

City Police Arrest 27 For 'Parade'

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Greenville police, acting under a new and more definitive city ordinance, arrested 27 young men and women on Evans Street yesterday afternoon for parading without a permit.

The arrests were made, according to Police Chief T. E. Gladson, after members of the group were told of the ordinance and warned they would be charged if they violated the provisions of the law.

The ordinance was adopted by the City Council at a special session Wednesday morning and replaces an ordinance enacted some five years ago which last month was hauled into U.S. Eastern District Court charges it was unconstitutional. The Federal court has not ruled on the legality of that ordinance.

The demonstration was allegedly protesting the arrest of two young women, Misses Margaret M. Marshall and Daisy L. Albritton, for posting advertisements in violation of a Greenville city ordinance, before dawn yesterday.

The posters the two were accused of tacking to poles and trees advertised a Southern Christian Leadership Conference workshop in Raleigh scheduled for Saturday.

Within a matter of hours after the two women were arrested, handbills were being circulated on the East Carolina University Campus calling for "... a silent, symbolic demonstration at the Post Office in downtown Greenville—protesting the abridgement of civil rights that is being practiced here."

Claiming freedom of speech has been muffled in Greenville, the handbill continued, "we will wear gags taped over our mouths as a symbol of our lack of freedom of speech."

The majority of those arrested gave ECU addresses.

Before the group left the campus where they had assembled, according to Chief Gladson, the people were told of the new ordinance by Police Capt. E. G. Cannon, and warned they would be arrested if they violated the ordinance. They left the campus about 3:15 and were taken into custody, without incident, at 3:30 as they walked down the sidewalks flanking Evans Street between Third and Fourth Streets.

All were placed under $200 bonds for trial in District Court December 8.

A group of some 39 protestors, many of them holding signs advertising the Raleigh SCLC meet Saturday, gathered on the Post Office parking lot and stood in patrol parking spaces for about 30 minutes before breaking up and leaving in small, unorganized groups and in vehicles. They too, wore gags.

Most of those at the post office had arrived in vehicles or unorganized groups. No members of that contingent of protestors were charged.

Of the 27 arrested, only one was Negro, while of the group at the Post Office about half were black.

SCLC field worker Golden Frinks said at the Post Office that yesterday's demonstration was sponsored by the SCLC, Gap (an activist group headed by Whitney Hadden of Greenville) and by the Black Action Committee.

Under the new parade ordinance, a parade or group demonstration can be "any assemblage of two or more persons... acting together to demonstrate or parade on the city streets, sidewalks or any other public place.

It requires a parade permit be issued by the Chief of Police, with application for the permit being made 72 hours prior to the time of the parade or demonstration.

Those arrested yesterday include: David P. Wendelin, 19 of Greenville; David L. LaFone, 21 of 1100 Cotanche St. (from Hickory); Carolyn Choquette, 19, Slay Dorm (from Winston-Salem).

VC Proclaim Holiday Truces; 3 Days Each

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong announced today that its forces would observe Christmas and New Year's truces of three days each, two days longer than those proclaimed Thursday by the Saigon government.

The Viet Cong radio said the Christmas truce would start at 1 a.m. Dec. 24, 12 noon Dec. 23 EST, and end at 1 a.m. Dec. 27. It said the New Year's truce would run from 1 a.m. Dec. 30 to 1 a.m. Jan. 2.

President Nguyen Van Thieu proclaimed 24-hour cease-fires to start at 6 p.m. Christmas Eve and 6 p.m. New Year's Eve.

The U.S. Command said American forces would join in the truce proclaimed by Thieu.

The U.S. Command said today it had received reports for the first time in the war that North Vietnamese army officers executed at least a dozen of their soldiers who tried to desert.

Company CO Heard Officer Called For Testimony In Army Inquiry Into My Lai

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Army board lined up testimony today from 1st Lt. William L. Calley Jr., charged with mass murdering Vietnamese civilians.

Calley's company commander, Capt. Ernest Medina, told the panel Thursday he did not order any massacre and "I did not see any massacre in My Lai."

Calley, who has not spoken publicly about the incident, was called to testify before a special army panel which is attempting to find out why a field investigation shortly after the alleged massacre in March 1968 came up with a finding that no further action was needed.

The lieutenant is charged with the premeditated murder of at least 109 civilians at the village.

Medina, whose Company C included Calley's platoon, was excused by the Peers board Thursday night after hours of questioning under oath. He has not been charged in the case.

During a break in his testimony, Medina appeared at a news conference in the Pentagon and denied flatly allegations by some of his former soldiers that he himself had killed a child at the My Lai 4 hamlet and ordered inhabitants of the settlement killed.

With Boston criminal Lawyer F. Lee Bailey at his elbow, the 33-year-old captain answered reporters' questions for the first time since the case burst into a world-wide sensation.

which he said was reported by intelligence to be in the village.

—He received an order from the operations officer from the task force to make certain no innocent civilians were being killed and that this information was relayed to his platoon commanders via radio.

—He saw about 20 to 28 slain civilians apparently killed by artillery, helicopter-mounted weapons and small arms fire, including a "crossfire between the VC and American troops."

Public Hearing Scheduled On Street Levies

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

A public hearing for January 8, 1970 was set by the City Council at its monthly meeting on Thursday night. The hearing will give residents of Cherry View an opportunity to object to or question costs which are being levied in connection with street improvement assessment rolls.

the rezoning of an area on U.S. 264 by-pass known as the Tipton Annex. The council approved rezoning a stretch of approximately 870 feet from highway commercial zoning to a shopping center zoning category.

In the project for street improvements in the Cherry View area completed to date, a total of 14,842 linear feet have been completed. Total assessment costs will amount to $38,009.14.

This covers improvements on Roosevelt, Douglas, Sheppard, Vance, McKinley, Contentnea, Cherry, Davis and Sixth Streets.

A report to the Council on improvements still underway in the Cherry View section was given by City Manager Harry Hagerty, who stated that work continues on Pamlico Street, on Carolina and Virginia alleys, and a 150 foot portion of Davis Street.

A supplemental agreement between the Seaboard Coast Line Railroad Company and the city of Greenville was approved. This agreement deals with the installation of two additional pipes for natural gas. The supplemental agreement was drawn up on November 6, 1969.

Council members asked Hagerty to inform in writing the members of the Vietnam Moratorium Committee that a new request for a permission to march would be required in connection with their request for a permit to march on December 12. This is necessitated by a new city ordinance covering marches and demonstrations which was approved at a call meeting of the City Council on Wednesday.

Approval was given for a tax refund of $123.97 to Mrs. C. E. Oakley of Smithfield for taxes paid to the city of Greenville in error. The taxes should have been paid to Pitt County. This amount had been credited to the taxes of her son, C. E. Oakley, Jr.

The abandonment of McClellan Street from Howell to Wyatt Street was approved. Action will be taken to return the land to the four adjacent property owners.

A request from a representative of Western Union for permission to close the office at 6:00 p.m. with an agent arrangement to take effect after that time was denied.

Hiring of two additional school crossing guards was approved for the Wahl-Coates Elementary School. This will be stationed at crossings on First and Fourth Streets. Plans are to hire two college students to fill these two positions.

In other construction and improvement projects in Greenville, Hagerty reported that eight foot pipes of the railroad portion of Fomes Run Drainage project were in place Wednesday at 5:00 p.m. The two 48 inch pipes at this point were left in place "as a safety factor," Hagerty noted.

To complete the entire drainage project, large pipe must still be placed at North Overlook, Crestwood, Elm Street and Morningside Circle.

Public hearings were held on two matters at the Thursday night meeting.

The first concerned a dine and dance permit for the Stone Fox Inn on Cotanche Street which was approved. The new establishment will be permitted to sell pizzas, submarines, beer and soft drinks. Dancing is to be permitted on a 300 square foot section of the premises.

The second matter constituting a public hearing was

Jaycees Honor Local Teacher

Mrs. Esther Warren, primary education teacher at Wahl-Coates School, was selected Greenville Jaycees Outstanding Young Educator Tuesday night.

Mrs. Warren's selection followed an informal reception at the Fellowship Hall of Immanuel Baptist Church for the seven OYE nominees.

Purpose of the reception was to give the judges a chance to meet the nominees before announcing the winner for 1969.

In addition to Mrs. Warren, nominees present for the reception were Mrs. Mary Bannon, Elmhurst Elementary School; David Bumgarner, J. H. Rose High School; Mrs. Faye Creagan, Aycock Junior High School; Mrs. Naomi Dunn, J. H. Rose High School; Miss Glenda Smith, Tarboro High School; and Mrs. Julia Speight, Third Street School.

Judges for this year's OYE award were Zr. James Batten, ECU Education Department; Dr. Thomas Chambliss, director of student teachers at ECU; Mrs. Sarah Allen, co-ordinator for the Governors Council on Mental Retardation; and Bill Moore, area sales representative for the Mobil Chemical Corporation.

Acting as a consultant to the judging team was last year's OYE winner, Leland Alsbrook of Greenville. Representing the Jaycees on Tuesday night was OYE project co-chairman, Shelton Whitehurst.

A native of Belhaven, Mrs. Warren is a graduate of J.A. Wilkerson High School there. Following her graduation, she entered East Carolina University and received her B.S. degree in primary education in 1959 and M.A. degree in principalship supervisory in 1964.

Mrs. Warren, the former Esther Jarvis, completed her studies at East Carolina University while on three different scholarships. In addition to a high school scholarship grant, she also received the Beta Club scholarship and North Carolina Teachers Scholarship.

Allot Pitt Road Fund

The State Highway Commission Thursday allocated $46,000 for three secondary road projects in Pitt County. W. Arthur Tripp, area highway commissioner, announced.

Two of the projects call for the roads to be stabilized and the other project to be paved. All are subject to the acquisition of right of way, Tripp reported.

The three projects are:

—State Road 1556 (Ward's Bridge Rd.), 1.3 miles right of way acquisition, grading, draining and stabilizing at a cost of $19,750.

—State Road 1271, .24 miles, right of way acquisition, grading, draining and stabilizing for $10,125.

—SR 1215 (Strickland Rd.), .40 miles, right of way acquisition, grading, draining, base and surfacing. This project will cost $16,125.

Brooks Resigns

RALEIGH (AP)—The first permanent employe of the North Carolina General Assembly resigned today, but urged his position be continued as a means of enhancing "the effectiveness of the General Assembly."

John C. Brooks, a Greenville native who was often the center of dispute during the 1969 General Assembly, handed in his resignation as the legislature's administrative officer and director of legislative research to the Legislative Services Commission.

The resignation is effective Dec. 31.

Brooks told the commission "strengthening of this position with the addition of capable research and drafting staff will lead to the consistent preparation of well researched and drafted laws."

Brooks said his office already had demonstrated that "it can contribute to efficiency and economy in the legislative process."

Brooks is the son of the late Dr. Frederick P. Brooks, who was a general practitioner for many years.

Wonder And Enchantment In Christmas Parade For Amy

HUMPTY DUMPTY SAT ON A the Chamber of Commerce, here FLOAT... that was part of the Farmville Christmas parade, sponsored by

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

FARMVILLE—Last year's Christmas parade was a lot of noise, a lot of color, and a lot of people, she remembered, but she really did not understand what it was all about. But this year's Chamber of Commerce parade here was a source of wonder and enchantment to 2½-year-old Amy Tyer.

