

No Indications Of Soviet Space Plans Revealed

By MICHAEL JOHNSON

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's seven orbiting cosmonauts went ahead with their assigned program today, Tass announced, but there was no indication of plans for the linkup of spaceships that is expected. The Soviet news agency said that by 8:30 a.m. "all the cosmonauts had morning exercises, made a medical checkup of each other, and then had breakfast."

The West German Space Institute at Bochum said the three craft edged closer together Monday night and conducted extensive experiments early today. The nature of the experiments was not disclosed. Soviet officials said earlier that the goal of the Soyuz series is to build manned orbiting platforms. The Soviet Union apparently is concentrating on building a space station because it has no booster rockets as powerful as Saturn 5, which the United States used to send its Apollo 11 astronauts to the moon. U.S. experts believe the Soviets plan to send rocket parts to platforms orbiting outside the earth's gravitational pull and assemble them there for flights deeper into space. U.S. experts had said they expected the Soviets to build a space platform some time this year or in 1970. The United States is concentrating on more moon flights and does not plan to have a space station until 1972. Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and President Nikolai V. Pégorny hailed the current Soyuz mission as "this outstanding achievement in the field of space navigation."

Looking Back, Erred In Signing Receipt: Turner

By JOHN B. LENGEL Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Looking back on it, the Army's former top policeman concedes he did wrong in signing a receipt saying some guns he received from Chicago authorities were for Army use. Retired Maj. Gen. Carl C. Turner, former provost general of the Army, gave the testimony Monday about weapons which he has said he took for his own use after signing the receipts. "Did you think as a general you did the right thing?" asked Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S.D. "You knew you signed something patently false, wasn't it wrong?" "This is hindsight," said Turner. "You're right." The senators still haven't questioned Turner about allegations he whitewashed an investigation into graft at noncommissioned officers clubs. During two weeks of testimony witnesses have told the senators about the skimming of thousands of dollars from the service club slot machines in Germany and kickbacks to club managers in Vietnam. Now it will be late in the month before the senators can probe that area. The hearing was recessed after Monday's session for two weeks because of other commitments by the senators. The questioning Monday switched back and forth from the senators to Turner and Chicago Police Supt. James B. Conlisk Jr. Turner denied or did not recall many critical accusations made against him. The retired general said Conlisk knew the weapons were for personal use. Separately, Turner said some of the weapons had been sold. Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., asked Conlisk, "Did Turner tell you these were not for the Army?" "He did not sir," Conlisk answered. Conlisk also denied he had told the general, as Turner had testified earlier, "Well, this is the way we clear our records," referring to signing the receipts. "His statement is incorrect," Conlisk said. Turner was asked if he wanted to change his testimony. Turner answered that Conlisk's testimony "is highly inaccurate." In another exchange, Conlisk said Turner had called him twice after Internal Revenue Service agents had looked into the gun receipts and "asked that I order the receipts of the transfer of the weapons to him destroyed. I informed Gen. Turner that this would not be done." Mundt asked Turner, "did you ask him specifically to destroy the receipts?" "I do not recall specifically asking to destroy receipts," Turner answered. "... You do not want to say the superintendent is wrong?" Mundt asked. "Nor could I confirm it," Turner said. "It would be in your interest to deny it," Mundt said. "Sir, I'm under oath," Turner said to laughter.

Land Needs For Recreation Is Again Reviewed

By JERRY RAYNOR Reflector Staff Writer

Land for recreation areas in Greenville was the prime issue of discussion by members of the Greenville Recreation Commission at their monthly meeting last night. Meeting with a full quorum, the committee first discussed a tract of property which has been offered by J. J. Perkins. This tract, located at the corner of West Third and Tyson and Colonial Avenue and Tyson Street — two lots on West Third and three lots on Colonial — totals 40,000 square feet, a little less than one acre. Perkins is asking $25,000 for the land. The commission, approved a motion asking the City Council to consider offering Perkins $12,500 for the land. Four of the lots are now vacant. One lot has an occupied dwelling house. Perkins has stated he does not desire to sell with the house on the land, but in event of sale, will remove the house. Commission members indicated this land is in an area in which a recreation facility is a pressing need. The appraisal showed that utilities are readily available for the land. Land owned by Amos Evans, adjacent to Hooker Road, was the second tract discussed by members of the commission. Members approved a motion asking a committee composed of Recreation Director Boyd Lee, City Manager Harry Hagerty and City Councilman Johnny Edwards to approach Evans to determine what amount of land, and which portion of the tract, he will consider selling to the Recreation Commission for the price of $12,500. The committee of three would then take their findings to the next meeting of the City Council in order to get their response. The Evans land is a tract of approximately 37 acres for which he is reportedly asking a total price of $110,000. In discussions on purchase of recreation land, the possibilities of open land grants at a future date and additional funds from the next fiscal year were discussed as part of an overall program to move ahead with a firm program to acquire needed additional recreational land in Greenville.

while some land is still available. A motion was approved to terminate consideration of a tract of land just east of Greenville's city limits, the Edwards property. This land, owned by Johnny Edwards and other members of the Edwards family, was among tracts which had been under consideration. Councilman Edwards stated "I feel that people might think I'm using my office as a City Councilman to further my own causes, and I want to avoid any thinking along this line." Edwards noted he has other offers for the land. Lee presented a report on the trial period for the Port-A-Pool which was used in Greenville this summer. Attendance reports were maintained at the two locations. A total of 3,337 children used this pool during its two week stay at St. Gabriels and South Greenville. For the one week period it was located at Elm Street 42 children used it. "This proves one thing," Lee remarked, "there is an urgent need for some type of swimming facility in Greenville." He pointed out several disadvantages of a Port-A-Pool — placement on grassy area resulted in excess trash getting into the pool; the large crowds made an attempt to teach swimming impossible; the absence of shower facilities created a health hazard. Lee recommended that the only way a Port-A-Pool could be effectively used was to have it located permanently on a paved area; to have an enclosure installed to provide control of the number of swimmers; and to have shower facilities built in the area of the pool. Dr. Herbert Hadley made a motion, approved by the commission, that the Area and Facilities Committee make a feasibility study of costs of constructing a full-scale swimming facility in Greenville. The committee will bring their recommendation back to the commission who in turn will present it to the City Council. It was further recommended that any plan include the idea of a pool for all-year use, rather than an open one usable only for the summer months. (Continued On Page 12)

Hippies Kicked Drugs And Other Trappings

CORONA DEL MAR, Calif. (AP) — Jim and Nia Lockway, once full-fledged hippies, say they have kicked the drugs and other trappings and made it back to the straight world. "We've found something better," Nia said, meaning religion. "The hippie," her husband declared, "is just as hypocritical as the people he criticizes. Materialism is as bad in the hippie movement as it is elsewhere. The hippie talks about love, but he doesn't mean it or practice it in the Biblical sense. It is mostly sex—in fact, sex worship." The Lockways, said Jim, were hippies "the full route." He had long hair and a beard. They used the hippie drugs, wore the hippie love beads, and dressed in hippie attire.

Last year they decided to drop out of the hippie world. Kicking drugs was toughest. Lockway, 25, says he used LSD and methedrine, which hippies call "speed." Nia, 20, says she smoked marijuana. Both quit. They cut their hair. Nia stopped wearing yellow-tinted glasses with gold rims. Lockway traded his jersey with barber-pole stripes for a white shirt and tie. He quit drawing advertisements for an underground newspaper and put his talents to work for an architect. And he started a window washing business on the side. Lockway told Hubbard Keavy of the Laguna Beach News-Post in an interview that he became a hippie after graduating from high school in 1962 "because there was so much lack of concern by others for young people."

Pitt NCEA To Meet In Ayden

The first regular meeting of the Pitt County Unit of the North Carolina Education Association will be held at Ayden High School Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. in the school auditorium. Mrs. May Harvey of the Winterville School, president of the organization, will preside over the business session. Other officers of the Pitt County Unit are Mrs. Eleanor Mills of Grimsland, first vice president; Bill Revels of the Pitt County Supervisory Staff, second vice president; and Mrs. Mary M. Thompson of Winterville, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Adelaide Dunn will present the program to the approximately 350 teachers who are expected to attend.

Walks, Carrying American Flag

JACKSONVILLE, N.C. (AP) — The wife of a Marine fighting in Vietnam set out on foot Monday to carry an American flag 150 miles to the capital in Raleigh and present it to Gov. Bob Scott on the day of the Vietnam moratorium. "There should be more Americans proclaiming support for the fighting man instead of joining organized anti-Vietnam protest demonstrations," said Mrs. Donna Long, 26. Mrs. Long said she planned to finish her march by asking Scott for an official declaration of support for American soldiers in Vietnam, and will be subleased to Steinberg. Mattox said that construction plans have already been opened for bids and that suitable bids have been received. He informed commissioners that construction would begin within 60 days and completion of the restaurant would come within four months after initial work begins. Dick Worsely, representing Reade Realty, said a contract for the construction of the remaining portion of the tract owned by the company had been let and that it would be paved and used for parking.

North Korea Infiltration Ship Sunk

SEOUL (AP) — The South Koreans reported sinking a North Korean infiltration ship with about 20 North Koreans aboard early today after a fierce battle off the southwest coast. All hands presumably went down with the ship, the South Koreans said. The Defense Ministry said its forces—a destroyer escort and several jet fighters—returned unharmed. The sinking occurred near the Juksan Islands, 260 miles southwest of Seoul. A spokesman said the ship, believed on a mission to land saboteurs on the coast, had a high-speed metal hull and a deceptive superstructure like that of a fishing boat. He said it was a 75-tonner, a class which usually carries 20 crewmen and is capable of doing 40 knots. Armament of the ship included an 82mm recoilless gun, two rocket launchers, two 14.5mm anti-aircraft guns and 15 machine guns. It was the third infiltration ship from the north reported seized or sunk by the South Koreans with a month off the south and west coasts. Another infiltration vessel escaped after sinking a police patrol boat. The Defense Ministry said the infiltration ship fired on the South Korean destroyer escort after being challenged, then fled north in the Yellow Sea. A nine-hour chase ensued.

