

Cambodian Fighting Continues

Enemy Attacks South Vietnam Provinces

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese battered South Vietnam's northernmost provinces with hundreds of rockets and mortars early today in a new "high point" of attacks.

A South Vietnamese task force also was hit hard in the Cambodian operations, with 50 men reported killed and 200 wounded in heavy fighting Thursday in the Parrot's Beak north of Svay Rieng. But Saigon claimed its force of Rangers and armored vehicles killed 234 Viet Cong and captured 106.

As 30,000 U.S. and South Vietnamese troops continued their drive against North Vietnamese and Viet Cong bases and supply depots in Cambodia, the enemy shelled 64 bases and towns in South Vietnam.

Da Nang, the country's second largest city, and two other provincial capitals just to the south, Hoi An and Tam Ky, were hit hardest. North Vietnamese commandos battled their way into the streets of Hoi An and Tam Ky, raiding government supply depots.

South Vietnamese headquarters said 75 Vietnamese were killed and 83 wounded in the attacks on the three cities and the mining of a bus south of Da Nang.

Thirty-one enemy troops were reported killed.

Tam Ky, 35 miles south of Da Nang, was hit by more than 300 mortar and rocket rounds. Widespread damage was reported to the city.

The new high point of enemy attacks came on the heels of the 16th anniversary Thursday of the French defeat at Dien Bien Phu. In its observance of the occasion, Hanoi called on the Vietnamese people to intensify their fight against the United States.

At least 17 U.S. units or installations were attacked with mortars and rockets. The U.S. Command said two Americans were killed and 33 were wounded.

U.S. headquarters also announced that two more small U.S. observation helicopters were shot down in Cambodia, wounding two crewmen. A U.S. Air Force reconnaissance Phantom was reported shot down along the Laotian border, and an OV10 observation plane went down in the lower panhandle of Laos, but all three crewmen of the two planes were rescued.

Allied headquarters claimed 3,865 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops now have been killed and thousands of tons of equipment and food seized in the half dozen operations in Cambodia since April 29.

Allied losses so far were put at 49 American and 237 South Vietnamese troops killed and 148 U.S. and 1,051 South Vietnamese troops wounded. Ten American helicopters have been lost.

The South Vietnamese military command reported 35 government troops killed and 138 wounded in the big battle north of Svay Rieng. But a South Vietnamese medical officer with the task force said 50 government troops were killed and 200 wounded, some of them by their own artillery.

The casualties were the highest reported for government forces in a single action since the allies launched operations against North Vietnamese and Viet Cong base camps inside Cambodia last week.

A South Vietnamese military communique reported that 79 enemy troops were killed and 15 captured, including a battalion commander, in the day-long fighting Thursday. Government soldiers also reported capturing 35 weapons.

After Long Wait

Lincoln Park Drainage Ditch Project Approved

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

City Councilmen last night added section two to the already approved section three of Lincoln Park drainage ditch project.

"I've been coming up here on this for 12 years," Sam Hemby said in response to a question by Councilman Percy Cox, who wanted to know how long this project had been the subject of City Council consideration.

Approval of this second section will add approximately $7,000 to the little more than $5,000 in pipe cost for the third section. Pipe for the third section is not in place, and work is scheduled to begin on that in a few days.

The addition of the second section for immediate action followed a consensus of opinion by the councilmen that it would be more feasible to take care of both sections at the same time.

"This is true," City Engineer C. A. Holiday remarked, "because we have to cut trees and take a drag line in, and it would help to get it all at one time."

A complete discussion of a personnel ordinance for the city was made before Councilman Dr. Frank Fuller made a motion for its adoption, which was unanimously approved. "I share the City Manager's enthusiasm. This ordinance liberalizes a number of things," Dr. Fuller commented.

The newly adopted ordinance contains a total of nine articles governing regulations applicable to all city employees. Article I outlines the purpose of the system, responsibilities for its management, and describes employees subject to the ordinance.

Article II describes the classification plan and means for maintaining the plan in a current situation.

The salary plan incorporates the "Pay Plan" and includes a schedule of salary ranges; responsibility and provisions for its operation; cost of living adjustment; merit increases; and the annual supplement feature. These are all in Article III.

Article IV covers appointments, dismissal and demotion, and includes a specific reference to "employment opportunities" which provides for equal employment opportunity.

Conditions of employment, including composition of the work week, vacations, sick leave, maternity leave, military leave, civil leave, petty leave and educational leave, are all set forth in detail in Article V.

One new feature applicable to military leave is that payment received by persons on military leave is deducted from their city salary.

What City Manager Harry Hagerty calls "a truly fine point" in the new ordinance is an employee's beneficiary insurance plan which provides for $1,117,000 collective insurance at a cost of less than $7,000 to the city.

Travel regulations and expenses are covered in Article VI; and conflict of interest and political activity are the subject of Article VII.

Other items considered and acted on by the City Councilmen last night include:

Setting a public hearing for June 4 on the Mayo property which is scheduled for future development plans. This item was referred to the council by the Planning and Zoning Commission after its Wednesday night meeting.

Following a public hearing, approving amendment to the city code relative to membership composition of the Planning and Zoning Commission. In accordance with the commission's earlier recommendations, the council approved constitution of the commission to include six voting members, with ex-officio members to serve as advisory personnel without a vote.

Set June 4 as a public hearing date for a request for a trailer permit submitted by Mrs. Dan Bunting. Mrs. Bunting seeks permission to place a trailer at 209 East Mumford Road.

Approved an agreement between the Seaboard Coast Line Railroad Company and the city for a municipal pipeline which involves 2,077 feet of pipeline.

Discussed requests for solicitation on the city streets by various non-profit organizations. As a consensus, the councilmen agreed to City Manager Hagerty's continuing the current policy of controlling permits for such solicitations. They requested that permits specify places and means of collections, proper identification of participants, and use of tokens to place on cars showing the occupants had contributed to prevent their being solicited a second time in one day.

Agreed to continuing the design of the green and white color of Greenville's city tags for automobiles. Councilman Cox said "Let's not change; green and white are our colors."

Set a date of June 4 for a public hearing on the annexation of the M. C. Massey, Jr. property adjacent to Club Pines. This action must be completed before an annexation request by residents of West Haven Subdivision can be considered.

And as a final item, approved the deposit of funds in a capital reserve fund. The amounts and sources agreed on were $25,000 for the Fire Department capital budget; $15,000 for the major contingency fund for the Hardee recreation property; and $8,000, also for the major contingency fund, for certain developments in the Shore Drive area.

Development Institute, Wright Are Hit By Fires

New Revenue Sought

School Need Is Studied

By STUART SAVAGE

University Campus last night, one of which heavily damaged the quarters of the Regional Development Institute.

Greenville firemen were first called to the campus last night at 10 o'clock when a fire was reported in Wright Building.

Officers responding to the call found evidence that a bottle filled with some flammable liquid had been used to start the fire in a third floor room used by the campus newspaper, "The Fountainhead".

Investigators said a Fountainhead staff member came to the office about 10 p.m., smelled smoke, then discovered the fire in a back room.

As the first student called firemen, a second newspaper staffer came in, located a fire extinguisher, and put out the blaze before firemen arrived.

The fire in Wright was the third blaze discovered in that building in less than two weeks. An unexplained fire in a third floor hallway April 25 burned a large stuffed chair and pigeon hole case.

The following afternoon, fire was discovered in two closets on the third floor. Firemen said a fire had apparently started in one closet and burned its way into an adjoining closet.

Last night's fire caused minor fire and some smoke damage.

The fire, which caused heavy damage to the RDI building at 501 East Eight St., was discovered about 11:15 p.m.

Investigators said people working at the Developmental Evaluation Clinic near the RDI center saw a flash at the rear of the wood-frame structure and saw two figures run away.

Fire officers said the fire there apparently started on the rear porch of the old house where three desks were stored.

Flames quickly spread into the building, causing extensive damage to several rooms at the rear of the building and heavy heat and smoke damage to the remainder of the two-story structure.

Plastic light fixtures on the second floor of the building melted from the heat generated by the fire, as did fixtures in the front portion of the old home not touched by the fire.

RDI director Tom Willis said this morning there was no way to estimate the damage to the building and its contents.

The Regional Development Institute serves as a store house of information about Eastern North Carolina and conducts studies designed to promote the growth of the Eastern region.

One $25,000 study, Willis said, in an office upstairs, was damaged by smoke and water. Some 50 copies of another study — the Lake Gaston Motel — Restaurant Potential — scheduled for presentation at Roanoke Rapids, Monday, were ruined, according to Willis.

"If the whole building had gone," Willis explained, "we would have lost $100,000 worth of work in progress."

Also extensively damaged by heat, smoke and water, Willis said, was the "largest library in existence in Eastern North Carolina." Explaining, the RDI director said about 2,500 volumes on the East were contained in the RDI library located on the buildings second floor.

Two motions were made by members of the Greenville Board of Education last night in efforts to seek a solution to the pressing need to come up with additional sources of revenue to offset a deficit budget next year.

After lengthy discussion of alternatives available, Harding Sugg offered a motion to support the County Board of Education's position requesting a county-wide tax levy of a minimum of 25 cents per $100 property valuation. At the present time, the county-wide tax levy varies in each of the 12 school districts with the lowest levy five cents and the highest 29 cents. Four members of the board voted for this motion and two voted against it.

The second motion, also made by Sugg, was in the form of a resolution requesting a special election for increasing the ceiling of the Greenville District from its current 25 cents level, with the understanding that it would be presented to the county commissioners at their meeting May 13 if they had not made a binding commitment to the county wide increase to at least 25 cents for operating expenses of the schools.

Thus, the second motion would not be applied if the county commissioners indicate they will seek means of a county wide increase within the next few days. Otherwise, the motion will permit the chairman of the school board, Dr. E.B. Aycock, to proceed with requesting a special election for the Greenville School District on the basis of this motion and in the language of the request prepared by the board attorney.

It was shown in estimates of increased yields resulting from a district increase and a county increase that a separate Greenville District increase (provided it was raised to the maximum of 50 cents per $100 property valuation) would amount to an increased net income for operating expenses of $202,500. Estimates of a county wide increase would provide approximately $145,000 in increased operating funds to the city schools as their pro-rata share of a county wide increase.

One other issue was discussed by board members. The Facilities Committee, asked to study types of buildings to be used for supplementary classroom space next year at Aycock Junior High School, recommended a permanent four classroom unit at a cost of $42,000. This recommendation was not accepted by a majority of the board members.

Other alternatives available for consideration were—four single mobile units totaling $36,000; and a module (four classroom) unit which would cost $38,000, and double mobile units at $16,000 ea.

A final decision was not made, but consideration is to be given to utilization of single and double mobile units — depending on which units will be available prior to opening of school.

