

Federal Housing Not Always For The Low-Income Families

By KEN HARTNETT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Families with as much as $33,000 in savings have been accepted into a special federal housing program while poor families in substandard dwellings remain on waiting lists, according to a government watchdog agency.
A report released by the General Accounting Office suggested Congress consider "whether the leased-housing program should be operated so as to give housing priority to low income persons who are not adequately housed."
The GAO, the investigating arm of Congress, remained locked Tuesday in its criticism of the four-year-old plan, designed to supplement the nation's public housing stock.
But the report made clear it considered there to be serious failings in the administration and operation of the program.
The GAO called for several changes in the program allowing local housing authorities to add to their stock of low-income housing by leasing living space from private landlords.
The program, administered by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, is one of several designed to meet the crisis posed by the shortage of low-income housing, particularly in the major cities. One study has estimated that eight million low income families live in substandard housing.

The report, based on inspection trips to 11 unidentified locations, found that:
—Eight of the 11 authorities studied, "with HUD's approval and encouragement," were using the program to help persons already living in standard housing "while applicants on waiting lists for federally assisted housing continued to live in substandard dwellings."
—In many cases, local authorities negotiated higher rents for the leased units than had been charged the same tenants for the same quarters prior to the start of the program.
—Some authorities were opening the program to persons with large amounts of assets, including one tenant with $33,500 in savings and another with $24,000.
—Two of the authorities studied were not always affording low-income families on the waiting list a chance to take part in the leasing program.
The report suggested imposing asset limitations on those seeking admission to leased housing.

Scott Blocks Busing Funds

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott said he will refuse to authorize the expenditure of any public funds for involuntary busing of pupils to achieve public school integration. The Governor told a news conference he was taking his stand because of a law passed by the 1969 General Assembly.
The governor said the law had just been called to his attention.
It "clearly states and provides that no public funds shall be used for involuntary busing to achieve racial balance in the public schools of North Carolina," Scott said.
"I have taken an oath to uphold the laws of North Carolina and until this statute is declared unconstitutional I shall not authorize the expenditure of any funds for such involuntary busing."

Ski Holiday Set For Cuba?

BOSTON (AP) — Hundreds of youths assembled in the Boston area today amid reports they were headed for Cuba to harvest sugar cane for Fidel Castro.
Those who would talk with newsmen said they were en route to a ski holiday at Saint John, N.B., as members of a group called the "Ski Masters."
They were heavily burdened with knapsacks and sleeping bags, but no skis were in evidence. Moreover, the Saint John area is not noted for winter sports facilities.
In Saint John, N.B., Gerald Elkin, an agent for Cuban shipping, said shipping officials in Montreal told him the Cuban freighters, Luis Arcos Bergnes, was to be boarded there by 500 Americans bound for Cuba.

Elkin said he understood that 212 American students who went to Cuba last November to harvest sugar cane were returning aboard the same freighter.
While in Cuba, the students reportedly cut 12,000 tons of sugar cane.
The American Friends Service Committee took on the chore of finding temporary housing for them.

Family Life Conference Is Begun On ECU Campus Today

The 10th annual Family Life Conference at East Carolina, with the year's topics "Marriage, Human Sexuality and the Use of Drugs", began on campus today.
The three-day conference, sponsored annually by the Family Life Committee of ECU, is hosting three outstanding lecturers, speaking in sessions of one to two hours each throughout the conference. Lecturers are Dr. Clifford B. Reifler, senior psychiatrist for the Student Health Service and associate professor at the University of North Carolina; Dr. James Lieberman, chief of the Center for Studies of Child and Family Mental Health, National Institute of Mental Health; and Mrs. Ethel M. Nash, clinical associate professor of obstetrics and gynecology at the University of North Carolina Medical School.

Sessions tomorrow and Friday, all open to the public, are as follows:
"Choosing a Mate and Liking It", Dr. Lieberman, 8 a.m., Room 101, Nursing Building;
"A Psychiatrist Looks at Drugs", Dr. Reifler, 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. Wright Auditorium;
"A Psychiatrist Looks at Premarital Relationships", Dr.

Lieberman, 10 a.m., Room 103, Biology;
"Sex Education: The Role of Preventive Psychiatry", Dr. Lieberman, 12 noon, Nursing Room 101;
"Users, Abusers, Confusers", Dr. Reifler, Biology 103.
Discussions with faculty and students by Dr. Reifler will be conducted at 4 p.m. and 8 p.m.
On Friday, Dr. Reifler will discuss drug use on campuses and the adverse effects of hallucinogens. The topics will be presented in two sessions, at 9 a.m. (drug use) in Nursing Room 101, and at 10 a.m. in the same room.

Mekong Delta Push By Reds Said Wrecked

By WILLIS JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese commanders say allied forces have disrupted a major new push by two North Vietnamese battalions into the Mekong Delta. They reported 79 more enemy troops killed in the Plain of Reeds, bringing the total to 207 in a series of battles since last Friday.
No government casualties were reported in the most recent clash 10 miles west of the provincial capital of Moc Hoa. Spokesmen said most of the enemy dead probably were slain by artillery, fighter-bombers and helicopters supporting government rangers trying to block the retreat into Cambodia of the North Vietnamese 88th Regiment's 8th and 9th battalions.
Seventeen South Vietnamese were killed and 24 wounded in the earlier fighting after the enemy battalions were intercepted last week in the desolate plain some 60 miles west of Saigon.
Associated Press correspondent David Rosenzweig reported from the Plain of Reeds that ranking South Vietnamese officers and their U.S. advisers believe an enemy drive toward the heart of the heavily populated delta had been "compromised" by the government troops, who now are trying to bottle up scattered North Vietnamese forces.
"The Communists have been set back many months," one South Vietnamese officer said.
The officers said captured documents and prisoners revealed the 88th Regiment had planned to make its way during the Tet cease-fire period last week to the vicinity of My Tho, the chief city in the northern delta 40 miles south of Saigon, to be ready for an offensive in the area in mid-March.

Sporadic fighting was continued in the border region near Tuyen Binh, a district town about 15 miles northwest of Moc Hoa, Rosenzweig said.
It was the second mauling for the battalions in three months. Last December more than 100 of their men were killed in an unsuccessful attempt to overrun Tuyen Binh.

Republicans To Convene

Election of officers will highlight the Republican party meeting to be held at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Pitt County Courthouse.
A chairman, vice chairman, secretary and treasurer will be elected.
Pitt Republican Chairman Frank Steinbeck said the selection of 47 delegates and alternates to attend district and state conventions will also be on the agenda. The district convention will be in Washington, N.C. The state convention is set for Winston-Salem.
Steinbeck said work in reference to the 1970 census will be reviewed and there will also be discussion of candidates for the 1970 elections.
Steinbeck urged all registered Republicans to attend. He also invited anyone interested in joining the party to attend the meeting.

Silent On Talk Of Senate Race

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Astronaut Thomas P. Stafford declines to confirm or deny reports that the White House would like him to run for the Senate next year against Sen. Fred Harris, D-Okla.
Asked about the reports Tuesday, Stafford—born in Weatherford, Okla.—told newsmen: "I'm not saying that I will make the race or not make the race. Let's just say that I am not a candidate today."

Advertising, Business Offices In New Quarters

The Daily Reflector business, advertising and circulation offices have moved into their new quarters in a recently constructed addition to the building.
The entrance to the old building has been closed and all departments can be reached through the new entrance on Cotanche Street.
An addition to The Daily Reflector building was constructed on the north side of the old building. The new press room, composing room and circulation areas have been in use for about three months.
The area vacated by the business and advertising offices and the old press room will be rebuilt to house the newspaper's operations will be on the ground floor when the renovations are completed.

Final Action On Measure Seen By Feb. 19 Senate Defers Showdown On Legislation To Slow School Desegregation

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — With the Nixon administration's top education official openly joining the fight, the Senate has put off until next week a showdown on a Southern-sponsored provision to slow school desegregation.
Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield obtained an agreement Tuesday for voting "times on desegregation riders to a $35 billion education bill. Beginning next Tuesday, each amendment to the massive bill will carry a two-hour limit on debate.
Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., floor manager for the measure, said he expected Mansfield's move to clear the way for final passage by Feb. 19.

The main issue is an amendment by Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., permitting freedom of choice plans in public school attendance. Federal courts have ruled such programs violate civil rights laws unless they are the best method of achieving school desegregation.
James E. Allen Jr., U.S. commissioner of education, injected himself by sending a letter to Pell opposing the Stennis proposal, making its already slim chance of approval even less likely.

Allen asserted the administration is strongly committed to nationwide elimination of racial segregation in education.
The Deep South senators have charged the administration with inaction in attacking segregation in schools outside the South.
Allen said that, "As an educator, I am convinced that segregation by races in our nation's schools for any reason is unsound educationally, regardless of geography."
Allen wrote that the administration opposed the Stennis amendment because it runs counter to Supreme Court decisions and "would seriously restrict the enforcement efforts" under Title VI of the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

This provision requires cutoff of federal funds to local governments on programs where segregation is practiced.
A second Stennis proposal, likely to attract more support than his freedom of choice amendment, requires uniform enforcement of school desegregation policy throughout the U.S.
Allen said that "serious questions arise as to the legal effect and implications" of this amendment. He urged consideration by committees before a Senate vote is taken.

Vandals Keep City Busy Replacing Street Lights

"We have a real problem trying to keep street lights burning in certain areas," says City Manager Harry Hagerty. "We're on a campaign to find out what is happening and to put a stop to this expensive vandalism," he noted in speaking of the situation.
Hagerty noted that a report from the Utilities Commission for a one day period, February 9, revealed that a large number of light fixtures had been destroyed. "These have either been shot out or knocked out by stoning," Hagerty commented.
To give an example of the extent of the problem, Hagerty cited areas where on that one day every single light had been knocked out.
"Every light at Sixth and Hudson, all on Davenport Street, those on Cadillac and Colonial, Nash and Colonial, the 1400 block of West Sixth Street were destroyed. Also, on Davenport and Tyson, Davenport and Bancroft, at the end of Stutz Street, on Bancroft and Sixth Street, the lights were shot or knocked out," he reported.

"Of all these, only two were actually ones which had been burned out by normal usage.
"The cost of replacement is expensive. Costs of individual light bulbs run from $1.50 to $7.50 each, depending on the type of bulb. Some of these are incandescent lamps, which are costly. Certain new type of lights can run up to as much as $25.00 each. Add to this the average cost of $4. per replacement, and you can see what an expensive proposition it becomes."
Hagerty explained that the $4. per replacement cost is based on the use of a truck with a boom, with its driver, operator and assistant operator.

"I urge all citizens to report a street light out," Hagerty commented, "because we want to keep the streets lit for the public. But I also urge people to be on the watch for anyone destroying these lights, and to call us on that if they notice anything. Everybody must warn youngsters, discouraging them against such acts of vandalism."
Hagerty commented: "We are turning a report of this over to the Police Chief, and will take whatever action is necessary to put a stop to this destruction.

Proceeding On County Council

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer
A nominating committee for a Pitt County Community Council was approved yesterday at a noon meeting of about 85 representatives from city and county governments, educational institutions, local service agencies, civic groups, and religious bodies.
The representatives, a meeting for the purpose of considering the feasibility of beginning action which might lead to the formalization of such a council, approved a nominating list comprised of: Edwin L. Yancey, Pitt County Agriculture Extension Service; Clyde Simmons, editor of the Grifton Times; Carl Venters, Jr., Chairman, Mid-East Economic Development Commission; Danny Jacobson, president and manager of WOOW Radio Station; Dr. Andrew Best, physician and civic worker; Joseph Butterworth, mayor of Bethel; Mrs. Robert Dean, president Junior Woman's Club of Greenville; Mrs. W.B. Bond, president of the Greenville PTA Councils; and John Taylor, Title I ESEA Director for Pitt County and chairman of the Greenville Recreation Commission.
A tentative plan for a monthly meeting for the second Tuesday each month was established, but this must be confirmed after further steps are taken to formalize a community council.
Members of the steering Committee, with Thomas Moran of Union Carbide as chairman, will continue their role and will work with the committee named to nominate members for a council.

Richard Goley, executive director of the Spartanburg, South Carolina Community Council, was guest speaker at the meeting of the Pitt-Greenville representatives. His visit was sponsored by the Greenville Jaycees.
Speaking on general means of developing and keeping a council of this nature a vital factor in a community, Goley told his audience:
—"Agencies must be prepared to change the focus of services they offer. Sometimes it is found an agency no longer has a reason to exist, or that the reason has shifted to something else.
—"Agencies, like people, don't want to change. . . I urge you to consider, in any planning, a great deal of patience.
—"Social services are no small item in the operation of city or county government. . . we are probably talking about the single biggest business in a community.
—"You must figure out the same way to apply a profit and loss basis to your system of services that you would apply to a business. It is the only way . . . take a comprehensive look at what you have, at what you need; where you are going, and work from there."
Goley explained that in the Spartanburg Council, mem-

Time Running Out On City Tag Users

With only three days after today left for Greenville residents to buy city tags, Greenville tax collector Larry Felton states that "there still are about 3,500 tags we expect to sell before the expiration period."
Felton stated that as of 10:00 a.m. today, "we have sold 6,419 tags. Based on last year's sale of a little more than 9,700 tags, we expect to sell over 9,800 this year."
"It has not been determined whether there will be a grace period or if people will have to have their tags on before next Tuesday morning," he remarked. "I'm sure we will go along with whatever the State rules on state tags for city tags."

City tags for Greenville cost $1 each, and can be procured at the city hall upon presentation of the N.C. registration card showing a person has brought his state tags.
"Right now we don't have long lines," Felton said, "but unless people start coming in all along, it might develop into lines of people waiting."
Hours of operation at the city hall are from 8:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. The city hall is closed on Saturday.

Utilities Acts On Tapping Fee

Utilities Commissioners last night approved charging water tapping fees in Pinewood Forest at the old rate through March 1.
The action was taken after a group from the area appeared to request it because the $125 rate was stipulated in an annexation petition signed by 100 percent of the property owners in the area.
The rate in the petition was $125 for main and tapping fees. This rate has since been raised to $175.
Commissioners stipulated that old rates for sewer fees will not apply when sewer is installed. Water lines have already been put in, but it is expected to be three to five years before sewer lines can be installed.
Reynolds May appeared before the board to request action on installation of lights on the ECU baseball field. The matter was postponed pending report of a committee which was appointed to study the matter.
Business Manager Larry Brown reported that $300,000 of bond funds have been invested for 90 days at 6 1/2 percent interest and $200,000 has been invested for 180 days at 7 percent interest.
Director Charles Horne said papers will be signed March 19

Heart For Norfolk Man

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Wilard M. Shepard of Norfolk, who received a new heart early Tuesday morning at the Medical College of Virginia Hospital, has been described as in critical condition by a hospital spokesman.
The rector and former Navy pilot had been listed in satisfactory condition late Tuesday night.
Dr. Richard R. Lower, who headed the transplant team, said Shepard was in "terminal heart failure" before the transplanted heart of an unidentified female donor was placed in his chest.
Shepard, 49, is the fifth person to receive a new heart at MCV and is the world's 156th Heart Transplant recipient. There are 25 survivors, with Louis B. Russell Jr. the longest surviving patient. Russell received his transplanted heart at MCV by a team headed by Dr. Lower Aug. 24, 1968.

Marriage, Motherhood, Career Are Compatible

By ARLEEN ABRAHAMS
Associated Press Writer

Can an attractive but not quite-pretty girl from Columbus, Ohio, find love and happiness as the wife of a successful insurance man, raise three sons, and pursue a successful acting career on the side? She can if her name is Eileen Heckart.

