Suggests Change In Law

Scott Opines N.C. Has Union-Dealing Ahead

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina Gov. Bob Scott says unionization drives among government employees can be expected to intensify.

At a news conference Thursday Scott said unionization of state and local government works is "a trend of the times, and we might as well be realistic and get ready for it."

He suggested that the state law be changed so state and local governments could formally negotiate with labor unions. The law now prohibits these governments from "recognizing or negotiating with a union."

"I would not rule out the possibility" of asking for such a change at the next regular session of the General Assembly in 1971," the governor said.

He said despite the present law, if the state got involved in a strike "affecting the health or safety of its people, the state would have the responsibility of holding talks" with strike organizers.

Legislation was introduced in the 1969 General Assembly to change the state law on unions, and Scott noted that "I didn't oppose it." The measure was defeated.

The governor also touched on the subject of taxes and highways during the news conference.

He charged that the recent soft drink and cigarette price hikes are being unjustly blamed on tax increases.

"I want to put this matter in a little better perspective," he said, and read a letter from a citizen charging that soft drink companies are taking advantage of the new penny a bottle tax "to increase prices to an unreasonable degree."

"I'm not saying the price increases are not justified," Scott said. "I just don't want the public to think that all this money is going to the state."

On the subject of roads, Scott said the transfer of $16 million in highway funds from primary to secondary projects will not delay any primary road construction.

Scott said the transfer is mainly a matter of making use of money which would be idle because of the time lag between planning and construction of primary road projects.

Several Hundred Absentees Today At City Schools

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

An apparent boycott seems to remain in effect among Negro students at Rose High School today as 357 of the total enrollment of 466 Negro students remained away from school. This represents an absentee percentage of 77 percent for the senior high Negro students.

Attendance figures for other schools reflect a much more favorable picture, with overall attendance placed at 80 percent. This includes all schools and both races. By comparison, the daily average attendance city wide is 97 percent.

School officials had no comment on whether or not they think this large group staying away represents an effort to continue the boycott carried out Thursday through means of the bus transportation system.

In other developments, it was disclosed that the game for Rose High with the New Bern Indians at New Bern is scheduled to be played tonight as planned.

"The police are still at Rose High," Warren stated, "and will remain until the Greenville City School Board authorizes their removal or phases them out."

Students at Rose are continuing to meet with Dr. Eugene (Gene) Causby, the Assistant Director of Human Relations Division in Raleigh. He is meeting with elected home room representatives and also with the Student Involvement Committee, a committee of black and white students who are making efforts to work out a better involvement program.

Mrs. Lena Brown, principal of South Greenville School, an integrated elementary school, confirmed reports that a number of students not enrolled in that school had tried to enter the school Thursday. "I didn't see them, but when I was told about this by a teacher, I immediately had the janitor and teachers make the outside children leave. As a precautionary measure, I had the outside doors locked and monitored, and the rear gate to the school yard locked." She noted "there has been no problem today."

Principal Alan E. Murrell of Epes Junior High stated, "Things are quiet and normal here, and attendance is almost normal. I don't foresee any problems."

All other schools reported a quiet second day of renewed operations, with students turning their full attention to their studies.

One incident in which an appointment was reportedly broken was reported by a Negro minister of Greenville.

The Rev. H.R. Lynch, who stated he was an evangelist and a member of the Greenville Board of Clergy, commented that "the Greenville Board of Clergy has observed that three or four leaders of the Christian Leadership Conference had an appointment with the Board of Education Thursday at four o'clock."

"The leaders could not meet with the Board of Education, because at the same hour of this appointment, the city with all its enforcement came in with their force, between 30 and 40 men."

Hijacked Jetliner To Cairo?

NEW YORK (AP) — A Trans World Airlines jetliner landed at Kennedy Airport today after being hijacked in the early morning by a man with a rifle. The plane then took off again, headed for Bangor, Maine for refueling.

TWA said the Federal Aviation Administration reported that the plane might have to be refueled for a flight to Cairo. The plane had made a refueling stop in Denver, where the gunman allowed 39 passengers and three stewardesses to get off.

A TWA spokesman said it had received a Federal Aviation Administration report about an hour before it landed that the plane might have to be refueled for a flight to Cairo.

The control tower at Kennedy made radio contact with the Boeing 707 at 11:30 a.m. and the big jet touched down minutes later.

"Hold right there for refueling," the control tower said to the jetliner, TWA flight 85.

"O.K.," the pilot responded.

"Follow the marshal," the tower said a moment later.

There were a few moments of silence. Then the tower asked: "Are you cutting your engine to refuel?" There was more silence.

The TWA flight was the 55th plane hijacked in the world this year.

The FBI in New York said the incident was the second intra-country hijacking in the United States. A plane from Los Angeles was diverted toward Cuba, but landed in Texas for refueling where it was recovered.

TWA identified the four crew members aboard the plane today as Capt. Donald Cook, 31, New York City; First Officer Wenzel M. Williams, 26, Shallowater, Tex.; Flight Engineer Lloyd V. Hollrah, 32, St. Charles, Mo.; and Hostess Tracey Coleman, 21, Cincinnati, Ohio.

The airline said Miss Coleman volunteered to stay aboard the plane after the hijacker demanded a hostage.

Lindbergh Denies 'Crash-Landing'

MANILA (AP) — Charles A. Lindbergh can still fly a single-engine plane, even if he is 67, and was somewhat put out by reports that he had crash-landed one in a rice paddy Thursday.

Manila newspapers said he had cheated death when the plane came down while he was studying wildlife in the Isabela region.

$40,900 Grant

First District Congressman Walter B. Jones today announced approval of a $40,900 grant from the Coastal Plains Regional Commission for the town of Winterville. The funds will be used to extend water and sewer lines to Pitt Technical Institute.

Tuberculosis Still Is Deadly Factor In N.C., Says Lennon

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

WILLIAMSTON — "The four hospitals in the North Carolina Sanatorium System admitted a total of 3,341 patients last year and to these, about half were afflicted with tuberculosis," Joe S. Lennon, associate administrator of the North Carolina Sanatorium at McCain, said last night.

Speaking in Williamston at the kick off dinner for the 1969 Christmas Seal Campaign, Lennon told members and guest of the eastern sector of the state association that a great deal of progress has been made in the fight against tuberculosis and respiratory diseases.

The state system, made up of sanatoriums at McCain, Wilson, Black Mountain and Chapel Hill, conducted lab test and exams last year totaling 496,000 and over 50,000 x-rays were taken, Lennon said.

"One of our greatest advancements in the treatment and diagnosis field lies in the fact that we are able to determine now whether the disease is actually tuberculosis or a related disease," he said. "eYars ago, patients were often diagnosed as having TB when actually many of them had other respiratory diseases. Therefore in many of these cases the patient received the wrong treatment."

Lennon explained a new therapy that has been initiated in the last several years. Called the inhalation therapy, it involves the patients' breathing in of prepared medications. Inhalation of these medications, Lennon said, helps to clear out congestion in the lungs and aids in giving the patient use of the remaining lung tissue that is not affected.

"The drugs do not kill the germs," Lennon added. "In effect, the treatment builds a wall around the site of infection and 'arrests' the disease," he said. "If proper care and precaution is taken by the patient, he probably will not have another occurrence."

A graduate of Wake Forest College, Lennon is a former teacher in the Chicod School system in Pitt County. Following associations with the Stanley and Richmond County hospitals, he joined the N.C. Sanatorium system in 1955 and has been associate administrator at McCain since 1956.

The president of the Eastern TB and Respiratory Disease Association, Edward Davenport, presided over the meeting which also included a brief Christmas Seal campaign "kick-off" message by the 1969 chairman of the drive, Dr. Leo W. Jenkins.

Referring to the seal as being the "dedicated square," Jenkins challenged persons to continue the fight against the stubborn disease. "Our efforts are often frustrated," he said, and the TB bug has been brought close to defeat. But, close is not enough."

A welcome to those attending the mid-year board meeting was offered by the Mayor of Williamston, N.C. Green.

Care Advised

Halloween trick-or-treaters were reminded today that they should begin their activities early tonight and not be out late.

Parents, acting Police Chief T. E. Gladson said, should know where their children are and what they are doing and supervise their activities tonight.

The chief suggested that home-owners leave outside lights on and indicated that children shouldn't be out trick-or-treating later than 8:30.

Children, the chief cautioned, should wear light-colored clothing so they will be more visible to passing motorists and should not wear masks that will obstruct their vision.

He said motorists should be especially watchful for children running into the streets.

Trick-or-treaters, the police official noted, should only visit homes of persons in their immediate neighborhood whom they know and then not go inside the homes while waiting for treats. He said children should wait on the outside of the houses.

Chief Gladson also cautioned children not to accept rides from strangers.

Deny Impropriety In Gift Of Land

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A corporation of Lyndon B. Johnson associates denies any impropriety in the negotiation of multimillion-dollar grants and loans of federal land and cash shortly before he left the White House.

Frank C. Erwin Jr., president of Austin Geriatric Center Inc., described it as a nonprofit corporation "structured in such a manner that nobody can benefit financially" and said no federal money had yet changed hands.