Representatives from the Provisional League of Women Voters and other interested persons attended last night's special call meeting.

WASHINGTON (AP) — With thousands of antiwar protesters heading for a hurriedly called demonstration in the nation's capital, President Nixon has moved to ease the crisis mounting over the use of American troops in Cambodia.

The President scheduled a news conference tonight at 10 p.m. EDT—his first nationally televised session with newsmen since Jan. 30—on the eve of a demonstration here expected to draw tens of thousands of protesters.

Even as the President prepared for the news conference at his Maryland mountain retreat Thursday night and today, demonstrators were evident in Washington—on Capitol Hill, near the White House and on college campuses.

Nixon is expected to take a conciliatory approach to the demonstrators, mostly young people, following the stance he adopted Thursday when he told several college and university presidents the administration would soften its hostile tone toward the dissidents.

Calls went out for the Saturday protest after Nixon announced a week ago that a joint U.S.-South Vietnamese attack had been mounted into Cambodia.

Spurred by the deaths Monday of four students when Ohio National Guardsmen opened fire on demonstrators at Kent State University, protests have swept many college campuses, often resulting in violence and student strikes.

Leaders of the Saturday demonstration have talked in terms of up to 35,000 persons for a protest in Lafayette Square just across the street from the White House, although officials say the dissenters will not be allowed that close. It was not known whether the President will be in Washington during the demonstration.

Other reports estimate the crowd at close to 100,000 persons, posing a problem for both government officials and protest leaders planning steps for controlling the demonstration.

The rally leaders held crash training programs for marshals to keep the demonstration within its stated nonviolent goal, while the 2,000-man District of Columbia National Guard was being prepared along with Washington police.

There were indications U.S. officials were leaning toward relying on local authority and the National Guard available in the Washington area without drawing paratroopers and Marines from other bases.

Officials said whatever military force is gathered probably will be kept as much out of sight as possible unless troubles develop requiring its use.

CBD Project Advisory Committee Pledges Support

GOP Governors Call Off Meet

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

The CBD Project Advisory Committee pledged its full support yesterday to the efforts of the City Council, Redevelopment Commission and Utilities Commission in working towards execution of the CBD rehabilitation plan.

Action by the Committee in supporting the city bodies followed Mayor Frank Wooten's recent declaration that he will file a complaint against the three groups on the recently approved plans for the CBD project.

Meeting to discuss the status of the project, Committee chairman E. Hoover Taft Jr. told commissioners and councilmen that they would be supported if individual actions were taken against them.

"The question is whether we are going to turn the clock back in Greenville," Taft commented. "This organization (PAC) is vitally interested in the project and we are convinced that it is essential to the future growth of the city."

Taft asked city attorney David Reid if everything concerning the project legalities were in order and Reid replied, "As far as I know, yes sir."

Attorney Kenneth Hite, who represents the Redevelopment Commission, also pointed out that "everything is in order."

Mayor pro tempore Percy Cox noted that members of the City Council were concerned that they may be held responsible for money spent in the project.

"The City Council has the right to appropriate its non-tax revenues in any way it sees fit," Hite said. "I am not of the opinion that any vote is required by the people provided tax revenues are not involved."

"What the city is being asked to do is make expenditures in certain parts of the city on a credit basis," Taft added.

Redevelopment Commission chairman Billy Laughinghouse said that except for areas involving parking lots, no cash investments were involved in the city matter. It was pointed out that the parking lots would come under the authority of the city Parking Authority and would be a separate situation.

City Manager Harry Hagerty commented, "I'm of the opinion that the city would not have to strain to accomplish its portion of the project with ease."

Hagerty said that "I'm ready to go. We are absolutely on solid grounds."

A letter of endorsement was read from the Greenville Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Association president, Gene T. Skinner.

"... It is the opinion of this Board (Chamber board of directors) that the Central Business District Project is of interest to and potential benefit to all of Greenville; therefore, this Board extends and lends its confidence and support to the City Council in expediting the project," a motion passed recently by the Chamber directors said.

Addressed to Laughinghouse, the letter also expressed "appreciation for the outstanding job you and other members of your commission are doing."

"This organization (Chamber) is vitally interested in the project for many reasons," Skinner wrote. "Not the least of these reasons is the fact that, as you will recall, it was the Greenville Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Association which initiated action related to this project back in 1965."

CBD project manager John Messick pointed out that "we have talked with the attorneys and Federal officials in Atlanta (HUD) ... and they feel the situation is on a local level."

Messick added that thorough checking of the CBD applications showed that everything was in order and that approval for execution of the project was expected by or before the first of July.

Taft proposed that each member of the project Advisory Committee stand in a gesture of their support of the three city working bodies. All members present stood and some individually stressed their support.

It was agreed that no action would be appropriate until a formal complaint was filed by the Mayor.

"... Our city is run on a democratic basis," Taft asserted. "I think due regard is being given to all citizens. Let's meet the protestors on every corner and not be half hearted in our efforts, but determined."

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Republican governors, many of them facing turmoil on home-state campuses, have called off their spring political meeting because of "the critical nature of the present crisis."

Monday, joined by Democrats, they will meet with President Nixon at the White House. "This is no time to have a partisan conference," said Gov. Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania, canceling the spring meeting of the Republican Governors' Association.

Most of his colleagues already had sent their regrets, and in the end only seven state governors made it to Santa Fe in time to go home again.

"The disruption of peace, violence and potential violence throughout the nation at this time has made it necessary for us to cancel this spring conference," said Shafer, association chairman.

Shafer announced that Nixon has asked all 50 governors to meet with him Monday at the White House.

Rate Of Unemployment Takes Sharpest Jump In Ten Years

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — High level sources say the nation's unemployment rate last month shot up from 4.4 to 4.8 per cent — the sharpest jump in the jobless figure in 10 years.
This was the largest increase for a single month since the 1960 recession and brought the jobless total to just under 4 million unemployed, a five-year high.
The actual figures show a drop of 181,000 jobs to a total of 3,552,000. But since April usually sees a much larger decline the Bureau of Labor Statistics figured it as a rise of 291,000 to 3,948,000 when adjusted for expected seasonal factors, such as the usual spring lull in construction, agriculture and some other industries.

Construction has been particularly hard hit by President Nixon's policies of tight money, high interest rates and federal spending cuts aimed at curbing the nation's worst inflation in 20 years.
The unemployment report added to economic worries over a skittish stock market and the continuing rise in living costs at a rate of more than 6 per cent a year.
It also added ammunition to the labor movement's warnings that Nixon's stringent economic policies designed to curb inflation were pushing the nation toward a recession without measurably slowing the price rise.

"The danger signals are flashing almost everywhere that the nation's current economic recession, slump, slowdown, or whatever term you like, may grow worse," said the AFL-CIO.
The 13.6 million member labor federation wants Nixon to ease, selectively, some economic restraints, continue others, provide stimulants for growth in some industries such as housing construction and to make the federal government the "employer of last resort" by providing public service jobs for those out of work.

AFL-CIO President George Meany has predicted that the nation's unemployment rate will soon climb to 6 per cent, highest level in 10 years, if the White House doesn't rapidly change national economic policy.
Unemployment was at a 15-year low of 3.3 per cent when Nixon took office in January 1969.

Dispute Ends, New Ones Begin

GREENSBORO (AP) — A slowdown by sanitation workers is over, but there are labor disputes in two other Greensboro city departments — involving school cafeteria employees and firemen.
Garbage collections were nearly normal Thursday and a higher number of sanitation workers were on the job, compared to the early part of the week. The workers had voted unanimously Wednesday night to go back to their jobs. They will vote next Friday on whether to join the new North Carolina Labor Alliance formed by Gene Gore of Charlotte.
The school cafeteria employees plan a meeting tonight to talk over their grievances with school administrators. The workers began a strike Tuesday, affecting lunchroom service at 20 schools.
The firemen said they would refuse to attend daily training classes in their quest for more pay. City Manager John Turner said firemen would be disciplined for refusal to go to the classes.
The firemen also said that for the next 10 days they would only answer emergency calls, and would leave equipment and the grounds at the city's 10 stations untended.

Board Asks Governor For Transfer Of Funds

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Board of Education said Thursday it has enough money in its budget to pay bus operating costs to transport an additional 56,708 city school pupils in the state next fall.
The board voted to ask Gov. Bob Scott and the Advisory Budget Commission to transfer $1,796,000 in funds to provide the transportation in 43 city and 42 county school districts.
The funds would come from the Department of Public Instruction's teacher salary funds.
Tom I. Davis, public relations officer for the department, said the teacher salary fund has a surplus because pupil enrollment in the state did not reach projected levels for the school year and fewer teachers were hired.

The extra funds will provide transportation for all city school children living more than 1½ miles from their assigned schools.
The state is under federal court order to provide busing for all school children on an equal basis, or provide no transportation at all, by Aug. 1. North Carolina's school systems will have to raise several million dollars locally to provide buses for the additional pupils.
All rural children who live 1½ miles from their school now receive free bus rides. Children living in areas annexed to cities since 1957 were receiving free rides under the state law the federal court held invalid. Some 41,614 pupils are now being transported.

employment and a legislative study commission on professional negotiations.
The board took no action on Mrs. Marley's presentation, but its chairman, Dallas Herring, said the board is interested in improving education and welcomes help.
The board added a 10th kindergarten center to the list of new centers to be opened next fall. Eight public kindergartens were opened last fall and nine more already were scheduled for this fall.
Extra funds were found for the 10th center, which will be in the Fayetteville schools.

Inquiry Continues

FT. BRAGG, N. C. (AP) — The Army is still conducting an investigation of charges filed against a Green Beret doctor, Capt. Jeffrey MacDonald, charged last week with the murder of his pregnant wife and two preschool daughters on Feb. 17.
A spokesman for the Army at Ft. Bragg said Thursday that when the investigation is complete, an investigating officer will review the evidence to determine what should happen next. The spokesman said the investigating officer has not been named.

Stokes Ruritans Have Meeting

STOKES — The Stokes Ruritan Club had a father-son night Wednesday night with special guests being sons of the Ruritan members.
John Houghton, governor of the Greenville and Goldsboro district of Ruritan Clubs, was also a special guest.
Plans were announced for the club's horse show to be held May 24 at the Ramhorn Riding Ring. It was also announced the club will sponsor a Little League team during the summer.
The members expressed interest for Pitt Technical Institute to conduct a welding class in the community.
Entertainment was provided by Bill McDonald and the East Carolina University karate team. The group explained and demonstrated the art of self defense and attack using karate.
The next club meeting will be held June 3 at 8 p.m.

