Spacemen Home After Historic Mission

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
BOARD USS YORKTOWN (AP) — Climaxing a magnificent space odyssey, the Apollo 8 moon explorers came home from the heavens today, steering their spaceship to a pinpoint landing less than three miles from the main recovery ship in a darkened Pacific Ocean.

They landed just before dawn and waited patiently in their bobbing spaceship for 45 minutes until the first rays of light began to illuminate the Pacific so that swimmers could safely drop into the sea to secure the Apollo 8 craft.

America's newest heroes ended man's greatest space adventure and one of history's most momentous explorations when they survived man's hottest and fastest dive through the atmosphere and parachuted into a gently rolling sea about 5,000 yards from the Yorktown.

Helicopters spotted the six-ton spaceship dangling under its three red and white parachutes as it dropped for the sea. They were overhead moments after the 10:50 a.m. EST splashdown.

While waiting for pickup, the astronauts chatted by radio with the commander of the helicopter hovering overhead.

Cmdr. Donald S. Jones of Madison, Wis., asked the astronauts what the moon was made of. 'It's not made of green cheese at all,' Borman replied.

They traveled 69 hours outward to the moon, circled it 10 times in 20 hours at an altitude of 70 miles and then raced home along a 58-hour corridor. They logged about 537,000 perfect miles.

To reach their landing target in the Pacific, Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders survived man's hottest and fastest re-entry through the atmosphere.

School Board Planning To Negotiate Contracts

By BLANCHE HARDFE
Reflector Staff Writer
The Pitt County Board of Education today agreed to attempt to negotiate with the low bidder for the general construction contract in an effort to lower the cost of construction of the proposed North Tar River Consolidated High School.

Hawkins firm's bid of $1,145,893 (including no alternates) was the low base bid although Boyd and Goforth, Inc., submitted a bid of $1,373,475 including alternates, as compared with Hawkins's bid of $1,396,981 with alternates.

When bids for the project, the first of four proposed consolidated high schools in the county, were received last week, the low bids, including electrical work, plumbing, heating and other work as well as all alternates, totaled $2.2 million about $400,000 more than the $1,800,000 estimate cost projected by architects Smart and Woodall in October.

The school is designed to accommodate 875 students. The board has about $7.2 million on hand with which to construct four consolidated high school buildings in the county.

Navy Head Says He Won't Prejudice Men Of Pueblo

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, chief of naval operations, says "I'm not going to prejudice" whether the officers and men of the U.S. intelligence-gathering ship Pueblo conducted themselves properly while held captive by North Korea.

At least two admirals have referred publicly to Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, the Pueblo's skipper, and the other 81 surviving crew members as heroes.

The Navy's top admiral insisted expression of personal opinions by high ranking officers will not impair a Navy court of inquiry's ability to reach an objective judgment.

Snow Saves Passengers In Crash

SIoux CITY, Iowa (AP) — An Ozark Air Lines DC 9 jet with 62 passengers crashed into heavy snow in a grove of trees on take-off from the Sioux City Airport Friday morning, but no one was killed or seriously injured.

"The snow is what saved us," said a passenger, Airman Larry Cornwell, 22, Pender, Neb. "It was a soft landing. There was no real hard jar. Just a nice, floating stop."

The airplane, on flight No. 982 from Sioux City to Chicago, landed on its belly after its right wing dipped as it took off, witnesses said. The plane's right wing was shared off.

Ambulances rushed to at least 32 persons, many of the returning home from Christmas holiday visits, to hospitals, where spokesmen said most of the injuries consisted of bruises and cuts.

"It made me a firm believer in seat belts," said another passenger, Spec. 5 Curtis Eng, Flandreau, S.D., who was headed for Ft. Campbell, Ky.

"AQS we were leaving the end of the runway and making our sharp climb, I heard a popping noise in the right engine," said Cornwell, who is stationed at Stewart Air Force base near Newburgh, N.Y.

"The plane veered off to the right, then veered sharply to the left, and the next thing I knew we were crashing through trees and snow."

One engine continued to whine after the jet came to rest in about 14 inches of snow.

Stiff Battle For Rep. Udall

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Morris K. Udall's startling challenge to the House Democratic leadership was welcomed by liberal-moderates today, but he faces a stiff battle to unseat Speaker John W. McCormack.

Udall, in announcing Thursday he was after 77-year-old McCormack's job, said he had reached the decision without lining up any prior backing or consulting with the liberal-moderate leadership.

Several members of the liberal-moderate Democratic Study Group, a largely informal alliance of some 140 members, including Udall, said they were surprised by the four-term Arizona congressman's announcement.

"His chances are very good. He's very popular personally and he's very articulate. But it depends entirely on what the one's in the middle do," said a source aligned with the DSG.

There was a feeling among others, however, that Udall's pledge to call for other nominations if he unseats McCormack on the first ballot was the strongest factor going for him.

The belief is that a Northern or Western liberal wouldn't stand a chance against the speaker from Massachusetts, but that many members dissatisfied with McCormack would go for such a candidate if they thought it was a gimmick that could lead eventually to election of their own man.

First test of Udall's strength will come by secret ballot at the Democratic caucus Jan. 2. The nominee of the caucus will be presented to the full House when it convenes Jan. 3. Since the Democrats hold the majority 243 to 192 their choice is a sure thing.

Although there has been talk of trying to unseat McCormack, speaker since 1961, some liberal-moderates have said that attempts to alter the rigid seniority system and seize some committee chairmanships from conservatives would take precedence in the new Congress.

Post Office Gives Up Watching Congressional Mailings

By MARTHA COLE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office Department, accused by a Republican senator of doing hatchet work for President Johnson, said today it was giving up its watchdog role over congressional mailing privileges.

The decision, which said congressmen should decide for themselves whether the franking or free mail privileges were being properly used, made no mention of charges by Michigan's Robert P. Griffin.

But the senator issued a statement saying both he and the department, which passes from Democratic to Republican hands next month, will benefit. He said he will press for Congress to draw up its own guidelines in the next session.

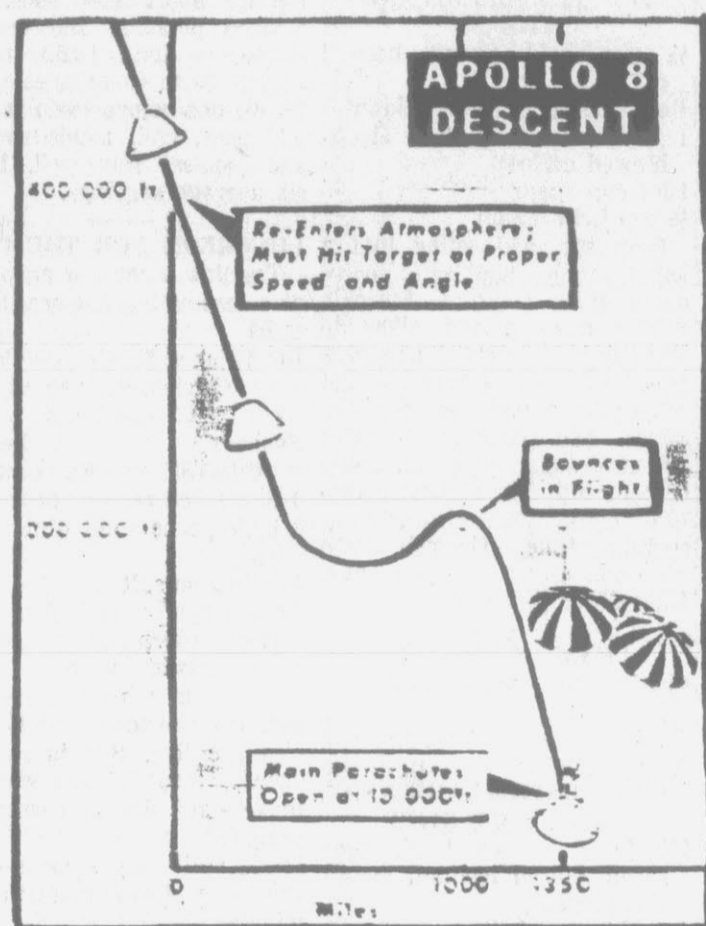

During the peak of the controversy last fall over Abe Fortas' nomination as chief justice of the United States, the Post Office Department accused Griffin of misusing the franking privilege and said he owed the government $25,000.

Griffin led the successful fight to block nomination of Fortas, an old friend and adviser of the President's.

The new decision follows a Nov. 26 meeting between Griffin and Postmaster Gen. Marvin W. Watson at which Griffin said he submitted a 15-page legal memo arguing he had not misused the franking privilege as charged during his tough 1967 campaign.

The department said Griffin had franked a newsletter that had political—and therefore improper—implications in its reprint of a statement by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman.

U.S. Troops Do Less Of Fighting

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command said today that American troops are doing less fighting than they have at any time in the past three months.

ers reported 74 North Vietnamese and seven rangers killed and 30 rangers wounded.

A government spokesman said the Viet Cong conscripts were captured 23 miles north of Saigon and apparently put up little resistance.

"There was some exchange of fire, but I think because they were drafted, they just surrendered," he said. Three South Vietnamese soldiers were wounded.

The spokesman said the government soldiers took the enemy by surprise while searching the area just after daybreak Thursday, while the 72-hour cease-fire proclaimed by the Viet Cong for Christmas was still in effect.

New U.S. Move Seen In Viet Peace Talks

PARIS (AP) — Cyrus R. Vance's impending return to Paris raised expectations today of a new U.S. move to break the long deadlock delaying the Vietnam peace talks.

and other U.S. leaders, the U.S. - North Vietnamese talks lapsed into a holiday lull while the rival Vietnamese delegations stood firm in their entrenched public positions.

Vance, due back tonight, has been the U.S. negotiator in the talks with the North Vietnamese on the shape of the conference table and other procedural issues blocking the start of the expanded conference.

Despite anticipation that Vance might be returning with new proposals, some diplomats are saying privately they expect no substantial progress of any sort until after Nixon is inaugurated, his administration makes its ideas known in Paris, and the various Vietnamese delegations assess these ideas.

