Jury Is Still Out On Trial Of Chicago 7

By F. RICHARD CICCONE
And EARL AYKROID

Associated Press Writers
CHICAGO (AP) — A U.S. District Court jury resumed deliberations today, the third day, on a verdict in the trial of seven men charged with riot conspiracy at the time of the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

The defendants already are in jail for contemptuous behavior during the long trial and one of their lawyers has been sentenced to four years in prison for contempt.

Judge Julius J. Hoffman of U.S. District Court finished fixing sentences on the defendants for contempt Sunday, then turned to lawyers William M. Kunstler, and Leonard I. Weinglass.

Kunstler, 50, of New York City was sentenced to 48 months and 13 days on 24 counts of contempt. Weinglass, 36, of Newark, N.J., was sentenced to 20 months and 5 days in prison on 14 counts.

The judge characterized as "reprehensible conduct," the actions of the lawyers for the seven men charged with conspiracy to incite rioting at the time of the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

He stayed execution of the lawyers' sentences to May 4 to allow them to perform legal duties for their clients, being held in the federal tier of Cook County Jail during the jury deliberations.

If convicted of conspiracy, each man faces a maximum sentence of 10 years in prison and a $20,000 fine. The judge denied motions to free the seven on bond pending appeal of the contempt charges.

Weinglass told newsmen Sunday night that he was optimistic because the jury had not reached a quick verdict.

"I was very pessimistic at the beginning of the trial but I think that now that the jury has been out some time there is a reasonable likelihood of an acquittal or a hung jury," he said.

The jury was locked up shortly after noon Saturday and the judge promptly began his contempt citations.

He sent four defendants to jail Saturday and sentenced the remaining three Sunday. Defendants' sentences ranged from 29 months and 16 days for David T. Dellinger, 54, down to 2 months and 18 days for Lee Weiner, 31. Dellinger was cited on 32 counts and Weiner on 7 counts.

Weiner's mother, Mrs. Ruth Weiner, was reported in fair condition today at a hospital where she was admitted Sunday after taking an overdose of drugs. She and Weiner's father were in the courtroom when their son was ordered to jail.

Jerry C. Rubin, 31, was sentenced to 25 months and 23 days on 15 counts; John R. Froines, 31, received 6 months and 15 days on 10 counts; Thomas E. Hayden, 30, sentenced to 14 months and 14 days on 11 counts; Rennard C. "Rennie" Davis, 29 received 25 months and 5 days on 23 counts and Abbott "Abbie" Hoffman, 31, was sentenced to 8 months on 23 counts.

Penalties for each count ranged from one day for such offenses as failing to rise when the judge entered the court, or Abbie Hoffman's blowing a kiss to the jury, to six months for direct violations of the judge's orders.

A legal team of seven lawyers announced Sunday it was preparing briefs to appeal the contempt sentences. The American Civil Liberties Union criticized the judge's action and said it would play a "very substantial role" in expected appeals.

An ACLU statement issued in New York said, in part, "We find particularly reprehensible the practice of accumulating numerous short sentences imposed after trial and long after the alleged acts or contempt have occurred, as a means of denying a jury trial and other guaranteed rights normally provided in criminal procedures."

More Wire Said Stolen

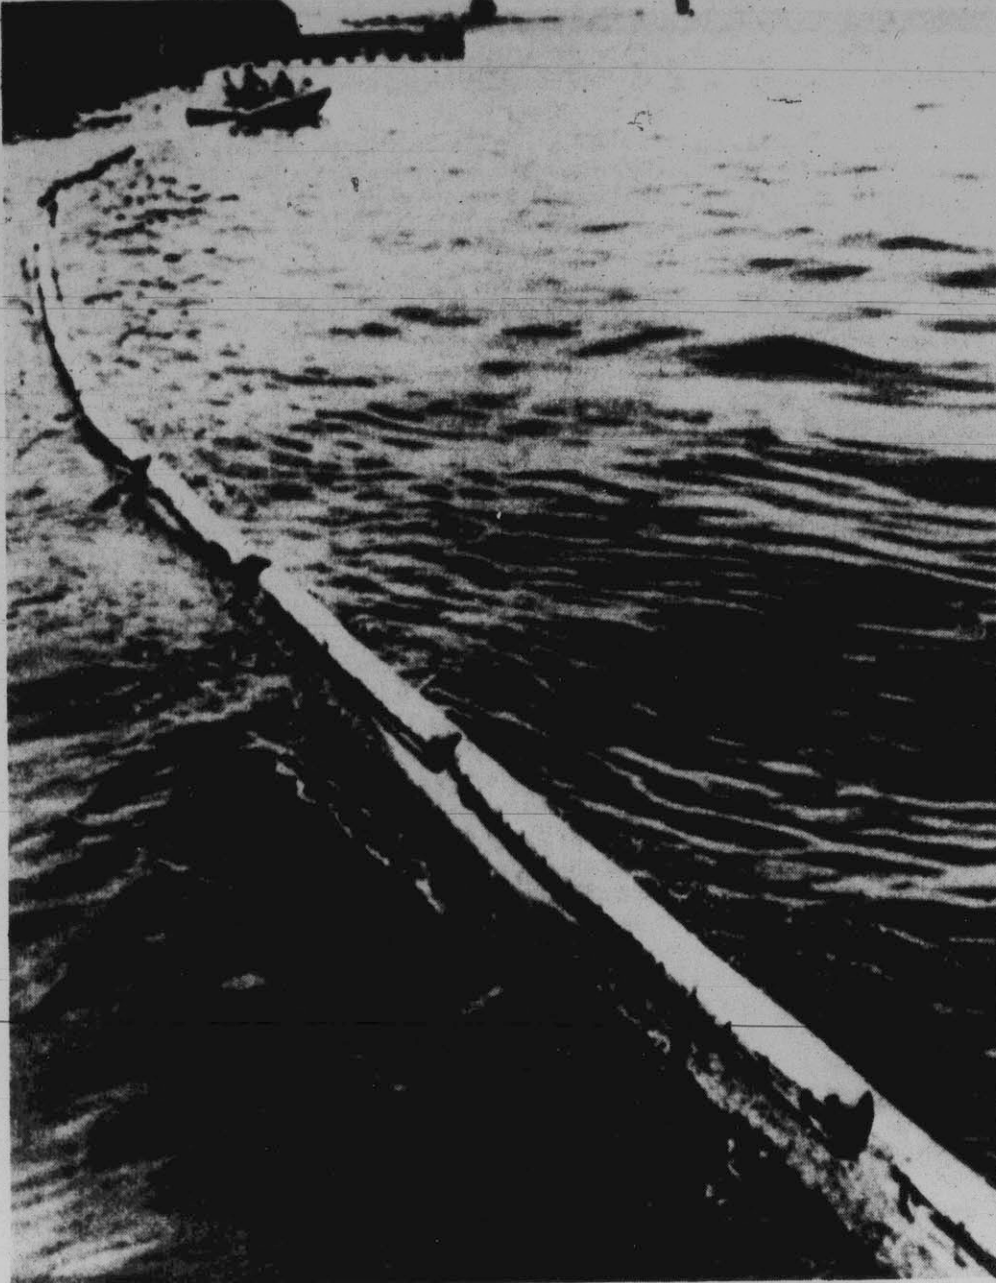

Pitt County sheriff officials and Ayden Police are investigating a theft of nearly 1500 pounds of copper wire from the Ayden Light Plant on Friday.

Deputy sheriff Ivan Harris said the wire, stored in 200 pound rolls, was taken early Friday after thieves cut a hole in a fence surrounding the lot and gained entrance to the building.

Approximately 800 pounds of the wire was new, Harris said, and was rolled in several sizes. The remaining material was used wire that had been discontinued.

Pitt sheriff Ralph Tyson said that investigation is also continuing on the recent theft of approximately three miles of telephone wire in the Pitt-Beaufort County area.

OIL BOOM — The Coast Guard uses a 1,000-foot long boom, made of plastic foam strung together by ropes with plastic "teeth" extending into the water, to block oil heading out of

Pollution Experts Are Battling Big Oil Slick

By ERIC SHARP

Associated Press Writer
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Pollution experts fighting to keep a 100-square-mile oil slick from spreading have thrown in the towel in their uneven battle against wind and tide.

They now are concentrating on keeping the oil bottled up in Tampa Bay and away from tourist-packed Gulf Coast beaches.

"There's nothing we can do to stop the spread of the oil," Capt. Anthony Fugaro of the Coast Guard said Sunday. "It's just gotten too big for us to handle."

The oil was released when the Greek tanker Delian Apollon ran aground Friday.

Boat owners lined up to haul their oil-coated craft away as the slick poked into public and private marinas.

By Sunday night, oil was beginning to dot the waters of Boca Ciega Bay between the mainland and the hotel-spotted island of St. Petersburg Beach.

Swearing In Judge Today
RALEIGH (AP) — James M. Long was scheduled to be sworn in today as a Superior Court judge.

Long, a Roxboro attorney, was appointed by Gov. Bob Scott last week to fill a court vacancy left by the resignation of Charles M. Neaves of Elkin.

Associate Justice Susie Sharp of the State Supreme Court was scheduled to administer the oath to Long at a ceremony in the old Senate chamber in the State Capitol at 4 p.m.

Long, a graduate of the University of North Carolina, was judge of the Caswell County Recorder's Court when the governor tapped him for Superior Court service.

Neaves resigned last week before he had presided over a term of court. He gave personal factors as his reason for quitting.

The slick was concentrated originally in a mass about five miles in diameter, but now laps stickily at 20 miles of shoreline along the eastern side of the Pinellas Peninsula.

The blanket of viscous bunker-C fuel oil ranged in thickness from a coating like grease on top of soup to ugly blotches six inches thick.

The tanker at first was believed to have lost 5,000 gallons, but Fugaro said Sunday he believed more than 10,000 gallons burst into the bay through several holes in the tanker's hull.

The Delian Apollon, registered in Greece, is owned by J. C. Carris and Sons, Ltd., of London, England, and was chartered to Humble Oil Co.

Hundreds of Pinellas County residents turned out to help the local Audubon Society's frantic effort to save as many water birds as possible. Boy Scouts combed the waterline and plucked half-dead grebes, pelicans, ducks and other birds from the muck.

The exhausted birds were taken to Lake Maggiore, where a bird-washing assembly line was set up to clean the animals with salad oil and corn meal.

The Audubon Society estimated more than 1,000 birds died along a 10-mile stretch of shore ceremony in the East Room to present the 1969 national medals of science.

The chief executive spent Saturday night and most of Sunday at the Bahamian island of New York industrialist Robert H. Abplanalp.

While away from the capital, the chief executive completed work in his global review.

On Saturday, Nixon announced that toxins have joined bacteriological weapons on the list of military items the United States will ban from its arsenal.

A high White House official, declining to be quoted by name, said omission of toxins from a Nov. 25 order banning bacteriological weaponry "was a slip-up."

Research on toxins now will be confined to defensive preparations, such as the search for improved vaccines. All stockpiled toxic weapons will be destroyed. The same policy applies to bacteriological agents.

The source said that while the new move was not directly related to strategic arms limitation talks with the Soviet Union, "It is a testimony to the spirit with which we approach these negotiations."

More Than 400 Planes Strike Red Trails In East Laos

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — More than 400 American fighter-bombers attacked North Vietnamese troops, trucks and supply lines in eastern Laos Sunday in some of the heaviest air raids ever flown in Southeast Asia.

One propeller-driven A1E Skyraider was shot down over the Plain of Jars and the American pilot was presumed killed, sources in Vientiane said.

Sources in Saigon said the raids were a two-pronged aerial offensive against North Vietnamese forces. Some were in support of Laotian government forces on the Plain of Jars, which is under North Vietnamese attack. Other raids were against the Ho Chi Minh trail farther east to slow the movement of North Vietnamese troops and supplies into South Vietnam.

The sources said the planes came from two 7th Fleet carriers in the Tonkin Gulf and half a dozen bases in Thailand and South Vietnam. Most were F4 Phantom and F105 Thunderchief fighter-bombers, which carry 10,000 to 15,000 pounds of bombs.

The Strategic Air Command's B52 bombers, which carry four to six times that bomb load, also pounded North Vietnamese supply depots in eastern Laos. Several B52 missions were reported along the border.

Across the border in South Vietnam, allied forces battered a mixed North Vietnamese and Viet Cong battalion in sand dunes and rice paddies south of Da Nang, killing 182 of the enemy soldiers and capturing 16, military spokesmen claimed today. Field reports put government losses at 12 killed and 31

Spokesmen said a total of 280 enemy soldiers had been killed and 40 captured during the five-day operation. Thirty-one South Vietnamese were reported killed and 82 wounded.

"It was really hairy for a few minutes," said Sgt. Harry B. Moats, 19, of Decatur, Ala., an adviser to the South Vietnamese 1st Armored Brigade. "We were about 20 feet apart and throwing hand grenades at each other."

"While all this was going on, the armored personnel carriers blasted them with .50-caliber fire every time they came out of their spider holes. The rest of the day we just chased them across the sand dunes into the rice paddies and trapped them in the treelines."

The enemy dead included the battalion commander, his executive officer, a company commander and an assistant company commander. Among the prisoners were a second company commander and a political officer. Nearly 50 weapons were seized.

"We are certain we destroyed that battalion," said Col. Than

Last-Minute Rush In Morning

Mrs. Anna Garis says she feels the last minute lines of people buying State license plates will "resolve itself, by noon today."

"We have had a big line all morning," she commented, "but we are hopeful that by noon, and at least by time we close at 5:30 this afternoon, everyone will have taken care of getting their plates."

She noted that midnight is the final deadline for buying and displaying the 1970 red and white automobile license plates for North Carolina.

SAVED MORE LIVES?
WASHINGTON (AP) — "The pill has saved many more lives than it has cost," says Surgeon General Jesse Steinfeld.

Hoa Hiep, commander of the South Vietnamese 1st Armored Brigade.