Hanoi Endorses Demonstrations

HONG KONG (AP) — North Vietnam said today the impending demonstrations in the United States against the Vietnam War "clearly show the definite split existing in America over Nixon's obstinate continuation of the war." The Communist party newspaper Nhan Dan and Radio Hanoi said: "The struggle of the American people against the Nixon war extends so deep that it is supported even by senators and congressmen in Nixon's own party."

Retired General Answers Queries

By G. DAVID WALLACE Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The vowels come out as flat as the Oklahoma plains where he grew up. Like the good soldier the Army proclaimed him to be when he retired, his answers to the United States senators ring the bar above him are profusely littered with "Sir." But the Army has changed its mind about how good a soldier retired Maj. Gen. Carl C. Turner was. It took back the Distinguished Service Medal it presented him at retirement last fall. Now the senators are challenging Turner's truthfulness on how he obtained confiscated guns from civilian police. Although he signed receipts saying they were for Army use, he contends the civilian police knew he intended the guns for his own use. Yet to come are questions concerning charges by his top deputy that Turner covered up an investigation of graft in Army servicemen's clubs. So far, the lean and hard former military policeman has responded to all of the questions put to him. He has not tried to avoid answering by use of the Fifth Amendment protection against self-incrimination. The diminutive Turner, dressed in a single breasted blue suit with a red striped tie and red pocket handkerchief, sits without fidgeting at the witness table, his two attorneys at his side. And when the questioning gets rough, as the voices in the packed, floodlighted chamber rise, the 56-year-old former paratrooper hammers the table with the bottom edge of his extended hand. "That is my testimony," he asserted at one point in the hearings Monday. "And I say it before this committee. And may God be my judge. That is the truth." Turner's background indicates he is not a man to take such an oath lightly. He is an Episcopalian, a Mason, a Lion, a member of the national council of the Boy Scouts of America and president of the Pusan Children's Charity Hospital in Korea. He has taught Sunday school and been an usher and lay reader at the church near his Springfield, Va., home. Turner was born in Altus, Okla., and enlisted in the Oklahoma National Guard in 1930 at the age of 17. Five years later he joined the Army as a second lieutenant. While in the reserves he graduated from Southwestern State Teachers College in Weatherford, Okla. He spent three years of the war in Europe and earned the Bronze Star for gallantry in combat. It was about this time, according to Turner, that he became interested in guns as a collector. He has also seen service in Korea. The height of Turner's military career was when he was appointed Army provost marshal general in 1964. He retired in 1968 to become chief U.S. marshal, then resigned under pressure after the Senate probe was under way. Turner is married, the father of two children.

Kara Churns In Direction Of Carolinas

MIAMI (AP) — Sucking strength from the warm Atlantic, Tropical Storm Kara turned north today and churned toward the coast of the Carolinas. The National Hurricane center said Kara formed an eye after coming to a virtual halt some 350 miles east of Jacksonville, Fla. After the pause, forecasters said, Kara picked up strength and began a northward push at 5 to 10 miles an hour. Storm watchers said the storm's forward speed was expected to increase to 15 m.p.h. and turn to the northeast sometime tonight. "Conditions are becoming more favorable for intensification," forecaster Raymond Kraft said. "Kara is expected to be near hurricane force today." Top winds were estimated at 60 miles an hour. At 9 a.m., EDT, Kara was centered near Latitude 32 north, longitude 75.5 west or about 225 miles south of Cape Hatteras, N.C. Kraft said Kara was expected to move northward during the day, then shift to a northeast track that would take it about 100 miles east of Cape Hatteras tonight. He said small craft along the North and South Carolina's capes and outer banks should seek safe harbor.

Commission Approves Construction Plans

By TOM BAINES Reflector Staff Writer Final development plans submitted by attorney Fred Mattox, representing Jay Steinberg, concerning the proposed construction of a Beef Baron restaurant on Reade Street, were approved last night by the Greenville Redevelopment Commission. The plans call for a limited menu restaurant with 52 interior seats and a 30-space parking area to be constructed on a parcel of land located on Reade Street between Third and Fourth Streets. The land is owned by Reade Realty and will be subleased to Steinberg. Mattox said that construction plans have already been opened for bids and that suitable bids have been received. He informed commissioners that construction would begin within 60 days and completion of the restaurant would come within four months after initial work begins. Dick Worsely, representing Reade Realty, said a contract for the construction of the remaining portion of the tract owned by the company had been let and that it would be paved and used for parking.

The restaurant calls for roughly 22,500 square feet of the property and approval was delayed until Reade Realty submitted complete plans for the entire parcel of land, which comprises nearly half a city block. After paving of the parcel is completed, the parking area will be leased out on a yearly basis, Worsely said. Much of the lot had already been leased to persons interested in full time parking reservations but the delay in getting the lot paved will necessitate new leases, Worsely added.

CBD project manager John Messick reported on the Pilot Project underway in downtown Greenville. As of Oct. 1, a total of 19 buildings in the project area have been inspected, Messick said. A great deal of cooperation is being received from owners in the project and "things have started to move" on the overall venture, he added. Efforts have been concentrated in the block on Fifth Street running from the College Shop to the corner of Fifth and Cotanche Streets. The building now occupied by Merle Norman Cosmetics has been leased by George Coffman and a new front for the structure is already proposed, Messick noted. The cosmetic firm will continue to occupy their portion of the building. Messick said that the parking area behind the stores on that particular block was being studied for improvement. In addition, the question of whether to tear down certain structures and rebuild or renovate them was being reviewed. In some cases, costs for tearing down and rebuilding would be less than renovations, he said.

The project manager also reported on the project advisory committee meeting on Sept. 16 in which an explanation of the Pilot Project was given to committee members. The committee consists of 11 members appointed by the chairman of the Redevelopment Commission. These members, Messick said, also formed a committee to submit names to the chairman for future membership. In the absence of executive director, Col. A. E. Dubber, assistant director J. C. Lamm acted on the recent bid (Continued On Page 12)

Breast-Feeding Issue Debated In The Mail

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
 DEAR ABBY: I just read that letter from the woman who wanted you to recommend a doctor who would give her hormone shots so she could breastfeed her ADOPTED baby. What kind of nut is she anyway?

Who ever heard of a woman who has not been pregnant being able to nurse a baby? I know that some mothers who have enough milk to nurse more than one baby sometimes take on the dubious pleasure of breastfeeding babies other than their own, but a woman who thinks SHE can nurse an adopted baby has got to be nuttier than a fruitcake.

AMAZED IN PENSACOLA, FLA.

DEAR ABBY: I was one of those old fashioned mothers who cried for a week when I realized I couldn't breastfeed my baby. I heard about the La Leche league and asked my doctor about it. He said, "Mother's milk is overrated." Also that bottle babies were better off because the mother always knew exactly how much milk the baby got at every feeding, and she could be SURE the quality of the milk was consistent and GOOD. (Not all nursing mothers have GOOD milk, you know. And some don't have enough, and the poor child practically starves to death on the breast.)

I've had mothers tell me that the reason they nursed their babies was because it gave them a feeling of "total" motherhood. Some of those nursing mothers should examine their own motives.

"PRO-BOTTLE," STATE COLLEGE, PA.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell that woman who wanted to breastfeed her adopted baby that she CAN do it if she really wants to! And she doesn't need hormone shots either. All a woman needs is a BABY and the determination to nurse. Mother's milk is created by the sucking of the infant. It's as simple as that!

NURSED MY ADOPTED CHILD

DEAR ABBY: I am writing about the woman who wanted to breastfeed an adopted baby. I belong to the La Leche league and know of many cases where women have successfully nursed an adopted baby.

No hormone shots are needed. If the mother will just put the baby to her breast repeatedly the hungry baby will instinctively suck and thereby stimulate the milk flow.

My grandmother at 68 became so concerned over my daughter who had been in an auto accident, that SHE began to produce milk and had to have her milk pumped out. This shows how strong "motherly feelings" can cause women to produce milk whether they are pregnant or not.

Sincerely, MRS. R. D. S. CHULA VISTA, CAL.

DEAR ABBY: Shame on you! Where were all those "experts" you consult on technical matters?

An adopted child can most certainly be breastfed by the mother into whose arms he is placed!

It is a fact that in some Latin American countries the grandmother routinely nurses the baby. Also, virgin girls have been known to nurse babies, and there is a tribe in Africa where the old MEN actually nurse the babies!

MRS. K.: CHICAGO

DEAR MRS. K.: I DID consult four top ranking medical authorities who agreed unanimously that the woman who wanted hormone shots in order to breastfeed her adopted child should be advised to abandon the idea or she'd wind up with no milk and a mustache.

I also heard from hundreds of La Leche league members who could have not been more enthusiastic about the wonderful work of this fine organization. I must publicly confess my ignorance. I would not have believed that a woman who had never been pregnant could successfully nurse a baby, and I certainly would have bet against a MALE'S ability to do so. (See my column tomorrow for more letters on this subject.)

No Permission To Address UN

(AP) — Sirhan Bishara Sirhan's mother, Mrs. Mary Sirhan, was turned down Monday on a request for permission to address the General Assembly on Middle East peace.

Undersecretary-General C.A. Stavropoulos explained to her that under assembly rules no private individual can address it.

Mrs. Sirhan, whose son is under sentence of death for assassinating Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, made the trip from her home in Pasadena, Calif., by car.

Of the 10,126 aircraft landing facilities in the United States, 3,149 have lighted runways and 3,109 have paved runways.

WICS Coordinator Meets Local Group

WICS COORDINATOR . . . Mrs. Maude Peoples visited local volunteers Friday to help with problems concerning Girls' Job Corps recruiting, screening, and support service.

Mrs. Maude Peoples, regional coordinator of Women in Community Service, a "mother" organization to Girls' Job Corps, visited the local volunteer group Friday.

Mrs. Peoples, who is responsible for WICS activities in eight southeastern states, met the local women at a coffee at the home of Mrs. Jack Wilkerson Friday morning. WICS, an informal partnership of five national women's organizations, is contracted to recruit and screen young women for the Job Corps and to give support service before, during, and after their Job Corps training.

It is Mrs. Peoples' job to meet local workers, evaluate their programs, and answer their questions and offer suggestions. She, her assistant, and her secretary are the only paid workers in the entire region. Her office is in Atlanta, but she is on the road most of the time.