Police Find Frozen Body

By MARK BROWN
DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — A fugitive from a Missouri mental hospital has been charged with murder after leading police to the frozen body of 10-year-old Pamela Powers, missing since Christmas Eve.

open charge of murder under heavy guard at the Des Moines police station Thursday, Williams spoke only to his lawyer, Henry T. McKnight of Des Moines.

A self-styled minister who identified himself as Anthony Erthell Williams, 24, a Negro, wordlessly directed detectives to Pamela's half-clothed body, wedged between a culvert and the side of a snow-covered 15-foot embankment, Thursday.

Nichols said officers did not press Williams for details of the Christmas Eve abduction or slaying under terms of an agreement with McKnight on Williams' surrender.

Police waited results of an autopsy to determine how the blonde blue-eyed fourth-grader died and how long she had been in the spot near Mitchellville, 10 miles east of Des Moines on Interstate 80.

Officers who accompanied Williams and the two detectives to the girl's body said Williams showed no signs of emotion.

The spokesman said the government soldiers took the enemy by surprise while searching the area just after daybreak Thursday, while the 72-hour cease-fire proclaimed by the Viet Cong for Christmas was still in effect.

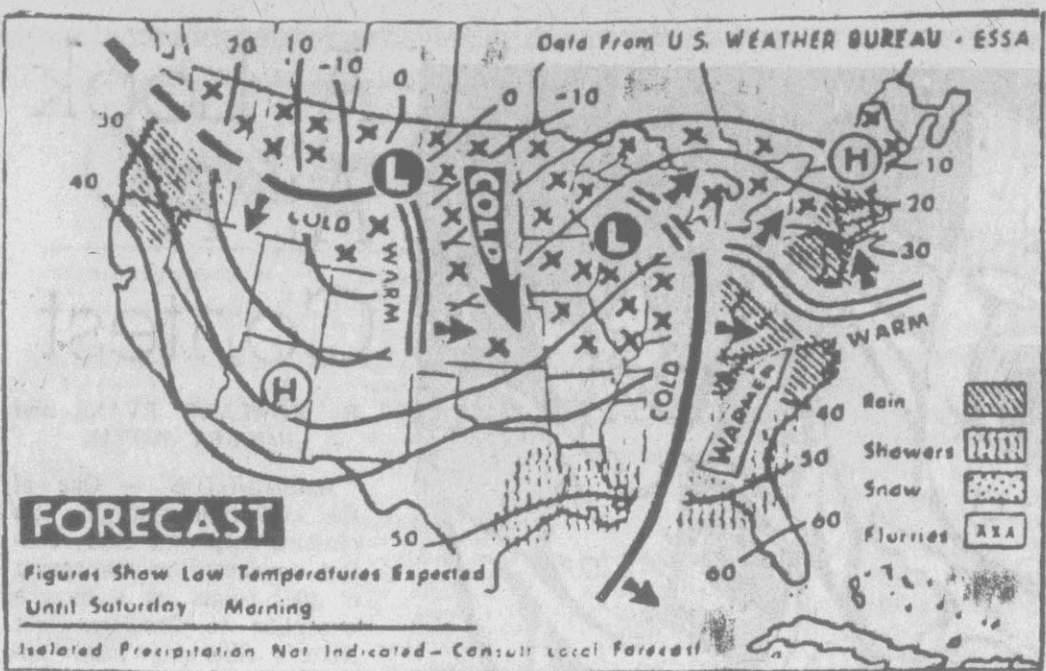

"He was almost casual and not downcast," said one. His return to Des Moines police headquarters—only four blocks from the YMCA building where Pamela disappeared Tuesday—was conducted under heavy security after police received anonymous telephone calls threatening Williams' life.

McKnight said Williams called him three times before walking into Davenport police headquarters and announcing "I'm Anthony Erthell Williams, I understand you're looking for me."

Pitt Theatre Is Remodeling

The Pitt Theater will be completely remodeled within the next two months, according to Gordon Sturm, manager.

From now until February 12, the theater will not open until 3 p.m. on weekdays so workmen can use the mornings and early afternoon to make improvements. Then for two weeks after February 12, the movie house will not open at all so essential changes may be made in the auditorium and screen area itself. February 27 at 8 p.m., the newly redecorated theater will have its grand opening.

Sturm said the Pitt's front will be the least changed of any part of the theater. The colonial style will be preserved, but the marquee will be cleaned and repainted and some building material will be added under the marquee. The boxoffice will be moved to the left of the entrance and new doors will be set at an angle. The exit doors will be replaced with modern ones to complement those at the entrance.

The lobby will be extended all the way across the front of the theater. Its ceiling will be lowered and the wall between the stairs and the present lobby will be removed. The walls will be covered with an attractive vinyl material, the floor carpeted, and the concession stand will be moved to right side of the lobby, enlarged, and equipped with new plumbing and wiring.

The mezzanine will be completely redecorated, with the present rough plaster being replaced by smooth plaster. The ladies' lounge will be redone with the inner room larger and the outer area smaller but equipped with better lighting and two lavatories and a mirror. The floor will be carpeted. New fixtures and ceramic tile will be installed, as it will in the men's room which will also be repainted and changed in other ways.

The auditorium itself will be changed to accommodate about 90 seats less than before, but there will be more space to maneuver between seats, which Sturm called "the latest and best type available." In the balcony, the rises are being extended to allow more walking space between rows and the whole area will be carpeted, as will the lower floor.

The walls, which now are set at an angle near the front of the auditorium, will be straightened, that is set at right angles with the screen, which will accommodate "widescreen" movies. Draperies of blue and gold, which will cover the walls the entire length of the balcony and auditorium proper, will provide better acoustics as well as beauty. Automatic close-in curtains will be provided for the screen area.

New sound equipment and new rectifiers and lamp houses will be installed. The old coal stoker will be replaced by a gas boiler and the theater's air conditioning system will be modernized.

The stange wall between the lobby and the auditorium will be built up to the ceiling and doors will be installed between the two areas to cut down on noise in the auditorium during movies. The present large columns on either side of the present concession stand will be decreased in size to about eight inches square and covered with mirrors to give the lobby a more spacious appearance.

Sturm and his staff are very enthusiastic about the improvement work. "We think we will have the most beautiful and up-to-date theater in this area," he said.

Big Stories In Hollywood For Year 1968 Are Listed

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — This was the year in Hollywood when...

Cary Grant, the screen's perfect husband, was accused by his wife of beating her while on LSD trips. The divorce revelations did nothing to diminish his popularity.

Jack Valenti put across a rating system for movies. Producers began vying for an X, which means a picture is unfit for children and hence enticing for adults.

The new status symbol among film stars became the million-dollars-per-picture fee. Liz Taylor and Richard Burton welcomed new members to the club: Julie Andrews, Lee Marvin, Paul Newman.

And Barbra Streisand made that exclusive society before being seen on the screen.

Two assassinations prompted Hollywood to search its soul about violence on the screen. Film makers began brawling with each other over the issue.

Nudity in films hit new bottoms: Rod Steiger's, Charlton Heston's, Paul Newman's, etc.

Barbra Streisand's husband struck a new note in press relations by allegedly slugging a photographer for taking too many pictures.

The production code for self-censorship was relaxed almost to the point of apathy. A popular new formula for movie plots: boy meets girl, boy loses girl, girl gets girl.

And there was almost as much girl-girl and boy-boy kissing on the screen as there was of the usual kind.

Vanessa Redgrave paused between making American-financed movies to lead anti-American parades in London.

A new candor was sounded in interviews. Lee Marvin talked about housekeeping with his girl friend. Alex Cord discussed his decision to marry Joanna Pettet before the birth of their baby.

And just where was it that Eddie Fisher married Connie Stevens?

Frank Sinatra gave up Mia Farrow and Elizabeth Taylor, the former in marriage, the latter in a movie.

Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis pushed all the film stars off the movie magazine covers with her own headline-making.

Zsa Zsa Gabor flung epithets at hotelkeepers in Madrid and London. Apparently her accommodations weren't the same as when she was wed to Conrad Hilton.

This was also the year when the Burtons bought a yacht for their dogs, when Katharine Hepburn won another Oscar after a 35-year lapse, when Anna Maganani broke her foot kicking Anthony Quinn, when "Laugh-in" sooked it to the television industry, when Lucille Ball put her two children to work, when a Beate and his girl friend appeared on an album cover clothed only in smiles.

Some year! And now 1969 is coming. Are you ready for it?

Police Planning A Wider Search

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Mecklenburg County Police planned to search for more clues today in a wooded area north of Charlotte where a man's skeleton with two bullet holes in the skull was found Thursday.

Authorities did not connect the discovery with the disappearance of the husband of a bride of one day who was found slain some 14 miles distant, near Lake Norman, last Nov. 6. However, they did not rule out the possibility that the skeleton might be that of Roy Williams, the slain woman's husband.

Williams and Mary Josephine Potaro had flown from New York to Charlotte Nov. 5, then traveled by bus to York, S. C., where they were married and returned the same day to Charlotte for their honeymoon.

The next day the young bride's body was found near the lake. She had been shot. There has been no trace of Williams.

County police officer D. G. Lutrick said it was almost impossible to determine how long the body had been in the woods because of "weather conditions and animals that may have disturbed it."

Hearing Is Set On Death Threat

FLORENCE, Ariz. (AP) — A preliminary hearing is set for Jan. 3 for a young South Carolina man accused of threatening the life of President-elect Richard M. Nixon.

Bond of $25,000 was set Thursday for Carl Danny McHone, 24, of Marietta, S. C. He is being held at the Florence Federal Detention Center.

McHone was turned over to federal authorities Sunday after his arrest on a charge of walking on a freeway ramp. He is accused in a federal warrant with making threats against Nixon's life at Baltimore, Md., about Nov. 26.

Waits Six Years To Draw Money

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Arthur Lambert, 47, waited six years after a jury awarded him $60,000 in traffic injury damages to withdraw the $36,117 that remained after court costs and lawyer fees. He had said he wanted to appeal the amount of the award but the time limit on appeals expired.

If the money had been put into a savings account in 1962, authorities estimated it would have earned $8,000 in interest. It drew no interest in the county clerk's office.