Roy A. Butler, a longtime friend of Johnson and a member of the corporation's board of directors, said that "to my knowledge not a dime has been given" in federal funds for the project.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., asserted in a Senate speech Thursday the corporation had figured in a "multimillion-dollar" giveaway sanctioned by the White House and centering on a gift of 26.5 acres of federal land in Austin. Williams said $8.5 million in loans and grants also was involved.

Spokesman for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare said the department on Oct. 21 had demanded return of the land.

The spokesman said the action was taken because the corporation had failed to obtain a necessary tax exempt rating for its proposed old peoples and health center for the Treasury Department.

There was no immediate Treasury Department comment. Williams said the land given to the corporation was worth $2 million—not the $642,000 declared by the federal government—and was transferred over the protest of some HEW officials who viewed the deal as a land grab.

The Delaware Republican also said the corporation received approval for $8 million in Federal Housing Administration loans and nearly $500,000 in grants from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare while Johnson was president.

"Senator Williams has seen fit to suggest—at least by implication—that there is something improper or unethical about this worthwhile project," Erwin said in a statement Thursday.

"This is most unfortunate because the project was conceived with nothing but the highest motives and has thus far been carried on in a manner that is above reproach."

Cabinet Form Of Gov't Considered

RALEIGH (AP) — A cabinet form of government similar to that of the federal government is being considered for North Carolina.

Collision Kills Two People Here Thursday

Two persons died in injuries received when two cars collided at the intersection of N.C. 11 and the Belvoir Road about 11:40 a.m. yesterday.

Police investigators identified the victims as Hattie L. Nolen, 28, of Portsmouth, Va., and Douglas Allen Toomes, 28, of Greensboro.

Mrs. Nolen, according to officers, was a passenger in a car driven by Victoria Cornelius Wade, 24, of Portsmouth, Va.

Miss Wade was reported in serious condition in Pitt Memorial Hospital this morning.

The Wade vehicle, officers said, traveling on the Belvoir Road, ran into the path of a car driven by Toomes, which was headed south on N.C. 11.

Damage estimates given by police set damage to the Wade car at $2,800 and damage to the Toomes car at $2,000. Damage to a sign at the intersection was estimated to be $25.

Scott Heads List Of Visiting Dignitaries

Governor and Mrs. Robert Scott headed the list of dignitaries expected to be in Greenville tomorrow night to take part in "Legislators Night."

Following a dinner at the Greenville Golf and Country Club, the dignitaries, representing all aspects of the state government structure and numbering approximately 65 in number, are expected to attend the East Carolina University-Furman football game. Halftime activities will include ECU President Dr. Leo W. Jenkins and various state representatives.

Among these expected to attend the festivities are Lt. Governor and Mrs. Pat Taylor; Attorney General Robert Morgan, Commissioner of Agriculture Jim Graham; Secretary of State, Thad. Eure; Speaker of the House of Representatives, Earl Vaughn; and Ed Lanier from the Department of Administration.

Included in the halftime activities will be a check presentation to Jenkins on behalf of the ECU Foundation from Arnold Ginsburg, president of the Bates Manufacturing Company in New York.

A Fifth Cent

CHARLOTTE (AP) — When the other 99 North Carolina counties vote Tuesday whether to impose a fourth cent in state taxes, Mecklenburg County citizens will be voting on a fifth cent.

The county is the only one which now has, in addition to the standard 3 per cent tax, an additional 1 per cent for local purposes. A special enabling election permitted this.

Five of the seven Charlotte city councilmen have come out in favor of the fifth cent.

Arson Attempt At Local Plant

A fire reported at the Virginia-Carolina (VC) Fertilizer plant here early yesterday was deliberately set, according to Greenville fire officials.

Fire units were dispatched to the VC plant at the intersection of Howell and McClellan Streets at 8:15 a.m.

Investigators said cardboard boxes had been stuffed in cracks in a door then kerosene was poured onto it and set afire.

Firemen reported that the fire had burned out and was smoldering when trucks arrived at the scene.

Greenville police are investigating the attempted arson.

Agnew Urges Rejection Of Protestors

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has called on the American people to reject the militant leaders of antiwar protest "before the witch hunting and repression that are inevitable set in."

Agnew declared Thursday it is time to question the credentials of protest organizers such as those behind the Oct. 19 Vietnam Moratorium.

"And, if in questioning, we disturb a few people, I say it is time for them to be disturbed," said the vice president, who in New Orleans last week blasted the leaders of the protest as "effete, impudent snobs."

Before 3,000 persons gathered for a $100-a-plate Republican fund-raising dinner in the state capital Agnew labeled protest organizers "merchants of hate" and "parasites of passion" and said the nation can "afford to separate them from our society—with no more regret than we should feel over discarding rotten apples from a barrel."

The statement drew cheers of approval from the audience.

Increase False Alarm Reward

Fire Chief Ray Smith said the city will now pay a $100 reward to anyone giving information leading to the arrest and conviction of anyone turning in a false alarm.

Previously the city has offered a $25 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of those turning in false alarms.

Chief Smith said the increase in the reward is being made in an effort to reduce the number of false alarms received by the department.

AT KICK-OFF RALLY . . . in Williamston last night were (L-R) Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, Edward Davenport and Joe S. Lennon. The occasion was the mid-year board meeting of the Eastern TB and Respiratory Disease Association.

 South, the declarer at six diamonds, focused his attention on the wrong hand and thereby paved the way for his own downfall.

South opened the bidding with one heart and when his partner was able to bid freely at the two level over the opponent's one spade overcall, South had visions of big things. Observe that his hand is worth 21 points and North had promised a minimum of 10.

South revealed his strength by making a jump shift to three diamonds. When North confirmed a fit by raising to four diamonds, South checked for controls by using Blackwood. Learning that the partnership had three aces, he proceeded to six diamonds.

West opened the king of spades and continued with the ace, declarer ruffing with the deuce of diamonds. The ace of diamonds revealed the bad news in trumps when West discarded a spade.

South decided to establish the heart suit. He led over to the king and back to the ace. A third heart was played and when West followed with the nine, declarer ruffed with North's eight of diamonds. East overruffed with the jack to score the setting trick.

Declarer could have made his contract by establishing the dummy as the controlling hand. All that is required for success is for East to have two clubs. After South plays the ace of diamonds and West shows out, the king and queen of clubs are cashed.

With this hurdle surmounted, declarer crosses over to the king of hearts and proceeds to lead high clubs from dummy. If East ruffs, South overruffs, draws trumps and enters dummy by cashing the ace of hearts and ruffing a heart with the nine of diamonds.

If East refuses to ruff any of the clubs, South discards his three losing hearts and then picks up trump by finessing against the jack of diamonds. In either case the defense is restricted to one trick in spades.

Concert Set Sunday By ECU Symphony

PAUL KOSOWER . . . practices on the cello for his performance of Boccherini's "Concerto for Cello and Orchestra" on Sunday at ECU's Wright Auditorium.

Sunday's concert is the one of the two big events each year for the East Carolina University Symphony Orchestra. At 3:15 p. m. the orchestra will present its winter concert for the people of Eastern North Carolina at Wright Auditorium.

A full scale major orchestra, it is the only one in North Carolina east of Raleigh and has received considerable praise for its fine performances. Members of the orchestra are composed of university student and faculty personnel, townspeople from Greenville, and professionals from outside Greenville. Fifty-five musicians will perform Sunday.

The concert will feature three major works—two symphonies and a concerto for cello. Paul Kosower will be the soloist featured in the concert.

Cesar Franck's "Symphony in D Minor," the only modern work of the three, opens the program.

Mozart's "Symphony No. 29," one of the composer's more than forty symphonies, is not one which is too often heard. "Nevertheless, it is one of his best," comments Robert Hause, conductor.

The final selection for the concert is Luigi Boccherini's "Concerto for Cello and Orchestra," with cellist Paul Kosower.

The ECU Symphony Orchestra will be conducted by Robert Hause, Associate Professor and Music Director at ECU, as well as regular conductor of the orchestra. Hause has conducted the Stetson University Orchestra, the Central Florida Symphony Orchestra, and has been guest conductor of the St.

Submit Bid For Church Plans Urban Renewal 'Youth Sunday'

FARMVILLE—An urban renewal application for general neighborhood renewal and development has been submitted to the Department of Housing and Urban Development, according to Bernice Turnage, Farmville Redevelopment Commission chairman.

The general area covered by this application is northwest of Pine Street and the old Norfolk Southern Railroad to Marlboro. The project will be divided into three priority areas with the first extending from Pine Street to the main line of the Norfolk Southern Railroad; the second, to Acton Place; and the third from Acton Place to Marlboro. The anticipated cost of the first project will be approximately $1,750,000 of which some $350,000 will be footed by the town. The Redevelopment Commission has previously applied for a Central Business District project and is awaiting funding of this.

Petersburg Philharmonic, the N.C. All-State Orchestra; and the Georgia All-State Orchestra. In October he appeared on the series "N.C. Arts: Eastern Music Festival," taped by WUNC-TV station.

Paul Kosower, soloist, is a native of Sharon, Pa. He studied under a full scholarship at the Cleveland Institute of Music for both undergraduate and graduate degrees. Prior to joining the ECU faculty, Kosower was a faculty member of the Indian State University and a cellist in the resident string quartet.

Admission to the concert is free, and is on a first-come, first-admitted basis. Young people as well as adults are invited to attend the concert.

Sunday will be Youth Sunday at Hooker Memorial Christian Church here.

