He said if police are not removed from the schools, a five-day march to Raleigh would begin Sunday to focus state-wide attention to the Greenville situation. Frinks said the march Sunday would move through Ayden and Grifton.

Yesterday's trek to Ayden ended about 4:45 just north of the Ayden city limits when Police Chief James Ross warned Frinks, SCLC field worker Jessie Daniels of Greenville and Milton Fitch, SCLC state coordinator, that they and the rest of the marchers would be arrested if they entered the town without a parade permit.

The group then disbanded and returned to Greenville by car, but Frinks said they would return to Ayden today and march peacefully without a permit.

"If we fall to get through here peacefully," Frinks said, "we might as well call non-violence in the State of North Carolina. Non-violence has suffered an awful blow today."

The marchers were orderly and mostly silent during their walk and were all black except for one Greenville man, Whitney Hadden.

Hadden said he was in sympathy with the marchers' cause. A "fairly good number" of ECU students also support the marchers he said, and indicated that other whites may participate in future marches.

Miss Hardison Is Round Table Speaker Tuesday

"The Impact of Women on Modern Literature, Both as Authors and as Subjects" was the program topic for the meeting Tuesday of the Round Table.

Miss Janice Hardison, director of freshmen composition in the English Department at ECU, was speaker.

She pointed out that of the current 10 fiction best sellers, four are by women and of the 10 best sellers of nonfiction best sellers of nonfiction, four are about women. This trend has been evident for several years.

Women have been the authors of the three all-time best sellers Harriet Beecher Stowe's Uncle Tom's Cabin; Margaret Mitchell's "Gone With the Wind;" and more recently "Peyton Place" by Grace Metalious, she said.

She observed that the last 20 years have been produced interest among psychologists and sociologists in the feminine mystique. This concern has been reflected in novels and in biographical studies of unconventional women in several cultures.

Mrs. Howard Porter introduced the speaker. The hostess, Mrs. R.B. Lee, served refreshments assisted by Mrs. H. L. Andrews and Mrs. E. E. Rawl.

Ignore The Wife's Requests

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I am secretary to the owner of a small but successful business and have been for some time. I handle all the bills.

Recently my boss' wife called and asked me to send the office telephone bill home. She said her husband had unjustly accused her of making several costly long distance calls from the office and she wanted the bill to prove that she had not. Naturally I sent the bill to her.

Here's the hitch. My boss has had a girl friend for several years. She lives out of town and I know that he makes many long distance calls to her. (He doesn't know that I know about her.) I don't know if his wife suspects anything. She is a lovely woman. (His wife.)

Well, today my boss said, "If my wife asks for the phone bills again, please don't give them to her!" No further explanation.

What am I supposed to do now? I can't ignore the wife's requests. And I can't tell her that her husband doesn't want me to send the phone bills to her. I am Very Truly Yours, IN A QUANDARY

DEAR IN: You are working for HIM — not HER. And no secretary who is as sharp as you appear could be so naive as to send the office telephone bill home to the boss' wife without first consulting the boss. It's almost as tho you wanted his "lovely" wife to catch him in something. Don't take orders from anyone but your boss again, or for Christmas you're apt to get your walking papers.

DEAR ABBY: What ever happened to all those nice thoughtful ladies who used to offer their mailmen a glass of ice-cold lemonade in the summer, and a cup of hot steaming chocolate in the winter? Even a glass of ice WATER would be nice, and it surely wouldn't break up anyone's budget. Would it not?

WALKING DRY
DEAR WALKING: Those "nice, thoughtful ladies" were our mothers and grandmothers, most of whom are gone now. You're right. It wouldn't break up anyone's budget, but it's not the money — it's the time that most homemakers are reluctant to spend. With all the new-fangled time-saving devices at milady's fingertips today, she seems to be too "busy" for the old-fashioned courtesies. Doesn't make much sense, does it?

DEAR ABBY: When will we learn the lessons of human behavior that abound in so much of Greek and Roman literature? The ancients were well aware of seduction, and the Bible treats it extensively. We on the other hand, pretend that sexual responses can only happen when and where they're ideally supposed to. All the while, police blotters and hospitals and institutional admissions reflect more than half of our crimes stem from wrongful passions and uncontrolled lust.

Seduction is seduction, and any sexily-clad female had better believe that ALL men into whose view she comes can be affected by her "teasing" attire as well as the ONE man she may be seductively dressed for.

Also, please know that it is because a man is NORMAL that he is aroused, not because the female displaying a lot of thigh or cleavage is built like Venus. She could be built like half a cord of firewood and

Our Great Reservoir Of Good Will

Despite some continued disruptions in the community, school attendance seems to be building up to near normal levels and the educational programs are continuing.

This speaks well for parents, pupils and the school administration and faculty. If it were not for a reservoir of good will and understanding among all Greenville citizens, it is possible that the schools could not have withstood the onslaught of problems during recent weeks.

It has long been our belief that Greenville has the leadership among both races, and among its young people, to meet and solve peacefully and rationally problems that arise here.

These are not empty words, for we feel this have been proven many times during the past decade as desegregation has proceeded.

This same spirit has prevailed as the community met other problems. As a result we have a cleaner city; much slum housing has been eliminated and many streets in older areas of the city have been paved.

We would never contend that all our problems have been solved; and indeed, they never will be. We do feel, however, that the spirit and leadership here is adequate for meeting problems.

There have been times in years gone by when disruptions could have split the community into unfriendly camps. That is not true today. Greenville has reached a degree of sophistication where such things are taken in stride. The schools will operate and progress will continue, because that is the way the vast majority of local citizens wish it to be.

School Bond Setbacks Will Prove Damaging

It is regrettable that many bond issues which would build consolidated schools in various counties of the state, are being defeated.

Often it appears that voters are casting their ballots against the bond issues as a protest against integration plans.

The most recent Supreme Court decision should remove any doubt that full integration is to proceed, and delaying construction of adequate schools will not head off the changes. If the new schools are not built, then school boards will just have to carry out integration in the buildings that exist.

Usually it works out that consolidating schools and integrating at the same time is the best procedure. Voters usually are only hurting the overall educational program when they use votes against school bond issues is votes against desegregation.

The Majority Was Opposed

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES

RALEIGH—The time has arrived to begin analyzing and assessing the outcome of last Tuesday's local sales tax elections across the state.

This process, from a political standpoint, will go on for months, perhaps years.

were among the 25 giving approval — stand to gain more in net revenue from the local sales tax levy than they will collect.

They know this—and also that if the larger, richer counties participated they would get even more. The reason is that the legislature established a "pool" for sharing of 50 per cent of local sales tax revenue among all of the counties which approved it this time. Mecklenburg County which approved an extra penny sales tax in 1967 was exempted from this provision but would have had to share half if it had approved one per cent this time.

Wait — In effect, Mecklenburg voters said emphatically that they would rather wait and see. Apparently so did the voters in other large, populous counties.

