Wooden Shoes Crashing New York Fashion Scene

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Wooden shoes are clunk-clunking their way to fashion fame in New York. Actually, the Swedish-designed shoes aren't noisy—the wood is covered by rubber soles.

The silent clippers are being grabbed up by models, career girls and other fashion-minded types and predictions are that they will be seen on college campuses this fall.

Available at a Scandinavian delicatessen in New York, the shoes come in 10 styles and six colors, but white and black have been the most popular.

The most popular style resembles a Dutch shoe without a back. Soles are wood, uppers are a soft leather-looking plain or perforated material that is stapled to the wood. Other styles include a suede shoe with a strap across the instep and a sandal consisting of two crisscross inch-wide straps that buckle. The latter are more popular with girls whose feet are large.

Wooden shoes have been worn for many years by Scandinavian girls living in the city, one reason they were stocked by the delicatessen, says Hans Booge, manager of the Second Avenue food store that specializes in imported goodies, prepared delicatessen items and a smorgasbord restaurant. On a particular day, the girls in the restaurant upstairs were wearing the wooden shoes.

"We can't keep up with the demand. We sold 30,000 pair in the last six months," explains Booge. "The shoes are coming airfreight from Sweden, but we always need more, and we don't even know what sizes, colors or styles to expect. The shoes are particularly popular with nurses and beauticians who must stand on their feet for long periods. It isn't just a fad. They buy them for comfort. The arch provides more comfort than most leisure shoes," he points out.

To reach the shoe department in the back room one now goes past the delicatessen's meat balls, herrings, salads, hundreds of cheeses and other delectable foods, and Finnish reindeer rugs. Soon, there will be a special building for the shoes.

"It is the utter simplicity of the shoe that fascinates stylish people. Many people want the wooden shoes in various styles," Booge says.

At first, people with high insteps have a little difficulty with the uppers, but each batch of shoes from Sweden seems to improve on the shoe design's comfort. One long-legged model solved instep irritation the first days by wearing adhesive tape across her instep where the upper part of the shoe rubs.

"It looks a little crazy," she confided. "But I'm not going to stop wearing the shoes because my instep is a little high. I love them."

The Baby Eats While Preschooler Cooks

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Food Editor

No doubt about it, Mom has to pay attention to feeding the baby. She not only has to get his food ready, but she has to see that he downs it.

So while Mother feeds Baby his daily supper and prepares the rest of the family's meal, what happens to the preschooler who's big enough to have supper later with Daddy and Mother. It's just at this period that the older child is likely to get jealous of the attention Mother has to give Baby; the preschooler wants some solicitude, too.

One way to keep everyone happy is to welcome the preschooler into the kitchen and around supper-time to do some "grown-up jobs." One mother we know with a baby boy and a four-year-old daughter lets her older youngster "help" in various ways. The small girl calls this "cooking" and gets a big bang out of doing what Baby Brother obviously can't accomplish. If you try this scheme, keep your own child's particular age and abilities in mind and suggest jobs she is capable of. Here are some tasks a little girl likes to do.

1. Take Baby's pretzels out of the package—a new product for leathers and toddlers—and "arrange" some for him and herself on a paper plate.
2. Set the table.
3. Decorate cookies that are to be baked. If Mother slices a roll of refrigerator dough and has the slices ready on a cookie sheet, Daughter can sprinkle them with sugar or add a garnish of raisins, nuts or gum drops.

4. Peel hard-cooked eggs. These may be wrapped and refrigerated for use next day.
5. Tear lettuce or other greens for the salad bowl.
6. Crush crackers—plain or graham—with a rolling pin for crumbs for Mother.
7. Make a miniature centerpiece for the dining table.
8. Shape hamburgers. After Mother portions out the meat, the preschooler enjoys shaping it into patties.
9. Wash dishes. You'll have to provide a broad-base stool so she can stand in front of the sink. Her washing can consist of sudsing and rinsing such unbreakable dishes as metal or plastic measuring spoons and cups and bowls and an egg beater.
10. Get Baby's last course ready. The preschooler will enjoy spooning out a baby-food treat and probably will want to spoon out some for herself. For the dessert she may want to choose raspberry cobbler or blueberry buckle—two new baby-food creations.

Changed His Mind After Leg Broken

ANTWERP, Belgium (WNS)—Eddy Spaeken told Gerba Vanders that he wanted to call off their engagement because he had fallen in love with an older woman the 20-year-old girl threw him down the stairs. "It broke his leg, and then I nursed him back to health so lovingly that he changed his mind," said Miss Spaeken, who will become Mrs. Vanders next month, "three days after my 2st birthday."

Industry Of Wigmaking In Far East Sees A Big Boom

By PRISCILLA LAU

HONG KONG (UPI)—If that woman across the table is a blonde at breakfast, a red head at lunch and a brunette at dinner, she's probably wearing wigs made in Hong Kong or hair from Indonesia or India.

Five years ago wigmaking was an infant industry here with exports totaling only about $1.3 million a year. But last year exports totaled about $53 million and this year will be in the neighborhood of $70 million. Orders are coming in about as fast as makers can handle them. The United States is the biggest buyer of Hong Kong-made wigs, taking about 75 percent of all exports. The remainder go to West Germany, Great Britain, Switzerland and other West European countries.

"Hong Kong has become the biggest supplier of human hair wigs in the world," according to James D. McGregor, assistant director of the government's commerce and industry department. "Our major competitor is South Korea," he added. He cited the lower labor cost there as the principal factor.

Until 1962, there was only a handful of wig factories in Hong Kong, doing only subsistence-level business. Then—boom.

Hau Cheuk-sun, who owns Hong Kong's oldest wig factory, told of the sudden change, in an interview.

"My grandfather started the business before World War II in Canton and moved to Hong Kong in about 1938," Hau said. "It was the only company making wigs for the Chinese opera. We had no orders outside China except for a few from southeast Asian Chinese communities.

"Then, all of a sudden, in 1962, there was a wig boom and orders rushed in, mainly from the United States. The old traditional business quickly became a modern industry with the addition of many new factories."

By the end of 1968, there were about 200 factories in Hong Kong employing more than 15,000 workers, mostly girls.

This impressive growth has been achieved despite a serious setback in 1965 when the United States clamped a ban on wigs containing hair purchased in Communist China.

After about six months of negotiations, an agreement was reached under which the Hong Kong Department of Commerce and Industry would keep close watch on the origin of hair used in wigs destined for the American market.

This was arranged under a control system already in effect for other products and under which certificates of origin are issued by the department to attest to the fact that none of the ingredients in a product originated in Communist China.

But for that matter what is wrong with carpentry, plumbing, masonry and allied non-ulcer-making jobs. Many of these crafts have apprentice programs. Parents might put the wad they'd saved for Junior's masters degree into business ventures of this type, one to which he might be better suited.

If terminology must change to interest young people—and their parents—in some jobs, here are some ideas:

- Cabinet maker—Wood artisan
- Appliance repairman—Household Engineer
- Carpenter—Wood Craftsman
- Plumber—Pipe Pilot

Snob-Job Attitude Hampers Creativity

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

A washing machine repairman complains that he can't get helpers because parents object to their sons doing such work.

A laundry industrialist finds it difficult to get girls to iron shirts.

Employers advertise for assistants rather than typists, stenographers, clerks because parents are more approving of a job that carries an executive-sounding title.

What gives? It is the poorer parents who have adopted a snob-job outlook. They don't want young people to do a job that sounds menial.

One 18-year-old high school senior explains: "My grandfather was a day laborer, my father is a factory foreman. When I tell my parents that I'd like to be a cabinet-maker because I love carving, they get hysterical. My parents have denied themselves necessities to save for my college education. Should I leave home and do my own thing... and break their hearts?"

This young man might assuage his parents if they accompanied him to a great school of design to see the emphasis on creative work—textiles, cabinetry, and so on. Then they won't equate cabinet-making with mere wood whittling on the back porch. Perhaps he could attend a junior college before going on to design school, studying the arts and social cultures that would contribute to his knowledge of crafts. This should make his family happy and help prepare him for adulthood.

Young people certainly need to experiment if they feel the urge. What would have happened if the parents of Galileo, Ben Franklin, Sam Morse, Edison, Ford and other inventors had curbed their youthful curiosities.

No parent wants to see a child goof-off in a dead-end pursuit. But if a girl or boy honestly believed that a particular field is for them, they argue that they should be allowed to try their wings. One knows from studying the early lives of certain musicians and artists that many were born to do their thing. Why not cabinet-making?

Choice Was Easy For Future Actress

GRASSE, France (WNS) — Martin Fabian, 8, who was born and brought up in this French Riviera town famous for its perfume factories, has a perfect nose for scents but has turned down a career in perfume. "Trouble is that her pretty nose also attracted the attention of movie scouts who have offered her a film career in Paris. 'The choice was easy,'" said the future actress.

"Working with perfumes, I am not allowed to eat garlic. The film producers assure me that I shall have no such limitations with leading men, even in the love scenes."

Customers Don't Want To Be Heart Transplant Donors

PLYMOUTH, England (WNS) — Rex Zeta, a tattoo artist whose customers are usually sailors, has reported that he now has clients "of both-sexes" who do not want to be heart-transplant donors and have him put the message, "No Transplants," on them permanently. For several women, he has tattooed a picture of a heart on their breasts with the notation across them. "The ladies prefer to have the tattoos hidden by their brassieres," Zeta reported.

MRS. JEFFREY STANN

Miss Mary Divine Speaks To Junior Woman's Club

Miss Mary Divine presented the program at the meeting of the Junior Woman's Club of Greenville held last night.

Miss Divine is eastern district supervisor for the Children's Home Society in Greenville. She briefly told of the program of the Children's Home Society and of the ways in which Junior Women's Clubs across the state assist the organization.

Mrs. Sara West, president, presided at the meeting and welcomed members and guests. Mrs. Phyllis Robbins, a transfer from Salisbury, was recognized.

Guests present included Mrs. Paula Kerman, Mrs. Susan Smith, Mrs. Judy Coulter, Mrs. Bobbie Clark, Mrs. Kay Tice, Mrs. Kay Ullam, Mrs. Kay Wilford and Mrs. Irene Armstrong.

Mrs. Jane Hulsey, chairman of the Conservation Department, announced winners in the home beautification contest: Mrs. Winnie Weeden, first, and Mrs. Phoebe Claud, second.

The local club will host the fall meeting of District 15 on Oct. 21. The meeting will be held at the First Christian Church. Serving on a planning committee for the meeting are Mrs. Hulsey, Mrs. West, Mrs. Bunny Arnette, Mrs. Mickie Savage, and Miss Helen Hawes.

A committee to make revisions to the club constitution was appointed by Mrs. West as follows: Mrs. Betty Chapman, Mrs. Betty Tart, and Mrs. Jackie Bond, club advisor. The committee will meet Sept. 10 at the home of Mrs. West.

A new slate of officers for 1970 was presented to the club. Mrs. West announced that she had received a letter from the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation expressing their appreciation for the cystic fibrosis machine the club gave to Pitt Memorial Hospital.

The club will conduct a rummage sale on Saturday, Sept. 13, from 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. at the parking lot in front of the old Zip Mart bldg. on W. Fifth Street.

BRENTWOOD, Tenn.—Brentwood United Methodist Church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Patsy Flanagan Haley and Jeffrey Stann on Saturday at 4:30 p.m.

Dr. Walter Hærrelson, dean of the Divinity School of Vanderbilt University, and the Rev. William Boatman, head of the Catholic Student Center at Vanderbilt University, officiated at the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father wore a gown of ivory silk peau de soie with an empire bodice, portrait neckline and long sleeves applied with re-embroidered alençon lace.

Miss Susan Harland of Atlanta Ga., was maid of honor. Mrs. Thomas Heidtke of Ann Arbor, Mich., sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid.

The bridegroom's father was best man. Ushers were Wallis McClain of St. Louis, Mo., John Davenport Neville of Spring Hope and Greenville, N.C., cousin of the bride, Phillip Hester of Charlotte, N.C., and William L. Wood of Nashville, Tenn.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Brabson Haley Jr. of Brentwood and Col. and Mrs. Eugene Jeffrey Stann of Orinda, Calif. The bride is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Fleming Davenport Sr. of Greenville, N. C.

The bride is a graduate of Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., and was a member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority. The bridegroom received his B.A. degree, cum laude, and a M.A. degree from Vanderbilt University, where he is a doctoral candidate. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and has studied at the University of Madrid and the Universidad del Valle in Cali, Colombia.

A reception was held at the Brentwood Coutry Club after the wedding ceremony.

Mrs. Sue May Is Club Speaker

Mrs. Sue May presented a program on credit at the meeting of the Pactolus Extension Home-makers held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Sam Bowers Sr.

Mrs. Nathan Smith presided at the meeting and devotional was given by Mrs. Hilton Verneison.

Mrs. D. R. House Jr. was a guest for the meeting. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Noel Lee and Mrs. Bowers.

Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Bissette were in Greensboro during the weekend and attended funeral services on Sunday for Mrs. Bissette's aunt, Mrs. Bertha Buhman.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Near where I live is a creek, which naturally is a big attraction to the adventuresome little neighborhood boys.

One day I was surprised to hear the father of one of the boys tell the whole bunch that there were monsters in the creek, and if they palyed near it, the monsters would catch them.

I disapproved of this "scare technique" from the start, but

Bridge Winners Are Announced

The Wednesday Afternoon Duplicate Bridge Club held its regular meeting at Planters Bank North-South winners were:

Mrs. J. S. Willard and Mrs. Harold Forbes, first; Mrs. Irvin Alder and J. B. Green, second;

Mrs. L. D. Harris and Mrs. Clifton Toler, third

East-West winners included: David Proctor and Earl Fisher, first; Mrs. Phillip Clark and Mrs. George Martin Jr., second; Mrs. Eli Bloom and Mrs. Fred Sorensen, third.

Winners in the Wednesday morning game were: Mrs. Pauline Pearson and Mrs. Ralph Sullivan, first; Mrs. Guy Smith Sr. and Mrs. L. L. Rives, second; Mrs. E. J. Edminister and Mrs. Van Jones, third.

just kept my mouth shut.

It's true that the boys don't play near the creek any more, but I think more harm than good was done by that monster story. Today I had a sobbing bunch of kids in my living room. They were afraid to leave because "the monsters are out there." (This was in broad daylight. I wonder what they dream about?)

I also wonder what will happen when Junior finds out that Daddy lied to him.

Personally I think it is wrong to lie to children to make them behave. Good old fashioned (and honest) discipline builds better characters in the long run.

As it says in Proverbs 22:6: "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it."

What do you say, Abby?

TRUTHFUL RANGER

DEAR RANGER: I'm with Proverbs.

DEAR ABBY: I suppose a 29-year-old-girl should know better than to get herself in a fix like this, but it's too late now.

Billy got me in a family way.

