TELE VIV (AP) — Israeli jets pounded Egyptian army vehicles at Ras Abu Darg and Ras Za' Afrana in Egypt today at the same points across the Gulf of Suez hit by Israeli armored columns the day before, the army announced.

The 10-hour operation, the first by Israeli armored units in Egypt, was described by Defense Minister Moshe Dayan as a demonstration of operational ability "almost unprecedented in military history." He warned of "even heavier strikes" across the Gulf in the wake of alleged Egyptian violations of the cease-fire.

TEL AVIV (AP) — "One of the first vehicles we encountered after our tank force left the beach was a truck loaded with cotton—a single shot turned it into a blazing pyre," wrote the only newsman taken along on Israel's strike into Egypt Tuesday.

"Grenades and satchels of explosives were tossed into Egyptian positions along the road as the column rolled forward. "At Ras Abu Darg, the Egyptians had positioned an antitank gun atop a lighthouse. "The most stupid positioning of an antitank gun that I ever saw," said the commander of our task force.

Speculation Raised Of Further U. S. Pullout

By GEORGE ESPER SAIGON (AP) — Meetings today between top-level U.S. and South Vietnamese officials touched off speculation of further American troop withdrawals and an extended scaling down of allied military operations.

U.S. sources say that if the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese do not step up their present low level of activity after the end of the cease-fire, American forces likely will respond by continuing the curtailment in their offensive operations.

Israeli officers said the ground troops were backed up by warplanes that struck scores of military targets and delivered a "devastating attack" on a big anti-aircraft missile battery at El Hasayer.

Israel said one Israeli plane was shot down over the gulf, its pilot was missing and only one Israeli foot soldier was injured. Egypt claimed its forces downed three Israeli planes, sank two torpedo boats and inflicted heavy casualties.

Director Charles Horne outlined a study now being done by consulting engineers of the utilities rural electric lines. The studies will determine where additional fuses are needed, increased circuit breakers and other improvements are needed.

Commissioners tabled a proposal made by Horne that studies for sewer outfall lines be started in the areas west and south of the city. Horne said the engineering firm of Rivers and Associates has estimated the studies would cost approximately $6,000.

Employing The Mature Is Office's Practice

By JOY STILLEY
NEW YORK (AP) — It is an office much like any other office, except that the staff members have a bit more white hair than is usual—and a whole lot more enthusiasm.

It is an office that practices what it preaches, which is that bringing retirees back into the business world provides an experienced and dependable source of needed manpower. Three of its own employees are 74, and the ages of the rest range downward—but not far downward.

It is the office of TEMPS, acronym for Temporary Employment and Mature Persons Services, Inc., which is aimed primarily at supplying older persons with positions in clerical, management and professional fields.

Except for Joseph Kastenholtz, personnel director Lorraine Beyer, the work of TEMPS is carried on mainly by men and women whose ages match those of the workers they recruit and in charge of operations, and place in temporary jobs.

All of the interviewers who talk with job applicants to determine how to fit their skills and backgrounds into current needs are over 65, have PhDs and have spent a lifetime in personnel-type work. An 81-year-old former accountant works for the firm, selling its services to businessmen.

"Believe me, our people do a day's work," declares Kastenholtz, an accountant who has served as controller for one of the nation's largest temporary placement companies. "They have worked a lifetime and demonstrated that they can perform and hold a job. Regardless of the position, they want to give the full measure of their experience to it."

The organization started in Philadelphia and was so successful that a New York office was opened a few months ago. Other branches are scheduled to open shortly in Boston, Chicago, San Francisco, Los Angeles, the Baltimore-Washington area and New York's suburbs.

Initial inquiry letters to determine if retirees were interested in returning to work were directed to members of the National Retired Teachers Association and the American Association of Retired Persons. Of the 3,500 who answered in New York, 1,200 have already been interviewed.

"Our interviewers seek to put the older person at ease," explains Kastenholtz. "The older job applicants are afraid and embarrassed because a number have had bad experiences, even though there are laws against discrimination because of age."

Counselors seek to learn what the applicants are qualified for, what they are interested in doing and how many hours a week they want to work. The general impression the applicant makes goes in his file along with comments such as these: "Very alert, neat, personable, does not look his age, likes dealing with people."

Job-seekers are concentrated most heavily in the clerical field, a fact that also accounts for the sex ratio being 75 per cent women, 25 per cent men, age 55 and up. The oldest applicant to date is 87.

"Some want to supplement their retirement incomes and want to earn only enough so that their Social Security payments won't be cut," Kastenholtz says. "On the other hand, many don't care about the money but just want something to do."

A typical case is a 79-year-old man who owned his own type-writer repair and rental business and had been doing volunteer work in a veteran's hospital since retiring in 1958. He has been placed as a mail clerk in an advertising agency.

A 67-year-old woman who had worked as a bookkeeper has been sent out on jobs in that capacity. An 85-year-old woman applied for work as a proofreader. A former advertising account executive, who has earned as much as $40,000 annually, has indicated a willingness to take whatever he can get in the advertising field.

"Some folks don't want anything to do with the type of work they were in all their lives," says Ralph Williams, one of the interviewers, who is himself over 70. "They are concerned, too, about traveling and want something near home or at odd hours, so that they can stay out of the rush."

Williams, who hasn't lost the soft accent he brought with him from North Carolina in 1920, has spent his entire career in banking and finance, retiring in 1965.

"I was retired for one week and then went back to work for the Office of Economic Opportunity in Harlem and Nassau county," says the former executive, a still-handsome man with white bushy eyebrows and a fringe of white hair. He quit again some 18 months ago and did volunteer work for Mobilization for Youth and the Lighthouse, where he read to sightless students.

"Then," he continues, "I received word of TEMPS through the American Association of Retired Persons—which I must have joined sometime between jobs—and started to work three days a week as an interviewer. It went up to four days and now, I'm here five days a week."

"Many of the people who come in say they don't care about prestige; they just want to keep busy. But when you pin them down, ask them if they'll be a messenger, work in a mail room, serve as guard or receptionist, they're not so sure."

Madame No Longer Needs A Couturier To Be Original

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Almost every woman knows the frustration and fury of buying a brand new dress for a special occasion only to find that three other women at the same party have the same dress.

Until recently, however, there wasn't very much a woman could do about the problem—unless she could afford the $1,000-and-up prices of custom couturiers.

Now there is a solution. It's named Arjes Aviary and it's run by a 30-year-old Indiana-born man who got fed up with Seventh Avenue mass production.

"People are tired of buying things off the rack," said Larry Creech as he looked around his tiny shop in the west part of Greenwich Village.

All of the outfits in Arjes Aviary are one of a kind, created by Creech and about 20 other designers. A woman can come in and order a dress custom made for her or she can pick one of the dresses on display, all with the sure knowledge that no one else will have the same costume.

Prices run from about $75 up for the ready-made clothes and $125 and up for the custom clothes. The stock on a recent afternoon included a pink seethrough mini dress in crochet styles, a simple, long evening gown suitable for a woman of any age, pants suits and jumpsuits and a smattering of vests.

The only drawback to the ready-made clothes is that if a woman sees a style she likes and can't fit the model, she can't have the dress. "If they fit fine," said Creech. "If they don't, they don't."

Creech opened his shop a month ago and selected the name because "it's difficult enough to pronounce and figure out that people remember it." He would like to open shops elsewhere in the country, but is currently concentrating on making his first venture a success.

Asked how he can manage to produce custom clothes at a time when many large department stores have found it financially unprofitable to operate custom sections, Creech said it was because of the low overhead in his shop.

As yet, Creech has not spent much money advertising. He is counting on word-of-mouth to draw customers. Among the people who already have bought things are Mrs. Winthrop Rockefeller, actress Peg Murray and actor Sal Mineo.

Most of the items in the shop are for women., but Creech said he is "trying to get a balanced supply of stuff for men and women."

He said, "I have things which can be worn by either sex, but I dislike the term unisex."

Most of the clothes are hand-made, or at least hand finished. Almost all are lined, with seams carefully bound. "Everything can practically be worn inside out," said Creech proudly, pointing to the lace and silk lining on a gold evening gown.

In addition to clothes, Creech stocks one-of-a-kind accessories, including chain belts and vests, scarves, jewelry and belts made out of sailors' knots with fringe at the end.

Creech said his customers range in age from the very young to the very old. Most come from New York City or the surrounding suburbs, but he is hoping to build up a clientele elsewhere.

He said he got a call from a man in Omaha, Neb., who had read about the shop and wanted to order something for his wife.

"I described several sketches to him, he liked one and we sent it out," said Creech.

Actually, and the young designer prefers to know something about the customer for a custom-made dress. He said he tries to suit the dress to the customer's personality, mood, wants and occasion. A custom-made dress usually takes three weeks.

Grandmother Will Not Babysit

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I've heard that my daughter has been telling friends that when she goes back to work I will baby-sit for her. (She's divorcing her husband.) This is quite a surprise to me because she hasn't asked ME yet. I guess she just takes me for granted.

I have been a widow for 22 years and I have worked hard to send my four children thru college. I am not rich, but I don't need baby-sitting money to eat. Now that I am in my sixties, frankly, I am tired, and I think I've earned the right to take life a little easier.

How can I tell my daughter of my decision when she hasn't even ASKED me yet! She starts her job in five weeks. Should I come right out and tell her if she's depending on me, she'd better line up someone else because Grandma isn't sitting anymore?

TIERED

DEAR TIRED: It's unfortunate that you and your daughter don't have a better communication system. Don't provide answers for unasked questions. If and when she asks you, speak your piece.

DEAR ABBY: I am a married man with a family. I work for my father-in-law who owns some apartment buildings, and two evenings a week I do some rent-collecting for him.

About a year ago a woman (about 40) moved into one of his flats. She is a physical therapist and holds the rank of Captain in the WAF. She has never been married.

Although I don't "love" her, I find her to be a very exciting woman. She is intelligent and interesting and has been all over the world. By contrast, my wife (whom I really love) seems very dull and uninteresting.

My problem is that the Captain now demands that I see her more often than just on my rent-collecting nights. She says if I refuse she will tell my wife about us. My wife doesn't suspect anything, but she has already threatened to complain to her father that he has been "over - working" me. What should I do?

SLEEPLESS NIGHTS

DEAR SLEEPLESS: Next time you go "rent collecting," collect only the rent, and tell the Captain that she is "off limits." I would bet against her, telling your wife. But if she does you can expect to be "worked over" instead of over-worked. But take it like a man. It's still better than submitting to blackmail.

DEAR ABBY: Do you know what a real friend is? It's someone who cares enough about your feelings to spare you as much pain as possible. Example:

Our 29-year-old daughter and her husband, after nine years of marriage, decided to get a divorce. They have two darling children. Fortunately, it will not be one of those messy affairs. They quietly made their decision and told us (first) that they plan to announce it next week. Of course we were shocked and heartsick that their marriage ended this way, but they assured us they tried hard to make a go of it, but it was hopeless.

Not wishing my dearest friend to hear it from outsiders, I told her in confidence this afternoon. Her only comment was, "Thank you for telling me."

She didn't say, "Oh, how terrible!" Or, "WHAT HAPPENED?" Or, "Aren't you just sick about it?" Or, "Oh, those poor children!"

When I left her, I thanked her for her considerate reaction to the news I gave her. Her only remark was, "What else is there to say? It's your daughter's business, and being an intelligent girl, she has given her decision much thought, I am sure."

Now, Abby, THERE is a friend for you.

SINCERELY GRATEFUL Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Sculptor-Illustrator Decides That Working At Home Isn't Easy For Mother

By ARLEEN ABRAHAMS
AP Newsfeature Writer

"All Kinds of Mothers" is the first children's book, or any type of book, that sculptor Miriam Brofsky ever has illustrated. And according to Mimi ("I've always been called Mimi"), the tiny volume "expresses to a T my whole approach to the subject of motherhood and the fact that each mother is a unique individual."

Married "all my life" 19 years out of 39 to Howard Brofsky, chairman of the department of music at Queens, N.Y., College, and the mother of Alexander, 9, and Natasha, 4, Mimi nevertheless manages to find time to demonstrate her individuality, without giving up an active social and home life. A serious sculptor, she has had several one man shows in New York and Chicago and has participated in numerous group shows here and abroad. In addition,

"I always planned to continue working, no matter what," says Mimi, who holds a master's degree (in fine arts) from the University of Chicago. "My sculpture is as important a factor in my life as my kids."

For a long time, she explains, she was forced to buy her time. "The money I earned by teaching sculpture and painting has gone to pay baby-sitters to look after the children so that I could work at home without having the children underfoot."