So the vote as tabulated on a statewide basis was strongly against. Nevertheless, because the elections were held as separate local referendums, a local sales tax was approved in 25 of the 100.

What counties? What reasons?

At least 10 of the 25 approving counties adjoin neighboring states. These and several others on the list count heavily upon the tourist trade to support their local economy. Still another, Cumberland County, has the largest military installation in the state. Onslow County has the second largest.

Only eight of the 25 counties could be classified as above average in wealth and population — the largest of these being Durham and Buncombe and New Hanover. Add Cumberland and Onslow, and Wayne which also has a large military installation in Seymour - Johnson AFB. Lenoir and Richmond rank above the average economically in the state.

But that's it. The rest of the list is made up of small below-average economically rated counties in the mountains or near the coast.

This will happen — but the bonus won't be as fat as they had hoped.

Reason — These smaller, poorer counties—most of the smallest and poorest counties

Superman Now In Our Folklore

By BENNET BOLTON

NEW YORK (AP) — While religions worry about being relevant today to people's cares, an American folklore figure flitting about since 1938 keeps making it big — by his very irrelevancy.

Superman, ever waging his "never-ending battle for truth, justice and the American way," once had wartime chaplains convinced that the Man of Steel was becoming a substitute for religion.

"He was a code of ethics in four colors that you could roll up and stick in your pocket just before you hit the beachhead. He was right here with the troops as a kind of Bible."

So notes John M. Cadley, a current affairs writer, in a recent issue of the Catholic weekly magazine Ave Maria. He says the red-caped Kryptonian helped restore people's faith in their own power to triumph over "the evil that was everywhere around them" after he first appeared 31 years ago in the pages of "Action Comics."

But this is 1969. Times have changed and people have become confused. The costumed characters of the comic books have not.

Although Cadley does not go into it, even the art of comparatives has shifted. Superman is faster than a speeding bullet, snail's pace compared to a laser beam. He is more powerful than a locomotive, a toy compared to a Saturn rocket. He is able to leap tall buildings in a single bound, meaningless compared to scampering in moon dust. Indestructible? Unrealistic in nuclear ICBM terms.

"While once the superheroes were popular because they were so relevant to what was happening in the world," Cadley observes, "today they are popular precisely because they're so irrelevant."

Although total comic book sales have dropped from above 50 million a month, they still move at the rate of 30 million a month — Superman's alone account for 1.5 million of that — and their readers include college students and grownups.

What explains the great interest?

Cadley finds that we Americans still like Superman and are still interested in what happens to him, only the interest is a different kind now: "Concern might almost be a better word, like a father's concern for the son who's just gotten out of college and is convinced he can change the world. We know he's got to change and yet we hope he doesn't."

Moving the analogy along to Superman, he says that "in him are preserved values and qualities that it would be oh so nice to have if only they worked, if only you could really live like that. But because Superman doesn't have to live in the real world he can live that way. We want him to."

Cadley is convinced that if Superman should ever start looking like Dustin Hoffman with a cape, the "S" on his massive chest would begin to mean "Supersmook," because comic book heroes "fall flat on their square-jawed faces" whenever they try to be relevant to the issues of the age.

"To give Superman a modern handup like a conscience syndrome is like getting Little Orphan Annie pregnant: it may be possible but somehow it just doesn't fit the image," concludes Cadley.

To the Editor: The ECU Summer Theatre has nothing on our County Commissioners.

Mrs. T. E. Yarbrough has drawn the curtain, revealing that $1,000 worth of county postage and supplies were used to mail the political literature of a private vested-interest group.

Act One featured Mr. Strickland in a clever song and dance showing that no crime exists if the burglar promises to repay the victim.

In Act Two we shall hear the frenzied scrambling of very small men collecting and counting money and postage stamps.

The Third Act, performed in whispers backstage, will consist of the County Commissioners and the Pitt County Taxpayers Association arguing over who is really wearing the comic mask. This may end in the selection of a goat for scape purposes who will face the music during the tragic finale.

I suggest that Mr. Strickland employ the ECU stage crew; the County Board needs all the props it can find.

Her Ankle Is Showing

WASHINGTON — I have refrained from making any comment about the maxi-length skirt up until now in hopes that it would go away. But I'm starting to see more of them on the streets and I can no longer remain silent.

Heaven knows I'm not a prude when it comes to women's clothes, but when ladies from good families start showing their ankles in public, then I think someone has to make a stand.

Our society is not ready for the maxi. The shock of seeing women of excellent breeding walking down Fifth Ave. in New York with the bottom of their legs protruding from their skirts can only destroy the fabric and morals of this nation. How can men go about their business and keep their minds on their work when they are dazzled by the shameful sights of women flaunting the lower portions of their legs in front of every Tom, Dick and Harry?

Other Editors Say Covered Vietnam Picture

(Washington Daily News)

President Nixon in his speech to the nation on Monday night, November 3, covered the Vietnam situation well.

What he said could really be summed up in a very few words: The gist of what he said was that "we have a bear by the tail and we cannot let him loose." That might sound strange, but in truth that is about the situation.

We agree with him when he says that to pull out our troops without any assurance or any agreement that the fighting will stop will mean that the world will lose confidence in us and we will lose confidence in ourselves.

We all want to see the war there stopped. But stopping it at any price could be a price too high to pay. If we just pull out, our actions denote defeat. And the peace of the world in large part depends today on the role to be played now and in the future by the United States.

We, like so many others, hope the day is not too far distant when the people of South Vietnam can have armies large enough and well enough trained to handle all the fighting.

Mr. Nixon has a timetable in his own mind as to when the fighting contingent from America can be brought home. But to give out his timetable will serve the interests of Hanoi and not ours.

It is quite evident that Mr. Nixon has just about given up any hope that any real progress can be made at the peace table in Paris. "It takes two to tango" and it takes two to make peace. If Hanoi feels that she can wait around while discontent grows ever more serious here at home then she surely will follow that course.

We thought his speech was relatively good. If we had any criticism to make of it, we feel that he used the word "I" too many times. In fact, we believe he used it more than 100 times in his speech.

It is impossible for the average American to know what is going on behind the scenes as efforts are made to stop the fighting. Mr. Nixon gave the people some insight into the intense efforts on Monday night—efforts which have proved to no avail to date.

The president was most careful on one point. He is going to bring the boys home unless the fighting grows more intense and unless North Vietnam increases the tempo. In that event men can be sent back into action there. And therein lies a real possibility which America must not overlook.

What he said has not changed things. He sought to create more understanding on the part of the American people. Whether or not he succeeded remains to be seen.

Teens Smoke Survey

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP) — Teen-agers in general think cigarettes are "dangerous, but social pressures push four out of 10 into smoking them, a new study finds.

The teen years are crucial in the decision whether to smoke, the survey says. The greatest influence toward smoking is their friends, but many youngsters might choose not to smoke if parents, teachers, doctors and other adults set better examples, it adds.

