

U.S. Withdrawing 40,000 More Men: Ky

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky said tonight that another 40,000 American troops will be withdrawn from Vietnam between now and November.

Ky made the announcement through an aide shortly after an emergency meeting of the South Vietnamese National Security Council.

A spokesman for the U.S.

Command, told of Ky's announcement, said "I haven't heard anything about it." He declined further comment.

Ky said a communique from the South Vietnamese government would be issued Tuesday.

President Nguyen Van Thieu apparently gave his approval for the withdrawal in a meeting late in the afternoon with acting U.S. Ambassador Samuel D. Berger and Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of American forces in Vietnam.

Abrams and Berger had conferred with Thieu at the presidential palace in an extraordinary meeting at 8 a.m. Sunday. It was at this meeting, less than two hours after Abrams returned from Washington and a conference with President Nixon, that Abrams presumably relayed Nixon's plans to withdraw additional U.S. military personnel.

Authoritative sources in Saigon said Saturday that about 30,000 officers and men of the U.S. Navy will be pulled out over the next nine months as part of Nixon's cutback in military strength.

This would reduce U.S. Navy strength in South Vietnam to about 5,000 officers and men who would stay on as a naval advisory group.

The U.S. Naval Command would be deactivated with the withdrawal, the informants said. Nixon's initial 25,000-man cutback was completed last month.

One phase of the withdrawal moved U.S. Army units out of the Mekong Delta. U.S. military spokesmen said as the Americans moved out, North Vietnamese troops in the delta doubled in number, to between 2,000 and 3,000 men.

One Viet Cong regiment of 1,000 to 1,500 men—most of them North Vietnamese—moved into the delta in April, the spokesmen said. Another regiment from the North Vietnamese army reportedly slipped into the area during the summer months as two brigades of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division were pulling out to go home. These were the only American Army forces in the delta other than advisers to South Vietnamese units.

However, the two enemy regiments are operating in areas where no U.S. troops were ever stationed.

U.S. headquarters said South Vietnamese forces killed at least 83 men from the North Vietnamese regiment last Thursday and captured four others after the North Vietnamese attacked an Army training center. Four trainees were reported killed and 19 wounded.

"This is the first confirmation in the history of the war of a regular North Vietnamese army unit operating in the 4th Corps Tactical Zone," a U.S. communique said.

Value Is Yet To Be Proven, But Tanker Opens Northwest Passage

NEW YORK (AP) — Nearly five centuries after sailors began the search for a Northwest Passage above Canada, the SS Manhattan has become the first commercial vessel to negotiate the icy waters.

But the historic voyage of the massive tanker, specially fitted with icebreaking equipment, hasn't proved that the treacherous northern route is feasible for shipping.

The 1,005-foot, 115,000-deadweight-ton ship smashed through heavy ice north of the Arctic Circle Sunday to hit open water at the mouth of Prince of Wales Strait.

"There's nothing in her way now," said a spokesman for Humble Oil Co., the ship's owner. Her final destination, Point Barrow, Alaska, is a week away.

As far back as 1498, when John Cabot explored the eastern end of the route, Europeans sought the Northwest Passage as a shortcut to the riches and spices of the Far East. The great trading companies sponsored several attempts to find the route.

Now the treasure isn't spices, but oil, the vast supply on Alaska's northern slope. A Northwest Passage open to huge tankers would cut thousands of miles and dollars from the trip around South America.

But Wednesday, as the Manhattan jostled with ice flows near Banks Island, a Humble Oil official said no decision on the route's commercial possibilities would be made until the early 1970's.

Stanley B. Hass, Humble's project manager, told newsmen aboard that mountains of data gathered on the voyage would be fed to computers later this month. The number of times the ship became stuck in ice and the ice pressure it encountered would be two key factors, Hass said.

Hass pointed out that the Manhattan was picked "as the best ship we could find in the short time span given us to gather the data we needed." He said the Manhattan "is not anywhere near the new ships we would design to sail these seas."

The Manhattan became stuck only once, on Sept. 9 off Melville Island. She was freed by her escort, the Canadian icebreaker John A. MacDonald.

Since then, the Manhattan has plowed through ice ridges twice as thick as the usual 4-to-12 foot ice commonly encountered. At one point, she ripped through a 15-foot-thick ridge almost from a dead start.

The ship sailed Aug. 24, from Chester, Pa., with 54 crewmen and 72 scientists aboard. She carried a full load of ballast to simulate oil.

Meet Tonight

The monthly meeting of the Greenville City School Board will be held tonight in the library of the new Eastern Elementary School.

The meeting is being held there in order to give the school board an opportunity to have an inspection visit of the school facilities prior to meeting tonight.

Lee Apologizes To Gov. Scott; He's Surprised

CHAPEL HILL (AP)—Chapel Hill's Negro mayor, Howard Lee, apologized to Gov. Bob Scott Sunday after a newspaper article quoted Lee as calling the governor "a southern bigot Democratic governor."

Lee is expected to meet with University of North Carolina administrators early this week to discuss his alleged criticism of Scott and the UNC board of trustees.

After the article containing the statements attributed to Lee appeared in Saturday morning's Charlotte Observer, university officials ordered Lee's appointment to the UNC faculty held up.

The UNC trustees, headed by Scott, had approved Lee's appointment to the school of social work Friday.

Lee was interviewed before he was notified of the surprise action by the trustees. He was in Washington at the time attending a conference of black elected officials from across the nation.

Pair Fled Cuba On Tiny Rubber Raft

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Two young Cubans who hoped to make the 90-mile crossing to Florida in a tiny rubber raft have reached the U.S. mainland in a rescuing cargo vessel.

Juan Manuel, 1, and Raul Quintana, 22, completed their trip to freedom Sunday in the U.S. steamship Giddes Lykes, which plucked them from the Gulf of Mexico 75 miles southwest of Key West.

The raft was only 6 feet 3 inches long and their only supplies were several tins of condensed milk and three cans of water. They were at sea four days.

"No food, no freedom," was Quintana's explanation for their flight from Cuba.

The two said they were employed drawing maps in the Havana City Planning Department.

"We were paid 160 pesos a month," said Quintana, "and on the black market 12 pesos are equivalent to one American dollar."

They said money was of little value in Cuba anyway because there was little or nothing to buy.

The Observer story said Lee blamed Scott for trying to block his appointment to the UNC post.

Lee, contacted in Washington Saturday night, said the statements attributed to him were "something of a misquote." Asked how he did describe Scott, Lee said he would prefer to wait until he returned to Chapel Hill to make a statement.

In a statement released Sunday Lee did not deny the quotes in the article but said he regretted the way he referred to Scott. He stated:

"I am surprised and dismayed at the furor caused by an extemporaneous statement which I made last week at a Washington meeting of black elected officials.

"In discussing the Nixon revenue sharing plan, I stated that black people in the South could expect little benefit from any federal funds funneled through state government. I should have left it at that. Instead, I went on to single out Gov. Scott as an example, referring to him in a manner which, in retrospect, I now consider unwarranted and ill-considered.

"... I disagree with Gov. Scott on many issues. But I regret having used his good name in making a valid point about the larger problems of our government and our society."

Gov. Scott, contacted Sunday night in Williamsburg, Va., where he is attending the Southern Governors' Conference, said he had no part in the delay of Lee's appointment announced by UNC officials.

Scott also said he had not yet read Lee's statement or apology and would withhold comment until he had.

He declined to comment on the "bigot" remark: "I would prefer not to comment on that—I've been called a lot worse things by other people."

Platform Falls, Hundreds Plunge

LISBON, PORTUGAL (AP) — A steel platform erected for spectators to see the ruing of the bulls in the village of Moita do Ribatejo collapsed today, plunging hundreds of persons to the ground.

Police reported some persons were killed "but we do not know how many." They said nearly 200 were injured.

Southern Governors Told Worst Crisis Facing Higher Education

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — Higher education in the United States is in "the deepest crisis in all the 333 years since the founding of Harvard," Clark Kerr, chairman of the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education said today.

"This is a sad commentary to make when it has also just completed its decade of greatest advance," Kerr told the opening session of the Southern Governors' Conference.

To resolve the crisis Kerr suggested several "constructive roles" that governors and other political leaders can perform:

—Creation of additional places to match the continued surge of students in the 1970s, particularly by spreading community colleges throughout the nation and establishing more urban-located state colleges.

—A vast expansion of training facilities for health service personnel.

—Careful scrutiny of proposals for supporting additional institutions to offer the doctorate degree.

—Encouragement of private sources of support for higher education with the hope of maintaining the current 50-50 private-public ratio.

—Shifting the public burden more heavily to the federal government to reflect the federal proportion of tax revenues, which is two-thirds.

—Acceptance of the expectation that the campuses may be more of a center of dissent indefinitely in the future than it has been historically in the past.

—Placing the primary responsibility for prevention of violence on academic discipline while providing protection against intrusion from the outside.

—Protection of the autonomy of institutions of higher education "for their own sake and for the sake of society."

Sunday, Gov. Albert of Alabama said he expects strong support for his move to put Southern governors on record in opposition to the busing of pupils to achieve integration.

"We haven't worked out the exact wording, but I would expect support from the conference," Brewer said in an interview on the eve of the Southern Governors' Conference's first business session.

Brewer said he had not worked out the phrasing of the proposed resolution, but the gist of it would be opposition to busing pupils.

Other governors indicated they favored, at least in principle, the Brewer resolution. It is the first time in several years that racial issues have claimed attention of the 17-state Southern Governors' Conference.

Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia told a crowd of newsmen Sunday that President Nixon "has brought about more pairing of schools, busing and closing of schools in the last nine months than any other president has in four years."

Maddox said of Nixon: "He has been very successful in wrecking the school system." At the same time, Maddox said Nixon "inherited a big mess."

Maddox said that if Nixon was able to keep "the bad things from getting worse, he should be credited in history with doing a good job."

Steady Stream Of Visitors At Library's Open House Sunday

A steady stream of visitors moved in and out of Sheppard Memorial Library Sunday afternoon during the open-house reception officially inaugurating the two additional wings and the renovated original part of the library.

The open-house hosts were the full staff of the library and members of the library's Board of Trustees.

"Thousands of people came in from 2:30 until past 6:00," stated Miss Elizabeth Copeland, librarian. "We didn't keep count, but there were hundreds who took the opportunity to view the facilities here. We were very much impressed by the interest shown by patrons, both from the city and from outside. They not only attended, but they asked questions on all the various facilities we have here."

It was a perfect day for getting out. Summer warmth lingered on in the hazy quiet of an early Indian summer afternoon.

Beginning at 4:00 p.m. this afternoon, a second open-house reception, this time for the children, is being held. The weather permitting, it will take place outside, where stories will be told, and strolling players will perform on guitars and sing folk songs of various countries.

Also, beginning today, "Forgiveness Week" is being featured. All overdue books, records or other items from the library can be returned to the library without payment of overdue penalties. "No questions will be asked for the reason they are overdue," Miss Copeland states.