She said she started working with WICS as a volunteer in Miami, one of six pilot cities, in 1964. Her interest in the work of the group was an outcome of her work in Church Women United, one of five national women's agencies involved in WICS's work.

A widow, she has a daughter in Miami, Mrs. Robert Holbrook and two granddaughters, Charlene and Valerie.

Homecoming At Church Sunday

WINTERVILLE — The Bethany Free Will Baptist Church Rt. 1, Winterville, will observe its annual homecoming on Sunday.

The Rev. A. B. Chandler, pastor, will deliver the morning message. A picnic lunch will be served on the church grounds following morning services.

A song feast directed by Tommy Manning will follow in the afternoon. All friends and former members are invited to attend.

Lawrence Welk Fires Singer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "When I tried to take Mr. Welk some blueberry muffins I had baked for him, about eight armed guards came out to stop me."

And, continued Natalie Nevins, nothing else she tried would persuade Lawrence Welk to give her back her singing job. The bandleader said he fired her because she failed to show up for a band date in Spokane, Wash., and gave no proof of the illness she claimed.

"I told her that we had spent a long time building up our organization and every person in it was very important," Welk told newsmen Monday. "If she couldn't give us a little notice when she couldn't make a performance, then we'd have to let her go."

Miss Nevins had sung with the Welk organization on television and in personal appearances for five years.

Three Traffic Accidents Reported Here Yesterday

Police estimated damage in three traffic mishaps here yesterday to total $2,400, and they reported one person was injured in one of the mishaps. Heaviest damage resulted from a 12:25 p.m. incident on Hooker Road 130 feet South of the Dickinson Avenue intersection.

Officers said a car driven by Eldred Avery, 43, of 403 East 13th St. collided with two parked cars owned by Holt Oldsmobile Co.

Damage to the Avery vehicle was set at $300 while damage to a 1969 model car owned by the auto firm was set at $100. Damage to the other vehicle, a 1967 model was placed at $500.

Avery was charged with hit and run driving following investigation of the incident. An estimated $400 damage resulted to each of two cars involved in a 9:50 a.m. collision at the intersection of Dickinson Avenue and Truman Street, police reported.

Drivers involved in that mishap were identified as Paul Var-non Hocutt, 43, of Wendell and Hubertha B. Pace of 107 Harding St.

Hocutt who was charged with failing to yield the right of way, was reported injured in the collision.

Linda Ann Martin, 21, of New Castle, Del. was charged with failing to stop for a stop sign following investigation of a 5:15 p.m. collision at the intersection of Fourth and Pitt Streets. Officers said the Martin car collided with a vehicle driven by James Edward Sharp, 52-year-old Negro of Route 4, Greenville.

Damage to the Sharp car was estimated at $250 while damage to the Martin vehicle was placed at $450.

Will Needlepoint Walls And Ceilings Be Next?

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The all-needlepoint room may be upon us.

Competition is getting so keen in needlework circles that walls and ceilings may be next on the list of decorative ventures for the canvas workers.

One woman pointed out to her decorator, who was trying to decorate around her year's output of rugs, pillows, chairs and doorstops, that needlepoint provides a less expensive venture in good taste than today's high priced home furnishings. And you have the satisfaction of having a conversational gambit.

Needlepoint is not inexpensive. Prices range from under $10 to hundreds of dollars, depending on the size and design of the piece.

But, no matter, needlework experts, who design to order and sell needlework kits and finished needlepoint, scarcely can keep ahead of orders.

"Some projects that we have done to order have been enormously inventive," says Floyd Smith of the Nantucket Needleworks, a firm that specializes in yarn work and gifts.

"One woman on the island is doing seat covers for 12 dining room chairs, each seat cover designed by a different artist." The artists do color drawings on paper in the shape of the seat and Smith and his partner, Melva Chesrown, transfer them to canvas. The patterns are wildly different, ranging from the traditional floral, seascape and music designs to far-out avant-garde and abstract art.

Most women prefer to work the whole design rather than the just the backgrounds as their grandmothers did, he says. And they don't like the boredom of doing six or eight pieces that are identical.

He predicts that this will be a big needlework Christmas, judging by the number of vacationers who have chosen needlepoint and other needle work kits for their gift lists. Custom designs and standard designs from their catalog are being ordered by customers here and in Europe. They are also shipping finished designs, gift-wrapped and ready for the tree.

The favorite gift item in needlepoint is pillows. There may be giraffes, dolphins, art nouveau, but the new trend is to personalize the design. One woman's gift to her stockbroker husband will be a pillow in a special design of a bull, bear and a border of ticker tape.

A Texas woman's husband will get a handsome set of luggage rack straps done in a road-runner motif. The fleet-footed bird is a popular one in the state.

A California woman had the head of her husband's hunting dog sketched on canvas.

Signs of the zodiac, horses and owls are other choices for a man's room, but two of the most popular designs are a covey of quail and a flying mallard with marsh grasses.

Wives of yachtsmen are designing needlepoint hangings with the name of the boat and their city or they are choosing standard designs that say "welcome aboard the (name of boat)."

Many people are framing needlepoint, Smith says. In addition to art sketches, they are choosing quotations from Shakespeare or a pet phrase that has become a cliché in their own set.

"By the time people get to the quotation stage, they may have done the whole bit—chairs, rugs, pillows, fire screens, standing screens. They begin to think about walls..."

The next needlepoint stage may be wall panels, and these can be planned for easy removal. If one had to transfer them to larger walls, one could add wall orders. If one anticipates using needlepoint later in smaller wall areas, the panels could be done in sections with the main design in the center, explains a woman who has begun such a venture.

In florals, the trend is to all-over design rather than the floral in the center with lots of plain background, Smith explained as he worked on the transfer of a pansy design for a chair seat. Other favorite designs in all-over florals are daisies and anemones. However, some standard center designs are a natural—brilliant red geranium and sprays of beach plum. There also is a cranberry pattern.

The needle work business has boomed since the partners began their business several years ago, and they have noticed particularly that young people are fascinated with needlepoint and crewel embroidery. Beginners are likely to choose small items—pin cushions, eyeglass cases, doorstops, but many go right into something more ambitious.

Program On BPW Club Emblem Is Given At Meeting

The program sponsored on Thursday night by the Business and Professional Women's Club Personal Development Committee was entitled, "Build, Plan, and Work Toward Understanding BPW."

Club participation was the order of the evening. As members arrived they were handed questionnaires which dealt with the program pertaining to the understanding and appreciation for BPW clubs, Greenville, State and National.

Mrs. Ruth Garner, chairman of Personal Development Committee, acted as narrator, while members assisted in constructing the club emblem. Since members are continuing the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the National BPW which was organized in 1919, Mrs. Garner cited some of the National Club's history.

She quoted the club's objectives: "To elevate the standards for women in business and in the professions. To promote the interests of business and professional women. To bring about a spirit of cooperation among business and professional women. To bring about a spirit of cooperation among business and professional women of the United States. To extend opportunities to business and professional women through education along lines of industrial, scientific, and vocational activities."

Mrs. Garner explained the significance of the parts of the club emblem as: The Torch, symbol of light and truth; the Wand, of wisdom, harmony and power; The Scroll of Knowledge and achievement; and the Ship of Progress and Woman Victorious are all joined together in an endless golden circle of friendship. Mrs. Doris Marlow sang the club song, "The Golden Key", accompanied by the piano by her daughter, Sheila Marlow.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Polly Dail. Guests introduced were Miss Florence Myers and Mrs. Georgia Franklin, a former member. Mrs. Dail, Mrs. Frances White and Mrs. Jessie Little gave reports of the Eastern Area Meeting on Sept. 28, '29 in Goldsboro.

Recognized were Greenville Club members, Past District Directors: Miss Alya Ray Taylor and Mrs. Kemp Baldwin; Past State Presidents, Mrs. Bert Tyson and Miss Nettie Brogden; President, Chairman of State Nomination Committee, Mrs. Frances White, and Present Chairman of State Civic Participation Committee, Mrs. Bert Tyson.

Mrs. Dail, announced that National Business Women's Week will be observed Oct. 19-25. Activities include Sunday night service, Oct. 19 at 7:30 at St. James Methodist Church. A fellowship hour will follow in the Church Parlor.

Hostesses will be the National Business Women's Week Committee: Mrs. Annette Hawley; Miss Brogden; Mrs. Katherine Adams; Mrs. Baldwin; Miss Mary Bell; Mrs. Margaret Farley; Mrs. Mildred Manning; Miss Margaret Purvis; Mrs. Helen Syden; Miss Taylor; Miss Annie Turner; Miss Margaret Wiggins; Mrs. Grace Turner; and Mrs. Dail.

East-West winners were: Mrs. S.M. Woolfolk and Mrs. F.W.A. Mills, first; Mrs. L.D. Harris and Mrs. Clifton Toler of Washington, second; Mrs. Cora Powell and Ed Edmundson, third.

Bridge Winners Are Announced

The Faculty Duplicate Club held its regular game Friday evening at the Planters Bank.

Winners were North-South: Mrs. J. S. Willard and Dr. Charles Duffy, first; Mrs. Leonard Nobles and Mrs. Larry Eagles of Tarboro, second; Mrs. J.M. Horton of Fountain and Lewis Newsome, third.

East-West winners were: Mrs. S.M. Woolfolk and Mrs. F.W.A. Mills, first; Mrs. L.D. Harris and Mrs. Clifton Toler of Washington, second; Mrs. Cora Powell and Ed Edmundson, third.

Bride-Elect Entertained

Mrs. Clyde Harris and Mrs. Leon Moore Jr. honored Miss Ann Dail, bride-elect, on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Moore at an afternoon tea.

Arrangements of long-stemmed roses were used throughout the soiree. The dining table was overlaid with a cutwork cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink and white flowers.

Honored guests included Mrs. Jack Dail, mother of the honoree, and Mrs. Robert Booth, mother of the bridegroom-elect.

Dr. Bellis To Be Club Speaker Friday

Dr. Vincent J. Bellis Jr. will be guest speaker at Friday's meeting of the Greenville Garden Club.

"Wild Flowers" will be the program topic. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Preston Cannon, beginning at 3:15 p.m.

Hostesses are Mrs. Cannon, Mrs. R. V. Keel, Mrs. T. I. Moore, Mrs. S. F. Corbett and Mrs. W. J. Bundy.