Just bundling up and going downtown is always great fun in itself to her, but seeing all the people lining the street was a clue that something wonderful was in the making. She suspected it had to do with Santa Claus's coming to Farmville which Mommy had been telling her about for days.

Then people around her began to say, "Look, here it come," and she caught sight of flags carried by men in uniforms like Daddy's coming down Main Street. Her attention was soon diverted however by the "Queen" float with Miss Donna Allen, Farmville High School homecoming queen on it, which followed a car carrying Mayor Will Joyner and Chamber of Commerce president, Jack Farrior.

"Band," she said as the H. B. Sugg band shuffled by. Then she spotted "Smokey the Bear," dressed in bib overalls and riding atop a truck bed. She laughed; she pointed; she kept on laughing; and she laughed some more. She liked the sight of the boy riding the Shetland pony behind him, but that bear was the most amazing thing she had seen so far.

Other floats drew complimentary comments "and various degrees of mirth from her, but a studios observer like her mother could tell she liked those with children on them best.

Perhaps her favorite float of the whole parade was "Humpty Dumpty," probably because the saga of his fall happens to be her favorite nursery rhyme at present. Until she went to bed last night, she was showing any VEPCO Plans To Ask Rate Increases In N.C.

The executive vice president of Virginia Electric and Power Company's North Carolina operations, A. L. Jameson, said in Williamston yesterday that VEPCO is planning to ask for a rate increase for its North Carolina customers.

VEPCO has already filed a request for an increase with the Virginia Corporation Commission and indications are, Jameson said, that similar request will be filed in North Carolina and West Virginia following approval of the Virginia increase.

Greenville Utilities Commission director Charles Horne said this morning that he understood the future application with the North Carolina commission would ask for an increase in the retail electrical rates.

Such an increase, Horne said, would not affect Greenville but in the immediate area, would have some effect on the town of Bethel, which buys its electrical power at retail rates. Greenville buys from VEPCO on a wholesale basis.

Horne added that unless a request for a wholesale rate increase is filed, rates will not be affected in the city. As of yet, he said, no application has been filed with the state commission and notification has not been received here concerning an immediate increase.

VEPCO president John M. McGurn said that the rate increases, proposed initially for Virginia subscribers, is the first the company has requested in 15 years.

The modification of the electrical rates in Virginia will increase revenues about 10 per cent, he said.

Jameson said that the request could possibly be filed with the North Carolina Utilities Commission as early as next spring.

Jay-C-Ettes Project: Giving Toys To Pediatric Unit At Hospital

The Greenville Jay-C-Ettes have recently undertaken a project to buy and maintain toys for the hospitalized children in the Pediatric Unit at Pitt County Memorial Hospital.

In co-operation with the Director of Nursing, Mrs. Helen Abbott, and Mrs. Vera Smith, head nurse on the Pediatric Unit, the Jay-C-Ettes are giving a toy chest of toys for all the hospitalized children of the community to enjoy during their stay at the hospital.

The toys will be available to all children in the Pediatric Unit. Every effort has been made to select a large and varied array of toys for all age groups.

The toys were purchased to be durable, washable and educational. The Jay-C-Ettes plan to keep up closely in the maintenance and upkeep of the toys. The club has taken this as a long-range program and plans to further their efforts on the Pediatric Unit.

Mrs. Bill Dansey and Mrs. Gene Prescott, co-chairmen for the project, selected and purchased the toys for the unit. Along with this program, the club will purchase coloring books and crayons to be given to each child admitted to the Pediatric Department. Working as a volunteer group, the Jay-C-Ettes plan to have two club members to visit the unit periodically to check the toys for breakage or loss.

Shrine Chapters To Visit Group Wednesday

Three out-of-town Shrine Chapters will meet with Greenville Shrine No. 7 at its regular meeting here on Wednesday, Dec. 10, at 8 p.m.

Visiting chapters will be Onslow Shrine of Jacksonville, Coastal Shrine of New Bern and Fort Macon Shrine of Newport.

Several dignitaries will be in attendance including Supreme Worthy High Priestess Frances Aunger of Phoenix, Ariz. She will be accompanied by Supreme Second Hand Maid Anne Swortzel, and her husband, David Swortzel, of Charlottesville, Va.

A buffet supper will be served at the Masonic Temple at 6:30 p.m. Reservations for the supper should be made with Mrs. Ethel Allen, 1913 E. Eighth St., Greenville, telephone, 758-3498. The meeting will be held at the Greenville Masonic Temple.

Dr. Jordan Is Club Speaker

Dr. Dan Jordan was guest speaker at the meeting of the Bethel Garden Club held Tuesday. He spoke on his favorite flower, the camellia and showed slides.

He stated that his hobby of growing camellias had been a source of great pleasure. The camellia is an excellent landscape plant because it stays green year round and provides flowers for cutting.

Mrs. Hilda Garrenton introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Carolyn Smith, president, conducted the business session. Miss Alice Coburn was appointed historian for the group.

It was decided to use the library as a focal point for Christmas decorating. A Christmas tree on the outside will be decorated by the Boy Scouts.

The next meeting will be held on Jan. 6 at 8 p.m. at the Bethel Rotary House.

Fiance Doesn't Like The Apartment Idea

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1969 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I am 19 and Rusty is 25. We've gone together for a year and plan to marry in a couple of years when we can afford it. I have a good job and so does Rusty. He is on the road four nights a week.

Two girl friends and I are planning to move into an apartment the first of next month. We've found an ideal place in a good neighborhood near where we all work.

My problem is that Rusty is dead set against it. He says if I move from my parents' home before we are married, we are finished. Abby, I want experience in budgeting, cooking, housekeeping and many domestic things I could never learn any other way. Even my parents are all for it. What should I do?

Why is Rusty so stubborn? He knows he can be 100 per cent sure of me.

RUSTY'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Rusty may be 100 per cent sure of YOU—but he's not sure of himself. Move into the apartment. If you and Rusty are finished for this reason, you're better off without him.

DEAR ABBY: I'm sure you get a lot of letters from kooks, and this one will probably go into that pile, but believe me, this inquiry is sincere.

My husband is a large man and noticeably overweight. He is particularly flabby in the region of his chest. To get to the point, Abby, he could use a brassiere!

Is there a place where they sell brassieres for men? I am not going to mention this to him until I can find one. He is aware of his problem, Abby. He's not an unreasonable man and I think if I brought one home he might wear it. Please don't use my name or town as my husband is the mayor. Thank you.

MRS. BLANK FROM BLANK

DEAR MRS. BLANK: Sorry, but I'm blue in the face from looking in the yellow pages, and I can't find a shop which sells ladies' lingerie for gentlemen. Buy a large brassiere in a women's shop, and if "His Honor" doesn't have a "fit," alter it to fit him.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 22 years to a woman who is 43 and here is my problem. Three years ago she had all her teeth removed and was fitted with dentures. She wore them home from the dentist's office and promptly removed them, and placed them in the medicine cabinet where they have been ever since.

She refuses to wear her dentures, and she won't go back to the dentist who made them although he has said that he would MAKE them fit. She is a pretty woman and would look 20 years younger if she would put her teeth in.

She says she doesn't care how she looks. I have begged and pleaded with her, and even threatened to refuse to be seen with her until she puts her teeth in, but still no results. Can you help me?

L IN IDAHO

DEAR L: If she refuses to go back to the dentist who made them, insist that she see her physician for a thorough check-up [mental and physical]. Her trouble could be higher up. Three years is a long time for a pretty 43-year-old woman to remain toothless.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "UNEDUCATED BUT SUCCESSFUL": Experience is the training that enables people to get along without education.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Cautious Woman Finally Marries

WINCHESTER, England (WNS)—Mabel Clay, 73, has finally ended her 46-year engagement to Albert Gaiger, 82, by marrying the patting fellow. The bride kept postponing the wedding because she was a sleep-in housekeeper and preferred to remain single until she had her own home to care for. When her last employer died and left her some money, she bought a house on Western Road and retired to keep house for her own husband.

Country Store Bazaar To Be Held Saturday

GRIFTON—The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church here will sponsor a "country store bazaar" on Saturday.

The bazaar will be held in the fellowship hall of the church from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. A chicken pastry dinner will be served from 11:30 a.m. until 1:30 p.m.

The country store will feature handmade specialties including Christmas baskets, bridge table covers, tree skirts, table runners, waste baskets, carry-alls, stockings, a variety of baked goods, candies, jellies and produce.

There will also be more than 100 items of Barbie clothes for young shoppers.

Parachute Jump Was A Long Step

LIMOGES, France (WNS)—Her two thousandth parachute jump almost turned out to her last. Mme. Michele Cledassou, 39, parachute instructor at the local air school, jumped 7,500 feet above the ground, then found that her parachute did not open. At 1,000 feet, she managed to open it partially, still fell at 36 feet a second but suffered only contusions when she landed in a soft wheat field. "I had to remember to apply the instructions that I have given students but never tried myself," she confided. "I knew that my husband was watching from the ground, and I was worried that he might suffer terribly if I didn't save myself."

For delicious batters, dip apple slices or length-wise banana slices in pancake batter, fry in hot deep fat until golden-brown and crisp.

Pretty Boy Winner Finally Discovered

PARIS (WNS)—Fredrick Gudici, who was born in Izmir and claims to have won titles as Turkey's handsomest man, came to France to make his fortune by defrauding women. He was quickly picked up by the police after several complaints from the ladies. "Unfortunately, I'm too beautiful," moaned Gudici. "The girls could not forget me and identified me to the police despite by disguises."

COOKING IS FUN!

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor

Dear Cecily: I clipped your recipe for O-Harry Bars and they were a big success with my friends. As you'll remember, the directions called for covering the bars with chocolate-peanut-butter frosting on one side. Is there a way of frosting them on both sides? If so, could you tell me how to do this so that I can make them for a Halloween party?—Teen-Age Gourmet.

Dear Teen-Age Gourmet: What a good idea to give O-Harry Bars more frosting! We tried your suggestion and it turned out deliciously. Here's the new recipe.

- O-HARRY BARS
- ¾ pound (1½ sticks) butter
 - ½ cup granulated sugar
 - ½ cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
 - ½ cup dark corn syrup
 - 1 tablespoon vanilla
 - 4 cups quick-cooking rolled oats
 - 1 package (6 ounces or 1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
 - 2-3rds cup creamy-style peanut butter
 - Butter a 13 by 9 by 2-inch baking pan.

FASHION FORECASTS

by C. Heber Forbes

(This And That About Fashion Magazines)

Old fashion magazines tell much about a few women's lives and about the dreams of thousands. They show more clearly the influence economic crises, wars, politics, literature, music and art have had on women than any other books.

In the United States, Harper's Bazar (it was spelled with one "A" then) pioneered that field in November, 1927. Vogue came on the scene in 1892 designed "as a trade paper to help women of more than average wealth and refinement with their clothes and social life." Fortunately, its format has changed sufficiently to permit many women to enjoy it.

It has been said that history repeats, which must be true since Vogue said, in 1929, "The hemline is travelling and so is the waistline. One is going up and the other is going down."

Shift In Conservation Targets

Emphasis is shifting to conservation of natural resources and on curbing water and air pollution in North Carolina, Roy Sowers, director of the Department of Conservation and Development said in a recent talk.

