

If He Leaves House, Their House Is Strictly For Two He'll Leave Marriage

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I'm sure you've never had another letter like this one. The situation is as follows: My husband has never been a very sociable person. He doesn't enjoy being with relatives, his or mine. In fact, he's never enjoyed being with his own children. Our two eldest are now married and gone, and our youngest recently left for college, so my husband moved out of our bedroom and into the spare bedroom.

I like people, Abby, and always enjoyed having friends and neighbors drop in to visit. When this happened, my husband would feel so "intruded upon" that he'd just excuse himself and find someplace to go.

About a month ago he said it would be better for everyone if he got his own apartment just so he could be by himself. Knowing how stubborn he is, I didn't try to talk him out of it. You understand we aren't angry with each other or anything like that, and he can well afford the apartment. He comes back to visit me often, and seems in a much happier frame of mind. Of course, I'd rather have him home all the time, but I don't want him to be unhappy. No one knows about the apartment but me. What do you think of this setup?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: I think your husband is going to extremes to "be by himself." [A den or spare bedroom to be used as his "private retreat" should suffice.] It seems to me that a husband who first wants "out" of the bedroom, then wants "out" of the house, will probably next want "out" of your life.

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of two small children, and I am very much in love with my husband.

My problem is that I am extremely attracted to my husband's boss. When we see each other socially, I find myself wanting to be near him, and show my affection, but instead I greet him with polite coolness, and avoid him all evening. Oddly enough, I have the feeling that he is attracted to me, too.

Now, I think I have overdone it, Abby, and I am afraid I have hurt his feelings, and he thinks that I actually dislike him. Nothing could be further from the truth. Being an honest person, basically, this bothers me. Do you think I should tell him truthfully why I have been so cool to him? I don't like the feeling I have about the whole thing.

MIXED UP

DEAR MIXED UP: If you are looking for trouble, just "confess" to a man whom you find extremely attractive, and suspect the feeling is mutual, that you've been "cool" to him because you don't want him to know how much you really like him.

My advice to you is to discontinue the artificial winds from the north, and stick by your husband when his boss is in the company.

DEAR ABBY: I never thought I'd be writing to you, but here I go. I work in a fairly large office. All of the girls I eat lunch with are married, myself included. Every day without fail, one of the girls insists on discussing her marital affairs [and she doesn't leave anything out, either] with the girls at lunchtime. We all feel as tho we have a ringside [or should I say "bedside"] seat in their private life. Is there any way someone can tell this person how we feel about this very private matter being discussed at the lunch table? Please sign me.

SICK OF SEX TALK

DEAR SICK: Yes. Why don't YOU take the bull by the horns and tell her?

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TALK ME OUT OF IT" IN CLEVELAND: Memorize the following gem of wisdom by Ella Wheeler Wilcox:

"Talk health. That dreary never-ending tale Of mortal maladies is worn and stale; You cannot charm or interest or please By harping on that minor chord, disease. Say that you are well, and all is well with you, And God shall hear your words and make them true."

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

SHERMAN OAKS, Calif. (WNS) — "If you'd like to know if I'm sleeping with my leading man, the answer is yes" says Linda Kay Hensing, leading lady of CBS-TV's "Petticoat Junction."

"His name is Mike Minor, and he's my husband on the show, and my husband at home, too."

"We've owned this little house for about a year, ever since we've been married. We've had to do a lot of work on it because it was really blah when we bought it."

"We're not too talented in the do-it-yourself department, so we hired people to do the basic, hard work, like painting and structural changes."

"Neither one of us had one stick of furniture when we moved in, so we had to buy everything. We furnished the house ourselves. We both like the Mediterranean feel, so the decisions were easy. Actually, we wanted to buy heavy Spanish pieces, but decided against it because the house is so small."

One Floor

The little white cottage with yellow trim and yellow shutters has a living room, dining area, kitchen, master bedroom and den, all one one floor.

Says Linda, "We wanted to add another room on the back of the house, but the building inspector said no, so we turned the little back room into a real kicky den, with lots of bright color, and lots of shelves, too, since, if there's one thing this house really lacks, its storage space."

"It's a small house. Easy to keep up, and I do it all myself. We're going to stay here until we decide to have a family. As soon as I get pregnant, this house has had it! In the meantime, it's just perfect."

"Next thing we have to do here is recarpet. This carpeting came with the house. It was ratty even then, and it's been cleaned twice, so it's in pretty bad shape."

"I'm going to carpet the living-dining area in a Spanish olive green to match the upholstery. And the bedroom will have a deep royal blue carpet to coor-minate with the bedspread and curtains.

Hooked Rugs

"The one thing I am doing myself for the house is making two big hooked rugs. One for the living room, and one for the bedroom. They'll go on top of the new carpeting. But I've got to confess, I'm doing them with one of those hand hooking machine kits, and they're a snap to do."

"There are two primary essentials the next house has got to have: a dishwasher, and lots of storage space."

"Our dining area can seat four to six easily, and it's fun. More than that is too much, especially without a dishwasher. We put a new floor, a new range, and a new refrigerator-freezer in the kitchen, but there just wasn't room for a dishwasher, and I can't stand to see things piled up in the sink."

"And stooge! I sometimes think the only way I'll ever find a place for Mike's socks is to put them in the freezer and then thaw them out every morning."

Kickoff For NBSW Held By Cosmetologists

The kickoff for National Beauty Salon Week was held at the monthly meeting of the Pitt County Cosmetologist Association Tuesday night.

Roger Jenkins, official Hair Fashion Committee member of Roanoke Rapids, presented the program. He featured the new trend "question mark."

Mrs. Patsy Paramore announced plans for National Beauty Salon Week to be held Feb. 8-14. As chairman, she is directing activities for the week which include a television appearance, luncheon, free services to be given to the local nursing home, trips to schools and clubs to make speeches on hair and skin care, and the decorating of shop windows carrying out the theme for this year "Joy is a New Hair Style."

President Bessie Dixon presided at the business session and congratulated Mrs. Paramore on winning the title of state National Beauty Salon Week Queen.

She welcomed Janita Ross, Linda Gaskins, Susan Presser, Virginia Peebles and Nancy Johnson as new members.

Members were reminded of the National Beauty Salon Week luncheon on Sunday, Feb. 8, at 12:45 p.m. at the Greenville Moose Lodge.

The next meeting will be held on Feb. 24.

PARMESAN BISCUITS

1 1/4 cups buttermilk biscuit mix
1/2 cup light cream
2 tablespoons freshly grated Parmesan cheese

Into a small bowl turn the biscuit mix and cream; with a fork stir until all dry ingredients are moistened. Spoon into a 12-cup muffin pan (each cup about 1 3/4 inches in diameter and 3/4 inch deep); muffin-cups will be almost full. Sprinkle with cheese — 1/2 teaspoon for each muffin cup. Bake in a preheated 450-degree oven until lightly browned — 10 to 12 minutes. With a small spatula loosen biscuits and remove. Serve at once. Makes one dozen small biscuits.

1 cup confectioners' sugar
1 egg yolk
2 1/4 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon ground cloves
Whole cloves
Confectioners' sugar

Preheat oven to 350 degrees.

Cream the butter with 3/4 cup confectioners' sugar until almost white. Beat in the egg yolk. Sift together the flour, baking powder and ground cloves, add to butter mixture and blend to a smooth dough. On a lightly floured board, roll dough to a thickness of half an inch. Cut into desired shapes, insert one whole clove in the center of each cookie, and place, one inch apart, on ungreased cookie sheets. Bake for 20 minutes, or until pale gold. Remove from oven, and while the cookies are still hot, dust generously with confectioners' sugar.

Police Allowed To Wear Flag

BOSTON, (AP) — Police Commissioner Edmund L. McNamara issued an order Thursday allowing Boston policemen to wear, on a voluntary basis, a small American flag pin as part of their uniform.

According to McNamara's order the flag pin cannot be larger than a square inch. It can be worn on the left lapel of the outer uniform or on the tab of the uniform shirt.

The pocket gopher's incisor teeth grow about 46 inches a year, but constant gnawing keeps them worn down to practical size.

Program will be heard each Sunday morning from 7:45 a.m. to 8 a.m. over Radio Station WPKY.

The Progressive Club of Philippi Christian Church will meet Sunday at 4 p.m. at the church.

The South Greenville Community Club will meet Monday at 7 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Mary F. Jones, 601 A Howell St. Officers of the club are: Mrs. Irma Kennedy, President; Mrs. Unice Burney, Vice President; Mrs. Mabel Jonah, Secretary; Mrs. Odessa Perkins, Assistant Secretary; and Mrs. Cary Nobles, Treasurer.

FASHION FORECASTS

by C. Heber Forbes

(That Special Dress)
Have you ever shopped for hours seeking a special dress for an important event? Finally, you found one that had something special — you felt right in it and knew it looked right on you.

You arrived at the special event feeling well-dressed and poised. Then — HORRORS!! Your hostess was wearing the same design! Don't feel bad. It happens to the most prominent women.

Senator Edward Kennedy's wife appeared at a White House reception wearing the same cowl-necked, short-sleeved, Ben Zuckermann design as her hostess, Mrs. Lyndon Johnson. Fortunately Zuckermann, tailor-turned-designer, used discretion in fitting his clients. Mrs. Kennedy's dress was pink, the First Lady's blue and several inches longer than her guest's modified miniskirt. Since each lady had individualized her dress with different accessories, their mental anguish was minimized — in fact, it didn't show.

Moving Near Execution Stage

Greenville's Central Business District rehabilitation project gives signs of moving to the execution stage following Thursday night's Redevelopment Commission hearing and speedy concurrence by the Planning and Zoning Commission.

