

Nixon Asks Boost First-Class Mail Cost To 10 Cents

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon urged Congress today to increase the cost of mailing a first-class letter to 10 cents to help pay for the postal part of new pay raises proposed for about 5.9 million federal personnel.

In a special message, Nixon said his administration "is committed to a policy of pay-as-you-go." He described that as not only good business but "insurance against inflation."

The President announced that the planned 6 per cent increase for all federal civilian and military personnel, retroactive to last Dec. 27, will require "further actions which will result in some modification of our 1971 budgetary program."

Without going into details, Nixon said that he will propose "additional revenue which will neither require extending the surtax nor raising income tax rates."

About the only specific thing he mentioned in the tax area was a plan to accelerate collection of estate and gift taxes which would provide a one-time-only federal windfall of $1.5 billion in receipts in the 1971 fiscal year that begins July 1.

For the current fiscal year ending June 30, Nixon said, the $1.2 billion cost of the 6 per cent retroactive pay boost "can be met from budgeted and surplus funds."

The 6 per cent pay raise for all civil service and military personnel was worked out in negotiations between administration officials and the heads of seven AFL-CIO postal unions.

Subject to approval by Congress, the agreement calls for revision of the postal system, including collective bargaining rights for the employees, and another 8 per cent increase for postal workers when the new system becomes effective.

Nixon's first proposal to Congress was for early enactment of the 6 per cent pay raise.

"At the same time," he went on, "I urge the Congress to take action to reform the postal service" and declared, "had this action been taken earlier, the postal work stoppage would have been averted."

If postal reform becomes law, Nixon said one immediate result would be an additional wage increase of at least 8 per cent for postal workers—an increase designed to put them on an equal-pay footing with nongovernment employees.

From the standpoint of the householder, the impact of the Nixon plan would fall heaviest on mail users, notably by scrapping the present 6-cent letter rate for the recommended 10-cent rate.

In addition, Nixon said he will urge an $82 million boost in second and third class postal revenues for fiscal 1971 and a $125 million increase in parcel post rates.

"In all," he said, "I am proposing added postal revenues by congressional and administrative action of $2.6 billion." But the bulk would come from the increase in first-class rates.

"These revenues are essential to meet the salary needs of postal workers," he said, "to wipe out the postal deficit, and to contribute to the efficiency of the postal system."

The school plan for Greenville City Schools for the 1970-71 year has been ruled not in compliance with requirements established in the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

This ruling, made by Justice Department Legal Counsel examiner Louis J. Rubin, was received yesterday from Washington by Superintendent Dr. Cleet C. Cleetwood. The ten page document, dated March 31, 1970, was the culmination of action begun last September when members of the school board appeared in Washington for a hearing due to HEW's ruling that the school plan was not totally acceptable.

Two factors in the school plan were cited as unacceptable portions of the overall plan, the rest of which was accepted by the HEW. The two unacceptable parts of the plan are:

—Sadie Sautler as an all Negro school. The examiner agreed with HEW's earlier proposal that a more effective way of eliminating the racial identifiability of Sadie Sautler would be pairing or grouping of other schools to create a desegregated situation.

In practice, this would mean, for example, that in one section of west Greenville, all first three graders now in Sadie Sautler and Agnes Fullove would attend one of the two schools; and all fourth, fifth and sixth graders would attend the other school. This, or some similar arrangement by grouping has been suggested for meeting the requirements stipulated by HEW.

To date, the school board has steadfastly maintained that geographical zoning, which they consider the best approach for Greenville's elementary schools, unavoidably results in Sadie Sautler's being an all Negro school, just as it results in Eastern Elementary in eastern Greenville being an all white school. HEW has never raised objections to geographical zoning resulting in Eastern Elementary as an all white school.

—The second unacceptable point, reiterated in the final hearing document, is the deficiency in specifying the direction to be taken in desegregating grades 7, 8, and 9 in the fall of 1970.

In the original plan submitted by the school board, it was stated that for the 1969-70 school year, the junior high schools would for that one year consist of two junior high schools with freedom of choice, with a commitment for total desegregation of the junior high school beginning with the 1970-71 school year.

In effect, the decision earlier this week by the school board for one junior high school at Aycock Junior High for the 1970-71 school year should eliminate objections on this second point by HEW.

The final hearing, however,

Begin Plant Near Tarboro Air Controllers Call In 'Sick'

TARBORO, N. C. (AP)—Gov. Bob Scott took part today in groundbreaking ceremonies for a $3-million Black and Decker Manufacturing Co. plant near Tarboro.

Scott called the tool-making firm a "clean, high-wage industry."

"We want new industries in North Carolina," Scott told the group. "But we want them to be clean, high-wage industries that are compatible with our environment."

"Black and Decker meets our highest expectations for new industry," Scott added. "I base this statement on the company's performance in Fayetteville, where it has a new and modern plant."

He said the plant's employment is expected to reach 500 by the end of 1971.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite pledges by union leaders to get their men back to work, air traffic controllers continued calling in sick today and airline travel remained curtailed.

A Federal Aviation Administration spokesman said the absentee rate in its 21 regional control centers showed little change on the 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. shift.

"We see a slight improvement over-all, but not enough to have much effect," the spokesman said. "The facilities that have been bad are still bad."

In New York, a focal point in the strike, 63 of 164 controllers scheduled to work reported sick at the Islip, L.I., air route center which controls traffic in several Eastern states.

Willis Funds Frozen

The East Carolina University Board of Trustees was told yesterday by Dr. Leo Jenkins that funds for the salary and other expenses of the director of the ECU Regional Development Institute director, Tom Willis, have been frozen by the Office of Technical Assistance of the Economic Development Administration.

Jenkins referred to a letter from Richard L. Sinnott, special assistant to the assistant secretary for economic development, which said that this action was precipitated by the office's being supplied with "a number of newspaper articles reporting alleged improprieties associated with the East Carolina Regional Development Institute."

The newspaper articles Sinnott referred to apparently were those written in a state newspaper which pointed out that Willis had bought three lots of 25-foot frontage on Emerald Isle about the time funding of a water system for the area was approved by EDA. Shortly after the articles appeared, it was announced that the Justice Department would conduct an investigation of the incident.

Sinnott's letter said the freezing action would be effective until "a satisfactory investigation of the matter has been completed."

Tom Willis said that no FBI agent or other investigator has approached him at any time. He reiterated, "I welcome an investigation," adding, "I only hope it will get underway as quickly as possible if it has not begun already."

Sinnott's letter made it clear that funds other than those for Willis' salary and expenses will continue to be disbursed to RDI on a monthly basis "on the condition that the grantee provide monthly progress reports and assurances that none of the proceeds of these disbursements or of prior EDA payments be used to defray any salary or other expenses of the Institute director after this date (March 30)."

Dr. Jenkins said he has no alternative than to instruct F. D. Duncan, business manager, to withhold that part of Willis' salary which is paid by federal funds.

EDA provides about one-third of Regional Development's operating funds. The amount made available for a 26-month period beginning June 1, 1969 was $114,600, according to Duncan.

In other matters yesterday, board members discussed a proposal for a B.S. Aeronautical Management at the University. It was pointed out that the program would be one of four at this level in the nation and the only one in the Southeast.

Plans call for the proposal to be presented to the Board of Higher Education in May with the program hopefully to begin in the fall of 1971.

Trustees also discussed the possibility of accepting responsibility for a Marine Science Center at Manteo, subject to the availability of funds.

A program already approved by the ECU executive committee, providing for a Master of Library Science involvement, was presented by officials who pointed that it would meet the demands for librarians generally outside the public school system.

The program format has already been sent to the Board of Higher Education.

Officials pointed out that an estimated 1883 students will graduate this year from the University and will nearly match the record of 1891 graduates. A total of 2233 candidates are now working for their degrees.

The nursing school will graduate 47 this spring with eight in the field of medical technology.

A resolution was also passed authorizing the executive committee to act for the board in approving issuance of bonds for the student union.

On hand for the presentations were Chief of Police Thomas Gladson and Fire Chief J. Ray Smith. Also attending was Chamber of Commerce manager, Harold Creech.

Jaycees Sam Keel and Curtis May served as co-chairman of the first annual project. Keel pointed out that more Public Servant awards will be forthcoming during the year.

Auto Sales Down During Quarter

DETROIT (AP) — Hit by the worst March sales in eight years, the U.S. auto industry reported Thursday the worst first quarter sales of new cars since 1967.

The four major U.S. producers reported sales of 1,782,434 cars in the three months ended March 31, down 12.2 per cent from the 2,029,857 sold at this time last year.

Sales for March—traditionally one of the strongest selling months of the year—were 646,673, down 10.1 per cent from March 1969.

High Winds And Heavy Rains Here Yesterday

High winds and heavy rains pelted the Greenville area yesterday causing some power outages and minor damages.

According to the Greenville Utilities Commission weather station, a total of .53 inches of rain fell during the 24-hour period ending this morning at 8 a.m.

Winds yesterday were gusty, reaching speeds of up to 55 miles per hour, the weather station reported.

