DAVID WILCOX — "A lovely little guy", mourns last of five foster fathers. (AP Wirephoto)

A Foster Father Mourns David, 4

KEY BISCAIYNE, Fla. (AP) — Little David Wilcox was only 4 when he died. But he had lived in five foster homes before being adopted by the couple now charged with his death. "He was a lovely little guy," mourned Harry Shellenberger, the last of David's five foster fathers. "When the people at the Catholic Social Service Bureau told us he'd been adopted, it was hard to take," he said, "I took him to the airport myself."

Greenville's Only One Of Many Bids

CHARLOTTE — Our position is that we are going to evaluate all localities seriously who have expressed interest in our coming," an official of Fiber Industries said today in commenting on a letter to the firm's president from Dr. Leo W. Jenkins urging Fiber Industries to construct a $100 million plant in Eastern North Carolina. Dick Shalie, director of engineering for Fiber Industries this morning said "many such letters" have been received since the company withdrew its plans to locate a polyester plant in Orange county between Chapel Hill and Durham in the face of strong opposition. Both Duke University and the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill opposed the plant location on grounds that large amounts of treated waste would be dumped into New Hope Creek which is used as a natural laboratory by the two schools. Dr. Jenkins, East Carolina University president, wrote Fiber Industries' president Robert L. Dietrich, urging the firm to locate in Eastern North Carolina because "we need industry here and have the facilities." Jenkins' letter also offered Dietrich any assistance possible in making a decision. Commenting on the letter, Dietrich said Fiber Industries — owned by Celanese Corp. and Imperial Chemicals Ltd. of London, England — is under no

Seven Men Die In Crash Of B52

LIMESTONE, Maine (AP) — All seven men on board a B-52 bomber were killed when the giant aircraft crashed and burned shortly after takeoff from Loring Air Force Base, the Air Force said today. An Air Force spokesman said the eight-engine jet, which was on a training mission, crashed Thursday night in a boggy wilderness approximately three miles north of the end of the runway. Officials said Air Force personnel had to bulldoze their way into the wreckage. They reported recovery of all the bodies. Six of the seven men on board were stationed at Loring, officials said. The seventh was riding as an observer.

Busy Beaver Gives Up

DELANSON, N. Y. (AP) — The pesky and persistent beaver finally departed Thursday, after delighting children and causing a temporary state of emergency. The beaver took up residence in a small pond about 10 days ago and built a dam to provide himself more water. The dam shut off the water supply for this village of 500 persons and for a central school. As soon as state and local officials destroyed the dam, up it went again. The beaver had construction help from school children, after lack of water forced closing of school for a day and a half. Traps were also sprung by children. Officials said the beaver was one of the largest they had ever seen and estimated he weighed about 50 pounds. Harassment apparently drove him away.

Brazil Accepts Kidnap Demands

BULLETIN RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — The Brazilian government announced today it has accepted all the demands made by the terrorists who kidnaped U.S. Ambassador Charles Burke Elbrick.

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — A housewife who witnessed the kidnaping of U.S. Ambassador Charles Burke Elbrick said today she telephoned police about a group of suspicious men near the embassy 55 minutes before the abduction but was told not to worry about them. Police said four gunmen intercepted Elbrick's limousine at 1:50 p.m. Thursday and carried him off in a Volkswagen station wagon. They left a ransom note giving Brazil's military junta 48 hours to release 15 political prisoners in exchange for Elbrick, and broadcast a manifesto saying the government was a dictatorship.

Elbrick's driver, Custodio Abel da Silva, who was left behind by the kidnapers, said the ambassador tried to resist when the men ordered him out of the limousine "but he was not mistreated."

If the junta did not comply, the note said, Elbrick would be executed. It added that the deadline would not be postponed and "we will not hesitate to carry out our promises."

The three military chiefs who took over from ailing President Arthur da Costa e Silva Sunday night quickly complied with the second demand. Television stations interrupted regular programs to broadcast the manifesto. Radio stations said the text had been released but they did not read a full version. Newspapers were planning to publish the antigovernment blast in today's editions.

The kidnapers' note told the government to deliver the 15 prisoners by special plane "to a determined county — Algeria, Chile or Mexico — where they will be granted political asylum."

The names of the prisoners were not announced, but it was believed they include some of the 29 members of a terrorist group called MR-8 who were arrested in July.

MR-8 was one of the signers of the manifesto. The other was a group called the National Liberation Action. Their document said the two groups would no longer tolerate torture, beating and killing of their members by the government.

$71.31 Day On Tobacco Mart

The average price per hundred pounds of leaf sold on the Greenville Tobacco Market yesterday was $71.31, placing it second among the four markets which sold over a million pounds of tobacco yesterday.

Wilson had the highest average on the Eastern Belt yesterday. The Cooperative Stabilization Corporation yesterday received 96,942 pounds of leaf on the Greenville market accounting for 5.06 per cent of the gross sales.

A tabulation of sales on the individual markets in the Eastern Belt as reported by the Federal-State Market News Service includes:

Table with columns: MARKET, POUNDS, DOLLARS, AVG. It lists tobacco sales data for various markets including Ahsokie, Clinton, Dunn, Farmville, Goldsboro, Greenville, Kinston, Robersonville, Rocky Mount, Smithfield, Tarboro, Wallace, Washington, Wendell, Williamston, Wilson, Windsor, and Totals.

Would Be Issued Only As Needed

Councilmen Take First Step On Utilities Bonds

By ALVIN TAYLOR Reflector Managing Editor Councilmen last night took the first step toward a Dec. 2 election on the issuing of $4 million maximum in revenue bonds for sanitary sewer, water, gas and electric improvements. The bond election was requested by Utilities Commission chairman Ed Waldrop. "We have reached the point where we need additional money to keep up with the times," he told the council. "The only way we can get money is to go in the market and borrow."

City Manager Harry Hagerly pointed out that if voters approve of issuing the revenue bonds, they would be issued only as needed to finance specific utilities projects. If certain federal grants materialize the entire $4 million might not be needed.

The revenue bonds would be paid off from Utilities revenues, as opposed to city general obligation bonds which are paid off through tax funds.

City Manager Harry Hagerly last night reported to the council that the city's insurance carrier had refused to pay damages on the Mack Fleming home, which he claimed were caused by dynamiting in Green Springs Park. The council granted a request for use of a mobile home on the Hugh C. Winslow property on Hooker Road.

Councilmen took no action on a Norfolk and Southern proposal that the city pay for certain materials to install drainage tile for Fomes Run under the railroad's tracks.

City Engineer C. A. Holiday reported that the city's share of the cost would be $4,129.15. Mayor Pro-tem Percy Cox, who presided over last night's meeting, instructed the city attorney to discuss the matter further with the railroad.

The city plans to make improvements on Fomes Run.

Councilmen gave the Utilities Commission permission to construct an overhead transmission line on Charles Street from U.S. 294 to Sanford Drive (entrance to Ficklen Stadium).

Utilities Director Charles Horne said the cost of underground ducts would be $112,270 compared with $13,500 for the overhead lines. He said improvements are being made in underground cables and he foresaw placing the lines underground when Charles Street is improved.

In other matters last night the council:

—approved expanding the Good Neighbor Council from eight to ten members.

—approved a parade permit for Rose High Homecoming on Oct. 17.

—approved tax return to M. E. Sutton for taxes paid in error.

—heard report on status of paving projects.

—approved changes in proposed routing of N.C. 903 and N.C. 11.

—approved purchase of three inch polyster fire hose at $1.95 per foot and 1 1/2 inch hose at 92 cents per foot from the Eureka company, which submitted the low bid.

THE COMMANDING GENERAL RELENTS — Banned from Ft. Bragg by the provost marshal, the psychedelic car of

Spec. 5 Harold McCurry was given a reprieve by the post's Commanding General. (AP Wirephoto)

General Upholds 'Psychedelic Car'

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — The commanding general if Ft. Bragg says Spec. 5 Harold McCurry, who was ordered to get his car off post because of its psychedelic paint job, can keep the car—and the paint job—after all.

Furthermore, Lt. Gen. John J. Tolson said today, he has ordered that post regulations on the painting of privately owned automobiles be immediately reviewed.

Tolson ordered the provost marshal's office to continue McCurry's car registration after the story of the soldier's plight was carried in the Fayetteville Observer and on Associated Press wires.

