ABOARD USS IWO JIMA
(AP) — Apollo 13's astronauts blazed back to the safety of their home planet today with a pinpoint landing in the Pacific Ocean, bringing a successful conclusion to America's most perilous space adventure.

The Odyssey, carrying James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr. and John L. Swigert Jr., hit the gently rolling water within sight of this helicopter carrier.

Hundreds of cheering sailors on the deck of the Iwo Jima and anxious television viewers around the world had a ringside seat as the spaceship dropped through a thin layer of clouds, dangling from beneath three huge orange and white parachutes.

Initial estimates placed the Odyssey just four miles due south of the carrier.

"We got you on the screen," Mission Control radioed the spaceship. "You're looking great."

The spaceship landed, right side up in the gently rolling waves, in contrast to several previous Apollo ships which turned upside down on splashdown. The flight lasted 5 days, 22 hours, 53 minutes and covered more than half a million miles. It was shortened by four days after an oxygen tank explosion Monday night cancelled man's third moon landing expedition and forced the astronauts to fight for survival with the resources of their lunar landing craft.

The touchdown occurred 94 minutes after the astronauts discarded the lunar lander Aquarius that served as their lifeline as they fought for survival for four days in space.

"She sure was a good ship," Commander Lovell said of the tiny craft.

"Farewell Aquarius and we thank you," Mission Control said as the lunar craft separated from the command ship at 11:43 a.m. EST.

The communicator paid tribute to the tiny craft whose systems had kept the astronauts alive for nearly four days after an oxygen explosion knocked out the command vessel's main power and oxygen sources Monday night. The accident canceled out Apollo 13's plans for man's third moon landing mission and forced the astronauts to turn to Aquarius' systems to keep them alive for nearly four days until the could return to earth.

To achieve separation, James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr. and John L. Swigert Jr. sealed off both ends of the three-foot connecting tunnel and pressurized it with oxygen. When they triggered explosive separation devices, the tunnel pressure pushed the two craft apart.

They kicked the lunar craft loose when they were about 13,100 miles and one hour 24 minutes from planned splashdown in the Pacific Ocean.

Earlier, they jettisoned their service module and got a frightening look at the extensive damage caused by the explosion that aborted their mission.

Less than five hours from home, they separated the service module in which an oxygen tank exploded Monday night, knocking out the command ship's main power and oxygen sources. The damage was severe.

"There's one whole side of that spacecraft missing," Commander James A. Lovell Jr. exclaimed. "It's really a mess."

Everyone knew there was damage, but no one believed it was so extensive until the astronauts discarded the useless service section 40,121 miles above the earth. They could see the damage as the section moved away and they photographed it for possible clues as to what caused the accident.

Earlier, Lovell, Fred W. Haise Jr. and John L. Swigert Jr. powered up the command ship with re-entry batteries and fired control jets to aim for a landing target in the Pacific.

The helicopter carrier Iwo Jima maneuvered toward the intended landing zone, where weather conditions were reported good.

As Apollo 13 accelerated toward the planned 1:07 p.m. EST splashdown, the astronauts prepared the command vessel for the fiery re-entry. They worked in 38-degree temperature just before reaching the earth's atmosphere.

The damage was the result of the oxygen tank rupture that aborted the moon-landing mission Monday night and forced the astronauts to fight for survival with the resources of their lunar lander.

The separation of the service module came at the end of an hour of furious activity in which James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr. and John L. Swigert Jr. turned on the electrical power in the command ship and fired a control jet to aim for an afternoon landing in the Pacific Ocean.

The service module damage would present no problem to the astronauts' return to earth.

Following the separation, Lovell said one whole panel, 22 feet long, and part of the engine bell were missing.

"Looks like a lot of debris is just hanging off the side," Lovell said. "It's near the S-Band antenna."

The service module contained most of the long-life oxygen and electrical power for the Apollo 13 command ship.

The explosion Monday night rendered the command vehicle useless until today when power was restored with batteries.

The astronauts discarded the service module to expose the command ship heat shield which was to protect them during the blazing re-entry through the atmosphere.

The spacemen used a tricky "push-pull" technique to separate the service module.

Lovell fired the lunar module jets to push the service section forward. Simultaneously, Swigert, in the command ship, fired explosive devices to effect separation. Lovell quickly reversed the lunar craft to back away so there would be no collision during re-entry later in the day.

The astronauts photographed the damage. The pictures could provide possible clues to the cause of the rupture.

Earlier, Swigert slipped into the command ship cabin to start the batteries and oxygen system. These operate from a separate system and are designed for use during re-entry.

Lovell and Haise fired the lunar craft's small jets for 23 seconds to zero in on the landing site 610 miles southeast of Samoa in the Pacific.

Splashdown was scheduled for 1:07 p.m. EST.

"Right on the money," Mission Control said of the firing.

Without the firing, Apollo 13 would have missed the target area by about 50 miles. There was no immediate word on how much the firing improved the accuracy.

At the time of the burn, Apollo 13 was 43,222 miles from earth, traveling 6,220 miles an hour.

Over 100 Dead

TAKEO, Cambodia (AP) — Cambodian soldiers fired repeatedly into huddled masses of Vietnamese concentration camp inmates and left more than 100 dead, survivors reported today.

Blood-spattered and wounded survivors said Cambodian troops came in four times between 8 p.m. Thursday and 5 a.m. today.

"They shot and shot and shot," said one boy, about 16, who was weeping.

Last week at least 73 were slain under similar circumstances in Prasaut.

The Takeo Vietnamese concentration camp, as the soldiers themselves call it, is one of dozens around Cambodia that contain thousands of Vietnamese residents rounded up as part of security measures in face of mounting attacks by Communist-led forces.

This camp contained more than 200 persons, including a few women and children.

Takeo is 54 miles south of Phnom Penh.

At least 13 seriously wounded Vietnamese, including a young boy, lay on the blood-caked floor of a shed in the camp with no medical attention.

Report Massive Allied Buildup

ROUTE ONE BORDER CROSSING, Vietnam (AP) — A massive South Vietnamese and American military buildup is taking place along the Cambodian border north and south of this key crossing point.

There is no evidence of armed American forays across the frontier. But a battalion from the U.S. 25th Infantry Division has moved into the border region to relieve South Vietnamese troops now operating as far as 10 miles inside Cambodia.

The American infantrymen from the 25th Division have taken over a Vietnamese patrol base called Blue about 3½ miles northwest of the border crossing. There, the Americans are operating advanced radar to track North Vietnamese and Viet Cong rockets and mortars fired inside Cambodia. The radar operators say they relay their information back to the division's headquarters at Cu Chi.

A task force of more than 2,000 South Vietnamese troops plus hundreds of tanks and armored personnel carriers has been operating inside Cambodia in recent days. South Vietnamese jets and prop planes have been bombing North Vietnamese positions inside Cambodia in support of the task force.

Route One, the highway between Saigon and Phnom Penh, crosses the border 42 miles northwest of Saigon into an area of Cambodia called the Parrot's Beak on military maps. The military estimates more than 10,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops are in this region. Early this week they pushed to the outskirts of Svay Rieng, the Cambodian provincial capital about 30 miles west of Route One Crossing, but no attempt to take the town has been reported.

The situation is considered so politically explosive that American military police from the 25th Division have been stationed at the border to keep civilians and American military personnel from crossing into Cambodia.

mob attacks bank, police break it up

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Three young women and an African foreign exchange student were hit by shotgun pellets Thursday night as 200 officers dispersed about 700 young people smashing windows at a bank building which replaced one rioters burned down in February.

Sheriff James Webster said some of his riot-helmeted, shield-carrying deputies fired birdshot into the air, but not directly at any of the protesters attacking the Bank of America branch in nearby Isla Vista. He said he was investigating the woundings.

The officers launched several dozen tear gas canisters in an hour-long confrontation to disperse the demonstrators who also smashed nearby real estate office windows and set some

City School Board Says $92,000 More Needed For Budget

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Pitt County Commissioners last night heard representatives of the Greenville City Board of Education say the city school system would need an increase in their current expense budget of some $92,000 just to maintain the same programs now in effect in the schools, and would need a $193,000 increase if necessary programs are added.

The school board's finance committee met with commissioners last night to outline their general needs and attempt to determine what direction the school officials should take in an effort to meet their requirements.

Finance Committee chairman Harding Sugg told commissioners, "For the last several months we have realized our need in the Greenville city schools. If we maintain the same programs . . . stand still . . . we would still run $92,000 in the red."

Sugg continued, "To adopt the program we feel we need . . . a program we term the middle-of-the-road . . . it would take $193,000."

The $93,000 figure Sugg explained is due to "just normal increases in salaries and the like."

According to Sugg, the city system would have to "lop off some teachers . . . reduce 13 teachers for a balanced budget," if the additional $92,000 is not forthcoming.

Committee member Dr. James Bearden explained that the city system is faced with many requests to "do a better job" and said all of the requests "boils down to finance."

"I think problems will arise because of financial problems, if the requests are not met." Commissioners Robert Martin of Bethel, commenting on the need of both the city and county schools as well as other county agencies for money, said, "We asked the people to broaden the tax base . . . they voted you down." Martin was referring to a proposed sales tax defeated by Pitt County voters last year.

One way of raising the needed money for the city system voiced last night is to raise the supplemental current expense levy of the Greenville School District. At present, Greenville district residents pay 25 cents per $100 valuation for the special supplemental levy. A statutory ceiling of 50-cents per $100 valuation has been set by the state legislature but it would take an affirmative vote of the Greenville district residents to raise the present 25-cents levy local ceiling.

As last night's meeting neared an end, Commissioners suggested that the city and county boards meet to discuss their mutual financial problems and move toward a possible solution.

At present, the city special charter district receives about one-third of the money (on a per-capita basis) raised through the regular county-wide school levy. In addition, supplemental funds are raised in the Greenville district and in several county districts to support local school programs at a higher level than would otherwise be possible under state standards.

Commissioners last night also heard Dr. Essie Grant, chief of the chronic disease section of the North Carolina State Board of Health outline a proposed Home Health Agency for Pitt County.

The Home Health program would replace the Chronic Disease Program now administered by the Health Department and make it possible for the county to collect payments from Medicare, Medicaid and private insurance companies, the health official explained.

Board of Health members, who attended the briefing with commissioners, were to discuss the proposed program and make recommendations to commissioners.

Smug Taxpayer Shaken

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Dean E. Allen filled out his federal income tax return two weeks ago and put it in his pocket that same day for mailing.

The unhurried taxpayer wore a smug expression all day Wednesday as he watched friends rushing around to mail their returns before the midnight deadline.

Thursday, Allen was not smiling.

After handing over his suit coat at the cleaners, Allen was visibly shaken when the dry cleaning clerk pulled Allen's unfiled tax return from the pocket.

Stancil following in a truck, said Riggs lost control of the vehicle after striking some gravel in the roadway. Investigators quoted Stancil as saying Riggs threw out one leg to catch his balance, but was unable to do so. The motorcycle struck the tree, throwing Riggs head-first into it.

Coroner Harvey ruled the death as accidental.

According to Pitt County Coroner E. W. Harvey, Riggs died at 5:30 p.m. of severe head and neck injuries.

Investigating Highway Patrolman Billy Day said the Riggs motorcycle left the road in a curve, jumped a roadside ditch and slammed head-on into a tree.