(He is 42.) He said he would marry me right after harvest time. He didn't have any cash on hand so I bought myself a set of rings and started right off wearing the wedding band because I was starting to show. I paid 30 dollars down on the rings and 2 dollars a week. Then I had a miscarriage. Billy says there is no sense in marrying me now. So now I am stuck with no husband, no baby, and a set of rings. What should I do?

LULU

DEAR LULU: I think you're well rid of a man who might not have gotten around to marrying you at all. I don't know how long you've had the rings, but perhaps the jeweler will take them back if you agree to stand some loss. Under the circumstances I think you came out ahead. And by the way, next time, use yours.

DEAR ABBY: I know a man who insists that there is no such thing between a man and a woman as a "platonic" friendship. He says that given the time and opportunity they will form a physical relationship. What do you think?

DEAR MITZIE: I think anyone who would subscribe to such a theory is admitting that he is incapable of holding the interest of a member of the opposite sex without a physical relationship.

DEAR ABBY: Ask the man who owns the mute parakeet if he knows whether he has a male or female bird. If he has a female, he had better forget about trying to get it to talk because only the males talk.

And by the way, Abby, do YOU know how to tell the difference between a male and female parakeet? And don't tell me that it matters only to another parakeet.

PARAKEET OWNER DEAR OWNER: The male parakeet has a bluish, brownish stripe across his beak. The female beak is clear. Ha!

Poor Argument Against Med School

One of the poorest arguments we have heard against location of a medical school at East Carolina University is the one that there are other areas that have more people and thus more patients.

If this argument had been followed throughout North Carolina's history then it is possible that the state's first medical school would never have been located in the then little village of Chapel Hill. This would have been regrettable since the basic science and other undergraduate programs were developed at the state university there to support the medical school.

Now it is clear to most unbiased observers that the time has come to develop a second medical school — particularly since a decade will pass before the first physicians can be graduated. It is obvious to us that given the size of the university and all that has been done to improve basic sciences in recent years, East Carolina University is the logical location for the school.

So far as the population matter goes, a teaching hospital at East Carolina University would serve a broad area of Eastern North Carolina. The fact that there are 411,825 people (1960 census) living within 50 miles of Greenville bears out the contention that there would be ample cases for the young medical students to study here.

The argument that a new state medical school should be put in the largest population area is self-defeating. If it were followed to its logical conclusion there would never be any more federal funds spent for medical schools in this state. Since half of the funds for medical school construction come from the federal government it is doubtful there would ever be another medical school or even expansion of the present one. Obviously all such funds would have to be spent in the largest cities of the nation.

This clearly is not a logical situation, just as it is not logical to say that the state should build a new medical school in the largest metropolitan area, excluding all other areas on this criteria alone.

Not only does the present population within a 50 mile radius of Greenville show support for a medical school, but this area is also a growing one. The cities of Wilson, Rocky Mount, Tarboro, Washington, Williamston, Greenville, Farmville, Goldsboro, New Bern, and Kinston are all expected to show healthy increases in the 1970 census. With industry now coming in, growth during the 1970s should be even greater.

The population is here to support an East Carolina University medical school and so are the basic undergraduate programs. Development of a medical education program should proceed as rapidly as possible.

A Tougher Job For Manhunter

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES

Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH — The man who organized the biggest criminal manhunt in the state's history now has been given an even bigger, tougher job.

The goal is saving of lives and property on the highways. The jobs is that of commanding officer of the State Highway Patrol.

Administratively the SHP is in the Department of Motor Vehicles.

Governor Scott moved rather quickly however to announce Guy's promotion in order to head off any internal politics and possible dissension in patrol ranks.

The former commander, Col. Charles Speed, was reassigned coordinator of the governor's highway safety program less than a week earlier.

Funds — It is of interest to note that the new State Highway Commission has made public the exact amounts of discretionary funds available for each of the 23 commissioners.

These are funds which individual commissioners may spend as they choose for primary, urban and secondary projects within their districts. Overall, the amount is about 24 million—or slightly more than $1 million for each commissioner during this fiscal year.

In the past the amounts of unallocated money provided for individual commissioners to spend at their discretion seldom were made public.

Amounts — The amounts for primary and urban use are decided on a highway system mileage basis.

Largest amounts for urban projects include $388,000 for T. L. Smith (Alamance, Guilford, Randolph and Rockingham counties); $325,000 for Charles Maxwell (Gastin, Mecklenburg); $298,000 each for W. G. Clark III (Edgecombe, Greene, Wayne and Wilson) and Cliff Benson (Durham, Franklin, Orange and Wake).

Largest primary amounts included $318,000 for D. R. Parnell (Brunswick, Columbus, Robeson and Scotland); $309,000 for Jack Kirksey (Avery, Buncombe, Burke, Caldwell, McDowell and Rutherford).

Unallocated funds for secondary projects are set up county by county based on un-paved mileage in each county, and this money cannot be transferred from one county to another. A total of $16 million—by far the largest amount—was set up for secondary road projects.

WILLIAM SHIRES

The man is square jawed hard fisted Edwin C. Guy, 52, a veteran of 30 years on the patrol.

A mountain man — native of Avery County — Guy is Gov. Bob Scott's choice to boss the 900 man patrol which is recognized as one of the nation's most outstanding and efficient law enforcement organizations. He has been promoted to colonel and moved up from his post as executive officer.

Career — Before moving to patrol headquarters in Raleigh, Guy served several years in charge of SHP Troop F in Asheville, having moved there in 1958 from Rockingham.

He held the rank of sergeant in charge of the district at Rockingham when two troopers, Reece and Brown, were shot and killed — the first near Ellerbe, the second near Sanford.

Guy launched and led the manhunt that spread across the state that night and later across the nation, resulting in the eventual capture and conviction of killer Frank Edward Wetzel.

Still earlier, Guy, a former college boxer, served in highway patrol posts in Franklin, Bryson City and Kannapolis.

Moved — It had been rumored for some time that Guy would be chosen for the top uniformed post on the

Demolition Stirs A Touch Of Nostalgia

It is a nostalgic time when a building filled with so many rich memories as the old junior high holds comes to its end. That time, however, has arrived.

Workmen have begun the job of demolishing the burned out structure.

Thousands of Greenville's young people — many of them now living in far off places — studied there. For many years it was Greenville High School. Then it became the junior high.

The building was already scheduled for demolition when a huge fire took it out of service last year. Since then, it has stood gaunt and dark for too long. The memories burned with the building and it is time to come down.

Plot To Unseat House Speaker

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Secretly plotting 16 months in advance, liberal Democratic Congressmen now agree the best bet to topple 77-year-old John McCormack as Speaker of the House is his own Majority Leader: Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma.

Thus, during the next six months, leaders of the liberal Democratic Study Group (DSG) in the House will quietly approach Albert to test his interest. But even if Albert is unresponsive, the McCormack purge effort will move forward.

That's because a surprisingly wide spectrum of Democratic Congressmen ranging from moderate to radical conclude that McCormack is hopelessly unresponsive to rank-and-file House Democrats and incapable of effective leadership against the Nixon administration. McCormack's inflexible support of President Nixon's surtax opposed by the majority of Democrats eroded much of his remaining liberal support.

Having made this hard determination to prevent McCormack's reelection as Speaker in January, 1971, the DSG leaders want no repetition of January, 1969, when a last-minute, improvised effort by Rep. Morris Udall of Arizona to oust McCormack was defeated, 178 to 58. This time, alternative battle plans are being prepared, in this order of preference:

Plan No. 1: Run Albert, 61, against McCormack. In turn, a DSG liberal—probably Udall, 47, or James O'Hara, 44, of Michigan—would succeed Albert as Majority Leader. Rep. Hale Boggs, 55, of Louisiana, would then be replaced by another moderate Southerner as Majority Whip, third spot in the hierarchy and an appointive post, by the new Speaker. The DSG is determined to remove Boggs from the leadership.

Plan No. 2: If Albert declines, Rep. Wilbur Mills, 60, of Arkansas, Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, would oppose McCormack. In that case, an effort would be made to replace Albert as Majority Leader with either Udall or O'Hara to balance the ticket with Mills. Again, Boggs would be replaced, probably by a Northerner.

Plan No. 3: If neither Albert nor Mills is willing, a DSG liberal—probably Udall—would challenge McCormack. In that event, Albert would go unopposed for Majority Leader but Boggs would still be a target for replacement.

Although New Leftists ridicule Albert for his poor performance as permanent chairman at the Chicago convention and young liberal Congressmen bracket him with McCormack, older DSG heads know better. They feel Albert would have made an outstanding Majority Leader had it not been for McCormack's drag on him. More-

Strength For Today

THE OLD OFTEN GOOD Sometimes in our reading of the Bible we encounter certain characters who appear dull and perhaps unworthy. Isaac was one of these. He suffered from being the son of a great father and the father of a distinguished son.

The best thing he did was to dig again the wells of water which Abraham his father had dug and which the Philistines had stopped and filled with earth.

But was that an insignificant achievement? The old wells are often good—more than we are willing to admit. The most fundamental and useful things in invention and art are old; the basic doctrines and virtues have been known and used from ancient times. The Bible is a very old book, but that is nothing against it for it reflects life as it is in every age. Homer and Shakespeare are literature, and these old poets are glorious suns in the literary firmament.

Prayer is one of the oldest wells of religion and is still one of the most vital. Christ as Teacher, Lord and Savior may appear to many as an ancient figure, but what would the world today be if he had not lived, and who has arisen to displace him from the supreme place in the thoughts and affections of men?

HEAVY HAUL

by JAMES KILPATRICK

Salty Words By Pepper

Thirty years ago, when Claude Pepper was serving in the Senate, conservatives used to regard him with horror. He was a liberal's liberal, with a tabasco tongue and a fiery eye. In 1950, when defeat knocked him off, we shed no tears. But time has mellowed the old "Red" Pepper. He'll be 69 next week (September 9). He's now serving his fourth term in the House— one of only a few score men in history to serve first in the Senate and later in the House—and he's doing an especially able job in the field of crime and punishment.

With no further introduction, as they say on the chicken salad circuit, let me offer the floor to the gentleman from Dade County, chairman of the House Select Committee on Crime. He is thinking aloud on some dismaying truths that have emerged from six weeks of hearings:

"We didn't need these hearings for the purpose of discovering that crime exists. We all know too well that the fear of crime pervades the nation, and that political candidates are being elected on the law and order banner. The real message from our hearings is that despite this omnipresent fear and the public outcry for law and order, we are doing relatively little to meet the crime problem. "A real paradox exists.

While we all clamor for the control of crime, most actions that must be taken are apparently among the lowest priorities for government action. During the past decade, juvenile crime has had an alarming increase out of all proportion with the increase in overall crime. Arrests of juveniles for narcotics offenses has increased 800 per cent, yet Federal expenditures for juvenile delinquency prevention and control received a mere $5 million appropriation last year.

"In a recent column touching upon the problems of recidivism in crime, you noted the shocking fact that many prisoners serve six or eight terms. We can agree, I'm afraid, that some of these are beyond even the best of training programs. We need to concentrate more effort on the first offender, developing some vocational as well as moral standards that will encourage him to go straight.

"Our nation has no national or sensible program for corrections and rehabilitation. Our correctional programs are largely a relic of another age. They just do not correct. We have been told by many experts that youthful offenders would be better off—and so would society—if they were never caught. It is an abomination that a society that consecrates human values could permit the sordid and inhuman practices that take place in some of these institutions.

"There is no more important matter in the entire criminal justice system than the matter of corrections and rehabilitation. Until recently the problem had been ignored by the Federal as well as State and local governments. Now I understand that the administration is about to unveil a new proposal for the establishment of a national corrections program, apparently under the aegis of the Federal Bureau of Prisons, with the entire program being under the control of the Department of Justice.

"I have grave reservations. Perhaps the time has come for Congress to create a new independent agency which could focus entirely on new

Norwegian Experiment May Be Worth Watching

A 20 per cent value-added tax goes into effect in Norway on Jan. 1, 1970. The tax, 20 per cent on the value added to all products by the manufacturer, will replace a 13.64 per cent sales tax. Exports are exempt.

The value-added tax has been talked up quite a bit in the U. S. A., largely as a substitute for sales taxes. The Norwegian experiment in this may be of value to American legislators. It can show whether the idea is practical, or whether it is just another scheme to get more money out of the common people.

United On Ho's Death

By GEORGE McARTHUR

SAIGON (AP) — North and South Vietnam are briefly united today by the death of Ho Chi Minh, united in the recognition on all sides that one of history's dominant figures has left the stage.

Even among his many and bitter enemies there is no gloating.

In both the North and South, apprehension for the future lies heavily on the emotions brought forth by the death of the frail, 79-year-old leader.

The moment of unity is unlikely to alter the course of the war or seriously diminish the fierce divisions among the Vietnamese. In their announcement of Ho's death, the tight little group of men at the top of North Vietnam's Communist party called simultaneously for the pomp and pageantry of a state funeral and an intensified war effort to win the South by force.

There was little expectation among any official sources that the death of the man who dominated the Vietnamese scene for 24 years would bring sudden developments at the Paris peace talks. Rather there was a feeling that the new men in Hanoi would stand firmer than ever to prove their devotion to Ho's aims.

The eight men left on the party Politburo are variously labeled pro-Moscow or pro-Peking, but largely for convenience. Many Vietnamese experts have long laughed at such labels and called them gross oversimplifications. The men of the Politburo, these experts say, are pro-Vietnamese Communists, with the interests of Vietnamese communism coming first.

Undoubtedly there is a power struggle in the offing. It will depend, many say, on how the party's 43-man central committee is swayed. Outsiders have only the vaguest idea of the workings of this group.

North Vietnam has been beset by floods, and this will probably be the worst crop year in a decade or more. Both agriculture and the small industrial base are painfully short of manpower, a situation aggravated terribly by the continuing war.

Hanoi newspapers have openly deplored flagging morale and productivity.

It is evident that the war could not be maintained in the face of these troubles without the continued support of Peking and Moscow. In the past, Ho was masterful in fending off the two Communist giants and holding to a middle way.

Some think that the rivalries within the party are being wishfully magnified. These observers point out that the Vietnamese Communist party is the only political party that has ever operated effectively in Vietnam for any length of time on a major scale.

Others point to the volatile nature of the Vietnamese and say that regardless of the party's strength, the men at its head will fight until one comes out on top.

Airlines Don't Tell The Score

By ELMER ROESSNER

When a traveler selects an airline for a journey, he usually wants to know: What is its safety record? How wide are the seats? What movie is showing? What's the line's on-time score? What's its lost baggage record?

Yet these are the things that airlines almost never advertise.

The safety angle is taboo. The airline industry fears to remind prospective customers that planes sometimes have accidents. They kill and injure fewer people than autos but airlines never say that, except through industry associations. A line boasting of its safety record might jinx itself. Besides, imagine its embarrassment if it was advertising its safety the day one of its ships took off the top of a mountain!

What They Do Advertise American Airlines is partially an exception. It advertises its ground care of its ships. It takes "the whole plane apart, piece by piece." That leaves the reader to hope they don't have any pieces left over when they put them back together. It has one reassuring line: "If your automobile got the same kind of attention, it would last for 100 years."

