

Other Operation Slowed

Three New Cambodian Fronts Opened

By GEORGE ESPER
SAIGON (AP) — Thousands of U.S. and South Vietnamese troops opened three new fronts in Cambodia today but heavy ground fire still slowed an American operation in north-eastern Cambodia.

Informed sources said that 20,000-25,000 Americans and an equal number of South Vietnamese in the six operations are now driving along 250 miles of the Cambodian border, sweeping up enemy bases and seizing tons of munitions and supplies. They have reported killing more than 2,500 enemy troops.

The three new fronts now bring the total to six. U.S. troops opened drives north and south of the Fishhook, the area where the Americans first entered Cambodia last Friday. South Vietnamese began an operation to link up with U.S. armor that overran Snuol, eight miles inside Cambodia in the Fishhook area. South Vietnamese troops with U.S. advisers ranged through the Parrot's Beak in the original campaign into Cambodia that began last Thursday.

Heavy ground fire still beset the U.S. operation that opened Tuesday 200 miles north of the Fishhook in the central highlands area.

Only one battalion managed to make it Tuesday in a helicopter-borne assault and it was joined today by another battalion that landed without resistance seven miles inside Cambodia.

But four helicopters, one a command ship, were shot down and U.S. troops were being landed piecemeal in what was designed as a massive assault by 3,000 Americans and 3,000 South Vietnamese. Many helicopters were forced to return to the central highlands because of the intense anti-aircraft fire.

Associated Press correspondent David Rosenzweig reported from the central highlands base of Pleiku that less than half of the Americans of the 4th Infantry Division had been landed by mid-afternoon.

There was some trouble also on one of the new fronts 80 miles northwest of Saigon. Part of the assault ran into delays, stiff enemy fire and U.S. soldiers were hit by their own artillery barrage. There were reports 10 Americans were killed by the barrage.

Engineers were supposed to build a bridge across a stream but it still was incomplete and a column of 200 U.S. armored personnel carriers waited to cross at mid-afternoon.

In a possible reaction to the massive allied offensive into Cambodia, the North Vietnamese launched a series of assaults in the far north that killed 29 Americans at one artillery base and overran a district headquarters. One American was killed and seven Americans and 35 Vietnamese were wounded in the attack on Que Son district headquarters, 28 miles southwest of Da Nang.

The 29 U.S. troops killed at Fire Base Henderson, 16 miles south of the demilitarized zone, were the most American soldiers slain in a single action in 20 months. Fifteen North Vietnamese were reported killed.

Here is a rundown on the six fronts:

1. The Parrot's Beak, 40 miles west of Saigon, the first to be opened by South Vietnamese and U.S. advisers Thursday.

2. The Fishhook, some 70 miles northwest of Saigon, opened Friday by U.S. troops.

3. Northeast Cambodia opposite the central highlands, begun Tuesday against heavy enemy resistance.

4. An area 50 miles southwest of the Fishhook, opened today by the U.S. 25th Division.

5. An area northeast of the Fishhook, opened today by U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division and South Vietnamese troops.

6. An area along the northern part of the Fishhook, where South Vietnamese troops moved in today to join the U.S. 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment that captured Snuol.

The allied forces continued to seize huge amounts of enemy weapons, ammunition, military equipment and food running into thousands of tons.

The U.S. Command said that in one area alone more than 4,000 weapons have been captured along with 64 trucks and 426 tons of rice. A spokesman said the rice could feed eleven 600-man battalions for almost three months.

Pitt School Budget Has Board Approval

By BLANCHE HARDEE
Reflector Staff Writer

A tentative budget totaling some $1.38 million for current expenses and $340,000 for capital outlay was approved yesterday by the Pitt County Board of Education for the 1970-71 fiscal year.

Of the $1,383,951.71 current expense figure to be submitted to the Pitt County Board of Commissioners for their approval, county funds would account for $1,291,612.83 total, while the remainder would come from the state of North Carolina.

The $1.38 million proposal is about $308,000 more than the $1.07 million budget for the current school year.

Although generally all areas of the budget are increased in the proposed list of expenditures, largest increases are found in amounts for instructional services, auxiliary agencies (such as lunchrooms, activity bus operations, driver education and trainable school), and fixed charges (including fire insurance, workmen's compensation, liability and fleet insurance, and retirement and social security).

The proposed instructional service budget, of which the state is expected to fund approximately $338,814, has been set at $494,361, as compared to the present budget figure of $369,094.50 with $233,329 funded by the state. The budget for auxiliary agencies was approved at $367,700 as compared with the current figure of $295,000. According to the budget proposal, state funds would ultimately supply all but $15,000 of the total proposed auxiliary agencies budget, while in the current fiscal list, state funds account for all but $13,000 of the total.

Other budget totals, with state participation in parenthesis, include:

—General Control, including administrative salaries, travel, clerical, attorney, office expense, etc., $114,231.15, ($69,138) as compared with this year's $109,007.40 ($65,298); —Operation of Plant, including janitors, maids, fuel, utilities, supplies, telephone and telegraph, $115,075 as compared with 1969-70's $84,575.

—Maintenance of Plant, including repairs to buildings and grounds, replacing furnaces, repairs to heating, electricity, and plumbing and salaries of maintenance personnel, totals $167,013 as compared with $137,904 this year.

—Fixed Charges, including rents, fire insurance, workmen's compensation, liability and fleet insurance, theft insurance, retirement and social security contributions, $125,570.71 ($41,703) as compared with $79,913.95 (20,955.69) for the current year.

In the capital outlay budget, the board approved the $340,000 to cover expenses of new buildings and grounds. This compares with $205,784.21 budget for this year.

In approving the proposed budget, board members also reaffirmed their support for a 25-cents per $100 valuation school tax levy recommended by them last week.

The board, at a special meeting, April 27, approved a resolution requesting Pitt County commissioners to establish a uniform current expense county-wide tax levy of a minimum of 25 cents per $100 valuation.

In other areas yesterday, the board discussed, but took no action on, a proposed dual bus system for the coming year. Under the system, separate systems would be operated for elementary and high school students. Cost of such a system would cost $10,000 to $15,000 maximum.

Board members yesterday discussed a resolution by the teachers for a supplement of no less than $635 annually or a like amount in fringe benefits.

The board approved a system of supplements for school employees, but said such supplements would only come as funds are made available.

The action came on a motion by board member Richard Worsley. In making his motion, Worsley said, "I move we recognize the installation of a system of supplements. However, in view of the fact that a supplement of $635 per teacher would require more than the entire budget financed in 1969-70 from the countywide levy, and because of the increased costs brought on by the opening of four new high schools, we do not feel that the board is in a position to request such funds from the county commissioners at this time."

The board approved a proposal by Dr. James Batten of East Carolina University for a program to train teachers with Class "B" certificates.

The teachers would be placed in a classroom to work cooperatively under the leadership of a master teacher (county school teacher).

The master teacher would supervise four such "classroom" situations, with eight Class "B" certificate teachers involved in the program.

The program will be held in the county schools at no cost to the school system.

Students In Protest

Some Universities Closed After Strike Calls

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Students at a growing number of campuses across America today responded to calls for a nationwide strike against President Nixon's Cambodian policy and the Kent State killings.

Some universities shut down altogether, others held rallies, prayer meetings or vigils. There were clashes with police on some campuses. On some others, there were indications of support for the move into Cambodia.

National Guardsmen patrolled at the University of Wisconsin in Madison after, police said, more than 35 persons were arrested in two days of window smashing and firebomb vandalism.

University spokesmen estimated 10,000 persons attended a campus rally Tuesday night to protest the President's deployment of troops in Cambodia and to hear a "people's petition" against the Kent deaths. The rally was peaceful but there was vandalism afterward.

The current wave of protests was touched off Monday when National Guardsmen called out by Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes to control antiwar demonstrations at Kent State, fired into a crowd. Four students were killed.

The Faculty Senate Tuesday blamed Rhodes and his adjutant general, S. T. Del Corso, for the deaths.

Fifteen persons were injured early today when helmeted police armed with clubs and sidearms routed some 500 Seton Hall University students in South Orange, N.J. The students had camped around a street bonfire to protest the war.

Buffalo, N.Y., police fired tear gas and battled students on the campus of Buffalo State University and nearby streets Tuesday night. The incident involving about 500 students followed similar encounters during the day.

Police also used tear gas and clubs in the state capitol building in Austin, Tex., to break up a demonstration by several hundred protesters who had marched from the University of Texas campus six blocks away.

Princeton University faculty voted to suspend classes for the remainder of the semester.

Guardsmen Withdrawal Begins

KENT, Ohio (AP) — A phased withdrawal of National Guard troops begins today at the Kent State University campus, scene of the fatal shooting of four students at an antiwar demonstration.

Brig. Gen. Robert H. Canterbury, commander of the 800 men on duty at the closed and silent school, said the force would be cut in half during the forenoon. The Kent State faculty senate, representing 1,170 full-time instructors, adopted a resolution Tuesday vowing to refuse to resume teaching until the Guard relinquished control of the area.

In another development, the executive director of the Ohio American Civil Liberties Union called on Gov. James A. Rhodes to remove Adj. Gen. S. T. Del Corso as Ohio National Guard commander.

The official, Benson Wolman, declared the guardsmen who cut down the students with a burst of rifle fire were "ill-trained, overeager and poorly controlled."

FBI and Guard investigators continued to probe how and why four students—including two coeds and all described by friends and relatives as disavowing violent protest—were gunned down by guardsmen trying to disperse the demonstration Monday.

Del Corso said Tuesday he had no evidence to back up his earlier assertion that a sniper had fired at the guardsmen just before they started shooting.

The university asked the FBI to investigate an incident in which a pistol was taken from a 19-year-old student photographer Monday. The photographer, Terrance B. Norman, was quoted in a university statement as saying he had been asked by the FBI and university police to photograph the disturbances and had been handed press credentials by the police.

Norman, the statement said, was beaten by demonstrators and waved the gun in self-defense. The school said the gun had not been fired. But a man identifying himself only as a special officer for Portage County said he saw a cameraman firing his pistol between the advancing guardsmen and the crowd of students.

Persinger Re-Elected

ROSS PERSINGER

AYDEN — Ross Persinger was re-elected mayor of Ayden in the municipal election held yesterday.

Persinger received 473 votes and defeated Larry Davis who received 387 ballots.

J.D. Allen, unopposed in the election, was elected to serve the second ward. He received 534 votes.

Incumbent J.J. Brown polled 450 votes yesterday to win the fourth ward. He was opposed by Warren Kinlaw who received 419 ballots.

A total of 886 Ayden residents voted in the election yesterday.

Bill Aiding Railroads Rides Toward Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill aiding the nation's financially troubled railroad passenger trains rode smoothly toward expected final approval in the Senate today.

The proposal would establish a profitmaking corporation to take over much of the nation's ailing rail passenger service in much the same way COMSAT operates the country's satellite communications system.

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., said the single-corporation proposal, a substitute for a bill approved earlier by the Senate Commerce Committee, has the complete support of the Nixon administration.

Another substitute proposal, offered by Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., would establish three regional corporations to operate on a nonprofit basis. Opening debate on the single-corporation plan Tuesday, Hartke told the Senate:

"This country needs all modes of transportation operating at their maximum efficiency if in the 1970s Americans are to be able to travel from city to city safely, comfortably and in reasonable time."

