'Yankee Clipper' Rides Astronauts Into Orbit

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — America's Apollo 12 astronauts rode their command ship Yankee Clipper into earth orbit through a lightning storm today to start America's second moon-landing expedition despite heavy rains that for a while threatened delay.

Charles "Pete" Conrad Jr., 39, Richard F. Gordon Jr., 40, and Alan L. Bean, 37, thundered away from Cape Kennedy at 11:22 a.m. (EST) on a Saturn 5 super-rocket that blasted into the heavens and survived a possible lightning hit that momentarily disrupted communications.

Storages where they will spend 7 1/2 hours walking the surface for man's first detailed study of another planet. President and Mrs. Nixon were among thousands who braved a heavy downpour to watch the departure of the 36-story rocket.

Observers saw two lightning bolts flash shortly after launch and the astronauts reported so many alarm lights aboard that they were unable to read them all. Officials reported the spacecraft briefly lost its electrical distribution system which knocked out the prime guidance system.

Only seconds later, however, Conrad said they had reset the affected instruments. "We've had a couple of cardiac arrests down here, Pete," a ground controller quipped.

Television provided millions with a ringside seat as man started another great leap outward. While on the lunar surface, Conrad and Bean hope to transmit to TV viewers the first color pictures ever sent from the moon.

Bean, the four Conrad children and the two Bean children watched the launch from a vantage point 3 1/2 miles from the pad as the most powerful machine ever built roared away.

Demonstrators Not Interrupted In Brief Rally

Greenville police, their hands tied by city officials, stood by yesterday as some 200 black and white demonstrators walked in groups of two to the Shore Drive mall, staged a demonstration, then marched away again in groups of two.

"They tell me the Klan is on its way. I am not afraid and we want everybody to be protected so just all sit down. I am going to stand. I make a big target..." he said. "We are going to stay right here and listen to Golden Frinks," Fitch continued.

Agnew Charges Public Opinion Is Being Molded By Biased TV News

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, asserting that public opinion is being molded by selective or biased news telecasts, says the time may have come for the networks to be "made more responsive to the views of the nation."

In a speech to a Midwest regional Republican committee, the vice president declared Thursday night that power over television news is concentrated "in the hands of a tiny and closed fraternity of men."

Agnew emphasized he was not suggesting any kind of government censorship. And he said the networks have made important contributions to national knowledge.

Agnew was immediately challenged by some network and other TV spokesmen who charged him with an attempt to cow the television industry into more favorable treatment of the federal government.

Swearing In Of Bobbitt As Chief Justice Monday

RALEIGH (AP) — Associate Justice William H. Bobbitt will be sworn in Monday as chief justice of the North Carolina Supreme Court to succeed the late R. Hunt Parker.

Bobbitt, 69, a member of the Supreme Court for 15 years, was appointed Thursday by Gov. Bob Scott to head the court.

Honor R. W. Howard As 'Citizen Of Year'

AT ANNUAL MEETING... of the Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Association last night were (L-R) Dr. H. E. Lowry, R. W. Howard, G. W. Moore, and Dr. J. W. Pou.

By TOM BAINES R. W. Howard, senior vice president of Wachovia Bank and Trust Company of Greenville, was presented the Citizen of the Year Award last night at the sixth annual meeting of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Association.

As chairman of the Pitt County - Greenville Airport Authority, he has provided the leadership for a number of improvements, he added.

Moore gave a summary of the nation's economy dating back to post war years and also an outlook into the future possibilities of our economy.

Efforts Aimed At Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Church services, vigils and rallies today marked the course of the second Vietnam Moratorium as the nationwide Vietnam protest demonstrations headed toward a weekend climax.

In New York City, 2,000 at tended a rally in Times Square where pediatrician and war critic, Dr. Benjamin Spock, criticized the President as "unable to end the war."

In presenting the award to Howard, East Carolina University president Dr. Leo W. Jenkins cited the familiar quotation, "A man never stands so tall as when he stoops to help a boy."

These things were among a number of other improvements initiated by Howard, the president said.

Moore cautioned that unless some form of control is exercised on the booming birth rate, we will face disaster "of an unprecedented magnitude."

In addition to outstanding work in connection with the boys club, Jenkins credited Howard as being the organizer and chairman of a community campaign that was successful in raising $130,000 for Greenville Industries.

Approximately 160 businessmen, their wives and guests, were on hand for the dinner meeting. Guest speaker for the occasion was G.W. Moore, president of Fieldcrest Mills of Eden. Moore was introduced by Howard.

The vice president said it was "obvious" that commentators had their minds made up in advance. In his speech Agnew said, "Every American has a right to disagree with the President of the United States and to express publicly that disagreement."

Casualties By Own Bombers

By GEORGE ESPER SAIGON (AP) — Strong North Vietnamese forces attacked Saigon government troops today near the Bu Prang and Duc Lap Special Forces camps near the Cambodian border, triggering close-hand fighting during which South Vietnamese bombers hit their own troops.

The allied command was forced two weeks ago to hastily abandon three U.S. artillery bases near Bu Prang that were providing supporting fire for field units.

The heaviest fighting centered two miles south of the Bu Prang Special Forces camp, 110 miles northeast of Saigon, which for two weeks has been under pressure along with Duc Lap 5 miles farther north.

In an effort to ease the enemy pressure in the region, 10 American B52 bombers dumped 300 tons of bombs during the night on North Vietnamese troop concentrations, base camps, bunkers and staging areas northeast of Duc Lap.

Merron said another battalion of 400 to 500 South Vietnamese troops was involved in a clash two miles south of Duc Lap, but information on that was not available yet. Some 7,000 North Vietnamese are reported in the Bu Prang—

The only American casualty was a man wounded aboard one of the three helicopters that drew the North Vietnamese fire as they conducted "reconnaissance by decoy" Thursday some 65 miles northwest of Saigon.

Ayden Policeman Is Acquitted Of Assault Charges

By JERRY RAYNOR Reflector Staff Writer AYDEN—Henry G. Norris, a 23-year-old policeman who has been on duty in Ayden since June this year, was acquitted of assault charges in a hearing Thursday before Judge Robert Wheeler.

Sutton was also before the court on a charge of driving under the influence. Counsel for Sutton asked that this hearing on this charge be deferred until the assault case was heard.

Witnesses testified that Norris went to the cell to quiet Sutton, and sprayed Mace into the cell. Sutton threw water on the officer. Norris then unlocked the cell and entered it.

It is not the usual practice for a policeman to go alone into a cell with a weapon on. He noted, "This was a violation of our rules."

On cross examination by Gaylord, Sutton admitted that he had been in jail a number of times. "I don't know how many times," he stated. It was also established that Sutton had also established in the past of assault on a female, resisting arrest, and was once convicted on charges of being a Peeping Tom.

Judge Wheeler gave Sutton a three-year suspended term, with the provision that he surrender his operator's license to the state, refrain from the use of alcoholic beverages, pay a fine of $200, and that he voluntarily submit himself to an agency, which will seek to place him with the Alcohol Rehabilitation Center. Sutton is to report to the court every six months to show that he is receiving treatment.

Older Mother Responded By Changing Hair Color

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: The letter signed "NO GRANNY," asking for a snappy comeback for strangers who mistook her child for her grandchild prompts this letter.

