

Fire Razes 2 Warehouses And Contents

By STUART SAVAGE Reflector Staff Writer Two tobacco warehouses in a building that covered most of a city block burned today and damages are expected to exceed a half-million dollars.

He said he and two other men were at the opposite end of the warehouse when they saw the truck burning. By the time they reached the fire to attempt to extinguish it, he said, it was too hot and they were forced outside the building.

Anderson told investigating police and fire officers that he called a telephone operator and asked her to call the fire department after he and the others inside the building fanned in their attempts to extinguish the fire.

The building, an aluminum and steel structure, was built in 1947 and later was partitioned into two warehouses. Cannon said his side contained 65,000 square feet of floor space.

Heat from the fire was so intense that it caused some damage to a building across the street that housed Smith-Waldrop Motors, firemen said.

Fire trucks and men from Winterville and Farmville provided mutual aid assistance, Chief Smith said.

lina University students were pressed into service when they volunteered to hold big hose lines playing water onto the fire to cool the Cozart building.

Canon said cost of his portion of the building when constructed in 1947 was about $92,000. He estimated that replacement cost of his portion of the structure now would run $250,000.

Teacher Stands In Place Of Parent

and on the school premises; smoking in open areas; and threats made by students, resulting in parents keeping children away from school for fear of bodily harm."

Wooten replied, "Yes, I have two or three." The issue of disciplinary authority permitted and exercised by teachers and principals in schools received considerable attention.

After a number of parents asked for a clarification of the disciplinary role of school personnel, Dr. Cleet C. Cleetwood, superintendent of the city school system, declared: "There is no change in the role of authority. The principle still exists that the teacher stands in place of the parent in school."

The President coupled his new troop withdrawal announcement with a review of administration efforts to promote a peaceful settlement.

Opening lead: Ten of ♦
Some might attribute South's success in today's hand to pure luck. In our viewpoint, however, his triumph was well earned for his efforts were capped by a shrewd psychological approach that is not at all common in declarer play. South responded to North's opening one no trump bid with a forcing jump to three hearts. When partner raised to four, South decided to disclose no further information to the opponents—proceeding directly to six hearts. West opened the ten of diamonds. There was a chance that the lead was made from a holding consisting of the K-10-9 and some small diamonds, but declarer did not put much faith in this prospect. He, therefore, rejected the diamond finesse and put up the ace from dummy, but in doing so he was careful to drop the jack from his hand. His reason for this play will become apparent momentarily. A heart was led to the king in the closed hand and another heart was returned. When West followed with the seven, declarer finessed the ten and East showed out. The queen of trumps was picked up by the ace and South cheerfully conceded a diamond trick later on. When the question was put to him as to why he finessed holding nine trumps, declarer's answer was most enlightening. "I considered it to be in the nature of a safety play. I felt that even if the heart finesse lost to a doubleton queen, East would be extremely reluctant to cash the king of diamonds, for fear that I was void and his play would establish a vital trick for me. If he makes the routine exit of a club, I can discard North's remaining diamonds on my long clubs and later ruff a diamond in dummy."

Attends Meet On Citizenship

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Mrs. E.C. Davenport of Winterville is attending the 24th National Conference on Citizenship here. The conference is being held at the Mayflower Hotel and begins on Monday continuing through Wednesday. "Citizenship Requires Responsible Involvement" is the theme for this year's conference. At last night's opening session, the Honorable Brooks Hays, former congressman and presidential advisor, executive director, National Conference on Citizenship, was the keynote speaker. Dr. Joseph H. Douglas, director, 1970 White House Conference on Children, Youth, was the guest speaker at the 2 p.m. session today. During today, various sessions will focus on attitudes and issues concerning youth—in the ghetto, on the college campus and high school campus and in other institutions of society. Experimental techniques involving delegate participation, confrontation and role-playing were applied in some of these sessions. Work sessions on Wednesday were designed for the greatest relevancy to conference delegates to expand and develop actual working projects, programs and commitments leading to greater youth involvement in the changing society. At 2 p.m. Wednesday, the Citizenship Day celebration will be held. The ceremonies will be conducted in the Sylvan Theatre on the Washington Monument grounds. Presented jointly with the Constitution Day Committee for the District of Columbia, they will include the traditional observance of past years and speeches by distinguished members of Congress. At 4:30 p.m., a special meeting will be held for delegates to meet and discuss the conference theme with leading state and federal officials. Justice Clark, president of the National Conference on Citizenship, will be present for the annual dinner at 7 p.m. The Honorable James E. Allen Jr., commissioner of education, will give the address. The Bank of Winterville helped sponsor Mrs. Davenport's trip.

Shotgun Death Is Ruled 'Suicide'

The death of John Hardee "Jack" Stokes here yesterday was ruled suicide by Pitt County Coroner E. W. Harvey. Harvey said Stokes was found by a friend shot to death in his 2303 East 10th St. apartment about 8:49 p.m. yesterday. The coroner reported that Stokes died from wounds caused by a blast from a .12 gauge shot gun. Greenville detectives said two notes from Stokes to his wife were found at the scene. They said the couple had separated recently. Detectives, too, said Stokes had taken an overdose of sleeping pills in June.

Deactivating Marine Division Considered

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy is considering deactivating a Marine division, one-third of which is in Vietnam, as a way of further cutting defense spending this year, Pentagon sources report. Involved is the West Coast-based 5th Marine Division, whose 6,000 to 7,000 man 26th Regiment is operating around Da Nang, South Vietnam. The outfit's other two regiments are at Camp Pendleton, Calif. Military officers said in advance of today's scheduled White House announcement on troop withdrawals they did not know whether the 26th Regiment might be called home for deactivation as part of the cutbacks. But they said the deactivation of the 5th, if ordered, would almost certainly require substantial Marine cuts in Vietnam since that division serves as the corps' rotation base for the Pacific area. The Pentagon sources said dismantling of the 5th Division has been discussed recently as the Corps' part in meeting a $3 billion cut in defense spending ordered this year by Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird. The 5th Division was activated specifically for the Vietnam war in March 1966 to fill a gap on the West Coast as the 1st Marine Division prepared to go to war. Including the 1st Marine Division, two regiments of the 3rd Division and the 26th Regiment there are about 70,000 Marines serving in Vietnam.

