Reaffirm ROTC Stand

DURHAM (AP)—For the second time this school year, Duke University's Academic Council has taken a stand in favor of retaining the Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC) program with minor changes. The latest action came Thursday when the council voted 23-14 to table indefinitely a motion that would have withdrawn academic standing for ROTC programs on the Duke campus.

Last September, the council voted to accept a report by a special study committee which called for retention of the program with some slight changes. After the council voted Thursday, the meeting was interrupted a few minutes later by a small group of students, one of whom began reading an anti-ROTC statement. The session was adjourned while the student continued to read.

Not Much Eye Damage

NEW YORK (AP)—The major eclipse of the sun last March 7 failed to produce the epidemic of eye damage the experts had feared, according to a survey by the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness. But the survey turned up a relatively small and unexplained number of cases in California, where the eclipse was only partially visible. Most states had two to four cases but California had 18.

The nationwide survey of eye specialists and hospital emergency rooms found 95 cases of eye damage from looking at the sun, not all permanent. This compares to the 247 cases found after a 1963 eclipse in a far less comprehensive survey.

No Tornado Fatalities

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A pre-dawn tornado roared across south Memphis and neighboring Mississippi today, injuring more than 30 persons and inflicting widespread property damage. The storm blew off the same center which sent high winds through Oak Grove, near Paragould, in northeast Arkansas, and injured five members of one family and destroyed a house trailer.

Winds up to 73 miles an hour were clocked at Memphis International Airport where 33 planes were damaged.

The twister apparently followed a path from DeSoto County in northwest Mississippi through Cora Lake, DeSoto Airport and into south Memphis and Collierville, Tenn.

Discount Castro Claim

MIAMI (AP)—Discounting Fidel Castro's claim that an invasion force has been crushed, militant exiles say their guerrillas are still fighting in eastern Cuba and are winning support from their countrymen.

Alpha 66, the Miami-based exile organization that launched the expedition one week ago, said Thursday night "the war of liberation has started, and the flame of freedom will not die" in Cuba.

"Castro has reasons to be crying in panic and to be in madness," exile spokesman Andres Nazario Sargent said. "Our men not only landed successfully, but also were welcomed and joined by fellow countrymen."

Mutineers Release Six Hostages After Parleys

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (AP)—Mutinous soldiers Thursday released six hostages—a high-ranking officer and five women—from Trinidad's main military base where they are held up in support of Black Power demands.

Col. Joffre Serrette, a former commander of Trinidad's 720-man army, obtained the releases in negotiations with the rebels at the Tetrin Bay base, site of Trinidad's only armory.

Serrette also persuaded the mutineers to transfer army officers they were holding hostage from detention cells to house arrest in their quarters on the base.

The mutiny erupted Tuesday after Prime Minister Eric Williams declared a state of emergency in an attempt to check increasingly violent demonstrations by Black Power advocates and unemployed youths and workers. The mutineers claim they have a majority of the army on their side, but their actual numbers are not clear.

The mutineers were reported asking for amnesty for more than a score of Black Power leaders arrested under the state of emergency. Loyal troops have ringed the base, sealing it off. But the rebels' possession of the armory, and with it the government's chief stock of weapons, put the government in a tight spot.

The United States flew down one planeload of small arms Wednesday night but a spokesman for the State Department said there were no plans for further deliveries. The government of Venezuela, which is 16 miles away, sent a small two-engine plane to the island Thursday morning with a consignment of weapons.

Strict enforcement of the emergency powers act—including a dusk-to-dawn curfew and preventive arrest provisions—has kept violence to a minimum since Tuesday's riot by 1,000 rock-throwing Black Power demonstrators. Three persons were killed Tuesday, but no fatalities have been reported.

VOTERS SAID 'NO'

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Voters said not to casino gambling Thursday as they defeated a bid by hotel owners to make their town the Las Vegas of the East.

Six U.S. Navy ships were patrolling about 50 miles off the north coast of Trinidad, ready to evacuate an estimated 3,000 Americans on the island should serious violence erupt. The British Navy's two frigates stationed in the Caribbean were also not far off if needed to protect English residents.

Recent disturbances grew out of a student protest of the trial of West Indian students on riot charges in Montreal. The demonstrations were whipped up this week by Black Power militants demanding black control of the economy, and they were joined by unemployed youths, workers and civil servants dissatisfied with their lot.

Hijacked Pilot Is Home Again

GASTONIA, N. C. (AP)—Boyce Stradley stepped out of a plane 26 hours after it was hijacked to Cuba, said "Hey, baby," to his waiting daughter, and the ordeal was over. Stradley returned to Gastonia Municipal Airport Thursday night after an adventurous flight with an armed ex-convict and his girlfriend. They had ordered him to fly to Cuba after they paid him $6 to take an air tour of Gastonia Wednesday evening.

The 56-year-old pilot flew from Cuba to Miami Thursday afternoon. After interrogation by FBI agents, he boarded his single-engine Cessna and headed for home, arriving at 8:47 p.m.

His abductors remained in Havana, but Stradley said he had been told by a Cuban military official they were unwilling to be reported within a few weeks. The hijackers were identified as Ira Davie "Orrie" Meeks, 26, and Diane McKinney, 17, both from Gastonia.

Stradley said he had been treated like a vacationer during his six-hour stay in the Cuban capital. He landed in Havana at 5:40 a.m. and flew back toward Miami shortly after 11 a.m. Thursday. He said the first 12 hours of his trip, when Meeks was holding a gun on him as he refueled in Rock Hill, S. C., and Jacksonville and Fort Lauderdale, Fla., were a nightmare. From then on, he said, it was smooth flying to and from Cuba.

Stradley said Meeks told him he was leaving the United States for racial reasons, complaining bitterly of racial prejudice in Gastonia. The pilot said Meeks "kept a pistol at my back for 12 hours."

Records show Meeks served time for manslaughter in North Carolina and for assault and robbery in New York state.

'Now Or Never' For Young Boy

WASHINGTON, N.C. Kenneth Woolard, two and a half years old, is scheduled for an operation today at Duke University in an effort to close a hole in his heart.

Doctors say it is a "now or never" case, with immediate surgery the only hope for saving the boy's life.

Kenneth, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey L. Woolard, who lives outside Washington on the Pacolus Highway, was scheduled to have the operation last Sunday. It was postponed, according to Ashley Futrell, editor and publisher of the Washington Daily News, because Kenneth developed pneumonia when he was first taken to Duke.

Futrell disclosed that "as of this morning a total of $5,784.13 had been collected in contributions by citizens of Beaufort County who had generously responded to a fund drive headed by Darrell Martin."

This amount, Futrell noted, does not include contributions which he understands are being sought by students from East Carolina University in Greenville.

Nixon's Plans For Abolishing Draft Get Cold Reception

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon's plan to abolish the draft has drawn a cold reception from key members of Congress, and prospects for early clearance of his proposal to abolish college deferments are in doubt.

Although the college exemption plan set forth by the President Thursday was promised an early hearing in the Senate, House Armed Services Committee Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., said he planned no action on draft reform this year, only a review.

Nixon asked the authority to end educational exemptions in a message to Congress and announced he was abolishing on his own future occupational, agricultural and parental deferments. Only the student deferments require congressional approval.

At the same time Nixon announced a plan to begin phasing out the draft in July 1971, when the draft law expires and shift to an all-volunteer army.

John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said he does not think an end to the draft "is in the realm of reality for several years to come" even after the end of the Vietnam war.

"We should just forget the idea that the draft could be eliminated or suspended until that war is well over," Stennis said.

The draft will be needed after that, he said, to prevent shortages for particular leadership and special skill slots.

Rivers said abolishing the draft might be an ideal and a goal to work for but "I can't see any way to do it now."

Under current regulations, 1.8 million students hold deferments; workers with agricultural exemptions total 23,000 and about 4 million men are deferred because of dependents, although not all of them because they are fathers.

Other deferments have been issued to school teachers, critical defense employees and police and firemen.

Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., chairman of the House draft subcommittee said any action in Congress this election year would "invite disaster" by opening a Pandora's box of wholesale, political draft overhaul.

But Stennis said he favors giving Nixon some discretionary authority to end college deferments. Stennis said however, certain medical and science student deferments must be continued.

Hebert said Nixon could sidestep Congress on the exemptions through a loophole in the law that permits him to abolish college deferments on his own by ruling the armed forces needs require the action.

But a White House aide said use of the loophole had been considered and rejected.

1970 Scout Camporee Opens Saturday Morning

First District Congressman Walter B. Jones will officially open the 1970 East Carolina Council Boy Scouts of America Camporee at flag-raising ceremonies Saturday morning at 9.

Scouting executives report that final preparations for the annual event, to be held at the Herbert C. Bonner Campsite near Washington, have been completed and scouts began arriving for the weekend around noon today. A spokesman in the Council's head office in Wilson said this morning that 17 troops from Pitt County, including five from Greenville, had registered with them for the weekend.