Hiep said the sapper-commando battalion had planned to attack Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city, either before or during the Vietnamese lunar new year Feb. 6. He said the battalion instead pulled back because it was under strength.

Hiep said the battalion apparently was awaiting replacements when the 2,000-man South Vietnamese task force trapped it along the Ly Ly River. Sunday's battle was the biggest in the region this year.

The U.S. Command said two American helicopters were shot down Sunday in other parts of the country. One American was killed and three wounded.

Congress Ends 5-Day Holiday To Meet Issue

By JOE HALL

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress returned from a five-day holiday today to confront the politically explosive issue of public school desegregation—North and South.

The Senate votes begin Tuesday on Southern-sponsored amendments to a $85 billion education bill with some Northern senators on a political spot, and the White House position a study in ambiguity.

President Nixon is said by the White House to believe school desegregation should be applied equally throughout the nation.

That appeared to align the administration with the theory of an amendment proposed by Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., to require equal enforcement of federal regulations no matter what the reason for segregation in the schools.

While the White House endorsed the concept of equal school desegregation pressures, it did not publicly support specifically the Stennis amendment.

The amendment is designed to take in Northern schools where attendance reflects white or black housing patterns, as well as Southern schools which deliberately maintain racial separation.

One Northern liberal, Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., has already endorsed the amendment.

Actually, the Senate will vote first on another Stennis amendment, this one upholding freedom of choice school attendance, and barring the busing of pupils for the sake of integration unless the elected school board approves.

That amendment appears to have little chance.

Rep. William M. Colmer, D-Miss., chairman of the House Rules Committee, has asked Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Robert H. Finch to appear before that panel Tuesday to discuss desegregation.

Colmer seeks a report on federal policies toward busing, freedom of choice plans, and other issues involved in the school desegregation situation.

The Finch testimony was requested in connection with the coming House vote on appropriations for his agency and the Department of Labor, as part of a bill to supplant the measure vetoed by President Nixon.

A new version of that bill was expected to clear the House Appropriations Committee today, with its spending level reduced by about $500 million.

Nixon vetoed the original $19.7 billion version as inflationary because it exceeded his budget for health and education spending. The House upheld the veto.

The new appropriation measure is due before the House Wednesday.

Third Welcome Center Slated

BOONE, N. C. (AP) — North Carolina's third welcome center, to be near the Tennessee border on Interstate 40 west of Waynesville, is expected to be completed by August.

The state Board of Conservation and Development approved construction of the center during the closing session of a three-day meeting in Boone Saturday.

Bill Hensley, director of the Travel and Promotion Division of the C&D Department, said the center will be built of natural stone and wood at a cost of about $120,000.

Coalition's Meet Ends

CHICAGO (AP) — The New Democratic Coalition ended its long-delayed, first national convention Sunday with a march by 200 delegates a cold half mile through downtown Chicago to the federal courthouse in a protest against the riot conspiracy trial.

Those attending the NDC's first full-fledged meeting were agreed that they should remain within the Democratic party but resolved to pressure elected leaders on such issues as Vietnam, welfare and the antiballistic missile.

The march came as the jury deliberated conspiracy charges against seven men involved in protests during the 1968 Democratic National Convention. The NDC itself was formed by liberal Democrats dissatisfied with events of that convention.

The election of officers was cut short by the decision to march.

appropriated $240,000 for two centers, one near Waynesville and another on Interstate 85 south of Gastonia near the South Carolina line.

Hensley said he did not know when work on the center near Gastonia would get started.

The state already has two welcome centers, one on Interstate 85 in Warren County and another on Interstate 95 in Northampton County.

Hensley told the board that the state's long-range plan calls for nine centers.

On the motion of Pat Geer of Sanford, chairman of the Seashore Advisory Board, a committee was appointed to study the possibility of building centers on N.C. 158 in Currituck County and on U.S. 17 in Brunswick County.

The committee will submit its recommendation to the board at its April meeting in Winston-Salem.

In other action, the board approved a resolution calling for a study to determine whether the development of the Roanoke River from Williamston to Roanoke Rapids would be economically practical.

Tributes To Dowding Family

TUNBRIDGE WELLS, England (AP) — Tributes poured in today to the family of Air Chief Marshal Lord Dowding, the architect of victory in the Battle of Britain.

Lord Dowding, who trained and led the British pilots who drove the Luftwaffe from Britain's skies in 1940, died at his home here Sunday. He was 87.

Hired Guns Report Said Exaggerated

BENSON, N. C. (AP) — Mayor Howard Benton says published reports that the Benson Town Board has arranged for five hired guns to wage war on pigeons here were somewhat exaggerated.

The mayor said what the town board had actually done was to let it be known it was considering hiring someone to shoot the pigeons.

"I doubt very seriously there will be any shooting," Benton said today. "From the calls I have received, the reaction is not favorable to shooting." I think the board will have to try something else. I don't know what that will be."

Benton said Benson, which is 35 miles south of Raleigh, is plagued by several thousand pigeons.

"We're just covered with them," he said. "They're just flying everywhere, and roosting in the downtown area. They've created a problem on the sidewalks. They've been coming in holes in people's houses."

The town has received a number of suggestions for getting rid of its pigeons," the mayor said. "These include the usual things—mothballs, erecting cut-out pictures of owls, the electric shock treatment."

"It seems like these things don't work," he added.

"It seems the most obvious solution in the downtown area is to eliminate their roosting places," he added. "I believe we can eliminate some of their roosting places in the downtown area by making alterations in signs, taking some old signs down, closing openings in buildings and things like that."

"There's a good deal of sentiment in town to eliminate these pigeons by any means," Benton said. "And there's right many opposed to eliminating them, especially by shooting."

Another Death By Fire Marked Up By County

The fifth death by fire in Pitt County since December 16 occurred when Ned Wright Brown, Negro, about 60 years age, burned to death in his small frame home near Pleasant Plains Church south of Ayden.

The alarm came in Sunday at 1:14 p.m., according to County Fire Marshal Mike Worthington.

Ayden sent two trucks, but when they arrived the house was enveloped completely in flames.

Worthington stated "the fire department people did not know anyone was in the house, and discovered a body after the fire had been put out."

Pitt County Coroner E.W. Harvey Jr. said "the body was badly burned, but was identified by a sister and brother-in-law."

Early Saturday morning the Winterville Fire Department answered an alarm at Jones East Side Rest Home in Winterville.

"There was no damage," Worthington remarked. "In fact, the smoke detector had given off an alarm due to a vent pipe in the furnace room falling off, filling the furnace room with smoke which triggered the alarm." He added, "This is a example of automatic equipment doing a good job of alerting people."

At 12:40 p.m. Saturday, the Staton House and Pactolus Fire Departments responded to an alarm turned in for the Bullock Farm on Old Creek Road. A child had been burning trash in a barrel. The fire escaped, setting a packhouse, 80 by 25 feet on fire, Worthington reported. The packhouse was a total loss with a loss of about $3,000. Worthington noted that two adjoining buildings and the dwelling house were saved.

A grass fire at the Ayden Elementary School on Sunday was put out by the Ayden Fire Department without any damage to the school.

At 1:05 a.m. this morning, Worthington related that a call came in from Quinerly Cross Roads." The Griffler Fire Department reported to the scene, but no fire was found.

The Worry Clinic

Less Weight Saves A Heart

Charley's case should give new hope to millions of "waddling walruses" and other victims of obesity. Slenderize and you can add years to your lifespan. They'll be far more romantic, too! Wives, please remember that blubber reduces your seductive allure, which is why fat women seldom are raped!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
PH. D., M.D.

CASE M-523: Charley Crawford has served as the genial executive vice-president of the Charlotte Chamber of Commerce.

"Dr. Crane," Nina Hathaway informed me, "I am sure you never realize all the positive results that you generate in your column."

"So here is a clipping from the Charlotte NEWS.

"It shows the remarkable change in appearance of Charles Crawford after he used your dehydration diet."

Then I saw a clever news story by Emery Wister, staff writer for the NEWS.

In it he had run a picture of Charley "before" and "after" going on the diet which I occasionally mention in this column.

"I dropped from 182 to 153 pounds," Charley stated.

"And it was Dr. Crane's column in the Charlotte NEWS that showed me the way."

Charley had tried to use medical pills to lop off weight but they had made him so nervous his physician finally told him to quit taking them and try to diet on his own.

Charley was 5' 10" so he knew he was overweight at 182 and wisely decided to slenderize.

For obesity places a greater load on your faithful heart, which is why fat people, as well as smokers, shorten their lifespan very definitely.

For example, each 5 pounds of surplus fat forces your blood vessels to sprout 3 miles of extra "pipes."

And even a layman realizes that it requires far more pressure to maintain a flow of water in every additional 3 miles of city water mains.

Charley's heart thus was compelled to pump blood through almost 18 miles of extra blood vessels when he weighed 182.

And that extra demand on the heart causes your blood pressure beat faster.

Thus, blubber penalizes your heart in two ways, for it adds an extra beat or two each minute. And those 74 beats per minute may be against a systolic pressure of 135 instead of 125 millimeters of mercury blood pressure.

Now that Charley has lost his surplus weight, his heart is able to catch a couple of "Heart naps" every minute, day and night.

Please remember, too, that the ONLY rest your heart ever obtains is in those split-second rests between beats!

So the fewer beats per minute, the more rest periods or "cardiac vacations" your faithful motor obtains.

Your other muscles may rest and relax for 8 hours at night. Or you may slump down in a chair

Forge Uneasy Alliance For Anti-War Actions

By KEN HARTNETT
Associated Press Writer
CLEVELAND (AP) — The uneasy alliance that forged massive peace marches last November in Washington and San Francisco is joining again for a new wave of antiwar actions April 15.

The outlines for the concerted action emerged Sunday as the Student Mobilization Committee capped a raucous weekend conference by voting to make April 15 the highlight of its spring offensive.

The same day—the deadline for the filing of federal income tax returns—had already been chosen as an action day by both the New Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam and the Vietnam Moratorium Committee.

All three groups worked together in building the Nov. 15 demonstrations, which attracted hundreds of thousands of marchers in a demand for immediate withdrawal of U.S. forces from Vietnam.

The April 15th action, instead of being directed at one or two major cities, will be nationwide with the liberal-led Moratorium concentrating on taxpayer rallies "to focus on the issue of taxation and the disproportionate expenditures of the government on the war and the military in general."

The New Mobe is also seeking to link the war with inflation and taxes in a call for massive demonstrations on the 15th.

Both groups had observers at the conference which adopted a proposal by SMC National Secretary Carol Lipman for "massive student actions and strikes in the colleges and high schools across the country" April 15.

Miss Lipman's proposal, which carried over the strenuous opposition from an independent radical group, re-

Hearing On Class Film

LILLINGTON, N. C. (AP)—A veteran Harnett County teacher faces a hearing next month on a charge of showing "an obscene film" to his eighth grade class.

Albert Wilkerson, 49, of Fayetteville was served with a warrant Saturday that was sworn out against him by the father of one of the girls in the class. The teacher had shown a film about human reproduction to the Anderson Creek School class Jan. 15.

County school officials confirmed Sunday that Wilkerson had resigned from his teaching job Feb. 6.

Wilkerson, who has been teaching in public schools for 24 years, taught in a rural area about 10 miles from Lillington. Harnett School Superintendent R. A. Gray of Lillington said the incident arose when Wilkerson obtained a state Department of Public Instruction film on human reproduction from the county film library and showed it to his math class.

Gray said the film was designed to be shown to separated groups of 11th and 12th grade boys and girls.

Gray said the showing of the film caused considerable controversy among parents in the Anderson Creek area and Wilkerson's resignation followed a public meeting on the matter.

The warrant against the teacher was obtained by Hilton Stewart, whose 13-year-old daughter is in the class which viewed the film.

mained focused on the slogan, "Bring All the GI's Home Now."

It stopped short of attacks on what the unaligned radicals call U.S. imperialism, and made no special appeals to either the working class or the black community—elements the radicals say must be included if any broad-based peace movement is to be created.

The proposal also avoided an appeal for nonviolent civil disobedience—a tactic the New Mobe, itself a coalition of radicals, liberals and Communists, is considering for a March campaign against the draft.

The focus for the opposition came in a debate over the slogan, "Bring All the GI's Home Now."

"We are opposed to the slogan," said radical writer Clark Kissinger of Chicago. "This has to be a manifestation of a white blind spot. What we want is a slogan that identifies with the principal enemy in the world today—U.S. imperialism—and not a sob sister appeal or a pacifist appeal to bring American boys home so they won't get shot up in the jungles of Vietnam."

Kissinger and the independent radicals called instead for the slogan, "Get the U.S. out of Vietnam Now."

Three Hurt In Wrecks

Two traffic collisions here yesterday resulted in an estimated $3,800 property damage and injured three persons, according to Greenville police reports.

Heaviest damage resulted from a 12:40 a.m. collision on Elm Street, 40 feet North of the First Street intersection.

A car driven by David Angus Carter, 22, of Washington, collided with a parked car owned by Robert T. Boone of 107 North Elm St. causing an estimated $1,500 damage to the Carter vehicle and about $900 damage to the Boone car.

Carter was charged with operating under the influence.

Robert Bruce Burgess, 19, of Tarboro was charged with failing to stop for a stop signal following investigation of a 6:30 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Memorial Drive and U. S. 264.

Investigators reported the Burgess car and a vehicle driven by Robert Taylor Rice, 27, of Route 2, Aurora collided, causing an estimated $800 damage to the Rice car and $600 damage to the Burgess vehicle.

Two passengers in the Rice car and one passenger in the Burgess auto were reported injured in the mishap.

Draft Boards Now Headless

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — For the first time in over 28 years the Selective Service System operated today without a director—in other words, without Gen. Lewis B. Hershey.

Wrestling with an unfamiliar new lottery method and facing Senate review of the whole draft system, the administration has fallen back on the caretaking skills of the system's headquarters staff.

Hershey, draft director since 1941, was reassigned effective today as the President's Advisor on Manpower Mobilization.

And the White House has found it impossible, in the four months since his reassignment was announced, to replace the 76-year-old general.