Hartke noted the administration opposed a direct subsidy plan when it was before the Commerce Committee but changed its position when key changes were made.

The plan before committee would have provided $435 million over four years in direct federal subsidies for the purchase of new equipment and for operating expenses.

It establishes a corporation with 15 directors, eight named by the President, three by common stockholders which would be individual railroads and four by preferred shareholders who would be from the public.

Protest

East Carolina University students, estimated at 500 or 600, at 1:00 p.m. were gathered on the university campus in commemoration of the four students killed Monday at Kent State University in Ohio.

Latest reports available were that the students were gathering around the administration building, seeking an audience with ECU president Dr. Leo Jenkins for permission to fly the flag half-mast.

Wallace, Brewer Run Close

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

George C. Wallace has been held to a standoff in Alabama's Democratic gubernatorial primary, leaving his political future and that of the third-party movement he leads hanging on a June 2 runoff.

Wallace fashioned a narrow lead over Gov. Albert Brewer in Tuesday's primary, neither man managing a majority vote.

These were the Tuesday returns:

Alabama, with 2,950 of 4,353 ballot boxes counted, gave Wallace 295,909 votes, Brewer 294,713.

Charles Woods, a scarred veteran of World War II, and a millionaire, ran third in the seven-man field. He had 106,468 votes, and that alone was enough to force the runoff.

Communist Boycotting Peace Talks Over Raids

PARIS (AP) — The Communist side boycotted the Vietnam peace talks today to protest American air raids on North Vietnam last weekend and U.S. military operations in Cambodia. But the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong did not break up the conference.

The North Vietnamese announced that they were postponing today's 66th meeting of the peace talks until Thursday, May 14. The regular Thursday meeting this week had been scheduled for today because this Thursday is Ascension Day, a holiday in France.

Announcing the boycott and postponement, North Vietnamese spokesman Nguyen Thanh Le told a news conference that the Nixon administration had violated a promise by the Johnson administration to stop the bombing and all other acts of war against North Vietnam. He said that instead President Nixon had intensified and extended the war.

"If the Nixon administration continues its bombardment of North Vietnam," Le said, "it must bear the entire responsibility for all the grave consequences of its acts."

He did not elaborate on this threat, but it was certain to be construed by many as a threat to break off the peace talks.

Hanoi charged earlier that U.S. planes bombed populated areas in the southern part of North Vietnam daily for the past five days, and a broadcast today said 20 children and numerous women were killed.

The U.S. Defense Department has admitted raids on North Vietnam last Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday. It said the targets were anti-aircraft and missile positions which had been attacking unarmed reconnaissance planes flying over North Vietnam.

Hanoi contends that the Johnson administration agreed to stop the bombing of the North and all other acts of war against North Vietnam in exchange for North Vietnamese agreement to participate in the Paris talks. But Washington contends that its agreement to stop the bombing did not apply to strikes in retaliation for attacks on its planes and troops.

Guilt Is Part Of Grief Syndrome She'd Rather Have 'Lion' Than 'Lamb'

By ARLENE ABRAHAM
AP Newsfeature Writer

Suppose a loved one—your spouse, parent, or child—has recently died.

Somewhat, with the aid of friends and family, you've managed to get through the funeral and the immediate aftermath. Now what? Change your residence? Get a new job? Have your face lifted? Take a trip to get away from it all?

"Don't do any of these things. Shock, the first stage of grief, is not the time to make any big decisions," cautions Bernadine Kreis, author of "Up from Grief."

Shock, she says, may last anywhere from a month to a year. It is a period characterized by a refusal to accept the fact that the person is dead, a feeling of not wanting to do anything, and a feeling of guilt that implies self-condemnation.

"When you are in shock, just accept it and let it be," continues the attractive 50ish blonde widow. "This is the time to express your feelings. Take advantage of the fact that during this period friends and family will surround you. Later on, though you may be suffering even more, your friends and family won't be around all the time; they'll expect you to be recovered."

Shock gives way to suffering. "This is the worst stage," she says, recalling the three-month span four years ago, during which time she lost her mother, her husband her father, and her granddaughter.

"In shock, you're in a dream-like state. It didn't really happen. In suffering, you admit to yourself that your loved one is gone. And you're alone."

At first, Mrs. Kreis says, she attempted to get back in with her old crowd of friends only to discover, as do most widows and divorcees, that she simply didn't fit.

Enlarging her horizons was the answer. "Don't look for one love object, look for many," she advises. "Even if you've never worked, get a job—paying or volunteer. Seek out new friends of both sexes. Travel—yes, but only with a definite purpose in mind, such as visiting a family member, and even then it's preferable to travel with another person."

She herself did all these things. Accompanied by a cousin, she journeyed to Turkey to visit her son, Peter, a career diplomat, then stationed with the American embassy in Istanbul.

(Her other son, Robert, is conductor of the Wheeling Symphony Orchestra.) A free-lance writer for more than 20 years, she initiated and taught creative writing classes in a New York City church. Busy she definitely was, "but I still was bewildered and confused," she claims.

After searching in vain for a book that would help her understand the emotions she was experiencing and ease her suffering, Mrs. Kreis decided to write her own guidebook for grievers. She and Alice Pattie, another widow, interviewed more than 500 grievers: their friends, and families, doctors, psychologists, lawyers, ministers and even a hypnotist and a plastic surgeon.

She learned that grief has three distinct stages: shock, suffering and recovery. Interestingly, she found that persons who escaped the first or first two stages of grief, often found themselves in the third stage for as long as 15 years, without knowing why.

Guilt is an important part of the grief syndrome, she says. "Often avoided or hidden in the first stage, guilt is most prevalent in the suffering period. You're alive and afraid and you feel guilty," she explains. "In the case of my husband, I wondered whether I had picked the wrong doctor. I felt guilty because I wasn't at his bedside when he died. You feel guilty for any unkindness...."

Once a mourner realizes that guilt is normal and natural, he can then accept it. This is a big step on the way to recovery. "Of course, if you can't come to terms with your feelings of guilt," she adds, "I suggest you consult a professional."

Recovery happens slowly. "Guilt is gone but regression easily can set in if you're alone at Christmas, if you hear a certain song. Just take one day at a time: live for today," advises Mrs. Kreis.

DEAR ABBY: To the numbskull who insisted that quiet men are the greatest lovers. She should meet my husband. He is a quiet man.

I went with him for 5 years before I was able to convince him that marriage was normal. Now I'm having a harder time trying to convince him that sex is also normal.

He came on like a lamb, turned into a lion for one glorious year, then turned back into a lamb, and he's been one ever since.

I have tried to break him down by inventing a little game I call "calendar." I bought a packet of gold stars and whenever he breaks down, I paste a gold star on the calendar. There are 50 stars in a pack, and at this rate I will have enough gold stars to last me a lifetime.

When we are with friends he laughs and says, "I think I'll trade my wife in for two twenties." Should I remind him that he can't even take care of one "40"? I am 44, attractive, clean, and normal.

If I had it to do over again, I'd choose a lion to begin with. At least that way I'd know what I was getting.

MARIE IN SUNNYMEAD

DEAR MARIE: Yours is a rather special "lamb" who can turn into a "lion"—even for one glorious year. But knowing it is possible, doesn't that give you a clue?

DEAR ABBY: I am a physician, but please omit my name and city. This "problem" is one that every doctor has encountered, and even tho I have my own way of handling it, I am writing to get your opinion.

The number of women patients who lie to their husbands about their age is shocking. They do not lie to their doctors, however. When I have a woman patient in the hospital, often her husband will corner me and ask me straight out how old his wife is.

Tell me Dear Abby, if you were the doctor, how would you handle it?

DOC

DEAR DOC: I would ask the man to ask his wife. How do YOU handle it?

DEAR ABBY: For 12 years my husband was bald. This last Christmas my daughter and I talked him into buying one of those new hairpieces for men. Thank goodness men are finally wking up to the fact that they too can improve their appearance.

I never knew a head of hair could do so much for anyone. He looks like he did 15 years ago, and he feels 20 years younger. He went on a diet and lost 20 excess pounds, bought a new wardrobe, and most of all, he has new pride in himself, and a new lease on life.

It really has made a big difference in our marriage. Now he takes me out for dinner and dancing when before it was a tug of war.

I just can't say enough for HAIR!

HAPPY IN L'VILLE

DEAR HAPPY: The only thing that can top it is a HAT!

DEAR ABBY: In your answer regarding how one addresses women in the professions, I wish you had gone on to explain titles for women, generally. Many people are often confused as to the use and meaning of the English-language "MRS." which is a corruption of "mistress of," designating a wife. Perhaps you could print the following, for clipping and reference by secretaries, editors, etc.

Mary Jones is "Mary Jones" or "Miss Mary Jones."

When she marries, she is: "Mrs. John Brown," "Mary Brown," or "Mary Jones Brown."

When widowed, she is EXACTLY the same!

When divorced, she is: "Mary Jones Brown" or "Mrs. Jones Brown."

There is no such entity as "MRS. MARY BROWN."

A death in the family is an inevitable part of life, but we act as though it comes only to other families. We don't like to talk about death because it makes us feel sad or afraid. There is much about death we don't understand, and usually death cannot be predicted. By taking a realistic approach, we may strengthen the resources we need to face the future.

One of the chief problems that the remaining family members face in the event of death is having to make decisions about a funeral. It comes at a time when they are emotionally too weak to cope with the task. The more plans you can make ahead of time the wiser your decisions will be. Family members should talk about and make tentative decisions concerning where they want to be buried. They should say what they want concerning future funeral arrangements, yet they shouldn't make so many specific requests that it would make it difficult for the family to honor. You might want to discuss with your family and a funeral director the cost of the following services and which ones you might want:

- embalming and cosmetology or cremation
- cemetery arrangements
- casket, vault
- body shipment
- use of cars
- death certificate
- arrangements for funeral service
- flowers vs. contributions to worthy organizations.

A family member may choose to will his body or parts of his body to a medical institution. In this case there would be no need to plan a funeral, but arrangements should be made concerning the procedure to be taken, and maybe memorial rites.

Planning ahead for funeral services and costs need not be considered morbid, but a wise procedure to prevent indecision, uncertainty and financial hardship for the remaining family.

Rioting, Killing Not The Way

The tragic events at Kent State University Monday must leave us all wondering just what our nation is coming to.

Four students dead, two of them coeds, as gunfire erupted while National Guardsmen moved in on an unruly student demonstration.

Following such a terrible event it is inevitable that we start searching for someone to blame. Student sympathizers immediately see it as the Establishment shooting down unarmed young people. Those who oppose what the students have been doing on the Kent State campus will feel that government was doing what had to be done if any semblance of order was to be preserved.

As always, the truth lies in between. Somehow these young people on the Kent State campus were whipped up into a frenzy so that the accepted bounds of dissent were exceeded. As had often happened in recent years, the National Guard was called in to restore order. Guardsmen, however, are basically civilians. They are young, too, just like the students they face and they know that when they are called out it is as a last resort to preserve order.

Somehow in the confusion the shots were fired and four young people died needlessly.

We must learn from this, and other recent events, that dissent is essential in a democracy. Destruction and outright defiance of our laws is the cancer that will destroy democracy.

There are bounds, which have been carefully spelled out by the courts, for registering dissent.

Now we are exceeding those bounds, other people's freedoms are affected and ultimately tragedies such as the one at Kent State result.