Lambert, picking up the money, said he needed funds because his wife needed an operation.

Canines Failed To Raise Alarm

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The Humane Society's animal shelter office has been ransacked three times by burglars in recent months. There never were fewer than 100 dogs in the shelter during any burglary, but if any sounded an alarm, the barks went unheeded in the normal din. So the shelter acquired Baron, a 75-pound German Shepherd, from the sheriff's department. Baron flunked out of training as a sheriff's dog because he bit an deputy's daughter. The Humane Society said Baron will not be caged during the night.

The motto of the Gurkhas of Nepal is, "It is better to die than live a coward."

Winchell's Son Dead Of Shot

TUSTIN, Calif. (AP) — The son of columnist Walter Winchell died of a single gunshot wound in the mouth, the coroner's office says.

Walter Winchell Jr., 33, died Wednesday night. A .38-caliber pistol was found lying beside his body.

The victim's wife, Eva Annelies Winchell, 34, told police that her husband wrote a suicide note on Dec. 20. She said he attempted suicide last Christmas and underwent therapy for about four months following the incident.

Winchell was working as a dishwasher at the time of his death and the family was receiving welfare benefits. He listed his occupation as a freelance writer.

William Shakespeare Jr. of Michigan in 1897 invented the level-wind reel for fishing. It made casting practical by assuring the even wind off the line on the spool.

Hong Kong Flu Has Wide Effect

ATLANTA Ga. (AP) — Hong Kong Flu has caused widespread or regional illnesses in 33 states and deaths attributed to pneumonia-influenza more than doubled during the third week of December, the National Communicable Disease Center officials are standing by their reports.

Earlier predictions that the epidemic will not hit its peak until early or mid-January.

During the week ending Dec. 21, the center's figures show approximately 500 more deaths from pneumonia-influenza in 122 selected cities throughout the nation than might normally be expected.

However, Dr. David J. Sencer, the center's director, cautioned that the figures from the 122 cities are "purely a sampling." He said that they should not be interpreted too strictly.

Sencer said the NCDC is taking the unusual step of using an editorial on the front page of its weekly report to caution about relying upon interpretations of the figures.

The weekly report is due for release later today but the figures it contains were confirmed Thursday night by several NCDC officials, including Sencer.

The director said the rising number of deaths is part of a trend which began about two weeks ago and they were up "sharply" during the week ending Dec. 21.

Normally—in years with no flu epidemic—about 500 persons would be expected to die of pneumonia-influenza during the third week of December, a spokesman for the center reported. The actual total from the 122 cities will be about 1,000 dead, he said.

The spokesman said the new strain of flu has become so widespread that "if you're getting the flu, it's the Hong Kong flu." He explained that in a national epidemic, the strongest single strain soon becomes the only variety showing up in tests.

In the first two weeks of December the center's figures show 1,375 deaths in the 122 cities from pneumonia-influenza. That compares with the 966 deaths anticipated from such causes.

A spokesman said this means 409 deaths could be attributed to the flu during the first two weeks of this month—the first time this fall any significant number of deaths above the anticipated level have been recorded.

Morgan Makes An Effective Choice

Attorney General-elect Robert Morgan has shown by his first official act that he does not expect to operate the office to which he has been elected in a hide-bound traditional manner which in the past may have limited the effectiveness of this important division of state government.

By naming as head of the State Bureau of Investigation Charles Dunn, Governor Moore's top assistant, Morgan injected new imagination and probably new effectiveness into the top administration of the SBI. It is legitimate to question the new director's lack of experience either in the legal or law enforcement field. There is certainly some merit to suggestions that the new director might have been drawn from the capable men within the department or within law enforcement work elsewhere.

These factors are far outweighed, in our judgment, by the top administrative experience and thorough knowledge of state and local law enforcement operations which Dunn has acquired during his years in the Moore administration. Dunn has become well acquainted with law enforcement officials and the workings of their various organizations as a key trouble-shooter for Gov. Moore. Obviously he was a key member of the policy making group which reached crucial decisions with respect to law enforcement during the difficult period last spring.

More than that, however, Dunn's presence as director of the State Bureau of Investigation may be a key factor in securing legislative approval for the kind of new support which is needed by the division of state government headed by the Attorney General. Morgan is well recognized as one who understands the workings of the legislative branch of government. In teaming with Dunn, who has worked closely with legislators from the governor's office, the two may secure the kind of legislative support which will provide a better base from which the state's top legal and law enforcement division may operate.

Those who have watched Robert Morgan in his years in public life are well aware that he is not one to reach hasty decisions or to make important choices quickly and unwisely. His selection of Dunn to head the troubled SBI portends a new, more aggressive and more effective era of state operations under the Attorney General's jurisdiction.

Records Fell For Shopping

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
RALEIGH — 'Tis the season to be jolly and most likely many folks are, especially the children whose Christmas stockings were filled. And the merchants and the sales tax collectors.

Indications are that all records for Christmas buying in dollar volume of goods were broken this year. For toys alone, according to Toy Manufacturers of America, shoppers spent more than $2.5 billion this Christmas, or more than the biennial (two year) budget of the state of North Carolina. The trade association predicts that toy sales will increase another 10 per cent in 1969 with educational and scientific toys having the greatest appeal.

Toys led all sellers in the hard goods category for December. Games were second. Others leaders were sports equipment, colored cookware, blenders, hair dryers, stereo equipment and color television sets and bathroom accessories. Retail sales in the South Atlantic states were up from seven to 11 per cent in mid-December.

Huge Sales Volume

The record Christmas sales days were those immediately before Dec. 25 according to the American Newspaper Assn's Bureau of Advertising. The huge volume was handled despite unseasonable weather, shortages of sales personnel and widespread flu epidemics.

It is not surprising that housewares made such strong retail gains. There were 1.52 million housing construction starts in the U. S. during 1968 and there are predictions of a record $91 billion in housing during the coming year.

As a result, retailers are projecting a record 15 per cent sales gain in housewares. Also, housewares prices are expected to increase by an average of five per cent.

Certain other survey statistics: More than seven million vacuum cleaners will be sold in 1969. Avocado will be the top-selling color again next year, with harvest gold second and white third. Curtain sales will be up by 10 per cent. Sixty-five per cent of all educational toys are brought by women for children under seven years of age.

Bright Outlook

A bright outlook for economic growth in the Southeastern states for the next 10 years has been issued by a member of the University of North Carolina's business faculty, Prof. Clifton H. Kreps.

Kreps, a leading economist, believes key determinants will continue to be labor supply, natural resources and a developing consumer market. In addition, he feels that federal programs will have a positive impact on economic development in the region.

A key phase in Prof. Kreps report is "capital imports." This means essentially an influx of capital investment because of available labor supply and resources such as forests and water not to mention a milder climate. Also, an impressive factor in attracting more capital investment is the South's rapidly growing consumer market.

Productivity has increased and with it both regional per capita income and effective consumer demand. Along with production facilities, this is bringing about new and better distribution.

Skating Season

With winter now upon the land, ski enthusiasts are looking to the slopes. There are presently at least six skiing resorts in the North Carolina mountain country — all looking for a good season.

The principal resorts are Hound Ears near Blowing Rock, Seven Devils near Boone, Beech Mountain near Banner Elk, High Meadows near Roaring Gap, Cataloochee at Maggie and Sapphire Valley near Cashiers. In addition there are several of the ski lodges in these areas.

We Need Extra Effort For Highway Safety

Even through North Carolina's highway deaths for 1968 already number more than 100 above the final figure for last year, it is not too late for motorists to exert a special effort to keep this year's total figure as low as possible.

Through the Christmas holiday which officially ended at midnight Wednesday, more than 1,833 persons had lost their lives on the highways of the state this year. If past years are any indication, there are several dangerous days remaining in 1968.

If North Carolina is to hold its highway toll within reasonable bounds, highway safety must become a primary, every-day concern of every motorist. Special precautions are taken during holiday periods of the year. Publicity and special efforts to law enforcement agencies make motorists a little more aware of highway dangers. But the holiday tolls, staggering as they seem at times, are not what push the total figures to record highs year after year. This is caused by the everyday accidents which have become too much a part of the routine of our way of life.

Every driver, by exercising a little more care can contribute to holding down the highway traffic toll for the remainder of this year and next year as well.

Methods Like Nazis Used

By MORRIE RYSKIND
I'm color blind about mobs. Racist terrorists white or black, all look alike to me. And I'm damned tired of financing them at public expense.

From today's papers alone, I've culled stories of violence at nine educational institutions from East to West. And, in each instance, the riot is condoned by some liberal educator or churchman.

This past year, a rough-neck minority has kept San Francisco State College in turmoil, forced two presidents to resign and, of late, actually closed the college. Now can, S.I. Hayakawa, has taken over and vows to keep SFS open, come hell or high-water or Black Students Union.

In his first day he is shoved around and spat on while the mob shouts its defiance, burst into classrooms and disrupt them, and even starts a few fires. But this new prey doesn't buckle under—he promptly sends for the police to restore order and prevent further damage. And promises to use them as often as needed.

In leftist lingo, the cops are "Storm Troopers," and there are cries of "police brutality." And Kay Boyle, noted short-story writer presently on the faculty, joins in the epithets and screams that Hayakawa is of the breed of Hitler and Eichmann.

Never, I submit, has the lady better exhibited her genius as a fictioneer. For it wasn't the cops who stormed the campus; the shoe belongs rightfully on the other foot.

Indeed, the tactics of the SFS rabble ape those of the Hitler Youth just before Adolf became Chancellor in Germany. There the Brown-Shirts took over the streets and made them unsafe for the average citizen; they chanted their hymns of hate and shook their fists to all legally constituted authority, disrupting everything from trade to education in the process.

From the gymnasia and the universities they recruited cadres of students (and some wild-eyed professors, too) who found this involvement far more intriguing than the irrelevant academic courses. They wanted to make history, not study it; and they preferred the poetry of the Nazi songs to out-moded bars like Gosthe.