I, too, had a child late in life. (39) and that was MY problem. I have no snappy comebacks, but I do have a suggestion:

When my little boy first started school, he brought a playmate home for lunch. The playmate took one look at me and said, "Why, you've got white hair just like my grandma's!"

Then he turned to my son and asked, "Are you SURE she's your MOTHER and not your GRANDMA?"

I took the hint. That Saturday I did something I've wanted to do for years. I became a honey blond. My husband loved it. My son was ecstatic, and my friends asked me why I hadn't done it years ago. Sure, it's a lot of trouble, but it's worth it. And I'm not going to look like a grandma until I'm good and ready.

NOT READY

DEAR ABBY: Ron (not his real name) and I have been married for five days and we love each other very much. I am 19 and he is 21.

On the first night of our honeymoon we went sightseeing, and when we got back to the motel Ron locked himself in the bathroom, took a shower and came out in his pajamas and went right to sleep. I know he was tired that first night, but it's been like this ever since we've been married. I am not ugly and I am a very clean person. Please don't get the idea that all I have on my mind is sex, but I am getting very impatient.

Ron has had two years at Reed College in Oregon so I can't believe he's all that shy. What is he waiting for?

UNTOUCHED IN DENVER
DEAR UNTOUCHED: I don't know, but I think it's time you asked him. If things don't improve at your house, insist that Ron have a talk with a clergyman, or a doctor. Something is wrong in Denver.

DEAR ABBY: I am a young man who is going to be married soon and a problem has come up. I have an aunt and uncle who were my favorite relatives when I was growing up. They treated me as if I were their own son. They were my Godparents when I was confirmed. Well, shortly after that something happened between my parents and this aunt and uncle and they haven't spoken since. I still don't know the complete story of what was behind the quarrel.

I would like to send this aunt and uncle an invitation to my wedding with a little note telling them that I'd like to include them during the happiest time of my life—my wedding.

I suppose my parents will be hurt if I do, but I feel if my parents want to hold a grudge, it is their grudge, not mine. I am not sure my aunt and uncle would even come to my wedding if they were invited, but I think they'll appreciate being asked. What do you think?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: I think your attitude shows great understanding and maturity. Children should not be expected to "inherit" and perpetuate the grudges of their parents.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a relative who has a couch which makes into a double bed, but she made it a point to keep this a secret?

This relative would never put up an overnight guest, claiming she had no sleeping accommodations.

I accidentally discovered this duo-purpose couch when I was over there one evening. Do you think I should say something to her about it? I hate to have her think she's getting away with something.

ON TO HER

DEAR ON: When this hits print you may not have to.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Vow No Shaving 'Til Bill Passes

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — The local branch of the National Association of Letter Carriers has vowed that its members won't shave until a bill to provide pay raises for government employees becomes law.

The idea will be carried this weekend to the state convention of the NALC in Alexandria, and from there to other states, a local branch spokesman said.

The shaggy protest is based, the spokesman said, on the fear that the 5.4 per cent pay hike bill—even if Congress passes it—might be vetoed by President Nixon as part of an economy drive.

Another, Safer Pesticide Needed

It appears now that most uses of DDT will be banned by the government within the next two years.

HEW Secretary Robert H. Finch announced that the Nixon Administration would implement recommendations of a study commission. The HEW secretary, agriculture and interior secretaries had signed an agreement on the recommendations.

The plan is to eliminate the non essential uses of DDT and DDD over the period of time.

DDT, which has for many years been a favorite chemical for insect control, has come under attack because it takes so long to dissipate and its potential effect on life is unknown.

The study commission did not condemn the use of pesticides and, in fact, said that their use in modern society is so important that we must learn to live with them. However, it recommends that the long-life pesticides be limited to prevention and control of human diseases and other uses for which no alternative is available.

And so the end of widespread use of DDT seems to be near. The miracle pesticide has been praised by servicemen assigned to mosquito ridden areas of the world. The chemical was sprayed by aircraft in areas where U. S. troops were operating to control mosquitoes.

Later DDT gained widespread use as an aid in farming in destroying the insects which plague various crops.

However, the evidence has mounted as to the long life of the chemical. Only recently scientists found evidence of it was harming marine life in the coastal waters of North Carolina.

It is expected that other insecticides which do not last so long will be used to protect crops. It is going to be essential that something else be used if we are not to see the world's crops destroyed in the fields by pests.

New Political Party Has Limited Appeal

Sen. Eugene McCarthy has predicted that a new political party may emerge in the 1972 presidential campaign.

On a television show Sen. McCarthy said that Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York could be its standard bearer.

"Unless the two major parties give voters a better choice than in 1964 and 1968, there will be a third party," said McCarthy.

The senator may be correct in his prediction, but it is our belief that if such a party develops it will be of very limited membership on a national level. Thus the voices of those who defect to it will be very small indeed.

The strength of America's political system has been in its strong two-party system. The two parties have always embraced all shades of political beliefs. If political groups fragment in this country we would expect a weakening of our government because of the lack of party discipline.

Third party movements have been tried before in the United States with little effectiveness. We believe this will be the case with any McCarthy or Lindsay led movement.

Yuletide Sales Outlook Cooler

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
Reflector Raleigh Bureau

RALEIGH — With the Christmas buying season rapidly approaching economic spokesmen and sources are taking a guard view of prospects.

A survey conducted by the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Assn., indicates that most retailers expect a sales gain. But the optimism either about sales or profits is not as strong as it was a year ago.

The survey covered department stores, discount stores, variety stores, drug stores and specialties such as women's wear, shoes, jewelry, sporting goods, hardware, building supplies and automotive goods.

The state department of Social Services ordered the Columbus jail closed for failure to meet minimum standards. The county appealed for more time but the appeal was rejected by Judge Edward B. Clark. Clark said the jail at Whiteville must be closed by Nov. 15.

The facility was built in 1908 and has been condemned as both unsuitable and unsafe.

Meet—The State Board of Higher Education will visit the growing campus of East Carolina University on Nov. 21.

The board will have a formal meeting and the following lunch will tour the ECU campus.

Evaluation—The N.C. Education Association has issued its biennial evaluation of the North Carolina General Assembly's efforts in the education field and says the 1969 session left many needs unmet.

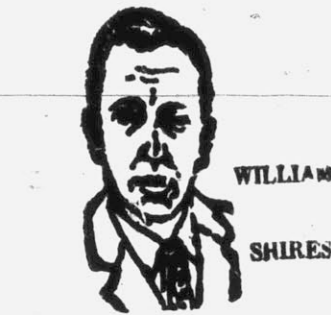

In the first place, the NCEA delegate assembly said the legislature refused to appropriate sufficient funds to bring teacher salaries to the national average.

Secondly, it was critical of the fact that the Assembly appropriated only $1 million for a pilot public kindergarten program. NCEA had recommended at least $15 million for summer programs and kindergartens.

Dr. A. C. Dawson, NCEA's executive secretary, told the delegate assembly that the legislature was faced with a dilemma after approval of a new tax program and more demands than could be met.

Dawson said he felt that an additional one cent sales tax at the state level would have provided the funds necessary but that the legislature was unwilling to adopt this.

One resolution critical of the legislature was offered but it was defeated. The alternate resolution acknowledged that the General Assembly did "take a forward step" in public education but left many needs unmet.

Crusader For Key Principal

By ROY MALONE

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Paul W. Preisler is a 67-year-old crusader who won't take no for an answer when it comes to the one-man, one-vote principle.