"It is true for various reasons that more people are paying more attention to the danger of pollution and to the merits of wise conservation practices," he said.

"We have initiated a program to reclaim some of our valuable marshlands and to prevent those that are still unspoiled from being dredged without regard to the ecological considerations."

The Department of Water and Air Resources "has a vital program to keep our air and streams clean and to enforce rules and regulations which would result in less pollution of our rivers and streams."

The Department of Conservation and Development could take on no more notable task than preventing air and water pollution in the Tar Heel state. Fortunately in many instances we have escaped the choking pollution which has ruined rivers, streams and lakes and nearly poisoned the air of many more industrialized states. The best way to deal with pollution is to prevent it before the deadly process goes too far.

Here in the eastern part of the state, our industrial development has just really gotten underway. Most industries are complying with state regulations concerning water and air pollution and this should mean that our area can have the benefits that industrialization brings to an area, while at the same time the water and air are kept clean.

The state must carry on a vigorous pollution prevention program if we are to keep our air and water clean in Eastern North Carolina. Since concern over water and air pollution is mounting all over the nation this should not put us at a disadvantage in seeking good industry.

Tackling the pollution and conservation problems are not only desirable; it is essential in North Carolina and all over the nation.

Castro's Paradise Has Proven Empty Promise

If there is any question as to whether or not Fidel Castro has created a paradise in Cuba after ten years of controlling that country, one only has to look at the numbers of persons still leaving.

An airlift has begun by the United States in 1965 and since that time 173,000 refugees have left Cuba. They are still leaving and each week two plane-loads of disenchanting Cubans fly from Varadero, Cuba to Miami which is 200 miles away.

Castro should have convinced the Cubans by now that he could deliver on his promises of improved living conditions. Yet, Cubans are still leaving at the rate of 850 per week—proof enough that there is dissatisfaction in Castro's Cuba.

Demos Expect A GOP Surge

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
RALEIGH—Toward the close of swearing-in ceremonies for the new State Board of Elections, Gov. Scott looked across the crowded conference room in the Administration Building and introduced special visitors.

Finally, after recognizing Secretary of State Thad Eure who was the only Council of State member attending, and Chuck Barbour, executive director of the state Democratic party, Scott asked, "are there any Republicans here?"

From the entire assemblage only one man arose to be recognized as a member of the GOP.

WILLIAM SHIRES

This, of course, belies the growing strength of the Republican party in North Carolina and the interest and ambitions of the GOP in state and local political affairs during the years that this new board of elections will serve.

Recognized—Democrats are keenly aware of this. There are strenuous efforts being exerted to minimize and blunt the expected GOP surge next year.

One key area is in administration of the state's election laws and this primarily is the responsibility of the new State Board of Elections.

Scott expressed full confidence in the new board and in executive secretary Alex K. Brock.

He singled out Brock for special mention. Brock is not appointed by the governor nor does he serve at the pleasure of the governor. He is appointed by and serves as a full-time employee of the Elections Board. Scott noted this fact.

Then, he added, "but I would say this. If he were appointed by the governor, I would reappoint him. I recommend his reappointment by his board."

Brock—Alex Brock is recognized in all state government circles as one of the most knowledgeable, most efficient and capable administrative officials in state government. This is what Scott was saying.

A prediction may be now that when the veteran Thad Eure retires, Brock will be the leading Democratic party candidate to become Secretary of State.

He is a lifelong Democrat. He was a key campaign organizer and worker for Dr. I. Beverly Lake in 1960 and 1964. As executive secretary of the State Board of Elections he impressed all factions and all political parties with his fairness.

Rebutted—Nearly three years ago when his seat in the office was hardly warm, Brock rebutted by statistical data and careful analysis charges raised by Republicans in the legislature.

Each year since then Brock has issued a similar analysis of voter registration, county by county, and has delineated the trends. His latest statistical report and analysis was issued the day before the new board was sworn in.

The members had it there before them.

Belief—It is Brock's belief that it is up to the individual voter to choose his party affiliation and to decide for himself on the basis of facts available whether partisanship political hold water.

For example, in 1967 Brock took strong exception to a charge by Rep. Charles Taylor, R-Transylvania, that the state's election laws "encourage rather than deter election irregularities."

He contended that the 1967 General Assembly had achieved "extremely effective and generous accomplishments" in regard to election laws. Taylor disputed to whitewash and cover over the real problems. He contended that "most worthwhile election reforms were killed."

Split Widens On Antipoverty

By JOHN BECKLER
WASHINGTON (AP)—A bitter struggle over antipoverty legislation has widened the split between Speaker John W. McCormack and liberal House Democrats.

Over McCormack's strenuous objections, liberals Wednesday forced postponement of the controversial antipoverty bill moments before it was due to be called up.

The almost unprecedented action was designed to give backers of the bill, which would continue the present antipoverty program with only minor changes, more time to line up support.

Otherwise they feared defeat at the hands of a Republican southern Democrat coalition backing an alternate proposal to shift major responsibility for the antipoverty effort from the federal government to the states.

McCormack, under pressure to wind up the current House session by Dec. 20, refused at first to consider demands for a delay. But he was forced to yield during a stormy meeting in his office Wednesday morning.

Rep. Carl D. Perkins, D-Ky., chairman of the Education and Labor Committee and manager of the bill, told the speaker he would not appear on the floor to call it up.

Perkins was backed by most of the committee's Democrats, who decided their position at an earlier meeting before confronting the speaker.

Members present at the hour-long meeting with McCormack described it as "a rough session" in which long standing dissatisfaction with McCormack's leadership was aired and an open threat was made: To oppose him when he seeks re-election as speaker in 1971.

The disclosure that the antipoverty bill had been called off was greeted by hoots and jeers by the Republicans, who had hoped for a quick vote on the ultimate proposal.

The last minute delay countered a strategic move of their own in which they withheld details of their plan until Tuesday in order to minimize attacks on it.

Supporters of the committee bill hoped mayors, community leaders and others who oppose turning the antipoverty program over to the states will mount a whirlwind campaign to defeat the substitute proposal now that its contents have been made public.

There is no indication when the bill will be called up again.

BALL AND CHAIN REACTION!

By ART BUCHWALD

Where's All The Unity?

WASHINGTON—President Nixon's promise to bring the country together doesn't seem to be working too well. If anything, people are more polarized than they've ever been before.

A friend of mine, Mrs. Johnston, told me the other day what happened to her when she decided to fly the Flag on Veterans' Day. Mrs. Johnston's been flying the American Flag every Veterans' Day without receiving much comfort. But this year her effort became the cause celebre on the block.

The first person to mention it was a neighbor from across the street who congratulated her for flying the Flag and asked her to sign a petition to impeach Justice William Douglas of the U.S. Supreme Court.

Mrs. Johnston said she wasn't interested in signing any petitions against the Supreme Court.

"Then why are you flying the American Flag?" the neighbor demanded.

"Because it's Veterans' Day," she said.

"Would you be willing to go to a rally tomorrow against teaching sex education in the schools?" the neighbor demanded.

Other Editors Say Violence Fails

(Jacksonville Daily News) Every generation, for better or worse, lives by certain "self-evident truths," and one that seems to have gained widespread acceptance in our own time is the belief that only violence or the threat of violence can bring about reforms in society.

This is "a fantastic misreading of American history," claims philosopher Sidney Hook.

"No one rioted for Social Security or Medicare or for the acceptance by the federal government of the revolutionary principle of a national minimum of welfare payments," says the New York University professor.

"Not a single one of the great landmark decisions of the Supreme Court, including its outlawing of school segregation in 1954 and mandatory state political reapportionment a decade later, was made under the threat of the gun, the mob or the torch."

It is not to violence or the threat of violence that we owe their enactment, he says, "but to the growth of enlightenment, the enlargement of the imagination, and the development of the democratic idea."

Not only is the belief in the efficiency of violence a misreading of history, those who systematically advocate violent means to achieve reform are, whether they realize it or not, "the sappers and miners of the forces of despotism," he warns.

In a democratic community, the resort to violence instead of reliance on the due process of a self-governing republic attacks the community at its foundations. Freedom, which is often invoked to justify violence, is itself imperiled by the exercise of violence.

Nowhere is this more clear than on the nation's campuses where, says Hook, violence has reached such proportions that the whole atmosphere of American universities has been transformed. The appeal to reason is no longer sufficient to resolve problems or even to keep the peace. At some of our most outstanding institutions, the appeal has had to be to the courts and the police.

Yet, he says, contrary to some apologists for student violence, most educational reforms in most institutions have come about without a show of force, where arguments are the only weapons, where dissenters and protesters have evinced not only zeal but persistence in a good cause.

"But where violence has been used, a grievous wound has been inflicted on the fabric of university life. It may take a generation to heal it."

This is what American will need from its idealistic young in the coming generation—fewer reformers and more healers.

ART BUCHWALD

Mrs. Johnston said she wouldn't.

"The neighbor said angrily, 'And I believed you were a good American.'"

A little later the neighbor's son, a college student, said, "Mrs. Johnston, I thought you were sympathetic to our getting out of Vietnam."

"I am," Mrs. Johnston said.

"Then why are you flying the American Flag?"

"Flying the American Flag has nothing to do with my feelings on Vietnam, Bobby. It is our Flag and I believe it should be displayed on national holidays."

"What about all the innocent people whose villages have been burned and bombed, and the profiteering South Vietnamese generals who have numbered bank accounts in Switzerland?" Bobby said.

"That has nothing to do with the Flag."

"Only super-Hawks fly the Flag," said Bobby, as he walked away in a huff.

Public Forum Strife And Strikes For 1970

To The Editor:
During the Thanksgiving holidays, I returned to my home in the town of Greenville. While there, I decided to do some shopping. In one of the stores, I found discrepancies in the advertised prices and the price actually marked on the item. When I asked one of the clerks, I received quite a rude reply. When I told one of my friends of this, she told me of a similar incident which had happened to her at the same store.

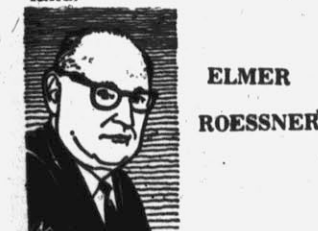

I decided that this should be reported to the Better Business Bureau and so called the Chamber of Commerce. The secretary told me that such an organization did not exist and there was nothing that could be done. I, of course, had written the local store and the main office of this misconduct, but still was not satisfied. I was and am concerned that there does not exist an organization to which the public may refer their complaints and which has some regulatory action or control over the business practices of the various stores.

I am writing you in the hope that you will bring the need of such an organization to the attention of the public, and in fact urge the formation of one. I would be willing to do whatever I could to help form one.

Thank you so very much for your assistance in this matter, and if I can be of any further help please let me know.

Sincerely yours,
Jeannette Runquist

ELMER ROESSNER

By ELMER ROESSNER
There'll be strife and strikes in 1970.
"Bring your compass as well as your weather vane," Secretary of Labor George P. Schultz told a group of businessmen in Washington a few days ago. He was not really mixing his metaphors because there will be stormy weather both at sea and on land.

Management, too, will be tough. Many executives also fear a recession and they are afraid that if their companies go into a recession with high labor costs, they might not come out of it. Furthermore, many companies see rescue from high inventories in strikes. A strike would not only help them work off inventories but would also help dealers cut their down.