The national survey of 1,562 teen-agers found that 65 per cent of smokers and 86 per cent of nonsmokers believe cigarettes cause lung cancer.

About half the smokers and 70 per cent of nonsmokers think it is "definitely or probably true" that cigarette smoking triples the risk of premature heart attack.

Young smokers said they did so because it "makes you feel like a big shot... makes you feel like one of the crowd," or that smoking relaxed them when they felt nervous, or helped when they were bored or depressed. Far more boys than girls thought smoking made them more attractive sexually.

The study conducted by Lieberman Research, Inc., last March and April was sponsored by the American Cancer Society with the findings released today at the society's annual meeting.

Each teenager was interviewed for about an hour. One third were 13 or 14 years old, another third 15 or 16, the rest 17 or 18.

Teen-agers are 50 per cent more likely to smoke if the adults, parents, teachers and others with whom they come in contact are smokers, but are almost 100 per cent more likely to smoke if their friends, brothers and sisters smoke, the study finds.

The youngsters are very much aware of cigarette commercials, and the antismoking messages being broadcast or printed, but see far more of the commercials for cigarettes, the survey says.

Another finding is that "a teen-ager is less apt to smoke if he has good rapport with his parents and they smoke, than if his parents don't smoke but he had bad rapport with them."

Teen-age smokers "are more adventurous, more experimental, more anxiety-ridden and more prone to reject the values of the Establishment. Smokers more than nonsmokers describe themselves as nervous, frustrated, depressed, rebellious, reckless, sexy, swingers, liking to live dangerously, living for the moment, and wanting to try new things."

Nonsmokers, the study says, "are happier, more sensible, more success oriented, more self-confident and more inclined to accept the values of the Establishment. Non smokers more than smokers describe themselves as happy, relaxed, clean-cut, cautious, ambitious, hard-working, intelligent and successful."

Troubles In A Family Business

By ELMER ROESSNER

The 15 most common troubles of family-owned businesses will be explored at a two-day seminar in New York. The meeting is being held at Delmonico Hotel under the auspices of Corporate Seminars, Inc.

The 15 hazards mostly endangering family-held businesses are these:

1. Tolerating family deadwood. This may include hiring a brother-in-law nobody else will.
2. Disorderly management succession. When the chief executive dies, there are often squabbles for his job that split the company.
3. Stymied non-family executives. This is a common complaint: A bright outsider is brought in to manage the company but as soon as he shows signs of success, family members try to undercut him.
4. Living with paper boards of directors. Family companies often elect nominal directors who can be a source of trouble. Sometimes they aren't available when an urgent resolution has to be passed. Sometimes a nominal director wants to dictate the operation.

5. Dispersed control in the third and fourth generation. Sometimes stockholders don't even know each other.

6. Family feuds that affect business decisions. A common ailment.

7. Demands for income that sap vital growth capital. This often arises from situations brought on by statements like: "If Harry is going to get $50,000 a year as chief executive, my John ought to get at least $40,000. After all, the shipping department is important."

8. Tax and trust mistakes that diminish wealth. In every family there is at least one member who thinks he knows how to beat taxes and wants to fire the tax accountant and the lawyer and save their fees.

9. Failure to take advantage of little-used money sources.

Sometimes family members will advance capital at low rates; sometimes they want a high rate, and stock options.

One In Every Family

10. The trap of informality. There can always be one family member who tells the board. "Here are a few resolutions to simplify our ac-

11. Lack of modern training techniques.

12. Outmoded management practices. Just because the old man who founded the company made a success of it without training employees and running the show the way he saw fit doesn't mean a change isn't needed.

13. Neglected plans for growth. In modern business, companies that do not grow, die.

14. Holding the business too long. As executives get older, as younger generations aren't interested in the business, as competitors become aggressive innovators, it is sometimes wiser to merge or sell than hold on to what may become a shell.

15. Prejudices against going public. Many companies fear that by letting the public in they will lose control. Sometimes that will bring in fresh capital for expansion; sometimes new stockholders will become good customers and boosters. Sometimes it makes partners out of employees.

However, note that Cargill, the biggest exporter of grain, last week decided against going public. It likes things the way they are.

him on, and eventually he will attempt to kiss her, a situation she will be sorry she got into.

I am not just speaking for myself when I discuss the havoc that the maxi is causing in our everyday life. I have a friend who is unable to give dictation to his secretary since she started wearing a maxi. When she sits, legs crossed and boots showing, he loses all train of thought. He has warned her if she continues wearing a maxi to work, he will have to let her go.

I know another man, of impeccable reputation, without a breath of scandal associated with his name, who was given a lift in a car by his friend's wife. In order to drive she had to lift her maxi to her knees. Someone on the bus saw her driving that way, and the man was so disgraced he had to leave the neighborhood.

There are probably hundreds of similar cases where the maxi-length skirt has played its share in breaking up homes and causing men to resort to violent and unpredictable behavior.

The danger of the maxi skirt, as I see it, is that if it becomes acceptable, the dress and coat designers could be encouraged to make the length even shorter. This year the ankles are showing, next year the upper part of the lower leg could be featured. Where will it all end?

I say that unless the trend is reversed and we reject the maxi-length skirt as immoral, our women will become nothing but sex objects to be stared at on the streets, accosted in stores and kissed in their homes. For after all, despite the strict moral climate we now live in, everybody is only human.

Nuclear Plant Is Given Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission regulatory staff has concluded the two-unit nuclear power plant Carolina Power and Light Co., of Raleigh, N.C., plans to build in Brunswick County, N.C. meets safety requirements of the commission.

CP & L has applied to the commission for a license to build the power plant about two and one-half miles north of Southport, N.C., and 16 miles south of Wilmington, N.C.

The site is on the west bank of the Cape Fear River and is bounded by Walden Creek and Nancy's Creek on the north. The Atlantic Ocean is approximately five miles east and south of the site.

A public hearing to consider the application for construction permits will be conducted Dec. 2 in Southport after a prehearing conference there Nov. 14, AEC has announced.

Each unit of the plant will use a boiling water reactor and will have an output of about 821,000 kilowatts.

United Engineers and Constructors will design the plant and brown and Root, Inc., will build it. General Electric Co., will furnish the nuclear steam supply systems and turbine generators for the plant.

South found that he had dealt himself a bridge player's dream when he sorted his cards—a hand containing no card of less than honor rank. He properly opened the bidding with two spades and, when his partner responded positively by raising to three spades, he proceeded to check for aces. Finding that the partnership was missing one of the top controls, he settled for a small slam in spades.

West opened the six of hearts and, after East cashed the ace, his shift was to a low diamond. Declarer put up the ace of diamonds on which West dropped the king. South would gladly have traded one of North's spot cards in spades for his own ten at this point, for with a three-one division in trumps he would be able to cash his high club honors and then enter dummy with the fourth round of trumps in order to run the balance of the clubs. Since North had no side entry however, it appeared that declarer would have to overtake the second club in the hope that the suit would split evenly.