Back on Oct. 10 when he disclosed the decision, White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler added, "We will announce in coming days a deputy director of the Selective Service System who will become director when Gen. Hershey assumes his new job."

Ass'n Sponsored Valentine Dance

The Greenville Youth Association for Retarded Children sponsored a Valentine dance for mentally and physically handicapped Friday night at the East Carolina Sheltered Workshop.

Approximately 50 people attended the dance. Refreshments were served during the evening.

Spokesmen for the Youth Association termed the dance a great success.

The next meeting at the Youth Association for Retarded Children will be held March 9. Persons interested in working with retarded young people are invited to attend the session. Location of the meeting will be announced at a later time.

If the Shoe Fits...

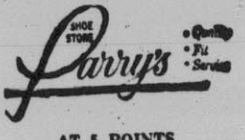

BY LARRY AVERETTE

When does a child need new shoes?

New shoes are in order when the present pair has been either outworn or outgrown. Don't wait for a child to tell you that he needs new shoes — he often won't complain even if his feet hurt. Instead, check frequently for signs of wear or of foot growth or improper fitting. Shoes need replacing:

1. If a child's feet show irritation such as redness, blisters, calluses.
2. If the shoes are badly worn, stretched out of shape.
3. If a child's toes touch the end of the shoe, or the toe caps press on his toes.
4. If the bottom of the sole first shows wear at top or outer edges. With proper fit the shoes should show wear first at the ball of the foot.

NEW YORK (WNS) — Thousands of Americans woke up last Christmas to find a gift under the tree that meant lots of sweat for them in the months ahead.

Such as a spanking new rowing machine, a shiny exercycle, or the latest do-it-yourself book on physical fitness.

No one knows how many pounds this kind of gift takes off, but there's no question about the weight it has added to the economy. The paraphernalia and literature of exercise has become a multi-million dollar business.

The 1969 edition of Book in Print shows almost 100 volumes listed under Exercise alone — not including categories like Isometrics or Calisthenics. The titles range from Roy Ald's "Physical Fitness after 35" to Bud Wilkinson's "Guide to Physical Fitness" (Wilkinson is one of the President's advisors on fitness). And according to a recent industry estimate, there are at least another 100 exercise titles in the works.

Like Cookbooks
"Exercise books are a lot like cookbooks," says a salesman at one of San Francisco's largest book stores. "They sell well around the holidays. For a while everyone is hipped on a particular cooking style or type of exercise. Then it gets old."

Five years ago, a big seller was the Royal Canadian Air Force Exercise Manual," which outlined a series of progressively more strenuous exercises for men and women. Another popular system was isometrics, widely used by athletes, in which the muscles of the body are strengthened by working against each other.

Today's best seller is "Aerobics" by Dr. Kenneth H. Cooper. The author rates various sports according to a complicated point system. To keep fit, a person should earn an average of 12 points a week. For instance, Cooper awards 15 points for a 10-mile bike ride that takes 30 minutes but only 2 points if the same distance is traveled in an hour. A 2½-hour, 10-mile walk is worth 20 points.

But this kind of exercise takes more willpower and effort than the average person wants to exert. In hopes of trimming down less strenuously, people are turning in increasing numbers to exercise machines and equipment.

Mod Look
Years ago, exercise equipment meant barbells — the sort of thing used by 98-pound weaklings who had sand kicked in their faces at the beach. But yesterday's weaklings are now running around in wasp-waist suits and Foulard ties — to the envy of their heftier colleagues. Since today's man would rather be mod than massive, exercise equipment is designed to trim him down instead of build him up.

The most popular devices are those that promise to take off inches with no effort at all. Over the past year Hammacher Schlemmer, the New York gift store, has doubled its sales of Dynabells — electronic belts that are supposed to tone and tighten your muscles while you work. They also lighten your wallet by $70.

Among the less expensive competitors are the Sauna belt, an accessory that melts off pounds and can be worn under clothing. Or a weighted, non-electronic belt that toughens stomach muscles by adding 10 pounds to the person who wears it. Abercrombie and Fitch sold 23,000 of these devices last year.

Women can now buy an electronic device called the Dynathigh that works on the same principle as the electronic belt (and costs just as much). Ladies with large legs can also climb on something called the Inside Track, which is a pair of roller skates fastened to a track. The wearer stands astride the track, and the trick is to try to bring the knees together without tipping over and crashing to the floor. It is designed to strengthen and slim inner thigh muscles.

Pedal Through Soaps
Exercycles are particularly popular with housewives, who like to pedal their way through the afternoon soaps. Explained one salesman: "Between the Edge of Night and Secret Storm they may lose half a pound."

Men who are too bashful to jog around the block can rent or buy a portable treadmill and do their running inside the bedroom. The machine has a slightly uphill slant and is equipped with handrails in case the going gets rough. An optional odometer allows the runner to measure his progress in miles.

For those who like the idea of jogging but lack the willpower, Amtech Creations has just the thing: An Exerjog.

The E-J is a pair of hinged wooden rectangles with springs inside to which the wearer straps his feet. As each foot goes down, the spring snaps it back up. "Effortless jogging," promises the ad.

There are also exer-rowers, vibrating slant boards, and the increasingly popular exercise wheel, which resembles a rear tricycle wheel with two handles attached. The device is pushed back and forth from a kneeling position, an exercise that is supposed to melt inches off the middle and tighten up muscles "as effectively as a half-hour of push-ups." All for only $3.95.

Barrel
One company advertises a barrel-like device with a washboard-like surface that turns on an axle. The ad shows a woman draped over the turning barrel, whittling inches off her middle.

Devices like this are so popular that sporty stores like Abercrombie and Fitch have had to expand their departments in order to keep them in stock. The A and F sports-exercise department has grown by a third during the past year and a half.

Hammacher Schlemmer lists 25 exercise devices in its new catalogue and reports that the business has more than doubled in the past year.

On Tuesday evening, members of Delta chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma were entertained with a program of music in keeping with the topic for the meeting, "Let Music Ring."

The first part of the program was classical music and was given by two music students from East Carolina University, Mrs. Kathleen Tyson, flutist, and Miss Sylvia Tunnell, pianist. Included in this part of the program was a Sonata by Frances Poulenc.

The second part of the program consisted of the playing and singing of folk songs and the playing of square dance tunes, using stringed instruments, and was termed by Dr. Louis Zincone as "Blue Grass Music."

Dr. Zincone, who is chairman of the Department of Economics of the University of Virginia, played the banjo. Mrs. Zincone, a physical therapist, played the mandolin, and Tom Garvarick, an industrial art student of ECU, played the guitar.

At the opening of the meeting, Mrs. Kemp Baldwin, president requested that all present join in a few moments of silent prayer in memory of two deceased members, Miss Minnie Lou Kelly and Mrs. Alva Williams.

The Slowdown Is Not All Bad

A slowdown in North Carolina's business activity has been spotted by North Carolina National Bank's Economic Trends, a quarterly economic report.

"The slowdown so far has been little more than a modest adjustment in the state's dominant upward pace of business activity," the report states. "But with the slowdown, should gradually come a less rapid increase in the inflation which has plagued North Carolinians throughout recent years."

"This should set the stage for an even more dynamic growth rate in North Carolina's economy in the years ahead."

The NCNC economists found only two of six leading indicators improved during the last three months of 1969.

The publication points out that manufacturing employment in the state has declined in every quarter since the beginning of 1969; manufacturing workweek is down slightly and production activity seems to be slowing. Personal income and retail sales were other areas of weakness in late 1969.

There is nothing alarming about the slowdown in North Carolina's economy, however. It is a part of the overall changes in the national economy resulting from the inflation fight.

The NCNB report finds that "the business scene is a dramatic illustration of the ability of tight money to bring the economy to a dead halt."

The U. S. is embarked on a "classical cure for inflation

"Rampant inflation, financed by money creation and fostered by years of deficit spending, cannot be slowed quickly without some economic

N.C. May Set Clean-Up Pace

(Today's guest column was written for the N. C. Association of Afternoon Dailies by, Carlton Harrell, City Editor, of the Durham Sun.)

By CARLTON HARRELL
DURHAM — North Carolina may move to the forefront of the growing battle to lessen environmental pollution.

Two Tar Heel congressmen have identified the Research Triangle as having the potential to serve as the site for a national headquarters to direct stepped-up efforts to clear away the air and water pollution which is reaching dangerous levels in the U. S.

Congressman Nick Galifianakis of Durham, whose Fourth District includes the Research Triangle area, has declared the Research Triangle Park to be the natural spot for location of a center to control pollution.

Efforts to reduce sharply the water and air pollution need a "total approach," similar to the technique used by the National Aeronautical and Space Agency for its Apollo program, he said.

Galifianakis is pushing efforts to create a standing committee in the House to supervise efforts aimed at curbing environmental pollution.

Consortium— Creation of the Triangle Universities Consortium on Air Pollution last month is a step which will aid North Carolina to stay in the forefront of the fight against pollution, according to Galifianakis.

If the U. S. will set up a "mission control" for pollution control, the lawmaker said, this nation could "clean up its environment within the decade."

One step in that direction, according to Galifianakis, is included in his new bill on pollution control directing U. S. health and scientific officials to convene a national conference at the Research

Park on pollution problems.

With the growing concentration of federal environmental health facilities in the Research Park and the Triangle Universities Consortium, he added, the Research Park area will be the logical location for the nation center to direct the "total approach."

Agreement — Congressman L. Richardson Preyer of Greensboro, in the neighboring Sixth District, joined in with support of the idea.

He predicted North Carolina will "take the lead in environmental questions in the same way Cape Kennedy in Florida has in space."

Tar Heel leaders two years ago won out over a number of other states as the site for the New National Environmental Health Center.

The national center now is operating in interim facilities in the Research Triangle Park, with the permanent center scheduled to be occupied by the mid-1970s.

"When the environmental center is completed, we will have located in the Research Triangle three national headquarters which are going to have more to do with the quality of life in this nation in the decade ahead than anything else," according to Preyer.

Located in the Research Triangle Park along with the environmental center are the National Center for Air Pollution and the National Center for Health Statistics.

Glamor — Both Galifianakis and Preyer agree also that the battle to clean up environmental pollution will be the "glamor issue" on the national political scene during the next few years.

Protecting the nation's air and water resources will be the most pressing problem facing the U. S., Galifianakis said.

Preyer observed that President Nixon has made his chief campaign issue for the 1970s "the battle to save our environment."

pains," the reports says.

Thus North Carolina, and all the nation, is having to pay the price of overspending in recent years. It means a slowing economy for a time but it is necessary medicine if inflation is to be controlled.

Make Resolution Now; Buy Early Next Year

As of midnight tonight the 1969 auto license tags will no longer be legal for motor vehicles operated in state highways and city streets.

After a day of grace this was the final day to purchase and display the 1970 tags on autos.

So those who forgot to do so will have the problem of getting to the auto license bureaus tomorrow, picking up their tags and getting them on their vehicles.

For anyone who forgot to get his tags, now is a good time to resolve to purchase early next year.

Soviet-Syrian Friction Seen

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
DAMASCUS, Syria — Although Soviet influence has reached a new peak in this strategic center of the Middle East, that influence rests on an increasingly shaky foundation, with strains between the Russians and the Baathist regime raising at least the possibility of trouble ahead.

On the surface, Syrian leaders who are willing to chat with American reporters laugh at reports of friction, but the laugh has a slightly hollow ring.

"The Russians help us, therefore the Russians are our friends," one such leader told us. But he quickly added: "We draw a very firm line when it comes to political interference by outsiders."

So far, that "firm line" has blocked the Russians from infiltrating the tightly controlled, ideologically-purist Baath party, a reform socialist party started by middle-class revolutionaries in the 1940s.

Not only have the Russians been cutting the West out of Syria (except for France, which has traditional ties here), but they have also tried to bar the Chinese, not always successfully. When Peking offered a long-term loan, estimated at 60 million Swiss francs, the Russians lobbied hard to make Syria say no. Instead, Syria said no to the Russians and took the loan, obviously concerned that the growing Soviet investments were becoming an oppressive threat to Syrian independence of action.

The advanced stage of Soviet influence was recently dramatized when the Russians successfully demanded the right to build a communications network between their engineers on the Euphrates dam site and Moscow, completely bypassing the Syrian government's tight control over all communications. That shows the extraordinary degree of autonomy the Soviet Union now has in Syria and some Syrian leaders resent it.

Moreover, Russian influence within the Syrian economy is more than matched by its control over the Syrian army and air force. Soviet technicians swarm at major military camps and Soviet experts control Syrian pilots from ground-control centers. A few weeks ago this led to the unannounced death of at least one Soviet adviser, who was killed when a Syrian pilot accidentally fired his rockets into the ground-control post.

In their efforts to make Syria a full-fledged satellite (a highly improbable goal) the Russians keep even more to themselves here than they do in Egypt. The Soviet ambassador, a Moslem who once served on the central committee of the Communist party, has a huge personal staff, but not a single Syrian works in the Soviet Embassy.

Down to chambermaids and scrub boys, the entire staff has been imported from home.

Not unnaturally, this aloofness further feeds the resentments of the always-suspicious Baathist government.

Strength For Today

FULL SPEED AHEAD
We often think how pleasant life could be if all the doubts and uncertainties were removed. After all, these seem to cause most of our daily worries: we are forced to choose, to decide, to stop or go, and doubts beset us.

Perhaps we think how much we could achieve if we did not have such doubts. If we could only stop worrying and plunge ahead, regardless of the consequences, how great we might become! "Damn the torpedoes. Full speed ahead!" No doubts, no hesitations — is that the key to greatness?

No, it is not. Great men are not those who have no doubts, but those who overcome them. Even Admiral Farragut, in his remark about the torpedoes (if he is quoted correctly), shows not that he was unconcerned about the danger, but that aware of the danger, he was still resolved to press forward.

