

NEW MID-EAST CHAIRMAN... Bill Page of Washington (L) receives the gavel from outgoing chairman Carl V. Venters Jr. (R). Guest speaker, Congressman Walter B. Jones, looks on.

New Officers Elected At Mid-East Economic Development Meeting

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, N.C. — Bill Page of Washington was elected chairman of the Mid-East Economic Development Commission at their annual meeting last night at the Beaufort County law officers hut near here.

Page, a certified public accountant here, succeeds outgoing commission head, Carl V. Venters Jr. of Farmville, who has held the top commission seat for the past three years.

The new chairman was elected by acclamation along with Jack Rulon, vice chairman from Williamston, and E.V. Wilkins, secretary-treasurer from Roper. Venters will serve as immediate past chairman of the executive committee.

The session, attended by over 100 representatives from the six-county area was highlighted by brief remarks from First District Congressman Walter B. Jones of Farmville.

"No longer can a single county be satisfied with its own local pride," Jones said, "but the all encompassing spirit of inter-county cooperation must prevail" in a venture such as Mid-East.

Jones pointed out that the commission has secured funds for 22 law enforcing agencies in the six-county area and is now "looking at the total problem of law enforcement" in our counties.

Approximately $320,000 has been granted for channeling to the various agencies, he added, including help for programs at several area technical institutions.

Mid-East has taken an approach to farming, he added, and this is important since "we are an agriculture-oriented area." Contributions are also being made in the field of oceanography, the Congressman said.

"No county can go it alone," he asserted. Total cooperation is essential in order to keep "moving forward instead of backward."

"I pledge my untiring efforts to assist Mid-East and to see the projects through," Jones concluded.

The Commission's executive director, Frank M. Kivett, reported on the overall progress of Mid-East during the past year and pointed out that a year ago the law enforcement planning program had just been organized.

Since that time, he said, "the $320,000 has become available to improve law enforcement in our area through training, equipment and manpower."

The program, chaired by Harry Hagerty of Greenville, has seen the establishment of a degree level program at East Carolina University and purchase of a mobile crime lab in Beaufort, he added.

Applications for nearly $5 million in water and sewer grants have been submitted and are at varied stages of review, Kivett said, and business loans of nearly six million are pending.

During the year, it was noted, the Mid-East Regional Housing Authority was formed and a subsequent study of housing conditions in the area revealed that over 14,000 were substandard.

"But dust has not settled on this study," Kivett said, for applications have been submitted to the Department of Housing and Urban Development for 3,000 units of housing; 1,000 leased and 2,000 conventional.

"If only half of this amount is approved within the next five years," he asserted, "it will represent over $22 million in additional housing for the area."

County cooperation has enabled Mid-East to perform and there has been "an economic impact upon the area," Kivett said. Only county governments contribute the local financial support.

Kivett recognized Bruce

Beasley and Worth Chesson, members of the staff, for their part in the Commission's progress during the year.

The business session last night included the adoption of three changes in the Commission by-laws.

Nominating committee chairman, Bob Spivey of Bertie County, proposed that: 1) the terms of all offices be extended from one to two years; 2) no officer will succeed himself; and 3) the immediate past chairman will be a member of the executive committee for two years with no county coordinators serving in an office of the commission.

Last Chance To Register

Friday is the deadline for Pitt residents to register to vote in the May 2 primary.

According to I. Bruce Koonce, chairman of the Pitt County Board of Elections, persons who fail to register by 5 p.m. tomorrow will be ineligible to vote in the May election.

The elections official also emphasized that tomorrow is also the deadline for persons who have moved from one precinct to another since registering to have their voting records transferred to the precinct in which they now live.

In order to be eligible to vote, Koonce explained, a person must be registered in the precinct in which he lives.

Persons may register at the Board of Elections' office from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Friday.

The Elections Board's office is located on the third floor of the Pitt County Court House.

See No Veto Of Education Aid Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has cleared the nation's largest school aid measure after squelching a move aimed at slowing the pace of school desegregation.

Approval of the $24.6 billion bill came on a 74-4 vote Wednesday and, although it goes far beyond President Nixon's recommendations, the measure's supporters doubt Nixon will veto it.

The measure, which expands major education programs for three years, went to the House, where speedy approval was promised next week by Rep. Carl Perkins, D-Ky., its House floor manager.

Some GOP senators wondered privately about a veto because of the sharp increases in present authorizations. The President struck down an appropriations bill earlier this year because he said it contained too much money for education.

But the sponsors viewed another veto as highly unlikely, mainly because of the heavy Senate vote in favor and because the measure only authorizes—not appropriates—the money.

In recent years, presidents have annually sought only about one-third of the amounts authorized by Congress for education programs.

Southern senators lost 43 to 32 Wednesday in an effort to send the bill back to the House-Senate conference committee to restore an amendment requiring uniform school desegregation policies in the North and South.

Conferees had watered down the amendment by Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., so much that the Southern bloc opposed it.

While Stennis' original version required the government to move as strongly against segregation resulting from housing patterns in the North as against official segregation in the South, the conferees drew a distinction between the two.

They in effect called for uniform enforcement of desegregation methods established by law. There is no present law on unofficial segregation.

Programs expanded by the bill include the massive Elementary and Secondary Education Act, and impacted areas, which provides aid for schools crowded because of nearby federal installations.

The Title I ESEA money now is distributed to districts on the basis of children from families with yearly incomes of $2,000 or less. The bill would raise this income factor to $4,000 effective in 1973. The administration made no such recommendation.

The impacted areas authorization would be boosted to $1.2 billion a year.

The Cambodian government said today U.S. forces have no right to pursue North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops into Cambodia during battles.

The White House said Saturday U.S. commanders were free to pursue the enemy into Cambodia under the policy of hot pursuit.

So far as is known, no American troops have invaded Cambodia during battles, but U.S. artillery and fighter-bombers frequently have attacked enemy positions inside Cambodia.

South Vietnamese forces, however, recently attacked a Viet Cong stronghold two miles inside Cambodia under an agreement with Cambodian officers on the frontier.

"Faithful to its policy of strict neutrality," said a Cambodian government statement, "Cambodia will not in fact accept the right of pursuit carried out on its territory."

In South Vietnam, enemy attacks dropped off sharply but 18 Americans were killed and 138 wounded in more than half a dozen ground skirmishes and 65 rocket and mortar attacks overnight.

The number of enemy attacks was 50 per cent below those of the previous 24 hours, but the U.S. Command said enemy activity still was at a high level.

Battlefield communiques reported 61 Americans, 101 South Vietnamese and 552 enemy troops were killed in the past 48 hours, and 343 Americans and 264 South Vietnamese were wounded.

There was a new flareup of fighting in Laos, the fourth nation on the Indochina peninsula.

Military sources in Vientiane said Laotian air force gunships and artillery killed about 50 North Vietnamese soldiers who attacked a government outpost five miles north of the retaken American support base at Sam Thong in north-central Laos.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cigarette commercials won't be allowed on radio and television after next Jan. 1.

A bill which President Nixon signed into law Wednesday night also will require a stricter health warning printed on cigarette packages beginning Oct. 1, 1970.

The new warning will say: "Warning: The surgeon general says cigarette smoking is dangerous to your health."

The present warning, first imposed by Congress five years ago, says:

"Caution: Cigarette smoking may be hazardous to your health."

The bill bars states from imposing stricter regulations. It also prohibits the Federal Trade Commission from requiring warnings on printed advertising of cigarettes until July 1, 1971.

Silver Star To Capt. Hagerty

CHERRY POINT — The Silver Star, the nation's third highest award for combat heroism, was presented to Marine Captain Roy H. Hagerty in ceremonies held last week at the Marine Air Station here.

Captain Hagerty, son of Colonel (U.S. Army Retired) and Mrs. Harry Hagerty of Greenville, received the Silver Star Medal from Major General Marion E. Carl, Commanding General, 2nd Marine Aircraft Wing.

The citation accompanying the medal cited Captain Hagerty for "conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity in action." As a section leader of a flight of two CH-46 helicopters on the night of March 19, 1969, Captain Hagerty and his section were assigned emergency medical evacuation of several Marine casualties.

"Although there was a very dense cloud-cover over the designated location," the citation states "and it was surrounded by enemy soldiers, he skillfully approached and successfully landed his helicopter."

"Immediately after landing, the aircraft suffered extensive damage from enemy fire and was downed."

"When a second CH-46 was also rendered inoperable by enemy fire, he boldly led three Marines to it, assisted three casualties to safety and remained dangerously exposed to hostile fire as he stripped the helicopter of all usable armament and ammunition."

It was pointed out that during the following hours, Captain Hagerty "directed air strikes against surrounding positions and supervised the embarkation of the most critically wounded Marines aboard another CH-46 that was finally able to land."

Since his return from duty in Vietnam, Captain Hagerty has been stationed at New River with the Marine Aircraft Group (MAG)-26, MCAS. A native of Greenville and a graduate of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Captain Hagerty has been awarded the Air Medal on 34 occasions.

New ECU Business Manager Named; Duncan Plans Retire

Clifton G. Moore, a native of Raleigh and a veteran administrative official, has been named Business Manager of East Carolina University.

The formal action was taken by East Carolina's board of trustees at a meeting in Raleigh Thursday and was announced by President Leo W. Jenkins.

Moore, 47, has held the post of assistant business manager of ECU since this position was created in 1962. During that period the University here has experienced an era of rapid growth and expansion.

As Business Manager, Moore will supervise all business and financial affairs of ECU. He succeeds F.D. Duncan who is retiring June 30. Duncan is Vice President and Business Manager.

Moore, a graduate of the University of North Carolina - Chapel Hill in accounting, saw active duty as an officer in the U.S. Marine Corps both in World War II and in Korea and holds the rank of lieutenant colonel in the Marine Corps Reserve.

Before coming to ECU, Moore served as assistant to the Secretary of the N.C. Local Government Commission for eight years. He also served 1947-54 as senior auditor in charge of the Gasoline Tax division of the N.C. Department of Revenue.

His wife is the former Erma Ruth Fowler of Orange County. They have two children. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. C.B. Moore, live at 2215 Creston Rd., Raleigh.

Fulford Defends Community College Effort In Farmville

Dr. W.E. Fulford, Jr., President of Pitt Technical Institute, addressed the Farmville Rotary Club Tuesday night concerning the May 2 vote to make Pitt Tech a community college.

Dr. Fulford explained that a vote of the people was necessary because it is a procedure required by law. "A vote was necessary," he commented, "to create and support the existing institute, and now a vote is required to guarantee support for the addition of the college-transfer program."

Stressing the value of a community college in Pitt County, Fulford stated that by adding the first two years of college to its existing programs, Pitt Tech could better serve the entire populous. "This addition," he said, "would strengthen our technical and vocational programs by bringing in additional State and Federal resources for all students."

It would also make two years of college available to our people in a place and at a cost convenient to them.

"This vote," Fulford emphasized, "is not a vote on a tax measure. Pitt Tech has received county funds from tax and non-tax revenue at an average of 8.1c per $100 property valuation over the last three years.

This referendum, if passed, would continue to allow no limit on the amount of tax monies that could be appropriated to the institution. This vote does not ask for a tax increase."

Dr. Fulford concluded by commenting that "There has been some misleading and erroneous information circulating on this matter. Such information may have posed many questions to you."

I have attempted to answer some of these tonight, but if there are others, please feel free to call Pitt Tech and we will be happy to clarify these. Official records and documents can and will be available to any individual to substantiate answers to any of your questions."

New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and New Orleans. Negotiators, headed by acting Teamsters President Frank E. Fitzsimmons and Beagle, were faced with closing a gap between the union's reported demand for $1.70 an hour in wage hikes and the industry's offer of 90 cents over three years, plus improvements in mileage pay, pensions, health and welfare benefits, vacations and cost-of-living pay.

Billions Of Dollars In Wages At Stake

WASHINGTON (AP) — Trucking and union negotiators haggled over billions of dollars in wages today while many of the 425,000 Teamsters involved in the national labor talks continued striking in dozens of cities.

"There are indications of good progress," said a source in the negotiations that dragged through Wednesday night and into the early morning before recessing in the second day of the nation's biggest trucking strike in history.

While the bulk of Teamsters drivers remained on the job, chief industry negotiator Ray F. Beagle said the walkouts were massive.

His Trucking Employers Inc. group, representing some 12,000 firms, pledged, however, not to call a nationwide lockout in retaliation as it did three years ago. The industry pledge eased pressure on President Nixon in dealing with the nation's latest labor crisis by averting—at least for now—a total trucking shutdown.

Industry sources said the difference between Teamsters demands and industry offers for a new three-year contract totaled some $3 billion.

In Kansas City, a Teamsters

local official said he was informed an agreement had been reached to make any contract ultimately signed retroactive to the expiration date of the old pact—midnight last Tuesday. Kansas City drivers were returning to work on the basis of this agreement, the official said. However, strikes of varying magnitude were reported early today in several cities over the nation, but there were no walkouts in such major centers as

Lawyer Says End Perjury And Hypocrisy In Divorce

By JOY STILLEY
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "Our divorce law is straight out of Disneyland," declares lawyer Stanley Rosenblatt, who has become so incensed at the system based on a guilt concept that he has written a book about it.

"The way it's set up is like an old-time Western, with black hats and white hats, where one has to be guilty and the other not guilty," the Miami attorney insisted during a visit to New York in connection with his book, "The Divorce Racket."

