Bomb Explosions Hit 3 New York Office Buildings Early Today

NEW YORK (AP) - Bombs exploded in three of New York's largest office buildings early today, minutes after mystery callers telephoned warnings of the apparently coordinated attack. One man was slightly injured. Damage was limited. The blasts hit in the 70-story RCA Building in Rockefeller Center, the new 50-story General Motors Building at 59th Street and Fifth Avenue and the 60-story Chase Manhattan Building in the downtown financial district. The blast in the GM building caught maintenance employee Joseph Brando, 26, of Brooklyn, in a freight elevator two floors away. His car plummeted six floors before it stopped and he managed to get out. He was not seriously injured.

All of the blasts occurred in or near elevator shafts causing heavy local damage but no fire. All occurred at about 1:05 a.m. EST. All could have been fatal to anyone in the immediate area, officials said. First hint of the impending blasts came at 12:35 a.m. Police said a man telephoned the security police at the Chase Manhattan Building and warned: "There are three bombs which will go off at about the same time in three different buildings." At the same time a switchboard operator at the RCA Building took a call from a man who said, "I am calling to let you know there is going to be a bomb exploding from the 11th floor to the 18th floor in 20 minutes."

Church Land Sale Offer Is Missed

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer
Attorney Kenneth Hite told Redevelopment commissioners last night that officials of the Sycamore Hill Baptist Church had executed an offer to sell the property but the offer had been sent in error to a Charlotte attorney. Hite said that Rev. B.B. Felder informed him that the offer had been executed and would be sent to him. However, he said, the document was erroneously sent to Charlotte and no official word of the transaction had been received in his office. City Manager Harry Hagerty said that the city had been notified that all graves at the church cemetery site had been removed. This work was necessary before any offer of sale could be effected, it was noted. In view of the fact that the offer of sale was not yet in the hands of the commission, members passed a resolution stating, in effect, that no further action will be taken on the Sycamore Hill purchase until the offer of sale, including the stipulated price, is received by the Redevelopment Commission. In other matters, Hite informed commissioners that the case involving a former employee's suit against the City of Greenville, the Redevelopment Commission and Housing Authority and Col. A. E. Dubber had been dismissed in federal court in Washington. The suit, executed by Warren Barnes, former project manager for the Kearney Park subdivision, charged discriminatory practices were involved in his dismissal as project manager. Hite said that the trial verdict, decided by jury, was reached in just 14 minutes. He added that the case was the first in this area and possibly in the south involving civil rights to be tried by jury. None of the defendants in the case, Hite said, were found to be liable in any way and the case was closed. Central Business District project manager John Messick reported that inspections were continuing on buildings in the Pilot Project. In addition, the building housing the Record Bar has been inspected and brought up to standards, he said. Messick advised commissioners that approval from HUD for part one of the CBD project and part two of the Newtown project had been received. He added that appropriations for the project (Continued On Page 12)

Small Group Repeats 'Demands' At School

About 30 to 40 Negro high school students appeared at Rose High campus today with renewed requests for action on the same demands which were previously presented, plus an additional demand for removal of police from the school. "I met with seven or eight students in my office," Rose Principal Edward Warren stated. "They were representatives of the approximately 30 or 40 students who waited outside the school building." "When they did not agree to go to their classes, I told them they would not be permitted to stay on the campus," Warren said. "I instructed the police to escort the group off the campus, which they did." Warren confirmed reports that George Garrett, a local Negro citizen, accompanied the group to the campus. "I recommend that Mr. Garrett or any other person who wants to meet with me make arrangements and I'll be glad to meet and talk with them," Warren said, "but we cannot have adults coming to the school in this manner." Other schools in Greenville report a day of normal attendance patterns. Rose High is the only school which is below regular attendance levels. the representative students that the police would remain until our situation was completely back to normal. "I also reminded these students that yesterday was a quiet normal day and if they had come to school today to attend classes, that today would have been a good test for them also," Warren indicated that this group of 30 to 40 are Negro students who have stayed out of school since it reopened on October 30. "When they did not agree to go to their classes, I told them they would not be permitted to stay on the campus," Warren said. "I instructed the police to escort the group off the campus, which they did." Warren confirmed reports that George Garrett, a local Negro citizen, accompanied the group to the campus. Peanut Allotment Is 'About Same'

WASHINGTON (AP) - North Carolina's 1970 peanut allotment will be 167,968 acres and South Carolina's allotment will be 13,901 acres, it was announced Monday by the Agriculture Department. Both levels are about the same as this year. The total allotment for peanut farmers across the country was 1,610,000 acres, the same as this year and the minimum allowed under federal law. Growers who abide by the acreage allotments become eligible for government price support loans, the department said.

Special Prayers For Peace Asked Americans Honor Their Dead Of All Wars Today

WASHINGTON (AP) - Americans honored all who have served in their armed forces today amid demonstrations of support for President Nixon's Vietnam policy and preparations for protests against the U.S. course in that latest of conflicts. Those who back the administration's Vietnam position seized on Veterans Day to try to signify that there is in fact a "great, silent majority" just as Nixon said in a Nov. 3 speech. The date, which marked the end of fighting in World War I in 1918, was observed as Armistice Day until 1954. For the past 15 years it has been Veterans Day, a salute to American veterans of all wars. Veterans Day 1969 comes only a week and a day after Nixon asked the nation for support on Vietnam and only two days before the start of a new round of war protests which are to wind up with a mass rally in Washington Saturday. Ardent supporters of the President hoped today's activities would become a counterdemonstration to the war protest. Civic, fraternal and veterans' organizations came up with or announced support for ad hoc groups opposing memorials and other "get out of Vietnam now" demonstrations. While they carried on their programs today, Nixon himself was headed for a veterans' hospital in the capital. His daughter, Mrs. David Eisenhower, followed his lead but chose a hospital in Northampton, Mass. Nixon issued his Veterans Day proclamation on Sept. 24, calling for citizens to honor "those men who have preserved our Union and our freedom."

was assigned to David Packard, deputy secretary of defense. And the administrator of veterans affairs, Donald E. Johnson prepared a speech warmly supporting Nixon's attempt to end the war in Vietnam. He said tickets for all reserved seats for the 11 a.m. program at Arlington were taken for the first time in 16 years. Johnson, a former national commander of the American Legion and a Nixon appointee, strongly endorsed the use of Veterans Day to show support for the administration's Vietnam policy. He sent 100,000 packets of material to school and community leaders. "I do not presume to speak for him (Nixon)," Johnson said in his prepared remarks. "However, I do know how dedicated he is to the task of achieving the theme of Veterans Day 1969—peace with honor..." "To those who may think, or would have others think, that they alone understand and abhor the suffering and savagery of war—to them I say now that they do an injustice to America's 40 million veterans, living and dead. And they deceive themselves."

Firemen Felled

HANOVER, Mass (AP)—An explosion and fire ripped through a building today at Atlantic Research Corp., makers of munitions for the armed forces. Initial reports said the building housed production facilities for a type of tear gas, and also housed an unidentified type of explosive powder. A fire dispatcher said reports from the scene indicated that some of the tear gas was leaking, felling fire fighters trying to combat the blaze. "The situation is very serious," the dispatcher said. The dispatcher said all available ambulances were being rushed to the area, and rescuers were being called for also.

Last Rites Set For N. C. Chief Justice Parker

RALEIGH (AP) - North Carolina's courtly, silver-haired chief justice, Robert Hunt Parker, became widely known across the state for his often outspoken and conservative views on race, politics and public morality. Just last month, despite ill health, he delivered one of his typically fiery speeches about the state of the nation's morals and the threat of communism, "free-thinkers" and the U. S. Supreme Court. The 77-year-old Parker's speech making has come to an end, however. He died Monday afternoon at Rex Hospital in Raleigh after suffering a severe heart attack earlier in the day. Funeral services will be at 11 a.m. Wednesday at Christ Church in Raleigh. Burial will be at 3 p.m. in Enfield, the town where he was born. Parker who was appointed chief justice of the North Carolina Supreme Court in January, 1966, by former Gov. Dan Moore, had been hospitalized twice before during the year, once for a respiratory ailment and again for an ear infection. He suffered a mild heart attack about 10 years ago. Despite his illnesses, Supreme Court associates noted Monday that Parker was on hand for most hearings before the high court and rarely missed a weekly conference of the justices. His last public appearance was a speech before the North Carolina State Bar Association last month. He was aided to the podium and had to support himself with a cane while speaking. But this did not stop him from delivering one of his typical outspoken addresses, which had made him a highly quotable public figure. During his years on the bench, which began with his appointment to the Superior Court in 1932, Parker earned a reputation as a scholarly jurist, widely read in history and law, who insisted on the strictest decorum in his court. Gov. Bob Scott has the responsibility of appointing a successor to serve until the 1970 general election. Scott's office released this statement from the governor Monday night: "I am saddened by the death of my friend, Hunt Parker. The State of North Carolina is indebted to him for his long years of service—first as a lawyer in Roanoke Rapids, then as a solicitor, Superior Court Judge, Supreme Court justice, and finally, as chief justice of the state Supreme Court. He was a fine citizen and an

Pitt Soldier Is Honored In Death

WINTERVILLE - A distinguished act of personal bravery was honored recently when Pvt. Bobby R. Wilkins was posthumously awarded the Bronze Star Medal with "V" device. The medal and other military awards won by Wilkins were accepted at the family home in Bethel by his mother, Mrs. Alice Wilkins. Wilkins, who served with Company C, 1st Battalion of the 61st Infantry, was manning a machinegun position near Khe Sanh on the night of June 28 when a platform of North Vietnamese Army regulars attacked the night perimeter. The accompanying citation noted that Wilkins "immediately placed fire on likely avenues of approach and so heavy was the fire that the enemy was stopped. The enemy then directed rocket-propelled grenades and hand grenades on Wilkins' position. Without hesitation and with complete disregard for his own safety," it continued, "he bravely engaged the enemy." "It was not until a rocket-propeller grenade made a direct hit on his bunker, mortally wounding him, that his machinegun was silent. Wilkins' personal bravery and valorous actions, while giving his life for his comrades, saved many lives," the citation concluded.

Bloodmobile In Farmville Wednesday

FARMVILLE - The only opportunity this year for citizens of Farmville to donate blood to the Pitt County Bloodmobile without having to leave their home territory will be the visit of the bloodmobile there Wednesday. Bloodmobile chairman Douglas Morgan announces that the Farmville program, which is under the local chairmanship of H. A. Nichola, will be at the First Christian Church beginning at 10:30 a.m. and continuing until 4:30 p.m. "The quota for Farmville is 165 units," Morgan commented. "I believe we will be successful in getting our quota in Farmville." On the following day, Thursday, the Bloodmobile will make a one-day visit to the DuPont Plant. For this visit, the blood units collected will be shared between Pitt and Lenoir Counties on a pro-rata basis. "DuPont has always been most cooperative in these drives," Morgan commented, "and our share of their collection has been a great help in filling our countywide quota."