Temperatures yesterday reached a high of 77 degrees and a low of 39 degrees.

Charles O.H. Horne, director of the Greenville Utilities, reported some wind damage over the county.

"Most damage reported was relatively minor," Horne said. "There were two of three poles down in the county."

Horne said the utilities crews worked all day yesterday until last night replacing poles and removing trees from across power lines.

"In Greenville, there was a tree across power lines in Lakewood Pines and a tree fell on the East Carolina University substation causing a power failure," Horne explained. "No major outages were reported."

The storm yesterday caused a blackout at ECU but did only minor damage. The city of Greenville cut off electric power to the ECU campus at 12:35 p.m. when a limb fell across a power line feeding the campus and adjoining areas. Power was restored in about 90 minutes.

The North Carolina Highway Commission reported only minor damage across the county.

His Car Struck Twice By Train

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP) — David Blackburn managed to stop his car at a railroad crossing two weeks ago as a train was passing, and lost only his headlights.

At the same crossing Wednesday, police said, a train hit his car again, this time broadside, demolishing the vehicle.

RALIEGH — East Carolina University's board of trustees voted yesterday to require freshman and sophomores to live in campus student housing facilities in an effort to alleviate the 20 per cent vacancy that now exist in on-campus rooms.

ECU officials pointed out that 1,200 rooms are now vacant on campus and that the university will soon be faced with having to use reserve funds to make payments on the self-liquidating bonds that were sold to fund the new dormitories.

The chairman of the board, Attorney General Robert Morgan, said that, "We cried long and loud to get these dorms and now we're obligated to make sure they get paid for."

Authorization of schools to issue the self-liquidating bonds is given by the General Assembly and since no state funds are appropriated the payments must be made through funds from room rental fees.

Morgan pointed out that some schools are now facing the prospect of defaulting on their payments because of dorm vacancies.

ECU president Leo Jenkins said that the new policy is not an attempt to exercise more social control on students. He added that there probably will be some protests.

Miss Phyllis Griffis Is Bride

FARMVILLE — Miss Phyllis Ianna Griffis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Bickett Griffis of Farmville, became the bride of Douglas Alton Johnston of Greenville in a formal ceremony Sunday afternoon at four o'clock in the Farmville Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. William N. Gordon officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mr. Johnston is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Clarence Johnston Jr. of Greenville. The background of the church was complemented with a large arrangement of white gladioli, snapdragons, chrysanthemums and emerald greenery, flanked by two nine-branched brass candelabra holding white tapers. Arrangements of ferns graced the sanctuary. The pews were marked with white gladioli tied with bridal satin.

Wedding music was rendered by Miss Barbara Lang, organist, and Miss Dianne Griffis, sister of the bride, soloist. Miss Griffis sang "Because," "Treat Me Not To Leave Thee," and "The Wedding Prayer."

Mrs. Charles Carr directed the wedding. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a portrait creation of organza in an empire silhouette with a bodice of imported peau de ange lace with lace sprays falling from the empire waist onto the front skirt, with a floral pattern of lace forming a high sculptural neckline and highlighted with lantern sleeves and a tubular lace edged chapel train.

She used a matching lace profile headpiece attached to an elbow length illusion veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of white hybrid orchids, Frenched chrysanthemums outlined in French tulle, bridal satin and tied with bridal satin streamers. Miss Ann Bass of Farmville was maid of honor. She wore an empire hot pink chiffon dress with scooped neckline and long full lantern sleeves accented with blending braid on the cuffs and on the front waistline with green ribbon streamers at the back. She used a matching headpiece and carried a colonial nosegay of white chrysanthemums encircled with tulle bridal satin and tied with chiffon pink satin.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Glenda Monet, sister of the bride, Miss Doris Wilkerson, Miss Janice Thompson, all of Farmville, and Miss Jo Anne Jefferson of Fountain. Junior bridesmaid was Miss Jessica Johnston, sister of the bridegroom of Greenville.

The bridesmaids wore gowns and headpieces identical in color and style to those of the honor attendant and carried bouquets fashioned like that of the honor attendant.

Mrs. Griffis chose for her daughter's wedding, an L'aiglon original pink embossed dress fashioned with a jeweled neckline. She wore matching accessories and a white Georgiana orchid corsage.

Mrs. Johnston wore a light blue linen A-line dress, accented with a floral patterned lace coat. She wore matching accessories with a white Georgiana orchid corsage.

Jesse Clarence Johnston Jr. served as his son's best man. Groomsman were Sam Wainwright Jr., Danny Griffis, brother of the bride, David Ryon, all of Farmville, Donald Parker of Fayetteville, and Tim and Glenn Johnston, brothers of the bridegroom, of Greenville.

The bride is a graduate of Farmville High School and is presently employed with the Town of Farmville's water and light department. The bridegroom is a graduate of Rose High School, Greenville, and is now a student at East Carolina University.

Following a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will make their home on Rt. 1, Greenville.

For her wedding trip, Mrs. Johnston was attired in a dress and coat of royal blue and white with coordinating accessories. Her corsage was an orchid lifted from her bridal bouquet.

Reception Immediately following the ceremony, the bride's parents, grandparents and aunts entertained at a reception in the church fellowship hall. The hall was decorated with baskets of greenery with white and pink flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Jennie Harper greeted guests at the door and presented them to the receiving line, composed of the bride's parents, the bride and bridegroom and the attendants. Refreshments were served from a table covered with a white imported lace cloth decorated with a three-tiered cake flanked by silver candelabra with an arrangement of white gladioli, snapdragons, and chrysanthemum and greenery with burning tapers. The first slice was cut by the couple in the traditional manner.

Mrs. Mae Branch and Mrs. Dot McLawhorn, aunts of the bride and bridegroom, assisted in serving.

Mrs. Shirley Faircloth, aunt of the bride, from Burlington, presided over the register, which featured a bouquet of pink carnations and gladioli, white daisies with greenery. Mrs. Russell Johnston, aunt of the bridegroom, of Greenville, said the good-byes.

Rehearsal Party On the eve of the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Johnston Jr., parents of the bridegroom, his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Alton McLawhorn, his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Weldon McLawhorn, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Powell, Mr. and Mrs. R.A. McLawhorn and Mr. and Mrs. H.W. Willoughby, all of Greenville, entertained at a rehearsal party at the VFW home.

A pink and white color scheme was carried out in the decorations and refreshments. Approximately 80 guests were present. The bride-elect wore a white dress with a corsage of white mums with hot pink trim. The bridegroom - elect present his groomsman with gifts.

Bridesmaids Luncheon Miss Phyllis Griffis was entertained at a bridesmaids luncheon at the Heart of Wilson.

The honoree and hostesses, Misses Ann Bass, Jo Ann Jefferson, Janice Thompson and Doris Wilkerson received the guests in the Crown Room.

Miss Griffis was presented a corsage of pink carnations to complement her navy and white coat dress ensemble. Mrs. Dan Griffis and Mrs. J.C. Johnston were also remembered with pink camellia corsages.

Guests were served punch from a bowl encircled with greenery and highlighted with pink and white camellias.

Places were laid for sixteen at an appointed table covered with a white linen cloth and a center decoration of carnations, gladioli, tinted daisies and baby's breath in shades of pink and white. Other floral arrangements, napkins and place cards followed the pink and white color scheme.

Lector Club Meets Tuesday

Members of the Lector Book Club met Tuesday at the Greenville Golf and Country Club. Mrs. Hugh Winslow was hostess for the meeting.

A three-course luncheon was served. A short business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Howard Waldrop, president.

Mrs. Wally Miller of Falls Church, Va., sister of Mrs. Winslow, was speaker for the occasion.

Books were exchanged following the program.

A Jealous Wife Tries To Punish

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-H. V. News Synd. Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I have a 34-year-old son who is married to a very pretty girl of 25. She found out that my son was seeing another girl, so she confronted him and then he stopped seeing the other girl.

My problem is the method my daughter-in-law is using to punish her husband. She has been making a big play for MY husband. He is 57, Abby, and very attractive. Naturally he loves it and even encourages her. I could never appeal to my daughter-in-law because I am sure she would never consider my feelings as she has never liked me very much altho I never have given her any reason for feeling that way. Now I am worried that all this kidding around with hugging and kissing may develop into something more serious. Please tell me how to handle this, Abby, I'm terribly upset.

CAN'T COMPETE

DEAR CAN'T: You could tell your husband to act his age and cool it a little out of respect to his son's marriage, which sounds as tho it's on fairly shaky ground right now. It may not help. But it can't hurt.

DEAR ABBY: Before any 55-year-old grandmother has all her teeth extracted for "health reasons," as she stated, she ought to get another opinion.

If more people would realize the problems associated with "false teeth," more people would run to the dentist to try to save their teeth.

A dental journal recently disclosed that approximately 5 million people in the United States of America have deposited their lower dentures in dresser drawers because they cannot wear them!

I am tired of "yanking" teeth. I'd much rather save and restore them.