Another fireman, William Stancil, witnessed the fatal crash, and was credited with helping maintain Riggs' respiration until the crash

Off-Duty City Fireman Dies Of Motorcycle Wreck Injury

An off-duty Greenville fireman was fatally injured yesterday when the motorcycle he was riding went out of control and struck a tree.

Al Riggs, 20, had been a fireman for about eight months and had been assigned to the department's Rescue Unit. Much of his off-duty time was spending doing what he loved to do — ride motorcycles.

The fatal crash occurred on the Old Creek Road North of Greenville about 12:15 p.m.

According to Pitt County Coroner E. W. Harvey, Riggs died at 5:30 p.m. of severe head and neck injuries.

Investigating Highway Patrolman Billy Day said the Riggs motorcycle left the road in a curve, jumped a roadside ditch and slammed head-on into a tree.

Another fireman, William Stancil, witnessed the fatal crash, and was credited with helping maintain Riggs' respiration until the crash victim could be transported to the hospital by the rescue squad.

Sunnyside Eggs To Build New Plant In Pitt

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

WINTERVILLE — Plans for building a new Sunnyside Eggs, Inc. processing and feed plant facility one mile north of here were announced last night by Commissioner of Agriculture James A. Graham.

Speaking at the weekly meeting of the Winterville Kiwanis Club, Graham pointed out that Sunnyside Eggs has purchased a site along the Seaboard Coastline Railroad a mile north of there for the construction of the two building complex.

"This plant will be a real boost to the agricultural economy of Pitt County and Eastern North Carolina," Graham said in disclosing plans for the twin facility.

The egg processing building, he said, will house equipment for processing 8,000 cases of eggs per week through the operation of two machines, working two shifts per day.

The other building, Graham continued, housing a modern pushbutton system feed manufacturing plant facility, will turn out 40,000 tons of feed annually with a capacity of 80,000 tons per year when consumption warrants it.

The commissioner, who made the announcement jointly with Sunnyside vice president Robert B. Dominick Jr. of Greenville, said that the egg plant will also contain the firm's administrative offices and will replace the present plant which is one-fourth the size of the new facility.

Up to now, it was pointed out, the firm has bought all of its feed and will be involved in a new service with the proposed feed production plant. Both raw materials and feed will move in bulk form.

Dominick said that construction would begin hopefully "next week." The plant is expected to be completed around the middle of October.

"The 500,000 layers under contract to Sunnyside Eggs are a real factor in the progress which Pitt County has made and the complete processing of all the eggs here-at-home will further enhance this industry," Graham added.

Sunnyside also has a processing plant on Dickinson Avenue in Greenville and one in Shelby. Currently, there are 17 farms in the county under contract to produce eggs for the plant.

The new facility will be the center of Sunnyside activities in the state, he noted.

The commissioner, introduced by Senator Vernon White of Winterville, noted that "eastern North Carolina is where it is today because of agriculture, because poor people came and developed the land."

Tobacco is still the number one commodity in the state, he continued, overshadowing the production of hogs, which, statewide, is ranked tenth in the nation, and other top production outlets.

Graham said that the state Department of Agriculture, in performing services to protect the consumers of the state, exercises control and supervision in the areas of weights and measures, pest control, food and drug purity, gas and oil inspection, meat and poultry inspection, egg laws, soil testing and numerous other areas.

The commissioner was appointed to his position in July of 1964 by former Governor Terry Sanford and elected later in the year to a four-year term. His election to another four-year tenure came in 1968.

He is a Cleveland County native and a graduate of North Carolina State.

Kiwanis president T. S. Womble presided at the meeting.

AT KIWANIS MEETING . . . last night in Winterville for the announcement of the new Sunnyside Eggs, Inc. plant were (L-R) Robert B.

R.J. Reynolds Sets Dividend

WINSTON - SALEM, N. C. (AP) — The R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. has declared a quarterly dividend of 60 cents a share of common stock.

The payment, declared Thursday, goes to stockholders of record May 8. It is payable June 5.

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N.C.

Fair Saturday, chance of rain late Sunday or Sunday night and mainly in east portion Monday. Mild Saturday followed by cooler on Sunday.

Miss Judy Clark of Greenville reigned as May Queen at Stratford College's May Day.

This year's court was distinguished from previous ones in that members wore bright green and pink linen pants outfits and were barefooted. Although Miss Clark carried out tradition by wearing a white formal, she replaced the traditional bouquet with a single yellow rose.

A senior elementary education major, Miss Clark has been elected a member of the May Courts of the past three years. A Dean's List student, she was editor of the college yearbook last year. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Clark Jr. of 2011 Pinecrest Drive, Greenville.

ROANOKE RAPIDS, N. C. (AP)—Searchers resumed their hunt today for the body of a man believed to have perished with five others Thursday when two military planes collided in a fiery midair crash.

Rescue squad volunteers, law officers and personnel from the 632nd Radar Base in Roanoke Rapids joined forces to comb the area in a five-mile circle around Weldon in Halifax County of northeastern North Carolina.

A blazing Air Force T-39 plummeted from the sky about 10 a.m. and smashed to the ground in a residential neighborhood in Weldon — just a block from school children playing during recess.

The second plane splashed debris for thousands of feet when it fireballed out of the sky and slammed to the ground near the Roanoke Rapids airport several miles away.

Despite the two crashes, no injuries were reported on the ground.

Air Force spokesman reported finding the bodies of three of the four men aboard the twin-jet T-39 before the search was called off at dark Thursday night.

The Air Force declined to specify the identity of the victims whose bodies have been recovered or that of the fourth man whose body they were seeking.

But they identified the four passengers aboard the aircraft when it left MacDill Air Force Base in Florida bound for Langley Air Force Base in Virginia as follows:

Col. Ivey J. Lewis, 45, deputy chief of staff for communications and electronics for the Tactical Air Command at Langley; Lt. Col. Francis G. Haultewicz, 39, of Schenectady, N.Y.; Maj. Ronald L. Edwards, 38, of Anderson, Ind.; and Sgt. Joseph R. Brown, 36, of Abbeville, Ga. All were stationed at MacDill in Tampa, Fla., the Air Force said.

The Navy TA4-F jet that crashed near the Roanoke Rapids airport was said by the Navy to be carrying two men on a routine training mission that began at the Oceana Naval Air Station near Norfolk, Va. The station lies about 85 miles from the crash site.

Navy spokesmen said the trainer jet apparently was attempting an emergency landing after the collision when it shot to the ground near the airport. Two bodies were found in the wreckage.

They were identified as Lt. George D. Green, 27, and Lt. Walter G. Young, also 27. Both were assigned to the Oceana Naval Station and left widows at their Virginia Beach homes near the station.

Reports early Thursday that a third aircraft might have been involved in the collision and crashed at the town of Enfield 20 miles south were discounted by an Air Force officer who took command in the disaster.

"I'm satisfied there is no plane at Enfield," said Maj. Gen. C. M. Talbott after a helicopter flight over the area. "As far as we know there are only two planes involved."

The Air Force jet, a type commonly used for travel by high ranking officers and government officials, had stopped at Shaw Air Force Base in South Carolina during its flight up from Tampa.

Talbott, vice commander of the 9th Air Force at Shaw, flew to Roanoke Rapids to assume command after learning of the crash.

A man who saw the Navy plane drop in flames, W. B. Copenhaver, manager of the Roanoke Rapids Airport, said it sounded like "a loud whistling noise, like a shell or a missile."

"I looked up and saw a ball of fire and smoke," he recounted. "Then I could tell it was a jet plane. It came zooming down and hit in the woods. Pieces were flying all over the place."

One piece of debris crashed through the roof of Copenhaver's home and landed five feet from his wife as she lay on a living room couch.

"She was so upset," he said later. "I had to take her to the doctor."

The Air Force jet hit the ground about 20 feet from a group of four houses standing back-to-back. It thudded to earth about 25 feet from an elderly housewife hanging clothes in her back yard.

"I was scared to death," said Mrs. Irene Faulson.

Firemen from Weldon and Roanoke Rapids sprayed the blazing aircraft, and the flames were contained without damage to the homes.

Mrs. M.R. Parker of Roanoke Rapids was keynote speaker at the East Central District Extension Homemakers Association Board of Directors meeting held here yesterday.

President of the N. C. Extension Homemakers, Mr. Parker told of duties and positions which can be filled within the association. She complimented the women on the reports which were given during the morning session.

She discussed the Fall Forum to be held at Meredith College on Sept. 24, sponsored by the N. C. Women's Council. The National Extension Homemakers Association annual meeting will be held in December in Las Vegas, Nev.

Mrs. Parker told of her experiences in attending several of the national meetings. She was introduced by Mrs. Leroy Wilson of Hillsborough, corresponding secretary of the East Central District.

Special recognition was given to Mrs. Mayo Cherry of Tarboro. She was named N.C. Woman of the Year by "Progressive Farmer" magazine. Mrs. Cherry is president of the Coastal Plains Area Development Association which includes six counties.

Brief remarks were made by Dr. W. G. Andrews, East Central District Extension chairman, and Mrs. Pauline Moore, East Central District 4-H specialist.

Mrs. Lois Brown and Mrs. Elizabeth Meldau, EC District home economics agents, gave challenges for the year.

Mrs. Brown said, "Organizations are like people — they go through stages of development. Despite the good things we are doing, I wonder if we should not take a good hard look at ourselves. I challenge you again, to look at our membership — to work harder perhaps to increase the membership."

Mrs. Meldau told of the Extension Homemakers Citizenship Seminar held last week in Washington, D.C.

Mrs. R.D. Richards told of Consumerama 70, held March 11-15, in Winston-Salem. She said that 90 exhibitors were represented and the exhibits were educational. The four broad areas covered were clothing, shelter, food and family management.

Mrs. H. K. Baker of Louisville, second vice president of the district, called for the annual report by counties. The counties reported on 1969 programs of work and activities conducted through the Extension Homemakers organization.

Work reported included: youth; senior citizens; housing; house furnishings; crafts; foods and nutrients; family relations;

Dinner Honors New Members

GRIFTON — The Grifton Service League held its annual dinner meeting to honor new members on Wednesday night at the Episcopal Parish House.

New members include Mrs. Shirley Gaddy, Mrs. Evelyn Perry, Mrs. Jerry Eubanks, Mrs. John Antion and Mrs. Margaret Price. Special guests were advisory board members, Mrs. W.I. Bissette, Mrs. H.P. Quinerly, Mrs. Robert Mewborn and Mrs. Cecil Cobb.

The outstanding award for the year was presented to Mrs. Catherine Whaley.

Mrs. Judy Christopher presided and presented the officers for the coming year: Vice President, Phyllis Davenport; Secretary, Etta Weatherman; and Treasurer, Catherine Whaley.

Mrs. Tom Gower read a short history of the Service League for the new members. Report of the year's activities were given and work sheets for the coming term were distributed.

Want a "different" sandwich filling? Add finely diced cucumber to chopped cooked ham; moisten with mayonnaise.

Housing Fair; Christmas holiday house; crafts fair; supporting public library as community service project.

Mrs. James Jones of Tarboro, first vice president of the district, presided and gave the devotional. Welcomes to the group were given by Mrs. E.C. Davenport, Pitt County Council president, and Edwin Yancey, Pitt County Extension chairman.