Three times he has successfully filed suits forcing the Missouri Legislature to remap state congressional districts to make them more equal in population.

Now he has turned his attack to the state's two-thirds majority requirement for passage of bond issues. A decision in those cases is pending.

"It doesn't make sense when one no vote is equal to two yes votes," he says.

Missouri is one of about 20 states that has either state or local laws requiring more than a simple majority for passage of propositions such as bond issues or tax levies.

In recent months, judges in West Virginia, Idaho and California have declared invalid a requirement of more than 50 per cent. The legal attack is also being waged in Iowa and Minnesota and "it's going to snowball," Preisler said.

Preisler is an unassuming biochemist - turned - lawyer who files "citizen suits," usually at his own expense, to protect "our democratic principles."

The tall bachelor organized a teachers union in St. Louis in 1930 only to find the school board forbade teachers from joining. His court suit to get the restriction lifted was successful.

His other suits, over the years, have established the right of school board members to be elected on a nonpartisan basis, the right of minority parties to have poll watchers and the right of a nonpartisan candidate to run for Congress.

Just before receiving a law degree in 1954 he successfully argued before the Missouri Supreme Court against a state senatorial redistricting in St. Louis. The districts were changed but, Preisler muses, he received "only a B" in the law - school course for which he filed the suit as a class project.

In 1961 he first challenged Missouri's newly drawn congressional districts as being "grossly unequal," with a population difference of 128,000 between the largest and smallest districts. He lost the suit before the state's highest court.

The U.S. Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote decision came in 1964, based on a Georgia case. It called for equal numbers of people.

Since then, Preisler has filed three suits in federal court, each one being upheld on the basis that the districts could be more equal. The last remap, done this year, has a difference of about 1,300 between the largest and smallest districts. Preisler is satisfied.

Despite his claim that "no one gets hurt by my lawsuits," Preisler has been something of a problem to his suits concern elections. One newspaper dubbed him "a Don Quixote with muscle who tilts at establishment windmills and wins."

Recall Parker Case?

By NOEL YANCEY

RALEIGH (AP) — It would not be at all strange if, in the midst of the turmoil of recent weeks, Judge Clement Haynsworth had thought about the career of another federal judge nominated to the U. S. Supreme Court — the late John J. Parker of Charlotte.

The cases of Parker and of Haynsworth, 39 years apart, have striking similarities.

Parker was considered a top-notch attorney, and so is Haynsworth, a fifth-generation Greenville, S. C., lawyer whose nomination by President Nixon is being debated by the Senate.

Parker was considered one of the ablest judges on the U. S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals. So is Haynsworth, the court's chief judge.

Parker was nominated by a Republican president as justice of the Supreme Court. So was Haynsworth.

Both nominations drew the strong opposition of organized labor.

And both men were opposed by Negro organizations.

In both cases it was the first time a man from his state had been nominated to the high court in many years.

Both nominations aroused bitter opposition and equally staunch support in the Senate.

In both cases, the controversy became so intense that the presidents came to the defense of their nominees.

Both men were opposed because their critics considered them to be too conservative, and in both cases opponents said the nominations were bids for Southern support.

The Senate rejected Parker's nomination.

Both cases left the Senate sharply divided. Parker was defeated by only two votes, 41-39. An Associated Press poll shows the division on Haynsworth also is close.

Judge Parker was nominated by President Herbert Hoover March 21, 1930, only the third North Carolinian in history to be nominated to the high court.

He was a 45-year-old judge of the 4th Circuit Court of Appeals, having been appointed by President Calvin Coolidge in 1925.

Before that, he was one of the leading attorneys of the Charlotte bar and was the state's leading Republican politician. He had been defeated for Congress in 1910, for state attorney general in 1916 and for governor in 1920.

But Parker had polled 230,000 votes for governor running against the redoubtable Democrat Cam Morrison. The vote exceeded by 63,000 that received by any Republican candidate for governor up to that time.

Parker was a native of Monroe and an honors graduate of the University of North Carolina. The UNC Alumni Review told of the nomination a few days later and said confirmation of his appointment "is regarded as certain."

But Parker's appointment did not win any plaudits in liberal circles outside North Carolina. And the liberal opposition became more strident after organized labor and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People proclaimed their opposition.

The Senate debated the nomination for a week—in mounting bitterness. When the issue came to a vote, it was 41 to 39

Anniversary Of A Flag

WASHINGTON — This is the anniversary of the making of the first Viet Cong flag in the United States. Although many people know the story, I still feel it is worth repeating.

A group of anarchist, militant, revolutionary, Maoist, Trotskyite, pro-Castro moderates was planning to demonstrate against the war in Vietnam, and they knew they would need a flag. One of them said, "Hey, I know a chick in Philadelphia who has an upholstery shop, and she could do it for us. Her name is Betsy Wrath."

So a delegation made up of three founding fathers bought half-fare student tickets and flew to Philadelphia to meet Betsy.

They found Betsy hard at work embroidering an obscenity on a cushion, which had been ordered by a student for the takeover of a dormitory at M.I.T.

"Betsy," the head of the delegation said, "we have come to ask you to make us a Viet Cong flag that we can carry in a Fourth of July parade in Chicago. You are the only one who can make it for us."

Betsy beamed. "This is a great honor you have bestowed on me, but I haven't the slightest idea what a Viet Cong flag looks like."

"We haven't either," one of the delegation said. "Betsy you will have to start from scratch."

"Well," said Betsy, "I guess I'd better look and see what material I have available."

She opened a drawer and took out some blue linen. "How does this hit you?"

"It shouldn't be all one color, Betsy, or the pigs won't know it's a Viet Cong flag."

Betsy beamed. "This is a great honor you have bestowed on me, but I haven't the slightest idea what a Viet Cong flag looks like."

"We haven't either," one of the delegation said. "Betsy you will have to start from

Other Editors Say 'G' Rating Desirable

Yonkers Herald Statesman

Cinematic Straws in the wind can be as misleading or transitory as their political equivalents, but it is nonetheless a remarkable occasion when 4 or 6 pictures classified by the Motion Picture Association of America win G ratings and none gets an X.

That was the score this week, as reported in Variety, which indulged in the observation that "morally, things are looking up."

Next week, of course, could be quite another story. But this cluster of G films tends to belie the contention as some self-serving moviemakers that producers aren't interested in suitable - for - everybody pictures because there's no market for them. They would have one believe that a G rating is akin to a kiss of commercial death.

If that were so, however, it seems unlikely that four of six pictures to receive MPAA ratings in a week would qualify for the G label.

A further indication that the G rating is more to be sought than shunned is Paramount's appeal for a re-rating of its "Paint Your Wagon" from an M to a G.

The M rating, which suggests a film for mature audiences but does not bar any minor from a theater, was bestowed by a 9-8 vote because the picture, set in the gold-mining era of the old West, includes a wife - sharing arrangement by two men and also has a sequence about the importation of prostitutes for lonely miners.

Paramount contends both situations are grounded in history and are treated tastefully in the film.

However that may be, it's significant that the company attaches so much importance to a G rating. If the exploitation cynics were right, Paramount would have been disappointed in the M only because it wasn't an R or an X.

We'd far rather believe that the sexploaters have about done themselves in through sheer excess and that the pendulum is beginning, however slowly, to swing away from cinematic pornography that has lacked not only any redeeming social value but any value at all.