Caller Said Bomb In Rawl Building

Students were held out of Rawl Building on the East Carolina University campus briefly this morning after an unidentified caller said a bomb had been planted in the building. Officials said the male caller told the University president's secretary, Mrs. Doris Lamb, that a bomb was "fixing to go off in Rawl Building" between 10 and 11 a.m. The call came about 9:45. Officers held students who were changing classes at that time out of the building briefly while the building was checked, then classes resumed.

Land Acquisition Again Prime Topic Of Recreation Board's Meeting

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Reporter
Again in November as in September and October, discussions of purchasable land for city recreation sites was the focus of attention at the meeting of the Greenville Recreation Commission on Monday night. Boyd Lee, director of the commission, reported that a committee had met with J. J. Perkins. The committee had been directed at the last meeting to attempt negotiations with Perkins for the purchase of a tract of land on West Third, Tyson and Colonial Streets. The five lots, measuring a little less than an acre, was earlier offered by Perkins to the city for $25,000. Perkins rejected an offer of $12,500 which the commission last month decided would be a reasonable price for the land. After hearing this report, the members voted to discontime future negotiations for this site. Lee and City Councilman Johnny Edwards reported on their meeting with Amos Evans to negotiate purchase of land from his tract on Hooker Road. It was disclosed that Evans is willing to consider arrangements for an option, provided immediate action is taken on the matter. Other parties are interested in this land. "We've looked at land a lot," stated Sidney Carraway, "it's time we considered buying." A motion by Mrs. Louis Gaylord Jr. "to pursue the possibility of acquiring some of the Evans property immediately" was passed by the board. Chairman John Taylor asked that a special committee composed of City Manager Harry Hagerty, director Lee and councilman Edwards begin firm negotiations to work out details of an acceptable price and amount of land which can be purchased. Lee disclosed that the State Recreation Department had informed him they would be willing to send a representative to Greenville to go with him before the county commissioners. "Preliminary moves," according to chairman Taylor, "are underway at the present time to make efforts to effect a joint city-county recreation program for Greenville and Pitt County. "The state representative would appear only in the capacity of an advisor," Lee commented. "For beginning discussions I'm sure such a person would be helpful both to us and the county commissioners." As an example of the pressing need for county recreation facilities, councilman Edwards stated, "Just before I came in, I took a look at the gym (the Elm Street Gymnasium across the street from the Recreation Center office). Of 14 cars parked out front there, only two had Greenville tags. I'm not sure this means there are 12 carloads of out-of-town people using the gym now, or whether it's because a lot of people haven't bought city tags." Lee explained that people from Bethel and Ayden sometimes used the city facilities. Chairman Taylor asked the commission to take action to provide a fountain for drinking water at the Greenfield Terrace recreation area. He also asked that the shelter which was promised at this area be erected. "This is the shelter which was dismantled at Riverside Park. We were told it was going to be reassembled at Greenfield," Taylor commented. Director Lee introduced Charles Vincent, who has recently been hired by the city as assistant director. Taylor welcomed him on behalf of the commission.

Wedding Ceremony For A Hero

HERO'S WEDDING — Albert Nirenstein, 22, of Stamford, Conn., and a Vietnam veteran who lost both legs when he stepped on a land mine in July, 1968, cuts his wedding cake with his nurse-turned-bride, Nancy Dunker, 26, of Midlothian, Ill., at their wedding in New York Sunday. The couple, who were married Oct. 26, held the elaborate ceremony at the New York Hilton to make, in the bridegroom's words, "people aware amputees can have good marriages." (AP Wirephoto)

Guests At Dedication Entertained At Buffet

East Carolina University President and Mrs. Leo Jenkins entertained special guests attending the dedication of the Ruth A. White dormitory at a buffet dinner Sunday night. Ruth White dormitory is the second of three 10 story girls dormitories to be dedicated. It was named in honor of the former ECU dean of women who retired in June after 32 years of service. Special out-of-town guests present for the occasion were Attorney General and Mrs. Robert Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. James L. Whitfield of Raleigh. Miss Evelyn Crutchfield, Mr. and Mrs. Graham Lawrence and Dr. Patricia Lawrence of Charlotte; Owen White, Mrs. Eva White and Mrs. Edrie White of Colerain; Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Grady and daughter Anna Ruth, Greenville, Tenn.; Mrs. James Cunningham, Knoxville, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. Cyril B. White, Norfolk, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Merritt C. White, Chesapeake, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Hosea D. White and daughter Ruth Ann, Green Belt, Md.; Miss Saxon Bray, Winston-Salem; Mr. and Mrs. R.B. Wayland, Portsmouth, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Smith, Rocky Mount; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Belk and Mr. and Mrs. I. K. Williamson, Goldsboro. An arrangement of antherium and white mums accented the red and white color scheme of the foyer in which Dr. and Mrs. Jenkins greeted guests. Fujii and orchid mums mixed with Scottish heather in epergnes, flanked by matice candles provided the focal point in the dining room. Bronze fujii and pom pom mums in large arrangements decorated the living room. Assisting in serving dinner to the 65 guests were Mrs. F. D. Dunca, Mrs. Robert Holt, Mrs. David Wichard and Mrs. Troy Dodson.

UNC-G Receives Local Support In Annual Drive

GREENSBORO — Pitt County alumni are continuing their support of the 1969-70 Alumni Annual Giving Campaign of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, according to the latest report made by area co-chairmen Mrs. Frank T. Hill and Mrs. Joseph Boyette of Greenville. The recent personal visitation part of the campaign conducted in the county has produced gifts amounting to $683.50, the report reveals. Additional contributions from the area will be made from personal visitation responses received before Feb. 15 and those reached through the mail by class agents after that date and until commencement. The entire campaign's goal for the academic year is $150,000. The sum will be used to support university programs not provided for by state appropriation. These include 28 alumni scholarships worth $750 each, teaching excellence awards to members of the faculty, a distinguished professorship fund and others. The Pitt County captains who led the personal visitation campaign are: Mrs. W.C. Friddle Jr.; Mrs. Henry Ferrell; Mrs. Tylon Kermon; all of Greenville; and Mrs. Billie Briley of Winterville.

Mrs. Marshburn Is Club Speaker

Mrs. Owen M. Marshburn gave the program at the meeting of the Inter Se Book Club held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Tyson Bilbro. Yearly Plans Discussed At Meet

Plans for the year were discussed at Thursday night's meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary. Mrs. Frances Gwynn, president conducted the meeting. The budget for 1969-70 was approved. The meeting next month will be held on Dec. 4 and will be a covered-dish dinner to honor new members. Members are asked to bring a gift for Operation Santa Claus and to bring a gift for exchange.

Mrs. Moore Gives WCTU Program

Mrs. Daisy Moore gave a program on "Mobilization" at the meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union held Thursday night. Mrs. L.E. Ballard gave the devotional using "A Charge to Keep" as her subject. A report on the Youth Temperance Council was given by Mrs. Viola Brown. Mrs. Bruce Hadley reported on the meeting of the state convention and the fellowship dinner of the local union. Highlights from Washington's in the Union Signal were given by Mrs. H.L. Andrews. Mrs. Lela Carson reminded the group of several bills in Congress. Mrs. Bernice H. Clark, president conducted the meeting. She gave a report on the Loyal Temperance Legion. Mrs. Ballard, Mrs. Brown, Hadley and Mrs. Moore were appointed to a committee to secure and distribute food and other items to shut-ins and the needy. It was decided that members would bring gifts to the December meeting to be given to sick persons. The next meeting will be held on Thursday, Dec. 4, at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Charles Rumbley.

Woman's Club Hears Speaker

Joseph Conleton was the speaker for the meeting of the Woman's Club on Friday afternoon. His emphasis was on safety, especially school bus driving. He answered questions regarding the improvement in safe driving and invited the club to sponsor an eight-hour course in defensive driving and preventable accidents. A film was also shown during the program. Mrs. Jeannette Clapp presided over the business session and reports were given. Plans were made for a bridge tournament on Nov. 20 at 8 p.m. Gifts and donations for Caswell and Cherry Hospital were requested and will be brought unwrapped to the Christmas meeting. A project for landscaping and planting on the club house grounds was discussed by Mrs. John Carrington. The club voted to use funds realized from the bridge tournament for this project. Refreshments were served by the hostess committee prior to the meeting.

Mrs. Stroud Is Auxiliary Speaker

AYDEN—Mrs. O.C. Stroud presented the program at the meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary held Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Stancel Sumrell. She spoke on the accomplishments of UNICEF. Mrs. Clay Stroud, president, presided at the business session. Christmas gifts for Operation Santa Claus and for veterans were collected. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Let Son Do His Own Work

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: My husband insisted that Rick, our 12-year-old son, get a paper route to teach him responsibility and the value of money. Rick is the youngest of our children and the only boy, and a little spoiled. Also, he's not the most ambitious kid in the world. I think you get the idea. Well, Rick has a morning and Sunday route and he has to get up at 4:45 to get those papers delivered. It's pitch dark at that hour and we're afraid to let him take his bike, so I get up and drive him around his route while he delivers the papers. Now that school has started again Rick stays up late studying and I haven't the heart to wake him up at 4:45, so I let him sleep and I deliver the papers. Abby, I am 49 years old and am going thru my "change," and I don't need a paper route. I've asked my husband to let Rick quit his route, but he says, "No, it will make a man out of him." Meanwhile, it's making a wreck out of me. What do you suggest?
MENOPAUSE PAPER "BOY"
DEAR "BOY": If you do Rick's route for him, he'll think when the going gets rough, he can always quit. Wake him up. If he requires more sleep, he'll manage to get to bed earlier. But don't YOU take over his job. In some instances parents MUST drive their carriers, but what's the matter with Papa?
DEAR ABBY: Even tho my problem may seem trivial to you, it is a big problem to me. I am 20 years old and people (usually on the first meeting) will say to me, "My, but you're beautiful!" This is very embarrassing and distresses me no end. If I say, "Thank you," it sounds as tho I am agreeing with the person, and that seems so conceited. If I disagree and say, "Oh, I am NOT," that sounds so foolish. If I don't say anything, I feel ungracious. Please don't toss this in the watebasket, Abby, I really need an answer.
"BEAUTIFUL"
DEAR BEAUTIFUL: Everybody should have your "problem." When you are told that you are "beautiful," simply say, "Beauty lies in the eye of the beholder." Then you will be thought not only beautiful, but gracious, modest, and intelligent as well.
DEAR ABBY: Is there something wrong with me or am I just shy? I am a 15-year-old girl and I haven't dated much, but I have been dating a terrific guy for about four months. Whenever he picks me up for a date, my mind says, "Sit closer to him," but my body won't move. And if I have a question to ask him, my mind says, "Ask him," but my mouth won't open. In other words, my mind says,

FOR CHRISTMAS — Making gifts for Operation Santa Claus are these residents of the Greenville Nursing and Convalescent Home. They are making stuffed toys, bean bags, jute handbags, afghans, and terrycloth pillows in workshop sessions twice weekly, with the assistance of instructors from Pitt Technical Institute. Mrs. J. N. LeConte, executive director of the Pitt County Mental Health Association, said those wishing to contribute to Operation Santa Claus might consider giving yarn, print fabric, jute material, large floral washcloths, or loosely knit dishcloths immediately for use in making these items. "Thus," she said, "the contributor would be able to help the forgotten children at state schools for the retarded, forgotten patients at state mental hospitals, and the residents of the local nursing home who are willing to donate their time to this Christmas-giving project."