Those scheduled to attend from Greenville are Troops 30, 205, 340, 362, and 452. Other county scouting units include Troop 26 Farmville, 34 from Ayden, 88 from Winterville, 160 from Falkland, 162 from Pacolus, 200 from Grimesland, 289 from Fountain, and 393 from Bethel.

In addition, Troops 398 from the Red Oak Community, 491 from Stokes, 550 from Winterville, and 571 from Farmville are registered to attend. The Wilson office reported that late registrants could possibly come in today from Pitt.

All troops from Pitt County will be set up in the Gold Area at the camporee.

Officials anticipate approximately 4,000 Boy Scouts from throughout the Council for the scouting event. Pete Long, personnel manager of Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company in Tarboro, will be the camporee chief.

Reg. Irvin Hulbert, Rector of St. Peter's Episcopal Church in Washington, assisted by five other Protestant ministers and a Catholic Priest, will conduct church services for the scouts on Sunday morning.

Police protection will be provided by the Washington City Police, the Beaufort County Sheriff's Department, and the State Highway Patrol. The U.S.

Forestry Service and the Washington Fire Department will provide fire safety.

First aid stations have been established and will be maintained by trained, qualified personnel. Arrangements have also been made from removal of trash and garbage from the campsite during the weekend.

Scouting executives report that six pay telephones on trailers have been located within the camping area and a telephone for receiving emergency information will be located in the headquarters tent. The number of the emergency phone is 946-9768.

The public is invited to the event and may reach the campsite by following U.S. Highway 264 east from Washington to Douglas Crossroads and turning right on a secondary road.

All roads will be marked with signs and local officials will also assist in directing traffic. Maps indicating campsite areas will be available at the entrance to the reservation.

Dr. Best served as an infantry officer in World War II with combat duty in Italy from 1944-46. He was awarded the Purple Heart and Bronze Star.

He has been engaged in the general practice of medicine in Greenville since 1954.

Girls Bound To Cape Hatteras

HAPPY CONFUSION . . . as approximately 75 Greenville Girl Scouts load up for a weekend of camping at Cape Hatteras.

Approximately 75 local Girl Scouts left this morning to attend a Cadette Camporee today through Sunday at Frisco Campground, Cape Hatteras.

Local troops attending the camporee and their leaders are: Troop 460, Judy Wilcox and Judy Brett; Troop 542, Ann Croom and Edith Davenport; Troop 537, Jane Hulsey and Alice Capps; Troop 223, Lillie Reid; and Nan Cheek, neighborhood chairman.

The tent camping event was held this afternoon when the girls and their troop leaders began checking in. The weekend will end with religious services Sunday morning.

A Scout's Own will set the theme for the weekend at the camp fire tonight. The program on Saturday will be geared to meet the many interests of Cadette age girls and was planned by Cadette Girl Scouts at a Cadette Confab held recently. It will include song workshops, advanced camping skills, crafts, skits and sports.

The Greenville members will visit the light house at Ocracoke Island and will spend some time exploring. On the return trip home, the troops will visit the Wright Museum at Kill Devil Hill.

Nearly 600 girls and 100 adults are expected from the 26-county area that makes up Coastal Carolina Girl Scout Council.

Strikers Bow To Girl Scouts

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Donal Lane, president of Teamsters Local 600, found the Girl Scout cookie too tough to crumble.

Delivery of nearly 1.5 million boxes of Girl Scout cookies have been delayed since April 1 by the strike of Lane's 9,500 truck drivers.

Mrs. Charlotte Davis, executive secretary of the St. Louis Girl Scout Council, complained that Lane had refused to consider her pleas that he release them from the warehouse.

Lane not only agreed Thursday to spring the cookies loose, but he ordered his union business agents to deliver them to distribution points without charge.

The annual cookie sale accounts for nearly half the council's budget.

Chose Greatest Black Americans

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Officials of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People—NAACP—who were polled by University of Michigan business researchers, chose Thurgood Marshall, Roy Wilkins and Ralph Bunche as the three greatest living black Americans.

The university's Bureau of Business Research received replies from 156 NAACP leaders around the nation to questionnaires asking them to rank the most outstanding black Americans.

Sentenced For Sale Of LSD

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—Richard K. Holloway, 17, has been handed a 12 to 18-month sentence in a youthful offenders camp for his conviction on charges of selling LSD tablets. "It is impossible to ignore that this boy, while he has been sick, has violated criminal law and has been part of the (drug) supply line," said Judge George R. Ragsdale Jr. in imposing the sentence Thursday.

Holloway was one of 15 youths charged in Durham earlier this year on illegal drug charges. He was tried in Durham Superior Court.

Selling That Bank He Vowed To Own

CHARLOTTE (AP) — In the Depression 1930s a bank refused to lend T. M. (Tom) Shelton $150 to pay a hospital bill, so he vowed he would someday buy the bank.

It took him 15 years to gain control of what was then the Morris Plan Bank and is now the Bank of Charlotte. But in 1947 he walked in and announced to the president that he was the new boss.

The vow should not have been surprising, for Shelton is an independent fellow. Now 58, he has every morning for the last 30 years run barefoot — rain, shine or snow — through the fashionable Myers Park section of Charlotte where he lives.

Now Shelton is selling the bank, reportedly worth $6 million, to the Southern National Bank of Lumberton. He will be paid cash for his 80 per cent interest, and the other stockholders will get cash or stock, at their option.

Shelton also has large holdings of downtown Charlotte real estate and of farmland.

The merger was approved Thursday by directors of both banks. It still must be approved by stockholders and the controller of the currency but no hitch is expected.

The Bank of Charlotte has assets of $19 million. Southern National has 45 offices in 26 towns and assets of $172 million.

Accepting Naval Reserve School Applications

Applications for enrollment in NR0S-6-22, a Naval Reserve Officers School, are now being accepted, according to Lieutenant Commander Thomas Harwell of Greenville. Oceanography will be the course of study for the coming school and other subjects of interest are planned for future courses.

Meetings are held by the Reserve Unit on Tuesdays of each week for nine months of the year at 8 p.m. in the new Austin Building on the campus of East Carolina University.

The unit is made up of personnel from Greenville, Farmville, Goldsboro and Tarboro. Persons interested in further information may contact Harwell at 304 Scottish Court here or call 756-5399.

Someone Stole Trash Collection

ST. HELENS, Ore. (AP) — Someone stole two truckloads of trash collected on Earth Day by junior high school students.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Barbara Ingle waited 20 years, 3 months and 21 days to return a book she borrowed from the University of Southern California library. After reading in the school newspaper brought home by her daughter that the library was offering amnesty on all fines, she sent back the book, "Lady Windemere's Fan."

The business men's fellowship, an organization which supports the church and encourages its members to be active in their church affiliation and support, will be held at the Masonic Temple Saturday at 7:30 p.m. Moffitt will address the group following a morning breakfast at 8 a.m. at the Three Steers Restaurant.

Earrings Bring $510,000 Price

GENEVA (AP) — A pair of diamond pendant earrings reportedly owned by former Queen Soroya of Iran has brought $510,000 from an anonymous buyer at a jewelry auction.

The auctioneering firm identified the earrings as "the property of a former queen," but declined to confirm that they were a present from the Shah to Soroya before he divorced her.

Total proceeds of the auction Thursday, in which 389 pieces of jewelry changed hands, were $3.25 million, described by the auctioneers as a record for a single sale.

Should She Get An Apartment?

By Abigail Van Buren

(c 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is an attractive, decent 25-year-old girl. She lives at home (at no cost to her) and holds a very responsible job that pays well. She's always shown good sense and has saved her money.

She has been dating (steadily) a young man for the past 2 years. They spend all their free time together, but he keeps telling her he can't marry her yet because he "doesn't know her" well enough.

Now he's nagging at her to get her own apartment. He says the experience of living alone will be good for her.

We don't want to interfere because we feel that if this young man does marry her, we'd rather have him for a friend than an enemy. But we still don't like his pressuring her to get her own apartment. What do you think?

HER PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: I think it's up to your daughter. If she gets her own apartment, perhaps the young man will get to know her well enough to propose marriage. Or he may get to know her so well, he may not propose marriage at all.

DEAR ABBY: We are having a debate at our office. My boss says a boy should have a dog—not a cat. I say that a cat is easier to care for, and it makes as good a pet for a boy as a dog. He says that having a cat will make a sissy out of a boy—cats are for girls and dogs are for boys. What do you think?

CAT LOVER

DEAR CAT LOVER: I think your boss is full of animal crackers.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of mothers who make a habit of sending their pre-schoolers to answer the telephone? I am NOT referring to the occasional instance when mother is tied up and can't get to the phone immediately. I mean the mother who lets her toddler answer the phone every time it rings. Some even allow their children (of any age) to answer the phone by asking, "Who is this?" I find this very irritating!

Is there some tactful way to cure the offenders of this habit—short of giving them a taste of their own medicine?

