Hubby Dominates Vacation Plans

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I've been married 22 years. We have five children, three are away at college. The two at home are boys, 11 and 15. I want to put the boys in a very fine summer camp and go to visit my mother for six weeks this summer. I have never done this before and my husband is having a fit! He says I can do it only over his dead body. (What a temptation!)

Every vacation we visit his mother, and that's where he wants to go again. The boys say they don't want to go to visit Grandmother (his mother) again this summer and I can't blame them as there is nothing for them to do there.

Only one summer since I've been married have I visited my mother. I have no objection to my husband's spending his summer vacation with his mother, but I want to spend mine with my mother. How can I persuade my husband to let me go?

DOMINATED

DEAR DOMINATED: After 22 years of admitted "Domination" it won't be easy to "assert" yourself, but you can try. Appeal to his sense of fair play and logic. If he doesn't budge, ask him to put the question to an impartial third party. And if he still gives you that "over my dead body" routine, before you leave for your mother's, ask him to sign a statement stating that when you left he was alive and kicking.

DEAR ABBY: Have you heard about the new doll they are going to put on the market? It is called the MAMMA DOLL, and this is how it is described in the newspaper advertisement:

"When the doctor lifts the mama doll's skirt, a baby doll will slide out. On the baby doll's chest is written, 'I am the result of LOVE.'"

It says in the ad that a child psychologist approves of this doll.

Abby, this is about the worst thing I have ever heard of! When they made dolls that walked, talked, and danced, that was fine, because the whole idea of a doll is to give a child something to play with, but I really thought they went a little too far when they made a doll who could wet her pants. And now this! I think the idea of making a doll who can "give birth" is SICK!

I would like your opinion. Maybe it's still not too late to stop it.

HORRIFIED

DEAR HORRIFIED: I am not as "horrified" as you, since toys today are being made to educate as well as entertain children. If such a doll is made, YOU don't have to buy one. Or would you like to impose your sense of propriety on other parents?

DEAR ABBY: You recently compared the unpleasant odor of an unwashed man to that of a "MOUNTAIN GOAT"! You surely must have meant a "BARNYARD BILLY GOAT." Mountain goats do not smell bad, but barnyard billy goats do.

The mountain goat is one of our finest and cleanest big game animals.

I think you owe the mountain goats an apology.

KNOWS HIS GOATS

DEAR KNOWS: If there is an International Brotherhood of Mountain Goats, to them I hereby offer my most humble apologies. And in the future, if I ever decide to get anybody's goat, I shall first determine whether it's Mountain or Billy.

CONFIDENTIAL TO J. M.: "He who cannot forgive others, breaks the bridge over which he himself must pass if he would ever reach heaven; for everyone has need to be forgiven." [Herbert]

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

FARMVILLE — A lady of varied talents and interests, gardening is perhaps Mrs. Virginia Frost's first love and growing flowers in pots is her favorite gardening activity. She recently wrote and had printed a "how to" booklet she called, "Everything's Going to Pot." The Farmville Junior Woman's Club is selling the $1 booklet as part of their today's house and garden tour, which includes the Frosts' garden.

The Frosts' garden is a heaven of flowering trees, shrubs and flower beds, as well as a well-kept lawn. Besides the potted plants, which are used all over the garden and terrace, perhaps the most interesting feature is a miniature vegetable garden. Short rows of many different kinds of vegetables are planted in an oval bed about 15 feet long by six feet wide. "It's plenty for my husband, Bill, and me and some to give the neighbors, too," Mrs. Frost said.

It was the neighbors who urged her to share her knowledge of potting with the public. "Both Bill and I love our garden. I guess, together, we average about two hours a day working in it. Of course, the amount of time varies with the season. March, when we're preparing for spring and summer, is the difficult month.

Even the idea of planting flowers such as narcissus and jonquils in pots rather than in beds may be new to some, but Mrs. Frost explained why she advocates potting. "Potting permits you to put color here you want it, simplifies gardening, and eliminates weeding. Potted plants can be used almost exclusively in crowded urban areas where yards are too small for wide-scale planting. They are the answer for those who don't care about large-scale, constant gardening. Even the least experienced gardener can plant annuals and bulbs in pots."

Mrs. Frost uses old fashioned red clay pots, 12 inches wide or larger. "These can be grouped in myriad ways and can be used inside planters, also," she said.

She keeps a pile of soil tucked away in the back of her garden for potting. There she empties soil from pots and mixes it with the unused soil already there. Then when needed, it's available for reuse.

"Spring bulbs like hyacinth, narcissus, tulip and jonquil do exceptionally well in pots and give a spectacular effect. Plant next spring's the latter part of November."

"I recommend annuals for late spring and summer color. Beginners may choose petunias, geraniums, zinnias, marigolds, or chrysanthemums."

"Begonias and caladiums do well in pots. Both need shade, begonias more than caladiums."

She also discusses dependable standbys such as parsley, bonanza peach, cactus, and even small trees and bushes like dwarf azalea and English boxwoods.

The booklet is also on sale at selected stores including Jefferson's Florist and Nursery and Pitt Plaza Hardware and Garden Center in Greenville and Newton's Red and White Supermarket and the Farmville Furniture Store in Farmville.

"I've been interested in gardening all my life — ever since I worked in my parents' lovely garden in Kentucky as a girl, but only in the last nine years since we built this house, have we ever had a garden of any size that was really our own. I became seriously interested in gardening in pots about the time we moved here."

Her husband is a buyer for a local tobacco company. The two of them designed their modest two-bedroom house on West Church Street here and Mrs. Frost planned the interior decor also. The house and fences are built of old brick of a mellow, almost beige color, collected from all over their adopted North Carolina. Climbing pyracantha on the front of the house and the large lawn and gardens give one the feeling of permanency.

Mrs. Frost has retired from her seasonal job with a tobacco company here in order to have more free time to paint and pursue other avocations. A semi-professional painter, she said she began this pursuit only when lessons began here in 1963 and she is still taking lessons at the Farmville Art Center weekly. She has won some 11 ribbons, six of them blue, and several honorable mentions for her paintings and sells some privately. A charter member of the Farmville Art Society, she was a leader in planning the decor of the new Art Center here and is "sort of a caretaker" of the building now.

"I know I'm fortunate to have so much free time to do anything I feel like at the moment," she said. She devotes some time to sewing and to reading, mainly history, historical novels, and biographies. She belongs to the First Christian Church here and to the Christian Women's Fellowship of that church.

Mazurek-Johnson Vows Couple Exchanges Vows In Ceremony Are Spoken On Saturday

FORT WORTH, Tex. — The Carswell Air Force Base Chapel here was the setting for the Saturday wedding of Miss Ruth Willard Johnson and John Anthony Mazurek.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Dorothy Willard Johnson of Greenville, N. C., and Mr. and Mrs. Anthony M. Mazurek of Chicago, Ill.

Chaplain, Maj. William L. Haley of Carswell officiated at the three o'clock double ring ceremony and con-celebrated the nuptial high Mass assisted by Chaplain, Capt. Joseph W. Lugo of Carswell and Rev. Fr. Emilian Novak of the University of Dallas. Lt. Col. Crandall M. Hunt, the Protestant installation chaplain, bestowed a blessing at the conclusion of the ceremony. The Pope sent his blessing in writing from Rome.