Young people of the church, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Wynne and Miss Ellen Heidenreich, will be in charge of the morning worship service. Miss Gloria Hawley will play the organ and Miss Cathy Wilson will direct the music. The choir will be members of the Christian Youth Fellowship and the Chi Rho Fellowship. The anthem, "He Is Everything to Me," will be sung by Pete West, Jim Heidenreich, Miss Lynn Howard, Miss Susie Hufford, Miss Cathy Wilson, Miss Betty Jo Causey, Miss LeAnn West, Miss Kathy Whichard, Miss Susie Hill, Miss Lois Brown, and Miss Gloria Hawley. They will be accompanied by Miss Ellen Heidenreich on the guitar.

The morning message will be presented by Pete West, Miss Deb Pollard, Jim Heidenreich, and Miss Jan Heidenreich, with Miss Susie Hill as leader. "Involvement in Christ" will be their topic.

Vocalist Offers Recital Tonight

Susan Zachary, a junior at East Carolina University and a voice major in the School of Music, will present a recital of songs tonight at 8:15 at the Recital Hall in the Music Building.

She will be accompanied on the piano by Judith Lea. Her selections will include songs by Scarlatti, Brahms, Richard Strauss, and Faure.

One special number will be "I Ride The Great Black Horses", by the American composer John Duke. The public is invited to attend this recital, for which no admission is charged.

Day Care Center Plans Discussed

FARMVILLE—A committee to make plans for a day care center for retarded children here met Tuesday night.

Mrs. Sarah K. Allen of Greenville, area coordinator for mental health programs, and Walter N. Creekmore, director of the Day Care Center for Retarded Children at East Carolina University, addressed the group.

The committee is now seeking quarters here for the proposed center. It will meet again next Tuesday at 3:30 p.m. in the fellowship hall of the First Christian Church. The local ministerial association will be instrumental in developing the center.

Hold Halloween Carnival Tonight

FALKLAND—A Halloween Carnival will be held at the Falkland Community Building tonight, beginning at 6 p.m. Sponsored by the young people of the Falkland Presbyterian Church, the carnival will feature games, a craft table, and light snacks for sale.

Mrs. Dorothy Hammill, who is in charge of planning the carnival, said one of its purposes is to keep small children off the streets and that proceeds will go to the church.

A baby alligator, when hatched, is about 9 inches long.

Forty Named In 'Who's Who'

Forty East Carolina University seniors have been named to the 1969 national edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

The edition is an annual listing of America's most outstanding university and college students.

Students are selected because of their outstanding college record based on academic standing, leadership, participation in educational and extracurricular activities, general citizenship and promise for future usefulness.

Students selected for WHO'S WHO, their parents' names and hometown addresses include: GREENE COUNTY, Ayden—Stephen Levi Beaman, son of Rom Beaman Jr., Rt. 1. PITT COUNTY, Greenville—Helen Storey Cleveland, 209 Lewis St.; Cordell Hopper, 405 Library St.; Sharron Hubbard Roseman, 1900 S. Charles St., Apt. 22-C.

Seminar Is Held For Principals

A seminar for elementary school principals was held at East Carolina University Thursday, Oct. 23.

Teaching strategies, individualized instruction, school reorganization and other innovations to prevent alienation of individual students were the main topics discussed by the group.

Area participants included Roy Marsh, Director Elementary Schools; Charles Ross, Waincoates Elementary School; Joseph Smith, Agnes Fullilove School; and Mrs. Margaret White, of Eastern Elementary School.

Canada had 8,342,862 Roman Catholics in 1968.

Her Marriage Is Non-Profit

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: Two years ago I was widowed. My children are married. Last year I married a well-to-do banker 20 years my senior. Before we were married (against my better judgment) I signed a pre-nuptial agreement stating that I would be entitled to nothing if our marriage didn't work out. He promised to destroy the pre-nuptial agreement after one year if our marriage worked out. The year is up now and we have gotten along beautifully. He keeps telling me how "happy" he is, and how much he loves me, but he wants to keep the pre-nuptial agreement intact. He told me before we were married that he would provide for me in his will, but so far I haven't seen the will either. Abby he has never been married before and has no children to leave his estate to. He is a fine person, but I fell so insecure now, as if I were still a widow. I am unable to work, and I married this man for security. What should I do?

Convocations For Episcopal Women Are Scheduled

WINDSOR — The fall convocations for the Episcopal Church-women of the Diocese of East Carolina will be held at St. Thomas Church here on Wednesday, Nov. 5, for the Convocation of Edenton. The Convocation of Wilmington will be held at St. Paul's Church, Clinton, on Thursday, Nov. 6. Mrs. Irwin Hulbert will preside over the convocation at the meeting in Windsor and Mrs. Louis Poisson Jr. will preside over the meeting in Clinton. Both meetings will convene at 10 a.m. and follow a format which will consist of group discussions designed to explore common hopes, goals, concerns and ideas of the church. Discussion results will be presented by each group to a panel composed of three members of East Carolina's delegation to the Notre Dame Convention. Following lunch, Bishop Elebash will summarize the day's work and close with the service of Holy Communion.

Garden Club In Bethel Organized

BETHEL — Mrs. Carolyn Smith was named president at the organizational meeting of the Bethel Garden Club held Monday at the Rotary House. Other officers elected were: Mrs. Hilda Garrenton, first vice president; Mrs. Pecolia Ayers, second vice president; Mrs. Edna Rae Dennis, secretary; and Mrs. Nannie Coburn, treasurer. The group went on record as supporting the general cleanup campaign sponsored by the Better Bethel Bureau. An informal discussion was held concerning things the club might do to improve the appearance of the community. Short-range projects planned include the use of two outdoor lighted trees in town at Christmas and recommending that each home use a light in at least two windows during the season. The meeting will be held the first Tuesday of each month at 8 p.m. at the Rotary House. To stretch that leftover potato salad, you may add cooked green peas.

CURIOUS
DEAR CURIOUS: I think he is a heel who, under the circumstances, is demonstrating great confidence in a neglected wife.
DEAR ABBY: My older sister says that if someone calls her on the telephone and fails to identify himself, it is none of my business to ask politely who is calling her? I disagree with her. What do you think?
BADGERED BROTHER
DEAR BROTHER: Since your sister does not wish to know who's calling her, I see no reason for you to ask. Even "politely."
DEAR ABBY: I have heard that a person's character is formed by the age three but I find it hard to believe. At the age of three and a half I was adopted. Before that time I was passed around from neighbor to neighbor with little or no family life. When my parents brought me home, I had the clothes on my back and a pair of shoes on my feet that were two sizes too small. My worldly possessions were in a shoe box. But that day I became the richest person in the world because I had the love of a mother and father who really wanted me! I am now 26. I am happily married and am a mother myself, but I still celebrate the anniversary of the day I was brought home by my parents. I could not love these wonderful people more if I were of their flesh and blood. They live in Tulsa, Okla. and I live in Imperial Beach, Cal. And yes, Abby, you may use my name.

Seems No Curbing Hospital Costs

No doubt anyone who has been hospitalized in recent years was a candidate for a relapse when he read that medical cost will shoot up in the next four years.

The American Medical Association estimated that a hospital room will cost an average of nearly $100 per day in four years time. The current average is $67.95. If this happens it will mean a 44 percent increase over the 1969 average.

Dr. George W. Graham, association president, blamed the rise on salaries, demands for additional services, inflation and added costs of administering Medicare. As spokesman for the AHA, Graham was testifying before the House Ways and Means Committee, proposing full government reimbursement to hospitals for all costs incurred by Medicare, some of which are not now covered.

There is little reason to doubt Dr. Graham's prediction of soaring hospital costs, particularly since hospital costs have been soaring for some time.

The only question for the average man is how to meet the huge costs if he, or a member of his family is struck by an illness which requires hospitalization.

There are no quick answers, of course. Private hospitalization policies and group policies are helping but as costs go up so will the premiums for protection. As hospital costs rise, however, there are going to be demands by the public for relief and this will take the form of a compulsory national health insurance program.

We would like to see more efficient ways of operating hospitals developed so that cost could be held more in line. It does not look hopeful that hospital cost will be held down, however.

N.C. Bound To Feel Effects Of Cutback

North Carolina, with its large number of military bases, was bound to feel the effect of the cutback in military spending.

Thus it was no surprise when the defense secretary announced this week that the cuts would affect Pope Air Force Base, Seymour Johnson Air Force Base, Cherry Point Marine Air Station and Fort Bragg.

The greatest effect will be at Pope where 588 Air Force jobs are eliminated and at Seymour Johnson where 581 jobs are to be ended.

There will also be 321 civilian jobs eliminated at Cherry Point and 301 civilian jobs at Ft. Bragg.

These cuts are bound to have some effect on the economy of North Carolina in general and the nearby communities in particular. However, we believe that the state's thriving economy can overcome the effects. It is simply a price we have to pay for the reduction in the national defense cost.

The cities of Goldsboro, Fayetteville, Jacksonville, along with others, are growing communities and they will survive the cuts in payroll.

WE OWE THEM SOMETHING!

Name Of The Game

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — What's in a name?

Well, when it comes to having a disease, the name is half the fun.

There is really no point in getting an ailment if the mere name of it alone is enough to make you half-sick.

