Lunar Rock Samples Are Said Bigger

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Scientists say rocks brought back from the moon by the Apollo 12 astronauts are larger than those returned by the Apollo 11 crew in July. The first part of the collection is dominated by softball-sized stones and includes some more than six inches long and five inches in diameter. All are covered with fine grey dust.

MOSCOW (AP) — A small chunk of the moon has become the star attraction at an American exhibition in Moscow. The Soviet press has ignored it.

Unofficial news travels fast in this city and the moon stone that the U.S. Apollo 11 crew collected last July is drawing fascinated crowds at the exhibition, which is devoted chiefly to education.

The 1 1/2-inch stone has been ignored by the Soviet press, radio and television, probably in a deliberate effort to avoid attracting undue attention to it.

"The astronauts were asked to bring back big rocks if they could, and they didn't cheat us one bit," said Dr. Dan Anderson, curator of the Lunar Receiving Laboratory.

The first of two chests filled by Charles Conrad Jr. and Alan L. Bean was opened at the laboratory Wednesday night. Inside were two bags of rocks, a 14-inch core tube that had been pushed into the lunar soil to gather subsurface material, and considerable dark moon dust.

Included in the collection were two of the largest lunar crystalline rocks seen so far. Each was more than five inches in length and weighed between three and four pounds.

Anderson said it had "quite a few visible bits in it which were rather sparkly. It looks like an igneous (molten) rock ... we saw quite a few of these with the Apollo 11 rocks."

As scientists began to study the treasure from the moon, the astronauts who collected it from the Ocean of Storms remained in their quarantine trailer aboard the carrier Hornet.

As the ship cruised toward a Friday landfall in Hawaii, Conrad, Bean, and Richard F. Gordon Jr. planned Thanksgiving dinner in their isolation quarters. The menu called for the traditional turkey, cranberry sauce and pie.

From Hawaii, the trailer and the astronauts will be flown to the Lunar Receiving Laboratory, arriving early Saturday for 10 more days of quarantine.

The first box was opened in a vacuum chamber by a technician who extended his hands through gloveports so that he would not be directly exposed to the lunar material.

The second box, which is to be opened Friday, contains three core tubes, an air-tight can of rocks and dust to be used for gas analysis studies, 12 to 15 documented sample bags containing very carefully selected and photographed rocks, and a roll of aluminum foil which the astronauts exposed on the surface to trap particles of the solar wind.

After the dust is brushed from the first batch of rocks, geologists and scientists will be better able to determine various types. Selected samples will be sent to a radiation counting laboratory. Others will go to a bio-sample lab for injection into germ-free mice, plants, human and animal tissue, fertile eggs and a number of lower animals such as cockroaches, shrimp and houseflies.

A Day To Pray

LET US GIVE THANKS — Thanksgiving is a time when we all pause from our daily tasks to give thanks for the blessings bestowed on us during the year. It is also the time of the year for turkey, pumpkin pie, and family gatherings. Mrs. Joyce Manning pauses to give thanks in First Presbyterian Church. (Reflector Photo by Tommy Forrest)

Egypt Officially Rejects U.S. Middle East Offer

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Egypt has officially rejected the latest U.S. proposal for peace in the Middle East, a Cairo newspaper reported today.

The authoritative newspaper Al Gumhuriya said Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad had sent U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers a note saying Egypt totally rejects "the principle of a piecemeal settlement" and believes any acceptable peace proposal must deal with the Middle East issue as a whole.

The United States has not made its proposal public, but sources in Cairo say it calls for a bilateral settlement between Israel and Egypt, followed by talks to reach agreements among Israel and other Arab nations.

Cairo newspapers have criticized the plan before, but this was the first indication of an official rejection by Egypt.

The United States presented the proposal to Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin in Washington on Nov. 4. There has been no report of a response by the Soviets.

Al Gumhuriya called on Arab countries to "close their doors" to a scheduled visit to the Middle East by U.S. Assistant Secretary of State Joseph Sisco, saying he was responsible for formulating the U.S. proposals "which are only aimed at disunifying Arabs ranks and liquidating the Palestinian revolution."

Sisco's reported to be planning a Middle East trip within the coming weeks but it is not known whether Cairo is included on his itinerary.

The Israeli military command said today Arab gunners shelled an Israeli settlement on the occupied Golan Heights Wednesday night, shelling at the Suez Canal two Israelis were killed and three wounded in a mortar exchange.

Syrian artillery opened up on the farmer-soldier settlement of Nahal Golan at the southern end of the Golan Plateau, but caused neither damage nor casualties, a spokesman said. The Israelis returned fire, he added. Meanwhile, the military said an Arab guerrilla was killed in a clash with an army patrol in the Jordan valley 27 miles north of the Dead Sea.

There were no Israeli casualties in the skirmish, a spokesman said.

At the southern sector of the Suez Canal, mortar and light arms duels throughout the afternoon killed two Israeli soldiers and wounded three others, the military said.

At the United Nations, Egyptian Ambassador Mohamed Hassan El Zayyat said Wednesday night that Egypt was ready "right now" to implement the U.N. Security Council resolution calling for Israeli withdrawal from Arab territories occupied in the 1967 war and for Arab acknowledgement of Israel's right to live in peace.

At a meeting of the General Assembly's special political committee he challenged Israeli Ambassador Yosef Tekoah to make the same declaration.

Tekoah replied that Israel had already made its position known in the Security Council. Israel has said it accepts the resolution as a basis "for the promotion of agreement" on peace.

Administration officials have opposed the amendment with the arguments it is too costly and not the best way to grant tax relief. Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., floor manager of the bill, echoed these views in debate with Gore Wednesday.

Two amendments on the oil depletion allowance are to be taken up by the Senate next week. The House has voted to cut the 27 1/2 per cent benefit to 20 per cent; the Senate Finance Committee decided on 23 per cent depletion allowance.

The Senate will vote first Monday on an amendment of Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., to restore 27 1/2 per cent. Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., then will press a proposal to accept the House's 20 per cent.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., served notice Wednesday he would try to strike from the bill a controversial provision on tax-exempt foundations.

The provision, added by the Finance Committee, would limit the life of grant-making foundations to 40 years.

Javits said "excesses and inequities" had been discovered on the part of some foundations, but the Finance provision is too harsh.

Susie Sharp Is Recommended For High Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — North Carolina's two U.S. senators have urged President Nixon to appoint a woman, Judge Susie Marshall Sharp of the North Carolina Supreme Court, to the U.S. Supreme Court.

In a letter to the President Wednesday, Sens. Sam J. Ervin Jr., and B. Everett Jordan, Democrats, advanced Miss Sharp's name for the vacancy remaining after the Senate rejected the nomination of Judge Clement Haynsworth of South Carolina.

Miss Sharp has been an associate justice of the North Carolina Supreme Court since 1962.

"Judge Sharp enjoys such a fine reputation for judicial excellence that we would feel remiss in our duties as public servants if we did not write you immediately to respectfully ask that you give her every consideration in your selection of a new justice for the Supreme Court," they wrote.

She should be chosen, the senators said, "on the basis of intellect, judicial temperament and experience."

Miss Sharp, they said, practiced law for 20 years in Reidsville, became in 1949 the first woman Superior Court judge in North Carolina in 1949, and in 1962 became the first woman Supreme Court justice in the state.

"It is obvious that Judge Sharp is North Carolina's first lady of the law, but more important is the fact that her knowledge of the law and her skill in applying it are matched by few judges, male or female," they told Nixon.

Regard Talks As Long-Lasting
HONOLULU (AP) — Former U.S. ambassador to NATO Harlan Cleveland says political leaders in every allied nation regard the arms limitation talks in Helsinki, Finland, "not as a spectator sport but as destiny business."

Cleveland, now president of the University of Hawaii, told a political science seminar Wednesday, "If the strategic arms limitation talks get going in earnest, they may well continue in one form or another throughout the decade of the 1970s, and perhaps beyond."

On Tax Reform Suspend Work

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Albert Gore says administration opposition to his proposed increase of the $600 personal income tax exemption is "regrettable and unjustified."

"It is common knowledge that the administration spokesmen are busy in the halls of the Capitol trying to defeat this amendment," the Tennessee Democrat told the Senate Wednesday. "This is regrettable and unjustified."

The Senate has suspended its work on the broad tax reform bill for a four-day Thanksgiving recess, but will resume voting on the legislation Monday when it takes up the controversial oil depletion allowance.

The amendment to boost the personal tax exemption is expected to come up later in the week.

Gore said Wednesday he has bipartisan backing in both the Senate and House for his efforts.

He proposes raising the exemption to $1,000 in four annual $100 steps. But he said he might have to settle for a boost to a lower figure, perhaps $800, to attract enough votes for approval of his amendment.

nonagricultural employment, cash receipts from farm markets, and new car sales.

The current tight money situation was reflected by building permits and new mortgages which were off.

Wachovia economists expressed the opinion that the North Carolina economy is beginning to match the slowdown of the national economy.

"If increased spending and employment does not come on as strong this Christmas it did last season, there is a good chance that we will see a downturn in the North Carolina economy after the first of the year," said one Wachovia economist.

Bank debits, which indicated the amount of personal and business checkbook spending, totaled $6.3 billion for October. That was a gain of 2.3 per cent from September and 15.7 per cent above the October 1968 figure of $5.4 billion.

Nonagricultural employment in the state totaled 1.7 million in October. It was up only 0.4 per cent from the September figure and up 1.6 per cent from October.

Manufacturing employment totaled 701,500 for October and was down by 1,800 from September, a decline of 0.4. It was down 0.1 per cent from the year ago figure.

The average manufacturing work week was 40.7 hours in October as compared with 40.5 hours the month before.

Textile mill employment was down 500 for the month. Tobacco manufacturing was off 1,900 in a seasonal decline. And food and kindred products were off 100. Decreases also were noted in recreation and service employment. Cash receipts for farm marketings were up 15 per cent in October from September, and showed an increase of 15 per cent from the month before. Cash farm receipts for the year showed a 13.7 per cent gain.

The value of building permits issued in 18 North Carolina cities totaled $36.9 million for October. It was down 15 per cent from a year ago and off 33.8 per cent from September.

of North Carolina wrote $36.2 million worth of mortgage loans during October. This compared with $39.3 million in September and $41.8 million in October of last year.

The North Carolina Automobile Dealers Association reported new car sales in the state totaled 21,436 in October. This compared with 16,773 in September and 20,293 in October of last year. New truck sales totaled 4,363 for the month and compared with 3,766 in September and 4,819 in October of last year.

Misty's Theme

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Misty Fowler, known four months ago as Bui Thi Chieu in her native South Vietnam, was especially thankful today.

Her two-page theme on Thanksgiving Day was read Wednesday in her English class at suburban Raytown South High School. She is 15.

"I have only been in my new country four months, so what I have to be thankful for may sound funny to some of you."

"First, and most important, I am thankful for my parents because they chose me to be their daughter and they brought me to America."

"Next to my parents, I am most thankful of being able to go to school. In Vietnam, unless your parents are rich, it is very hard to go past the eighth grade."

"I am thankful for electricity. I guess this sounds funny, but we never had it in my home."

Now I can read after the sun goes down, listen to the radio and watch television.

"I am thankful for the house I live in. A house where you have rooms to cook and eat in, watch television, sew, clean up, and to sleep."

"There are so many things to be thankful for, because America is so beautiful with its many trees, flowers and grass."

"Where I lived, the good land was used for rice paddies and everything else was sand ... I wish everyone a Sung-Suong N Gay To On, Happy Thanksgiving Day."

Her Son Now An Army Deserter
FT. GORDON, Ga. (AP) — Pvt. William Murray III, who as a 17-year-old won a Supreme Court decision against classroom religious exercises, has been listed as a deserter, authorities at this Army base said Wednesday.

Officials said Murray, 23, was listed as missing from Ft. Gordon on Oct. 7 and was declared a deserter Nov. 5.

His mother, atheist Madalyn Murray O'Hair, said in Austin, Tex., that the youth is in Montreal.

Mrs. O'Hair said her son enlisted in March because he wanted to choose his service. He began training as a helicopter pilot, she said, but was washed out and assigned as a student at the military police school at Ft. Gordon.

Gain In N.C. Economy Continuing; Slower Pace

By NOEL YANCEY
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — The gain in North Carolina's economy continued in October, but at a slower pace.

This was reported today by Wachovia Bank & Trust Co., which said its North Carolina Business Index reached a preliminary figure of 198.9 in October. This is 0.4 per cent higher than the September figure, and 7.3 per cent higher than a year ago.

Indicators showing increases in October included bank debits,

Miss Janis Jorgensen Speaks Vows Wednesday

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah—The Salt Lake Temple of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints was the setting Wednesday for the marriage of Miss Jorgensen, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. N.M. Jorgensen of Greenville N.C., and Joy Robinson Dunyon of Salt Lake City.

The bride is a senior at Brigham Young University, where she is preparing to be an elementary educator teacher. She attended East Carolina University for three years prior to BYU.

The bridegroom is a graduate student at Brigham Young. He is in his second year of the Masters of Business Administration program, and has fulfilled a mission to Texas and Germany for the Mormon.

