

Scott Denies Story On '72

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott says he believes if the last presidential election were held all over again now, President Nixon would carry North Carolina again.

But as far what will happen in 1972, the governor said he isn't making any predictions.

Scott made these comments in a statement issued by his office Tuesday after an Associated Press dispatch from California Monday quoted the Democratic governor as predicting Nixon would carry the state again in 1972.

"I certainly did not predict that Mr. Nixon would win in 1972," said Scott, who is on a trip to California. "Anything could happen between now and the next presidential election. I said that if the presidential election were today that Mr. Nixon would again carry the state."

Scott also said in the statement that the news dispatch had incorrectly quoted him as saying the Democratic party in North Carolina is in disarray.

"My statement about the Democratic party being in disarray referred to the national level and not the state," said Scott.

"The reason for the party being in disarray at the national level is because, at the moment there is no strong national Democratic leader speaking out."

"I think the state Democratic party is in better shape than in several months, and enthusiasm and optimism is increasing as we look toward this year's elections. The reporter failed to make that distinction."

The statement was issued after the California dispatch touched off a flurry of activity among Scott aides and North Carolina political leaders.

Solicitor's Hat In Ring

MOREHEAD CITY — District Solicitor Luther Hamilton Jr. said today that he will seek re-election to the post as solicitor for the Third Judicial District.

Hamilton, who has held the post for the past eight years, is a Morehead City native and a graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy (1945) and the University of North Carolina Law School (1950).

Admitted to the Bar in 1950, he practiced law in Morehead City and was elected District solicitor in 1963. He is married to the former Sarah Hulham of Morehead City.

The Third Judicial District includes the counties of Pitt, Pamlico, Craven and Carteret.

Hamilton was opposed in the Democratic Primary four years ago by Greenville attorney Jim Cheatham.

Hamilton said he paid his filing fee in Raleigh yesterday.

DROP SPANKINGS

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston School Committee voted 3-2 Tuesday to drop corporal punishment from the system's disciplinary code.

Pitt Cancer Board Sets $12,000 Goal

A 1970-71 Crusade goal of $12,000 was announced by the Pitt Co. American Cancer Society Tuesday night at a meeting of the Board of Directors.

With a rapidly expanding educational program of residents throughout Pitt County, continuing the emphasis on the need for regular checkups for cancer, the Pitt ACS has prepared the ground for launching its annual educational and fund raising Crusade on April 1.

Mrs. Percy Fox, Crusade Chairman for Pitt County, presented plans for enlisting Crusade volunteers and outlined

One Dead, Three Injured As Car Hit Semi-Trailer

FALKLAND — One person died and three were injured last night when a car ran under a semi-trailer stalled across the road on N. C. 222 1 1/2 miles West of here.

The dead man was identified as 25-year-old Dalton Paul Harris, Jr., of Route 1, Plymouth. He was the driver of the car involved in the crash.

Highway Patrolman S. F. Padgett said the three injured persons were all passengers in the Harris car. They included Harris' sister, Mrs. Norma Latham 27 of Groton, Conn. and her two children, Michael, 2 and Robin, 5.

According to Trooper Padgett, the Harris car was traveling West on N. C. 222 when it collided broadside with the trailer which was completely blocking the highway.

The officer quoted the driver of the tractor-trailer, Jeffie Junn Jr. 37 of Route 1, Fountain, as saying the tractor portion of the truck became stuck in slippery mud on the shoulder of the roadway while he was backing the rig into his driveway.

He had placed two reflectors on the west side of the stalled vehicle and one on the east side—the side from which the Harris car came—before the crash.

Dunn was quoted as saying he saw the Harris car coming and attempted to flag the vehicle down, but to no avail.

The trailer was loaded with sheetrock and plaster. Damage

ROUTINE MEET

BETHEL — The meeting of Town Board members in Bethel last night was a routine business one in which the only matters discussed were payments of town bills.

to the truck was set at $200 while the Harris car, a 1966 model vehicle which was reported a total loss, was estimated at $1,000.

Pitt County Coroner E. W. Harvey said Harris died from extensive head injuries. Trooper Padgett said the three Lathams were admitted to the hospital for treatment.

Investigation of the fatal wreck is continuing, officers reported.

Rountree Says He Is Running

Greenville attorney, H. Horton Rountree, announced today his candidacy for re-election to one of Pitt County's two seats in the 1971 session of the North Carolina General Assembly, subject to the Democratic Primary on May 2.

In announcing his candidacy, Rountree commented, "I wish to take this opportunity to thank my fellow Pitt Countians for having given me the honor and privilege of representing them during the 1967 and 1969 sessions of the North Carolina Legislature."

"In the last two sessions, he added, I was fortunate in receiving committee assignments beneficial to the interest of our area as well as the State."

As vice-chairman of the Joint Appreciation Committee and as a member of the Higher Education Committee, Rountree was in a position to help East Carolina University obtain all of its new programs and financing.

"The development of East Carolina University... will demand a strong and experienced voice to champion her cause," he asserted.

Rountree pointed out that problems facing the next Legislature will be most "vital to the future of Pitt County." Meeting the medical needs of rural Eastern North Carolina is one of the most important, he feels.

"As a member of the Subcommittee of the Legislative Research Council to study the needs for health services in Carolina, and especially in the rural areas, I feel that I will be in a position to direct the General Assembly's attention to the needs of our people," the representative continued.

In singling out the problem of upgrading and training of "our people to demand better and more secure jobs," Rountree

H. HORTON ROUNTREE said our greatest asset is our people and technical training is their greatest need. "It takes money and guidance to accomplish this, and the State has the resources to do the job. If elected, I shall pursue this course," he promised.

The upgrading of public school education and the building of roads will continue to hold top priority with the Legislature, he said, as well as preservation of water and air resources and legislation to control pollution. These are items to consider, he added.

Rountree is currently serving on a special committee for rewriting the North Carolina Alcoholic Beverage Control laws.

FARMVILLE — A new seal that would depict all phases of town government and services was proposed before the Board of Commissioners here last night by Dan Morgan, a local artist.

The Commissioners agreed that a seal that could be used on all vehicles, stationery, etc.

would be advantageous and said they would study the cost and other implications of adopting it for the symbol of the town of Farmville.

It was decided to donate $25 to the Pitt County Mental Health Association to help defray the expense of bringing the cast of "The Concept" to Greenville. The commissioners expressed

Orders From President Federal Facilities Told Halt Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, calling the federal government "one of the nation's worst polluters," today ordered all federal facilities to eliminate air and water pollution.

He set up a $359 million program for the next three years to provide government leadership in the pollution control effort and called for all existing federal facilities to comply with his clear air and water order by Dec. 31, 1972.

Nixon said his order will affect buildings and installations, public works, aircraft and vessels and vehicles and property owned by or constructed or manufactured for the federal government.

Nixon has proclaimed improvement of the nation's environment as a prime priority of the 1970s.

And, he said in a statement issued at the White House today:

"Over the past several years, the federal government has become one of the nation's worst polluters. Clearly the federal government cannot be an effective leader in the battle to save the environment so long as this intolerable situation continues."

In a move he said was aimed at getting the federal government "to sweep its own doorstep clean," Nixon issued an executive order requiring that all federal projects or installations "be designed, operated and maintained so as to conform with air and water quality standards—present and future—which are established under federal legislation."

Russell E. Train, Nixon's newly designated chairman of the Council on Environmental Quality, said that the Department of Defense is the largest single agency of government involved in pollution problems.

Train said, for example, the Military Academy at West Point will need about $3.1 million to improve its now inadequate treatment of sewage that is polluting the Hudson River in New York.

In addition to this latest directive, President Nixon plans to send a message to Congress on his plans for an environmental quality program in the next 10 days, presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said.

Area Conferees Meet At ECU On Day Care Centers

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

The first in a series of Development Activity Conferences to discuss cooperative planning of day care centers for handicapped children in this portion of the state was held on the East Carolina University campus here yesterday.

Those attending included social service directors, school superintendents, health directors and mental health center directors, and other allied personnel from Wilson, Greene, Pitt, Washington, Beaufort, and Martin Counties.

Dr. Malene Irons, director of the Developmental Evaluation Clinic here, opened the day-long conference by giving an overview of services now existing for handicapped children and a summary of what needs to be done.

Vance Perkins, chairman of the Pitt Board of County Commissioners, said, "The utilization of our existing community resources can provide the needed services for these pre-school handicapped children and better equip them for life."

Arthur Alford, superintendent of Pitt County Schools spoke on "Cooperative Planning and Benefits to Schools." Mrs. Betty Agnew, director of the Beaufort County Department of Social Services, defined the role of Social Service in the total program. "Mental Health Concepts" were discussed by Ralph McCoig, director of the Tideland Mental Health Center, which serves Beaufort, Hyde, Tyrrell, Washington, and Martin Counties.

Dr. John Richards, head of the Special Education Department at East Carolina University, summarized the conference and urged cooperative planning in counties and on a regional basis to provide quality service for these children during their formative years.

A number of persons from state agencies were present. These included R. L. Denny, executive secretary of the Governor's Council on Mental Retardation, A. W. Sufriet of the State Department of Mental Health, and Dr. Robert Neeley of the State Board of Health.

Dollar Day On Thursday

Dollar Day time has arrived in Greenville again. The city-wide semi-annual event will take place Thursday.

Sponsored by the Greenville Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Association, the sale is the big clean up of winter merchandise.

According to Harold Creech, manager of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Association, free parking will be provided downtown.

The Chamber has recommended that downtown stores open at 8:30 a.m. and close at 5:30 p.m.

"We are pleased with the enthusiastic participation of the Chamber members in the February dollar day sale," Creech said. "We feel this will be the biggest dollar day sale ever."

Disappointed?

Greenville area children and adults who witnessed the start of last night's snow fall were probably disappointed to wake up today to find clear and sunny skies and not much snow on the ground.

According to the Greenville Utilities Commission Weather Station, .11 inches of precipitation was recorded yesterday and last night. The weather station estimated about .2 of an inch of the precipitation was in the form of snow.

Temperatures for the 24-hour period ending at 8 a.m. today reached a high of 55 degrees, while falling to a low of 18 degrees early this morning.

The high temperature for the 24-hour period ending Tuesday at 8 a.m. was 64 degrees while the low for that same period was set at 51 degrees.

A total of 2.3 inches of rainfall was reported for the 24-hour period ending Tuesday at 8 a.m.

The Tar River level this morning stood at 7.9 feet and was rising.

New Farmville Town Seal Is Proposed At Meet

delight that many Farmville young people had attended the performance at the play about drug addiction the night before.

R.E. Harvey, principal of H.B. Sugg School, appeared before the Board to find out whether Hines Street can be paved by the town. This street provides access to Main Street for the school's buses. He was advised to check with the county school board about having the state pave the portion of Hines Street from George to the railroad, since property on both sides is owned by the school board and that the property owners on the portion from George to Main would have to petition the paving of the remaining two blocks.

Fire Chief H.P. Norman invited the commissioners to a county fireighting school to be held in Farmville February 21-22. He also presented them copies of the mutual aid pact that the fire departments of the county would like to enter into. No action was taken.

E.P. Freuler, Street Department head, told the Board he would like to attend a Municipal Public Works Conference to be held in Raleigh February 25-26.

J.A. "Bud" Wooten asked permission to take bids for a one-half ton pickup truck for the Water and Lights Department he heads. He said this would be a budgeted item. He also asked the Board's approval of repairing a portion of the water plant roof (continued on page 16)

New Idea: Tean Brussels Sprouts With Chestnuts

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
Brussels sprouts and chestnuts are an interesting combination. Doused with butter, they make a fine accompaniment to roast beef.

cooked (see below) - Trim stem ends from sprouts. Remove any outer blemished leaves that do not fall off after trimming. Wash sprouts in cold water; soak in 1 quart cold water with 1 teaspoon salt for 20 to 30 minutes; drain.