And, finally, through terror and blackmail—and the indecision of von Hindenburg in dealing with the anarchists —they took over. And in the glorious Third Reich, the once-intellectual German schools made required reading of "Mein Kampf" instead of the classics, and taught history as Hitler saw it. Some avant-garde clergy even preached the Nazi doctrines. And

Strength For Today

ARM IN ARM

Scene—the campus of a Protestant Theological Seminary. The president of that Protestant Seminary and a bishop are entering one of the buildings arm in arm.

The tragedy is that it took so many centuries for this to come to pass. The church of Christ is one, and so far as basic doctrines are concerned the Church in all its branches teaches the same message. For it teaches that two thousand years ago the Glory and Light and Power and Love of God was incarnate in human flesh and dwelt among us full of grace and truth.

There are differences of opinion even in the happiest of marriages. There will always be differences of opinion between the different groups of Christians, but on the basic doctrines we are united. We are not uniting at present—we are coming to realize the union we have always had. We have one Lord, one faith, one baptism. We are united in our devotion to certain truths that are eternal and significant.

Arm in arm—and for four hundred years we neglected this posture of understanding and agreement. We feel sometimes that present-day problems are the most serious humanity has confronted in its history, but if we look at the situation with discernment we are filled with the realization that never before have we been so well-equipped to handle our problems as right now.

Heavenly guidance is our privilege. We realize it today with a new certainty.

It's Bite Tongue Time

WASHINGTON — It's a "bite tongue" time again. Many things were said in 1968 that the speakers would like to take back. But it's too late. Nobody knows where the people who said them are now, but aren't you glad you weren't the person who told President Charles de Gaulle in May, "The students are acting up in Nanterre, Monsieur le President, but we'll have it under control in 24 hours?"

Or the one who said to Mayor John Lindsay, "Say, mayor, what do you think about starting a pilot program for local school control in the Ocean Hill area of Brooklyn? Once we get it under way, the Teacher's Union will have to support us."

Or the cardinal who said to Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, "Jackie, you marry anyone you want to, I'll fix it up with the Vatican."

Or the Nixon adviser who said to Richard Nixon, "well, if you want a noncontroversial running mate who won't offend anyone, then you'll have to go with Gov. Spiro T. Agnew."

Or one of Nelson Rockefeller's men who said to him in the spring, "If you stay out of the primaries, they're going to have to draft you in."

Allen, 32 has been an activist in two major right-wing youth groups: Young Americans for Freedom and the Intercollegiate Studies Institute. But more significant are his links with the American Security Council, which go beyond his participation in the 1967 essay contest.

The gap between Kissinger's sophisticated, adult anticommunism and Allen's simplistic version is a chasm. Alone among the President-elect's high-level appointments, Allen is a member of what more thoughtful conservatives regard as the "sand-box right."

Other Editors Say Wedding Pleases All

(Wilson Daily Times)

The wedding of Julie Nixon and Dwight David Eisenhower III, is in true story book fashion. It pleases everyone, especially the way the wedding was carried out.

The couple, as prominent as two young people can be, did not want a state affair, but a "personal" wedding. They were entitled to a wedding with as much pomp and glory as can be shown Americans.

Julie is the daughter of President-elect Richard Nixon, and David is the grandson of ex-President Dwight D. Eisenhower, who was elected for two terms after having successfully commanded the armed forces in World War II.

This couple could have had and deserved a wedding of any description they desired. We are certain there would have been representatives from governments the world over, if they had been invited and the wedding had taken on the trappings of a state affair. But the couple did not desire this. They planned a lovely wedding with friends and the required number of special guests. And Americans approve.

The couple have known each other since they played together in the White House when Julie's father was five-president and David visited his grandfather who was president. It is a romance which began in their child hoods, for they are both young.

So on this Christmas there is the wedding of Julie and David to remember. The couple carries with them the best wishes of the nation. We are certain Americans expect this young couple to live up to the best American tradition which they have inherited.

They have made a good start. And we are certain their children will be the only ones with a grandfather and a great-grandfather who were presidents. Just think of being able to say your grandfather was president of the United States and your great-grandfather was president of the United States. This is a heritage which no coat of arms can match.

Miami. Who else can they get?"

Or the Humphrey man who said, "Mr. Vice President, Mayor Daley wants you to know he's got everything under control in Chicago and the Democratic convention will be the best one ever held in any city in the country."

Or the TV executive at NBC who said, "Oh hell, let's go with Heidi at 7 o'clock. The AFL game isn't that interesting."

Or the former law partner of Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas who called him up and said "Hey, Abe, how would you like to give a series of lectures at American University?"

Or the adviser to Pope Paul who said, "Your Holiness, if you come out against birth control, there isn't a priest in the Church who won't support you."

Or the man who said to Ambassador Sargent Shriver, "Once it's been printed that you're going to be the ambassador to the United Nations, Nixon will have to appoint you."

A Look At A Contest

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — One of the 1,000 runners-up in an obscure right-wing essay contest conducted in the spring of 1967 points up a bizarre exception to President-elect Nixon's otherwise solid appointments in the national security field.

The $25,000 first prize in the $100,000 essay contest (subject: The Role of American Business in the Cold War) conducted by the American Security Council was won by Dr. James P. Lucier, a contributor of racist literature to the John Birch Society magazine and a staff assistant of Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina.

What's important from the standpoint of national policy is the identity of one of the honorable mentions: Dr. Richard V. Allen of the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution and Peace.

Allen's essay is heavy going and never transcends tired cold war rhetoric (example: "We are faced with an implacable and self-declared enemy whose aims are unlimited... who seeks the destruction of the American way of life"). Indeed, the essay would not be worth noting were it not for the fact that Mr. Nixon has named Richard V. Allen as a "senior staff assistant" to the highly respected Dr. Henry Kissinger, Mr. Nixon's assistant for national security affairs.

The gap between Kissinger's sophisticated, adult anticommunism and Allen's simplistic version is a chasm. Alone among the President-elect's high-level appointments, Allen is a member of what more thoughtful conservatives regard as the "sand-box right."

Allen, 32 has been an activist in two major right-wing youth groups: Young Americans for Freedom and the Intercollegiate Studies Institute. But more significant are his links with the American Security Council, which go beyond his participation in the 1967 essay contest.

The American Security Council, which started as a private service to employers to check the loyalty of job applicants, has blossomed into hard-line anti-Communist propaganda instrument with a newsletter and a syndicated radio program. The council's angel: Pat Frawley, Schick razor magnate and benefactor of manifold rightist causes.

Thus, it is interesting that Allen's entry in the council's 1967 essay contest (which was bankrolled by Frawley) is studded with praise for both the Schick safety razor company and the American Security Council.

Beyond that, Allen is on close personal terms with several council staffers—particularly Col. Raymond S. Sleeper, a retired Air Force man and booster of high military hardware spending. Both Allen and Sleeper have addressed the National Strategy Information Center in New York with hard-line speeches. Another right-of-center group—the Philadelphia Society—has been addressed the National Strategy Information Center in New York with hard-line speeches. U.S. Unemployment Rate Dipped

By ELMER ROESSNER

THE U. S. unemployment rate last month dipped to the lowest level in 15 years to the surprise of absolutely no one at all. It is probably lower right now.

According to the Labor Department, the November unemployment rate was 3.3 per cent of the work force. Average weekly earnings declined $1.17 from October, but this was because of a shorter work week in November. Compared with November, 1967, last month's average weekly earnings were 5.3 per cent higher.

Actually, the available labor pool is even smaller than the 3.3 per cent figure indicates. Although technically employable, many unemployed simply don't want jobs. Others are between jobs. And still others, while wanting to work, are capable of handling only a small variety of undemanding tasks.

Hiring is no longer a question of scraping the barrel. It's a matter of wringing out the staves.

Last Resorts

Business's best remaining sources of workers are not the unemployed but those already working or otherwise occupied.

Moonlighters are prime candidates. There are still plenty of people about having a tough time paying alimony, the mortgage, gambling debts, damage suits or the like. These workers are often highly motivated and will work hard in their off time. The trouble is, they're usually pretty tired from their principal job.

Military men, police officers and fire fighters usually are retired fairly early with pensions that don't stretch far enough. Some want a full-time, if not too demanding job, and almost all want part-time income. They also respond well to discipline.

Vacationers, including high school and college students, teachers at all levels, members of the military on leave, and government employees who get up to a month and even more off each year, are another source. They are best for simple or easily-learned jobs, especially summer seasonal occupations.

Old Reliables

Elderly workers frequently need money. And they are less likely to shift around. But they must be fitted into the right slot and frequently aren't up to an eight-hour day.

Present employees often are willing to work longer hours. They have the advantage of knowing the company, the routine and the particular job. This may justify the higher overtime rate.

Stealing competitors is a last — or first — resort, depending on individual executives' ethics. Such workers are trained and of known quality who may also supply some insight into the opposition's operations. The drawback is that stolen workers are prone to be stolen again. And it can be dangerous getting into a round of raids and counter-raids with a wage hike each go-around.

Handicapped people should not be overlooked. They generally are excellent if placed in a position they can handle. Many need the income, most are trying to prove their worth, and they are less inclined to go from job to job.

Two Art Courses Set For January

Two non-credit art courses, "A New Look at Art" and "Basic Painting" will be offered beginning in January by the East Carolina University Division of Continuing Education.

Both courses are open to any interested adult, regardless of educational background. There are no entrance requirements other than registration and payment of tuition ($25).

The art courses are being offered with four other courses as part of the division's winter quarter non-credit program.

According to division conference coordinator Brayton Anderson, the non-credit program has as its objective "learning for the sake of learning." Course participants are not required to take entrance examinations or tests of any kind in the courses.

"Students in non-credit courses," Anderson said, "are not exposed to the pressures normally associated with university level courses. The adult will find his participation in a non-credit course to be both enjoyable and rewarding."

"A New Look at Art," to be taught by ECU School of Art instructor Michael Flinn, will be an analysis of art and explanations of methods and materials. The course will be taught each Wednesday night, Jan. 8 to March 12, in Room 232 of Rawl Building at ECU.

"Basic Painting," an introduction to techniques of painting, will be taught by art instructor Elizabeth Ross. The course opens Thursday, Jan. 9 and will meet on consecutive Thursdays through March 13 at the Greenville Recreation Center.