Sgt. George Hilbig escorted the bride to the altar, which was banked with sprays of white stock and daisies entwined with ivy. All pew ends were marked with tall Spanish candelabra with burning vigil lights decorated with white stock, daisies and ivy.

Lt. Col. Eugenia M. Rozboril was the organist and Doug Anderson of Abilene, Tex., was soloist. The Notre Dame Nuns Choir from Dallas, Tex., sang the Gloria and Communion song in folk tunes. Anderson sang "The Song of Ruth" and "Ava Maria."

The bride wore a gown of pearl white silk organza and peau d'ange lace. The circular neckline was formed of lace which extended down the front of the princess line bodice in applied motifs. The long tapered sleeves repeated the appliques. The A-line flare skirt was applied in lace medallions. The back was accented by a wattleau shoulder train with a French bow. Coutout medallions fell from the shoulder to hemline of the aisle-wide court scallop.

She carried a bouquet of white roses and daisies entwined with greenery centered with a white pearl shell butterfly.

Miss Sandra Courchaine of Southington, Conn., was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mary Ellen Hopkins of Hughes Springs, Tex., Mary Catherine Book of Hopewell, Va., Angelina Zarzana of South Milwaukee, Wis., and Gayle Ann Mroz of Boston, Mass.

The attendants wore long olive green gowns of silk trimmed in light blue velvet at the empire waist. Their veils were of green lace with three light blue velvet roses accenting the center of the veil.

James L. Mazurek of Addison, Ill., brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Joseph Sousa of Azores Island, Portugal, Howard L. Storey III of Westmoreland, N. Y., James P. Young of New York, N. Y., and Robert F. Menton of Dallas, Tex. John Sennello Jr. was ring bearer.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Johnson wore an ensemble of pastel green crepe with a matching lace coat and headpiece. The bridegroom's mother chose a gown of pink crepe and lace and matching headpiece.

For a cross-country wedding trip, the bride changed into a double knit suit of red, white and blue with matching accessories. She wore a white rose corsage lifted from her bridal bouquet.

The bride attended East Carolina University and Greenville School of Commerce. The bridegroom attended St. Benedict's College, Atchessa, Kans. They are both serving in the U. S. Air Force at Carswell AFB.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — Miss Belva Lynn Michaels became the bride of Lt. James Franklin Merrill Jr. in a ceremony on Thursday at 11:30 a. m. at Lackland Air Force Base.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Anton S. Michaels of Fayetteville, N. C., and Mrs. James Franklin Merrill of Greenville, N. C.

Chaplain Walter E. Schaefer officiated at the double ring ceremony. The bride wore an imported white Swiss lace street length dress. Her four-tiered shoulder length veil of tulle was attached to a small bow of imported Swiss lace. She carried a colonial cluster of spring daisies centered with white roses and ivy tied with streamers.

Miss Ilinda Highsmith, cousin of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. She wore a patriotic colored dress of blue and red and carried long-stemmed roses repeating the patriotic colors in the streamers.

Lt. Tommy M. Rains was best man.

Following a wedding trip to Corpus Christi, Tex., the couple will reside in Laredo, Tex., where he will be stationed at Laredo Air Base.

Lt. Merrill received his commission on April 2 at Lackland Officers Training School, Lackland AFB, where he was a distinguished graduate. He is a graduate of East Carolina University, where he worked as an accountant until he entered Officer Training School. The bride attended East Carolina University.

Rusk Backs Vietnam Policies

Perhaps the most interesting outside assessment of President Nixon's Vietnam withdrawal policies has come from former Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Rusk, of course, was a member of President Johnson's cabinet and had to spend his year defending the prosecution of the Vietnam war. Now out of office, he should be in a position to give as informed opinion on the Nixon's policies as anyone outside the administration.

Rusk believes President Nixon's plan for Vietnamization of the war "can work if given enough time."

Interviewed in Charlotte on his way to his alma mater, Davidson, for a speech, Rusk said, "If South Vietnam gets enough time to fend off the attacks of North Vietnam, then it (the Nixon plan) can work."

However, Rusk said he was concerned about the chances. "It's a very serious situation. I don't see any change in Hanoi's attitude at all."

"It's a very confused situation in Southeast Asia. The situation in Laos and Cambodia makes for expansion of the war in a serious way. And again, Hanoi shows no sign of making peace."

The Nixon policy of gradual withdrawal and Vietnamization of the war is fraught with dangers,

People Walk All The Time?

(Today's column was written for the Association of Afternoon Dailies by Editor A. Howard White of the Burlington Daily Times - News).

By A. HOWARD WHITE
BURLINGTON — "But I can't just walk around. It looks silly." That's what the young man said.

"Why does it look silly? People walk all the time. You walk when you get up, then when you move around during the day. Why does it look silly?"

"Oh, you know what I mean? I mean walking around outside on the street."

"There's really no difference in that. You simply have to get used to it. After all, walking is that old method of moving from one place to another. It's got a lot going for it now, too."

"Tell me about it."

"Well, it's all in your attitude—and whether you want to do it. There are those who say it's the best type of exercise you can have—just putting one step in front of another and doing it briskly. You're not supposed to slough along. That's cheating a little bit on it. Just hold your head up high, move with feeling for it. Enjoy the morning, the night, the sights. You know what Dr. Paul Dudley White says, don't you?"

"Who's he?"

"Boy, you do have a lot to learn. He's the man about 80 years old who walks a lot—then rides a bicycle when he's not walking. He's a doctor."

"No, what does he say?"

"He says that when a person is walking, about 30 per cent of the circulation of the blood is carried on by the leg muscles and the remaining percentage by the heart."

"Is that good?"

"You bet it is. After all, using the leg muscles means that the blood is being pushed upward and against the law of gravity, and all sorts of things good happen because of that."

"I can see that. It means, I guess, that your blood just doesn't stay in your feet. That ought to be a good thing."

"Boy, I can see you really know your muscles. But more about this walking. You'll find some people mighty kind. They will offer you a ride. Many friends will do this, for they'll think you want to ride, that you really won't be walking simply because you will want to walk and feel better through it. But these people understand and don't mind when you signal them on. In fact, they probably think they should do the same thing—walk."

"I guess you're right. I guess they do think that."

"Sure they do. But not young people, necessarily. They probably think you're stupid. Funny thing, but young people don't walk much. Suppose it's because they're so active in everything else. But ask one to walk a block, and it's like suggesting that he takes Castor Oil."

"What's Castor Oil?"

"Oh, that's not the point. I mean, it's like asking him to go out and dig a ditch a mile deep."

"You know what I mean. Then, too, this walking thing is a pretty cheap form of transportation. Really no expensive equipment to buy. It even beats golf, the experts say. Golf is way down—three or four notches below walking—in priority in exercise."

Something about not being consistent in walking. Many people also ride a lot on the golf course. No real traffic problem, also. You don't run into many people on the sidewalk. Then, when you get tired walking, that's real tiredness. Makes you feel good. It's a pretty good tranquilizer."

"That reminds me. I must get . . ."

"Where you going?"

"Over to the drug store. Can I give you a lift somewhere?"

"No thanks. You see . . ."

"Well, if that's the way you want it. I got to study some. I got to go. By the way—what was that . . . that Castor Oil?"

"Forget it. You wouldn't understand."

of course. And yet it seems the only way the United States can proceed.