Into a 10-inch skillet turn the boiling water and salt; add the sprouts placing large ones at bottom, smaller ones at top.

Bring to a boil; cover and boil until just tender when pierced with a fork—10 to 12 minutes. Using skillet lid, drain off water.

Return sprouts in skillet to low heat; add butter; stir sprouts so they are doused with the melted butter.

Meanwhile if chestnuts are cold, turn into a strainer or colander and let stand in-boiling water off heat to warm. Drain. Turn sprouts into a serving dish and sprinkle with chestnuts. Serve at once.

Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Note: A round carton of brussels sprouts labeled 10 ounces holds about 3/4 pound of sprouts.

ROASTED COOKED CHESTNUTS

On the rounded side of each chestnut, with a small sharp paring knife, make a long criss-cross cut deep enough to go through outer covering and brown skin underneath. Place, cut side up, in a very shallow baking pan. Bake in a preheated 500-degree oven until cuts in shells are wide open—15 minutes. Cool slightly; at once remove shells and brown skins. Turn chestnuts into a saucepan and cover with boiling water; simmer until tender, mealy and a pinkish color throughout—15 to 20 minutes. Drain. Don't worry if the chestnuts break up—they will taste just as good as they do when they are whole.

Does Congress Want Red Ink?

The $202.1 billion budget which President Nixon submitted Monday is balanced and, indeed, includes a small surplus of $1.3 billion. This, most economists agree, is desirable in bringing inflation under control and perhaps allowing for some loosening of tight money during the 1970-71 fiscal year.

However, now the budget goes to Congress, which if it follows past practices, will still be approving portions of the budget next year this time, more than six months after the fiscal year begins.

Of course, almost everyone in Congress has some pet project which he wishes to add to the budget and some of the law makers already have major plans for sending in huge spending bills which, if approved, would send the budget far into the red, based on current revenues.

It is a certainty that these bills will be introduced and as Congressmen log roll in an effort to get their own spending proposals enacted there can be no certainty at this time just what size budget will eventually emerge for the 1970-71 fiscal year.

Fortunately, the American people have shown a greater understanding of the dangers of inflation than do many of their elected representatives. Inflation has been robbing the wage earner and those on Social Security and fixed retirement incomes to the point where controlling inflation has become the number one domestic issue.

Now Americans must tell their elected Congressmen and Senators that they want the lawmakers to act responsibly in their handling of the budget.

A $202 billion budget is not austere by any means. What is more, the proposed budget shrinks the spending planned for defense so that now 41 cents of every federal dollar will go for human resources, while only 36 cents will go for national defense.

No one can deny that it would be desirable to spend even more on some domestic programs, but this should never be done at the expense of creating an inflationary deficit budget.

Much of our present inflation is due to Congress' inability to control spending at crucial times, or to act quickly enough on inflation-controlling measures.

The citizens are now fully awake to the need for controlling inflation. They should demand that Congress wake up, too.

Regional Airport Has A New Lease On Life

There seems to be a ray of hope that this area will at last be able to obtain the type scheduled air service it needs to continue the economic development that is now underway.

The Pitt commissioners Monday approved a resolution which would create Mid-East Regional Airport Authority. Pitt thus joins with other counties in the Mid-East Economic Development area in plans to obtain area service.

Plans call for obtaining regularly scheduled service at Pitt - Greenville Airport and eventually building a centrally located airport to serve Pitt, Beaufort and Martin Counties.

If the citizens of these areas enthusiastically support the plan, then airline service could soon be made available at Pitt - Greenville Airport. The first steps are now being taken and we hope that all government units in the area will work to get this project underway as soon as possible.

Background On Veto Victory

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Head-counting charts of the white House reveal that President Nixon's unprecedented televised veto of the Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) appropriations bill was responsible for his unexpectedly large margin of support in the House.

Prior to Mr. Nixon's brief performance on television, White House counts gave him just barely enough votes to sustain his veto in the House. Some 15 or so Republicans remained undecided, a cause of concern for Presidential aides. If a few tipped the wrong way, Mr. Nixon could be upset.

But those undecided Congressmen switched to the President's side after his television appearance. The last White House headcount prior to Wednesday's vote showed a dramatic gain of more than 40 Congressmen backing the veto (52 more than needed).

Surprisingly, Mr. Nixon's televised veto was followed by a considerably larger favorable response in telephone calls and telegrams to Congressional offices than either the Nov. 3 Vietnam speech or his recent State of the Union address produced. That nullified the impact on wavering Republican Congressmen by the powerful education lobby.

It also flushed out some totally unexpected supporters — such as Rep. Joel Broyhill, a conservative Republican who represents the northern Virginia suburbs of Washington. Broyhill, still poising because Mr. Nixon reappointed Walter Washington as mayor of Washington, had forcefully told Presidential aides where the President could take his HEW veto. To their total surprise, however, Broyhill voted to sustain the veto.

Mr. Nixon, apprehensive about overexposure, had delivered his television plea only at the strong urging of Bryce Harlow, his chief Congressional lobbyist. Moreover, again following the recommendations of Harlow and his lieutenants, the President made two key tactical decisions. First, he rejected early drafts of his veto speech which concentrated on defects in the school spending programs. Second, he rejected requests by Congressional Republicans — including Senate Minority Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania — that he specifically outline a compromise bill.

Instead, Mr. Nixon steered away from education and toward the bread-and-butter issue of rising prices. The final draft was written by the President himself, synthesized from an earlier draft written by the President himself, synthesized from an earlier draft by speechwriter William Safire and a memorandum (requested by Mr. Nixon) from White House counselor Daniel P. Moynihan giving reasons for approving the bill.

A footnote: Mixed with White House jubilation was disappointment that the highly respected Rep. George

Strength For Today Problems Of The Jumbo Jets

HE WENT TO STONE JOHN WESLEY

One of the most remarkable preachers of early Methodism was converted at a meeting which he had attended for the sole purpose of breaking up. He went with a crowd of rowdies to stone John Wesley and run him out of town; but the Spirit of God laid hold on him, and to the end of his life he counted it his greatest glory to serve in the ministry of that gospel at which he had scoffed.

The sword of the Spirit is a very relentless weapon, and we steel our hearts against it to our own peril. That man is indeed a fool who knows God is speaking to him, because his conscience tells him so every day, and yet who persists in his sin. The dreadful calamity awaiting him is that someday his conscience may cease to speak; and if it does, then he will in truth be left in outer darkness. When God leaves a man to himself, He leaves him indeed. There is no more conflict with conscience, but neither is there any more hope.

Happy the man who has sense enough, while there is yet time, to turn from his evil ways. Of the ruffians that went to stone John Wesley that night, there was one who had not closed his heart to God, even though he appeared to have done so. The King of Glory went into that heart and made it secure and happy in His service.

Brisk Business At HQ

WASHINGTON — "Hello, this is the Black Tigers' headquarters. Oh, hi there, Mrs. Vanderschmidt. What's that? You're giving a cocktail party at your Sutton Place apartment and you'd like to hire two Black Tigers. Yes, ma'am. That can be arranged. What kind did you have in mind? You want them militant? Of course, Mrs. Vanderschmidt, all our Black Tigers are militant. Armed or not armed? The difference? Well, if they're armed, there's an extra $2-an-hour charge. Yes, ma'am, they'll be armed. Would you like the same two we sent you last week at your after-theater party for Eldridge Cleaver? You didn't like them, huh? Why not, Mrs. Vanderschmidt? They didn't curse at your guests enough. I'm surprised to hear that. They are the two most militant Black Tigers we have on our list.

"I'll select the new Black Tigers personally. The air will be purple with language. Thank you, Mrs. Vanderschmidt. On the contrary, it's our pleasure to do business with you."

Rinnnnngggg "Black Tiger headquarters. Hello there, Mr. Grace, haven't heard from you in a few months. Oh, you've been to Acapulco and now you'd like to get back in the swing of things? Well, we have a new member who could really get your party off the ground. Shot three cops and a truant officer in San Francisco. That's right. He's out on bail now, and if you want him, you better speak up for him. No telling when his trial will come up. Besides, I'm not supposed to tell you this, but Mrs. Regina Flanduffer has put in a bid for him already. Since you do so much business with us, I'd like to give you preference. Don't worry, Mr. Grace, he's mean. Have I ever sent you anyone who wasn't mean? You'll take him? Good. $500 plus $150 for a bodyguard of two Black Tigers. Thank you.

Not All Things Change

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Our lives are swept by winds of change.

As soon as we get accustomed to a new thing, it is replaced by something newer. We can't go home again, because if we do we find the old home has been torn down, so that some stranger can erect an apartment building or a glorified hamburger stand on its site.

All this incessant change baffles us, confuses us, makes us nervous. We seek the security of an anchor to cling to, something changeless and true, something impervious to time.

"Isn't there anything we can count on to stay the same?" we ask ourselves desperately. Why, of course, there is. There are lots of things you can depend on.

Such as: A shoestring will never break except when you are in a hurry.

The strawberries in the bottom of a box you buy at a fruit-stand will be greener than those on the top.

No matter how mean a letter you write to your congressman, you'll always get a soothing letter back.

Any clock in a hotel lobby will be from three to five minutes late.

No matter how many closets they build in an apartment, they'll still be one fewer than a woman needs.

HAL BOYLE

A dog will always wag his tail when you feed him, even though what you put before him is the kind of stuff he doesn't think is fit even for a human being.

April showers will bring May flowers.

It'll rain within 48 hours after you give your car a polishing.

The teen-agers in your life will worry more about getting pimples than getting into a good college.

Somewhere along the way some kind of disaster will happen to some of your possessions that isn't covered by insurance.

During middle age you can be sure you'll have at least one illness for which you'll have to go to the hospital.

There'll always be some kind of war in some part of the world.

Despite the fad for new names for babies, Johns and Marys will still outnumber Christophers and Kims.

The cost of living will never be what it was in the good old days.

Feminine skirts and the stock market will go up and down, down and up.

Yes, despite the chaos in our changing lives, some things never change. But that isn't altogether consoling either, is it? Many we wish would.

ECU Symphonic Band's Concert Set Friday Night

More than 60 instrumentalists selected from advanced students and faculty staff of the School of Music — composing the East Carolina University Symphonic Band, will present selections at their Winter concert to be held Friday night at 8:15 p.m. in Wright Auditorium. The band, under the direction of Herbert L. Carter, ECU director of bands, will feature

James Houlik, tenor saxophonist, in a performance of Benet Tuthill's "Concerto for Tenor Saxophone and Band. Houlik, a School of Music faculty member, has gained national recognition as a soloist. He gave the world premiere of the Tuthill concerto last summer in New York. In addition to the feature work, the band will offer such well-known works as the overture to Rossini's "La Gazza Ladra;" Theme and Variations;" and "Variations on America" by Charles Ives and William Schuman; and Leonard Bernstein's "Overture to Candide." Other selections by the band will include short compositions and marches from various countries.

The series of seasonal concerts offered to the public by the ECU Symphony Band has become something of a tradition. In this series, the band presents long established favorites and introduces newer compositions which are not as well known. The Friday night performance is open to the public. No admission fee is charged.

Not All Policemen Found To Be 'Equal'

By BETH J. TAMKE
Commercial-Appeal Writer
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — In the beginning there was the "thin gray line."
The men in that line—13 Negroes—coined the term themselves. They felt they were white men with black skins.
They reported to the Memphis Police Department, Oct. 11, 1948, for two weeks' training. The events of Little Rock, Birmingham and Selma were still far in the future.
The 13 knew one thing for certain: the police department did not want them. They were being "tried" due to pressure from newspapers, and the precedent set by 51 other Southern cities.
Six of the original 13 were accepted as patrolmen—the first Negroes in the Memphis Police Department since the yellow fever epidemics of the 1870s.
These early token Negro policemen worked under stultifying conditions. One of the first things they learned was bear up under white officers' insults.