Abby, remain true to your teeth, and they will never be false to you. Sincerely,

L. A. Z., D. D. S.: BRONX, N. Y.

DEAR DOCTOR: I have been more than true to my teeth, and thus far they have been "true" to me.

DEAR ABBY: I noticed in your column where a teen-ager was ready to give up music lessons because he had a clarinet and then a flute stolen from his locker at school. Abby, many people carry HOMEOWNERS INSURANCE POLICIES, which cover most thefts of this kind. Our daughter's coat and clarinet were stolen from a school locker. We thought it was a complete loss until our insurance agent told us that we were completely covered. And what a happy surprise it was! Perhaps others who read your column aren't aware of what their policies cover, either. Anyway, it's worth a mention.

NOT AN INSURANCE AGENT

DEAR NOT: You have a lot of company. Many policy holders get a "happy surprise" to learn that they were covered, thinking they were not. But I would guess that there are as many policy holders who get "unhappy surprises" [not being covered, thinking they were]. A good agent not only SELLS—he TELLS! So this might be a good time for you [and for me, too!] to call our friendly insurance agent and review the bidding.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WEARING OUT IN CINCY": I'm all choked up! Your letter was about as convincing as the one from the fellow with the rubber duck. I'll send you five strong men to assist you with those five "lonely" nurses who are breaking down your door nightly.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Thrift Is Ingredient For Economy Drive

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI)—With the cost of living up there's no alternative. Stop unnecessary spending and demand that all members of the family cooperate in an all-out economy drive," says a Purdue University economist.

Sarah L. Manning, head of the university's home management and family economics department, described the magic ingredient for success. "It's called old-fashioned thrift," she said.

Consider how thrift can help stretch the clothing dollar. Are closets full of skirts and blouses really outworn and truly out of date?

Miss Manning suggests pulling some of them out and with a little imaginative reconstruction making them do for another season.

The reconstruction strategy is one to consider before replenishing an entire wardrobe for a teen-age daughter, for example.

Another strategem: exchanging outgrown clothing among family members and friends. If you can't set up an exchange within that structure, investigate thrift shops and other places where clean, good used clothing is available.

Also, take a second look at your garbage.

"Don't laugh—you may be throwing away a perfectly good noontime snack or Sunday night supper," Miss Manning said. The family's "get-touch" policy will mean that you will have to shop more wisely and make better use of leftovers. Break out those old recipes for nutritious meat-stretching casseroles.

Underfoot, consider what to do when the wall-to-wall carpeting or other large expanses of floor covers start to let go.

Cover the worn places with area rugs, thus putting off a huge purchase such as entailed in replacing all the carpeting.

On other large purchases, especially those involving 18 per cent interest per year, consider other choices. Can you really afford such charges for time payments necessary to acquire a color television set?

Will it hurt much to put off the purchase a year or so and making do with a black and white set?

"Old-fashioned thrift may sound like a painful remedy," says Miss Manning, but it will help the nation's economy, too.

"Inflation is caused by too many dollars chasing too few goods, so that when you are overspending, you are contributing to the unending merry-go-round."

Many economists agree that such self-regulatory practices are best for the economy and the consumer.

N. C. Symphony Ball Eastern Chairman Named

A Greenville couple, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin K. Blount Jr., has been named by Governor Bob Scott to represent this community and to assist in planning the ball at the Eastern North Carolina Symphony Ball on April 17.

Mr. and Mrs. Blount will also be honored at the ball, which will be staged at the Cape Fear Country Club, Wilmington.

Louie E. Woodbury Jr. and Mrs. Leslie N. Boney Jr. of Wilmington, co-chairmen of this gala event, have announced the complete list of committee names.

Purpose of the ball is to continue raising money for the North Carolina Symphony Endowment Fund.

Last year the Symphony Ball made its debut in Greenville, having been held traditionally in the Governor's Mansion, Raleigh.

This is the first year that there will be two balls. The Western Ball will be held April 24 in Asheville.

The Blounts reside at 214 N. Eastern St.

Home Economics Division Holds Meet In Washington

WASHINGTON — The Home Economics Division of the Coastal Plain Development Association held its second quarterly meeting here on Tuesday. Mrs. R.W. Davenport of Greenville, president, presided.

The meeting began at 10:00 a.m. with a tour of the WITN Television Studios. Dick Paul, executive vice president of WITN, spoke to the group and answered questions.

Following the tour, the division met at the Beaufort County Extension Service Offices for its formal business meeting. Mrs. R.W. Davenport recognized Mrs. E.C. Davenport of Pitt County who presented an inspirational message and led the group in prayer.

Mrs. Betsy Meldau, a member of the Extension Service from North Carolina State University, spoke on the work of the Coastal Plain Development Association and other area development associations in North Carolina. She pointed out that the Coastal Plain Development Association has the largest number of working divisions of any group across the state. She emphasized that the work of the association is primarily carried out by interested citizens with advice and guidance from the Extension Service.

Mrs. Meldau announced that Leader Training Programs will be held at East Carolina University for the purpose of training community workers in arts and crafts, who will in turn go back to their communities and train interested citizens. The dates for the Leader Training Programs are as follows: Preserves and Jams — May 5; Pickles and Jellies July 8; Crafts — June 15-17.

Following the completion of business, the meeting broke up into committee workshop sessions, followed by a luncheon recess. At 2:00 p.m. the division meeting reconvened and reports were received from the Committees.

Mrs. R.D. Richards, chairman of the Clothing Committee, reported that progress is being made on its project to provide garments for donation to mental patients at Cherry Hospital in Goldsboro. A poster prepared by Mrs. E.C. Davenport of Pitt County for display in fabric shops was shown and explained. The poster is designed to assist the inexperienced seamstress in selecting the proper patterns to work properly with the many new synthetic and blend fabrics on the market today.

Mrs. Otis Bullock, chairman of the Housing Committee, reported that work is continuing on the plans for the Housing Fair to be held in 1971. Counties interested in hosting this event are asked to submit their proposals to Mrs. R.W. Davenport prior to April 15, for consideration at the meeting of the Board of Directors of the Home Economics Division on that date.

The Housing Committee members are stressing beautification at this time with emphasis on the general cleanup of "countryside debris" as well as individual attention to one's own residence and surroundings.

Mrs. Karl Edwards, acting chairman of the Foods Committee, reported that her committee continues to work toward the establishment of a "meals on wheels" program to provide hot meals for those who are unable to prepare them for themselves by reason of illness or age. The Foods Committee is planning to present a three-day cooking school later in the year but plans have not been finalized.

Mrs. Julian Mizell, chairman of the Publicity Committee, reported that her committee will continue its efforts to bring to the attention of the public, the work of the overall Home Economics Division of the Coastal Plain Association.

Anyone desiring additional information on any phase of the work of the Home Economics Division is invited to contact the local Home Economics Extension Agent or any member of the local County Committee. Names of County Committee members may be secured from the local Extension Service Office.

FASHION FORECASTS

(Workmanship Details)

Before purchasing a garment, one should give some thought to construction details and workmanship. The appearance and serviceability of any item of wearing apparel is dependent upon the care with which it was put together.

Even though a garment does not need altering, it might benefit from a few strategically placed stitches, which the most inexperienced seamstress can execute. These include fastening hooks and eyes, buttons or snaps that have not been sewn on securely.

But Remember, Farm Costs Up

It is gratifying that farm income has reached a new high in North Carolina.

U. S. Department of Agriculture figures show that the total for 1969 was nearly one billion, 464 million dollars. This was up $163.5 million from the year before and was $107 million above the record year of 1967.

It is significant that the largest gains in 1969 came in cash receipts from livestock and livestock products. Receipts in this category rose from $462 million in 1967 to $505 million in 1968 and $581.4 million last year. The big increase last year was due partly to increased production and partly to stronger prices, which reached new high levels.

Despite all its problems, tobacco showed a good increase last year to a total income of $515.4 for 1969.

These increases in farm income look good in a state which is so deeply involved in agriculture as North Carolina is. However, it is well to remember that farmers are involved in the same inflationary squeeze as everyone else. Thus while they are receiving more cash for their production their expenses are rising alarmingly at the same time. This means there is still a profit drain for the farmer.

There is no business anywhere that carries any more risks than farming. Every year the farm producers stand the chance of getting wiped out by crop or livestock diseases or by natural disasters. If the farmer has a bumper crop he runs the risk of seeing prices drop because of overproduction. If during inflationary periods his gross income rises he is accused of being a main cause of inflation.

Just like any other business, however, the farmer is going to have to be assured of a fair profit on what he produces. If he isn't then farming cannot continue on a business-like basis.

Hopefully, A Pattern To Be Repeated Here

Rose High School will begin its school year next fall with a new permanent principal and hopefully a more orderly and productive year.

The board of education Tuesday named Robert Jordan Alligood, present principal of Ahoskie High School, as the new Rose principal. This ended a three-month search for a new principal, during which time Glenn Cox, associate superintendent, has ably served as interim principal.

Alligood has a number of years experience in school administration and we have confidence that next year will be a good one for Rose High.

While this year's problems were not acceptable they are somewhat understandable in view of the major changes in high school assignments which took place.