Other Factors Disturbing
Labor troubles will be worsened by rising demands of minority groups demanding a large share of the jobs. The fact that they, too, have been alerted to the possibilities of a recession will speed their efforts to win a bigger share of the payrolls. These minority groups will be attacking both

Malcolm X Univ. Origins

By RICHARD DAW

Associated Press Writer
DURHAM (AP)—Malcolm X Liberation University publicly traces its origins to a black student movement at Duke University, but its links stretch to many parts of the United States and perhaps even into Africa.

A pamphlet which the controversial black separatist university uses to recruit students, and sometimes sends to curious whites, states the university's origin simply.

It recounts how an organization at Duke University called the Black Student Movement "ran up against a solid wall of racism" in seeking a black studies program and "decided a counter-institution was necessary for the survival of black people."

Members of the organization referred to in the pamphlet seized the Duke Administration Building last spring. The day ended with a riot during which police battled students on a campus shrouded thickly with tear gas.

Even during the seizure, the name Malcolm X Liberation University was used. Black students who barricaded themselves in the building tacked up a banner with that name painted on it.

Soon, Malcolm X Liberation University was operating in temporary quarters in downtown Durham under the direction of black militant Howard Fuller.

Duke established a black studies program, but few Negroes enrolled.

Fuller went on to obtain a $45,000 grant from the Episcopal Church and launched the university on a grander scale last October.

The pamphlet which cites the university's origins says its curriculum is "based on the ideology of pan-Africanism. It sneaks specifically to the stages of decolonization and nation-building."

Courses offered during the first year fit into five general topic areas: Independent African Civilization, Slavery, Colonialism, Neo-Colonialism and the Independent African World.

Fuller says that with a two-year course, the university will turn out "food scientists, tailors, architects, engineers, organizers, teachers, leaders, black expressionists, artists, medics, communications technicians, physical development specialists and linguists."

Those educated at the university, Fuller says, will "fulfill the needs of a nation."

"The university here might well serve as a prototype for other educational institutions that will be founded around the country, perhaps even down to the high school and grade school level," Fuller said.

He mentioned at least one already in existence—the Center for Black Education in Washington, D.C.

Among the 52 students enrolled at Malcolm X this fall are representatives from a dozen states.

Does the university have links outside the country?

"We get moral support from Africans, most definitely," says Fuller.

Asked to be more specific, Fuller mentions Stokely Carmichael, a firebrand militant.

"Our connections with Stokely and his contacts with African leaders lead us to contacts with them," says Fuller.

He declines to be more specific than that.

Woman Promises Will 'Tell All' In Tate Slayings

CLAIMS TO NAIL DOWN A RECORD — Murari Aditya holds up in Calcutta, India, his left hand on which are growing what he claims are the world's longest fingernails. He's been at it for the past seven years. A single manicure takes up to 30 hours of painstaking work. He

By LINDA DEUTSCH
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — A young woman, whose attorney pledges she will tell who killed Sharon Tate and six others, testifies before a grand jury today. Prosecutors are seeking to indict the bearded leader of her hippie-style clan for conspiracy to commit murder.

Attorney Richard Caballero said Thursday night that Susan Denise Atkins, 21, will waive rights against self-incrimination and "tell the grand jury exactly what happened" in a gamble that her voluntary testimony might save her from the gas chamber.

Miss Atkins, charged with murder in a separate case, accompanied members of the clan as they killed Miss Tate, actress-wife of Polish film director Roman Polanski, and the others last summer, Caballero said. But he said she was temporarily insane, under the clan leader's "hypnotic spell" at the time and "had nothing" to do with the murders.

Miss Atkins' jail cell conversations led to arrests in the Tate case. But The Los Angeles Times, to which Caballero made his statements, said prosecutors were expected to seek her indictment anyway.

Also among the 18 scheduled witnesses was producer Terry Melcher, 27-year-old son of singer-actress Doris Day. Melcher has declined comment.

Miss Atkins' attorneys said Melcher was visited by Charles M. Manson, 35, known as the leader of a quasi-religious clan of hippie types who knew Manson as "God" and "Satan."

Manson was unsuccessful in seeking Melcher's help to record some songs when Melcher lived in the Tate home in fashionable Bel Air before Miss Tate and her husband moved in, the attorneys said.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Aaron

Stovitz said Thursday he would ask the grand jury to indict Manson on a charge of conspiracy to commit murder, and would seek murder and conspiracy indictments against at least five other persons.

It was the first word that Manson, held for trial in Independence, Calif., on charges of possessing stolen property and driving a stolen vehicle, would be a target for prosecution in the slayings.

Shot or stabbed with Miss Tate, 26, at her rented $200,000 home last Aug. 9 were Hollywood hair stylist Jay Sebring, 35, coffee heiress Abigail Folger, 26, Polish playboy Voityck Frokowsky, 37, and Steven Parent, 18, a friend of the caretaker.

A wealthy market executive, Leno LaBianca, 44, and his wife Rosemary, 38, were stabbed to death at their Hollywood home the next day.

Miss Atkins' lawyers said she told them that members of Manson's group, who dressed in black for the occasion, committed the Tate slayings, then killed the LaBiancas to prove their nerve. They reported she said Manson was not with them.

Police have said three of the indictment targets are Patricia Krenwinkel, 21, in custody in Mobile, Ala.; Charles D. Watson, 24, jailed in McKinney, Tex.; and Linda Louise Kasabian, 20, arraigned here Thursday. Police said they were arrested on murder warrants in the Tate case and were involved in the LaBianca slayings.

In addition to them and Miss Atkins, the Times said, others against whom prosecutors are expected to seek indictments are Steve Grogan, 18, also known as Clem Tufts, and Leslie Sankston, about 20, a young woman. The newspaper identified them as members of Manson's hippie-style "family."

Stovitz said Miss Atkins, charged with murdering Malibu musician Gary Hinman, with whom Manson is said to have lived for a time, told a cellmate about the Tate and LaBianca killings.

The cellmate—Shelley Joyce Nadell, 31, of nearby North Hollywood, charged with forging prescriptions to obtain narcotics—told Miss Atkins' story to police, Stovitz said.

Wesley Russell, attorney for Mrs. Nadell, said she told him she learned clan members "felt the stabbings and the brutal cuttings would help release the souls of the victims."

"They were all on acid and the more they stabbed the more they enjoyed it," Russell, a former deputy district attorney, said he was told.

Stovitz said Miss Atkins could become one of the prosecution's "principal witnesses" if she waives her privilege against self-incrimination.

Neither she nor any of the other witnesses would be granted immunity, Stovitz said.

In Mobile, an attorney for Miss Krenwinkel asked a circuit judge to free her on grounds no warrant had been issued in Los Angeles when she was taken into custody Monday on a Mobile street.

She was arrested on a warrant sworn to by police Capt. Don Riddle, who testified he did so on the basis of a call from Sgt. William Cary of the Los Angeles Police Department.

The judge took the request under study.

NOTICE

North Carolina
Pitt County

Under and by virtue of an order of the Clerk of the Superior Court of Pitt County, made in the Special Proceeding entitled "June Trip and wife, Christine W. Tripp v. Elizabeth T. Simmons (widow), et als," the same being number 49-SP221, the undersigned Commissioner will on the 19th day of December, 1969, at twelve o'clock, noon, at the door of the Court House in Greenville, North Carolina, offer for sale to the highest bidder for cash, all those certain parcels of land more particularly described as follows, to-wit:

LOT NO. 1: All that certain lot or parcel of land lying and being in or near the City of Greenville, in the North Side of Tar River, beginning at the northeast intersection of First Street and Fleming Street, and running thence in a northerly direction along the eastern boundary of First Street 30 feet to a stake, thence in an easterly direction and parallel with Fleming Street 150 feet; thence in a southerly direction and parallel with First Street 30 feet to the northern boundary of Fleming Street; thence in a westerly direction along the northern boundary of Fleming Street 150 feet to the point of BEGINNING and being a part of the Perkins and Fleming land and further being the identical lands conveyed by that certain deed of record in Book F-25, Page 201, Pitt County Registry.

LOT NO. 2: All that certain lot or parcel of land lying and being situated in the City of Greenville, Pitt County, North Carolina, and being located on the northerly side of Dickinson Avenue and on the West side of Raleigh Avenue, and BEGINNING at a stake at the intersection of said Avenues and running thence a westerly course with Dickinson Avenue 75 feet to the center of Lot No. 5 as appears on map made by Dresback & Clark of the Higgs property in January, 1910; thence a northerly course and parallel with Raleigh Avenue, 143 1/2 feet; thence an easterly course and parallel with Dickinson Avenue 75 feet to Raleigh Avenue; thence running a southerly course with the line of Raleigh Avenue to the BEGINNING on Dickinson Avenue and being all of the second parcel described in that certain deed of record in Book J-24, Page 324, Pitt County Registry.

LOT NO. 3: All that certain lot or parcel of land located in the City of Greenville, North Carolina, and adjoining the lot above described as Lot No. 2 and BEGINNING at an iron stake on Dickinson Avenue, formerly Tyson's and Harris's corner; and being the southwest corner of Lot No. 2 above described and running thence a westerly course with the line of Dickinson Avenue 25 feet; thence a northerly course and parallel with the western line of Lot No. 2 above described, 143 1/2 feet to what was formerly Tyson and Harris's corner; thence an easterly course to Tyson and Harris's corner, which is the northwest corner of Lot No. 2 above described; thence a southerly course with the western line of Lot No. 2 above described, 143 1/2 feet to the point of BEGINNING on Dickinson Avenue and being all of the second parcel described in that certain deed of record in Book J-24, Page 324, Pitt County Registry.

Said lots will first be offered for sale separately and then together. The highest bidder at this sale will be required to make a deposit of ten per cent of the amount bid. This sale is subject to confirmation by the Court.

This sale is also subject to all taxes and assessments for 1970 and subsequent years.

A little later Mrs. Johnston received a call from the lady down the street. "Mrs. Johnston, I notice you're flying the American Flag. Would you be interested in joining the American Legion Auxiliary?"

Mrs. Johnston said, "No, my husband isn't a member of the American Legion so there is no reason for me to join the auxiliary."

"You had us fooled, Mrs. Johnston," the lady said, "I'm sorry I called."

The delivery boy from the local market arrived at this moment and he said, "You hate me because I have long hair, don't you, Mrs. Johnston?"

"I don't hate you," Mrs. Johnston protested.

"I saw the Flag outside," the delivery boy said. "I know how you people think." He slammed the groceries on the table and left.

The plumber arrived to do some work, but when he saw the Flag he decided Mrs. Johnston would be interested in how he felt about "People who are on welfare and don't do any work and who are always waiting for handouts, and how the protesters ought to all be put in jail."

It cost Mrs. Johnston an extra $9 an hour to listen to the plumber's political philosophy.

When Mr. Johnston came home from work, Mrs. Johnston told him everything that happened during the day.

"Don't feel bad," he told her. "I was driving without my lights on today and a taxi driver yelled at me. 'If you don't like American, why don't you go back to the Soviet Union where you belong?'"

The bidding:
South West North East
1 ♣ Pass 3 ♣ 3 ♣
Pass Pass 5 ♣ 5 ♣
Pass Pass

Opening lead: Nine of ♠

Faulty technique led to the defeat of South's five club contract.