Immediately following the temple ceremony, a wedding breakfast was given at Log Haven. In the evening the couple was honored with an open house given by the bridegroom's parents.

Pre-nuptial parties were given by Mrs. Dora Nelson and Mrs. Dwayne Freebairn of Salt Lake and Miss Dianne Carson, Miss Joan Ellis, Miss Romrell, Miss Barbara Neibaur, and Miss Ellen Robertson of Provo, Utah.

The couple plans a wedding trip to North Carolina, where a reception in their honor will be given by the bride's parents.

After returning from North Carolina, the couple will live in Orem, Utah, and continue their educations. Both plan to graduate in May, 1970.

MRS. JOY ROBINSON DUNYON

Davenport-Butts Vows Said In Double Ring Ceremony

Miss Joy Elaine Butts became the bride of Dannie Leo Davenport on Friday at 8:00 p.m. in a candlelight ceremony at the home of Mrs. LaRue B. Woodward, aunt of the bride.

Parents of the bride are Mrs. Margaret P. Butts of Greenville and Charles T. Butts Jr. of Washington. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Davenport of Pactolus.

The Rev. Norman Butts, cousin of the bride, officiated at the double ring ceremony. A program of wedding music was presented by Randy Buck.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white peau de soie with lace covered bodice and lace pointed sleeves. The neckline featured scalloped lace with a lace train attached at the shoulders.

Her veil of candlelight illusion was attached to a petal designed headpiece of lace and seed pearls. She carried a Bible covered with bridal lace centered with white roses with satin streamers.

For a wedding trip to unannounced points, the bride changed into a pastel blue crepe dress with matching accessories.

The bride attended Rose High School and is employed at Beddingfield Pharmacy. The bridegroom attended Stokes High School and Atlantic Christian College. He is employed at J.C. Penny Co.

The couple will reside in Greenville. Following the ceremony, guests were entertained at a reception given by Mrs. B. Woodward.

The wedding cake was served by Mrs. Sandra B. Corey and punch was poured by Mrs. Gail B. Meeks, sister of the bride.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Robert O'Neal Fleming of Greenville announce the engagement of their daughter, Ruth Ellen, to Paul Thompson Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard O. Williams of High Point. The wedding will take place Dec. 21.

The refreshment table was covered with a white cloth and centered with a five-tier cake.

Mrs. Bob Williams served cake and Mrs. Jean Walls poured punch.

Good-byes were said by Mrs. Langley.

So Much To Be Thankful For

It would be easy to decide on this Thanksgiving day that there was nothing to be thankful for. War rages in Asia and our young men die in combat. There is poverty in our country and starvation in much of the rest of the world. Two great world powers—the United States and the Soviet Union—stand armed as nations never have been before with power enough to destroy the world.

In our country there are riots and near riots in the streets. Factions are arrayed against factions and there is great dissatisfaction with everything from the way we educate our young to the swiftly rising cost of living.

We see the crime rate setting new highs and Americans are slaughtering themselves on the highways at a pace which makes wars look tame in comparison.

There is great danger of overpopulation and we are polluting our streams and rivers and the atmosphere to the point where it endangers all life. Just the noise that we create with modern day life threatens our hearing and we live with a divorce rate—meaning heartbreak for individuals—which could bring a breakdown of family life.

Cancer, heart disease, circulatory problems, arthritis still bring great suffering and death to millions of us, while accidents and war leave others crippled for life.

So we could, indeed, look upon this as a dismal world with little to be grateful for on this Thanksgiving Day.

Yet, despite pollution the sun still shines most days. In the Spring the flowers grow and the trees bud. In the fall the leaves turn lovely shades. In the summer gentle rains fall and cool winds blow and in the Winter beautiful soft snow falls to cleanse the air and to cover the ugliness on earth.

The children still laugh and play on a pretty day—even those from families who live below the poverty line. Families still gather on holidays and there is laughter and merriment as long separated loved ones come together again.

Though wars rage in the world today, we have gone nearly a quarter century without a world wide conflict—and this follows two world wars within 20 years. Though the awful nuclear weapons exist they have not been unleashed and the Soviets and the Americans are both aware of the futility of using them. Americans are cognizant of the country's social problems and a constant search is being made for ways of alleviating them.

Most of us live better and have more than our fathers did and we enjoy freedoms that only a comparatively few of the world's peoples have today.

Nothing to be thankful for? We have so much that we could not begin to give adequate thanks in this one day.

More Steps Lie Ahead On Curtailing Weapons

The president's action renouncing the use of chemical or germ warfare is entirely proper and even overdue.

President Nixon told newsmen Tuesday that the United States would never use germ warfare even if an enemy were to do so. Hopefully this move will relegate to obscurity any thoughts of using germs to carry out a war. Like poison gas, all the world should recognize that there can be no winners from the use of germs against an enemy.

This ban is also a hopeful sign as disarmament talks with the Soviet Union continue. The same reasoning can be applied to nuclear weapons, which are also capable of poisoning our atmosphere and destroying mankind.

No nation can end war without the cooperation of other nations. However, perhaps the more insane weapons of war can be neutralized if the United States and other powerful nations are willing to renounce their use.

Bond Market Is Not Stable

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
RALEIGH — The money market insofar as state and local government financing is concerned, despite tax increases, is shaky.

One of the recent reports by a large North Carolina chain bank said this:

"Bond markets last week showed a curious mixture of illusion and masochism. They seemed ready to seize any and every pronouncement as an excuse to plunge into deepening gloom."

The goal being sought by financial centers apparently is price stability, to be brought about only by a halt to inflation. The question is how to do this.

the fears of potential investors.

INFLATION — The effects of inflation — inflated prices — are being felt this Thanksgiving and Christmas season.

Poultrymen and processors know there is an overabundance of turkeys against demand for the Thanksgiving table. But the prices are inflated—ranging from 35 cents to 49 and 50 cents per pound. And Christmas shopping apparently is off to a feverish start. Prices are high, quite inflated.

WILLIAM SHIRES

Economists, according to their own reports, appear to have no concrete answers.

GILL—In the matter of another aspect of municipal financing, State Treasurer Edwin Gill strongly opposed the idea of placing a direct or indirect tax on state and municipal bonds. He did this in a letter to Senate Finance chairman Russell Long, D-La., which has been published.

"The mere fact that Congress is considering taking such action has literally brought chaos to the market for our securities," Gill wrote.

"It has taken many years to build up the confidence of the investing public in our bonds, and it would be tragic if this confidence were undermined and even destroyed by well-intentioned action... in the name of tax reform."

URGED—Gill, ex-officio chairman of the Local Government Commission charged with selling bonds for counties and municipal governments, asked that Congress preserve the tax-exempt status of these issues. This, he said, is "part of our inheritance preserving the fiscal independence of the states and municipalities."

Gill added, "Due to the very high interest rates that we are now experiencing, in part because of this threat to our exempt status, I hold for an early resolution of this matter by Congress."

"In my opinion, prolonged debate serves to strengthen

JENKINS—Dr. Leo Jenkins, the hard-driving president of East Carolina University, came to Raleigh for a visit and some appointments on Monday and indicated he is keeping his finger on the political pulse.

"I'm trying to keep an eye on the lay of the land for the next two years," he said.

Dr. Jenkins has been mentioned several times and on a number of occasions as a possible candidate for the governorship in 1972. He does not deny an interest if the proper conditions are there.

"I'm interested. I'm flattered," he says. "Let's see what develops. Right now I'm interested in East Carolina University and what we can do to help our section and the entire state and region."

In Raleigh, Dr. Jenkins visited a number of state agencies and departments. At the Highway Commission he was accompanied by Troy Dodson, a Greenville businessman who recently became personnel officer for the Highway Commission.

From Raleigh, Dr. Jenkins went to Roanoke Rapids, for an evening speech.

He left looking more and more like a possible political candidate.

Always There's A Next Ridge

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
JERUSALEM—Although the brilliant generals of Israel's never-defeated armed forces talk privately about sweeping west all the way to Alexandria if Egypt dares attack across the Suez Canal, the likeliest next target is more modest: a small area of Jordan south of the Dead Sea.

What makes this area vastly important is its proximity to Israel's profitable potash plant at Sdom, near the Jordanian border in the desolate Arava Valley.

"One lucky hit could knock out the whole works," an Israeli military expert told us. "We can't afford that."

In August, an Israeli contingent crossed that border and captured the small area used by fedayeen commandos to fire Katusha rockets at the potash works. They found Saudi Arabian border guards plus a unit of the Jordanian regular army and put them to rout.

Then the Israelis, thinking the lesson had been learned, abandoned the area and returned to their own side of the border. But the lesson was not learned, and Katusha rockets are flying once more. Having invested at least $150 million in the potash plant and dependent on its export value to slow the dangerous drain of foreign exchange reserves, the Israelis will not hesitate to seize and hold Jordanian territory if necessary to make the plant secure from rocket attack.

This would be the first seizure of foreign land since the six-day war of 1967. The fact that it can now be rated at least a 50-50 proposition shows how militant Israeli military leaders are becoming under the remorseless strains of twilight war and the endless capacity of the Arabs to take heavy punishment and, instead of acting as Israel wants, come back for more.

Other Editors Say The Bills Fall Due

(Jacksonville Daily News)

Americans have been lying to themselves and cheating their children for generations. Now they are going to have to pay the penalty.

This is the blunt, brutal gist of the speech delivered by Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel at the recent Louisiana Gulf Coast Oil Exposition.

The lie is that we are not really as affluent as we have always believed. The cheating is the passing on to future generations of the bill for the abuse of America's resources.

We got where we are mainly because we were lucky enough to inherit an extraordinarily abundant inventory of natural resources, Hickel said. We were also clever enough to develop our technology and business to give us extensive access to them.

But—"We cheated on the costs we paid. Goods in our houses and garages appeared to be cheaper than they really were. Just recently we have begun to look at the enormous backlog of delayed costs."

What we see is desecrated land, foul air, polluted water—"and we are horrified at what we see. The bill for this damage is staggering. But we must pay it, or go out of business."

Hickel specifically warned the oil industry that it must spend whatever it costs to protect the environment from fumes and pollution, but made it clear that his warning applies to our entire industrial society.

"We are going to have a quality environment," he said. "Every industry must provide for full restoration of disturbed soil cover. We must dispose of noxious compounds to protect wildlife and vegetation, and the health and safety of people."

"The cost of these measures will show up in the price of the goods and services offered to the public, instead of being put on the cuff for succeeding generations to pay."

To repeat the secretary's tough words:

The bill for our desecrated landscape, foul air and polluted water is staggering. But we must pay it, or go out of business.

WHO'S NERVOUS ?

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

'Intimidation' Defense

Let me get back, if I may, to the Household Word. In his now famous denunciation of television's network newsmen, Vice President Spiro Agnew performed a public service: He has done more than any man since the late John F. Kennedy to focus attention on TV's role in the shaping of national decisions.

This is a profoundly serious matter. It ought not to be obscured by howls of "intimidation" and "censorship" from the thin-skinned defenders of Wynken, Blynken and Nod. Agnew made no threats. He challenged the media men "to turn their critical powers on themselves," and he challenged the people "to press for responsible news presentations." If that is "intimidation," the network boys have done a Humpty-Dumpty on the word.

Such a spurious rejoinder merely clouds the issue. What we are concerned with here, as in most things political, is a question of power. The troublesome truth is that the power of television, as a medium of national communication, is prodigious. Nothing remotely like it has existed before. And it is a useful exercise to consider how this power should be restrained.

Through the Federal Communications Act, and related laws, Congress has sought to impose some degree of public regulation upon the industry. The years have brought us the devices of equal time, fairness, and the licensing of individual stations. It is idle to imagine that radio and TV operate even now under a system of pure "free speech." They never have known it.

Yet Agnew is quite right in asking whether existing controls and restraints, whether voluntary or coercive, are effective against the particular condition he cited, which is the editorial power that has come to repose in the national network news directors.

The power, I repeat, is prodigious. I have been in the news business all my life, and never have seen "news" well defined. It is like beauty, which exists in the eye of the beholder. Whether a managing editor is putting together a newspaper, or a TV producer is totting up the minutes and seconds of an evening report, the process of editorial judgment is at bottom a personal and subjective experience. What items do you put in? What do you leave out? Walter Cronkite gave five precious minutes the other night to a feature on a company making cymbals. Was this news of national interest? CBS made it so.

One gropes to get at the problem. As Agnew himself made clear, outright censorship of news and opinion would be abhorrent. The licensing of networks might provide some sort of tenuous control through application by the FCC of a fairness doctrine. Perhaps the industry itself might work with representatives of the major parties, on a voluntary basis, to establish a fair-play monitoring committee.

But I suspect that no form of regulation can be devised, public or private, that would be directly responsive to the subjective bias that drew Agnew's fire. This demands, for its correction, what Felix Frankfurter once described as an appeal that "sears the

Public Forum

To The Editor:

Regardless of varied feelings about the Vice President, one stops to consider Mr. Agnew's remarks regarding the news media.

News is easily slanted by the press. As an example, last week's handling of the Ed Warren story may be cited.

