Suspect Big 'Committed' To Soviet Bid 'Blew Up' Improved Roads

WASHINGTON (AP) — The explosion of a huge Soviet rocket on its launch pad may have set Russian efforts to land a man on the moon back two years and crippled its manned space program, an aerospace magazine says.

Aviation Week & Space Technology Magazine reported Monday the explosion last summer at Tyuratam destroyed the rocket the Soviets had intended to carry the main portion of a manned orbiting platform into space last month.

The magazine quoted Mstislav V. Keldysh, president of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, as saying the Soviet Union would concentrate its 1970 space efforts on scientific satellites orbiting the earth and unmanned planetary spacecraft.

It described the three-vessel launch by the Soviets last month as relatively unproductive, serving primarily to keep the Soviet technical team in practice.

OK Freight Rate Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission has approved a 6 per cent increase in the nation's railroad freight rates, despite the ICC chairman's contention the boost is inflationary and unnecessary.

By a 6-3 vote, the commission allowed the rate hike—the third for the railroads in three years—to go into effect today.

But the majority conditioned its decision by saying the increase would be subject to a subsequent investigation shows the rate increase was not needed.

ICC Chairman Virginia Mae Brown, in dissent, noted that the railroads were seeking $600 million on top of about $860 million in annual revenue granted in two previous increases since May 18, 1967.

"To consider this third requested increase . . . as an emergency," Mrs. Brown said, "taxes both credibility and logic."

Fact-Finding On 5 Is Completed

The fact-finding hearing concerning the five expelled students of Rose High School was completed at 10:00 p.m. Monday night.

At the termination of the hearing, immediate work began on the transcripts of each case. These are being delivered today to Judge Larkins in Elizabeth City, where he is conducting court.

Attorney W.W. Speight stated it is expected that Judge Larkins will announce a decision on Wednesday regarding the request by the five students for a preliminary restraining order.

The hearing, ordered by federal Judge John Larkins on Saturday, began at 3:00 p.m. in the office of the City School Administration. Each of the five cases were considered individually, with counsel for both the students and the city schools present.

Attorneys for the students cross-examined all witnesses for the school (the defendants) as they were presented. After evidence was presented, each of the five students were given an opportunity to be heard. All refused to be heard or to testify. No evidence was presented at the hearing in their behalf.

The panel presenting the school's case consisted of superintendent Dr. Clet C. Cleetwood, Rose High principal Edward Warren, and assistant principals David A. Barnhill and T.S. Whitney.

Attorneys Jerry Paul and James Ferguson attended the hearing as counsel for the students. W.W. Speight and William Brewer, Jr. represented the city school administration. Because of the length of the hearing, the regular monthly meeting of the City School Board of Education was postponed. This meeting will be held tonight at 8:00 p.m.

Had Private Talks On Arms Race

By LEWIS GULICK
Associated Press Writer
HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — Awash with conviviality, U.S. and Soviet negotiators began private talks today to search out prospects for an accord to curb the nuclear arms race.

U.S. Ambassador Gerard C. Smith, Soviet delegate Vladimir S. Semenov and their advisers met at the American Embassy to begin working out arrangements for substantive negotiations. These preliminary discussions behind closed doors are expected to last several weeks.

The meeting today lasted an hour and a half, and Smith afterward told newsmen only that they would meet again "pretty soon." He refused to say when.

Semenov had nothing to say to newsmen as he left the embassy.

Whether or not the envoys ever get beyond the preliminary round, the sendoff for SALT—Strategic Arms Limitation Talks—is being bathed in official good will and cordiality.

After the formal, champagne-sipping public opening Monday, Finnish Foreign Minister Ahti Karjalainen entertained the diplomats at a reception.

Finnish President Urho Kekkonen is the host for today's reception. And Wednesday—for the first time in history, U.S. officials here believe—the U.S. and Soviet delegates are giving a joint party.

At Monday night's affair, Smith told newsmen the talks had "started well." Semenov termed the opening session "very fine" and predicted that would apply to today's meeting too.

However, the negotiators gave no specifics. Both sides have agreed to keep tight secrecy on the substance of the discussions while they are under way.

The envoys have agreed to alternate meetings between the American and Soviet embassies, but how often they will convene is still undecided. The Russians favor daily sessions. The Americans prefer parleys on alternate days, contending this gives time for better preparation.

'Shipshape' In Final Checkout Apollo 12 Orbits Moon; All 'Go' For Landing

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Circling the moon in perfect orbit, Apollo 12's explorers inspected their landing craft today and declared it "shipshape" for a daring bullseye landing on the craggy surface early Wednesday.

Charles Conrad Jr. and Alan L. Bean slipped through a connecting tunnel into the fragile lander they call Intrepid, leaving Richard F. Gordon Jr. alone in the command ship Yankee Clipper.

After an 80-minute check, Bean reported: "We've checked out all the things we're supposed to have and they're all shipshape. We're ready to go."

Conrad and Bean hope to set Intrepid down precisely in a 400-foot-wide circle in the Ocean of Storms on the western side of the moon's visible face at 1:53 a.m. EST Wednesday. Their goal is the first detailed scientific exploration of the lunar surface.

Conrad and Bean inspected the landing craft six hours after Apollo 12 swept into lunar orbit which prompted outbursts of awe and enthusiasm from all three as they gazed at the wild and wondrous landscape below.

"Wowee!" Bean shouted Monday night. "Boy it's beautiful down there. Look at that crater."

Through color television, the astronauts shared their magnificent view with earthlings a quarter-million-miles away.

The 30-minute telecast followed the course of Apollo 12 as it moved across a narrow band, moving from east to west. Large and small craters, rugged mountains and flat plains were visible as the camera panned across the desolate landscape.

"Even in earth orbit at night or in the daytime, the sky was never as black as it is here," Conrad reported. "This is the blackest black I ever saw."

For Conrad and Bean the view from 70 miles high was a preview for their attempt to land on the eastern shore of the Ocean of Storms.

They are to separate the landing craft Intrepid from the command ship Yankee Clipper at 11:16 p.m. tonight. For more than 2½ hours they will keep the world in suspense as they execute maneuvers on the dangerous and difficult descent.

Their goal is a pinpoint landing near an unnamed crater, an area described by Conrad before the flight as "gently rolling, pocked with small craters, but relatively smooth."

The astronauts have dubbed the landing target "Pete's Parking Lot" because it is Conrad, the Apollo 12 commander, who must steer Intrepid to the touchdown.

Using new procedures, the astronauts hope to overcome the four-mile landing error of Apollo 11 last July and park close to a 600-foot-wide crater which is the home of an unmanned Surveyor spacecraft which soft-landed on the moon 2½ years ago.

The stage was set for man's second attempt to land on the moon at 10:47 p.m. Monday night when Conrad, Gordon and Bean triggered Yankee Clipper's big engine on the lunar backside and swept into an initial orbit ranging from 72 to 194 miles above the surface.

It wasn't until 18 minutes later, when Apollo 12 reappeared around the edge of the moon, that orbit was confirmed.

Conrad's voice broke the silence. "Yankee Clipper with Intrepid in tow has arrived on time."

"I guess that like everyone else who has just arrived, the three of us are plastered to the windows just looking," he added. "For naval troops, it doesn't look like a very good place to pull liberty, though."

Heavy Losses Said Inflicted On N. Vietnam

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese forces today claimed 273 North Vietnamese killed in two battles in the Bu Prang-Duc Lap area of the central highlands. U.S. artillery and planes did most of the killing.

The heaviest fighting was two miles east of Bu Prang, where 243 enemy were reported killed. Informants said South Vietnamese casualties in the day-long battle Monday were only 11 wounded because each time the government troops met stiff resistance, they pulled back and called on American aircraft and artillery.

The government claim of 243 North Vietnamese killed was somewhat suspect. A search after the battle turned up only six weapons and aerial observers counted some of the enemy dead.

In the other battle, five miles south of Duc Lap, 30 North Vietnamese were killed while South Vietnamese casualties were seven killed and 11 wounded.

Government forces sweeping the battlefield at Bu Prang reported finding some bodies of North Vietnamese soldiers chained to trees and to each other to keep them from retreating under the onslaught of American firepower. There have been similar reports in the past.

The fighting was touched off when a battalion of 400 South Vietnamese infantrymen on a sweep outside the camp's perimeter came under fire from a woodline.

The government soldiers withdrew after a heavy exchange of rifle and machine-gun fire, and more than 20 U.S. F4 and F100 fighter-bombers raked the North Vietnamese troops with bombs, napalm and rockets less than a mile east of the camp perimeter. Some of the North Vietnamese force, estimated at 800 men, were caught in the open.

Shortly before dusk the bombardment eased and the South Vietnamese infantrymen again went into the area. Again they encountered stiff resistance, again they pulled back, and the fighter-bombers renewed their attacks in after-dark raids, guided by the light of napalm fires still burning from the earlier strikes.

The North Vietnamese shelled the Bu Prang camp twice today, once at dawn with 40 mortar rounds, then at midmorning with 12 rounds of artillery fired from across the border in Cambodia.

One south Vietnamese soldier was killed and seven government troops and two American advisers were wounded.

