

Bigger Combat Burden Born By South Viets; Casualties Climb

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) —The Saigon government's total of battlefield dead reported for the past seven months is more than double that of American forces, reflecting what President Nguyen Van Thieu calls their "increasing share" of the war effort.

South Vietnamese casualties have been higher than those suffered by American troops for 30 consecutive weeks, from May 10 through Dec. 6, according to official casualty summaries.

During that period, 11,450 government soldiers and 4,907 Americans were reported killed in action.

During the first 19 weeks of the year, before the withdrawal of some 60,000 U.S. troops began, casualties were nearly equal, with 4,930 South Vietnamese and 4,292 Americans reported killed on the battlefield.

In the northern Mekong Delta, from which American infantrymen were withdrawn last summer in the first troop cutback, a battalion of 500 South Vietnamese was taken by surprise at sunset Tuesday shortly after helicopters landed them in an area of palm groves and sugar cane fields to search out a Viet Cong battalion.

The government troops ran into mines, booby traps and a hail of machine gun fire that killed 20 men and wounded 63. Only two Viet Cong were known dead as the enemy pulled back in the dark.

In the past five weeks, South Vietnamese forces have been dealt at least four setbacks in the northern and central delta, with 113 of their men killed in those engagements and more than 100 wounded at a cost of only 16 Viet Cong known dead.

Viet Cong gunners shelled Saigon Tuesday for the first time in four months with a single 100-pound missile that landed in a group of houses adjacent to a hospital. Four civilians were wounded, one house was destroyed and two others were badly damaged.

Troops sweeping the site from which the rocket was fired found two more smaller unexploded rockets. A Vietnamese demolition team disarmed them.

U.S. Marines from the 5th Regiment reported killing 27

North Vietnamese and rounding up 28 persons suspected of being Viet Cong in two actions 18 miles southwest of Da Nang. Six Marines were wounded, U.S. headquarters said.

Two American helicopters were shot down, one near the Cambodian border 74 miles northeast of Saigon and the other in the Mekong Delta 118 miles southwest of Saigon. Five Americans were wounded.

These losses raised to 6,214 the number of U.S. helicopters and planes reported lost in Vietnam since Jan. 1, 1961.

Foreign Aid Items Head For Collision

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two unbudgeted military assistance items, $54.5 million to buy planes for Formosa and $50 million for South Korea, hold the key for final congressional action on financing the foreign aid program.

The items are involved in two separate measures—the authorization bill setting the ceiling on the program and the appropriations bill providing the actual funds—which have to be passed before Congress shuts down for the year.

Both bills advanced Tuesday, but potential collisions loomed between the Senate and House.

Here is the situation:

—Authorization: Senate-House conferees agreed on the economic aid portion of the bill, hoping to decide today on military aid.

The House had approved the Formosa and Korea items, but the Senate turned them down.

—Appropriations: The Senate Appropriations Committee approved the foreign aid money bill for floor action later in the week. It retained the Korea aid item voted by the House but deleted the planes for Formosa.

If the authorization bill that emerges from the conference deletes either of the two controversial items, and both houses go along, they could be killed for the year since unauthorized funds can't be spent.

Board Adopts Pension Plan For 447 Full-Time Employees Of Hospital

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

A pension plan for the 447 full-time employees of Pitt Memorial Hospital was decided upon by the hospital board last night and is slated to go into effect this fiscal year. This is the first pension plan for hospital employees in this county.

Any continuous service after January 1, 1964 will be considered toward retirement benefits. A retirement committee was set up. It will consist of permanent members, C.D. Ward, administrator; Jack Richardson, assistant administrator; and Mrs. Helen Abbott, director of nursing, and appointees for this year, J.H. Moye of Greenville and Richard Johnson of Grifton. Wachovia Bank and Trustee was selected as the trustee institution of the pension plan.

Two doctors were approved to practice within the hospital when need be. Dr. Horton D. Jolly, an Ayden native now practicing in Chapel Hill will be a consultant in anaesthesiology and Dr. Ellis F. Muther of New Bern will be a consultant in neurology and psychiatry.

The Board was told that private duty nurses who practice within the hospital, but set their own fees, have raised their rates to $30 per eight-hour shift.

Action on a request from the North and South Carolina Hospital Associations to set up a memorial library to the late Carl Roland, a long-time official of the Duke Endowment Fund, was tabled. Although the Board recognized the honor due Roland, they decided to investigate what type of books the library, which is to be set up in space provided by Duke Endowment, will offer and how the local hospital will benefit. They were told that two nearby county hospitals are contributing $500 each to the project.

Staff elections were approved. Dr. Howard Gradis was re-elected chief of staff and Dr. Donald Tucker was re-named vice-chairman. Dr. R.L. West will be secretary. Members of the executive committee are Dr. William Fore, Dr. Earl Trevathan, Dr. Steven White,

The Board requested that the financial committee meet with E.W. Harvey and go over collection procedures. The Board emphasized that no fault has been found, that this meeting will be mainly a show of interest by the Board.

The Board asked that close tabs be kept on supplies issued and that preventive measures against thievery from within the hospital be taken to keep costs to a minimum.

Authorization for a request for a $15,000 transferral from the count levy fund for the hospital was given.

Four Years Or Longer To Regroup

RALEIGH (AP) — Veteran state Sen. John Henley, D-Cumberland, says it will take four years or longer to streamline and consolidate North Carolina's 316 budgetary agencies into 19 functional units.

Henley, chairman of a special commission, said Tuesday, "After the eight Council of State positions which are constitutional, we're thinking of 11 functions."

The 1969 General Assembly created the commission to consolidate the state's agencies into a maximum of 25.

"If we could regroup along functional lines," Henley said, "we could eliminate overlapping and duplication of services. We could make it easier for people to go to their state government and get something done."

Henley said the 11 functions being tentatively considered are: social and health services, culture and history, corrections, finance, local affairs, administration, natural resources, manpower, transportation and safety, commerce and education.

The eight Council of State functions which would be added to this list are attorney general, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer, superintendent of public instruction, agriculture commissioner, labor commissioner and insurance commissioner.

"We aren't considering abolishing any agencies at this point," Henley pointed out. "What we want first to do is put each agency in a department under one of these functions. Each agency would maintain its own autonomy and continue doing the things it's doing now."

Nixons Awaited In California

WASHINGTON (AP) — President and Mrs. Nixon are expected to fly to their Southern California home the day after Christmas — barring a special session of Congress.

The Nixon would spend about 10 days at their home in San Clemente, if present plans hold.

Nixon, however, last week told Congress he will call them into special session on Dec. 26 if they do not act before then on pending appropriation bills. At the same time, Nixon said that if Congress members had to stay in Washington during the holidays, he would be here with them.

Inflation, Insurance Cost Linked

RALEIGH (AP) — A state study commission was told today that as long as inflation continues, Tar Heel motorists can expect the cost of their automobile liability insurance to go up every year.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Bernard Harrell told the commission as it began its study of auto insurance that present law requires the North Carolina Automobile Rate Administrative Office to submit new rate proposals to the state's insurance commissioner every year.

"Under inflation this means that you are going to have a request for a rate increase every year," Harrell stated.

Harrell, Motor Vehicles Commissioner Joe Garrett and Miss Foy Ingran, automobile registration director, reviewed for the study group the state's insurance laws and the financial responsibility and compulsory insurance laws.

New Citizen Stands Tall

PHOENIXVILLE, Pa. (AP) — A young Italian who lost both legs serving in the U.S. Army in Vietnam stood proudly on his new artificial legs for the first time Tuesday and became a naturalized American citizen.

Chester County Judge John M. Kurtz Jr. brought his court to Valley Forge General Hospital for the ceremony.

Perspiration ran freely down the face of the soldier, 23-year-old Alfio Leone, and the judge interrupted the proceedings to offer him a chair.

"I will stand," replied Leone, whose family lives in Eggertsville, N.Y.

Leone smiled broadly as some 70 fellow patients and hospital staff members broke into applause after the ceremony.

"It's like a good Christmas present," he said.

Leone, who was born in Dellecamere, Italy, had filed for citizenship three times since enlisting in the Army May 13, 1968.

He missed his first hearing in Buffalo because he volunteered for Vietnam duty.

On Oct. 28, two days after receiving notice of his second hearing, he stepped on a booby trap in Vietnam.

Judge Directs 'Inquiry' Into Case Discussion

FORT BENNING, GA. (AP) — The military judge who will preside at the murder trial of 1st Lt. William L. Calley Jr. has asked for the investigation of two former GIs and five news organizations in connection with published discussions of the alleged My Lai massacre.

1st Col. Reid W. Kennedy directed Tuesday that the Justice Department be asked to investigate possible violations of his ban against discussion of the Calley case by potential witnesses and be asked to prosecute where warranted.

Kennedy cited four cases involving Herbert L. Carter and Ronald L. Haebler, both former soldiers, and the National Broadcasting Co. Life magazine, Time magazine, the Houston Chronicle and The Associated Press.

The judge's order to prosecutors in the case came during a pretrial hearing at which defense counsel asked that charges against Calley be dropped.

They contended that the Army acted too late in bringing the 26-year-old officer to trial because he was due for discharge last Sept. 6. Calley is charged with the premeditated murder of 109 Vietnamese civilians at My Lai in March 1968 and one civilian six months earlier.

Kennedy withheld a decision on the motion to dismiss. He said he will hear arguments on all motions at a Jan. 20 hearing. No date has been set for the Calley court-martial.

Kennedy ordered Nov. 25 that potential witnesses in the trial refrain from giving interviews to news media. He directed trial counsel to transmit his order to the witnesses.

At Tuesday's hearing, Kennedy cited an interview with Carter published in the Houston Chronicle Dec. 10 and picked up by The Associated Press the same day. The story gave Carter's version of the action at My Lai.

Kennedy directed that a clipping of the Chronicle story and a notice of his order to Carter be forwarded to U.S. Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell with a request "to investigate and, if warranted, to prosecute the Houston Chronicle" and that the same request be made "with respect to The Associated Press."

Thieu's Critics Condemn Gov't

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese leading legal opposition group today condemned the alleged My Lai massacre as a "gruesome killing" of civilians and blasted the Saigon government for its treatment of the incident.

Sen. Tran Van Don's National Salvation Front said it had established in a two-week investigation that "beyond any doubt there was mass killing of mostly women and children" at the coastal village on March 16, 1968.

While avoiding direct reference to the American troops accused of murdering more than 100 Vietnamese civilians, the statement said the Front "severely condemns the guilty criminals... although the massacre represents but an isolated case."

The group also accused the Saigon government of "declining its responsibility and guilt in the massacre" and said it was "extremely shocked." It said the government should institute without delay a policy of joint U.S.-South Vietnamese command over military activities to avoid such incidents.

Despite the numerous reports by American troops of the alleged massacre, the U.S. Army investigation under way and the filing of Army charges against two soldiers President Nguyen Van Thieu's government has maintained that no massacre occurred. It said a small number of civilians were killed by artillery fire during an attack on Viet Cong in the village and that this was unavoidable.

Speight Named To Study Body

RALEIGH (AP) — Three men were appointed Tuesday by Gov. Bob Scott to serve on the nine-member local and ad hoc tax study commission authorized by the 1969 General Assembly.

Three members are to be appointed by Lt. Gov. Pat Taylor and three by House Speaker Phil Godwin, D-Gates.

Scott named Charles W. Mauze, Lexington city attorney; Marvin L. Speight Jr., Pitt County businessman; and Maxton Bass, Sampson County farmer.

Rank 3rd In Retail Sales

Greenville ranked third in retail sales among seven surrounding cities for the month of September.

Total sales during the month of September totaled $8,990,138 as compared to the same period last year when retail sales of $7,768,469 were reported.

Rocky Mount led the list with total retail sales of $12,617,139. Goldsboro's retail sales ranked second with sales of $11,122,168. Wilson ranked fourth with sales totaling $8,694,749 and in fifth position for the month was Kinston, with sales totaling $8,267,346.

New Bern followed Kinston with retail sales of $7,987,460.

Washington ranked seventh with retail sales totaling $4,599,814 for the month of September.

Israeli Strike Across Suez

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Israeli jets pounded Egyptian positions for nearly three hours today along the northern reaches of the Gulf of Suez and the southern part of the Suez Canal, a Tel Aviv announcement said.

The targets were Egyptian artillery batteries that killed two Israeli soldiers and a civilian tractor driver in a bombardment Tuesday night, a spokesman said. He added that the planes returned unscathed.

The strike across the Gulf of Suez was the first reported in several weeks. Israeli planes fly almost daily sorties against Egyptian military objectives on the western shore of the Suez Canal.

The Israelis said their gunners duelled with the Egyptians intermittently throughout Tuesday night in the Southern sector of the 103-mile waterway.

In Amman, Jordan Arab guerrillas said they blew up an Israeli labor office in a refugee camp north of the city of Gaza Tuesday night.

Most newspapers in Beirut appeared with banner front-page headlines today warning of an imminent Israeli attack against south Lebanon.

But the country's prime minister, Rashid Karami said there was nothing new in recent Israeli threats.

Stricter Rules On Launchings

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Stricter rules on manned rocket launches during bad weather will be enforced to avoid a scare like the one from two lightning bolts that struck Apollo 12 last month, the testing chief for the Manned Spacecraft Center says.

Don Arabian, here for a conference of the American Geophysical Union, told newsmen Wednesday that the Saturn booster for the moon-bound Apollo 12 generated two lightning bolts as it passed through a cloud layer shortly after liftoff.

Belgian Award For Composer Kosteck

Dr. Gregory Kosteck, composer-in-residence at East Carolina University, has been awarded the silver medal of the Queen Elizabeth of Belgium International Prize for music. The award from the Belgian government carries a $6,700 prize.

Dr. Kosteck, who won two other awards earlier this academic year, won the prize for "Strophes for Orchestra," a work dedicated to ECU conductor Robert Hause and his wife, Karen. Hause premiered the work with the ECU Orchestra last spring.

"Strophes for Orchestra" received its first civic orchestra performance in October in Fargo - Moorhead, N.D., under the baton of Sigvald Thompson.

The work was performed in mid-November by the Belgian National Orchestra at the Brussels Conservatory under Michael Gilen. Dr. Kosteck will attend another performance at the Conservatory in January.

Previous awards this year include the $1,000 first prize of the Philadelphia Chapter of the American Guild of Organists for "Music for Organ and Four Trombones"; and the Sigvald Thompson award of $500 for the same "Strophes for Orchestra."

Fifty-Five Indicted In Alleged Gambling Ring

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — One of three federal grand juries investigating crime and official corruption in New Jersey has indicted Simone "Sam the Plumber" DeCavalcante, a reputed Cosa Nostra leader, and 54 other persons in an alleged $20 million gambling ring.

A second grand jury is investigating alleged links between organized crime and some segments of the Internal Revenue Service, and a third is examining allegations of city government corruption in Newark.

The indictments of DeCavalcante and the others Tuesday came a week after U.S. Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said federal agents were about to crack "the largest gambling syndicate ever broken up in the country."

It was the second multimillion-dollar gambling case in New Jersey this year. Ruggiero "Ritchie the Boot" Boiardo and 18 other persons were convicted earlier on state charges involving an alleged $12 million gambling operation.

DeCavalcante, 58, whose nickname comes from a plumbing business he operates, was the only big name listed in the new indictments.

DeCavalcante was released in $75,000 bail after arraignment before Judge Lawrence Whipple in U.S. District Court.

The FBI reported that 51 of the 55 persons had been apprehended and the others were still being sought. Bail for the 51 was considerably less than DeCavalcante's. Some persons were released in their own recognizance.

Four of the 55 also were named on an extortion charge growing out of an alleged loan sharking case.

DeCavalcante, who lives in a comfortable home in Princeton, also faces a previous federal charge of conspiring with two Brooklyn, N.Y., men to extort money from four gamblers.

DeCavalcante has been named as head of one of the Cosa Nostra families operating in New Jersey. Boiardo and his son, Anthony "Tony Boy" Boiardo, also are reputed to be Cosa Nostra leaders.

Police are seeking the younger Boiardo whom the federal grand jury investigating alleged official corruption in Newark wants to question.

The grand jury investigating the Internal Revenue Service already has indicted two agents. One was accused of conspiring to approve false income tax returns and the other of demanding a $3,500 payoff to ensure approval of falsified audits of an electronics equipment firm.