Registration for "Basic Painting" must be received, with tuition, before Jan. 1. Tuition for "A New Look at Art" must be paid prior to the first class meeting. Checks should be made payable to East Carolina University.

Ancient Bottle Cache Uncovered

OCALA, Fla. (AP) — High winds that toppled an ancient pine tree revealed a treasure-trove of bottles more than 100 years old.

The tree was growing on the site of old Ft. King, a military post during the Seminole war.

Ryskind . . .

The movement is in our lower schools, too. Meir Kahane (in Human Events, Dec. 7) notes some demands made at a high school in the Brownsville section of Brooklyn: "We demand that only Black or Puerto Rican teachers be employed; that we have the right to hire or fire all personnel; that all 'Whitey' textbooks be burned and replaced by decent educational material; that 'Whitey' art and social studies be replaced by African Arts and crafts and African History."

They even have their El-dridge Cleavers, Kahane notes that one Herman B. Ferguson, convicted of a plot to commit murder but out on bail, is a paid consultant in a school nearby the one mentioned above.

Ferguson plans to open the school day with a salute, not to Old Glory but to a flag representing Black Nationalism. And the pledge of allegiance will include something anti-Semitic and a cry to "kill Whitey," both from the writings of the black racist, LeRoi Jones. And the math class will focus on "the mathematical considerations in firing, repairing and making weapons." The better to kill "whitey" with, obviously.

Only the color line has been changed. Everything else, including the book-burning and anti-Semitism, is pure Nazi. Hitler may be dead, but his spirit lives on.

One moment of silence, please. No—not for Hitler, but for American education.

Buchwald

(Continued From Page 4) him, "If you want a running mate who will really grab the American people, you couldn't do better than Gen. Curtis LeMay."

And let's not forget the fellow that told the new secretary of the treasury, David Kennedy, "If the press asks you what you think the price of gold should be in the next four years, tell them exactly what you think."

Or the man in the State Department who said to Dean Rusk, "I assure you Mr. Secretary, if we stop the bombing of North Vietnam, Saigon will happily come to the conference table in Paris."

Or the chap who said to Walt Rostow, "If you want to go back to teaching, why don't you ask them for your old job back at MIT?"

Or the economics adviser to Chancellor Kiesinger of West Germany who told him, "I'd stake my life on it. De Gaulle will have to devalue the franc."

And what about the broker at Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith who called up a client and said, "I just got some inside information on Douglas Aircraft I think I ought to pass on to you."

Or the Navy admiral who said, "The Pueblo doesn't need an escort off North Korean waters. They wouldn't dare touch her."

And finally, the man in the White House who said to President Johnson, "Mr. President, you want to hear something really funny? Gene McCarthy has gone up to New Hampshire to run in the primary against you."

which considerable gains have been recorded."

In contrast to the prevailing Nixon theme of limiting global commitments, Allen's essay calls on the government to guarantee private investment abroad with a meaningful hint that those guarantees must be more than strictly financial: "Government must be motivated to protect with the appropriate means American foreign investments."

Even Allen's former colleagues at the Georgetown Center for Strategic Studies in Washington (where he worked before joining Stanford University's Hoover Institution) feel Allen was too much the sabre-rattler—a trait that reared its head shortly after Allen joined Mr. Nixon's campaign staff.

Allen was responsible for the one major blunder of the campaign. When the Soviets seized an airliner carrying U.S.

troops to Vietnam June 30, Allen wrote a statement for Mr. Nixon describing the plane as a "flying Pueblo" and threatening drastic reprisals. It was scarcely off the mimeograph machines before the Russians returned the airliner.

Since then, Allen has been under wraps. Moreover, Nixon aides apologetically point out that Allen is not the President's assistant but was specifically named as an assistant to the mature Dr. Kissinger.

For his part, it is inconceivable that Kissinger will make much use of Allen. His personal aide will be not Allen but an outstanding Davidson, currently an aide to Ambassador Averell Harpersists: Why did the President-elect, generally so cautious during the transition, make such a curious appointment to a post of such high sensitivity?

The old year wanes. The last sands trickle down the hourglass as the old man totters into irrevocable past and a lusty infant year begins.

Bells ring in church steeples, confetti rains, horns blow. People sing and shout and maybe shed a tear. Cries of "Happy New Year" fill the ears and fall on happy hearts, or sad.

To some, the old year brought joy and happiness. To others it held sadness and despair. Thus, men greet the new year differently; some with mockery, some with resolution, still others with a smile.

Whatever your feelings about the year ahead, there is one way to be sure of its promise. God is the source of all goodness. Make Him and His Church a part of your life and you will find the strength and inspiration to make each day prosper.

The sum of its days shapes the year.

Royal Family To Leave Spain

MADRID (AP) — The family of Prince Carlos Hugo of Bourbon-Farma, the Carlist pretender to the Spanish throne, has been ordered out of Spain, a family spokesman said Thursday night. Gen. Francisco Franco's government expelled the prince Dec. 20 after he made a speech critical of the government and Franco's favorite for the throne, Prince Juan Carlos of Bourbon. The family spokesman said Carlos Hugo's father and mother, Prince Xavier and Princess Magdalena, and his two sisters, Princess Maria Teresa and Princess Maria de las Nevas, were returning to their home in Paris. Carlos Hugo's wife, Princess Irene of the Netherlands, flew to Paris Thursday to join her husband, but apparently the expulsion order did not apply to her. Prince Xavier and his family came to Madrid last week, apparently in attempt to bolster the 135-year-old carlist claim to the throne.

Apollo Brought Achievements

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 8 brought to earth today an achievement record including these firsts: —It demonstrated the Saturn 5 rocket can launch men safely to the moon. —It reassured space officials of the safety of the spaceship, redesigned after three astronauts died in a spacecraft fire in 1967. —It proved the pinpoint accuracy of guidance and navigation systems and of good quality two-way voice communication at lunar distances. —It showed spacemen can navigate to specific moon landing sites using lunar landmarks. —It sent good television pictures from lunar orbit and from points in space between moon and earth.

Portuguese Town Has A Gold Rush

GOIS, Portugal (AP) — There's a gold rush atmosphere in this small village in the center of Portugal. After a gold streak was found nearby, would-be prospectors flocked to the local registration offices. Local inhabitants are hoping the find does as much for the town as the discovery of tungsten here did 30 years ago. This is not the first time gold has been found in these parts. There is even a gold mine near Gois, but the company that owns it discontinued mining long ago because of the small profits. Now the word is that the new discovery can lead to considerable exploitation, and might even prove important for the national economy.

RICK HANSEN Rick Hansen, a 21-year-old former hippie and drug pusher, will be the featured speaker at a meeting Saturday night at the Masonic Temple, Charles St. Hansen is scheduled to tell his story to the parents and young people of Greenville. People of the Greenville area are urged to attend the meeting, scheduled to begin at 7:30, to learn the dangers involved in the use of drugs. A fellowship dinner, $1.85 per person, will be held prior to the meeting, beginning at 6:30 at the Masonic Temple. The program is being sponsored by the Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship International - Greenville organization.

New Sound Heard At N.C. State U.

RALEIGH (AP) — There's a new sound of music at North Carolina State University—the ancient skirl of the Scottish bagpipe. One day a week, a dozen students attend a class taught by Ted Tinkinson, an instructor-graduate student on soil science. "I had played in a pipe band in Tucson (Arizona)," says Tinkinson, "and when I came to North Carolina I wanted to play in another one. "But the closest pipe bands are at Guilford College and in Charlotte, so I decided that if I couldn't join one, I'd have to create one." So that's what he's doing. Tinkinson began his efforts by advertising in the student newspaper in September. The number attending the class has fluctuated, but 12 now attend regularly. "It's a good size for a strictly avocational class with no credit offered," Tinkinson says. Most of the students have had previous musical training. One of them, Marty Blackwell of Asheville plays the clarinet in the university's symphonic band. "I saw the ad in the student newspaper and decided, 'why not,'" Miss Blackwell says. What would make students want to learn to play the bagpipe. "Most of them were attracted by the uniqueness of the instrument," says Tinkinson. He also noted that bagpipe players are usually exceptionally healthy people. All the huffing and puffing helps keep your lungs in shape.

Mass Transit Needs Attention

WASHINGTON (AP) — John A. Volpe, President-elect Nixon's choice for transportation secretary, says more emphasis must be put on mass transportation systems to cope with the nation's urban traffic problems. The Massachusetts governor said Thursday in his first news conference since appointed by Nixon that "highways alone won't do the job." The emphasis on public transportation came as a bit of a surprise since Volpe has gained a reputation as a man who believes in highways. As federal highway administrator in the Eisenhower administration he directed the start of the gigantic interstate road system and he founded a construction company that has built thousands of miles of highways. Rapid transit systems may not prove feasible in some areas, Volpe said, but there will be others where "you can't build any more highways without tearing a city apart." He added that the stream of cars coming into city downtowns makes it impossible "even to provide parking spaces for them without having to tear down half the city for parking lots."

South Koreans Are Sentenced

SEOUL (AP) — Three South Koreans convicted of setting up a Communist guerrilla base on a small offshore island were sentenced to death today in Seoul District Criminal Court. Fourteen other persons in the ring received sentences ranging from one year to life in prison. The prosecution said the leaders had been instructed to recruit guerrillas in the South for an armed uprising.