All Americans should learn from this that rioting, burning and killing are not the way to change things in a democracy. The route we are taking will only destroy our liberties; and as surely as such things continue our rights are going to be abridged.

Fitting Awards For Outstanding Service

The Crusaders of York Memorial AME Zion Church honored Dr. Robert Lee Humber and John Taylor for their outstanding work as co-chairmen of the Citizens Awareness Committee.

The chairmen were presented engraved plaques and certificates of appreciation were presented to citizens of the committee.

This committee and the co-chairmen performed a great service to the city during the time of crisis at Rose High.

We feel that the good they accomplished will be lasting and it will lead to outstanding race relations in the city. The honors accorded to them were well deserved.

Nixon Decision Believed Right

By J.J. KILPATRICK

It was six o'clock on a sunny afternoon, out here on the Coast, when Nixon made his speech on the Cambodian operation. I listened to it in a motel room — listened in pride and sadness and elation — and after a while I went down to Fresno's handsome municipal auditorium to speak to a town forum on current events.

The decision was right, I said; but when a series of hostile questions came floating up from the floor, I sensed anew the bitter truth of Santayana's famous maxim. Those who fail to learn from history must take their lessons again. How can one teach history in an hour?

What have the President's critics learned from the history of Communist aggression over the past thirty years? More deeply, what have they learned from the history of Western civilization? Surely they should have learned at least this much — that the enemy retreats from a positive show of force, and advances at every sign of softness. And we should have learned this, too, that there is no finite point in the fight to preserve men's freedoms; this fight goes on forever.

It is therefore an exercise in definitions to ask, when will the war end? Which war? The historical impudence known as Vietnam? Or the vastly more difficult war, the war that has no end? If the Cambodian operation is to be understood at all, it has to be understood in both contexts; and in both contexts the President's decision is courageous, necessary and wise.

On November 3, the President gave warning: "Hanoi could make no greater mistake," he said, "than to assume that an increase in violence will be to its advantage. If I conclude that increased enemy action jeopardizes our remaining forces in Vietnam, I shall not hesitate to take strong and effective measures to deal with that situation."

The question in Hanoi, in Moscow, in Peking, was: Did Nixon mean it? Or was he bluffing? Little by little, for the next five months, the enemy increased its pressure in Vietnam. Nixon made no response. Two weeks ago, in a speech announcing his commitment to further troop withdrawals, he repeated his warning. But these were words. Were they empty words? The enemy resumed its developing pattern with the classic inevitability of a Bach fugue: New provocations in Laos, new pressures in Cambodia.

This was, all over again, point counterpoint, the closing of access to Berlin; it was the deployment of missiles in Cuba. It was a short move and a long move, a test of Nixon and a test of America. It was a raise in the pot, chips down, and let the ribbon clerks get out of the game. Nixon had to call. Two warnings were enough.

Most of these considerations go to the long war, the war that has no end. Nixon's decision was sound for the short run also. For at least four years, our most experienced military leaders have been pleading for action against the Cambodian sanctuaries. Their appeals dropped out of sight in the down pillow of a no-win policy. In fairness, the Sihanouk government presented obstacles also. But every reporter who ever got briefed by a general, in Saigon or Honolulu or Washington, heard the same off-the-record frustration expressed. How could the city of Washington be defended, to borrow Nixon's analogy, if an enemy command at Baltimore could never be attacked?

Well, Senator Aiken says the decision is tragic, and Senator Hatfield finds it unbelievable, and Senator Goodell is aghast. But it may be that their reaction of Friday morning, like the hostile questions here Thursday night, fails to reflect the instinctive understanding of wiser but less articulate Americans. My guess is that the people know, better than the politicians, when a risk ought to be taken. And they will not love — they will rather despise — the timid leader who fails his people when the hour comes.

Strength For Today

TEMPTATION

The statement in the Lord's Prayer, "Lead us not into temptation," has baffled many. God does not Himself tempt us (James 1:13-15). He permits us to be tempted in order that we be tested and made strong. Even Jesus went through the experience of temptation. In the First Epistle to the Corinthians (Chapter 10) we are assured that God "will with the temptation also make a way to escape that we may be able to bear it."

The best way to deal with temptation is to get out of its way if possible. We can avoid most temptations if we will. We are usually tempted because of the company we keep, the situations in which we allow ourselves to become involved. It is not cowardice to flee temptation. It is folly if we have a chance to avoid temptation and fail to do so. This does not need to be spelled out for any of us. We know the things that tempt us, the people that tempt us. Many years ago a man of splendid Christian character used to declare that although he had never taken a drink in his life the appearance of liquor constituted for him a tremendous temptation to drink. He was a member of a family in which there was much heavy drinking with disastrous results.

Right at this present moment there is a woman whose marriage was broken up by her husband's drinking. She has wisely counseled the one child of that marriage never to get started, and he is in his early fifties and to date has met all tests.

NEW EGYPTIAN PYRAMID!

Harsh Measures Ahead?

NEW YORK (AP) — After consistently rejecting suggestions that voluntary wage-price guideposts be reinstated to help in the battle against inflation, the Nixon administration could be forced to use even harsher measures.

These measures could include rigid controls on wages, prices and credit, such as have been used in wartime. The White House hasn't said so but pressures that could force such a move seem to be growing relentlessly.

Among the forces: wages, prices and interest rates continue to rise; the hopes of a budget surplus have diminished so as to barely exist anymore; the increase of military activity in Southeast Asia could mean more military spending.

Lionel D. Edie & Co., economic consultant to industry, puts it this way in a letter to its clients:

"The intentions of monetary and fiscal authorities are being undermined by uncontrollable events which are forcing the government to become a prime contributor to inflation."

At any rate, the very determined administration efforts to re-establish economic stability show few clearcut results. Moreover, with the economy showing signs of perking up again, the biggest test still could be ahead.

"The monetary and fiscal authorities thus face perhaps the most difficult period in the fight against inflation," Chase Manhattan Bank comments. It adds:

"Now and for the next few months they must walk a tightrope between the excessive tightness that could produce a bad recession and premature ease that could reinvigorate inflation."

Pierre Rinfret puts it more bluntly. Recently he told his industrial clients: "We have polluted our economic environment as badly as our physical environment."

Is this a true statement of the facts? After a determined psychological, fiscal and monetary battle since the beginning of 1969, is the economy really in a confused mess, as claimed by some critics?

While independent economists seem to grow more critical as the anti-inflation program fails to produce predicted results, the administration's men stoutly defend their measures and urge patience.

The economy, they say, is in a lot better shape than is apparent. Short-term results may not be so obvious, they explain, but the foundation is being built for a healthier economy later this year and in 1971.

Investors, at least, aren't buying the explanation. In fact, rather than restoring confidence in the market, the President's statement that he would buy stocks if he had the cash is being interpreted as evidence that the White House really doesn't know how bad things are.

Public Forums

To the Editor:

We are striving very hard to have a clean city.

There was a time when you could travel around the city and you could tell when you were in an all-Negro community by the rubbish on the sidewalks. However, that is not so now. I wish you would send your news reporter to the corner of Pitt and West Third Streets and see the garbage cans on the sidewalk.

O. James Rooks

To the Editor:

On Friday, May 1, an announcement, paid by a group known as the Good Government Council, appeared in the Daily Reflector which used, without our knowledge or consent, the name of the League of Women Voters of Pitt County.

This announcement focused on the absence of Congressman Walter Jones from a public "Meet the Candidates" forum presented by the Provisional League of Women Voters of Greenville - Pitt County April 24.

Although Congressman Jones previously planned to attend, he found he was unable to come and telegraphed his regrets and reason. This fact was announced at the forum.

The League of Women Voters is non-partisan and does not endorse or oppose any candidate or party. Never does it lend its name to any group or person who supports, opposes, or takes to task a candidate or party.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. Philip Clark
President, Provisional League of Women Voters of Greenville-Pitt County

Gout Victims Males

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

Nineteen out of 20 victims of gout are male, and those who have never had this painful affliction think it is funny. But if the situation were reversed and 19 out of 20 of its victims were female, nobody would laugh at gout. This is because any disease which chronically affects women is always treated with great sympathy and respect.

After-dinner speakers are borne, not made.

A thrifty wife is one who can use her discarded miniskirts to make her husband some of those new-fangled wide ties.

No matter how mighty man becomes, there is always something to keep him humble. For example, he can construct machines that will take him to the moon and back—but still can't take two wire coat hangers off a closet rack without getting them entangled.

When you make a friend after 40, it's usually because you share his weaknesses rather than admire his abilities.

If all the childless couples in America were forced to accept a three-month divorce, three out of four would immediately remarry at the end of that period. But if the divorce were for two years, only half would.

What's in a name? Women used to slap it on a plate and call it hash; now they cook it in a dish and call it a casserole. But you still have to gamble on what the contents are.

One of the annoying things about wives is that they won't believe a husband even if he swears on the Bible, but will take as gospel truth anything a $5 fortune teller or tea leaf reader tells them.

About the most helpful thing a young man can learn early in life is never to lend more than $10 to a guy who wears dice cufflinks. He'll usually cop out.

Motto for 1970 college students: "Count that day lost whose setting twilight sun, sees no old riot finished or no new riot begun."

Signs of the times: A major landmark of inflation has passed here practically unnoticed. A major hotel now charges 35 cents to check your hat or coat—and it is payable in advance.

No one feels more that God is against him than a fellow who misses winning the first prize in a church raffle because his ticket had every digit right—except the last one.

An ambitious thief is one who tried to steal an office clock in the blind hope that it isn't being watched.

The situation in Wall Street is so dismal that some smart brokers are reported quietly lining up the best corners there to set up apple selling booths.

York State and New York City taxpayers."

But even if Kilroy can buy $5,000 worth of these bonds, he can get the equivalent of only a little more than 7.10 per cent on his money. The best he can probably do is get 5 per cent bank interest on his money, less what he pays in income taxes on that 5 per cent. The bank, however, can earn the equivalent of 14.31 per cent on the money Kilroy and others deposit.

Kilroy ought to ask for a deferment in the war on inflation.

New Weight Limits Set On Air Baggage

The old days when airplane passengers had to pay—and pay through the nose for baggage exceeding 40 pounds are gone. The Civil Aeronautics Board has approved an agreement among domestic airlines that each passenger may check two bags weighing up to 70 pounds each, plus a limited bag carried on board, without extra charge.

Receiving the distinguished awards were David Perry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delton Perry; Louis Ayers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Ayers; Gregory Michaels, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Michaels; and Roger Burton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Burton, all of Bethel.

United Methodist pastor, Dr. Robert McKee, made the presentations to the four scouts. Each had worked with Dr. McKee for several months on a program of learning about the church and country and qualified for the awards upon completion of this program of study.

Also present for the ceremonies were Troop 15 scoutmasters Cary Hammond and Joe Hunnicut.

Parole Denied Second Time

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — R. Bernard Finch, former West Covina, Calif., physician convicted with his red-haired secretary in the 1959 slaying of his socialite wife, must stay in prison.

The California Adult Authority denied Finch parole Tuesday for the second time in two years. Finch, 52, is serving a life term for first-degree murder and conspiracy.

Carole Tregoff, convicted of second-degree murder and conspiracy in the death of Barbara Jean Finch, 33, was paroled one year ago. She went to work at a Covina hospital.