Atty. Gen. Mitchell has said that a "large group" in the Internal Revenue Service was under control of the Cosa Nostra.

Mini Revolution Took Place In World Of Fashions During '60s

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—Emancipation of the body, some of the designers said, highlighted women's fashions changes of the 1960s.

End of the era of prudishness in dress, said others.

And where will this take us in the 1970? It depends on who gives the answer.

We will see a return, say most of Europe's fashion leaders, to more softness and femininity in clothes, while not abandoning pants which have become a style of their own. Britain's Mary Quant, the woman who made Mod her trademark in the 1960s, foresees more nudity for the '70s, and so does Rudi Gernreich whose "topless" hit the world in 1964.

So the extremes, no doubt, will remain with us.

However 1960s fashions are described, it was a decade of change in which the mini became the maximum revolution—a decade in which clothes began to uncover more than they covered, a decade certain to influence fashions of the '70s.

It was a 10 years in which Mod became a household word, when words like see-through and unisex and topless and youthquake and flower children became as much a part of the idiom as power steering, pot, Marshall McLuhan and moratorium.

The 1960s were the years when the pantsuit became as integral a part of a woman's wardrobe as the union suit was to a man's in great-grandpa's day, even though as the decade ended some restaurants and other watering sports still banned them for the girls.

The Jacqueline Look
It was the decade in which the style leaders ranged from Jacqueline Kennedy with her pillbox hat and bouffant hairdo to the sex goddesses a la Marilyn Monroe to a bustless model named Twiggy.

It was a decade in which the body stocking became THE lingerie item and the bra became the no-bra. Soon women were shedding even the no-bra for street wear to make girl-watching an occupational hazard. Yves St. Laurent of Paris and other ahead-of-their-times designers decided the time had come to show the female form. It became, as Gernreich said, "the absolute consciousness of the body age... the elimination of all pretense."

Waistlines were forgotten temporarily as emphasis on the female form shifted to the legs. The miniskirts took over and even matrons were showing off kneecaps while the younger things were showing as much

Shower Given Bridal Couple

Miss Lois James and Larry Parker were honored at a miscellaneous shower on Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Floyd P. Harris.

The shower was given by the YFA of Gum Swamp Free Will Baptist Church.

The bride-elect was presented a corsage of pom poms and the bridegroom-elect was given a white boutonniere.

The refreshment table was covered with a white cloth centered with a candelabra holding lighted tapers. An arrangement of love birds made by Mrs. Harris for the honored couple was used on one end of the table. They were remembered with gifts from the guests.

as possible.

Just as society had adjusted to the minis, whomp, fashion went on another of its erratic binges—to the maxi, which covered the young things in coats from shoulder to street.

The number one woman style leader of the early 1960's was undoubtedly Jacqueline Kennedy. Mrs. Kennedy even before she became First Lady was a pace-setter by nature, hailed by such as Women's Wear Daily, the trade publication of the garment industry, as "Her Elegance" and copies by women everywhere. Few, however, could match her simplicity of style.

And what a flap when Mrs. Kennedy one day was photographed outside a New York restaurant wearing a mini. After her marriage toward the end of the decade to the Greek shipping magnate, Aristotle Onassis, her fashion image faded into the background a bit.

The decade marked the demise of the sex goddess, the women with the 42 and 44 inch busts, and with it the launching of the flat look that had not been so popular since the flapper days of the 1920's. There was also a demise of traditional elegance; class became declassé, and the on-slaught of what some observers called the downright ugly with the long, stringy, straight hair, the unkempt look among some of the young with their hippie beads, the raiding of the attics and second hand stores for everything from granny skirts to military jackets.

Boutiques, the on-beat and the off-beat, came into their own as shopping centers, and many voices cried from their sewing rooms that haute couture was dead. Balenciaga, the master of elegant clothes, retired, and in from the Paris scene came younger designers like Andre Courreges, with his "tough" harsh clothes and his kinky boots.

Members Give Program At BPW Club Meet

"Build, Plan, Work" toward universal brotherhood, was the topic of the program Thursday night at the Greenville Business and Professional Women's Club.

Mrs. Polly Dail, president, presided over the meeting. The theme was in keeping with the Christmas season. The Woman's Club was decorated in a Christmas motif.

Mrs. Cherry Easley, chairman of World Affairs committee, presented other members on the program. They were Miss Carolyn Fulghum, Miss Camille Clarke and Mrs. Grace Turner.

Those on the program cited many ways that people might improve brotherhood among peoples at home and of other nations. One thing stressed was the use of music and singing which has been used for many years as a common bond among peoples of all nations.

During the dinner, there was Christmas music in the background. Mrs. Doris Marlowe led the group in singing Christmas carols. Mrs. Daisy Rogers played the piano. Mrs. Easley ended the program with this thought, "As God looks down on his world, may he not see a black Christmas. May he see us in joy with the music throughout the world bringing us closer together. This could be the basis of brotherhood and peace on earth."

The members participated in "Operation Santa Clause" with gifts for Cherry Hospital. They also sent a Christmas contribution to the Salvation Army.

The next BPW meeting will be Jan. 8.

An Excellent Choice For Duke

Duke University's board of trustees has made an excellent choice in naming former governor Terry Sanford as the institution's new president. Sanford, who served as governor from 1961 to 1965, will succeed Dr. Douglas M. Knight who resigned June 30 to become a vice president of RCA. Sanford, whose life has been mostly in the field of politics, nevertheless has close ties with the world of education. During his term as governor he levied a sales tax on food to finance improved higher education. This meant increased salaries for teachers at a time they were sorely needed. He began a statewide system of community colleges, established three liberal arts colleges and redesigned the Consolidated University. The Governor's School had its beginnings during Sanford's administration.

Sanford had many difficult decisions to make during his four year term of office as governor. Now, as head of one of the nation's outstanding institutions of higher learning he will have decisions to make of no less importance.

The nation's universities are learning that they will need strong presidents willing to stand behind their convictions if the universities are to survive and continue to serve the nation. At the same time university presidents now must be men of compassion and with a keen insight into the problems that face our nation and its people.

University presidents of the 1970s will have to involve their institutions in the problems of the society that surrounds them. At the same time they will have to possess the strength to resist efforts to tear their institutions apart in the name of change. Change must come to the universities to meet modern times; but still the knowledge and traditions that have been carefully handed down by scholars from generation to generation must be preserved.

We feel that Terry Sanford has the background and the ability to do these things for Duke University. We believe he will make an outstanding president.

Participation Needed If We Want Benefits

It is bad news when the United Fund chairman has to report in December that the campaign is at a standstill. Yet, that was the report issued by President J. Brantley Speight Sunday.

He said that several communities have reported no contributions at all.

"If we are to fulfill the needs, we must have support from everyone," Speight said. If everyone will do his part the drive can be put over its goal by Christmas. "Otherwise, the 1969-70 Pitt County United Fund campaign will end the same way it always has — in failure to fill all the needs of our agencies."

We can add little more to that. It is well known that United Fund provides operating funds for a number of worthwhile agencies. If we want the benefits of these agencies to continue the financial participation of everyone is going to be required.

Viet Cong Are Also Civilians

By RICK MERRON
MY LAI, Vietnam (AP) — The Marines of Combined Action Platoon 146, taking a break, sat wearily next to a blackened, abandoned house.

"Kill civilians? I've killed civilians myself—because I was ordered to," said one of them, as if he had expected the question.

"But I only found afterward that they were civilians."

"At the time, how do you know? Because it's a woman? No, because women can fire AK47s. Because they are children? No, because they can make boobytraps."

The speaker was Pfc. Robert Wolff, a tall, lean 20-year-old from Sacramento, Calif., who joined the Marine Corps' pacification program and landed here after six months in a line company.

Wolff spoke only for himself but his words seem to summarize the reality for American troops in Vietnam—not just in this coastal hamlet where a mass killing of civilians allegedly took place 21 months ago. It holds true anywhere that they find themselves fighting an adversary that is everywhere, but invisible; friendly one minute and trying to kill them the next.

"Let them come and talk to us. We know the attitude of the people and what it's like to live in fear of boobytraps and with people who can be friendly one minute and V.C. the next."

The other Marines thought on that for a minute. The day before, their unit had lost a man killed and another wounded in a brief encounter with the Viet Cong.

The silence was broken by Pfc. Randy Wright, Cape Girardeau, Mo., a 20-year-old who has been in Vietnam only two months.

"I don't think I could kill women and children now," he said, "but I'm changing. I think some of the guys who have been here six months or more are capable of anything."

"People in the States ask, 'How can a man in his right mind kill women and children?' That's the problem. Soldiers who have been here in combat units for any length of time are not in their right minds."

Wright said the people in Son My "didn't care" that the pacification Marines had sustained casualties.

There have been several My Lais, numbered to differentiate them. The Army says the mass killings were at My Lai 4, and this platoon of Marines has the only Americans now regularly stationed in its immediate vicinity. They operate out of the Son My, which has earlier been resettled Song My, refugee settlement area a half-mile away—where many self-proclaimed survivors of the 1968 killings also live.

The Marines' over-all mission is to protect the residents while conducting pacification and village self-help programs. They work alongside a platoon of Vietnamese popular force troops in the daytime, and at night they run ambush patrols to keep Viet Cong out of the area.

A Prediction Made In 1964

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
—RALEIGH—A bit of remembering today about a prediction that had so much substance that it was not forgotten and finally came true.

It was in August, 1964, that this column reported the following:

"Capitol sources are guessing that Gov. Terry Sanford's personal interests for the future now lean toward the academic world rather than political life.

"They foresee the possibility that after leaving the governor's office in early 1965 Sanford may accept a post in the higher education field, perhaps someday becoming president of a college or university."

Now more than five years later and after considering carefully a possible return to the political arena, Sanford has accepted appointment to the presidency of Duke University.

that life's work will be centered in education," the 1964 column said.

One of his first projects upon leaving the governorship was to undertake a foundation-financed two-year study of American states.

He set up headquarters for that study on the Duke University campus.

Effect—Although he was recognized leader of a powerful, liberal, progressive wing of the state's Democratic party Sanford's moving to the Duke presidency will not create a political vacuum.

Many had felt that he probably would be the Democrats' strongest candidate in a campaign for a second term as governor in 1972 both in experience and statewide popularity.

He often expressed a fleeting desire to have another term in Raleigh in order "to put mortar and brick" on the foundations of the many programs he initiated.

But, politically, he wanted "no more dogfights" such as the abrasive primaries of 1960.

Aside—It is the immediate consensus—now confirmed by Sanford himself—that he has put aside any thought of a personal political candidacy at least through 1972.

Thus with Sanford presumably out of the picture, the names of Lt. Gov. H. P. (Pat) Taylor Jr. and State Sen. Hargrove Bowles move into places of prominence in 1972 gubernatorial primary speculation. Bowles and Sanford have been and later party chairman, says there will be no dearth of good Democratic party candidates and that the organizations which he, Sanford and Bowles built up "won't quit."

Ellis—State Sen. Albert Ellis of Onslow, who died Sunday, was the father of the local one per cent sales tax plan which will take effect in 25 counties next March 1.

Ellis, an outstanding lawyer and keen, capable and affable legislator, was a chief sponsor and backer of the local option sales tax plan. He led efforts to win approval of it in the Senate, both speaking for it and leading debate on the floor. His county, Onslow, was one of those in which the tax was approved in a referendum last month.

WILLIAM SHIRES

Plum—This of course is a prized plum in the academic world. The position is so challenging that Sanford could not refuse it.

In addition, the Duke trustees felt that Sanford was so uniquely qualified that they insisted and wooed the former governor successfully.

The column in 1964 further said:

"Education, of course, has been the cornerstone of the Sanford administration (as governor). The record of accomplishment is significant."

Leaving the governor's office, Sanford said his plans would be to work "as a private citizen" to follow up his efforts on behalf of education as the key to break the "cycle of poverty" in North Carolina.

Work—Sanford was 46 that August and now only 52. "At that age, sources says, Sanford's greatest contributions of his life's work will be just beginning. And these sources are predicting

A VERY HANDY FACADE!

By ART BUCHWALD

The Mysterious Death

WASHINGTON—The death of Adolph Zimmermeister was listed on the police books as an accidental fall from a traffic helicopter over the Long Island Sound.

But Mrs. Zimmermeister said she suspects foul play and has asked for a reopening of the case.

She told me in her modest apartment in the Bronx that she is certain that someone took Adolph for a ride.

"Who could it have possibly been?" I asked her.

"I don't know. Adolph didn't have an enemy in the world, at least not until a month ago. That's when the trouble started. Adolph announced at the family Thanksgiving dinner that he wasn't going to buy any Christmas presents this year. At first everyone thought he was joking, but Adolph said he was absolutely serious and if they didn't believe him they should try holding their breath waiting for a gift or a card from him.

"Someone at the dinner must have told someone what Adolph said, because two days later three men, all wearing carnations, showed up at the apartment.

"One of the men said, 'Adolph, is it true that you are not going to buy any Christmas presents this year?'"

"Adolph replied, 'Absolutely true. My wife and I agreed we love each other and I don't have to buy her a fur coat or a diamond ring to prove it.'"

"As for the children, they're at the age when they resent anything we do for them, so there doesn't seem to be any sense spending money on them when we're only going to get kicked in the teeth."

Other Editors Say At Mercy Of A Union

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

There is something chillingly ominous about the shipping strike that has cut off a great many special items needed to make Hawaii's Christmas a good one.

No, it isn't necessarily the fact that there will be no Christmas trees, (130,000 of them lie idle in West Coast docks) and that a great backlog of items won't make it for Christmas in the islands, although that is bad enough.

The really jarring ingredient is the fact that a strike can economically strangle an American state as Hawaii is slowly being strangled by the Marine Firemen's Union on the West Coast. Should a union be so powerful as to wield life and death decisions over a whole state and its people? Apparently this one is.

Children in Hawaii are sending letters to the union and to President Nixon in an effort to end the three-week West Coast shipping dispute. Children scrawl this message: "Dear Union Man: How can we get you to turn Santa loose so we can get our Christmas presents from the mainland?"

James Marshall, chairman of the Hawaiian "Save Christmas Committee," says that unless the union releases ships with Hawaii-bound cargo, it will be impossible to deliver the backlog by Christmas.

The dispute has idled 28 West Coast ships, including 14 owned by the Hawaii-based Matson Navigational Co., long the islands' surface lifeline to the mainland. That the union has severed that lifeline ought to give Congress something to think about. The dispute centers on a union demand that Matson hire more engineers for two ships under construction.

That petty demands like this can tie a whole state up in economical knots ought to frighten people everywhere. And the fact that Hawaii's food supply is still adequate for 45 days shouldn't lend any comfort to those responsible. After 45 days, what?

ART BUCHWALD

"But what about the spirit of Christmas giving?" one of the men said.

"I've got the spirit," Adolph told them. "It's just that I can't afford it."

"No one can afford Christmas," one of the men yelled. "That's not a valid excuse. The very lifeblood of this nation depends on people who can't afford Christmas to go out and buy, buy, buy, even if they have to go into debt to do it."

"That's just the point," Adolph said. "I decided not to go into debt this year."

"One of the men who seemed to be the leader said, 'Adolph, we're from the Gross National Product Society, the GNP, and our job is to see that no one, and we mean no one, does anything to hurt the country's economy.'

"This nation cannot live without Christmas. Your attitude is more dangerous than the worst bomb-bomb."

Another Field For Crackdown

By ELMER ROESSNER
There's a whole new field open to some aspiring Ralph Nader, a field that becomes especially notable around this time of the year. That's the selling of fake perfumes, liquors, cheeses, watches and other items.

ELMER ROESSNER

A survey by Allan Keller, writer and investigative reporter, shows that millions are misled by the American public by counterfeiters of expensive goods. He found evidence that indicated the Mafia was getting into the game.

The principal places where the gullible and even the smart are taken, he found, are in bars and restaurants. In bars, cheaper brands are often substituted for the brand ordered. Few people can tell when one brand of bourbon or scotch is substituted for another, or when a superior brand is diluted with a cheaper one. Even those who have well developed taste buds can be fooled after the first or second drink.

Other brandies may be substituted for cognac, which comes from one small region of France, domestic champagne for the imported, or other sherries for Spanish sherry, which is produced only in a small area of Spain near the town of Jerez de la Frontera.