Warren Avoids Political Talk

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Earl Warren, former chief justice of the United States, and his wife, who are on a world tour, have stopped over in the Lebanese capital so that Mrs. Warren could do some shopping.

Warren told an interviewer for the Daily Star he was trying "to keep entirely away from politics and public questions for a good long time."

Greenville Powell Bill Share Biggest In Area

Greenville's allocation of $126,770.61 from the Powell Bill Funds for city street improvements tops the list of area cities and towns receiving shares of the total of $11 million-plus granted through the North Carolina State Highway Fund.

The funds, granted to 427 participating municipalities throughout the state on the basis of population and street mileage, will be mailed by check to all cities and towns that submitted a certified statement concerning its municipal election, and various tax, and other sources of income.

By submitting this information, eligibility is established for each city to become a participant in the allocation for that year.

The allocation is proportioned among the municipalities on the basis of non-controlled street mileage and relative population. Population data are obtained from the Federal decennial census and local street mileage is furnished by each municipality.

Area townships that will be eligible for the proportional cash allotments and the amounts they will receive are as follows: Ayden, $1,737.69; Bear Grass, $613.46; Bethel, $9,953.03; Evesetts, $1,339.23; Falkland, $436-47; Farmville, $24,942.97; Fountain, $3,336.57; Greenville, $126,770.61; Grifton, $9,285.25; Grimsland, $2,279.62.

Hamilton, $3,742.72; Hassell, $1,391.04; Jamesville, $3,310.88; Oak City, $3,682.24; Parmele, $2,376.72; Robersonville, $14,044.17; Snow Hill, $6,041.41; Walstonburg, $1,524.96; Williamston, $36,981.77; Winterville, $8,347.52.

ON STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION — Barbara Marshment, 16-year-old high school junior: a non-voting board member. (AP Wirephoto)

High Schooler On California Education Bd.

ALMO, Calif. (AP) — Barbara Marshment, the 16-year-old appointed this month to the California State Board of Education, is a straight-A student who frowns on campus disorder.

Barbara was selected by a screening committee of students on the California Association of Students Councils to be the first student advisory member on the California board. She will have no vote.

Barbara helps her younger brothers and sisters wash the dishes, spends an hour every day practicing the piano, likes novels such as "Gone With the Wind" and makes about half of her own clothing. She attends a Catholic girls' school and hasn't had any first-hand contact with student activists but she generally doesn't approve of their methods.

"Personally I believe more in positive action rather than violence or destruction," Barbara said in an interview.

"There are a lot of aspects to education. Involvement in activities is important. But it's not the only thing. Learning in the classroom is important too."

Barbara, a guitarist and a former pom-pom girl, is president of the junior class at Carondelet School in Concord, near Alamo. Both towns are Oakland suburbs.

Although she wears a uniform to school—blue and white pleated skirt, white blouse, blue blazer and saddle shoes—Barbara doesn't think public schools should have strict dress codes. However, school authorities must have the final say, she said.

Barbara started dating a year ago, but only occasionally. She has no regular boy. Saturday night she is likely to be home baking brownies and watching television.

Being selected for the board of education is the "most exciting thing ever" for Barbara, and she considers it a great honor for her school.

Gun Victim's Heart Given Retired Pilot

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — A retired airline pilot from Seattle has received the heart of an Oakland, Calif., gunshot victim in the 18th heart transplant at Stanford University Hospital.

The recipient was Herman Joslyn, 64, who came to Stanford three weeks ago with a badly deteriorated heart to await a donor. His condition after the 4½-hour operation Sunday was called satisfactory.

Donor of the heart was Clem Clarence Clark Jr., a 32-year-old outdoor sign company employe who was found early Saturday in his apartment with a bullet wound in his head.

Clark died an hour after arrival at an Oakland hospital. An ambulance equipped to keep his heart beating took his body 50 miles to the Stanford hospital. The Alameda County coroner's office listed his death as a suicide.

A surgical team headed by Dr. Norman Shumway performed the operation. Seven of Shumway's 17 previous transplant patients survive. It was the world's 144th heart transplant operation.

Couple Exchanges Vows Sunday

AURORA — The United Methodist Church here was the scene of the wedding ceremony of Miss Sandra Lucille Dough and Charles Marion Vincent on Sunday at 3:00 p.m.

The Rev. John W. Yount officiated at the ceremony. A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Edmund Harding, organist, and Mrs. Webster Walker, soloist, who sang "Sweetest Story Ever Told" and the "Wedding Prayer."

The church was decorated with all brass accessories. Tree candelabra were flanked by a massive arrangement of white gladioli and chrysanthemums and palms. Family pews were marked with white satin bows.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Crawford Dough of Aurora and Mr. and Mrs. George DeRoche Vincent of Greenville.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown with a scoop neckline and alencon lace appliques with pearls on the gown and train. The cathedral length train was attached at the back waistline.

Her cathedral length veil of silk bridal illusion was attached to an alencon lace flowered headpiece with pearls and iridescents. She carried a cascade bouquet of bridal roses with a white gardenias tied with white velvet.

Miss Emilie Susan Dough, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a full length gown of lime green silk organza over taffeta with a portrait neckline, empire waistline and organza puffed sleeves. Her headpiece was a taffeta bow with silk organza illusion.

Bridesmaids were Miss Susan Leigh Carroll of High Point, Miss Lynda Ryan Redditt, Miss Betty Reece Broome and Mrs. Joseph Allen Saul, all of Aurora.

The attendants wore coral colored silk organza over taffeta floor length gowns. Their headpieces were coral taffeta bows with silk organza illusion. They carried cascade bouquets of bronze pom poms centered with tropical croton leaved tied with green velvet streamers.

The father of the bridegroom was best man. Ushers were Thomas Calton Duncan of Greensboro, Frank Hodgkin Shields of Scotland Neck, James Hubert Parrott of Goldsboro and George Howard Reel of Greenville.

Miss Monica Stokes of Greensboro was flower girl. She carried a small basket of bronze pom poms with matching streamers.

Program On The U.N. Given At BPW Club Meet

The program sponsored on Thursday night by the Business and Professional Club World Affairs Committee featured talks on the U.N. by members of the club.

Members featured on the program were Mrs. Cherry Easley, Miss Camille Clarke and Miss Jessie Little.

The U.N. is defined as "the most striking institutional innovation of modern times in the conduct of international affairs." Though it is no longer new, it is described as highly relevant, with all of its weaknesses. Its two key fields of work are: "keeping peace where peace is broken or endangered, and promoting a better life through economic and social development, have been met, in a measure through the United Nations family of agencies."

Those on the program cited ways in which the U.N. is on its way up with future plans for accomplishments, especially in the field of space. "The U.N. is a promise that countries will work together to maintain peace."

The meeting was called to order by the B.P.W. president, Mrs. Polly Dail. Guests introduced were Miss Agnes Deal, Mrs. Ann Phillips and Mrs. Mallie Penry.

It was announced that N.C. Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc. Eastern Area meeting, will be held in Goldsboro, September 27-28.

If the Shoe Fits...

BY LARRY AVERETTE

Is it safe to hand down shoes to a smaller child?

There are many things for you to consider before doing so. When a shoe is worn it molds itself to the foot. Every one's stride is different and this also is reflected in the way a shoe shapes itself. These shoes when passed down will not readily adapt to the new feet. Only when a shoe shows very little wear and is not run over would I chance using them again. Usually dress shoes are not worn out, and the risk in handing them down is less because they are worn less.

More Are Applying For Work At Local Employment Office

More people are seeking work now through the Employment Security Commission office in Greenville than at any time during the past two years.

According to ESC Office Manager Lloyd Noe, during 1967 there was an average of 331 persons applying for work each month as compared to 349 persons in 1968.

For the first half of 1969, an average of 426 persons have been applying for jobs through the local ESC office, Noe reported.

An average of 1,888 active applications for jobs have been on file each month during the first half of 1969, Noe explained, as compared with an average of 988 applications on file each month in 1967, and 1,322 for each month of 1968.

"People in Pitt County are becoming more aware that good job leads and job opportunities can be found through the Employment Security Commission," according to Noe.

People placed in jobs have increased this year, too, the manager noted.

Job placements increased 18.5 per cent in 1968 over 1967, while for the first half of 1969, a 29 per cent increase over the 1968 figure has been maintained.

Some of the hard-to-fill openings, according to Noe, are: registered nurse, secretary, general office clerk, bookkeeper, finance office collector, insurance salesman, house trailer salesman, waitress, short order cook, compression molding machine operator, sewing machine operator, auto mechanic, finance office manager, live-in housekeeper, woolen garment presser, truck driver, fence erector foreman, advertising manager, warehouse manager and building supplies salesman.

IN STAR-MAKING FILM ROLE — Tina Chen (above), with only one minor film role to her credit, plays leading feminine role in "The Hawaiians". (AP Wirephoto)

New Film Star Will Evolve From Role

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
LIHUE, Hawaii (AP) — Tina Chen is calm, delicate-looking and quiet-spoken, as you would expect any Chinese young woman to be. But that Oriental tradition hides a firm determination that fits her for one of the best star-making roles in recent times.

Lovely, 24-year-old Tina, with only one minor film role to her credit, was picked to play Nyuk Tsai in "The Hawaiians." Readers of the James Michener novel will recall her as one of the most memorable characters—a resolute Chinese woman who is not accepted by her husband as his true wife (because he has another wife in China), who accompanies him to the leper colony on Molokai, who scrimps to buy land and thus found a financial dynasty in Hawaii.

"If Tina doesn't win an Academy nomination, I'll be very much surprised," remarks Tom Gires, director of "The Hawaiians."

Unlike the earlier film based on Michener's novel, which was cast largely with Europeans, "The Hawaiians" Orientals are real Orientals. Producer Walter Mirisch spent much time in New York, San Francisco and Los Angeles interviewing and testing young Chinese and Japanese performers. One of his most unlikely choices was the beautiful hematologist, Tina Chen.

She was born in Chungking, granddaughter of the first premier of the Kuomintang of the Chinese Republic. Her family fled China after the Communist takeover, and she was educated in Hong Kong, Taipei and Tokyo, then took a B.S. in premed at the University of Hartford.

"I've always been in love with acting, but my parents didn't approve," she remarked. "They insisted that I graduate from college, then I would do anything I wanted. They hoped that I would go on and get my degree in medicine, but the thought of four more years of college plus internship and residency didn't appeal to me. So I went to New York and got a job at the Blood Center. But I really went to New York because I hoped to get an acting career started."

Progress was slow at first. She did win a television role, in a CBS Playhouse special "The Final War of Ollie Winter," playing a Vietnamese. Nothing followed, and Tina studied dramatics with Sandy Meisner and acted in an occasional off-Broadway play, meanwhile working days as a blood researcher. She played a small role as Arlo Guthrie's girlfriend in the film "Alice's Restaurant," then came the tryout for "The Hawaiians."

"My agent called up about it," she said. "I went to see Mr. Mirisch and he gave me a script I read for him the same day. They flew me to Hollywood for a test and two days later they told me I had the role."

