Find Avalanche Dead

GENEVA (AP) — Working through the night under floodlights, searchers in two Alpine villages had recovered the bodies of 22 avalanche victims early today, an injured person had died in hospital, and 21 persons were still missing.

The biggest toll was in Reckingen, in southwest Switzerland, where a huge snowslide roared down into the Rhone valley at dawn Tuesday and buried 50 people.

Twenty-one of the victims were pulled from the snow alive, but one died during the night. By dawn today 14 bodies had been found, and police said there was virtually no hope for the 15 still buried.

Across the Alps to the southwest in the little French village of Lans-le-Villard, eight bodies had been found, two persons were missing, and eight were injured. But a man and woman were dug alive from the wreckage of a partially destroyed hotel more than 17 hours after the avalanche.

Offensive Unchecked

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The North Vietnamese-Pathet Lao offensive rolled on unchecked in east-central Laos today as the defenders of Muong Soui and their families straggled back to Gen. Vang Pao's headquarters at Long Cheng, 35 miles to the south.

Vang Pao reportedly had planned to reinforce the strategic mile-long airstrip and the town of Muong Soui with a battalion from the 10,000 Meo tribesmen he commands, but changed his mind when enemy ground fire prevented troop-carrying planes from landing at the field.

Sources in Vientiane said the company of Meo and Lao troops defending the post 15 miles west of the Plain of Jars were ordered to abandon it at dusk Tuesday.

Air strikes hit Muong Soui early today, but the enemy apparently expected the attack and took cover in the hills adjacent.

On A Population Basis

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled 5 to 3 today that when school board members are elected the election must be held on an equal population basis.

Justice Hugo L. Black, in announcing the extension of the one-man, one-vote principle to elected school boards, said these boards exercise important governmental powers.

They levy and collect taxes, he said, hire and fire teachers, issue bonds, make contracts, supervise and discipline students and acquire property by condemnation.

Therefore, Black said, election of their members must be in accord with the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justices John M. Harlan and Potter Stewart dissented.

No $50,000 Donation

RALEIGH (AP) — The leaders of North Carolina's Democratic party said today they are rejecting, at least temporarily, a request from the national party for a $50,000 contribution.

Gene Simmons, state party chairman, said the amount requested "is ridiculous."

"We're not broke, but we're not rich either," Simmons said. "We've got to see about the party here first."

And, he added, "We've got to wait and see how they (national party officials) are going to treat us first."

Chuck Barbour, the party's executive director, said the request for funds came to former chairman Jimmy Johnson of Charlotte, who resigned in January and was succeeded by Simmons.

The national party asked for money from all states.

Jeered Off A Stage

AMHERST, Mass. (AP) — Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, jeered off a stage before he could give a scheduled speech, says the country is in trouble when small groups can force their will upon the majority.

The outburst began as Humphrey appeared onstage at the University of Massachusetts Tuesday night to deliver a lecture on foreign policy.

One group of students in long black robes chanted "guilty, guilty, guilty," apparently to express their displeasure with the conviction of five persons in the Chicago riot trial.

Other demonstrators booed, stamped and tossed paper on the stage.

The former vice president offered to entertain questions about Chicago before giving his prepared speech, but was drowned out by the demonstrators, who appeared to number about 250 in the crowd of some 5,000.

Census Office Opened

The Greenville District Census Office, covering 17 northeastern North Carolina counties, officially opened this morning at 11:00 o'clock with a ribbon cutting ceremony performed by Mayor Frank M. Wooten, Jr.

The Census Office is located in the building on Third and Evans Streets formerly the site of the Greenville Main Post Office.

On hand to help the mayor were Jerry Scott, District Manager of the 1970 U.S. Census of Population and Housing in this area; City Councilman Jerry Sutherland, Greenville Postmaster Joseph Dudley; Pitt County Republican Chairman Frank Steinbeck Jr., Farmville Postmaster Bob Humphrey, City Engineer C.A. Holiday and members of Scott's staff.

"We are pleased to have you located here," Mayor Wooten told the group following the ribbon cutting ceremony. "It is again an indication that Greenville is indeed becoming the growth center of Eastern North Carolina."

The opening at this date precedes the official start of the census which will be launched on April 1.

Records For 3 Parks In N.C.

RALEIGH (AP) — Three national park facilities in North Carolina hold records.

Edward A. Hummel, assistant director of park management in the National Park Service, said Tuesday the Great Smoky National Park was the most visited national park in 1969. The Blue Ridge Parkway in North Carolina and Virginia the most visited parkway. And the Cape Hatteras National Seashore was host to more campers than any other seashore.

Pompidou To Face Joint Session

Uncertain Reception Awaits

By WILLIAM J. WAUGH
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite denials that his country has taken sides in the Middle East crisis, French President Georges Pompidou was faced today with the possibility of a cool, if not hostile, reception during his address to a joint meeting of Congress.

Some congressmen had predicted nearly half the House membership might boycott his appearance in protest of the French sale of fighter planes to Libya. At least one House member, Rep. Lester L. Wolff, D-N.Y., declared he would walk out in the middle of Pompidou's talk.

The French leader, on the first full day of his eight-day visit to the United States, said Tuesday France is "neither in one camp nor in the other" in the Middle East. "We are certainly not against Israel," he told The National Press Club.

Defending the sale of French planes to Libya, Pompidou said the decision was made because "there was suddenly a gap, a vacuum we did not provoke. We felt it was in our interest to fill this gap."

Pompidou met with Nixon for two hours prior to the Press Club talk and, said presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, the two leaders discussed the world situation in detail, touching on the Middle East.

At the same time, diplomatic aspects of the Middle East crisis, including four-power talks among Britain, the Soviet Union, France and the United States, were discussed in a meeting of Secretary of State William Rogers and French Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann in a nearby Cabinet room, Ziegler said.

Nixon went all out to welcome the visiting leader, greeting him at the White House as the head of "our oldest friend and oldest ally in Europe" and then "holding a huge state dinner in his honor Tuesday night. Nixon also will attend a formal dinner tonight to be given by Pompidou at the French Embassy.

While U.S. officials worried about demonstrations that could embarrass the French leader, some congressmen mapped their plans to protest French policy in the Middle East during Pompidou's address.

Rep. Bertram L. Podell, D-N.Y., said 220 House members had agreed to boycott his appearance and 85 congressmen, led by Rep. Torbert H. Macdonald, D-Mass., signed a declaration against "France's continued irresponsibility in the Middle East.

In the Senate, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he knew of no boycott plans. "As far as I know, he will be given the traditional honors due to him and his country," Mansfield said.

House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford, said:

"I do not completely agree with all the policies of the Pompidou administration nor of the preceding DeGaulle administration. But this is a time for statesmanship, not showmanship, a time for reconciliation, not agitation."

During the middle of Pompidou's talk before the Press Club, he was interrupted momentarily by shouts from the balcony. Police took away Eve Berger, 18, an American University student from Atlantic City, N.J.

She said later she considered Pompidou a "murderer, a French Hitler."

Outside the press building, about a dozen demonstrators were taken away by police when they refused to disperse moments before Pompidou's arrival.

Pompidou, meantime, told newsmen that he and Nixon "understood each other very well" during their private talk.

"The President (Nixon) told me," said Ziegler, "he had had a very good talk. It was one of the best talks he has had with a head of state. Very comprehensive."

Promotions, Retirement Among Local SHP Troop

New first and second lieutenants will assume duties at Highway Patrol Troop A headquarters here March 1 with the promotion of the troop's executive officer, 1st Lt. L.J. Lance to captain, and the retirement of 2nd Lt. John B. Boyd.

Lt. Lance's promotion was announced in Raleigh yesterday by Motor Vehicles Commissioner Joe Garrett and Col. E.C. Guy, Highway Patrol commander, who also named replacements for Lance and Boyd, and announced the retirement of Troop F commander, Capt. Ernest S. Guthrie. Lt. Lance will replace Capt. Guthrie as commander of Asheville-based Troop F.

Capt. Guthrie, a native of Harker's Island, joined the patrol in 1939 and served as lieutenant and executive officer of Troop A here before being promoted to the rank of captain and receiving command of Troop F 3 1/2 years ago.

Lt. Lance, a Henderson County native, joined the patrol 22 1/2 ago and served tours at Greensboro, High Point, Marion, Brison City and Murphy, before being named lieutenant and transferred to Greenville as Troop A executive officer in 1966.

The officer is married to the former Beverly Causey of Greensboro, and they have two children.

Lt. Boyd, according to Col. Guy, will retire effective midnight February 28. At his retirement, Col. Guy noted, Boyd will have served more time with the Highway Patrol than any other retired Highway Patrolman, with 38 years 8 months service.

Boyd, promoted to the rank of second lieutenant effective February 1, joined the patrol in 1931 and was stationed in Monroe until 1950 when promoted to sergeant and transferred to Rocky Mount. He was transferred to Troop A headquarters here in 1952 when promoted to technical sergeant.

The 62-year-old officer is married to the former Helen Helms of Monroe and they have two sons.

Lt. Boyd is a native of Gastonia, and plans to make his home in Greenville.

He is a member of Crown Point Masonic Lodge, the Sudan Temple Shrine and the Moose Lodge.

Top Peanut Producer In Pitt County Is Honored

J. H. Farmer of Rt. 1, Stokes was honored last night as the top peanut producer in Pitt County at the annual Peanut Production Meeting held at the Courthouse.

Farmer was presented a trophy for his production achievement by Joe Sugg, executive secretary of the North Carolina Peanut Growers Association.

Vernon Powell and W. H. Warren, both of Rt. 1, Stokes, were named second and third place producers, respectively, in the annual production results.

Guest speaker for the night was Astor Perry, peanut specialist with the Agricultural Extension Service at North Carolina State University.

Speaking on general peanut production practices, Perry pointed out to the 75-80 producers attending a number of new varieties that will be available to farmers in the next few years.

Currently undergoing extensive testing by the N.C. State Extension service, these new varieties indicate development of a successful strain of peanuts for top farm production, Perry said.