They were warned not to arrest a white man; not to get in the way; not to "loiter" around the station; and to use their own dime if they wanted to report something to headquarters.
Times have changed. There are now 83 Negroes among Memphis' 1,062 policemen. Black officers arrest white men. Squad cars were integrated in 1964. And blacks stand, not separately but with whites, at roll call.
Friction between black and white officers is often overt here, but unlike many cities racial slurs do not lead to fist fights or drawn revolvers.
Newsmen often hear white officers insulting their black colleagues—sometimes to their faces. But the blacks expect this, and try to ignore it.

"It's my attitude that makes me get along here," said a black officer. "I think I'm a man and it makes a difference. They treat me as one. Some of them make remarks, but I don't pay any attention. I just walk out when they say something and I ignore them the rest of the time."
Said a white policeman: "Sure some of the officers go out of their way to insult, by calling them 'coons' and 'niggers. But you've got to look at it this way. There are a lot of nice people on the force who don't. There are also a lot of rednecks."
And another white officer, who often refers to Negroes in a derogatory manner, said of his fellow black policemen: "They're different. They're good, clean officers. They do a good job. I don't classify them with the others."
While some prejudice exists within the police department itself, it is much more widespread against Negroes on the outside. And this prejudice is displayed by both black and white policemen.
The situation in Memphis is not unique. A National Crime Commission study conducted in 1966 in Boston, Chicago and Washington found that 79 per cent of the white officers working in predominantly black precincts were prejudiced. Forty-five per cent of these white policemen were classified as "extremely anti-Negro." At the same time 28 per cent of black officers expressed negative attitudes toward fellow blacks on the street.

To a large extent the black and white officers have an equal image in the black community. Recently, a young black man shouted at a black officer, "Hey pig. Oink, oink!" Retorted the policeman: "I may be a pig, but I don't live in the ghetto."
Of the 15 Negro policemen interviewed, nearly all believe that their race hinders their chances for promotion.
"I'm the best officer in the bureau and they know it," said a Negro detective. "Maybe that makes them mad. I don't know. I took the lieutenant test four years ago, and passed. I'm still a detective. I probably won't take the test again. It's no use."

After three years on the force another black officer says he has no future.
"Oh, they'll make a few showcase promotions, but we really don't have a chance," he said. "It makes me mad, and I would say so if I didn't have to depend on this job. I need it, and I'll do it. But I don't have a future here and I know it."
"Every morning I remember I'm a Negro. I go to work and I do my job. Sometimes I think about not getting anywhere and it affects my work. I get to thinking, 'Why should I go out and break my neck when I'll only get a letter of commendation and it will be put in my folder. Who's going to read it?'"
Of the city's 83 Negro policemen only two hold supervisory positions. Both are lieutenants. There are 13 Negro detectives—just one step above patrolman—and they have no supervisory power.

Police Chief Henry Lux says he's "color blind," and only looks for ability.
Fire and Police Director Frank C. Hollomon said more Negroes would be recruited if they were available. He added that Negroes with the necessary qualifications are in great demand in higher-paying industry.
Other police officials attribute the small number of Negro applicants to two other factors: No one with a police record will be accepted, and many youths, particularly those from the black ghetto, have had some brush with the law; and blacks do not consider that being a policeman offers them status.

Foremost Protection Guarantee

Your Foremost tire protection guarantee covers all Foremost passenger tires (except our special high-performance tires) against all road hazards or defect failures. You are protected for the entire stated months of guarantee. If your tire fails during the guarantee period, return it to us and we will, at our option, repair your tire, or make an allowance based on the original purchase price, including applicable Federal Excise Tax, toward the purchase of a new tire. We will allow 10% of the original purchase price, including applicable Federal Excise Tax, during the 100% allowance period. Thereafter, we will allow 50% or 25% of the original purchase price, including applicable Federal Excise Tax, toward the purchase of a new tire. (See chart below)

Tread Life Protection

We build into every Foremost tire safe traction indicators. They signal when your tire should be replaced. If your tire wears out (except for incorrect alignment) we will make an allowance based on the original purchase price, including applicable Federal Excise Tax, toward the purchase of a new tire. We will allow 1/3 during the first half or 1/2 during the second half of the stated months of guarantee.

This guarantee is not transferable. It is only for private passenger cars or passenger station wagons.

Slum Housing Is Replaced In Suburbia

By PETER B. SEYMOUR
Associated Press Writer
MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — An unusual breed of suburbia is taking root in a slum neighborhood here, with private capital being used to crack the kind of concrete shackles that are strangling the nation's crowded cities.

A small patch of redevelopment property, originally intended for expensive apartments, is being prepared instead for single family homes at remarkably modest cost. It's a test project that has raised as many questions as it has attracted compliments, and one which local officials believe is unique in the nation.

Under its terms, moderate-income families have been able to buy three-bedroom homes for as little as $17,500, because investors haven't demanded high profits. The homeowners gain too, because lawns and gardens haven't been sacrificed to leave room for more dwellings units.

The concept of single family dwellings replacing 19th century tenements and shabby taverns, is not a new one. What is new, is having investors volunteer funds when profits are minimal. Ground was broken last March, and since then about 40 families have moved into homes which are expected to number 115 by 1971.

The project, called Parkview, is being built by the Mortgage Guarantee Insurance Corp. of Milwaukee. It's on a 21-acre tract that MGIC bought from the Milwaukee Redevelopment Authority for the bargain-basement price of $147,500. The sale conditions were that 83 homesites would be built by the end of 1970, and that each would be on a lot of at least 1,000 square feet.

The homes, in five different models, originally cost between $17,500 and $21,600. But in December, MGIC announced that due to rising construction costs the price of subsequent units would range from $17,700 to $22,500.

MGIC estimates that under normal market conditions its $20,300 model, even if built in a suburb where land prices are comparatively low, would cost about $27,000.

Parkview's budget prices are partly due to $1 million in loans, at low interest rates, contributed by the Savings and Loan Council of Milwaukee, which represents 49 lending institutions. The benefits of the low interest rate and MGIC's requirement of as little as a $200 down payment, are making it easier for many buyers.

Besides Parkview's 7 1/2 per cent interest rate, many of the dwellings are being sold under Section 235 of the 1968 Federal Housing Act. Its provisions include the $200 down payments and government financing of up to 85 per cent of the interest.

Parkview's investors say their prices contain no profit other than that needed to meet the original investment. MGIC has insured the council's loan, and said it may realize a small profit on that aspect of the arrangement.

Max H. Karl, head of MGIC, said other firms should consider Parkview-type projects as a civic service, even though it involves investment which would have drawn a higher return elsewhere.

"This is a bargain that brought homebuyers back into the inner city," he said.

But Richard Perrin, director of the Milwaukee housing authority, and other redevelopment experts can't help but wonder whether the precious inner city space wouldn't be better used for multi-family living structures.

They also question whether Parkview can attract the type of occupant who has a permanent income and the resources necessary to assure that the new dwellings will not have deteriorated into slums again in 10 or 20 years.

Edward W. Smyth, the real estate dealer who is handling sales for Parkview, agrees that the development would lose much of its appeal without assurances that it will contain the type of permanent tenants associated with the suburbs.

Smyth added that as low as the down payments and the monthly payments are, they are too steep for most slum dwellers.

He agrees with Perrin that Parkview is not the answer for low-income families. But where Perrin favors apartments over single family-homes, Smyth believes in Parkview because "at least shows it's possible to keep the middle class from fleeing to the suburbs."

Smyth, who is a Negro, said he had hoped that Parkview would be integrated both racially and economically, but that he had not been able to prevent the current 90 per cent Negro occupancy.

"But this isn't as important as establishing a good, permanent economic mixture," he said. "If this works, it could inspire similar developments elsewhere."

To date, Parkview stands as a sample of a unique central city way of living. Even the new streets are curving, and dead end to discourage through traffic—just like in many suburban developments.

The houses are particularly welcome to large families. A three-bedroom model was purchased by a machinist with five children for $17,700 at 7 1/2 per cent under a 30-year mortgage. A two-story, four-bedroom model with an attached garage was purchased by a brewery worker with seven children.

Smyth, who said he waived his usual commission as a contribution to the cost-reducing program, has also aimed at social integration.

"To make this work right," he said, "we need a good cross section of everyone."

Occupants include clergymen, school teachers, welders, a butcher, an employment counselor and an engineering graduate from the University of Michigan.

NCNB Assets Show Increase

Total assets of North Carolina National Bank averaged $1.242 billion in 1969 compared to an average of $1.143 billion in 1968, it was reported today by J. T. Marston, Vice President in charge of the Greenville Office of NCNB.

Total deposits of the bank averaged $1.021 billion, compared to $975 million in 1968. Total loans averaged $684 million, compared to $645 million for the previous year. The bank paid more than $21 million to its savings customers during the year — more than 26 cents of each dollar of income. NCNB Corp., parent company of North Carolina National Bank, reported 1969 earnings before securities losses of $1.75 a share, compared to $1.46 a share earned in 1968. Net income per share (after deducting net securities losses) was $1.69, compared to 1968 net income of $1.21 a share.

Total assets of NCNB Corp. were $1.431 billion at year-end, compared to $1.351 billion on Dec. 31, 1968.

All figures are audited and adjusted for mergers and acquisitions.

In addition to North Carolina National Bank, NCNB Corp. subsidiaries include the American Commercial Agency Inc., NCNB Mortgage Corp., NCNB Properties Inc. and Stephenson Finance Co. Inc.

Estimated Tax Declaration

Due By Mar. 2

According to Edwain L. Yancy, county extension chairman, farmers who do not file a declaration of estimated tax have until Monday, March 2, to file 1969 income tax returns.

This new date was incorrectly stated as March 15 in the last Farm Scene column, Yancy said.

IRS Publication 553 (1-70) states: "The due date for filing a tax return by a farmer or fisherman, in order to be excused from filing a declaration of estimated tax, has been changed from February 15 to March 1. Since March 1, 1970 falls on a Sunday, farmers and fishermen have until Monday, March 2, 1970, to file their 1969 Federal income tax returns and still be excused from making payments on a 1969 declaration of estimated tax."

Knighthood For Noel Coward

LONDON (AP) — Noel Coward, 70-year-old playwright, actor and composer, was one of 16 persons formally knighted Tuesday by Queen Elizabeth II.

Sir Noel received his honor for services to the arts. After the ceremony at Buckingham Palace, Coward remarked that the Queen was "absolutely charming, she always is."

The Public Library of Detroit has 2,057,905 volumes.

Five Convicted Of Winterville Hearing Set For Strike Disorders March 2 On Zoning Changes

HILLSBOROUGH, N. C. (AP) — Five persons, including a former union official, were convicted Tuesday on charges growing out of disorders during a strike of food workers at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in November and December.

After state District Court Judge Harry Horton imposed sentences ranging from 30 days to six months, attorney Adam Stein of Charlotte gave notice of appeal to Superior Court.

James Pierce, former regional director of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, was convicted on charges of blocking ingress and egress to a building and disorderly conduct.

Eugene Gore, an AFSCME organizer, was found guilty of blocking ingress and egress and assault and battery.

Judge Horton sentenced Pierce and Gore to 90 days for blocking doors of the UNC Administration Building during a demonstration Dec. 3. Pierce was fined $300 and costs and given a 90-day suspended sentence on the disorderly conduct charge.

John Wheeler, a UNC graduate student, drew 90 days for blocking the door during the Dec. 3 incident.

Gore got 30 days for assault and battery, and 30 days for assault in kicking the car of a worker being driven through picket lines.

Gore also faces trial Feb. 12 on a charge of failing to disperse during an incident Dec. 4.

That time, seven other persons were arrested and four strikers or sympathizers were injured in a clash with police.

One of the strikers, Mrs. Doris Fearington, was sentenced to six months in jail on an assault with a deadly weapon conviction. She was accused of striking two policemen with a milk crate.

Another striker, Roland Davis, got six months on conviction of resisting and obstructing an officer in the same incident. The case of another man was not pressed.

