Inclusion In Feb. 26 Minutes Deleted

Councilmen Oppose Statement By Mayor

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

All four City Councilmen at last night's meeting voiced strong opposition to the six point statement made by Mayor Frank M. Wooten, Jr. on the Central Business Development Plan. Councilmen approved a motion by Percy Cox to disapprove the minutes of the special call meeting of February 26, the meeting in which the CBD project was approved by the four councilmen with Mayor Wooten abstaining. Mayor Wooten's statement was contained in the printed minutes of the February 26 meeting. Cox's motion was for disapproval "on the grounds that the inclusion was put into the minutes after the minutes had been closed."

"The statement should not go in unless approved by you. I just requested this," Mayor Wooten stated. He also emphasized that "The statement is not in the minutes at my request. I sent the statement with a request to include it in the minutes with your consent. When I saw them included, I assumed you had consented."

"It certainly would not be proper to include it without your consent and approval," the Mayor concluded.

Cox took the six points, one by one, and with the consent of the other councilmen, explained a consensus of opinions formulated by the councilmen.

"On your first point, that the proposal violates a basic concept of taking of private property for non-government purpose... this is a matter of personal opinion. The fact is this has been common practice for years... supported by the Supreme Court on many instances."

"The primary obligation of this redevelopment plan is to upgrade the quality of... downtown Greenville. No property will be acquired unless the present owners refuse the opportunity to rehabilitate or are unable to do so for other reasons. In cases where properties are to be acquired, the owner will be properly and adequately compensated."

Moving to the second point... "The proposal uses money obtained... for the exclusive benefit of one small area of the city," Cox said. "This statement is just not so. All the citizens... will benefit from efforts made in this area. It is a fact that public monies spent on improvements are spent in specified areas where the improvements are needed."

In this connection he cited recent work in Cherry View Section, the River View Section, acquisition of right-of-way, improvements to Farmville Boulevard, and improvements in Village Grove.

"In each of these projects, public monies were spent exclusively in specific areas to the overall benefit of the city."

Mayor Wooten's third point, "there has been no evidence of need for additional parking spaces," drew these comments from Cox. "Studies made in planning the Greenville area... estimated parking requirements not for today or tomorrow but for the future. The plan originally called for an excess of 2,000 parking spaces. This has been reduced to 1,500 as a matter of budgetary necessity. We must not forget that this plan is... for the next 35 to 40 years."

The fourth point, "no plan submitted to the Council... for payment of $863,916... as an obligation of the city..." was refuted by Cox. "At the public hearing conducted by the Redevelopment Commission, it was stated... parking areas... would be financed from revenues developed by Parking Authority's operation. Revenue bonds may be sold locally or on public sale."

Saying "I know selling bonds is not an easy matter," Cox added, "It must be remembered that this may not be required for several years."

"Your fourth point and your fifth point both brings the council into your statements... that's what gets me. I've been considering all these things for five years," Cox observed.

Addressing himself to Mayor Wooten's fifth point... "no evidence submitted to this Council as to compliance... with N.C. Building Code, Nor... that owner has been notified... and requested to remedy it," Cox commented. "Evidence has been submitted to the City Council... This information is also to be found in the brochure prepared for the Council, which you were furnished a copy, and is taken from the detailed study included in the overall project folder, which you also have."

"It is true that owners of sub-standard buildings have not been notified... since the plan was only approved February 26, 1970."

On the final point, "no evidence submitted to this Council to indicate expenditures by Greenville Utilities Commission... will improve service or increase revenue... Cox told the major, "There is an ordinance adopted by the City Council requiring electrical distribution to be placed underground. This project was commenced in 1956 and has continued." Cox cited as examples Dickinson Avenue, Shore Drive, Evans Street, Fifth Street and others.

Cox and Sutherland both noted they had received a number of calls, some of them rather insulting.

"I figure if you had objections, Mr. Mayor, you should have stated them last Thursday night instead of abstaining," Sutherland said.

Following a discussion on the proper parliamentary procedure applicable in an unusual situation, a motion was made to approve the minutes of the special call meeting of February 26 with the Mayor's statement in its entirety deleted.

Everything Now Relies On Weather

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

Months of anticipation and planning for the solar eclipse spectacular tomorrow hinge on Mother Nature's cooperation and advance weather forecast for a favorable day are encouraging.

With everything relying on the weather, local citizens and visiting scientist and astronomers are expecting a total eclipse of the sun beginning at 1:31 p.m. tomorrow.

Official U.S. Weather Station figures call for generally fair skies tomorrow with only a ten per cent chance for precipitation in the coastal plain region that includes our city.

A full schedule of activities are planned at East Carolina University with lectures by visiting scholars from across the nation highlighting the two-day programs.

The University's role in the rare activity has been emphasized by a grant of $15,405 from the National Science Foundation. The grant, awarded to professor of physics Dr. R.N. Helms, will fund the two-day conference of some 100 college astronomy teachers, and will host several well-known scientists.

Scheduled to speak, in addition to numerous other guests, are Dr. Peter Van deKamp, director of the Sproul Observatory at Swarthmore College; Dr. Robert W. Hobbs of the Goddard Space Flight Center at Maryland; and Dr. Sarah Lee Lippincott, also from the Sproul Observatory.

The chairman of the Eclipse Committee at ECU, Dr. Floyd Mattheis, said this morning that final preparations are underway at the University in anticipation of the numerous guests expected.

Tonight at McGinnis Auditorium, Dr. Lippincott will lecture on "Observing Solar Eclipses" and the public is invited to attend the session, he said.

Tomorrow, ROTC students will be on hand, he said, out on the highways to offer information to out-of-town guests who are visiting Greenville to participate in the eclipse activities. Scouts will be on the campus of offer parking directions and other aid to visitors.

The chairman pointed out that two areas of activity are scheduled for tomorrow; one area will be the ECU mall where a public address system is being set up and another area is Eicklen Stadium.

Dr. Mattheis said that the public is invited to bring lunches tomorrow and participate in the activities. Parking, he said, will not be a problem.

The National Society for the Prevention of Blindness has urged everyone interested in viewing the eclipse tomorrow to consider an indirect method of looking at the objective.

The safest way to view the eclipse is through an indirect method, with the back to the sun. This can be accomplished by constructing a pinhole "camera" out of ordinary cardboard or a discarded linoleum tube.

Form a rectangular box three to four feet long, or cut a tube to that length. Close both ends and poke a hole approximately one-eighth of an inch in diameter in the center of one end. Attach a piece of white paper inside at the base, cut a hole above it for purposes of viewing and the camera is ready.

The best method is to aim the pinhole at the sun, stand with the back to the sun and view the eclipse through the opening. Do not look directly at the sun but view the reflection through the box.

Several motels contacted again in Greenville reported capacity reservations for tonight. Earlier calls in Washington and Williamston resulted in reports of "full houses" in those cities.

with uniforms and equipment, including a walkie talkie, with its grant share of $1,050. Bethel will spend its share of $1,976 for training. Ayden's share of $2,388 will be used for equipment. Greenville will buy five walkie talkies and train men with its share of $7,698.

East Carolina Summer Theater Season Guaranteed

"Our season is now guaranteed," Producer-Director Edgar R. Loessin reports concerning the sale of East Carolina Summer Theater season tickets for the upcoming 1970 summer season.

Loessin, stating that the response is well ahead of last year in the annual season ticket sales drive, said "We are vastly pleased with the many friends we have heard from already this year."

Emerald Isle's Mayor Relates Efforts To Get Water System

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

"I was promising to do everything I possibly could to secure a water system for Emerald Isle as part of my campaign for mayor before Tom Willis ever bought his lots for his cabin here," Emerald Isle mayor, William Clark, said yesterday.

"And I sent out form letters on the same issue to Emerald Islanders some three months before Charles Edwards purchased his lots here."

"I filed for the office of mayor of Emerald Isle on June 9, 1967 and immediately began campaigning hard, talking about the three most urgent needs of this island town — a bridge from the mainland, a water system, and a fire department."

Set Hearing On 10th St.

A public hearing on the proposed widening of 10th Street (U.S. 264 business) will be held Monday at 2 p.m. in the court room of the Greenville Municipal Building.

R. W. McGowan, Highway Department chief engineer for pre-construction, will conduct the hearing, where the proposed widening of the street will be explained in detail. After the explanation, comments and questions from the public will be heard.

The project begins at the 10th Street - Lawrence Street intersection and follows existing 10th Street to the east city limit which is east of the U. S. 264 bypass. The project will consist of curb section with existing 10th Street to a 72 foot face - to - face curb section with an eight foot pedestrian refuge island from Lawrence Street to College Hill Drive, and to a 64 foot face curb section from College Hill Drive to the end of the project.

CARPET OF SNOW BERLIN (AP) — Berlin and surrounding East Germany battled the heaviest snowfall of the winter today and the city itself lay under the thickest carpet of snow in this century.

According to Vaughn Yeomans, Carteret County Register of Deeds, the deed for three lots owned by Tom Willis, director of the East Carolina University Regional Development Institute here, is dated June 23, 1967. Each lot has 25 feet frontage on a street one block over from the beach front and is 156.2 feet deep. Since the lots are adjacent to one another, Willis has an area 25 yards wide on which he has erected a small cabin for his family's use and for rental purposes.

Charles Edwards, who resigned this week as state coordinator of the federal Economic Development Administration after it was revealed that he purchased lots in two beach areas where his agency later financed water systems largely because of his efforts, owns six lots "next door" to those of Willis. His deed is dated some three months later — September 20, 1967. The dimensions of each of the six is 25 feet by 155.1 feet, Yeomans said.

"I was elected mayor July 3, 1967," Clark continued. "I met Tom about the middle of July when I went to his cabin to inspect the pump he had installed — I was also building inspector at the time. During this first meeting, I asked him if his agency could help us organize a fire department as it had for Salter Path, a nearby community. I also enlisted his agency's help in securing the water system I had promised my constituents I'd work for. He assured me he would do all he could about both projects and he immediately sent men from Regional Development to help us, first Ed Stanfield, then William Minette.

"We held several public meetings about the water system and surveys made by the RDI were very helpful. Two dates of these meetings were August 29 and September 19. Preliminary applications were submitted after the September 19 meeting.

"During the fall it became clear that Emerald Isle as a town could not qualify for EDA assistance; so we decided to include Salter Path in our application on account of the additional low salaried incomes from the other end of the island. We formed a non-profit corporation we called Bogue Banks Water and Sewer Corporation on November 11, 1967. "We got the needed money — a $234,000 grant and a $234,000 low-cost loan. "I don't know much about the Cape Carteret water project which is still under consideration by EDA, but I am familiar with the area and another man and I own three lots there together. It's good real estate, better than those lots on Emerald Isle, which were washed over by a hurricane only a few years ago."

Edwards' three lots in the Cape Carteret area, according to Register of Deeds Yeomans, have the following dimensions in feet: 213.35 x 100 x 213.6 x 100.37; 101.46 x 227.41 x 213.36 x 100; and 197.24 x 202.55 x 150.41 x 112.62. His deeds for this property are dated July 16, 1969. Negotiations for a proposed Cape Carteret water project reportedly started a few days later.

Edwards is a former mayor of Farmville. Some other beach areas that have applied for or received EDA money for water and/or sewer systems include Atlantic Beach, Beaufort, and Harker's Island.

Councilmen Acted Upon Varied Items

Adoption of a proposed ordinance establishing a Capital Reserve Fund and approval of a Lease Agreement with the Housing Authority concerning the old county school bus garage in Moyewood were among actions taken at last night's meeting of the City Council.

City Manager Harry Hagerty made a second reading of the proposed ordinance to create the fund, a necessary procedure, he stated, "as it provides specific benefits to specific organizations."

Hagerty explained that by "setting aside certain funds which will not show up as cash on hand at the end of the year, it will not get lost in next year's budget."

"Is this a means by which the city can carry money over from one year to the next?" asked Dr. Frank Fuller.

"Yes, by setting this aside, then we're not suddenly faced periodically with an unexpected need for some item of equipment," Hagerty said.

"It also is a means to accumulate money ahead for the future, for such things as a new city hall," Mayor Frank M. Wooten, Jr. commented.

"My thinking is that a fund like this would let us have something to rely on for recreation land," Johnnie Edwards added. "This would put us in a better position to get federal grants in such instances."

On the point of how much or what percentage basis to use for establishing such a fund, Mayor Wooten pointed out "the fund would be under the control of the council from year to year."

City Attorney David Reid told the Council that the ordinance meets all agreements contained in legal statutes.

The motion to establish the Capital Reserve Fund ordinance was approved, with three councilmen voting for and Percy Cox voting against the ordinance.

Following a resume of two plans for consideration in connection with old county school bus garage in the Moyewood public housing project, the councilmen voted unanimously to adopt an amended plan, one of two offered by the Housing Authority.