McCurry, 22, from Marion, N. C., and a friend painted the car in psychedelic swirls of nine colors three weeks ago. They also wrote "love" on the doors and plastered a decal of flowers on windows.

When McCurry took the car to a water hole to wash it, a military policeman saw it and ordered McCurry to get it off post. McCurry went to his commanding officer and together they went to the provost marshal's office.

They were told post regulations prohibit cars registered on the post from being painted in a manner other than manufacturer's paint them. A member of the provost marshal's staff also said the decals were a violation of state and post regulation and the words "love" on the doors amounted to advertising, which is prohibited on cars registered on post. McCurry was given a week to paint the car or get it off post.

McCurry said the paint job was a form of self expression. Tolson apparently agreed. In issuing his order today, he said his main concern was that cars operated on the post are safe. He said he doesn't care about an individual's choice of paint jobs.

Another Heavy Sale In Farmville

FARMVILLE — A total of 770,667 pounds of tobacco was sold on the Farmville Tobacco Market for $544,131, yielding an average of $70.61.

The volume of sales yesterday was the heaviest of the season and consisted mostly of leaf, smoking leaf and nondescript, according to Farmville Sales Supervisor Louis Williams. Stabilization received 34,474 pounds of tobacco for 4.47 per cent of the gross sales.

A total of 8,119,749 pounds of tobacco have been sold on the Farmville market so far this season for a season average of $71.89.

Tax Lowered To Reduce Burden

CHINCOTEAGUE, Va. (AP) — The Town Council of this Eastern Shore island community has dropped the real estate tax rate from $2.75 per $100 of assessed evaluation to $1.60. "We felt we had to relieve the burden on our citizens," Mayor Chester A. Daisey said Thursday.

He said services would not have to be curtailed, and the city's $200,000 budget would be met.

Jetport Project Said Ruled Out

MIAMI (AP) — President Nixon was reported today to have ruled out construction of a jetport that conservationists feared would ruin the Everglades National Park.

A spokesman at the Western White House in San Clemente, Calif., said he knew nothing of such a decision. But the Miami Herald quoted Nathaniel P. Reed, Gov. Claude Kirk's conservation aide, as saying the report was true.

Recover Truck, But Not Tobacco

TRUCK RECOVERED — Investigating officers examine stolen truck that was recovered near Grimesland late yesterday afternoon minus its cargo. The truck was loaded with 4,000 pounds of tobacco and was reported stolen from

Two Appointments Made At Council Meeting

Two appointments were made at the monthly meeting of the City Council last night. Willard G. Pollard was named as a member of the Permanent Building Codes Review Board. Pollard replaces Franklin Brown, who has moved from Greenville. The term to which he was appointed expires in September 1971. Pollard, of the Pollard's

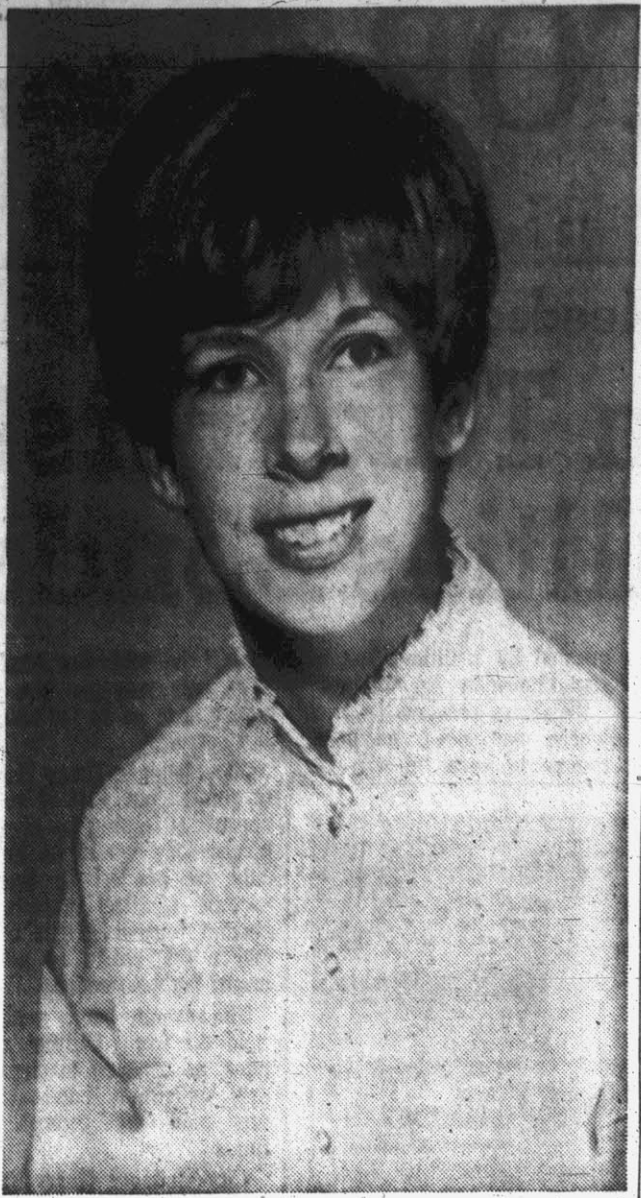

Plumbing, Heating and Air Conditioning Firm, has lived in Greenville for 28 years. "I'm happy to have a chance to serve," he stated, "I'm used to having another job to do, so I'm willing to work for the city."

A native of Pitt County, he is married to a Greenville native, the former Carrie Manning. They have three children two boys and a girl. Pollard is a member of the Greenville Moose Lodge and belongs to the Hooker Memorial Christian Church.

Lloyd Mills, Assistant Postmaster of Greenville, was appointed to a three-year term as an alternate member of the Board of Adjustments. This term, due to expire in June 1972, represents an added member to the board.

Like Pollard, Mills is a native of Pitt County. He attended Winterville schools and is married to the former Martha Whitehurst of Pitt County. They have three children, two boys and a girl. Mills is a member of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church and of the Greenville Moose Lodge. During World War II he served three years in the Navy.

Tell Fiancee How You Feel

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: When my girl and I started making plans for our wedding she said her uncle had a terrific voice and she wanted him to sing at our wedding. I said okay.

Well, this uncle was in town last week and I heard him sing. Abby, I don't claim to be a musician, but this guy can't call hogs. He stands like a prize fighter with his fists all doubled up like he's going to slug somebody. He sings off key, bellows like a bull and when he forgets the words he goes, "Ba ba ba booooo."

He is a swell guy, but I sure don't want him singing at our wedding. How can I get my girl to cancel this uncle?

DELAWARE

DEAR DELAWARE: Tell her (nicely) that you agreed to having her uncle sing before you heard him. And now that you've heard him you think he'd make a better guest than vocalist. Of course if she has already asked him and he accepted, you're sunk.

DEAR ABBY: My faithful husband of 12 years moved to California to take advantage of a job offer. I stayed behind to sell our house and pack up before joining him June 1st.

When I was unable to reach him by phone well past midnight, he told me (the following day) that he had dinner at the apartment of a young divorcee with whom he was working. He assured me it was strictly platonic as she was engaged to a man in Chicago. It upset me terribly, and I asked him please not to do it again. He promised he wouldn't.

to wear slacks. When I arrived, the hostess was elegantly attired in a gown more appropriately suited for an Academy Award presentation. She addressed me only once during the evening—to tell me I reminded her of her "older" sister because of the bags under my eyes! (I am six years her senior.)

Anyway, I told my husband I didn't care to see this couple again. He said I was "foolish"—then our phone bill arrived showing that my husband had called me several times (while I was still in Colorado from HER apartment, after promising he wouldn't see her again. Abby, I am furious.

I told him I didn't want him working with her anymore, and I gave him two weeks to tell her to find employment elsewhere—or I am leaving.

Please tell me if I am a jealous fool, or if you think I have grounds for such drastic action?

NO NAME PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: I think you're "jealous"—and you have a right to be. But you're no fool!

DEAR ABBY: Four years ago I was so much in love with a 16-year-old girl. I thought I couldn't live without her. I tried to talk her into marrying me, but fortunately, she was smarter than I was and told me I would have to wait. She was still in school and I was in the service. We had no money and a lot to learn, and now I realize that if we had married then we'd probably be divorced by now.

She told me that she wanted us both to live a little and find out who we were and what we wanted out of life before jumping into marriage.

