By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 12 explorers Charles "Pete" Conrad Jr. and Alan L. Bean blasted off the moon into lunar orbit today and began the complex chase to catch and link up with their mother ship for the long journey home.

The fiery liftoff climaxed a busy day on the moon in which Conrad and Bean trekked a mile across lunar wastelands and carefully collected a treasure for science.

Right on schedule, at 9:26 a.m. EST, a burst from the engine at the base of their cabin section vaulted the astronauts off man's second lunar outpost in the Ocean of Storms.

"Man, this is a hot machine," Conrad shouted as the tiny lunar ferry Intrepid blasted them off the moon after a stay of 31 hours 32 minutes. "What a nice ride."

Their target, the command ship Yankee Clipper, with Richard F. Gordon Jr. at the controls, was 65 miles overhead and about 90 miles ahead at the time of ignition.

By the time the lunar ferry Intrepid achieved orbit seven minutes later, Gordon was more than 300 miles ahead and the chase was on.

Intrepid was in a near-perfect orbit ranging from 10 to 54 miles above the surface.

to hook up with the command ship at 1:05 p.m.

Conrad and Bean will transfer into the command ship and later today the astronauts land deliberately crash Intrepid on the moon about 15 miles from Apollo 12's base, to excite a moonquake device left on the surface.

Then they'll spend an extra day in lunar orbit, photographing future landing sites before starting back to earth Friday. "Splashdown is scheduled for 3:57 p.m. Monday in the Pacific Ocean."

Shortly before liftoff, Mission Control assessed Intrepid's systems and reported: "You're going to cast off," using a nautical term for the all-Navy crew.

"Liftoff and away we go," Conrad exclaimed as the tiny craft rocketed off the moon.

The four-legged descent stage that lowered them to the moon Wednesday served as a launching pad today and was left behind on the moon, along with five scientific instruments and 85.9 5 boots, tools, trash and other items dumped there by the astronauts.

Once linked up, the three spacemen will spend an extra day in lunar orbit photographing future landing sites. On Friday, they'll shoot out of lunar orbit and streak for a splashdown in the Pacific Ocean Monday.

Conrad and Bean found the sides of the Surveyor crater traced and followed one level around to the dead spacecraft. They reported the vehicle was a light tan and asked what color it was when it left earth in April 1967. They were told it was white and blue.

"The sun has cooked it," Conrad said.

They photographed the buildup of dirt around the spacecraft to compare with pictures surveyor took when it landed.

Conrad said he "got to watching that problem" and allowed a slight overburn of 1 1/2 seconds, which he was able to trim out.

Conrad and Bean, had to catch Gordon in a 3 1/2-hour chase to get back to earth. The lunar craft was not designed to take them home.

After executing a complex series of maneuvers, they were down in the Pacific Ocean Monday.

Apollo 12 crewmen will bring home the harvest from more than a day spent on the cratered, dusty surface by Conrad and Bean, including more than seven hours spent outside Intrepid by each man.

Their booty could help scientists learn the origin of the moon and perhaps the earth and the solar system.

The astronauts also left behind five scientific instruments powered by the first nuclear generator taken to the moon. The instruments are expected to transmit data for at least a year on moonquakes and other disturbances, magnetic fields, the solar wind and the moon's atmosphere and ionosphere.

The excursion to the Surveyor, carried out in the high-spirited tone that he's marked Apollo 12, climaxed the mile-long scientific foray on the second moon walk that extended from late Wednesday to early today.

Surveyor rests about 150 feet down the gentle slope of a 600-foot-wide crater. It is just 600 feet from where Intrepid made a bull's-eye landing early Wednesday.

Visiting ECU

The Board of Higher Education will visit East Carolina University tomorrow, as the first of a series of visits to state-supported schools throughout the state.

The group will gather at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Home Economics Building and will spend the rest of the day touring the campus, conferring with the administration, and discussing programs and plans with staff members on all levels. Lunch will be served in the dining room at the Home Ec Building.

On the way up, the astronauts reported a master alarm flashed on briefly, but they could detect nothing wrong.

Conrad said he "got to watching that problem" and allowed a slight overburn of 1 1/2 seconds, which he was able to trim out.

ECU Prof Helped Compute Moon Flight Path Formula

By Jane Keller
Apollo 12 travels through a "tube" on its journey between Earth and the moon. According to Dr. Tullio Pignani of East Carolina University, the "tube" is an area within which the space craft must travel on its way to and from the moon.

successful luna missions was discovered by Dr. Pignani.

"Calculating the trajectory of the space ship was our specific problem," says Dr. Pignani. "The trajectory is the point at which the space craft leaves the Earth's parking orbit to the point at which it enters the lunar parking orbit."

Dr. Pignani continued, "It is quite simple to mathematically calculate a straight line trajectory, but the space craft does not travel in a straight line. Its path is a curve."

"Another very important consideration is the fact that the computers in the space craft can only add and multiply. They cannot subtract and divide. A computer large enough to subtract and divide is too heavy and too large to be included in the space craft we now employ."

The trajectory had to be calculated by equations using only addition and multiplication.

Dr. Pignani described the conditions under which he and his colleagues arrived at their successful "Patched-Conic Method" of calculation.

"After about a year of examining the research in celestial mechanics, especially Siegel, the outstanding German authority, I discovered that none of their projected solutions would work in solving our particular problem."

"It was one evening in a restaurant in Huntsville (Alabama, the location of Marshall Space Flight Center), after a few weeks of intense study and discussion together, six or eight of us were having dinner together and discussing possible solutions, just talking. Suddenly it came to me that since the path of the space ship had to be a curve, why not try joining conic sections of curves together?"

"The idea sounded reasonable to all. We began feeding quadratic equations into computers and came up with the workable solution we now have."

"It was one of the few strokes of good fortune which have come my way," concluded Dr. Pignani.

Dr. Pignani's efforts and recognition while with the research team won for him the position of consultant to the Marshall Space Flight Center.

Although Dr. Pignani, who joined the ECU faculty in 1964, no longer is on active status with NASA, he continues to follow avidly all space activity. He is hoping to explore another area of interest, possible locations of space stations, upon the completion of his fourth textbook in the near future.

Carolínians Startled By Tremor; No Damage Seen

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Shock waves from an earthquake several hundred miles away startled South Carolínians and North Carolínians Wednesday night.

There were no injuries reported and only minor damage. But the tremor, centered near the Virginia - West Virginia line, turned into quite a conversation piece.

Telephone calls flooded newspaper offices and radio and television stations.

"I was sitting down in my bed in the dorm when it rolled out from under me and I almost missed the whole bed," said one dismayed Winthrop College coed at Rock Hill, S.C.

"When the library started shaking everybody left," she said. "I don't guess we'll be doing much studying tonight."

Tremors also were felt in Kentucky, Tennessee and Georgia and Ohio.

They lasted between five and 10 seconds, and were felt shortly after 8 p.m.

The National Earthquake Information Center in Rockville, Mo., said the jolt measured 4.75 on the Richter scale. This is strong enough to break windows. The disastrous 1964 Alaska quake measured 8.5 Richter.

Tremors were reported in Greenville, Spartanburg, Rock Hill and Anderson in South Carolina, and Asheville, Winston-Salem, Greensboro, Raleigh, West Jefferson and Lenoir, North Carolina.

At West Jefferson in the northwestern North Carolina mountains telephone service was disrupted to about 60 subscribers.

At Raleigh, a newsman said he thought someone behind him had shaken his chair.

Robert Milkosky of Linden, N.J., a student at the University of South Carolina in Columbia, said he was in his room studying for a test when "I started shaking. At first I thought it was me. Then I looked at my clothes in the closet and they were shaking and swaying."

A Spartanburg resident said he was sitting in a chair when he felt a tremor.

WASHINGTON (AP) — As Apollo 12 astronauts walked on the moon, the financial future of Apollos 13, 14 and 15 were assured by President Nixon.

The President signed Wednesday a bill authorizing $3.7 billion for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. It includes funds for three more manned moon flights in the next nine months.

They will accompany the astronauts to Houston in the air-tight trailer, designed to protect humans from possible dangerous moon germs.

The specialists entered quarantine five days before splashdown to guard against terrestrial viruses.

They are Dr. Clarence Archibald Jernigan, 35, specialist in aerospace medicine, and Brock Randall Stone, 25 a NASA engineer.

Armbands will be permitted for the time being at Rose High School, according to an announcement by Supt. Dr. Cleet C. Cleetwood.

Dr. Cleetwood noted that a check with the office of the State Attorney General and the Department of Public Instruction resulted in their advice that a temporary waiver be granted students relative to wearing armbands at school as a symbol of protest of the Vietnamese situation.

In emergency regulations published at the reopening of schools after the three day close-down, one of the rules banned the wearing of armbands.