IRRITATED

DEAR IRRITATED: The "taste of their own medicine" remedy is extremely tasteless, and seldom cures. I wouldn't fault the busy mother who allows her youngster to answer the telephone in order to give her a few more minutes to get to the telephone, but any child who is permitted to answer the telephone should be taught to answer it properly.

DEAR ABBY: Is homosexuality a disease?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Not in my opinion. It is the inability to love at all which is an emotional illness.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Your dress shop saleslady can help you by tipping you off as to how new fashions are faring.

Usually, fashion changes are slow. Most such changes represent quite a period coming in and quite a period going out. The big consideration in fashions, of course, is the hemline.

As you know, nothing is more obvious than skirts too long, and nothing is more out of line than a skirt too short. That old hemline is the ruler of the roost! For a few skillful inches up or down can rescue many an expensive garment from the thrifty mart.

Her Dog Finds Life's Savings

NANTES, France (WNS) — Madeleine Leroux, 75, had nobody but her dog to tell when her life's savings of $6,600 was stolen from her mattress. One week later the widow was walking with the mongrel when he stropped to burrow through a rubbish pail. At the bottom was the $6,600 in 100-franc notes which the thieves had deposited after reading that Mrs. Leroux had a list of the numbered bills. "I am keeping $600 for steaks for the dog," explained the lady as she deposited $6,000 in the local bank.

PREGNANCY CAUTION

NEW YORK (UPI)—Because many live viruses and live virus vaccines can infect the fetus, women known to be pregnant should not be subjected to routine immunizations with such vaccines, "The Medical Letter" says.

The precautions suggested are applicable to live virus vaccine immunization against smallpox, mumps, measles, German measles (rubella) and yellow fever.

She Supervises Service Station

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Nearly three years ago, a friend asked Melanie Semar if she'd be interested in going to work at a gasoline service station.

"I laughed at the offer," the 21-year-old blonde recalled recently. But she finally took it. First, she worked as an attendant in all the Sacramento stations of a small independent oil company. Now she's manager of the station near Sacramento City College.

Melanie and her sister got interested in autos during high school and together took an evening class in mechanics. Melanie pursued the interest at City College.

As manager, she's in charge of five male attendants, waits on motorists and handles the books. She greets customers in a uniform that consists of a regulation company shirt, snug blue jeans and boots.

The company plans to redecorate the station soon Melanie hopes the redecorating job will prompt the firm to order for her some slightly more feminine slacks and blouses.

One of Melanie's pet peeves is women who leave all the car worries to husbands.

"For instance, when I tell them they are low on oil, they say, 'I'll tell my husband. He'll take care of it.'"

Melanie handles simple repairs as well as routine service station work. If necessary, she can tear an auto engine apart and put it back together.

Also, she claims to be able to change a tire in less than 15 minutes.

Melanie's hands do get gritty and grimy doing all that man's work, she admits, but she has a woman's solution: "I wash dishes and that gets the dirt out from under my nails."

This week wethoughtwe might offer a couple of pointers in caring for your hair. If you have hair that is full of static electricity and tends to "fly away". Spread a dot of cream hair dressing on your hand and instead of applying directly to hair pat your brush bristles in it and brush away. When even just one tooth in your comb breaks, toss it out, that one broken tooth can break and snag many hairs. If you feel that you are "out in left field" while others are swinging with the "in crowd" you need our help. Let us get you "with it" with a fabulous new hair style and you'll soon be so "far out", you'll be "in". Don't wait, call us now.

A Measure Of Their Calibre

It is a measure of the calibre of the men who just made a harrowing return from space that all three are willing to go again if called upon.

At the same time Jim Lovell, commander of the flight expressed the feelings of all three when he said they would not want to stand in the way of other astronaut teams.

"... this was my fourth space flight and there are many people in our organization who have not flown and who deserve to fly and are talented enough to fly.

"They deserve the mission. If they (space agency officials) feel that this team should go back there, I'm certainly willing to go back—but otherwise, I think other people ought to do it."

Fred Haise and Jack Swigert agreed.

It is well to remember that America's astronauts are not daredevils or barnstormers of the type who flew early airplanes. Rather they are carefully chosen test pilots who have the temperament and training to remain cool in emergencies. Most have college backgrounds in science or engineering which suits them to space travel.

Toupee Trend In Big Cities

(Today's column was written by Loyal Phillips, Manager, The Daily Advance, Elizabeth City, N.C.)

No man wants to buy a wig or toupee today but if you were a middle aged male living in a big city you would likely need a "Hair-piece."

A hairpiece is an ultra modern version of a toupee and represents high fashion today among metropolitan area men.

Due partly to the improved appearance and durability of present day hairpieces they are increasing in popularity according to Elizabeth City barbers. "Basically, men are just as prissy about their hair as women," said John Jacobs, veteran local barber, "but they are more bashful about letting people know. I have good customers who come down once a month from Sunbury and Norfolk to have their hair dyed.

"We have observed a new trend in men's attitude toward hair styling, shaping and conditioning. Nowadays men use sprays and methods other than oils. The long side burns of this space age are in full swing but the hippie type mop seems to be on the wave," Jacobs observed.

He expressed the opinion that half the balding men in Elizabeth City would now be wearing hairpieces if they were not embarrassed about letting people know. Jacobs says there are several local men who wear hairpieces which look so natural that people can't tell the difference.

Jacobs who also owns a beauty parlor claims that more men would go in for hair styling if their work schedules permitted them to make advance appointments, as do women.

Good hairpieces are not cheap. They can be bought for as little as $100.00 but the better ones are $250.00 to $400. Quite a few men own two just in case they get caught in a rainstorm or fall from a fishing boat. A hairpiece can of course be restyled and dressed but if the owner were not able to get to the barber shop he might be temporarily caught short.

While a good hairpiece may last 5 to 10 years, it cannot be expected to take the rough treatment of a natural scalp.

Apollos Owens who started barbering 44 years ago confirms the trend to hairpieces in large cities. He described the trend as a "big rage."

"Generally, men are using coloring tonics which they can apply at home. Side burns are on the increase and we can expect to see them for a while," Owens said.

"This is the worst era I've seen, so far as satisfying the public is concerned. Kids used to behave in barber shops but now they race around the shop and throw magazines on the floor while parents watch.

"Actually the problem is with parents. Sometimes both parents are present, and give the barber contradicting instructions on how the child's hair is to be cut. The biggest problem seems to be how long bangs should be.

"Parents even put the blame on the barber for their son's hippie haircut. If parents would face up to their responsibility and take away their hippie kid's privileges for a month, he would get his hair cut," Owens insisted.

When he left a Richmond barber college and started work in Richmond, back in the twenties, hair cuts were 25 cents and shaves 15 cents. Half the week's business was done on Saturdays, and Owens recalls working as late as 2 o'clock Sunday mornings.

Asked why he chose barbering as a career, the well-known Lion's Club Tailwister gave a humorous reply: "When I was two years old I was kicked in the head by a mule."

According to John Jacobs, the busiest day is now Friday, followed by Saturday.

Neither barber could tell us why it is that most little children are afraid to get into a barber's chair.

"Children were just as frightened of scissors as they are of electric clippers. It is standard procedure to give the child customer a sucker just as it is to provide the Police Gazette magazine for the adult. However some youngsters still get scared," he explained.

To obtain a license it is necessary to spend eight months in a barber's college which charges around $500.00 for tuition alone. Before becoming a master barber, it is necessary to serve an apprenticeship of 18 months.

Equipment, fixtures and inventory for a modern shop now cost around $10,000.00.

The Apollo 13 trip is a good indication of why the astronauts have to be so carefully chosen. One mistake in the emergency which faced the crew could have meant their deaths.

Of course, the men who train for years to make these flights know the potential dangers they face when they take up space travel as their careers. They know that there is always the chance that a crew won't make it back. They are not courting death, rather they are accepting the challenges that space offers. Mankind has been doing this for centuries as he struck out for uncharted areas on our own globe. Lives were often lost but it meant progress for the human race.

Space travel has to be in our future and it requires the finest men we have to blaze the trail.

Appalling Figure On N.C. Housing Needs

It is appalling that North Carolina has to be told decent housing is needed by 400,000 persons.

That was what Irvin Aldridge, director of the N.C. Department of Local Affairs reported in a talk to county extension agents.

"There is no disgrace in admitting the existence of poor housing," he said. "The disgrace lies in doing nothing about it. This is not going to happen in North Carolina."

North Carolina has no need for this kind of statistic. The state should be working, not only on better housing in the cities but also in the rural areas where many families now live and want to stay.

Chances 'Poor' For Cambodia

By ROWLAND EVANS
ROBERT NOVAK

SVAY RIENG PROVINCE, Cambodia — The perilous situation of Cambodian troops in this southern border province last week reflected how much the immediate fate of Cambodia rests with the North Vietnamese politburo.