Joseph Kennedy Loses Struggle

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) — Joseph Patrick Kennedy, patriarch of an ill-starred American political dynasty, died today, losing an eight-year struggle for life. He was 81.

In a brief announcement from the Kennedy family compound on Cape Cod overlooking Nantucket Sound, a family spokesman said death came at 11:05 a.m. (EST).

His wife Rose and other members of the family were with him at the time, the spokesman said.

A financier and one of the nation's wealthiest men, Kennedy had been partially paralyzed since suffering a stroke in Palm Beach, Fla., on Dec. 19, 1961.

The former ambassador had suffered setbacks from time to time since then, and had been growing progressively weaker since sustaining a mild heart attack Saturday.

Dr. Robert D. Watt reported Kennedy had suffered a heart attack Saturday, the latest in a series of setbacks since he suffered a stroke in 1961. The doctor has been at the Kennedy family compound much of the time since Saturday.

Shriver, U.S. ambassador to France, flew here from Paris with his wife Eunice. Two other Kennedy daughters, Patricia Lawford and Mrs. Stephen Smith, arrived Sunday. Smith accompanied his wife.

Two Kennedy daughters-in-law, Ethel Kennedy, widow of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, and Jacqueline Onassis, arrived Monday. Mrs. Onassis was the wife of President John F. Kennedy.

Sen. Edward Kennedy, his wife Joan and two of their three children, Kara and Edward Jr., arrived Saturday.

The elder Kennedy was U.S. ambassador to Britain from 1938 to 1940.

Sentence 5 In Gun Theft

GOLDSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Five Negro students at St. Augustine College in Raleigh were sentenced Monday to jail terms of up to 10 years for the theft of 60 high-powered rifles and shotguns last March.

Four of the students, Herman Smith of Goldsboro, Herbert Ladson of Mount Pleasant, S.C., and Prentiss Lassiter and Dickie Overstreet both of Raleigh, received four to ten year terms.

The fifth, Clarence Harris of Raleigh, was sentenced to five to ten years. Harris was the only one with a previous arrest record.

Raleigh police Det. C. A. Watson testified Harris told him he was a dedicated member of the Black Panther movement. Agent Warren Campbell of the State Bureau of Investigation said Harris had predicted a revolution by blacks against whites.

Twenty-eight of the sixty guns were found, most in dormitories on the St. Augustine campus.

Grand Jury Is Divided

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — The newly empaneled Mobile County grand jury is equally divided by race and sex.

The jury contains nine Negroes and nine whites. Nine members are women, six Negro and three white, and nine are men, six white and three Negro.

Officials said the jury was drawn from the rolls at random.

STILL SKIRMISHING
NAHA, Okinawa (AP) — Small skirmishes between police and radical students continued here today following clashes last night at the U.S. Air Force's Big Kadena base.

Company's Safe Opened, Robbed

Robbers, in a pre-dawn raid, forced open a safe at the Hendrix-Barnhill Equipment Company on Memorial Drive here today and took several hundred dollars from the firm's safe.

Police said entrance to the building was gained by forcing open a front door. The thieves then went to work and ripped open the safe.

The theft was discovered by employees reporting for work this morning.

Investigation of the theft is underway.

Liberty Bell May Be Moved

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Liberty Bell, last moved from Independence Hall in 1777 because the British were coming, might be moved again because the tourists are coming.

Plans for the move were discussed Monday by Arthur Kaufman, chairman of the Independence National Park Advisory Committee, and Chester Brooks, superintendent of the federal park.

Although their plans differ, their motives are the same: to shift it to a site where more visitors can see it during the 1976 bicentennial celebration.

Highway Commission's Plans For City Outlined For Councilmen

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer
Robert L. Martin of Kimley-Horn and Associates, Inc., of Raleigh and M. R. Sproles and Marion R. Poole, representatives of the Planning and Research Department of the State Highway Commission, brought City Councilmen up to date last night on the thoroughfare planning studies currently underway.

The study being done by Martin is concerned with existing conditions and projected "efficient and safe movement of traffic" on the major thoroughfares of the city. Martin told councilmen that the study, started nearly two years ago, was not yet ready to reveal a plan for immediate improvement but indicated that another meeting in the very near future with councilmen for implementation schedules for improvements would be forthcoming.

The City of Greenville has a total of 49 signalized intersections, Martin said. Thirty of the 49 intersections are part of the state system. The remaining 19 city signals, Martin said, have been shown to be sub-standard.

Of the 49, 24 of the intersections are sub-standard, according to the study so far. Martin said that nine of the 24 sub-standard intersections are projected for improvements.

Martin said the study has shown that in 29 intersections of the city, five or more accidents occurred in 1968 and three or more in the first half of 1969. Much of the study has been involved with improvements on the Tenth Street-Dickinson Avenue intersection, Martin added.

Sproles told Councilmen that the survey report, presented last night in the form of an external origin and destination survey, was the first report in a series to come from the Planning and Research Department.

The study presented last night was based on 1968 figures, Sproles said. Included in the data gathered so far were results from an external traffic study which included the incorporated city of Greenville and surrounding urbanized areas and the internal study which included city street network, screen line counts and directional turning movements.

The state study revealed that one of the heaviest traveled routes in the study area was US 13-NC 11 bypassing the central business district to the west.

"From the US 264 bypass to Fifth Street, this route averaged over 10,000 vehicles per day," the study revealed. The US 264 bypass alone averages 8,000 to 9,000 vehicles per day from US 13 to the New Bern Highway (NC 43).

Dickinson Avenue from US 13 (Westend Circle) to Tenth Street is the city's most heavily traveled street carrying 12,500 vehicles per day, as of 1968 reports.

Poole said the plans, projected to the year 1995, would be sensitive to change in the event of industrial changes, such as the future opening of the Burroughs-Welcome plant and Becton-Dickerson.

The studies hopefully will provide the city with some answers to thoroughfare problems in the city. Among the areas of analysis covered in the study are review of future land use projection of travel desires to 1995, assignment of 1968 and 1995 traffic to existing major street system and existing thoroughfare plan, and preliminary cost estimates of proposed improvements.

Poole said recommendations will be made on construction priorities and traffic operations, as well as future parking space requirements.

Both the study underway by Martin and the state analysis by Sproles and Poole will be coordinated. Both studies will reveal to the other feasible recommendations and areas of improvements.

City manager Harry Hagerty expressed optimism that the studies would lead to future improvements on the thoroughfares in the city. Information gained so far has been valuable and precise, he said, and the possibility of action in the near future is foreseen.

Both study representatives said it would not be feasible to make recommendations at this time but that further work on the surveys would be presented to the city within the next two months.

Sproles is the planning and research engineer and Poole is the thoroughfare planning engineer for the state department.

Radio's Unforgettable: What Happened To Betty Crocker?

By Marcia Hayes

VICTORIA, British Columbia (WNS) — Whatever happened to Betty Crocker? Not the card board creation on the boxtop. Or the crackling voice behind the Noodles Romanoff. But that tall statuesque blonde with the warm voice and kind smile who portrayed the role on television and radio for 15 years?

Well brace yourself America's former First Lady on foods has gotten her Ph.D and moved to Canada.

For the first time in years, the blonde behind the boxtop is answering to the name Adelaide Hawley instead of Miss Crocker. The hemlines on her dresses have risen a few inches, her necklines are lower and no longer lace-fringed. And her writing arm is once again her own. She's abandoned the cramped, stylized script that she learned in order to duplicate the signature that appears on the boxtop. These days she's signing her own name to her student's papers in her speech class at the University of Victoria.

If this sounds like heresy to devotees of General Mills' products, it's time to break the news. No Virginia, there is no real Betty Crocker. She's a copywriter's creation, an ad-man's idea of what the Midwest thinks a perfect homemaker should be. During Miss Hawley's reign, this image was a kindly, middle-aged spinster, devoted to balanced diets, fluffy flour, and 2-egg cakes.

Strain

Playing the part was a bit of a strain for actresses, whose personalities tend to differ from this sort of image. And over the years, only two women have managed to corset themselves into the role. In the 30's and early 40's, there was a radio Betty Crocker. She was followed by Adelaide Hawley—then a popular network radio personality—who played the part until a few years ago.

Alert boxtop watchers will have noticed that during her 15 years in the role, the picture on the cartons changed from a squarefaced, greying brunette, to an oval-faced blonde with a white streak through her hair. Recently the picture has reverted to a short-haired, young brunette. But since Miss Hawley gave up the part there hasn't been another real-life imitation.

"Being an advertising symbol is a rough business. Although the paycheck is substantial, so are the demands on time. During her Crocker years, Miss Hawley crisscrossed the country to speak at home economics clubs and preside over countless award ceremonies for General Mills' "Homemaker of the Year."

But hardest of all, she had to submerge her own identity in the role. After years of conducting her own radio interview show, she had to stop being a personality in her own right (one of the terms of the contract was that she could never use her professional name in connection with the role). Except for private life, when she answered to the name of Mrs. Lawrence Cumming, she was Betty Crocker — unmarried and childless (although she actually has one daughter and two grandchildren).