But, Remember The Consequences

We don't find ourselves unsympathetic to the millions of young people who will be observing the nationwide Vietnam war moratorium tomorrow. Right here in North Carolina students on many campuses will be observing the day in various ways. There will be anti-war parades in some areas and gatherings at others where students will hear anti-war speakers.

Philosophically, we are anti-war, too. We think the United States should put its emphasis on preventing wars and devising ways in which nations can settle their differences peacefully without resorting to the sword.

On the other hand we favor an orderly disengagement from the Vietnam fighting for the United States. We owe that much to millions of South Vietnamese who have placed their faith in what they considered to be their powerful American ally. It is almost a sure thing that if United States troops were to be suddenly withdrawn from South Vietnam, its government would collapse and there is little doubt that thousands of Vietnamese would be slaughtered by the communists for allying themselves with the Americans.

Furthermore, in a world which still respects only power, a sudden withdrawal would be looked on as a capitulation by the United States and this would only increase our troubles with rowdy countries such as North Korea.

United States troops cannot stay in Vietnam forever. It is too much drain on our resources and too much strain on our internal affairs. On the other hand disengagement should be orderly with full material support for the South Vietnamese troops who take up the fighting.

We feel it is perfectly proper for citizens to protest war in an orderly manner tomorrow. However, each person should be certain that he understands the consequences of a sudden pullout as opposed to planned disengagement.

Says Strategy Is 'Misnamed'

By WILLIAM BARTON
WASHINGTON (AP) — The man who formulated the so-called "Southern strategy" — credited by some with helping Richard M. Nixon into the White House — says the idea was misnamed.

Instead, says Kevin Phillips, the concept behind the Republican party's resurgence is "conservative populism," a strategy linking America's middle class regardless of sectional boundaries.

But the author of the book "The Emerging Republican Majority" insisted in an interview his political thesis did not amount to the GOP writing off the Eastern Seaboard.

"What we're building on is a sort of populist majority," said Phillips, a 28-year-old assistant to Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell.

A self-labeled conservative, Phillips said the key to the GOP's future is in the South, traditionally a citadel of solid Democratic voting, and he claimed new coalitions between Negroes and white liberals will not overcome GOP advances in the states of the Old Confederacy.

"It doesn't strike me as too likely," said Phillips, "that the poor whites and the poor blacks of the South will get together."

The barrier to such a coalition, he suggested, lies in the traditional antipathy between Southern Negroes and whites.

"Racial differences are a fact of human nature," he said.

Phillips predicted that the South—especially the border states—will become "more and more like the rest of the country," and he foresaw a trend in which GOP candidates will win out over old-line Democrats in those areas.

In the Deep South, he said, former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace will not "run as well as last time" if he chooses to seek the presidency in 1972.

According to Phillips, his ideas have been misinterpreted. And, he says, misconceptions have led to reports that he has been muzzled by the Nixon administration.

"That is not true," he said. But he refused to comment or declined to talk for the record concerning any subjects possibly at variance with administration pronouncements.

Claiming his book has been misunderstood, Phillips contended the central thesis was that "the New Deal cycle of Democratic supremacy has foundered on the cycle of obsolescence."

"It has new given way to a new cycle of Republican predominance based on the great desire of the American people to decentralize the administration and the role of government in national life."

But Phillips saw one obstacle in the path of the drive toward Republican dominance — the Vietnam war.

"If you have 550,000 men in Vietnam in 1972," he said, "it could undermine my theory."

All Pitt Can Be Glad Another Plant Coming

The announcement by Becton-Dickinson division of Becton, Dickinson and Company, that it will construct a plant here is splendid news for the community.

The firm has purchased a 70-acre tract on the Dail site. It plans to construct a 150,000 square foot facility which will employ 600 people. Construction is to begin in about a year.

Becton-Dickinson is the type industry that any community would be pleased to have as a corporate citizen.

Since the firm makes health products it is even more desirable from Greenville's point of view because it fits in with the location of Burroughs-Wellcome pharmaceutical plant here and the developments in the health field now taking place at East Carolina University.

We would like to extend our welcome to Becton-Dickinson.

Griffin Under Voter Pressure

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — At least two days before his public announcement of opposition to the Supreme Court appointment of Federal Judge Clement Haynsworth, Sen. Robert Griffin was privately confiding to Republican Senators that he himself could not vote for Haynsworth.

What made this candor of the Michigan Republican so ironic was the fact that, as newly-elected Republican whip, one of Griffin's main jobs is to line up votes for President Nixon on close questions. No question is closer in the Senate than the Haynsworth nomination.

But Griffin (who had privately indicated to Mr. Nixon himself on Oct. 2 that he still hoped to back Haynsworth) was coming under irresistible political pressure back home to oppose the South Carolina Republican. Thus, his position as Republican whip, responsible for rounding up wavering Republican votes, became untenable. He could not lobby undecided colleagues to vote for Judge Haynsworth once he himself had decided to vote against him. Thus his announcement against Haynsworth ended his impossible role as Senate whip in the Haynsworth battle.

The pressure on Griffin, in addition to the powerful AFL-CIO, mounted from two main sources: black and Jewish voters back home in Michigan.

The Negro lobby was organized principally by Democratic Rep. John Conyers of Michigan, who paid a little-noticed visit to Griffin two weeks ago with three other Negro Congressmen: Rep's Louis Stokes of Ohio, Charles Diggs of Michigan, and William Clay of Missouri—all Democrats representing big-city constituencies.

While they carried the argument against Haynsworth personally to Griffin, the Senator was deluged with phone calls and telegrams from black leaders in and out of Michigan.

Conyers, whose Detroit constituency includes many Jewish voters, also helped organize that side of the pressure on Griffin, but the really big gun was Max Fisher, the Detroit industrialist and intimate of Urban Affairs Secretary George Romney.

A footnote: The crowning irony in the badly bungled Haynsworth nomination was Atty. Gen. John Mitchell's personal intercession to get Griffin named to the Judiciary Committee vacancy left by Sen. Everett Dirksen's death, on the assumption Griffin would back Haynsworth. But Mitchell's top aide, Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst, is being named more than Mitchell inside the Administration for his failure to check out Haynsworth's financial dealings before the Justice Department cleared him to Mr. Nixon for appointment to the high court.

Rep. Robert Taft, Jr., of Ohio is seriously considering challenging Gov. James Rhodes for the Senate nomination and has secretly ordered a statewide poll to test how he would do against Rhodes.

That's bad news for Ohio Republican leaders who had been counting on a dream ticket of Rhodes (barred from seeking a third term as Governor) running for the Senate seat now held by 80-year-old Democrat Stephen Young and Taft running to replace Rhodes as Governor.

But Taft, who was upset for the Senate by Young in 1964 as part of the Goldwater debacle, has always wanted to follow his famous father to the Senate. What's more, he's a loner who makes his own decisions without taking orders from party leaders. Rhodes is Ohio's all-time champion vote getter but has probably been hurt by recent charges against him made by Life magazine.

Strength For Today

Relationship Of Privilege And Dignity

Most Bible readers do not understand the part that the covenant plays in our religion.