West opened the nine of spades, East covered with the ten and declarer played the ace. South ruffed the deuce of spades in dummy and returned a small club. East followed with the deuce, declarer put up the king and West was in with the ace.

The shift was to the three of hearts. South took a finesse of dummy's queen and East won the trick with the king and returned the suit. Declarer put up the jack from his hand and led a club on which West followed with the five. After a lengthy huddle, he chose to play the queen from dummy. When East showed out, the contract was doomed, for West's jack of clubs had become established for the setting trick.

While South's misguise in the trump suit was—perhaps—unfortunate, his over-all plan of campaign was unsound. Inasmuch as his small hearts can be eventually discarded on North's long diamonds, declarer can afford to surrender two club tricks if need be, in order to protect the heart suit from a direct attack.

South can accomplish his objective by keeping West out of the lead and making his trump plays into the East hand. At trick two, he should lead a small club and finesse dummy's eight.

When the eight holds, declarer is in the home stretch. He drives out the ace of trumps next, wins the return, draws the remaining club and runs dummy's diamonds discarding his hearts. The result is that he scores an overtrick on the deal, losing only the ace of trumps.

If the finesse of North's eight of clubs loses to the jack, South is still safe, for East cannot return a heart without giving the declarer a free finesse. When South regains the lead, he drives out the ace of clubs and is now in full charge of the proceedings.

After 91 Years, Ses A Doctor

SPENCER, W.VA. (AP) — Ott Givens of nearby Blue Creek saw a doctor this week, for the first time in his 91 years.

Givens' car was bumped in the rear by another car and he was brought to a hospital.

For the first time in his life, he said Wednesday, he was examined by a physician, received an inoculation, took his first pill and saw the inside of a hospital.

The retired pipeline worker suffered only cuts on his hand and face and was sent home after treatment.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets steady to slightly stronger Thursday, supplies about adequate, demand good. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A large whites 69 to 69½; medium whites 66½ to 67½; small whites 54 to 56.

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina hog markets today were mostly steady to 50 lower. Tops of 26.25 to 27.25 at Rocky Mount; 26.50 to 26.75 at Wilson; 26.00 to 26.50 at Siler City and Denton; 25.25 to 26.25 at Bethel; 26.50 Salisbury; 26.00 at Greensboro.

The following counties are under hog cholera quarantine: Cumberland, Duplin, Edgecombe, Wilson, Wayne and Johnston. Buying stations in these counties are open.

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—The North Carolina poultry market today was mostly steady. Live at farm base 12½ to 13 cents a pound. Hens, undertone

For Amy . . .

Other floats, all sponsored by local business places, that completed the lineup were entitled, "The Gift Cart Queen," "Circus," "Christmas Wreath," "Holly," "Merry Christmas," "Mary and Her Lambs," "Season Greetings," "End of the Rainbow," "Christmas Flowers," and "The Night Before Christmas."

Amy had to inquire about the colorfully dressed girls who skated by, since she had never noticed anyone skating before. After she learned what they were doing, she said it looked like fun.

All the band, including those from H. B. Sugg High School, Farmville High School, Greene Central High School, Bethel Union School, and Tarboro High School won her admiration. She wondered why all but Tarboro did not play Christmas music right in the center of town, but in her mind their spirited rendition of "Jolly Ole St. Nicholas" made up for all the rest.

An avid animal lover, Amy enjoyed the horsemen of the Wranglers' Roost Saddle Club of Greenville who reined their beautiful mounts past the crowds. She also got a kick out of overall-attired Chester Worthington and his "little dog riding a big dog." As someone in the crowd was heard to comment, "The Farmville parade couldn't go on without Worthington. He's been in every one I can remember."

For Amy, as for every small child at the parade, the grandest moment of all was when a ruddy-cheeked, smiling Santa Claus brought up the rear of the procession. He began to toss candy and suddenly the restraining ropes that had heretofore been respected were down under the feet of kids of every age.

Perhaps the Christmas spirit which prevailed throughout the parade was best personified at that moment when a teenaged Negro girl turned around in the midst of the confusion and said, as she handed a piece of rock candy she had retrieved, to a white boy's mother, "Give this to your baby."

unsettled. Supplies in balance with a fair to good demand. Prices paid for heavies at farm 19 to 20 cents a pound. Light type at farm 9 cents a pound.

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market prices continued upward on a broad front early today in an extension of Thursday's late rally.

At 11 a. m. the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 3.03 to 799.56.

Prices were higher from the outset. Rising stocks held a 682 to 417 margin over declines.

Trading was moderately active. Analysts said the markets low prices—the Dow dropped 70 points in the 16 sessions prior to Thursday—had attracted buyers in search of bargains.

Light buying is reported again this morning on Pitt County grain buying stations. Ear corn and very little of that has been making up most of the buying volume this week and more of the same trend is expected through the weekend. Buying of shell corn has almost terminated. Most agents report varying degrees of soybeans coming in. Prices remain relatively stable except for a five cent increase in corn prices on the Bethel market. Following are price quotes reported at 11:10 a. m.

Greenville: yellow corn, $1.25; wheat, $1.20; oats, $.65; soybeans, $.25—all steady. Ayden: yellow corn, shell $1.32; ear corn, $1.20—up soybeans, $.23—steady. Winterville: yellow corn, shell, $1.27; ear corn, $1.17—steady. Farmville: yellow corn, $1.32; soybeans, $.22—steady. Bethel: yellow corn, shell, $1.30—up; ear corn, $1.15; soybeans, $.23—steady.

Five Collisions Here Thursday

One person was reported injured and damage was estimated at $4,400 in a series of five collisions investigated here yesterday by police.

The heaviest damage reported resulted from a 5:10 p. m. mishap at the intersection of Third and Davis Streets and involved cars driven by Evelyn Buchanan Moye, 100 North Harding St.; Booker T. Walton, 16, of 104 Contentnea St.; and Willie Pridden, 40, of 1205 Broad St.

Officers, who placed damage at $1,200 to the Moye vehicle, $600 to the Walton car and $75 to the Pridden vehicle, charged Mrs. Moye with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety.

No charges were placed when a truck driven by Vernon Joel Maulden, 35, of Tampa, Fla., collided with canopys at Larry's Shoe Store and Big Value Discount store at Five Points about 6:45 p. m. yesterday.

Officers said an estimated $10 damage resulted to the truck and placed damage to the two canopys at $1,500.

Thomas J. Blanchet II, 23, of Freehold, N.J. was charged with failing to yield the right of way following investigation of a 1:04 p. m. collision at the intersection of 11th and Cotanche Streets.

The Blanchet vehicle collided with a car driven by Robert Edward Conway, 29, of 1304 North Washington St. causing an estimated $250 damage to the Blanchet car and about $300 damage to the Conway vehicle, according to police.

Conway was reported injured and taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Drivers involved in an 11:50 a. m. mishap on Fourth Street, 200 feet East of the Lewis Street intersection were identified as Peter Somerville Evans, 20, of Williamsburg, Va., and Alma Geraldine Case, 19, of 1406 East 14th St.

Police, who charged Evans with failing to keep a proper lookout while backing, estimated damage to the Evans car to be $100 and set damage to the Case car at $150.

Cars driven by Ruth Cone

Currell of Fairfield and Raymond G. Evans, 22, of Route 3, Greenville were involved in a 9:40 a. m. mishap at the intersection of Fifth and Evans Streets.

Mrs. Currell was charged with failing to yield the right of way in the collision.

Damage was set at $150 to the Currell car and $75 to the Evans vehicle.

Keydet Coach Wants To Hear Bad Things

By ED YOUNG
Associated Press Writer
VMI hasn't had a winning basketball record in 28 years, and if you think this season's Keydets are the worst yet, why, feel free to say so. Be as cruel as you like. Coach Mike Schuler won't mind a bit.

Matter of fact, the new VMI coach might even thank you for the unkind words, which he will promptly tack on the dressing room wall. He figures this could help his team make a liar out of you.

"Just the other day, we were reading somewhere that we'd be lucky to win a game," says Schuler. "The boys got a kick out of it. It sort of charged 'em up. They went right out and won one."

That was Monday. Shooting the bottom out of the basket in the VMI Fieldhouse, the Keydets won their opener from Atlantic Christian 82-76. Wednesday, though, the shooting cooled off and they lost at Navy 71-66.

But even that one was close. Down by 18 points at one juncture, VMI chopped its deficit to one point twice in the last half—but, says Schuler, "we never quite could get a big play."

"If we'd won that game, there's no way of telling what the kids might have decided they could do," the coach says. "But I'm emphasizing we aren't going to get back into the old rut of losing close ones."

"We're not quick at all and we lack rebounding because we are small. It's also a young club. Everybody's playing like a sophomore, but when we grow up I think we'll be a good ball club. We have to get out and work."

If Schuler does make VMI into a team to give pause to the Southern Conference's better teams, he'll deserve a medal. The 1968-69 Keydets, under long-suffering Gary McPherson, were 5-18 over-all, 3-11 in the SC—and lost their top four scorers via graduation in June.

"What we need worst is somebody we can depend on to get points," says Schuler. He points out that three newcomers—John Thomas, Fred Allison and Jerry Renfrew—had 62 points against Atlantic Christian but combined for only 22 in the loss at Navy.

Right now, Schuler's big task is getting the Keydets ready for a Saturday night game at George Washington that's the conference opener for each team. GW is 0-2 but, says Schuler, "they're loaded with talent. I don't say they're Davidson, which is sort of out of sight when it comes to inside personnel, but they'll start winning. Not this week, I hope."

Only one Southern Conference team has a game on tap tonight, Furman's Paladins, 1-1 after a conference loss at Davidson have a nonleague test at American University in Washington.

All SC teams were idle Thursday night.

East Carolina University's Pirates go after their 11th straight Minges Coliseum victory Saturday night at 8 p.m. when they play host to the Bulldogs of Atlantic Christian College.

Besides being the 11th, the win, if it comes, would be the third in a row this year, against no losses. Coach Ira Norfolk's charges, currently 2-2 in the season, will be doing their best to halt the string of the Bucs.

The Bulldogs, after opening their season with a victory, fell to Lenoir Rhyne and VMI, but then bumped High Point, 103-100, Wednesday night. They always seem to be ready to play the Pirates, and in the past two seasons, the two clubs have set new ECU scoring records with their totals.

Two years ago, the Bucs strolled past the Bulldogs, 104-79. Then, last year, the game turned into a 126-111 affair which saw Earl Thompson set a school record of 41 points. That mark fell in this year's opening game, however, when Jim Modlin dumped in 42 points.

The Bulldogs will have to go up against some fine scoring by the Bucs, which has seen four players in double figures so far this year. And two different players, Modlin and Tom Miller, have been the high scorers in the two games. Jim Gregory ranks as the most consistent of the Bucs, hitting for a 25 point average with 26 and 24 in the two games. He also leads the team in field goal accuracy, hitting on 71 per cent so far.

And as far as Coach Tom Quinn is concerned, the Bucs are off to a fine start. "In some ways, our start is better than I had expected. It's already obvious that the three returnees from last year are starting early this year."

