Planning-Zoning Board Recommends Re-Zoning

Acting on the recommendation of the Board of Adjustments on the matter of an area on U.S. 264 by-pass known as the Tipton Annex, the Planning and Zoning Commission last night recommended rezoning the area to Commercial Shopping.

More Than 1,200 N.C. Boys Invited

GOLDSBORO, N. C. (AP) — More than 1,200 North Carolina Boy Scouts have been invited to a White House reception on Saturday as a tribute to their three-year campaign boosting religious faith and patriotism.

Before the reception, offered by the president's daughter, Miss Tricia Nixon, the scouts will attend a ceremony at the Washington Monument.

The scouts, from Wayne, Duplin, Johnston and Sampson counties, will hear a speech by Gen. William C. Westmoreland, Army chief of staff.

In a crusade sponsored by the Tuscarora Council, the boys this year have cleaned up 200 miles of roadside trash, run safety clinics and sought out thousands of signatures from people pledging good citizenship.

Last year, 1,000 of them marched from Goldsboro to Bath—about 100 miles—as a gesture of faith in God and country.

When their efforts won attention in Washington, plans were made to bring a representative group of the boys from the council to the White House. But when the Nixons learned of the boys' work, Miss Nixon decided to invite the entire group.

serve to upgrade the area and also facilitate individual approval of shops and businesses which are planned for the Tipton Annex.

A request for a mobile home park, submitted by Ivey Coward was for a park to be located at the southeast intersection of Highway 30 and Greene Street.

City Engineer C. A. Holliday pointed out that the size of the area, 2.3 acres, does not meet the ordinance requirement which calls for a minimum of three acres for a mobile home park. The plan also called for lots with a 32-foot frontage—the minimum is 40 feet for lots to be used for 12-foot trailers.

The commission voted to defer action on this request, and asked Coward to work with his planner and resubmit a new plan at the next meeting.

Recommendation for approval was also made in the case of a final plat covering nine lots on the Red Banks Road which is to be part of the Tuckahoe Subdivision. The lots meet all requirements for subdivision ordinances, and are in conformity with the preliminary plat.

Their recommendation for approval carried a stipulation that such approval is subject to inclusion of adequate recreational area as prescribed in the ordinances.

Commission members briefly discussed and approved the idea of strictly enforcing a requirement that any item to be discussed by the commission must be received at least 10 days in advance of a scheduled meeting. This is considered the minimum time necessary to provide the city engineer adequate time to check out and confirm requirements of each individual item prior to the Planning and Zoning meetings.

Syria Applying Pressure

Guerrilla Bands Hit Lebanon Border Posts; Sound Threats

Hundreds of armed men from Syria kidnaped more than 20 policemen in an attack before dawn today on two Lebanese border posts, the Lebanese army reported. It said police and army units repelled another raid on a third border post.

Al Fatah, the biggest of the Arab guerrilla organizations, said its forces made the attacks, captured 24 Lebanese and would return them quickly. Al Fatah said the raids were a warning, "to prove to the ruling authorities in Lebanon that the Palestinian revolution is capable of returning any blow doubly." Meanwhile, Israeli warplanes struck on two fronts today, hitting Egyptian military installations on the Suez Canal and suspected commando bases inside Jordan.

The attacks on the Lebanese border posts were in retaliation for army action early this week against Arab commando camps in southeast Lebanon. The Palestine Liberation Organization claimed that 14 guerrillas were killed and 25 wounded when the Lebanese army attacked three guerrilla villages. The army said the guerrillas started the fighting and that casualties were two soldiers and five guerrillas killed, and two civilians and six guerrillas wounded.

The Syrian government, which is the chief support of the guerrillas in Lebanon, closed the border with Lebanon Tuesday night and threatened "stronger measures" if the Lebanese army did not let the guerrillas alone.

The Lebanese army communique said 250 armed invaders surrounded posts on the northern frontier at Avrida and Buraida and kidnapped more than 20 border police.

Another 50 men penetrated nearly two miles into Lebanese territory to attack the border station at Masnaa, on the main Beirut-Damascus highway, the communique said. The police post, customs and immigration offices were shelled by rockets from surrounding hills. The communique said border police and armored cars drove the raiders off and silenced the rocket positions. It said one policeman was wounded and one jeep destroyed.

Later, a U.S. Embassy spokesman reported that a dynamite bomb went off near the embassy building early today but there were no casualties or damage.

The Lebanese army is trying to prevent the guerrillas in southern Lebanon from raiding Israel, fearing the effect of Israeli reprisals on Lebanon's thriving economy. But it also has to take into account the sympathies of the 200,000 Palestine refugees in camps in Lebanon and the wealthy Arabs from other countries who use Beirut as a commercial channel and holiday spot.

Lebanese Premier Rashid Kiyarimi resigned Wednesday night, disclaiming responsibility for the clashes with the guerrillas. He suggested the army acted without his knowledge.

Other Arab nations put the pressure on Lebanon, a reluctant and virtually noncontributing member of the alliance against Israel.

Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser sent a message to Lebanese President Charles Helou asking him to intervene personally on behalf of the guerrillas.

"The position of any Arab country regarding the battle of destiny which we are fighting depends entirely on her stand regarding Palestinian resistance," Nasser said.

The representatives of all four counties agreed to go along with the court decision. Several said they have funds in reserve in case the court instructs them to go ahead with the programs.

In the Davidson County case, Jordan asked for another month to negotiate with county officials since the state has an "open and shut case against them." He said he would ask the board to file suit in November if the county still refuses to allocate the $51,484 required.

The funds which the other four counties have refused to provide are Forsyth, $72,015; Craven, $29,633; Guilford, $51,050; and Jones, $8,100 for WIN and $4,800 for Medicaid.

Originally 20 counties balked at raising the extra funds that the state social services commissioner, Clifton Craig, assigned to them for 1969-70. Negotiations brought the number to five.

Stockholm (AP) — The 1969 Nobel Prize in literature was awarded today to the Irish-French playwright of the absurd, Samuel Beckett.

The Swedish Academy said the 63-year-old author of "Waiting for Godot" was awarded the $72,000 prize for "his writing which, in new forms for the novel and drama acquires its elevation from the destitution of modern man."

Although born in Ireland, Beckett has lived in Paris for three decades and writes in French. He was considered a dark horse this year, while the French-language favorites before the award included Andre Malraux, novelist Claude Simon, playwright Eugene Ionesco, novelist Vladimir Nabokov and Leopold Senghor, the president-poet of Senegal.

Among Beckett's other famous works as a pioneer of modern drama are "Fin de Partie" (End of the Play) among plays, and "Molloy," "Malone Meurt" and "Linnormable" among fiction.

The prize for Beckett is the first to go to France since leftist playwright Jean Paul Sartre turned it down in a cause celebre, throwing the Swedish Academy into confusion in 1964. Beckett has been a strong contender for the Nobel honor for many years but has been considered a controversial modernist.

The only other Irish-born writer ever to have received a Nobel Prize was William Butler Yeats in 1923. James Joyce, another Irish emigre, never got the prize.

Many authors have tried to write in a language other than their mother tongue, but few if any have mastered such a bilingual feat as Beckett's.

to take mothers off the welfare rolls by training them and finding them jobs. Only 10 of the state's 100 counties were picked to start the program this year.

Representatives of the four counties said the 10 counties were discriminated against by the U. S. Labor Department.

Jones and Craven county officials also said the programs would not work in their areas because there are no industries to provide jobs for the new workers.

The Fodsyth and Guilford County officials said existing anti-poverty programs provide adequate job-training and the WIN program is not needed.

The six counties which have put up the local money for the WIN program are Mecklenburg, Wake, Durham, Beaufort, Orange and Cumberland.

John Jordan, who took the oath as chairman of the board that morning, told the group that the board had no choice but to go to court.

He said a suit against Jones County in a Superior Court would be the "least inconvenient and expensive" way to deal with the matter. And it would kill two birds with one stone since Jones has balked on WIN and Medicaid, he said.

Paris (AP) — North Vietnam's chief delegate denied at the Vietnam peace talks today that he had made an "abusive attack" on President Nixon as U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge had charged last week.

For his part as this 39th session of the conference got under way, Lodge once again rejected the idea of direct U.S.-Viet Cong talks. He said the Viet Cong speaks only for a minority of the South Vietnamese.

Hanoi's Xuan Thuy told the meeting: "A policy of deliberately pursuing a war of aggression in Vietnam, doing harm to Vietnam, to the United States and to world peace may be denounced and criticized by any Vietnamese, any citizen of any country, and the author of this policy may be asked to stop his unjust actions."

He said his analysis of Nixon's policy "is not an abusive attack on anyone, but a question of speaking the truth."

Both Thuy and Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, chief delegate of the Viet Cong's provisional revolutionary government, again reiterated their demands for the United States to withdraw all its forces unconditionally and to abandon support of the Saigon administration.

They said this was not a rigid demand, "but a very flexible, logical and reasonable one. This is precisely the demand urged by the American people last Oct. 15."

The committee chairman, Euticus Renn of Wake Forest, said Wednesday the organization has arranged for six buses to leave Raleigh Nov. 13. He said many other persons plan to go to the protest by private car.

The national committee has announced plans for a "march against death" to start Nov. 13 and end in a rally south of the White House Nov. 15.

Washington (AP) — President Nixon's call for a massive ship construction program—300 vessels in 10 years—to rebuild the aging and dwindling U.S. merchant fleet was promised speedy action by Congress.

In fact Congress authorized an unrequested $130 million for shipbuilding subsidies last week in anticipation of Nixon's call. Congressional backers say they hope to get approval of the President's full program this year.

As outlined by congressional sources before today's formal announcement, Nixon's plan would:

—Subsidize construction of 30 modern ships a year for 10 years to double U.S. ship capacity and hopefully improve the U.S. balance of payments standing by $2 billion.

—Require major expansion of the American shipbuilding industry, which would have to invest $4 billion in the program, $1.2 billion for bigger and more shipyards.

—Reduce or eliminate the near $200 million annual federal subsidy for shipping operations by making the new ships up to five times more efficient than the hundreds of World War II vintage ships now in the U.S. fleet.

—Reduce the federal subsidy for ship construction from more than 50 per cent to about 35 per cent through mass production under multiship contracts.

Rep. Edward A. Garmatz, D-Md., chairman of the House Merchant Marine Committee said 600 of the present 955 U.S. cargo ships are obsolete and he will press for immediate hearings and quick congressional action on Nixon's plan.

"We've got to get these ships built and in the water," Garmatz said.

Other congressional sources say the reason for boosting the shipbuilding subsidy authorization $130 million last week—to a total $245 million including hold-over funds—was to clear the way for funding the first year of Nixon's program almost as soon as it got to Capitol Hill.

The American flag ship fleet has been losing ground to countries that can build and man them cheaper since the end of World War II and now ranks behind England, Japan, the Soviet Union, Liberia and Norway.

American ships carried 57.6 per cent of U.S. foreign trade shortly after the war. By 1968 the figure had dropped to 6.4 per cent.

The fleet includes 655 freighters, 274 tankers and 25 freight-passenger ships. Ninety per cent of the bulk carriers and 50 per cent of the tankers are more than 20 years old.

Police Urge Safe And Sane Halloween

Greenville police officials today asked local young people and adults to help make Halloween a safer and more festive occasion this year, and one free from acts of vandalism.

Children participating in the time-honored "trick-or-treat" activities are encouraged to wear light-colored clothing, acting Chief of Police T. E. Gladson said, and should not use masks or other costumes which could obstruct their vision.

Children should also be extremely careful while crossing streets and be very particular not to dart into the street in front of an oncoming car the police official noted. He explained that light colored clothing would enable children to be more readily seen by drivers and that children's vision should not be blocked by masks.

Home-owners were urged to leave their porch lights on. This, Chief Gladson said, will enable trick-or-treaters to be better able to see, thus preventing their tripping on steaks or holes in yards. "It will also tend to discourage acts of vandalism," he noted.

The chief cautioned motorists to be watchful of children walking and running in streets. "Drivers should be cautious, blow their car horns to warn youngsters of their approach, and slow down when children are seen near the street," he emphasized.

Gladson said that bicycle riders should obey all traffic rules, and bicycles being operated after night-fall should be equipped with a white light on the front and a red reflector on the rear.

He suggested, too, that trick-or-treaters carry flashlights with them so they will be more visible to passing motorists and in order to light their way in dark areas.

Chief Gladson cautioned against using candles in real or artificial Jack-o-lanterns.

Candles are dangerous, he explained, as they might catch clothing on fire. The use of flashlights in the place of candles was suggested.

Children were warned too, not to go into homes of people whom they do not know and not to accept gifts or rides from strangers.

Chief Gladson suggested that trick-or-treaters call only on people they know. If children must visit homes of persons unfamiliar to them, Gladson said the children should wait on the outside of the house and not enter the home.

Plan Send 1,200 To Join Protest

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Mobilization Committee plans to send a group of 1,200 Tar Heels to take part in a protest in Washington next month against the Vietnam war as a symbol of the number of men the state has lost in the conflict.

The committee chairman, Euticus Renn of Wake Forest, said Wednesday the organization has arranged for six buses to leave Raleigh Nov. 13. He said many other persons plan to go to the protest by private car.

Babysitters Want More Pay

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
 DEAR ABBY: We are two teen-age girls who would like to air a complaint for most teen-age baby-sitters.