About 8,000 of the 3rd Marine Division's 9th regimental landing team were sent from Vietnam to Okinawa last month under the Nixon administration's first 25,000-man pullout.

Give Sister-In-Law A Diaper Washing Lesson

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I have a baby, five months old. I have a sister-in-law who has a baby seven months old. She comes to visit me VERY OFTEN—like four or five days a week. My problem is she NEVER brings any diapers with her. She's always borrowing mine.

Abby, she has a washing machine and I don't. I have to go clear across town to my mother's to wash. I use a whitener and a softener and my sister-in-law doesn't. And when she returns the diapers she borrowed she brings me HERS instead of MINE, and it takes me forever to get them white again. I have told her a dozen times to bring her own diapers, but she always "forgets." Can you help me?

Miss Clara Moore Weds Donald H. Richards

GRIFTON—On Sunday afternoon, Sept. 7, at 3:00 p. m. in the Riverside Christian Church, Miss Clara Fields Moore became the bride of Donald H. Richards.

The Rev. Eugene G. Purcell Jr. of Pikeville officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Leon C. Moore of Rt. 1, Griffin, and Mrs. Floyd E. McConnell and R. H. Richards, both of Gulfport, Miss.

Prior to the ceremony, a program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Milton Hart, pianist, and Mrs. Troy Jackson, soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of off white imported linen trimmed with Venice lace. The empire bodice was styled with a scooped neckline and trumpet sleeves. The A-line skirt was fashioned with a court train trimmed with bands of lace.

Her fingertip bouffant veil of silk illusion was attached to a headband of matching linen with Venice lace and pearl hearts. She carried a bouquet of roses and an orchid showered with ribbons.

Mrs. Gary T. O'Daniel of Raleigh was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Eddie Howell of Raleigh, Mrs. Patrick Hanley of Long Island, N. Y., and Donna Westbrook of Grifton.

Patrick O. Hanley of Long Island, N. Y., was best man. Ushers were Terry Espensen of McAllen, Tex., Russell Volland of Cleveland, Ohio, and Kevin Beemer of Emporia, Kan.

After the ceremony, the couple greeted guests in the vestibule with their parents and the bride's brother, Linwood Moore.

The bride graduated from Grifton High School, business school and is employed with GMAC in Raleigh. The bridegroom is serving in the U. S. Army and is stationed at Fort Bragg. He will attend officers training at Fort Benning, Ga., in the near future.

Following a wedding trip to the coast, the couple will reside in Sanford.

On Friday night following the rehearsal, the Richards-Moore wedding party, families and friends were entertained at an after-rehearsal party at the home of Mrs. Roy L. Jackson, aunt of the bride.

Assisting Mrs. Jackson were Miss Merle Read Moore, Mrs. Margie Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Broadhurst and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard McLawhorn.

Chaplain Of Center Speaks To Methodist Women Monday

J. Herbert Waldrop Jr., chaplain of Pitt County's new Alcohol Rehabilitation Center, said "you can spot an alcoholic before he becomes one."

Waldrop was the keynote speaker for the Monday meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service of Jarvis Methodist Church. It was the first fall meeting of the year and was presided by Mrs. William H. Taft Sr., president.

In listing ways to spot an alcoholic, or alcoholic danger signals, Waldrop said: "A person who has two or three drinks before a cocktail party, a person who drinks a cocktail in the day, a teen-ager drinking too much, an individual who becomes forgetful or has 'black outs', a person who denies the amount of alcohol he or she has consumed, an individual who loses time from work, a person who begins to shake, an individual with hallucinations, and a person who can't remember for a whole week is in serious condition."

Waldrop also noted that a patient must understand that alcoholism is an emotional illness and not a medical illness. "It is a disease in the same sense as a mental or nervous breakdown," he said.

He and his wife, Denny Lee, were introduced by Mrs. J. Knott Proctor Jr. vice president.

Mrs. H. Lynn Ormond Jr., chairman of Spiritual Growth, opened the meeting with a meditation. Mrs. Phil Goodson Jr. gave minutes of the recent executive board meeting.

Mrs. Taft recognized each circle chairman who gave their respective reports. They were Mrs. Ed Clement, Mrs. William E. Hudson, Mrs. J. C. Galloway Jr., Mrs. H. Ted Smith, Mrs. J. F. Arthur, Mrs. Linwood Whichard and Mrs. Charles Kavanaugh, assistant chairman. Mrs. Taft also called on Mrs. Dave Middleton and Mrs. Jack Moye, co-chairmen of the upcoming bazaar Nov. 4 who invited all women of the church to participate in workshops on Wednesday, Sept. 17, and Friday, Sept. 19, at 10 a. m. and on Monday, Sept. 22, at 9:30 a. m. for Christmas decorations. Each workshop will be held in the Fellowship Hall.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss... but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped. But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any weak hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair... now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation.

Young Bus Drivers Proved Selves

For at least one more year North Carolina is going to be able to use boys and girls under 18 years of age as school bus drivers.

Approval by the federal Secretary of Labor to use drivers under 18 for one more year is a tribute to the safe driving record of literally thousands of youngsters who over a period of years have driven North Carolina's school buses. This year more than 5,600 of the 9,200 school bus drivers in the state are 16-and-17-year-olds. Like those responsible young citizens of similar age who previously have driven school buses, these youngsters can be expected to provide the state with another year of remarkable safety achievement for its school bus operations.

The Department of Labor may find valid reasons next year or the year after to decline to give North Carolina an exemption so it can continue to use youngsters as school bus drivers. But when the department declines to grant the exemption, we'd wager it will be on some grounds other than the safety record that has been achieved by these responsible young drivers.

Rare March By N. C. Unionists

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH—Seldom if ever had downtown Raleigh seen anything like last week's mass demonstration and march by trades union members.

It was the largest and best organized in the memory of longtime Raleighites and carried possibly significant political overtones.

WILLIAM A. SHIRES

crowds lined the sidewalks. Unionists passed out nearly mimeographed sheets, asking questions such as:

"Why shouldn't these millions of dollars being spent on these plants stay in North Carolina instead of going to Texas?"

A committee of union leaders then went to the CP&L headquarters to submit a list of requests. A union official charged that the top echelon of CP&L officers had refused to meet with the committee.