Svayriengville, the province capital, faced Vietnamese Communist troops on the north, south, and east. A Cambodian brigade was dug in on a mile-long line east of the city facing the Communist-held town of Prasot, after having retreated from the borders. For a month, the Cambodian army has been entrenching to defend the capitals of Svay Rieng and other border provinces.

Its changes range from poor to hopeless. The army, hastily expanded from 18,000 to 28,000 combat soldiers, is poorly trained, unevenly led, and horribly equipped. It faces battle-seasoned North Vietnamese regulars. In what action there has been as they withdrew from the border the Cambodians fared badly.

Typically, an attempt to retake Prasot from the Communists failed when a North Vietnamese B-40 rocket disabled a rickety Cambodian armored car leading the advance. Moreover, the Cambodian "line" we visited, scarcely a quarter-mile from Prasot, can be enveloped in both ends by the Communists anytime they desire.

In sum, the options are Hanoi's. If it wants to press into the national capital of Phnom Penh and set up a puppet government under Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the Cambodians cannot successfully resist. More likely, however, the Communists will be content to solidify their hold on the border provinces essential to them as sanctuary and logistical base for the Vietnam war.

This would mean de facto partition of Cambodia. The border provinces would be controlled wholly by Hanoi with Prince Sihanouk possibly shipped in from Peking for a vestige of legality. The Western-leaning government of Gen. Lon Nol would control the rest of the country but would be in precarious shape indeed.

Accordingly, unless the Nixon administration responds with prompt help for the Lon Nol regime, the golden opportunity offered March 18 when Sihanouk was deposed will have been lost. Hanoi's Cambodian sanctuary will be more secure than ever.

What makes Cambodia's plight particularly lamentable is that this is no civil war at all but a Communist Vietnamese invasion against their former host. At this writing there has been no Cambodian Communist guerrilla activity. Peasant demonstrations in Sihanouk's behalf, whipped up by the Prince's provincial officials immediately after his fall, ended once the Lon Nol government put its own men in the provinces. Although Cambodian peasant worship of Sihanouk as god-king may persist, it has been eclipsed by anti-Vietnamese sentiment stirred up by the new government. This has produced not only inexcusable slaughters of Vietnamese civilians in border provinces but also a genuine outpouring of national patriotism.

Traveling through the imperiled border regions, we observed a spirit absent from war-weary South Vietnam. Recruits bound for the front on buses wave and cheer. The confidence, poignantly naive, of Cambodian officers is typified by a brigade commander who as a lieutenant in the French colonial army 20 years ago had fought the Communist Viet Minh. His troops facing encirclement by Vietnam at Neak Leung Ferry on the Mekong River, the colonel contemptuously declared, "We know these Vietcong as we know our household dogs."

Some Western diplomats in Phnom Penh fear that this national patriotism based on anti-Vietnamese feeling has popularized the Lon Nol government at a high price—a chance for Hanoi to dismember the country.

Strength For Today

Hard Work Never Hurt Anyone

What most often breaks a man down? Overwork? Very seldom does overwork break any man down. It is generally not overwork but underlying that makes a man snap.

Psychologists express it by saying that hard work within reasonable limits never hurts anyone, but that almost any effort, or in fact no effort at all, accompanied by inner conflict will eventually break down the health of body and mind. Such a person is broken not by circumstances which impinge upon him from without but by a lack of inner adequacy—a starved soul, a vacant mind, an aimless life which leads first to restlessness, then to ennui and finally to despair. What people need to get rest from is not from their work but from themselves. An arousal of purpose, determination and grit would cure half our cases of nervous breakdown. Most people's need is not a better fortune with reference to circumstances but a better coordination of fundamental impulses and desires.

It is not anything from without that as a rule breaks a man down; it is some dreadful conflict being carried on within the confines of self.

And over, this we have a good measure of control. It's up to us to say how happy and effective we shall be.

SECOND WIND!

By ART BUCHWALD

The New Lecture Scene

WASHINGTON — The most popular speakers on campus these days are the student revolutionaries, black militants and those advocating the legalization of drugs.

And anyone convicted of a crime and out on bail can write his own lecture ticket.

I was at the offices of the "Up Against the Wall Lecture Bureau" the other day and the phone didn't stop ringing.

"Hello, Up Against the Wall Lecture Bureau. Who's this?"

Harvard U. What can we do for you? ... Nope, we're sorry the Chicago Seven are booked up through 1976. But we have some great speakers for you. How would you like "Mad Dog Faucet"?

You know, the one who wrote the book on student revolution titled "Mother Is the First To Go."

Right. Fifteen hundred dollars and expenses. ... Sure he takes off his clothes at the end. ... What kind of lecture do you think he gives?

Thank you. I'll send the contract.

"Hello. ... What's that? You're booking speakers for Columbia U this fall? ... Lets see. ... Here's one for you. ... Ruben Ruben. ... Yeh, that's right. He's the one who hijacked the Goodyear Blimp to Havana. ... Uh huh. He's out on bail now. ... No, he'll be available. ... Even if he's convicted this summer he'll appeal. ... You don't think he's a draw?"

"What about Abbie Satchel? ... You know, the guy who set fire to the elephant house at the Bronx Zoo during last week's anti-Vietnam demonstrations. ... He's a beautiful person. ... Two thousand bucks. ... Of course he'll get the students fired up. He spoke at Simpson Tech last week and they burned down the library during the question period. ... Right on. He'll be there."

"Up Against the Wall Lecture Bureau

Berkeley? What can we do for you? ... You're having a lecture series in American history and you'd like someone who is an expert in the field. ... I have just the speaker for you. ... Ziggy Rumfield. ... himself. ... The fellow who blew off Theodore Roosevelt's nose with dynamite on Mount Rushmore. ... He's very knowledgeable about explosives. ... That's right, he shows the kids how to make a bomb right on the stage. ... No, no, the only time it ever went off was at the University of Wisconsin. ... Believe me, it's safe. ... Look, if anything happens you don't have to pay. ... Right. Thank you."

The man hung up and I had a chance to interview him. "You seem to be really busy."

"You better believe it. Kids today want speakers they can relate to. None of this education or political baloney. They want gut speakers that will tell them how rotten it really is. Look at this. I have 23 requests from universities who want to hear from anyone who has killed a cop. He doesn't even have to be a big name."

"And every white school in the country wants a Black Panther to speak to them. How many Black Panthers do they think there are in this country? And look at these requests for speakers convicted of pushing drugs. I tell you, these college kids know what they want."

"At least they're interested in the world around them," I said.

"If I could get one mass murderer, I could make a fortune," he said wistfully.

Other Editors Say Question Probers

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

The impact of free-wheeling, highly-publicized, politically-inspired congressional investigations of virtually everything produced and consumed in the United States is beyond calculation. Not long ago the Wall Street Journal took a look at a few of the consequences of one of these investigations having to do with birth control pills.

The paper pointed out that the initial hearings on the pill did not produce any evidence of dangers not already well known to the doctors who prescribe the pill.

The "inaccurate or sensational reports" emanating from the pill hearings were deplored by no less an authority than the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists.

As a result of the hearings, estimates have indicated that 20 per cent of the women who were taking the pills had stopped, despite the fact that the risks of death from demonstrated side effects of the pill is 1.5 out of 100,000, as contrasted to 22.8 per 100,000 as a result of pregnancy itself.

After condemning the spectaculars, known as congressional investigations, which somehow seem to accompany most such hearings these days, the Wall Street Journal took note:

"Just as there are dangers from the self-interests of business, so there are dangers from the self-interest of would-be public protectors. The latter are today far more unchecked, and to bring them into balance it is time for some rude questions."

"What is it worth to politicians to be pictured as protectors of the public, for example, and what is their interest in exaggerating and sensationalizing the dangers, real or imagined, from which they would protect us?"

These are valid questions, for while no one can deny that there is a constant need for vigilance on behalf of the public, it is also a fact that no one can deny an increase, mostly politically motivated, in the fashionable trend to "expose" as dangerous to the consumer, this or that product, or this or that drug, or this or that whatever. In this area there must be, like in anything else, a measure of balance and sanity in order to avoid going off the deep end.

Things That Do Annoy

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Man himself is his own best environment. And his worst one, too.

What are the things in life that annoy a fellow most? Well, here are a few that pollute his temper:

Going on a blind date and finding out that the girl is not only lovely, clever, rich, intelligent and a joy to be with—but also already engaged to some guy back home.

Being awakened five times in a row shortly after 3 a.m. by someone who can't be convinced he's calling the wrong number.

Breaking a shoelace on the one day in months that he's already late to work.

Asking someone "What's new?"—and then being given a five-page answer.

Being offered a drink on the house the very moment he has to run to catch his commuter train.

Having his lapels pulled by a fellow telling him a Jewish, Italian, or Polish joke with a Swedish accent.

Losing to a woman by 47 votes after being asked to run for the presidency of his local P.T.A.

Going fishing with an expensive rod and reel and being skunked by a boy with a stick, a piece of string and one lousy worm.