In our town, baby sitting pays 50 cents an hour. This is the same pay our mother's received when THEY baby-sat as teen-agers. As you know, the cost of living has gone up considerably since then.

We are expected to be mother, father, cook, referee, nurse-maid and playmate.

We think the pay should be raised to 75 cents an hour before midnight and $1.00 afterwards. How do we go about getting better pay?

UNDERPAID SITTER
 DEAR UNDERPAID: Refuse to sit! (Sitters can hardly stage a "sit in") Sitters of the world, unite! If you get a boot in the bustle, all you can lose is your seating capacity!

DEAR ABBY: My son is being married in November and my problem is the selection of bridesmaids that his fiancée has made. Abby, she is having FOUR bridesmaids—all lovely young women, in various stages of pregnancy.

One will be six months along (she is very definitely showing now). Two will be in their seventh month, and the other had better have her overnight case packed and in the car.

The wedding will be one of those fancy church affairs where the wedding party walks down the aisle, and I am wondering what that bridal party will look like with every bridesmaid so obviously heavy with child. They are all married, so there is nothing wrong with it, but why must they be bridesmaids?

Is there some diplomatic way I can talk my son's fiancée out of this? Or should I let it go?
 WONDERING IN ATLANTA

Mark Anniversary With Gifts Which Have Suitability

NEW YORK (UPI)—So it's a first wedding anniversary coming up? Once upon a time, a couple marked it with paper because in Colonial days it was an item families needed. And for the second, cotton, and so on.

But times have changed and so have the needs of couples. The early years of marriage, up to say the ninth, are occupied with building a home. During this time, anniversary gifts of clocks, silverware, china, glassware, crystal and electrical appliances are practical.

The next six years are a time when the parents renew their desire to travel, because the ages of the children now permit it. Personal gifts are for this time—furs, textiles, jewelry, watches.

The anniversary years 16 through 20 probably will find the children showing new interest in their home, so ideal gifts for this time are furniture, silver holloware, porcelains, bronzes—gifts that dress up the house.

When the children are grown, and the home again consists of two—the anniversary years 20 through 60—let the gifts become "eloquent expressions of all the wonders love has wrought," said the Jewelry Industry Council. And 50th is

DEAR WONDERING: A bride selects her dearest friends for her bridesmaids. Let it go.

DEAR ABBY: We are a farm family and our kids have watched animals breed in the breeding pens since they were old enough to perch on a pole fence. The older ones are now in high school and have a right to know enough about human reproduction to discuss it sensibly, and enough about contraceptives to make sound moral judgments on their use and abuse.

But except for general comments, I don't intend to give them any lectures on "sex" as it relates to husband and wife because I can't explain the love that grows with experience. (Nor can anyone else.) It would reduce their mother's bedroom to the level of a breeding pen.

At 34, my wife is young and pretty—and warm. Our lives are full because we have taught our children to respect human life, civil law, and the privacy of their parents' bedroom. But

"sex" they will have to learn about in school—or behind the boiler room—or wherever it is taught. The question is not whether sex should be taught at school, but "How can the course be improved?"

Bride-Elect Entertained

Approximately 18 friends attended an informal party in honor of Miss Carrie Lin Gurganus, bride-elect of Bethel, at the home of Mrs. J.E. Whichard Saturday morning.

Mrs. Gail Clark of Belvoir greeted the guests and directed them into the dining room where Miss Bobbie Whichard of Stokes assisted with the serving.

Miss Gurganus was given a white mum corsage. Mrs. J.L. Gurganus Jr., mother of the bride-elect, and Mrs. N. Eugene Carson, mother of the bridegroom-elect, were given corsages of white carnations.

During the social hour, the hostesses presented Miss Gurganus with gifts in her chosen china pattern.

Good-byes were said to Mrs. Clarence Barnhill of Belvoir and Mrs. Eric Whichard of Stokes.

Benefit Bride To Aid Art Center

A benefit bride in two sessions will be held at the Greenville Art Center on Oct. 30 at 2:00 p.m. and again at 8:00 p.m.

Mrs. J.W.H. Roberts is chairman of the benefit, and Mrs. Morris Brody is co-chairman. Proceeds from the bridge benefit will go toward reducing the outstanding mortgage on the Art Center building.

A number of prizes for winners in the bridge games have been donated by Greenville merchants and by individuals.

This affair is open to all interested persons. Reservations are necessary to play.

Reservations can be made by calling any of the following numbers: Art Center, 758-1946; Mrs. Roberts 756-4743; or Mrs. Brody, 756-1427.

Mrs. Jones Is Seira Speaker

Mrs. Howard Moye was hostess to the Seira Book Club on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Douglas Jones was in charge of the program.

She gave a resume of her trip to Europe this past summer and showed pictures of some of the places she visited. Mrs. Jones displayed items she brought back from the different countries.

Mrs. Troy Dodson presided over the business session. The club voted to attend the Methodist bazaar - luncheon on Nov. 4. Plans were also made for the Christmas party.

Mrs. Dodson and Mrs. Jones assisted the hostess in serving refreshments.

Woman Power Point Proven

LONDON (WNS)—Premchand Gupta, a 33-year-old schoolteacher, had his $24 automobile fine cut in half by appealing for equal rights with women. He pointed out that Ann Sidney, the former Miss World, had been fined only $12 for the same infraction. "When stopped, she was wearing only a coat over her nightgown and also had no car insurance or driver's permit," said Mr. Gupta. Judge John Marnan commented, "You have proved your point, and I sympathize with you."

Program Given By Miss Barrow

Miss Lena Barrow presented the program at the meeting of the Simpson Extension Homemakers on Tuesday held at the home of Mrs. Thomas House.

The program topic was "Shopping For Bargains at Clothing Sales."

Mrs. Sammie Tucker conducted the business session. Mrs. Jimmie Edwards gave the devotional.

Three leader reports were given: Mrs. Gentry Proter, family life; Mrs. J.B. Smith, international; and Mrs. Jimmie Edwards, planting bulbs.

Mrs. Ella Pate and Miss Barrow assisted the hostess in serving refreshments.

Club Chairman Gives Program

Mrs. Freda Lupton, club clothing chairman, gave the program at the meeting of the Grimesland Extension Homemakers.

She spoke on "Shopping for Bargains at Clothing Stores." President Ruby Hodges presided at the meeting, which was held at the Proctor Memorial Christian Church on Tuesday afternoon.

"Clothes Spoken of in the Bible" was the topic of the devotion given by Mrs. R.H. Gallo-way.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Hodges.

Officers Installed By Credit Women During Annual Banquet

The Greenville Credit Women International Club held their annual Bosses' Night banquet last evening at the Moose Lodge.

The following officers were installed for the 1970-71 by Mrs. Mary L. Rowland, president of the North Carolina Credit Women International: Carol Hardee, president; Mary Roberson, first vice president; Pearl Hartsell, second vice president; Faye Smith, recording secretary; Gail Crisp, corresponding secretary; Leslie Brumblloe, treasurer; and Clara Seago, parliamentarian.

Two special awards were presented during the evening. Mary Roberson was named "Outstanding Breakfast Clubber of the year, a trophy awarded each year by the club's sponsors, to the most outstanding club member.

The "Boss of the Year" award was presented to J. Beverly Congleton of Stokes and Congleton. This plaque is presented each year by the club members to the outstanding boss of the year.

Other special guests for the evening in addition to Mrs. Rowland were Doris Matthews of the Fuquay-Varina Club, a past state president, and several members of the Kinston Credit Women International Club.

A program of music was provided by a trio composed of Ann Wilkerson, Becky Starkey and Shelia Marlowe.

Miss Herring Entertained

GRIFTON — On Saturday night, Miss Emly Herring celebrated her 13th birthday and was honored by her parents at a costume party at the VFW Hut.

For the evening the main room of the building was decorated with crepe paper streamers, balloons, pumpkins, and other Halloween motifs.

Small tables were placed cabaret style around the room, each centered with a pumpkin with lighted candle.

The refreshment table, covered with a Halloween cloth, was centered with a birthday cake. The punch bowl was placed at one end and at the other an arrangement of candles and pumpkins.

Colorful costumes were judged and prizes went to Kelly Reeves for the best girls costume and to Eddy McCullen for the best boys attire.

Mr. and Mrs. James Herring, parents of the guest of honor, and her brother, Jim, assisted in the evenings activities and serving.

Mrs. Wilkerson Gives Program

Mrs. Jack Wilkerson, project director of the local Women in Community Service, was guest speaker at a meeting of the Opti-Mrs. Club Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Bill Wright.

WICS sponsors the Women's Job Corps. Locating applicants and screening them are their main jobs. The local program was begun in May, 1967, and is manned completely by volunteer women workers, Mrs. Wilkerson said.

Mrs. Gordon Smith was appoint ways and means chairman. Possible projects for the club were presented and a committee to investigate selling Christmas candy was appointed.

The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Bob Stewart.

A four-pound roasting chicken, stuffed, will need only two hours in the oven if a 375-degree temperature is used.

Up In Air, Beauty Is Important But Practicality Pays

By ARLEEN ABRAHAMAS

Have you taken a look recently at airline stewardesses?

If you haven't, it may be because you haven't been able to distinguish which gals were the flight attendants. Dressed in their becoming, color-coordinated couture costumes, the gals of the sky are difficult to identify, especially once they take to the ground, if they're not wearing their hats (and if you're near-sighted and thus unable to see their airline insignia).

Now, stewardess watchers will face a particularly difficult time spotting the flight attendants for one major airline. It won't even help to try to pick out the gals who are dressed identically.

Under Eastern Airlines' new less-regimented outfitting policy, the girls will be able to switch on and off at will between long, navy blue jumpsuits with matching jackets and short navy space culottes worn with a cardigan jacket and frosty white mock turtleneck. Footwear will vary from ankle-high navy blue boots to chunky-heeled shoes. For comfort's sake, during serving hours aboard the plane, the girls may choose to don navy blue soft-soled shoes. The new outfits will be topped off by a moon beige furry coat that looks like live baby lamb.

Comfort and practicality dictated the switch to pants, says Margaret Thalken, Eastern's fashion consultant. "Who, in this age of comfort, wants to wear a girle?" she asks. Under their outfits, the girls will be able to wear regular pantyhose, thus enhancing the feeling of freedom.

"There's no question that pants for stewardesses are more practical and serviceable," continues Miss Thalken, "considering all the reaching, bending and rushing the girls have to do as meal service gets more elaborate and in-flight time lessens." And when the girls reach for something, they won't have to worry about their skirts rising.

Practicality and stewardesses have always gone hand in hand. In the 1930s, at the beginnings of commercial aviation, girls selected as stewardesses had to be registered nurses. "A good percentage of those first airline passengers were rich, elderly and immobile, and nursing services were definitely needed," explains Eastern executive John Bresnahan.

After a while as flying became more commonplace, the airlines dropped the nursing requirements but did require that the girls be college graduates. As airline travel increased and more routes and bigger planes were utilized to meet the public's needs, the number of stewardesses needed by the airlines really soared, says Bresnahan, particularly since the job is noted for its high turnover.

Moving Now To Fill Special Needs

Pitt Memorial Hospital could not invest its funds more wisely than to make the planned improvements in its critical care unit.

Administrator C. D. Ward reported to the trustees this week that improvements in the critical care unit are being made.

Included is the closing off of a 13-bed area on the first floor west wing, building a new nurses' station, installing a new nurse call system, wiring each bed for cardiac monitoring and replacing view windows with wire glass.

The work will cost around $30,000 with much of the carpentry done by hospital maintenance men.

The critical care unit is a worthwhile part of the hospital's facilities and, even though plans are being made for a new hospital or expansion of the present one, the funds for this work will be well spent.

Equipment needed for the critical care unit is being gathered and the staff is becoming proficient in this particular health care. Even if an entirely new critical care unit were built in a new hospital, the experience and equipment which is obtained now will be most helpful.

Too, at best it will be some years before a new hospital is constructed and ready for use. An adequate critical care unit is needed now.

The hospital is proceeding properly to provide the best critical care facilities possible in the present hospital building. Such facilities as this cannot await the construction of a new building.

International Flavor For Our Space Effort

The visit of Soviet spacemen in this country causes us to wonder if it is not time for the United States to bring in prospective astronauts from other nations of the world.

The Soviet cosmonauts flew a simulated Apollo space mission and talked excitedly from the cabins as the simulation took the pair over the surface of the moon.

Perhaps we are not ready yet to take on cosmonauts, or prospective astronauts, from Iron Curtain nations. However, we think it would be well if the United States were to look to friendly nations for recruits to enter its space programs.

Obviously it would be desirable, and probably necessary, for the international astronauts to speak English since this is the language used in our exciting space mission.

There must be plenty of qualified men in England, Canada and Australia who would love to get a chance to enter the space program. There are probably English speaking men in France, Germany and Japan who could qualify.

The United States has emphasized its peaceful motives in exploring space. Nothing could emphasize this more than to give the space program an international character which a few non-American participants could bring to it.

Indebtedness Of N.C. Is Small

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

Raleigh—In the second part of his position paper on North Carolina's fiscal position State Treasurer Edwin Gill discusses the state's "moderate" indebtedness of $480,940,000.

"Is this amount reasonable when related to the economic resources of our people," Gill asks. He thinks it is.

value of all property is indirect evidence of the capability of the state to "meet its obligations," Gill says.