POLITICAL—Eight or 10 abreast they marched, block after block, carrying signs with political connotations and chanting and shouting the same

The chant at the Insurance Building was "we want jobs." The speakers said pointedly that "we want corporate interests and the politicians of this state know we are unfied

Beyond the Insurance Building all the way to the Capitol and around it, the chant was "where's Bob Scott?"

Gov. Bob Scott was not in his office, having a previous commitment to attend a meeting of the executive board of the University of North Carolina trustees. Several top state administration aides, however, agreed to meet with the union representatives.

SIGNS—Certainly the massive demonstration indicated the growing strength and political awareness of the labor movement in North Carolina.

The number of marchers were impressive. They were zealous and determined, but entirely orderly. Raleigh city police and Capitol police reported no incidents. At the same time, the route of march and the Capitol itself were well policed.

Signs with political overtones carried by dozens of marchers included these:

"Vote No on sales taxes Nov. 4" a reference to voting in local county-by-county referendums this Fall on whether to levy an additional one per cent local option sales tax for local governments. Each county will vote on the question.

The bitterness which brought so many men, women, and children to Raleigh to protest, however, was best summarized up in the signs which read: "Pay your light bills to Brown and Root in Houston."

And, "TVA instead of CP&L."

Giant Oil Tanker Has Proven It Can Be Done

With the impending success of the SS Manhattan, one of the long held dreams of the New World has been accomplished.

The 1005 foot ship broke through the ice of the Arctic Circle and into open seas. Thus it accomplished what John Cabot set out to do in 1498.

Humble Oil Co. financed the trip in order to provide a shorter route to the Alaskan oil fields and thus cut thousands of miles off the trip. If other voyages prove practical the savings for shipping oil from Alaska could be big.

It will be some time before all the data of the trip is analyzed and it is determined whether it is desirable to build ships for making the trip on a regular basis.

For now, however, it is safe to say that another frontier has been conquered. No doubt there will be many problems to solve before the passage can be used effectively, but the crew of the Manhattan has shown that it can be done.

Out To Derail Demo Leader

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The remnants of the Kennedy political apparatus are determined to oppose any national political ambitions of Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma, Democratic National Chairman, as a result of bizarre maneuverings last month over the party debt.

The Kennedy men feel Harris attempted, unsuccessfully, to renege on a promise to pick up the Presidential campaign debt of the late Robert F. Kennedy after Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's politically catastrophic accident, were inexcusable and irredeemable.

The story begins in January when Robert Short, then Democratic national treasurer, proposed to a meeting of the National Committee that it assume the Kennedy campaign debt (as well as Hubert Humphrey's pre-convention debt).

In return, the National Committee would get the services of the party's greatest attraction and fund-raiser—Ted Kennedy in erasing the stupendous post-convention Humphrey debt.

Kennedy emissaries readily agreed to the deal, and it was to be formally approved at the next meeting of the executive committee of the National Committee. But that meeting came on Aug. 1, two weeks after Kennedy's accident. In the minds of hard-headed politicians, Ted Kennedy simply disappeared.

Without notifying Sen. Kennedy's office, Harris removed the proposed assumption of the Bobby Kennedy debt from the agenda.

Kennedy partisans on the executive committee were apoplectic. They were unsatisfied by Harris's explanation that the National Committee had not pinned down arrangements with Stephen Smith Kennedy brother-in-law and fund raiser, during nearly seven months since the January meeting of the National civil rights leader and National Committeeman from Mississippi, vowed he would stage a sit-in at national party headquarters unless Harris changed his mind.

Alerted by their friends on the executive committee, Kennedy lieutenants frantically sought Harris on Aug. 1. Their telephone calls went unanswered. Instead acting treasurer Pat O'Connor suggested to them that in view of the family's latest tragedy the family might want to bypass questions of political finance. The Kennedy men replied heatedly this was not the case.

At the luncheon break, three pro-Kennedy members of the executive committee—Evers, Stephen Reinhardt of California, and Mildred Jeffrey of Michigan—were ready to inform Harris they would raise the question of the Kennedy debt during the afternoon session even if he would not. But at that point, O'Connor averted the confrontation by announcing that details with Steve Smith had been worked out after all.

As a result, the executive committee unanimously voted to add the nearly one million dollar Kennedy debt and the over one million pre-convention Humphrey debt to nearly $6 million owed by the Humphrey general election campaign.

But bitter memories linger. Kennedy men could forgive Harris for supporting Humphrey instead of Bobby Kennedy for President but not for what they consider a low blow at a time of deep trouble for the Kennedys. He is on their black list.

Devious Daley Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago showed last weekend in his handling of the reform Democrats' picnic at the Libertyville, Ill., farm of the late Adlai Stevenson that he remains a master of the devious.

With a full complement of national and state anti-Daley Democrats (headed by Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota) scheduled to attend, Illinois organization Democrats sought guidance from the mayor. Daley advised the Daley stalwarts such as state house Democratic leader John Touhy and city treasurer

Better Than Coins

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — What do you collect? Stamps? Coins? Old silver? Memories?

Memories are the best of all things to collect. They have several advantages over other possessions that people prize and save.

HAL BOYLE

They never decrease in interest, they can be shared with other people without diminishing their value, and you don't have to put them away in a costly safe-deposit box, as you do diamonds, to protect them from thieves.

Many folks might envy your precious store of memories; none would be so heartless as to wish to steal them from you.

And your album of memories is pretty extensive if you can look back and remember when

You could write your congressman a penny post card telling him why you didn't think he was worth 2 cents.

About the only people who wore wigs were Shakespearean actors.

You saw more white horses on the street than you did men with beards.

Before the advent of television, critics complained that the quality of programs on the radio had brought American cultural history to a new low.

The most common household tools for bridging the generation gap were the hairbrush and the old-fashioned razor strap, applied locally as required. You could kiss a pretty girl at a church social for a dollar or less—and not feel short-changed.

One of the big thrills of boyhood was getting a job clerking in a grocery store on Saturdays and learning how to perch a pencil on your ear as if you had done it all your life.

Money always kept enough money in the cookie jar to tide the family over any financial crisis the last two days before payday.

A barbershop quartet could harmonize the strains of "Old Black Joe" without worrying over the possibility they'd incite a race riot.

It was taken for granted that any lad with gumption would be seized with wanderlust and try to run away from home before his 16th birthday.