But most airlines, and American is guilty of this too, advertise the quality of the food, the charm of their hostesses and the decor of their ships. TWA is advertising that employees can win bonuses for making passengers happy. BOAC tell readers that "somebody up there cares." Eastern is spending $12 million to advertise it has a new fuel: employees smiles. Air India advertises a lot of "nice" aboard.

ver, Albert managed to keep firm's length from the surtaxiasco that so discredited McCormack and Boggs.

Udall privately approached Albert last December and offered to yield in his favor if Albert himself could challenge McCormack. Albert declined, partially on grounds that this would be McCormack's last hurrah. But how his reply might be favorable. There is no certainty that Albert, a cardiac case, will outlive the healthy old Speaker. "Frankly," a senior Democratic Congressman told us, "I think Carl's a little tired of waiting."

If so, Albert would be a good shot to scare McCormack into resignation or defeat him in the caucus. This time, McCormack will not be able to sew up commitments by strolling through the members' dining room as he did in 1968, collecting early pledges from Congressmen unaware of any contest looming. Others who voted for McCormack against Udall on the assumption he would not seek another term are now ripe to oppose.

approaches in the area of corrections. Such an agency could lead the states, counties and cities out of the medieval grip of penology in which our local jurisdictions appear to be mired.

"I suppose that the heart of our difficulties in meeting the crime problem is symptomatic of what besets our society and our nation. We are confronted with the monumental national problem of determining priorities for Federal action. The time for major corrective action is long overdue. The crime problem can be met only by resigning ourselves to a massive Federal effort involving a large Federal expenditure. Local communities have generally reached the limits of their financial resources."

The prospect of massive Federal outlays in an area of State and local responsibility holds small appeal, but Pepper is plainly right. Those in Congress who holler most loudly of crime must back up their words with new infusions of money.

ney, 79, who died Wednesday morning from a heart attack, will be conducted Friday at 11 a. m. at the First United Methodist Church here with the Rev. Kelly J. Wilson Jr. officiating. Burial will follow in the Oakdale Cemetery.

Mr. Hackney organized the J. A. Hackney and Sons, manufacturer of truck bodies, in Washington in 1958 and served as president of the company until 1965 when he was named chairman of the board. Mr. Hackney was still active in the business at the time of his death. He served as the first president of the Washington Urban Renewal program, charter member of the Rotary Club and a member of the Rotary Club and a member of the Beaufort County Wildlife Club. He served on the Board of Stewards and Board of Trustees of the First United Methodist Church. He was a graduate of Oak Ridge Military Academy and the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mae Ayers Hackney of Washington, two daughters, Mrs. Harold Thomas of Greenville and Mrs. John Ames of Marion, Ala.; two sons, James A. Jr. of Washington, and William A. Hackney of Arcadia, Fla.; 18 grandchildren; six great grandchildren.

Two sisters, Mrs. Harvey Ruffin and Mrs. Norwood Thomas, both of Wilson; two brothers, Thomas J. Hackney and John M. Hackney, both of Wilson.

People Seem 'Friendlier' To Policeman In Civvies

By JOHN BREWER
Associated Press Writer

BLYTHE, Calif. (AP) — What happens when a small-town policeman sheds his uniform for civilian-style clothes?

"Well, people seem a lot friendlier," according to Sgt. W. H. Ketchum. "Since we change to blazers and slacks they seem to see us more as human beings. The officers and the community are more relaxed with each other."

Ketchum is one of 18 deputy sheriffs in the desert farming town of Blythe, population 8,000, near the Arizona border. Gone are the traditional uniforms, helmets and black boots. Replaced by green double-breasted blazers, shirts, ties and slacks.

Sheriff Bernard Clark, in charge of the eight-month experiment, says the idea is "to see if there's any truth to the theory an officer's uniform impedes his work." The first reaction among police officials has been that it's a good idea for administrative types but not so good for street patrols.

Blythe citizens will be surveyed this month for their reactions.

Blythe's program is modeled after one in Dover Township, N.J., where for three years men in the ranks between chief and sergeant have worn blazers. Clark says Blythe is the first to put all officers, including patrolmen, into casual attire.

The town is deemed a good test area as it is isolated from other towns, has a cross section of farmers and businessmen, and 25 per cent of residents are Negroes or Mexican-Americans.

Only identifying symbol on the blazers is a badge-shaped pocket crest. Officers carry guns, bullets and handcuffs under their jackets. Helmets and sticks are kept in squad cars.

Clark says he expects the experiment to show two things: "First an increase in the crime rate. Silly? No. Normally, only about 60 to 70 per cent of crimes are reported. If you establish better communication you're going to learn about more crimes. Second, an increased crime clearance rate. With better communication, the community will help solve more crimes."

Jacksonville and Fort Lauderdale, Fla., are testing blazers for ranking officers. Miami

Road Priority In New Bern Area

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Highway Commission has assigned top priority to two major road projects in the New Bern area, according to highway commissioner Arthur Tripp of Greenville.

Tripp told the Highway U.S. 70 Association in New Bern Wednesday the projects call for four-laning of 15 miles of U.S. 70 from Dover to New Bern and the building of a U.S. 70 bypass of New Bern which would call for a new bridge across the Trent River.

Highway officials in Raleigh estimated the jobs would cost about $15 million.

Dr. Dan Jordan Plans Assume Post At ECU

BETHEL — Dr. Dan Jordan of Bethel will assume duties as assistant director of the Student Health Service at East Carolina University October 1 and close his private practice in Bethel.

A Greenville native, Dr. Jordan attended Greenville High School, East Carolina University and received his medical degree from the Medical College of Virginia in 1948. He entered private practice in Bethel in 1960 after completing his residency in Cleveland, Ohio.

Dr. Fred Irons, director of the University's Student Health Services said, "we feel very fortunate in having Dr. Jordan, who is an alumnus of East Carolina. He is particularly interested in our institution, as well as our students, and our staff. He comes to us particularly well prepared, having been in the practice of general medicine for about 18 years.

With the addition of Dr. Jordan to the University health staff, the infirmary will have two full-time physicians and three part-time staff members-physicians.

Medical doctors serving on a part-time basis with the Student Health Service include Dr. Charles Adams, Dr. Harriet Woolen and Dr. Alfred Yergue consulting psychiatrist.

Report Fortas Going To Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Post says former Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas plans to re-enter the practice of law in the nation's capital this autumn.

Fortas resigned from the court last May 15 under fire for his dealings with the family foundation of financier Louis E. Wolfson, later convicted of violating the federal securities law. The ex-justice formerly was a member of the Washington law firm of Arnold I. Pirtler.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force will announce soon a cutback of about 50,000 officers and men.

This will bring the overall reduction of U.S. armed forces past the 1,500,000 mark as the services comply with orders to economize.

Details as to how the cutback will be applied throughout the Air Force still have not been buttoned down, sources said.

The Air Force's cost-saving drive may lead to fewer squadrons and further base closings. The Pentagon already has dis-

Turmoil Curbs Signed Into Law

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Two bills designed to curb campus turmoil were signed into law Wednesday by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The new laws provide criminal penalties for persons who are ordered to leave campuses and return without permission. They also revoke state financial aid for students taking part in campus disorders.

The Republican governor, who originally called for even firmer penalties against campus disruption, said: "The people of this state... will no longer tolerate public assistance to students who reciprocate by destroying the very institutions this assistance enables them to attend. We will not pay for our own destruction."

closed plans to slash the Army by 34,000 men and the Navy by 72,000 men and 76 ships. Additional retirements of Navy vessels are expected.

Nothing has been said yet about Marine Corps troop cuts. Pentagon officials said these probably will be relatively light.

With obvious reluctance, Secretary of Defense Melvin R.

Laird announced on Aug. 21 that the armed services will have to absorb an additional $3 billion spending slash this fiscal year.

Blaming the Democratic-controlled Congress, Laird warned that "there will be an inevitable weakening of our worldwide military posture."

Although the Nixon administration has looked ahead to armed force reductions as the U.S. commitment in Vietnam is scaled down, it had not planned on moving this far this fast.

The expected Air Force manpower reduction, together with the Army and Navy cutbacks, will bring the total of U.S. armed forces close to 3.3 million men, about the level of late 1966 but still about 600,000 above the 2.7 million in uniform when the Vietnam war buildup developed in the summer of 1965.

According to sources, the current thinking involves a reduction of 44,000 Air Force enlisted men and about 6,000 officers.

The slimming down will be accomplished, not by mass releases of men but by taking in the fewer replacements for men war.

whose hitch expires. Normally, the Air Force absorbs about 125,000 recruits a year.

The officer cut will be accomplished in part by early release of some due to retire or resign later in the year, and by turning out some officers who were kept on only because of the Vietnam war.

Gwen Spear Made Ballet Tour In Italy

A GRACEFUL MOVEMENT... is demonstrated in this photograph of Gwen Spear and Frank Smith, currently on a ballet tour in Italy. Both are students at the N.C. School of the Arts.

OSOLO, ITALY — Gwen Spear, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Richard Spear of Greenville is one of the young dancers from the North Carolina School of the Arts in Winston-Salem who was on tour in a ballet program throughout Italy.

Based in the town of Osolo, near Milan, the dancers made appearances in Rome, Milan, Florence, Venice and Naples before returning to the U. S. at the end of August.

Gwen and Frank Smith, a native North Carolinian who often appears with Gwen, had roles in ten numbers, including "Symphony 13," "Raymonda," "Screenplay," "Ten and Two," and the Peasant pas de deux from "Gizelle." Most of their dancing is in classical ballet roles, with a couple of modern compositions as part of their repertoire.

Earlier this summer, Gwen appeared in programs at the Summer Music Festival held at Temple University in Pennsylvania. At that time, she was under contract to the Pennsylvania Ballet Company. In 1965 and 1967, Gwen was seen locally in productions of the Summer Theater at East Carolina University.

DIED IN VIETNAM WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has announced that Army Spec. 4 Johnny E. Shouff of Hurdle Mills in Person County, N. C., has died in Vietnam, not as the result of hostile action.

Non-Credit Fall Courses At ECU Are Announced

The East Carolina University Division of Continuing Education has announced registration dates for non-credit courses to be offered this fall.

Figures Confirm Big Opening Day

RALEIGH (AP) — The official figures are in, and they confirm record high opening day prices for flue-cured tobacco on the North Carolina Middle Belt and the early opening markets of the North Carolina-Virginia Old Belt.

The Federal State Market News Service reported an average price of $73.07 per hundred-weight on the Middle Belt and $72.63 on the Old Belt for Tuesday's sales. The averages topped the previous Old Belt high by $2.67 and the Middle Belt record by $3.66.

Volume was heavy on both belts Wednesday. Quality remained about the same on the Middle Belt, but on the Old Belt an increase in nondescripts lowered the general quality. Seven Old Belt markets have opened, and the remaining 12 will do so on Sept. 16.

Prices were fairly steady Wednesday on the South Carolina - Border North Carolina markets. Prices were down on more than half the grades on the North Carolina Eastern Belt. Old Belt sales totalled Wednesday 2,796,819 for $2,031,288. Middle Belt markets sold 4,648,596 pounds for $3,396,838.

painting and two courses in the principles of investing will be offered.

Early registration is desired and pre-registration is required for some courses. Anyone interested should write or call the Division of Continuing Education, East Carolina University, P.O. Box 2727, Greenville, N.C. 27834, telephone 758-6321.

The non-credit program is designed primarily for adults of varied educational and occupational backgrounds with emphasis on learning for the sake of learning. No examinations or grades are involved. Faculty for non-credit courses are obtained, when possible, from the ECU staff.

Courses-offered, places, times and fees per course are:

Truck And Leaf Reported Stolen

Greenville police reported today that a truck and its cargo of 24 sheets of tobacco were reported stolen here last night.

The vehicle, waiting to unload its cargo — an estimated 4,000 pounds of tobacco — at Raynor-Forbes Warehouse, 2250 Dickinson Ave., was parked on Maxwell Street near the Moose Lodge Swimming pool when stolen, acting police chief T. E. Gladson said.

Chief Gladson identified the owner of the tobacco as Wesley Letchworth, Route 2, Griffon and said the truck, a two-ton vehicle with plywood sides, was owned by Bobby Letchworth of Route 1, Kinston.

Based on prices paid on the Greenville Tobacco Market yesterday, the value of the tobacco was set at about $3,000. Value of the truck was set at $3,500.

Reported at 11:30 p.m., the theft occurred between 10 and 11:15 p.m.

Recreation Center. Fee is $25. $25.

Retired Machinist Building 'Iron Horse' To Retrieve Past

By HANK NORTH
New Bern Sun-Journal Writer

Written For The AP

NEW BERN, N. C. (AP) — The day of the "Iron Horse," with its haunting whistle and clanging bell, is gone. Great diesels now ride the rails which once vibrated to the steady chug of the old steam locomotives. But thanks to the efforts of a retired New Bern railroad machinist, the sights and sounds that once filled the air around this city's depot will once again be familiar to New Bern youngsters.

Edgar "Shot" Kehoe, not content to let a single child grow up in his hometown without seeing a "cow catcher" or a smoke-stack, has almost-completed a project he dreamed about for most of his 67 years and to which he has devoted the past two—the building of a train.

Kehoe's train, which is about one-third size, has taken shape gradually in a small machine shop in New Bern from parts from the scrap heap.

For the past two years, Kehoe has been a familiar figure rummaging through junkyards all over eastern North Carolina in search of materials which might work in his train.

The wheels came from an old steam winch that was part of a deck engine. These he found in Wilmington. The boiler, rated at 150 pounds, came from a steam tractor found in Weldon, and other parts were found "here and there" or jury-rigged to fit when not otherwise available.

Kehoe says he harbored the project in the back of his mind for years and one morning, while drinking coffee with a friend, suggested: "Let's build a train."

The friend, H. L. Entiken, agreed and the project was begun.

The men worked in their spare time and the engine started to take form.

The engineer's cab was built of angle iron and wood, the boiler put in place and the wheels and cylinders added.

The finishing touches have to be added to the engine and the coal tender is not yet complete, but the fruit of the two men's work stands unquestionably recognizable as a train.

Kehoe started his career as a railroad machinist with the Atlantic and East Carolina in 1913. He worked at his trade until 1917 and the start of World War I when the Army kept him occupied until 1919.

Upon his release from service, Kehoe worked for the old New Bern Iron Works, now Craven Foundry and Machine Company. He stayed there for four years and then, as he puts it, "rambled job to job until 1945."

He returned to the A&EC machine shop and remained there until his retirement in 1962. He has been pretty much a man of leisure since. When the train is completed, Kehoe hopes to locate it on some property near New Bern where youngsters can ride and enjoy it.

River Carries Lot Of Freight; Glamor Is Gone

By M. GENE MEARNS
NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—“When I was a boy,” wrote Mark Twain in his later years, “there was but one permanent ambition among my comrades in our village on the west bank of the Mississippi River. That was, to be a steamboat man.” And that was long ago.