So, Lady You Want To Date Policeman

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: That letter from "LIKES COPS" in Wayne, N. J., made police officers sound like playboys who have nothing better to do while on duty than make time with flirting females.

As the wife of a devoted patrolman, I doubt very much if many policemen are willing to strike up "friendships" with cheap pick-ups who boldly announce that cops "turn them on."

Suburban police duties may vary, but in the big city of CLEVELAND there isn't much time for those officers to fool around. They are too busy doing their jobs. Thank you!

Mrs. PATROLMAN, CLEVELAND, O.

DEAR ABBY: For all the girls who like cops: Most cops have wives who are fed up to the ears with girls who "like cops."

Also, don't get the idea that all you have to do is ride around and "smile" at a policeman in a squad car, and he is going to follow you home. Most policemen in squad cars are looking for trouble, but not the kind you're offering them.

COP'S WIFE: BOSTON

DEAR ABBY: Please tell "LIKES COPS" that if she wants to get anywhere with a policeman, she shouldn't call him a "cop." He likes to be called "police officer," or "Sir."

I ought to know. I married one, and my children don't know what the word "fuzz" or "cop" means. They are proud that their daddy is a policeman.

WIFE OF AN "L. A. P. O."

DEAR ABBY: TO "LIKE COPS": Get a job at City Hall. I did and I married a policeman.

He has since changed jobs and now he works in a funeral home. I don't mind the as long as he doesn't bring his work home with him.

"HAPPY" IN KEYSER, W. VA.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe some day "LIKES COPS" will be married to a cop who "turns her on," and they will live happily ever after, IF he is strong enough to turn down all the propositions he gets from other females who are also "turned on" by cops.

It is for that reason that I am the former wife of a police officer, and my children no longer have a full time father.

ALONE IN ANNANDALE, VA

DEAR ABBY: This is in reference to the letter from the girl who "LIKES COPS." Here in Washington, D. C., such girls are called "ROAD RUNNERS."

Their tactics are fine if they don't mind dating married men because at least 95 per cent of the cops I know are married. And I know plenty.

COP'S WIFE: SILVER SPRING,

MARYLAND

DEAR ABBY: This is for the gal who says cops "turn her on".

When a cop is out of uniform he is just like any other man. No better. No worse. And any man who has ever worn a uniform can tell in a minute when he's met a uniform-happy dame. I am married to a police officer (please, no "cop") and it couldn't have been his brass buttons that turned me on because I met him in a bowling alley when he was out of uniform.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government will lose about $300 million in expected oil leasing revenues this year because of a six-month shutdown in offshore leasing near Santa Barbara, Calif., and competition from state-owned oil leasing land in Alaska.

The Department of Interior says revenues from oil leases on federal lands will be $285 million during the current fiscal year, rather than the $595 million forecast some time ago.

Leasing in the Santa Barbara channel was suspended after a leak last Jan. 29 poured thousands of gallons of crude oil on beaches along the southern California coast. Leasing was restored under a new set of rules last month.

An interior official says bidding for oil leases in the Alaskan north slope, which concluded last week, siphoned off revenues originally expected to be drawn by federal granted leases.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal Communications Commissioner Nicholas Johnson says television networks censor programs, including news broadcasts, to favor big business.

Johnson said Sunday he was "concerned by censorship being done by networks in behalf of big business interests to keep from the people information they need."

Johnson spoke on CBS'S "Face the Nation."

A CBS spokesman denied censorship of news programs; responses from ABC and NBC were unavailable.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The trumpeter swan, once on the edge of extinction, is making a comeback, the Department of Interior says.

The department's bureau of sport fisheries and wildlife reports successful nestings of the big birds in Nebraska and Minnesota this summer. The hatching of a young swan at Carver County Park in Minnesota is the first reported in that state in 100 years, the department says.

In 1932, the number of trumpeter swans in the continental United States was down to 69 and they were found only in Montana, Idaho and Wyoming. The department says the trumpeter population now is about 4,000, including those in Alaska.

Not Ready Yet For Job-Seekers

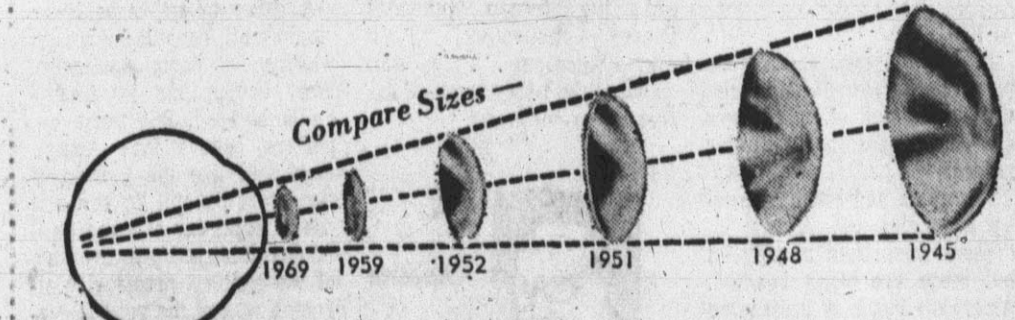

W. T. Sneed, personnel manager here for Burroughs-Wellcome, said today that the firm is not yet ready to begin taking applications for jobs.

Sneed said an announcement will be made later as to when applications will be accepted.

Work is progressing on the training building which is being constructed by Greenville Industries, Inc. on the Dail site. Burroughs-Wellcome is constructing a $10 million plant on N.C. 11 north of Greenville. The firm will move its production here from Tuckahoe, N.Y. when the plant is completed in 1970. Headquarters and research facilities will be located in a new building now being constructed in the Research Triangle.

Burroughs-Wellcome produces a variety of prescription and non-prescription drugs.

Decision Wisely Left To Assembly

While many North Carolinians, including the Daily Reflector, are anxious for the state to purchase Baldhead Island and keep it in its natural state, we can't complain too much about Gov. Bob Scott's decision to refer the matter to the legislature.

Gov. Scott, in the long run, may have done more to assure the purchase of the island by the state by referring it to the legislature than he would have by making a flat commitment for the state to buy it.

Gov. Scott did say in his statement last week that he personally feels the state should own the island and preserve it in its natural state rather than see it developed into a plush resort as a developer has planned. In this we heartily concur.

The governor, perhaps, could have gone the next step and have said flatly that the state would come up with the estimated $5 million or more asking price for the island. From the standpoint of practical political and governmental considerations, however, this may have done more harm than good. The state at present has no kitty from which to take the estimated $5 million. Even if it did, it is the responsibility and authority of the legislature to decide how the state's money will be spent . . . particularly when it comes to large amounts.

Most officials, whether governors or legislators, are jealous of both the authority and the responsibilities of the offices they hold. They are likely to take a dim view of another official encroaching upon what they consider their particular area of jurisdiction.

Gov. Scott has taken the position which, in our judgment, is in the best interest of North Carolina and all its people. The state should own Baldhead and it should not become a plush resort area. He further has followed a sound course by leaving it to the legislature to decide whether the state can come up with the millions that will be required to support the governor's decision.

There can be no doubt that the governor's recommendations to the next legislature will include the appropriation of funds with which to acquire Baldhead. The legislature at that time, we trust, will join in the worthwhile undertaking of preserving in its natural state this valuable sub tropical island on the North Carolina coast.

How Deep The Spoils System?

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau
RALEIGH — The spoils system, it is said, was invented by President Andrew Jackson a century and a half ago and is still a recognized and widely accepted practice in American politics.

In simple terms, it is a system based on the saying "to the victor belongs the spoils." In other words, political reward.

first half of the year. It wanted to avoid any political uproar and controversy while its legislative program was at stake.

Since then, however, especially during the past few weeks, the tree has been shaking and apples falling all over Raleigh.

BADLY — It is felt in some quarters that the process of making changes, although Scott is justified in making them as he chooses, has been handled badly.

If so, this apparently is the result of administrative blundering and a breakdown of the good public relations system which Scott hoped to enjoy. He had every reason to believe that he would be able to make his position on such matters clearly understood and accepted. Such has not been the case.

UNCLEAR — The reasons for this are unclear. Sources are unanimous in saying that Scott himself is making the final decisions on appointment matters. But there also are those who feel is getting bad advice on the manner in which to go about them, and in the proper way to announce them.

"Wires are getting crossed," says one capitol source. "It is not helping the prestige of the governor nor the party."

PATRONAGE — The governor's office is not the only level of government which passes out patronage. The fact is that some of the county governments, predominantly Republican, are exercising the spoils system too.

A number of North Carolina counties have, in recent years, elected a majority of Republicans to county boards of commissioners.

One is populous Forsyth County (Winston-Salem) where the GOP leaders are actively seeking Republican applicants for county jobs paying up to $14,000 a year. They have placed advertisements in a state party publication for qualified Republicans to take local government jobs. In addition there has been pressure from county GOP leaders for the county commissioners to fire more public jobholders (Democrats) and fill the positions with GOP regulars.

Reports are, however, that there have been relatively few Republican applicants for local political jobs.

Funds A Reminder Of Needed Street Work

Once again the municipalities' shares of Powell Bill funds are being mailed to North Carolina's incorporated communities and it is a reminder much street work is accomplished because of these funds.

Greenville's share this year is $126,770. Without these annual funds, which come from a half cent gasoline tax collected in the state, Greenville would be in much worse shape so far as street improvements are concerned. With the funds, there is hope that someday all local streets can be paved and dirt streets eliminated.

When this comes about the Powell Bill program will be due much of the credit.

Tax Reform Is Almost Doomed

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The astonishing and unexpected retreat on tax reform by the Nixon administration, dictated by the White House to reluctant Treasury technicians, has almost surely doomed prospects for passage of the bill this year and filled a reservoir of political poison for the President.

All elements of the political-tax community — Administration, Congress, and lobbyists — agree with this bleak appraisal. The impact of the Administration's remarkable Sept. 4 tax recommendations to the Senate Finance Committee will be profound.

Indeed, the Administration may well have lost in every possible way on the hot issue of tax reform. President Nixon, far from gaining credit for tax relief to the overburdened middle class, can now be blamed for trying to limit that relief. Congressional tax reformers, Republicans and Democrats alike, are outraged by the sudden Administration retreat. Still worse, the business community continues to feel that a Republican administration has misled and betrayed it.

At the core of the problem has been the Administration's essentially passive role. Although tax reform was near the bottom of Mr. Nixon's priority list when he was elected and although his top appointments at the Treasury were scarcely noted as reformers, public and Congressional demand forced the Administration into a tax reform mood. That set the tone: all year, the President has followed rather than led the trend.

