Rain, Sleet Or Snow For N.C.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Rain, sleet and snow fell Tuesday in North Carolina from the mountains to the seashore, giving headaches to travelers and a holiday to school children.

Some light snow flurries continued this morning, but they were expected to end by midday with no additional accumulations.

Up to six inches of snow covered the mountain counties, and spread across the northern Piedmont as far east as Greensboro. Rain, mixed with some sleet throughout the center of the state, spattered across the remainder of the Tar Heel counties.

Throughout the northern Piedmont, snow fell during most of the day; however, temperatures were warm enough that accumulations were slight. Rain fell intermittently too.

Charlotte was spared snow, but northern areas of Mecklenburg County received up to three inches.

Classes were dismissed early in a number of cities, including Charlotte, Statesville, and Hickory.

Although the winter storm that brought the mixture of snow, sleet and rain to the Tar Heel state has moved off the coast and will no longer be affecting our weather, another blast of bitterly cold arctic air has invaded the state.

This arctic air began pouring into the state today as the storm center moved north past the Virginia Capes. The Weather Bureau said temperatures would rise little if any today, and then plummet into the teens over most inland sections of North Carolina tonight.

The cold air that began moving over the state today is a result of an eastward moving high pressure ridge that extended from central Canada to south Texas this morning.

High temperatures around the state Tuesday were mostly in the high 30s. During the night, the mercury fell only slightly in most spots with low temperatures just above the freezing mark reported over most inland areas. Asheville, however, had a low of 19 degrees.

Variable cloudiness, windy and cold is the weather picture for tonight and Thursday, with a chance of a few snow flurries in the mountains.

Turns Down Union 'Fact-Finding' Offer

NEW YORK (AP) — The General Electric Co. has rejected a proposal for fact-finding in the 11-week-old strike by 12 unions saying it hopes for progress in negotiations, with the entry of the government's top mediator.

GE's turndown came Tuesday after the two largest of the unions, had accepted the fact-finding board proposed by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R.N.Y.

Earlier Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz had announced in Washington that J. Curtis Counts, director of the Federal Mediation Service would enter the stalemated talks later this week.

Fred J. Borch, GE's board chairman, said in a telegram to Javits: "I feel sure that you will agree that the entry of the federal government's top labor mediator will provide new impetus to get the negotiations moving again toward a just and prompt settlement."

"This new development offers a shorter route toward ending the strike and does not require a new fact-finding board to be familiarized with the complex and contractual issues involved."

Javits replied in a statement that he was "grateful for the unions' acceptance of my fact-finding recommendation and sorry about its rejection by General Electric. But that is the right of the employer as it would have been of the unions."

Scott Keeps Frank Diary

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott has turned over to the state's Department of Archives and History a frank diary telling of his first year in office.

"If I felt like a man was a son of a gun, I put it down," Scott told a news conference Tuesday. "If I thought he was more, I put it down."

"I was quite frank," Scott said, adding that the diary will remain sealed until after he and his wife die.

Scott told newsmen that at the present time he is not rejecting the possibility of tax adjustments for the next biennium, including possible revision of new levies on cigarettes and soft drinks.

The governor said in a recent interview that he would not oppose removal of the one-cent soft drink tax if the soft drink industry would roll prices back to their pre-tax level.

Scott was asked if such an agreement by the soft drink bottlers would not constitute a violation of the anti-trust laws.

"I don't know," Scott answered. "It didn't seem to bother them when they all went up together" on prices.

Want Ayden Man In Accessory Role

ATLANTIC BEACH — The Atlantic Beach Police Department has issued a warrant for Van D. Hatch of Ayden, charging him as an accessory before the fact in a Dec. 27 break-in and attempted arson of a summer cottage at the coastal resort.

A department spokesman said that Hatch has been charged with hiring two Norfolk, Va. brothers to burn the cottage, reportedly belonging to Hatch's sister, Mrs. William Harris of Atlanta, Ga.

The two brothers, Joseph, 21, and Larry Popperwill, 18, were arrested by Atlantic Beach police and charged with

Seek To Dry Up Heroin Sources

By JOHN M. PEARCE Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration hopes within three years to dry up the foreign heroin sources that supply the estimated 180,000 addicts in the United States.

A high White House source, who declined to be identified publicly, told reporters Tuesday France already has stepped up its narcotics police force in the Marseilles area. U.S. authorities have estimated 80 per cent of the heroin smuggled into the United States comes from opium grown in Turkey and manufactured in the Marseilles area.

In outlining progress in the semisecret administration effort, the official said the United States would like Turkey to outlaw the growth of opium poppies although it would mean the loss of a $6 million crop that is the only source of cash for some poor farmers. The administration source said the Turks "certainly have every right to expect" U.S. compensation for the loss.

Turkey is one of only 10 nations which can legally grow opium for medicines under an international convention.

President Nixon quietly issued orders shortly after he took office to do something about the heroin problem, the source said, and it has since been made "a foreign policy objective of the United States that no illicit opium should be grown and no illicit heroin should be manufactured and none should be admitted to the United States."

Past efforts to persuade other countries to help control the problem failed, the White House official said, because no program has ever had the status of a formal foreign policy objective.

Famous China Missionary Dies

TAIPEI (AP) — A special account has been opened at the Bank of Taiwan for donations in memory of missionary Gladys Aylward, who died in Taipei last Saturday of pneumonia.

Miss Aylard gained world fame from Alan Burgess' book about her, "The Small Woman," and the movie made from it, "The Inn of the Sixth Happiness."

The British woman aided orphans in China for more than 25 years. She came to Taipei in 1957 and opened an orphanage, and it was there she died at the age of 68.

Her funeral will be held next week.

Diplomatic Verbal Duel

NEW DELHI (AP) — The Soviet ambassador and the Chinese charged affairs fought a verbal duel Tuesday night at a reception given by the North Vietnamese consul general for a visiting Viet Cong delegation.

Soviet Ambassador Nikolai Pegov extended New Year's greetings, and China's Chen Chao-huan snapped "This is no time to exchange pleasantries."

"Both the Soviet Union and China are international Communist countries and problems between us should be settled amicably," said the soft-spoken Pegov.

A somber-faced Chen shot back: "How then can you give economic and military aid to India at the expense of China?"

Pegov replied that "the Soviet Union is interested in India becoming self-sufficient, not only in the economic field, but also in the military."

Dismissing Pegov's reply as "a repetition of the same old arguments," Chen turned to newsmen and said: "This kind of exchange is useful."

Rouse To Seek Judgeship Seat

FARMVILLE — Robert D. Rouse, Jr. Farmville attorney and former District Solicitor, today announced he will be a candidate for Superior Court Judge for the Third Judicial District.

Rouse will seek the post now held by Judge William J. Bundy, who has announced that he will not seek another term.

In making this public announcement, Rouse said that in the near future he will file officially as a candidate for the Democratic nomination in the May 2nd primary.

The counties of Pitt, Craven, Carteret and Pamlico form the Third Judicial District of North Carolina. Rouse was elected solicitor for these counties in 1955 and served in that capacity for eight years. He did not seek a third term in 1963, but returned to law practice in Farmville, where he is senior partner in the law firm of Lewis and Rouse.

A graduate of Farmville High School, the University of North Carolina and the University of North Carolina Law School, Rouse is a veteran of World War II. He served in the Navy, participating in the Normandy Invasion aboard a landing craft at Omaha Beach. Rouse was discharged as a lieutenant (jg). In civic affairs, Rouse has # Transition Guidelines Policies Approved By Pitt School Bd.

By BLANCHE HARDEE Reflector Staff Writer

The Pitt County Board of Education yesterday approved a series of policies designed to guide the county school system during the "transition period from dual to unitary school system" as work progresses toward completion of four consolidated high schools now under construction.

More than a dozen policies were approved by the board which said that during the transition period (when students are moving from present facilities to new schools) student activities and some other student involvement aspects will be structured to insure: racial representation of minority groups, across-racial-line working, planning, thinking and voting, and development of the total child.

Major policies approved included:

—Assured representation with a minimum of 40 per cent and a maximum of 60 per cent of any race (applies to class officers, activities such as newspaper and annual staff, cheerleaders, band, majorettes, various clubs and other activities);

—Student involvement committees which shall give leadership in the selection of new school colors, mascots, rings, symbols, songs, cheers, as well as other identifying aspects of the school in order that it reflect a non-racial image and a new image;

—Eligibility for enrollment in clubs and activities shall be limited to interest and active participation in the sponsoring subject area or activity. It is recommended that there be a minimum of 25 per cent of either race in the actual membership;

—A Pitt County Honor Society shall be established with members of the Beta, Crown and Scepter, and National Honor Society automatically becoming members. Membership will be based on scholarships only. Also to be established is a Pitt County Leadership Guild with membership based on proven desirable leadership traits only;

—A principal's list of the students who make all A's and B's will be compiled and published at the end of each marking period;

—Service clubs in the schools sponsored by civic clubs will be allowed and will be encouraged but only with the understanding that all students who qualify on the basis of established criteria will be eligible for membership and awards;

—Social functions including dances which are school-sponsored will not exclude any student because of race. All school-sponsored social activities will be held on campus. Community-sponsored functions for students will not use the school as a point of contact unless all students are welcome and community groups will be encouraged to open all community-sponsored activities for students and adults without regard to race;

—Membership on athletic teams will be based on acquired skills, good attitudes, successful classroom performance and state athletic requirements, with intramural activities open to all students;

—An elective course in American History will be set up in the curriculum with equal emphasis given to the contribution of both races, with white and Negro teachers alternating every marking period. A new course outline will be developed;

—A Student Committee will be established with 24 members with equal racial representation (in lieu of the Student Government Association) during the first year of complete consolidation and desegregation. Further planning will be done in order to insure a permanently operating student government to become effective at the beginning of the succeeding school year. Other policies included that students will be dealt with friendly, fairly and firmly to the end that discipline is achieved; students cannot carry weapons to school; parents shall be notified of charges when students are suspended or dismissed, and a hearing will be provided; Students unable to control themselves on the school buses will be denied the opportunity to ride to school.

The list of policies also provided that principals will bring trespassing charges against those persons who do not leave the campus when asked to do so. Students suspended or expelled from other school units because of racial problems will not be accepted in Pitt County Schools.

Ralph Hall, supervisor of construction for the board of education reported on the progress at the four consolidated school sites. According to Hall, the D.H. Conley school is 20 per cent complete while the North Pitt project, the first of the four schools under construction, is about 35 per cent complete. About five per cent of the Ayden-Grifton project has been done while about 10 per cent of the work on the Farmville school has been completed.

Plans call for students to move into the North Pitt and Conley sites by September, 1970, with the other two buildings scheduled for completion no later than September, 1971.

Rep. Jones Hits National Farm Bureau Leadership

"As one interested in the well-being of the farmers of this county and this nation, I cannot sit silently by and tacitly approve the National Bureau's present policies," Congressman Walter M. Jones said at the monthly meeting of the Pitt County Farm Bureau in Greenville last night.

Referring to a letter he had written to Charles Shuman (President of the American Farm Bureau Federation), and which Shuman had made public, Jones reiterated his claim that the national organization is not supporting legislation helpful to the farmer. "In my almost four years in the Congress, I have yet to find your national organization supporting any legislation which would be of benefit to the farmer."

This lack of support includes, Jones commented, "adamant opposition to the REA Bank Bill of some two years ago. It includes their constant attack on farm subsidies and support prices."

Congressman Jones pointed out that 22 major farm organizations reached an agreement on new legislation which has been introduced, the Farm Coalition Bill. "To the best of my knowledge, the only major farmers' organization which did not enter into this coalition was the American Farm Bureau," The Congressman, told the farmers: "I challenge the American Farm Bureau to open the lines of communication from their lofty towers in Washington to the farms and villages throughout rural America. I think you should demand of those representing you in Washington through the organization, that you tell them what you want, and not permit them to tell you what is good for you."

Jones concluded, "I have not tried to say anything here this evening that would discourage your activities in Farm Bureau. . . on the contrary, I hope that in some small way I have motivated you to take a greater interest and a stronger demand that the local units . . . be respected, be considered, and be consulted."

"This can be done and this must be done if our organization is to survive," he added.

Will Seek New Formula

RALEIGH (AP) — The attorney for the North Carolina Association of Nursing Homes said an agreement has been reached to try to work out a new formula for the payment of nursing homes for caring for Medicaid patients.

Sneed High of Fayetteville made the statement Tuesday as he denied a decision of 51 nursing home operators not to care for Medicaid patients violated the state's anti-trust laws.

"We say the action of the association was not in concert," High told a news conference. " . . . that the facts were presented to them in Greensboro and that they are free to accept or reject them."

Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan was not immediately available for comment. Morgan has warned the nursing home operators that they may be in violation of the anti-trust laws if they refuse to take Medicaid patients or if they seek to eject the patients they already have.

Convention At Winston-Salem

RALEIGH (AP) — Winston-Salem will be the site of the 1970 North Carolina Republican convention March 20-21, it was announced today by GOP state chairman Jim Holshouser.