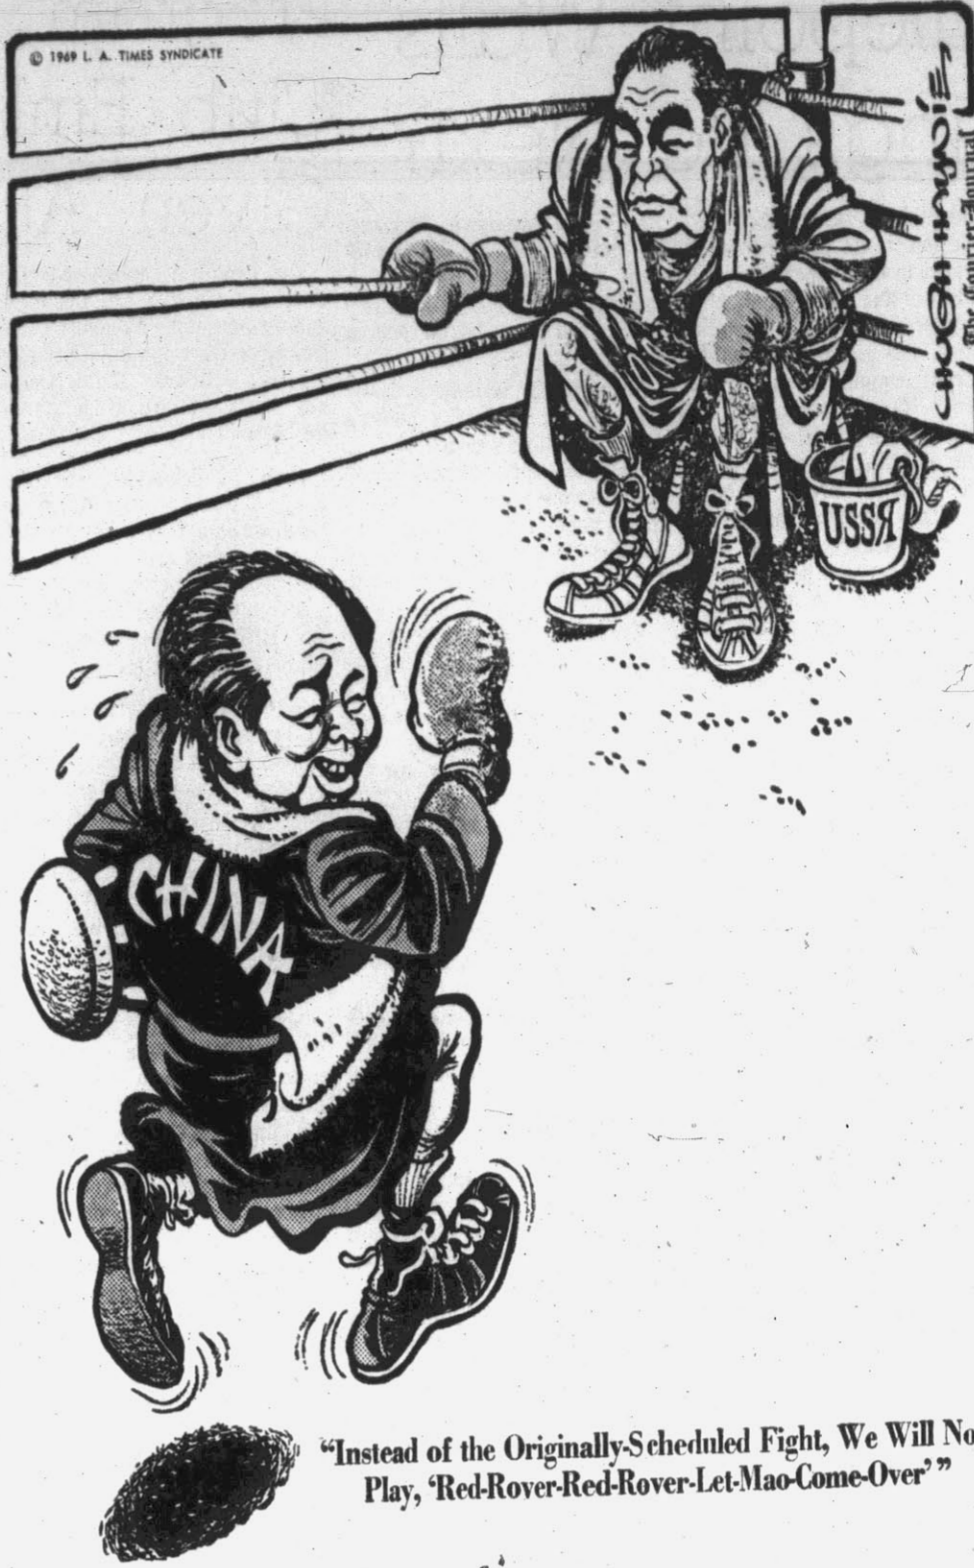

A covenant is a promise. The Old Testament is the promise made of old that God would send a Saviour. The New Testament is the old promise fulfilled—the Saviour sent. God's relationship with us is a covenant relationship. He solemnly promises something to us and He requires of us a promise in return. There is no religion on any other basis. God does us the honor of entering into a covenant relationship with us. We are not pawns to be pushed around. We are not slaves to be driven. We are persons with whom God deals. That is an arresting concept—persons with whom God deals.

So the thrilling joy of a life of faith arises from the fact that God promises us something and honors us by requiring us to promise Him something. He promises us sustenance, guidance, protection, inspiration and salvation. We promise him obedience. He extends to us a great gift. It is both our honor and our privilege to reach out our hands and take that gift. God respects the fact that we are persons, not automations. He enters into an agreement with us, and it is a very serious agreement.

The covenant relationship! It is fundamental in religion.

It Is A Republic, If--

The convention of 1787 had been at work since May. Now it was mid-September, the secret sessions ended, the task complete. Benjamin Franklin was leaving the hall when a Mrs. Powel of Philadelphia approached him.

"Well, Doctor," she asked, "what have we got, a republic or a monarchy?"

"A republic," replied the doctor. "If you can keep it."

The anecdote from McHenry's notes is known to every high school boy, but never in our history has Franklin's cryptic prophecy held greater meaning. We have indeed had a republic for 181 years. We may yet lose it to the high-riding apostles of electoral "reform."

The proposed constitutional amendment approved last month in the House is not

Other Editors Say Doctor Has Same Ailment

(Raleigh, N.C. Times)

One of the favorite topics these days around Raleigh and elsewhere is the sad shape of the Democratic party in North Carolina.

In fact, so many people have become concerned over the party's welfare, a special committee is to study the ailment and recommend the treatment.

And now the Republicans are adding their own diagnosis to the case history in which the doctors have already ranged from state party chairman, to party executive director to secretary of state.

The latest diagnosis comes from Republican party executive director Gene Anderson who says the Democratic party is suffering from political schizophrenia. Pointing out that the GOP's greatest advantage in this state is its consistency, Anderson says, "We are in the State what we are nationally," implying that the State Democratic party has considerable difficulty in accepting the national politics of the party.

What Anderson says is true and he certainly isn't the first to discern this weakness in the party's personality. But what the GOP executive apparently fails to realize is that his own party has suffered the same symptom, at least it did in its 1968 gubernatorial campaign. While GOP candidate Jim Gardner was breaking away from the Nixon camp and courting Reagan, he was losing votes all down the line. Political observers believe that if the national and State GOP and Gardner had been more unified, Gardner might have slipped into the Governor's Mansion purely on the strength of Nixon's popularity in this State.

So, Anderson's observation that party unity from top to bottom is essential can be applied to both parties. In fact, what happened in 1968 to the GOP candidate in North Carolina can well serve as a frightening example of what could happen to the Democratic party in this state.

"reform." When you reform an institution, you set out to correct its faults, but you do not abandon the institution. The House resolution is just such an abandonment. In a single stroke, this proposition would convert our republic from a federation of more or less sovereign states to a new kind of centralized democracy. The resolution ought to be rejected.

To be sure, almost everyone agrees that the present system of electing a President has faults in need of reform. There is the problem of the maverick elector, who may refuse to vote for the candidate to whom he is morally pledged. There is the problem of an election thrown into the House, where each state casts a single vote. There is the problem of winner-take-all, which sees a state's entire electoral vote cast for a candidate who may win by a mere handful of votes.

Admittedly, these are faults. Yet it is remarkable, all the same, that they have produced so few ill effects. How many individual electors have violated their implied obligation? Half a dozen, perhaps, in the whole history of our country. How often has an election been thrown to the House? Twice—the last time in 1825. Not since 1888, when Harrison claimed an electoral but not a popular victory over Cleveland, has the system operated popular winner. It is not so bad a record.

Nevertheless, the perils remain. A better system can be devised by the Congress; and such a plan ought to be submitted to the states. But the House resolution is not the answer. (Continued On Page 5)

Boyle Looks At Life

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions: There is no happier look than shines from a small boy's face when the kite he is trying to fly finally takes the sky. It is hard even for a grownup to frown while flying a kite. Frowns don't make kites fly.

A girl who studies logic in college will find later in life that it has done more for her than the hours she spent taking notes in her class in Japanese flower arrangements.

It's the fellow who carries the bass drum in the parade who looks like he enjoys the marching the least.

The honeymoon is over when he asks her for an extra 50 cents, for lunch, and she insists on knowing why he needs it.

Whenever you see a man take a paper clip off a two-page memo and carefully put it into his desk before reading the memo, you can figure one thing about him: He may wind up with the most paper clips in the office—but he won't be the one with the biggest job.

Guys who wear feathers in their hats tend to be losers in love.

It's time to give up smoking if, when you wake up in the morning and find your last pack empty, you start pawing through an ashtray looking for a couple of leftover stubs you can light up to start the day.

Fashions change. There used to be a restaurateur who told his headwaiter never to seat a man who wore brown shoes with a blue suit. He said the sight of such a combination made him ill. Now a fellow has no trouble getting a good seat anywhere in town while wearing blue shoes, gold slacks, a brown coat and a black-and-white polka dot necktie—so long as the inside of his wallet is deeply lined with green.

Many old-fashioned American husbands still stoutly refuse to help do the dishes on the ground that this is woman's work. But if a wife can get her man to wash the windows and praises him enough for how well he did them, sooner or later he'll end up polishing plates at the kitchen sink, too.

One way to judge prosperity is by people's familiarity with the money they use. Practically everyone knows whose face is on the dollar bill and the $5 bill, but most guys who happen to have a $10 bill in their pocket have to haul it out and inspect it to identify the face on it.

The difference between experience and learning is that experience is all you have left when you don't learn from experience.

Who can hear church bells ringing at dusk without thinking of something he did during the day that had been better left undone, and something left undone he knows needs doing?

Too Clever In Our Packaging

By ELMER ROESSNER
America is so damned clever with its packaging inventiveness that while saving billions of dollars by preventing spoilage every year we may soon be buried under mountains of garbage.

Take beer cans. They have long littered the roadsides of America. At least steel cans eventually rust away. Aluminum cans don't. Conditions are worsening so fast that at least one company is paying Boy Scouts half a cent a can for turning them in. And the plastic beer can is coming. It's just as durable and has little or no salvage value.

George F. Stewart, a University of California scientist, told the first national Conference on Packaging Wastes in San Francisco that the "rapid increase of convenience containers and packaging materials is becoming critical from the standpoint of environmental pollution. It Won't Disappear

"In another six years," he said, "we will be faced with ridding ourselves of 61 million units of glass, plastic and metal beverage containers alone."

This would be only 13 per cent of the total volume of solid waste, he added, which would mean the problem would involve about half a billion units a year.

"And to make things worse," he told the gathering, "we are getting more and more packaging that won't burn, break, crush, degrade, dissolve or otherwise disappear."

"The packaging waste problem is a paradox of American ingenuity. We have developed containers that save billions in food spoilage and damage costs, but the same container durability has become a curse, a curse we can't afford.

Richer Than We Can Afford To Be
"For example, by 1976 additional garbage trucks alone will have cost the nation's sanitary districts more than $190 million. And, of course, the losses created by pollution will be incalculable. But the heart of the problem is that our nation has finally reached that point at which it has more affluence than it can afford."

The city of San Francisco has considered shipping its growing volume of garbage by railroad to dumps in some of the more barren places in California. So far it hasn't been able to arrange it.

The same ingenuity that has got us in this mess may get us out of it. It may be recalled that during World War II the Army had field rations packed in paraffin boxes. The paraffin could be scraped off to make a candle, or the boxes when burned could generate enough heat to warm the rations.

Florida Concerned About Orange Surplus
The weather has been so good to Florida citrus growers this year that they have warned the Department of Agriculture that there will be a huge surplus of oranges. Current estimates are for a crop of 140 million to 160 million boxes, compared with 124 million last season and 143 million in the huge crop three years ago.

The department will probably buy millions of boxes for the school lunch program. Retail prices for oranges and juice will be affected only slightly.

OK $45,000 Grant To Malcom X Univ.

RALEIGH (AP) — The Episcopal diocese serving central North Carolina says the national church has approved grants of $45,000 for the black separatist Malcom X Liberation University in Durham.

Bishop Thomas A. Frasier of the Diocese of North Carolina announced the grants in a statement Monday. He said that although they originated with the national office of the church, they were "studied carefully" by the diocese's Urban Crisis Advisory Committee at the request of the national office.