The slips that girls wore beneath their dresses were, at least three times as long as the miniskirts they wear today.

In a large family mother would review at the supper table the sins during the day of each of the kids, and father, after staring sternly in turn at each squirming culprit, would finally lay down his knife and say, "For Pete's sake, can't all this wait until a man finishes eating?"

Film star Marion Davies started to build a $7,500 beach home at Santa Monica in the 1920s, and finally wound up with a $7-million showplace staffed by 32 servants.

You could take an evening stroll in almost any section of a city without fear of being mugged.

South Is Kicked Around

Reconstruction came to an end in the South, or so the history books tell us, during the reign of Rutherford Hayes some ninety years ago. But there are times, honest to Pete, when Southerners wonder if the South ever is to regain an equal standing in the Union.

There is something about the South, apparently, that draws an unrelenting anathema from the North. Old abolitionists never die; they write on for The New York Times. It has only to be said, or hinted, that a particular program or appointment may be pleasing to the South—the conservative South, that is—for the program or appointment to be damned out of hand. As a Southerner, I protest.

We are witnessing the syndrome just now in the nomination of Clement F. Haynsworth to the Supreme Court. It is entirely proper, of course, that the Senate Judiciary Committee inquire into his qualifications. No one is suggesting that the Senate's duty to advise and consent should be treated in perfunctory fashion. But the noxious clouds of complaint against this appointment have little to do with qualifications. The objection, at bottom, is that Haynsworth is a Southerner—a moderately conservative Southerner. That is enough. Lynch him!

Thus, an entirely phony challenge is raised that Haynsworth acted unethically by not desqualifying himself eight years ago when the great Deering Milliken case first came to his Circuit Court. The charge is baseless. The Fourth Circuit's major opinion in the Deering Milliken litigation came in November of 1963.

Haynsworth did not write the opinion—Judge Albert Bryan wrote it, and Judge Herbert Boreman concurred. Two other judges dissented. Haynsworth's position on the law and the evidence was in no way irrational; it was a position shared not only by Bryan and Boreman, but also by two members of the National Labor Relations Board and by the Board's own trial examiner.

Haynsworth's critics know that their charge of a particular conflict of interests is flimsy. Thus they were seeking, last week, to puff it up to a more general charge that Haynsworth is "Mr. Textile Interests." These are the same critics, by and large, who smiled benevolently in other days upon the nomination of Arthur Goldberg and Thurgood Marshall. There are times, in Washington's political

Other Editors Say U.S. Subsidies Fail

(Henderson Dispatch)

Speaking at a seminar on Latin America in Mexico City, said the Alliance for Progress fostered and subsidized by the United States in Central and South America is a failure. This country has pumped $8 billion into that area in recent years, and the net results are that 140 million more people are under military dictatorship than before. Democracy has been kicked out the window as dictators seized control of governments and have lived off the fat of the land, including U.S. aid.

The overall picture is not too different in other parts of the world where American altruism has led down a blind alley to a dead end after more than $100 billion dollars has been squandered around the globe in an effort to make the world safe for democracy. Seldom ever has free government been in greater jeopardy in more places than it is today.

In the light of these fallacious experiments this government still has not learned the lesson. Hundreds of millions of dollars are still being appropriated annually by Congress and subsequently poured down ratholes, with more enemies than this country has ever attracted before.

The Alliance for Progress was spawned in the theory that lasting friends could be made in Latin America by dishing out cold cash or its equivalent in military or civilian aid. After all that has been done, we are left holding the bag, with scarcely a fast friend anywhere in the world that would follow through in good times or crises. Instead of making friends in Central and South America, the opposite is true. "Yankee, go home" is frequently heard from disillusioned masses who were supposed to be helped from American generosity which was siphoned off in large measure by unscrupulous leaders.

The lesson that should be learned is that of halting efforts to buy friends, who, once they have received their gratuities, turn sour and become enemies instead. Of course, the Alliance for Progress is a failure. It offered relatively little to begin with, and did any one beyond the ranks of politicians think otherwise?

Doctrine And Life

The word "doctrine" means truth. Some folks who believe themselves to be hard-headed realists scoff at the whole idea of doctrine and insist that religion is purely a matter of ethics. "What kind of life do you live? Give attention to these things and the theories about life and religion can be brushed aside."

But can they? Every policy we pursue must have behind it a reason. If we give ourselves to the living of a good and useful life there must be a reason why we do this, and that reason is a philosophy, theology, or just the plain dictates of common sense.

It is amazing how many people are willing to admit the necessity of theory in the necessity of theory in scientific procedure, government, business policy—but not in the field of religion. "Be practical," they say. "Keep your life free of evil, your emotions free of hate and selfishness—and that is enough for any sensible person. The living of a good and useful life is the only thing worth while. Let up on the theories about life—about heaven and earth, man and God. Be practical."

But this strange kind of reasoning, if indeed it can be called reasoning at all. Every act in life must have behind it a purpose, else we are just throwing our weight about. In every aspect of life we should be able to give an account of how we live and think as we do. And this is theory—necessary theory.

By Earl L. Douglass

er oil. Someone has to pump oil out of the ground, get it to the refinery, make it into gasoline and other products and distribute it. Then, and only then, can you fill your tank.

Right.

And for this, the advertisement goes on, someone has to put up the money and it implies, they won't do it unless they are induced to do it with a depletion allowance that permits them to escape a lot of income taxes.

Right.

The argument is sound. If oil companies did not get the 27½ per cent allowance, they would have to increase their prices, it says by implication, or prices would have to be raised to keep oil exploration and development profitable.

Right.

Applying The Same Theory

It is certain that if the oil industry was denied this tax concession, it would have to increase prices to maintain present profit levels, which aren't bad.

And since that is true, if other industries were granted similar tax concessions, they could lower their prices.

because the cost of food is so high and rising, it might be argued that supermarkets and groceries should be given a depletion allowance, or some other comparable tax concession. If they did not have to pay federal taxes on their profits, they could lower the price of food and still make

'Established' FCC Policies To Stay, Says Hyde

By STAN BENJAMIN
WASHINGTON (AP) — Rosel H. Hyde, who guided the Federal Communications Commission through some of its most turbulent years, says he doesn't expect his successor to reverse established FCC policies.

Hyde added in an interview, "that some of these things that have had a lot of publicity haven't really become agency policy yet."