He predicted that upwards of 2,500 delegates and alternates will attend. Holshouser said he would appoint convention committees later this month.

He also announced the times for precinct, county and district conventions. Precinct conventions may be held anytime during January.

Two Stores Lost In Kinston Blaze

KINSTON — Two stores in downtown Kinston were destroyed by fire last night and seven firefighters were injured badly enough to be treated at Lenoir Memorial Hospital.

The Jewel Box Store and the Advance Store in the 300 block of North Queen were gutted and the Stallings Salvage Store was damaged by smoke. Fire Chief Bob Faulkner said.

Firemen fought the blaze for two and a half hours before bringing it under control around 11 p.m. last night, but a truck and four firemen were stationed at the scene this morning.

Either two or three firemen were injured when a third floor wall collapsed onto the second floor of one of the buildings, but reports were unclear as to exactly how many and who these firemen were this morning. Capt. Otis Koonce was reportedly overcome by smoke and cold while manning the aerial ladder during the height of the blaze. He, Capt. Linwood Hill, and Lt. Haywood Quinn were listed in satirical condition at Lenoir Memorial this morning. Friemen James Smith, Wilbur Pritchett, Clarence Eubanks, and Joe Nobles were treated and released last night.

No damage estimates have been made yet and the cause is unknown, Faulkner said.

Reds In Rain Of Death

By GEORGE ESPER Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. and South Vietnamese forces intercepted North Vietnamese troops in three regions ranging from the Cambodian border to the Demilitarized Zone and killed nearly 300 of the enemy with a rain of bombs, rockets and shells, military spokesmen reported today.

The U.S. Command reported the North Vietnamese shot down five American helicopters, three of them in one battle, raising to 6,295 the number of U.S. aircraft reported lost in Vietnam war during nearly a decade of fighting.

Battlefield reports said infantrymen, tanks, armored personnel carriers mounted with heavy machine guns, jet bombers and helicopter gunships cut down the North Vietnamese troops in eight battles as the enemy forces apparently tried to maneuver into position for new attacks on allied bases.

Because the massive American firepower carried the brunt of the battles, allied casualties were reported light.

The U.S. Command said one American was killed and 29 were wounded while field reports put South Vietnamese government casualties at eight killed and 32 wounded.

The biggest battles raged south of Da Nang, where the enemy launched a new offensive over the weekend, along the Cambodian border north of Saigon where North Vietnamese troops are reported massing for a new drive, and less than two miles south of the demilitarized zone.

Flu Attributed To Lunar Trip

ANKARA (AP) — Turkish peasants say the flu sweeping Europe and the Middle East is lunar flu, brought from the moon by the U.S. astronauts.

"Never in our lives have we seen such an illness," said one woman in a village near Kayseri, in central Turkey. "If it did not come from the moon, it would have appeared before."

Home Away From Home For Boy

FRONTENAY, France (WNS)—when Genevieve Robin, 57, went into her barn to get apples for a Sunday pie, she found a 13-year-old boy who had been hiding out there for ten days. He explained that he was afraid to go home because he had received such bad marks at school. Mme. Robin called police, who had been working overtime on the case, and fed them and the boy Sunday dinner before sending them on their way. "If you flunk again, come back for apple pie," she told the lad.

Rabbi Gives The Definition Of A Jew

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: You were asked in your column, "Is a Jew a Jew because of his religion, or because of his race?" You replied, "I like Ben Gurion's definition, 'A Jew is anyone who says he is.'"

While Ben Gurion may be a very distinguished Jew, he is not an authority on religious matters. Also, he is badly mistaken.

The accepted Jewish law is as follows: "A Jew is a person who was born into the Jewish peoplehood by a Jewish mother, and who never left his faith by accepting another religion, or one who has accepted the Jewish faith by an official conversion-to-Judaism ceremony."

In other words, a Jew is a Jew because of his religion, and not because of his race. Neither race nor nationality exclude anyone from becoming a full-fledged Jew.

As you know, Sammy Davis Jr. is Jewish because he converted to Judaism. To which RACE does he belong? He certainly didn't change his race by becoming a Jew; he changed only his religion, but he remains a member of the race he originally belonged to.

Since your column is read by many intelligent people, I think they deserve a more authoritative answer to the above question. I would appreciate it if you were to print this in your column.

Sincerely,
RABBI MOSHE M. MAGGAL,
NAT'L JEWISH INFORMATION SERVICE

DEAR RABBI: Thank you for a more authoritative answer to an oft-asked question. I am amazed to learn that Ben Gurion's definition of a Jew was something less than "kosher."

DEAR ABBY: A few months ago my ex-husband married his longtime mistress with whom he has been living for the past year. [I'll call her Joyce.]

My problem is that I have two teen-aged children who were old enough to know what was going on at the time, so you can imagine how they feel about Joyce. [Strangely enough, they still adore their father and place all the blame on Joyce.]

Well, this stupid woman has been trying to win the children over with expensive gifts, so at Christmas time, in addition to the gifts from "Dad and Joyce," the children received separate gifts from "Joyce" alone. Her gifts are still setting here, unopened. My children say they do not want to keep her gifts, and they've asked me to send them back to Joyce. Naturally, I don't have any love for this woman, either, but now I don't know what to do. What would YOU do?
BITTER, TOO

DEAR BITTER: I'd stay out of it. And since the children still "adore" their father, why not let HIM handle it?

DEAR ABBY: I don't see what the controversy over sex education in the schools is all about. It's the PARENTS who need the education, not the children. After all, it's the parents who are always asking, "Is that a boy or a girl? I can't tell the difference."
SALLI

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

3 or 4 chicken breasts, cut in half with keel bones removed
 1 cup water
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1 large celery top
 1 medium onion, peeled and quartered
 Arrange the chicken breast halves, skin side down, in a large saucepot or Dutch oven (four to five quarts). Add the remaining ingredients. Bring to a boil; cover and simmer, turning chicken breasts sideways and reversing their position, until tender—about 25 minutes. Remove skin (and rib bones if you like); serve hot or cold. Use one or two halves for each serving. Strain the broth; chill; remove fat hardened at top; use as desired.

Make a holiday centerpiece from hedge and barberry twigs. Dip each twig into thick, warm starch and roll in artificial snow or a mixture of asbestos and mica. Dry overnight and arrange with poinsettias and several candles. The suggestion comes from National Family Opinion, Inc., a market research firm.

First Clean Air Consortium

Duke University, UNC-Chapel Hill and N. C. State have joined together with federal air pollution control officials in a clean air consortium which will be the first in the nation.

The ceremony took place Monday at the National Air Pollution Control Administration offices in the Research Triangle Park. Under the agreement the universities will expand their programs of jointly sponsored seminars, workshops, student institutes, public meetings and technical services on pollution control.

They will also exchange information, services and faculty members and will make their resources available to communities, industries and citizens groups.

We think these three universities and the Research Triangle have involved themselves in the most pressing problem facing the nation today—that of cleaning up the air we breathe and preventing further air pollution.

North Carolina's institutions could take on no more important project than this.

It is rapidly being recognized that air pollution is stifling our cities and destroying plant life in rural areas. If we go on as we are now, it could be that our atmosphere would be destroyed in the years ahead.

This concerted effort by three North Carolina Universities and the National Air Pollution Control Administration can marshal the forces to eliminate some of these problems.

In addition the institutions will be tackling a problem which is more and more affecting our own state. North Carolina's larger cities are growing very rapidly now and as they grow the air pollution problem is also growing.

The clean air consortium will render state and national benefits and it could save our environment for future generations.

Major Undertaking Is Given Committee

A 22-member criminal law committee appointed by Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan can render a major service to North Carolina.

Morgan announced the formation of the committee Monday.

He noted there is "a great deal of concern about the problem of preserving law and order and insuring that equal justice is available to all the people."

The committee will analyze, discuss and consider the need for revision of the criminal laws, the scope of any recommended revision and the best procedures for accomplishing any revision deemed necessary.

One of the nation's problems today is protecting the public from the criminal element and at the same time protecting individual rights.

This committee will have the job of finding ways to do this. It is a major undertaking, but one that needs to be carried out.

Soviet Pushes Missile Power

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Hard, new intelligence on Soviet construction of SS-9 long-range missile sites not only confirms Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird's warning last March against a possible Soviet "first strike" capability but shows he actually underestimated Soviet progress.

When Laird delivered his warning, he was accused of trying to scare Congress about the Soviet missile threat in order to win over wavering Senators in support of the U.S. anti-missile (ABM) program.

Since then, Soviet construction of the highly accurate SS-9, with its dreaded 25-megaton warhead, has proceeded even faster than the construction estimates on which Laird based his warning. Military experts are convinced that the high degree of accuracy built into the SS-9 system conclusively brands it as a "first-strike" weapon to knock out U.S. retaliatory long-range missiles, thus preventing any U.S. counterattack.

The new estimates of Soviet production of the SS-9 strongly hint that Moscow is doing one of two things: using this weapon to increase its bargaining power at the arms control talks, the first phase of which ended late last month; or using the arms talks to lull the U.S. into false hopes while the Soviets radically increase their first-strike capability.

The second of these worries Pentagon officials more than the first. The Lorelei effect of the arms talks is already obvious. The mere prospect of negotiations fed Congressional zeal to cut the new defense budget last month, forcing the Nixon administration to accept new appropriations for strategic weapons a full billion dollars under the amount approved for 1968-1969.

Laird's intimates say he can live with that cut but fears budget-cutting pressures will rise even more this year when the arms-control talks get down to hard bargaining at their new Vienna site in April.

Thus the strong prospect is that President Nixon will seek an increase in the strategic arms budget this year as a double-barreled insurance policy—against any sudden collapse in the arms control talks and against the alarming increase in Soviet SS-9s.

Behind the embarrassing public disagreement between Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Defense Secretary Laird over F-4 jets for Formosa is a conflict between two of President Nixon's cherished projects: the "Nixon doctrine" for Asia and the hope for better relations between the U.S. and Red China.

Laird backs the $54.5 million item for a squadron of F-4 jets, wedged into the foreign aid appropriation bill at the last moment in the House, as a natural step in support of the Nixon doctrine. That doctrine, enunciated by President Nixon in Guam last year, is supposed to phase out U.S. manpower commitments in future confrontations with the Communists just as U.S. troops are being withdrawn now from Vietnam.

In place of American troops, Mr. Nixon pledged generous U.S. military equipment to back U.S. allies in Asia. The last-minute inclusion of the F-4s in the foreign aid bill moves precisely in that direction. For that reason, although the Pentagon never specifically requested the jets, Laird now supports the House and would like to see the $54.5 million kept in the bill.

But Rogers looks at the jets as a backward step in his efforts to open a serious diplomatic dialogue with

NOT AN IDLE THREAT!

By ART BUCHWALD

Tax Break For Creative?

WASHINGTON — The government of Ireland has made a radical proposal which I can't help but applaud. They have a bill pending, exempting creative writers and artists from paying income taxes.

If passed, this could cause such an unbelievable migration to Ireland that it would make up for all the people that left the country during the potato famine.

There are some dangers inherent to the plan which I think should be considered. If all the creative writers went to Ireland to avoid taxes, we might get nothing but novels, articles and stories about the Irish. While everyone admires Irish literature, there's just so much of it that the rest of the world can stand.

Second, without taxes to pay, many writers could become rich, and instead of wanting to deal with the social problems of our time, they might devote themselves to defending the status quo and keeping the lower classes in their place.

The third possibility is that so many writers would turn up on Irish shores for the purpose of avoiding taxes that the competition would be too great and a large proportion would be hard put to earn money not to pay taxes on.

These are just a few of the pitfalls of the plan. There are many advantages to the idea and I believe the United States should take immediate action to prevent American writers from leaving the country for an Irish tax haven.

The answer lies in the oil depletion allowance bill. The United States has always been concerned more about its oil reserves than it has about its creative reserves, and there's a good reason for this. You can always find creative people in the country, but it's getting harder all the time to find oil.

Therefore, the government has provided tax incentives which make the oil industry go out and search for new wells. The government also makes it easy for the oil people to write off their equipment for taking such big risks.

Now, I have no quarrel with giving the oil industry a break, and if they can deduct 22 percent of their income from taxes because the oil and gas they take out of the ground can't be replaced, then I say bully for them.

But writers also have just so many stories, books, novels and plays (not to mention columns), in them, and therefore the government should give them the same depreciation allowances that it gives the oil people.

If there were a writer depreciation allowance based on production, it might be a

Other Editors Say The Next Priority

(Washington Daily News)

It has been said many times that some of the rebellious youth of this country would find another cause even if the Vietnam war should come to an end.

Now we hear that the next "cause celebre" will be that of air pollution. Already this subject is being discussed widely by many young people of this country. And let us say that this subject is one which needs to be discussed thoroughly and one which needs some answers that apparently we do not now have.

Several student meetings were held during Christmas by young people deeply concerned by the problems of air pollution.