South observed that he had 11 top tricks, so that he was in position to run off his winners in the major suits before testing the clubs. There was a chance that either an opponent might err in discarding, or else find himself burdened with too much to protect in diamonds and clubs.

Declarer accordingly proceeded to play five rounds of trumps followed by his two high hearts. As the last heart was led, South was down to the jack-ten of diamonds and the king-queen of clubs, and the dummy was left with four clubs headed by the ace-jack. East held four clubs at this point and the queen of diamonds with one discard still to be made. Convinced that he must hold on to his diamond honor, East chose to throw a club. Declarer cashed the club king, overtook the queen and took the balance with the dummy's by now established suit.

Lenient In Half Of Drunk Cases

RALEIGH (AP) — Some 2,200 persons convicted of drunken driving in North Carolina in the last four months have been granted special driving privileges by judges. That's one of every two convicted.

This was shown in figures released Thursday by Ed Wade, director of the driver license division of the Department of Motor Vehicles.

The 1969 General Assembly enacted legislation authorizing judges to grant special exemptions, or discretionary sentences, to drivers convicted on first offenses of drunken driving. Otherwise, a conviction carries an automatic 12-month license revocation.

Women Gave A Day To Beautification

The cemetery plot located on North Evans Street has received beautification treatment by members of the Lakewood Pines Garden Club who worked, along with city crew members Friday, planting shrubs and landscaping the area around the plot.

The women, who donated nearly a full day of their time, were Mrs. W. C. Taylor Jr., Mrs. A. E. Dubber and Mrs. H. R. Billica. Mrs. Billica said the club had planned on doing the work on the plot for some time.

In addition to general landscaping and grading, approximately 40 plants and ivy were rooted on the outskirts of the plot. Among the items of shrubbery planted by the women were burford-holly, japonica, pyracantha, convexa and helioli.

Davidson Here For Pirates' Homecoming Game

Meet The Pirates

Rusty Scales, left, and Garland Ballard are two members of this year's East Carolina University football team. Scales, a 5-8, 183-pound sophomore, is from Little Falls, N.J. He is the starting defensive halfback. Ballard, a 6-0, 240-pound sophomore from New Bern, is a starting offensive guard. The Pirates play host to Davidson College Saturday at 2 p.m. in Ficklen Stadium. It is the annual Homecoming game.

Wildcats Have Come Up With Runs, Defense To Go With Fine Passing

Saturday is Homecoming in Ficklen Stadium for the East Carolina University Pirates. And recently Homecoming has not been a good time as far as victories have been concerned. Last year Tampa spoiled Homecoming with a 28-21 victory over the Bucs, spoiling a 21-0 halftime Pirate lead. Two years ago, The Citadel not only spoiled Homecoming, but robbed the Pirates of the Southern Conference title with a 21-19 win.

You have to go all the way back to 1966 to find a Homecoming victory for the Pirates. They won that year, 40-7. The opponent was Davidson College. The following year, the Bucs played Davidson again, this time on the Wildcat field. After watching the opening kickoff run back for a touchdown, the Bucs settled down and rolled to a 42-17 win over the 'Cats.

So much for ancient history. Saturday the Davidson Wildcats are back in town, and this time they are acting more like their namesake than in the past. Davidson comes into the game with a 6-1 record. The only loss came in the final 36 seconds to The Citadel, 34-28. Among their victims are Richmond, 37-7 and William & Mary, 17-15. Last week they clobbered VMI, 59-6, and earlier demolished Furman, 77-14.

By winning over the Bucs, Davidson could do several things. They could assure the team of at least a tie for the Southern Conference title, something they have never had before. They could assure a bid to the Tangerine Bowl, for Davidson's first post-season bowl game. They could assure their seventh victory. No Davidson team has won more. And they could give Coach Homer Smith his best season at the helm at Davidson.

The chief reasons for these accomplishments lie with quarterback Gordon Slade and a talented trio of receivers, ends George Hannen and Mike Kelly and tailback Mike Mikolayunas. Slade currently ranks just under the top in the nation in passing. Only two quarterbacks have completed more passes. He has hit on 147 of 223 for 1,635 yards, good for 14 touchdowns. He has also scored seven touchdowns himself, accounting for a total of 21.

All three receivers are among the top 10 in the country. Kelly has caught 52 for 700 yards and three scores; Hannen had 42 for 520 yards and seven touchdowns, while Mikolayunas had 43 for 306 yards and three touchdowns. But in addition to their final passing attack, Davidson has two other things they lacked in the past, rushing and defense. Leading the rushing attack is halfback John Zaharov, who has 308 yards rushing. Mikolayunas has 267, while Ken Hill has 183 and Glenn Praay has 152.

And the defense has been tough when it counts—in the scoring department. While Davidson has been giving up 325.3 yards per game, the Wildcats lead the conference in scoring defense, allowing only 14.3 points per game. They also lead in scoring getting 36.6 per game.

East Carolina Coach Clarence Stasavich rates Davidson's new ability to run and to play defense as the key to the success. "They have an outstanding passing game," he said, "but they have had one for several years. It's the running game that creates the problem. In the past, you just set your defenses to stop the passing. Now you have to be conscious of their ability to run the ball.

"They have also been scrambling pretty good on defense," the coach said. "They have been good in preventing scores. Teams have passed and run on them, but haven't scored, so they must be getting the ball in poor field position."

Stasavich feels that the problem will be in covering the 'Cats as both runners and receivers. "You can't stop their short passing game," he said. "All you can really do is try to keep them from throwing the bomb, and contain the short passes."

And interceptions don't come easy against Slade. He's had only six picked off in 223 attempts. "Their defense is improved," Stasavich said. "They are more aggressive, and much quicker. Their secondary is very impressive, and probably is the strongest part of their game. They come up fast on the run, and are very mobile."

On the Pirate side of the field, the Bucs are hoping to get Worth Springs back for the game. Springs rates as a fine blocker, and is a help to the ends, John Rowe and Grover Truslow at tackles, Butch Bit-player, Danny Wilmer, is still questionable, for his line-backing spot. Blocking back Tim Ilderton is still hampered by an injury.

"We have a couple of new defensive ideas to try," Stasavich said. "When you play a team like Davidson, you have to come up with something."

Stasavich said that he has been disturbed by the line blocking and the passing during the week of drills. "It might be just an off-day," he added. "If we block as well as we can, we should be able to move the ball against them."

One thing is for sure, the Bucs will either have to play their best defense, and come up with their most potent offense to take it.

The probable offensive starting lineup for the Bucs has Dick Corrada and Fred Harris at ends, John Rowe and Grover Truslow at tackles, Butch Bit-player, Danny Wilmer, is still questionable, for his line-backing spot. Blocking back Tim Ilderton is still hampered by an injury. On defense, the Bucs will start Monty Kiernan and Roger Bost at ends, Tim Tyler and George Wheeler at tackles, Jim Gudger at middle guard, Paul Weathersbee at middle linebacker, Wes Rothrock at wrecker, Mike Boaz at rover, George Whitley and Rusty Scales at halfbacks and Stu Garrett at safety.