The grants of $15,000 and $30,000 Bishop Frasier said, will come from a $9 million Urban Crisis Program. Fund approved by the national church at its 1967 general convention in Seattle.

He said, "One of the goals of our national church's urban crisis program is to help the poor and disenfranchised gain social, political and economic power in order to have an effective voice in decisions which affect their own lives."

The bishop said the advisory committee found that the Malcom X University, named for the assassinated Black Muslim leader, was "quite appropriate for funding" and recommended a $30,000 grant in addition to one of $15,000 recommended earlier as an emergency basis.

The committee said it understood students at Malcom X University "will be taught about existing structures of state and local government and how to organize to achieve changes which they viewed to be

Consider, if you please, the prospect of a national recount. No such contingency now exists. We vote by states. The most that might have to be recounted would be the popular votes of one or two closely divided states whose electoral votes might be decisive. Nothing of the sort has occurred.

If this amendment should be ratified, the pattern of past elections suggests that recounts — national recounts — would have to be provided. A clearer picture emerges if we knock off the last three zeroes. Thus Garfield beat Hancock by only ten votes, 4,545 to 4,444. Cleveland defeated Blaine 4,875 to 4,852. In 1960, depending upon how you treat the Alabama vote, Kennedy and Nixon were barely a hundred votes apart in 68,000 cast. This past November, leaving off the zeroes, it was Nixon 31,304, and Humphrey 30,994. If the newly proposed amendment had been in effect, of course the Humphrey forces would have asked for a recount.

This contingency alone moves us inescapably into the machinery of national regulation and control of elections — first of the presidential election, then Federal elections, and finally all but the most insignificant local elections. It is a small work of imagination to foresee uniform requirements as to age and residence, the forms of qualification, the printing of ballots, the appointment of judges, the procedures for challenge and recount. In very few years, none of the safeguards of state regulation would remain.

The Constitution belongs to the people. They have the right and the power, acting through their states, to convert the Republic to a democracy if they want to. But it is like getting married. We ought not to embark lightly upon such a new way of life, but soberly, reverently, and with our eyes wide open.

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C. (AP)

The lawyer for a Fayetteville gun dealer accused of attempting to export firearms without federal approval said Monday his client was only a small link in a tangled chain of international gun sales reaching from New York to Washington to the African Republic of Chad.

Carl A. Barrington Jr., who is representing Earl Reddick, would neither deny nor confirm reports that the Central Intelligence Agency was involved in the gun sales.

"I have some right big things that are going to come out if they ever try it (Reddick's case)," Barrington said in an interview Monday.

Barrington said Reddick first became involved when an old friend, gun dealer George DeMeo of Yonkers, N.Y., leased Reddick's warehouse to store the guns.

Some of the guns, according to investigators for the Senate Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations, have been traced to Maj. Gen. Carl Turner, former provost marshal general of the Army. Gen. Turner is under investigation of allegedly using his position to buy weapons.

The subcommittee was told last week that the guns in Reddick's warehouse were seized June 26 as part of a shipment bound for rebels in Haiti.

Barrington said that DeMeo had contracted with State Department approval to sell two shipments of firearms to the West African Republic of Chad in 1968.

The lawyer gave this account:

After making one shipment, DeMeo was told in early 1969 to store the second shipment in the Southern United States. This was when the guns were sent to Reddick's warehouse.

Later DeMeo received orders to arrange for a quiet pickup of the arms at a small airport south of Wilmington, N.C.

At this point Reddick learned of the unusual shipping orders and both he and DeMeo grew suspicious.

The two men contacted a man in Washington whom Barrington refused to identify. Asked if the Washington contact had any connection with the CIA, Barrington declined to comment.

Barrington continued: Reddick and DeMeo were told by the Washington man to hold the guns. At that point they entered into contact with the Fayetteville, office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. It was unclear who initiated the contacts.

The FBI agents, after inspecting the cases of arms in Reddick's warehouse, at first appeared anxious to follow through with the planned pickup.

When DeMeo was told the pickup airport had been shifted to Florida, the FBI agents offered a truck to haul the shipment to the meeting place.

But suddenly the FBI was ordered from Washington to drop the case, Barrington said. It was shortly afterward that Treasury agents made the June 26 raid after which they charged Reddick. The clerk of federal court in Fayetteville said he has not yet been indicted.

The lawyer said checks of serial numbers showed that 25 guns in Reddick's well stocked gun store, the Pine State Gun Shop, has passed through Gen. Turner's hands. Another seven found in the warehouse, he said, had been traced to Turner.

Clothing Bank Drive By Moose Scheduled Monday

Greenville Moose members were told last night that arrangements for the annual Moose Clothing Bank drive had been completed. The collections campaign will be headed by Curtis Jones.

Jones reported the city had been divided into zones for the collection teams, and Boy Scouts from Troop 362 would be assisting the collectors.

Teams will be leaving the lodge at 7:00 p.m. next Monday night, according to Civic Affairs Chairman J.M. Moye Sr. to collect "used, but still usable" articles of clothing to be distributed among needy families of Pitt County.

Lodge Governor Henry Flake commented that despite the relative period of prosperity in the county, that "it would surprise many of our people to know how many families are actually in dire need."

"Contributors to the Clothing Bank helped literally hundreds of Pitt County families last year," said Flake, "and I wish more people knew just how important this clothing drive really is to so many people."

Over the years, the clothing bank drive has become a fixture in the lodge's community service program. Clothing contributed to the drive is cleaned and minor repairs made before distribution.

Customarily, Flake said, clothing is issued families cleared by the Welfare Department, the Salvation Army, or by school principals.

"It is especially necessary at this time of the year," he said, "with the approach of cold weather. Some school children, and pre-school children, have been reported to be in critical need of sweaters, coats and other items; most families take for granted."

Distribution of the clothing is responsibility of the Women of the Moose. The chapter is hoping to open the Clothing Bank on the Wednesday following the collection drive, between the hours of 10 and 12:00, and subsequently on Mondays and Wednesdays.

Other announcements at last night's meeting concerned staffing of the 14 booths planned for the Mooe Halloween party for children; a dinner dance (for the Legion of the Moose and anticipated candidates); the Legion Ceremonial in Wilson next weekend; and a dance on Saturday night.

Remove Burning Mattress

A mattress was burned at the Batchelor House on Evans Street yesterday and fire investigators said the incident was caused by smoking in bed.

Officers said fire units were called to the hostelry at 1:20 p.m. when Box 22 at the intersection of Third and Evans Streets was sounded.

They reported the burning mattress had been discovered at 10:30 a.m. and taken out of the room and doused with water. The 1:20 p.m. call, officers noted, came after the mattress rekindled.

No damage resulted to the building from the blaze.

Last week, black activist Howard Fuller, head of the liberation school announced it would open full time Oct. 27.

He said the goal is "to provide a framework within which black education can become relevant to the needs of the black community and the struggle for black liberation."

He said the curriculum will be based on the idea of nation-building, with a goal of training Negro Americans to set up an independent nation in Africa.

In Charlotte, Kelly Alexander, president of the North Carolina chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, criticized the grants "as expressing to the world that the church approves segregation in education."

He added in a statement that the objective of "training Negro Americans to set up an independent nation in Africa... is incompatible with the democratic process because its emphasis is black-centered and not multi-racial centered... I consider approval of such grants a liability to the efforts of responsible black organizations which have been working over 60 years for an integrated America."

Workshop For Pitt Ministers

Ministers from Pitt County will meet at the Greenville Golf and Country Club, Wednesday, at 12:30 p.m. for a luncheon workshop. This workshop is being sponsored by the Pitt County Mental Health Association.

The Reverend Arthur Herron of Bethel will serve as moderator. Panel speakers include Dr. Walter P. Savage, director of the Coastal Plain Mental Health Clinic, the Rev. Thomas Wolfe, Chaplain at Cherry Hospital, the Rev. Richard R. Gammon, Dr. E. B. Aycock and H. L. Lewis, Clerk of Court.

Special emphasis will be placed on procedure for commitment to a State Hospital or to a local hospital.

There is no registration fee, only cost is for the meal. Any minister who failed to receive a notice of the meeting, or who has not returned his card, may attend by contacting the Mental Health Association Office or by calling 752-2541 in the evening.

Deaf People Said Still Second-Class Citizens

CHICAGO (AP) — The deaf should emulate Negroes and other minority groups and seek control of their own welfare, according to two experts who have worked with the deaf at Michael Reese Hospital here.

"Deaf people in the United States have achieved a superior stature to those in other Western civilizations, yet in many ways they are still relegated to second-class citizenship," they said.

He pointed out that schools for the deaf are operated by persons who themselves are not deaf and who do not understand the problems of the deaf. In some of these schools, there is a stigma attached to "signing," that is, communicating with the hands, he said, and the "oral" approach, or lip reading, is emphasized in the teaching of the deaf.

At best, Makowsky said, the deaf can learn to lip read only about 50 per cent of what is spoken. Persons in ordinary conversation do not move their lips much when they speak and do not speak clearly, he said.

Lip-reading of vowels is particularly difficult. Communicating by sign language is much easier for the deaf, Makowsky said.

government hires only persons who can hear to administer programs for the deaf. He said that schools which train workers with the deaf do not hire the deaf and do not educate the deaf for teaching careers.

of Baltimore, and Makowsky, note that Jews, Mormons and Orientals "have either developed their own educational institutions, influenced public ones or combined these programs."

Today's hand produced a substantial swing when it was dealt in a recent team-of-four match. A final contract of three no trump with South as the declarer was reached at both tables on an identical series of bids.

South opened the bidding with one club and West made a preemptive jump overall of three diamonds. North chose to take the pressure off his partner by freely bidding hearts and when the latter carried on to three no trump, the auction subsided.

not put his partner in to run the suit.
East shifted to a spade. Declarer put up the ace and ran for cover with nine tricks—five hearts, one spade, one diamond, and two clubs.

At the other table, West refrained from leading his suit. South was marked with the king of diamonds to warrant his rebid of three no trump, and West wanted to get his partner in to make a diamond play thru declarer. There was the further consideration that if East had only a singleton diamond, West would cut the line of communications between the two defenders if he opened the queen of diamonds.