Food Additives Under Suspicion

By ELMER ROESSNER

The denouncement of cyclamates has triggered an explosive re-examination of a thousand food additives and agricultural chemicals.

Suddenly, almost every chemical and drug company in American finds itself on the defensive, called upon to prove the safety of its products, even those that have been in use almost half a century.

The banning of cyclamates was only a triggering action because doubt and distrust of scores of chemicals has been building up for years. As more and more chemicals have been used to kill insects and weeds and to fertilize crops, as more chemicals have been added to food to improve flavor, texture and other qualities, more and more people have become fearful of what they have been eating, drinking and breathing.

There has grown up a great organic farming movement, in which chemical fertilizers have been opposed and only organic materials, largely rotting vegetation helped along by earthworms, have been used to restore the soil.

The Drive For Purity

In almost every state, groups have organized, some to promote organic farming, others to demand the banning of chemicals in growing food or in preparing it. Several states banned DDT and scores of other state and city bodies have acted against poisons that seem to get into food or additives of doubtful healthfulness, even before the word "cyclamates" was banded about Washington. In New York, for instance, earlier this year investigators found that in some 200 places selling "hamburgers," the food was not legally hamburger at all, but beef patties with various kinds of filler and additives.

There is reason to believe that if the Food and Drug Administration had not banned cyclamates, some other action would have caused the present flare-up. In fact, the cyclamate ban was based on slender evidence. The sugar substitute was injected into rats, not added to their food; only rats, no humans, were tested, and the doses were enormous compared to human's ingestion.

Long List Of Suspects

The excitement has spurred investigations into many other materials:

- Monosodium glutamate, which the Chinese have been using for thousands of years, is now suspect because baby rats fed large amounts suffer brain damages.
- Modified starches, added to baby food, are being studied to determine if they create difficulties for babies.
- Sodium nitrate, a color preservative for meats and vegetables in use for more than 40 years, has been declared by Dr. Stephen Epstein, of the University of Wisconsin medical center, to aggravate certain types of rheumatism. Peppermint oil does the same, he announced.
- DDT, which sometimes get into the food it protects and frequently has been found in cows' milk where DDT has been used on grazing land, is now being restricted and the FDA may impose strict limits on its use.
- The weed killer 2, 4, D-T has been sharply curbed by government agencies after experiments showed that a "higher than expected number of deformities" had occurred in offspring of rats and mice given relatively large oral doses of the chemical.
- Now saccharine, okayed for use for almost half a century, is being re-examined.

Opening lead: Ten of ♠

The key to successful defense against North's four spade contract was to deprive declarer of access to his hand at the critical moment.

Altho North's jump rebid to two no trump is not an absolute force and South apparently gave his all with his original response of one spade, it is hard to criticize him for persisting to three spades. The suit is rebidable and may provide just what is required to produce a game if North has a fit. The four spade contract would have come home against anything but perfect defense.

West opened the ten of clubs. The jack was played from dummy and East won the first two tricks with the queen and ace. The shift was to the five of diamonds and West put up the ten to force out North's queen.

The deuce of spades was led and East's king fell under the ace. South continued with the jack of trumps. The key to the hand hinges on West's play to this trick. If he releases his queen of spades, declarer will be able to draw trumps when he regains the lead, and subsequently discard his heart loser on North's long diamond when that suit divides favorably.

West, however, declined to cover the jack of spades. He waited till the next spade lead to put up the queen for, with the removal of dummy's last trump, West hoped to sever his opponent's line of communications.

West led back another diamond, and South found that he was hopelessly locked up in dummy. Even assuming that the diamonds divided evenly, he could not take a discard while West still retained a small trump. There was no way for declarer to get back to his hand, and in the end he was obliged to give up a heart for the setting trick.

An attorney, R. C. Lawrence, wrote years later in the State Magazine that the Senate's rejection was no reflection on Parker. The "only objection raised was to the trend of his judicial thought, which was not quite as radical as certain persons wished him to be," said the article in the magazine published in Raleigh.

But Parker continued a distinguished career on the bench and Lawrence wrote: "I dare say the elements which resisted his confirmation now wish they had supported him, for his opinions have demonstrated that he has dealt out even-handed justice to both labor and capital . . ."

Parker eventually became chief judge of the 4th circuit. And after World War II, a Democratic president, Harry Truman, named him as one of the American judges to preside over the Nuremberg trials of German war criminals.

The delegation took the flag and tied it to a broom stick, and as they marched out of Betsy's shop chanting "Ho, ho, Ho Chi Minh" a squad of riot police with clubs swinging broke into the group and arrested everyone.

Betsy, who was watching from her shop window, was thrilled. The flag had been officially accepted.

Convict Newsman Of Role In Disorder

GREENSBORO (AP) — One of four CBS television newsmen arrested while covering racial disorders last May was convicted in state District Court Thursday of interfering with Greensboro policemen and assaulting one.

Foster Stone Davis, 29, of Chamblee, Ga., was fined $100 plus court costs on each of the two courts. He appealed to Superior Court, and District Court Judge Kenneth Carrington set bond at $2,500, which was posted.

Davis, a reporter, and a three-man camera crew were arrested on the last day of the disorders as police and National Guardsmen were clearing part of the North Carolina A&T State University campus. The group was attempting to film several Greensboro police officers searching and arresting A&T students.

Trials for the other three CBS newsmen were postponed until Dec. 8.

Police were searching a group of about 200 students on the campus, Lt. C. B. Huffine testified. He said the students were quiet until the CBS team arrived, then they started "cut-