Now the City Council has only to concur in the plans and hold another public hearing as required by law before the Redevelopment Commission can actually begin carrying out the plan.

Most downtown merchants and most citizens seem to agree that a workable plan has been developed for rehabilitating the downtown area.

This forward looking project is estimated to cost $7,864,193 and it will take eight to ten years to complete. The federal government has already reserved its three-fourths share of the net project cost and the city will provide a fourth of the net cost, mostly through street and utilities work which city and utilities forces will be doing in connection with the project. Thus the city will be obtaining major improvements of its downtown area for a minimum cash outlay.

The downtown redevelopment project has been carefully planned and long discussed by local governmental units and by citizens and merchants of the city. It seems now that we have a practical plan which can be carried out over a period of years in an orderly manner.

The downtown project is not a demolition project such as was carried out in the Shore Drive area. Rather it is an effort to upgrade the present buildings in the area so they meet minimum structural standards. For its part the city will provide adequate streets leading into the area, parking lots, an Evans Street mall and general beautification.

Greenville has outstanding plans for improving the Central Business District.

We trust the city council will move rapidly to complete its hearing so that the project can soon get underway.

Census Taker's Job Is Easier

(This guest column for the N.C. Association of Afternoon Dailies was prepared by Sherry McCullough, reporter for the Raleigh Times.)

By SHERRY MCCULLOUGH

RALEIGH — Times have changed for the census taker in North Carolina and for the better.

In 1800, Willis Hinton, as assistant federal marshal and census taker for Raleigh and Wake County in the Hillsborough District, covered ground for his pay.

He received $1 for every 150 persons registered in a rural area, $1 for every 300 persons registered in a city of more than 5,000 and $1 for every 50 persons registered in what could be called wilderness.

He faced a $200 fine for "failing to make return" of his figures to federal officials.

Enumerators for the 1970 census which officially begins in North Carolina's ten districts on April 1 average $70 to $80 a week salaries.

Hinton faced such stumbling blocks as no adequate roads, no bridges and of course, the reticence of the public who back then opposed the census on "religious grounds" or because they felt it was a devious method to extract more taxes from them.

Today's enumerators canvass only rural areas. Sixty per cent of the population is being evaluated through mailed-out questionnaires.

The most common from going to four out of every five households contains 23 questions and takes only about fifteen minutes to complete.

The public balked most heartily this go round at the "Do you have a bathtub or shower?" question. The choices originally read: "Yes, for this household only; yes, but shared with another household; and no bathtub or shower."

Some Congressmen cited the question as an intrusion into personal matters causing the Bureau of Census to change the phrasing of "share with another household" to "used also by another household."

A peek into the records at the State Library show how the census has changed since it was first conducted in 1790 under the auspices of the first Census Act signed into law March 1 that year.

The head of each family was queried only about the composition of his household; free white males 16 and under (a category established to measure the military strength of the country), free white males under 16, free white females including heads of families all other free white persons and slaves.

In 1790, North Carolina tabulated a total population of 393,751. In 1800, the city of Raleigh founded in 1972 was included in its first census.

In 1800, Hinton further broke down the male and female population according to age: Under 10, 10 to 16, 16 to 26, 26 to 45, and over 45.

The task of making the first census was assigned to the president but in 1800 was shifted to the shoulders of the Secretary of State. The brass tacks, of enumeration was delegated to the 17 federal marshals and approximately 350 assistants.

Nine months were originally allotted for taking the first census, but it took South Carolina a total of 18 months to complete her count.

The first census emerged as a small 56-page volume which was not uniform for all states. A preface to the volume explained that the original copies of the censuses of the states, kept in the U.S. Bureau of Census were written on various sizes and qualities of paper. The copies range from 7 inches long and three inches wide to 21 inches wide.

After the 1970 census, collected forms will be photographed and reduced in size to about 1/2 inch negative microfilm. The questionnaires will be filmed at a rate of two per second in an automated system.

The Census Bureau estimated that by using 35 cameras for 16 hours a day, 6 days a week every questionnaire can be put on microfilm within 100 days.

The film will then be transferred to a fosidic 70 scanning device (a film optical sensing device for computer input). The device reads 450 micrilm per minute and transfers the white dots from the film into magnetic dots in code on computer tape at a rate of 30,000 characters a second.

The computer will identify the meaning of dots on tape and simultaneously select, add and relate totals to states, Congressional districts and other census tracts.

At this point, the users of census data will have access to the information. Some of the dots will be converted to words and numbers for film to be printed census books. Other will be reconverted to microfilm for researchers.

'Sensitivity' Doesn't Matter; Relief Does

The first American planes carrying relief items for Biafra arrived in Nigeria earlier this week.

The planes carried three trucks, 10 electric generators and 600 blankets. Other planes carrying relief items were to follow it.

Strangely the U.S. Air Force planes carried no markings and its crews wore civilian clothing. This was done because of the Nigerian government's sensitivity toward outside relief.

No matter. If the relief supplies are needed in the Biafran area it is best that we furnish them, even without markings on our planes.

Egyptians Are Just Resigned

By ROWLANE EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

CAIRO — If Israel's evermore daring raids into the heart of Egypt are designed to topple President Gamal Abdel Nasser, as the Israelis themselves profess, Israel is almost certainly doomed to disappointment. Instead, the spectacular feats now being performed by Israeli arms are having a different result: making Nasser more reluctant to start peace talks.

The political corollary of the dashing and humiliating Israeli raids seems to be a Nasser build-up at home. Instead of making him politically vulnerable to the revenge-seeking passions of the Egyptian people, who might be expected to make a scapegoat out of Nasser, the Israeli successes so far are doing just the opposite — consolidating Nasser's position. Every scrap of government propaganda is being used to that end.

The whimsical reaction of an Egyptian housemaid to the loud presence of a low-flying aircraft on the outskirts of Cairo one day last week is symbolic. A Westerner rushed to the door for an anxious look at the plane.

"Don't worry," she said, "it's one of our paper planes."

It was, indeed, one of Nasser's aircraft, an old-style turboprop. But what did she mean, "paper plane?" "We put them up to confuse the enemy," she said. "They are made of paper, but the Israelis think they are real."

It is only a guess how many Egyptians have been taken in by this Alice-in-Wonderland tale spun by Nasser's propaganda doctors to explain away the phenomenal 10-to-1 ratio of air kills that Israeli fighter pilots, now flying U.S.-made Phantoms, have rung up over Egypt since the 1967 six-day war. But it partially explains the lack of anger at Nasser in the teeth of the Israeli attacks now striking within listening distance of the heart of the capital.

Sympathy for Nasser, not outrage at the humiliating Egyptian reverses, is still the dominant mood. It is strengthened, moreover, by the fatalistic resignation which has been so much a part of the Egyptian psyche for untold centuries.

This national mood is summed up in the word "malesh" — "so what, that's life." "Malesh" is being heard a great deal here these days.

In the upper ranks of Nasser's government and army, reaction to the audacious Israeli escapades is far different. Nasser and his military chiefs are furious at the ease with which Israeli paratroops have been able to heist his radar machines and carry them home. Behind the walls of official secrecy, the army is said to have court-martialed between three and five officers for the disgrace of the radar theft at Ras Ghareb. The charge: failure to respond to the Israeli attack despite the presence of two armored battalions only 30 miles away. The sentence: death by shooting.

What part the Soviet military advisers played in this punishment can only be conjectured. But the Russians, who are doing a slow boil over the humiliation of their foremost client in the Middle East, have little recourse. They flatly refuse to give Nasser long-range aircraft to retaliate against Israeli cities. Above all, they fear an escalation that might result in a major but futile Egyptian attack across the Suez Canal which, in turn,

J.B. Wouldn't Buy It

WASHINGTON — The story of Michael Brody, heir to an oleomargarine fortune in millions, thousands or hundreds depending on which newspaper you read on which day, sounds like it was written by two very hungry Hollywood writers.

They go in to see the head of the studio.

"J.B., we have this great idea for a movie. Tell him, Al."

"Well, J.B., it's about this 21-year-old kid who plays a guitar and has long hair and believes everyone should love each other. He inherits $25 million from his grandfather, who invented a butter substitute."

J.B. says, "Both of you get out of here!" Wait a minute, J.B. There's more to it than that. He walks down the street handing out thousands of dollars to anyone he likes. Pretty soon, there's an army of people trying to get him for schemes they want financed."

J.B. looks at the two men. "Do you want me to call the studio police?"

"Please, J.B., let Sam tell you what we've got in mind. The guy can't go anywhere without people following him and screaming at him for some of the money. People sit outside his home, his apartment. They call him night and day. They tear his clothes; they break his guitar. He has to hire a bodyguard. The press won't let him alone.

"He holds a press conference and announces he has the solution to the Vietnamese war."

J.B. clenches his fist. How the hell did you guys get into my office in the first place?"

"Sam, tell him what happens next."

"Then he demands to see President Nixon. He says he's got something very important to tell him. He goes to the White House, but the guards won't let him in. So he says he'll meet with Brezhnev in the Kremlin instead. You take it, Al."

"While all this is going on, the guy is being dogged day and night by nuts. He's starting to flip. He screams at the people that they're all greedy, and he won't give them any money if they act like animals."

J.B. pressed the buzzer on his desk. The secretary came in. "Show these men out and if they come back again, call the nearest mental institution."

"J.B., this could be a great movie. Bigger than 'Easy Rider'. The guy gets so sore at the people that he hires a plane and flies to the Caribbean with a pleneload of reporters. But he can't find any peace there, either. So he flies back to New York and decides to make a record about peace."