Actually, those of us who live here in Eastern North Carolina do not realize the gravity of the problem nationwide. We have clean air here, and we enjoy the atmosphere without having it beset with smog. But those people in many parts of the country are already having serious problems with air pollution. For instance, we could take a look at parts of California including particularly the Los Angeles area.

Those people know what air pollution really is. And many young people seem to feel that the federal government has been too slow in taking adequate steps to clean the air. It is not going to be overcome immediately, and yet the time for taking corrective action is now.

If students and others who want something to demonstrate about will turn their attention toward the problems of air pollution, it is our opinion that they will find much more all-out and positive support from the "silent majority" than has been the case with them in the Vietnam story.

Many people feel exactly the same way: the young people who are rebelling against the Vietnam war. But for reasons such as patriotism they have refused to take any part. But the story very likely will be much different when it comes to air pollution. This is something which is growing ever more serious, and it is a subject which needs attention now. If the energies and efforts of the younger generation can be directed toward this subject, then maybe the day is not too far distant when the American government will take the necessary corrective steps.

We see much good which can come from all-out efforts to rid our cities of smoke, smog, and unclean air. And we wish any group well in its efforts to realize this state of living.

Look For A Scare Campaign

By ELMER ROESSNER

You can expect a fright campaign by Wall Street and industrial leaders to pressure President Nixon to relax the monetary controls being used to check inflation.

Already many executives and their economists are beginning to say that the restraints have already slowed business — which is true — so that the task is practically completed — which is not true — and that dire times will come unless the financial pressures are eased.

They will make capital of such events as these in this week alone.

The Treasury disclosed that United States gold stocks fell by $19 million in November.

That employment is slowing down. The National Industrial Conference Board reported that its help-wanted advertisements index has dropped to its November, 1968, level. Several large corporations have cut back hiring plans. College recruitment is slowing down, so much so that some undergrads jest that they may have to work for Dow.

Auto Production Cut

Five Chrysler assembly plant shutdowns were posted for next week and the remaining three for the following week. General Motors tentatively cut first quarter production by 10 percent or 125,000 cars. Ford January production appears to be about 13 percent under a year ago. These are the results of high inventories in dealers' hands. American Motors January production will be 5 per cent above a year ago, to catch up for production lost in its recent strike.

The steel industry conceded that it's Christmas week drop in production was the greatest in several years. High inventories and a dropping demand were blamed as well as the Christmas holiday.

Government bonds dropped to record lows, although some of the selling was attributed to the fact that many investors are taking tax losses. The Treasury was forced to pay over 8 per cent on 13-week bills.

Commerce Department's leading economic indicators, an average of sensitive indexes generally foretelling conditions about six months in advance, were down 0.6 per cent in November, the department announced.

Scare Propaganda

All these happenings and announcements will form the basis for strong demands to relax monetary controls.

Winter Stirs Memory

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Winter is the best season for remembering.

Awake or asleep, at any time of the year, man spends a large portion of his time thinking or dreaming about his past.

But in winter, when the storm winds howl like banshees and icicles crackle on the trees, it is particularly pleasant to stay at home and recollect in reverie the bygone days, warmed by the bonfire of dear remembrance.

You've survived a lot of winters—and enjoyed a lot of summers—if you can look back and remember when—

Kids actually did throw snowballs at dignified men in tall hats.

You could guess how cold it had been on winter nights by how far the frozen cream rose out of the bottle the milkman had left on the front porch.

On frigid mornings the youngsters, clad in itchy longjohns, got goose pimples as they scampered downstairs from their beds to warm their backsides around a coal stove.

Bread browned in an oven tasted far better than anything produced in later years by an electric toaster. Oven toast seemed more flavored by love.

Rich kids with runny noses wiped them with a handkerchief; poor kids used the sleeves of their sweaters.

Out on the farm one of the most imperative duties after a heavy snowfall was to shovel a path to the outhouse. Even grandpa was willing to pitch in on that chore.

It wasn't necessary to take sitting up exercises to stay in shape. Cranking a car to start a balky engine on a day when the temperature hovered around zero gave any man enough exercise to start a sweat.

Children pleaded with their fathers not to put the family dog out on a freezing night. "Please, Papa, if you won't let him sleep with me, can't he just stay in the kitchen?"

Winter was a great time for home entertainment in rural areas. Mother darned socks by the lamplight while sister read her the bargains in the mail-order catalogue; the children popped corn in the fireplace; Dad chewed a pencil as he composed a letter to his congressman asking for packets of free government seeds.

There was no plumber to call if the pump on the backyard well froze up. Farm wives tried to melt it with boiling water made from melted snow heated on the kitchen stove.

Lovers skated together on icy ponds and somehow their clasped hands didn't really need knitted mittens to stay warm.

Those were the winters of yesterday. Remember?

Opinions In Brief

"A great many people think they are thinking when they are really re-arranging their prejudices."—Edward R. Murrow.

"If I do not keep in step with others, it is because I hear a different drummer. Let a man step to the music which he hears, however measured and however far away."—Henry Thoreau.

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
RALEIGH — According to many usually quotable sources the 1970's ought to be the "environmental age." State Rep. Norwood E. Bryan Jr. of Fayetteville agrees resources. Change—"Man today," Bryan says, "has the capability and capacity to change the face of the earth and, if he chooses, to make it uninhabitable. There must be a keener awareness of the environment in which we and all other people must live and make a living."

The study is designed to bear down on how environment is taught in schools. Bryan believes that unless young people, the future generations, have an appreciation and understanding of the environmental problems confronting mankind there will be further and far more extensive erosion of natural resources.

"Our forests will be gone. Our streams and rivers will be cesspools. Our marshlands will no longer support a fisheries industry," says Bryan. "The idea is that people must know that there is a balance in nature and it is dangerous to upset that balance."

Study—"The study will focus on public education. In the beginning it will include an examination of existing curriculum, available textbooks, courses being taught elsewhere, curriculum guides and materials the need for in-service training for teachers. In addition it is proposed that the Task Force conduct public hearings on the subject of more extensive and comprehensive environmental education.

Outdoors — A spokesman for the N. C. Wildlife Resources Commission, information specialist Rod Amundsen, predicts that during the 1970s the number of outdoor sportsmen, hunters and fishermen, will grow substantially.

But along with this prediction he says it is certain that in the case of hunters, it will be more difficult to locate places to hunt.

In anticipation of this, he says, the Wildlife Resources Commission is adding to its budget for leasing and developing small game hunting areas. Also, it will spend more money to acquire larger tracts of land which can be developed for both big game and small and in some cases waterfowl.

with the idea but thinks it should have been started sooner.

Bryan, 35, is a lawyer from Fayetteville, a Democrat elected to the state legislature in 1967 and 1969, with an intense interest in conservation matters on a broad spectrum.

It was Bryan's bill which led to establishing of a 42 member Task Force on environmental and natural resources by the 1969 General Assembly. The Task Force was appointed by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction because Bryan carefully specified that the study should be conducted by the State Board of Education. Appropriately, Supt. Craig Phillips appointed Bryan chairman of the study group.

Purposes — In a statement, Phillips outlined the purposes which Bryan and co-sponsors had in mind.

"Environmental education is defined as education dealing with the relationship of man and his bio-physical environment and is aimed at producing a citizenry which is aware of environmental interrelationships and processes, understands how to solve environmental problems that arise, and is motivated to work toward their solution."

These words just happened to come from the preamble of Bryan's bill introduced and enacted last Spring.

The idea, according to Bryan, is that young people — those in school now — should be taught and learn about the problems of air and water pollution, the preservation of land, forests, wildlife, fisheries and all natural

Strength For Today

ADMIRATION

Have you ever asked yourself the question: "What, as a matter of fact, do I admire most in the world?"

Some would say talent—the ability to produce something of artistic value. Others would say that the thing most to be admired is beauty—handsome appearance, good clothes, tasteful appearance of home and its furnishings.

It goes without saying that sound character needs to be put first in our list of things we admire. Some people have that indefinable thing called grace or graciousness. A charming personality is something everyone admires.

How about houses—our own and the houses of others? Some people are always ready to back a good cause. They can double up their fists and fight evil. They can sing out and agitate when some issue of human betterment is under discussion.

Everything he touches turns to gold—do you admire that? How about those people who are always on hand when sickness or trouble comes down upon a household?

Is self-admiration good or bad? That depends. If you have achieved something of real significance, if everybody has a good word to say about your kindness and understanding, if your ability makes you stand out among your fellows—these are good and likely to create and cultivate goodness whether we live in a big world or a small one.

Criticism has its place in human affairs, but admiration when it is directed toward things and persons worthy of admiration makes the world light up and sing for joy.

The things we admire are usually reflections of our own character and purpose.

Natural Gas Said Found

MANTEO, N. C. (AP) — A representative for an oil company and real estate interests claims a California drilling company has discovered natural gas in Dare County.

G. L. Sholar, who says he represents North Carolina Gas and Oil Co., of Wilmington, reports that the Rapp Oil Co., located a pocket of natural gas near Stumpy Point on the shores of Pamlico Sound.

"We just don't know yet if it's big enough for a commercial operation," he said.

Sholar admitted that Rapp has been closed-mouthed about the find, but he speculated "from past experience" that gas had been located.

He added that the Port City Realty Co., of Wilmington, for which Sholar says he's an agent, has been buying land around the Rapp find.

Several companies, including North Carolina Gas and Oil, have conducted other drilling operations on the coast, and have found small caches.

"We ran into some good situations," Sholar said. "We found enough gas to keep looking, but not enough to produce commercial quantities."

Efforts to contact representatives of Rapp Co. were unsuccessful.

Horn Warns Of Eviction Try

BERKELEY, CALIF. (AP) — The Berkeley Tenants Union has unveiled a new weapon in its war on landlords—a loud, electric horn.

Bruce Gilbert said the BTU will use the device to alert a neighborhood when a member is being evicted, hopefully bringing on a crowd to try to halt the eviction.

Two families were evicted Monday and another on Tuesday because they refused to pay their rent, claiming landlords had not made necessary repairs.

Gilbert said the BTU has 600 tenants pledged to withhold rents and demand lower rents, proper maintenance and designation of BTU as their collective bargaining agent.

great boon to the creative talent in the United States. Every time a writer wrote a work he would be given 22 percent off the top of his taxes. He would also be allowed to write off his typewriter, paper, erasers and liquor as business expenses.

The risks of writing are even greater than the risks of searching for oil, and I probably would never have had the nerve to suggest this plan had it not been for Ireland's blatant attempt to lure American writers over there. But since they started it, all I say is we have no choice but to give creative people a tax break, no matter how unpalatable it is to me personally.

In something of this importance, you must always put your country first.

Peking. Obviously the Chinese Communists are appalled by the thought of Nationalist China obtaining a squadron of the latest U.S. combat fighter.

To resolve this intramural dispute, high-level negotiations are underway between State and Defense. The White House said last week that Mr. Nixon backs Rogers, but there still is no common Administration front on the touchy issue of the jets before Congress returns.

EDUCATIONAL LAG

LONDON (AP) — Eight-year-old children in central London are six months behind country kids in their reading ability, education officials reported. The reasons: a large proportion of immigrants and children from poor families, and the fact that London teachers in infant schools change jobs frequently.

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN
Associated Press Writer
LAHORE, Pakistan (AP) — Strife is splitting Pakistan's 100,000 Presbyterians.

The fight has pitted foreign missionaries against local Christians rebelling against the established United Presbyterian Church. Many of the latter are descendants of low-caste Hindus who converted half a century ago to escape the stigma of their birth. They compare themselves to American Negroes and say they are now enlightened and mature enough to run their own church without missionary control.

There is a growing fear among the missionaries that Pakistan's Moslem government eventually will expel them.

The dissident leader, the Rev. K.L. Nasir, 52, has studied in New York, Pittsburgh and San Francisco. He still occupies the principal's residence at the Gujranwala Theological Seminary although he was fired more than a year ago and opened his own seminary.

Nasir's followers claim they are victims of a social boycott and that their children have been stripped of church scholarships in a struggle over theology.

From the other side come such accusations as this: "We are witnessing one of the greatest frauds ever perpetrated on people in churches in Western countries."

That is the opinion of New Zealand missionary John Meadowcroft, who for seven years worked with Nasir at the Gujranwala seminary.

Meadowcroft and other missionaries claim the split stems less from religious differences than from a grab for church property and income. According to Park Johnson, Kansas City, Mo., representative here of the United Presbyterian Church of the U.S.A., support from abroad is considerable, amounting to $496,000 last year.

Nasir's group also calls itself the United Presbyterian Church of Pakistan. After two visits to Pakistan in 1968 by the Rev. Carl McIntyre of Collingswood, N.J., the group joined his International Council of Christian Churches, a rival to the World Council of Churches to which the established Pakistani church belongs.

Nasir said McIntyre sources contribute about $200,000 annually to the dissident movement. But he said religion, not money, split the church. His followers claim the United Presbyterians have grown too liberal, changing the Bible and denying the Virgin birth of Christ.

"It's a disgrace," said Rev. Iyat Mall, who is ICC executive secretary in Pakistan. "People have not realized how much harm they have done to the church."