"Too many people have the wrong idea about a married woman writer or artist, continues the youthful-looking brunette. "They feel a career that permits a woman to work at home is marvelous because then the woman doesn't have to hire a baby-sitter." This is definitely not the truth, she argues.

"To do anything seriously in the artistic or creative vein, you need to concentrate. And it's impossible to concentrate if the children are running in and out.

"I must shut myself up and work. I couldn't be a decent parent unless I gave myself that," she adds emphatically.

Mimi does manage to spend a good deal of time with Alexander and Natasha. She tries to eat lunch with them every day and as a rule permits them to watch her work in her studio in the family's Manhattan apartment. "The kids get such a kick out of seeing me work," she says, "and they have a fantastic eye. Their suggestions were especially valuable for the book illustrations."

Actually, "All Kinds of Mothers" is completely a family affair. Mimi's aunt, Cecily Brownstone, child-care editor of Family Circle magazine and food editor of The Associated Press, originally wrote the book as a gift to Mimi's children, without any thought of publishing it. Rereading it a year later, both women thought it was too good not to be published. They were right—the illustrated version was accepted by the first publisher to whom it was shown.

Mimi found it so exhilarating to illustrate the book that she plans to illustrate another children's book in the near future. Meantime, she's concentrating on doing life-size sculpture in various media—plastic and bronze—of her own children and of other people's children.

How does she get the children to sit still long enough to do the sculpture she's commissioned to do? First, she says, "You have to achieve a rapport with the child. And I do work fast. I give the children some toys to play with and then when I'm ready, I can usually get the child to sit still for a few moments."

"Of course you cannot tell how long it's going to take," she adds. "Funny thing, it's the kids with regular features who are the most difficult to sculpt."

Aim Should Be To Aid Development

Whatever happens in the reported shake up within the state highway Commission, state officials should begin using some highway funds on projects which will stimulate economic growth in less populous areas of the state.

Almost everyone — from the largest cities to the smallest hamlets — recognizes that improved highways are a great asset in attracting business to an area.

Regrettably the lion's share of highway funds for the past decade has been funneled to the big cities of the state with a virtual drying up of funds for the smaller cities and towns.

Whenever anyone has questioned this procedure the answer has been that these things were determined by the experts, that roads should go where the traffic is and that any deviation from this practice would be to succumb to political expediency.

Well, of course, it should be obvious to any unbiased observer that the politically expedient way to spend highway funds is to build all the roads possible in the highest population areas in hopes of keeping voters in line for future elections.

If the planners were thinking creatively about total development of the state they would certainly mark a reasonable portion of the highway funds for eastern roadwork. Here even modest highway spending would reap great dividends in economic development.

North Carolina needs to think less of political expediency in planning its highways than it has in the past. It needs to consider to a greater degree the economic development of all its regions in future planning.

Whatever personnel changes are made within the State Highway Commission, it is our hope that a new thinking will emerge, so far as state highway planning is concerned. If a concept of total state development is adopted, then the eastern area, which has for so long been cut off from highway funds, might at last find the State Highway Commission in sympathy with its ambitious development plans.

Reminded Anew That Storms Unpredictable

One thing residents in hurricane susceptible areas have come to realize is that these mighty sea spawned storms are unpredictable.

If any reminder was needed Gerda furnished it this week. This storm built up to hurricane force rapidly and it moved with great speed along the Atlantic seaboard. It posed a potential threat to the North Carolina coast but, fortunately moved off Cape Hatteras almost before coastal residences knew it was around.

The next morning it roared near the New England area with 90-to-100 mile per hour winds. Gerda thus proved that hurricanes can strike almost anywhere on the east coast or in the Gulf. They can move rapidly and they can be devastating when they hit. During the hurricane season residents of all coastal states should keep posted on the movements of these big storms. Lives often depend on taking the proper precautions.

Ambivalence In Racial Policies

WASHINGTON—The Nixon administration's politically incoherent conduct of Southern school desegregation is revealed by the fact that the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) is hard at work planning forced racial integration of 34 diehard Mississippi school districts during the 1969-1970 school year.

What makes this remarkable is that HEW Secretary Robert H. Finch outraged the civil rights lobby and triggered the widely-publicized rebellion of Justice Department lawyers by asking the Federal courts to move the deadline for these same 34 districts from Sept. 1 to Dec. 1. But that step was only a stay of execution, not a reprieve.

Moreover, any slight softening toward President Nixon in Mississippi resulting from the delay will evaporate with the resumption of the onslaught against desegregated dual school systems (about half of the 34 districts with Negro majorities). There is no doubt that George Wallace would humiliate Richard Nixon in a Mississippi election rematch today.

Thus, because of racial schizophrenia, Mr. Nixon is getting the worst of both worlds. By seeming to follow the political grand design of Atty. Gen. John Mitchell in trying to combine the Nixon and Wallace votes of 1968, he has probably completed alienating the Negro vote. But because his Administration still presses for desegregation at a slower pace, he is falling well short of Mitchell's goal.

The reason can be found in the curious decision-making process that pervades the Nixon administration but is most pronounced in civil rights. Mr. Nixon's ambivalence about school desegregation during the 1968 campaign, an appropriate political device, has persisted since his inauguration. At no time has the President made clear, either publicly or inside the government, exactly what he wants done about school desegregation.

The only official Administration pronouncement on the question was the July 3 joint statement of Mitchell and Finch—itsself a masterpiece of success, but an unworthy possessor of prohibitive power who must be obeyed.

Dr. Sims went on to say that because of lingering ties with childhood, "... top-level civil servants hesitate to be aggressive because assertive achievement is seen as dangerous and punishable."

I would probably have not paid any attention to the paper except that a few days later I happened to be in the office of a high government official at the Pentagon when his phone rang. He picked it up. "Hello. Yes, put her on. . . Hello, Mother. I'm fine. . . Yes, everything's going well. I was going to call you later. . . What am I working on? . . . I'm trying to decide whether we should build four nuclear aircraft carriers or put the money into 30 missile silos. . . What do you mean, why didn't I call you to ask you what you thought about it? . . . The problem was just thrown at me today. . . Mother, I do care what you think. . . Yes, Mother, I know my problems are your problems, but I want to spare you. . . Mother, will you stop crying? . . . I have no secrets from you. . . Have I ever had any secrets from you? . . . The time I ran away and went to New York when I was 18 years old? You still can't forget that, can you? OK, since then I've always leveled with you, haven't I? . . . Mother, I just didn't think you'd be interested in whether I decided for the submarines, the carrier or the missile sites . . .

Bureaucrats' Problem

WASHINGTON — Dr. John H. Sims of the University of Chicago delivered a paper at last week's American Psychological Assn. convention in which he stated the high-level government bureaucrat was a "mother's boy."

He said, "There is a strong and ambivalent emotional tie that remains with the mother; and the father figure is seen, not as an admired model of success, but an unworthy possessor of prohibitive power who must be obeyed."

Dr. Sims went on to say that because of lingering ties with childhood, "... top-level civil servants hesitate to be aggressive because assertive achievement is seen as dangerous and punishable."

Other Editors Say General Averts Tempest

(The Raleigh Times) Fort Bragg seems to have been blessed with a commanding general who has a saving sense of humor, a generous portion of commonsense and a lively idea of what really is important.

Lt. Gen. John J. Tolson, Bragg's commander, was faced with the situation of an enlisted man who had painted his little foreign car in psychedelic colors, put flowers decals on the windows and the word "love" on the doors.

This could have been a cause celebre which could have reberberated in feature stories around the world. But, General Tolson stepped in. He directed the provost marshal to continue the post registration of the car. And, he ordered an immediate review of the post regulation which prohibits the painting of private cars except in the manner in which the manufacturers paint them.

Then, for good measure, General Tolson added that he wasn't concerned about the paint job soldiers choose and that he feels the regulations should stick to assuring that the cars are safe.

The really important thing is his feeling that cars registered on the Bragg post must be safe. The Army sees to it that they are inspected, and that is fine. General Tolson's reaffirmation of the Army's interest in this important point should help the cause of highway safety both on and off the Bragg reservation.

This whole business could have become a tempest in a teapot. Instead, General Tolson's handling of the case should be regarded as a model of the way to still a tempest before it gets a chance to boil up.

Curiously, the government's cutback may therefore release a large number of trained men, making them available for private building work. It will also reduce the bidding by government contractors for men with construction skills. Unexpected Consequence

Uncle Sam should take more pains to equip his nephews in uniform with fitted earplugs, says the U.S. Army's top hearing expert. Dr. Jerry L. Nothing burgeons like a bureaucracy. Federal civilian employment, which reached a post-war low of 1.96 million persons in fiscal 1950, is now well over that three million mark. There are now 26 states in which federal employes outnumber those on state government payrolls.

The stresses of civilization make it hard to keep a sound mind in a sound body. About 20 million Americans are estimated to suffer some mental or emotional derangement. There are more patients hospitalized for mental illness than for all other ailments, including heart defects and cancer, combined.

One hopeful note: About 75 per cent of mental patients admitted to the hospital for the first time leave within a year.

Does city smog make you feel tired? Small wonder. Investigators have found that nitric oxide, one of its ingredients, can reduce the blood's oxygen-carrying capacity from 20 to 38 per cent.

About half of all adult Americans are overweight to some extent. While fat may be medically unjustifiable, it does have one advantage. The fatter you are the less likely you are to be bitten by mosquitoes. Thin persons are favorite targets of mosquitoes because they tend to have a higher metabolic rate and release more heat, which attracts the insects.

Alaska is the most air-minded of American states. One out of every eight Alaskans has a pilot's license, six times the national average.

Sheriff's Edict Guards Morals

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau
RALEIGH —Damon Howard Huskey, six feet tall and 220 pounds of tough lawman, is the high sheriff of Rutherford County, N.C., in the foothills of the Blue Ridge mountains.

During the past few weeks he has become one of the better known sheriffs in the state, and perhaps in the nation.

By edict, Huskey has banned from Rutherford County all questionable movies which are labeled restricted under the movie industry code, apparently on the theory that being so restricted they are, one and all, obscene. Thus, although he denies this, sheriff Huskey has become a self-appointed censor and one-man guardian of the public morals.

WILLIAM A. SHIRES

Definitions and interpretations. These vary widely from state to state, from community to community. In the days before topless dancers were allowed in public, the Georgia Supreme Court a few years attempted to crack down on art and "arty" pictures. It issued a decision against nudity.

An imaginative reporter wrote this lead on his story: "Whether Michelangelo or Marilyn Monroe, if it's nude it's lewd in Georgia."

Disparity — Now what is permitted on the screen or on the newstands in parts of North Carolina is not tolerated in other towns and cities. One of the guidelines, frequently cited from a U.S. Supreme Court decision, is whether the material meets "accepted community standards."

The guiding factor, according to the sheriff of Wake County, Robert Pleasants, is whether the public objects. No sooner had Sheriff Pleasants made this statement than two ministers in the Wake County town of Zebulon raised complaint about "adult" motion pictures being shown at a theater in their town. The operator was arrested and a couple of films were confiscated. Trial of this case is pending.

A few months earlier, a news distributor in Raleigh was arrested and charged with distributing obscene material — specifically picture magazines. The crackdown thus far has been against "adult" and restricted films and picture magazines. So far no one has moved against some of the unadulterated filth filling the paperback magazine racks.

Presumably this is because the paperbacks pander in print not in pictures—and someone has decided it is more degrading to look than to read. Or could it be that it is simply easier to look than to read?

"I am just trying to enforce the law as I see it," says Huskey. "I'm no censor, although some will say that I am." Enforce—It is certain that the courts eventually will decide whether Huskey or any sheriff has the authority to issue such a sweeping edict. At least one theater owner already is challenging in court. Guidelines as to what constitutes obscenity and what affronts public decency are still vague. Many believe they are becoming clearer and that more realistic laws and ordinances may soon be fashioned. In the meantime, however, there appears to be an almost hopeless jumble of laws, de-

Strength For Today Affecting Industry And Economy

By ELMER ROESSNER
The Nixon 75 per cent cutback in federal construction will have considerable effect on the entire industry and the whole economy.

Coupled with some cancellation plans by private industry, it may help cool the economy a bit. However, the cooling may not be very much. One reason for the cutback in the private sector is, of course, the high cost of financing. Rising costs of materials and equipment is another reason. But a third reason of considerable import is the scarcity of skilled construction labor.

Curiously, the government's cutback may therefore release a large number of trained men, making them available for private building work. It will also reduce the bidding by government contractors for men with construction skills. Unexpected Consequence

The federal cutback may also have an uncalculated effect: It may slow down the campaign by minority groups for more construction jobs. One of the chief supports of this campaign has been government requirements that there must be no racial discrimination in hiring for government work. Now the power of the government to integrate the construction industry will be diminished. In addition, with a cutback in contracts, the lily-white unions will stiffen their resistance to sharing work and union membership with minorities.