It has been the pattern elsewhere that things improve once the initial shock of integration has subsided. We believe that is the way it will be here.

A Last Hurrah For Alex Rose

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

NEW YORK — Although some of the vicious anti-organization; anti-Arthur Goldberg passion will wash away following the Democratic party's state committee endorsement Wednesday, the success of the Goldberg gubernatorial campaign depends on something else: the sphinxlike mood of Alex Rose, boss of the Liberal party.

Rose can make or break Goldberg. Without the votes of the Liberal party next November, Goldberg would have to be counted a distinct underdog to Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, running for an unprecedented fourth four-year term.

Rose's Liberal party never once has backed Rockefeller. Moreover, Republican Mayor John V. Lindsay, who owed this second-term reelection last November directly to Alex Rose, would like nothing better than to retire Rockefeller permanently in the gubernatorial race this year.

It would seem only natural, then, that Rose, gently pushed by Lindsay, would steer his Liberal party into the anti-Rockefeller camp by nominating the same ticket headed by Goldberg which the Democrats will most likely choose in the June primary.

Instead, Rose is now seriously pondering a wholly different scenario: Robert Morgenthau, the former U.S. attorney for the southern district of New York, for Governor and possibly Republican Sen. Charles Goodell for Senator. Rose and Goodell had a long, secret talk last week.

The ostensible reason for a decision by the aging Rose to play the Democratic party wrecker is quite simple. Now on stage for what is surely the last scene of his remarkably shrewd political performance over two decades, Rose wants his party to recapture its position as the third largest party in the state, (which it lost to the Conservative party by a mere 3,000 votes in the 1966 gubernatorial election).

If the Liberal party simply endorses the Democratic ticket, and puts that ticket on the Liberal line after the June primary (a legally possible arrangement), they risk a small vote indeed in the November election. Most voters would simply finesse the Liberal line and vote for the same nominees on the Democratic party's line.

To maximize his party's total vote, Rose accordingly would want his own ticket, headed by a well-known and respectable gubernatorial candidate, and that's where Morgenthau comes in. With Democrat Morgenthau (now on leave from his have as one of Lindsay's deputy mayors) and Republican Goodell heading the Liberal ticket, Rose could expect to run up more votes than if he plays poor relation to the Democratic ticket.

That, then, is the ostensible reason for the enigmatic political games Rose has lately been playing, culminating in Morgenthau's bombshell announcement on March 26 that he would run for Governor in the Democratic primary no matter what happened this week at the party's state committee meeting.

It is assumed here, that Morgenthau has given Rose a hard pledge to run as the Liberal party's nominee for Governor no matter how badly he might do in the Democratic primary.

But maximizing the Liberal party's vote in the November election is only one explanation for Rose's possible refusal to back Goldberg. The other reason is Goldberg himself.

Last fall, Goldberg unaccountably failed to seek

Strength For Today

Watch Out For The Precipice Modern thought is harassed with what is known as secularism. The word "secular" comes from a Latin word which means "age." To be secular means to adapt one's thought to the ways of the world.

Just at present we happen to be living in a scientific age. Man has made so many momentous discoveries in the past century that he has come to feel no need of God and to believe in his own resourcefulness to such an extent that he believes he can meet any situation.

Almost every book we read today is based upon the assumption that man is the measure of all things. Our present moral decline, our social chaos, our class struggle, our tense international situation are all largely the result of this hideous misconception. Man is not the measure of all things; God the Creator is the measure of all things. Man is a creature, and when he gets to the place where he believes himself to be the creator, he is walking into a booby trap which will some day blow him and his illusions to pieces.

Is happiness the chief end in life? Is comfort worth any price we pay for it? Is man destined to go on and on in his discoveries until he and his discoveries the secret of life itself and then can mold life to his fancy?

Let us be careful. Folly of this sort lead over the precipice. God is the measure of all things, not man

A Son Going To Canada

WASHINGTON — My friend Adman's 19-year-old son came in the office to see me the other day.

"I've decided to go to Canada rather than serve in the United States Army."

"Is it because of the war in Vietnam?" I asked.

"No. It's just that I don't want to work in the post office."

"I don't understand."

"I have to live with myself. And I don't think I could do it, knowing what I have done to somebody else's mail."

"But," I said, trying to talk him out of leaving the country. "There's no guarantee just because you're in the United States Army, you will have to work in a post office. You might be assigned to running the railroads, in case they go out on strike."

Other Editors Say National Strikes

(Christian Science Monitor)

There are two kinds of strikes in the United States. One is that against individual or corporate employers, no matter how large or how widespread, but which does not directly threaten national well-being or efficiency. The second kind, even if it is against private employers as would be the case of a nationwide teamsters' strike, is a threat against the nation's very livelihood and ability to operate.

The second type of strike is not only the more dangerous but the harder to control. The letter carriers' walk-off, the federal air traffic controllers' "sick-out," the possibility of a teamsters' work stoppage, the shutdowns on New York City's subways, a railway workmen's strike, all these are more than mere labor troubles. They are direct challenges to a modern, complex nation's ability to keep going.

Somehow, sometime, someone must find a means of settling wage and working disputes in such fields without resort to strikes. Perhaps compulsory arbitration might be the answer, if carried out with a kind of Olympian power and a Solomonic wisdom. But even the results of compulsory arbitration must be accepted before they can succeed.

For, and America might as well face this fact, it is well nigh impossible to force any large body of men and women to perform their duties satisfactorily, if at all, unless they wish to do so. New York State, which sought to ban strikes against public agencies with Draconian measures, found out that this policy did not work.

Nor is it enough to appeal to the protesters' patriotism, conscience, or sense of public service, if they feel that they alone in society are being singled out for sacrifice. These are days when human beings have a highly heightened sense of their rights as individuals and of their power as members of groups. One result of this has been an unwonted touchiness and militancy in all public affairs.

The only real way, and the only right way, to control strikes which threaten the public weal is to (a) set up adequate advance arbitration machinery, (b) make sure that grievances are tackled well before any walk-out deadline, (c) handle the situation in such a way that, if a strike occurs, public opinion will be solidly behind those who had conscientiously sought to reach a fair settlement. In a society as complex and as vulnerable as America's, no other road seems open.

April To Be Turbulent Month

By ELMER ROESSNER

April will be a turbulent month. There will be tough labor disputes, strikes, violence on picket lines. There will be considerable confusion over which way business is drifting. Unless the Federal Reserve takes steps — and it will may — money, which has been slightly more available in March, will be tight. Prices will continue their upward thrust. Retail sales will increase slowly if at all.

The Teamsters' dispute with employers is coming to a head. While negotiations over the expired contract will continue, there may be many wildcat strikes in efforts to frighten employers. Other strikes are pending and sunny spring days encourage walkouts.

Business movements will depend much on what happens to monetary controls.

The Federal Reserve and the Nixon administration are under tremendous pressure from business to ease the money situation. Yet the President's advisors know that if money is made easier to borrow, inflation — which won't go away anyhow — will be speeded up.

Best guess: controls will continue awhile in hopes of a miracle.

A Money Drain
The A.T. & T. financing project — $1.5 billion now and $1.5 billion later — will create more than a ripple as investors start making commitments to give Mother Bell their money. It will cause a drain on savings deposits and other means of savings.

However, it should be remembered that Mother Bell is not going to sit on this money like eggs; she is going to spend for expansion and improvement of telephone service — and goodness knows we need it.

The Bell System can create a boom by itself, providing contracts for new plants and equipment, creating jobs, accelerating the flow of money. However, this will not be immediate. Plans have been drawn up, but it will take months to activate them.

While the stock market will see some spurts, big investors will continue wary and for the most part will stay on the sidelines. There is not likely to be a stock boom until corporations begin to show substantial increases in income, which are still over the horizon.

The Price Situation
There is no reason to expect any general leveling off of consumer prices. For one thing, industrial prices keep on rising. This is price rise day in the chemical industry; scores of prices have been announced for rises on April Fool's Day.

For another thing, income keeps on rising, although at a bit slower rate, despite the rise of unemployment. There will be, of course, some distress price cuts as there have been in the apparel industry. But for the most part, prices will keep on rising, gaily and daily.

Choose Coffee Breaks

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Many Americans stay on the job today not because they like work or need the money but because they enjoy the coffee breaks.

These twice-a-day pauses in the office grind have become the nation's most popular social institution. They are better than cocktail parties because, after all, you don't get paid while attending a cocktail party.

Employees who used to phone in sick at the slightest sneeze now drag themselves into the office, even though they look at death's door, because they can't stand the thought of staying home and missing the goings-on during the coffee breaks.

A sociologist who made a study of these functions would find the following cast of characters at a typical company cafeteria coffee break:

Clarion Clara—Everybody likes to join the throng at the table of this breezy belle, because she works in the personnel department, sees all the memos, and has all the latest inside gossip. The best way to keep your own reputation safe is to sit with Clara, so she can't talk about you.

Milton the Miser—He never forks out a dime for a cup of java. He simply roams the place stealing napkins, sugar cubes, and plastic tableware for the use of his wife, his 10 kids, and his dear old mother-in-law.