Phase 2 Of EPIC Plan

RALEIGH — EPIC, a plan to generate and transmit electric power to municipal and electric membership systems across the state, moved a step nearer reality yesterday.

A joint meeting of the executive committee of Electricities and the board of North Carolina Electric Membership Corporation voiced approval of a resolution to launch Phase II of the EPIC plan.

Action was taken by the joint group after J. Garner Bagnal, mayor of Statesville and president of Electricities, reported sufficient pledged municipal support, combined with the EMCs, to proceed with detailed studies, planning and other work required to present, for later approval, a statewide power supply system.

In other action, the two groups, acting separately but simultaneously, passed resolutions calling for incorporation and organization of EPIC.

An organizational meeting of appointed representatives from all member cities and EMCs has been scheduled for Thursday, March 19. The meeting will take place in the ballroom of the Hotel Sir Walter in Raleigh.

WINTERVILLE — The Winterville Town Board Monday night set March 2 as the date for a public hearing to consider changes in the town zoning ordinance.

The following changes will be discussed:

—Changing the zoning classification of the property of Vernon Cox on E. Blount Street from one and two family residential to multi-family

False Alarms

Greenville firemen responded to two false alarms here yesterday one at 5:30 p.m. from Box 236 at the intersection of Evergreen and Beaumont Drives and the second at 6:10 p.m. from Box 231 at the intersection of 14th Street and Rock Springs Drive.

The City of Greenville will pay $100 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of anyone turning in a false alarm.

residential which will allow the construction of apartments; —Changing the zoning classification of property on W. Blount Street from residential to industrial;

—Extending the zoning jurisdiction of the town of Winterville one mile in all directions from its present corporate limits; the Winterville Planning Board has proposed this area be zoned as residential to allow one and two family dwellings.

The hearing will be held in the Municipal Building, beginning at 7 p.m.

Northstate Constructors, Inc., of Dunn, was awarded the contract to extend water and sewer lines to Pitt Technical Institute.

The firm submitted a low bid of $133,778.10 for the project.

Board members were presented a petition from the all electric homeowners in Winterville asking that an all-electric rate be established.

A committee was named to study an all electric rate.

Another group was appointed to check into an industrial rate for the town. The two committees will report their findings at the March meeting.

The board sent an application to the Farmers Home Administration for a grant in the amount of $48,000 for a waste treatment plant for Winterville Machine Works.

In other business, board members discussed the proposed public housing project for Winterville. The matter was tabled until the March meeting.

The board of aldermen set Monday, May 4, as the date for the town election to fill one position, a three-year term of alderman, in the local government.

The polls will be open on election day from 6:30 a.m. until 6:30 p.m. Deadline for filing for the May 4 election is April 11. The filing fee is $10.

Registration books will be March 28, April 4 and 11 from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. in the municipal building. April 18 has been set as challenge date.

Rommie Mallison will be the registrar.

Vows Avoid Ervin Raps Any Politics 'Data Bank'

RALEIGH (AP) — Clyde L. Ball, the General Assembly's new legislative services officer, says he intends to steer clear of politics.

"That's not my job," said Ball in an interview Tuesday shortly after assuming his new duties.

Ball worked for several Tar Heel legislatures as an assistant director of the Institute of Government. He succeeded John Brooks who retired last December after 15 stormy months in the $17,500 job.

Before leaving, Brooks criticized the General Assembly in an interview. He called it a "10-ring circus bogged down in politics and unequipped to handle complicated legislation."

Ball made it clear he considers it his job to make it easier for the legislators to do their job.

"The legislators are up here to make policy determinations," he said. "They represent all shades of opinions and positions."

"Before they can make these policy decisions, they have to have some information. I consider it my job to provide them with the effective machinery that will assist them in getting this information."

As for politics, he said:

"You can't take politics out of a legislature. That's what it's all about. It is here where politics are supposed to make themselves felt."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., chairman of the Senate constitutional rights subcommittee, said Tuesday he has asked the Army to explain reports of an Army data bank on civilians.

"The Army has no business operating data banks for surveillance of private citizens, nor do they have any business in domestic politics," Ervin said in a Senate speech.

He said he wrote Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor asking him what files the Army maintains on civilians, by what legal authority the data is gathered, and what relevancy the files have to the responsibilities of the Army.

An accompanying questionnaire also asked about plans for computerization of the files, access to them, their use and accuracy.

Ervin put in the record an article by a former Army intelligence officer describing what he termed the Army's collection of information about civilians, individuals and groups who are politically active.

The senator said his inquiry is part of the subcommittee's study of privacy and constitutional rights. He said basic constitutional principles "will be devastated beyond repair if the collection of unwarranted files and development of data banks for surveillance purposes, is not halted."

Concerned Over Public Support

One item in the agenda of questions presented by the Rose High faculty to the Board of Education at Monday's night meeting, was omitted from the story appearing in Tuesday's paper.

Under the portion concerning the school program, the following question should have appeared:

"What support (financial and otherwise) can be expected in order to make this a comprehensive high school with a curriculum broad enough to serve the non-college bound students? . . . How can we awaken community support for this and stop resting on the illusion that we have the best possible school already?"

Environmentalists Hit SST On 2 Counts

By G. C. THELEN Jr.
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—Boosters of the supersonic transport concede only one point to their antipollution critics: The SST as presently designed will make more airport noise than any existing commercial jetliner.

But larger questions about SST-caused sonic boom and weather alterations still are hotly contested.

The nation may know better in a few weeks whether the 1,800-mile-an-hour, needle-nosed plane is indeed a serious threat to the environment.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, tentatively has scheduled hearings on the question before his Senate air and water pollution subcommittee.

It is doubtful that Muskie or other congressional critics can stop the SST project on environmental-protection grounds alone.

For the venture is riding the political momentum of President Nixon's strong commitment of $1.3 billion for prototype development by 1973 and Congress' vote of $80 million in support this year.

Environmentalists indict the SST on two counts: Noise, both airport and sonic boom during flight; and possible weather alterations from water vapor and engine effluents dumped into the inert upper atmosphere.

The Federal Aviation Administration and its allies in Congress have long since dropped as futile any defense of sonic boom, the 25 to 50 mile wide carpet of thunder which trails the SST at speeds greater than sound.

And President Nixon largely defused boom critics by pledging to allow SST flights over populated areas at speeds slow enough to prevent a boom.

But some were not won over. Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., condemns the booms that would be generated on transoceanic flights.

"If the sonic boom can cause damage on land, then it can cause damage at sea too," he says. "The shipping and fishing industry is not likely to accept the incessant disruptive booming without protest. And they by no means lack political clout."

The FAA, which administers the SST project, counters with studies showing the plane to be economically feasible without overland, supersonic flights.

The agency also says booms at sea are minimal because of counteracting ship noise and the cushioning effect of water.

No one has yet contended the booms would harm or even affect aquatic life.

Airport noise is more clear-cut, however. The SST, because of its giant engines, will be noisier on the ground than existing jets.

Says Boeing, the prime SST contractor: "The 'sideline' noise level is less than that of a jet."

Environmentalists also say that the SST will greet people within one mile of a runway with a sound equivalent to that experienced by standing within 30 feet of a trailer truck moving at 60 miles an hour.

While no one disputes the airport noise problem, scientists are split over the SST's impact on weather.

Critics rely on the admittedly theoretical work of Dr. Vincent J. Schaefer, a weather expert at the State University of New York at Albany.

Schaefer asserts water vapor and effluents from the SST's engines would be injected into the upper atmosphere for the first time ever by a commercial airplane. The stratosphere, unlike the lower atmosphere, cleans itself of pollution quite slowly.

"A high concentration of very small particles in the stratosphere might cause such a reduction in the incoming solar radiation as to have a weather modification effect on a global scale," says Schaefer. Solar radiation heats the earth.

"If this were to happen a very large capital investment could be completely wasted since it would lead to a new ice age," he maintains.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., a friend of the SST, asserts that Schaefer "is disagreed with more than he is agreed with" in his field.

The FAA buttresses Goldwater's contention with a report from the National Academy of Sciences:

"Our tentative conclusion, based on an assumed traffic volume of four flights per day from 400 supersonic transport airplanes, is that neither additional cloudiness nor water vapor absorption of long-wave radiation will be sufficient to disturb appreciably either stratospheric properties or the large-scale circulations that are influenced by its thermodynamic state."

Federal meteorologists have further assured the FAA "that although an unequivocal answer cannot be offered, the general opinion of a large group of scientists almost unanimously rejects any significant threat to modification of the weather" from the SST.

The two favorable reports deal only with water vapor from the SST's engines and not other effluents. Schaefer asserts the pollutants would act as water vapor to block further beneficial solar radiation.

The plane's engines are rated 98 per cent efficient, eliminating any possibility of the black exhaust smoke now associated with some smaller jets. But emissions of gaseous pollutants such as carbon and nitrogen oxides are unavoidable.

Recently David Weissman, a Stanford University biologist, contended that SST exhausts will speed the breakdown in the stratosphere of a naturally occurring gas called ozone. Ozone helps shield the earth from harmful ultraviolet radiation.

The ozone destruction, Weissman said in a letter to Proxmire, "could, in major air routes, create a penetration 'window' in the atmosphere. This would result in all life under these windows being killed by the UV rays."

The FAA has not heard of Weissman's theory and can offer no refutation.

Environmentalists also say that the SST will greet people within one mile of a runway with a sound equivalent to that experienced by standing within 30 feet of a trailer truck moving at 60 miles an hour.

While no one disputes the airport noise problem, scientists are split over the SST's impact on weather.

Critics rely on the admittedly theoretical work of Dr. Vincent J. Schaefer, a weather expert at the State University of New York at Albany.

Schaefer asserts water vapor and effluents from the SST's engines would be injected into the upper atmosphere for the first time ever by a commercial airplane. The stratosphere, unlike the lower atmosphere, cleans itself of pollution quite slowly.

"A high concentration of very small particles in the stratosphere might cause such a reduction in the incoming solar radiation as to have a weather modification effect on a global scale," says Schaefer. Solar radiation heats the earth.

"If this were to happen a very large capital investment could be completely wasted since it would lead to a new ice age," he maintains.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., a friend of the SST, asserts that Schaefer "is disagreed with more than he is agreed with" in his field.

The FAA buttresses Goldwater's contention with a report from the National Academy of Sciences:

"Our tentative conclusion, based on an assumed traffic volume of four flights per day from 400 supersonic transport airplanes, is that neither additional cloudiness nor water vapor absorption of long-wave radiation will be sufficient to disturb appreciably either stratospheric properties or the large-scale circulations that are influenced by its thermodynamic state."

Federal meteorologists have further assured the FAA "that although an unequivocal answer cannot be offered, the general opinion of a large group of scientists almost unanimously rejects any significant threat to modification of the weather" from the SST.

The two favorable reports deal only with water vapor from the SST's engines and not other effluents. Schaefer asserts the pollutants would act as water vapor to block further beneficial solar radiation.

The plane's engines are rated 98 per cent efficient, eliminating any possibility of the black exhaust smoke now associated with some smaller jets. But emissions of gaseous pollutants such as carbon and nitrogen oxides are unavoidable.

Recently David Weissman, a Stanford University biologist, contended that SST exhausts will speed the breakdown in the stratosphere of a naturally occurring gas called ozone. Ozone helps shield the earth from harmful ultraviolet radiation.

Safety Council Meets Thursday

The Pitt County Safety Council will meet Thursday at 12:30 p.m. at the Greenville Country Club.

Dr. Marvin Kuchar, a member of the research department of E.I. DuPont de Nemours will present the program for the meeting.

The council meetings are open to the public and anyone interested in safety in any form is entitled to become a member of the safety council.

Openings In Reserve

Lt. Cmdr. James T. Cheatham, commanding officer of the U. S. Naval Reserve unit in Washington, has announced that openings are available immediately for all veterans who have completed active duty.

Cheatham said that positions are open to members of all Armed Services. Special provisions have been made to allow the conversion of job duties.