The established church denies the charge but finds it difficult to counter because most Christians here are poorly educated. "How do you explain to illiterates?" said Johnson.

Of Pakistan's 125 million people, 90 per cent are Moslem and only 600,000 are Christians. Half the Christians are Roman Catholics.

Golden Age Of TV Had Flaws

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Many a veteran television viewer looks back on the 1950s as the Golden Age of TV drama. It wasn't quite so golden as it seems, says Barbara Schultz.

She is executive producer of CBS Playhouse, one of the last bastions of the kind of vital drama that was once seen on such series as Studio One, Playhouse 90 and the U.S. Steel Hour. Of that era Miss Schultz comments:

"In those days there were four or five anthology shows on every week. It was easier for new writers to develop because they had a frame of reference—they knew there was a market for original dramas. There were many excellent plays in those series, but also many terrible ones. We remember the good ones and forget all of those that were bad."

Could such an era return to television? She doubts it. "Costs would be a problem," she points out. For example, CBS Playhouse averages $400,000 per 90-minute drama. The show can't make a profit at that rate, and the network picks up the overage.

Another problem in restoring the Golden Age would be finding sponsors. There aren't many as public-minded as General Telephone, which not only sponsors CBS Playhouse but limits its messages to the beginning and ending of the show.

Barbara Schultz was here recently to oversee the taping of this season's third play, "The Day Before Sunday," starring Martin Balsam, Uta Hagen and Farley Granger. It will appear on CBS on Tuesday, Feb. 10.

This is the third season for CBS Playhouse, which appears four times a year. The idea for the series came from network programming chief Mike Dann, Miss Schultz said.

"He figured it was bad that there was no place in television for anthology drama," she remarked. "I think it was wise to do CBS Playhouse as specials, rather than on a weekly basis. In that way, you could do the best possible Scripts."

The plays are taped at CBS Television City, thus capturing some of the immediacy of live drama during the so-called Golden Age. Sometimes outside locations are included to give the plays a bit more scope.

CBS Playhouse generally manages acceptable if not spectacular ratings. "But the sponsor feels the show is good for its image, and so does CBS," she said. "The network schedules it at the latest possible prime time (9:30-11) in order to get a mature audience. And there is a nucleus of people who will tune in meaningful drama."

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — When his daughter Sandy was smart, Hilliard Singleton gave her 20 cents each Sunday.

Burke Hanged Frankie

By H. G. JONES
Dept. of Archives and History
Written for the AP

RALEIGH (AP)—The movement to preserve the Burke County Courthouse stirs recollections of history that has been made on the square in Morganton.

Built about 1835 by James Binnie from local cut stone, the handsome old structure has hosted the famous as well as the infamous. Prior to the Civil War the Aug. terms of the state Supreme Court were held there.

In 1865 Gen. George Stoneman's raiders prowled through. And its courtroom has been the scene of many dramatic trials.

The building possesses both historical and architectural importance, and it should be preserved. Although a new county building is being planned across the street, the venerable courthouse can still serve the district court if it is restored.

One of the most famous trials in Burke history took place in the county's first courthouse a few years before it was torn down to make way for the present building. Clifton K. Avery, business manager of Broughton Hospital and an avid local historian, traced the chilling story through old court records. The resulting booklet has been published by the Morganton News-Herald.

Around Christmas, 1831, Charles Silver (the name was often spelled Silvers) disappeared from his cabin on the Toe River. His neighbors became suspicious and, upon inspecting his house, found signs of blood around the fireplace and floor and pieces of charred bone in the ashes. Shortly afterward, according to legend, dogs dragged a portion of a torso from a hollow stump. The remainder of Silver was never found.

Arrested and charged with the murder were Silver's wife Frances and her mother and brother, Barbara and Blackston Stuart. The indictment charged that Frankie "with a certain axe of the value of six pence, which the said Francis Silver in both the hands of her, the said Francis, then and there had and held to, against, and upon the said Charles Silver, then and there feloniously, willfully, and of her malice, aforethought did fast and throw," causing his death, and that Barbara Stuart and Blackston Stuart were "present, aiding, helping, abetting, assisting, comforting and maintaining" Frankie. The grand jury, however, found insufficient cause to try the mother and brother, and they were released.

Frankie was convicted in March, 1832, and she was sentenced by Judge Donnell to be "hung by the neck until she is dead."

The state Supreme Court upheld the verdict. The appeal, plus the failure of Judge David L. Swain—who that year was elected governor—to show up for the September term of Superior Court, prolonged Frankie Silver's life for more than a year.

Then, ten days before her scheduled execution in June, 1832, there was a sensational development: Frankie escaped from the jail, supposedly with the assistance of her father and uncle. A few days later, however, she was apprehended in Rutherford County, dressed as a man with her hair cropped.

Finally, on July 12, 1833, Frankie Silver mounted the scaffold on a hill at Morganton. Tradition has it that before the trap was sprung she confessed and recited a 15-stanza poem of which the most poignant portion goes:

"There shall I meet that mournful face
Whose blood I spilled upon this place;
With flaming eyes to me he'll say
'Why did you take my life away?'"

Frankie Silver's body was buried near the old Buckhorn Tavern nine miles west of Morganton. A modern tombstone has been placed there to mark her claim to fame: "Only woman ever hanged in Burke County."

AN AGE-OLD WOE
DENVER, Colo. (AP) — A 19-year-old Denver youth told police that the reason he was found lying on the sidewalk in front of a downtown department store was that he fell asleep while waiting for his wife to finish shopping. He was fined $15 for blocking the sidewalk.

FBI Transcripts Indicate Wide Mafia Influence

By BOB DUBILL
Associated Press Writer

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Wide-spread Mafia infiltration of New Jersey police and politics—to the point of allegedly influencing selection of a state police head—are portrayed in FBI transcripts of electronic eavesdropping filed in federal court here.

Twelve volumes covering four years of recording name dozens of public personalities including singer Frank Sinatra, Mayor Hugh Addonizio and Police Director Dominick Spina, of Newark, State Police Supt. David B. Kelly and former Supt. Dominic Capello, powerful Democratic leader John V. Kenny, and state Democratic Chairman Salvatore Bontempo.

The transcripts, produced Tuesday in the extortion trial of reputed Mafia boss Angelo "Gyp" DeCarlo, tell of payoffs to public officials, loansharking and gambling operations, skim-offs from Las Vegas gambling—even infiltration of the telephone company and the Masonic lodge.

The transcripts were made public by U.S. Judge Robert F. Shaw over vigorous defense objections. Shaw reserved decision on whether they could be used as evidence in the trial.

Among highlights of the documents: State police—An FBI memorandum said "it appeared that Kenny had Capello appointed state police superintendent through Gov. Richard J. Hughes at DeCarlo's request. Kenny also has agreed to have Capt. David Kelly appointed superintendent to succeed Capello at DeCarlo's request."

Payoffs-Capello and Spina are named as having received payments. The transcripts also talk of payments to Middlesex county police and David T. Wilentz, county Democratic leader.

Election-DeCarlo raised money for Addonizio before his election as Newark mayor in 1961 after 14 years as a congressman. The transcripts indicate DeCarlo and associates worked to get Michael "Mickey" Bontempo, brother of the state Democratic chairman, out of the race.

Sinatra—Harold "Kayo" Konigsberg, a Bayonne loanshark now in prison, talked with DeCarlo about getting money for Jamaican hotel if there were a possibility of gambling. Konigsberg is quoted: "I'll see Sinatra and have a talk with him." Sinatra is fighting a subpoena and an arrest warrant from the State Investigations Commission which called him in its inquiry into crime.

Addonizio—In one of many references to dealings with Newark's mayor, DeCarlo is quoted: "Hughie helped us along. He gave us the city." Addonizio was recently indicted on extortion and income tax evasion charges.

Las Vegas—DeCarlo is quoted as saying Gerardo "Jerry" Cate-na, reputed head of a Mafia group, received $150,000 from "skimoffs" of Las Vegas casinos. A skimoff is illegal diversion of casino profits.

Kenny—Among several references to the Democratic strongman, the late Joseph "Little Joe" DeBenedictis, an Essex County political figure, is quoted as telling DeCarlo: "If we get this deal—if Kenny Okays this deal with the paint on the New Jersey Turnpike—we're in." He was quoted as figuring a 25 per cent profit on $1 million aint.

Collins said he thought his new job was in many ways "more challenging than the trip to the moon."

DeCarlo as asking a woman who was going to work a switchboard at the 1964 Democratic convention in Atlantic City to write down all telephone numbers called by Robert F. Kennedy, they attorney general.

In another section, DeCarlo is quoted as saying of Addonizio: "If he ever gets on the outs with the Kennedys, he's dead. They've got enough on him to bury him."

"If he ever gets on the outs with the Kennedys, he's dead.

At another point, the FBI quoted DeCarlo as asking a woman who was going to work a switchboard at the 1964 Democratic convention in Atlantic City to write down all telephone numbers called by Robert F. Kennedy, they attorney general.

Headaches In Wage Demands

WASHINGTON (AP)—A whopping Teamsters union wage demand for the nation's truck drivers has added to President Nixon's economic headaches amid signs of a crack in tough White House policies to curb inflation.

The union's three-year pay demands representing at least a 45 per cent increase and totaling $2.50 an hour for 450,000 workers—most now averaging $4 an hour—were set for presentation to the trucking industry today.

The demands also include an additional $1.25 per hour in fringe benefits and extra cost-of-living pay if prices continue rising in the nation's worst inflationary spiral in nearly 20 years, it was learned.

At the same time, Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz said high interest rates creating a tight money supply—a key Nixon weapon against inflation—were squeezing business too hard in the slowing economy.

"If we keep the stranglehold on the money supply, the prospects are for more signs of slowing in the economic indicators that we see," Shultz said at a Tuesday news conference in the first open break among top level Nixon administration economists. Shultz, saying his was a "personal view," added Paul McCracken, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, might be moving toward the same conclusion, but McCracken declined comment.

Shultz said the administration will continue a hands-off policy in labor disputes, but he indicated the government would have to consider action in the event of a nationwide trucking shutdown.