Since then I have completed college thru the service and she has completed two years of business school. I've been working for a year and a half. Together we have saved $10,000 and we both have our own cars completely paid for. We each live in apartments with our friends. She wanted to be completely on her own so she couldn't say that first she was under her parents' rule and then under her husband's.

We plan to be married to-tomorrow. I really don't think I am going to get any sleep tonight, but I just had to tell someone that the 16-year-old girl I once loved is now a 20-year-old woman I love much more. I know this is long, but if you print it it might encourage kids who think they have to get married right away to wait. We did. And it was worth it.

Miss Sharon Elks Weds In Thursday Ceremony

GRIMESLAND—In a double ring ceremony in the Proctor Memorial Christian Church Miss Sharon Kay Elks became the bride of Snodie Lee Moore on Thursday at 8:00 p. m.

Officiating at the candlelight ceremony was Kenneth Moore. A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Ruth Majette, organist, and Miss Deborah Hines, soloist.

The Communion table in the church was centered with an open Bible to the Book of Ruth with a red rose and candles on each end. The altar was decorated with candelabra entwined with ivy and two vases of gladioli.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Elks of Grimesland and Mrs. Annie Moore of Simpson and the late Mr. Lemite Moore.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street length A-line gown of white satin overlaid with lace. The dress was designed with an empire waistline and long sleeves. The back was accented with a satin bow and chiffon insert.

Her veil of illusion was enhanced by a crown effect of sequins. She carried a white lace-covered Bible adorned with two cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. William R. Little of Grimesland was matron of honor. She was attired in a pink empire style street length dress accented with sequins. She carried a long-stemmed pink tinted mum.

Earl Moore of Greenville, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Johnny Batts of Greenville and William R. Little of Grimesland.

The bride's mother chose an A-line dress of peach silk shantung accented with black accessories. The bridegroom's mother selected a black and white ensemble accented with black accessories. Both mothers wore white mums.

For a wedding trip to unannounced points, the bride wore a light blue sheath dress, black patent accessories and an orchid corsage lifted from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will reside in Grimesland.

The bride and bridegroom are both graduates of Winterville High School. She is employed by The Daily Reflector and the bridegroom is employed by the State Highway Commission.

After-Rehearsal Party
Immediately following the rehearsal, the wedding party and family were entertained by the bride's parents in the church fellowship hall.

The bride's table was centered with a decorated three-tiered wedding cake. The bride and bridegroom cut the first traditional first slice, after which the guests were served.

The attendants were remembered with gifts by the bride and bridegroom.

For a delightful cold drink mix chilled brewed coffee with chilled cocoa—in half-and-half proportions. Add a scoop of vanilla ice cream to each glass.

MRS. SNODIE LEE MOORE

FOUEN, France (WNS) — Dairy maid Mireille Despus, who has been raising cows and making camembert cheese for 40 years, has complained to the French national railways about electrification of their railroad lines. According to Mme. Despus, cows are barely interested in the electric trains that pass their pastures. The whistle and noise of the old steam locomotives had an aphrodisiac effect upon them that augmented their milk production, claims the Frenchwoman.

Ho Never Had To Face Electorate

At his death this might be a time for we, his enemies, to say a kind word for Ho Chi Minh, the tough old revolutionary of Vietnam.

After all, through perseverance he did rally his people and throw off the French colonialism which was bound to have been degrading to the people of his nation. According to reports, he was respected and admired not only in the north but also in the south for ending French rule.

So if colonialism was wrong, and undoubtedly it was, Uncle Ho, as he was affectionally known could qualify as a George Washington of his country.

However, the George Washington of the United States was a member of a brand of revolutionaries which was fiercely dedicated to establishing democratic principles for the new nation. The constitution they adopted and the subsequent bill of rights was proof of that. This document has endured through nearly 200 years and the principles it laid down have gradually been strengthened.

Unfortunately for Vietnam, Ho Chi Minh chose communism as the route for his nation following the repulsion of the French. Perhaps this was a natural turning away from European systems after long colonial rule. Or perhaps Ho recognized that communism is the way to maintain control over the people.

There are those who believe that Ho was so popular he would have won any free election held in Vietnam. He will never know because no popular election was ever held, nor will one ever be if the north has its way. Neither will Mao ever face the voters of his nation in any election that tests the popularity of his reign, nor will the Soviet rulers.

And, of course, Ho, as all communist rulers never had to face the criticism of a free press because there is no free press in North Vietnam or any other communist country. There no doubt were some who were dissatisfied with Ho in North Vietnam but it is certain that it was not safe to voice criticisms too loudly, for there was nothing that guaranteed free speech.

There are non communist countries with oppressive governments and in our own nation there are many things wrong with the system. However, our president does face the voters every four years, congressmen every two years and senators every six years and politicians are often turned out of office.

Ho Chi Minh could have led his people into a great period of democracy following the overthrow of colonialism, but like too many revolutionaries he craved absolute control and power. The surest way to attain this is through communist rule.

Structuring Of C&D Awaited

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau
RALEIGH—The Scott administration's policies for continuing economic development and conserving the state's resources come to the forefront in a few days.

The newly restructured Board of Conservation and Development, 27 members strong, holds its first meeting Sept. 11-13 in Kinston. It promises to be a lively, interesting session.

There is speculation about which members will be appointed to the six working committees set up under reorganizing and restructuring. Committee assignments for C and D traditionally are made by the chairman, from a list of preferences submitted by the board members.

powered the director, Sowers, to restructure the administrative set-up of C and D.

Divisions—The divisions of the C and D Department include the re-named N. C. Forest Service, formerly the forestry division; division of Geologic Survey; division of Mineral Resources; division of State Parks; division of Commerce and Industry; division of Travel and Promotion; division of Commercial and Sports Fisheries.

Attached to the Forest Service is a forestry advisory committee of 11 members. Attached to the Mineral Resources and Geologic Survey is N.C. Mining Council with 11 members; attached to Commerce and Industry is the governor's aviation committee with 11 members, and attached to Commercial and Sports Fisheries is a fisheries advisory board with 11 members.

In addition, two more groups have been attached to Fisheries. One is the formerly separate Seashore Advisory Board with 15 members and the other three-member Atlantic State Marine Fisheries commission.

Deputies—Under the Sowers' plan there will be two deputy directors—one for programs and one for administration.

These administrative officials were named.

Victor W. Barfield, C and D administrative official for nearly 10 years, will be deputy director for administration.

Barfield's duties cover budget and personnel matters within the department as well as negotiation and supervision of all contracts between the C and D department and other agencies, private or public.

A new post—and a new face—is that of the deputy director for programs and plans, James N. Glenn. Glenn formerly was area development director for a utilities firm in Texas.

Campuses Said To Be Prepared Where The Flagwavers?

By RICHARD DAW
RALEIGH (AP)—If disturbances break out on North Carolina campuses this fall, they won't surprise university officials nor catch them unprepared.

No official is predicting a repetition of last year's turbulence which swept campuses across the state, sifting hardest at Duke University in Durham, The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and North Carolina (A and T) University in Greensboro.

But at the same time, none is predicting either that all will be sweetness and light among students still impatient for change and reform.

"I'm not a prophet," says Dr. William C. Friday, president of the six-campus Consolidated University of North Carolina. "My predictions are no better than those of others. But I will say I am hopeful."

Friday—like other officials—bases his hope on the fact that the problem of student disruptions of normal campus operations is being attacked on two fronts.

On one front, steps are being taken to head off the reasons for student complaints that trigger disruptions.

On the other front, students are being told in no uncertain terms just where the line is drawn in campus protests—and what will happen to them if they step over it.

The clear statements of administration policy are being provided to all students at the UNC main campus at Chapel Hill and its four satellite campuses and N.C. State University at Raleigh, and to Duke University students.

The statements are similar in making plain that there can be no seizure of buildings, no disruptions of normal campus activity and no firearms displayed on campus.

Building seizures at disruptions occurred last year at both Duke and Chapel Hill, the focal points of campus unrest in the state. There were similar outbreaks at other institutions.

The most serious campus disturbance came at North Carolina A and T University, where students exchanged gunfire with police. National Guard troops were called out and one student was killed.

But the A and T outbreak was sparked by involvement of A and T students in an election dispute at a Greensboro high school, not directly by a college protest.