“Mark Twain couldn't believe what is happening on the Mississippi River today. There is nothing romantic about it, but we are moving a hell of a lot of freight.”

Master-pilot Marvin Barnes, his profile lit by the green glow of a radar scope, made the statement at the controls of the Federal Barge Lines towboat United States, bulling its way from St. Louis to New Orleans with five acres of barges lashed to its bluff bow.

Barnes, a river man for 40 of his 59 years, gazed steadily into the soft summer night and talked of the Mississippi River, a stream he has known in all seasons, in all weather, first as deckhand, then—as mate, and since 1944, as a pilot.

“The Mississippi to me,” the Captain said, “is not a romantic place. It's a business with us, and a damned important one. They play up the romantic angles on those tourist steamboat trips but the real river men these days see it as just a job.”

Barnes said that he had never seen anything “bad” about the Mississippi. “You hear a lot about the river being treacherous and all that. But it is like a highway and you have to outsmart it. That is what our job is, to overcome the obstacles the river places in front of us. You can misuse the river just as you disobey the signs on a highway.”

The River Man
Barnes, of Olive Branch, Ill., and men like him are responsible for moving a shallow-draft navy of barges up and down a Mississippi River system that ties New Orleans and the Gulf of Mexico to distant cities such as Chicago, Pittsburgh, Memphis, St. Louis, Minneapolis and scores of others depending on a steady stream of river commerce.

The Mississippi is one of the world's largest rivers and its 400-years of recorded history is rich in story and glory. In 1541 Hernando DeSoto gazed on the Mississippi near Memphis, Tex., and other explorers such as Marquette and Joliet followed to marvel at its size.

The first known cargo floated down the Mississippi River in 1705, and consisted of 15,000 bear and deer hides from Indiana and Ohio, bound for France. The first permanent settlement, Natchez, Miss., was founded along its banks in 1716 by the French, a year before New Orleans was born. Steamboats revolutionized river commerce in 1811. Civil War gunboats plied the river and uncounted settlers crossed the Mississippi on their westward migrations.

But 400 years of commerce on the Mississippi doesn't produce much information for today's pilots. They must live it and re-learn it to keep up with its changing face. They have navigation aids such as buoys, lights, radar, radio-telephones and depth sounders, but they still must carry a map of the river in their heads.

Mental Roadmap
“You learn something new about the river every day,” Barnes said. “Moving a tow this size is not like running a train. You are not on a track. You have to use judgment continually, every minute you are on watch. The river is unrolling in front of you, just like the reading of a book. The river opens its pages to you, but the only way to know the river is to experience it.”

It was an overcast Friday when the United States, yellow with black trim, reached St. Louis, the northern terminus of her run, at mile 178 of the upper Mississippi. The three-decked, 180-foot vessel capped by a large pilothouse dwarfed other towboats.

Five days later, after having collected 30 covered barges loaded with some 38,000 tons of grain and other bulk cargo, the 9,000-horsepower United States would arrive 1,053 miles downriver in New Orleans. There it would pause only long enough to pick up another barge fleet for the 10-day trip upriver.

Barnes, assisted by another pilot, Capt. W. E. “buckshot” Wright of Brinkley, Ark., had a crew of 14, divided into two watches, to run the United States up and down the twisting, sometimes shallow, always changing river.

Although the lower Mississippi River, south of Cairo, Ill., is a mile wide in places, the barges and their drafts of eight-to-nine feet must stay in a channel that sometimes is just wide enough for one tow, sometimes wide enough for three to pass abreast. The trick

THERE IS NOTHING ROMANTIC about the Mississippi for today's steamboatmen, but they are moving a lot of freight on it. Above, two of the largest towboats on the river, the America (left) and the United States, pass each other. (UPI Telephoto) for pilots is not only to know where the channel is, but to stay in it despite high winds and currents.

At St. Louis the Mississippi moves past high stone bluffs which later give way to rolling, gentle hills, then to flat country and river levees. The Mississippi, surprisingly, is forested heavily on both banks nearly all its length.

Cairo And Beyond
The river broadens and grows in size at Cairo, an important barge-transfer area where the Ohio River flows in, bringing clear water into the muddy Mississippi and linking the industrial east to the mid-western United States.

Once past Cairo, great sandbars and islands roll by. Above Helen, Ark., on one trip, high winds whipped a sandbar so hard they actually created a sandstorm over the river, but the United States plowed right through.

The river is vast in its sweep from St. Louis, past Memphis and scores of other unseen towns to New Orleans, but never lonely. People camp along its banks and water-ski above Memphis. Others fish and there is always the barge traffic to watch. Here and there a bridge crosses the river, or a church steeple overlooks a bend.

If Mark Twain were living and writing about the Mississippi River today, he might find as much color and romance as he did in the days of the packet steamboats, despite the businesslike nature of today's river.

But as Barnes said, puffing a roll-your-own and looking back on his 40 years on the river.

“The Mississippi is different now than in Twain's day. They are improving the Mississippi all the time and it is different than when I was young. There are bigger tows getting more congested, just and boats have more power. This makes our job easier. They are improving the Mississippi all the time and it is different than when I was young. There are bigger tows getting more congested, just and boats have more power. like the highways.”

Weather Delays Nuclear Blast

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (AP) — Unfavorable weather conditions have caused at least a 24-hour delay in Project Rullison, a 40-kiloton underground nuclear blast in western Colorado.

Project officials made the decision Wednesday night after a weather briefing. Forecasts were for bad weather again on Friday and possibly Saturday.

Each day's delay will cost Austral Oil Co. of Houston, Tex., one of the sponsors of the blast, an estimated $31,000.

“The predictions are clearly outside the criteria we have established for ourselves,” said Bob Tahlgott, test manager.

Weathermen said there was a strong chance of thundershowers over the test site, near the town of Grand Valley, about the time of the scheduled detonation — 5 p.m. EDT Thursday. Indications were, the forecasters said, that there would be thundershowers in the area about the same time on Friday.

Weather conditions halted the explosion 8,500 feet under the earth's crust after extensive legal maneuvers failed to do so.

Offer Reward In Actress' Slaying

LONDON (AP) — Peter Sellers and fellow actors have posted a $25,000 reward for information leading to conviction of the killer of actress Sharon Tate.

“Someone must have knowledge or suspicions they are withholding or may be afraid to reveal,” Sellers said Wednesday. Two of his associates in offering the reward are Warren Beatty and Yul Brynner.

Miss Tate and four other persons were slain in her California home last month.

U.S. And Allies Battle 'Enemy' Inside Cambodia

Fulford Addresses PTI Staff, Faculty

Dr. W.E. Fulford Jr., president of Pitt Technical Institute, outlined the 10 most valuable and desired characteristics of persons employed by PTI, today at a luncheon held for PTI staff and faculty members.

"The institute wants people who are skilled in the performance of their job," Fulford told the members at the first of a two-day orientation period for

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. and South Vietnamese troops clashed with "enemy" soldiers inside Cambodia after an American helicopter was shot down Monday and crashed a mile across the border, the U.S. Command announced today.

"The violation of Cambodian air space was unintentional," a U.S. communique said.

One South Vietnamese and two "enemy" were killed, U.S. headquarters said, and two American crewmen and three South Vietnamese were wounded.

The helicopter was one of three American aircraft which the U.S. Command today reported downed. Fifteen Americans died in two other crashes north of Saigon.

Two other U.S. helicopters were hit Wednesday while supporting a badly mauled South Vietnamese force that was forced into retreat after four days of fighting near Song Be, 80 miles northeast of Saigon.

The helicopters made it to a Special Forces camp three miles south of the battlefield, but one American was killed and one wounded.

The U.S. and South Vietnamese commands announced that battlefield deaths dropped slightly on all sides last week as a result of a marked decrease in enemy activity. The commands reported 185 Americans, 354 South Vietnamese and 2,493 enemy killed, compared with 190 Americans, 398 South Vietnamese and 2,724 enemy the week before. Another 1,057 Americans were wounded in action last week.

A spokesman for the U.S. Command said it delayed anouncement of the downing of the helicopter in Cambodia until today because "initial reports were spotty and we wanted to check and double check."

The helicopter was downed during a combat assault in Kien Tuong Province, which borders Cambodia 55 miles west of Saigon.

Headquarters said the helicopter, one of three Army UH-1 helicopters carrying South Vietnamese troops into battle, was hit by ground fire.

"The origin of the ground fire is unknown," headquarters said. "The area in which the helicopter was flying is characterized by low, flat marshland on both sides of the border and the pilot directed the helicopter toward the most desirable emergency landing site."

Libyan Troops Move Into City

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Libyan troops and tanks entered Benghazi during the night and took control of the country's second largest city on behalf of the new revolutionary junta "without meeting any resistance," Tripoli Radio reported today.

No explanation was given for the move, but Benghazi is the capital of Cyrenaica province, where desert tribes are known to be fanatically loyal to deposed King Idris.

Observers in Tunis believed the broadcast indicated opposition to the military regime of Col. Saad Eddin Abbou Chouireb which seized power Monday and declared Libya a republic.

Benghazi, the birthplace of Col. Chouireb, is 700 miles east of Tripoli, Libya's capital, and 300 miles from the Egyptian border.

Another Tripoli Radio broadcast today made an urgent call for all doctors and nurses to report to the city's central hospital.

The broadcasts gave no other details.

The official Libyan News Agency reported Libyan air force planes flew patrols over the country's oil installations Wednesday night after anti-British demonstrations in Libyan cities.

The Middle East News Agency said the demonstrations broke out after Libya's new military leaders warned Britain not to help King Idris try to regain his throne.

the group.

Fulford said teachers given professional autonomy must earn that autonomy by performing competently in the classroom.

Another characteristic of great significance of the people employed here, Fulford said, is a person who accepts responsibility. "People refusing to perform to their capabilities are unfair to themselves and to their employer," he said.

"Proper attitude," Fulford noted, "is an essential ingredient for the operation of any educational institution. We must not categorize our students and predict their failure before they have a fair chance to prove themselves."

Persons who can motivate people—who can inspire confidence in people—are in great demand at PTI, according to Fulford.

Dr. Barton R. Herrscher, program associate of the Regional Education Laboratory for the Carolinas and Virginia, will speak to the faculty and staff members Friday. His topic will be "A Learning-Oriented System of Instruction."

Two Groups Of Castoffs Brought Together For Social Experiment

By CHARLIE BAROUH
Associated Press Writer
ALTON, Ill. (AP) — Two groups of society's castoffs—juvenile delinquents and the aged mentally infirm—have been brought together at Alton State Hospital in an experiment one man thinks can help both.

J. Robert Russo, an associate professor of psychology at Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville, bases his belief on the good feeling a person gets from helping.

Those involved are 20 teenage boys from Pere Marquette State Boys' Camp, a minimum-security reformatory, and elderly patients at Alton State.

All Russo asks the boys to do is help the hospital staff, to work with the patients however they can.

"The basic concept has two parts," the 35-year-old professor explained. "The first part is that human beings behave in a way they're expected to behave. Expect a guy to be irresponsible and he'll be irresponsible. Expect a guy to be responsible and you increase the likelihood that he will be.

"The other half has to do with the positive feeling a person gets about himself when he knows he's helped someone else. It's a normal human response. We want to increase personal responsibility plus provide the positive feeling of helping another human being.

"This is going to improve the self-concept of the delinquent. Up to this point in his life, the delinquent has been told by other people he's no good. Our whole correctional process is meant to tell him this. He's removed from society and exiled."

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare's office of education granted $9,992 for a one-year experiment. It's a token, really. As far as the office of education knows, Russo said, this is the first experiment of its kind. It began in July.

It began simply. Russo just asked the 59 kids at Pere Marquette for volunteers. Fewer than 10 refused. The boys already were being transported to the hospital, located about 25 miles from St. Louis, to do menial jobs in the kitchen and laundry. Russo just changed their jobs.

Part of the experiment is to see what effect the casual company of youth has on the patients. The boys were to act as nurses' aides, more or less, helping care for the patients and keep them company.

But the youths quickly decided for themselves they wanted to do more.

They learned the operational framework of the hospital and worked within it to get from those they considered less seriously ill to those they felt really needed their attention.

But the pay is the same for both.

Finally Terry gave his real reason.

"I guess," he said slowly, softly, "I could try and make an impression and act the way they think I'm supposed to, but I'm doing it because I like it."

One of the boys tried to talk a man in a corner of the ward into getting out of bed and joining other patients. A few minutes after the boy left, the old man got up and walked to the front of the ward.

"He doesn't have anybody to talk to," the boy said, nodding his chin at the old man. "I remember when I was in the Joliet reception center. I didn't have anybody to talk to. I just looked at the four walls. These guys... I remember how it felt."

It doesn't surprise Russo that the kids can't fully explain their commitment to these old people. "That part where they break off is what I'm talking about," he said. "It's such a deep feeling that there's really no way to express it. The word that comes closest is human love, and that's not a word these kids use."

In The Armed Forces

Pfc. Joseph L. Robertson, son of Mrs. Beatrice Edmondson of Robersonville, has received the Combat Infantry Badge while serving in Vietnam as a grenadier with the 82nd Airborne Division. Robertson received the badge during ceremonies at his fire support base, "All American." A graduate of Robersonville High School, Robertson has been in Vietnam for three months. He attended Pitt Technical Institute for two years and was employed at the Weyerhaeuser Corporation in Plymouth before entering service.

Lizzie Taylor of Rt. 1, Williamston, has been promoted to specialist four while serving in Vietnam. Taylor is assigned as a mechanic with Service Battery, 6th Battalion, 14th Artillery, stationed near Pleiku.

SFC Johnnie S. Price, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Price of Rt. 2, Williamston, recently received the Bronze Star Medal during ceremonies near Quan Loi, Vietnam. Price was presented the award for meritorious service as a platoon sergeant with the 1st Cavalry Division. He also received the Air Medal for outstanding service on aerial flights in support of ground operations. His wife, Mary, lives in Columbus, Ga.

Pfc. Gary H. Bostic, (above) son of Mr. and Mrs. Quinn Bostic of Greenville, is on leave here following completion of basic training at Ft. Bragg and advanced individual training at Ft. Lee, Va. Bostic will leave Sept. 9 for his new assignment in Germany where he will serve as a supply specialist and armorer. His tour will last 18 months. A graduate of J. H. Rose High School, Bostic was employed by the Rose Store chain in Richmond prior to entering the Army.

Sgt. Frank Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Lee Edwards of Rt. 1, Fountain, has returned home after spending a year in Vietnam. David Edwards, a brother, is now completing advanced individual training at Ft. Polk, La. Both brothers are graduates of H.B. Sugg High School in Farmville.

Pvt. Ralph C. Langston, son of Mrs. Lillian R. Langston of Farmville, has been assigned to the 70th Engineer Battalion in Vietnam. Langston, who arrived overseas in July, will serve as a combat engineer with the battalion.