Surveys by the Department of Commerce and the Securities and Exchange Commission indicate that planned industrial construction this year has been cut back by approximately $3 billion.

However, the total this year will still be 10.6 per cent above 1968. Last year the increase over 1967 was only 3.9 per cent.

Confirms M'Graw-Hill Findings
The federal surveys tend to confirm an earlier survey by the McGraw-Hill economics department which found that industry is postponing some spending plans until 1970. It found that large corporations are planning to spend $74.9 billion next year, $1.8 billion more than they had planned this spring.

Many said the high cost of money was a factor.

The unsettled tax condition has probably also caused a hold-up of many spending plans. Business does not know how long the surtax will be imposed on corporations; whether the Congress will go along with President Nixon's request for a repeal of the 7 per cent tax credit for equipment expenditures, or how it will react to Mr. Nixon's latest move in the area, asking Congress to reduce the corporate tax rate and disallow some of the proposed breaks for individuals.

Hornet Car Pricing May Have Been Mistake

Dubcek Refuses Confess 'Guilt' To Presidium

PRAGUE (AP) — Alexander Dubcek is going to be driven from public life, Czech informants report, but they say he is refusing to make the traditional confession of guilt.

Dubcek's successor as Communist party chief, Gustav Husak, and other leaders now in power recently accepted Soviet charges that Dubcek's failure to curb "counter revolutionaries" and anti-Communists in 1968 justified the Soviet invasion.

The regime plans to remove Dubcek from the 11-member party presidium within a few weeks, informants said. Dubcek's departure from his government job, the presidency of the federal parliament, is expected to follow.

Dubcek, 47, upset the timetable at a presidium meeting last week, the sources said, when he refused to perform the traditional Communist ritual of self-criticism. It was thought that he did not want to break faith with the millions of Czechs and Slovaks who supported his reform regime. In addition self-criticism and admission of errors by Dubcek today could become the basis for trials of his supporters tomorrow.

Dubcek reportedly reminded the presidium that premier Oldrich Cernik and Jan Piller, another presidium member, voted with him for the presidium's resolution condemning the invasion.

The sources said Dubcek also protested by letter to Husak about 10 days of personal attacks against him over Prague Radio, and as a result Husak ordered a halt to attacks naming Dubcek.

The sources said Dubcek's resistance, coupled with the cheers given the former leader in numerous cities last month, caused the presidium to have some second thoughts. The result was a delay while Husak and his allies try to work out a formula to oust Dubcek even without self-criticism.

Unruh 'Prefers' Governorship

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Assembly Democratic Leader Jesse M. Unruh says he would rather be governor of California than U.S. senator.

Asked in an interview Tuesday whether there was any chance he might challenge Republican George Murphy for the Senate next year, Unruh said, "I can see none."

Unruh, long considered a top contender for the Democratic nomination for governor in 1970, again declined to say whether he would run, saying he would announce his decision later this year or early next year.

Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan is expected to seek a second four-year term.

Evans-Novak ...

(Continued From Page 4) since Jan. 20, he had been under constant nagging from the White House staff to take it easy on the pace of desegregation. It had its effect two weeks ago. Acting against the strong advice of his closest associates at HEW, Finch asked for a delay in the desegregation deadline.

The aftermath of Finch's action typifies the Administration's ambiguity on this question. HEW officials had been afraid that the Mississippi delay would prompt many of the 355 Southern school districts scheduled for voluntary school desegregation last week to renege. In fact, few did. But when some Georgia districts did renege, the government quickly went to court to seek a restraining order against them.

Buchwald . . .

(Continued From Page 4) own. . . I'm not stupid. . . Why do you always tell me I'm stupid? . . . I'm 40 years old, Dad. Why don't you have some faith in me? . . . I'm not being disrespectful. I have the greatest respect for you. I've always respected you. But you've got to let me make my own decisions. . .

"Well, maybe I don't know all the answers. . . That's a lie. I know a lot more than you think I know. . . No, I didn't call you a liar. . . I'm sorry, Dad. Please, I'm sorry. You're probably right. I don't know what the hell I'm doing. . . Yes, Dad, I'll call you later."

My friend hung up the phone and pressed his intercom button. "Miss Blatnik, tell the secretary I can't handle the sub-carrier-silo problem. Ask him if he can give it to somebody else."

Kids Had Fun, But Drive To Get Defectors A Flop

By ROBERT D. OHMAN
Associated Press Writer

SUOI MUON, Vietnam (AP) — The kids had fun and the older people were not hostile, but on a head-count basis the campaign in Suoi Muon to get Viet Cong agents to defect was a flop.

"We haven't had any turn ourselves in so far, but we still may have some," Amador Maik, adviser for the Tay Ninh Province Chieu Hoi —open arms—program, said.

Maik, of Bateros, Philippines, was the ramrod of a five-day campaign in a string of hamlets along the fringe of Tay Ninh city, 55 miles northwest of Saigon. The work was carried out, however, by a platoon of former Viet Cong guerrillas who had switched their allegiance to the government and who are now members of an armed propaganda team.

When the team arrived in Suoi Muon from the Tay Ninh Chieu Hoi compound for the day's "fair," they were the only young men in the hamlet. Suoi Muon's youths have been swept up by the war and are serving as government troops or Viet Cong.

The hamlet chief had provided the Chieu Hoi team a list of a half-dozen families that were known to have sons or fathers with the Viet Cong and these were the primary targets of the campaign.

"We don't think there are many Viet Cong agents in the hamlet right now," Maik said.

There is a militia outpost within 300 yards of Suoi Muon, but at dark the government troops seal themselves inside the post and the Viet Cong can move unchallenged into the hamlet.

To weaken Suoi Muon's sympathy for the Viet Cong, Maik had organized the fair, scheduling a medical clinic, free haircuts, volley ball games, house-to-house visits, a movie and entertainment by six singers.

The Chieu Hoi team—a dozen young men and three teen-aged Cong guerrillas—carried bundles of propaganda posters and girls who also had been Viet pamphlets.

Nearly 100 villagers were treated at the clinic set up in one room of the small school, while children recited their lessons in the other room. A line of shaggy haired youngsters formed across the street where two ex-guerrillas were giving haircuts.

In the afternoon, the propaganda team started house calls with the hamlet chief's list.

One elderly woman accepted a handful of pamphlets but stoutly disagreed when one of the Chieu Hoi men suggested her son was with the Viet Cong. She said she had three sons and they were all in the South Vietnamese army.

"That is untrue," said the hamlet chief, who trailed along behind the propaganda team.

House after house was found vacant and one team member said it was a bad time; most of the people were out working in the field.

Maik had to cancel the movie when he found out the projector was broken. He still hoped to attract Suoi Muon's adults to the song and dance show but at dusk it began to rain—a steady, heavy downpour and even the show was called off.

Maik was not discouraged and he planned another fair in another hamlet.

"We have to keep trying," he said. "Maybe we planted the seed today that will produce some hoi chahns (defectors) tomorrow."

Stripteaser Has To Be A Dancer

BUDAPEST (AP) — How does one become a striptease dancer in one of Budapest's half-a-dozen night clubs?

By producing a certificate of a dancer.

A decree published by the cultural department of Budapest metropolitan council said "to perform a striptease act in public, the artist has to produce a valid permit entitling her to operate as a solo dancer."

Bullet In Heart For Fifty Years

BUDAPEST (AP) — A Hungarian who for 50 years lived with a bullet in his heart recently died of natural causes.

The news agency MTI said Zsigmond Kalkoczka was wounded in World War One and the bullet lodged in the upper corner of his left heart chamber. Although he was willing to have surgery performed, doctors advised against it.

Ask Public Help To Catch Geese

MINOT, N.D. (AP) — Zoo officials engaged in a tame goose chase in Minot.

Some 21 tame geese swam away from the Roosevelt Park Zoo this spring during flooding on the Souris River. The geese had their wings clipped and couldn't fly.

Minot residents were asked to keep their eyes open for geese wandering in any part of the city of 35,000 population.

BARN DESTROYED
BENTON, Ky. (AP) — Ed Zucker of Hardin didn't get much use from his new barn. The barn was rebuilt after a windstorm destroyed it. Then one week after it was completed, an auto overturned on a curve near Zucker's place and knocked down three walls of the structure.

New Nuclear Carrier Request Under Fire

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy's request for a new nuclear-powered aircraft carrier was under fire today from senators, undaunted by an overwhelming defeat in their attempt to delay production of the C5A supercargo plane.

Sens. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., and Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., have called up their amendment to slash $377.1 million for the carrier out of the $20 billion military procurement authorization bill.

The amendment would prevent the Pentagon from going ahead on the carrier pending a review by the General Accounting Office of anticipated costs and the need for carriers in an age of nuclear missiles.

This was the same approach used unsuccessfully Monday against the C5A.

Sen. John C. Stennis, chairman of the Armed Services Committee, already has attacked the carrier amendment. "In voting on this amendment we may make a vital and crucial decision as to whether we will have an effective naval air arm in the late 1970s and 1980s," said the Mississippi Democrat.

Backers of the Pentagon picked up the support of a number of senators who favor a reduction in U.S. overseas forces Tuesday to defeat Sen. William Proxmire's amendment to slash $533 million for the C5A from the bill. The amendment lost 64-23.

Sens. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, and Stuart Symington, D-Mo., were among those who contended that more C5As will give the United States the capacity to ferry more troops and equipment overseas quickly, thus reducing the need to station so many soldiers on foreign soil.

But Proxmire, D-Wis., won approval by a 90-0 vote of another amendment. It is designed to prevent conflicts of interest among military officers or civilian officials who leave the Pentagon to go to work for defense contractors, and officials of large firms who go to work for the Pentagon.

It would require public disclosure of such connections for three years after the switch is made. Consultants would also be covered.

Harding Speaks At Club Event

PACTOLUS—Edmund H. Harding of Washington was the speaker at the Pactolus Ruritan Club's annual Ladies Night held Monday night in the Pactolus Elementary School luncheon.

Harding, appointed North Carolina's Ambassador of Good Will by Governor Robert Scott, spoke on "Let's Get Ruritans In Orbit."

"This is a day of doing better things," Harding said. "We have to improve upon our fathers."

Every member must do his part and render services to the club and community that will benefit both the club and the community, Harding explained.

A program of music was presented by Mrs. Ronald Crisp, pianist, and Miss Rae Harris. Miss Harris sang "Roses Are Red," "The Way That He Loves" and "I'll Walk With God."

Special guests included Mrs. Harding, Elwood C. Davenport of Winterville, Zone Governor, and Mrs. Davenport.

The speaker was introduced by John Langley, program chairman, and William Edwards gave the invocation.

Club President D. R. House presided at the meeting.

Band, Chorus Will Visit ECU

The U. S. Army Field Band and Soldiers Chorus announced plans to include North Carolina in their 47-day concert tour of the Southeastern United States this fall.

The first North Carolina concert will be held on Wednesday, Sept. 17 in Wright Auditorium, on the campus of East Carolina University.

Nicknamed the "Kings of the Highway," the 100-man group has traveled over a million miles during the last two decades to give concerts throughout the U. S. and in Canada, Mexico, Great Britain, Europe and the Far East.

Band members are normally on tour at least 140 days a year. During the first half of 1969, the band performed to about 23 million people. Three of the first six months were spent on tour.

During the summer, the field band made a 10-day tour of major outdoor concert sites in the Northeastern United States, concluding with a concert in the historic Chautauqua Institution Amphitheater in New York.

The fall tour is part of a cyclical touring schedule which takes the Army Field Band into all 50 states within a two-year period.

Navy May Idle Some Spy Ships

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy probably will lay up some of its intelligence-gathering ships, Pentagon sources say.

They forecast increased use of warships, chiefly destroyers, equipped to carry out such missions as relatively-close-to-shore interception of radio communications and monitoring of radar installations.

The action likely will be bound up in the Navy's trimming of the fleet to help meet its $1 billion share of White House-ordered spending cuts.

The move may also stem in part from congressional criticism and Pentagon studies following seizure of the spy ship Pueblo and the shooting down of a Navy reconnaissance plane, both by North Korea.

Sources indicated some of the estimated 12 lightly armed intelligence gathering vessels will remain in service, perhaps to operate in areas where danger of attack is at a minimum.

A destroyer, with five-inch guns and missiles, could hardly be overrun by the kind of torpedo and patrol boats the North Koreans sent against the Pueblo in January 1968. The Pueblo had only two machine guns for defense.

Destroyers, fitted with special electronic equipment, have carried out intelligence gathering chores in the past.