The peanut specialist also discussed a new way that has been developed at N. C. State for determining ideal digging dates for peanut harvesting.

Perry pointed out that testing has shown that as the peanut matures, the oil from the product becomes progressively clearer. Sample testing may lead to farmers eliminating guess work concerning the correct time for digging, he said.

On hand for the meeting last night was Pitt County extension chairman Ed Yancey and assistant agent Henry Riddick.

Base Is Given Saigon

By RICHARD PYLE
Associated Press Writer
LAI KHE, Vietnam (AP) — The U.S. Army gave up its second division-size base camp in Vietnam today. It was a major step toward South Vietnamese assumption of the responsibility for guarding the northern approaches to Saigon.

With the U.S. 1st Infantry Division leaving for the United States by April 15, the Americans delivered the division's Lai Khe base camp to the 5th Division of the Army of the Republic of Vietnam. The camp is in a neglected rubber plantation 30 miles north of the capital.

"The 5th ARVN has had the job of picking up the North Vietnamese trying to infiltrate Saigon, and now it is moving north. It is sort of symbolic of the course that the war is taking these days," said Lt. Gen. Julian J. Ewell, the U.S. commander in the 3rd Corps Tactical Zone that includes Saigon.

The 1st Division's departure will leave two other full U.S. divisions, the 25th Infantry and the 1st Air Cavalry, plus two other brigades in the provinces around northwest to east of Saigon.

Lt. Gen. Do Cao Tri, South Vietnamese commander of the 3rd Corps area, said "one or two" of those units may also be replaced soon, "but we don't know how many of which ones - that is still up to the two governments to decide."

Officials said the 12,000-man 5th ARVN division will use only a portion of the Lai Khe base. U.S. support units, including artillery, helicopters and supply forces, will back up the South Vietnamese division "until some future date," Ewell said.

Meanwhile, American B52 bombers hammered North Vietnamese supply depots in eastern Laos again today, continuing the biggest bombing campaign of the war in the region.

Tyer Announces His Candidacy

Falkland farmer and educator, Charlie Tyer, announced today that he is a candidate for Pitt County's Seat One in the North Carolina House of Representatives.

He will oppose Horton Rountree, who presently holds one of the Pitt seats.

In making the announcement, Tyer said, "Eastern North Carolina is in a period of transition. This is true in education, industrial growth, agricultural decline, environmental hazards, and other areas."

"These are the times that demand that a representative of the people have the patience and understanding developed, not in committee nor in the confines of the courtroom, but by daily work with farmers, students, parents, school personnel, and private and corporate businessmen. All of my adult life, I have worked with people and I believe that this experience will be of value to me as a representative if I am elected."

As a guidance counselor at South Edgecombe High School, Tyer deals not only with students and their personal and educational problems, but also does considerable administrative work. He worked last summer as an employment counselor for the North Carolina Employment Security Commission in Rocky Mount.

An interesting fact about Tyer, now 55, is that he started his college education after he was 40 years old and now has done academic work beyond his master's degree. It was only after his three sons were well into grade school that he started as a freshman at East Carolina College.

He graduated in 1962 with a B. S. degree in social studies and immediately began work on his Master of Arts degree, which he received in education with emphasis on administration and guidance.

He taught eighth grade in Farmville for one year before accepting a counseling job in Edgecombe County when this type of service to students was seldom offered in the state's high schools.

The years between the end of World War II and his return to school he spent working for the Pitt County Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Service in several capacities, including training crop reporters and as a troubleshooter dealing with farmers other agents found it difficult to work with.

During World War II, he served in the 15th Air Force, mostly in Southern Italy.

His wife, the former Olive Mayo of Falkland, is a third grade teacher at Sam D. Bunday School in Farmville. Their oldest son, Charlie Brown, an East Carolina graduate, is now serving in the Army in Korea. A second son, Ruel, recently returned from a year's tour in Vietnam and was discharged from the Army this month. Carl, the youngest, will enter the Navy in March.

In addition to his school duties, Tyer manages the Emily H. Tyer Estate, two farms he owns with his five brothers and sisters.

He is an officer of the Falkland Presbyterian Church and teaches the adult Sunday School class there.

North Carolina Nonfarm Jobs Above Jan. '69

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina's nonfarm employment was down by 34,000 in January from December, but showed a gain of 27,000 over January of last year.

State Labor Commissioner Frank Crane reported Tuesday that employment in January reached 1.7 million. Factory employment totaled 704,000 and nonmanufacturing workers totaled 1,029,000.

Retail trade showed the biggest drop, 19,000 as Christmas workers were let go. Construction was next with a 4,200 drop.

'Waste Of Time' As Southern Governors Meet

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A meeting of the Southern Governors Conference to discuss school busing and other educational issues ended after 30 minutes Tuesday night with only six of the 19 member governors in attendance.

"It was a waste of time," Mississippi Gov. John Bell Williams said of the meeting called by Arkansas Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller on the eve of the National Governors Conference here.

"There are only two of us willing to take a position—Lester and me," Williams told a reporter. He was referring to Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox, who attended along with Govs. Williams, Rockefeller, Robert Scott of North Carolina, Robert McNair of South Carolina and Preston Smith of Texas.

Rockefeller, the conference chairman, called the meeting at the insistence of Dr. Mitchell Young, a Texarkana, Tex., surgeon who heads Freedom, Inc., an organization opposed to forced integration of public schools.

Rockefeller confirmed Young's statement at a news conference following the meeting that it was he who asked Rockefeller to call the governors together.

Young, 49, asked the Southern governors to take a stand at the National Governors Conference to support the concept of neighborhood schools, oppose busing to achieve racial integration and support freedom of choice education plans which he described "as American as apple pie."

Young also demanded the governors censure the Supreme Court and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for their "ruthless, coercive, methods" to integrate the schools, and to demand that President Nixon fire HEW secretary Robert H. Finch and Education Commissioner James B. Allen.

Rockefeller called Young's presentation "very eloquent," but added: "I can't say he sold me on it completely."

Maddox said he supported every one of Young's demands.

Because a quorum wasn't present, Rockefeller said, no action was taken. However, he said he would discuss Young's demands with Colorado Gov. John Love, chairman of the National Governors Conference.

One of the Southern governors said privately Rockefeller called the meeting in "an attempt to mend his fences back home."

Woman Amputee Teaches Skiing To Handicapped

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—After 24-year-old Janet Anderson tells veterans at Fitzsimons General Hospital who have lost a leg that they can learn to ski despite their handicap, she straps on her skiing equipment.

Then—the veterans are convinced. For Miss Anderson, a piquant blonde, is an amputee. More than eight years ago, cancer resulted in the amputation of her right leg at the hip.

Like others who ski on but one leg, Miss Anderson uses outriggers—small skis attached to metal crutches that have hand grips as well as metal fasteners around each forearm. The small skis are fitted with spikes that can be lowered to slow movement in the snow.

Miss Anderson, who wears an artificial leg costing $875, works at the hospital one night a week as a Red Cross volunteer in addition to assisting in the ski program for amputees. She holds a full-time job in the accounting department of a bottling company.

She learned to ski two years ago, not long after coming to Denver from Kansas City, where she attended a business college. Her parents live in Garden City, Kan.

"It's hard to put into words," Miss Anderson said, "but amputees share an inner feeling. I guess it's something you have to have experienced to understand."

There are two things she says she wants most out of life.

One is to find "a fellow who will just accept me as I am. I won't want to be treated like I'm terribly fragile and can't do anything. I want to be treated just like anyone else."

Miss Anderson's second goal is to find full-time employment working with persons who have lost an arm or a leg. "I want so much to do that," she says.

COOKING IS FUN!

By CECILY BROWNSTONE Associated Press Food Editor
Nothing tastes better with meat, poultry or fish than a homemade stuffed baked potato. Recipes for the stuffed potatoes usually presume they are going to be prepared at the last minute and reheated briefly in the oven.

We're opposed to this. Our way is to prepare the potatoes hours ahead, then reheat them in the oven for a generous length of time. No watching is necessary. If this at-ease method appeals to you here are exact directions—and mighty good stuffed potatoes they make.

PREPARE-AHEAD STUFFED BAKED POTATOES

- 1 medium baking potatoes, about 1½ pounds
- 1 pound (½ stick) butter, room-temperature soft
- ½ cup milk
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon pepper
- 1 cup finely grated cheddar cheese
- Paprika

With a vegetable brush, scrub potatoes under cold running water; dry with paper toweling. Place on middle rack of a preheated 425-degree oven. Bake until potatoes feel soft when lightly squeezed (with fingers protected) or until centers feel soft when pierced with a fork—about 50 minutes.

Cut a thin lengthwise slice from the top of each potato. Scoop out pulp, reserving potato shells. Put pulp through a food mill placed over a mixing bowl.

Add butter, milk, salt and pepper; mix thoroughly. Spoon back into potato shells. Draw the tip of a fork over each potato to ridge. Scatter a tablespoon of cheese over each potato. Sprinkle with paprika. Put potatoes on utility tray, cover with transparent plastic wrap and refrigerate for as long as six to eight hours or overnight.

About an hour before serving, preheat oven to 425 degrees. Place potatoes on a cookie sheet and bake until hot through and tops are brown and crusty—30 to 40 minutes. Serve at once.

Note: Although the above recipe calls for only four potatoes, you can use it to prepare any number you need. Choose baking potatoes that are 4 to 5 inches long and about 2½ inches across; each potato will weigh 5 or 6 ounces (3 potatoes to about 1 pound). Use the above directions for preparation but for each potato, after you have put them through the food mill, add 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon milk, 1 teaspoon salt and a dash of pepper. Use 1 tablespoon of grated cheese for topping each stuffed potato.

Reader Can't Force Her Son

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd. Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: We have a 20-year-old son in college who has been everything a son should be. He is an adopted child, but we feel that he is superior to any natural child we might have had. I really mean this.

Last summer he met a 19-year-old girl (also a student), and they are now living together in an apartment. They told the landlady they are married, which they are not.

He says "a little scrap of paper is meaningless." He appears to feel no shame or guilt. We've never met the girl, and don't care to. A girl who would live like this is not our cup of tea. Her parents are divorced, and her mother knows she is living with our son and seems to encourage it.