"I say who is guilty doesn't amount to a bill of beans and I say it's an irrelevant question," he maintains. "If a marriage can be saved let's save it and if it can't be saved let's end it in a rational, mature manner."

His suggestions for a "rational, mature manner" include abolition of both grounds for divorce and of the old adversary system of fault-finding, which leads to an "unbelievable amount of hypocrisy and perjury."

which doesn't square with reality," he continues. "The vast majority of marriages fail because of faults on both sides, and it is seldom a completely black-and-white situation."

Under the present system, the 33-year-old lawyer explains, two people can't sit down and admit they recognize their marriage has been a failure and agree to go their separate ways.

"There are 50 states and 50 distinct bodies of divorce laws, but essentially two innocent people who don't get along can't get a divorce," he argues. "If both are guilty they can't get a divorce either, though that should be all the more reason for that ill-fated pathetic pair to be separated. But the law says we'll keep them together. It's a degrading, purposeless charade to have to go into a courtroom and prove to a judge that husband or wife is guilty."

Rosenblatt believes California's new legislation is an improvement. This dissolves marriages for "irreconcilable differences," and even calls it a "decree of dissolution" rather than divorce.

"The judge doesn't have to listen to the bickering and accusations," he notes. "He has to decide only whether or not the marriage has failed. If he sees no hope of keeping it together he will grant a decree without hearing who's the baddie and who's the goodie."

Although he concedes that if all states followed California's lead he would be satisfied that a substantial improvement had been made, he suggests an even more drastic change.

"In marriages of five years or less with no children, unless very unusual circumstances exist, there should be no alimony," he says. "Women in short marriages such as these can wind up getting alimony for 20 years. It's wrong and immoral."

He finds that many women agree, especially second wives who often are forced to work only because their husbands are obliged to pay alimony.

Rosenblatt himself was divorced at 28 after a two-year marriage. He claims this has no bearing on his views, since his wife, who had previously worked, voluntarily waived the alimony award.

"I have a boy, I'm paying child support, and I'm more than happy to do so," he says. "Children should be supported without question, but I'm opposed to the historical precedent that has been set up giving women who are able to work the divine right to alimony."

Rosenblatt maintains that he is in favor of marriage and of doing everything possible to insure that fewer and fewer people will seek divorce. However, he says, when both husband and wife have decided to part they should not have to play any games to get a divorce.

"I go even further," he elaborates. "When even one party has made an irrevocable decision that he or she doesn't want to stay married the other spouse should not have the power to hold on to a marriage that is no longer a marriage."

Rosenblatt wants to take the matter of marriage dissolution away from the courts and to put it into the hands of a three-member panel, who would serve without pay.

He thinks that doctors, psychologists, sociologists or teachers would be likely candidates for such panels. They would perhaps be selected with judicial approval, he says, since courts would still be needed to enforce the panel's monetary and custody decisions.

The young attorney readily admits that he is prejudiced in favor of men, but says he is justified: "Judges and the law have leaned over backward so long in favor of women it's about time someone took a pro-man stand. By and large the man unquestionably gets the shaft in the divorce court."

While he doesn't often deal with divorce cases himself, the good looking, dark-haired Rosenblatt says he has handled enough in his practice to know that "I really detest that litigation. The bickering and name calling and pettiness is pretty ugly, serves no useful purpose and is damaging to all concerned. That's what motivated me to write the book."

It is especially damaging to children, who are often forced to take sides in the courtroom, he points out. "The everlasting enmity that can be created between parent and child is probably the most tragic single byproduct of our adversary system," he says, his usually smiling face growing serious.

"American divorce law as I see it is based on the foundation stone of proving fault, and this idiotic assumption is that one party is completely guilty,

Baked Halibut Stuffed Potatoes
Vegetable Medley Melba Toast
Mincemeat Turnovers

MINCEMEAT TURNOVERS
1 cup (2 sticks) butter or margarine
1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese
2 cups unsifted flour, stir to aerate before measuring 1½ cups (about) drained pre-prepared commercial mince-meat, from a jar
Have butter and cheese at room temperature; in a medium bowl blend with a spoon; gradually blend in flour. Turn out on transparent plastic wrap and shape into a flat rectangle; wrap and chill.
Cut dough in half. Roll out one half at a time on a floured pastry cloth with a floured stockinet-covered rolling pin to a 12-inch square; cut into nine, 4-inch squares.
Put two tablespoons of the mincemeat off center on each square; fold over to make a triangle; press edges with fork tines to seal well. Prick tops in several places. Place well apart on ungreased cookie sheets. Brush tops with a little milk. Bake in a preheated 425-degree oven until golden - brown - about 25 minutes. Serve hot or reheated. Makes one and a half dozen turnovers.

Miss Everett Entertained

Miss Sherby Everett, bride-elect of April, was entertained at a luncheon Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Lindsay Wilkerson, Brook Valley.

The honoree and her mother, Mrs. Grover W. Everett, and the guests were served iced appetizers in the den.

The honoree was presented a rose camellia corsage. An engraved silver napkin ring, a gift of the hostess, encircled the flower stem, and a matching napkin ring was placed on the table at the honoree's place.

The tables were decorated with spring arrangements of white camellias, daffodils and pearl bush.

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren
(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I am a cook at a country club. A week ago I got the flu and had to stay home for several days. The boss called me up and asked me for my onion ring recipe. I told him it was my own special recipe, and the other cook could make up HIS recipe like I made up mine. The boss then asked, "Is it your intention to take the onion ring recipe to your grave with you?" [You can imagine how that kind of question hit me, being sick with the flu and all.]

Well, I never did give him my recipe. Do you think I was wrong or not?
COOK

DEAR COOK: A professional cook is under no obligation to give his recipes away. The other cook could have found a recipe for onion rings in any number of cook books, even tho he may have had to look with tears in his eyes.

DEAR ABBY: For the past eight months my friends and relatives have been playing "DEAR ABBY"—and now I would like the real DEAR ABBY to stand up with HER advice.

My widowed sister remarried [a widower] and in lieu of a gift we gave her a cocktail-dinner party. I asked her to limit the number of guests, as we could accommodate only 30 comfortably.

Everyone accepted. The night of the party we held up dinner half an hour waiting for a couple who never did show up. Neither did they call to apologize or explain later. I have had nothing to do with them since. Everyone tells me to forget it, and act as tho nothing happened.

I say, "Who needs friends like that?" I even found out they had no intentions of coming when they accepted. I could have invited someone else. What do you think my attitude should be?
HOW 'BOUT THAT?

DEAR HOW: First I would want to be positively certain they received my invitation. If they did, and plumb "forgot" [which is possible] I wouldn't hold it against them a lifetime. It's hard to believe that anyone would accept an invitation—plan NOT to come, and be so rude as to not show up or apologize later for their absence. Something is cockeyed here. If I were you, I'd ask THEM.

DEAR ABBY: Please save us from insanity! We recently put one of those "answering devices" on our telephone which records the "messages" left by callers when we are not at home. It would be marvelous if only the callers would LEAVE A MESSAGE so we could call them back.

Abby, it is SOOOOO frustrating to come home and get the "message" that the phone rang at such and such a time, but the party hung up as soon as the recording went on. Please ask people to take another 20 seconds and leave their names so we will know who called and we can call them back!
GOING CRAZY

DEAR GOING: Okay. Here's the plea. And lotsa luck.

DEAR ABBY: re your letter from "LIKES PETS" who wanted to know if a dog would mistake a green carpet for grass, and use it accordingly: Dogs go by "smell" and "feel"—not by color. Next thing you know, someone will be asking whether or not to buy tables with brown legs, since they look like trees!
"LIKES PETS, TOO, OUTSIDE"

Miss Pearlie Payton Is Bride

FARMVILLE — Miss Pearlie Payton became the bride of the Rev. Shady Clark Jr. in a ceremony at Warren Chapel Free Will Baptist Church Saturday at 5:00 p. m.

The Rev. Robert Walton of Charlotte officiated at the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Payton of Farmville. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Sarah F. Clark of Greenville and the late Rev. Shady Clark Sr.

A program of wedding music was presented by Roger Engram, organist, and Everlena Clark, sister of the bridegroom, and John Clark, brother of the bridegroom, soloists.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal A-line gown of peau de soie and Alencon lace with an empire waist and elbow length sleeves. The bodice was accented with sequins and pearls. The dress had a chapel length train. Her three-tiered bouffant veil was attached to a crown of sequins and seed pearls. She carried a melody cascade of carnations, daisies and pom poms centered with an orchid.

Mrs. Betty Carr of Greenville was matron of honor. She wore a formal gown of green crepe fashioned with an empire waist encircled with green rosebuds and long semi-bell sleeves of chiffon. Her headpiece was a matching double bow and she carried a bouquet of white daisies, pom poms and carnations with matching green streamers.

Bridesmaids were Carolyn Edge of Tarrytown, N.Y., Margie Holmes and Joyce Ellis, both of Brooklyn, N.Y., Rajalene Norris and Paulette Dixon, both of Washington, D. C., and Barbara Boone of Greenville.

The bridesmaids wore yellow gowns styled identical to that of the honor attendant and carried similar bouquets.

Robin Carmon of Winterville was flower girl. She wore a formal gown of white crepe with an empire waist encircled with white lace and short sleeves. She carried yellow and green flower petals.

Richard Best of Greenville was ring bearer.

Edward E. Lewis of Flanders, N. J., served as best man. Ushers were John B. Clark of Greenville, brother of the bridegroom, Melvin Payton of New Haven, Conn., brother of the bride, Wade Johnson of Greenville, Leonard King of Brooklyn, N.Y., brother-in-law of the bridegroom; Samuel Reid of Raleigh, and John Lloyd of Charlotte.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Payton chose a blue crepe dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a pink lace-over-taffeta dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The bride's grandmothers wore identical pink voile dresses with matching accessories.

After a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside in Greenville.

The bride is a graduate of North Carolina College at Durham and is currently employed as a teacher at W. H. Robinson Union School, Winterville. The bridegroom is a graduate of Johnson C. Smith University in Charlotte. He has done graduate work at Ohio State University and is currently a guidance counselor.

Mrs. Carrie Best directed the wedding.

Reception Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at Mt. Herman Masonic Lodge.

Mrs. Inez D. Ellison and Miss Betty Rasbury received guests. Hostesses were Mrs. Martha Jones, Mrs. Clotea Garrett, Mrs. Edward Lewis and Mrs. Barbara Carter.

The bridal table was centered with an arrangement of mums, carnations, pom poms and daisy poms.

Bridesmaids Luncheon A bridesmaids luncheon was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Luke Best Saturday at 12 noon.

After-Rehearsal Party An after-rehearsal party was held Friday night for the Clark-Payton wedding party, and out-of-town guests at the home of the bride.

Continued cooking, stirring occasionally, to 270 degrees on a candy thermometer or until a small amount of the mixture dropped into very cold water separates into threads that are hard but not brittle. Remove from heat.

Drop a tablespoon of the candy over one end of each lollipop stick to form two-inch disks. Cool completely. Wrap in transparent plastic foil.

Makes one and a half dozen. Butterscotch Pennies: Prepare mixture as directed for Easy Butterscotch Lollipops. Drop by teaspoonfuls, omitting the lollipop sticks. Makes about four dozen 1 1/4-inch candies.

Note: Lollipop sticks may be obtained from mail-order houses that specialize in equipment for candy and baked products. Or they may be made from 1/8-inch thick wooden doweling cut into 6-inch lengths.

4 tablespoons (1/2 stick) butter 1 small onion, cut into thin strips

1 package (4 ounces) sliced Canadian bacon, cut in small squares

2 egg yolks (from large eggs) 2 tablespoons freshly grated Parmesan cheese

1 package (8 ounces) wide egg noodles

In an eight-inch skillet over low heat melt two tablespoons of the butter. Add onion and bacon. Cook; stirring often, until onion is golden but not brown; keep warm. In the top of a double boiler stir together the yolks and Parmesan cheese. Cut the remaining two tablespoons butter into small pieces and add. Stir constantly over hot (not boiling) water until combined and thickened.

Meanwhile, cook noodles according to package directions and drain. Return noodles to cooking pot; add cheese sauce; toss well. Add onion-bacon mixture and toss again. Serve at once. Makes four servings.

Bridesmaids were Carolyn Edge of Tarrytown, N.Y., Margie Holmes and Joyce Ellis, both of Brooklyn, N.Y., Rajalene Norris and Paulette Dixon, both of Washington, D. C., and Barbara Boone of Greenville.

The bridesmaids wore yellow gowns styled identical to that of the honor attendant and carried similar bouquets.

Robin Carmon of Winterville was flower girl. She wore a formal gown of white crepe with an empire waist encircled with white lace and short sleeves. She carried yellow and green flower petals.

Richard Best of Greenville was ring bearer.

Edward E. Lewis of Flanders, N. J., served as best man. Ushers were John B. Clark of Greenville, brother of the bridegroom, Melvin Payton of New Haven, Conn., brother of the bride, Wade Johnson of Greenville, Leonard King of Brooklyn, N.Y., brother-in-law of the bridegroom; Samuel Reid of Raleigh, and John Lloyd of Charlotte.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Payton chose a blue crepe dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a pink lace-over-taffeta dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The bride's grandmothers wore identical pink voile dresses with matching accessories.

After a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside in Greenville.