The statements of what will not be tolerated are backed up by repeated public pronouncements by Gov. Bob Scott that peace will be maintained on campuses even if it means calling out the National Guard.

During the summer, Scott formed a 50-man special riot squad in the State Highway Patrol, capable of moving quickly into trouble spots.

The governor also sent his Neighbor Council and the Department of Education's human relations division into all parts of the state—including college towns—to meet with officials on ways to head off disturbances.

As a result, Scott said recently, what he once saw as a bleak picture "is considerably brighter."

"We move into a new school year with optimism," he said. "I'm very optimistic that the problem may not be as great as at one time we thought."

Scott also has called for campus reform. In a recent speech to college administrators, Scott put it this way:

"I am asking you to take a hard look at the quality of the educational experience being offered on your campus. Be far ahead of the students. You may not thereby avoid campus disruptions—I don't think you will—but you will have remedied in advance those aspects of your campus life that are objects of protest."

Changes have been made on some campuses.

At Duke, where the seizure of a building by Negro students culminated in a riot last year, returning Negro students will find some of their past demands met.

A special advisor for Negro students has been appointed, a program of orientation for disadvantaged students is winding up a successful summer and consideration is being given to naming a student to the university's board of trustees.

"These steps and others are helping to keep open the channels of communication between the administration and the students and should bear fruit," says Dr. Barnes Woodhall, Duke's acting president.

WILLIAM A. SHIRES

The new C and D chairman, named by Gov. Bob Scott last Spring, is Gil Horton of Wilmington.

Sowers—There is evidence however that Scott's close political lieutenant and ally, Roy Sowers, has had a hand in choosing C and D committee personnel.

It was Sowers who drew up the new C and D administrative plan providing for the six committees. The plan combines several interrelated boards and commissions and represents one of the first steps toward consolidation of state agencies yet effected.

Scott pointed out at a press conference the other day that the 1969 legislature authorized him to reorganize the board and specifically em-

Hanoi Lost A Symbol

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
In the long run, Ho Chi Minh's departure from the stage can have a decided impact on events in Vietnam and Southeast Asia.

Ho's passing can prove a strong blow to North Vietnamese and Liberation Front morale. Particularly in his later years, Ho was not the stereotyped figure of a Communist strong-man ruler, but rather a symbol, a father figure, a personality who cannot be replaced.

It was in the name of "Uncle Ho" that appeals went from Hanoi to the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong, exhorting them to pursue protracted war to the finish, even if it should take 20 years. It was in Ho's name that slogans were fashioned for the unification of Vietnam. It was Ho whose name a dozen years ago was considered so powerful that it, alone, was believed capable of swinging a popular vote in any election. That may have changed under Communist rule in the North, but the name remained potent medicine among many in the South.

Thus it was the name of Ho, rather than the office of the presidency, which carried the authority with the Laodong (Communist) party in the North and with the guerrillas in the South. The question of a successor as president is thus of importance mostly in what it may reveal about the present power structure.

Ho frequently was believed to have been the arbiter of intra-party disputes and the last word in settlement of such disputes among members of what appeared from time to time to be a divided Politburo. His presence could have been sufficient to keep others from squabbling among themselves for power.

Until about five years ago there were strong signs of division in the Politburo along pro-Chinese and pro-Soviet lines. Much in the future depends upon the progress of Soviet-Chinese hostility.

It is probable that North Vietnam's future rests in the hands of four top men—Le Duan, the party's first secretary; Truong Chinh, chairman of the National Assembly; Premier Pham Van Dong and Marshal Vo Nguyen Giap.

Chinh has the reputation of being strongly pro-Chinese. His name is an alias, dating from the days when he was with Mao Tse-tung in Yenan at the time of the historic "long march." Truong Chinh means "long march," a token of his admiration for Mao. He was formerly known as Dang Xuan Khu.

A revolutionist since his youth in the 1920s, Chinh helped Ho and Pham found the Indochinese Communist party and was its propaganda director. He was its secretary general, operating out of China, in 1941, and again in the 1950s. Under Ho's Hanoi regime, Chinh slipped and was demoted for the failure of agriculture in the North. He bounced back, possibly through Peking's then strong influence in Hanoi.

Le Duan, now 62, once was considered pro-Chinese. He seemed to shift in the 1960s, after becoming the party's first secretary. Duan is believed to have a strong machine in the party membership. He was one of Ho's leading commanders in the South when the Vietminh were fighting the French. He is an expert on relations with other Communist parties and has

WASHINGTON—The decision to put the United States battleship New Jersey back into mothballs caused hardly a ripple in this country. It was as if nobody cared.

But I want to report that a few of us cared, and when I read Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird's decision to retire the New Jersey after its brief sail off the coast of Vietnam, I was heartbroken.

It seems as if it was only yesterday the Navy announced it was taking the New Jersey out of mothballs and refitting her to fight the Viet Cong.

Like most patriotic Americans, my heart leaped at the news. Although it would cost $25 million to get her back into fighting shape, surely, I thought, as did so many others, it would be a cheap price to pay to end the war.

For who could doubt that once Ho Chi Minh and his generals heard that the United States was sending a battleship to Vietnam to blast the Communies out of their caves, the enemy would have to fold up and go back to Hanoi.

Every day I watched news of the New Jersey's progress. The Navy seemed to be putting all its public relations marbles on the New Jersey going back to war, and as each 16-inch gun was readied for action the excitement mounted.

There was even a struggle for command of the New Jersey. A bright Navy captain on his way up made the mistake of defending a lieutenant commander on his way out in the Navy and found himself out, too. The Navy was determined to have only its most obedient servants take the New Jersey back into battle.

The big day came when the New Jersey had her last mothball removed. And as she sailed down the river, fireboats sent up geysers of water, ships hooted "bon voyage" and crowds lined the shores waving her on her way.

For the first time, the United States had the feeling that things would soon be going well in Vietnam.

Other Editors Say Saving Baldhead Island

(Henderson Dispatch)

If it is necessary for the State to buy Baldhead Island at the mouth of the Cape Fear river in order to preserve its primitive, tropical status, then the State should act before, it is too late. This spot of some thousands of acres and known as Smith Island, has never been developed nor commercialized. If such a project would be an advantage as a tourist attraction or otherwise, its pristine state ought to be established permanently.

Old Baldhead has existed through the centuries and has remained untouched. It has been owned by Frank Sherrill, restaurant tycoon, for many years. How he acquired it and from whom is beside the mark. He wants to sell, or at least is willing to part with it. The State should not allow it to be altered except possibly to make it accessible and safe for tourists who would like to go there to view a place on the coast that is to large extent in its original condition.

Baldhead Island is semitropical, since the Gulf Stream flows only a short distance offshore and provides a warmth that has continued the dense vegetation and marshland as it was so many centuries ago that no one knows exactly how long.

Years ago there was an active lighthouse on the tip nearest the ocean. It has not been in service for thirty years, but it still stands. Ships going and coming through the mouth of the river up to Wilmington come within close full view of the old lighthouse and its surroundings. It is clearly visible from Southport across the river and from old Fort Caswell at the river's mouth, now a Baptist summer retreat for young people and others.

But no one, or at the most only a few people, ever goes there, because, for one reason, of the difficulty of approach. If the State acquires the primitive area and brings it within reach, fine and well and good. But by all means it should be saved from desecration. If, as understood, Sherrill owns only a portion of the island and the State the remainder, the State would do well to buy the property and preserve it for the future.

Strength For Today

The Cat And The Puppy

A friend had a cat with a family of kittens. Then someone gave him a tiny pup. The cat and her family were quite content. But the puppy was young and all alone. The puppy looked across at the family of kittens and tried to make friends. But every time he came near the cat would arch her back and snarl and spit.

One day the cat's head got scratched and she was not able to reach the wound with her tongue. She could only lie and moan with pain. The puppy came over and looked at the cat. Instinctively he saw what the cat needed, and reaching out his little red tongue, he licked the sore place for the cat. But the cat paid no attention now. Soon the wound was healed and the cat and the puppy now became the best of friends. After that they were always together. And when the dog grew big the cat would often come and lie down beside him. Placing her head against his soft side she would go to sleep. And the dog would not stir until she waked up.

If cats and dogs can be friends, so too can we. Was it not Jesus who said: "Love your enemies. . . Do good to them that hate you. . . that ye may be children of your Father in Heaven." It can be done.

