure his education," he said.

"The athlete who has a chance to pursue his real objective, that of a career, will have a much better mental attitude when he knows that he will have sufficient time to participate in the sport and also to get his studies done. He will not have to worry about dodges around necessary study, or to contemplate, perhaps, cheating. He will not have to be in courses where he knows he is getting mighty little or courses that are not leading him toward his real objective."

"It should be the responsibility of college officials to insist on athletic programs that will guarantee the athlete an opportunity to obtain a first-rate education under conditions similar to those which apply to all other students. In other words, the college athlete is entitled to whatever education is necessary for his lifetime career."

Mrs. Whitney Stone's Shuvee, a 2-year-old filly, was named after her sire and dam, Nashua and Levee. She will winter at Aiken, S.C.

PITCHING PAYS OFF DENVER (AP) — Playing San Diego this season the Denver Bears did something they've never before accomplished in 14 years of Triple-A baseball. They swept a four-game series and used only four pitchers in the process.

Baylor Brings Fine Record Into Classic

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
(Fourth of a series)

The Baylor Bears lost their first game Saturday night, in a close contest with New Mexico State. That left the Bears with a 3-1 record of which they can be proud.

New Mexico State took Baylor, 69-58, and with the victory, climbed into the nation's top 20 teams. New Mexico State is ranked 14th and has posted a 5-0 record thus far.

Earlier in the season, Baylor posted wins over Texas Lutheran, 73-52, Loyola of New Orleans, 99-88, and Tulane, 82-80.

They have two dates remaining before coming here to participate in the Eastern Carolina Classic. Both of these take place in another tournament, the Bayou Holiday Classic. They'll play Hawaii in the first round, and then meet either Mississippi State or Southwest Louisiana.

"We have two starters back from last year's team," Coach Bill Menefee said. "They are Tommy Bowman and David Conetoe. Bowman is a 6-6 forward who is averaging 15 points per game so far. Sibley, a 6-5 post-man, is dropping in 7.3 points per game, but Menefee notes that he was injured in pre-season practice and hasn't really played much so far.

The other three starters are 6-5 Larry Gatewood, 6-0 Eddie Frazier and 6-2 Richard Scallorn. All three are hitting in double figures. Gatewood has a 15.0 mark, while Frazier has a 13.3 mark and Scallorn shows an even 10.0.

"Our bench is average," Menefee said. "Our sixth man is probably 5-11 Randy Thompson. He's averaged around five points per game."

Normally, the Bears run their offense from a double-post. "We'll get to a single post sometimes, but basically we are a pattern club. We'll break when we can."

The Bears have been having some trouble on the boards, however. They have averaged pulling down 41.7 per game to their opponent's 43.3. "We're shooting good, however, hitting on 51 per cent right now," Menefee said.

On defense, Baylor usually goes with a man-to-man. "We'll press some, and sometimes we'll go to a zone. Fouls have also been a problem to us. We've outlived our opponents, 72-59. We led the league last year in defense, and we want to do it again."

As to how they'll do in the Southwest Conference this year, Menefee quotes his fellow coaches. "We're picked for seventh. But we're off to a good start and we just might surprise someone. We were picked eighth last year and almost made the first division."

Menefee added that Bowman was picked as the Sophomore of the Year in the conference last year.

The Bears will meet William & Mary in the opening game. "We don't know too much about them," he said. "But we're looking forward to playing them, and I'd also like to get a chance at Virginia Tech. Howie Shannon (VPI coach) played together at North Texas State."

It's possible Menefee may get his wish. Both teams are in the same bracket, and would meet if both won or lost their openers.

"We look forward to a fine tournament," Menefee said. "It's a pleasure to play in it."

Greene Central Nails Hobbiton

HOBBITON — Greene Central rolled to its fifth straight victory last night, and its first against Eastern Plains Conference competition as the Rams downed Hobbiton, 51-38.

Hobbiton led early in the first period, taking a 10-8 lead at the half. That held up during the second half, as Hobbiton outscored Greene Central again, 8-6, and posted an 18-14 edge at intermission.