"Now, this is the part you're going to like, J.B. It's the finish to end all finishes. Tell him, Sam."

"The guy goes on the Ed Sullivan Show! Ed interviews him and then he sings a song."

"Can't you see it, J.B.? The whole country is watching him and he tells them that money isn't everything, and the most important thing is to have good vibrations."

J.B. gets up from his chair. "OUT!!! OUT!!!"

Both writers hold onto the desk as the studio police start pulling them.

Other Editors Say Off-Bench Roles

(Kinston Free Press)

The seven-judge Ethics Committee appointed by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger to evaluate off-duty activities in which federal judges may honorably participate, has come up with a couple of suggestions that make sense to us.

Judges who are doing part-time teaching in their off-duty time will be allowed to continue. Those who serve as trustees in the settlement of a relative's estate also will be considered engaging in ethical, off-duty pursuits.

The committee was guided by the canons of the American Bar Association in approving this type of off-duty activity. A judge who draws some $1,750 per semester for part-time teaching was allowed to continue this service.

Another judge who was serving as a trustee under an uncle's will and drawing from $1,250 to $1,500 yearly, was also allowed to continue this service.

When the whole issue of judicial ethics arose some months ago attention was focused on conflict-of-interest activities. Such duties as would place a federal jurist in the position of having to rule on matters affecting corporate interests in which he might have a personal stake were scored.

The seven-judge panel is an outgrowth of a sharp turnabout by the U. S. Judicial Conference on the subject of off-bench compensation. When the Conference met last June under then-Chief Justice Earl Warren, it prohibited all federal judges below the Supreme Court from accepting compensation of any kind unless the service was in the public interest and approved by leading judges in the circuit.

This latest ruling offers further clarification on the status of federal judges and their ethical activities off the bench, and it should be helpful. The two specific activities now approved should not result in any personal interest conflicts with cases before the federal courts.

War On Defense Waste

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — "We've got to create a situation in which public servants are made accountable for their actions."

"We've got to supply a counter constituency to the military."

In this frame of mind, "my competitive spirit aroused," A. Ernest Fitzgerald takes to the road for a year of meetings with businessmen about what he and his sponsor feels is enormous military waste and inefficiency.

Fitzgerald, 44-year-old father of three, an industrial engineer by profession, will speak from conviction.

On Nov. 13, 1968, he testified to a Congressional subcommittee about a $2 billion overrun for the C5 military cargo plane. He was asked to confirm or deny a cost estimate by the committee's staff.

"I could acknowledge or deceive," he said. "I told the truth, and one thing led to another."

After a year of what he felt was isolation and humiliation, Fitzgerald was told that his $31,000 a year Air Force job was abolished.

To that point, Fitzgerald said, he didn't feel like a crusader. "I didn't try to blow the whistle," he said in a placid Southern drawl that belies his deep feelings, "but the reaction, the oppressive tactics did disturb me. It was foreign to our style."

Fitzgerald feels that Air Force intelligence went on a "fishing expedition" seeking to discredit him. "They looked for moral lapses of any kind, for conflicts of interest, for financial interests."

The Air Force maintained that it abolished Fitzgerald's job in order to save money and that they had sought unsuccessfully to place him in another part of their operations.

Says Fitzgerald: "Their reaction to accusations of waste is not to fix the problem but to put out the person who accuses. Their intention is self survival. There's a lack of checks and balances. Who are they accountable to?"

Fitzgerald wasn't out of work long. He became a consultant to the committee whose investigations preceded his dismissal. And the Businessmen's Educational Fund hired him under an arrangement that will give him a total salary almost matching that of his Air Force job. He will travel for nearly a year, lecturing, conferring, advising, educating.

A meeting with businessmen in Palo Alto, Calif., on Feb. 9 is the first date on his agenda, following the next day by a meeting with businessmen in San Francisco and another two days later in Los Angeles, all under BEF auspices.

And what is BEF?

A rather loose arrangement of 200 businessmen organized primarily by Harold Willens, 55, president of Factory Equipment Supply Corp., Los Angeles, and developer of real estate along Wilshire Boulevard.

Born in poverty, Willens now is wealthy enough to feel there is more to life than bank accounts. His particular interest is in reordering American priorities, primarily by reducing the influence of the military.

Big military budgets, he is convinced, are directly related to the deterioration in the quality of much of American life, partly because of its effect on the spirit,

Strength For Today

CONSTANT CHANGE

Is it good for us to get stirred up or is it bad?

Yes and no. If we lived a placid existence, never being stirred up by controversy, we would be living a life uninteresting to ourselves and unimpressive to others. There is, however, such a thing as being always stirred up. Some people live that type of existence, and they make themselves and others very miserable. There is always a big issue on hand. Somebody is always making a mistake. The house is turned upside down. There is complaint in the office and a lot of whispering among people who work on machines.

Whether we like it or not, we have to face the fact that ideal life involves constant change. There is, and should be, excitement, protest, loud affirmations of agreement, some time spent every day pondering on problems which appear to admit of no solution.

The physical world is in a constant state of agitation. Scientists tell us that solid bodies are not as solid as we think they are. Positive and negative units of electricity revolve about one another constantly. The beautiful landscape is in such a state of agitation that we would be terrified if we knew what was happening out there, and even more so if we realized the state of agitation which goes on in our bodies all the time.

Let us not cry Peace, Peace, when there is no peace. Let's not try to change the world all at once. The Creator appears to have a purpose. Give Him a chance to work it out.

Remembering Long-Gone Days

By ELMER ROESSNER

I remember going to a butcher shop on Piedmont Ave. in Oakland, Calif., with my mother when I was 6 years old. Perhaps it lingers in my memory because Lund the butcher always gave me a thick slice of bologna. I remember that spareribs were 10 cents a pound, but if Mother bought a roast, too, Lund didn't charge for the spareribs.

I remember Mother wanted me to wear blue serge suits on Sundays and she used to take me to Smith Brothers downtown where she paid $5 for them.

I remember Dad worked in Fairchild's shoe store, and I remember him telling Mother that he made $23 a week not counting spiffs, which often came to $2 more a week. Spiffs were commissions for selling slow-moving shoes.

Dad's Invention

I remember Dad telling about his invention. In those days women wore shoes half way up to their knees. They cost $2.50 a pair. A few days after heavy women brought a pair, he said, they always came back to have a leather gore put in because they were too tight around the top. One day Dad told a shoe drummer (a traveling salesman, kids) his company ought to make a line of shoes with an elastic triangle at the top in back so they would fit women with either fat or thin legs. The company used the idea and the shoe sold for $2.75. The drummer thanked Dad and brought him a drink.

I remember Dad telling me that he didn't take lunch with him because all the saloons had free lunch counters. If he brought a glass or two of beer, he could have all the roast beef or pork sandwiches, sausage, beans and potatoes he wanted.

I remember seeing signs in front of almost every saloon saying, "Largest glass of beer in town—5 cents."

Prunes At 2 Cents A Pound

I remember my parents bought a prune ranch in the Santa Clara Valley a few years later. I was paid 6 cents a 50-pound box for picking up prunes from the ground. Dad got 4 cents a pound for fresh prunes or 8 cents a pound for dried ones at the packer's. The next year the prices fell to 2 cents and Dad took a job in San Jose to supplement his income.

I remember we didn't have a cow so my parents sent me with a bottle to the farm across the road where I got milk for 5 cents a quart. It wasn't pasteurized, homogenized or vitaminized, but it sure tasted good and creamy. Heavy cream was 15 cents a quart, but because we were regular customers, we got it for 10 cents.

I remember going on shopping trips to San Jose with my parents. The Woolworth store priced everything at 5 or 10 cents but Dad, who was a staunch union man, told Mother not to shop there because they paid salesgirls only $4 a week.

I remember my weekly allowance, up to the time I earned my own money carrying papers, was a Sunday dime.

All of this shows (1) that we have had a hell of a lot of inflation since those days and (2) that I am probably a lot older than you.

Field, Grass Fires Become A Problem

Appointed Area Representative

Mrs. N. G. DeBter of Rawlwood Arms Apartments here has been appointed Greenville membership representative for the Friends of the College concert series at North Carolina State University.

This season at the Coliseum will include performances by the New York Philharmonic; the Bayanihan Philippine Dancers; the Zagreb Philharmonic; Van Cliburn; the American Ballet Theatre; the London Bach Society on its first tour of the United States; and a special program was massed choruses, orchestra, and soloists, bringing together over 360 musicians.

The 12th season will cost $140,000, but the membership fee is $7. The Friends of the College is believed to be the largest concert series of its kind in the United States. This drive ends March 9.

Field and grass fires are now becoming a major problem for the Pitt County rural fire departments, according to Pitt County Fire Marshal Mike Worthington.

Reporting a total of 12 grass and field fires since Monday which have resulted in fire units having to report to the scene to extinguish them, Worthington commented: "I want farmers to be more careful with these fires. There are far too many calls due to field fires getting out of hand and getting into woods." Worthington reminded county people that "a permit from the Forestry Service is required for any fire started within 50 feet of a building or a woods."

Worthington says that if a fire occurs where no permit has been issued, charges of misdemeanor can be made, with a possible fine or imprisonment involved in the case of convictions.

Persons desiring information on regulations should contact the Forestry Service at 756-0414 or can call Worthington at 752-5136. "I have a list of 20 places in the county which can be contacted for permits," Worthington says. "This makes it easy for anyone wanting to get a permit to get one."

Accordingly, to avoid the slow, steady destruction of Egypt's military strongpoints, the Soviets may soon be forced to switch signals and encourage Nasser into some kind of political talks.

The first phase of this switch may already have started, with Nasser giving a green light to King Hussein of Jordan to wet his toes on the political front by agreeing to talks with Israel through third parties.