Wednesday evening the front-page headline read, "Rose High Principal Warren Submits Resignation." Although this is a major change, touching the lives of approximately 1500 students and 60 faculty members, and although the story beneath the headline claimed an eight-column spread, only two paragraphs were about Mr. Warren. The one sentence from the principal's resignation that was printed cast a reflection upon the administration.

Teachers at Rose High School, having been informed Wednesday morning of the principal's intentions, met Wednesday afternoon. They appointed a committee to word a news release expressing their feelings.

Thursday morning the release was placed in each teacher's mailbox for approval or disapproval. Returned statements were tabulated (there was only one who could not endorse the statement) and were given to a newspaper reporter at 10:15.

At noon a teacher talked with the reporter at The Daily Reflector and knew that the article had been turned in.

Now, anyone knows that news is more effective when timely. It was the wishes of the faculty that the teachers' statement be printed Thursday evening. It was not printed until Friday and then after phoned requests from faculty members.

There are several ways to play down a story. One way, of course, is to hide a story on inside pages. "Warren Lauded in Faculty Statement" was meshed in with movie ads on page 13. The four-column story had a two-column headline. All headlines surrounding the story were in bolder print. Even people who were looking for the story overlooked it.

The story carried the faculty statement "in part." The following paragraphs were omitted. One wonders who determined that the public did not need to read the following statements:

In his three-year stay at Rose, he has shown an interest in all programs in the school.

Teachers have felt free to arrive on return of the stub and the money, the housewife succumbs. In return she receives a gift of almost no value. The package isn't from Aunt Sally. In fact, it has no return address.

Another swindle capitalizes on concern for your neighbor, which often is warmer during the cold holidays than it was back on those summer mornings when he started his power mower at 6:30.

"Would you please accept a package for Mr. Jones next door?" the messenger asks Mr. Smith, adding innocently, "It's C.O.D."

The magnanimous man of the house, anxious to get back to his television set, hands over the money and receives a strangely light package. By the time his suspicions are aroused the young messenger has scotched away.

What is Mr. Smith to do but wait for Mr. Jones to come home and then walk over with the package? Mr. Smith opens it and they both have a laugh. Mr. Smith's laugh is as hollow as the box though, because he pays.

Then there are the charities. In many cities young men and women have made comfortable livings in recent months merely by sticking out their hands and asking for cash. And cash has been pressed into their hands.

With this knowledge of just how easy it is to beg effectively, many of these same people will be holding out something that holds more money than a palm. It will be a cup, and the inference will be that the money is

Season Of The Gullible

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — For most people the Christmas season is a time to be merry, but to the Better Business Bureau its the season to be wary—of unscrupulous operators, swindles and gyps.

Money is plentiful during the season, and spirits are high. Inspiration flows and guards are down. People are in a hurry and they don't count their change. And the swindlers are well aware of it.

One of the most successful gyps—and its contending popularity attests to the gullibility of men—involves a vial of perfume being sold by a street vendor.

Any woman would recognize that perfume couldn't be sold at such an absurdly low price. But to a fellow who has just left an office party and is heading home very late, the stuff looks like the magic that will ease his way into the house.

Something about the merchandising method also indicates a real buy: A cardboard carton is spread out on the sidewalk; a hurried, harried vendor stands behind it furtively trying to spot an oncoming policeman.

The gullible husband bites, ignoring his wonderment that such fancy perfume could be spirited from Paris through the customs men to be sold at a fraction of its costs from a carton on a city street. It is, of course, nothing more than cheap cologne rebottled.

Another racket is perpetrated by sending a claim stub to an individual stating that the sender is holding a package that will be sent on return of the stub and a small amount of money.

Seldom is the amount sought very large, because that might arouse the suspicions. The sum might be only $2, the very amount that forgetful Aunt Sally spends on gifts she sends to the children.

Anxious to find what gift is to arrive on return of the stub and the money, the housewife succumbs. In return she receives a gift of almost no value. The package isn't from Aunt Sally. In fact, it has no return address.

Eyes On Franchise Operations

By ELMER ROESSNER
Speaking of franchises, it is noteworthy that the federal government is keeping watch on this $90 billion-a-year industry. The Federal Trade Commission and the Department of Justice have responsibilities in this area.

The FTC has two concerns: whether franchising deals violate anti-trust laws and whether the offering and sale of franchises violate other laws. Justice Department is also concerned with anti-trust violations.

Whether a franchisor may insist that a franchisee buy supplies from a specified source without violating anti-trust laws in what the FTC itself has termed a "grey area."

Some distinction was drawn in the Brown shoe and the Carvel cases. In the first case, the FTC ruled against Brown for insisting that stores buy certain supplies only from the franchising company; in the second, it held that Carvel was within the law in insisting that its franchisees buy dairy products from certain sources.

On the question of false and misleading advertising of franchises, Frank C. Hale, director of the FTC bureau of deceptive practices, earlier this year told the International Franchise Association that franchising, like businesses, "has had its share of deceptive advertising." He cited seven kinds of misrepresentation:

1. False or exaggerated statements about expected earnings. A franchise seller who advertises, "Earn $20,000 a year," may be expected to prove that such earnings are customary, not exceptional.
2. Incorrect statements about the experience required. Statements that "no skill, knowledge or prior training is required," are highly questionable.
3. False statements about training. If extensive training is promised, it must be given.

4. Deceptive refund promises. Often franchisors advertise that refunds will be given dissatisfied buyers. Unless it specifies otherwise, refunds must be given in full.
5. Misrepresentation of operating costs. "Freedom from overhead, labor, credit headaches," Hale warned, must mean no overhead, labor or credit costs to the franchisee.
6. Promises of exclusivity. If exclusive franchises are advertised, the franchisees must be exclusive, even though the final contract provides for non-exclusive or open franchising.
7. Offers of assistance must be fulfilled. If a franchisor advertises training, promotional material, sales leads and aid in financing, he must fulfill these obligations.

Unless a franchisor "tells it like it is," Hale warned the FTC "can and will act."

ELMER ROESSNER

Fine Distinctions

The decisions were highly detailed but the distinction appears to be that in Brown the FTC thought the restriction was intended to fix prices, while in Carvel it was intended to insure quality.

The second area along the Jordanian border now being seriously eyed by Israel is the Beitisan Valley up north, the launching pad for almost continuous shelling of Israeli farm settlements across the river. The third likely target is a strip of land north of the Israeli-Lebanon border, which will become a major source of fedayeen sabotage and guerrilla action next spring.

Would Israel really seize and hold part of Lebanon? "Certainly," we were told by a military authority here, "if the blood of our children is on the ground, we attack. And once we get there, I think we stay."

Finally, the biggest of all the military questions confronting Israel is Egypt and the Suez Canal. There is a school of military thought here convinced that the path to eventual stability lies in military power: specifically, in enticing Egypt into attacking across the canal. That would provide the excuse for launching a counterattack, destroying the Egyptian army and air force, and sweeping through Cairo to Alexandria while laying waste major economic resources. Today that is distinctly a minority view. Moreover, since it forfeits the essential element of surprise which was so important a part of the pre-emptive Israeli attack in the six-day war, it may also be unrealistic.

The majority view is that the Israelis, by continuing their aerial dominance over Egypt and proving their ability to conduct destructive pinpoint raids at will against economic targets, can convince Egypt that an attack across the canal against Israel would be disastrous for Egypt.

That is the strategy now being followed, but it almost surely will not have the desired effect on Egypt. Instead, the Israelis seem to be caught in a vicious circle: to protect what they already have, they are driven to take the offensive. As one American put it: "There is always the next ridge."

Thus, the temptations to expand in Jordan, in Lebanon, and into Egypt are rising.

conscience" of the network news managers. Here, as in the high courts, one can ask only for the appointment of news directors and commentators of absolute integrity; and then leave it to them.

All this says nothing of still another aspect of television's power. Since the days of Franklin Roosevelt's fireside chats by network radio, the Chief Executive has been able to command a national audience. Not command, exactly; request. But it amounts to the same thing. When a President asks the networks for prime time, so that he can deliver a speech, a President is putting TV's power to use in his own behalf. And Presidents are not known as non-partisan men.

Like Agnew, I merely raise questions: What should be done? How can the abuse of TV's power be prevented? They are questions that demand lower voices, on both sides, if answers in the public interest are to be found.

Atrocities 'Every Day'

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A South Vietnamese labor leader says Americans should be as shocked over atrocities committed by the Viet Cong as they are over a report that U.S. soldiers murdered several hundred civilians in a village in March 1968.

Tran Quoc Bui, head of South Vietnam's Labor Confederation, told the Atlanta Press Club Wednesday he can "understand why it has shocked the American people," but that atrocities are commonplace.

Bui said the Viet Cong "kill women and children every day but it doesn't shock America."

He said he approves of the Nixon administration's effort to "Vietnamize" the war, but "if Vietnamization only means the replacement of an American GI with a South Vietnamese soldier, then that doesn't solve the problem."

The U.S. should focus more attention on the economic and social aspects of the war, Bui said. "The solution to the war is in Vietnam—not in Paris," he said.

Even with the shortage of money, the principal sought to provide essential equipment and desperately needed supplies. Teachers were in agreement that the administrator did as well as anyone possibly could have done under the circumstances. "In fact," one male teacher said, "I believe we have had less trouble and fewer incidents than we

New N.C. Tax Formula May Hike Liquor Cost

RALEIGH (AP) — The price of more expensive brands of whisky may go up as much as 25 cents a bottle under a new tax formula the North Carolina ABC Board is planning to put into effect.

The proposal for a juggling of the tax formula came from board member Eddie Knox of Mecklenburg County — ABC boards had to take money from the local treasury to make up rather large differences in the amount of liquor tax they collected and the amount they are required by law to give the state.

By law, the state board is charged with collecting 12 per cent taxes on liquor sales. But instead of adding 12 per cent to the cost of each bottle of whisky, the board set up a schedule of taxation by volume designed to amount to 12 per cent over a 12-month period.

The amount of tax varies according to volume but not brand of liquor. Tar Heels pay the same 40-cent tax on a fifth of liquor costing $3.20 as they do for a fifth costing $6.75.

Each year North Carolinians are setting new records for liquor purchases and they are beginning to buy more expensive brands in larger quantities.

This means that some counties are recording larger dollar sales because consumers are buying more costly liquor. But the percentage of tax runs lower and lower since the tax is keyed to volume and not price.

As a result, some counties are getting caught in a squeeze because they are not collecting enough tax to cover the amount they must pay the state, which is based on dollar sales.

Knox said Mecklenburg is being forced to appropriate $220,000 a year from its treasury to help pay the state tax. In Greensboro the cost has come to $100,000 a year.

At a meeting this week the state board adopted a resolution that "it shall be the board's policy to apply the full 12 per cent (state) tax to the retail price after it has been marked up for profit and before any of the taxes, other than federal taxes otherwise provided for, have been added."

The board plans to determine at a future meeting just what formula it will use to collect that 12 per cent.

Plymouth, Mass., Today Recalls An Ancient Story

By PETER BREWER
Associated Press Writer
PLYMOUTH, Mass. (AP)—
"Our harvest being gotten in, our Governour sent foure men on fowling, that so we might after a more speciall manner, rejoyce together after we had gathered the fruit of our labors."

That gnarled sentence with its medieval spelling begins the brief and only account we have of the first Thanksgiving in the New World, a harvest festival that has become the most American of national holidays.

It was written by Edward Winslow, a printer who was No.
3 mar in the Pilgrim hierarchy and the colony diplomat.

From Winslow we learn that when the Pilgrims decided to hold their harvest feast, they invited Chief Yellow Feather—who showed up with 90 braves, all expecting to be entertained and fed.

The festivities lasted three days, with the women cooking and the children helping. The men "amongst other recreations" showed the Indians the power of their firearms. And the Indians showed their marksmanship with bow and arrow.

Church Has A Bus Fleet

By ED WOOD
Associated Press Writer
HAMMOND, Ind. (AP) —
Each Sunday the Rev. Charles E. Hand watches his fleet of 108 buses deposit up to 2,500 worshippers at the doors of Hammond's First Baptist church.

The operation collects churchgoers over 76 routes, employs a full-time fleet mechanic, has an annual budget of more than $80,000 and has contributed to huge gains in congregation growth.

The minister is full-time bus director for the church, which has increased its holdings of used school buses from six in 1961 to 108.

During the same period the church's congregation, including Sunday School, has rocketed from about 700 to well over 5,000.

"I believe the buses are an instrument of a growing church, not necessarily the way of achieving it," the Rev. Mr.
Hand said. "After all, you can load up a bus and take people to a restaurant, but if the food isn't good they won't come back."

Each Sunday the buses ply routes over a 1,600 square-mile area, picking up churchgoers at their doorsteps and returning them after services. About 75 per cent are children.

The operation requires 6,000 gallons of gasoline a month, uses $5,000 worth of tires last year and has its own huge garage and a separate body shop.

Each bus has a captain, who is responsible for finding a volunteers driver, keeping the vehicle clean and in repair and going from house to house looking for Sunday passenger.