After 41 years in federal regulation of broadcasting, including 23 as a member of the FCC, the last three as chairman, the 69-year-old Hyde is being replaced. During his years as chairman, the FCC has been up to its ears in difficult and controversial policy-making, much of it still unresolved.

It has proposed—but not yet made final—rules designed to make cable-distributed television a programming competitor of free broadcasting.

It has also proposed, still tentatively:

—Limiting the ownership of broadcasting stations to no more than one station per market area.

—Making TV stations take at least half their "prime time" programming from sources other than the major networks. And it has opened a Pandora's box of new issues with inquiries into, among other things, the ownership of broadcast stations by business conglomerates. During Hyde's tenure, the FCC spelled out rules requiring broadcasters to give equal time to persons subjected to personal attack over the air, and it also required balancing cigarette commercials with antismoking announcements.

Just this summer it issued final rules bringing pay-television to the brink of reality, awaiting only clearance from the courts and Congress.

The commission also has ordered broadcasters to practice equal opportunity in employment; permitted the use of privately-owned equipment to transmit over "common carrier" communication lines; and ordered a cut in interstate telephone rates.

Almost routinely, the commission must issue thousands of licenses and regulate the rates and activities of some of the world's biggest businesses, including such giants as AT&T, ITT and the networks.

President Nixon's choice to replace Hyde at this turbulent point in the life of the FCC reportedly is Dean Burch, a Tucson, Ariz., lawyer chosen as chairman of the Republican National Committee in 1964 by GOP presidential candidate Barry M. Goldwater.

Hyde, himself a Republican, hesitated to discuss the expected appointment but said in answer to questions that any close identification with partisan politics—conservative Republicanism, in Burch's case—could prove a handicap to an FCC chairman.

Despite the powerful interests it must face, Hyde feels the FCC has managed to remain effective and independent.

"I've been through some pretty searching (congressional) questioning . . . But if you've observed our actions, I think you'll find we proceeded as our judgment indicated we should."

Born April 12, 1900, in Downey, Idaho, Hyde was the second of 7 children of a family of Mormon homesteaders.

He studied law by night at George Washington University, while working as a clerk-typist for the Civil Service Commission.

In 1928, Hyde became disbarred for the FCC's predecessor the Federal Radio Commission, later joining its legal office.

In 1934, the FCC was created and Hyde stayed with it.

In 1946 he was appointed a member of the FCC and reappointed in 1952, and 1959. In 1966, President Lyndon B. Johnson appointed him chairman to fill the remaining 3 years of a vacated 7-year term.

The appointment expired last June 30, but Hyde agreed to stay on the job until Nixon named a successor.

Kilpatrick . . .

cal rainy season, when we wallow in tides of hypocrisy; and one of those times is upon us now.

It is not only the Haynsworth nomination that suffers the "Southern stigma." Harry Dent is a skilled and dedicated executive, worth his weight in gold at the White House; but he comes from South Carolina—he formerly was with Strom Thurmond—and his appointment as a presidential assistant brought slurs that were simply anti-Southern. No matter what the administration does about school desegregation in the South—no matter what it proposes on voting rights—a hostile reaction arises.

Even Spiro Agnew succumbs. The Vice President appeared on Meet the Press the other day, and was asked about the "Southern strategy" that has been urged on his party. He began his response by denying that he was in any sense a traditional Southerner. Then he got even more defensive: "How could someone seeking to court the forces of reaction propose a welfare program of the magnitude and scope the President has just proposed?"

Aargh! The South, with the largest racial problems, has demonstrated the greatest racial peace. It has suffered less than its neighbors from strikes, riots, and campus disorders. The South continues to raise daughters who are ladies and sons who are gentlemen. It is characterized not by "forces of reaction," but by innovation and by solid progress. The old Confederacy is part of the Union now; it is a great place; I love it; and it would be pleasant indeed if the damned Yankees who dwell in Washington would stop kicking my South around.

Local Student Accepted For N.C. School Of Arts

Miss Arlene Saners, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Frank Barrett of Greenville, is one of the approximately 100 new students accepted this year for the North Carolina School of the Arts in Winston-Salem.

Now beginning its fifth year, the N. C. School of Arts was established to give professional training to exceptionally talented students in the arts.

Students, who will be majoring in dance, drama, music, design and production, and creative writing, are accepted on the basis of auditions held before juries of professional faculty artists, and in part by special interviews and examination of portfolios in design and writing.

Unlike most institutions of learning, the N. C. School of Arts draws its student body from a wide range of age levels—of the enrollment, 7 students are junior high students, 194 are high school levels, and 275 college level.

Although a majority of students are North Carolinians, the student body is represented by 35 states and has students from Bolivia, Taiwan and Guatemala.

Consequently, the Daley men were as surprised as the reformers when the mayor turned up at Libertyville accompanied by his close lieutenant Rep. Dan Rostenkowski. That put Daley in the posture of being broad-minded and progressive, while lesser figures in the organization were not. As a top reformer glowingly told us: "Daley's presence ended the battle of Chicago"—that is, the 1968 Democratic convention.

A footnote: Daley is backing his most wispish reform critic, State Treasurer Adlai Stevenson III, for Everett Dirksen's Senate seat for two practical reasons: to get Stevenson out of Springfield and to blunt Stevenson's plans for a reform assault on Daley's township committeemen in next spring's Democratic primary.

Time is running out and the Minnesota Twins are running away from the Oakland Athletics.

The Twins reduced their magic number for clinching the American League's West Division pennant to eight Monday night, knocking off the A's 6-3 on Dave Boswell's six-hitter.

Harmon Killebrew walloped his 43rd homer of the season and raised his runs batted in total to 131 as the Twins opened a nine game lead with just 16 games left to play.

Elsewhere in the American League Monday night, Detroit shut out New York 2-0. Cleveland clipped Boston 4-1, California blanked Chicago 4-0, Seattle trimmed Kansas City 3-2 and Washington edged Baltimore 3-2.

In the National League, Montreal blasted Chicago 8-2, San Francisco dropped Atlanta 4-1, Philadelphia swept a doubleheader from Pittsburgh 2-1 and 4-3, New York edged St. Louis 4-3, Cincinnati checked Los Angeles 4-1 and San Diego downed Houston 5-3.