Altho she is on the pill, I'm afraid she might conveniently "forget" one day, and our son will have to marry her.

There are several things we could do to force them to quit living together, but we don't want to hurt our son's future.

We've talked briefly to a psychiatrist, also to the dean of the college, but no one can advise us. Can you?
NO NAME, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: If you think you could force your son to quit living with this girl by withholding financial help, but don't want to "hurt his future," it may not work. You might "inconvenience" him, but some young men make it without money from home, and yours might. As for the girl tricking your son into marriage by "conveniently forgetting" to take her pill—they don't have to LIVE together for this to become a possibility, you know.

There is no way you can FORCE your son to live according to your rules, but tell him that if he doesn't marry this girl, living with her could do him much harm when his reputation comes under scrutiny by future employers.

Personal life styles often reveal a good deal about an individual's stability, common sense, loyalty, and judgment—all important to an employer who is on the hunt for good men.

DEAR ABBY: I just must tell you what Johnny, my little 8-year-old grandson said to me this morning while he was dressing. He said, "Nan, I can't wear this shirt. It itches!" And then he added, "Why don't we write to DEAR ABBY and ask her what to do?"

It seems that just about everything that boy wears "itches" him. But wasn't that a cute thing he said?
MRS. J. O.: JERSEY CITY

DEAR MRS. O.: Thank you for sharing the "cute" remark your grandson made, but it was more than "cute"—it was a cry for help. Johnny is "itching" to tell you that he is allergic. So better get him to an allergy specialist without delay.

DEAR ABBY: I am an 11-year-old girl with a problem. Last year a boy in my class got me interested in football. Ever since then I have wanted to be a quarterback for the Green Bay Packers.

Dolls don't interest me. I would rather sleep with my football. My second choice is to be a veterinarian. I still have my heart set on being a quarterback with the Green Bay Packers. My Dad says I will grow out of it. What do you think?
TOMBOY

DEAR TOMBOY: Yes, you'll grow out of it. Altho the Packers didn't have a very good year, their backfield is still no place for an 11-year-old girl-type quarterback.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Citizens' Chance To Be Heard

Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the City Hall council chambers the final public hearing is to be held on the Central Business District redevelopment project.

This will be the City Council's hearing on the plans for the project which have been developed over a period of years. If the council acts favorably following the hearing the city will be committed to carrying out the long awaited urban renewal project which will give Greenville a downtown area as modern as any to be found anywhere.

The city, through its Redevelopment Commission, has successfully carried out improvements in the Shore Drive area and that is now a model of wide and adequately lighted streets. The CBD project will complement the Shore Drive project, as it will other improvements planned around the city.

A major difference in the Shore Drive project and the CBD project is that in Shore Drive the dilapidated housing that was there was entirely cleared away. In the CBD area a wholesale clearing is not planned. Rather the Redevelopment Commission will cooperate with property owners and business already there to bring about an upgrading of the buildings. Only where street improvements, parking areas and additional property for Sheppard Library are needed are purchasing of property contemplated.

Greenville is fortunate that planning for the CBD project was begun some years ago. Thus federal funds for the project were reserved before it became difficult to obtain such funds.

We feel Greenville has the chance of the century to improve its central business district at a comparative modest cost to the city. Most of our citizens are convinced of the wisdom of carrying out this project and most owners of property and business in the downtown area appear to recognize that this project is vitally needed.

We anticipate no problems in getting this project underway. However, our citizens should let Mayor Frank M. Wooten and members of the council know that they consider this project an absolute must if our growing city is to avoid the problems that have beset much larger cities. This should be done either at the hearing Thursday night or beforehand.

The CBD project is an integral part of street, highway and other developments that are going on in Greenville.

Pollution Control To Require The Experts

Pitt Technical Institute is beginning an extensive course for water pollution control operators.

Some 43 municipal employees from 20 towns across the east have begun the 44 week training program. The participants will be training to meet the standards now being required by the N.C. Department of Water and Air Resources. Under new state laws all towns and industrial firms which produce waste products must have approved operators for water pollution control by next Jan. 1.

Pitt Tech's is the first course to get underway but other schools are planned at Asheville, Charlotte and Fayetteville.

We think what is happening here will be of great benefit to the state. It does little good to construct expensive plants without trained water pollution control operators. Now, though Pitt Tech and other institutes the training will be available for personnel to operate these plants.

Brandt Faces Leftist Push

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

BONN — Although West German Chancellor Willy Brandt is still enjoying a glorious political honeymoon, ominous portents are cropping up in the left wing of the Social-Democratic party (SPD).

The Chancellor himself is too occupied with his energetic pursuit of political and economic openings to the east his Ostpolitik—and with long-overdue domestic welfare reforms to pay much attention to this threat from the left.

But some leading SPD politicians are fearful that if Brandt himself does not soon crack down on his left wing, while his honeymoon with the voters is still going on strong, the SPD left will score major gains. Those gains could undercut this first golden chance of the Democratic Socialists to govern Germany since the melancholy days of the Weimar Republic after World War I.

The goal of the party's left wing was succinctly stated by Jochen Steffen, party chairman of Schleswig-Holstein and member of the national party's executive committee, in the newsmagazine Der Spiegel on Feb. 9: "In two years," said Steffen, "we could have the majority at the party convention if ten people would work on it three days a week."

Precisely because of this threat, some center and right-wing SPD politicians are now trying to persuade Brandt and his high command, particularly Defense Minister Helmut Schmidt, to come down hard on the left wing before its plot can hatch.

Schmidt, the dynamic and outspoken party vice-chairman who counts himself in the SPD right wing, is the chief target of the Steffen threat. Steffen, Walter Moeller, the SPD leader in Frankfurt, and the radical element in the Young Socialists, headed by Karsten Voigt, want to vote Schmidt out of his party vice-chairmanship at the SPD party convention in Saarbruecken in early May. As of today, they have about as much chance to take over the SPD and unseat Schmidt as, say, the New Left in the Democratic party has to take over the Democratic National Committee.

But battle lines are now being formed, and if Brandt's bold initiatives with Ostpolitik or his domestic reforms should turn out to be failures, the SPD new left would come into possession of powerful ammunition against the controlling center, epitomized by Brandt himself.

Actually, the left is far less interested today in its traditional objective—recognition of East Germany as a sovereign state—than in radical economic, fiscal, and property reforms at home. This ideological split between the left and the center, in fact, has been fundamental ever since the party renounced its Marxist base at the famous Bad Godesberg party conference in 1959.

The left never accepted that basic restructuring of the SPD, even though without it the party could never have attained anything like its present strength. Moreover, the left fought hard against Brandt's decision, strongly supported by the party's principal theoretician, Dr. Hubert Wehner, to join the Christian Democrats in the Grand Coalition of 1966.

Some of Brandt's top men including the immensely able State Secretary, Horst Ehmke, think that fear of a resurgent left wing, now that

Strength For Today

THE PENDULUM SWINGS

With all our present-day talk about democracy, the hard, unpleasant fact remains that for the past fifty years the race has been headed in the direction of increased authority. We fought a war to make the world safe for democracy, and in the end we had less democracy than when we started. The Czar and the Kaiser were succeeded by Stalin and Hitler. In our own country, basic democratic freedoms have apparently had to be surrendered in order that we might prepare ourselves to withstand totalitarianisms. Our lives are regimented now as never before. We talk democracy, yet all the time we walk as fast as we can toward totalitarianism.

The first thing of which we should remind ourselves is that totalitarianism spoils the spirit of the men. It will spoil and finally ruin the spirit of America if we allow it to continue. The second thing we need also to notice is that the willingness to be subject to others, the docility with which men obey directives, is clear indication that they have lost something of real value out of their inner lives. But we should not give up hope. One of the best indications of the growing improvements in the spiritual life of people in free nations is the annoyance they have begun to manifest here and abroad toward the disposition of a few higher-ups to manage them.

A Market For Letters

WASHINGTON — It was only after Jackie Kennedy Onassis' letters to former Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell Gilpatric were lifted from his safe that anyone realized the market value of Jackie's stolen letters.

A few days after the publicity of Mrs. Onassis' letters a man walked into my office and said he had four letters he would like to sell me, written by Ros Gilpatric. "To Jackie Kennedy Onassis?" I asked. "No," he said. "To Mrs. Robert McNamara. They were stolen from her bureau drawer and concern a surprise party Gilpatric was planning for Robert McNamara." "That doesn't seem to have much value," I said. "Are you crazy?" he said. "They were written by the man to whom Jackie Kennedy wrote 'Dear Ros.'" "How much are they?" I asked. "Five-hundred dollars for the four of them," he said, "and you ask no questions how I got them."

ART BUCHWALD

"That's too much money," I said. "All right," he said. "How about four letters Mrs. McNamara wrote to Averell Harriman on his 75th birthday?" "What are asking for those?" "Four-hundred dollars." "You mean to say you would not be willing to pay $400 to own the letters of the woman to whom Roswell Gilpatric wrote before Jackie Kennedy wrote to him?"

"Well, I didn't exactly say that." "I could have gone elsewhere with these," he said, sticking them back in his pocket and pulling out another set of letters. "Now these are letters Averell Harriman wrote to the New York State Democratic Party asking them to unite behind somebody—anybody. They were slipped to me by Mrs. Harriman in a moment of jealous anger. I'm asking $300 for them."

"You're a thief," I cried. "A thief, am I? Do you realize these letters were written by the man who received letters from the woman who owned letters from the man whom Jackie Kennedy Onassis thanked for sending her a slim volume of poems?" "All right, then," he said, opening his valise. "For $200 I will sell you 10 letters from the New York State Democratic Party, asking for contributions to draft Arthur Goldberg for governor of New York. Before you protest, I would like to remind you that you would own the letters of a party whom the man to whom the woman to whom the man to whom Mrs. Kennedy Onassis once wrote 'With my love, Jackie.'"

"Do you have anything cheaper?"