The Shop Steward—Actually he hates coffee, but he is ruining his stomach drinking 12 cups a day because in 1953 he found a fly in one. His big hope now is that he can find a second fly in another cup and thus have grounds for a union grievance against an unsanitary and negligent management.

Bibulous Bill—After carefully pouring three drops of coffee in the bottom of his plastic cup, he goes out to his locker and fills it up the rest of the way with bourbon. By the end of the day Bill is so high he puts his arm around the water cooler and starts telling it off-color jokes.

Henry the Hermit—He buys two cups of coffee and deliberately spills one all over the table so no one will want to sit with him. Then he opens a copy of Henry George's "Progress and Poverty" and reads it in aloof silence. Once or twice a year he startles everybody by breaking out in a wild chuckle.

Socialable Sid—He thinks the way to get ahead is to charm everyone, and feels that day is lost in which he fails to slap every other employee on the back at least twice. His morning coffee break lasts all morning; his afternoon coffee break lasts all afternoon. The only time he leaves the cafeteria is to go to the washroom.

Bertram the Businessman—While others are wasting their time enjoying their coffee, Bertie goes from table to table trying to peddle them something. He'll sell you anything

Income taxes, federal and in many states and cities, will also hit savings in April and, in the next two weeks, slow consumer spending. Spring weather will give its annual stimulus to auto sales.

And the price of the blue plate special will go up everywhere.

African Grass Becomes California Pest

Florida has trouble with invading walking catfish. Now California is plagued by kikuyu grass. It is a tough, weedlike grass that is taking over gardens, lawns, football fields and highway shoulders.

It is an African grass that was introduced from Hawaii in the 1920s as an erosion control and forage crop. But it got out of control and has spread from San Francisco to San Diego. It spreads by seeds and parts, it is spread by water, manure, farm equipment and shoes. Its stolons can spread 10 feet in a growing season and roots have been found 18 feet deep.

Some chemicals have been found to control it.

Pick Pactolus Girl Telecast To Attend Program By Church

Miss Deanie Harris, a junior at Stokes-Pactolus High School, is one of 16 high school junior girls in the United States to attend a summer program sponsored by the Telluride Association of Ithaca, N.Y.

The program entitled "The Nature of Violence" will be conducted by distinguished professors from eastern United programs have been offered each summer since 1954. The experience is a time of concentrated growth for each individual participating and an opportunity for promising students to meet and exchange ideas with other students from all parts of the country and from a wide variety of backgrounds.

Miss Harris is the first Pitt County student to attend the Telluride Programs.

Aiken Elected To Student Post

WINSTON-SALEM — Mike Aiken, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl L. Aiken of 1213 Drexel Lane, Greenville, has been elected treasurer of the student body at Wake Forest University.

Aiken is a junior majoring in biology. He is a member of the Beta Beta Beta, honorary biology fraternity, and Alpha Epsilon Delta, honorary pre-medicine fraternity.

He is a senator for Kitchin Residence House and has been a representative to the Student Government Legislature.

Vera the Vamp—This office cutie isn't looking for coffee—she's looking for a husband. Anything that moves and is masculine is a target for Vera.

Everytime she adjusts her skirt or takes a sip from her cup, she makes it appear as if she were playing a scene in a Roman orgy staged by Cecil B. DeMille.

The Mighty Man Himself—A sudden silence falls as the Boss stalks into the cafeteria on his once-a-month visit, somberly draws his cup of coffee, stares bleakly around at the abashed revelers and goes back to his office. There, as he drinks it in solitary grandeur, he wonders why everybody has more fun during the office coffee breaks than he does.

"You're being too pessimistic," I said. "What's to prevent you as a soldier from replacing a fireman or a policeman or even a social worker during a municipal strike? Just because you put on the uniform of the U. S. Army doesn't mean you'll be assigned to the mail."

"I'd rather be a live coward," he said, "than a dead ZIP code breaker."

"But if you go to Canada and the postal strike is over you won't be permitted to come back to the United States."

"I've made up my mind. I've seen what happened to other GIs who worked in the post office. They've become embittered and mean and cruel. Give a guy a stamp-canceling machine and he becomes an animal. They're not going to make me into a monster."

"Look, instead of making you work in the post office, suppose the Army assigned you to Saigon? How would you feel then?"

"Well," he said, "that would be different."

Belvoir Church Plans Youth Sunday Program

Sunday will be "Youth Sunday" at Belvoir F.W.B. Church in Belvoir, according to an announcement by the pastor, Rev. Frank Giunta.

"Our young people are taking over the Sunday School and parts of the morning worship in the service honoring youth and as an effort to close the generation gap," Rev. Giunta commented.

Set Pre-School Clinic Dates

Winterville High School will hold its preschool clinic on April 6 and 7 from 9 o'clock A.M. to 12 o'clock noon each day.

Parents who have children who will be 6 years old no later than midnight of October 16, 1970, are asked to attend the clinic. They should bring the child's birth certificate, immunization record, and personal data sheet. Necessary form may be obtained from the school.

It will not be necessary for parents to bring the child who is to be enrolled.

The young people taking the place of adult teachers and leaders for the program include — in the Sunday School — Beginner's Class, Sue Lewis; primary, Deborah Stancill; junior, Sherry Pollard; intermediate, Teresa Pollard; junior high, Deborah Pollard; low-teen, Steven Giunta; high-teen, Emma J. Evans; and superintendent of Sunday School, Johnny Corbett.

Pianist will be Linda Cobb, with Inga Overton as song leader. Ushers for the service are Harold Peaden, Mitchell Pollard, Mike Pollard, and Carlton Corbett.

Rev. Giunta will use as his subject "A Young Life With Christ On The Throne."

Set Pre-School Clinic April 16

Bethel Elementary School will hold its Pre-school Clinic on Thursday morning April 16 from 9 A.M. to 12 Noon. All parents who have a child entering the first grade at Bethel Elementary in the fall should attend the clinic. Parents should bring with them the child's immunization records, birth certificate, medical examination form, and the parent information blanks. Parents who have not registered their child and do not have the necessary information blanks should get in contact with Bethel Elementary School.

guidance on his 1970 plans from Rose, king maker in the just-finished mayoral race. He went instead to former Gov. Averell Harriman. That meeting not only angered Rose, who has more than his share of vanity, but also exposed Goldberg to silly charges of being a creature of the "bosses."

Goldberg compounded that error by failing to consult Rose a second time, when on March 19 he announced his 180-degree change of mind and said he would run for Governor after all.

Intimates of Rose say that he is furious over these sins of omission by his old friend Arthur Goldberg.

Steele To Address Regional JC Meet

G. Fred Steele Jr. will be the guest speaker at the North Carolina Jaycees Northeast Regional Meeting scheduled for Saturday and Sunday at the Moose Lodge here.

Currently serving as Federal co-chairman of the Coastal Plains Regional Commission in Washington, D. C., Steele will address the 7:30 Saturday night assembly.

Steele was twice a congressional candidate on the Republican ticket from the Fourth District of North Carolina. He was appointed top Federal representative on the Regional Commission by President Nixon in 1969 and took office on April 11, 1969, following Senate confirmation.

A past president of the Durham Association of Insurance Agents, he was educated in the public schools of Georgia and North Carolina and attended North Georgia College and the Georgia School of Technology.

Over 300 Jaycees and their wives from some 22 counties and 33 Jaycee chapters located throughout the northeast section of the state are expected to attend the session.

Registration for the meeting will begin at 10 a. m. Saturday and will be followed by various workshops that day and Sunday.

Various candidates who are running for state offices in the North Carolina Jaycees are also expected to attend.

APPOINTED RALEIGH (AP) — Kenneth Snow of Washington, N. C., was appointed to the Mid-East Regional Airport Authority Thursday by Gov. Bob Scott.

Peas in a Pod?