South Vietnamese Casualty Rate Seen Rising

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese forces have suffered comparatively heavy losses in a week of fighting around the Bu Dop Special forces camp 85 miles north of Saigon, official sources reported today.

The sources said 15 allied soldiers have been killed, 75 wounded, three armored personnel carriers and four trucks have been destroyed and half a dozen American helicopters have been shot down.

A total of 60 North Vietnamese troops were reported killed, but one officer said the kill ratio — four enemy dead to one South Vietnamese or U.S. soldier — "is substantially on the bad side."

Most of the allied casualties have been Vietnamese tribesmen, mercenaries paid and led by American Green Beret troops. These are called Mobile Strike Force troops, and they form the bulk of nearly 1,000 reinforcement troops who have been deployed around Bu Dop to counter a sizeable North Vietnamese buildup.

"It's a Vietnamese Army show as far as the ground fighting is concerned," said one American officer. "We are working with them closely. They own the entire area and so they ought to be involved. Back in May we'd have gone in. Now we are up to our necks in Vietnamization."

Mobile Strike Force troops battled about 400 North Vietnamese six miles south of Bu Dop for 61 hours Monday night.

In the heavy exchange of fire, 24 of the enemy were reported killed, while two of the Vietnamese tribesmen were killed and nine wounded, sources said. American helicopters from the 1st Air Cavalry Division supported the mercenaries, and two were shot down and a third one hit by machine-gun fire. Two American crewmen were wounded.

A mile away, North Vietnamese troops for the second time in four days attacked an American artillery base called Jerri that was set up last week to support Bu Dop. The North Vietnamese pumped 30 rounds of 120mm and 82mm mortar shells into the base, killing five Americans and wounding five. The North Vietnamese followed up with a small ground probe, but it "never really unfolded," said one officer. North Vietnamese losses were not known.

Farther south, 67 miles northwest of Saigon, a U.S. reconnaissance plane sighted North Vietnamese troops 10 miles from the Cambodian border and called in dive bombers. Troops from the 1st Cavalry moved into the area after the bombing and found the bodies of 37 North Vietnamese soldiers. There were no U.S. casualties.

In the Mekong Delta, troops of a North Vietnamese regiment that moved into the delta last summer continued their attacks on South Vietnamese militiamen guarding the district town of Tri Ton in the Seven Mountains region about 125 miles southwest of Saigon.

The North Vietnamese attacked two militia companies south of Tri Ton, killing two of them and a civilian and wounding 16 militiamen and a civilian. Eight enemy soldiers were reported killed.

U.S. headquarters reported another American helicopter was shot down 51 miles northeast of Saigon, wounding one crewman.

Thirty-three enemy rocket and mortar attacks were reported between 8 a.m. Monday and 8 a.m. today. The U.S. Command said 13 of the attacks caused casualties or damage and seven Americans were wounded.

Special Youth Wage Rate Proposal Sees Argument

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A high-level Nixon administration fight is developing over a proposal initiated in the White House to set a special "youth wage" below the federal minimum wage of $1.60 per hour.

Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans has endorsed the idea, but a spokesman for Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz said "he would be opposed to any suggestion that a youth wage could be below the $1.60 minimum."

Organized labor also is sure to oppose any federal plan to let youths work for less than the federal minimum.

"The effect would be to encourage employers to replace family breadwinners with kids at the lower wage rate," said one highly placed labor source.

"There's nothing wrong with that," Stans was quoted as saying in an interview about the replacing of adult workers with youths.

He reportedly said the idea was to set a special, lower wage of $1.20 or $1.25 per hour for youths and "After they reach, say 21, they would get the regular minimum wage."

"Stans speaks for the employer point of view, while we speak for the labor point of view," said a source close to Shultz.

However, the Labor Department confirmed that a study has been underway for some time on what impact, if any, a lower wage minimum for youths would have on youth unemployment and unemployment generally.

Latest government reports show the jobless rate for American youths aged 16 to 19 was 13 per cent last month, compared with the national unemployment rate of 3.9 per cent for all workers.

Unemployment among Negro youths and other minority group youths has been running at 20 per cent or more in the past year.

Labor Department sources emphasized that no suggestion of a $1.25 or any lower hourly wage minimum for youth is contained so far in the study. It will be several weeks before the study is completed and sent to Shultz, a spokesman said.

Baptists Urged To Greater Witnessing

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C. (AP) — Tar Heel Baptists were urged today by their president, Dr. Claud B. Bowen of Greensboro, to display "dedication to greater involvement in Christian witnessing outside the church."

In his presidential address before the annual session of the Baptist State Convention, he enumerated problems that churchmen should be helping overcome as "poverty, illiteracy, racial barriers, alcoholism, maladjusted homes and loneliness."

He called for full and costly commitment to unity in witnessing, saying "population explosions, knowledge explosions and activity explosions have jarred us loose from complacency. Materialism and secularism have challenged the loyalty and time of church people."

The pastor of Greensboro's First Baptist Church, serving his second and final term as Baptist State Convention president, called for intensified efforts to enlist more people in church-related vocations.

Other convention events scheduled for today are the election of officers and consideration of a special committee report on the seven Baptist colleges in the state.

A highlight of the college report will be a recommendation that the present system of six colleges and one university be maintained and given more financial assistance when possible.

The Baptists were told Monday night as the convention opened that the church's outlook too often "is shockingly narrow and parochial."

Dr. Russell Cherry, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Rocky Mount, said in his convention sermon, "We have been guilty of talking too much to ourselves and not to the world."

At the Baptist pastor's conference before the convention Monday, the Rev. Jack Wilder of Florida Street Baptist Church of Greensboro was named conference president.

Report 372 Arrests In City During October

Acting Chief of Police Thomas E. Gladson reports that a total of 372 arrests were made in Greenville during the month of October.

Of this total, 314 males and 58 females were arrested. A further breakdown shows that of the 314 males arrested, 180 were white and 134 Negro. White females arrested numbered 34 and Negro females 24.

Arrests are listed in two classes—Part 1 classes for more serious crimes; and Part 2 classes for other crimes.

Under these categories, the following arrests were effected:

Part 1 Classes: Murder, 1; aggravated assault, 3; breaking and entering, 2; larceny, 12; and auto theft, 2; for a total of 20.

Part 2 Classes: Other assaults, 13; embezzlement and fraud, 25; offenses against the family and children, 4; liquor laws, 2; drunkenness, 60; disorderly conduct, 3; driving while intoxicated, 15; traffic and motor vehicle laws, 175; vandalism, 13; and all other offenses, 42.

Thus, of the 352 total, nearly half, or 175, were made in connection with traffic and motor laws.

The 175 motor arrests were predominated by arrests for speeding, which numbered 61. Other offenses were: reckless driving, 5; improper defective lights or brakes, 9; non-observance of light or sign, 32; improper registration of license, 7; and all other violations, 61.

Gladson lists the parking violations paid during October which accounted for a total of $1,067.50 in collections for the city. Overtime parking, with 1261 tickets given, amounted to $630.50. Cars parked left to curb, with fines of $1.00 each, accounted for $27.00. A total of 400 other types of parking violation, with fines of $1.00 each, yielded a collection of $400.00.

Property damage for 115 traffic accidents investigated in the city amounted to $61,928.00—or the equivalent of $538.50 damage per accident.

Figures show that as a result of the 115 accidents, 69 persons were arrested. There were 22 persons injured, two persons killed, and five cases of hit-and-run.

Australia Sees A Mining Boom

BRISBANE (AP) — An Australian expert says this country will displace North America in 30 years as the biggest center of world exploration and mining activity.

Already, Australia is one of the world's major producers of industrial minerals, said R. L. Whitmore, professor of mining and metallurgical engineering at Queensland University.

Addressing an adult education meeting, he said: "This year the export income from minerals will be about $885 million Australian ($991 million US), roughly equalling that of wool. By mid-1970 this figure will have doubled and it will not be stopping there."

Among Australian mineral exports are lead, zinc, iron ore, coal, and bauxite.

Still Higher Quality Leaf Needed

Whatever the long term future holds for tobacco it is evident that producers are going to have to work harder than ever to produce a still higher quality leaf.

This is true because the future growth of tobacco sales will be in the world market rather than in the domestic field.

In most nations of the world tobacco is now under attack as it is in the United States. As population and affluence grow in these nations there will be a greater demand for tobacco.

However, U. S. tobacco will be competing for this great world market with tobacco grown in other nations around the world. Thus there is no assurance that there will be a continued increase in demand for U. S. tobacco even though the world consumption grows.

Fortunately for American producers, the 1960s has been a period of growth in tobacco exports. There are a number of reasons for this including the exclusion of Rhodesia from the world markets.

Much of the credit, though, must go to the farmers of Eastern North Carolina and other tobacco producing areas who have worked diligently to produce a higher quality leaf. Cigarettes that contain American tobacco are in high demand in foreign nations.

There is no guarantee that this will continue to be, however. Other countries are entering the market and as they gain experience they could improve quality. Rhodesia will undoubtedly eventually re-enter the world market.

In the meantime American growers must do all they can to improve the quality of the tobacco they produce. There should also be a spirited promotional campaign by the industry to convince the world that American tobacco is, indeed, superior.

In this way, as competition increases, the United States should be able to maintain its share of the world market.

Another Ominous Side To Use Of Pesticide

The report by Marine scientists at Duke University that DDT posts a threat to marine life is ominous.