The Bible constantly shows us that even men of the greatest faith had their doubts. When God first called Moses to begin the deliverance of his people from slavery in Egypt, Moses replied, "Who am I, that I should go unto Pharaoh?" Peter, later the staunchest of Jesus' disciples, was reluctant at the first meeting to obey him.

But Moses overcame, his doubts, and so did Peter — and changed the course of history.

Today's Headless Party

WASHINGTON — A lady from Grosse Pointe, Mich., wants to know why I always make fun of the Republicans, but never the Democrats. The answer is so obvious that I'm surprised anyone would raise the question.

The reason I don't make fun of the Democrats is that, for all practical purposes they don't exist.

I discovered this sometime back when I ran into a Democratic congressman sleeping on a park bench.

"Take me to your leader," I said.

"You have to be kidding," he replied.

"But surely someone is in charge of your party," I protested.

He shook his head sadly. "We haven't had a leader in a year. Ever since Chicago, it's every man for himself. Say, mister, could you let me have a quarter to cover my campaign expenses?"

"Don't tell me there is no money in the Democratic Party treasury?"

"The last time I went down to Democratic National Headquarters I was rolled twice."

"How do you explain it?"

"I don't know," he said, wiping his grizzled chin with an old Humphrey poster. "Would you believe that at one time you could look out from this bench and see nothing but Democrats? We were the toast of Washington. Lobbyists vied for our favors; special-interest groups flew us anywhere we wanted to go; some of us ate at the White House three times a week. It was a golden age for the party. Look, I still have a ballpoint pen President Johnson gave me. You wouldn't like to buy it, would you?"

I shook my head. "I already bought two from some Democratic congressmen who were selling them on the Capitol steps."

"I was afraid of that," he said. "How about an almost brand-new pair of leather boots made in Texas?"

"No, thank you. Now, about a leader for the party. Certainly you've discussed this among yourselves."

"Oh, we have," he said. "We agreed that what the party needs in Congress for leadership is youth, imagination and new ideas."

"Wonderful."

"That's why we decided to stick with House Speaker McCormack."

"What about the Democratic National Committee?"

"As far as the chairman of the party is concerned, we want someone who can speak for the Democrats, raise

Other Editors Say The North Gags

(Goldsboro News-Argus)

Senator (Honest) Abe Ribicoff of Connecticut surprised a lot of people — especially some of his northern liberal friends — when he spoke up in favor of a plan calling for uniform desegregation standards.

The proposal was advanced by Southern senators and declares that "enforcement standards shall be applied uniformly in all regions of the United States."

By this, the proposal means up North as well as down South.

Racial discrimination is inexcusable anywhere. The Supreme Court says segregated schools are against the law of the land and must be abolished.

But the South has born the brunt of abiding by the law. At every turn, the South has been castigated by congressmen and bureaucrats trying to win favor with liberal and non-white voters.

But look what suddenly happened when Honest Abe Ribicoff said he agreed with the South — that desegregation decisions apply to the entire country, not just to the South.

Leftwinger Senator Jacob Javits of New York suddenly didn't like the idea of his own district's being fed from the same spoon HEW has been using to force-feed the South.

Senator Walter Mondale of Minnesota — home of Hubert Humphrey — was among the liberals jolted by the idea.

Declared Mondale: "It (a uniform standard of desegregation) would not work in the North unless laws against federally imposed busing to achieve racial balance were repealed."

Concern of the liberal senators from the North over problems that would be encountered by applying the same standards nationally point up the very reason why such standards should be so applied.

FTC Urges Vanity Press Checks

By ELMER ROESSNER
The Federal Trade Commission has issued a public warning against the vanity press. The vanity press consists of those publishers who will print, for a price, books that other publishers won't accept. The vanity publishers often offer distribution, promotion and other services as well. Costs to an author may range from $1,500 to $5,000 or more.

Over the years the FTC has ordered a number of companies to cease misrepresenting their services but complaints, it said, still come in.

As a typical case it cites an author who had paid $1,500 in advance for what he assumed were 3,000 bound copies, then discovered that, while the publisher printed the books, he was under no obligation to bind them. When the author threatened to sue, the publisher bound 290 copies and sent the remainder in flat sheets to the author.

Seven Check Points

The FTC suggested that any author get the answers to the following questions before signing a contract under which he pays to have a book published:

1. Am I counting on recovering all or a substantial part of my investment through the sale of my book?
2. If the book sells only a few copies, can I afford the loss of my investment?
3. If I contract for a specified number of copies of my book, will that number be printed and bound or is the publisher obligated to bind only those books for which a bona fide order is received?
4. Will the publisher deliver to me at no extra cost, all unsold copies of the book at the termination of the contract?

5. What do bookstores, book reviewers and librarians in my community think about books published by the vanity press?
6. Will I have to do most of the promotion of my own book?
7. Could I have my book edited, printed and bound locally for the same or lower charges than those quoted by the publisher?

One unhappy poet, who had paid to have his book published, was later told, "You would have a better chance with reviewers and book stores if you published the book yourself and peddled it out of the back of your car."

The Other Side

However, it can be argued that if the vanity press does not misrepresent its services, it is essential to the free press of the nation.

Basic, Human Needs

By DR. BILLY GRAHAM
Written for The Associated Press

No generation has ever been more loved, worried over, spoiled, or caused more concern and frustration than the present one. Millions of adults have thrown up their hands in despair and given up trying to understand modern youth.

The suicide rate among students throughout the Western world is rising to an alarming degree. A 19-year-old boy burned himself to death in a school yard in France recently and left a note saying, "I did it because I cannot adapt myself to this world. I did it as a sign of protest against violence and to see love again."

An honor student at a Canadian university tore up his diploma at the graduation exercises last summer and said, "My four years at this institution have been meaningless to me."

President Nixon referred to the restlessness, confusion and frustration of young people in his State of the Union address when he indicated that young people need "a sense of excitement, a sense of destiny. The greatest privilege an individual can have is to serve in a cause bigger than himself."

I determined that I was going to do my best to find out what was "bugging" our young people. What care they saying? What are they talking about? I began to ask myself: Is there really a generation gap that is any different from the gap that has always existed between generations?

I began to go to college and university campuses not only to speak but to listen. I put on old clothes and a baseball cap and went to a "love-in" in Winnipeg where several thousand young people were gathered for their "happening." I joined a group of bearded, protesting students at New York University, asking questions and listening to their answers. I sought out a Black Panther leader and listened to him pour out all his bitterness and alarming threats of vengeance. I talked for several hours to an early leader of the Students for a Democratic Society.

Not too long ago I went to the Miami Rock Festival at the invitation of the promoters. As I looked at these quaintly dressed young people with their sheepskin coats, their untrimmed hair and their eyes filled with longing and fanciful dreams, I couldn't help but wonder who had failed them. As they sat around their little campfires at night listening to hard rock music which had lyrics about love, death, heaven, hell and eternity, one boy with long-red hair, starved for love, threw his arms around me and said, "Oh, Billy, I love you. You told it like it is."

Even with all the garish and gaudy manner, I could detect the basic human ingredients common to all the young people I have talked to throughout the world — the need for love, the need for understanding, and the need for purpose.

Sometime ago the American ambassador to France, Sargent Shriver, invited me to come to his home and have a dialogue with French students. It was one of the most interesting evenings of my life.

For several hours we discussed philosophy, psychology, politics, religion, the problems of youth, etc.

When it was all over and the young people were dispersing in the wee hours of the morning, Ambassador Shriver said to me, "What do you think?" I said, "The basic problem these young people face is the same basic problem that young people are facing all over the world. It is a spiritual problem. Until they find the answer to that problem, we are going to continue to be beset with the problems of youth."

I went to the other side of the coin and saw a different type of young person than those who make the headlines.

I went to the beautiful YMCA assembly grounds at Blue Ridge, N.C., where 600 Christian athletes were gathered, led by some of the most famous names in sports.

They were strong, clear-eyed, clean cut, and were studying their Bible, singing hymns and parying.

I went to the Campus Crusade headquarters at Arrowhead Springs, Calif. and saw a thousand student leaders from some of the great campuses of America, most of whom were student body presidents or leaders in various student activities. They, too, were clear-eyed, dedicated, parying, singing hymns and studying their Bible.

I went to the University of Illinois where Inter-Varsity had gathered more than 10,000 university students to study the Bible and to discuss morality and religion.

During the past five years I have detected a great change in the composition of the audiences to whom I speak in these great stadiums and auditoriums throughout the world. The audiences are almost invariably from 50 per cent to 70 per cent under 25 years of age. It is the young people who are coming with their searching and questioning, and thousands of them are staying behind to "find".

money for them and get the various factions of the party to agree on the great issues of the day."

"You can't quarrel with that."

"No, and we can't get anybody to take the job either."

"What about the man to oppose President Nixon in 1972?"

"The party is overflowing with candidates. There's Hubert Humphrey, and uh, uh, uh. . . How about buying a coonskin cap?"

"Sir, what will be the major issues of the 1970 congressional campaign?"

"Inflation, crime in the streets and our defense posture around the world."

"But those are the issues the Republicans used to defeat the Democrats."

"Why have a two-party system if you can't use the same issues to defeat each other? Hey, how about an autographed photo of Mayor Daley, the man who sent us down the road to oblivion?"

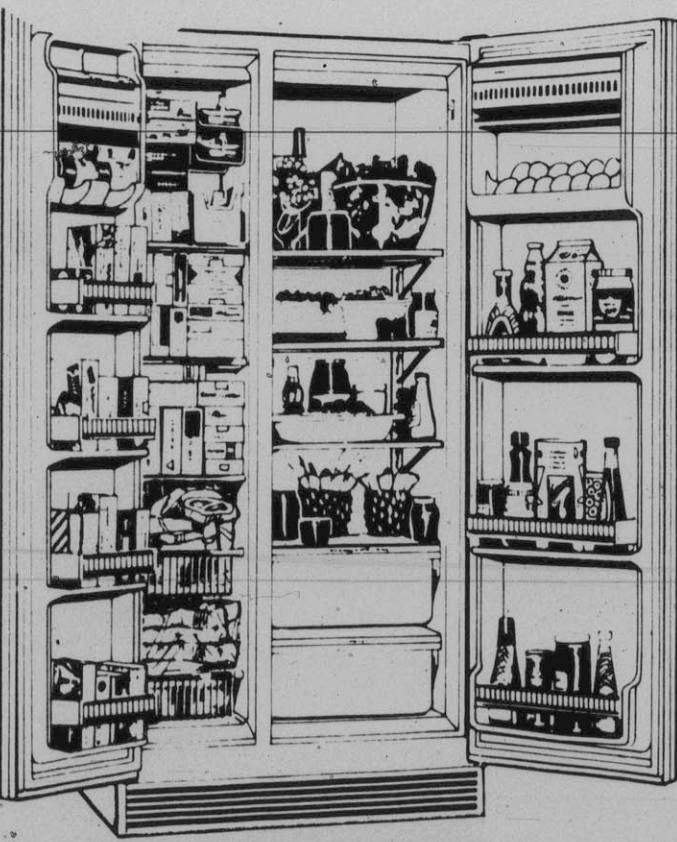

"I'm sorry. I'd like to help, but I never contribute to a political party."

"Here," he said, going over to a knapsack and taking out a sheaf of papers. "It's President Johnson's version of how he decided to stop the bombing in Vietnam. Surely, one day, this will become a collector's item."

Man is basically and essentially a spiritual being. The older generation have made the tragic mistake in our educational system of assuming that man is only a physical being and that materialism will satisfy. Our young people are in full revolt against this concept.

Many people have said, "But you are now 50 years of age; you're too old to communicate with this modern generation." That's a very strange thing. I thought so too.

Modern young people are asking themselves the same tough questions that bothered Plato, Aristotle and Socrates: I die. I suffer. I must struggle. I am at the mercy of chance. I am involved in guilt. Who am I?

Wishes Should Be Respected

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I understand that you confer with clergymen when it comes to religious matters, so here is one for you to ask a rabbi.

We recently buried my father. He and mamma had been married nearly 40 years, and daddy always wore the wedding ring mamma gave him. It was his wish to be buried wearing that ring. During his illness he lost a lot of weight, and the ring became loose on his finger, but he wanted so much to wear it until the very end that he wrapped some tape around it.

When dad died and it came time to bury him, the man at the Jewish mortuary [he was not a rabbi] told mamma that according to Jewish law, "we come into this world with nothing and we should leave with nothing," so daddy could not be buried with his ring.

Of course my mother felt terrible, but she couldn't do anything about it, so they buried daddy without his ring. What I would like to know is, was that man at the Jewish mortuary right or wasn't he?

THE DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: It is the opinion of the rabbis with whom I have discussed your letter that altho the man at the mortuary quoted Jewish "philosophy," it is not Jewish law. But even if it were, the wishes of your mother should have been respected. Too bad your mother didn't consult a rabbi.

DEAR ABBY: In regard to that letter from "HANDSOME JIM IN BOSTON," who wrote, "When my wife and I were married, folks said, 'How could Handsome Jim ever marry that tub of lard!'"

Eleven years ago I married a little 105-pound brunette gal. Since that day she has helped me to raise three lovely daughters that were mine from a former marriage. That little woman has helped me build a business that has been very good to us. So good in fact that we now own five Rolls-Royces and four Mercedes, and one of the most beautiful homes in this city. We don't owe a dime to anyone either.

Right now my little brunette weighs 135 pounds and she's only 5 feet tall, so you can see she's put on a few pounds. But that doesn't bother me. Last time I noticed she was getting slightly plump, I said, "Honey, if you continue to gain weight I will just have to buy you a bigger mink coat next year." She's the greatest. JOHN LEWIS, LAWTON, OKLAHOMA

DEAR JOHN: No she isn't. YOU are!

DEAR ABBY: I have had the feeling for a long time that my husband is too fond of his sister. He has a brother he rarely sees, but he MUST see his sister regularly.

I don't think it's jealousy on my part as I know he loves me, and I love him dearly, but even though this sister of his is married, her husband and I are "outsiders" when those two get together. I don't think I have an evil mind, Abby, but do you think what I am hinting at is possible? For heaven's sake do not use my name or town. SUSPICIOUS

DEAR SUSPICIOUS: Yes, it is possible. But if I were you, I would not harbor any such far out suspicions. Some brothers and sisters are close and have a very real affection for each other, but that's as far as it goes.