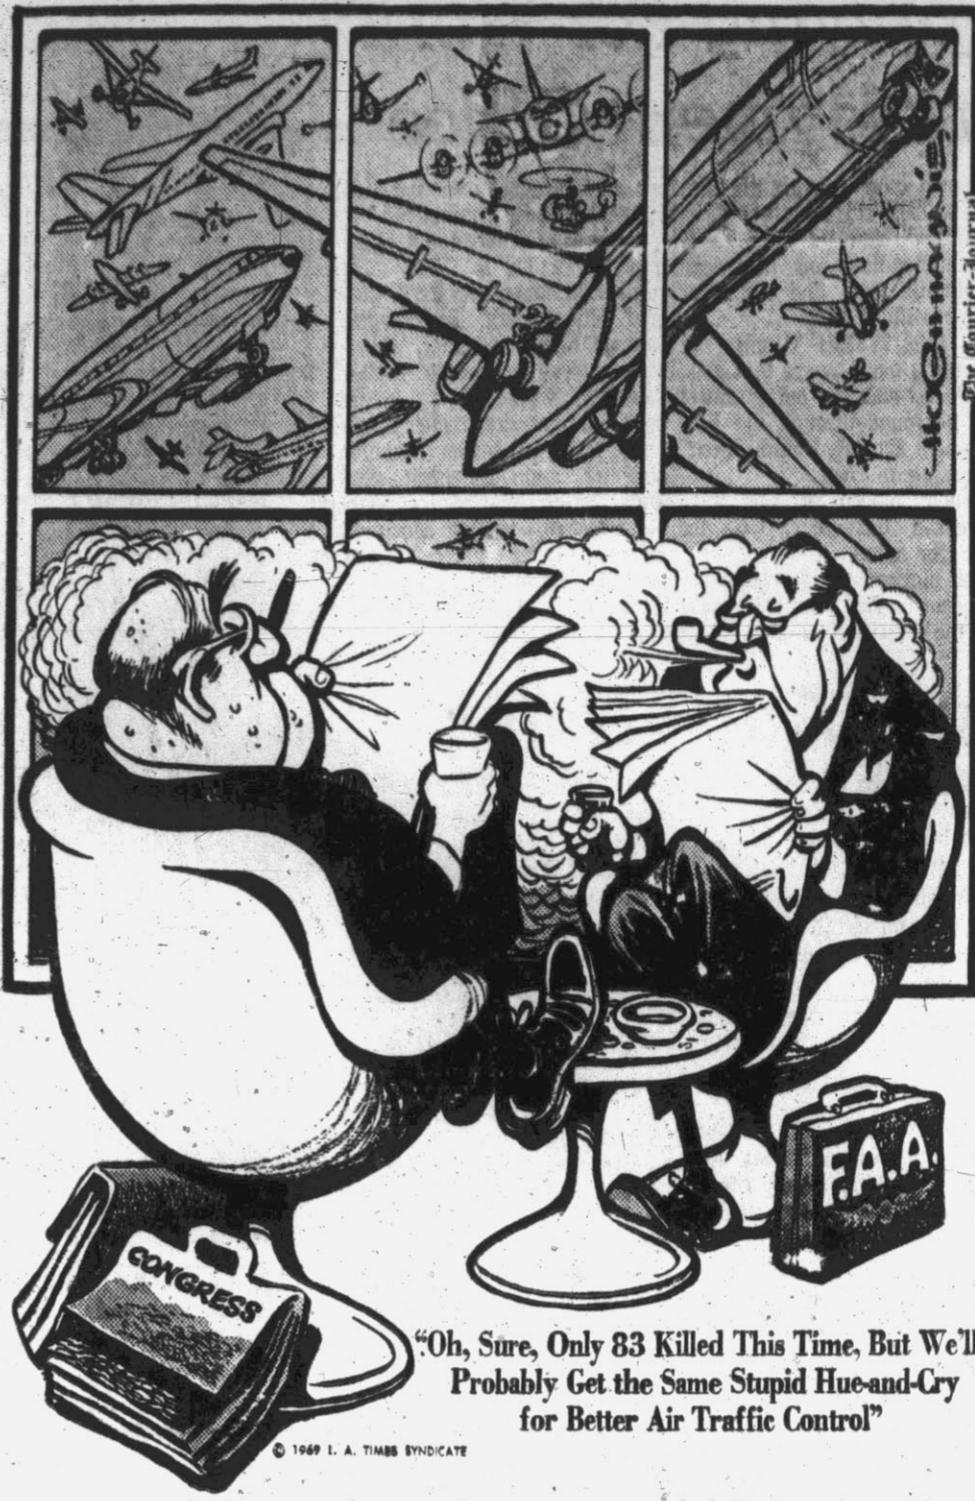

The House bill was written in partnership by Congress (Rep. Wilbur Mills, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee) and the Treasury (Assistant Secretary Edwin Cohen, a top tax lawyer). But Cohen was clearly the junior partner. The bill was really designed by Mills.

In short, the Treasury never had control of the bill and it soon contained reforms considerably more sweeping than the Administration wanted. Yet the Treasury went along (and Mr. Nixon confided he would sign any reform bill Mills could get passed). When the bill passed the House, the Treasury objected not to the reforms but to the fact that its relief provisions would produce a net annual revenue loss of at least $2.4 billion.

Even before House passage, business-oriented legislators and lobbyists began to rage at the Nixon administration. However, a group of conservative Republican Senators got nowhere in a gripping session with Charles Walker, the hard-driving Treasury Under Secretary. "Walker nodded, but he didn't give us the time of day," fumed one.

Foes of tax reform did not get the time of day until Congress recessed and the White House moved to San Clemente. It was then that intense pressure, particularly from Wall Street (on capital gains) and state and local governments (on

A New Breed Of Pilots

WASHINGTON — There's a new breed of pilot now flying our commercial airways, and he's becoming a menace to the peace and tranquility of the traveler. The taciturn James Stewart-type of pilot is being replaced by the extroverted David Susskind-type who not only never stops talking, but tells you a lot more about flying than you want to know.

In the old days of air transportation you hardly heard from the captain up forward. He might have told you when you were taking off and when you could expect to land, but outside of that he spent his time flying the plane, which is the most anyone expects of his pilot anyway.

But now, either because he's lonely or bored, or because the public relations departments of the airlines are in charge of the crews, the captain does a complete monolog from the time you get on the plane to the time you land. This is how it goes.

"Hi folks, this is your captain. Well, we're going to have a great flight today to L.A. Your hostesses are Kitty, Patti and Sally; your co-pilot is George and your engineer is Harry and I'm Jack. I'm married and have three fine children—Hildy, Freddy and Lisa and we live in Roslyn, L.I. We have a swell house and we belong to the First Congregational Church.

"There are some clouds over Kansas City, so we'll just avoid Kansas City today, which is not a great problem because we can get to L.A. anyway. It's lucky we're not going up to Montreal because they're really socked in there and there's a hurricane off Puerto Rico. But that shouldn't bother us today.

"We had some trouble with the turbofram which delayed us a few minutes, but it's been fixed now. We really don't need the turbofram but government regulations require that it be in working order just in case the gyrowhizzit goes out, which is hardly likely.

"Now when we get in the air you're going to hear a change in pitch in the motors, but don't let that bother you. If you didn't hear a change, then you should be bothered. Ha, ha, ha.

"I'll be putting up my wheels as soon as I take off and you may hear a slight thump, but don't be disturbed by it. You have to get those wheels up fast when you're taking off—otherwise you don't get the lift and a plane this size needs all the lift it can get, believe you me.

"I can't see if the wheels are up or not, but I do have (Continued On Page 5)

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Before the advent of modern dentistry, people often went to blacksmiths to have their teeth fixed.

Here's some new hope for junkies. Under a U.S. Labor Department ruling, a drug addict is considered a "handicapped person" and is therefore eligible for special job training.

Jaywalk at your own peril. Insurance company statistics show that 40 per cent of pedestrian fatalities in 1968 occurred in midblock.

Other Editors Say Come Home To Roost

(Jacksonville Daily News)

The political chickens have come home to roost . . . on Baldhead Island. For at least the past ten years each succeeding administration has been faced with the state's role in protecting, conservation and development of Baldhead.

Each in turn has faced the prospect of relinquishing Baldhead's marshlands, or do something about acquiring the rest of the island.

Recently, during a meeting of the N. C. Board of Conservation and Development, Governor Scott finally faced up to the issue with a recommendation that the 1971 General Assembly should act on a decision to buy Baldhead or not.

In the meantime, a South Carolina developer has stated that he has already made a downpayment on purchase of Baldhead for a resort. Charles Fraser, the developer, said that he would give the state and conservation interest in North Carolina reasonable time to obtain the money to buy the land.

Now, how can North Carolina hold off private interests until the General Assembly convenes in 1971?

If North Carolina gives up Baldhead's marshes it would be disastrous to the state's shellfish and finfish industries, according to the experts. Ecological value of such marshland to the life of the sea and sound is unquestioned. Biologists, fisheries experts and conservationists insist that it must be preserved, and they feel it should be preserved in a natural state. Another argument is that Baldhead, northernmost of the so-called chain of sea islands stretching from the north Florida and Georgia coasts, is North Carolina's only remaining ecological and biological laboratory which has been preserved in a truly natural state.

It is so because the state, while ignoring the question of what it might do about Baldhead, also has refused to provide any public access to the island — either by ferry, bridge or causeway. The island has remained delatatively pristine.

Strength For Today New Surge Of Price Increases

MONEY

It is amazing the overemphasis on money people sometimes make.

Is money not important? It certainly is. It cannot buy happiness or many of the finer things of life, but it does in many instances measure success—not necessarily the success of a person but the success of a project. An investment that does not bring in a certain monetary return is not a successful investment. A store that operates without profit is not a successful business venture.

When people marry for money they generally experience a huge disappointment. When a person chooses his life work, or hers, simply because it has the prospect of a good financial return, then a choice of this sort is certainly not wise. Modern governments seem to be running into continual deficits. We certainly could not get along without governments. Hospitals cannot be made to pay. Neither can most educational institutions. Some people maintain that money is the root of all evil and claim the Bible as their authority. But the Bible does not say this. What the Bible does say is that the love of money is the root of all evil (1 Timothy 6:10). The remainder of the statement is that "while some coveted after, they have erred from the faith, and pierced themselves through with many sorrows."

Some of the best people in the world are rich—and some of the worst. There is no evil in money itself. Both the good and bad aspects of money arise from the use we make of it.

By Earl L. Douglas

By ELMER ROESSNER

While there are some signs of a slowdown in the economy, there is a new surge of price increases. Price rises are likely to continue, even if there is a mild recession.

The recent increase in steel prices has led to increases in prices in many lines; higher wages are forcing up the prices in many lines; higher items.

Most all major appliances and many small ones are going up. General Electric has upped prices on 1970 model refrigerators, freezers, ranges, dishwasher and dryers. Admiral has increased prices of refrigerators, freezers, ranges and air conditioners. Maytag and Whirlpool announced they were holding their prices, but trade opinion is that all appliances will cost more by the end of the year.

COLOR TV PRICES AFFECTED

RCA is planning to increase prices on its 23-inch color television sets and other makers are considering similar moves.

Furniture and bedding prices are going up. A few increases have been announced but more are being readied. American Sugar is increasing prices next month and other refiners will probably follow.