Eerie

"I must say I didn't quite realize what I was letting myself in for," she confides. "Buy the time I stopped playing the part I was even beginning to think like Betty Crocker. It was a little eerie."

When Miss Hawley took on the Crocker alias, General Mills' stylists fashioned her blonde hair into a sedate bun. She bought a wardrobe of very understated clothes (some would say dowdy) and she got used to being stopped in supermarkets and asked: "Pardon me, but aren't you Betty Crocker?" (Not wanting to get involved in a conversation that might reveal Miss Crocker's true identity, she would always laugh and say "heavens no.")

During her per-Crocker years—she calls it her B.B.C. era — Miss Hawley had a radio talk show on N.B.C. and, later, C.B.S. radio network. Before that she was the fashion voice of M.G.M. newsreels for 10 years, wrote a fashion column for the old Herald Tribune, and narrated T.V.'s first fashion program.

In the 1940's her morning radio show drew an estimated 3 million listeners, and a nationwide survey paired her with Claire Booth Luce as one of the most listened-to voices of the era. She was then married to Mark Hawley, a popular newscaster of the same period, who has since retired.

Image Changed

When General Mills decided to change its cornfed image a few years ago and go gourmet, the Crocker role was gradually phased out. Miss Hawley decided to take the opportunity to return to school and study for a Ph.D.—with an eye toward resuming the teaching career she'd abandoned some 30 years before.

After a three-year stint at N.Y.U., she got her doctorate. And last summer she taught her first class at the University of Victoria, a few miles from her home.

Despite Betty Friedan and the neo-femist movement, Miss Hawley thinks it's much easier to have a successful career—if they really want one.

"I used to be a very pro-feminist," she says. "But now I've decided that the barriers aren't really so great if you approach them the right way. If you're ambitious, talented, and willing to work, you'll succeed. I think too many women want the best of both worlds, and you can't blame men for resenting that."

Her only reservation about retiring to Canada is the continent's width between her and her daughter and grandchildren in New York. "But I try to get home at least twice a year to see them," she says.

As far as leaving Betty Crocker goes, she has no regrets. "It was a nice job while it lasted, but it's good to be me again," she says. "And I'll let you in on a secret. Frankly, I hate to cook."

Beauty Hints For You

The actual practice of beauty, whether you are an heiress, a movie star or an average woman, is completely up to you. Constant adherence to the basic rules of beauty is the secret.

As you know the first rule is cleanliness, the second lubrication and third, stimulation of the skin.

Even movie stars apply their own make up away from the studio. All it requires is a little common knowledge, patience and practice on your part . . .

Here we are again, almost time for one of our favorite holidays and we certainly wish all of you a very happy Thanksgiving . . . It's a busy time, so to help you look your best for the holiday festivities, why not call us here for an appointment . . .

The Restraint Was Story Of Day

The real heroes of the moratorium marches are the overwhelming majority of Americans who feel that the demonstrations are undermining the nation's efforts to obtain a Vietnam peace which is in the world's best interest.

Despite the fact that it has been shown that the marches do not represent the overwhelming majority of opinion in the country, Americans have shown admirable restraint in their attitudes toward the marchers.

This is true despite the fact that the demonstrations can give a distorted picture of American thinking on efforts to obtain peace.

The idea of the marches seems to be to gather as many people as possible in Washington, and through some sort of body count psychology, the entire nation will then join in with the philosophy advocated by the protesters.

Organizers of such marches seem to consider it a great mark of success if they can marshal enough people in the streets to fill the television screens on the evening news shows; or it they can command a favorable commentary from newspaper reporters covering the event. Yet, as we have seen from the October Moratorium, such demonstrations can be failures in changing the opinion of the American people.

As we learned then, the polls showed after the marches that Americans were repelled by the demonstrations and the comfort they were offering the enemy. We have no doubt that the results will be the same this time.

In this age of rapid travel, good communications and plenty of bread it is not extremely difficult to get together one eighth of one percent of the nation's 200 million population in Washington or most anywhere else. Even though they literally trample the civil rights of other citizens who want to use the streets in their daily schedules, the public has shown a remarkable patience so far.

Concierges Of Paris Dwindle

By JOHN VINOCUR
PARIS (AP) — They are 68,000 strong in Paris, looking out at the world from behind a curtain parted just far enough to see who you are and what you are doing on their turf.

They are the city's concierges, women whose job as apartment building house mothers is as much as French cliché — and truism — as a beret or a glass of red wine.

Now, the old woman and the job are dying out. The president of the concierge union, gradiosely called Le Syndicat les Gardiens d'Immeubles — The Building Guards Union — says 20,000 of the women will disappear over the next 10 years and not be replaced. Some 5,000 concierges are now over 75 years of age.

Letter boxes, house telephones, and a desire on the part of landlords not to pay them anymore are pushing the concierge aside.

Traditionally, she had reigned over apartment buildings from a ground-floor apartment called a loge taking mail to tenants, holding their packages and taking out the garbage. In some cases, she has spied on visitors from behind their loge curtain, terrified sleuths with threats and trafficked in apartments with rental agencies.

Done up in a house dress, warmed by a black sweater and wool stockings and reading a copy of the gossip newspaper "Ici Paris," the concierge is a standard character in French theater and literature.

Unlike American apartment house superintendents, Paris concierges don't tend to leaky faucets or screw in new fuses. On their wobbly legs and in their felt slippers, amny have enough trouble getting around their loges.

Concierge salaries run from about $80 to $100 a month, according to the union, but now that the women are entitled to a month's paid vacation and social security, owners of small buildings are just as happy to have them gone. Carpenters and other small businesses sometimes can be fit into their former quarters.

The union's newsletter showed the situation clearly: there were more than 100 ads placed by people seeking concierge jobs and only one employment offer — "Present yourself at Busy Bee Cleaning, 4 Cite d'Hauteville, for work as a housekeeper."

The number of concierge jobs is also reduced every year by 200 to 300 as a result of health inspections finding their loges unfit for human habitation.

"It's a sad situation," the union president, Rene Laffon, says, "because the women are paid these famine wages. But they accept life in a rat hole because they have nowhere else to go. Our retirement home has only room for 80."

Opinions In Brief

"Perfection is attained by slow degrees; it requires the hand of time." —Voltaire.

"War is an evil whose outbreak is the result of human errors, human ignorance, human greed." —Dwight D. Eisenhower.

In a democracy, dissent is essential. Sometimes it rights wrongs; sometimes, as in the case of the moratorium marches, it causes an opposite reaction and Americans take a look at themselves to gain new strength for carrying out the nation's responsibilities.

Miniskirts Can Even Upset Concert Sound

An expert in California has demonstrated that mini-skirts can upset the balance of sound at a concert.

A physicist, assembled 10 girls in miniskirts in a reverberation chamber and fired a pistol. The results showed that girls in conventional skirts absorbed almost twice as much sound as the girls in the miniskirts.

We are convinced that the experiment is absolutely accurate and that something needs to be done about this problem.

We think it is up to the men readers of this newspaper to get busy and . . . Men? . . . Are you still with us? . . . Gentlemen?

Mask Conceals True Contempt

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The true contempt of the Greek military dictatorship for the U.S. and Western democracy, generally beneath the mask of surface cordiality, is stripped bare by a confidential Greek document.

This indiscreet document is a 16-page verbatim account of an official, top-secret foreign policy briefing by Panayiotis Pipinellis, the military regime's foreign minister, on Aug. 26 at Bad Schinznach, Switzerland, for Greek ambassadors to Western European nations.

Foregoing diplomatic niceties, Pipinellis referred to the U.S. as a "so-called democratic country" controlled by an "irresponsible" oligarchy worse than the ruling cliques in Hitler's Germany or Brezhnev's Russia, but unhappily concluded that Athens must try to do business with Washington, unreliable though the Americans are. Thus, while the innocents in the U.S. State Department believe in the pro-American fervor of the Greek junta and hope for a return to democracy in Athens, the Greek regime thinks and talks privately in a framework of cynical power politics.

What is most remarkable is that this comes not from one of the junta's barracks-hewn colonels but from the regime's most polished figure. Pipinellis, who formerly had close connections with the royal court, is a diplomat of the old European school — sophisticated, conservative, and cynical.

In the Schinznach briefing, Pipinellis referred to "so-called democratic allies of ours" — headed by the U.S. — that "are led by secret oligarchies which are much worse than any other oligarchy because they are irresponsible." His specific comparisons were with the Soviet Union of Leonid Brezhnev and Nazi Germany of Adolf Hitler.

He defended the Greek government's iron press censorship as responsible while, in the U.S., "censorship, instead of being exercised by the American government responsibly, is being irresponsibly exercised by four or five publishers. . . and the interests hidden behind them." This makes the American system "a lie without conscience."

But even if the U.S. is a democracy "in name only," Pipinellis continued, it is a country with "terrific power" and happens to be the ally of Greece "of which we have absolute need." The Metternichian conclusion: "We are obliged to the extent possible to have normal relations with them."

Nevertheless, the foreign minister cautioned his diplomats not to place much confidence in either the U.S. or the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) — contrasting sharply with the Greek regime's public avowals of support for NATO.