Other Editors Say Relief For Tobacco

(Henderson Dispatch)

Ever and anon one hears speculation as to an effort to be made in the 1971 Legislature to repeal the two and a half cents per pack excise tax on cigarettes. No organized movement has taken hold, however, and there is no certainty that a serious attempt will be made.

It has been claimed that with the growing treasury surplus there was actually no emergency to justify the levy. It was designed to help raise money to increase teacher salaries. Governor Scott, it will be remembered, wanted a five cents tax but consented to half that in consideration of the penny per bottle levy on soft drinks. Both were and have been unpopular before and since they became effective last October 1.

If an effort may be made for repeal, one strike against it will be the fact that once the public becomes accustomed to such digs there is less aggressiveness toward abolishing them. By the time the next Legislature meets these excises will have been in effect for considerably more than a year, and consumers by then may have become hardened to paying with each purchase.

There is in some thinking the feeling that the State will be fortunate if an increase, especially as to cigarettes, can be avoided, to say nothing of repeal of the existing tax. That, too, is pure speculation, of course.

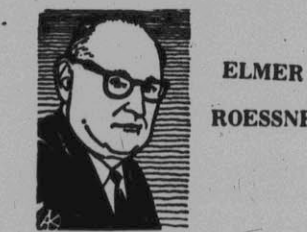

Tobacco is burdened with it problems, both in North Carolina and throughout the nation. The health-smoking crusade is losing little, if any, steam. Here and there are recurring reports of smokers discontinuing the habit. As of now that may be no more than a little cloud the size of a man's hand, but there are signs that the shift is escalating in varying degree.

Farm organizations, many of whose members are tobacco growers, may be expected to lend their support to any effort that may be made to repeal the cigarette tax. Tobacco groups could be expected to join in the movement should it assume sizable proportions. At this distance there is nothing definite, but the months ahead may see developments toward this phase of relief for one of the State's major agricultural products and industries.

How To Squeeze Little Guys

By ELMER ROESSNER

Piker, go home. Fat interest rates, as has been pointed out here, are not for the little fellows. They can get up to 6 per cent at banks while the fat cats can get 8 per cent and more on sums in six and seven figures.

And now the New York Stock Exchange is moving to increase brokers' fees on small trades and cut them on big ones, thereby making the going tougher on the little fellows.

The new rates have been submitted to the Securities and Exchange Commission for its approval, and then will be voted upon by exchange members. If accepted, the new rates may spread to other exchanges.

The rates on all trades of 200 shares or less would rise sharply, while rates on 300 or more shares would be cut. Commissions on a trade of 100 shares at a typical price of $40 a share would go up 68 per cent.

Exchange Members Split The proposal has already provoked disagreement among NYSE members. Some of the big firms that buy and sell for the public are opposed to the rate increases which would tend to keep the pikers home. Some of the firms specializing in institutional business, where sales and purchases often involve blocks of 10,000 and more shares, are opposed to giving up any of their commission. However, economic forces compel many firms to support the changes. Salaries of employees have risen sharply and many brokers are being forced to install electronic equipment to keep up with the volume of trading.

Some observers have said that it will be a good thing if higher brokerage commissions keep little investors out of the market. The small trader has not the access to information that big operators have and consequently buy too late on rises and sell too late on declines. While that may be true, 1969 statements show that some of the biggest banks in the nation suffered enormous losses in price declines that year, despite their sources of information.

Nonmembers Unhappy The proposed commission rate changes for the first time give nonmember brokers indirect access to the big

Ordeal Of The Closet

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the ordeals of marriage to a husband is having to clean out his closet.

It is never his idea. It is always his wife's. But at least once a year she gives him the ultimatum:

"That closet of yours is looking like the city dump again. There are probably mice in it. Either clean it out or I'll clean it out for you—and you know what that means."

Of course he knows what that means. It means she will go through his closet like a blind bulldozer running amuck with no one at the controls.

It means that she will heart-

lessly throw away basketfuls of clutter he puts great value on but which means nothing to her. "Junk," she calls it, but it is part of his life to him.

It means she will line the closet walls with a dark red quilt-like fabric dented by scores of revolting dimples. She likes that fabric in her closet; why shouldn't he like it in his?

So, in order to save what he can, he finally settles down to the chore himself.

"I'll sit down and watch you," his wife says helpfully, pulling up a chair.

The husband dips tentatively in a box amid the closet's jumble and starts pulling out items.

"Must I throw away my grammar school diploma? My mother had it framed for me."

"No," she says. "You can keep that."

"How about this old high school sweatshirt? I was wearing it the first time I met you."

"Well, I guess you can keep that, too."

"How about this old military field jacket?"

"Why in heaven's name would you want that now?"

"Because I wore it in the only war I ever knew. See this stain here? That's where I spilled some coffee while I was writing you a letter from a foxhole in Belgium. By the way, did you throw away the letter?"

"No, of course not."

"Then why do I have to throw away the jacket?"

"All right, keep it. But you do have to throw away something."

The husband fishes deeper in the closet and brings out a pair of shoes, dusty but new looking.

"I bought them 20 years ago but couldn't wear them because they were too tight," he says.

"Then why did you keep them?"

"I thought that as I grew older my feet might shrink."

"Get rid of them."

Looking at her husband curiously, the wife asks, "Just why do men like disorderly closets anyway? Wouldn't it be easier to find things if your closets were neat?"

"Well, a woman's closet is like an army on parade, full of bright new things, row on row, that give her a feeling of security," he says.

"But a man's closet is like an army at ease, not standing at attention to be inspected and criticized. He likes to fill it, as

Atmosphere In School Reported Be Seeing Some Improvement

"There is definitely a better climate, an improvement in the atmosphere and the attitudes of pupils within the last two or three weeks," reported Rose High School principal Gleen Cox.

Making a brief summation before members of the Board of Education at their monthly meeting Monday night, Cox noted: "The classroom atmosphere is much better, with student-faculty relationships allowing a better teaching situation all around."

"There is still the problem of an attitude on the part of some students who seem to feel 'you do something for us' instead of their trying to involve themselves, but I think this is gradually being overcome."

Speaking of general discipline, Cox commented: "Disciplinary action has reached the point where normal problems are the order of the day. We do not have a drastic situation, although we still have an above normal suspension rate. These however are based on an accumulation of individual actions over the entire school year period, and do not represent suspension based on a single action. We have three cases of suspension now which might lead to expulsion."

"Attendance is much improved. For the past few weeks the number of students absent has been low, under 100 per day on several days. This is quite a contrast to the 250 to 450 who were absent during the periods of disturbances. Our absentee percentage has dropped to about eight to nine percent now.

"We are also getting more emphasis placed on students being in class on schedule and on time. There is still room for improvement in normal administrative checks on attendance, but we have made progress. Right now we are contacting, by phone and by letter at least one third of the parents of students who are absent. I must say the parents are being most cooperative. Only one parent has failed to cooperate with us."

Cox revealed that two courses have been added for this semester. "One is a Black Studies program in which 86 students have signed up. We had

"The other course is psychology, which students had shown an interest in."

"What we feel is really the key to a good start next year is the accurate registration of students in courses. This is already being worked on," Cox commented.

"Community action and community relations are beginning to make themselves felt," Cox cited a couple of examples. "There is a good possibility the PTA members are ready to become more involved. In fact, 175 parents have indicated they have an interest in working in some area to help us."

"As principal, I feel the function of the awareness committee has been a very strong factor in the normal atmosphere of the last four or five weeks."

In addition to the offering of the two new courses, Cox informed the board members that an additional person had been

"But they're so removed from the Jackie Kennedy Onassis letters."

"How can you say that?" he said. "They were written by the man who was supported by the party which was appealed to by the man who received a birthday greeting from the woman who received four letters from the man who was the owner of the original letters written by Jackie Kennedy Onassis from the Yacht Christina the day after her marriage to Onassis. What the heck do you want for a hundred dollars?"

Brandt and the SPD have gamed the pinnacle, is overstated. Others regard the SPD left, with its strong appeal to youth, as insurance that the party will keep its hold on new voters.