"Combining marriage and a career—any career—is never easy. But if you're willing to work at the marriage, there's no reason why it can't be done," says the veteran character actress, whose many Broadway credits include "Dark at the Top of the Stairs," "Barefoot in the Park," "You Know I Can't Hear You When the Water's Running," and, currently, "Butterflies Are Free."

Miss Heckart's longish, expressive face is familiar to movie audiences too—by virtue of the film version of "The Bad Seed," for which she won an Academy Award nomination, "Bus Stop," and "Up the Down Staircase," to name a few.

"Of course to successfully combine marriage, motherhood, and a career you have to have an exceptional husband and an exceptional nurse," continued the trim, middle-aged actress. "I've had the same nurse-home-maker for 17 years and it's helped so much. You can't keep changing baby sitters and I want somebody at home, always."

Home is an old farmhouse in New Canaan, Conn., where Miss Heckart and her husband of 28 years, Jack Yankee, live with their three sons, Luke, 19, Mark, 17, and Philip, 15.

Even with help at home, she keeps in close touch with her family through the phone in her dressing room at Broadway's Booth Theater.

"It isn't that I don't see the children or that I'm a worry-wart," she explained, running her fingers through her frosted hair. "I'm home every day since I commute to New York. But with my wild household, there's always something the kids call about. It's 'Mommy, Philip hit me' or 'I can't find my math paper.'"

In the interests of her family, Miss Heckart accepts no road engagements. When a movie role calls her to the coast—which isn't that often—she jets home after the week's filming is finished on Friday.

"Until Jack and I had our first child, nine years after we were married, I thought the theater was everything. When Luke was born, my true sense of values fell into place. But even in the childless years of our marriage, I didn't go on the road, except when Jack was in the service," she says.

Those World War II years were trying ones—both for her career and her marriage. Jack and she had met when both were members of the same drama group at Ohio State University. "I asked him for the first date," she recalls. "Then came courtship, graduation from college, marriage, and one month later Jack was shipped off to the Aleutian Islands."

"When he was gone I really worked at furthering my career. Even though I didn't get my big break until the stage version of 'Picnic' more than eight years after college, nevertheless I worked all the time. I did summer stock. I was an assistant stage manager. And I went on the road."

"I was really feeling my oats, feeling quite independent—and when Jack got out of the service

I petitioned for divorce ... but we worked it out because we wanted it to," she says, in her staccato style delivery.

"Every woman wants a man at the top, to take charge of her. I certainly do. Jack is strong and I couldn't let him go," she says emphatically.

Miss Heckart insists that having a husband has proved to be the greatest boon to her acting career. "I don't have to work. My husband supports me so I can turn down the roles I don't want. Of course, when I choose a role that's a bomb, it's all my own fault," she adds, laughing.

Has having had a successful actress for a mother had any effect on her children? "Well, I'm a character actress, not Elizabeth Taylor, so I can cross town without being recognized. The kids really haven't been exposed to the idea of having a celebrity mom." However, as a protective measure, when the children were young, she refused to permit them to be photographed for publication.

"Mostly the kids get the gravy—like going to the opening nights. But they're so blasé. Now before they go, they want to know if it's going to be a hit," she says with a chuckle.

Her children have had a personal taste of acting. "To pay off new bikes, I let them work as extras with me in 'Up the Down Staircase.' But that's the only time. If they want to become actors, I wouldn't be opposed. But I've told them to first get their degrees; then they can decide on which career to pursue."

CHEESE IN FAMILY MEALS

Versatile cheese! It's so good in main dishes, salads and sauces. Served with fruit and crackers, it's a sure-to-please appetizer, dessert or snack.

And why limit your family to one or two cheeses when a whole world of cheese flavors and textures awaits discovery? With more than 400 varieties of natural cheese alone there's bound to be several cheese for every taste.

Cheese contributes a lot of food value into a small package. It contains most of the nutrients of milk, including protein, riboflavin, and calcium. The protein in cheese is the same highly quality as the protein in meat, fish, and eggs. Main dishes featuring cheese usually save money too. Because it is a concentrated food.

Selecting and buying the right cheese is largely a matter of personal preference. The various forms of cheese is largely in retail markets are: NATURAL CHEESE — which is a product made by coagulating milk and then separating the curd, or solid part, from the whey or watery part. Some natural cheeses are ripened (aged) to develop their texture; others are used unripened. Ripened cheese sometimes are labeled "mild", "medium" or "mellow", "aged" or "sharp".

PASTEURIZED PROCESS CHEESE — is a blend of fresh and aged natural cheeses that have been melted, pasteurized, and mixed with an emulsifier. Process cheese lose some of the characteristic flavor of natural cheeses during manufacture; also, the texture becomes uniform and soft.

PASTEURIZED PROCESS CHEESE FOOD — like process cheese, is a blend of cheese that has been pasteurized. Cheese food may include other ingredients, such as fruits, vegetables, meats and spices.

PASTEURIZED PROCESS CHEESE SPREAD — has even more moisture and less milk fat than process cheese food; otherwise, the two are alike in composition.

COLDPACK CHEESE — (sometimes called CLUB CHEESE) — is a combination of fresh and aged natural cheese blend into a uniform product without heating.

COLDPACK CHEESE FOOD — is prepared like COLD PACK CHEESE. It may include fruits, vegetables, pimientos or flavorings and spices.

Cheese keeps the best in the refrigerator. How long it will keep depends on the kind of cheese and the wrapping. Soft cheese are highly perishable. Hard Cheese (Cheddar and Swiss) keeps much longer than soft cheese if protected from drying out.

Leave cheese in its original wrapper, if possible. Cover cut surfaces tightly with waxed paper, foil, or plastic to protect the surface from drying out, or store the cheese in a tightly covered container. If you want to store a large piece of cheese for a extended time, dip the cut surface in melted paraffin.

Freezing is not recommended for most cheeses because they become crumbly and mealy when frozen.

Successful cheese cookery depends on brief heating at a low temperature. High temperatures and too-long cooking make cheese tough and stringy, and cause the fat to separate out. Some of the flavor is lost, too.

Cheese blends more readily with other ingredients and melts more quickly if you shred or dice it first. One half pound of cheese yields about 2 cups of shredded cheese.

Soft, well-aged Cheddar melts and blends with other ingredients more readily than less ripened cheese, and less of it is needed because it has a more pronounced flavor.

Melt cheese in the top of a double boiler over simmering water, or add it to a hot mixture. When making cheese sauce, stir in the shredded cheese after the white sauce is completely cooked, and the heat only enough to melt the cheese.

Write or call for the leaflet Guide To Nature Cheese, P.O. Box 1427 Greenville, North Carolina, Phone 758-1196.

Know the difference between dicing, mincing and cubing? Dicing means to cut into small squares that are from 1/4 to 1/2-inch. Mincing means to cut as small as possible. Cubing means to cut into pieces that are 1/2-inch or larger.

Leftover smoked pork butt is excellent for sandwiches.
Glazed Smoked Butt Yams.
Green Peas Salad
Gingerbread with Applesauce
GLAZED SMOKED BUTT
3-pound smoked boned pork shoulder butt
Whole Cloves
1-3rd Cup apricot preserves
1/4 cup dry vermouth
Remove all wrappings from butt. Insert whole cloves in butt so they are one to two inches apart all the way around. Place on a rack in a small shallow roasting pan or similar utensil. Bake according to wrapper directions.
Remove from oven; increase heat to 450 degrees. Pour off drippings from pan and remove rack. Place a piece of heavy-weight foil in the pan and put the butt on it; bring up sides of foil fairly close to park.
In a small bowl stir together the apricot preserves and vermouth; spoon over the pork. Place in the 450-degree oven until lightly browned—10 minutes. Let pork rest 15 to 20 minutes before carving; during this time baste with glaze a few times.
Note: If butt wrapper does not have baking directions, simmer butt in water to cover until a fork inserted in center twists easily—about 40 minutes per pound; drain and glaze as directed.

Ribicoff Calls It Like It Is

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., is a brave man to urging the adoption of a Southern-sponsored proposal which would force school desegregation in Northern suburbs.

The senator accused the north of "monumental hypocrisy" in its dealings with desegregation matters.

"It's de jure in the South and de facto in the North, but the schools are just as black and just as white," he declared. Racial hatred and prejudice will never end as "long as the North can hide in its lily white suburbs."

Ribicoff's statement brought praise from such diverse sources as Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia and Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont.

Russell called the speech "one of the most courageous and forthright speeches I've ever heard. Aiken praised Ribicoff for having "the courage and nobility to stand before the Senate to tell the truth."

Predictably though, "some senators began protecting their own areas. Sen. Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota said the amendment "may louse up efforts to stop de jure segregation." He said it would not work in the North unless laws against federally imposed "busing" to achieve racial balance were repealed. What he did not say was that "busing" laws are already applied in the south.

What should now be recognized is that de jure segregation that is school segregation by law has not been the real issue for some time. It is de facto segregation, by residential pattern, that is causing schools to be predominately white or predominately black. Since this is the problem in cities outside the south, it is only common sense and sound law that the laws be enforced equally throughout the nation.

Too many Northern senators have too long looked on integration as a means of punishing Southern whites for the years of legal segregation. This is an attitude that should be eased and the laws concerning school integration should be applied in every section of the nation. Sen. Ribicoff has taken a commendable stand.

Encouraging To Note Road Projects Ahead

It is encouraging that 56.65 miles of surfacing, sand asphalt and bituminous concrete are included in upcoming bids for roads in Beaufort, Greene and Pitt Counties.

Most of the work will be on secondary roads and they are projects which the state felt it could get underway quickly.

There are considerable primary projects planned for this area. However, the planning for them will take some time and for most it will be summer of fall before they can commence.

These secondary projects are particularly needed in the rural areas. The Highway Commission has called for bids on them and the work should get underway shortly.

Nasser In A Vicious Circle

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

CAIRO — President Nasser's candid admission that neither Egypt nor its Arab allies have enough pilots to fly warplanes already in the Arab arsenal was only the tip of the very large iceberg of his growing problems.

The hard fact beneath that frank statement, made in a rare television interview (Metromedia) last week, is that the charismatic leader who has dominated Egypt and the Arab world for almost 20 years confronts two harsh conditions: the prospect that President Nixon will send another 50 Phantom fighter-bombers to Israel, further enhancing the Soviet Union's dangerous influence in Egypt, and the fact that political militants here, both in the Arab Socialist Union (ASU) and the army, are pressing on Nasser to forget the illusion of peaceful settlement and gird for a 100-year war against Israel to regain occupied Arab territory, no matter what the consequences.

At a recent secret session of the ASU's central committee, for example, Nasser withstood virtually alone the challenge by militant activists to move to a total war footing. As more Israeli warplanes make their freedom of passage felt over Egypt, the more difficult will Nasser find it to keep the political solution open. Still vastly popular, Nasser will never allow himself to be outflanked by this growing radicalism. If it gets too strong, he will join and lead it.

Complicating the political equation are indications that the Soviet Union, the chief and only important weapons supplier to Egypt, is putting stiff new conditions on President Nasser's latest request for help. He wants better small bombers capable of responding to Israel's attacks on Cairo and more modern anti-aircraft missiles capable of ending Israel's total control of Egyptian airspace.

Nasser almost certainly flew to the Soviet Union on Jan. 23, and strongly hinted as much in his Metromedia television interview. (One piece of evidence: the otherwise odd fact that one of Moscow's few CIP planes, a gleaming IL-28 with gilded toilets, arrived here unannounced on that day, flew north and returned to Cairo the early afternoon of Jan. 26.)

Nasser's presence on that luxury aircraft would add only a fillip to the urgency of his appeals to Moscow. But reliable evidence strongly suggests that the high Soviet price for meeting the appeal is no less than a veto in Moscow over all aspects of Nasser's relations with the United States.

The relationship had at least a visible chance of improving after Secretary of State William P. Rogers's notable speech in November pledging a "balanced" U. S. policy in the Middle East. For example, Nasser specifically agreed two weeks ago that King Hussein of Jordan should explore the settlement possibilities in proposals covering the occupied West Bank and Jerusalem which Washington made to the Big Four in December.

But President Nixon's decision to give a quick reply to the Israeli request for a new batch of Phantoms was a heavy blow to this highly tentative approach, because Nasser now assumes that the reply will be yes. If it is, it will fortify both political movements now working against him. It will raise the Soviet asking price for giving him more modern equipment. And it will increase the rising clamor of militants at home that Nasser end the search for a political settlement and espouse an all-out war policy.

Accordingly, Nasser finds his country trapped in a vicious circle. Convinced that Washington will indeed say yes to Israel's Phantom request, he does not dare risk warming up his frigid relations with the United States. But equally convinced that he cannot indefinitely hold back his militants on the left, he does not dare say no to Moscow's price for more modern airpower of his own (weapons systems which he, Moscow, and Israel know cannot be properly used by a nation that is only entering the technological age).

Closing this vicious circle is the paradox that most Egyptians dislike and distrust the Russians.

AND NOW FOR THE BILL!

By ART BUCHWALD

Good Grief, It Is War!

WASHINGTON —

President Nixon's decision to dress up the White House police force in puritanical dress uniforms with gold braid, black leather belts and black vinyl hats trimmed with gold has shocked every minor power in the world.

When Prince Rainier heard about it, he said to his lovely wife, Princess Grace, "This means war."

Princess Grace said, "Surely the President of the United States would not be foolhardy enough to start something with us, knowing the size and design of the palace uniforms we have stockpiled in the cellar."

Other Editors Say Riot Or Study?

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

Is your thing rioting or studying? If locking up deans and burning down administration buildings isn't your idea of a college education, then the friendly Edu-Data computer in Washington can tell you where to go.

Edu-Data has come up with the latest thing in college selection for prospective students. It has the capacity to match the atmosphere of college campuses with the attitudes of students who want to attend them.

That has great possibilities. For example, there might soon be some colleges packed with students seeking an education. Nowhere in sight would be a picketer, a campus agitator or a would-be arsonist. On the other hand, there might be some colleges packed with future anarchists, all learning first-hand from willing faculty members how to disrupt the normal processes of higher learning. Edu-Data can direct you to either.

Anyway, Edu-Data can scan the nation very quickly in search of a "conservative" campus where hippies, alcohol and marijuana are forbidden. And just as quickly it can seek out the "liberal" campuses for students wishing something besides a traditional education.

Mrs. Elizabeth Swift, a director of the firm, believes that Edu-Data has plugged a major gap in the college selection field by adding campus atmosphere to the list of more traditional criteria used by prospective students.

According to Edu-Data officials, recent statistics show that as many as 50 per cent of the freshmen who enroll in a college either don't finish or end up at another school.

"By matching the desires and the capabilities of a would-be student with known factors about the nation's colleges, we hope that a lot more young people will be able to start off on the right foot. There is a great deal more to finding the right college than simply whether a student can gain admittance. It is important that he be able to fit into the school's environment so that he can devote his energy to studies instead of to making social adjustments," says Mrs. Swift.

Edu-Data questionnaires or further information can be obtained by writing the firm at P. O. Box 4098, Washington, D. C., 20015.

Awful Fight To Survive

By JOHN CUNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The small investor has had an awful fight for survival during the past year or so. That he survives with something of his old spirit remaining is a tribute to his guts.

He was doing all right in the stock market, or at least as well as some of the supposedly more talented professionals. But then brokers all over the country began turning down his business, even though he paid cash on the line.

The reason, as we know now, is that brokers suddenly discovered they weren't making money on small business. They began penalizing their own registered representatives for bringing in small orders.