Earnings on investments also grew from $3.3 million in 1959 to $31 million this year.

This amount was made on cash funds of $692 million invested in interest-bearing securities.

"Viewed from any angle, including such figures as growth in population and expansion of our industrial complex North Carolina has grown both in material and human values which, in my opinion, adequately underwrite our present debt commitment," Gill said.

FUNERAL—By coincidence Gov. Bob Scott's schedule carried him to far western North Carolina this week as a tragedy struck his administration. He was in Graham and Cherokee Counties when the body of newly-appointed highway commissioner, former Graham sheriff J. Boyd Crisp, was brought home to Robbinsville.

Crisp and a companion, Mrs. Dorothy Ayers of Tapoca, were killed in the crash of Crisp's private airplane near Saluda last week.

Scott cancelled several personal appearances and speaking engagements in the area in order to attend Crisp's funeral. He will appoint a successor on the Highway Commission shortly and it is certain that it will be someone from the district Crisp was to have represented.

RANDOLPH—A veteran "free enterprise," Sen. Jennings Randolph, D - W. Va., has been chosen as the principal speaker for the annual meeting of the North Carolina division, American Cancer Society, in Raleigh this weekend.

In Washington, Randolph is known as the "humanitarian."

He is a former editor writer professor of public speaking and journalism, and will address the ACS group on "Rebirth of Reponsibility."

Virginia Is At The Crossroads

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

NORFOLK, Va.—The remarkable success of William Battle, middle - road Democratic candidate for Governor, in gluing together his party's ramshackle coalition in this populous Tidewater region is a severe blow to moderate Republicanism, not only in Virginia but in the entire South.

After squeezing through two Democratic primary elections of unprecedented ferocity, Battle seemed highly vulnerable to Republican candidate Linwood Holton—particularly in the Tidewater, key to Virginia elections. Stalwarts of the conservative Byrd organization, led by Sydney Kellam of Virginia Beach, remained hostile to Battle. Liberals who had supported State Sen. Henry Howell against Battle in the primary seemed ready to support Holton.

Amazingly, many potential defectors have returned, reluctantly and without enthusiasm, to Battle. Kellam, still the state's premier tactician, has rallied the important Virginia Beach business community behind Battle. Even more Negroes have switched so completely to Battle that three out of four are expected to vote for him.

Similar coalescing in less important regions of the state explains why polls and politicians agree that Battle is now the favorite for Nov. 4. Nor can this be written off as the last hurrah for the old Democratic coalition, merely postponing by four years the ultimate triumph of Republicanism. Rather, Virginia seems to be at the crossroads, ready to determine its political climate for the 1970s.

A Republican victory would trigger a mass migration of conservatives—including perhaps Sen. Harry Byrd, Jr., himself—into the Republican party with the Democratic party becoming the minority party controlled by Howell's liberal-labor-Negro forces. Battle, liberal enough to be an intimate of the Kennedys (he was President Kennedy's ambassador to Australia) but conservative enough to play ball with the Byrd machine, would prevent such polarization as Governor.

Even more significant, Battle's election would extinguish the political career of the South's last important Republican moderate, at a time when Southern Republicans generally imitate the right-wing militancy of Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina. Holton has sought a broad-based coalition ranging from labor and Negroes to the business establishment.

Making his second race for Governor at age 46, Holton will retire to the shadows if defeated. Likely to succeed him in control of the Virginia Republican party is Thurmondism under the leadership of 34-year-old Richard Obenshain candidate for attorney general. Obenshain is considerably to Holton's right now (while Holton last week was deriding Battle for a "bookkeeper mentality," Obenshain was attacking his ties with the Kennedys) and would continue rightward in the event of defeat.

In patching together the old coalition, Battle has drastically revised his campaign's original tone. Beginning as the anti-Byrd candidate for Governor, Battle allied himself with remnants of the Byrd machine after eliminating the Byrd candidate (Lt. Gov. Fred Pollard) in the first primary. Consequently, defections to Holton by conservative businessmen have been below Republican expectations.

Even so, Battle has scored heavy gains among Negroes this autumn — partly due to Republican inattention. While winning the endorsement of the Richmond-based Negro Crusade for Veterans, Holton has neglected personal con-

Voter Rebellion In Ohio

CLEVELAND — Mayor Carl Stokes' bid for re-election ranks as the big story in Cleveland these days, but a story of even larger national concern is being written at the polls in Ohio. The Buckeye State is witnessing a taxpayer's revolt that is at once irrational and understandable. It is as if a long simmering kettle had suddenly boiled over.

The country caught a glimpse of the rebellion a year ago, when Youngstown voters six times rejected a 12-mill operating levy for their schools. On the seventh attempt, the levy carried—but not before the city's schools had been closed for five weeks.

Evidently the fever was not confined to Youngstown. In recent months, voters elsewhere in Ohio have hurled their smoldering resentment at the only target they could find: Their schools. This past May, local school boards sought approval of 47 bond issues. Only twelve of them carried. Of 135 proposed school levies, 62 went down the drain.

One of the defeated levies was in Fremont, an old and miles southeast of Toledo. There the school board asked the voters to renew a 4.5-mill levy and to add another 5.1 mills "to maintain quality education." The people responded in May with an emphatic, overwhelming "no." Under Ohio law, this first rejection was not final. Such levies can be brought to referendum three times within a year. The Fremont board went back to the voters in September, with sober warnings that schools would have to be closed if the voters balked again.

The warnings proved unavailing. The voters indeed did balk again; the levy went down by 4,569 to 4,055, and on November 14 Fremont's ten public schools will close, not to reopen until January 5. Two weeks hence, the tax package will be put before Fremont voters for the third time. The combined levy is expected to carry—a citizens committee at last has materialized in support of public education — but the damage has been done. Teacher contracts have been jeopardized and the community's reputation hurt.

Two other communities, Hamilton and Lebanon City, face prospects almost as black. They also have suffered two rejections this year. East Cleveland sought an extra million dollars a year, mostly for teacher salaries. The voters refused. Columbus proposed a $68 million school bond issue; it failed by three to one. In the greater Cleveland area, fourteen separate school districts have joined the rebellion.

One seeks in vain for an easy explanation. There were some racial overtones, one is told, in the East Cleveland rejection. But in Fremont, this was not true. Neither was there any great public outcry over "frills" at Fremont. The schools were not all that elaborate. Some voters resented the package proposition; they would have preferred to vote on the renewal and the new levy separately, but this was not regarded as a critical objection.

The answer appears to lie in a sense of frustration totally, in a massive, cumulative fact in mind.

Other Editors Say Better Work--Higher Pay

(Christian Science Monitor)

One of the biggest blows which industry could strike for a healthier American economy would be to refuse to grant large wage increases unless these are tied in with greater productivity per worker. To do otherwise is to feed inflation, weaken the economy, slow down national growth and encourage poor workmanship.

As Washington is tremblingly aware, the country is now entering a period of strong and high wage demands. Unions are demanding very stiff increases. Thus, for example the electrical workers are reportedly demanding anywhere from 50 to 100 percent more than General Electric is offering for a new contract.

We do not say that workers do not deserve hefty increases. But we do believe that such increases should come only under one of two conditions: (a) that worker productivity increase correspondingly, or (b) that the unions help in the installation of automation which would raise plant productivity by an equal figure.

It may seem trite and boring to say that America's stupendous wealth and world economic leadership have come through hard and increasingly better work. But this is the fundamental, unmitigable fact about the United States' favored and wealthy position. Any tendency to separate pay from production is a lethal mistake for a country which wishes to remain economically healthy.

To say all this does not in any wise mean supporting worker-exploitation or "shock-worker" tactics. It would be not only immoral but disastrous if the workers of America did not fully share in the growing wealth of the land. But the fact must never be lost sight of that work alone is wealth and only better work can create more wealth.

When productivity lags, efficiency lags. And when efficiency lags, so do innumerable other facets of national life. Great Britain's long postwar history of economic troubles does not come from having lost an empire. It comes in considerable part from the low rate of productivity growth in many branches of British industry. The postwar success of West Germany and Japan — both of which were far worse off in 1945 than was Britain — is proof of this.

It is right that worker wages go up and up, so that more of the better life becomes available. But this rise should be pegged to increased industrial production. We hope that the unions, management, White House and Congress bear this important fact in mind.

Strength For Today Senator Condemns High Interest

Why This Dissension?

Why do we have so much dissension in the world? Part of it is due to the fact that a certain percentage of all populations want to stir up trouble. Some have axes to grind. Others want to strike down enemies. Power-seekers have almost always turned to violence to achieve their ends, but it is encouraging to note that their efforts were seldom successful. Alexander the Great died in his early thirties. Napoleon spent his last years in exile. Hitler is believed to have committed suicide and most of the world rejoiced over his passing and appeared to regret nothing except the fact that it came some years too late. Hitler evidently had no conscience, which was fortunate for him.

But there is a good side to dissension. One of the evils of tyranny is that it tries to get people everywhere thinking precisely the same thing. As long as dissension stays within the discussion stage it is probably doing a lot of good. Even the carrying of banners and the clamor about rights and privileges can have some measure of good in them. It is when the ends served are evil that dissension becomes an affliction for individual, nation and humanity.

There is no use crying "Peace, Peace" when there is no peace. Evil as strife and dissension can be, they do at times serve good ends. Accordingly, we should ponder issues under discussion a long while before we roll up our sleeves and get ready for business.

By Earl L. Douglas

By ELMER ROESSNER

Senator Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, has joined those who think that higher interest rates are not halting inflation but actually creating more. He made his position firm in an address before the American Bankers Association convention in Honolulu.

Of higher interest rates forced by the Federal Reserve System, the Senator said that "there is good reason to believe that for many this is merely a sharp increase in one more cost factor and a further justification for raising the price of their product or service, one further factor in feeding the fires of inflation."

"In terms of real growth we are in a static condition while those who must share the fruits of our economy are constantly increasing in numbers. This is but another way of saying that a lot of our people are becoming worse off and constantly getting poorer, not richer."

Cut In Housing

One effect, he added, has been slow housing so much that we are building half the number of units needed.

"As we have tightened the monetary screws, as we have increased interest rates, we have particularly increased the cost for long-term borrowers, such as the home buyer. Not only has the cost increased sharply but with a reduction in funds available the supply has been sharply reduced. This has been particularly true of single family units," he told the bankers.

"By the economic decisions we have made we are forcing the American family to rent and to live in an apartment house just as is done in the Soviet Union. The Soviets consider single family dwellings wasteful of resources. We obviously fail to give home ownership and decent housing the priority it deserves in establishing our concerns."

He quoted President Nixon's declaration last January that he did not trust exhortations to labor and management to control inflation, and that leaders of labor and management, "much as they might

Ranks 31st In Taxing

By NOEL YANCEY

RALEIGH (AP) — So you think your taxes are too high. Many North Carolinians do, but the state Department of Tax Research says Tar Heels are not as heavily taxed as residents of most other states.

Statistics compiled by the department for Gov. Bob Scott, who has been sharply criticized for recent tax increases, show that North Carolina ranked 31st among the states in 1967-68 in an important measure of tax burden.

The researchers also figured that in 1967-68 the total state and local taxes in North Carolina amounted to 65 cents per capita per day.

This compared with the national average of 83 cents, the 55-cent average in South Carolina and Arkansas which were the lowest and the $1.38 average in New York which was the highest.

The figures were compiled before this year's tax increases went into effect, but North Carolina was not the only state in which taxes were increased this year.

Figures prepared by the Department of Tax Research also showed:

—That the state ranks 43rd in per capita property taxes levied by state and local governments in 1967-68, and property taxes in North Carolina "are less than one-half that of the United States as a whole."

—That North Carolina ranks 48th among the states in per capita long-term debt of state and local governments, which indicates that "North Carolina has relied much less upon borrowed money than have many other states."

—That the state ranks 43rd among the states in the number of full-time state and local governmental employees per 10,000 population.

This indicates governmental services in North Carolina are "accomplished with fewer workers as related to population than is the case in 42 other states," the Tax Research Department said.

It added North Carolina ranks 34th among the states in the amount of expenditures for local schools by state and local governments per $1,000 of personal income during 1967-68.

This indicated that North Carolina exceeds the U.S. average in the amount of its resources that are used in the support of the public schools," the department said.

It added North Carolina ranks 12th among the states in the amount of state and local government spending for education as a per cent of total general expenditures in 1967-68.

"North Carolina is putting a larger percentage of available revenue into expenditures for educational purposes than 38 other states, and North Carolina is noticeably above the U.S. average and the Southeastern states average in this respect," the tax researchers said.

To David Murray, a Scott aide, all these statistics added up to this:

"North Carolina is a good, strong state. We have a solid foundation. This has been true over a period of years and is reflected by our triple A bond rating."

"I believe that the taxpayer is getting his money's worth in North Carolina," he concluded.

He pointed to figures which showed that next to the 70 per cent share of the General Fund that goes to education, 9.2 per cent goes to health and hospitals with 6.4 per cent going to mental hospitals.

Teacher Computer Workshop Slated

A 10-week Teacher Computer Workshop will be offered by East Carolina University beginning November 10 by the Division of Continuing Education and the Computer Center of East Carolina University. It will be taught in three-hour, 15-minute sessions at the Computer Center (New Austin Building) each Monday evening through January 26. Each session will meet from 6:30 to 9:45 p.m. Dr. James F. Wirth will be the instructor for the course. Pre-registration for the course is required since a maximum of 24 teachers will be enrolled before the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock.