Dr. Cleetwood said student committees met on Wednesday to discuss ways in which students can be encouraged to use discretion in wearing armbands in order to avoid any type of provocation.

"However, based on advice from the Attorney General's Office and that of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, students who do decide to wear armbands will not be penalized."

Dr. Cleetwood stated, "This action meets with the approval of the Board of Education.

"I thought the chair had become one of those vibrators," he exclaimed.

A downtown store in Spartanburg reported some merchandise fell off shelves.

Dr. L. G. Barre, who operates the seismograph at the university of South Carolina at Columbia, said his instrument showed the tremor occurred at 8:02 p.m. He added that the intensity measurement indicated the quake "probably did little damage."

There was disagreement over the length of the tremor. Persons in the Columbia and Aiken areas estimated it lasted between three and four seconds. Upstate South Carolina residents said it lasted longer.

"We had time to discuss it while it was in progress and it was still being felt when the first calls began to come in," said a newsman in Spartanburg.

At Winston-Salem the tremor occurred during a production of the "The Devil and Daniel Webster" at the Ardmore United Methodist Church.

Old Scratch, the Devil, had just finished his reference to the quick and the dead, and the sound effects people were getting ready to scare everybody with a big clap of thunder and lightning.

"That's when the floor started shaking," said Wendell Eysenbach, who was at the play.

After the shaking stopped, the sound effects people gave the clap of thunder, and the lightning flashed. "The audience knew something had happened," he said. "It made it very realistic."

He added that "there are

Begin Hunt For New Principal At High School

The city schools administration has begun the difficult search for a new Rose High principal to replace Ed Warren, whose resignation was accepted by the board of education Tuesday.

Dr. Cleet C. Cleetwood today stated, "We are exploring all possibilities in search of a principal to replace Ed Warren at Rose High." Warren, who submitted his letter of resignation on November 15, will step down effective December 31.

"When the letter was first received," Dr. Cleetwood stated, "the Personnel Committee of the School Board met and asked Warren to reconsider his decision. Warren told the committee his plans were firm on this matter. Therefore, his letter was presented to the full board at the meeting Tuesday night and was accepted by the board members."

Warren, in his letter of resignation stated, "My association with Dr. Cleetwood and the Greenville City Schools has been a very pleasant one, and I genuinely appreciate the fine cooperation and kindnesses which you have extended me."

He continued, "It is with real regret that I made this decision. It has been a fine experience working with a staff of dedicated and loyal teachers, black and white, who have put in many long hours and have done an outstanding job under some extremely difficult situations. They are the finest group any principal could ever hope to have."

He added that "there are certainly a lot of fine students, black and white, at Rose. The majority of these boys and girls are outstanding young people who are willing to work hard to get a good education and who are always ready to be cooperative."

Warren, in his third year as principal at Rose, is a native of Stokes in Pitt County. Before being appointed principal at Rose, he was principal at Ayden High School, Belvoir-Falkland High School, and Falkland Elementary School.

In a letter dated November 19, Dr. Cleetwood expressed his appreciation of Warren's service as principal at Rose.

"You have made a significant contribution during the time that you have been with Greenville City Schools, and I am deeply appreciative. . . . We have labored together over some very difficult circumstances. . . . I know that we can count on you to bend every effort in your remaining time to restore at Rose High School a situation which will reflect credit upon this community and assure quality educational opportunities."

Dan Moore Named To High Court

RALEIGH (AP) — Former Gov. Dan Moore was appointed to the North Carolina Supreme Court today in a move likely to lessen the court's conservative cast.

Moore "is eminently qualified to assume the bench of North Carolina's highest court," Gov. Bob Scott said in announcing the appointment.

Scott pointed out that Moore, 63, had served 10 years as a Superior Court judge and also as a member of the General Assembly before becoming governor.

Moore will fill the associate justice's seat left vacant by the promotion of William H. Bobbitt to chief justice. Bobbitt replaced R. Hunt Parker, who died last week of a heart attack.

Moore's middle-of-the-road philosophy that marked his term as governor will replace Parker's staunch conservatism.

The former chief executive, whom Scott succeeded last January, will join a court to which he appointed half the current membership.

During his term of office Moore named to the seven-member court I. Beverly Lake, Joseph Branch and Frank Huskins.

Moore had been the most frequently mentioned candidate for the high court vacancy and his appointment came as no surprise.

Both before and after leaving office, Moore made no secret of his interest in sitting on the court.

He Shouldn't Fuss Over Whispers

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
 DEAR ABBY: Altho I've never seen my problem in your column, I'm sure other men have had it, too.
 I am 41, and a bachelor. believe me, Abby, I enjoy the company of women, but it seems that in this day and age any man who is still a bachelor at 40 is immediately suspected of being a homosexual.

wanting to marry. I like my privacy, don't care for the responsibilities of marriage, can't stand children, and frankly I am selfish and would make a lousy husband.
 So, how does a normal man go about proving to the world that he's not queer?

STRAIGHT MAN

DEAR STRAIGHT: First, he quits protesting too much. Then he doesn't make a phony fuss over women who don't turn him on. And lastly, he doesn't give a second thought to what people say.

I actually find myself holding hands with my date, hugging her, and acting affectionate, even when she doesn't appeal to me in that way, just to let on-lookers know I'm normal and to "reassure" my date. (Many women think if they don't turn a man on, he must be a queer.)

When I go to dinner or to a movie with another man, I get sort of funny looks. And I've heard people have said that the only reason I date women is to cover up my preference for men.

Members Given Bridge-Luncheon

The Carpe Diem Book Club met for a bridge-luncheon at the Greenville Golf and Country Club on Tuesday. Mrs. Wayne Holloman was hostess for the meeting.

Mrs. Bill Dansey and Mrs. Michael House were tied for first place in bridge. Mrs. Billy Goodson won floating prize.

Charles O'H Horne of the Greenville Utilities spoke to the group on the bond election on Dec. 2.

Visitors for the meeting were Mrs. Goodson, Mrs. Charles Moore, Mrs. Ed Smith and Mrs. Van K. Wilkinson.

DEAR ABBY: I am 25 and a graduate student at Berkeley. month ago my sister came out here to visit me, and she reported back to my mother that I had lost a lot of weight and I looked awful. (I heard this every time I went home—to Ohio at Christmas; altho my weight hasn't varied more than 5 pounds in the last 8 years.)

My mother then mailed 5 pounds of cookies. I just got a letter from her complaining about the $2 postage she had to pay for the cookies, and saying that she had contracted with an Oakland department store to keep me in a steady supply of cookies. Should I tell my mother that her efforts are not appreciated?

CRUMBS IN MY BEARD

DEAR CRUMBS: The "crumbs" are not confined only to your beard. Your entire attitude is "crummy." Let the cookies come, and if you don't appreciate them, give them to someone who will. You won't have to look far.

DEAR ABBY: Would you please inform my teen-age girls that no decent boy wants to be called by phone or chased by a girl, regardless of what he may have told her on the back porch last night. I am the mother of a teen-age boy, and I get the message from the other end of the line.

Also, please inform mothers of girls that we, the mothers of boys, appreciate their efforts to provide wives for our sons, but please, leave the driving to us.

My complaint, Dear Abby, is that we are trying to rear our sons to be gentlemen and to respect women. Our method of dealing with a disrespectful, unappreciative "big mouthed" son is to sometimes withhold the use of the family car. Well, tough luck to us! The girl comes over in her family car, and off they go!

Mothers of boys can do only so much. The mothers of daughters have to do the rest. No wonder so many girls get into trouble. They practically wear signs that say, "Here I am, fellows, car and all. Come and get it!"

MRS. I. V. H.
 DEAR ABBY: What great English essayist wrote, "No man worth having is true to his wife, or can be true to his wife, or even was or ever will be so?"

CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: Sir John Vanburgh, an architect and playwright. I don't know how "great" he was, but he is one John who spoke only for himself.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Guide Established For Roasting Turkey

NEW YORK (UPI)—The turkey industry itself is a several minds on recommended roasting times for the traditional Thanksgiving or Christmas bird. So what's a home cook to do?

Bone up on the various suggestions that were rounded up by the American Gas Association and choose the one that you prefer. Or else go out for dinner.

A guide established by California turkey growers uses a 325-degree oven; all weights are quoted for ready-to-cook turkeys. A 6 to 8-pound bird: 2 to 2½ hours; 8-12 pounds, 2½-3 hours; 12-16 pounds, 3-3¼ hours; 16-20 pounds, 3¼-4¼ hours; and 20-24 pounds, 4½-5½ hours. An additional 30 minutes roasting time is recommended if dry meat is preferred.

The Poultry and Egg National Board suggests times ¼ to 2 hours longer than the California growers recommend. Individual packers also suggest different times and print them on the wrappings in which the turkeys are sold.