The bride is a graduate of North Carolina College at Durham and is currently employed as a teacher at W. H. Robinson Union School, Winterville. The bridegroom is a graduate of Johnson C. Smith University in Charlotte. He has done graduate work at Ohio State University and is currently a guidance counselor.

Mrs. Carrie Best directed the wedding.

Reception Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at Mt. Herman Masonic Lodge.

Mrs. Inez D. Ellison and Miss Betty Rasbury received guests. Hostesses were Mrs. Martha Jones, Mrs. Clotea Garrett, Mrs. Edward Lewis and Mrs. Barbara Carter.

The bridal table was centered with an arrangement of mums, carnations, pom poms and daisy poms.

Bridesmaids Luncheon A bridesmaids luncheon was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Luke Best Saturday at 12 noon.

After-Rehearsal Party An after-rehearsal party was held Friday night for the Clark-Payton wedding party, and out-of-town guests at the home of the bride.

Glowing Annual Report Made

The report on Greenville Industries, Inc. status, given by President S. Eugene West at the organization's annual meeting, is positively glowing this year.

West reported that capital stock in the industry seeking corporation now totals $193,775 with 481 stockholders owning 7,824 shares.

Greenville Industries was reorganized in 1951 and by 1959, $62,000 in capital stock shares had been sold. The 278.6 Dail farm was purchased for $200,000. With income from the sale of land and farming rental this indebtedness has been retired.

Already Empire Brushes and Vermont-American are operating in the area, Fieldcrest is building a plant and Becton-Dickinson has purchased property on which to build a major plant.

Greenville Industries also put together a 500-acre tract for Burroughs-Wellcome and raised funds which brought this industry here. As a result the Burroughs-Wellcome plant is nearing completion and the pharmaceutical manufacturing concern will be one of the outstanding industries in the state.

With the Dail farm nearing completion as an industrial development, Greenville industries purchased the Nelson Hopkins farm east of the Dail site and plans are being made for developing this. It also owns the Elks farm at Simpson.

West reported that more than 750 acres have been sold for industrial sites and eight industries have resulted.

Some $21 million in property tax value will be added in the county and the payroll of the workers will be more than $20 million.

There were some dark times in the early days of industrial development for Greenville Industries. It was years before the first industrial prospect decided to locate on Greenville Industries property. Now, however, the years of dedicated work by local citizens who gave their time to Greenville Industries is paying off. Not only has industry come but the corporation is said to be $95,000 in the black.

The perseverance of the men who organized and those who financially supported Greenville Industries is paying off in better jobs for our citizens. This corporation is a great asset to Greenville and Pitt County.

The Tie That Binds Unifour

(Today's column was written for the N. C. Association of Afternoon Dailies by Paul Fogleman of the Hickory Daily Record.)

By PAUL FOGLEMAN
HICKORY — The people of the Unifour Complex have long appreciated the hymnal urging of "blest be the ties that bind."

And with a Spring Furniture Market already in the making, the Unifour citizens are giving special thanks for the booming furniture industry which is so closely tied with the economy of the four-county area.

Furniture is among several of the ties that bind the Unifour Complex of Burke, Caldwell, Alexander and Catawba Counties. Nature had a hand in the concept by providing the Catawba River which provides the region with bountiful water and timber resources and some of the state's finest recreation facilities. Another tie is the hosiery and textile industry which has put the state and region toward the top in national out put of men's, women's and children hosiery products.

But it is largely to the furniture industry that the Unifour Complex has hitched its wagon to the future. For during the past six decades, furniture has become to the region what King Cotton was to the ante-bellum South.

The monarch is served by scores upon scores of manufacturing plants, young and old, large and small. Among them are corporate giants who have more recently come into the industry through mergers and diversification efforts.

Within the past two and a half years, such big names as Armstrong Cork, Burlington Industries, Magnavox, Mead Paper Corp. U. S. Industries, U. S. Plywood Champion Paper Corp. and Welbilt have become part of the industrial family of the Unifour Complex, through the route of furniture acquisitions.

Developments have been accompanied by mixed reactions. The pell-mell growth of outside ownership brought fears that valuable leadership would be taken from the community and that corporate civic interests would lie elsewhere. But so far, such fears seem to have been exaggerated and large corporations have been bringing more executive leadership to the region.

Also, the corporations have turned to locally-trained executives for key positions. The Lane Company named a Hickory name president of Hickory Chair Co., which was acquired in the fall of 1967.

The Lane Company is an example of a furniture industry that has kept pace with conglomerates by acquiring other companies in addition to the Hickory Chair, Hickory Tavern and Bruington. Another case in point is the Broyhill Industries who have set up a plastics manufacturing operation from the ground up, developed an accessories line, and more recently an announced plans to enter the home construction industry after acquiring Taylor Lumber Co. of Lenoir.

Old names die hard. Consolidated Furniture Industries, owned by Magnavox, until recently referred to his plants by their original names — Blowing Rocky, Kent-Coffey Spainhour, The Armstrong Cork operations are still known in local circles as the Western Carolina Furniture Co. plant of Hickory or the Caldwell Furniture Co. operation of Lenoir.

There will always be the name "Drexel" associated with fine furniture. But Drexel, Heritage, and Morgant are now part of the giant U. S. Plywood-Champion Paper complex. Stanley Furniture Co., which has its beginning in the Unifour area with the purchase of Fashion Furniture, is now owned by Mead Paper Corp. with plants in Hickory and Lincolnton.

Bassett Furniture Industries now owns Prestige Upholstered Division at Newton, National Service Industries in Atlanta owns DeVille Furniture Co., Hall Mark Furniture, Inc., Colony Frame Co., DeVille Trucking Co., Piedmont Linen Service, and Conover Glove Co., all in the Hickory area. United States Industries owns Hammyrig. Co.'s plants at Lenoir and Granite Falls, and Model Chair's plants in Caldwell and Wilkes counties.

Although acquisitions have come at a fast and furious pace, the independents are still going strong. In addition to the success of the Broyhill Industries, such firms as Century Furniture Co., North Hickory Furniture Co., Sherrill Upholstering Co., Bernhardt Furniture Co., Fairfield Chair Co., Hibriten Chair Co., Kincaid Furniture Co., Comfort Chair Co., and many others have prospered and undertaken major expansion programs on their own.

Unthinkable If High Court Did Otherwise

It would have been unthinkable if the Supreme Court had done anything but support the right of trial judges to maintain order in their courtrooms.

The court has upheld the right of judges to remove disorderly, disruptive and disrespectful defendants from the courtroom.

The justices ruled that a judge can order an unruly defendant bound and gagged, or cite him for contempt, or order him removed from the courtroom until he promises to conduct himself properly.

The decision was unanimous. There have been several trials recently where defendants and spectators sought to create a chaos by their actions. Judges who dealt sternly with such activities have come in for some criticism. But if the concept of fair trial is to survive, then judges are going to have to be able to maintain order, even with stern measures if necessary.

It is proper that the Supreme Court supported trial judges in this matter.

Guerrilla War In Our Society

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Events within one 24-hour span last week, largely unnoticed in the national press, reflect a rising tide of organized and spontaneous violence which law enforcement officials can no longer contain.

In Ft. Wayne, Ind., more than 100 Negroes in a rollerskating rink began throwing rocks at passing cars. They were calmed by police only after injuring four motorists. In Plaquemines, La., some 100 black demonstrators attacked police and were controlled only with tear gas. In Tampa, Fla., a few Negroes unsuccessfully attempted to ambush a police car in an orange grove.

That rate of violence for a single day, not unusual, fairly demonstrates the rising crescendo of disorder. The rumble at the Ft. Wayne skating rink showed no evidence of advance planning but rather fell into the category of increasingly frequent racial riots (20 recorded in 17 states so far this year).

But the Plaquemines and Tampa disturbances were anything but spontaneous. They were part of the carefully planned, small-scale guerrilla activity that has become a nightmarish reality. Although they often do not make front page headlines (as they did in those two instances), these guerrilla capers are becoming a daily fare nationwide.

Thus, the high Nixon administration officials who publicly congratulate themselves on having curbed civic disorder in America are deluding themselves. It has merely gone underground. The combination of the bombing campaign by the Weathermen faction of SDS and black guerrilla operations in the ghetto, so far unconnected, adds up to a much more difficult law enforcement problem than the full-scale ghetto riot last experienced at Easter, 1968.

The truth is that left-wing terrorists, particularly the Weathermen, have managed to go underground with remarkable ease. Their size, whereabouts, and immediate intentions are shielded. With Stokely Carmichael back home urging black militants to go underground, their activities too may soon be more difficult to trace than the relatively open terrorist tactics of the Black Panthers.

There is reason to believe that this growing terrorism has an increasingly serious hard core of intention. Thus, several young radicals who joined the recent expedition to Cuba to help harvest Fidel Castro's sugar crop were interested in more than agricultural pursuit. They were secretly given guerrilla training by veterans of the

Strength For Today

THE PAINT PEELS OFF — When the Turks captured Constantinople, they took over the cathedral of St. Sofia. They painted out the Christian pictures, and for years the pictures stayed painted out. But now the paint is beginning to come off. In the dome of the ceiling one can see a great deal of the original painting of the ascension of Christ.

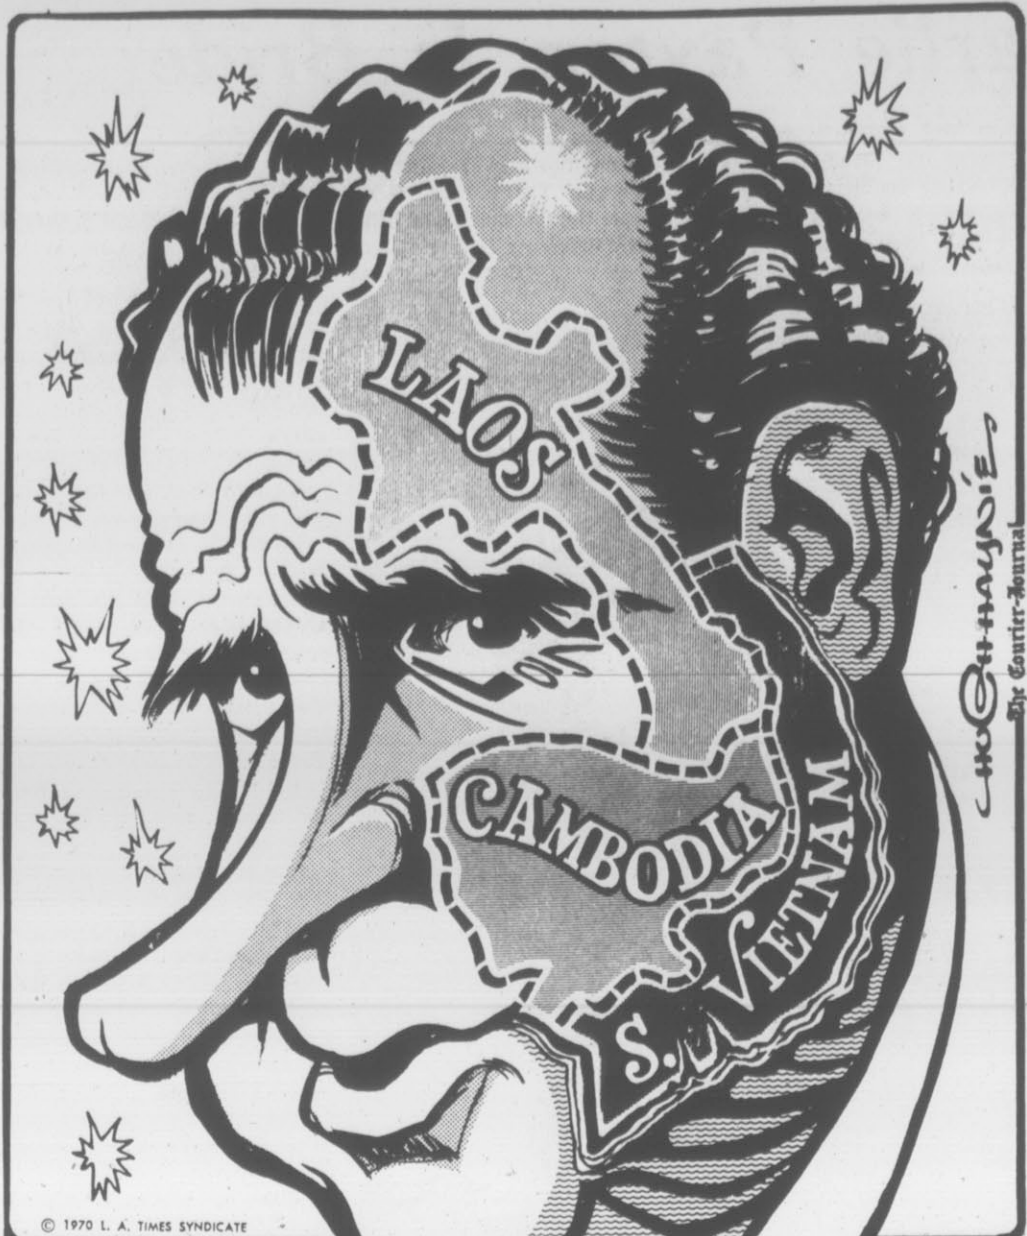

When the revolutionists took over in France a hundred and fifty years ago, they banished religion. But it would not stay banished. Many people are wondering today how long the atheistic leaders of Russia can hold out against the true piety of the masses.