Listening at a Rotary Club meeting to a fellow give word for word the same speech he gave to the same audience two years before.

Explaining a bounced check. Losing an argument with his wife in front of witnesses.

Arriving at a cocktail party exactly half an hour-plus one week—after it was supposed to begin.

Watching a 12-year-old child finish in 15 minutes a newspaper cross word puzzle that usually takes him all weekend to complete, with the help of three dictionaries and two total strangers.

Taking off his shoes at a sit-down Japanese restaurant lunch and revealing a hole in both socks.

Politely volunteering to do anything—and then having to go ahead and try to do it whether he really knows how or not.

Dancing with a grandmother wearing a miniskirt.

Giving a mighty sneeze and then wondering where to look first for his new set of false teeth—on the floor or in the punch bowl.

Opinions In Brief

"The most difficult of all virtues is the forgiving spirit. Revenge seems to be natural with man." — William Jennings Bryan.

"No man really becomes a fool until he stops asking questions." — Charles Steinmetz.

"Refusal to smoke the peace pipe may be hazardous to your health, too." — Nashville (Tenn.) Banner.

Losing The Fight On Inflation

By ELMER ROESSNER

It is time that grown men in Washington faced an important fact: The administration's campaign against inflation is a failure.

It has deflated the stock market somewhat.

But in practically every other section of the economy

inflation has spun meretriciously.

The consumer price index

rose from 124.6 in February,

1969, to 132.9 in February,

1970.

Wholesale prices rose

to 116.4 in the same span.

Wages have been going up. The average hourly pay of production workers rose from $1.12 to $3.28 in a year and rates are now undergoing a convulsive rise as unions demand increases of 25 to 75 per cent. The government has just increased all federal pay by 6 per cent.

Taxes Soar

Taxes have risen and will rise further. That surcharge you just paid on your federal tax was 10 per cent; a year ago it was 7½ per cent. State and subdivision tax rates are going up and many taxing bodies are searching desperately for new taxes to levy.

The purchasing power of the consumer's dollar has dropped from 80.3 cents to 75.5 cents in a year, and that's only if we consider its 1957-59 value as 100 cents. If an earlier base is used, the current purchasing power is even less.

The purchasing power of the dollar, measured by wholesale prices, fell from 90 cents to 85 cents in the year.

That is inflation.

Side Effects

There have been some side effects.

Profits of people with money to lend or to buy bonds have increased greatly. Bank profits for 1969 rose, although the increase was reduced by bank losses on securities.

People abroad—owning dollars (Eurodollars) were enriched by interest rates of from 9 to 12 per cent paid by Americans. This appeared to improve the American balance of payments, but the trend will be reversed when interest rates here decline, as they will eventually.

Unemployment has risen slightly, although this has not reduced wage rates or made many scarce skills available.

And the prospect is for more and more inflation.

USDA Introduces

A new red raspberry has been developed by the Department of Agriculture and the North Carolina Experimental Station for home garden and commercial use in an area where red raspberries have never before been successful.

The new variety has been tested from North Carolina to Maryland and westward to Illinois and Arkansas. It will be available from dealers this spring.

Today In Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Sen. Robert W. Packwood, the Oregon Republican who is making the population one of his top issues, has introduced legislation that would legalize abortion nationwide.

The freshman senator said "no state has the right to say to a woman that she cannot have an abortion any more than it has the right to tell her she must have an abortion."

"The decision to terminate a pregnancy," he added in a floor speech, "must properly be left to the woman and her private conscience."

Earlier this year Packwood introduced legislation that would legalize abortion in the District of Columbia. He also has introduced a bill that would bar income tax exemptions for more than two children in any one family.

"The introduction of this bill today," Packwood said, "is an attempt to bring some order, and logic into an area of law which in its confusion, vagueness and inequality of enforcement, has, I believe, been cruel and discriminatory in its effects and therefore a serious burden to society."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Every man, woman and child in the United States earned $3,680 in 1969—on paper at least.

That was the average per capita income reported by the Commerce Department Thursday. It is $259 above the 1968 average income, an amount calculated before deductions for taxes and other items.

Connecticut led all states in 1969 with an average of $4,537 while Mississippi was low with an average of $2,192 per person.

The 1969 increase was enough to keep income a little more than 1 per cent ahead of price increases for the same year. Although some states such as Washington, where the per capita income increased only 4.6 per cent, and Louisiana, 5.1 per cent, the increases did not keep up with the 5.4 per cent cost of living gain.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Home Loan Bank

Board has reported the average interest rate on conventional mortgages for new houses was 8.51 per cent in March, up one-tenth of one per cent over February.

According to this theory, the overriding motive of the coup was to substitute 20th century government for Sihanouk's capricious autocracy, and the demand that Communist troops leave Cambodia was merely a bid for chauvinistic support.

But this theory surely understates intense Cambodian opposition to the use of their territory as a Vietnam war base camp under the arrangement with Sihanouk. The seeds of Sihanouk's fall probably were planted in February when province governors met and compared notes on Communist Vietnamese troops in their home areas.

Such clear national sentiment is of little use against superior military might. Cambodia, finding itself pitifully devoid of allies, is at Hanoi's mercy. That Washington should permit this when the stakes are so large is remarkable and deserves discussion in a subsequent column.

Peace Corps Recruiters To Comb Fresh Territory

By RAYMOND HOLTON

UNITED Press International
Peace Corps recruiters will be seen in fresh territory this summer and fall. They'll be out in force at county and state fairs, among other marketplaces, hoping to convince farmers, plumbers, carpenters, electricians and other artisans to volunteer their skills for two years overseas.

This is the "new directions" Peace Corps which, as it starts its 10th year of operation this month, is aiming at professionally-managed, skill-oriented corps—one less tied to idealistic liberal arts students and young people with more enthusiasm than specific ability.

The new recruiting effort is based on experience, some of it bad. Some of the idealists of earlier years have in fact turned against the Peace Corps, leveling bitter criticism against the organization; there are those among the "disillusioned"—as they call them to be—even demanding its abolition.

Events Altered Concept
The new turn in Peace Corps' philosophy and the disillusionment of some of its former Corpsmen are both a reflection of the Sixties into which John F. Kennedy launched the first group of 12 volunteers to help in the slums and villages of Colombia.

Since that spring of 1961 there have been three political assassinations, the Vietnam War, the full tide of civil rights demonstrations, the black power movement, riots in most major U.S. cities, and the rise of militant student radicals, for whom the term "revolution" now seems to be the only answer to world problems.

Despite its goldfish-bowl existence, the Peace Corps has managed to survive most criticism in its first nine years. In 1967 nearly 15,000 volunteers were working in 66 countries. Today this has dropped to about 9,500 volunteers in 58 countries, with a request for more skilled workers.

Recruiting Businessmen
Responding to the new demands of host nations, Peace Corps Director Joseph H. Blatchford, at 35 the youngest agency chief in the Nixon administration, is "professionalizing" the organization's bureaucracy and changing its recruiting emphasis from big university campuses to middle America.

"We're going after the hard-nosed business managers to run this thing," a Peace Corps spokesman explained. "For a long time the Peace Corps has hired returned volunteers to administer the program. Well, it's not working out. We're finding the volunteers might be good in the field, but not necessarily in administration."

"What we have in mind is recruiting businessmen, get them to take a leave or a sabbatical for a couple of years, and be one a country director, for instance. Or work in our Washington office. We're after efficiency."

"As for the volunteers, we're after the people in middle America, not those on the Eastern campuses—Harvard, Radcliffe, Yale and the like. We're pressing the agricultural schools in Iowa, the Dakotas and the schools in the South for volunteers. We're also getting off the campus and working closely with the unions through the AFL-CIO."

Families Welcome, Too
The Corps also has eased its requirements to allow families to qualify for the first time.

Six families now training in lower California will be ready to leave for Bolivia in May. Another 200 families are training for other assignments in Spanish-speaking countries beginning in the fall.

"We'll even be setting up booths at the county fairs and state fairs," the spokesman said. "This is where the volunteers we need are at."

But one hitch in these "New Directions, 1970," is that middle Americans are less likely to volunteer than idealistic college students.

"We've got requests for 800 agriculturalists and we honestly don't know where we're going to get them," a Corpsman said in Washington.

Some Ex-Corpsmen Demur
Most returned volunteers and others close to the Peace Corps agree with the "New Directions." They point to a Harris poll of returned volunteers completed in December, 1969, in which the majority felt the corps should recruit more skilled workers, conduct more specialized training and aim for more "host country involvement" in the programs. On the other and, there is increasing criticism of the Peace Corps itself that ranges from radical to moderate. The most active opponents of the Peace Corps belong to the small, but highly vocal, Committee of Returned Volunteers (CRV), a three-year-old organization which claims a membership of about 2,000. CRV's position paper states that revolution is the only way to carry out "an equitable redistribution of economic and political power."