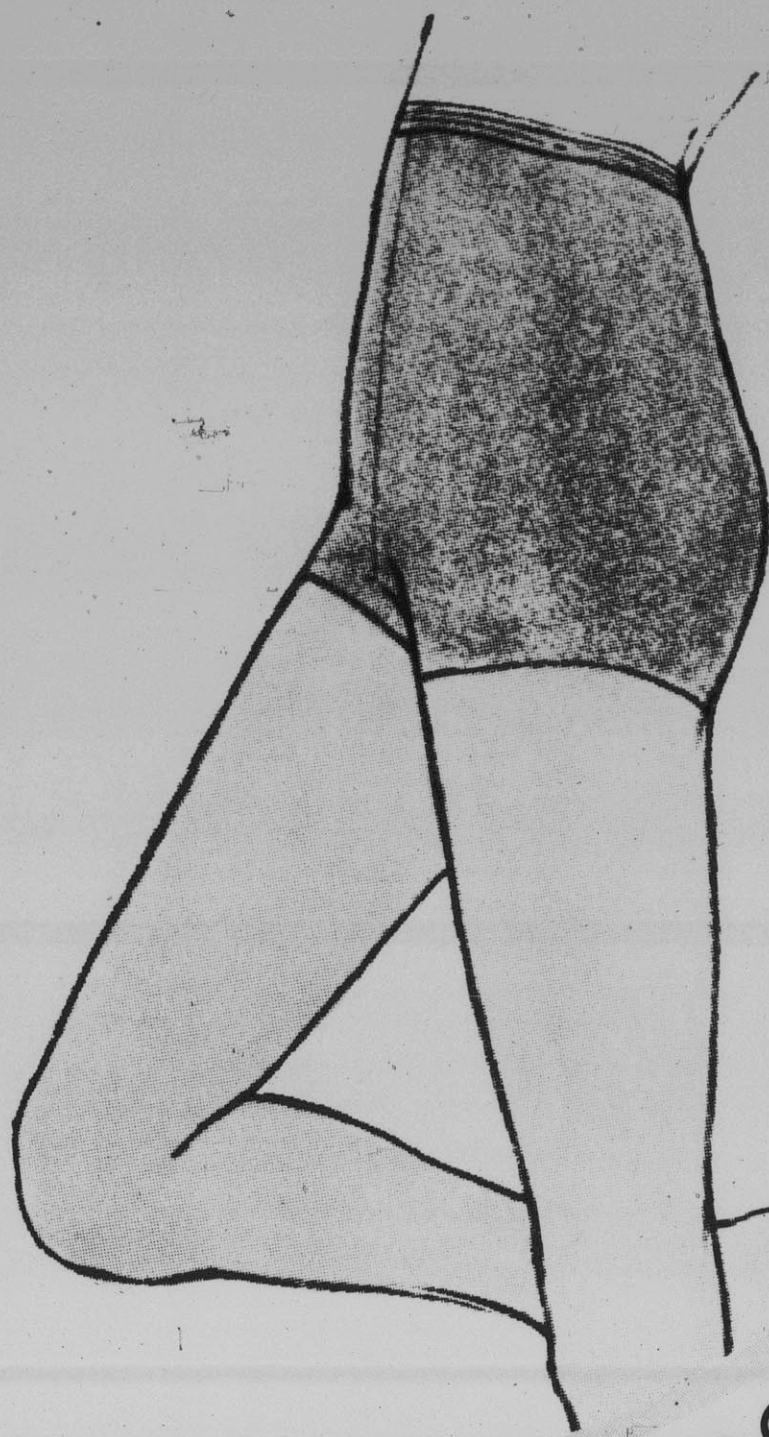

This is precisely the political position that Brandt is taking. Instead of trying to beat back the effort to unseat Schmidt before it can make any real headway, he is ignoring it. Instead of battling his left wing, he tends to appease it and buy it off with small favors.

Brandt, in short, refuses to take seriously what could build up to a nasty party crisis in the SPD's convention this spring. With hard-liner Schmidt as its target, and with control already of about one-third of the 340 voting delegates in the convention, Brandt's left wing, not the inept opposition of the Christian Democrats, may prove to be the first real crisis of Brandt's chancellorship.

Audience Loved Philharmonic

If Beethoven could have heard the Stockholm Philharmonic's playing of his "Overture to Egmont" last night at East Carolina University, he would undoubtedly have been happy. The strings in "Egmont" were particularly warm and vibrant, setting a mood of richness which prevailed through the three sections to the concluding beautiful fanfare of brasses. Kark-Berger Blomdah, a modern Swedish composer, has created in the "Sisyphos Choreographic Suite" a very listenable modern composition, one which graphically and dramatically forms a musical continuity. It was written for a ballet, but serves admirably as a concert piece. The "Introduction" movement is evocative of space and eternity, interwoven with distinctly Oriental motifs. The following movement, "The Banquet" is a weirdly plaintive cry by the strings, followed by "Persophone's Dance", the "Dance of Death" and "Sisyphos Triumphant Entrance". "The Dance of Death" is particularly intriguing, a colorful Satanic musical uttering. The final movement, "The Dance of Life", encompassing rhythms that call to mind Calypso, wild African dances and American jazz — are effectively combined into a stirring crescendo of pulsating music (not noise) that makes it difficult to keep the feet still. Dorati, despite his some 60 years, proved he was "with it" as clearly as he was in the more traditional offerings of music. Gustav Mahler's "Symphony No. 5 in C Sharp Major", out continues to be a great concert favorite with its hauntingly sad, but melodic first movement "Trauermarsch" and the fourth movement, "Adagietto", a gentle string serenade. The broad sweeping structure of "Trauermarsch" was perfectly realized. The entire symphony is remarkably rich in contrasts and counterpoint, marked by a number of miniature solos for horns, flute, oboe and violins — these always seem far too brief. The Stockholm Philharmonic last night proved beyond a doubt that it ranks as one of the musical giants of the world. Much of the credit rightfully belongs to the gifted and experienced conductor, Antal Dorati, who brings to an audience the fruits of his love affair with music. The audience loved every minute of it. —Jerry Raynor

Oppose Increase In Tax Ceiling

CARTHAGE, N.C. (AP) — Moore County citizens voted 3,683 to 755 Tuesday against raising the property tax ceiling to channel more money to Sand Hills Community College at Southern Pines. Under the proposal, the ceiling would have been raised from 4.5 cents per $100 property valuation to 12 cents. Officials of the school say their increasing enrollment is costly. The institution has about 1,500 full-time students and about 1,000 participating in adult and extension courses. The city of Los Angeles was founded in 1781.

Exceptions To School Closings

Dr. Cleet C. Cleetwood, superintendent of city schools, reports that Tuesday, June 9 is the final day of all schools except for Sadie Sautter and Eppes Junior High, which will have final day on June 10. The dates reported in Tuesday's Daily Reflector school story, were in error. The final dates of June 9 and 10 result from the addition of three days (four for Salter and Eppes) required as make up time for lost days.

Bucs Meet Spiders In 1st Round Game

East Carolina University's Pirates go into the Southern Conference Tournament tomorrow, expecting a tough game out of their seventh seeded opponent, Richmond.

"They have a team that is much stronger than their record indicates," Coach Tom Quinn said of his opposition. "We have a lot of respect for them."

Richmond comes into the game with a two-game streak in the conference including wins over VMI and William & Mary, both on the Spiders' home court.

"Very definitely, we'll be a lot less likely to be looking ahead since we are playing them. They are better than their record. Their personnel is good, and they are not as weak as a lot of people think," Quinn said.

He pointed out that one pre-season list had Richmond and George Washington picked as the teams most likely to give trouble to Davidson.

"They have the big men, and they have good shooters. We will have to play as well as we did here (in Minges Coliseum) to beat them," Quinn said.

Richmond and East Carolina split their games during the regular season, each winning on their home court. Richmond dumped the Bucs in their first conference outing of the year, 90-72, but the Bucs came back to take a 115-91 victory over the Spiders in Greenville. It was the biggest point production of the season for East Carolina.

The Bucs played without Tom Miller in the first game. The scrappy guard was on the bench with an ankle injury. Then, too, the Bucs didn't have the reserve strength to replace him.

Since then, however, Julius

Prince has come along to work into a starting role, and Lyn Green has been outstanding in relief both as a front and back court man. Quinn also feels he can call on others more often now when necessary.

"We should have a high mental attitude going into the tournament," Quinn said. "In our last two games, we were lacking incentive since we had second place locked up. But I was impressed by the manner in which we went to work, built up a lead, and then coasted through. In a lot of cases, a team might have coasted early, then tried to get up during the game, and failed."

Quinn feels that the Bucs are playing extremely good defense now. "It's the best ever I've seen at East Carolina. I think our shooting will stay up. (The Bucs have been shooting at better than 50 per cent in most of their recent games.) Jim Gregory is hitting better and this certainly helps us. We are working to improve our free throws, but it just mystifies me why it is no better."

"I think Jim Modlin has been playing terrific lately. And the overall team timing in peaking is just right. It is as if we got ready for the tournament a week ago, and just sustained it. The team has an extreme amount of confidence, we know we can do the job of defending and rebounding, and we're looking for a good tournament."

Quinn feels that the Bucs can get another shot at Davidson in the finals. "The boys really want them again. They feel they can beat them, and they'll be going all out in the tournament."

The Bucs go into the game with four men in double figures. Modlin leads the team with an 18.5 average, while Tom Miller is close behind at 18.2. Next comes Jim Fairley at 16.8, while Gregory has a 16.5 average.

The fifth starter, Julius Prince, is averaging 4.6 points per game, but is highly valued for his defensive abilities.

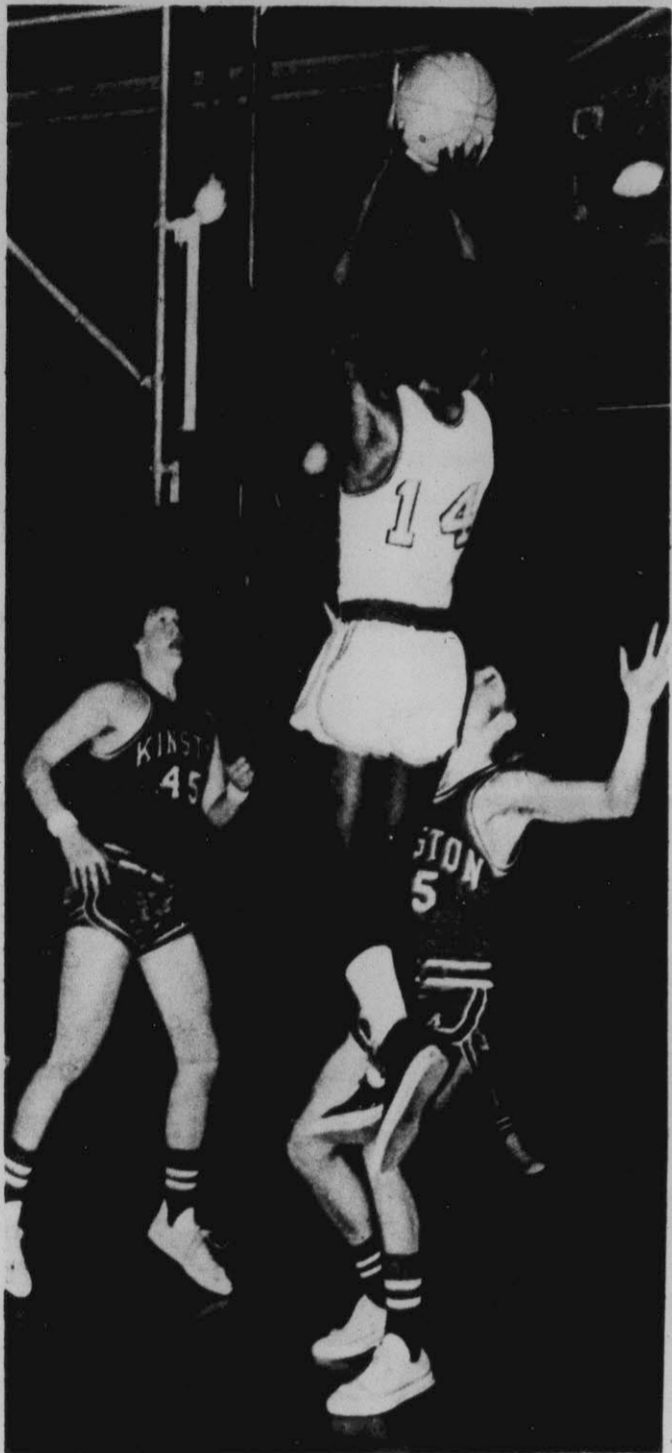

In the rebounding department, Fairley leads the Bucs with a 12.2 average, while Modlin and Gregory are both getting 10.5 per game.