Our secular civilization has painted out considerable of our Christian idealism. Fifty years ago most thoughtful people believed that science and religion were fundamentally in conflict with each other. Thoughtful people today do not believe this. The possibility that religion may be right is beginning to shine through many scientific findings. Also, we are tiring of the materialism, the lewdness, and the general despairs of secularism.

If you have tried to paint out in your own life the promptings of conscience, the teachings of a good Christian home, the inspiration of Christian ideals, the chances are that the paint will begin to peel after a while and the things you wanted to hide will again make their appearance.

Black, Burger Dissent

By one of those unfortunate traffic jams in the news, which are at once the bane and the delight of every newspaperman, the Supreme Court's opinions of March 23 came down in the midst of a postal strike, a major presidential message, and a sudden shift of positions on the Carswell nomination. As a consequence, two thunderous dissenting opinions by Black and Burger got regrettably muffled. Such a broadside is nothing new for Hugo Black. The venerable Alabamian, though it must pain him to have it said, is following in his twilight years the same splendid course pursued by his late colleague and adversary, Felix Frankfurter. He is getting more conservative all the time. It was to be expected that in the case in hand, Black would roar off like the battleship New Jersey.

But it was marvelously comforting to hear Chief Justice Burger let go on his own. This was Burger's first major pronouncement of constitutional philosophy. And it was a beauty.

The case (actually there were two cases, one from New York, the other from California) had to do with the power of local welfare agencies to suspend or terminate payments to recipients held to be ineligible. For example, a woman may be getting aid solely by reason of having a dependent child; the child grows up, gets a full-time job, and ceases to be dependent. In such a case, New York gives the recipient seven days' notice of termination, with an opportunity for departmental review before actual suspension of payments to her.

A five-man majority of the court, in a glum opinion by Justice Brennan, held that such a procedure is brutal, cruel, unfair, unconscionable, and therefore unconstitutional. The majority ruled that the welfare mother has a right to a full evidentiary hearing prior to termination, with a due process panoply of oral argument, cross-examination of witnesses, and the assistance of counsel if desired. Meanwhile, and indefinitely, payments must continue.

It was too much for Black. He cited the Tenth Amendment — think of it, the Tenth! — in charging his brothers with usurpation of power. He could not find one word, phrase or sentence in the Constitution to justify their

Other Editors Say Welcome Signs

(Christian Science Monitor)

"To judge by the results to date, the Nixon administration appears to have been almost uncannily successful in its strategy for slowing the American economy, as a prelude and prerequisite for slowing inflation, without producing the trauma of recession and of dramatically higher unemployment." So writes the English-speaking world's most prestigious economics magazine, the Economist of London.

The last several days have brought small, tentative, but nonetheless welcome support to the Economist's judgment. There is the cut in the prime interest rate from 8.5 percent to 8 percent by a handful of leading banks. Now has come word that during March the wholesale price index rose but one-tenth of 1 percent.

This would indicate a definite slowing down in the inflationary pressure.

Although one of the moves behind dropping the prime interest rate seems to have been to help halt the drop in the stock market, it is also being taken as a hint that the bankers believe that the corner on inflation has been turned. In addition, many believe that now is the time to stifle the spreading belief that a recession is likely. The economic uplift from the rate change could help do this.

But for all this somewhat better outlook, and for all the Economist's optimistic judgment, the antiinflation fight is far from won. Housewives know that prices on grocery shelves continue to go up. Businessmen know that the wage demands of labor are still, when judged by former times, astronomical. Working men and women know that it is as hard as ever to make ends meet.

Now is the time for all national forces to be willing to make their own personal sacrifices for their own and the common long-range good. A number of severe national problems would be eased by the victory over inflation (there would, for example, have been less likelihood of crippling national strikes). With the enemy on the run, now is the time to strike decisive blows.

Emphasis For 'Private Sector'

By ELMER ROESSNER
Government spending on foreign aid will likely decline if a new proposal is adopted. U. S. industry's share of aid business would drop. Banks, brokers and underwriters, in contrast, would benefit.

A panel headed by Rudolph A. Peterson, former head of Bank of America, has recommended to President

ELMER ROESSNER

Nixon major shifts in U. S. aid efforts. They include dismantling the Agency for International Development and establishment of three new organizations to join the recently authorized Overseas Private Investment Corporation.

The new agencies would be an international development bank, funded at $2 billion and empowered to borrow another $2 billion in the public markets; an international development institute funded at $1 billion; and an international development council, costing practically nothing, to coordinate all phases of U. S. aid policy.

In addition, American contributions to multinational development agencies, it is proposed, would be doubled to $1 billion a year.

Lower Level
Initial cost of the proposal would be approximately $4 billion followed by $1 billion a year thereafter. The $4 billion authorization would be appropriated over a period of several years. This compares with the $2 to $2.5 billion now being asked for the same purposes year after year. In the long run, a tremendous saving would result from the new plan.

The development bank might ask Congress for additional funds at a later date. But the lawmakers would have the easy out of authorizing it to borrow more instead. The World Bank has a little over $2 billion paid in. With this base it has $4 billion borrowed worldwide, tripling the funds available.

On the same basis, the U. S. development bank could borrow $4 billion. In addition, it has been proposed that the bank receive A.I.D. loan repayments which will be soon running at the $300 million a year level. This could be parlayed up to $900 million annually.

Competitive Edge
One drawback of the proposal is that with more U. S. assistance being channeled through multinational organizations, American industry would get a smaller share of economic development business. Foreign suppliers are often subsidized by their governments and can usually underbid U. S. suppliers.

You're Still Young—

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — No matter how old you are, you're still young if—

Your life insurance agent remembers to send you a card on your birthday.

Most of the girls in the office where you work call you by your first name, and at least three of them mail you a valentine anonymously every February 14.

You feel you could still learn to ski if you really wanted to.

Sometimes in the last five years you have tried to write a poem or a song lyric. At least once a month your wife flatters you by closing her eyes when you kiss her goodbye in the morning.

You are no heavier now than you were 10 years ago, and you still wear the same size shoes and shirts.

In good light on a clear day you can look up a number in the telephone directory without having to light a match or reach for a pair of bifocals.

It doesn't drive you altogether out of your mind if a fellow worker hums as he walks by your desk on a Monday morning.

For every bad habit you've given up, you have two left that you still enjoy.

Your doctor hasn't yet decided what disease you'll probably die of.

Every once in a while you surprise your oldest son by bending his knuckles to the table in a game of Indian hand wrestling.

At least once a month you prefer going out to play poker with the boys than staying home and playing bridge with your wife's friends.

You walk toward rather than away from a strange blonde at a cocktail party.

When somebody tells you how well you look, you take it as a compliment and don't start brooding about what he really meant.

You know at least one dance step that your father didn't and in a pinch you can name at least two songs popularized by the Beatles.

Sometimes you can go through a whole day without wishing that you could take your shoes off and rest your feet.

Now and then you hear a joke and you haven't heard before.

When eating in a Chinese restaurant, you aren't afraid to try a dish other than chicken chow mein, chop suey, or egg foo young.

You get more exercise going bowling or playing tennis or golf than you do by going to the funerals of friends.

At least three guys in your firm fret in fear that you may get their jobs.

You'd rather acquire new memories than recall old ones.

You're still concerned—you give a great big damn—about what's happening in this pesky world.

Helped To Prepare Botanical Garden

Mack Haddock of Route 5, Greenville is one of six University of North Carolina students who are largely responsible for readying the North Carolina botanical garden in Chapel Hill for spring and summer visitors.

Mack, like the other five boys, is assigned to the garden under UNC's work-study program. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Ray Haddock, he is a chemistry major.

Under the supervision of Prof. C. Ritchie Bell, director of the garden, and horticulturist, Bill Brown, the students have planted trees and shrubs, labeled wildflowers, mulched azaleas, and performed many other tasks to further develop the increasingly popular garden. The 329-acre area is being developed for a conservation research and teaching as well as enjoyment. It contains some of the most varied habitats to be found in this part of the state. The grounds now include a green house, trails, plant beds, tanks for research on aquatic plants, and an eight-acre research lake.

Kilpatrick . . .

In brief, said Black, "the Court today makes a drastic and dangerous departure from a Constitution written to control and limit the government and the judges, and moves toward a constitution designed to be no more and no less than what the judges of a particular social and economic philosophy declare on the one hand, to be fair or on the other hand to be 'shocking and unconscionable.'"

Chief Justice Burger was right behind him. He joined in Black's dissent, and fired a few rounds of his own against this "unwise and precipitous constitutional holding." Listen to our new Chief Justice:

"The Court's action today seems another manifestation of the now familiar constitutional syndrome: once some presumed flaw is observed, the Court then eagerly accepts the invitation to find a constitutionally 'rooted' remedy. If no provision is explicit on the point, it is then seen as 'implicit' or commanded by the vague and nebulous concept of 'fairness.'"

In the matter of suspending welfare payments, Burger noted, the Department of Welfare already had propounded regulations to take effect in July. He was baffled at his colleagues' impatience. "We ought to hold the heavy hand of constitutional adjudication," he said, "and allow evolutionary processes at various administrative levels to experiment."

Burger was here sounding the old anthems of strict construction. He was giving fresh voice — and dear Lord, how it is needed! — to the spirit of judicial self-restraint. He was making, so far as the law is concerned, the sweetest music this side of heaven.

Evans-Novak

Cuban revolution. Nor can some of these youthful radicals be dismissed as fanatics with wild dreams of revolution. The bombs that exploded in New York and killed their Weathermen makers were intended for a specific target — troubled Columbia University.

The death of black militant Ralph Featherstone in his car at Bel Air, Md., points up the developing nature of guerrilla operations. Although black militants and others — including some white liberals who steadfastly refuse to accept contrary evidence — still claim that Featherstone probably was assassinated by white racists, the physical evidence shows that Featherstone was carrying the bomb and that it was almost certainly intended to disrupt the scheduled trial in Bel Air of H. Rap Brown.

The apparent plan was to plant the bomb in an empty Bel Air building and blame it on white racists. This was no brainstorm of Featherstone's. White radicals with access to the establishment were fully aware of the scheme.

The backdrop to the rise in bombings is the depressingly steady rise in violence on high school and college campuses, much of it still spontaneous but more and more carefully planned. Since September, 1969, there have been 400 reported disorders in the nation's high schools (compared with only 300 in the entire 1968-69 school year). Since Jan. 1 alone, more than 30 cases of arson or attempted arson have been found on college campuses with total damage exceeding $500,000.

Thus it seems a fair conclusion that the far left is not much exaggerating when it boasts that a revolution of sorts has already started.

Roanoke River Cleanup Costs Are Estimated

WILLIAMSTON, N. C. (AP)—Col. Paul Denison of the Wilmington office of the Army Engineers says it would cost $30 million to $35 million to clean up the Roanoke River to permit barge traffic as far inland as Weldon.

Denison gave these preliminary estimates Wednesday at a meeting of the tricounty Roanoke River Improvement Committee from Bertie, Washington and Martin counties. About 200 persons attended.

The figures include the cost of constructing three or four locks with a depth of 12 feet. The river is now navigable only to the Williamston area, 55 to 60 miles southeast of Weldon.

Baptist Church, will conduct revival services at St. John Baptist Church, Falkland, Monday through Friday.

Services will begin each night at 7:30. Mission Circle will meet Saturday at 6:30 p. m. and Sunday School will begin Sunday at 10 a. m.

By DON McLEOD Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP)— Air traffic remained crippled today as union and government officials disagreed whether air controllers were returning in significant numbers to their control towers and radar scopes.

A heavy spring snowstorm in the Midwest added to air travel woes caused by the sick leave campaign of the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization—PATCO.

F. Lee Bailey, PATCO's executive director, was called in court today to explain why he should not be cited for contempt of court concerning the walkout that started March 25. A Wednesday hearing was postponed.

PATCO members remained off the job in large numbers and the union said Wednesday its men would not return until negotiations were arranged to include a third party.

An unsigned statement issued by PATCO said, "It has become apparent in the last 24 hours that the membership of this organization is not returning to work." Bailey said Tuesday they should work unless actually ill.

However, the Federal Aviation Administration issued a statement Wednesday night saying a poll of its regional offices said 378 controllers previously reported sick intended to return to work.

The PATCO statement indicated hopes for a quick settlement were slim since the government has said it will not negotiate until the men return.

PATCO claimed absenteeism Wednesday equaled that of Tuesday despite Bailey's back-to-work statement. The FAA had claimed a slight increase in the number working but not a noticeable difference.

The FAA said of the 1,739 controllers scheduled to work Wednesday's day shift 456 called in sick, down from 510 the previous day.

Night shift figures also showed improvement but absenteeism remained high, particularly in such major centers as New York where only 76 of a scheduled 153 showed up, Chicago where 65 out of 113 reported and Kansas City where 23 of 63 were on the job.

By late Wednesday evening, six inches of snow was on the ground at Chicago's O'Hare airport. United, American and TWA airlines canceled all Chicago flights during the evening hours. Braniff called off all Chicago operations until morning.

Before the snow stopped operations the absence of air controllers was causing flight delays up to two hours at Chicago. In the New York area two-hour delays were reported at Newark Airport, up to an hour and 34 minutes on west bound flights from Kennedy International and an hour and a half at La Guardia. Airline industry sources suggested further flight curtailments may be in the offing. TWA and American already are down 30 per cent, and United has canceled 16 per cent of its flights nationwide.