Under the plan adopted, the Housing Authority will complete Conley Street from its present termination to connect with Memorial Drive.

Colonel A E Dubber and Jimmy Sutton briefed the councilmen on the ruling by HUD which rules unacceptable the Housing Authority's construction of the extension of Conley Street without an agreement to place two dwelling units on the portion of the proposed street adjacent to the old garage. The entire project will entail construction of 10 buildings with 17 dwelling units.

Other matters considered by the Council and actions taken are:

—Approval of abandonment of McClellan Street from Howell Street to Wyatt Street.

—Approval of annexation of Keel Peanut Company, Star Planters Warehouse and N.C. Natural Gas Company into the city limits.

—Adopted a resolution regarding land acquisition policy for the city. The resolution calls for carrying out an official coordinated program for all land acquisition.

—Set for public hearing on April 9 the following agenda items: Request for trailer permits by Mrs. Eliza Underwood; Ivey Coward; property on U.S. 264 By-Pass.

In connection with zoning for the Moye Property, the city attorney was directed to check with the town of Winterville to determine the extent of jurisdiction of Greenville and Winterville in this area.

—Adopted a resolution for the Positive Action Program for the city of Greenville as an updating resolution in support of EDA application by the Greenville Utilities Commission.

—Approved the low bid of $2,340.00 for a John Deere tractor from Waller and Forbes for the Recreation Commission.

Not on the agenda, but approved by the Council was an amendment to the ordinance regulating parades, picket lines and group demonstrations in the City of Greenville.

The original ordinance, adopted December 3, 1969, has been simplified and made considerably shorter. The amendment was read by City Attorney Reid.

"What this new ordinance does is to put the Chief of Police in a more tenable position," Redi commented after reading the amended version.

The Council also voted authority for City Clerk William Moore to proceed with advertisement action of unpaid back taxes. This normally would have been voted on in the April meeting, but due to the postponement of April's meeting by one week, the action last night was required.

Three Killed As Car And Truck Collide

ZEBULON, N. C. (AP) — A truck loaded with bricks collided head-on with an automobile near Zebulon Thursday, killing three women.

The victims were Augustine Brissette Brantley, 35, of Rocky Mount, driver of the car; Judy Bissette Harrison of Rt. 2, Middlesex, and Frances Faithful Proctor, 39, of Rocky Mount.

Trooper R.F. Suddarth said the truck swerved to avoid running into the rear of another vehicle and collided with the Brantley car.

Suddarth said the driver of the truck, Lazarus McCormick of Rt. 1, Lillington, suffered only slight injuries.

Law Enforcement Course Funds OK'd

Funds have been approved for establishing a Center for Correctional Sciences and Police Administration at East Carolina University, it was announced by the Mid-East Law Enforcement Planning Division.

The program will establish college degree level courses in the law enforcement field.

Several law enforcement units in Pitt and Martin Counties also received cash grants for specific purposes.

Martin County's grant share was $7,440—money for salaries, uniforms, and equipment for two full-time officers. Pitt County got a share of $3,328 for equipment.

Williamston can employ one additional full-time officer and add equipment with its grant share of $8,230. Robersonville was granted $6,000 for two full-time officers and a Polaroid camera kit and adapter. Fountain can add a 12-man auxiliary force, provide them has been broken down into specific numbers for all towns within a reasonable commuting distance of Greenville.

Goldsboro, New Bern, Rocky Mount, Tarboro, Williamston, and Wilson are all over the halfway mark in their assigned quotas, Loessin reports, with Washington, Greenville, Farmville and Ayden approaching the halfway mark.

In Greenville, tickets, priced at $18, each for admission to the five summer performances, may be purchased from the following persons: Dr. H.E. Lowry, Bruce Koonce, Dr. Kathleen Stokes, Donald McGlohon, Cameron Dudley, Mrs. J.B. Kittrell, Mrs. S.M. Crisp, Mrs. Dink James, Dr. H.R. Billica, Mrs. Mary Windle, Billy Laughinghouse, Dr. Allen Taylor, Lester Turnage, Jack Morgan, Miss Elizabeth Copeland, Dr. Ed Clement, Mrs. Troy Dodson, Mrs. A. Tyson Bilbro, T.W. Rivers, Mrs. Virginia Scales, Mrs. Stella Debnam, Dr. Michael House, Dr. Donald Tucker, Mrs. Bruce White, Mrs. S.A. Sewall, Charles Sugg, and Miss Vivian Mallard.

Anyone purchasing a ticket is entitled to attend all five productions — "Hello, Dolly," "Pirates of Penzance," "George M.," "A Funny Thing Happened On The Way To The Forum," and "Man of La Mancha."

Tickets may also be obtained by writing to the East Carolina Summer Theater, Box 2712, Greenville, N.C. 27834.

Now in its seventh year of operation, the Summer Theater has attracted wide attention for the high calibre of its productions. To guarantee its continuation the 1969 Legislature granted the theater a subsidy to offset increased production costs.

Couple Speaks Vows In Ceremony

WINTERVILLE — Miss April Lee Adams became the bride of Gregory Howard Crouse on Thursday at 8:00 p.m. in the Winterville Missionary Baptist Church.

The Rev. Horace Thompson officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Melva Jones of Winterville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Crouse of Florence, S. C.

Preceding the ceremony, a program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Wilma Smith, pianist, and Mrs. Mamie Dews, soloist, who sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Lloyd Adams, of Ayden. She wore a white formal length gown of peau de soie featuring a gathered skirt and a round neckline appliqued with a beaded pearl trim. The cuffs on the long set-in sleeves were accented with pearl buttons.

Her veil of pure silk French illusion was attached to a pearl trimmed coronet. She carried a satin covered prayer book centered with a white orchid showered with satin streamers.

Mrs. Jo Ann Gray was matron of honor. She wore a formal length A-line gown of gold velvet. Her headpiece was a bow of matching fabric with a short tulle veil. She carried a single long-stemmed mum showered with streamers of gold.

Honorary bridesmaids were Rita and Hilda Jones, sisters of the bride, and Lisa Crouse, sister of the bridegroom. They carried single long-stemmed roses. The bridegroom chose as his best man, his father, Joseph H. Crouse. Ushers were Danny Byrum and David Boyce.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Jones chose a street length dress of hot pink crepe with accessories to match.

Mrs. Crouse, mother of the bridegroom, wore a blue dress with matching accessories. Both mothers wore mum corsages.

Immediately following the ceremony, the bridal couple received in the vestibule of the church.

The bride chose for traveling, a costume of light blue with black accessories and wore the orchid lifted from her prayer book. The couple will make their home in Winterville.

The bride is attending East Carolina University. The bridegroom is attending East Carolina University and also is employed by WNCT-TV, Greenville.

The wedding was directed by Mrs. Angeline Venters of Ayden. Mrs. Lois Stanley of Greenville presided at the guest register.

After-Rehearsal Party

On Wednesday night following the rehearsal, the Crouse-Adams wedding party and close friends were entertained by Mrs. Melva Jones, mother of the bride, for the cake-cutting at the church.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Lois Stanley.

Mrs. Jo Ann Gray poured the punch and Mrs. Gertrude Haddock served the wedding cake.

Good-byes were said by Mrs. Juanita Kirkman, aunt of the bride, of Wilson.

Reader Seeks Advice About Plastic Surgery

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd. Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I am 48 years old and I look like 18—from the neck down. I started to show my age about 10 years ago, and now I get so discouraged every time I look in a mirror. My skin looks so OLD!

I am happily married to a very handsome man of 50, but he looks much younger, and I am afraid one of these days somebody is going to take me for his mother!

I've been thinking about plastic surgery. Is it dangerous? Is it painful? How long will a face-lifting last? [I've heard that that operation has to be repeated every 6 or 7 years.] How expensive is it? I really wouldn't mind the pain or the expense if the results satisfied me.

Don't tell me to grow old "gracefully." No woman wants to look old when she can look younger. Please tell me the truth about face-lifting.

DEAR "PRUNE": The most obvious "truth" about face-lifting is that no reputable plastic surgeon can guarantee a patient that she will be satisfied with the results which can range all the way from "Why didn't I leave well enough alone?" to "Why didn't I do this sooner?"

Your best source of information is a plastic surgeon. If you don't know a good one, ask your family physician to refer you. But a word of warning, don't do it without your husband's knowledge and consent. He just may like "prunes."

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have lived in this apartment building for 30 years, and all of a sudden my husband decides to buy the building.

Now I'm "the landlady" to all my old friends, so every time something goes wrong with something in their apartment, they call me and nag me about it.

When my husband comes home, I pass on all the complaints to him and he gets mad at me. He tells me I should tell the tenants to come to him with their complaints.

I tried that but it doesn't work. The complainers still call me and give me their beefs. If I say, "Call my husband and tell HIM about it," they say, "Why should I? I just told you, YOU tell him."

So, Dear Abby, I can't win. What should I do?

DEAR LANDLADY: If a tenant calls you with a "beef," —don't listen. Say, "Hold it—just give me your name and telephone number, and I'll have the boss call you when he comes home."

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a man who would move out of his home and into a motel for a whole week while his sisters are visiting him, to prevent them from knowing that he is married and has a two-year-old son?

That is what my husband did. We have been married for three years, and he never told his family that he was married—just that he was moving to another state. You see, he is Catholic and divorced, and he feels that his family would not understand.

Don't you think it's time his family knew about it? His parents do not even know they have a grandchild! Print this with your answer as he reads your column faithfully.

DEAR HEARTSICK: Yes, I think it's time. Tell him to grow up, or his son will become a man before HE does.

DEAR ABBY: I have heard that barbers and beauticians who own their own shops feel that accepting a tip from a customer is beneath them, and if one is offered they are insulted. I can't see why. If they perform a personal service, why should they feel that way? It sort of puts down the people in the shop who work for them. Or am I wrong?

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Junior Club Women Hear Program On Pollution

A program on water pollution was given by A. C. Turnage Jr. at the meeting of the Junior Woman's Club of Greenville held Wednesday night.

Turnage told of water pollution problems and solutions of several cities in the United States and other countries. He concluded the program, by showing colored slides. He is a regional engineer with the North Carolina Department of Water and Air Resources.

It was announced that District Junior Day, for five districts, would be held in Rocky Mount on April 8.

Mrs. Vernette Dean, president, conducted the meeting and called for the following reports:

Mrs. Sara West, giving the Public Affairs Department report, told of figures from a survey given at the February meeting. Home Life Department Chairman, Mrs. Kay Tice, reported on the Valentine party given at Caswell Center, Kingston, on Feb. 13 and said that an Easter party is being planned.

Mrs. Sara DeLoach, chairman of the Education Department, told of letters which were sent to local theatres concerning types of movies being shown and of television programs for children.

Mrs. Phyllis Robbins, Fine Arts chairman, announced the number of entries in the recent Fine Arts Festival. The District Fine Arts Festival will be held on Saturday in Washington at the First Christian Church. The state festival will be held on April 4.

Mrs. Lynne Rudolph, chairman of International Affairs and Conservation, briefly explained Project Concern, CARE and HOPE.

The club is sponsoring a bridge benefit and Eastern bazaar on March 17 at the Eastern Elementary School cafeteria. Mrs. Betty Chapman made the following announcements concerning the event: tables should be taken to the school by 2 p.m.; cakes from 2-7 p.m. and bazaar items, 2-5 p.m.

Coffee Given Mrs. Whipff

Mrs. Ianthé Whipff was entertained at a coffee hour Monday morning at the home of Mrs. Max Minges.

Hostesses were members of Circle Nine of the First Presbyterian Church.

Upon arrival, the honoree received a corsage of yellow mums and a gift from the circle.

Arrangements of mums, Dutch iris and snapdragons were used in the living and dining room.

Coffee was poured by Mrs. C. E. Baker. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Joe Paulk, Mrs. Ted Ransley and Mrs. Robert Klein.

FASHION FORECASTS

by C. Heber Forbes

(Teen-Angel Style-Setters)

Today's young people are aware and astute. They are a "with-it" generation. Although some of them have made unsavory headlines, the majority are good kids — the TEEN-ANGELS of the Sixties. The girls of this generation have set more styles and influenced more designers than any previous generation.

Teen-angels are responsible for the return to lady-like fashions. Some will say mini-skirts and brief bikinis are not lady-like. (Much of this criticism developed because the wrong figures wore extreme versions of these styles at the wrong times. Teen-angels must learn, as must all women, to wear what is becoming to themselves, and appropriate for the time and occasion.

Narrower shoulders, modified tent styles, relaxed waistlines, modestly bared shoulders and a revival in the use of laces can be traced to Teen-angel style setters.

Scholarship Contest Set For Saturday

WASHINGTON — District 15 competition for the Sallie Southall Cotten Scholarship Award, by the N. C. Federation of Women's Clubs, will be held with the Fine Arts Festival here on Saturday.