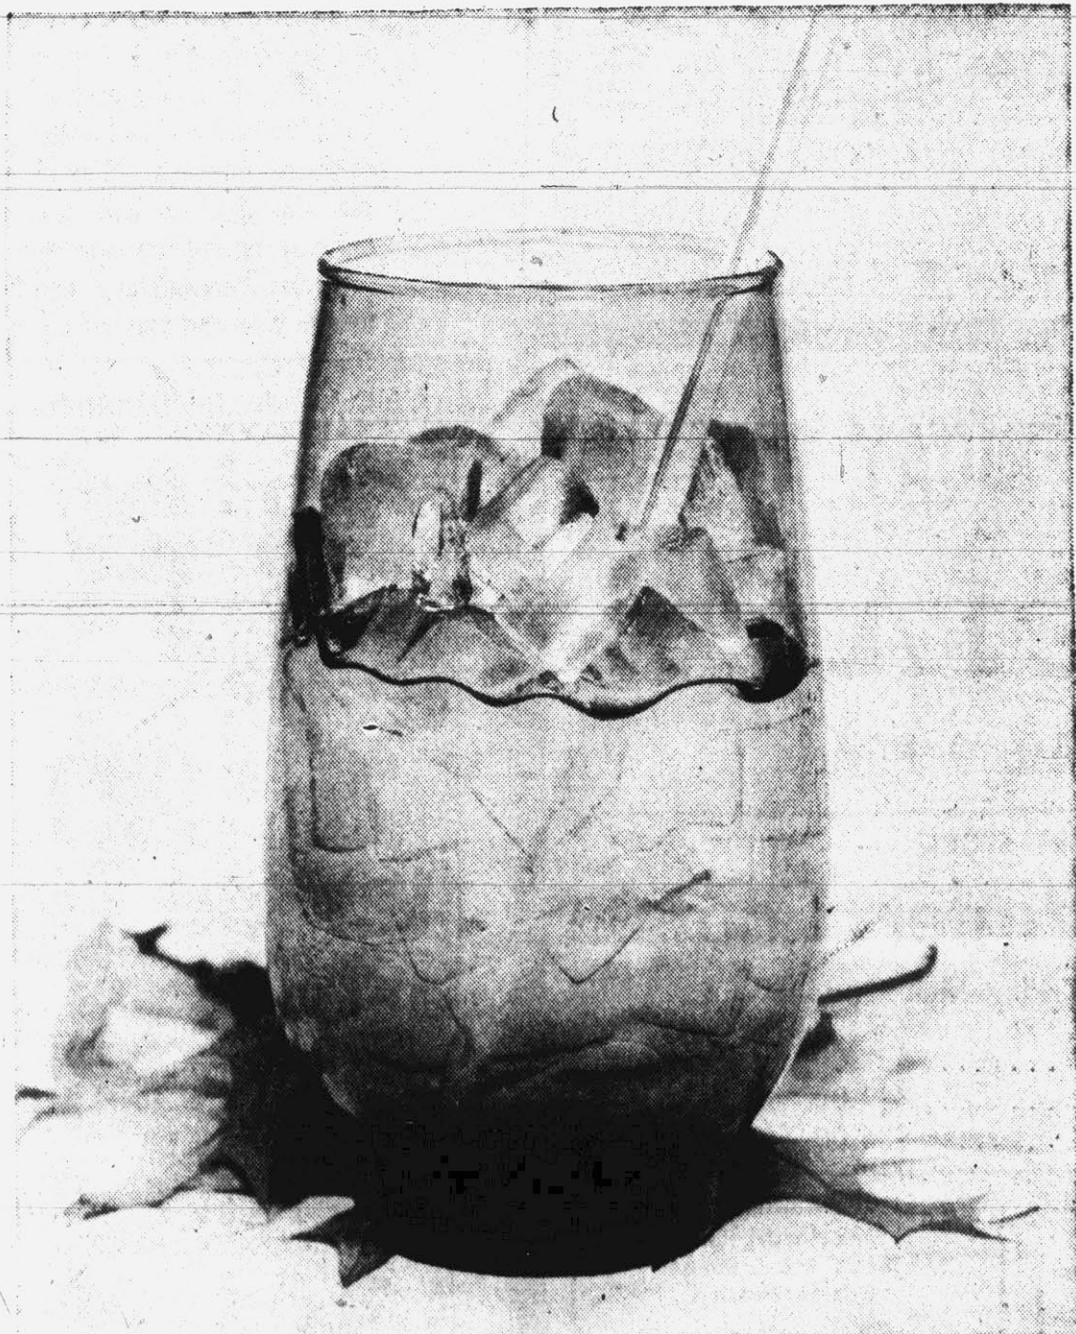

Huffine's arm out of the way, the officer said.

Police Capt. A. J. Lewis told the court Davis "grabbed me and snatched me around and told me to leave the camera alone."

Davis told the court he placed his hand "with some emphasis" on Lewis's arm, but that he did not turn him around. His purpose he indicated, was not to assault but to protect his equipment.

Woody's Ramblin's

It hardly seems right. This is the first weekend of the year when high school football hasn't been on the scene.

The colleges, however, are still at it, and it's getting harder and harder to pick a winner in some of these games.

East Carolina's Pirates travel to Huntington, W. Va., to meet Marshall. A couple of weeks ago, Marshall was bearing down on a new major college winless streak.

Then, suddenly, on the verge of the new school record, Marshall came to life, beating Bowling Green. The next week, they did it again, with Kent State their victim.

The Herd is sky-high. The pirates are in the doldrums after losing to Davidson after leading 27-0 late in the first half.

Marshall has the momentum, and would like to keep its string going. The Bucs are fighting for their lives.

The Citadel plays host to Furman University. The Bulldogs are tough, and the Paladins are only palid.

Davidson plays host to tenacious Wofford in a non-conference fight. The Bulldogs have been tough and are among the best small-college teams in the country.

Richmond travels over to neighboring West Virginia to do battle with the former Southern Conference Mountaineers.

VMI takes its winless Keydets up to Massachusetts to meet Boston College.

William & Mary takes on Villanova. The Wildcats are having one of their better years, while the Indians have been up and down.

Picks in the Atlantic Coast Conference include North Carolina over Clemson, Virginia Tech over Duke.

Elsewhere it'll be Stanford over the Air Force, Syracuse over Navy, Tennessee over Mississippi.

Season's record: 122 right, 51 wrong, 70.5 per cent.

William & Mary Just Hopes To Break Even

Unlike some other Southern Conference football teams, William and Mary won't be trying to do anything historic or nationally shocking Saturday.

W&M, 3-5 for the season, plays at Villanova. And, mainly what is at stake is a chance at a break-even season that would put new coach Lou Holtz in some highly exclusive conference company.

Only twice in this decade has an SC coach produced anything other than a loser in his first year as coach.

Smith's Davidson Wildcats will be the club trying to make history Saturday. The Cats, 7-1, are at home to Wofford and by winning can become the first Davidson team ever to capture as many as eight games.

Richmond's Spiders, 5-3, are the team that will essay a national football shocker.

Other Saturday action includes an intraconference bout between The Citadel, 3-2 in SC play, 6-2 over-all, and lowly Furman, 0-3, 1-5-1, Charleston, S.C. A victory would assure The Citadel's Bulldogs their finest record since the '73 season of 1961.

Remaining games, both involving certain losers for the season, find East Carolina, 2-5, at Marshall University and winless VMI, 0-8, at Boston College.

W&M's game at Villanova will mark the Indians' second visit of the season to the Philadelphia area, and Holtz hopes it's a successful as the first one on Sept. 27. That time, the Indians pre-

ECU Gridders Hit The Road For Game Filled With Desire

East Carolina University travels to Huntington, West Virginia, Saturday to meet Marshall University. It is a game filled with desire.

Neither team has been impressive in its ability to win this year. East Carolina comes into the game with a 2-5 record, assured of a losing year.

East Carolina has stopped Marshall for the past two years by good margins. But this year, the story might be different.

The Pirate defense has been faulty against a passing attack, and Marshall has used the air route to make 13 of its touchdowns this year, more than half of its total.

They have increased their touchdown production in their two wins, scoring 21 and 31 points in the last two games.

Marshall has the momentum, and would like to keep its string going. The Bucs are fighting for their lives.

Marshall has the momentum, and would like to keep its string going. The Bucs are fighting for their lives.

Vacation's End For Wolfpack In Houston Tilt

The vacation's over for the North Carolina State University football team which now must meet Houston, which leads the nation in total offense.

After a two-week rest, the Wolfpack plays Houston Saturday in Raleigh.

Houston led the nation in scoring last year, outgaining even professional football teams with their 562 yards per game in total offense.

And this year the Cougars have swept to five straight victories, averaging 43.6 points a game. They only got going, however, after losing their first two.

Houston leads in total offense with an average of 520 yards a game. Last Saturday against Tusa the Cougars ran up 348 yards rushing and 179 passing to capture a 47-14 victory.

North Carolina State stands 3-2-1 in the Atlantic Coast Conference and 3-3-1 for the season. The Wolfpack has the second best-rated defense in the ACC, but the question is whether it can stop Houston.