Doctor Warns Contribution About Diets Was Largest

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—Manipulating the traditional American diet as a means of avoid heart disease could deteriorate the body's resistance to other deadly ailments, warns Dr. David Kritchevsky of Philadelphia's Wistar Institute of Anatomy and Biology.

If you come from a coronary prone family it's only prudent to take precautions in diet and otherwise, he said, but noted that no causal relationship between diet, cholesterol and heart disease has been established.

Kritchevsky said that if cholesterol were a foreign substance positively known to contribute to heart disease, the solution would be simple: eliminate the foreign substance, but, he stressed, cholesterol is an essential part of the body.

Referring to the many low-cholesterol diets that are popular today, Kritchevsky said, "If you follow everything they say, you'll die of malnutrition with perfect arteries."

Nixon Cancels Southern Visit

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — President Nixon has canceled an appearance at the dedication of a Confederate memorial carving on Stone Mountain Saturday, and Gov. Lester Maddox blames it on "the far left."

"I know he's got a lot to do and I accept his excuse," the governor said Tuesday when he learned of Nixon's cancellation. But the governor added he thought the decision could be attributed to pressure from "the same people who brought about the defeat of Carswell and Haynsworth."

G. Harrold Carswell and Clement F. Haynsworth were Nixon nominees for the Supreme Court recently turned down by the U.S. Senate.

The largest single contribution, either by an individual or a group, to the recent Cerebral Palsy Telethon drive, was that made by members of the Kappa Alpha Fraternity of East Carolina University, amounting to $1,001.01.

Mike Allen, Service Chairman in charge of this drive, said "our fraternity members supported the collection 100 per cent, with every member going out Friday and Saturday to collect at seven intersections within Greenville."

"As service chairman, I'd like to say thanks to all the citizens of Greenville and Pitt County who made this fine collection possible, and also express appreciation to fraternity members who worked so hard on this project," Allen commented.

Paternity Suit Filed Against Cary Grant

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — A Superior Court paternity suit asks "reasonable support" for an infant which actor Cary Grant is alleged to have fathered by former writer Cynthia Bouron, 33. Grant is 66.

Attorney Donald Bringgold filed the action Tuesday on behalf of Stephanie Andrea Grant, born last March 12 in Good Samaritan Hospital in Los Angeles.

It asks that Miss Bouron, described as an attractive dark haired woman, be named the child's guardian.

Grant's attorney, Stanley E. Fox, who said the actor was out of the city, told a newsman: "There is no validity to the charge."

Nuclear Conductor

That's Mack Wilson's job: conducting visitors through the Vepco Nuclear Information Center at Surry.

There, he uses animated displays, movies and other aids to tell the intricate story of the atom in terms even children can understand. With a working model of a nuclear power station, he shows why this is such a safe, clean, economical way to produce electricity.

From the Center's observation deck, he can point to the real thing taking shape just a few hundred feet away. The $327 million Surry Power Station, which will begin operation in 1971, is another of Vepco's giant steps into tomorrow.

Come see it all. It's open 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily, 1 to 6 p.m. Sunday, just off Route 10 in Surry County. Mack Wilson will help you understand the mighty atom, and how the energy it creates will bring you a brighter tomorrow.

Vepco is people...helping people.

Rap Brown Makes The FBI's Most Wanted List

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI expanded its list of "10 Most Wanted Fugitives" to 11 today to make room for H. Rap Brown, the black militant who failed to appear Monday for his riot and arson trial. Brown, the FBI said, should be "considered armed and dangerous."

The addition of the 26-year-old black militant leader came less than two days after the Maryland attorney general's office obtained a federal warrant charging him with interstate flight to avoid prosecution. It also marked the first time in two years—since James Earl Ray was being sought for the slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.—that the FBI failed to wait for a top-10 vacancy before adding another man. A former chairman of SNCC

—the Student National Coordinating Committee—Brown was to stand trial in Ellicott City, Md., on charges stemming from a fiery 1967 speech he made in Cambridge, Md., shortly before disorders erupted in a black area of the city.

When he failed to appear, Howard County Circuit Judge James MacGill revoked Brown's $10,000 bond and issued a bench warrant for his arrest. The black militant actually had been missing since March 9 when his trial, later shifted to Ellicott City, first began in Bel Air, Md.

The proceedings were shifted to Ellicott City after two of Brown's friends died in an automobile explosion just outside Bel Air and another blast ripped through the courthouse at nearby Cambridge.

Since then, his attorneys have maintained they don't know where he is, although they believe he is still alive.

A native of Baton Rouge, La., Brown also is scheduled for trial June 15 at New Orleans on charges of assaulting a federal officer in February 1968.

He was free on bond while appealing a New Orleans conviction for violating the Federal Firearms Act. Unless overturned, that sentence could result in a five-year prison term and a $2,000 fine.

In describing Brown as dangerous, the FBI noted he has been convicted of carrying a concealed weapon and carrying pistols in a car without a permit.

He was described as 6-foot-3 with a medium build, brown eyes, black hair and a dark complexion. He lived with his wife in New York City until his disappearance two months ago.

Brown was the second fugitive in two days to be named to the FBI list. Lawrence Robert Plamondon, 25, the accused bomber of a Central Intelligence Agency recruiting office in Michigan, was added Tuesday.

Anson Said To Be 'Mother Of Counties'

By H. G. JONES
Dept. of Archives and History
Written for The AP

RALEIGH (AP)—Anson was once the largest county in North Carolina—and one of the largest in the country.

When it was formed in 1750 from Bladen County, it extended westward to the Mississippi River and included what is now Tennessee.

So many new counties have been formed from the original Anson that it sometimes is called the "mother of counties." Anson recently has experienced a new awakening to its history, thanks largely to the Anson County Historical Society, which was formed in 1966.

With an energetic telephone company executive, Linn D. Garibaldi of Matthews, at its head, the society set out immediately to stimulate interest in the history of Anson County. A magnet around which local interest could be focused was provided when the late Maj. L. P. McLendon of Greensboro purchased and gave to the society the Boggan-Hammond House in Wadesboro, home of one of his ancestors.

The house consisted of the marriage of two structures. The first portion was built about 1783 by Capt. Patrick Henry Boggan, a soldier in the American Revolution, and given to his daughter Eleanor (Nellie) who married William Hammond. It is thought to be the oldest standing structure in the city. The second portion consisted of a large addition to the original house and was built about 1820. Both were in need of restoration and therein lay the challenge for the new county historical society.

Through an intensive campaign, funds were obtained for the separation of the two structures and the restoration of each as a period house. The larger 1820 section was left near the street, and the 1783 section was moved about fifty feet to the back of the lot. Both were restored to their approximate original appearance, and a formal garden was laid out between them.

The older house portrays an 18th Century dwelling of a prosperous though not extravagant family, and the 1820 addition depicts a comfortable home of the new century. Valuable antique furnishings, most of which were donated by Anson County families, are gradually filling both houses. The whole setting is flavored by local craftsmanship.

More than $50,000 has been spent in the Boggan-Hammond House restoration. Most of the funds were raised locally by the society, but additional aid came from the Smith Richardson Foundation of Greensboro and the state of North Carolina.

Ultimate Pollution Effects Seen In Ontario

By ED SIMON
Canadian Press Writer
SUDBURY, Ont. (AP) — The bleak countryside around this world nickel capital offers a textbook example of the ultimate effects of industrial pollution.

The natural rock formations of the mineral rich terrain are complemented by slag heaps. Mile after mile is totally devoid of vegetation and only the tall chimneys of the huge nickel smelters destroy the impression of a lunar landscape.

The desolation is manmade but most of the damage was done before International Nickel and Falconbridge, the two major nickel producers, were born.

It resulted from the primitive technology employed by the pioneer companies when nickel was first mined in the area in 1883.

In order to remove sulphur dioxide, the ore was roasted in open fires, which had to be fed with huge quantities of wood from the surrounding area.

After the trees were felled, lumbermen returned to dig up the rotting stumps, which were used to damp down the fires to provide a more even heat. The intensive operation, abetted by forest fires, eroded the topsoil and the land became sterile.

The roasting process was abandoned as uneconomic in the 1920s and Inco and Falconbridge built their smelters. They deposited their tailings, or rock waste, on the already devastated territory.

The smelters created new problems. They poured liquid waste into creeks leading to Kelly Lake, a few miles southwest of Sudbury, which became a sewage lagoon or municipal cesspool. And their chimneys filled the air with sulphur dioxide.

For decades, Sudbury was content to live with the effects of the pungent gas, which produced acidity in rain water, corroding buildings and metal, reducing the fertility of the already unproductive soil and occasionally pervading the city with its unmistakable odor.

As the community became more pollution conscious, Inco and Falconbridge researchers sought solutions. Both companies introduced extraction methods to reclaim some of the gas, Inco marketing it as liquid sulphur dioxide and sulphuric acid and Falconbridge producing pure sulphur.

A year ago, Inco announced plans to replace its chimneys, ranging from 350 to 615 feet in height, with a 1,250-foot smokestack, the world's highest which will release its fumes at high velocity to an altitude of 4,000 feet. High winds at that height are expected to help disperse the gas.

The $13-million project was described as "only an interim measure" by Don Fraser, assistant general manager of the company.

Although Inco was confident that the gas would be effectively dissipated at the higher altitude, the plan was greeted with apprehension by such communities as North Bay, 79 miles to the east, which feared it would inherit the problem.

The city of Sudbury, under vigorous prodding from the Ontario Water Resources Commission, pushed ahead at the same time with plans for a municipal sewage disposal plant big enough to handle the liquid waste of the nickel companies as well as the requirements of its 85,000 residents and those of satellite communities.

And lately, Inco scientists have begun doing something about Sudbury's original blight.

The have devised a method of seeding part of the smelter's

New Firm Is Economic Boost

BUNN, N. C. (AP) — The 200 new jobs the Winston Mobile Homes plant has opened up here "have given Bunn and Franklin County a much needed economic shot in the arm," Gov. Bob Scott said Tuesday.

Scott spoke at the plant's formal opening. He commented that if the firm "had not come here, it is quite likely that many of these people would have been forced to leave and look for employment in Raleigh."

Is Seldom Invoked Contract Morals Clause

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The news of Tony Curtis' being arrested for possession of marijuana in England raised a question among film observers: Whatever happened to the morals clause?

There's no indication yet whether the incident will affect Curtis' contract for an ABC television series. Probably not. The series isn't scheduled until the 1971-72 season.

Besides, a marijuana rap is different now from what it was in 1949.

When Robert Mitchum almost lost his career because of one, he drew a 60-day jail sentence; Curtis paid a $120 fine.

If Mitchum's employers had chosen to do so, he could have been fired from his $3,250-a-week contract. The reason is that every movie actor in those times had a morals clause in his contract.

The morals clause was the invention of Willy Will Hays, President Warren Harding's postmaster general and the man elected by the movie producers in 1922 to clean up the industry after a series of scandals. The new film czar argued that misbehaving stars could be kept in line by the threat of firing.

"It was a very real threat," recalls a veteran Hollywood attorney.

"But as far as I know, the morals clause was never invoked. I believe the studios tried to use it to get out of contracts with accused Communists during the red scare."

Official Says Guard Was Doing Its Job

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon's top National Guard officer says the Ohio guardsmen were doing "the job they were told to do" in restoring law and order when four Kent State University students were shot to death.