Almost everyone rejects the idea of heating up the war with the aim of achieving a military victory in Vietnam. It is too late for that.

At the same time most people recognize that a sudden withdrawal could result in great tragedy for the South Vietnamese who have stood with us. The only alternative is the course now being followed. The administration believes it will work and former secretary of state Rusk said it could work if enough time is allowed. At this point it seems about the only course open to us.

Underscores Value Of Our Rural Fire Depts.

Expansion of four fire districts from three to four miles is a reminder of the value that our rural fire departments have for the county.

The expansion was approved by the county commissioners Monday and it means that people in the expanded areas will be eligible for lower fire insurance rates.

The districts approved for expansion are Falkland, Simpson, Stokes and Belvoir.

Expansion of these districts means a further improvement in the rural fire fighting protection which is accorded to Pitt Countians. Having fire departments available means a great deal to rural residents.

Nixon's Letter Won No Votes

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — When President Nixon's letter supporting G. Harrold Carswell for the Supreme Court was read by ten liberal Republican Senators in James Pearson's office Wednesday, the reaction was astonishment and regret.

Among those Senators present (the liberal Republican caucus that meets regularly) there were only three uncommitted Senators: Sen. Charles Mathias of Maryland, Pearson of Kansas, and Sen. Richard S. Schweiker of Pennsylvania.

The spontaneous reaction of Sen. Mathias, a soft-spoken liberal leaning strongly against Carswell, was symbolic. Mathias kissed off the arguments in the Nixon letter with one word: "bull."

Others reacted much the same. They resented the strong implication in Mr. Nixon's letter (addressed to Republican Sen. William Saxbe of Ohio) that the Senate had to go along with the President under the Constitution. The President wrote that his "Constitutional responsibility" to name members of the court should not be "frustrated" by Senators with a different philosophy.

What Mr. Nixon seemed to be saying, according to these Senators, was that the Senate, in delving so deeply into Carswell's judicial decisions, was treating Mr. Nixon more harshly than any past President. As one Republican Senator told us: "That is a self-pitying argument and does not wash."

The effects of the letter, written with the help of Presidential counselor Bryce Harlow with an assist from Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst, was about zero in winning new support for the embattled Carswell. But it accomplished what the President intended — to make clear beyond shadow of doubt that Mr. Nixon retained the highest interest in placing Carswell on the court.

Just before the Chamber of Commerce launched its all-out lobbying campaign against President Nixon's family - assistance plan, returns from a nationwide series of businessmen forums showed overwhelming approval of the plan in principle.

The odd fact about this is the identity of the sponsor of the nationwide forums: the Chamber of Commerce itself, which is now leading the attack on Mr. Nixon's welfare - reform, family - assistance plan.

Held in 15 cities late last fall under the title, "Urban Action Forum," the survey by the Chamber showed an eye-popping 86.5 percent in favor of a "minimum standard of Federal aid for every needy family with children, (with) a requirement to accept suitable employment or participate in a government training program to be eligible for relief."

Not only was the survey financed by the Chamber, but almost 60 percent of the 2,200 respondents who went on record in the survey are actually members of the Chamber.

The result showed only 10.5 percent opposed and 3 percent uncertain about the plan.

A key factor in the huge approval vote, according to Chamber strategists, was the work or work - training feature of the President's proposal.

A footnote: Despite this overwhelming vote of confidence in Mr. Nixon's radical family - assistance plan, the Chamber's national attack on it is getting noisier.

The vengeful outpouring of liberal and reform wrath at Arthur Goldberg during the early stages of the candidate-endorsing meeting of the New York Democratic party's state committee last week did not tell the whole story of the bitter internecine strife now rocking the party.

When Rep. Richard Ottinger last fall decided to run for the Senate nomination, he got a promise from his close and old friend Goldberg. If Goldberg decided to run for statewide office (Goldberg at that time was still considering the Senate), he promised to pass the word to Ottinger before any formal announcement. Implicit in

Strength For Today

Wrestling

The patriarch Jacob, whose name means "supplanter," started out as a thoroughly unworthy character. Then he had a crisis in his life. "Jacob was left alone; and there wrestled a man with him until the breaking of the day" (Genesis 32:24). This man is usually thought to have been an angel. When the wrestling was over Jacob was given a new name—Israel, which means "ruling with God." In the struggle, Jacob's nature was changed from "supplanter" to "nobleman." His sons would be the heads of those tribes that were later to constitute the Jewish nation, and this transformation from unworthiness to stability of character would come about as the result of his wrestling.

Regardless of what else the account given in the Book of Genesis means, it certainly represents the change of character one experiences as he wrestles with his conscience. The word "conscience" is that inner sense of right or wrong. It is a faculty whereby one decides the moral quality of his own thoughts or acts. It is sometimes referred to as "the still small voice."

Some people never have the wrestling experience. They go through life doing pretty much what they want to do, with the result that they become inconsequential, compromising, or in some cases, definitely evil.

Life is a struggle, and we had better face that reality as early as possible. We may not like it, but as a certain TV newscaster always says, "That's the way it is."

That Impossible Dream

WASHINGTON — I was in New York the other day and took a ride with a friend of mine in a taxi. When we got out of the cab my friend said to the driver, "Thank you for the ride. You did a superb job of driving."

The taxi driver was stunned for a second. Then he said: "Are you a wise guy or something?"

"No, my dear man, and I'm not putting you on. I admire the way you keep your cool in heavy traffic."

"Yeh," the driver said and drove off.

"What was that all about?" I asked.

"I am trying to bring love back to New York," he said. "I believe it's the only thing that can save New York."

"How can one man save

New York?"

"It's not one man. I believe I have made that taxi driver's day. Suppose he has 20 fares. He's going to be nice to those 20 fares because someone was nice to him. Those fares in turn will be kinder to their employees or shopkeepers or waiters or even their own families. They in turn will be nicer to other people. Eventually the good will could spread to at least 1,000 people. Now that isn't bad, is it?"

"But you're depending on that taxi driver to pass your good will to others."

"I'm not depending on it," my friend said. "I'm aware that the system isn't foolproof. I might deal with 10 different people today. If, out of 10, I can make three happy, then eventually I can influently influence the attitudes of 3,000 more."

"It sounds good on paper," I admitted, "but I'm not sure it works in practice."

"Nothing is lost if it doesn't. It didn't take any of my time to tell that man he was doing a good job. He neither received a larger tip nor a smaller tip. If it fell on deaf ears, so what? Tomorrow there will be another taxi driver whom I can try to make happy."

"You're some kind of a nut," I said.

"That shows you how cynical you have become. I have made a study of this. The thing that seems to be lacking, besides money of course, for our postal employees is that no one tells people who work for the post office what a good job they're doing."

"But they're not doing a good job."

"They're not doing a good job because they feel no one cares if they do or not. Why shouldn't someone say a kind word to them?"

We were walking past a structure in the process of being built and passed five workmen eating their lunch. My friend stopped. "That's a magnificent job you men have done. It must be difficult and dangerous work."

The five men eyed my friend suspiciously.

"When will it be finished?" "June," a man grunted.

"Ah! That really is impressive. You must all be very proud."

We walked away. I said to him, "I haven't seen anyone like you since 'The Man of La Mancha.'"

"When those men digest my words, they will feel better for it. Somehow the city will benefit from their happiness."