Our 'White Collar' Criminals

By ELMER ROESSNER

How "white collar criminals" use Swiss and other foreign banks to evade U. S. taxes, and violate U. S. laws with impunity is described by Robert S. Morganthau, U. S. Attorney for the Southern District of New York, in the latest issue of the National Industrial Conference Board Record.

"Foreign banks," he wrote in the magazine, "protected by secrecy laws now number among their American customers not only hoodlums from the world of organized crime but stock market swindlers and manipulators, corporate officers making illegal profits from their inside information, businessmen who hide profits from the tax authorities, and enormous numbers of stock market investors who, through foreign banks, evade income taxes on their trading."

Almost every Swiss bank, in addition to deposit and credit activities, he added, buys and sells securities for customers, often through omnibus accounts in American brokerage firms. No domestic record shows profits, making tax evasion easy.

Cashing In On Inside Info

In addition, corporate insiders can evade U. S. laws by taking advantage of advance information in trading in stocks of their own companies.

"We know of at least one major corporation whose periodic tender offers were generally preceded by active trading through foreign bank accounts, accounts which we have reason to believe were controlled by insiders of that corporation," he declared.

Morganthau cited these ways in secret foreign bank accounts can be used to evade taxes:

Persons who earn money abroad can deposit portions in foreign banks and declare only the remainder for U. S. taxes.

American salesmen abroad set up dummy corporations in Switzerland and make sales in the name of the corporation, then have the commissions deposited in overseas banks.

Many U. S. investors have evaded taxes by making their trading profits through Swiss bank accounts. An investor opens an account in Switzerland and cables or mails trading instructions. The bank maintains huge accounts with U. S. brokers and executes its orders each day through these brokers.

In many cases a U. S. investor will call his broker (sometimes using a code name) and give his order to buy or sell a specified security in the name of a Swiss bank. The broker executes the order as if he had received it from Switzerland for an unknown customer. The investor evades taxes.

Businessmen who make purchases abroad for resale here frequently inflate on their books the foreign purchase price to decrease their apparent domestic profits; the sellers kick back the difference to the buyers' account.

Greene School System Reports No Problems

SNOW HILL — The Greene County School System began its 1969-70 school year Thursday with schools opening under court order on a total integrated basis.

According to Superintendent of Greene County Schools George Taylor, no problems have been encountered since the opening of school other than the usual space problems that always face a school system.

"There have been no racial incidents and things have been going smoothly," Taylor emphasized.

The enrollment for the Greene County schools this year is approximately 4,500 students. A total of 214 teachers are employed by the school system.

None of the Greene County schools have been closed and no new schools have been opened. "We are using the same schools as last year," Taylor noted. "The students have just been transferred to schools which were used predominately by students of one race in order to accomplish the 100 per cent integration ordered."

Greene Central High School, a predominately all-white school last year, is being used as a senior high school this year with students in grades seven through nine attending school at the Snow Hill Junior High School.

South Greene School, formerly used as a predominately Negro school, has been changed to a special programs school.

"In this school we have a pre-school development program for four and five year olds, special education classes and some vocational classes," Taylor said.

The other Greene County Schools are operating similar to last year, Taylor explained.

Would Put Idle In Invented Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the House Agriculture Committee says idle but able-bodied poor persons should be put to work before getting federal food stamps, even if the government has to invent jobs for them.

Rep. W.R. Poage, a Texas Democrat who has been in the House since 1937, says he will oppose any extension of the food stamp program unless it includes some requirement for work for the persons able to hold jobs.

Poage said in an interview that only about 1 1/2 per cent of those getting welfare food stamps fall in the category of able-bodied and eligible for work. But he feared the number would swell to 15 per cent or higher if people believe the government will feed them while they loaf.

"I'd put them to work even if I had to make jobs, as they do in Russia. Get them to sweep the streets with brooms or push leaves back and forth—just do something," said the 69-year-old congressman. "Of course, I'd rather see them do useful jobs."

City Dump Off Limits To Scavengers

Councilmen last night voted to allow only city workmen and people actually dumping refuse into the city dump area.

The action was taken after Frank Harrington appeared to request that he be permitted to collect scraps from the city dump in order to make contributions to his church.

"I'm at a loss to understand why I can't go to the city dump or any other place open to the public," Harrington told the council.

He said he had been denied permission by the city manager.

"It's my pleasure to do those things," the bearded former justice of the peace stated. "Everybody has a hobby and that's mine. I've been denied this right, I'm retired and it helps keep my mind clear."

He declared that city employees were collecting scrap. Mayor Pro-Tem Percy Cox explained that city employees were in a different category so far as the liability was concerned.

Cox asked Director of Public Works C. K. Beatty if any outsiders were collecting scrap at the city dump now.

"No sir," Beatty replied, don't want it destroyed as an exercise in destruction but because it stands in the way of progress and social and economic security."

"There used to be 50 people down there and we had to move them out of the way. We made the rules to get them out."

City Manager Harry Hagerty said that eliminating scavengers at the city dump was one of the things that had eliminated fires there.

"Mr. Harrington gets around as well as I do, but that is a dangerous place. There is a bulldozer operating. I believe this is an unnecessary liability for the city."

Fire Chief Ray Smith told the council that until two years ago firemen were dispatched to the city dump frequently to extinguish fires. "Since we stopped the public from going into the dump we've only been called once."

Mayor Frank Wooten questioned whether the city had the authority to make a gift of things found at the dump. Harrington said that if the council's action kept everyone from collecting in the dump then the council wouldn't hear from him again.

"But if not, I'll carry it as high as I have to go to get justice," he declared. "If there is anything fair about that, I'm a monkey's uncle."

And for all this it only cost the taxpayer $40 million. That is why I have been upset that there has been no fanfare that the New Jersey is being decommissioned.

Everyone always seems to be cheering when a battleship is sent to sea, but where are the flagwavers when she's tied up and covered with grease and canvas? Unlike most people, I'm not writing the battleship off. You never can tell when the war starts going badly again and for another $25 million we get the New Jersey to go back to sea.

Premier Pham Van Dong, now 62, an early Ho associate, is considered pro-Moscow. He began serving Ho's cause in 1925 when he set up the main revolutionary base in South Vietnam. Since partition in 1954, he has been premier and at one time served simultaneously as foreign minister.

Giap, the defense minister who was architect of the 1954 Dienbienphu victory over the French, is primarily a military man. It is doubtful that he has vaulting political ambitions, but he could have army support in the arena. In any case, he would likely have a strong voice in the outcome of any power realignment.

Prison Inmate Is Slain By Guard

Yanceyville, n. c. (ap)—An 18-year-old prison inmate was shot to death by a guard Thursday after the youth ran away from a work crew, officials report.

The Department of Corrections said Charlie Turner shot Steve William Johnson, 18, of Washington, D.C., when Johnson ran from the crew which was working on U. S. 158, seven miles east of Yanceyville.

Bloodhounds found the body about 300 yards from where he was shot.

Johnson was sentenced in Vance County in January 1968 to 8-10 years for robbery with a dangerous weapon.

Quiet First Week Of School For Martin County's System

WILLIAMSTON — The 16 schools in Martin County are completing their first week of school for the 1969-70 school year without any incidents.

According to J. Comer Griffin, associate superintendent of the Martin County schools,

"we are beginning the school year with all going well are hoping it will continue this way."

At present, enrollment has reached the 6,850 mark. "With a few last minute enrollments, it may reach 7,000 which is about what we anticipated," Griffin said.

Negro students in the county account for 53 per cent of enrollment, and white students 47 per cent. The ratio of Negro and white teachers is just about 50 per cent for each group.

Carolina Leaf Employees Wrapping Up UF Pledges

Employees of the Carolina Leaf Tobacco Company in Greenville are completing their United Fund pledges this week, in an "Early Bird" campaign conducted by the employees themselves.

man at Carolina leaf, commented. "I tell my friends about the good things being done by United Fund; I have collected for many causes in my church, and I know that most people are generous when they understand what a collection is for."

Several of the employees commented on their reasons for joining the pay-roll deduction plan.

Mrs. Annie Reid, a timekeeper at the company said: "I like this plan of giving to the United Fund. If we all would give regularly, we could take care of our needy without any trouble."

A third employee, Mrs. Bernice Green, messenger and clerk with the superintendents office, says: "People who help take care of their less fortunate neighbors feels a little better. It's like doing something good for somebody every pay day."