Graduation Party Discussed

Members of the Pitt County Youth Association for Retarded Children met this week to discuss plans for a graduation party for pupils at E.B. Aycock Junior High School who are members of special education classes there.
Seven students will graduate May 30 from the special education classes. The Youth Association will handle decorations and entertainment for the program.
The YARC will sponsor a rummage sale May 16 at St. Gabriels Church in order to raise money to help send retarded children to a camp this summer.

Awards Banquet For Jaycees

CHARLOTTE (AP) — The 2,200 delegates to the convention of the North Carolina Junior Chamber of Commerce will attend an awards banquet tonight at the Charlotte Coliseum.
The most outstanding local chapter, local president and state director will be cited.

Taylor Is Appointed To County School Post

John H. Taylor Jr. of the Pitt County School system has been named an administrative assistant to Pitt County Superintendent Arthur S. Alford.
The position, which provides work in the area of human relations, was made possible by a Title I grant entitled "A schools, with his efforts directed toward the prevention of misunderstandings which so often lead to major problems.

"I consider Taylor to be a worthy person to fill this most vital position as created by the Board, and I am certain he will prove to be an asset to the schools of Pitt County and to the people," Alford said.
"He is and has been an invaluable member of our staff and I am sure he will be more effective in the work he will be doing in his new job as administrative assistant."

Taylor is married to the former Mattie Wiggins of Greenville and they have one daughter, Roslyn Gail. He is the son of Mrs. Lillie Taylor of 200 Tyson St., and the late John H. Taylor Sr.

Concert Is Set At Music School

Sixty Greenville youngsters will give a public concert on Sunday at 3:00 p.m. in Studio B101 of the School of Music at East Carolina University.
The young children, all members of ECU's Pilot String Project, under direction of faculty member Rodney Schmidt, will give the recital as part of their work in the project.

Compositions to be performed range from simple beginning material to more advanced works like the Vivaldi "Concerto in A minor" for violin, Seitz's "Concerto No. 2" for violin; and the Rieding "Concerto in G" for violin.
Guest performers Ulrike Mehrhoff, Anne Petrie, and Kathy Petrie will play Telemann's "Sonatina in D major" for violin, clavier and continuo.
Students performing in this recital are members of the Pilot String Project, a joint effort by ECU and the Greenville City Schools. Each student has one parent taking instruction with them, in order that the pupil can receive further instruction outside the regular instruction periods.
Lessons are continued in the city schools, which supports the program in providing a graduate teaching assistantship. Mrs. Judy Smith is the present teaching assistant working with Schmidt. Others assisting in instruction includes Mrs. Joanne Bath, Mrs. Theresa Shank, and Mrs. Jack Kittrell. Miss Carmelia Thomas has assisted as a special student assistant in this project for the past two years.
The public is invited to attend this concert, for which no admission charge is made.

Honors List Is Announced

STOKES — Four Stokes-Pactolus High School students were placed on the honor roll and 11 were named to the principal's list during the fifth marking period, according to Principal Leroy Morris. Linda Corey and Karen Tripp, ninth grade; and Carol Hardy, 12th grade.
The following students were placed on the principal's list: Dan Congleton, ninth grade; Donna Glisson, Richard Nelson, Henry Dixon and Brenda Haddock, 10th grade; Deanie Harris and Carol Hardy, 11th grade; Linda Rawls and Ruby Murchison, 12th grade.

Negro Ministers Demand Justice

RALEIGH (AP) — A group of Negro ministers has demanded of Gov. Bob Scott that anti-disruption policies of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill be enforced against "white students and faculty who are now engaging in unlawful activity."

In the afternoon, quail may be found in cover such as hedgerows, plum thickets and large weed stands.

Pair To Attend State Workshop

RALEIGH — Richard Stevens and Ola Perry of the Pitt County schools will attend a special inservice workshop to be sponsored by the State Department of Public Instruction and the Division of Supervisors and Principals of the NCEA and NCTA.
About 25 public school supervisors and principals have been chosen to attend the workshop Monday and Tuesday at the Sir Walter Hotel here.
Subject of the workshop will be "interaction analysis", a new method of evaluating professional competency. Mr. and Mrs. David Young of the University of Maryland will conduct the sessions.

Livestock Arena Planned

SNOW HILL — Contributions and pledges to the Greene County Livestock Arena fund through May 5 totaled $2,230.
Leaders of the Livestock Association indicate that between $6,000 and $8,000 will be needed to erect the pole-type building in which livestock shows, sales and other educational events may be held.
Contributions may be given to any of the following members of the finance committee: John Henry Turnage or W. V. Sowers of Arba; William Earl Dawson of Bullhead; L. H. Stocks of Alonza Edwards of Hookerton; W.P. Whitted of Jason; Tommy Forrest of Maury; Virgil Turnage of Carlton Taylor of Shine; Charles Harper of Snow Hill and Frank Barnhill or Enoch Dickens of Walstonburg.
A check-up meeting of the finance committee and other officials of the Greene County Livestock Development Association will be held May 21, at 7:30 p.m. in the meeting room of agricultural building in Snow Hill.

Youth Problems Are Everybody's

"The problems of youth are the problems of everybody," Mrs. Kathryn Lewis, director of guidance of the Pitt County Schools, told the Greenville Kiwanis Club Wednesday night.
She said young people and adults must not isolate themselves one from the other as they do in many instances. They must listen to each other and they must work together to meet the perplexities that all experience.
"Perhaps," she mused, "the money that has been sent to the moon could be matched with funds to study human behavior and human relations, a research field that would probably affect us all more directly. We must have this kind of research and we must approach our human problems as a scientist approaches his research assignment: First the problem must be recognized; then a thorough study of it must be made."

Several Tobacco Meets Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two public hearings are scheduled in North Carolina this month on proposals to expand tobacco markets.
The Agriculture Department said one will be at the Farmville Tobacco Board of Trade May 25, and another at the Winston-Salem Warehouse Association May 28.

Gunsmoke's Amanda Blake Lives In Adobe Style

By DONALD MADDEN
PHOENIX, Ariz. (WNS) — Except for a change in husbands and a change in living locale, Amanda Blake, who starts her sixteenth year as Kitty Russell, the saloon keeper on CBS-TV's still top-rated "Gunsmoke," is even more the raven-haired beauty that she was when she began the series.

Says Amanda, of her new life style, "I live in Phoenix, and vote as an Arizona citizen now. I commute to Hollywood only two or three days a week to work on the series."

Now living in a 40-year-old two-story Spanish colonial house, which her husband, businessman Frank Gilbert's, father built when he first immigrated from Liverpool, England to Phoenix, Amanda says, "I'm re-doung the entire house, but I don't think I'll ever finish."

"I've started with the downstairs, because two of my husband's eight children still live at home. They're twin 14-year-old boys, and they live on the second floor, and you know how destructive that age group can be."

Fireplace Redone
"This house was built very, very elegantly, in the original English manner of those days, by my husband's parents, and I've concentrated into turning it into a more Spanish and adobe house, indigenous to the Phoenix area.

"The first thing that had to go was the marble fireplace. I've changed that into a rounded plaster facing with carved Mexican wood trim."

"I've finished the dining room, too, with a great slab of a wood Shaker table, with very ornate Spanish chairs. They go marvelously together."

"All the walls are that old creamy stucco color, which is great background, so I'm not limited to the color I use."

"My problem with the house is that if I find things, like marvelous door handles, then I can't find just the right doors to go with the handles."

"I love poking and looking for things for the house, so I make a great many trips to Mexico. I'm also lucky enough to have good friends who are importers from both Mexico and Spain, so they're always scouting for things for the house, too."

"This is a very big house for me. It's about 5,000 square feet. The property was originally about 27 acres, but over the years a lot of that has been sold off, so now we're down to about four acres. But it's like being way off in the country, with nobody around, even though we're right in the heart of the Phoenix residential district, because the house is in the middle of a citrus grove, and we have a big wall in front along the wide, busy avenue.

"And the citrus grove is no problem to us at all. It's cared for and picked by the Arizona Citrus Growers Association, and they pay us for the crop, too."

"The grounds aren't only citrus trees. We have lots of lawn space, and my husband is a camellia addict, so we have camellias in bloom all summer long."

New Flooring
"A lot of the things I'm doing to the house are not just to make it authentic, but to make it more functional and easier to maintain, too."

"I just tore up the floor in the family room. It was originally beautiful wood parquet, but it was always worn, work, work to keep it looking beautiful. Now I've put in the natural-colored Granada tiles, and all you have to do is mop it and it looks great."

"Our big master bedroom is on the downstairs floor. We've just finished it, and it's all carpeted, and we've just put in a sauna bath. Of course, since we put in the sauna, I haven't seen my husband. I keep knocking, saying 'It's my turn', but it just doesn't seem to do any good. Now, if he keeps up this sauna business, I'm wondering what's going to happen to all the camellias."

AUTHENTIC ADOBE . . . fireplace is featured in the living room of Amanda Blake's Phoenix house. The chairs and couches in the room are black and white large scaled print.

He Is Good Person But 'Uninterested'

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I am 22 and my husband is 23. We've been married for a year and a half, and have a six-month-old son, which is the only reason I don't just pack up and leave.

My husband is worse than an old man. When he comes home from work, he kisses me, then goes in to look at the baby, then he buries his face in the newspaper until dinner. After dinner he can't get into bed fast enough—because that's where the television set is.

Our sex life is, like—forget it. He says he had so much sex before marriage he doesn't even think about it anymore. [That doesn't happen to be true in MY case, but it doesn't bother him.]

When I want a little affection he makes me feel like a dirty old lady. I don't want to raise only one child, but if I ever get pregnant again it will be a miracle.

He is a hard-working man and a good person, really, but he is a lousy lover. Please tell me what to do.

HUNGRY FOR LOVE

DEAR HUNGRY: Something is wrong with your husband. It's either physical, mental, or emotional. True, not all sexual appetites are the same, but your husband's is sadly below par. Keep nagging him until he gets help. If he is a "good person," he will realize that you are not a "flower-born to blush unseen, and waste your sweetness on the desert air."

DEAR ABBY: I am simply amazed at the response I continue to receive since my letter appeared in your column. It concerned the cruel tradition of denying brides the privilege of wearing white unless they were "pure."

Of some 150 letters I received, only ten were negative. They suggested that I was encouraging promiscuity, which I did not, nor would I approve.

The pathetic tragedies of human suffering that have scarred the lives of so many persons needlessly is unbelievable.

When I offered you the use of my name, I had no idea you would include my church and its location. But I am now grateful to you for the gifts of kindness I have been able to receive because of it. I wish I were as good as some people perceive me to be.

My only regret was when I read my letter in your column, I saw that I had committed an error by referring to "black" as a symbol of evil or wrong. That's another cruel tradition carried on by our white racist culture unconsciously. One person wrote to me, critically because of it, and I sent her my apology. PAUL WHIPPLE, [Minister]

DEAR REVEREND WHIPPLE: You sound like a man I'd like to know.