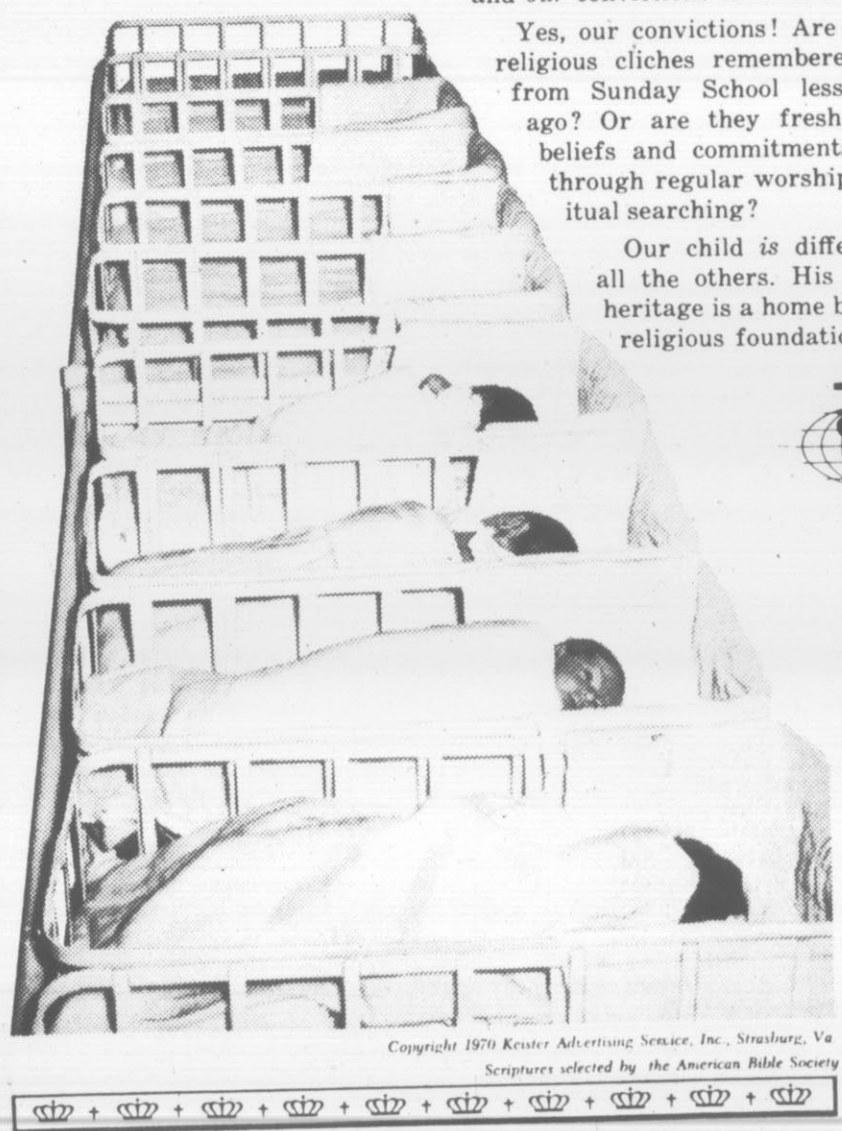

All men are created equal! But their mothers see it differently. And their fathers don't hand out cigars simply to attest to their part in the population explosion.

It's natural to believe that our child is just a bit different from all the others.

Surely he has our love to start him off, our good sense to guide his development and our convictions to mold his.

Yes, our convictions! Are they stale religious cliches remembered vaguely from Sunday School lessons years ago? Or are they fresh, vigorous beliefs and commitments acquired through regular worship and spiritual searching?

Our child is different from all the others. His immediate heritage is a home built on our religious foundation.

Increased Leaf Loan Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 1970 crop support loan program for tobacco calling for an increase of about 4.3 per cent over 1969 levels as required by law was announced Thursday by the Agriculture Department.

The law stipulates that tobacco price supports reflect higher prices of goods and services farmers purchased during the past three years compared with 1959 average prices.

The average level of supports for the 1970 crop and 1969 crop, respectively, average loan levels in cents per pound include: Flue-cured, types 11-14, 66.6 cents a pound for the 1970 crop and 63.8 cents for the 1969 crop; barley, type 31, 68.6 and 65.8.

of New Haven, Conn., and Mrs. Mae Etta Williams of Baltimore, Md.; two brothers, James Earl Hardy of New Haven, Conn., and Maj. William Henry Hardy of U. S. Army, stationed in Vietnam; two grandchildren; seven aunts, six uncles.

The body will remain at the Norcott and Co. Funeral Home Chapel from 5 p. m. Saturday until one hour prior to the funeral.

Taylor

ROBERSONVILLE — Mr. Ferdinand Augustus Taylor, 74, died last night at 8:25 in the Robersonville Township Hospital. He was a native of Martin County and the son of the late Mr. Ferdinand Baker Taylor and Mrs. Fannie Gurganus Taylor.

Mr. Taylor was a member of the First Christian Church here. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Lina Gurganus Taylor; three daughters by a previous marriage, Mrs. Graham Caddell of Darlington, S. C., Mrs. D. R. Everett Jr. of Raleigh and Mrs. R. E. Wiber Jr. of Richmond, Va.; a sister, Mrs. Howard Vandiford of Robersonville; a brother, Palmer Taylor of Hamilton; six grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Biggs Funeral Chapel, Robersonville, conducted by the Rev. Don Weaver. Burial will follow in the Robersonville Cemetery.

Correction

A statement attributed to Dr. W. E. Fulford, Jr., Pitt Tech president, in an address to the Farmville Rotary Club was incorrect as it appeared in Thursday's Daily Reflector.

The statement should have read: "This referendum, if passed, would mean a maximum seven cents tax levy. A 'no' vote would continue to allow no limit on the amount of tax monies that could be appropriated to the institution."

Knicks, Suns Post Victories

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It's probably only a quirk of the National Basketball Association's solar system, but the Suns are rising in the West.

The Phoenix Suns, that is, in the Western Division.

The surprising Suns burned Los Angeles 112-98 Thursday night and took a 2-1 lead over the favored Lakers in their best-of-7 Western semifinal series.

In the East, the New York Knicks clobbered Baltimore 101-80 for a 3-2 edge over the powderless Bullets, who misfired terribly in the fourth period, when they managed a meager three baskets in 30 shots and were outscored 25-11.

The other two semifinal series could end tonight. In the East, the Philadelphia 76ers, down three games to one, take on the Milwaukee Bucks at Madison, Wis. The Atlanta Hawks, winners of the Western regular season pennant, go after a four-game sweep of the Bulls in Chicago.

"We've got them (the Lakers) where we want them—at home," said Jerry Colangelo, the Phoenix coach-general manager, when his club returned from a split in Los Angeles.

The Suns took a slim lead in the third period Thursday night and poured it on in the fourth. Gail Goodrich paced the Suns with 29 points and Paul Silas had 21, along with 16 rebounds, as Phoenix controlled the boards 59-32.

Jerry West topped the Lakers with 31 points but Elgin Baylor and Wilt Chamberlain were held to a subpar 20 and 11, respectively.

"The play of Paul Silas has been the big story of the series," Baylor said before the game. "We expected Connie Hawkins to get his share of points and rebounds. But Silas, he's been a little too much."

Silas has 78 points and 53 rebounds in the three games. Hawkins scored 19 points Thursday night.

The Knicks bounced back from two straight defeats and walloped the Bullets behind a scintillating 36-point, record 36-rebound performance by Willis Reed, the NBA's most valuable player.

"He chased me off the court," said Baltimore's Wes Unseld, who outrebounded the entire New York team with 34 in Sunday's game as the Bullets began their comeback. Unseld had only 10 points and 13 rebounds Thursday night.

Reed took a cortisone shot in his ailing left knee and said, "It did the job, but I hope I don't have to take another one before Sunday," meaning the nationally televised (ABC-TV) sixth game in Baltimore.

The Knicks led only 76-69 after three periods but moved out to a 91-72 spread as the Bullets canned only one of their first 18 shots in the final quarter.

"I saw what Unseld did to us in the third game," said Reed, whose 36 rebounds was a team record, "and I decided I could do it, too. That game I just didn't have it, and sometimes the ball just doesn't bounce your way. Tonight it did."

Casper Commuting To Dinner Between Rounds

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Golf Writer
GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Billy Casper will be commuting to Washington, D.C. between rounds of the $180,000 Greater Greensboro Open golf tournament this week.

Casper, one of three men who have a million dollars in winnings on the pro tour, has been invited by President Nixon to a dinner at the White House Saturday night.

But the soft-spoken Casper already had committed himself to play in the rain-plagued Greensboro tournament when the invitation arrived and had to make arrangements to commute.

He will fly to Washington immediately after completing play Saturday, attend the dinner, then return to the 36-hole wind-up on Sunday.

"It's a rather tight schedule," he admitted, "but it's a great honor to be invited."

The first round, scheduled to be played Thursday, was washed out by a torrential rain storm that made the Sedgfield Country Club course unplayable.

Tournament officials now have single rounds scheduled to day and Saturday, with a double round of 36 holes set for Sunday.

Casper, the 38-year-old quiet man who ranks as one of the game's greatest competitors, is returning to the tour after a five week absence. He skipped the entire Florida tour.

"I caught the measles down there last year," said Casper, who is bothered by a variety of allergy problems, "and I was still a little scared about playing there. Maybe I'll try it again next year."

Casper, often overlooked by galleries who flock to the more colorful players, was one of the top candidates for the $36,000 first prize at Greensboro, and is a leading contender for next week's prestigious masters.

"I really don't know how my game is right now," Casper said. "I've been off for a long time and really haven't played much. Sometimes, however, when I come back from a layoff like this I come back pretty strongly."

"We'll just have to wait and see. "I've played reasonably well this year, but golf is a strange game. It's a humbling game. All you can do is play your best from week to week."

Casper won the first event on the schedule this year, beating young Hale Erwin in a playoff for the Los Angeles Open title. And Casper said he shouldn't have won it.

Rose To Host Wave

Rose High School's baseball team will play host to Williamston Saturday at 2 p.m. at Guy Smith Stadium.