CONFIDENTIAL TO J. P. S.: You are so right. Never explain. Your friends don't need it, and your critics will not believe you anyway.

Fourth Graders Offer Program At PTA Meet

The fourth grade students of South Greenville Elementary School presented the program, under the supervision of Mrs. Vivian Beach, was presented in three parts. The first part consisted of songs appropriate for the month of February, the second part depicted famous people who were born in the month of February, and a dance was presented for the final part. Mrs. Winton Hill, president, presided at the meeting. The Rev. Chester Phillips presented the devotional. Dr. Badger G. Clark, Lyman Ormond and Mrs. Don Wilkerson were elected to a nominating committee to secure officers for the coming year. The officers will be voted on and installed at the April meeting.

Mrs. Lena Brown, school principal, explained the tutoring reading program and asked for volunteers to help with the program.

Don Wilkerson reported on the finance meeting he attended recently.

A letter of resignation from Mrs. Martha Dawson, vice president, was read. Mrs. Dawson has moved out of the school district. Mrs. Percy Pair was named to replace Mrs. Dawson for the remainder of the school term.

Joe Goodson gave a projects report. He said the sale of sweat shirts for the school was going well. He urged anyone who wished to purchase a shirt to do so as soon as possible.

Opera In Workshop Form Is Rewarding, As Demonstrated

Opera in workshop form can be surprisingly rewarding. This was the case in the East Carolina University Opera Theater's complete evening of Mozart at the School of Music Recital Hall Friday night.

Departing from the Opera Theater's customary production of one complete opera, producer-director Clyde Hiss instead chose the finales of "Marriage of Figaro" (Act IV) and scenes from the final act of "Don Giovanni." Both were sung in English.

The choice of "Marriage of Figaro" proved to be especially fortunate. The English translation served to create a closer rapport with the packed audience — and though English reveals the triteness of some opera librettos ("Figaro" is no exception), it was good not to have to resort to mental footnotes in an effort to keep developments sorted out.

With only piano accompaniment from Sandra Little (and she played superbly) and an occasional harpsicord backing by Clyde Hiss, the singers were able to project their lines with a natural intimacy aptly suited to the material. The comic situations, the clear beautifully timed singing, and the obvious enjoyment of the singers added up to a production that sparkled from beginning to end.

"Don Giovanni" was something of a let down after "Figaro." Maybe it was a matter of the more dramatic material of the final act of this opera not lending itself as readily to the type of performance used.

Perhaps if scenes 3, 4, and 5 (or parts of these) from Act I, which contains the delightful duet "Give Me Your Hand"; Zerlina's lovely aria "Beat Me, Beat Me, Dear Masetto"; and the trio and familiar minuet had been chosen instead of the final act, chances are it would have registered with the clarity that marked the lighter material in the "Figaro" performance.

Nevertheless, Paul Athapoulos as Don Giovanni and Clyde Hiss as his servant, Leporello were in full command of their roles, the most demanding of any in the evening's performance. Hiss is a fine actor coordination of singing, movements and expressions made his an exceptional performance.

Elaine Buckner was a lovely Susanna with a pleasant voice. As Marcellina, Grace Weber was far too young and beautiful for the role of the aging woman, but her aria was one of the highlights of the evening. Alan Jones, singing Figaro and also Masetto in "Don Giovanni"; and David Faber, a handsome Court Almaviva in "Figaro" and an imposing Commendatore in "Don Giovanni" has a warm, rich voice with great promise.

Donna Stephenson, who was so effective in the recent Mozart "Requiem" at ECU, once more showed her ability in the role of Donna Elvira in "Giovanni."

Other singers in the two part program were: in "Figaro" — Janet — Boyd, — Barbarina: Demetrius Williams, Don Bartolo; Mary McFarland, Countess Almaviva; Pamela Rhodes, Cherubino . . . and in "Giovanni" — Helen Parker, Zerlina; and Bruce Erazier as Don Basilio in "Figaro" and Don Ottavio in "Giovanni."

The simple, stylized sets contrasted well with Patricia Hiss costumes (supper throughout except for Don Giovanni's and Leporello's awkward mini-trousers). Mrs. Hiss, incidentally sung the rolis Scene 6 of "Don Giovanni" for Georgia Mizesko, who could not appear because of illness.

Hiss conducted "Figaro." Robert Hause conducted "Giovanni," with accompanists Wilson Nichols at the piano, and Gordon Slaymaker, Michael Raynor and John Driver on trombones.

Will Organize New Scout Units

Applications for Boy and Cub Scout charters will be drafted and Scoutmasters will be selected tonight when boys interested in becoming Boy and Cub Scouts meet at Red Oak Church at 7:30 p.m.

Any boy nine years old or older from the Red Oak or Piney Grove communities is invited to attend.

The Recital Hall is well suited for performances such as Friday's — however, if these programs grow in popularity, there will be no choice but to move to larger quarters — there were only a couple of unoccupied seats. — JERRY RAYNOR.

If you're not making it on eight grand a year, you'll never make it on ten.

Or twelve. Or whatever load your ship is carrying when it comes in. Not that it isn't very human to jiggle the numbers and juggle the bills and figure that everything will come out okay in the long run. But the important thing is, it isn't very realistic. What happens is that as you make more, you spend more. And all things being relative, if you're having trouble making ends meet now, you'll probably just wind up with a bigger gap, when your salary gets bigger.

Well, Planters is out to close the gap. It is possible for you to make it on what you make. And do okay right now. And live more like the way you want to. Over the years, Planters has learned some tricks. And we've listened to some good ideas from some pretty smart people. So we've decided that we shouldn't be selfish with them. We're about to launch into some very helpful show-and-tell. So keep your eyes open. If you stick with Planters, you might not end up in Fat City, but you'll be a lot closer to where you want to be. To be continued.

Frazier-Ellis Meet Tonight For Title

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Gospel singing Jimmy Ellis and Joe Frazier, whose style is hard rock, are set to do their real thing tonight—fight for the heavyweight championship of the world.

Frazier, champion of six states including New York, rules as heavy favorite over Ellis, the World Boxing Association king, for the scheduled 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden.

The Las Vegas price on Frazier is 6-1, while New York boxing circles said it's Frazier 5-1 in man-to-man betting. Little or no wagering has been reported.

"I think he's the champion, so he should be the favorite," says Yank Durham, Frazier's manager.

"I'm not betting money so it makes no difference," says Ellis.

Durham predicts Frazier will win by a knockout but has not named a particular round.

"I don't predict," says Ellis' manager, Angelo Dundee, "but I won't be amazed if Jimmy knocks him out."

The fight is set for 10:30 p.m. EST, following a scheduled 10-round heavyweight bout between Gregorio Peralta of Argentina and unbeaten George Foreman, like Frazier an Olympic champion.

The fight will be seen in this country only on closed circuit television at 120 locations with more than 500,000 seats. New York and a 90-mile surrounding area will be blacked out, but New York will be included in the radio broadcast over the Mutual Broadcasting System.

Also will be seen via satellite in Hawaii, Puerto Rico, Mexico, South America, parts of Europe and parts of Asia.

Frazier, who won his piece of the title by stopping Buster Mathis in 11 rounds March 4, 1968 has won all 24 of his pro fights, 21 by knockout.

Ellis, a former sparring partner of the deposed Cassius Clay, has won 27, 12 by knockout, and lost five. All of his losses came when he was a middleweight.

He won the WBA crown by outpointing Quarry April 27, 1968, and his last fight was a successful 15-round defense against Floyd Patterson Sept. 14, 1968.

Frazier's fighting style resembles his singing style—he has cut a few records. He is a swarming two-fisted puncher who swarms over his opponent, constantly applying pressure.

He's fond of saying, "I'll come out smokin'."

But he can be hit, being decked by Mike Bruce in his second pro fight and twice by Oscar Bonavena. And although Ellis, who sings with his wife in churches, is primarily a boxer, he can hit and hurt. His best punch is a sneak right hand.

Ellis has only been knocked down once, by Rubin "Hurricane" Carter in 1964, and he contends that was a slip.

A referee and two judges, to be named at ringside, will score the fight under the round system. If the rounds are even, they will use a supplementary point system.

The regular rules of the New York State Athletic Commission will be in effect. They will use eight-ounce gloves. The mandatory eight-count will be used for all knockdowns and if a fighter is down three times in the same round, the fight will be stopped.

If a fighter is down when the bell rings, the count will be continued until he is up or eight, except if it is the 15th round.

Furman Faces Spiders Hope To Escape Cats

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The battle to avoid a first-round tournament meeting with Davidson's regular season champion Wildcats will occupy the attention of four Southern Conference basketball teams this week, but at least one can remove itself from the danger list as early as tonight.

Furman's Paladins, 3-6 in league play and now in fifth place, can make sure they won't finish in the basement with a victory at home over Richmond's last-place Spiders, 2-8.

Also involved are the two teams tied for sixth at 3-7—The Citadel's B.

That Davidson would be seeded No. 1 was assured Saturday when the Wildcats overpowered

Richmond 97-60 in a regionally televised game. That result is one good reason the Spiders would like to avoid any more encounters with the Wildcats in the immediate future.

A full night schedule Saturday saw East Carolina's Pirates, 7-2, take over second place alone with an 83-69 triumph over The Citadel while Furman was dropping George Washington's Colonials, 6-3, to third with an 89-84 decision. William and Mary's Indians, 5-5, tightened their grip on fourth with a 77-58 romp over VMI in an error-filled game.

Richmond, VMI and The Citadel have three conference games remaining. Furman just two. And that's why the Paladins can nail down a spot higher than last with a victory tonight.

In tonight's only other action William and Mary tangles with small college power Old Dominion, 12th ranked nationally with a 19-2 over-all record at the Hampton Coliseum.

Davidson's big front line kept Richmond outside as the Wildcats made the Spiders their 29th consecutive conference victim and won their 54th in a row at home. Davidson moved in front 47-36 at halftime and finished off the Spiders with a 17-2 spurt early in the second half.

Doug Cook had 24 points, Mike Maloy 21 and Brian Adrian 20 for the Wildcats, who shot 62 per cent from the floor in the first half. The Spiders were led by Picot Frazier with 23.

Ahead by 37-31 at intermission East Carolina pulled away from The Citadel on the scoring of Jim Gregory, who had 27 points, and Jim Modlin, who had 26. Jerry Hirsch led the Bulldogs with 19.

A 10-point spree by Steve McCammon in the last four minutes blunted a George Washington rally and preserved a lead Furman had built since early in the first half. Jerry Thomas led the Paladins with 25 points and Lisco Thomas added 19. Walt Szczerbiak had 22 points and 23 rebounds and Mike Tallent 20 points for the Colonials.

There were 55 turnovers, 31 by the Keydets and 24 by the Indians, in the VMI-W&M encounter, in which William and Mary wasn't threatened after breaking a 23-23 tie with nine points late in the first half. Tom Jasper had 25 points for the Indians, John Thomas 20 for the Keydets.

ACC Is Full Of Surprises

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Only two weeks remain before the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball tournament, but if as many surprises occur by then as happened last week, all bets will be off.

Last week the conference's first three teams — all nationally ranked in the top 10 — were each beaten. This week each faces tough league opponents, and one of them plays the other two.

South Carolina, the No. 2 team in the Associated Press poll last week before a loss to Southern Conference champ Davidson, plays No. 5 N. C. State in Raleigh Wednesday and No. 10 North Carolina at Chapel Hill Saturday.

The Gamecocks lead the ACC with a 10-0 record, the N. C. State Wolfpack is second with an 8-2 mark and the North Carolina Tar Heels are third with an 8-3 record.

Tonight Virginia is out of the league with a trip to George Washington.

No conference games are tonight, but the rest of the week's

Swimmers Host UNC

East Carolina University's swimmers will play host to the University of North Carolina Tuesday at 4 p.m. in Minges Natatorium.

The match is expected to be one of the top contests for the Pirates this year, who would like very much to pull off an upset of the Tar Heels.

The meet is the next-to-last home appearance of the Pirates before they open defense of their Southern Conference title March 5.

You're missing a lot when you own a Volkswagen.

A VW has fewer major parts than most other cars because it needs fewer major parts.

It doesn't need a long drive shaft to transfer power to the rear wheels. Because our engine's in the rear. For better traction.

It doesn't need a radiator. Or a water pump, or hoses or antifreeze. Because the engine's air-cooled.

The parts a VW doesn't use, it doesn't have to haul and waste gas on. Which is one reason it gets about 26 mpg.

And the parts you don't buy, you'll never repair. So you can't waste money on that.

Of course, what you do get with a new Volkswagen makes up for what you don't get.

You get a new, longer-lasting engine that's stronger than any other beetle engine.

You get an electric rear window defogger. And double-jointed rear axles for a smoother ride.

You get four free VW Diagnosis checkups. With each checkup, your VW gets an X-Ray like examination by incredibly fast and thorough diagnostic equipment. It can actually detect little problems before they become big problems.

You get a—well, you get the point.

You're missing a lot when you don't own a Volkswagen.

Tobacco TIPS

By S.J. Weeks

In recent years, foliar sprays have been used as a part of the tobacco fertilization program on some farms. When used, the application of foliar sprays have been used as a supplemental application of nutrients—mainly for the nitrogen content of the solution.

Urea is the form of nitrogen in foliar sprays. Experimental work has shown that supplying nitrogen to tobacco plants through foliar sprays of urea solutions is neither efficient, practical, or economical.

In tests made by the North Carolina Experiment Station, it has been determined that supplying nitrogen through urea foliar spray to the leaf interfered with plant absorption of calcium and magnesium, and the growth and development of the root system. When this takes place, both the yield and quality of the leaf are lowered in proportion to the amount of urea sprays used.