To underscore the lack of American dependability, Pipinellis revealed secret discussions in Athens during the 1967 Cyprus crisis between Greek officials led by King Constantine and Cyrus crisis between Greek officials led by King Constantine and Cyrus Vance, former U.S. Deputy Secretary of Defense acting as President Johnson's special emissary. In response, when asked what the U.S. would do if Turkish troops invaded Cyprus, Vance replied (according to Pipinellis's account): "We can do nothing — absolutely nothing. The U.S. at this very moment is engaged in an adventure in Vietnam, and it is impossible to undertake another adventure in Europe or anywhere. Don't rely on such help."

When King Constantine then asked what Washington would do if Communist Bulgaria and Yugoslavia chose this occasion to invade Greece, Vance answered: "We cannot tell you now. We want to have absolute freedom of movement." Accordingly, Pipinellis instructed his ambassadors, have no faith in either

Constitution Up-Ended

In the old shell game, the cry of the carnie con man was "now you see it, now you don't." Wherever you looked, the pea was somewhere else. The U. S. Supreme Court, with the willing assistance of Welfare Secretary Finch, is engaging these days in a kind of shell game with the Constitution. In a dazzling feat of sleight-of-hand, applied to desegregation of public schools, the Court has succeeded in making the Fourteenth Amendment mean two diametrically opposite things. Fifteen years ago, black children won from the Court a precious right; but the right has become a vanishing pea: Now you see it, now you don't.

All this takes some explaining. The heart of the famous Brown decision of 1954 was simply this: The Constitution says that no State may deny to any person the equal protection of its laws. Under the law, children of all races stand equal. Racially constituted schools are therefore unlawful.

This interpretation of the Constitution now has been turned on its head. In a series of decisions over the past 18 months, the Court has snatched back the right it conferred in 1954—the right of children to be assigned to public schools without regard to race. The state action that was unconstitutional in Brown v. Board of Education has gone through a sea change. In Green v. New Kent County, racial considerations have somehow been restored. How did we get from Brown to Green?

North Carolina's Sam Ervin, one of the Senate's great constitutionalists, raised this question the other day in a brilliant but unreported speech. In the old days of Southern segregation, he recalled, it was not unusual for a white child to have to travel five or ten miles to a white school, while a black child was made to travel five or ten miles to a black school. Their buses lumbered past each other on the rural roads. This was the old law. And that law, said the Court, was void.

So what is the situation now? Once again, public school authorities require that a white child travel five or ten miles because he is

Other Editors Say He Tackled Network

(The Wilson Times)
Congratulations Attorney General Robert Morgan. You are daring to tackle one of the giant communications networks, the Columbia Broadcasting Company for unfair coverage of President Nixon's speech. You have written a letter to the Federal Communications Commission saying, "I have been concerned for some time about the one-sided news reporting by the CBS network. I cannot help but feel its failure to report both sides of the issue with regard to the Vietnam war has encouraged the enemy and probably cost American lives."

There is an unwritten code among the communication media which tends to silence criticism. In other words criticizing your competitor would and could be interpreted as holding elements of jealousy. The press has been concerned because of the playing up of violence and the sensational side of the news to the detriment of a broader and equal treatment of the subject and the press is not blameless.

In fact the so-called liberal press can rightly be accused of playing up the sensational with pictures and story. When a service to the people would be to give the complete story. It was said — and not disputed — that during the Democratic convention in Chicago there were planned scenes of violence and the networks were notified to be on hand to take the pictures.

News is news, and if there is violence report it but give the facts, the number involved, why the violence and what was done by the demonstrators to bring on the police and the measures to quell the disturbance.

Yes, our hat is off to Attorney General Morgan. We fear his efforts will avail little, but it is a good try. It reminds us of Daniel in the lion's den.

Rates Are Inflationary 3 Ways

By ELMER ROESSNER
The Federal Reserve's principal weapon against inflation, high interest rates, is triply inflationary in itself.

First, as has been frequently pointed out, it increases production costs. Manufacturers build plants, replace machinery, carry inventory and meet many other expenses on borrowed money. This costs them more in interest and they have to increase their prices to survive.

Second, with prices thus pushed up, labor must demand higher wages. This inflates costs again, creating the endless wage-price spiral. Third—and this is often overlooked—higher interest rates give everybody, except those on a fully cash basis, less for their money.

How It Shaves Buying Power
Revolving and credit-card credit costs around 18 per cent a year. Instalment purchases cost about as much, often more. Home repair and modernization loans cost less; mortgages are less, perhaps averaging 8 to 12 per cent; small loans are more, often as much as 24 per cent; loanshark rates are astronomical.

If the average is 18 per cent, that means that the average buyer on credit gets only $84.75 worth of goods for every $100 paid out.

Actually, he may do a little better, since the amount of his interest diminishes as he pays off instalments. But the Truth-in-Lending Act tells him—or should tell him—what his interest charge is.

On the other hand, he may get less because the seller must increase prices to cover costs of credit. A credit-card system may charge the seller 3 to 6 per cent of credit sales. He is assured, of course, that credit cards will increase his sales so much that the fees he pays will be less than his increased profits. However, the card issuers never tell buyers that they will probably spend more because it is so easy to run up bills. And most sellers on credit increase their prices.

ELMER ROESSNER

Total Is Massive
Total consumer credit as of Sept. 30 was $118 billion dollars. If consumers are paying 18 per cent for credit, that means they got $99.5 billion worth of goods. In other words, they were getting $28.5 billion less than they could have got if they had paid cash.

This is not to say that credit is bad. The total includes $36 billion for autos, and a lot of

Short Money Supply

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — There just isn't enough money to go around these days.

This week the East Chicago Sanitary District will try to raise $17 million by selling bonds, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico will be seeking $50-million for schools, and Pacific Gas & Electric Co. will be after $80 million.

This is just a sampling of the need for funds. Municipalities alone will try to raise more than $1 billion this week in order to rebuild slums, expand sanitation facilities, improve highways.

Will they get it? Perhaps not all of them will. The bankers who purchase these bonds and then try to resell them at a profit already are holding $100 million from last week. They don't particularly like their prospects.

Those who do get the money will be paying the highest interest rates of this century. The prime lending rate is 8.5 per cent, meaning that the very best Triple A rated customers can't hope to pay much less.

If you had mentioned an 8.5 per cent rate to a large business or municipal borrower a year or two ago he would have gagged or maybe he would have thought you mad. But this rate is paid willingly these days.

The tightening money situation, some bankers fear, is going to be with us for a long, long time. Tremendous demands have built up for funds at the very time that the Federal Reserve is tightening the supply.

The Fed, of course, is not malicious in its intentions, although you won't get some businessmen to believe that is so. Its avowed purpose is to keep individuals, businesses and governments from overextending themselves.

By making money tight, or hard to come by, the monetary leaders help to push up interest rates. This, in theory, should discourage borrowers, and to some extent it has done so. But obviously a tremendous demand remains.

Some businesses, such as utilities and telephone companies, have little choice but to continue borrowing, for they must constantly add to their facilities in order to accommodate a larger and more demanding populace. The Bell System, for example, has borrowed more than $1 billion this year.

Equally pressing is the need of growing municipalities for more public facilities. Much of America has fallen behind in its responsibilities. Cities and towns always have built schools, but for years they neglected to build sewers. Now that water supplies are becoming polluted they are forced to act.

They failed also to do much about their slums, and now a social upheaval in the neglected areas of cities is forcing officials to get with it, to delay no longer. And so they must borrow money.

Strength For Today

AVOID ALL SUCH

"Now, confidentially."
"Just between ourselves."
Usually assurances of that sort are about as valuable as a plugged nickel. The person who loves to take you by the coat lapel or sidle up to you when you are drinking a cup of tea and begin confidential communication is to be avoided even if it does involve a bit of bad manners.

A certain type of person who makes cheating his business is called a "con-man." He is said to be carrying on a confidence game. People of this kind are usually under the scrutiny of police, who have handcuffs ready for them and a nice little room at the lock-up. But the confidential conversation that goes on at a tea party, or a cocktail party, or the friendly visit from a neighbor who gets a nice comfortable chair and then leans over and spills the dirt about all the people along the street — these are con-men or con-women and they are doing neither themselves nor the world any good.

To begin with, they are bored. Then, a lot of stuff can burn on the stove while this kind of nonsense is being poured into your ears. Nonsense? Worse than nonsense — conversation that arises from brains about the size of nutmegs.

The divorce courts are crowded with people who listened to gossip and spread it and then went out and collected more garbage. The world is full of a lot of wonderful people and quite a few who aren't quite so wonderful.

Don't let them make you unhappy.

Herbalist Sees Brisk Business

By HELEN GIBSON
SAIGON (UPI)—In a busy downtown market street, the Chinese herbalist carefully measures out two dried beetles to each of his 10 prescriptions lying in little heaps on brown paper squares.

His dim shop is lined with a thousand jars and tins containing strange barks, twisted roots, dried leaves. Pieces of deer antlers are scattered everywhere.

His business is brisk, for in Vietnam one treats many aches and pains with a variety of recipes that would challenge a complex cook book.

At first sight, some of the remedies may appear a little dubious.