Elusive Southern Conference Title Will Be On Line In Saturday Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Davidson football teams have played 602 games since the game was inaugurated at the college back in 1886. Game No. 603 comes up Saturday, and it may well be the most memorable one in all those 73 years. Never have the Wildcats played in a post-season bowl. Never, in 33 years of Southern Conference membership, have they won—or so much as shared—a conference championship. But both these rewards, beyond imaging only yesterday, will be Davidson's for the taking at 2 p.m. Saturday when, in their last SC game of the season, they play at East Carolina.

A victory over the single-wing Pirates would nail down for coach Homer Smith's Wildcats a tie for the conference crown—and a Dec. 26 date with Toledo's Tangerine Bowl.

Davidson will carry a 6-1 overall record, and a 4-1 conference mark, into the game against ECU, which lost its first four games but has won its last two and now has a 1-2 Southern Conference worksheet.

An upset by East Carolina would throw the battle for the SC title into a state of turmoil, with Richmond, now 3-1 in league play; William and Mary 2-1, and The Citadel, 4-2 joining Davidson in contention.

Richmond must whip lowly Furman, 0-2 in the conference. Saturday to continue en route to a probable championship tie with Davidson—the team that inflicted the Spiders' only league defeat.

Other SC teams play outside the conference this weekend—William and Mary, 3-4 over-all, drawing perhaps the toughest assignment in a home test against Powerful West Virginia, a onetime conference member.

The Citadel, 5-2, hopes to take another step toward its finest season in nearly a decade in a home-field game against Maine, and winless VMI becomes a candidate for its eighth defeat at North Carolina.

But it's the Davidson-East Carolina game—homecoming for ECU—that easily dominates the program. And with so many other SC teams counting on his Pirates to derail Davidson's championship express, Pirate coach Clarence Stasavich must feel something like Horatius at the bridge.

"I don't think any team in the country has a better short passing game," says Stasavich of Davidson's attack. "They also have a very good rushing attack—and that is often overlooked. There isn't any doubt we have a defensive job to do of some magnitude."

"But I think we might beat them if we get an all-out effort. We have a pretty good knack for moving the ball, and if we can just keep it away from them long enough, we could surprise a lot of people."

Rampants Host Goldsboro

Rose High School's Rampants close out their 1969 football season here tonight at 7:30 p.m. in Ficklen Stadium. The Rampants, 1-3 for the season, will be playing host to the Cougars of Goldsboro High School.

KINSTON — Bethel Union High School kicked off the 1969-70 basketball season last night with a 69-31 romp over Newbold High School.

Bethel romped into the lead in the first period, and steadily pulled away. By the first buzzer, the Bulldozer had built up a 13-6 lead. They continued to pull away and by the end of the first half, the score had climbed to 28-16.

In the third period, Bethel Union poured in 19 points, while holding Newbold to just nine, boosting the margin by 10 more points to 47-25. The final period turned into a rout, as Bethel poured in 22 points, while Newbold only stripped the nets for six.

scoring, dumping in 22 points. Billy Moore added 14, Robert Williams had 12 and Mack Ebron had 10.

For Newbold, D. Kilpatrick had 12 points.

Bethel Union also captured the junior varsity contest, outscoring Newbold, 36-26.

Bethel will open its home season Tuesday night against Phillips.

Woody's Ramblin's

By WOODY PEELE

It's nice to get back into the swing of things after a poor showing. East Carolina University is finding that out, and Rose would like to.

And this column made a welcome recovery after a 9-9 showing two weeks ago. Last week's results showed a fine 15-5 mark, satisfying enough. This marks the final week of football on the high school scene. It's really hard to believe that as of now only one school, Robersonville, has a chance to go to the playoffs. Last year at this time, the scene was full of teams . . . Ayden, Farmville, Robersonville, Grifton, Williamston . . . but this year, the bomb seems to have fallen. It's the first time in the six years this writer has been around that Farmville or Ayden haven't represented the county in post-season playoffs. It's all up to Robersonville.

Rose High School will be playing host to Goldsboro High School in the final game for both teams. The Rampants nearly pulled one out last week, but again, couldn't get the real break they needed. The Rampants of 1969 must go down as one of the hard luck teams in the school history. This is their final chance. Goldsboro may be down after its fine game against Wilson last week, but they still have enough for the Rampants. Goldsboro is the choice.

Farmville's Red Devils play host to Saratoga in a non-conference affair. Saratoga is the team that upset Robersonville, and that might cost the Rams the title, but they don't have the stuff to play the same kind of game against the Red Devils. Farmville to win here.

Greene Central plays North Lenoir. The Rams have come up with a much better season than last year, but they are still no powerhouse. Northern Nash probably did more mental damage than physical last week, and North Lenoir should win.

Williamston travels to Plymouth in an Albemarle Conference game. The Green Wave is smarting from its loss to Ahoskie last week, and would like to close the season on a winning note. I'll pick Williamston.

Robersonville plays host to Vanceboro in that game that will decide the conference championship. The Rams must win to do it, and have a shot at post-season honors. I'll go along with Robersonville to win it and successfully defend the title they won last year.

Grifton plays host to South Lenoir. The Bulldogs have been on a losing streak, and South Lenoir has a good team. They will probably hand Grifton another loss.

Ayden travels to Knapp. Early in the season, it was hoped that this would be the game that would give Ayden another shot at the state title. But alas, it won't. All the Tornados can do is win to soothe their earlier losses. They should do it.

Saturday afternoon, East Carolina's Pirates, on a two-game winning streak, play host to the Davidson Wildcats. Davidson has lost only to The Citadel this year, and a victory over the Bucs will give them the Southern Conference title, regardless of what Richmond does from here on out. The Spiders are pulling for the Bucs. The Bucs are pulling for the Bucs, and there should be plenty of fans on hand to do likewise. It might make a difference in the outcome, but the choice has to be with the Wildcats.

Elsewhere in the Southern, The Citadel will beat Maine, Richmond will roll over Furman, North Carolina will crush VMI, and West Virginia will down William & Mary.

In the Atlantic Coast Conference, it'll be Clemson over Duke, Ohio over Maryland, Tennessee over South Carolina, and Virginia over Wake Forest.

Rounding things off, it'll be Army over South Oregon, Princeton over Harvard, Purdue over Michigan State, and Southern Cal over Washington State.

Season's record: 107 right, 47 wrong, 69.5 per cent.

Missouri Must Stop Sooner Running Back

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

"I'm never seen anyone like him. He's the best I've seen."

The speaker was Missouri Coach Dan Devine and the subject was Steve Owens, Oklahoma's slashing tailback.

And, there's a reason why the coach of the No. 9-ranked Tigers was cringing a little when he spoke of the Sooners' 6-foot-2, 215-pound one-man battering ram.