Other Editors Say Principle Involved

(Henderson Dispatch)

The principle involved in the law enacted by Congress banning cigarette advertising on television and radio is of equal significance to the mere fact that a new regulation has been imposed on free enterprise. And to some extent also on the public.

This is an added instance of how bureaucrats in big government are imposing their will upon legitimate business, all the while aided and abetted by Congress, which to an extent takes its cue from the commission or agency involved. What is of immense importance is that if the Federal Trade Commission and Congress can get away with this decree, as they are doing, there is nothing to prevent inroads upon other legitimate business. In other words, FTC conceivably could launch out against some other industry that for one reason or another, or for no reason at all, might incur its displeasure.

What is happening now is in the name of health and an effort to kill the tobacco industry. Why this was singled out in lieu of other dangerous products, including liquor, has never been explained satisfactorily.

Medical science frankly admits that the cause of lung cancer, or cancer of any other sort, is not known. But a little group in government says it is dangerous. If smoking does cause cancer, why do not all smokers acquire the disease? There are those who have smoked all their mature lives and have not developed the disease. This certainly does not support the smoking-health claim of the crusaders trying to wreck the tobacco business.

Now that FTC is getting away with this, look for it at some time in the not too distant future to barge in on some other industry it may not like. It would be a logical sequence to this move and would not be surprising.

Congress has allowed itself to be made a willing tool of a Federal agency, and since it has may find itself in the same boat later as to others also.

A Mere Man's Ordeal

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — One of life's little ordeals for a mere man is supermarket shopping.

It is for him more a test of endurance and survival than of character.

"For if there is one place in the modern world where woman doesn't have to struggle to obtain equal rights, it is in the average supermarket. There, in the unending war between the sexes, she has every advantage; man is at every disadvantage."

A grown man is as out of place alone in a supermarket as a 3-year-old child at a picnic of banshees and harpies. There is something about his presence there that arouses the killer instincts in veteran women shoppers.

They take out on him all the pent-up wrath they have felt in centuries of submission to male domination.

All a guy making his first trip through a supermarket has to do is to innocently ask a lady where the cans of dog food are. A look of unholy glee crosses her face as she deliberately misdirects him to the frozen vegetables department.

Then by whispered word and eyebrow gestures the ladies pass the news about him along: "This guy's a greenhorn. Let's give him the works."

From that moment on his progress through the store is a march of debacle.

If he tries to buy a steak, four ladies surround the fresh meat counter shoulder to shoulder and keep him away for 15 minutes while they chat about household problems.

If he starts to ask a 60-year-old biddy old enough to be his mother just where the store hides the tomato juice, she is likely to reply in stentorian tones:

"Are you trying to get fresh with me, young man? I've a good mind to slap your face. It's getting so a girl isn't safe anywhere anymore."

If he heads for the nearest checkout counter, half a dozen women elbow him out of the way. They show him no mercy, they yield him no quarter.

But their chief educational weapon in reducing him to a quivering jelly is the wire pushcart. After he has gone less than 50 feet into the store he feels like a squirrel on a thruway during the rush hour.

They hold to the exact center of the roadway and crash into him head on, sending half of his own groceries flying. They lie in wait and ambush him on the turns. They smash into him from behind every time he pauses to select an item.

"I spent two years in the infantry, but I never saw a battlefield quite like that," said one man, recalling his first visit to a supermarket. "I kept looking for a foxhole to dive into, but there wasn't any. I would have surrendered, but the women shoppers in that store didn't seem to want to take any male prisoners alive."

A man is fairly safe if he accompanies his wife to the supermarket—the other ladies recognize he has been captured—but any fellow who has to go it alone ought to get a combat medal for each trip he makes. And a government disability pension if he lasts a full year.

ECU 'Earth Day' Activities Program Shaping Up

Activities planned to observe "Earth Day 1970" at East Carolina University on April 22 may eclipse everything that happened here on celebrated Earth Day last month.

"More people will be involved," says Lloyd Byrd of Dunn, ECU graduate student in biology who is coordinating the mushrooming Earth Day program and activities. "Everyone is becoming excited," Byrd says.

"It is going to be campus wide and beyond," he added.

Major industries in Eastern North Carolina including Weyerhaeuser, Texas Gulf Sulphur, DuPont, Fieldcrest Mills and others have expressed interest in participating in the ECU-based activities.

Byrd estimated that between 200 and 300 students and faculty in all departments already are actively involved in phases of the observance planning. "They are very seriously interested," he said.

A coordinating group calling itself Concerned Biologists for Environmental Action (CBEA) has been organized with Eldon Nelson of Morehead City chairman and Byrd vice chairman.

The group is headquartered in the ECU Biology Department (210 South) on the campus.

A daylong rally on the ECU mall is being planned with speakers discussing environmental topics interspersed with folk singers and performers.

ECU students are planning a massive pickup and clean-up of trash, debris and garbage along the roadside of a measured half-mile of highway in the Greenville area. This refuse will be collected and displayed in a huge wicker wire cage as a visual demonstration of how man despoils his environment.

Five workshops are planned for the morning of April 22. Topics include: Profits, Pollution and Gross National Product; Population Pollution; Ecology and the Environmental Crisis; Local, Federal and State Concerns to Better Environment; Legal Aspects of Environmental Problems.

Nationwide, April 22 has been designated as a day of "teach-ins" and other activities to point up the nation's environmental crisis.

Those coordinating activities here were advised to gear the overall program to local needs and problems.

"We have been gearing to potential local problems," says Byrd. "We have asked every department on campus to contribute ideas, develop projects and to participate. The results are amazing. Everything is falling into place."

A panel discussion on environment and preservation of natural resources is scheduled for the evening of April 22 with Dr. Clifford Knight, ecologist in the Department of Biology, as moderator. Dr. Guy T. McBride, general manager of Texas Gulf Sulphur's Lee Creek operations at Aurora, will be among the panelists.

Dr. Thomas L. Linton, N. C. Commissioner of Commercial and Sports Fisheries, will conduct a seminar at ECU April 17 on the state's marine resources and coastal environment problems.

State DE Clubs Honor Gene Skinner For Aid To Program

An honorary life membership in the North Carolina Distributive Education Program has been awarded to Gene Skinner, manager of Belk-Tyler in Greenville.

The honor was announced, according to DE coordinator Horace Robertson of Rose High School, Saturday morning at the State DE Convention held last Thursday through Saturday in Winston-Salem.

"Only six persons from all of North Carolina were selected for this honor," Robertson stated. "The requirements for being chosen for honorary life membership involves a long period of accomplishments in assisting the DE program."

Skinner was presented a plaque engraved with the words "We are grateful for your faith and vision in DECA (Distributive Education Clubs of America), your understanding of our goals, and your untiring efforts in behalf of the youth of this State."

Some of the specific ways in which Skinner has been instrumental in furthering Distributive Education have been through gifts of supplies and material; appearing on programs as a speaker; in permitting a student worker to do a fashion show; in allowing student workers time off to attend state conferences; by serving on the Cooperative Vocational Advisory Committee

Bound Over For Murder

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C. (AP) — A 22-year-old Ft. Bragg paratrooper was bound over to Superior Court Tuesday after he waived a preliminary hearing on a murder charge in the death of a prominent 73-year-old Fayetteville widow.