Cheese Substitution

In restaurants, sometimes look-alike cheeses are substituted for delicate cheeses such as Roquefort. In fact, Keller found, the chances are three to two that a person ordering Roquefort will get a substitute. The genuine Roquefort is made of ewes' milk, ripened with penicillin to give it blue veining, and aged in caves at the town of Roquefort, France. Gourrets often instruct the waiter not to cut the rind or wrapping when ordering Roquefort. The genuine cheese bears a red sheep as a trademark.

The sale of imitation perfumes flourishes at this time of the year. Fakers approach individuals and small stores with stories of having purchased perfume in a neighboring state after a fire had damaged a store. They produce samples, often in familiar bottles, and ask the victims to smell the stopper. It smells like the real thing.

The buyer doesn't know that the faker has filled old bottles with dime store perfume or colored water and then poured waterglass around the neck and stopper. Waterglass is what your grandmother put eggs in to keep them from spoiling in the days before good refrigeration. The waterglass sealed the pores of the shell just as it does the opening of the phony perfume bottle. The faker then touches each

Black Versus Black

By JACK SCHREIBMAN
Associated Press Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A year later, an outward calm prevails on what was once the battlefield of San Francisco State College. But below the surface simmers a war of a different kind.

The undercurrent struggle, masked by tranquility and study, is the legacy of riotous events of last winter, when curses, bombs, rocks and police billy clubs were the way of life on the 18,000-student campus.

At the storm center of contention is the Black Students Union, the same BSU which called the shots for both black and white militants in some four months of uproar last year.

Today, the BSU repeatedly and forcefully advertises its goals: "revolution... struggle... exposure of the inequalities of a dying America..."

Despite the fierce words, top administration officials of the institution say they are convinced pressure by the black community will keep the lid on any renewal of major physical violence.

While sharing this view, some top faculty leaders, however, believe the campus "is a volcano ready to blow up... seething beneath the surface."

The tight focus of the BSU is on the college's new Black Studies Department, now accommodating 460 students, mostly black, under an all-black faculty of 12 part-time and six full-time instructors.

Dr. S.I. Hayakawa, president of the college, said in a news conference that campus black militants were carrying on a "reign of terror" among Negro faculty members in an attempt to take over the department.

Urban Whitaker, dean of undergraduate studies and acting dean of ethnic studies, said intimidation of faculty members has included smashing of car windows, slashing of tires, the beating of two white students, interceptions of mail and attempts at class disruption.

"The problem is not black versus white," he said. "It's over a difference of opinion among black students and blacks faculty over the purpose of the Black Studies program. That program has to be educational as opposed to revolutionary indoctrination."

The administration, appraised that the militants were going off the campus to recruit support within the black community, decided to do the same thing.

The Baptist Ministers Union of 108 pastors, leaders of most of the church-going Negro community, were asked to investigate the "reign of terror" charges.

On Nov. 18, the Rev. G.L. Bedford, president of the union and a disciple of the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., announced virtually looking the campus black militants in the eye:

"Let me make it crystal clear, as a militant advocate of peace, that we Christian clergymen do not condone violence as a measure of reason on any level, at any place, or at any time."

A year ago, the violence and uproar on the San Francisco State campus embroiled people of every stripe—radical left, liberal, conservative and ultraright.

(© 1967 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: My problem is that I have had so much advice that I am dizzy and confused. And now I am asking you for some MORE advice, which shows you how mixed up I really am.

Three weeks ago my husband dropped dead of a heart attack. He was only 57 and had just had a complete check up. The doctor told him he could live to be 100, so you can imagine the shock I got when they called from in the middle of a canasta game and gave me the news.

I am now getting advice from all sides. Some say, "Sell the house and move into an apartment. What you need is a complete change of scenery." Others say, "Take a trip." Still others, "You will be miserable traveling alone. You can't run away from yourself. Stay home. You need to be with friends."

I also get business advice. Some say, "Sell the business while it's a seller's market." Other say, "Hang on to the business and run it yourself."

My two children are married and independent so I will have to make these decisions myself. How does a widow know who to listen to? Please tell me what to do.

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: The best advice I can give you is to take NO advice right now. You've suffered a tremendous shock, and are undoubtedly still under a great deal of strain. You need more time to "adjust" before making any decisions. What you want to do about the house and the business can wait until you've had more time to think. Your judgments will be less emotional and more rational then.

In the meantime, don't SELL anything, don't BUY anything, and don't SIGN anything. And good luck.

DEAR ABBY: I would appreciate it if you would print your opinion of fellows who say to girls, "I'll call you," but they never do. Thank you.

STILL WAITING FOR THAT CALL

DEAR STILL: Girls shouldn't believe everything they're told. When a fellow says, "I'll call you," he thinks that's what a girl expects to hear. [And he's right.] But it has about as much meaning as, "See you around," or "Let's get together—sometime." It's a friendly, but insincere, remark.

The next time a fellow says, "I'll call you," if you really want to shake him up, say, "WHEN?"

DEAR ABBY: I get a real blast out of the woman who asked, "Should I give my husband a night out with the boys?"

In the last four months, my husband has been IN a total of 17 nights. We've been married for 25 years and it's always been this way, so I suppose I should be used to it by now.

Don't tell me not to nag him. You betcher life I nag him. Every chance I get. The house is clean and I'm a good cook, but I am sick and tired of making dinners for the garbage disposal. Get the idea?

I'm no beauty, but then, I never WAS. I just want to say that I'd be delighted if my husband had "A" night out. What I'd like is for him to have a few more nights "IN." N. B. C.

DEAR ABBY: This is for "WONDERING IN ATLANTA." She was concerned about how it would look at her son's wedding with all the bridesmaids obviously pregnant. [They were married.] I should have been so lucky. At my son's wedding, the BRIDE was seven months pregnant, and interestingly enough, the groom was not the father.

Bishop Blesses National Shrine

CREDITON, England (AP) — A national shrine to St. Boniface, apostle of Germany, has been blessed by Bishop Cyril Restieux of Plymouth at this Devon town where he was born. The bishop also celebrated the first Mass in a new 22,000 pounds ($52,800) church. Foundation stone for the church was sent by Bishop Bolte from Fulda, where the saint is buried. He was martyred at the age of 75.

BAPTIST HOUSING

GREEN LAKE, Wis. (AP) — American Baptists are now the largest managers of non-governmental, non-profit housing in the United States, says Dr. William H. Rhoades, head of the American Baptist Home Mission Societies.

He told a meeting here that the denomination currently operates 1,432 low and moderate income housing units, valued at $65 million, serving 80,000 residents.

German Eye-View Of Critical Battle Of The Bulge

EDITOR'S NOTE—This week is the 25th anniversary of the Battle of the Bulge, a counteroffensive which Adolf Hitler thought could turn the tide of World War II in his favor. This interview tells the story of that battle from the viewpoint of a German general who undertook to carry out Hitler's desperate orders.

By OTTO DOELLING
Associated Press Writer
DIESSEN, Germany (AP) — A chill winter fog lay over the Eifel Mountains, cloaking the command post of Gen. Hasso von Manteuffel. Snow and the fog muffled the sound of his 5th Panzer Army moving toward the Belgian and Luxembourg frontiers.

It was 4:30 a.m., Dec. 16, 1944, H-hour for a Hitler-ordered offensive that the general had tried unsuccessfully to change.
His command radio reported that forward elements had already crossed the Our River into the Ardennes Forest. No fire was reported from American troops stretched thinly along the rough terrain.
Surprise had been achieved. Hitler's "Operation Fall Mist," which was to become the Battle of the Bulge, had begun in its key central sector with the stealthiness of fog drifting over the fields.

To the north, SS Gen. Sepp Dietrich's artillery opened a thundering overture to the approach of his 6th Panzer Army.
The tactic of stealth, which was to prove the most effective, was one concession that the otherwise unbending Hitler had granted Manteuffel. The 5 foot 4 general, a grand-nephew of one of Bismarck's field marshals, had not hesitated to tell Hitler what he thought was wrong with the plan of battle.
Hitler kept the plan secret until the last moment and Manteuffel was astonished when he first learned of it a month and a half earlier. At the time, his army was heavily engaged defending German soil between Aachen and the Rhine.

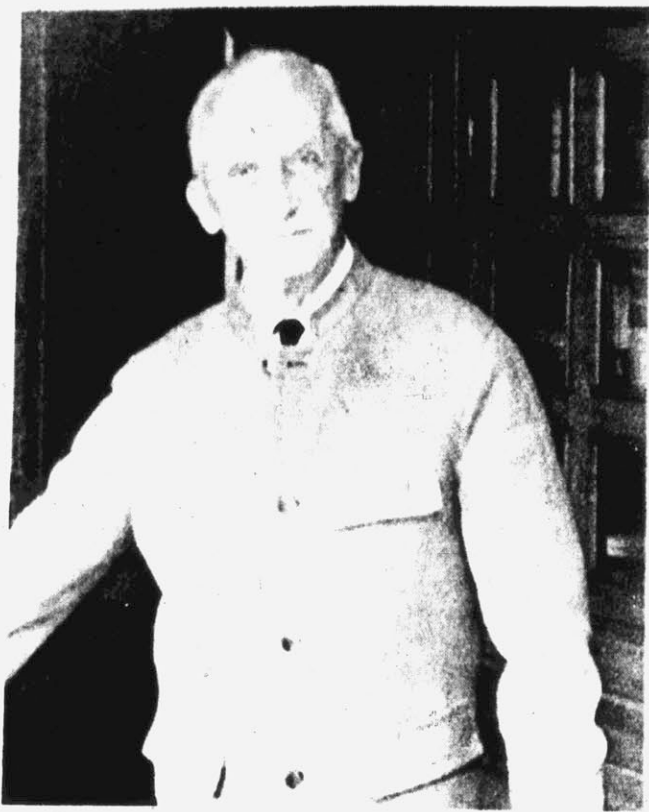

The plan called for the 5th and 6th Panzer armies to attack abreast through the thickly wooded Schnee Eifel and Ardennes, overrunning Bastogne, St. Vith and Malmedy, break through across the Meuse River and wheel northward over open tank country to Brussels. The final objective was the strategic port of Antwerp.
The 7th Army to the south had the more limited mission of protecting Manteuffel's left flank.
The thrust through the weakly defended Ardennes would split the Americans and Britons physically—Gen. Omar N. Bradley's 12th Army Group from Field Marshal Bernard Law Montgomery's 21st. But most important, as Hitler saw it, the reversal would shatter the British-American alliance. It would be another Dunkerque.

Despite his doubts, Manteuffel saw the offensive as "the last chance to rout the Allies on the Western Front so decisively that they would be unable to resume the offensive for three to four months. And then we could reach a political arrangement in some way."
The general believes that the surprise he achieved was one factor that permitted his army to drive a bulge 50 miles long into the Allied lines while Sepp Dietrich's spearhead stalled in the third day of the attack.
On Dec. 16, three German armies comprising 22 divisions were hurled against 4½ U.S. divisions, including three of Maj. Gen. Troy Middleton's 8th Corps that held an 88-mile front.
The outnumbered Americans began what Manteuffel describes as "the battle of little men"—small, isolated units that bravely delayed the round-bound German spearhead.
They disrupted the German timetable. Instead of reaching the Meuse by the second night Manteuffel's two tank corps found themselves engaged in attacking the stubborn northern and southern shoulders of the bulge—St. Vith and Bastogne.

The St. Vith pocket held out until a pullback Dec. 23. Through what Manteuffel describes as a tactical error, Bastogne was surrounded but never captured.
The Panzer Lehr Division under Lt. Gen. Fritz Bayerlein reached within four miles of Bastogne on Dec. 19—before Brig. Gen. Anthony McAuliffe's 101st Airborne Division had arrived in what Manteuffel considers sufficient strength to defend.
But Bayerlein heard firing to his north and, fearing trouble on his flank, attacked in that direction away from Bastogne, Manteuffel says. By the time the drive on Bastogne was resumed, McAuliffe had consolidated the defense perimeter.
German failure was compounded by the weather. At the outset this neutralized Allied air superiority and shielded German movement. Later, snow and sludge slowed the Tiger and Panther tanks. When the weather broke on Dec. 23 Allied planes again were effective.
The self-destructive element of the German offensive was a breakdown of the supply system. Fuelless tanks had to be abandoned within four miles of the Meuse.
It was a dismayed German army that began to fall back from the Meuse Valley on Dec.

26. The counterattacking U.S. 1st and 3rd armies linked up to close the bulge on Jan. 16—one month to the day after the start of the battle.
Allied casualties numbered 60,000 or more. The Germans lost their last effective reserves. The way to the heartland of the Reich now lay all but open.
"I underestimated the Americans," Manteuffel concedes. "I would never have guessed that they could recover so quickly from such a blow. They were knocked down for the count of nine and then came back fighting bravely and well."
Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's prompt employment of the Airborne reserves, under Maj. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, and the 90-degree turn and counterattack by Gen. George S. Patton's 3rd Army "were much quicker and more effective than we could have imagined," Manteuffel says.
Russian armies launched their final offensive Jan. 12 and Hitler had very little left to throw into the breach. Four months later the Third Reich fell.

Today In Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Pilot error is an increasing factor in aviation accidents in the United States, the National Transportation Safety Board said today.
In a report on 1968 accidents, the board said pilot error was cited in 84.32 per cent of all mishaps in which the cause could be determined.

This compared with 81.91 per cent in 1967, 80.2 per cent in 1966, and 76.5 per cent in 1965, the board said.

The trend "again stresses the need for identifying and eliminating the underlying reasons for so many pilot mistakes," the board said in its statistical review of U.S. aviation accidents.

The review showed an increase in aviation's accident rate. The board said in 1968 there were 692 fatal accidents in more than 24 million total hours flown.

This produced a rate of 2.86 fatal accidents in every 100,000 hours, compared with the 2.72 rate of 1967.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The deficit-ridden Children's Hospital of the District of Columbia will get a gift eight days before Christmas—a $200,000 check from the profits of President Nixon's inauguration.

First lady Pat Nixon will deliver the check to hospital director Robert H. Parrott at a White House ceremony. The hospital, which has a policy of providing services regardless of a patient's ability to pay, has been battling a $1.7 million deficit.

Nixon's inauguration made a profit of slightly more than $1 million. The 1969 Inaugural Committee made the check available, the third major gift for social betterment in the capital coming from inauguration profits.

Santa Had Cash Gifts

CHARLOTTE (AP)—A Charlotte man was Santa Claus on midtown sidewalks Tuesday — giving away crisp one- and five-dollar bills.

He got a lot of takers, too, though there were many skeptics.

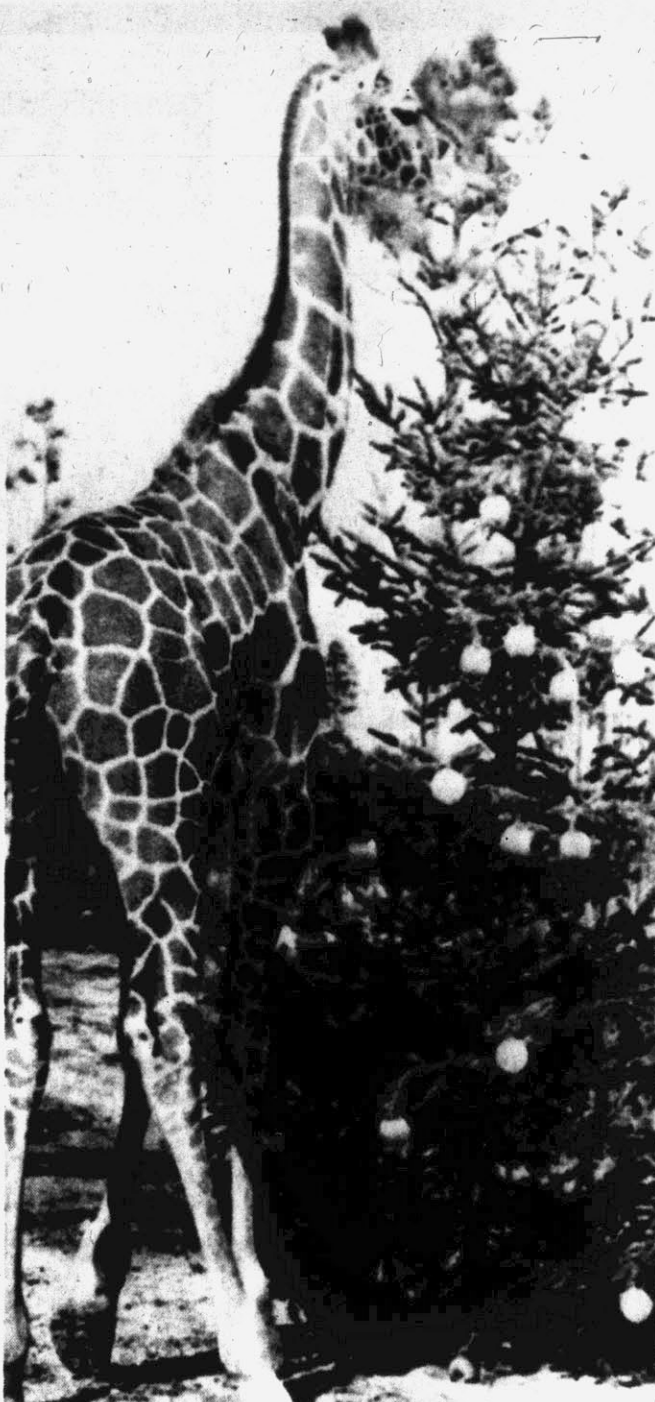

The Santa was Ray Mathis, a stockbroker who got the idea after he was greeted one morning as he went to work. Mathis said the greeting made him think about the hustle and bustle and how surprised people are by simple acts of kindness.