One point everyone agrees on. If you use a meat thermometer, remove the bird from the oven when the indicator reaches 180-185 degrees. The temperature will continue to rise briefly. Turkey, like other poultry and large cuts of meat, slices better and loses less juice if allowed to set in a warm spot for 20 to 30 minutes after it has finished roasting.

In using a meat thermometer, insert the shaft into the meatiest part of the bird, between second joint and body, but not touching bone.

Sorority Accepting Grant Applications

Alpha Delta Kappa now is accepting applications for its second $8,000 grant for research linking the arts and humanities

Dr. Sallie Pence Is Department Speaker Tuesday

"Exercise For Good Health" was discussed by Dr. Sallie Pence at the meeting of the Home Life Department of the Greenville Woman's Club held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Claude Batts.

Mrs. J. C. Lanier introduced Dr. Pence, who is a retired professor of the University of Kentucky and ECU, now residing in Greenville.

Dr. Pence gave suggestions for simple exercises in daily living. She stressed beginning each day with a few minutes of stretching exercises and continue to make points of exercising while doing household duties.

Consult your physician before taking strenuous exercise was advised by Dr. Pence. Exercise recommended for one person may not be right for another. Walking is a good exercise for all and not too strenuous, she said.

The business meeting was conducted by the chairman, Mrs. W. E. Roseveare. The devotional was given by Mrs. W. C. Harris.

The general meeting will be a covered-dish supper at 6:30 p.m. on Dec. 5 at the club building. The Home Life Department will meet at the Nursing Home for a Christmas program at 3 p.m. on Dec. 16.

Hostesses were Mrs. Batts, Mrs. Dink James, Mrs. C. M. Respass, Mrs. L. L. Rives and Mrs. H. R. Rogers.

to today's problems, Mrs. Margaret Norville of Falkland said today.

Alpha Delta Kappa is an international honorary sorority for women educators.

"Our first award was made to Miss Emily Dennis of New York City," Mrs. Norville said. "She was very active in establishing MUSE, the nationally acclaimed store-front museum in the Bedford - Stuyvesant section of New York. She will use her grant to study how to move the vast resources of the nation's museums out to the people and develop teaching programs to go along with the exhibits."

"The sorority is interested in helping another woman with an innovative research project. The second grant also will be for $8,000. The only guideline we have established is that the applicants must be women who have completed their master's degree work."

"The successful second applicant will be chosen about the first of the 1971 year, but applications must be complete and filed with International Headquarters by July 15, 1970. Considerable time is needed to complete these forms to the best advantage," added Mrs. Norville.

Mrs. Norville said she will forward any requests she gets for applications or interested women may write direct to Mrs. Jeanne Neal, 1615 W. 92nd, Kansas City, Mo., 64114, for applications and instructions.

Governor Reassures Rural Residents

Gov. Scott seemed to be reassuring rural residents that the state will not neglect its secondary road system.

In a recent talk to the State Farm Bureau, the governor said, "Let there be no doubt about it. During these years many dirt roads will be paved. Many dangerous sub-standard bridges will be replaced. Many unprotected railroad crossings will be made safe. Many congested highways will be widened."

Earlier some funds which cannot be spent for primary roads this year were shifted to the secondary road fund where work can be begun more quickly.

While the state needs to make every effort to expand its primary road building efforts, it certainly should not neglect its secondary road needs. Much has been done to improve farm to market roads dating back to the days of Gov. Scott's father, who served as governor from 1949 to 1953.

North Carolina is a far more urbanized state than it was back in Kerr Scott's days, but it is a fact that improved secondary roads benefitted the cities as much as they did the rural areas. The asphalt roads opened the way for farm shoppers to come to the cities at any time to do their shopping and sell their products.

Many of the secondary roads near cities now carry heavy traffic as they bring people in from the countryside to jobs in industry and business in the cities.

As the governor said, there are many sub-standard bridges and unprotected railroad crossings which need improving if the roads are to continue to be of benefit to the motorists.

While the state has a huge system of paved secondary roads, there are also still some rural dirt roads which have the traffic to justify improvements.

North Carolina should not neglect the needs of its rural citizens. There is no doubt that the emphasis is on construction of primary highways and we agree that this is a critical need. However, we believe the primary road needs can be met, while the Highway Commission continues to provide for the needs of rural areas.

Soviet Space Efforts Puzzling To Observers

The Soviet Union's space efforts seem to be a real riddle to observers of the outside world.

If we can believe reports, the Russians have suffered a number of setbacks in their space exploration program. The crash of the space vehicle on the moon during the Apollo 11 success was believed to have represented a failure in achieving the aims of the mission.

Last month, three vehicles were launched but little productive came from it that our experts could observe. Now there is a report of a huge rocket explosion in the Soviet Union which may have set back their moon program two years.

Since the world is told little about the Soviet program all this is still conjecture. It is possible that the Russians may be planning in a different direction now so far as space exploration is concerned. But it is true that little of a spectacular nature has been seen in the Red space program recently.

New 'Messiah' On The Right?

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

CHICAGO—When the Wall Street Journal recently reported that conservative Congressional candidate Philip M. Crane was looking ahead to 1972 for a challenge against liberal Sen. Charles H. Percy in the Republican primary, Crane's response was quick.

Acting on instructions of his professional campaign manager, Jerry Harkins, Crane sent off two telegrams. The first to the Wall Street Journal, contended the report "is totally false and without basis. I have no such intentions." The second telegram, a copy of the first wire, went to Percy himself.

This incident indicates that Crane, a top-heavy favorite to win a special election for Congress next Tuesday (Nov. 25) from Chicago's plush north suburbs, will come to Washington as something more than another freshman lawmaker.

The decision to send Percy a copy of the denial without releasing it generally here reflects the high degree of professional management in the Crane campaign. That reassurance to Percy was intended to forestall voting defections by liberal-to-moderate Republicans led by Percy's supporters in the district. By not giving the telegram general publicity, a speculation about a Percy-Crane confrontation was minimized.

Even more revealing is the fact that Dr. Crane, a 39-year-old former history professor at Bradley University who has never held office, is even mentioned as a challenger to Percy. In truth, the Wall Street Journal item reflected growing sentiment among the Bourbons of the Illinois Republican party that Crane might be the best instrument for their desired destruction of Chuck Percy.

Although a 1972 challenge to Percy by Crane now seems less than likely, Crane unquestionably will be seeking statewide office here in the near future. Beyond that, he could well emerge nationally as the new messiah of the Republican right over the next decade. With President Nixon not trusted and Gov. Ronald Reagan trapped and aging in Sacramento, Crane has the qualities — Hollywood good looks, lecture platform articulation, and instinctive political aptitude — in short supply on the right.

Actually, Crane's sudden emergence as a possibility for high-level politics stems from both luck and shrewd tactics. When Donald Rumsfeld resigned his safe Congressional seat to run Mr. Nixon's poverty program, Crane's friends hired Hal Short, a veteran Republican operative from Washington, to survey the situation.

Short's conclusion: There are at least 17,000 hard-core conservatives in the wealthy district — enough to win if the vote were scattered throughout a big Republican primary field. That concept determined the campaign conducted by Harkins, a lieutenant in the 1964 Draft Goldwater movement under F. Clifton White and now a professional campaign manager based in St. Louis.

Public Forum

To The Editor:

A peaceful march and rally was held in Washington, D.C. on November 15 by 250,000 antiwar demonstrators. Though this event was considered "headline" by most news media, your November 16 paper virtually ignored it. You did, however, give front page coverage to a subsequent violent protest of the trial of the "Chicago eight". The militant fringe involved in this protest numbered fewer than 10,000 persons, most of whom—according to your article—were simply curious. Other than one sentence in this story, your only mention of the peace demonstration was a page three picture of the march with a caption "It was orderly, then." The implication that the peace march was disorderly at any other time is not true.

Last Thursday Vice President Agnew criticized television news for distorting reality by letting bad news drive out good news. Is it your policy to consider a large peaceful march bad news and a comparatively small violent demonstration good news, or must we conclude that Agnew should not have restricted his remarks to television?

'Insult To Community'

Recent actions by the government in regard to cyclamates and DDT remind me, somehow, of recent non-actions by the government in regard to fluoridation of public water supplies. My train of thought also passes by a junction known as genetics. Stay aboard for a moment.

On October 16, Welfare Secretary Finch cracked down upon products containing cyclamates. He ordered all such diet drinks and packaged soft-drink mixes off the market by the end of this year. It was a bold and decisive step toward protection of the public health.

Why was this action taken? It appeared from certain research conducted by Abbott Laboratories that rats subjected to massive daily doses of cyclamates eventually produced a high incidence of urinary bladder tumors. Both Secretary Finch and Dr. Herbert Ley, commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration, went to great lengths to stress that no evidence indicates that cyclamates in normal amounts will cause tumors in man. A soft-drink fan would have to drink 350 bottles a day for life to match the rats' exposure. Nevertheless, a remote possibility of harm existed; so out with cyclamates.