In industrial products, prices of copper are now at the highest levels since the Civil War, when it reached $1 a pound. Current prices range up to 54 cents. Chlorine and some chlorinated solvents are inching up. A Carborundum subsidiary has increased prices for abrasives. Most increases are around 2 and 3 per cent, although abrasives jumped 7 per cent.

As the Morgan Guaranty Survey commented: "The over-all economy . . . is still showing the ruddy flush of excess in various areas."

ELMER ROESSNER

OTHER LOOK-AHEADS
Despite higher prices, steel demand is increasing. Steel magazine estimates September shipments will be 5 per cent above those in August. New model autos is one factor.

To The Editor:
The message in this letter. Has not been solicited nor has anything been said or done, other than service, to motivate its being written.

I have resided in various places of North Carolina, in Montclair, N. J.; New York City, Vermont, St. Petersburg, Fla.; Tulsa, Okla., and Washington, D. C., but in no place have I found comparable service from the sanitation department to that in Greenville.

The garbage trucks come regularly three times weekly, and those who move the garbage leave no refuse behind. In the other service area that of the moving leaves, limbs, etc., the service is just as efficient. A splendid job is performed in both areas.

The men are courteous, cooperative, and appear to take pride in their work. Therefore, I just wanted you and all concerned to know that they are appreciated and to be commended for outstanding service.

Bikini Atoll Ready For People Again

By GEORGE ZUCKER
Associated Press Writer

BIKINI ATOLL (AP) — The first no-man's land of the atomic age is ready to welcome back its people.

The Atomic Energy Commission reports this isolated Pacific atoll, ravaged by a dozen years of nuclear testing, has less radioactivity today than the U.S. mainland.

"We can't say there is absolutely no radiation danger," says AEC physicist Tommy McCraw, "but if there is we can't find it."

McCraw was among a team of experts who toured the blasted atoll last weekend with a group of American and foreign newsmen. He said his atomic counter showed only faint signs of radioactivity, "less than in Denver, Colo."

Stripped of vegetation and badly scarred by 23 nuclear detonations between 1946 and 1958, the islands have sloughed off all visible effects of their former devastation.

Lush foliage has returned to the meager string of islands, some 2,500 miles west of Hawaii, and its lagoons are swimming pool clear and bountiful.

The resited scrap metal and debris that littered the white sand beaches for more than 20 years are gone. A small force of U.S. military and civilian workers has been cleaning up the atoll since mid-February.

The 167 Bikinians who were evacuated amid weeping farewells on March 7, 1946, have since grown to 550 and most are eager to return.

The displaced Bikinians have been eking out a living on the tiny island of Kili, in the southern Marshalls.

Although rich in rainfall, Kili has no lagoon or sheltered sea approach. The islanders have been earning about $20,000 annually through the sale of copra and ladies' handbags made of coconut fiber.

Thirty Bikinians will arrive here next month to help plant coconuts, breadfruit and pandanus, making ready for the return of the others.

McCraw, 41, of Germantown,

Md., said considerable testing has been conducted to determine the extent of lingering radioactivity.

"There is virtually no radiation left," he said, "and we can find no discernible effect on either plant or animal life."

McCraw used an atomic counter to sample radioactivity on the island of Aikuriraru, across the channel from Enyu in the atoll's southern complex where 13 nuclear shots were fired from barges and air drops.

It registered slightly below two microroentgens.

"An average reading on the U.S. mainland," he said, "would range from 10 to 20 microroentgens."

McCraw said the reason for the low reading is that Bikini atoll rose from living coral reefs and has little naturally occurring radioactivity.

Responsibility for restoring and resettling Bikini atoll is shared by the Department of Defense, the AEC and the Interior Department.

The cleanup began Feb. 17 under the direction of the Defense Atomic Support Agency.

They established a tent city on Enyu, second largest island in the atoll, and within a week had cleared the tangle of scrub vegetation from the island's 4,600-foot airstrip, unused for a decade.

The first phase of the $3.3 million restoration project was the removal of scrap metal and other industrial junk.

Three hundred truckloads of scrap, all of it rusted or radioactive, were dumped into the sea or buried.

Salvageable scrap, including more than 100 miles of copper cable which link all of the atoll's 25 islands, will be left for the Bikinians to use or sell.

When the DASA task force completes its work on Oct. 1, the Bikinians will fall heir to the tent city, the airstrip, a harbor, two barges and three landing craft.

George Nakanishi, 48-year-old Hawaiian who serves as district director of agriculture for the U.S. trust territory, has set up a coconut nursery which eventually will yield 100,000 coconuts to be replanted on the islands of Bikini and Enyu.

"Under the Japanese administration prior to 1945," says Nakanishi, "the Bikinians were producing 30 tons of copra annually. This total should rise to LUMBERTON, N.C. (AP) — Roger F. Hall of Lumber Bridge has been nominated by the Robeson County Democratic Executive Committee to replace R. D. McMillan of Red Springs in the N. C. House of Representatives.

Hall, a retired Army lieutenant colonel and farmer, must be approved by Gov. Bob Scott. McMillan, an automobile dealer, was named to the post of state purchasing officer Sept. 1.

The U.S. government plans to build a school house, a community house and a warehouse for the Bikinians. A refurbished chapel already is in use on Enyu.

Also on the drawing boards are 60 three-bedroom homes the government will build for the returning islanders.

Bikinian leaders asked that they be of cinderblock construction with aluminum roofs.

"Permanency is what they want," Nakanishi said. "Something solid."

(Continued From Page 4) tax-exempt bonds, was put on the President. These lobbies were strongly backed by Rep. Rogers Morton of Maryland, Republican National Chairman and a member of the Ways and Means Committee.

The result was an abject Treasury surrender under White House orders. Some of the reforms that Cohen himself had insisted on in closed-door sessions of the House committee a month earlier (such as capital gains taxation) were repudiated before the Senate committee. Making matters worse, the Administration neglected to consult either Mills or Rep. John Byrnes of Wisconsin, chief Republican tax writer, before its radical shift — an omission Brynes sharply pointed out to the Treasury.

Moreover, while Treasury officials in late August complained that the tax relief passed by the House would impose spending priorities far into the future, they officially talked a different tune on Sept. 4. To the horror of politically astute Republican Senators, they proposed shifting the relief from middle-income taxpayers to corporations, not eliminating it altogether.

But even this concession to big business has not taken the curse off the bill in the view of Washington lobbyists. "I'm ready to change my registration to Democratic," one veteran lobbyist told us, adding that the anti-business burden of the bill could not be lightened by a corporate tax cut unlikely to be approved by Congress. In addition, by easing the bite on oil, Wall Street, and other industries, the new Treasury recommendations end up directed mainly against the real estate industry — old friends of the Republican party.

Playoff Wins Conley City Golf Championship

DON CONLEY, right, with Ralph Brown. Conley sank a birdie putt on the par-five first green to take the title in their sudden death playoff.

Don Conley edged out Ralph Brown in the first hole of a sudden death playoff to win the Fourth Annual Greenville

City Golf Championship yesterday.

The second round of the tournament was played yesterday at Greenville Golf and Country Club, after the first round was held at Brook Valley.

Both of the leaders tried to give it away. Conley held a three-stroke lead at the end of the first day's play with a three-under-par 70. He came back with an 11-over 83 on the second day however, to sky to 153.

Brown had been three strokes back after the first day's round with a 73. He added seven more strokes to his game for a 153, tying Conley after 36 holes.

Conley then dropped in a birdie putt on the par-five first hole at Greenville, to win the tournament.

A small controversy erupted prior to the sudden death playoff over first flight winner Jimmy Hillard's score. After Saturday's play, the field of 100 golfers was flight-ed, and Hillard's score dropped him into the first flight.

However, when Sunday's play was over, he had carded a 36-hole total of 151, better than anyone else in the tournament. Some golfers asserted that Hillard should be declared the winner, since he had the best score in the tournament, but a Carolinas Golf Association ruling said that Hillard could compete only in the first flight after being placed there by his Saturday score.

Runner-up to Hillard for the flight was Marvin Blount Jr., with a 153.

Dick Evans Jr. captured the second flight with a 158, while Jay Collie was second with a 164. Ben Harper won a sudden death playoff with Fred Wagner for the third flight after both tied with 173's.

Cliff Moore won the fourth flight with a 181, while Ed Warren was second with 182. John Reynolds' 200 win the fifth flight, with Billy Woolfalk second with 202.

ACC Preparing For High Gear

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The Atlantic Coast Conference football teams swing into high gear this weekend as the ACC season begins for all teams except Wake Forest and N. C. State. The Deacons nipped the Wolfpack 22-21 in their opener Saturday night in Raleigh.

The University of North Carolina will visit the Wolfpack in their season opener. The Tar Heels had a scrimmage with the freshman over the weekend and despite the 33-0 win, coach Bill Dooley of UNC said it was "simply awful."

Clemson will be at Virginia on Sept. 20 in the season opener and Wake Forest will be at Auburn. Coach Cal Stoll of the Deacons "have tasted victory and they'll get tougher."

Duke is beginning final preparations for a visit to North Carolina. The Gamecocks are expected to be a major contender in the ACC this year even though a Saturday scrimmage did not please coach Paul Dietzel.

Saturday night, the Wolfpack walloped Wake Forest with everything except the score. N. C. State rolled up a giant margin of statistics including 19 first downs to the Deacons' 12, 317 yards rushing to 132 yards.

With five seconds remaining, Steve Bowden dived across the goal line for the final Wake Forest touch down. Then rather than settle for the tie, sophomore quarterback Larry Russell passed to Buzz Leavitt for the two point bonus to win the game.

Jackson Decides Against Switch PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Luke Jackson has changed his mind about skipping to the American Basketball League's Carolina Cougars, deciding to continue with the Philadelphia 76ers of the National Basketball Association.

Jack Ramsay, general manager and coach of the 76ers, said Sunday that the 6-foot-9 center had signed a three-year contract with the NBA club. He said that Jackson would report Tuesday at the team's pre-season training camp in Margate, N. J.

The ABA had reported last Thursday that Jackson would play out his option or possibly sit it out and then join the Cougars.

CLEAN SWEEP TORONTO (AP)—The North of Ireland rugby team downed the Irish Canadians 24-14 Saturday to complete an Eastern Canadian tour with a 6-0 record.

Brickhouse Wins Talladega's 500

by BLOYS BRITT AP Auto Racing Writer TALLADEGA, Ala. (AP)—Richard Brickhouse, a farm boy who looks like a football tackle, earned himself a place in stock car racing history Sunday because he didn't want to miss the biggest opportunity of his life.

Brickhouse won the inaugural Talladega 500-mile race at the massive 2.66-mile Alabama International Speedway and collected more money than he had ever seen in his life—$25,000.

Opportunity for Brickhouse came after 30 of NASCAR's top drivers, including all but one of those assigned to factory-backed cars, staged the first boycott in the history of the sport. They claimed the new speedway was unsafe at the speeds they would have to run to be competitive.