And so, after a decade of hearing himself acclaimed as the line soldier in the battle for free enterprise, the small guy was dumped. All those ads about owning a piece of America ceased abruptly. The romance was over.

This was the first hint to the little guy that he really wasn't wanted in the high finance game. He had seen interest rates soar to the highest in a century and he saw a lot of big lenders grow rich on loans.

He couldn't take advantage of the situation though. Federal laws kept the rates on his savings account at 4 per cent in a commercial bank and 5 per cent in a savings bank. This left him with a return barely adequate to keep even with the erosions of inflation.

Early this year the Federal Reserve did permit commercial banks to raise passbook interest to 4.5 per cent from 4, and up to 5.5 per cent if the depositor was willing to leave his money in the bank at least one year. Savings banks kept the 5 per cent rate on passbooks and went to 5.75 per cent on one-year deposits.

If that was a victory it wasn't a profitable one. Inflation had taken a rocket burst late in the year and that extra one-half of one per cent return on commercial bank savings didn't keep pace. He was told, in effect, to try to be happy in his misery.

When he went to borrow for a house—or, to put it another way, to invest in a house—he found a different situation existed. Interest rates in housing were breaking right through the old usury laws and heading toward 9 per cent.

Still, the small investor is the kind of a person who doesn't expect any favors. He makes do, shifts for himself, and tries to make the best out of difficult situations. He found ways to deal with his problem.

For loans he went to his life insurance company, where by law he is entitled to borrow the cash value of his policy for 5 or 6 per cent. By late in the year life insurers had $12 billion out on such loans.

He also discovered such esoteric investments as Treasury bills and was familiarly calling them T-bills by the end of the year. Usually the big investors got these, but if the U. S. government was paying 8 per cent, then the little guy wanted some of them too.

He should have known that the T-bill avenue would be blocked. It hasn't yet, but there's speculation that it is about to be closed. It's quite a story.

Nobody has announced the move yet, but some Treasury people won't deny that they're considering raising the smallest unit of T-bill from $1,000 to as much as $10,000.

solid gold striping on our blue velvet pants."

"My God," said Prince Rainier, "isn't that against the Geneva Convention?"

"Geneva Convention be damned."

The Prince of Liechtenstein said, "When the President put Balkan braid on his White House gatekeepers, the Articles of War went out the window. All I want to know is, are you with me?"

"Yes I am," Prince Rainier said. "As a matter of fact, we have been working on a top secret uniform which glows at night."

"Good grief, Rainier, you're not going to use that to retaliate with."

"I have no choice. If Nixon tries to destroy our tourist business, he must suffer the consequences. I have to ring off now, the captain of the Vatican guards is calling."

Prince Rainier pushed a button. "Yes, Captain, I was expecting your call."

The captain said, "The Vatican is for peace, but I think we must act at once."

"What precautions have you taken?" Rainier said.

"We've put white mink trimming on our vests, lapels and helmets. We've also doubled the silk in our capes."

"Good show, Captain. How are you fixed for patent leather boots?"

"We're low. The French sold all their patent leather to Libya."

"I'll see that you get some," Rainier said.

Princess Grace was beside herself.

"Rainier, there must be a better way than this. Can't you get on the hot line to President Nixon's valet and warn him of what you're going to do?"

"It's too late," Prince Rainier said. "Luxembourg

Many Questions Unanswered

By ELMER ROESSNER

There are several curious aspects to the statement by Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy that the "happy day" that interest rates will decline "may be closer at hand than most people realize."

He did not make it clear whether he was making a prediction or giving an inside tip on what the Federal Reserve Board was about to do. In view of his experience as a financier, he must surely have realized that his remark would boom the stock market, which it promptly did. That would lead to the suspicion, perhaps unfounded, that he was acting to brake the long slide in stocks and to cool talk that the nation was in, or about to enter, a recession.

Pershaps both Wall Street and the general public is entitled to clarification of his remarks.

What Will Congress Do?

Mr. Kennedy said "we are clearly beginning to make headway toward the President's objective of curbing inflation."

The Secretary created the impression on some minds that the Federal Reserve was about to shave interest rates slightly. That, of course, would have an influence on the market and upon Mr.

Nixon's critics in Congress.

However, he also said that "once the inflationary psychology is broken, interest rates will drop to a more reasonable level." A shaving of interest rates wouldn't break the inflationary psychology.

High Interest Failing?

Another deduction is that the administration is backing away from high interest rates as a way to end inflation. Earlier Undersecretary of the Treasury Charles Walker and Mr. Nixon had urged the Federal Reserve to ease its tight-money position.

High interest rates have not been successful in halting inflation. Prices and wages have continued to rise, home building has sharply declined just at a time when the need is great, and unemployment is threatening.

Mr. Kennedy also said, "I know that there are those who believe that prices will continue to rise, and who are making their borrowing, lending, spending and other decisions accordingly. They are badly mistaken."

That prompts the question: "Where does Mrs. Kennedy do her shopping?"

Here's New Threat Of Farm Poison

Three children have been hospitalized in New Mexico, and 258 hogs have been impounded at Roswell, N. M., as a result of feeding seeds treated with a mercuric fungicide to hogs. The treated seeds were not to be used as animal feed. The children became ill after their family slaughtered a hog for its own use.

Says Hoods 'Trapped' Air Freight

NEW YORK (AP) — The air freight industry at one of the nation's largest airports is "trapped" by gangsters, U.S. Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell says.

He did not say which airport, but his remarks Tuesday recalled charges made two years ago by the New York State Investigation Commission that organized crime had infiltrated the freight trade at Kennedy Airport.

Mitchell said thievery was rampant at the airport he was thinking of. Losses from thefts at Kennedy Airport have run into the millions in recent years. Only a month ago five men were arrested in the theft of $200,000 in jewelry, coins and watches.

Mitchell told 400 New York Bond Club members Tuesday that the freight trade at the unidentified airport "is trapped between a racketeer-dominated trade union on one hand and a racketeer trade association on the other."

Mitchell said gangsters who had infiltrated the trucking business could watch shipments and steal anything of value. He said his office was investigating.

He also said organized crime had begun to operate "with a great deal of efficiency and profit" in stealing stocks and bonds. He said $45 million in securities had been lost or stolen in the first nine months of 1969 alone.

Mitchell said the Justice Department was negotiating with the New York Stock Exchange to set up a permanent $250,000 fund that would be used for undercover men to purchase stolen stocks as evidence.

He also said his department would begin making raids of banks suspected of dealing in stolen securities.

Can Offer Aid To Fire Victims

Persons wishing to make a clothing contribution to the families who lost their possessions in an apartment house fire in Farmville Sunday should call George Garrett at 752-5293 for further information.

Garrett has information concerning correct sizes and has also made arrangements to get the clothing to the needy families.

Various articles of clothing are needed, he said, for children and adults. If Garrett can not be reached at the above number, persons should call Hardy's Grocery Store at 758-9638 for information.

Jointly Prepare Tutorial Plan

The Pitt County Mental Health Association, in conjunction with the Greenville PTA Council, is making plans to organize a city-wide tutorial program, with volunteer reading tutors to be recruited through local schools and civic and service organizations.

To launch the initial stage of the program, a noted educator Dr. Cecelia Pollack, Director of Learning Rehabilitation Services of the Maimonides Mental Health Center, Brooklyn New York, will be in Greenville Friday.

Dr. Pollack, Dr. Frank Fuller, professor at East Carolina University, and a member of the board of directors of Pitt County Mental Health Association; and Mrs. Ann Smith, director of Planned Mental Health Services for Children, Greenville Office of the State Department of Mental Health, will appear on "Carolina Today" over WNCT-TV at 7:30 a.m. Friday.

At 1:30 p.m., a workshop will be conducted in the American Legion Building. Any parent or interested person willing to give three hours per week to help a child learn to read is urged to attend the workshop.

Dr. Pollack, who holds a Ph. D. from New York University with a major in Special Education, has been director of the Maimonides Community Mental Health Service since 1966. She is now working with a grant of $75,000 awarded in September of 1969 by Title III (Educational Innovation) for a three year Longitudinal Research Study following 3 kindergarten classes through first and second grades in a comparative research study.

Chicago Museum Attendance Up

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago's Museum of Science and Industry, frequently termed the Windy City's "leading tourist attraction," hit a new attendance mark in 1969 with 3,261,983 viewing its exhibits.

Daniel M. MacMaster, the museum's president, said this was the fifth consecutive year during which attendance went over the three-million mark.

The museum continued its extensive services as a practical aid to formal education in welcoming more than a half-a-million students in more than 10,000 organized groups from nearly every state in the country during the year.

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

A 16-year-old Negro student at Rose High School was given a 30-day suspended sentence in District Court here yesterday after being found guilty of assaulting a Negro teacher at the school January 12.

Court Test On Housing

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Supreme Court heard arguments today in a case testing the constitutionality of an act of the 1969 General Assembly setting up a $200 million low-income housing program.

The state appealed to the high court after Superior Court Judge James H. Pou Bailey ruled the law creating the North Carolina Housing Authority unconstitutional.

Bailey expressed the opinion that the issuance of tax-exempt bonds to finance purchase of houses by poor families "is not for a valid purpose as required by the constitution of North Carolina for the expenditure of tax funds."

Bailey based his ruling on a 1968 Supreme Court decision that revenue bonds could not be issued by local governments to finance facilities for industry.

Synthetic fibers account for almost 45 per cent of the American textile industry.

Mrs. Olga Dawkins testified that she had been grabbed by the arm from the rear and "pulled around" by the defendant Carla Worthington, who then called Mrs. Dawkins "a black uncle Tom" and used other abusive language. Mrs. Dawkins said the assault occurred after she (Mrs. Dawkins) had identified two Negro students involved in a hall-way incident, for a white teacher.

According to Mrs. Dawkins, after being spun around the student then told her, "I was not supposed to tell anything on a black student. You are next. We are going to get you next."

"And," Mrs. Dawkins emphasised, "when they say you are next at Rose High, then you are next."

Mrs. Dawkins was supported in her testimony that she had been confronted by Miss Worthington, by testimony from other teachers, including Mrs. Audrey Whitehurst and Miss Kathleen Flanagan.

The defense, led by attorneys Jerry Paul of Greenville and James Furgeson of Charlotte, tendered a number of witnesses, who in addition to denying that Miss Worthington assaulted the teacher, raised questions about Mrs. Dawkins' loyalty to Negro students.

One 11th grade student, Negro Hattie Moye said "she has a racial problem against the blacks. She doesn't understand black people." Defining "uncle Tom" for prosecutor Eli Bloom, Miss Moye said, "when you're black yourself and you act the way whites do."

Another student, 16-year-old Negro Harvey Langley Jr. told of his association with Mrs. Dawkins at Eppes High School in past years. (Mrs. Dawkins, who has taught for 20 years, was at Eppes for three years before being moved to Rose this year.)

"I didn't get along with her there. She was always saying 'do better, do better.' She was always wanting you to do better even when what you did was okay," Langley said.

Taking the stand in her own defense, Miss Worthington testified she was among a "crowd" of Negro students "standing there... calling her (Mrs. Dawkins) 'uncle Tom', but denied assaulting the teacher.

And under cross examination by Bloom, Miss Worthington admitted that although another teacher had asked her and other students to go to class, "I didn't go... It wasn't time. We had five minutes (before the last bell)."

In his final argument before the court, Furgeson said, "It is unfortunate that those have chosen the courts to deal with these black - white problems. They can't be dealt with here."

Bloom, in summing up the state's case, said, "I agree. The court room is hardly the place to settle these differences, but the law of the land on which they rely so much says that they belong here."

And charging that "the whole purpose of this case is to drive a wedge between the students and teachers," Bloom said the only question before the court is "did this girl assault this teacher. All we want is for them to respect authority."

In rendering his verdict, Judge Charles H. Whedbee said, "a great deal of evidence has come out not entirely germane to this case."

Simply stated, he said, "It was a confrontation between a Negro teacher and Negro child... a teacher and child..."

Judge Whedbee then ordered the jail term suspended on the conditions that Miss Worthington not harm, molest or threaten the teachers that testified, that she apply herself to her school work and attempt to complete her education, that she pay the costs of the action, and placed her on probation for 12 months.

Furgeson appealed the case to Superior Court.

Judge Whedbee found a 16-year-old Negro Sammy Crystal Perkins not guilty of trespassing on Rose High property during the mid-January period of tension at the school.

Testimony indicated that Perkins had been ordered off the property and was charged when found in a wooded area beside the school.

The property was Rose High School property but was separated from the school by a fence, the court was told.

Perkins said he did not know that the wooded property was part of the school.

Denies Switch

Due To Rancor

BOSTON (AP) — Dr. John H. Knowles, who missed out last year on an expected Nixon administration appointment to be an assistant secretary in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, says he has become a Democrat.

Both Knowles, general director of Massachusetts General Hospital, and Mrs. Knowles now are registered as Democrats in the neighboring town of Brookline. Previously Knowles was an independent, enrolled in neither major party.

Knowles insisted the switch was not motivated by rancor.

"I'm not mad at anybody," he told a newsmen. "This is not a sour grapes thing."

"Over the last nine years or so, as general director of the Massachusetts General Hospital, I came to the conclusion, for various reasons, that I was more closely aligned to traditional Democratic thought than to Republican thought."

Dr. Batten To Be Speaker For PTA

Dr. James W. Batten, professor of education and chairman of the Department of Secondary Education at East Carolina University, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Elmhurst PTA Thursday at 8 p.m.

Dr. Batten's subject will be the Solar Eclipse of March 7. He will discuss the general appearance of the eclipse as viewed from Greenville.

Dr. Batten, a native of Goldsboro, received his A.B., M.A. and doctor's degrees from the University of North Carolina. He has done graduate work at the University of California at Berkeley and Columbia University, New York. He has had wide teaching experiences in North Carolina and has been a speaker at

Hearing On Drug Counts

GREENSBORO (AP) — Two men arrested Monday on drug charges will be given preliminary hearing in District Court Friday. Authorities said one had a home laboratory and equipment for making a drug more powerful than LSD.

SBI Director Charles Dunn said the arrest of Thomas Allen Hosick, 41, of Winston-Salem and Mark Andrews Calise, 19, was "a major breakthrough" in the state's drive against illegal drugs.

Dunn said two carloads of chemicals and equipment were confiscated from a laboratory in Hosick's home at Winston-Salem.

The two were arrested at a parking lot in a Greensboro shopping center.

Hosick was held under $22,000 bond on a charge of possession, transporting and sale of drugs. Calise was charged with conspiracy to sell drugs and his bond was set at $10,000.

The SBI director said several thousand dollars worth of the hallucinatory drug MDA was confiscated. He said MDA is similar to LSD "but is a little more potent."

Name 2 To EPIC Role

AYDEN — The Ayden Board of Commissioners Monday night appointed Mayor Ross Persinger and Town Manager Peter Vandenberg as representatives of EPIC, Inc.

The two local men, members of the non profit operation, will participate in appointing the board of directors, as well as in other business.

Each electric city that is a member of EPIC is allowed two representatives to participate in organizational matters.

In other business, the board passes a resolution ordering improvement on Princess Street. The project, approximately 675 feet of paving, will be done within the next year.

The board authorized the mayor, Fire Chief Till Chancey and Fire Commissioner Harry Mumford to enter into the Pitt County Selective Mutual Emergency Fire Aid Pact.

Members of the Pact, the various fire departments in the county, agree to go to a fire anywhere in the county if they are called.

Bundy Speaks To Ruritan Club

WINTERVILLE — Sam D. Bundy, principal of the Sam D. Bundy School, was the keynote speaker at the meeting of the Winterville Ruritan Club Tuesday night.