Capt. Scott Smiley, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Smiley of Greenville, received the Distinguished Flying Cross for heroism during recent ceremonies at his base camp in Tuy Hoa, Vietnam. Smiley, who flew a F-100 Super Sabre jet in support of allied forces, received the award after a making repeated low level runs under hazardous conditions to aid allied positions. A 1961 graduate of J. H. Rose High School, Smiley graduated from UNC-Chapel Hill in 1965 and was commissioned through the AFROTC program there.

Five Schoolboys Suspended For Fight, Scuffle

Five school boys, all under 14, have been suspended from Aycock Junior High School, pending investigation of a fight and scuffle Wednesday afternoon, according to principal John Jones.

Jones commented that "the suspension is necessary until we determine who was responsible for beginning the fight." Two of the boys suspended are Negro, and three are white.

"No one was hospitalized as a result of the fighting," he added. "Two boys were cut after being hit by a bottle. We took the boys home, and as their parents were not home, we took them on to the emergency room at the hospital." Jones revealed that stitches were needed to close the cut received by one boy.

"So far I've talked to three of the parents, and they have been most cooperative in understanding the necessity of suspending the students temporarily," Jones stated.

Jones explained that the scuffle broke out immediately after the dismissal bell, and he was summoned from his office. "By time I got outside, a couple of the teachers had separated the boys and stopped the fight," he stated.

One teacher seeing the fight begin had immediately summoned the rescue squad. "We tried to intercept the rescue squad, as we didn't need them," Jones remarked. "With the traffic problem at dismissal time, we have confusion enough."

Captain Glenn Cannon of the Greenville Police Force, stated, "When I got there the matter was under control, so there was nothing further for us to do."

Food Relief As Long As Needed

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The U.S. Agriculture Department says food shipments to victims of Hurricane Camille in Mississippi and Virginia will continue as long as they are needed.

Russell H. Jones, regional director of the department's Food and Nutrition Service, said two million pounds of USDA food is being sent to a warehouse in Jackson, Miss.

He said five million pounds of food have already been sent, including canned fruit juices, meat, cheese, peanut butter, dried fruits and vegetables and evaporated milk.

N. Korea Demands Apology, Admission

By K. C. HWANG
Associated Press Writer

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — North Korea said today that it will not release the three crewmen of an American helicopter shot down Aug. 17 unless the United States admits they were on a criminal mission.

The United States said it would admit only that the helicopter had entered Communist territory inadvertently in violation of the Korean armistice agreement, and would give assurances that such an incident would not recur.

Maj. Ben. Lee Choon-sun, representing North Korea at a meeting of the Military Armistice Commission called to discuss the release of the three Americans, demanded an "unconditional apology" admitting that the helicopter was on a "criminal mission," as well as a written assurance that there will be no more such incidents in the future.

U.S. Marine Maj. Gen. Arthur H. Adams replied: "It is preposterous to state that we dispatched the unarmed helicopter willfully or with any hostile intention."

Adams repeated the U.S. contention that the helicopter strayed over North Korea accidentally while on a training flight, and that it had no weapons or advanced navigational equipment aboard.

Despite the refusal of Adams to offer any more than an apology, there was speculation that eventually the United States would secure the release of the airmen by the same device that freed the crew of the U.S. spy ship Pueblo.

After the 82 Navy men had been held for 11 months, the United States signed a statement admitting the ship was spying in North Korea's territorial waters. But just before he signed the document at a ceremony in Panmunjom, the U.S. representative, Maj. Gen. Gilbert H. Woodward, announced that the State Department had instructed him to repudiate the statement before signing it.

U.S. officials admitted that the procedure of denying the statement and then signing it was "kooky," but they said it seemed to satisfy the North Koreans and resulted in the return of the captives.

The three men now held by North Korea are WO Malcolm W. Loepke, the pilot, of Richmond, Ind.; Capt. David H. Crawford, Pooler, Ga., and Spec. 4 Herman H. Hofstatter, Lowpoint, Ill.

meeting last Friday, Lee said seriously injured and Loepke Crawford and Hofstatter were slightly injured.

Now Possible To Shrink Painful Hemorrhoids

And Promptly Stop The Itching, Relieve Pain In Most Cases.

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science has found a medication with the ability, in most cases — to promptly stop itching, relieve pain and actually shrink hemorrhoids.

Tests by doctors proved that in case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction of the inflamed hemorrhoids took place. The secret is Preparation H. There's no other formula like it! Preparation H also soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.

Little Hope For James A. Pike

By MARCUS ELIASON
Associated Press Writer

JERUSALEM (AP) — Troops, policemen and airplanes combed the Judean desert again today for Dr. James Pike, but officials held out little hope that the former Episcopal bishop of California was still alive.

Pike, 56, has been missing since Monday night, after his rented car got stuck about eight miles west of the Dead Sea. His 31-year-old wife left him on a hillside and walked all night until she reached a road workers' camp.

Mrs. Pike told police she and her husband were doing research on a book and decided to drive through the desert for a few hours to "get the feel of the Judean hills." She said the car got stuck in rocks and boulders about 3 p.m. and they were unable to free it despite trying for about two hours.

Then the couple set out on foot toward the Dead Sea. After two hours of walking, Pike complained of leg pains and told his wife to go on without him.

"I suggested that he take a map and when he got his strength to follow me," she said. "I left him atop a small mountain about six or seven miles west of the Dead Sea."

Two hundred soldiers and troops began the search for Pike Tuesday on foot and in helicopters and light planes. First they found the car, with Pike's wallet and passport in it. Later they found a map in a dry river bed about a mile east of the car, and Mrs. Pike said her husband had been carrying it before they were separated.

There were four theories to explain Pike's disappearance.

—That he had taken refuge in one of the many caves in the area to escape daytime temperatures of more than 100 degrees Fahrenheit.

—That he had fallen victim to a beast of prey.

—That he had succumbed to the heat and that his body was beneath some overhanging cliff.

—That he had been found by Bedouin nomads and taken to one of their camps.

Cemetery Target Of Vandalism

COLOGNE, Germany (AP) — A Jewish cemetery on the Rhine River has been vandalized and almost totally destroyed, Cologne police discovered Wednesday.

More than 150 gravestones of the cemetery were overturned and smashed, a police spokesman said.

Rampants Open Year Against Tough Pam Pack

Meet The Rampants

Bubba Rawl, left, and George Harris are two members of this year's Rose High School football team. Rawl, a 5-9, 165-pound junior fullback, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rawl. "He could be our starting fullback" Coach Bud Phillips said. Harris, 6-1, 188-pounds, is a junior tackle, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theolonia Allen. "He'll see action at offensive tackle as a reserve," the coach said. Rose opens its season Friday night in Washington against the Pam Pack. (Reflector Photos)

Rose High School's Rampants open the door to their 1969 football season Friday night as they travel to Washington to meet the tough Pam Pack.

Washington already has one game under its belt, a 22-0 whipping of Bertie last week, in which the Pam Pack defense shined.

"They are big; they have good speed, and they'll be tough," Rose Coach Bud Phillips said.

The Pack is led by quarterback Ted Waters, who can pass the ball, and likes to run with it too. "He goes both ways, at quarterback, and at linebacker," Phillips said. In last Friday's game, he threw only four passes, completing two of them for 55 yards, one a 44 yard scoring play.

The backfield also has three top runners in fullback Larry Smithwick, and halfbacks William Guilford and Guy Stowe. Stowe was the leading runner last week, picking up 72 yards in seven carries. Smithwick had 40 yards in ten lugs, while Guilford had 25 yards in nine attempts.

"Their line is real good. Robert Schatz, an offensive guard, and Gary Boyd and Addison Bass, the tackles, are the best performers. David Hunt, a 6-0, 165-pound end is a good receiver, taking that touchdown pass."

"They moved the ball well inside, and were able to drive down the field against Bertie." Overall, Washington picked up 160 yards rushing, and with the 55 passing, had a 215 yard total offense night.

"Their defense is real good," Phillips said. "Bertie was unable to move the ball on the ground against them, and didn't go much to the air." Bertie was held to minus eight yards rushing, and hit on only four of 11 passes for 52 yards. Two passes were intercepted by Washington's Johnny Brown.

"I expect it to be close," Phillips said about this week's contest. Turning to his Rampants, Phillips said that the enthusiasm is picking up on the team. "We are getting healthier, and I expect most everyone to be ready to play." Only Bill Whiteford, an end, is expected not to be ready. End Bob Forbes and linebacker Ronald Cherry have both been hampered by hurts, but both are expected to be ready to play.

"Our offense is looking better. We worked on our passing and kicking Wednesday," he said. Phillips feels that quarterback Joe West is throwing the ball well, and that end Mike Harrington has been doing a good job of receiving, along with back Cliff Edwards.

Wednesday's Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS HITTING—Willie Horton, Tilers, who hit two homers and drove in three runs as Detroit clipped Kansas City 4-

PITCHING—Jim Maloney, Reds, who stopped the Chicago Cubs on two singles as Cincinnati won 2-0.

"Johnny Smith, Bubba Rawl, Greg Williams and Russ Smith have all been running well," the coach said. "I definitely feel we are going to be able to move the ball on them."

The defense is shaping up, and improving. "We looked real good in our last scrimmage," he said. "But it's going to be tough to stop them. They power the ball at you, and it's hard to stop."

The game has a little different significance this year. In the past, it has been a crucial conference contest. This year, Rose is a member of the Eastern 4-A, and Washington remains as a Northeastern 3-A member. The contest is the only one with a 3-A team for Rose this year.

The probable offensive starting lineup for the Rampants has Josh Weeks and Mike Harrington at ends, Tim Leith and Jay Hagans at tackles, Tommy Worsley and Steve Williams at guards, Tommy Bland at center, Joe West at quarterback, Johnny Smith and Russ Smith at halfbacks, and Greg Williams at fullback.

On defense, the ends will be Harold Lloyd and John Conway, with Tommy Hodgins and Hagans at tackles, Bryant Kittrell at middle guard, Lewis Gidley and Ronald Cherry at linebackers, Greg Williams at rover, Kim Harbin and Cliff Edwards at halfbacks and Russ Smith at safety.

Game time is 8 p.m.

Davis Runs His Hit Streak To 31

By TED MEIER Associated Press Sports Writer Willie Davis, the Los Angeles Dodgers' outfielder, should write novels during the baseball off season. He has a flair for the dramatic.

He kept alive the longest consecutive game hitting streak in more than 20 years in the major leagues with dramatic suddenness Wednesday night.

Thwarted in four previous times at bat in an effort to hit in his 31st consecutive game, he came up in the ninth inning and socked the first pitch for a double that scored Maury Wills from second to beat the New York Mets 5-4.

The hit to left field, which was first scored as a single, was in direct contrast to Davis' ninth inning appearance Tuesday night against the Mets.

He came up then with the tying run on third and the Dodgers behind 5-4. He struck out to end the game.

First base was open, with one out and Wills on second, when Davis came to the plate to face relief pitcher Jack Dilauro Wednesday night.

Gil Hodges, the Mets' manager, said he considered walking Davis, but decided to pitch to him in view of his four futile tries to extend his streak.

"Davis said he got the pitch he thought he would. "It was a sidearm curve and when I saw it I said to myself 'here it come and I smacked it.'"

The victory kept the Dodgers one game back of San Francisco in the NL West, mad scramble and one-half game ahead of the Cincinnati Reds.

San Francisco shaded Montreal 2-1, Cincinnati blanked the Chicago Cubs 2-0. Atlanta trounced Pittsburgh 8-1, and Philadelphia romped over San Diego 9-1 in other NL games. Houston and St. Louis were idle.

Minnesota tripped Cleveland 7-1, Detroit defeated Kansas City 4-2 and Oakland split a morning-afternoon doubleheader with Boston in the only American League games scheduled.

Oakland beat the Red Sox 7-4 in the morning game. Boston won the second 5-1.

Claude Osteen, seeking his 19th victory, was breezing along with a 4-0 lead over Jerry Koosman and the Mets until the eighth.

Then two-run homers by Tommie Agee and Donn Clendenon tied the score and set the stage for Davis' dramatic game ending swat. Davis was mobbed by spectators swirling around him at third base as he left the field.

Pete Mikkelsen was the winning pitcher in relief for, the Dodgers. DiLauro took the loss for the Mets.

The Mets stayed five games back of Chicago in the NL East since the Cubs absorbed a two-hit shutout from the Reds' Jim Maloney.

The Cubs' two hits, both singles, were made by Don Kessinger in the third and by losing pitcher Bill Hands in the sixth.

The Giants made only two hits against Montreal, but one was a single by Jim Davenport with the bases full in the seventh that drove in both of the Giants' runs.

Losing pitcher Mike Wegener of the Expos had loaded the sacks on three bases on balls before Davenport came up. The Giants' other hit was another single by Ron Hunt in the fourth.

Juan Marichal, who chalked up his 17th victory, had to bear down with all his skill in the ninth when Montreal put the tying run on third with none out on Mack Jones' triple.

"I was worried," Marichal said afterwards. "I wanted to strike out the next three batters, but didn't think I could. I hope they would hit a ground ball to someone."

That's what happened. Coco Laboy grounded out to Davenport at third. So did Ron Brand. Second baseman Hunt threw out Jim Fairry to end the game.

Atlanta exploded for eight runs in the sixth against the Pirates to snap a six-game losing streak. Pinchhitter Rico Carly capped the outburst with a three-run bases loaded double.

A three-run triple by Johnny Callison and a five-hitter by Woody Fryman made it easy for the Phillies over the Padres. Fryman lost a shutout in the seventh when the Philadelphia infield committed three errors after a single by Ivan Murrell.

A's To Get Final Chance To Gain

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Operation Catch Up begins a four-day run in Oakland tonight ... and, if it doesn't succeed, there won't be much doubt that it will be the Minnesota Twins against Baltimore in the American League playoffs next month.

The Athletics, slumping home after a miserable road swing, will have to cool off the red-hot Twins considerably in the four-game set to keep their flickering West Division title hopes alive.

Boston stopped Oakland 5-2 Wednesday, after the A's won the opener of a doubleheader 7-1, while the Twins were polishing off Cleveland 7-1 for their fourth straight triumph and 10th in 12 games.

That boosted the Twins lead to 6½ games over Oakland, which was only two games off the pace a little more than a week ago. But, while the Twins were enjoying their string of prosperity, Oakland dropped seven of 10 games on the road trip.

Noting that Minnesota is six games up on the A's in the loss column, Manager Billy Martin said, "If we have that same margin when we leave Oakland Sunday, they'll be hurting."

Twins President Cal Griffith was even more confident: "If the Twins can win two of four in Oakland, it will Katy bar the door for us the rest of the way."

Martin's only big concern during the Big Series is Rod Carew, who will miss the last three games because of a weekend military obligation.

Carew, who just rejoined the team after two weeks of summer training camp, is leading the league with a .351 average.

Detroit and Denny McLain stopped Kansas City 4-2 in Wednesday's only other scheduled AL activity.

In the National League, Cincinnati blanked Chicago 2-0, At-

Citadel Hopes Hurt By Fullback Injury

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Citadel's Cadets, generally regarded as the major challenger to Richmond's defending champion Spiders in the Southern Conference football race, will have to get along half the season without their top ball carrier.