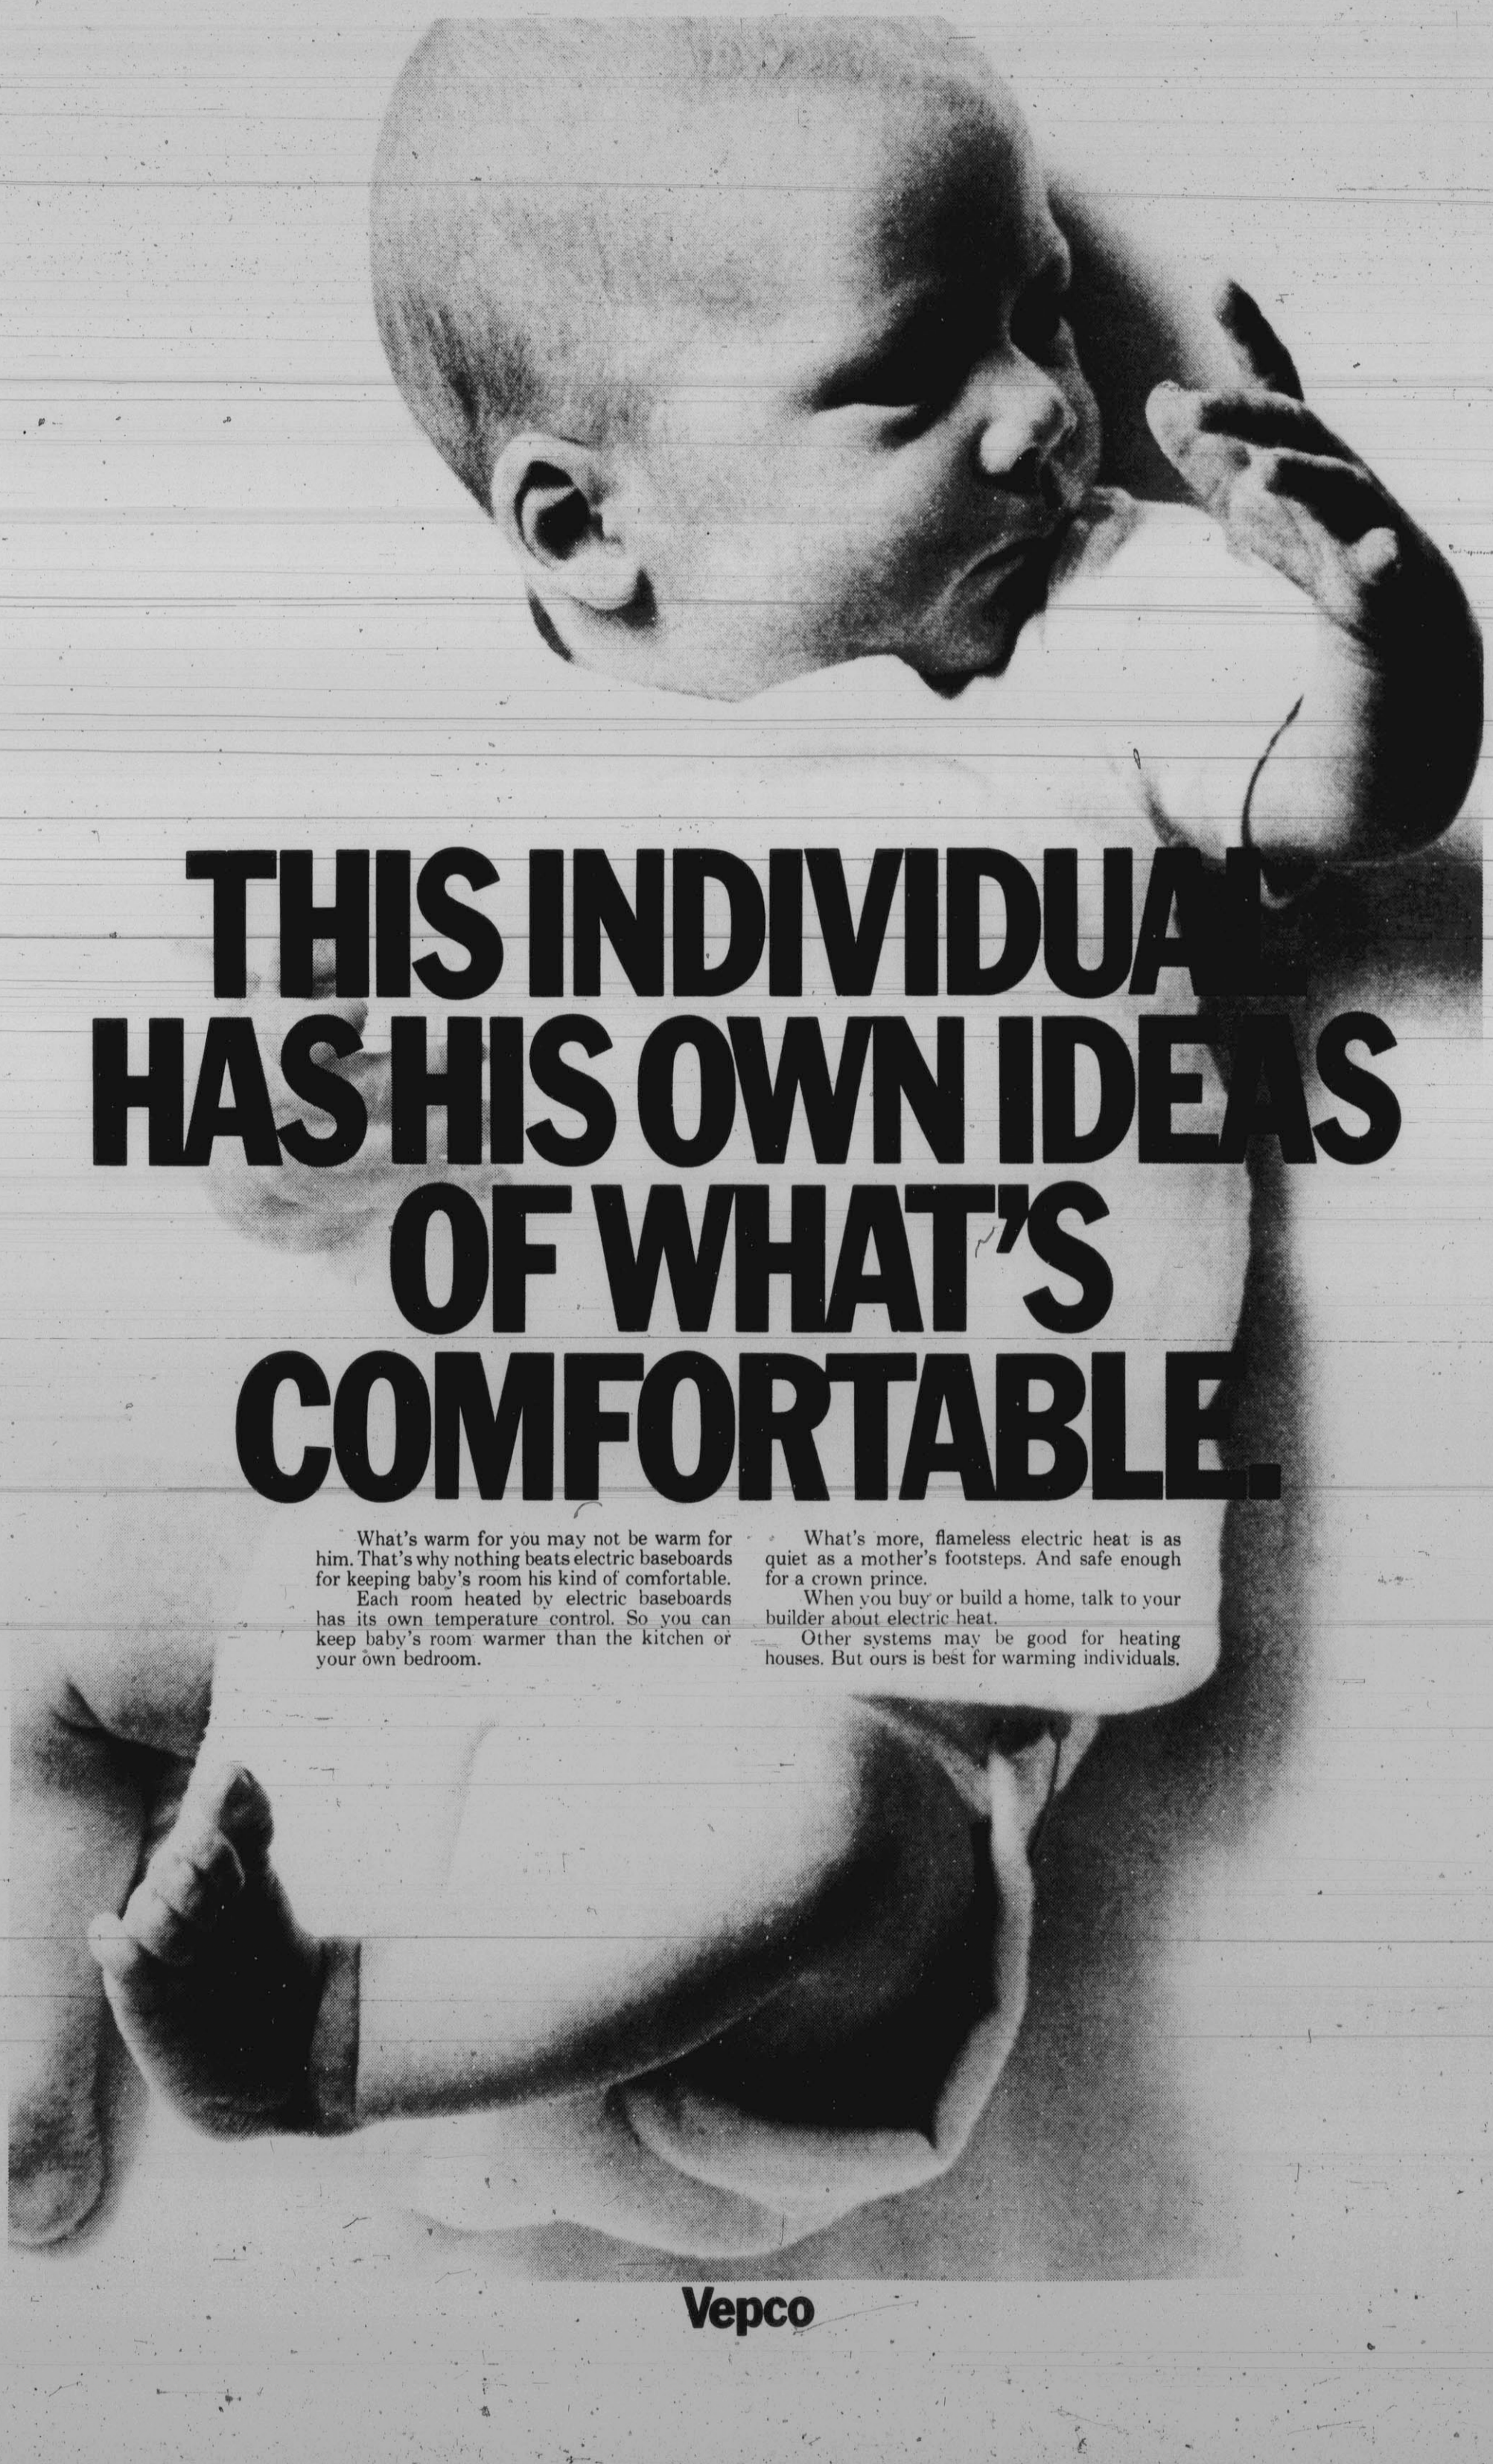

"I don't think it's likely," Shultz said, but a trucking source said the industry was in an even tougher mood than three years ago when it staged a three-day nationwide lockout in retaliation for scattered Teamsters strikes.

"We don't mind shutting down," the source said. "We couldn't afford to do anything else" if the Teamsters stick to their contract demands.

While Shultz declined to connect the Teamsters bargaining with inflation, the Nixon policy has been to impose stringent fiscal and monetary policies to slow the economy, and depend on that to pressure unions and industries to slack off on big wage and price hikes.

TO HALT EROSION — A crane lowers a net of old car tires, bound together, for an experiment to stop soil erosion along the Run River in Minnesota. More than 2,500 old tires are anchored to the bank in the Soil Conservation Service project. Next spring, students and Boy Scouts who helped, will plant a willow in each tire. As the trees grow and soil accumulates the tires will vanish from view. (AP Wirephoto)

THIS INDIVIDUAL HAS HIS OWN IDEAS OF WHAT'S COMFORTABLE.

What's warm for you may not be warm for him. That's why nothing beats electric baseboards for keeping baby's room his kind of comfortable. Each room heated by electric baseboards has its own temperature control. So you can keep baby's room warmer than the kitchen or your own bedroom.

What's more, flameless electric heat is as quiet as a mother's footsteps. And safe enough for a crown prince. When you buy or build a home, talk to your builder about electric heat. Other systems may be good for heating houses. But ours is best for warming individuals.

He is a 1967 graduate of Ayden High School. His wife, Sandra, lives in Kinston.

2Lt. John J. McCarthy, son of Mr. and Mrs. John McCarthy of Greenville, has graduated from the automotive transportation course at the Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune. Bragg and Airborne Training at Ft. Polk, La.

NEW YORK (AP) — American motorists apparently seldom reclaim the deposit money they pay for soft drinks in bottles. They throw away three times as many returnables as they do one-way, no-deposit bottles, according to a national survey.

The survey showed that more than 40 per cent of all bottles littered along highways—beer and soft drink combined—are of the returnable variety.

Keep America Beautiful, Inc., the national anti-litter organization, sponsored the study of roadside litter, which was conducted by the Highway Research Board in cooperation with highway departments of 29 states.

Educators Not Well Informed

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Initial "brainstorming" sessions involving Kentucky state officials and college professors and administrators were not as immediately beneficial to state government as was hoped.

Gov. Louie B. Nunn's staff planned the weekend retreats at isolated state parks to gain fresh ideas. But participants complained that too much time had to be spent informing the educators about state government and its programs.

Computers Make Games Warlike

MISHAWAKA, Ind. (AP) — A computerized gaming idea is taking the hell out of war games.

A technique has been developed by Bendix engineers for simulating naval battle conditions so true to life that missile air defense systems can be evaluated without even a practice shot being fired. It's all done with digital inputs and computer printouts.

basic scientific principles by using visual aids and performing experiments to graphically illustrate the principles. They explain current and future scientific programs of NSAS by using authentic scale models of rockets and spacecraft.

Development of rocketry is traced by the lecturer utilizing electrical and mechanical equipment. The lecturer also discusses propulsion and launch vehicles, electrical requirements of spacecraft, and many of the problems encountered in space flight—manned and unmanned.

The NASA maintains a public service such as the traveling spacemobile; youth programs, publications; motion pictures; exhibits; and tours. Information on arrangements for any of these services can be received by writing to NASA Langley Research Center, Langley Station, Hampton, Virginia 23365.

In addition, a complete technical library is maintained in various national regional libraries. In this area, the information collection is maintained at Charlotte.

Traditionalist In Dance Field

MBABANE, Swaziland (AP) — Traditionalist, African monarch King Sobhuza II, who dons tribal leopard skin loincloth and headfeathers even at state receptions, is a past master of Sibaca—a foot stamping dance for Swazi tribesmen. So he knew what he was talking about when he accused his people of lowering their dancing standards. Tribesmen introduced dance steps from other tribes and worse still, incorporated such modern influences as jive music, he told abashed participants at a recent Sibaca competition. The offending competitors could approach his own courtiers to learn the right steps, Sobhuza said.

Three-Car Crash In Tuesday Accidents

Four traffic mishaps were investigated here yesterday by officers — one a three-car crash at the intersection of 10th and Washington Streets at 6:35 p. m. which involved a police car.