Officers Named By Homeowners

The Brook Valley Homeowners, Inc., held its second annual meeting at the Brook Valley Country Club last week. At the meeting, committee reports were presented by Mrs. C. E. Baker, beautification; T.R. Jones, planning and development; and Arthur S. Alford, public relations. President J. B. Davis Jr. reported on recreation, education, safety and traffic. Jack Barnes reported on the Eastern Pines Fire Department. Elected to the board of directors for a three-year term were Dr. O. R. Pierce, Mrs. Max Minges and C. W. Snell. Immediately following the general meeting, the board of directors met and elected the following officers: A. S. Alford, president; O. R. Pierce, first vice president; Mrs. Mack Minges, second vice president; Mrs. Joe Paulk, secretary; and C. W. Snell, treasurer. Regular monthly meetings of the board will be held on the third Thursday of each month.

Seeks Divorce Jimmie Rodgers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Singer Jimmie Rodgers has been sued for divorce on the ground of extreme mental cruelty. Rodgers, 36, and his wife Colleen, 33, were married in Portland, Ore., Jan. 4, 1957, the year Rodgers rose to fame with his recording of "Honeycomb." They separated last Feb. 2 said the Superior Court suit filed Wednesday. They have two children, Michael Colleen, 9, and Michael James, 6.

Ronald Reagan of California, brought to Norfolk for a fund-raising dinner tonight at the insistence of conservative fat cats, will do even more to discourage Negro support for Holton here. None of this brands Holton as a sure loser. The internal contradictions of the Democratic coalition persist. Battle's aides feel Howell has tried covertly to scuttle the Battle campaign and see Howell's fingerprints on Holton's strong labor union support. Anti-Battle feeling among liberals is so strong that Joe Fitzpatrick of Norfolk, Ho-

Other Disciplines Included In Broadening Theological Study

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Theological study, once carried on mostly in quiet academies apart from the technological and social sciences, today is increasingly pursued in close conjunction with those fields.

The shift has set off some physical, as well as mental, readjustment.

Besides moving to keep in touch with secular disciplines, theology also has generally broken out of its denominational orbits, and now goes on mostly in a context of various approaches to faith.

"There's an expanded awareness that theological work has to be done in association with various religious traditions and also with other areas of knowledge," says the Rev. John Gallen, a Roman Catholic theologian.

"It involves the whole human experience, not just part of it." That quest for wider horizons was symbolized here when the 100-year-old Jesuit seminary, Woodstock College, this fall completed the first stage of a move from its rural, woodland setting in Maryland to a cosmopolitan educational complex in Manhattan.

Here, the once-sequestered Catholic classes go on in cooperative interchanges with Protestant Union Theological Seminary, the Jewish Theological Seminary of America and Columbia University, all in the same uptown area.

And that inclusive divine sphere is the business of theology, sometimes called the "queen of sciences."

Through other scientific and intellectual disciplines, however, "we know much more about man and his world than in the past," Father Gallen noted.

"And theology has to take this knowledge into account if it is to deal fully with reality, as we now understand it."

Woodstock's move here, from its 687-acre tract in the hills 20 miles west of Baltimore, is part of a trend that has involved many seminaries in moves for closer links with a broader educational spectrum.

"We need to examine other traditions as well, both Protestant and Jewish thought, and we've also got to keep abreast of the university sciences, the whole world of man—it's all in God's province."

Among the major new cooperative arrangements are the Boston Theological Institute, involving seven Protestant and Catholic seminaries in that area, and the Graduate Theological Union at Berkeley, Calif., involving 10 seminaries.

In Dubuque, Iowa, representatives of Presbyterian and Roman Catholic seminaries this fall completed agreement on plans for sharing classroom, office and dormitory space.

In Dayton, Ohio, four Theological seminaries—Lutheran, Methodist, Catholic and United Church—are considering a "cluster" arrangement there for sharing faculty, curricular resources and other facilities.

Whenever department crews encounter paleontological, anthropological, archeological or historical remains, they notify the University of Wyoming and the State Archeologist's office.

Notorious Mobster Had Role In Foundation That Justice Douglas Headed

AN AP NEWS SPECIAL
Parvin-Lansky Bit Two takes
By JEAN HELLER
Associated Press Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A major source of financial support for the foundation which Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas headed for nine years came from a deal set up by Meyer Lansky, one of the nation's most notorious mobsters.

Under a contract signed by Albert Parvin, Lansky was paid $200,000 for acting as middleman in setting up the 1960 sale of the Flamingo Hotel here. Parvin, former head of the Parvin-Dohrmann Co. of Los Angeles, was president and 30 per cent owner of the company seeking to sell the hotel-casino, Hotel Flamingo, Inc.

The Flamingo was sold to a group which included Florida hotelmen Samuel Cohen, Morris Lansburgh and Daniel Lifter.

The $200,000 was a finders fee which Lansky received for introducing the sellers to the Florida men interested in buying the hotel.

Parvin used a portion of the proceeds from the sale of the Flamingo to help set up the Albert Parvin Foundation. Parvin said Douglas aided him in creating the foundation. Douglas later served as its president and only salaried officer.

It could not be determined if Douglas ever learned of or was told of the background of the Flamingo sale at any time during his association with the foundation. Douglas was asked for comment but declined to discuss the matter. Parvin could not be reached for comment.

A federal grand jury in New York is reported to be investigating the dealings of Parvin, Parvin-Dohrmann Co. and other individuals and companies, but this probe apparently is unrelated to the Flamingo sale.

The terms of the contract stipulated that Parvin's company would pay Lansky the $200,000 fee in quarterly installments of $6,500 beginning Jan. 2, 1961. Under those terms, Parvin should have made the final payment to Lansky in October 1968.

Lansky's name has come up repeatedly in recent investigations of organized crime. Sen. John L. McClellan's permanent investigations subcommittee, for example, describes Lansky as "one of the country's top gangsters."

Frank Johnson, chairman of the Nevada Gaming Control Board, was asked about the state's official attitude toward any Lansky involvement in gambling activities here.

"He is not the kind of man we want doing business in his state," Johnson said. "And that's putting it as mildly as I can." The purchase price of the Flamingo was $10.5 million. Parvin was the principal stockholder with more than a 30 per cent share of the company which sold the hotel-casino. Harry Goldman, Parvin's partner in Parvin-Dohrmann—a multimillion-dollar-a-year hotel supply business in Los Angeles—held 7 per cent. Other stockholders included singer Tony Martin and actor George Raft.

Parvin said in an interview in 1964 that four years earlier he contacted Douglas and sought his help in setting up the foundation. Douglas agreed.

Tax records of the Parvin Foundation dating back to 1962 show that Douglas was serving as president at an annual salary of $12,000. Proceeds from the Flamingo sale show up regularly through 1968 as one of the foundation's largest assets.

Foundation tax records prior to 1962 are not public information.

Douglas came under sharp congressional criticism last spring for his involvement with the foundation, especially when it was disclosed that he wrote Parvin telling him that an Internal Revenue Service investigation of the foundation was "a manufactured case."

In May, Douglas resigned as president of the foundation.

The Parvin Foundation has also had an interest in several Las Vegas hotels and casinos by virtue of the Parvin-Dohrmann stock it held. Parvin-Dohrmann owns three casinos here, the Aladdin, the Fremont and the Stardust.

Harvey Silbert, secretary of the foundation, said it severed all its gambling ties in May—the same month Douglas resigned as foundation president—when it sold its shares of Parvin-Dohrmann. Silbert also said the Flamingo mortgage was paid off earlier this year.

Parvin has sold out his interest in Parvin-Dohrmann as well, but still maintains the foundation.

In June, after Parvin sold out, Parvin-Dohrmann and Denny's Restaurants Inc. announced they would merge, but the plans were cancelled earlier this month. Several days later both firms and their officers found themselves embroiled with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

An SEC complaint, filed in Federal District Court in New York, alleges violations of anti-fraud, report-filing and credit provisions of the Federal securities laws in connection with the now defunct merger plans. The SEC also accused Parvin of filing a false and misleading proxy statement with the Commission.

It is not known how long Lansky and Parvin knew each other prior to their 1960 business dealings, but Lansky had known the three principal purchasers of the Flamingo for some time.

Records of the Nevada Gaming Control Board show that Cohen, Lansburgh and Lifter are associates in a number of large Miami Beach hotels including the San Souci, Deauville, Sherry Frontenac, Casablanca and Versailles. Additional Florida records show they also have been associates in the Crown Hotel, the Eden Roc Hotel and the Waikiki Motel, all also in Miami Beach.

Each Visitor To Cuba Registered

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—More than 2 million persons have traveled the air corridor between Mexico and Cuba since Fidel Castro took power on the island, according to authorities at Mexico City International Airport.

Each person coming from and going to Cuba is registered in files of the Federal Judicial Police station at the airport. The number includes newsmen, diplomats and tourists, and persons who left Cuba permanently to reside in other countries.

Big Uplift Built For Expo '70

TOKYO (UPI)—Hitachi, Japan's largest manufacturing firm, has built a two-story elevator which will lift 260 persons at a time, with 130 passengers on each deck.

Hitachi says it is the biggest elevator ever built. It will be installed at the 1970 Japan World Exposition (Expo '70). The builders recommend the elevator for department stores and theaters.

South Africa's Harbors Booming

By MICHAEL KEATS
JOHANNESBURG (UPI) — Closing of the Suez Canal following the six day Israeli-Arab war in 1967 has been a boon to South Africa's harbors. Since 1967 ships have sailed around the Cape of Good Hope into South African ports at a rate that has reached about 1,000 a month, with resulting far-reaching economic and strategic implications for this country.

Six Men Move Big Steel Beam

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — How long does it take six men to carry a 35 foot long 140 pound steel beam 12 miles? The answer is seven hours.

Three Africans, employed by a local manufacturer, thought their boss was joking when he ordered them to deliver the huge beam, to an Ophirton, Johannesburg building contractor on foot. After letting the beam they refused to carry on because it was too heavy. Three more Africans were sent to help and the party started for Ophirton at 10 a.m. At about 5 p.m., tired, hot and thirsty, they reached their destination. Two Africans with red safety flags accompanied them.

Asked why manpower was used for the delivery, the buyer, N.H. Heppes, said the beam was so long a double trailer would have been necessary to transport it and this would have been too expensive.

The Africans will not receive extra pay. "The job they did was in the course of their duties," Heppes said.

BUSY SIGNER

OSLO (UPI)—During 1968 Norway signed a total of 64 international treaties.

the Cape and calling at one of the Country's major harbors—Durban, Cape Town, Port Elizabeth and East London—has nearly doubled since June, 1967.

And while some ship-owners may still be looking toward the Suez Canal and wondering about the possibility of it re-opening, shipping authorities in South Africa are confident the Suez Canal will never again become one of the world's major waterways.

Many shipping people agree that Suez has seen its best days. For as ships grow in size, they say, the canal will become too small. It also is a fact that although the canal has been closed for more than two years, there has been remarkably little disruption of world trade.

Closed Canal No Trouble
Figures for immediately before and after the closing of the Suez Canal show a phenomenal jump in the number of ships rounding the Cape and the amount of tonnage handled. In the year June, 1966, to June, 1967, 7,370 ships rounded the Cape and the gross tonnage handled at Cape Town harbor was 46,487,000. Then from June 1967, to June, 1968, the number of ships rose to 12,268 and cargo handled at Cape Town harbor was 95,337,000 tons.

The latest figures available for the year 1968-69 indicate there will be no slack in the activity that has gripped South African ports—especially Durban and Cape Town, the two biggest. At the end of April this year 13,890 ships already had used the Cape sea route.

According to one shipping source, the revenue to South Africa from ships entering its harbors can be calculated on an average of between $560 to $700 per ship. Since June, 1967, 3,000 diverted ships called at Cape Town and 4,000 at Durban harbor. This gives an estimated extra revenue of $4.5 million in berthing fees alone to which must be added income from food and provisions and other trade.

According to a spokesman for Cape Town's office of the port captain, several thousand other ships stopped outside harbor limits for stores and mail to be taken to them by launch and helicopter, thus escaping harbor charges.

Decision To Use Cape
The decision taken in March 1968, by the major oil companies never again to rely heavily on the Suez Canal for transporting oil has had a major impact on South Africa. Since they were forced to use the Cape route, oil companies have found that oil can be transported via the Cape in super tankers at a saving of up to 20 cents a barrel.

Shipyards already have orders for about 200 new tankers of which more than half are more than 200,000 tons and the rest more than 100,000 tons. None of these tankers will be able to get through the Suez Canal.

Apart from these considerations the closing of Suez also has resulted in a South African tourist boom. It is estimated that about 170,000 tourists have passed through either Durban or Cape Town from re-routed liners on their way to the Far East or Australia. It is further estimated that they have spent in the vicinity of $1 million on sightseeing and shopping excursions.

Lord Chalfont, Britain's minister of state, reported that the number of British registered ships passing around the Cape of Good Hope had more than tripled since the closing of the Suez Canal. Soviet Russia's use of the route also has risen dramatically. According to the Cape Town port captain more than one-third of the 13,900 vessels that passed during the year ending April 1969, were from Communist countries. And of the 5,500 Communist ships, nearly 3,900 were Russian. For South Africa, the composite picture is a period of economic, industrial and strategic growth substantially helped by the Suez closure.