The scholarship is a four-year $750 award. Beginning at 9 a.m., the festival will be held at the First Christian Church.

Mrs. W. O. Abbott of Williamston, scholarship chairman for District 15, announces the contestants and sponsoring club entering Saturday's competition:

Miss Jill Hardy, Williamston Woman's Club; Miss Suzanne Ange, Junior Woman's Club, Williamston; Miss Carol Hardy, Greenville Woman's Club; Miss Valencia H. Willoughby, Farmville Junior Woman's Club; Miss Sandra Leigh Dudley, Washington Junior Woman's Club; and Miss Paula Ruth Weatherly, Woman's Club of Washington.

The contestants will be judged by individual and group interviews as well as on their high school records, activities and character recommendations. The girls will be judged on their scholastic record, character, evidence of intellectual promise, leadership and financial need.

The District 15 scholarship winner will move into state competition to be held at the University of North Carolina, Greensboro, on April 4, beginning at 9 a.m.

Serving on the panel of judges will be: Mrs. Neil Bain, club woman of Williamston; the Rev. Tommy J. Payne, pastor of the Oakmont Baptist Church, Greenville; and Mrs. Roland Bunting, English teacher, Oak City High School.

Luncheon will be served for the contestants, judges and sponsoring club representatives at the church.

Eastern Star Officers Named

Greenville Chapter No. 149, Order of Eastern Star, held its annual election of officers on Tuesday evening.

Officers elected were: Mrs. Jean Karl Tharp, Worthy Matron; Bryce W. Tharp, Worthy Patron; Mrs. Virginia Spencer, Associate Matron; Clifton Perry, Associate Patron; Miss Alya Ray Taylor, Secretary;

Mrs. Eula Mae Cannon, Treasurer; Mrs. Mary Freeland, Conductress; and Mrs. Grace Hill, Associate Conductress.

Open installation of officers will be held later this month.

Shower Given Miss Payton

Miss Pearlite Payton, March 28 bride-elect of Shady Clark Jr., was honored Saturday evening at a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. James C. Boone.

Special guests included Mrs. Sarah Payton and Mrs. Pearlite Best, mother and grandmother of the bride-elect.

Miss Payton received a corsage and a silver pastry server.

Reminds April 3 Closes Out Voter Registration

The deadline for registering to vote in the May 2 primary election is April 3, according to I. Bruce Koonce, chairman of the Pitt County Board of Elections. Koonce, explaining that full-time voter registration began in Pitt in January, said voter registration books will remain open three additional days in order to give persons not able to register during the regular work week an extra day in which to register. He explained that a registrar will be located in the lobby of the Pitt County Court House on the last three Saturdays during the registration period — March 14, 21 and 28 — in order to give persons not able to register during the regular work week an opportunity to register. Normally, Koonce explained, persons may register Monday through Friday at the Board of Elections office on the third floor of the Court House. That office is opened from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. each day. Koonce said the registration books will remain open during the same hours on March 12, 21 and 28 also. The elections official emphasized that April 3 is also the deadline for persons to have their voting records transferred from one precinct to another if they have moved since they registered to vote. "This transfer is most important," Koonce emphasized. "In order for a person to be eligible to vote, he must be registered in the precinct where he lives . . . where he now resides," Koonce explained. "Those who have moved from the precinct in which they originally registered," Koonce said, "should have their records transferred to the precinct in which they now live." "It is very important for the voting records to be in order," Koonce said. "If there is any doubt as to whether a person is correctly registered, simply call the Elections office and find out your status," the Elections Board chairman suggested.

Charge Rumors Designed To Damage Union
CHAPEL HILL (AP) — An organizer for the food workers' union at the University of North Carolina has accused SAGA Food Services of starting rumors among employees to turn them against the union.

Emmett Doe also said Thursday that management "has extended preferential treatment to employees, and the union, by law, cannot extend preferential treatment to anyone."

He said he was "trying to straighten out practices which have been contrary" to the union-management contract.

Management officials were not immediately available for comment.

A petition was being circulated Thursday among food service workers requesting removal of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees Union.

PET COCKROACHES
TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A woman called the Tucson Public Library and asked if it could supply information on the care and feeding of her pets, cockroaches. It couldn't.

Mid-Lenten Service Set

On Sunday the mid-point in Lent, the two later morning services of St. Paul's Episcopal Church will combine in worship with a celebration of Holy Communion at 10 a.m.

All unconfirmed students from six grade down are asked to report directly to their classes. Guilford Worsley and Mrs. Ted Gartman have planned a worship program to be followed by an audio-visual festival for the Sunday School.

The Celebrant for the Eucharist will be the rector, the Rev. Lawrence P. Houston Jr., with Ed Waldrop administering the Chalice.

Following the morning worship, the congregation will gather in the parish hall for coffee and the opportunity to meet with the Vestry, the elected board of directors of the parish.

For some time it has become apparent that there has been little opportunity for the participants in the 9:30 and 11:15 services to meet and to know each other. The purpose of the combined service is to allow these church members to meet each other.

The celebration of Holy Communion at 7:30 a.m. will continue as usual with a breakfast for the men and boys of the parish following the service in the parish hall.

2 Accidents On Thursday

An estimated $340 property damage resulted from two mishaps investigated by Greenville police yesterday.

Officers reported William Leggett, 55-year-old Negro of Route 2, Ayden was charged with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of an 11:40 a.m. mishap yesterday at the intersection of U.S. 264 and Hooker Road.

Police identified the driver of the second vehicle involved as Nancy Thompson Pleasants, 28, of 766 Sylvan Dr. and set damage at $150 to the Pleasants vehicle and $40 to the Leggett auto.

No charges were reported in the second mishap which involved cars driven by Russell Whidby, 38, of Raleigh and Hubert Glenn Stocks, 59, of Route 1, Greenville.

Damage was set at $100 to the Whidby car and $50 to the Stocks vehicle.

That mishap occurred about 8:40 a.m. at the intersection of N.C. 11 and U.S. 264 By-pass.

Student Group Debates Bill Of Responsibility

RALEIGH (AP)—The North Carolina Student Legislature considers all its closing session today a bill that would make the governor legally responsible for acts committed by the National Guard on college campuses.

The measure was proposed by delegates from A&T State University at Greensboro, scene of civil rights disorders last year.

Delegates from 35 colleges and universities are attending the three-day assembly. A bill was approved Thursday to give 18-year-olds the right to vote.

Other legislation passed included: A bill to repeal the state tax on soft drinks while retaining the cigarette tax, an act to repeal capital punishment for rape, and a measure to prohibit the down-grading of stream standards for industrial purposes.

Wisconsin passed the first state workmen's compensation law in 1911. It was the first such law to be held constitutional and effective in the United States.

The Community Gospel Chorus of Greenville will meet Sunday at 2 p.m. at Cornerstone Missionary Baptist Church for a trip to Washington to participate in a musical program.

The Chorus will meet at Cornerstone Baptist Church Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. to participate in the revival services.

The No. 1 Usher Board of Selvia Chapel F.W.B. Church will meet Sunday at 4 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Nellie B. Smith, 1216 S. Clark St. Tom Clark will be the host.

Elder Annie Lee Outlaw, pastor of Mt. Pleasant Church of Robersonville, will preach at Whichard's Chapel Holiness Church Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

Last week we were discussing lines and wrinkles caused by squinting, and the effects of the sun's rays among the eyes. Along the same lines we would like to mention the beneficial qualities of a really good facial massage by an expert. Regular massage and stimulation by a cosmetician can certainly cure the dry leather look left after "That Summer Sun". If you want to know "where it's happening" and "where it's at" . . . we can tell you. Why not stop in and let us start your basic beauty program with a beautiful new permanent wave and you'll be ready for your "happening".

In Downtown Greenville. Open Every Night Til 9 P.M.

Councilmen Heeded Majority

Mayor Frank M. Wooten's belated statement opposing the Central Business District redevelopment project gives us all the more reason to praise the four councilmen who approved the CBD agreement last week.

Following the public hearing Councilmen Percy Cox, Johnny Edwards, Frank Fuller and Jerry Sutherland voted in favor of the CBD plan, with the mayor abstaining. Now we see that they were doing it in the face of the mayor's opposition.

And what was Mayor Wooten objecting to? The "luxury" of putting electrical lines underground in downtown Greenville? If the mayor will check, he will find the Utilities Commission has had a policy

Life Crowded With Serving

The following guest column was written for the N.C. Association of Afternoon Dailies, by Charles B. Pregram of the Hickory Daily Record.

By CHARLES B. PREGRAM HICKORY — So much activity for benefit of others has been crowded into the 33 years of Jimmy R. Jacumin's life that he has received the epitome of recognition by being one of five Young Men of the Year as selected by the North Carolina Jaycees.

This is not to say that the other statewide winners—Homer Lee Cole of Pleasant Garden, William Horne, Jr., of Burlington, Ronald Eugene Williams of Pfaffton, and Robert Webb Wynne, III, of Raleigh — were any less signally honored, for they, too, were chosen.

It is singular that each of them devoted untold hours in service to others without reward or hope of reward. Purely altruistic.

Jacumin is from Hildebran, a small community in eastern Burke county. His business is concerned with engineering of making devices principally for the textile field, and inventing and patenting some of them. He is president of Jacumin Engineering and Machinery Co., near Icard; chairman and part owner of Jacumin-Walker-Henderson, a firm that builds and leases property; and president of I-Text, a new company that deals with textiles.

He grew up on the farm of his parents Mr. and Mrs. Emile Jacumin at Rutherford College, and when he finished Valdese High School there were three scholarships and two grants-in-aid awaiting him at North Carolina State University.

He became dormitory president and manager, Interdormitory Council vice-president, the university's outstanding gymnast and intramural softball player, and was graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree in nuclear engineering and a minor in mechanical engineering.

With diploma in hand, he joined Douglas Aircraft Co. in Charlotte as a propulsion engineer in 1959, and was involved in propulsion projects dealing with the Nike Ajax, Nike Hercules, Nike Zeus, Nike Junco, lunar landing vehicle studies, and the Arba list, an anti-tank weapon capable of penetrating 12 inches of armor plate without an explosive warhead.

Five years later he came to Hickory, then to Hildebran. Meantime, this young man who never rose above the rank of Second Class Boy Scout, formed Explorer Post 10 in Charlotte, was chosen top Explorer advisor in Mecklenburg county and was selected to accompany the area's top five Explorer Scouts to Cape Canaveral for a week, where they met John Glenn, the first American to orbit the earth on Feb. 20, 1962. He and 25 Explorers constructed "Surfside 10," a large scale paddle-wheel boat that plied the lakes around Charlotte with a crew of five and passenger capacity of 100. The craft gained considerable attention, and was featured in Boys Life Magazine, in newspapers and in television features.

He developed a friendship in Charlotte with a Jew, and as a result conducted research into the Jewish religion in order to teach a two-weeks' course at Statesville Road Baptist Church to promote understanding of the religion. He donated time and use of a bulldozer to grade a parking lot for a small Lutheran church then being organized.

He took Explorer Scouts to four colleges and universities in North Carolina for engineer fairs, open houses and ball games as he attempted to instill in them a desire for college education — and one of the boys later attended the U.S. Naval Academy. Jacumin also directed Operation Paul Bunyon I and II, a Mecklenburg county wildlife, conservation and natural resources organization involving 175 boys, and these groups won two awards from the N.C. Wildlife Federation, (The Terry Sanford Award), and a regional citation from baseball star Ted Williams. The group explored in the Uwharrie Wildlife Refuge and the Table Rock-Linville Gorge area.

He tutors high school students, at no cost, in mathematics, algebra and physics to help them overcome difficulties with these studies. He designed and built recreation equipment for schools in the area at no cost, and was chairman of a Community physical fitness program which won an award and recognition to an adult who had done most for physical fitness, and for a boy who was adjudged most physically fit.

He was co-chairman of Hickory's first Soap Box Derby and taught the clinics for Hickory's contests. Each year he sponsors an underprivileged boy and helps put cars in order on inspection day and race day.

Jacumin is president of the Hildebran Jaycees, and was a director of both the Hickory and Hildebran units. He is chairman of the Community Development Survey, and has spoken to most clubs in the area to determine projects for adoption.

of putting downtown electric lines underground for years, and indeed almost every city in the state is clamoring for underground lines. In Greenville, power lines are already partially underground on Fourth, Third, Cotanche, Fifth Street, and other areas. The public would have a real quarrel with the Utilities Commission if it ceased its program of placing power lines underground.

It just happens to be Greenville's great good fortune that in an urban renewal project it can receive credit for funds spent in installing underground lines, because the Utilities Commission is owned by the city. If a private utilities did the work there would be no credit available.