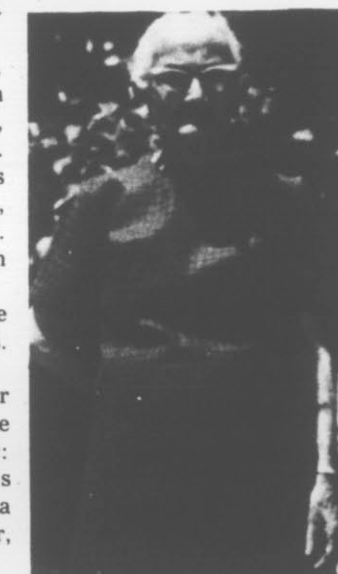

Bring greetings were Vernon Cox, vice chairman, Pitt County commissioners, and Gene Skinner, president, Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Association.

Dinner Given Mrs. Whitford

Mrs. Minnie Adams Whitford was honored Sunday afternoon at a dinner on her 92nd birthday. The dinner was given by her family and close friends at Chapman United Methodist Church Fellowship Hall.

The honoree was presented an orchid corsage and other gifts were opened at the table. The invocation was given by Rev. B. R. McCullen, pastor of Chapman Church.

The dinner table was centered with a birthday cake which was flanked by arrangements of MRS. MINNIE A. WHITFORD yellow chrysanthemums.

Guests at the dinner consisted of Mrs. Whitford's family and friends, many of whom came from out-of-town.

Following dinner, the guest were entertained in the church chapel by the Jarman Quartet from Kinston.

Mrs. I.Z. Downy of Oxford, recording secretary, gave the roll call by counties and Mrs. Otha Dixon of Williamston, treasurer, gave her report.

The East Central District is made up of 16 counties in the state.

Aries Members Hear Speaker

W.N. Creekmore was guest speaker at Tuesday night's meeting of the Aries Book Club held at the home of Mrs. Virginia Pierce Basnight.

An educational therapist, Creekmore formulated the program known as the Remedial Education Activity Program and is the director at East Carolina University.

He traced its growth from its inception to its present status. This is a program for rehabilitating preschool aged emotionally disturbed children.

The only similar program in the United States is at Belle Dubuff School of Educational Therapy, Hollywood, Calif.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Basnight. At the conclusion of a question and answer period, Mrs. Basnight assisted by Mrs. J. Bryan Brown and Mrs. Carl Pierce served refreshments.

Mrs. M.L. Starkey, president, presided and recognized Mrs. E.W. Harvey Jr. and Mrs. J.C. Whiteford as new members.

Constant Talker Needs Affection

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd. Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: My stepson is 15. We get along very well and he is really a good boy. But Abby, he TALKS too much! This boy blabs everything he thinks, hears and sees. He is constantly interrupting adults to contradict them, and he takes over a conversation and holds the floor for as long as he can, running minor details into the ground.

He recently spoiled a surprise party I had planned for a friend. He simply TOLD her about it—not meaning to!

Abby, he is not a bad kid, but I wish he would just learn to keep his mouth shut. I've even considered adhesive tape, but I don't think it is that wide. What can be done? He is driving me up a wall.

DESPERATE

DEAR DESPERATE: Compulsive talking is only one of his problems. His obvious insecurity accounts for his need to draw attention to himself by interrupting, contradicting and holding the floor as long as possible. (Many adults never out-grow this.) Perhaps with maturity will come confidence, patience and better judgment. In the meantime, tell him you love him, and before opening his mouth to ask himself:

Is it true?
Is it kind?
Is it necessary?

DEAR ABBY: An acquaintance [I can no longer call her a friend] rang my doorbell early one morning, and after remarking on the weather, said with a little laugh, "There, now I have you on my candid camera!" Then she called my attention to a tiny camera she had in her hand.

I felt very resentful of this invasion of my privacy — particularly since I looked my very worst at that time of day, but I said nothing. How would you have handled that situation?

ANNOYED

DEAR ANNOYED: I'd have asked to see the "cute little camera." I would then confiscate it, and with a little laugh I'd promise to return it after I destroyed the negative of my likeness.

DEAR ABBY: In the office where I work, and it is a very large one, men are required to wear shirts, neckties and jackets during office hours, but there are no rules about dress for women.

I don't object to miniskirts on young girls who have nice legs. But when an overweight middle-age woman with varicose veins wears a miniskirt — well, that's another matter.

Also, some girls come to work dressed like they're going to a cocktail party. Since men are required to observe certain rules of dress, don't you think women should, too?

A MAN (OF COURSE)

DEAR MAN: Yes. But it's more complicated to make "rules" for women. All women should be told on hiring that they are expected to dress modestly and appropriately for an office. [This should eliminate necklines that are down to there, and skirts that are up to here.] If a woman violates the rules, the office manager should give her a warning. And if she likes her job, one warning should suffice.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "STILL HOPING": A fine artist knows when his painting is finished. A wise woman knows when the affair is finished. Accept it with grace.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 67700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 67700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Mrs. Smith Is Club Speaker

Mrs. Blanche Smith entertained the Inglis Fletcher Book Club Tuesday at the home of Mrs. George Clapp Jr.

Mrs. Smith told and showed slides of her tour of Greece. The pictures included ruins of temples such as the Parthenon and Ephesus.

Mrs. W. G. Garner presided over a short business session. The nominating committee presented the 1970-71 slate of officers as follows:

Mrs. W. A. Pollard, president; Mrs. T. W. Rouse, vice president; Mrs. John D. Miller, secretary; and Mrs. Clapp, treasurer.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and books were exchanged.

Dinner Party Held Wednesday

GRIFTON — Mrs. Clifton Jackson entertained at an informal "bon voyage" dinner party for Mrs. Thurman Williams and Miss Bertha Johnson Wednesday night.

They left from the Raleigh-Durham Airport for a three-week tour to Anchorage, Alaska, and Japan.

The house was decorated with spring flowers.

Round Table

Celebrates

60th Anniversary

The Round Table Book Club celebrated its 60th anniversary Tuesday when Mrs. E. E. Rawl entertained at a luncheon in the private dining room of the Quality Motel, Chocowinity.

In honor of the occasion, the members have given two books to Sheppard Memorial Library. Mrs. Rawl and Mrs. Spruill Spain, composing a gift committee, selected "Executive Mansions and Capitols of America" by Jean Houston Daniel and "The Beauty of America in Great American Art" by Morrow.

The club president, Mrs. H. T. Patterson, presided over a brief business meeting.

Mrs. Grover Everett gave the program "Ladies of the Round Table, 1910-1970." She traced the highlights of the club's activities over the 60-year period.

Dr. Sallie Pence, program chairman, closed the meeting with a thought for the day.

Mrs. Grover Everett Jr. was a guest of the club.

The club colors, white and gold, and the club flower, daisy, were featured in table decorations.

Hunting For New, Safety Car

The government is calling for bids to produce a safety car and we can hope that such an experimental vehicle will lead to reduction of injuries and death in highway accidents.

Under the government standards the prototypes would be able to withstand head-on collisions of up to 50 miles per hour without injuring the occupants. The vehicles would also be designed to withstand a 30-mile an hour crash from the side and survive a rollover at 70 miles per hour with the passenger compartment still intact.

Specifications call for a "low pollution" engine. It will have to be "superior in handling and braking" to any other car now on the market.

There was a hassle when General Motors bid $1 in an effort to win a contract, since some critics maintained an auto manufacturer should not build the vehicle. However, Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe said last year that at least one of two cars could be built by auto makers. The government will pick one of the two cars and the winner will build 12 others for test purposes.

It must be clear that building a safe car is going to radically change the type autos which Americans will drive in the future. Designs will have to be quite different and because of the cost of strengthening the vehicles there will be a reduction in the cost of expensive styling changes.

Since a safe car will undoubtedly cost more, there is likely to be more emphasis on building vehicles that will last longer and trading of vehicles will be come less frequent.

There is no doubt, however, that more substantial vehicles must be built to reduce the appalling highway toll. Engines must be designed which do not pollute the air. The safety cars which the government will soon be getting will likely radically change automobiles.

Still To Be Paid, No Matter The Form Used

IRS Commissioner Randolph W. Thrower concedes that the new income tax forms troubled some citizens but he says the bugs will be worked out by next year.

The new 1040 form this year replaced both the old long form 1040 and the punchcard form 1040A. However the new form has been criticized as being confusing.

Thrower says the new form is here to stay, "but we have found some bugs in the present presentation and certainly those will be removed."

Of course, the commissioner didn't promise to remove the main pain of the tax form. The taxes will still have to be paid no matter what shape the filing form is in.

Saigon Needs A Cheaper War

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

SAIGON — Ultimately more ominous to President Nguyen Van Thieu's regime than non-stop intrigues by the salon politicians of Saigon is this harsh economic reality: South Vietnam simply cannot afford to fight the war the spendthrift American way.

The new economic menace derives from a peculiarity of Vietnamization. The Americans are bequeathing to the Saigon government not only ground fighting responsibilities but their strategy as well. Consequently, South Vietnamese troops sometimes wearing threadbare uniforms and eating meager rations are fighting in most expensive style with sophisticated (and highly effective, U.S. hardware — howitzers and helicopters used in a nationwide framework of fortified artillery bases built by the U.S.

To some nonmilitary Vietnamese officials, they cannot fight the war as though they were Yankees but must find a cheaper, distinctively Vietnamese way. The alternative, they feel, is to be bled white financially, thereby sacrificing the fruits of any military success.

President Thieu, realizing military requirements will remain beyond any negotiated halt in actual fighting, understands the need for cutting military costs. But he also is known to feel that time will be needed to change the way the war is fought.

Indeed, South Vietnam's military establishment, still wielding political power that Thieu cannot ignore, will resist such a change. Trained by the U.S. War College at Ft. Leavenworth, South Vietnamese senior commanders are not about to desecrate the level of Asian irregulars.

Military cost-cutting is but one facet of an economic crisis rapidly deepening under the impact of Vietnamization. Each facet has a similar pattern — belated but absolutely essential reforms resisted by powerful interests.

The economic picture can be summed up this way: South Vietnam never has adopted wartime austerity measures. Desperately fighting to pacify its country, Saigon was in no position to tax or ration. The result has been worsening deficit spending, elephantine trade deficits, high consumption, and low production.

Until recently, inflation was kept bearable (mainly by huge infusions of U.S. dollars reducing the trade deficit). But military success against the Communists has escalated consumer spending to the point of runaway inflation, sending the cost of living right off the charts. The price of rice jumped 60 percent the past year, a critical political indicator that frustrates the Thieu government's quest for broad-based public support.

Economically, Vietnamization is catastrophic. U.S. dollars into Vietnam will be reduced just when they are needed most. With the Vietnamese inheriting the costly U.S. military apparatus, the Thieu government's deficit spending will continue its inflationary ballooning.

Pham Kim Ngoc, 42, a non-political technocrat who attended the London School of Economics, has become the stormiest figure in Thieu's cabinet by charging this crisis head-on since becoming minister of economy last September. His austerity taxes on imports so outraged businessmen, politicians, and the public that he was forced to peel back somewhat.