The reason that some people stay in bed with a virus is that they are too uncommon to catch a common cold.

HAL BOYLE

Fortunately, medical nomenclature is rich in important sounding afflictions to which one can point with pride. You probably have had some of these for years and never even knew it.

Let us take the field of phobias.

Are you afraid of robbers? Why, you poor thing, pull the covers over your head this very minute. You've got harpaxophobia, that's what you've got.

And do you worry over whether this mythical robber, if you meet him, will stick you with a knife? Then you've also got aichmophobia, the fear of sharp-pointed objects.

Do you get tired of coping with life now and then, and feel that your wife, your boss, and your mother-in-law are asking too much of you? Well, hold your head up, man, and regain your self-respect. It really isn't your fault, is it, if you have a creeping case of hypoglycophobia, or the fear of responsibility?

Many Most pedestrians in crossing a street show signs of both levophobia and dextrophobia; that is, they are afraid of objects on the left side of their body and of objects on the right side of their body—in both cases, automobiles.

Civilized man often feels that his job is a rut and his existence too routine. Unknowingly, he is haunted by taphephobia, the fear of being buried alive.

Right now hundreds of thousands of people in northern climes are scheming up excuses to take a winter vacation or business trip to Florida or a Caribbean port. They are more to be pitied than censured. They flee south because they have chionophobia, the fear of snow.

Do you feel and fume because you are unable to understand or handle your teen-age son or daughter? A lot of people share your plight, and you all have the same malady. It is teratophobia, the fear that you've given birth to a monster.

Yes, there is a wonderful-sounding disease for every human being alive, even for the guy who worries because he is too healthy in a society where all around him are ill.

He is sick, too. He's got an unconscious case of eremophobia, the fear of being lonely.

Discussing New Welfare Shift

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH — Circling the square: Approximately 1,500 workers from the state and county department of Social Services, formerly Welfare, are gathered here primarily to discuss proposed sweeping changes in the welfare system.

signed joint statement that "there are still great unmet needs in this field."

"There are still many who need and desire such service to whom such service is not available. . . . What ever the facts might be which obstruct . . . family planning must be made available to all who need and desire these services.

Administration — A number of county officials have balked at complying with administrative rules and regulations set up under the federal law.

These require that medical, contraceptive services including diagnosis, treatment, supplies and follow-up, social and educational services be offered and provided to all without regard to marital status, age, race or parenthood.

Also, that individuals must be assured choice of method and there must be arrangements with varied medical resources so that individuals are assured choice of source of service.

There are complaints that such rules and regulations are both vague and arbitrary and costs, even with the aid of 75 per cent federal financing, are too high. For example, one of the required services is that participating departments pay cost of transportation into and from the various birth control clinics, along with costs charged by private physicians or by outpatient and inpatient clinics.

Officials said legislation to expand family planning took into account "the population explosion," juvenile delinquency, the high birth rate among low income families, and a rising rate of births out of wedlock.

WILLIAM SHIRES

President Nixon asked Congress several months ago to overhaul the welfare program and legislation to revamp the system is pending in Washington. There are widely differing views on many parts of the recommended changes.

The institute being held in Raleigh is concerned with how the proposed changes will affect welfare programs in North Carolina.

Planning; — The annual social services institute follows a series of district meetings across the state during which local welfare and health departments were asked to expand family planning programs.

Officials of the state departments of Social Services and Health pointed out that in many cases provisions of 1967 Federal legislation to strengthen these programs have not been implemented.

Grim Hangover Rats And The Good Life At Harvard Univ.

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—The source of apprehension and melancholy felt by a handful of thoughtful Harvard faculty members is seen in the publication last week by the Harvard Crimson, the student daily, of an overt incitement to riot.

Writing in the Oct. 22 Crimson, student editor Richard E. Hyland delivered a justification for terrorism. "The only reason I wouldn't blow up the Center for International Affairs," Hyland began, "is that I might get caught." From that start, he went on to discuss fully the desirability of violence. "If buildings begin to blow up all around," he concluded, "people may well ask for a new inquest into the permanent."

The manifesto by Hyland, who doubles as journalist and student agitator, scarcely sent students running into Harvard Yard with dynamite bombs. But it did heighten apprehension over next Tuesday's assault by the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) on the Center for International Affairs, which has sinned by accepting Federal government funding of some scholarly—and often anti-military—studies.

But apart from what may happen here Tuesday, Hyland's diatribe points to longer range problems for the nation's foremost university. Significantly, the Crimson's call for terrorism went unchallenged by either administration or faculty.

Consequently, the article constituted another victory in the campaign against established authority and legitimacy that began here last spring with the occupation of University Hall by student radicals. In the hangover from that violence the vast majority of both faculty and students have come to regard the campus turmoil as a spectator sport.

That creates a vacuum most suitable for the microscopic number of student radicals typified by Hyland. The fact they are actively opposed by only a few faculty members (inappropriately labelled "conservatives") poses a question mark against the future of Harvard.

For instance, the "conservatives" feel irreparable damage was done to Harvard's academic standards by last spring's hasty agreement under pressure to creation of an Afro-American studies department—a victory for black militants more complete than was accomplished at either Columbia or Berkeley, where administrators were under greater duress. Thus, Harvard is now offering a credit course in post-conviction rights and privileges of felons as part of the new program.

An even greater departure from academic norms was the selection of the new Afro-American department's head. Instead of the usual ad hoc selection committee, black student militants had the deciding voice. Since no self-respecting Negro academician would accept the post under those conditions, it went to a non-academician who ran unsuccessfully for Manhattan borough president in 1949 as candidate of the Communist-dominated American Labor party. That Guiner should be elevated to the academic pinnacle of a Harvard full professorship is appalling to many senior faculty members here.

Moreover, the events of last spring have menaced academic freedom. At that time, a visiting professor drastically altered a course on prevention of urban riots because of protests by black student militants—establishing a precedent for student censorship for academic content. Yet, the great majority of faculty members seem oblivious to the danger.

Nor have they fully realized what is now obvious to the Berkeley faculty: no matter how many concessions are made to student radicals, there always will be one more demand. Although Harvard capitulated to all demands last spring, the new fall term has opened with the call for closing the Center for International Affairs. Once that is accomplished, a new demand as the basis for agitation is a certainty.

WASHINGTON — The key to man's survival on earth seems to be the white rat. Most experiments being conducted these days to see what effect our environment has on human beings are first conducted on white rats. Only after we know what happens to white rats will we take any action to protect the human race.

Nobody has bothered to find out how the rats feel about this. In man's ever-questing search for truth, I visited a large government laboratory the other evening around midnight and recorded what the white rats were saying to each other.

"Zelda, you look so thin."

"They've had me on cyclamates. I must have lost 3 ounces in a week. What have you been doing?"

"I've been taking monosodium glutamate. It's tasty, but it gives me headaches. Oh-Horace, will you stop coughing?"

"Ack, ack, ack. I can't help it. They've got me smoking a pack of cigarettes a day."

"Why don't you give them up?"

"I'd like to, but they won't let me."

"What on earth is Sheldon doing? He's staggering all over his cage."

"He's involved in the marijuana experiments. He goes on a trip every night."

"That's what I call luck. How can I get off cyclamates and in the pot program?"

"You have to know somebody. Every rat in the lab wants to go on pot."

"I don't. I feel you have to face reality and not seek escape. That's why I'm proud to be associated with the air pollution project."

"How can you stand it?"

"It's not bad. Every day they drive me around New York City and I just breathe. If I die, they know the air pollution count is too high. If I live, I get to see the city."

"You're probably right, Bettina. I volunteered for a r pollution, but some computer assigned me to water pollution. I'm getting sick of drinking dirty river water every day."

"What's the matter with Whitney? He seems awfully quiet tonight."

"He's been eating grapes with DDT on them for a week, and I guess it's finally getting on him."

"I told him to boycott grapes."

"They won't give him anything else to eat, so he has no choice."

"Where's Alvin?"

"Didn't you hear? They transplanted his heart today into Hazef. Hers gave out during the automobile exhaust tests."

"Poor Alvin."

"He didn't seem to mind. He was involved in the tranquilizer experiments, and when they asked him for his heart, he said he couldn't care less."

"Who's crying?"

"Sandra. They have her taking the birth control pill. She wants babies in the worst way."

"Well, at least she's having some fun, which is more than I can say for what I'm doing."

"What's that, Carolin?"

"I'm working for NASA to see the effects of weightlessness. I vomit all the time."

"But the space program at least has some glamor to it. (Continued On Page 5)

Other Editors Say Moving In Cycles

(Henderson Dispatch)

A half century ago yesterday, the United States went officially dry but in reality actually drenched. Ten years later, when the tide of public sentiment was rolling in against the Volstead act, President Hoover called it "a great social and economic experiment, noble in nature and far-reaching in purpose." Four years later, under President Roosevelt, the country repudiated the prohibition act and the United States became legally wet again, and is probably wetter today than ever.

Liquor has come to be one of the chief villains in the moral breakdown and is at the root of a majority of fatal and other serious accidents. No longer is there any widespread talk or agitation in favor of checking the liquor business. Legal liquor can be had in most parts of North Carolina, which once was one of the early States to ban alcohol. Probably more people are drinking than ever, all the way from casual cocktails at hospitality hours to the drunken sot. There is big money in liquor, and government is grasping for all that can be had from it. Crusaders move against tobacco but are silent in forty languages about the harmful effects of whiskey.