But as long as Israeli aircraft and commandos continue their attacks deep into Egyptian territory, Nasser himself is not about to start settlement talks.

Omar Would Like A Career In Bridge

By KENCONWAY
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Omar Sharif is a highly paid international movie star whose dark good looks may cause the most heart throbs since Rudolph Valentino.

He has everything going for him, you might think, that a fellow could ask.

Not quite.

Except that it would severely diminish his income, says the 37-year-old Egyptian, he would give up films for a career in professional bridge.

"At the bridge table I feel I am the captain of my soul and the master of my fate," the star of "Dr. Zhivago" told an interviewer. "I find myself hoping the game will never end."

Sharif, who plays as much as he can between movie jobs, is in town as a member of the Omar Sharif Bridge Circus. He and seven other foreign experts are playing top teams in big cities around the country.

The entourage came to the United States fresh from an 80-rubber match against British experts in London for one pound — $2.40 — a point and side bets. Sharif and company pocketed about $18,000.

Sharif says bridge is an ideal spectator sport, "more fun to watch than to play."

Spectators are admitted to his circus for $3 each.

"It's a fast moving game, much faster than golf," he says.

As a man with a reputation for gallantry, what does he think of women as players?

"Women aren't as good as men," he said ungalantly. "They can't concentrate as well."

Sharif does not play regularly with any special teammate. The circus includes such noted bridge masters as Giorgio Beladonna, Benito Garozzo and Leon Yalouze, all of Italy, and Claude Delmouly of France.

Sharif and his fellow bridge experts take on the top local players in whatever city they visit and so far have scored victories by 95 match points in Winnipeg and by 68 in Chicago. The tour is underwritten by playing card and bridge table manufacturers.

Sees Importance Of Good Image

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Chicago judge, noting that the nation now has 104 million registered drivers, says the goal of any traffic court should be a good image, adding: "It's there that the public gets its impression of justice."

Raymond H. Berg, supervising judge of Cook County traffic courts, urged Thursday that undercover court investigators be employed to prevent irregularities. He also urged computerized control of files and a speed-up in the handling of traffic cases.

Berg is here for the 23rd Western Regional Traffic Court Conference sponsored by the American Bar Association.

He asked damages of $4.6 million. Aris is seeking $3.2 million.

Deer Herds Reduced By Illegal Hunting

ASHEVILLE (AP) — Illegal deer hunting has contributed to the lack of herds outside game management areas in the southern Appalachians, Tennessee's wildlife protection chief says.

Roy Anderson made the comment Thursday at a big game workshop at Asheville, being held to discuss restoring big game to the region. Representatives from Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina and Virginia also attended.

One of the reasons for few deer herds is wild dogs, many said. Clyde Huntsinger of Hot Springs, N.C., said: "I personally know of 10 deer being chased into the French Broad river by dogs during the recent subzero weather."

A suggestion made about curbing deer poaching was better law enforcement. Hugh Robertson of the North Carolina Wildlife Law Enforcement Division said, "A court's taking away a violator's hunting and fishing license hurts more than a heavy fine."

Shortage In Transformer 'Copter Pad At Florida Home

Electric service in Greenville was interrupted for about 15 minutes this morning when one of the main transformers at the Greenville Utilities Commission's power plant short-circuited about 10:45.

Charles Horne, Director of Utilities said one unit in a bank of six transformers shorted out, causing a temporary shutdown of the other five units on the bank which reduces 34,000 volt current to 12,000 volts.

Workmen, Horne explained, by-passed the one bad unit and restored service.

Horne said he had no idea what caused the shortage. A spare transformer at one of the Utilities' sub stations will be installed in place of the bad unit he said.

The six transformers in the bank were installed in November, according to Horne, and depending on what the cause of the trouble was, may still be covered by the warranty.

Pitt Has One Of State's Most Hazardous Sites

RALEIGH—Pitt County has one spot which is listed among the most hazardous rural traffic locations recently by the Traffic Engineering Department of the North Carolina State Highway Commission.

The Pitt location is the intersection of U. S. 264 and Fields Street in Farmville. The study showed 20 accidents had occurred at that intersection since 1965. An average of 5,400 vehicles travel that section per day.

The engineers, after months of study, listed 225 intersections, 54 traffic concentration points, 15 bridges, 22 sections and 12 railroad crossings, which have high accident frequencies. All the points listed are outside incorporated cities and towns, the report showed.

Collects On Old Coyote Bounty

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Henry Grove, 84, of Williamsburg, N.M., Thursday was awarded $5 for a 61-year-old bounty on three coyotes he killed while a Colorado rancher.

Grove recently sent the state bounty warrants to Rio Blanco County, noting that the county clerk had refused him payment in 1909 because the scalp bounty fund had run dry.

Two more warrants were produced Thursday in the Colorado House of Representatives, where the money was offered in a bill by Rep. Eldon Cooper.

"Such a precedent would be a millstone around our necks," countered Rep. Forrest Burns, D-Lamar, a rancher.

After much debate, Burns relented by resolving to personally write Grove a check for $5 so the arguments wouldn't prolong House business. His motion passed unanimously.

Deer Herds Reduced By Illegal Hunting

ASHEVILLE (AP) — Illegal deer hunting has contributed to the lack of herds outside game management areas in the southern Appalachians, Tennessee's wildlife protection chief says.

Roy Anderson made the comment Thursday at a big game workshop at Asheville, being held to discuss restoring big game to the region. Representatives from Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina and Virginia also attended.

One of the reasons for few deer herds is wild dogs, many said. Clyde Huntsinger of Hot Springs, N.C., said: "I personally know of 10 deer being chased into the French Broad river by dogs during the recent subzero weather."

A suggestion made about curbing deer poaching was better law enforcement. Hugh Robertson of the North Carolina Wildlife Law Enforcement Division said, "A court's taking away a violator's hunting and fishing license hurts more than a heavy fine."

Readmit All But 6 Pupils

Ten of the 16 Aycock Junior High school students temporarily suspended from school on Wednesday were readmitted to school today.

Principal John Jones reported this decision was made after a meeting with the involved students and their parents at the school last night.

"We met with all the parents at 7:00 p.m., then called each student in individually, followed by each parent individually," Jones said. "We also took into consideration teachers reports on each of these students, which showed their individual pattern of behavior throughout the school year."

"At the end of this process, we readmitted all but three Negro and three white students. These six will remain on a suspended status until further evaluation of their case is made. A decision on them will be made soon."

The 16 students, nine black and seven white, were suspended following an early morning scuffle in the school just prior to the opening ball Wednesday morning.

Bucs Crush Richmond With 115-91 Win

Baby Bucs Gain Upset Victory

East Carolina University's freshmen handed the Baby Spiders of the University of Richmond their second loss in 12 starts last night, 89-82.

The Bucs broke open the saw-saw battle midway through the second half, when they took the lead and pushed out into as much as a 10-point lead late in the game.

Richmond had previously been beaten by only Virginia Tech's freshmen. They had downed the Baby Bucs, 59-47, in Richmond.

The score had been knotted at 39-39 at halftime, but Richmond appeared to take control early in the second half, and push out into a five-point lead on a three-point play by Jim Barefoot. But the Baby Bucs came on after that with a spree which outscored Richmond, 26-12, and put the Pirates out by nine.

East Carolina pushed in the first four points of the game before Richmond got started. The Spiders came back to take the lead at 12-11 but Steve McKenzie returned the lead to the Bucs. Again the two swapped the lead, with Richmond eventually moving out into a 17-15 lead on a steal by Mike Anastasio. After a Buc free throw, Richmond got another basket by Roger Hatcher, to take a three-point lead.

But buckets by Dave McNeil tied it up at 17-all, and put the Bucs ahead by four. Al Faber hit from the line to run the margin to five, and seconds later, another free throw by Dave Franklin ran the margin to six. Richmond fought back, however, and tied it again at 33-33, and took the lead again at 37-35 before Ernie Pope's jumper put the Bucs back into a tie, and a tap by Franklin put the Bucs ahead. But free throws by Barfoot tied it up at the half, 39-39.

East Carolina took a quick lead in the second half, but a spree by Ray Amann put Richmond back on top and into a two-point lead. Tom Weatherford ran it to four at 48-44, and a three-point play a few seconds later made it 51-46.

The Bucs then came to life and charged back and gain complete control. McNeil and Pope hit to cut the lead to one, and then McNeil hit at the line to tie it at 53-53. The two teams exchanged the lead until McNeil's steal put the Bucs out, 60-58, and then never trailed again.

Franklin hit from the floor and from the line to run the lead to five, and a free throw by McKenzie made it six. After swapping shots, the Bucs inched away again, finally getting a nine-point lead at 72-63 with 4:10 to go. It reached as much as 10 on Pope's shot with 3:22 left at 78-68. Richmond cut it back to as little as five in the late stages, but never got close enough to really make a threat.

Anastasio led Richmond with 20 points, while Weatherford had 19. Amann added 13.

For the Baby Bucs, McNeil had 21, Franklin had 20, Pope had 19 and McKenzie, 11.

The Baby Bucs travel to Frederick Military Academy to play on Monday.

Hiwaymen Still Hot

State Highway remained atop the heap in the Industrial League last night with a 73-53 victory over Union Carbide. In the other games, Fieldcrest Mills won by forfeit over the Jaycees, and Wachovia downed WNCT, 64-40.

In the standings, State Highway sports a 7-1 record, while Wachovia is second at 6-2. Fieldcrest is third with a 5-3 record, followed by Union Carbide, 4-4, WNCT, 2-6, and the Jaycees, 0-8.