DEAR ABBY: A few months ago our son died. Friends and relatives kept us company up until the day of the funeral. Then we were left all alone.

I know they probably felt that the family wanted to be alone, which is so untrue, Abby. That was the time when we needed friends the most.

Many would call and ask us to come over. But we didn't really feel like going out. We aren't the type who would sit and cry and carry on in front of people. We needed our minds taken off our grief. Maybe we're different. Would you please ask your readers who lost someone close if they felt like we did. Or did they want to be left alone?

ALONE IN ANAHEIM

DEAR ALONE: Offhand I'd say you are not different. Perhaps it will help to let people know that people DO need people. We share our happiness with our friends. Why not our sorrow?

FASHION FORECASTS

by C. Heber Forbes

(What a Wardrobe Should Include)

A wardrobe is something you are going to live with for a long time. It must fulfill your needs and meet every social and non-social demand.

Let's get down to basics. Your wardrobe should include smart suits that are casual enough to be worn with blouses and sweaters. These are the suits you can wear while shopping or at the office.

Your wardrobe should include some dress ensembles with matching coats or jackets. This is a costume which may be worn for church or women's club visits or for dinner and a show with your spouse.

Finally, your wardrobe should include some simple black or dark dress for that bridge gathering, luncheon or cocktail occasion. These are basics to every wardrobe.

Engagement Announced

MISS JUDY LAVERNE LUPTON . . . is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. James Lupton of Winterville, who announce her engagement to Garland Wayne Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Garland Boice Williams of Greenville. The wedding will take place Sept. 19.

Shower Given Miss Langley

Miss Judy Langley, bride-elect of June, was honored Tuesday night with a kitchen shower at the home of Miss Barbara Fussell. Mrs. Jan Folsom was co-hostess.

The hostesses and Mrs. W. L. Fussell greeted guests. Upon arrival the honoree was presented a red carnation corsage and remembered with a gift.

The refreshment table was covered with a beige lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of red flowers.

Miss Deborah Coltrain assisted in serving. Good-byes were said by the honoree and her mother, Mrs. John Langley.

Senior Citizens Want Chance

With May being observed as Senior Citizens Month, it is fitting that the nation take a look at some of the contradictions it faces today with respect to its older citizens.

Today almost one out of every 10 Americans is 65 years old or older, a total of almost 20 million. With medical advances in recent years, the average life span in the United States has increased. Even more dramatic has been the lengthening of the active life of most older people because of medical advances.

The average older person is healthier, more active and anxious to do more things than his counterpart of a decade or so ago. He is also more capable of doing more things during his retirement

Assembly Is Around Corner

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH, N.C. — To the average citizen it is just a vague future event. To the candidates it is still a general election away. But to Clyde L. Ball the 1971 General Assembly seems just around the corner.

That's because Ball, as Legislative Services Officer, has the responsibility for seeing that the machinery is assembled, oiled and ready for smooth operation when the lawmakers come to town next January. The many details involved make him watch the calendar with a wary eye.

The goal of his office, Ball said, is to give members of the legislature the services to match the physical facilities of the State Legislative Building.

"If some disaster made it impossible to use this building, would we be able to go back to the old halls in the Capitol? I wonder. Space was such an impossible situation there," he said.

"Here we have the space. With time, we discover needs and make modifications. But to really get the best return from the investment in physical facilities, we have to develop the services which will support the members of the legislature in more effective performance."

Bell, an amiable 64 Tennessee native, has two broad areas of responsibility — administrative and research. At the moment, the first is foremost, both in his thinking and that of the Legislative Services Commission which hired him. It covers the arrangements for the personnel, equipment and space use necessary for the General Assembly to function.

Research capability is a serious need, and one approached by Ball in a cautious but constructive manner. "The idea here is to be able to put before legislators the information they need to make informed decisions," he explained.

As a start, he has been authorized by the Legislative Services Commission to employ one research assistant to begin work July 1. There is the hope that a second man can be added by the close of the '71 session.

The research staff, as it develops, will pull together information from sources already available from existing sources, as well as undertaking specific studies for committees or individual legislators. "We will use every existing research facility available," Ball said. "We will supplement as necessary, rather than supplant."

Through a career that includes stints as school teacher, practicing attorney, and law professor, Ball has been exposed to the legislative branch of government from every angle except elected representative. He even has personal acquaintance with that point of view.

"A law partner was a member of the Tennessee Senate. I saw something of what that meant in demands on his time and financial hardship," he said. "In fact, the firm finally had to be dissolved because he could not give it the time it demanded."

Ball came to North Carolina in 1965 to join the Institute of Government in Chapel Hill as director of its legislative services. He remained through the 1963 session, the first held in the new State Legislative Building, then returned to his alma mater, Memphis State University, as a professor of law.

He was summoned back to North Carolina early this year by the Legislative Services Commission.

In the job his loyalty is to the General Assembly as an institution, not to particular legislators or groups of legislators. From his point of view, shaped both by his academic background and practical experience in working with legislators, the role of his office is not to influence the course of legislation but simply to provide the means by which the General Assembly can effectively do its work.

State legislatures in the past operated pretty much on a catch-as-catch-can basis, picking up from session to session. Today, there is a pattern of developing continuity through a legislative services staff.

"Virtually every state in the union now has some kind of legislative staff," Ball said. "There is a great deal of variation, from minimal to elaborate. I doubt you could say any one is typical."

Ball already is familiar with trends in this direction. He will become more so, through attendance at workshops and seminars sponsored by the National Legislative Conference. June and October sessions are on his calendar.

Looking ahead, he sees little innovation in the area of administrative services for the '71 session. Areas of computer use will be comparable to that in the last sessions. Printing will be handled by the Prison Industries Central Duplicating Services.

Go slow, build strong is the motto he is following, always keeping in mind the goal of more effective use of the time legislators must spend in Raleigh.

Only recently has the nation begun to take stock of the great resource of manpower (and womanpower) represented in its senior citizens. While most of them enjoy their retirement, most of them likewise are not content merely to sit and rock. They are interested in public affairs, what is going on about them, and the activities in the community.

In too many instances the skills, the knowledge and the abilities they have are not utilized in either paid or volunteer work within the community.

Today's Senior Citizens have a great deal to contribute and are contributing to the extent to which they are allowed to do so. The shortcoming is that too many younger citizens fail to recognize that many of the jobs that need doing in every community — both paid and volunteer — could be done by some Senior Citizens who would like a chance.

Don't Expect Profit From A Corporation

There may be a number of good reasons for Congress to enact legislation to have a government corporation to operate intercity passenger railroads. It is folly, however, to think that a government corporation is going to operate such railroads at a profit.

Proponents of the measure have suggested a government corporation may be able to operate profitably this portion of service that railroad companies have found a financially losing proposition.

If the government corporation succeeds in operating profitably a business that private enterprise has found a losing proposition, it will mark a first in this nation. Usually it is the other way around.

If Congress approves the pending legislation, it should be done with the idea that federal subsidies will be required on a permanent basis to cover the losses. That would be a much more realistic approach than assuming that a government corporation is going to make the operation profitable.

Uneasiness In Thailand

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

BANGKOK, Thailand — Until President Nixon's daring military move into Cambodia, the crisis of confidence toward the U. S. by our Asian allies had become so serious that staunchly anti-Communist Thailand was making serious overtures toward the Soviet Union.

Fearful that the Nixon doctrine really signals the withdrawal of the U. S. from Asia, Thailand sees an intractable and imperialistic Communist China filling the vacuum left in this part of the world by the departing Americans. Who, then, is left to counter the Chinese but their Communist rivals, the Soviet Union? That's why Bangkok in recent months has quietly been warming its formerly cool relations with Moscow. The Thais, who pride themselves on centuries of independence, were simply acting the role of the pragmatists of Southeast Asia.

This development (described as "an adjustment of policy") was made clear to us in a candid interview with Dr. Thanat Khoman, Thailand's shrewd and urbane minister of foreign affairs, prior to the U. S. move into Cambodia. At that time, Thanat was deeply troubled by events in Washington. "Everybody knows there is a neo-isolationist wave in the United States," he told us, "and now it seems the wave is in the majority."

Thus, whatever its final military outcome, President Nixon's Cambodian move will have — temporarily at least — a reassuring effect nervous Asian allies such as Thailand. That, in fact, is one of its secondary purposes.

Even before the Cambodian operation, Thailand was not about to abandon its Western orientation for outright neutralism. Its 12,000-man detachment remains in the Vietnam war. Thai soldiers are fighting the Communists, on a covert basis, in southern Laos. Bangkok stands ready to send detachments to reinforce outnumbered Laos forces in northern Laos if requested by Vientiane.

Nor is it certain that less worldly figures in Thailand's semi-military government are wholly in accord with Thanat. It may be symptomatic that Thanat's hint several weeks ago for a possible reduction in Thai forces in Vietnam was slapped down by Gen. Prapass Charusathira, the powerful deputy prime minister.

The fact remains, however, Thailand for the first time is talking to the European Communist bloc — negotiating a commercial air agreement with the Soviets and trade agreements with Roumania and Bulgaria. Thai officials privately note historic bonds between Thailand and czarist Russia and comment that the matter of mutual air landing rights, requiring months of vituperative haggling with the U. S., was disposed of in a few hours with the Soviets.

Thanat's own comments underline this as a significant departure for his country. "This is not surrender," he told us. "This is not compromise. This is facing the realities . . . we are drawing up our contingency plans, and you can't blame us." Those

Strength For Today

BETTER OR WORSE?

We read a great deal in the New Testament about the kingdom of God. The term really means the rule of God. It is a portion of heaven's light, power, wisdom and love moved down upon the earth.

It begins in the heart of the individual. "The kingdom of God is within you." It is also round about us. When enough kingdom — mined men and women appear in any society, the kingdom begins to spread. We are often discouraged because the kingdom seems to be spreading very slowly. Right at present we are experiencing a moral decline, and this makes it all the harder to believe in the coming of the heavenly kingdom.

But look at it in terms of centuries and millennia. The present-day world is a pretty evil place, but certainly the world is better today than it was two thousand years ago. If a Roman parent wanted to show his family a good time he would take them to the arena and let them watch the bloody struggle between two gladiators. Then they would vote, thumbs down or thumbs up.

The world is better than it was a thousand years ago. Oh yes, we know all about the atomic bomb and the possibility of racial extermination, but we are working to abolish these horrors, and the chances are that we will succeed.

The old admonition still holds good: "Get down on your knees and pray as if everything depended upon God. Then get up and work as if everything depended upon you."