West chose the unbid suit for his attack, and he opened the four of spades. East put up the king and declarer permitted him to hold the trick. The jack of spades was returned and South ducked again as West overtook with the queen.

West reasoned that his partner must be void in diamonds when he failed to shift to that suit at trick two, and inasmuch as West was in the lead for the last time, he carefully cashed the ace of diamonds before he returned the third spade. East's eight forced out declarer's ace.

Due to the shortage of entries to dummy, South was obliged to take the heart finesse into the East hand. When the latter got in with the queen of hearts, he cashed the ten of spades for the setting trick.

BAL HARBOUR, Fla. — Dr. William B. Martin of Greenville, president of the N. C. ARC, is one of the 2,000 attending the 20th annual convention of the National Association for Retarded Children here.

The National Association for Retarded Children (NARC) is a voluntary organization of more than 1,375 affiliated units working to help the retarded of all ages. The National Association for Retarded Children's (NARC's) memberships represent 215,000 parents and friends of the retarded, youths and professional workers in the field of mental retardation.

At best, Makowsky said, the deaf can learn to lip read only about 50 per cent of what is spoken. Persons in ordinary conversation do not move their lips much when they speak and do not speak clearly, he said.

Eisele, a NASA astronaut who participated in the first manned Apollo spacecraft flight, spoke at the plenary session that opened convention activities.

Cindy Collums, another social worker at the hospital, said in an interview that organizations for helping the deaf opposed an added income tax exemption, such as the blind have, because they do not want to be considered different.

The deaf have a median education of the fourth-grade level, she said, because they are unable to learn through the oral method used by the schools to try to teach them.

Miss Collums said most of the deaf go into manual occupations and that with the growth of automation there is going to be growing unemployment rather than just underemployment among them.

"I feel they have the same rights as the blacks to picket construction sites for jobs," Makowsky said. In their article, Vernon, now

No Individual Stars In The Mets, Advertising Agency Man Explains

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Frank Scott, who pioneered in selling baseball stars for endorsements, finds the world of Madison Ave. revealing in dollar and cents terms the phenomenon of the New York Mets—small change as individuals but valued at $250,000 as a group.

"In my 19 years in this business I've never seen anything like it—and maybe it explains what the Mets' really are," said Scott before today's third game of the World Series. "Instead of being individuals sells the Mets are a team sell."

"Undoubtedly that's because in those 19 years there never has been a team like the Mets—with no real star standing way above the others. It doesn't really matter what a guy hit during the season or what his pitching record was."

"As long as he's a Met—an Amazing Met—that's all that seems to count."

"Even though Tom Seaver won 25 games," Scott continued, "the agencies tell you he didn't win the pennant alone. They say there were a lot of guys just as important who came in for one inning to pitch and they point to guys like Kranepool and Boswell who don't play every day."

"They tell me they can't single out any guys and they don't think the average fans throughout the country can—so they've been buying groups of Mets because what they really want to say is that they've got the Amazing Mets."

Scott, who has handled Mickey Mantle, Roger Maris, Sandy Koufax, Frank Robinson, Carl Yastrzemski after their biggest seasons, estimates that the Mets could, as a group, make as much as $250,000 if they go on to beat the Baltimore Orioles.

Among those Orioles as the teams took the field for the 1 p.m., EDT, start of the game which was being telecast nationally by NBC was Frank Robinson—who has become somewhat of a focal point for what seems to be developing into an intense rivalry.

Limping as he worked out Monday on a sore left leg bruised severely when he slammed a foul on the foot during batting practice Sunday, Robinson's physical condition remained somewhat of a question as the third game began.

Robinson did not collect a hit and seemed in good shape again.

William and Mary launched preparations for league-leading Davidson with a 75-minute scrimmage for the varsity and a longer one for the second unit. The Indians, too, reviewed mistakes of last week and tried to make sure they won't happen at homecoming against the Wildcats.

in seven at-bats during the first two games and also failed to make a hit with New York fans by demeaning the attitude of the players on the Met bench during the weekend split in which the Orioles won the opener 4-1 and the Mets the second game 2-1.

Citing the Mets' bench as "looking lifeless" and questioning their enthusiasm, the veteran Baltimore outfielder has drawn the reply from Mets' Manager Gil Hodges that his players "are normal people doing normal things" on the bench.

But it has been suggested by some people that Robinson also may be tangling with the phenomenon—and the mystique—of the Mets, a team with few headline stars that has seemed to produce far beyond its capabilities on paper.

"I can't say what he's looking for," said Met catcher Jerry Grote. "But if he's watching us—he's worried about us."

Whether that was the case or not, a different atmosphere pre-valled at Shea Stadium than in Baltimore's Memorial Stadium as the Mets sent Gary Gentry, 13-12, out to pitch against the Orioles' Jim Palmer, 16-4.

The shift in scene put the Mets back in front of their enthusiastic banner-bearing fans, noticeably absent in the quiet crowds at Baltimore, where the biggest stir was created by four Met wives carrying a "Let's Go Mets" banner through the stands.

Sitting down were Donn

Clendenon, Al Weis, Ed Charles and Ron Swoboda. The quartet had a composite batting average of .308 in the first two games and all were vital to the second game triumph, Clendenon with a homer, Weis with the game-winning hit, Charles with a single and a double and Swoboda with two good catches.

The weatherman predicted a 30 per cent chance of rain during the day with a high temperature in the 70s.

Weather permitting, the fourth and fifth games also are scheduled for New York, Wednesday and Thursday. If additional games are necessary in the best-of-seven series, they are scheduled for Baltimore Saturday and Sunday after an off-day for travel Friday.

Stasavich Would Rather Richmond Had Not Been Beaten By Davidson

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
When your football team has not won a game, about the only consolation is that things can not get much worse. And that's the way it is this week for two

Southern Conference coaches—Clarence Stasavich and Vito Ragazzo. Stasavich's East Carolina Pirates are 0-3. Ragazzo's VMI Keydets 0-4. So what do they find immediately ahead? Merely games against two of the strongest teams in the league, each hopping mad after suffering an upset.

East Carolina comes to Richmond for a Saturday night scrap with Richmond's Spiders, who were rudely upended, 37-7, by Davidson last Saturday.

"Oh, my, they'll be mad" says Stasavich. "I'd have paid good money to prevent what happened at Davidson. I can't see how we could beat them even if they were looking the other way. And now..."

The Pirates, though don't figure to be in much—if any—more difficulty than Ragazzo's Keydets, whose foe this Saturday afternoon—on the VMI field—is The Citadel, which was whipped

Slade Southern Offensive Star

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP) — Davidson's brilliant passing quarterback, Gordon Slade, today was chosen Southern Conference football's offensive player of the week for the second time this season.

It was almost inevitable that Slade would be picked, in the wake of a spectacular performance last Saturday that led the unbeaten Wildcats to a 37-7 conquest of favored Richmond, last year's SC champions.

Slade was totally in control of the game, completing 32 of 43 passes good for 285 yards, throwing for two touchdowns, and scoring three times. The 32 completions established a new Davidson record for a single game.

21-14 at William and Mary last weekend after winning its first three starts.

Unlike Stasavich, however, Ragazzo isn't worrying about the nature of Saturday's opposition—or its temper. At least, so he says.

"We're not worrying about what The Citadel can do to us," says Ragazzo. "We never worry about what the other team can do. We concentrate on what we can do against them. That's the positive approach."

Mad or not, both Richmond and The Citadel apparently will have to outlast a wave of injuries to win this week.

Richmond in particular has been hard hit lately. No fewer than 10 Spiders were nursing ailments of varying seriousness Monday as practice began for East Carolina. Most notable of the casualties were end Walker Gillette, flanker Jim Livesay, middle linebacker Dick Irvin, defensive tackle John Barelli and tailback Jerry Mauro.

End Gene Shields, who has a sprained ankle, and guard Roger Meyer, with a foot injury, were pronounced "doubtful" for the VMI game as The Citadel's Bulldogs opened preparations by reviewing last week's mistakes.

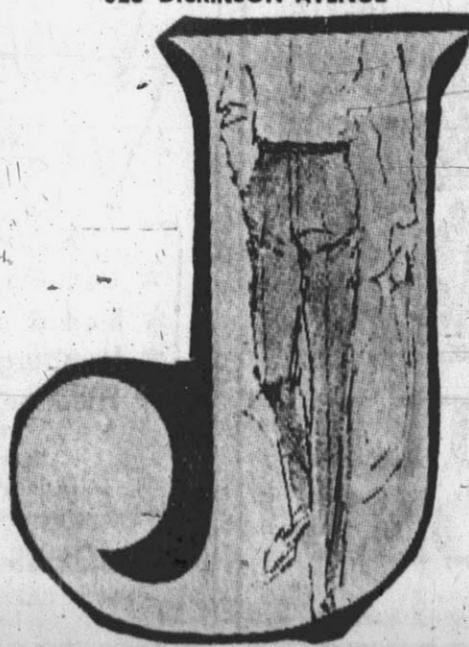

Halfback Tom Sowers, VMI's brad-and-butter runner who did not play against Virginia last weekend, still was inactive at VMI, but defensive end Steve Ballowe returned to practice

WEEKLY PRIZES

$15.00

2nd PRIZE
$10.00

CONTEST RULES

1. Thirty-two football games are placed in the ads on these pages. Pick the winner of each game (not the score) and write the team name opposite the advertiser's name on the entry blank. The entrant picking the most correct winners each week will be awarded $15.00. Second place $10.00.
2. Pick a number which you think will be the most number of points scored by both teams in any one of the week's games listed and write your answer in the space provided on the entry blank. This will be used to break ties. In the event of a further tie the money will be equally divided between the winning entrants.
3. Only one entry per week per person. The contest is open to all except employees of The Daily Reflector and their immediate families.
4. Entries must be in The Daily Reflector office not later than 5:30 p. m. Friday or post marked not later than Friday p.m. Address entries to: "FOOTBALL CONTEST", P. O. Box 1967, Greenville, N. C. (Reasonable Facsimiles also accepted)

DUNKEL COLLEGE FOOTBALL INDEX

EXPLANATION - The Dunkel system provides a continuous index to the relative strength of all teams. It reflects average scoring margin combined with average opposition rating, weighted in favor of recent performance. Example: a 50.0 team has been 10 scoring points stronger, per game, than a 40.0 team against opposition of identical strength. Originated in 1929 by Dick Dunkel.