The FAA also said military activity was "drastically curtailed." Military aircraft, though flying mostly from their own fields, rely, as do the commercial airliners, on guidance from the FAA's 21 regional control centers to guide high altitude flights between terminals.

The Justice Department is trying for injunctions against the controllers in 16 cities. Temporary restraining orders were granted in Brooklyn and Chicago

Wednesday but a U.S. District court in Pittsburgh balked, the judge saying no proof of irreparable damage was presented.

Hawaii's Senate Opposes

HONOLULU (AP)—The Hawaii Senate has adopted a resolution asking Hawaii's congressional delegation to oppose the confirmation of Judge G. Harold Carswell to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The resolution, approved Wednesday by an 18-6 margin, also urged the delegation to persuade other congressmen to oppose the confirmation.

Corporate Farms In N.C. See Increase

By NOEL YANCEY
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — The number of corporate farms in North Carolina increased significantly over the last 20 years, and a North Carolina State University expert says he expects the increase to continue.

But, said D. G. Harwood Jr., "In North Carolina, I do not expect to see many large, publicly held corporate farms" which are numerous in California, Florida, Texas and Montana. There is one such farm in North Carolina, Georgia Timberlands, which covers 80,000 acres in Hyde County. Harwood said the corporate farms in North Carolina "will be primarily family operated and owned corporations. We won't see a great big jump, but we are going to see a gradual increase in the number."

In 1950 there were only 54 incorporate farms in the state. By 1960, this had increased to 159 and in 1968 to 233, a gain of 31 per cent in eight years.

That 233 farms amounted on only 1 per cent of the state's 157,000 farms, but it was estimated that they accounted for about 10 per cent of the state's farm income.

Harwood sees two big reasons for landowners to incorporate their farms.

One of these, he says, is that it would permit a number of small farmers to join together and pool their resources and attain the size for efficient operations.

"I think the biggest reason farms will incorporate in the future will be the ease of divisibility."

"Many older farm operators are looking for a way to retire, provide for the continuation of the farm business and transfer the assets of the business to their children without subdivision and with a minimum of estate and gift taxes, Harwood said.

Harwood repudiated some of the reasons ordinarily given for incorporating a farm.

One is to make a larger and more efficient, farm. But Harwood said, "Most commercial size farms already are at optimum size as far as operating efficiency goes, so that they are not going to gain much efficiency by becoming still larger."

It's also said that incorporating a farm makes raising of capital easier.

But Harwood said, "It's just about as easy to get financing for a well-run, noncorporate farm as for a corporate farm" since "most lenders now ask for personal signatures of the shareholders as security."

It's been said that there are tax advantages in the corporate organization, but Harwood says this "is no big deal."

"The only tax advantage for corporate farms is that certain relatively small items of personal expense are tax deductible where they are not for a noncorporate farm," he said.

CONFUSED

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (UPI)—Most people find it hard to agree on what constitutes the color "white."

Customers specified as "white" 169 different color formulations when ordering high density polyethylene and polypropylene plastics at Phillips Petroleum Company.

Small, Rare Fish, And Man's Litter, From Depths

MIAMI (AP) — A rare six-inch fish which had lived in a nearly lifeless world of total darkness more than five miles down in the Atlantic Ocean's deepest area was half the catch an ocean research ship recently brought to the surface while performing experimental trawling.

The other half was man's pollution. The fish, one of only a few known specimens in the world, lived more than 26,000 feet down in the Puerto Rico trench, where the immense, crushing water pressure is nearly six tons per square inch.

The University of Miami research ship John Elliott Pillsbury recently returned to Miami with the preserved Bassogigas.

Only three or four specimens of Bassogigas are known in biological collections," said UM biologist Dr. Gilbert Voss, chief scientist on the expedition, "and our specimen is in the best condition of any that have been collected, as well as having been taken from the deepest water."

The Pillsbury expedition, designed to obtain more data on deep-sea biology, was supported by the National Geographic Society and the National Science Foundation.

The Pillsbury trawls down to five miles also recovered a mass of mankind's discarded rubbish. Dr. Voss said paint cans, fruit juice cans, beer-can tops, empty bottles and even flashlight batteries were found.

The floor of the Puerto Rico trench is composed of sticky blue clay, UM scientists reported after the Pillsbury expedition.

The temperature at the trench's deepest part—28,700 feet—is only about three degrees above zero Fahrenheit. The water doesn't freeze because of the immense pressure at such depths.

Review Bids On Road Projects

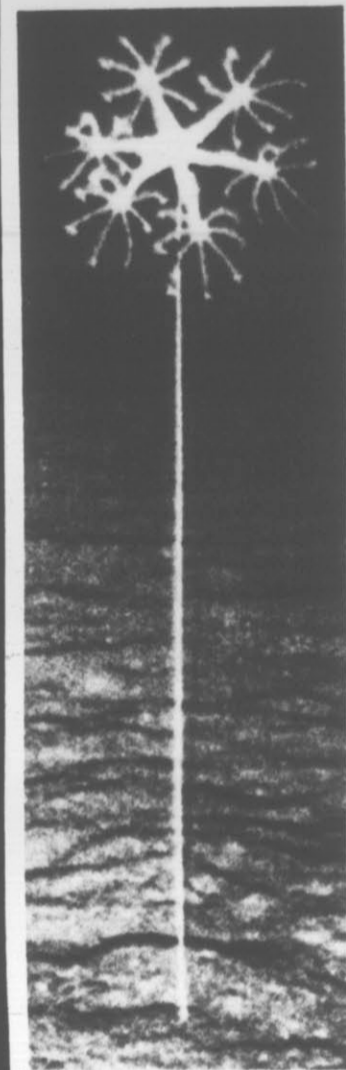

LENOIR, N. C. (AP) — The North Carolina Highway Commission reviewed low bids today totaling $18,985,759 on 30 road improvement projects. They involve 420 miles of construction in 37 counties.

The meeting in Lenoir was the first of three sessions away from Raleigh the commission will hold this year. The commission is required by law to meet away from the capital city three times each year.

Members were guests of the Lenoir Chamber of Commerce at a dinner Wednesday night.

The commission's next meeting away from Raleigh is set for May 7 in Charlotte. No site has been announced for the other out-of-town meeting.

The first public school in the Colonies was the William Penn Charter School founded in Philadelphia in 1689.

A RARE SIGHT — The "umbrella", a primitive, flowerlike marine animal, is seen for the first time in its natural home — the ocean floor. The Navy's Oceanographic Office released this photograph taken by a remote-controlled camera by chance while exploring in the Atlantic some 350 miles west of Africa at a depth of 15,900 feet. It is supported by a stemp estimated to be about three feet long. (U. S. Navy Photo via AP Wirephoto)

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets steady to weak Wednesday, supplies fully adequate, demand slow to fair. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A large whites: 45½ to 47; medium, whites: 41 to 42; small, whites 32 to 33.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market edged slightly higher in moderate trading early today.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at 11 a.m. was up 1.32 at 793.36.

Advances outnumbered declines by almost 150 among issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts attribute part of the relative strength of the market to the prediction Wednesday by Herbert Stein, a member of the Council of Economic Advisers, that the rate of inflation would be significantly reduced this year.

Fear 6 Killed In Charge Two With Crash Of Plane Thefts At Cemetery

RALEIGH (AP) — A private twin-engine airplane crashed in a heavily wooded area early today while attempting to land at the Raleigh-Durham airport. Hours later, searchers had pulled five bodies from the wreckage.

A spokesman for Roberts Associates of Durham, a construction firm which owned the plane, said the victims included Mrs. Bobby Roberts, wife of the company's president.

The spokesman said the five were the only persons on the plane. Searchers had believed six persons were aboard.

The company spokesman said the victims, in addition to Mrs. Roberts, included three employees of the company—Mrs. Edna Mangum, 27, of Durham; Jack W. Miller of Durham; and Curtis Jones of Durham.

He said the fifth victim was the plane's pilot, Howard Johnson of Raleigh.

The plane disappeared from the airport's radar screen as it approached for a landing shortly after midnight.

S. B. Blackley, commander of the Raleigh-Durham area of the Civil Air Patrol, said an on-foot search of the area by about 25 persons began about 2 a.m.

The search crew, working in a heavy rain, did not find the plane until 7 a.m. today. It was upside down in a heavily wooded area about a mile from the end of the runway, with both of its wings sheared off.

Authorities are withholding the names of the victims pending notification of next of kin.

A spokesman for the Federal Aviation Agency said the plane was coming in from Huntsville, Ala. He said the FAA does not have any information yet on the cause of the crash.

The spokesman said a second private plane was making a landing behind the Roberts Co. plane around midnight and noticed no sign of distress from the other aircraft.

Looking For A Fast Buck, Says Scott

GREENSBORO (AP) — The Carolina Cape Fear Corp., accused by Gov. Bob Scott of trying to make a "fast dollar" on the sale of Bald Head Island, holds a news conference today to announce plans for development of the property.

Gov. Scott told a news conference in Raleigh Wednesday, "The state doesn't need any go-betweens" to obtain the uninhabited, 12,000-acre semitropical island near Southport.

A spokesman for the corporation said there would be no comment on the governor's remarks before the news conference at a motel near Greensboro.

Frank Sherrill, a Charlotte businessman who owns Bald Head said last month he had given an option to a group to purchase the island, but he declined to identify the group.

The Carolina Cape Fear Corp., formed last Aug. 25 and headquartered at High Point, is headed by W. R. Henderson, an advertising company executive, and E. E. Mendenhall, a real estate man.

Scott charged that the corporation is "simply looking at turning a pretty fast dollar" by selling the island to the state.

He said the corporation expects to "pick up a half million dollars." The profit, he said, would come from the difference between the price it pays Sherrill and the amount the corporation would contend it invested in the island.

Pitt deputies arrested a Greenville woman Tuesday for desecration of a cemetery following investigation of a report of flowers being removed from Pinewood Cemetery on the Grimesland Highway.

Mrs. Bertha Hawkins of 206 E. Twelfth Street was arrested at her home after deputies received a report of the theft and were given the license number of her car.

Deputies also arrested Leslie J. Phillips of Greenville Wednesday for larceny of flowers following investigation of the incident. Phillips was at the Hawkins home Tuesday when deputies arrested Mrs. Hawkins.

Sheriff Ralph Tyson said that two azalea potted plants, valued at $20, were removed from the cemetery. One of the plants was taken from the Roy Tripp Sr. gravesite and the other from the adjoining David P. Tripp site.

Roy Tripp Jr. signed the warrants for both Mrs. Hawkins and Phillips, Tyson said. Both have posted bond and are scheduled to appear in District Court on April 13.

Most N.C. Truck Drivers On The Job

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Truck drivers in most of North Carolina remained at the wheel today despite a spreading national work stoppage by Teamsters.

However, six major trucking lines in Charlotte reported workers were refusing to cross picket lines set up Wednesday. "No contract, no work," the placards carried by picketing Teamsters read.

The companies are Akers Motor Lines, Hennis Freight Lines, Johnson Motor Lines System, Ryder Truck Lines, Bell Lines and Carolina Freight. Spokesman for the companies said their men did not walk off the job.

But they said drivers and terminal workers remained away from work after finishing their shift or assigned trip Wednesday, thus diminishing the work force at the end of each successive shift and leaving most Teamsters off the job.

Rose High PTA Meets Tonight

The Rose High School PTA will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in the high school cafeteria.

Glenn Cox, acting principal, will explain to parents how they can help their children prepare for course selection next year.

W. C. Barbee, president of the Teamsters Local 71 of Charlotte, said the pickets had gone up without orders from him.

Career Seminar Slated Friday

Several local persons will participate in a career opportunities seminar to be held at East Carolina University Friday by the North Carolina Chapter of American Women in Radio and Television, Inc.

Dr. Robert Holt, University vice president will welcome the group at 9 a.m. Heber Adams of WNCN here will be on a panel to discuss "programming, production, on-the-air talent, and engineering and Carl Venters of WFAG radio in Farmville, who is president of the North Carolina Association of Broadcasters, will moderate a panel on freelance broadcasting.

Kindergarten Sites Named

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Board of Education today approved eight cities as sites for model kindergarten programs during the next school year.

The model programs will be opened at the following schools: C. G. White Elementary school in Powellsville, Bertie County; Brogden primary school in Dudley, Wayne County; Aurelian Springs elementary school in Aurelian Springs, Halifax County; Chadbourne primary school in Chadbourne, Columbus County.

Henry Grove primary school in Lilesville, Anson County; Mountain View elementary school in Hays, Wilkes County; Forest City elementary school in Forest City, Rutherford County.

Centers also will be opened in Winston-Salem and Asheville as part of their Model Cities projects.

The board was told that all the state's 81 administrative units had applied for model kindergartens to be established.

The new centers will function in addition to several established during the current school year.

The model programs are the first step in eventually establishing public kindergartens for all children.

'First Day' For Sanford

DURHAM (AP) — Former Gov. Terry Sanford ate breakfast with student leaders today as he began a round of activities marking his first day as president of Duke University.

Sanford sat at a table with four student leaders in the Blue and White room of the Student Union and ate grits, a poached egg and sausage.

About 150 other students were breakfasting there at the time.

Sanford entered the hall with Bob Feldman, outgoing president of student government, and Hutch Traver, the president-elect. He sat with them and with Rick Carro, vice president-elect, and Jim Leach, outgoing vice president.

After the meal, Sanford went table hopping, shaking every hand in the room.