State Highway fell behind in the first half of play as Union Carbide pushed out to a 31-29 lead. But in the second half, the Highwaymen blitzed the Battery, 44-22, to roll to an easy victory.

Clyde Elks led State Highway with 26 points, while Preston Mills had 19, Wiley Brown had 13 and Smith Worthington had 10. For Union Carbide, Larry Daniels had 20, and Harold Armstrong had 16.

Wachovia pushed out into a 34-20 lead in the first half of its game, and was never in trouble after that. They outscored WNCT, 30-20, in the second half, to take the win.

Terry Sparrow led Wachovia with 20 points, while Walter Jones had 17. For WNCT, Ikie Arnold had 15 and Joe Jenkins had 10.

Bucs Sign Lineman

Greg Burke, a 6-5, 245-pound tackle and center on the North Forsythe High School football team, has signed a grant-in-aid to East Carolina University, Coach Mike McGee announced today.

Burke, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Burke of Winston-Salem, was the 1969 state high school shot-put champion. While a member of the North Forsythe football team, he was named as the Most Valuable Player in the Winston-Salem area. His coach at North Forsythe is Colon Nifong.

He has been selected to play in the East-West All Star Game in Greensboro in August.

"We are glad to have a lineman of Greg's caliber decide to become a part of the growing East Carolina program," McGee said.

Gregory Snaps Slump; Prince Shines As Bucs Tie For Second

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
How Sweet It Is! Revenge, that is.

That's what East Carolina University's Pirates were saying last night after demolishing the University of Richmond Spiders, 115-91, in a Southern Conference game. The loss helped to compensate for a 90-72 loss at the Spiders' hands in the Virginia capital earlier in the season.

The win brought the Pirate record to 4-2 in the conference, and pulled them back into a tie with George Washington for second place. Now, a victory on Saturday in Lexington, Va., against VMI, could propel the Bucs into sole possession of second.

The loss tumbled Richmond, 1-5, into the Southern cellar.

A key factor in the victory was the outstanding play of junior forward Jim Gregory and sophomore guard Julius Prince. Gregory, who has been in a slump since the pre-Christmas games, turned into a Tiger last night, hitting from everywhere, and attacking the boards with a vengeance. He hit on 13 of 17 shots from the floor and pulled down 16 rebounds. His point total of 28 and his rebounds let everyone for the evening. It was the first time he had cracked 20 since the Duke game in mid-December.

Prince, starting for the second time in his varsity career (the first time had been against Richmond when Tom Miller was out injured), was a whiz. He was all over the court, stealing the ball on six occasions, and converting nearly every one into baskets. He was four-for-four from the floor and added seven foul shots for 17 points. While he was credited with only one assist, his playmaking helped to set up a number of baskets.

Jim Fairley and Jim Modlin also had outstanding nights from the floor. Fairley tossed in 27 points, while Modlin had 20. Miller, who got only 12 points, chipped in with an equal number of assists, a team high for the season.

Richmond played almost even ball with the Bucs in the second half of play, but it was out of reach by then. So devastating had the Bucs been in the first half, that the Spiders were almost spectators for most of the first 20 minutes.

East Carolina quickly ran up a 7-0 margin before Richmond hit from the foul line. But after that, the Spiders fought back and gave the appearance of trying to make a game of it. With Stan Ryfinski, Kenny Foster and Bart Eisner leading the way, the Spiders rallied and cut the margin to one at 16-15 with 13:20 to go. Eisner then put the Spiders into the lead with a drive with 12:49 to go, making it 17-16.

Gregory's jumper returned the Bucs to the lead, and he added a foul shot for a two-point spread. Fairley added a goal to up it to four, but Richmond came back again. Gene Clemons cut it to two, and then Ryfinski hit on a jumper to tie it at 21-21 with 10:35 to go.

And then the Bucs came to life. Modlin's jumper put the Pirates back out, and shots by Fairley and Gergory ran it out to six. Richmond cut it back to three at 27-24, and the Bucs exploded.

From that point, they outscored Richmond, 31-12, in the remaining eight minutes of the half. Gregory hit a jumper to run the lead to five, and Fairley connected on a three-point play. Modlin tapped in a rebound and Prince collected a pair of free throws. Modlin drove in for another basket, and Fairley got another free throw. Prince stole the ball for an easy layup, and the Bucs had run their lead out to 41-24, finishing a 14-0 spree at the expense of the Spiders. Two minutes later, Gregory tapped in a rebound to run the lead to 21, at 50-29, and the Bucs built that to 24 by the closing seconds of the half. Richmond got free throws in the final six seconds to cut the lead to 22, 58-36, at intermission.

The second half, while producing the most points, was merely a question of time. The Bucs played with the Spiders, who improved their shooting, but couldn't get anywhere near the boards. The Bucs shot away early to build their lead to as much as 33, at 71-38. It never fell below 25 after that, and hung mostly around the 30-point mark.

The Bucs finished the game with an amazing 58.3 per centage from the floor, connecting on 42 of 72 shots. They crashed the boards for 62 loose balls, while Richmond could pull in only 34.

Richmond's offense was paced by Picot Frazier with 18 points, while Jim Hewitt had 14, Ryfinski had 13, Foster had 12 and Frank Owen had 11.

The Bucs travel to Lexington, Va., on Saturday to meet VMI, looking for another conference win, as they start the final drive toward the conference tournament, less than four weeks away.

New Mexico State Joins List Of Top Teams Beaten As Creighton Gets Win

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Creighton's young Bluejays are the latest spoilers in a bigger—they are, harder—they fall bunge that has topped three of the nation's top six college basketball teams on successive nights.

Sophomore John "T-Bone" Taylor canned four free-throws—his only points—in the final 61 seconds to carry the Creighton State 72-68 Thursday night.

Wednesday night, Villanova handed No. 3 St. Bonaventure its first setback of the season, 64-62. Tuesday's victim was previously unbeaten sixth-ranked Jacksonville, which bowed to Florida State 89-83.

Soph-studded Creighton, soaring to its sixth consecutive victory after a 5-5 getaway, avenged an earlier loss to the Aggies, with Taylor providing the margin and junior Dennis Bresnahan dropping in 18 points to key a balanced attack.

Jimmy Collins scored 22 points before fouling out with three minutes remaining for New Mexico State, 17-2, before a capacity crowd of 11,000 at Omaha, Neb.

In another reversal, Memphis State shaded Wichita State 85-81 at Memphis, ending a string of 27 consecutive losses in Missouri Valley Conference play.

Drake's MVC leaders, ranked 16th nationally, downed visiting North Texas State 95-84 to go 8-0 in league play and 14-4 over-all.

Ollie Taylor's 35-point spree propelled 12th ranked Houston to an 82-69 road victory over Montana State; Utah snapped a first-place deadlock with Texas-El Paso in the Western Athletic Conference by shading the Miners 66-61 at Salt Lake City and Princeton cuffed Cornell 75-58 at Ithaca, N.Y., to remain alive in the Ivy League title race.

Memphis State's, 27-17 edge from the foul line proved the difference as the igers broke the longest losing streak in Missouri Valley history. Don Holcomb and Jeff Frost tallied 21 and 20 points, respectively, for the winners. Greg Carney of Wichita State was the game's high point man with 29.

Gary Zeller connected on a rare four-point play with just over 2½ minutes to play, helping Drake subdue North Texas State for its 17th straight MVC triumph. Zeller scored on a driving layup and converted two free throws, awarded on a flagrant foul called against the Eagles' Joe Hamilton for spilling him on the play.

Al Williams topped the Bulldogs with 29 points and 23 rebounds. Hamilton scored 25 for the losers.

Houston's Taylor popped in 25 points in the second half, finishing 13-for-13 from the free throw line, and grabbed 16 rebounds as the Cougars staged a late spurt to boost their season mark to 14-2.

Jack: 'I Have To Do Better,' After His 65

By BOB GREEN
SAN DIEGO (AP) — Jack Nicklaus sounded a warning to his challengers in today's second round of the $150,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open: "I have to do better."

Nicklaus, the defending champion, opened with a brilliant, seven-under-2par 65 in Thursday's first round, one stroke better than fast-closing Tony Jacklin, the British Open title-holder.

Four more are at 67—Canadian Al Baldwin, former Masters champion Gay Brewer, 49-year-old Julius Boros and young Joel Goldstrand.

The group of six at 68 includes Gene Littler and Bobby Nichols, while the current Masters champion, George Archer, was one of six at 69.

But Nicklaus, who has the hottest hand on the tour in his appearances, remained the man to beat—and the man to catch.

Nicklaus' 65—he also had a 65 in his last previous competitive round—came on the 6,792-yard Torrey Pines Golf Club course in what he called an "ideal situation for scoring."

The temperature was in the 70s, the greens held, the fairways were in excellent condition and the mild breeze didn't kick up until the afternoon, long after big Jack had finished.

His round was outstanding enough, but even more remarkable because he did some experimenting along the way.

"About my fourth or fifth hole I started having some trouble with my swing," he said. "I wasn't getting the shoulder turn right. I worked it for about nine holes before I got it back where I wanted it."

"It's gratifying to work your way out of some trouble and still be able to score well."

In that stretch of holes—"I just wasn't hitting the ball close to the hole"—he had only one birdie, on a par five when he chipped close and made the putt. But he didn't have a bogey.

"I haven't had quite as long a winter layoff as I usually have," he said of his fast start this year. "I watched about 20 movies of myself over the holidays and found some things I wanted to find and firmed up in my mind what I wanted to do."

Others had their troubles, however, particularly PGA champ Ray Floyd and Bert Yancey, winner of last week's Bing Crosby Pro-Am. Floyd took a 75, including four penalty strokes for too many clubs in his bag, and Yancey had a 77.