Fullback Joe Bedenbaugh of Leesville, S.C., dislocated his shoulder in Wednesday's drills and will miss half the season, coach Red Parker said.

Bedenbaugh, a senior who was the Citadel's second leading ground gainer last year, picking up 385 yards in '69 carries. His performance was topped only by that of the graduated Jim Mc-Millan.

Junior Ben Chavis was named to replace him in the starting backfield.

Injuries also hit East Carolina during contact drills Wednesday. Running-back William Mitchell received a hip injury and lineman Earl Burton hurt his leg during the Pirates' afternoon workout.

Although his first two offensive units scored six times starting from midfield, coach Frank Jones said Richmond "looked bad" against the freshmen. The feature of the drills was a 35-yard touchdown pass by second-string quarterback Doug Has-

Coach Lou Holtz was disappointed, too, at William and Mary after the Indians held their first prolonged scrimmage. Holtz wasn't satisfied with the offense or defense but praised the running of halfback Don Goodell.

A scrimmage under game conditions brought words of praise from coach Vito Ragazzo at Virginia Military Institute for linebackers Bob Coptly and Bob Hockley and defensive end Jim Bailey.

The defense also got some kind words from coach Homer Smith at Davidson. Singled out for plaudits were defensive backs Whit Morrow, Nick Dumlich and Jack Ballenger, who Smith said are tackling better than last year.

Quarry KO's London; Retires From Ring

By JIM CHURCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

OAKLAND (AP) — Two things happened when Jerry Quarry hit Brian London with a jolting right hand to the head at 2:30 of the second round in their scheduled 10-round fight Wednesday night.

London, the No. 2-rated British boxer from Blackpool, England, thudded forward on his face, finished for the night.

Quarry, who at 24 already has fought twice for the heavyweight title and lost, then decided to give up boxing—so he said.

"When I hit him," Quarry said, "I felt a twinge in my right hand. It's still hurting. That's when I decided to quit." The hand, once broken, has troubled him throughout his career, Quarry said.

Quarry had called it quits after a loss to Joe Frazier in a title bout but then said he would quit after the London fight. He also has said he wanted to fight Frazier again before retiring.

After 15 minutes after he declared flatly, "this is it," the Bellflower, Calif., slugger was reminding newsmen that "I'm only 24. I know I can fight. If I just have to, I can come back to it."

London, 35, stung Quarry several times in the first round with left jabs as Quarry took it easy.

But in a weird second round, Quarry came back like a tiger, jarring London with left hooks, one of them folding London's knees as Quarry counter-punched with his back to the ropes.

London sank to the canvas and the referee made him take an eight count as the bell rang. London was sent to his corner but was pushed out again as officials decided a minute was left in the round.

The elderly timekeeper, Joe Leopold said, "I just made a mistake. It was the first time in 40 years."

Leopold said he was marking down the minutes and looked up at the lights. His eyes were blurred and he said he saw "two marks instead of one."

Quarry then jarred London with a left hook again and hit him with the right. London took a 10-count on his stomach.

Quarry, who has done a little acting, said he will enter the University of Southern California in February to study mechanical engineering.

After his victory, Quarry refused to talk to newsmen until he watched his 18-year-old brother, Mike, win a decision over George Thomas of Oakland in an eight-round heavyweight windup.

The rugged London, who lost in title bouts against Floyd Patterson and Cassius Clay, has a 37-19-1 record.

A disappointing turnout of 4,067 produced a gate estimated at $25,000. Quarry earned 30 per cent, London 25 per cent.

Chiefs Chase Sixth Victory

By SHEILA MORAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Kansas City Chiefs have more at stake than just another scalp when they entertain the Atlanta Falcons Saturday night in the American Football League's exhibition wrapup weekend.

The unbeaten Chiefs, already co-owners of one preseason record, are seeking sole possession of another. There hasn't been an unbeaten AFL team since 1966 when both the Chiefs and the New York Jets each whacked four AFL opponents.

The Chiefs already have strung out the scalps of Oakland, Detroit, Cincinnati, Los Angeles and St. Louis as the AFL's only undefeated team and are favored to add Atlanta, 2-2, to the list.

Atlanta will unleash its running trip of Jim Butler, rookie Paul Gipson and Junior Coffey against the likes of the Chiefs' Robert Holmes and Mike Garrett. In last week's 31-21 victory over St. Louis, Holmes carried eight times for 75 yards and Garrett 15 for 51.

Chiefs' quarterback Len Dawson has thrown six touchdown passes in the past two games—four against Los Angeles and two against St. Louis—and hasn't been trapped in either. Bob Berry is expected to start at quarterback for the Falcons.

While the Chiefs go for one for the book, the Dallas Cowboys, 3-1, say they're ready for the world champion Jets 3-2 at the Cotton Bowl. The game has been sold out for two weeks—the earliest sellout in Cowboy history.

"I think we can beat them," Cowboys' Coach Tom Landry said. "But it will be a tough football game. I don't anticipate a lot of scoring because our offense hasn't jelled yet. We've been playing good defense though."

Joe Namath is one of the best and quickest throwing quarterbacks I've ever seen. He's a lot like Johnny Unitas. They're both quick in getting rid of the ball. And boy is that Namath accurate.

Both teams enter the game minus some familiar faces. The Cowboys placed halfback Dan Reeves and safetyman Mike Gaechter on the waived injury list, waived flanker Bobby Joe Conrad to the taxi squad and cut Bill Saul, former Pittsburgh linebacker. Saul was claimed by two National Football League clubs who were not immediately identified.

The Jets, unable to obtain waivers on defensive tackle lantá whipped Pittsburgh 8-1. San Francisco nipped Montreal 2-1, Los Angeles edged New York 5-4 and Philadelphia routed San Diego 9-1 in the only games scheduled.

Harmon Killebrew's two-run homer—his 39th of the season—keyed a five-run Twins' explosion in the sixth inning that helped Dave Boswell to his 15th victory in 25 decisions with a four-hitter.

Tony Oliva and Leo Cardenas also singled in runs in the big inning, while Boswell's sacrifice bunt scored George Mitterwald from third for the other.

Killebrew's production boosted his league-leading RBI total to 119.

Ken Harrelson slammed his 27th homer for the Indians.

Rookie Mike Nagy, a 21-year-old right-hander, worked himself in and out of jams in stopping Oakland for his 11th victory in 13 decisions.

Gerry Moses, No. 3, and Syd O'Brien, No. 7, backed him with homers.

In the opener, Oakland came from behind with a seven-run uprising in the seventh inning. Danny Cater started it off with a single and Dick Green followed with his 11th homer.

Tito Francona singled in another run before pinch runner Alan Lewis tied it 4-4 by knocking the ball out of catcher Russ Gibson's glove on an apparent easy out at the plate. Sal Bando then produced the clincher with a three-run homer, his 22nd.

McLain checked Kansas City on six hits for his 22nd victory against six losses, while Willie Horton banged out his 24th and 25th homers, driving in three runs. Bill Freehan also homered for the Tigers.

Horton has now hit eight homers in his last seven games, including four in the four-games with the Royals.

Rookie Mike Fiore hit his 10th homer in the first inning and Joe Foy his eighth in the sixth for the only damage off McLain.

Karl Henke, recalled him and then traded him to Boston for a future draft choice. Henke was one of six Jets placed on waivers Monday.

The Minnesota Vikings, who host the winless New York Giants in a nationally televised game Saturday, have acquired quarterback John Huarte and kicker Rick Duncan from the Philadelphia Eagles for a draft choice.

Huarte, All-American at Notre Dame in 1964, was on the Eagles' roster part of last season and completed seven of 15 passes for 110 yards and one quarterback—John Huarte—and kicker Rick Duncan from the Philadelphia Eagles for a draft choice.

Huarte, All-American at Notre Dame in 1964, was on the Eagles' roster part of last season and completed seven of 15 passes for 110 yards and one touchdown. Duncan, Philadelphia's reserve punter last season, averaged 45.6 yards on five punts.

In other games Saturday, the Buffalo Bills and O. J. Simpson, 1-4, tackle the Rams 2-2, at Los Angeles; Houston, 2-2, is at New Orleans, 2-2; Cleveland, 2-1-1 plays the Redskins at Washington; Detroit, 3-1, and Philadelphia, 2-1, tangle at Raleigh, N.C.; Pittsburgh, 1-2, is at Green Bay, 2-2; Miami 0-5, faces Boston, 2-2 at Birmingham, Ala., and Cincinnati, 2-2, entertains Denver 1-3.

St. Louis, 2-2, is at San Francisco, 0-4, in the only game Sunday.

Area High Schools To Kick Off Football Year

High School football takes over the spotlight Friday night in the Pitt-Greene-Martin county area, and five games, plus an intra-squad scrimmage highlight the weekend.

All of the schools in the area, with the exception of Farmville's H. B. Sugg will be opening their season. Sugg will hold its first Blue-White Game, and then open next week.

Two of the games involve area teams going against each other. Greene Central plays host to Ayden, while Robersonville travels to Williamston.

In the other contests, Farmville is at Hobpton for a conference encounter, while Saratoga visits Grifton in another loop battle. South Ayden goes to J. T. Barber in the other contest.

Farmville's Red Devils are coming off one of their better years of late, going to the Eastern finals of the Class 2-A Playoffs before bowing last season. This year, however, there is an entire new coaching staff for the Red Devils. Gone too are some of the players who helped Farmville along to the title last year.

There are some back, too, and new coach Gene Brewer has an excellent base to build on for this year. Hobpton, the traditional opener for Farmville since it joined the Eastern Plains conference, usually provides the Red Devils with a tough game, and this one is expected to be no different.

The Ayden-Greene Central contest may be something of a grudge match. The Rams have never beaten the Tornadoes, and some feel this could be the year. Highlighting the Rams is the play of end Ron Bowen and fullback Robbie Hill, and tackle David Shackelford. The trio could be the ones to bring down the Ayden record.

The Tornadoes, young and inexperienced, will rely on the passing of Alan Wilson to bring them a start of another winning season.

Robersonville, probably at its strongest in recent years, is also coming off a championship year, having won the Tobacco Belt crown before falling before Ayden, which eventually won the state title. The Rams will be looking for a tough game from Williamston, however, another title winning team.

The Green Wave took a heavy victory over Robersonville last year, then went on to capture the Albemarle 2-A title. Williamston isn't picked to do it again, this year, but Robersonville Coach Noland Respass feels the Wave have a good chance at repeating.

Grifton is another school opening a conference game with a new coach. Last year Grifton appeared to be headed for its second straight Tobacco Belt title, but it lost the final game, and Robersonville sneaked past the Bulldogs into the winner's circle.

This year Grifton is again among the contenders in the conference, and the Saratoga game could go a long way in predicting the future.

South Ayden's Eagles kick off the season against J. T. Barber of New-Bern, and anticipate a tough contest.

GIMMES DON'T COUNT

MARCO ISLAND, Fla. (AP) — Jimmie Demaret registered seven birdies and a 67 in the Tony Lema Memorial pro-amateur here this spring but his score didn't count.

The three-time Masters champion picked up instead of holing a short putt on the third hole after one of his amateur partners had parred the hole.

As a result, first prize of $750 went to Londoner Malcolm Gregson with a 68.

Grunts, Groans, Hopes Mark Practice At Rose

VERBAL SPANKING . . . Coach James Brewington scolds a player for making the wrong move at the right time; in the end the player got it straight.

THE HUDDLE . . . Coach Bud Phillips gives the players some advice in one of the frequently seen huddles during a scrimmage game.

CATCH . . . Russ Smith practices with Mike Harrington to get limbered up before a practice session.

PARENTS WATCH . . . Parents of many of the players as well as persons just interested in watching practice, line the practice field most sessions to get a glance at the young men at work.

Football practice—hours of sweat, dirt, blood, anger at self and others, happiness in a well-executed play, and a cool drink of water.

Football for a high school boy is pain, joy, and opportunity.

The pain comes from the scraped skin. The bloody nose. The stumbling blur of vision when you've been hit just a little hard. The occasional broken bone. Or the inward pain when the coach's voice cuts into you after a missed block or a fumbled pass.