Another employee, Mrs. Janie Stevenson, a scraproom fore-

Griffin Explains of Approximately 310 Teachers

Griffin explained that of approximately 310 teachers in Martin County, "some over 40 teachers are crossing the racial line this year in their teaching duties. Among students, about 600 to date have entered into an integrated situation for the school year."

Eight high schools are currently operating in Martin County. Two each are located at Oak City, Robersonville and Williamston, with one each at Jamesville and Bear Grass.

Citizens of Martin County recently defeated a school bond issue for money to build two consolidated schools, one in the eastern and one in the western part of the county.

County officials have indicated that since this was the third defeat for a bond drive, no plans would be made for another school bond drive in the near future.

Bank officials claim the man saw the error and caused a check for that amount.

A warrant has been issued charging him with larceny, Charlotte police said.

Larger Job Of Locating Old Grave Sites Remains

City crews have completed the task of clearing grass and weeds from the cemetery grounds adjacent to Sycamore Hill Baptist Church on the corner of First and Greene Streets but an even larger job of pinpointing the actual gravesites remains.

to be at least 100 years old, he commented.

Following preparation of a map of the grounds and identification of the sites, when possible, a number of the markers will be moved to the Brown Hill Cemetery. Rev. B.B. Felder is working with city officials in determining the grave identifications and the cemetery clearing work, Holiday said.

Holiday said that the project underway involved mapping the area and trying to locate the various graves in the cemetery. Some of the graves are known

The city engineer said that completion of the work will probably take at least three weeks. Removal of any graves or markers to the Brown Hill location or to some of the family cemeteries, as many relatives have suggested, will be a delicate job, he added.

John Messick of the Redevelopment Commission said that the cemetery work was necessary before the commission could go ahead with their negotiations to buy the property as a part of the Shore Drive Project.

Charged With Other Break-Ins

Two of three Negro juveniles arrested in connection with a break-in at Jack's Cookie Corp. here Tuesday have been charged with breaking, entering and larceny in connection with two other break-ins.

Officers said an eight-year-old boy and a 10-year-old have been charged with entering the Farmers Warehouse on July 7 and taking an estimated $15. The two have also been charged with a break-in at the Northside Seafood market at 1318 North Greene St. June 9.

Sometimes a mother wonders what makes a boy's mind work. Even when boys still seem like babies, they have a preoccupation with tools and a desire to "make" something that goes beyond their actual years. This is an urge that should never be "squashed." Out of such beginnings come great inventions, machine marvels, electronic wonders and all the rest. Then, allow your child to explore and experiment, even if what he is creating doesn't have any significance to you. Let him expand his horizons in every direction. He was, after all, meant to explore three worlds: the physical, the mental and the spiritual. Don't stint on any of them. Be sure he gets a good start in every area. If your son isn't going to church school and to church services with you, why not start now?

Woody's Ramblin's

By WOODY PEELE

It's that time of year again. The old Ouija board, the crystal ball, and the divining rod must be dusted off for another season of trying to figure out which way that elliptical object is going to bounce.

Last year's bouncing came to a fine conclusion. As round-ball season came into being, and football faded in the distance, this column had racked up a 77.2 per cent accuracy for the year.

Hopefully this year's will be just as good.

It will be another week before the college scene develops, and a couple before things really get into full swing.

Meanwhile, the high schools of the area will be battling it out, trying to get the early ground work over, and find out if this area can come up with another fine group of champions. It might be noted that last year's Pitt-Martin-Greene area came up with four conference champions, the Albemarle (Williamston), the Tobacco Belt (Robersonville), the Eastern Plains (Farmville), and the Tidewater (Ayden). Farmville went on to become the Eastern 2-A runner-up, while Ayden won the state championship.

Five games draw attention this week, involving seven teams from the area.

First off, Farmville travels down to Hobbton for its traditional conference opener. This game has always been a good one for the Red Devils, who are operating under a new coaching staff this year. Farmville has been doing well against this opponent, and they should continue to do so. Farmville is the choice here.

Ayden goes over to Greene Central for another top area game. The Tornados are not expected to be quite as tough as in the past, while Greene Central rates to be improved. Both coaches say the other is the one to beat, but I will have to follow my old standby. Ayden has lost only twice in the past zillion years, so I'll stick with them until we see what they can do this year.

Robersonville goes over to Williamston in another top attraction game. The Rams feel they will be in the thick of the Tobacco Belt race against this year, while Williamston's Green Wave also hopes to be battling for another conference crown.

It could be a very tough game, and a close one, but I'll go with Williamston in this one.

Grifton, another team that is in the thick of the Tobacco Belt donnybrook, plays a conference game against Saratoga tonight. The Bulldogs are another school with a new coach, but things appear to be running smoothly in the transition. Grifton won the title two years ago, and barely missed out last year. Saratoga should be first victim as they try to take the title again.

Finishing things off is the opening game for Rose High School's Rampants. They open with Washington's Pam Pack, which rolled easily over Bertie last week, giving them a week's head start on Rose.

The game is also played in Washington, where Rose hasn't won a game since 1961.

The Rampants will give them a good battle, but in Washington, the Pack is rarely beaten. Tonight won't be one of those rare nights. The Pack is the choice here.

Pirates Show Improvement During Long, Hard Scrimmage On Thursday

East Carolina trainer Terry Wills said it made his stomach nervous.

"You want me to turn up the volume," he asked.

He was obviously not serious at all. The noise of the leather popping could be heard all the way to Scales Field house close to 100 yards away.

East Carolina University's football team was holding its first real down to earth scrimmage of the year after a week of preliminaries.

"Sure it makes me nervous," Wills said. "When they're hitting like that, somebody's bound to get hurt."

But when it was all over, head coach Clarence Stasavich said they hadn't hit very hard. After all, nobody got hurt. Wills relaxed and went back to cutting tape and Stasavich reviewed the week's work.

"It was two spirited sessions of full scale scrimmage," he said. "The first unit scored three touchdowns and a field goal against the first defense. The second offense was contained very well, but did manage two touchdowns during the 20 minutes, but the defense held on down on several occasions."

All this was just a warm-up for what goes on Saturday at Ficklen Stadium when the Pirates really go at it game fashion with officials and all. And from all indications, it won't be a place for the weak or faint-hearted.

Since the first day of practice last week, the spirits have been high on the practice field. "When they look this good so early it scares me," said one staunch supporter who tries to make it to the practice field every afternoon.

But it isn't scaring the coaching staff any. Ever since the Purple packed off the spring game, 20-19, Stasavich and his assistants have been voicing concern about the offensive line. Such talk, while not forgotten, hasn't been heard in the past few days.

"We were confronted with the problem of getting an offensive line together," Stasavich said after Thursday's practice, "but there has been some changing of personnel and (Odell) Welborn (offensive line coach) has been pleased with the way they are progressing. They have been coming along particularly well with their blocking."

Stasavich, who concentrates his efforts with the offensive backs, has been pleased with performances there, too. Seniors Butch Colson at fullback and Billy Wightman at tailback and junior Dwight Flanagan at wingback and David Brill at blocking back all are performing well.

Colson, who has never gained too much recognition for his blocking, has suddenly blossomed here, too. "He's blocking the best he's ever done," Stasavich admitted.

"In fact, all four starters have been doing exceptionally well," he said. "That first offense surprised me moving the ball that well."

He still wasn't ready to admit any overt optimism, however. "We'll know better about their abilities in another week—after a couple of game type scrimmages," he said. "If Terry Wills had been around to hear it, he might have started getting a nervous stomach again. But he wouldn't mind about that if they keep hitting like they were Thursday afternoon and nobody getting hurt."

Davis Streak Ends As Padres Bop LA

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The pitch from Gary Ross of the San Diego Padres came in high and tight. Willie Davis swung and missed it for a third strike on a 1-2 count.

Thus came to an end Thursday night the longest consecutive game hitting streak in the major leagues in a quarter of a century.

The center fielder for the Los Angeles Dodgers had hit safely in 31 consecutive games and was within hailing distance of the modern National League record of 37 set by Tommy Holmes of the old Boston Braves in 1945.

Not only did the Padres stop Davis, but they blanked the Dodgers 3-0 dropping them to third place behind San Francisco and Cincinnati in the NL West mad scramble. It was the only NL game scheduled.