So he decided to give away gifts of money.

Mathis gave away ten one-dollar bills and three fives, although for the fives he asked four dollars in change.

One man told Mathis: "I think this is wonderful. What else are you going to give me?"

Women seemed to be more leery of his offer than men. But a bank teller said "sure," when he asked if she wanted some money. She inquired if Mathis were in the bank to make a payment on a loan, however, before accepting the cash. She said many people say that when making a payment.

Concert Will Be On Radio

The concert version of Mozart's "Requiem", presented last Sunday at Wright Auditorium by a group of more than 200 singers and musicians from the East Carolina University Orchestra and combined voices of the Concert Choir, Men's Glee Club, University Chorale and Women's Chorus, is scheduled for two airings on radio stations in North Carolina.

The concert, taped live, will be heard first tonight on Radio WITN-FM, Washington, at 7:00 p.m.

The second radio broadcast will take place Sunday at 2:05 p.m. over Radio Station WPTF-FM, Raleigh.

"We are very pleased this concert will receive these two broadcasts," stated Paul Aliapoulos, Aliapoulos, a member of the faculty of the School of Music at ECU; was overall conductor of the "Requiem" Sunday.

The two broadcasts will give music lovers who missed the concert an opportunity to hear one of the two outstanding musical productions provided for the public during the 1969 Christmas season.

'Man Will Never Fly' Society Makes Awards

NAGS HEAD, N. C. (AP) — States a smashing aviation fourth. The society's "top sub-award" went to Vice President Agnew, mostly for urging flights to Mars at a time when the United States had made its first successful moon landing.

The society, whose motto is, "Birds fly, men drink," gave President Nixon its 1969 national anti-aviation citation presentation award for his decision to spend $1.3 billion on two prototype supersonic transport planes.

The society said the President's decision was based on his desire "to enhance national prestige." It added, "Since Britain, France and Russia have already built SST prototypes, an all-American SST will, beyond any doubt, give the United vision commercials urging people to recognize the convenience, economy and safety of railroad travel."

Sending Poster Bill To Nixon

TORONTO (AP) — Beatle John Lennon says he is going to send the $72,000 bill for a forthcoming Christmas poster campaign to President Nixon.

Thousands of the posters—bearing the message "War is over, if you want it"—are due to go on display in 11 of the world's major cities during the next week.

"They cost less than the life of one man and I am sending the bill for printing to President Richard Nixon," Lennon said as he arrived at International Airport with his wife, Yoko Ono.

INTIMATE
by Revlon

This innocent-looking tear-drop bottle of 'Intimate' Spray is a very deceptive gift. Until one little whoosh unleashes the wildly feminine fragrance that won't let go. 'Intimate'. Don't give it to just anyone. 2 1/4 pailsey-wrapped ounces, 3.75.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets unchanged Tuesday. Supplies barely adequate, demand generally good. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A large whites: 70½-71; medium, whites: 67-68; small, whites: 56-58.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina hog markets were mostly steady today. Tops of 25.25 to 27.25 at Tarboro; 26.00 to 27.00 at Rocky Mount; 26.00 to 26.50 at Siler City, Denton; 26.50 at Greensboro; 26.25 at Salisbury.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—The North Carolina live broiler and fryer market was unsettled today. Live at farm base valuation 11 cents per pound.

Hens, offerings of heavy type adequate, light type limited. Demand fair to good. Prices per pound for hens over ten pounds at farm 19 to 20 cents; f-o-b plants 21½. Light type too few to report price.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stocks continued to drift lower in moderately active trading today, with some prices showing signs of firming.

The Dow Jones industrial average recovered at 11 a.m. to 774.88, up 1.05, and advances began to narrow the lead of declining issues.

Prices on the New York Stock Exchange included:

Phillips Petroleum 22½, up ¼; Occidental Petroleum 25½, up ¼; Chrysler 33, up ¾; Atlantic Richfield 77¾, off ¼; Memorex 152½, up ½; and University Computing 101, up ¾.

Forty Singers On Television

About 40 singers from the forthcoming production of Handel's "The Messiah" will present a small portion of the famed oratorio over WNCN-TV, Channel 9, Friday morning.

The singers, part of the larger group of 110 singers from Greenville and the University of East Carolina, will appear on "Carolina Today" at 7:30 a.m. Friday. They will sing two selections from the Christmas portion of "The Messiah"—"In The Groy Of The Lord," and "Glory To God."

"The Messiah" is being presented Sunday at ECU.

still have not been able to get back into the fields for any appreciable volume of grain harvesting. Most of the buying reported involved scattered amounts of ear corn and one or two loads of shell corn. "It's just about over for this season" is the general word from reporting markets. Prices have remained the same for over a week and quotes this morning reflect no changes. Following are per bushel prices received at 10:30 a.m.

Greenville: yellow corn, $1.25; wheat, $1.20; oats, $.65; soybeans, $2.35—all steady.

Ayden: yellow corn, shell, $1.32; ear corn, $1.20; soybeans, $2.30—all steady.

Winterville: yellow corn, shell, $1.27; ear corn, $1.17—steady.

Farmville: yellow corn, $1.32; soybeans, $2.28—steady.

Bethel: yellow corn, shell, $1.30; ear corn, $1.15; soybeans, $2.32—all steady.

Pay Hikes Are Slated Jan. 1

RALEIGH (AP) — Pay raises totaling about $2.5 million a year will go into effect Jan. 1 for many of North Carolina's state employees.

State Personnel Director Claude Caldwell said Tuesday that Gov. Bob Scott and the state's Personnel Board had approved classification changes and revisions in salary ranges for 12,322 positions in state government.

However, not all of the employees will get pay raises. Some have already been given adjustments bringing them up to the new revised levels, Caldwell said.

More than 2,500 attendants and charge attendants in state

Teacher Asks For Return Of Brief Case

A Farmville teacher today asked that whoever took a brief case from her unlocked car Tuesday notify her where it is so she can pick it up.

Mrs. A.C. Turnage, a teacher at Farmville High School said the brief case containing her school records, including report cards, register and grades for this marking period, was taken from her unlocked car while she shopped yesterday at two shopping centers in Greenville.

Mrs. Turnage said she teaches in a mobile unit and has no storage space for the records.

mental hospitals will get pay raises. Increased pay scales also were approved for more than 1,300 prison guards and prison matrons, 1,600 janitors and maids and 350 laundry workers.

The personnel board approved salary revisions of about 5 per cent for all basic law enforcement positions in state government.

In other action, the board: —Approved a new classification series and raises of about 10 per cent for auditors in the state auditor's office.

—Complete re-classifications for food service workers and professional staff employees of the Department of Public Instruction and Board of Education.

Italian Govm't Workers Strike

ROME (AP) — One and a half million government workers went on a 24-hour strike today that stopped trains, disrupted communications and shut most elementary schools.

Urban transport workers and hospital anesthetists also walked out.

Government offices closed or operated with skeleton staffs. A routine cable failure cut numerous lines to the rest of Europe because no repairmen were on duty.

The government workers are seeking drastic reorganization of the civil service.

Pilots Talk Skyjacking

LONDON (AP) — Airline pilots from around the world met behind closed doors in London today to discuss ways of overcoming the hijack menace. No statement on the discussion was expected before the meeting ends Thursday.

Leaders of the International Federation of Airline Pilots had threatened in the fall to call a worldwide pilots' strike if the U.N. General Assembly did not deal effectively with the hijack problem. The assembly urged all countries to prosecute aerial hijackers, but the strike threat has been soft pedaled meanwhile.

The pilots were believed discussing several ideas. One is the screening of passengers for weapons. Another is for an impenetrable bulkhead between the cockpit and the passenger cabin.

Senator Hollings Is Hospitalized

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Ernest F. Hollings D-S.C., was admitted to Walter Reed Army Hospital today after feeling ill through Tuesday night.

An aide to the 47-year-old senator said Hollings first felt ill during the late night session of the Senate Thursday.

There was no immediate word as to the nature of the senator's illness.

Obituary

Williams

Mr. H. B. Williams, 62, died Tuesday night at 11:40 in Pitt Memorial Hospital following a week of illness. Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 Thursday afternoon at the Wilkerson Funeral Chapel by his pastor, the Rev. Dana Hunt. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery. He resided at 1909 E. 4th Street.

Mr. Williams, son of the late Hosea B. and Hattie Lewis Williams, was born in Durham and reared in Farmville where he attended the Farmville High School. He served in the United States Marine Corps for six years prior to coming to Greenville to live in 1934. An active member of the First Christian Church, he had served as a deacon in the church and was a Past President of the Men's Sunday School Class. A member of the Greenville Lions Club, he had received a 25 year perfect attendance pin. He was a supervisor of Roofing Sales for the Goodson Roofing Service, a division of Tar Heel Home Supply Inc., Pictolus Hwy. Surviving are his wife, the former Allie Lee Fleming of Greenville, to whom he was married in 1934; a son, Harry Vance Williams of Charlotte; and three sisters, Mrs. Mamie W. Harris and Mrs. Dal Cox, both of Greenville, and Mrs. H. G. Davis of Rocky Mount.

Members of the Greenville Lions Club will be honorary pall bearers.

Streissand Is Mobbed By Screaming Fans

NEW YORK (AP) — A screaming, shoving crowd of almost 1,000 movie fans mobbed Barbra Streisand Tuesday night when she arrived at a Broadway theater for the premiere of her film "Hello, Dolly!"

The crowd broke through police barriers outside the Rivoli Theater, between 49th and 50th streets, and surrounded her royal blue limousine, rocking it and preventing her from leaving.

Police waded into the throng, shoving hundreds of persons away from the red-carpeted entrance but it still took nearly 15 minutes for the star to make her way into the theater.

MOTOROLA M

New Design Gives You Much More Picture Area...Stable Performance

Motorola electronic engineering brings you a squared design with a full 16-inch picture from this handsome portable. Another bonus from Motorola: the picture and sound come on instantly. Up-front, acoustically-tuned speaker gives you fine sound. Powerful chassis, including many solid-state components, provides crisp, clear picture without fiddling with controls. Built-in UHF and VHF antennas. Automatic Gain Control reduces picture fade and flutter, helps keep your set performing with reliability. A top value in portable television!

The Wrap-Around Sound of Famous Motorola Stereo

$74⁹⁵

From Motorola, a handsome portable phono with the wrap-around stereo sound. Two 6" speakers can be spread out up to 20 feet for increased stereo sound. Drop-down 4-speed changer for convenient portability. Cartridge features retractable diamond-sapphire styli for excellent, smooth-sounding performance...and it protects your valuable records, too. 45 RPM adaptor included. Separate speaker volume controls for perfect balance.

Speaker enclosures can be spread out up to 20 feet for increased stereo sound

Luxurious Mediterranean Stereo Console....

MOTOROLA M

$279⁹⁵

Elegantly-Styled Cabinetry... Famous Motorola Dependability

Mediterranean cabinet in genuine elm veneers and select hardwood solids with Andorra Pecan finish houses luxurious stereo. Dependable solid-state circuitry for sensitive, trouble-free performance. Four-speed automatic changer. AM/FM-Stereo tuner. Golden Voice speakers for acoustically balanced sound. Designed for years of full satisfaction.

New!Cassette Player/Recorder... A Real Value Leader!

$64⁹⁵

MOTOROLA Includes Many Accessories

There's an exciting experience in modern, personal communications with the Motorola Cassette Player/Recorder...designed for music and as a personal go-anywhere secretary. Complete with carrying case, adjustable shoulder strap, mike, patch cord, cassette. Plays on house current or batteries. A joy!

See All the New Fall Shows on... Quasar Color TV

by MOTOROLA M

Now in a compact version, here is famous Quasar Color TV with "the works in a drawer" that slides out. Why the lower price? Because Motorola made this Quasar TV compact...so the price is compact, too. But the tubeless plug-in solid-state mini-circuits haven't changed. You get the same solid-state dependability and fast, at-home service that the console model has. Years-ahead dependability, because mini-circuits are designed not to lose power, not to burn out the way tubes do. Same ease of service. Rose Holds Off Wilson Rally For Win

Ayden Edges Past Grifton

Grifton—Ayden's boys picked up a conference win last night, going by Grifton, 54-50. In the girls game, the Grifton girls won 37-25, putting them in a tie with Bethel for the conference lead, as both teams are 2-0 in the loop.

Grifton's girls came back in the second quarter of their game to take the lead for good, after Ayden had led 9-6 at the end of the first frame. The Grifton squad had 11 in the second quarter to three for Ayden to take the lead for good. Grifton picked up 10 points in the remaining two quarters, while Ayden had five and eight.

Marion McLawhorn led Grifton with 18 while Virginia Vannamen had 10. Kathy Manning had 11 for Ayden to lead the Tornadoes.

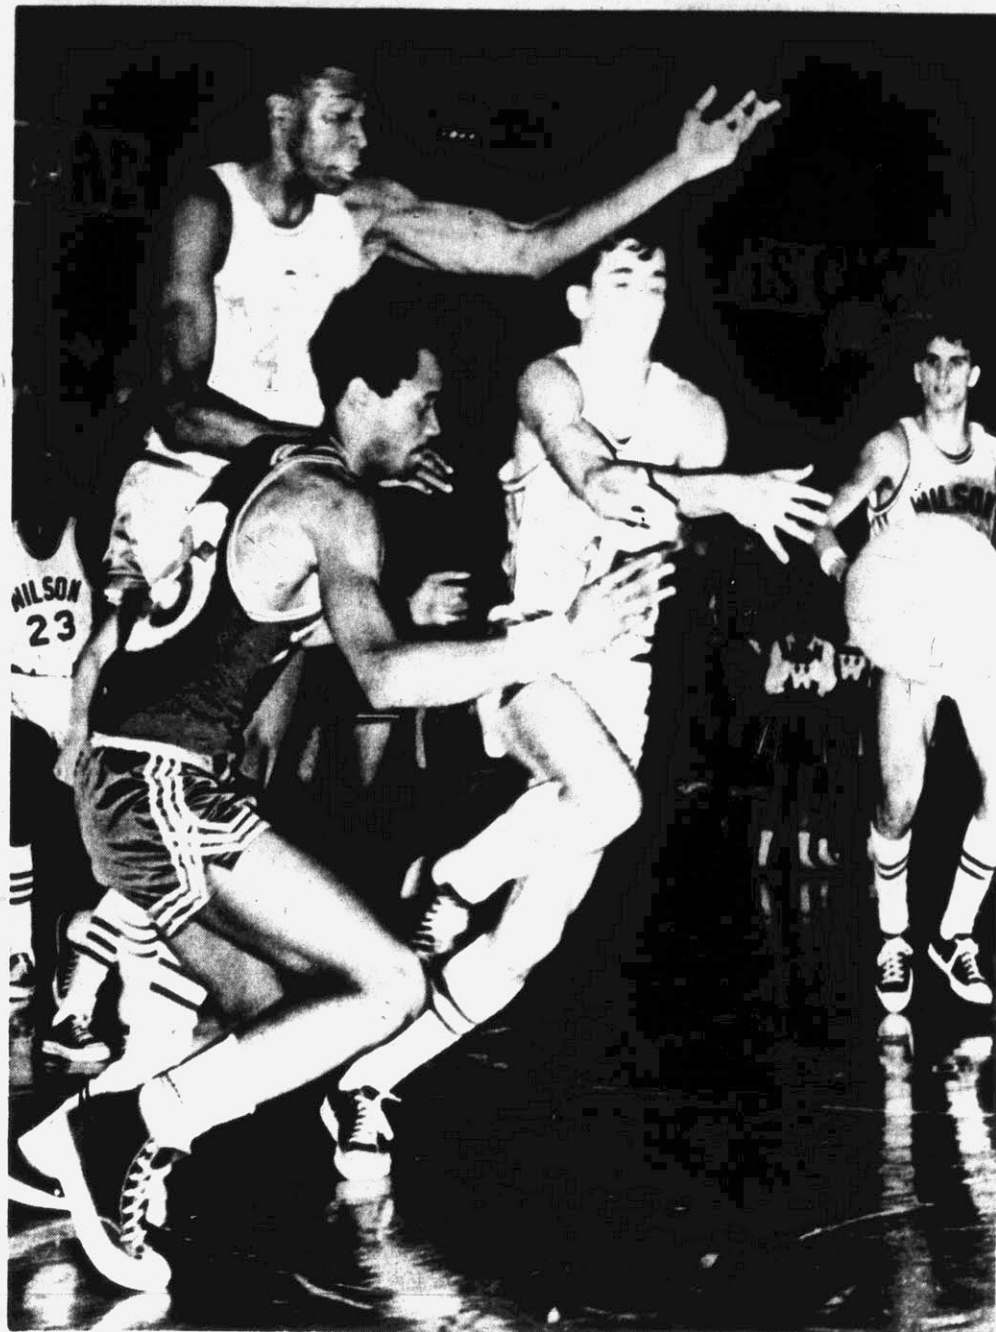

In the boys game, Ayden led all the way, with a 16-13 first frame score, and a 29-27 half time margin.