JOHANNESBURG HARBOR is teeming with traffic following the 1967 Arab-Israeli war, which closed the Suez Canal. The number of ships rounding the Cape has nearly doubled since closing of the Middle East waterway. (UPI Telephoto)

Rose Plays Host To Division 3 Leader Enloe

Meet The Rampants

Lewis Gidley, left, and Bryant Kittrell are two members of this year's Rose High School Football team. Gidley, a 5-9, 175-pound senior is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale R. Gidley. He is the starting middle linebacker on defense. Kittrell, a 6-1, 185-pound senior, is the son of Mr.

and Mrs. J. B. Kittrell Jr. He has seen action at the middle guard position on defense. The Rampants will play host to Raleigh's Enloe High School Friday at 8 p.m. in Ficklen Stadium. (Reflector Photos)

Rampants Take On Biggest Opponent Of Year In Rough, Tough Eagle Team

The Enloe Eagles swoop down into Ficklen Stadium Friday night to face Rose High, and the Raleigh aggregate is hoping for a better welcome than it got last time around.

Several years ago, when Enloe was first getting its feet wet in the football world, the Eagles visited Rose, and came away with a loss, and the Rampants had a perfect 10-0 season, and eventually were the Eastern 3-A runners-up.

This time, however, things are definitely in the favor of the Enloe team. They are currently tied for the lead in the Division Three race of the Eastern 4-A Conference. Oddly enough, that tie is with the only team that Rose has managed to beat this year, Raleigh's Sanderson High School. Since then, Sanderson has improved, but hasn't met Enloe yet.

Looking at the record, too, might be improper. Among its victims, Enloe numbers Fayetteville Ross, by a 48-0 score. Ross, later in the year, posted a 45-0 victory over Wilmington's New Hanover. And New Hanover had rallied to take a 29-28 victory over Rose a couple of weeks ago.

About the only good news about this week is that fullback Gary Singleton, injured in that game with New Hanover, is back, and is expected to be ready to play against Enloe.

Coach Bud Phillips said that Singleton and his replacement last week, Cliff Edwards, would both see action, and that newcomer Charlie Speight would probably play some at halfback. "Enloe is a big team," Phillips said of his opposition. "They have good backs and excellent speed. Their fullback is their big gun. He runs like a train."

The coach said that Enloe will be the biggest team the Rampants have faced this year. "Sanderson was a big team, but Enloe is even bigger."

Besides their speedy fullback, Enloe gets quite a bit of running from its tailback in the slot formation, with their wingback carrying some too.

"They can throw pretty good too," he said. "They have a real well balanced attack."

On defense, Enloe moves into a 5-4 line. "Of course, with George Thompson (the Enloe coach, formerly at Kinston), you can never tell from one week to the next what they'll be doing. But in the films we've seen, they've gone pretty much with the five-four."

Rose, meanwhile, continues to put most of its practice emphasis on defense, the problem of the year. "We've shifted Bob Forbes to left halfback and Speight has been working at the safety slot. Enloe likes to go off tackle and off guards, and will also run the sweeps, so we've worked pretty hard on trying to stop them."

Phillips pointed out that Rose's big problem was probably fundamental. "We do too much arm tackling," he said, "we need to get more shoulder into the ball carrier. We work and work on this, but it just doesn't seem to come out in the games."

The team also worked some on its running attack, with Singleton and Edwards, Speight and Donald Taylor.

"A couple of years ago, we went up there with a certain loss staring us in the face," the coach said. "And we beat them. We can do it again."

The probable starting lineup for the Rampants has Mike Harrington and Josh Weeks at the offensive ends, with Tim Leith and Jay Hagans at tackles, Tommy Worsley or Ronald Cherry and Steve Williams at guards, Tommy Bland at center, Joe West at quarterback, Greg Williams and Donald Taylor at halfbacks, and either Singleton or Edwards at fullback.

On defense, the Rampants will start Harold Lloyd and John Conway at ends, Tom Hodgen and Hagans at tackles, Bryant Kittrell and Steve Williams at guards, Lewis Gidley at line-backer, Greg Williams at rover, Bob Forbes and Edwards at halfbacks, and Speight at safety.

Game time is 8 p.m.

Buc Kickers Down Furman

GREENVILLE, S.C. — East Carolina University's soccer team evened its Southern Conference record with a 4-1 victory over Furman earlier this week. The Bucs are 1-1.

The Pirates never trailed in the match as Jay Cuthbert and Steve Luquire led the way with two goals each.

Cuthbert scored the go-ahead goal in the first period, then sewed things up with another in the second period. Late in the half, Furman picked up its only goal, a shot by Joe Neer.

In the fourth period, Luquire put the match out of reach with two goals.

East Carolina ... 1 1 0 2-4

Citadel Pass Defense Test

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Citadel's No. 2 passing defense in the Southern Conference will get a severe test Saturday when the Bulldogs entertain Davidson's football league leaders, and coach Red Parker isn't sure how it will stand up.

"Davidson has the finest short passing game in America," says Parker. "I would have to say that they have an unstoppable offense. Our goal will be to just try and slow it down. They have a tendency to kill you with their short passes and then all of a sudden someone is behind your defense for a score."

Wildcat coach Homer Smith sounds somewhat like Parker when he talks of Davidson's defensive job.

"This week our defense will have another difficult task in handling a team that is bigger and stronger," says Smith. "Our defense has been good. But the defensive team is still not what it could be; we think it can be better."

Parker for one, however, isn't sorry Davidson beat William and Mary last Saturday to remain unbeaten and untied in five over-all starts — "It puts more emphasis on our game with them here Saturday."

Middle guard Roger Meyer and tight end Gene Shields returned to practice Wednesday at The Citadel after being out two weeks with injuries, but Billy Watson — the nation's top punt returner — is questionable. Linebacker Robert Norris was praised in Davidson's defensive drills.

Winless VMI learned it will have to meet William and Mary in a conference game Saturday.

without halfback Tom Sowers, reinjured last weekend against The Citadel.

Robersonville Can Move Closer To Tobacco Belt Title With Victory

With two conference games remaining on their schedule, Robersonville can almost chalk up another Tobacco Belt conference championship. The Rams will take on Saratoga Friday night in Saratoga, with their next closest opponent Grifton traveling to Belhaven for a conference game Saturday night. The Rams have one conference loss on their record, while Grifton now has two after last week's defeat by the Rams.

If Robersonville takes their game against Saratoga, they can be sure of at least a tie for the conference title.

In other games in the area, Greene Central will be at Farmville for an Eastern Plains tilt, Northampton will be at Williamston. Ayden travels to Louisburg, H. B. Sugg goes to Rose Hill Charity, and South Ayden is at Kinston on Saturday night.

Robersonville-Saratoga
The Rams won an important game over Grifton last week, going by the Bulldogs 28-0. Both teams went into the game with one loss apiece in the conference. Grifton had a tough time getting their offense moving, while the Rams were fired up both offensively and defensively.

ly, Robersonville travels to Saratoga, who is 1-3 in the conference, falling to Vanceboro last week 14-6.

Grifton-Belhaven
Saturday night the Bulldogs will go to Belhaven, trying to stay just one game behind Robersonville. Belhaven fell to Bath last week 18-8, and the Bulldogs will be looking for a win after their poor showing against Robersonville.

Greene Central-Farmville
Both the Rams and the Red Devils will be trying to hold their positions in the Eastern Plains conference in their get-together tomorrow night in Farmville. The Devils have a 5-1-1 record, with their only defeat against Northern Nash. Greene Central has fallen to Southern Wayne in the conference, and have still to play Northern Nash in conference tilts.

Farmville eased by North Lenoir last week 35-13 in a conference contest, with Back Dickie Newton leading the Devil attack, scoring three touchdowns. Greene Central fell to South Lenoir in a non-conference affair, 46-0 for their worst defeat of the year. The Rams had 69 yards rushing, to 355 for South Lenoir. The game should prove to be an interesting one, if the Rams can get their offense moving again.

ing Ayden in among the top runners for a conference championship, but the Tornadoes have been out of it for a long time now, falling to Manteo early in the season in the Tidewater conference. The Tornadoes put up a good game against Roanoke Conference champions Weldon last week, falling 22-20 due to the inability to make two attempted point after.

Northampton-Williamston
The Green Wave has finally shaken off an early season slump, after winning their first two games, they lost the next three straight before downing Perquimans two weeks ago, and going by previously unbeaten Gates County last week, 31-28. The Waves win last week pushed their record past the 500 mark.

Ayden-Louisburg
It seems odd not to be counting

Whites Lead Rec Football

The White team in the Greenville Recreation Department's seventh and eighth grade football program leads the league after two games, with a perfect record.

The Whites picked up their second win on Tuesday, downing the Green team, 12-0.

Kelly Heath scored the opening touchdown for the Whites with a one-yard plunge. Then, in the last quarter, Jerry Grifton scored on a six-yard run.

Monday, the Blue team picked up a 25-6 victory. The Blues' first touchdown came in the first period on a one-yard run by Rusty Rivenback. In the second quarter, John Allen of the Blues scored on a 15-yard run. The Reds got its only touchdown in the second period, as Jay Vester pulled in a 32-yard pass from Mike Wallace.

In the second half, the Blues scored twice more. Allen passed 30 yards to Doug Causey to set up a three-yard scoring run by Bronson Matney. Then Matney scored again on a one-yard run.

Glotzbach Hits New Mile Mark

ROCKINGHAM, N. C. (AP)—On his first time out in the North Carolina Motor Speedway since it was renovated, Charlie Glotzbach of Georgetown, Ind., drove a winged Dodge Charger at 136.785 miles per hour Wednesday, a world record for a one-mile closed course.

He qualified for the pole starting position for Sunday's American 500 stock car race.

Turns in the track were changed to a 24-degree elevation in a $500,000 rebuilding project this summer.

Using the newly banked turns to advantage, six drivers bettered the old one-mile mark of 133.417 m.p.h. set last July at Dover Downs, Del., by Don White of Keokuk, Iowa.

Bobby Allison, in another new Daytona Charger, got the other front-row spot in the 40-car field with his 137.290 m.p.h.

This was the second time this season that Dodge won the two pole positions. The second row was filled by Cale Yarborough of Timmons-ville, S.C., in a Mercury and David Pearson of Spartanburg, S. C., in a Ford. Yarborough hit 135.808 and Pearson 135.447.

Pearson thus broke his old one-lap record for the track of 119.916 m.p.h., set last March before the speedway was revamped.

The other four starting positions available in the first day of trials went to Donnie Allison in a Ford, 134.480; Buddy Baker in a Dodge, 133.708; Richard Petty in a Ford, 132.868; and Bobby Isaac in a Dodge, 132.839.

Eight more positions will be filled today. Lee Roy Yarborough crashed his Ford during a morning practice run Wednesday, eliminating him from first-day qualifying. He was expected to try today in a new car.

Cougars Down Caps; Take Eastern Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rick Barry never wanted to play for the Washington Caps and now he doesn't have to, at least for awhile. The decision was made not by the courts but by the collapse of his gimpy left knee.

Barry left the floor in the second quarter of Wednesday night's American Basketball Association game against the Carolina Cougars. Surgery appeared likely to repair the collapsed cartilage in the knee, which would mean the 6-foot-7 forward might be out for the remainder of the season.

Barry wanted to return to the San Francisco Warriors of the National Basketball Association when the Oakland Oaks franchise in the rival ABA was switched to Washington this summer. He took the contract hassle to court and joined the Caps when it was ruled he could not play for the Warriors.

The Cougars went on to win 122-91 Wednesday night. In other ABA games, Miami trimmed the Los Angeles Stars 119-98 and Indiana beat Denver 117-107.

In the NBA, the Los Angeles Lakers whipped Cincinnati 116-109, San Francisco nipped Atlanta 94-83, Philadelphia topped Phoenix 122-119 and Milwaukee beat San Diego 115-102.

Barry had scored two points on a field goal before his knee acted up. He was all-ABA forward last year with a 30-point per-game average for the Oaks. He also captured the scoring crown when he played for the Warriors before switching to the ABA.

It was the second straight victory for the Cougars and it put them in the lead in the Eastern Division, one-half game in front of Pittsburgh.