Killebrew's homer capped a three-run Twin rally in the third inning and attracted a standing ovation from the crowd of 26,497 at Metropolitan stadium.

Rod Carew opened the third with an infield single and reached third when pitcher Rolie Fingers threw wild. Then Oliva doubled him home and Killebrew followed with his homer.

Killebrew opened the sixth with a single and came around on Cesar Tovar's double and a sacrifice fly by Leo Cardenas. The Twins added two more runs in the eighth on RBI singles by Tovar and Boswell.

Rick Monday, in his second at bat since breaking his hand Aug. 10, ripped a two-run homer in the second, giving Oakland the early lead. Denny McLain became the winningest pitcher in the majors when he won his 3rd game, pitching a two-hitter against the Yankees.

Norm Cash tripled home the only run McLain needed in the third inning and then came across on a passed ball for an insurance tally. The shutout was the ninth this season for McLain, who won 31 games last year.

Duke Sims tagged a two-run homer as Boston rallied for four runs in the ninth inning to overtake Boston.

Lee Stange was working on a three-hitter and leading 1-0 on Mike Andrews' first inning homer. But Jose Cardenal opened the Indians' ninth with a single, stole second and scored the tying run on Frank Baker's single. Sims followed with his homer and Cleveland added another run later in the inning.

Bill Voss drove in three runs with a bases-loaded triple—one of only three Chicago hits—as California trimmed Chicago.

Jim McGlothlin and Ken Tatum teamed for the five-hit shutout.

Gene Brabender won his 13th game—most ever for an expansion team pitcher—as Seattle edged Kansas City. Brabender limited the Royals to three hits in seven innings with Diego Segui finishing up.

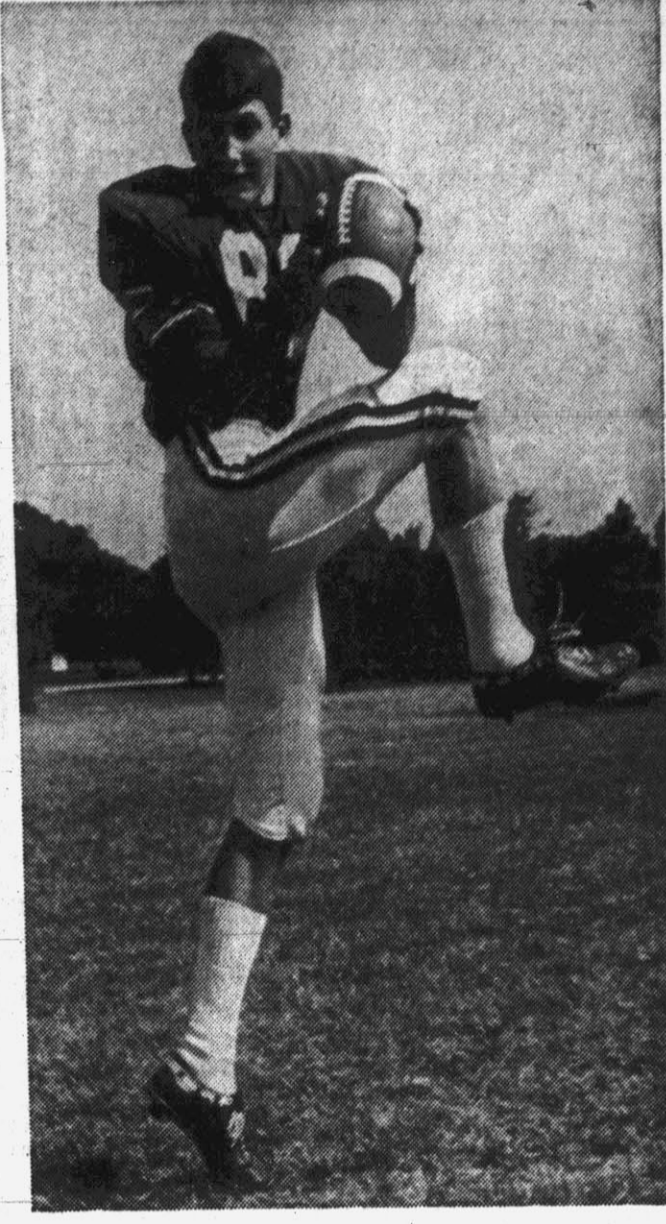

Brabender also scored the eventual winning run for the Pilots when he singled in the eighth, was sacrificed to second and scored on Wayne Comer's hit.

Mike Epstein's two-out, two-run triple tied the game for Washington in the eighth inning and the Senators pushed across a run on Bernie Allen's double and Ed Brinkman's single to beat Baltimore in the ninth. The loss ended an 11-game winning streak for Baltimore's Jim Palmer.

Meet The Pirates

Tim Leith, left, and Bill Whiteford are two members of this year's Rose High School football team. Leith, a 6-5, 220-pound junior, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Leith. He is a starter at the tackle position on offense and defense. Whiteford, a 5-10, 150-pound junior, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Charles Whiteford. He is a reserve offensive end and defensive halfback. The Rampants travel to Wilson Friday night. (Reflector Photos)

Furman Hunting For A Quarterback

Furman coach Bob King has been once possessed. Gill, a fine quarterback worries of two different varieties as he tries to get his Paladins ready for their Saturday night football opener at Presbyterian College.

Worry No. 1 is finding a quarterback who can make the Paladins go on attack. Worry No. 2 is the knowledge that Presbyterian's Blue Hose have a quarterback, Allen McNeill, who is "Mr. Go" in person.

Furman's quest for a quarterback became necessary upon the graduation of Clyde Hewell, who in three varsity seasons passed for 3,993 yards and 21 touchdowns. King says simply, "It's hard to replace a man like that."

Letterman Cleve Hightower, who received limited experience last year as backup man for Hewell, presently is the front-runner for the quarterbacking assignment but is being pushed by sophomore Doug Gill.

Hightower, however, injured a knee as a freshman and still is trying to regain the fancy moves he once possessed. Gill, a fine dropback passer, is improving as a runner and eventually could take the No. 1 job.

As for McNeill, King describes the Presbyterian quarterback as nothing less than "a great passer" but says hopefully that "maybe he doesn't have as good receivers as he had last year."

Last week in a 41-21 opening-day loss to the Quantico Marines McNeill hit 20 passes for 239 yards and two touchdowns for the Blue Hose. Just for variety, he also ran for a TD.