Missouri has to stop Owens—something that no other team has managed this year—and the No. 20 Sooners at Columbia Saturday to remain in serious contention for the Big Eight championship and a trip to the Orange Bowl.

The Tigers are tied with surprising Kansas State and Nebraska, all with 3-1 marks, for first place while Oklahoma is only a half-game off the pace at 2-1.

"I would hope we could stop Owens," said Devine. "Kansas State did a few times. We'll go with what we have and just hope we can stop him."

But the odds are against it. Owens, who ripped Missouri for 176 yards in a 28-14 victory last year, warmed up for this week's game by carrying the ball 53 times, one shy of the major college record, for a league record 248 yards and four touchdowns in a 37-14 coast past Iowa State last week.

And, the Tigers aren't blessed with an abundance of talent to stop him. Missouri's defense was far from adequate in a 41-38 squeaker over K-State last week, yielding a whopping 394 yards to passer Lynn Dickey.

Missouri, however, has a fine runner of its own—Joe Moore, who ranks third nationally with 134 rushes for 904 yards in seven games—and a dandy quarterback in Terry McMillan.

Kansas State and Nebraska, tied with Oklahoma as the No. 20 team, meanwhile, shouldn't have much trouble holding on to their share of first. The Wildcats, 5-2 over-all, travel to Oklahoma State, 1-2 and 3-3, while Nebraska, 5-2 over-all, plays host to Iowa State, 1-3 and 3-4.

In other games, it's Baylor at No. 2 Texas, South Carolina at No. 3 Tennessee, No. 4 Arkansas at Rice, Washington State at No. 6 Southern California, and No. 8 Notre Dame at Pittsburgh.

Games matching teams in the second 10 are Michigan State at No. 10 Purdue, Mississippi State at No. 11 Auburn, Alabama at No. 12 Louisiana State at night, No. 16 Georgia vs. No. 13 Florida at Jacksonville, Fla., No. 14 Stanford at Washington, UT-Chattanooga at No. 17 Mississippi, No. 18 Michigan at Illinois and Utah State at No. 19 Air Force.

No. 5 Pen State and No. 7 UCLA are idle this week. Navy, 1-6 and still reeling from last week's 47-0 trouncing by Notre Dame, travels to Miami, Fla., in tonight's only major college action.

Texas and Arkansas, each 6-0, face little threat to their co-leadership in the Southwest Conference. The Razorbacks, who have rolled up 226 points while yielding only 40, face a team that has managed only one victory in six games, while Texas' crunching running backs should pulverize winless Baylor.

Southern California, unbeaten in six games and leading the Pacific-8 with a 3-0 mark, is an overwhelming favorite against Washington State, 1-6, as is Notre Dame, 5-1-1, against Pittsburgh, 3-4.

Ohio State is expected to breeze past Wisconsin—a team that hasn't beaten the Buckeyes since 1918—in ringing up its 21st straight victory and holding on to the Big 10 lead.

Yauger Is Key To Clemson-Duke

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Both Duke and Clemson, who meet in an Atlantic Coast Conference football game Saturday, have good passers, but the key to the outcome may be how well Clemson's Ray Yauger is able to run.

Duke coach Tom Harp told his team Thursday:

"Yauger is an outstanding runner. We have not stopped a running game yet this season, but we must stop theirs to win."

A victory in the home game would put Clemson even with South Carolina and possibly set the stage for a battle royal Nov. 22 between the two leading contenders for the ACC crown.

The Clemson Tigers are 3-0 in the conference and the South Carolina Gamecocks are 4-0. South Carolina travels out of the conference Saturday to play at undefeated powerhouse Tennessee.

The Duke attack is centered on the passing of quarterback Leo Hart. He hit on 20 of 31 passes against Georgia Tech last week and helped the Blue Devils run up 419 yards, although Tech won 29-7.

Hart's performance lifted him to first place in ACC total offense statistics with 1,712 yards for the season. Duke is 1-3-1 in the conference.

Clemson has two passers of its own in quarterbacks Tommy Kendrick and Rick Gilstrap. They completed six apiece in the Tigers' 40-0 romp over Maryland last week. But Clemson's real bomb is Yauger, who pushed and twisted for 110 yards against the Terps in his third straight outing of 100 yards or more.

The only other conference game pits Wake Forest against Virginia in Charlottesville Saturday. The Virginia Cavaliers are scoreless in their last three games. They stand 1-3 in the league and 3-4 overall.

Wake Forest was idle last weekend. It has a conference standing of 1-4 and is 2-5 in all games.

North Carolina State remains idle for the second weekend in a row. The Wolfpack is home to Houston Nov. 15.

Nicklaus Grabs Hawaii Golf Lead

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

HONOLULU (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, threatening to make the fall tour his personal showcase, carried a whopping four-stroke lead into the second round of the $125,000 Hawaiian Open Golf tournament today.

Big Jack, who has won both of the fall tournaments he has entered, established a course record with a blistering 63 on the 7,020-yard, par 72 Waialae Country Club layout Thursday.

It was accomplished in the face of blustery trade winds that each gust of more than 40 miles an hour and sent most of the rest of first round scores soaring.

His leading margin was the biggest of the season after 18 holes and had his fellow pros talking to themselves.

"If he keeps on putting like that, you just can't beat him," said Billy Casper, one of the pre-tournament favorites who had an opening 73, 10 shots back.

Ken Still and Dave Stockton were tied for second with 67s, while Jack McGowan and John Schroeder had 68s. The group at 69 included Bill Johnson, Grier Jones, Randy Wolff and Larry Ziegler.

Arnold Palmer was in a large group at 70. Leading money winner Frank Beard and masters champion George Archer each had a 71. Lee Trevino and U.S. Open champion Orville Moody posted 74s and PGA titleholder Ray Floyd had a 75.

Nicklaus, who has won $48,000 in his last two starts, the Sahara and the Kaiser, was grim-faced, tight-lipped and in deep concentration on his morning round.

"You concentrate more in the wind," Nicklaus said. "If the wind hadn't blown, I'd have been closer to the hole. But from where I was, I couldn't possibly have scored better."

After each shot, however, he was a relaxed and smiling man, talking, with the galleries, gesturing and joking.

"Unbelievable," he said after running in a 45 foot putt on his 15th hole. One the next one, he sank a 50-footer and looked positively embarrassed.

"Isn't this fun?" he asked the gallery.