By Earl L. Douglass

President's Computer

WASHINGTON — It is not generally known but there is a top secret computer, located within the continental limits of the United States, which has stored in its memory bank all the reasons that a President can sue to justify military actions without the consent of Congress. This computer makes it possible for the Commander in Chief in a matter of moments to produce the phrases that can be included when explaining why he has chosen to take a certain course of action.

As soon as President Nixon made his decision to invade Cambodia, the computer went into action. A White House speech writer who was plugged into the computer tapped out the following message:

"WHAT WOULD BE OUR REASON FOR GOING INTO CAMBODIA?"

The computer replied, "TO SHORTEN THE WAR IN VIETNAM."

The speech writer tapped back, "WHY ARE WE GOING IN AT THIS TIME?"

"BECAUSE THE ENEMY HAS BEEN USING CAMBODIA AS A VAST STAGING AREA AND REFUGE WHICH HAS BECOME INTOLERABLE."

The speech writer continued, "WHAT WILL THIS DECISION DO TO THE AMERICAN PEOPLE?"

The computer replied, "IT WILL BE A BASIC TEST OF THEIR WILL AND CHARACTER, AND IT WILL SHOW THAT THE AMERICAN PEOPLE HONOR THEIR COMMITMENTS."

"HOW WILL THIS DECISION AFFECT THE COMMUNIST COUNTRIES?"

"IT WILL MAKE THEM REALIZE THAT THE UNITED STATES WILL NOT ACT LIKE A PITILESS HELPLESS GIANT WHEN FACED WITH A MILITARY THREAT."

"IS THAT ALL?"

"YOU CAN ADD THAT WHEN A REAL CRISIS COMES, AMERICA WON'T BE FOUND WANTING."

"WHAT IS THE EASY THING THAT THE PRESIDENT COULD DO?"

The computer was silent for a moment, then it replied, "THE EASY THING FOR THE PRESIDENT TO DO IS TO BRING ALL OUR TROOPS HOME IMMEDIATELY, TO ACCEPT DEFEAT, TO DESERT THE SOUTH VIETNAMESE PEOPLE AND TO GET A PEACE AT ANY PRICE, A PEACE OF HUMILIATION."

"WHAT IS THE HARD THING FOR THE PRESIDENT TO DO?"

"TO DO WHAT'S RIGHT. TO BRING THE WAR TO A SUCCESSFUL CONCLUSION."

"IS THIS AN INVASION OF CAMBODIA?" the aide asked.

The computer seemed to flounder. "REPEAT THE QUESTION."

The White House aide repeated the question.

"NO, THIS IS NOT AN INVASION OF CAMBODIA. WE ARE JUST DESTROYING AREAS THAT HAVE ALWAYS BEEN IN THE HANDS OF THE VIET CONG. THE PRESIDENT IS REALLY TRYING TO AVOID A WIDER WAR."

"THANK YOU. PLEASE GIVE US SOME PHRASES ABOUT THE CAMBODIAN PEOPLE."

"THEY ARE FREEDOM-LOVING DEMOCRATIC PEOPLES TRYING TO SEEK THEIR OWN DESTINIES."

"WHAT ABOUT ALL THE VIETNAMESE PEOPLE

Other Editors Say Ability Is Key

(Christian Science Monitor)

There is great encouragement in the Gallup Poll's latest survey. It showed that 86 percent of Americans polled felt that ability, not luck, was the key to success in life. This was a healthy 7 percent higher than 30 years ago.

These findings are significant. They show that people grasp that the course of success in their lives starts within them. Despite the circumstances of neighborhood, social ties, color (most blacks, the poll showed, also thought ability not luck the more important), or religion, the individual can better himself. Even young adults, whose discontent with older ways gets such notice presently, agree their fortunes will be measured by their ableness.

We of course believe all should be done that can be done to help the general lot of citizens. The government and all organized groups should press on to relieve poverty, improve schools, drop bars based on sex or age or color, even the lingering prejudices against certain nationality groups.

But it would be a mistake to think that the progress of individuals must wait on the advance of the group. Group-centered thinking usually is limiting. Intelligence to act and think rightly has nothing to do with a group. It wells up independently and spontaneously in the individual. And it can always lead him to better his own lot, and in so doing show the way for others.

Meat Reputation Rebuilt

By ELMER ROESSNER

The United States has rebuilt the reputation of its variety meats abroad, the Foreign Agriculture Service reports. Variety meats, known as "edible offal" in statistical tables as in fat and rich in minerals and vitamins.

However, U.S. packers call variety meats "the fifth quarter," since they look upon the sales of hides and offal to cover operating expenses and their margin of profit.

Part of this income comes from sales abroad.

U.S. Blows Market

The foreign market began to grow in the 1950s, but by the end of the decade U.S. variety meats began to lose popularity. The U.S. Department of Agriculture and the American Meat Institute began investigating and found that foreigners suspected Americans of dumping their inferior offal on foreign markets. These two organizations put on an exhibit of U.S. Products in England in 1965, then brought British meat experts to the U.S. to tell American packers what was wrong.

This led to changes in methods of packing, in size and weight of packages and a change to cloth or plastic for packaging. It seems that U.S.

Middle Aged Frontier

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the shadowy frontiers of life is middle age.

Some people fear that frontier some years before they reach it. Others cross it without even realizing it. After all, life's highway doesn't have a sign saying: "5 miles to middle age—turn right at next intersection."

Do you live north or south of that border? Well, there are ways to tell. You are probably middle-aged if—

You have been confronted with so many crises in your time that a new one only makes you yawn.

Sometimes when you think it's thundering outside you find out you've merely been hearing your arteries harden inside.

You read a newspaper backward instead of forward so you can postpone as long as possible reading the bad news on the front page.

When you wake up in the morning, you are at first dismayed by the knowledge you have to resume the treadmill but also consoled by a feeling of victory: "Well, here I am still—I made it again."

Anything you could do easily 10 years ago is harder to do now—and you pause to consider whether it's worth doing at all.

If a stranger stops you to ask what time it is, you wonder whether he has a hidden motive. Why did he ask you? Why didn't he ask somebody else?

You are so afraid of being mugged that you never carry all the cash you have on you in a single pocket.

Maybe you're not really fat, but if you want to see your feet clearly you have to bend over a bit so your stomach won't be in the way.

Your bathroom medicine cabinet is stocked like an arsenal, and whenever you open it to get your razor, two or three bottles of pills or potions tumble off the crowded shelves into the wash basin.

At least once a week you have to make a return trip to the supermarket for some items you forgot to get on the first trip.

When you hear of some new invention that is supposed to make your life easier, you feel dimly certain that it will only complicate it.

You used to love corned beef and cabbage. Now when you order it, you leave at least half the cabbage on the plate.

When you read an article such as this, you get annoyed at the guy who wrote it and mutter to yourself:

"What's he trying to do anyway—make me feel old?"

Nope—just honest.

Clinic Planned By Association

The Greenville Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Association will sponsor a "Shoplifting and Bad Check Clinic" Tuesday, May 19 at 7 p.m.

The clinic, to be conducted by representatives of the North Carolina Merchants Association, will be held at Respass Brothers Barbecue.

The clinic is being conducted because shoplifting and bad checks have become two of the biggest problems facing businessmen today.

A dutch dinner will precede the meeting.

Unrest Closed Two High Schools

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Racial unrest has closed two high schools in Wilmington in eastern North Carolina and caused the closing for a few hours Thursday of another at Spindale in the western part of the state.

Classes were canceled at the Wilmington high schools until Monday after a series of racial clashes brought on by Negroes' complaints that not enough blacks were chosen to be cheerleaders.

The schools, New Hanover High and John T. Hoggard High were closed early Thursday afternoon following fights inside the buildings and on adjacent streets. Police said 11 pupils were injured, none seriously.

Police Chief H. E. Williamson said 12 to 15 pupils were arrested on charged which varied from disorderly conduct to assault. Officials at the New Hanover County jail said six pupils were placed in the jail before bonds were arranged.

The jail spokesman indicated that the others were juveniles and were not jailed. The police chief said those arrested were black and white, boys and girls.

A racial disturbance forced the early closing of Rutherfordton - Spindale High School at Spindale. Rutherford County School Supt. Forest Hunt said there was no indication what touched off fights between some black and white pupils outside the building at midday.

Hunt said the principal decided to dismiss all 700 pupils as a result. He added that about 200 of the pupils are black but that only a "few" pupils participated in the fights.

A statement released Thursday night from the New Hanover County Board of Education at Wilmington said, "We are offering education and we are going to make it available to students who want it. A suspension at this time can ruin an entire year's work. All students and parents should be made aware that this will be made aware that this will be the sure and certain result in a student interferes with the right of another student to obtain an education."

The computer paused. "ARE YOU THERE?" the aide tapped out.

"I'M THINKING," the computer tapped back. "HOW ABOUT THIS? WHETHER HE IS A ONE-TERM PRESIDENT OR A TWO-TERM PRESIDENT IS INSIGNIFICANT COMPARED TO WHETHER AMERICA BECOMES A SECOND-RATE POWER AND ACCEPTS THE FIRST DEFEAT IN ITS PROUD 190 YEAR HISTORY. THAT SHOULD DO IT."

"THANK YOU," the aide tapped, "WE'LL BE BACK TO YOU IN CASE THE SPEECH IS TOO SHORT."

Three Wrecks Are Reported

An estimated $980 damage resulted from three traffic mishaps investigated yesterday by Greenville police.

Officers reported heaviest damage resulted from a 5:15 p.m. collision on Fifth Street 40 feet East of the Roosevelt Street intersection and involved cars driven by Robert Lee Williams Jr., 21 of Route 4, Greenville and William Edward Jones, 54 of 1611 Lincoln Dr.

Williams was charged with failing to reduce his speed enough to avoid an accident by officers, who placed damage to the Williams car at $80 and estimated damage to the Jones vehicle at $500.

No charges were made following investigation of an 11:40 a.m. mishap at the intersection of First and Greene Streets involving a car driven by Deborah Kornegay Price, 21 of Mount Olive and a truck operated by Robert Lee Harris, 23, of Route 5, Greenville.

Damage was set at $200 to the Price car, while no damage was reported to the truck.

Cars driven by Rosa Love Harris, of 605-E Hudson St. and Margaret Marie Adams Pyer, of 605-A Hudson St. collided about 5:30 p.m. at the intersection of Fifth and Greene Streets.

Damage was placed at $150 to the Harris vehicle and $50 to the Pyer car.

No charges were made.

The red rose decorating the notebook paper is a little lopsided, and the spelling is awful. But what a wealth of love went into the message. I know, because I was the little girl who made it.

Now it's my little girl who struggles with pen and crayon to fashion a card of love for me.