But in the third period, Greene Central took command of the ball game and outscored Hobbiton, 14-10, to tie it up at 28-28.

Then in the final stanza, the Rams burned the nets for 23 points while holding Hobbiton to just 10.

Robbie Hill led Greene Central with 22 points, while Malcolm Smith had 11 and David Jones had 10. Beamon led Hobbiton with 14.

The Rams were aided by picking off 44 rebounds to 28 for Hobbiton. Don Bowen and Hill each had 17.

In the junior varsity game, Hobbiton rolled to a 61-39 victory.

Greene Central stays on the road, going to North Lenoir on Friday.

Many Interests, Many Services By One Woman

By Christopher Crittenden
N.C. Dept. of Archives and History

Written for the AP
RALEIGH (AP) — What Tar Heel lady, who lives in the Tidewater area, has served as president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution and is no honorary president
general of the DAR?

Who has been director of the Tryon Palace restoration in New Bern from the beginning, the first and only director to date?

That lady has been awarded honorary degrees by Northland College of Ashland, Wis.; Lincoln Memorial University of Harrrogate, Tenn., and the University of North Carolina at Greensboro?

Who has been a member of the executive board of the North Carolina Department of Archives and History for more than 26 years, longer than any other member of the board?

This lady is none other than Miss Gertrude Sprague Carraway. She was born in New Bern and has lived there all her life.

Miss Carraway graduated from what was then North Carolina College for Women (now UNC-G) before she was nineteen years of age, and she later did graduate work at Columbia University.

She taught in state high schools for five years and went into newspaper work at Smithfield, then in her home town, and later became a free-lance journalist. She edited the DAR
Magazine for three years.

She has been a trustee of the University of North Carolina, director of Good Shepherd Hospital, director of public libraries, and member of other statewide commissions.

For patriotic service on the home front during World War II, she received no less than a dozen awards.

She was New Bern's Woman of the Year in 1958 and was named North Carolinian of the Year by the State Magazine in 1962. She holds the keys to the cities of New Bern; Portland, Ore.; Washington, D.C.; Baltimore, Md.; Savannah, Ga.; and San Juan, Puerto Rico. She is an honorary citizen of New Orleans, an Arkansas Traveler, an Honorary Texan, Kentucky Colonel, and North Carolina Admiral.

She is a member of many patriotic societies and served as president of the North Carolina Literary and Historical Association in 1966-67.

But in the midst of all these other activities, Miss Carraway's great love, her great work, has been the restoration and preservation of North Carolina's colonial capitol, Tryon Palace. For many years, when she could do little else, she dreamed and talked about it.
Then, when it became a reality,
she became its director — and still is.

Postmastership Examination Set

The United States Civil Service Commission announces an examination for filling the position of Fourth Class Postmaster

The written examination will be given at the Greenville Post will appear on the admission cards mailed to applicants after the closing date of Jan. 7, 1969.

A register of eligible competitors will be established as a result of this examination from which certification will be made for filling the vacancy in the Falkland Post Office.

All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, creed, color or national origin.

The requirements for this examination may be obtained from any post office or from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

All applicants must be received or postmarked no later than Jan. 17.

Young Beauty Is Also Brainy Girl

NEW YORK (AP) — Miss
Teen-age America, Melissa Babish, a 16-year-old high school junior with an A average, aims to be a corporation lawyer. Miss Babish, a member of the National Honor Society, ran ahead of 58 other girls to win the title. Her song and dance routine from "Honeybun"
swayed the pendulum in her favor—and she had never studied voice or performed publicly before.

Begin Constructing New ECU Soda Shop

STUDENT SNACK SHOP . . . this is an architect's conception of the student snack shop which will be constructed between the Home Economics building and the Music School building on the university campus.

By DONNA DIXON
Reflector Staff Writer
Groundwork for construction on a new modern and additional soda shop for East Carolina University began on the campus here last week.

The new soda shop will be almost twice as large as the present shop in Wright building and be located in a section of the former day student parking area between the home economics and music buildings.

F. D. Duncan, vice-president and business manager, says the additional soda shop has long been an obvious and great need for the university campus.