White Rhino Is Lonesome Beast

JOHANNESBURG. South Africa (UPI)—The Impala antelope outnumbers the White rhino by more than 33,000 to 1 in the Kruger National Park wild life preserve. The 200,000
Impala are the most abundant animal in the game refuge. The six White rhinos are the rarest.

In recent years, the descendants in Plymouth of those first settlers, and those who came later, have tried to reconstruct the flavor of that first Thanksgiving.

Many Plymouth residents consider the Thanksgiving holiday
"theirs" by inheritance. Among other residents interest grows as 1970 nears—the 350th anniversary of the arrival of the 102
Pilgrims in the Mayflower.

Only 52 settlers survived that first winter, after an influenza-like epidemic, pneumonia and scurvy killed off most of the adults.

In Plymouth today, Thanksgiving activities are divided between the downtown area, with its museums, a few ancient homes, Plymouth rock and the Mayflower II; and Pymoth Plantation, a reconstruction of the first settlement, three miles south of the town.

The plantation, built by a non-profit, educational organization, is an effort to create a functioning village, scrupulously authentic as to sights, sounds, smells and color.

An estimated 10,000 people will jam the town during the holidays. Many parents bring their children to Plymouth, on a kind of pilgrimage.

During the holiday, many historic houses and exhibits open their doors and waive admission fees. Some give doughnuts and cider or cranberry juice to their guests or visitors never "tourists," a term the Chamber of Commerce frowns upon.

There also is a union service Thanksgiving morning with Protestant, Catholic and Jewish clergy.

Although the records of the time give no indication of special church services at the first Thanksgiving—aside from the brief morning devotions held every day—modern Plymouth stages an afternoon Pilgrim Progress—a procession to church by 52 men, women and children wearing costumes as authentic as research can make them. This procession has been a tradition since 1921.

Last year, the town had a caterer set up a traditional turkey dinner, chow line style, for visitors, but was forced to end it after about 700 customers when the food ran out. This year they are prepared to feed a larger crowd.

For youngsters, the town has children's contests and Indian games for prizes on the Friday after Thanksgiving.

Taking a cue from those early days, the holiday week begins the Sunday before and ends the Saturday following Thankgiving, with a turkey shoot.

The exact date of the first Thanksgiving is uncertain, but indications are that it was between Sept. 23 and Nov. 11—
probably in November.

The Pilgrims did not sit down to a gourmet feast. In fact, they probably thought with longing of the beef, mutton, pork and lamb, traditionally served on English feast days.

There is no copy of the menu,
but from the accounts of Winslow and others, food was bountiful and diverse—considering the hunger and privation of that first winter.

There certainly were turkeys
on the bill of fare—tough, stringy, tooth-challenging wild birds unlike today's stock.

There was also venison, spit-ted and roasted, because the Indians—when they arrived and sized up the situation—went out and brought back five deer.

The menu also had a variety of game birds—fishy-tasting wild duck, goose and others, courtesy of the four men who went hunting with the deadly, scattershot fowling pieces.

However, it was a meal probably more of fish than fowl.
From the sea came cod, base, eels, lobsters, oysters, clams
and other varieties.

There is a chance there were some of the pie, pudding and pottage dishes of which the English of the time were fond, but the only vegetables likely were corn or beans, and corn cakes.

For sweets there were dried plums, cherries, strawberries, raspberries and gooseberries.

And to wash it all down, there was beer or ale, the staple beverage, and possibly some wine from the abundant grapes of the area.

Today up the quiet slope of Plymouth Plantation, visitors learn what life as like for the emigrant from Elizabethan England.

In the recreated village of seven rude dwellings and four common houses, modern-day
Pilgrims begin, about mid-November, to prepare Thankgiving foods as the Pilgrims did—mostly outdoors. The cooking continues until the plantation closes for the winter on Nov. 30.

Device To Detect Eye Ailments

By PRESTON MCGRAW
DALLAS (UPI)—A research team at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School here has developed a device that uses a computer and a rewired television set to detect early symptoms ailments.

What the device can do in about 30 minutes is make a full visual field examination of a patient's eyes. It takes an hour to an hour-and-a-half and a trained technician with the best present optical method.

"The seven major causes of blindness each affect a person's field of vision," Dr. John H. Lynn said. "By analyzing electronically produced maps of one's field of vision, we can help diagnose an ailment at an early stage and then monitor the effects of treatment."

Dr. Lynn, chairman of Southwest Medical School's department of ophthalmology, has guided development of the device.

The testing system won a certificate of merit in the July meeting of the American Medical Association in New York. It won third prize at the American Association of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology meeting in October at Chicago.

Doctors Tested

Dr. Lynn tested the eyes of 150 ophthalmologists at the Chicago meeting and found in several the symptoms of glaucoma, one of the main causes of blindness. The ophthalmologists, specialists in eye diseases, had no idea they were affected.

Ophthalmologists already are trying to buy the testing system. Dr. Lynn and Southwest Medical School have refused to sell it.

"They (ophthalmologists) see what it will do," Dr. Lynn said. "But it is not a first class machine yet. It has the potential of becoming a first class machine but it will take about two more years to perfect it."

Southwest Medical School, with government help, has spent about $250,000 on the system. Dr. Lynn estimates it will take $250,000 to $1 million to perfect it.

The research team that developed the machine included Dr. Lynn, International Business Machine computer engineers and Dr. Ira Bernstein of the University of Texas at Arlington. Dr. Bernstein is an experimental psychologist whose specialty is the visual system.

Blip Registered

As the patient sees a blip, he moves the lever toward it. The speed and accuracy of the patient's responses as well as the brightness and size of the blips all are taken into account by the computer.

After both eyes are tested, the system produces a map of the patient's field of vision. It resembles a weather map with highs and lows and pressure gradients that Dr. Lynn can diagnose.

Americans now own about 100 million automobiles.

Service Award To Rep. Jones

First District Congressman Walter B. Jones has been presented a Distinguished Service Award by the Trustees of the nonpartisan Americans for Constitutional Action in Washington, D.C.

ACA's DSA is bestowed every two years on those legislators whose voting records support "legislation which serves to strengthen and defend the spirit and principles of the Constitution of the United States."

Admiral Ben Moreell, chairman of the ACA board, presented Congressman Jones

the award saying, "On behalf of our trustees I have the pleasure of congratulating you and thanking you for your outstanding record in the Congress and devotion to those fundamental principles of good government which serves to promote individual rights and responsibilities; a sound dollar, a growing economy; and a desire for victory over communist aggression."

"The acceptance of this award does not imply that you are in complete agreement with all of the principles espoused by ACA nor does it imply any commitment for you to support them in the future. Our purpose is solely to honor you for your dedication to the Constitution of the United States."

Now serving his third term in the House of Representatives, Jones is a member of the agriculture, merchant marine, and fisheries committees.

SPOTTED COWS

CROMARTY, Scotland (AP)—John MacDonald has a farm and on that farm he has some cows—with reflective spots. MacDonald said he painted his cows with saucer-sized spots that shine in the light of car headlamps to protect them if they wander into the road on dark winter mornings.

Clubs Name '69 Winners

The North Carolina Federation of Music Club has announced the 1969 winners of the Composers Contest.

In the Professional Class, instrument division, first place was accorded William E. Duckworth of Morganton. Duckworth is a graduate of East Carolina University and currently is director of Instrumental Music and Instructor of Composition at Atlantic Christian College.

Second place went to Robert M. Morris of New Bern, a native of Atlantic.

In the vocal division of the Professional Class, no first place winner was awarded. Robert M.

Morris placed second.

There were no place winners in the Non-Professional Class, instrumental division. Honorable mention in this category went to Miss Letitia McGoogan of Hertford.

Composers in the vocal division of the Non-Professional class also failed to place as winners. Honorable mention in this division was received by Mrs. Henrietta Bodycombe of Chapel Hill.

UNDERWEIGHT

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—City officials say inspectors have found eight supermarkets here selling turkeys weighing less than the poundage printed on the labels.

Leaning To 'Spot-Heat'

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Modern central heating systems are taking a cue from the methods of the Pilgrim forefathers by leaning more and more toward individual-room heating arrangements, according to a heating appliance manufacturer.

Studies show that permanently installed spot-heating facilities are becoming popular nowadays as supplemental to the whole-house systems, not substitutes for them, says Herbert Bladh, vice president and general manager of Scovill's NuTone division.

Seek Further Use Of Neutron

Installations of auxiliary heaters in homes are approaching the million-unit mark for this year and the industry forecasts more than double that number would be going annually by 1975. Bladh said the growth is coming from both new housing and house-modernization activity.

"Today's quick zone heating auxiliaries are a far cry from the individual-room expedients of three and more generations ago, the cast-iron wood stove in the kitchen, fireplaces in each bedroom, and Franklin stove in the parlor," he said. "They are definitely supplemental, but many architects, builders and homeowners are finding that these units can give them quick zone heating that the furnace in the basement can't deliver."

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI)—Radiologists are investigating whether neutrons radiating from an atomic pile can be harnessed to diagnose human ills as X-rays do. Dr. Mark Brown, of the Medical College of Georgia, has used the pile at Savannah River Laboratory in Aiken, S.C., to radiate a rat's chest, head and tail along with human tumor specimens in experiments which some day may lead to the use of neutron radiography in diagnosing human patients.

Of some 100 emperors who ruled in Byzantium during the Middle Ages only a third died peacefully in their beds, still emperors.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1969 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Not long ago I was shy, ugly, not groomed correctly, never smiled, unhappy and boyfriendless. I wrote to you, and you gave me the best advice I ever received in my life so far. Here it is:

"The key to being popular with both sexes is: Be kind. Be honest. Be tactful. If you can't be beautiful (or handsome), be well-groomed, tastefully attired, trim of figure and KEEP A SMILE ON YOUR FACE!"

"Be clean in body and mind. If you're not a 'brain,' try harder. If you're not a great athlete, you can be a good sport. Try to be a standout in something. If you can't dance or sing, learn to play an instrument. Think for yourself, but respect the rules. Be generous with kind words and affectionate gestures, but save the heavy artillery for later. You'll be glad you did. If you need help, ask God. If you don't need anything, thank God."

Love,
Abby

I have followed your advice step by step, and kept it handy when I felt down. I am now president of the sophomore class, and play the guitar. Smiling comes naturally to me, and I love life. I have a boyfriend who plays football, and he is kind and respectable. My grades are better, and I have more friends than I ever dreamed I'd have.

Abby, you're not the only one who helped me. God helped me. He answered my prayers. HAPPY IN ST. LOUIS

DEAR ABBY: I am now in my 10th year of marriage, and I can truthfully say that every year gets better. We have three wonderful children.

So be frank with you, when I was first married I looked on sex as a duty, or something I had to put up with to please my husband. Naturally, I didn't make a very satisfying partner.

When I became pregnant with my first child I went to a very wise and understanding doctor, and we began to talk. I told him how I felt about marital relations, and the advice he gave me changed my life.

He said, "Try being an actress in the bedroom. Pretend you are the most beautiful and seductive woman in the world. YOU make the first move, whether you feel affectionate or not, and before you know it, you will actually FEEL affectionate."

Abby, I tried it, and it worked. In fact, it's still working, but I find I'm "acting" less as time goes on.

I'm not saying that a good sexual relationship will cure all the ills of marriage, but when a man and his wife can communicate well on this level, it helps communication in other areas.

Pass this on. I can tell ONLY you. But if you print it, it may make a million women happy. "ACTRESS"

DEAR "ACTRESS": And if it makes a million women happy, it will bring happiness to the same number of men. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ABBY: While my husband and I were dinner guests recently in the home of a friend, before dinner our host said "grace." I thought it was such a beautiful gesture that when we had this couple to our home for dinner I said to the man "Will you please say the grace?"

He said, "This is YOUR home, why don't YOU say it?"

Abby, I became so flustered, I couldn't think of a thing to say, so my guest finally sensed my embarrassment and HE said it.

Can you give me a "grace" to say? We aren't very religious people and I'm ashamed to ask my clergyman, as he doesn't see us in church except on Christmas and Easter.

"GRACELESS"

DEAR GRACELESS: Here is mine. Be my guest:

"O, Heavenly Father,
We thank Thee for food, and remember the hungry;
We thank Thee for health, and remember the sick.
We thank Thee for friends and remember the friendless
We thank Thee for freedom, and remember the enslaved.
May these remembrances stir us to service,
That Thy gifts to us may be used for others. Amen."
Have a wonderful Thanksgiving! Abby

Marine Found Guilty Of Rioting; Sentenced

CAMP LEJEUNE, N. C. (AP)—Marine Pvt. Francis W. Darden, 18, of Corona, N. Y., has been sentenced to 18 months confinement after being convicted of rioting during a racial fight at Camp Lejeune last July 20.

The special court-martial which convicted him Wednesday also ordered that he be given a bad conduct discharge and forfeit $75 a month pay for 18 months.

Another Marine, Cpl. Charles D. Drake, 19, of East St. Louis, Ill., was acquitted of similar charges by another special court-martial that sat Wednesday.

Both men were accused of rioting during a night of fighting that broke out on the base after a white sailor and a Negro Marine quarreled over a girl at a service club dance.

A white Marine, Cpl. Edward Bankston, 20, of Piquette, Miss., died several days later from injuries he received in the brawl.