Spec. 4 Edward Haney, a native of Gadsden, Ala., pleaded not guilty to charges of murder, arson and burglary. He was ordered held without bail by state District Court Judge George Stuhl.

Mrs. Huske, who lived alone, was found March 23 in the bathroom of her home by a neighbor who had planned to take her shopping. Cumberland County Sheriff W. G. Clark said a bed in the large home had been set on fire in an apparent effort to conceal the crime.

Before her death she had telephoned authorities and said she believed an intruder was in her home.

But Goldberg quite honestly forgot to tip off Ottinger before his announcement. That is one more example of how the harried Goldberg, new to the art of running for elective office, is missing political cues.

Airline Reports Busiest Month

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — Piedmont Airlines has reported that in March it had its highest total of scheduled revenue passenger miles flown in any month — 60.3 million, an increase of more than 24 per cent over the similar month last year.

A 17 per cent increase in scheduled revenue passengers carried was also announced, or 219,750 in March 1970 compared to 188,339 for the similar period last year.

Approve Bids For New Water Tank In Martin

WILLIAMSTON — Approval of a low bid to construct a 300,000-gallon water tank for the Robersonville industrial site was given by the Martin County Commissioners at their meeting Monday night.

Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Company of Atlanta, Georgia was revealed as low bidder for the proposed tank which will serve new industries being constructed just east of Robersonville's town limits.

Commissioners heard a spokesman from the Department of Conservation and Development, Water Resources Division, tell of state plans to protect the estuaries and marshlands on the state's coast, explaining that border areas, such as Martin County, would play a part in the program being shopped up to protect oyster beds, fish and wildlife.

missioners voting to request approval of this project.

A date for the Board of Equalization and Review meeting was set for April 23. Patrolman Shot In Arm

ROCKY MOUNT, N. C. (AP) — Highway Patrolman J. F. Holcomb received a blast in the arm from a sawed off shotgun when he stopped a car Tuesday.

The patrol said Holcomb was treated and released from a Rocky Mount Hospital.

Officers were searching for the four men in the car, which Holcomb said had no license plates.

Patrol 1st Sgt. J. E. Rawls gave this account:

Holcomb stopped a black 1963 Ford on a rural road in the Salem community near Whitakers in Nash County.

When he walked around to the driver's side he saw the shotgun in the driver's lap.

Holcomb asked to see the driver's license, the man raised the shotgun and fired. Holcomb ducked and received a flesh wound in the upper left arm. The car sped away.

Holcomb fired two shots from his revolver, hitting the back window. He gave chase in his patrol car but lost sight of the other car at an intersection.

John Wayne . . Preparing For Tutor-Training

stage, Wayne, 62, said: "I shudda put that patch on 35 years earlier."

Wayne noted he had picked up Oscars before for other winners, and that one night he picked up 'two—for director John Ford and he late actor Gary Cooper.

"I was clever and witty then," Wayne said, his voice roughening with emotion. "Tonight I don't feel very clever and witty. I feel grateful and humble. I owe thanks to many people."

Barbra Streisand presented Wayne's Oscar.

Miss Taylor presented the best picture award, saying the five nominees were "from an abundance of excellence."

Miss Hawn was absent, at work in England on a picture, "There's a Girl in My Soup."

Comedian Bob Hope, one of 17 stars who presented the awards, quipped that the Oscars are "dedicated to the proposition that jealousy and envy shall not perish from the earth."

Commenting on current screen nudity, he said: "It's such a novelty to see actors and actresses with their clothes on ... they're putting things on the screen that the French wouldn't allow on post cards."

The best picture award for "Midnight Cowboy" was overshadowed when it won Oscars for screenplay and direction.

"Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid" took four prizes—high for the night—for cinematography, score, story, and its song "Raindrops Keep Fallin' On My Head." The score and song were written by composer Burt Bacharach.

"Hello, Dolly!" won for sound, score of a musical picture and art direction.

The Algerian-made "Z" took prizes for film editing and as best foreign language film.

Hope presented the Jean Hersholt Humanitarian Award to George Jessel for entertaining troops since World War I.

Grant's special Oscar was presented by Frank Sinatra, who said it was for "sheer brilliance in the acting business."

Grant paid tribute to numerous directors and writers and said: "I realize it's conventional and usual to praise one's fellow workers, but why not? Ours is a collaborative medium. We all need each other."

Nine Years For Slaying

CAMP LEJEUNE, N. C. (AP)

A Negro Marine, Pfc. Sylvester T. Hundley Jr., 18, of Adena, Ohio, has been sentenced to nine years in prison for the slaying of a white marine during a racial clash at Camp Lejeune last July 20.

A general court-martial jury found him guilty Monday of involuntary manslaughter in the death of Cpl. Edward E. Bankston, 20, of Picayune, Miss.

Hundley had been charged with unpremeditated murder, conviction of which carries a mandatory life sentence.

He also was found guilty of rioting and of one count of assault. He was acquitted on three other assault charges.

He received, in addition to the prison term, a dishonorable discharge, forfeiture of all pay and allowances, and reduction in rank to private.

Hundley's trial, which began March 16, was the 20th court-martial arising from the racial riot in which Bankston was fatally injured and 14 Marines injured.

Fourteen defendants have been convicted, five found innocent, and one case was declared a mistrial.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was little changed in continued light trading early today.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was unchanged at 791.64 at 11 a.m.

Declining stocks widened their margin over advances to about 150 among issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Wall Street observers say investors prefer to stay on the sidelines, in the absence of any encouraging news, until first-quarter earnings reports can be digested.

Some analysts say the ability of the industrial average to hold steady while the market generally is declining suggests the underlying market tone is firm.

They say the industrial average is establishing a solid base in the 790 area that could be used for an assault on the 800 resistance area as soon as there is some strong buying incentive.

Commissioner Robert Lee Smith, chairman of the Water and Lights Committee, said he thinks the Water and Lights Department should be broken down into two departments. He discussed hiring an applicant whose qualifications for electrical superintendent seem good. The other members suggested he discuss salary with the man and if he is still interested to have him take an oral examination about the kind of work he will be doing if he is hired by the town.

Jack McDavid told the Board they should attempt to gain an easement across the new Farmville High School property for water sewer, and storm sewer lines all the way to the highway. He also suggested that that Board enact an ordinance providing that any water or sewer lines granted automatically give the town an easement along the same lines.

Police Chief Creel told the Board he has been invited to the Governor's Conference on Narcotics to be held in Raleigh April 15.

A beer license for Jack Lewis Moringo's service station at Marlboro was recommended to be granted.

A request by the Farmville Housing Authority to widen and pave the street which would adjoin the new public housing development just approved by HUD was heard. No action was taken pending further investigation.

The Board also decided to investigate further a request by Les Hurley, Farmville Country Club president, to release Horton Street Extension as a dedicated street and to release as easement the town has across Country Club property.

Mrs. Louis Cowan appeared on behalf of the Farmville Little League asking the Board to hire a student through PACE to work with Little Leaguers this summer. The matter was turned over to the recreation committee.

Painting of the eaves and windows of the Farmville Public Library was approved.

Farmville Realty Company was granted 50 percent reimbursement water and - or sewer in Westwood and Clubview since the two subdivisions are more than 40 percent completed at this time. This amounted to about $5,000.