Billy Casper, Frank Beard and Lee Trevino had 71s. Dave Hill had a 73. Arnold Palmer and U.S. Open title-holder Orville Moody are not competing.

Koufax Can't Believe Choice

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sandy Koufax had a one-word reaction when advised he had been named Baseball Athlete of the Decade in a special poll conducted by the Associated Press. "Incredible," said the former Los Angeles Dodger pitcher, a hard-throwing, soft-speaking left-hander many call the greatest in the annals of baseball.

Koufax, who retired at 30 after the end of the 1966 season because of a chronic, pain-enduring arthritic condition in his pitching elbow, is a man of many attributes.

False modesty is not one of them and he elaborated on his thoughts.

"I think it's incredible because there were guys like Mays and Mantle and Henry Aaron who were great players for 10 years or more.

"After all, my big years were not spread over a full decade. I only had four or five good years."

Sandy set a number of records. In six years of the past decade, 1961-1966, he won 129 games and lost only 47 and in his final four his win-loss history was 25-5, 19-5, 26-8 and 27-9—and those were years when the elbow was in misery.

Sandy in his relatively brief but golden years won the Cy Young Award three times and pitched no-hit, no-run gems in successive years, from 1962 through 1965, and one of them was a perfect game.

Koufax is proud of his success in baseball but he has said perhaps his most satisfying season was in 1965 when he struck out a major league record 382 batters.

This, he feels, was a sort of do-it-yourself thing.

The Mays and Mantle he referred to, of course, were Willie and Mickey of the San Francisco Giants and New York Yankees.

In the AP poll, Koufax received 225½ votes from the sports writers and broadcasters. The now-retired Mantle received 154½, Mays 106½, and Aaron of the Atlanta Braves, 51½, trailed next in that order.

Koufax after retirement accepted a fat, long term contract as a commentator with the National Broadcasting Company.

He was advised of the decade designation as he prepared to play golf at Riviera Country Club, to which he belongs. Golf has long been a Koufax concern. He carries an eight-handicap and said with a grin, "I can't play a lick."

Once one of the nation's most eligible bachelors, Sandy has been married a year. His private life remains quiet—and quite private.

Does he miss the hustle and bustle of baseball?
"Yes and no but things are still pretty bustling for me," he said.

Kranepool In Suit Argument

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
They've stoked up the hot stove league with fever-pitch activity ... and the New York Mets' Ed Kranepool is keeping a feud simmering on the front burner.

Baseball stuck its head outdoors Thursday with activity on most fronts that included dinners, signings and an announcement that the Chicago Cubs made almost a million dollars profit in 1969 despite their September swoon.

Kranepool, meanwhile, has been firing verbal shots at Boston Red Sox star Carl Yastrzemski for his stand in the Curt Flood suit against baseball's reserve clause.

"Yastrzemski is nothing more than a yo-yo for American League President Joe Cronin," said Kranepool, the Mets' player representative.

Kranepool responded to a recent attack by Yastrzemski against the Players Association for its support of Flood, who went to court to fight his recent trade from St. Louis to Philadelphia. Flood charges the clause, which binds a player to a team, is a modern form of slavery.

END RERUN

"Yastrzemski was against our strike last year and now he's going around yelling about a move that will help all 700 baseball players," said Kranepool. "What really gets me is that he couldn't go right to his own player representative with his ideas about our move."

The Mets' first baseman made the remarks while appearing in Albany, N.Y., for a sports banquet.

Meanwhile, in Chicago, Cub owner Phil Wrigley said his team showed a profit of $909,099 in 1969, their biggest season in a quarter century. The Cubs wound up second to New York after pacing the National League's Eastern Division most of the season.

"I still believe, more firmly than ever, that baseball is a daylight game and I have no intention of installing lights in Wrigley Field now or in the foreseeable future," said Wrigley.

seeable future," said Wrigley.

The Cubs' ballpark is the only one in the major leagues without lights.

Elsewhere in baseball, sports figures gathered in Boston and New York for stops on the banquet circuit. A crowd of more than 800 gathered at baseball luminaries of the past and present were honored at the 31st annual Boston Baseball Writers Dinner. Harmon Killebrew of the Minnesota Twins, one of those honored at the Boston dinner, will receive the Tris Speaker Award as baseball's player of the year at the annual Houston sports writers banquet tonight.

Minnesota, Kansas City, and Oakland of the American League and St. Louis of the National League announced signings Thursday.

Dave Boswell, Minnesota's 20-game winner last year, came into the Twins' fold; pitcher Wally Bunker and second baseman Jerry Adair were among those to sign with Kansas City; Oakland signed 10 players, including pitchers Rollie Fingers and Ray Oyler and St. Louis signed four, including pitchers Nelson Briles and Chuck Taylor.

Gaither Quits Coaching Job

By JOHN VAN GIESON
Associated Press Writer
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Old Jake Gaither, a slope-shouldered, pot-bellied football genius who liked his players "agile, mobile and hostile"—and that rhymes with smile — Retired Thursday.

Jake, born Alonzo S. Gaither, son of a preacher, produced some of the finest football teams ever to smash an opponent into the dusty playing fields of the South's backwater black colleges in 25 years as coach of the Florida A&M Rattlers.

His 203-36-4 lifetime coaching record was the best in the nation among active football coaches. Once—but only once—a Gaither team slipped to a 6-4 record. He never had a losing season.

FAMU President B. L. Perry announced at a news conference that Gaither will be succeeded by Robert "Pete" Griffin, a 26-year Rattler defensive assistant who was a Negro all-American as an A&M center in 1938.

Then Gaither, with lines of age etched deep in his fierce round face and thin white hair curling backward over a long scar left by a 1942 operation, described his feelings.

"The old man upstairs has been mighty good to Jake," he said. "I got a few more years, and I want to spend them doing whatever I can for the good of the university."

Perry said Gaither's positions would be cut from the original four to one—athletic director. At one time Gaither was athletic director, football coach, health and physical education professor and head of the health and physical education department.

The retirement decision, Perry said, was Gaither's own.

"The reason is simply this: I don't want to press my luck too long," Gaither said. "Since being coach at Florida A&M I have survived a brain operation, I have survived blindness and I have survived a broken leg."

When the surgeons cut into his head in 1942, he said later, they removed two malignant tumors.

"His ability to inspire, to identify latent talent regardless of how rough it was, was one of the things that made him successful," the president said.

"It's just been in recent years," Perry added, "that some other institutions have decided that these athletes have that latent talent and they would like to give them the opportunity to develop it."

Gaither said he knew in recent years that the swift and husky black kids he recruited to FAMU had the talent, but he thought they may have been a new breed that lacked desire.

He said he learned he was wrong on a Sunday morning last fall in Tampa—the day after FAMU scored one of its biggest victories ever by defeating a predominantly white Tampa team.

"They played so well in that game that I decided to give them a day off—even though we had to get ready to play a tough Grambling team in the Orange Blossom Classic the next week," Gaither said.

"I got on the team bus and told them they could have Monday off," he said. "They said, 'No, coach, we don't want off. We want to work.' Then I knew the team had arrived. I couldn't give them a day off."

Qualifying Starts Today

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer
DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Official qualifying for starting positions began this morning for the 24-Hours of Daytona Endurance Race and most observers were betting that one of the new Porsche prototypes would wind up at the head of the field.

Porsche, fielding three of its new 5-liter, 600-horsepower 917 models for the Saturday-Sunday twice around the clock marathon, had the highest unofficial speeds in practice and appeared to have few mechanical problems.

On the other hand, some observers felt that qualifying laurels would go to one of five new Ferrari 512s, a 5-liter, 575-horsepower bomb with the biggest engine displacement ever built by the Italian marque.

The new Ferraris, however, came here with a minimum of road testing and promptly ran into transmission and overheating problems. These setbacks appeared to have been solved by Thursday and their drivers began hitting speeds well above the course record.

In any event, a new qualifying mark seemed assured. Vic El-ford of England, who is co-driving one of the new Porsches with Kurt Ahrens of Germany, holds the current track-course record of 122.246 miles per hour. That speed was broken many times during practice.

The field of 69 cars was to participate in a three-hour qualifying session starting at 8 a.m. Each car was to be clocked on every lap of the 3.81-mile course, with the fastest lap determining the car's starting position.

The Porsche 917s and the Ferrari 512s, easily the most powerful cars in the field, turned practice laps in the 124-126 m.p.h. bracket, with Jo Siffert of Switzerland having the best unofficial speed of 126.769 m.p.h. in a Porsche.

The Worry Clinic

Promiscuity Is Still Barbaric

Analyze Al's diagnosis of me and see what verdict you readers wish to render. For many church and campus leaders have been subtly trying to place the seal of public approval on sexual promiscuity. Thus, they hope to avoid a conflict with conscience. That also underlies much of the "God is dead" strategy!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE M-513: Al G., aged 24, works for a newspaper.

"Dr. Crane," he protested, "I forward the mail that comes to you via our daily newspaper.

"And it alarms me to see how many people write to you!

"For you are as out of touch with modern times as a dinosaur!

"Recently you derided a college coed as stupid for entering into a trial marriage arrangement with a classmate.

"But don't you know that this is one of the finest types of social communication?"

"Legal marriage is a straight jacket imposed by you 'squares' and should merely be an optional choice after a man and woman have lived together for several months and tested their compatibility.

"It shocks me to see how many people read your column, for they must belong to a dying era!"

Trial marriage is not new; in fact, it is as old-fashioned as bows and arrows.

For it has taken mankind 20,000 years to rise above the caveman's sexual code to the civilized views of today.