In fact, however, the taxes neither raised enough revenue nor inhibited luxury imports sufficiently. The result: still sterner, more unpopular measures by Ngoc. The government this week will ban imports on all luxuries, from passenger autos to the motor bikes which have become this country's chief means of transportation. This, in turn, will surely be followed by higher taxes generally. Provided the military's objections are overridden, belt-tightening for the private

The Prayers of Man, the Hand of God

By ART BUCHWALD The Old Nixon Returns

WASHINGTON — I can now reveal why President Nixon made his bitter attack on the Senate after the Judge Carswell defeat. From talking to inside White House sources and putting bits and pieces together, I have learned that this is what happened.

Wednesday night after Carswell had been defeated, everyone in Washington had gone to bed except the President at the White House and Martha Mitchell at the Watergate, who was still trying to rouse someone at the Arkansas Gazette.

The President was in a despondent mood and was pacing up and down his bedroom, when out of the clothes closet came the Old Nixon.

The Old Nixon seemed jubilant. "Well, you see what happens when you're Mr. Nice Guy."

"Oh, go away," the New Nixon said. "You always come around to gloat when something goes wrong."

The Old Nixon said, "You wouldn't listen to me, would you? You wanted to remain above politics, a statesman, a man of all the people. I told you it wouldn't work."

"How could I do otherwise?"

"You thought you could let Spiro do all the name calling and the mud slinging," the Old Nixon said. "But it wasn't that easy, Dicky."

To The Editor:

Let me take just a moment of your time to express my family's feelings. We think the people of Greenville are some of the most wonderful people we have met. We realized that there would be students, that knew our son who would come through. But my wife spent some time there in the early days of our son's stay in the hospital, and everyone was just lovely to her. A special thanks to the hospital staff and the Greenville Police Department. We are most grateful to all.

At the writing of this letter still finds our son in the hospital and his family nearly 200 miles away. We are pleased to know he has his student body and Greenville family there with him. It just gives us a better feeling. May God be with all of them.

Yours very truly,
J. H. Godfrey, Jr. and family.

To The Editor:

I received a telephone call from one of the students of Pitt Tech.

The student stated the following:

On Monday, April 13th during the evening adult classes, a Pitt Tech Staff member interrupted the class and gave a talk on why Pitt Tech should become a Community College.

Also, a political candidate interrupted the class, first stating he (the candidate) had obtained permission from the Pitt Tech Staff to do this, and solicited the students vote and passed out his candidacy cards.

Should this be allowed in a state institution?

Very truly yours,
A. B. Whitley, Jr.

Women Speak Oddly

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the ordeals of being a man in a woman's world is trying to understand feminine talk.

"You never talk to me anymore," a wife often complains to her husband, after they have been married a few years.

The reason is quite simple. They speak two different languages. He speaks American English. She speaks a kind of personalized jargon, for every woman makes up a language of her own as she rattles on.

The only time in marital life a husband and wife really understand what the other is saying is when they are newlyweds. This is when they speak what is known as "honeymoon prattle," and is hardly complimentary to either of them as it consists largely of simulated baby talk. Such as:

"Does Daddykins love his babykins?"

"Oo knows Daddykins loves his babykins."

A stranger overhearing such exchanges has to reach into his pocket for some antacid tablets to calm his stomach.

Trouble begins when the husband, the sanity of his vocabulary restored by the passage of time, begins to speak to his wife as if she were normal and mature and able to employ meaningfully the language they both learned in school.

At once a gap begins, a gap that only widens with the years.

He uses language precisely, logically, to tell her exactly what is on his mind. She uses language imprecisely, illogically, to tell him to guess what is really on her mind.

"I suppose the weather is too bad for us to go out to a movie," she says.

"Yeah, I suppose so," he answers absently, deep in the sports pages of his evening newspaper.

Immediately her temper flares, and she storms out of the room, slamming the door behind her. The husband is mystified. How was he supposed to know that his wife wanted to go to a movie, no matter whether it was snowing snowballs outside or raining alley cats and pure-bred dogs.

Aside from woman's tendency to use irony and sarcasm and to make statements as difficult to interpret correctly as those of the Delphic oracle, the trait that irritates men most is her exaggerated use of two words—never and always.

If he is unimpressed by a new dress she asks his opinion about, ever afterward she says, "What's the point in asking you? You NEVER like a thing I wear anyway."

If once in his lifetime, he keeps her waiting five minutes at a street corner, ever afterwards she braids him, "Why do you ALWAYS have to embarrass me by being late?"

As they grow older, you will notice that most married couples speak less to each other and communicate more and more in a mutual language of their own they have developed together—sign language.

Fly Around World On Bourbon

By ELMER ROESSNER

One can now buy bourbon around the world.

A few years ago, it wasn't easy. Foreign nations discouraged the import of American whiskeys. The Bourbon Institute and distillers waged a campaign on whether bourbon was freely available around the world.

It is.

It was served for free on Air France and JAL planes and I was able to buy it by the drink in the George V Hotel and the Eighteenth Restaurant in Paris, the Otani Hotel and several restaurants in Tokyo, the Toyo Hotel in Osaka and in San Francisco — well, there the natives pour it on their corn flakes at breakfast.

Other Libations

However, in Paris if one asks for "whisky," he gets Scotch and in Japan he gets Suntory, which is similar to Scotch.

There are several whiskeys made in Japan, mostly of the Scotch type, but Suntory predominates. Here's the story:

When Japan reopened trade with foreign nations, after Commodore Mathew Calbraith Perry's visit in 1853, the Japanese sent a ship of businessmen and scientists to study European civilization and to see what could be adapted to Japanese life.

When the ship made its first call at London, some predecessor of the modern Al Durante sent a case — or perhaps it was a barrel — of Old Parr whisky to the notables aboard.

They liked it and for the two years spent in Europe, the Japanese kept ordering and reordering Old Parr.

When they returned to Japan, they presented some to high officials and, when it was determined that they had also found out how to make it, orders were issued in the emperor's name to make it in Japan.

Barley Malt & Peat

And so Suntory is made today, with barley malted and roasted over peat, fermented, distilled and aged in oak casks. Furthermore, Suntory is sold in bottles shaped like Old Parr bottles: squarish with a high neck.

There are several ages of Suntory marketed, the top one about $25 a bottle. It is rarely drunk. Giving presents is an important aspect of business in Japan and a businessman, sending a bottle of whisky to a business acquaintance, would lose face if he sent anything less than the most expensive.

And in the basements of department stores in Japan, which are devoted to food and drink, there is always a big display of Suntory whisky and, usually, next to it a big display of Old Parr. There are lesser displays of other Japanese whiskeys and other displays of foreign wines and spirits, sometimes even a few bottles of bourbon.

Gaston Laughs All The Way To Bank, His Bank

"DON'T GET ANGRY — GET SMART" is the advice 77-year-old Arthur George Gaston (called a "super Uncle Tom" by many black militants) gives members of his race. Gaston believes his credentials as a worker for Negro rights are as good as anyone's. (UPI Telephoto)

By JOSEPH M. CHAPMAN
BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Some black militants call Arthur George Gaston a "super Uncle Tom" or an "Aunt Jemima."

But A.G. Gaston doesn't mind, he laughs all the way to the bank—his bank.

Gaston, who is 77, believes his credentials as a worker for Negro rights are as good as any.

The bank—actually a savings and loan association—is just one of the Gaston enterprises. There are also funeral homes, apartments, motels, cemeteries, real estate, an insurance company, homebuilding projects and enough other things to make his slogan, "from the cradle to the grave," a reality to Alabama blacks.

Aids Rights Movement
Most of Gaston's associations with the civil rights movement have involved money.

"Hosea Williams (of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, SCLC) call me a super Uncle Tom. But the last time I picked up the bill for the SCLC, it cost me $17,000. I helped them, financially, to do many of the things they have accomplished."

"I got Dr. (Martin Luther) King out of jail, put up his bond, that time he wrote the letter from a Birmingham jail," he said. Gaston guaranteed more than $100,000 in bonds to allow persons involved in the Birmingham demonstrations to be freed.

Gaston also had his home and his motel, which was SCLC headquarters in Birmingham, bombed. No one was injured.

Ideological Differences
Gaston has broken with the SCLC several times. In 1963 he objected to children being taken out of school to participate in marches led by King. He also argued with King about the principle of passive resistance.

"That's where we first broke," Gaston said. "I can't see letting anybody hit me. If somebody hits me, I got to hit them back. That's why I never went on any of those marches."

But, he adds of King: "That man was something great. There's never been anybody like him."

Gaston objected to the use of school children because he believes

Negroes need education more than anything else. "I felt education was too important to be neglected," he said.

'Get Smart'
"Negro education has been bad. There's young folks coming out of high schools and colleges who are angry. They've been deprived, exploited and discriminated against. All I can say is, don't get angry—get smart."

Gaston got his start in business as a $3.50 a day steelworker in the 1920s when he loaned money to fellow employees for "25 cents on the dollar." Gradually he built up his businesses aimed at black consumers.

"A lot of folks said when integration came I'd be hurt," he said. "but when it came we didn't suffer at all. Our business is better than ever."

'Whites May Apply'
"Segregation perpetuated second-class businesses run by Negroes. They had no competition. But we've always had first-class businesses."

The Gaston bank has assets of $11 million—and "$3 million of that is white money. We've moved uptown and we've got an integrated staff—just one white man now."

"But if you know any hip white girl that wants a job, send her around. It'll probably be kind of rough for her at first—like when Negroes first went to work in the white businesses."

He believes the door is open for qualified Negroes today. Gaston and a black city councilman, Arthur Shores, are prominent fixtures at almost every major city and civil affair in Birmingham.

"I feel more a part of the community now," Gaston said. "but I've always been a part of it, even if some of them didn't recognize it."

"I always paid more taxes than 'Bull' Connor or any of those men."

Set Soil Stewardship Week Starting May 3

Soil Stewardship Week, a nationwide observance which places emphasis on man's obligation to God as stewards of the soil, water and other related resources, will be observed locally May 3-10, according to Arch J. Flanagan, chairman of the Pitt Soil and Water Conservation District.

"Resources and Renewal", the theme of this year's observance, underscores the responsibility which each citizen has in dealing forthrightly with current issues involving stewardship of renewable natural resources, Flanagan said.

The Pitt Soil and Water Conservation District and some 3,000 companion districts throughout the nation are sponsoring the event for the 16th consecutive year.

The Pitt Soil and Water Conservation District, in conjunction with the observance, is furnishing booklets to local pastors to help them in preparing Soil Stewardship sermons. The group is also furnishing inserts for church bulletins.

Fed Up With Stalled Market, Investors Choose Real Estate

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Soured on a stock market that has been stalled for years, and convinced that inflation will pay a prolonged visit, individual investors, institutions and corporations are increasingly turning to real estate.

Real estate, it has been observed during the past four years of inflation, has been a true hedge against the declining value of the dollar. The stock market generally has failed to live up to its reputation as a hedge.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average, for example, stands far below its 1965 high. Urban land prices, however, have been rising at an average rate of six per cent a year, according to the Chase Manhattan Bank.

Many corporations have been aware of the profit possibilities for many years, among them, Alcoa, Westinghouse, Reynolds Metals, and several railroads which find their primary transportation duties far less rewarding.

Managers of private pension funds, beset by inflation and a poor stock market, have learned in recent years that real estate investments might offer them not only better returns but more stability as well.

The latest group to be attracted by real estate investment possibilities have been financial institutions such as life insurers and banks.