The "roaring twenties" were followed by the socialist thirties until today the country is enmeshed in the civil rights experiment, with laws against racial segregation. One wonders if this is a fad similar to the prohibition experiment, and if it will pass or be settled down to a system more rational than that imposed by dictatorial bureaucrats in the Federal government. The parallel is not exactly similar, but there are kindred aspects.

Such so-called reforms move in cycles. After this one there will be others until the country is securely in the grasp of the socialists.

National prohibition was a failure as such, but liquor is more a menace today than ever, and may never be greatly different. Certainly there is no indication of a marked shift to reason as to this threat to the health of the nation.

stallment credit contracts, and the buyer of installment paper buys also all defenses against the seller. Are you prepared to have this shelter equally inaccessible to you as credit-card purchasers of accounts?

Other Points Prof. Prior also made these thrusts:

Some credit cards specify that the holder must do business with the issuer under the laws of another state.

"It begins to seem, to some of us who meet real families face to face, as though we are living in a kind of status panic in which credit acts as a temporary tranquilizer, but where, come dark, we end up counting charge accounts instead of sheep."

Senate testimony indicated that credit cards were a contributing factor in more than half the consumer bankruptcies filed last year.

Strength For Today

UP TO US

How can we deal with the evil in our lives?

There are a number of approaches to this problem. One is to be careful in our choice of friends and associates. Evil is not an abstract matter. It is very concrete and usually presents itself to us in a personalized form. We are not so much tempted by things as by persons. We can and should be careful about the friends we make and the circles in which we move.

Probably the most satisfactory way to deal with an evil in our lives is to deal with it directly. We can face the evil in our lives, stop excusing our tolerance of it and roll up our sleeves preparatory to getting busy.

We shall always be tempted. This is the consequence of free will, which God accorded us in order that we might grow. We can say Yes or we can say No and the answer we make will have a real bearing on our future happiness and the happiness of those round about us.

A mean, selfish spirit, intemperance, the temptation to sexual indulgence, a casual attitude toward telling the truth, a bit of latent dishonesty in the way we handle our own business affairs and the business affairs of others—the wise procedure is to reach out and take hold of these things and start pulling them up by the roots. We will save ourselves a lot of misery if we do this.

Evil is not to be tampered with. In more ways than we suspect the condition of our moral health is up to us.

OUR THING

PHILOSOPHY

Commitment

We, the undersigned organizations and/or agencies of Greenville and Pitt County, subscribe to the beliefs and support the concepts contained in this statement.

Position

Using the language of present-day youth, we believe that every individual has "A Thing" that he can do, and that every organization or agency has "A Thing" that it can do to make our community a better place in which to live.

In reference to our schools, "Our Thing" is to bring an awareness of the complexity of the problems concerned with change. It is to emphasize the fact that change and problems are always associated and connected. Therefore, the variety of difficulties which are now present should certainly be expected.

We recognize that these problems do not lend themselves to any easy, or "cure-all", solution. We believe that the best hope for a solution lies in the understanding, cooperation, and positive activity on the part of all community forces. All resources must be completely mobilized and skillfully coordinated in a concentrated effort.

Purpose

We intend to help by stimulating interest and activity toward the solution of our problems. Nothing said, or implied, should be interpreted as an attack on any individual or board. We shall point out a few specific problems and suggest some possible actions.

We shall stress the value of a positive Administrative Policy and the value of local initiative as two of our most important purposes.

SPECIFIC APPEALS

Boards Of Education

"Our Thing" is to recognize the tremendously difficult job which lies before our Boards Of Education. It is to understand and to sympathize with them in the performance of their duties. At the same time, it is to encourage them toward positive, dynamic, progressive, and even courageous actions. We believe that voluntary local initiative can provide a far better answer than dictated solutions from the outside.

"Our Thing" is a call for the unflinching adherence to an Administrative Policy which is rooted in Right, — and characterized by Fairness, Flexibility, and Firmness. To be effective, this Policy must be clearly and concisely communicated from top to bottom. It must be so clear that everyone can understand; it must be so clear that no one can truthfully say, "I did not understand." "Our Thing" is to say that Fairness, in the Policy, may not cause everyone to completely agree; but it will deny good reason to those who would arbitrarily disagree. Flexibility attunes the Policy to change. Firmness suggests a positive commitment to a direction, and the adherence to a standard.

Superintendents

"Our Thing" is to appeal to our Superintendents to "Aid and Abet" our Boards in the formulation and the implementation of the Policy as stated above. It is to remind them that Human Relations represents one of the Fundamental Pillars of Quality Education, as well as one of the Keys to the survival and success of our educational system.

We call upon our Superintendents to explore every possibility and to exploit every opportunity for the full utilization of this important Key to the solution. It is our firm conviction that without good Human Relations all of our goals become "A Mission Impossible!" To this end, we urge that the Good Neighbor Councils and all other Resources be called upon to help.

Principals

In view of the fears, frustrations, and apprehensions among faculties and students, "Our Thing" is to appeal to each Principal to become an active and promotional part of the recommended Fairness—Flexibility—Firmness Policy. Let each say to his faculty that he recognizes no Black Teachers and no White Teachers—but TEACHERS—period. Let him say that no teacher need fear more, or expect less than any other.

Let him say to his student body that Justice is the "Rock" upon which he will build the house of his administration. He must understand that to say this is not enough! To those people who feel that our system has promised so much and given so little, such a statement alone means absolutely nothing! It follows, then that each and every Administrative Act must stand in "Noble Testimony" of the reality of "Simple Justice." In short, words and deeds must go together!

Teachers

"Our Thing" is to appeal to every Teacher to put the interests of the student first. It is to call for the control of any prejudices or personality conflicts in the interest of becoming more effective in reaching all of the students.

Every student is an individual, — and should be treated as such. Backgrounds vary widely, and needs differ on the basis of many factors. These factors are aggravated by the existence of fear, lack of self-confidence, over-sensitivity, and disbelief in the attainment of justice. The Teacher must make special efforts to understand these backgrounds and to meet these needs individually from day to day.

The Black Teacher must deal with an attitude of disrespect found among some white students, — and vice versa. The causes for this attitude may be varied, but it is there!

The White Teacher must deal with the growing belief among some black students that there is no genuine concern for their welfare, — and vice versa. The feeling that they cannot expect justice may be unfounded, but it is there!

All too often, we have heard the statement: "Everything is fine; — we have no problems." "Our Thing" is to call for recognition of the fact that these problems do exist, and that they must be dealt with. The Key to the solution of these problems includes a wholesome attitude, understanding, patience, ingenuity, and the application of "Simple Justice" on the part of all teachers — Black and White.

Parents

"Our Thing" is to appeal to all Parents to make their contribution by sending children to school with a full measure of "Respect For Authority!" It is to urge every Parent to do everything possible toward replacing the "Chip On The Shoulder" attitude with one which says "Live And Let Live." The Parent who tells his child, "Don't Take Anything Off Anybody," is doing a dangerous thing! It would be far better for all Parents to say to their children, "Put A Little Love In Your Heart!"

MUTUAL ACCEPTANCE IS A MUST!

Students

"Our Thing" is to make a most sincere appeal to Students for help in our efforts for peaceful and progressive change. The very foundation of our entire educational system is now very seriously threatened. "Our Thing" is to say that there is no substitute for education in our present space-age society, and that our best interests lie in its perfection — not its destruction!

"Our Thing" is a simple reminder to Students that most of the responsibility for the prevention of disorder, disruption, and destruction rests on their shoulders. It is to urge each one, individually, to accept his responsibility!

"Our Thing" is not to discourage the Students from doing "Their Thing"; but we would caution against doing "A Thing" impulsively and without thought.

Concerned Citizens

Finally, "Our Thing" is to call upon all "Concerned Citizens" for help in the mobilization of all Community Forces and Resources in this regard. We consider Newspapers, Radio, and Television among our most important Resources.

By calm, creative, cooperative action today, we build for a Better Tomorrow. By erratic, irresponsible, negativistic action today, we increase the danger that there may be No Tomorrow. Our choice is to build! Not only must we "Make Democracy Live," but we must make it work — and work for us in Greenville and Pitt County.

SUMMARY

The hope and intent of this statement is to make a positive contribution toward a better community. We believe that education — Yes — "Quality Education" — is a prime necessity. We have observed that Human Relations is one of the Fundamental Pillars of "Quality Education." Too little value has been placed on this fact in the past. No education can proceed in an atmosphere of tension and turmoil. Therefore, the importance of the right atmosphere cannot be overemphasized. The only possible answer to the problem of providing this atmosphere lies within the area of Human Relations.

Communication is perhaps the most important Key of all in the whole process. Policies and Plans (no matter how good) are useless unless they are communicated.

Local imagination, responsibility, and positive action all combine as another Key to success. Raleigh and Washington cannot be expected to do for us what we refuse to do for ourselves.

In our view, the job of Total Education is far too big for our School Systems alone. "Their Thing" is the primary responsibility for directing the efforts. "Our Thing" is to help, in every way possible, Individually and Collectively.