The Reserve commander pointed out that drilling members of the Naval Reserve receive pay for their weekly Monday night meetings. In addition, they receive retirement credit and other fringe benefits, he said.

Veterans who are attending college may apply for the Navy's Reserve Officer Candidate School, earning a commission without acquiring any further active duty obligation.

The drill unit in Washington meets at the Naval Reserve Training Facility on the Pataulus Highway Monday evenings at 7:30.

One Rat For Every 2 People

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—There is one rat for every two people here, say coordinators of a rodent extermination project.

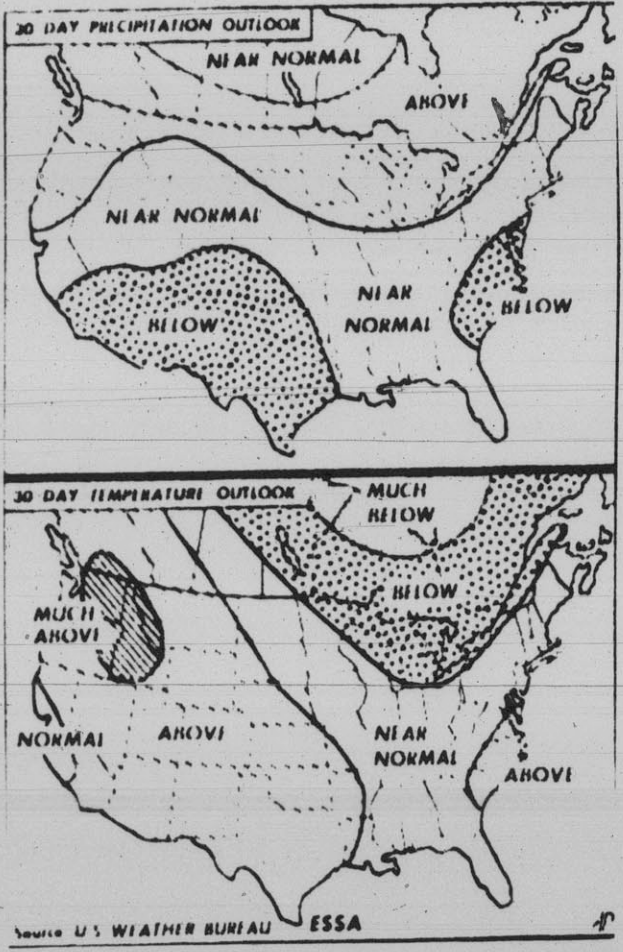

More than 2 million people live in Philadelphia. The rat was started in January 1969 after the city recorded 91 rate bites and building inspectors found 16 per cent of abandoned dwellings rodent infested.

The rat control project was formed under a $2.4 million federal grant.

One million rats have been exterminated in the project that began in January 1969, according to Reginald Young, a project spokesman. And he said, there still are a million scurrying around.

DDT Banned By Swedish Govm't

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—A ban against DDT went into effect in Sweden at the beginning of 1970, but limited use of the pesticide on pine trees will be permitted for the rest of the year. The Swedish forest industries formerly used 60 tons of DDT a year. During 1970 only 13 tons will be used by special permission.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets weaker Tuesday, supplies adequate, demand fair. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:
Grade A large whites: 61½ to 62; medium whites: 59 to 60; small whites: 51 to 53.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina hog markets today were 50 cents higher. Tops of 27.00 to 28.75 at Tarboro; 27.50 to 28.50 at Rocky Mount; 27.25 to 28.25 at Kinston, New Bern, Benson, Newton Grove, Albertson and Lumberton; 27.50 to 28.00 at Siler City and Denton; 27.00 to 28.00 at Bethel; 28.00 at Salisbury; 27.75 at Greensboro.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—The North Carolina poultry market steady today for fryers and broilers. Offerings adequate, demand good. Live at farms 13 cents per pound. Hens, steady, heavy type at farm 15 to 16 cents, mostly 16.

NEW YORK (AP) — Most stocks inched ahead today on the momentum of Tuesday's late afternoon rally, but declines began to whittle away the lead of advances.

The Dow Jones industrial average at 11 a. m. was 759.57, up 2.11, but slipping from its earlier height.

Analysts see the statement of Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy on an easing of monetary restrictions as indeed encouraging but add that it may be some time before such credit restraints are relaxed.

GRAIN

From warm unseasonal weather to typical icy February conditions have been the story this winter and the fluctuation has not caused any significant change in activity recently on Pitt County grain buying stations. Buying reports, since early November, have been confined to light amounts of ear corn and very few increases or decreases in grain quotes have been experienced. All prices reported this morning are the same as reported yesterday. Following are per bushel price quotes received at 10:45 a. m.

Greenville: yellow corn, $1.29; soybeans, $2.45; wheat, $1.20; oats, $65—all steady.

Ayden: yellow corn, shell, $1.38; ear corn, $1.28—steady. Winterville: yellow corn, shell, $1.30; ear corn, $1.20—steady.

Bethel: yellow corn, shell, $1.32; ear corn, $1.15; soybeans, $2.40—all steady.

Bircher Elected President Of Golf And Country Club

John C. Bircher, an official with the local division of Fieldcrest Mills, was elected president of the Greenville Golf and Country Club last night at the club's annual stockholders membership meeting.

Bircher, elected to serve for a one-year term on the club's official board, was installed along with newly elected vice president, Charles Hudson of Blount Fertilizer Company.

Directors elected last night were Dr. Joe Ward, DuPont plant physician; Kenneth Hite, local attorney, Stuart Bost of Person - Garrett Tobacco Company; and Robert Abbott, Greenville accountant.

All directors serve three year terms and officers are elected for one year tenures.

In attendance last night were approximately 70 of the club's over 400 stockholders. A financial report showed the club to be in sound financial condition.

In accepting the gavel as president, Bircher told fellow stockholders that one of the changes he felt the club needed was a slight increase in membership. "I feel we have the facilities and capabilities to handle an increase in members," he said.

Re-elected to serve as secretary - treasurer last night was Otis Alexander of Carolina Leaf Tobacco Company.

Bircher succeeds Ed Warren of Greenville as president of the club.

Cars Collided

At Intersection

An estimated $650 property damage resulted from an 8:30 a.m. mishap here yesterday at the intersection of 14th Street and Brownleaf Drive.

Police identified the drivers involved in the collision as Eleanor Branch Hooks of 1902 East Sixth St., Nina Baker Weston of 1301 East Wright Rd. and Charles Wayne Buck, 18, of 2514 Sunset Ave.

Police, who charged Buck with failing to reduce his speed enough to avoid an accident placed damage to the Weston and Buck vehicles at $250 each and estimated damage to the Hooks vehicle at $150.

No injuries were reported.

that has rotted away. He said a Greenville roofing company has given an estimate of $696.

Wooten told of plans to move the electrical substation now located at the intersection of Grimmersburg and Wilson Streets outside of town onto the property of Pennell Burnette. He said Burnette had agreed to a three-year easement in return for a yard light.

Repercussions from the Board's ordinance against two homes and or business places being on the same water or electric meters were discussed and the Board reiterated that no exceptions will be made on the matter.

Three police officers, Sammy Smith, David Jackson, and Coy Taylor will be trained to use the new breathalyzer the town is getting, according to Police Chief Graham Creel. The state has provided the breathalyzer and the funds for the three to attend a school in Ahoskie.

Creel reported that there have been several breakings and enterings in the business district during the last month and that he is reorganizing his night patrol to try to remedy the situation. He asked the Board's approval of the plan, part of which would be to keep a night patrolman in the Marlboro area.

The Board voted to take bids on gasoline, cylinder oil, wash and grease jobs for the town vehicles.

Local Man Found Shot In Head

Ernest J. McLawhorn of 2412 Slay Drive was found shot in the head this morning in the office of R.F. McLawhorn and Sons at 1408 North Greene St.

Police, who said the wound appeared to be self inflicted, reported that McLawhorn was found by his brother, Gentry McLawhorn of Bethel about 9:30 a.m. on the floor of the office.

He was taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital by the Greenville Rescue Squad.

The wound was apparently caused by a projectile from a .22 caliber pistol found at his side.

Investigation of the accident is continuing.

Kiwanis Auction Will Be Feb. 13

WINTERVILLE — The annual farm auction sale sponsored by the Winterville Kiwanis Club will be staged Friday, Feb. 13. The sale, previously scheduled for Friday, Feb. 6, has been postponed due to the condition of the sale lot.

The sale area is wet and flooded and tractors and other equipment can not be moved on the lot.

East Carolina Plays Host To Tallest Team In America In Jacksonville Five

Vaughn Wedeking stands only five feet, 10 inches tall. And when he walks on the floor with his teammates, he must wonder if the day will ever come when he'll be stepped on.

Vedeking is a starting guard on the Jacksonville University Dolphins. His backcourt running made is Rex Morgan, a 6-5 All-America. Up in the front court are three other fellows, 6-10 Ron McIntyre, 7-0 Pembroke Burrows, and 7-2 Artis Gilmore.

One writer recently said of Vedeking, "He must feel like the male lead in 'Land of the Giants.'" And well he must.

Tomorrow night, Jacksonville University invades Minges Coliseum bringing with it the number eight ranking on the Associated Press poll, and the distinction of being America's tallest collegiate basketball team.

And the man to watch, if you're not worried about seeing whether Vedeking gets stomped or not, is Artis Gilmore. A Florida native who went to Gardner-Webb Junior College, Gilmore is the nation's leading rebounder. He stands among the top scorers in the country, and is one of the best in field goal percentage.

But you can't just play him. If you do, Morgan will slip in and kill you, not to mention Burrows.

Burrows, however, may be a questionable starter. He was injured in Jacksonville's only loss of the season, to Florida State, and may not be ready for fulltime action yet.

Irregardless, the Dolphins will be a stern test for East Carolina University's Pirates.

"We've had two of our hardest days of practice in getting ready for Jacksonville and William & Mary," Coach Tom Quinn said. "And then, we have to play Old Dominion on Monday, so we don't get much of a chance to practice after we start this series of three games. But we're in good shape, and it should give us a chance to warm up for tournament play, since it's the first time this year we've had two big games back-to-back."

And the Jacksonville game cannot overshadow Friday night's game with William & Mary's Indians, who have been steadily improving this year. "They have one of the top teams in the conference, and are much improved over last year's team. It will be a very difficult game for us."

But right now, the worry is Jacksonville. "I haven't decided on how we'll approach them on defense or offense. It will depend on what they do, as well as what we feel we can do. I don't know what tempo we'll use," Quinn said.

As to defense, Quinn feels that probably some combination type will be employed. "The quickness of our forwards may give them some problems, and we may be able to force them to foul. We'll definitely take the ball to them."

Quinn elaborated on Gilmore and Morgan. "Gilmore is definitely one of the finest prospects in his size and ability. He will be hard to stop, both in rebounding and scoring. Morgan is one of the best 6-5 men around who can go either as a forward or guard. He is a great shooter, and nearly pulled Jacksonville by N. C. State last year, before Gilmore and Burrows were on the scene."

Quinn feels, too, that the Bucs have improved. "Julius Prince is more than adequate in taking over in the backcourt for us. His position will definitely be in better condition. He sparked us against Richmond and did an adequate job against VMI. He'll definitely improve things."

East Carolina will have its biggest test, in more ways than one, on the board with the Jacksonville team, the fifth ranked team the Bucs meet this year.

Bethel Wins Pair To Move Nearer To Title

WINTERVILLE — The Bethel Indians and Squaws moved a giant step closer to another Pitt County Conference championship last night with a pair of wins over Winterville. The boys won, 39-65, while the girls took a 46-15 win.

Bethel's girls can now be caught only by Grifton, and any combination of three in Bethel wins and Grifton losses will sew it up. For the boys, the magic number is also three, with only Belvoir and Ayden still in the race, and the best the Tornados can do is tie.

