

Rash Of Bomb Scares

Explosions, Fires Hit Several Cities

By JOE NICHOLSON JR.
Associated Press Writer
Explosions in Pittsburgh, Pa., and Washington, D.C., and fires of suspicious origin at two schools in Appleton, Wis., occurred today as bomb threats were taking place across the nation and after three bombings in New York.

until taking a Defense Department post as assistant secretary of the Air Force last June. President Nixon announced Thursday he would nominate Tarr as draft director.

A gasoline can was found near the wall of the ROTC building. Fire swept along the wall but did not get inside.

Telephoned threats of bombings disrupted public and private facilities in several cities Thursday after the three bombings in New York earlier in the day but none of the threatened bombs went off or were found.

But early today explosions ripped through a shopping mall in Pittsburgh a night club in Washington and in both cases police said bombs could be involved.

Police in Washington said an explosive of some type could have been used in the blast at the Celebrity Club though they did not rule out a gas leak as a possible cause. A floor of the club buckled, windows were knocked out and the kitchen was damaged. The bomb squad was investigating.

The Pittsburgh explosion destroyed a jewelry store, broke windows and damaged more than 20 other shops.

A fire at Appleton West High School was attributed by fire officials to incendiary devices thrown through the windows of a classroom and faculty room. A car was seen leaving the scene at high speed.

The bomb scares were telephoned Thursday to schools, private and government offices, a military training center, an industrial plant, a subway terminal and the United Nations building. No bombs were found.

Severe damage was caused Thursday by the bombings of the midtown Manhattan offices of Mobile Oil Corp., International Business Machines Corp., and General Telephone & Electronics Corp. No one was hurt.

Soon after the bombings, a letter was received by United Press International from a group calling itself "Revolutionary Force 9" which said the bombings were a protest against corporation profiteering from the Vietnam war and "American imperialism in all of the third world."

New York police said they received 205 bomb threats Thursday after the explosions. An estimated 15,000 persons were affected by evacuations of at least 15 buildings during bomb searches. The United Nations building was searched without an evacuation.

Mayor John V. Lindsay called the bombings "Morally reprehensible, but self-defeating for those who presumably seek change through acts of terrorism." The City Council president, Sanford D. Garelik, a former chief inspector of police, called the city a battleground of "armed urban guerrillas."

In disruptions caused by bomb scares in other cities, all 2,700 workers at National Cash Register Co.'s main plant in Dayton, Ohio, were sent home while police searched for a reported bomb. An anonymous caller said a bomb had been placed at the plant to protest the Vietnam war.

The San Francisco City Hall was searched by police after an anonymous threat to a switchboard operator. No evacuation was made.

In Washington, tight security measures were enforced at the Justice Department after a telephone bomb threat. No bomb was found.

In Albany, N.Y., the U.S. Naval Reserve Training Center was put on alert after naval intelligence reported the center had been threatened with a fire bomb attack.

Boston's principal downtown subway stop, the two-level Park Street station, was evacuated after a bomb threat. Service was stopped for 31 minutes.

In Seattle, Wash., talks between administration officials and representatives of the Black Student Union and the University of Washington were disrupted when a bomb threat was received at the administration building. Two hundred persons evacuated the building while it was searched.

Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center Dedicated Today

By BLANCHE HARDEE

The Center will be more than a treatment center for the sick and suffering alcoholic. . . this is as it should be, because alcoholism is much more than an individual or personal illness. It is a blight on society," Governor Robert Scott said while speaking at the dedication of the Walter B. Jones Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center here this morning.

Gov. Scott was the principal speaker at the 11 a.m. dedication ceremony for the $1 million facility. Other participants included Joe K. Bryd, chairman of the North Carolina Board of Mental Health; Vernon White, state senator, fourth district; invocation, the Rev. Tommy Payne, pastor of Oakmont Baptist Church; Frank R. Penn, state senator, 16th district, and a member of the Alcoholism Committee Board of Mental Health; H. Horton Rountree, state representative, eighth district; Julian R. Allsbrook, state senator, fourth district; Donald R. Dancy, program director, Walter B. Jones ARC, Greenville. Sen. Julian Allsbrook recognized Rep. Jones.

"Alcohol is involved in about one-half of all traffic fatalities," the governor pointed out, "but, perhaps, the greatest harm of all is when an alcoholic gets in such a bad way that he loses his job, and thereby upsets his family. This often has lasting effects on any small children he has."

Gov. Scott continued, "When we consider that the alcoholics we see who break a law or who come to the attention of social agencies represent only a fraction of the total problem, we realize just how gigantic the problem is."

"Because we fail to recognize and treat alcoholism early, we have to treat very sick people, and very disturbed families. . . have to deal with severe social problems," he noted.

Looking to a brighter side, the governor said, "If the picture of the treatment of alcoholism in the past is cloudy, the present and the future is a brighter one."

Explaining that the 1965 legislature passed the Jones Bill (named after former State Senator Walter B. Jones and now Congressman Jones) providing for this and two other ARCs (one at Black Mountain and another one at Butler), Gov. Scott said the Walter B. Jones Center is much more than a treatment center for alcoholics.

"Families of patients here at the center, I understand, are invited to come once a week for group therapy and educational sessions," Gov. Scott explained. "This will be a training center, as well as a treatment and rehabilitation center."

"I feel," he added, "it is a tribute in naming the center for Congressman Jones, because it was he who conceived and pushed the idea of financing these three centers in North Carolina."

Gov. Scott said, "Let us dedicate this Walter B. Jones Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center to the people of Eastern North Carolina who need to be made aware of this facility where they can find help and people who care."

A portrait of First District Congressman Walter Jones was unveiled during the ceremonies by Mrs. Jones and Pitt County Representative David Reid.

The local center is currently a 76-bed in-patient facility that consists of a medical unit, three dormitories, therapy building, kitchen and an administrative unit. Plans are to expand the center to a 100-bed facility in 1972.

The expansion would include an occupational and recreation (Continued on Page 7)

Greenville Man Among 6 Who Face Tax Count

GREENSBORO — Criminal charges have been filed in U.S. Middle District Court against Greenville physician Dr. William A. Moody and five other North Carolina residents for violations of Internal Revenue laws.

Dr. Moody, 45, is a Nash County native who practiced medicine in Bethel from 1954 until moving his practice to Greenville last year.

He was charged by U.S. Attorney William L. Osteen with failing to file his income tax returns for the years 1963, 1965 and 1966 (when his gross income was $62,787 for 1963, $69,061 for 1965 and $72,544 for 1966) according to the Internal Revenue Service. For the three years when returns were not filed, the IRS reported, the doctor's gross income totaled $204,392.71.

Dr. Moody is a graduate of Wake Forest College and Duke Medical School.

According to the IRS, willful failure to file a tax return at the time required by law is a criminal offense and upon conviction of such violation a defendant could be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned for not more than one year, or both, together with the cost of prosecution. Each year for which a tax return is not timely filed constitutes a separate violation, the IRS noted.

The investigations leading to the charges against Dr. Moody and the other five men were conducted by special agents of the IRS's Intelligence Division.

Others charged included:

MUNICIPAL STRIKE

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — More than 6,500 city employees went on strike today for pay raises in a move that threatened to close city hospitals, the waterfront, schools and the international airport.

Samuel M. Tate, 53, a Morganton attorney charged with not filing returns for the years 1963 through 1967 when his gross income totaled $122,355; Dr. Frederick D. Austin Jr., of Charlotte, for failure to file for the four-year period 1964-1967 for a gross income of $125,178.49; Dr. Thomas B. Bass a Durham dentist for failing to file in 1965 and 1966 when his gross income amounted to $59,757.20; Elizabeth City store owner Joseph Mansour Ellis Jr., for failing to file for the years 1963 through 1967 when his income totaled $193,021.37; and Clinton C. Howell, of Asheboro, who failed to file quarterly employment tax returns for 11 quarters from 1965 through 1967 during which time taxes due the government, based on social security taxes withheld from wages of employees of C.C. Howell and Associates (a painting and pest control firm) total $14,233.05.

Osteen said the six men will be ordered to appear for arraignment without being arrested. No date has been set for the arraignment.

'Counting' On Dial Telephone

MUSCLE SHOALS, Ala. (AP) — While 6-year-old Mark Byrd of Sheffield was visiting his grandmother here Wednesday, he began counting away, hardly noticed. He started out 1-2-3 and added seven more numbers.

About that time, his mother, Mrs. Grady Byrd, noticed that Mark was using the telephone to do his counting. An unidentified party in Los Angeles, Calif., also noticed it.

Telephone company officials said Thursday that Mark's grandmother, Mrs. Mary Chambers, would not be charged for the call.

Senate Okays Lowered Voting Age, Moves To Extend Voting Rights

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, after overwhelmingly approving a proposal to lower the voting age for all elections to 18, moved today toward final action on extending the Voting Rights Act another five years.

The extension of the basic 1965 act, which is aimed at guaranteeing Negro voting rights in seven Southern states, has been bitterly opposed by Dixie senators and differs sharply with a House-passed version supported by President Nixon.

In approving lowering the voting age 64 to 17 Thursday, the Senate also set up another likely battle with the House, where New York Rep. Emanuel Celler, chairman of that body's Judiciary Committee, has vowed to fight it relentlessly.

Celler will be chairman of House conferees when the time comes to reconcile the House and Senate voting rights bills.

If enacted, the 18-year-old proposal will make an estimated 11 million young people eligible to vote as of Jan. 1, 1971. Georgia, Kentucky, Alaska and Hawaii now permit persons under 21 to vote.

The Senate rejected protests that the Supreme Court might rule the amendment unconstitutional after 18-year-olds voted in the 1972 elections, thus throwing the next presidential balloting into confusion. Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., lost 72-15 on an amendment to defer the effective date until after 1972.

The vote for the voting age amendment, proposed by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, was more lopsided in the Senate than had been anticipated, winning the votes of some senators who had spoken against it.

Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, for example, voted for it although he had told the Senate it was unwise and unsafe and might imperil the chances of extending the Voting Rights Act.

The chief argument against it, however, was that a constitutional amendment is required to lower the voting age; that Congress had no power to act by simple legislation.

The fight over the voting rights legislation deals with a House-passed bill recommended by President Nixon. It applies nationwide in seeking to prevent Negroes and other groups from being denied their voting rights. Civil rights forces feel it is weaker than the 1965 law and could blunt the enforcement

Hickel Blames Oil Company For 'Disaster'

NEW YORK (AP) — Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel says an oil company was to blame for a pollution "disaster" posed by an offshore well gushing oil into the Gulf of Mexico.

Hickel, after an inspection flight over the area Thursday, said Chevron Oil Co. had removed an $800 safety device from the well which would have shut it off in an emergency. "The storm choke, if operating, would have taken care of it, no doubt about that," Hickel said. "It should never have happened and it wouldn't have had the regulations put into effect last August been met."

Hickel skirted questions about whether action was planned against Chevron, saying only, "We will consider everything within the statutes." Chevron officials declined comment.

The well is one of a group piped to an unmanned, automated control platform which stands in 40 feet of water some 30 miles off the Louisiana shore. W. R. Billon, Chevron safety engineer, said the well was gushing 600 to 1,000 barrels of oil a day. It spews up in a 100-foot high column and falls into the gulf, feeding a giant oil slick.

An explosion on the 40-by-100 foot platform Feb. 10 set the oil wells out of control. They shot up a flare of fire until Tuesday, when a 400-pound charge of dynamite was set off beside the platform to snuff out the flames and allow wild well specialists to move in and begin work on capping the wells.