Lay up of some of the special intelligence vessels may be announced along with the next increment of ship retirements expected soon.

The Navy Aug. 22 identified some 76 vessels of various kinds to be taken out of commission.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has said more than 100 ships eventually will be taken off the active rolls. Sources said the total could reach about 125.

Asheville News Veteran Dies

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (AP) — A colorful Asheville journalist, once praised by F. Scott Fitzgerald for his literary talents, died Tuesday.

Bright W. Padgett, 70, had worked with the Asheville Citizen and Times for 33 years. He earned the praise of the noted American novelist during that time.

The veteran newspaperman died in an Asheville hospital after a brief illness.

As a youth he sold subscriptions to the Progressive Farmer in his native Mayfield, Ky., and later worked his way into the newsroom of the Akron (Ohio) Beacon-Journal. Padgett later was a staff member of the Nashville Tennessee and the Louisville (Ky.) Courier-Journal.

He was awarded second place in the North Carolina Press Association competition in 1948 for best spot news reporting with a story on the Drafus Davis murder. He served as crime reporter for the Asheville Times.

A number of his poems were published during the 1920s and 1930s in leading journals throughout the country.

Funeral services will be Thursday. The body will be cremated.

Lunar Rock Studies Result In Some Conclusions

By PAUL RECER
Associated Press Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The moon went through violent and torrid pains of birth and early infancy about the same time as the earth, but then it died and became "a very quiet, peaceful place," scientists at the Lunar Receiving Laboratory believe.

This conclusion, based on examinations of rocks and dust returned to earth by Apollo 11, was revealed in interviews as the scientists prepared to release some of the lunar material Friday to other scientists for further study.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration will officially announce its findings on the moon rock at a Washington news conference today.

Here are the key things scientists at the Manned Space Center say they have learned from Apollo 11.

—There is no evidence there is life on the moon.

—Exhaustive tests exposing the lunar material to earthly life forms—plants, fish, mice, birds and, accidentally, man himself—produced no evidence of moon pathogens or germs existing in the soil. Nor has the soil been shown to have a toxic effect on earth creatures.

—Examination of the rocks and dust show the moon to have been molten about the same time as the earth, about three billion years ago.

—The moon heated up after its formation, as did the earth, and was a glob of molten rock. But while the earth continued to evolve and bring forth life, the moon—after 500 million years—in effect died.

The Apollo 11 mission failed to still the hot debate among scientists about the origin of the moon.

Before the flight there were three theories: the moon was thrown into orbit from the Pacific Ocean area of the earth; it is a sister planet formed at the same time and in the same manner as the earth; it was formed elsewhere in the solar system and became a captive of the earth's gravitational field.

Examination of the Apollo 11 samples failed to confirm or contradict any of the theories.

Studies of the rocks gave no promise of any immediate economic benefit for mankind, and no indication of life on the moon.

Organic matter, which can come from a life form, was measured at "from dead zero to one part per million" in the Apollo 11 samples, a scientist said. There is some question that even this minute amount may have come from the handling of the rocks and not from the moon.

Scientists were surprised at the number of meteorites constantly sprinkling the surface of the moon. The frequency of these hits was larger than expected, but no conclusions have been drawn as yet.

Dr. Robin Brett, a member of the preliminary examination team of scientists at the NASA lab, said the top surfaces of the rocks were also hit by "whopping great does of solar wind," the radiation boiled away from the sun.

Old Rifles Are Being Reissued

LONDON (AP) — British army riflemen will soon be able to kill at distances up to 1,000 yards for the first time since a North Atlantic Treaty Organization rifle with a 400-yard range was introduced as standard equipment in 1958. Selected infantrymen are being issued old long-range Lee Enfield .303 rifles for training as snipers.

Dr. Oliver Schaeffer of the State University of New York at Stony Brook used an atomic dating device to establish the age of the rocks.

This system gives the approximate date that the rocks crystallized from the molten state. Schaeffer put the date at from 2.3 to 3.7 billion years ago, which is about the same as the oldest rocks measured on earth.

The rocks from Tranquility Base are like nothing ever examined on earth.

They contain many of the elements with high boiling points, such as titanium, zirconium and chromium, and very little of the elements with low boiling points, such as lead, potassium and sodium.

"This gives you a rock that's unlike any meteorites, unlike any earth rock of igneous origin," said Brett. "It's just a very oddball type of rock. We don't really understand how it formed at all."

Brett and the other members of the team have pieced together this story of the moon:

—The moon is believed to have been formed 4.5 billion years ago at the same time as the earth and the rest of the solar system.

—During the next 500 million years, just a short period in geological time, the moon heated up and became molten. It then cooled, with the final volcanic action ending between 2.3 billion and 3.7 billion years ago. The moon became a lifeless tombstone, frozen at an early age in its development and preserved.

—During the brief period of activity, "something hitting the moon" formed the vast flat plains which early moon mappers called "mares" or seas. These are the areas which appear darkest to man gazing at the moon from earth.

—Volcanic action filled in the mares with lava and dust.

—Unprotected by an atmosphere that would shield its surface, the moon was bombarded by meteoroids that shaped its features.

—Chunks of bedrock of the moon were blasted from far beneath its surface by the collision of meteors forming craters. Small bits of this rock landed near the Tranquility Base landing site of Apollo 11 and remained there for 150 million years.

—Meteorites continue to pepper the surface of the moon. The small chunks of material collide with such force that the shock melts surface material, turning part of it into glass. About 50 per cent of the dust in the Sea of Tranquility is glass.

There are about 456 million Moslems in the world.

Mets, No Longer The Laugh Of The League, Are On Verge Of Taking It

By HAL BOCK Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Payson burst into Gil Edges' press conference, extended herself for interrupting and then threw her ample arms around the manager of the New York Mets.

"Oh," the Mets' principal owner bubbled, "it's just so wonderful. We're all so happy." The subject of Mrs. Payson's joy was not just the Mets' 7-1 romp over Chicago Tuesday night that moved New York to within one-half game of the crumbling Cubs in the National League's East Division pennant race.

It also was a burst of accumulated emotion over the sudden and stunning success of her eight-year-old franchise, which for so long has been the biggest joke around the National League.

The Mets, believe it or not, are contending for a pennant. Yes, the Mets.

"I remember when I played for Pittsburgh," said Don Clendenon, who made Tuesday's key victory a little easier with a two-run homer.

"We'd come into New York feeling we were going to win a series. We were playing the Mets and we knew they'd make a mistake—mental or otherwise and we'd take advantage and win."

Suddenly, the shoe is on the other foot and it pinches. Tuesday night, moments before Clendenon hit his homer, Art Shamsky was trapped in a rundown but slid safely into second when Glenn Beckert of the Cubs dropped a throw. Clendenon followed with his homer. It was a scene reminiscent of Mets—circa 1962.

Ah, yes, 1962, that was the year Mrs. Payson invested just over $2 million for a team stocked with some beautiful names but not very many talented players.

The Mets weren't very good, but at least they showed up every day. And day after day, they lost. They lost an almost unbelievable 120 times that first season. They lost in almost every way known to baseball—organized and otherwise.

They had a pitcher—Roger Craig—who was so effective, he lost 24 games. You have to be the ace of the staff to pitch often enough to lose that many games.

Craig improved the next year—he lost only 22. The Mets were so bad that Stengel once implored his athletes, saying "Can't anybody here play this game?" The phrase fit the Mets perfectly and became the title of a book about their early adventures.

For their first four seasons, the Mets always had one pitcher who would lose at least 20 games. Now, suddenly, they have a pitcher who has won 20 games. In fact, Tom Seaver, whose five-hitter beat the Cubs Tuesday night, has won 21 games—tops in the National League.

The talk around the league when the Mets started making waves this season was that eventually they'd fold. After all, the argument went, these were the good, old Mets.

"I wonder if they're believers now," said Seaver, grinning. "The Met changes at this moment are the best of anybody in the league. We've got a bunch of young players who believe they can do it."

Do it? You mean, win the pennant? The Mets? The same team that finished 24 games out of first place last year.

Bud Harrelson, the Mets' shortstop, has a theory about the club's success story. "We're doing to everybody else what they used to do to us," said Harrelson. "We're loose and relaxed. We're playing the same steady ball every day. We're happy and loose."

Harrelson is one of the young veterans of the club. He was playing shortstop when the Mets were regular tenants of 10th place.

"I remember when I first came up," he recalled. "We'd be ahead in the seventh, eighth or ninth innings and I'd be out there half scared to death. We lost because of that. Now we go out there confident and if we're leading in the late innings, we'll win."

Clendenon, who came to New York from Montreal in a mid-June trade, offered the perspective gained from watching his new teammates from the other side of the field.

"The last few years, they've had the good pitching. Sooner or later that's going to win ball games for you," said the veteran first baseman.

Clendenon said the Mets are genuine contenders. "They were winning before I got here and they've been winning ever since. There's no reason why they shouldn't keep right on winning."

The Mets' move toward first place has excited the fans as well as the players. They flock to Shea Stadium early, yell their lungs out and more often than not, go home happy.

"The enthusiasm carries over to the field," said Harrelson. Will the pressure get to the Mets eventually?

"It's exciting, sure," said

IN THE FAMILY

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Jacobs horse-training clan of New York is in its second generation. There are brothers Hirsch, Sidney, Eugene and Al; John, Hirsch's son; Robert, Sidney's son, and Buddy Jacobson, whose mother is a sister of the older Jacob's.

Boswell. "But I said exciting... not pressure. If anybody's feeling pressure in this room, he's doing an awfully good job of hiding it. We're just loose and happy."

Only time will tell how far these Mets will go. But one thing is certain. Somebody here certainly knows how to play this game now.

Perry Survives Spitball Charge To Pitch Giants Back Into Lead

By ED SCHUYLER JR. Associated Press Sports Writer

"Spitball charges, chants of 'goodbye Leo,' and a winning single by a kid who wants to stay in the big time. That's the good old National League for you."

En route to the outfield in the second inning Tuesday night, Cincinnati's Pete Rose complained to umpire Andy Olsen that Gaylord Perry was throwing spitballs. Out of the game went Rose, seven innings later down went the Reds, 7-4, to San Francisco, and back into first in the NL West went the Giants.

Manager Leo Durocher sat in a Shea Stadium dugout, listened to chants of "Goodbye Leo, Goodbye Leo, we're glad to see you go" and watched his Chicago Cubs lose to New York 7-1, have their NL East lead cut to one-half game and actually fall a game behind the Mets in the loss column.

"I hope these hits I'm getting mean I can stay up here a while," said Ralph Garr after his run-scoring pinch single in the 10th inning gave Atlanta a 2-1 victory over Los Angeles and moved the Braves past the Dodgers into third in the West, 1½ games back of San Francisco and a game behind Cincinnati.

In other NL action, Houston trounced San Diego 9-2 to move to within three games of the top in the West, Montreal downed Pittsburgh 4-2 and St. Louis took Philadelphia 6-2.

Willie McCovey's 42nd homer, with Willie Mays aboard with a single, in the seventh snapped a 1-1 tie, and the Giants added four more runs in the seventh on two doubles, a walk and three singles enabled the Giants to replace the Reds in first place.

"All I said was 'Why don't you do your job and check the ball when a complaint is made,'" Rose said of the comment that led to his early exit. But Perry still was around at the end as he boosted his record to 17-12.

The Mets, who have won two fewer games and lost one less than the Cubs, gave Tom Seaver, 21-7, two runs in the first inning. Seaver went on to pitch a five-hitter, and the Mets went on to batter Ferguson Jenkins, 19-13, for five more runs, two coming on Donn Clendenon's homer and one on Art Shamsky's homer.

The defeat gave the Cubs their longest losing streak of the season, six straight.

Garr's hit drove in Sonny Jackson, who was hit by a pitch and sacrifice to second, and made Phil Niekro the Braves' first 20-game winner since they moved to Atlanta. He has lost 12.

One of the six hits for the Dodgers, now two games out of first, was Ted Sizemore's lead-off homer in the fourth. Atlanta tied the game and broke a 19-inning scoreless streak in the seventh when Hank Aaron singled and scored on Rico Carty's double.

Jim Wynn's three-run homer, his 30th, sparked a five-run Houston fifth and helped Larry Dierker become the first Astro pitcher ever to win 19 games. Dierker, who has lost 10, pitched a two-hitter until the ninth when Jerry Morales singled with two out and scored on Ivan Murrell's homer.

Pittsburgh, third in the East, 6½ games out, had its four-game winning streak snapped by Montreal as Bob Bailey drove in two runs with a double and a sacrifice fly and Coco Laboy hit a two-run homer to back up Steve Renko's five-hit pitching.