Pirates Chase Second Win Against Paladins

Meet The Pirates

Grover Truslow, left, and Mike Mills are two members of this year's East Carolina University football team. Truslow, a 6-4, 227-pound sophomore, is from Lumberton. He has seen action at the defensive tackle spot. Mills, a 6-0, 185-pound junior, is from Statesville. He plays in the defensive secondary, and has intercepted two passes this year. The Pirates play host to Furman University Saturday night at 7:30 p.m. in Ficklen Stadium.

Pesky Furman Has Given Bucs Exciting Games In The Past

Despite the fact that Furman University has the reputation for being the patsy of the Southern Conference, and goes by the nickname of the "Football-for-Fun" bunch, it's never so against East Carolina.

Something about the Pirates seems to bring out all of meanness of the Paladins, and they play against the Bucs tougher than anyone else.

East Carolina leads the series 4-2, but it's never really been easy on the Bucs. Furman won the first game, 29-8, eight years ago, but the Bucs came back with their first Tangerine Bowl team to take a 34-13 win over the Paladins. In that one, however, Furman grabbed the initial lead.

The next year, the Bucs were again rated among the best in the country in the small college ranks, and were picked as top candidates for another Tangerine trip. They made the trip, but along the way, the Paladins were the only ones to cause the Bucs to stumble, 14-7.

East Carolina won handily the next year, 17-0, but the next two games were corks. East Carolina won them both, 34-23 and 24-13, but had to battle harder than ever to escape the pesky South Carolina club.

Saturday night, both go into the game with only one victory each, and despite the fact that the Pirates are heavy favorites to win, Furman will be in there scrapping.

The Paladins have a good running game in their fullback George Vaughn. In 92 carries, he has picked up 298 yards rushing and three touchdowns. His backfield running mate, Dick Immel has picked up 111 yards in 38 lugs.

Another problem for the Pirates could be the return to shape of another fullback Joe Street. Last year he was touted as a top runner, but ended up with an injury then, too.

Another big factor to the Paladins is the passing of quarterback Cleve Hightower. Hightower has hit on 35 of 92 attempts for 432 yards and three touchdowns. His chief targets have been end Byron Trotter (14, 140 yards, one TD), and flanker Pat Carroll (11, 119 yards, 2 TD's). The Paladins also have an alternate quarterback in Doug Gill, a sophomore. He has thrown the ball 26 times, hitting on 11 for 152 yards and one score.

East Carolina will also have to contend with Furman's fine kick return game. Against opponent's punts, the Paladins have averaged better than 10 yards per try, while on kickoffs, they are carrying back around 15 yards per carry.

They also have shown the ability to pick off a pass, pulling in 10 interceptions this year. However, their passers have also had 10 picked off.

Meanwhile, East Carolina is having to worry over a rash of injuries. Blocking back Tim Litterton may not be ready to play, and if he is, it will be on a limited basis. Guard Worth Springs and number two blocking back Lawson Brown are definitely out.

Several others with minor injuries are expected to be back in action.

Coach Clarence Stasavich said that his biggest worry is Furman's wide-tackle six defense. "We have always had trouble with this, and our offense hasn't been consistent against it. Then, too, we always have to worry about Hightower."

"Their offense is pretty much like ours. They have three or four starters back, but they have a little more experience in that they are using only three sophomores, while we are using six. We have more experience on defense."

Stasavich feels that the offense will be able to move the ball better this week. "W. miss Springs, he is our blocker; but several others have been blocking well during the week. It's still improving and we'll probably do better. We just lost too many people in the second quarter last week."

Stasavich is also happy with the improvement in the Pirate passing game. "Our problem now is not so much getting the ball out, but getting the receivers off the line to get to the ball."

If tradition means anything, the game promises to be an exciting one. All the odds usually go out the door when the kickoff comes, and it will probably be no different this time.

The probable starting lineup for the Bucs has Dick Corrada and Fred Harris at ends, Grover Truslow and John Rowe at tackles, Butch Britton and John Hollingsworth at guards, Terry Edmondson at center, Billy Wightman at tailback, Butch Colson at fullback, Pete Woolley at blocking back and William Mitchell at wingback.

Defensively, it'll be Monty Kiernan and Roger Bost at ends, Tim Tyler and George Wheeler at tackles, Jim Gudger at middle guard, Danny Wilmer and Wes Rothrock at linebackers, Mike Boaz at rover, George Whitley and Rusty Scates at halfbacks and Stu Garrett at safety.

Kickoff time in Ficklen Stadium is 7:30 p.m.

Nicklaus, Pair Tie For Kaiser

By BOB GREEN

NAPA, Calif. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus sat there saying he was playing as well as he had in two years, and talking rather casually about winning three or four tournaments in a row.

And he didn't discount the possibility of leading the money winning list. Right now he trails Frank Beard by about $77,000 with only the current Kaiser International Open Golf Tournament and three others to go.

Nicklaus, winner of the Sahara Invitational in his last start, charged in with a 66 on Thursday and shared the first round lead in the $140,000 Kaiser with Lou Graham and Jack Courtney.

"If I win here," said Nicklaus, who has won about $94,000 this year, "that would put me only about $1,000 behind Gar Player," who is third on the list with about $123,000. And Player isn't going to play any more this year.

"If I win maybe three in a row, well, I'd be right up there. I don't know whether I'll play Danny Thomas," he said, referring to the final tournament of the year. "But if I'm in a position to improve my standing on the list, maybe take No. 1, I'll sure try to."

"It all just depends."

Nicklaus now ranks seventh on the money list. He has not finished lower than third since turning pro in 1961.

One stroke back, at 67, were Ron Cerrudo and Ed Sneed, both of whom played the north, and Don January, on the south.

Eppes Gets 6-6 Tie Against RM

ROCKY MOUNT—Eppes Junior High School pulled out a 6-6 tie against Rocky Mount's Wilson Junior High School yesterday.

Lonnie Peyton picked up the lone Bulldog touchdown after Joe Taft had set it up by blocking a punt. The ball was recovered on the one yard line.

The score came with only 50 seconds left in the game. The Rocky Mount score was also set up by a blocked punt, which was recovered on the 35. The score came on a pass play on fourth down. At one other time, the Eppes defense stopped Wilson at the two.

The Bulldog offense was hampered by three fumbles, but the defense came up with two interceptions.

Offensive standouts for Eppes were Earl Wilson, who suffered a broken leg in the game, Reggie Perkins, George Taft and Lonnie Peyton.

Defensive standouts were George Taft, Sammy Daniels, Leroy Daniels, Joe Taft, Lonnie Peyton, Nathaniel Perkins and Reggie Perkins.

Outside Running Problem For Duke

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's a light Atlantic Coast Conference agenda Saturday, with two ACC teams resting and two traveling to out-of-conference matches.

Duke flies down to Atlanta to take on Georgia Tech. The Blue Devils, slowed by injuries all season, battled North Carolina State to a 25-25 tie last Saturday to make their season mark 1-3-1 in ACC play.

Duke coach Tom Harp said his main worry about the Yellow Jackets was their running power.

"We are concerned with Tech's outside speed," he said. "We did a good job of containment against North Carolina and need at least as good an effort this week."

In other non-conference action, the high-strutting South Carolina Gamecocks travel to Tallahassee to meet the Florida State Seminoles. South Carolina is unbeaten in ACC games, but dropped one to Georgia 41-16.

If past games in the three-year-old Florida State series are any indication, the contest will be a showdown between two fine quarterbacks: South Carolina's Tommy Suggs and Florida State's Bill Cappleman.

Both registered spanking passing performances when their two teams met last year, with Florida State winning 35-28. Suggs completed 24 of 37 tosses for 324 yards and two touchdowns. But Cappleman still outpassed him, hitting 25 of 42 for 437 yards and four touchdowns.

Aycock Wins For Unbeaten Year

WILSON — Aycock Junior High School completed its first football season in history yesterday, and they did it in fine style.

The Phantoms captured a 16-12 victory over Wilson Junior High School's "Blue" team, completing an unbeaten 6-0 season.

Coach Wilson McDowell praised both his offensive and defensive teams, calling the final victory "a real team effort."

The first Aycock score came in the first period, when James Payton recovered a fumble in the end zone. Alphonso Hunter ran the conversion over for an 8-0 lead.

Wilson came back in the second period to score twice and take the lead. Sutton scored on a 10-yard run to cut the Aycock lead to 8-6, then, Moore pulled in, a 10-yard pass from Clark to put Wilson ahead, 12-8.

It stayed that way until the final period, when Hunter cracked over from 12-yards out to put Aycock back on top 14-12. Hunter ran the conversion over again, and that produced the final 16-12 margin.

	Aycock	Wilson
First downs	9	2
Rushing yardage	168	14
Passing yardage	25	50
Return yardage	40	51
Punts	53-0	9-51
Fumbles lost	1-40	2-50
Yards penalized	3	2
Aycock	8 0 0 8-16
Wilson	0 12 0 0-12

Scoring: A - Payton, recovered fumble in end zone (Hunter run); W - Sutton, 10 run (pass failed); W - Moore, 10 pass from Clark (run failed); A - Hunter, 12 run (Hunter run)

Woody's Ramblin's

By WOODY PEELE

Well, last week's results really "socked it to me!" And you can believe it that it was no Laugh-In.

By the time the smoke had cleared away from the football fields, this column had absorbed a 9-9 week, the lowest in over two years. I guess that proves that it is getting harder and harder . . .