Town attorney Bill Lewis was asked to find out whether there is any kind of agreement between any party and the Norfolk Southern Railroad about access to the crossing of the railroad on Pitt Street at the entrance to Claremont subdivision. Trains are staying there for long periods of time and are blocking the only paved entrance to the subdivision.

Charged One Had Booze

Only one of two teenagers charged Saturday night with possessing alcoholic beverages under age was in possession of whiskey. An earlier story in The Daily Reflector indicated that both were charged after tax-paid whiskey was found in their possession.

The second youth involved, Julius Brown Kechmer, 16 of 1044 East Rocksprings Rd. was charged with possessing of alcoholic beverages under the age of 18. He allegedly had beer in his possession and is scheduled for trial in District Court on the charge April 21.

The arrests were made after police responded to a complaint that the two youths had been on an East 14th Street drive-in parking lot with alcoholic beverages.

Fulford Denies PTI Is Not Fulfilling Purpose

Dr. William E. Fulford, Jr., President of Pitt Technical Institute addressed the Pitt County Agriculture Workers' Council on Tuesday. He directed his remarks to the vote on May 2 to make Pitt Tech a community college, and answered questions that have been posed by local citizens.

"First of all," Dr. Fulford stated, "many people are confused because the 1961 Bond Issue has been erroneously implicated with this vote on May 2. The Bond Issue was passed to acquire land, to erect a building, and support the existing technical institute."

"There has also been some comment," Fulford continued, "that Pitt Tech is not fulfilling its original purpose because certain vocational courses are not being offered."

"Let me clarify now why some courses are not being taught. Pitt Tech offers any vocational course for which there is a demand. Generally, a minimum number of ten students is needed to justify the expense of hiring an instructor, and purchasing necessary equipment and supplies."

The community, local schools, business and industry are urged to supply us ten or more interested students, for any program we are not now offering. We will do our utmost to make the unskilled worker skilled and employable in our fast growing industrial community."

"We have not abandoned the primary purpose of the institution. In 1964, when Pitt Technical Institute opened, full-time technical programs, six full-time technical programs were started: Electronics, Architectural Drafting, Agriculture Business, Executive Secretary, Legal Secretary, and Medical Secretary; and three vocational programs: Auto Mechanics, Machinist Shop, and Radio and Television Servicing."

"We have retained all of these programs and have added two-year technical programs in Data Processing, Commercial Art, Agriculture Chemistry, Mental Health, Police Science, Accounting, and Business Administration, for a total of seven, or a combined total of thirteen."

In the vocational area, we have since added Mechanical Drafting and will add Licensed Practical Nursing in September, for a total of five. Our policy is to reflect in our day and evening programs, what the citizens of Pitt County desire, and are willing to participate in."

"Over one hundred vocational courses are available through our evening program. Some of these include Brick Masonry, Carpentry, Electricity, Welding, Heating Systems Maintenance, and Air Conditioning Servicing."

"Another question," Fulford commented, "is how will community college status affect the existing technical and vocational curriculums?" Statistical information from BUIES CREEK — Campbell College ripped five East Carolina University pitchers for 12 hits and pushed over six runs, two of them unearned, to take a 6-5 victory over the Bucs yesterday.

It was a pitcher's nightmare for the Pirates, who saw East Carolina leads disappear twice in the late innings of the game.

Campbell had its own problems on the mound, as the Bucs banged out nine hits of their own, but they couldn't get them when it really counted.

The loss dropped the Buc record to 7-3 for the season, and was the second Buc loss because of unearned runs.

Campbell pushed over its first run in the first inning, off starter Don Oxidine. Denver McCullough led off with a single off Oxidine's foot. Bob Young sent a line drive past short into left, and the ball was errored there by Matt Walker. McCullough, on the move, sped home with the run, giving the Camels a 1-0 lead.

Campbell picked up another in the third. Young and Charles West both got walks off Tim Bayliss, who had come in at the start of the inning. Charlie Welch then sent one through the middle, bringing Young home for a 2-0 edge.

East Carolina finally got on the scoreboard in the fourth. Skip Taylor walked and moved up on a ground out. Hal Baird doubled off the left field fence, scoring Taylor.

Finally, in the sixth, the Bucs tied it up with another run. Again with one out, the Pirates began their move. Walker singled to left and the ball got away from the fielder, and Walker sped to second. Taylor singled to right, scoring Walker with the tying run. Taylor eventually got to third, but died there.

While the Bucs pushed over the go-ahead run in the seventh, they may have lost it there too. Dennis Vick reached on a fielder's choice and Dave Shields, who pinch-hit for the third pitcher, Wayne Post, walked. Dick Corrada also drew a walk, loading the bases.

Len Dowd slammed a hard liner into right for a single, and Vick scored easily. The relay, however, was in time to get Shields at the plate. Dowd was caught off second, and as he slid in - under the throw there, Corrada broke for home, only to be thrown out also, ending the inning. But the Bucs were ahead 3-2.

Doug Whitley then came in to pitch, and after one out, was tagged for a single by McCullough and a walk by Young. That brought Ron Hastings to the mound for the Bucs.

Harold Ingle greeted him with a single to left, but no one was able to score on the play. But West followed up with a double to right, and both McCullough and Young came across, pushing Campbell back into the lead, 4-3.

East Carolina fought back again, using their second homer of the year to go ahead again. Taylor walked, and Stan Sneeden knocked the ball out down the left field line, and the Bucs moved back out into a 5-4 lead.

But it wasn't to be their day. Campbell came back again, picking up two in the bottom of the eighth. George DeTurris led off, reaching on an error. Joey Davis walked, and McCullough singled to center, scoring DeTurris with the tying run.

Davis was caught in a rundown on Young's grounder to third, but McCullough was able to move into third while the play progressed. Ingle followed that up with a single to deep short, scoring McCullough with what proved to be the winning run. It was the first loss for Hastings this year, after he had picked up a pair of wins.

The Pirates must get back into business on Saturday, however, as Furman University visits Greenville for an important doubleheader. Both the Paladins and the Pirates are 2-0 in the Southern Conference's Southern Division, and a sweep of the two games would put the winner into a commanding lead in the race for the playoffs.

It Took 11 Innings, But Mets Finally Won A Season Opener

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

Frank Lucchesi is off and running; Sparky Anderson is off and winging and the New York Mets are finally off on the right foot.

It took one Short cut to get Lucchesi in high gear, two arms to get Anderson off the ground ... and eight years and 11 innings to get the Mets safely out of the starting gate.

Left-hander Chris Short, sidelined virtually all last year by a back injury, gave Lucchesi a rousing sendoff as Philadelphia's new manager Tuesday by pitching the Phillies to a 2-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Right-hander Gary Nolan kept Anderson, Cincinnati's new skipper, in orbit by following southpaw Jim Merritt's three-hit opening day triumph over Montreal with a two-hit 4-0 conquest of Los Angeles.

The world champion Mets, winless in all eight of their previous season openers, tripped Pittsburgh 5-3 on Donn Clendenon's two-run pinch single in the 11th inning.

In other National League opening games, Norm Miller's three-run pinch homer carried Houston past San Francisco 8-5 and a three-run blast by Nate Colbert helped San Diego stun Atlanta 8-3.

St. Louis played its first game today at Montreal.