"We're deeply concerned any time a life is lost," said Maj. Gen. Winston P. Wilson Jr., who heads the National Guard Bureau. "Those guys were given a job of restoring law and order. That's what they were called for. They were doing their job as best as they can."

But Wilson, in an interview at his Pentagon office, said he wasn't at the scene of Monday's shooting and couldn't make any judgment as to responsibility for the incident.

Officially, the Pentagon is taking a hands-off attitude, leaving the investigation of the shooting in which four persons were killed and 10 others wounded to local and state agencies and the Justice Department.

The guardsmen were not federalized and therefore were under state, not federal control, a spokesman said.

Although the House Armed Services Committee probed guard actions in the deadly Detroit and Newark riots that led to new training rules three years ago, a staff official said there would be no new hearings.

"We've got enough problems around the world without looking for them here," he said.

Wilson said he sent an official from National Guard headquarters to the Kent State campus immediately after learning of the shooting, but only to act as a liaison with the Ohio guard.

Wilson was interrupted throughout the day Tuesday with calls from Capitol Hill, the White House and other Pentagon officials asking under what authority the guardsmen fired.

He referred them to a pamphlet on the "rules of engagement" drawn up by the Ohio National Guard and approved by guard headquarters at the Pentagon. Each state has a set of rules which follow the Pentagon's guidelines.

These rules say, according to Wilson, that "when all other things fail" in putting down a civil disturbance, "rifles will be carried with a round in the chamber."

The general said that since

Accuses Nixon Of Abandoning Constitution

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Jane Fonda says President Nixon, by ordering U.S. troops into Cambodia, "has abandoned the Constitution, bypassed the Congress and attacked the American people and their desire to get out of Vietnam."

Miss Fonda told a Tuesday news conference sponsored by an organization called the Cambodia Crisis Coalition that the President's action would be opposed by "a blizzard of demonstrations of all varieties across this nation."

Taft Has Ohio Lead

By PERRY SMITH
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Rep. Robert Taft Jr. grabbed a lead over Gov. James A. Rhodes today in the Republican race for U.S. Senate nomination after trailing in the vote count all night.

Howard Metzenbaum, wealthy Cleveland attorney, also jumped into a lead for the first time over John Glenn in the race for Democratic nomination to the Senate.

Returns from all but 103 of the state's 13,248 voting units showed Taft with 462,329 votes to 460,150 votes for Rhodes. Metzenbaum had 424,893 votes at that point to 412,509 for Glenn.

Incumbents Won Easily

GRIFTON — The three incumbent commissioners seeking election in Grifton's municipal election yesterday had nothing to worry about — the three were unopposed.

Incumbents James F. Hudson and John H. Coward Jr. received 49 votes each while Edward Bright polled 48 ballots.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA) — North Carolina egg markets weaker Tuesday, supplies fully adequate, demand fair. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A large whites: 39½ to 40; medium, whites: 31 to 32; small, whites: 27 to 28.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA) — North Carolina hog markets today were mostly steady, with instances of 25-75 higher. Tops of 23.50-24.00 at Rocky Mount; 22.50-24.00 at Tarboro; 23.00-23.50 at Siler City and Denton; 22.50-23.50 at Bethel; 22.25-23.25 at Kinston, New Bern, Benson, Newton Grove, Albertson and Lumberton; 24.00 at Salisbury; 23.75 at Greensboro.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market opened sharply higher this morning in active trading.

Opening prices on the New York Stock Exchange included Atlantic Richfield, up 2¼ to 53¼; Benguet, up 1½ to 7½; DuPont, up 3½ to 109; Bristol Myers, up 1¼ to 52½; and Parke Davis, up ¾ to 19½.

The market Tuesday suffered a modest decline that nonetheless pushed the Dow Jones average below its closing level the day President John F. Kennedy was assassinated. Trading was moderate.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials closed off 4.82 at 709.74, lowest since Aug. 9, 1963 when it was 708.39. On Nov. 22, 1963, the day Kennedy was assassinated, it was 711.49.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA) — The North Carolina poultry market today was mostly steady. Supplies adequate for a generally good demand. Life at farm price 11½ cents per pound. Hens, supplies adequate on heavy types and barely adequate on lighter weights. Demand fair. Heavy types at farm 13-13½ cents, mostly 13½. Light type at farms 7 cents per pound.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market began leveling off from its early gain this morning but still remained sharply higher. Trading was heavy.

At 11 a.m. the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 13.20 to 722.94, after having been up more than 15 earlier. Most of the gain occurred during the first few minutes after the opening bell. Advances led declines by a 11 to 1 margin.

Analysts attributed the upward spurt to news that the Federal Reserve Board had reduced the margin requirement for stock purchases to 65 per cent from 80 per cent.

This sparked a long overdue technical rally, they said, pointing out that the market was deeply oversold. The Dow average had fallen about 65 points in the previous 11 sessions.

Martin County Commissioners Study Hospital

WILLIAMSTON — Martin County Commissioners Monday discussed at length ways and means which might result in raising additional money to supplement the recently approved $2,100,000 bond issue for a hospital in Martin County.

C.M. Cobb, County Clerk, said, "The commissioners are recommending that all resources be studied in efforts to find means of raising sufficient money to build the three story proposed building instead of resorting to a two story building."

Cobb said bids, which were opened April 30, had run to a little over $3,000,000 for a three story building, and approximately $2,700,000 for a two story one. These bids were about $400,000 to $600,000 more than had been anticipated for the total construction bids.

The commissioners expressed the hope that means can be found of going ahead with plans for the preferred three story building, but recommended, if this is not possible, to begin work on the two story hospital, with the addition of a third story at a later date.

Ralph McCloig of Tideland Mental Health Association discussed plans which are being considered for the eastern North Carolina area in reference to mental health patients and alcoholics. Under a proposed plan, Cherry Hospital in Goldsboro, Caswell Training Center in Kinston, and the Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center in Greenville would be focal points for treating retarded persons and alcoholics, with arrangements worked out for sending patients to these places dependent on their needs. This would entail a budget for Martin County based on a population estimate of 28,000 at the rate of 40 cents per capita for mental cases, and 13 cents per capita for alcoholic cases. The commissioners took no action, but agreed to study the proposal.

International Paper Explains Efforts To Control Pollution

By CAROL TYER
FARMVILLE — D. E. Cherry of International Paper Company here appeared before the Farmville Board of Commissioners last night telling them of the measures his company's plant here has taken to curb pollution.

International Paper's teepee boiler will no longer be used after a new boiler is installed. A closed circuit system should channel the dust now released into the air to the boiler where it will be efficiently burned.

Special Meet To Consider Referendum

Greenville City School Board will meet at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow night in a special call meeting in the board room of the City School Administration Office.

Primary purpose of this meeting is to consider a resolution prepared by the board attorney which will request the county commissioners to authorize a special registration and election for a district referendum on the question of increasing the present supplemental tax levy ceiling for the Greenville District from 25 cents to 50 cents per $100 of assessed property valuation.

Cherry said that engineering has already been done and equipment has been ordered. If all goes well, the system should be completed by September, at which time more than 90 percent of the polluting agents released by the plant will have been cleaned up. He said the company will then turn its attention to the remainder of the problem.

Several residents of Duke Drive appeared asking the board to consider tiling and covering a large eroding ditch that adjoins their back yards. The commissioners estimated that enclosing the entire 400 feet would require an outlay of about $18,000 and, if it is done, it would have to come under the budget which starts July 1. A motion to go ahead and tile the 40 feet which is eroding the worst was made.

The Board agreed to pay for the installation of a septic tank installed on private property within the city limits, since the city sanitary sewer lines do not run within 200 feet of the site.

A motion was made to provide sidewalks for any block in which a majority of the property owners want the walkway. Assessment will follow the procedure set for street paving assessments.

An ordinance was passed which would set sanitation and pest control standards for any horse stable within the city limits. The town building inspector will be responsible for inspecting to see that these standards are met.

Jack Farrior, president of the Farmville Chamber of Commerce, told the Board of the financial plight of the Chamber of Commerce. He said most local business places are contributing the same amounts they did several years ago, while the cost of everything used in promotion of the town has gone up. Specifically, he asked the Board to assume the cost of Christmas street decorations now paid for by the C of C, whose funds are matched by the Tobacco Board of Trade. The Board agreed and said the cost, something over $1,300, will be budgeted during the next fiscal year.

An offer by J. W. Joyner to either rent space in or sell a building on North Main Street to the town for office space was considered, but no action was taken.

The rate of garbage hauling and disposal for Collins and Aikman was raised from $10 per load to $12.50 at the suggestion of Street Department head, E. P. Freuler.

Cloyd Clark, a coach at H. B. Sugg, spoke to the Board telling them how he thought the same summer recreation funds could be put to better use. He suggested letting one of the center directors also head up the whole program, thus allowing a salary to be distributed among those in charge of the centers. Clark was in charge of the H. B.

Sugg program last year. He said he had to supplement his $52 a week salary by house painting last year and had decided this year that, even though he would like to do recreational work, he will have to paint to support his family through the summer months.

J. A. "Bud" Wooten, building inspector, told the Board a lot at the corner of Contentnea and Church Streets has been cleaned up by the town at request of owner at a cost of $134. Three more are being cleaned on South Main Street. The rate is five dollars an hour for the town dump truck and front end loader and the regular wages for the men involved. The Board approved the rate, saying the town must break even but no profit must be made on these cleanup projects.

Rose Edges Wilson; Moves Into First

Rose High School moved into a tie for first place in the Eastern 4-A's Division II race with a 3-0 victory over Wilson's Fike High yesterday.

The win avenged one of two defeats suffered by the Rampants in conference play. And that loss may be erased today.

A ruling on Rose High School's protest in the first Wilson game on an alleged illegal substitution is due to be handed down this morning at 9:30 in Raleigh. Should Rose win, the loss would be wiped out pending the replay of the game.

Rose would have to pick it up, however, in the fifth inning with two outs, and a runner on third, trailing 5-3.

In yesterday's game, Russ Smith hurled a three-hitter at the Cyclones, while some timely double plays kept him from getting into serious trouble.

Rose, at the same time, offered few threats as it got only five hits, but managed to bunch enough to push in all three runs in one inning.

Rocky Mount got its first threat in the top of the second. With two outs, Lindsay Ethridge grounded to third sharply. Tommy Durham made a diving stop for the ball, but fell when he tried to make the play. Ethridge stole second, but died there when Larry Hatton made a shoestring catch of Dennis Wilkerson's fly for the third out.

Rose then charged over its three runs, and that was all of the scoring for the afternoon. Durham led off, reaching on an error. He moved around to third when Jimmy Paige singled through the middle.

Paige took off for second, and the attempt to get him was off target, and Durham came across on the error. Joe West hit a long fly to deep center, winding up on third with a triple, and scoring Paige. West came in with the third run on Bryon Dickens' sacrifice to center.

Jimmy Bond followed that up with a double to left, but the rally died there.

The first of the Rampant double plays came in the top of the third, after Phillip Windham singled to open the inning.

Another Cyclone runner reached in the fifth, but was erased on the second double play. A two-out single in the sixth put another one, and a leadoff walk in the seventh gave one last hope, but no one ever got to second after the second inning for Wilson.

Rose also never got off another threat. Durham singled in the third, and West got a hit in the fourth, but neither reached second.