Too, if the mayor will check his city ordinances he will find there is one which requires new utilities lines to go underground, unless the City Council specifically grants an exception.

Mayor Wooten feels that funds spent for improving downtown only benefit one small area of the city? Our City Hall, Sheppard Library, local art center, post office, many federal, state and county offices, as well as businesses, are located in downtown Greenville. Two of three theatres are there. Millions of dollars in East Carolina University property are located adjacent to downtown Greenville. Every citizen of the city uses some of the facilities from time to time and it is basically for the citizens and for visitors to our city that the city can justify its portion of the CBD project cost.

The mayor feels that other projects should have higher priority — city employee wages, swimming pools, resurfacing of streets. There are, indeed, many things that the city needs to do. However, the CBD project is planned for execution over a ten year period and thus the city's relatively minor portion of the overall cost will be spread over an entire decade. Surely during this time, with the growth all of us see ahead, Greenville can take care of its other needs. No city which is dedicated to solving its problems as Greenville is, can afford to focus its attention on only one problem at a time.

Greenville's Central Business District redevelopment project has been in the planning stage for a long time. The federal funds are available, and if the opportunity had been lost they might never have been again.

The four councilmen who voted for this project have heeded the feelings of the overwhelming majority of local citizens that this project should be carried through. All of us owe these councilmen individual expressions of appreciation for having the courage to approve the CBD project.

Extraordinary Sight, But Don't Look At It

Tomorrow a rare heavenly event will take place in our area. A total eclipse of the sun is to occur.

Barring cloudy weather we will be able to observe the moon moving across the face of the sun until the sun is totally covered.

The National Society for Prevention of Blindness says the only safe way to observe the eclipse is to make a pin hole in one square of cardboard and project the sun's image on another square without looking directly at the sun.

The sun's rays are extremely dangerous in that they can burn the retina and cause blindness. After every eclipse there are a number of such cases reported.

It is important not to take chances with your vision tomorrow. Children should be supervised so that they do not look directly at the sun. Vision is too important to lose.

Cool Campus Of Chicago U.

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

CHICAGO — At one of his regular breakfast conversations with students recently, President Edward H. Levi of the University of Chicago listened to a law student's vigorous demand that students be given a voice in determining tenure for professors — that is, who shall have permanent faculty status.

The student argued that ceding such powers to students would form an escape hatch for the university administration in tough cases. At the large Midwestern state university where he was an undergraduate, the law student explained, students had been valuable allies siding with the administration against the board of trustees over tenure for a faculty member so controversial that he had become a "political" question.

Levi's reply was calm but firm. The trustees at Chicago, he explained, have no voice whatever in questions of hiring or firing professors. Furthermore, if any faculty member's tenure hinged on "political" considerations, Levi would walk out as president. In brief, the faculty will continue to judge itself without help from

Fellowship And Belief Believe something. Everybody who does something in the world — either something good or something bad — believes in certain principles or in a philosophy of life. People whose lives are committed to everything good believe in goodness. They call the abstract reality upon which all their actions rest, principles. The criminal, on the other hand, is a person who believes certain things. The world owes him a living. He doesn't intend to work if he can steal. A man who had served most of his life as a police officer explained to a group of incredulous citizens the social distinctions maintained among criminals. For instance, a notorious robber would never allow his daughter to marry a pick-pocket. Robbery in his world gave a man distinction. If he was a good robber — that was it. The kids who were just beginning to pick up something here and there looked at the robber with admiration and hoped he would take them on as a fellow worker. Now, as we turn to the more wholesome side of life we find that the world's great heroes have believed certain things, many of them to their death. Abraham Lincoln and Robert E. Lee, ranged on opposite sides in the Civil War, had great respect for each other. And well they might have had for they were both truly great men. We can do just about what we want to do if we set ourselves toward some great objective and pursue it day in and day out, decade after decade.

Dead, How Many Times?

WASHINGTON — There have been some frightening figures coming out of the Pentagon lately on Soviet missiles. They have been released by pure coincidence at the very moment that the Defense Department is asking for the second down payment on the antiballistic missile system. We have been told that the nuclear balance is in danger and by 1975 the Soviets will have five times as many nuclear weapons as the United States.

What does this all mean? To find out, I visited the Pentagon and talked with Hiram Hempleweather of SHOT which stands for Scaring the Hell Out of the Taxpayers. Hempleweather was perspiring when I walked into his office. "It may be too late even now to catch up with the Soviets," he said. "How's that?" I asked. "The Soviet ratio of four missiles to our one could easily change by 1975 to five missiles to our one. We won't have a chance." "What do you mean we won't have a chance?" "At the moment the Russians can kill each American four times, and we can kill each Russian only once. In five years they can

Other Editors Say Mirror, Mirror

(Jacksonville Daily News) If you really want to know why the young are so angry with society, try a little experiment, suggests John Holt, teacher and author of educational reform books like "How Children Fail."

Let your hair grow long, or get a reasonably realistic wig. Dress in authentic hippie clothes. Get a little scruffy and dirty. Then just walk about in the streets of whatever city you live in.

What you will see in the faces of a good many people, says Holt, is the thought, deeply felt and very clearly communicated, "If I could, I would kill you."

That's nothing. If you really want to encounter the look that kills, try this experiment: Rent a Gestapo uniform and walk down the streets of almost any city in Europe.

This is certainly not to imply that hippies and Nazis have anything in common. In fact, the one is total anathema to the other. It is only to suggest that in both cases the unfriendly looks of passersby would involve a bit more than an automatic reaction to somebody who is dressed differently.

One need not delve deeply into reasons. The sight of a scuffy and dirty hippie, whatever he may or may not symbolize to the viewer, is simply offensive to the eye and oppressive to the spirit, like an overflowing trash can on the sidewalk. The hippie, at his worst, is as much an insult to himself as to everyone who comes in contact with him.

Are disgust and fear and hate the only emotions people carry about with them on the street, ready to express spontaneously?

Try another experiment: Get a haircut (not necessarily short) and a shave (or a beard trim), if you are male, or a shampoo and hairset, if you are female. Dress in neat, clean clothes (not necessarily Ivy League or high fashion). Take off the sunglasses so people can see your eyes. Walk erectly and with a purposeful step. Don't stare but look candidly at people, with a smile to form on your lips.

What you will see in the faces of a good many people is the thought, deeply felt and very clearly communicated, "A good day to you, and how nice to see you."

Sure, there is no accounting for taste, and taste does change, but there is no pretending that such a thing as taste does not exist, either. Of course, people should be free to dress as they please and be as scruffy as they please.

But before young people complain about the lack of love in the world, they should first take a long look in the mirror.

kill us five times and we can only kill them once. This puts us at a terrible disadvantage. We must maintain the four-to-one ratio or we'll be at the Kremlin's mercy."

"But surely our Polaris-Posidon submarines can protect us."

"Not for long. By 1975 we'll have only 650 Polaris missiles available for launching, while the Russians will have 950 submarine missiles to launch at us."

"This means we can kill each Russian only two-thirds as many times as they can kill each American."

"How did it happen?" "The Americans have been lulled into thinking that as long as they can kill Russians once, they have a defense."

"They don't?" "Of course not," Hempleweather said. "Suppose we go to the disarmament talks in Vienna and say to the Soviets, 'We have enough weapons in our stockpile to kill every citizen in the USSR three times,' and they come back and say, 'So what? We have enough missiles to kill every American 15 times.' That will put us at a disadvantage. But if we have parity and we can say that we can kill every Russian 10 times for every American they kill 10 times, we'll be in a better bargaining position, and they'll think twice about starting something."

"The problem with your argument as I see it," I told Hempleweather, "is that Americans don't want to

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

It is pretty safe to figure a civilization is going downhill when the people in it talk more about astrology than religion and put more faith in their stars than in their God.

is a sign it hasn't been paid for yet. If that were true of new automobiles, we wouldn't be able to hear ourselves for the din.

One of the worst things about having to pay 15 cents for a cup of coffee is that it tastes just as bad as the old nickel cup did.

The first thing a new business executive does after being hired is to go through the files of his predecessor and see what kind of letters he wrote that probably helped get him fired. The second thing the new executive does is to write a memo. The third thing he does is to wonder whether he should have.

The kind of patient a doctor dislikes most is a woman who calls on the phone and says she feels bad but doesn't think she's sick enough to justify making the trip to his office—and asks him what she should do.

One of the mysteries of this world is why anyone, after taking a bite of broccoli, then proceeds to take another bite. He wouldn't do it with fog, glue or library paste.

Somehow, he must have the weird idea that broccoli is a human food.

It is a myth that the major occupational ailment of policemen is foot trouble. More of them suffer from ulcers or chronic indigestion than from fallen arches.

We all have delusions of grandeur we never admit out loud. Who ever sang alone in his bathroom shower without the secret conviction he could have made a career in opera had he merely taken the time and effort?

One of the biggest decisions in most households these nights is whether to stay home and watch a nice clean old movie on television or go out and see a dirty new one.

After a man tells a lie, he tends to turn his face away. After a woman tells a lie, she prefers to open her compact and study her face in the mirror to see how well she got away with it.

How much happier we all might be if we but simply tore up the card—and let the credit go.

Susan Leggett, Elizabeth Jones Chosen Community Ambassadors

Miss Susan Leggett and Miss Elizabeth Jones have been named the local Community Ambassadors for 1970.

Sponsored by the United Christian Youth Movement, The Experiment in International Living has developed into a worldwide operation with representatives in 58 countries involved annually in the exchange of some 4,000 young men and women between the United States and other parts of the world.

Miss Leggett will spend the summer in Italy while Miss Jones will be traveling to Greece.

An Outbound Experiment group typically comprises ten men and women between the ages of 16 and 30, under the guidance of a specially trained leader, who live for a month as the son or daughter of a family abroad. This firsthand opportunity to develop friendships, learn the customs and traditions and participate in the activities of the host country from the vantage point of a family environment is the heart of Experiment experience.

The second month is spent traveling about the country with the host family members as their guests, or in special work or field study projects.

Miss Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Jones of 1708 S.

Elm St., will leave early in June and will have to learn the Greek language. She is a volunteer worker at the Greenville Nursing Home and Pitt Memorial Hospital as a candy stripper.

MISS ELIZABETH JONES

Miss Jones serves as treasurer of the Future Nurses Club and will attend that group's state convention in Raleigh on March 19-21. She is photographer and reporter for the Rose High School newspaper, "Rampant Lines" and is a member of the Community Chorus. She was a member of the French Circle and the Science Club last year. Miss Jones is a member of the CYF at the First Christian Church.

A member of the National Honor Society, Birdangles, and Student Council Association, Miss Leggett will not have to learn Italian so she will leave for Italy late in June or early July.

Miss Leggett, Girls State nominee, served as president of her homeroom in the ninth grade and 11th grade. She has served as publicity chairman, witness chairman of the MYF and as president and secretary-treasurer of the school chorus. She was a member of the Girls Intramurals during her freshman and sophomore years and a member of the Pep Club for three years. She received the Girls Physical Education award during her freshman year and was a member of the Tau staff in the sophomore year.

Miss Leggett has had lessons in dancing for 11 years.

Other ambassador's include: Suzy Stocks, Denmark; Kay Kaegenbein, Austria; Anne Hendershot, Holland; Les Garner, Belgium; Cordell Avery, France; and Fred Irons, Japan.

Contributions to help sponsor the trip may be sent to Community Project, P.O. Box 1100, Greenville.

students. That single encounter between president and student helps explain why Chicago, with a traditionally radical student body and surrounded by Chicago's black slums, has so far escaped the worst of the campus insurrection. Even more remarkable in an era when the academic community nationwide despairs for the future of liberal education, the administration and faculty here are in a state of self-confident, high morale.

The basic reason is that the men who run the University of Chicago have decided that the business of higher education is much too important to be entrusted to post adolescents. Although Levi breakfasts regularly with students and has formed student-faculty committees, he is dubious about the value of student participation. In three years as president, the former law professor has made it clear that students will not make academic decisions.

The dramatic testing of this policy came last spring when 400 student radicals, challenging the heart of faculty control, staged a 15-day sit-in at the administration building protesting the decision not to grant tenure to a radical professor. Resisting pressure, Levi refused to call the police. But in contrast to the permissiveness displayed that spring at Cornell and Harvard, the Chicago faculty expelled 37 students — and made it stick.

Only once since then has Chicago's firmness been tested. When students picketing a university cafeteria as a protest against working conditions there tried to forcibly prevent anybody from entering the building, the reaction was swift. Without fanfare, 14 more students were expelled.

Even so, the faculty still faces threats to academic freedom from student militants. In the last quarter, Maynard Krueger, a left-center economics professor, was harassed to the point of humiliation by radical students (and non-students, as well) in and out of class. Investigation failed to fix a basis for disciplinary action.