In American League play, Baltimore whipped Cleveland 8-2; California slugged Milwaukee 12-0; Minnesota blasted the Chicago White Sox 12-0; Washington battered Detroit 14-4; Oakland topped Kansas City 6-4 and Boston edged the New York Yankees 4-3.

Also planned in conjunction with the football game is a high school coaches clinic.

The clinic will begin at 8:30 a. m. and will feature talks by all the coaches on the ECU staff.

Mike McGee will handle the introduction, Sonny Randle will talk on training the receiver, Carl Reese on techniques for Williamston picked up the runs on 13 hits and seven Perquimans errors.

Perquimans managed only four hits off two Williamston hurlers, Greg Godard and Randy Lee, while the Green Wave committed one error.

Joel Thigpen and Kenneth Haslip each had three hits, and Raymond Andrews had two to pace Williamston.

THREE EARLY PICKS

DALLAS (AP) — Three University of Texas seniors were drafted at the January pro football meetings.

Tackle Bob McKay was drafted in the first round by the Cleveland Browns and defensive tackle Leo Brooks was taken by Houston and running back Ted Koy by Oakland in the second round.

Kentucky broke Dallas' five-game winning streak as Darel Carrier scored six clutch points in the final 39 seconds for the Colonels. Carrier finished with 38 points while Dallas' high man was Cincy Powell with 27 points.

Secret Testimony In Kopechne Inquest May Be Soon Revealed

By CORNELIUS F. HURLEY
Associated Press Writer
EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — The secret testimony at the inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne in Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's car last summer may be made public within a week.

Now that the Dukes County Grand Jury has adjourned a special session called to delve into the accident, and reported Tuesday it had no findings, the way is open for releasing quickly the inquest transcript and the report of District Court Judge James A. Boyle, who presided over the January inquiry.

In Washington, Kennedy said: "I'm happy this case seems to be coming to a close. I'm relieved as well for everyone who's involved and I hope the transcript of the inquest will be made public as soon as possible."

Kennedy drove his car off the side of a narrow bridge on Chappaquiddick Island into a deep tidal pool last July 18. Miss Kopechne, 28, and a former secretary for the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, was trapped in the car and drowned.

Kennedy escaped and, after he delayed for some 10 hours in reporting the accident to police, was charged with leaving the scene of an accident.

He pleaded guilty a week after the crash and was sentenced to two months in jail on the charge. The sentence was suspended and he was placed on probation for a year.

The night of the court arraignment, Kennedy went on national television to give his recollection of the accident and express regret for his subsequent actions.

He later testified for two hours at the inquest and upon leaving the court room told newsmen he was "satisfied that I responded completely to all the questions asked of me, both by the district attorney and the court."

The Dukes County Grand Jury wound up its two-day session when presiding Judge Wilfred J. Paquet refused to have the inquest transcript and the judge's report brought to the island for inspection of the 10 men and 10 women jurors.

The state Supreme Judicial

Court, in a decision last fall on a petition by Kennedy and others who then were prospective witnesses at the inquest, ruled that it must be held in secret, that the transcript and report should be impounded until all prospect of any further criminal prosecutions was ended.

One of the conditions laid down by the court as a prerequisite for release of the papers said that a Superior Court justice could order them made public if the district attorney filed a certificate saying that there was no proposed prosecution in the case.

Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis announced Tuesday when the grand jury adjourned that he would prepare such a certificate immediately and send it to the Suffolk County Court in Boston, where the transcript and report, along with other documents and exhibits from the inquest, are being held.

Judge Paquet has the final say on release of the documents since he is assigned currently as justice of the Suffolk County Court.

South Viets, Cambodia In Joint Military Effort

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Cambodian and South Vietnamese authorities are collaborating in armed efforts to crush thousands of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops inside Cambodia, official sources disclosed today.

American ground forces apparently are involved so far only as blocking or support forces on the South Vietnamese side of the border, in wait for any of the enemy who are driven east.

Cambodian officials have approved armed forays inside their country by South Vietnamese ground troops, bombers and helicopter gunships, one highly placed source said.

The sources reported that South Vietnamese helicopter gunships flew five miles inside Cambodia in the past 24 hours and killed an estimated 150 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops.

The helicopters were reported on a reconnaissance mission over Svay Rieng province just north of Highway One, an area of major North Vietnamese and Viet Cong base camps 40 to 50 miles west-northwest of Saigon.

One source said South Vietnamese infantrymen Saturday clashed with North Vietnamese troops inside Cambodia in the same area and killed 62 of them in a fight that swirled back across the border into South Vietnam.

"The South Vietnamese have gone into Cambodia several times," the source said. He said several crossings were made farther southwest, from the western Mekong Delta.

Sources in the field said South Vietnamese paratroopers penetrated several miles into Svay Rieng, north of Highway One but began pulling out today after clashing with North Vietnamese troops in a two-day operation. Details were sketchy on this action, but at least 15 paratroopers were reported wounded.

Meanwhile, half a mile inside South Vietnam U.S. troops of the 5th Division battled a North Vietnamese force on Tuesday in an area known to the Americans as the Straight Edge Woods. The U.S. Command said six Americans were killed and nine wounded. The fatalities included a pilot and a wounded soldier in a medical evacuation helicopter that was shot down.

Heavy American air artillery strikes were made, but only two enemy dead were reported. The North Vietnamese apparently withdrew from the thick woods during the night.

Earlier reports from Cambodia said Viet Cong forces Monday night attacked the Cambodian town of Chipou, on Route One 10 miles west of the border, but were driven out at dawn Tuesday.

On the South Vietnamese side of the border during the night, more than 50 U.S. B52 bombers dropped more than 1,000 tons of bombs on North Vietnamese base camps 80 miles to the southwest and 45 miles to the north of the Svay Rieng area.

Other waves of the eight-jet Stratofortresses pounded North Vietnamese troops besieging the Dak Seang Special Forces camp 277 miles north of Saigon.

South Vietnamese headquarters said it had reports that a fresh regiment of about 1,500 North Vietnamese was moving north through Cambodia to reinforce the regiment that laid siege to Dak Seang on April 1, but heavy shelling of the remote outpost tapered off Tuesday night.

South Vietnamese military headquarters claimed another 110 North Vietnamese troops were killed Tuesday at Dak Seang, many of them by American bombers and South Vietnamese artillery. This raised to more than 900 the number of North Vietnamese dead claimed by allied forces around Dak Seang. On the allied side, 40 government troops and 10 Americans have been reported killed, including nine U.S. airmen.

The enemy offensive across South Vietnam entered its second week with rocket and mortar attacks on 33 allied positions. Four Americans were killed and 15 wounded.

Officers Chosen By Moose Lodge

Greenville Moose Monday night elected a new Governor and four other officers to serve on their board of the 1970-71.

Ralph Heidenreich (current Junior Governor) was advanced to the governorship; Mayo Allen to Junior Governor, M.J. Moye Jr., to the Prelate's post.

William Crisp was elected Treasurer and G.A. Taylor to a three-year term as a trustee.

Their installation is scheduled for the evening of April 25.

The incoming Governor is a veteran of service to the fraternity, having been chairman of the Civic Affairs Committee during an award-winning year, following which he was elected Prelate, then Junior Governor. He is an industrial paper salesman for Epes-Fitzgerald Paper Co. of Raleigh.