The Rampants, now 5-2 in the league, pending the protest outcome, travel to Goldsboro on Friday.

Colonials Gain Southern Berth

RICHMOND (AP) — George Washington's Colonials will meet East Carolina Friday and Saturday at Ft. Eustis for the Southern Conference baseball championship, thanks to Hank Bunnell's mastery over William & Mary.

Bunnell pitched a five-hitter Tuesday in the 12-inning first game in which GW finally beat the Indians 3-2 and clinched the conference's Northern Division title. The Indians won the nightcap 3-1, but the victory left them at 9-6 behind the Colonials at 10-6 for the conference season.

His Tuesday performance gave Bunnell a record of 26 innings pitched against the Indians this season in which he gave up a total of nine hits and two runs. Last week, Bunnell pitched a pair of two-hit shutouts in a twin bill that sent the Colonials into the division lead for good.

A hit batter, a sacrifice, a fielders' choice and Sam Perlozo's two-out single gave GW the 12th inning that proved decisive.

The Indians' Steve Moore pitched a one-hitter in the second game, the only hit being Perlozo's two-out single in the third inning. Singles by Bubba Hooker, Jim Worthington and Reggie Kidd and an error gave the Indians the two decisive runs in the sixth.

GW and East Carolina will meet in single games Friday night and Saturday afternoon. If a third game is necessary in the best-of-three series, it will be played Saturday night.

Church Softball Season Opened

St. James and Black Jack opened the Church Softball League's 1970 season last night with a pair of wins. The opening of the season was delayed one night because of rain.

Black Jack downed Oakmont, 11-5, in a National Division game, while St. James beat Gum Swamp, 16-8, in an American Division contest. This year's league is divided into two divisions. Each team plays the other members of its division twice, and meet cross-division teams once for a 16-game schedule. All games count in the standings.

Thus Black Jack and St. James grab early 1-0 leads in their loops, while Gum Swamp and Oakmont fall off to 0-1.

In the opener, Gum Swamp pushed over four runs in the top of the first, with the big blast of the frame a triple by R. Pollard. St. James came back with three in the bottom of the first, and then exploded for eight in the second inning, moving out into an 11-4 lead. Big hits in the two innings included doubles by Roy Carawan, Bill Shaw and Ed Smith.

Gum Swamp picked up two more in the third, and added two more in the sixth, but never could rebound enough. St. James added five more in the fifth.

Leading Gum Swamp at the plate were J. Pollard with three, while D. Leggett, G. Harris and J. Tripp each had two. For St. James, Carawan and Ronald Vincent each had three, while "It Van Britt, Dave Wilcox and Bill Potter each had two.

Black Jack pushed over all it needed in the first inning of play, as it scored six runs. Doubles by J. Holland and R. Dixon helped after several months of negotiations prior to a temporary rescheduling order issued several weeks ago at the request of the NBA players, prohibiting such talks from continuing.

Black Jack added one in the third on a homer by J. T. Mills, then picked up one in the fourth

No Double Steal

New York Yankee Thurman Munson tries to get around Oakland A's catcher Dave Duncan after being trapped off of third base in a double steal attempt in the second inning of a game last night.

Dolph Feels Congress Will Approve Merger

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Commissioner Jack Dolph of the American Basketball Association expressed unguarded optimism Tuesday that Congress would approve a merger between the ABA and the rival National Basketball Association.

"I have no idea how long it will take," he said. "But Congress is expected to recess by Labor Day and we hope to have a decision before then."

"There have been changes in Congress, and we have the disadvantage of not being as glamorous as football, but precedent is a vital aspect of law, and there is a precedent."

Dolph referred to a similar request by the National American football leagues when they sought to merge in 1966. Congress exempted their merger agreement from anti-trust laws.

At present, the leagues are fighting an anti-trust suit filed by NBA players against the merger, contending that it would eliminate competition for players and thus lower salaries.

A federal judge issued a preliminary injunction Monday, prohibiting any agreement between the leagues unless Congress passes enabling legislation.

However, Dolph pointed out that the judge did give the leagues permission to conclude a plan for a single league that could be presented to Congress for approval.

Qualifying Set For Rebel 400

DARLINGTON, S. C. (AP) — Cale Yarborough's qualifying record of 152.293 m.p.h. was in jeopardy as qualifying trials began today for Saturday's $70,000 Rebel 400 stock car race.

Twelve cars will qualify daily through Friday for the race which will be televised over the ABC network.

Also scheduled today were rookie tests for several drivers making their first start at the 20-year-old Darlington International Speedway. Among them is Benny Parsons, a Ford driver who was twice champion of the ARCA circuit in the Midwest before joining NASCAR this season.

Bobby Isaac beat the qualifying record in a practice run Tuesday over the tricky 1 3/4-mile course. He was clocked at 152.309 m.p.h. in a winged Dodge. David Pearson, last year's NASCAR champion, was just a shade behind at 151.4 in a Ford.

Richard Petty, who will be trying for his fourth victory at Darlington, had a 150.9 m.p.h. practice run in a Plymouth.

Yarborough was timed at 151.6 in the Banjo Matthews Ford usually driven by Donnie Allison.

Jacksonville, N. Nash Top Area Meet

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

Northern Nash and Jacksonville High School claimed top honors, while Wilson's Carlester Crumpler was the individual star in the High School Sectional Track Meet held at East Carolina University yesterday.

Northern Nash won the Class I title, piling up 59 points, while Jacksonville was the Class II winner, with 51 points. Class I is made of schools playing in A and 2-A football, or with less than 500 students. Class II is 3-A and 4-A football schools or those with over 500 students.

Second place went to Edenton's Holmes High with 32 points, in Class I, while third was South Lenoir with 23. They were followed by Camp Lejeune 17½, Jones 15, Greene Central 14, Farmville 13, Southern Wayne 12, Aycock 11½, Ahoskie 10, Northampton 10, Camden 6, Saratoga 4, Williamston 4, Weldon 2, Pamlico 1 and Plymouth 1.

Second in Class II competition was Wilson's Fike High with 46 points. Goldsboro was third with 33, and Rocky Mount fourth with 28. Rose finished fifth with 24. Others included Northeastern 12, West Carteret 11½, and Tarboro 2.

Crumpler and Ivey Peacock of Jacksonville were the only double winners of the day, but Crumpler set two new records on the way to taking his.

He took first place in the 120 low hurdles and the 180 yard high hurdles. In the first race, he finished in :14.4, breaking the old mark of :14.7. Then, in the 180-yard race, he crossed the line in :19.6. The old record in that event was :20.2.

Peacock's victories came in the shot put and the discus. He tossed the shot 55 feet, and then threw the discus 150 feet, one inch.

Five other sectional records were broken in the meet, one in Class I, and the rest in Class II. (Records are not kept by class, but only for the overall meet.)

The lone Class I entrant to break a record was David Risley, of Camp Lejeune. He won the mile run in 4:36.5. The old sectional record was 4:37.2.

The first Class II record breaker of the day was Ron Thornton of Roanoke Rapids. He took the long jump in 22 feet, seven inches. The old mark was 22 feet, two inches.

Phil Phillips of Goldsboro broke the old record in winning the 100-yard dash. He finished the run in :9.9. The old record was :9.95.

Pacers Can Win Playoff Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Indiana Pacers can wrap up the American Basketball Association's Eastern Division final playoffs on their home court at Indianapolis tonight by again beating the Kentucky Colonels.

The Pacers took a commanding 3-1 lead in the best-of-7 series by whipping the Colonels at Louisville Tuesday night 111-103.

The Los Angeles Stars also took a 3-1 lead over Denver in the Western Division final playoffs by beating the Rockets at Long Beach, Calif., 114-110. The fifth game of this best-of-7 will be played Saturday afternoon in Denver and will be nationally televised by CBS.

Roger Brown threw in 33 points to lead the Pacers. The Colonels rallied to within 72-70 in the third period led by Gene Moore's 26 points, but they couldn't get any closer.

"We're sure going to try to wrap it up Wednesday night," said Bob Leonard, the Indiana coach. "We won't concede any-

Mike Harrington of Rose High School won the high jump with a leap of 6 feet, 3½ inches. That was 1½ inches better than the old mark of 6-2.

Then, to finish the meet, the Jacksonville mile relay team of Burgess, Dula, Humphrey and Newkirk broke the old mark of 3:32.1. They finished in 3:26.5, and thus beat out Wilson for the team title.

Rose High also qualified several others for the regional meet which will be held at East Carolina on Friday. The top four finishers in each event move on to this meet. The top four in the Regionals move into next week's state meet at N. C. State University.

Boyer Blasts

Pair For Braves Grifton Pastes Chicod By 6-1

Clete Boyer doesn't want to set the world on fire ... just start a little flame in Chief Noc-a-homa's tepee.

Boyer exploded two homers out of spacious Atlanta Stadium Tuesday night to lead the Braves' 12-6 victory over Pittsburgh—and that set off the fireworks in the left field tent of the team's colorful mascot.

Noc-a-homa rejoices with exploding fireworks in the tent and then a crowd-pleasing war dance outside everytime the home team hits one out. Boyer's two shots, and Hank Aaron's homer kept him twitching Tuesday night.

"Two homers, that's hard to believe, isn't it?" said an incredulous Boyer, better known for his fielding exploits at third base than his long-ball hitting.

Boyer also said he was thinking about hitting a third home run, but struck out with the bases jammed in the sixth.

The home run ball bounced around the rest of the National League and figured in some of the final margins as San Diego stopped Philadelphia 11-8; Cincinnati turned back St. Louis 5-1; Houston dropped Chicago 3-1, Los Angeles trimmed New York 4-0 and San Francisco beat Montreal 4-1.

In the American League, Minnesota spilled Detroit 8-5; Chicago nipped Cleveland 2-1; Baltimore ripped Kansas City 7-3 Boston beamed Milwaukee 6-0; Oakland pasted New York 11-3 and Washington defeated California 6-1.

Boyer raised his average 17 points to .212 with his 2-for-3 performance. He now has 18 hits and 17 RBI.

"When you've got guys like Aaron, (Rico) Carty and (Orlando) Cepeda batting in front of you, you're going to get some RBI," said Boyer.

Aaron's homer was the 10th this year and 564th of his fabulous career. Hammerin' Hank also is now only 14 away from the magic 3,000-hit career mark.

Aaron's two-run blow capped a seven-run first for the Braves that actually decided the issue. Boyer hit a solo job to left in the third and followed with a three-run blast in the fifth.

Carty extended his hitting streak to 24 games—tops in the majors—with singles in the second and sixth. Hoyt Wilhelm made his 998th appearance, bailing out Braves' starter and winner George Stone in the seventh.

Clarence Gaston's two-run homer keyed a four-run ninth that propelled San Diego over Philadelphia. The Padres battled back after the Phillies scored seven runs in the opening frame and bolted ahead when Steve Huntz hit a leadoff double in the ninth and Gaston unloaded his fourth homer.

Lee May and Bobby Tolan lashed homers in support of Wayne Simpson's three-hit pitching as Cincinnati swept to its seventh straight.

Richie Allen had his eighth homer for the Cardinals.

Norm Miller clouted a homer behind Larry Dierker's four-hitter as Houston handed the slumping Chicago Cubs their fifth straight loss.