Bundy spoke on the work and responsibilities of civic clubs.

The club members adopted objectives for the 1970 club year. The Ruritan Calendar was adopted as the club's main source of income for the year.

LIFT QUARANTINES
RALEIGH AP — Federal hog cholera quarantines have been lifted in Wake, Johnston and Harnett counties, state Agriculture commissioner Jim Gigham said Tuesday.

Pimlico Race Track in Baltimore opened Oct. 25, 1870.

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA) — North Carolina hog prices were steady to 50 cents lower today. Tops of 27.00 to 28.00 at Rocky Mount; 27.00 to 27.25 at Wilson; 26.50 to 27.00 at Siler City, Denton; 26.00 to 27.25 at Tarboro; 26.00 to 27.00 at Bethel; 27.50 at Salisbury; 27.25 at Mount Olive; 26.75 at Greensboro.

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA) — North Carolina poultry live at farm base valuation was steady today at 12 to 13 cents per pound, mostly 12½. Hens, generally steady, supplies barely adequate, demand fair to good. Prices for hens over seven pounds at farm 15 cents per pound. Light type, too few to quote.

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)— North Carolina egg markets steady Tuesday, supplies adequate, demand fair. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets: Grade A large whites 61½ to 62; medium whites 58 to 59; small whites 50 to 52.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market drifted lower in moderate trading early today. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials had slipped 1.32 to 745.31 at 11 a.m. The margin of declines over advances widened to about 150 among individual issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange. Pan American World Airways dipped only ¼ to 11½, despite its report of a $25-million loss in 1969. An analyst said the announcement came as no surprise since the company reports its financial results monthly.

Fine, Prison On Bribery Charge

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Manhattan Democratic leader Carmine DeSapio once one of the most powerful big city politicians in the country, has been sentenced to two years in prison on a bribe-conspiracy conviction. DeSapio also was fined $4,500 Tuesday for bribe James Marcus, city water commissioner at the time, and extort construction contracts from Consolidated Edison Co.

Jones Urges HEW Stop Harrassment

FARMVILLE — First District Congressman Walter B. Jones Wednesday urged HEW to cease its "harrassment tactics of state institutions of higher learning and their policies on integration before they are disrupted as the secondary school systems of the state and south have become by similar interference.

Jones in a letter to HEW Secretary. Finch said he was "Bewildered that HEW could find any reason to question the integration policies of East Carolina University and the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill."

Broken Tooth Repair Devised

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Two dentists, Drs. Andrew and John Michanowicz, says they have developed a technique for repairing broken teeth similar to the method for rejoining the broken pieces of an arm or leg bone. If dentists encounter broken roots and severed nerves in a tooth normally they extract it. But the brothers say their 12-year-study has shown that if the crown of the tooth is splinted in place over the fractured root for one to three weeks the pieces will fuse in most cases, leaving a normal tooth. The brothers say their experiments on numerous patients have proved 75 per cent successful.

Spacecraft Will Visit Raleigh

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott announced Tuesday that the Apollo 11 spacecraft that first took men to the moon and some of the rock it brought back will be on display in Raleigh late this year. Scott said the capsule and rock samples will be on display in Raleigh from Dec. 30 to Jan. 6, 1971.

University and a close affiliate of ECU is difficult for me to believe that you can find discrimination practices at either of these outstanding institutions. Therefore I respectfully ask you to stop these harrassment tactics by members of your staff, in order that the education process can continue uninterrupted."

"Currently HEW has forced seven counties in the First District into lengthy and costly court actions, resulting in complete abolition of local control and support over school operations. The remaining counties in the 19 county district have been forced to comply with unreasonable demands and time schedule from HEW," Jones pointed out.

Certainly HEW has already done enough to destroy the secondary schools in the South, so please consider the unjustified attacks on the schools of higher education in North Carolina. "Such action is yet another example of the failure to carry out a campaign promise in Charlotte by President Nixon, that freedom of choice was all that was necessary to comply with the 1964 civil acts act", Jones charged.

Council . . .

(Continued From Page 1) bership was derived from every social, religious, civic and government agency in both the city and county of Spartanburg. "We elect a new board of directors each year," he noted. "One of the healthiest organizations a community council can have is one which is fluid, which can change focus from time to time," Goley commented. He also emphasized that the Spartanburg Community Council has real no authority. "The only authority we have is one of thoroughness of work, the prestige of the people on the council, and an ability of the people on the council to know the rightness of what they have to say or do."

Goley warned that "the real heart of course is the implementation of any plan. The best prepared plan is completely ineffective unless it is put into operation. Any council must be prepared to accomplish, willing to bring their prestige to bear on any issue they feel is worthwhile."

The Spartanburg Community Council, organized in 1952, has served, according to Goley, to accomplish a number of needed reforms within the city-county structure of government. He pointed out a few examples:

"The merger of the city and county health departments. The overlapping of the two had been sheer folly.

"Establishment of a psychiatric wing; and the creation of a school of practical nursing in the hospital.

"Creation of a solid Arts Council, an important consideration in any community."

Not everything the community council has attempted has been successful Goley noted: "We completed a major comprehensive recreation study to establish open space within a fast growing city. The adoption of this required a public referendum, which was turned down. A few years from now, when the citizens will want a program of open space and recreation areas, it will be too late, there will be no space left."

Steering Committee Chairman Thomas Moran indicated the Tuesday meeting was called after it had been determined that a lot of people in Greenville and Pitt County were interested in the possibility of establishing such a council.

"There are more than 80 separate agencies at work in Greenville and Pitt County," Moran noted. "It's an impossible task for any one individual or group to know what's going on."

"Our immediate goal for a community council is one of awareness, one which can effectively cooperate between agencies. The ultimate goal is to really get together to understand what each other is doing."

Many Sides Of Vietnamese Problems Noted By Speaker

Ken Armstrong, award-winning correspondent, documentary film producer and lecturer, told a large audience at East Carolina University last night, "I'm not here to try to change your views on Vietnam, but to make an effort to give you an appreciation of the many roles which play a part in this controversial situation."

Armstrong, a veteran reporter with eight trips to South Vietnam since 1960 to his credit, showed a color documentary film of the war-torn country he made on his last tour there a little more than a year ago. He delivered a commentary as the film was shown.

Beginning with the northern coastal area around Hue, the film dwelt at length on the old imperial capital of Vietnam, and then moved on to the highlands, home of the approximately one million non-Vietnamese people, the Montagnards; with the last part of the film concentrating on the rice-rich Mekong Delta and a brief excursion into Saigon.

"One very vivid impression I received was the change in attitude. When I was there in 1967, by and large the impression I had was that most of our men believed they were doing the right thing in being there. When I returned in 1968, I noticed a drastically changed attitude. There is no longer a feeling the fight had to be won, but now it seems to be, how can we get out and how soon. Many of our men are concerned mostly with how to last out their tour of duty."

"It is my belief that the turning point came about because of the Tet assaults in 1968. The Viet Cong attacks destroyed our illusions that the enemy had lost his sting," Armstrong commented.

Throughout the film, in commenting on the many complex problems which faces both the Americans and Vietnamese in the present dilemma, Armstrong sounded notes of optimism.

The University of Georgia was founded in 1801.

"The Vietnamese are an industrious people, and in spite of the scars and the problems of 29 years of warfare, they are a strong, flexible people.

"In Hue, many of the people who had not really suffered very much were not in real sympathy with the government of the South. But Tet 68 was a rude awakening, and these people are now dedicated to the South Vietnamese cause.

"Despite faults, we have made some valuable impressions. Our medics above all have really made a great impact on the people. They have gone in and done something for the people, and people don't forget. "Great hope is being placed on Vietnamization. Whether it will work out remains to be seen, but at least it has promise. "One of our greatest hopes is the work being done by U.S. citizens working in practical ways with the people in the countryside in efforts to improve their lot. We call this the 'other war', the one to win the hearts and minds of the Vietnamese people," Armstrong commented.

Rampants Survive Kinston Press To Take 78-69 Victory Over Stubborn Red Devils

By WOODY PEELE

Reflector Sports Editor

KINSTON — In past years, it would have been classed as a major upset, but last night's Rose High School victory over the Kinston Red Devils was just another loss for the home team, 78-69.

The Red Devils, once the powerhouse of the Northeastern Conference, is finding its baptism into the Eastern 4-A an unhappy one. They are currently 0-7 in the ranks of Division II, sunk into last place, with little chance of advancement.

Rose, meanwhile, boosted its Division II record to 4-3, and climbed back into sole possession of second place, a halfgame ahead of Wilson and New Bern, both 4-4.

Rose had to hold off Kinston's pressing defenses to gain their victory last night, however, as the Rose defense proved to be spotty underneath the basket.

Rose was also hampered by illness to Ray Peszko. The big center sat out most of the game due to the end effects of a bout with the flu. He did see some limited action, and managed to score eight points, and pull down some vital rebounds.

But most of the hero work was done by Charlie Harris, who pumped in 12 points in the third period, when the Red Devils were trying to break the back of the Rampants. Harris finished the game with 24 points.

Mike Harrington came through with key points in the first half, and in the final period, finishing with 22. Willie Smith canned 12, and Billy Clark added 11.

Rose took the lead on a jumper by Clark, but Kinston tied it up as Midge Hewitt hit on a rebound. Rose then took the lead again, when Harrington hit a jumper and Smith dropped in a free throw when he was fouled as he waited for a possible rebound.

That put Rose into a three-point lead, but it didn't hold.

Kinston came back with baskets by Lew Paylor and Hewitt to take a 6-5 lead, but Smith hit on the fast break to put Rose back on top. Floyd Jones hit a pair at the line to return the lead to the Red Devils, but again, the Rampants came back. Smith hit at the line to tie it up, and Harris put the Rampants back out, 10-9.

Kinston battled back and took the lead again at 24-13 on a shot by Duff Miller, but it was to be the last time.

Rose shut the Red Devils out for the rest of the period, while they dumped in eight points, to run out to a 20-13 lead at the half. Harrington put Rose ahead, then added two free throws and another basket. Harris hit the final one with one second left to give the Rampants their seven-point edge.

Rose quickly added two more baskets at the start of the second quarter, one each by Smith and Clark, making it 24-13 with 6:52 to go. But Kinston switched to its troublesome pressing defense after that, and began to force Rose turnovers. It didn't have much effect at first, but then, the Rose lead started to tumble. It fell first to nine, at 33-24, then to eight at 35-37, and then to six at 35-39. Then, with the clock run out, Hewitt hit a free throw to cut it to 37-32 at the half.

In the opening seconds of the third period, Ken Williams hit, and the lead fell to three. Then, a minute later, Hewitt cut it to one, at 40-39. Rose got a free throw from Harrington, but a basket by Jones tied it at 41-41 with 6:12 to play in the period.

Rose regained the lead as Harris started his streak. He hit again to boost the lead to four at 45-41, and then started a streak that ran the lead back out to 11 at 57-46 as he stole the ball for a goal with 1:59 left. Kinston cut it back to seven on baskets by Jones and Hewitt, but Peszko and Harris each hit to push it back to 11. Hewitt made one more to cut it back to 61-52 at the horn.

The final period was practically a point-for-point swap. Kinston cut the lead back to seven at 70-63 midway through the period, and the two exchanged points the rest of the way for the final margin, which came after Smith hit two free throws with five seconds left.

For Kinston, Hewitt finished with 21, while Mike Edwards had 14 and Jones had 11.

Rose travels to Raleigh Friday night to meet Enloe High School. The Rampants will be out to avenge one of their losses from earlier in the season.

Ayden Rolls To 72-53 Win Over Winterville

WINTERVILLE — Ayden took two games from Winterville last night, to pad their third place in the county conference, with the season closing.

The Tornado boys took theirs, 72-53, while the girls went by the Lady Wolves 39-30.

The Tornadoes have two tough games remaining before they can claim third, with Bethel and Belvoir on their slate.

Last night, Ayden had little competition, as they led 21-14 at the end of the first period, and 41-22 at the half.

Pat Finnigan led Ayden with 22, while Doug Pierce had 14, and Willie Stewart 12. Ken Smith led Winterville with 14, followed by Edgar Wall with 13, and Ben Thompson with 12.

In the girls game, Ayden led 13-3 at the end of the first period and saw Winterville come back slightly in the second and third, but not enough to make up for their first period cold spell.

Lynn Langston led Ayden with 12.

In the girls game, Griffin led 21-6 at the end of the first and 35-10 at the half in their rout.

Sue Carter led Griffin with 14, while Jennifer Smith and Laura Kilpatrick had 10. Griffin is the only team that can catch Bethel in the girls conference, as they now hold a 9-1 record.

Griffin led the boys game by two 26-24 at the end of the first period, but Stokes pushed in 28 in the second frame to 12 for the Bulldogs to go into the lead. Griffin came on in the third with 21 to 23 for the home team, and outscored Stokes 25-22 in the fourth.

David Whaley led Griffin with 31, while Billy Edwards had 19, and Drew Harper had 10. Charles Wynn led Stokes with 26, while Lester House had 24, and

Williamston Slips By Scotland Neck, 55-54

SCOTLAND NECK — Williamston High School edged past Scotland Neck, 55-54, here last night. The Williamston girls also collected a victory, 30-26.

In the girls contest, Scotland Neck pushed out into a 9-5 lead in the first period, and held the advantage at the half. Williamston outthrust their hosts, 5-4, but still trailed, 13-10 at the end of the frame.

In the third period, however, the Lady Waves went to work and out-painted Scotland Neck, 12-3. That put them ahead, 22-16. Scotland Neck rallied to outthrust Williamston, 10-8 in the final period, but couldn't close the gap.

In the boys contest, Williamston edged away to a 15-11 lead in the first period. In the second frame, however, the hosts came back with 13 points, while holding the Green Wave to seven, and took a 24-22 lead at intermission.

Williamston again rallied in the third period, out shooting

Scotland Neck, 15-10, to push ahead, 37-34. Then, in the final period, it went right down to the wire before Henry Jenkins hit a 25-foot jumper just before the end to give Williamston the one-point win.

Raymond Andrews led Williamston with 17, while Jenkins finished with 13. For Scotland Neck, Gra Byrum had 16, Larry Harrison had 12 and George Pendleton had 10.

Chicod Nips Bear Grass

CPCOD — Phil Page kept Chicod in their ball game with Bear Grass last night, and also gave them a 58-57 win on two clutch free throws. The Chicod girls took theirs also, 25-22.

In the boys game, Chicod trailed 11-7 at the end of the first and 26-19 at the half. The Hornets started cutting the lead in the third with 20 to 16 for Bear Grass to cut the lead by four and Page did his good deed in the fourth to give them the win.

Garland Warren led Chicod with 20, while Page had 14, and Jesse Lilly 10.

Allan Ayers led Bear Grass with 25, while Paul Mobley had 17.

In the girls game, it was tied at 6-6 at the half, but Chicod went ahead by two in the third with eight points to six for Bear Grass, and added one to their lead in the fourth with 11 to 10 for their visitors.

Debra Buck led Chicod with 14.

Upsets Mark Church Loop

The standings in the Church Basketball League shifted like beach sands in a hurricane last night, as two upsets marked the evening. Black Jack knocked off first place Immanuel, 53-44, while Piney Grove slammed St. James, 55-43. In the other games, Presbyterian took a 48-39 win over Oakmont.

The action left Immanuel in a half-game lead over Piney Grove and Presbyterian, and a game ahead of St. James. Immanuel is now 7-3, while Piney Grove and Presbyterian are 6-3. St. James is 6-4, followed by Black Jack, 5-4, Oakmont, 3-6, and Mt. Pleasant, 0-9.