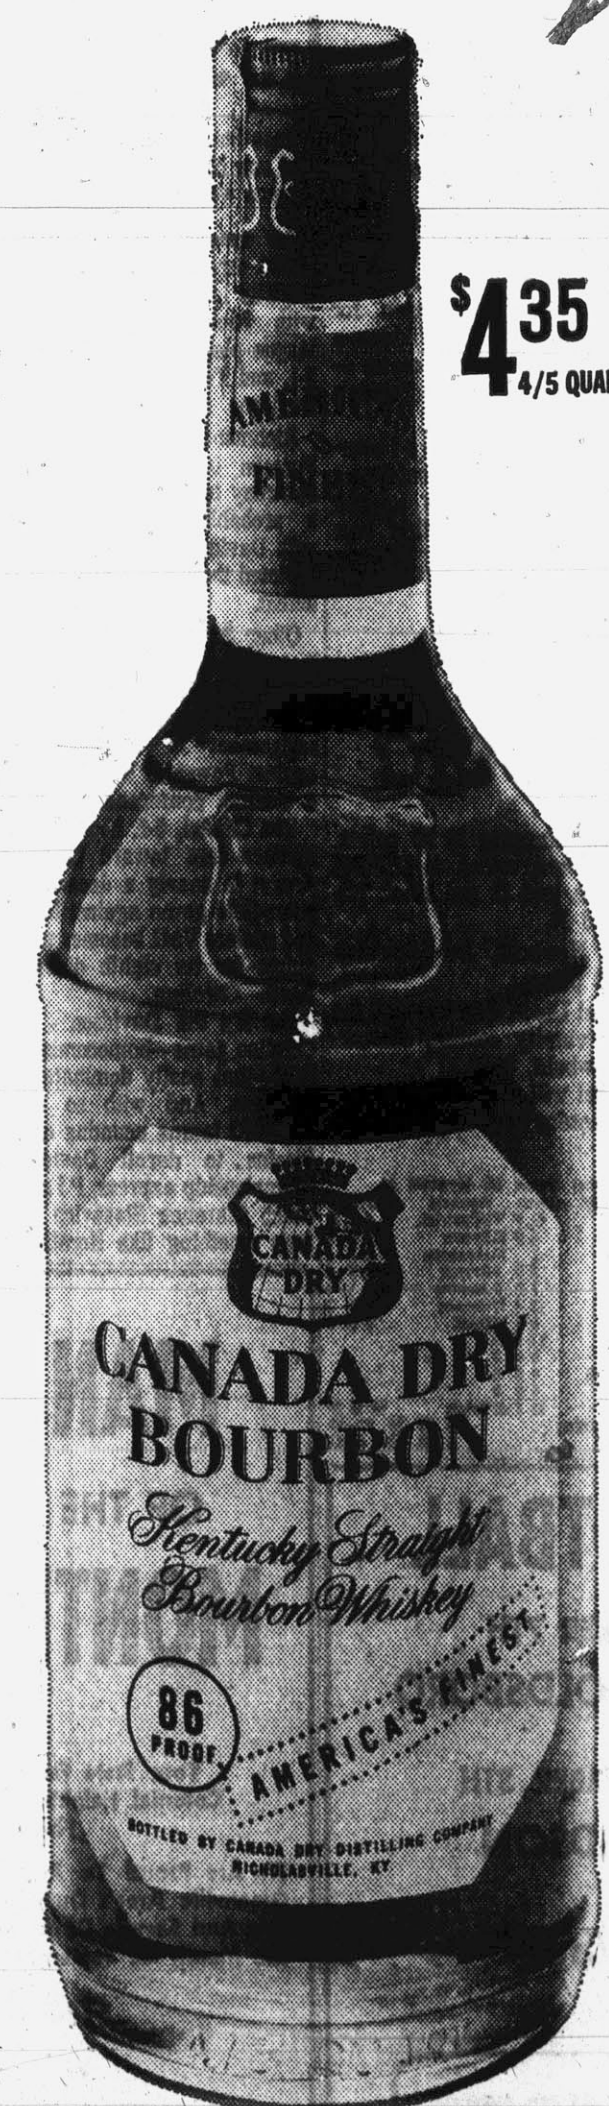

Big Jack—slimmed down to 190 pounds on a two-month diet and now big in ability more than size—didn't miss a green, didn't make a bogey and didn't miss a putt more than 15 feet.

"This is probably the best putting round I've ever had," said Nicklaus, one of the three men to win three tournaments this year. "I can't recall when I putted this well."

Long-Time Extension Chairman Is Retired

SNOW HILL—John W. Grant, Greene County Agricultural Extension Service chairman, has retired after 32 years service with the county.

County commissioners Monday approved Grant's retirement, effective October 31. Grant was chairman of the extension service in Greene County for about 20 years.

The number two man in the county extension office, Dalton Proctor, also left the county office October 31 to accept a post at N.C. State University in Raleigh as a Community Development Specialist. His resignation was approved by the commissioners a month ago.

Robert S. Nimmo and George Harris, representing the Greene County Livestock Association requested the commissioners to consider filling one of the two vacancies in the county agent's office with a livestock specialist.

At present, Greene County and Lenoir County share the services of a livestock specialist. Commissioners Monday talked with Sheriff P. L. Barrow and representatives of the Neuse River Economic Development Commission about making application for grant funds under the Federal Omnibus Crime and Safe Streets bill. Commissioners approved of the idea of making an application for equipment for the sheriff's department. The application may also include limited personnel.

Under the grant program, 60 per cent of the cost of the equipment would come from the federal government while 40 per cent would be supplied by the county.

Commissioners and other officials are scheduled to meet later this month to formulate a definite application.

In other business, the board heard a complaint from Claude Moore of Carrs Township about state roads 1314, 1315 and 1316.

Moore said the roads become impassable due to bad weather conditions. The complaint was referred to the State Highway Department for action.

The board also agreed to investigate complaints from residence of the Pools Bridge area of the county who said logging companies working in the area have allowed tops and other debris from their operations to fall into Contentnea Creek causing some obstruction.

Return From All American Quarter Horse Congress

Thomas Ray Allen and Gene Howell, both of Greenville, have returned from a six-day All-American Quarter Horse Congress in Columbus, Ohio, where top horses and trainers from all over the United States and Canada participated.

During the activities, professional judges and trainers held judging sessions and demonstrated the correct ways of handling, mounting, dismounting, riding, and sitting on the saddle. Veterinarians discussed horse bone structure and features of the horse.

In addition, activities to include cattle cutting, calf roping, barrel jumping and halter-performance-quarter horse-western pleasure horse classes were shown. Points that are awarded in showing categories in events such as these across the nation help rate the horse on a national basis.

A highlight of the Congress was the Super Congress Sale in which a total of 81 horses were sold. One of the top stallions sold for $87,000.

Allen, who has worked with and showed horses for 15 years, said of the sessions, "I have seen many beautiful horses performing in the 25 shows I judged during the 1969 season, but I have never seen so many beautiful horses at one showing." Allen is currently working towards getting his professional judging license.

His statement Thursday came a day after a student group voted for such visits on a limited basis.

Trying Work Release Prisoners On Roads

NAGS HEAD, N. C. (AP) — Work release prisoners are being used on highway work in Mecklenburg County as an experiment to meet a shortage of maintenance labor.

Highway Commissioner Charles Maxwell of Charlotte told the commission Thursday 32 inmates are doing maintenance work in Mecklenburg. More will be going to work in Gaston County next week.