"We are building this shop to give better and quicker service to all our students," Dr. Duncan said.

The new shop will feature self-service of snacks, beverages and sandwiches, according to Joe Clark, manager of the student supply store and present soda shop.

Clark said the shop would have cashiers for use with the self-service area.

The shop will have standing counters outside the self-service area to accommodate about 100 student an - setting arrangements for about 80 students.

There will also be a faculty area seating about 35.

Clark stated the new shop will be a "conversation piece" because of its unusual architectural structure.

The self-service area and the standing area will form the shape of two hexagons within the building.

A third hexagon will be formed by the kitchen, office, storage and mechanical areas.

The new shop will require a minimum number of employees, according to Clark. Only five full-time employees and a few students to help restock the shelves will be needed.

This compares with three full-time employees and a total of 30-35 students employees per quarter for the present shop.

The new shop will be approximately 6,200 square feet in area and is expected to cost around $250,000.

Construction of the shop should be completed by the fall of 1969, according to Clark.

Lawmen Patrol Halls Of School

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. (AP) — Plainclothes and uniformed police patrolled the halls of North Forsyth High School today as the school, closed for two days because of racial tension, reopened without incident.

The campus, by order of school officials, was placed on an off-limits basis to all but students.

The school was closed at noon Monday because of what school officials called "a very tense atmosphere." Negro students were angered last week when a Negro girl was edged for the queen's title of the Key Club by a white girl in a runoff election.

The Negro girl had won the preliminary balloting.

On Monday scuffling was reported between whites and Negroes in the school and there was talk of a boycott of classes.

North Forsyth, with 1,800 students, is the largest school in the city-county school system.

School officials have not said how long police will remain on the job but classes recess Friday afternoon for the Christmas holidays.

The Winston-Salem chapter of the NAACP said it is looking into the complaints of Negro students. The school board, faculty and a school board faculty committee already have met to consider the situation.

The policy committee gave teachers and principals in the school system the authority to suspend any student who seeks to disrupt the orderly holding of class at the school.

'Dear Santa, Drop Dead', Says A Fed-Up Minister

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — "Dear Santa, drop dead," says a Methodist minister who thinks the jolly symbol of Christmas is getting too much publicity.

"Santa's omnipresence from before Thanksgiving has gone beyond the bounds of even mythic decency," the Rev. Dr. John H. McCombe Jr., head of the Hendricks Chapel at Syracuse University, said in his Christmas sermon.

Santa Claus, Dr. McCombe said, "is a ho-ho phony whose jingle is the bell of a cash register," and because of him, "many people are ready to overhaul their observance of this midwinter bash."

"Overexposure, I guess you'd call it," the minister said. "His picture is everywhere—literally. Stores, shops, billboards churches—even a funeral parlor. How much is too much."

Dr. McCombe, a past executive secretary of the American

Bible Society who has been at Syracuse for one year said members of his own family had reassessed its own Christmas-time practices and found that they "felt miles away from the main event at the manger."

"The jolly old elf has become a pest," he said, "as have his legions of 'helpers' in red baggy pants with their banging, begging bells."

So last year, he continued, "We stripped Christmas down to its faith, streamlined its festivities and kept Santa in his place."

"Instead of a quarterback sneak into the living room and a mad scramble to intercept packages, we went into a pre-arranged huddle in the dining room that included prayers, carols and the reading of the Christmas story from the Bible."

It was, Dr. Hendricks said, "the best holiday ever."

An Eisenhower Brother Dies

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP)—Earl Eisenhower, 70, brother of former President Dwight Eisenhower, died early today at his home in Scottsdale.

Eisenhower, a former electrical engineer with the West Penn Power Co. of Pennsylvania, later went into public relations and was elected to several terms in the Illinois legislature.

He retired to Scottsdale, near Phoenix, in 1966, after running unsuccessfully for Cook County Clerk in Chicago.

The next youngest brother of the former president, Eisenhower is survived by his widow Katherine, a son, Earl Jr., and a daughter, Mrs. Kay Morgan of Rockford, Ill.