The game is a benefit for the high school's baseball program. Admission will be by donation only.

Williamston is the defending state 2-A champion, while the Rampants went to the Eastern finals of the State 3-A competition last year before bowing.

The Rampants were scheduled to play a doubleheader with Robersonville this afternoon in Robersonville.

Seattle Suit Is Year Away

SEATTLE (AP) — The Seattle Pilots became a thing of the past Thursday when a bankruptcy referee affixed his signature to an order allowing the American League team's sale to Milwaukee Brewers Inc.

But the past apparently is going to be recalled by loud echoes one of these days.

William Dwyer, special assistant state attorney general, said an $82 million antitrust suit against the league and the owners of the defunct Seattle baseball franchise probably will come up in court in about a year.

The suit, brought by Washington State and Seattle, seeks damages for economic injury it contends will result from loss of the Pilots.

When the federal bankruptcy referee, Sidney Volinn, signed the order at 7:50 p.m. EST, he gave the state and the city the go ahead on the suit.

Aaron Continues Hot Pace In Leading Win

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer
Chicago was in a deep freeze. Milwaukee and Montreal were snowed under. But Hank Aaron, like a summer day in Atlanta, was sizzling ... and so were Tom Seaver and Jim Palmer.

While baseball's northern cities, readying themselves for next week's season openers despite heavy spring snowfalls, continued digging out Thursday, Atlanta slugger Aaron and pitching stars Seaver of the New York Mets and Palmer of Baltimore sparkled in exhibition victories in the southland.

Aaron drilled four hits, bringing his spring batting average to a glossy .500 and leading the Braves past Cleveland 6-3 at Tucson, Ariz.

Seaver, tuning up for his opening day assignment in Pittsburgh Tuesday, fired seven shutout innings as the Mets trimmed the Pirates 2-0 under the lights at St. Petersburg, Fla. Palmer, going the full nine innings for the Orioles at Houston, beat the Astros 4-1 with a three-hitter.

New snowstorms in wintry Chicago forced the Cubs and White Sox to shift their weekend exhibition windup series from the Windy City to Tulsa, Okla. The Cubs nipped the White Sox 5-4 at Arlington, Tex., Thursday night on Glenn Beckert's run-scoring single with two out in the eighth inning.

In Milwaukee, eager fans plodded through slush at County Stadium after a six-inch snowfall to buy Brewers' season tickets. The new American League club, successor to the ill-fated Seattle Pilots, is scheduled to entertain California Tuesday in its opener. "It's bedlam," summed up a club official.

And in Montreal, where the Expos are to play their home opener next Wednesday against St. Louis, six inches of snow fell ... The day after groundskeepers cleared Jarry Park of snow and ice accumulated through the Canadian winter.

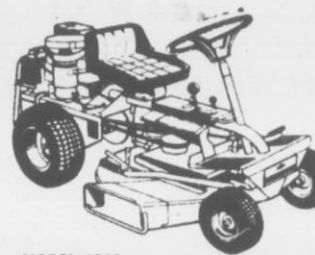

"We had the field in excellent shape," said Lou Martin, the Expos' director of operations, "and the 10 tons of straw I had on the infield all winter left everything fine. Now we've got to start again."

Left-hander Chris Short, making a new start with Philadelphia after missing almost the entire 1969 season following a back operation, pitched six scoreless innings, giving up two hits, in a 5-0 victory over Kansas City. Short has allowed just two earned runs in 28 innings this spring.

In other exhibition action, the New York Yankees outscored Montreal 9-7; Detroit slugged Washington 11-3; Oakland bounced Milwaukee 11-4; San Francisco downed San Diego 8-2; Minnesota shaded Boston 5-4 and the Phils' "B" squad beat Cincinnati 8-4.

In other developments, Washington released Zoilo Versalles, the veteran shortstop who was the AL's Most Valuable Player in 1965, and St. Louis traded infielder Steve Huntz to San Diego for relief pitcher Billy McCool.

The hot hitting of Aaron, who has gone 21 for 42 in exhibition play, helped knuckleballer Phil Niekro toss the Braves past the Indians and Sam McDowell, who struck out 12 in seven innings but was rocked for 13 hits. Niekro scattered six Cleveland hits over the first eight innings. Seaver checked the hard-hit

McLain Says He'll Be Ready To Play July 1

By LARRY PALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer
LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — "When he comes back, he'll be in shape—period. He's that kind of guy," emphasized Detroit Tiger third base coach Grover Reisinger of Denny McLain Thursday.

McLain, the 26-year-old Tiger pitching star, was suspended by Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn Wednesday until July 1. Kuhn said the punishment was for McLain's association with gamblers involved in an alleged bookmaking operation in Flint, Mich., in 1967.

McLain said later after Kuhn's announcement that he wanted to pitch immediately upon his return. The Tigers host New York July 1 and Manager Mayo Smith said he would start Denny and even joked that McLain might shut out the Yankees.

McLain will not be allowed to work out with the Tigers and General Manager Jim Campbell said he doubted if McLain would be allowed to play semi-pro ball.

"I don't know who I'll be able to work out with," McLain said. "I have no immediate plans on my pitching."

"It's my understanding that I can't be associated with semi-pro ball, so I'll just have to wait and see," he added.

Campbell said "Nothing can keep him from going to an independent ball park and getting semi-pros to work with him."

In the meantime, McLain will probably continue pitching to his brother Tim. Tim, 22, was formerly a pitcher in the Chicago White Sox's farm system until an auto accident resulted in torn neck ligaments and he quit baseball to finish college.

McLain, who now calls Lakeland home, has been playing considerable golf and said his legs are in good shape.

Meanwhile, the Tigers open the American League season Monday in Washington, with Mickey Lolich expected to pitch. Southpaw Lolich has long been in McLain's shadow, but is now considered the team's No. 1 pitcher—at least until July 1.

Bucs Not Out Of Race Yet

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Don't count the New Orleans Buccaneers out of the American Basketball Association playoffs, not yet anyway.

Last in the Western Division, the Bucs kept alive their hopes for a playoff berth by beating the Washington Caps 115-104 Thursday night.

It was the third straight victory for the Bucs and moved them within two games of third-place Dallas. The defeat dropped the runnerup Caps 2½ games back of first-place Denver in the West.

Kentucky beat Indiana 112-94 and Pittsburgh whipped Miami 125-117 in the other ABA scheduled games.

Ron Franz was the big gun for New Orleans. He led the Bucs with 26 points and also did a good job of guarding Rick Barry, Washington star. Barry threw in 22.

Kentucky spotted Indiana a 9-0 lead then came from behind to end a nine-game losing streak to the Pacers. Darel Carrier topped the Colonels with 24 points. Bob Netolicky was high for the Pacers with 20.

Louie Dampier, who scored 21 points for the Colonels, left the game in the last period with an injured toe. He is to go an examination to determine if the toe is broken.

George Thompson led Pittsburgh over Miami with 30 points as the Pipers beat the Floridians for the seventh time in 11 games this season. George Lehmann was high for Miami with 34.

Red Sox, Twins Are AL Picks

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — If anybody is going to beat the Baltimore Orioles in the American League East, it will be the Boston Red Sox. If anybody is going to top the Minnesota Twins in the American League West, it will be the Oakland A's.

It says here the Red Sox will do the job on the Orioles, although they finished third, 22 games back, in 1969, but Minnesota will stagger past Oakland in the West only to be ambushed by the Red Sox in the pennant playoff.

Each division shapes up as a two-team race. Detroit appears demoralized by the Denny McLain affair. Washington can cause trouble. The New York Yankees still lack long ball punch and Cleveland just doesn't have it. Behind Minnesota and Oakland in the West, Kansas City, Chicago and California figure to scramble for the crumbs with Seattle-Milwaukee in the rear.

In the two-division system, each team plays each of the other five teams in its division 18 times and each of the six in the other division 12 times. The Twins fattened up on the West last season and should do it again.

Jim Lonborg appears back on the beam. The addition of Gary Peters from the White Sox seems to have given the Red Sox a solid pitching base that includes Ray Culp and Mike Nagy. George Scott had an outstanding spring and Carl Yastrzemski had one of his best exhibition seasons. Catching appears to be Boston's chief problem now that Luis Alvarado has fitted into the infield at third base.

Here's the way the two divisions look from here:

Brewers Sell 1000 1st Day

By BOB GREENE
Associated Press Sports Writer
MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee miracle—part two—began unfolding Thursday as fans starting lining up to purchase tickets for the Milwaukee Brewers baseball games.

Lines formed in front of every ticket window before the office opened at 9 a.m., a Brewers' official said, and brisk business was reported all day.

When the office closed Thursday, more than 1,000 season tickets had been sold. Single game tickets for Tuesday's opener and Wednesday's contest against the California Angels went on sale today.

Because of the closeness of the season opener, tickets are available only at the Milwaukee County Stadium. On Thursday, six inches of wet snow and slush covered the area. Yet the fans continued to pour into the facility to buy tickets.

Brewers officials are hoping for a sellout for the season's first game.