The Bank America Corporation is one of several mammoth banks to set up trusts for investing in buildings and other developments. Earlier this month Chase Manhattan Bank, First Pennsylvania Corp. and Wells Fargo & Co. developed similar trusts.

Life insurers, who once satisfied themselves by investing in real estate mortgages guaranteeing a fixed return, now are seeking direct equity investments. Several insurers have set up holding companies, with their insurance activities as subsidiaries, in order to free themselves from regulatory restrictions.

Factors other than inflation and a poor market also contribute to the strong interest in real estate. Among them:

—"The case for land begins with the fact that the supply is virtually fixed while demand is constantly increasing," says Fortune Magazine.

—The expansion of business demands new space both downtown and in the suburbs. Real estate brokers claim a demand for office space exists in almost every major city, and that it will grow stronger in the 1970s.

—A tremendous housing shortage exists. If the nation is to achieve its goals of 26 million housing units by 1980, the lots on which these units are to be built will command premium prices.

Operators of farms in Conecote Creek Watershed have been warned not to use water from Conecote Creek or any of its laterals for a period of 30 days because of aerial chemical spraying being done by Edgecombe County Drainage District No. 2.

The spraying, being done by helicopter, will probably be done between April 17 and April 25. The spraying is being done in an effort to find an effective method of controlling the growth of brush along the banks of the drainage canals in the drainage system.

The banks will be sprayed with a new chemical developed by the DuPont Corporation.

All precaution is being taken to keep the chemical on the canal banks, but a limited amount will probably get into the streams and use of this water for irrigation purposes could result in serious damage to crops.

John Nance Garner, who died in 1967 at the age of 98, lived longer than any other U.S. vice president.

Jordan Asks U.S. Remove Amman Ambassador

By DENNIS NEEDLE
Associated Press Writer
AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Official sources reported today that the Jordanian government asked the United States to remove its ambassador from Amman, apparently because he advised U.S. Asst. Secretary of State Joseph Sisco to cancel his visit to Jordan.

Foreign Minister Abdel Moine Rifai requested the State Department to pull out Ambassador Harrison Matthews

Symmes, the sources said, because the government "can find no justification for his attitude and inclination as regards the Arab position in the face of Israeli aggression."

A State Department spokesman in Washington said the department had not received word of the Jordanian action and therefore the department could neither confirm nor deny the reports. There was speculation that the Jordanian ambassador to the United States would deliver the demand to the department during the day.

Sisco, now touring the Middle East, was scheduled to arrive from Israel today to talk with King Hussein. The State Department canceled the visit Thursday, reportedly on Symmes' advice, after Palestinian guerrillas led violent demonstrations for two days in Amman against the United States and Sisco.

Rifai protested Thursday night that the cancellation was "unjustified" because Jordanian security forces were sufficient to protect the American diplomat.

Despite the cancellation of Sisco's visit, demonstrators marched through the streets of Amman again today, carrying banners and shouting slogans against U.S. policy in the Middle East.

Amman was also hit by a general strike, with all shops, banks and business offices closed. Guerrillas, military police and army troops patrolled the streets, and some scattered shooting was heard.

The United States for years has supported Hussein, providing him with military and economic aid in the belief that he is a force for moderation in the Arab world.

Generally considered pro-Western, the king has recently complained that his army has been unable to obtain needed weapons from the United States. He has hinted that he might turn to the Soviet Union to get them.

Symmes, an Arabic-speaking career diplomat, was appointed ambassador to Jordan in January 1968, at a time of worsening relations between Washington and Amman because of American support for Israel.

Palestinian refugees, who make up more than half of Jordan's population, and their guerrilla groups have put pressure on Hussein to assume an anti-American position. They charge that Sisco's tour is part of a "conspiracy" to impose a political settlement on the Middle East.

Hussein's decision to ask for Symmes' withdrawal is seen here as an indication of ebbing power in the face of guerrilla pressure.

Sisco's travel plans were still uncertain today, and a U.S. Embassy spokesman in Tel Aviv said he did not know where the visitor would go next.

After Jordan, Sisco had been scheduled to travel to Beirut, but there were reports that he might fly directly to Tehran, where he is to hold a conference of American diplomats stationed in the Middle East and South Asia.

Sisco met in Israel with top officials including Premier Golda Meir and Defense Minister Moshe Dayan. Sisco refused to divulge any details of the discussions, but Israeli sources who met him said he got the impression in Cairo that President Gamal Abdel Nasser "is preparing for a long military battle, is in good health and a fatalistic state of mind."

This report added that Sisco was satisfied "the door was not slammed in his face" in Cairo and that there is still an opening for a U.S.-Egyptian dialogue.

In Cairo, the editor of the semi-official newspaper Al-Ahram said today that Sisco's talks there indicated President Nixon's policies in the Middle East and Vietnam are based on the line "tell the people what they like to hear but do what you want."

Editor Hassanain Heikal, who often speaks for Nasser, said that despite its talk of peace, the United States is "implementing Israeli aggression and providing air superiority for the Israelis to hit Egyptian military—and civilian—targets."

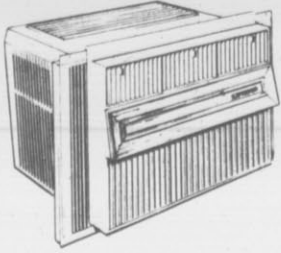

UP A TREE — This elaborate tree house, with cathedral ceiling living room, bedroom and kitchen rests like a ring, 27 feet up on a Ponderosa pine five miles north of Flagstaff, Ariz. Three youths built it because, one said, "everybody at one time or another wants a treehouse." However, it is on state land and state officials have ordered it removed. (AP Wirephoto)

Integration Program By Grimesland Committee

GRIMESLAND — A program entitled "Positive Ways To Make Integration and Education Successful" will be given at the G.R. Whitfield School Sunday at 4 p.m. in the school gymnasium. Sponsored by the Grimesland Local School Committee, the meeting will include the following participants: the Rev. William C. Horton, pastor of White Oak Baptist Church; the Rev. Leigh Early, pastor of Grimesland Christian Church; Roland Brinson, member of the Pitt County Board of Education; Elmore Hodges, chairman of the Grimesland Advisory School Board; Mrs. Annie Brown, guidance counselor at W. H. Robinson School; Raymond Reddick, principal of G.R. Whitfield; and Blaine Moye.

Subjects expected to be covered at the meeting include: —an overview of some of the problems involved and presentation of the afternoon's program by Reddick; —an overview of developments in the schools, the Board of Education and the courts as it relates to desegregation and consolidation by Brinson; —the role of the church in firing the conscience of the people and the fact that we all win or we all lose discussed by the Rev. Horton; —The role which parents and friends might play in bringing about a better understanding, and the role the local school committee plays; —Relationships between the schools, parents and all parts of the community; How the problems of the school have a way of filtering into the affairs of all the people by the Rev. Leigh Early;

—Communion between the people of all races, particularly in the problems concerning training for a job and applying for a job in order that there might not be a feeling of discrimination with members of both races discussed by Mrs. Brown;

—Summary, with some suggestions which would be helpful to parents, students and all people of the community, presented by Moye.

All interested people in the community are urged to attend the meeting.

Open house of the G. R. Whitfield School and Grimesland Elementary School will be held following the program.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina egg markets steady Thursday, supplies adequate, demand fair. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A large whites 44-44½; medium whites 39½-40½; small whites 34½-35½.

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina hog markets today are generally steady. Tops of 23.75 to 24.25 at Rocky Mount; 23.50 to 23.75 at Wilson; 22.50 to 23.50 at Bethel; 22.25 to 23.25 at Kinston, New Bern, Benson, Newton Grove, Albemarle, Lumberton; 22.50 to 23.00 at Siler City, Denton; 24.00 at Mount Olive; 23.75 at Salisbury.

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina live poultry demand good, offerings short today, 13 cents per pound. Hens, all weights limited, demand fair, too few sales to report prices.

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock prices were broadly lower this morning, after the news of a large drop in the gross national product.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was behind 3.36 at 11 a.m. Losing issues on the New York Stock Exchange held approximately a 2 to 1 edge over gainers.

The Commerce Department said today that after adjustment for inflation, the GNP—the dollar value of the nation's output of goods and services—experienced its most rapid drop in a decade.

At the same time, the department reported, the annual rate of inflation increased to 5 per cent in the first quarter from 4½ per cent in the fourth quarter of 1969. Most top administration officials had been counting on a reduction in the rate of inflation.

Water System Loan Approved

Approval of a $140,000 loan to the Bell Arthur Water Corp. for construction of a rural water system for the community has been made by the Farmers Home Administration, First District Rep. Walter Jones said Friday.

The only thing blocking start of the project is the approval of a $50,000 grant from FHA which is needed to complete the project cost of $190,000, Jones said. This is currently under review by the Raleigh office of FHA.

Under the proposed plan, 20 miles of water distribution lines would be constructed, two wells drilled and two pumping stations built.

A total of 190 customers and four churches would benefit by the project. A number of those who would be served include tenant farmers and low income families which would not be able to use the water system unless the grant is received. The grant would result in an overall reduction in the total cost of the project and the monthly water rate which would be required to re-pay the loan, Jones said.

James Johnson, State FHA Director confirmed the approval and the fact that the grant is "under review", Jones stated.

The system would be similar to several others now serving citizens of Pitt County in rural areas both with good water and increased fire protection.

New Lifesaving Class To Begin

A Red Cross Senior Life Saving Course will begin on Tuesday, from 7:00 to 10:00 p.m. at the gymnasium on 10th Street.

The course, the last to be taught this spring, will be taught by Dr. Edwin Roberts. Anyone interested in enrolling in this course should report to the gym at 7:00 p.m. Tuesday to sign up and begin the course.

Guest Speaker At Local Church

The Rev. Dan T. Earnhardt, director of the Wesley Foundation, East Carolina University, will be the guest speaker for the services at Holy Trinity United Methodist Church Sunday at 11 a.m.

Earnhardt is completing his first year at the Foundation Center. He was minister of a former pastorate in Charlotte before moving to Greenville in June, 1969.

Services for Holy Trinity United Methodist Church are presently being held in the library of Aycock Junior High School, located on Red Banks Road. The public is invited to hear Earnhardt.

Presiding during the services Sunday will be Bill Cuthrell, associate lay pastor of Holy Trinity. The pastor, Roy L. Turnage, will be attending the General Conference Session of the Church in St. Louis, April 19-24.

Mail Reform Chance Good

WASHINGTON (AP)—Initial congressional reaction to President Nixon's plan for an independent U.S. Postal Service "insulated from direct control by the President, the Bureau of the Budget and the Congress" indicated today the chances for approval are good.

There were reports the Senate Post Office Committee might approve the President's plan or one very close to it as early as next Tuesday.

Nixon announced the postal service proposal, negotiated by the administration and postal unions, Thursday and at the same time reduced his proposal that it cost 10 cents to mail a first class letter to 8 cents.

There is strong opposition in Congress to increasing the present rate of 6 cents on first class mail at all. However, hearings on Nixon's rate proposal may begin next week.

Asheville Blue Law Valid

ASHEVILLE (AP)—A Superior Court judge has ruled that Asheville's Sunday blue law is valid.

Judge William T. Grist handed down the ruling Thursday and remanded to police court the cases of eight persons charged under the local statute.