A special court-martial is scheduled to convene Monday to try Pvt. Larry J. Mency, 21, of Dougherty, Ga., also on rioting charges. Twelve other Marines remain to be tried on charges stemming from the disorder. Four convictions and two acquittals have resulted from earlier special courts-martial.

No Evidence Of Injuries

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP)—A Marine investigator reports physical injuries did not figure in the Sept. 21 death of Pvt. Stephen E. Melson of Millsboro, Del.

A spokesman issued a statement Wednesday on the investigation. It said the Marines concur in opinions voiced at the time by doctors at the South Carolina Medical University Hospital Charleston, where Melson was treated. They said the Marine recruit died of an acute kidney infection.

The statement from the Parris Island Training one drill instructor was cleared by a special court-martial, but two others were relieved of their instructional duties and one fined $300.

Three recruits were reprimanded, the statement said, when the investigation showed they had either slapped or pushed Melson. The case was investigated after Melson's mother reported her son said he had been hit.

Pupils Observe Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving Day was observed at South Greenville School Wednesday morning.

After a brief devotional period, the school's string quartet presented several numbers, under the direction of Mrs. Jan Kittrell.

To culminate a social studies lesson about the Pilgrims, Mrs. Ferbee's fifth year class presented a playlet, "We Thankful Pilgrims." Typical costumes and scenery were used to help portray the true spirit of Thanksgiving.

The sixth year chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Vivian Beach, sang three songs at the conclusion of the program.

New Hearing Date Is Set

DETROIT (AP)—A judge has continued until Dec. 15 a hearing on the effort to black separatist Robert Williams to escape extradition to North Carolina, where he is charged with kidnaping.

Circuit Judge Thomas Rounell set the new date Wednesday after being told that one of Williams' attorneys, Bernard Feiger, will be busy in Washington until then.

The hearing will decide whether a temporary injunction against extradition should be permanent.

Michigan's Gov. William Milliken has approved Williams' extradition to face kidnaping charges in Monroe, N. C., growing from the alleged abduction of a white couple during racial disorders at Monroe in 1961.

But another lawyer for Williams, State Sen. Roger Craig, a Dearborn Democrat, won the temporary injunction arguing that North Carolina had failed to take the proper legal steps in seeking the extradition.

Williams recently returned to the United States after spending years in Cuba, Red China and Tanzania.

HEALTH INSURANCE
NEW YORK (UPI)—Insurance companies paid a record $6.7 billion in health insurance benefits during 1968, according to the Health Insurance Institute. Ten years earlier, the record was $2.6 billion.

NORWEGIAN POPULATION
OSLO (UPI)—Norway's population, which was 3.7 million in 1965, the last official figure, is expected to reach 4.7 million in 1990, according to a forecast published by the Norwegian Ministry of Finance.

NCEA Announces It Will Take Case Of 3 Teachers To Court

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Education Association (NCEA) announced Wednesday it will go to court to defend three teachers, in Dare and Buncombe counties, who claim they were unfairly dismissed. The action sets a precedent for the predominantly white organization, which in the past has limited itself to persuasion and negotiations outside of the court.

The cases involve Mrs. Dorothy Bridgeman, a former science and math teacher at Man-teo High School in Dare County, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Still, former music teachers at Er-win High School in West Asheville.

The three were fired last spring when school let out for summer vacation.

Dr. A. C. Dawson, executive secretary of the NCEA, said the laws governing teacher dismissals at the end of the school year should provide the same protection for teachers' rights as those dealing with dismissals during the school year.

Dawson said the three cases "are the direct result of the inadequate general statutes which govern the continuing contract and dismissal of teachers at the close of the school year."

He said the statutes do not require that a teacher be told why his contract is not being renewed, and do not provide for a hearing. In cases where a teacher is dismissed during the school year, the law provides for a hearing.

He said, "It is possible for a teacher to be dismissed for capricious reasons" at the end of the school year.

The Dare County Board of Education told Mrs. Bridgeman her contract was not being renewed because she "failed to communicate with children and to impart to them the necessary subject matter in science."

The Buncombe County School Board said the Stills were dismissed "in view of the betterment of the schools."

The three filed complaints with the NCEA. After an investigation the group's Professional Rights and Responsibilities Committee recommended the NCEA pay for legal assistance for the teachers to contest their dismissals in court if they requested it.

Dawson said the three had made the request and it had been granted.

Nab Suspect In Bombing

By CHRIS ELIOU
Associated Press Writer
ATHENS (AP) — Police arrested a Jordanian citizen today after an explosion wrecked the office of the Israeli airline El Al in central Athens, injuring 13 persons.

The suspect was identified as Elias Dekarabetian. Police said he was carrying two hand grenades and was trying to flee in a taxi when he was seized.

The injured included an American couple from Dallas, Tex., identified only as a Mr. and Mrs. MacLean. They were taken to an Athens hospital.

Also injured were Alphonse Dimeck, 29, a British ticket agent, and several persons who were waiting to board a bus for a flight to London.

At least two of the injured passengers were children.

Shalom Saadon, the airline manager, said the device that exploded was thrown through an open door. Airline spokesmen said they thought it was a hand grenade.

Bible Class Had 34 At Opening

AYDEN — Thirty-four persons attended the first Bible class held at Zion Chapel F.W.B. Church Monday night.

The class is being sponsored jointly by the Governor's Council on Aging and Pitt Technical Institute. Elder J. L. Wilson is the instructor.

Following the class, Mrs. Lucy Barnhill chairman of the Friendly Visiting Committee, reported on the progress made on the gifts for senior citizens for Christmas. The gifts include pillows, quilts, bed rests. Some items needed for the project include bath cloths, towels, yarn, cotton, short lengths of material.

Persons who wish to contribute any of the items needed, may contact Miss Lula Blount Pitt St., Ayden; Mrs. Nina D. Phillip, Planter St., Ayden, or Mrs. Lucy Barnhill, Venters St., Ayden.

Fading ferries
FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI)—In the early days about 200 ferry boats operated in the state of Kentucky. Fewer than 25 remain today.

Divorce Law Seen Near

ROME (AP) — Legislation to legalize divorce in Italy appears almost certain of passage, despite last-minute appeals by Pope Paul VI and Premier Mariano Rumor.

The Chamber of Deputies voted down a move to kill the bill Wednesday night, and set a final vote for Saturday. Approval by the Chamber would send the measure to the Senate, where passage is expected.

Pope Paul told a group of newlyweds Wednesday that law-makers in this predominantly Roman Catholic nation should "venerate, honor and defend" the dissolubility of marriage.

Rumor told the Chamber Wednesday night that divorce would raise "delicate problems" in connection with the concordat signed in 1929 by Pope Pius XI and representatives of Benito Mussolini. The concordat confirmed the ban on divorce in Italy.

The third college in the American colonies was Yale, founded in Connecticut in 1701.

Uphold Right Bind And Gag Unruly Person

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The State Appeals Court has ruled that under certain circumstances a judge has the right to order an unruly defendant bound and gagged to stand trial.

The court upheld the 1967 conviction of Harry James Ker-ridge by Detroit Recorder-Judge Samuel Olson. Kerridge was convicted of robbery and sentenced to 7 to 15 years in prison.

The defendant appealed on grounds he was bound and gagged to stand trial.

Olson ordered that the defendant be dressed by force and strapped to a chair in the court. The defendant had refused to stand trial, swore at the judge and jury and at one point removed his clothing in his jail cell and refused to go to court.

Obituaries

Bonner

WASHINGTON — Funeral services for Mrs. Mattie Windley Bonner of Washington, who died Sunday in Beaufort County Memorial Hospital after several days of illness, were conducted today at 2 o'clock at Mt. Hebron Disciple Church. The Rev. G. R. Lovick officiated and burial followed in the Cedar Hill Cemetery.

Knicks Bop Atlanta, 138-108, To Equal NBA Winning Streak

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It's on to Cleveland for the streaking New York Knicks where they hope to set an all-time winning streak in the National Basketball Association of 18 in a row.

The Knicks, blazing along at a .957 clip with 22 victories in 23 starts, battle the Cincinnati Royals in their try for the record in the Ohio city on the shores of Lake Erie Friday night.

The Knicks equalled the NBA all-time mark of 17 straight by routing the Atlanta Hawks 138-108 Wednesday night on the road.

Washington set the 17 in a row mark from Nov. 16, 1946 to Dec. 30, 1946. The Boston Celtics equalled it in a string that ran from Nov. 28, 1959 to Dec. 30, 1959. The Knicks' streak started last Oct. 24.

In other NBA games on Thanksgiving eve, Philadelphia drubbed Boston 135-114, Chicago thumped Detroit 129-109, Milwaukee humbled Los Angeles 100-81 and San Francisco beat San Diego 126-125 in overtime.

The New York Nets whipped Carolina 114-92, Indiana crushed Miami 123-114, Los Angeles overcame Pittsburgh 108-101 and New Orleans shaded Denver 109-106 in the American Basketball Association.

Walt Frazier and Willis Reed combined for 66 points for the Knicks as the New Yorkers put it to the Hawks in the battle of division leaders. Each threw in 33 points.

The Knicks, ahead by only seven points at halftime at 68-61, spurred in the third period and opened a 33-point lead.

A third-period explosion by the 76ers accounted for Philadelphia's triumph over Boston. The 76ers led by only 62-60 at halftime, but a 22-6 burst led by Hal Greer and Archie Clark broke the game open. Greer, with 39 points, and Clark, with 28, combined for 67 points.

Lew Alcindor, with 29 points, led a Milwaukee comeback that beat the Lakers. Los Angeles led at one time by nine points, but fell behind when Jerry West suffered an injury to his left ankle and left the game limping in the second period.

Mel Counts was high for Los Angeles with 31 points.

Clem Haskins and Jerry Sloan each threw in 28 points to lead Chicago over Detroit. The Bulls ran up their biggest winning margin of the season. Happy Hairston and Eddie Miles each got 22 for the Pistons.

San Diego rallied to tie San Francisco at 112 with 34 points in the fourth period, but the Warriors pulled it out in the overtime. Nate Thurmond scored 32 points for the Warriors. Elvin Hayes and Don Kojis each got 25 points for the Rockets.

Key baskets by Ron Williams and Jeff Mullins in the extra period won for the Warriors.

Roots It On

Two Battles On In Heritage

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — There are two races in the struggle for positions on the all-important money winning list as the professional golf tour goes into its final two weeks.

There is, of course, a three-man scrap for the prestigious No. 1 spot involving Frank Beard, Dave Hill and Jack Nicklaus.

And there's the scramble around the No. 60 position, the last spot that qualifies for an exemption for next year's tour.

The 60 leading money winners are exempt from qualifying. Those who fail to make it and who aren't otherwise qualified—such as former U.S. Open or PGA champions—must compete in Monday qualifying events in an attempt to gain a spot in the tournament field.

It's vitally important to the pros to make that top 60. With a flock of newer, younger players muscling their way up the ladder, a large number of tour veterans, including flashy Doug Sanders—are in considerable jeopardy of losing their exemptions.

Sanders, winner of 18 tour titles, has only $26,776 this year and currently ranks 67th. He must make a minimum of about $5,000 in either the Heritage Classic, which opened today, or next week's Danny Thomas-St. Jude Open, to move into the top 60.

At the top of the list is Frank Beard at $174,916. He's skipping this week's tournament, as is Dave Hill, second at $155,849. Hill, who leads the Vardon Trophy standings, is not expected to play again this year. Beard probably won't play again unless Nicklaus challenges for the No. 1 spot.

Big Jack has vaulted into contention with more than $60,000 in his last three starts and is third at $136,917. He's admitted gunning for the No. 1 position but would have to win both of the final tournaments to overtake Beard.

Bethel Edges Past Chicod, 40-39, In Pitt Loop Opener

BETHEL — Bethel's Indians captured the first meeting with a Pitt County Conference for last night, as they nipped the Chicod Hornets, 40-39.

The Bethel girls, defending county champions, also got away to a good start, rolling to a 45-6 victory over Chicod.

In that game, the Squaws built up a 16-0 lead in the first period, and stubbornly refused to let Chicod get on the scoreboard in the second period, too. Bethel meanwhile picked up six more points to hold a 22-0 lead at halftime.

In the third period, Bethel picked up 10 more points, and Chicod finally managed a free throw to make it 32-1 as the final frame began. Bethel again outscored Chicod, 13-5, down to the wire.

Debbie Purvis and Susan James led Bethel with 10 points each.

In the boys contest, the Indians pushed out into a 8-2 lead in the first period, but then had to hold off a Chicod rally in the second period. The Hornets outscored Bethel, 13-9, but still trailed, 17-15 at halftime.

In the third period, it remained close, but Bethel managed to tack one more point onto its lead, outthumping Chicod, 11-10, for a 28-25 edge. The final

Bryant's 43 Leads Tigers

WINTERVILLE — Robinson High School, paced by high scoring Ivey Bryant, rallied in the second half last night and rolled to a 96-66 victory over G.R. Whitfield last night.

Bryant dumped in 17 field goals and nine free throws for a total of 43 points in leading the rout.