Youngsters Push Voter Turnout

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A voter turnout drive aimed at the May 2 primary will involve some 23,000 youngsters in the Edgewood School District in "one way or another," Supt. Jose Cardenas says.

Cardenas said he urged the voter turnout drive as a school activity to be co-ordinated by the district's social studies department.

Through telephone sampling before and after the primary, social studies classes in three of the district's high schools will attempt to evaluate the impact of the drive, Cardenas said.

He stressed that the district is not endorsing any candidate.

Official Tree Is Not So Special

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP)—New Hampshire will have a holiday Monday because of a fast day declared nearly three centuries ago.

John Cutts, "president of the royal province of New Hampshire by the grace of Charles II," fell ill, and the Colonial General Assembly declared a day of fasting and prayer for his recovery on March 17, 1681.

Cutts died in less than a month, but his fast day remained.

The date of its observance varied until the 1949 Legislature fixed it as the fourth Monday in April.

Purple-Gold Game Set Saturday At 2

ECU Basketball Awards

Tom Miller, second from left, and Al Faber, second from right, will be honored Saturday at halftime of the Purple-Gold game, as top stars during this past basketball season. Miller will receive the Most Valuable Player award, and Faber will be honored as

Miller, Faber Honored As Top ECU Cage Stars

Tom Miller, senior guard for East Carolina University's basketball team, and Al Faber, freshman center, will be honored at halftime Saturday at the annual Purple-Gold Football scrimmage.

Miller will receive the Most Valuable Player Award, presented annually by the Daily Reflector. Faber has been named the Outstanding Freshman, and his award is presented by Hodges Hardware. Both awards are made on the basis of the vote of their teammates.

Miller, who has completed an excellent career at East Carolina, makes the MVP award the conclusion to many awards he received while at East Carolina.

As a freshman, Miller was one of the first recruits of Coach Tom Quinn, and right away proved that he had the stuff to be a star. He holds a freshman record for the most points in a game, scoring 42 his initial year.

Miller wasn't slated to be a starter as a sophomore, however, but found himself on the floor for good minutes after the season began. In the opening minutes of the first game, playmaker Jimmy Cox suffered a broken wrist, and Miller received the call to replace him. While not fully prepared for the role, he filled it well, and went on to have an outstanding year as a playmaker. He averaged 8.5 points per game that year. Then, his junior year, Miller boosted his scoring to a 14.5 mark, as he continued his fine playing.

Among his honors that year a spot on the All-Tournament team in the Eastern Carolina Classic.

This year, he averaged 17.8 points per game, and became one of two men to have scored over 1,000 points in a three-year varsity career at East Carolina. Teammate Jim Modlin is the other. Miller's final points for the 1,000 came in the last home game, when he sank a pair of free throws with just seconds left in the game.

The Pirate guard was also chosen as the Most Valuable Player in the Sunshine Classic in Tampa, Fla., played his past Christmas. The Bucs were the runner-up team in the tournament.

He was considered by nearly everyone to be the top ballhandler, playmaker in the Southern Conference, and proved that by making the first team in both the Southern selections, and in the All-State list compiled by the Greensboro Daily News.

Faber, a 6-10 pivot man from North Haledon, N.J., was the leading scorer and rebounder for this year's freshman team. He hit an average of 18.4 points per game, and pulled down 13.3 rebounds per game. His rebound average represented a new freshman record.

Faber is the best bet for the New East Carolina football coach Mike McGee will unveil his product Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m. in Ficklen Stadium, as he sends his charges through the annual Purple-Gold scrimmage game.

McGee, who took over after the conclusion of the 1969 season, has switched from the single-wing to the "T", and added a new staff of assistants at the university. Spring drills began last month, and the Purple-Gold game winds up his first efforts with the Pirates.

"Overall, we are very pleased with the development in our offense," McGee said. "We did not try to get involved with a lot of different offensive thoughts. But with what we asked, the team accomplished, and has a good grasp of our basic offensive pattern."

McGee said that the game will give the players and coaches a chance to put it all together and see what really has been accomplished.

"We had four things we wanted to do when spring practice opened. We had to evaluate out personnel, putting them into offensive and defensive positions. We wanted to get our 22 best players in the game. We did a lot of moving and shifting for the first 12 or 14 days of practice, and we are satisfied that we generally made the right decisions."

"We had to establish communication between the squad and the staff, which didn't know each other. They had to learn our terms and what we expected of them. And they had to learn what to expect from us."

"In the case of fundamentals, we had a little different emphasis from others. We have to teach the fundamentals as we wanted them done."

"And finally, we wanted to develop a cohesive unity—a team pride. We wanted each individual to master his assignment and techniques and gain so much confidence in himself that he transferred this into a team basis."

McGee feels that these four steps have been accomplished, as far as can be done. "We realize that in most of the game we play this fall, we are going to be outmanned physically. Other schools have more scholarship players. So we have instilled in our players that they have to work a little harder to accomplish what we know they can."

While these are the general problems the new staff faced, there were also some specific areas, which included finding a quarterback, receivers, a solid offensive line, and some others. "It's hard to pinpoint one specific area as most important," McGee said, "but I guess finding a quarterback was slightly more so than the rest."

"We are headed toward a solution, or a partial solution on most, according to the talent we have."

Defensively, McGee said the team would "guage the defensive to some extent in the game."

"We don't expect a one-sided game. The second offense has the ability to move the ball, and the offensive units will be using a lot of its plays."

The Purple team will have the top offense, while the number two unit will be on the Gold. "The defense will be split up, and really, neither team can be called number one or number two. We have put some people on the other team just for experience and leadership."

Some of the top performers to watch in the game include Steve Davis and Mike Kopp, offensive guards; Billy Wallace, fullback; Richard Peeler, defensive tackle; George Whitley, defensive halfback; Rich Bradley, nose guard; Carl when they clash at Louisville. Spencer Haywood again was the big gun in Denver's victory over Washington, pouring in 38 points and hauling down 20 rebounds. He was matched in the scoring department by the Caps' Rick Barry, who also grabbed off 17 rebounds, a personal season high.

The two clubs battled on even terms throughout the first quarter before Denver took over for good early in the second period on baskets by Haywood and Byron Beck. Denver outscored the Caps 13-2 during a three-minute span for a 60-48 lead which they maintained at 68-56 at halftime. Denver upped its lead to 20 points in the third period and coasted home although Washington cut the margin to 13 points at one time midway of the final period.

Five Denver players hit in double figures, with four scoring 20 or more.

Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson started as a shortstop with Santa Barbara in the California League in 1953. He played second base for the 1959 Phillies but hit only 218.

Caps Look To Home Court

DENVER (AP) — Coach Al Bianchi and his Washington Caps are looking forward to returning to their home court after Denver grabbed a 3-2 edge Thursday night in their Western Division American Basketball Association semifinal series with a 132-110 victory.

The home team has won each game to date in the best-of-seven series. The sixth game is set for Saturday in Washington, with the seventh — if necessary — to be played Tuesday in Denver.

The Denver-Washington contest was the only ABA playoff action scheduled Thursday night.

Two games are on tap tonight. The Indiana Pacers, leading 3-0, can close out their Eastern Division semifinals with a victory over the Carolina Cougars at Raleigh, N.C. The Los Angeles Stars and Dallas Chaparrals, knotted at 2-2 in the west, meet in the fifth game at Dallas.

Kentucky and New York, also tied at 2-2 in the Eastern Division, mark time until Sunday.

Cater Boosts Average Again In Yankee Romp Over Senators

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

See-saws are for kids but Danny Cater made a dandy one in Washington this week.

Cater is one of the new-look hitters who are supposed to make New York Yankee fans remember the good old days. And he did a pretty good job of just that Thursday night, ripping four hits and driving in three runs in New York's 11-4 romp over Washington.

Cater went into the Washington series batting .258 on 11 hits for 41 tries—adequate but hardly exciting. Then three hits Monday and three more Tuesday boosted his average to .346—much nicer company.

Just as Cater was enjoying the see-saw ride up, he went down but not out. The 9-for-8 marauder homered Wednesday cost him 47 points and he was back down in the mundane world of .293 hitters. Then came Thursday's 4-for-6 and back up to .328.

Cater and Bobby Murcer handled a hefty share of the Yankee offense with seven of New York's 15 hits. The Yankees also collected 10 walks.

New York hopped into a 5-0 lead but it was wiped out by the Senators with three of Washington's runs coming on a booming Frank Howard homer.

Then the Yankees pecked away, rebuilding their lead and rookie John Cumberland came out of the bullpen to earn his first major league victory with 6 1-3 innings of airtight relief.

In the only other games played Thursday, Pittsburgh downed Atlanta 8-6 and Chicago topped Minnesota 7-5. The scheduled Cincinnati at St. Louis game was rained out.

Bill Mazeroski's three-run double keyed a five-run Pittsburgh explosion in the seventh inning and then the Pirates survived an Orlando Cepeda grand slam to beat the Braves.