St. Louis got a big game from rookie Jerry DaVannon—two doubles, two RBI and two runs scored—in beating Philadelphia.

Student Tickets Placed On Sale

Student tickets for Rose High School football games have been made available at all city schools this year. They will be on sale at a reduced rate during the week prior to home games.

Tickets at the gate will be 1.50 for all people over 12 years old. Those under 12 will be 75 cents. At school, tickets are 75 cents for high school and junior high students, and 50 cents for all other students.

Season tickets for all students are available at the school, too, for $6.00. These are for all home athletic events at the school.

Ducks Unlimited Seeking $50,000

An estimated $25,000 will be raised in North Carolina this year to support activities of Ducks Unlimited, Sen. Herman Moore of Charlotte, North Carolina Chairman of DU told an area meeting of DU members here last night.

About 150 persons from Greenville and nine area cities and towns attended the dinner at the Moose Lodge and viewed a decoy show described by Moore as the best display he has ever viewed.

The decoy show included displays by nine commercial manufacturers and an equal number of individuals and totaled some 200 decoys.

Moore, who outlined the purposes of Ducks Unlimited, explained that DU leases lands in Canada, then builds dams, dykes, banks and other devices to control water to maintain ideal breeding areas for ducks and geese.

The state senator described this as "a very tangible thing" designed to "provide waterfowl for this generation and for generations to come."

Moore told the group that Dr. Ray D. Minges of Greenville had been presented with a DU Conservation Service Award earlier in the day for his outstanding contributions to DU and its conservation projects.

John Farley, area chairman for DU told the group that an estimated $2,500 to $3,000 has been raised in this area for DU and said he was well pleased with the attendance at last night's meeting.

Chips and putts from area golf courses:

Several golfers turned in their best rounds, or at least better ones during the last week at the Ayden Golf and Country Club.

Jerry Jordan had his best on Saturday, carding a three-under-par 69. Brooks Barwick had a 71, while Ralph Broughton carded a 73.

Ray Kite picked up an eagle on the fifth hole at Ayden. He hit a driver and a four-iron for the deuce.

GRIFTON GOLF CLUB

Grifton was among the participants at the Pitt Ladies Golf League meeting Friday at the Ayden Golf and Country Club. Jane Sauve of Greenville won low gross. Pat Joyner was second, while Mildred Evans took low putts.

Other winners included Janice Whitaker, Edna Simpson, Mary Ruakle, Linda Braxton, Lou Thomas, Bess Eichorn, Christine Anderson, Lila Joyner, and Myrtle Clark. A total of 51 ladies participated.

GREENVILLE C.C.

The Fall series of Ladies Days will get underway on Friday at the Greenville Golf and Country Club, at 9:30 a.m.

Boyd Huff, the club's pro, will be on the first tee to give tips to the ladies.

The Greenville City Tournament will be played over the Brook Valley Country Club and Greenville Golf and Country Club this weekend. The first round, on Saturday, will be at Brook Valley, with the second round, at Greenville Country Club.

ROBERSONVILLE C. C.

There are 64 players from Brook Valley entered in the City Tournament this weekend.

Holtz May Have Solved Problem

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
One of coach Lou Holtz's first tasks when preseason practice began at William and Mary was to find some people who could catch the football. Now it appears he may be able to say, "Mission accomplished."

Holtz has W&M's largest squad in 20 years, about 70 players, but among them is only one man who ever has caught a varsity pass, Jim Cavanaugh, who has speared 89 in two seasons—48 in 1967 and 41 in 1968.

That's more than any other WM end has caught in that span of time, so the latest news from the Indian encampment is especially intriguing. The news is that Cavanaugh could lose his starting job at split end.

A sophomore, Ed Helies, who tips the scales at a mere 155 pounds, is the fellow threatening to displace Cavanaugh on the No. 1 offensive unit. Not only has Helies been catching the ball with great skill in the early practice, but he's much faster than Cavanaugh when he gets it.

At tight end, Holtz also appears to have struck pure gold in the person of another sophomore, Bill Uzzell, who has the sizable task of replacing 1968 star Ted Zychowski. Like Helies he's fast and shifty.

With the search for pass-catchers reasonably well solved, Holtz still has the even bigger problem of finding someone to get the ball to the receivers. This one isn't solved yet, since No. 1 quarterback Wes Meeteer is primarily a runner.

Meeteer was on the sidelines with a severely bruised thigh today and wasn't expected back at practice for several days. He suffered the bruises in a Saturday scrimmage. Leg injuries afflicted two other Indians—middle guards John Bilbo and

Baltimore Sweeps Pair From Mets To Move Within Six Games Of Flag

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Mike Cuellar is rapidly turning Billy Hunter into a prophet and Dave McNally into a reminiscer.

Cuellar, Baltimore's 21-game winner, ran his record to 11-1 since the All-Star Game by six-hitting Washington 6-1 Tuesday in the opener of a two-night doubleheader. The Orioles also took the nightcap 3-2 and reduced their magii number for clinching the American League East to six over Detroit's defending world champion Tigers.

"Mike," coach Hunter told Cuellar earlier this season when the Cuban left-hander was bemoaning the fact that his earned run average was low but his won-lost record just so-so, "after the All-Star break it'll be your turn. From there on, you'll be 11-2."

Cuellar's hot streak also is bringing back memories of the 14-2 mark posted by fellow lefty McNally after the 1968 All-Star break.

Elsewhere in the AL, Minnesota outslugged California 11-7 and boosted its West Division lead to 9½ games over Oakland, which lost to Kansas City 2-1.

Boston tripped Cleveland 3-1 and Detroit blanked the New York Yankees 2-0 while the Chicago White Sox and Seattle were not scheduled.

Cuellar, acquired in an inter-league trade with Houston last winter, was only 10-9 at the All-Star break. Then came consecutive victories over Chicago, Kansas City, Minnesota, Kansas City, Minnesota, Seattle and California before Oakland beat him 4-2 on Aug. 23. Since then he's knocked off Seattle, California, Detroit and Washington.

Another prophet is Baltimore super-scout Jim Russo. "Listen," he said when Cuellar was having his early won-lost troubles, "you haven't really seen Cuellar yet. This guy is more than a pitcher. He's an artist. He has five pitches and complete command of them all."

Actually, Cuellar has more than five.

"He's got a fast ball, a hard curve, a slow curve, a slider and the screwball he throws at several speeds," according to Oriole pitching coach George Bamberger.

"His secret is his great variety. If his screwball isn't working, he can go with the fast ball.

One day against Washington he even went with his slow curve." Tuesday, Cuellar had a one-hitter for seven innings and lost his shutout in the ninth when Frank Howard slammed his 45th homer.

Brooks Robinson drove in two runs in each game for the Orioles and a fourth-inning single by Mark Belanger sent home the winning run in the nightcap. Frank Bertaina, sent to the minors by the Senators earlier this season and then acquired by Baltimore, put down a bases-loaded Washington threat in the sixth.

Minnesota erupted for seven runs in the sixth inning, including five after California shortstop Jim Fregosi bobbled a third-out grounder, and went on to hammer the Angels.

The Twins raked four California pitchers for 19 hits and Leo Cargenas drove in three runs with a homer and double.

Rookie right-hander Dick Drago hurled a five-hitter and Bob Oliver drove in both runs with two-out singles in the fourth and sixth innings as Kansas City nipped Oakland. It was the A's fourth consecutive defeat and 12th in the last 15 games.

Two-out singles by Carl Yastrzemski and Reggie Smith in the seventh accounted for two runs and lifted Boston past Cleveland as Vicente Romo, traded from the Indians to the Red Sox earlier in the year, outpitched Sam McDowell. Tony Horton homered for Cleveland.

Detroit pushed across two runs in the first inning on a single, double, wild pitch and passed ball and rookie Mike Kilkenny scattered eight hits in blanking the Yankees.

Jenkins, Stas Named Directors

Dr. Leo Jenkin, president of East Carolina University, and Clarence Stasavich, athletic director and head football coach, have been elected to offices in the Triangle Chapter of the National Football Hall of Fame.

The two were elected as directors of the chapter at the meeting last weekend.

Bill Murray, former Duke football coach, was elected as president for the coming year, succeeding Earle Edwards, N. C. State football coach.

Leaf Stolen

Approximately 1,200 pounds of tobacco were reported stolen from the Lester Moore farm at Rt. 2, Box 99A, Greenville around 11 p.m. Monday.

Sheriff Ralph Tyson said the six sheets of tobacco were ready for market and consisted of second and third primings.

The tobacco was taken from a pack house.

Governor Again Meets Students

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott continued his effort to improve communications with students at state-owned universities Tuesday night by meeting with student editors and discussing problems.

David Murray, a Scott aide, said student editors from two predominantly Negro schools, Winston-Salem State University and Fayetteville State University, did not show up after accepting invitations.

Murray said student editors from three other predominantly Negro schools, North Carolina A & T University, North Carolina Central University, and Elizabeth City State University did attend. Representatives of these schools were missing Monday night when Scott met with student body presidents from the state-supported universities.

The photography division is in two categories: professional and amateur. For professionals, prizes of $100, $50, and $25, plus 10 meritorious awards of $10 each will be given. Amateur awards will be for $50, $25, and $10, with 10 meritorious awards each to receive $3.00.

Official entry forms must be used for each entry. Forms and additional information can be obtained by writing to: Manager, N. C. State Fair, P. O. Box 5565, Raleigh, N. C., 27607.

band played for Everett McKinley Dirksen. There were no muffled drums, no 21-gun salute. Only quiet eloquence as his President and the Congress bade him goodbye.

"Our great men are the common property of the country," said President Nixon in his eulogy to the Senate Republican leader. "Everett Dirksen of Illinois was and is the common property of the 50 states."

In an honor conferred on only 20 men before him, Dirksen lay beneath a blanket of roses in the great rotunda of the Capitol where he spent nearly half his 73 years. Instead of a flag on the coffin, there was the seal of the Senate.

After being borne at noon today without procession to the National Presbyterian Church for funeral services, the coffin, accompanied by Mrs. Dirksen and the family, will go aboard the Presidential jet for the flight to Pekin, Ill., and burial Thursday.

The memorial service Tuesday lasted only 24 minutes before 900 people who included the Cabinet, senators past and present, most members of the House of Representatives and envoys of foreign governments.

"He was an outspoken partisan, he was an individualist of the first rank," Nixon said of the man who had served the Republican party his state and his nation under four Presidents.

"Everett Dirksen added a grace and eloquence and courtliness to the word 'politician,'" Nixon added. "That is how he became leader of the minority." His eulogy over, the President shook hands with Mrs. Dirksen and the Dirksens' daughter and her husband, Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn. Sen. Baker gave a brief response in which he called Dirksen a realist as well as an idealist.

Dirksen's heart failed Sunday, five days after he underwent surgery for lung cancer.

At one end of Dirksen's coffin was a wreath of red, white and blue flowers placed by the President. On the sides were huge wreaths from the House and Senate. An honor guard, representing all the military services, stood a 24-hour watch.

Through the huge ornamental doors on the east front of the Capitol came the public—a last chance to pay respects to the man whose words and voice and wisp hair were known to almost every American.

They came in a steady stream for the first half hour, then in scattered groups—some obviously tourists, casually dressed and carrying cameras.

After Tuesday's services, the Senate resumed its normal business listening to speeches on the military procurement authorization bill.

Dirksen's front row desk, across the aisle from the desk of majority leader Mike Mansfield, was bare, except for a simple marigold. A Dirksen hallmark was his annual pitch to make the marigold the national flower.

The Senate called a recess again for two hours today to form a guard of honor at the chance to pay respects to the man whose words and voice and wisp hair were known to almost every American.

As Everett Dirksen of Illinois lay in state in the Great Rotunda on the catafalque ritual for Abraham Lincoln of Illinois, the righthand star in a row of six over his office door lit up.

It indicated the Senate was in session again.

A Reminder; It's Time To Get Entries Ready For State Fair

Painters, printmakers, sculptors, or photographers who may be planning to enter their work in the State Fair to be held in Raleigh from October 17-25 are reminded that it is time once again to get their work ready for submission.

Works of art and photography will be a prominent feature in the 102nd Annual North Carolina State Fair. Carried under Department H, Fine Arts-Photography, entries are open to artists of all ages, including school children.

In Fine Arts, two category of prizes, with a first, second and third place award within each category will be made on an individual basis.

The first category, Class I, covers paintings in all media and sculpture. Three awards are being given — a $500 first place purchase award; a $300 second place purchase award; and a $100 third place award.

First, second, and third place awards in the amounts of $200, $100 and $50 respectively will be awarded winners in the second category — graphics. In graphics, etchings, prints, drawings and woodcuts will be judged.