Grifton cut it by one in the third quarter with 13-12 for the Tornadoes, but Ayden picked up 13 to 10 for the Bulldogs in the final quarter to insure their win.

Andy McLawhorn had 15 for Ayden and Ken Cleaton 10, along with Pat Finigan with 13.

David Foss and David Whaley led Grifton with 11 apiece.

Bethel Takes Pair From Stokes Teams

BETHEL—The Bethel Indians swept a pair of games from Stokes-Pactolus last night to gain a firmer grip on first place in the Pitt County standings. The Indians won, 61-54, while the Squaws held sway, 57-22.

In the girls game, Bethel just about had it wrapped up at the end of the first period as they pushed in 18 points, while holding Stokes to two. In the second period, each team managed one additional point more than in the first, with Bethel scoring 19 and Stokes, three. That gave Bethel a commanding 37-5 lead at half-time.

In the third period, Bethel continued to pull away, outshooting Stokes, 14-4. That made it 51-9 as the final period began. Stokes managed to outscore Bethel, 13-6, in the final period, but to no avail.

Susan James pushed in 29 points to lead Bethel, while Debbie Purvis added 11.

Joyce Bailey led Stokes with 10 points.

In the boys contest, Bethel moved out into a 15-10 lead in the first period, but couldn't pull much further away in the second. Bethel did add two points to the margin, outscoring Stokes, 12-10, for a 27-20 halftime lead.

In the third period, Stokes came back hard, and dumped in 22 points, while Bethel could manage only 13. That put Stokes out in front, 42-40, with eight minutes to go.

But the Blue Jays couldn't hold onto the lead, and Bethel shot back, outscoring Stokes, 21-12, in the final period, to take the win and remain unbeaten in conference play.

Eddie Stokes led Bethel with 22, while Charles McCray and Gary James each had 14.

For Stokes, John James had 23, Donald White had 12 and Ronald Briley had 10.

WILSON—Rose High School's Rampants captured their first victory against a Division II Eastern 4-A team last night as they held off a Wilson rally for a 71-64 victory.

The win saves the Rampants a 4-1 overall mark, and a 1-0 conference record, one which will hold at least until after the Christmas break. Rose plays Jacksonville at Greenville Friday, but it is not a conference game.

The Rampants had to forestall a Fike rally to take the victory in the game. Rose had built up as much as a 20-point lead in the early minutes of the final period, but Wilson put on a press, and the Rampants almost beat themselves.

The press caused some turnovers, but it was the overagerness of the Rampants to try and get scores to rebuild their margin. However, it was too far for Wilson to come back, and a couple of timely fast breaks by Willie Smith and Mike Harrington put things on ice.

Wilson led only once, at 2-1 after Sam Latham hit on a jumper with nearly a minute gone. Ray Pesko had given the Rampants a 1-0 lead on a foul shot half-a-minute into the game. Wilson got a 4-1 advantage as Latham hit again, but didn't score again until three minutes had passed. And in the meanwhile, Rose had picked up and moved ahead. Peszko hit on a jumper and Harrington got a free throw to tie it up at 4-4 with 5:50 to go. Peszko hit from underneath to give Rose its first lead, but Wilson tied it on a jumper by George Wilkerson.

A three-point play by Harrington put Rose out 9-6, with 2-45 to go, and the Rampants never were caught again. In the remaining minutes of the period, Rose pumped in six more points, while Fike couldn't hit the mark at all.

Smith hit on a couple of free throws and Charlie Harris hit on a jumper. Peszko then wrapped up the scoring for the period with a jumper and Rose held a 15-6 lead at the end of the period.

Billy Clark connected on a jumper to open the second period, and Harris made good on two free throws to move out to a 19-6 advantage before the Cyclones got going again. Brooks Jenkins and Clark Davis each hit to cut the lead back to nine. Rose built it back to 11, but after swapping a basket, Wilson pulled it back to nine as Davis hit on a rebound. Another rebound by Davis cut the margin to six at 25-19 with 3:55 to go in the period.

But Rose began to pull away again after that Clark hit on a jumper and Harris made good on a pair of free throws, and the Rampants held a 33-23 halftime advantage.

In the third period, the Rampants continued to slowly pull away. Wilson cut the lead back to eight in the early minutes, as Jenkins hit on a jumper at the baseline, but Harris hit a basket and free throw by Smith, Harris and Harrington pushed the margin out to 13 at 40-27 with 4:14 to go in the period.

Wilson again rallied, and cut the lead back to 11, but Rose pulled out again. Harrington hit from under the basket, and Harris and Clark both made a pair of free throws. Peszko then hit on a fast break to make it 52-33 at the end of the third quarter.

After swapping a couple of baskets in the early stages of the final period, Rose got a free throw from Smith and pushed out to a 20-point bulge, at 57-37 with 6:45 left, and then almost watched the lead evaporate.

Davis collected two quick buckets, and John Harris hit on a pair to cut the lead back to 12 at 57-45 with 4:59 to go. Harrington hit to return it to 14, and a pair of free throws by Harris ran it back to 16.

The Cyclones refused to wilt, however, and battled back again. Jenkins hit on a rebound, and Carlester Crumpler tapped in another to cut the lead to 12. Billy Farris then hit on two free throws with 3:09 to go and the lead fell to 10 at 62-52. Rose got a free throw from Peszko, but a basket by Crumpler and a free throw by Harris cut it to eight.

Rose matched Wilson from there with two baskets from underneath by Harrington, and two fast-break scores by Smith. Wilson got a three-point play from Crumpler with nine seconds left to cut the lead from 10 to seven, the final margin.

Davis led the Wilson effort with 23 points, while Crumpler had 12 and Jenkins had 11.

For Rose, all five starters broke into double figures. Harrington led the way with 20, while Harris had 17, Peszko had 12 and Smith and Clark each had 10.

Rampant Cubs Win Thriller

WILSON—Rose High School's unbeaten junior varsity held its win streak intact, but just barely, last night against the Baby Cyclones of Fike High School. Rose got the win, 52-51, on a jumper by Robert Kear with three seconds left.

The game had been a see-saw action all the way. The lead changed hands 20 times, and was tied on seven occasions. Rose led throughout the opening minutes, but Wilson came on to take a 15-14 lead just before halftime. A pair of free throws by Kear, however, gave Rose a 16-15 edge at the buzzer.

In the second period, Wilson took the lead at 17-16, and pushed out into a five point advantage, 21-16, but Rose rushed back with Kear leading the way, and regained the lead at 24-23, and held a 26-24 halftime advantage.

The third period was a back and forth game, with the teams swapping baskets and the lead. It didn't dissolve until the end of the frame when a bucket by Dennis Wilkerson put Wilson into a 41-39 lead.

It was just as tight going down to the wire, and with 1:01 left, it looked like the Rampant Cubs would go down to defeat, as they trailed 51-48.

But Robert Carraway hit on a rebound with 46 seconds left, and then Kear made his shot with three seconds left to give the Cubs their fifth straight win.

Kear led the scoring with 23, while Carraway had 14. For Wilson, Wilkerson and Dan Quinn each had 15.

Rose: Kear 23, Carraway 14, Staton 7, Tyson 1, Williams, Lamb 1, Woolen 6, Snuggs, Kendrick. Wilson: Wilkerson 15, Quinn 15, Johnson 8, Sims 4, Cooper 7, Perry, Norfolk, Sharp 2.

Pantego Downs Oak City Five

PANTEGO—Pantego High School swept a pair of games from Oak City last night; but the boys had to battle through an overtime to do it, 76-68. The girls won, 33-22.

In the girls game, Pantego pushed out into a 7-3 lead in the first period, then outthrew Oak City, 11-9 in the second quarter. That put Pantego ahead, 18-12 at halftime.

In the third period, Oak City cut into the lead by outscoring Pantego, 8-5, but they still trailed, 23-20. In the final period, Pantego pushed in 10 points while holding Oak City to two.

EWESTERBROOK led Pantego with 13, while Baynor had 10.

In the boys game, Pantego pushed away to a 14-9 lead in the first period, but had to fight off Oak City to hold onto a lead at the half. Oak City outthrew the Warriors, 16-13, and trailed, 27-25 at intermission.

In the third period, both teams dumped in 21 points as the pace picked up, that left Pantego still ahead, 48-46 as the final period began. And it went right down to the wire that way, until Jess Crisp hit a one-and-one opportunity with four seconds left to tie it at 68-68.

In the overtime, however, Oak City found itself without a starter, as all five had fouled out during regulation, committing 35 fouls in the game. Pantego took advantage and outthrew Oak City, 8-0, to win the game.

Crisp led the scoring for Oak City with 35 points, while J.C. Whitfield had 13. Johnston led Pantego with 24, while O'Neal had 21 and Lee had 17.

Oak City: Copeland 9, Everett, Coffield 4, Ross 2, Whitley 1, Edmondson 6, Reason, L. Copeland.

Pantego: Westerbroke 13, Cutler 7, Sterrenberg 3, Baynor 10, Pearfree, Ange.

ROBERSONVILLE — East End handed Whitfield a 92-42 thrashing last night; while the Whitfield junior varsity went by the home team, 42-36. East End started the varsity game off like it was going to run away with it as they did, pushing in 23 points, to eight for East End.

The scoring did not continue at the same pace however, as they picked up 12 in the second to six for Whitfield, then caught fire in the remaining two periods to get 28 in the third frame to 11 for Whitfield, and 29 in the fourth to 17 for Whitfield.

Harold James and Cleveland Moore led Whitfield with 11 apiece, while Bobby Jones had 10.

Greene Central Takes 5th Win

SNOW HILL — Greene Central's Rams extended their winning streak to five in a row with a 77-63 victory over 3-A Tarboro last night.

The Rams were never in any trouble in the game, and were well away to the front by the time Tarboro got going. In the first period, Greene Central shot away to a 20-7 lead, and then outthrew Tarboro, 18-10, in the second period. That left the Rams in a 28-17 lead at intermission.

In the third period, the Rams continued hot, burning the nets for 26 points, while Tarboro collected 16. That made it 64-33 as the final frame got underway. Tarboro outthrew the Rams, 30-13, in that one, but it was too late for a Tiger rally to count.

Robbie Hill led Greene Central with 19 points, while Kermit

Crawford and Ron Bowen each had 16. For Tarboro, Mason Lilly had 12 and Steve King had 13.

Tarboro won the junior varsity preliminary, 51-44.

Chicod Halts Belvoir Win Streak

By CARL TYER

CHICOD — All good things must come to an end, including basketball winning streaks. Belvoir-Falkland's boys team had their unbeaten record marred last night the by Chicod Hornets, 54-52 in a game that was not decided until the final buzzer sounded, with a shot by Phil Page that just made it before the fourth frame ended. William Shiver of the Eagles had tied it up at 52-52 with :07 seconds on the clock, but the Hornets, seeking to dethrone the Eagles from their unbeated chair, did the deed, in a hard fought ball game. Earlier, the Belvoir girls had taken their game in a contest that was just as close as the boys, 35-34. The boys game was a battle of the big men, William Shiver of the Eagles, and Garland Warren for Chicod, Warren had the weight advantage on Shiver, but Shiver had the outside accuracy on Warren. Under the boards it was every man for himself. Shiver was the high scorer for the Eagles picking up 34 points, the only Belvoir man in double figures. He hit on 15 of 30 shots from the floor, and four for five from the foul line. Chicod had its scoring scattered between Warren, and Bobby Edwards. Warren had 17, hitting eight of 11 from the floor, and one for one from the foul line, while Edwards had six for 15 from the floor, and was two for five from the line, for a total of 14.

Shiver cooled off in the second half, especially in the third quarter, as did the entire Belvoir team. He picked up all of the Eagles points in the third quarter with four, while Chicod had nine to take the lead from the Eagles at 39-38 going into the final frame.

Belvoir led two times in the fourth quarter, taking it early at 40-39 with a free throw by Shiver, and one by Donnie Everette.

Chicod came back to lead again at 44-42 later in the frame, but the Eagles kept pressing and lead at 50-47 with 2:46 remaining. From there Chicod made use of six trips to the foul line, collecting on three of them, along with a field goal by Page to lead by two with :30 seconds remaining at 52-50.

However, Belvoir came right back to tie it up, when Shiver connected on a jumper from the top of the circle with :07 seconds remaining.

Chicod brought the ball in, and Page took the outside shot from the top of the key with the few slim seconds remaining.

It was good and the Hornets bench went wild, making their record 7-2 for the season. The Hornets had led at the end of the first quarter 17-14, but a hot second quarter by Belvoir with 20 points to 13 for Chicod had given the Eagles the lead at the half 34-30.

Shiver had 12 points in the second period to spark the Eagles comeback.

In the girls contest, Belvoir had a slim 8-7 lead at the end of the first frame, and added one to that in the second with nine points to eight for Chicod to make it 17-15 at the half.

The Belvoir team pushed their lead out to six in the third quarter, with 14 while Chicod had 10, but the Lady Hornets hit for nine in the final quarter to four for Belvoir to narrow their visitors lead.

Chicod tied it up at 33-33 with 2:52 remaining in the final frame, but Maggie Edwards hit for Belvoir to make it 35-33 with 2:31 remaining.

Kathy Haddock sent a free throw through for Chicod to narrow it to one, but she missed her first shot at the line that would have tied the score, giving Belvoir the win.

Jamesville Captures Pair Of Wins From Winterville Wolves

JAMESVILLE — Jamesville High School swept a pair of games from Winterville last night. The boys won, 74-61, while the girls took a 36-24 decision.

In the girls game, Jamesville shot away to a 15-4 lead in the first period. The scoring fell on in the second frame, but Jamesville still outdid the Wolf Gals, 4-3, and held a 19-7 half-time lead.

In the third period, both teams improved their shooting, but Jamesville still did the better job, leading 7-6. That gave the Devilettes a 26-13 lead going into the final period. Winterville finally outscored Jamesville in the final period, 11-10, but it was to no avail.

Myra Modlin led the Jamesville scoring with 13 points, while Freda Perry had 12.

Both teams slugged it out in the first period without deciding anything. The period ended with a 15-15 tie. But in the second frame, Jamesville's defenses began to click, and they outbit Winterville, 20-12, and pushed outinto a 35-27 lead at the intermission.