The son said his father had not been in ill health, and referred newsmen to his physician for the cause of death.

Penicillin Sent NLF Casualties

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — A Quaker group which is shipping penicillin to civilian war casualties in areas controlled by the National Liberation Front says, "It is important to begin now to lay the foundation for future relationships with all sides in the Vietnam conflict."

The American Friends Service Committee said in a statement that the shipment announced Tuesday was the first made without U.S. government approval.

An equal shipment of medical supplies was being sent to government-controlled areas, the committee said.

It said it understood the administration's unwillingness to approve such aid, "but we feel it right to proceed."

"The encouragement of private initiatives now may ease the way to greater understanding when the fighting stops."

Creative Art Classes Held At Nursing Home

Twenty-eight senior citizens at the Greenville Nursing and Convalescent Home who have recently completed two creative art classes, were honored at a ceremony Friday morning.

Mrs. Louise Downing instructed the two classes, totaling 81 hours, in knitting, punch hooking, painting, crocketing and holiday decorations.

Mayo Allen, director of the Greenville Nursing and Convalescent Home, was presented with two gifts made by the participants. One was a knitted toboggan from Mrs. Maggie Dail, age 93 and the oldest member of the group. The other gift was a framed punch hooked picture of North Carolina, including the state bird and the state flower to be displayed in Allen's office.

Thirteen participants receiving certifications of completion included: Maggie Dail, Natalie Drumm, Hortense Goodson, Lonnie Canall, Elizabeth Little, Lula Drew, Frances Allen, Evelyn Williams, Lula Fowlkes, Eunice Strickland, Essie Bridges, Henry Pitt and Mary Brown.

After the individual art creations were shown, Mrs. Ruth Arnold, recreation director, led the group in singing. The group was served cake and punch by the kitchen staff and nurses.

Mrs. Mary Stancill, director of nurses, headed the planning of the program.

The classes were made possible through the cooperation of Pitt Technical Institute and the staff of the nursing home.

Returning Home To Be Candidate

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Elias Wessin, former army strongman in the Dominican Republic, says he plans to return home to launch a campaign for the presidency in 1970.

The former tank commander's return was made possible by the announcement of President Joaquin Balaguer that leaders of the civil strife in 1965 could come home.