Hickel said 147 violations against Chevron were found in the field. He said the law provides a fine of $2,000 a day for each violation.

The dangerous work could take a week or more, a company spokesman said.

Storm chokes are placed on offshore wells in case of damage aboard a platform—due to a hurricane, for instance—and automatically shut down a well's flow if it gets out of control.

Chevron assembled 65 boats and barges in an attempt to contain the oil pollution, which threatens wild life refuges and oyster beds along the coast to the north and northeast of the oil platform.

"Compared to Santa Barbara this is a disaster," said Hickel as he walked along the sandy shore of Breton Island during a brief stop there by his helicopter. "There is much more oil involved, more pollution, a wider area and it will take much longer and be harder to clean up."

An offshore well at Santa Barbara, a channel off the California coast, leaked some 8,000 barrels of oil during drilling operations, creating extensive pollution and killing wildlife.

Chevron continued drilling on three relief wells which were angled in to intercept the wild wells at a point beneath the sea bottom. A spokesman said the well spewing most of the oil may be "killed" by Monday.

Twenty-one other oil platforms owned by Chevron are in the off-shore area, which is thickly dotted with oil and gas wells.

Hickel said 147 violations against Chevron were found in the field. He said the law provides a fine of $2,000 a day for each violation.

Delinquency Notices Sent By Computer

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — Tax delinquency notices went out in error this month to 90 per cent of the state's businesses because of a computer goof, Secretary Roy Nickerson of the Nevada Tax Commission said Thursday.

Nickerson said his department had been "swamped with calls from around the state" since the computer told about 2,000 of the firms filling out monthly sales tax returns "they owe all sorts of money when they don't."

This was the first time the tax commission used the state's new central data computer facility.

Nickerson said the tax commission staff is undergoing a "crash program" to soothe distraught taxpayers, find out where the error was made "and correct it."

'Help Yourself', Said Janitor

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Police, called to a north Philadelphia high school, arrived to find nine teen-agers carting out desks and chairs.

The boys and girls told police the janitor said "it was okay to help ourselves."

The janitor, William Barron, 42, admitted he told the youngsters, ages 12 to 14, they could take the furniture, police said.

"The city and the school board don't care what's going on in the schools," Barron told police.

Police recovered five desks and 10 chairs in a house-to-house search of the neighborhood Wednesday night. Four desks and four chairs still were missing.

Find More 'Under Influence'

By NOEL YANCEY
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Highway Patrol is finding more and more drivers under the influence of non-narcotic drugs such as the barbiturates and amphetamines, Col. E.C. Guy, Patrol commander, said today.

And since the law covers only persons driving under the influence of liquor or narcotic drugs, there is nothing patrolmen can do about it unless they can charge the persons with some other offense such as speeding or drunken driving.

Guy said this problem is causing concern across the nation. He predicted that the next General Assembly would consider amending the law.

Guy made the comments as he revealed that the patrol charged 2,806 persons with drunken driving last month, an all-time record for one month. Of the total, he said, 2,354 had been given breathalyzer tests.

Guy said 2,153 of those charged with drunken driving had blood alcohol contents of 0.16 per cent or more.

"At these levels and above, the driver is far more likely to be involved in a collision than the ordinary driver," Guy said.

He was asked how he accounted for the big increase in drunken driving arrests. Guy credited it to more widespread use of breathalyzers, which measure the amount of alcohol in the blood. The last General Assembly enacted the implied consent law, which requires motorists to submit to breathalyzer tests when requested to do so by an officer or have their driving license suspended.

The increase in arrests, Guy said, has "come about as we have added breathalyzer testing devices across the state. It's also due to our boys working a lot of overtime at the rate of 88 extra men. This reflects their enthusiasm and determination."

In discussing the increase in drivers under the influence of non-narcotic drugs, Guy said his men were finding more cases in which drivers were combining these drugs with alcohol — for example phenobarbital tablets and beer.

"This produces a far greater effect on the driver," he said. "One beer and one phenobarbital tablet produce a far greater effect than two phenobarbitals or two beers taken separately."

State Board Member Speaks To League Of Women Voters Tuesday

"Concerned Leaguers can help effect progressive action in the development of better housing," said Mrs. D. G. Sharp at the meeting of the Greenville Pitt County Provisional League of Women Voters.

Mrs. Sharp, a State League of Women Voters board member from Chapel Hill, holds the Human Resources portfolio which includes Housing and Welfare.

"Be sure, however, that you are well informed," cautioned Mrs. Hodge O'Neal, chairman of the Durham League, "before you make your voice heard."

The Greenville provisional league cannot take a stand on issues until they have attained full status by meeting the preliminary requirements. These include compiling facts from an extensive survey of city and county governing bodies through the use of study groups and an observer program. This program is now in progress.

The LWV is a strictly non-partisan body as far as political parties or candidates are concerned. Their primary purpose is voter service, so after studying an issue and reaching consensus, they frequently take a stand in support of their decision. After attaining full status, if the local league has arrived at a consensus based on studies now being made, they can take a stand.

Other voter's service projects, headed by Mrs. Charles Cain, are designed to encourage voter registration. Information that the registration books are open daily at the County Court House will be distributed to residents of the county by Mrs. Rodney Schmidt and her committee.

A house - to - house survey of the voters in three precincts is being led by Dr. Jean Lowery (precinct one), Mrs. Kathy Murphy (precinct three), and Mrs. G. W. Snyder (precinct four).

Mrs. Cain also plans to have tables containing voter registration information in areas downtown, at Pitt Plaza and at Westend Shopping Center on Saturday, March 14, (March 21, if March 14 is rainy). League members attending these tables

Miss Jo Anne Humbles Weds Harold M. Potter

KINSTON—Miss Jo Anne Humbles became the bride of Harold Moseley Potter Jr. last Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the Immanuel Baptist Church here.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Vernon Humbles and Mr. and Mrs. H. M.

Potter, all of Kinston.

A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Linda Holland, organist, and Quincy Harrison, soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of traditional white satin which featured a Victorian neckline. The bodice was adorned with bridal buttons and accented with full length sleeves with bridal buttons. The train was cathedral length.

She wore a cathedral length mantilla accented with chantilly lace. She carried a bridal bouquet of orchids overlaid with lilies-of-the-valley.

Mrs. Judy Collier of Kinston, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. The bridegroom's father served as best man.

Ushers were Randy and Jeff Potter of Kinston, brothers of the bridegroom.

Following a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside in Kinston.

The bride is a graduate of Grainger High School, Kinston, and is attending East Carolina University. The bridegroom is a graduate of Grainger High School and is employed by DuPont.

An after-rehearsal party was held at the home of the bride after the rehearsal.

FASHION FORECASTS

by C. Heber Forbes

(How Color Can Change You)

Keep in mind that the darker the color, the slimmer your figure will look. Wear dark where you are the heaviest.

For instance, if you are small above the waist and heavy below, wear lighter colors above the waist and darker colors below, and vice versa.

If you are too thin, color can make you appear heavier. Remember—the lighter the color, the heavier you will look. For the person who is thin all over, wearing light colors will produce an appearance of more weight.

If you are too thin in certain sections, see that light colors fall where those sections are. Use the darker shades on the sections where you are heavier.

DINNER FOR FOUR

An artist friend prepares artichokes this good way.

Pan-broiled Rib Lamb Chops

Potato Puffs

Robert Adler's Artichokes

Coffee Ice Cream with Bittersweet Chocolate Sauce

ROBERT ADLER'S ARTICHOKEs

4 medium or large artichokes

1 teaspoon salt

2 large cloves garlic, crushed

1/2 cup (1 stick) butter

Good pinch of curry powder

In a large saucepot, add several inches of boiling water, salt and garlic to artichokes. Cover and boil until hearts feel tender when they are pierced with a fork—35 to 45 minutes; drain. Remove inside top leaves and choke from each artichoke. In a small saucepan over low heat melt the butter with the curry powder. Serve the hot artichokes with the curried butter on the side in small containers—oriental-type teacups without handles or small individual soufflé dishes are fine.

DEAR ABBY: This is not so much a problem, as a letter to illustrate a point, because if it should become a problem I will have to work out the solution myself.

In a nutshell, I am a married man who has never condoned "fooling around." I've always considered such activities wrong and potentially dangerous. But now I find myself in the midst of an affair with a single woman. It developed gradually [at work] with a few light-hearted exchanges and some laughs. I never realized how far it could go, until it got there.

I don't want to end it, not yet, at least. With a few lies and half-truths at home, the situation manages with ease.

Just a word of warning to other "straight-laced" husbands like myself. There is no such thing as a harmless flirtation.

THE [POST] GRADUATE

DEAR GRADUATE: Since you are not willing to heed your own warning, you may expect the same kind of trouble you're warning other men to avoid. Doesn't make much sense. Your advice is so good. Why give it away? Use it yourself!

DEAR ABBY: About your hairdresser, Mr. Phyllis. You said what he did at home was HIS business. Well, the state law on beauty culture is not in agreement with you. It is illegal for a hairdresser to do hair outside the shop, unless it is marked as an appointment with a registered beauty shop.

FELLOW HAIRDRESSER IN MO.

DEAR FELLOW: Live and learn! And from the mail I received from other states, I think it's the same all over. [Better give that wet noodle a permanent.]

DEAR ABBY: My boyfriend does not get along well with his folks. Very often when he comes over in the evening he is in a very unpleasant, irritable mood, and he tells me he just had a "blow up" with his father, or an argument with his mother. As far as I know, his folks have been very good to him, sending him to college and doing lots of nice things for him at home which I know my folks don't do for us kids at home, yet we love them. My Mom is concerned and because of the frequency of these fights, I am also beginning to wonder whether he would make a good marriage risk. My Mom says that sooner or later he will vent his temper on me instead of on his folks.

I love him and he has always been kind and gentle to me, but I can't help wondering. What do you think?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: I think you are wise to wonder. Either your boyfriend is very hard to get along with, or he needs to grow up. Don't make any "grown-up" decisions about him until you're sure.

DEAR ABBY: I wish I had the nerve to tell my husband myself, but since I haven't, I hope you will put this in your column. It seems the nearer to 40 he gets, the less he cares about his appearance and manners. He comes to the table [any meal] with no shirt, or even a T shirt, just bare-chested. On top of that, he is getting fatter and fatter. Abby, have you ever sat down to eat at a table with a man who is bare-chested and who has his stomach sticking way out to here? It's sort of repulsive.

Otherwise he is such a dear. Do not use my name or town as I harp on this in a round about way, but I don't want him to know that I wrote it.

BOTHERED

DEAR BOTHERED: Don't blame him if you are bothered by something which could so easily be remedied, but you lack the nerve to tell him. Speak up! [Suggested sentence: "Look, Tarzan, I love you, but please put on a shirt when you come to the table."] If that doesn't do it—well, at least you tried.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Easter Bazaar, Bridge Benefit Set For Tuesday

An Easter bazaar and bridge benefit, sponsored by the Junior Woman's Club of Greenville, has been scheduled for Tuesday, March 17.

Mrs. Davis Is Patient Circle Speaker Tuesday

Mrs. Thomas M. Davis gave the Bible study at the meeting of The Patient Circle of The King's Daughters and Sons on Tuesday evening.

The study was entitled "The Epistle of Paul The Apostle, to the Philippians." She divided the lesson in eight parts. Mrs. Davis was introduced by Mrs. Clara Moye Shackell.

During the business session, presided over by President Cora S. Powell, committee reports were given.

It was announced that the International Convention of The King's Daughters and Sons will be held in Memphis, Tenn., May 6-9. Several members plan to attend.