Manny Sanguillen drove in three runs for the Pirates with a homer and a single and Hank Aaron hit his 560th career homer for the Braves.

It was Pittsburgh's fourth straight victory and the sixth straight loss for the Braves.

Bobby Knoop cracked a home run and Minnesota reliever Ron Perranoski's throwing error gave Chicago two runs, helping the White Sox trim the Twins.

Knoop's eighth inning homer tied the score at 4-4 for Chicago and then the White Sox scored three more runs—two of them when Perranoski threw Luis Aparicio's bunt into left field.

Aparicio raced all the way to third on the play and scored a moment later on a sacrifice fly.

Lakers, Knicks Opening Series

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers wheel their Streetcar Named Desire into New York tonight for the opener of the National Basketball Association championship playoffs—and hope it doesn't turn into a Streetcar Named Disaster.

The Knicks also are hungry for the elusive title and the $48,000 question is: Who wants it more?

Desire—and crucial individual matchups will key the tempo of the series, with game No. 2 being played in New York Monday night and games three and four in Los Angeles next Wednesday and Friday nights. The winner gets $48,000 and the loser, $32,000.

Does Wilt Chamberlain of Los Angeles, who has won only one title with the Philadelphia 76ers, want it more than Willis Reed of New York, who has never won it?

These two centers should be an eye-catching matchup—and, perhaps, the key to the whole, best-of-7-game series.

Does Los Angeles' Jerry West want it more than Walt Frazier of New York, his probable matchup in the backcourt? Neither has ever tasted championship champagne.

Or how about Elgin Baylor? Is he hungrier than New York's Dage DeBusschere, who will probably play him head-to-head at forward?

The Frazier-West battle is significant in that West has been a one-man gang against New York in the six regular season games. He averaged 34.3 a game, despite playing one of them with a disabling injury.

Frazier, voted by the NBA's coaches as the top defensive player, volunteered to guard the Lakers' quick gun.

Dick Barnett, a crack shot from the outside for the Knicks, will probably draw the assignment of guarding Los Angeles' rookie guard Dick Garrett and Bill Bradley of New York and the Lakers' Keith Erickson will be probably be matched as forwards.

The Knicks are rated four-point favorites in the opener.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Highly-sought prep sports stars may be given an NCAA shield from a portion of the colleges' pressurized recruiting, but it's certain to cut into the teen-agers' steak 'n Cadillac tours of campuses.

"We need to clamp down," said Dr. Harry M. Cross, president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association. "There's simply too much pressure put on the shoulders of 17-year-old boys."

Proposals on recruiting will be among the items discussed at a five-day NCAA executive meeting that opened today at a luxury oceanfront motel.

"The high school kids are permitted to visit each campus only twice," said Cross, a law professor at the University of Washington. "That means that the brightest, most-talented prospects who receive up to 100 scholarship offers could conceivably take 200 trips. That's bound to hurt a boy in many ways."

Cross said one idea is to keep a tally in the NCAA offices on each prep prospect. "When the boy hits a certain number of campus visits, no school would be allowed to host him thereafter," he said. "It would make an athlete be more selective and visit only the colleges he is most interested in."

The NCAA Extra Events Committee will sanction post-season football bowl games for the 1970-71 school year. There have been 12 classics for the past three years, but several cities are expected to make bids to increase the number after next season.

"We have some standing bids," said an NCAA spokesman. "But the committee has pretty much held the line against any additional post-season action over the past few years."

Wonder Kid Moves Into Finals Of North-South Ladies Tourney

PINEHURST, N. C. (AP) — A couple of years ago Arnold Palmer took time out from the pro golf tour to take part in a Savannah, Ga., exhibition match with pro Jim Ferree, baseball player Ken Harrelson and a 14-year-old hometown school girl, Hollis Stacy.

Two years later, Palmer is struggling with an ailing hip and a sick putter as he strives to again become a big winner. Meanwhile, the unheralded little schoolgirl has become a household word in the golfing village in North Carolina Sandhills.

The 16-year-old high school sophomore, one of 10 children of a golfing father and mother, was matched against 43-year-old Mrs. Paul Dye in today's 18-hole finals of the North and South Amateur Tournament.

The compactly built 120-pound, 5-foot-4 lass with a ready smile has bedazzled her opponents and captivated the galleries with her smooth swing and unbelievable putting.

Her appearance as she bobs along down the fairways is disarming but, given a putter, she has been our poison. If Arnie could putt like that, he'd soon be well.

Connie Day had a first-hand look at the Stacy putting prowess Thursday and came away shaking her head after a 2 and 1 semifinal setback.

"She's the best putter I have ever played," said Connie, the victim of nine one-put greens.

Miss Stacy, the reigning U.S. junior champion, ran in five putts of six to 18 feet on the front nine for a 5 up lead. She was out in 33, four under women's par for the No. 2 course at the Pinehurst Country Club, shortened to 5,926 yards from front tee.

Miss Day, 26-year-old secretary from Cleveland, Tenn., started erratically with a series of bad shots that cost her the first three holes. She pulled her faltering game together after making the turn and didn't lose a hole on the back nine.

But the recovery served only to make the score respectable as Connie's early lapses gave the teen-ager all the opening she needed. Connie shot the back nine in four under par, with two birdies and an eagle to finish one under against her opponent's five under.

Mrs. Dye, winner here two years ago, shot par golf in winning her semifinal match from Barbara McIntire 2 and 1. Miss McIntire, defending champion from Colorado Springs, Colo., was seeking her sixth North-South title.

Mrs. Dye, from Delray Beach,

Fla., held a 1 up lead at the turn with par golf. Coming home, they halved all but the long 14th hole, which Mrs. Dye birdied after chipping 18 inches from the cup.

Proving once again that it's a small world, Mrs. Dye's 17-year-old son Terry dated Miss Stacy after a chance meeting last summer while she was en route to a tournament.

Veterans Lead NBA All-Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — Jerry West, Willis Reed, Walt Frazier and Billy Cunningham, a quartet of familiar names, and newcomer Connie Hawkins were named today to the National Basketball Association's 1969-70 All-Star team.

West, Los Angeles' high-scoring guard, picked for the seventh time, was the only unanimous selection announced by Commissioner Walter Kennedy. The squad was selected by a panel of sports writers and sportscasters in the league's 14 member cities.

Reed, center on New York's Eastern Division champions, and Frazier, the Knicks' aggressive guard, made it for the first time. Cunningham, Philadelphia's standout forward, made it for the second time.

Hawkins has the distinction of making all-star teams in both the NBA and the American Basketball Association. The cat-quick forward was on all-star teams in the ABA while with the Pittsburgh and Minnesota franchises and was the league's most valuable player last year.

Oscar Robertson, Cincinnati's longtime star recently traded to Milwaukee, missed the first team for the first time since he turned pro in 1960.

The Big O, acknowledged as one of the game's all-time great guards, was joined in the second team by forwards John Havlicek of Boston and Gus Johnson of Baltimore, center Lew Alcindor of Milwaukee and guard Lou Hudson of Atlanta.

West was the first unanimous selection since Wilt Chamberlain, then with the Philadelphia 76ers, in 1968.

Three men who made the first team last year missed out completely this year—Elgin Baylor of Los Angeles, and Wes Unseld and Earl Monroe of Baltimore.

More South Viet Troops Posted Next To Cambodia

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese army is putting more artillery and troops along several hundred miles of the Cambodian border in preparation for more armed forays into Cambodia in pursuit of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops, informed Vietnamese sources said today.

"We have gone into Cambodia many times," said one source. "We expect to continue. We are paying more attention to the western side of South Vietnam. We are reinforcing it with more artillery. There are more air strikes along the border. We are reinforcing our outposts."

The buildup is heaviest in South Vietnam's 3rd Corps Tactical Zone, an area of 10,000 square miles sharing 231 miles of border with Cambodia. The border area runs in an arc from 35 miles west of Saigon to 100 miles northeast of the capital.

The sources estimate 40,000 to 50,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops are in eastern Cambodia. One source said Cambodian troops had withdrawn from all their outposts along the border because they were "afraid of the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese."

This source said there is no official agreement between South Vietnamese and Cambodian authorities for South Vietnamese forces to cross into Cambodia.

"The Cambodians don't approve officially," he said. "They just don't care. They are inert. We just inform them we're going in on 'hot pursuit' and go."

The source said American advisers are not crossing into Cambodia with the South Vietnamese and their refusal "disappointed" him.

He gave no indication, however, that the U.S. Command had tried to discourage the South Vietnamese operations into Cambodia.

The South Vietnamese operations across the border are forcing the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong to push deeper into Cambodia and to attack Cambodian hamlets and villages in their path, the source continued.

He said the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong could capture Phnom Penh, the Cambodian capital "but I don't think they will because of the political situation. The free world would react too strongly."

Informed sources said the two South Vietnamese forces sweeping in Cambodia west of Saigon this week had pulled back after killing 245 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong and capturing more than 60 tons of arms and ammunition.