Private Investors Remain In Doubt Over Managers

NEW YORK (AP) — Over the past decade or more, quietly and perhaps not even consciously, the American public has sought to resolve as perplexing and as fundamentally important an investment issue as any that ever confronted it.

they have made foolish mistakes. And although most investors are assured by the understatement, the solidness, the tradition of trust companies, often they are unaware that their portfolio might be watched over by a fellow who can't make ends meet.

This report shows that the average compounded annual rate of earnings for investment clubs, up to the early part of this year, was 22.4 per cent, or considerably more than advances made in the market as a whole.

State Publishes Far-Out Books

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Florida's state government publishes scores of books, pamphlets and newsletters every month. Those published in recent months include:

SALARY INCREASES

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky ranks first in the nation in instructional staff salary increases in public schools in the past decade.

and signs to participate in the 1970 feed grain program will be eligible for a price support payment," Evans said. "The acreage planted to barley will be included in the total feed grain acreage on the farm. Other feed grains are corn and grain sorghum."

Barley Now Included In 1970 Feed Grain Program

Farmers now have assurance that barley will be included in the 1970 feed grain program along with grain sorghum and corn, according to Stacy J. Evans, office manager of the Pitt County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Objects To The Dead End Sign

ORANGE, Mass. (AP) — The sign on Grove Street reads "Dead End." The Rev. Warren B. Lovejoy thinks it is in bad taste. He has asked town officials to take the matter under consideration.

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain deed of trust executed by Johnnie Lee Green and wife, Essie C. Green, to Archie C. Walker, Trustee, dated the 30th day of September, 1968, and recorded in Book 277, page 254, in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County; and under and by virtue of the authority vested in the undersigned as substituted trustee by an instrument of writing dated the 15th day of September, 1969, and recorded in Book 38, page 436, in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County, default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness thereby secured and the said deed of trust being by the terms thereof subject to foreclosure, and the holder of the indebtedness hereby secured having demanded a foreclosure thereof for the purpose of satisfying said indebtedness, the undersigned substituted trustee will offer for sale at public auction to the highest bidder for cash:

AT THE COURTHOUSE DOOR IN GREENVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA, AT 12:00 NOON, on the 28th day of October, 1969.

The land conveyed in said deed of trust, the same lying and being in the City of Greenville, North Carolina, and more particularly described as follows:

Beginning at a stake in the western property line of Davis Street, which stake is 68.4 feet from the southwest corner of the intersection of the southern property line of Fairfax Avenue and the western property line of Davis Street; running thence along the western property line of Davis Street 115 feet to an iron stake; thence N 13 E 68.4 feet to an iron stake; thence S 72 E 115 feet to the point of beginning; and being the southern part of Lots 15 and 17 and part of Lot 12, in Block "B" of the plan of Greenview Heights, a subdivision for Atlantic Coast Realty Company made by A. I. Schiller dated October 10 and 11, 1919. This being part of the property acquired by the late Mrs. M. W. and wife, Alice White from J. H. Moyer, Jr., R. Moyer and Martha Moyer Padgett, and being the identical property conveyed to Joseph E. Hatcher by deed dated April 5, 1946, and recorded in Book 62-24, page 213, of the Pitt County Register. Reference is hereby made to said Book 62-24, page 49 of the Pitt County Register.

The above property is to be sold subject to unpaid taxes and assessments, if any.

This 25th day of September, 1969.

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina poultry market steady. Prices at farm mostly 13 cents.

An overall increase in grain prices is reported from Pitt County grain buying stations this morning although activity is generally slower as the result of showers. Most buyers still report moderate marketing activity in spite of the weather. Wheat and oats prices on the Greenville market remain stable but corn quotes have climbed as much as three cents on some area markets. Following are 11 a.m. prices quotes.

Greenville: yellow corn, $1.20 — up; wheat, $1.12; oats, $.62 — steady.
Ayden: yellow corn, shell, $1.20 — up; ear corn, $1.10.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market stretched its strong rally into a second session in heavy trading early this afternoon.

The wide-ranging advance pushed prices of more than 1,000 issues higher, against about 250 losses on the New York Stock Exchange.

By noon the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials had spurted 12.47 to 831.77, after leaping 12.34 Monday.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was ahead 2.9 at 290.4, with industrials up 5.1, rails up .9, and utilities up 1.4.

Trading volume in the first hour soared to 6.8 million shares on the New York exchange, third-highest for the period. An analyst said the market surge was due almost entirely to expanding hopes of developments toward peace in Vietnam. Indications that the cash-loaded institutions were coming off the sidelines were seen in the large number of big blocks traded. Among the blocks were 81,500 shares of Texas Eastern Transmission at 23, up 1/4; 50,000 shares of Ford Motor at 44 1/2, up 1/4; 47,000 shares of CNA Financial at 27 1/4, up 1/2; and 34,900 shares of Magnavox, off 1.

Gains of many issues ranged up to 2 points or so. Steels and motors were among the many gaining groups, with U.S. Steel advancing 1/2 to 37 1/2, Chrysler adding 1/2 to 39, and General Motors ahead

1% at 73 1/2. Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange. Changes among the more-actively traded issues included Deltona, up 1/4 to 73 1/4; Levin Townsend, up 1/4 to 27 1/4; Dorsey, up 1/4 to 23 1/4; Potter Instruments, off 2 1/4 to 40 1/4; Syntex, off 1 1/4 to 84 1/4; and Redman Industries, up at 51 1/4.

Obituary

Beamon
Mr. Willis E. Beamon, 39, died in Pitt Memorial Hospital Tuesday morning at 7:20 from injuries received when a 50-foot long utility pole fell, striking him on the head. Funeral services will be conducted at three o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Wilkerson Funeral Chapel by the Rev. Chester Fussell, Baptist minister of Greenville. Burial will be in the Queen Ann Cemetery in Fountain.

Mr. Beamon, a native of Pitt County, was born and reared in the Bell Arthur community and attended the Pitt County schools. He served in the United States Army from 1947 to 1949 and for the past two months had been employed as a lineman with Stackhouse, Inc., a private contractor doing construction work for the Greenville Utilities Commission. He was a member of Bethany Place Baptist Church of Richmond, Virginia.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Ruby Neal Beamon; two sons, Edgar Lee and Timothy Martin Beamon of the home; a daughter, Carolyn Ann Beamon of Dallas, Texas; his mother, Mrs. Edgar Lee Beamon of Bell Arthur; four step-children, David Lee and Terry Michael Shearin of Warrenton, Donald Joseph Shearin of the home, and Bonnie Lucille Shearin of Warrenton; and four sisters, Miss Sadie Gray Beamon of Bell Arthur, Mrs. Randolph E. Smith of Richmond, Va., Mrs. Douglas F. Hands of Oxon Hill, Maryland, and Mrs. J.B. Vandiford of Bell Arthur.

Error In Report Of Auto Mishap

Clifton Cannon, 55, of 1217 Evans St. was charged with failing to yield the right of way in a 5:18 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Fourth and Reide Streets last Thursday. A report of the accident published in The Daily Reflector Friday said the driver of the second vehicle involved, Nancy Woodley Cates of 211 South Library St. has been charged. She was not.

The Daily Reflector regrets the error.

After hearing a report from Director Lee on a policy matter of setting up a program where special fees and charges could be made for certain programs sponsored by the commission, the commission members adopted in principle a policy of considering special programs for which fees could be charged.

"It's a question of providing a limited program at no charge to the citizens of Greenville or expanding to include special programs for which a fee would have to be charged and thus provide expanded program of activities," Lee commented.

Citing the teaching of karate as an example, he noted "there has been a lot of interest in such a program. However, it is not one in which a large number of citizens would take part. For this reason, it could not be one we could provide with appropriated funds. It would have to be self supporting."

Section 20-24 of the City Code provides a basis for such programs, permitting certain activities to be based "from funds of revenue producing community activities."

Lee emphasized that any activity of this nature planned would be self-supporting and would not be part of the regularly appropriated city funds, but would constitute an added source of revenue. Lee reported to the commission that the state had refunded to the Recreation Commission $60.00 for money spent on children's refreshments during the summer program for children.

Members were asked to consider ideas for placing the city's tennis courts under some type of control and to be ready to make a firm decision for a policy or for rules to insure that the courts are available to Greenville citizens on an equitable basis. This matter will be discussed in detail at the next meeting of the Commission.

opening for the selling of parcels 2, 5 and 16 in the Shore Drive project.

For parcel 2, he said to W. E. Dansey was low bidder at $88,900 for the construction of a motor motel complex. No bids were received for parcels 5 and 16. Parcel 5 is located on the southwest corner of Pitt and First Streets and 16 is located on the Northwest corner of second and Reade Streets.

Chairman Billy Laughinghouse expressed optimism over the meeting held last week with the City Council and Utilities Commission. As a result of this meeting, he said that a large sum in credits for which city is eligible was realized. The tract of land

William H. Taft and John F. Kennedy are the only Presidents buried in Arlington National Cemetery.

Support Of Eye Bank Is Urged In Lions' Eye Week

The week of Oct. 15-23 has been designated as Eye Week, according to an announcement by Greenville Lions Club president J. D. Wilson. He urged all residents of Pitt County to support the sight restoration work of the North Carolina Eye Bank.

One of the chief service efforts of the local Lions Club is aimed at helping the blind. A small per cent of those whose blindness is caused by a defective cornea, may be helped to see again by a corneal transplant operation.

The North Carolina Eye Bank provides donor eye tissue to eye surgeons for corneal transplant surgery, other types of surgery and research. Wilson reminded citizens that anyone of legal age can arrange to donate his eyes after death to the eye bank by signing a donor form during his lifetime. Age, sex, race or condition of vision have no bearing on donating eyes. Anyone in Pitt County wishing to donate his eyes after death for sight restoration work may receive a donor form by writing to the Greenville Eye Bank, Box 341, or by phoning 758-1165. Also, club chairman Ed Smith may be contacted at 758-1948.

Dr. Stephen White of Greenville works closely with the Eye Bank and contributes his services monthly by holding an eye clinic. He can be reached for information on the program at his office on the Stantonburg Road.