On November 12, Finch made another dramatic announcement: The pesticide DDT will be forbidden for most domestic uses over the next two years. A study commission said this:

"While there is no evidence to indicate that pesticides presently in use actually cause carcinogenic (cancer) or teratogenic (birth deformities) effects in man, nevertheless, the fact that some pesticides cause these effects in experimental mammals indicates cause for concern and careful evaluation."

So out with DDT. And another billion-dollar business down the drain.

Now, it is a curious thing about the fluoridation of public water supplies. Over the past 20 years, 4,400 American communities with a population of 78 million have added a fluoride to their drinking water in order to reduce decay in children's teeth. Most dentists believe the additive is safe and effective. But this view is not universally held.

This past March, John Lear, science editor of Saturday Review, reported upon published papers by scientists of impeccable reputation, warning that fluoridation may have dangers after all. One paper came from Dr. Gerald Posen of Canada, citing the grave

Some Invest Abroad

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Years ago, said Joe Gallagher, a cigar-smoking Hoosier businessman, it was a prestige symbol around the Midwest to own an interest in an oil well. "Now the status symbol is to have a foreign investment."

Well, perhaps not quite. But Gallagher is talking up the idea with scores of businessmen in Indiana and adjoining states, and more than 50 of them have made the plunge. A lot more are likely to follow.

Among the consequences of their investments are: sizable returns, a boost to the economies of underdeveloped nations, and a future dividend of good will for Uncle Sam.

Meeting prospective investors at athletic events, country clubs and social occasions, the intense but easy-talking Gallagher already has encouraged investments in a quinine plant, a flour silo and a dairy in Bolivia.

He and his associates have been awarded oil concession in Togo and Ghana. They are now negotiating the construction of a plant to make inexpensive potable water in Dahomey, West Africa. And plans are being developed to erect and operate soft ice cream companies in South America and Africa.

Many things about Gallagher's operations are unique, but two factors stand out:

—So far all the projects have been in underdeveloped nations, and this policy will continue. To date, Gallagher says, he has found no direct competitors.

—So far all the money has come from small- and medium-sized Midwest businessmen, and so long as Gallagher, 46, can continue talking—and he does that effortlessly—it will continue to come from these people, once thought of as insular and unconcerned with happenings outside their neighborhoods.

Gallagher himself is president of Culligan Water Conditioning Co., a franchise operation of a larger company with a similar name. The chief investor in the Bolivian dairy is Dallas Hardacre, a dairy operator. Both are based in Anderson, Ind.

Vehicle for their investments is a New York-based corporation called Programming for Utilization of Resources, Inc., or PURI, whose aim is to seek opportunities and develop companies to capitalize on them.

An executive vice president, Gallagher talks his fellow businessmen into investing from $3,125 to $25,000 or more. So far the effort has been easy and someday Gallagher expects a waiting list.

Before reaching the investment stage, however, a lot of ground work is done by Gallagher and PURI's president, John Keljikan, a long-time operator of an international investment and trading company.

This is the way Gallagher tells it:

"We see the need. Then we proceed to negotiate with the government. We try for duty-free importation of equipment and tax shelters for investors."

"Next we do a feasibility study. If it shows that the project will begin to pay back after a maximum of two or three years we proceed. If the study shows we cannot expect that return we shelve the idea."

"We always like to take in a percentage of local investors. Even 5 or 10 per cent. But the

Squirming Under Fed Restraints

By ELMER ROESSNER
Bankers, most of whom have been profiting handsomely from the spread between what they are allowed to pay on deposits and what they can get on loans, are becoming increasingly critical of the way the administration is using monetary controls in its so far futile fight on inflation.

Ralph F. Leach, vice chairman of the Morgan Guaranty Trust board, told a meeting of the American Club in Paris that the methods used in American monetary policy have retarded the effect of the policy in curbing inflation at home and disturbing money markets abroad.

He said the Federal Reserve's refusal to allow commercial banks to raise money through certificates of deposit, on which they could pay higher interest rates,

"may well rank as one of the greatest monetary misadventures in monetary history."

ELMER ROESSNER

No Curb On Borrowing
He said that the Fed's interest-rate ceiling has caused banks to lose about $12 billion in deposits, but "a large part of the $12 billion went into the commercial paper market, where it provided a pool of credit availability for business borrowers."

The First National Bank of Boston in its New England Letter states: "With the major price indexes continuing to move upward at unacceptably strong rates and with labor costs and low productivity casting real doubts about near-term trends, the realities of inflationary pressure and expectations continue to overshadow the promises and prospects of significant slackening in the economy."

Some evidence of slowdown has appeared, it concedes, "but many of the key business indicators have been bouncing around in such an undependable manner as to defy rational analysis."

Unsettling Questions
It adds that 1970 is "likely to be a year of significantly slower growth," and with limited and halting progress in stemming the advancing tide of prices. "The bank then asks: 'What about overtime and premium pay? What will happen to marginal workers if labor markets become less tight? What about the opportunities for 'moonlighting' by which 3.6 million workers were recently holding two or more jobs? Will the labor force absorb larger numbers of women, adding to the families with two or more wage earners? ... 'What about the continuation of 1968-69 strong union wage gains, in part attributable to the slow rise in real purchasing power?'"

The Cleveland Trust Co. in its Business Bulletin; however, says that easing monetary restraints now would be premature. It says, "One can only shudder at the thought of what the rate of inflation and interest rates might be by 1970 if it once again becomes apparent that the Federal Reserve policy has been eased prematurely and in the mistaken belief that Congress will extend the surtax."

With little support inside the regular Republican organization, Harkins built his own precinct network predicated on conservative fervor. Blind telephone calls were made to voters asking if they were "conservatives"; if the answer were yes, a pitch was made for Crane. Although Rumsfeld was prepared to make an endorsement to avert a victory by Crane, such intervention seemed unnecessary. Crane's win against six foes with less than a quarter of the vote was a stunning surprise Oct. 7.

Crane's tactic since have been to de-emphasize his conservatism, guarding against a bolt by liberal Republicans to his Democratic foe — state Rep. Edward Warman — and dulling charges against him of right-wing extremism and connections with the John Birch Society (a strategy recommended by the Democratic National Committee).

For instance, when a hostile questioner on a recent television panel program asked how Crane could reconcile his own hard-line Vietnam program laid out during the primary campaign with President Nixon's withdrawal plan, he responded by simply jettisoning his own proposals. Even some liberal Republicans here feel Crane may be susceptible to moderation.

damage that results when fluoridated water is used in the dialysis baths of artificial kidneys.

Relatively speaking, the fluoride that flows through a dialysis bath is like the cyclamates fed to laboratory rats; it is a massive proposition. But the reaction of U.S. health officials to Lear's article and Posen's paper was pooh-pooh. The American Dental Association will not even listen to such evidence.

This transpired last month, when Dr. A. Allen London of Boonton, N.J., an expert in the field, sought a chance to speak at an ADA-sponsored symposium on fluoridation. There is mounting evidence, he said, showing the possibility of side-effects from lifetime ingestion of fluoride-treated drinking water. He proposed to present a scholarly summary of these findings.

On October 3, he received this reply from Mary Bernhardt, secretary of the Council on Dental Health of the ADA: "The type of presentation which you are suggesting might have been appropriate a generation ago when the early scientific studies on fluoridation were being carried out. The theme of the Symposium is not controversy, but additional documentation of the universality of experience of the safety and effectiveness of fluoridation, world-over. Presentation of the type of paper you propose would be an insult to the scientific community today."

One Of Top Self-Help Through Nickels For Awards For Pitt's Unit Know-How Urged In Tues. Vote

DURHAM — The Pitt County Chapter of Farm Bureau received one of the top awards at the 34th annual meeting of the North Carolina Farm Bureau held here this week.

The Pitt Chapter received a certificate for the following reasons: for holding monthly board of director meetings; had public relations committee; involved in policy development; active in securing desired legislation; having adequate financial management; for progressive service to member programs; aggressive membership committee activity; full participation by Farm Bureau women; for the group's state Farm Bureau project and local FB project; and for meeting the membership quota.

Pitt County Farm Bureau President J.C. Galloway was presented a gold vest in celebration of the 50th anniversary of the national farm bureau organization which was formed in November, 1919.

The Pitt County FB has a membership of 2,186. Mrs. Wilbur Worthington of Ayden was nominated as a delegate to attend the national convention in Washington, D.C., Dec. 8-12.

IN A NUTSHELL
ST. LOUIS (UPI)—The Rev. Paul C. Reinert, S.J., president of St. Louis University, touched on inflation in a speech. "Among the things money can't buy," he said, "are the things it used to."