Mrs. Davis, chairman of The Literacy Council of Pitt County, invited members who would devote time for the Literacy Movement, to participate.

During the fellowship hour refreshments were served by hostesses, Miss Mary Wells, Miss Mary Forbes and Mrs. T. L. Hannaford.

Shower Given Bridal Couple

Miss Pamela Gail Cannon and David Jatie Spain were honored at a miscellaneous bridal shower Saturday night at the Cherry Educational Building, Black Jack.

Hostesses were Mrs. James A. Meeks, Mrs. Clifton Cannon, Mrs. J. Bryant Hudson and Mrs. Marshall Spain.

The bride-elect was presented a corsage of blue pom poms with patriotic ribbon.

Mrs. Harvey Stallings, mother of bride-elect, and Mrs. D. J. Spain Jr., mother of the bridegroom - elect, were remembered with yellow carnation corsages by the hostesses.

The refreshment table was covered with a white lace cloth over green. An arrangement of yellow pom poms and white snapdragons and greenery with seven branched candelabra centered the table.

The gift table was centered with a miniature bride and bridegroom with wedding bells and lily-of-the-valley on the corner of the table.

Games were directed by Mrs. Reba Cannon and Sally Vainright.

Mrs. Emily Meeks greeted guests and Mrs. Doris E. Hudson presided at the guest register. Good-byes were said to Mrs. Lucille Spain. Approximately 80 guests attended.

The event will be held at the Eastern Elementary School cafeteria. The bazaar will open at 6 p.m. and the bridge benefit will start at 8 o'clock.

Serving as chairmen for this year's event are: decorations and house, Miss Helen Hawes; gifts, Mrs. Kay Wyatt; tickets and publicity, Mrs. Betty Barbee; refreshments, Mrs. Betty Fuqua; and bazaar, Mrs. Jane Hulseley. Mrs. Betty Chapman is overall chairman.

Bazaar items will include beach hats, stuffed animals, throw pillows, Easter baskets, pajama bags, house slippers and homemade cakes, brownies, pie tarts and candy.

Proceeds from the event will be used for community projects.

Reason For Pride In Facility

The Walter B. Jones Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center was dedicated by the governor today. Our area and the entire state has every reason to be proud that this advanced facility is serving the public.

Pitt County and the First Congressional District should be doubly proud that the state facility was named in honor of their congressman, Walter B. Jones. It was Jones who initiated the idea of two new centers in the east and west and improvements to Butner while he was a member of the N. C. State Senate.

Jones introduced a bill calling for a five cents per bottle price increase on liquor to finance the centers and he guided the bill through to enactment. It was because of this that the Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center now stands on N. C. 43 east of Greenville.

The center is a 76 bed in-patient facility with a medical unit, three dormitories, therapy building, kitchen and administrative unit. It will later be expanded to a 100-bed facility with an occupational and recreation therapy building, an addition to the existing therapy building for offices, group therapy rooms and a large assembly room.

The million dollar facility provides short-term intensive treatment for manageable, ambulatory alcoholic patients seeking treatment and rehabilitation. It operates with a staff of 77 and has

Boating's Tide Continues Rise

(Today's guest column is by Holt McPherson, Editor of the High Point Enterprise.)

By HOLT McPHERSON

MIAMI, Florida — Miami's International Boat Show, growing from a tent in 1937 when we first came to know it, to a $25 million exposition occupying 310,000 square feet of space in the Miami Beach Convention Hall, packed in record visitation without setting a clear course of buyer enthusiasm as had been hoped would follow the more lackadaisical New York show.

Could it be that boating is running upon the shoals of recession? Tight money, narrowing profits and higher costs of everything are causing a pinch on luxury items. However, those who don't have to worry about their pennies — or even dollars — are looking at the larger yachts as if no clouds were visible on the financial horizon.

Indeed, Hatteras' introduction of its newest 53-foot convertible yacht, carrying a price tag of $165,000, was one of the really hot items of a show that ran more to smaller craft such as sailboats, fishing craft and novelty fun boats. Name the boat you want, and it's here — at a price, of course.

Nobody appeared to count them, but the consensus was that some 500 boats were shown. Management added 40,000 square feet to exhibit space this year to squeeze more boats into display. It's the biggest ever — probably the greatest anywhere, for Miami has come to be The Boat Show just as High Point has come to be The Furniture Show.

New York is still important as a display center, naturally, but it's no secret that sales at New York were disappointing. That causes the pulse of industry to be taken more there, and despite economic pressures and cooling of the economy, the boating industry appears to be yet a quite healthy animal.

There's an international flavor to the show with substantial showings of British - produced boats together with a lot of gadgetry from other countries. Boating, as everyone knows, is something likely to transcend any ideology or creed, for it has its own international interests, language and concerns. Perhaps the saltiest of displays at this show was the Dell Quay Fisherboat, of British manufacture.

The Boat Show here is one of the brighter chapters of growth in South Florida. That tent which housed the first show on lower Biscayne at 7th Street planted a seed which has grown into a 10-year contract at the Miami Beach Convention Hall with space there already badly outgrown in the second year's run. Last year saw 250,000 visitors and $20 million worth of craft exhibited; this year's attendance figures, as this is written, aren't available yet, but it should run fully 20 per cent greater, while exhibits represent an investment 25 per cent greater.

Miami may be the Boat Show capital, but nearby Fort Lauderdale claims to be the "Yachting Capital of the World". And with some justification, for a world of boats crowns its marinas and 270 miles of canals and waterways. Indeed, the saturation point of marine facilities would appear long since to have been reached. But still they come, while more follow. Few places, if any, so typify the boom in boating as business vies for the "recreational dollar."

The second car was once the status symbol; then a second home; now it is a boat or airplane. And of the approximately 160,000 boats registered in Florida, an estimated 10 per cent have accommodations for living on them.

The Marine Industries of Broward County, of which Fort Lauderdale is the center and county seat, reports over $200 million volume, which includes marine manufacturing, new and used boat sales, accessories, repairs, dockage, storage and the like.

Indeed Lauderdaleians will tell you that no other kind of business activity contributes as much income, prestige advertising and people as does boating.

And the end is by no means in sight.

an annual budget of $700,000.

Of course, for Greenville the center is an economic boon because its payroll is equal to a good sized industry. However, the center is far more than that for our area and for all of the Eastern counties it serves. It offers hope to all people who have developed a problem with alcohol and want to do something about it. It is a place for them and their families to turn to seek professional assistance — and for most it is not too distant from their homes.

We are pleased that the Walter B. Jones Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center is a part of Greenville and Pitt County. It is going to benefit many people in Eastern North Carolina in the years ahead.

Port Commission Is Inheritor Of Old Goal

The county commissioners and the City Council have reactivated the Tar River Port Commission with the appointment of Charlie Hardee, Thomas W. Rivers and John S. Stoughton.

The commission does not have much to preside over now that the terminal has been destroyed by fire. However there are some funds on hand and the channel in the river is still there, as well as the portland.

Hopefully the commission will be able to develop some type of cargo boat or barge service for the Pitt County port. It could mean much for our development if cheap water transportation could be developed in this way.

Chotiner Star Again On Rise

By ROWLAND EVANS and Robert novak

WASHINGTON — At the height of bitter maneuvering within the Michigan Republican party over the Senatorial candidacy of Mrs. George Romney, her principal rival — Rep. Donald Riegle — was summoned to the White House.

What made the summons so interesting was its source: Murray M. Chotiner, named by President Nixon Jan. 13 as one of three special White House counsels.

Chotiner spent half an hour with the 32-year-old fiercely ambitious Riegle, perhaps the most outspoken liberal Republican in the House.

Chotiner, an old hand at the subtleties of intra-party politics from his salad days as a wheeler-dealer in California, handled himself in exemplary fashion. He asked no leading questions of Riegle but simply informed himself, through Riegle, about the Michigan situation.

To Michigan Republicans, Chotiner's low - keyed intervention sharply contrasted with earlier efforts to referee the touchy Michigan situation by White House aide Harry Dent. Although he has a reputation for being quiet - spoken and highly effective, Dent tromped on Michigan toes and gave the unmistakable impression he was trying to bully Riegle out of the race.

The very fact that Chotiner, not Dent, summoned Riegle to the White House is most significant. Until then, Chotiner's role was presumably restricted to the 1970 campaign for the House. But Chotiner, Mr. Nixon's political tutor during this early rise to power, now has a far broader mandate.

In fact, state Republican leaders feel today that Chotiner is the man in the White House to see and, thus, has overtaken Dent as Mr. Nixon's chief political operative.

The basic reason is that Dent's background — as chief political lieutenant to Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina and as a key 1968 campaign tactician following Atty. Gen. John Mitchell's Southern - oriented strategy — has made him suspect to Northern Republican leaders. That attitude was aggravated by Dent's aggressive efforts to whip up pressure back home against liberal Republican Senators opposing Judge Haynsworth.

Such suspicion was evident in the Michigan situation, when telephone calls placed by Dent to second - level Republican leaders infuriated the party's top leadership in Michigan.

"Harry didn't understand what was happening in Michigan," one top party leader there told us. "He was calling Republicans who aren't decisionmakers."

Even more important, this Michigan leader became convinced after a conversation with Dent that Dent was lobbying against Riegle — a conviction quickly relayed through Michigan Republican circles. Even the multitude of Michigan Republicans who have no use for Don Riegle were up in arms about White House interference.

As a result, the state's party leaders (including Elly Peterson, assistant national chairman) privately complained to National Chairman Rogers Morton. Dent, they suggested, should be invited out of the Michigan situation in the interests of party harmony.

That may, by itself, explain why Chotiner was instructed by Mr. Nixon to chat with Riegle (who did later defer to Mrs. Romney by dropping out). But the Chotiner rise has a more solid base than some misplaced phone calls by Harry Dent. Actually, the Chotiner comeback was all but inevitable.

Before suffering legal difficulties in the late 1950s with Federal Trade Com-

By ART BUCHWALD Midiskirt Is A Hoax

WASHINGTON — We are told by those people who make the fashion rules that hemlines are going down this year whether anybody likes it or not; the so-called midiskirt will replace the miniskirt, and there isn't a darn thing men can do about it.

But there is a small group fighting back. Known simply as LMA, which stands for Leg Men of America, this group has vowed to destroy the midi and all it represents.

The President of the Leg Men of America is Gordon Manning, who received me in his basement office with a large view of the sidewalk above.

Manning said, "It's outrageous. The midi is an affront to every Leg Man in the country."

"How many Leg Men would you say there are in the nation at this moment?" I asked.

"There are at the present time 61,935,263 men who could qualify as Leg Men, not counting our armed forces abroad."

"These men represent every economic, religious and cultural group in the nation, and they have no intention of standing by and seeing hemlines go down below the knees."

"But what can they do?"

Other Editors Say Communists Ready

(Henderson Dispatch)

At no time since the United States became mired in Southeast Asia was it impossible to have peace there on communist terms. That means we would make all the concessions and they would gain in all directions, which is precisely what the United States has been resisting.

A major condition in the offer for cessation of hostilities in Laos is withdrawal of American forces. That, of course, is what the enemy most desires, so that the way will be clear to move in and occupy all the small nations of the area.

This applies to South Vietnam as well, but as to Laos there were also other conditions, including some sort of reparations or payments to certain groups. That, too, would be asinine as the major premise. In other words, as they are saying, you get out but give us an armful of cash along with it.