In the third period, Jamesville continued to pull away from the Wolves, dumping in 25 points, while Winterville could manage only 13. That gave Jamesville a 60-40 lead going into the final quarter. Winterville put a small rally in that frame, outscoring Jamesville 21-14, but they were too far back to catch up.

Bryant Hines led Winterville with 17 points, while Steve Worthington had 12.

For Jamesville, E.L. Martin dumped in 26, while Phil Blount had 12.

Aurora Downs Bear Grass

AURORA—Bear Grass dropped two basketball games to Aurora last night, with the girls going down 32-22, and the boys falling, 55-45.

Aurora led by seven at the end of the first quarter in the boys game at 15-8, but Bear Grass cut out of that in the second outscoring the home team by two at 11-9 to make it 24-19 going into the half.

Bear Grass again outscored Aurora in the third, by one at 10-11, but the home team came on strong in the fourth to insure a win, picking up 18 to 16 for Bear Grass.

Paul Mobley had 14 for Bear Grass and Charles Mobley 12, while Billy Mizzelle led them with 15.

Doris Tyre led Aurora with 18, followed by Ira Hamilton with 15, and Roger Moody with 10.

In the girls game, Aurora led by two at the end of the first st frame and the half, as they picked up nine in the first to seven for Bear Grass, then each team had five in the second.

Aurora pushed their lead out to five in the third with 8-5 third frame total, and matched their lead in the fourth with 10 to five for Bear Grass.

Debra Roe led Aurora with 11, while Jean Rice had 10, Bear Grass did not have anyone in double figures.

Farmville In 71-56 Victory

FARMVILLE — Farmville's Red Devils took a win from Southern Nash last night, 71-56 in an Eastern Plains game.

The Red Devil JV also won theirs, 58-47.

In the varsity game, Farmville led 16-10 at the end of the first quarter, but Southern Nash cut that by two, as they out scored the Devils 20-18 in the second quarter.

Farmville rushed back in the third quarter to add three more to their lead, as they pumped in 18 to 15 for Southern, then pushed in 19 in the final frame while Nash was falling off to 11 to make it 71-56.

Charles Purvis led Farmville with 17, while Connie Tripp had 15, and Robert Tripp 14.

Marcellus Thompson had 18 for Southern Nash, while Milton Mack picked up 19. The win makes Farmville 1-0 in the loop.

Williamston Beats Rams

ROBERSONVILLE — Williamston's Greene Wave swamped Robersonville, 61-45 last night in a non-conference basketball game, while the Rams girls eased past their visitors, 43-30.

The Rams held a slim 10-9 lead going into the second frame of the boys contest, but Williamston took control from then on as they picked up 19 points to 14 for the Rams in the second quarter to lead for the remainder of the game.

The Green Wave picked up 23 in the third to 13 for the Rams and 10 in the fourth to eight for Robersonville to end the contest holding onto a 16 point lead at 61-45.

In the girls game, it was all tied at 4-4 going into the second frame, but the Ramettes out scored their visitors 13-11 in the second quarter to take the lead. Robersonville got hot in the third frame pushing in 16, while Williamston had nin, and fell still further off with six in the final quarter to 10 for Robersonville.

Debbie Edmondson had 11 for the Ramettes while Kay Coburn had 16, and Nan Roberson 10. Williamston did not have anyone in double figures.

In the boys game, Raymond Andrew had 11 for Williamston, Steve Whitley 15 and Dwight Ange 15, and Tommy Mizelle 10.

Timmy James led the Rams with 12, while William Coppage had 11.

Bethel Union Downs Hayes

WILLIAMSTON — Bethel Union rolled to an 87-77 victory over E.J. Hayes High School of Williamston last night.

Bethel Union inched out into an 18-17 lead in the first period of play, then outbit Hayes, 22-17 in the second frame. That left Bethel in control, 40-34 at the half.

In the third period, Bethel managed to tack one more point onto its lead as it outbit Williamston, 20-19, giving the Bulldogs a 60-53 lead going into the final period. Bethel outscored Hayes again, going to the wire, 27-24, to wrap up the win.

Wayne Brown paced the Bulldogs with 30 points, while Bill Moore had 20, Robert Williams and Frank Brown each had 12 and Mack Ebron had 10.

For Hayes, Abram Manning pumped in 39 points to take high-scoring honors, while David Mizzelle had 22.

The Bethel Union junior varsity won, 46-36, to wrap things up for the visitor's clean sweep.

Conetoe Edges South Ayden Past H. B. Sugg Downs Newbold

CONETOE — Conetoe High School used a strong fourth period to down H.B. Sugg of Farmville, 107-91 here last night.

Conetoe held command of the ball game in the first half of play, but they had to battle off the surging Lions in the final two periods.

The hosts pushed out into a 28-21 lead in the first period, and then proceeded to outscore Sugg, 29-24 in the second frame. That put Conetoe into a 57-45 lead at half-time.

In the third period, however, Sugg put on a rally, and outscored Conetoe, 24-19. That cut the lead back to 76-69, and it looked like the Lions might pull it out.

But Conetoe put together a 31-point final period, while holding Sugg to 22, and that sewed it up for them.

Ronald Edmonds led Sugg with 22 points, while Lindsay Eason had 18, Roger Forbes had 12 and Donald Gay had 10.

For Conetoe, Long pumped in 37 points, while Lawrence had 30, Purvis had 21 and Stanley had 11.

KINSTON — South Ayden High School survived stall tactics attempted by Newbold last night and came away with a 63-52 victory over their hosts.

South Ayden grabbed the lead in the first period of play and never lost it. At the end of the first period, the Eagles led, 19-14. In the second period, the tempo slowed down, and Newbold managed to out hit South Ayden, 13-12, and cut the lead to 31-27 by the end of the half.

In the third period, the pace of the game slowed even more, but neither team was able to gain, as both scored nine points, making it 40-36 as the final period got underway. South Ayden finally broke the Newbold pattern and outscored them 23-16, in the final period to wrap up the win.

Leon Mayo led South Ayden with 26 points, while Charlie Grimes had 13 and Edward Forbes had 11. For Newbold, Jenkins had 20 and Kilpatrick had 16.

Will 10 Years Of Activism By Supreme Court End?

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — On April 5, 1962, while sitting at a desk in his chambers, Felix Frankfurter fainted.

He had suffered a brief interruption of blood flow to the brain—a mild stroke.

A few days later, Justice Frankfurter had a second stroke. He would eventually return to the Supreme Court, but only as a long-term visitor, pushed in a wheel-chair by a chauffeur.

Felix Frankfurter's 23-year career as an associate justice had ended. A vital restraint on the Warren Court was gone.

Personally a man of large emotions, Frankfurter had preached judicial restraint.

The court's intellectual lightning rod, he had tried to capture the mind and heart of Earl Warren when the new chief justice came to the court in 1954. But gradually Warren eased toward Justices Hugo L. Black and William O. Douglas, both active libertarians.

And when William J. Brennan

Jr., who had studied under Frankfurter at Harvard, joined the court in 1957, the old professor was disappointed to see him rally immediately to the Black-Douglas banner.

But Black, Douglas, Warren and Brennan were only four votes out of nine. The Frankfurter team numbered five: the owl leader, John Marshall Harlan, Charles Evans Whitaker, Tom C. Clark and Potter Stewart.

In the first three years of the decade, they had upheld the deportation of ex-Communists and cancellation of their citizenship, the jailing of witnesses who would not cooperate with Red-hunting legislators, forced registration of the Communist Party, and censorship of motion pictures.

Each time the vote was 5 to 4. Each time Frankfurter, Whitaker, Clark, Harlan and Stewart were in the majority, with Warren, Black, Douglas and Brennan dissenting.

Civil rights stood apart from this narrow division. Ethusiastically, and often unanimously, the court had upheld the rights of Negroes to vote, to eat in interstate bus terminals to sit-in at lunch counters to protest segregation.

But otherwise, Frankfurter and his "leave-it-to-the-legislature" philosophy usually had its one-vote.

Ten days before he fell ill the tide began to turn in a spectacular way.

Reversing an old Frankfurter hands-off decision, the court ruled that federal judges could decide whether state legislatures were set up in a fashion that discriminated against urban residents.

Arthur J. Goldberg, President Kennedy's secretary of labor, took Frankfurter's place. For the first time the liberal expansionists had a majority.

In 1963, the government was forbidden to strip draft evaders of their citizenship. Deportation of ex-Communists was halted. Left-wingers who would not testify before legislative committees were freed of contempt charges. The NAACP was assured it could keep secret its membership list.

Again, each time, the vote was 5 to 4. But the majority was Black, Douglas, Warren, Brennan and Goldberg.

The conservative wing was reduced to Clark, Harlan, Stewart—and Byron R. White, who had succeeded the physically exhausted Whitaker.

This narrow 5-4 liberal edge produced in 1964 the right of a suspect who is the "focus" of a police interrogation to have a lawyer at his side.

And in 1966, with Abe Fortas in Goldberg's place, another narrow 5-4 vote forbade police to take a man's confession without warning him he had a right to remain silent or to have a lawyer with him.

Critics of the court were especially irked that police procedures could be overhauled so completely by so close a vote.

So confidently did the court press ahead that in 1965 it divined a new right in the Constitution—the right of privacy. This right, Douglas said as the court struck down a Connecticut ban on contraceptives, is "older than the Bill of Rights—older than our political parties, older than our school system."

Stewart, sounding very much like Frankfurter, said he could find no such right in the Bill of Rights and that the court should have left it to the people of Connecticut to repeal an "evidently unwise law."

In 1967 there was an equally unprecedented leap forward: Henceforth, the court said, juvenile defendants are entitled to a lawyer, to remain silent and to cross-examine witnesses—the same rights the court had given adult defendants.

By the fall of 1967, talk of liberal and conservative wings of the court had become almost meaningless, there were hardly enough conservatives on the bench to constitute a wing.

Clark had retired when his son, Ramsey, became attorney general, and President Lyndon B. Johnson had elevated Thurgood Marshall, the U.S. solicitor general.

Marshall, an NAACP lawyer for 25 years and the court's first Negro, did not turn out to be a trail-blazer. But he fit in comfortably with the general sweep forward.

So did the so-called conservatives, sometimes. Stewart and White, for instance, spearheaded the drive against housing discrimination.

By the time Warren stepped down as chief justice in June 1969, the court, for the first time in history, had established a co-equal role of national leadership with the two other branches of government.

Will the court retreat in the seventies? Will the justices return to the passivism of Frankfurter?

President Nixon has made it unquestionably clear that he intends to rein in the Supreme Court if he can.

Fortas' resignation in the ethics flap last May and Warren's retirement opened two places. The advanced age of several of the justices—Black and Douglas, particularly—may double or even triple his chances.

So far, the President has been able to name a low-key conservative, Warren E. Burger, to succeed Warren. Presumably the Senate veto last month of Clement F. Haynsworth will not deter Nixon from naming another conservative for the Fortas seat.

SAFETY TREE — Highway Patrolman S. F. Padgett, Chief Gladson, Sheriff Tyson and Mrs.

Warren look over sign in front of Safety Tree at Pitt Court House. (Reflector Photo by Stuart Savage)

Christmas Safety Tree Will Count Pitt's Traffic Deaths

The Pilot Club and local law enforcement agencies hope the Christmas "Safety Tree" on the Court House lawn will stay green throughout the holiday season. The tall cedar tree has been decorated with green lights—for safety—and will be lighted each night.

The purpose of the tree is "to encourage and remind us to drive and walk safely and defensively during the holiday season," Mrs. Nancy Warren, safety chairman for the club said.

"We have placed all green bulbs on the tree. In the event of a fatality, a green bulb will be replaced with a red one," she explained.

"It is our sincere and prayerful wish that on January 2, all our lights are still green."

So far this year, 17 persons have died from injuries received in auto mishaps in the county—12 on county roads and highways and five in the City of Greenville.

The Highway Patrol in Pitt, Greenville Police Chief T.E. Gladson and Pitt County Sheriff Ralph Tyson have pledged the support of their agencies in an effort to prevent accidents and deaths over the holiday period.

Law enforcement officers will be especially watchful for the traffic offender, with special emphasis being placed on the drunken driver and persons committing other hazardous moving violations, in an effort to get the hazardous driver off the highway.

"This is a county-wide project," Mrs. Warren emphasized. "Don't let us place a red bulb on this tree for you."

"Come out and see us dedicate it," Matthew finally invited Judy, Mrs. Crane and me.

We were really surprised at their ingenuity and carpentry, for they had constructed a wooden shack, roofed it and laid a brick sidewalk down the hill clear down to the front door.

Imitating the christening of ships, Debby even filled a plastic bag with water, which she broke against the corner of their club house.

That night they also wrote a set of rules to be used for initiating any of their cousins.

And they elected officers, starting with President _____, Vice-President _____, plus Clerk and Worker _____.

You readers can probably guess at once who occupied those various positions!

Matthew was President; Peter, Vice-President, and Debby was declared the Clerk and Worker!

But she didn't mind that lower echelon rating, for she was delighted to be admitted into their project on the basis of a charter member.

Since Debby is the smallest, you can surmise why the usual female is likely to be a better psychologist than the male.

For girls are generally weaker in muscular strength than their brothers so they must resort to strategy to win their goals.

Males thus try to "bull" their way to success and pontificate on the basis of superior height or strength.

Girls soon realize that they must employ psychology to gain their ends.

But both little boys and little girls look upon us adults as actual giants and giantesses, for we men and women may be twice the height and 5 times the weight of the toddlers in our homes.