In the girls contest, Bethel shot out into a 9-0 lead in the first period, then outthrew Winterville, 13-4, in the second quarter. That left Bethel in command, 22-4 at halftime. In the second half, Bethel continued to pull away, hitting 12 to four more by Winterville. That made it 34-8 as the final period began. Bethel hit 12 as Winterville got seven, finishing things off.

The Indians continued the war dance in their game as they rolled up a 21-16 margin in the first period. They increased the tempo in the second quarter, burning the nets for 29 points, while Winterville's pace fell off to 12. That made it 50-28 at the half.

In the girls contest, Bethel shot out into a 9-0 lead in the first period, then outthrew Winterville, 13-4, in the second quarter. That left Bethel in command, 22-4 at Ju Hall 4, Ja. Hall 2, Worthington 1, Cory, J. Sutton, A. Dews, M. Dews, McLawhorn, Gladson, Cayton, Lassiter, Lawson, S. Sutton.

Rose Slips Past Rocky Mount, 67-62

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

Rose High School gained revenge for one of its divisional losses last night with a 67-62 victory over Rocky Mount's Gryphons. The win brought the Rampant record to 3-2 in the division, and set up a meeting with unbeaten Goldsboro on Thursday night.

Rose dominated the boards in the game, and that was the prime difference. Both Ray Peszko and Mike Harrington did a fine job in rebounding, and both drew a number of fouls in the process, which eventually meant the win.

Rose hit on 23 shots from the line, while Rocky Mount made only 10. The Gryphons had beaten Rose, 52-44 from the floor.

Rose was handicapped in the game by the loss of starter Willie Smith midway through the third period, but at the same time Rocky Mount suffered when star Mitchell Wiggins drew three fouls early in the game, and sat out most of the contest.

Only the fine outside shooting of Lewis Hardy kept the Gryphons in the game. He constantly hit throughout the game, and got some support from George Ham in the final period, when they almost pulled it out.

But Rose got key foul shots and managed to hold Rocky Mount off, although the lead was cut back to one on a couple of occasions near the end.

Rose took the lead on a quick shot by Peszko, but Rocky Mount came back to tie it up on a pair of free throws. Rose went out again, as Billy Clark hit at the line and Smith hit on a rebound, 5-2, but Rocky Mount again cut the lead away.

Finally, the Gryphons took the lead, as Mike Long connected to make it 7-6. Rose took it back on a pair of Peszko free throws, but Wiggins hit to put Rocky Mount out again, 9-8. Rose again came back on two free throws by Harrington to take the lead, but this time Rocky Mount moved out and strengthened its lead.

Hardy tied it up with a free throw, and Lorenzo Ellis put the Gryphons ahead, 12-10. Rose tied it by a basket by Long and another by Hardy ran the lead to 16-12 with 1:05 left. Harrington hit two quick ones to tie it up, but a free throw at the end of the period by Hardy made it 17-16 at the break.

Rocky Mount scored on a tap by Long to move out by three, and built the lead to four as Rose got a free throw and Hardy countered with a basket to make it 23-19 with 6:10 left in the quarter. But Rocky Mount got only one more basket the rest of the half, while Rose pumped in 12 points.

Charlie Harris hit on a jumper to cut the lead to two, and Harrington tied it up. Trent Hill put Rose ahead from the corner, 25-23, and the Rampants got two free throws from Peszko, and baskets from Hill and Harris to make it 31-25 at the half.

In the third period, the Rampants threatened to turn it into a rout. They pushed out to a 10-point lead behind the scoring of Peszko and Harrington, at 37-27, but were unable to hold onto it. Rocky Mount rallied, and with Hardy scoring, cut the lead back to as little as four, 45-41 at the end of the period.

Rose went back out by six on a quick basket by Harris, but Rocky Mount got a free throw from Ham, a basket by Hardy, and another charity shot from Ham, making it 47-45. But Rose held them off, as Harrington made two free throws to extend the lead to four.

The two teams exchanged shots until Clark scored to make it 55-49, but the Gryphons rallied again. Hardy hit at the line, then made two baskets to cut the lead to just one, 55-54 with 2:54 left.

But again, Rose scored when it was necessary. Free throws by Harrington stretched the lead back to three, and a pair by Harris ran it out to four, 60-56 with 45 seconds left.

After that, Rocky Mount could only swap with Rose the rest of the way, as Clark and Peszko both got two each from the line, and Harris added a basket at the horn for the final margin.

Harrington paced Rose with 21 points, while Hardy had 18 and Peszko had 12. Rocky Mount was led by Hardy with 27, while Long had 11.

Rose travels to Goldsboro for a divisional battle on Thursday, making up a snowed out game two weeks ago. Friday, they return home to play host to Raleigh's Sanderson home in a cross-divisional battle.

Oak City Rolls By Chocowinity

OAK CITY — Oak City High School took a pair of victories from Chocowinity last night in non-conference action. The Wildcats won, 74-45, while the girls took a 22-21 decision.

In the girls game, Oak City pushed out into a 7-3 lead in the first period, and then outthit Chocowinity, 5-4, in the second. That left Oak City ahead at halftime, 12-7.

Chocowinity rallied in the third period, however, outscoring Oak City, 8-2, and pushed out into a 15-14 lead. But Oak City came back, and with 20 seconds left, Libby Coefield hit at the line to give the Wildkittens the win.

The Oak City boys held off a second period Chocowinity rally, and went on to win their game. Oak City had gained a 20-8 lead in the first period, but Chocowinity came back to outscore them, 20-12, in the second. Still, Oak City held a 32-28 lead at the half.

In the third period, Oak City pulled away, outscoring Chocowinity, 19-11, for a 51-39 lead.

Chocowinity: Smith 12, Crawford 4, Manning, Phelps 4, Adams, Cox, Little, Jones 1.

Oak City: Edmondson 11, H. Copeland 5, L. Copeland 2, Ross, Everett 2, Coefield 2, Whitley, C. Ross.

Rose never trailed in the game, and for the first time in several games had no trouble at all in disposing of their victim. They combined good defense with a sometimes sporadic defense to keep Rocky Mount out of things.

Sylvester Tyson played perhaps his best defensive game, and was credited with blocking a number of shots. His rebounding was also a key factor in the Rampant Cub win.

Linwood Staton also had a fine game, hitting 13 points, and kept the Rampant ahead in the first half with his fine outside shooting.

By the end of the first period, Rose had pulled out to a 14-9 lead, and were never caught after that. In the second period, they continually pulled away, outhitting Rocky Mount, 15-9. That gave Rose a 29-18 lead at the half.

Rocky Mount began to find the range in the third period and it looked like they might make a game of it. But the Cubs refused to let them cut into the lead by much, and by the end of the frame, both teams had scored 17 points, and the Cubs still held an 11-point edge, 46-35.

Going to the wire, Rose pulled away even further. They dumped in 19 points, while the Baby Gryphons got only 10, and that did it.

Robert Kear led Rose with 14 points, while Staton added his 13. For Rocky Mount, Glendell Moore had 16, while Bobby Parker had 14.

Rocky Mount: Sawyer, Bullock 8, G. Moore 16, Davis, Dozier, Parker 14, Phillips 5, Avent 2, Williams, McCullough, Hodges, H. Moore, Moody.

Greene Central Keeps Grip On First Place

SNOW HILL — Greene Central High School kept its place atop the Eastern Plains Conference secure with an 80-57 romp over Southern Wayne last night.

The Rams took the lead in the opening minutes of play and were never in trouble after that. By the end of the first eight minutes of play, Greene Central had worked up a 19-12 lead. In the second frame, the Rams canned 17 points, while the Vikings got just 10, and that made it 36-22 at halftime.

Southern Wayne came to life in the third period, pouring in 25 points, but Greene Central didn't let them do any damage, as they nearly matched it with 24. That put the Rams into a 60-47 lead as the final frame got underway. The Rams doubled Southern Wayne in that one, 20-10, to wrap the win up.

Kermit Crawford led Greene Central with 29 points, while Robbie Hill and 20 and Ron Bowen had 13. Bobby Brimage led Southern Wayne with 20 while Frank Harrell and Charlie Marks each had 10.

Greene Central's junior varsity captured its game, 62-60, in an overtime.

Chicod Pulls Off 64-62 Upset Of Ayden With Buzzer Basket

CHICOD — The Chicod Hornets pulled off their long-awaited upset of Ayden last night, getting a 64-62 victory. The Ayden girls, however, dumped Chicod, 31-27.

Both Ayden and Chicod pushed through four points in the first period of the girls game, but Ayden came up with 10 points in the second while the Lady Hornets got only eight. That put Ayden into a 14-12 lead at the half.

It stayed close throughout the third period, as Chicod out-scored Ayden, 8-7, but trailed 21-20, at the end of the frame. Ayden then outhit Chicod, 10-7, in the final period, to hold onto the lead.

Cheryl Claybrook led Ayden with 11 points, while Debra Buck had 17 to lead Chicod.

In the boys game, Ayden roared away to a 21-11 lead over the Hornets and appeared headed for an easy victory. But Chicod came back in the second stanza and outhit the Tornados, 18-14, to cut the margin to 35-29 by intermission.

In the third period, Chicod cut two more points from the lead, 19-17, but went into the last period down, 52-48. The Hornets didn't give up, however, and finally tied the score at 62-62. Chicod got the ball back with forty seconds left in the game and stalled until Phil Page pushed in a shot at the horn to give the Hornets their win.

Page led Chicod with 15 points, while Billy Evans added 14, and Danny Edwards and Garland Warren each had 12.

Whitley To Council Post

WINSTON-SALEM, — A. B. Whitley, Jr. painting contractor of Greenville, was elected 2nd Vice-President of the Carolinas Council, of the Painting & Decorating Contractors of America this week-end in Winston-Salem. The 21st Annual Convention was held at the Robert E. Lee Hotel Friday through Sunday, with some 175 members, wives, and guests attending.

Whitley was not able to attend the convention due to surgery last week, but was represented by Robert W. McGowen of his firm from Greenville. Robert McGowen was elected to the Board of Control for a three year period. The new Council President, James W. Fillyaw of Columbia, S. C. also appointed Whitley as the Council Liaison representative with CSI and AIA for the coming year. Whitley is currently the National Chairman for the Specifications Committee, and is a past president of the Carolinas Council P. D. C. A.

Other officers elected at the close of the Annual Convention were: 1st Vice-President, B. J. Herring of Winston-Salem; Ned H. May of Durham was re-elected Secretary - Treasurer; and Paul S. Oliver of Greensboro was named to the Board of Control. Sam Hayworth of Rocky Mount, N. C. was re-elected as the Council's executive board member for the National PDCA with H. J. Cater of Charlotte as alternate.

French, Dutch Award Increased Share Island For Her Loss

PHILISBURG, St. Martin, West Indies (UPI)—France and the Netherlands meet on a 37-square-mile island in the eastern Caribbean about 150 miles east of Puerto Rico.

It's the island of St. Martin (or Sint Maarten, if you prefer), which has two languages, two currencies and two citizenships. Twenty-one square miles belong to the French. The rest of the island is Dutch-owned. Despite these differences, there is no border as such between both sectors and everybody wanders back and forth at will.

LONDON (UPI)—Mrs. Molly Dimmock went to court to seek an increase in the 1,500 pounds ($3,600) she previously had been awarded for the loss of her sense of smell in a car wreck.

"I thought women wore perfume for the benefit of men," said Lord Justice Russell during the discussion.

"I think it is more for the atmosphere of the wearer than for the effect on men," Mrs. Dimmock replied.

The judge agreed. He increased her award to 4,000 pounds ($9,600).

Sign-Up Programs For Feed Grain, Wheat, Cotton Begin

The sign-up for the 1970 feed grain, wheat and cotton programs began Monday and is about the same as in past years, even though no advance payments will be made this year. According to Stacy J. Evans, county executive director for the Pitt County ASCS Office, Pitt County farmers who participate in the feed grain program have assurance that the 1970 price support loan levels for corn, grain sorghum and barley will be essentially the same as in 1969. Loan levels for oats and rye also will be about the same.