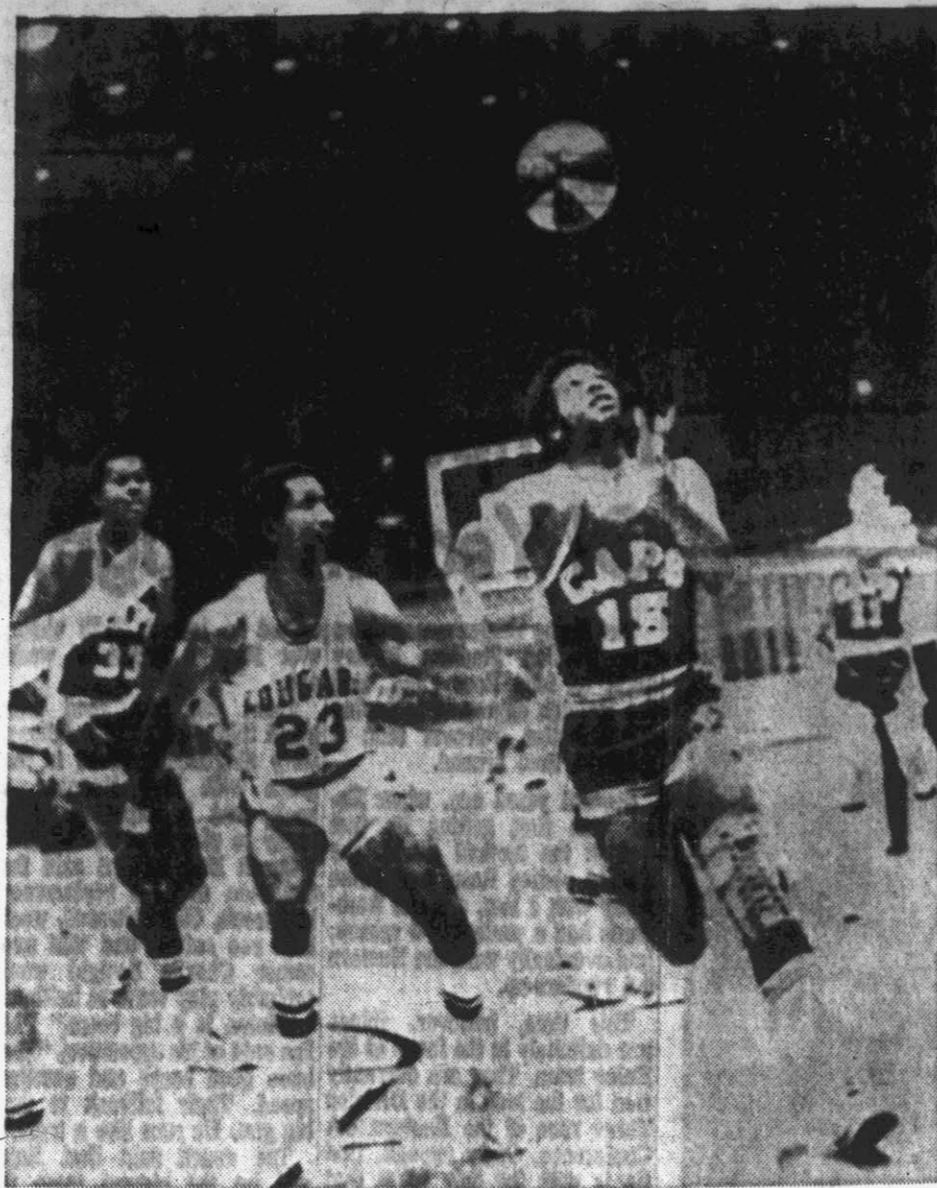

The Cougars spurred ahead at the opening of the second period, with Gene Littles scoring 10 points in the drive. Bob Varga was top scorer for Carolina with 25 points. Warren Armstrong was high for the Caps with 20.

Miami, 2-1, trailed the Stars, 3-2, by three points with five minutes to play but Don Sidle dumped in eight straight points to turn the game around. Sidle plunked in 25 points.

Don Freeman, Miami's leading scorer last year, suffered a groin injury in the second period as he went up for a rebound. Doctors couldn't determine immediately how long he would be sidelined.

The Pacers, 2-1, got going quickly with Bob Netolicky scoring 11 points in the first period. Indiana led 31-18 at the end of the first frame and 90-70 after three quarters.

Netolicky was the game's top scorer with 32 points and rookie Spencer Haywood was high for the winless Rockets with 23.

Guard Warren Armstrong of the Washington Caps reaches for a long pass in front of Gene Littles of the Carolina Cougars. The Cougars won the American Basketball Association game Wednesday night in Charlotte, 122-91. It was the second straight win of the year for the Cougars. (AP Wirephoto)

Pirate Foes Up In Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

North Dakota State held onto first place in The Associated Press small college football poll by an even bigger margin than last week but Indiana of Pennsylvania slipped from second to fifth, place despite its fifth straight victory and one first-place vote.

Sportswriters and sportscasters voting as members of the national panel awarded nine first place votes and 270 points to unbeaten North Dakota State today after its 64-14 victory over North Dakota. State had 288 points and a 58-point margin over Indiana the week previous.

Montana beat Idaho State 46-36 and moved from fourth to second place with 188 points and one first place vote.

Texas A&I stepped into third place with one first place vote and 177 points after whipping East Texas 28-14. Alcorn A&I moved from fifth to fourth place with 150 points after blanking Lane College 43-0.

Sacramento State, which jumped past Nevada-Reno 41-7, was awarded 128 points and jumped from eighth to sixth place.

Indiana, Pa., which received 230 points and three first place votes, last week, got only 180 points this week, despite its 38-14 defeat over Clarion State.

East Tennessee State hopped from 10th to seventh place with 106 points. Akron slid from seventh to ninth while Delaware, slipped from sixth to eighth. Abilene Christian, No. 10, which trimmed Lamar Tech 22-9, was the only new entry in the Top 10.

Lenoir Rhyne dropped from ninth place to 11th despite a 29-6 decision over Gilford.

Pirates Work On Passing

East Carolina University spent considerable time working yesterday on its passing game in preparations for Saturday game with Southern Illinois University.

The contact drill highlighted the phase of the game that the Salukis have proved most vulnerable to. Coach Clarence Stasavich singled out fullback Butch Colson and tailback Jack Patterson for the passing during the workout.

"We have worked harder on the passing because Southern Illinois has a fine defense against the running game," Stasavich said.

The Pirates also continued to work hard on punt protection. Southern Illinois has blocked several punts this year, including three against Indiana State last week, two of which were converted into touchdowns.

However, problems at offensive end continue to plague the Pirates, where the situation is termed critical. Of the four ends, three are injured and are doubtful for the game, Mike Aldridge, Richard Corrada and Tom Pulley.

Still Listed Among Top Favorites In Tourney

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Golf Writer SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Ken Still is golf's most happy fella. The world is his oyster, particularly the world of sports. And that, incidentally, isn't restricted to golf. He's an avid follower of all sports, particularly the pros.

The happy-go-lucky guy, a pro since 1961, made a breakthrough this year when he scored his first tour victory, in the Florida Citrus Open.

He followed that with another triumph, holding off a drive by Gary Player for the Milwaukee Open title. And he recently teamed with Gene Littler to win the CBS Golf Classic, a team affair filmed at the Firestone Country Club in Akron, Ohio which will be released later this winter.

And he was one of the top candidates for the $20,000 first prize when he teed off today in the first round of the San Francisco Open.

"I'm playing real good, just super," Still said. He had a sparkling 67, four under par on the 6,677 yard Harding Park Golf Club course in Wednesday's pro-am to back him up.

"I missed the cut at the Sahara last week," he said, "but there's a reason for that. I was just pooped after winning the CBS Golf Classic."

Still, a slim 6-footer and now 34, is enjoying his best year of the tour, with over $69,000 in official money. And enjoying is the right word.

Some of his fellow pros criticize his easy, relaxed approach to the game. But carefree Ken goes his own way.

"I play my golf, but there's time for other things, too," he said.

The stories about him are legion. He once charged on to a basketball court to challenge 7-foot-1 Wilt Chamberlain and was advised to "get out of here before I stuff you through the basket."

He's a personal friend of many of the Los Angeles Dodgers and he Chicago Cubs. During the baseball season he keeps a sharp eye out for spectators who may have a radio turned to a game and will interrupt his round to ask the score and inning.

On football weekends he heads down the fairway with a transistor in his pocket, listening to a game.

He's a very gregarious guy and is a great check-snatcher—just won't let anyone pick up a check. And this year he's picking up more and more of the type you cash instead of pay.

PRODUCES WINNERS

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — As a soccer coach Joe Palone knows nothing but winners. In his 19 seasons of coaching the U.S. Military Academy soccer team, Palone's booters show 141 victories, 49 defeats and 23 ties.

In the past six seasons the native of LeRoy, N.Y., has taken his booters to the NCAA tournament. He coached Plebe soccer and baseball at West Point in 1944 and took over the soccer reins in 1947.

Lew Comes Out On Top In First Meet With 'E'

By RON ROACH

Associated Press Writer SAN DIEGO (AP) — Lew Alcindor met former collegiate rival Elvin Hayes for the first time as a pro Wednesday night and the new giant of play-for-pay basketball was virtually unstoppable.

Only personal fouls could halt the 7-foot-1½ rookie center of the Milwaukee Bucks as big Lew was disqualified with his sixth with 3:10 left in the game with the San Diego Rockets. But Milwaukee won anyway, 115-102.

Alcindor scored his pro high in three games of 38 points mostly on short hook or jump shots over the outstretched hands of the 6-9½ Hayes.

The Bucks (3-0) led all the way and the closest the Rockets (1-3) could come was three points while Alcindor and Hayes were both on the bench. The National Basketball Association game was seen by a near-capacity crowd of 13,643 at the Sports Arena.

Hayes, who played on the Houston team that broke the Alcindor-led UCLA Bruins' long winning streak in 1967 managed 21 points in 38 minutes of play, well under his average. Lew, playing 42 minutes, also outscored Big E, 19-15.

"Lew is a superior ballplayer in every respect," Milwaukee Coach Larry Costello said. "Hayes played him hard but there's no question in my mind who's the greatest."

Alcindor, a bit upset over fouling out for the second straight game, had a couple of his jump shots blocked by Hayes, then made an adjustment.

"I'm still learning how to shoot on the big centers in this league," he said. "In the first part of the game I let him see too much of the ball. Elvin has great jumping ability." Alcindor also switched almost exclusively to his hook shot, pouring in 20 first-half points. Hayes, meanwhile, was as cold as the rest of the Rockets, scoring just nine before intermission.

"It seems like I'm getting worse," Lew said of his performance. "I kept fouling out. I fouled out only once or twice at UCLA."

Asked if Hayes gave him more trouble than other centers, Alcindor said:

"They're all giving me trouble, but I haven't played against them all. I have to work hard all the time, it's no vacation out there."

Coach Costello said Alcindor's foul problem will diminish with experience.

Hayes, who had four fouls called against him, said he had to sit out much of the fourth quarter with a headache. He called Alcindor a "real fine ballplayer. I can't put him the same class with Bill Russell and Wilt Chamberlain yet."

"He commits himself when he doesn't have to with that height. We went inside and got shots but we just didn't make 'em. He's got a little jump shot now," Hayes said. "He had that hook in college. I didn't change my game plan. It's just like playing against Wilt and Rus-

Marshall Hit By NCAA Ban

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association will move in January to tighten up transferring from junior colleges to its four-year institutions and also to restrict recruiting visits, if it follows the endorsements of its policy-making body.

The NCAA Council concluded its three-day fall meeting here Wednesday by endorsing more stringent restrictions on junior college transfers and visitations on athletic staff members to prospective athletes as well as the athletes' visits to campuses.

The Council also slapped one-year probation on Marshall University, Huntington, W. Va., for football recruiting and financial aid violations and San Jose (Calif.) State for two of its athletes running in an uncertified track meet.

They were John Carlos and Sam Caruthers, who ran in the Orange County Invitational.

In other action, the group restored to basketball eligibility Gary Freeman, Oregon State; Bob Hall, College of Idaho; Mark Lliteras, Boise State, and Paul Barrasa, Lyndon (Vt.) State. All four had been ruled ineligible for out-of-season competition violations.

OLD FAVORITES . . . of the 15th and 16th century are the specialty of "The Collegium", a group of young musicians devoted to music of this period. Pictured

'The Collegium' Will Play Old Favorites

At 8:00 o'clock tonight "The Collegium", a group of young musicians based at East Carolina University, will present a program of favorite selections from the 15th and 16th century. Dedicated to the playing and singing of music in vogue in the Renaissance period of European history, "The Collegium" will feature music from their repertoire of music popular in those days in England, France, Italy, Spain and Germany.

This is but one of many groups which have come into existence within the past few years as the result of a renewed interest in this field of music. Gentleness, a clear melodic line, and improvisation are hallmarks of Renaissance music. Kathleen Daughtry, a junior at ECU, is director of the group. Instrumentalists include George Weigand, lute player; John and Barbara Tyson, Susan Walker, David Howell, Barbara Henry, and Micki Griest, who interchangeably play a variety of recorders, as well as the kortholt and the krummhorn. Susan and David are students at Rose High, others are teachers in the public schools or students at East Carolina. Singers with the group include Patricia Hiss, June Laine, Joan Howard, Carolyn Greene, Marilyn Lucht, James Powers,

Activities Participation Indicates Wide Variance

A recent report by the Greenville Recreation Commission reveals that attendance at some activities are well attended while others have few persons taking part. Based on figures compiled for South Greenville and Elm Street Recreation Centers, the report shows that at South Greenville the total attendance at all activities in September amounted to 3,574. This average 188 in daily attendance. At Elm Street, the total figure was 3,415—including reservations and other activities, the figure is 4,221. At South Greenville, the high point in participating was the Teenage Club, which averaged 105 in attendance per meeting. Gym night, held 19 times during the month, averaged 78 persons per meeting. Playschool and Kearney Park meetings each accounted for an attendance of only eight persons, the two lowest attendance figures for any of the scheduled activities at South Greenville.

The Service league with an average attendance of 73 persons; and seventh and eighth grade football, represented by 68 in attendance, were the most successful programs at Elm Street. Tennis, with an average of three persons, and the Pot Belly CLUB, AT WHICH AN AV

Staff Cookout At White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon treated about 3,000 members of the White House staff and their families to a cookout of hamburgers, hot dogs and fixings on the lawn of his official residence Wednesday.