Farmers and their families were urged to vote Tuesday in the Nickels for Know-How referendum.

According to Edwin L. Yancey, Pitt County Extension Chairman, this is a unique self-help program through which five cents is collected for each ton of feed and fertilizer purchased. The money is used solely for the support of an agricultural research and education at North Carolina State University.

Pitt County farmers have benefited particularly from research in tobacco (disease complexes, mosaic control, sucker control, automatic curing); peanuts (nematode control, varieties, insect control); and pork production (parasite control, meat quality, curing hams, feeding sows).

The Pitt County polling places for the referendum are as follows: Ayden, King Brothers Farm Center; Bell Arthur, Webb's Supply Store; Belvoir, McAlvin Turner's Store; Bethel, Tri-County Feed Mill; Black Jack, W.C. Spencer; Chicod, Gardner and Travis Store; Falkland, W.W. Wooten Store; Farmville, FCX and the Milling Co.; Greenville, Agricultural Extension Office, FCX, Drum's Hatchery and Feed Store, ASCS Office and H.L. Hodges and Co.;

Gardnerville, Stokes and Lane Store; Grifton, W.I. Bissette's Office; Grimesland, Mobil Farm Center; Pactolus, C.J. Satterthwaite Store; Simpson, Porter's Supply; Stokes, Stokes and Congleton Store; Winterville, Winterville Town Hall.

For additional information, farmers may call the Agricultural Extension Service, 758-1196.

Drs. McAllister and Hix presented the papers before the 21st Southeastern Regional Meeting of the ACS in Richmond recently.

Dr. Hix received the BA degree and the PHD from Vanderbilt University and has done post-doctoral work at California Institute of Technology.

Nearly One In Four Is Musical

Dr. McAllister received the BA degree from Mercy University and the PhD from the University of South Carolina. He has done post-doctoral work at Vanderbilt University.

The meeting will be held at the Barbecue Lodge, Goldsboro Highway, Kinston. The program begins at 7:30, preceded by a social hour at 5:30 and dinner at 6:30.

SLOW START
HOVE, England (AP)—Snail racing is becoming a craze in Britain. In a recent event staged for charity, a snail named Rex covered a two-foot course in seven minutes and five seconds, claimed as a record. But Sussex schoolboy Chris Hudson established a new record with Mickey which did 2½ feet in seven minutes.

Started Early On Demon Drink

MANCHESTER, Eng. (AP)—Michelle Ratcliffe's introduction to the demon drink brought her a king-size hangover.

It started in the early morning at her home near here.

She knocked back half a bottle of sherry and was soon staggering all over the living room.

She was whisked off to the hospital where the doctor made a snap diagnosis—"drunk."

"There's not much we can do for her except let her sleep it off," said a hospital spokesman.

"She's not ill—just drunk." Michelle is 8-years-old.

Brown Eggs Are Research Result

LONDON (AP)—After years of painstaking research, British scientists have proudly unveiled their latest achievement—a hen that is guaranteed to lay nothing but brown eggs.

The infallible fowl, known as the Sykes Brown, weighs five pounds and is a dark-chocolate color. It is genetically incapable of laying a white egg.

Scientists worked six years and used a computer worth 60,000 pounds ($144,000 U.S.) to produce the bird which is the result of patient crossings between various strains of Rhode Island Reds.

Ruled Heir To Fortune

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A Ft. Bragg, N.C., Army sergeant has triumphed in a six-sided will contest and is to inherit a $45 million land, cattle and oil fortune.

The Texas Supreme Court declined Wednesday to review lower court decisions granting the Electra Waggoner estate to Sgt. Albert Buckman "Bucky" Wharton III.

Wharton is the 22-year-old grandson and only living descendant of Electra Waggoner, daughter of the Texas cattle and oil baron W. T. Waggoner.

The estate was part of Waggoner's Texas-sized empire of ranches and oil wells that spread over a million-acre area by 1903. Before his death in 1934, Waggoner divided up his holdings between his daughter Electra and two sons, Guy and Paul. Electra's share was a chunk of land covering more than a quarter of a million acres in six counties.

She had two sons, Tom Wharton and Albert Buckman Wharton Jr., both by her first husband, Albert Buckman Wharton Sr. Her maiden name was restored when her third marriage was annulled.

Despite his eight marriages, Tom Wharton died childless in 1928. The death of his brother Albert, known as "Buster," signaled the beginning of a struggle for the Waggoner holdings.

Buster Wharton had a son, Bucky, and an adopted daughter Rita, the child of his second wife. Lower court decisions had cut off Rita and four other claimants to all or parts of the fortune.

Two Turkey Shoots Here

The Greenville Recreation Department announced that two turkey shoots are being conducted in Greenville, one on Friday afternoon and one on Saturday morning.

Six turkeys, each weighing 16 lbs., will be given as prizes.

The first shoot will be held at the South Greenville Recreation Gym on Friday afternoon between 3:30 and 5:30 p.m. The second shoot, on Saturday morning, is to be between the hours of 9:00 and 11:00 a.m. at the Elm Street Recreation Gym.

Both shoots will be divided into three categories — Junior high, senior high and adult. Each contestant will be given 10 foul shots for 25 cents. The best shots out of 10 in each class will be the winner.

The actual shooting will be simulated, with contestants shooting basketballs into a goal instead of actually shooting live ammunition at live birds.

Girls, boys, men and women are invited to participate in this public event.

NEW YORK (AP) — C. Douglas Dillon, an investment banker who who secretary of the Treasury in the Kennedy administration, takes over as president of the Metropolitan Museum of Art Jan. 1.

The museum announced Wednesday that Dillon had been elected to succeed Arthur A. Houghton Jr., president of Steuben Glass and the Met's president since 1964. Houghton was elected chairman of the board. Dillon, an art patron and collector who has been a museum trustee since 1961, was elected vice president last year. He is expected to play a key role in helping the Met improve its financial position.

Modlin, Gregory Lead Varsity Victory

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
 East Carolina University's basketball Buccaneers were unveiled last night, and it proved that the Pirates might be again a challenger in the Southern Conference.

The Bucs easily demolished the freshmen in the annual Purple-Gold game, 96-69. For most of the game, the varsity enjoyed around a 20-point lead. In the second half, the margin fell under 20 only once in the last 15 minutes, and never to less than 16.

Coach Tom Quinn expressed pleasure at the showing, but noted that the team was not in as good a shape as he had thought they were. "We got complacent when we got ahead," he noted. The Bucs were also bothered by turnovers, picking up 25 of them. But the freshmen had even more troubles, losing the ball 35 times.

The varsity did show however, that it can score, as four of the five starters broke into double figures: They also went to the boards well, completely dominating that phase of the game.

In the rebounding, senior co-captain Jim Modlin showed the way. He pulled down 14 during the game. Jim Gregory picked up eight more, and sophomore Jim Fairley had seven. Overall, the varsity pulled down 52, while the freshmen had 42.

In the scoring, Modlin again was the standout, hitting 29 points. He dropped in an amazing 10 of 16 from the floor, and hit on nine of 11 from the line.

Gregory was next, hitting on 11 field goals and two free throws for 24. He was playing with a wrist injury, and this, according to Quinn, affected his timing. He missed on 14 attempts from the floor.

Also in double figures were Fairley and senior guard Tom Miller. Fairley finished with 16 points, while Miller had 11. Fairley was hampered, however, by getting into foul trouble early, and eventually fouling out of the game midway through the second half.

For the freshmen, 6-8 Al Faber led the way with 17 points, while Dave Franklin had 16, Ernie Pope had 15 and Dave McNeil had 10.

The varsity controlled the game all the way, scoring the first points and never letting the freshmen catch up with them after that. Gregory put the varsity ahead in the opening seconds, running in for a layup after the opening tip. Fairley followed with a three point play before the first minute of play was gone, running the score to 5-0.

The freshmen then got onto the scoreboard with a free throw by Steve McKenzie, but the varsity continued to pull away. It wasn't until 14:42 was left in the half that the freshmen finally con-ected from the field, and the score at that point was 20-6.

With Gregory, Modlin and Fairley each hitting on five field goals in the first half, the varsity pulled steadily away, building their lead to as many as 23 points late in the period. Jim Kiernan pushed the margin over 20 for the first time with a drive at 6:53, making it 37-16. The freshmen rallied to cut it back to 14, but the varsity pulled away again, moving out to a 47-24 lead just before the end of the half. The half ended with the varsity in a 47-28 lead.

In the second half, the freshmen began to score more easily, but still couldn't match the varsity. Overall in the half, the freshmen dropped in 41 points, but the varsity got 49.

The Pirates plan to hold another short public scrimmage on Saturday afternoon, immediately following the East Carolina-Southern Mississippi football game in Ficklen Stadium. No admission charge will be made for the scrimmage.