Moreover, there remain scattered threats of force to influence the content of courses. The classes of one Negro professor, himself a militant, are today being monitored by two Black Panther members (non-students) to guard against ideological deviation. The professor is furious at this challenge to his authority but can take no action until there is overt classroom disturbance.

Compared to often outrageous classroom intimidation practiced by student radicals across the country, however, the cool Chicago campus is paradise. Indeed, there have been recent signs that the students here are turning away from attempts to take over the university and concentrating on whatever national issue is in the headlines — Vietnam, the environment, ABM, or, most recently, the Chicago conspiracy trial.

This is not because the Chicago students are particularly unusual. Faculty members confided to us that Chicago students, probably brighter and more alert than their predecessors, dislike contemplation and vastly prefer bull sessions to study. Had they been granted the concessions of the Santa Barbara or MIT students; they might now be rambling here on the Midway.

The secret of Chicago seems to lie in the fact that the faculty and Levi (deeply admired by faculty, though not by students) believe in themselves, unlike many educators across the country. With distinguished academicians ranging from political scientist Henry Morgenthau on the left to economist Milton Friedman on the right, the Chicago faculty believes it has an invaluable product which should not be denatured by student whims.

Two Named To Academic List

DANVILLE, Va. — Two Greenville, N. C., students have been named to the Academic Honors list for the first semester at Stratford College.

Academic Honors requires that a student have a minimum 3.4 academic average out of a possible 4.0 with no grade below a C.

The local students are: Miss Judy Clark, senior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Clark Jr. of 2011 Pinecrest Dr., Greenville; and Miss Gayle Sutton, junior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Sutton, 2009 Pinecrest Dr., Greenville.

Stratford, a four-year liberal arts college for women, was established in 1852.

Feel Concern For Crocodiles

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Wildlife officials are concerned about Rhodesia's dwindling supply of crocodiles, regarded by most people in southern Africa as dangerous vermin. "Although the crocodile has not yet reached the position of being an endangered species we take every opportunity to ensure that this will never come about," a spokesman said.

Four crocodiles which had been killing stock in an African farming area were recently captured, and instead of being shot, taken by truck to a remote area where they should not be a menace.

DOG VACCINATION CLINICS SCHEDULE

The General Statutes of North Carolina were amended in 1957 to allow dogs over 6 months old to be vaccinated every three years with "Chick Tissue Culture Vaccine." In keeping with modern advancements, the Pitt County Rabies Control Department will continue this program. All dogs 4 months old or older are to be vaccinated.

Dogs between 4 and 6 months old are to be vaccinated now in 1970 and in 1 year in 1971.

Dogs over 6 months old which have never been vaccinated before or which have never been vaccinated with the "Chick Tissue Culture Vaccine" are to be vaccinated now in 1970 and then in 1973.

Place the vaccination tag on your dog's collar to identify your dog if lost or strayed. This is required by State Law. Please note the time of the clinic nearest your home.

Sobering Thoughts Sweep A Little Southern Town

By ROB WOOD
Associated Press Writer
LAMAR, S.C. (AP) — Gordon Brown is a small-town druggist, a soft-spoken man with gentle brown eyes and a dedication to saving his public school system regardless of personal abuse and boycott of his store.

Laurence Lowery is a 24-year-old Negro who fears that "big trouble" may explode over the mixing of races or because of an act of violence by white adults.

An old man who wouldn't give his name, but who sat with other elder citizens and puffed his pipe, spoke of a bygone day when things were better.

This is Lamar, South Carolina, a town in trouble.

It is a crossroads agricultural community of 1,350 persons suddenly cast into the national spotlight by a group of 100 white adults who overturned two school buses bringing Negroes to a formerly white school and clashed violently with state highway patrolmen Tuesday.

Lamar's downtown area covers just three blocks. It is a town dying in the endless migration from country to city.

A highway turns and bends through the main part of Lamar but most motorists would never remember passing the tiny one-room police station on the corner, or the drugstore owned by Gordon Brown or the cafe at the end of the block.

It is a town that depends on tobacco and cotton for its income, a town many of the young have left, a town where those who have stayed work mostly in industrial plants 10 to 15 miles away.

It is a town where a young man in a pool hall boasted, "Hell, man, this is Dodge City," echoing the pride of some because of the clash with law enforcement officers.

But for Gordon Brown, druggist, father, husband and city councilman, there are fears that Lamar will die if the schools should remain closed or violence erupt again.

"It's just a small Southern town that centers its life on the school," Brown said. "You close that school and, mister, you close the town."

Brown's wife, a seventh- and eighth-grade science teacher, volunteered last fall to teach in a school which then was all-Negro.

"There were a lot of nasty remarks when she volunteered," Brown said, "but she did this first to preserve our public school education and second because we thought that by taking a step toward teacher integration, perhaps we could keep our student freedom of choice."

"But when the federal court issued this order, we realized that the law must be observed. We have been criticized for sending our children to school after integration and refusing to go along with the student boycott."

The Browns have three school-age children.

"There are many," Brown said, "who have come into the drug store and paid their bills and said they no longer would do business with a nigger-lover."

"I ask my children each day if they are abused. I know they are, but they seldom tell me. It has been hard, very hard, for my wife and for my children. But a man must do what he must do."

Laurence Lowery, the black man, believes the Negro community of Lamar would have been happy with totally segregated schools.

"But when the law to integrate was made," he said, "it was necessary to abide by that law."

Lowery said, "If any of those black children aboard those two school buses had been really hurt, like losing an eye maybe, then there would have been some shooting and killing in this town."

"We love our children, love them just as much as any white man loves his."

Down at Carl's Cafe, a young white man named Jerry dropped in for two hamburgers to go. "I don't blame these people for being upset," he said, "but there was no reason to hurt little children."

Jerry ventured this guess: "If they reopen Lamar High School, there's going to be more trouble."

At the city police station, a one-room red brick building, five oldtimers and a couple of others sat on benches and chatted with a young policeman.

"We never had no trouble," one oldtimer said, "when things were like they should be. We had some of the best white folks and some of the best colored people in the state. But we don't want none of this mixing. We don't believe the colored people do, either."

Tom Hill is the mayor of Lamar. "My wife and I, we prayed," he said. "We prayed that this couldn't happen to our nice little town."

"The whole world heard about 100 to 200 people who went over to the Lamar school and turned over two buses. But the world wasn't told that only a third of those people lived in Lamar, the others were outsiders."

State highway patrolmen have been on duty for 14 to 16 hours a day. An attractive middle-aged woman brought them home-cooked hot dogs and iced tea while they stood guard on the perimeter of the school campus.

"I'll bring you boys something else tomorrow," she said. "I want you to know that all the people of Lamar don't hate you and don't want to fight you. There are a lot of us who respect the law and we know what you're going through."

Revival Series To Begin Here Sunday

REV. H.F. LEATHERMAN

Revival services will begin Sunday morning at Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church in downtown Greenville. The Rev. Harold F. Leatherman will be the guest speaker.

Services will be held Sunday morning at 11 o'clock and 7:30 Sunday night through Thursday night.

The Rev. Jack L. Hunter, pastor of the Farmville United Methodist Church, will lead the congregational singing and render a solo each evening. Mrs. Paul Toll, church organist, will be at the organ console.

Pastor of the Queen Street United Methodist Church, Kinston, the Rev. Leatherman served three years in the U. S. Navy during World War II. He received his A.B. degree from Duke Divinity School.

The Rev. Leatherman is a trustee of the Methodist Retirement Home, Durham, and is presently a member of the Conference Board of Evangelism. He is married to the former Wilma Wright of Catawba County and they have

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)— North Carolina egg markets weaker Thursday, supplies adequate, demand generally fair. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A large whites: 53 to 54; medium, whites: 44; small whites: 37 to 38.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)— The North Carolina poultry market today advanced 1-1/2 cents per pound. Prices at farm 13-13 1/2, mostly 13. Hens offerings of all weights limited for a good demand. Prices at farm, heavies 16-16 1/2; Lights—8 1/2-9.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)— North Carolina hog markets to day were 25 to 50 cents lower. Tops of 25.25-26.75 at Rocky Mount; 25.00-25.75 at Wilson; 25.00-25.25 at Siler City and Denton; 24.50-25.50 at Bethel; 26.00 at Salisbury, and 25.50 at Greensboro.

NEW YORK (AP)— The stock market continued to lose ground in moderately active trading early today.

The Dow Jones industrial average of 30 stocks was off 2.84 at 784.71 at 11:00 a.m. Declines outnumbered advances 602 to 455 on the New York Stock Exchange.

The decline, according to some analysts, represented a readjustment following recent gains. Many investors are taking profits on stocks that have benefited from the advances, analysts said.

Opening of trading in Lockheed was delayed on the Big Board. When trading resumed, the price was off 7/8 at 15 on volume of 24,000 shares. The company reported Thursday it was having severe financial problems.

Following are selected 11 a.m. stock market quotations as furnished by Interstate Securities Corp.

Housing Costs Skyrocketed In California In Past 6 Years

By DICK BARNES

Associated Press Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Six years ago you could build a three-bedroom house in Northern California for $14,854. Today, the same house would cost you $21,509 to construct.

That's an increase of 46 per cent in six years—and the prices don't even include buying a lot to put your house on.

You'd find that among 36 categories of work going into the house, the only two that didn't increase in price since 1964 were plans and specifications, and preliminary lot work—both minor expenses.

Plumbing? Up 63 per cent.
Rough carpentry labor? Up 52 per cent.

Linoleum floors? Up 43 per cent.

Cabinets? Up 112 per cent, the biggest increase of any category.

These figures come from Bank of America of San Francisco, which periodically submits for construction bids what it calls a "medium quality dwelling"—a three-bedroom, 2-bath, 1,395-square foot house with family room.

They reflect the national spiral in building costs which has contributed to the growing U.S. housing crisis along with tight money, rising land costs and a bevy of public and private constraints.

Bank of America figures pinpoint some of the reasons for rising home prices:

—Roofing material and labor, $705 in early 1964 to $1,151.

—Electric wiring, $613 to $1,100.

—Painting, $640 to $919.

—Sewer line and connection, $218 to $350.

Amidst these rising costs, no aspect seems more confused or contradictory than the price of labor.

Construction wages are shooting up so fast that a Southern California carpenter, for example, is in the midst of receiving a 39 per cent pay increase over four years.

Yet a study by the National Association of Home Builders (NAHB) shows that over a 20-year span, the cost of labor has declined from one-third of a house's price to less than one fifth.

Because the actual price of the "average house" used in the survey increased from $9,780 to $20,534, the dollar cost of the labor increased from $3,227 to $3,696 though the percentage declined.

Builders' overhead and profit was 15 per cent, or $1,467 in 1949, and 13 per cent, or $2,669 in 1969.

Land nearly doubled from 11 per cent to 21 per cent—which meant a quadrupling in terms of actual dollars from $1,076 to $4,312. Financing costs went from 5 to 10 per cent—another quadrupling from $489 to $2,053.

Building materials increased from 36 per cent of the 1949 house's cost ($3,521) to 38 per cent ($7,803) in 1969.

Builder's claim, though, their profits are getting smaller. "My profit margin has dropped in half," said one. Another, Joseph Eichler of Los Altos, Calif., said the costs of doing business have increased.

"Builders have become more sophisticated in the last 20 years. He puts his name on his product. He advertises and has public relations and good offices. Builders didn't do those things 15 years ago."

The builder isn't the only one who's getting fancier, however. The consumer wants more in his house, too.

"What everyone wants is a $40,000 house for $18,500," said Henry Spies of the University of Illinois' Small Home Council.

"We're suddenly including a lot of things that weren't in the house before, like appliances and wall-to-wall carpeting, and we're demanding more space."

"This year's minimum house was a good average house in 1945," said Spies.

Whether the worker was constructing the wall or installing a new amenity, construction wages nationally increased from $112.00 per week average in 1968 to $121.20 in December 1969, according to a Commerce Department survey. These seemingly low figures include such factors as seasonality and rural wages.

With recent settlements providing even more gains, wages will keep increasing sharply.

John J. Riley, NAHB labor specialist, said 80 per cent of builders constructing single units and townhouses are not involved with labor agreements. But wages in their areas are normally influenced by the union pattern in nearby big cities.

Labor shortages in some areas boost wages above the scale rates through continuing overtime, piecework compensation or outright bounties to get labor.

In booming Orange County, California, a six-day week with 10-hour days is standard—with the overtime at double time rates.

This builder employs a man who installs drywall—the gypsum board used in place of lathe and plaster—on a piecework basis. He is earning $36,000 a year by literally running on the job.

The union agreement in this area provides for hourly pay, but "the men won't work for scale," says the builder. "They make more on piecework."

Builders who are caught paying piecework by the trustees of fringe benefit funds also must pay extra into those funds. But builders say paying by output instead of time is the only way they can overcome the shortage of skilled workmen.