The scientists say that if the DDT level continues to increase it will pose a serious threat to the larvae of crabs, shrimp and fish.

This report should not be taken lightly for it is important that we make every effort to keep our coastal waters clean and thus protect sea life.

If DDT is threatening marine life then the state should take the lead in seeing what can be done about this threat. North Carolina's coastal areas are too valuable to take chances with. Steps should be taken to eliminate any threat to marine life.

Attributable To E.N. Richards

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
RALEIGH—Much of the amazing growth of the Raleigh metropolitan area in recent years, in terms of new residential areas, subdivisions, shopping centers and the like, is directly attributable to the vision, energy, acumen and genius of E. N. Richards.

involved and very busy in various business ventures and development projects. He was hesitant, but agreed. Just a year later a vacancy occurred unexpectedly in the top administrative office of SPA and despite demands upon his time Richard assumed the post as executive director of SPA.

This was a time of crisis for the Ports Authority. In several ways. But Richards solved the problems, brought new vitality and new energies into the program. He worked daily to bring SPA's programs back in order, but refused any salary or compensation.

Unprecedented—Within a year Richards was appointed vice chairman of SPA. He became chairman upon the retirement of John M. Reeves of Pinehurst.

Under Richards chairmanship, according to the resolution, "the outstanding progress of the Authority (SPA) in planning development, expansion, promotion and public acceptance has been unprecedented."

The resolution says public attention had been drawn to "tremendous growth" of the potential of North Carolina ports for world trade and expansion of its ocean port terminals.

And it calls for issuing of a citation of commendation to E. N. Richards for "remarkable achievements" during the eight year period of his tenure.

Editor—Max E. Veale, a native of Apex, N.C., has been appointed editor of the Daily Journal at Rockingham, N.C.

Before going to Rockingham, Veale was city editor of the Hickory Daily Record in Hickory. He became managing editor of the Daily Journal recently succeeding J. Neal Gadieu, publisher. Cadieu is publisher of the Daily Journal, the Harnett County News and the Spring Lake Times.

WILLIAM SHIRES

The reputation and the accomplishments of Ed Richards, developer and businessman, is well known in the Raleigh area.

In another capacity it should be well known statewide. Aside from his private enterprise, Richards' leadership and guidance led the state's ports at Wilmington, Morehead City and Southport to their greatest growth and development in history during the past decade. Richards served eight years as chairman of the State Ports Authority, a fact which has not gone entirely unnoticed.

Resolution—He was not reappointed in the recent shuffle of officials of state boards and commissions.

But at its most recent meeting, the newly constituted Ports Authority paid tribute to Richards with a resolution.

The resolution also called for a permanent award to be created and presented to Richards in a public ceremony. Details of this have not been completed.

Record—Former Gov. Terry Sanford called on Richards in 1961 and asked him to serve on the State Ports Authority. At the time Richards was

Critical Chore For Harry Dent

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON—President Nixon plans to give Harry Dent, his razor-sharp political troubleshooter, the delicate chore of running his Congressional relations—an assignment bound to evoke anguish among liberal Republicans when it becomes known on Capitol Hill.

Dent will take over day-to-day supervision of Congressional lobbying from Bryce Harlow, who is being kicked upstairs to the Cabinet-level post of "counselor" under last week's White House staff reorganization. What was not announced and is not scheduled for announcement is Dent replacing Harlow as chief White House lobbyist (though Harlow will still be available for board policy guidance in Congressional affairs).

Personally well organized Dent is expected to improve technical proficiency in the office. He may well end year-long Congressional grumbling about not getting White House answers to telephone calls. Although Dent is a political protégé of South Carolina's Sen. Strom Thurmond and was that man before joining the White House staff, he is no hard-line conservative ideologue. Nevertheless, even Dent's colleagues on the White House staff admit he is scarcely the best man to win over the large, unruly bloc of liberal-Republican Senators who constitute Mr. Nixon's most sensitive problems in Congress. They resent Dent's backstage efforts early this year in favor of school desegregation and his more recent lobbying for Judge Clement Haynsworth's confirmation.

Furthermore, Dent probably undermined his prospects for cooperation with Congressional Democrats by his widely reported wisecrack about Sen. Edward M. Kennedy at a Nov. 1 Republican fund-raiser in Anaheim, Cal. Commenting on whether Mr. Nixon will seek reelection Dent said: "We, unlike Teddy, are going to cross that bridge when we get to it."

With Dent in charge of Congressional relations, heavy liberal Republican Senators will be placed on Eugene Cowen, who came to the White House lobbying staff from the office of Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania. Helping Cowen will be Jamie Humes, a liberal-leaning former state legislator from Pennsylvania who has been on the White House speechwriting staff until his recent transfer to Dent's political operation. He now is likely to join Dent in Congressional relations.

Oil Depletion Impact
The oil industry's insistence that a reduced oil depletion allowance will result in calamitous drops in crude oil production has been undercut by one of its Emilio G. Collado, executive vice president of Standard Oil Co. (N.J.).

In an unpublished letter of Sept. 29 to Phillip Areea executive director of President Nixon's Cabinet task force on oil import control, Collado forecast that a reduction in the oil depletion allowance from the present 27.5 percent down to 20 percent would not affect domestic production until 1974.

What's more Collado projects only slightly reduced production through the 1970s. While official industry sources testified that the 20 percent would result in a dangerous 50 percent cut in production by 1980, Collado estimates a reduction of only 5.26 percent by 1980 under the reduced tax advantage. Indeed, a production cut that small could be attributed almost entirely to the lack of new pools of oil rather than higher tax.

A footnote: Collado's surprising forecasts will be used by tax reformers in their attempts to override the Senate Finance Committee's action in setting the oil depletion at 23 percent. The reformers have a better chance on the Senate floor to restore the 20 percent figure passed by the House.

Public Forum

TO THE EDITOR,

I wonder how many Pitt County voters are aware of the strange uses to which their taxes are apparently being put by the county commissioners. I refer to the use of county postal funds, nery, and labor by a group calling itself The Pitt Co. Taxpayers Assoc. in order to exert almost minute influence upon the outcome of the recent election.

Whether or not the money funds is ever put back, it is an outrageous abuse of public confidence on the part of the county commissioners to allow such things to take place. The explanation offered by the chairman of the commissioners is wholly unsatisfactory sounds like the offer of the captured burglar to put the silver back if only the police are not called.

As a county property owner and taxpayer, I am opposed to the imposition of an additional sales tax, even if the alternative is the raising of the property taxes; the sales tax is by far the most inequitable tax of all, striking hardest at those least able to pay. The thought that my taxes are being furtively used to promote the interests of a small group of property holders at the expense of the general welfare is appalling and intolerable.

Time To Bear Witness

WASHINGTON—In a towering work that will be read and remembered long after more publicized books of this century are forgotten, Whittaker Chambers wrote of what it means to bear witness:

"A man is not primarily a witness against something. That is only incidental to the fact that he is a witness for something. A witness, in the sense that I am using the word, is a man whose life and faith are so completely one that when the challenge comes to step out and testify for his faith, he does so, disregarding all risks, accepting all consequences."

In the light of the President's speech this past week, and more especially in anticipation of coming events, I

Will we be judged, in this coming week, solely by the masses turned out by the New Mobilization Committee? Are we to be guided by those twisted theologians who preach the "immorality" of Vietnam, and then demand that thousands of South Vietnamese be sacrificed to a bloodbath? Is the measure of our national will to be found in the soft counsels, of appeasement, withdrawal, and surrender?

What of our universities? The dedicated labor of generations went into building their greatness, at Harvard, Columbia, Berkeley, Cornell, M.I.T. They flourished as centers of learning primarily because they retained a balance, as the universities of Europe and South America did not—a balance between liberty and order. Freedom and discipline walked as handmaidens in the groves of our academies. This was the ideal. Who now bears witness to it?

A few days ago a band of student militants marched at M. I. T., demanding, if you please, under threat of violence, that their notions of permissible research be imposed upon the institution as a whole. Harvard's reputation for academic integrity has been irreparably compromised. Berkeley appears to have attained a state of perpetual chaos. True learning disintegrates; and the lampost displaces the lectern.

Why have the silent ones kept silent? A part of the explanation lies, I think, in aspects of the American character that seldom are noted. We are not, as a people, much given to barroom bravos. We are restrained by manners, custom, courtesy, good taste. Publicly, at least, we shun the passionate involvement. We will be coth at any cost; a black extortionist interrupts a meeting of bankers, and the bankers, rising, applaud.

A part of the explanation lies also in a lack of leadership. The "New Mob" has leaders aplenty; the militants of M.I.T. have a placard to rally around. But the silent ones—the serious students, (Continued On Page 5)

Listen Before Offer

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. negotiators plan to sound out Soviet representatives at Helsinki before offering any specific proposals to curb the superpower missile race.

The United States thus will not open the U.S.-Soviet talks with a proposed moratorium on the development of multiwarhead missiles—an idea which has had considerable support in Congress.

But President Nixon may send a generally worded message to the opening Strategic Arms Limitation Talks—SALT—next week, stressing American interest in halting the nuclear race.

Nixon met at length with the National Security Council Monday in shaping the U.S. approach to the long-awaited negotiations.

The preliminary discussions start in Helsinki next Monday and the chief U.S. negotiator, Gerard Z. Smith, intends to stop off at Brussels Friday to brief NATO allies.

The Americans hope during the preliminary round to find out about the Soviet approach to strategic disarmament and to stake out the boundaries for the future negotiations.

Washington now knows little about Moscow's concepts. For example, do Soviet strategists rate MIRVs—multiple independently targetable vehicles—and ABMs—antiballistic missiles—as part of the same weapons problem and thus favor dealing with both at the same time?

As for the scope of the negotiations, the United States wants to exclude from the bargaining those missiles it deems nonstrategic—not long-distanced enough for an intercontinental strike.

This would leave out of the negotiations the 7,000 U.S. warheads reported positioned in West Europe to defend NATO countries and the Soviet missiles in East Europe aimed at West European targets.

U.S. negotiators also want to exclude from the discussions the weapons of other countries—both of the West European and East European satellite states and of Communist China.

The Americans hope to reach agreement in a matter of weeks at Helsinki on a definition and a program for full-scale negotiations.

This would set the stage for the next round, which U.S. negotiators hope will start shortly thereafter and speedily get into key issues such as what to do about MIRV. Meanwhile, both sides are testing multiwarhead rockets.

Refining The Employment Data

By ELMER ROESSNER

A few years ago this column pointed out that under methods then used, a man worked on a Monday and Tuesday and was then laid off could be counted five times by Uncle Sam, twice as employed and three times as unemployed.