In the league, South Carolina tries to cement at least a tie for the championship when it takes on Wake Forest in Winston-Salem. The Gamecocks are 4-0 in ACC play and 5-3 over all.

Wake Forest has won only two league games while losing four. The Deacons have won one lost one in nonconference play.

Clemson travels to Chapel Hill to take on the North Carolina Tar Heels. The Clemson Tigers, 3-1 in the conference, can tie for the crown or win it outright if they beat North Carolina Saturday and South Carolina the following Saturday.

Clemson fell to Duke 34-27 last week.

Duke travels to Norfolk, Va., for an Oyster Bowl appearance against Virginia Tech. The Blue Devils stand 2-3-1 in ACC games and 2-5-1 overall.

Virginia, 1-4 in the ACC, travels to New Orleans to meet Tulane. And Maryland moves north for a game with fifth-ranked Penn State. The Terps are 2-3 in ACC games, 2-6 for the season.

Green to two and Kent State to three.

"They have a fairly good passing game," East Carolina Coach Clarence Stasavich said, "but I don't feel this is the best part of their game."

"They have a fine passer in Ted Shoebridge, a sophomore. He has thrown eight touchdown passes," Stasavich said.

Chief targets for Shoebridge, and alternate quarterback Bob Harris, are the two ends and the tailback, Dennis Blevins, the split end is very fast, according to the coach, and has 19 receptions for five touchdowns.

Larry Carter, the tight end, leads in receptions with 38 for 442 yards, while tailback John Hurst has 33 catches and two touchdowns.

The team's fullback, Dickie

Carter, is averaging about four yards per carry, as is Hurst, whom Stasavich rates as a fine athlete and a quick, hard runner.

Showbridge has picked up 145 yards rushing, so he has the ability to run with the ball when he can't find a receiver.

"The Herd's line is strong, according to Stasavich, but does not have any real big men."

"They average about 215. Their defense has some who run up to around 230, but their biggest men are actually their backs."

"Their secondary is big, but people have been able to throw on them quite a bit," Stasavich said, "but they also run well against them too."

yards, while giving up 1,528 on the ground through seven games.

Their defense is similar to the 4-4 run by Davidson. "If our line blocks like it can, we can move the ball against them," the coach said.

Injuries may not cause too many problems for the Bucs. Stu Garrett, the safety, will delinbacker Danny Wilmer and guard Worth Springs may be ready to play.

"I feel the game will be a rather close one," Stasavich said. "We are pretty evenly matched. I think the team that makes its breaks will be the one to take it."

Stasavich pointed out that the Bucs got a lot of yardage passing on Marshall last year, and that the Bucs may do more passing in the game. But the key to the win may well be the defense. "It's certainly going to have a big bearing on how well we do."

The probable starting offensive lineup for the Bucs will have Fred Harris and Richard Corrada at ends, John Rowe and Grover Truslow at tackles, Butch Britton and Worth Springs at guards, Terry Edmundson at center, Butch Colson at fullback, Tim Ilderton at blocking back, Billy Wightman at tailback, and William Mitchell at wingback.

The defensive lineup will have Monty Kiernan and Roger Boat at ends, Tim Tyler and George Wheeler at tackles, Jim Gudger at middle guard, Danny Wilmer and Billy Wallace at linebackers, Mike Boaz at rover, George Whitley and Rusty Scales at halfbacks and Mike Mills at safety.

Game time is set for 1:30 p.m.

N. C. Senior Golf Ass'n Tourney Being Played Here This Weekend

The Greenville Golf and Country Club will play host to the 1969 season's final North Carolina Senior Golf Association tournament here this weekend.

Some 120 golfers are expected to tee off Saturday morning toward tournament and season honors. Prizes will be awarded following the second round of play on Sunday.

The tournament is conducted in three flights, A, B, and C, each based on age, rather than handicap or score. Prizes are awarded to the winner in each age group for gross and net scores.

Among those entered in the field are Irving Hogan of Burlington, Hal Veazey of Ahsokie, Paul Tillery of Raleigh, Hugh Daley of Rocky Mount and Jack Norman of Winston-Salem, all winners of NCSGA tournaments this year. In addition, Gen Goodes of Reidsville is expected to be a prime contender for the overall gross championship which he has won the last two years and, if successful, he could retire the present trophy. Jack Norman had retired the previous trophy by winning in 1964 through 1966.

The yearly gross championship of the NCSGA is determined by our 18-hole scores, two from this final tournament plus the two lowest from previous events in this year's schedule. The yearly net champion is determined in the same manner except net scores are used. Gross and net champions in each age group are selected by this method and then the lowest of the age group winners are declared the overall champions.

At the same time, new officers of the organization will be elected, and new by-laws come up for consideration.

Social activities, as usual, will include bridge for the ladies on Saturday morning and a social hour and dinner for the golfers and their ladies on Saturday night at the Country Club.

Among local entries in the tournament are Reynolds May, Dr. Ed Carter and Erceel Webb. Mr. and Mrs. May and Dr. and Mrs. Carter are serving as hosts or the tournament.

Present Bust Of Helen Keller

A BRONZE PORTRAIT of Helen Keller by American sculptor Jo Davidson, being presented to the Gallery for the Blind in Raleigh tonight. (Photo N.C. State Museum of Art)

RALEIGH—A bronze bust of Helen Keller, famed humanitarian who learned to overcome blindness and other handicaps to become a great beloved teacher, lecturer and inspiration to all Americans, will be presented to the Mary Duke Biddle Gallery for the Blind at the North Carolina Museum of Art tonight during ceremonies marking the opening of expanded facilities of the Gallery.

The bust is the work of the late Jo Davidson, an outstanding American sculptor. The bust was cast in two copies. The copy being presented tonight is the gift of Mrs. Oak Finch of Thomasville, the Sarah Graham Kenan Foundation, the Marjorie McCune Fund, and the Museum Purchase Fund. The other of the two busts has been acquired by the National Portrait Gallery of Washington, D. C.

"It certainly is most appropriate for the Gallery, considering the importance of Helen Keller's outstanding example for the handicapped," states Charles Stanford, originator and director of the Gallery for the Blind.

Davidson, who died in 1932, is famous for his busts and full length sculptures of Gandhi, Franklin D. Roosevelt, General Pershing, Bernard Shaw, Walt Whitman, Gertrude Stein, Tito and other noted personalities of the world who lived in the first half of the 20th century.

Speakers at tonight's opening at 8:30 will include Governor Bob Scott and Miss Mary Switzer of HEW.

Bob Hope Opines TV News Rigged

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Comedian Bob Hope says network reporters in Vietnam "are looking for provocative clips that will show on television" and "a lot of times they rig them."

Hope, roused by a nationally televised NBC news film last week which he said indicated Negro GIs in Vietnam are treated differently from white soldiers, declared at a news conference:

"This kind of thing could cause censorship, you know. They're taking a hard look at this in Washington today."

Will Help Make Education Film

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Television personality Art Linkletter says he will help Los Angeles County make an educational film to warn high school students of the dangers of narcotics.

"I am no expert on legislation or enforcement of law," he said at a Thursday news conference announcing his plans, "but I think I can be most useful in education and aiding young people to face up to the abrasive aspects."

Quick Warning Anticipated If A-Bomb Needed

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — British sources say that if a Soviet invasion of Western Europe forced NATO to use nuclear weapons, the enemy probably would get a quick warning and then be hit by a limited number of atomic blasts.