And as I watch her I think of Mama — sliding down the back hill with us in Daddy's worn-out knickers, kneeling with us as she heard our prayers, singing sweetly Sunday mornings as she stood between us in the family pew. I remember her joy in life, the way her Christian faith glowed in everything she said and did.

Do you wonder that our church is a continuing source of joy and strength for me and my family?

Cooperative Efforts Solves Problems

LUMBERTON, N. C. (AP) — Irvin Aldridge director of the Department of Local Affairs says no solutions will be found to North Carolina's housing problems "until we all care enough."

"The solution will be found in the cooperative effort of many groups and organizations," Aldridge said Thursday at the groundbreaking for Parkview Terrace, a 100-unit low and moderate income housing project sponsored by the Lumber Ribber Baptist Association. The association includes 40 churches in Robeson, Bladen and Columbus counties.

"You are evidence," Aldridge said, "that the church is once again involving itself in the welfare of its people and regaining the responsibility it had abdicated to government."

Youth Arrested By FBI Thursday

CINCINNATI (AP) — FBI agents have arrested Raymond Lee Lewis, 17, at a trucking company where he was working and said he had escaped from the Jackson County Jail at Sylva, N. C., April 23.

After his arrest Thursday he was held in $10,000 bond pending extradition proceedings.

Clemson Coeds Dislike Midis, A Survey Shows

CLEMSON, S. C. (AP) — Skirts longer than mini represent "a bad case of the blahs" the part of dress designers says a Clemson University professor. Clemson coeds are demanding that fashion designers give them a choice of apparel lengths.

Dr. Thomas H. Gunter, professor of Marketing says the American fashion industry is robbing women of their feminine appeal with the mini styles.

"The designers have taken something away from us," said Gunter, "especially the leggy look of the minis."

More than 95 per cent of 122 coeds recently questioned said they dislike the mini styles and 97 per cent said they won't buy them even if they are the "in thing" this fall.

The random sampling among the university's 1,100 women students showed that 81 per cent of them are now wearing mini skirts and dresses.

When asked what lengths they preferred to wear, the coeds answered: mini, 40 per cent; short (longer than a mini), 39 per cent; no answer or undecided, 21 per cent.

The midi and maxi lengths didn't garner a single vote.

Said one coed: "Most girls like to feel they can dress to reflect their own personalities, not that they must be a slave to fashion designers."

Other typical comments on the midi from the coeds ranged from, "It looks horrible and puts weight on the wearer" to "Midis are for grannies."

Gunter said the survey at Clemson supports his contention that the American fashion industry is "suffering from an acute case of the blahs, brought on by the midi fashion."

Wallace D. Trevillian, dean of Clemson's College of Industrial Management and Textile Sciences, says the rebellion against the midi and the trend toward home sewing are signs of events to come. He says they are both steps that help modern woman find herself in a hertic fashion world.

And, Gunter contends, the below-the-knee style is forcing women to take a back seat in fashion. As men's clothing becomes more and more colorful, he says, women are losing the attention of fashionconscious eyes to men, and the designers are doing nothing to help the woman regain her deserved attention.

Exercise Theories Are Proven

Dr. Nanette K. Wenger's theories on the use of exercise in the prevention and treatment of coronary atherosclerotic heart disease have caused "shock, raised eyebrows, disbelief, and a general feeling of 'show me'" throughout the medical world, she said.

"Show me" has been accomplished in test after test to prove that exercise in the intensive coronary care unit, through the entire stay in the hospital, and into home life is vital to a quicker, stronger recovery," this associate professor of medicine at Emory University School of Medicine and director of the cardiac clinics at Grady Memorial Hospital in Atlanta told the Coastal Plain Heart Association, which held its annual membership dinner Monday at the Candlewick Inn.

"Of course, a low level of exercise is first performed within the coronary care unit with a gradual build-up as the patient grows in strength. By the end of the normal three-week stay in the hospital, the patient can climb a full flight of stairs."

"The theory behind this practice is based on the loss of strength to the patient from lying in bed continually for several days. If ever he needs extra strength, it is when he is recovering from a heart attack. To keep the muscles toned is the key to a quick and successful recovery. To help prevent another heart attack or to assure prompt recovery if one does occur, a program of therapeutic exercise is prescribed."

Dr. Wenger emphasized that exercise is important for everyone but cautioned anyone over 30 years old to be checked by his physician first. "The exercise should be continuous, regular, and practiced several days a week. With these criteria, a person will be rewarded with a sense of well being, an improved equality of life, and will know that the chance of his surviving a heart attack has been vastly improved," she said.

It was announced that Pitt, headed by Guilford Worsley, and several other counties had exceeded their Heart Fund campaign goals.

Kenneth Whichard of Greenville was elected a vice president of the Association. Frank W. Saunders and W.S. Corbitt Jr., both of Greenville, were named two-year directors.

Fayetteville Pupil Dies From Stab

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — A 13-year-old pupil in a Fayetteville school was fatally stabbed shortly after classes began today.

Worth Campbell, Fayetteville police detective, said a 13-year-old classmate of the victim, sixth grade pupil Phillip Barron of Fayetteville, was being questioned by juvenile authorities. No formal charges have been filed.

Campbell said the incident occurred in view of the class and teacher, Mrs. Pam Oliver, at Pauline Jones elementary school.

Campbell said the two boys had argued before class began and Barron was stabbed in the chest with a knife. He was dead on arrival at Cape Fear Hospital.

To the Voters of the Fourth Senatorial District

Northern Nash Nips Farmville

NASHVILLE — Northern Nash rallied for two runs in the bottom of the ninth to score an 8-7 victory over Farmville yesterday.

Farmville took the lead in the game in the first inning as David Dwyer slammed a two-run homer. Simon Cox had reached base earlier on an error.

Farmville added one in the third and three more in the fourth to lead 6-0 before Northern Nash broke into the act with one in the fourth.

But finally, in the seventh, they rallied for five to tie it up and send it into extra innings. Bruce May walked and Butch Petty singled. Danny Price doubled across May, and Frank Hedgepeth doubled to score the other two runners. Dan Ennis singled, scoring Hedgepeth.

Ennis moved around to second on a sacrifice, and Doug Ezzell singled him over with the tying run.

Farmville moved back ahead in the top of the ninth. Cloyce Wilson doubled and scored on a hit by John Dickerson.

But then, in the bottom of the ninth, Northern Nash came up with two to win it. Bobo Jones doubled and Ezzell got a hit. Danny Weaver reached on an error loading the bases. May then singled, driving in Jones and Ezzell for the win.

Farmville is now 4-9 in the league, while Northern Nash is 8-5.

Farmville 201 300 001 — 7 7 1
N. Nash 000 100 302 — 8 9 7

Robersonville Takes The Title

OAK CITY — The Robersonville Rams rolled to a 4-0 victory over Oak City High School yesterday to gain another Martin County Conference baseball title, and gain a berth in the state playoffs.

Glenn Forbes tossed a two-hitter at the Wildcats. He struck out seven and walked one in throwing the shut out.

Robersonville scored all its runs in one-run bursts. The first came in the opening meeting. Edward Warren led off with a single and moved up on a pair of outs. Danny Stalls brought him across with a single.

In the third, the Warren-Stalls combination clicked again. Warren doubled, moved to third on Timmy James' single and Stalls again got the RBI with a single.

Robersonville made it 3-0 in the fifth inning with another run. Timmy James singled and Stalls advanced him with a hit. Phil James got a single, scoring Timmy James.

The final run came in the sixth. Joe Pilgreen tripped, and scored on Warren's sacrifice fly. Stalls led the Ram hitting with three, while Warren, Timmy James and Phil James each had two.

The Ice Man Is Still In There

HOUSTON (AP) — He came stumping down the fairway on once-shattered legs, limping badly on an injured left knee, the familiar white cap a signpost out of the past.

Ben Hogan was back, briefly, perhaps, but back at competitive golf.

And the faded Texas Hawk who dominated another era of golf received an ovation at every green from the gallery that came to study the moves of the master who won 10 major championships, including four U.S. open titles.

He responded with a par 71, a highly respectable score on the treacherous Champions Golf Club course, and trailed leader Deane Beman by just three strokes going into today's second round of the $115,000 Houston Champions International Invitational Golf Tournament.

It was the first competitive appearance in almost three years for the man who swept three major championships—the U.S. and British Opens and the Masters—in 1953.

"I must admit I was a little nervous," said Hogan, long reputed to have nerves to match his steel-gray eyes. But he made some putts when he had to—it was putting woes that forced him into a semi-retirement several years ago—and really had trouble only on the sixth hole, which he double bogeyed.

The 32-year-old Beman, who had an outstanding amateur record before turning pro only three years ago, played in relative obscurity early in the day, posted his 68, then sat back and watched it stand up for the lead.

He held a one-stroke margin over Gibby Gilbert, who had only the marshals as a gallery. Australian Bruce Crampton and Bert Greene, tied at 69.

Leading money-winner Lee Trevino headed the group at 70. The others were Dale Douglass, Johnny Pott, Tommy Aaron, Gene Littler and Dave Hill.

South African Gary Player, one of the pre-tourney favorites for the $23,000 first prize, bogeyed the last two holes for a 72. Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Billy Casper are not competing.

"No, I'm not satisfied," the 56-year-old Hogan said. "I'm never satisfied. But I can't change the score now.

"I hope to do a little better.

"It might have been better if I didn't do a couple of stupid things. I hit a couple of children's shots."

That was on the sixth. He was one under, after pitching to four feet on the fifth, going to the tee but "teed the ball too low and about half topped it."

He put his second in the woods from a poor lie, but hit a tree coming out but it bounced into the fairway "just about where my tee shot should have been in the first place."

He pitched over the green, chipped back and sank a three-footer for the double bogey.

But he rallied with a 20-foot birdie putt on the next hole before three-putting both eight and nine. Hogan got the strokes back with a pair of five-foot birdie putts on 15 and 16.

Beman, whose only tour victory was in the Texas Open last year, missed only one Fairway and "made some putts when I needed them."

Boston Takes 4-1 Win To Move Out In Series

By LARRY ELDRIDGE

Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Even one of Glenn Hall's super goaltending jobs couldn't stop the Boston Bruins Thursday night, and now the St. Louis Blues are down to the last gasp in their mismatched Stanley Cup final playoff series.

The 38-year-old Hall was immense in the nets, but his teammates were no match once again for their bigger, stronger, faster foes. The Bruins just kept pouring in and bombing away for a 4-1 victory and a 3-0 lead in the best-of-seven National Hockey League championship series.

"He's a fantastic goalie," said Phil Esposito, who was thwarted eight times in his bid for a record-breaking 13th playoff goal. "My arms were sore from shooting. The score could easily have been 10-1."

That just about sums up the one-sided contest, in which the Bruins outshot the Blues 46-21, and it doesn't give St. Louis much to look forward to in the fourth and presumably final game here at Boston Garden.