Quinn felt that the fourth player, Jim Fairley, was a little tight in his first game, but that he loosened up and has done an excellent job on the boards. "We're not yet settled on the other guard in the back court," he said. "We're still experimenting in this area and we have a number of guards who can do various things but we have yet to find one who can do enough things well to keep him in there all the time."

The three veterans drew praises from Quinn. "Gregory has played two outstanding games. His shooting has been very consistent and his rebounding—he's taken up where he left off last year." (Gregory holds the school season rebounding record.)

"Modlin had a great opening game, and Miller played as well in the second game as in the Classic last year, which I thought was great."

Quinn pointed out that the team has tried several other people, Lyn Green, Jim Kiernan, and Mike Henrich. "Green can play both in the front and back court, and he does well considering he hasn't played an organized game in five years." Green, a high school player, missed his senior year when injured in an automobile accident, and has played only intramurals in college until now. "He has innate ability, but we have to bring him along slowly and help build his confidence."

Quinn felt that the guard play, however, has been erratic. "We have the ingredients of a solid basketball team, yet I am afraid we are going to have to improve a couple of areas or it will be costly to us before we get too much further into the season. Our schedule grows progressively more difficult. We have yet to play bigger, deeper, more talented teams, and we have yet to get our turnover breakdown to an acceptable number, 10 or so."

"Our players are beginning to learn to change their tempo. This is vital to our play because there are some games we cannot run and shoot. We have already had some experience with our front line in foul trouble, and we have been able to cope with it by mixing our defenses and covering the problem and still win," he said.

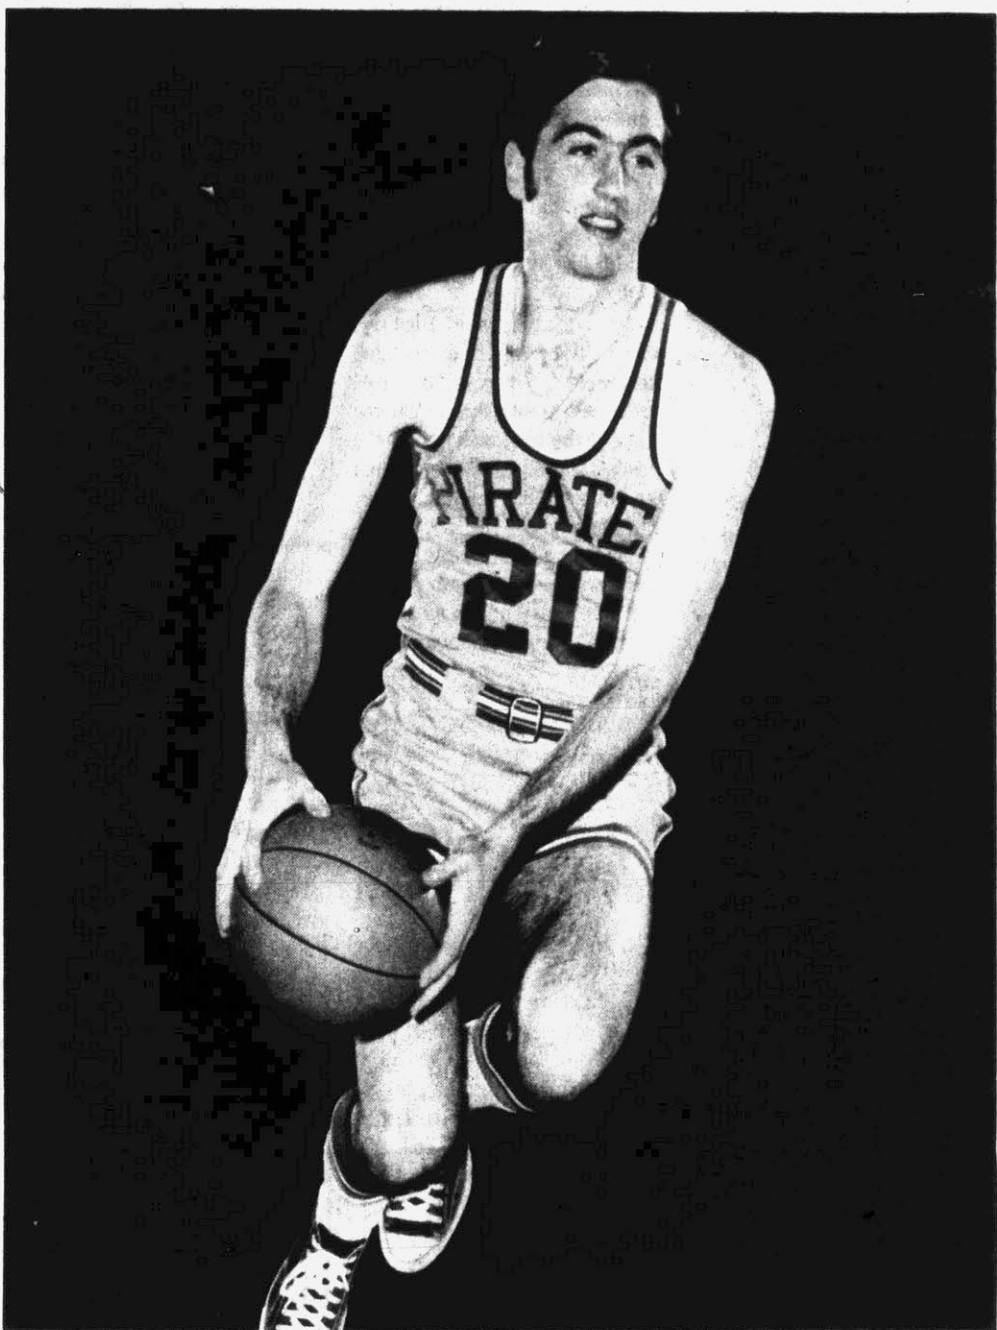

Prior to the varsity game, the East Carolina freshmen, still looking for their first win after two starts, will play host to a team from Fort Jackson. That gets underway at 5:50 p.m.

Swimmers Host State

East Carolina University's swimming team opens its home season Saturday at 2 p.m., playing host to North Carolina State.

The Pirates, 1-0 in dual meet competition this year, will be taking on one of the toughest teams on the Buc schedule in the Wolfpack, always a threat in Atlantic Coast Conference competition. The meet will be held in Minges Natatorium.

Pistol Pete Bombs 'Em Again

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Pistol Pete is shooting those baskets down again.

Pete Maravich, the 6-foot-5 All-American from Louisiana State, started his senior year in college basketball LSU by throwing in 43 points Thursday night to lead the Bayou Tigers to a 94-72 victory over Oregon State.

Pistol Pete, the No. 1 scorer in the college game as a sophomore and a junior, put on a dazzling performance that delighted his father, Press Maravich, LSU coach.

"I think he did a great job of playmaking," said his dad. "he threw the ball behind his back, between his legs and around his ears for seven assists. He shot well from the floor and the free throw line."

"Pete's like a light bulb," the elder Maravich added. He sure lit up the court with his 43 points, a bit shy of his 44.2 point average last season, on 14 field goals and 15-of-19 from the foul line.

The 43 points boosted Pete's career total to 2,329. He needs only 645 more to shatter Oscar Robertson's all-time record career total of 2,973 during the Big O's days at the U. of Cincinnati.

Across the country from Baton Rouge, in Las Cruces, N.M., New Mexico State lived up to its national sixth-place ranking by crushing Wichita State 108-76.

The Aggies, led by 32 points from 6-8 junior Jeff Smith, wiped out a 11-point deficit and won going away from the Shockers.

St. John's of New York, No. 14 and the only other team in the Associated Press pre-season Top Twenty to play, whipped Harvard 73-62 in the Redmen's campus gym in New York.

Manhattan shaded Rhode Island 70-68 and Princeton shipped NYU 77-60 in a double-header at Madison Square Garden.

Florida State rolled over Oregon 100-84, Texas humbled Alabama 90-63, Temple shaded Lehigh 73-70, Auburn squeezed past Clemson 61-60 and Arizona defeated Weber State 72-68.

Auburn Edges Past Clemson At The Wire

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Carl Shetler of Auburn hit only two of 12 shots Thursday night but the last, with seven seconds to play, was the one that broke the hearts of Coach Bobby Roberts and his Clemson Riggers.

The jumper gave the visiting Southeastern Conference team a hard-earned 61-60 victory on the home court of the Atlantic Coast Conference team in the night's only action for ACC teams.

No games are scheduled tonight. Clemson, last ACC team to open its season, had trouble getting started. It trailed by 10 points several times in the first half before cutting the Auburn lead to 29-24 at the intermission.

It was frantic the rest of the way, with eight ties in the second half. In the final six minutes there were three ties and seven lead changes.

Butch Zatezalo, ACC scoring champion for two years in a row, pumped in a basket with 55 seconds left for a 60-59 Clemson lead, only to have Shetler pop in the winner. Ronnie Yates fired for Clemson as the horn sounded, but the ball hit the rim and bounded away.

Auburn almost beat itself with 34 turnovers to 18 for Clemson, but the visitors had a 49-31 rebound advantage and outshot Clemson 44 per cent to 42.

Clemson made one more basket, but cashed in only six free throw chances to Auburn's nine as each team shot 13.

Zatezalo and Dave Thomas led Clemson with 17 points each. John Mengelt's 20 points and 18 by Bill Alexander paced Auburn.

ACC teams resume action Saturday with four games.

South Carolina, No. 1 in the nation and winner over Auburn in its opener, plays its first home game against Tennessee.

Trades, New NL Prexy Highlight Day

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Joe Pepitone might feel some what lost for awhile deep in the heart of Texas, but Curt Blefary should feel right at home at Yankee Stadium.

Yankee first basemen. The trade was one of four consummated on the fifth day of baseball's winter meetings—a day capped by the selection of a new National League president, longtime San Francisco Giants executive Charles "Chub" Feeney.

Feeney, 48, accepted the job only after assurances from the owners that his powers will not be diminished. He received a four-year contract, at an estimated $75,000 a year, and will move the league office from Cincinnati to San Francisco.

Proposals to place both league offices and that of Commissioner Bowie Kuhn under the same roof are part of a restructuring plan, to be considered Saturday, and also would centralize power in the commissioner's office.

Feeney's first official act was the announcement that Cincinnati will host the 1970 All-Star Game on July 14 in its new stadium, due for completion June 30.

San Diego traded pitcher Joe Niekro to Detroit for pitcher Pat Dobson and infielder Dave Campbell in the day's other inter-league transaction.

Seattle sent pitcher George Brunet to Washington for pitcher Dave Baldwin and the Chicago Cubs swapped pitcher Rich Nye for St. Louis outfielder Charles "Boots" Day.

But the biggest deal so far as personalities were concerned, saw the Yanks part with Pepitone, the temperamental, long-haired slugger who hit 166 home runs in eight turbulent American League seasons. In reacquiring Blefary, the Yanks receive a player they've coveted since losing on waivers to Baltimore six years ago.

Everything Is Ready For The Meeting Of Texas And Arkansas

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — All is ready for college football's Game of the Year. The synthetic grass at Fayetteville has been vacuumed. President Nixon has his tickets.

A national television audience estimated at 50 million is waiting. Texas vs. Arkansas, No. 1 vs. No. 2.

The game pits Texas, averaging more than 44 points a game, against Arkansas, with the best defense in the land against scoring.