Yet many Americans still parrot the juvenile sophistry that Al supports.

In fact, a few months ago, a Methodist minister was dropped from his church because he had publicly urged promiscuity.

He argued that since the "pill" had removed most of the fears of unwanted pregnancy, there was thus no further reason to stop swapping sweethearts, as well as wives.

"For sexual relations are merely a supreme type of social communication," he argued.

They are also a superb way to spread syphilis and gonorrhea, which are now zooming by about 300 percent among young people!

Obviously, illicit sex has been with us from the beginning of time.

But it has always been indicted as immoral, and psychologically unwise.

Opening lead: Ten of ♠
South opened the bidding with one spade and altho North has 10 high card points, he chose to devalue the singleton king of clubs, and he gave a double jump raise to four spades.

East's overall of four no trump was the "usual no trump" which requests partner to show his better minor. South doubled and West dutifully bid five clubs North was not certain of the best course of action at this point, and he made a forcing pass. South was reluctant to settle for a small profit (in this case the five club bid can be defeated only one trick) and he therefore chose to respond to five spades which became the final contract.

West opened the ten of diamonds and inasmuch as the king was clearly marked in the East hand, declarer played dummy's ace. The ace and king of spades drew the trumps and South paused to assess the situation.

It appeared that with the adverse break in diamonds, he must lose two diamonds and one club—for a one trick setback. Declarer presently observed a way that he might capitalize on the distribution, provided that West started with a singleton diamond.

The ace and king of hearts were cashed and then a club was led to the king. East was in with the ace and he returned the queen of clubs which dummy ruffed. A heart was ruffed in the closed hand as East discarded a diamond. The seven of spades was overtaken by the ten and North's remaining heart—the ten was led.

Instead of ruffing in his hand, South discarded the five of diamonds. West was in with the jack of hearts, and having no more diamonds, he was hopelessly employed. Whether he returned a heart or a club, declarer can trump it in the dummy while he discards his last diamond. The losses were thereby restricted to one heart and one club.

Alcoholism has been called "the family disease" because every member of the family is affected by it, according to the National Council on Alcoholism, sponsors of January's Alcoholism Information Month.

Nowadays, there are fellowship groups available for all the members of an afflicted family: AA for the alcoholic parent; Alateen for the teen-age children, and Al-Anon for the non-drinking parent.

The NCA says that men are less likely to join Al-Anon—and more likely to walk out on their alcoholic spouses than women are. It's much easier for a husband to pack up and leave an alcoholic wife. A man doesn't have the tendency to mother and sympathize with his mate that a woman does.

The Navajo Indians comprise the largest Indian nation in the United States, with more than 115,000 population.

Now, in "the quiet years," he has a chance to put the finishing touches on that schooner. When a man's working with his hands, he has time for some thinking, for some looking back.

Our aged friend has a good many years to look back over—some of them good, some bad. But, through all of them, there's been one steady, continuing force, like a thread of steel woven through the pattern of his life.

This force has been the thread of faith—a faith that is sustained and strengthened when a man devotes great time and energy to the Church and its mission.

Now in "the quiet years" he can look back over what has been—he can rejoice because he is able to review a life full of devotion.

You see, it is all-important to be able to review the right kind of life. Don't wait. Start going to church now.

Grand Jury Unable Say Who Paid For 3 Murders

CLEVELAND, OHIO (AP)—A federal grand jury says three men were hired to kill United Mine Workers insurgent Joseph Yablonski, but has left open the question of who financed the alleged plot.

The grand jury, which indicted the three Thursday on charges of conspiracy, reported that one of the men, Paul E. Gilly, 36, was in charge of a special fund from which the other two were paid.

The source of the fund was not mentioned.

Also missing from the indictment was any mention of the deaths of the union official's wife, Margaret, 57, and daughter, Charlotte, 24, whose bodies were found with Yablonski's in their Clarksville, Pa., home Jan. 5. All had been shot.

Indicted with Gilly were Aubran W. Martin, 21, and Claude E. Vealey, 26.

The grand jury said Martin received $1,700 and Vealey $1,000 cash and had a $750 debt to Gilly canceled.

All are from the Cleveland area. Each is held in lieu of $250,000 bond.

The indictment specifically charged them with conspiring to commit murder and conspiring to obstruct justice in the slaying of Yablonski, who was scheduled to testify before a federal grand jury in Washington which was investigating union activities.

The three also were charged with conspiring to deprive Yablonski of his rights as a union member.

Yablonski had run for UMW president against incumbent W. A. "Tony" Boyle, but lost the Dec. 9 election.

The grand jury named Gilly's wife, Annette, 29, and James C. Phillips, 22, of Cleveland as co-conspirators, but did not indict them.

Phillips allegedly was party to a conspiracy dating back to July, but was said to have been replaced by Martin Dec. 30.

Mrs. Gilly allegedly helped by arranging for a car for the three to use.

Gilly, Vealey and Martin are charged in Pennsylvania with murder and are to be extradited next week, authorities say.

The grand jury recessed after the indictments were handed down and reconvenes Tuesday.

Today In Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS WASHINGTON (AP)—Comedian Red Skelton, with a repertoire of puns, pantomime and patriotism, has launched President Nixon's "Evenings in the White House" monthly entertainment series.

The President, in introducing Skelton Thursday night to the black-tie audience of some 275 officials and friends of the Nixons, noted that Skelton has appeared for 19 years on television "and the Vice President never had an unkind word to say about him." This was an apparent reference by Nixon to Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's recent speech criticizing some television news commentators.

Skelton, said the President, is "one of America's great clowns. Nobody can do a pantomime better than he can."

Skelton's jokes included one about a 102-year-old grandmother who never used glasses—"She drank right out of the bottle"—and a report on his recent operation in which "seven Beverly Hills doctors removed my wallet."

At the request of the President, Skelton did his famous pantomime of "the old man watching the parade."

Injecting one serious note, Skelton—after presenting a rendition of the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag—said the words "under God" had been added since he was a youngster.

"Wouldn't it be a pity if someone said that is a prayer and should be eliminated from our schools," he mused.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The two top ranking members of the House government information subcommittee have criticized the Defense Department for issuing press credentials to U.S. government agents in South Vietnam.

Reps. John E. Moss, D-Calif., and Ogden R. Reid, R-N.Y., told Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird in a letter Thursday they were shocked and dumbfounded over the incident which was made public this week. Their committee serves as a watchdog over government information policy.

"Issuance of such press credentials in violation of military command policies is in itself reprehensible, but in our opinion the incident has an even more serious impact in that it gives impetus to a growing fear held by many that big brother police state tactics are multiplying at

Astronaut Borman Will Tackle Earth Problems

By PAUL RECER AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—The astronaut who commanded the first manned orbiting of the moon plans to retire from the space program and head a foundation that will attack America's problems on earth.

Frank Borman, a 41-year-old Air Force colonel who directed the Apollo 8 flight around the moon on Christmas Eve in 1968, announced Thursday he is resigning from the service and the space agency on July 1. He said he and Dallas millionaire H. Ross Perot are establishing a foundation which will attack pressing national problems.

The astronaut said he would become vice president of Electronic Data Systems, Inc., a computer services company owned by Perot, who tried last Christmas to deliver parcels to war prisoners in North Vietnam.

Borman said he and Perot will establish the American Horizons Foundation.

"It is our hope through the use of mass media, particularly television, to fully inform the American people about our most pressing national problems and opportunities and to get the American people to actively participate in solving these problems," Borman said in a statement released by the space agency.

Borman's resignation from the Air Force will come 20 years after he was graduated from the U.S. Military Academy, took his commission in the Air Force and started an aviation career which led to the moon.

His Apollo 8 crewmates were James A. Lovell Jr. and William A. Anders.

It was the second spaceflight together for Borman and Lovell, who flew Gemini 7 in 1965 on an earth orbital mission. It lasted 14 days, still a record.

Borman dropped out of active space flying after Apollo 8 and accepted a job last May as field director of the space station task group for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Three Wrecks For Greenville Thursday

An estimated $1,900 property damage resulted from a series of three wrecks investigated yesterday by Greenville police.

Heaviest damage resulted from a 4:55 p.m. mishap on U. S. 264 500 feet west of the N. C. 43 intersection and involved cars driven by Sally Gwyn Glisson, 18, of Stokes and William Carl Hagan, 50, of 1011 Colonial Ave.

Damage to the Glisson car was set at $550, while damage to the Hagan auto was placed at $250. No charges were reported.

Myrtle Harris Bell, of Route 1, Winterville was charged with failing to stop for a stop light following investigation of an 8:40 p.m. mishap at the N. C. 11 - U. S. 264 intersection.

Officers said the Bell auto collided with a car driven by Albert Coy Monk Jr., 55, of Farmville.

Damage to the Monk vehicle was placed at $500 while damage to the Bell auto was placed at $200.

Sleep-Inducing Tips Offered

NEW YORK (AP)—The best "sleeping potion is moderate exercise in fresh air, the Health Insurance Institute says.

But the institute, headquartered in New York, listed other rules it said should lead to sound sleep.

First, it said, go to bed, a comfortable one.

Then, make sure the room is quiet and dark, free of noise and temperature change; relax mentally; try being in a moderately fatigued condition and finally, if you really want to sleep, don't think about it.

If you still can't sleep, the institute says, try a light, warm late meal, but restrict fluid intake after 8 p.m., with the possible exception of a glass of warm milk. A tepid bath—92 to 97 degrees—also can help.

Disband Because Issues Resolved

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The Associated Women Students at the University of Tennessee has disbanded. Its president, Glenda Rae Ruby of Chattanooga, said there are no more issues of vital concern for women only, thus no more need for the organization.