Shannon Is Back To Play

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Dealt a numbing blow by fate in March, muscular Mike Shannon of the St. Louis Cardinals is beginning to see light at the end of the tunnel.

A kidney condition diagnosed as nephritis sent the 30-year-old infielder home from spring training in Florida to a hospital, where he spent several weeks undergoing medication and tests.

Thursday, much earlier than even he expected, he was pronounced physically fit and flew to Atlanta with the Cardinals for a weekend series.

"As far as the doctor's concerned, I'm ready to go," he said. "It's up to (Manager) Red (Schoendienst) and the ball club now whenever they think I'm ready to play again."

Sunday.

"I hope we can win it in four straight," Esposito said. "I think it's highly improbable that they'll beat us Sunday, but it's possible. A lot of things are possible."

The Bruins, easy winners of the first two games at St. Louis, came out appearing a bit sluggish and fell behind 1-0 on a fluke goal early in the opening period. It was the first time they had trailed the Blues at any stage in the series.

St. Louis, playing better than it had at home and benefitting from Hall's remarkable goaltending, hung onto the lead until John Bucyk scored on a power play to tie it up at 13:23. Johnny McKenzie scored again exactly five minutes later to put Boston ahead to stay, although it wasn't until the final session that Wayne Cashman scored twice to boost the final margin.

The score was close for much of the game, but that doesn't tell the story. The Bruins completely dominated play, while Gerry Cheevers was hardly tested at all as both team and goal-tender recorded their recordbreaking ninth straight playoff victories.

Esposito picked up three assists to increase his playoff scoring record to 26 points, while Bobby Orr had one assist to add another point to his record for defensemen, which now stands at 19.

Boston defenseman Dallas Smith also put the puck in the net—but the wrong one. Smith was trying to clear the puck when it went in for the St. Louis goal, which was credited to Frank St. Marseille. The way the game went, the Bruins could afford that lapse, and could even joke about it afterwards.

"Dallas said he couldn't understand all the talk about how tough Cheevers is in the goal," Sinden cracked. "He said he found him pretty easy."

That was the mood of the Bruins as they talked confidently in terms of one more practice and one more game to wrap up their first Stanley Cup since 1941.

Even Bowman, who has now seen his expansion team lose 11 straight final round games over the last three seasons, appeared resigned to the inevitable.

"I never predict anything," he said. "We'll try to tighten up a bit. I don't know if we can. But we'll be out there trying like we were tonight."

Then looking up wistfully and counting back through Boston's long years of drought, he added: "I think in 29 years we may come up with a team as good as that one. You can't develop everything in three years. The Bruins were on the bottom, and they went out and developed players and got to where they are now."

Bucs Set For Playoff

The East Carolina Pirates tackle George Washington tonight at 7:30 p.m. at Ft. Eustis, Va., in the first game of the Southern Conference playoffs.

The Bucs and Colonials won their respective divisions in the conference to win their way into the playoffs, a best-of-three event. The second game of the series is scheduled for Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m., with the final game, if necessary, at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

Pirate ace Ron Hastings is expected to get the call on the mound in the opening game. It is not certain whom George Washington will start. Their top pitcher, Hank Bunnell, worked 12 innings on Tuesday as the Colonials won their way into the playoffs against William & Mary.

Black Jack, St. James Move Into Church Lead

St. James and Black Jack moved back into sole possession of first place in their respective divisions in the Church Softball League with wins last night. St. James downed Meadowbrook, 19-17, Gum Swamp beat First Christian, 17-1. Grave defeated Piney Grove, 17-15, and Black Jack gained a 10-5 victory over Mt. Pleasant.

In the American division, St. James is 2-0, followed by Presbyterian at 1-0, Gum Swamp at 1-1, Meadowbrook 0-1, Christian 0-2, and Trinity 0-0. Black Jack paces the National division at 2-0, while Immanuel and Grace are 1-0, followed by Oakmont and Mt. Pleasant, both 0-1, and Piney Grove, 0-2.

In the opening National game, Black Jack came up with enough runs to win in the first inning, pushing over six, with only one extra base hit, a double by W. Gaskins. They added two in the third, on homers by J. Page and S. Peele. Another crossed in the fourth, and the final came in the fifth as Peele homered again.

Mt. Pleasant got one in the second, one in the third as R. Bullock homered, and then picked up three in the sixth in the 10-5 loss.

Nobles let Mt. Pleasant with three hits, while A. Jones and P. Worthington each had two. For Black Jack, Peele, T. Adams and R. Hardee had two each.

Piney Grove came up with four runs in the bottom of the first, after Grace stormed over six in their half of the inning. Piney Grove pushed back in front with four more in the second, including a homer by W. Nichols to end the scoring.

Grace picked up one in the second, and then added three more in the third, as Billy Peede homered for a 9-8 lead. Two more came across for Grace in the fourth. Both teams scored a pair in the fifth, but Piney Grove came up with five in the sixth to take the lead again, 15-14. Grace pushed over three in the top of the inning, however, to take the win.

Lindsay Hardee led Grace with four hits, while Peede, Sammy Pugh and James Paige each had three. For Piney Grove, C. Joyner had three and J. Crawford, G. Crawford, W. Nichols and F. Stadder had two each.

Gum Swamp scored twice in the first, and held Christian to its only run in the bottom of the first and never trailed. Gum Swamp added three in the third as G. Harris homered, then picked up two more in the fourth. At two run homer by J. Hathaway built the lead in the fifth, and five more runs scored in the sixth, including a homer by B. Coggins. Gum Swamp finished things off with four in the seventh.

J. Pollard, Coggins and Hathaway led Gum Swamp with three each, while Billy Rurls and B. Howell each had two.

In the other National game, Meadowbrook pushed over 11 runs in the first inning to take a commanding lead over St. James. But the Methodists picked up two in the first on a homer by R. Vincent, and after Meadowbrook added three more in the third, St. James got another two-run homer from Vincent.

Meadowbrook picked up one in the fourth and one in the fifth, then scored once in the sixth on a homer by Carson Heath to lead 17-4. But in the bottom of the sixth, St. James erupted for 11 runs and cut the lead to 17-15. Then, in the seventh, V. Britt ended it with a homer pushing over the winning runs for St. James.

B. Harrell and Heath led Meadowbrook with three each, while Vincent led St. James with four, and Britt had three.

Lakers, Knicks To Settle War

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Knicks have the home court—and Willis Reed back in sneakers—tonight in the sudden-death seventh game of the National Basketball Association title playoffs with Los Angeles.

Long-suffering Knick fans who have waited patiently for their first championship will no doubt pump some adrenalin into their heroes with tireless exhortations.

But—as the Knicks' Cazzie Russell said earlier in the playoffs—"They don't put the ball in the hole for you."

That's where Reed comes in. Importance of the Knicks' ace center was graphically demonstrated by Wednesday night's 135-113 loss to the Lakers. While Reed watched from the bench with a bruised right hip, Los Angeles' Walt Chamberlain ate the Knicks alive with 45 points and 27 rebounds as the Lakers tied the series at 3-3.

It's true New York won the fifth game Monday night at Madison Square Garden after Reed got hurt in the first quarter, but it was a super team effort and quick change of style that baffled Los Angeles. On Wednesday night, the Lakers had time to adjust.

So the arduous season—with its seemingly never-ending crop of playoff games—comes down to one game. And for the Knicks, it hinges on a rectus femoris muscle, the one that Reed hurt.

The 6-foot-10, 235-pound Reed will play, but how effective he will be, is the big question mark.

Team doctors have been putting him through the most sophisticated healing processes. They've run him through a steam room, an ice plunge and a standup whirlpool.

Dr. James Parkes, the Knicks' new physician, says, "Willis is a good patient. . . he's very cooperative, and believe me, that's a lot in medicine."

After Wednesday night's loss at Los Angeles, Reed left ahead of the team to resume muscle treatments in New York.

Reed's fierce competitive spirit will no doubt have him in the game, despite Dr. Parkes' judgment that he had a "50-50" chance of starting.

The Knicks need him to stop Chamberlain—as he had in the first four games. But what if he can't?

"The little guys can do it," said the Knicks' Walt Frazier, meaning himself, Dick Barnett, Bill Bradley, Cazzie Russell, Dave DeBusschere and Dave Stallworth, all under 6-7.

But Jerry West of Los Angeles had different ideas.

"If Will goes to the hoop like he did Wednesday night," he says, "there's no way we can lose."

Another deafening, sellout crowd of 19,500 will be on hand at Madison Square Garden for the 7:35 p.m. EDT. contest to be nationally televised on ABC-TV.

Frank Robinson's Two-Out Homer Parsons Feels Brings Baltimore Comeback Win Rookie Can Win

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Please repeat after Moe Drabowsky: It's never over until the last man is out. . . it's never over until the last man is out.

Drabowsky and his Kansas City mates figured they had finally beaten Baltimore, but couldn't get the last out Thursday night.

Frank Robinson claudoned a two-out, three-run homer off reliever Drabowsky's first serve to give the Orioles a dramatic 7-6 victory, their 17th straight over the Royals.

The last and only time the expansion Royals beat Baltimore was in their first meeting last year. The Orioles then won 11 in a row last year and the first six this season.

"Robinson's homer was disturbing, but I should've retired one of the other batters and not let that big guy get up there," said Drabowsky, who issued walks to pinch hitters Terry Crowley and Merv Rettemund before Robinson's shot.

In other American League games, Milwaukee bounced Boston 5-1 behind Denny Walton's hitting; Minnesota shut off a late rally by Detroit to beat the Tigers 9-6; Roy White's two homers powered New York over Oakland 7-3 and California crushed Washington 8-0.

In the National League, Cincinnati won its eighth straight by beating the skidding Chicago Cubs 5-2; Montreal buried San Francisco 15-8; San Diego clouted Philadelphia 8-2; Los Angeles topped New York 7-4 in 10 innings and Pittsburgh stopped Houston 9-5.

Robinson's homer erased a 6-4 Royal lead built on Bob Oliver's four RBI.

"We've been losing a lot of games going into the late innings," said Kansas City Manager Charlie Metro. "Last year, the club was beaten before it got that far, so maybe that's improvement."

"But when you lose one like this, there's nothing to do but shake your head and start over in the next game."

Drabowsky also was philosophical. "I guess I'm starting on my second 100 losses," said the tall right-hander, who lost his 100th major league game.

Walton smacked his ninth homer and three more runs came across on a throwing error as the Brewers won their fourth game of the year—all against the Red Sox.

Walton's homer, a two-run, 420-foot blast into the left-centerfield bleachers in the Milwaukee seventh, gave the Brewers all the runs they needed.