Take the soothing of bruises. The recipe is simple. Some of the gasoline used by Saigon's filthy, fume-belching motorized rickshaws is mixed with kitchen salt, allowed to stand and then applied smoothly. From personal experience with a battered collection of blue-green arms and legs, it truthfully can be said to work. It does not even need any initial faith in it to do so.

A much more pleasant recipe is the cure for chest colds—camphor oil rubbed into the back and chest with a piece of cut ginger root. And to prevent scars, all one needs is the juice and pulp of a carrot like root called nghe to rub into the healing wound.

Another much-coveted root, which in Saigon can cost up to $25 for about two inches, is the Korean ginseng. If with its lateral roots it looks like the body of a man, so much the better. But anyway, brewed into a kind of tea, it is supposed to give the drinker increased strength and vitality.

Maternity Uses
The business of having babies in Vietnam is followed by a whole series of remedies—most of them very uncomfortable sounding to the Westerner.

"First, no woman is allowed to take a bath or shower for at least a month after giving birth," the wife of Senator Pham Van Ba explained. "The skin of the Vietnamese women is very weak."

Gentle dabbings with cologne or water about as far as it is considered safe to go. In Vietnam's steaming heat, the prospect for the other inmates of the house seems a dim one, unless they have no sense of smell.

But worse follows. To draw out any cold that is always suspected of lurking within the weakened body, a new mother will lie on a wooden bed frame over a charcoal or wood fire. Bad burns and even deaths sometimes occur as a result. The combined effects of smoke fumes and the odd flying ember can wreak havoc with this cold cure.

Of two, has a sure-fire remedy for slack stomach muscles. Heat rough salt in a saucepan until the grains are jumping. Then pour it into thick brown paper and place it, as hot as can be borne, on the stomach, held in place with two bricks.

If the odel-like slowness of Mrs. Bao is anything to go by, the holt salt cure is a must for all new mothers. Sadly, one suspects, however, that the fragile Mrs. Bao would never have anything but a flat stomach and that a little more than salt is needed for some of us Westerners.

Children's Week At Libraries

The Greenville City Library system is featuring a week-long program of children's activities at Sheppard Memorial, Carver and East Branch Libraries during the week of November 17 through 21, in connection with Children's Book Week.

Monday, the sixth grade from Wahl-Coates School attended a program at Sheppard Library. This program will last until 2:30 p. m.

On Tuesday, two programs are scheduled at East Branch Library. The first, from 11:00 to 11:30 a. m., is for pre-schoolers. The second, from 3:30 to 4:15 p. m., is designed for school children of elementary grades.

Another two phase program is planned for Wednesday at Sheppard Memorial. The pre-schoolers program is from 11:00 to 11:30 a. m.; and the one for school age children from 4:00 to 5:00 p. m.

On Thursday, three programs are in the offering. The first, from 11:00 to 11:30 a. m. at Wahl-Coates students, will be at Sheppard Memorial Library. The second two, both at Carver Library, are from 2:30 to 3:00 p. m. for the younger children, and 3:30 to 4:15 p. m. for the older children.

The final program of the week on Friday is from 11:00 to 11:30 a. m. for students of Wahl-Coates. This program is being held at Sheppard Memorial Library.

This is the first time that children's programs have been held at the two branch libraries in Greenville, the East Branch and Carver Libraries.

Mrs. Margaret Reid, children's librarian, disclosed that many of the activities during the week will be picture book and story time affairs designed especially for children of a particular age level.

Pitt Center Staff Adds Supervisor

Mrs. Maxine Flowers is a new social work supervisor at the Pitt County Mental Health Center here.

Immediately before coming here, she did post graduate work at the well-known Menninger Foundation in Topeka, Kan. She worked mainly in a trainee program at the children's clinic, which receives referred cases from all over the country.

She and her husband, John Baxton Flowers III, a Mount Olive native, were married October 4 in Topeka and have just moved to Greenville. They met in Topeka while he was stationed at Forbes Air Force Base near the city and was working as a hospital corpsman at Menninger. Having recently been discharged from the Air Force, he is an East Carolina University student.

Mrs. Flowers is a native of Manchester, Tenn. She attended Martin College in Pulaski, Tenn. and graduate from Birmingham Southern College in Alabama. She then worked for the welfare department in Nashville, Tenn., before enrolling in the School of Social Work at Columbia University in New York City, where she received her master's degree.

Attempted Safe Robbery Here

An attempted safe robbery was reported to police about 7:05 a. m. today.

Officers said employees of Dunn Building Supply Co. on Memorial Drive near West End Circle reported the combination dial had been knocked from the company safe. The safe had not been opened.

Entrance to the building was gained through the front door, according to the report.

Investigation of the incident is underway.

Would Curb ROTC Role

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The faculty senate assembly at the University of Michigan has called for elimination of most academic and all financial ties with the Reserve Officers Training Corps program.

By a 52-2 vote Monday, the assembly asked the university administration to renegotiate its ROTC contract with the Defense Department. The faculty recommendations will be presented to the university's board of regents.

Among other items, the faculty called for establishment of a committee of students, faculty and administrators to supervise the military studies curriculum.

A university spokesman said the program costs the university more than $70,000 and the federal government $980,000 annually.

ROTC officials earlier indicated such demands were unacceptable. Both faculty and ROTC spokesmen said whether ROTC will remain on the campus may hinge on the regents' ruling.

Pinpoint Parking Space Awaits 'Yankee Clipper'

By BILL STOCKTON
AP Science Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 12 commander Charles Conrad's parking lot or the Ocean of Storms is 400 feet wide. On the moon, that's a pin point.

If Conrad and Alan L. Bean can ride their lunar lander in trepid to this site, they will as sure future safe landings in rugged moon terrain where a small error could ruin the mission.

Just landing Apollo 11 safely in July was good enough. But geologists want future missions to go to the more interesting but much rougher, lunar high lands.

Future astronauts and guidance systems must bring each lunar module to a precise landing or else abort the mission to avoid damage to the spacecraft. Apollo 11 missed its mark by almost four miles. Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. accomplished a safe landing of their craft, Eagle, after assuming manual control and steering away from a rock-filled crater. After studying Apollo 11 data engineers said a combination of factors, when added together caused the down-range landing. Apollo 12's descent and landing procedures have been modified to eliminate the factors.

A point about 1,000 feet from Surveyor 3, which landed April 19, 1967, was the original target for Intrepid, but space officials announced last week the site had been changed to the Surveyor 3 location to give Conrad a better view of the landing area during the final seconds of descent.

Conrad hopes to park Intrepid in a smooth, level spot near the unmanned spacecraft, which is squatting on the side of a 600-foot wide crater.

The Apollo 12 landing site is farther west than Tranquility Base, which means the spacecraft will be in contact with earth longer before entering the final critical moments of descent. Mission Control will have time to send up the latest information about Intrepid's exact position for Conrad and Bean to punch into the guidance computer.

As Intrepid nears the lunar surface, the spacecraft computer will tell Conrad where to look for landmarks. When the lander reaches an altitude of 500 feet Conrad, while watching the lunar surface, can begin guiding the spacecraft manually.

If he is satisfied with the job the computer is doing, he can allow the guidance system to land Intrepid automatically.

Because Intrepid will carry a little more fuel than Aagle and the horizontal descent velocity on this flight is slightly higher, Conrad and Bean will have a few more seconds to maneuver their craft than the crew of Eagle had.

Two Wrecks On Monday

An estimated $1,550 property damage resulted from two collisions investigated here by Greenville police yesterday.

Heaviest damage resulted from a 5:25 p. m. collision at the intersection of 10th and Clark Streets and involved cars driven by Lamb Tyson, 67-year-old Negro of Route 1, Greenville and Thurmond Mathes, 58 of 1118 South Pitt St.

Damage to the Tyson car was set at $300 while damage to the Mathes auto was placed at $500.

Tyson was charged with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety.

George Hudson, 50, of 1711 South Pitt St. was charged with failing to yield the right of way in a 9:10 a. m. collision at the intersection of Fourth and Tyson Streets.

Police said the Hudson car collided with a car driven by Thomas Barnes Cole, 28, of 112 Park Dr. and caused an estimated $450 damage to the Cole vehicle and about $300 damage to the Hudson car.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) —(NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets steady to slightly stronger Monday. Supplies barely adequate, demand generally good. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A large white	66 1/2-67
medium whites	64-65
small whites	55-57

RALEIGH (AP) —(NCDA)—North Carolina hog markets today were steady. Tops of 25.25-25.75 at Siler City and Denton; 25.25-25.50 at Wilson; 25.00-25.50 at Rocky Mount; 24.25-25.25 at Bethel and Tarboro; 24.00-25.00 at Kinston, New Bern, Benson, Newton Grove, Albemarle and Lumberton; 25.50 at Salisbury and Greensboro.

RALEIGH (AP) —(NCDA)—North Carolina poultry market today was steady. Price of live poultry at the farm was 12 to 13, mostly 13.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices declined on a wide front in moderately active trading early today.

At 11 a.m. the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials had dropped 1.32 to 841.21.

But declines of individual issues topped advances by a margin of 2 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said the performance was much the same as Monday, when the market sagged on a broad range. They said the market lacked stimulus from business developments and that concern about tight money was persisting.