If the United States becomes as bogged down in Laos now as it already is in South Vietnam, Laos will be as unpopular with Americans in general as is resentment of Vietnam. And that's saying a good deal. It is saying so much that the people here will not stand for unending war in the jungles of Southeast Asia.

Neither South Vietnam nor Laos will be able alone to stand off the communist hordes from the north, backed and supported as they are by Red China and Soviet Russia. To assume that they could be is but a pipe dream. All the training that can be given them will not be enough. They simply are not capable of standing alone against a powerful enemy.

The communists talk glibly about peace but at the same time impose conditions that are impossible and which they know will not be accepted here. They will not give up so long as two powerful giants in Asia are standing behind them both financially and militarily. Peace in Laos is not likely on the terms offered, even as it is not in Vietnam either.

A Cat's Idea Of Heaven

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Every creature probably has its own idea of heaven.

Paradise to our family cat Lady Dottie, I am convinced, lies in our refrigerator. That is what she is forever trying to poke her nose into.

To her, the refrigerator is a Land of Plenty, a cool Eden stocked with endless goodies. But no matter what I take out of it to feed her, she gives me a melancholy look that says: "If you'd just let me get in there myself, I'm sure I could find something better."

Sometimes when I come home from work I find Lady Dottie bunched comfortably on her paws on the kitchen floor staring worshipfully up at the refrigerator as if it were her idol. Who can say that it is not?

Lady Dottie is now 13. If you multiply that by seven, the common method of finding the human equivalent of an animal's age, she is 91.

I must say she doesn't look it. She is growing old quite gracefully. She still has all her claws and teeth, has plenty of bounce in her pounce and retains her interest in the world around her.

As a matter of fact, her curiosity, far from drying up, is growing steadily. Her whiskers and black-dotted nose research everything that comes into or goes out of our apartment. We can't even open a package, even if it is addressed to us, not her, without Lady Dottie trying to climb into it first. She simply assumes it must be for her.

It is a mark of wisdom in a human being to achieve a stoic serenity in the darkening twilight of age. In that respect Lady Dottie is a wise cat indeed.

Sometimes as I watch her stare calmly from her window perch at the world outside, I feel that she has been greatly cheated in life by having missed many of the wild pleasures known to roaming cats.

But if she has been robbed of much of her feline birthright, Lady Dottie shows no resentment. She has not been made neurotic by these denials of her freedom.

Born into a world she never made, she has made a world of her own turned an 8th floor apartment into her personal empire.

As she heads deeper into old age, still able of body and serene of spirit, Lady Dottie seems to have only one frustrated ambition. Sometime, somehow, she'd like to get that refrigerator door open by herself, jump in, and spend a night alone in gourmet revelry.

Non-Gasoline Auto Is Coming

By ELMER ROESSNER

Probably later, but sooner or later the non-gasoline auto is coming.

It will come because public opinion will demand it. The fight against pollution is hundreds of billion of dollars invested in wells, ships, refineries, pipelines and service stations, is not going to let a large part of its market disappear without a fight — and what a fight it will be!

And the auto industry, with billions invested in plants and tools, is not going to start all over on steam and electric cars. However, the auto industry is hedging: every major manufacturer is experimenting with electric and steam cars.

Electric Car Is Here

There are, of course, operating electric cars today. Sixty years ago a battery - driven electric was on the market. It had a top speed of 25 miles an hour and the seat over the batteries sometimes got hot, but it worked. A line of light delivery trucks, powered by batteries, is in use in England today.

At the first International Electric Vehicle Symposium in Phoenix last November, 12 different operating electric cars were shown. One, Ford's "Lead Wedge" has torn across the Utah salt flats at 138 miles an hour. Electric by General Electric, Westinghouse, and two Japanese companies were all new. The rest were familiar small cars, including the Volkswagen and Renault, powered by batteries instead of gas.

The consensus was that none of these cars are yet practical. To get an electric that would compete with a gasoline engine in speed without recharging would require so much weight in batteries that there would be room for little else. However, engineers believe that problem can be solved.

The Steam Car

Oldtimers can recall the Stanley Steamer, of which it was said no one had ever dared to run at top speed. Another steam car was developed in the West but floundered in financial trouble.

These, too, were not practical by modern standards. They required frequent refills of water and corrosion was a problem. However, a few days ago Thermo Electron Corp. of Waltham, Mass. announced it has solved the last technical problem. It has developed a burner - boiler combination that uses an organic fluid instead of water. Organic fluids have been proposed before but have always broken down under heat. The Thermo Electron device, however, maintains a uniform heat of 550 degrees Fahrenheit, at which the fluid, thiophene, does not disintegrate.

And last week the Department of Transportation granted the California Assembly Rules Committee $577,000 to be used to install steam engines in three modern buses for tests.

Strength For Today

THE SPIRIT

Jesus assured his disciples that after he had left them the Spirit — which we have come to call The Holy Spirit — would come upon them and give them power. This happened on the first Pentecostal season following the death, resurrection and ascension of Jesus. The disciples were to know that they could have no lasting spiritual achievements either in their own life or in the life of the world until the Spirit came upon them. With the coming of the Spirit came power.

After they had witnessed the Ascension, the disciples and the women who had followed Jesus faithfully and supported him in his earthly ministry, went into an upper room and continued "with one accord in prayer and supplication." It is interesting to note that "Mary the mother of Jesus" (Acts

1:14) was in this group of waiting, eager adherents. When the Spirit on the day of Pentecost came upon the believers they were about a hundred and twenty in number (Acts 1:15).

A series of events led to the establishing of the Church, the sending forth of witnesses into all the world, the commission to teach all nations the truth as it had been given them by their Master, and the assurance that the resurrected and exalted Lord would be with his disciples "always" (Matthew 28:19, 20).

Wherever the Church is operating under the power of the Spirit it is fulfilling the commands of Christ. A Church without the Spirit is no Church at all. A Church with the Spirit is destined to enlighten and overwhelm the world.

The bidding:
South Pass North 1 Pass East 1 NT Pass 3 Pass 3 NT Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Five of South, the declarer at three no trump, proceeded on the logical basis that, when the outlook is bleak, one must proceed on the assumption that the remotest of prospects may blossom forth into reality.

When South rebid one no trump, North proceeded on the assumption that his partner did not hold four hearts or else he might have been expected to show that suit first. He therefore jumped to three clubs since he had the equivalent of an opening bid himself. South rebid three no trump and the bidding subsided.

West opened his fourth best spade, East put up the ace and returned the suit. South played the jack, losing to West's queen and a third round cleared the suit. The outlook was extremely bleak for South. Even assuming that he could run the clubs and that the diamond finesse would be successful, he could count only eight tricks, for one of the opponents must still have a stopper in diamonds. South toyed with the idea of trying to sneak thru a heart trick first, but this prospect seemed too remote to him.

The only legitimate chance was to find one opponent with a lone king of diamonds in which case an additional trick could be secured in that suit. Proceeding on this assumption, South led his deuce of diamonds over to the dummy's ace, and he was fully rewarded when East surrendered his king.

Having surmounted the biggest hurdle, declarer cashed dummy's king of clubs and continued with the jack. East covered with the queen, South played the ace and the ten and nine picked up the remaining clubs. Declarer's long card in the suit, the five, produced the ninth trick.

Noted Mathematician To Visit And Lecture

The Mathematical Association of America, with the financial support of the National Science Foundation, is sponsoring a visit by Dr. James H. Wabab to East Carolina University on March 16.

The visit, part of a nationwide lectureship program, has three purposes: to strengthen and stimulate the mathematics programs of colleges and universities; to provide the mathematics staff and mathematics majors with an opportunity for personal contacts with productive and creative mathematicians; and to aid in the motivation of able college students to consider careers in mathematics and the teaching of mathematics.

Dr. Wabab, professor of mathematics and head of the department at the University of South Carolina, received the bachelor's degree from the College of William and Mary and the master's and PhD from UNC.

The lectures, to be held in Room 132, Austin, are open to the public.

"Correct," said Manning. "The dress manufacturers who have covered the knee will have a lot of explaining to do."

"Mr. Manning, if your no-look campaign succeeds and all the Leg Men in America refuse to eye any female wearing a mini, how long do you think it will take to get women back to the mini?"
"Not very long. Once a woman realizes that no one is looking at her, she will immediately lose interest in the mini-length hemline. To speed up the process the Leg Men of America will finance instant shearing booths in all the major cities where a woman can stop and have her mini cut off to mini length painlessly and free of charge."

Confirm Destroying North Viet Copter

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — U.S. jet fighter-bombers destroyed a North Vietnamese helicopter on the ground in the Ho Chi Minh Trail region of southern Laos, informed sources said today.

The sources said it was the first confirmation of a North Vietnamese helicopter in Laos, although there have been unconfirmed reports of at least three being sighted in the Plain of Jars region of northeastern Laos.

The sources said the helicopter, a Russian Mi4, was parked on the ground under camouflage opposite the A Shau Valley region of South Vietnam.

Communion services will be observed during the morning worship service.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets steady to slightly stronger Thursday, supplies adequate, demand fair. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A large whites: 55½ to 56; medium, whites: 48½ to 49; small, whites: 34 to 35.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina hog markets were mostly steady today. Tops of 24.00-25.00 at Rocky Mount; 23.50-24.50 at Bethel; 23.25-24.25 at Kinston, New Bern, Benson, Newton Grove, Albemarle and Lumberton; 23.50-24.00 at Siler City and Denton; 25.00 at Salisbury; 24.50 at Mount Olive.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market suffered moderate but broadly based losses in sluggish trading early today. At 11 a.m., the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 2.38 at 774.09. Declining issues on the New York Stock Exchange led gainers by about five to three.

Find Viet Cong Jungle Hospital

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Government mercenaries led by U.S. Green Berets attacked a Viet Cong jungle hospital, killed 20 guards or staff members and captured 10 patients, reliable sources said today.

The attack was made six miles northwest of the Special Forces camp at Tien Phuoc, 40 miles south of Da Nang, apparently after receiving intelligence reports of the hospital's location.

The troops reportedly destroyed 10 buildings and more than 400 pounds of medicine. Ten rifles and a machine gun were captured, the sources said.

therapy building, an addition to the existing therapy building for offices, group therapy rooms and a large assembly room for conferences, religious activities and patient meetings.

The ARC is located on a 30 acre site, one mile west of Greenville on Hwy. 43.

The center serves the following counties in the Eastern Region: Beaufort, Bertie, Brunswick, Camden, Carteret, Chowan, Craven, Currituck, Dare, Duplin, Edgecombe, Gates, Greene, Halifax, Hertford, Hyde, Jones, Lenoir, Martin, Nash, New Hanover, Northampton, Onslow, Pamlico, Pasquotank, Pender, Perquimans, Pitt, Tyrrell, Washington, Wayne and Wilson.

Key staff members of the center include: Donald R. Dancy, regional program director; Howard G. Dawkins, regional alcoholism program coordinator; Dr. John M. Gambill, clinical director; Joel E. Vickers, business manager; Herbert Waldrop, director of rehabilitative programs; and Carlton Hardee, regional vocational rehabilitation counselor.

Open house was held this morning from 9:30 until 11 o'clock. Refreshments for the open house and a picnic lunch at noon were sponsored by the Greenville Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Association.

Governor Addresses Luncheon Meet

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer
Gov. Robert Scott spoke on motivating and stimulating the public school student, especially the potential dropout, to the 12th annual industrial arts conference for school administrators at a luncheon meeting at East Carolina University this afternoon. He told the school superintendents, principals, guidance counselors, and teachers of some new developments in public education in this state, including program of occupational exploration in the middle grades now underway in 21 school districts, 11 special education programs, a new kindergarten program, as well as several others still in their first stages. He told of plans for environmental studies and the study of economics in the lower grades.