Flight Raises Hopes Of Early Moon Landing

By JIM STROTHMAN
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 8's trail-blazing flight around the moon has given space planners a firm foothold to try for a moon landing in the next few months—maybe April or May. One major piece of Apollo hardware still remains to be qualified, the lunar module spacecraft that will taxi future astronauts from a three-man Apollo craft in lunar orbit to the moon's surface. That four-legged lunar lander is to get its first manned space test about Feb. 20 during America's next three-man mission, Apollo 9. If the lunar module performs perfectly in earth orbit on Apollo 9, astronauts conceivably could land on the moon on the following flight, Apollo 10, in April or May. Present plans for Apollo 10—to be flown by a three-man crew headed by veteran astronaut Air Force Col. Thomas P. Stafford—call for the pilots to fly a moon orbit mission in which the lunar module separates from a three-man Apollo spaceship and approaches within 10 miles of the surface, but does not land. "Our present plans are to not commit Apollo 10 for a landing," said Air Force Lt. Gen. Samuel C. Phillips, Apollo program director. However, "We might want to exercise a more ambitious option," he noted, as was done when the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) decided to send Apollo 8 around the moon. The first lunar landing mission is now expected by Apollo 11, next May or June. Astronauts have not yet been assigned for that flight. The particular lunar module assigned to Apollo 10 does not have fuel tanks with enough capacity and weighs too much for a lunar landing. So if a decision is made to fly the Apollo 10 crew to the moon's surface, another lunar module would have to be assigned to the mission, Phillips pointed out. Television will continue to be an important factor in the space flights. Thursday it gave a glimpse of three explorers returning home as the last of six scheduled TV broadcasts from Apollo 8 was made at an altitude of 112,000 miles. It showed the sunlit side of the earth, including North and South America, covered by numerous clouds. Apollo 8 television is completed but as Borman told earthlings: "Stay tuned in." There will be flights and rendezvous and earth orbits, he said. Apollo 9 in February may include a live telecast of astronaut Russell L. Schweickart walking in space from the lunar module back to the three-man Apollo craft. With him in Apollo 9 will be Air Force Col. James A. McDivitt and Lt. Col David R. Scott. And television cameras will also be aboard on the following missions—including the lunar landing itself.

Guests Brought Goodies, Except Astronaut Wives

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — All the guests invited to a hen party at a rookie astronaut's home Thursday night brought goodies—except the wives of the three Apollo 8 astronauts. They brought themselves and it was demonstration enough that all was well. The waiting was nearly over for Mrs. Frank Borman, Mrs. James A. Lovell Jr. and Mrs. William A. Anders. Their husbands had hurdled a half dozen critical barriers on a round trip to the moon. All that remained was the crucial re-entry. Thursday night the three wives were together for the first time since long before the Dec. 21 launch. They went to a party at the home of Fred Wallace Haise Jr., who was the backup for Jim Lovell on this flight. "Having a big celebration tomorrow night" someone asked. "You just bet we will," said Mrs. Borman, her face beaming. The Apollo 8 wives, like most of the astronaut wives, carried their seven-day ordeal well. Instead of shutting themselves off from the world as their husbands faced unprecedented dangers, they shopped, went to church and got together with friends. The strain showed in their faces on the morning of the launch, when there were two fingernail-biting times—the launch itself on the world's biggest rocket and the maneuver that put the spacecraft on a path to the moon. But Thursday night all that was gone. Their smiles, as they posed for photographs, were wide and genuine. Christmas Eve, while her husband was on his last orbit around the moon, Marilyn Lovell took out eggnogg and cookies to newsmen wanting to record her Christmas. Later she walked around her neighborhood where the lights of Christmas cast a soft glow over the streets. This was only minutes before the space crew—behind the moon and out of communication—fired the big engine to get out of moon orbit. It was the worst time of all, because without that engine firing the astronauts would have been doomed to circle the moon. All three wives said that engine firing was their best Christmas present.

N.Y. Schools Attendance Low

NEW YORK (AP) — Most of New York's 1.1 million students are passing up voluntary school days during their Christmas vacation aimed at making up time lost during three teachers' strikes this Fall. Schools were open Thursday, but attendance averaged only 25 per cent. But 80 per cent of the teachers reported to work, the Board of Education said, taking advantage of a chance to make some of the pay lost when they struck.

Confusion Can Be In A Name

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — What's in a name? In Colorado, it can be confusion. Take, for example, Bald Mountain. There are at least a dozen Bald Mountains in Colorado—two in Boulder County alone. Gunnison county has a cousin mountain, Mount Baldy, and Garfield County has a Baldy mountain. There's Bald Hill in Park County and Bald Knob in La Plata County.

Communications Are Restored

ZERMATT, Switzerland (AP) — Communications between this winter sports resort and the outside world were restored today after heavy snowfalls isolated the village for 24 hours. Thousands of tourists are spending the Christmas vacation in Zermatt, beneath the Matterhorn. The only access is by a little mountain train which crawls up the valley from Brigue and Visp, and officials suspended the service Thursday because of the danger of avalanches after several days of heavy snow. Snowplows on Thursday reopened the road to Val d'Isere, another Alpine ski town. It was isolated over Christmas but the chief hardship was a power failure which stopped the ski lifts.

Christmas Saw Traffic Deaths

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic accidents across the nation during the 30-hour Christmas holiday claimed the lives of 231 persons. The record of traffic deaths for a one-day Christmas observance is 253 set in 1946. There were 107 fatalities counted during a nonholiday period of equal length two weeks ago. The National Safety Council had estimated that 280 to 300 lives might be lost in traffic mishaps from 6 p.m. Tuesday to midnight Wednesday.

Biafra Charges Attack Was Made

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Radio Biafra charged today the Nigerian army violated its Christmas Day cease-fire by shelling and attacking two towns, killing 11 soldiers and seven civilians. The breakaway African state's radio said the attacks and a Nigerian bombardment Saturday of Umuahia, the last major Biafran stronghold, were a display of bad faith by the federal government. The Nigerian head of state, Maj. Gen. Yakubu Gowon, had declared last Saturday, a Moslem feast day, and Wednesday cease-fire days. Biafra had announced an eight-day cease-fire, but the federal government rejected an extension of the truce.

Tanker Freed By Tug Boats

NEW YORK (AP) — The 167-foot coastal tanker Mary Whalen, lightened of its load of heating oil, was pulled free Thursday from the spot where she went aground in the Atlantic Ocean, off Rockaway Point, three days earlier. Her crew of seven stayed with her throughout the ordeal and ate their Christmas meal aboard, thanks to a well-prepared cook. A tug pulled the 85-ton ship off a jetty at high tide after 1,000 gallons of oil—she held 150,000 gallons—had been emptied into a barge. It was the sixth try since Monday. The 30-year-old tanker then proceeded to an oil storage depot in Bayonne, N.J. She had run aground Monday night while en route from Bayonne to Island Park, N.Y., on Long Island's South Shore. After being pumped dry, the Mary Whalen will head for a Brooklyn shipyard for repairs.

East Carolina Rallies To Down Cornell, 74-67

Virginia Holds Off Stiff Falcon Rally

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
Virginia's Cavaliers built up a 15-point edge over the Air Force last night, then had to hustle like mad to keep ahead of the Falcons and pull out a 90-85 victory. The win sends the Cavaliers into the semi-finals against East Carolina, while the Air Force goes against Cornell in the consolation bracket.

held a 5-37 edge at the half.
At the start of the second half, Virginia built back up to a 10-point edge at 58-48, with 13:02 to play. Then, for the next five minutes, the two teams did little but exchange points, with Virginia leading by eight and nine most of the time.

Miller Leads Pirates From Behind To Get Win

Reflector Sports Editor
East Carolina University, down by as much as six points with eight minutes left, kept their composure and used the fine outside shooting of Tom Miller, plus their usual foul line accuracy to overcome Cornell, 74-67, in last night's final game of the Eastern Carolina Classic opening day.

led at 12-10 with 12:36 to play. Esdaile followed that basket with one from underneath to give Cornell a four-point edge at 14-10, and again the two teams went into a basket-swapping spree.

throw, but a charity shot by Rick Collins put the Bucs back out by one.
Chapman hit to put Cornell back into the lead, and the Red held that, despite several ties by the Bucs. East Carolina tied it at 37-37 and then again at 42-42 but appeared to have trouble when it came to the crucial go-ahead shot.

Cold Streak Allows VPI To Pull Away From Hens

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
Delaware's Blue Hens were even bluer yesterday as they went into a deep freeze from the floor and got only six points in the final 10 minutes of play. The result was a 79-58 victory by Virginia Tech in the opening game of the Eastern Carolina Classic.

Then with 2:24 showing, and Delaware leading by one, Pratt drew his fifth personal and left the game, giving Delaware a killing blow.

ahead at 42-40 as King scored, and after Delaware got the lead once more, at 44-42, King put Tech ahead for good.
The Delaware basket then frosted over and the Blue Hens were out of it.

Baylor Rolls By Indians

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
The Baylor Bears shook loose from William & Mary late in the first half, and dominated play after that to roll to an 81-68 win over the Indians in the second game of yesterday's Eastern Carolina Classic first round.

four shots by Tommy Bowman and a basket by Schallorn put the Bears back in command at 19-18 with 11:18 to go.
William & Mary regained the lead at 20-21 as McLennon hit, and a foul shot by the flashy guard made the lead two.

From there on out, East Carolina was in control. Two foul shots by Keir put the Bucs into the lead. Schwarzkopf tied it up at 61-61, but Jim Gregory hit on a jumper to put the Bucs out again, and Modlin followed with a free throw to give the Bucs a three-point edge.

Long Boat Ride On A Motorboat

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — The longest cruise ever made by an outboard motorboat—Juneau, Alaska to Key West—was completed here this fall when Bill and Kathy Dimond of Hazelwood, Mo., arrived aboard their 20-foot runabout Triumph I.

Delaware and Virginia Tech had played a tight game until the Gobblers took the lead for good at 45-44 on a shot from underneath by Loyd King. From there on out, the Gobblers were ahead.

"I'm thankful that the Air Force got off to the slow start they did in the first half, because they started to play the game we knew they were capable of in the second half," stated Coach William Gibson of Virginia.

Coach Bob Spear of the Air Force felt the Virginia team had an excellent ball club.
"They are the best team we have played on our schedule this year," Spear stated. "We were tense and over anxious in the first half, and had to play catch up ball for the rest of the game due to this."

During the droush, Delaware went 6:19 without a point on the board.
The opening 30 minutes of the game were close, however. Delaware got the opening lead as Leren Pratt hit with a minute gone. McMillen gave the Hens a three-point edge before Virginia Tech finally scored with 17:07 left. But a three point play then by Dan Wetzel tied it up at 3-3. Stan Kerrick put Tech ahead on a pair of free throws, and the Gobblers pushed out to a three point lead, trading a field goal by Ron Wagner with a free throw by Pratt for Delaware.