At one point, Sanford told Traver: "I thought I'd make you a proposition this morning. If you don't expect the university to be perfect, I won't expect you to be perfect."

Traver replied: "That's okay. But let's keep the avenues of communication open."

Said Sanford: "We will. I intend to eat breakfast in here regularly at about this time. You can come to my office any time."

Buc Thinclads Run To Win Over Colgate; Davenport Sets Mark

East Carolina University's track team rolled to an 81-64 victory over Colgate University here yesterday. It was the only home meet for the Bucs this year.

The win evened the dual meet record of the Pirates off at 1-1. East Carolina captured first place in 10 of the events, while Colgate won in seven. The Bucs also had greater depth than Colgate and piled up points in this manner.

Walter Davenport of East Carolina was the only doubled winner of the meet. He took first place in the long jump with a leap of 23 feet, 7 1/2 inches, and then won the triple jump in 45 feet, 5 3/4 inches.

The long jump mark is a new school and track record. The Bucs are scheduled to take part in the State - Record Relays in Columbia, S.C., this weekend.

Stars Taking Aim On Caps

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
"How far behind Washington are we?" shouted Bill Sharman. "Don't you think we'd better catch Dallas first?" replied a fan.

The Los Angeles Stars, with Coach Sharman throwing a "mini-team" at New York, had just ripped the visiting Nets 113-101 Wednesday night for their 14th American Basketball Association victory in 17 games.

It was the night's only ABA game. In National Basketball Association action, the Milwaukee Bucks turned back the Philadelphia 76ers 118-111 to take a commanding 3-1 lead in their best-of-seven Eastern Division semifinal series.

In tonight's ABA contests, Indiana is at Kentucky, Pittsburgh visits Miami and New Orleans hosts Washington. In the NBA playoffs, Baltimore is at New York and Los Angeles is at Phoenix. The Stars return to action at home Sunday against Dallas.

"The extra hustle won it for us," Sharman said after the fourth-place Stars — seemingly out of playoff contention barely five weeks ago — moved a full game ahead of last-place New Orleans and within 1 1/2 of Dallas.

Incidentally, they're three behind Washington and five off front-running Denver's pace in the close Western Division race.

Los Angeles has six regular-season games to play.

"We needed movement," Sharman said, explaining why he used his team of short men in this game of giants, "We were just standing around. "We have to run to play our best — so I got a quicker team in there, one that ran and pressed. It stirred up everything."

When the mini-team — guards Bob Warren, Mack Calvin and Andy Anderson and forwards Willie Wise and George Stone, the tallest at 6-foot-7 — took over midway in the second period, New York led 45-31. When the period ended the Nets led 56-52. It remained close until the final minutes. Stone led all scorers with 31 points. Anderson chipped in with 21 while New York's Ed Johnson scored 22 and Bill Melchionni added 21.

Woxman Is Club Director

Carl Woxman has been named as a member of the Board of Directors of the ECU Pirate Club for Greenville, it was announced today. Woxman was originally named to the board, but his name was left off the list announced by the Club earlier. The Pirate Club will begin its membership drive on Monday throughout the area.

Cavanaugh walked, loading them up again but the Bucs came back to get the next two, out without further damage.

Singles put men on base in the seventh and eighth, but posed no real attempt to score.

East Carolina meanwhile was having trouble even getting a threat going off Booth. Dennis Vick singled in the third, but died at first as Booth struck out the side. Stan Sneed walked in the fourth, only to be cut down in a double play.

Finally, in the seventh, the Bucs got their change. Dowd opened up with a single through the middle. Sneed then doubled to left center moving Dowd to third. Taylor lined a drive which struck the left field foul pole and rebounded back onto the playing field for a double, scoring both Dowd and

The Seahawks, meanwhile, took advantage of the mistakes by the Bucs and six hits of their own to keep threatening most of the game. Wilmington put a man on in the first by a single, but he was thrown out trying to steal. East Carolina went through the same procedure in its half of the first, as Dick Corrada walked, and was then cut down stealing.

In the second, the Seahawks threatened again. Dave Sandlin reached on an error and with two outs, Bruce Cavanaugh and Paul Livingston both walked, loading the bases. But the last man, Booth, flied out to end the inning.

Then came the fatal third. The first two men went down in order, but Sam Askef lofted a single to left field. Sandlin then hit a routine grounder back to third, but the throw to first got by Skip Taylor, leaving both men safe. Gene Russ then hit a chopper into the dirt in front of the plate, but it bounded high, and by the time the ball hit the ground, and could be played, Askef had scored, and Sandlin and Russ were at first and second.

Mike Wheeler drew a walk to load the bases, and Bruce Cavanaugh banged a drive off the center field fence, scoring all three runners. As he pulled into third, the relay got by Lyn Dowd, and Cavanaugh raced home to score the fifth and final run for the Seahawks.

They continued to threaten, however, for most of the rest of the way. Jerry Martin reached in the fourth on an error, and the bases were loaded in the fifth. Russ reached on a fielder's choice, and Mike Wheeler was safe when his grounder was played to second, and another error lost Russ to the Bucs.

Sneed. Fred Benevento kept the inning going with a bunt single, but the next three men went down in order, ending the final Buc hopes. Only one more man reached base in the game, and no one got as far as second.

Nelson hurled a fine game for Wilmington, giving up six hits, striking out 12 and walking just two.

The Bucs didn't get that bad a job from their three hurlers, but the errors cost them. Starter Don Oxidine, who was tagged with the loss, allowed four hits, striking out one and walking three. Tim Bayliss, who came on in the fourth, struck one out and walked two in three hitless innings. And Doug Whitley, who went the last three innings, allowed two hits and struck out one.

The Bucs, now 4-2, travel to

Charleston, S.C., on Saturday to play the Bulldogs of The Citadel in the first two Southern Conference games for the year.

Rose Sets Benefit

Rose High School will play host to Williamston Saturday at 2 p.m. in a special benefit baseball game at Guy Smith Stadium.

The Rampants, who won the Northeastern Conference championship last year, went to the state semi-finals before bowing, while Williamston won the Class 2-A state crown.

Admission to the game will be by donation, with all proceeds going to aid the Rose High baseball program.

The Rampants were rained out of their attempt to get in a game with Robersonville yesterday after one and a half scoreless innings. The two teams have a return meeting scheduled for Friday at 3 p.m. in Robersonville for a doubleheader.

Opening Hurler Is Kept Secret

By TOM SEPPY
Associated Press Sports Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has become as secretive about its starting pitcher at the Presidential opener Monday as the managers of the Washington Senators and the Detroit Tigers.

It was assumed that President Nixon, affectionately described as baseball's No. 1 fan, would continue the time-honored tradition of tossing out the ceremonial first ball to launch the new season—a tradition that dates to 1910.

Nixon performed the task to open baseball's 100th anniversary celebration in 1969 after a 10-year layoff. In 1959, he substituted for President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

But more important matters of state face Nixon Monday, namely, the nomination of G. Harrold Carswell to be a justice on the Supreme Court.

The Senate votes on the nomination Monday and Nixon indicated to Washington Post Sports Writer Bill Gildea he wanted to be at the White House to keep more closely in touch than he could at RFK Stadium. The White House merely said Nixon had a scheduling conflict.

Just before Nixon received his season passes Tuesday from baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn, the White House press office announced Nixon's prior commitment and said he would be replaced by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, who also is a sports fan but whose affections run in the direction of the Baltimore Orioles and Colts.

Gerald L. Warren, deputy press secretary, said on Wednesday, however, tradition was violated in announcing who will throw out the first ball on behalf of the White House.

"Most managers do not disclose their starting pitchers this far in advance," Warren told newsmen who had other thoughts on why Agnew would not represent the president.

Agnew, as Vice President, serves as President of the Senate and votes only to break ties.

An official close to the Senators said he was putting his money on David Eisenhower.

Milwaukee Set Mets, Cincy Get Choice In National For Opening Day

By BOB GREENE
Associated Press Sports Writer
MILWAUKEE (AP)—A "moral obligation to a friend" was paid Wednesday when Joe Cronin welcomed Milwaukee into the American League.

In a telegram to the Milwaukee Brewers Inc., Cronin, league president, said, "On behalf of the American League, I want to convey my sincere congratulations to your organization on its return to baseball."

Preparation began immediately for opening day, less than one week away.

Yet, the baseball team Wednesday night still officially was the Seattle Pilots.

Bankruptcy Referee Sidney C. Volinn was to hold a meeting in his Seattle courtroom at 1 p.m. (EST) today to sign the final papers transferring the Seattle franchise to Milwaukee. Lawyers Wednesday deliberated for 2½ hours over the exact wording of the order approving sale of the American League team to the Brewers for $10.8 million.

The president of the Brewers, Allan H. (Bud) Selig, said he felt Cronin's telegram officially sealed the move of the team to Milwaukee.

If so, it paid off a debt that baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn said the sport owed Milwaukee.

"Is there an obligation from baseball to Milwaukee?" Kuhn asked at a dinner in January sponsored by the Milwaukee chapter of the Baseball Writers Association.

"Legally, no," he said. "But there is a moral obligation to a friend."

Kuhn, at that time, said among the factors in Milwaukee's favor to obtain a baseball team were "a major league tradition, continuing fan interest, a devoted group of people working in the interest of Milwaukee baseball and a stadium."

The Pilots' move brings baseball back to this city on a full-time basis for the first time since the Braves absconded to Atlanta after the 1965 season.

The Milwaukee Brewers Baseball Club, Inc., was organized in July of 1965 for the purpose of returning major league baseball to the city. The group applied unsuccessfully for American and National League franchises in August, 1965.

On July 24, 1967, the Brewers sponsored an exhibition game between the Chicago White Sox and the Minnesota Twins which attracted a crowd of 51,144 to County Stadium, the largest attendance at any baseball attraction here.

The White Sox played nine regular season games here in 1968 and 11 championship games in 1969.

Following the 1968 season, the Brewers applied for a National League expansion franchise and was again turned down.

There has been some controversy over exactly when the Pilots cease to exist and the Brewers become a reality.

Wallace Aiken, attorney for Pacific Northwest Sports, Inc., the Pilots' owner, said the papers had to be signed first. However, the Brewers' representative, Atty. Elwin Zarwell, said Volinn's decision made the sale final.

The team's move also necessitated at least two schedule changes. An April 15th game with the Kansas City Royals has been made part of a two-night doubleheader on July 3. And a April 17th game against the Chicago White Sox will be played on April 18th as half of a twin-bill.

Another change, according to Selig, will be to have the Brewers play all day games during the month of April.

The team returns to baseball one of the American Association's best-known names—the Brewers. It originally derives from the fact that Milwaukee is known as the beer brewing capitol of America.

Wisconsin, naturally, leads the country in beer consumption with every man, woman and child downing 27.2 gallons a year, according to statistics.

Season tickets for Brewers games went on sale at Milwaukee County Stadium this morning. Single-game tickets for the first two games of the season—April 7 and 8—will go on sale at the stadium Friday morning.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)— Maybe the amazing Mets will fall flat on their faces. Maybe Gil Hodges will lose his magic. Maybe Tom Seaver and Jerry Koosman won't win at least 40 games. Maybe, but don't bet on it.

After eating chalk with the St. Louis Cardinals last spring, this observer has caught the Met religion. The amazing did the convincing last September and October and there appears to be no reason to abandon ship despite a so-so record in spring training.

The Mets have bolstered the one weak spot in their infield with Joe Foy at third base. West before they make the World Series again.

The best in the West could be any one of five teams. We exclude only San Diego from the race. Despite a pitching problem that still exists, that raw power in the Cincinnati Reds' order suggests they will outslug Atlanta, Houston, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Here's the way it looks from here in the two divisions:

East—1. New York; 2. Chicago; 3. St. Louis; 4. Pittsburgh; 5. Philadelphia; 6. Montreal. West—1. Cincinnati; 2. Atlanta; 3. Houston; 4. San Francisco; 5. Los Angeles; 6. San Diego.

The Pirates have been getting a big play from the sports writers in Florida who have been awed by that steady batting order and the fine early form of Bob Veale, Bob Moose and Dock Ellis. If things work out by Bill Mazeroski and Gene Alley can stand up for a full season, they might do the big job.

But it is hard to overlook the Cubs, who did have a 9½-game lead on Aug. 13 and appeared ready to sell Series tickets. Losing that lead had to leave scars on the Cubs.

However, the big reason why we put them second is a shortage of starting pitchers behind Fergy Jenkins, Bill Hands and Ken Holtzman. The Cubs have a strong but thin line of regulars. Injuries to Ron Santo, Ernie Banks, Don Kessinger, Glenn Beckert or Billy Williams could be disastrous. For a starter they are in trouble with Randy Hundley on the injured list.

Getting back to the Mets for a moment, there is reason to believe that Nolan Ryan may be ready to step up right behind Seaver, Koosman and Gary Dent to make a formidable staff.

Seaver and Koosman, of course, are the keys. If Tommiz

Agee doesn't hit 26 homers and Cleon Jones doesn't hit .340, the addition of the speedy Foy and long ball Clendenon could take up the slack.

St. Louis is in a muddled situation because of the illness of Mike Shannon. Red Schoendienst has been trying Joe Torre, Phil Gagliano and Richie Allen at third base.

Ted Simmons, the rookie who is expected to be the No. 1 catcher still is in the Army. The bullpen is in trouble without Joe Hoerner.

Allen's big bat is going to be a big help and the pitching trio of Bob Gibson, Steve Carlton and Nelson Briles is rough.