This limited battlefield salvo, which might be ordered if the allies were unable to hold front lines, would be designed to "restore the credibility" of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization deterrent power.

The warning—possibly in the form of a "hot line" telephone call from the United States to the Soviet Union—would make it clear the allies were not launching all-out nuclear war.

These possibilities were discussed by British sources late Thursday after NATO defense ministers reported they have worked out new "political guidelines" and consultation procedures on the use of nuclear weapons.

The development came in a two-day nuclear planning meeting attended by U.S. Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, Britain's Defense Minister Denis Healy, West Germany's Defense Minister Helmut Schmidt and representatives of Italy, Turkey, Belgium and Denmark. The British sources said that in the past NATO military planners assumed allied nuclear retaliation would involve the firing of hundreds of atomic weapons.

The new rules were portrayed as providing increased flexibility in the event of a Soviet move against, say, West Germany.

The British sources said the nuclear planners have long sought a position where NATO would be able to use nuclear weapons without being drawn into a full-scale strategic exchange.

West Germany's Schmidt firmly denied in a Thursday news conference the guidelines mean the alliance is placing greater reliance on nuclear weapons.

Britain's Healy, on the other hand, has contended in the past the reduction of American troops in Europe necessarily lowers the "nuclear threshold" line of attack.

Schmidt praised a second paper developed by the defense ministers as of "greater importance" because it laid out for the first time detailed procedures before actually launching nuclear fire.

Both the guidelines and the procedures will be put up for full NATO approval next December in Brussels, Belgium.

Agnew Backed, 3 To 1, By Callers Wanting More Objective TV News

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thousands of persons telephoned television stations in response to Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's challenge to "let the networks know that they want their news straight and objective." Not all agreed with his criticism of broadcast news.

A random survey of 21 radio and television stations across the county that tabulated the calls they received Thursday night showed Agnew was backed by nearly 3 to 1. Calls supporting his criticism totaled 3,296 to 1,389 calls opposed. In his speech at Des Moines, Iowa, the vice president said that the networks allow commentators, newscasters to give a highly selective and often biased picture of the news.

Calls favoring the vice president were reported by the stations to include such comments as, "Amen, it's about time," "We're behind him," and "His speech was the best I've heard in five years."

Opposing views were reported to include such comments as "Who's paying for his air time?" and "I don't like to hear a grown man cry."

A number of the calls opposing the speech criticized the three national networks for carrying the entire speech live instead of the regularly scheduled programs. Likewise, some of the calls favoring the criticism attacked their local stations for failing to present the speech live.

Many stations reported a heavy telephone response from the viewers, beginning before Agnew finished his speech.

In Oklahoma City, a switchboard operator at WKY-TV reported, "We got 350 calls, all praising Agnew to the sky. One said, 'Oh, Lord, you are wonderful. He said just what I've been thinking for years.' There were two against him."

WFAA-TV, the American Broadcasting Company affiliate in Dallas, Tex., reported 231 calls approving the speech and two against it. "I'm 100 per cent behind the vice president and I think the news media is responsible for all our troubles," one caller said.

WBAP-TV, the NATION Broadcasting Co. affiliate in Fort Worth, Tex., which also serves Dallas, said there were 125 calls for Agnew's speech and 10 against.

In Dallas, KRLD-TV, the Columbia Broadcasting System affiliate, reported almost 300 calls—all supporting Agnew—in the first two hours after the speech. KYW-TV, the NBC affiliate in Philadelphia, said the phones started ringing in the middle of Agnew's speech and the ringing was continuous for hours. The station said it received 500 calls, about evenly divided.

WFIE-TV in Evansville, Ind., reported about 300 calls, evenly divided, and WANE-TV in Fort Wayne, Ind., which did not carry the speech, got about 20 calls charging the station with censorship.

Realtors Elect Board At Meet

Joe Bowen was elected president of the Greenville-Pitt Board of Realtors for the coming year at the group's monthly meeting Monday at the Greenville Golf and Country Club.

Other officers named include: Kenneth Branch, vice president; and James Moye, treasurer. W. H. Wheelless of Moore, Inc., was elected to full realtor membership.

The 1969 accomplishments of the board were outlined by outgoing President Jack Wallace. Wallace reported the membership had increased 33 per cent for the year and is the largest percentage of membership increase of any board of realtors in the state. Other accomplishments included the selection of a realtor of the year for the first time and the beginning of a Multiple Listings System. The new officers of the board will be installed at the next meeting to be held in December.

Charges Dropped Against Student

CHAPEL HILL, (AP) — Charges were dismissed Thursday night against a University of North Carolina student legislator accused of calling committee meetings on moratorium day Oct. 15 "to intimidate" other members.

The charges had been brought against Hugh Joseph Beard, a second year law student from Larchmont, N. Y., chairman of the Student Legislative Rules Committee.

Impeachment proceedings against him were submitted to the Student Legislature.

Lewis Niles Black, a senior from Silver Spring, Md., had accused Beard of calling three separate meetings of the rules committee Oct. 15 "to intimidate and harass" members who had planned to take part in moratorium activities.

Theft Of Safe Is Investigated

Pitt County sheriff officials are investigating a break-in and theft of a safe that occurred Monday at the residence of W. G. McLawhorn on Rt. 1, Grifton.

Sheriff Ralph Tyson said that McLawhorn reported the theft upon returning to his home Monday afternoon from Durham. Entrance to the house was gained through the back door, Tyson added, and the safe was rolled out onto the porch and transferred into a vehicle.

Also under investigation are reports of four stereo tape players and two hub caps being stolen from cars of employees at Empire Brush on the Bethel highway. The thefts occurred on Monday night, Tyson said, as employees worked on the night shift at the factory.

Similar thefts at the Prep Shirt factory has resulted in the recovery of two tape decks and the arrest of a Rt. 6, Greenville man in connection with the thefts.

Tyson said that Christopher C. Jones, 17-year-old Negro youth, was arrested following the thefts at Prep Shirt. Trial for Jones has been set for Wednesday in Greenville, he added.

Investigations are continuing on the thefts, Tyson reported.

HER WINDOW

The Bennetts live here. That's Grandmother Bennett's Bible on the window sill, and the whole family goes to the church across the snow covered field.

John Bennett works in the local bank. Martha, his wife, is president of the YTA, and they have three lovely children. Grandmother Bennett has been living with them for the past couple of years, since she broke her hip. She can't always get to church in wintertime and that's why she calls this her window. When she can't be in church, it helps to be able to see it.

To her, the church steeple represents a great many things, and brings back many memories. Her son was married in that church. Her husband was buried from it. Her grandchildren were christened in it.

The Church has helped her to bear grief, to hours of sorrow; and it has seemed to put a benediction upon her happiness, in times of joy. Most important of all, whatever the occasion, whatever the crisis... the Church has always been there.

To Grandmother Bennett, the most comforting thing in the world is knowing that it always will be there.

One Nematode Makes, Consumes Its Own Alcohol

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP)—A specialist on research into habits of the nematode, a tiny soil organism, says he's found one species that has learned to make and consume its own alcohol.

The result: apparently a longer life span.

Alan Forbes Cooper Jr., a research assistant at the University of California at Riverside, said this nematode—called "Alphelenchus Avenue"—manufactures alcohol when it is under stress due to lack of oxygen. It then goes into a state of suspended animation and can seemingly live forever.