The Governor cited statistics to support his point that children are staying in school longer than their parents did. He said the enrollment of our colleges and universities is nearly twice that of ten years ago, nearly three times what it was 20 years ago.

The dropout rate in public schools is steadily declining at a rate of about one-half percent a year. Our community college system, established in 1963, has more than 240,000 students in its 16 community colleges and 38 technical institutes, all of which are within commuting distance of more than 95 percent of the state's citizens.

About the occupational exploration program, he said, "Basically, this program is an opportunity for children, as early as the sixth grade, to begin to explore the world of work. This exploration includes going into shops and laboratories and having 'hands-on' experiences so that interests and aptitudes can be related to future educational and occupational opportunities. This program provides, first, for broad-based exploratory experiences, and then leads to selective exploration, and eventually to secondary courses in vocational education in specialized areas."

He urged the school administrators and faculty members to do all they can to enlist the support of all people for our schools, to motivate the student, to motivate and bolster the teacher and to consider all the programs in education, both old and new, "with a view toward helping our children, our greatest resource, expand their horizons and see the relevance of their education to their adult years."

Dr. Leo Jenkins introduced the Governor.

This morning the administrators and teachers heard Larry Ivey, a director of an elementary industrial arts experimental project at Windsor, tell about the federally financed program he works in and they listened to Robert Mullen, associate director of occupational education with the State Department of Public Instruction.

After the luncheon, anyone who wished was welcomed to tour the ECU industrial arts department.

OPEN HOUSE

An open house will be held at the Carl B. Pace Academy on Memorial Drive Sunday afternoon beginning at 2 p.m. and lasting until 5 p.m. The public is invited.

Cambodian Mobs Again Violently Demonstrate

By PETER O'LOUGHLIN
Associated Press Writer

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Mobs of Cambodians demonstrated today for the third day against North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops using their country and raided the Vietnamese quarter of Phnom Penh, the capital informed sources in Bangkok said.

The crowds attacked houses and stores owned by Vietnamese and looted Roman Catholic churches. No deaths were reported, but at least four Vietnamese were reported hospitalized.

Cambodia's ruler, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, said in Paris that the demonstrations were the work of right-wingers trying to force his nation into "the American camp." But the Cambodian cabinet said the demonstrators were "worthy of praise," and the National Assembly made known that it "strongly supports" the demonstrators.

Prince Sihanouk, who has been on his annual health visit to France, said he would leave today for Phnom Penh but would stop on the way in Moscow and Peking, apparently to ask the Soviets and the Chinese to smooth over things between him and Hanoi.

The cabinet statement, broadcast by Radio Phnom Penh, said "several hundred thousand" residents of Phnom Penh had demonstrated to support the people of Svay Rieng Province, which the Viet Cong have infiltrated heavily.

The National Assembly issued its statement after a 2½-hour emergency meeting, held Wednesday while demonstrators were protesting on the steps of the building.

"It is not true that the Viet Cong troops have taken refuge in our territory to avoid American pursuit," said Assemblyman Kaom Reth. "They have come to use our territory as their own."

Deputy Premier Sirik Matak told a news conference that he has proposed adding 10,000 more men to Cambodia's armed forces, which now total 49,000 men.

Prince Sirik said the government also had suspended a commercial agreement, providing for the sale of rice to the Viet Cong, until the latter indicates it will withdraw its troops. He said the government at the same time expressed its regrets to the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong for the initial demonstrations Wednesday in which both their embassies were attacked, but he declared that both must respect Cambodia's territorial sovereignty.

Worcester, Mass. (AP) — In Laos, all Americans are regarded as CIA agents or members of the U.S. armed forces, a former director of a private aid program there says.

Walter B. Johnson, who returned to Worcester from Laos this month, said that the feeling in Laos is that "the American ambassador, not the Laotian premier, is the most important person in the country."

Johnson served two years as director of the Laotian program of International Voluntary Services, Inc., a private educational and agricultural organization.

Ebron Today Faces Panel Of 5 Judges

Carlos Ebron, the 17 year old Negro Rose High student selected as a finalist for "Boy of the Year", is today facing a panel of five judges, along with the approximately 20 other youths from across America who are in New York City for the final selection.

The panel named for this year's group is composed of Ezra L. Dolan, public relations vice-president of Parade Publications; Pat McCormack, columnist for United Press International; Hal Weiner, executive director of the National Public Relations Council for Health and Welfare;

Paul Lavalie, Radio City Music Hall maestro; and Mrs. Audrey King, public relations director, Parents' Magazine, Inc.

The panel will pick the boy who best typifies "juvenile decency" through service to home, school, church, community and Boys' Club. The judging will take place today at the New York Advertising Club on Park Avenue.

President Nixon will install the Boy of the Year in special White House ceremonies during National Boys' Club Week, March 15-21. The nine regional winners will also take part in this installation ceremony.

Allied spokesmen refused to confirm that the enemy position was a hospital, announcing in a communique that a battle at the site had resulted in 20 enemy killed, 10 captured and 10 houses destroyed.

No government casualties were reported in either account of the attack.

It was the second discovery in three weeks of a North Vietnamese hospital in the jungles of the northern 1st Corps area. Late last month South Vietnamese infantrymen uncovered an abandoned hospital they said was capable of treating up to 300 patients.

American forces searching through enemy base camp areas along the Cambodian border north of Saigon encountered sporadic resistance and withstood a heavy daylight shelling attack Thursday, military spokesmen reported.

But the U.S. Command said only that one of the four new actions resulted in American casualties.

Three Americans were killed and one was wounded when a 1st Air Cavalry Division unit was hit by an enemy force nine miles northwest of Song Be.

U.S. units have been operating in the remote jungled area for more than a week and have run into North Vietnamese units of varying size almost daily.

Bethel Advances In State Tournament

Pirate Baseballers To Open Season Tomorrow

East Carolina University opens the 1970 baseball season Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m., playing host to Duke University.

And Coach Earl Smith is hoping that this year's team will signal a return to first place in the Southern Conference.

The Bucs joined the NCAA in 1964, and promptly were given the at-large bid to the Regional Tournament in Gastonia.

Two years later, in 1966, the Bucs, now in the Southern Conference, captured their first title, and again took part in the tournament.

In 1968, they again were conference champs and went to Gastonia.

So if the even-numbered tradition follows, this is the year of the Pirates.

But good luck is not all the Bucs have going for them. They have what Smith believes is his best pitching staff, and some good hitting to go along with it.

"Our overall fielding and defense are looking good," he said. "(Dick) Corrada, our shortstop, is tremendously improved over last year. He made a lot of mistakes last year, but during the summer he made only four errors in over 50 games. He just doesn't look like the same player."

Smith said the Bucs have been hitting the ball well in practice. "We looked real good on Monday," he said. "Our bunting has improved, and I look for us to do a good job with the bat."

"I think I can definitely say that we are ahead of where we were last year at this point."

In pitching, Smith has his two aces from last year back. They are right-handers Ron Hastings and Sonny Robinson. "Both were in the top eight in the conference last year and Hastings had a tremendous summer with the Broyhill Chiefs."

Others back include Tim Bayliss, a lefty, and Don Oxendine, a fireballing righthander. Jim Craver and Mike Van Landingham, both righthanders aid the cause.

But some of the best news is the acquisition of junior college star Hal Beard, another lefty. "He was the outstanding junior college pitcher in his league last year," Smith said, "and he's looking very good."

Smith expects to start Hastings Saturday, with either

Beard or Oxendine in relief.

Behind the plate, Smith has two prime candidates, both veterans from last year, Len Dowd and Stan Sneed.

At first, another fellow who can catch, but is needed in the lineup for his hitting ability, Skip Taylor. Taylor also got in a lot of action at first last year, so is no newcomer to the position. Another returning vet, Dennis Vick, improved in his hitting, is at second.

Corrada will handle the shortstop position, with either Bryan McNeely or Dowd at third.

In the outfield, Smith has a number of candidates, including Dave Shields, Matt Walker and Mike Aldridge in left, Stu Garrett in center, and either Ken Graver or Walker in right.

In a special pre-game ceremony, three former Duke baseball stars, now Greenville residents, will toss out the first ball. Reynolds May and Ty Wagner will recreate their roles as pitcher and catcher, respectively. Bo Farley, Rose High Athletic Director will stand in as the batter.

Open Baseball Season

Skip Taylor, left, co-captain of the East Carolina University Baseball team, talks with Coach Earl Smith about pre-game plans as the Bucs get set to open the 1970 season tomorrow against Duke. The game, to be played at 2 p.m., is at the University field. Joining Taylor as co-captain is Stu Garrett.

McGee Sends Football Team Into Spring Drills

East Carolina University's football Pirates and Coach Mike McGee get down to business as they start 1970 spring drills on Saturday.

"We're going to start from the beginning," McGee said. It will be the first workout for the Bucs with McGee, who took over as head coach following the end of the 1969 season.

Plans call for the Bucs to hold one drill on Saturday, and work out six times prior to spring vacation. The remaining 14 drills will be held following the return to classes.

"We're going to work on fundamentals in the early part of the drills," the coach said. "We have been working on non-supervised conditioning to get everyone in shape."

McGee said he wants to make a close examination of where the team's talents lie. "Then we will start making a decision on what direction our offense and defense will take; what things we will attempt to do. We will do a lot of experimenting with positions, trying to best mold the players to their positions."

The first six workouts will concentrate on members of the team going both ways in the drills. Only after the break for the holidays will the team be divided into platoons. "We'll hold meetings with the staff during the break to set this up," McGee said. "Then, the remaining work will all be two platoons."

The Pirate staff expects about 80 candidates for the team out tomorrow afternoon for the first workout. "This includes six junior college transfers we're bringing in."

"And I think it can be said that every position on the team is wide open."

McGee said that his biggest problem will be to develop an offensive capability around a quarterback. "We don't have an experience quarterback on the club, so the problem is made even greater. This is going to be a real growing process, and I'd hate to even list the candidates for the position."

The Bucs will continue their drills through April 25, when the annual Purple-Gold game will be held.

Busch Bombards Pitcher Carlton

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Bombastic August Busch dropped a low yield explosive on baseball's generation gap and the shock waves reached all the way to Houston where Jimmy Wynn is searching the classified ads, "looking for a job."

Busch, owner of the St. Louis Cardinals, gave holdout Steve Carlton a verbal dressing down Thursday, saying, "I don't care if he ever pitches another ball for us again."

A similar public explosion a day earlier had brought slugger Rich Allen into line in a hurry but Carlton was standing fast on his demand for $40,000—about $8,000 more than Busch was willing to pay the pitcher.

"I can't understand with the pension they (the players) have and how fair we are, how they can consistently call all of us, the owners, a bunch of tight-wads and not worth a damn," said Busch.

The Cardinals sent Carlton a letter of renewal, stating that the pitcher's contract had been renewed at the estimated 25 per cent increase and that he would be permitted to play without signing if he wants to.

If Carlton, who is working but remains unsigned, agrees to play without a contract, he will lose certain pension and insurance benefits. Busch is standing firmly on his 25 per cent raise and refuses to move.

"My hope is that some other owners will have the guts to do what I'm doing to help reverse this thing and get people back to normalcy."

Instead of normalcy, Wynn was on his way back to Houston after another fruitless salary conference with H. B. "Spec" Richardson, general manager of the Astros.