VMI Suffers Another Blow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Right about now, Vito Ragazzo must be wondering why he took the job as football coach at Virginia Military Institute.

When Ragazzo stepped into the position in 1966, the Keydets had experienced two losing seasons under John McKenna after six years of finishing above .500—and Ragazzo's first team won just two of 10 starts.

Came 1967, however, and sophomore quarterback Russ Quay took charge at midseason to direct the Keydets to a 6-4 record with victories in their last four games, including a 12-10 shocker over rival Virginia Tech.

Quay didn't return for 1968—he got married instead—and the Keydets suffered through a 1-9 season in which the one bright spot was the running of sophomore Tom Sowers, who led all Southern Conference groundgainers.

Even with Sowers back for 1969, the Keydets suffered a pre-season blow when cocaptain Chuck Marks dropped out of school.

Wednesday, just eight days before the big game with Virginia Tech in which the Keydets will take an 0-9 record, the crusher came.

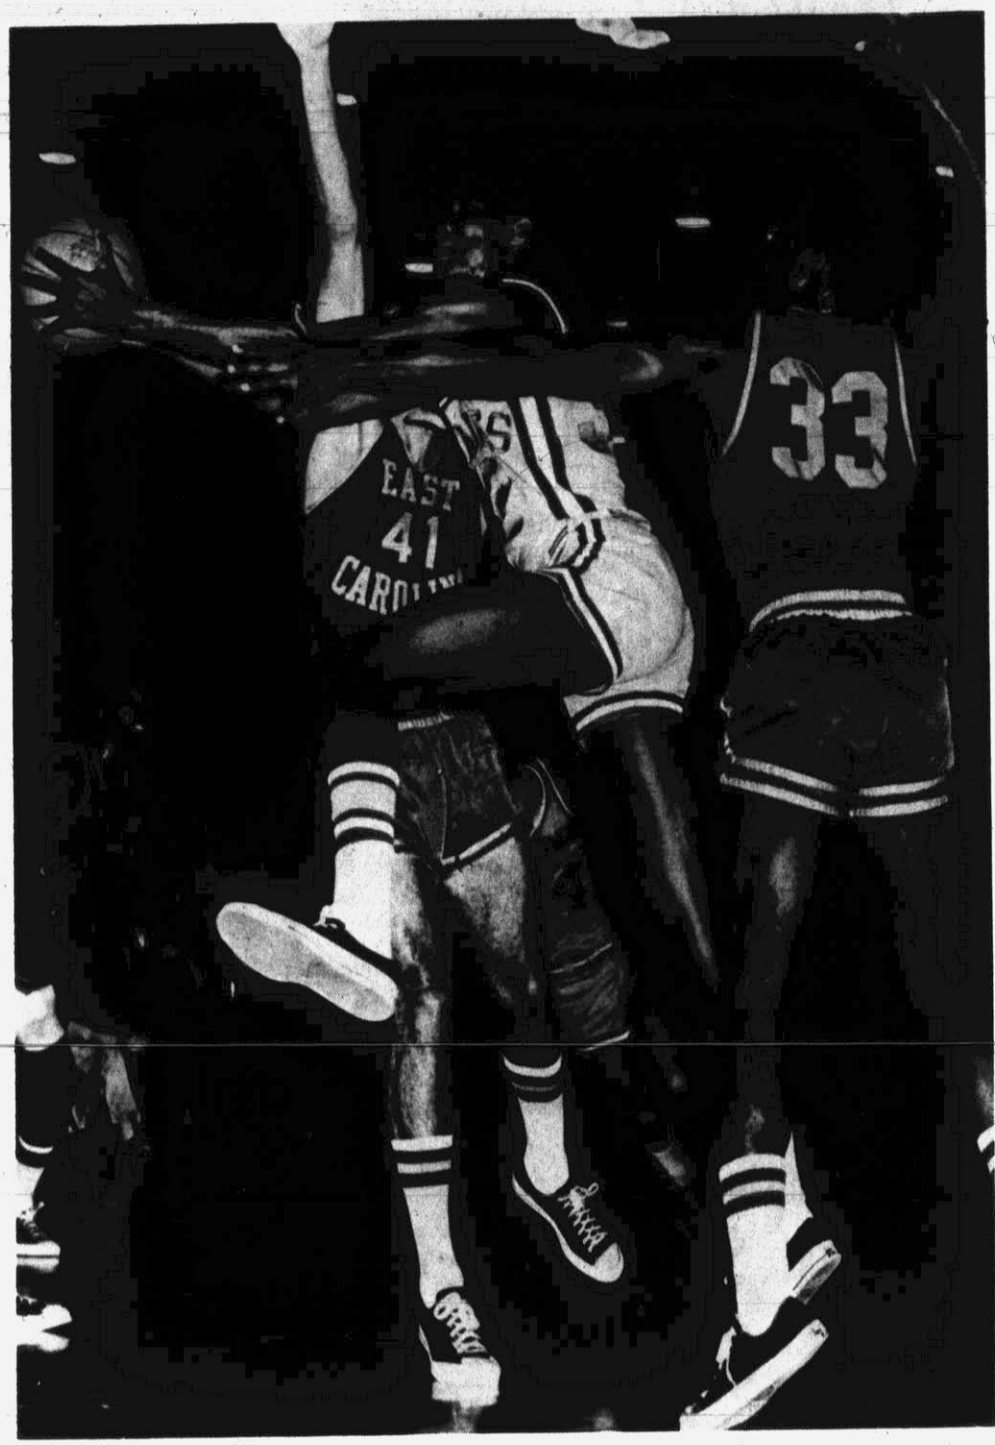

Sowers, injured much of the season, and another junior runner, Tom Beyer, left school for personal reasons. Each had accounted for 162 yards rushing—half the Keydets' feeble total of 648 in nine games.

Ragazzo has until next Thursday to try to shore up his offense—it could be with Rich Thomas, a converted defensive back who gained 125 yards and scored three touchdowns in his offensive debut last Saturday.

Weather was a factor in some training camps Wednesday.

Richmond and William and Mary, who play Saturday for second place in the league standings, drilled in the rain. The Indians worked on their offensive game plan and sharpened their defense against Richmond's passing.

The emphasis was on two-minute offense as The Citadel held a light workout for Friday night's finale against Chattanooga. Fullback Butch Colson, center Terry Edmondson and guard Earl Burton were praised during a contact session at East Carolina, which meets Southern Mississippi.

Sophomore Jim Fairley, with ball, drives through two freshmen defenders to score in last night's Purple-Gold game. Fairley, who got into foul trouble early in the game, still scored 16 points before leaving for good. Defending against him are Steve McKenzie (41) and Dave Franklin (33). The varsity won, 96-69. (Reflector Photo)

Swim Team On Display

East Carolina University's swimming team will go on public display Saturday afternoon following the East Carolina-Southern Mississippi football game.

The Pirates, under Coach Ray Scharf, will hold their Purple-Gold meet, following the conclusion of the game, in Minges Natatorium, at the rear of the coliseum.

The Pirates, four times Southern Conference champions, expect to field their best team this year. The public is invited to attend the meet. No admission will be charged.

Defends Single Wing

Butch Colson Ending Rushing Career

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

Saturday afternoon, sometime around 4 o'clock, the college football career of East Carolina University's most prolific runner will draw to a close.

Butch Colson, who holds a number of school rushing records, among them three career marks, will conclude two years of relative unhappiness after basking in the glories of the Southern Conference as a sophomore.

In his first year as a varsity player, Colson went from being a second-string fullback in the opening game of the season to being the Southern Conference's Player of the Year by the time the year closed.

The time was the William and Mary game at the start of the season in 1967. Colson went into the contest behind George Gay. But early in the first quarter, Gay suffered a broken leg, and Colson was called from the bench. He had been the starting fullback on an undefeated freshman squad the year before, and he knew how to carry the ball. By the time the game had ended, Colson had led the Pirates to a 27-7 victory, and was on his way to stardom.

During the year, he went on to run for 1,135 yards, established a new East Carolina, and a new Southern Conference rushing mark, both of which still stand. He also scored 92 points, leading the conference in this area, also.

But after that, things got blackier instead of brighter. The Pirates had enjoyed an 8-2 year that season, but during Colson's junior year, they fell off to 4-6, and this year, with one game left, the Bucs are 2-6.

And it has been disappointing to Colson.

"I really want to win this last one," he said. "We have been messing around all year and we haven't done anything. I've been pretty disappointed in myself and in the team, too. I feel we could have done a lot better than we have."

Colson admits that the reason he hasn't done as well in picking up yardage is because he lacks the fine blockers he had as a sophomore. "(Keven) Moran, (John) Schwartz and (Paul) Schnurr were all great blockers," Colson said. "It doesn't matter what formation you're running; you've got to have the blockers to move the ball."