Investigators said Nancy Woodsey Cates, 21, of 211 South Library St. and Leon Alvis Darden, 34, of 1908 East Greenville Blvd., drivers of two of the cars involved in the early evening crash, were taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital for treatment.

A car driven by Janice Evon Corbett, 17, of 407 Arbor St. allegedly failed to stop for a stop light at the intersection, collided with the police car, then struck the Cates vehicle.

Miss Corbett was charged with failing to stop for a stop light.

Damage to the Cates vehicle was set at $1,000, damage to the city police vehicle was estimated to be $900 and damage to the Corbett vehicle was set at $500.

An estimated $200 damage resulted to each of two cars involved in a 9:49 a. m. mishap at the intersection of Greene and Moore Streets which involved cars driven by James Ellis Brewer, 45, of 207 Granville Dr. and Leon Madison Morris, 53, of 1511 Broad St.

Officers charged Morris with failing to reduce his speed and Brewer with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety.

Both drivers involved in a 5:15 p. m. collision at the intersection of Fourth and Jarvis Streets were reported injured.

Officers identified them as Betty Stokes Owens, 2706 East Third St. and Leta Luiee Culbertson, 22, of Greenville, S. C.

Damage to the Owens car was placed at $400, while damage to the Culbertson car was estimated to be $150.

Public Invited Meet Thursday

Electric Rates Plan Is Offered

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer
FARMVILLE — The Farmville Town Board voted last night to offer all - electric rates to home, churches, schools, and business places, each at a different cost per kilowatt hour, effective during the next billing period.

Water and Light Department head J. A. "Bud" Wooten told the Board these special rates would encourage people to use electric heat, etc. and would encourage the use of electricity at schools, which use it primarily during the "slump" winter months, and at churches which use it mainly on Sundays when many businesses and industries are not in operation. The home and commercial rates, figured on a sliding scale, will be from a third to a half cheaper than before. A flat rate of 1.25 cents per kilowatt-hour was set for churches, as was a negotiated rate of 1.10 cents per kw for the new consolidated school being built here.

The Board will advertise for bids on a new accounting machine to replace the old one at the town office which has been in use since January, 1963, and which has given considerable trouble recently.

Two representatives of the Farmville Rescue Squad, Inc. appeared before the Board and asked why rescue squad members cannot be insured by the town as volunteer firemen are. Although rescue squad members are not town employees in the sense that firemen are, the representatives, Adam Corbett and Bryan Pippin were told that the Board, with the help of town attorney John Lewis, will investigate whether town funds legally can be spent in this manner.

Fire Chief H. P. Norman invited the Commissioners to a fish fry to be held by the Fire Department at the station Tuesday, January 20, at 7 p. m. Norman reported five town fire calls, nine rural fire calls, and one false alarm turned in at midnight December 31, which Police Chief Graham Creel said is being investigated.

Action on an application to solicit and take orders for a products by Walter F. and Lois F. Wintseh of 107 South Turnage Street was tabled. Town Clerk Carl Beaman was asked to find out whether the products are stored at the couple's home or whether each order must be sent to the company. If the products are stored here, they will be required to buy a peddler's license.

Street Department head E. P. Freuler told the board some 450 feet of covered drain has been put in a ditch at the Hollywood cemetery and that work is progressing on the Forest Hills cemetery wall, parts of which were washed away during a rain storm last summer. Board members told him about two storm sewer entrances that need

Williamston Board Hunts Extra Sum

WILLIAMSTON — In its January meeting Monday night, the Williamston Town Board was informed that the town's total share of the Martin County Airport located near Everetts, amounts to $17,890.

Earlier, the town had paid $15,000 on this project. The $2,890 due is not in the current budget, but the Budget Committee is studying means to find funds from other sources to pay this amount.

The State Highway Commission presented recommendations concerning speed limits and other regulations for recently completed state projects on Washington Street. Adoption of the recommendations was tabled until the board members can have an opportunity to meet with State Highway officials.

A contribution of $500 was approved to help the Chamber of Commerce defray expense of the Christmas parade and decorations.

The Williamston Planning Board recommended that consideration be given to rezoning the west side of portions of Washington Street from the present residential to a neighborhood commercial zone. The town attorney was directed to advertise the matter for a public hearing to be conducted the first Monday in February, when the town board next meets.

Chief of Police John L. Swain introduced Donny Hardison a new patrolman in the police force. Hardison formerly served on the force as a police dispatcher, and was recently promoted to the rank of patrolman.

Building Secret Joint Facility

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — The United States and Australia will begin construction soon on a top-secret communications station at Australia's Woomera rocket range.

Defense Minister Malcolm Fraser announced that a $4 million contract has been let to an Australian firm for construction of the main buildings and site facilities. The United States will pay about three-fourths of the bill.

The communications station will reportedly be used for both the space and defense programs.

The price set, which would make the total cost $17,400, is too high, but they will have another set of appraisals made in view of the passage of time and the selling of an adjacent lot.

About 500 leaders from Pitt County communities as well as the public, have been asked to meet Thursday night at 7:30 in the Pitt County School Bus Garage by the County Board of Education.

The meeting, according to Pitt County School Superintendent Arthur Alford, is designed to get the community leaders involved in planning and to encourage local initiative in each community in a positive way to help bring about good human relations.

Municipal and county officials, ministers, school principals, teachers, PTA presidents, Merchants Association members and other leaders are included on the guest list and have been urged to attend the session, Alford said.

Included on the program will be a review of developments related to desegregation and consolidation since 1965; a look at what role local government and officials, as well as churches and other community service organizations, may play in bringing about better human relations; and what the black community really wants and really feels; and other topics.

According to Alford, one of the main purposes of the session is to dramatically point out, the need to provide strong, positive

Bucs Snap Furman Win Streak By 81-66

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

East Carolina University came out of the freezer in the second half, and let Jim Modlin pace the way to an 81-66 victory over Furman University last night. It was the first time an East Carolina basketball team has recorded a victory over the Paladins.

Furman held a five-game streak in the series going into the game. And this one was the most lop-sided of the six that have been played.

The Pirates tried to give it away, but Furman couldn't take full advantage of it. The Bucs shot, shot, and shot again in vain in the opening 10 minutes of play. But after 22 attempts at the basket, all they had to show for their efforts was a lone field goal by Jim Fairley which came after nearly seven minutes of play.

Finally, with 10:00 left, Modlin hit and it seemed to break the ice. The Bucs went on to hit on 10 more field shots for the half, for a miserable 29-3 per cent. But despite that, Furman managed only a two-point halftime lead, 33-31.

The Bucs got hotter in the second half, hitting on 16 of 32, for 50 per cent, and it helped to blaze the way to the win.

East Carolina also managed to control the boards, despite the abilities of jumping Jim Brunson, the conference's leading rebounder, and last week's player of the week in the loop. Brunson, who fouled out with 13:06 to play, collected only 10 rebounds, mostly in the first half, and seven points. Lisco Thomas, his jumping mate, got 10 rebounds, going all the way.

The Bucs were led in that department by Jim Fairley with 14 and Jim Gregory with 12, and outrebounded Furman, 54-40 overall.

It was a disappointing night for Gregory, who got only two points on the field goal with just over five minutes left in the game. He fouled out a few plays later.

Modlin, whose scoring and inside play paced the Bucs, finished the game with 31 points. He hit on 11 of 21 from the floor, and nine of 11 at the line. Fairley was next with 18, while Tom Miller had 16.

Furman led most of the first half. They took the lead on Thomas' drive early in the game and built that to 4-0 on a jumper by Charles Selvy, brother of Paladin coach Frank Selvy. East Carolina managed to stay within hailing distance at the line, but couldn't find the mark from the floor.

Furman moved out by as much as eight points in the half, first at 15-7, and then again at 19-11. Brunson and Thomas were the main weapons for the Paladins in the drive, but the lead couldn't hold. The Paladins worked up a 22-17 lead with 6:06 left, and then the Bucs made their move.

Modlin hit a hook to cut the lead to three, and Fairley scored on a goaltending call. Fairley then laid in a rebound to put the Bucs on top, 23-22, with 4:42 to go, but it didn't last.

Furman shot back behind the play of Jerry Martin and regained the lead, holding it the rest of the half. Selvy hit on a drive to put Furman back on top, 24-23, and Steve McCammon hit at the line for a two-point edge. Thomas scored on a rebound to make it 27-23, but the Bucs struggled back again. Only a pair of free throws and a basket by Martin kept Furman on top the rest of the way.

After trailing by two at the half, the Bucs moved quickly in the second half. Modlin drove in to tie it up at 33-33, but Thomas put Furman back in front.

Modlin scored again from underneath to tie it again, and the Bucs never fell back again. Fairley got open for the go-ahead shot with 17:38 to go, and the Bucs led, 37-35.

Fairley hit again, and Miller followed up with a jumper for a 41-35 edge with 16:10 showing. The margin stayed right around that point until Fairley hit a rebound with 9:33 to go and upped the margin to eight at 57-49.

Furman still had one last rally left and charged back, almost taking it away. McCammon hit on a jumper and Steve Cockrum hit two straight to cut the lead back to two at 6:42, making it 59-57.

But the Bucs shot away again and Modlin hit and Julius Prince made good on a pair of free throws. Modlin hit at the line again and Gregory got his only points to make it 66-57 with 5:08 to go.

From there on out, Furman was forced to foul, and the Bucs pulled on out to their final 15-point bulge.

For Furman, Martin led the way with 15, while McCammon had 12 and Thomas had 11.

The Bucs, now 7-5 over and 2-1 in the conference, seek another Southern loop victory on Saturday night when they play host to Virginia Military Institute.

Buc Frosh Hold For Win

East Carolina's Baby Bucs built up a 14-point bulge in the first half, and rode that to outlast Southwood last night, 88-85. It was the second victory in seven starts for the freshmen, but their second straight at home.

The Pirates jumped out to a 4-0 lead on a bucket by Dave McNeil and a pair of free throws, one by McNeil and the other by Al Faber. From there, the Bucs moved out as Southwood was unable to hit.

Faber, Steve McKenzie and McNeil all contributed as the Bucs rolled up a 10-point lead in the first 10 minutes of play, 17-7. Southwood cut into this, pulling it back to five, but the Bucs shot away again.

Baskets by McNeil and Faber built the margin back up to nine, and Jack Redmond hit to make it 11 at 25-14. After that, the Bucs inched on slowly out to as much as 14 when McNeil hit on a three-point play with 1:30 left in the half.

Southwood cut that back to 51-39 at the half.

In the second half, however, E. J. Wilder and Brooks Bradshaw led a Southwood charge, and the Rams almost took it away. They came back and finally tied it up with 5:19 to go as Wilder stole the ball for a basket to make it 79-79. But East Carolina pushed back out on a free throw by McNeil and a bucket by Faber.

Southwood was never able to catch up after that.

Faber led the Baby Bucs with 22 points while McKenzie had 21 and McNeil had 16.

For Southwood, Bradshaw had 33, Wilder had 18, David Dutton had 15 and Jesse Preddy had 11.

The Baby Bucs face Frederick Military Academy Saturday at 5:45 as a preliminary to the ECU-VMI varsity game.

Southwood — Bradshaw 33, Justice 2, Dutton 15, Wilder 18, Tucker 6, Preddy 11, Bass 0.

East Carolina — Faber 22, McKenzie 21, McNeil 16, Pope 4, Shaffer 3, Franklin 6, Downing, Leggett 10, Redmond 6.

Stokes Stops Ayden String

STOKES — Stokes-Pactolus High School knocked Ayden's Tornadoes off the unbeaten list in the Pitt County Conference last night with a 62-52 victory. The Ayden girls, however, got revenge with a 28-18 win in the game.

Ayden's girls pushed out into a 9-4 lead in the first period. In the second frame, they continued their pace, scoring nine more while Stokes couldn't get any better, but got only three. That made it 18-7 at halftime.

In the third period, Ayden again got nine points, while Stokes picked back up for four, making it 27-11. Stokes outlast Ayden, 7-1 in the final period, but to no avail.

In the boys game, Ayden shot out into a 20-16 lead in the first period. Stokes came back to score 18 points in the second period, while Ayden got 14, and that left the two knotted at 34 each at halftime.

In the third period, Stokes slipped out by two outitting Ayden, 10-8 for a 44-42 lead. Then, in the final stanza, Stokes dumped in 18, while limiting Ayden to 10 for the win.

Vansant To Stay On Staff

New head football coach Mike McGee announced Tuesday that Henry Vansant an assistant coach at East Carolina University for the past eight years, will remain with the varsity staff.

"I am very pleased we will have a man of Henry Vansant's high character and exceptional coaching abilities with us," McGee said in making the announcement.

"He is highly regarded in the coaching profession and I am personally looking forward to working with him."

Vansant, who joined the Pirates as freshman coach in 1962, guided the team to an undefeated season in 1966 and then was advanced to the varsity staff where he served as offensive line coach in 1967 and 1968. He was the chief defensive line coach during the 1969 season.