The slugging outfielder is asking for $60,000 and Richardson, who says he won't "negotiate ball player contracts in the newspaper," is holding the line at something over $50,000.

Wynn got support from second baseman Joe Morgan, his roommate, who said he believes the Astros could win the pennant with Jim, but not without him. "Jim is the star of the ball club," said Morgan, "and of all the guys, he's the one we should keep happy. The other teams don't make the Aarons and the Mayases unhappy. Right now, Jim is very unhappy and I don't blame him."

Meanwhile, exhibition action continued and the key men in one winter trade made the deal look good from both ends.

Immanuel Sews Up Church Title

Immanuel Baptist wrapped up first place in the Church Softball League last night, with a 56-34 victory over Black Jack. In other games, Piney Grove edged St. James, 45-41, and Presbyterian downed Oakmont, 52-38.

Immanuel is now 14-4 and finished with regular season play. Presbyterian is in second, 12-5, followed by Piney Grove, 11-6, Black Jack, 10-7, St. James, 8-10, Oakmont 3-14, and Mt. Pleasant, 2-14.

In the opener, Immanuel pushed away to a 28-12 lead in the first half. Black Jack began to find the range in the second half, but Immanuel still outscored them, 28-22, to take the win.

Clinton Gentry led Immanuel with 23, while Fred Carroll had 17 and Dick Evans had 10. For Black Jack, Ephraim Smith had 11.

It took two overtimes for the St. James-Piney Grove game to be settled. Piney Grove took a 24-20 lead in the half, but St. James came back to outscore Piney Grove, 19-14, and tie it up at 39-39 at the end of regulation play. Neither team scored in the first overtime, but in the second, Piney Grove outhit St. James, 6-2, to take the win.

Buddy Allen led Piney Grove with 16, while Lewis Hardee added 13. St. James was led by Roy Carawan with 15, while Gus Howell had 10.

In the final game, Oakmont pulled out a slim 19-18 lead in the first half of play, but they couldn't hold to it. Presbyterian came back to outhit Oakmont, 34-19 in the second half, to gain the win.

Herb Adams led Presbyterian with 19, while Robert Osswald had 10. Jack Weeden led Oakmont with 12, and Carlton Hardee had 10.

winners play Saturday at 8:30 for the title, while the losers battle in the consolation game at 7 p.m.

In the opener, Grifton edged out into an 11-8 lead in the first period, they shot away from Pantego in the second quarter, outscoring them 10-3. That left the Lady Bulldogs in charge, 21-11.

In the third period, Grifton continued to pull away, pushing through 12 points, while Pantego got 5. That ran the lead out to 33-16. Grifton again outscored Pantego, 15-9 in the final period to wrap up the win.

Marion McLawhorn led Grifton with 21 points, while Jennifer Smith added 17.

In the second game, Manteo and Williamston battled to a 7-7 tie in the first period. Manteo then pushed out by a point, outscored the Lady Waves, 5-4, for a 12-11 halftime lead.

Williamston got that point back in the third period, 8-7, and tied it up again, 19-19. Then, in the final period, Williamston pulled away, outscoring Manteo, 12-6, to gain the win. Joey Johns and Kathy Davenport both scored 10 points to lead Williamston, while Lu Ann Swain led Manteo with 14.

RALEIGH — Bethel advanced to the semifinals of the State 1-A basketball playoffs here last night with a 49-38 victory over Ruffin in a lackluster game which, as the low score indicates, was marred by numerous missed shots and errors.

Both clubs appeared to have tournament jitters and spent the big part of the night racing from one end of the court to the other after missed shots.

Despite placing only two men in double digits, the winning Indians, Pitt Conference champs presented a balanced scoring attack.

Eddie Stokes led the way with a 17-point output with Charles McCray adding 10 and Gary James and Ricky Parker with nine each.

Ruffin placed three players in double figures. Herbert Denny, 6-6 pivotman, led the Trojans with 12 points, while Harden Brown chipped in with 11 and Tommy Strader had 10.

The lead see-sawed back and fourth in the opening period with Bethel finally grabbing a 12-10 advantage just before the end of the quarter.

The Indians really went to work in the second stanza, took advantage of Ruffin miscues and began to control the backboards against the taller Trojans to take a 27-16 lead into intermission.

Ruffin, however, refused to be left for dead and staged a mild comeback in the third quarter, slicing the deficit to six, at 34-28 after three periods.

The Trojans closed to within four on two occasions in the final quarter, at 32-28 and 35-31, but fell victim to a murderous Indian fast break in the closing three minutes of play as Bethel was continuously widening the gap at the final horn.

Bethel will next meet Franklin Area Conference champ, Youngsville, a 69-33 victor over Hiddenite, in Friday's nightcap, at 9 p.m. All games are played in Broughton High's Holliday Gymnasium.

Kentucky, UCLA Gain 1st Round Wins

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Kentucky and UCLA, the country's top two ranking teams, are a step closer to a showdown battle next week for the national collegiate basketball championship.

Kentucky, ranked No. 1 in the final Associated Press poll of the season, came from behind to beat Notre Dame 109-99 in the Midwest regionals of the NCAA tourney at Columbus, Ohio, Thursday night.

UCLA, striving for its fourth straight national title and its sixth in seven years, shattered the 19-game winning streak of Long Beach State 88-65 in the West regionals at Seattle.

Jacksonville ended Iowa's 16-game winning streak 104-103, Villanova thumped Niagara 98-73, St. Bonaventure overpowered N.C. State 80-68, Drake beat Houston 92-87, New Mexico State overcame Kansas State 70-66 and Utah State shaded Santa Clara 69-68 in the other NCAA regional games.

The results set up these pairings for the national quarter-finals in the four regional finals

Saturday afternoon:
East at Columbia, S.C., 2:10 p.m., EST, St. Bonaventure, 24-1, vs. Villanova, 22-6.

Midwest at Columbus, Ohio, 4:05 p.m., EST, Kentucky, 26-1, vs. Jacksonville, 25-1.

Midwest at Lawrence, Kan., 4:10 p.m., EST, Drake, 22-6, vs. New Mexico State, 25-2.

West at Seattle, 6:05 p.m., EST, UCLA, 25-2, vs. Utah State, 22-6.

The winners of these four games move on to College Park, Md., for the semifinals and championship game Thursday and Saturday of next week, March 19-21. Thus Kentucky and UCLA each are only two victories away from meeting for the national title March 21.

The veteran Baron of the Bluegrass, 68-year-old coach Adolph Rupp, who would dearly love to win a fifth national title to match Johnny Wooden, the UCLA mentor, saw his Kentucky Wildcats rally from a 53-48 halftime deficit to beat Notre Dame.

Dan Issel led the Wildcats' rally. He tallied 44 points, 24 of them in the second half, to help offset the 52 tossed in by Austin Carr of Notre Dame.

"One of our problems was that we were not getting the ball to Issel," Rupp said. "So I told the boys 'I don't know whether you noticed it or not, but he's got on a Kentucky jersey.' Once we got the ball to Issel we got some points."

"I thought we might do it, but we simply ran out of gas," said Johnny Dee, Notre Dame coach. "Kentucky is No. 1 until someone proves differently."

Jacksonville will try to prove differently Saturday. The Dolphins, virtually unknown at the start of the season, knocked off Iowa's Big Ten champions on Pembroke Burrows' tap-in of a rebound with two seconds left. The basket erased the 103-102 lead the Hawkeyes had taken on Fred Brown's goal with 18 seconds on the clock.

Burrows, a 7-footer, filled the gap with 7-2 Artis Gilmore of Jacksonville fouled out with eight minutes to play after scoring 30 points.

"The turning point came when Gilmore fouled out," said Ralph Miller, Iowa coach. "We became careless on defense."

Henry Bibby's outside shooting that accounted for 20 points overcame Long Beach's zone defense as UCLA crushed the 49ers after Utah State nipped Santa Clara on Ed Epps' jumper with 10 seconds left followed by a game-saving steal by Nate Williams.

"I was very well pleased, particularly with our defense," said Coach Wooden of UCLA. "We kept them from the inside and attacked their zone very well. I would not have guessed that it would be this easy."

New Mexico State blew a 17-point lead, but rallied behind Jimmy Collins and Sam Lacey, to beat Kansas State. Drake staved off a Houston rally in the closing minutes to beat the Cougars in the Midwest regionals at Lawrence, Kan. Collins' 23 points paced the Aggies. Al Williams led Drake with 24.

St. Bonaventure and Villanova had little trouble in beating N.C. State and Niagara in the East regionals at Columbia. S.C. Big 6-11 Bob Lanier led the Bonnies with 24 points, 19 rebounds and numerous blocked shots. Howard Porter's 29 points led Villanova. Niagara's Calvin Murphy was held to 18 points.

The NIT, the other major postseason tourney, opens tonight in New York with Georgia Tech meeting Duquesne and St. John's, N.Y., pitted against Miami of Ohio.

In the small college tourneys, the NCAA college division title is at stake tonight at Evansville, Ind. where Philadelphia Textile and Tennessee State play for the championship.

Textile beat California, Riverside, 79-63, and Tennessee State whipped Buffalo State 101-80 in Thursday's semifinals.

The 29-game winning streak of Stephen F. Austin, the No. 1 team in the final AP small college poll, was snapped by Guilford 100-94 in the NAIA quarter-finals at Kansas City.

Eastern New Mexico beat Maryland State 76-74 in overtime, Central Washington shaded Jackson State 72-70 and Kentucky State downed Central State of Ohio 66-56 in the other NAIA quarter-finals.

NIT Opening Set For Tonight In New York

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — With Pete Maravich resting for his Sunday television appearance, Rich Yunkus takes first crack at the spotlight tonight when he leads Georgia Tech against Duquesne in the opening game of the 33rd National Invitation Basketball Tournament.

The Engineers, 16-9, will be making their first NIT showing in Madison Square Garden against the veteran Dukes, 17-6, who have been in 12 previous tourneys.

Yunkus, a 6-foot-9½ junior with a 30.5 point a game average, is one of the highly-touted players in the tournament, but he could have his hands full against Dukes y-10 twins, Barry and Garry Nelson.

On the same doubleheader, St. John's, 18-7, which has won this tournament four times and is making its 19th appearance here, will be favored against Miami of Ohio, 16-7, in a battle of defensive clubs. Miami ranks fifth in the country on defense, St. John's eighth.

Maravich, major college basketball's all-time high scorer and with a 46.5 average this season, doesn't turn on Louisiana State's high-powered offense—fourth in the country at 94.8 a game—until the first game of Sunday afternoon's doubleheader. The Tigers 20-8, face dark-horse, Georgetown, D.C., 18-7, in a nationally televised contest at 1 p.m., EST.

In the nightcap, the final game of the first round, Louisville, 18-8, with center Mike Grosso, faces Oklahoma, 18-8.

On Saturday, Manhattan, 17-7, meets North Carolina, 18-8, and Army, 19-5, takes on Cincinnati, 21-5, in an afternoon twinbill, and Duke, 17-8, squares off against Utah, 17-9, and Marquette, 22-3, opposes Massachusetts, 18-6, in the night doubleheader.

The winners Friday night meet in one quarter-final Monday night and the Saturday afternoon victors meet in the other bracket.

Saturday night's winners meet in one of Tuesday night's quarter-finals and the Sunday winners in the other in the lower bracket.

The semifinals are Thursday night and the final Saturday afternoon, March 21, at 1 p.m. EST on national television, with a third place game preceding it.

Maloy Signs With Pipers

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Gabe Rubin says he wants to salvage his Pittsburgh Pipers franchise. He may have started in the right direction when he signed Davidson's Mike Maloy.