The sources said 28 South Vietnamese troops were killed and 127 wounded.

A government spokesman also said the North Vietnamese attacked a government battalion of 400 to 500 men less than two miles northwest of the besieged Dak Seang Special Forces camp. Field reports said 16 South Vietnamese were killed and 40 wounded. The South Vietnamese said bombers and artillery drove off the attack, and a spokesman claimed 56 North Vietnamese were killed. But only five weapons were reported captured, arousing suspicion that the government claim was inflated.

U.S. spokesmen reported heavy American bombing strikes against the Ho Chi Minh Trail through eastern Laos and said another U.S. Air Force F4 Phantom fighter-bomber was shot down there Thursday. It was the sixth American plane lost over Laos in the past three days. The two crewmen were rescued with no injuries reported.

The U.S. Command also announced that 6,704 American planes and helicopters have been lost since Jan. 1, 1961. This is 14 more than previously reported, and as usual the command did not say what the 14 were or how they were lost.

A spokesman for the Saigon government announced that an official delegation will fly to Phnom Penh Saturday to study the situation of Vietnamese nationals living in Cambodia who are threatened by the fighting there. The spokesman said the delegation will make recommendations to Saigon on how it can help, including whether medical aid and food are needed. Foreign Minister Tran Van Lam has called on all friendly governments and international organizations to oblige the Cambodian government to stop the killing of innocent Vietnamese.

Report 3 Traffic Mishaps Thursday

More than $1,050 property damage resulted from three wrecks investigated by officers yesterday.

Mary Carr Teel, of 1310 Ward St. was charged with failing to yield the right of way in a 5:15 p.m. mishap at the intersection of 12th and Evans Streets.

Police reported the Teel car collided with a vehicle driven by Joyce Holton Sauter, 20 of Route 4, Greenville, causing an estimated $450 damage to the Teel car, about $100 damage to the Sauter auto, and injuring a passenger in the Sauter vehicle.

Both drivers involved in a 5:50 mishap at the intersection of Fourth and Reade Streets were reported injured.

Officers identified the drivers as Steven Dale Meadows, 23 of Route 3, Greenville, and Marguerite Overton Warner, of Camden.

Mrs. Warner was charged with failing to yield the right of way in the mishap which caused an estimated $350 damage to the Meadows car. No estimate of damage to the Warner car was given. No charges were placed in a 4:05 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Fifth and Washington Streets which involved a school bus driven by Charles Clinton Watts Jr., 16-year-old Negro of 1102 West Third St.

Investigators said the bus struck a utility pole as the vehicle rounded the corner, causing an estimated $10 damage to the bus and about $150 damage to the pole.

Opening lead: King of ♦ West's seemingly innocuous play at trick two resulted in a swing of over 1,700 points in today's hand where South was the declarer at three hearts doubled.

West chose to open the bidding with one diamond and East made a jump raise to three diamonds, inasmuch as his hand was worth 14 points in support of that suit. South's overall of three hearts presented West with something of a problem. He was reluctant to bid three no trump without a stopper in clubs, yet he was uncertain whether the partnership had sufficient assets to take 11 tricks in diamonds.

Inasmuch as West held four hearts headed by the ace and sound defensive values on the side, he decided to double three hearts. Since the opponents were vulnerable, there was a prospect for scoring sufficient compensation by way of a penalty, and if East's holding was not suited to defending, he was always at liberty to carry on himself.

East chose to pass and South elected to fight it out where he was. A bid of four clubs would have proven fortuitous, however, he was reluctant to get himself a level higher—in search for a better fit.

West opened the king of diamonds and continued with the ace which declarer ruffed. A small heart was led from the closed hand at trick two and West followed with the deuce, which permitted North to win with the nine. South now put the surprise entry to dummy to good use by leading the jack of clubs.

East covered with the king and declarer played the ace. The ace of hearts was driven out, the diamond return was ruffed, and South proceeded to draw trump, and it took every one of his hearts to do so. He then cashed four club tricks and conceded a spade at the end, to score an overtrick on the deal.

Had West put up the ace of hearts when that suit was led, and returned another diamond, it would have brought declarer down to his size in the trump suit. Forced to lead clubs from his own hand, South must surrender a trick to the king of clubs, and another round of diamonds will cause him to lose control of the play. Declarer will be held to five heart tricks and the ace of clubs and the result will be an 800-point set.

WARNING TO LANDOWNERS IN CONETOE CREEK WATERSHED

The Board of Drainage Commissioners of EDGEcombe COUNTY DRAINAGE DISTRICT NO. TWO, in an effort to find an effective method of controlling the growth of brush along the banks of the drainage canals in the drainage system (Conetoe Creek and all of its laterals), plans to spray several areas of the banks along the canals with a new chemical developed by the DuPont corporation. The spraying will be done by helicopter, and will probably be done between April 17th and 25th. We are assured that none of the chemical will be sprayed so that it could effect crops or growth outside of the drainage district right-of-way; however, all landowners within the Conetoe Creek Watershed are warned that they should not use water from Conetoe Creek or any of its laterals for irrigation purposes for a period of 30 days after this chemical has been applied. All precaution is being taken to keep the chemical on the canal banks, but a limited amount will probably get into the streams, and use of this water for irrigation purposes could result in serious damage to crops.

youth-by the drawerful

In a nation as big as ours there is always a tendency to overlook the individual and to think only of groups. Youth gets the brunt of this generalizing.

Many of our boys and girls are delinquent. But some folks would have us believe that every child is a potential delinquent.

Time we realized that children aren't chicks! They don't grow up by the drawerful to have the same characteristics and habits.

Children respond to love, parental example, religious guidance. They possess an ever-increasing aptitude for responsibility, trust, and faith.

Most of our boys and girls will grow up to assume their rightful place in an orderly, Christian society. Some will populate our jails. But the destiny of the individual youth is not a matter of chance and percentage...

It is determined primarily by the conscientiousness of loving parents, and by the persistence with which his natural religious interests are cultivated.

The Worry Clinic

A Ghost Mate Spells Trouble

Luella's sex problem involves a "ghost" male. Every widow or divorcee should memorize the diagnosis below, for Luella's husband shows the typical jealousy of a "second husband." Yet this dilemma can easily be avoided by a smart wife who uses the sexual strategy outlined below.

girl marries again, she must constantly be on guard!

For as soon as the second honeymoon novelty subsides and she begins to react as a normal wife does (which means rather diffidently regarding marital relations), then beware.

For her 2nd husband will very likely think she is comparing him adversely with her former mate!

"Maybe I am not as sexually thrilling as he was," is the deflating thought that soon flashes across his mind.

So the new mate begins to feel inferior to the "ghost" husband with whom she was formerly united in marriage.

Then her present mate begins to feel jealous.

So he starts trying to inflate his wounded ego by battering down her self-esteem via caustic criticisms.

Wives, whenever your mate indulges in chronic sarcasm and becomes hypercritical of every little thing you do around the house, don't let it hurt you too much.

For those are merely the standard symptoms of a sexually deflated husband.

You wives can easily remedy the matter and change your surly mate into a happy, generous husband again, IF.

And that big "IF" means, IF you will just feign far more eagerness and delight in the boudoir!

That word "feign" is used advisedly, for the typical wife does not have the erotic desire of her mate.

But if she acts normally and thus is relatively indifferent (if not even evasive) in the bedroom, her husband is almost sure to grow jealous and caustic.

For the average husband does not realize the basic medical fact that women were not created to be as passionate as men!

Instead, they were designed by the Almighty to be primarily mothers and only moderately erotic sweethearts.

Even if you 1st wives have never been previously married, your mates may grow hostile because of your sexual sluggishness in contrast to their own greater erotic fervor.

But your husband will not carry on this secret feud with your former "ghost" mate, as is so true when a widow or divorcee remarries.

So send for my medical booklet "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Every 2nd wife should memorize its contents before her 2nd honeymoon!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

GERMAN STRIKES

BONN (UPI)—About 86,000 employees in 86 companies took part in strikes in West Germany during 1969, resulting in the loss of 249,000 work days. Forty-one per cent of the walkouts were in the iron and steel industry.

Area Meet Is Cancelled

An area meeting planned by the North Carolina Chapter of the National Association of Women Highway Safety Leaders to be held here Saturday has been canceled.

Mrs. John Sugg has been notified that the meeting, one of three scheduled in the state, will not be held since there was not enough response to R.S.V.P. invitations sent out recently.

Mrs. Bob Smith, a local member, said the meeting has been announced at several local clubs and that, although every effort has been made to contact people expected to attend by telephone, there are probably quite a few who have not heard of the cancellation previously. She said a meeting similar to the ones held this spring in Asheville and Greensboro hopefully will be held here at some time in the future.

isn't always easy, but it never has to be dull. There's too much to see, to do, to enjoy. Put yourself behind a Pepsi-Cola and get started.