Overall East Carolina is pulling down 55.9 per cent of the loose balls per game.

The Richmond - ECU Meeting will be at 9 p.m. in the Charlotte Coliseum. Earlier in the day, William & Mary meets Furman. George Washington takes on The Citadel, and Davidson is challenged by Virginia Military Institute.

The tournament continues with two games on Friday, and the finals on Saturday.

Aycock Loses In Final Game

ROCKY MOUNT — Rocky Mount's Wilson Junior High School downed E. B. Aycock Junior High here yesterday afternoon, 35-28, as the Phantoms finished their initial season.

Aycock finished the year off with a 9-5 record, after dropping their final four contests.

Wilson slipped out into the lead in the first period of play, as they gained a 7-5 advantage. In the second period, however, they were unable to move away as Aycock stuck right with them, and outscored them, 11-10. But the Phants still trailed, 17-16 at the half.

In the third period, Wilson was able to move a little further into the lead, as it outscored the Phantoms, 5-2, building up a 22-

(Sports Coats and Slacks)

If you can add several sports coats and slacks to your closet, you will really be adding wear-mileage to your wardrobe.

Imported tweeds from Scotland wear like iron and are great for cooler weather.

In your slack wardrobe include green, navy blue, grey, dark brown, tan and beige. These will take care of most colored jacket selections.

With green slacks you can wear a lighter green, tan or brown coat. With your navy blue slacks, any lighter blue coat will fill the bill, including light blues for summer.

The grey trousers will go well with navy blue or darker gray jackets. With brown, tan or beige slacks, you can make an excellent appearance with a contrasting brown or red jacket.

The win left the Rampants in a tie with Wilson for third place in the Division II, Eastern 4-A standings. A flip of the coin will be held later this week to determine the final seedings for the divisional tournament, beginning Monday at Atlantic Christian College.

If the Rampants take third, they will meet Kinston Monday at 9 p. m., with the winner meeting New Bern on Tuesday at 9. A fourth place seeding will put the Rampants into a first round game against Rocky Mount, to be played at 7 p. m. The winner will then meet Goldsboro at 7 p. m. Tuesday.

Harris was red-hot throughout the first half, as just about everything he put up went into the hoop. He only missed on two or three shots, as he hit on 10. But in the second half, he shot only once, and got the ball only four times in fore court. He missed his only shot of the half, walked on another occasion and was fouled on the other two. It was not so much a tribute to the defense of Kinston, but to the fact that he just didn't get the ball.

Mike Harrington, who returned to action after missing two games with a knee injury, pushed through 19 points, all but two coming in the second half. His scoring was a key factor in the pull away in the second half, after Harris had set things up for Rose.

For without him, the Rampants would have been far down at the intermission. In the first half, he canned 13 of the 15 Rose points, as no one else could find the range. He continued to be hot in the second quarter, getting 10 of the 20 points the Rampants got.

Kinston took the opening lead on a basket by Midge Hewitt, and Hewitt added another to run the Kinston lead out to four. Rose finally got on the board as Willie Smith hit from the corner, but no one else for the Rampants got near the basket after that except Harris.

Kinston meanwhile, began to pull away from the Rampants, and slowly built up an eight-point lead. That came on a corner shot by Mike Edwards with 53 seconds left in the quarter, making it 19-11. Harris chopped it back to four with 13 seconds left, but a buzzer shot by Hewitt made it 21-15 at the end of the frame.

In the third period, Harris turned over some of the scoring duties to some of the other Rampants as they began to warm to the task. Rose finally cut the lead back to three on a shot by Harrington, and then Joe West hit to slice it to one. Harris put Rose in front, "27-26 on a jumper, but Kinston regained the lead on a shot by Edwards from the corner. Harris hit at the line to tie it at 28-28, but a free throw by Duff Miller pushed the Red Devils back in front. Smith changed the lead back to Rose again, but a three - point play by Floyd Jones ran it back to 32-30 for Kinston.

Harris hit another free throw, and then scored on a jumper to put Rose ahead, 33-32. He added another jumper at the horn to make it 35-32 at intermission.

Ray Peszko made good on a three-point play to open the third period and run the Rose lead out to six, 38-32, and Rose played around with a five to seven point lead for most of the frame. Near the end of the period, Smith drove in for a basket and Billy Clark dropped in a pair of free throws to run the lead out to 11, 57-46, but Kinston cut it back to 59-51 at the end of the period.

In the final period, the two teams just swapped baskets until late in the period when Rose ran the lead out to 12 on a pair of free throws by Harrington. That made it 76-64 with 1:35 to play. Kinston was forced to try and foul after that, and Rose ran the lead out to as much as 15 in the closing seconds.

Harris finished the game with 26 points for the Rampants, with Harrington adding his 19.

For Kinston, Edwards had 23, while Hewitt and Jones each had 15.

The Rampants now await the outcome of the coin toss to decide who and when they will be playing Monday night.

Palmer Is Strongest Contender

By BOB GREEN

Nicklaus had been scheduled to play in this first stop on the rich Florida tour but withdrew after the death of his father.

The dynamic Palmer, off the tour two weeks and making his first start since being named the top athlete of the 1960s, was certain to be the gallery favorite, but there was no such thing as a clear-cut choice for the $30,000 top prize.

Two criteria—recent history and the strength of the field—prohibit the naming of any player as the No. 1 favorite.

The field includes, among others, all four major title holders, five of the seven tournament winners this year, the 1969 leading money winner and theardon Trophy winner.

Williamston Up In Tourney

PLYMOUTH — Williamston High School's boys and girls advanced to the semi-finals of the Albemarle Conference Tournament with a pair of wins last night. The girls downed Plymouth, 47-30, while the boys upset Edenton 49-44.

Both are scheduled to play again on Friday night, against winners of later games this week.

In the girls game, Williamston shot away to a 12-2 lead in the first period of play. Plymouth found the range in the second period, but could only match the Williamston output, 12-12. That left Williamston ahead at 24-14.

In the third period, Williamston again moved away from Plymouth, pushing through 11 points to four for Plymouth. That gave the Lady Waves a 35-18 edge as the final period opened. Both teams pushed through 12 points in the final period.

Joanie Roberson led Williamston with 15 points, while Joey Johns added 12.

In the boys game, Williamston held the Aces to only three points in the first period, while they threw in 12, and the Green Wave rode that lead into an upset victory. Edenton had beaten Williamston twice during the regular season. In the second period, Edenton began to come to life, and Williamston was able to outthrust them, 10-9, and lead at the half, 22-12.

In the third period, Edenton began to cut into the margin, outscoring Williamston, 14-12. That cut the lead back to 34-26. Edenton again cut into the lead in the final period, 18-15, but couldn't get a real rally going, and bowed out of the competition.

Raymond Andrews led Williamston with 12 points, while Doug Warren had 10 points. For Edenton, John Barrow led with 12 points.

Reflector Sports Writer WINTERVILLE — Griffton and Winterville's girls, and the Stokes boys advanced to the semi-finals of the Pitt County Basketball tournament with wins last night in the opening round.

Griffton's girls had the easiest contest of the evening, going by Stokes 63-15. The Griffton girls pushed in 27 points in the first frame while Stokes did not scratch to take a comfortable margin for the remainder of the contest.

The Stokes boys battled it out with Ayden in the second game of the evening, and did not take their game until the final 1:00 when they broke a 52-52 tie, with a three point play and three more charity shots in the closing seconds to insure their victory.

In the final game of the night, Winterville and Belvoir girls fought it out for three frames, with Winterville taking control in the closing minutes of the third period, and maintaining it into the fourth, pushing a six point lead out to ten in the fourth period and holding off a Belvoir comeback, when Maggie Edwards made use of numerous trips to the foul line to try and cut the Winterville lead.

In the Griffton - Stokes contest, it was 32-6 at the half, and from there the Griffton girls coasted on to their victory, led by Marion McLawhorn with 19, while Jennifer Smith had 18. The Lady Bulldogs will now meet the Ayden - Chicod winner in the New Camaro. Feb. 26th.

We've never announced a car at this time before. But then nobody's ever announced a car like this before.

Super Hugger

If it were just an ordinary sportster, we might have introduced it at the ordinary time. But we didn't.

And as you can see, time was on our side.

Because we didn't bother with the simulated air scoops. Or any other put-ons that might put you off.

Instead we took the time to build a whole new car from the ground up. In four distinctive versions: Standard, Rally Sport, Super Sport and Z28.

We started with a sleek new shape and a low road-hugging stance. So it hovers a few short inches from the pavement. Right down there with Corvette.

To that we added more hood. A faster, fastback. More window area. And wider doors for easier entry.

On RS models, there's even a resilient bumper that surrounds the grille. To protect against nicks and knocks.

Compare the new Camaro with any competitive car in its field.

If you can find one. Two extra buckets. No extra bucks.

Most sportsters give you two buckets in front. And a sofa in back. We've done them two better.

The back seat sofa is out. In are two rear bucket-styled cushions.