"I'm determined that the Pipers will stay in Pittsburgh," Rubin said recently. But he also said he'd like additional financial help.

Maloy, a 6-foot-7 210-pounder, signed Thursday with the American Basketball Association club for about $150,000.

Next week the Pipers could have new owners—with Rubin holding only a small portion of the stock. A group of New York men are negotiating to purchase most of the stock, according to one source. But that same source says the group will keep the Pipers in Pittsburgh.

Maloy was the Pipers' first draft choice. Their second choice was Calvin Murphy of Niagara. And it is very possible he will sign with the club soon, now that his college playing days are over.

The Pipers have been one of the weak links in the ABA. They have a sad attendance average of about 2,000 per game.

"Yes, I know about their problems here," said Maloy, a second team All-American. "But if I'm not playing in Pittsburgh, I'll be playing somewhere. My contract takes care of that."

Maloy said he had never been contacted by an NBA team and has no second thoughts about not playing in the "established" league.

"I think the ABA is moving. It's certainly not stagnant. It's a more colorful league and it's going to be fun playing."

"Gabe is going to do everything he can—and it'll cost a lot of money—to keep the franchise here," says a source close to the team.

ABA Commissioner Jack Dolph attending the ceremonies Thursday, looked upon the Maloy signing as another step toward merger of the NBA and ABA.

"This can't do anything but help a merger," he said. "There will be more signings—probably next week."

Maloy, a political science major, scored 1,484 points in four years. He averaged 17.4 points per game this season, down from his 24.6 average as a junior.

"I didn't come up here to tear this league up in the scoring department," Maloy said. "But once in a while I might," he smiled.

Maloy said the merger talks between the two leagues had a natural effect on him—money.

"I didn't have time to wait," the 20-year-old Maloy said. "The merger talks were a big factor, but so was the money. I'm satisfied."

What will he do with his riches?

"Oh, I think I may buy an island out in the South Pacific," he joked. "I got a little more than I need but not more than I'm worth."

Guilford KOs Top Ranked Team

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Guilford, N. C., wore the giant-killer's crown today in the NAIA basketball tournament.

The Guilford Quakers knocked out the nation's top-ranked small college team, Stephen F. Austin, 100-94 in the quarter-finals Thursday night, ending a two-season 33-game winning streak for the Texans.

Guilford will play Kentucky State at 8:45 p.m. (CST) tonight in the semifinals after Eastern New Mexico tangles with Central Washington at 7 p.m.

Eastern New Mexico pulled the tourney's next biggest surprise by upsetting second-seeded Maryland State 76-74 in overtime.

Greg Hyder, 6-foot-6 Eastern New Mexico senior, suffered two painful back injuries, but came back to battle. He scored 22 points, grabbed 16 rebounds and in the overtime scored eight of his team's 11 points.

In other quarter-final games, Central Washington edged Jackson, (Miss.) State 72-70, and Kentucky State whipped Central State of Ohio 66-56.

Guilford did the job on SFA by outbounding the bigger Lumberjacks 55-30 with terrific hustle. The Quakers limited SFA to a single shot, usually, while making three tip-in baskets and eight on follow shots for themselves.

Guilford's zone defense kept the ball away from SFA's big inside men. David Smith scored 36 points. M. L. Carr 27, and Jerry Crocker 25 for the Quakers.

Maryland State's coach, Joe Robinson, said "We lost the game at the free throw line (hitting only 18 of 34). I'm not crying. We just blew it. But I still say we're the best ball club."

Central Washington had five scoring in double figures topped by Andy Harris' 17 points, mostly from the outside. Cornell Warner led Jackson with 20 and also brought down 24 rebounds.

Kentucky State and Central Ohio State raced neck and neck through the first half as the score was deadlocked 10 times, but shortly before intermission Kentucky State pulled into a 37-30 lead and was never headed.

Travis Grant fired in 27 points to lead the fourth-seeded Thorobreds. Sterling Grant's 19 and Robert Moore's 18 points paced the Ohioans.

The all-new Firebirds are here.

There are four. Why?

People have different ideas of what a sports car should be. Incorporating all of those ideas into one car is equivalent to putting an elephant's trunk, a camel's hump and stripes on a giraffe. You end up with a creature that doesn't do anything well.

So... four Firebirds.

Firebird (1). An economical sports car.

Firebird Esprit (2). A luxurious model.

Firebird Formula 400 (3). The Firebird built for drivers.

Firebird Trans Am (4). Our ultimate.

Four distinctly different Firebirds for drivers who agree on only one thing. A sports car.

Comfortable seating for four. Period.

Three have always been a crowd. Especially in the back seat of a sports car. So the new Firebirds have two bucket-type seats in back. Plus two bucket seats up front.

Four comfortable passengers, each in an individual seat.

And a more comfortable ride.

The rear seats gave us room to raise the drive tunnel between them. Which gives the suspension room to travel when you hit a bump. Which, in the Firebird and Esprit, produces a ride that many a full-size sedan would be proud of.

Formula 400 and Trans Am don't have it quite as soft. Enthusiasts like a stiffer ride. Stiffer springs and shocks provide it.

A ride is nothing without quick handling.

We didn't compromise handling a bit. We made the Wide-Track wider. Made fade-resistant front disc brakes standard. And for improved cornering, we installed stabilizer bars up front. And added rear stabilizer bars to Formula 400 and Trans Am.

Engines to match.

If you read our descriptions of the four Firebirds, the engine lineup makes supreme sense. The basic Firebird has a 250-cubic-inch six. Esprit—a 350-cubic-inch, regular-gas V-8. Formula 400 has a 400-cubic-inch V-8. And Trans Am features a 400-cubic-inch Ram Air V-8.

Endura bumpers that absorb bumps.

Pontiac's Endura material is probably the best thing to happen to bumpers since bumpers. It's a resilient, rubber-like material that looks like painted metal. It resists dings, dents and chips. And it positively won't rust.

A tough bumper. Covering the entire front end of each Firebird.

The decisive victory of functionalism over faddism.

Instrument panels, for instance. Easy to read. With easy-to-reach controls. We even designed the panels so that any light bulb can be changed in 60 seconds. By you. Without lying on the floor.

But you'll undoubtedly want to find out for yourself. Please do. At a Pontiac dealer's. Then you'll know our "beginning of tomorrow" claim is more than a boast.

New Central Telephone Office Begins Service Here Mar. 15

On Sunday, a new central office to serve telephone subscribers in the Greenville exchange will be placed in service by Carolina Telephone.

L.R. Langley, local manager for the company, said that on that date telephone subscribers with service from the 752 and 758 office on Dickinson Street will begin receiving service from the company's new Fifth Street Office.

No subscriber telephone number changes are involved, said Langley, but there will be a complete change in telephone service codes.

He emphasized that the most important service code change will be the access code to place Direct Distance Dialed long distance calls. After 2:01 a.m. on March 15, Langley said, customers just dial "1" to connect their telephone to the direct distance dialing equipment.

Other service code changes are directory assistance (information) - dial 411, repair service - dial 611. Party line subscribers with telephone numbers beginning with 752 or 758 will now follow the same procedure as subscribers in the 756 office for reaching parties on their own lines.

The service codes for telephone subscribers in Ayden,

Farmville, Fountain, and Snow Hill will also change on Sunday. The telephone company has mailed bill inserts summarizing the changes to all customers affected by the service change. Subscribers in Ayden, Farmville, Fountain, Greenville, or Snow Hill who need additional copies of the information, should contact the telephone company's business office, said Langley.

The telephone manager said that the construction program here for the building addition and new office equipment involved an expenditure of $3,481,775 by Carolina Telephone.

Langley said the growth of Greenville in recent years has brought about an increased demand for telephone service. This demand had taxed the capacity of central office equipment in the Dickinson Avenue building. This necessitated construction of an additional office on Hooker Road and the installation of a completely new office at Fifth Street.

Telephones in Greenville have increased from 8,604 to more than 19,400 in the past ten years. "The construction program here is in keeping with Carolina Telephone's continuing program to fulfill the communications needs of the communities it serves," Langley said.

Experts Gather To Talk Over Big Bird Problem

SCOTLAND NECK, N. C. (AP) — What do you do to get rid of several million — that's right, several million — unwanted birds?

There are starlings and blackbirds and grackles and crows, and the lice and odor "are unbelievable," says Mayor Ferd Harrison.

Experts from Washington and Raleigh gathered in this eastern North Carolina town today to tackle the problem.

The birds have taken over a 40-acre tract of forested land and laid a blanket of droppings several inches deep in a newly developing section near the town.

Donald Harke, Carolinas supervisor of the Interior Department's division of wildlife services, estimates the number of birds at three million. Other estimates run as high as six million.

Harke says it's difficult to find any safe way to destroy the birds. Shooting is impractical. Chemicals are out because they could kill other wildlife, vegetation or even endanger the health of human beings.

An experimental eradication method is being tried, but its effectiveness is still unknown.

This involved spraying a non-toxic wetting agent on the birds from a helicopter two weeks ago. The aim was for rain to wash out the natural oil in the birds' feathers, leaving them unable to fly and likely to freeze to death.

"A quarter-inch of rain and temperatures below 50 degrees would probably do the job," Harke said, "but an inch of rain and freezing temperatures would be better."

The right combination hasn't come along yet.

The birds will be leaving soon for their spring breeding flights, but residents fear that next year an even larger group will return.

Why did the birds pick Scotland Neck?

"We just don't know," Harke says. "Birds roost in a number of different environments."

Harke says roosts of three million to five million birds are not rare and that there is a roost of an estimated 20 million in the dismal swamp of North Carolina and Virginia.

The spraying method was used Wednesday on a flock of about a half million birds near Burlington, N. C., and a heavy rain fell Thursday. Harke said results should be seen within the next several days, if the experiment works.

Today's meeting was set up after Mayor Harrison made trips to Washington and Raleigh in a search for help.

This is the third year that the birds have roosted at Scotland Neck and the flock is larger than ever. Last year's flock was estimated at 2 to 3 million, up considerably from the first year's total.

'Hope Award' Is Given President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has been given the first Hope award for international understanding by the Project Hope Organization, which is dedicated to peace.

Nixon was present at the launching of the organization's hospital ship Hope on its first mission 10 years ago from California.

Presenting the President with a glass mariner's bowl Thursday, Dr. William B. Walsh, founder and president of the project, said:

"No president in my lifetime has ever done so much to try to bring about peace."

Corporation For Justice

RALEIGH (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan and eight of his staff members will serve as directors of a new corporation to "strengthen and enhance" the administration of justice.

Articles of incorporation were filed Thursday for the Justice Foundation of North Carolina.

Maurice Horne, an assistant attorney general who prepared the articles, said the corporation will serve as "a conduit for donations and grants made to the foundation and as dispersing agent for these funds for charitable and educational purposes."

He said the purpose of the corporation is to aid the administration of justice "through the work of the North Carolina Justice Department and the youth and law program."

If the foundation should be well endowed, Horne said, it may be able to make available law school scholarships for needy and worthy students attending any of the state's accredited law schools.

Omnibus Drug Bill Assailed By Psychiatrist

CHAPEL HILL (AP) — The omnibus drug bill pending in the U. S. House has been assailed by a University of North Carolina psychiatrist as "a blacklash item."

"Even the American Medical Association is opposed to it, and yet the best guesses are that the bill will pass," said Dr. Morris Lipton, professor and chairman of the UNC School of Medicine's department of psychiatry, said Thursday night.