Police Court Judge Sam Cathey had quashed warrants in the eight cases Dec. 30 on grounds the city law was "vague and indefinite." The city appealed his ruling.

Recital By Piano Pupils

The piano students of Mrs. Karen M. Hause and Mrs. Marilyn Lucht will present their spring recital Sunday at 3 p.m. at the Greenville Masonic Temple.

The program, open to the public, will include selections ranging from folk songs to works by Scarlatti, Schubert, Tchaikovsky and MacDowell.

Students of Mrs. Lucht appearing on the program include: Cindy Squires, Veda Smith, Marianne Williams, Charles Davis, Sandy Oxford, Gwen Tyson, Renae Briley, Sarah Houston, David Houston, Beth Briley, Ann Davis and Debbie Goodson.

Students of Mrs. Hause who will be performing include: Eleanor Webber, John Lawler, Vickie Wilkerson, Rebecca Rice, Bob Kim, Amy Jo Pierce, Patrick Nelson, Lou Ormond, Janet Gantt, Lynn Gantt, Mark Jones, Sonya Smith, Mary Mack Williamson, John Howard, Pamela Kuehn, Susan Smith, Lynn Cargile and Beth Horton.

NEW BERN — Rose High School's thinclads won 11 of 15 events yesterday in a triangular track meet, but a lack of depth by the Rampants enabled the hosting New Bern Bears to edge them out for first place.

New Bern put together 79 points, while Rose was right behind with 75. Kinston picked up only five points in the meet. The Bears picked up enough points with seconds, thirds and fourths to offset the Rampant scores.

The Rose highlight came in the 880, when Alex Allen set a new school record in the time of 1:59.1. Allen's time is believed to be the first sub - two - minute half this year in North Carolina high school track.

Rose also captured first place in the discus, the high jump, the shot put, the 100, the mile, the 440, the pole vault, the 220, and both relays.

Aycock Rally Tops Farmville

PIKEVILLE — Charles B. Aycock High School scored four runs in the sixth inning to take a 5-3 victory over Farmville yesterday.

The Red Devils had taken the lead in the third inning with a pair of runs. William Sermons walked and Cloyce Wilson was hit by a pitch. John Dickerson walked, loading the bases. Simon Cox drew the third walk of the inning, forcing Sermons across. Kenneth Bryan then hit a sacrifice fly to score Wilson for a 2-0 lead.

Aycock came up with a run in the bottom of the inning. Donnie Hare singled and David Pittman walked. Buddy Davis singled, and Hare appeared caught off third, but an error allowed him to score.

In the sixth, Farmville came up with another run, making it 3-1. Fred Sauls singled and stole second. He moved into third on a wild pitch, and scored on George Burnett's fielder's choice.

But the Falcons rallied in the bottom of the sixth for four runs to win it all. Greg Davis reached on an error, and Greg Pope singled. Robert Pittman also got a hit, loading the bases. Bill Holland then tripled, clearing the bases. He scored when Chris Howell singled.

RALEIGH — East Carolina University outit N. C. State, but eight walks, and the Wolfpack's timely five hits enabled the host team to pull out a 5-4 victory over the Bucs yesterday.

And the game ended with the tying run in scoring position. It was the sixth loss of the year for the Bucs, who have won nine. And it also marked the fifth one-run loss for the Bucs.

In each of these games, they have had the tying run on base in the last inning, but have been unable to bring him across. And it was the third straight time they have rallied from more than one down in the bottom of the final frame.

State had taken the lead in the first inning on a two-run triple and a sacrifice fly. East Carolina's three hurlers, Don Oxidine, Mike Van Landingham and Tim Bayliss each had trouble in finding the strike zone. Oxidine walked four in just under four innings, Van Landingham passed one in a third of an inning, and Bayliss walked three in four innings.

It all started after one was out in the bottom of the first. Dick Greer then drew a walk and Chris Cammack also reached the same way. Oxidine then served up a letter - high pitch to Tommy Smith, who slashed it into deep centerfield, nearly clearing the fence with it. It resulted in both Greer and Cammack scoring, and Smith ending up on third with a triple. Danny Baker lifted a sacrifice fly into center to score him for a 3-0 Wolfpack lead.

East Carolina jumped on State hurler Bob Anderson in the top of the second for four hits, but amazingly got only one run across. Matt Walker led off with a single into right, and Mike Aldridge followed the same path. Larry Walters sent a fly deep to right that was just over the fielder's head, but the runners had held, believing the ball would be caught, and it only resulted in loading the bases.

Dennis Vick followed up with another single into right, but only Walker was able to make it across. The next three batters went down without getting the ball far enough out to score another run.

The Bucs closed the gap to 3-2 in the top of the fourth. With one out, Walters picked up his third straight hit, including one in the previous game. And this one was a 345-foot homer down the right field line. Vick followed with a single and moved to second on an out, but was unable to score.

State countered Walters' homer with a run in the bottom of the fourth, chasing Oxidine. With two outs, Darrell Moddy walked. He stole second, and when the ball was thrown away there, he moved into third. Bill Glad drew another walk, and Bob Anderson ripped a double into center to score Moody for a 4-2 lead.

State picked up another run in the fifth, the one which proved to be the winning one. Greer got his second walk of the afternoon to open the inning. Cammack then singled to right, moving Greer into third. He scored on Smith's sacrifice fly to right, making it 5-2.

State offered only one more threat, in the eighth, when Danny Baker singled and streaked all the way to third on a sacrifice. He was caught in a rundown on the next play, however.

East Carolina tried to struggle back. Skip Taylor walked in the fifth, and was balked to second, only to die there. But finally, in the ninth, the Bucs got their rally going.

With one out, Dick Corrada singled into left field. Roy Coble came on as a pinchhitter and reached on an error, putting two on. The next man went down, but Taylor singled to left, scoring Corrada. Sonny Robinson then came on to run for Taylor, while Bryan McNeely ran for Coble. Walker kept the rally going with a single to center, driving in McNeely, and moving Robinson to second with the tying run.

But State got the next batter on a ground out, ending the game with the Bucs still one back.

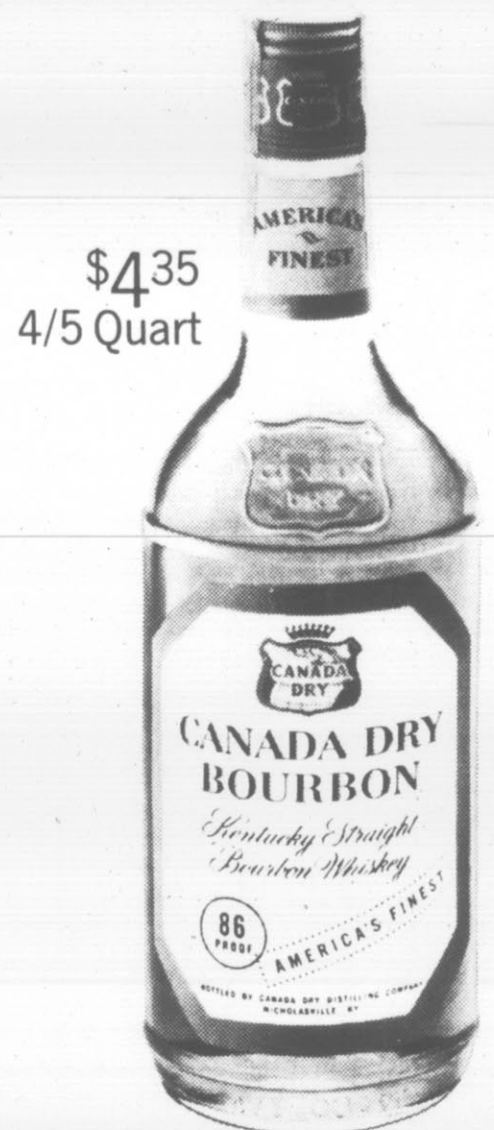

The Pirates return to conference action on Saturday, playing host to Richmond University at 2 p. m. in Greenville. They also play VMI in Greenville at 2 p. m. on Sunday, seeking to improve their Southern Conference record, and up their lead in the southern division of the league.

Senators Cut Up Baltimore

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver had minor surgery performed earlier in the day and then the Washington Senators ruined his night as massive Frank Howard and stylish Joe Coleman Jr. successfully operated on his Orioles.

With Howard poling his second homer of the year and Coleman adding a key double, in addition to twirling a neat seven-hitter, the Senators swept to a 4-2 victory over the Orioles Thursday night.

In other American League contests, California ended Minnesota's unbeaten streak at five, whipping the Twins 3-2, Oakland stopped Chicago 3-1, Kansas City belted Milwaukee 8-6, Detroit edged Cleveland 4-2 and Boston stopped New York 8-5.

In the National League, Pittsburgh defeated New York 7-4, Cincinnati bombed Los Angeles 12-2, Chicago nipped Philadelphia 6-5, San Diego tripped Atlanta 5-4 and San Francisco dropped Houston 11-9, the latter three games in 10 innings.

Weaver, bothered by a sore throat in the spring, had a cyst removed from his vocal cords Thursday. Although his voice was weaker, it didn't stop the peppery pilot from whispering a complaint.

Weaver put his limited vocal powers to use in the third inning and got an out call on the Orioles' Don Buford reversed when the umpire apparently was obscured on a bobble by Senators' first baseman Mike Epstein. Weaver protested to another arbiter, who had a clear view of the play, and he changed the decision.

However, it was in vain as Howard clinched the Senators third straight triumph with his two-run blast in the third inning after Coleman had driven in the Senators first two runs with a bloop double to right field.

Coleman, a 23-year-old right-hander, evened his record at 1-1, and sent the Orioles to their second straight loss after five victories. Coleman, 1-6 lifetime against Baltimore prior to Thursday, struck out two and walked four.

Ken Tatum's clutch relief pitching and a three-run fourth inning enabled the Angels to end Minnesota's streak. Tatum stopped Twins' eight-inning up-rising after Harmon Killebrew had opened with a single and was tripled home by Tony Oliva.

After another walk by starter and winner Rudy May, Tatum came on and got Leo Cardenas to hit into a double play and struck out George Mitterwald. Sandy Alomar's perfect squeeze bunt capped the three-run Angel spurt.

John "Blue Moon" Odom scattered six hits and was backed by Oakland's 10-hit attack in the A's victory. Odom, 2-1, struck out eight and walked two. Chicago's lone run came on a 450-foot homer by Buddy Bradford.

The A's got single runs in the third, fifth and sixth innings, with Felipe Alou and Rick Monday keying the attack with three hits apiece. Monday scored one run and knocked in another with Dick Green also driving in a tally.

Lou Piniella's three-run homer and Moe Drabowsky's strong relief pitching enabled the Royals to hold off Milwaukee. Piniella's third-inning homer gave Kansas City a 6-2 edge and Amos Otis knocked in the decisive two runs an inning later.

The Brewers got to within 8-6 when Drabowsky came on to get the last seven outs and preserve the victory for Bill Butler. Dick McAuliffe's solo homer and a run-scoring single provided the difference in the Tigers' victory and Earl Wilson survived a shaky start to gain his first triumph of the year.

The Red Sox swept their three-game series with the Yankees, capped by Mike Andrews' pop fly single in the eighth inning, sparking a four-run rally.

Rico Petrocelli drove in four runs with a homer and sacrifice fly. Andrews also chipped in with a homer. Bobby Murcer had two RBIs for New York.