Some job site labor time has decreased. For example, one builder said in 1955 it took 52 hours to put together a plumbing assembly at the job site. Now it takes 28 hours with use of plastic pipe and some preassembly by union men at the yard rather than at the job.

Peter J. Brennan, executive director of the Building and Construction Trades Council of Greater New York, said unions nonetheless are "the whipping boys on costs. We expect that—it's part of the routine." He said "the government's own statistics and studies have shown wages are not the big factors in costs. The men don't work for nothing, but it's not the straw that broke the camel's back."

From the home buyer's standpoint, a back-breaking straw is not just the price of housing, but its scarcity.

Meeting this need is the aim of the Department of Housing and Urban Development's Operation Breakthrough, which solicited proposals for manufactured housing and has selected some to be erected as experiments in new homebuilding techniques.

One of the world's ugliest monkeys is the howling monkey. Its cry can be heard in the mornings and evenings within a two-mile range.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North

Dble.	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Five of ♣

The belief still persists that doubles of part score contracts should not be made without the holding of two trump tricks — where such doubled contracts, if fulfilled, will yield a game.

In fact, doubling should be done on a simple arithmetic basis. Add what tricks you expect to take to the number you have reason to expect from partner, allow one trick for margin of error and let her go. Partner should exercise a certain amount of discretion. If his hand is going to be a disappointment defensively, he should not leave the double in. This is what is meant by the expression that doubles of low level contracts should be regarded as cooperative. Today's hand provides a splendid illustration.

East opened the bidding with one club. South overcalled with one heart and West had little choice but to make a free bid of two clubs. Note that a voluntary raise shows a good hand. It was with reluctance that East elected to pass, unwilling to make a stab at no trump with such flimsy protection in hearts.

South persisted to two hearts, a pointless bid since partner had not chosen to act. West quite properly passed. He had already told his story and did not fall into the common error of giving another raise when his partner still had a chance to bid.

East's penalty double at this point was a very logical bid and, tho on the surface may appear daring, involves a minimum of risk with an enlightened partner. West knows that East took no action after the first free bid. He must also know that East's hearts are not very strong inasmuch as he was unwilling to bid two no trump on the previous round.

West's defensive values, therefore, must be sound in order to leave the double in. West having a sound holding, passed and the contract was defeated 800 points by the simple expedient of cashing top tricks.

Bethel Storms By Belvoir For Title

Whooping It Up

Belvoir seemed to unwind like a clock spring, after three straight nights of basketball, while Bethel maintained some of their strength, to give the Indians an edge, and a 51-38 victory, in the finals of the District I Class A Tournament last night.

The Bethel win, moves them into the state finals next week, representing the district. The Indians had been knocked out of the Pitt County tournament last week, when they had a bad night, by Stokes, but last night they made up for their bad performance.

Belvoir had been downed by Stokes in the finals of the county tournament, and had made the district tourney by being voted to hold the Berth At Large.

They made the finals by downing Camden and Aurora, in a tough one with the Aurora team, that went into two overtimes before the Eagles could pull it out.

Last night, Bethel put up a large margin in the first half, taking it 12-6 at the end of the first and 27-15 at the half to make things tough for the Eagles, who tried to bring it out in the fourth, but the Indians maintained their cool to continue to hit when necessary, and make use of several trips to the foul line in the closing minutes.

Belvoir cut it down to 11 points at one time in the fourth quarter, the closest they got in the second half.

Bethel was paced by Gary James, who hit for 16 points, two behind Eddie Stokes with 18, but James caught fire in the first half to help the Indians put up their surprising first half margin.

He had 12 in the first half.

The slow pace of the contest brought about few fouls in the first half with only six personals coming, while the second half had 12, with Stokes going to the line six times in the last 1:30. Belvoir got off to a slow start in the second period, going until 5:06 before hitting, then striking another cold spell to push one more through with 3:56 remaining.

In the first the Eagles hit at 7:11 remaining, then went to 3:12 before scoring again, and at 2:42, for their only three baskets in the first quarter.

William Shivar led Belvoir with 16, while Donnie Everette had 15. Joey Moore who has been in double figures in most of the Eagles games, did not score until the fourth quarter, then picking up two free throws.

Stokes led Bethel with 18, while James had 16.

Ayden Wins JV Tourney

BELVOIR — The Ayden junior varsity captured the Pitt County Junior Varsity tournament Wednesday with a 35-34 victory over Bethel.

Ayden pushed out into a 22-10 lead in the first half, but then had to hold on for the win. Bethel came roaring back and tossed in 24 points while Ayden could manage only 13. But the Papposes came a point short of catching up, and went down to defeat.

Dail Manning led Ayden with 13 points, while Ray McLawhorn had 10. Bethel was led by Charles Young with 10 points.

Whew, Slam, Oops . . . ACC Tourney Opening

By KEN ALYTA
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHARLOTTE, (AP) — The cardiac carnival, listed formally as the championship basketball tournament of the Atlantic Coast Conference, moves into the semifinals tonight with top-heavy favorite South Carolina still alive but breathing hard.

The Gamecocks, No. 3 in the nation, were paired against Wake Forest in the 7 p.m. opener and third-seeded North Carolina State was matched with Virginia.

The closest first round in the tournament's 17-year history produced four games Wednesday decided by a total spread of only 21 points.

Virginia, a 14-game loser, turned in the big shocker, a 95-93 upset of North Carolina, which had been seeking a fourth straight title. It came after 18-game loser Clemson just missed pulling off an even more astounding feat before succumbing to South Carolina 34-33.

Wake Forest avenged three earlier losses to Duke with an 81-73 conquest of the fourth-seeded Blue Devils. And North Carolina State came from behind in the last half to put down Maryland 67-57.

The winner of Saturday night's championship game goes on to the NCAA Eastern Regionals, won the last three years by North Carolina. The ACC champion opens NCAA play at Columbia, S. C., next Thursday against the winner of Saturday's first round game at

New York between Davidson and St. Bonaventure.

For years Coach Frank McGuire of South Carolina has scoffed at the idea of settling the conference title in a three-day tournament after three months of preliminary skirmishing. "It's Russian roulette," he'll tell you.

His team, now 24-2, had swept through 14 league games without defeat and drew for its opener Clemson, a team it had manhandled by 68 points in two runaways.

Bobby Roberts, who ended eight years as Clemson coach with the game, elected to play a controlled offense rather than run with the Gamecocks. "I was convinced this was the only way to give my boys a chance to win," he said.

Two Clemson starters missed the game. Dickie Foster was out with a jaw injury suffered last Saturday night against Wake Forest. And less than six hours before the game Thursday Roberts was informed that sophomore Greg Latin, one of his top scorers and rebounders, was ineligible for excessive class cuts.

But the brave band of Tigers who were left played it tough all the way and missed by an eyelash prolonging the coaching career of Roberts. They worked hard for the only easy layup and upset the Gamecock's tempo.

The score was 12-all at the half and, after South Carolina carved out a six-point second half lead, Clemson came back for a 31-all tie. In the last 30 seconds sophomore Bob Carver hit a free throw and John Roche dropped in two to offset Butch Zatezalo's closing Clemson basket.

McGuire paid tribute to Clemson for "an excellent ball game. They were clever with the ball; we did everything we could. I've played and coached a lot of the same kind of basketball Clemson played against us."

"But our team will not crack. They have a lot of guts. It was a wonderful opener."

Ronnie Yates of Clemson led all scorers with 12 points before fouling out as the Tigers shot 20 times and hit 12. Tom Owens led South Carolina with nine as the team's top scorer, Roche, scored only seven points, hitting two of six shots.

Virginia's Bill Gibson doesn't agree with McGuire on the wisdom of determining the champion in a tournament.

Asked if he liked the idea, he shot back with a grin, "Is the pope Catholic?"

Gibson had praise for the "heart and hustle" of his Cavaliers in their victory over second-seeded North Carolina. A year ago after the tournament Gibson survived a player rebellion aimed at his ouster.

Virginia, down six points early, came back for a 45-38 lead, pushed it to 16 with nine minutes left and led by 13 with 3:25 to go. With seven seconds left the lead was only two and North Carolina had the ball, but never was able to get off a shot.

Second team All-American Charlie Scott scored 22 of his 41 points in the last half to lead the Tar Heels' late surge, but Virginia got 25 points from Tim Rash and 21 each from Chip Case and Bill Gerry to win its first tournament game in 11 years and third ever.

North Carolina had 24 turnovers, 17 in its erratic first half, and Virginia was guilty of 28.

Wake Forest outscored Duke 17-2 in the last four minutes of the first half for a 37-30 lead and Duke never caught up. Dickie Walker scored 11 of his 21 points for Wake Forest in that hot stretch, then little Charlie Davis took over for the Deacons.

Davis scored only two points in the first half, but shook off defender Brad Evans for 16 of his eventual 25 in the last 10 minutes of the game to supply the finishing kick. Big Gil McGregor scored 17 points and battled like a demon under the boards against the bigger Duke team.

Larry Saunders scored 29 points, mostly on layups, to lead Duke, whose Coach Bucky Wa-

Immanuel Holds Top

Immanuel rolled to a 56-34 victory over Black Jack in the Church Basketball League last night to hold onto a half-game lead in the loop. Piney Grove downed St. James, 45-41, and Presbyterian beat Oakmont, 52-38, in the other games.

Immanuel holds a 12-4 mark in the league, and is a half-game ahead of Presbyterian, 11-4. Piney Grove is third at 10-5, followed by Black Jack at 9-6. The rest of the league has been eliminated from a shot at the title. They include St. James, 8-8, Oakmont, 3-12, and Mt. Pleasant, 1-14.

In the opener, Immanuel pushed away to a 28-12 lead in the first half. Black Jack came back in the second half with 22 points, but was still outscored by Immanuel, which canned 28.

Clinton Gentry led Immanuel with 23, while Fred Carroll had 17, and Dick Evans had 10. For Black Jack, Ephraim Smith had 11.

Piney Grove built up a five-point lead in the first period of play, 25-20, but St. James came roaring back in the second half to outscore them, 19-14. That left them tied at 39-39 at the end of regulation play. Neither team was able to score in the first overtime, but Piney Grove hit six points in the second overtime, while St. James managed but two, and that was the game.

Buddy Allen led Piney Grove with 16, while Lewis Hardee had 13. Roy Carawan led St. James with 15 and Guy Howell had 10.

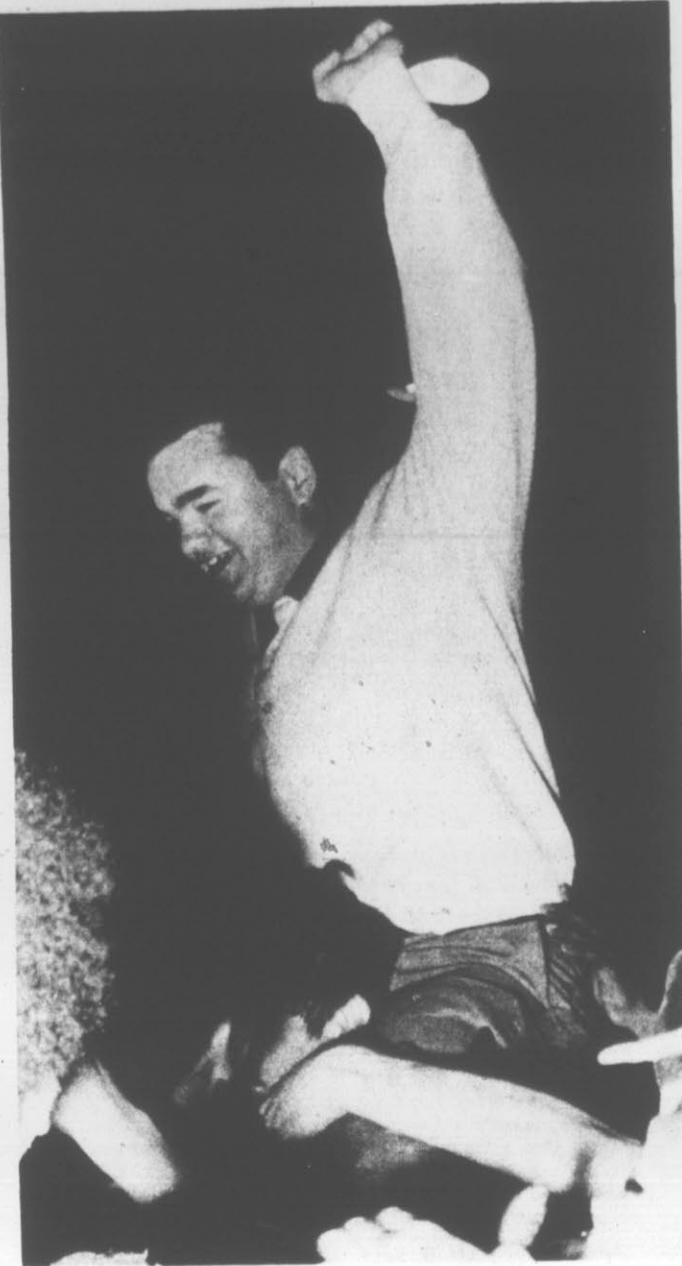

In the final game of the evening, Oakmont edged out into a 19-18 lead at the end of the first half. But Presbyterian came back to outthit Oakmont, 34-19 in the second half, and take the victory.