"I am very excited about the future of East Carolina University football," Vansant said. "The football program is entering a new era and I am happy Coach McGee has asked me to be a part of the program."

Vansant, a native of Virginia, graduated from East Carolina in 1961, earning both his M.A. and masters degrees the same year. A veteran of three years service in the 82nd Air Borne Division, Vansant began his football coaching career at Hopewell, Va., High.

Besides his abilities on the field, Vansant is regarded as an outstanding recruiter and has been instrumental in bringing some of the top gridders in the school's history to East Carolina.

He is married to the former Ragnhilde MacDonald of Fayetteville and they are the parents of two sons, Charles 9 and John 4.

The lead swaped hands for the first half of the first period before the Gryphons took eventual control to go into the second period with a 25-18 lead.

From there they stretched it to ten points at 31-21, but the Rampants charged back to cut the lead to four points at the half, 47-43.

Greenville continued to cut away at the Gryphons lead in the second half, whittling it down to two points and eventually tying it at 57 all with 3:59 remaining in the third period on a field goal by Billy Clark.

But the close defensive action also brought on the fouls, and the Gryphons made use of their trips to the line to held maintain their lead.

Clark had 15 for Rose, hitting six of 15 from the floor, and three of five from the free throw line. Harrington had 18, with six of 18 from the floor, and six of eight from the line. He also led the Rose squad in rebounding with seven.

Crowell's Clothing Comments

by Campus Corner

(That Coat Handkerchief)

Even the breast pocket handkerchief in your suit comes in for style changes. At one time you were right up there if you folded your handkerchief so that four precision points peeked above the pocket rim.

This was followed by two points. Then the casual effect won attention. The idea was to give the impression that the handkerchief had been stuffed in the pocket hurriedly. Sometimes it took longer to produce the casual effect than the other modes.

Another coat pocket handkerchief decision has to do with color. Should the handkerchief follow the color of your shirt or the tone of your necktie—a practice that also changes frequently.

To be up to date in this category, ask your haberdasher.

Moral Dilemma Faces 'Oscar' Award Judges

By BOB THOMAS Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Voters of the Motion Picture Academy are faced with a moral dilemma this year: Can they give the film world's biggest prize to an X-rated movie?

There is, of course, nothing in the Academy voting regulations against it. But the majority of Academy members are mature members of the industry who are extremely conscious of Hollywood's public relations stance. And they realize that rewarding an X film could bring a torrent of criticism from those already concerned about the changing morality of movies.

stuck with its X, which meant that juveniles could not be admitted under any circumstances. It is not only one of the most successful, but one of the best reviewed films of 1969, and it is certain to be in the Oscar running at various levels.

Aside from the X controversy, the upcoming Oscar derby will be interesting for its division of the new vs. the old. Will the Academy voters, who represent Hollywood's Old Guard, recognize the highly popular "now" films like "Midnight Cowboy" and "Easy Rider"? Or will they stick with more traditional entertainments like "True Grit" and "Hello, Dolly!"

Dustin Hoffman, "Midnight Cowboy," Anthony Quinn, "Santa Vittoria," or "A Dream of Kings," John Wayne, "True Grit," Alan Arkin, "Popi," Richard Benjamin, "Goodbye, Columbus," Peter O'Toole, "Goodbye Mr. Chips," Richard Burton, "Anne of the Thousand Days," Walter Matthau, "Hello, Dolly!," Robert Redford, "Downhill Racer."

Best actress—Jane Fonda, "They Shoot Horses," Liza Minnelli, "The Sterile Cuckoo," Maggie Smith, "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie," Genevieve Bujold, "Anne of the Thousand Days"; Jean Simmons, "The Happy Ending"; Mia Farrow, "John and Mary"; Anna Mangan, "Santa Vittoria"; Kim Darby, "True Grit"; Ali McGraw, "Goodbye, Columbus"; Barbra Streisand, "Hello, Dolly!"

The center of attention will be "Midnight Cowboy," rated X because of explicit heterosexual and homosexual sequences. Some observers, including myself, find the film less offensive than certain R-rated films (restricted for juveniles, who must be accompanied by parent). For instance, "Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice."

With the end of 1969, companies are now striving to call attention to their hopefuls for the 42nd annual awards. Here is how the entries appear to this observer. The first five in each list are the probable nominees, the second five are possibles.

Best picture—"Midnight Cowboy," "True Grit," "Easy Rider," "They Shoot Horses, Don't They?," "Hello, Dolly!," "Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice," "Z," "The Wild Bunch," "The Reivers," "The Secret of Santa Vittoria."

Best director—Sydney Pollack, "They Shoot Horses," John Schlesinger, "Midnight Cowboy," Henry Hathaway, "True Grit," Sam Peckinpah, "The Wild Bunch," Arthur Penn, "Alice's Restaurant," George Roy Hill, "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid," Frank Perry, "Last Summer," Costa-Gavras, "Z"; Paul Mazursky, "Bob & Carol," Larry Peerce, "Goodbye, Columbus."

Manager Wants Couples

IPSWICH, England (AP) — Young men in this east Anglian town will be allowed into one local cinema only if they come with a girl friend.

The rule, made by cinema manager David Lowe, is aimed at stamping out rowdiness. He made his decision after several local lads had started letting off fireworks in the hall.

"My experience is that these young men behave a lot better if they have a girl with them," Lowe said.

What about necking in the back rows?

"There's nothing wrong with that," Lowe said. "The cinema has always been popular with courting couples."

Personal Tours Of The Parks

JACKSON, Wyo. (AP) — This summer, visitors to Grand Teton, Great Smoky, Glacier and Rocky Mountain national parks and to federally protected Banff and Jasper parks in Canada, can take taped guided tours.

Tourists can get slip-in, pre-recorded tape cassettes at these parks, and rent equipment to play them. Placed in the family car, the voice on the cassette points out sights not to be missed and provides information about natural history, human history, wildlife, park facilities, etc.

Applied Needle To Politician

WHITESBURG, Ky. (AP) — A political candidate, shaking hands vigorously with an elderly man in this small mountain town, said, "Yes, sir, I believe I went to school with you."

Replying with a straight face, the voter said: "Well, I never went but three days and you weren't there on any of them."

Connecticut has an area of 5,009 square miles and population of about 2,540,000.

Football Pros To Appear Before Gambling Inquiry

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Len Dawson, veteran Kansas City Chiefs' quarterback, says he had "a casual acquaintance" with a Michigan restaurateur arrested by Internal Revenue Service agents in connection with a nationwide gambling ring.

Dawson is here to take part in Sunday's Super Bowl game between the Chiefs and the Minnesota Vikings—a professional football spectacular that is guaranteed a sellout crowd of 81,000 people.

Dawson 34, was one of six football figures, including three other professional football quarterbacks, NBC reported would be subpoenaed to appear before a grand jury investigating nationwide sports gambling.

NBC said the other pro quarterbacks were Joe Namath of the New York Jets, last year's Super Bowl hero; Bill Munson of the Detroit Lions, and Karl Sweetan of the Los Angeles Rams, formerly of the Lions and the New Orleans Saints.

The network also named as prospective witnesses Jet end Pete Lammons and Bob Devaney, head football coach at the University of Nebraska.

NBC said the men were not necessarily involved in gambling but would be questioned to fill in certain holes in the investigation.

U.S. Atty. James Brickley of Detroit was quoted by his secretary as saying after the NBC report "whatever NBC has on is not true."

And professional football commissioner Pete Rozelle said in a prepared statement issued at the Super Bowl site that he had "no evidence to even consider disciplinary action against any of those publicly named."

Dawson, the only one of the six who could be reached, issued a statement at the hotel where the Chiefs are housed acknowledging that he knew the restaurateur, Donald Dawson of Birmingham, Mich.

Donald Dawson, who is no relation to what Dawson said was contained in a 30-page affidavit filed in federal court in Detroit Dec. 31 by an agent of the Internal Revenue Service. The agent said Dawson made the remark about Dean fleeing Sober in a telephone conversation in which he added: "I've tried to get his money. I'm still trying, but I can't."

Neither Dean nor Sober has been arrested. The Free Press quoted the affidavit as saying that in a talk with his wife in Phoenix, Ariz., "Dawson said that Sober was going to be leaving Phoenix and going back to Lansing in the near future and that he might be accompanying him; that Sober was going back to Lansing to get $250,000 which he had coming from the sale of a mansion to the State of Michigan." The affidavit was quoted as adding: "Dawson then told his wife that if he could figure out some way to keep Sober in Phoenix until June 1, 1969, he should be able to win at least $40,000 more from him."

The Free Press said the affidavit quoted a conversation between Dawson and his wife on Dec. 21 in which Dawson complained about losing money on football games the day before. "Dawson told his wife," the affidavit said, "that we lost a bundle yesterday, damn it; that those Jets, they should have at least tied that game up and that Sober tells me that Bob Devaney, the coach of Nebraska, told him that his team wasn't ready. What do they do? They win 46 to 6."

Devaney was not immediately available for comment.

Cox To Open Talk Series

GLENN COX

Glenn Cox, principal of Rose High School, will be the initial speaker in a series of Community Awareness meetings to be held on Sunday evenings at 7 o'clock.

Cox will lead a discussion on the general topic "Greenville City Schools."

The meeting will be held at St. Gabriel's auditorium Sunday, Jan. 11, at 7 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

The Community Awareness Meetings are sponsored by the campus chaplains at East Carolina University.

The meetings are to provide a channel of communication between persons of influence in the community and interested citizens. Discussion and questions will follow each talk.

Besides the six prominent football personalities mentioned Tuesday only one other sports name has connected with the investigation—Jerome "Dizzy" Dean, Baseball Hall of Fame pitcher.

The U.S. commissioner at Biloxi, Miss., said Monday a document filed in the U.S. District Court alleges Dean delivered a $6,000 gambling payoff for a prominent Lansing, Mich., businessman.

In Detroit, meanwhile, a federal investigator quoted Dawson—the restaurateur—as saying Dean had "fleeced Howard Sober out of a bundle last year."

Sober, 74, is a Lansing, Mich., businessman who gave his home to the State of Michigan for use as the governor's mansion in

For The Good, And Bad

By MILDRED SIGMON
Monroe Enquirer-Journal
Written For The AP
MONROE, N. C. (AP)—Mrs. Robert Williams, who has spent eight years in Communist exile with her black militant husband, says her hometown of Monroe has changed—"both for the good and the bad."

Mrs. Williams, whose husband is fighting extradition to North Carolina in Detroit, returned to Monroe this week for a reunion with her mother.

Among the changes in Monroe, Mrs. Williams said in an interview, is "the increasing number of blacks in industry." She said that before her family fled in 1961 from Monroe, where Williams is charged with kidnapping, she was active in efforts to increase hiring by industries with government contracts.

She also cited the integration of schools as another worthwhile achievement. But she said she "deplored the increasing number of black drop-outs" in the school system.

Mrs. Williams said the "black community as a whole has deteriorated... it lacks community spirit."

While her husband was in self-imposed exile Mrs. Williams lived in Canada, Mexico, Cuba, Red China and Tanzania. She said she had crossed the Soviet Union border a number of times and has met with Mao of China and Castro of Cuba.

Mrs. Williams called living in China "the greatest experience for me and the family. The society of China is undergoing a great change."

"In those areas," she said, "average people are much more involved in activities that affect their lives." This is, she added, "in contrast to the American way of sitting back and waiting for somebody else to take the initiative."

She said, "People are people around the world and I feel that people have to learn to love each other more—that is one thing lacking in America. In order to keep others down, people themselves have to be oppressed."

"People worry too much about ideology rather than human relationships," she said. "There is too much concern in America about the material things and not enough encouragement of the development of spiritual and moral qualities."

She said she hopes her husband "will not be forced" to return to Monroe for trial on the kidnap charge. If he is, she said, "we'll have to make our headquarters here again."

Sees Threat To Supermarkets

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The fast-growing drive-in, take-out food franchise business poses a threat to supermarkets, a southern California merchandising expert warns.

Every time a family buys a bucket of fried chicken at the corner franchise, it's one less sale at the market poultry counter. Prof. Edward H. Barker, marketing instructor in the School of Business Administration, said Tuesday. Barker said supermarkets should consider replacing some of their meat and grocery counters with a section for prepared meals. They also must speed customer service at checkstands, he said.

Decided To Try Warm Jail Cell

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Crime doesn't pay, especially when the mercury is near zero and there's no heater in the stolen pickup truck you're driving. Detective Orville Summers said a man stumbled into police headquarters late Tuesday night and, through chattering teeth, told this story:

He said he stole a pickup truck in Dothan, Ala., and drove it to Oklahoma City where it broke down. He said he had been sleeping in the truck for three nights and finally decided a warm jail cell and a cup of coffee didn't sound so bad after all.

Officers were happy to oblige.

GOOD SAMARITANS
PUEBLO, Colo. (AP)—Essie Mize put an ad in the Pueblo Star-Journal for a collie dog. Within three days she had her collie, plus 17 other dogs that people insisted on bringing to her.