In painting and sculpture, and in graphics, artists must agree in advance that first and second place awards constitute purchase awards. Consequently, top winners will become the property of the state.

Under the Schools Division, six categories of entries have been set up. Prizes for each category are $50, $25 and $10. The six categories have been divided into two each for elementary, junior high, and senior high schools.

The photography division is in two categories: professional and amateur. For professionals, prizes of $100, $50, and $25, plus 10 meritorious awards of $10 each will be given. Amateur awards will be for $50, $25, and $10, with 10 meritorious awards each to receive $3.00.

Building, inspecting and maintaining power lines is a man-sized task even on the fairest day.

But when the weather gets rough, the Vepco lineman's task gets rougher. And we've had some pretty weird weather lately: violent storms, devastating floods, blustering winds, lightning-struck trees that downed lines and disrupted service.

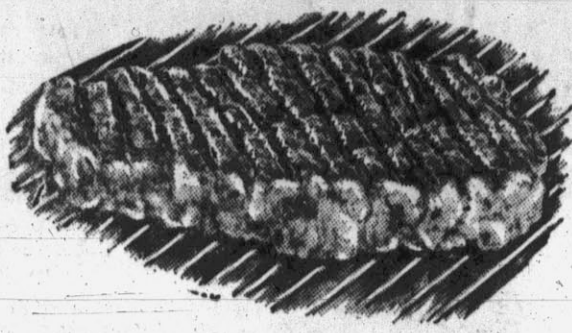

And when the weather goes on the rampage, the lineman goes on the job. Anytime. Day or night. He climbs poles, repairs torn lines, works out in the elements until the lights go on again.

It's exhausting work. Hard. Hazardous. But it's vital work and the lineman does it with pride and satisfaction. That's his job: helping Vepco help people.

Most Controversial Historian's Birthday

By Christopher Crittenden
N.C. Dept. of Archives and History

Written For The AP

RALEIGH (AP) — Today marks the birthday of one of the most controversial historians in North Carolina history. He really stirred things up—and he almost lost his job as a result.

The historian's name was John Spencer Bassett and he was a history professor at Trinity College in Durham, predecessor of Duke University. Writing in 1903 in the South Atlantic Quarterly, of which he was the first editor, he said the esteemed Negro, Booker T. Washington, "is a great and good man, a Christian statesman, and take him all in all the greatest man, save General Lee, born in the South in a hundred years."

Immediately a storm broke. Various newspaper editors called for Bassett's dismissal. Josephus Daniels of the Raleigh News and Observer joined in the hue and cry, referring to the professor as "Bassett." The fat was in the fire.

But the trustees of the college refused to yield to pressure and issued a statement in support of Bassett and academic freedom. It was a great victory, in defiance of popular clamor, for independence of teaching. Prof. Bassett was safe in his position. Bassett was born in Tarboro two years after the end of the Civil War. Having been a student in the schools at Goldsboro and LaGrange, he entered Trinity College, then located in Randolph County, graduating in 1888. He taught two years in the Durham public schools, then returned to Trinity as an instructor. Soon he entered the Johns Hopkins University for graduate work, receiving his Ph. D. degree in 1894 and again returning to Trinity.

Bassett was a productive scholar. He built up the historical section of the college library and founded the Trinity College Historical Society. His doctoral dissertation was titled "The Constitutional Beginnings of North Carolina." In his early years he also published on the Regulator Movement, and on slavery and abolition.

Three years after the hot controversy which nearly lost him his position, Bassett moved to Smith College in Massachusetts, where he spent the rest of his academic life. He continued to turn out historical works until his death.

Bassett's death was a major tragedy. He was killed in an auto accident in Washington while on his way to represent the American Historical Association at a meeting. "Ever friendly," writes his biographer, "he was unyielding in matters of principle or conviction."

Winter Cover Crops Said Good Conservation Work

Winter cover crops are very popular as a conservation practice on North Carolina farms, according to Stacy J. Evans, office manager for the Pitt County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

In 1968, over 17,000 acres of winter cover crops were seeded with cost-sharing under the ACP in Pitt County. This practice was carried out on more than 900 farms.

"An even greater acreage is needed to fill the conservation needs of Pitt," Evans said. "There are still large acreages that are planted annually to row crops in Pitt."

This type cropland needs protection against wind and water erosion during the winter offer an opportunity for farmers to protect their land and derive other benefits at the same time. These cover crops can reduce plant diseases, improve the texture of the soil, and offer many other benefits, Evans reported.

According to Evans, winter cover crops can be grazed consistent with good management. He said if cover crops are properly fertilized and managed they can add a great deal of grazing.

"Many livestock farmers can stretch feed supplies a great deal by using winter cover crops for supplementary grazing," he noted.

Evans urged farmers to study their conservation needs and if cover crops are needed, they should file a request for cost-sharing with their local ASCS office.

*With current price of wheat, many farmers might want to use more wheat as a winter crop this year," Evans said.

Local ASCS offices are now taking requests for all conservation practices that will be carried out this fall.

Real Live Ghost Town In Ohio

GHOST TOWN, Ohio (AP) — This town is really on the state map.

It's not listed among Ohio cities, incorporated or otherwise, but the name is in bright red letters a half-inch south of Findlay, Ohio.

The town is just what the name implies—a collection of abandoned houses and business buildings. The 20 buildings of Ghost Town, including a cobbler shop, a barber shop, fire house, newspaper office and a replica of Fdlay's first oil derrick, all had a role in the history of Northwest Ohio.

The villages' historical atmosphere carries its restoration project up to the 1880s when discovery of rich oil and gas deposits made the area a thriving boom town.

The restoration project was started 10 years ago by Ed Galitzia and has become a booming tourist attraction.

500,000 Young Runaways Look For A Free Ride

By JERRY BUCK
Associated Press Writer

Mike is 15 and lives in Rhode Island. A few months ago, he ran away from home and disappeared among the flotsam and jetsam of the youth revolution in New York's East Village.

He surfaced a few days later when two newfound friends virtually dragged him into a storefront building after he had gulped down a handful of speed tablets, or methamphetamine.

They poured coffee and soup into him and he recovered. Then he was quietly persuaded to return home.

Mike—it's not his real name—is one of an estimated half a million youths between 12 and 18 who run away from home every year. The exact figure is unknown because police believe thousands of runaways, particularly boys and older teen-agers, are never reported missing.

The runaway problem is national in scope, affecting every section of the country. Officials in some cities report the number is increasing.

Many of today's youths are fleeing what they consider intolerable conditions at home. In the idiom of today, when the generation gap widens enough, they split.

Others are in search of nirvana among the residue of the disintegrating hippie enclaves of San Francisco, New York, Los Angeles, Boston and other cities.

"Running away is a fad," said Louis Abolafia, 26, who runs the Foundation for Runaway Children, which persuaded Mike to return home. "The kids have a place to run to now. And then they go home—they tell their friends and they try it."

Many of today's runaways find disillusionment, despair, drugs, venereal disease and even death.

"These runaways are playing with dynamite," said Lt. Lawrence Quinlan, chief of the Boston Police Juvenile Bureau. "Most of them aren't street-wise tough kids. These are suburban kids—and naive ones at that."

A Philadelphia girl went to a pop music festival in Atlantic City a few weeks ago. The girl ran off with a boy, police said, and wasn't found until 12 days later in a motel in Tampa, Fla.

An Ohio girl who ran away to New York was raped by three toughs, then tossed out a window. A number of runaways have been murdered.

San Francisco police believe that at least 20,000 runaway youths are drawn each year to Haight-Ashbury, a one-time hippie mecca that has slipped from the netherworld to the underworld. A police official described it as "the worst human cesspool in the West."

New York gets a thousand reports a month of missing teenagers and last year police actually searched for 2,742 from out of town in Greenwich Village and the East Village. The largest category is 15-year-old girls.

It's the same in Hollywood, in the psychedelic haunts along Sunset Strip in Los Angeles, Rittenhouse Square in Philadelphia, Mount Vernon Square in Baltimore, the French Quarter in New Orleans and on the Boston Common.

In Detroit, where runaways head for Plum Street, Yancey Griggs, director of the Wayne County Youth Home, said the problem of runaways definitely is getting worse.

At San Francisco's Huckleberry House for Runaways, Rev. Lawrence Beggs, executive director, estimates that nationally 500,000 youths run away from home each year.

A high percentage return home, either voluntarily, or with the aid of police, Travelers Aid or private organizations such as the Runaway Foundation, the Huckleberry House or the Diggers Creative Society.

Some parents who set out to find their missing son or daughter usually are unable to recognize him in a crowd, according to Lt. Ruth Carter of the Philadelphia Juvenile Aid Bureau. Appearances change as they let the hair grow and lose 10 to 15 pounds because they don't eat regularly.

Speaking of the role played by the private organizations working to reunite runaways and parents, Abolafia said, "We don't make the kids go home. They'd just run away again. If we dragged them off the street, our job would be finished. We talk to them, persuade them to return home, talk to the parents."

Abolafia, who ran on the Love ticket for president and is a minor-party candidate in New York's current mayoral race, said he keeps food for the runaways, finds pads for them and tries to keep them off hard drugs.

Why do they run away? Capt. Thomas M. Frost, director of the Chicago Police Youth Division, says it's "a sign of the times." He blames the lack of family stability in an age when everybody is "too much on the go."

Lt. Carter said, "Girls run away because of boys. Boys usually run away to escape some member of the family. Truancy and trouble with school work are a couple of other reasons the boys run off."

Others contend the times—and motives—have changed. Capt. Thomas Quinlan of the San Francisco Police Juvenile Bureau, said, "These runaways are a new breed; that's a major part of the problem."

"They're looking for a magic solution to their problems, real and fancied. They're trying to find glamorous adventure in the Haight-Ashbury. They're curious about pot or speed."

Another thing that distinguishes them from past runaways is that they want to get by free. They live off each other in crowded cash pads and defiantly cage money in the streets. Some steal or push drugs.

Capt. Mortimer McInerney, whose division includes Haight-Ashbury, said, "They expect free food from friendly natives, crash pads, wall-to-wall fun in the streets, plus hot-and-cold running rock music... I'd like to make it clear that all they run away to is fear, sickness, stagnation and real danger."

Jack Lord Hit TV 'Pay Dirt'

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

HONOLULU (AP) — "I've been prospecting a long time, and finally I've hit pay dirt." This was a different, more confident Jack Lord, enjoying the euphoria of a success.

Last summer the actor seemed uplight. He was working at a furious pace on a new television series, "Hawaii Five-O," and the tension was apparent. CBS' most expensive show—a quarter-million dollars per segment—was resting on his broad shoulders.

The situation worsened when the series failed to generate a respectable rating in the Thursday-at-8 time slot. No wonder, Lord said, "we had the 'great' lead-in of 'Blondie,' and we were pre-empted four times in the first nine weeks."

"Hawaii Five-O" plummeted to 65th place in the ratings out of 78 shows, and TV insiders had written it off as another costly flop.

Then on Christmas night Mike Dann (CBS program boss) gave us the best present we could possibly have received," recalled Lord. "He switched the time period to Wednesday at 10. On that night we were 45th out of 78 shows, and we've been constantly building so that the last rating had us No. 9."

Now the show is sold out for sponsorship through the 1969-70 season.

Lord may be the hardest working actor in television. He's up at 4 a.m. to study his lines, then he jogs a mile along the Kahala beach in front of his condominium apartment, reports to the set at 6:30 a.m. He works a minimum 12-hour day six days a week and one week clocked 84 hours.

Such a schedule will make him a very tired but very rich actor.

"After five years I'll be able to do what I want," he remarked in the $35,000 land yacht which he designed and bought to bring comfort to his work day.

"By that time I'll be able to retire with a couple of million dollars. Then I'd like to paint for eight hours a day, six months a year, and direct a feature movie each year. And I'll be able to see my wife eight hours a day, instead of this movie crew."

Bolivia's area is 424,165 square miles, and her population is about 3,800,000.

Gov. Scott May Be Sole Chance For Marie Hill

RALEIGH (AP)—Marie Hill's only chance for relief may rest in the hands of Gov. Bob Scott. That likelihood was raised repeatedly Tuesday as the North Carolina Supreme Court heard arguments in an appeal for the 17-year-old Rocky Mount girl. She is the youngest female ever sentenced to death in North Carolina.

Two attorneys who argued in Miss Hill's behalf based much of their appeal on her age. One attorney, Julius Chambers of Charlotte, told the court Miss Hill was too young to realize fully what she was doing when she signed a confession to the slaying of a Rocky Mount grocer, W. E. Strum.

Another attorney, Kenneth Brown, a law professor at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, said because of Miss Hill's age, executing her would be "cruel and unusual punishment" — prohibited by the constitution.