The AWS was one of the oldest organizations at the university and fought many battles to gain equal rights for women.

It achieved one of its goals when the university adopted a new policy for coeds beginning this quarter. The policy permits them to sign out of dormitories for the night if they have 36 hours scholastic credits and have permission from parents or guardian.

Damage Caused By Grass Fire

A quickly spreading grass fire yesterday caused moderate to heavy damage to grass, plants and bushes in the yards of seven homes and a vacant lot on Red Banks Road, Churchside Drive and Oakview Drive.

Fire Department officials said the department was called at 1 p.m. and two trucks were used to combat the quickly spreading flames.

The fire apparently started in a vacant lot on Red Banks Road, possibly from a cigarette, investigators reported.

Spreading, the blaze burned grass and plants in yards at 1207 and 1209 Red Banks Road, 103 Churchside Dr. and 1210, 1208, 1206 and 1204 Oakview.

Crises Mark Church Meet

SALISBURY, N. C. (AP)—A swirl of controversy and a financial crisis marked today's opening session of the annual Episcopal Diocese of North Carolina meeting.

The controversy began when the national church made a contribution to Malcolm X Liberation University, a black-operated school in Durham which allegedly is training Negroes in separatist nationalism.

The money problems were brought to light last week when the Rt. Rev. Thomas A. Fraser, bishop of the diocese said the diocese was $164,525 short of meeting its budget. The bishop said the church is "faced with drastic cuts in our diocesan programs and in our quota to the national church."

Since the national contribution was made public, private contributions to the church have decreased. Bishop Fraser said, "There's no question that this probably started with Malcolm X."

Would Curtail Child 'Subsidy'

DENVER (AP)—A bill to permit Colorado taxpayers to claim only two of their children as dependents for the state's $750-per-dependent income tax deduction was introduced in the state House of Representatives Thursday by Rep. Richard Lamm, D-Denver.

Under the bill, Lamm said, "the state would no longer subsidize unlimited numbers of children." Lamm described the measure as his answer to the threat of overpopulation.

"We have a choice of letting the death rate go back up or bringing the birth rate down," he said. Present rates are, "dooming future generations."

Past Year Was Most Active One In Soviet Space Work

By VERN HAUGLAND
AP Aviation Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. expert on Soviet space activities says the Russians had their busiest year with 70 successful launchings in 1969, but their record was lackluster in comparison with spectacular American achievements.

"It was for the Soviets a lackluster year, a year of repetitive failures," according to Dr.

Charles Sheldon III. "It is safe to say that Russian expectations for the year have not been fulfilled."

Sheldon, formerly a member of the White House Space Council, noted there were only 40 U.S. space shots but these included the Apollo lunar landings and the Mariner pictures of Mars.

Sheldon, now chief of the science policy research division of the Library of Congress Legislative Research Service, said the most noteworthy Soviet launchings of the past year were:

—The Soyuz 4 and 5 missions which included the first spacecraft crew transfer, first docking of two manned spacecraft in orbit, and first Soviet manned flight in the dead of winter.

—The Soyuz 6, 7 and 8 missions putting three spacecraft with seven pilots in orbit at once. But apparently they were unable to complete a goal of docking and putting together an orbital space station.

—Venera 5 and 6 penetrations of the atmosphere of Venus. The spacecraft structures collapsed, however, and apparently they did not get to the surface of the planet.

—Luna 15, an unmanned flight which was to have scooped up lunar material and returned it to earth. Instead, it crashed on the moon.

—The lunar photography mission of the unmanned Zone 7 in August, "a very successful flight but a repeat of things done earlier, this time better done."

Sheldon said it appeared the Soviets thought they still had a good chance to beat the United States to the moon early last spring, but there were indications they ran into engineering difficulties or a launch attempt had failed.

The Soviets never verified widely published reports a giant new rocket had exploded on a launch pad last summer, thus crippling Russian lunar exploration plans.

Sheldon said that in 13 years of the space age through 1969 there were 875 successful launches of spacecraft—485 American; 384 Soviet; 4 French; 1 Italian, and 1 Austrian.

Tomorrow is the big day of the year for choral groups of public schools in eastern North Carolina.

Beginning at 9:30 a.m. the school choruses will meet at East Carolina University for the Ninth Annual Eastern North Carolina High School Choral Clinic.

Their day of activity will culminate in a concert at Wright Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. This is a free performance, open to the public.

School children have been preparing for this annual meet since September, according to ECU's Dr. Charles Moore, of the School of Music faculty. Dr. Moore is Clinic Coordinator for the evaluation clinic being conducted during the day long meet.

Dr. Moore stated that one outstanding feature of the clinic is the availability of soloist evaluation of any student who wants to prepare a song and receive comments from faculty members. A number of faculty from the School of Music are working with Dr. Moore on this project.

This year a dozen high schools are competing in the choral clinic. These schools represent a geographical coverage of much of Eastern North Carolina.

Chico High School is the sole Pitt County School appearing at the clinic. Under the directorship of Mrs. Vivian Weatherly, the Chicod Choral Group is composed of: Angeline Perkins, Joyce Mills, Lassie Fleming, Carolyn Bright, Rosa Boyd, Evelyn Moore, Patricia Perkins, Alma Whitehurst, Beverly Mills, Wanda Riggs, Melvin and Ervin Strong, Jerry Williams, Franky Haddock, Billy Wayne Jones and Ethel Godley.

Other Eastern North Carolina choral groups and directors scheduled to be present at the festival include: Swansboro High School, Swansboro, Mrs. Lois Edmonds, director; Northampton County High School, Conway, Mrs. Joan P. Horne; Fike Senior High School, Wilson, Lawrence A. James; Tarboro High School, Tarboro, A. Lloyd Owens, Jr.; Jacksonville Senior High School, Jacksonville (director not listed); Roanoke Rapids Senior High School, Roanoke Rapids, P. J. Fitzgerald; Elm City High School, Elm City, Mrs. Louise Winstead; Hamlet High School, Hamlet, C. Dudley Callicutt; New Bern High School, New Bern, Julian D. Wagemaker; Northeastern High School, Elizabeth City, Mrs. Vesta Reel; and West Carteret High School, Morehead City, Lawrence Smith.

Revival Begins Monday Night

Revival services will begin at the Shelmerdine Pentecostal Holiness Church Monday night at 7:30 and continue through Sunday.

The Rev. Norman Butts, pastor of the Snow Hill Pentecostal Holiness Church, will be the evangelist.

Special singing will be featured at each service. The Rev. Roy Williams, pastor, invites the public to attend.

Grounded Submarine Refloated

CHARLESTON (AP) — The nuclear submarine Nathanael Greene was refloated late Thursday night, more than seven hours after she went aground in Charleston harbor.

Thick fog was blamed for the accident, which occurred at mid afternoon as the vessel was returning to its home port after months at sea. None of its 132 crewmen was reported injured.

Navy tugs worked to pull the ship free from muddy shallows near Sullivan's Island, about 300 yards off the shipping lane. At the time she became stuck, the tide was nearly at ebb. High tide came two hours after the ship was pulled loose before midnight.

The Navy said the Nathanael Greene draws 31½ feet and that the water was 14 to 16 feet deep at low tide where she was stranded.

The submarine is Polaris missile-equipped, but the Navy would not say Thursday whether she was armed with missiles. It did say there was no indication of any leakage from the ship's nuclear reactors.

The harbor was closed while the Navy and Coast Guard worked to free the sub. Coast Guard cutters kept commercial vessels away.

There was no immediate comment from the Navy as to why the vessel strayed from the main channel into Charleston harbor. It was coming in the surface.

RARE EVENT

BIRKENHEAD, England (UPI) — Mrs. Pat Eccles couldn't put her shiny new five pence (12 cents) piece into her gas meter, and she could be 1,000 pounds ($2,400) richer for it. The new coin was not milled on the edges, making it imperfect, and a coin expert said it was "one of the rarest things I have heard of."

Commission approved the hike Thursday at the request of Greyhound Bus Lines and several other companies.

Greyhound filed a request for the increase last fall and was joined later by Queen City Coach Co., Carolina Scenic Stages, Smokey Mountains Stages and Virginia State Co.

The commission also approved a 10 per cent fare increase for the Ft. Bragg Coach Co. for service between Fayetteville and Ft. Bragg.

In all cases, the fare hike was coupled with an increase in the minimum ticket cost from 35 cents to 40 cents.

ALLOTMENT CUT
WASHINGTON (AP)—Burley tobacco acreage allotments will be cut about 10 per cent in 1970, Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin said Thursday.

SPRING-LIKE WEATHER—To be January, one would not think that it should feel like spring, but yesterday was an exception. The temperature climbed into the high 70's for most of the day. Above the camera records a day to remember for a young lass, as she draws during the spring-like weather. The artist is Gayle Smith of Winterville. She is a student of art at Pitt Technical Institute. (Reflector Photo by Tommy Forrest)

Financial Statement

What do all of these figures mean?

There are a lot of statements published this time of year. Most of these probably don't mean much to people. Of course, our Financial Statement means something to us. It confirms that 1969 was a good year. The year we passed $19.3 million in total resources, and we're proud of that. We're even more proud of what's behind the figures: the thousands of new homes, the thousands of special occasions, college educations, retirements—the thousands of good things that this money helped accomplish for people in this area. Of course, these people helped us, because the money they saved or borrowed enabled us to do our part to help Pitt County keep growing.

So, if the figures themselves don't mean much to you, think about what's behind them. After all's said and done, that's probably the most important thing in a Financial Statement. Thank you for doing business with us. All of us at First Federal appreciate your confidence.

We look forward to serving you.