Rookie Stars On Mound For Cincinnati In Win

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Don Gullett was drafted last June but his pitching has just been classified 1-A.

That's because the 19-year-old left-hander was drafted by a baseball team—the Cincinnati Reds—and the rest of the National League is on the receiving end of his meteoric rise to stardom.

"In time, he'll be nothing but a star. We're seeing a star being born right before our eyes," said manager Sparky Anderson after Gullett picked up his first major league victory with five scoreless innings of three-hit relief and got the win in Cincinnati's 12-2 romp over Los Angeles Thursday night.

"He'll have his bad outings in the future, sure, but he can't miss being a great one."

Those are strong words of praise for a rookie less than a year out of McKell High School in Lynn, Ky., who made only 11 appearances in the low minors before he was added to the Reds' roster just before opening day.

But the figures back him up. Gullett has pitched 6 1-3 innings in three big league games, allowing four hits, no runs, four walks and four strikeouts.

Elsewhere in the NL, San Francisco outslugged Houston 11-9 in 10 innings, San Diego topped Atlanta 5-4 in 10, Pittsburgh beat the New York Mets 7-4 and the Chicago Cubs nipped Philadelphia 6-5, also in 10 innings. St. Louis and Montreal were idle.

In the American League, it was Washington 4, Baltimore 2; Boston 8, New York Yankees 5; Detroit 4, Cleveland 2; Kansas City 8, Milwaukee 6; Oakland 3, Chicago White Sox 1 and California 3, Minnesota 2.

Gullett, who has been likened to Sandy Koufax at a comparable age by Cincinnati's scouting supervisor Cliff Alexander, was an all-round athlete in high school. In his senior year he was 9-2 with 120 strikeouts in 52 innings and hurled a perfect game, fanning 20 of the 21 batters.

Gullett was an all-round athlete Thursday night, too. He walked and stole a base to ignite a five-run uprising in the fifth inning and touched off a three-run rally in the sixth with a triple. Lee May capped the five-run inning with a grand slam and Tony Perez hit a two-run homer in the eighth.

Gullett's performance was especially welcome because the Reds lost right-hander Jim Maloney, who ruptured the Achilles tendon in his left leg in the third inning and was placed on the 60-day disabled list.

Rams Top Cougars

GOLDSBORO — Greene Central High School slipped past Goldsboro's "B" team here yesterday, 5-4.

Greene Central banged out 12 hits in the victory, as they led all the way.

The Rams pushed over one in the first inning to take the lead. Robert Ivey singled and advanced on an out. Red Harris then singled to drive him in.

The Rams added two more in the third, but Goldsboro came up with three in its half of the inning to tie it up.

Greene Central scored two more in the sixth, and that proved to be just enough. Ivey singled and Donald Taylor got a hit. Harris then slammed a double driving in both runners, for a 5-3 lead.

Goldsboro managed one more run in the bottom of the sixth, but couldn't catch up again.

Ivey and Harris led the Rams hitting with three each, while Ronnie Creech had two. Greene Cen. 102 002 0-5 12 3 Goldsboro 003 001 0-4 8 2 Whitley, Chrisman (3) and Harris; Eden and Keesee.

Mitchell Takes Lead Over Player, Moody

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Gary Player and Orville Moody — pretty familiar names in the golf business. But they found themselves a stroke behind today in the $125,000 Greater New Orleans open with a Virginian named Bobby Mitchell leading the way.

Mitchell isn't one of golf's top performers. In his fifth year as a touring pro, he's still looking for his first victory and can't be found among this year's 100 leading money winners.

He put together a seven-under par 65 Thursday for the opening round lead in the chase for the $25,000 winner's check. But he's got a long way to go in the next three days with Player and National Open champion Moody in the thick of it.

Player, the hottest item on the tour this year and a near-miss for a playoff berth in the Masters earlier this week, came in among the late finishers with a 66, as did Moody and three others.

If there was a bad day, par had it with 59 golfers finishing better than regulation 72 over the 7,080-yard Lakewood Country Club Course. A score of 69 was only good for a 19th place tie in the opening session.

Masters champion Billy Casper and money leader Lee Trevino were among those who failed to startle the galleries. Casper, who whipped Gene Littler for the Masters title in a playoff Monday, started well enough with a front nine 34 but stumbled to a 37 on the back nine for a 71. Trevino, whose $84,000 puts him far and away in front place among the check collectors this year, matched par with a lackluster 72.

The 27-year-old Mitchell, a golf pro since he was 15, said he "always plays good on this course. I just missed by one stroke here last year."

Player was making only his sixth start of the season but already has won at Greensboro and rolled up $57,000 in winnings for fourth place on the money list.

"I'm playing the best golf of my life," the South African said. "I'm not putting as well as I would like — like a winner — but otherwise, I couldn't hit it better."

Moody, in somewhat of a slump, had a round which showed six birdies "but heck, I missed four putts inside of four feet. But that's golf."

Moody and Player finished about the same time and chatted with newsmen together.

"Hey, Gary, we're tied," Moody shouted. "Boy, I'd like to be tied with Player every day."

Veteran Freddie Haas of Metairie, La., diminutive Dean Reffram of Boca Raton, Fla., and lanky George Archer, who won here in 1968, were tied with Player and Moody for the runner-up spot.

Purple-Gold Is Off TV

Due to prior commitments, WNCN-TV, New Bern, will be unable to televise the Purple-Gold spring football game at East Carolina on Saturday, April 25, it was announced today.

WNCN informed East Carolina that it was unable to discharge previous commitments in order to telecast the game.

The contest will be carried over radio, with WNCN in Greenville, handling the broadcast, as in the past.

Bugs ate this lake clean.

In every lake or river or stream are tiny little microorganisms that eat pollution. That's all they do. Eat and get fat and sink to the bottom. Where they won't bug you.

But sometimes the water gets too polluted. And the little bugs start starving for air. And stop reproducing and eating. That's the problem Union Carbide's Linde Division took on.

We've just come up with a system that gives these little bugs a straight shot of pure oxygen. It makes them eat and eat and eat. And reproduce more rapidly. So even more little bugs start eating.

Already we've used this oxygen aeration idea to save a sick river in Louisiana. And we think it can revolutionize waste water treatment.

Hungry bugs isn't the only idea we've had to clean up water pollution. We've had a lot of good people working on detergents that chemically break down and don't spoil the water. And new instruments to constantly watch the water that goes into rivers and the lake.

Back to bugs...

You should see the way they stuff themselves once you whet their appetites.

Indicate Gains In Inflation War

By JOHN M. PEARCE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration's repeated contention that inflation is nearly over has been given new support by seemingly contradictory figures in the most recent Gross National Product report.

Prices continued their four-year climb during January, February and March with an annual rate increase of 5 per cent, the Commerce Department reported Thursday. But at the same time, actual output of goods and services dropped a dramatic 1½ per cent, the steepest decline since the recession of almost a decade ago.

The Federal Reserve Board also reported industrial production climbed slightly in March after seven consecutive months of decline, giving some hope the economy is picking up again after the government-induced slowdown.

"The figures suggest to me that the economy is bottoming or maybe has bottomed," the Commerce Department's chief economist, Asst. Secretary Harold C. Passer, said.

"The worst is behind us," Asst. Budget Bureau Director Maurice Mann said, although he cautioned "We may still get some bad numbers—we may still see some higher unemployment," he said.

But Mann, Passer and Sidney Jones, an economist for the President's Council of Economic Advisers, remained convinced the economy would follow the "game plan" laid down by the council two months ago: It will be slow until summer, when it will begin picking up but not fast enough to set off a new round of inflation.

What this means in terms of the price of eggs and beef isn't yet clear, but the spiraling increases of wholesale prices seem to be slackening, which may be turned into less exuberant increases in consumer prices.

Commerce said the overall

Gross National Product, which measures the value of all the nation's goods and services, rose $8.2 billion to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $960.4 billion. All of the smaller-than-usual increase—and then some—was caused by higher prices.

"Real" production—measured in 1958 prices to eliminate the effects of current inflation—declined to $726.9 billion from $729.8 billion in the October-December quarter of last year.

Although the real GNP decline was the second drop, fulfilling one unofficial definition of a recession, administration economists aren't conceding the nation is in one.

Jones contended a recession is unlikely because of the basic strength of the economy—most of the decline, he said, could be traced to troubled aerospace and housing industries.

And there were indications part of these problems are easing. Housing showed some upturn during March for the second consecutive months. Starts rose to 1.38 million units because of heavy apartment building.

In addition, personal income rose $4 billion to $782.6 billion last month, continuing its steady increase.

Cambodia's Appeal For Defense Help Pondered

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is reported approaching Cambodia's request for military assistance with extreme caution.

There seems to be little doubt here that the Cambodian army needs or will soon need arms. But some officials say an international arrangement to furnish aid, pegged to the purpose of supporting Cambodian neutrality, might afford the best solution to the problem.

The State Department announced Thursday a request for military assistance—meaning arms and other materiel—had been received from the new Cambodian government of Premier Lon Nol, who overthrew former chief of state Prince No-rodom Sihanouk.

A spokesman said the request was being "examined," a word chosen to avoid saying that it was already being considered.

About the same time Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he was opposed to granting U.S. arms aid to Cambodia.

Administration leaders expect any decision to meet the Cambodian request directly will draw new fire from critics in Congress.

On the other hand they fear without some assistance Cambodia may not survive as a neutral country.

The Cambodian request for aid has been addressed not only to the United States but to many other countries.

In a statement April 14 Premier Lon Nol said the government would accept "all unconditional foreign aid from all sources."

This broad appeal opened up the possibility the United States would consult with other friendly governments about a possible international arrangement for providing military supplies. No one in Washington was sure exactly how this might be done.

The new regime has been involved in some fighting with North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces using Cambodian border territory as sanctuary in the Vietnam war.

On the diplomatic-propaganda side of the problem facing the Nixon administration, mainland China and North Vietnam already have accused the United States and South Vietnam of conspiring with Cambodia to broaden the war in Indo-China.

U.S. officials reject this charge completely and say President Nixon's program of troop withdrawal from South Vietnam means the United States wants to reduce the war as rapidly as enemy behavior will permit, not broaden the fighting.

Faces Prison In Narcotics Case

DURHAM (AP) — An 18-year-old Durham youth faces a two-to-four-year prison sentence after being convicted of illegal possession of narcotic drugs for the purpose of sale.

Bobby Lewis was sentenced Thursday by Superior Court Judge Harry E. Canaday. A jury convicted him Wednesday. He gave notice of appeal and bond was set at $5,000.

Lewis was one of several persons arrested in a series of raids earlier this year.

Two Voted Aye On Welfare Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two North Carolina congressmen voted aye Thursday as the House passed President Nixon's welfare reform bill, 243-155. They were Democrats Galia-nakis and Preyer.

Rep. Alton Lennon, also a Democrat, was not recorded as voting. The other Tar Heels opposed the bill.

Old Clock Collector Counts Over 100 That Can Tell Time

By GEORGE JOHNSON
Goldboro News-Argus Writer
Written for The AP

EUREKA, N.C. (AP) — "My grandfather's clock was too large for the shelf. So it stood 90 years on the floor."

So go the lyrics to a famous song. Another says, "Hickory, dickory dock. The mouse ran up the clock."