In the opener, Oakmont threatened to start the evening off with an upset as it slipped out into a 19-18 lead at the half. But Presbyterian came back to outscore them, 30-20, to take the win.

Brazel Moore led Presbyterian with 12 points, while Bob Benton pushed through 20 for Oakmont.

Then it began. Black Jack roared away to a 24-12 lead over Immanuel in the first half, and the Pabstists couldn't come back. They tried, however, outpointing Black Jack, 32-29, but it wasn't enough.

Tal Adams led Black Jack with 18, while Clinton Gentry also had 18 for Immanuel.

Piney Grove liked the way Black Jack had handled things, but they did it differently. St. James took the lead in the first half, 26-22, but Piney Grove pulled off a rally in the second half. They outscored St. James, 33-17, to take the victory.

Jimmy Mills led Piney Grove with 18, while Buddy Allen had 10 and Tommy Meeks had 10. For St. James, Roy Carawan and Guy Howell each had 14.

Aycock Slams Devil Teams

PIKEVILLE — Charles B. Aycock took two games from Farmville last night, with the Aycock girls downing the league leading Lady Devils.

The Aycock boys won theirs 66-48, while the home team girls took theirs 30-20.

In the girls game, Aycock took a 13-7 lead at the end of the first and maintained their advantage at the half with both teams picking up four apiece in the second.

Aycock had six in the third to five for Farmville, and seven in the fourth to four for the Lady Devils in the upset victory.

In the boys game Aycock jumped to a 15-6 lead and took a 33-20 half time advantage.

The home team continued to outscore their opponents in the remaining frames, to take their 66-48 victory.

Robert Barnes led Aycock with 19, while Robbie Wooten had 16, and Bud Davis and Ebbie Cox 10 apiece.

Robert Tripp led the Red Devils with 12.

Greene Central Holds To First

SNOW HILL — Greene Central moved a step closer to the Eastern Plains Conference title with a 72-65 victory over Southern Nash High School last night.

The win left Greene Central with only three games left in the loop, and a two-game edge. One more win will assure the Rams of no worse than a tie for the title, while two will clinch it for them.

Greene Central inched out to a 14-13 lead in the first period, then shot away from Southern Nash in the second period. The Rams outscored their guest, 18-9, and built up a 32-22 lead at the half.

In the third period, Greene Central again hit 18, but Southern Nash nearly equaled that, with 15. Still, the Rams moved further out, and led 50-37. Southern Nash rallied in the final period, outthrusting the Rams, 28-22, but it wasn't enough to catch up.

Robbie Hill led Greene Central with 25 points, while Kermit Crawford had 18 and Michael Giles had 14.

For Southern Nash, Marcellus Thompson had 18, and Jack Bland, Milton Moore and Alvin Newkirk each had 13.

Greene Central also won the junior varsity game, 56-46.

Half-Game Lead For Eagles With Victory

By CARL TYER

Reflector Sports Writer

BETHEL — Belvoir — Falkland's Eagles accomplished two things last night, they defeated tough Bethel in the Pitt County Conference, and moved into a half game lead in the conference, with the season closing fast.

Belvoir has one conference game remaining during the regular season, while Bethel has two. If Belvoir wins their last game, against Ayden, the worst they can do for the season is tie for first place, while Bethel now has to win their remaining two games to finish with a tie. Bethel also has to face Ayden, in one of their remaining two. The Tornadoes could turn the tie in favor of either the Eagles, or the Indians.

Bethel's girls also took their game, 59-18, to make their record 10-0 in conference action, and still hold down the number one spot.

Belvoir led the entire game in the boys contest, and played one of their best games of the season. Their attack was slow and deliberate. The Eagles used a slow down tactic in the second half, and mainly in the fourth frame to take their win, after they had established four point lead going into the final frame. The first shot in the fourth quarter came from Eddie Stokes of Bethel with 5:54 remaining on a free throw. The shot was missed and Donnie Everette then broke the ice for Belvoir on a field goal to make it 43-39.

Belvoir pushed their lead out to five points, with 4:07 remaining, but Bethel brought it back to three with two by L. D. Casper.

Belvoir again pushed it out to five at 50-45, and Bethel brought it back to two, at 50-48 with three points by Stokes. Joey Moore sank two free throws for the Eagles with :35 seconds remaining that sewed it up.

Belvoir stole the ball in the closing seconds, but Bethel got it back again with :04 seconds remaining, and called time out.

Stokes took the desperation shot in the closing seconds but missed, that would have tied the game, and the Belvoir fans went wild.

Belvoir had jumped to a 9-3 lead in the opening frame, and had taken 14-9 advantage into the second quarter.

They pushed it out to a ten point spread in the second at 26-16, but Bethel managed to bring it to within nine at the half 32-23.

The Indians continued to try and cut the lead down in the third frame, bringing the Eagles lead down to one point at 36-35 with 4:07 remaining in the frame, but Belvoir put up a four point spread by the end of the quarter.

William Shivar led the Eagles with 13, while Joey Moore had 10. Stokes led Bethel with 24, while L. D. Casper had 10.

In the girls game, Bethel ran over the Belvoir girls, with a 17-5 first period lead and a 27-10 half time advantage.

Belvoir did not scratch in the third while Bethel had 13. Susan James led the Bethel attack with 20, while Minnie Hollis had 18.

Crowell's Clothing Comments

by Campus Corner

(Hosiery)

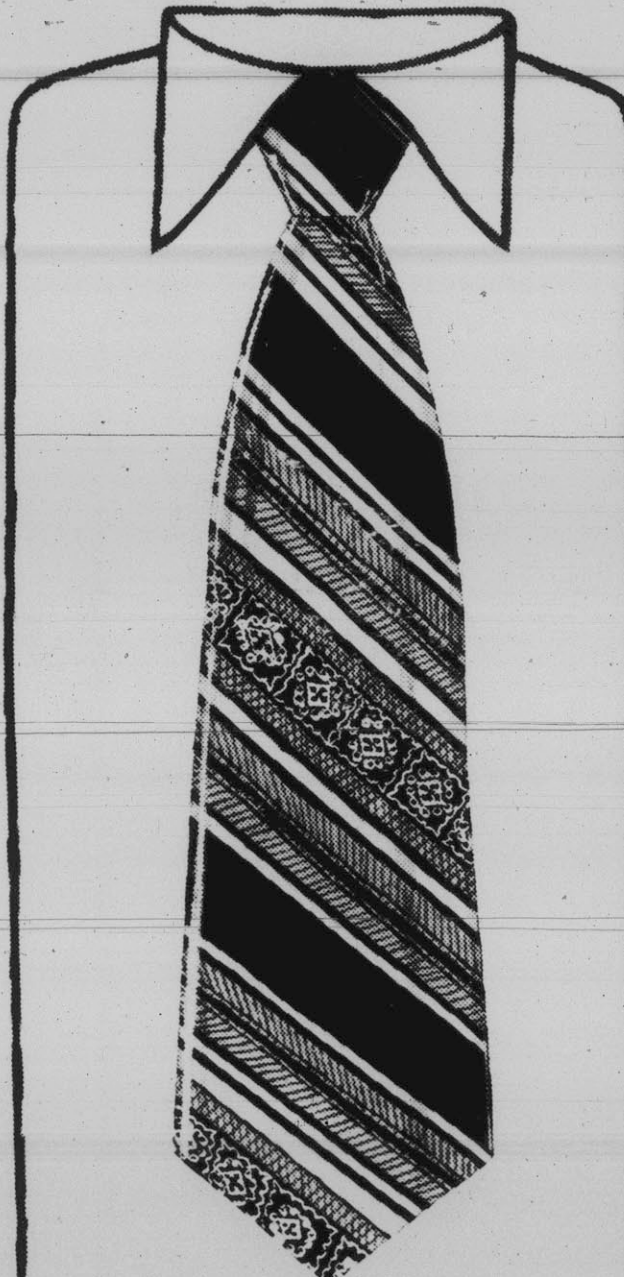

Hose should be one-half inch longer than your foot. The quality is determined by the fabric, the closeness of knit and elasticity. Ribbed tops hold their shape best. For longest wear, hose should be full-fashioned with toes and heels reinforced or double woven. The seams should be well trimmed, the instep easily stretched and the top elastic.

Good socks are pre-shrunk and the dyes fast. It is good practice always to purchase several pairs of the same color so that when a single sock wears out, you can pair it up from the others. Socks should be washed daily to assure best care.

The longest wearing hose are nylon. Among the popular materials used are wool, lisle, mercerized cotton, rayon and various fiber mixtures.

Mattamuskeet Beats Devils

MATTAMUSKEET — Mattamuskeet High School split a pair of games with Jamesville last night. The Jamesville girls won their game, 33-26, but the boys lost to their hosts, 67-54.

In the boys game, Mattamuskeet jumped away to a 17-7 lead in the first period, and Jamesville was never able to catch them after that. Mattamuskeet poured in 16 more in the second period, while Jamesville was able to improve to 11. That made it 33-18 at the half.

In the third period, Mattamuskeet continued to pull away, outscoring the Red Devils, 17-14. That advanced the score to 50-32 as the final period opened. Jamesville finally got the upper hand, 22-17, but it was not enough to overcome the 18-point deficit.

Dick Tunnell led Mattamuskeet with 21 points, while Clarence Hodges had 15, George Sawyer had 12 and Fred O'Neal had 11.

One Of Newest Counties In N.C. Has Old History

"The Light of History"

By H.G. Jones

Dept. of Archives and History
Written for The AP

RALEIGH (AP)—It is one of our newest counties; yet it was the site of the first English attempt at colonization in the new hemisphere.

It stretches over an area nearly as large as Rhode Island; yet it is not one of North Carolina's largest counties in terms of land area. Much of it is water.

—Its population in the winter is only about 6,000; yet it has up to 40,000 residents in the summer.

It is the easternmost county in North Carolina; yet it has elevations within a mile of the ocean that are higher than those found in some inland counties.

It was the site of the first airplane flight; yet after man has walked on the moon the county still has no major air terminal.

The county is Dare, and these and many other interesting facts are told by David Stick in "Dare County: A History," just published by the state Department of Archives and History.

The 64-page paperback is the second in what is hoped will be a continuing series of scholarly but easily read and illustrated booklet histories of the 100 counties. The first—William S. Powell's "Annals of Progress: The Story of Lenoir County and Kinston, North Carolina"—was published in 1963. The cost of publishing the Lenoir and Dare booklets, as well as three others now in progress, was provided by grants from the Smith Richardson Foundation, Inc., to the Department of Archives and History.

Booklets in the series are not intended to be exhaustive histories of the counties. They are designed to fill the need for brief, inexpensive, factual accounts written in a style suitable for use in the public schools. They avoid genealogy and unsubstantiated claims that mar many local histories.

Stick's narrative breezes through the ill-fated colonization attempts, the first permanent settlement of the county, the exploits of pirates, the vicissitudes of early life, the occupation of the county by the enemy during the Civil War, the first manned flight by the Wright brothers, and the growth of modern Dare into a popular vacationland and fisherman's paradise.

The booklet carries more than two dozen photographs including drawings of John White and photographs of lighthouses and windmills, of women making fish nets and men scraping hulls of fishing boats, of sunken ships along the beach and man's first flight, of ancient wood-track roads and new bridges and ferries.

Dare, writes Stick, "is a land of sea and sounds, of soft breezes and hurricanes, of shipwrecks, pirates, history, and sand. Its story is the story of the beginning of America, the beginning of North Carolina, the beginning of the age of flight."

Stick is one of the state's outstanding lay historians. Among his previous works were "Graveyard of the Atlantic" and "The Outer Banks of North Carolina."

Born in New Jersey, Stick attended the University of North Carolina and entered newspaper and radio work. During World War II he was a combat correspondent. He lives on Collington Island, within a few miles of the sites of some of America's most exciting historical events.

Drapery-Making Course Offered By Pitt Tech

Pitt Technical Institute is receiving applications for a 24-hour course in drapery making. As soon as sufficient interest is expressed there will be an organizational meeting to establish a definite schedule.

The course content will consist of acquiring knowledge and skills as follows: supplies needed for making draperies, various assorted window treatments, selection of fabrics, measuring accurately, computing yardage and cutting and sewing lined or unlined draperies. Tuition will be $2.40. Interested persons are urged to submit applications as soon as possible. Advance notification will be given for the first meeting.

About 10 million gallons of orange-juice concentrate are produced in Florida each year.

Slowdown By Controllers Threatened

By VERN HAUGLAND
AP Aviation Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Air traffic controllers have served notice they may start restricting some services next Sunday—a move the Federal Aviation Administration says would be an illegal strike.

The threat disclosed Tuesday by the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization—PATCO—is the latest round in a dispute over working conditions stretching back for more than a year.

PATCO, which represents 7,800 of FAA's 8,500 journeymen controllers, claims its members now do more than required by their work contract and by government regulations. They say, for example, they allow flights to land more frequently than called for by the contract and rules.

This, coupled with inadequate manpower and antiquated equipment puts too heavy a strain on the controllers, the organization says.

Similar complaints have led to slowdowns at the nation's airports in past months that tied up air traffic for hours and left thousands of passengers stranded at terminals.

The latest effort to settle the dispute floundered when the FAA and PATCO officials could not agree on a meeting.

FAA Administrator John H. Shaffer turned down a request by Michael Rock, PATCO board chairman, for a session with Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe.

Shaffer said it would be difficult for him or Volpe to meet with PATCO officers in view of public statements by Rock.

In a Jan. 23 telegram, Rock told Volpe the PATCO directors had resolved that as of Feb. 15 "all optional air traffic services rendered by our membership, above those required by contract and by regulations," would be withdrawn.

The resolution said the withdrawal referred particularly to "services of the many controllers who are in a condition of fatigue" and "are entitled to a period of respite for reasons of health."

Shaffer replied to Rock's telegram by saying that withholding services would be a disservice to PATCO members.

The FAA chief said the controller has the most to lose from a slowdown. He said it would be most unfortunate if those workers would have to bear the brunt of illegal actions proposed by the PATCO officers.

But he also said it is impossible for Volpe or him to discuss issues of overtime work with PATCO representatives because of a court suit brought by the organization.

PATCO asked the U. S. District Court Jan. 13 for an injunction to prevent the FAA from working weary traffic controllers overtime or under conditions of strain.

Wahl-Coates

PTA Meeting

Slated Thursday

The Wahl-Coates School PTA will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

Dr. Robert Humber and the Rev. John Taylor will lead a discussion on two important communication needs. One is "Communications Relative to Chance in Education" and the other topic is "Communications Relative to the Needs of the Greenville Schools."

Mrs. Roger Mann, president of the PTA, said the program is concerned with improving education in the city schools and will deal specifically with the area of communications.

Parents are urged to attend the meeting.

Staid Eton Has Militants, Too

LONDON (AP) — A group of Etonians belonging to a militant organization called the Schools Action Union have attacked the use of corporal punishment, uniforms, the prefect system, and other "manifestations of an autocratic system" at their famous school.

They insist that "it is time for a constructive democratic system" to take over at Eton.

The U.S. government issued its first weather bulletins in November, 1870.

MRS. MARY ROGERS . . . president of the North Carolina Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., will be the guest speaker at the Greenville BPW Club's 32nd anniversary meeting on Thursday night. The meeting will begin at 6:45 p.m. at the Woman's Club building.

Adopted Nine Children; Six With Defects

STERLING, Colo. (AP) — her freshman class at Sterling Love and devotion are working words in the Tennant household in this northeastern Colorado community.