There is only one solution to the problem, to try harder this week.

Rose High School is scheduled to play the New Bern Bears tonight. The Rampants are hoping to pull this one out and come away with their first conference win of the year. It will be an aerial duel between Chuck Mohn of New Bern and Rose's Joe West, although both teams could surprise with their running.

At any rate, it could be the best chance for the Rampants in some time, but I'll still have to pick New Bern.

Farmville travels down to Southern Wayne in a crucial Eastern Plains game. Farmville still has an outside shot at the title, but must win here to maintain its hopes. Unfortunately, Southern Wayne is to be the winner.

Northern Nash travels to Greene Central, where the Rams could play havoc with the standings by pulling off an upset. They were soundly thrashed by Farmville last week, however, and we look for Northern to come through in this one.

Robersonville travels to Wakelon for a game. The Rams came off second best against Saratoga, and the loss knocked them out of first place. It is not a conference game, but Robersonville needs to win badly. They should.

Chocowinity is the visitor to Grifton this week. The Bulldogs are currently reeling from two straight losses in the conference, and are virtually out of the running. But a good finish could make up for some of the disappointment. Grifton should be able to bounce back and take this one.

Ayden plays host to Pamlico County this week. The Tornados seem to have finally found the combination. They played Weldon to a standstill before just losing, then beat Lousiburg last week. It's a return to form, and the Tornados are the choice here.

Turning to the collegiate scene, East Carolina University Pirates return to the confines of Ficklen Stadium to host Furman University Saturday night. In the past, these games have been top-notch ones. They've all been close, although the Pirates lead in the series.

Prospects are for another good game from the spectator point of view, and I'll go with the Pirates to take this one.

In other Southern Conference games, it'll be The Citadel over Richmond, Davidson over VMI, and Virginia Tech over William & Mary.

The Atlantic Coast Conference games will find Clemson beating Maryland, Duke downing Georgia Tech, Florida State over South Carolina, Virginia over North Carolina.

In other games, it'll be Nebraska over Colorado, North Texas State over Cincinnati, Notre Dame over Navy, Ohio State over Northwestern, Ohio over Western Michigan, and Oklahoma over Iowa State.

Season's record: 92 right, 42 wrong, 68.7 per cent.

Tennessee-Georgia; Florida-Auburn; And LSU-Mississippi Highlight Southeastern

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Take three teams that were supposed to be just mediocre but are far from it, add three equally dangerous squads, throw in a jinx or two, add an arch-rivalry . . . and what do you get?

A slam-bag trio of college football games as far as the hectic Southeastern Conference race is concerned.

It's been a long time since one conference could boast an awesome lineup equally Saturday's SEC games that match:

No. 3-ranked Tennessee idling a five-game victory string, at defending champion Georgia, No. 11; No. 7 Florida at No. 17 Auburn and No. 8 Louisiana State against its arch-rival, rugged Mississippi, at Jackson, Miss.

LSU and Florida, both 6-0 for the season, are tied with Tennessee for first place with 2-0 marks. Ironically, all three teams were picked in pre-season polls to finish among the league's also-rans.

Tennessee, idle last week, is a one-point favorite over the Bulldogs, 2-1 and 5-1, but to win it the Vols will have to solve Georgia's stingy defense and a string of success at home.

The Bulldogs have yielded an average of only 8.2 points per game and rank ninth in rushing defense. On top of that, they have lost only two games and tied one in 26 at home under Coach Vince Dooley. But the Vols are rolling along with a 39.5-point average, fourth best in the country.

Florida—off to an astonishing start with a sophomore-laden attack headed by quarterback John Reeves, who leads the country with 20 touchdown passes—is the nation's third best scoring outfit with a 39.7 average and ranks eighth in total offense.

Auburn, 4-2 and 1-2, has been tabbed a touchdown favorite, however, thanks to a crew of stoppers that rank second in total defense and seventh in pass defense.

In addition, Florida Coach Ray Graves has taken some dandy Gator teams to Auburn, only to have the Tigers maintain their home field jinx.

However, Graves is a little more optimistic this season. "I feel like this is probably the best team I've taken to Auburn. I know they're capable of beating anyone," he said.

Louisiana State, which has a 36.3 scoring average along with a tight defense, has lost five and tied one of its last seven meetings with Mississippi, 1-2 and 3-3, and to improve on that the Tigers will have to stop sensational junior quarterback Archie Manning.

"If you let him operate at his will, you better hold on," said Coach Charles McClendon.

Other games Saturday find top-ranked Ohio State at Northwestern, No. 2 Texas at Southern Methodist, Texas A&M at No. 4 Arkansas, Boston College at No. 5 Penn State, No. 6 Southern California at California, Washington at No. 9 UCLA and Navy at No. 10 Notre Dame.

Also, it's No. 12 Kansas State at No. 14 Missouri, No. 13 Purdue at Illinois, No. 15 Wyoming at Arizona State in a night game, No. 16 Stanford at Oregon State, No. 18 Colorado at Nebraska, No. 19 Air Force at Army and Wisconsin at No. 20 Michigan.

Ohio State isn't expected to have much trouble running its victory string to 20 straight—and six for the season—against Northwestern, stung 45-20 by Purdue last week.

But Buckeye Coach Woody Hayes will have a wary eye to the past. In 1958, Hayes' undefeated and top-ranked club was upset by the Wildcats 21-0 in the sixth game of the season.

Texas and Arkansas also are expected to maintain their co-leadership in the Southwest Conference. The Longhorns will have a busy afternoon containing SMU passing ace Chuck Hixon, but the Mustangs will have an even tougher time with Texas' bruising running backs.

Arkansas has scored 191 points while giving up only 27, and Texas A&M shouldn't pose much of a threat to either mark.

Penn State, 6-0, is an overwhelming favorite over Boston College, 2-2, but Southern California, 6-0, could be in for a battle to maintain its Pacific-8 lead against stubborn California, 4-2.

Second-place UCLA, 6-0-1, is a solid favorite over Washington 0-6.

Kansas State, 5-1, which proved its early season success wasn't a fluke by trouncing Oklahoma 59-21 last week, faces a struggle in preserving its Big Eight lead against Missouri, still smarting from last Saturday's 31-24 upset loss to Colorado.

The Tigers are tied with Colorado and Nebraska for second, all with 2-1 records, behind K-State, 3-0.

Purdue is a big favorite to crush winless Illinois and stay in the thick of the Big Ten race. The Boilermakers, 2-1 in the league, share second with Indiana, Michigan, Northwestern and Wisconsin in the fight for the runner-up spot behind Ohio State—and a trip to the Rose Bowl since the Buckeyes are barred from a repeat visit to the New Year's Day classic.

Pivotal Games Are Set In Southern Conference

Two of the pivotal games of the 1969 Southern Conference football season come off Saturday afternoon, providing the diminishing supplies of adhesive tape and bandages at the combatant colleges last until then.

With an unearthy blend of aromas — tangerine blossoms and hospital medications — permeating the air at each stop, Davidson's Wildcats play host to VMI and Richmond entertains The Citadel.

All but VMI are in hot contention for the SC championship. And all, including the Keydets, will be handicapped by injuries going into what could be their most important games of the autumn.

The cry of "Doctor, doctor" will be most pronounced, perhaps, at Davidson, where the Wildcats—5-1 for the season, 3-1 in SC play and tied for the conference lead—must beat winless VMI to stay in the title race and retain hope for a bid to the Tangerine Bowl Dec. 26 at Orlando, Fla.

"We have hardly been able to get enough players together this week to have a decent practice," moans Wildcat coach Homer Smith. "It's the first time this year we've had enough injuries to slow us down. I'm worried about this game."

Seven offensive regulars for the attack-minded 'Cats will be at least partly hobbled Saturday. Among them are two major stars—end George Hannen and running back Mike Mikolayunas.

That VMI coach Vito Ragazzo is "worried about this game" goes without saying. A man whose team is 0-6 over-all and 0-3 in the conference has worries about almost everything. But Ragazzo has more than usual this week.

Injuries will cost VMI the services of fullback Ted Kirk, split end Colby Trammell and defensive back John Ludt in the Davidson homecoming game. On the bright side, halfback Tom Sowers will be ready for duty.

"Sowers scares us to death," says Smith—and no wonder. The Keydet runner carried 52 times when VMI whipped the Wildcats 21-17 last year.

Richmond, 3-3, 2-1, was staggered early this week by injuries to a pair of All-Southern aces — end Mel Medved and back Winston Whitehead, who were involved in an auto accident. Both were hospitalized and, although they vow they'll play against The Citadel, neither is likely to do so.

The Citadel, 5-1, 3-1, will meet the Spiders at their homecoming minus versatile Mike Davitt, who plays offensive guard, end and center, and with the SC's top rusher, Tom Sanchez, at half speed because of a severe case of bruised ribs.

The Citadel, apparently the front-runner for the Tangerine Bowl invitation, must beat Richmond's 1968 champions to stay in the championship race. The same may be said of the Spide

Two other games are on the Saturday program, but only one will count in the conference standings. This is the visit of Furman, 0-1 in league play, to East Carolina, 0-2, with fifth place in the standings at stake.

The nonconference setto finds William and Mary 3-3 over - all, meeting Virginia Tech 1-5, in the annual Harvest Bowl game in Roanoke, Va.