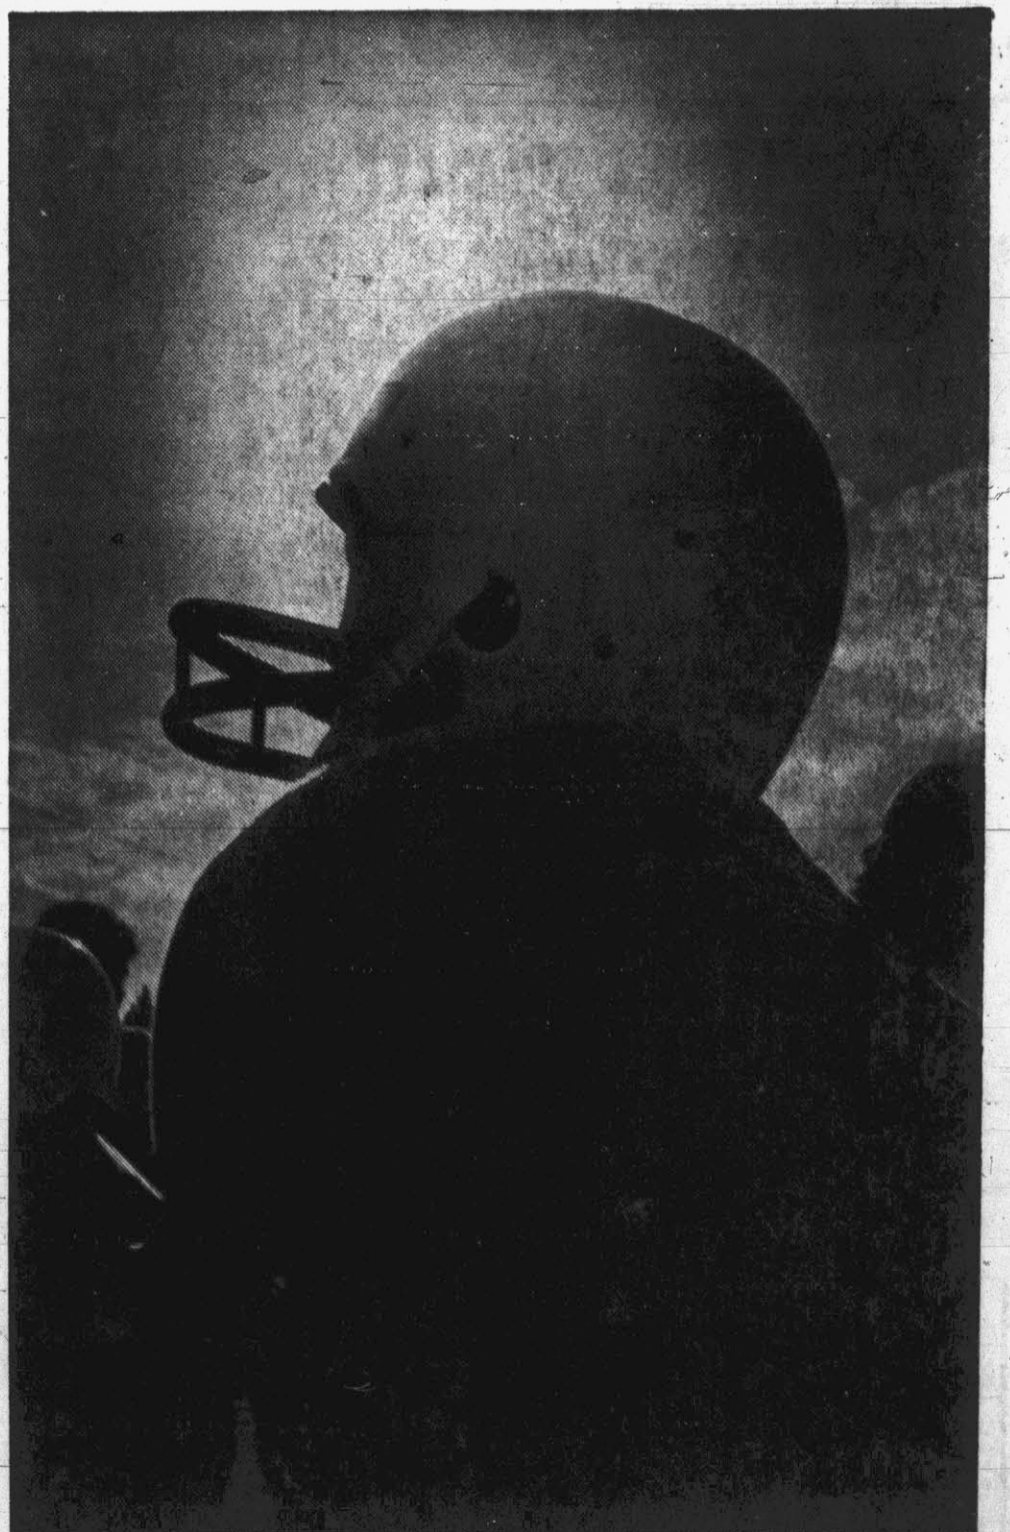

The joy comes with the thrill of a block you threw breaking loose a halfback for a touchdown in scrimmage. Or the pass you caught that gained a first down on third-and-long. Or just being able to say "I made it" when others have quit along the way.

The opportunity comes in many ways. It is the chance to do something that is, in reality, fun. It is the chance to get rid of some of the frustrations of youth. It is the chance to impress that blonde sophomore you used to tease, but now try to please.

But what is more, football is the chance to start that first step toward the real goal, becoming a man.

—WOODY PEELE

Lives Have Been Changed By Miss America Title

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—She's a grandmother. She's a show business personality. She's an activist who walks the picket line to protest. She's the watchdog for consumers in the nation's largest city.

She's a woman who would, or would not, go through all that again.

Who is she? She is many women, all former Miss Americas, winners of the venerable contest for beauty, personality and talent which has been an annual event since 1921—with one exception, 1934. That was one of the depression years and the contest was cancelled.

The first Miss America was Margaret Gorman, a wee lass (five feet, one inch) from Washington, D.C. She's now Mrs. Victor Cahill, widowed since 1957, and still living in the Capital. If she had the whole thing to do over she "wouldn't," Mrs. Cahill told UPI reporter Carol Ross.

Mrs. Cahill is more realistic than nostalgic about the past and the fact that she was the first Miss America, chosen from contestants from eight eastern cities.

Birth Of A Pageant
A group of eastern newspaper managers thought up the idea of a popularity contest, the winner to receive a week's vacation in Atlantic City, N.J. Atlantic City hotelmen got into the act and a pageant was born.

"It was all different back then," says Mrs. Cahill. "I was just 16 years old when I entered. After it was over, I just went back to high school and nobody said anything or made any fuss."

It certainly was different. The contest since has come to represent all 50 states, it has spawned directly or indirectly so many pageants you lose count, and the Miss America of 1970, to be selected Sept. 6 will gross more than $100,000 in her reign, part of that in scholarships bringing the total in educational aids for Miss Americas, runners-up and local and state winners through the years to $7,535,000.

NBC which will televise the coronation of the new queen (10 p.m. to midnight EDT) estimates the viewing audience will be 75 million, as blonde Judith Anne Ford, of Belvidere, Ill., the 1969 winner, passes the gold and glory in to another girl.

It's a gruelling test for a girl and many, like Mrs. Cahill, say now they'd never have entered had they known the trauma that goes along with the rewards of the pageant. Others would, if they had it to do all over again.

Launched Careers
The title has launched many a career into movies, on television, in related fields, even into government. To find what's happened to former Miss Americas, how they now view the contest, United Press International interviewed many of them from Mrs. Cahill on through those who reigned in the 1930's, the '40s, '50s and '60s.

"It's just fantastic... the long range value," said Mrs. Kyle Rote, wife of the sportscaster and former football star. She, as Sharon Ritchie, of Denver, Colo., won the title in 1956. Now living in Manhattan, Mrs. Rote is doing television commercials and bringing up two sons, 9 and 11, from her first marriage to Don Cherry, the golfer-singer.

The pageant was "the luckiest thing that ever happened to me, outside of Frank," says Lee Ann Meriwether, now Mrs. Frank Aletter, of Granada Hills, Calif., near Los Angeles. Mrs. Aletter, who took the title in 1955, went on to a career on television and in the movies. The acting she did was a "delightful" hobby, she said, but right now "my home and

Executives Are Their Favorites

NEW DELHI (AP) — Indian airline hostesses prefer business executives for passengers.

"They are chic, polished and courteous," many of them said in interviews for jobs, the Indian Airlines magazine reported.

Politicians ranked next in preferences, although, as some said the politicians lacked grace and poise. Government officials ranked a poor third.

TRAFFIC TROUBLES

VIENNA (AP) — A young man who tried to hit a policeman with his unlicensed sports car in a no-driving zone told a judge he used the car in the zone as there was less traffic. He was sentenced to a suspended seven-month prison term.

my family are my main career." The Aletters have two daughters, Kyle, 9, and Lesley, 6.

"It was wonderful being Miss America," says Mrs. Donald E. Ruhlman, of Dayton, Ohio, who was only 15 when she sang her way to the title in 1933. The former Marion Bergeron believes she is the youngest winner ever; she was still in high school in West Haven, Conn., but had a tutor so she could make the necessary personal appearances.

Back To Normal

Mrs. Ruhlman met her husband on the tour. They've been married 32 years and have three grown children all living at home. She believes most pageant winners go back to "normal" living after their reign—"revert back to an average housewife, average woman who raises children, attends PTS's and sings in the choir."

But the role for some ex-hardly could be called "average."

Yolane Betheze Fox, Miss America of 1951 from Mobile, Ala., is an outspoken activist. Widowed since 1964 and living in Washington, D.C., with her six-year-old daughter, Mrs. Fox spends much of her time in Washington on picket lines. "I'm absolutely anti-ABM, in every possible way," she told UPI. "Unfortunately, I don't have as much time as I would like to get out there in those picket lines."

Mrs. Fox expresses violent opposition to the war in Vietnam, fully supports student actions on the campuses and in general "truly" admires the young people of today.

"I wish I could be in their place today," she says. "We had nothing to identify with when I was in school... I'm sorry I'm over 30."

Mrs. Fox has helped to judge the pageant twice—and tells from this experience that some of the judges selected aren't suited to the job in the sense of selecting the top caliber. "Unfortunately," she says, "the most talented and most beautiful girl doesn't always win. And I have yet to see one single black girl in the contest."

Another activist is Bess Myerson, winner in 1945, who is tearing up the pea patch as the New York City commissioner of consumer affairs. In private life, she is Mrs. Arnold Grant, wife of a lawyer and mother of a teen-age beauty.

Dog The Cheaters

Mrs. Grant's job in Mayor John V. Lindsay's cabinet follows a long one in television for her. She and a staff of 300 keep dogging those who cheat the public, whether it is with misleading advertising for furniture and appliances, misleading packaging, or putting out an inferior product at high price.

Although her brunette beauty and musical talent (she went on to get a master's degree in music from Columbia University) started her career, Mrs. Grant now tells those around her, "I'd rather be known some day as a former commissioner than as a former Miss America."

One characteristic seems common with all former Miss Americas—the discipline of mind and body they have that keeps them active, interested, attractive and younger looking than their years.

Mrs. B. F. Rogers, of Miami, Fla., wife of an airlines pilot and a grandmother of three, believes her 52 years both in looks and interests. Mrs. Rogers was Marilyn Meske, of Marion, Ohio, when she captured the title in 1938. She and her husband travel extensively, collecting antiques—they are leaving for Europe in early September.

Mrs. Rogers, once a dance teacher, now gives piano lessons, teaches Sunday school, is active in the Women's Society of Christian Service, and is mistress of a graciously furnished home in Miami. Like other former titleholders, she has helped to judge local or state pageants.

"Possibly Miss America in the 1970's will model a space suit," Mrs. Rogers says, "but I don't think beauty will range to a great degree."

Does TV Work

Marilyn Van Derbur, Miss America in 1958, continues pageant work, public appearances, and lectures. During a busy season, she will address as many as five conventions a day. Now Mrs. Lawrence Adler, wife of a Denver, Colo., attorney, she also does television, was a hostess for the Indianapolis 500 auto race and will work with Jack Linkletter in the Cotton Bowl Parade.

Another who lectures frequently is Mrs. Carl Sempier, wife of a Valley Forge, Pa., businessman. Mrs. Sempier, now mother of two daughters 13 and 10, won the title in 1954 as Evelyn Margaret Ay. from Ephrata, Pa.

She appears before women's and industrial groups and said that for women's groups her topic always is—"the Miss America story" and for business groups, "how to manage managers."

Her Miss America background has had some effect on the type of games her children play, she said. "They often play 'pageant' right down to the judges."

She was asked, "do they then come over and crown you Miss America?" "Oh, no," she laughed, "to them I'm a has-been in that respect."

THE REIGNING MISS AMERICA, Judith Anne Ford, of Belvidere, Ill., is crowned by her predecessor Debra Dene Barnes of Norman, Okla., at left. Twelve years ago (1957) Marilyn Van Derbur, of Denver, was chosen to reign. (UPI Telephoto)

The Worry Clinic

Parable Formula Used By Top Pulpit Orators

Head Dr. Goff's indictment of seminary students! Church attendance depends on superb oratory in the pulpit. For it takes a livewire at the lectern to electrify a congregation. Yet too many clerics have burnt out, fuses! The parishioners don't get a charge out of them on Sunday. For such preachers reverence polysyllabic circumlocutions and long prayers!

By GEORGE W. CRANE Ph. D., M. D. CASE K-566: Dr. Charles Ray Goff is one of America's foremost pulpit orators. He and I were classmates back at the Northwestern University School when Lou Sartell was the superb professor of "Persuasion," as well as "Debate" and other basic courses.

subconsciously noted that the audience leaned back in their seats and acted bored.

But as soon as an actual case was mentioned and outlined in narrative fashion, the crowd would lean forward eagerly.

Foremost orators always have maintained close eye-contact with their audiences, so they begin to seek more and more actual stories or examples drawn from the daily experiences of the crowd.

Without consciously realizing it they thus spontaneously evolve the "parable" strategy that Jesus used so successfully.

Soon the young orators begin to string a series of relevant stories, anecdotes and dramatic cases into a sermon or oration.

They will start with a profound text or title, but then employ pertinent stories, like beads on a wire, to advance their thought to a dramatic climax.

This is a sure-fire formula, but many erudite clergy with advanced college and seminary degrees can't do it. Why?

"Because it is too simple and they can't comprehend simplicity!"

"Previously, I told you that one of America's greatest magicians, Dr. Harlan Tarbell, told me he couldn't teach some of his best tricks, because:

"They are too simple and most Americans can't comprehend simplicity!"

Dr. Goff and I have lectured at dozens of theological seminaries, trying to put across this guaranteed recipe for a superb sermon.

Thus, we both addressed the Garrett Biblical Institute men on this point.

"But I couldn't put it across," Dr. Goff told me at luncheon the next day.

"For they are so steeped in polysyllables and are looking for things they can't fully comprehend, that they ignore simplicity."

Our formula for public speaking is so self-evident that they can't grasp it!"

And if you think we are wrong, just listen to your own clergyman on Sunday and see if he still tries to pontificate in polysyllables in an "essay" type of discourse, instead of keeping the parishioners eagerly leaning forward in the pews in rapt attention.

Teen-age athletes pattern after the stars. Thus, pitchers study and imitate McLain, Gibson and other great pros.

But 25 of our clerics, who are duds in the pulpit, still refuse to watch the technique of Dr. Peale, Oral Roberts, Billy Graham, Dr. Goff, Bishop Sheen and the other "pros" of pulpit oratory.

So send for my booklet "Public Platform Strategy," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents, and learn how to fill the pews! Then you can soon double the attendance (and your salary, too).

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Wall Street Might Practice What It Teaches--- Some Day

By JOHN CUNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Some time soon, perhaps by the end of the year, Wall Street may be practicing what it preaches and a lot of investors and brokers will be saying it's about time.

Least the statement appear too broad in its implications, a limited meaning is quickly offered: Wall Street brokerage houses are considering going public; they are planning to sell their shares to investors.

Brokers always have made their money by investing in corporations or in advising others to do so. But never have they permitted anyone but very close associates to share in a piece of their own action. That was forbidden.

The situation now has come to a head. Brokers need money badly to continue with expansion plans, among other things, and the only way to get that money is to tap the reservoirs of funds owned by millions of investors.

These are some of the problems that led to stock exchange approval of the concept:

—Brokers never have had a secure, permanent capital base. The funds they use come from owner-members of the firm. And when one of these departs he sometimes takes the money with him.

—The growth of investor institutions, such as mutual funds, means multimillion dollar orders. These demand great sums of capital. It is all but impossible to handle such orders effectively without a large capital base.

—The need to modernize has required heavy expenditures of existing capital, especially to purchase electronic computers and to modernize operational, or back room, procedures.

The need for capital was recognized years ago, and late in 1967 the New York Stock Exchange endorsed the idea of brokerage houses selling their debt securities to the public. This meant approval to borrow from outsiders.

Later this month a special exchange committee plans to present detailed proposals for making public ownership possible. After that a maze of complications must be cleared.

First, the matter must be discussed with the Securities and Exchange Commission, which not only regulates the securities business but could destroy the entire plan should it not meet its criteria.

The SEC is going to be especially interested in provisions for assuring that the exchange and the SEC retain their regulatory controls. It is expected that strict limitations will be made on who can and cannot own stock.

After that the issues must be submitted to member firms of the NYSE. There are 1,366 of them and many are old-time firms which don't completely approve of every newfangled idea, this one included.