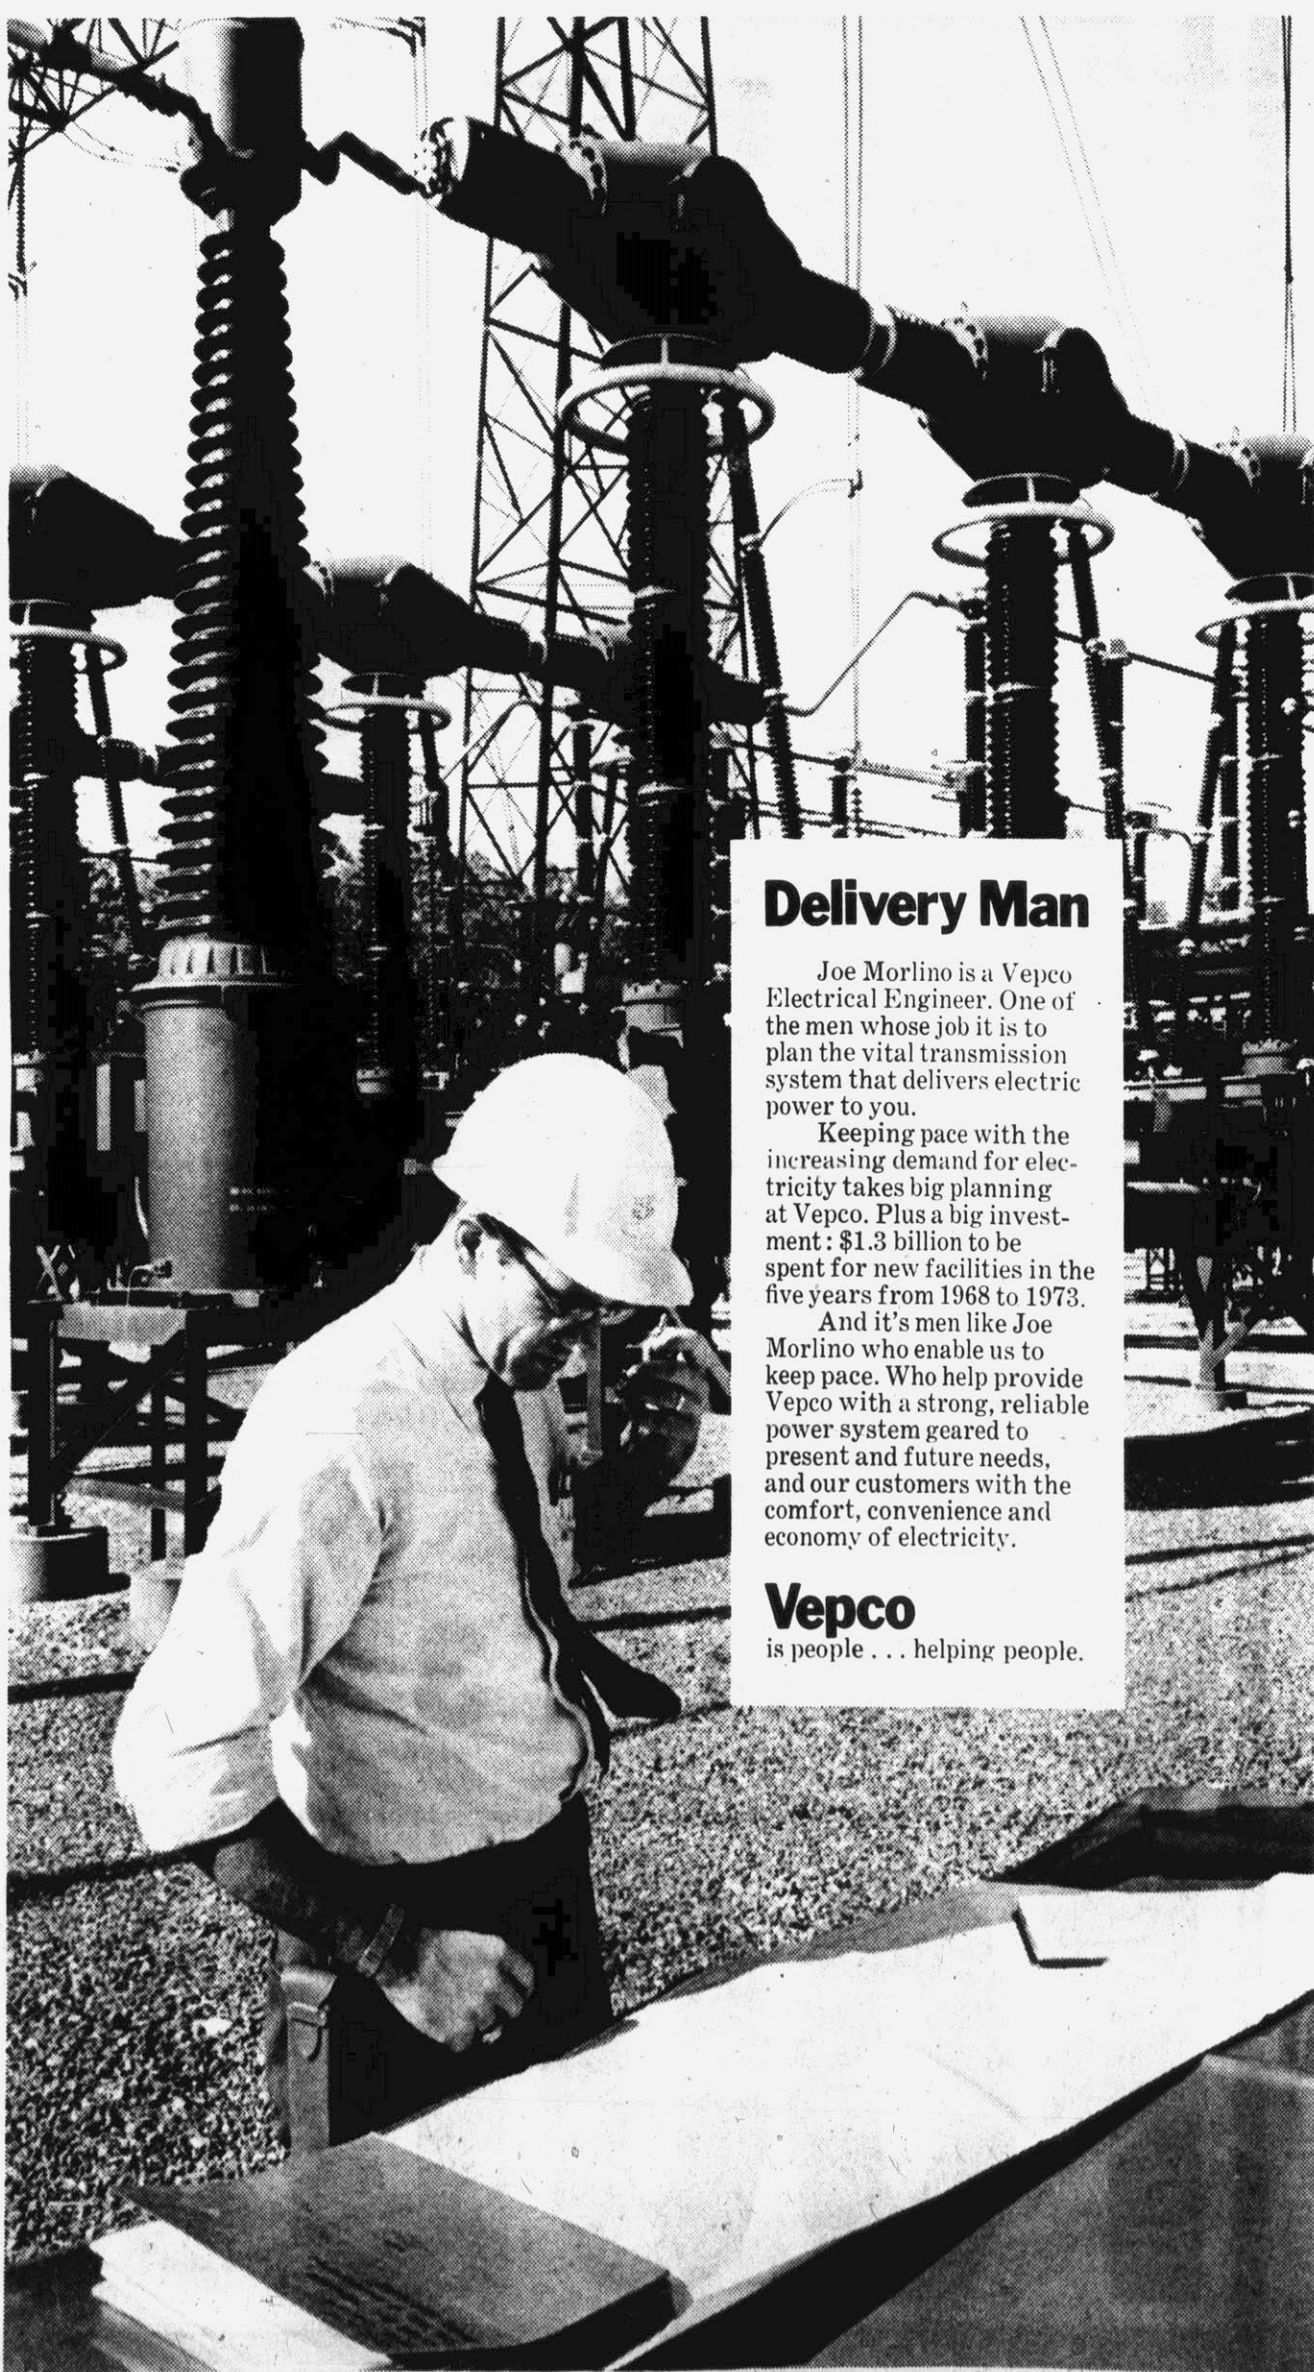

Belief in storybook giants, therefore, involves no stretch of the imagination for kiddies.

And their delight in fairy tales, plus stories of elves and Hop-O'-My-Thumb, permit quick empathy, for they identify themselves with the little person who competes with the omnipotent giants.

Finally, however, the little boys grow up and attain the same height as their "giant" fathers. They also surpass that of their "giantess" mothers, so they become full fledged members of the giant clan.

Alas, the little girls seldom attain the height of their fathers, so they still retain some of that childhood deference to "giants."

Thus, women work more happily under male bosses. They take orders better from male teachers and, like Debby, are doubly delighted when men

Teacher Is Honored At Banquet

Mrs. Esther Warren was honored last Thursday night as the Outstanding Young Educator for 1969 at the annual OYE Banquet sponsored by the Greenville Jaycees.

The event, held annually to recognize the recipient of the top educator award and the other nominees considered for the honor, highlighted this year's campaign.

Principal speaker for the evening was East Carolina University professor, Dr. James Batten. Batten presented Mrs. Warren with the OYE plaque and Jaycee president Jim Leslie made the presentation of the $100 scholarship check given each year.

In addition to Mrs. Warren, the other nominees present for the occasion included Mrs. Mary Anne Brannon, Mrs. Julia Speight and Miss Margie Smith. Nominees not present were Mrs. Naomi Dunn, Mrs. Faye Cregan and Dave Bumgarner. Campaign co-chairman Shelton Whitehurst said Mrs. Warren will represent the local chapter at the state competition on March 14 in Charlotte. Winner of the state contest will go on to the national competition, sponsored by national Jaycees, he said.

Also, Mrs. Warren will be a guest on the Carolina Today program shown on WNCN-TV Wednesday morning.

Program By Choral Club

ROBERSONVILLE — The Choral Club of Roanoke Bible College, Elizabeth City, will present a program at the Oak Grove Church of Christ on Thursday at 7 p.m.

Directed by Professor Pearl A. Presley, the group will present "A Story of The Birth of Christ" in song and scripture. Consisting of 21 selections, new and old from several lands, the program will be an hour long. Virtually all of the 16 young men and 22 young women, who compose the Choral Club, are preparing for full-time Christian service at Roanoke, a ministerial training school of the Churches of Christ.

The local appearance is part of a 10-day tour taking the group through Virginia, Georgia, Florida and North Carolina.

The public is invited to attend the program.

Salvation Army Discontinuing Its Canvassing

Capt. Wayne McHargue of the local Salvation Army post advised Greenville citizens that Salvation Army personnel will not be soliciting funds door-to-door this year.

McHargue said that up until last year, the practice was followed but was discontinued last year. Quite a bit of confusion has resulted this year in Greenville citizens mistaking others soliciting for funds with Salvation Army personnel.

"A number of persons have asked me if we were soliciting this year and evidently they have seen other groups canvassing and thought they were our personnel," he said.

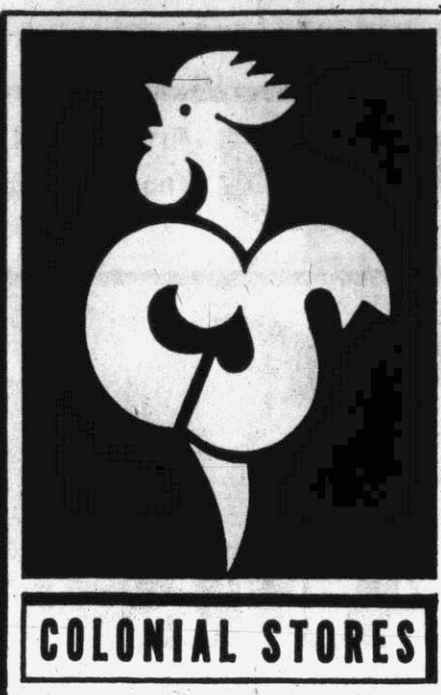

TV Commercials Are Regionalized

NEW YORK (AP) — Tastes in commercials differ substantially in various parts of the country.

Both the East and West coasts prefer the subliminal approach, while viewers in the North Central region react better to a direct message, reveals a survey conducted by the SFM Media Service Corp.

Sophisticated models—the vamp type—are popular in large cities whereas the smaller towns and rural folk favor the girl-next-door-type model. The comic approach also fares better in city areas. This explains why different versions of the same commercial are shown in various regions.

JOURNALISTIC REBUTTAL LETHBRIDGE, Alberta, Can. (AP) — City Clerk John Cerla, in response to a request for water by members of the press attending council meetings, recently provided it in an old mop bucket complete with dipper. He later capitulated and provided a pitcher of water.

Thousands Near Death On A Forgotten Island

by GHAFUR FADYL
AMPENAN, Lombok Island, Indonesia (AP) — Only 10 minutes' flying time from the legendary island of Bali, where well-fed tourists cavort on the beaches, thousands of men, women, and children face a slow death by starvation.

This is Lombok, the forgotten island its central plains dried to a thick crust by the sun, plagued by drought, and disease.

Centuries-old superstition and a blink faith in Allah tie the simple Moslem people to the wasteland.

"We cannot move from this place," explained grizzled Hadj Umar Manan one of the island's religious leaders. "Our ancestors lived like this. They are buried here. If God wants us to die, then we will die. Here, in our lands."

Lombok lies across a narrow strait from Bali, lush and green and fertile. Few visitors ever come to Lombok. There is little here, and "foreigners", anyone who is not a native islander, are greeted with suspicion.

In the central region 20,000 men, women and children have died from starvation and disease. Most died in a famine in 1966. Hundreds died in 1967. Many have died this year.

Hundreds more will die in the next few months if rice, Indonesia's staple food, is not shipped in soon by the government.

The region's rice crop this year was short by 33,000 tons. So far, the government in Jakarta has sent only five tons of rice for the hungry, say officials. They need at least 15,000 tons to stay alive.

A plague of rats first laid waste hundreds of acres of rice fields. The superstition ridden villagers say the rats fell in a shower from the sky and are led by a giant white rat "as big as a dog".

Then came the grasshoppers, stripping clean most of what the rats left over. Later, the rice was stricken by disease and rotted. And all the time the land got drier and the rains did not come.

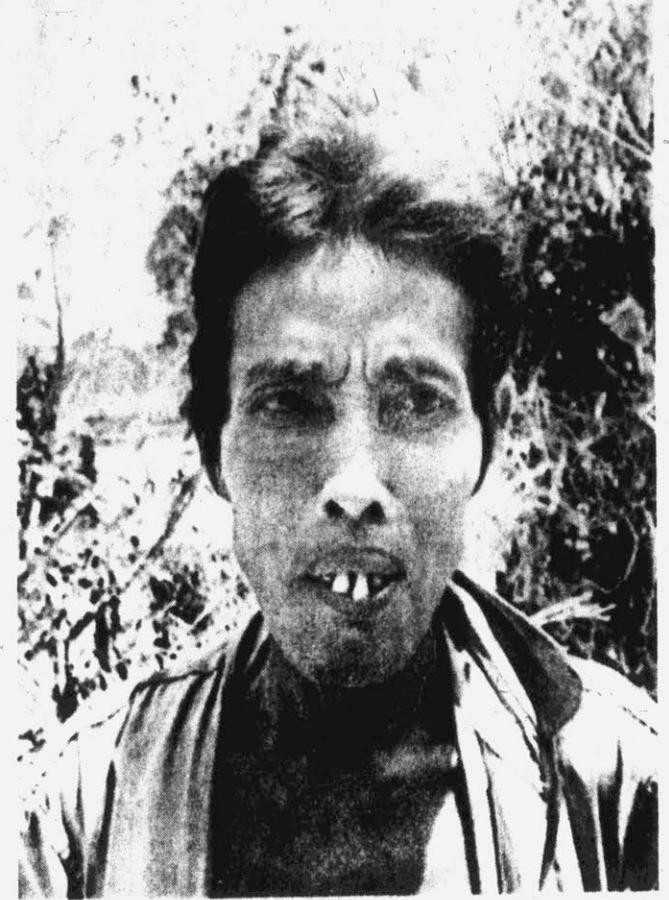

Now, after many months without rain, peasants live on plants, roots and insects. They cannot afford to buy rice.

In the village of Sengkol, women sit weaving outside their mud houses. Naked urchins play in the rust-brown dirt. The men chip vainly at their fields with picks and sharpened iron bars.

The bitter irony is that while this central land withers and dies, its people stay doggedly rooted to their barren soil. The northern and western parts of the island have plenty of rice; not abundant, but enough to stave off famine.

But the people of the central plains do not beg and the people of the north and west do not offer.

The key is water. The north and west are fed by rivers from the hills all the year round. The plains people are at the mercy of the weather and pray for rain. Irrigation is poor.

BEATEN BY NATURE AND SUPERSTITION —
You're looking at a peasant inhabitant of the central plains region of the Indonesian island of Lombok.

The people of the central region use their meager money and food on seasonal celebrations, circumcision ceremonies and festivals. The imams, the religious leaders, say this is how it must be.

Some officials have tried to break down this barrier of ignorance and convince the imams they are wrong to preach hanging on in the lands of their ancestors.

The regent (administrator) of Central Lombok, Sri Gede, one of the more enlightened officials on the island, exclaimed: "It's like knocking your head against a very thick brick wall! I and the men before me have tried to convince these people to move from the dry areas, but they are rooted here. I don't think they will ever move. Besides, I suppose there just isn't enough rice to go around."

The island's government did try to help by selling off its meager rice stock at below-cost price. But the peasants could not even afford that.