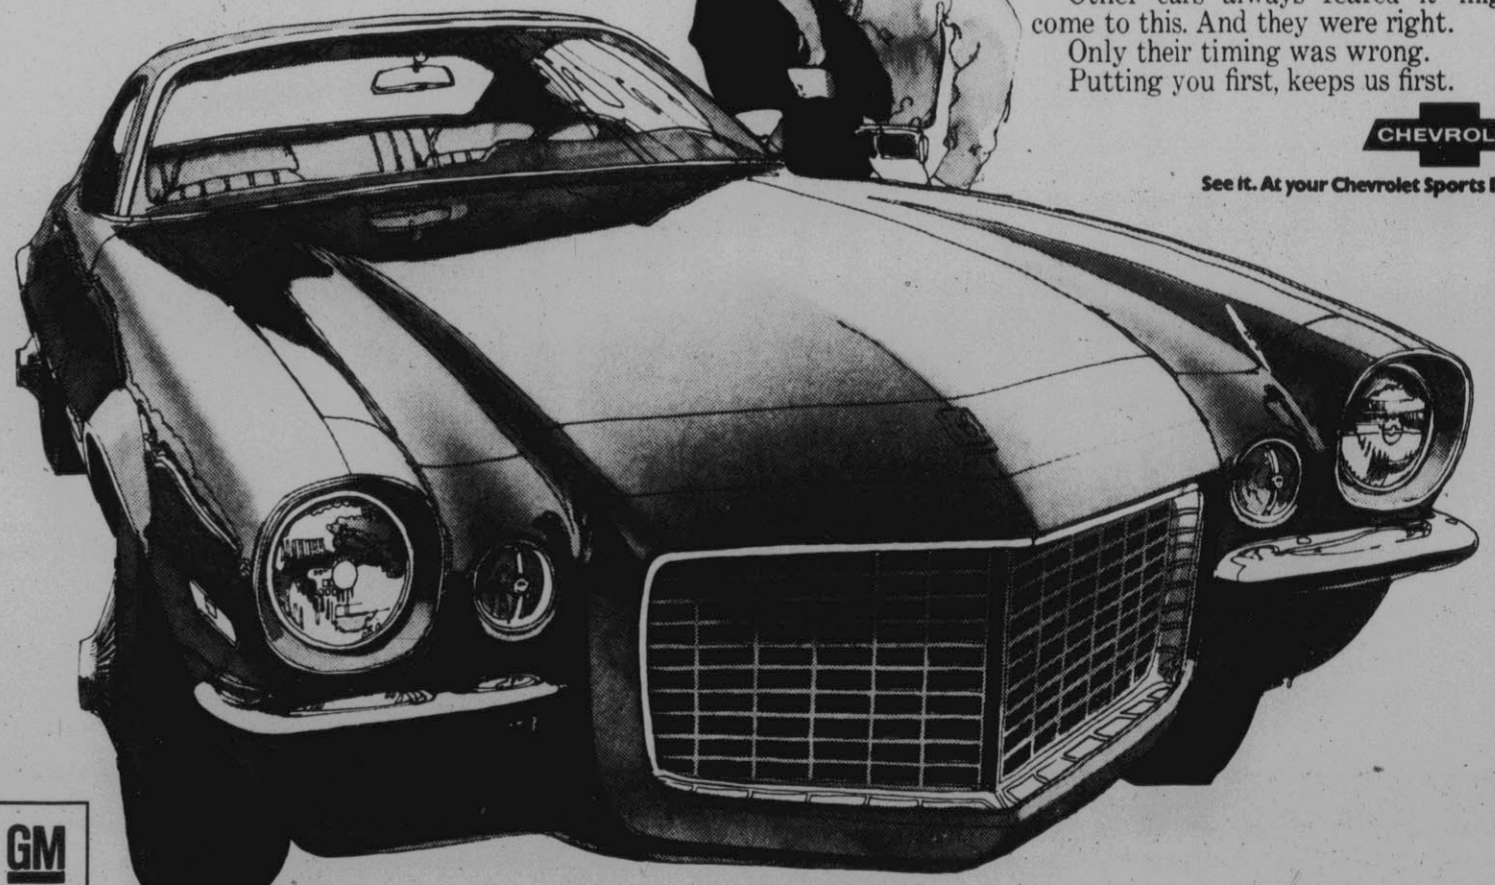

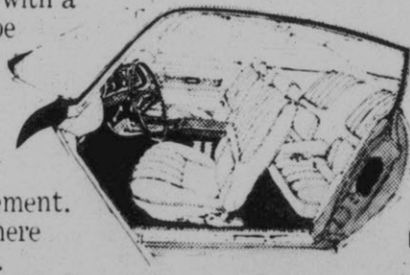

Up front the buckets are deeply contoured to put you firmly in place. And keep you there. Even in tight turns.

The instrument panel is just as functional. It's flat black and wraps around. With enough dials and instrumentation to make you think you're piloting a 747.

Only with this one you don't need a flight crew.

The special handling is built right in. Camaro always had a tough reputation when it came to taking on tight turns. Now we made it tougher.

Rampant Cubs Fall In Final Contest

Kinston's junior varsity took a 69-65 victory over the Rose Rampant Cubs last night, after holding off the Cubs in the final game of the season.

Rose came back from 15 points down with five minutes left in the game, and nearly pulled it out, closing the gap to as little as three points before Kinston escaped with the win.

But the Cubs were unable to get the key basket to cut the lead to one as they got several chances at it.

Rose still finished the season with a 16-4 record for the year, one of the best ever for a Rose junior varsity squad.

The score was close throughout the first half of play. Rose got the opening lead, but was unable to move out by more than two points. Kinston fought back and finally gained the lead at 8-7 on a shot by Ed Dail. The lead swapped back and forth until Linwood Staton put Rose into a 12-11 lead with five seconds left in the quarter.

Rose pushed the lead out to three at the start of the second period on a shot by Robert Kear, but Kinston came back to take the lead and hold it from there on out. Mike Hatcher put Kinston ahead, 14-13 with 5:42 left in the half, and the Red Imps never trailed again.

Kinston moved out into as much as a five point edge in the quarter, at 21-16, and held a four-point edge at the horn, 29-25. In the third quarter, Kinston continued to pull away from the Cubs. A burst near the end of the period shot the lead out to 12, 51-39, but Rose cut that by one at the end, 51-40.

Kinston then moved out into a 15-point lead, as Doug Potter hit to make it 61-46 with 5:01 left to play. But then Rose came to life.

Two baskets by Robert Carraway and one by Kear cut the lead to nine. Kinston raised it back to 13, but Rose got three foul shots from Kear and two more by Clarence Snuggs to cut the lead to seven. A minute later, Kear hit to cut it to five with 51 seconds left, and then Staton hit a foul shot and Kear got another to cut it to three with 14 seconds left.

But a three point play by Ray Scott with 11 seconds left sewed it up for the Imps.

Potter led Kinston with 22 points, while Dail had 15 and Hatcher had 14.

Rose was led by Kear with 27, while Carraway had 15 and Staton had 13.

Marquette In NIT's Field

NEW YORK (AP)—The invitations are out but Marquette jumped the gun and became the first college basketball team in the National Invitation Tournament—unofficially of course.

Marquette, 19-3, and ranked eighth by The Associated Press, was tendered an NCAA bid Tuesday but Coach Al McGuire turned it down and decided to go to the NIT instead in a dispute over its placing in the Midwest Regionals.

Although the NIT said it would not make an official announcement until today, McGuire said his team was taking the NIT over the NCAA.

Some teams expected to receive bids include Louisiana State with the fabulous Pete Maravich, St. John's, N.Y., Army and teams from the Atlantic Coast Conference, Missouri Valley, Western Athletic and Big Eight.

In all, 16 teams will compete in the tourney at Madison Square Garden, starting March 13 and ending March 21.

Sees More Risk Due Pregnancies

By H. L. SCHWARTZ III
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of Planned Parenthood, one of the nation's most influential birth control groups, said today pregnancy accounts for 15 times more deaths among young women than are suspected from oral contraceptives.

Besides reducing the risk of death, Dr. Alan F. Guttmacher told a Senate subcommittee in prepared testimony, birth control pills are the most effective safeguard against "one of the gravest socio-medical illnesses unwanted pregnancy."

Dr. Guttmacher, whose organization counsels 350,000 women a year in this country, said he appeared in hopes of "stemming unwarranted and dangerous alarm" he said was caused by earlier testimony before the monopoly subcommittee, headed by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis.

Earlier sessions have spotlighted scores of suspected side effects which Guttmacher reviewed and largely rejected as unproven or not serious.

Dr. Guttmacher did say it had been indisputably proven that women on the pill are more prone to fatal blood clots.

But he said statistics show 22.8 of every 100,000 healthy married women age 20-34 would die as a result of pregnancy compared with 1.5 who would die from a fatal clot associated with the pill.

Among women 35-44, 57.6 would die per 100,000 from pregnancy while 3.9 succumbed of a fatal clot, he stated.

Calling unwanted pregnancy a "condition tragically common in the U.S.," Dr. Guttmacher issued a barrage of statistics showing that:

—Between 200,000 and one million illegal abortions are performed a year in the United States with a death rate estimated at 100 per 100,000.

—About 300,000 illegitimate children are born annually in the United States.

—At least one in six U.S. brides are pregnant when married with half of these pregnancies occurring while the couple are teenagers.

—About 750,000 children are born each year who are unwanted at the time of conception and destined to be "unloved, neglected and abandoned."

The pill, said Dr. Guttmacher, is also "by far the best contraceptive for sexually active adolescents."

He said if current national trends continue, some 70,000 girls under 18 will bear illegitimate children this year.

But, he added, "if the pill scare continues unabated, I fear that figure will become a gross underestimate."

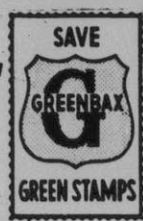

The Balinese fear the sea encircling their Pacific island, believing it is inhabited by demons.

Higher Electricity Costs Will Figure In Pollution Fight

By JOHN LENGEL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The price of fighting pollution? For a start, says one study, the household electricity bill could go up five to 10 per cent—a couple of dollars a month.
Antipollution costs will also show up in other places when it comes to electricity, according to a paper accepted Tuesday by the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee.
"Industries that use large quantities of power will be seriously affected by cost increases," says the paper prepared by Seymour Baron, a New Jersey construction engineer.
"These cost increases, when added to raw, intermediate and finished products produced by the industries, can have a significant effect on their costs to the public," he said.
His estimates on increased antipollution costs are for coal, oil and nuclear powered plants with pollution controls "that will make a significant reduction to a point of elimination of pollution."