Minnesota beat Oakland 10-5 in 10 innings, Baltimore shaded Detroit 5-4, California shut out the Chicago White Sox 1-0 and Kansas City defeated Seattle 5-3 in the four American League games scheduled.

"Well, at least it took two of them to get me," said a disappointed Davis.

He referred to Dick Kelley and Ross, the two Padres pitchers. Kelley started, but had to leave in the third inning because of a sore shoulder. Ross came in and completed a fourth hit shutout. He and Kelley each yielded two hits.

This is what happened to Davis:

First inning—Against Kelley, came up with Maury Wills on second and grounded out to second baseman Jose Arcia.

Third inning—Against Ross, came up with two on and again grounded out to Arcia.

Fifth inning—against Ross, came up again with two on and grounded to first baseman Nate Colbert, who threw to Ross, covering first, for the putout.

Eight inning—against Ross, came up with Manny Mota on first and struck out.

Al Ferrara, a former Dodger, drove in all three runs for the Padres. He doubled home Roberto Pena and Ollie Brown in the third and hit a home run in the sixth.

Meantime, the San Francisco Giants who are rolling along with 12 victories in 14 games, hope they can shake off their September jinx when they open an eight-game tough road trip at Houston tonight.

This is the month in which the Giants have faded and finished second four straight years. This happened even when they had a 14-game winning streak in September, 1965, and in September, 1966, when they won eight of nine games in one span, including six in a row.

New Coaches Named At ECU

Two new coaches have been named by East Carolina University's athletic department.

John Lovstedt and Bill Dickens join the coaching staff this year.

Lovstedt, a native of Detroit, Michigan, will serve as diving and soccer coach, and will be the advisor to the lacrosse club.

A veteran of eight and a half years of diving experience, Lovstedt attended Ohio University, then transferred to the University of Indiana, where he won three varsity letters in diving. Prior to entering college, he had received four high school letters and two All-City awards for diving.

He completed his bachelor's requirements at Indiana in 1964, and went into the service. He was stationed at West Point, where he served as diving coach and assistant swimming coach.

Minnesota (Chance 5-2) at Oakland (Hunter 9-13), N

Chicago (Horlen 10-13) at California (Murphy 7-13), N

Following his discharge in 1966, he went to Columbia University as an instructor in physical education, and also served as diving coach and freshman swimming coach. Among his accomplishments there was having the first Columbia diver ever to place in the Eastern Intercollegiate Swimming and Diving Championships.

He also has a background in soccer, playing as a student and in post-graduate play.

He and his wife, Libby, have two children.

Dickens, a native of Wilson, graduated from Fike High School. He received his B.S. from East Carolina in 1967, and his masters the following year.

While an undergraduate, he served as manager of the football team for four years. Last year, following the completion of his advanced degree, he became an instructor in the physical education department, and was advisor to the lacrosse team.

This year, he will handle tennis, and serve as an assistant in football.

VMI's Grid Problems Continue As Fullback Marries, Drops Out

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Virginia Military Institute fullback Chuck Marks has taken himself a wife, but when you drop him that congratulatory note-remember also to mail a card of sympathy to Keydet football coach Vito Ragazzo.

Marching in general is the "in" thing at VMI. Marching down the aisle, though, is another matter altogether. Cadets are not allowed to be married, so Marks dropped out of school Thursday when he broke the news.

Since he was the No. 2 ground-gainer for VMI last year and a man who set a school record for punts with 86 in 10 games, Marks' loss would seem to diminish the Keydets' already minimal chances for a winning record.

Ragazzo, however, is bearing up well under the shock. While not exactly dismounting the loss of a team captain, the coach noted that Marks reported for pre-season drills at a much too robust 260 pounds — 34 above playing weight—and had been running with the third unit.

Nonetheless, a card of sympathy to the coach wouldn't be out of place. A year ago, star quarterback Russ Quay was lost to VMI because of marriage and Ragazzo similarly shed no public tears at his departure. But after a 6-4 record in 1967, when Quay was calling signals, the Keydets plummeted to 1-9 in '68.

Marks' loss leaves letterman Tom Beyer, who carried only 26 times for 87 yards last fall, and sophomore Ted Kirk to battle it out for the starting fullback assignment. Sophomore Don Cupit may do the punting. He's a sophomore who boots soccer-style—and with his shoe off.

Halfback Tom Sowers, the other half of what had been VMI's 1-2 running attack, drew praise from Ragazzo for his breakaway runs and punt returns in the Keydets' Wednesday scrimmage.

East Carolina's offense showed what coach Clarence Stasavich called "marked improvement" in Thursday scrimmaging. Fullback Butch Colson, tailback Billy Wightman and end Richard Corrada won the coach's plaudits.

End Rick Lyon, a former back, was cited by Davidson coach Homer Smith for his offensive excellence in the Wildcats' rain-shortened drills.

Ends also came in for commendation at two other Southern Conference stops—split end Jim Helles at William and Mary and defensive ends Mel Medved, Buzz Montsinger, Kenny Davis and John Saecker at Richmond. W&M's passers, Wes Meeteer and Jimmie Laycock, also impressed the Indian coaching staff with their passing. The Citadel, pointing for its first scrimmage Saturday night, worked on fundamentals and contact drills with the emphasis on running. Coach Red Parker said he was pleased at the aggressiveness shown.

Pirates To Be In Cage Tourney

East Carolina University's basketball team will participate in the Sunshine Classic in Tampa, Fla. in late December, Coach Tom Quinn announced today.

The tournament, won a couple of years ago by the University of North Carolina, will be held on December 26 and 27, Tampa University will serve as the host team.

Besides East Carolina, Southern Methodist University has accepted a bid to the tournament. A fourth team is yet to be chosen. A drawing for pairings will be held later this fall.

"We are quite happy about getting into the tournament," Coach Quinn said. "This is the first tournament for East Carolina in many years, with the exception of our own last year. The team is looking forward to being in Florida at Christmas time for the tournament."

In addition, the Pirates have added another home game to their schedule, bringing their home appearance slate to 13. They will meet Belmont Abbey in the game on January 21, 1970.

The Pirates face one of the roughest schedules around, playing South Carolina, Duke, N. C. State and Wake Forest, in addition to everyone in the Southern Conference, including Davidson.

The Pirates finished second in the conference last year, and compiled one of their best records in years.

Tovar's Grand Slam Spoils First Chance Of Athletics To Catch Up

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press, Sports Writer

The Athletics are alive but not at all well in Oakland. Home for a crucial four-game series with front-running Minnesota, the A's gave the Twins a good run but faded in the stretch and took a 10-5 shellacking Thursday night.

The loss dropped the fading A's 7½ games back of Minnesota in the American League West and the villain of the show was smallish Cesar Tovar, the slap hitter-turned-lugger.

Tovar ruined the evening... and maybe the whole season... for the A's with his first career grand slam. That shot won the ball game for the Twins after the game A's had battled from behind to tie it in the bottom of the ninth.

Elsewhere in the American League Thursday, Baltimore bombed Detroit 5-4, California shut out Chicago 1-0 and Kansas City topped Seattle 5-3. The other teams had the day off.

In the only National League game scheduled, San Diego shut out Los Angeles 3-0, ending Willie Davis' hitting streak at 31 games.

The A's, needing a sweep of the series to make a real dent in the Twins' first place cushion, led 4-1 going into the eighth inning.

But Minnesota struck sudly-scoring four runs, the last two on Harmon Killebrew's 40th home run of the season. That gave the Twins a 5-4 bulge into the ninth.

The A's refused to die easily though. Sal Bando, who had homered earlier, opened with a single and was sacrificed to second. Then an error by defensive replacement Frank Quilici allowed Bando to cross with the tying run.

So the teams battled into the 10th tied—but not for very long. The Twins quickly loaded the bases on a double by Tony Oliva, an intentional walk to Killebrew and an unintentional one to Chuck Mauer.

That set it up for Tovar, who never before had hit a grand slam and only had 21 career homers in four big league seasons. Cesar connected for the big one that sunk the A's for good.

The A's had company as victims of late-inning thunder. Detroit took a 4-1 lead into the ninth inning against Baltimore before the Orioles erupted.

Frank Robinson, Boog Powell and Brooks Robinson unloaded consecutive home runs, tying the score and then Dave Johnson doubled and came around with the winning run on a fly ball and a ground out.