Dr. Edward E. Tennant, 45-year-old radiologist, and his attractive wife, June, 47, have nine children, ranging in age from under 1 to 16. All nine are adopted. What makes the Tennant family unique is that when they came to the Tennants, six of the youngsters had physical defects like cleft palates, club feet and emphysema. All of the defects have been cured by surgery. The other three children came from homes where the parents were unable to keep them.

The expense of a family of nine children is "fantastic, but so are the rewards," Tennant says, adding that it's unrealistic to have this many children unless you have a good income.

Mrs. Tennant said her family can consume a 15-pound roast or five pounds of hamburger in one meal and that each month the milkman delivers 45 gallons of milk.

"We wouldn't do as well as we do if we didn't get all our meat from the cattle, pigs and chickens on a ranch which we have leased out," her husband explained.

The first to be adopted was Becky, 13, whom Tennant saw as an infant in a local hospital. Becky is now vice president of her freshman class at Sterling High.

The latest addition to the family is 2-year-old Juan. He was adopted as a playmate for the Tennant's youngest child, Amy. The Tennants saw his photo in the Denver Post's "Alone in the World" feature on children needing adoptive homes.

"Juan filled a gap," Tennant said. "We won't take any more, because we're getting too old for very young children."

David, the oldest, is on the high school wrestling team, and his pen and ink sketches have won prizes at the Colorado State Fair. Jimmy lost three-fourths of one lung to emphysema as a baby, but now he's a healthy 13-year-old, and a competent basketball player.

The other Tennant children are Barbie, 6; Mark, 7; Kristin, 11, and Sonja, 8.

The Tennants met when he was a private in World War II and she was an Army nurse.

The doctor father, a handsome man with a full mustache and dark, wavy hair, said the nine children are "a wonderfully cohesive unit. If you discipline one, they feel it all through the ranks."

War In Laos Expected Be Low-Key

By RICHARD PYLE
Associated Press Writer
VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)
The armored car carrying four Pathet Lao soldiers pulled to the curb. Two of its occupants, wearing uniforms and squad caps, climbed out and disappeared into a store.

The sight created only the mildest stir among Laotians loyal to the government. The most interested witnesses were two Americans in a bar across the street.

"Look at that," said one. "Can you imagine the Viet Cong doing something like that?"

The answer, of course, was no. The Pathet Lao, although they are native rebels fighting their own government under a Communist flag, are not the Viet Cong. And Vientiane is not Saigon—at least not yet.

Comparisons however, are inevitable. Today's Vientiane is much like the Saigon of a decade ago: a languid, tropical city of trees and temples. But Vientiane has never been crushed under a massive foreign military presence bringing a rampant wartime economy.

No plastique charges explode in theaters and market places, no artillery rattles the windows and no rockets crash into thickly populated neighborhoods in the night. The war is creating its own army of refugees but no tin and wood shantytowns are springing up on the outskirts.

The question of whether Laos will ever be another Vietnam lies at the center of everything that goes on here but most westerners here—Americans included—apparently regard as remote the chances for such a repeat of history. These people believe the war in Laos likely will continue indefinitely at something approximating present levels.

"Another Vietnam? It isn't going to happen on our watch. Too many things are working against it," says a retired military man, one of the Americans working under U.S. aid, the all-embracing acronym for American activity here.

A ranking U.S. official says nobody involved in the Laotian affair really wants it to change drastically: not the Royal Laotian government, not the Pathet Lao, and not the Americans or the North Vietnamese who aid those two warring factions.

"The hope of Americans here is for de-escalation, not escalation," this official said. "And as far as the Communists are concerned, well, the fact that they haven't marched all the way to the Mekong possibly means that they don't really want to."

NameSchool Honors List

BELVOIR—Four students were named to the Honor Roll at Belvoir-Falkland High School and 15 students qualified for the Principal's List for the first semester, according to Principal Alston Burke.

The Worry Clinic They Say 'No' —Mean 'Yes'

Hilda's request will challenge your knowledge of feminine psychology! Do you readers really think those church women were telling the truth? Or was their "No Sex" demand merely a sop to salve their conscience? Jane Steadman's situation has been repeated so many times that I am always dubious!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE M-519: Hilda P., aged 34, is president of a women's church group. "Dr. Crane," she telephoned, "we are having our annual meeting next month. "And we wonder if you could give us the banquet address?"

"But the women were unanimous in wanting a 'No Sex' talk."

Although in this column I often discuss sex problems frankly with a view to stopping divorce, I have taught Sunday School classes regularly for 40 years. Obviously, I didn't make them "Sex Talks." So I adapt my discussion to the type of meeting involved.

Yet it amuses me when I get such a request as Hilda's. For women's "No" often means "Yes."

And I'm not joking! A couple of years ago I was invited to address the real estate luncheon at Indianapolis. Jane Steadman was my vivacious hostess and invited me to talk on the topic I formerly taught at the university, namely, "Modern Sales Psychology."

But when a number of women members heard that I was being scheduled for their big meeting, they first exclaimed:

"Not that awful Dr. Crane! Why did you invite him?"

That was the initial reaction that Jane Steadman received. But as soon as they learned my topic, then these women began to protest and demanded of Jane, "Why didn't you ask Dr. Crane to talk about sex?"

When Jane and the president met me at the meeting place at 11 A.M., they sat down with me and asked if it might be possible to divide my 30-minute luncheon address.

"Dr. Crane," they began, "since the women members demand that you talk about sex, would it be possible for you to sandwich maybe 15 minutes on that topic into your speech?"

Well, a luncheon address must stop promptly at 1:30, to let the members get back to their offices, stores and factories.

And I have addressed hundreds of luncheon club meetings of Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions, etc., so I know the vital importance of that 1:30 deadline.

So I felt I couldn't do justice to my announced topic of "Sales Psychology" and also delve into "Marriage Problems" in the same 30 minutes.

As a result, I stuck to "Sales Psychology" and gave the snappy address with the advertising test that I use before national conventions.

And the entire real estate crowd seemed very delighted. But the women asked Jane Steadman next time to be sure that I talked about "Sex and Marriage" problems!

At state meetings of dental surgeons, physicians and clerical conventions, I have often been scheduled for talks on "Professional Psychology."

"But, Dr. Crane," the doctors will ask, "our wives and nurses or Dental Assistants will be present and they will certainly expect you to talk about sex, so could you insert maybe 20 minutes thereon?"

So do you readers really think Hilda's church women meant that "No Sex" or was that just a quick sop to salve their conscience?

Joins Pitt Office Serving Veterans

A Halifax County native, Oscar L. Moore, has joined the Greenville office of the North Carolina Department of Veterans Affairs as a district officer.

Moore comes to Greenville after serving three and a half years in the Morganton district office. He joins Pitt County district officer Walter L. Tucker in working with veterans of District 15 which includes Northampton, Martin, Tyrell, Washington, Bearfort, Hyde, Halifax and Pitt Counties.

A Marine veteran of World War II and the Korean War, Moore was recently awarded a meritorious citation for outstanding service to veterans by the American Legion Post 21 of Morganton. In addition, he was honored by the Morganton chapter of Disabled American Veterans for service "above and beyond the requirements of his job" in assistance to veterans. Moore, who graduated from Scotland Neck High School and attended East Carolina University, is a member of the American Legion, Disabled American Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and is a past member of the Morganton Chamber of Commerce.

Married to the former Shirley

Ann Harris of Enfield and the parent of a son, Christopher, Moore assumed his duties here on Feb. 2.

"I look forward to working with the veterans of District 15," Moore commented, and I am especially pleased to join Walter Tucker and his fine staff."

The Moore's will make their home on Belvedere Drive.

Biographer Says Lincoln Reluctant Photo Subject

EDITOR'S NOTE: Stefan Lórant, a noted authority on Abraham Lincoln, is the author of a forthcoming book, "Lincoln: A Picture Story of His Life." The book is the culmination of 30 years' digging into Lincoln's pictorial history. It contains a hitherto unpublished photo of the 16th president, and a mocking piece of doggerel that had been lost for 104 years after Lincoln wrote it.

Lórant, a native of Budapest, came to the United States in 1940. He had already earned a reputation as "the father of the modern picture magazine." The following article was written for The Associated Press.

By STEFAN LORANT

For my book on Abraham Lincoln I chose 103 different photographs of the Civil War president. Therefore, one might assume that Lincoln enjoyed having his picture taken. Nothing could be farther from the fact.

Lincoln disliked facing a camera. He went to the photographer's studio only because, after his nomination, pictures had to be sent across the country to show the electorate that the Republican presidential nominee was not "half alligator and half horse" as his opponents charged.

In 1880 newspapers could not print pictures, for the process had not been invented yet. So thousands of photographs had to be distributed. Both Alexander Hesler in Chicago and Mathew B. Brady in New York photographed Lincoln in a number of poses.

But after his election Lincoln began to grow a beard, and new pictures were necessary.

The story goes that Lincoln grew a beard at the suggestion of 12-year-old Grace Bedell. It is a charming story, but one wonders if it is true. Lincoln had an uncanny instinct for what is now called public relations. He wanted to present himself as a new kind of president.

All 15 presidents before him had been clean-shaven. Lincoln grew a beard. And to enhance his 6-foot-4-inch height, he put on a stovepipe hat which made him look like a giant.

The day after he arrived in Washington on Feb. 24, 1861, he went to Brady's Photographic Parlor on the corner of Pennsylvania Avenue and Seventh Street. He seated himself before the camera, said nothing, and appeared indifferent to what was going on around him.

Every time Lincoln faced a photographer his expression froze into a mask; all light, all life vanished from his face. His son Robert could not understand why his father lapsed into a melancholy mood before the camera; why he always seemed so sad, so gloomy.

Among the 103 photographs I chose there is not a single one depicting Lincoln with a smile. Yet, when he told a story he laughed, and he smiled often.

His secretary John G. Nicolay noted: "Graphic art was powerless before a face that moved through a thousand delicate gradations of line and contour, light and shade, sparkle of eye and curve of the lip, in the long gamut of expression from grave to gay, and back again from the rollicking jollity of laughter to that serious, faraway look that with prophetic intuitions beheld the awful panorama of war, and heard the cry of oppression and suffering. There are many pictures of Lincoln; there is no portrait of him."

So why did he look so melancholy as soon as he faced a photographer? Was it self-consciousness? Was it because he knew that people considered

Township, Pitt County, North Carolina, and more particularly described as follows:

BEING all of Lot No. 1 and 1A as shown on a map of the Caroline White Heirs Property made from a survey by F. McCoy Trip in April of 1948, said map having been recorded in Map Book 4, page 104, Pitt County Registry; and being the identical property conveyed to Minnie Moore Best by deed dated May 15, 1948, recorded in Book 0-25, page 105, Pitt County Registry; saving and excepting, however, from said description that lot previously conveyed by Minnie Moore Best to Charlie James in a deed dated June 1965 and recorded in Book M-35, page 36, Pitt County Registry. Also saving and excepting from said description that lot previously conveyed by David M. Connor, Commissioner to John Horne in a deed dated November 21, 1968 and recorded in Book D-38, page 79, Pitt County Registry. See also Deed of Correction by David M. Connor, Commissioner, to John Horne dated January 28, 1969, recorded in Book G-38, page 313, Pitt County Registry.

Many ECU Intern Teachers Conducting Classes In Pitt

Eighty-five public schools in North Carolina host 246 practice teachers from East Carolina University this quarter.

The intern teachers came from 59 counties and 11 other states:

According to Dr. Thomas A. Chambliss, director of student teaching, each intern will conduct regular classes under the direction of a supervisor and will receive a grade for his performance.

Included are:

him ugly?

People called him everything from "original gorilla" to "bow-legged, knock-kneed, pigeon-toed, slab-sided shapeless skeleton." A stationer in New York would not hang up Lincoln's photograph because "he would not have such an ugly-looking fellow's picture in the store."

When he posed before a camera he looked dejected. One observer noted that "melancholy dripped from him." Yet when he talked or told a story his face grew animated, and "the dull, listless features dropped like a mask. The melancholy shadow disappeared in a twinkling."

Horace White of the Chicago Tribune wrote of Lincoln: "The eye began to sparkle, the whole countenance was wreathed in animation so that a stranger would have said, 'Why this man, so angular and somber a moment ago, is really handsome.'"

Tastes change. What is considered ugly in one century might be thought beautiful in the next. Lincoln's craggy features were homely to his contemporaries. Today, with filmstars such as Gregory Peck and Gary Cooper popularizing the skinny, bony type; with Jean-Paul Belmondo and Dustin Hoffman popularizing the "home-ly" hero, many think of Lincoln as good looking.

Some saw him differently even in his lifetime. The poet Walt Whitman said Lincoln had "a face like a Hoosier Michaelangelo, so awful ugly it becomes beautiful." And Lincoln's one-time law partner Billy Herndon, said, "Sometimes it appeared to me that Lincoln's face was just fresh from the presence of its Creator."

Wildcats Got Mad And Pulled Off Big Upset

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
"We had taken so much criticism that I guess we were a little mad."

That's what Brian Adrian said Wednesday night after sinking 26 points and leading his Davidson basketball team to a startling upset victory over second-ranked South Carolina.

And mad he was. Adrian scored 22 of his points in the second half, proving, he said later, "that we were alive."

The 13-ranked invaders from the Southern Conference were alive enough to contain South Carolina's big rebounders all evening and win control of the boards. They shattered South Carolina's 17-game winning streak.

Davidson Coach Terry Holland said "it was tremendous defense by our club" that was a "key to the victory."

The Gamecocks' coach, Frank McGuire agreed. "Mike Maloy played a tremendous game and kept our big man, Tom Owens, away from the boards all night," he said.

South Carolina's standout guard, John Roche, sent 34 points through the nets, including a spotless 16-for-16 performance on the foul line. But he didn't get enough help from his teammates.

Owens, who is the Atlantic Coast Conference's top rebounder, scored only two points and snagged only five rebounds against tenacious defensive play by Maloy.

Elsewhere for Atlantic Coast Conference teams, Rick Katherman hit four free throws in the final 32 seconds to enable Duke to beat Wake Forest 67-65.

Duke had been down by as many as nine points in the first half. But with 3:05 remaining in the game, a jump shot by Ray Cuhlemeier tipped the score to the Blue Devils' side, 57-56.

Charlie Davis' seven-point scoring heat in the final two minutes put his Demon Deacons close until Katherman sank his charity tosses and sealed the win. Duke's 13th of the season.

It was another come-from-behind story as Virginia downed Maryland 71-69, the first ACC victory for the Cavaliers in 11 tries.

Maryland led through the first half, but midway in the second period Scott McCandlish tied the score 48-all. The lead floated several times between the two teams before Bill Gerry hit two straight shots to give the win to Virginia.

The ACC slate is clear tonight. But Friday's action includes a doubleheader at Charlotte matching North Carolina State against Georgia Tech and Clemson against North Carolina.

On Saturday the teams switch opponents for another doubleheader in Charlotte. Duke gets a crack at South Carolina in Columbia, and Wake Forest is at Virginia Tech.

NBA-ABA Are Talking

NEW YORK (AP)—Merger talks resumed today between the established National Basketball Association and its three-year-old rival, the American Basketball Association.

Three-man committees from each league were to start discussions over the problems involved in a possible merger.

Walter Kennedy, commissioner of the NBA, and Jack Delph, commissioner of the ABA, had met Tuesday and announced that the committees would meet at their earliest convenience.

The NBA committee is comprised of Ned Irish of the New York Knicks, Baltimore's Abe Pollin and Sam Schulman of Seattle. The ABA members are Roy Bee of the New York Nets, Richard Tinkham of Indiana and Joseph Geary of Dallas.

Preliminary merger discussions were held last August, but were broken off when the Oakland ABA franchise was moved to Washington, D. C.