The Phillies are rebuilding the kids, installing Larry Bowa at short and Denny Doyle at second in the middle of the infield. They are short one outfielder.

Tim McCarver just bounce back strong if they are to get good catching. Much depends on comebacks by Chris Short and Jim Bunning in the pitching department.

Montreal is in over its head again but could do better than last year's sad 52-110 record.

In the West, the booming bats of the Reds will have to make up for pitching shortages although they hope ex-Angel Jim McGlothlin and rookie Wayne Simpson will come to the aid of Gary Nolan, Jim Merritt and Jim Maloney.

Sparky Anderson is gambling on rookie shortstop Dave Concepcion but has Woody Woodward to fall back on in case of trouble.

The loss of Ron Reed was a body blow to the Braves, taking away an 18-game winner for an indefinite period. That puts an extra heavy load on Phil Niekro, George Stone, Pat Jarvis and ex-Oakland Athletic Jim Nash.

The Braves are a solid club and could repeat with another big year from Hank Aaron.

Many regard the Astros as the sleeper in the field. That pitching staff, led by Larry Dierker, Don Wilson, Tom Griffin and Denny Lemaster set a strikeout record last year.

Remember, they clobbered the Mets 10-2 in the season series. The addition of Joe Pepitone has to help.

The Giants' Japanese junket may turn out to have been an expensive break in spring training routine. However, Juan Marchal and Gaylord Perry on the mound and Willie McCovey, Willie Mays and Bobby Bonds at the plate are going to keep them in the thick of it.

They have finished second five years in a row.

The Dodgers are another club that could blow up a storm if kids like Bill Buckner and possibly Steve Garvey come through. Much depends on Willie Davis in center and the ability of Maury Wills to play steadily.

San Diego should move up a few lengths but it is difficult to see them getting out of the cellar.

Mets Take Another Baseball Championship

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
No champagne flowed and the fans didn't tear up the stadium, but the New York Mets won another championship Wednesday night.

They held on for a 3-2 exhibition baseball victory over the St. Louis Cardinals and captured the City Series of St. Petersburg, Fla., where both teams train, three games to one with one tie.

Losing pitcher Bob Gibson botched up a rundown to set up an unearned run in the first inning and the Mets added two more runs in the third on a pair of singles, a walk and an error by right fielder Leron Lee.

Triumphs by the Mets are rather commonplace these days. Not so with the Milwaukee Brewers, late of Seattle.

The transplanted Seattle Pilots, whose sale to Milwaukee interests has been approved and lacks only the judge's signature, made their first outing under the Milwaukee banner a winning one, routing the Cleveland Indians 9-4.

Outfielder Danny Walton was the big gun with a three-run homer in the first inning and three singles good for two more RBIs.

Detroit's veteran Al Kaline celebrated the news that the Tigers' ace hurler, suspended Denny McLain, could return to the baseball wars July 1 with a grand slam in the ninth inning that lifted the Bengals to a 6-4 win over the Boston Red Sox.

Elsewhere, though, rookies held the spotlight.

Right-hander Jerry Janeski

won a spot in the Chicago White Sox' starting rotation behind Tommy John and Joe Horlen by stopping the Pittsburgh Pirates on six hits and one run in seven innings in a 5-1 triumph.

Janeski was acquired from Boston as a replacement for Billy Farmer, who was involved in a Sox-Sox trade but came up with a dead arm.

Sam Parrilla, an outfielder trying to jump from the Class A Carolina League, cracked a homer in the sixth inning and triggered a two-run rally in the eighth with a two-out single as the Philadelphia Phillies nipped Minnesota 4-3.

Amos Otis, who had a brief trial with the Mets last year, belted a two-run homer as the Kansas City Royals edged the New York Yankees 4-3. Rookie sluggers John Ellis and Thurman Munson accounted for the Yankee runs with homers.

In other action, the Houston Astros clubbed Baltimore's Tom Phoebus for four runs in the second inning and beat the Orioles 4-2. A grand slam by Tony Perez highlighted a nine-run explosion in the sixth inning as the Cincinnati Reds battered Washington 14-9.

Consecutive home runs by Len Gabrielson and Tom Haller snapped a 2-2 tie and the Los Angeles Dodgers went on to beat the Chicago Cubs 8-3. Ken Henderson scored from first base on Dick Dietz' single and an error by center fielder Jay Johnstone to give the San Francisco Giants a 4-3 10-inning victory over California. Nate Colbert's three-run homer was the big blow in San Diego's 7-1 defeat of Oakland.

Bucks Win To Take 3-1 Lead

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP)— The Milwaukee Bucks may place Greg Smith's left foot in their trophy bin. He helped win a mighty important basketball game.

Here's the picture. The Bucks and Philadelphia 76ers were tied at 109 Wednesday night with less than three minutes remaining in the fourth game of a National Basketball Association's Eastern semifinal playoff series.

Philadelphia had the ball out of bounds in the Bucks' end of the court. Archie Clark passed inbound to Billy Cunningham, who already had scored 50 points. Cunningham, however, stepped on Smith's foot, turned an ankle and as he twisted around, allowed the ball to bounce off his right hand.

Smith gained a step when Cunningham hesitated momentarily to gain his balance. As the ball rolled toward the Philadelphia basket, Smith gave it a helpful swat with his hand. He finally picked it up and layed it through the hoop to send the Bucks ahead.

It mattered not that Jim Washington tied the score again at 111 with 2:09 left. The 76ers had lost their momentum. Jon McGlocklin converted a free throw with 1:33 to go and the Bucks were ahead to stay.

The Bucks now lead 3-1 in the best of seven series. And can close it out if they win the fifth game scheduled for Madison, Wis., on Friday night.

While the Bucks and 76ers head west, action resumes tonight elsewhere in NBA playoff land. Baltimore and New York, tied at two games each, meet at New York, while Los Angeles and Phoenix, deadlocked at one game each, continue their series at Phoenix.

Bucks' coach Larry Costello pinpointed the situation when he noted that Milwaukee played only a fair game Wednesday night and was lucky to win.

"We beat Philadelphia when Cunningham was at his best and (Lew) Alcindor was not rebounding," he said.

The 7-foot-1 Alcindor managed only seven rebounds while Cunningham scored 50 points, the most he's ever scored in pro ball.

Alcindor scored 33 points, 26 in the first half. Smith totaled 25 and McGlocklin 21 for the Bucks. Cunningham, twisting, jumping and driving, was 22-39 from the field and 6-8 at the foul line. Darrall Imhoff and Luke Jackson, along with Cunningham, helped the 76ers out-rebound the Bucks 53-45. Milwaukee, however, shot 54 per cent from the field to 46.5 for the 76ers as each team made 47 field goals.

Tomorrow's Supercities Will Intensify Problems

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — If man has not learned how to solve urban problems as they exist today what is he going to do tomorrow when most of the nation's population growth is expected to occur in just 50 metropolitan areas?

A look into the future shows supercities, in terms of size but not necessarily of quality, appearing all over the map of America. Urbanologists foresee supercities also unless miracles of planning and management are evolved in the meantime.

A report by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, developed during the 1960s, envisions not only a continuation of the migration from farm to city, but a big increase in the number of cities attaining a population of at least one million people.

In 1900, the nation was 40 per cent urban and 60 per cent rural. By 1960 70 per cent of the population was in urban areas, only 30 per cent rural. But that trend really doesn't tell the story of the future.

Urban areas, as defined by the Census Bureau, include towns of 2,500 population, an almost meaningless statistic when related to the size of cities of the future.

Less than 30 metropolitan areas now have one million residents. By the year 2000, the report states, the number will be more than 50. This means that if population concentration is dense now it will be crushing in 2000.

In that year the population is projected at 340 million, with 165 million living in large metropolitan areas, 100 million in other towns and cities, and 75 million in rural areas.

The prospect is not a bright one, and many groups concerned with the nation's future, including some from business, are asking why it should be permitted.

Suggestions vary, but one plan that has produced much interest if not total respect calls for encouraging industry to re-settle in less crowded areas and be the magnet for emigration from the cities.

Proponents claim that the present move to the cities is, after all, motivated by the desire for a better life. Too often, however, that quest leads only to frustration, despair and eventually to antisocial behavior.

Revival Service Through Week

GRIFTON — Revival services will be conducted each night this week at the Grifton Church of God.

The Rev. Viola Carawan, pastor of the church located at the intersection of Wall Street and Cannon Blvd. said services will begin at 7:30 each night, with the Rev. I.C. Morris Sr. as evangelist.

In addition to the message, special singing will be included on the program each night.

The Rev. Morris is a former Greenville resident and former pastor of the Greenville Church of God.

Forming Adult Driver Course

An organizational meeting for persons interested in an Adult Driver Training Course will be held at Pitt Technical Institute April 8 at 7 p.m.

Classes will meet twice weekly from 7 p.m. until 10 p.m. at PTI. A schedule for these meetings will be set at the first meeting.

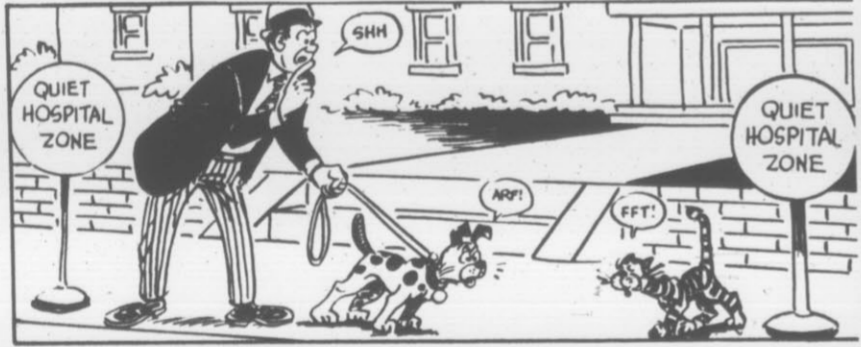

The course, for persons 18 years old or older, includes 36 hours of classroom work, minimum of six hours behind-the-wheel driving, and 12 hours observation in a dual-controlled car.

If such projections are borne out, the problems of today may seem small by comparison.

Among these problems: Racial tensions, crime, dope, neurosis, power shortages, transportation breakdowns, air-water-noise pollution, poor housing, inferior education, inadequate recreation facilities, high taxes, welfare chaos.

If such problems escape solution today, what assurance is there that they can be resolved in the future when greater masses of people will be involved?

Higher Auto Rates For Bad Drivers Advocated

WINSTON - SALEM (AP)—The Governor's Commission on Auto Liability Insurance visited Durham today after hearing in Winston-Salem a plea for higher rates for bad drivers.

J. C. Jeffords of Jeffords Insurance Agency called on the commission to set up insurance surcharges for assigned risk drivers. He said these drivers now drained off so much insurance payoffs that companies were having to raise their rates for all drivers.

Speaking before the commission Wednesday, Jeffords said too many customers now are on assigned risk. He said fewer ought to have to pay the premium rates, but that the rates ought to be higher.

This would establish a wider gap between what the general public pays and what the high risk drivers have to pay, he said. The assigned risk drivers go into a high - priced pool shafed by the state's insurance companies.

The commission is holding hearings around the state, gathering information for Gov. Bob Scott in view of a possible reform of the North Carolina compulsory auto liability insurance system.

D. Elwood Clinard, an independent agent, testified that many insurance companies may withdraw their business from North Carolina unless the state raises its liability insurance rates.

This warning also was sounded Tuesday in hearings at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte by State Sen. Herman Moore of Mecklenburg County.

Clinard also urged a larger budget for the State Insurance Department. Investigators for the department, he said, are not numerous enough to root out unethical agents bilking the public.

"I have written the commissioner a number of times about unethical agents," he said. "But I don't write anymore. I'm not suggesting that he's not doing his job. I'm saying there's not enough money for the department to come out and investigate."

New TV Shows For Fall Are Previewed

By GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Television's 23 new fall shows—previewed Wednesday night—look for the most part like more of the same.

Ten are dramas, often heavy, with titles like "The Young Lawyers," "The Storefront Lawyers," and "The Interns."

Nine are situation comedies including such familiar figures as Danny Thomas, Andy Griffith and Mary Tyler Moore.

One is live pro football. Two are variety shows—Tim Conway's on CBS and Flip Wilson doing his standup comedy on NBC. Red Skelton is classified as the 23rd new show in his 20th TV year because he's switching from CBS to NBC and cutting back from one hour to 30 minutes.

Many handsome new performers are presented as ABC launches 12 new shows, CBS 6, and NBC 5. The three networks presented their new offerings for about 500 members and guests of the TV Academy. Some were shown with film clips, others described by producers.

A loud burst of applause met ABC's announcement it will air National Football League games on Monday nights. Other well-received shows, mostly in familiar molds:

—ABC's one-hour "The Young Rebels," action-adventure in the Revolutionary War and "Barefoot in the Park" starring a young Negro couple—Scoey Mitchell and Tracy Reed.

—ABC's "The Odd Couple," with Tony Randall as the fussy housekeeper and Jack Klugman as the slovenly sports writer.

—CBS' "Arnie" with Herschel Bernardi as a family man coping with the problems of sudden promotion from loading dock to top executive's office job.

LOUISA, Va. (AP) — The rise of women's hemlines prompted lowering of girdle sales as women found panty hose more fitting to the miniskirt mode, says a spokesman for a textile company that is going out of the business.