Bill Grabarkewitz and Wes Parker each ripped two-run doubles in Los Angeles' victory over New York. Grabarkewitz' blow scored Parker and Willie Crawford in the sixth inning, snapping a scoreless tie. Parker drove in Von Joshua and Maury Wills in the seventh.

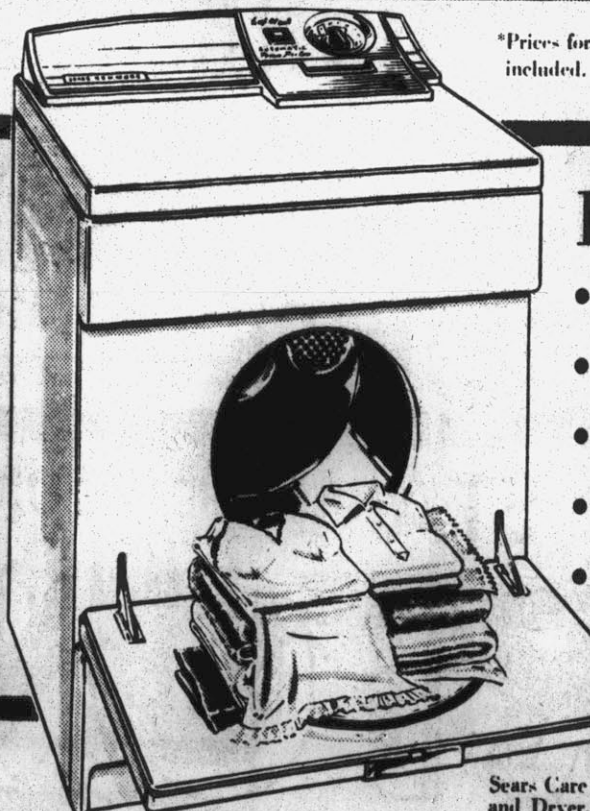

Bobby Bonds stole three bases and drove in two runs with a sixth-inning single in San Francisco's victory. The Expos scored their only run of the game on a ninth-inning homer by Adolfo Phillips.

Chisox Win Again; But Brewers Drop Another

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
The ball is beginning to bounce right for Tommy John and the Chicago White Sox, but Gene Brabender and the Milwaukee Brewers still are getting nothing but bad hops.

John, backed by five double plays, hurled the White Sox past Cleveland 2-1 Tuesday night for their fourth victory in the last five games. The Chicago left-hander has won his last two starts after a string of five straight setbacks.

Brabender pitched five perfect innings, then was raked for five runs in the sixth, as the Boston Red Sox blanked Milwaukee 6-0 behind Sonny Siebert's three-hitter and extended the Brewers' losing streak to nine games.

In other American League action, Tony Oliva powered Minnesota to an 8-5 verdict over Detroit, Baltimore rode four home runs to a 7-3 victory over Kansas City, Oakland rocked the New York Yankees 11-3 and Washington downed California 6-1.

John scattered six hits at Cleveland, where the White Sox and Indians tied a major league record by combining to reel off nine double plays. Luis Aparicio's run-scoring double off Dean Chance in the fifth inning snapped a 1-1 tie and John protected the lead the rest of the way.

"He lost his first five, but he can win his next six or seven," said Chicago Manager Don Gutierrez. "There's no doubt in my mind that he's better than a 500 pitcher."

Brabender, who had beaten Boston nine days ago for his lone victory of the season, retired the Red Sox in order for 5 1-3 innings, then walked Tom Satirano. Siebert followed with a double into the left field corner, and before the inning was over, Brabender was behind 5-0.

Reggie Smith's bases-loaded double delivered the first two runs; Tony Conigliaro singled another homer; George Scott drew a bases-loaded walk and the fifth run crossed the plate on an error by third baseman Tommy Harper.

Oliva drove in two first-inning runs with his fourth homer, laced a run-scoring single in the third and added three more RBI in the fifth with a bases-loaded triple, leading the Twins' assault on Detroit's Mickey Lolich.

Luis Tiant picked up his fifth mound victory without a loss, but needed relief help in the sixth after yielding two hits ...

and a club record of nine walks. Dave Johnson's two-run homer in the fourth inning overcame a 2-1 Kansas City lead and touched off the Orioles' long-ball barrage. Elrod Hendricks followed with a bases-empty blast; Brooks Robinson connected with one on in the fifth and Boog Powell slammed a seventh-inning solo shot.

Dave Duncan stroked four hits, including a double and single in Oakland's six-run eighth-inning spree, as the A's ended the Yankees' winning string at five games behind the six-hit pitching of Jim "Catfish" Hunter.

Lee Maye paced the Senators with two hits and as many RBI while ex-Angel southpaw George Brunet checked his former mates with late relief help from Horacio Pina.

Statement Is Planned By Society

RALEIGH (AP) — Dr. Edgar T. Beddingfield Jr., president of the North Carolina Medical Society, says the society is taking no stand at this time on North Carolina's law on abortions which some doctors are planning to attack in the courts. However, Beddingfield pointed ed out in a statement Tuesday that the society's Committee on Mental Health has proposed a policy statement which would be in line with the position of those who plan to attack the law. The society will discuss the statement when it meets at Pinehurst May 17.

Dr. Richard Burt of the Bowman Gray School of Medicine said Monday that the chairmen of the obstetrics departments of the state's three medical schools and one private physician plan to bring a suit to test the constitutionality of the abortion law. He said the suit would be filed in federal court within two weeks.

Burt said the suit would challenge the law on the ground that a decision to end a pregnancy should be left to a woman and her physician, and not to the state.

Beddingfield, of Stantonsburg in Wilson County, said that an abortion is a comparatively simple operation but that it involves more than "physical, medical and surgical considerations. There are strong moral, social, religious and psychological overtones.

He added that medical societies are qualified to speak on medical matters, but "We are not experts in the other areas. These areas of social, moral and religious concern are decisions to be made not by physicians, but by society at large.

"Inasmuch as the matter of the North Carolina law will apparently be taken before the courts, the medical society defers to the wisdom of the courts and takes no position in the matter, at this time."

Credit Code Is Unsound

RALEIGH (AP) — A lawyer considered an authority on consumer issues has told the North Carolina Consumer Council that a proposed uniform consumer credit law leans toward the credit industry rather than toward the borrowing public.

The lawyer, Edwin Berlin of Washington, discussed the code Tuesday. It is intended for introduction in legislatures of all 50 states and is now under study by a North Carolina legislative commission.

The proposed code would repeal other consumer credit legislation. Sponsors say it is intended to open the credit market to supply and demand, would permit free entry into the lending market, and would permit substantial increases in interest ceilings.

Berlin said the proposed law was drafted "by the industry and for the industry" and the "law of supply and demand has not worked in the credit market."

"Consumers by and large don't need uniform laws," Berlin told the council. "Credit problems are different in every state and every city."

He asserted that unregulated competition in credit would not result in fair interest rates because in most cases consumers do not have equal bargaining power with lenders.

Rep. Galifianakis Is Optimistic About Future

DAVIDSON, N. C. (AP) — Rep. Nick Galifianakis, D-N.C., says the thousands of environmental days, earth days and teach-ins on college campuses this year have made him more optimistic about the future of the environment.

He also told an antipollution conference at Davidson College Tuesday that the general answer to the problem of solid waste is to curtail excessive packaging and recycle waste.

Final Meeting For Den Four

The Cub Scouts of Den Four, Pack 200 held their last den meeting of the year on Monday and were treated to dinner at the Fiddlers III restaurant by owner Bob Saied.

Cubs who attended the meeting and dinner were Tim Baker, Wendell McCollom, Clyde Owens, Stephen Saied, John Thompson, Bob Gray, David Kirk, Joseph Corso, Liles Scott and Den Chief Richard Gray.

Adult leaders who worked with the Cubs during the year and attended the dinner were Ginger Baker, den mother; Mary Saied and Mary Ann Gray, both assistant den mothers.

William Howard Taft is the only President who became Chief Justice of the United States.

OKs Bill On Allotments

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Agriculture subcommittee Tuesday approved legislation to make permanent present authority for the lease and transfer of tobacco acreage allotments.

Current authority expires with the 1970 crop.

The bill would authorize leases not over five years. Presently, provision is made only for annual leases.

The subcommittee rejected a recommendation by the Agriculture Department to authorize outright sale and permanent transfer of farm acreage allotments for all kinds of tobacco, as now provided for fire-cured, dark air-cured and Virginia sun-cured tobacco.

Also turned down was a department recommendation to authorize lease and sale of allotments across county lines within a state.

Support of the subcommittee bill was voiced by Fred S. Royster of Henderson, N.C., representing the Bright Belt Warehouse Association. He urged that none of the proposed changes be accepted at this time.

Royster said there is a sharp difference of opinion on the matter of leasing allotments across county lines within a state.

Crawford E. Foy of Columbia, speaking for the South Carolina Farm Bureau Federation, said he favored legislation to permit sale, lease and transfer of allotments.

A National Grange representative, Robert Frederick, said he favored the subcommittee bill. He said he also spoke for the North Carolina Grange and the Farmers Cooperative Council of North Carolina.

Oil Company Is Indicted

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — In the first action of its kind, a federal grand jury has indicted a major oil company on charges arising from a massive offshore oil spill.

The Chevron Oil Co. was cited Tuesday on 900 counts of willfully violating government regulations aimed at preventing pollution from oil wells drilled at sea.

Conviction on all counts could result in fines totaling $1.8 million.

In Washington, Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel, who had asked for the grand jury probe of Chevron's offshore operations, said enforcement of federal oil well safety rules is going to be strict.

"We will be fair but we will be tough," said Hickel. "The future of our environment is at stake in those offshore areas which are precious for many other resources besides oil and gas."

The grand jury said Chevron knowingly and willfully failed to install and maintain storm chokes or similar subsurface control devices on 90 oil wells off the Louisiana coast in the Gulf of Mexico.

"We are confident that when the case is tried, we will be completely vindicated," said K. H. Shaffer of New Orleans, president of Chevron.

Petition To Count Ballots

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Court of Appeals has under consideration a petition asking that it allow impounded Swain County ballots to be counted as soon as possible.

The petition was filed Tuesday by Herbert Hyde of Asheville, attorney for the Swain County Board of Elections.

A spokesman for the court said a ruling may come this week.

Superior Court Judge Thad Bryson of Bryson City ordered the Swain ballots impounded Saturday night after voting in the primary election ended.

He issued the order at the request of a Democratic candidate for sheriff, James Franklin, who told the Judge the vote count would not be correct unless it was supervised. The ballots have been kept under guard in the Swain County Court-house.

The company is owned by Standard Oil of California, one of the nation's biggest oil firms.

The indictment stemmed from an investigation which began March 31—the day Chevron finally capped the last of a cluster of wild wells connected to a platform standing in 40 feet of water, 30 miles off the coast. The area is about 75 miles southeast of New Orleans.

A fire had erupted on the platform Feb. 10, touching off a gush of oil and gas which burned until the flames were snuffed out by a dynamite blast March 10. For the next 21 days, the oil spewed into the Gulf while specialists struggled to tame the wells.

Indictments against Chevron were the first under the Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act of 1953, which provides a maximum $2,000 fine for each day of each violation.

Safety Awards Presented 18 N.C. Cities

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Eighteen North Carolina cities and towns have won the North Carolina State Motor Club Traffic Safety Award for achieving fatality-free records last year.