Presbyterian, incidentally, was the only team Furman whipped last year, when the Paladins posted a 1-9 record.

King lauded his team for its "fine attitude" after practice Monday. "This impressed and encourages me," he said. "If we get the right outlook, it helps a lot."

Elsewhere in the Southern Conference Monday, work was light as the teams concentrated on rectifying mistakes made in weekend scrimmages.

Middle guard John Bilbo, out a week with a knee injury, returned to practice at William and Mary and was pronounced fit for at least limited duty at Cincinnati Saturday. His return enabled coach Lou Holtz to move Andy Giles back to defensive tackle.

Defensive end Mike North, out for several days because of a shoulder injury, returned to VMI drills as the Keydets pointed for their opener at Rice. Tight end Kevin Daigh stood out in the practice session.

Richmond also had a welcome returnee—first-string center Dave Criswell, who was sidelined two days after having a wisdom tooth extracted. The Spiders worked mostly on their defense.

The citadel made several personnel swaps, putting Tom Sanchez into a starting spot in the backfield, replacing him at split end with former defensive halfback Billy Watson, and assigning Champ Reilly to flanker.

Carlton Sets Strikeout Record; But Swoboda Homers Win For Mets

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Steve Carlton felt lousy. He was running a slight temperature, his back hurt and he arrived at the St. Louis ball park only about an hour before Monday night's game with the New York Mets.

The big left-hander had his sore back rubbed down, took a couple of pain killers—and went out and struck out 19 batters, the most strikeouts recorded by a pitcher in modern major league history.

Only there was on little problem. "The Amazing Mets Super Swat got me," said Carlton, referring to Ron Swoboda, whose two homers produced all of New York's runs in a 4-3 victory that spoiled Carlton's masterpiece.

Swoboda, fanned twice by Carlton, boosted the Mets from behind with each of his shots—and both came when Carlton had two strikes on him.

The triumph increased to 4½ games the Mets' National League East lead over Chicago, which lost 8-2 at Montreal, and reduced to 11 New York's magic number for clinching the divisional title.

Meanwhile, Willie Mays hit the 599th homer of his career in leading San Francisco past West Division leader Atlanta 4-1, drawing that torrid race even tighter.

The Pirates had six players out in light equipment, most of the injuries resulting from Saturday's game scrimmage at Ficklen Stadium.

The Pirates spent much of the day looking at East Tennessee's offensive and defensive sets and then closed out the session with a punt and punt coverage drill.

Because of outstanding play in Saturday's scrimmage, two players were promoted to the first unit on offense. Ronald Peed, a 205-pound sophomore from Hurdle Mills who began the practice as a third string linebacker, was vaulted into the starting left tackle role.

Tom Pulley, a 190-pound junior from Durham was promoted to the first unit at tight end.

Billy Wallace, who was hospitalized briefly after Saturday's scrimmage, was back on the field Monday running mostly at tailback behind senior starter Billy Wightman. Wallace is a 200-pound sophomore from Edenton.

The Pirates are scheduled to do more work today against East Tennessee's offenses and defenses.

losing effort to Philadelphia two years ago, said he wasn't aware of how many strikeouts he had until it was flashed in the scoreboard after he tied his old team record of 16 in the eighth inning.

"In the last inning, I went out there going for it (the record). I went out there to strike out three men.

"I was so nervous I would rather have had the guy get a hit that fouled out or ground out just so I could get the record."

The 24-year-old lefty received a standing ovation when he completed his string by setting down the Mets in order in the final inning.

Bob Feller of the Cleveland Indians set the old record of 18 strikeouts on Oct. 2, 1938 and Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers matched it twice, while Don Wilson had 18 for Houston last year.

Carlton fanned the side in the first, second fourth and ninth innings and retired 12 of the first 15 Mets on whiffs.

Swoboda staked the Mets to a brief 2-1 lead in the fourth when he homered on an 0-2 count with Donn Clendenon aboard.

Then Swoboda, who has hit six of his nine homers while the Mets have taken 27 of their last 34 games, produced the winner on a 2-2 count with Tommie Agre on in the eighth.

Carlton said Ron's first homer was on a fast ball "right in his wheelhouse," and on the second he "hung a slider."

"I felt so good until that (second homer)," said Carlton. "I threw four fast balls and really had him setup for the slider. I figured he'd be as tense as I was, thinking about me hanging it."

"You can't call it a mistake because it could have been a foul ball or a double play ball," said Swoboda about the pitch that set up his clincher. "He threw worst pitches that I didn't hit."

But Swoboda added, "I don't want this to sound like a mutual admiration society, but I've never seen anyone pitch better."

Ron Fairly drove in four runs with a double and his 10th homer and John Bateman hit a two-run homer to back Mike Wege-ner's three-hitter as Montreal handed the Cubs their third straight loss and 11th in 12 games. It was the fourth straight victory for the expansion Expos, longest of the season.

Mays moved just one sweat away from the 600 homer career plateau and also contributed a double in supporting Mike McCormick's five-hitter.

After Willie's error—a rare thing for him—helped lead to Atlanta's first run in the opening inning, Mays lashed a run-scoring double and Willie McCovey an RBI single in the bottom of the inning to put the Giants on top for good.

Mays led off the sixth with his 12th homer of the season, and the two extra-base blows gave Mays a career total of 1,192—breaking a tie with Lou Gehrig and boosting the star center fielder into third place on the all-time list behind Stan Musial and Babe Ruth.

Tony Perez' two-run single and Alex Johnson's RBI double keyed a three-run third against the Dodgers.

Willie Crawford's 11th homer of the season, in the sixth, produced Los Angeles only run off Tony Cloninger, who had late relief help from Wayne Granger.

Monday's Stars
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

BATTING—Ron Swoboda, whose eighth and ninth homers of the year produced all of the New York Mets' runs in a 4-edging of the St. Louis Cardinals.

PITCHING—Steve Carlton, Cards, who set a modern major league strike-out record of 19 despite the loss to the Mets.

San Diego dealt Houston's pennant hopes a big blow with a starting line-up that averaged 22 years and included six rookies. Jose Arcia doubled home three of the Padre runs, and rookie Mike Corkins, 1-1, picked up his first major league victory.