The winner earns the South West Conference championship, a spot in the Cotton Bowl opposite Notre Dame and the inside track to the national championship.

The loser goes to the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans and a far less glamorous date with a 7-3 Mississippi team.

Arkansas coach Frank Broyles says Texas' execution of its relative simple offense will be the Razorback's biggest problem.

"What you have to do in defending against the triple option kills your pursuit," Broyles said. "You must commit a man to each hole, even though you'd rather not. If one man misses, there'll be no help until the ball carrier gets to the safety. And they've got blockers cracking at safety."

And, as Oklahoma found out, the Longhorns can pass. The Sooners massed nine men on the line of scrimmage, jumped off to a 14-0 lead and then succumbed when quarterback James Street began finding split end Cotton Speyer.

Arkansas, however, has not conceded. Utilizing the pro-type attack, Arkansas has averaged more than 35 points a game and has not scored less than three touchdowns in any game.

The Arkansas offense blends the running of Bill Burnett and Bruce Maxwell with the passing of quarterback Bill Montgomery.

"Texas is so sound defensively," says Montgomery. "They line up and say, 'Here we are, come after us with anything you've got, we're gonna stop it.'"

They're such good players, so well-coached, that they don't have to do anything special. The key to Arkansas' chances may be field position. The Razorbacks can not afford to give the Longhorns a close-in opportunity at a touchdown.

"We don't know how good they are," Broyles said. "We don't know how good we are."

They'll find out Saturday in what should be a fitting climax to college football's 100th year.

They're such good players, so well-coached, that they don't have to do anything special. The key to Arkansas' chances may be field position. The Razorbacks can not afford to give the Longhorns a close-in opportunity at a touchdown.

Ohio State Tops Selections

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Although their 22-game winning streak was snapped by Michigan in the season's finale, the Ohio State Buckeyes placed three players on the 22-man All-American College Football Team ad selected by The Associated Press.

Fullback Jim Otis, middle guard Jim Stillwagon and cornerback Jack Tatum may be the best at their positions in Ohio State's glorious football history.

Three teams each had two representatives on the all-star team—defensive tackle Mike Reid and linebacker Dennis Onkotz of Penn State, offensive guard Chip Kell and linebacker Steve Kiner of Tennessee and tight end Jim Mandich and defensive back Tom Curtis of Michigan.

One apiece came from top-ranked Texas—offensive tackle Bob McKay—and runner-up Arkansas—center Rodney Brand.

The rest of the offensive unit consists of split end Walker Gillette of Richmond, tackle John Ward of Oklahoma State, quarterback Mike Phipps of Purdue and halfbacks Steve Owens of Oklahoma—the Heisman Trophy-winner and all-time major college rushing champ—and Bob Anderson of Colorado.

Others on defense are ends Jimmy Gunn, Southern California, and Phil Olsen, Utah State; tackle Mike McCoy, Notre Dame; linebacker Don Parish, Stanford, and back Buddy McClintor, Auburn.

Kiner and Onkotz age the only repeaters while Kell, Stillwagon and Tatum are the only juniors. Owens wound up his career with 3,867 yards and led the nation this season in rushing and scoring with 358 carries for 1,523 yards and 23 touchdowns. Phipps set all sorts of Big Ten offense records as he completed 169 of 321 passes for 2,527 yards and 23 touchdowns.

Coach Eddie Crowder calls Anderson, who switched from quarterback to halfback after two games, "the most complete football player in the country."

They're such good players, so well-coached, that they don't have to do anything special. The key to Arkansas' chances may be field position. The Razorbacks can not afford to give the Longhorns a close-in opportunity at a touchdown.

Baker Takes Texas 500 Poll

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — With the pole position already nailed down, qualifying trials were to resume today for NASCAR's Texas 500 stock car race Sunday.

Buddy Baker of Charlotte, N.C., drove his Dodge Daytona Charger to the top qualifying time of 176.285 miles per hour Thursday to take the key position in the run for the $15,900 first prize.

Baker circled the new Texas International Speedway in the third fastest pole position time of the year on NASCAR's grand national circuit which ends its season with the Texas 500.

Only 2.7 seconds separated the first from the last of the 12 qualifiers Monday. The remainder of the field of 44 will be determined today and Saturday.

The only major driver still to qualify is Richard Petty of Randalman, S.C., whose high-powered Ford Torino developed engine trouble and forced him out of the first day trials.

Up front with the Baker for the start of the 500-mile, 250-lap run at the $93,000 purse will be David Pearson of Spartanburg, S.C., NASCAR's 1969 grand national champion.

Pearson, who has earned $182,200 this year, clocked a 175.751 m.p.h. time in a Ford Torino to nudge fellow Ford driver Lee Roy Yarborough of Columbia, S.C., who did a 175.601.

With Yarborough on the second row will be Cale Yarborough, who spun a 175.546 in his Mercury Cyclone.

The other eight qualifiers were Richard Brickhouse, Dodge; Donnie Allison, Ford; Bobby Isaac, Dodge; Bobby Allison; Dodge; Ray Elder, Dodge; Dave Marcis, Dodge; James Hylton, Dodge; and Richard Burke, Plymouth.

Women interested in playing league basketball are asked to attend this meeting. In addition, ladies who already have a team and sponsor are asked to attend.

Brewer Grabs Thomas Lead

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Gay Brewer is playing less now and enjoying it more.

With the purses as big as they are now, you can afford to take more time off," the pug-nosed veteran said Thursday after shooting a course record-matching 65 and taking the first round lead in the $125,000 Danny Thomas-Diplomat Golf Classic.

Brewer, a nonwinner on the PGA tour for more than two years, held a two stroke lead over Tommy Aaron, R.H. Sikes and rookie Jim Jamieson, tied at 67, going into today's second round on the 6,964-yard, par 72 Diplomat Presidential Golf Club course.

Brewer, a graying, 37-year-old whose last official victory was in the 1967 Masters, has played in only 26 previous events this year, a little more than half, and hasn't been in action for three weeks.

"A $100,000 year isn't anything any more," he said. "You can afford to take more time off, spend more time with the family. I've been doing it for some time."

Palmer birdied his first four holes, then matched birdies with bogeys in what he called "my worst driving round in six months."

"Several others do, too. Jack Nicklaus hardly ever plays more than 20 tournaments. Gary Player is around 16 a year for the last several years." Brewer—who won the 1967 and 1968 Alcan Golfer of the Year titles—unofficial events—was cheerful and relaxed after his remarkable round, but far from overconfident.

Much State Money Is Spent On Area Schools

RALEIGH—During the 1968-69 school term, a total of $3,654,251.50 in state funds were spent in Pitt County while Greenville City Schools received a total of $1,701,416.64 for the same period. During the school term, the state's citizens spent $335.5 million from the Nine Months

School Fund on their public schools in 157 school units, according to the audit recently submitted to Dr. Dallas Herring, chairman of the State Board of Education.

The figures presented show that funds furnished by the state to operate the schools in this area included:

PITT—Salaries, $3,198,871.30; buildings operations, $63,076.95; and buses, libraries and health, $233,457.19.

GREENVILLE — Salaries, $1,587,434.57; buildings operations, $73,614; and buses, libraries and health, $8,489.97.

The largest single expense for the state was $297.2 million for salaries of teachers, principals, and supervisors. The state paid salaries for 42,703 classroom teachers, 1,992 principals, 157 superintendents and 111 assistant superintendents.

Other items in the audit, which are borne by the state, include: operation of buildings, $14.7 million; transportation libraries and health programs, $15.9 million; and operation of offices of superintendents, $5.2 million.

In the report, the total school cost was 9.38 percent above the 1967-68 year—an increase of $28.7 million.

Will Assist Seal Sales

The 32 women comprising the Panhellenic Council at East Carolina University will offer their time and energies Friday night and Saturday reminding local citizens to answer their Christmas Seal letters.

Mrs. Ruth Peterson, executive director of the Eastern Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association in Greenville, said that the students will be at Pitt Plaza Friday night from 5-9, handing out literature and bangle pens symbolic of the fight against TB and respiratory diseases.

The significance of the small, red, double-barred pens have prompted the term of "Bangle Day" for the two-day activities. On Saturday, the Council members, who are under the direction of Miss Carolyn Fulghum, Dean of Women at ECU, will be in downtown Greenville, West End area

Peterson said, go towards the funding of TB and respiratory disease related education, research and patient services.

Two Profs Join Math Faculty

Dr. Gary D. Richardson and Robert J. Hursey Jr. have recently joined the mathematics faculty at East Carolina University.

These two professors and Roger L. Creech, John W. Daniels, and Robert M. Woodside, who have returned this year from periods of leave for advanced study, bring the department's faculty to 34. There are 269 undergraduate math majors and some 43 graduate majors.

Dr. Richardson, whose area of research is topology, received his B.S., M.A.M., and Ph.D. degrees from North Carolina State University. Since coming to ECU, he has had two papers on topology—the investigation of the properties of a geometric configuration that are unaltered if the configuration is subjected to any one-to-one continuous transformation—accepted for publication in the "Proceedings of the American Mathematical Society." Dr. Richardson and his wife, the former Patricia Fox, are native of Siler City. Hursey, whose research has been primarily in group theory, holds a B.S. in math from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, with equivalent majors in English and philosophy. He has an M.A. from William and Mary and is a candidate for the Ph.D. degree from the University of Alberta at Edmonton, Alberta, Canada. A native of Wallace, he is married to the former Peggy Fussell of Rose Hill. The Hurseys have two children, Brett, five, and Michele, two.

Creech held a teaching fellowship during his two-year study at the University of South Carolina. Daniels, who studied two years at the University of Indiana, held a fellowship his first year and a teaching assistantship his second year.

Woodside received a fellowship for his study at the University of Indiana.

Visits Ayden Percussion Ensemble In Concert On Dec. 11

AYDEN—Santa Claus will be in Ayden Thursday, Dec. 11, for the town's annual Christmas parade, scheduled to begin at 7 p.m.

Other participants in the parade include: two school bands, South Ayden and Savannah; the Shrine Club's Motorcycle Brigade; horses; clowns; six floats; and other acts.

The parade is scheduled to assemble on Lee Street and travel north to First Street, then moving east to West Avenue. The parade will then travel down Third Street where it will disband.

Marvin Baldree Jr. is serving as chairman of this year's parade. Working with him are William Earl Stocks, Russell Wooten, Pierce Sumrell and Mrs. Virginia Johnson.

Baldree said anyone who wishes to appear in the Ayden Parade may call him at Ayden Loan and Insurance Co., 746-3761, or Stocks at First Federal Savings and Loan, 746-3207.

The Serengeti National Park in Tanzania, Africa, covers 5,700 square miles.

Percussion Ensemble In Concert

The Percussion Ensemble of East Carolina University will present a concert at 8:15 p.m., December 8, under the direction of Harold A. Jones.

The recital, to be held in the Recital Hall of the School of Music, located on Tenth Street, is open to the public and no admission is being charged.

One of several outstanding musical programs presented by the university each year, the concert will include a varied musical fare.

Among selections to be played are: "October Mountain," by Alan Hovhaness; "Suite for Sideman and Handclappers," by Jack McKenzie; "Prelude XXII" by Orlando Lassus; "Musica Battuta," by Harold Schiffman; and "The World, Mother, Apple Pie" by Gilbert Trythall.