Whitfield moved out into the lead in the first period of play, 16-13. But Robinson wouldn't let them push any further away in the second frame, and both came away with 16 in the period as Whitfield led, 32-29 at halftime.

Then, in the second half, Robinson exploded. In the third period, the Tigers clawed their way to 32 points, while holding Whitfield to 15, and built up a 61-47 lead. In the final quarter, Robinson was even more deadly hitting on 35 points, while Whitfield had 19.

In addition to Bryant's 43-point total, Ernest Hyman had 22 and William Roundtree had 10.

period saw Chicod outscore Bethel, 14-12, but they couldn't get quite enough to pull it out.

Billy Edwards led Chicod with 13 points, while Eddie Stokes paced Bethel with 18.

N Edgcombe Edges By Stokes

LEGGETTS — North Edgcombe High School swept a pair of games from Stokes-Pactolus High School last night. The boys downed the Blue Jays, 72-67, while the girls were on the receiving end of a 55-6 rout.

The Blue Jays didn't give up without a battle, although they had to struggle back in the second half to stay in the game. North Edgcombe shot away to a 23-12 lead in the first period of play. Then, in the second half, they posted a 24-16 margin. That ran the score out to 47-28.

In the second half, the Blue Jays began to play ball. They outhit North Edgcombe, 20-13, and that cut the lead back to 60-48. In the final period, Stokes again outscored their hosts, 19-12, but it fell short of catching up.

Ronnie Briley led Stokes with 17 points, while Lester House had 16 and John James had 14.

For North Edgcombe, Ken Strickland had 21, Bill Wells had 17, Mike Kennedy had 12 and Johnny Stator and Larry Tippett had 11 each.

In the girls game, North Edgcombe pushed away to a 17-1 lead. In the second period, they increased the margin, hitting six to Stokes' three, for a 23-4 lead at intermission.

Things didn't get any better in the third period, as North Edgcombe pumped in 22 points and held Stokes scoreless to run out to a 45-4 lead. In the final frame, North Edgcombe outhit Stokes, 10-2, to wrap it up.

Leigh Parker and Jean Gay each had 12 points, while Barbara Taylor and Prudence Guley had 10 each for North Edgcombe.

His 'Knickname' Fits Frazier

By ED SHEARER
Associated Press Sports Writer
ATLANTA (AP) — His New York Knick teammates call him "Clyde" and the embarrassed Atlanta Hawks have to agree that Walt Frazier's nickname is most appropriate.

Frazier returned to his hometown and turned in his greatest game as a professional Wednesday night in leading the Knicks to a record-tying 17th straight victory, a 138-108 triumph over the Hawks.

"He stole everything but our sneakers," said Atlanta Coach Richie Guerin. "This has to be one of the most embarrassing moments of my life."

"They call me 'Clyde' because I wear that big hat sitting on top of the locker," Frazier said. "Then, too, they say I steal so much on the court that they dubbed me 'Clyde' after that famous movie."

Frazier had seven thefts in the third quarter when the Knicks held Atlanta to only 12 points and opened up a 33-point bulge to put the game on ice. The victory equalled the National Basketball Association record for consecutive triumphs set by the defunct Washington team in 1946 and tied by the Boston Celtics in 1959.

Frazier and Willis Reed scored 33 points each, but it was Frazier's ball-hawking antics that made the big difference in the battle of the division leaders.

"I guess this has to be, all-around, my best game of basketball," said Frazier, who hit 12 of 16 floor shots, nine of 11 free throws, pulled down eight rebounds and added six assists.

"I never saw a guy play a game like that," said Knick Coach Red Holtzman. "And, then again it was one of our better, if not the best, team games of the season."

"He never gave the Atlanta offense a chance to set up," said Reed. "Everytime I looked up Clyde was stealing the basketball."

The Knicks, now 22-1 for the season, hit a blistering 59.6 per cent from the field and clamped a defense on the Hawks that saw the normally hot Atlantans hit only 41 per cent.

Cougars Fall To New York

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Home games for the New Orleans Buccaneers are getting to be as much fun as the Mardi Gras.

The Bucs lost most of a 20-point lead in the fourth quarter Wednesday night but held on to edge Denver 109-105 for their 11th victory in their last 12 American Basketball Association games and their ninth straight at home, tying a club record.

Jimmy Jones scored 31 points for the Bucs, leaders of the Western Division. Rookie Spencer Hayward topped Denver with 30 and Larry Jones added 26, 16 in the last quarter when the Rockets threatened to pull it out.

In other ABA action, Eastern Division-leading Indiana trounced Miami 123-114, the New York Nets drubbed Carolina 114-92 and Los Angeles took Pittsburgh 108-101.

In the NBA, the New York Knicks walloped Atlanta 138-108, Milwaukee downed Los Angeles 100-81, Chicago Whipped Detroit 129-109. Philadelphia smashed Boston 135-114 and San Francisco outlasted San Diego 126-125 in overtime.

Indiana rolled to its sixth straight victory for a 15-2 record as Roger Brown and Bob Netolicky scored 24 points each. Andy Anderson, who sat out the first period, led Miami with 21 points.

Levern Tart scored 25 points as the Nets built up a 15-7 lead and coasted to their fourth straight triumph. Bob Verga paced Carolina with 19 points.

Trailing 57-45 at intermission, Los Angeles roared back to beat Pittsburgh, as George Stone scored all of his 29 points in the second half. The Stars went ahead for good, 81-80, on Larry Miller's jump shot with 10 1/2 minutes left in the game.

Mack Calvin added 22 points for Los Angeles while Chico Vaughn was high for Pittsburgh with 21.

Pittsburgh guard Charlie Williams, the ABA's leading scorer, injured his knee in the second period and might miss the next two games.

Rating Settled

NEW YORK (AP) — North Dakota State and the University of Montana, the country's number one and two small college football powers, will settle any arguments as to their ratings on Saturday, Dec. 13.

They clash that day in the Camellia Bowl at Sacramento, Calif. in a battle of unbeaten and untied teams.

The Bisons of North Dakota State with a 9-0-0 record were voted No. 1 in the final Associated Press small college football poll of the season Wednesday. The Montana Grizzlies, winners of 10 straight, landed the No. 2 ranking.

Texas, Arkansas Had Big Games Set Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Texas and Arkansas, the nation's top two major college football teams geared for a Dec. 6 showdown, played big games this Thanksgiving Day against traditional rivals who have made them eat crow in the past.

Top-ranked Texas visited Texas A&M at College Station, while No. 2 Arkansas took on Texas Tech at Little Rock, Ark., in a nationally televised game.

Should both come out of their games with 9-0 records, their meeting at Fayetteville, Ark., Dec. 6 would decide the national championship, the Southwest Conference title and host spot in the Cotton Bowl against Notre Dame New Year's Day.

But neither Texas Coach Darrell Royal or Frank Broyles of Arkansas were taking today's games lightly.

Although Texas led its series with A&M 52-18-5, the Longhorns had won just 12 of 26 previous games at College Station. In 1963, the last time the Longhorns won the national championship, they squeezed by A&M 15-13.

Arkansas was just as aware of Tech, having lost two of the last three meetings.

In other traditional games today, No. 14 Mississippi was at Mississippi State, Virginia Tech played Virginia Military at Roanoke, Va., and Louisville was at Tulsa.

The big games Saturday include the Army-Navy battle at Philadelphia; third-ranked Penn State, unbeaten and hoping for Texas and Arkansas to falter, at North Carolina State,

Snow: Jurgy OK, Gabe Better

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "We aren't throwing the bomb quite as often," said Jack Snow, the Los Angeles Rams' premier pass catcher, "but we throw enough to let 'em know we can still go deep."

There may be enough bombs in the air Sunday in Washington to qualify the National Football League game between the Redskins and Rams as a full-scale war.

Quarterback Roman Gabriel will put the Rams' 10-0 record on the line against the 'Skins who, led by quarterback Sonny Jurgensen, are fourth in the NFL in passing.

"They're a fine throwing team" Snow said. "I rate Jurgensen the best pure passer in the game - but Gabe is better all around."

The fifth-year wide receiver from Notre Dame is Gabriel's favorite target. He's hauled in 36 passes this year for 589 yards—better than 16 yards a catch—and five touchdowns.

And he's only two receptions away from the career high of 38 in 1965, his rookie year. "Gabe is coming to me more and I think my concentration and execution of pass patterns are better," Snow analyzed.

"Part of that is due to more experience but the rest is because I'm working harder than I ever did before, in college or the pros," said the 26-year-old native of Rocky Springs, Wyo.

"Gabe works with Wendell Tucker and me for about a half hour after regular practice each day—and it's paying off." Tucker, a third-year wide receiver, and rookie running back Larry Smith share the Rams' runner-up spot in catches with 31 apiece.

Snow says the bomb-he's been on the receiving end of a 74-yard touchdown toss - "won't ever go out of style, but the short stuff is more effective."

"I'm catching more in heavy traffic than I used to. The defenses are better. Washington is fourth in the league in pass defense) and they're watching me closer," with a lot of double-teaming, Snow said.

Snow is also the team's shovel, plucking a lot of passes off his shootops. "That's because Gabe is calling more turn-in patterns in the midst of defenders."

"He has to keep the ball low to prevent interceptions. They're tough to catch," he said, "but just as tough to break up."

Snow, at 6-foot-2 and 190 pounds, has deceiving speed. He insists he's not very fast-but nobody's ever caught him from behind. "Several other Rams have better 40-yard times," he said. "I do it in 4.7 seconds."

"Maybe I don't run as fast in practice. But when I get in a ball game, I'm usually a step beyond the defender. He's chasing me and it's natural to try to keep ahead of him" said Snow. "Actually, I'm running out of fright."

Season Ends For SC Teams

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The end of the season arrived today for the last two Southern Conference football teams—and it couldn't come a moment too soon for Virginia Military Institute's Keydets and Furman's Paladins.

The Keydets, winless in nine starts this season, sought to end an 11-game losing streak against Virginia Tech in Roanoke, Va., in the next-to-last game of their traditional Thanksgiving Day series.

After next year, the two teams will no longer play on Thanksgiving Day—and they won't play at all for at least a couple of years.

Furman, 1-7-1 over-all, closed out its campaign at home in a second meeting against Wofford a team that routed the Paladins 49-7 in a game earlier in the season.

Conference champion Davidson is the only team that will see action after today. The Wildcats, who finished 7-3 after losing their last two starts, take on Mid-American Conference champion Toledo, 10-0 in the Tangerine Bowl Dec. 27 at Orlando, Fla.

Durable Santa Claus Required

BOSTON (AP) — Charles Dermitt is looking for men "who want to be yelled at, clawed at—who will pretend they are something that means everything in the world to these kids."

Dermitt recruits Santa Clauses for about 30 New England stores, and says only one out of every seven or eight men he interviews is hired.

"I'm not interested in physical appearances. I'm interested in the guts inside the man inside the suit," he said in an interview.

"One man I hired was a Negro, 6½ feet tall. But he had feeling and tenderness and wanted to be a Santa Claus. These guys we hire all want to be Santa Claus, and when they're inside that red suit, they are."

As manager of the Boston branch of Western Girl International, an employment agency which recently bought a firm called North Pole Santa Claus, Dermitt is implementing a Western Girl program to spruce up the image of department store Kringles.

The agency's Santas get four hours of schooling based on a training manual 1½ inches thick.

The manual includes requirements that Santa use a deodorant and mouth fresheners, and have a box of tissues handy for the times when youngsters try to impale his cheek with their candy canes. It also gives answers for questions that are as sticky as Santa's beard.

If the child says: "I saw you a few minutes ago at another store. How come?" Santa replies: "I saw you, too, but we didn't get a chance to talk. I guess I just beat you over here."

Dermitt said studies show

No Knitting In The Galleries

During a recent session, an attendant saw a woman knitting in the public gallery. He rebuked her—but allowed her to stay.

that one of every 13 girls who talks to Santa asks for a baby brother. Santa's reply: "My job is to bring gifts to nice little girls like you. What you ask is out of my department. However, if you go home and pray to your God, I'm sure things will work out."

"You have to be honest with them," Dermitt said. "The days of promise-them-anything are gone. These kids are sharp. Besides, they have enough problems without Santa lying to them."

Insomniacs Preoccupied

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The trouble with insomniacs, says a UCLA psychiatrist, is they tend to become preoccupied with their sleeplessness.

Studies on insomnia suggest that chronic sleeplessness is associated with moderate to severe personality disturbances as reflected by psychological testing, reports Anthony Kales of UCLA's Brain Research Institute. Whatever the problems are, insomniacs generally focus on their inability to sleep and show little concern for their emotional difficulties.

The most common variety of insomnia is characterized by chronic inability to fall asleep readily. Other victims of the disorder may fall asleep easily but have persistent difficulty staying asleep.

The first potato crop in the United States was planted in New Hampshire in 1719.

Annual Doll Show Dec. 4, 5

FOR DOLL SHOW . . . Captain and Mrs. Wayne McHargue of the Salvation Army hold three of the dolls that will be used in this year's annual Christmas Doll Show.

The annual Christmas Doll Show sponsored by the Salvation Army Women's Auxiliary has been scheduled for Dec. 4 and 5 from 10 a. m. until 8 p. m. both days.