The Health and Welfare Unit of the Seventh Day Adventist Church here was dedicated in ceremonies held at the church on Wednesday.

Taking part in the ceremony were Mrs. Sue Kite, health and welfare leader for the Greenville Church, Elder Ammons of the Carolina Conference of Seventh Day Adventists, and Richard McKee, pastor of the Greenville Church. The unit is located in back of the church building.

The Seventh Day Adventist Church carries on an extensive disaster relief work around the world. Their work is two-fold, supplying man's physical and spiritual needs. This relief operation is conducted with help from volunteer workers who donate their time in helping others.

This year the Seventh Day Adventist Church helped over 30,000 people with food and clothing following hurricane Camille on the Gulf Coast estimated at over one and a half million dollars.

The Greenville Disaster Relief Center or Health and Welfare Unit is prepared to provide like services here. The relief services have been registered with local fire department to provide immediate help of food and clothing to any person in time of storm, fire or flood. Interested persons may call 758-1708 or 752-2312, day or night.

HEALTH AND CHIROPRACTIC

By
Dr. W. C. Chapel,
Former President
Lincoln Chiropractic College

Q. I have heard that chiropractors say all disease comes from a "pinched nerve." Is this true?

A. No. The chiropratic profession maintains that an interference to normal transmission and expression of vital nerve energy is a cause of ill health. We also recognize that disease can be due to many other causes, such as pathogenic organisms, malnutrition, exposure, accidents and psychological problems.

Q. I have also been told that no matter what is wrong with you, the chiropratic doctor treats everything the same way. Is this true?

A. No. The treatment that a chiropratic physician recommends will depend on what he determines your condition to be. After his examination, he may suggest that you consult a specialist in another field. He may recommend home remedies. He may recommend treatments in his office that might include specific manipulation, some form of physical therapy or dietary advice. Every case is handled as an individual one.

HANDS

The concert is over. The artist takes a bow. Or, perhaps the curtain rings down on a smash hit. And hands slap, smack, pat, or tap. Hands do other things besides applaud. Some write on blackboards, others perform miracles of surgery — some type, some sew, some plant. Hands drive trucks, make music or diaper a baby.

There are crippled hands and wrinkled hands, soft ones and smooth; hands flung up as a shield; others stretched in supplication.

In God's Church are praying hands. These hands translate compassion into action. They find homes for the homeless and food for the hungry. They teach, as well as preach, and bring hope to hearts long lonely. They, literally, become the hands of God.

Today, as never before, mankind needs the assurance and comfort of God's love. Won't you help your church reach out? Offer your heart and your helping hands.

"priceless"

There are some things in life that have no price.

At Stratford Arms we try to create an atmosphere that makes it a happy place to live.

Even though our apartments are reasonably priced some people think the attitude and atmosphere are priceless. Come and see and feel it. Sorry we're all booked on 3-bedroomers but our 1 and 2 bedroom apartments are a delight.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—The North Carolina live broilers and fryers market was mostly one-half cent lower today. Prices live at farm 13 to 13½ cents per pound, mostly 13½. Hens, offerings of all weights limited, demand good. Heavy type at farm, 16 cents per pound; light type 8½.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets stronger. Supplies adequate, demand fair to good. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A large whites: 57½ to 58; medium, whites: 51 to 52; small, whites: 44 to 45.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced in fairly active trading early today.

At 11 a.m. the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 1.79 at 852.3 with advances outnumbering declines by a wide margin of 738 to 380 among individual issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Some analysts said the market might be trying to extend its moderate rise of late Thursday. Brokers said investors appeared reluctant to buy aggressively until President Nixon's Nov. 3 speech.

Control Data was off 1¼ at 121 after an 18 point drop in the two previous sessions after an increased earnings report some analysts said was not up to expectations.

Corn continues to come in

Quiet Night After Unrest Of Thursday

Greenville police reported a quiet night last night following a day of unrest as outsiders sought to lead a boycott of local schools as classes resumed for the first time this week.

Two Southern Christian Leadership Conference officials, W. E. Banks, state regional director from Thomasville, and J. H. London, vice-president of SCLC of North Carolina, from Hertford, led a group of students and parents to the school administrative offices yesterday afternoon to talk with associate superintendent of schools Glenn Cox.

"This is a peaceful group," Bank said, "and under SCLC control, but if we leave them, you are going to see violence." London too, predicted violence if the SCLC leadership were to leave. "They (the students) are not here to create violence but if we can't control them, it will be the worst mess you've ever seen."

During a morning demonstration at the school offices two other outsiders, Milton Fitch from Wilson pledged to "parade, march and demonstrate until something is done." James Barrow of Washington, N.C. said, "We will keep this non-violent and we will see results."

DEDICATION IS SET for Sunday services at the First Wesleyan Church, located on Highway 43 near Bell Forks.

Church Dedication Services Sunday

Dedication services have been scheduled for the new First Wesleyan Church near Bell Forks on Sunday at 2 p.m., according to Rev. A.E. Barefoot, pastor of the recently completed church.

Constructed by members and friends of the church, the structure was completed and ready for occupancy about eight weeks ago, Barefoot said.

The original Wesleyan church denomination was formed in 1968 as a result of the merger between the Pilgrim Holiness and Wesleyan Methodist Churches. The world wide work of the church is directed from the Wesleyan World Headquarters in Marion, Indiana, Barefoot said.

The local church is a member of a nationwide denomination that covers nearly all states of the Union and Canada and Mexico, in addition to a number of overseas fields. Services on Sunday, Barefoot said, will include a meal to be served on the church grounds following the 11 a.m. service. Revival services will conclude on Sunday.

Barefoot is a native of Durham and came to the Greenville area three years ago from the Portlertown Community Chapel Church. He has spent seven years in Africa working with both whites and natives. A number of churches were established there during his mission.

The Carteret County coroner said the bodies recovered were identified as those of Deputy Sheriff T. W. Forehand, 60, of Wayne County, and his son-in-law, Donald Mooring, 36. Missing are Bobby Hinnant, 43, also a son-in-law of Forehand, and Sidney Thompson, 40. The men left on a fishing trip Wednesday. Their fishing boat was reported overdue Thursday morning.

Still 'Missing' In Core Sound

DAVIS, N. C. (AP) — The search was scheduled to continue today for two Pikesville men who were still missing late Thursday after their boat capsized during a fishing trip in the rough waters of Core Sound. The bodies of their two companions from Goldsboro were recovered Thursday.

The Carteret County coroner said the bodies recovered were identified as those of Deputy Sheriff T. W. Forehand, 60, of Wayne County, and his son-in-law, Donald Mooring, 36. Missing are Bobby Hinnant, 43, also a son-in-law of Forehand, and Sidney Thompson, 40. The men left on a fishing trip Wednesday. Their fishing boat was reported overdue Thursday morning.

40 policemen," Lynch stated. Lynch further commented "This appointment was broken, and the Christian Leadership Conference leaders has suggested he superintendent (Dr. Cleet C. Cleetwood) would meet them at a desirable date and time, with no enforcement people on hand."

Dr. Cleetwood stated "There was no such appointment made with me. The only appointment the city school office had with anyone Thursday afternoon was with a group of students and their parents at 5:30 with Glenn Cox."

Cox, who is Assistant Superintendent of the city schools, Friday morning stated "I had a meeting with the students and their parents went well. It was orderly, without outside interference and I feel we got a lot accomplished."

Cox has been appointed to work with students who received suspension notices in their requests for appropriate hearings to determine when they can be readmitted to Rose High.

Church To Mark Its Anniversary

WINTERVILLE — The Reedy Branch Free Will Baptist Church will celebrate its 169th anniversary Sunday.

The day's activities will begin with Sunday School at 9:45 a.m. followed with morning worship at 11 o'clock. The pastor, Rev. Willis Wilson, will deliver the morning message. He is celebrating his sixth anniversary as pastor of the church.

Lunch will be served by the people of the church at noon. At 1:15 p.m., an old-fashioned singspiration will be conducted by Blaine Moye, choir director of the church. Members of the church and visiting singers will participate.

Tommy Manning, editor at the Free Will Baptist Press, will play the organ and Mrs. Sammy Hodges will be at the piano.

Attended March Of Dimes Meeting Held In Atlanta

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carrigan of Greenville attended a two-day March of Dimes program orientation meeting Oct. 27 and 28 in Atlanta. Mrs. Carrigan is the chairman of the Pitt County Chapter of the National Foundation - March of Dimes.

Focus of the convention, Mrs. Carrigan said, was discussion of the development of a new vaccine against rubella (German measles) and other protective measures.

"The development of the vaccine . . . gives us one more preventive weapon in our fight to conquer birth defects," Mrs. Carrigan pointed out. The 1964-65 epidemic of rubella damaged or destroyed some 50,000 American babies during pregnancy, she said.

Approximately 800 volunteers from North Carolina and neighboring states attended the meetings. They were told by Dr. Bernard J. Fogel of the University of Miami that the new rubella vaccine, if used widely enough, "could curtail future epidemics such as the 1964 one in which 30,000 babies were born with birth defects."

Cadet Lt. Col. Terry D. Huffman and Angel Flight commander Jane Burges from East Carolina University participated in the "special events" section of the meetings. A March-a-thon conducted last year by the AFROTC collected $3,500 towards the March of Dimes program.