Quinn Happy, Lacey Sad Over Play

By CARL TYER
Reflector Sports Writer

"I felt we set the game back 20 years tonight," commented Coach Jerry Lacey of Cornell last night, after his Big Red had fallen to the East Carolina Pirates, 74-67, in the final game of the opening session of the Classic.

Lacey felt the fact of his team's not playing lately was a major factor in his defeat. Lacey wasn't pleased with his team's play and felt they just weren't "sharp." Lacey changed his defense to a man to man to pick up the tempo in the first half.

"It looked as if we had nine men standing around and one man doing all the moving," Lacey commented. "Miller (of East Carolina) made the difference, we did a good job of cutting Thompson off from the outside, but we just couldn't stop Miller."

Coach Tom Quinn of East Carolina felt his team played a lousy defense, and that they threw the ball away a lot.

"We made some crucial free throws that made the difference," Quinn stated. "We were going to the boards and battling real well."

Commenting on the tournament as a whole, Quinn felt his team's George Washington win last week, plus last night's win would increase the momentum of the tournament.

"I like the field in the tournament and feel the pairings couldn't have been better for the opening round," Quinn added.

East Carolina now faces Virginia in today's round. Quinn stated he felt the Virginia team had the best defense he had seen there in the past years.

"They've got three good inside men," Quinn stated. "Miller played real well for us, Thompson has been concentrating on defense lately, and Gregory was tight tonight."

Grifton Downs Saratoga, 47-41

SARATOGA — Grifton High School split a pair of games in the Saratoga Classic last night, with the boys taking a 47-41 win and the girls falling, 41-30.

In the girls contest, Grifton slipped into an 8-6 lead in the first quarter and then had to hold on to take a 12-11 lead into the dressing room at halftime.

In the third period, Saratoga came back to outscore Grifton, 16-11 and take a 27-23 edge. The final quarter saw Grifton outscored again, 14-7, for the final margin.

Marion McLahorn led Grifton with 19 points, while Lindy Jo Weaver had 15 to lead Saratoga.

In the boys contest, Grifton pulled away to a 16-7 edge in the first period. Saratoga rallied in the second period, outscoring the Bulldogs, 12-8, but the Grifton lead held at 24-19 at the half.

In the third period, the Bulldogs took another point to their lead as the score climbed to 33-27, and both teams dumped in 14 points down the stretch to maintain the six-point lead.

Larry Sutton led Grifton with 16 points, while Charles Brock had 11.

For Saratoga, Mike Craft had 12 points.

Grifton will meet Lee Woodard in tonight's games.

Kansas Seven From 1,000th Cage Win

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Just seven more and the Kansas Jayhawks will become the first college basketball team to win 1,000 games.

Led by Olympic star Jo Jo White, the once-beaten Jayhawks won their eighth straight and career No. 993 by whipping Nebraska 82-56 in the first round of the Big Eight Holiday Tournament at Kansas City Thursday night.

White scored a career high of 29 points and stole the ball six times, resulting in five more Kansas baskets. If the Jayhawks keep winning, they figure to chalk up career victory No. 1,000 at Kansas State on Jan. 18.

The victory by the Jayhawks, ranked eighth nationally in the Associated Press poll, righted the start of the deluge of the numerous holiday tournaments between Christmas and New Year's.

Unbeaten Duquesne and Columbia made it eight and seven in a row, respectively, with victories in the All-College Tourney at Oklahoma City and the Rainbow Classic at Honolulu.

The Dukes, paced by Moe Barr's 26 points, toppled Texas A&M 93-71. Columbia, led by Jim McMillian's 25 points, almost blew a 20-point lead, but survived to down Stanford 69-66.

In other first games in the Big Eight, All-College and Rainbow Classic, Colorado trounced Oklahoma 63-56, Oklahoma City hung on to defeat Tulane 94-86 and ninth-ranked Santa Clara beat West Virginia 72-58.

Brigham Young upset California 82-74 and Oregon whipped Yale 84-71 in the opening of the Far West Classic at Portland, Ore.

Boston College, sparked by Terry Driscoll's 26 points, came from 17 points back to beat Georgia 89-83 after Northwestern's outside shooting gave the Wildcats a 76-72 victory over Florida in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville.

East Carolina took Cornell 74-67, Virginia Tech trampled Delaware 79-58, Baylor downed William and Mary 81-68 and Virginia edged the Air Force 90-85 in the East Carolina Classic at Greenville, N.C.

The night's activities cleared the decks for the start of more and more tournaments tonight.

of top-ranked UCLA against Providence and the clash between second-ranked North Carolina and fifth-ranked Villanova in New York's Holiday Festival.

Score For Virginia

Virginia's John English goes up from underneath despite the threat of 6-10 Cliff Parson's of Air Force. At left is Mike Klindt (31) of the Air Force. The Cavaliers rode an early 15-point spread to a close 90-85 victory over the Falcons, despite a magnificent rally by the Air Force. (Reflector Photo)

Eastern Carolina's Largest Saturday Night Round-Up!

ACC Teams Joining In Hectic Tourney Action

Atlantic Coast Conference basketball teams start firing this afternoon and continue far into the night in five holiday tournaments spread from North Carolina to New York.

South Carolina gets the carnival under way with an afternoon meeting with Rhode Island to open the Quaker City Tournament at Philadelphia. The eight-team tournament ends Monday night, with Sunday open.

North Carolina, ACC leader and No. 2 in the nation, plays Villanova (No. 5) tonight in the concluding first round game of the Holiday Festival at New York. Top-ranked UCLA is in the opposite bracket, paired against Providence today. If the Tar Heels and UCLA win today and Saturday they'll meet for the title and top national ranking Monday night.

A couple of two-nighters get under way at Charlotte and Raleigh.

Davidson, the nation's No. 3 team, takes on Maryland of the ACC and Wichita State tackles Texas in Charlotte Invitational openers.

The Triangle Classic at Raleigh matches North Carolina State against Navy and Wake Forest against Washington. Wake Forest takes a five-game winning streak into the tournament.

Virginia takes on East Carolina tonight in the second round of the inaugural Eastern Carolina Classic at Greenville, N.C. The Cavaliers won their tourney opener Thursday night, edging Air Force 90-85 with 63.6 per cent shooting. John Gidding and Norm Carmichael were the big guns in the Virginia victory. Gidding scored 24 points, hitting 10 of 13 shots and Carmichael connected on 10 of 11 as he scored 23 points.

The Cavaliers hustled to a 23-8 lead and were on top 45-37 at the half. Air Force cut the lead to 8-11 with 2:30 left, but Virginia again took charge and padded its lead in the stretch.

Clemson and Duke play the only conference game of the week Saturday night at Durham.

Bob Waterfield of the Los Angeles Rams holds the NFL record for most points after touchdowns in one season—58 in 1950.

ham. Duke then leaves for New Orleans and the two-day Sugar Bowl tournament opening Monday. Duke's first round foe will be Western Kentucky. Iowa and Houston meet in the other game.

Menefee Disappointed In Play Despite The Win

By CARL TYER
Reflector Sports Writer

"We have hit better, and hopefully tomorrow we'll be a little sharper," were a few comments Coach Bill Menefee had after the second round of the Eastern Carolina Classic yesterday.

Coach Menefee's Baylor Bears had handed William and Mary their eighth straight loss, but Coach Menefee felt his team didn't play up to snuff even though they did take the win.

Menefee felt William and Mary played well in the first half, especially when the Indians led the Bears by six points. A press by the Bears was the turning point in the game though, and Menefee felt the press made his team a little more active.

"The press helped us a whole lot, we were six points down and left the court eight points ahead at the half, due to the press," Menefee stated.

The Bears had a 16 point lead with three minutes left in the game and saw it cut to 13.

The Baylor coach said he tried to play his substitutes as much as possible and felt they made four or five mistakes at the last that the Indians capitalized on in cutting the lead to 13.

Coach Warren Mitchell of William and Mary felt his team lost the ball game in the first half.

"We did a better job of ball handling in the first half than in the second," Coach Mitchell stated.

The Indians got into foul trouble and the Bears were capitalizing on William and Mary's mistakes, Mitchell said of his general feelings toward the game.

"It's very hard for us to get after people," Coach Mitchell commented, "we just don't have the speed."

The Indians did play better in the first half, hitting for 57 percent from the floor, while Baylor was hitting for 44 percent. Baylor's free throws might have made some difference though, as they hit for 91 percent in the first half, to 78 for William and Mary. The foul trouble William and Mary got into in the first half would account for the free throws Baylor had.

William and Mary now faces Delaware, after Delaware lost to Virginia Tech in the opening game.

"I'm afraid I saw too much of the Delaware game," Coach Mitchell stated, "they've got a good team."

Both Coaches Praise Tech

By CARL TYER
Reflector Sports Writer

Both Coach Howie Shanon of Virginia Tech and Coach Dan Peterson of Delaware summarized the opening game of the Eastern Carolina Classic the same way, by praising the Virginia Tech team. The Tech team had taken a 79-58 victory over Delaware but Coach Peterson felt the game was much closer than the score showed.

"If we could have played five guys for 40 minutes it would have been a different game," Peterson stated. "Virginia Tech has a fine ball club, and an underrated depth. They used eight men the entire game," Peterson finally commented.

Delaware hit a cold streak in the last ten minutes, scoring six points in the last 9:19. Peterson felt the ability of the Tech team to control the backboards in the last eight minutes was the key to the Tech victory.

Delaware's second bad break was the loss of Loren Pratt in the first half due to fouls. The rest of the Delaware team is composed of four juniors and sophomores, and the inexperience was a key factor in the defeat, Peterson felt.

Meanwhile Coach Howie Shanon of Virginia Tech was praising his team also, especially for the second half.

"We played real well in the second half," Shanon stated. "Our depth helped us and hurt them."

"We didn't rebound well or shoot well in the first half," Shanon commented, "but I was pleased with our hustling in the entire game."

Shanon stated they didn't do any one thing to cause the coldness of the Delaware team in the last part of the second half.