Addressing a drug symposium, Lipton said: "The bill removes from the department of Health, Education and Welfare and offers to the Department of Justice and the attorney general the ultimate authority on research, classification and medical use of all drugs which have central nervous system stimulating or depressing qualities."

Bandit Took $10,000 From Wilkesboro Bank

WILKESBORO, N. C. (AP) — A shotgun-carrying thief got away with $10,000 when he held up the Wilkesboro branch of the Northwestern Bank and fled with a companion.

The Wilkes County Sheriff's Department said a tall, slender man walked into the bank alone around 3:30 p.m. Thursday. He pulled a sawed-off shotgun from under his windbreaker and ordered a teller to fill up a cloth bag he was carrying, deputies said.

The teller, Mrs. Margie Crysel, filled the bag with money from a cash drawer and the man fled on foot. He joined another man outside the bank, authorities said.

Sheriff's deputies, the State Highway Patrol and the FBI joined to search for the thieves.

Voted Against Age Reduction

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. Sam Ervin and B. Everett Jordan, North Carolina Democrats, voted against an amendment that would lower the voting age to 18.

The amendment was approved 64-17 in a roll-call vote Thursday.

Women Are Taking Larger Roles In Church Services And Agencies

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — In a downtown church in Minneapolis, women now serve as ushers, showing people to their seats and taking up the collection—a role traditionally reserved to men.

It was "time for a change," says the Rev. Francis J. Fleming, pastor of St. Olaf Roman Catholic church.

And the men seem to approve. "They enjoy it," says a parish secretary, Pat T'Kach. "Most of the ushers are attractive young working women."

Father Fleming says there was a shortage of males available for the ushering task, so the long-standing practice of using only men needed to go, along with other customs that have come to impede rather than enhance worship.

Women, in an increasing number of other congregations, now also serve as lecturers, or readers, for Scripture lessons, as education directors, choirmasters and song leaders for worship services.

On other levels, too, women are taking on greater functions and more influential positions in American church life, beyond their old-time work in special women's groups—but they're still barred from some roles.

Cynthia Wedel, the president of the National Council of Churches and the first woman to hold the post, says:

"At one time, the role of holding bazaars and church suppers fit the role of women in general, but today women are better educated and they want more significant tasks to do."

Mrs. Wedel says the continuing restrictions are "frustrating for many women who want to be considered on the basis of their ability rather than their sex, and when this frustration comes to the surface in action, it's all to the good. That's how things begin to change."

And the changes, as well as the surfacing frustrations, were in considerable evidence.

In Detroit recently, a young nun, Sister Mary Corinne Bart, succeeded a bishop as the Catholic archdiocese' chief representative of religious orders, including 4,000 monks and nuns. Says she:

"There's a movement in the church of women taking more of the decision-making roles wherever they are qualified."

The Vatican 1970 yearbook lists, for the first time, six positions filled by women. There are 66 women employed at the Vatican.

Women serve increasingly on national church boards and agencies and on local church policy-making groups, both Protestant and Catholic, including a growing number of Episcopal vestries and some Lutheran councils, which once excluded them.

However, men still dominate the parish governing units. Male delegates also far outnumber women at denominational conventions, with women excluded from some Lutheran national bodies. For the first time this year, under a constitution change, women will be eligible for seats at the Episcopal convention.

Although Methodist, American Baptist and Presbyterian bodies admit women to the ordained ministry, few are on the clergy lists, and they're barred from it in Episcopal, Lutheran, Southern Baptist, Catholic and Orthodox churches in this country.

Sanford To Assume Post On April 2

DURHAM (AP) — Former Gov. Terry Sanford will formally assume his new duties as president of Duke University April 2.

The university made the announcement Thursday and noted that a busy three-day round of activities is planned.

Sanford will begin his first day April 2 with breakfast at 7 a.m. in one of the student cafeterias. No formal breakfast program is planned, but Bob Feldman, president of the Associated Students at Duke, and other campus leaders will attend.

At 10 a.m. Sanford will call on Durham Mayor Wense Grabarek and members of the City Council.

Thirty minutes later he will attend a reception in his honor given by the Durham Chamber of Commerce and the Durham Merchants Association.

Early in the afternoon, he will be host at a coffee hour for members of the Duke Employees Council, which represents several thousand nonacademic employees.

On April 2 and 3, from 3 to 6 p.m., the new president and Mrs. Sanford will hold receptions for faculty members and administrators and their wives at the university president's home.

On April 3, Sanford will meet with the Duke trustees executive committee. On April 4, he will attend a meeting sponsored by the Duke Alumni Association.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission will announce next week substantial limits on the interstate distribution of unsolicited credit cards.

Although the commission's ruling will not involve airlines and banks, which are controlled by other government agencies, the action would ban the distribution of other cards without written consent of the consumer.

Civil penalties of $5,000 a day could be imposed on violators who fail to observe cease and desist orders, under the ruling, which will be officially announced Tuesday.

The Senate Banking and Currency Committee approved last month a bill to ban the distribution of all unsolicited credit cards.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Science and Astronautics Committee has authorized the lowest space program budget in a decade for the year beginning July 1.

However the panel's Thursday action reflected an increase of $300 million over President Nixon's budget proposal for the Apollo program and other space flight operations. The committee authorized $3.6 billion.

The authorization bill now goes to the Senate. Actual appropriations would still have to be approved by Congress.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has asked Florida and Georgia to act to end de facto racial segregation in their colleges and universities.

Letters to the two states—sent Feb. 26 and disclosed Thursday—requested plans within 60 days from Georgia and 120 days from Florida for complete desegregation of their higher education institutions.

Failure to comply with federal antidesegregation guidelines could lead to loss of $25 million a year in federal support to sev-

Geoffrey Knowles, son of Alex C. Knowles, Nassau, Bahamas, also a junior in business administration, has been elected treasurer.

SAM is open to men and women students majoring in business who have a sincere interest in the field of management and a C average.

Hippo Seen At Police Arrange Paradise Isle Student Deal

DURBAN, South Africa (AP) — Vacationers on Paradise Island, off the coast of Portuguese Mozambique, were astounded when they spotted a hippopotamus swimming in the sea. The huge beast apparently paddled eight miles from the mainland. A game ranger shot it after it had swum around the island for about three days. A game expert said the hippo was probably driven from the mainland after a feud with an older bull.

CLOVIS, N.M. (AP) — Recently, police and students in this community worked out a dance in exchange for lesser traffic tickets. The police promised high school students that if fewer traffic tickets were issued during the week from Jan. 30 to Feb. 6, the officers would sponsor a dance.

The number of tickets dropped significantly, and police handed out more than 900 free dance passes at the high school.

Approve Oil Spill Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — A joint congressional committee has approved a water pollution bill that requires private firms to pay for cleaning up their own oil spills whether caused by negligence or an honest mistake.

The House-Senate panel's action Thursday ended a five-month-old deadlock over differing versions of the bill. It now must be approved by both bodies.

The measure would require firms to pay damages of $100 per gross ton of oil or $14 million, whichever is less, in case of an accidental spill or leak for which the company is not held negligent.

However, unlimited liability was set for cleanup costs in cases where willful negligence or misconduct can be proved.

The bill was prompted by damaging oil spills such as the one last year off the coast at Santa Barbara, Calif. The bill also creates an Office of Environmental Quality to act as staff for President Nixon's new Environmental Council.

To help the government react immediately and cleanup its coastal waters after a spill, the conference established a $35-million revolving fund and authorized contingency planning services and expanded research on new clean up methods.

Guided Destiny

In confidence I boarded the plane, thinking what a beautiful day it was for a flight.

But once in the air, our plane ran into a heavy storm and we began to drop hundreds of feet at a time I looked around at the other passengers. Some of them were sick. Some sought assurance from the stewardess that everything would be all right.

An hour went by and we were constantly told to keep our seat belts tight. It was then I noticed that many passengers began to pray. People are quick to turn to God in a crisis, I thought.

Forty-five minutes later our plane landed safely. A frightening experience had become only a vivid memory. The incident became indelibly printed in my mind because, as I waited for our luggage inside the terminal, I saw a blind man holding a sign. It read: "Trust in the Lord with all your heart, and lean not unto thine own understanding."

Magnetism Is Not True Love

Would Marsha's romance last for even one year of marriage? Take the test below and see if you are merely sexually infatuated or caught up in a true love affair. Most teen-agers never distinguish between the two, which is why 50 percent of teen-age weddings end in divorce within 5 years!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M.D.

CASE K-594: Marsha M., aged 18, is desperate.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "I am madly in love with a freshman at my college.

"And he seems to be just as much in love as I am.

"So I have suggested that we elope, since I'm sure our parents would disapprove.

"But he is reluctant to get married just now, so what can I do?"

The first rule for insuring happy marriage is to pick a mate because of true love instead of mere physical magnetism.

And that requires some logical analysis, for in both sexual infatuation as well as true love, you experience many of the same emotional signs.

For example, both give you butterflies in your tummy.

In both, you feel ecstatic, breathless and exhilarated when you are with the other person.

Kisses are rapturous in both.

You may also tremble at the touch of the other person's hand and bubble over inside with delight.

"How then," you may ask, "can I be sure it is true love?"

Alas, many of you teen-agers don't even try to distinguish between these two violent emotions.

And that's why 50 percent of your teen-age weddings end in divorce before the 5th anniversary!

So make it a firm rule that you will stall and delay and NEVER rush into a quickie wedding such as Marsha contemplates.

For true love is the 24-carat, real McCoy, not the gilded imitation.

It grows fuller and more enveloping with the years.

Sexual infatuation can disappear within 5 minutes!

And I'm not joking, for you can read a classical example of it in the Bible. Just turn to II Samuel, Chapter 13.

Prince Amnon fell so deeply in love with Princess Tamar, so the Bible writer tells us, that he took to his bed, sick with his longing for her.

That's where we got the term "love sick" in our vocabulary.

By stratagems and deceit, he finally got her into his home, after which he ordered his servants out of the house.

Then, despite her protests and pleading, he assaulted her.

Verse 15 then reads as follows:

"Then Amnon hated her exceedingly, so that the hatred with which he hated her was greater than the love wherewith he had loved her; and Amnon said unto her, Arise, be gone."

When she was too ashamed to out upon the street, he had his servants put her out of the house and bolt the door against her!

Such is the illusory nature of sexual infatuation.

Many of you young couples find your romance gone the next morning after your wedding.

So be sure your concern is not for your own sensual pleasures and ego inflation, for that's sexual infatuation.

In true love, you are so concerned with the future of your sweetheart that you would refuse to jeopardize his educational career and future earning power by eloping in the teens.

True love will last, so there is no need to rush into a quickie marriage!

So send for my 200-point "Tests for Sweethearts," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents, and make your marriage permanent!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Benefit Bake Sale Saturday

A benefit bake sale will begin Saturday at 9:30 a.m. at Pitt Plaza, sponsored by the Elmhurst chapter of the Parent-Teacher Association.

The sale, which is to be conducted in the area next to Music Arts in Pitt Plaza, is to raise money for the operation of the PTA organization at Elmhurst School.

WNCT-TV Will Salute Wynn

Thurston Wynn of Greenville will be saluted on WNCT-TV, Channel Nine as "Today's Outstanding North Carolina Citizen" on Saturday.

Wynn was recently elected secretary-treasurer for the North Carolina Wholesale Association, Inc.

You've got a lot to live
Pepsi's got a lot to give

What we mean is this: living isn't always easy, but it never has to be dull. There's too much to see, to do, to enjoy. Put yourself behind a Pepsi-Cola and get started.
You've got a lot to live.