Tryon Palace Symposium

Plans for a second three-day symposium on 18th Century decorative arts at historic Tryon Palace in New Bern have been announced at East Carolina University. Scheduled for March 8-10, the symposium is being held in response to requests that the event be repeated since last year's highly successful program. The symposium is offered jointly by the Tryon Palace Commission and the ECU Division of Continuing Education, in cooperation with the Tryon Palace Restoration and the N. C. Department of Archives and History. It is designed to increase knowledge and understanding of life in 18th century North Carolina through a study of the decorative arts of the period. ECU's assistant dean of continuing education, Brayom Anderson, says: "The symposium is designed for those with a keen interest in the decorative arts. Interior decorators, collectors, historians, those engaged in restoration work, and individuals who are interested in our American heritage will find the symposium both interesting and informative." Tryon Palace was the colonial capitol and first state capitol of North Carolina. Construction began in 1767 and was completed in 1770. The palace was authentically restored by the Tryon Palace Commission from 1952 to 1959 and has become one of the state's outstanding historic attractions. Anderson, noting that enrollment will be limited, urged that those interested register early for the symposium.

"While there could be some small change because of transportation cost factors, for production planning purposes farmers can count on our State loan rates being about the same as last year's," Evans said. The loan rates for last year were: corn, $1.23 per bushel; grain sorghum, $1.67 per hundredweight; barley, 89 cents per bushel; oats, 74 cents per bushel; and rye, $1.18 per bushel.

The precise 1970 loan levels for North Carolina will not be known for some time, Evans reported.

The 1970 feed grain national average loan levels have been set as follows: corn, $1.08 for No. 2 ($1.05 for average quality) per bushel; grain sorghum, $1.61 per hundredweight; barley, 83 cents per bushel; oats, 63 cents per bushel; rye, $1.02 per bushel.

Price-support payment rates for program participants will be exactly the same as in 1969: 30 cents per bushel for corn; 29.68 cents per bushel for grain sorghum; 20 cents per bushel for barley.

For producers of corn, grain sorghum and barley, price-support loans and payments are contingent upon voluntary participation in the feed grain program and compliance with its provisions.

Complete details are available at the county ASCS office, Evans said. Program sign-up will continue through March 20.

Kids Can Study With Noise!

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to "Generation Gap"—the mother who couldn't understand how her kids could study with all kinds of racket going on around them!

We have become so accustomed to noise that it doesn't distract us. We can "turn it off" in our own minds. I know that I cannot study unless I am tuning out some kind of noise. By the way, I am 16, and a straight A student.
NEEDS NOISE TO STUDY BY

DEAR ABBY: Re the lady who wrote and asked you if you thought her kids could really study with the noise of a television or radio going on: You said, "Send me their grades, and I'll send you my answer."

Well, it's not necessary to send their grades. I am 17 and I do all my homework while I'm watching television or listening to the radio, and I have a 3.4 grade average.

If I tried to study in a quiet place, I would never get my work done because I'd be spending all my time trying to hear what everyone else was doing.

A radio or TV tunes out all that other noise. It works. I say, let kids study in whatever atmosphere they want to study in. They are old enough to know how they study best.
LIKES NOISE IN MANHATTAN

DEAR ABBY: You had a letter in your column recently from a mother who asked you if you thought a child could really "study" properly with the television going full blast, and the racket of a stereo and radio going on. Your comment interested me. ("Send me his grades and I'll send you an answer.")

I am a high school teacher, and I asked for a show of hands of ALL the students who made it a practice to try to find a "quiet" place in which to study. NOT one of my honor students raised his hand! So maybe the kids of today are able to tune out distractions. TELLING IT LIKE IT IS

DEAR ABBY: It makes me so mad! Why can't parents understand us children? I saw the letter in your column signed "GENERATION GAP," and all I can say is there sure is a generation gap when it comes to "noise" and how it affects the younger generation as compared to how it affected their parents.

If I don't have some kind of "noise" around me, I can't concentrate on what I'm reading. This is the truth because I have tried to study in silence and I can't do it. I am a high school freshman and make straight A's.
15 IN AUBURN, KY.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe the kids are right. Years ago I lived near the railroad tracks, and I slept like a log every night even tho I could hear that train whistle at all hours.

We moved, and I had a terrible time sleeping. I actually missed the noise of the train!

So, familiar "noise" can sometimes unconsciously give peace of mind and a feeling of security to a person. I say, if the kids want to study in a boiler factory, let them—if they make their grades.
GRANDPA IN DULUTH

DEAR ABBY: My kid is one of those who studies with the television turned up so high it can break your eardrum. He also claims he can "tune out" the noise so it doesn't bother him. So how come when he's talking on the telephone if somebody in the next room says, "boo" he yells, "SHUT UP—I'M TRYING TO TALK ON THE PHONE!"
A PUZZLEMENT IN PHILADELPHIA

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Education Fills Corner

CHICAGO (AP)—The corner of a classroom, once dominated by a stool and dunce cap, may soon be taken over by a modern audio-visual educational system.

The unit, which looks like a small table television, contains lessons and tests on special phonograph records and film slides that are designed to meet the individual needs of each student and, at the same time, make it possible for the teacher to conduct a general class program. The unit fits conveniently into a classroom corner.

Borg-Warner Corp. spent five years researching and developing System 80. Initial application of the system will be in elementary schools. More than 2,000 students have participated in testing of System 80 and its material. Last year scientific tests in three Chicago public schools indicated that students using the system learned at a faster pace than others.

BURMA BIBLES. SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—The Assemblies of God, an evangelical denomination, has launched a $50,000 fund-raising project to supply Bibles for Burma, a Buddhist country closed to Christian missionaries since 1966.

Crowell's Clothing Comments

(Clothes Variety)

While business suits are subdued, there is always a wide variety of browns, blues, grays and greens in pin dots, pin stripes, and other designs to endow you with that executive feeling of confidence and self-esteem.

During holidays and weekends you can turn to those personality sports coats and blazers—colorful, casual and comfortable. Smartly tailored, these coats have coordinating dress slacks in pleasing contrast to give you a unique color combo and a distinctive tailored look.

In the evening when entertaining friends or making social visits, you can put more color to your attire, going to town as it were, as far as bright neckties are concerned.

All of these suits and pieces are part of your wardrobe. Acquiring them takes time and study.

PRINCIPAL IN HISTORIC RULING — April Ashley, 34-year-old model who was a merchant seaman before undergoing sex-change surgery, arrives at a London divorce court before the High Court judge ruled her marriage to Arthur Cameron Corbett, 50, was annulled. The judge, Sir Roger Ormrod, made British legal history by ruling that surgery cannot change a person's sex. (AP Wirephoto via cable from London.)

Senior Citizen Center Ahead For Greenville

A Senior Citizens Center will be opened in Greenville in the near future, it was announced by Mrs. J. B. Spilman Sr., coordinator for the Pitt - Greenville Council on Aging, Inc.

The center, to be located on Greene Street, will serve as a recreation center as well as an educational center. Card tables will be set up, magazines and books will be available for senior citizens, and a television set and radio will be included in the furnishings.

The center will enable the group to participate in the various programs offered by East Carolina University.

"We can develop through the Adult Education Division of the Division of Continuing Education," Mrs. Spilman said. "We will be able to participate in certain forum groups and other activities which will be sponsored by ECU, specifically for the senior citizens."

Mrs. Spilman also announced an advisory committee for the Pitt - Greenville Council on Aging has been named.

The committee members are: Mrs. Tom Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. David Speir, all of Bethel; Mrs. M. D. Yelverton of Fountain; the Rev. Jack Daniels, Mrs. John Wright, Mrs. Tom Andrews, Mrs. Charles Carr, Mrs. Curtis Flanagan, Mrs. Eloise Kinsaul, Mrs. E. J. LaCoste, Miss Tibatha M. DeVisconte, all of Farmville; Dr. and Mrs. Fred Irons, Dr. and Mrs. Clinton Pruitt, Dr. and Mrs. Phillip Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Kittrell, Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Messick, Mr. and Mrs. James Worsley, Mr. and Mrs. Layton Blount, Mrs. S. M. Crisp and Mrs. Clara Shackell, all of Greenville.

Four Senior Citizens clubs have been organized in the area, Mrs. Spilman announced. A Bible Study Group, sponsored by Pitt Technical Institute, is holding sessions in Ayden.

A group of senior citizens met last week at the home of Mrs. Spilman to organize another group for the city.

The Rev. Adrian Brown presented the devotional and Mrs. Spilman discussed the work of the local council. Mrs. Ruth Arnold, recreation director at the Greenville Nursing and Convalescent Home, presented a program of piano music.

The group voted to meet the second Thursday of each month at the home of Mrs. Spilman. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Frances Garrett.

Tentative arrangements have been made with Pitt Plaza Shopping Center for a 'Wednesday morning Senior Citizens Shopping Time'. Mrs. Spilman said, "We will transport individuals who need such accommodations to the shopping center and will have representatives of the various clubs to assist that citizens in doing their shopping."

Mrs. Ty Wagner entertained the Adult Group, Governor's Council on Aging, at a coffee hour recently at her home.

The Rev. Percy Upchurch was the featured speaker. A question and answer period followed his talk.

A one day workshop on the work of the churches in field of aging is being planned for the near future. The workshop will be held at the Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center. Greenville ministers will be asked to participate as speakers and panelists, Mrs. Spilman said. The date will be announced later.

Mrs. Frances Garrett and Miss Frances Gross have been added to the staff of the Pitt-Greenville Council on Aging. The office is located at 313 Cotanche St.

See Half-Billion 1970 Valentines

NEW YORK (AP) — The love generation may give out its message every day, but most people put it in writing once a year.

This year estimates are that more than half a billion Valentine's day cards will be bought and mailed. Fifth Avenue Card Shops, Inc., reports that the week or so prior to St. Valentine's Day is the most concentrated period of greeting card sales in the year.

The big trend this year is a 75 per cent increase in special cards for servicemen—bringing that special someone.

Notable 34 Years For A Tar Heel

"The Light of History"
By H. G. JONES
Dept. of Archives and History
Written for The AP
RALEIGH (AP)—He was memorialized by the names of two counties, a town, an academy, and a college. That's a pretty good record for a backwoodsman who lived only 34 years.

Brig. Gen. William Lee Davidson was killed at Cowan's Ford on the Catawba River 189 years ago last Sunday, Feb. 1, 1781. Two years following his death North Carolina's first Davidson County was named for him. That county became a part of the new state of Tennessee and the present Davidson County, N.C., was established in 1822. Davidson Academy in Tennessee was incorporated in 1885, and in 1835 Davidson College at the town of Davidson was chartered.

Recent successes of Davidson College in football, basketball, and Rhodes scholars have spread the name of the brigadier general to all part of the world.

"Piedmont Partisan" is the title given the militia officer by his biographer and kinsman, Dr. Chalmers G. Davidson, professor of history and director of the library at the college that bears his family name. His book by that title, published nearly 20 years ago, is still the standard biography of Gen. Davidson. If any of the general's descendants were surprised by the book, the reason is plain: Chalmers Davidson let the records and the times speak, as he had done in his previous biography of still another kinsman, Maj. John Davidson. The professor wrote a story which, in the words of one reviewer, "minced no words in pointing out that before the era of elegance there was a period of hard labor on the farms, in the forests and at the forge."

Born in Lancaster County, Pa., William Lee Davidson at the age of four moved with his parents to the Centre Church community in Rowan—now Iredell—County, where he grew up. His meager schooling was received locally and in the nearby village of Charlotte. At the age of 21 he received his first taste of military duty when he was made a lieutenant in the Rowan detachment that accompanied Gov. Tryon into the Cherokee country.

He married Mary Brevard, the belle of a neighboring family, and devoted the remainder of his career to fathering, farming, and soldiering.