"We tried a little double teaming and tried to cut their wires out a little, but other than that we didn't try anything special that would cause the coldness."

Last Of The Good Guys Have Orbited Moon

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Here's a quick look at the three Apollo 8 astronauts: Apollo Commander Frank Borman, 40, a veteran of the American space program, said jokingly in a preflight interview that he and his crew are "the last of the good guys."

However jokingly he intended, the harmonious conversational exchanges between ground crew sharply contrasted with the volatile Apollo 7 forerunner commanded by Walter M. Schirra. Graduated eighth in a 1950 class of 670 at the U.S. Military Academy, Borman pursued an aviation career plagued by medical problems that threatened repeatedly to ground him for life. He overcame them and was named in the September, 1962, group of astronauts.

He is an Air Force Colonel. Calm, precise and deeply religious, Borman married his high school sweetheart from Tucson, Ariz., a blue-eyed blonde named Susan. They have two sons, Frederick, 17, and Edwin, 15. Borman and Apollo space-mate James A. Lovell Jr., manned the 14-day Gemini 7 flight. Prior to the Apollo 8 mission, they had 755 combined hours in space, more than the entire Soviet cosmonaut corps. Command module pilot Lovell, also 40, was originally the back-up pilot for Michael Collins, who was forced out of the moon flight by a bone spur in his neck.

"I really came aboard with mixed emotions..." he said in a preflight news briefing. A Navy captain, Lovell graduated from the Naval Academy in 1952 and was in his fourth year as a naval test pilot when the astronaut selection began in 1959.

He was passed over for the first group but reapplied and was accepted.

Born in Cleveland, raised in Milwaukee, Lovell, like Borman, married his high school sweetheart, Marilyn Gerlach of Milwaukee. The Lovells have four children: Barbara, 15; James, 13; Susan, 10; and Jeffrey, 2.

Lovell was named by President Johnson to the Council on Physical Fitness, but says he now is only a "lame duck" consultant. He enjoys the reputation of crew comic.

Besides Gemini 7, Lovell commanded the final Gemini flight, the four-day Gemini 12. He is now the most travelled astronaut in the world.

Lunar module pilot William A.

Anders, on the other hand, is, at 35, a space rookie.

Like Lovell, he attended the Naval Academy, but chose the Air Force as a career. He is a major. Anders also attended the Air Force Institute of Technology at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Ohio and graduated with a master of science degree in nuclear engineering.

Both knowledgeable and eloquent, Anders says except for his friend Jack Riley, a NASA public affairs officer, "I guess I'm the best fisherman in the world. He (Jack) can talk them out of the water."

Anders is the son of "an old Navy battleship man" and was born in Hong Kong while his father was executive officer on the gunboat Panay cruising the rivers of China.

He and his wife, Valerie, of Lemon Grove, Calif., have five children: Alan, 11; Glen, 10; Gayle, 8; Gregory, 6; and Eric, 4.

Asked his family's reaction to the moon flight, Anders replied: "...They of course are enthused, as I am, about my opportunity to participate in this adventure." He added, however, that "They're a little bit disappointed that I'm going to be gone during Christmas."

Two Courses Will Be Offered

Two business courses, "Problems in Small Business Management" and "Fundamentals of Investing," will be offered in January on a non-credit basis by the East Carolina University Division of Continuing Education.

The courses, according to division conference coordinator Brayom Anderson, are open to any interested adult, regardless of educational background. Anderson said there are no entrance requirements other than registration and payment of tuition ($25).

"Problems in Small Business Management," to be taught by Dr. William H. Durham of the ECU School of Business, will open on Tuesday, Jan. 7. Classes will meet on 10 consecutive Tuesday nights in Room 205 of Rawl Building at ECU.

To be included will be problems in marketing, personnel, human relations, communications, advertising, salesmanship and record keeping.

"Fundamentals of Investing," a basic course in securities, will open Wednesday night, Jan. 8. Classes will meet on consecutive Wednesdays in Room 14 of Rawl Building.

Anderson said that course participants will not be required to take entrance examinations or tests during the courses. "Students in non-credit programs are not exposed to the pressures normally associated with university level courses," he said. "The objective of such courses is learning for the sake of learning."

Registration for both courses should be made prior to the first class and checks for tuition should be made payable to East Carolina University.

Survey Shows Aid To State

RALEIGH (AP) — A survey shows that North Carolina receives some $329 million in federal aid annually.

In comparison, North Carolinians paid $2.8 billion in income, excise, gift and social security taxes for the fiscal year 1967.

The Raleigh Times, which conducted the survey, said Thursday the figures were obtained from state agencies. The amount of taxes paid came from the Commissioner of Internal Revenue's annual report.

The figures indicate that the state gets back less than 25 cents for every dollar it sends to Washington.

The survey showed that the largest percentage of federal aid, about $143 million, goes to education. The state's welfare budget receives $83.8 million in federal funds.

All of the Employment Security Commission's $10.5 million came from federal sources.

About $60.2 million was received by the state Highway Commission in federal road building funds during fiscal 1968.

Other agencies receiving federal aid include: the National Guard, $14.4 million; the Department of Health, $6.4 million; the State Planning Task Force, $5.8 million; state library, $2.1 million to be channeled to local libraries; the state Agriculture Department $89,097 in cash and $2 million worth of surplus food.

It was pointed out in the survey that in addition to the taxes paid to the federal government, another $1.1 billion is paid by North Carolina tobacco processors. The money is for tobacco excise taxes and is more than half the total collected from throughout the nation on that tax.

The tobacco money was not figured in the survey total because it includes mostly taxes paid on cigarettes consumed elsewhere.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)— 955.06.
The North Carolina poultry market was generally unchanged today. Price of live poultry at the farms was 1 1/2 cents per pound.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—
The North Carolina hog market was mostly steady today. Tops of 18.25-19.00 at Wilson; 17.75-18.75 Kinston, New ern, enson, Mount Olive, Newton Grove, Albertson, Lumberton; 18.75-19.50 Selma; 17.75 - 18.25 ethel; 18.50-19.00 Siler City, Denton. Several markets were closed today.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued a mild recovery early this afternoon in moderate trading.

Gains outnumbered losses by something over 100 issues on the New York Stock Exchange. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .7 to 300.7, with industrials up 1.1, rails up .2, and utilities up .4. Most steels were a little higher. Industry sources reported that orders for steels were leveling off at a healthy position. Motors presented a mixed pattern. Chrysler was down a point. Ford gained a fraction, as did General Motors. American Motors eased. Chemicals were irregularly higher. Price increases have been in the news recently in the chemical industry. The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .81 at

The average backed away from a gain of 2.55 in the first half hour. Analysts saw the market as relying briefly on technical strength developed after a string of declines accompanied by reports of higher interest rates and tighter money. The small gain, however, did continue Thursday's modest rise, making it look more probable that the tradition of a year-end rally, small as it might be, would be maintained. Volume in the morning was only 4.85 million shares, slightly better than on Thursday's slow session. It reflected no enthusiasm. On the American Stock Exchange, most stocks were higher.

MANILA (AP) — Corazon Amurao, the lone survivor of the 1966 Chicago nurse massacre, will marry her hometown sweetheart, Alberto Atienza, a lawyer, Jan. 5. Miss Amurao, now 5, was elected a municipal councilor in San Luis after returning home from Chicago. She hid under a bed while eight other nurses were slain in a dormitory at the South Chicago Community Hospital, and has since filed a multimillion-dollar suit against the hospital. Miss Amurao was the key witness against Richard Speck, who was convicted of the killings and is now under death sentence.

Buffalo Theater Changes Players For Each Show

By WILLIAM GLOVER
BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — At Buffalo's Studio Arena Theater, you really can't tell the players without a program.

They change with every show — just one of several management strategies that make pursuit of sustained drama accomplishment different here than in most cities bitten by the culture bug.

For after testing several other paths to stability since the enterprise turned professional four years ago, Executive Producer Neal Du Brock puts audience-building first.

"Our realistic attitude is that you have to develop local interest first. Big foundations aren't going to help unless there is evidence of strong community enthusiasm," he says.

Two years ago Studio Arena — following the standard pattern in vogue elsewhere — hired a company of actors to do the entire play schedule. The box-office response didn't come up to expectations. Last season, some guests were brought in to juice up particular presentations. And for 1968-'69, fresh casts, with occasional overlap, are being used for each of the eight comedies.

Glenn Considers Try At Politics
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Former astronaut John Glenn Jr. is thinking of a second try at Ohio politics, the state Democratic chairman says.

Glenn entered the Democratic senatorial primary in 1964 but withdrew after suffering a head injury in a bathroom fall. Sen. Stephen M. Young, the Democratic incumbent, has indicated he will not run in 1970, and Gov. James A. Rhodes, a Republican, is barred by state law from seeking reelection in that year. Eugene P. O'Grady, the state chairman, declined comment on whether Glenn, the first American to orbit the Earth, would seek the State House or the Senate seat.

dramas an musicals that extend into May.

"There were more complaints about seeing the same faces in show after show than the absence of continuity now," reports Du Brock.

The effectiveness of the switch is demonstrated by a surge in ticket-buying well ahead of the preceding semester's 70-per cent of capacity attendance rate. This is a vital consideration with an operating budget of $500,000 that includes also a resident drama-school training program and some touring under a federal education grant.

Du Brock expects that if ticket sales continue at its present pace, an anticipated $120,000 deficit will be cut in half. "Buffalo is traditionally a tough theater town," he says. "But we are finding an audience out there."

Another angle to the performing situation, according to the executive producer, is that Studio Arena cannot afford to pay adequate salaries on a seasonal basis "for actors of the caliber to do brilliant repertory," but "there's no problem about attracting desired performers for short terms."

Bicyclist Hurt Here Thursday
A bicycle rider was injured here yesterday when his vehicle and a car collided at the intersection of 10th and Oak Streets.

Police said Joseph Edward Johnson Jr., of 112 North Warren St. was injured in the 2:15 p.m. with a car operated by Rebecca Marshall Starkey, 19 of Greenville.

Damage to the bicycle was set at $25 while no damage resulted to the auto. No charges were made.