The statistical techniques have been improved since then, but they still produce a fuzzy result.

There are many kinds of unemployed today. There's the man who quit one job to look for a better one. There's the man who has a job but who has been laid off for a few days because of a slump in orders, the installation of new machinery or a plant fire. There's a man on strike. There's a young fellow who quit his job to go back to college; sometimes he can collect unemployment insurance. There's the farm worker who has a part-time job and is idle because the crops are in. There's the self-employed man without any current orders. There's a fellow who won a lottery and is taking an unpaid vacation, the fellow who is ailing, the fellow moving to California, the fellow off on a binge, and there is the fellow who just doesn't want to work.

Still More Jobless
There is also the fellow who gets into fights with fellow employees and who is usually fired after a week. And there's one fellow I heard about who was getting $57 a week on welfare if he were unemployed, so he kicked the foreman in the seat.

And then there are the hundreds of men who are seariously searching for jobs because the mine has run out or the buggy-whip factory is closed, or who simply cannot find a job for which they are qualified.

To get a full count on each of these categories would require so many more government employees that every unemployed person could be put to work. And that would worsen the labor shortage.

Labor shortage? With the rate of unemployment rising from 3½ to 4 per cent in September?

The National Industrial Conference Board has, after deep study directed by Dr. John G. Myers, senior economist, suggested a new economic indicator: a job vacancy index. Analysis of job vacancies it reports may help explain the discrepancies in unemployment data. It found, for instance, that with increases in the average hours per week worked, manufacturing companies increase their demand for labor and that an average weekly increase of one hour leads to an 0.3 per cent raise in unfilled jobs.

Old Friends Best In TV's Nielsen Rating

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Television this season seems to be proving, if nothing else, that old friends are best friends.

In the most recent national Nielsen ratings lists, every one of the 10 most popular TV series is at least two years old—and six have survived for six or more years.

The report, covering shows broadcast between Oct. 27 and Nov. 2, is typical of the season's showing. NBC's "Laugh-In" is in first place and is two years old. A close second is CBS' "Red Skelton Show," age 19. Third is "Gunsmoke," now 15.

Then there is NBC's "Bonanza," 10; CBS' "Mayberry, R.F.D.," which, if you count its years as "The Andy Griffith Show," is seven; NBC's "The Wonderful World of Disney" on the networks for 16 years, and CBS' "Beverly Hillsbillies," eight.

The younger crowd in the Nielsen elite group includes "Family Affair," four, and Glen Campbell's variety hour, two. A bit farther down the list there are "Here's Lucy," starring a performer who has been on television for 18 years, and "My Three Sons" which started 10 years back.

"Gunsmoke," leading the list a week ago and in show position this time, is probably a source of pride and embarrassment to CBS executives. Only a couple of seasons back the show was abruptly canceled—not so much for inadequate numbers of viewers but because many of them were older and nonurban.

There were loud howls of rage, a blizzard of mail and "Gunsmoke" was reprieved. It was moved out of its late time slot and, with some of its raw action removed, became more popular than ever in an early evening time period that attracted a young family audience.

In the current ratings, only one new show, Bill Cosby's situation comedy, has stuck like a burr in the top 20 shows. But Cosby can hardly be counted a new face in TV after those "I Spy" seasons.

NBC, incidentally, jumped back in the lead in the weekly averages, building a 19.7 to CBS' 18.9. ABC followed with 15.4. Although CBS and ABC plan to replace their weakest shows at midseason, it seems likely now that NBC will stick with its original entries through the winter although there may be some reshuffling of time spots.

Steve Douglas-Fred Murray—after 10 years as a widower in "My Three Sons" will be married on the Nov. 22 show to a widow named Barbara—Beverly Garland. If theirs is like other TV nuptials, it will be attended by extremely high Nielsen ratings. The home folks just love to watch weddings.

Science Shrinks Painful Hemorrhoids Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science has found a special formula with the ability, in most cases—to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching and relieve pain. In case after case doctors proved, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. The secret is Preparation H. There is no other formula for hemorrhoids like it. Preparation H also soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.

New Cars Fail One In 9 Independent Safety Tests

By G. C. THELEN Jr.
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has given the public its first look at files showing new automobiles have failed an average of one in nine independent safety tests.

A portion of 800 reports on performance of 1968 and 1969 American and foreign automobiles in six standard safety tests was released Monday by the Department of Transportation.

The department has promised, under heavy pressure from consumer champions in Congress, to bare the rest of the reports, a few at a time, during the next 30 days.

Summarizing the 800 reports, the department said the failure rate of the cars was 11.5 per cent, or one in nine. Tests of individual automobile components showed a failure rate of 10.1 per cent, or one in 10.

The tests, conducted by independent research firms under contract to the government between May 1968 and this September, turned up in individual vehicles defects in brake systems, unsafe tires and wheel rims, weak safety belts and safety belt anchors that came loose under pressure.

Dr. Robert Brenner, acting director of the department's National Highway Safety Bureau, warned against drawing drastic conclusions on the basis of the reports.

"We emphasize that each of these are initial test results, and that a pass rating is no more of an indication that all such vehicles are in conformity with the standards being attested, any more than one test failure is proof that it is not in conformity."

When reports of a specific defect are checked back with the automobile manufacturer, Brenner said, they often are found to be in compliance with federal

Sees Place For Non-Conformity

CHARLOTTE (AP) — North Carolina Gov. Bob Scott says there is a place "for healthy and helpful non-conformity in these times."

"This country was discovered, put together, fought for and saved by 'rebels' and 'squares,' and for lack of them, we may fall apart at the seams," Scott told the Charlotte chapter of Executive Secretaries Monday night.

"In the past 25 years, however, non-involvement has become an accepted way of our lives," Scott said, adding that "square" and "rebel" have become distasteful words.

He said too many Americans nowadays are "practicing citizenship by remote control."

Experimental School Dreamed

CHAPEL HILL (AP) — Dr. Richard S. Ray, director of the Learning Institute of North Carolina, says he hopes the institute can soon establish an experimental school to try new teaching methods and regional demonstration centers to show the innovations to teachers across the state.

Ray, who appeared on a news conference program on the University of North Carolina television stations Monday night, urged citizens to become more involved and take a careful look at the educational systems their tax money is supporting.

Gina Silent On Wedding Rumor

ROME (AP) — Actress Gina Lollobrigida and New York real estate man George S. Kaufman aren't telling whether they plan to get married.

Gina, 41, and Kaufman, 35, brushed off newsmen's questions Monday upon arrival at the Rome airport from Lausanne, Switzerland, where she had visited her son Milko, 11, earlier in the day.

She chased one photographer, shouting "basta"—Italian for "enough."

Gina and Yugoslavian-born Dr. Milko Skofic were separated in 1966. He obtained a divorce in Vienna in 1968, but it is not recognized in Italy, which does not permit divorce.

Hard work builds character. But it should also build money. And that's why, for every hour you put in, your money should be working overtime, in a Planters savings account. It could earn daily interest in a regular pass-book account. In a Planters Golden

Passbook Account, it could earn 5% on an initial deposit of $500, and on subsequent deposits of $100 or more. Your interest is compounded quarterly and credited at the end of each calendar quarter. And you can withdraw during the first 10 days of each calendar quarter if your money has been on deposit 90 days, or with 90 days prior written notice.

Your money could also be in 5% certificates of deposit. Or a three-year Guaranteed Investment Certificate. Whatever suits you. But one thing is for sure. If you have to go out and work every day, so should your money. And your money can earn money every day, when you put it to work at Planters.

Lanier Opposes Further Cutting 1970 Leaf Crop

In a letter to the director of the tobacco branch of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Claude Turner, from J. Con Lanier, retired counsel to the Tobacco Association of the U.S. from Greenville, Lanier urged Turner to "recommend to the Secretary of Agriculture that no further cut in tobacco production be ordered in 1970."

"I herewith express to you my complete disapproval of the action of the North Carolina Grange in asking for a five per cent cut in the marketing quota for 1970," Lanier said. "It is my firm conviction that such a cut is unnecessary and would severely damage the tobacco program."

Lanier, a former member of the Leaf Tobacco Export Association, added that "such a cut will inevitably hurt the small tobacco grower and may compel him to cease production." In the second place, he said, "I feel that such an action could jeopardize the entire program whenever the grower has a chance to vote on it. Many farmers just cannot stand a further cut."

In the four-year period from July 1, 1965, to July 1, 1969, Lanier said that "carry-over stocks were reduced by 455 million pounds which represents a decrease of more than 100 million pounds per year."

"During the time that the poundage acreage proposal was submitted to Congress," Lanier continued, "it was general understanding that if the yearly carry-over could be reduced by a million pounds per year, the surplus problem in time would be eliminated."

Lanier cautioned that "in a matter of time," dealers and manufacturers will have to go to Stabilization for tobacco supplies in order to continue the manufacture of tobacco products.

Businessman, A Magnate At 20

By T. JEFF WILLIAMS
Associated Press Writer

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Like many American businessmen in Bangkok, William E. Heinecke rises about 7:30, has a cup of coffee with his paper and kisses his wife goodby.

What sets him apart soon becomes apparent. He drives off in his Jaguar XK-E. As he strides toward his office elevators, he slips into his custom-tailored jacket before entering a six-room suite.

Inside these teak-panel offices a host of secretaries and employees chorus: "Good morning, Mr. Heinecke." No one dares to smirk about his being younger than they are.

He has just turned 20, and his four main companies will gross $500,000 this year. That's a conservative figure since his latest enterprise, soft-drink vending machines, is not yet in operation.

FIERY FIXTURE

EAST HALTON, England (CP) — Rain is a frequent hazard in cricket, but fire doesn't often interrupt play. It did when farmer Lawrence Blanchard captained a cricket team playing in a meadow at his Lincolnshire farm. A fire broke out in a haystack and the white-flannelled players dropped their bats to put out the blaze.

"There's no reason why I shouldn't be grossing more than $1 million by the end of next year," he says with cool confidence.

The son of an American government employe in Bangkok, Bill is one of the most startling business success stories in Asia. He keeps two suites in Bangkok's most luxurious hotel for visiting clients, at a cost of $12,000 a year. "Well worth it," he says.

He also competes in Asian Grand Prix races regularly. He keeps cars in Bangkok, Hong Kong and Singapore and jets about to one or the other about every three months to race.

"I do it for the relaxation. Anyway, if I didn't have such an expensive hobby, I probably wouldn't work so hard," he says.

While still in high school in Bangkok he worked for an English-language newspaper's advertising department. "Like all young people, I felt I had great ideas and I wanted to make a lot of changes. No one was interested in listening to me, so I started on my own." He graduated in 1967.