Pittsburgh's Bob Veale had his personal eight-game winning streak snapped in losing the opener to the Phils. Veale checked the Phils on one hit—Deron Johnson's homer in the fourth—until the ninth, when John Callison's single, a walk and a sacrifice set the stage for rookie catcher Dave Watkins winning single.

Buc Prepare For East Tenn.

East Carolina's Pirates went through a light workout Monday as Coach Clarence Stasavich allowed some of his injured to recuperate.

The Pirates had six players out in light equipment, most of the injuries resulting from Saturday's game scrimmage at Ficklen Stadium.

The Pirates spent much of the day looking at East Tennessee's offensive and defensive sets and then closed out the session with a punt and punt coverage drill.

Because of outstanding play in Saturday's scrimmage, two players were promoted to the first unit on offense. Ronald Peed, a 205-pound sophomore from Hurdle Mills who began the practice as a third string linebacker, was vaulted into the starting left tackle role.

Tom Pulley, a 190-pound junior from Durham was promoted to the first unit at tight end.

Billy Wallace, who was hospitalized briefly after Saturday's scrimmage, was back on the field Monday running mostly at tailback behind senior starter Billy Wightman. Wallace is a 200-pound sophomore from Edenton.

The Pirates are scheduled to do more work today against East Tennessee's offenses and defenses.

"We don't expect too much different from last year," Stasavich said of East Tennessee. "They have the same starting units back with the exception of three men, a fullback, a defensive tackle and a safety."

Best one-night attendance at Yonkers, N.Y., Raceway this year was 30,813 on June 21.

EXPLANATION - The Dunkel system provides a continuous index to the relative strength of all teams. It reflects average scoring margin combined with average opposition rating, weighted in favor of recent performance. # Smoking Attitudes See Significant Change

By MARTHA COLE, Associated Press Writer
 WASHINGTON (AP) — The Public Health Service estimates that about two million Americans may give up smoking this year. It estimated that one million kicked the habit, in 1966. But there have been substantial changes in smoking habits since then, Dr. Daniel Horn, director of the National Clearing House of Smoking and Health, said in an interview.

Dr. Horn estimates that in the three years since 1966 probably between four and five million people have given up cigarette smoking.

This month the service will release, to researchers and analysts, surveys made in 1964 and 1966 of public attitudes and behavior on the smoking problem following the report of the Surgeon General in January, 1964, on the hazards of smoking.

The surveys show, among other things: —The number of smokers who believe smoking is harmful to health is increasing.

—The number of smokers who apparently believe it is wrong to smoke even in moderation is increasing.

—More smokers believe it is morally wrong to smoke.

—More nonsmokers are speaking up about their rights to unsmoky air.

The number of current smokers who acknowledge the hazard increased from 68.6 per cent in 1964 to 71.3 per cent in 1966 for males; from 70.6 to 73.2 for women smokers.

In answer to the statement, "There is nothing wrong with smoking as long as a person smokes moderately," 5.6 per cent of male smokers disagreed in 1964; 47.3 per cent in 1966. For women the percentages were 22.7 and 45.8.

In 1964, 16.4 per cent of the male smokers and 13.2 per cent of the women believed it was morally wrong to smoke cigarettes; in 1966, 45 per cent of the men and 47.4 of the women said it was.

Dr. Horn said he believed the moral issue pertains to taking care of the body.

"It's an old religious concept that it's wrong to abuse your body," he said.

The surveys also show that people who never smoked are more likely to complain about smokers near them.

In answer to the question, "Is it annoying to be near a person who smokes cigarettes?" 62.9 per cent of the male nonsmokers agreed in 1964 and 66.3 per cent in 1966.

N.C. Challenges Federal Claim On Offshore Land

RALEIGH (AP)— The state of North Carolina has challenged the federal government's claim to ownership of the submerged land off the Tar Heel coast beyond the three mile limit.

In a brief filed Monday with the U. S. Supreme Court, the office of atty. gen. Robert Morgan denied the claims made by the federal government in a suit filed in April against 13 Atlantic seaboard states.

The federal government claims property and mineral rights to the ocean floor past the three-mile limit. The suit is the 35th in history to be filed under the original jurisdiction of the U. S. Supreme Court.

In its answer to the suit, North Carolina countered the federal claim with a claim that the state owns all title out to its "historic boundary"—that is, whatever the court determines the eastern boundary to be.

have been when the state joined in forming the union in 1789.

The brief noted that early state constitutions did not specify the seaward boundary but stated that it would remain the same as it had been under previous documents.

The state claims that its title to the submerged lands has passed down to it from the charter of James I of England to the Virginia Company in 1606. The charter granted to the company the mainland and "the islands thereunto adjacent, or within one hundred miles of the coast thereof" and also all "lands, woods, soil, grounds, havens, ports, rivers, mines, minerals, marshes, waters, fishings commodities, and hereditaments whatsoever."

Other defendants in the suit are Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida.

Soldier Charged With Possessing Liquid LSD

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP)— A Ft. Bragg soldier was charged Monday with possession and transportation of liquid LSD.

SBI Agent Cuyler Windham, who heads a special narcotics bureau formed of law officers from several county, state and federal agencies, identified the defendant as Terry Shirley, 22, of the 7th Special Forces Group.

He said officers seized the LSD Sept. 6 but Shirley was not charged until the liquid had been analyzed by the SBI laboratory in Raleigh.

Windham said this was believed to be the first time liquid LSD has been confiscated in North Carolina. He said it usually sells for about $10 a drop and is taken orally by placing a drop on an aspirin tablet and swallowing it.

Salem was the original name for Jerusalem.

Morgan's Office Is Intervening

RALEIGH (AP)— The "insurance consuming public in North Carolina" was to be represented by the state attorney general's office as hearings began today before the state insurance commission on a proposed automobile liability insurance rate hike.

At Gen. Robert Morgan filed a notice of intervention Monday with insurance commissioner Edwin S. Lanier announcing his intention to intervene on the public's behalf.

It marks the first time the attorney general's office has used the power granted it by the 1969 General Assembly to speak for the public before state and federal regulatory agencies.

Jean A. Benoy, deputy attorney general in charge of the consumer protection division, was to represent the department's position that a "rate increase for private passenger liability insurance is not necessary or justified at this time."

The N. C. Automobile Rate Administrative office has requested a 5.3 per cent increase in auto liability rates.