Henry Haller, the White House chef, cooked the hamburgers over a charcoal grill.

WRONG DECISION

SEAL BEACH, Calif. (UPI)—Brien Kyles, 17, decided the safest place to park his sports car while he traveled to Mexico was next to the Seal Beach police station. When he returned the car had been stripped of tires and wheels.

Rep. Jones To Speak At Farm-City Dinner

First District Congressman Walter B. Jones will be the featured speaker at Greenville's first annual Farm-City Goodwill dinner meeting on Monday, Nov. 3.

Sponsored by the Greenville Chamber of Commerce and the merchants Association and the civic clubs of Greenville, the meeting will be held in Memorial Gym at East Carolina University, beginning at 7 p.m. More than 300 rural citizens from throughout Pitt County have been invited to attend the meeting as guests. The event will give the Greenville groups an opportunity to become better acquainted with the farm leaders and will enable the groups to discuss problems which concern them.

The members of the Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Association are invited to participate in the Goodwill Dinner meeting. Those who participate are asked to do so by attending serving as hosts, and paying for two plates (his own and that of one guest—a total of $3).

No Charges In Minor Collision

No charges were placed in a 4:15 p.m. collision yesterday at the intersection of Tenth Street and Cedar Lane. Investigating police identified the drivers involved as James Oliver Tisdale Jr. of Lumberton and Bobby Gene McRoy of Greenville. Damage to the Tisdale vehicle was set at $100 while damage to the McRoy car was placed at $100. Benelux is the collective name for the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg.

Probe Furniture Store Break-In

Greenville police are continuing their investigation of a break-in at Bostic-Sugg Furniture Co. on Tenth Street sometime before daylight Wednesday. Officers said entrance was gained to the building by breaking a window from a rear door and unlocking the door. Fifty cents in pennies was taken from the cash register.

International Club Names Officers For New York

The International Club, a social and activities club formed at East Carolina University last year to furnish a coordinating point for students from foreign countries, has elected officers for the 1969-70 school year. Allen Chan, a native of Hong Kong, was reelected president of the club. Vice-president is Geoffrey Knowles, of the Bahamas; secretary is Barbara Brausal from Argentina; and an American, Lloyd Walker, was chosen as treasurer. "We hope to sponsor a number of events in which all foreign and many American students will be involved," Chan commented. "Our first planned event this school year is a tea to be held Sunday beginning at 5:00 o'clock. This will be at the University Union Building, in Room 201. For this event, we are inviting foreign faculty members as guests of honor." This reception immediately follows a similar reception being held for foreign student and faculty members by the Women's Club. Other events planned include a float for the homecoming affair on November 8 in which foreign students will appear dressed in native costumes. Chan was a speaker at two sessions of the International Foreign Mission Study held at the First Presbyterian Church on October 20 and 22. A native of Shanghai, his family escaped to Hong Kong, where they now live. He indicated that a number of the foreign students will be participating in community events from time to time as part of their program of activities.

The bidding:
West North East South
1 Dble. 2 D 3 Pass
Pass 4 Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: King of D.
When declarer holds the major tenace in a suit, which of course includes the ace and queen, proper strategy does not necessarily call for the capture of the adverse king. Declarer must so manage his assets as to produce the required number of tricks for his side, even if it involves giving up a trick to the enemy king. Observe how South, the declarer at four spades, managed his cards in today's hand.
West opened the king of diamonds and continued with the ace, which declarer ruffed. At first glance, it appeared that South's contract was safe if he could find one of two situations in his favor. If West held the ace of hearts, he was apparently home free—for declarer need but lead twice toward the king and queen of hearts. If East held the king of clubs, victory was likewise within reach on a simple club finesse.

The only holding to be concerned with is the one in which West holds the king of clubs and East the ace of hearts. Declarer decided to play on that basis and led a low club toward the queen, after drawing two rounds of trumps. West was now down to put up the king of clubs. A club continuation was won in dummy and South returned to his hand with a trump and discarded two of dummy's hearts on the ace and jack of clubs. North was now down to the doubleton king-queen of hearts and the defense was limited to one trick in that suit.

If South makes the lazy play in clubs by leading dummy's queen for a finesse, he will lose the hand because only one discard in the suit can be established, and two heart tricks must eventually be given up.

Since he was playing West to hold one of the two missing high honors in hearts and clubs—a sound assumption from the bidding—declarer's object was to make a club play thru West so that the latter would be forced to commit himself in the suit before the dummy's honor was released.

PTA Has Meet

The South Greenville Parent Teacher Association (PTA), which met on Tuesday night, was presided over by Mrs. Winston Hill, newly elected president of this chapter.

Other officers of the South Greenville chapter include Mrs. Tony Dawson, vice-president; Mrs. Roy Denning, secretary; and Mrs. Don Wilkerson, treasurer.

During the business session, Mrs. Hill recognized the following committee chairmen: Mrs. Herbert Wilkerson, by-laws; Mrs. Percy Pair, membership; Mrs. Ida Mae Smith, publications and PTA magazine; Mrs. Louis Clark, program; Mrs. Stearle Pittman, publicity; Don Wilkerson, finance; Mrs. James Ensor, room representative; Mrs. John Sneden, hospitality; Lester Roberson, safety; Joe Goodson, ways and means; Mrs. Robert Kittrell, historian; Dr. Badger Clark, legislative; Mrs. Tony Dawson, study course; and Mrs. Fred Wood, welfare.

Leland Allsbrook, physical education director for the city schools, presented some of Mrs. Sarah Dunn's fifth grade students in a demonstration of physical exercises.

A number of business items were discussed and approved during the business meeting. A total of 123 parents were present.

Viet Vet Will Speak Tonight To Civitan Club

A recent Vietnam returnee who flew more than 130 combat missions will speak on Marine Corps aviation in Vietnam to the Civitan Club in Greenville, at the Moore Lodge, 7 p.m. tonight.

Captain Stephen F. Coons, presently serving with Marine All-Weather Attack Squadron 121, 2d Marine Aircraft Wing, Marine Corps Air Station, Cherry Point, will supplement his talk with personal slides taken in the Republic of Vietnam.

Flying in the A-6A 'Intruder', the captain was a bombardier navigator and served in Vietnam from June 1968 until July 1969. For his actions, he was awarded 10 Air Medals and the Combat Action Ribbon.

Garbage Trucks Came To Rescue

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—President Eduardo Frei may go down in history as the man who faced a rebellious army regiment with a battalion of garbage trucks and won.

The tall, soft-spoken Chilean president ended the defiance in 24 hours of quiet, orderly negotiations, then announced his victory in an eight-minute speech to the nation.

The words must have rung home to the military governments in Panama, Brazil, Bolivia, Argentina and Peru as Frei declared: "In Chile, the armed forces do not accept indiscipline and the people do not tolerate coups d'etat."

Leaders of the short-lived rebellion insisted they were not trying to overthrow Frei. Instead they demanded salary increases and better equipment and staged a sit-in at the headquarters barracks of the Tacna Regiment.

But to a lawyer and firm believer in constitutionality like Frei, their action was "sedition." He called in army units from outlying provinces and appealed to the students, unions, political parties, Congress and the people for support. First to arrive on the scene was a convoy of garbage trucks which ringed the presidential Moneda Palace and blocked all streets leading to it.

Frei chose to avoid a bloody confrontation and instead decided to negotiate with the rebels.

Frei, 58, called on two close friends and a trusted general to negotiate a peace agreement with the leader of the rebellion, Brig. Gen. Roberto Viaux.

New Manager Of Super Market Is Announced

The appointment of Charles Jarman of Kinston as the new manager of Harris Super Market on Tenth Street has been announced by store owner Durwood Harris.

The new manager began his duties on Oct. 20 at the Harris' No. 2 market, replacing former manager Garland Taylor. A veteran of the grocery business, having worked at the Colonial Store and Pak-A-Sak food store in Kinston, Jarman plans to move to Greenville for permanent residence in November.

Jarman is a graduate of B.F. Grady High School and is married to the former Ann Gravey of Kinston. They are the parents of two boys, ages six and two.

The general was Alfredo Mahn, commander of the Santiago garrison, a senior officer who had Frei's confidence and who had served many years close to Viaux.

Mahn met four times with Frei before agreement was reached at 4:30 a.m. Wednesday.

As Mahn prepared to leave, holding in his hand the agreement that Viaux and the other rebels would submit to military justice, the two generals shook hands and went into the traditional warm Latin abrazo, or embrace.

Communiqués issued simultaneously by the government and under Viaux's signature told the story.

Frei was put under house arrest and retired from the armed forces. The other rebels were confined to barracks, awaiting military justice. But a civilian defense minister was appointed as the rebels had demanded.

The rebels repeated their loyalty to the president and to constitutional government.

NAACP Chapter Files Complaint

MOUNT AIRY, N. C. (AP)—The Surry County chapter of the NAACP has filed complaints alleging racial discrimination by Bill's Luncheonette in Mount Airy.

The complaints to the Justice department said three Negroes were refused service on Oct. 4 and 5 because of their race, in alleged violation of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Science Shrinks Painful Hemorrhoids Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

Finds Way That Both Relieves Pain and Shrinks Piles In Most Cases

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science has found a special formula with the ability, in most cases, to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching and relieve pain. In case after case doctors proved, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. The secret is Preparation H®. There is no other formula for hemorrhoids like it. Preparation H also soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection in ointment or suppository form.

Seven-Sided Coin Given Short Shrift By Britons

By DAVID LANCASHIRE
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP)—Loser, biker, buffoon and tin Lizzie all have one thing in common today. They're derisive names suggested for Britain's newest coin, a seven-sided disc worth 10 shilling—$1.20.

The coin is part of the change from the complicated old system of shillings, florings and half crowns to decimal coinage; the Treasury calls it a "90 new pence piece." But lots of the public don't like it, protests have been raised in Parliament and nicknames are being suggested poking fun.

Bikini is one suggestion, because the coin is so much smaller than the 10-shilling not it replaces. Some call it a loser because they don't want to carry it in their pockets. Others contend it is a ridiculous piece of money and should be called a buffoon. And Tin Lizzie is another suggestion because of the coin's tinny color and portrait of Queen Elizabeth II.

Shopkeepers claim that sharp-and fast on their feet are putting seven sides out of shilling coins worth 24 cents, passing them as the new $1.20 coins, and getting away before the counterfeiting is detected.

A national association representing pub keepers complained that the new money is confusing, and as a result people are getting the wrong change.

Americans and other visitors protest that British coins are too heavy, and substituting the tin Lizzie for the old paper note adds to the burden.

"You can knock a man unconscious with a British penny," said one American tourist.

"This new thing is even heavier."

(It's about the weight of an American half dollar.)

One newspaper-commentator said the money may be confusing, but the real cause of the discontent that the British don't like to change.

"It would still have been denounced if it was triangular and colored blue," he wrote. "The real objection is that it is new."

He suggested that the Treasury call the new coin a goat, which was in use from the 14th to the 17th centuries.

Kornegay

Miss Helen Louise Kornegay, 22, died at her home in Simpson Tuesday. Funeral services will be held Sunday at 1:30 p.m. in the Philippi Baptist Church in Simpson.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Louise Kennedy Kornegay; one sister, Mrs. Nancy Spadman of Baltimore, Md.; two brothers, Burnis and Collis of the home; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Kennedy of Simpson. Her father, the late Mr. John Henry Kornegay, died several weeks ago.

Miss Kornegay was a '65 graduate of G.R. Whitfield School in Grimesland and also graduated from Pitt Technical Institute.

She was a member of the House of Prayer, the church choir, and was a Board of Trustee member.

The body will be at the Philippi Baptist Church from 11:00 a.m. Saturday until one hour prior to the funeral.

Harris

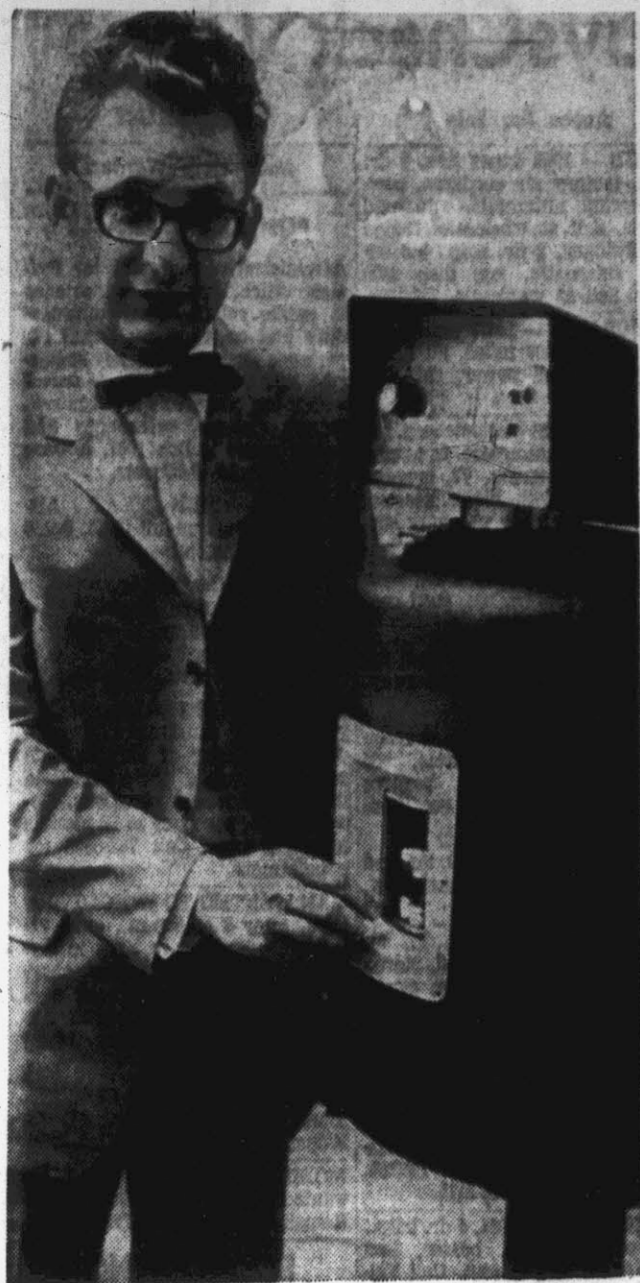

Mrs. Rachel W. Harris, 44, die in Pitt Memorial Hospital Wednesday night at 7:45. Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 Friday afternoon at the Wilkerson Funeral Chapel by the Rev. Chester Phillips, pastor of Grace Free Will Baptist Church, and the Rev. Foy Futrell, pastor of Dilda's Gove Free Will Baptist Church. Burial will be in Queen Anne Cemetery in Fountain.