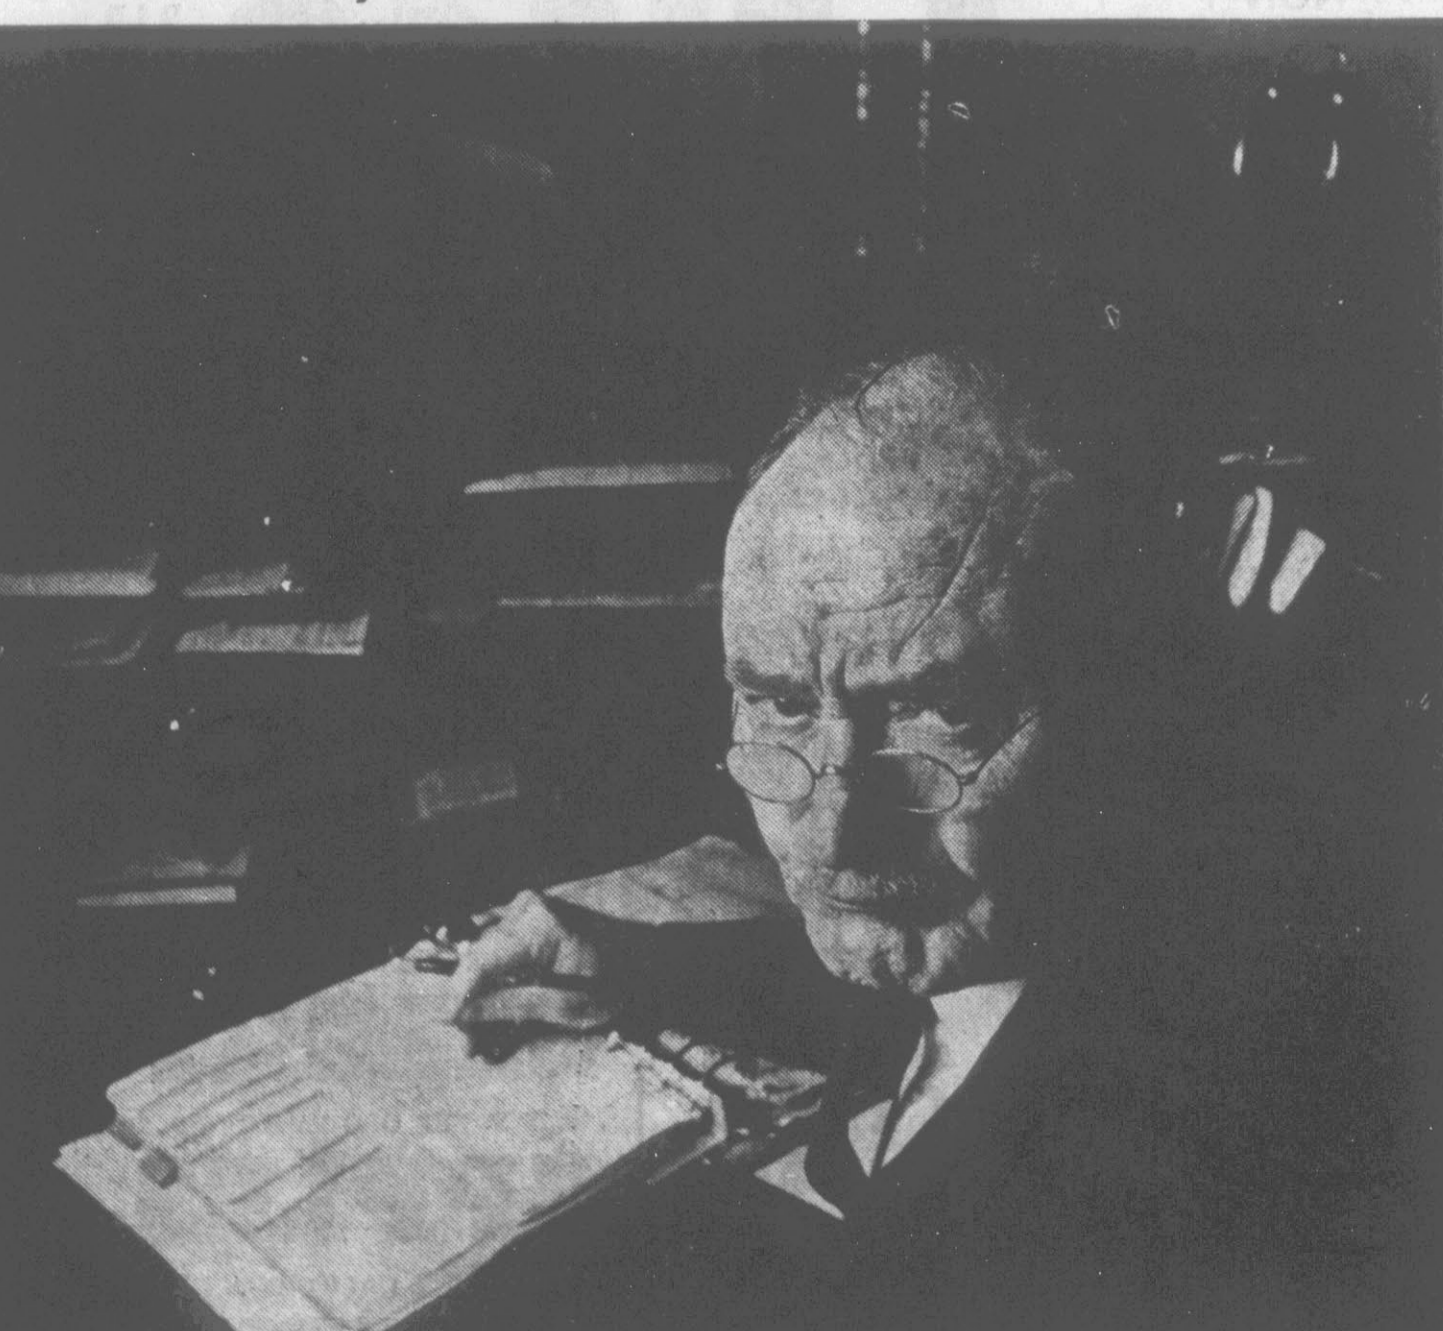

Wessin said Tuesday, "I'm desperate to return. My family, at least, will be reunited in our homeland."