Herb Adams led Presbyterian with 19, and Robert Oswald had 10. For Oakmont, Jack Weeden had 12 and Carlton Hardee had 10.

ters called it "one of our poorer performances. We were just a half step slower in everything we did."

Wake Forest's Jack McCloskey promised, "We'll play basketball against South Carolina. We're not going to hold the ball for a 2-1 game."

Third-seeded N. C. State came from behind in the last half against Maryland when Vann Williford scored 21 of his 30 points to pick up the slack when 6-foot-9 Paul Coder, an 18-point average man, went scoreless. Sophomore Ed Leftwich added 18 points for the Wolf-pack.

Bethel High School Coach Coby Deans gets the traditional victory ride on the shoulders of his players after the Indians won the District One, Class A Basketball Tournament last night. It is the first year Deans, a veteran among girls' coaches, has handled the boys team, bringing it to the Pitt County regular season championship, and now, to the brink of the state playoffs. WITN-TV Shows Regional Game

WASHINGTON — Arrangements have been completed by WITN-TV, channel seven, with Tvs Television Network in New York City to bring area televiewers coverage of two additional NCAA Regional Basketball Playoffs. On Saturday, March 7, beginning at 7:30 p.m., the Davidson-St. Bonaventure game will be telecast live and in color from St. Johns in New York City, and on Thursday, March 12, all the action of the game between the ACC Champions and the winner of the Davidson-St. Bonaventure

Wachovia Wins Title

Wachovia Bank captured the Industrial League basketball championship last night with an 81-52 victory over upstart WNCT.

Wachovia, finishing second in the regular season, downed WNCT, which finished fourth, after the Radioman had beaten out regular season champ State Highway, on Tuesday.

Wachovia pushed away to an early lead and worked up a 41-22 lead by the end of the half.

In the second half, Wachovia continued to pull away, outthitting WNCT, 40-30, for the final 29-point victory margin.

Wachovia was paced by Walter Jones with 23 points, while Bob Brannon and Andy Warren each had 12, and Smokey Lancaster had 10.

WNCT was led by Joe Jenkins with 24, while Ikie Arnold had 17.

Greene Central Reaches Finals

AHOSKIE — Greene Central advanced into tonight's District I, Class AA Tournament finals with a 74-62 victory over Northampton. And their opponent in the finals won't be an unfamiliar face, as they take on conference rival Northern Nash.

The Rams and Northampton played to an 18-18 deadlock in the first period, but Greene Central managed to work up a one-point halftime lead. Greene Central outthit Northampton, 20-19, and led 38-37 at intermission.

In the third period, Greene Central began to pull away from their foes, as they scored 18 points and held Northampton to 14. That made it 56-51, as the final period got underway. In that, the Rams outscored Northampton 18-11, to wrap up the win.

Kermit Crawford and Ron Bowen led Greene Central with 19 points each, while Mike Giles had 16 and Robbie Hill had 12. For Northampton, Tom Pope and Louis Stevenson each had 21.

Ram Coach Jim Fulghum praised reserve guard Melvin Forbes who came in and held Stevenson to only six points in the second half, as Greene Central pulled away.

The Rams also controlled the boards, outrebounding Northampton, 60-33. Bowen and Crawford each had 18 rebounds, while Forbes picked off 12.

Brooks Seeks A Little Luck

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer
ROCKINGHAM, N. C. (AP)—
Dick Brooks left a tidy job in California just over a year ago and headed South with one big objective in life: Win a stock car racing championship.

After one season on NASCAR's elite Grand National circuit, the 27-year-old driver feels he is on the verge of reaching his goal.

"All I need now is a little luck," Brooks said Thursday after qualifying his winged Plymouth in fifth starting position for Sunday's $90,000 Carolina 500 at North Carolina Motor Speedway. "This is the best starting position I've had in a big race."

Brooks, who won NASCAR rookie of the year honors in his first season last year, was almost four miles per hour off Bobby Allison's pole-winning speed in Thursday's first round of time trials over the tricky one-mile trioval.

But his 135.572 m.p.h. was the best of the new 1970 Plymouth "Superbird" cars, including those assigned to all-time highest NASCAR winner Richard Petty and Daytona 500 champion Pete Hamilton. Allison won the top front row spot in a Dodge at 139.048 m.p.h., a track record.

With 20 cars now holding berths in the starting field of 40 race officials planned to add 10 more via time trials today and the remainder from a 25-lap consolation race Saturday. Forty-five cars were on hand.

Atlanta Bops Milwaukee Five

By BOB GREENE
Associated Press Sports Writer
MILWAUKEE (AP)—"We're a much better club," said Atlanta's Bill Bridges after the Hawks easily knocked off the Milwaukee Bucks 126-117 Thursday night.

It was the only National Basketball Association game scheduled.

While Bridges was espousing the Hawks' superiority, Atlanta Coach Richie Guerin was being a little more tactful.

"Everybody that played contributed," Guerin said. "We rebounded well. (Walt) Hazzard did a real good job getting the ball down court. Joe (Caldwell) did a job defensively and (Walt) Bellamy was the big man out there."

Guerin's apparent reluctance to boast probably stems from the last time Atlanta was in Milwaukee. That's when the Hawk's player-coach said Milwaukee is bush.

Haywood Sets Rebound Mark

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Spencer Haywood has broken another first-year American Basketball Association record in keeping the Denver Rockets atop the Western Division standings.

The rookie dropout from the University of Detroit poured in 36 points and grabbed 15 rebounds in leading the Rockets to a 114-97 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pipers Thursday night.

Little League Names Officers

Max R. Joyner and Julian R. Vainright have been elected as league presidents for the 1970 Little Leagues in Greenville. Joyner was elected to serve as president of the North State Little League. Other North State officers include William N. Howard as vice-president, Connor Merritt, secretary-treasurer; Percy R. Ashby, safety officer; and Mrs. Mary H. Collier, women's auxiliary president.

Joining Vainright in the Tar Heel Little League are C. B. Hargett, vice-president; Seth Jones Jr., secretary-treasurer; Donald M. Wilkerson, safety officer; and Mrs. C. C. Cleetwood, women's auxiliary president.

Dar' H. Gordon will serve as league supervisor for the fifth straight year.

Dodge cars copped the first four starting positions, with Charlie Glotzbach of Georgetown, Ind., winning the other front row assignment at 137.932 m.p.h. Bobby Isaac and Buddy Baker make up the second row.

Brooks, a 195-pounder with a square jaw and piercing black eyes, raced in the first bigtime stock car event he ever saw—the 1969 Daytona 500. He went only a few laps before the engine failed in his car, but he made an impression.

"Some of the more expert drivers came around after that first race and gave me some advice," Brooks recalled. "It was mostly that I should take it easy until I learned how to drive the fast cars."

"I've got news for them. I'm still learning, but I'm ready to win one now. I have a good car, a good crew and after a year down here, the biggest appetite for money for stock car racing."

Brooks won $27,532 last season. He started 27 races and finished in the top five in three of them. To start the season this year, his sponsors gave him one of Plymouth's new racers and he responded by driving the best race of his career in the Daytona 500 two weeks ago. He was running a solid third when his engine broke with 75 miles to go.

The winner of Sunday's race will be paid $18,200.

"I don't know what I would do with all that money at one time," Brooks laughed. "But I'd sure like to have the problem of deciding how to spend it."

Pascual, Reds Have Salary Disagreement

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
The communications gap—a built-in problem of our modern age—has surfaced in Tampa, Fla., training base of the Cincinnati Reds.

The Reds say curve-baller Camilo Pascual is ready to retire and Pascual says it's the Reds who are throwing the curve ball this time.

The veteran Cuban right-hander is resisting a maximum 25-per cent slice in his $46,000 salary. He'll take a cut, says Pascual, but not the big one the Reds have in mind.

Chief Bender, in charge of salary negotiations for Cincinnati, said the Reds have made an offer and will not raise it. Bender added that Pascual told the club he would not play if he did not receive what he was asking.

So, in the daily bulletin on their unsigned players, the Reds said that Pascual, a 16-year veteran, was considering retirement.

That came as a major shock to Pascual, who claims the thought never crossed his mind.

"I feel great," he said, "why would I retire?"

Obviously, what we have here is a failure to communicate. But Pascual wants to resolve that shortcoming in a hurry. He wants to talk to Commissioner Bowie Kuhn about the problem.

"I feel I can still pitch and win a lot of games," said Pascual. "I told them I'd take a cut but not the maximum cut. And then Chief Bender told me they were going to put me on waivers and no other team would claim me."

Pascual said he was waiting for the waivers when he read about his "retirement."

Another unsigned Cincinnati pitcher, Jim Maloney, was the center of a flurry of trade rumors Thursday.

First there was a report that the Reds had offered him to Chicago in a deal for outfielder Billy Williams which had been turned down by the Cubs. Then another rumor had him going to the Cubs along with second baseman Tommy Helms, who is also unsigned, for pitcher Ferguson Jenkins and either Glenn Beckert or Paul Popovich, both infielders.

Bob Howsam, general manager of the Reds, squelched the rumors, saying simply, "we do not plan to trade either Maloney or Helms at this time."

Maloney remained in his Cincinnati home, saying "I'm going to stay here until they come up to what I want." That would be the same $60,000 he made last year. Helms, asking a $6,000 raise to $46,000, said he was returning to his Charlotte, N.C. home.

Elsewhere, name holdouts including Richie Allen, Reggie Jackson and Frank Howard also stood their ground. But Baltimore ended its signing problems by enrolling Boog Powell and Dave McNally for $65,000 each.

In the only exhibition game played, the Washington Senators rallied for a 7-6 victory over the New York Yankees on a two-run homer in the last of the ninth by rookie Jeff Burroughs, an $85,000 bonus baby. John Roseboro also tagged a two-run shot for the Senators.

Rawl Named Pirate Prexy

Ed Rawl Jr., prominent Greenville businessman, has been elected president of the newly reorganized Pirate Club, the booster organization which will support the East Carolina University athletic program.

Previously there had been three separate groups which gave financial support to ECU athletics — the Century Club, Pirate Club and Buccaneer Club. Now the booster activities of these three groups have been merged into one unified organization — the Pirate Club.

Besides Rawl, other officers of this "new look" booster club are: Ed Casey of Grifton, first vice president; George Coffman of Greenville, second vice president; Dr. Bob Deyton of Greenville, third vice president; F. D. Duncan of Greenville, treasurer; and Bill Cain of Greenville, secretary.

William & Mary's Indians came roaring back in the final two events in the opening night's activities to cut into an early East Carolina University lead, as the Southern Conference Swimming Championships opened at Minges Natatorium.

The Indians took first place in the last two events, and cut an early 54-point Pirate lead back to 35 by the end of the evening. The Bucs finished the first day's events with 150 points, while William & Mary carded 115, Virginia Military Institute had 75, and Davidson picked up 43.

Of the four events of the day, East Carolina took first place in two and the Indians won the other two.

The first of the Pirate wins set the only new conference record of the day, as Jim Griffin cracked the five minute barrier for the conference. That came in the 500-yard freestyle. Griffin moved out with the pack in the first 50 yards, but had opened up a quarter-length lead by the end of the first 100. At 200 yards, he had pulled out to a length lead over William & Mary's Joseph Gruver, and held a one and a half length lead by the 300-yard mark.

Griffin was all alone by the time the 400-yard lap came, running up a two and a half length lead. It was then that ECU's Gary Frederick began a sprint that pulled him from about a length and a half back to just nip Gruver at the line for second place.

Griffin finished the distance in 4:57.19, breaking the record he set last year of 5:01.75. Frederick edged out Gruver, finishing in 5:05.8, while Gruver's time was 5:06.78.

The second Pirate victory came in the 200-yard individual medley, as Wayne Norris gained the win, just fractions of a second off the conference record. He finished the race in 2:05.92, while the record in the event is 2:05.59, set last year by ECU's John Sultan.

Norris and teammate Bill Lafferty went out almost together in the butterfly, but Norris pulled ahead in the backstroke, and nearly held a length lead as he touched to complete that stroke. William & Mary's Joseph Ackerman came on strong in the breaststroke, but Norris managed to just hold the lead as the turn came to start the freestyle. Norris then pulled away and won by a length and a half.