The people are listless and dull eyed. Men gaze emptily at their fields. The few that try to hack it into submission always give up, defeated. They live in hovels and few bathe.

They refuse to move. They refuse to sell their buffalo for money to buy rice. Without the buffaloes, they cannot plant for next season. Without the buffalo, a man has no prestige. They would rather go hungry—and pray.

Disease takes its toll. Smallpox, cholera and dysentery kill. There is only one tiny medical center in the whole of the central region, manned by two dedicated doctors.

This island is so primitive other Indonesians wince when it is mentioned.

Here the real power lies with the imams. They have many wives, own hundreds of acres of land and many buffaloes. Amid all the squalor and misery, the only impressive building is a mosque.

Hadj Umar, asked why he did not lead his people to a better land, replied: "If we are to die, we will die here. It is the will of Allah."

"Those rats came down from the sky by the hand of Allah. How can we mortals fight them? Perhaps we have sinned. Perhaps Allah is punishing us. Leaving here will not absolve the sin."

A score of peasants standing around the old man silently nodded in agreement.

Bearden At Raleigh Meet

Dr. James Bearden, dean of the East Carolina University School of Business, will attend the first meeting of the Committee on Economics Education in the North Carolina Public Schools, of which he is a member, Wednesday afternoon in Raleigh.

The 32 members of this committee were named by the State Board of Education, as directed by the 1969 General Assembly, to make a study of economics education in the state's public schools. Their recommendations are to be presented to the Board by May 15, 1970 for transmittal to Gov. Scott by July 1 and to the General Assembly in 1971.

Anticipated business at Wednesday's meeting includes the election of co-chairmen and a secretary, discussion of the Committee's particular area of concern, and identification of the literature, research, and resources needed by economics education in the public school curriculum.

Russian Limitation On No Restrictions Order

RESTRICTED 'NO RESTRICTIONS'
NEW YORK (AP) — Even under conditions of "no restrictions," the difficulties of catching a glimpse of the Soviet Union can be eye-opening and exasperating.

News correspondent Sander Vanocur found this to be true on a recent visit to Moscow University where he filmed an upcoming segment of "First Tuesday," which will compare Russian and American college students, to be aired on Jan. 6 (NBC).

Vanocur officially had the cooperation of Novosti, the government news agency. But he quickly learned that "no restrictions" actually meant that only one person was assigned to "coordinate" the activities of the TV crew. "The fact is," Vanocur said, "she was assigned to keep tabs on us. She objected to many things we filmed and would often cry out, 'You can't tape that. You are going to make anti-government propaganda with these films.'"

"She didn't want us to film anything that suggested an interest on the part of Russian students in activities of American students," Vanocur added. "Yet the interest is there. We saw it in their preference for American and Western European style rock and roll music, their study of American authors, and their curiosity about American hippies."

Once, in a school, Vanocur's crew found hippie slogans carved in English on a student's desk. There, for the camera to record, were "Flower Power," "Make Love, Not War," and "Love Is Blue."

But the coordinator commanded, "That's enough! You can't film that."

Her explanation, in typical Russian logic: "In Russia, it is forbidden to write on school desks."

Peaceful Santa Draws Reprimand

HIALEAH, Fla. (AP) — Santa Claus has been reprimanded here for preaching nonviolence to children.

Larry Grimm, a shopping center Santa, was called on the carpet by the Palm Springs Mile Merchants Association for telling children who came to him that "Santa Claus doesn't bring guns to good little boys and girls."

Grimm, 59, said he had several parents tell him last year how much they approved of his stand against toy guns, but this year some have complained.

Grimm said that last year he was also reprimanded by the director of the Merchants Association for asking a group of youngsters if they would pray; Dear God, will you send home safely those other little boys and girls' daddies who are away this Christmas."

Private Schools Are Springing Up

By KENT ZIMMERMAN
Associated Press Writer
VILLE PLATTE, La. (AP) — Desks sit idle in the public schools while hundreds of white elementary pupils carry their books daily to a nightclub, a grocery store and other makeshift school sites. High school students attend classes in a converted cattle auction barn.

It's part of the protest in Evangeline Parish—French-speaking Cajun country—against federal court school desegregation orders.

"The impetus of a common enemy—federal intervention—is our greatest asset," said the Rev. Melvin Plaque, president of the Evangeline Academy, a new private school system.

The academy has collected some other assets during its short life—$400,000 in donations, memberships and tuition and a student body of some 2,400.

Its backers say a new $100,000 elementary school for the academy will open by the first of the year. Then the temporary facilities—some of which double for other use at night and on weekends—will be vacated by the youngsters.

The public schools have lost some 3,000 pupils this fall to the academy and parochial schools, leaving an enrollment estimated at 2,483 whites and 3,211 Negroes.

Nat Manuel, parish school superintendent, said the public racist, but nobody will believe that."

Asked whether there were any Negroes in the academy, Plaque replied: "We have no blacks. There may be some

$350,000 Grant In Brooklyn

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rockefeller Foundation has given $350,000 to the Brooklyn Academy of Music, for four of its resident companies.

The companies, which are to use the money to develop new works, are the Merce Cunningham Dance Company, the Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater, American Ballet Company and Chelsea Theater Center.

Race Policy Is Re-Named

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Yet another name has been devised for South Africa's official race segregation policy. When the ruling Nationalist Party came to power in 1948 and made it the law of the land, it was called apartheid—literally, apart-ness. Subsequent government tags designed to make it more palatable included parallel development, separate development and separate freedoms. Now Bantu (African) Administration and Development Minister Michiel C. Botha has dubbed it multi-national development.

Botha said he prefers the name because segregation of individuals is merely an "incidental aspect" of the policy. Apartheid does not only involve different paths and different entrances to post offices for the various races, he explained. Fundamentally, the government's policy involves a separation of racial groups or "nations," hence "multi-national development."

"We don't discriminate—we only recognize the natural differences between people," Botha said.

North and South reached a grand slam contract in clubs that depended on locating the queen of spades, a suit in which declarer and dummy held nine cards. South's ultimate decision hinged on obtaining a count of the opponents' distribution and an inference drawn from the auction.

North's immediate jump shift response of two spades over South's one club opening was based on the excellent fit. When South raised spades, North reciprocated in clubs. With a fit confirmed in his own suit, South invoked the grand slam force by jumping to five no trump. This is a conventional call requesting partner to bid a grand slam if he has two of the top three trump honors or to sign off at six if he has only one honor. Holding the ace and queen of clubs, North dutifully bid seven clubs.

Had West chosen to open a diamond, the contest would have been over, for with a void in both hands—South is given the opportunity to ruff in dummy while he discards the eight of spades, thereby eliminating any need to guess the spade situation. When West, instead, led a trump, declarer discovered that the lack of a solid spade holding left him with the problem of how to play that suit.

He proceeded to draw a second round of trumps, observing that West discarded a diamond. Next came four rounds of hearts. West showed out on the third round, letting go two more diamonds. The ace of spades was cashed and then a small one was led, West following with the three and the seven. After a moment's consideration, South played the ten from dummy. East showed out, discarding a diamond. The king of spades took care of South's remaining side card and he claimed the grand slam.

After accepting the congratulations of his partner, declarer explained his decision to take the finesse in spades. "I counted out West's distribution. He had shown up with only one club and two hearts. I reasoned therefore, that if he had only two spades and eight diamonds he would surely have made an overall after my opening bid of one club. His complete silence during the auction inclined me to play him for seven diamonds and three spades, so I took the finesse."

British Guerrilla Expert Says He Is Domino Theory Believer

By RODNEY PINDER
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — Sir Robert Grainger Ker Thompson, the British guerrilla fighter President Nixon consulted on Vietnam war policy, is a domino man.

He subscribes heavily to the theory that if America lets South Vietnam fall to the Communists, the rest of South Asia will follow like a stack of dominoes.

"Anyone can produce arguments, which the ignorant will be happy to devour, against it," he said in a television interview Sunday. "But you go and ask the dominoes."

"I visited Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman in Kuala Lumpur and (Prime Minister) Lee Kuan Yew in Singapore and they are both perfectly clear on this—that if the United States fails in Vietnam then Asia will go Communist. And that will spread ..."

Thompson, a stocky 5-foot-10 and still dark-haired at 53, was puttering at his desk at his home in Somerset when the telephone rang in October. It was the White House.

A few days later, the veteran of the successful anti-Communist campaign in Malaya was on his way to Vietnam to assess the war for Nixon.

On Monday, the President announced the withdrawal of another 50,000 troops from the war and made clear that Thompson had influenced his decision. Nixon said the British report was "candid and impressive."

The son of a canon in the Church of England, Thompson had a traditional upper-class education at Marlborough public school and Cambridge, then went to Malaya in 1938 as a cadet in the colonial service.

He was in Hong Kong when the Japanese came in, escaped on foot through Burma and finished World War II as an officer in the Royal Air Force.

After the war, he returned to Malaya as an assistant commissioner of labor with special responsibility for problems involving the Chinese.

Thompson's career was forged as the Communist threat in Malaya advanced. He was made staff officer to the director of operations in 1950, when the guerrilla insurgency was at its height.

In 1959 he became permanent secretary of defense of the Federation of Malaya. Two years later he was made head of the British advisory mission in South Vietnam and for his 3½ years of work there he was knighted.

His first book, "Defeating Communist Insurgency," was published in 1966. This year his "No Exit from Vietnam" came out and established his name in the United States. It attributed American embarrassment in Vietnam to obscurity of aim, failure of strategy and lack of control. He concluded that the President had two options: defeat or continuation of the war by "a new long-haul, low-cost strategy."

"The position at the moment," he said in the TV interview, "is, of course, that either side could still win, but from the South Vietnamese point of view, helped by the Americans, they are now in a better position to win than they've ever been before."

He regards the Paris peace talks as a dangerous second front set up by the North Vietnamese.

"The moment you get into negotiations, you automatically erode the resolution of the other side, and this is what they are after by their negotiations. And if you look at what's happened in Paris, the United States and South Vietnamese have gone absolutely as far as they can in making concessions. Any further concession now would be a giveaway."

In another interview he said the balance of the war had changed—"they are weaker tactically and psychologically and we are now stronger."

The 1968 Tet offensive "was the turning point," he continued. "From then on it has been a downhill trail for the Viet Cong. And the Chinese won't help them. They believe in a do-it-yourself policy."

However, this "cold war administrator," as he calls himself, cautioned that "it could take three to five years before Hanoi was compelled to give up her purpose and to negotiate a real settlement."

"Even then the United States could not relax," he declared. "A continuing but much reduced military commitment would still be required as in Korea."

How big a commitment? He told the television questioner: "It has got to be something that is credible. In other words, it means that you're still interested and committed."

Convicted Of Big Fire

DURHAM (AP) — A former student at North Carolina Central University was convicted Tuesday of arson in connection with a $1 million fire at the school in September.

Superior Court Judge Maurice Braswell of Fayetteville will sentence Egbert Langston Addison today.

The 27-year-old resident of Gary, Ind., represented himself and refused attorneys appointed by the court. He contended during the week-long trial that he was innocent and that he was a political prisoner.

Addison said the two Negroes and 10 whites on the jury were "illegitimate and any sentence you give me will be illegitimate, and any duration of time I spend in your jail will be an illegitimate imprisonment."

He asked to be tried by an all-black jury and a Negro judge.

16-Year-Old Is Freed In Death

WENDELL, N. C. (AP) — A coroner's jury Tuesday freed a 16-year-old boy who had been held in jail since Thursday in the fatal shooting of Earl Long, 20, of Wendell.

The jury held there was no probable cause for prosecution of Michael Paul Jones. Long was shot twice with a .22 rifle in Jones' home.

Witnesses testified Long had bullied the youth all day and part of the night.

ECU Named Test Center

East Carolina University has been designated as a test center for administering the National Teacher Examinations on Jan. 31, 1970.

ECU director of testing T. W. Whitley announced that college seniors preparing to teach and teachers applying for positions where examination scores are required are eligible to take the tests.

The designation of ECU as a test center will give prospective teachers in this area an opportunity to compare their performances on the examinations with candidates throughout the country," Whitley said. Last year more than 107,000 candidates took the tests, which are prepared and administered by Educational Testing Service of Princeton, N. J.

At the one-day session, a candidate may take the common examinations, which include tests in professional and general education, and one of 17 teaching area examinations.

N.C. Burial For Rocket Pioneer

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — A pioneer in the development of rocket propulsion systems, Charles C. Check, died Monday night at the age of 60.

Check will be buried in his hometown of Sanford, N.C., after funeral services today in Huntsville.

He was senior propulsion engineer at Safeguard System Command at the time of his death and was credited with designing and directing the development of engines for Pershing, Zeus, Sprint and Spartan missiles.

Alaska's Santa Wears Wings Of The Air Force

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Santa wears Air Force wings as far as the children in several villages along the Yukon River are concerned.

Men of the Alaskan Air Command stations at Galena and Campion began delivering toys and other gifts Monday to the youngsters in Ruby, Huslia, Galena, Nulato, Kaltag, Koyuk, Holy Cross, Hog River and Kokrines.

The Air Force does not have sleighs, so the deliveries were made by helicopter.

About 1,000 youngsters are sharing the cheer—more than 5,000 pounds of clothing, school supplies, hygiene kits and $450 in cash, as well as toys.

The airmen at the remote stations have been working on the project since August. They were assisted by the Galena Lions Club and the United Services Organization in Fairbanks.

By BILL MCKEITHAN
Associated Press Writer
CHARLOTTE (AP) — The Grand Dragon of the North Carolina Ku Klux Klan is scheduled to be released from a federal prison Jan. 9 and can have the leadership of his old group back if he wants it.

But in the 10 months that James Robertson (Bob) Jones has spent in the correctional institute at Danbury, Conn., on a contempt of Congress charge, the complexion of the KKK has changed.

Jones will not be eligible to receive the $200 a week Klan salary that he received prior to the imprisonment. His wife who got $100 a week, is also off the payroll.

The organization that Jones left in the hands of Joe Bryant of Charlotte is no longer active in the Tar Heel state. Bryant led a split from the United Klans of America and has re-organized the organization.

The new group abolished all paying offices.

Bryant says the KKK is now considering "formal admission" to Catholics. This is in opposition to the old Klan policy of admitting only "white, Protestant, Gentile and American-born."

Bryant said, "This allows the men to be more honest."

He says the state KKK "has helped a number of persons in need during the past 10 months, including at least one Negro family." He explained the family had lost its home in a fire and the KKK contributed to the rebuilding program.

The Charlotte Klansman said the KKK "has also contributed to a couple of Jaycee groups recently."

Bryant wants to "take the Klan out of the cottonfields and move into more comfortable surroundings." He said this would rid the organization of the "hell-bent evangelists" that have been present in the past.

"We feel that we can talk better in more comfortable surroundings," Bryant said. "We can use this to convert more people to our conservative cause this way."

Bryant said that this is not entirely accepted by some members of the KKK, "because there have been those in the past who thrive on the cotton patch oratory."

"We will continue to be a fraternal organization just like other clubs and we will be opening up more and more in the future," Bryant said.

"I want the group to stand

FBI Not Joining In Shooting Inquiry

WAKE FOREST, N. C. (AP) — The FBI says it will not join in a probe of a shooting into a Baptist minister's home during a racially mixed party unless instructed to do so by the U.S. Justice Department.

"We're aware of the incident and are following it with the Wake County Sheriff's Department for evidence of federal violation," Robert M. Murphy, special agent in charge of the Charlotte office of the FBI, said Tuesday.

He added, "we will not get into this unless the Department of Justice advises us to do so."

Wake deputies say they have few clues in their search for those responsible for firing a shotgun blast into the home of the Rev. J. Wesley Shipp Saturday night.

Shipp said he believes whoever fired the shot "was out to murder." His daughter, Karen, was giving a party for a group of teen-agers that included some Negroes when the shot was fired.

The blast crashed through the living room window and seven of the pellets ripped through the wall separating the living room from the den, striking the fireplace on the back side of the den.

Shipp was fired Sunday from his post as pastor of the Ridgecrest Baptist Church. He said, "They told me I was a disruptive influence in the community, that my views on racial matters would hurt the church."

The minister said he thought the shooting resulted from his views on racial matters. His views, he said, are "simply that black is as good as white. I believe that. I've always believed that and no one's going to change my mind."