Jim Perry pitched a one-hitter through six until Detroit rallied for four runs in the seventh inning, but Minnesota hung on to top the Tigers.

The Tiger rally sent Perry to the showers, but he picked up his fifth victory in six decisions. Harmon Killebrew, hitting a homer for the fourth straight game, clouted a three-run job and Tony Oliva added a two-run blast for the Twins.

Switch-hitting Roy White hit two, three-run homers, one from each side of the plate, to pace the Yankees.

It was the eighth straight game in which White has driven in at least one run. White also scored the Yankees' other run in the fourth when he got an infield hit, took second on an infield out and came home on Curt Blefary's double.

The Angels backed Tom Murphy's four-hit pitching with 13 hits in the victory over the Senators.

First baseman Jim Spencer paced the California attack with a triple, three singles and two RBI.

DARLINGTON, S. C. (AP)—Can a rookie driver win Saturday's Rebel 400, a Southern stock car classic staged on what is considered the sport's toughest course?

"Sure, but it would take a lot of little things to put it together," said husky Benny Parsons, "plus a considerable amount of luck."

Parsons, a 31-year-old veteran driver from Detroit, is a rookie at Darlington Raceway, although he won two Auto Racing Club of America titles before moving into Dixie earlier this year to campaign on the rich NASCAR Grand National circuit.

The ruggedly handsome Parsons qualified his independently backed Ford in eighth place Wednesday for Saturday's 36-car field. His speed of 149.100 miles an hour was almost five miles slower than Charlie Glotzbach's pole winning 153.822 m.p.h.

But his effort caused a lot of comment among pit row veterans, some of whom have been trying to conquer this tricky, mile and three-eighths speedway since it was opened in 1950.

"He's my kind of driver," said Junior Johnson, a Darlington driver for years before he started preparing cars for Lee Roy Yarborough, last year's top money-winner. "He goes flat out. If a new man can win here, Parsons is the guy who can do it."

Parsons has competed in six NASCAR events this year. His best finish was fourth in the Talladega 500.

"Darlington is a new ball game entirely," said Parsons, a six-footer who does most of the mechanical work on his car.

Expansion Teams Pull Off National Victories

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN

Associated Press Sports Writer
The New York Mets are stumbling through one of those cycles. Wes Parker went through one of his own Thursday night and showed the world champions how to do it.

After smacking a double, homer and single earlier, the slick-fielding Los Angeles first baseman slammed a tie-breaking two-run triple in the 10th inning as the Dodgers erupted for three runs and whipped the Mets 7-4.

The setback left the Mets with a 13-13 record—7-13 in games which Tom Seaver hasn't started—and once again the defense and the bullpen were at fault.

Elsewhere in the National League, red-hot Cincinnati downed the Chicago Cubs 5-2, Montreal trounced San Francisco 15-8, San Diego trimmed Philadelphia 8-2 and Pittsburgh beat Houston 9-5. Atlanta and St. Louis weren't scheduled.

In the American League, it was Baltimore 7, Kansas City 6; Minnesota 9, Detroit 6; Milwaukee 5, Boston 1; the New York Yankees 7, Oakland 3 and California 8, Washington 0. The Chicago White Sox and Cleveland had the day off.

Parker called his hitting display "about the biggest thrill I've ever had in baseball" and said he's been waiting two years to hit for the cycle.

"I've thought about this ever since I just missed doing it against Cincinnati two years ago," Parker disclosed. "I had a single, double and triple and my last at-bat I missed a home run by a foot. The outfielder—I don't remember who it was—caught it leaping against the wall. It's something I've always wanted to do."

Ted Sizemore reached on an error to open the 10th, Willie Davis beat out a bunt, Sizemore stole third and Von Joshua struck out before Parker walked his triple far over the head of Mets center fielder Tommie Agee.

"I was just trying to hit the ball in the air for a sacrifice fly to get the lead run home," Parker said. "When I saw it go over Agee's head I wasn't going to stop for anything or anybody until I reached third base."

Agee's leadoff single in the first inning extended his hitting streak to 18 games, tying the club mark set by Frank Thomas in 1962, the Mets' first year.

The scorching Reds increased their winning streak to eight games and sent the Cubs to their sixth straight defeat and first at home after 10 triumphs. Bernie Carbo hit a two-run homer for the big blow and Jim McGlothlin got the victory, with ninth-inning help from Clay Carroll.

Both expansion teams—the Expos and Padres—had their hitting shoes on.

Montreal lashed out 15 hits, including the first home runs of the year by Jim Fairley and Mack Jones, in blasting the Giants as rookie Carl Morton staggered to his third win in a row. Willie Mays hit No. 604 for the losers.

A two-run single by ex-Giant Jack Hiatt highlighted a six-run burst in the fifth inning that shoved the Expos in front for good. It was the most runs scored by the Expos in their two-year history.

Nate Colbert hit two solo homers for the Padres against Philadelphia and shortstop Steve Huntz, brought up from the minors less than two weeks ago, cracked his fourth homer and drove in three runs. Colbert has nine.

Al Oliver's tie-breaking twoout single in the eighth inning touched off a four-run uprising that carried Pittsburgh by Houston, snapping the Pirates' seven-game losing streak.

The Bucs also scored four in the first inning, three on a homer by Willie Stargell and another on Bob Robertson's solo shot.

"You can learn your way around most of the South's big tracks after a day or two of practice. But some of the drivers who have been competing at Darlington for years still have trouble driving it correctly. I feel lucky that I haven't crashed into the fence a dozen times by now."

Saturday's lineup, to be made up of the 36 fastest cars in three days of time trials, was to be completed today with 28 drivers trying for one of the remaining 12 positions.

Richard Petty, a three-time Darlington winner, including two Rebel 400s, was Thursday's top qualifier. He posted 149.705 m.p.h. in a Plymouth that he uses as a back-up car. He wrecked his No. 1 machine in practice Wednesday after having qualified it in seventh position.

Mitch Wooten Resigns Post

SNOW HILL — The Greene County Economic Development Commission today announced the resignation of its executive director, Mitch Wooten.

Wooten, 28, has resigned to accept a $12,000 per year position as director of the Harnett

County Development Commission.

Wooten served as assistant manager of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Association before moving to Greene County in 1968 to set up the first full time office of their commission.

Wooten, a native of Falkland, attended East Carolina University. He is a member and committee chairman of the Snow Hill Rotary Club, Internal vice president of the Hookerton Jaycees, chairman of the Snow Hill Boy Scout committee, director of the Neuse River Regional Planning and Development Council, and director of the Cooperative Area Manpower Planning System.

Director of the Contentnea Area Developers and a board member of the Eastern Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, Wooten serves as secretary to the Greene County Development Corporation and the Greene County Planning and Zoning Board, a member of the Southern Industrial Developers Council, Industrial Developers Association, Greene County Volunteer Fire Department, Farm Bureau.

Wooten is an Eagle Scout with Silver Palm, and was named N.C. Citizen of the Week by WNCT-TV Nov. 2, 1968. He was recipient of the 1968 Wildlifer of the Year Award from the Pitt County Wildlife Club. He, his wife Rosa Gail, and their three sons reside in Greene County.

'Women' Will Be Subject At Meet

DURHAM (AP) — Newspapermen from 14 southern states will meet at Duke University June 7 to 11 to discuss "What Is Happening to American Women."

Duke and the Southern Newspaper publishers Association Foundation are sponsoring the seminar on the increasing militancy among women.

Under the direction of six faculty members, the newsmen will discuss such question as what are the full dimensions of the sexual revolution; who are the young activists in the women's liberation movement; and what does it mean to be a woman in America today in terms of educational and job equality.

"M*A*S*H" is what the new freedom of the screen is all about."

Today in History
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Friday, May 8, the 128th day of 1970. There are 237 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1945, President Harry S. Truman announced in a broadcast that World War II was over in Europe.
On this date:
In 1929, Joan of Arc lifted the English siege of Orleans.
In 1541, the Spanish explorer, Hernando de Soto, discovered the Mississippi River.
In 1779, revolutionary forces under Gen. Casimir Pulaski fortified Charleston, S.C.
In 1846, the first battle of the Mexican War was fought at Palo Alto, Texas.
In 1884, the 33rd president, Harry S. Truman, was born on a farm near Lamar, Mo.
In 1958, hostile demonstrators were abusive to Vice President and Mrs. Richard M. Nixon during a goodwill visit to Lima, Peru.

The major disadvantage to learning percentages and the proper handling of card combinations from the books, is that the subject cannot properly be separated from the conditions which confront the player in practice. South's experience in today's hand provides an excellent case in point.
West opened the four of hearts against the five club contract, and the ace was played from dummy. Trumps were drawn in two rounds ending up in the North hand and a small diamond was led. East followed with the deuce — he saw no reason to alert declarer to his holding in the suit by splitting his honors — and South played the nine. West was in with the ten of diamonds and he shifted to a of the U.S. spy plane incident, the Soviets warned that nations permitting the use of their airfields for U.S. air intelligence missions would run the risk of destruction by Soviet missiles.

Five years ago — The leader of Moslems in Kashmir, Sheikh Mohammed Abdullah, was arrested during a stopover in New Delhi, India.
One year ago — The Communist side in the Vietnam war offered a 10-point peace plan, based mainly on proposals which previously had been rejected.
GOODBYE TO GOOD BYE
LONDON (UPI)—The ad for the house in the Scotland Yard newspaper looked like a good buy—a spacious residence with all modern conveniences, going for 6,750 pounds ($16,200).
Several bobbies quickly put in a bid for it, but the house turned out to be the Belvedere, Kent, police station. "Everyone took the hoax in good part," said Inspector William Callaghan.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

spade thru the dummy's king-seven. After mopping up two tricks in that suit, East waited to score another diamond trick, putting declarer down by two.
Altho South's play of the nine of diamonds from his hand was technically correct — it wins whenever East had the king-ten or the queen-ten and loses only when East has specifically the king-queen — his strategy could not expect to succeed in the present instance. Even if the nine of diamonds forces out a high honor from West, the latter is almost certain to make the spade shift thru North's king that will net the defense two more tricks.
In other words, since East's opening bid marks him with the ace of spades, South must exert every effort to keep his partner out of the lead to protect dummy's spade holding from fatal attack. The only hope for declarer then, is to find East with both the king and queen of diamonds, and the proper play by South then is the jack.
Once the jack of diamonds wins the trick, declarer continues with the ace and another diamond clearing the suit. When he regains the lead, a spade can be discarded from dummy on the 13th diamond. One spade is conceded to the opposition and South's remaining spades are ruffed away.

You've got a lot to live
Pepsi's got a lot to give

What we mean is this: living isn't always easy, but it never has to be dull. There's too much to see, to do, to enjoy. Put yourself behind a Pepsi-Cola and get started.
You've got a lot to live.