The use of foliar sprays and solid nitrate nitrogen was compared by the Experiment Station personnel by applying each of these materials one to two weeks prior to the beginning of harvest. All plots received 1000 pounds of 4-8-12 preplant fertilizer per acre. In each case, the foliar-applied nitrogen gave a lower yield than the solid nitrate form applied to the soil. In two of the three cases, the yield was actually lower where nitrogen was applied as foliar spray than when no additional nitrogen was supplied. The leaf from plants which received the spray was dull in color while the leaf from the other treatment was clear in color.

In short, all of our results suggest that if a tobacco plant could speak, it would say to the farmer, "Feed my feet."

Dick Van Dyke Has Long-Range Plans

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A far-sighted fellow is Van Dyke. For example: He is now taping a CBS special with Bill Cosby, which will not appear on the network until November.

He is also doing introductions to the CBS showings of "Born Free," scheduled to be a Christmas attraction for years to come, in the manner of "The Wizard of Oz."

He is discussing with Carl Reiner the format for the new Van Dyke television series, which will begin on CBS in the 1971-72 season.

Besides these things, Van Dyke is looking ahead to his retirement from films, which he says will occur after he concludes his two remaining commitments with Disney and the Mirisch Company.

All this seems highly visionary, except for the fact that Dick Van Dyke usually ends up accomplishing what he plans to do. Many a beleaguered city dweller talks about escaping the urban mess. Dick did it.

"Some friends told us about this marvelous country in Arizona," he related. "My wife and I went down there, and we fell in love with the place. It's ranch country 45 miles north of Phoenix and 2,500 feet higher, so it is green though still desert. We bought a place that is 180 acres and has a little creek running through it."

"At first my wife and I thought we would use it as a retirement home. But the kids devoted us. They wanted to move down there right away."

The Van Dykes sold their Encino home and became permanent Arizonans last June. Two of the sons go to college here, and the daughters, 15 and 8, live on the ranch. Dick said he had no problem keeping busy. One of his latest passions is archeology. He and his wife spend hours digging in the remains of a thousand-year-old Indian civilization which he found on his property.

At any rate, he doesn't miss filmmaking: "I've never really felt comfortable in movies. Well, maybe in this last one. I guess after doing so many pictures I stored up in my cortex some knowledge of what to do. But film acting is still something of a mystery to me."

Television is his bag, and he is looking forward to a renewal of his successful partnership with Carl Reiner on "The Dick Van Dyke Show." CBS agreed that the new series could be made in Arizona, and Dick gloated that there is a modern studio "just a brief Honda ride from my ranch."

The Daily Reflector Readers: This INTRODUCTORY OFFER brings you $400.00-A-MONTH EXTRA CASH WHENEVER YOU GO TO THE HOSPITAL

Examine Policy in your own home at no risk—money refunded if not 100% satisfied!

- ★ Pays you extra cash at the rate of $400.00 a month for each hospital stay.
- ★ Pays in addition to any other companies' coverage you have.
- ★ Guaranteed Renewable for Life.—At last a hospital plan that guarantees never to cancel your protection no matter how old you get or how many claims you make.
- ★ Pays all cash—tax-free—direct to you (not to the doctor or hospital).

No medical examination required. No salesman will call.

ACT NOW—YOUR ENROLLMENT FORM MUST BE MAILED BY MIDNIGHT, THURS., FEB. 19, 1970 OR IT CANNOT BE ACCEPTED

One out of two families will have someone in the hospital this year! It could be you—or some beloved member of your family—tomorrow...next week...next month. Sad to say, very few families have anywhere near enough coverage to meet today's soaring hospital costs. These costs have doubled in just a few short years. They are expected to double again in the few years ahead.

Stop for a moment. Think how much a long stay in the hospital will cost you or a loved one. How would you ever pay for costly, but necessary, X-rays, doctor bills, drugs and medicines? What would you do if your pay check stopped, but living expenses kept going on the same as ever? The same rent, phone, food, all the day-to-day expenses that never stop.

What is the average breadwinner to do? We believe we have the answer in the famous Extra Cash Plan that...

Pays you $400.00-a-month tax-free cash whenever you are hospitalized.

What a blessing it is when you know you have an extra $400.00 cash coming in every month—beginning the very first day you enter the hospital.

Now this low-cost Plan from National Home enables you to enjoy this protection at once. Your special low rate is shown below, and it will be the same low premium you will continue to pay no matter how old you become or how many claims you make.

The added protection you NEED!

All benefits of this $400.00-A-MONTH Hospital Plan are paid directly to you, in tax-free cash, in addition to whatever you may receive from your insurance with any other company! Spend the money as you see fit—for hospital or doctor bills, mortgage payments, to replace savings—or any necessary but costly extras not covered fully by usual hospital policies.

Everything costs more these days (need we tell you?) and hospital care is certainly no exception! While 7 out of 8 Americans have some hospital insurance, most have found it does not cover all bills that pile up when sickness or accident strikes. That's why National Home developed low-cost Extra-Cash Protection that helps you pay hospital costs or other expenses.

You get your $400.00 per month—TAX-FREE—as long as you are confined in the hospital—even for life. And, when you and your insured spouse are hospitalized at the same time for an accidental injury, this National Health Plan pays you an EXTRAORDINARY DOUBLE-CASH BENEFIT. You receive not $400.00 but $800.00 a month. Your spouse receives not 65 OR OVER?

Write for complete information on our special plans. Just drop us a card, and we will send complete details as soon as we receive your inquiry.

$400.00 but $800.00 a month. That's $1,600.00 in all, (when under age 65) in cash payments to you every month starting the day you go to the hospital for as long as you both remain there.

We can never cancel your Policy!

You can count on this wonderful protection no matter how old you get or how many times you collect from us. Your Policy guarantees that we cannot cancel your protection after you've made a lot of claims, or become old—or for any other reason whatsoever. It is GUARANTEED RENEWABLE FOR LIFE! And that's not all. Suppose you have a growing family, this Plan (NH 10-669)...

Pays you $400.00-a-month cash Maternity Benefits!

Ordinary hospital insurance may take care of part of your expenses when you go to the hospital to have a baby. But what policy can you think of that gives you cash to help buy all the things you need for the new baby? Now, if both husband and wife are insured for the entire pregnancy and have added Coverage for Children and Maternity Benefits to the basic Plan, you get extra cash to use any way you want. If a pregnancy, childbirth or even miscarriage puts you in the hospital for one day, five days, 10 days...as long as necessary—you are paid for every day of your confinement at the rate of $400.00 a month.

Pays you $400.00-A-MONTH CASH for a Registered Nurse at home.

You collect $400.00 a month up to $4,800.00 when your doctor has you employ a full-time Registered Nurse within 5 days after you return home. You need only to have been hospitalized 5 days or more. Your Registered Nurse at home benefits continue during employment of the nurse for the same number of days you were in the hospital—up to 12 full months.

All these added cash benefits.

Added cash benefit: Up to $2,000.00 cash for accidental loss of limbs or eyesight, when the loss occurs any time within 90 days of the accident. The loss of a limb or eyesight is terrible. Nothing can replace the loss, but a $1,000.00 or $2,000.00 check helps bring peace of mind during the period of adjustment.

Added cash benefit: Choose Coverage for Children (with or without Maternity Benefits) and all your dependent, unmarried children from age one month through 18 years will be covered, too! National Home pays at the rate of $240.00 a month, when your youngster is hospitalized...for removal of tonsils, appendix or any other illness or injury. Yes, you will receive $240.00 a month cash, month after month while the child is in the hospital.

We pay your premiums when you are not able.

Should you—the person to whom the basic Policy is issued—be hospitalized for 8 weeks or more, National Health Plan WILL PAY ALL PREMIUMS THAT COME DUE FOR YOU AND ALL COVERED MEMBERS OF YOUR FAMILY WHILE YOU ARE CONFINED TO THE HOSPITAL BEYOND THE INITIAL 8-WEEK PERIOD. And your protection continues as if you were paying the premiums yourself! Then, if you leave the hospital and must return for the same condition before you have resumed full normal activities for 90 days, we will again PAY ANY PREMIUMS WHILE YOU ARE IN THE HOSPITAL for the total confinement! This means you pay no premiums, yet your full protection remains in force.

These are the ONLY Exclusions!

Your National Health Plan Policy covers every kind of sickness or accident except conditions caused by: act of war; any mental disease or disorder; pregnancy, except as provided under the Maternity Benefit provision; and any sickness or injury you had before the Effective Date of your Policy...during the first 2 years only.

This last item is a real help if you already have a health problem. If you are sick before you take out this Policy, you will even be covered for that condition after the Policy has been in effect for 2 years. Meanwhile, of course, every new condition is covered immediately.

Nationally known and respected.

This is the kind of outstanding protection you have read about in Reader's Digest, Parents, National Geographic and other leading publications. The special plans offered by the National Liberty Corporation group of companies are today helping policyowners in all 50 states—and many foreign countries—paying benefits at the rate of more than one million dollars a month.

Grateful Policyowners write...

"Received your check for $880.00. I appreciate having the money sent directly to me so I could decide how to use it."
NICHOLAS CRISTL, Green Bay, Wisc.

"It was wonderful to receive your check for $555.00. I'm very pleased. It paid real well."
MRS. BESSIE GEISINGER, Kansas City, Mo.

"Everyone should have your coverage. I know I wouldn't be without it."
WALTER TUCKER, Fayetteville, N.C.

Make your decision carefully.

Think how costly a hospital confinement will be. Imagine paying for those indispensable doctor, surgical and nursing services that are not covered by your present insurance.

Would you be able to afford the quiet and privacy of a private room and a private nurse, should you so desire? Or a telephone to keep in touch with loved ones? Or the rental of a TV set to help pass the lonely hours? Who would pay your bills that keep on coming in at home? Many folks have lost their life savings, their cars, even their homes trying to meet runaway hospital and medical costs. And no one knows whose turn it will be next.

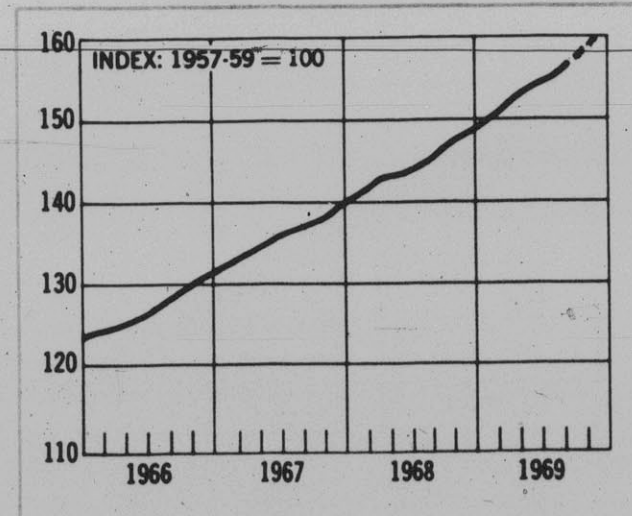

Why you must act promptly.

Why do we give you so little time to enroll in this Plan—only a few days? Because this is a mass Enrollment Plan, enrolling thousands of policyowners at one time. Although every policy is issued through a licensed agent, all business is conducted directly between you and the company. No salesman will call. This highly efficient "mass enrollment" method enables us to give you the broadest coverage at the lowest cost.

We mail you the Policy as soon as we receive your Enrollment Form. When the Policy arrives, examine it in the privacy of your own home. Take all the time you need. It's a very short document, and you'll be pleasantly surprised to discover there is NO FINE PRINT. Then—show it, if you wish, to someone you trust. Perhaps your lawyer, accountant or doctor. Better still—show it to your own insurance man...even though he may very well be working for another company! If he is a personal friend, he has your best interests in mind. So you can believe him when he tells you there is no better bargain available anywhere—at any price!

Medical Costs Skyrocketing!

Source: Wall Street Journal

MEDICAL CARE COSTS rose in September, 1969, to 157.6% of the 1957-59 average from 156.8% a month earlier. These costs are components of the Government consumer price index.

HERE ARE YOUR LOW RATES.

The following rate chart shows how little it costs to cover yourself, your spouse or any other adult dependent. Each adult, 16 or over, pays the rates shown for his or her age. Naturally, at this low rate, we can issue you only one policy of this type.

Age at Enrollment	Monthly Premium per Adult
16-44	only $3.45
45-49	only $3.95
50-54	only $4.45
55-64	only $4.95

Only $1.90 more per month covers all your dependents...

from the age of one month through 18 years. And then, if you wish, just add 95¢ monthly to that, and you're covered for Maternity Benefits, too! Newborn children are covered automatically at the age of one month—at no additional cost!

NOTE: The regular monthly premium shown here (for age at time of enrollment) is the same low premium you will continue to pay; it will not automatically increase as you pass from one age bracket to the next! Once you have enrolled in the National Health Plan, your rate can never be changed because of how much or how often you collect from us—or because of advanced age—but only if there is a general rate adjustment, up or down, on all policies of this type in your entire state!

Act NOW — "Later" May Be Too Late!

TIME IS PRECIOUS! Act quickly. (No salesman will call.) Get your Enrollment Form into the mail today—because once you suffer an accident or sickness, it's TOO LATE to buy protection at any cost. That's why we urge you to act today—before anything unexpected happens.

National Liberty Corporation brings you the Washington Report daily over more than 300 stations coast-to-coast.

THESE IMPORTANT QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Tell us how National Home's EXTRA CASH HOSPITAL PLAN gives you the protection you need—at amazingly low cost!

1. How much will my Policy pay me when I go to the hospital?
$400.00 per month. You collect cash not just for yourself, but for all Covered Members of your family when they are hospitalized! And you collect cash even if you're in the hospital for only one day!

2. When do I collect up to $2,000.00 extra cash for accidents?
We pay you $1,000.00 extra cash for complete accidental loss of one hand or one foot or sight of one eye, and $2,000.00 extra cash for loss of both hands or both feet or sight of both eyes—even if the loss occurs as long as 3 months after the accident.