Dolls displayed at the Salvation Army Citadel on the Farmville Highway will be given to children of families in the organization's Christmas Aid program.

Judges for the show will be Dr. Nancx Sears and Mrs. Eleanor Quick of the Home Economics Department staff at East Carolina University.

Mrs. Wayne McHargue said that approximately 20 groups in Greenville are participating in the dressing of the 280 dolls used in the show. All dolls are ordered by the Salvation Army and displayed by local groups in the city; then returned to the Citadel for the annual event.

Chairman of the Doll Show for 1969 is Mrs. B. D. Johnston. All persons interested in viewing the dolls are invited by the Salvation Army to come by see the dolls on display.

Cut-Rates For Students Ended

COPENHAGEN (UPI)—The Danish State Railways has stopped giving students a 25 per cent discount on travel. The railways didn't make enough profit from the scheme.

"I'm sorry if the students thought we did it for their social benefit," said assistant secretary M. P. C. Bruno. "We had hoped a greater number of students would travel by rail, but this did not materialize."

Size Of Bicycle Found To Be A Safety Factor

NEW YORK (UPI)—If you're shopping for a bicycle that Santa leaves under the tree, you ought to know about Research Report 1-69 from the National Safety Council.

The report on a survey analyzing some 4,000 accident questionnaires from students and parents is titled: Bicycle Accidents to School Aged Children. Among findings are these:

—The relative safety of a bicycle is not determined by its style.

—The size of the bicycle in relation to the size of the child is an important safety factor. "The child riding a bike too large for him gets involved in more accidents."

—Nighttime accidents, while fewer in number, are usually more severe.

—More boys are involved in motor vehicle accidents than girls.

—Of 4,000 accident reports studied, only 33 mentioned a defective component as contributing to the accident, and of these, 20 were the result of improper maintenance.

Now what this means to the prospective Christmas buyer, according to the Bicycle Institute of America:

—Lightweight, middleweight, racing or touring bike, or the very popular high rise bike, none of them is less safe than the others because of its design.

—Bikes are like shoes. They should be bought to fit, not to grow into. Buying a bike several sizes too large, hoping that a youngster will grow into it, thus getting a few more years out of it, is a false and dangerous economy.

—Parents should make sure that all their cycling children know and observe the rules of the road. This is particularly true of boys, who may have paper routes or other occupations that keep them out on their bikes in the evening hours.

—All bikes, even new ones, need regular maintenance and repair to keep them in good, safe operating condition.

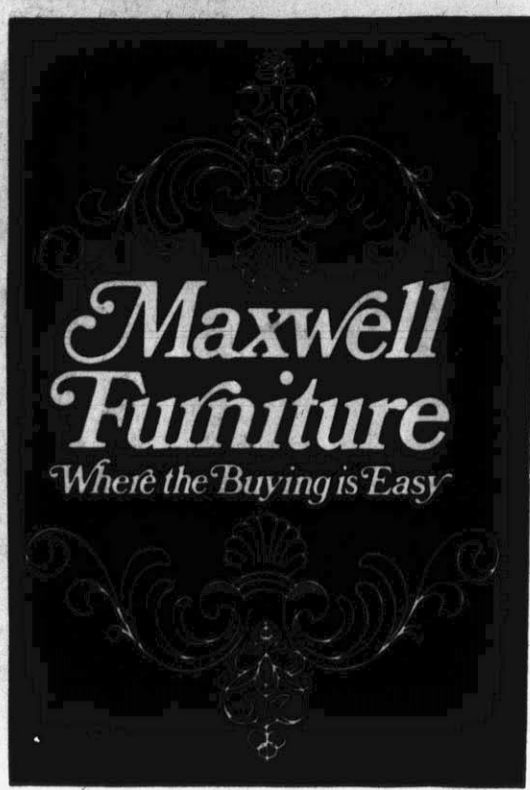

Now if the bike has optional equipment, such as gear shifts, make sure the child is able to operate it would losing control.

Also make sure he can bring his bike to a smooth, sure stop, whether the bike comes equipped with caliper brakes, handbrakes, or a combination of the two.

Ask yourself if he knows about hand signals, the right of way, handling traffic at intersections, and keeping to the right.

If the Christmas bike is to be a surprise, ask retailers to agree to have you bring the bike back after the holiday for the proper fitting and personal adjustment necessary for safety and comfort.

After that, a semi-annual inspection and adjustment can keep the bike in top-top condition.

Two Senators Claim Cover-Up Of Alleged Vietnam Massacre

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Two senators charge military officers in Vietnam deliberately covered up the alleged My Lai massacre and one says the ultimate count may be 300 to 700 dead.

The senators, members of the Armed Services Committee, made their charges after Army Secretary Stanley R. Resor gave committees of both houses the most definitive official account to date of the March 1968 incident.

Sen. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., said after the closed-door session he is convinced there was a "premeditated cover-up of this incident." He added, however, that he thought the cover-up doesn't go to the "ultimate top leadership in Vietnam. It does go fairly high up in the chain of command in the field structure."

Sen. Stephen Young, D-Ohio, said officers in Vietnam told men of the 11th Infantry Brigade who were in the My Lai area not to write to their congressmen. The Senator said officers "whitewashed it," but that "murder on such a huge scale, 300 to 700 civilians, cannot be whitewashed."

Rep. William L. Dickinson, R-Ala., said Resor and his aides told House Armed Service Committee members that between 150 and 300 Vietnamese were killed at My Lai. Resor said the Army is still investigating "the extent to which the members of Company C were acting pursuant to orders from their company commander or higher headquarters when they destroyed My Lai's buildings and fired upon its unresisting inhabitants."

The secretary said the question of orders was one of the "critical issues" remaining to be resolved.

Resor said it may be several months before all the allegations in the incident are evaluated. He said seven Army investigators are at work in the probe both in Vietnam and the United States and that 75 witnesses have been interviewed, including 28 still in the Army.

One officer, 1st Lt. William L. Calley Jr., has been charged with premeditated murder in the case. S. Sgt. David Mitchell has been charged with assault with intent to kill and "there are at least 24 former members of Company C, nine of who are still on active duty, who must be deemed subjects of the continuing criminal investigation," Resor said.

The secretary said the original investigation, right after the March 1968 incident, ended when "the Brigade commander (Col. Oren K. Henderson) concluded that approximately 20 noncombatants had been inadvertently killed by preparatory fires and in cross fires between friendly and enemy forces, and that the reports of unnecessary killing of civilians were merely another instance of a common Viet Cong propaganda technique and were groundless—a view apparently shared with the Vietnamese district chief.

This finding went to the commander of the parent Americal Division, but the matter was not brought to the attention of Saigon headquarters or the Department of the Army, the secretary said.

His testimony said that "the first suggestion that something extraordinary had taken place at My Lai reached the department of Army" in early April 1969 in the form of a letter, to Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird and five congressmen, from former GI Ronald Ridenhour, who alleged that the troops at My Lai had been given the mission of destroying it "and all its inhabitants."

Dick Cavett To Be Joey's Successor

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Dick Cavett, onetime gag writer for and close friend of Johnny Carson, is the American Broadcasting Co.'s choice to succeed Joey Bishop on its late-night talk show.

The show—originating from New York instead of Hollywood—will compete with Carson's NBC-TV program.

The selection of Cavett was announced Wednesday by Elton M. Rule, president of ABC. The new show, to premiere Dec. 29, also will compete against the Merv Griffin Show on CBS.

Bishop left the show Tuesday night while taping a program telecast Wednesday night.

It had been announced earlier in the day that the Bishop show, begun in April 1967, would end in late December because of a drop in ratings. ABC said guest hosts will take over until the Cavett show begins.

Cavett's humor leans toward the intellectual vein but he is equally capable of the homespun variety.

Some of his most engaging routines deal with his experiences as a native of Gibbon, Neb., caught up in the Ivy League traditions of Yale University.

He was a comedy writer for Jack Parr and others before becoming a comedian himself about four years ago.

Cavett, 33, first appeared on the ABC network in two specials, "Where It's At" and "What's In."

In 1968 he began regular morning appearances in "This Morning," a talk program later retitled "The Dick Cavett Show."

The show was later canceled and last May Cavett began a summer run with a talk program in prime evening time on Mondays, Tuesdays and Fridays.

Cavett also has served as guest host on the Carson show.

Wife Shares His Trailer With Animals

TITCHFIELD, England (AP) — Roy Skiff, a retired sailor, sleeps at his mother-in-law's home nearby because the trailer he and his wife share isn't big enough. His wife likes pets—17 cats, four kittens and one dog.

"With all the animals, there wasn't space enough for a double bed," Mrs. Skiff said, "so Roy had to move. He's very understanding."

Skiff insists he doesn't mind the arrangement nor the 72 tins of cat meat, 21 pounds of rock salmon, two pounds of meat, four tins of steak and pichards and 42 pints of milk he has to buy every week. "I wouldn't be without our cats," he said.

Low Bids On Pitt Roads

J.S. Hill Construction Co. of Washington was the apparent low bidder on 659 miles of paving work in Pitt and Beaufort Counties when bids for the construction projects were opened Tuesday by the North Carolina Highway Commission.

The work in Pitt County includes 12 miles of paving on N.C. 102 in Ayden from the Snow Hill Street to Washington Street. District Highway Commission engineer C.W. Snell said the work in Ayden primarily involved improvements at the intersection to allow for better turning movements and improved signals.

The work in Beaufort County includes improvements on rural roads 1422, 1501 and 1306.

The Hill firm's bid for the Pitt and Beaufort work totaled $131,574.70.

The first commercial plant in America to use nuclear energy to make electricity was opened in Rowe, Mass., in 1960.

Buyer Need Not Be Victimized THE PERFECT GIFT

NEW YORK (UPI)—There is no sure way to avoid being victimized by a dishonest or incompetent service or repair man. But there are precautions everyone can take.

Working to educate the consumer in self-protection are many consumer affairs experts from the federal government level down to national and local business groups and local and city authorities including the police and courts.

Here is a compilation of their advice:

—Beware of "incredible" bargains—they often result in expensive repairs on shoddy merchandise. Bargains in service, for instance offers of free "house calls" to look at out-of-order television sets, may end in astronomical repair bills.

—Be wary of unknown door-to-door salesmen, particularly in the home improvement field. A local man's reputation is among his most valuable assets. The fly-by-night is not worried about repeat trade.

—Check on the man you are dealing with. The local Better Business Bureau, or a local trade association may know of complaints lodged against him. Others who have done business with him should be consulted, but this is not a totally reliable check.

—Beware of sound-alike trade names. If you want to buy the product of a well-known national manufacturer, be sure the product bears his name and not a close facsimile which can fool the unsuspecting.

—Get it in writing. Do not be satisfied with verbal promises. Anything important enough to influence your purchase or service requirement is important enough to be written into contract.

Open Your Eyes
—Read what you sign—carefully. If you don't understand something, demand explanations until you do.

—Check carbons. If you are signing several copies, check each one to be sure it says the same thing as the master copy. Altering carbons is a favorite fraud among crooked operators.

—Pay attention to the warranty. Know its duration, what it does and does not cover, whether it pays for parts or labor or both, who performs any needed repairs (the dealer, a service company or a service center operated by the manufacturer), who pays shipping costs. Beware vague wording such as "lifetime guarantee" (whose lifetime?). Be wary of a list of exemptions from warranty that ends with "etcetera." "etceteras" seem to break down first.

—Follow any instructions that come with your purchase so that breakdowns are not your fault. Don't attempt home repairs unless you are qualified.

—If your warranty still is in effect, call the firm responsible

BEATS WALKING—Larry Hess, 24, riding easy in the saddle of a motorcycle, rounds up his father's 35-cow herd into the barnyard for milking time. Larry says when he revs up his cycle on the 112-acre dairy farm in Lancaster County, Pa., the cows know it's time to head for the barn. (AP Wirephoto) under it for repairs. If the repairman finds repairs necessary that are not covered in the warranty, ask for an itemized list. If repairs are not covered in the warranty, you may prefer to use a different repair service.

—Once the warranty expires, choose your repair dealer carefully. You may continue to use the same one, or you may prefer a dealer in whom you have more confidence.

—Always demand itemized bills.

—Where practical, ask for return of defective parts that have been replaced. Reputable television repairmen, for instance, leave tubes they replace. In California, they have a legal obligation to do so.

—Always get an estimate in writing. If it is too high, you can call in another repairman. This may pay you, even though it may incur a second "house call" fee.

—Don't be embarrassed to ask questions, demand explanations.

Formal Complaints

If all else fails, make a complaint. Inform the local Better Business Bureau, or there may be a state agency which can help you. If you can't figure out which one, write to your state governor and his office will forward your complaint to the right place. Or complain to the manufacturer—some are very responsive to customers. Find out who in the company handles consumer complaints. If you can't, or if you receive a form letter, write directly to the company president by name.

Others to write to include Mrs. Virginia Knauer, White House consumer affairs adviser; local consumer groups; the Federal Trade Commission where applicable; Industry Associations, trade groups or your local newspaper.