His first move was to borrow $1,200 to buy advertising time on a radio station. "I bought half-hour blocks of advertising beginning, he fell back on his time for $5. Then I sold each spot on that, about 12, per half hour, for $5. I was in business."

He convinced sponsors to rates without warning and Heinicke's clients refused to agree to an increase. In danger of going broke just when he was back him then in three separate car rallies. He drove from Vientiane, Laos, to Bangkok, then to Singapore to Bangkok.

These efforts netted nearly $10,000 and he was moving again.

His advertising firm, called Inter-Asian Publicity Co., Ltd., grossed $2,000 the first month it operated. Now, in its second year, it is taking in $35,000 a month and just reaching the take off stage. It is the largest Bangkok-based advertising firm, second only to two international firms.

With the advertising firm moving he branched out into janitor service. This idea came after he saw the poor condition of some friends' offices.

"I guess this is what made me famous—or maybe notorious," he says. "I used to work during the day at my advertising company and then in the evening I would go around and help clean offices. Friends would often see me washing a window or something. It was a regular laugh-in."

It's no laughing matter now. Inter-Asian Enterprises, as the service is called, is expected to gross $50,000 this year.

In the midst of this expansion, Heinecke turned to long time friend K. J. Dolan, a 48-year-old expert in business management. Together the two formed a holding company, Inter-Asian Holding and Investment Co., Ltd. to direct the expansion.

Then he turned to another untouched field by opening four art galleries. These are expected to gross $35,000 this year in local sales. Next year he starts exporting.

Following up that success was a coffee house expected to earn $15,000 this year.

FINDS SUCCESS IN THAILAND — William E. Heinecke, who has just turned 20, is shown at work in his office in Bangkok. "There's no reason why I shouldn't be

Only One Change Among Top 10 In AP's Grid Poll

By KEN RAPPOPORT

It's a bird, it's a plane, it's... Ohio State!

Ohio State's Impregnable Buckeyes, the supermen of college football, continue to fly high as the nation's No. 1 team. The Buckeyes, who hit the bullseye last weekend with a 62-7 execution of Wisconsin, drew 25 of 32 first place votes Monday in the weekly poll of sports writers and broadcasters across the nation.

The men of steel from the Midwest roped 618 points overall and kept a stranglehold on first over Texas' battering Longhorns, 570, a 56-14 winner over Baylor.

Tennessee, which cut down South Carolina, 29-14, remained third, while Arkansas, a 30-6 winner over Rice, stayed fourth, and Penn State remained in fifth place after an idle weekend.

The Top Ten remained virtually the same as last week. Notre Dame dropped from eight to ninth and Missouri climbed a spot to eighth in the only change.

Southern California held onto sixth after pasting Washington State, 28-7; UCLA stayed in seventh after a day off; Missouri hammered Oklahoma, 44-10; Notre Dame unloaded on Pitt, 49-7, and No. 10 Purdue ran over Michigan State, 41-13.

Both Ohio State and Texas managed to win big despite depleted squads. Rex Kern, the Buckeyes' magical junior quarterback, was out with an injury and 14 starters were on the shelf for Texas with a virus.

The Buckeyes, unbeaten in seven games, risk their record and ranking this weekend against Purdue, probably their toughest challenge of the season.

Few changes marked the Second Ten. Auburn and Louisiana State held on to 11th and 12th places respectively, Stanford moved up from 14th to 13th and Michigan made the biggest advance—from No. 18 to No. 14.

Florida, Georgia and Nebraska rank 15th, 16th and 17th. Mississippi is 18th, Houston, 19th, and the Air Force, No. 20.

The Forgotten Man

Billy Wightman, East Carolina University's tailback, apparently completely overlooked this week when the Southern Conference handed out its Offensive Player of the Week awards. Top place went to Gordon Slade, who engineered Davidson's come from behind win over East Carolina, while runner-up honors went to Richmond's Wayne Fowler for his blocking. Wightman, however, set a new Southern Conference record for rushing in the game, picking up 245 yards. The old mark of 239 was set by Larry Zurich of Richmond in 1966.

Slade Gains Player Of The Week In Southern

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP) — "How about Gordon Slade for America?" asked Davidson coach Homer Smith after his Wildcats had won the Southern Conference football championship and a trip to the Tangerine Bowl last Saturday by coming from behind to beat East Carolina, 42-27.

Little dissent was possible to Smith's suggestion that afternoon, for in leading the Wildcat charge that erased what once had been a 27-0 East Carolina lead, Slade had indeed looked like the No. 1 quarterback in the country.

The lanky senior from Evansville, Ind., threw five touchdown passes and played a major part in a sixth touchdown drive with a 16-yard run. His afternoon's work showed 20 completions in 28 passes for 234 yards.

Almost inevitably, Slade's performance today earned him citation as the Southern Conference offensive player of the week. It was the second time this season he has won the honor. Earlier, he had been chosen for his stellar play in Davidson's 37-7 rout of Richmond, its main title rival.

Oddly enough, Slade got off to a slow start in the game at East Carolina. But once he got going, there was no stopping the Wildcat offense, just as there has been no stopping it virtually all season.

By the time the game was over, he had broken one Davidson record and tied another established 19 years ago. Five touchdown passes set a school mark of 19 for the season; his five TD passes in a single game equaled the school record set in 1950 by Auburn Lambeth.

For the year, Slade now has 167 completions in 251 passes for 66.5 per cent accuracy. The passes have gained 1,869 yards, sweep of player-of-the-week honors in the conference. Earlier, Wildcat tackle Ken Totherow had been named SC defensive player of the week.

Richmond's fine offensive tackle, Wayne Fowler, was runner-up for offensive player of the week laurels, awarded by the Southern Conference News Bureau. Fowler's blocking was near perfect in the Spiders' 37-0 rout of Furman.

Priest Roots Against Irish

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — If the ABC-TV cameras sweep the stands during Saturday night's Notre Dame-Georgia Tech football game in Atlanta, look for a young man in a clerical collar. He'll be rooting against Notre Dame.

"I'm not so Catholic that I'd root against Georgia Tech," said the Rev. Paul Kelly, 31, who grew up in Atlanta and is principal of St. Joseph High School, a few blocks from the Tech campus.

"You've almost got to be from Atlanta to be for Georgia Tech," he added. "The University of Georgia is the state university. Generally, only people from Atlanta root for Tech."

Notre Dame and Georgia Tech resumed their series two years ago—they hadn't met since 1959—with the Irish winning 36-3 in 1967 and 34-6 last season. They've been black years for Father Kelly.

"There's been very little honor in them for me," he lamented. "What's humorous about losing? Besides, most of the priests here always root for Notre Dame. The Tech-Notre Dame game is always a common topic. We always argue, of course, and maybe there's a few bets. I usually end up losing."

Is there a bet on this year's game? "Yes." How much? "No comment."

When Notre Dame plays any other team, though, Father Kelly has no objection to rooting for the Irish.

Father Kelly remembers the 1967 game when he and his brother, an associate professor of industrial management at Tech, somehow wound up with tickets on the Notre Dame side.

An elderly lady seated near Father Kelly sniffed indignantly when he stood to applaud a Tech first down.

"Why would a good Catholic priest like you be pulling against Notre Dame?" she wanted to know.

"We had sort of a running commentary throughout the game," Father Kelly said.

The woman turned out to be the sister of a distinguished Notre Dame alumnus... named Knute Rockne.

Running Power Helped Duke

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Duke's fine passer Leo Hart not with standing, it was running power that enabled the Blue Devils to defeat Clemson 34-27 last Saturday.

Bob Zwirko and Wes Cheson—along with Hart—punched through the Clemson defense for a three-man total of 26 yards. Hart, known primarily as a golden-armed thrower, showed the Tigers he had leg power, running for nine, one and eight-yard scores.

Between runs, Hart also managed to register a sparkling passing performance. He hit 17 of 27 throws for 212 yards. But the key plays in Duke's five touchdowns were rushing plays.

The Blue Devils' win didn't surprise coach Tom Hart, who has been expecting victory from his boys in the last three outings.

"We've been playing good football for the past three weeks," he said. "If you can play three good ones in a row you're bound to win one."

Clemson wasn't the only Atlantic Coast Conference title-seeker that got set back last Saturday. South Carolina went down to non-conference Tennessee 21-14. But the Gamecocks can guarantee themselves at least a tie for the ACC's crown this Saturday, when they meet Wake Forest in Winston-Salem.

The Demon Deacons squeaked past Virginia 23-21 last Saturday in Charlottesville. The game was the fourth straight loss for the Cavaliers, but Virginia coach George Blackburn says his boys haven't lost hope.

"For one reason or another, we've been getting five seasons' worth of unfortunate occurrences this year," he said Monday. "But there's been no letup in our practice sessions and absolutely none during games."

Virginia plays at Tulane this Saturday.

North Carolina, which rolled over Virginia Military Institute 61-11 last Saturday will take on win-hungry Clemson this Saturday in Chapel Hill.

After their loss, the Tigers hold a 3-1 ACC record and are 4-4 overall. South Carolina, whom Clemson was trying to tie last week, remains unbeaten in ACC play, with a 4-0 record. Overall, however, the Gamecocks stand 5-3.

Maryland, after dropping its Saturday contest 34-21 to Miami of Ohio, takes on Penn State this week. The Terps are 2-4 in the league and 2-6 overall.

Duke travels to Norfolk for a game with Virginia Tech. The Blue Devils are 2-3-1 in conference and 2-5-1 for the season.

North Carolina State, after a long two-week rest, came back onto the practice field Monday to prepare for its homecoming game Saturday against Houston. The Wolfpack has been idle since its 25-25 tie with Duke last Oct. 25.

Kiss Of Death For Bear Bryant

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
NEW YORK (AP) — Hanging out the college football wash: Playing in Louisiana State's Tiger Stadium before 68,000 screaming fans usually is the kiss of death for a visiting team, but Coach Charlie McLendon goes it one better.

When the Alabama team arrived in Baton Rouge Friday night, a group of pretty girls met the bus and one climbed aboard and planted a big kiss on Coach Bear Bryant's cheek.

Bryant turned to his players and introduced the young lady.

"Boys," he said, "I'd like you to meet Miss Dorothy McLendon. She's Coach Mac's daughter."

Later, Dorothy told her father, "Daddy, I put the kiss of death on Coach Bryant."

Saturday night, after a 20-15 victory that made him the first Bryant pupil to beat the master, McLendon commented, "I might just have 'Dee' kiss all the visiting coaches from now on."

Coach Dan Devine of Missouri calls Oklahoma quarterback Jack Mildren "probably the best sophomore ever to come into the Big Eight." So Saturday, Devine sent senior Terry McMillan, who was only a third-stringer at Coral Gables, Fla., High School, out to do battle with the highly recruited Mildren.