Brickhouse was a member of the newly formed Professional Drivers Association which staged the walkout. He was the only member who decided to ignore the boycott, and he did it because he had been offered a shiny new, purple and white Dodge Daytona Charger race car that had lapped the big speedway at a fraction under 200 miles per hour in practice.

"I spent most of Saturday night sizing up what I would give up," said the 29-year-old blond who owns a 350-acre farm in eastern North Carolina. "I didn't like their attitude, and I decided to pull out of the PDA. I figured this was a golden opportunity for me to win a race."

And win it Brickhouse did. He was in and out of the lead all day, but never far from it. With 10 laps to go, he roared ahead of another rookie, Jim Vandiver of Charlotte, N. C., and was never seriously challenged as a crowd of 65,000 shouted its approval. He averaged 153.778 miles per hour for the distance.

Despite the boycott, France was able to put a field of 37 cars together. It included half a dozen competitive cars, able to tour the steeply banked course at speeds in the 185-195 range.

In other races, Gary Bettenhausen set a world record with his average speed of 99.498 miles per hour Sunday in winning a 50-lap U.S. Auto Club sprint car race at Indiana's Winchester Speedway. USAC officials said the speed was the best ever for 50 laps on a half-mile track.

In Brainerd, Minn., Dan Gurney ran out of gas in the first 100 mile race and finished second but he won the second race and grabbed the over-all top money of $8,705 in the U.S. Auto Club Indy car races at Donnybrook International Speedway.

Gordon Johncock won the first race. Gurney's winning time in the second was 113.925 miles per hour.

New Zealanders Dennis Hulme and Bruce McLaren swept to a 1-2 finish in the $56,700 Bridgehampton Grand Prix in New York. The New Zealanders averaged 114.45 miles per hour most of the race and Hulme set a record lap of 118.87 miles per hour late in the race. Jo Siffert of Switzerland finished third.

Cougars Release Five Rookies BOONE, N. C. (AP)—Five rookies of the Carolina Cougars were cut from the American Basketball Association team Sunday as the team ended a pre-season camp at Boone.

The veterans also reported Sunday. All of the veterans that were expected to show did except Randy Mahassey who is a "holdout," a spokesman said.

Western Michigan guard Gene Ford headed the list of the players cut. Ford was 13th in the nation in scoring in his senior year. Others cut were: Bob Wollard of Wake Forest, Jesse Price, Al Beard and George Hocken.

Doug Moe, Bob Verga and Art Becker were among the veterans who reported for duty.

Matty Alou of the Pittsburgh Pirates was the first batter to make 150 hits this season.

46,000 Fans Turn Out To See Namath And O.J.

SIMPSON SCORES — O. J. Simpson of the Buffalo Bills heads for his first touchdown as a pro in the fourth quarter of Sunday's American Football League game with the New York Jets in Buffalo. Close behind Simpson are Jets Gerry Philbin (81) and John Elliott (80). (AP Wirephoto)

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

They turned out in record numbers—46,165—at Buffalo's War Memorial Stadium Sunday to see Joe Namath's arm and O. J. Simpson's legs. The anatomy left something to be desired, but no one was demanding his money back.

New York's Namath, the pride of Broadway, passed for one touchdown and Buffalo's

Simpson ran for one in his pro debut as the world champion Jets turned back the stubborn Bills 33-19 in their American Football League opener.

Elsewhere in the AFL, Oakland held off Houston 21-17, Kansas City trounced San Diego 27-9, Denver walloped Boston 35-7 and Cincinnati topped Miami 27-21.

The Bengals' victory was marred by the death of 29-year-old linebacker Frank Buncom, who suffered an early-morning heart attack in his hotel room brought on by a blood clot on the lung.

The National Football League, which doesn't open its regular season for another week, finished its pre-season schedule with five games. On Sunday, Baltimore beat Dallas 23-7 and Philadelphia surprised Washington 26-17. Saturday, it was Green Bay 38, Atlanta 24; Minnesota 23, Cleveland 16 and Los Angeles 31, San Francisco 28.

Namath's statistics showed only seven completions in 19 attempts—he was intercepted three times—for 157 yards. Simpson, the rich rookie from Southern Cal, carried 10 times for 33 yards, caught two passes for 64 and returned three kick-offs for 68. His touchdown came on an eight-yard run.

"Make up anything you want to about O.J. and write it," Namath said. "I can't say enough good things about him. He's going to be great."

"I wasn't satisfied," Simpson countered. "I picked up a cold Saturday and it bothered me early in the game. And, I'll tell you, now that they're playing for real it's a lot harder."

After Namath's 60-yard scoring pass to Don Maynard and Jim Turner's four field goals gave the Jets a 19-3 lead, the Bills almost turned the game around. They managed a 19-all tie, but Matt Snell put the Jets ahead again on an 11-yard touchdown run with 7½ minutes left and linebacker Paul Crane picked off a Jack Kemp pass and ran 23 yards for another TD.

Darley Lamonica snapped out of the doldrums with a 64-yard pass to Warren Wells in the fourth period that gave Oakland a come-from-behind victory over Houston. Two touchdowns by Charlie Smith had given the Raiders a 14-0 lead but the Oilers went ahead in the final period on a 15-yard pass from Pete Beathard to Jerry Levias.

The Oilers missed a chance to win it when Levias dropped a pass in the clear shortly after Wells' tally.

Len Dawson's 55-yard touchdown pass to Otis Taylor and four interceptions powered Kansas City past San Diego. Dawson hit Taylor on the first play from scrimmage after the Chargers had trimmed the Chiefs' lead to 13-9.

Denver quarterback Steve Tensi enjoyed one of his finest test Baltimore intercepted four days with three touchdown passes as the Broncos jolted the Pa-trials under new coach Clive Rush. Two of the scoring passes went to Al Denson while Tom Smiley also scored twice.

Boston quarterback Mike Taaffe was intercepted four times, with two of the stealing up Denver touchdowns. Rookie Greg Cook passed for two touchdowns and Cincinnati's defense held off a late Miami rally as the Bengals gave Paul Brown his 300th coaching victory in a career spanning 35 years.

In Sunday's NFL exhibitions, Philadelphia came from behind with 12 points in the third period to beat Washington while in a nationally televised night contest Baltimore intercepted four of Roger Staubach's passes and trimmed Dallas.

Maxwell 'Hot' In Odessa Frolic

ODESSA, Tex. (AP) — "How sweet it is," beamed Texan Billy Maxwell, smiling broadly as he clutched the championship trophy of the Odessa Pro-Am golf frolic.

"I had a good partner. That's what did it," Maxwell said. Actually, Maxwell, 40, no stranger to the Odessa Country Club course, could have won the tournament single-handedly Sunday, had it been necessary.

He ripped off five birdies and amateur partner Richard Ellis of Texas A&M added another as they closed with a 6-under par 66 to win the $35,000 pro-am by two strokes.

Kathy Whitworth Rallies For Win

OCEAN SHORES, Wash. (AP) — The experience gained in 11 years as a professional golfer helped Kathy Whitworth fight off a bad case of the double bogies Sunday and rally to win the $22,000 Wendell-West Women's Open Golf Tournament.

Tall Kathy finished the day with a par-72 and a 54-hole total of 213 to edge Judy Toriueke Rankin by a stroke.

"That last three-foot putt was a sort of a nervous par," Kathy admitted. "I thought I'd really had it when I took those double bogie sixes at 12 and 13, but I had a little talk with myself and settled down."

The triumph helped Miss Whitworth close the money margin on Carol Mann, who finished sixth with a 218 total to earn $1,085 and boost her 1969 tourney income to $40,382. Kathy, posting her sixth victory of the year and the 52nd of her career, raised her current income to $39,401.50.

The sponsors had boosted the total tourney payoff by $2,000 on the final day, which gave Miss Whitworth $3,225 as first money.

Third Straight For Connecticut

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — Connecticut is the Tri-State match play golf champion for the third straight year.

Connecticut's 12-man team retained the title during the weekend by piling up 25 points at the Pleasant Valley Country Club. Rhode Island was second with 16 points and Massachusetts third with 13.

Gearhart Wins Bowling Purse

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — Butch Gearhart of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., Sunday won the Professional Bowler's Association Newark Kiwanis Open.

Gearhart won $3,000 of the $32,000 purse.

George Pappas of Charlotte, N.C., finished fifth in the tournament and received $1,100.

Football Openers Indicate A Wild Season Coming Up

When Dee Andros returned home last winter from a trip East where he was offered the coaching job at the University of Pittsburgh, he was greeted by a crowd of Oregon State students chanting, "Please don't leave! Please don't leave!"

Andros didn't, but he may be wishing today that he had.

The reason for Andros' discomfort is a 37-0 shellacking imposed on the Beavers Saturday night by UCLA, the nation's 17th-ranked team and the only member of The Associated Press Top Twenty to see action as college football began its 100th anniversary with a smattering of games.

The results of a dozen major games indicate that 1969 may be just as wild as 1968, when all sorts of offensive records fell, and a far cry from the first college game back in 1869 when Rutgers beat Princeton by a mere 6-4.

In a nationally televised contest, the Air Force and Southern Methodist filled the air with 89 passes before the fly-boys made off with a 26-22 cliff-hanger.

The biggest score was run up by West Virginia, which clobbered Cincinnati 57-11 and ruined Ray Callahan's debut as coach of the Bearcats. Callahan shouldn't have been too surprised, though. Three of Cincy's four losses a year ago were by scores of 55-34, 60-48 and 71-33. Another new coach, Cal Stoll of Wake Forest, directed the first upset of the season. The Demon Deacons scored with five seconds left and then connected on a two-point conversion pass to nip North Carolina State 22-21.

Elsewhere, it was Villanova 41, West Chester 14; Miami, Ohio 35, Xavier, Ohio 7; Wichita State 17, Utah State 7; Drake and Louisville battled to a 24-24 tie.

Dennis Dummit, UCLA's rookie quarterback, stunned Oregon State on the fourth play from scrimmage with a 60-yard touchdown pass to Gwen Cooper and it took the Bruins only 10 minutes and seven seconds to run up a 17-0 lead.

UCLA unleashed a powerful running attack, led by Greg Jones, who scored twice, and Mickey Cureton.

SMU's Chuck Hixson, the nation's leading passer as a sophomore in 1968, completed 34 of 53 tosses for 356 yards and two touchdowns but couldn't overcome a 23-0 Air Force halftime lead.

Gary Baxter, the Air Force quarterback, completed 15 of 34 for 206 yards and Dennis Leuthauer kicked field goals of 44, 40, 34 and 21 yards.

"We figured it would take five touchdowns to beat them," said

Air Force Coach Ben Martin. "It almost wasn't enough, when you consider that's just about what we got."

Three touchdowns by junior fullback Jim Braxton helped West Virginia to a 27-0 halftime lead over Cincinnati. Braxton scored on runs of 12 and four yards and caught a three-yard TD pass from Mike Sherwood.