Price changes on the Big Board included Penn Central up 2 1/4 to 32 1/2; Standard Oil of Ohio, up 7 to 105 1/4 on announcement that its merger with British Petroleum was expected to be consummated by the end of the year; Fairchild Camera, off 3 to 90; Polaroid, off 1 1/4 to 135 1/4; and University Computing, up 3 1/2 to 97.

Soybeans dominate the activity this morning's on Pitt County grain buying stations. Very little corn is reported coming in although spot buying continues. Buyers anticipate that a good week of soybeans buying will continue if the weather continues to be favorable. Prices are all the same as yesterday's quotes. Following are price quotes reported at 11:15 a.m.

Greenville: yellow corn, $1.25; wheat, $1.20; oats, $1.65; soybeans, $2.35—all steady.

Ayden: yellow corn, shell, $1.27; ear corn, $1.17; soybeans, $2.32—all steady.

Winterville: yellow corn, shell, $1.27; ear corn, $1.17—all steady.

Farmville: yellow corn, $1.27; soybeans, $2.32—all steady.

Bethel: yellow corn, shell, $1.25; ear corn, $1.15; soybeans, $2.35—all steady.

Reactions Revealed By Nielsen Ratings

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The Nielsen ratings, that yardstick of television popularity and, of longevity, may have shortcomings, but often reveals the public's reaction to network programming.

For instance, when Bob Hope turns up in one of his NBC specials, the kind that starts with a topical monologue by the star and slides into an assortment of sketches, it invariably lands on top of the next ratings chart or close to it.

Yet the durable Hope and company turned up Nov. 6 in an awkward hybridized version of the stage musical "Roberta"—and its 90 minutes of song and comedy missed even the top third of the Nielsen list.

The ratings, based on an audience sample which reveals only when the family set is turned on can call the popularity shots but it is anybody's guess why the audience tuned in or turned off.

The same Nielsen, for the week of Nov. 2-9, indicated that CBS' "Mission: Impossible" shot up suddenly in popularity. The show has been worrying network people because of its lower ratings which they tended to blame on what is called "a weak lead-in"—i.e. It follows "The Leslie Uggams Show," now canceled.

Is the bloom off "Laugh-in"? That senior citizen at CBS, "Gunsmoke," once again took top honors for the week. It was followed by ABC's newcomer, "Marcus Welby, M.D." The NBC comedy romp starring Rowan and Martin was third.

CBS has a mystery to worry over, too. Frank Sinatra's tenuous special was 45th on a list of 86 shows, a fraction of a point ahead of Leslie Uggams' show.

Another mystery: Debbie Reynolds' weekly series, not exactly a smash, did better than her hour special.

CBS won the weekly race with an average of 20.1, followed by NBC with 18.4 and ABC, 16.8.

At this point, ABC's "Marcus Welby, M.D." "Movie of the Week" and "Room 222" can be counted as freshman hits assured of a second season. So can NBC's "Bill Cosby Show" and CBS' "Jim Nabors Show"—five

Fought Two Major Fires

SHELBY, N.C. (AP)—Shelby firemen aided by men from two other fire departments fought two major fires Monday night and Tuesday morning.

The first report was turned in shortly before 11 p.m. Fire officials said the blaze broke out around a wiring box in Woods Grocery. The fire caused several thousand dollars in damage, mostly to produce.

As firemen were completing operations at the first fire, the second broke out two blocks away in the Thompson Lumber yard.

Firemen from Cleveland County and Polkville were called in to assist, along with off-duty members of the Shelby department. The fire was brought under control after more than three hours. Several firemen escaped injury when they left an area of a building shortly before it collapsed. No complete estimate of damage has been made.

Arson has not been ruled out as a cause for the fires.

Highway Board Has Airplane

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina's Highway Commission now has a new airplane. It will be used for aerial photography of highway routes and shuttling commission members around the state.

The high wing Aero-Commander, arrived at the Raleigh-Durham Airport Monday. It was purchased from Carolina Airmotive Inc., of Spartanburg, S.C., for $226,900.

Firm Has Proposed Plant For Martin

ROBERSONVILLE—The Martin County Economic Development Commission in Williamston has been advised that a shoe firm has proposed building a plant near Robersonville.

, Richard E. West, president of Blue Ridge Shoe Company of Nashua, N. H. notified the commission that plans are being considered to build a 60,000 square foot plant on Highway 13-64 about a mile east of Robersonville.

The plant will mean employment for about 300 workers, with 85 per cent of them female. The Blue Ridge Shoe Company manufactures shoes for the Thom-MacCann chain of stores. The company made its decision to locate here after conducting a labor survey and interviews in the local high school a few weeks ago.

Another plant, near the site chosen by the Blue Ridge Shoe Company, is one of a Chicago-based firm which will manufacture store display equipment. This plant is being contracted for by the Robersonville Products Company.

Commissioners of Martin County this week took action to close a road which runs through the industrial site to facilitate construction and operation of the new facilities.

Union Services Slated For Thanksgiving Day

Christian education is a teaching-learning process through which the church seeks to make persons become aware of God's seeking love, stated Barbara Johnson, new director of Christian Education at Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church.

The teacher shares her attitudes, her values and her understandings about God with those she's teaching, Miss Johnson said, in her address on "What Is Christian Education" to the general meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service Monday morning.

Mrs. William H. Taft Sr., president of the Women's Society, introduced Miss Johnson to a full audience in the chapel of the church.

Mrs. Taft reported that a check for $4,000 from sales made at the recent bazaar has been given to the administrative board of the church by Mrs. W. Phil Moore Jr., treasurer.

Mrs. Taft also reported a family-night covered supper will be held tonight at 6 p.m. in the fellowship hall of the church. Following the meal, a song-festival program will be given by the young people.

Mrs. Taft stated an open house will be held at the church Sunday, Nov. 23, from 2:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. The new educational building, the chapel and the sanctuary will be open to all visitors and members of the church, she said. In charge of the event is Lester Brown.

Mrs. Taft also announced a union service of all churches will be held on Thanksgiving Day at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church Thursday, Nov. 27, at 9:30 a.m.

Notre Dame Joins Ranks Of Teams Set For Bowls, To Face Texas Or Arkansas

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Notre Dame is noted for its football traditions—the Four Horsemen, the fabled Knute Rockne, “win one for the Gipper”—but Irish Coach Ara Parseghian is turning himself inside out with joy over the school's latest bit of tradition-shattering. “I’ve waited 20 years to go to a bowl game so this is quite a day for me,” he chirped after the college snapped a 44-year ban on post-season games and agreed Monday to play in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas Jan. 1.

“I think a precedent now has been set and if we have good ranking and receive bids we can go to a bowl game every year,” he added.

Notre Dame, ranked No. 8 in The Associated Press' latest poll, will play the Southwest Conference champion, either Texas or Arkansas, both 9-0.

No. 2 Texas and No. 3 Arkansas square off at Fayetteville, Ark., for the title Dec. 6. The loser will play No. 13 Mississippi, which stunned previously unbeaten Tennessee 38-0 last Saturday, in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans.

Most of the major bowl matchups were quickly settled Monday shortly after the passing of the 12 noon EST deadline imposed by the NCAA.

No. 4 Penn State, 8-0, was paired against No. 7 Missouri, 8-1 and co-leader of the Big Eight, in the Orange Bowl at Miami, and No. 9 Tennessee agreed to play No. 15 Florida, 7-1-1, in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 27.

The Rose Bowl, the granddaddy of them all, won't be firm until this weekend.

No. 5 Southern California, 8-0-1, meets No. 6 UCLA, 8-0-1 Saturday for the Pacific-8 championship and the host spot in the Rose Bowl.

Top-ranked Ohio State, which already has clinched a share of the Big Ten championship, is barred from a repeat visit to Pasadena because of the league's no-repeat rule. No. 12 Michigan, 7-2, plays the Buckeyes Saturday and a victory would assure the Wolverines the trip.

Even a creditable performance against the Buckeyes would probably send Michigan to the bowl because the league's other top candidate, No. 17 Purdue, was walloped by the Bucks 42-14 last weekend.

Auburn, Georgia and Alabama—all from the talent-rich Southeastern Conference—and Nebraska, the other co-leader in the Big eight, gobbled up lesser bowl bids.

No. 11 Auburn, 7-2, will play Houston, 6-2, in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston Dec. 31; Alabama, 6-3, will be the host team in the Liberty Bowl at Memphis Dec. 13 against the winner of Saturday's Kansas State-Colorado game. And No. 17 Nebraska, 7-2, takes on Georgia, 5-3-1, in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex., Dec. 20.

South Carolina, 6-3, the Atlantic Coast Conference champion, will play in the Peach Bowl at Atlanta Dec. 30. No. 10 Louisiana State, shutout by the glamour bowls despite a gaudy 9-1 record, has been mentioned as a possible foe.

But Coach Charlie McClendon of the left out Tigers said: “Right now our boys are so mad and despondent I don't think they would even accept a bid to the Rose Bowl.”

Notre Dame is making its first postseason appearance since the famed Four Horsemen & Co. defeated Stanford 27-10 in the 1925 Rose Bowl.