All McMillan did was complete 17 of 37 passes for 312 yards and three touchdowns as Missouri romped 44-10.

How hard was McMillan recruited? "One of his high school coaches

Injuries Hurt Furman's Fun

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Furman's football team likes to "play for fun," but the way the injury bug and various opponents have been laying 'em low lately, the 1969 season is producing very little joy for the Paladins.

Now 1-5-1 for the autumn, coach Bob King and his Paladins haven't known the feeling of victory since the first weekend of the season, when they nosed out Presbyterian 14-12.

Praise from opposition coaches has flowed freely. Only last Saturday, for instance, Richmond whacked Furman 37-0, after which Spider coach Frank Jones remarked:

"I've got nothing but admiration for Bob King. He's a fine football coach, and he's had a lot of misfortune with injuries."

King will unhappily second the motion about injuries. Even before the Richmond game, two starters—running back Dick Immel and fullback Joe Street, key men in the Paladins attack—were lost for the rest of the season, Immel with a shoulder separation, Street with a shoulder-ernailment.

Monday, two more starters were lost for the Paladins' three remaining games—the first of them Saturday on the field of a rugged Southern Conference foe, The Citadel.

The latest casualties were offensive tackle Ron Strickland and safety man Kenny Sowell. Both have knee injuries.

"For a squad of our size, it's hard to overcome such losses," said King. "The four we've lost were key players."

The Paladins began workouts for the game with the Bulldogs by drilling lightly for 90 minutes, then hearing scouting reports. At The Citadel, the Bulldog freshman gave the varsity a look at Furman's attack and defense.

Defensive halfback Stu Garrett, offensive tackle Worth Spring, linebacker Danny Wilmer and tailback Billy Wightman were among the ailing as East Carolina began practice for this week's game at Marshall U.

Davidson's No. 1 units worked lightly, but the reserves had a heavy scrimmage in starting practice for Wofford.

VMI coaches switched defensive back Rich Thomas to bolster the offense this week at offensive halfback in an effort to Boston College. Dave Ellington moved to defense to replace Thomas.

Richmond's Spiders, who face West Virginia Saturday, heard a scary scouting report from assistant coach Al Dorsey, who said the Mountaineers are "big, strong, fast, agile, mobile and hostile."

Pirates Fourth In Southern

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. — Williams & Mary once more has made a runaway of the Southern Conference cross country meet, and the way things look, the Indians may keep on doing it for years to come.

With undefeated Howell Michael, the NCAA District III champion, finishing almost a full minute ahead of his closest pursuer, coach John Randolph's Indians took the 1969 meet here with 21 points yesterday.

All told, W & M had eight of the top 10 finishers in the meet while claiming the team championship for the fourth straight year, and the sixth time in the last seven years.

Only Furman, which finished second with 60 points, broke the W&M grip on the first 10 positions. Doug Nelson was second and teammate Lee Fidler was fifth for Furman.

The best East Carolina finisher was Ken Voss, who came in 15th. Early in the race, Voss was knocked down by another runner, and was spiked as the field ran over him. Voss found himself running last after that, but moved up to finish 15th. The other prime Pirate hope, Neill Ross, stepped in a hole and pulled a muscle and fell back because of his injury.

VMI finished third in the meet with 81 points, while East Carolina was fourth with 83. Next came The Citadel, 137, Richmond, 172, and Davidson, 174. A total of 64 runners completed the course.

Joy Burgess Contest Winner

First place in this week's Daily Reflector Football Contest goes to Joy Burgess of 105-A Rotary St.

Miss Burgess picked the winners in 26 of the 32 games this week. Her victory, however, came by picking 70 points as the most to be scored in any one game. A total of 72 was actually scored in the North Carolina-VMI game.

Second place went to M. S. Finn of 109 S. Harding St. who also picked 26 right, but was further off the total by picking 75 as the total points.

One other person also correctly picked 26 games, but was further off the point total. The ninth contest appears in today's paper.

If You've Been Changing Tires Lately...

DUAL S-90

Shouldn't You Be Changing to the General Dual S-90

Don't buy tires by accident. Consider the dynamic Dual S-90 if you plan never to think about your tires for the life of your car. General's maximum puncture protection — seals punctures as it rolls. General's maximum blowout protection — over two miles of heat-treated, pre-stretched nylon cord make up the 4-ply Nylon Cord Body, and Shock Protector that combats bruise brutality. General's maximum mileage — chances are your Duals will still be rolling up the miles when you trade in your car. The big difference is in Safety — not price.

WEEKLY PRIZES

1st PRIZE $15.00

2nd PRIZE $10.00

CONTEST RULES

1. Thirty-two football games are placed in the ads on these pages. Pick the winner of each game (not the score) and write the team name opposite the advertiser's name on the entry blank. The entrant picking the most correct winners each week will be awarded $15.00. Second place $10.00.
2. Pick a number which you think will be the most number of points scored by both teams in any one of the week's games listed and write your answer in the space provided on the entry blank. This will be used to break ties. In the event of a further tie the money will be equally divided between the winning entrants.
3. Only one entry per week per person. The contest is open to all except employees of The Daily Reflector and their immediate families.
4. Entries must be in The Daily Reflector office not later than 5:30 p. m. Friday or post marked not later than Friday p.m. Address entries to: "FOOTBALL CONTEST", P. O. Box 1967, Greenville, N. C. (Reasonable Facsimiles also accepted)

INDEX

EXPLANATION - The Dunkel system provides a continuous index to the relative strength of all teams. It reflects average scoring margin combined with average opposition rating, weighted in favor of recent performance. Example: a 50.0 team has been 10 scoring points stronger, per game, than a 40.0 team against opposition of identical strength. Originated in 1929 by Dick Dunkel.

The Worry Clinic A Bit Of Mystifying Helps Win Attention

Sally's case shows how a dull, uninteresting class in psychology became fascinating. In fact, the coeds eagerly began to look forward to a chance to take turns occupying Sally's seat! For I used the "Me-Here-Now" secret of human interest, whereas our stodgy professor missed the mark. Notice how people like to be mystified!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M.D.

CASE L-551: Sally G., aged 19, sat beside me in a Social Psychology class when I was an undergraduate student at Northwestern University.

But our professor was so dull and uninteresting in his monotonous lecturing that the students would actually sleep.

Or study for the next hour's class that followed.

Many of the older fraternity boys even forced their freshman pledges to substitute for them in this 8 A.M. class, since the professor took the roll merely by consulting his seating chart.

If a seat were occupied, its owner was automatically rated "President" even if he had somebody pinch hitting for him.

Sally sat on my right and often grew fidgety at the uninteresting drone by our professor.

"Sally," I whispered one morning, "I used to read palms so would you like to have me tell your fortune?"

Naturally, she assented, for anything was better than the stodgy public speaking that fell on our ears.

Well, I gave her the typical fortune teller's generalized patter, praising her in about 90 per cent of the items I mentioned, but criticizing her in the other 10 per cent.

And I always pointed to the various lines in her palm ostensibly to support my predictions. Sally was shocked at many of my comments, since she didn't realize that I knew her better than she dreamed I did.

For some of her past boy friends were my pals, and they had given me ample ammunition with which to astound Sally. Indeed, she was so dumbfounded by the accuracy of the things I supposedly derived from the lines in her palm, that next day she exchanged seats with a sorority sister, who also was a member of the same psychology class.

And before the end of the term, I must have read the palms of at least a score of N.U. coeds, for it was a large class with 96 seats on the professor's seating chart.

He never noticed the fact that these 20 coeds would take turns occupying Sally's position on my right, for Sally would merely exchange seats with whichever coed wanted her palm read that day.

Often I would derive valuable secrets from one girl about another who was due to sit beside me on the morrow.

Indeed, it is by similar deft questions that the professional fortune teller can often astound his paying patrons.

Some of our wealthy Wall

Street investors still patronize their favorite fortune teller for tips on which stock to buy.

Luckily for such fortune tellers, the customer usually forgets the predictions that failed but remembers with startling clarity any big winner.

Most people "want" to believe in mysticism, voodoo and the occult, for this is a carry-over from their childhood, where parents seemed omniscient and omniscient while the kiddies were weak and puzzled.

Thus, even though they now have become adults in age and physique, they subconsciously fall back into their childhood awe of the mysterious!

In advertising, we thus stress the fact that 90 per cent of our buying is still due to impulse or emotion instead of logic, so send for my booklet on "The New Psychology of Advertising and Selling," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Largest Marine Enrollment In Nation Taking ECU Courses

The Marines are coming: The Marines are coming to East Carolina University, constituting the largest Marine Corps enrollment of any educational institution of higher learning in the nation.

The ECU centers at Camp Lejeune and Cherry Point, maintained by the Division of Continuing Education, enroll 700 to 1000 Marines each term. Although the facilities are open to all interested and qualified persons, Marines comprise 80 to 85 per cent of the enrollment at the two centers.

"Officers and enlisted men who take advantage of the opportunity to increase their knowledge and further their college education do so with the full support of the Corps on all levels of command," says James A. McGee, director of the Cherry Point Center.

"This is evidenced," McGee continued, "by such activities and programs as the Tuition Assistance Program which pays three-fourths of the tuition costs for active duty personnel."

Other evidences of Corps support are: free transportation to the centers for the Marines libraries and librarians and, as in the case of the Camp Lejeune Center, directed by Edmond Limer, classroom facilities.

"Bootstrap," a program which offers selected officers the opportunity to complete their college degrees while on active duty, is another example of Corps support.

Fund-Raising By Twelve Okayed

RALEIGH—During the month of October, licenses were granted by the State Board of Social Services to twelve organizations to conduct fund-raising campaigns through public solicitations for the support of their programs, it was announced by Clifton M. Craig, Commissioner.

Ten of the organizations have held licenses for previous solicitation periods. These organizations are: American Field Service, Inc.; Central Orphanage of North Carolina, Inc.; Crossnore School, Inc.; The Damascus Home; Jackson Laboratory; National Wildlife Federation; North Carolina Eye-Bank, Inc.; Parson of the Hills Foundation, Inc.; Richmond Temperance and Literary Society Commission, Inc. and Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, Department of North Carolina, Inc.

National Trust for Historic Preservation in the United States and The Pilgrim Schole were granted a license for the first time by the State Board of Social Services.

The total amount which these twelve organizations will seek from the public during the year in North Carolina is approximately $478,141.00.