"This kind of argument would be very appropriate for the governor," said Justice I. Beverly Lake. "Doesn't it all boil down to a matter of executive clemency?"

Similar statements came later as the attorneys pursued the same line of argument. Miss Hill, convicted last December in Edgecombe County Superior Court, was scheduled for execution in the gas chamber Jan. 3, but her appeal brought an indefinite postponement.

A Negro, she has been the center of civil rights demonstrations in various parts of the state. Arguing against the defense contentions, Ralph Moody, deputy state attorney general, said he didn't want the court to see Miss Hill as a person "covered over and enshrouded in the garments of one who didn't know what she was doing."

Moody said a study of her prior criminal records shows "the fiendishness and irrationality of this defendant."

He said she had been convicted of a number of crimes, including forgery, theft and assault.

"The record shows a cunning mind," Moody said.

"The question of capital punishment is settled in this state," Moody added. "It was debated in the General Assembly and upheld."

The slaying for which Miss Hill was convicted occurred Oct. 7, 1968. Strum, 64, was found dead in his store. He had been shot twice and beaten.

At her trial, Miss Hill admitted signing a confession — written in longhand by herself — but she said she lied in it and in statements to police officers and was innocent of the slaying.

Do Chores, Get Free Vacation

LONDON (AP).— Trevor Sewell, gardener at the 550-year-old Caister Castle near Great Yarmouth on the east coast, has offered one month's free vacation for two old-age pensioners on condition that they feed the castle's 30 ducks. Sewell and his wife missed their vacation last year because no replacement could be found to feed the ducks and he's taking no chances this time.

Ancient Israeli Fort Uncovered

JERUSALEM (UPI)—A fortress dating back to the end of the period of the First Temple (fifth century B.C.) was discovered by archeologists in Arab Jerusalem, at the foot of the French Hill.

The massive structure, overlooking Jerusalem and commanding the approaches of occupied Arab Nablus, is assumed to have been a fortress during the lifetime of the prophet Jeremiah.

Newspapers Help The Policemen

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—Tulsa policemen have found a new way to find out where burglars are likely to strike: they read the local newspapers.

A special task force reads the newspapers to find out about events likely to draw a large number of people out of a neighborhood, something burglars also do. Then the task force patrols the area.

DIES IN VIRGINIA
FREDERICKSBURG, Va. (AP)—Richard P. Thornton, 20, of Goldsboro, was killed here Tuesday in a single vehicle accident on Interstate 85.

Thousands Of U.S. Pupils In School Overseas

By MICHAEL D. MOSETTIG

LONDON (UPI)—The school bells of September will be summoning American youngsters by the thousands to classrooms all over the world.

The settings vary from the exotic to the mundane and functional—from a Roman villa, to a school near Beau Brummel's former London townhouse, to the former home of a Moscow anarchist.

These are the "American schools abroad" run for the children of U.S. business, diplomatic and military families doing their job in foreign lands.

Like schools in the United States they have their problems. Two of the biggest ones, except in a few cases, are money and teachers—getting enough of both.

In London, the school for Americans is a converted but still mostly distinguished John Nash terrace house in Regents Park. In Moscow, it is the small mansion of anarchist philosopher Prince Alexander Kropotkin. In Rome it is a walled villa.

Schools Packed

In Europe and Latin America, the American schools only look like schools from the inside. They are packed with students to the point of overcrowding. Each year they have to turn away prospective pupils.

In the 1950's and 1960's, American corporations began establishing overseas branches in greater than ever numbers and sending hundreds of executives abroad. The executives wanted an American education for their children, one that would prepare them to enter major American colleges.

For the American schools abroad, receiving little or no financial help from the U.S. government, this has been a big order to fill.

Stephen L. Eckard, dean of the headmasters of American schools in Europe, began the American school in London in 1951 as a four-pupil tutoring group in his apartment.

The American school in London is now a 12-grade college preparatory school with 900 pupils scattered in 12 buildings including the two Nash Terrace houses in Regents Park where Beau Brummel strutted more than a century ago.

In Latin America, where American corporations were established earlier, some of the schools were founded in the 1930s. But from Montevideo to Moscow, they have now become million dollar enterprises, financed primarily through tuition and corporate contributions, competing for teachers and trying to educate American children in a foreign environment.

Obvious Need

In Latin America and the European continent, the obvious need for American schools was to provide an English-language education. But even in England, without the language barrier, an American education was in demand.

"We are not competing with the English schools," Eckard said. "Parents discovered it was very difficult to enroll their children in the best private schools here and the state schools naturally prepared children for a completely different college entrance examination."

But the parents have to pay for the unique service, which in some places has been the primary complaint against the American schools overseas.

The overseas school in Rome recently raised high school tuition to $1,400 per year.

"We've had the fifth in a row tuition increase, and it seems out of line with the cost of living in Rome," one parent complained.

In London high school tuition is $1,200 a year; in Paris costs can reach $1,700, figures comparing with some of the more exclusive private prep schools in the United States. In Latin America, American school tuitions run about $800 or $900 a year.

Most of the money goes to increasing teacher salaries, the remainder to maintaining buildings and buying supplies and equipment. (In Argentina, blackboards have to be specially commissioned because they are not used in local schools.)

For big expenditures, such as building new school complexes which many of the overseas schools are doing, elaborate fund-raising campaigns are mounted.

Even with the hefty tuition charges, teacher salaries in overseas American schools start at $4,000 or $5,000, about half of what a qualified teacher with a masters degree would start in the United States.

The closest thing to an international sport among the American schools abroad is soccer. The schools is basketball.

Europeans and Latin Americans play both and sporting events give school administrators a chance to get their students mingling with the local population.

The school administrators also said they have felt the effects of American student unrest on their overseas campuses. So far, however, student militancy has not spilled over into public demonstrations in the European or Latin American schools.

Almost all the overseas schools take in some of the local population plus other foreigners. The John F. Kennedy School in Berlin is half German, and the other schools in West Germany have high local enrollments.

Scattered as they are around the world, the American schools are all pointing their pupils in one direction—to the best American universities.

Most To College

Of the 62-member graduating class from the American school in London last June, all but one went on to college or advanced education.

Their curriculums are exclusively college preparatory, and the student bodies are more equivalent to those of an American prep school rather than a public senior high school.

In the Paris school in St. Cloud, the course offerings of psychology, creative writing and fine arts are equivalent to college curriculum. Most of the European schools usually place one or two national merit examination semi-finalists.

"I think it's a better education than the children can get in the states," Mrs. Ronald Diorio, wife of an oil company executive from Briarcliff Manor, N.Y., said of the Rome school.

The Escola Americana in Rio de Janeiro sent graduates last year to Claremont, Cornell, Dartmouth, Mt. Holyoke, Oberlin, Princeton, Smith, Stanford, Tufts, the University of California, Vassar, Wellesley and Williams.

Williams Is On Hunger Strike
 LONDON (AP) — Black Power leader Robert Williams is on a hunger strike at London's Pentonville prison and says he won't eat until an airline flies him to Detroit.

Williams, 44, flew into London last Friday on his way to the United States from Africa to face a kidnapping charge, but no airline flying the Atlantic to the United States would take him for fear of a hijack attempt. The British jailed him as an undesirable alien and tried to send him back to Cairo on the Egyptian airline, but he refused to go.

Williams is charged with kidnaping a white couple in North Carolina in 1961. He fled the country and has been living in Cuba, Communist China and Tanzania.

A spokesman for Williams said the British Home Office offered to put him on a ship for the United States, but Williams refused. He insisted on using the ticket Trans World Airlines sold him and contended the airline broke its contract.

The Mekong River, in South Asia, is 2,600 miles long.

Record Volume Rate Boosts Being Sought

By LAWRENCE L. KNUFSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's consumers will pay in excess of a billion dollars more each year in gas, electricity and telephone bills if state commissions approve all rate increases currently sought by private utilities.

This figure—based on a compilation by Senate researchers—represents a record volume of rate hike applications by privately owned utilities.

The Senate's Government Operations Committee said a total of $961,160,505 in gas, electric and telephone rate increases were pending before the 50 state utility regulating commissions as of June 1.

Not included in this total, it said, are a number of substantial rate increase applications, including one for a $117.5 million rate increase by Consolidated Edison of New York and a $45 million proposed boost by Commonwealth Edison of Chicago.

The rate application figures, Senate staffers pointed out, also do not include some $218 million in rate-increase requests now before the FCC and the Federal Power Commission.

The state figures—on a utility-by-utility basis—break down this way: Proposed electric rate increases, $317.4 million; gas, $175.7 million; telephone, $468 million.

The Senate committee has held 21 days of hearings this summer on a bill, sponsored principally by Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., to provide more public information on utility operations and to create a federally financed staff of experts to represent consumer interests in rate cases.

The committee said as of June 1, only eight states and Puerto Rico had no requests for utility rate increases.

These were some of the largest rate applications as of June 1: New York, $198.3 million; Michigan, $188 million; California, $155.7 million; and Missouri, $73.5 million.

Tuesday, in unprecedented action, the Federal Communications Commission took a step toward matching what the Metcalf bill would write into law.

It appointed a lawyer and an economist to watch out for consumer interests in rate negotiations with the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., which has been criticized for its closed-to-the-public format.

The Worry Clinic Plain Horse Sense Is Still Best Medicine

Arnold's query helps explain why we have seen medical costs zooming and hospitals overcrowded. For most people stamped like sheep regarding medical ailments and fail to use their "horse sense." Half of the hospital patients should be back home in their own beds! And most of our drugs are just "windy trimming" to justify our medical fees!

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph. D., M. D.
CASE K-550: Arnold D., aged 22, is studying to be a pharmacist.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "why are there so many drugs on the market?"

"Recently I counted over 1,000 different named drugs that are offered by the pharmaceutical companies and I didn't even complete the entire list by any means!"

"There aren't that many diseases, are there?"

"So can you please explain this discrepancy?"

Dozens of splendid pharmaceutical firms put out essential of the same type of tranquilizer, but "coin" their own trade name for it.

Thus, we have many tranquilizers on the market, all for treating the same ailment.

Alas, it is an axiom of medicine that when there are many different remedies for any given disease, none of them is a cure!

For when we have a surefire cure, there is only one drug! Same goes for preventing ailments.

Smallpox vaccine is thus the greatest single boon in modern medicine, for it saves more lives than all other drugs and vaccines, combined!

Insulin is also a specific hormone for holding diabetes in check.

Aspirin is the most widely used drug in the world as a simple pain killer.

But your television shows will explain over the various merits of their special brand of aspirin and try to discredit that of their rivals.

And one so-called buffered pain killer is extolled as working faster.

The difference may not be 5 seconds, so what!

Moreover, if you pulverize an ordinary aspirin tablet, it will also work much faster!

Yet TV broadcasts routinely urge you to give yourself (and your feverish children) aspirin tablets to reduce fever. This is medical folly!

Alas, most people stampee just like sheep and believe anything they are told, if it seems to come from the top.

Yet "horse sense" is free to all, and your smart readers should use your own logic.

We modern medics also give you a $5-dollar or $10-dollar shot of an antibiotic, like penicillin, when you have the flu, yet we will admit such antibiotics do not affect the flu virus.

"But they may combat later side effects," is our excuse. But those shots soon wear off so they can't exert any significant effect on later "side effects like pneumonia."

Remember, 85% of all medical patients get well despite what we doctors do for them, so use a little more "horse sense" and faith in the Almighty!

good bargain at four spades. South passed, but North persisted to five spades which East doubled to make certain that his partner did not go on.

West opened the king of hearts which South ruffed with the deuce of spades. Since there was a shortage of communication with dummy, declarer made the first spade play from his hand by leading the king. East won with the ace and returned another heart.

Declarer observed that, if he ruffed with the three of spades and then cashed the queen—his last trump, the enemy's jack would probably still be outstanding. South would have to enter dummy with the ace of diamonds in order to drive out the last trump, and the opponents could cash a diamond trick to set the contract.

South therefore ruffed the heart return with the queen of spades, so that he would be able to continue the trump drawing-process while North retained control of the diamond suit. The three of spades was led to the nine and East was in again with the jack. Another heart was played forcing North to ruff this time, but the ten of spades picked up the last trump, and South's club suit provided ample discards for dummy's losing diamonds. In all—declarer lost two trump tricks.

Declarer's nimble performance in today's hand provides an unusual application of dummy reversal technique.

West overcalled South's opening one club bid with a preemptive jump to three hearts. North passed and East raised his partner to four hearts. South's four spade call was in the nature of a testing bid. If it was greeted with a brisk double, it was his intention to retreat to the safer haven of five clubs.