Seven winners were in the over 10,000 population category. Chapel Hill had no traffic deaths for the third successive year and Kinston for the second year. Accident free for one year were Jacksonville, Roanoke Rapids, Shelby, Albemarle and Eden.

Eleven winners in the 5,000-to-10,000 population class were: Smithfield, Mount Airy, Roxboro and Canton, all three years; Oxford, two years; Clinton, Morehead City, Laurinburg, Washington, Williamston and Waynesville, one year.

Honor Roll List Announced

BELVOIR — Six Belvoir-Falkland High School students were named to the honor roll for the fifth marking period while nine students were placed on the principal's list.

Students named to the honor roll include: Dannie Wooten, ninth grade; Bruce Mayo, Elaine Tyson and Tommy Peaden, tenth grade; Linda Cobb, eleventh grade; and Donna Hamill, twelfth grade.

The following students were placed on the principal's list: Michael Wayne Mayo, ninth grade; Vickie Letchworth, Debra Stancill and Wilbert Edwards, and Vicky Clark, tenth grade; Connie Newton, Linwood Peaden, Erlene Corbett and Debra Moore, twelfth grade.

Legislator Stanford Is Dead

CHAPEL HILL (AP) — A lengthy illness at North Carolina Memorial Hospital ended Tuesday night with the death of State Rep. Donald Melver Stanford, Orange County Democrat.

The hospital said the death of the 43-year-old legislator resulted from acute kidney failure due to hypertension.

Stanford was a candidate last Saturday for renomination to a fourth term in the House. He trailed Carl M. Smith of Chapel Hill by 54 votes but would have been entitled to call for a runoff.

Stanford was a native of Orange County and a graduate of the University of North Carolina. He was a dairy farmer and a former president of the North Carolina Dairy Foundation.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Thursday at the Chapel Hill Presbyterian Church. Burial will follow in the Bethlehem Church Cemetery outside Chapel Hill.

Stanford is survived by his widow and four sons.

Opening lead: Deuce of ♣.
South's handling of the trump suit was not well conceived and an alert defense took full advantage of his looseness to engineer an upset of his four heart contract.

West opened the deuce of clubs. North played the four and East put in the queen which won the trick. A brief examination of the dummy convinced East that there was no satisfactory shift in sight. On the basis of South's three heart response to the opening one no trump bid, declarer was clearly marked with every one of the three missing high cards.

East continued with the ace of clubs and when that card survived, he led a third round to North's king as South took a discard. The closed hand was entered with a diamond and declarer led a heart. he put up the dummy's jack and East was in with the ace. A fourth round of clubs was led and West ruffed in with the eight of hearts, forcing North to overruff with the queen. This was the lethal thrust, for it established a second trump trick for East and assured declarer's defeat.

South could have averted the uppercut by leading a small trump from dummy at trick four. If East ducks, declarer puts up the king and picks up West's eight of hearts on the return. If East plays the ace of hearts when the deuce is led, dummy can stand the uppercut on the fourth round of clubs, inasmuch as he has retained both of his trump honors.

the 10th one is "True."

For the typical hippie is emotionally back at the kindergarten level where he resented Mamma's orders to wash his face and hands.

That is also evident from the negative attitude toward parents (and thus, law in general), for toddlers chronically develop a "No, No," negative protest.

Hippies also are sexually below par, despite some of the lewd stories about their sexual orgies in basements and school sit-down strikes.

For they are an effeminate, eunuchoid group who crave quick headlines and TV spotlight, without having to earn such attention.

For it takes stamina and half a lifetime to "win" legitimate fame, but an iconoclast or hippie may rate "notoriety" in a few minutes just by breaking laws!

The hippie movement is thus a shortcut to the limelight without elbow grease and disciplined study.

Send for my 200-point "Tests for Sweethearts," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents, and see how hippies also rate as "Very Poor" thereon.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Massachusetts Has Official State Drink

BOSTON (AP) — Cranberry juice now is the official state drink in Massachusetts.

Gov. Francis W. Sargent signed into law Monday a bill giving the juice that status. Industry representatives brought along a supply of the juice to toast the new law.

More than half the world crop of cranberries is grown in Massachusetts, most of them in Plymouth County and Cape Cod.

Airlines Names Training Center For Slain Pilot

MIAMI (AP) — Eastern Airlines will name a new Miami training center for a co-pilot who was shot fatally on a shuttle flight from New York to Boston last March.

The James E. Hartley Training Center will be dedicated May 13, the airline said Monday.

Hartley disarmed a gunman aboard his airliner, enabling the captain to land the DC9 and its 73 occupants safely.

Researchers Relate Vital Discovery

BOSTON (AP) — Researchers at Children's Hospital Medical Center say they have isolated a chemical in malignant tumors which apparently plays a vital role in developing and nourishing cancerous growths.

The discovery was reported at the annual meeting Monday of the American Society for Clinical Investigation at Atlantic City, N.J.

Dr. M. Judah Folkman, chief of surgery at Children's said the research team he headed isolated a chemical containing ribonucleic acid. This found in both human and animal tumors but not in normal tissues.

Dr. Folkman said the chemical causes rapid growth of new blood vessels.

The hospital said the discovery "implies, but does not prove, that the growth of solid tumors and their secondary malignancies might be halted at a small size by blocking or inhibiting the spread of TAF (tumor angiogenesis factor)," the name given the chemical.

Usual 'Hippie' Is A Kept Youth

Contrast Bob with the usual hippie, as per the "Hippie Test" below. And notice how musical skill weeds out hippies, too, for strumming a few chords on a guitar doesn't require an hour's practice! But being a fair pianist demands 1,000 hours or more of self-discipline. That's why few musicians ever get in jail or become delinquent!

CASE L-515: Bob D., aged 19, is a college student.

Recently I addressed a Farm Bureau banquet where Bob was present.

For he had been given scholarship aid by the Farm Bureau to study at Purdue University.

Bob was a handsome, clean-cut fellow, with a mature male haircut and no show-off clothes, beards, sideburns or beads and other "jungle" decorations.

By my address I lauded his brief "Thank you" talk to the crowd and held him up as a sample of the 95 percent of college youth today who are working hard to attain a marketable skill for use when they enter our "free enterprise" system.

"Dr. Crane," Bob mentioned afterwards, "I was talking to a hippie a few days ago."

"He said he was having to head home this weekend to see his old man and get some more cash."

"For he grumbled that he was running short of money and his old man hadn't sent him his allowance check as yet."

Which brings out the obvious facts that hippies are "kept" youth who wouldn't even be able to eat their next meal if it weren't for the subsidies from hard working parents.

For hippies contribute nothing more to our productive system than wood ticks offer the farm animals whose blood they suck.

HEW Allows Continued Use Of Old Bottles

By G. C. THELEN Jr.
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal health officials acknowledge receiving reports linking diabetic aggravation to sugar-sweetened soft drinks in bottles that nonetheless were labeled sugar-free or containing less than 1 or 2 calories.

The returnable bottles in question are carryovers from the days when cyclamates were the principal artificial sweeters in low-calorie beverages. Administration officials in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare overruled the Food and Drug Administration in March and allowed continued use of the bottles without relabeling. Cartons and bottle caps, however, must indicate the presence of sugar.

Diabetics complain the bottle label is likelier to be read than the cap or carton. In any case, they say, the labeling on the bottle is in clear conflict with the cap and carton.

Cases of diabetes aggravation traced to soft drinks have been reported in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Ohio and Virginia. There are approximately four million diabetics in the nation.

The bottling problems arose after the government banned cyclamates from general purpose drinks last October. The sweetener had been linked to cancer, birth defects and genetic damage in laboratory animals.

The industry quickly shifted to new diet formulations that in most cases contained sugar. But countless millions of returnable bottles remain indelibly marked to indicate no sugar.

Federal food and drug officials recommended in October that stickers or neck bands be placed on the old bottles to clearly signal the presence of sugar. They also proposed to junk the bottles within one year.

The National Soft Drink Association, among others, complained the labeling was economically and technically unfeasible—stickers and neck bands must be applied by hand and would jam bottle washing machines.

The bottles have a normal life of five years, it was argued, and early junking would bankrupt small plants with heavy investments in the mislabeled bottles.

HEW Secretary Robert H. Finch, after personal contact with industry representatives, vetoed the FDA labeling requirement in March. He also extended the life of the mislabeled bottles two years until October 1972.

Florida has gone beyond federal standards and required bottle warnings.

"We tried it and had excellent results," said Dr. E. B. Rushing, a state Agriculture Department official.

The relabeled bottles, he said, fit snugly in washing machines and cause no jamming.

Students March In Downtown Chapel Hill

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Approximately 3,000 University of North Carolina students marched in downtown Chapel Hill today as college administrators across the Tar Heel state girded for a second day of student protests.

Students at the Chapel Hill campus and several other North Carolina colleges are protesting the slaying of four students at Kent State University by Ohio National Guard troops and President Nixon's war policy in Cambodia.

This morning a small group of students marched across the UNC campus picking up supporters. About 1 a.m. a group estimated at 3,000 students gathered in front of Chancellor J. Carlyle Sitterson's home, singing and chanting.

The protestors then marched to the home of William Friday, president of the Consolidated University of North Carolina, where they chanted and burned draft cards or facsimiles.

The students then marched downtown, blocking streets and intersections for about a half hour. There was no violence and no one was arrested.

UNC students were preparing to attend a campus-wide meeting in further protest. Sitterson has approved the meeting.

Protesters were eyeball-to-eyeball with campus police at the University of North Carolina Tuesday.

Students there lowered the flag twice, and each time campus police raised it. One policeman took two students into custody briefly, but released them after a group of students gathered around him.

Bomb scares emptied three UNC buildings, but searches turned up no explosives. Three windows were broken on the campus.

UNC students today are preparing to attend a campus-wide meeting in further protest. Chancellor J. Carlyle Sitterson has approved the meeting.

UNC students, unsuccessful in efforts Tuesday night to see Chancellor Sitterson and President William Friday at their homes, then marched to downtown Chapel Hill, where many sat down at a main intersection. No arrests were made and there were no incidents. Student leaders said the march was in support of today's planned student strike.

The UNC Student legislature last week passed a resolution urging all students to boycott classes at Chapel Hill, where the registration totals about 15,000.

Several hundred students had marched across the campus Tuesday for about 40 minutes, shouting, "On strike! Shut it Down!" The march carried them through five buildings, and several students left classes to join them.

Campus police watched the march, but made no move to stop the students.

Later, student body president Tommy Bello of Raleigh told a cheering audience of 1,500 students that he was "tired of all the rhetoric from Nixon about his decision to send troops into Cambodia. I'm tired of hearing him say that the students at Kent State deserved what they got. Well, he's got it coming and he's going to get it."

Bello was drowned out by loud applause and a standing ovation.

At Davidson College a group of protestors forced ROTC students to discontinue a drill. Col. Virgil Foster, commander of Army ROTC there, cut short the afternoon session because, "We didn't want a confrontation."

There were chants of "pull out of Indochina" and "pull out of Ohio!"

When the drill started the protestors marched to the drill field, picking up about 30 students along the way.

The demonstrators did not break into the ranks of the ROTC cadets, but stood on a hill overlooking the field and shouted at the cadets to leave the ranks. None did. Then someone gave the order for the drill to be cut short, and the cadets filed off the field.