3. What if I am hospitalized by the same illness—again?
Don't worry. If you return to the hospital, you again collect $400.00-a-month extra cash for as long as you remain in the hospital. You need only to have resumed full normal activities for just 90 days—then if you are hospitalized for the same illness, you begin to collect all over again.

4. Will you pay me $400.00-a-month cash—even for pregnancy?
Yes! Many health plans don't cover pregnancy. But we do, when Coverage for Children and Maternity Benefits are added to the basic Plan. You collect for pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage that results in a hospital stay. (Both parents have to be enrolled in this Plan for entire pregnancy period.)

5. Do you pay me cash when my children go to the hospital? Will any children we have in the future be protected, too?
You collect $240.00-a-month cash any time your child goes to the hospital, when Coverage for Children is added to the basic Plan...each time any dependent, unmarried child (age 1 month through 18 years) is in the hospital for sickness or injury. And if you have a growing family—as soon as your newborn child is one month old, he too, is covered—automatically...at no additional cost to you.

6. Are there times I might collect as much as $1,600.00 a month?
There are! Remember, we pay cash not just for you, but for every Covered Member of your family. National Health Plan gives policyowners (when under age 65) an EXTRAORDINARY DOUBLE-CASH BENEFIT. If you and your covered spouse are both in an accident and go to the hospital at the same time, you receive $1,600.00-a-month tax-free cash. This amount is paid for as long as both of you remain in the hospital—even for life, if necessary.

7. Am I ever allowed to stop paying premiums during a long stay in the hospital—yet still remain fully covered?
Yes, you are! Should you—the person to whom the basic Policy is issued—be hospitalized for 8 weeks or more, this National Health Plan will pay all premiums that come due for you and all Covered Members of your family while you are confined to the hospital beyond the initial 8-week period. You aren't expected to pay us back either.

8. How do I go about submitting a claim?
We invite you to contact Cash Benefits Headquarters direct. Whether you want to submit a claim, or just ask us a question, don't hesitate to contact us. As a National Health Plan Member, you are entitled to prompt, courteous and direct attention at all times...and you will get it.

9. Does this Plan pay in any hospital?
You will be covered in the hospital of your choice except, a U.S. Government hospital or a nursing or convalescent facility.

10. Now tell me what's the "catch"—what doesn't my Policy cover?
Get ready for a welcome surprise. Your Policy covers every thing except conditions caused by: act of war; any mental disease or disorder; pregnancy, except as provided under the Maternity Benefit provision; and any sickness or injury you had before the Effective Date of your Policy—but even this last "exclusion" is done away with after you've been a policyowner for only two years. Everything else is definitely covered.

11. If I'm hospitalized less than a month—do you still pay benefits?
Yes! We pay you for every day you're in the hospital. There's no "waiting period" before you start collecting.

12. What are the requirements to enroll in this Extra Cash Hospital Plan?
You must not have been refused or had cancelled any health, hospital or life insurance due to reason of health; and, to qualify during this Enrollment Period, you must enroll before midnight of the date shown on the Enrollment Form.

13. Besides saving money—are there any other advantages of joining the National Health Plan during this Enrollment Period?
Yes. A very important one is that you don't need to complete a lengthy, detailed application—just the brief Enrollment Form in the corner of this page. Also, during this Enrollment Period there are no extra requirements for eligibility, and no "waivers" or restrictive endorsements can be put on your Policy!

14. How do I enroll?
Fill out the brief Enrollment Form and mail it with your first month's premium for the first month's protection for your entire family. Mail to our licensed North Carolina resident agent: Mr. Edward Castle, 930 East Boulevard, Charlotte, North Carolina 28204.

MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE

We will send your National Home Policy by mail. Examine it carefully in the privacy of your own home. Show it, if you wish, to your own insurance agent, doctor, lawyer or other trusted adviser. If you decide, for any reason, that you don't want to continue as a member of this Plan, return the Policy within 15 days of the date you receive it, and we will promptly refund your money. Meanwhile, you will be fully protected while making your decision!

Hot-Shooting Bears Down Rampants

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

New Bern's Bears, who blistered the nets in their first meeting with the Rose Rampants, seemed to be far away from that in last night's game. The Rampants, handicapped by the loss of Mike Harrington to an injury, and only the part-time play of Charlie Harris, due to illness, looked like sure winners at the half, as they held a 34-28 lead over the inept Bears.

But in the second half, New Bern regained that touch it seems so often to have against Rose teams, and blistered the nets at an even more furious pace.

And by the time it was over, the Bears had rolled to a 76-66 victory.

They used amazing shooting and top rebounding to do the trick. In the second half, prior to the coming-on-of-the-reserves after the game was all wrapped up, the Bears connected on 19 of 34 shots, for an amazing 55.7 per cent.

And they didn't let a single loose ball get away. Rose managed only four rebounds in the first 12 minutes of the second half. The Bears gave the Rampants only one shot, and they needed only one themselves, as they used the third period to run roughshod over the Rampants.

By the time the dust of the period had cleared, the Rampants had not only lost their six-point lead, but were trailing, 49-41, as they managed only seven points in the period.

And New Bern just added the final period as an additional kicker, as they outpumped the Rampants, 27-15, to make it a runaway.

The game was quite close throughout most of the first half. Both teams had the opportunity to lead, and each held the lead about half of the time.

New Bern pushed through two baskets at the start as Chuck Mohn hit on two in a row. Rose finally got on the board after nearly two minutes of play as Ray Peszko hit, but Mohn struck again to make it 6-2.

Billy Clark and Willie Smith hit one each to tie it up, however, but New Bern regained the lead on another fine Mohn shot. Smith hit for Rose to tie it again, and then Joe West scored on the fast break to put Rose out into a 10-8 lead. Clark added another basket to send the Rampants out by four.

New Bern fought back and tied it up on a free throw by Chip Heath at 14-14. Peszko put Rose back out, but Steve Fisher tied it again. Peszko put through a pair of free throws with 28 seconds left, and Rose held to an 18-16 lead at the half.

New Bern tied it up as Bobby Marshburn hit from underneath after nearly two minutes of play in the second half. Larry Moser then stole the ball to put the Bears back on top, 20-18 with 5:41 to go.

Rose finally hit again, this time after nearly three minutes of play, as West tied it up. New Bern went back out on another Mohn basket, but that was to be it for the half.

Rose tied it on a driving layup by Harris, who had come off the bench. Peszko then tapped in a rebound to put Rose on top again, 24-22. Another Peszko tap moved the lead out to four, and Clark stole the ball to make the margin six, 28-22.

The two teams swapped points the rest of the half, which ended with Rose leading, 34-28.

The Bears came back hot, Marshburn and Moser each hit at the start, then Mohn tied it up with a tap with 5:25 to go. Smith put Rose back out, but Marshburn tied it again, 36-36. Clark hit on a jumper to put Rose back ahead, but for the last time.

Mohn drove in to tie it at 38-38 with 3:47 to go, and Marshburn hit on a foul shot 20 seconds later to put New Bern ahead, 39-38.

Moser added a bucket to run the lead to three, and Marshburn hit to make it five at 43-38. After swapping a shot with the Rampants, New Bern got two more baskets, as Mohn hit both, and Rose could manage only a foul shot, and trailed, 49-41 at the end of the period.

In the final frame, the Bears were even more unstoppable. They pushed in seven straight points before Rose could score, running the lead out to 15, at 56-41. And after that, they ran the lead out to as much as 26 points before the reserves took the court for the final two minutes of play.

Mohn led New Bern's attack with 31 points. Marshburn had 19, and Moser contributed 11.

For Rose, Peszko finished with 14, all in the first half, while Smith had 11 and Clark got 10. The Rampants, now 4-4, and knocked out of second place, play host to league-leader Goldsboro on Friday, then close out the regular season Tuesday against Kinston.

Blue Jays Defeat Rams On Foul Shots, 79-70

STOKES — The Stokes Pactolus Blue Jays pushed through 35 free throws last night to down Robersonville, 79-70, in a non-conference meeting. The Robersonville girls, however, had an easy time in their 56-16 win.

Stokes and Robersonville were neck-and-neck through the first frame, with the Blue Jays getting a 16-15 lead at the buzzer. It remained just as tight throughout the second frame, when both pushed through 18 points. That left Stokes on top, 34-33 at the half.

In the third period, the Blue Jays managed to get a little breathing room, but not much, as they outscored the Rams, 20-17. That left them with a 54-50 lead as the final period got underway. Stokes then outshot Robersonville, 25-20 in the final period, to inch away and take the nine-point win.

Donald White led Stokes with 25 points, while Charles Wynn had 19 and John James had 10. For Robersonville, Timmy James had 22, William Coppage had 12, and Dwight Bryant and Tyward Perkins each had 11.

In the girls' contest, Robersonville jumped off to a 19-3 lead in the first period, and were never in any trouble after that. They outshot Stokes, 10-6, in the second period and led, 29-9 at the half.

In the third period, Robersonville pushed through 11 to three for Stokes and moved out into a 40-12 lead. The Eves then outpointed Stokes, 16-4, down to the wire, to wrap it up.

Kay Coburn led Robersonville with 23 points.

Eppes Junior High School got revenge for an earlier loss by taking a 35-34 victory over Aycock Junior High.

Aycock shot away into a 10-6 lead in the first period, but Eppes started its comeback in the second period. The Bulldogs outscored the Phantoms, 14-12, and cut the lead to 22-20 at intermission.

Aycock padded its lead out to four again in the third period, by outshooting Eppes, 7-5. That left the Phants in command, 29-25 at the end of the period. But the Bulldogs then took command and ripped through 10 points in the final period, while Aycock could manage only five, and it won the game for Eppes.

Lonnie Peyton led Eppes with 16 points, while Alphonse Hunter paced Aycock with 13.

SNOW HILL — Hobbs upset Greene Central last night 53-45 in an Eastern Plains basketball game. The see-saw battle was not decided until the fourth frame, when Hobbs pumped in 16 points, to nine for the Rams to insure the visitors win.

Greene Central had led 14-11 at the end of the first, but Hobbs pushed in 16 in the second period to 10 for the home team to give Hobbs a 27-24 half time lead. Greene Central cut two off the lead in the third with 12 to 10 for Hobbs to make it 37-36 going into the fourth.

Hobbs 16 points in the final period did the trick, to give them the 53-45 game.

Robbie Hill and Mike Giles led the Rams scoring with 12 apiece, while James Davis had 16 for Hobbs, Larry Beaman 13, and Larry Davis and Dwight Darden 10 apiece.

The Rams junior varsity took their game 57-45.

The Pirates nearly pulled off their long-desire upset of the highly-rated Tar Heels, who are listed as one of the favorites in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

The Bucs, who won only three events last year, captured seven this time, while Carolina got six firsts. Depth, however, made the difference, as the Tar Heels were able to add more seconds and thirds than the Pirates.

The Apricot Award, giving to the top Pirate performers in each meet, was shared by four this time, double winners Jim Griffin, Paul Trevisan and Bob Baird, and breaststroker Larry Allman, who turned in his best time every.

Indians Tie For Title; Squaws Win In Overtime

BETHEL — Bethel wrapped up one title and a share of another with a pair of wins over the Grifton Bulldogs last night. The girls won their title, with a 46-38 overtime win over Grifton, while the boys rolled to an 88-68 win.

The win left Bethel's girls unbeaten in conference play this year. But it was a tough game for the Squaws to win. Bethel inched out into a 12-11 lead in the first period of play, but Grifton came back strong to take the halftime lead. The Lady Bulldogs outscored Bethel, 12-7 to lead, 23-19 at intermission.

Bethel came back in the third period, hitting 10 to Grifton's seven, but still trailed by one, 30-29, as the final period opened. Then, with just seconds left, Susan James hit a free throw to tie it up at 38-38.

Miss James then hit the first basket of the overtime, as Bethel dumped in eight and kept Grifton scoreless, to take the win and the title.

Miss James ended up with 24 points, while Carolyn Whichard had 10. Marion McLawhorn and Jennifer Smith each had 12 for Grifton.

In the boys game, Bethel pushed out into a 19-10 lead in the first period and was never headed, Grifton did outscore Bethel, 14-13, in the second frame, but still trailed 32-24 at halftime.

Bethel pushed through 19 points in the third period, while Grifton had 14, and that ran the lead out to 51-38. In the final period, both teams did completely away with the defense, and blazed the nets. Bethel still came out on top, however, 37-30, in the period, to finish the runaway.

Eddie Stokes led Bethel with 33 points, while L. D. Casper had 22 and Gary James had 12. For Grifton, David Whaley had 26, and Mike Foss and Billy Edwards each had 12.

Belvoir Beats Ayden, Ties For Title

By CARL TYER

Reflector Sports Writer

BELVOIR — Belvoir's boys finished out their regular season play with a 78-66 victory over Ayden in a foul-filled game last night. The Belvoir win, along with Bethel's victory over Grifton last night, throws the boys conference into a tie for the championship, as both teams finished the season with 10-2 conference marks. The Ayden girls took their game with a comeback 45-41 score, after trailing most of the night.

Ayden had four men to foul out in the boys contest, three of them starters, going early in the second half. Belvoir meanwhile had two men to go out due to fouls, their first two men to foul out of a game this year.

The Eagles put up a comfortable 24-15 lead in the first period, and maintained a substantial margin throughout the remainder of the contest, although Ayden did cut it back down to five points several times.

The Eagles were paced by William Shiver, with 27 points, while Andy McLawhorn led Ayden with 24, keeping the Tornadoes in the game in the first period, with 10 points, in the first period.

Belvoir took a 6-2 lead, and pushed it out to 10-4 early in the first period, and from there played on an Ayden cold spell to make their lead 14-6 with 4:03 to go in the first period.

From there it went to 18-9, and 24-15 at the end of the period. Ayden kept up with the Eagles in the second quarter, outscoring them 17-16, but Belvoir padded their lead in the third with 18 points, to 13 for the Tornadoes to make it 58-45 going into the final frame, with three of the Ayden starters sitting on the bench, and one other in the game with four fouls on him.