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N. C.

Temperatures will average near normal through Monday with highs of up to 55 and lows of 33 to 40. Mild Thursday, colder Friday and Saturday. Scattered showers Thursday and Friday and at the beginning of the week.

We told one of our customers electricity costs him less today.

He said, "Bah! Humbug!"

It's easy to see why he didn't believe us. His electric bill is higher.

But the fact of the matter is that rates have been going down steadily. Vepco has reduced residential rates three times in the last six years.

So he is probably using a lot more electricity.

When we asked him if he used more today, he admitted that there were some new appliances around his place. "Bought a new TV and washer last year," he said. "How much does it cost to run those?"

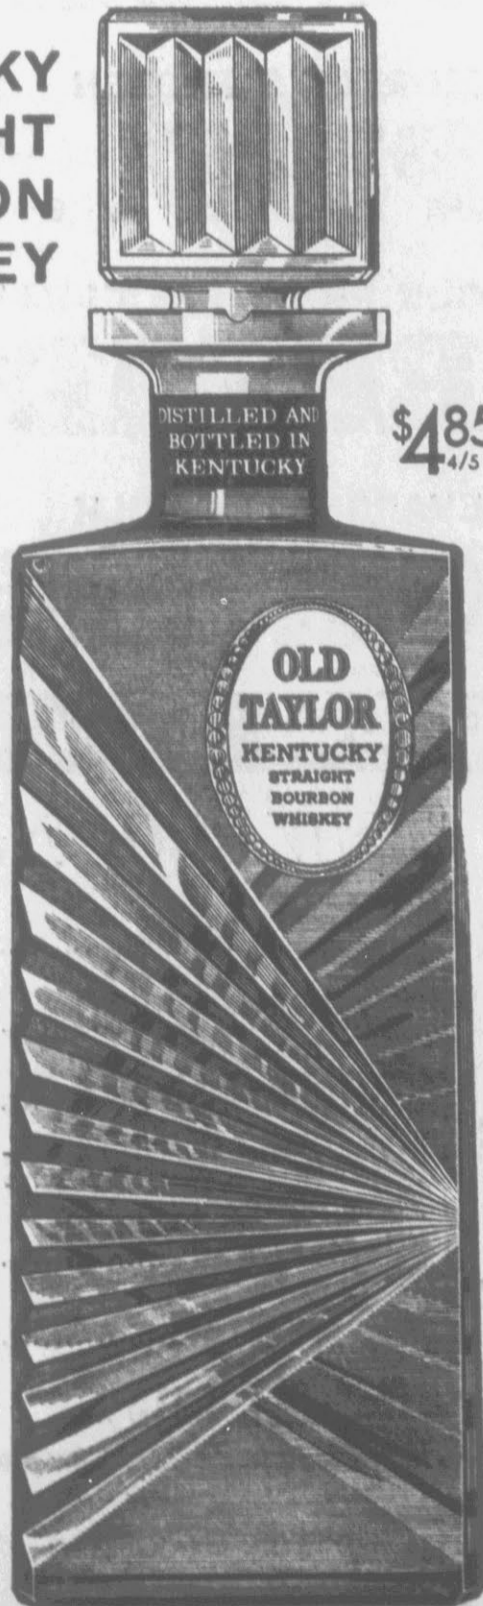

We told him he could watch two hours of TV or wash two tubs of clothes for a penny's worth of electricity.

"Well now, when I think about it, I guess I do get a lot more for my money today."

We were telling him he could have a big twelve-pound goose for about 6c and all of a sudden he bolted out of his office. Said something about going to his bookkeeper's for dinner.