North Carolina State had a wide edge in the statistics—and a 21-14 lead with five seconds left—but Wake Forest's Steve Bowden dived over for a touchdown and Larry Russell passed to Buz Leavitt for the winning two-point conversion.

Tobacco

Tips

By S. J. WEEKS
Pitt County Tobacco Agent

The use of a suitable crop rotation will improve the yield and quality of tobacco. Residues, such as Fescue, small grains, weeds, etc., improve the soil structure, the water penetration, and slightly improve the organic matter. Rotations aid in the control of some soil-borne diseases, especially nematodes. However, four to eight years are required to give complete nematode control, depending upon whether a two, three, or four year rotation is used.

Fescue is one of the best crops to use in a tobacco rotation. It can be seeded alone or can be interplanted with small grain. For best results it should occupy the soil for two growing seasons; however, if only a two-year rotation can be managed on your farm, it can occupy the soil for one growing season with good results.

Research studies have shown that an acre of tobacco grown in a three-year rotation with two years of fescue, will produce $210 per acre more than when tobacco is grown continuously.

A good seedbed should be prepared before seeding Fescue. If your tobacco stubbles have been plowed out for a period of two to three weeks, you can begin preparing your seedbed immediately. This can be done by discing the bedded tobacco fields and smoothing with a smoothing harrow. The Fescue should be seeded at the rate of 20 lbs. per acre and should be seeded between September 15 and October 30.

There are crops other than fescue that have also given good results in a tobacco rotation. For best results include crops in your rotation that are resistant to one or more of the three types of nematodes present on most tobacco farms. Do not include crotalaria and other legumes immediately before tobacco in your rotation.

Some progress has been made in the R-6-P (Reduce 6 Pests) Campaign in Pitt County. However, there is still a large percentage of the tobacco stubbles that have not been plowed out. Let's make Pitt County a 100 per cent R-6-P participation County this year. If you have not performed this important practice on your farm right now is the time to start.

It's Time Now To Spread Lime

By EDWIN L. YANCEY
County Extension Chairman

When is the right time to get the lime spread that your farm or individual fields need. According to agronomic authorities, it makes no difference, as long as the interval is long enough to get the material worked into the soil. For legumes a good rule of thumb is to apply the limestone a year in advance of seeding. This gives the agricultural limestone a year to get thoroughly worked into the soil for maximum benefit to the legume crop you intend to plant. It provides an interval for thoroughly mixing into the soil an application of agricultural limestone and deriving the maximum benefit from this application.

Too many farmers wait to order their agricultural limestone until the day they plan to seed a field to clover or legumes. As this is usually in the spring, the fields are soggy or wet and the trucks attempting to make deliveries get mired in the mud. The farmers cooperate with the distributor by hitching a tractor to the truck to speed up the process or eliminate the problem, but this isn't enough.

This procedure of liming just before seeding is basically wrong because the minerals supplied by limestone don't have a chance to react in the soil and to correct its mineral deficiencies. It is also wrong because limestone producers or distributors in pricing their products must take into account all of the breakdowns encountered in making deliveries. So why pay for truck-down-time when wear and tear on equipment and nerves are high, rather than paying for good service? The knowledgeable farmer will order his limestone for delivery in the off-season when demand is off and conditions help reduce costs.

Plan now for your crop needs next year and get the limestone needed to improve your crop production next year. To get prompt and efficient delivery, put the limestone on this Fall before the difficult Winter and Spring seasons roll around.

The Farm Scene

By S. J. WEEKS

Profit Not Necessarily Up

The fact that farmers are receiving a good price for their tobacco crop this year does not mean they are receiving a larger net profit. Production costs have increased in proportion to the sales price increase.

There are management alternatives that are available to farmers that, when used can help them to increase their net incomes. Many of these management practices will require little or no additional investment, such as crop rotation, variety selection for disease resistance, selection of nutrient sources, replanting, number of leaves produced per acre, chemical sucker control, and application of insecticides on a need basis. There are also many alternatives available that require investment that have a high probability of being profitable.

The largest benefits derived from crop rotation is disease control. In disease infested fields $400 to $500 per acre increase has been realized where a good rotation was followed, as compared with continuous tobacco culture.

Many farmers are growing varieties of tobacco that have a low level of resistance of black shank in fields highly infested with black shank. As much as $400 per acre increase has been realized when planting a high level resistant variety instead of a low level resistant variety. Fertilization using adequate amounts of mixed fertilizer along with a suitable top dressing material can also be a saving when compared with larger amounts of mixed or complete fertilizers. Numerous tests have shown that $10 to $15 per acre savings can be realized and at the same time tobacco of equal quality can be produced when this practice is followed.

Most growers normally replant tobacco one to three times in an effort to obtain a near perfect stand. This practice usually required 8 to 10 hours of labor. Tests have shown that there is very little difference in the yield and value of the tobacco when the fields were replanted at the five and ten percent level.

Experiments have shown that best net returns per acre can be expected when between 120,000 and 130,000 leaves per acre are produced. When this leaf population is exceeded the net per acre is reduced. Chemical sucker control when properly applied is also beneficial. Recent tests have shown that the combination sucker control treatment, using a contact treatment at early flower stage and a second treatment using MH 30 a week later gave better returns per acre than when MH 30 was applied at full flower stage. Sometimes farmers treat for hornworm when it does not pay. The use of insecticide cannot be justified unless a hornworm eats one whole leaf per seven plants. When hornworms are two inches long, five or more worms per 50 plant population will need to be present to cause this damage. Further information on these practices can be obtained from the County Agricultural Extension Office.

American Male Trend Is To More Cosmetics-Use

By LISA CRONIN
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — American males are being scented, bronzed, toned, moisturized, creamed and pomaded by well over $600 million worth of toiletries and cosmetics this year.

And retailers say the trend is on the increase—the American male is going to smell and look better than ever.

"The peacock revolution used to be just talk, but now the cash register is telling the story," said one New York drug store owner.

He said the biggest sellers are n't the exotics—facial masks, makeups, hair dyes. "All these new preparations seem to fall by the wayside," he said. "Men are out after interesting variations on the old themes—cologne, aftershave, toilet soaps and shaving needs."

"Sales of men's cosmetics of right now are only a small fraction of women's but they're gaining all the time and the future is bright," said a cosmetics buyer for a San Francisco store.

To "educate" men to the needs of beauty, stores have developed special selling techniques.

One New York store reported a 35 per cent increase in sales after it installed a men's bar for toiletries.

"Don't push it, just suggest it," said a saleswoman at Saks Fifth Avenue in Chicago.

"Although there is some reluctance to make up, men are much more conscious of good grooming and will become even more so because of advertising," she said. "They're not as reluctant to come in and ask for cosmetics as they were five years ago, but one has to use the right approach to them."

Retailers are optimistic because young men seem more willing to accept glamor aids than their elders.

"Older men definitely feel there's a feminine mystique to cosmetics, but not younger men," said Sally Linstad of Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co. in Chicago. She got her husband to try the new toiletries—"it was like pulling teeth but now he loves them."

One New York store claims that the cologne it concocts even sells to hippies. It's labeled "underground cologne," and the druggist explained that hippies like it because they can barely smell it.

Best sellers among colognes seem to be the dry scents. "Those with less alcohol seem to sell strongly," said an Atlanta retailer. Another big seller in his store is hair preparations including hair spray for men.

As men themselves come to stores to buy cosmetics and toiletries, retailers report an interest in the more expensive lines. At Abercrombie & Fitch in New York, where a hair conditioner with milk oil sells for $5 for four ounces, sales clerks

N.C. Counts 17 Highway Deaths

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Seventeen weekend traffic fatalities reported by the State Highway Patrol raised the state's death toll for the year to 1,189, compared to 1,272 for the corresponding period last year.

The weekend count included three sisters from Burlington who were killed when their car went out of control on a rural road and plunged into a pond near Graham Saturday.

The victims were Wanda Waddell, 17, Frances Waddell, 22, and Judy Ann Harrison, 26, a half-sister.

Patrolmen said Willie Lee Beaman, 25, of Rt. 2, Clinton was killed when his car left a rural road east of Clinton at a high speed and overturned.

Charles Farr, 66, of Trenton, N. J., died when the car in which he was riding pulled out of a private driveway onto a rural road one mile south of Fayetteville and collided with another vehicle.

William Roscoe Owens, 17, of Rt. 4, Rutherfordon, Ervin Franklin Cross, 34, of Yanceyville; Teresa Boyce, 7, of Durants Neck; Samuel Duke Hillburn, 34, of Wilmington; Tallman W. Taylor, 33, of Rt. 1, elapsed.

BET, AND LOST

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A man who bet his friends he could hold his breath under water for four minutes drowned Sunday. Police said the body of Preston P. Louie Jr., 26, floated to the surface of a swimming pool moments after the bet time elapsed.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠105 ♣AK963 ♦A75 ♣J32
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 NT Pass 3♥ Pass
3 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. With this evenly balanced hand prospects for slam are not bright even if partner has a maximum. Your hand is worth 13 points valued at hearts and partner has a maximum of 18 points in high cards.

Q. 2—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠853 ♣AK87 ♦6 ♣KQ54
The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North East
1♦ Dbl. Pass 1♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Two hearts. This hand is not quite strong enough for a double raise in view of the fact that partner was forced to bid. A double raise in this situation should be based on 19 points.

Q. 3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠75 ♣KQJ98 ♦A6 ♣AK98
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1♥ Pass 1♠ Pass 2♥ ?

What do you bid now?
A.—With this strong hand, a jump bid of some kind is indicated, and our choice is three hearts. It is not quite strong enough to make an absolute force to game and, therefore, we veto a bid of three clubs.

Q. 4—You are South, vulnerable, and you hold:
♠K6 ♣1094 ♦AK982 ♣KJ5
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1♦ Pass 3♦ 2♥ ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. This is to enable partner to contract for three no trump if he has a heart stopper. Do not fall into the error of bidding four diamonds, for a contract of 11 tricks might be out of reach.

Q. 5—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AJ1084 ♣106542 ♦63 ♣9

What is your opening lead?
A.—The slam double convention should not apply to this case for it is very clear that East is sacrificing against your bid of five hearts because he cannot stand his partner's double. As the bidding has developed it is reasonable to suppose that West, the dummy, has a good spade suit so that the king of spades is trapped. There is a great likelihood that East is void of hearts and the recommended lead, therefore, is the two of diamonds. It would be very surprising if partner did not have the ace of that suit.

Q. 6—Neither vulnerable, partner opens with one club and you hold:
♠742 ♥853 ♦97432 ♣K6
What is your response?
A.—While it is our practice to stretch a point to keep alive an opening bid of one club, we do not feel justified in such action in this particular hand with only one king and no distributional advantages. A pass is therefore clearly indicated.

Q. 7—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AJ104 ♥AJ ♦QJ105 ♣KJ6
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1♦ Pass 1♥ Pass 2♥ ?

What do you bid now?
A.—A rebid of one spade is our clear choice. The hand contains only 17 points in high cards and is therefore two points short of the requirements for a jump to two no trump. On hands of this type we find that it is superior strategy to open with one no trump in the first place.