Upon coming out of this state, it consumes the alcohol.

The nematode is less than a hair wide and one-sixteenth of a millimeter long.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA) — North Carolina egg markets steady to stronger Thursday, supplies barely adequate, demand good. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets: Grade A large whites: 64 1/2 to 65; medium whites: 62 to 63; small whites: 55 to 56.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA) — North Carolina hog markets today were mostly steady with instances of 26. Tops of 25.50 to 26 at Siler City, and Denton; 25.50 to 25.75 at Wilson, 25.25 to 25.75 at Rocky Mount; 24.50 to 25.50 at Tarboro and Bethel; 24.25 to 25.25 at Kinston, New Bern, Benson, Newton Grove, Albertson and Lumberton; 24.25 to 25.25 and 26.00 at Salisbury and Mount Olive; and 25.75 at Greensboro.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA) — The North Carolina poultry market today was mostly steady with supplies fully average for a no better than fair demand. Weights are heavy at some points. Live at farm base evaluation on broilers and fryers today 12 to 13, mostly 13 cents, per pound. Hens market firm on heavy type and steady on lighter weights. Demand good and heavy hens at farm 19 and five to six pounds at farm 12 and light type at farm nine.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued in its losing rut this afternoon as declines outpulled advances by a better than 2-to-1 margin in fairly active trading. "The prime-rate increase scare is still helping to bring the market down," commented Eldon Grimm, senior vice president of Walston & Co. "With general business activity slackening off, there should be no basis for higher interest rates."

"However, the market is still marking time waiting for some new stimulus," he added. Other negative factors hanging over the market was investor caution over the scheduled antiwar demonstration in Washington Saturday, a streak of tax-loss switching, and some investor discouragement over the apparent stubbornness of the nation's economy in slowing down. The Dow Jones industrial average at noon slipped to 846.55 off 3.30.

The purpose of the meeting is to announce officially the launching of the 1969-70 Fund-raising Campaign by the Pitt County area Aggies. W. H. Gamble of A.&T. J. Brown is Fund Raising chairman.

Few File Claim To Land Titles

RALEIGH (AP) — Thirty petitions have been filed by persons claiming ownership of only 6,650 acres of North Carolina's vast amount of salt marshes and coastal river bottoms. Legislation was enacted by the 1967 General Assembly require all persons who claim they hold legal titles to estuarine land to file their claims with state officials by Jan. 1, 1970. Failure to do so will forfeit titles to the states.

Might Have To Reveal Secrets

WASHINGTON (AP) — When the nuclear arms-control talks with the Soviet Union open in Helsinki, Finland, Monday, the United States might have to lift the veil on some military secrets in order to achieve what Secretary of State William P. Rogers calls a "balanced strategy of security."

"The talks themselves will require discussion of military matters by both sides in which the veil of secrecy will have to be, if not lifted, at least refashioned," Rogers told a group of retired diplomatic and counselor officers Thursday night. Rogers would not predict the U.S. Soviet talks—plans for which were originated under former President Lyndon B. Johnson—would signal an end to the nuclear arms race. But he did list three U.S. objectives for the discussions: —Limitations on the deployment of strategic arms by both the United States and the Soviet Union as a means of order to "enhance international security."

—Halting of the upward spiral of strategic arms in order to avoid tensions, uncertainties and excess costs. —A reduction of the outbreak of nuclear war through a dialogue concerning issues arising from the strategic situation.

Children's Home Singers Will Be Visiting Church

A musical service will be presented by The Falcon Childrens Home Singers, of Falcon at the First Pentecostal Holiness Church of Greenville on Sunday at 7 o'clock. Accompanying the concert class to Greenville will be the Rev. W. Eddie Morris, superintendent of the Childrens Home. Mrs. Morris will direct the musical portion of the evening service.

The Falcon Childrens Home is a child-caring institution owned and operated by the Pentecostal Holiness Church, but it has provided a home for children from a wide area outside the denomination. Chartered in 1909, it operates under regulations of the North Carolina Department of Social Services.

Three Injured In Road Accident

Three persons were reported injured in an 8:15 a.m. mishap today at Worthington's Cross Roads three miles east of Winterville. Investigating Highway Patrolman C. H. Ennis identified the drivers of the two vehicles; involved as William Amos Haddock, 18, of Route 1, Winterville, who was charged with failing to yield the right of way at the intersection, and Jasper Lee Haddock, 61, of Route 2, Greenville. Trooper Ennis said Jasper Lee Haddock and two passengers in the William Haddock car were taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital by the Greenville Rescue Squad for treatment of injuries they received in the collision. Damage was set at $1,000 to the William Haddock car and $700 to the Jasper Haddock truck.

School Board Policies Endorsed By Teachers

A large majority — 59 of 67—full time teachers at Rose High School today signed a statement giving full support to the policies of Greenville's city school board, school superintendent and the principal of Rose.

Claude West, a teacher at Rose and spokesman for the group who signed, comments: "This statement represents our wholehearted endorsement of the policies of the school board, the superintendent and the principal, especially with reference to actions which they have taken since the incident at Rose."

West also stated that two or three additional teachers could not be contacted for an opportunity to sign the statement, "However, I don't want to imply this is totally unanimous, because that is not the case," he stated. It is apparent that the statement is signed by both Negro and white teachers, as 19 of the teachers at Rose are Negro teachers.

The statement signed by the 59 teachers read: "We, the following teachers of J. H. Rose High School, Greenville, N.C., have the understanding that there is a possibility that a restraining order may be issued prohibiting the suspension and expulsion of students, regardless of race, color or creed, who create disciplinary disturbances at the school. If this action is taken, we feel it will be impossible to maintain an atmosphere conducive to effective education. We hereby strongly recommend that careful consideration be given this matter in the interest that there may be unwillingness on the part of teachers to continue in a situation dangerous to professional personnel and innocent students."

A hearing is being held tomorrow at the U. S. District

Voters Opposed Sex Education

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — Voters in this Detroit suburb Dearborn came out 2-1 against public school sex education in an advisory referendum Thursday. The question, which has no binding effect on the school board, had 13,208 voters opposed to sex education and 6,632 voters supporting such classes.

Accidentally Shot In Foot

Seventeen-year-old Linwood Earl Crandall was accidentally shot in the foot with a .22-calibre rifle yesterday. Police investigators, called when Crandall went to Pitt Memorial Hospital for treatment of the injury, quoted Crandall as saying the rifle discharged when a coat became hung on the trigger of the rifle.

The incident allegedly occurred at Crandall's 914 Legion St. home, about 4:49 p.m.

Second Lawman Dies Of Wounds

CHICAGO (AP) — A second policeman died today of wounds suffered Thursday in a South Side gun battle between police and some members of the Black Panther party.

Patrolman John Gilhooly, 21, paralyzed from four gunshot wounds in the face and neck, died in Billings Hospital. Seven others, six of them policemen, were wounded in the shooting which also claimed the life of patrolman Francis G. Rappaport, 36.

Rappaport's alleged assailant, Sergeant J. Winters, 19, was shot and killed by other policemen who told of seeing Winters shoot Rappaport in the face with a shotgun as the patrolman lay wounded on a sidewalk. Another youth, Lawrence Bell, 20, was wounded as he attempted to flee the building from which shots were being fired at police. Authorities said both Winters and Bell were members of the Black Panther party, but it was not known if the shootings were connected with any Panther activity.