Opening lead: Seven of ♠ South's hand has an original valuation of 12 points—nine in high cards and three in distribution. After North raises hearts, South is entitled to count an additional point for his long card in that suit. Inasmuch as this gives him the equivalent of an opening bid of 1♥, an opening bid and a fit has been established, South proceeds directly to game in hearts.

West opened the six of hearts and the nine was put up from dummy to hold the trick. The eight of diamonds was led at trick two and when East followed with the four, South played the deuce from his hand. West was in with the ten of diamonds and he returned a second trump, declarer winning in his hand with the ten.

A diamond was ruffed in dummy. The ace of clubs and a club ruff put South in to trump another diamond. When the ace did not drop, declarer ruffed himself in and led a fourth diamond. West was in with the ace and the defense proceeded to cash out two spade tricks to set the contract.

South focused his attentions on the wrong hand. After the opening lead, it is much easier to establish the dummy. Observe the effect, if declarer cashes the ace of clubs at trick two and then ruffs a club.

A spade is now led toward dummy. If West ducks, the jack is put up and East wins with the ace—presumably to lead a second trump. South wins with North's jack to ruff another club. A spade is led the next and West puts up the king—thereby establishing dummy's queen. All that remains is to ruff one more club to set up North's long card in that suit.

South's 10 tricks consist of one spade, three club ruffs in his hand, four hearts in the dummy, and two club tricks.

The Worry Clinic Prison Can Be Launching Pad

Warden Smith gives some interesting information about the U.S. Penitentiary over which he presides. Since the average prisoner's stay there is in 4 years, this equals the university graduate's time on the campus. Smart prisoners learn to discipline themselves and take advantage of their educational courses so they can attain honest success when they get back home!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

CASE L-589: Warden Preston Smith directs the United States Penitentiary at Terre Haute, Indiana.

Recently I was heading to Vincennes to occupy Rev. Larry Fugio's pulpit on Sunday at the Reel Avenue Christian Church. For I now donate my Sunday speeches to various church denominations within a 2-hour driving radius of our farm-home in Indiana.

That means Mrs. Crane and I cover the area from Lafayette and Indianapolis, to Bloomington, Greencastle and Terre Haute, as well as Danville, Illinois and Champaign-Urbana.

It is fun for us, and I also get to contact hundreds of young people, whereas in my Sunday School Class at our Skyscraper Chicago Temple, I reached mostly folks past the age of 50.

En route to Vincennes, however, we stopped to have dinner at the Pick Motel, where we were guests of Dr. and Mrs. Roy T. Combs, of Indianapolis.

Warden Smith and his vivacious wife were also in the dinner party.

And the Warden informed me that the penitentiary really can handle 1,200 prisoners comfortably but now has about 1,350, so double-decker beds are required.

And the average duration of a prisoner's stay is approximately 4 years.

He is granted a maximum of 10 hours of visitation per month.

with visits consisting of 2 hours or more at a time.

And several educational courses are offered to the prisoners so they can help improve themselves during their stay.

A number of prisons throughout the U.S.A. also employ various of the newspaper booklets offered via this column.

In Michigan, for example, one teacher had several hundred prisoners—launched upon the "Compliment Club" project.

Other helpful booklets include the "Vocational Guidance Kit" plus those on "How to Write Salable Copy," as well as "Public Speaking" and especially the 200-point "Tests for Husbands and Wives."

Remember, smart people can capitalize on their time in prison or away in military service by picking up a lot of helpful education if they learn to discipline themselves properly.

Alas, many of the military boys just fritter away their time by playing cards or rolling dice.

Also at the dinner table with us was the motel executive, who said many of the prison visitors stop for the night at his motel.

"How do you know they are coming to visit the penitentiary?" Warden Smith asked, in surprise.

"Oh, it's easy to spot them," was the reply, "for they are not dressed as smartly as the usual motel clientele."

"And they always have money in their hand to pay in advance."

"Besides, as soon as they receive the key to their room, they never head for the room but drive off toward the penitentiary."

In case prisoners get discouraged, you relatives might remind them that many people have attained fame after they spent time in jails or prisons.

O. Henry, the superb short story writer, was one. And St. Paul was likewise a jailbird.

Jesus was also a prisoner, who was scourged and crucified!

So if you have ambition, you can use your incarceration as a helpful period for reorienting your outlook and gaining valuable education.

Noah's Ark?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A team of scientists and explorers plans to melt a frozen lake on Mt. Ararat in Turkey in hopes of finding the remains of Noah's Ark.

The $1 million project, announced Tuesday, is based on discovery last year of several pieces of hand-tooled wood, believed to be more than 4,000 years old, deep in a glacier at the 14,000 foot level on the mountain in northeast Turkey near the Soviet border.

Ralph E. Crawford, president of Search Foundation, Inc., Washington, D.C., told a news conference the expedition will climb the 17,000-foot peak this spring to study ways to melt the 100 by 450 foot ice field, possibly by using volcanic steam. Recovery of an estimated 50 tons of ancient timbers is expected in the summer of 1971.

Fernand Navarra, French explorer who found the timbers in a deep crevasse, said he believes they are from the original Noah's Ark of biblical history.

Crawford said the timbers have been dated at 4,000 to 5,000 years old by methods which measure the rate of decay of radioactive carbon in the wood.

The prow of a ship was seen jutting from the Mt. Ararat ice

Ailing Comedian Much Improved

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Comedian Red Skelton, suffering bronchitis, was much improved and should be released from Desert Hospital before the weekend, his doctor says.

Skelton, 57, complained of dizziness before entering the hospital Monday night.

Yugoslavia has a population of about 20 million.

Wilbur Mills Nearer House Speakership

By EDMOND LEBRETON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1969 tax bill was a legislative triumph for Arkansas' Wilbur D. Mills, most of his colleagues agree, and some of them are beginning to ask whether it has propelled him within reach of the speaker's chair in the House.

The 60-year-old Democrat has been chairman of the most prestigious House committee, Ways and Means, for 12 years. While he is a man who keeps his own counsel, it is understood he would like to crown his career with the speakership.

Some of Mills' recent votes and his co-operation with members seeking to liberalize tax relief features of the big revenue bill tended to raise his stock among Democratic liberals.

Whether this is a result Mills deliberately sought is known only to him, but if the Democrats retain control of the House and he should decide to run for speaker one of his problems as a Southern conservative would be avoiding all-out liberal opposition.

At this moment, Mills plans to revolve around the true intentions of Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., who will be 79 when the 91st Congress convenes in 1971.

While few will say so publicly, there is no question many Democrats would like to see in the Speaker's chair a younger man, one who is, in their view, more alert to the day's issues and more vigorous in staking out party positions in the face of a Republican White House.

It is understood Mills will not oppose McCormack under any circumstances, which raises a question. Why doesn't he opt toward the tradition-oriented party regulars who make up the bulk of McCormack's support?

The answer is that if McCormack does take himself out of the race, Mills would likely face a formidable challenge from a man who could be expected to get a large number of McCormack votes, plus strong support from the party's liberal bloc.

This is Rep. Carl Albert, the 60-year-old congressman from Oklahoma who, as majority leader, already is No. 2 in the House's Democratic hierarchy. Albert is personally popular, has excellent liberal credentials, and boasts half a foot in the Southern camp by virtue of representing that section of Oklahoma known as "Little Dixie."

McCormack's only public comment on reports he might retire after this year came at an emotion-charged news conference Oct. 24 following allegations that one of his aides and a frequent visitor had used McCormack's Capitol office as a base for efforts to influence federal agencies. Denying any knowledge of the reported activities, which are still under Grand Jury investigation, McCormack said he intends to run again for Congress and for Speaker.

In a gesture designed to bring dissatisfaction with the present House regime into the open, rather than to bring about an immediate change, Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., offered himself as a candidate against McCormack for Speaker when the present Congress organized in 1968.

Udall was defeated, as he fully expected. The vote in the Democratic caucus was 178 to 58.

After registering their dissatisfaction, the younger House liberals won some concessions and have been noticeably bolder.

The closing days of the 1969 session saw what was described as a finger-shaking confrontation between McCormack and some of the younger men on the scheduling of the bill to extend the Office of Economic Opportunity.

The insurgents won their point. The bill was pulled off the calendar abruptly when it faced defeat and, against all expectations, was passed comparatively easily later, after the intervening time had been used for a massive campaign against proposals to hand over OEO functions to the states.

Mills took no part in the debate, but he voted with the liberals—as few Southern conservatives did. Whether by coincidence or not, the two other Democrats in the four-member Arkansas delegation went along with him.

Mills also voted for a sweeping measure, backed by liberals and unpalatable to the White House, providing standby presidential authority for controls over all forms of credit and substantial government outlays to support the home mortgage market. Again, the other two Arkansas Democrats went along.

During the tax bill deliberations, Mills agreed to provisions for general tax relief, at the cost of unbalancing the ultimate revenue effect of the bill. Then, accepting demonstrated preference in both chambers for tax relief through an increase in the personal exemption, he shelved his opposition to that method and worked out a version that escaped President Nixon's veto threat.

Such actions tend to present him to the Democratic liberals as a Southerner who, although conservative, is not automatically committed to the conservative position on every issue.

One leader of the liberal House Democrats, discussing the speakership prospects of the record, said Mills has to be counted a possibility for liberal support—"although, of course, we would prefer someone more liberal."

He pointed to the division of his party in the House—a conservative group, almost entirely Southern, and an outright liberal group roughly of the same size, along with a substantial number of unclassified Democrats, largely from big cities.

The big city members, while they tend to vote liberal on issues, also incline to be organizational men on matters of party leadership.

If there should be a big increase in Democratic membership in the next Congress, the leader remarked, chances are that liberals would be stronger proportionately. Then they might well put forward a candidate of their own.

Another well-placed member of the liberal group said he had eliminated Mills earlier as a serious contender because of lack of support among Northerners. But he said Mills is now back in the picture as a result of his recent actions.

'The State' Editor Dies

RALEIGH (AP) — William Pleasant (Bill) Sharpe, 66, editor and publisher of The State magazine since 1951, died Tuesday night in Rex Hospital at Raleigh.

Sharpe was taken to the hospital after suffering injuries in a fall. He was a former newspaperman and publicist for the State of North Carolina.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Thursday at Brown-Wynne Funeral Home. Burial will be in Raleigh Memorial Cemetery.

Sharpe was widely known throughout North Carolina as a recorder of the state's history and a promoter of its industrial and travel opportunities.

He formerly worked on newspapers in Winston-Salem and New Orleans, La. At the age of 22, he became managing editor of the Winston-Salem Journal. He later moved over to the Winston-Salem Sentinel as managing editor.

In 1937 the North Carolina General Assembly set up the state advertising division and Sharpe was named to head it. He later served as state news bureau director.

Profit-Taking Lowers Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Profit-taking helped push the stock market into losing territory Tuesday for the first time in five sessions.

Besides profit taking after four sessions of gains, "there also was quite a bit of switching around by the funds, particularly in the utilities," commented Eldon A. Grimm, Walston & Co. analyst.

The Dow Jones industrial average slipped 7.65 to 803.66 to close near its lowest level of the session.

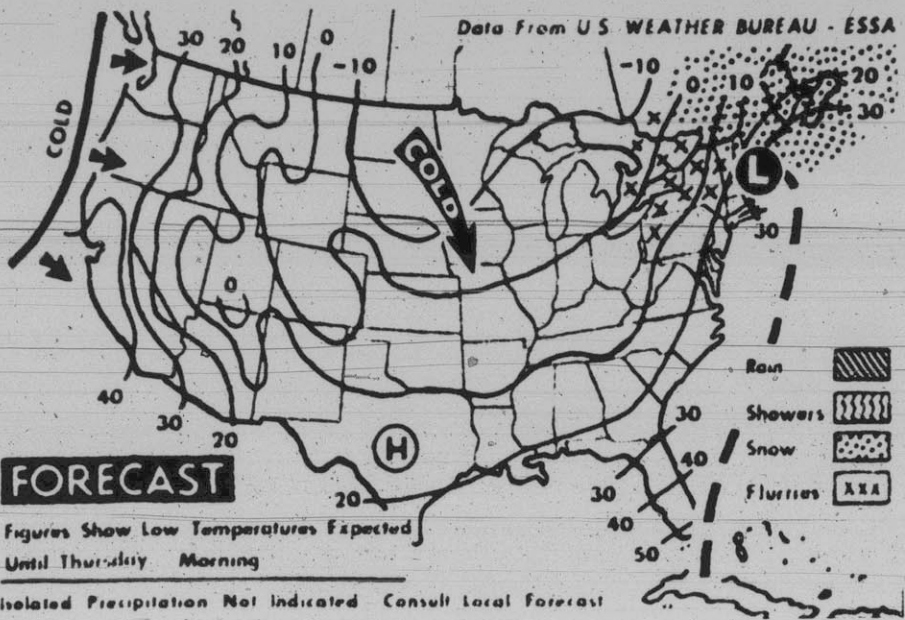

Trading was fairly active, as the market fell back on a wide front.