When the bid reverted to East he chose to sacrifice at five hearts, fearing that his opponent had negotiated a

Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Conflict of interest claims against Judge Clement F. Haynsworth are "utterly baseless," say two senators who figure prominently in Senate consideration of Haynsworth's nomination to the Supreme Court.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, and Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., ranking GOP committee member, disclosed a Justice Department file Tuesday in answering criticism of the nomination.

At issue was the decision of Haynsworth, chief judge of the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, in a textile mill-labor case.

"In our judgement, it is clear that Judge Haynsworth owned no stock in any of the companies or corporations that were litigants in that case, that he had no financial interest or stake in the outcome of the litigation, and that he could not have been actuated or motivated by any hope of pecuniary gain in deciding the case," the senators said.

Committee hearings on the nomination have been postponed one week because of the death Sunday of Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has sent to the Senate a bill intended to prevent a future Resurrection City, the tent town put up in Washington by the Poor People's Campaign of 1968.

The bill passed by a vote of 334 to 55 Tuesday. It would ban camping anywhere on national park grounds except for areas regularly intended for that purpose.

Resurrection City was on national park grounds near the Lincoln Memorial.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nineteen of 93 medical research centers across the nation may have to close next year for lack of federal funds, says the National Institutes of Health.

Institute spokesmen said Tuesday that Congress has yet to appropriate enough money to operate all the centers, which are largely supported by federal aid.

The centers are small hospitals where patients are exposed to the newest medical and surgical techniques. For instance, much of the pioneer work in organ transplants was done at such hospitals.

Milk Commission Inquiry Halted

RALEIGH (AP) — An investigation by the North Carolina Milk Commission into activities of several dairies has been halted by a court order.

Coble Dairies of Lexington Tuesday obtained the order which directed the commission not to hold any more secret meetings with Coble pending a hearing on the order Sept. 18.

"We could have gone ahead with others, but our attorney suggested we postpone the whole thing," said J. V. Whitaker, executive secretary of the commission.

The commission is looking into possible violations of a fair trade practices order that it put into effect last May. It has refused to say what violations and what dairies are involved.

Merryland, A Child's Haven

CAIRO (AP) — Merryland is the land of contented children and happy parents. It is a large sunny garden in the Cairo suburb of Heliopolis, where white ducks in small ponds paddle to a little island, home to three soft-eyed deer who look out on the world through a fence.

Merryland is also home to a mini-elephant, a gift to Egyptian children from the government of Ceylon, and home to some mischievous, grinning monkeys. Sitting around tables under shady green trees, or looking out from the fashionable two-story casino in the center of the garden, grownups relax and sip refreshments, while keeping an eye on their little ones.

For sailor-footed children, bright colored small paddling and motor boats are available for a seaman's ride around the larger pond, which partially surrounds the two-story casino. Other children prefer to fly on fast flying swings, while still others watch and imitate the restless little monkeys that run and jump about. Others gather around the three-month old elephant, teasing it into playfulness, and beckoning their parents to join the fun.

Merryland is roughly 50 acres — most of it flower beds and sandy zigzagging alleys.

Once it belonged to Baron Enpain, a Belgian multimillionaire who founded and owned most of the important settlements in Heliopolis. Along with other Belgian property, Enpain's land was nationalized in 1960, after Egypt severed diplomatic relations with Belgium. Relations have since been restored, but Baron Enpain's property has not been returned.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, paced by oils, continued to gain ground on a wide front early this afternoon, with advances ahead of declines by better than 300 issues.

The Dow Jones Industrial average at noon was ahead 6.93 at $22.60.

Trading was fairly active. "The market is being keyed by President Nixon's top-level meeting with his advisers Friday," said one broker, "with traders expecting a more hopeful note on peace moves."

Another analyst singled out oils as performing well, apparently because of the scheduled auction of oil leases to some 179 tracts on Alaska's North Slope, estimated to be worth over $1 billion.

Most oil issues were up, with Standard Oil of California leading the group at 63, up 2%. Other gains included Jersey Standard, up 1 1/4 at 71 1/2; Phillips Petroleum, up 1 at 35; Gulf Oil, up 1 at 38 1/2; Atlantic Richfield, up 2 at 113 1/2, and Texaco, up 1/4 at 44.

MGM's opening was delayed. Tracy Investment, controlled by Las Vegas hotelman Kirk Kerorian, said it planned to make another tender offer for the film company's stock. The stock closed Tuesday at 36, up 1/2.

Aircraft issues also were strong, with Lockheed, assured of an additional Air Force order for 23 giant cargo planes, up 1 at 24 1/2.

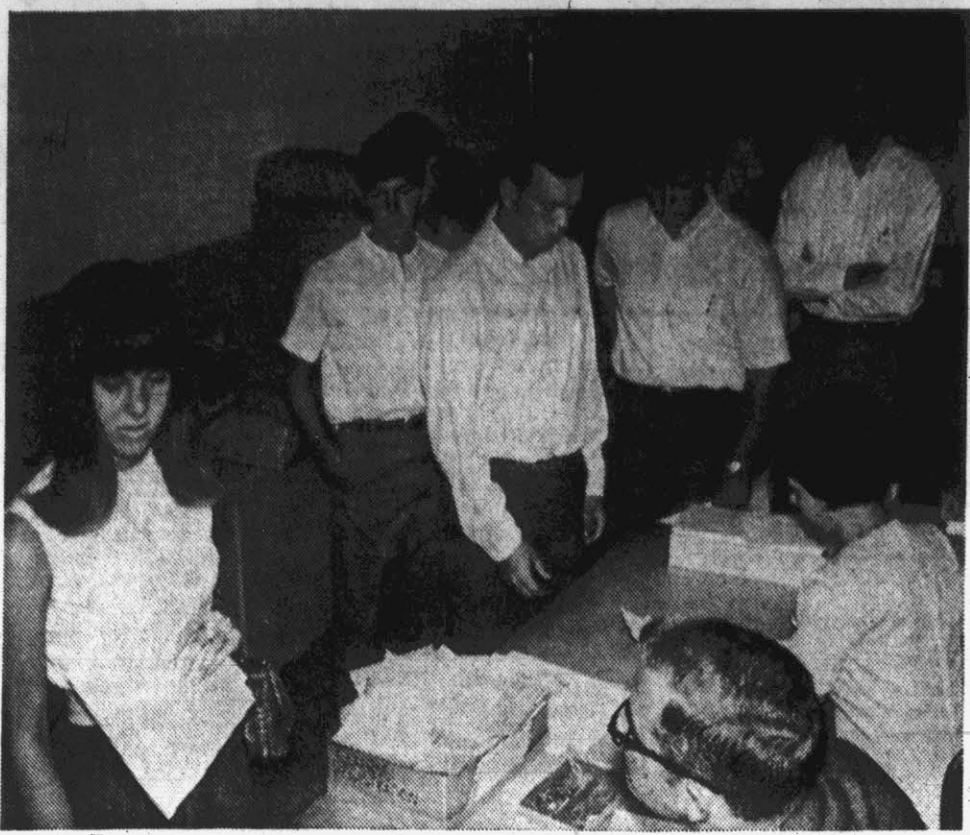

The most-active stock on the Big Board was Great Western Financial, up 1 1/2 at 26 1/2.

ENROLLMENT INCREASES . . . students register at Pitt Tech where enrollment increased by 25 percent over last year.

PTI Enrollment Shows Increase In Its Students

Enrollment at Pitt Technical Institute for the 1969-1970 school year reflects a 25 percent increase in full time day students. Pitt Tech President Dr. Bill Fulford said Wednesday that 440 full time day students are presently enrolled as compared with 353 for the same period last year. "We are very happy about the increase and hope for an additional rise over this figure", Fulford said. The enrollment does not include the part time students or night programs. Currently around 125 part time students have enrolled. "Majority of the increase enrollment is due to the new and expanded programs which Pitt Tech is offering for the first time this school year", Fulford commented. "We anticipate that this will be one of the best years for the school since it opened its doors", Fulford pointed out. He said that the new classroom building is already being used for a limited number of classes.

Policeman Cleared Of Assault; Girl 'Guilty'

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer
Greenville Police Cpl. M. H. Craft was found not guilty in District Court yesterday of assaulting an 18-year-old girl.

Judge Charles H. Whedbee, in turn, found the girl, Nancie Braxton guilty of resisting arrest and disorderly conduct and handed her a suspended six-month jail term.

The charge against Craft was made August 8 by Miss Braxton and stemmed from an arrest made by the officer 22 days earlier—on July 16. She said Craft assaulted her with a black jack and tore her dress.

Police department records indicated that Craft arrested Miss Braxton about 10:30 p. m. July 16 on charges of disorderly conduct and resisting arrest. Those charges stemmed from an incident at the Hillcrest Lanes parking lot. At the same time Craft reported he scuffled with the girl in making the arrest. During the trial of the cases yesterday, evidence indicated that Miss Braxton tore her own dress several days after her arrest. Miss Braxton at one time said she and Joe Lassiter had made up the story of the assault and dress-tearing.

Another witness Johnny Lee told the court that he overheard Miss Braxton and Lassiter talk of bringing the charge against Craft several days after Miss Braxton's arrest.

Lassiter was involved in a series of controversial drug cases that resulted in the resignation of former police chief Henry F. Lawson several months ago. Lassiter himself resigned a short time after Lawson left the department.

Judge Whedbee, after hearing the evidence handed Miss Braxton a six-month jail term but suspended the sentence on condition she pay costs, remain of good behavior for five years, placed her on probation for five years and ordered her not to visit Hillcrest Lanes or the firm's parking lot in the future unless upon invitation from the manager. The judge also ordered her not to associate with Lassiter.

The jurist ordered a warrant be issued for Lassiter's arrest on barratry charges. Barratry, which had its origin in maritime law, charges a defendant with "exciting and stirring up suits and juarels between . . . subjects," according to Jerome's Criminal Code and Digest of North Carolina.

Ayden To Participate In Power Plan Study

AYDEN — Commissioners at their Monday night meeting voted to participate in a study being conducted by Electric Cities and electric membership corporations in the state on the feasibility of providing electric generating facilities to produce power at less cost to municipal and EMC customers.

The cost to the town of Ayden was set at about $3,000 to be paid over the next three-year period.

Under the joint sponsorship, cities with electric distribution systems and EMCs would combine to design, finance and operate electric generator and transmission systems to supply power to the various members at reduced rates, thus permitting the municipal and EMC organizations to reduce the price of current to their customers.

Commission members also gave the go-ahead to their attorneys to begin condemnation proceedings to acquire three parcels of land on which to construct a new town office building.

The board's action came after Town Attorney Robert Booth reported that owners of the property had rejected offers made by the municipal government, which included $13,200 for property owned by Joseph C. Coward and Mildred Coward Simmons, $7,200 for property owned by W. T. Everett and Maude S. Everett, and $9,400 for a parcel owned by Marvin E. Smith.

Booth and the firm of Gaylord and Singleton of Greenville, were instructed to exercise the use of the town's power of eminent domain to acquire the needed land.

An ordinance was also approved which prohibits parking on the north side of Third Street from Verna Avenue to County Road 1120.

In other action, the commissioners approved a resolution opposing the taxing of income from state and municipal government bonds as proposed in the federal tax reform bill before Congress.

City Calm After Soccer Riots

CASERTA, Italy (AP) — Riot police patrolled the rubble-strewn streets of Caserta today, but the town appeared calm after two days of riots touched off by a setback to the local soccer team.

More than half of the stores remained shuttered, but for the first time in two days large numbers of women ventured out in search of food.

At least 80 persons were injured and 70 arrested Tuesday amid clouds of tear gas and flying bricks as thousands of youths and 500 riot police battled. Parts of the city were left in smoking ruins.

The rioting began Monday after the Italian Soccer Federation ruled a Caserta player guilty of trying to bribe a player on a rival team and canceled the team's advancement from the C league to the B.

The federation agreed Tuesday to hear an appeal against the decision, and loudspeaker trucks boomed the news through the streets. But it failed to appease angry fans and mobs bent on looting.

Rioters ran rampant through offices, heating chairs, typewriters and files out of windows and screaming, "We'll burn down the city!" Most government offices were damaged, and some were burned.

Mobs also set fire to the bus terminal, the railroad station and a number of shops, most of which were closed in a general strike to protest the federation's ruling. Railroad operations remained crippled today.

Distribute More Surplus Food

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Department of Agriculture says it distributed 55 million pounds of surplus food to needy families in the state during the last fiscal year compared to 32 million the previous year.

The department reported it distributed a total of about 100 million pounds of food worth $32 million. It said 43 million pounds went to school lunches and 2.3 million pounds to charitable institutions.

At least 200,000 Americans are "rockhounds," or mineral collectors.