Colson took aim on those who have been critical of the single wing. East Carolina is the only major college in the country still using the system, seen by many as obsolete. "I don't think they should sack the single wing. Any team has to have good blocking to succeed. It would be a real mistake to get rid of the single wing."

"It's something only East Carolina is using, and it just needs the players to make it work. Any good formation needs good players. The single wing has the advantage in its deception. It's a ball-control offense that can win."

Among the records Colson has set during his career are most yards gained, most times rushing, and most total plays. Currently, these read, 2,341 yards, 597 rushes, and 682 plays. He also holds the mark for most rushes in a season, 252, as well as the mentioned most yards in a season.

But oddly, none of these figure in Colson's idea of his own best moment. "They'll go sometime," he referred to his records. "I don't think much about them."

Colson's best game, in his own estimation, was this year's Davidson game, when the Bucs lost, 42-27, after leading 27-0 with a minute left in the half. "I didn't gain a lot of yardage in the game," he said. "But I was able to block a lot for Billy (Wightman), and help him set a new conference rushing record." Wightman ran for 245 yards in the contest, and Colson was singled out by Coach Clarence Stasavich as having had his best day blocking.

"I've enjoyed these four years," he said. "There have been some good times, and the bad times, when we lost."

"It would be nice to be Player of the Year again," Colson said. "But I can't do anything about that now. Getting it really was a team effort. It belonged to the rest of them just as much as to me."

So Saturday will wind up football for Colson, who admits that he probably won't play pro ball. "I doubt that I measure up to their standards, but if they talk to me, I might change my mind. I certainly won't go looking for a shot with a team. I've got other responsibilities."

And following graduation, high school football, and maybe, just maybe, someday he and another fullback to his alma mater, who'll break the marks he set.

In Final Game

Butch Colson will close out his career Saturday as an East Carolina University football player after establishing three new career rushing records at East Carolina. He has been the most prolific runner at the school, and was Southern Conference Player of the Year as a sophomore.

McCovey Voted MVP In National League

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie McCovey, San Francisco's home run and runs batted in champion, shaded Tom Seaver, the New York Mets' ace who led the majors with 25 victories for the 1969 National League Most Valuable Player Award Thursday although each received 11 first place votes.

McCovey wound up with 265 points to Seaver's 243 in the balloting of the 24-man committee of the Baseball Writers Association announced by Jack Lang, secretary-treasurer. The secret vote by two committee men from each league city was taken after the season and before the playoffs and included only regular season performances. Lang tabulated the votes this week.

Hank Aaron, Atlanta outfielder who ranks No. 3 on the all-time home run list, was third with two first-place votes and 188 points. Aaron won the MVP in 1957 when the Braves were in Milwaukee. Pete Rose of Cincinnati, the two-time batting champ, was next with 127 points, followed closely by Ron Santo, Chicago's third baseman, with 124.

Tommie Agee and Cleon Jones, who play side by side in the Mets' outfield, were next. Agee had 89 points and Jones, who led the league during most of the summer, had 82 points.

Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh, the winner in 1966, was eighth with 51 points, followed by Phil Niekro, Atlanta's knuckleball pitcher with 47 and Tony Perez, Cincinnati third baseman, with 28.

In addition to Aaron, and Clemente, other former MVP winners to get votes were Ernie Banks, the 1958-59 champ, 15; Maury Wills, of Los Angeles, the 1962 winner, 17; Bob Gibson of St. Louis, last year's MVP, 2, and Orlando Cepeda of Atlanta, the 1967 MVP, 1.

Now 2 Boys Clubs Move Into Winter's Program

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer
As the Greenville Boys Club gets underway into a full winter session, it is now two clubs strong — with the original club at the former Presbyterian Church on Skinner Street, and a new club at Moyewood.

One of the prime coming attractions for the boys is a free trip to the ECU-Southern Mississippi football game on Saturday, November 22. Richard Ullom, director, states that for this affair, members must have their Boys' Club card in order to be eligible to attend. There will be a bus at both Skinner Street and Moyewood to take the boys to the game. The buses will leave at 11:30 a. m. Other joint programs scheduled for the near future include:
—A Turkey Day race and Williamston. Saturday afternoon from Flanagan and Parker Funeral home.

Turnage
HOOKERTON — James Harper (Jimmy) Turnage, 62, of Route 1, Hookerton died suddenly Wednesday.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday at 3 p.m. at Edwards Funeral Home in Snow Hill, with the Rev. J.L. Hood officiating. Burial will be in Rainbow Cemetery.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Lottie Grant Turnage of the home; four daughters, Mrs. J. Elbert Mills of Greenville, Mrs. Mary E. Pierce of Route 1, Hookerton, Mrs. Donald Howard of Kinston, and Miss Doris Turnage of the home; five sons, Theodore of the home, Wayne of Stantonsburg, and Mack, Allen, and Marvin, all of Kinston; three sisters, Mrs. Lena Seymour of Kinston, Mrs. Charlie Cole of Route 1, Hookerton, and Mrs. Floyd Whaley of Grifton; 16 grandchildren; and one great grandchild.

Cradle
Funeral services for Mrs. Estella J. Cradle of 205 Humphrey Street, Farmville, will be held Sunday at 1:30 p. m., at St. Matthew Free Will Baptist Church, with the Pastor Rev. Bernard Newsome officiating. Burial will follow in Sunset Memorial Park.

Mrs. Cradle was a charter member of St. Matthew Free Will Baptist Church and worked on the Usher Board.
She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Dora Bell Howard of Farmville; two brothers, Este Joyner of Norfolk, Va., and Robert Joyner of Baltimore, Md.
Visitation hour will be from 8:00 p. m. to 9:00 p. m. Saturday.
The body will be at Joyner's Mortuary Saturday after 6:00 p. m. and will be taken to the church one hour before the funeral.

turkey shoot will enter its final stage on Monday, November 24. Winners will be given a free Thanksgiving turkey.
—Also on Monday 24, the joint choir will practice at 4:00 p.m. Ullom states that the choir will visit other cities to sing, and will also make a number of appearances in Greenville.
—Another exciting new program is the "Run For Governor Program." In this physical fitness program the idea is to run enough laps to get the candidate from Greenville to particular state's capital. Once a boy builds up enough credits to become the governor of every state, he will receive an award as "Mr. President." Each time a physical fitness candidate achieves a governorship, he receives a certificate.

The week of November 17-22 is tournament week at both the clubs. Several portions of the tournament have been completed, but of those remaining, the Bubble Gum Contest and the carpetball tournament promises great fun. Ullom reminds all the boys that participation is the keynote in accumulating points for winning a Trojan Award. He noted that many of the members began on this project last spring, and are making good progress toward earning the award. "All you have to do is to continue to participate and build up your point total," Ullom comments.

A number of activities are scheduled each week at both clubs. Generally, activities at each club parallel those of the other. Character guidance clinics, games, arts and crafts, movies, contests and tournaments are some of the regular activities offered to boys who are members. From time to time special events are added to the regular agenda.
Ullom says that in efforts to constantly expand the scope and interest of activities, a need for volunteer workers exist in several fields. Some of the present needs for volunteer workers are for:
—Homework tutoring program.
—First aid classes.
—"Discovery 70" reading

programs.
—Choir leaders.
—Group clubs. (For specialized subject groups).
—Travel clubs (volunteers to show slides, give talks on foreign countries and on local areas).
—Newspaper Club.
In addition to the need for volunteer workers, there is also a need for donation of sport and other items. Among items most needed at this time are: Library books, magazines, reference books, air rifles, basketballs, footballs, basketball goals, a television set, radios, and ping pong tables.

Anyone interested in donate for the members is volunteering to help out at the encouraged to contact director Boys' Club or who has items to Ullom by telephoning 758-4029.

Rose Knows No Defeat

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) — "I don't intend to be laid low or pulverized," Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy once told an interviewer. "If I collapsed, the morale of the family would suffer."

With that same unbending determination to carry through, Rose Fitzgerald Kennedy buries her husband of 55 years today.

Every aspect of the funeral bears her unmistakable touch. The white funeral mass at the tiny Roman Catholic church in Hyannis was of Rose's choosing. A family spokesman said she wished the service to emphasize the joy of resurrection rather than the sorrow of death.

Deeply religious, she recently responded with a direct answer to a question that baffled many others.

"What sustains you?" someone asked.
"I think God has given us a lot of joy as well as ordeals," was her solemn and unhesitating reply. "I have had faith. I believe that our lives are destined for a certain role, a certain commitment God has given us. And I shall follow it."

The illiteracy rate in South Korea is down to about 10 per cent.

AT KIWANIS MEETING . . . Waldrop and Horne discuss utilities bond vote set for December 2.

Explain Bond Issue Plan To Kiwanians

The Kiwanis Club last night heard Greenville Utilities Commission officials outline information supporting a proposed $4 million bond issue for expansion of utilities to be voted on here December 2.