"That factor could not fit into operation of a major league baseball club," said Cronin.

"We know it is going to be a hard day-to-day struggle financially for Seattle until its domed stadium complex is completed," he added. "But the rest of the league will try to help promotionally and materially — by that I mean financially, by that I mean financially. We will help all we can—but on the ball field we'll try to kick the hell out of them."

Daley, whose "for sale" notice brought Milwaukee and Dallas-Fort Worth into target range before the league's determination to keep the franchise in Seattle, said that I'll feel very delighted in retaining the ownership.

State Highway Moves Onward

State Highway moved within hailing distance of the Industrial Basketball League title last night with a 69-47 win over WNCT. They were helped out by a 53-51 overtime win by Fieldcrest Mills over Wachovia Bank.

In the other game, Union Carbide beat the Jaycees, 56-26. State Highway is now 10-1, while Fieldcrest and Wachovia are three games back at 7-4. Any combination of two State wins or Fieldcrest and Wachovia losses will clinch the crown. Union Carbide is in fourth place at 5-6, followed by WNCT, 4-7, and the Jaycees, 0-11.

In the opener, Union Carbide streaked away to a 23-7 lead in the first half. They continued their rout in the second half, outscoring the Jaycees, 33-19.

Chuck Grazebielski led Union Carbide with 20, while Larry Daniels had 19. Roser Collins led the Jaycees with 10.

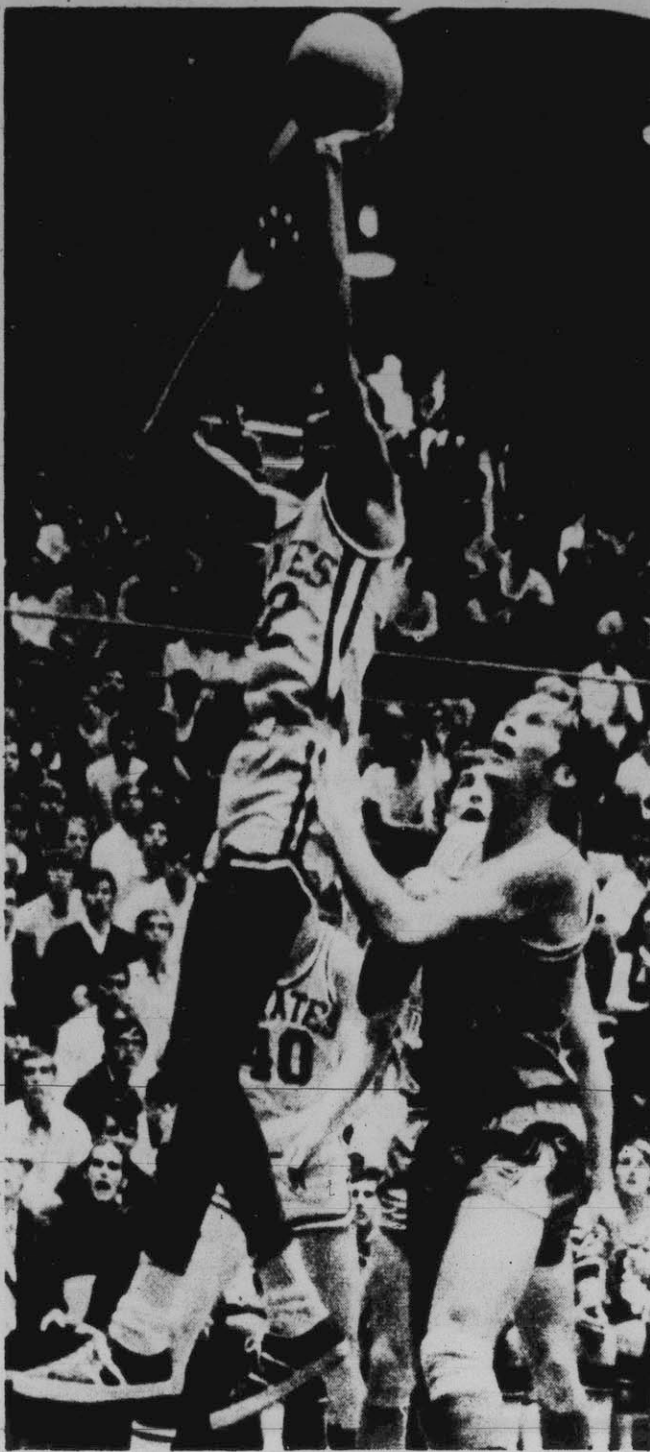

Fieldcrest took the lead in the first half of its game, outscoring Wachovia, 33-29. But in the second half, Wachovia came back to push through 21 while Fieldcrest got 17, tying it at 50-50 at the end of regulation play.

But Fieldcrest then got a field goal from Clarence Taft and a free throw from Billy Stokes in the overtime to take the win.

Stokes led Fieldcrest with 24, while Taft had 11. Bill Baggett had 15, Terry Sparrow had 13 and Walter Jones had 10 for Wachovia.

In the final game, WNCT threatened an upset over the leader, running out to a 34-28 lead at the half. But in the final half, WNCT ran out of gas, and State Highway came back to outpoint them, 41-13, and take the win.

Smith Worthington led the Highwaymen with 26, while Wiley Brown had 15 and Preston Mills had 13. Joe Jenkins and Jim Heatherly each had 12 and Ikie Arnold had 10 for WNCT.

The Bridesmaid

Jim Fairley, 6-7 sophomore forward for East Carolina, is becoming the Bridesmaid in the Southern Conference. Four times this year, he has been runner-up for Southern Player of the Week honors, including the last three weeks straight. Fairley, averaging 16.9 points, and 12.4 rebounds, is rated by many as the top sophomore in the conference. (Reflector Photo)

Leaders Win In City Loop

The three top teams in the City League all picked up victories in last night's basketball action. Coca-Cola beat Watson Electric, 80-50, the Jaycees downed Campus Corner, 67-48, and Book Exchange took ROTC, 86-53.

Book Exchange leads in the league with a 10-2 record, while Mitchell Jones each had 13 and Lindsay Hardee had 12. For Watson, Jim Woods had 19, Danny Hardee had 15 and Tommy Jamieson had 10.

The Jaycees moved out into a 10-point lead at the end of the first half, 28-18, and had no problem in getting their victory. They outscored Campus Corner, 39-30, in the second half for their win.

Winding up the evening, the Book Exchange powered out into a 49-29 lead at the end of the first half. The Book Exchange continued to roll in the second half, outscoring ROTC, 37-24.

'Bridesmaid' Fairley Exciting The Southern

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

Around East Carolina University basketball circles, Jim Fairley, the Bucs' 6-7 sophomore forward, is beginning to be known as the "Bridesmaid of the Southern Conference."

Fairley was named runner-up to the player of the week in the conference for the fourth time this year Tuesday. It was also the third straight week he has picked up the also-ran spot.

And folks are beginning to wonder just what Fairley has to do to prove that he deserves more than just a runner-up notation. In fact, some boosters are now putting Fairley forth as the top player in the Southern Conference for the season.

His own coach, Tom Quinn, is not the least of these boosters. "Game by game, Jim has developed into a complete player," he said. "He has rebounded and scored with the best on our schedule and he makes great strides with each game toward becoming a top defensive player."

Quinn feels there is no doubt that the Pirate rebound leader is soon to be one of the top stars in the Southern Conference. "Without any question, he is the best sophomore in the conference," Quinn added.

And only Davidson's Bryan Adrian could possibly contest that statement, and observers feel that Fairley can do more things than Adrian at this point.

Fairley currently ranks 10th in the conference in scoring. He is the third leading scorer on the team with a 16.5 average. He leads the team in rebounding, and is third in the Southern with a 12.1 average per game. (These are the conference figures, through last Saturday. Since then, Fairley has raised his scoring average to 16.9 and his rebound mark to 12.4.)

He also ranks as one of the top field goal artists in the loop, with the sixth best overall percentage, .519 (again, the conference figures, through last Saturday).

ference figure, through Saturday, but 527 up-to-date).

Adrian, however, does not rebound or hit from the floor with Fairley. His scoring average is slightly better, 19.3. He also ranks fourth in free throw shooting, hitting 80.3 percent from the line.

Only four times this year has Fairley failed to get into the double figures category. The first time was in the Bucs second game when he scored nine points. Next was against Florida A&M in the Sunshine Classic, when he again got nine. He also produced nine against VMI in Lexington.

At Davidson, he was held scoreless for the only time in his varsity career. But, Quinn points out, he played less than 10 minutes, getting three quick fouls in the first half, and two more as the second started. "He picked up his first one during pre-game warm-ups," one fan suggested.

In rebounding, he has pulled down 10 or more rebounds in 15 of the 22 games the Bucs have played. And he has bagged 20 or more in two contests, and has tied the school's single game record of 24, set by Bill Ott.

And the rebounding takes on new meaning when it is pointed out that two other members of the Pirate team, Jim Modlin and Jim Gregory are both averaging better than 10 a game.

Possibly Fairley's best game was against seventh-ranked Jacksonville University. Fairley was paired up with 7-2, giant Artis Gilmore. But he moved by Gilmore for 24 points, and pulled down 15 rebounds. His opponent, a full seven inches taller than he, wound up with 27 points and 19 rebounds, but Fairley did manage to block a couple of his shots.

And Fairley is the darling of the crowds at East Carolina, too. In the Bucs' last game, against Old Dominion, Fairley picked up his fourth foul early in the second half after scoring 18 points. But in the closing minutes of the game, the crowd began to chant, "We Want Fairley," and they got him. In the closing three minutes of the game, Fairley canned eight more points, to finish with 26, and 18 rebounds.

Fairley is not all of the East Carolina team that is bringing "Pirate Power" signs out all over town. The Bucs still are a team. But two members of the starting five, Modlin and Tom Miller, are seniors. They will be gone after this year. Gregory will return as a senior, while Fairley and Julius Prince will be back as juniors.

And if someone asks Tom Quinn how he expects his Pirates to do next year, the play of this rising star may well prompt him to say, "Fairley well."

Sugg Defeats Bethel Union

BETHEL — H. B. Sugg High School rolled to a 96-81 victory over Bethel Union High School last night.

Sugg pushed out into a 19-15 lead in the first period of play, and never lost the lead after that. The Lions pumped in 21 points in the second period, while the Bulldogs could account for only 17. That gave Sugg a 40-32 lead at intermission.

Both teams came back hot in the third period, but Sugg again held the upper hand. They outscored Bethel 29-22, and built the margin to 69-54 as the final period opened. Both teams pushed through 27 points in the final frame, to hold the 15-point spread.

Ronald Edmonds led Sugg with 21 points, Ivan Cradle had 19, while Rudolph Gay and Roderick Forbes each had 17, and Linwood Eason had 10. For Bethel, T. Brown had 28, Maye had 19, F. Brown had 17 and Ebron had 10.

Sugg also captured the junior varsity game, 64-52.

Celtics Defeat New York In Overtime Battle For Revenge

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
"If a guy punches you in the nose, you want to punch him back."

With that little bit of simple reasoning, Coach Tom Heinsohn sent his struggling Boston Celtics against the short-handed, but still powerful New York Knicks Wednesday night, and the Celtics kayoed the Knicks 125-118 in overtime in a National Basketball Association game.

It was just two weeks ago that the Celtics came into Madison Square Garden and were run off the court by 33 points, prompting a closed-door Boston meeting and subsequently numerous fines.

Although the players shrugged off the thought of revenge, Heinsohn felt it had something to do with the Celtics' fourth victory in five games and New York's second loss in 13.

"Certainly they remembered that game," he said after they overcame Willis Reed's 40 points for the Knicks as John Havlicek scored 30 and Jo Jo White 26 for Boston.

In other games, Milwaukee downed Phoenix 127-120, Cincinnati stopped Detroit 124-113, Atlanta rolled over San Diego 155-131, Los Angeles tripped San Francisco 125-115 and Seattle shaded Baltimore 119-117.

In the American Basketball Association, Indiana outlasted Washington 142-132 and Miami halted Los Angeles 127-119.

With Walt Frazier ill and Bill Bradley out with a sprained ankle for New York, the Celtics took advantage by becoming the first team to beat the Knicks three times this season.

They pulled ahead for good on baskets by Bailey Howell and Havlicek at the start of the overtime, and White and Howell each scored four more and Havlicek two.

Milwaukee held a 12-point lead early in the final period before Connie Hawkins brought Phoenix within 119-116. But Jon McGlocklin and Greg Smith split four free throws for the Bucks to end the threat.

Lew Alcindor was high for the Bucks with 32, same as Hawkins.

Cincinnati led by only one point entering the final period, but Connie Dierking and Tom Van Arsdale turned the game into an easy victory. Dierking hit 21 of his 27 points in the second half and Van Arsdale finished with 32. Jimmy Walker had 27 for Detroit.

Atlanta broke loose for a 54-point third quarter, an NBA record, in crushing San Diego. The previous high for one quarter was the 52 scored by Boston against Minneapolis on Feb. 27, 1959.

Walt Hazzard, the game's high scorer with 38 points, got 24 in the explosive period. Elvin Hayes led San Diego with 32.

Elgin Baylor and Jerry West each poured in 43 points to pace Los Angeles over San Francisco as the Lakers came from behind in the final period. Jerry Lucas was high for the Warriors with 26.

Bob Boozer's free throw in the last two seconds enabled Seattle to edge Baltimore. Boozer made the first foul shot and missed the second, allowing the Bullets to call time with one second left.

The inbounds pass by Kevin Loughery of Baltimore caromed off the backboard to the Sonics' Barry Clemens.

Boozer topped Seattle with 23 points and Loughery was high for the Bullets with 25.

Citadel Got Boost With Win, But Tough Road Looms Ahead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Last Saturday night's 68-67 Southern Conference basketball victory by The Citadel over Furman "just had to give us a big boost," says coach Dick Campbell—but that doesn't mean he's especially enthralled about the Bulldogs, next two encounters.

Tonight, the Bulldogs go to William and Mary for a battle with the Indians in which the winner will take over fourth place in the conference standings, where both are now 3-5.

Saturday night, The Citadel moves to East Carolina, tied at 6-2 with George Washington for second place.

"This is our toughest trip of the season," says Campbell. "We lost to William and Mary at our place and now we have to play them at Blow Gym. Then to make matters worse, we have to play East Carolina, a team that compares favorably with Davidson."

Aside from the prospect of the winner taking over fourth place, there is also the possibility the loser could tumble into the battle for the basement. Only Davidson, 8-0 in league play, and East Carolina and George Washington appear entirely safe in that respect.

Tonight's only other game for league teams has George Washington, now 10-11 over-all, playing host to American University.

The conference got a big shot in the arm Wednesday night when Davidson upset South Carolina's second-ranked Gamecocks 68-62 and Furman's Paladins knocked off West Virginia 87-80.

No Humor For Frazier Now

By EDSCHUYLER JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Fighting for the undisputed heavyweight championship is serious business, and that's how Joe Frazier is treating his preparation for his fight against Jimmy Ellis — dead-serious.

Humor, even his own, does not bring a smile to the face of Frazier as he trains for the scheduled 15-round fight Monday night at Madison Square Garden.

One of Frazier's handlers has a mechanical device which transmits the sound of laughter and is placed in a cloth bag which is lettered "A Bag of Laughs."

It brings smiles and laughs from those congregated in Frazier's dressing room. Not from Joe Frazier.

Frazier, champion of six states including New York, knows the dangers of fighting and realizes Ellis, the World Boxing Association King, probably will be the most dangerous opponent he has ever faced. He intends to be as ready as possible.

Frazier is in shape and he is confident.