During the month, reports were received on solicitations by St. Labre Indian School, Ashland, Montana; Southwest Indian Foundation, Gallup, New Mexico; The Wilderness Society, Washington, D.C. and Young Americans for Freedom, Washington, D.C. The State Board of Social Services is pointing out that such solicitations are in violation of the State solicitation law since these organizations are not licensed in accordance with its provisions.

Various reasons, are unable to take advantage of regular campus programs."

According to ECU President Leo Jenkins, himself a former Marine major, "We at East Carolina University are fortunate and proud to have the opportunity to work with these bases. By working together we can provide what we believe to be exceptional and excellent opportunities for all eastern North Carolina people."

Opines Eye Pupils Might Tip Off That Poker Hand

By MIKE DOAN
Associated Press Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A psychologist says the pupils in a poker player's eyes may tip off the kind of hand he is holding.

The pupils are apertures in the iris which normally expand in dim light or darkness and contract when the light is brighter.

But for an unexplained reason, Dr. Eckard H. Hess told a convention of the American College of Medical Hypnotists Monday, the pupils also grow bigger when the eye beholds something pleasant, like a full house or four of a kind.

And they get smaller when what's on view is a botbailed flush or a busted straight.

Dr. Hess, of the University of Chicago, said a normal man's pupils may grow to twice their usual size when the eye registers a picture of a nude woman. A hungry person's pupils expand when he sees food.

Unaccountably, a man finds a woman's photograph more attractive if her pupils are dilated than he does if they are normal.

Hess said the pupil reactions seem to provide a kind of window into the brain so that "all the world is able to see it."

He theorized that eye pupil research may help doctors to determine the progress of patients treated for problems such as homosexuality and obesity.

He said the principle already had been applied to determine the effectiveness of an advertising commercial or a new television show.

Opening lead: Eight of ♠ South, the declarer at three no trump, held an unloaded pistol in today's hand. His opponent, East, proved unable, however, to diagnose the situation in time, and South ran for cover with nine tricks.

West opened the eight of spades, the suit in which his partner had overcalled. North played the ten and East covered with the jack. The normal play by declarer is to win the trick with the ace and lead a diamond to the king. Observe that he has only seven tricks to begin with—six clubs and one spade—but two more may be readily established by dislodging the ace of diamonds.

If East has both missing aces, declarer can safely surrender the lead, for his opponent cannot play spades without establishing North's queen. South feared, however, that West might hold either the ace of hearts or the ace of diamonds, in which case he could get in to lead a spade thru dummy—thereby enabling East to cash several tricks in that suit.

Declarer reasoned that he could improve his chances by holding off on the first trick. This is a calculated risk for, if East continues with a small spade, South is forced to play the ace and North's queen is exposed to capture.

When East held the lead with the jack of spades, he was understandably uncertain how best to proceed. If South started with three spades and West with two as appeared probable from declarer's play—a spade continuation by East would give his opponent a cheap trick and ruin the defense.

East decided to shift to the eight of hearts in the hope that West could get in quickly for another spade play. South ducked in his hand and West put up the ace to return a spade. Declarer's ruse was successful, for now he could run for cover with nine tricks: six clubs, two hearts, and one spade.

Ban March In Army Uniform

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army says servicemen who wear their uniforms in this week's "march against death" demonstration in the nation's capital will be arrested, turned over to their commanders and perhaps court-martialed.

This warning came as the Pentagon alerted several thousand troops outside the Washington area for possible capital duty should violence erupt at the war protest demonstration. "Army personnel who participate in these activities while in uniform will be in violation of Department of Defense and Department of the Army directives and regulations," the Army said.

Maximum punishment for "violating or failing to obey any general order or regulation" is two years at hard labor plus a dishonorable discharge.

Marcos Said Leading In Filipino Elections

MANILA (AP) — Filipinos voted in apparently heavy numbers today for president, vice president and members of Congress.

First returns after the polls closed in Manila gave President Ferdinand E. Marcos a lead of 4,338 votes to 3,765 votes for Sen. Sergio Osmeña Jr.

Reports of violence in scattered areas poured into Manila during the day but officials said that over-all voting was orderly and perhaps less violent than in years past.

Nevertheless the death toll since the campaign opened in June appeared to pass 50.

The more than 30,000 American servicemen and dependents in the Philippines were restricted to their bases and their homes nearby until varying times Wednesday to avoid any impression that they were interfering in the election.

National police held to their official figure of 32 political killings in the campaign but conceded that late reports had not been tabulated. The Evening Herald reported 19 killed in the last 50 hours.

More than 50,000 police and troops were out on election duty. Violence is a part of every political campaign in the Philippines. More than 40 persons were killed in 1965 and about 100 in 1967.

The presidential candidates are President Ferdinand E. Marcos, 52, trying to become the first president to win re-election, and Sen. Sergio Osmeña Jr., 52, son of a former president.

Obituaries

Jones
FARMVILLE — CLIFFORD L. JONES Sr., 78, of Rt. 2, Farmville, died early Tuesday morning in Wilson Memorial Hospital following an illness of several years.

Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday at 2 p.m. from the Church Street Chapel of the Farmville Funeral Home with the Rev. Jack Daniell officiating. Burial will follow in the Forest Hill Cemetery in Farmville.

Jones was a lifelong resident of the community and was a member of the First Christian Church. He was a retired farmer.

Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Rosalie Skinner Jones of the home; five daughters, Mrs. C. B. Roebuck and Mrs. W. C. Pleasant, both of Raleigh; Mrs. L. M. Smith of Wilmington, Mrs. Hary Albritton of Goldsboro, and Mrs. Wallace Conway of Yorktown, Va.; three sons, C. L. Jones Jr. of Hopewell, Va., Dr. Norwood E. Jones of Buies Creek, and David L. Jones of Farmville; two brothers, Marvin V. and L. R. Jones, both of Farmville; 23 grandchildren, and two great grandchildren.

Barnhill
Mrs. Luna Willis Barnhill, originally of Greenville, died Monday evening at Southeastern General Hospital in Lumberton after a lingering illness.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Dail
Mrs. Dollie Dail, 7, died this morning at 12:30 a.m. at Pitt Memorial Hospital.

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday at 2 p.m. at Wilkerson Funeral Chapel by her pastor, the Rev. John L. Little. Burial will be in the Ayden Cemetery.

Mrs. Dail had spent all her life in Pitt County and was a member of the Community Baptist Church near Ayden.

Surviving her are three sons.

Anxious To Pay Next Year's Tax

FREMONT, Ohio (AP) — People waited more than an hour in line Monday to pay next year's taxes so this city's schools could remain open for the rest of the year.

Treasurer Virgil Swartzlander said more than $235,000 was taken in on Sandusky County's largest single day of tax collection.

The payments are not due until late next month, but Robert Wolfe, owner of radio station WFRO here, suggested the early payment to keep the schools open.

Voters approved a 9.6 mill operating levy last week, an increase from 4.5 mills, but the new tax funds would not have been available until after Jan. 1. The financially troubled school system would have been out of money Friday.

TRAVEL ALLOWANCES

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has signed a bill increasing from $16 to $25 a day the maximum travel allowance for government employees within the continental United States.

Three Injured In 2 Accidents

Three persons were injured in an estimated $3,000 property damage caused in two traffic accidents investigated by police here yesterday.

Officers said heaviest damage resulted from a three-vehicle collision at the intersection of Elm Street and N.C. 43.

Police identified drivers involved in the collision as Earl Lee Aiken, 51, of 1213 Drexel Lane, Ellie Eason Rice of 204 Kirkland Dr. and Edna Adams Mills of Route 3, Greenville.

Mrs. Rice and two passengers in her car were injured and taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Damage was placed at $900 to the Mills auto, $500 to the Aiken car and $800 to the Rice vehicle.

Mrs. Mills was charged with failing to reduce her speed enough to avoid an accident.

Clara Smith Tripp of 309 East 13th St. was charged with reckless driving following investigation of a 9:05 a.m. mishap at the intersection of Dickinson and Paris Avenues.

Officers said the Tripp vehicle collided with a fire hydrant causing an estimated $800 damage to her car and about $15 damage to the hydrant.

Marine Left Bequests To His School

STUART, Fla. (AP) — A young Marine killed in Vietnam has left $2,500 of his GI insurance to his high school for two scholarships and a plaque dedicated to the school's war dead.

The plaque will bear the famous last words of Nathan Hale: "I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country."

The Marine, Charles Tyson, 18, also bequeathed to the school the American flag removed from his coffin just before his body was lowered into a grave in Fernwood Cemetery.

The bequests were made in a will the young Marine drafted after telling his father in a last letter home that he had a premonition of death.

His father, Leonard Tyson, fought back tears as he told pupils of Martin County High School about the will at a special assembly Monday.

"He was proud of the Marines and loved his school," his father said. "He believed that whatever his country did was right."

Drop 'Freedom Of Choice' In Greensboro School Plan

GREENSBORO (AP) — "Freedom of choice" has been cast aside in a desegregation plan filed in U. S. District Court at Greensboro Monday by the High Point Board of Education.

The plan, answering a court order handed down Aug. 19 by District Court Judge Edwin Stanley, would instead assign elementary pupils according to geographic districts.

Most of the districts would contain more than one school in a "pairing" arrangement—a system where schools are grouped in a common attendance district containing both Negro and white pupils.

The plan, if approved by the court, would take effect next fall. But it also promises a continuing review of the Negro-white ratio in city schools in coming years.

The city's three junior high schools would be placed in new geographic districts drawn to give each school a black-white ratio that falls near the city-wide racial breakdown of pupils—28 per cent Negro and 72 per cent white.

Pupils at Andrews or Central high schools would be allowed to finish where they are. But from next year on pupils would be assigned according to districts regardless of race.

The plan also said faculty members would be assigned with an eye toward reaching the city-wide racial breakdown for teachers in each school.

New schools in the city would be constructed to foster desegregation to the extent such planning is consistent with operating the school system properly, the plan said.

Revival Services Through Sunday

VANCEBORO — Revival services began last night at Oak Grove Free Will Baptist Church near Dudley's Crossroads.

The Rev. Jerry English, pastor of the Antioch Free Will Baptist Church near New Bern, is the evangelist.

Services will be held nightly at 7:45 and will continue through Saturday.

A native of Rockingham, the Rev. English holds the B.S. degree of East Carolina University. He held pastorates in Duplin and Pamlico Counties before coming to his present church. He also teaches school.

The Rev. Wayne West, pastor of the Oak Grove Church, and the congregation invited the public to attend.

Sadie Saulter PTA To Meet

The Sadie Saulter School PTA will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the school.

All classrooms will be opened at 7:15 p.m. to give parents an opportunity to visit their child's homeroom.

The topic for the program will be "Help Your Child Get Into This World."