Thermal pollution, the release of hot water from power plants into lakes and streams, is the chief enemy when it comes to this kind of preventive spending, Baron said.
He said nuclear power plants will come cleaner more cheaply than coal and oil powered plants.
Power plants are a comparatively minor pollution factor. For example, in the Los Angeles basin, power plants contribute 12 per cent of the air pollution, autos 85 per cent.
The committee is probing effects of power production on the environment.
The Tennessee Valley Authority covers an area larger than all New England.

BUSINESS JUMPING

SPALDING, England (UPI)—Bert Slater's job is to test the ice on ponds to ensure it is safe for skaters. Slater, who weighs 196 pounds, walks carefully to the center of a pond and then jumps up and down. It is considered safe if he doesn't fall through.

The Worry Clinic They Want To Feel Important

Donna's case is a classical example of "Provocative Naughtiness." And it is more typical of "only" children, as well as the firstborn. Notice, too, why "only" children often are restless after marriage. And observe your pet dogs, for even they may also indulge in provocative naughtiness when guests arrive!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE M-538: Donna D., aged 7, is a problem. "Dr. Crane," her fretful mother began, "whenever we have company, Donna is almost sure to engage in some naughty act."

"She knows better, but she will go out of her way to violate our standard rules of the household."

"When her daddy is discussing business or politics with his guests, Donna always does something to interrupt him even though she knows it will lead to a spanking."

"But why should a child deliberately provoke her parents even when she realizes it will cause her pain?"

Donna is an "only" child so she has been accustomed to most of the spotlight in her home.

The presence of guests, who engage her daddy in animated conversation, suddenly leaves Donna out of the limelight.

Figuratively, she is thus demoted from the "prima donna" role to that of an anonymous member of the "chorus."

Children can become so addicted to adult attention that they are almost as hungry for it as confirmed dope addicts are for their narcotics.

This is also one of the constant problems of parents who are going to bring a new baby upon the family stage after their firstborn has monopolized it for several years.

All parents should thus be very tactful about informing the firstborn long in advance.

And always present the advent of the new baby brother or sister in such a way as to inflate the ego of that firstborn son or daughter.

"I WANT TO FEEL IMPORTANT" is not only the invisible but very potent tattoo on the chest of every adult, but also of every child!

So your eldest will NEVER be fond of its younger sibling unless that newcomer can enhance the pride of the oldest child.

In cases of ego deflation, children like Donna, as well as your eldest son or daughter, may then deliberately make a play for more of the adult spotlight.

Even if this involves corporal punishment, the child will often barter the pain of a spanking for the solace of regaining that Number One position in the center of the family stage.

"Provocative naughtiness" is thus very common among "only" children as well as the eldest, plus any "spoiled" youngster.

Indeed, even your pet dog may likewise try to jump in your lap or lick your hand or "cut up" some unusual capers when company arrives, for 4-legged members of your family also crave the social limelight.

In Donna's case, if she had some brothers and sisters to play with, she would also not be so dependent upon her parents for entertainment.

For she would be educated to divide the adult attention. She might thus be accustomed only to 25 percent instead of 100 percent.

That's also why "only" children often grow restless in marriage.

For marriage is supposed to be a 50-50 arrangement, but if Donna remains accustomed to monopolizing 100 percent of the limelight, it will be a distinct come-down to drop to that 50 percent level in marriage.

Conversely, a child who got only 25 percent of adult attention, because of her 3 brothers and sisters, then will rise to 50 percent when she marries and thus be doubly happy!

So send for my booklet "Tests for Parents," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

REALLY FINISHED
PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—A Portland woman got more than she bargained for when she hired a cement finisher to do a garage floor.

What she got was: A drunken cement finisher who locked a wild racoon in the garage right after the cement was poured.

Impressed By New Woman's League

"We are impressed," said Mrs. Betty Doaks, "by the growth and enthusiasm for participatory democracy shown in an organization as young as your Greenville-Pitt County Provisional League."

Mrs. Doaks is president of the Raleigh-Wake County League of Women Voters. The local group membership has increased to 70 since it began in January.

Mrs. R. R. Doaks and Mrs. Jane Hamner, Public Assistance Portfolio chairman of the Raleigh League, presented the program for Greenville members at their general meeting held last week in the District Court room.

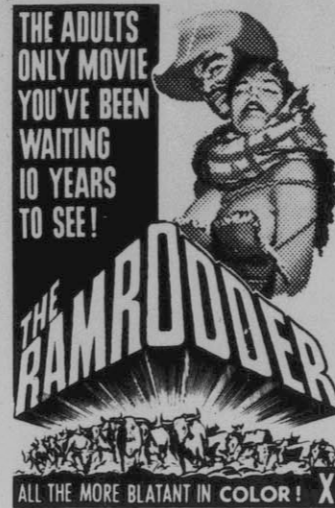

The program included an expanded budget report, made by Mrs. Bramy Resnik, plans for action of the Voter Service committee, given by Mrs. Charles Cain and to official observer's reports.

These were made by Mrs.

Sensitive Nose Makes Trackers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Tom McGinn, bounty hunter and dog trainer, says a good tracking dog must have the nose for his work.

Good dogs for finding lost people or tracking down criminals, McGinn said, "can come from any breed as long as they have the right membranes in their nose. Some dogs have more sensitive noses than others and make good trailers." One dog owned by McGinn, a German Shepherd named King, has found some 500 persons in 10 years, he said.

THE SWINGER

SINGAPORE (UPI)—It was in keeping with the spirit of the man when a new Singapore night club featuring a London stripper and a French chorus line was named the "Marco Polo," explained manager C. M. Seow.

Opening lead: Ten of ♦ —South's hand took on added lustre when his partner responded with two clubs. His rebid of two spades is a reverse which announces about 19 points and is therefore absolutely forcing to game after the original response, and permits a relaxed investigation for bigger things.

When North gave a heart preference, South showed his club fit. North felt warranted in making one move of his own, so he cue bid the ace of diamonds—which East doubled as a lead director. This was all South was waiting for and he jumped to six hearts.

West opened the ten of diamonds and the ace was played from dummy. If the trumps were divided three-two, declarer could count 12 tricks, five hearts, five clubs, and the two other aces. As a matter of technique, he ruffed a diamond in his hand first, before testing the trump suit.

Declarer cashed the queen and ace of hearts next, but East's discard of a diamond on the second round came as a distinct jolt, since the bad trump break deprived South of his 12th trick. A spade loser appeared inevitable, and the outlook was definitely discouraging.

There was only one vague chance which hinged on West's having no more than three diamonds and the king of spades. Altho this was admittedly a longshot, declarer was willing to go down extra tricks as the price of attempting to salvage the slam.

The deuce of clubs was led to dummy's ten, so that South could ruff out North's last diamond. The king of hearts was cashed leaving the jack outstanding and South began to run the clubs by playing the ace and then overtaking his queen with the dummy's king. West could ruff in whenever he chose but, since he was down to nothing but spades, he was obliged to lead away from his king. This permitted South to play the queen of spades from dummy and, when this held, North's remaining clubs and declarer's ace of spades accounted for the balance of the tricks.

Must Guard Against The Uncontrolled

RALEIGH (AP) — A Duke university professor says that "nations which control the stork must also guard themselves against nations that do not" control their populations.

"Should present trends continue," Dr. Joseph H. Spengler said Tuesday, "a protective world league of developed nations may be formed, one made up of Northern America, Europe and the Soviet Union, Japan, Israel, South Africa, Australia, and a few of the countries of Latin America."

"For in the end the stork can destroy everything," Spengler, director of population studies at Duke, told a symposium on population at North Carolina State University.

He also suggested a redistribution of population of the United States as a means of controlling pollution.

"Since some 10,000 executives control the 750 corporations which employ over one-fifth of our labor force, this minority could bring about the reestablishment of 600 cities capable of absorbing our national population growth and some of the people abandoning" larger cities, he said.

In discussing the pollution problem, Spengler said "the quality of life is threatened on all sides by multiplying man and his ever increasing consumption of material-destroying and environment-polluting products."

In cities, he said, "air pollution can become thick enough to convert day into dusk."

"We must learn, however, to live with cities," Spengler said, "since in time 80-90 per cent of us will be living there or nearby."

There's a New Star on the Greenville Horizon

On March 5, a new concept in food retailing comes to Greenville. It is so new and different that you will be amazed. Most people are unhappy with the high cost of living — so, Big Star is coming to town to do something about it! We're bringing TOTAL FOOD SAVINGS to this area.

TOTAL FOOD SAVINGS applies to quality and selection as well as low cost. National brands and quality meats will be yours everyday. This is what you have always wanted in a food store, everyday low prices on quality foods.

EVERYDAY LOW GROCERY PRICES! Prices at Big Star don't go down one day and back up a few days later. Our prices change only when our costs change. We never price some items high so that a few items can be sold low. Every price at Big Star is the lowest possible — every day.

TOP QUALITY FOODS AND SINGLE-UNIT PRICING! Big Star offers more of the famous brands you know and trust. Every item is priced individually. No more of the 3 for 49¢ or 2 for 69¢. When you want just one can of something you know exactly how much it is. Much easier for you to keep track . . . much faster at the checkout, too.

EVERYDAY LOW MEAT PRICES! Twenty-one meat meals a week, all different, are now possible with Big Star's low, low prices. We will bring you the finest quality meats at the lowest possible prices. All beef sold at Big Star is grain fed U.S.D.A. choice. Every cut is trimmed close to give you more tasty, tender meat to eat. We think you'll agree — variety for variety, price for price, there's no other place but Big Star to save more total food dollars.

NO STAMPS! NO FRILLS! NO GIMMICKS! Big Star is a totally different kind of food store. We have cut out all the frills. We don't give stamps. We don't have contests. All we do is sell groceries at the lowest prices in town. This is what we know how to do best. This we pledge to do — 52 weeks a year.