The ECU Percussion Ensemble has appeared at the Southern Division Convention of the Music Educators National Conference, the North Carolina Music Education Conference, the Virginia Music Educators Conference, the University of North Carolina Contemporary Music Festival, and at high schools and colleges throughout the southeastern United States.

Surinam, in South America, has a population of about 365,000.

"priceless"

There are some things in life that have no price.

At Stratford Arms we try to create an atmosphere that makes it a happy place to live.

Even though our apartments are reasonably priced some people think the attitude and atmosphere are priceless. Come and see and feel it. Sorry we're all booked on 3-bedroomers but our 1 and 2 bedroom apartments are a delight.

New Chairman Of NAM Is A Cherokee Chief

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Tsu la westa nehi, 61, became chairman today of the National Association of Manufacturers, a voluntary organization of industrial and business firms with a popular reputation as curator of conservative values.

Tsu la westa nehi, Principal Chief of the Cherokee Indian Tribe, believes that minority groups must win their place in society by performance rather than by violence or charity. He feels, of course, that he is living proof of the wisdom of this viewpoint.

"Anthropologists look upon me as an Uncle Tom," the chief said, "but we old Indians believe violence is not the answer. Those who advocate we use violence, well I think that's just a lot of stuff."

When he "puts on my white man's hat," which he does most of the time, the chief is W. W. Keeler, conservatively dressed, soft-talking but firm-minded chairman of Phillips Petroleum Co., Bartlesville, Okla., a rancher, 33rd Degree Scottish Rite Mason, holder of honorary degrees.

Keeler, whose grandmothers were Indian but who says of his grandfather Keeler, "if anybody kissed the Blarney Stone he did," discussed his interest in Indian and minority groups at the annual meeting of the 13,800-member group.

The NAM has a fulltime president, W. P. Gullander, who is the chief administrator. Keeler's job, therefore, may depend largely on his personal commitment. He must preside over four board meetings a year, but beyond that he can exert considerable influence through example, speeches, congressional testimony.

Quite naturally, Keeler hopes to influence businessmen by his views on minority employment. Some of the difficulty of minorities, he feels, might result from unintentionally unfair corporate regulations. He explained:

"During World War II, I was vice president in charge of manufacturing. I needed workers badly, and in order to get them we had to begin waiving the rules. First we did away with the rule that a worker must be a high school graduate.

Lemon On Car 'Not Justified'
BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP) — Arthur Harris' unhappiness over his new $9,000 Lincoln Continental does not justify parking the car in front of the dealer's agency with a lemon sign on it, a Common Pleas Court judge says.

Judge Harold M. Missal has issued a temporary injunction forbidding Harris to do again what he did on Nov. 22—park the car in front of Milton Weiss, Inc., with a large sign on the auto depicting a lemon and saying: "Lemon—By Milton Weiss."

Judge Missal said Harris "failed to prove by a preponderance of the evidence that the car in question is a 'lemon.'"

"Next we waived the ruling that you couldn't have a record with the F.B.I. We broke that policy, and still we needed people," said "Bill, we just can't find them."

"I told them to get some Cherokees. I knew they needed and wanted work. They were given an intelligence test that we used then. I think they had to get 17 or so to pass."

"The personnel man called me up. 'Bill,' he said, 'we're awfully embarrassed but these Cherokee boys just didn't pass. Some of them got only 2 and 3. Well, I know that despite the test they were intelligent and so we hired them."

"I tested two of these Cherokees later and both scored more than 20. Some of those we hired became chief operators in complex chemical operations, and the first one to retire did so just a while ago."

The test, Keeler feels, probably did accurately measure a white man's intelligence. But the Cherokees had grown up speaking their native tongue. They weren't used to tests, especially one worded in another language.

The mere necessity to take tests apparently came as a shock to them. They were given physicals for the first time in their lives and they were shaken up. "If those boys had known what was ahead of them they never would have done it."

Breaking down such hiring barriers, Keeler feels, is only part of the battle. Peoples have different values and these values must be understood if minority workers are to be properly motivated, he maintains.

'Flawless' Future Cars

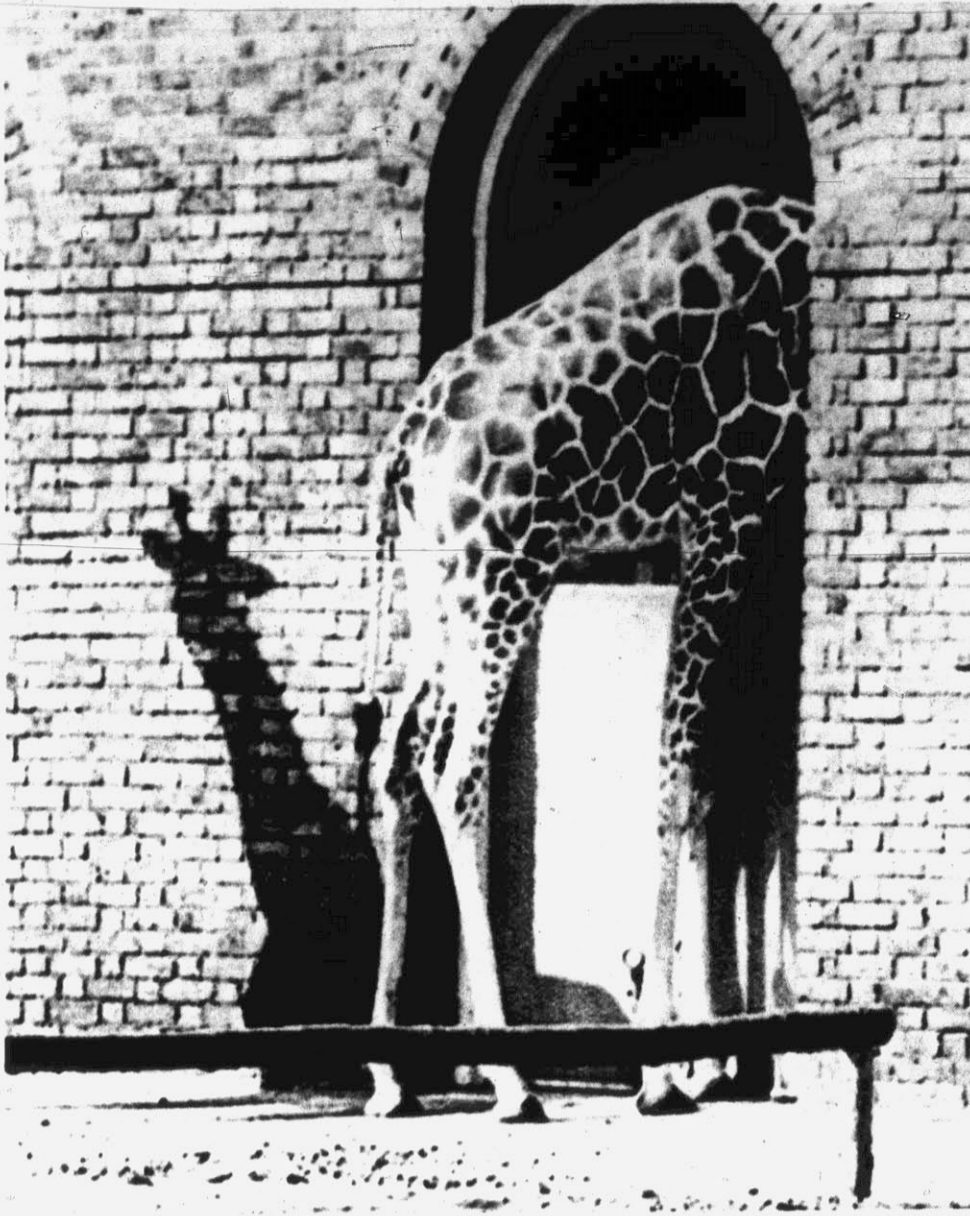

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—The automobile of the future may be free of tiny structural flaws—metallic cracks less than a millionth-of-an-inch wide that sometimes exist in crankshafts, axles and transmissions.

In some cases these cracks develop into costly repair bills because heat and stress cause them to spread and wear out parts more rapidly.

A new inspection technique has been developed to check for tiny cracks and flaws in virtually any metal part.

The technique, called KET, is now used to spot microscopic defects in the bearings and turbine blades of jet engines. E. D. Jernigan, a manager of Industrial Nucleonics, the company that developed the "hole finder," estimates that flaws in the bearings of engines used by the Air Force have cost the government more than $10 million over the past 10 years.

In the KET process, atoms of the mildly radioactive gas, krypton 85, seep into tiny cracks in the metal. Once the atoms have crowded into a crack they are spotted by an electronic scanner. Technicians are then able to take immediate corrective action.

California To Tax Some Of Church Businesses

By JERRY RANKIN
Associated Press Writer
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California starts taxing some church businesses on Jan. 1—but no one in the state government or the churches themselves seems to know exactly who will be taxed, where they are, or how much money will be raised.

A law passed by the 1969 legislature and signed by Gov. Ronald Reagan extends the state's corporation tax to businesses directly operated by religious organizations but unrelated to their spiritual function. Church and state officials

Presents Paper At Meeting In Florida

Dr. Charles E. Bland, assistant professor in the Biology Department at East Carolina University, presented a paper at a meeting of the Southeast Electron Microscopy Society in Tampa, Fla., Wednesday.

His paper, entitled, "Fine Structure of the Motile Cells of a Member of the Actinoplanaceae," deals with research he did as a post-doctoral fellow in the electron microscopy laboratory at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. He received his doctoral degree from UNC-CH last year and joined the ECU biology faculty in September.

Dr. Bland is now setting up an electron microscope laboratory in the new biology building at ECU.

alike say they cannot at the moment think of a specific business which isn't taxed now but will be under the new law.

Such things as cemeteries, publications, old-age homes and other activities directly associated with church functioning won't be considered unrelated income. They will remain tax free.

But if a church ran a movie house devoted to family type films, for instance, it would be taxed. The new law requires all churches to list types and sources of income. The amount need not be reported unless it comes from an unrelated business.

Sponsors of the law was Democratic Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson, of Beverly Hills, who is Jewish. He says he was surprised at how easily the bill went through and became law. Most major denominations had endorsed some such form of legislation.

In the rest of the nation during the past few months many denominations have expressed an almost eager willingness, in the name of fairness, to lose their tax-exempt status when it comes to outside businesses they operate.

The National Council of Churches and the U.S. Catholic Conference issued a joint appeal last May to the U.S. Congress to eliminate special income tax immunity which the churches enjoy on unrelated business income.

All such bodies make an important distinction, however, concerning tax exemptions on their houses of worship. A major suit is now pending before the U.S. Supreme Court, brought by a citizen named Frederick Walz against the New York City Tax Commission. The Walz complaint alleges that tax exemptions for churches and synagogues violate the American states separation tradition.

Will Campaign From Vietnam

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP) — Marine Sgt. C. L. Waldrep announced Wednesday his candidacy for sheriff of Gaston County, and said he would campaign from Vietnam.

Waldrep, 38, who has served almost 20 years in the Marines and is nearing retirement, now is a recruiter in Gastonia, his home town. He said he has received orders to go to the West Coast to prepare to ship out for Vietnam.

"Once I am elected," he predicted, "the military will start processing me for return to the United States."

He has entered next spring's Republican primary.