In the final period, Ayden fought back to come within ten points several times, but could not break the ten point gap. They had trailed by five and six points in the third, but the Eagles made use of their numerous trips to the foul line, to maintain their advantage.

Joey Moore was second high for Belvoir with 19 points, while J. W. Wooten had 13. Pat Finnigan had 13 for Ayden, along with 11 for Alan Wilson.

In the girls game, Kathy Manning sparked the Ayden comeback, pushing in 11 points in the final frame to give the

In the third period, South Lenoir turned on a rally, and outslugged the Lady Devils, 10-3, and cut the lead back to 27-15. They continued to rally in the final period, pushing in 12 to Farmville's three, but the three was just enough to provide the win.

Serita Hardee led Farmville with 15 points.

In the boys contest, South Lenoir and Farmville battled through the first period with the Red Devils inching out into and 18-16 lead at the horn. In the second period, South Lenoir reversed things, outthitting Farmville, 12-10, and the score

Overtime Win For Rose Cubs

Rose High School's junior varsity continued its love of overtimes here last night, as they took a 75-72 victory over the New Bern Bear Cubs, in an extra period.

The Rampant Cubs lost a 10-point lead in the game, then battled back in the overtime to win it.

New Bern had taken the lead in the opening frame on a foul shot by Jim Davis, but the Rampants got it as Robert Kear hit a jumper. From there, Rose pushed out into as much as a five-point lead in the first period, and held an 11-8 lead at the end of the frame.

In the second period, the Rampants got a streak going and moved out into a 10-point lead late in the period. That came when Kear drove in with 3:16 to go making it 26-16. But the Bears fought back and chipped away at the lead, finally cutting it to as little as five points. But Rose pushed out by two more and led, 31-24 at the half.

The second half saw Rose push back out into an early eight point lead, which they held onto throughout the first part of the period. But midway through, New Bern began to start catching up. They cut the lead back to three, but Rose pushed away again, and led, 54-47 at the end of the quarter.

But in the final period, the Rampant Cubs were unable to hold onto the lead. New Bern slowly cut away at the lead and finally tied it up as Glen Russell drove in for a basket with 3:24 left, making it 61-61. Linwood Staton put the Cubs back on top, but a pair of free throws by John Gaskins tied it at 63-63.

Kear put Rose back out with two charity shots, but again New Bern tied it, this time on a jumper by Robin Stanley. Kear hit on a jumper, and Staton was fouled as he waited for a rebound. He put in the free throw and Rose led, 68-65 with 41 seconds left.

But New Bern refused to give up. A pair of free throws by Gaskins cut the lead to one with 35 seconds to go, and then Donnie Daly stole the ball and was fouled. He hit the first, but missed on the charge to put the Bear Cubs ahead, and it was tied at 68-68. Rose missed on its final attempt to score, bringing on the overtime.

Jim Davis hit to put New Bern ahead after over a minute was gone in the extra period. Rose tied it up, and then went ahead on three free throws by Aloysius Wooten, at 71-70. New Bern returned to the lead as Stanley drove in for a basket, but that was it.

Kear hit a jumper to put Rose ahead, and with four seconds left, Clarence Snuggs wrapped it up with a pair of free throws, making it 75-72, the final score.

Kear led the Rampant Cubs with 28, while Robert Carraway had 18 and Staton had 18.

For New Bern, Gaskins had 15 and Daly had 10.

New Bern: Gaskins 15, Stanley 8, Birch 4, Davis 9, Russell 9, Gray 6, Daly 10, Dunn, Stanfield 5, Fuller 4, Barrett 2.
Rose: Kear 28, Prewett, Staton 15, Carraway 18, Lamb 5, Wooten 6, Daniels 1, Williams, Snuggs 2.

Expert Opines Youth Market Is Oversold

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — As some people have been led to believe, the United States of America is about to be taken over by an army of youth, 100-million strong and intolerant of old concepts and beliefs.

Responding to this popular notion, thousands of businesses today are preparing themselves for the new era, overhauling their marketing strategies for the day, sometime in the 1970s, when half the population will be under 25.

Already the evidence of preparation can be seen in various areas of life. Parents solicit advice from their youngsters. Educators, clergy, government officials, politicians all seek the wisdom of youth. And the over-35 individual with a ear for the thoughts of youth feels he is in an enviable, privileged position.

Few, however, have studied the youthful scene in the same manner as the marketing man — the specialist whose job it is to find out what the populace will-buy and then devising ways to see that it does buy.

And few may be making a more serious error.

"Too many marketing and advertising men are selling a youth market rather than a youthful market," says one marketing man. "As a result, their 'new generation' approaches are not reaching the focal point of spending power."

That's the opinion of Solomon Dutka, president of Audits & Surveys. He finds that some companies seemingly have the figure 25 fixed in their minds, when in reality buying power will remain with 35 to 45-year-olds.

"You just cannot rely on sheer numbers," says Dutka, "because a goodly segment of the under-25 population is comprised of infants and school age children." Their buying decisions are for dolls, records and breakfast foods.

In terms of spending power, he maintains, "the figures show that the 18- to 34-year-old segment will account for only 30 per cent of all spending by 1975."

Research into the mind of youth continues, however, in a volume that might compare pound for pound with the U.S. Census, but there appears to be even more doubt regarding the value of the contents.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States surveyed 5,000 college students and learned a great deal about their motivations, opinions, plans and frustrations, but it may be difficult to rely on at least two of the answers.

On a day when all suits break, declarer would expect to experience little trouble in winning all 13 tricks on the above deal. South was well satisfied to be in a small slam in hearts, however, and he was willing to invest the price of an overtrick to protect himself against adverse distribution.

West opened the ten of spades which was covered by dummy's jack, East's queen and ruffed by declarer with the six of hearts. A small diamond was trumped in dummy and South reentered his hand by overtaking the jack of hearts with the king. He ruffed another diamond and led to his queen of clubs to draw the remaining trump with two more pulls.

With two losing diamonds left in his hand, there might be a temptation at this point to attempt to run dummy's clubs for, if that suit divides three-two, as expected, South will have a parking place for his small diamonds and can claim 13 tricks.

Declarer was willing to forgo the opportunity to score every trick, however, in the interest of assuring his contract. When he led a small club from his hand and West played the seven, the latter was permitted to hold the trick as dummy followed with the four. When East showed out, South's small investment was revealed to have paid a handsome dividend for, had he gone up with North's king of clubs, he would have been unable to run the suit, and there would be no way to avoid the loss of two diamond tricks.

West returned a spade which declarer ruffed. The ace of diamonds was cashed and another club was led. The ace and king picked up West's remaining clubs and dummy's five took the last trick.

The Worry Clinic Basic Tool Is Reading Skill

Norman's daddy is wealthy. But the old adage is still true that "There is no royal road to learning." The on essential for school success is the ability to read fluently! Everything else is secondary. If kiddies were taught to be good readers, we could safely disband public schools after the sixth grade! Taxpayers, wake up!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
PH. D., M.D.
CASE K-582: Norman Jr., aged 8, is a poor reader. "Dr. Crane," his worried mother began, "the teacher says he is failing. "She wants to hold him back a year.

"But that will hurt his pride terribly for his close pals are in the same grade with him.

"So what can I do to help him be a better reader?"

Mothers, you can generally bring a normal youngster back up to the average of his class in 6 weeks by a little deft home tutoring.

So don't let your kiddies grow "sour" on school or feel fearful lest they be "held back."

For you can probably remedy the matter within 6 weeks if you are willing to sugar-coat a little home tutoring.

Remember, the ability to read easily is the major dividend that grammar schools offer.

Alas, many high school graduates still can't read fluently or with understanding and the same goes for college freshmen! In fact, many astute statesmen are saying we may be forced to cut back on all free public schooling, at least after the 6th grade, and focus primarily on reading, writing and arithmetic.

Those three basic talents are now being ignored, so why spend so much tax money teaching athletics, ball room dancing, cooking and other subjects the kids could learn on their own hook, without expenditure of billions in taxes?

The average high school graduate still can't add swiftly, nor multiply.

He (or she) can't write an intelligible script!

And their reading is what we used to call 4th grade level!

So it is high time to hark back to the fundamentals, namely, reading, writing and arithmetic, which nurtured Washington, Jefferson, Ben Franklin and the authors of our famous U.S. Constitution!

In fact, any ambitious person can get a good education all by himself, if he learns to read with ease.

You parents should develop a reading game via "flash cards."

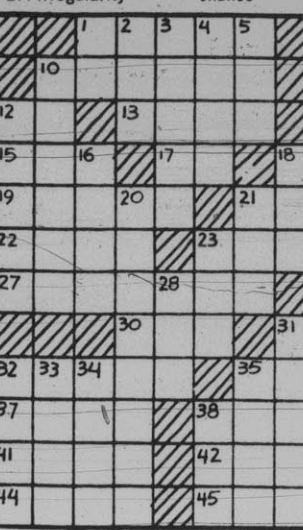

Pick out 100 to 200 nouns, verbs and adjectives from your child's current reading book at school.

Then print one such word on each strip of white cardboard. Hold up two cards, and let your child notice the different printed shape of the words, as well as pronounce them.

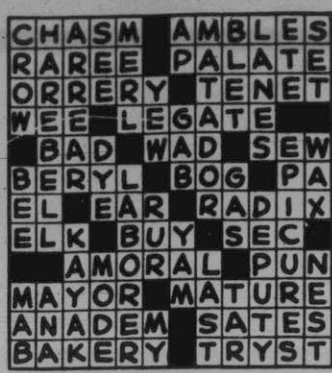

Shuffle and then hold up one at

THE "OUTSIDE" CONGREGATION

DALLAS (AP) — The Rev. Vic Jackopson, a former London street gang leader and now a Baptist minister, told a group here that "the only way a church can fulfill its ministry is to relate to those who ... wouldn't come to it on a bet."

Silver Salver Was Gift From Uncle George

WASHINGTON (AP) — When George Washington's niece, Elizabeth, married Gen. Alexander Spotswood in 1769, her wedding present from George Washington was a silver salver which is now in the State Department's prestigious silver collection.

Though things have changed in the past 200 years—skirts and the cost of living have soared, and empires toppled—brides are still clinging to the silver standard.

Almost the first thing a girl does after her engagement is announced is race down to her favorite jeweler to register her favorite pattern. By the time the knot's tied, the average bride has collected close to a thousand dollars' worth of silver booty from fond relatives, according to a silver company survey.

Guam is about 30 miles long and 8½ miles across at its widest point.

Auto Liability Rates Assailed

RALEIGH (AP) — A special study commission was told Tuesday that auto liability insurance rates are too high in North Carolina and that there is "rank discrimination" in the selling and renewal of policies.

"I am here because I feel that the auto owners in North Carolina are paying entirely too much for their auto insurance now and that the 'big boys' of the auto insurance industry know it," said Wilbur Hobby, president of the state AFL-CIO.

"We are sick and tired of the treatment that the general public is receiving in regards to cancellation and renewal of their policies," Hobby continued.

"And, we are shocked to find rank discrimination in the selling and renewal of automobile insurance based upon race based upon where one lives, based upon occupation, based upon marital status, and upon service in the armed forces of the United States," he continued.

ued. State Rep. H. P. (Pop) Taylor, of Wake County, also complained that insurance rates are too high. He urged the commission to recommend something to keep rates down.

Earl Johnson, a Raleigh insurance agent, told the commission which will report its recommendations to Gov. Scott and the 1971 General Assembly later this year, that insurance companies try to put as many policyholders as they can in assigned risk.

"You let them charge these on assigned risk 20 per cent more and we'll all be on assigned risk," he said.

Johnson told the commission a college professor client of his had paid premiums to a company for 38 years without a claim. After the client had his first wreck, the company cancelled his policy, Johnson said.

"Once one of them cancels you, you're gone," Johnson added. "You'll be lucky if you ever get out of assigned risk. There's a stigma attached to it."

BELL IS SILENT

NEW YORK (UPI)—The largest known bell in the world is in the Kremlin in Russia. It was cast in 1733, weighs 193 tons and has never been rung because a fire destroyed its supports and it was partially broken in the fall, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Hearing On Power Rates

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Utilities Commission continued to hear testimony today in a case in which Duke Power Co. is seeking to tie its power rates to the cost of fuel.

Glenn Coan, a Duke vice president, presented the company's position as the hearings began Tuesday.

Opposing the request are the attorney general's office, the North Carolina consumer council, the Tar Heel Electric Membership Corp., and Electricities — cities which buy power from private utilities but distribute it over their own lines.

Duke's arguments as presented by Coan were:

—The Charlotte-based firm has raised rates only once since 1953 and make six rate reductions in the 1960s.

The cost of fuel is a major operating cost and it can fluctuate from 5 to 10 per cent in a month.

There are 265 investor-owned private utilities in the nation and 152 of these, or 57 per cent, have fuel cost adjustment clauses.

The Utilities Commission and the North Carolina Supreme Court, have previously approved the concept of a fuel adjustment clause, and Duke had a similar clause in effect from 1948 to 1953.

The clause is needed if Duke is to maintain a health rate of return on its investment.

Scott Proposes A Step By President

WASHINGTON (AP) — North Carolina Gov. Bob Scott suggested Tuesday President Nixon order Robert H. Finch, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, to stop pressuring Tar Heel colleges and universities on desegregation.

Scott, in Washington for a meeting with the state's congressional delegation, said he expected HEW to notify him shortly that North Carolina colleges and universities are not in compliance with desegregation rules.

HEW officials have urged the

The non-credit course is especially designed for those who require knowledge of accounting principles and techniques, even though they do not intend to practice accounting.

Dr. Moore At Conference

Charge Driver In Mishap Here

Herbert Lee Staton, 21-year-old Negro of Route 3, Greenville was charged with failing to yield the right of way in a 5:05 p.m. mishap yesterday at the intersection of Fifth and Vance Streets.

Police reported the Staton vehicle collided with a car driven by James Alridge Arnold, 55, of Sanford, causing an estimated $255 damage to the Arnold car and about $250 damage to the Staton vehicle. No injuries were reported.