With the approach of the American Revolution, Davidson was placed in charge of a company of minutemen in Rowan. In 1776 he became a major in the 4th North Carolina Regiment and marched northward to join Washington's army in New Jersey. He was promoted after distinguishing himself at Germantown in 1777, and two years later he returned to North Carolina.

In 1780 Davidson, then a colonel in the Continental Line, received a rare compliment: The Salisbury District militia petitioned the General Assembly for his appointment as brigadier general of their outfit. The legislature quickly acceded.

Following the defeat of the British at Cowpens, American forces under Gen. Morgan marched northward, pursued by British Gen. Cornwallis. Davidson was ordered to cover Morgan's retreat by guarding the fords of the Catawba River after the Americans had crossed. On February 1, 1781, the Cornwallis forces began crossing the river before Davidson's hastily assembled militia could take up their positions. In the clash along the bank of the river, Davidson fell dead from his horse, killed by a single shot. His borrowed mount returned alone to the stables of Maj. John Davidson. The general's body was buried by torchlight at the Hopewell Meeting House.

BONY BEGINNING

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI)—The first appropriation of Omaha's first medical society, incorporated in 1866, was for the purchase of a $75 skeleton to be used for educational purposes. The skeleton was that of a hanged murderer.

A Smart Wife Can Play-Act

Palmer's case is typical of most husbands who start "chasing" a younger female after they pass 40. But too many good wives let their hurt pride cause them to surrender such a mate and then turn sour on men there-after. That's wrong. You can easily cure a man like Palmer by the strategy below!

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph. D., M.D.

CASE M-517: Palmer D., aged 42, is the erring husband who was flaunting his faithlessness in front of his wife and teen-age children.

But I advised her to fight fire with fire, saying such sexual madness usually denotes a plantonic role at home.

Lottie tearfully promised to follow my advice faithfully and not nag or quarrel or paint herself as the innocent, grieving wife.

"Get a new hairdo," I urged. "And buy some diaphanous nighties.

"Use a seductive brand of new perfume.

"Shake off your past stodgy role in the boudoir and deliberately try to excite more romantic interest!

"For the chief attraction of his paramour is doubtless her ability to banish his worry about inability to function sexually.

"If you can again incite his honeymoon ardor, he will then have no more need for her.

"And, remember, husbands almost invariably stated they'd prefer to have an affair with their own wives, if the wives would arouse them the way the outside sirens do!"

Well, Lottie was a superb patient, for she resolutely set out to win back her straying mate.

She telephoned me two days later and said Palmer had stayed home the night before, which was very unusual.

In fact, she added, he had kissed her goodnight, but that was all.

However, she felt that was a partial victory, for he hadn't

Weight Problem Influences Court

HAVANT, England (UPI)—Champion jockey Terry Biddlecombe, in court on a traffic violation and faced with the loss of his driver's license, was allowed to keep the license after his attorney told the Judge Biddlecombe had to make hurried trips from the race track to a Turkish bath three times a week to keep his weight down.

Today, in order to land his four spade contract, South had to take into consideration the vulnerable activities of his left hand opponent during the auction.

South opened the bidding with one spade and West made a take-out double. North's raise to two spades is a preemptive measure which is designed to show good support for partner's suit and at the same time inhibit the opponents' efforts to compete. South carried on to game inasmuch as he had a very powerful hand.

West led the king of diamonds and South won the trick with the ace. An examination of the dummy revealed to declarer that he had a potential loser in each minor suit. Since West's vulnerable take-out double

Noted Arab Now Israeli

JERUSALEM (AP)—One of Palestine's greatest Arab leaders became an Israeli citizen today.

Hussa el-Alami was given permission to reside permanently in Israeli-occupied Jerusalem and was granted an Israeli identity card.

This means that the 72-year-old Arab will no longer be considered as under Israeli occupation, but as a resident of the state of Israel.

El-Alami recently returned to the Palestinian refugee farm he set up. The former leader of the Palestinian community previously was living in self-imposed exile in London.

A one-time spokesman of the Arab League, el-Alami is remembered for his strong opposition to the official Arab policy of keeping Palestinian refugees in camps while waiting for Israel to let them return.

kissed her in many months.

Then a full week passed before Lottie phoned me again.

Excultantly she now informed me that Palmer had succumbed to her boudoir enticements.

And he was beginning to take an interest in his children again.

"Tomorrow," she added, "Palmer has tickets for the entire family to go out for dinner and a movie."

A month passed before she made her final phone call to me.

"Dr. Crane," she boated happily, "Palmer stays home all the time now and we are one happy family once more.

"In fact, he broke down and cried one night a few weeks ago. For he said he had grown panicky lest he might become entirely impotent, so he had started to drink and thus picked up a date with this girl at the tavern.

"He admitted he didn't love her but said he became embroiled with her until he was just intoxicated with her physical appeal.

"But now that we are devoted lovers, he said he couldn't understand what had ever gotten into him."

Well, most of you divorcees could have avoided divorce-if you had simply followed Lottie's strategy.

For men seldom propose marriage but once! You wives are thus something SPECIAL.

But sex to a man is linked with love for his wife, but also can mean merely an escapade or test of his potency, or conquest or even revenge on a woman he may never have known before.

Don't become so stodgy in the boudoir that you fail to pick up your erotic cues.

Smart wives realize they must play-act in the bedroom and affect much more ardor than they normally feel.

But it pays off richly, for such a husband stays crazy about you all his life and gives you his full pay check, not just alimony!

So send for my booklet "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

"Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets."

North Vietnamese Unit Mauled; No U.S. Losses

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — American reconnaissance helicopters spotted 100 North Vietnamese troops, moving down a stream bed 21 miles north of Saigon Tuesday night, and 23 were killed by helicopter gunships, bombers and artillery, military spokesmen reported today.

No American casualties were reported, although some of the helicopters drew small arms and rocket-grenade fire. Military spokesmen said eight groups of North Vietnamese were spotted moving to the southwest.

"The North Vietnamese ran into a bamboo thicket," said S. Sgt. L.E. Perkins of Franklin, La., a helicopter crewman. "The gunships fired into the thicket and the North Vietnamese started running out from everywhere."

Intelligence sources said the troops apparently were from the Dong Nai Regiment, which spearheaded an offensive against Saigon in May 1968 and was badly mauled. The sources said the regiment is still under strength and short of arms, ammunition and food, but they expect it to be active during the Tet period in the area north of Saigon.

Little other fighting was reported as Tet, the lunar new year holiday approached. A four-day Viet Cong cease-fire is scheduled to begin at 7 a.m. Thursday — 6 p.m. today, EST — and a 24-hour allied truce is to start 11 hours later.

American air cavalrymen and helicopter gunships reported killing 52 North Vietnamese soldiers in two clashes along the Cambodian border north of Saigon. No American casualties were reported.

American and South Vietnamese forces said they killed another 59 enemy troops in three clashes south of Da Nang. Two South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and two Americans and five South Vietnamese wounded.

The U.S. Command reported 31 enemy rocket and mortar attacks but said only 11 caused casualties or damage. Seventeen Americans were reported wounded, and South Vietnamese casualties were described as light.

American B52s kept up their heavy raids around the Ben Het Special Forces camp in the Central Highlands, 280 miles north of Saigon. Some 35 bombers dropped more than 1,000 tons of explosives on suspected enemy positions along the Cambodian border.

A South Vietnamese air force major was killed near Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Air base when a bomb attached to the engine of his jeep blew up as he started the vehicle. In the Mekong Delta province of Kien Phong, a terrorist bomb ripped through a market place, killing three Vietnamese and wounding 13 others.

In Hue, President Nguyen Van Thieu said he foresees eventual peace in Vietnam "because we are stronger and the Communists are weaker." Someday, he said, the Viet Cong "will fade away," and the Saigon government will have a "military, political, economic and social victory."

Voice Criticism Of Closed Books

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Citing the widespread habit of the Roman Catholic church not to make public its financial affairs, the National Catholic Conference for Interracial Justice says that only 2,000 of the nation's 47.5 million Catholics have anything to say about the way the church uses its money, and the poor are completely excluded from any voice in it.

The longest overwater highway bridge in the world is the 23.8-mile Lake Ponchartraine causeway at New Orleans.

Israeli Sources Say War Chances Are Less Likely

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Israeli military sources claim there is less likelihood of a major Middle East war developing now than last summer when air and land battles broke out along the Suez Canal.

These sources regard the Soviet Union's warning to the United States and other Western powers as a ploy designed to buck up Arab morale.

Though concerned about any additional Russian aid to Egypt, they discount the idea that it would impel the Arabs into any major thrust. They also discount the possibility of any direct Soviet intervention in the war.

Despite the re-equipping of the Egyptian army and air force and the guidance of about 3,000 Soviet advisers, the Israelis said, the battles of the past seven months have demonstrated broadly that U.S. military experts may be given a chance to examine Soviet radar equipment captured recently. The Israelis called it excellent.

The Israeli sources hinted that U.S. military experts may be given a chance to examine Soviet radar equipment captured recently. The Israelis called it excellent.

The Israeli military sources claimed the Russians have given Egypt about $2 billion in arms and equipment since the forces of President Gamel Abdel Nasser lost much of their Soviet-provided gear in the six-day war of 1967.

But the Russians haven't yet been able to get the Egyptians to use their weapons and material effectively, the Israelis said. They praised the Soviet equipment as first rate.

The Israeli military men indicated both sides have learned from the fighting, which has raged more or less continuously since last July, though on a limited scale. But they sounded confident the advantage still is with their pilots and ground fighters by a wide margin.

The Israelis said the Russians now do most of the operational planning for the Egyptians, as well as manning certain of the sophisticated equipment.

No Russians have flown combat in the Suez Canal air battles, they said. But they indicated a belief that Russians are present in surface-to-air missile sites. This raised the possibility some Soviet advisers could have been killed in Israeli strikes against such sites.

The Israeli military sources implied they are far from impressed by the kind of tactics taught by the Russians to the Egyptians.

In particular, the Israelis criticized the way the Egyptians dispose their armor in static, three-line-deep defenses, in accord with Soviet doctrine. Such dispositions are vulnerable to flanking, the Israelis said. Senior U.S. Army generals who have visited the Sinai battlefields agree.

At the diplomatic level, Soviet notes reportedly warned the United States, Britain and France that the Russians may boost their help for the Arabs unless the Israelis are restrained.

Israeli military sources said their raids, some of which have struck closed to Cairo, have succeeded in:

—Forcing a decrease in Egyptian attacks across the Suez Canal into the Sinai.

—Showing the Egyptians that they cannot win a war of attrition.

The Israeli sources hinted broadly that U.S. military experts may be given a chance to examine Soviet radar equipment captured recently. The Israelis called it excellent.

Want Property Of Dictator

ROME (AP) — Benito Mussolini's family wants the Italian government to surrender personal effects of the late dictator, including his medals.

A suit filed on behalf of the heirs Tuesday by Mussolini's son Romano, a jazz pianist, cited "a normal right of heredity" and "the moral interest that can be connected to such objects."

Mussolini's widow, Rachele, was granted a state pension of $230 a month last May after years of litigation.

THE PENNEY STORY

Should you throw away your iron or keep it as a door stop?

By ROBERTA NASH

Perhaps your iron isn't obsolete just yet. But with Penn-Prest, most women never iron at all. They just let their dryer do the ironing.

(Of course, if you haven't a tumble dryer, you may have to touch up in some cases. But just a touch up.)

Please don't confuse Penn-Prest with some other 'permanent press' process that may have disappointed you. This one is different.

The J. C. Penney Company stands behind it.

All your favorite colors in this quality poly thread.

THE PENNEY STORY

The day we found out Mr. Penney's secret

By ROBERTA NASH

One day last winter we were up in Mr. Penney's office when one of his associates said to him, "You never seem content with things as they are, Mr. Penney. You always seem to want something better."

Then we all laughed.

Because we knew that was exactly the reason Penney's was so very successful.