Kiwanian and chairman of the utilities commission Ed Waldrop, and GUC director Charles Horne presented the information.

The proposed bond issue would provide for expansion of the city's water, sewer, gas and electric facilities so that Greenville will be able to keep pace in its industrial, commercial and residential growth, the officials pointed out.

The bonds, they said, are to be paid for with revenues from the operation of the utilities system and are deemed necessary to provide capital to finance the expansion needs.

The two officials emphasized that the bond program, if approved by the voters, will not increase or affect taxes or require an increase in utility rates.

The proposals to be voted on include: the issuance of $1 in water bonds to increase present water treatment plant capacity and extend water mains; the issuance of $1.5 million in sewer bonds to provide for expansion of the present waste treatment plant and extend sewer outfall lines; $500,000 in gas bonds to extend natural gas mains; and $1 million in electric bonds to build adequate transmission lines and new substations and to replace obsolete street lighting units and upgrade the city's entire street lighting program.

Haynsworth Nomination Fight Climaxes Friday

By JOHN CHADWICK Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most of the dwindling band of uncommitted senators apparently plan no announcement in advance of Friday's voting on the Supreme Court nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr.

But three senators—Democrat Jennings Randolph of West Virginia and Republicans John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky and Charles McC. Mathias of Maryland—said they would announce their positions today.

As debate resumed today, an Associated Press survey showed 44 senators for confirmation, 41 opposed and 15 uncommitted in the dramatic, down-to-the-wire battle.

Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., is one of the uncommitted willing to leave the outcome in suspense to the last.

"I'm not going to make any comment," said the Oregon Republican. "I'm just going to vote."

Similarly, in a separate interview, Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-

Ohio, said he will not make his position known until he votes. "I might want to change my mind," he said.

Senate GOP Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania previously has said he will have no statement in advance of the vote, and this was the word also from Republican Sens. Charles H. Percy of Illinois and Robert W. Packwood of Oregon.

Packwood's office said, however, it could be stated publicly that he is leaning against the nomination. Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., was reported by his office to be in the same category.

Two of the Senate's senior Republicans split Wednesday when John J. Williams of Delaware came out against Haynsworth and George D. Aiken of Vermont announced he would vote for confirmation.

Haynsworth, chief judge of the 4th U.S. Court of Appeals, also picked up the votes of two other Republican senators, J. Caleb Boggs of Delaware and Ted Stevens of Alaska.

The decision by Williams was hailed by opponents of Haynsworth's nomination as a major break for their side.

"Williams' decision is really more than one vote," said Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind. "Many members of both parties consider him the conscience of the Senate."

But within hours Aiken, the dean of Republican senators, was out with a statement in support of Haynsworth.

A covered dish luncheon will be served immediately following the meeting at the Chapter House.

Opening lead: Five of ♠ Proper planning by South at the outset of the campaign provided the extra stroke required to land a touch and go three no trump contract.

West opened the five of spades, the queen was played from dummy and East won the trick with the ace. The jack of spades was returned, dislodging declarer's king.

South was in desperate straits. If he made a move to establish some heart tricks, the opposition would surely put up the ace and then cash a sufficient number of spades to send him down to defeat.

Declarer's only chance was to run the minor suits without surrendering the lead. If he could win four tricks each in diamonds and clubs, these along with the king of spades already in, would bring his total up to nine.

He first cashed the king and queen of clubs, so that he might retain a finessing position against West in the event that the latter had started with four clubs to the jack. When the jack appeared on the second lead, however, assuring that the suit divided favorably, South overtook his queen with North's ace in order to provide the maximum number of entries to dummy.

The six of diamonds was played and declarer successfully finessed the jack. The North hand was reentered by leading the five of clubs over to the ten and on the diamond return, South put in the queen which dropped West's ten and promoted declarer's nine to finessing rank.

The carefully preserved deuce of clubs was overtaken by dummy's four so that a third diamond could be led. When East followed with the five, South put in the nine and West showed out. The ace of diamonds provided declarer with his ninth trick, and he graciously conceded the balance to the opposition.

The Worry Clinic Some Hazards For The Deaf

Heed Prof. Holcomb's wise comments below. For there are literally millions of hard-of-hearing folks, plus many stone deaf individuals, who also suffer from those same hazards. Yet most people don't even dream of these handicaps. Urge your children to be more socially attentive and thus tactful.

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M.D.
CASE L-521: Prof. Roy K. Holcomb is a leading educator of the deaf.

We've been friends for many years, for I spent several years at Gallaudet College as Research Psychologist with the National Research Council.

And Gallaudet College is the unique institution of higher learning for the graduates of our various state schools for the deaf.

"Dr. Crane," Prof. Holcomb began, "I have some more of the little, everyday hazards which deaf people encounter."

"And they also apply to the millions of hard-of-hearing folks."

"So if you care to release them via your daily column, feel free to do so."

Hazards of Deafness

(1) While typewriting, you can't hear the warning bell at the end of the line, so you line becomes too long and spoils the even right margin of your letter.

(2) While in a barber chair, the barber asks for further instructions while he is standing behind you, yet you don't even realize he has asked you a question.

(3) You order something from a store. But it cannot phone you when delivery is to be made. After several futile attempts to deliver your merchandise, it gives up and waits for you to come back and pick up your order.

(4) At a social event where most of the people can hear, you are asked a question by somebody at your side. Since you can't even see his lips, you don't realize you are expected to respond.

(5) If you are attending the usual high school or college, you miss the oral lectures and must wear out your eyes trying to do excessive reading to make up for your lack of hearing.

(6) At a bus station or airport, if a change of schedule is announced over the loud speaker, you don't hear this vital information so you may miss your connection.

(7) If you are waiting at a store where you take a number that will designate when your turn comes, you don't hear it called out so miss your turn.

(8) You may be in a store that is being robbed and don't hear the thief's demand to put your hands in the air. Or may miss a policeman's demand that you stand still.

(9) You may be unexpectedly asked to work overtime, but can't telephone your wife of this fact.

(10) As a gift, you may receive a radio set, but can't use it. And you never turn up the volume on a TV set, for you must rely on trying to read lips.

(11) If you take a stroll with a girl friend or are on a hike, as soon as dusk arrives, you can't read lips, so you are verbally isolated.

(12) At church or funerals when the clergyman asks everybody to bow his head, you either miss the prayer or appear irreverent if you keep your head up to watch the speaker's lips.

(13) If the electric light fuses are burned out during a storm, you cannot communicate at all with your family or associates.

(14) If somebody at the side or behind you, calls out for a match or the correct time, you don't hear the request and thus engender anger for what seems to be snobbish disregard of the question.

(15) If the waitress, standing behind you, asks if you wish more coffee, you seem rude by ignoring her, yet you didn't hear her query!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Map Plans For Ft. Bragg Rally

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina antiwar organizations are making tentative plans for a statewide rally at Ft. Bragg around the middle of December.

Charles Jeffress, chairman of the North Carolina Moratorium Committee, said Wednesday the rally would be to focus attention on servicemen opposed to the war.

Jeffress also said local antiwar groups would encourage church activities in conjunction with the Christmas season.

Tillett Named To State Post

Former U.S. District Attorney Geroge Tillett of Edenton has been appointed assistant coordinator of the State Highway Commission's Equal Employment Opportunity section.

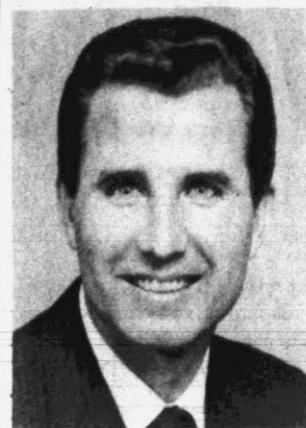

Tillett, 46, is the son of Dr. J. M. Tillett, who preached at Cornerstone Baptist Church in Greenville for many years, retiring last year. Until Tuesday, Tillett was assistant U. S. District Attorney for Eastern North Carolina. His new job will pay $15,000 a year.

His immediate superior in the newly enlarged EEO division will be Curtis Collier, a career engineer who has been the division coordinator for about two years, according to George Willoughby, acting highway administrator.

Willoughby said federal law requires highway contractors working with federal money involved not to discriminate in hiring policies, adding that "the policy of the Highway Commission has been to cooperate to the fullest with regulations of the 1964 Civil Rights Act, the 1968 Highway Act, and the Appalachian Regional Development Act."

According to one highway spokesman, about eight per cent of all primary and urban contracts, all interstate contracts, and less than 50 per cent of all secondary contracts are partially financed with federal funds. Non-discriminatory policy covers not only hiring, but also the treatment of employees and pay rate, Willoughby said.

Collier and Tillett will monitor all highway contracts involving federal funds, Willoughby said.