Tom Tresh and Al Kaline had homered earlier for the Tigers.

Ken Tatum pitched his way out of an eighth inning jam and preserved California's squeaker over Chicago.

Tatum, scored upon only once in his last 17 innings, came in with runners on second and third and one out. He retired only run of the game in the first inning on a walk to Sandy Alomar. Jay Johnstone's bloop single and a ground out.

Seattle dropped its 15th consecutive game at home, bowing to Kansas City and Dick Drago. Mike Fiore ripped a first innery home run for the Royals and Drago helped his own cause with a run-scoring double—his first major league hit.

Don Minsher hit a two-run homer for the Pilots.

ELIGIBLE IN 1974

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Mickey Mantle, who retired at age 37 after 18 seasons with the New York Yankees, will be eligible to be voted into Baseball's Hall of Fame in 1974. A player must have been retired for five years to become eligible in the voting by members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

DOGS DRAW A RECORD

DENVER (AP) — Single-night and seasonal wagering records were set at the Mile High greyhound track on the closing night this season. A crowd of 12,000 wagered more than $537,000 to raise the 61-night handle to $21,451,000.

Luis Aparicio on a ground ball and got Pete Ward on a pop fly to end the inning.

The Angels pushed across the first inning on a walk to Sandy Alomar. Jay Johnstone's bloop single and a ground out.

Seattle dropped its 15th consecutive game at home, bowing to Kansas City and Dick Drago. Mike Fiore ripped a first innery home run for the Royals and Drago helped his own cause with a run-scoring double—his first major league hit.

Don Minsher hit a two-run homer for the Pilots.

City Golf To Close Entries

The fourth annual Greenville City Golf Championship is slated for September 13 and 14 at the Greenville Golf and Country Club and Brook Valley Country Club.

Signups must be made by Monday at 6 p.m. at either of the clubs to be eligible.

Jimmy Hilliard of Farmville is the defending champion in the tournament.

The tournament is restricted to members of Greenville or Brook Valley Country clubs, and their sons who have reached their 18th birthday.

The first round's play will be at Brook Valley, with the tournament moving to Greenville's course for the final day's round.

Lady Bowlers To Hold Meet

The Tuesday Bowlettes and the Wednesday Morners will again offer morning bowling to women of this area, Hillcrest Lanes announced today.

The first meetings for these Women's International Bowling Congress-sanctioned leagues will be Tuesday and Wednesday.

Individuals or three-women teams, with or without bowling experience are invited to attend on either day. A short business meeting will be held at 9:15 and with regular bowling beginning at 9:30.

A supervised nursery for infants and pre-schoolers is available.

Opening lead: Queen of ♠
When North made a jump raise in spades, South felt that his holding merited a slam try, so he cue bid the ace of clubs. North reciprocated in hearts, and South decided on the basis of his void in diamonds to bid the slam.

West opened the queen of hearts and the king won the trick in the closed hand. Trumps were drawn in two rounds ending up in the closed hand and declarer led the eight of clubs. He hoped to find West with the king in which case North's queen of clubs could be established for a trick. This would permit declarer eventually to discard the losing heart from dummy on the ace of clubs.

When West played low to South's club lead, declarer was unable to adjust his thinking. The queen was put up from dummy losing to East's king. A heart was returned to dislodge the ace. A club was led and declarer put in the ten from his hand for a finesse. If East had the jack of clubs, South would still be able to obtain a third round discard for the dummy's bad heart. When West turned up with the jack of clubs, he cashed a heart trick for down two.

North contended that his partner had played clubs from the wrong hand. "You should have led clubs from the dummy both times in the hope that East had one of the two missing honors. This would have eliminated any guesswork in the suit."

Had South chosen to lead the dummy's queen of clubs the first time, East would have covered with the king and South with the ace. Now the nine of clubs forces out the jack and declarer's ten becomes established for the heart discard. If the queen of clubs play should lose to the king in the West hand, South can still finesse against East for the jack subsequently.

This line of play will win roughly three times out of four, losing only when West holds both club honors. However, we do not choose to criticize declarer's initial club play from his hand. When West plays low, however, South should not put up the queen if it should be assumed that West will not duck with the king of clubs against a slam bid. Failure by West to play that card clearly marks East with the king. The nine of clubs should, therefore, be played from dummy. When it succeeds in driving out the king, South's troubles are over. If the nine should lose to the jack, however, declarer can lead the queen of clubs from dummy later to trap East's king.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market, continuing the decline that carried it into sharply lower territory Thursday, retreated on a fairly broad front early this afternoon with losses ahead of gains by better than 400 issues.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 5.34 to 819.96.

Trading was fairly quiet. Analysts said amny investors continued to stay out of the action while waiting to see if the market would go down to test the 800 level of the DJI.

"If the market keeps falling," one said, "you might get a slight recovery on a technical basis. If the market falls far enough, it usually brings in some bargain hunters."

Continuing to weigh on the market, analysts said, was uncertainty about the domestic economic situation, citing the administration decision for a 7½ per cent cutback in new contracts for federal government construction.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was off 2.0 to 288.7, with industrials up 2.6, rails off 1.5, and utilities off .7.

Occidental Petroleum topped the New York Stock Exchange's most-active list, off ¾ at 27c. Occidental has large oil interests in Libya where a new regime took over earlier this week.

Dixilyn Corp. was the most-active issue on the American Stock Exchange, off 1c at 30½.

Church at 3 p. m., Rev. A. F. Norfleet will preach; dinner will be served.

The St. Paul Baptist Church of Ayden will have its annual Men's Day observance Sunday. Farney M. Moore, instructor at Bethel High School, will deliver the sermon at 11 a. m.

The Rev. W. B. Moore, pastor of Cornerstone Baptist Church, announces the following services: Sunday, 9:15 a. m.; Sunday School refreshment hour; 9:30 a. m. church school; 11 a. m., worship service, sermon by the pastor; 6:30 p. m., training union.

The following services have been scheduled for Macedonia Baptist Church Farmville: 9:45 a. m., Sunday School; 11 a. m., morning worship; 2 p. m., dinner; 3 p. m. homecoming services will be rendered by Rev. Isaac Jordan and the Roundtree Baptist Church; Sunday, 7 p. m., union service by Rev. Spence.

Ask Speed-up In Paving Projects

FARMVILLE—A delegation of Farmville Negroes, headed by L.R. Redden, presented a request for measures to speed up the paving of certain streets in Farmville. The request was made at the monthly meeting of the Farmville Board of Commissioners, meeting earlier this week.

Action was also desired for a project to tile drainage ditches in the town.

Town Clerk Carl Beaman explained that one street now in the process of being paved in Farmville was one for which a petition had been approved since 1966. The two streets—Cameron and Perry—for which petitions have been approved, are next in line to be paved when funds become available, according to Beaman.

He added that one of these streets could probably be paved during the current fiscal year. The Good Citizens Committee

Disclaims Charge By His Brother

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—James Earl Ray has disowned a statement that federal agents killed Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and framed him as the assassin.

The statement was attributed to Ray, serving 99 years for the slaying, by his brother Jerry Ray of Chicago. The prisoner's lawyer, Robert W. Hill, said

Thursday his client now wants no more visits from his brother. Ray, who pleaded guilty, is seeking a trial by jury, claiming his civil rights were violated in previous court proceedings.

MOSCOW (AP)—Foreign Minister Kiichi Aichi of Japan says Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin has refused to consider a claim for the return of four islands in the Kurile chain seized by the U.S.S.R. at the end of World War II.

Aichi said Kosygin told him after a conference Thursday that the balance of power established after the war is necessary for world peace and that no territorial changes should be made.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—James Earl Ray has disowned a statement that federal agents killed Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and framed him as the assassin.

The statement was attributed to Ray, serving 99 years for the slaying, by his brother Jerry Ray of Chicago. The prisoner's lawyer, Robert W. Hill, said

Thursday his client now wants no more visits from his brother. Ray, who pleaded guilty, is seeking a trial by jury, claiming his civil rights were violated in previous court proceedings.

MOSCOW (AP)—Foreign Minister Kiichi Aichi of Japan says Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin has refused to consider a claim for the return of four islands in the Kurile chain seized by the U.S.S.R. at the end of World War II.

Aichi said Kosygin told him after a conference Thursday that the balance of power established after the war is necessary for world peace and that no territorial changes should be made.