Enoca Legion Ritual Team director, James Harris, Jr., reported the Greenville group which took part last week in the international competition in Canada, placed twelfth. Harris said the team's point score was the same as last year, when it placed fourth; but added the competition was keener than ever and the standards of judging were stricter. He said they would try again next year.

$68724 Grant Given A&T Univ.

GREENSBORO (AP) — The National Science Foundation has awarded a grant of $68,724 to A&T State University to conduct a nine-week institute for high school biology teachers.

The program will involve about 50 teachers and will be held June 8 to August 8. The basic curriculum will consist of courses in applied plant ecology, protozoology and introductory experimental zoology.

Greene's Road Work Reviewed

SNOW HILL — Three representatives of the North Carolina State Highway Commission met with the Greene County Board of Commissioners Monday to discuss the county road program.

State Highway Commissioner W. G. Clark of Tarboro, Division Engineer C. W. Snell of Greenville, and J. H. Burroughs of Kinston, district engineer, met with members of the commission during a luncheon meeting to discuss possible road improvements within Greene County. The group discussed plans of some proposed road improvements but no action was taken.

The board received a request from the USDA Civil Defense Board for the use of the ground floor level of the Greene County Court House to be used in case of emergency. The space is being used for other purposes now, but the board granted the Civil Defense Board permission to use the space in time of an emergency.

Old Lesson Rusk Cites

DAVIDSON, N. C. (AP)—Former Secretary of State Dean Rusk says that if the lessons of World War II are forgotten and the United States adopts an isolationism, the danger of another world war will grow greater.

Speaking Tuesday at his alma mater, Davidson College, Rusk said world peace should be the chief goal of U.S. foreign policy.

He also expressed concern over what he described as a "double generation gap" which is causing Americans to forget the "urgency for maintaining peace that seized America at the end of World War II."

He explained that the double gap was the 25 years separating world leaders from World War II and the years separating today's youth from direct experience of that war.

Rusk, who will teach next school year at the University of Georgia Law School, said, "It is too late in history for us to pursue a course of total hostility to any government or people because we disagree with them. That aspect of the cold war must be brought to a conclusion."

"We are human beings living together on a small speck of dust in the universe. We are a common species, and we need to know that we are a family of men and should seek a common basis for world peace."

Dallas McPherson with the Neuse River Regional Planning and Development Council met with the board to discuss the implementation of a grant to be received by Greene County for the improvement of the law and order facilities of the county. The grant, applied for several months ago, will be received from the Omnibus Crime and Safe Streets Act to purchase police equipment.

Waste Lagoons Will Be Nicer

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A meat packing plant has decided to make its waste treatment lagoons nice to be near.

The firm is building a mile-long pipeline beside the lagoons, equipped with 170 atomizer-spray nozzles that will cast a deodorizing mist.

SEASONING TOWN — This community isn't very large but it has more than its share of seasoning. A family named Salt lives at one end of town, while the Peppers live at the other end and the Lemmons in the middle.

The bidding:

Opening lead: Three of ♣. When the dummy was spread, South was pleased with his six heart undertaking—for with an even division in trumps he might expect to win all 13 tricks. He was so disconcerted by East's failure to answer the call to the first heart lead, however, that he conceded defeat without making the slightest attempt to recover. As it developed, his concession turned out to be premature.

West opened the three of clubs and the ace was played from dummy. The play appeared to be quite routine, provided that the hearts divided in any reasonable manner. When North's ace was cashed, however, East showed out—which was a most bitter blow.

Declarer was so unsettled to find all the outstanding hearts banked behind him, that he abruptly conceded two trump tricks to West and proceeded to inform everyone of the odds to which he had paid off.

When the dummy was spread, South was roughly a 19 to 1 shot to succeed. However, the supreme irony of the deal was that even after the horrendous division in hearts, it was still in his power to fulfill the contract. His prospects hinged on being able to reduce his heart holding to the same length as West's, and then endplaying his opponent in the trump suit.

After South gets the bad news in hearts, the ace of diamonds is cashed and a small diamond is ruffed. The king of clubs provides access for another diamond ruff. The appearance of West's queen on the third round of diamonds suggests the advisability of abandoning that suit. Next three rounds of spades are cashed ending in the North hand and a club is ruffed with the seven of hearts.

South is down to the K-10-9 of hearts, while West retains the Q-J-8. The lead of a small trump puts West in with the jack, and on the return, the latter must surrender the last two tricks to the declarer.

Williamston Board Give Go-Ahead To Approves Contract Waste Treatment Application Plans For Water Line

WILLIAMSTON — A contract for a water line to the site of Martin County's proposed hospital was approved by the Town Board members at their monthly meeting Monday night. Cox and Edwards of Goldsboro were awarded the contract based on their low bid of $12,109 for the water line project.

Two small areas of Williamston were rezoned, both to highway commercial. The first area, on U.S. 17 bypass, between the Seaboard Coastline Railroad and the intersection of U.S. 17 and U.S. 64 by-pass, was rezoned from industrial unfertile to highway commercial at the request of persons planning to construct a Farm Boy Restaurant on a vacant lot.

The second area covers a depth of 200 feet of the Jamesville highway on the east side within the town limits. This area was changed in zoning from the former residential R-6. Both rezonings were conducted as public hearings and were approved when no objections were presented.

The town board, in an action similar to that of the County Commissioners, approved a resolution seeking Corps of Engineer consideration of widening and deepening of the channel of the Roanoke River to a point past Hamilton. The board expressed the opinion this would permit commercial and recreational travel not now possible.

An ordinance was passed to give the Chief of Police authority to remove abandoned cars from the streets. These will be held, in the owners contacted, and in event owners cannot or will not take proper action, the abandoned cars will be sold by the town.

WINTERVILLE — The Winterville Town Board Monday night gave Rivers Associates, Inc., of Greenville, permission to proceed with application forms for funds to finance industrial waste treatment facilities to be used by Winterville Machine Works.

Applications for the project will be filed with the Department of Housing and Urban Development and with the Economic Development Association.

Cost of the project has been estimated at $18,000.

It was announced a public hearing will be held Monday, May 4 at 7 p.m. in the municipal building to consider a change in the town's zoning ordinance.

The hearing will be held to consider changing the zoning classification of the property owned by Margaret Register from residential to commercial.

If the change is approved, the property will be used as the site for a new bulk gas facility to be located in Winterville.

The board also hired Mrs. Betty Anderson to work the school crossing at the intersection of Boyd Street and N. C. 11.

Board members discussed the possibility of selling the old fire truck but no action was taken after members learned the fire department would like to keep the truck for standby duty.

Town Clerk Elwood Nobles was given permission to attend the North Carolina Tax Collectors Association's annual conference in Chapel Hill April 15-17.

Discusses Careers In Broadcast Field

Ninety-seven per cent of the American homes have radios and 95 per cent have television, making broadcasting the most universal form of communication in America today.

"Radio is as easily available as flipping a light switch or turning a water tap and just as much taken for granted," East Carolina University students were told Friday by Richard Barron of WSJS and WSJS-TV, Winston-Salem.

Barron, president-elect of the N.C. Association of Broadcasters, spoke at a Broadcasting Career Opportunities Seminar sponsored by the N.C. Chapter, American Women in Radio and Television, Inc., the Division of Continuing Education and the ECU School of Home Economics.

Barron presented some problems facing the broadcasting industry today, as well as a look into what the future holds.