"I don't think Ellis can move away from me as fast as I can move in on him."

Ellis is a boxer while Frazier is a boring-in puncher, and Yank Burham, Frazier's manager, thinks Ellis won't be able to stay from his man.

"A lot of guys have tried to box him," said Durham "but they haven't been successful."

Durham also scoffs at critics of Frazier's boxing ability.

"Joe can box," he said. "Have you ever seen Joe box? He can box. But it's useless to try and knock him down," Durham said.

"His knees have been buckled. He's been slubish, he's been hurt. But he recuperates fast."

Frazier confined his workout Wednesday to three rounds of shadow boxing, work on the light bag and rope skipping, while Ellis sparred two rounds each with Stanford Harris and Eddie "Beau Jack" Williams.

The two fighters also were examined and pronounced fit by Dr. Harry Kleiman of the New York State Athletic Commission.

Trevino Out To Defend Title

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press
Golf Writer

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Lee Trevine set out today in defense of his Tucson Open golf crown, hungry to win again and dreading only Sunday.

"Man, if I could get by those Sunday's I'd be in good shape," the free-wheeling Trevine said.

He hasn't won since taking this title a year ago, but has played well this year — except on Sundays.

His scores in final rounds this year have been 74, 75, 77, 73, and 75.

"It's cost a ton of money," he said.

Trevine, a Mexican-American from the Texas border country, caught the nation's fancy when he scored his first victory in the National Open in 1968.

He stayed in the limelight with a quick wit and bubbling personality and continued good play. He followed his open triumph with victories in the Hawaii Open, then in Tucson a year ago.

But he hasn't won since and recently has been plagued with a variety of problems, including a suit against his former business agent Bucky Woy, and a multimillion dollar countersuit. And he ran into another problem.

"This guy from the insurance company came up to me on the practice tee," he said, "and man, but I got some kind of hot." "I hit Richard Crawford's caddy with a ball on the driving range at Westchester. Hit him in the collar bone. They took X-rays and said it was cracked."

"Soon as I hit him, I told him, 'Look, I'm insured. You get in touch with the insurance company.' I gave him the name of the company and the number of the policy and everything."

"And now this guy comes up and they still haven't settled with him. Boy, I got hot. I don't know what's going to happen now."

"Trevine was one of the pre-tourney favorites along with Billy Casper and Gene Littler, and said he liked his chances.

Scorekeeper Gets Workout

By The Associated Press

If Indiana and Washington had played the first 47 minutes the way they did the last 56 seconds, it would have taken a computer to keep score.

Each team managed to pack in 12 points—a total of 24—in those final 56 seconds Wednesday night as they gave the scorekeeper quite a workout in Indiana's 142-132 victory over the Caps in the American Basketball Association.

In the only other game, Miami beat Los Angeles 127-119.

In the National Basketball Association, Boston unended the New York Knicks 125-118 in overtime, Milwaukee tripped Phoenix 127-120, Cincinnati defeated Detroit 124-113, Atlanta crushed San Diego 155-131, Los Angeles tripped San Francisco 125-115 and Seattle nipped Baltimore 119-117.

Indiana held a 94-93 lead entering the final quarter and then outscored the Caps 48-39-87 total points in the final period.

Mike Barrett had 36 points and Rick Barry 34 for the Caps, while Roger Brown led the Pacers with 32 and Bob Netolicky added 31.

Larry Cannon's tip with 55 seconds left put Miami ahead to stay as the Floridians broke an eight-game losing streak. Don Freeman led the Floridians with 36 points, Simmie Hill had 28 and Cannon 23. George Stone had 26 for the Stars.

Old Dominion Climbs In Poll

By The Associated Press

Unbeaten Stephen F. Austin strengthened its grip on the top spot in college division basketball last week with a pair of runaway victories.

The Lumberjacks, who brought their season to 20-0, through games of last Saturday, with a 93-57 triumph over East Texas State and a 125-86 romp over Sul Ross, remained No. 1 in the nation among the small colleges by a wide margin in today's weekly Associated Press Poll.

They received eight of the 11 first place votes cast by the national panel of sports writers and sportscasters and led runner-up Ashland 195-147 in total points.

Ashland, 18-1 after a pair of victories last week moved up from the No. 3 spot, changing positions with Youngstown, also 18-1 following a 67-52 loss to Central State of Ohio.

Following the top three were Howard Payne, 21-2; Maryland State, 15-0; Cheyney State, 17-1; St. Mary's Tex., 14-3; Central Washington, 18-1; Southwestern Louisiana, 12-6; and Puget Sound, 16-3.

Howard Payne was fifth in last week's poll, Maryland State eighth, Cheney, sixth, St. Mary's fourth, Central ninth, Southwest Louisiana 13th and Puget Sound 11th. Maryland State and Puget Sound received one first place vote apiece, as did No. 14 Augusta, Ga., 19-1, and unranked a week ago.

South Dakota State, No. 11; Kentucky State, No. 18, and

Jackson State, No. 20, also moved up from the unranked list while Gannon, Fairmont State, Stetson and Southwest Missouri dropped out of the Top Twenty after suffering setbacks during last week's play.

The Top Twenty teams, with first place votes in parentheses and total points. Points awarded on basis of 20-18-16-14-12-10—:

1. Stephen F. Austin 8 195
2. Ashland 147
3. Youngstown 140
4. Howard Payne 120

Maravich Wants Tourney Invite

NEW YORK (AP)—If Pete Maravich fulfills his dream of playing in the National Invitation Tournament, it could enable him to become college basketball's all-time high scorer.

The 6-foot-5 senior from Louisiana State erased Oscar Robertson's major college career record of 2,973 points almost two weeks ago and has since passed four of the six small college players who were ahead of him.

Maravich is a cinch to pass the 3,294 points compiled by Joe Miller of Alderson-Broadbent, but with only eight regular season games left, the all-time leader, Grambling's Bob Hopkins at 3,759, seems out of reach... unless LSU makes it to the NIT.

If the Tigers play four tourney games, Maravich would need a 43.0 average to top Hopkins. If it's just two, he would need 51.6.

Maravich isn't the only potential record-breaker on the college courts this season. The only marks in the 11 individual and team categories that seem safe, according to National Collegiate Sports Services, are individual free throw percentage, team scoring defense and team rebounds.

Oregon State's 7-foot Vic Bartelone, the field goal accuracy leader at .687, needs a .630 mark assuming he continues to shoot the same number per game to break Lew Alcindor's record of .667 in 1966-67.

Another 7-footer, Jacksonville's 7-2 Artis Gilmore, is averaging 25.2 rebounds a game, just a shade below the record of 25.6 set by Charlie Slack of Marshall in 1954-55.

Gilmore's team leads in three categories and is setting a record pace in scoring offense — 104.4 — and average scoring margin 31.2. The scoring record is 99.0 by Syracuse in 1965-66.

The Dolphins also lead in field goal percentage at .540.

Ohio State is shooting free throws at an .821 clip, compared to the record of .796 by Miami of Florida in 1964-65.

Tennessee's Jim England is the individual free throw leader with a .904 percentage.

Army continues to lead in team defense, yielding 52.1 points a game.

Israeli Jets Again Raid Targets Close To Cairo

By MICHAEL GROSS
Associated Press Writer
TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli jets blasted Egyptian military targets north and south of Cairo and a radar site 24 miles west of the Suez Canal in two raids today, the Israeli military command reported.

An Israeli spokesman said the planes first attacked equipment and ammunition stores at El Khanqa, 12 miles north of Cairo, and the radar site at Jebel Awed, on the Cairo-Suez railroad. Two hours later, the spokesman said, Israeli planes hit a military camp near Dahshur, 23 miles south of Cairo on the Nile, and military targets in the central sector of the canal.

All the Israeli planes returned safely, the spokesman said. Pilots reported accurate hits in both strikes.

It was the 10th Israeli air raid on targets around Cairo since Jan. 7. Both El Khanqa and Dahshur have been hit previously. The command in Tel Aviv also said a mobile Israeli army canteen was found abandoned along the southern sector of the canal Wednesday, and its two occupants apparently had been abducted by Egyptians. The Egyptians claimed earlier they had crossed the canal, wounded 20 Israeli soldiers and captured two in an ambush on an army patrol.

The Israeli spokesman said the Egyptian probably were referring to the canteen truck and denied there had been an attack on a patrol.

The Israeli army put a dusk-to-dawn curfew on the entire Gaza Strip which was seized from Egypt in the 1967 war and for 300 yards out to sea. No reason was given, but Gaza has

Barnard Slated To Wed Saturday

JOHANNESBURG, South African (AP) — Friends say heart transplant pioneer Dr. Christiaan Barnard and 19-year-old Barbara Zoellner will be married Saturday at the home of her wealthy parents.

The bride's mother imposed tight secrecy on plans for the ceremony because of a distaste for publicity, but insiders said the vows probably would be taken by a magistrate.

Dr. Barnard, 47, a member of the Dutch Reformed Church, was divorced from his first wife last July. Miss Zoellner is a Roman Catholic.

been the scene of numerous sabotage attacks on vehicles and rail lines.

In Amman, the Jordanian capital, tension eased following a meeting between King Hussein and Arab guerrilla leaders who had vowed to resist with force new security measures imposed by Hussein's government. The king assured the guerrillas that the new measures were not aimed at restricting their freedom of action. An official announcement quoted a commando representative as saying the conference was "a positive one."

Security forces patrolled Amman's streets today, and roadblocks at the city limits checked cars for arms. Scattered shooting broke out Wednesday night, and the Al Fatah guerrilla movement claimed in a broadcast from Cairo that several Jordanian soldiers had been wounded in a clash. But the gov-

Psychologist Is Toy-Designer

CHICAGO (AP) — Marvin Glass, who studied to be a psychologist wound up designing toys, says men should play with toys regularly to remain nimble and vital in body, mind and heart.

"What's more, they should play with a variety of toys as they did when they were boys, and not confine themselves to just one 'hobby' type of toy, such as model railroads or model gasoline airplanes," he said. "Men should remember how alert, quick and perceptive they were as children," he added.

ernment issued a special communication denying this.

The crisis resulted from government orders banning the carrying of arms in Amman and the storage of explosives. The guerrillas claimed this was an attempt to liquidate their movement as the prelude to a political settlement with Israel.

The guerrillas were given two weeks to comply with the orders. Armed guerrillas still strolled the streets of Amman, and camouflaged guerrilla cars drove by without license plates.

Syria and Iraq vowed to protect the guerrillas and their freedom of action.

A spokesman in Baghdad said Iraqi troops stationed in Jordan "will carry out their obligation in protecting the freedom of commando action." An official Syrian statement said Syria

"regards the protection of the Palestinian commando movement as one of its primary nationalist duties."

Egypt's semi-official newspaper Al Ahram expressed "concern and surprise" at the Jordanian action. It voiced the fear that this may signify a "grave development" in Jordan's attitude.

Jordanian Premier Bahjat el Talhouni was due in Cairo today for talks with Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Sad Epiaph
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The sign on a closed business here tells all.

It reads: "Business is what when you don't have enough of, you get out of. We didn't and we did."

Nasser also was meeting today with the Libyan leader, Col. Muammar Kadafi, and Sudan's Maj. Gen. Jaafar el Numairi to discuss economic, political and social cooperation among their nations.

Nasser and Kadafi met Wednesday, but no details were released on their discussion.

The Worry Clinic Constructive Ads Will Help

Note Mrs. Young's example of how advertising can tie-in with constructive youth organizations. Please salute our modern advertisers and salesmen for they are the real sparkplugs of our superb economic machinery. A nation soon lapses into stagnation without advertising! We lead the world because we are the Go-Getter sales nation!

By George W. Crane,
Ph. D., M.D.

CASE M-520: Mrs. Roger S. Young lives in Martinsburg, West Virginia.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "I have enjoyed your column for several years.

"And I was especially interested in your case about constructive advertising.

"Our Martinsburg JOURNAL also had a similar ad which I think you'll enjoy."

"And the firm sponsoring the ad has been doing this for a long time.

"The youngsters are also attracted to the clean environment and good fun they always have at this establishment."

Then Mrs. Young gave me a copy of the ad which she had cut out of her JOURNAL. Here it is:

SKATELAND'S REPORT CARD
NIGHT
FRIDAY, JUNE 13th
8 P.M. to 11 P.M.
Admission $1 Skate Rental 25 cents. Bring your report card . . . if you passed your grade you will receive a free pass plus discount passes for each A and B on the last six week period!

This advertisement shows how a good local firm can "play ball" with constructive youth organizations, such as the schools, churches, Boy Scouts, YMCA, etc.

Mrs. Young's reference to my previous column referred to the advertisement of a Danville, Illinois, eating place that offered a free soft drink for every church bulletin turned in.

Hundreds of such bulletins were received from about 40 different churches in the area!

Alas, some people have the wrong slant about advertising. Actually, advertising is the most effective agent for adult education, for most people quit the formal classroom forever by the age of 18 years.

Yet they live to be 70.

So how can you teach them constructive new ideas or place efficient tools or merchandise in their hands except by paid advertisements?

Advertising is simply a superb educational tool!

Like the surgeon's scalpel, it may sometimes be wrongly used, just as a drunken doctor might cut a vital artery or nerve.

But in such cases, we don't blame the scalpel!

For many years, I have thus urged state and county dental societies to run periodic advertisements to educate laymen about the many psychological values of dentures, straightening teen-agers, teeth, etc.

If such ads were signed by the state or county dental society, then they would be ethical, for no local dental surgeon would get special spotlighting.

Remember, Jesus used advertising strategy when he sent his 70 Disciples ahead of Him,

Many Dial For Problem-Solving

NEW YORK (AP) — In the first week of operation 2,743 persons dialed a new telephone counseling service meant to help anyone with a problem, whatever it is.

The largest number, 354, wanted help in finding an apartment, 12 threatened suicide and one man complained that someone had slipped LSD into his drink.

The service is centered at the Marble Collegiate church, where Dr. Norman Vincent Peale is pastor.

Youth's LSD Club Is Drugless

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—The teenage Lords of Soul and Distinction Social Club is popularly known by the initials

LSD. The club's goal is to help youth enjoy better social activities, drugs barred. Several hundred members turned out for the group's first anniversary dance at a swank hotel.

Four hearts was not the best contract for North and South inasmuch as the partnership has nine spades between them and only seven hearts. A spade game might have been uncovered if South had not been in so great a hurry. A jump to three hearts would have announced great strength and urged partner to carry on. North no doubt would have rebid his spades affording South an opportunity to raise the suit.

Against four hearts, West opened the queen of diamonds. The king was played from dummy and East covered with the ace. He continued the suit and South ruffed with the six of hearts. The top three trumps were cashed, North discarding his three small clubs. When West showed out on the third round, declarer decided to leave the ten of hearts outstanding while he developed the spade suit.

The ace of spades was cashed dropping East's queen and a small spade was led next. West put up the king and shifted to a club. South could not afford to play dummy's ace, for that would leave East in position to ruff the third round of spades and enable the defense to cash a club trick.

A small club was played from dummy and, when the finesse lost to East's king, the latter cashed the ten of hearts for the setting trick.

Declarer was in too great a hurry to work on the spades. He should have driven out East's heart control first, for the latter cannot launch an attack against dummy's clubs and South thereby has the time to develop the spades at his leisure.

After East is given the ten of hearts, he will presumably return a diamond and South, who has two trumps left, ruffs. The ace of spades is cashed and then West is put in with the king. Even if the latter holds off until the third round and shifts to a club, declarer is in full command. The ace of clubs is played from dummy and a good spade is cashed as South discards the queen of clubs. In all, he loses one spade, one heart, and one diamond.