Bat boys, uniforms, office staff, working press tickets and a myriad of other details are being worked on.

Station WEMP, which also broadcast games of the old Braves, was retained Thursday to originate the play-by-play broadcasts, feeding a network of 40 to 50 stations throughout Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, Illinois and Upper Michigan.

The selection of a station for television coverage of certain road games will be announced later, the Brewers said.

Long Putt For An Ace

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — There have been hundreds of holes in one—but a 141-yard putt?

Al Doerfler, 63, wasn't on a miniature golf course, either. Seven other golfers witnessed his tee-off putt on the 16th tee of the Monte Vista Course at Cottonwood Country Club Thursday.

His shot carried about 110 yards, bounced twice and rolled into the cup.

"They've been giving me a bad time about using my putter on those short par threes," said Al. "Now I've got them laughing out of the other side of their mouths."

Club pro Cliff Crandall said he had never before "heard of a hole-in-one on a regulation golf course with a putter, and I've been around the game 26 years."

How can you pick against the Orioles, a team that finished 19 games in front of Detroit last year?

Just go back a year. Detroit had won the 1968 pennant by 12 games and had polished off the St. Louis Cardinals in a seven-game World Series. The Tigers appeared just as unbeatable last spring as the Orioles today.

The Orioles have a solid lineup from top to bottom with fine power in Boog Powell, Frank Robinson, Brooks Robinson and Paul Blair. Mike Cuellar, Dave McNally, Jim Palmer and Tom Phoebus are tough pitchers to crack. A rookie has to be a new Ty Cobb to break into the starting lineup. Still, this same awesome array of talent fell before the Mets last October. It could happen again.

Boston is hungry. With a new manager, Eddie Kasko, at the helm to create a new spirit of togetherness on a club that feuded with Dick Williams last year, they could recapture the spark of 1967.

Much depends on Alvarado, a hotshot shortstop in the minors but now a third baseman. If he makes it, Scott can remain in first where he prefers to play. Rico Petrocelli and Mike Andrews form a fine second short combo and the outfield of Yaz, Eggie Smith and Tony Conigliaro is second to none.

Ted Williams worked miracles with his Washington club last year, finishing only one game behind the red Sox. With hitters like Frank Howard, Ken McMullen and Mike Ejersten to carry the load, the Senators could sneak into third place.

The McLain case and a subsequent magazine article by Bill Freehan, who wrote of dissension in the clubhouse, may have wrecked the Tigers. Mickey Lolich must carry the heavy load. The lineup still is solid with Willie Horton, Al Kaline, Jim Northrop, Mickey Stanley, Norm Cash and Freehan to swing the bat. Who can replace McLain's 24 wins? The answer is easy — nobody.

Ralph Houk hopes to get more zing in the batting order with Curt Blefary in right field and Danny Cater on first. Rookie Catcher Thurman Munson must come through big and Bobby Murcer must have a big year or Mel Stottlemyre, Fritz Peterson and Stan Bahnsen must struggle along without any big innings.

Ken Harrelson's loss was a tough blow to the Cleveland club even if Dean Chance comes back to help Sam McDowell.

The Twins floundered through spring training, losing nine in a row at one stage. Harmon Killebrew, bothered by a chronic knee condition, was slowing around. Bill Rigney is counting on Luis Tiant to step in there with Jim Kaat, Jim Perry and Dave Boswell while the Killer and Tony Oliva do the heavy bombing.

Oakland might just be ready to make its move. The A's gave the Twins a scare last year until the very end. The addition of Don Mincher and Felipe Alou, plus the holdover power of Reggie Jackson and Rick Monday should keep them in most games.

Kansas City surprised a lot of people last year and Charlie Metro will be cracking the whip to get the most out of the players he personally picked as scouting director in the expansion draft. The White Sox are short on pitching and the Angels are weak at the bat. The three should finish in a pack with third fourth and fifth up for grabs.

And the Seattle Pilots? They won't even be in the league this season. Milwaukee's Brewers will have to be satisfied with dreams of the future.

Mabel's dejection is shared by millions of mothers so scrapbook this case. For a lot of meticulous housewives "chew out" their mates about a messy house. Yet a messy house is more likely to be a happy home especially if children are therein. But use the methods below to make kiddies more responsible.

By - GEORGE W. CRANE,
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE M-557: Mabel D., aged 32, is discouraged. "Dr. Crane," she began, "my husband is a crank about neatness.

"At his office, everything is spotless and efficiently sorted or filed on schedule.

"But my end of the line here at home is usually a mess!

"For we have 4 children, ranging from 3 to 10, plus a dog and a cat.

"Despite my nagging and harping on neatness, our children forget to hang up their clothes or put their toys away. "So their daddy scolds me and almost blows his top. Can you offer any helpful suggestions?"

Yes, you mothers can perk up in your morale by realizing that a messy house usually indicates a happy home!

That is especially true when you have several kiddies who run and romp indoors.

If you were to make them remain as prim and proper all day long as typical Little Lord Fautleroy, you'd hamper their proper psychological development.

For children, as well as puppies, kittens and other young creatures, enjoy rollicking play and are not to be placed in the adult straight jacket of a constantly meticulous environment.

You mothers can offer a neat house to special guests when you have advance warning of their arrival.

By a frenzied job of quick housecleaning, plus prompting your kiddies to remain parlor "dolls," you may offer visitors an exposure of a spic and span household for possibly a few hours.

But is simply cannot last very long, for soon the youngsters will revert to normal.

They'll then turn the chairs over on their side to form a train or airplane and will play havoc with that "show case" appearance which you offered your guests.

So bolster your ego and temper your husband's criticisms by remembering that a messy house is more likely to be a happy home for kiddies!

But send for the booklet below and let your children rate themselves thereon.

Also, use the public school method of appointing one child the "monitor" for a day.

He is entitled to ride herd on the rest and see that they hang up their clothes, put their toys away, wash before meals, etc.

Often we psychologists find the quickest way to snap a rebellious or careless child into line is to give him the responsibility for policing the behavior of his pals or classmates or siblings.

Another method for reducing quarrels about family cores, is to place such items on slips of paper and place them in a box or jar.

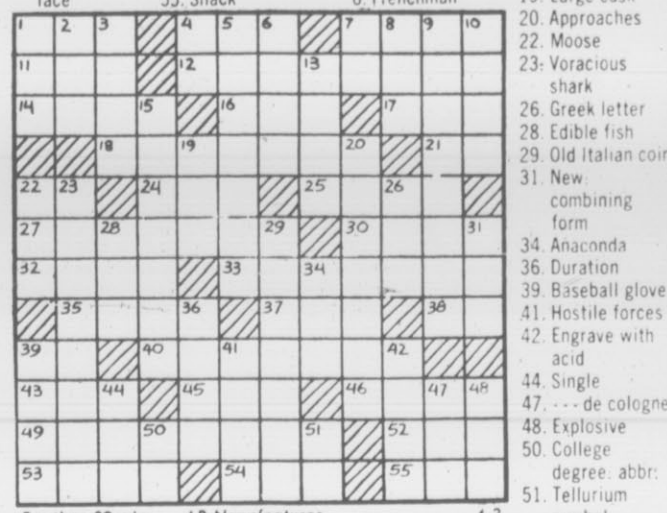

Then let each youngster, while blindfolded, pick out a slip that indicates his special task for the day.

At our house, even now, we also play a special game in which our adult children and grandchildren all participate. The loser washes the dishes and

A clever false card by East induced South, the declarer, at four hearts to dig his own grave.

West opened the king of clubs and East began a high-low signal by dropping the ten. When the ace was cashed next, he completed the echo by playing the nine. A third round of clubs was led and ruffed in dummy with the eight of hearts.

East was in position to score the jack of trumps on an overruff, however, this trick would merely serve to complete the defensive book, and he was looking beyond. With the appearance of the two top club honors from his partner's hand, East could account for 27 high card points in view. This meant that South was marked with every missing top honor to warrant his opening bid.

If East overruffed with the jack of hearts, he could expect South subsequently to take a finesse against the king of trumps and thereby eliminate his only other prospective loser. In order to avert the expected result, East chose to overruff dummy with the king of hearts.

The shift was to a spade and South put up the ace. Inasmuch as East's play of the king of hearts was made without the slightest falter, declarer concluded that the jack of hearts was held by West. He was not, therefore, tempted to finesse for that card and hoping that the honor would fall doubleton, he cashed the ace and queen of trumps.

When West showed out on the second heart, East's ruse was revealed, but too late to save South the humiliation of conceding the setting trick to his opponent.

FOR THE AFFLUENT
TOKYO (UPI)—Rents in Tokyo's newest apartment houses range from 215,000 yen ($596) to 650,000 yen ($1,805) a month for units with three to five bedrooms. Tenants must pay a deposit equal to six months' rent to move into the apartments, named Azabu Embassy Heights.

You've got a lot to live
Pepsi's got a lot to give

What we mean is this: living isn't always easy, but it never has to be dull. There's too much to see, to do, to enjoy. Put yourself behind a Pepsi-Cola and get started.