Se said they earn $1.65 an hour, the federal minimum wage.

Prisoners on work release have paying jobs on the outside during the day and return to their cells at night. Their earnings are used to support their families or placed in bank accounts.

Maxwell said the state correction commissioner, Lee Bounds, agreed to undertake the program on a trial basis and will formally announce it in Charlotte next Monday. Chairman Lauch Faircloth told the commission, "we just can't get enough people to do maintenance work in urban areas. They can make more working for private industry than they can working for the state."

The commission approved a $300 million priority highway construct on program and earmarked an extra $16 million for secondary roads.

The transfer of $16 million in primary and urban road funds to secondary roads was ordered by Gov. Bob Scott last month. The money will be added to $16 million already budgeted for secondary roads.

Faircloth told a newsman before the meeting that he doubted much of the additional $16 million can be spent before it is time to return the funds to the primary and urban systems.

NEW YORK (AP) — Most stocks continued to advance in moderately active trading today, as gains stretched their lead over losses by a 2-to-1 margin.

The Dow Jones industrial average at 11:30 spurted up 3.96 to 859.16.

Prices on the New York Stock Exchange:

American Telephone 53%, up 2; Lims Inc. 25%, up 1; Computer Science 31%, up 1 1/2; Control Data 119%, off 1%; and University Computing 102%, up 6%.

City Council . . .

Mrs. Janet Underwood commented that "we would like to state our parade would not interfere with the citizens of Greenville." She said she would not be signing on the rights of citizens more than any other citizen by asking for a few more days to make a peaceful order of march.

Following a motion on a ditch located in the Lincoln Park area, the council approved installing tile to prevent further serious erosion problems. Councilman Cox pointed out that this project had been lingering for years awaiting the signatures of two property owners who have rentals in the area.

The council approved installation of tile in the area of those who have signed only, leaving the area of those who have not signed untiled. City Engineer C.A. Holliday pointed out the drainage problem had reached a point where one house was in danger of being undermined, and others were losing parts of their back yards.

Approval was also made to add Battle Drive and McDowell Streets to the chronological list of petitions for paving and gutter work.

Approval was granted for tiling a ditch along E. First Street, on the basis of doing this at odd times when priority work could not be worked on due to weather conditions.

A report of progress was made by City Manager Harry Hagerty on the Cherry View area. Hagerty noted that work would continue during the winter "any days that are warm enough to permit paving work." He noted that the Utility Commission is working in the area to install new street lights so that when the project is completed the entire area will have new drain, gutters and lights.

The request for rezoning the Tipton Annex on U.S. 264 By-Pass from Highway Commercial to Shopping Center was approved. This had been recommended at the last meeting of the Planning and Zoning Board.

Other items considered and action taken at last night's meeting included:

Award of a bid to Billmyer Ford for a new rescue vehicle for the Greenville Rescue Squad. The bid was for $3,238.62. Approval was also given for retaining the old rescue vehicle, converting it to an auxiliary vehicle to carry accessory equipment. Hagerty revealed that Pitt County has materially increased its contributions to the rescue squad. "They are contributing $1,250 to the purchase of this vehicle, and are contributing another $5,530, or about one third of our operating expense for the year." He further stated "Rescue work by the city rescue squad into the county accounts for 50 percent of all mileage, 33 percent of all calls, and 46 percent of all man hours."

—Approved amendment of a city ordinance which would raise to $100 the reward leading to arrest and conviction of any person turning in a false alarm. Fire Chief Ray Smith reported, "We have had 11 false alarms recently. These 11 alarms cost the city approximately $300."

On requests for pool table privilege licenses, the council approved one for Hillcrest Lanes Bowling Alley and turned down one for the Evans Street Texaco station at 1525 South Evans Street.

Approved a resolution between the City of Greenville Line Railroad Company for a water line extension at Station House. The extension will be under the tracks.

Heard a report from the city manager on the progress of work for the Fornes Run Drainage project. Hagerty informed that the large pipe is in place and is being assembled at North Overlook Drive. Excavation work begins Monday morning at 6:30 a. m. This will necessitate closing down all railroad operations for about 18 hours to get pipe in place.

Accepted the resignation of the Board of Commissioners for the Greenville Port Authority. A motion was approved to invest the $30,000 in unused funds of the defunct commission in C and D bonds rather than disperse the funds. These funds belong half to the city and half to the county. The county commissioners have agreed in investing the funds. Hagerty reported "C and D in Raleigh and the Army Engineers have mentioned the possibility of making a barge canal up to that point in the river." The point referred to is the old city wharf a short distance east of the city limits.

Set December 4 as the date for a public hearing to consider a request by Woodrow Saftir for a dine and dance permit for an establishment to be named "The Stone Fox", at 519 Cotanche Street.

Set November 17 as a special meeting for the City Council to meet with members of the State Highway Commission to study the report prepared by an earlier traffic safety committee. This study is the basis for a new thoroughfare plan for Greenville.

Approved a motion that a plan proposed by City Engineer Holiday for redesigning the entry and exit points to the Post Office parking lot be accepted, but that the Post Office Department bear the responsibility for redesigning the interior parking spaces. Under the new plan, an entry-exit point will be constructed along Second Street and directions of ingress-egress redirected in an attempt to solve the present bottleneck of traffic at the corner of Second and Greene Street.

Approved a resolution designating the Mid-East Economic Development Commission as a comprehensive regional health planning agency for Greenville.

Approved a resolution to reaffirm support for the development of a network of east west streets in Greenville in general. Specifically, this emphasizes support of plans to extend Arlington Drive from Hooker Road westward across Memorial Drive to U. S. 264 and plans for making Sedgewick an east - west artery.

Approved a taxi franchise for William Jasper Harris for franchise number 15, based on recommended approval of the City Police.

Approved a tax refund of $3 to William P. Eyerman of ECU for overpayment of taxes on a 1964 Volkswagen; and approved a refund of $128.00 to Home Savings Loan for a tax payment duplicating a payment already made by Dennis Johnson.

Took notice of plans for city employees to observe November 11, Veterans Day, as a holiday. Council members also expressed a reaffirmation of Veterans Day as a day of dedication to the ideals for which many gave their lives in World War I.

an identical warrant, signed by Speight, had been served on Creel, according to acting police chief, Lt. Danny Dilda. Speight and Creel reportedly fought Tuesday. The same day, Creel, who has been a police chief here for four years, offered to resign from the position in a letter to Mayor Will Joyner. The Board of Commissioners met Wednesday night and delayed action on the submitted resignation for one week.

School Break-In Being Probed

Pitt County sheriff department officials are investigating a break-in and theft that occurred this morning around 7:30 at the G. R. Whitfield School lunchroom in Grimesland.

Sheriff Ralph Tyson said that school officials reported this morning that a box of apples and oranges and approximately 20 pounds of hamburger were stolen from the lunchroom.

Further investigation of the incident is continuing this morning, Tyson said.