A majority of these members must vote for a quorum to be reached. And then a majority of the quorum must be for the issue before it can go forward. It could be cleared within a few weeks. It could take months. It could fail.

New Brubeck Work Readied

CINCINNATI (AP) — "The Gates of Justice," a new cantata by Dave Brubeck, will be given its world premiere Oct. 19 at dedication ceremonies for the new Rockdale Temple here.

A second performance will be Oct. 27 at the 50th general assembly of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations in Miami Beach.

This is Brubeck's second extended religious work, following by a year and a half his oratorio, "The Light in the Wilderness," based on the temptations and teachings of Christ.

He formerly was known primarily as a jazz pianist. Harold Orbach, cantor of Temple Israel, Detroit, will be tenor soloist at the premiere and McHenry Boatwright, will be the bass-baritone.

The cantata was commissioned by the College-Conservatory of Music, University of Cincinnati, in cooperation with the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, the central congregational body of Reform Judaism in the U.S. and Canada.

Athletes Also Top Scholars

BYRON, Wyo. (AP) — Two Byron high school students don't believe the old adage that athletics and good grades don't mix.

Mike Neville and Sheldon Carter both received four letters apiece in football, basketball and track. Both were chosen on the Associated Press all-state football team—Neville at end and Carter at quarterback. Both were honorable mention on the all-state basketball team. Both won state championships in track.

Neville was the valedictorian of the class. Carter was the salutatorian.

ON TO COLLEGE ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Sixty-seven per cent of all high school graduates in New York State last year went on to enroll in colleges, the State Education Department reports. The previous year, 65 per cent did so.

Face-Lifting Is Set For Vienna

VIENNA (AP) — Down-town Vienna, with its picture-book church spires and greenish domes, is facing a major face-lift over the next 11 years, but its exterior will remain unchanged and tourists will not be barred from a single historic sight.

The face-lift will consist mainly of a modern underground or subway system and of a ring of garages—costing about $260 million.

Run-down historic buildings will be reconstructed and their facades will remain the same.

The entrances to the subway lines—which will run from the St. Stephen's Cathedral, Vienna's age-old symbol, to the outskirts of the first district—will be built at St. Stephen's Square and at the St. Charles Church. Construction of the underground, planned before World War I, is scheduled to begin in the fall.

Precautions have been taken to protect both the frescoes of St. Charles Church and any Roman ruins or catacombs workers might come across as they dig 24 meters below street level. Any archaeological finds will be removed by specialists.

The subway lines and 28 garages, most of these underground, are sorely needed in downtown Vienna.

Seventy per cent of the Viennese employed in banking and 60 per cent of the city's insurance employees work here, and almost all Austrian Government offices and ministries are located downtown, along with the Parliament, the University and the Vienna City Hall.

Vienna's narrow lanes cannot cope with the growing traffic, and parking space is at a premium.

Garages are to be built near the underground stations, and some will be connected with the subway by below-surface tunnels.

These garages are to be financed in part by private foreign capital. There will be new short-parking zones and large no-parking zones in the first district.

A main shopping street, the fashionable Karntnerstrasse, and several other principal streets are to become a pedestrian zone.

Slow Progress In Male Ratio

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP) — By the end of 1968 Hungary's population numbered 10,275,000 persons, 39,000 more than the previous year, the news agency MTI reported.

There were 33,596 more females than men but this ratio was slowly changing. While in 1949 the ratio was 1,081 women for each 1,000 males last year it was 1,068 to 1,000.

BEAT ODDS

WIGGINS, Colo. (AP) — A Guernsey milk cow on an eastern Colorado farm beat high odds by giving birth to triplets, a bull and two heifers. A veterinarian said the chances of triple births among cattle are one in almost 107,000 births.

Goren on BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN (1919; by The Chicago Tribune) East-West vulnerable. East deals.

- NORTH ♠ J 6 ♥ 9 5 3 ♦ K 9 8 ♣ K 9 7 6 WEST ♠ 8 7 3 ♥ K Q 8 7 6 4 ♦ J 4 3 2 ♣ Pass EAST ♠ 9 4 2 ♥ A J ♦ Q 10 7 6 ♣ J 10 8 5 SOUTH ♠ A K Q 10 5 ♥ 10 2 ♦ A 5 ♣ A Q 5 2

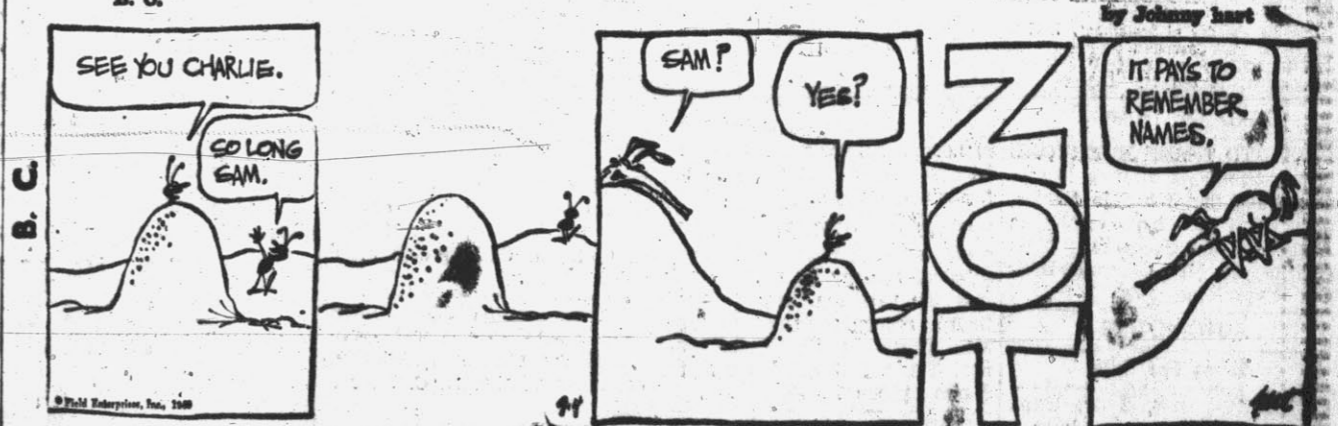

The bidding: East South West North Pass 1 ♣ Pass 1 NT Pass 3 ♣ Pass 4 ♣ Pass 4 ♣ Pass Pass Opening lead: King of ♠ A cleverly contrived defensive effort upset South's four spade contract which had left the post as an odds on favorite. West led the king of hearts. East overtook with the ace and was on the verge of returning the jack when he paused to reflect on the situation. South's club bid had presumably marked him with four of that suit which meant that West was void of clubs. Giving West one ruff in the suit would be merely breaking even, however, for East had a natural trick in clubs. If the declarer had two hearts, East spotted a way to give his partner a second ruff provided that the latter lent his full cooperation to the trick.

At trick two, East returned the jack of clubs, which West, of course, trumped. West was not the least tempted to return a diamond, inasmuch as East's play of his highest club was a clear-cut suit preference signal stating that his reentry was in hearts — the higher ranking of the two plain suits.

Altho his queen of hearts was the master card, West followed his partner's instruction and returned a small heart. East's jack won the trick and another club lead enabled West to ruff for the setting trick.

Observe that West's play of a small heart cannot lose because his partner had indicated that he has a control in the suit. If East's ace of hearts was a singleton, he would be able to ruff the next lead. If he has the ace-jack doubleton, however, it is-of the essence to put him in with the jack before declarer can take charge of the proceedings.

African Preacher Dies In Pulpit

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — An African preacher collapsed and died in his pulpit with the words "The Lord give and the Lord taketh" on his lips.

A member of the Apostolic Faith Church at Hammanskraal near here said guest preacher William Kau Mosue, 39, was delivering a sermon when he "suddenly became pale and his tone changed. He shouted at the top of his voice 'The Lord give and the Lord taketh' and dropped dead with the Bible still in his hand. To the congregation, it was a token of his good deeds and words that the Lord took him away then."

LIFE ON PLANETS?

EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP) — Space may contain many planets similar to earth, and if intelligent life exists on them, scientists on earth will be able to communicate with them through special techniques before the end of the century, Scotland's Astronomer Royal, Professor H. A. Bruck, told an Edinburgh meeting of businessmen.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets steady to slightly stronger Wednesday, supplies barely adequate, demand good. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A large whites: 53 1/2 to 54; medium whites: 45 1/2 to 46 1/2; small whites: 34 to 35.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—The North Carolina hog market today was steady to mostly 25 cents lower. Tops at 24.50-25.00 at Wilson and Rocky Mount; 23.50-24.50 at Bethel; 23.75-24.25 at Siler City and Denton; 25.25 at Salisbury; and 24.25 at Greensboro.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—The North Carolina poultry market today was steady. Prices at farms were mostly 14 1/2.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was off sharply in moderately active trading early this afternoon, with declines ahead of advances by better than 450 issues.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 7.59 at 828.06.

Analysts said some investors apparently continued disappointed by the market's inability to follow through on its advance of late last week.

They said the market could be heading for another test of the 800 level on the DJI but added that "if the market keeps sliding, it could bring in some selective buying to buoy it a bit."

Cied as weighing on the market, in part, were reports that the administration planned to cut back on federally financed construction projects as an inflation fighting measure.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was off 2.0 at 291.2, with industrials off 3.5, rails off .7, and utilities off 1.0.

Occidental Petroleum, which has large interests in Libya where a new regime has taken over, was soft again, off 3/4 at 28 1/2. It lost a total of more than 5 points Tuesday and Wednesday.

The failure came at 12:28 p.m. EDT.

RALEIGH (AP)—Breeding hogs will not be displayed this year at the North Carolina State Fair because of an outbreak of hog cholera in eastern North Carolina.

Dr. Thomas F. Zweigart, state veterinarian, said Wednesday market hogs will be shown and then slaughtered immediately after they are examined for cholera.

Parents Protest Poor Facilities

WHITEVILLE, N. C. (AP)—Parents of nearly 300 Indian children protested Wednesday conditions at the consolidated school to which their children were assigned.

They threatened to return their children to an Indian school which has been closed facilities were classrooms and inadequate cafeteria are improved. They said buses and classrooms were crowded, the cafeteria was inadequate, and more toilet facilities were needed.

Charge Father In Baby's Death

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—A murder charge has been filed against 17-year-old Mariano P. Lopez in the fatal beating of his infant son.

Five-month-old Mario Lopez died at Mercy Hospital Wednesday, several hours after Lopez and his wife took the child there.

Dr. William Mosign, a medical examiner, said the child died of a fractured skull.

Briefs

NEW YORK (AP)—Trading was suspended for a half-hour Wednesday on the New York Stock Exchange after a power failure caused the Exchange's computers to shut off.

Consolidated Edison Co. said a 138,000-volt feeder cable had failed, sharply reducing current in lower Manhattan. The computers were shut off by a safety device to prevent damage from operating at low current.

Lights flickered but remained on as the stock ticker stopped. Trading continued for several minutes, then the Board of Governors called a halt until the ticker was turned back on.

The failure came at 12:28 p.m. EDT.

RALEIGH (AP)—Breeding hogs will not be displayed this year at the North Carolina State Fair because of an outbreak of hog cholera in eastern North Carolina.

Dr. Thomas F. Zweigart, state veterinarian, said Wednesday market hogs will be shown and then slaughtered immediately after they are examined for cholera.

WILL ASK LAW

COLUMBIA (AP)—Gov. Robert McNair, S. C., said today he will ask the 1970 General Assembly to enact a law to prohibit strikes of public employees.

'Poor Man's Bob Hope' Is Regular Vietnam Visitor

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—They meet on Christmas Day at some huge military base in Vietnam. "I'm the poor man's Bob Hope," Johnny Grant cracks before the audience of American soldiers.

"And I'm the rich man's Johnny Grant," replies Bob Hope.

This badinage has been repeated for the past four Christmases and is likely to be heard again this year. It appears that the yuletide wouldn't be right in Vietnam without the presence of Bob Hope—and Johnny Grant.

Former disc jockey Grant is a glib, dimpled emcee of irrefragable cheer, a local fixture at movie premieres, Republican rallies and civic events.

Each December and June, Grant gathers a clutch of cuties and heads for the hospitals and advanced posts of Vietnam.

"This last trip was my ninth, and the best one yet," he reports. "I've never seen morale so high. The boys are cheerful about the prospect of pulling out, yet they want to be sure that the South Vietnamese are prepared to take over when they do."

Grant's kind of tour is not like Hope's, which plays to acres of tanned, laughing faces.

"Our audience numbers from 10 to 500," said Grant. "It's what is called a handshake tour, and in its own way is just as effective as Hope's."

"I take along relative unknowns; this time it was Donna DeVarona, the Olympic swimmer, Arlene Charles, a former beauty queen and Marsha Bennett, one of our many Miss Californias last year. There's no show. We come in on the helicopter and get out and start mingling."

"The girls pose for photographs and talk to the boys while I get on the bullhorn and tell jokes and heckle them. It helps to take unknowns because the boys warm up to them faster than they would to an Ann-Margret, say."

Grant indoctrinates his girls with care. First he takes them to a Stateside hospital to see how they react among the wounded. Then he gives them a fatherly lecture about their behavior on the trip—"no miniskirts" culottes only."

Good condition is a necessity. The troupe is up at 6 and makes 12 to 15 stops with the helicopter, spending a half-hour with each group. The tour extends 17 days.

Danger? "Sure, there's some, but no worse than on the freeway," said Grant. "The only close call I've had was on the last trip when they threw 12 rockets at us. We ducked into a bunker until it was over. The only casualty was my Mickey Mouse watch, which stopped when I hit it on the bunker."

Grant has made 35 overseas trips to entertain soldiers since the Korean War, and he intends to continue. Said he: "I got this date with Hope at Christmas—"

Second Day Of Heavy Rainfall

NEW YORK (AP)—Record rains fell in New York and New Jersey again today, causing widespread flooding, power failures, and snarling automobile and rail traffic. By 9 a.m. today, the Weather Bureau said, 5.38 inches of rain had fallen since Wednesday morning, a figure higher than the normal total for September.

The 2.47 inches that had fallen during the first nine hours today, and with no letup in sight, approached the Sept. 4 record of 3.48 inches set in 1913.

In Newark, N.J., police said some cars were submerged in five to six feet of water.

When inflation starts pinching decent folks in the clothing store, it's time to take a stand.

Inflation gets more uppity every day. Pinching people when they buy clothing. And in the supermarket. In public. And in the privacy of their own homes. And there's no sign that its manners are improving.

It's time you got mad enough to do something about it. And that means getting serious, and systematized, about making your money grow to meet the growing demands. True, almost everybody knows that savings is the safe way to make your money grow. But with prices going sky high, we thought people could stand a little reminding. Right now, your money should be working hard. Earning 5% quarterly in a Planters savings certificate. Or doing the same in a Golden Passbook account. Or even earning daily interest in a regular PNB savings account. Whichever one best suits your financial needs. So come in to Planters—and discuss which plan is best for you. It makes us upset when inflation pinches and gets away with it. Right now, take a stand. We'll stand with you.