Q. 8—As South, you hold:
♠K62 ♥AQ9753 ♦K742
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1♥ 1♠ 4♥ 5♣
5♥ Dbl. Pass 6♣
Pass Pass Dbl. Pass
Pass Pass

What is your opening lead?
A.—The slam double convention should not apply to this case for it is very clear that East is sacrificing against your bid of five hearts because he cannot stand his partner's double. As the bidding has developed it is reasonable to suppose that West, the dummy, has a good spade suit so that the king of spades is trapped. There is a great likelihood that East is void of hearts and the recommended lead, therefore, is the two of diamonds. It would be very surprising if partner did not have the ace of that suit.

'Laugh-In' Adding Fresh Faces; Old Gags Shelved

By GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Writer
BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Television's zaniest, most-watched series, "Laugh-In," charges into its third season to night with old gags shelved and new faces in the cast.

There are no plans for further use of the phrase "You bet your sweet bippy." Nor will Judy Carne cry "Sock it to me!" and be drenched by bucketsful of water. Arte Johnson, doddering to resistant Ruth Buzzi in the park, won't tempt her with Wal-nut.

"Nothing should ever become predictable," said executive producer George Schlatter. "We dropped these items to make room for new things."

One new thing will be Dick Martin's costar Dan Rowan as "Gen. Bull Right." Coproducer Ed Friendly calls this character "an eight-star general, a war buff, a burlesque of the extreme."

Also new will be "our man in Washington"—a Capitol gossip reporter played by willowy, red-haired Pamela Rodgers, 25, a former showgirl and a new-comer to the cast.

"She's different," producer Paul W. Keyes explained. "Goldie Hawn is cute, Jo Anne Worley is loud, Judy Carne is hip. With Pammy we're going a little more the Marilyn Monroe route."

Five-foot-8 1/2, 130 pounds, with 35-23-35 measurements, sexy Pamela was Miss Texas in the 1962 Miss World contest.

Another newcomer is a Negro beauty, Teresa Graves, 21, who sang, danced and did comedy bits for three years with the touring Doodletown Pipers.

Teresa is 5-10 1/2, 130 pounds, 36-25-33 1/2, and single. In the premiere show she does a wedding skit, telling her white bridegroom, "Before you meet Mother, do get some sun."

The bridegroom is another newcomer, a beanpole of an English actor-writer, 6-3, 130-pound Jeremy Lloyd, 39. Blond and shaggy, he has acted in 40 British films.

Byron Gilliam, 28, isn't wholly a newcomer. A smiling, athletic, mustachioed Negro, he danced in cocktail party sequences last year but proved so versatile he now has comedy lines.

Reagan Reducing State Employees

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has announced that he will reduce the number of California state employees by 1970—election year—to the level prevailing when he took office in 1967.

The economy move will involve a cut of 657 jobs. The state now employs 103,122 civil servants.

Reagan is expected to seek a second term.

Cuba's highest mountain is Pico Turquino, at 6,467 feet.

Expecting Senator To Be Candidate
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Democratic majority leader, predicts his party's presidential nominee for 1972 will be a senator.

On the ABC television-radio program "Issues and Answers" Sunday, Mansfield said Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine is leading at the moment.

He added: "Former Vice President Hubert Humphrey is right behind him. There is Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma to consider and there will be others."

Mansfield said he was assuming that Humphrey, the nominee in 1968, would run for the Senate from Minnesota in 1970 and would be elected.

HEALTH AND CHIROPRACTIC

By
Dr. W. C. Chapel,
Former President
Lincoln Chiropractic College

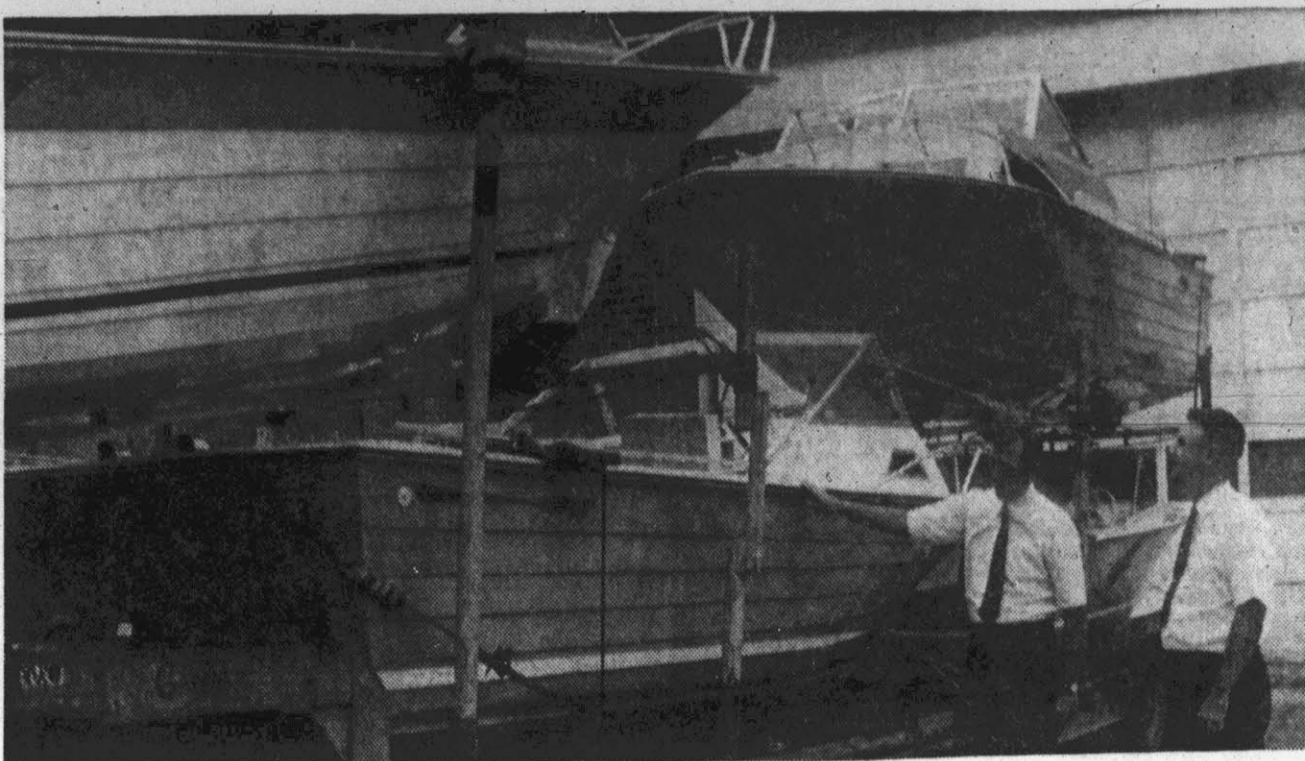

Q. What is chiropractic?
A. Chiropractic is the art and science of locating and correcting interference to the normal transmission and expression of vital nerve energy without the use of drugs or surgery.

Q. How do Doctors of Chiropractic examine a patient?
A. In many ways—a Doctor of Chiropractic takes a thorough case history. He then uses accepted examining procedures such as inspection, palpation, auscultation, blood pressure, temperature, urinalysis, orthopedic and neurological tests and he may make X-ray studies to determine the nature of the problem involved.

Q. After he has determined what the problem is, how does the chiropractor treat the condition?
A. That would depend on the condition. He might only advise some home exercises, suggest changes in sleeping habits, or prescribe a specific type of treatment in his office, such as spinal manipulation or he may refer you to a specialist in another field.

Merger Agreed By Newspapers Local Boat Builders To Show 5 Models At Chicago Exhibit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The parent companies of the Los Angeles Times and the Dallas Times Herald have agreed to a merger involving the exchange of nearly $91 million worth of stock.

Under the agreement, the Times Mirror Co. of Los Angeles will issue 1.8 million shares of convertible preferred stock to Times Herald shareholders in exchange for the Texas company's assets. The agreement requires approval of both companies' stockholders and the Federal Communications Commission.

Dr. Franklin D. Murphy, chairman of the Times Mirror Co., said Sunday each share will carry a 70-cent annual dividend and will be convertible into 1.11 shares of Times Mirror common stock.

The Times Herald Printing Co. operates KRLL-TV, and KRLL-AM-FM in addition to publishing an evening and Sunday paper.

Times Mirror is involved in publishing, printing and forest products. It owns no TV or radio stations.

Murphy said in a statement the Times Herald Printing Co. would operate under its present management as an autonomous subsidiary of Times Mirror.

Well over 200 people attended the inaugural of the 1969-70 art season at Greenville's Art Center Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Frances W. Roosevelt, artist from Oyster Bay, Long Island, was on hand to greet visitors and to discuss the 70 paintings and water colors she has on exhibit.

A program of Renaissance music was performed by members of The Collegium, from East Carolina University.

The show of Mrs. Roosevelt's works will remain on exhibit until about the first of October.

Local Boat Builders To Show 5 Models At Chicago Exhibit

Greenville's National Boat Works, manufacturers of Grady-White Boats, will have five of their models on display at the Marine Trades Exhibit at the International Amphitheater in Chicago, which opens Thursday.

National, which purchased Grady-White Boats about a year ago, produces all fiberglass boats 16 to 21 feet long. Edward C. Smith is the company's president.

Wiley Corbett, vice-president and general manager of National, said that during the past year, the firm has converted from wood to fiberglass production, and presently produces a "high quality boat."

With dealers throughout the East coast, estimated production will total 800 to 1,000 boats this year, according to Corbett.

National employs about 100 people, with a payroll of about $350,000 per year.

According to Corbett, National has renovated its 714 Albermarle Ave. plant since acquiring G and W. The facility includes about 125,000 square feet of production space, with outside storage facilities totaling about 80,000 square feet.

Corbett emphasized that National's "company headquarters, its only manufacturing facility . . . all engineering, design, and testing, is done here in Greenville."

He noted too, that National's intentions are to produce only high quality products.

Outlining National's G and W models, Corbett said the smallest is a 16-foot outboard runabout, with the next model a 17-foot cathedral hull (tri-hull) outboard runabout.

Other models under 21 feet include an 18-foot inboard-outboard runabout, a 19-foot "Atlantic Weekender" outboard cabin cruiser and a new 1970 model, a 19-foot open fishing boat (with eight-foot beam) including insulated bait and fish wells in the floor.

Included in the 21-foot class are an inboard-outboard fishing boat with Cutty-cabin and a inboard-outboard express cruiser with cabin that sleeps two.

Colors, according to size, are: 16-foot, blue and white; 17-foot, avocado green and white; 18-foot and 19-foot weekender, Inka Gold and white; 19-foot fishing, green and white; 21-foot cutty-cabin, blue and white, and 21-foot cruiser, gold and white.

Corbett said the Chicago trade show "is the opening show for all 1970 model boats and accessories."

Describing the show as "a dealer trade show only" Corbett reported the display will be open from Thursday through Sunday.