The courts, because of costs and long delays, are a last resort in some areas, however there are small claims courts where cases under a certain sum ($300, for instance, in New York State) can be brought by individuals, rather quickly and without lawyers.

The basic advice remains what it was when the Romans were haggling with used chariot dealers—"caveat emptor"—"let the buyer beware."

Calls For Pride In Naming Wines

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP)—South African wines should have South African names, parliamentarian and wine connoisseur Senator Paul Sauer believes. Sauer accused local wine farmers of lacking pride in their product when they labeled it "claret type," "burgundy type" or "champagne type." An Alsatian wine farmer "would rather die" than call an Alsace wine a "Moselle type," though he lived within six miles of the Moselle River. "How then can he, who are 6,000 miles further away, make an 'Alsace type' or a 'Burgundy type' wine?" Sauer asked.

LIKE FATHERS, LIKE ...
ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Peggy Iglauer of St. Louis found Geri Weiss her roommate at Jackson College, Medford, Mass. In the course of a conversation, they learned that their fathers were roommates 25 years ago at Ohio State.

RABIELESS
HONOLULU (UPI)—Hawaii has never had a case of rabies. Meat eating animals must spend four months in a Honolulu quarantine station before they may enter the state.

The Worry Clinic
Morals Under Steady Attack

Satan is a very real power who keeps seducing mankind. Notice that roughly every 1,000 years a holocaust strikes the earth to punish the crass sexual degeneracy that develops among human beings. Does the current pornography, lewdness and sexual promiscuity mean we are nearing that next 1,000-year holocaust?

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph. D., M.D.
 CASE L-557: Satan has waged a constant battle with God for the seduction of man's morals. It started when Satan's press agent, the Serpent, sold Eve on eating the forbidden fruit in the Garden of Eden.

After Adam and Eve were then banished from the Garden, Satan began twisting man's thinking. Cain soon was prompted to murder his brother, Abel. And sexual perversions increased, too, until finally God told Noah to separate himself and his family from the wickedness of his fellow men and ride out the holocaust in the famous Ark.

Mankind then launched a new attempt to populate the earth. But one of Noah's own sons began violating the sexual codes, which reached the zenith about 1,000 years later.

That's when God ordered Sodom and Gomorrah destroyed by fire and brimstone. For the lewd young men of Sodom tried to force Lot to turn his guests over to them for homosexual orgies.

Those sexual perverts (from whom we now have derived the legal sexual crime of sodomy), didn't know that Lot's guests were angels, disguised as human beings.

So the angels saw that Lot and his daughters escaped just before the cities were burned to a crisp.

Many years later, Joseph almost became a victim in Egypt of the sexual advances of his employer's wife, who boldly tried to seduce Joseph.

But Joseph was an honorable man and loyal to his employer, so he fled.

But the lewd wife held on to Joseph's coat and when her husband returned that night, she brazenly told a lie, saying that Joseph had tried to assault her.

So God finally sentenced the perverse Egyptians to the death of their firstborn, not only of every human family, but also of all their farm animals.

The Hebrews escaped via the Passover, and then headed into their Promised Land.

But sexual debauchery again reached such a popular level that the entire Tribe of Benjamin defended a little band of male perverts who tried to assault the Levite and later killed his wife by an all-night orgy.

When he cut her dead body into 12 pieces, sending one to each of the 12 Tribes of Israel, 11 of the Tribes were so aghast at such a heinous sin that they tried to exterminate the entire Tribe of Benjamin.

They almost succeeded, for only 600 Benjamites escaped into

Baby Alligator Buys A Paper

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Robert Jamerson was out selling newspapers Wednesday—unusual for him—and he accepted a box from an allegedly penniless patron in payment for a newspaper.

Jamerson, an assistant exhibitor at the Museum of Science and National History in suburban Clayton, said he thought the box contained rolls or donuts.

Instead, it contained a live baby alligator.

Opening lead: King of clubs. Despite the all-out efforts of South, the declarer at four hearts, to avert the ruff that would prove fatal to his contract, his opponent was not to be denied—and at the crucial moment West was waiting to make the key counter-thrust.

West opened the king of clubs and the ace was played from dummy, as East followed suit with the eight. An examination of the combined assets revealed that declarer might expect to lose one trick in each of the red suits plus the queen of clubs. From the appearance of East's club spot however, there was a distinct danger that the latter might score a ruff in clubs to defeat the contract.

South examined the ways open to him to prevent the club ruff. If East has a doubleton, then the situation is virtually hopeless because the defense has the ace of trumps. If East has a singleton club however, South may be able to sever the line of communications between the defense.

His prospects were decidedly slim, inasmuch as they hinged on East's holding the ace of hearts and only one club and on West's not having any spade spot higher than South's nine. Since there was no other chance, South proceeded on this assumption.

At trick two the king of spades was cashed, followed by a spade to the ace and then a third round. It was South's intention not to ruff in dummy, but to discard North's eight of diamonds if West failed to cover the nine of spades.

West had been following the proceedings carefully and reasoning that he had no special use for his lone trump, he played that card on the third spade. The dummy overruffed, however declarer's prospects were hopelessly dimmed. East ducked one round of hearts, but he won the continuation with the ace and returned a diamond to put West in. The latter cashed the queen of clubs and led a small club which East ruffed with the seven of hearts for the setting trick.

Declarer's plan would have succeeded had West casually discarded on the third spade. East goes in with the jack of spades and with the dummy's discard of the eight of diamonds, there is now no way for West to get in to give East the club ruff. Once the ace of hearts is driven out, South draws trumps and subsequently establishes North's club suit by leading toward the jack. His losses are one club, one diamond, and one heart.

Today In Washington

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has confirmed he will leave the day after Christmas for a 10-nation tour of the Far East at the request of President Nixon.

Agnew's first stop, his office said Wednesday, will be in the Philippines for the Dec. 30 inauguration of President Ferdinand E. Marcos.

The three-week trip also will take the vice president to Nationalist China, Thailand, Nepal, Afghanistan, Malaysia, Singapore, Indonesia, Australia and New Zealand.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The strike against General Electric Co. figured heavily in the 2,850,000 man-days of working time lost in the United States during October, the Labor Department says.

Some 17,000 General Electric workers are still on strike. A total of 372,000 workers were on strike during October, including those who walked off jobs at American Motors Corp., Chrysler Corp., General Motors Corp., National Biscuit Co., Textile Dyeing and Finishing Companies and the Washington, D.C., Publishers Association. Those strikes ended before the end of the month.

The total man-hours lost was a million higher than in September but fell below the four million in October of 1968.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill which would prohibit the display of use of a deceased serviceman's name without permission of his next of kin has been introduced by Rep. Glenn Cunningham, R-Neb.

Antwar demonstrators here staged a Nov. 13-15 "march against death" in which individuals carried signs inscribed with the names of war dead.

"Losing one's son or husband is sorrow enough," Cunningham said Wednesday in a House speech. "But having his name read by social misfits compounds that sorrow and is an insult to the family that has made the supreme sacrifice."

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Justice Department has refused to allow a Belgian Marxist, Dr. Ernest Mandel, to enter the United States for a week-long lecture tour he had planned to begin Saturday in New York.

The city's 14 fire alarm boxes hardest hit by false alarms have been removed, and James J. Lacy Jr., city fire board chairman, said about a dozen alarm boxes have been posted with signs saying that pulling the lever will trigger a nearby camera to take picture of the puller.

A certified check or bank draft, payable to the Redevelopment Commission of the City of Greenville, negotiable U.S. Government Bonds, or a satisfactory Bid Bond executed by the Bidder and an acceptable surety in an amount equal to ten percent (10 percent) of the estimated cost of Demolition and Site Clearance exclusive of any deductions for salvage, shall be submitted with each bid.

The successful Bidder will be required to furnish and pay for satisfactory performance and payment bond or bonds.

Attention is called to the fact that not less than the minimum salaries and wages set forth in the Contract Documents must be paid on this project, and that the Contractor must ensure that employees and applicants for employment are not discriminated against because of their race, creed, color, or national origin.

The Commission reserves the right to reject any or all Bids or to waive any informalities in the bidding.

Bids may be held by the Commission for a period of up to thirty (30) days from the date of the opening of Bids for the purpose of reviewing the Bids and investigating the qualifications of the Bidders, prior to awarding of the Contract.

NOTICE OF SALE
North Carolina
County of Pitt
Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in those two (2) certain deeds of trust, one (1) deed of trust being dated November 2, 1964, and of record in Book U-34, page 436, Pitt County Registry, unto Dink James, Trustee, and that other deed of trust bearing date of July 5, 1966, of record in Book G-36, page 149, Pitt County Registry, unto R. S. Langley, Trustee, both of said deeds of trust now securing indebtedness due by Eastern Food Products, Inc. (incorporated), and under and by virtue of the authority vested in the undersigned as Substitute Trustee by an instrument of writing dated the 11th day of November, 1969, and recorded November 13, 1969, in Book V-38, page 1132, Pitt County Registry, default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness secured by both of said deeds of trust and the said deeds of trust being by the terms thereof subject to foreclosure, and the holder of the indebtedness thereby secured having demanded a foreclosure thereof for the purpose of satisfying said indebtedness, the undersigned Substitute Trustee, will offer for sale at public auction to the highest bidder for cash at the Courthouse door in Greenville, Pitt County, North Carolina, at 2:00 o'clock on the 17th day of December, 1969, the lot or parcel of land conveyed in said deeds of trust, the same lying and being in Pitt County, North Carolina, and more particularly described as follows:

Situate and being in the Town of Ayden, North Carolina, North of 2nd Street and East of the alley between the P.R. Taylor Store property and the W.O. Jolly property and BEGINNING at a point on the North side of 2nd Street where the dividing wall between the first and second stores to the East of the alley, if extended, would strike the street and running thence along the center of the second store to the East of the alley second course to the center of the rear being dividing wall these stores and the store owned by Boyce and Brantley Jolly; thence with the center of the dividing wall between these stores and the store owned by Boyce and Brantley Jolly an easterly course to the center of the dividing wall between the second store East of the alley and the rear wall of the stores owned by W.O. Jolly and Hubert Jolly; thence with the center of the dividing wall between the second store East of the alley and the stores owned by Hubert Jolly and W.O. Jolly, and the dividing wall between the small office now occupied by A.R. Cannon and owned by Boyce and Brantley Jolly, a Southerly course to a point on the North side of 2nd Street where said wall, if extended, would strike 2nd Street; thence with the North side of 2nd Street a westerly course to the BEGINNING, and being the second store immediately to the East of said alley and the same that was occupied by Frances Sugg Florist (formerly J.E. Jones), and being the identical property which was conveyed by Grace Jolly Ewing and husband, D.C. Ewing, Jr. to F.J. Skinner and wife, Stella W. Skinner by deed dated the 12th day of March, 1946, of record in Book O-24, at page 27 of the Pitt County Registry, and from F.J. Skinner and wife, to Alton Sugg and wife, Adelle Sugg by deed of record in Book A-25, at page 311 of the Pitt County Registry. And further, being the same and identical property as conveyed by C.A. Sugg (unmarried), to Johnnie Sugg and wife, Frances Sugg, by that deed dated March 7, 1961, and recorded in Book I-32, at page 308, in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County, and further being the same and identical property as conveyed by Johnnie Sugg and wife, Frances Sugg to Eastern Food Products, Inc., incorporated, by deed dated May 31, 1969, and recorded in Book H-35, at page 644, to which reference is hereby made and incorporated.

The proceeds of said sale will first be paid to the indebtedness secured by that deed of trust of record in Book U-34, page 436, and then to the indebtedness described in Book G-36, page 149. The sale will be held at 11:00 a.m., E.S.T., on the 16th day of December, 1969, at the Central Office of the Redevelopment Commission, located at 312 Roundtree Drive and at the CBD Project Office located at 312 South Evans Street, Greenville, North Carolina.

Situated on Parcel 6-4 are the ruins of a two-story masonry building erected in 1916. The building, known as the old Sycamore Hill Missionary Baptist Church was destroyed by fire and only the exterior walls, foundations and bell tower remain.

Contract Documents are on file at the Redevelopment Commission's Central Office located at 312 Roundtree Drive and at the CBD Project Office located at 312 South Evans Street, Greenville, North Carolina.

A certified check or bank draft, payable to the Redevelopment Commission of the City of Greenville, negotiable U.S. Government Bonds, or a satisfactory Bid Bond executed by the Bidder and an acceptable surety in an amount equal to ten percent (10 percent) of the estimated cost of Demolition and Site Clearance exclusive of any deductions for salvage, shall be submitted with each bid.

The successful Bidder will be required to furnish and pay for satisfactory performance and payment bond or bonds.

Attention is called to the fact that not less than the minimum salaries and wages set forth in the Contract Documents must be paid on this project, and that the Contractor must ensure that employees and applicants for employment are not discriminated against because of their race, creed, color, or national origin.

The Commission reserves the right to reject any or all Bids or to waive any informalities in the bidding.

Bids may be held by the Commission for a period of up to thirty (30) days from the date of the opening of Bids for the purpose of reviewing the Bids and investigating the qualifications of the Bidders, prior to awarding of the Contract.