Ackerman finished in 2:08.40, while Lafferty was third in a time of 2:11.89.

William & Mary then pulled not one, but two upsets in the 50-yard freestyle. In the consolation, East Carolina's Steve Weissman and Dave Phillips were top seeded by their qualifying time, with W&M's Roger Hiegel third. But Hiegel sprinted through the event in 23:58 to beat out both Weissman and Phillips and pick up valuable points. Phillips and Weissman came in in almost a dead heat, finishing in 23.76, and 23.77 respectively.

Then, in the championship heat, William & Mary did it again. This time, East Carolina's Paul Trevisan was top rated, qualifying at 22.41. But he was a hundredth of a second slower in the finals, finishing in 22.42 and that wasn't good enough.

William & Mary's Charles Alley, who qualified third, finished in 22.24 to take the event. William & Mary also captured third place, as Robert Kennedy swam home in 22.6.

The Indians then finished off the evening with a victory in the 400-yard medley relay. The battle here was only between East Carolina and the Indians, as Davidson and VMI finished some distance behind.

Jeff Kohlhas moved out quickly in the backstroke, and held a half-length lead over East Carolina at the touch. John Greene went out the same way, and by the time he finished the breaststroke, he had pulled the Indians out into a length and a half lead. George Collins built the lead up to two lengths by the time he had gone halfway through the butterfly, and Kennedy held onto that through the first 50 yards of the freestyle. But Trevisan, trying to redeem himself in the final leg for the Bucs fought back furiously, but fell at the line by a hand.

William & Mary touched home in 3:45.6, while East Carolina finished in 3:46.11.

The meet goes into its second day of competition today, with the windup scheduled for Saturday. Finals today are at 8 p.m. in six events, with the remaining seven to be run Saturday at 4 p.m.

DO NOT LOOK DIRECTLY AT THE ECLIPSE OF THE SUN. You can damage the inside of the eye permanently by looking at the sun and the use of smoked glass, exposed film, or sunglasses only makes it worse. THERE IS NO SAFE WAY TO LOOK AT THE ECLIPSE DIRECTLY.

★ The infra-red rays of the sun burn the back of the eyeball (the retina) similar to the way a magnifying glass will focus the sun on paper and burn a hole.

★ Infra-red rays are NOT blocked out by "protective devices" and the burn is not felt on the eye.

★ Burns on the retina are permanent and incurable and affect the part of the eye used for reading and other "fine" seeing.

So---

The National Society for the Prevention of Blindness urges, "Watch the eclipse on television or by an indirect method like the one illustrated. DON'T SNEAK A PEAK."

The eclipse will occur on Saturday, March 7, 1970 at about 1:30 p.m. (EST). Children will not be in school and parents must remind children of the danger of permanent eye damage.

The only recommended way to view an eclipse is indirectly: Take two pieces of white cardboard, make a pinhole in one; with the sun at your back focus the eclipse image through the pinhole onto the second cardboard. The size of the image can be changed by altering the distance between cardboards.

Planning Church Workshop Here

A one-day workshop on the work of churches in the field of aging will be held at the Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center on Tuesday, March 24. The workshop will be sponsored by the Pitt-Greenville Division, Governor's Council on Aging. Ministers throughout Pitt County will be asked to participate, announced Dr. Clinton Prewett, chairman of the council.

Revival To Have Guest Preacher

The Rev. Ellis J. Bedworth will be the guest preacher for revival services at the Salem United Methodist Church Sunday through Friday. Pastor of Trinity United Methodist Church, New Bern, the Rev. Bedworth is a graduate of East Carolina University and Duke Divinity School. Services will be held each evening at 7:30. The Rev. T.H. House, pastor of Salem church, extends an invitation to the public to attend the services.

Club To Sponsor Chicken Dinner

A fried chicken dinner will be sponsored by the Chicod Beta Club on Sunday from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m. The dinner will be held in the Chicod School cafeteria. Tickets will be $1.00 per plate. The dinner is being held to help raise money to pay for a trip to the State Beta Convention in Raleigh.

Teachers' Ass'n Meeting Held

The Northeastern District Classroom Teachers Association met Saturday at the Town and Country Restaurant, Williamston. Representing Pitt County were Mrs. Sarah Rogerson of Chicod and Mrs. Linda Whitehurst and Mrs. Edith Barnhill of Pactolus. A network of quick communication to all teachers of North Carolina was discussed. A set of professional rights and personnel policies was stressed for each school system. The committees yearly reports were given on the progress of better understanding between teachers and students, teachers and parents, and teachers and personnel.

Little girl who lived in the same block with him...

Peggy told him he could do so, but only till the other little boy returned to school, who had been assigned that seat. Even with his occupancy of the chosen seat beside the little girl from his neighborhood, he still kept crying. Finally one of the children asked why he kept shedding his tears. "Oh, he is new, you know," Miss Peggy replied to the class, "so he doesn't know how to act in school. For he has never gone to kindergarten before." And that jolted him at once. "Yes, I have gone to school before," he protested. Apparently, Miss Peggy stimulated his pride, for she thus diverted his attention from loneliness for mamma to his desire to regain prestige with his own age group. So he quit crying at once and began joining his classmates in their kindergarten games. Jimmy weighs a full ten pounds only when he's full of formula. But to his daddy, he's the weight of the whole world when its time for that 2 A.M. feeding. What a chore it is, but it allows plenty of time for thinking:

What kind of man will Jimmy grow up to be? What kind of father will I be to him? How can I keep him from following the wrong crowd? How can I help him to value the worthwhile things? How can I give him a solid foundation for life?

The responsibility that parenthood places on people is a heavy weight. A sensible man can't take it lightly. But the Church can help him bear it wisely. In church he will discover those enduring values, something against which to measure his own standards—and, as he finds these things for himself, he will pass them on to his son.

The church can't rear your children for you, but it can help you as you do the job. It's a champion weight-lifter.

The Worry Clinic Psychology Of Pre-Schoolers

Peggy is a splendid type of teacher, for she loves her pupils. She thus is their second "mamma," so they feel relaxed and happy in her classroom. And she tries psychological strategy to win the cooperation of her "problem" children. Note how she diverted the attention of the tearful little boy in kindergarten!

"Dr. Crane," she told me over the phone, "I taught a group of pre-kindergarten youngsters in our Headstart Program. "One little boy, named Edmund, was such a bundle of vitality that he bobbed up and down almost constantly. "And he'd run out into the hall or race around the classroom, so I finally had to be firm with him. "But he then seemed crestfallen, so I decided to try your 'Compliment Club' idea. "We let the kiddies lie down to rest for a short period in the middle of the session. "Edmund lay very still for a few seconds, so I seized on this as a chance to offer him praise. "So I asked the class to notice Edmund for he was the best 'rester' of all. "And Edmund responded at once, so he lay perfectly still during most of our 'rest' period. "Thereafter, he seemed unduly devoted to me and even praised me next day because of my new dress. "He also wanted to sit beside me when we all had our lunch together. "But a few days later, we had spinach, so I lauded it to the class and urged them to eat much of it, saying it was very good. "Edmund meanwhile never touched his spinach while I made my speech about it. "Then he looked up at me with his soulful brown eyes and hesitantly inquired: 'Miss Peggy, would you still love me if I didn't eat my spinach?' "Peggy reassured him that she'd still love him, so he remained her devoted admirer. But earlier in the year she told me of another example wherein psychology didn't pan out quite as well. She had a kindergarten class. A new boy was enrolled, but he cried constantly. Peggy tried to comfort him and reassure him, as well as coax him into group activity with the other kindergartners. But he seemed inconsolable. So she thought she might divert his attention by offering him a choice of 2 vacant seats. But he refused both, saying he wanted to sit in a 3rd seat beside

YELLOWSTONE WINTER

The geysers are gustier, the bison are more sociable. Of course there is the obvious beauty of a deep covering of billowy snow. But the marvels of this icy world are a dramatic contrast to the familiar summer glories, and the pleasures of this season have a special delight because they are rarer, unexpected.

The cold barely diminishes the activity of the thermal basins. In fact, erupting geysers, steaming hot pools and mud pots look more impressive than usual because of increased condensation in the cold air. Their dense mists hover over branches and freeze into a covering of shimmering crystal, creating "ghost trees."

The thermal basins mean warmth, life in the valleys. The bison, moose, mule deer, elk, coyote and antelope move down from the high country for the season. There are wildfowl to be seen, too, but the bears are tucked away, sleeping in their dens until spring.

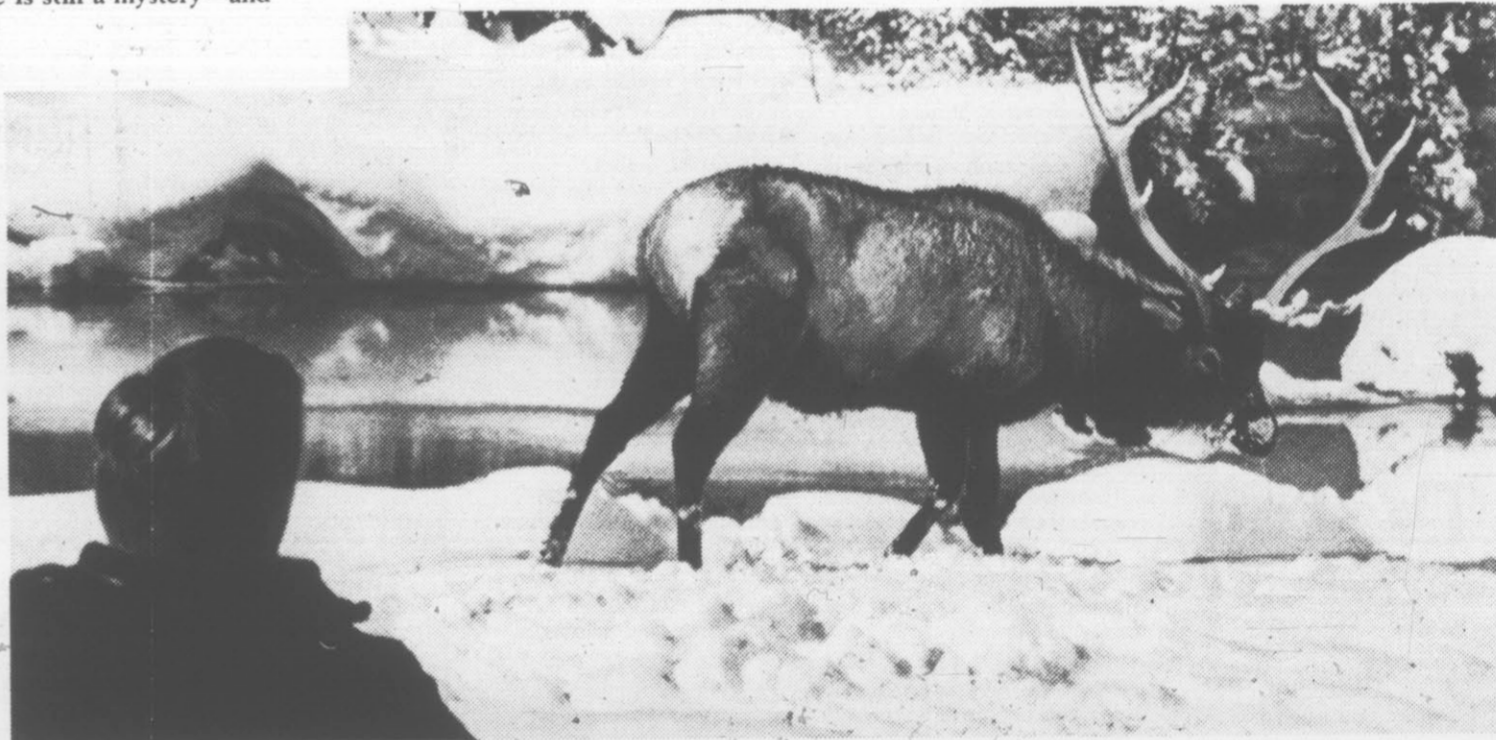

Winter visitors, wildlife watchers and photographers may travel the rugged way, on snowshoes or skis. Most, however, explore by car, and now by snowmobile also. Besides the individual ones, there are 12-passenger, heated snowmobiles which take visitors around on organized tours.

An experience, an adventure, more than a fouch of wonder. In Yellowstone in winter Nature is still a mystery—and at the same time a revelation.

Winter excursion to a favorite sight: Old Faithful Geyser.

Snowmobility in two-seaters for the adventurous.

Noble bull elk browses calmly in the lowlands.

Snowmobile passengers pause to enjoy winter beauty.

Pepsi

You've got a lot to live Pepsi's got a lot to give

What we mean is this: living isn't always easy, but it never has to be dull. There's too much to see, to do, to enjoy. Put yourself behind a Pepsi-Cola and get started. You've got a lot to live.