Money was the prime reason for lifting the ban. The Irish will probably get around $350,000 from the game, and school officials said it will be used to finance minority student programs and scholarships.

Penn State, the pride of the East, is making its second straight visit to the Orange Bowl. The Nittany Lions escaped with a 15-14 victory over Kansas last New Year's Night in the famous 12th man on the field incident.

East Carolina University will put its 1969-70 version of the basketball Buccaneers on display for the first time Wednesday at 8 P. M. in Minges Coliseum. The freshmen and varsity will battle in the annual Purple-Gold game.

Coach Tom Quinn also announced that a special “half-scrimmage” would be held on Saturday afternoon immediately after the conclusion of the East Carolina-Southern Mississippi football game in neighboring Ficklen Stadium.

Most Valuable Player last year, has been hampered by tendonitis. “He hasn't been able to do much aside from running,” Quinn said. “But we hope that he'll be able to play Wednesday night.”

Another injury has sidelined last year's MVP freshman, Ron LePors. He will miss the scrimmage with a knee injury.

But the rest of the team is in good shape. “We are now in a unique situation for the rest of the Southern Conference teams,” Quinn said. “Our workouts are hampered by exams, so it's pretty hard to get things accomplished right now.” Quinn noted, however, that with Gregory unable to play, the staff has been able to work several other players into the lineup, and find out more about their abilities.

“We haven't played anyone except our freshmen, so we really haven't had an opportunity to really test ourselves. We feel like our freshmen are good, but of course, they lack college experience.”

Quinn feels that the board work so far has been good. “We've outrebounded the freshmen, despite their greater height. I've been very pleased with the work of Jim Fairley. He's been averaging about 13 rebounds per scrimmage so far, which I feel is very good. Jim Modlin had 10 in the last scrimmage, and that was his best. So far, however, he hasn't been much better than last year in his board work. His quickness is better, however, so he will probably improve. Not having Gregory in there hurts in this phase of the game.”

Quinn listed his starting lineup for the varsity as Modlin at center, Gregory and Fairley at the forward positions, and Tom Miller, his senior guard in one of the backcourt slots. At the other will be either co-captain Jim Kiernan or junior college transfer Mike Henrich.

The freshmen will field Al Faber (6-8, 210) at center, Steve McKenzie (6-7, 210) and Dave Franklin (6-5, 205) at forwards, with Phil Shaffer (6-8, 230) also seeing a lot of action. At guards will be Enrie Pope (6-2, 165) and Dave McNeil (6-4, 170), with Roland Leggett (5-10, 170), seeing reserve action.

Graduate assistant Walter Noell will handle the freshmen in the absence of Assistant Coach Kirk Stewart, away on a recruiting trip.

“Our shooting is pretty good,” Quinn said. “We have been attacking a lot inside against the freshmen, and we probably won't be able to do this as much against regular season competition. Miller and Henrich have been hitting good from the outside, and so was Gregory until he was hurt. Fairley has been good inside, and Modlin is as good or better than he was last year.”

“The offense is pretty much the same, but we've added a little. Miller is playing more on the wing than on the point, with Henrich and Kiernan at the point. Miller still does take the point at times,” Quinn added. “It really depends on who we are playing. We can even go with Julius Prince there. He's improved a lot, and lost some weight, and is going to be a definite asset.”

No admission will be charged for either Wednesday's full-scale scrimmage, or Saturday's half-scrimmage. Quinn invites all Pirate fans out to take a look at the team prior to the season's opener December 1 against Western Carolina.

Tie For First In Contest

Skipper Hardy of 1721 Circle Drive, and Williams Evans of P. O. Box 549 tied for first place in this week's Daily Reflector Football Contest.

Both picked the winners in 28 of the 32 games for the week. Both also listed 74 points as the most to be scored in any one game. A total of 81 points was scored in two games, the Stanford-Air Force encounter, and the Boston College-VMI game.

One other person also picked 28 winners, but was further off the total.

The final contest for this year appears on the following pages.

Scoring Race Goes To Wire

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Davidson's Wildcats will have three of the five top scorers in Southern Conference football either in their starting lineup or on the bench Saturday when they close their season at Vanderbilt.

The trio include end George Hannen, who leads the conference with 68 points; placekicking specialist Ed Terry, No. 4 in the scoring race with 53 points; and quarterback Gordon Slade, the No. 5 scorer with 48 points.

Hannen, who not only catches by the bushel but also returns punts and kicks off brilliantly and, on occasion, runs with the football, held his SC lead last Saturday with a 94-yard punt return for a touchdown as the Wildcats were upset by Wofford, 28-27.

But the Wildcat star hasn't yet wrapped up the individual point-making championship, by any means, as the 1969 season enters its last full week.

Hannen is being hard pressed by another great end—Richmond's Walker Gillette—who snagged his 10th TD pass of the season in the Spiders' 33-21 loss at West Virginia last weekend and now has 60 points going into the season finale for his team at William and Mary.

The Citadel quarterback Tony Passander ranks third in conference scoring and isn't out of the scrap, either. Passander has 56 points after scoring once in the Bulldogs' 37-21 victory over Furman.

Trailing the top five are The Citadel's Bob Duncan and East Carolina's Billy Wightman, each with 42 points, and Billy Watson of The Citadel, with 38. Four other players have 36 apiece.

Watson will have no chance to finish higher in the scoring race, although The Citadel plays Chattanooga Friday night. The Bulldog junior, one of the nation's top punt return men, underwent surgery Monday to repair an unusual injury—a fractured eyestocket bone.

Also destined to miss the game with the Moccasins, in which The Citadel will bid for its eighth victory, is tailback Steve Brackett, who suffered a shoulder separation against Furman. Brackett is a senior.

Furman, for a third straight week, lost two players. This time it was offensive tackle Butch Kersey, who has a dislocated shoulder, and running back Steve Crislip, who has a burred-up knee. Each will miss Furman's two remaining games—against Mississippi College and Wofford.

The Paladins, who can't afford such luxuries, now have lost seven players for the season—six in the last three weeks. Only 31 were at practice Monday.

Grover Truslow, a starting tackle on offense, missed East Carolina's drills with an injured knee and several others were missing because of exams. The Pirates close out at home against Southern Mississippi this weekend.

VMI's Keydets, who don't play until Thanksgiving when they end their so-far winless season against Virginia Tech, took the day off. There were no reports from Richmond and William and Mary, who meet Saturday in the final SC game of the season.

Recreation Sidelights

Church Basketball
Any church desiring to participate in Church League Basketball should have a representative attend an organizational meeting on tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the upstairs portion of Elm Street Gymnasium.

City Basketball
The City Basketball League organizational meeting will be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m. upstairs in Elm Street Gymnasium.

Persons interested in any of the above leagues are urged to attend these meetings.

Recreation Football
In last week's games, the White downed the Green, 7-0. The only score came in the first half on a seven-yard run by Jerry Griffin. Defensive standouts for the Green were Gil Whitford and Grif Garner. For the White team, Jim Wilson and Mose Stocks were top players.

The Blue and Red battled to a 12-12 tie. Mike Wallace of the Red scored on a 52-yard run in the last 15 seconds to tie the game. Jay Jester scored the first for the Red on a one-yard plunge.

John Allen scored twice for the Blue, on runs of 70 and 10 yards. Defensive standouts for the Red team were Pat Hagan and Gary Cayton, and for the Blue, Kent Lee and Bronson Matney.

Hubby Is Exciting But Joe Is Groovy

By WILL GRIMSLEY

AP Special Correspondent

NEW YORK (AP) — Joey Heatherton says she almost jumps out of her skin from excitement when hubby Lance Rentzel reaches for a pass and she confesses she thinks Joe Namath is “groovy.”

But guards and tackles completely confuse her.

“They just knock each other down and get up and do it again,” added the spicy little star of television and screen.

The curvaceous actress, attired in black mini-skirt and form-fitting black jersey, rested her blonde head on Rentzel's shoulder today in the couple's plush Central Park West apartment and talked about her first year as wife of a big time pro football player.

“I love it,” she said. “It's just like the movies.”

Joey, who flits between Hollywood and New York for television appearances and slips off on weekends to watch Lance play for the Dallas Cowboys, came to New York for the premier of “The Ballad of Andy Crocker,” the Movie of the Week on ABC-TV tonight, 8:30 to 10 p.m., EST. Joey has the female lead.

Rentzel, the 6-2, 200-pound wide receiver of the Cowboys, flew into town for a day prior to rejoining his mates in preparation for Sunday's battle against the unbeaten Rams in Los Angeles.

“I'll just happen to be on the West Coast that day,” Joey said with a knowing wink. She always just happens to be where the Cowboys are playing.

“I've seen most of Lance's games,” Joey added. “At first, I got so excited that I squealed and screamed. It affected my voice. Now I jump up and down and limit myself to applauding.”

Miss Heatherton, whose 37-20-

34 figure and sensuous beauty have had critics compare her with the late Marilyn Monroe, said she met Rentzel while filming the ABC-TV movie in Hollywood.

“I began dating him in January. We married in April,” she said. “Since then, I've become a real football fan. I get nervous sometimes when Lance is hit hard. But he always gets up.”