Homer Triplett of Eureka, a collector of old clocks, has a clock to fit the lyrics to each of these songs. And more, too.

His collection includes two grandfather clocks, one believed to be more than 250 years old. Exact date of manufacture is not known, but information on the clock indicates it was made by a man who started work with London Clock Co. in 1687.

It's a reproduction, but the clock with the picture of a mouse looks like an old one. The time is indicated by the position of the nose of the mouse as it climbs toward the number "one" at the top. When the clock strikes one, the mouse slides back to the bottom to begin another 12-hour climb to the top.

Triplett, a teacher of English and Spanish at Lucama High School in Wilson County, has been collecting clocks for about 20 years. He now has about 100 in running condition and many more he hopes to get ticking after he retired from teaching.

A native of Wilkes County, Triplett has lived in Eureka for about 35 years. His wife, the former Rebecca Mumford, is a native of Eureka and a collector of antiques.

The Triplett household in the small town in the northeastern edge of Wayne County is filled with clocks of all makes, shapes and sizes and a variety of antiques.

Mrs. Triplett's collection includes an old pump organ, an old piano, a music box and other mementoes of bygone years. She is a fourth-grade teacher at Eastern Wayne Elementary School.

Triplett says he always has Anyone knowing a person who needs and would like to learn to read and write should contact Mrs. Carl Moore or Mrs. Tom Davis, both Greenville residents and members of the Literacy Council of Pitt County, which sponsored the classes this week.

He spoke to graduating members of the School of Business Administration's executive program at the University of North Carolina.

WARNING TO LANDOWNERS IN CONETOE CREEK WATERSHED

The Board of Drainage Commissioners of EDGECOMBE COUNTY DRAINAGE DISTRICT NO. TWO, in an effort to find an effective method of controlling the growth of brush along the banks of the drainage canals in the drainage system (Conetoe Creek and all of its laterals), plans to spray several areas of the banks along the canals with a new chemical developed by the DuPont corporation. The spraying will be done by helicopter, and will probably be done between April 17th and 25th. We are assured that none of the chemical will be sprayed so that it could effect crops or growth outside of the drainage district right-of-way; however, all landowners within the Conetoe Creek Watershed are warned that they should not use water from Conetoe Creek or any of its laterals for irrigation purposes for a period of 30 days after this chemical has been applied. All precaution is being taken to keep the chemical on the canal banks, but a limited amount will probably get into the streams, and use of this water for irrigation purposes could result in serious damage to crops.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration has proposed barring the supersonic transport and any other civilian aircraft from producing sonic booms which would reach the ground.

Interested parties have until June 15 to comment on the proposed rule, which was published in the Federal Register Thursday. The regulation would not bar production of supersonic booms over water nor would it bar civilian aircraft from reaching supersonic speeds under certain conditions.

Nevertheless, Rep. Henry S.

Reuss, D-Wis., has introduced legislation banning supersonic flights over the United States. Reuss maintains such legislation is necessary because pressure to recover its $1.2 billion investment in the SST could lead the Nixon administration to lift any ban it imposes on the plane.

WASHINGTON (AP) — There will be no withdrawal of U.S. troops from Europe before mid-1971 and any reduction in forces after that will be relatively small, according to Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

The United States "has no intention of making any change that will in any way cause political or psychological repercussions that would weaken NATO ... we consider NATO the most important security alliance that we have and we think that our troops in Europe are important to give credibility to that alliance."

The Secretary's comments were made Thursday in a television interview with West German newsmen.

Rogers also said there is "always a danger" the Vietnam war will expand but it is up to North Vietnam whether it becomes a general Indochina conflict.

He also said there is a "strong likelihood" the Soviet Union wants continued and controlled tension in the Mideast rather than a permanent peace. He said the situation in the Middle East is deteriorating.

Regarding East-West relations, however, Rogers said the United States supports West Germany's recent efforts to improve its Eastern Policy.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has published a new leaflet.

It warns people of the dangers of falling down.

Titled "Falls Hurt," the booklet says people's chances of falling are increased by illness, fatigue, emotional upset, alcohol and drugs.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has handed President Nixon a major victory by passing his far-reaching welfare reform package, but the administration faces a strong effort in the Senate to raise the assured family income over $1,600.

Several senators already have served notice they will try to hike the benefits despite the cost. The final floor showdown may come in June.

By a 243-155 vote that crisscrossed party lines, the House Thursday sent the measure to the Senate. Both Republican and Democratic leaders supported it, but conservatives in both parties—and a few liberals who wanted more generous provisions—were lined up in opposition.

The measure provides a $1,600 federally assured income for a family of four and increases the roll of eligible persons by an estimated 13 million, mostly the working poor and their families.

It requires adult beneficiaries to register for job training and assignment. The federal government would assume a greater share of the cost and administration.

Spring Revival Will Be Opened In Ayden

AYDEN — The Rev. Harold T. Steen will be guest minister at the First Baptist Church here for the annual spring revival series which begins on Sunday.

The pastor, Gilbert G. Mister, will speak at the eleven o'clock worship hour on Sunday morning and Steen will occupy the pulpit at 7:30 p.m. Sunday. The revival series will continue through Friday, April 24, at 7:30 p.m.

The guest minister is presently the pastor of Red Oak Baptist Church near Rocky Mount. He has held this position for the past seven years. Previous to his service at Red Oak, his pastorates were in the Tar River Association where he served the White Level Baptist Church and the Centerville Baptist Church.

He has served in various

Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., has proposed an initial family floor of $2,520, rising by stages to $3,600.

Sen. Charles L. Goodell, R-N.Y., advocates a $3,800 floor. Others, however, may attempt to trim the bill. Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., has termed the cost estimate hopelessly inadequate and said the work incentive provisions are no improvement over present law.

The Senate Finance Committee plans a preliminary briefing on the complicated measure next week, with hearings to follow, aimed at a Senate vote in June.

Interdenominational Parley Set On Preservation Of Our World

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "Earth Mother," the ancient mystery religions called it. St. Francis of Assisi expressed man's identity with nature in terms such as "Brother Ant" and "Sister Water." The late theologian-missionary Albert Schweitzer summed up the same attitude in the phrase, "reverence for life." Such recurring intimations of the interrelationship of all creation, great and small, and humanity's stake in caring for it, is moving to the forefront of theology today in the awakened anxiety about environmental abuse.

"The earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof," said the Psalms, adding that so are the mountains, stars, seas, rivers and "every beast of the field...all the birds of the air...and all that moves in the field."

It is divine property that men occupy, not theirs, and not to be ravaged by their tenacity of it, religious scholars are emphasizing increasingly, bolstering the modern church accent on God's involvement in the material affairs of this world.

"Eco-theology," it has been called, a theology of ecology, of land, of conservation, of environment, of nature, an "ecological ethics." A headline in the Jesuit weekly, America, read:

"Ecology-the new religion?" For "too long Christians have interpreted the Genesis command to exercise dominion over the earth as a mandate to conquer and exploit nature," says Dr. Richard A. Baer Jr., a New Testament scholar of Earlham College, Richmond, Ind., now serving on a new Environmental Stewardship Team of the National Council of Churches.

He adds that the utilitarian attitude, coupled with modern technological capabilities and America's constant urge to boost industrial production, threaten the survival of life on the planet.

"Failure to fulfill our obligations as faithful trustees of creation will inevitably bring God's judgment upon us," he says.

Churches across the country were urged by the National Council to observe a special "Environmental Sunday" this weekend in advance of the countrywide "teach-in's" planned by for "Earth Day" next Wednesday.

"We need to appreciate more fully the religious and moral dimensions of the relation between nature and the human spirit," says Dr. Richard L. Means, a sociologist of Kalamazoo College in Michigan.

Some of the experts maintain that efforts to stop pollution and protect nature are only stop-gap holding actions, and that the only real solution lies in curbing the population explosion, and decelerating Western emphasis on ever greater production and consumption.

"It is not an amateurish sexploitation quickie. It's a hip sleeper! Clever amusing dialogue that is often incisive, raw and significant. Even as you laugh, which is often, you're getting a sober, royal education on the sexual revolution that is said to be engulfing split-level, saran-wrapped suburbia. 'ALL THE LOVING COUPLES' LEAVES 'BOB & CAROL & TED & ALICE' AT THE STARTING GATE!"

"There are lots of laughs and the sex play is in the open. A very high class example of the genre TAKING OFF WHERE LEERY COPOUTS LIKE, 'BOB & CAROL & TED & ALICE' ARE GROUNDED! In this one you get an orgy that's an orgy!"

"Fun and games! The film slips social significance between the sheets. A wife-swapping romp!"

French Take Paying Taxes More Lightly

By MICHAEL DENNIGAN
PARIS (UPI)—The widow dressed elegantly in black stood in court and asked for 1 million francs ($181,000) damages for the death of her husband in a car crash.

She justified it by saying that her late husband was a prominent professor of medicine and had earned much more than he ever declared to the tax authorities. Therefore, she said, her loss was all the greater.

The court gave her the million francs—the biggest award up to that time in France for an accident fatality. The award illustrated a fact about the French—cheating the tax collector is a national pastime for everyone who can get on the band wagon.

Finance Ministry officials estimate that tax cheating costs the government 10 to 15 per cent of its income every year. That runs to between $2.7 billion and $4.7 billion.

It's enough to pay France's education bill for a year or build 3,000 miles of superhighway. And the cheating is carried out by only five million of the nation's 20 million taxpayers.

No Hope
For 15 million wage earners there is no hope, however much they would like to. Their incomes are reported to the government by their employers.

But the field is wide open for the rest—self-employed businessmen, expense account executives, fashionable doctors, glamorous entertainment figures, prominent lawyers, dentists and others.

And according to Finance Ministry officials, an overwhelming majority take advantage of the difficulty of policing their incomes.

For example, a doctor who used to practice in the framework of the state medicare system quit and began working privately. He admitted, "I have fewer patients now but my fees are higher—and I pay a lot less tax on the same earnings."

A Paris banker who hired a yacht to cruise in the Mediterranean with friends last summer, reported that at every French harbor he put into he was greeted by the locals as "doctor."

When he asked why, he was answered "Aren't you one? Usually the owners of yachts are always doctors."

But not all get away scot free. France has 62,000 tax inspectors on the job fulltime—only 3,000 fewer than the U.S. federal government for a population five times as large.

New Racket
Nonetheless, the Finance Ministry admits the problem is getting tougher with the springing up of a new racket, often involving underworld "brains" behind the scenes.

This is the setting up of dummy companies whose sole equipment is a printing press to run off fake invoices and bills for those businessmen who need them.

The businessman gets a fake bill and pays a good check to the dummy company. A few days later the check is cashed and the businessman gets most of it back in cash—less a percentage for "expenses."

Another twist on the racket is French businessmen paying large sums of "royalties" abroad—often to Switzerland—for "patent" rights.

Often, say Finance Ministry officials, the patent does not exist and the money winds up in the businessman's secret bank account in Switzerland after being deducted from his taxable profits in France. He wins both ways.

And when the government tried to get professional associations to have their members keep accurate and checkable accounts, all refused—including the association of tax consultants.

Pepsi

You've got a lot to live
Pepsi's got a lot to give

What we mean is this: living isn't always easy, but it never has to be dull. There's too much to see, to do, to enjoy. Put yourself behind a Pepsi-Cola and get started.
You've got a lot to live.