Woman Runs For Sheriff

SOUTHPORT, N. C. (AP) — Mrs. Nell Redwine Hewett, 5-foot-10, 169-pound waitress who says "the women are always cleaning up after the men," has become a candidate for sheriff of Brunswick County on the southeastern North Carolina coast.

Mrs. Hewett, 28, a former high school basketball star who is called "Big Nell," says she is running because "I think it's time that women had more to say about the government ... With a good field of deputies and the cooperation of county officials I could give the people the kind of protection they need. They could stand some more protection. The crime rate is increasing."

She is among eight candidates, one a Negro and another Sheriff Harold Willette, who will seek nomination in the Democratic primary May 2. Two Republicans will seek the nomination at the same time, and the nominees will run in the November general election.

Mrs. Hewett and her husband, a commercial fisherman, have two children.

He Wishes LBJ Was Back

DAVIDSON, N. C. (AP) — Julian Bond, the Negro state legislator from Georgia who worked to dump President Johnson in 1968, says he wishes now Johnson were back in the White House.

Bond said in a talk at Davidson College Wednesday that "as much as I wished he weren't president when he was," he now feels Johnson was a better president than President Nixon.

Nixon, he said, is "not as able and not as interested" in social reform as Johnson was. Bond said Nixon's lack of concern for social legislation has taken hold in the country at large.

Scientist Wants To Talk To His Computers

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — In the movies, Dr. Dolittle wanted to talk to the animals. In real life, Dr. Thomas L. Gabriele wants to talk to computers.

Gabriele is working on ways to teach computers to understand people in their natural modes of expression — the spoken and written word.

At present, computers understand only their own language. Information fed to them must be tediously translated into "computerese."

You can lose a lot of time in the translation. "So we have attempted to develop techniques that would train a compute to become fluent in the language of people," says Gabriel, a project engineer at Bendix's communications division here.

The scientist noted that the company already developed tools that may help man talk to computers. One is a pattern recognition machine that can "see" and correctly identify objects. The other is a computer coupler "that allows speech and script data to be entered into a computer memory bank as fast as a human can generate it."

Tour Continued By Royal Family

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Britain's Queen Elizabeth II, her husband and two oldest children left today for Hobart, Australia, to continue a five-week Australian tour.

Prince Charles, the heir apparent to the throne, had a final swim on a Sydney beach before the family left and was asked by a Greek surfer whether he spoke the man's language.

The prince replied with a Greek word which, roughly translated, means "push off."

The Worry Clinic Elderly Need Not Withdraw

Young Dr. Shaffer was surprised at the ready retort of the 93-year-old patient he was quizzing. She had an alert mind and sense of humor, despite her advanced age. Even if you Senior Citizens are wheelchair cases, don't cripple your mind by failure to whet your wits daily. Follow the prescription below.

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE M-556: Mrs. Crane and I were invited for the Commencement exercises of the Lake View Memorial Hospital Nursing School at Danville, Illinois.

But Tom Cossey, patron of the hospital and its financial backer during the Roosevelt depression years, had urged us to come for dinner prior to the 3 o'clock ceremony.

Dr. and Mrs. William Shaffer sat at my left.

Dr. Shaffer was head of the superb medical staff at the hospital.

One of their sons is also a medic who did some surveying of patients in a Chicago Nursing Home.

And among the list of questions he asked each patient was this:

"Do you find yourself walking more slowly than others of your age?"

When he quizzed a 93-year-old lady with that query, she pertly replied:

"No, indeed, I am definitely NOT slower than others of my age! In fact, I move around much faster!"

As young Dr. Shaffer may have showed some surprise, she added:

"Young man, most of the people of my age are dead and buried! So that's why I get around much faster than they do!"

One of the greatest blessings that Senior Citizens can enjoy, is thus an alert mind, plus a sense of humor.

My Grandmother Crane lived to be almost 96, and even till the end, if anybody asked, "Grandma, how do you feel?" she would smile and pertly reply:

"Why, with my fingers, of

His explanation at the conclusion of the deal revealed that his performance was based, in fact, on an entirely simple logical line of reasoning instead of X-ray vision.

West opened the nine of clubs. East put up the ace and switched to his singleton diamond. West played the ace and another diamond and his partner ruffed with the four of hearts to complete the defensive book. East exited with a club which was won by the dummy's king.

Set Pre-School Registration

STOKES — Pre-school registration for Stokes Elementary School will be held April 13, according to principal M.T. Lewis.

Lewis said the registration period will be April 13 from 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

It is not necessary for parents to bring their children, Lewis said, although he urged parents whose children are in the Stokes Elementary area to register their children during those April 13 morning hours.

Stocks, Bonds Course Offered

Pitt Technical Institute is now receiving applications for a 20-hour course in stocks and bonds. Interested persons may submit applications and when a sufficient number are received for the course, an organizational meeting will be called and a class scheduled.

Pollution In Hawaii, Too

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) — The black smoke billowing from Pearl Harbor was chillingly reminiscent of Dec. 7, 1941.

But it was only a county bulldozer shoving tons of burning garbage into the famed harbor, which entombs the USS Arizona and other ships sunk in the Japanese attack in 1941.

"When there's a wind, boy, the stink comes right into our homes," Joseph K. Whaley complained Tuesday.

Whaley and a dozen other residents are protesting the garbage disposal methods of the nearby Waipahu Dump, saying each tide brings debris to their doorsteps.

Whaley and a neighbor, Benjamin Kekona, whose homes and docking piers are threatened by the burning rubbish, say the situation is getting out of hand.

"The other night I had to take a hose and run over to Kekona's house to put out a fire next to his boat pier," said Whaley. "A piece of wood that washed across was still burning."

Kekona, who once owned a popular fish pond in an area now encroached upon by the dump, claims the whole area is now polluted.

"The fish die and the oysters are no good," he said. "You've got to dig down for the oysters below the silt to get any you can eat."

Special Police Office Offers A Helping Hand

By COATIE BRINKLEY
Norfolk Ledger-Star
Written For the AP
NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — O. April 4, 1968, two contrasting events took place that had an impact on race relations in Norfolk.

That morning, Master Patrolman James E. Shields, Police Chief Claude J. Staylor and other city officials presided at the opening of a Police-Community Relations Office.

Later that warm afternoon, Martin Luther King Jr. was slain in Memphis, Tenn. Unlike many cities across the nation, Norfolk remained quiet and without violence.

The office located on Church Street, in the heart of what once was Norfolk's Negro business district, was established to help people with their problems and to provide a better relationship between the poor and the police, a program Dr. King would have approved.

Since then, the office has helped countless citizens — poor, middle class, black and white. Officer Shields, a Negro, has handled all types of problems, from delinquent youth to domestic discord.

"We try to do anything we can to cut red tape," he says. "Often people with problems do not know what agencies to turn to for aid."

About 15 to 20 visitors a day stop by the office, which formerly housed a store. The Spartan surroundings of the outer office are decorated with an 8-by-10 photo of King, a poster of Bill Cosby and a picture of three young actors from the TV series, "Mod Squad." Shields' office is bare of decoration except for a small white card with black letters proclaiming, "Love."

Shields handles many phone calls from people who refuse to visit the office because of its location. He says Church Street has outgrown the reputation of being one of the roughest thoroughfares in the city.

The office is open from noon to 8 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday. The officers' duties, however, start much earlier. He spends a good deal of time talking with school groups. He was assigned to the Youth Bureau before his present job. It's important to create and maintain a dialogue with youth, he says.

He says he has not encountered any hostilities since assuming the job. He often tells teen-agers that his intention "is not to make them run up and kiss the next policeman they see," but to make them aware of his job.

Shields often receives information that could put someone behind bars. However, all information he receives is confidential. At present, he mans the office alone. When the program was started, it was hoped that similar offices would be established in several other areas. A lack of funds has delayed this.

The Norfolk Police-Community Relations Office is a model in this area. It has been studied by enforcement authorities from across the state as well as from out of the state. The office works with the Police-Community Relations Office is a model city agencies.

Shields is a graduate of North Carolina College — now North Carolina Central University — at Durham. He majored in physical education. After he completed a stint with the Air Force, he decided to enter police work rather than the classroom. His wife, Enora, also is an N.C. Central graduate and is on the Maury High School faculty.

A policeman must enjoy working with all kinds of people, Shields, the father of three, says. "quite often," he tells you, "you are rewarded with feeling you have helped someone."

VIOLINIST SERGIU LUCA . . . will be guest soloist with the N. C. Symphony Orchestra at ECU Sunday afternoon. Luca will perform Tchaikovsky's "Concerto in D major for Violin and Orchestra."

N.C. Symphony Here On Sunday

Sunday afternoon will be symphonic music time in Greenville once more as the full 60 member North Carolina Symphony Orchestra appears for a concert.

Under the direction of Benjamin Swalin, the orchestra will present a three part concert beginning at 3:30 p. m. at Wright Auditorium on East Carolina University campus.

A special feature of Sunday's concert is the appearance of violinist Sergiu Luca, a young protegee of Isaac Stern who is becoming widely acclaimed in concert appearances.

Sunday's performance will be his third North Carolina appearance. He will play Tchaikovsky's "Concerto in D major for Violin and Orchestra."

Luca came to America in 1961, where he studied at the Curtis Institute of Music with Ivan Galamian. He has been aided by the American - Israel Cultural Foundation which helped with his education and also provided him with an Italian instrument made by Francesco Ruggeri.

Sunday's program at Wright will include the "Egmont Overture" by Beethoven. This selection is being performed in commemoration of the 200th anniversary of the birth of Ludwig van Beethoven.

This will be followed by the Tchaikovsky concerto in which Luca will be soloist.

The final selection for the program will be "Symphony No. 1 in E minor, Opus 39" by Jean Sibelius, the great Finnish composer whose life covered nearly a century (from 1865 to 1957). This symphony was composed in 1899, and has been called "the last great symphony of the 19th century."

Walter Faulkner, publicity chairman for the Pitt County Chapter of the North Carolina Symphony Society, states it is still not too late to get tickets for the concert — these tickets are valid also for other concerts across the state. Interested persons are asked to contact Mrs. Frank D. Layne or Mrs. E. A. Warren, membership co-chairwomen.

Membership for the 1969-70 season is $8 for two people; $5 for one person; and $1 for a student. These are available in advance from either of the co-chairwomen or at the door Sunday prior to performance time.

Rubenstein Has Humanitarian Award To Jessel

NEW YORK (AP) — If Arthur Rubenstein ever should decide to give up the concert stage, he probably could make it as a comedian.

As Rubenstein tells it, at a Hollywood VIP reception after a screening of the French-made documentary about the pianist, "Love of Life," Groucho Marx, armed with cigar and leer, came up to Rubenstein and said: "Had I known you were a comedian, I wouldn't have come."

Some of the footage in "Love of Life," up for an Academy Award as the best long documentary of last year, is in the television profile, "Arthur Rubenstein," to be repeated on NBC on April 26.

Snowmobile Can Kill Its Riders

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Passengers on snowmobiles are more susceptible to injury than operators, the State Motor Vehicles Department reports.

In a report on snowmobile accidents for 1967-68, the department recommended the use of protective headgear for operators and passengers of snow vehicles.

In the 93 accidents covered by the study, there were 82 deaths or injuries. Of the snowmobile operators involved in the accidents, 58 per cent were killed or injured, compared to 77 per cent of the passengers.

More than half of the accidents happened on public roads, many involving automobiles.

Canadian Blues To Be Produced

PORT HOPE, Ontario (AP) — The "blues" soon will be produced in Canada for the first time. Not musical blues, however. These are pigments called phthalocyanine blue.

While its name may be a strange mouthful, the pigment actually is quite popular. It is used in automotive paints and vinyl upholstery and tops, household and industrial paints and plastics and it is one of the four basic process colors for printing.

Your Optician

In Cooperation With The North Carolina Opticians Association
(Licensed)

Who licenses opticians for public practice?

In North Carolina your optician is licensed under the same statute as other professional men.

Just as the doctor or the lawyer, your independent optician receives a license only after passing a rigid examination administered by the North Carolina State Board of Examiners.

To be eligible for the State Board Exam, the optician must be either a graduate of an accredited school offering a curriculum in opticianry, or he must serve an apprenticeship of at least five years under a licensed optician. Either way, your optician is well prepared in his specialty.

Quality service is, therefore, your reward from your independent optician.

A tip: When your optician makes a pair of glasses for you, he maintains a complete record of your prescription and all the particulars thereof. So, when you break your glasses simply inform your optician about the problem, and you will get prompt, courteous, and professional response without having to return to the eye doctor.

NEXT WEEK: (SPECIALIZATION)

HOLLINGSWORTH OPTICIANS is your complete optical center. We carry all major lines of frames, sun glasses, and contact lenses, and we're members of the American Board of Opticianry. We're ready to serve you at HOLLINGSWORTH OPTICIANS, open daily 9 till 5:30.

I'm PLEASED to Meet You and Serve You

● IF YOU have recently arrived here, or moved into another part of town, there's a capable young businessman close by, who'd like to meet you and serve you — just as he does your neighbors!

YOU'LL FIND he's much more than a dependable delivery boy—he's a specialist in speedy, satisfying newspaper service to your area! Fully trained to please customers with on-time arrival, extra care on stormy days, prompt collections, and give special attention to changes whenever families move in or out, or go on vacations!

IF HE has not called on you as yet, 'phone our circulation department today, and he will begin serving you tomorrow.