“I think the prettiest play in football is the pass. When Lance catches one, it's a show stopper.”

Joey said she had met the Jets' Namath and had found him fascinating.

“When the Jets played an exhibition earlier this year in Dallas, Namath didn't play,” she said. “But he came out on the field in that mod suit of his and long sideburns and pranced around like a prince. Everybody booed him.”

“Namath didn't seem to care. He just kept prancing arrogantly. He's the Sinatra of football.”

Big Shakeup Among Top Twenty After Upsets

By KEN RAPPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer

Brutish Ohio State and Texas' bull-strong Longhorns remained one-two today in the Associated Press' college football poll, but most of the rest of the nation's Top Twenty scattered like berserk dice in the season's biggest shake-up.

Ohio State, a convincing 42-14 winner over stylish Purdue in their Big Ten showdown Saturday, corralled 31 first-place votes and 736 points over-all from a national panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

Texas, which stamped Texas as Christian, 69-7, collected seven first-place ballots and 688 points.

Tennessee tumbled from third to ninth after dropping a 38-0 stunner to Mississippi, and a pack of teams moved up a notch in the jumbled Top Ten after weekend successes.

Arkansas went from fourth to third, collecting 556 points after slugging Southern Methodist 28-15; Penn State jumped from fifth to fourth with 544 points after crushing Maryland 48-0, and Southern Cal stepped up a notch to fifth with 416 points after tripping Washington 16-7.

UCLA, a 13-10 winner over Oregon, went from seventh to sixth; Missouri climbed from eighth to seventh after beating Iowa State 40-13; Notre Dame went from ninth to eighth after slamming Georgia Tech 38-20, and LSU stepped into the Top Ten at 10th after its 61-6 pasting of Mississippi State.

Purdue, knocked out of the Rose Bowl picture by Ohio State, also was drummed out of the Top Ten. The Boiler-makers slipped from 10th to 17th.

Auburn stayed in the 11th spot after beating Georgia 16-3; Michigan moved from 14th to 12th after walloping Iowa 51-6; Mississippi jumped from 18th to 13th; Stanford grounded Air Force 47-34 but still dropped from 13th to 14th, and Florida stayed No. 15 after clouting Kentucky 31-6.

Rounding out the Top Twenty were No. 16 Nebraska; Purdue; No. 18 West Virginia; No. 19 Houston and No. 20 Toledo.

Nebraska moved up a notch after edging Kansas State 10-7; West Virginia, back in the Top Twenty, leaped to 18th after clubbing Richmond 33-21; Houston dropped a place to 19th after dropping North Carolina State 34-13, and Toledo showed up in 20th after squashing Dayton 20-0.

Ohio State takes on Michigan at home Saturday in one of the season's blockbusters. Texas has Saturday off, but plays at home to Texas A&M on Thanksgiving. Arkansas, also off Saturday, has a Thanksgiving date with Texas Tech. Southern Cal and UCLA tangle Saturday in the year's Big One in the Golden West.

The Top Twenty, with first place votes in parentheses and total points. Points awarded for first 15 places based on 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1, etc:

1. Ohio State (31) 736
2. Texas (7) 688
3. Arkansas 556
4. Penn State (11) 556
5. Southern Cal 416
6. UCLA 360
7. Missouri 352
8. Notre Dame 294
9. Tennessee 249
10. Louisiana State 240
11. Auburn 214
12. Michigan 119
13. Mississippi 110
14. Stanford 88
15. Florida 67
16. Nebraska 43
17. Purdue 37
18. West Virginia 29
19. Houston 20
20. Toledo 6

1st PRIZE

$15.00

2nd PRIZE

$10.00

CONTEST RULES

1. Thirty-two football games are placed in the ads on these pages. Pick the winner of each game (not the score) and write the team name opposite the advertiser's name on the entry blank. The entrant picking the most correct winners each week will be awarded $15.00. Second place $10.00.
2. Pick a number which you think will be the most number of points scored by both teams in any one of the week's games listed and write your answer in the space provided on the entry blank. This will be used to break ties. In the event of a further tie the money will be equally divided between the winning entrants.
3. Only one entry per week per person. The contest is open to all except employees of The Daily Reflector and their immediate families.
4. Entries must be in The Daily Reflector office not later than 5:30 p. m. Friday or post marked not later than Friday p.m. Address entries to: "FOOTBALL CONTEST", P. O. Box 1967, Greenville, N. C. (Reasonable Facsimiles also accepted)

EXPLANATION - The Dunkel system provides a continuous index to the relative strength of all teams. It reflects average scoring margin combined with average opposition rating, weighted in favor of recent performance. Example: a 50.0 team has been 10 scoring points stronger, per game, than a 40.0 team against opposition of identical strength. Originated in 1929 by Dick Dunkel.

Proclaims Day For The 'Possum

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Gov. Lester Maddox has proclaimed Saturday Dec. 6 as "Possum Day" in Georgia. That's the second day of the two-day "world's largest possum hunt," planned by officials at Dillard, in the North Georgia mountains.

Maddox's proclamation, signed Monday, says: "Frosty mornings and the fact that persimmons are ripe in North Georgia offer undeniable proof that it is possum hunting time in Georgia ...

"A baked possum with sweet potatoes and sassafras is considered a delicacy by many gourmets."

Black Arm Band 'Right' Upheld

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — A U.S. District Court judge has ruled that pupils have a constitutional right to wear black arm bands to protest the Vietnam war.

Judge Robert W. Hemphill ordered officials of the Ridgeville-Harleyville High School Monday to stop violating such rights and reinstate six suspended students.

The six, Negroes and Indians, refused to take off the arm bands Friday and were removed from the school by sheriff's deputies. They and their parents appealed to the court.

Finish Erosion Control Program On Pitt Farm

The Worthington Farms, Inc., have just completed extensive erosion control practices on their land, according to David C. Hardee, technician with the Soil Conservation Service.

The corporation is managed by three brothers, Chester Don, Kinsey and Tull Worthington.

According to Hardee, the Worthingtons constructed four acres of grassed waterways this fall. One of the waterways, Hardee said, has brought three field together, making a total of 66 acres. A second waterway has combined two field for a total of 49 acres.

"Large fields are more satisfactory where four-row farm equipment is being used," Hardee explained.

Hardee reported that 23 acres of field borders have been seeded with fescue grass. "These borders help stabilize the ditches on the edges of the fields," he said, "and also furnish a firm level area for heavy equipment to turn around on."

Small pot. holes and depressions are rapidly being smoothed out with a new tractor and landplane that the Worthingtons recently purchased. "Already 110 acres have been smoothed," Hardee said, "and tile has been installed in many fields to drain the sub-surface water out of the soil profile."

The Worthingtons have purchased a bulldozer, dirt pan, landplane and a large tractor with dual wheels to be used in various conservation practices.

Another conservation practice reported completed in the county is a grassed waterway on the Lyman S. Smith farm in Bell Arthur.

Smith used a bulldozer to excavate the channel. He then limed with two tons of lime per acre and seeded with 40 pounds of tall fescue grass per acre. Field borders were also seeded on the Smith farm to reduce erosion.

James A. Jones has recently constructed a grassed waterway and built a diversion on a sandy field on his farm. The field was eroding and the sediment was filling in a large canal, Hardee noted.

"The main flow of water was diverted around the canal to a safe disposal area," noted Hardee.

H.L. Fornes has smoothed over half of an 11 acre field, giving uniform row drainage that will reduce erosion.

A waterway was constructed on the lower end of the field on the Fornes farm to receive the row drainage. The waterway is being limed, fertilized and seeded with fescue grass, Hardee said.

J.B. Rouse of the Portertown Community recently completed conservation treatment on a unit of land by installing two short lines of farm drain tile along the edges of a wet area.

Rouse planted vetch on the land and kept the field mowed during the summer. Then he disced and seeded a winter cover crop of small grain.

The conservation practices are all part of the local farmers conservation plans developed with the Pitt Soil and Water Conservation District.

SCORPION NEST

TANJAVUR, India, (AP) — A farmer mending his leaky roof found a nest of scorpions and counted 1,519 of the poisonous arachnids before he destroyed them.

Office Has The Answers

Will Medicare pay if I use an ambulance to go to the hospital?

It pays to ask questions like this, and the place to ask them is your social security office at 1207 W. 14th St., Greenville. Ambulance service, like many other services and items, is covered under the Medicare program. There are limitations, however, on the coverage of ambulance service. Transportation by ambulance is covered only if normal transportation would endanger the health of the patient. This means an ambulance is really needed and not used just for the convenience of the person. The ambulance must also be a vehicle equipped to furnish first aid to a very ill or severely injured person.

In addition to having an adequately equipped vehicle (which could be a boat or plane) the people who care for or handle the sick or injured person must have adequate training in first aid.

Is that all that's required? There is one more thing. Generally only local transportation by ambulance is covered. This means that payment can be made for ambulance service only if the patient is taken to the nearest institution that provides the service needed by the patient. Transportation home from the institution would be covered under the same circumstances.

If you have any questions about Medicare and the service it provides, you may contact the social security office at 1207 W. 14th Street, Greenville, N.C.