Mrs. Harris, a native of Pitt County, was graduate from Fountain High School, attended Bob Jones University in Greenville, S.C. and was a Secretary at the Developmental Evaluation Clinic at East Carolina University. She was a member of Dilda's Grove Free Will Baptist Church.

Surviving are her husband, Charlie G. Harris; two daughters: Rachel Char-lei and Rose Gray Harris, both of the home; a sister, Mrs. Adelle Pittman of Wilson; a brother, the Rev. David Woolen of Charlotte.

GAMMA IRRADIATOR — Dr. Edgar Heckel, assistant professor of chemistry at East Carolina University, shows off his new gamma irradiator, which arrived here last week for use in his research and for his course in nuclear chemistry. The instrument, which cost about $4,000, was purchased from departmental funds and from a grant obtained through the Atomic Energy Commission. The radiation source is cesium 137 which has a half-life of 30 years. The instrument, Dr. Heckel, assures, features safety and simplicity of operation. The new course in nuclear chemistry will be offered during the spring quarter of this year to students in the sciences and in the allied health professions. (ECU Photo by Charles Griffin)

American And Spanish Flavor In Puerto Rico

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer
JAYUYA, Puerto Rico (AP) — Nestled in a picturesque valley, 3,000 feet high in a rugged mountain range, is the town of Jayuya—a town of about 6,000 residents that is reminiscent of a small American village with a Spanish flavor.

Jayuya on a Saturday night is Puerto Rico at its finest. On a recent Saturday night teen-age boys, and girls in miniskirts, attended a Lions Club dance that lasted into the wee morning hours.

Other young people engaged in a Saturday night ritual—strolling in groups of twos and threes, under the palm trees in the town plaza, boys and girls flirting with one another. Other youths circled the plaza in cars, honking and shouting. When the 9:30 p.m. curfew siren sounded for children 16 and under, several curfew-age children ignored it, and a policeman nearby ignored them.

Half a block from the plaza Marcos Rodriguez, president of the town council, served ice cream from his bakery. The warm and peaceful evening was interrupted only once when an ice cream truck collided with a car. Nobody was hurt, but the crowd lingered for a half hour until the wrecked vehicles were moved.

Jayuya—an Indian name pronounced ha-you-ya—is about 35 miles southwest of San Juan. The town was the center of a short-lived revolt by pro-independence groups in 1950. The Puerto Rico National Guard quashed the uprising, but much of the town was burned during the two-day battle.

The battle scars are mostly gone now. The Puerto Rico Telephone Company has built an unattractive building where the mayor's house once stood. The old police station, also burned to the ground, has been replaced with a school playground.

Sugar cane and coffee, long Jayuya's livelihood, grow in abundance on nearby steep mountainsides, where some farmers still use horses to ride their land, while others have substituted Jeep-type vehicles.

But Jayuya's staple crops are now in trouble, and this is the town's biggest problem. Felipe Ortiz, a local sugar grower, talks of converting his land to cattle-raising. If he does it would mean a lot fewer jobs for local people.

Rising production costs, market limitations on price and a shortage of farm help may force Ortiz and others like him to cut back.

But even now, the back-breaking chore of picking coffee and cutting cane doesn't earn the worker much money. The minimum wage for a sugar cane cutter is 60 cents an hour. Growers contend they can't pay more. Help may be on the way. Faced with drastically declining sugar production throughout the island, the government has approved a wage plan that will increase the minimum to one dollar an hour over a three-year period, and will provide sugar growers with a subsidy.

On another front, the town has gained new hope and new problems from two pharmaceutical plants opened by Baxter Laboratories. The good side is that workers can earn as much as $300 a month. The bad part, is that most of these workers are women.

With women earning more in factories than men in the fields, it is not surprising that many young men are leaving Jayuya in search of better jobs in San Juan and other cities.

"I don't know what we can do about it," says Ortiz. "There aren't enough good jobs for the men, and I don't see how we'll get any."

Meanwhile, life in Jayuya goes on—slowly.

There is no movie theater, and a young girl who visited California complains that, "It's very boring here. I like the fresh air and the beautiful country," she says, "but people have nothing to do except pry into other people's lives."

There is little juvenile crime or drug addiction here. These are major problems in San Juan and other island cities.

The local high school has its basketball and baseball teams. The Future Farmers of America is active, and the town brags that two recent island FFA presidents came from Jayuya.

The town's Catholic cathedral, fronting on the plaza, is well-attended on Sunday mornings, despite the Saturday night revelry.

From the wooded hills around Jayuya come ripe and delicious bananas, oranges, grapefruit and mangoes.

Traffic is light, the air is clear, people are friendly and cars can be left unlocked without fear of theft. It isn't that way in San Juan or some other large island towns.

For tourists, Jayuya is off the beaten path. Although English is taught in the schools, the people have little use for it, and consequently it's not spoken well.

There are no tourist-quality hotels and restaurants. There is a government-operated hotel at Barranquitas, about an hour's drive away.

The tourist who wants to come here must be prepared for a tortuous round-trip mountain drive, unless he is fortunate enough to be invited for the night by one of the town's many friendly families.

Tar River Boat Race On Sunday

The second boat race of the year sponsored by the Outing Club of East Carolina University will be held Sunday on the Tar River with a wide assortment of floating craft expected to enter.

According to club advisor, Dr. Jean Lowry of the ECU Geology Department, craft will be entered under three classes: canoe and kayaks; rowboats; and "contraptions."

In contrast to the first race held in the spring in which starting points varied according to class, all classes will start from the same point. The point of departure has been designated as the launching access area behind the airport (Wildlife Access area). The finishing point will be east of the Greene Street bridge to afford spectators full view of the finishes.

Starting times will be suggested, Dr. Lowry said, with the "contraption" classes leaving the access area at 12 noon, the rowboats will be required for each craft and entry fees of $2.00 will be charged.

Dr. Lowry said that the club has received permission from the city to sell drinks and cookies to spectators as part of the fund raising drive of the club.

Prizes will be awarded to winners in each of the three classes, Dr. Lowry said. Participants will also be judged on the most unusual entry and a separate prize will be awarded in this category.

A number of colorful and "seaworthy" craft are expected to be entered this Sunday, the advisor noted. Interest in the spring event has resulted in the Sunday race and Outing Club members hope to make the race a biannual affair.

Included in the entries scheduled so far is a "contraption" built by Dr. Lowry. She reminded possible craft builders that in order to be eligible for prizes in one of the three classes, the boat must finish the race. A number of the spring entries failed to complete the course, she noted, and many of the craft completely came apart.

The total length of the Pacific and Arctic coastlines of the United States is 8,683 miles.

E. A. Morris Is Named To Board Wachovia Bank

E. A. Morris, chairman of the board of Blue Bell Inc. of Greensboro and a North Carolina business leader, has been elected to the board of directors of Wachovia Bank and Trust Co., N. C.

Announcement of the action was made here by R. W. Howard, senior vice president and head of the northeast division of Wachovia.

Morris joined Blue Bell in 1938 as plant engineer at the firm's Abingdon, Ill. facility. In 1941 he was named executive vice president in charge of manufacturing, and in 1948 was elected president and chief executive officer. He has been chairman of the board since 1966 and continues as chief executive officer.

He is a native of Concord, is a graduate of Washington & Lee University, and attended Harvard Business School. Morris is a director of the North Carolina Citizens Association, the Southern States Industrial Council, and was appointed this year by the president to the Citizens Stamp Advisory Committee.

Directors of the Wachovia Corporation declared a quarterly dividend of 25 cents per share, payable November 17, to shareholders of record at the close of business on November 3. The dividend is the same as that paid in the second quarter.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets steady Wednesday, supplies adequate, demand fair to good. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A large whites 53 to 58¢; medium whites 49 to 50¢; small whites 41 to 43¢.

Cold weather and good drying conditions have increased marketing activity this morning on Pitt County grain buying stations. Prices on corn remains relatively stable on all but one market but soybeans reflect a slight increase on most reporting markets.

Corn harvesting in the Winterville area is nearing a close, buyers report but activity in the Bethel community has yet to reach peak harvesting. Following are pre-bushel price quotes reported at 11:15 a.m.

Greenville: yellow corn, $1.22; wheat, $1.12; oats, $.62 — all steady; soybeans, $2.34 — up. Ayden: yellow corn, shell, $1.22; ear corn, $1.12; steady; soybeans, regular variety, $2.34 — up; Dare variety, $2.35 — steady. Winterville: yellow corn, shell $1.22; ear corn, $1.12—steady. Farmville: yellow corn, $1.25 — up. Bethel: yellow corn, shell, $1.22—steady; ear corn, $1.15 — up.

Advice Receives Prompt Action

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The Maricopa County Board of Supervisors took immediate action Wednesday after receiving an urgent recommendation from county Planning Department employees. They recommended that the county stop flying the Arizona flag upside down.

Army Disclaims Censoring News

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has denied censoring news casts heard by U.S. fighting men in Vietnam and blames the affair on inexperienced GI broadcasters.

A report to Rep. Chalmers P. Wylie, R-Ohio, from the inspector general in Vietnam says "Public statements which service personnel are entitled to hear have not been banned or censored at AFVN"—Armed Forces Network in Vietnam.

Wylie requested the investigation after military newsmen in Saigon complained that even public statements by former Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford and South Vietnam Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky had been censored.

"Allegations by AFVN personnel regarding such actions have arisen through misunderstanding on the part of young and inexperienced broadcasters," said the inspector general's four-page report.

It said investigators questioned two enlisted men in Vietnam who had led the complaints and found them "young, inexperienced, impressionable and appear to be easily swayed by the 'attention' that they received from their colleagues in the civilian news media."

Wylie had forwarded to the Pentagon 10 instances cited by his constituent, SP5 Michael G. Maxwell.

"The decisions of the supervisory personnel with respect to each of the 10 separate unrelated news items were simple cases of judgment in accordance with the supervisors' understanding of their responsibilities..." said the report.

Maxwell and other GI newsmen still in Vietnam said in interviews "they had misused the term 'news management' and admitted they were, in fact, questioning the decision of their superiors as to what news items should be used," said the report.

Wylie described the report as

Abandon Rules On Haircuts

LACEY Wash. (AP) — The North Thurston School District has decided girls can wear crew cuts and boys can wear curls to their knees if they please. School directors, considering the case of Charles Sturdevant, 17, who had been denied admittance to high school on grounds his hair was too long, voted to suspend all regulations regarding the length of students' hair.

U.S. CONTRIBUTION TUNIS (AP)—Tunisia will receive $1 million from the U.S. Agency for International Development to rebuild bridges washed out by heavy floods this month.

IGNORE TICKETS

LONDON (AP)—Foreign diplomatic missions in Britain's capital ignored 26,145 parking tickets in the last 10 months, about 85 a day, the Home Office says.

GROWING MADRID

MADRID (UPI) — Madrid's population has climbed to just over 3 million. This is twice the capital's population of 18 years ago. Experts estimate the figure may reach 4 million by 1980.

Chilly Weather Moves Into Area

Greenville and Pitt County residents have seen some chilly temperatures yesterday, last night and this morning.

This morning at 8 a.m. the temperature stood at 43 degrees, according to the Greenville Utilities Commission weather station.

By 11 o'clock the temperature had risen to 50 degrees. The high temperature for Wednesday was reported at 76 degrees at 3 p.m. and the low for that day was 48 degrees, recorded from 5 a.m. until 7 a.m.

Premier Became Jewelry Display

LONDON (AP) — Princess Margaret and actress Elizabeth Taylor turned a movie premier into a glittering jewelry display Wednesday night.

Miss Taylor wore an antique diamond tiara and a ring for which her husband, Richard Burton, paid $304,800 at an auction.

The princess was clad in a gold satin evening gown with a jewel-encrusted bodice, gems at her throat and ears and a tiara. The movie was "Staircase," in which Burton and Rex Harrison play aging homosexuals.
